HALLOWEEN FLING

Riki backed into the storm door, carefully taking the step down, as she struggled with the unwieldy box of clothing donations for the church flea market. Most of the box was filled with her daughter's old clothes. Madison was in her second year of university, and Riki had decided that if Madison kept leaving these clothes behind at home she had no intention of wearing them again. There were several winter coats, which would be good for the upcoming season—not that one could tell that from the weather. It was unusually warm for October, and Riki thought she might leave the vest she wore over her warm-up jacket in the house before she left.

As she moved through the doorway with her awkward load, Riki saw one of the cats standing nearby, contemplating freedom. She shooed the feline back with her foot, but that threw her off balance, and she felt herself stumbling backwards. Riki cursed, but before she could drop the box and brace herself, she fell into a big, solid body. Hands landed on her waist, righting her, as the storm door swung closed. She knew her savior wasn't her husband. It had been at least ten years since Joel was that solid.

"Careful there, Mrs. Ruskin. You don't want to hurt yourself."

Riki recognized Chase's voice the moment she heard it. He had been around their house enough over the years. Chase lived next door and was one of Madison's closest friends. When the kids were in high school, it seemed like Chase always found an excuse to be at their house. He held onto her for perhaps a moment more than necessary. When she turned, he took the box out of her arms without asking.

"Let me get that for you," he insisted.

“It’s not that heavy. I’m not feeble yet, Chase.”

“I think you’re still in your prime, Mrs. Ruskin.” The boy was beaming.

“Forty is the new thirty?” Riki took the liberty of shaving a couple of years. She was actually pushing forty-three, but that didn’t matter to someone Chase’s age. She was just a parent, which meant old.

“You’re forty? No way.” Chase laid the shock on thick.

“Madison is just about the same age as you are, Chase. When did you think I had her?”

“I never thought about it.”

“Thanks for the compliment, but I’m—fortyish.”

“Never would have guessed.” It seemed like he was going to add something, but stopped himself.

“Here, let me open the car. You don’t have to stand there holding that box all day.”

Riki clicked a button on her remote, and the tailgate of the Volvo rose into the air. She followed Chase to the rear of the car, and once he placed the box inside she pushed it to the back of the trunk. Two more large boxes had to fit inside. Chase stood behind her, and she had the odd feeling of being watched. Sure, she had a nice butt, and the patterned yoga pants flattered it, but it was not the butt she’d had at twenty. She did not expect Chase to be looking at it. In the past, she’d thought Chase might have been checking her out—even he might have a crush, but that lasted for about two seconds. Don’t flatter yourself, she told herself.

In fact, based on how much he’d hung around the house, she had always suspected Chase harboured a crush on Madison. Riki didn’t think anything had happened between them, and she was guiltily relieved. Chase was a fine kid, but he’d always been a little bit of a bad boy. The reason he was home in October was because he’d been invited not to return to school after being caught with pot for the third time. His parents were furious, but still gave him plenty of room to find his way. Riki would have had him on a much shorter leash.

“I’ve got two more boxes, if you really want to help.”

“Sure.” He sounded excited to help.

“I’m not keeping you from anything?”

“I was just running out for a snack.”

“How’s the job hunt going?”

Of course not, she thought, and then regretted it. Chase really was a nice a kid. He just lacked motivation. They walked into the foyer, and she slipped off her vest while directing Chase to the other boxes. Her breasts arched against the warm-up jacket, and she had that feeling again that he was watching her from the corner of his eye. It was like he was trying to be subtle, but at twenty, he hadn’t mastered the skill yet. Riki dismissed it as wishful thinking anyway.

Riki watched the strong young man easily lift the box and carry it out the front door. It wasn’t wishful thinking because she had any specific designs on the younger man—no such thought had ever entered her head—but now that she decided to look, she couldn’t help but notice what a handsome young man Chase had become. He was a couple of inches over six feet, with shaggy dark hair and a few days’ stubble on his chiselled cheeks. His pale eyes promised mischief. A loose gray tank top showed off thick, muscular arms, and the baggy shorts revealed well-defined legs. Even if she could catch the eye of a man half her age, Riki didn’t think it would be someone like Chase. He surely had all the options he could handle. But for a moment, she allowed herself to think about what she would have done with a guy like him back in college. It brought a devilish smile to her lips.

“You really should put something more on, Chase. It’s not that warm outside,” she warned, as he loaded the last box into the Volvo.

“Eh, I’m always hot.”

She risked a quick glance at his broad chest and thought, You sure are, and immediately felt guilty. “Still, you don’t want to get sick.”

“I’m cool.”

“Thanks for your help. I appreciate it.”

“Anytime, Mrs. Ruskin. I’m right next door whenever you need me. I know Mr. Ruskin works a lot.”

“I’ll keep you in mind.”

Riki jumped into the Volvo and fought against the naughty thoughts pushing in from the edge of her mind. She had known Chase since he was sixteen, when his family moved in. He had never been anything but one of the kids to her. She wouldn’t even be having such thoughts if she hadn’t caught him looking at her, she thought defensively. It wasn’t her fault. This must be the beginnings of a mid-life crisis, she thought. Next she’d be buying clothes at Forever 21 and flirting with the trainers at the gym. With such thoughts bouncing around in her head, she decided it was good she was headed to church to do some charity work.

“Do you think I could pass for younger?” Riki called out from the bathroom. She had just finished brushing her teeth before bed. Joel was in the bedroom reading something on his tablet.

“What?”

Riki placed her toothbrush on the charger and stood in the doorway to the bedroom, leaning against the frame. “I asked if you think I could pass for younger.”

Joel looked up from the tablet and with a smirk, he answered, “Younger than what?”

“Haha. You know what I mean.”

“Babe, you know I think you’re hot. And you’ve only gotten better with age.”

“Gotten better with age? I guess I can take that as a no.”

“I just meant that I think you’re sexier than you’ve ever been. I like that you’re a little curvier now.”

“Is that a nice way of saying I’m fat?”

“Riki, look in the mirror. You’re anything but fat.”

“I thought curvy was code for fat.”

“Maybe if you’re on a dating site. I really meant it in a good way.”

She turned out the bathroom light and walked toward the bed, but Joel intercepted her and redirected her to the other side of the large bedroom, where the oak-framed full-length mirror stood. He stayed behind her, with his hands on her hips. Joel was not quite as tall as Chase, but Riki was only five-and-a-half-feet, so almost all men towered over her. She had always liked tall guys.

“Look at yourself, really. You are sexy, babe. Look at that body.”

When Riki looked at herself in the mirror, her eyes went right to her flaws. She wasn’t one of those women who thought she was ugly and over-the-hill, but two kids and twenty years had left an impact. The pale, clingy cami showed a belly with the hint of a gentle swell that wouldn’t go away no matter how long she spent at the gym. The ten pounds she'd put on over the years had mostly gone to her boobs, a little to her butt, but there was that tiny bit in the middle. Her legs were nicely toned, but she hated her arms. And all she saw were the laugh lines on her pretty, freckle-dusted face. Okay, she could admit she was attractive for her age, but it was those last three words that stuck in her craw.

"Just because my boobs are bigger, that doesn't mean I'm sexier, Joel."

"Hey, your tits are awesome." He reached around and cupped them and began massaging just the way she liked. Her nipples crinkled and popped out through the thin materiel.

"Maybe they are, but I'm more than my boobs."

"You are?" Before she could hit him, he quickly added, "Just kidding."

Riki could admit she had great boobs. They didn't stand up when she laid down like they did back in the day, but they were surprisingly perky for their size after two kids. It was the pregnancies that made them grow a cup size, and they'd never really gone back down. The slopes of her breasts were dusted with a freckles as well, courtesy of a mother who was off-the-boat from Scotland, and capped with pale pink nipples, which Joel was subtly teasing. Her freckle-adorned pale skin went with her long, copper colored hair. As her body reacted to her husband's touch, she rubbed back against him and felt his erection growing in the small of her back.

"You also have a great ass," he said.

"Please." Riki hated her ass. It was nice and round, but too plump for her liking. She missed the tight little butt she had before the girls.

"Do you have any idea how many men check out your ass? I should start charging for it." Joel kept playing with her tits, but also reached down and squeezed her ass.

"I know you know how many." She laughed.

"Can't a man be proud of his hot wife?"

"Yeah, but there should be limits. Sometimes I think you like it too much."

"I've got to get my kicks somehow. And I know you're just as kinky as I am when you let go..."

"God, Joel, that was ages ago."

"And you loved it. Don't deny it."

"I think maybe we both loved it a little too much."

"You have to admit; it was a blast."

Joel leaned down and started kissing the sweet spot on the side of her neck. She closed her eyes and sighed. It had been a long, exhausting day and she planned on going right to sleep, but now that he was stirring feelings and memories within her, Riki didn't think she needed to go to sleep just yet.

"Maybe," she admitted with a smile.

Riki's eyes flickered open when she felt him pulling up her cami. He didn't try to pull it off, he just pulled it above her breasts, and then he hefted them both in his hand, gently pinching and rolling her nipples. She bit her bottom lip and cooed. Riki was one of those lucky women whose nipples were a direct conduit to her clit. A couple of lovers had even gotten her to climax just by teasing her tits. She pushed her boobs into his hands and laid her head back against his chest.

Watching them in the mirror, the years melted away and they were twenty years younger. Maybe she had held up pretty well, she admitted. Being over forty wasn't so bad. Joel was still handsome in her eyes, but his hair had thinned and he was thicker around the middle. But he still had the same kind eyes and handsome face she fell in love with. She could see them—way back when—going to their friends' house, all dressed up and filled with excitement. Back when they were fresh-eyed newlyweds, the Ruskins had been seduced by another couple.

It all started with drunken skinny dipping in their friends' backyard pool. Marco Polo got handsy and next thing she knew, Riki was in the arms of Joel's best friend. When she came up for air, she saw Joel was just as engaged with said friend's girlfriend. Riki was probably the most reserved of the group and hesitated for a moment, but she had never been uptight and the friend had already discovered just how sensitive her nipples were, so she went with it. Next thing she knew, they were all up in the bedroom, fooling around on the California king bed. It obviously wasn't the friends' first rodeo.

Riki was stunned and embarrassed the next morning, but when Joel pressed her to talk about it, she admitted it had been an amazing night. She'd done things she'd never imagined she was capable of, and loved every second of it. It was a good thing it just happened, because if Riki had been asked ahead of time, she would have said no way. Joel wanted to do it again, and after she realized she was just resisting because she thought that's what she was supposed to do, she gave in and agreed. As long as their marriage was solid, why not? They were all consenting adults. Through those friends they met others in the scene, and it seemed like almost every weekend they were going to some kinky party or another. Riki feared she took to it a little too easily, but she didn't want to stop. It wasn't until they decided to try and have a baby that they stopped. It was unspoken, but understood, that they would go back to it later, but when she became a mother, Riki was ready to leave it behind. There were fights, and Joel wasn't happy, but he came around because he loved his wife, and nothing was more important than their family. But every so often, when he thought he could squeeze it in, he brought it up, hoping...

Joel's hand slid into her shorts, gliding over the landing strip she maintained. He found her lips were already dewy with desire, and when he pressed into her mound, she whimpered.

"Is the door locked?" she moaned. Their younger daughter was right down the hall.

"She's sixteen. She knows better than to burst into our room, babe."

Riki cried out louder and watched Joel watching her. His dark eyes were hooded and his hunger was written on his face. He had always loved watching her like this. He loved watching as she slowly lost control. Back in their partying days, he would encourage her to keep playing, even after he was finished. He would hang back, with a smile on his face, and watch her. But it didn't take long before he was joining in again. Riki loved playing, but she'd never gotten the same voyeuristic thrill her husband did.

"Oh, babe, right there..." she moaned.

He'd parted her lips and was strumming her clit. He pinched her nipple at the same time and she sagged against him when her knees went weak. She wanted to drag him to the bed, but knew he wasn't done watching her yet. Instead, she pulled down her shorts and kicked them off. Seeing her nude body like that, Riki didn't see the flaws anymore. It was a sexy image. She saw a hot, desirable woman.

"Did one of the guys at the gym hit on you, babe? I bet one of those young gym rats was cougar hunting..."

She almost laughed at being called a cougar, but she was too aroused. Joel loved teasing her and trying to make her talk when it was so difficult to get words out. "No..." she moaned.

"You know they're all looking at you...they want to get their hands on you..."

“No...you’re crazy...” she insisted, but as he played with her clit it was easy to imagine one of the hunky trainers at the gym showing her how to use the equipment, using the excuse to touch her, his hands perhaps slipping somewhere inappropriate, while she pretended not to notice. She moaned louder, bucking against the hand between her legs. Joel rolled her nipple and she cried out. An orgasm was rolling up on her fast.

“Am I? I think you like it.”

“No...” She was not convincing.

“I think you need a private lesson.”

“No...ohhh...that’s cra...”

His lips were close to her ear. “You forget, I’ve seen you, I know what it’s like when you lose control,” he taunted.

“No...oh god!”

Riki closed her eyes and rolled with the orgasm that hit her. She hated how easy it was for Joel to manipulate her like that. Hated that she loved it. No, they had not played in so very long, but he could still call those old feelings back up in her, make her think about how much she loved the seduction, feeling control slip away and giving into pure ecstasy. It was what she loved the most about playing—that moment when she felt like the sexiest woman in the world because some man she hardly knew couldn’t keep his hands off of her. She came and Joel clung to her, furiously rubbing her clit. She saw her red, puffy lips in the mirror and heard how wet she was in the quiet bedroom. She was liquid sex, and in that moment she saw herself just how Joel described her, the vamp who could lure any man into her bed. And feeling that, his fingers were not enough.

Riki spun on him and pushed Joel back toward the bed. He fell back onto it, and she climbed on top of him, pulling on his shirt. Her cami, uncomfortably bunched around her, was tossed next, and she kissed him hard, her tongue telegraphing her passion as it invaded his mouth. He roughly grabbed her round ass and kneaded it as he grinded her down onto his cock.

“Babe, you’re on fire,” he moaned.

“Isn’t this what you wanted? An insatiable little wife?” she teased.

“You could never get enough. I love seeing you lose it.”

“No, honey, I just want you. You’re all I ever wanted.”

To prove her point, Riki pulled his cock out and slid right down on it, groaning as he filled her. Joel was right around average in size, but that had always been more than enough for her. She had had some big men—back when they were partying—and if the guy knew how to use it, it blew her mind, but Joel knew just how to scratch her itch. He was everything she needed—the others had just been fun.

“Yeah? I know how much you can handle. I know how hard you can go, babe. It’s okay, it’s hot.”

“Is that what you really want? You want other men to fuck me?” she panted, riding him harder.

“I love seeing you give into that side. So damn hot...”

“Yeah...you think about those trainers fucking me...”

Riki felt his cock surge inside her, but the taunting was affecting her as well. Whenever they talked dirty like this it drove her wild. She just usually needed to be drunk to go there.

“Yeah, I want you to get fucked, babe. I want you to lose control.”

“You want it too, don’t you? You want to fuck some little bimbo...”

“Ohhh, babe...”

Riki smiled wickedly while she stared down at him. The bed quietly creaked beneath them. It was a big, solidly built California king. She’d always thought Joel held out hope. He was staring at her tits jiggling as she moved on top of him—he loved that—but he kept looking up at her, looking for something in her eyes. She knew what it was, but she hadn’t fully lost control. She was playing with him.

“I know what you want. You want to fuck Stacey while you watch Tim fuck me, don’t you?”

“Oh god, babe...”

“While Tim fucks me from behind...you can watch my tits bouncing...”

“Yes! Fuck yes!” Joel cried, grabbing her hips.

Riki had been in control, but now Joel was crazed. He locked his fingers in her flesh and bounced her up and down on his surging cock. She cried out, giving him control, picturing the scenario just as she knew he did. They had discussed—at Joel’s urging—who among their friends they might sleep with, if they were ever to do anything like that again. Tim was about their age, handsome and fit, and Riki even suspected he might be game, since he’d drunkenly suggested a threesome with he and Stacey more than once. Stacey was very pretty, petite and blonde, not as busty as Joel might prefer, but of course he would sleep with her. What man wouldn't sleep with a gorgeous blonde? Riki could easily fantasize fooling around with the other couple—even if she knew it would never be a reality. All that was in their past.

Joel gave a final strangled cry and she felt him surge inside her, filling her with his seed. Feeling her husband come, Riki climaxed right behind him, stiffening on top of him and throwing her head back, her nails digging into his forearms. She had long ago learned the art of keeping quiet with the kids home, but tonight she had some trouble, and her high-pitched cry filled the bedroom. The orgasm burned through her like a wildfire, leaving her fully consumed, and she slipped off of Joel to the side, wiping the sweat from her brow.

Joel thoughtfully climbed out of bed and pulled up his shorts, leaving the room to retrieve water for them both. It was one of those little things that she loved him for. When he returned, Riki downed half the bottle in one greedy gulp, then set it on the nightstand.

“You just never give up, do you?” she said good-naturedly.

“Can't blame a guy for trying. It's good to know you've still got it in you. If you'd just let go...”

“That was all so long ago. It feels like it was another life. We were young, we had no kids, few responsibilities. We could do whatever we wanted.”

“And we did. And it was awesome.”

“But we can't pretend we're kids anymore.”

“Plenty of people our age do that stuff. Actually, most of them are our age.”

Riki laughed. “Because they're tired of fucking each other. We don't have that problem. Do we?”

“What do you think?”

“So we don't need it.”

“It was never about needing it, babe. It was just fun and hot and awesome.”

Riki thought about it for a couple of minutes, and said, “You realize if I did flirt with one of the trainers at the gym, and something did happen, you wouldn't be there to see it, right? What do you get out of that?”

“I get the satisfaction of knowing that my wife is a sexy MILF and I know that you're still that crazy passionate woman I married. Yeah, I wouldn't get to see it, but hopefully you'd be able to sneak some pictures, and I know you would tell me all about it."

"This is all just a discussion. It's never going to happen."

"Right."

"I'm still not sure what you get out of it. I think you're playing the long game. If I went out and did something crazy, you're hoping it would open the door to us going out and playing again."

Joel laid there beside her, trying to look innocent, but not doing a great job. "Maybe there's some of that. But I still think it would be hot if you just got your freak on, even if I wasn't there."

"I don't think I could give you that kind of hall pass. I don't think I'd want you playing on your own. I don't know that I would even be comfortable playing without you. Back when we were doing it, it was something we did together. We were both having fun. There was balance. If it was just me, or just you, I don't think the balance would be there. I'm afraid it would mess up our marriage."

"Nothing could mess up our marriage." He rolled onto his side and kissed her cheek. "I hope you know me better than to think I would hold something I asked you to do against you."

"I know. I know you love me. But realistically, we both know these things can spiral out of control."

"But it's all academic anyway. Nothing is going to happen," Joel said.

"Yes." Riki meant it too. There was nothing wrong with a little role playing in the bedroom, but this was not a path she was prepared to walk down again.

"So since this is all hypothetical anyway, what got you going today?"

"What do you mean?"

"What got your mind on this track? You didn't ask me if you look younger out of the blue. Was someone flirting with you at the gym?"

Riki didn't know if she wanted to admit the truth. It was so embarrassing. She felt like she was making way more of her morning encounter with Chase than there was. But she felt she owed Joel the truth. He could tell her she was nuts and put an end to this.

"You're going to think I'm crazy, okay? I know that before I even say this."

"This should be good," Joel commented.

“I was taking out the donations this morning and Chase came over to help me. Please don’t make fun of me, but I swear I caught him looking at my butt.”

She braced herself, waiting for Joel to mock her, but he just shook his head with a little smile. He didn’t look surprised at all.

“Of course he did. That boy’s had a crush on you for years.”

“What?”

“Are you seriously telling me that you never realized that boy has a crush on you? How could you not know?”

“Because there’s nothing to know. No teenage boy is looking at me as anything but a mom.”

Joel actually laughed this time. “You have no idea how teenage boys work. You know how the term MILF started, right?”

“Of course I do. American Pie was funny, but the Stifler’s mom was all sex. She put it right out there. I’m like a normal, average mom.”

“There is nothing average about you, babe,” he replied, his eyes drifting over her nude body.

“Stop it, you leech. You have to feel that way because I’m your wife.”

“You really sell yourself short. Are you telling me you don’t realize you’re hot?”

“I haven’t let myself go, and I can still turn a head or two in the neighborhood, but hot?” Riki tried to think of actresses around her age. “I’m no Amy Adams.” She thought of the way her husband had gawked at the actress’s plunging necklines in American Hustle. Riki wasn’t offended. She was practical about such things. Besides, she had plenty of dirty thoughts about Bradley Cooper.

“I think you need to get your eyes checked. I see the way men look at you. I go out of my way to notice that sort of thing. You, my beautiful wife, are a sexy MILF. Accept it. And for the record, your tits are way better than Amy Adams’.”

“Thanks, I think,” she replied with a laugh.

“Anyway, my point is, that kid’s had a crush on you from the time his family moved in. Why do you think he was over here every chance he got?”

“I figured he had a crush on Madison. I thought she might like him too.”

“He might have been interested in Madison, but trust me, that was not his primary motivation for coming over here all the time. Think about it, he was mostly around when you were home, not so much when you weren’t.”

Riki thought about it and realized he was right, but that did not prove his point. She was beginning to give the idea some room in her mind, but it was still hard to accept.

“I’ve always known it. I’d catch him looking at you when I caught him off guard. I always thought, you’ve got good taste kid. His dad even said something about it once.”

“What?”

“We were having beers in the backyard and Chase came out and said he was going over to our house. He didn’t even ask me if Madison was home. He was like, ‘That kid’s got it bad.’ Then we talked about how when we were his age we had a couple of buddies with hot moms.”

“Jesus. Next you’re going to tell me that Harry wants to sleep with me too,” she said. Joel just stared at her. “Are you kidding me? Do you just discuss me with everyone you meet?”

“Guys talk, honey. Remember that party last summer? You were wearing that little sundress, the flowy, low-cut one. I noticed that Harry somehow made sure he was always around whenever you had to lean over to get something. He saw I caught him and he turned all red. He fell all over himself apologizing, but I told him it was cool. I said he could look all he wanted, but he’d better make sure Kellyanne doesn’t catch him.”

Riki strained to remember the incident, tried to recall a time when she caught their neighbour looking at her, but he must have been much better at it than his son, because she drew a blank. She felt naïve. In the past, she’d always thought she was good at detecting when guys were scoping her out, but she had no idea about Chase’s crush, or his dad’s leering. Was she losing her edge? She was going to have to be more aware of her surroundings.

“Why didn’t you ever tell me about Chase, or his dad?”

“I just always assumed you knew about Chase’s crush and were too nice to say anything. And I didn’t want you to act awkward around Harry. He thinks you’re hot, I think that’s cool, there’s no problem.”

“Unless Kellyanne figures it out, and then she’ll probably hate me.”

“I think you’re in the clear.”

“So did you tell Harry you want to sleep with Kellyanne?”

“I made some vague noises about her being attractive, but I don’t have any real interest in her. Do you think Harry’s handsome?”

Riki shot him a look. “What do you think?”

Their neighbors were very nice, but she knew Kellyanne was not Joel's type, and Harry held no attraction for her. Harry was just over fifty and had completely let himself go. Kellyanne was a pretty woman, but she also had seemingly surrendered to middle age. She was not the type of woman who would catch Joel's eye.

Joel walked his fingers over Riki's belly, up toward her breasts. She let him get as far as teasing her nipple, but then she brushed his hand away. It felt good—great even—but it was late and she was too tired for a second round. He knew her well enough to not push his luck.

"It sounds to me like you liked young Chase's attention," he teased.

"Come on now. I'm literally old enough to be his mother."

"What does that matter? He's a good looking kid, it's okay to notice that. And you must like that he noticed you."

"I don't even want to think that way, Joel. It's too strange."

"Is it?"

Riki was being disingenuous. She just didn't want to admit that she liked it because she didn't want to be a cliché. It was cliché enough that the kid next door had a crush on her. The whole affair sounded like a Lifetime movie in the making. Middle-aged soccer mom seduces the boy next door, the sex is incredible, but next thing she knows she's being thrown in jail and turned into a pariah in the media. Chase was legal, of course, but there was not a huge difference. Anyway, she asked herself, how did she know the sex would be incredible? In her dim memory, twenty-year-olds were not adept in the bedroom. It was great at the time, but now that she was more experienced she doubted she'd be impressed with the fumbblings of a kid. Then again, it could be fun teaching Chase exactly what she liked. Interesting, tingle-inducing images drifted into her mind, and Riki forced them out. Do not even go down that road! she told herself.

"You're telling me you want me drooling after our twenty-year-old neighbor?"

"I'm telling you I think it's cool that he's into you, and I think it's hot that it turns you on now that you realize it."

"I did not say it turns me on."

"Mmmhmm."

"Stop it. I mean it!"

"Okay, Riki. I believe you." He sounded unconvinced.

"Joel, get those thoughts out of your head. I mean it."

“I’m more interested in the thoughts in your head.”

“There are no thoughts in my head,” she insisted. “It’s time to go to sleep.”

Joel just looked amused, which annoyed her. She was lying, and he knew it. Even as she put her pjs back on, stray thoughts of just how fit Chase was—how nice his arms looked in that tank top—drifted through her mind. How would those arms feel wrapped around her? She tried to think of anything else as she drifted off to sleep.

IN THE DAYS THAT FOLLOWED, Riki tried to put their conversation out of her mind, and she was mostly successful. Although one daughter was off at school and the other was a teenager who had her own car and little use for her parents, Riki still had plenty of ways to keep her time filled. She went to the gym nearly every day and volunteered with various causes. She thought about starting her own business in a couple of years, when the nest would truly be empty. Being idle was never easy for her—never had been. But there were idle moments, and in those idle moments her mind drifted, too easily landing on Chase and his apparent crush.

Riki was pushing it hard on the elliptical, music pumping, her mind empty. Cardio was not her favorite and she found it easiest if she just put her head down and plowed through. A towel was thrown over the readout on the machine, or she would obsessively check how much time she had left. She was pumping her arms and legs hard when a young man who bore a passing resemblance crossed her eye line. Before she knew it, Riki was admiring what great shape he was in, and her mind wandered back to Chase.

Chase lifted those boxes like they weighed nothing, and smiled the entire time he carried them. Perhaps he was too pleased to lend her a hand—eager for the chance to show off to his long time crush. Did it frustrate him that she never seemed to notice him? Did he hope that following Riki into the house—being alone with her—might lead to something? In all the years he had lived next door she did not remember many times that they were really alone together. The girls were always just in the other room.

Even if he fantasied about something happening, he could not have expected it with Madison just out of earshot. But if they were alone...

Riki tried to think like a brash, horny young man. Chase was a confident one, but would he be brazen enough to make a move on her? She pictured them together in the foyer on that warm morning. She'd turn, finding Chase standing dangerously close to her. It had never been there before, but suddenly the tension was palpable. His interest was obvious, and she was a fool for having not seen it. She'd softly say his name. He'd intimately caress her cheek and tell her how beautiful she was. She'd say, "Chase, what are you doing?" His reply would be a kiss. Of course her first reaction would be to resist, and she'd weakly try to push him away, but with the gentle urging of a hand on the small of her back she'd sway into him. She'd open her mouth to his kiss, the first step of giving herself to him. Riki would be powerless to resist. Next would come his hands on her, the tugging of the zipper of her snug warm-up jacket down the swell of her breasts, exposing the freckled cleavage spilling from the tank top beneath.

She snapped out of it, stopping her mind from going any further and cursing Joel. This was just the reaction he was hoping for. The more he could get her mind going down forbidden paths, the better the chance he could get her to open up to some kind of kinky bedroom play. She was madder at herself than at her husband. At least he wasn't sneaky. He was brazen about it. She did not have to be so susceptible. After twenty years of marriage he knew exactly how to play her. She thought, I should go fuck Chase. That would shut him up. She laughed at herself and pushed hard through her final minutes on the machine.

The weather stayed unusually warm for late October, and as she finished her errands Riki kept the windows down and the satellite radio blaring as she sang along and bounced to an old Soundgarden song on the alternative 90s channel. It felt like just yesterday she was going to grungy clubs to see the next up and coming band. Her boyfriend at the time, Matt seemed like the hottest thing going, with his long hair and beat up old lemon-colored TR6. That old Triumph was tiny, and although just about everyone could see down into it, it never stopped her from going down on Matt while he was driving. Riki kind of liked the danger. Memories of Matt always filled her with a warm glow. Their chemistry was explosive, and their passions weren't just limited to the front seat of a tiny British sports car. She had been bent over in the bathrooms of many of those grungy little clubs, her short velvet dress pushed up and her tights ripped out of the way. It had been so exciting to be so free.

Riki whipped the car into the driveway and waited for the song to finish before getting out. She flushed with embarrassment when she realized Chase was in his driveway looking over at her. When she turned her head his way, he quickly looked back down at whatever he was doing to the engine of his little Honda Civic. She finally had to admit it. There was something to all this crush business. She hopped out of the car, but instead of going into the house, she found herself walking across the lawn to where Chase was purposely ignoring her approach.

“Hey Chase, what are you doing?” she asked, voice intentionally light.

“Just a quick oil change. Nothing too complicated.” He almost banged his head on the hood as he came up from the engine.

The Civic’s body was a pastiche of body panels painted their original green, and matte black—with a few spots of flesh-colored Bondo thrown in for good measure. The front wheels were up on ramps, with blocks behind the back tires, but Riki knew the car usually ran low to the ground. The tires were thin slivers of rubber wrapped around big chrome wheels. In a way, the Honda was a modern day version of Matt’s old TR6. That was a dangerous parallel to draw.

“Must be nice to do the work on your own car. Cheaper too, I bet.”

“Uh, yeah, I guess. I can’t do the really complicated stuff. My buddy welded on the exhaust for me, but I can do the simple stuff. I do brakes and stuff like that.”

The small talk sounded silly to Riki. Did I really just come over and start talking to him like some smitten teenager? I need to get out of here. Chase might have been bewildered by her sudden appearance, but he was too busy taking her in to show it. Fresh from the gym, she was still in her workout gear—a tight peach-colored Spandex tank top, with a sports bra underneath and black, capri-length stretch pants. She realized the entire outfit was practically painted on, like she was displaying herself for him. The sports bra and tank were designed to keep her in place while she worked out, but her boobs were so big they would not be contained. The structured garments actually seemed to present them like perfectly formed orbs for his inspection. Riki could have been overly critical about the little bulges here and there, but she had to admit that the tight workout clothing showed off her curves quite nicely. Chase seemed to agree. He was not experienced enough to keep himself from staring at her chest. Riki politely pretended she didn't notice. Ok, she admitted to herself, I might be enjoying this more than I should.

"Joel isn't really handy like that at all. I think I might know more about what's under the hood than he does."

"Oh yeah? You're into cars?"

More like I'm into guys who are into cars. Or I was, she thought. Guys with dirt under their nails and calloused hands always seemed so masculine to her. Joel was the opposite, but she loved him for other things. "I dated a lot of boys who were into cars back in the day."

"Cool," Chase replied, brightening. "I don't find a lot of girls who care about it, unless the car looks expensive."

"It's what you've got under the hood that counts." She said it without even thinking. It had been so many years, but flirting just came naturally to her.

"Exactly. It's cool to meet a chick who gets it. Uh, not that you're a chick, Mrs. Ruskin. I mean, you are, but..."

As the boy stammered, seeking the right words, Riki placed a reassuring hand on his bare arm. She couldn't help giving it a little squeeze. He felt nice and solid.

"I know what you mean, Chase. It's okay."

"I just didn't want to be disrespectful, Mrs. Ruskin."

"You're not. You've never been anything but a gentleman." She considered that staring at her boobs was respectful, somehow. "Maybe you should call me Riki. You are an adult now."

"Sure, Riki. I like that." He said her name like he was testing it out, deciding how it felt.

"And I'm not offended being called a chick. It's actually kind of flattering. I can't remember the last time anyone referred to me as a chick."

"If you like it, I can call you a chick," he said, corner of his mouth curling up in a smile before he added, "Riki."

Riki smiled too, and the color in her cheeks was not because of the heat. "Why not? Just don't do it when anyone else is around. They might think it's strange."

Chase looked like he was deciding something, then he said, "You're not just a chick, you know. You're kind of a babe."

"Just kind of?"

“No, definitely. You’re definitely a babe.” Chase was blushing now too, but she could see his confidence growing with each passing second. He must have sensed that something was different about her.

“Thanks, Chase.”

Riki knew she was in dangerous waters. Her cheeks were not the only thing heating up. She had always enjoyed flirting, when she was young and single, but she had forgotten some of the reasons why. Whenever she flirted with a cute guy, there was always that sense of anticipation—that anything could happen. She liked knowing a guy was into her, and that she could decide if he was going to get lucky. Not that she even considered allowing Chase to get lucky, but she was feeling it now.

Joel had been absolutely correct. Chase had a thing for her, and if Riki wanted him she knew she could have him. He did not seem like the type to be scared away if she was brazen enough to make a move on him. She pictured grabbing and kissing him, his strong hands all over her as he pinned her against the Honda, grabbing her butt as she felt his hard-on pressing into her.

Riki snapped back into the moment and felt Chase looking at her differently. The deference that kids had for adults, especially the parent of a friend, wasn’t there. He was looking at her like a woman—a woman he wanted to get with.

“I mean it, Riki. You’re hot.”

“Thanks. That’s really...sweet.” Her hand was still on his arm, but she jerked it away suddenly, like it was scorching hot. “But you probably shouldn’t say that when anyone else is around either.”

“Sure. It can be our little secret.”

Chase took a step forward and they were almost touching. Riki stepped back, but they were still too close. She sensed his physical presence, and it had a powerful effect on her. Her mouth was dry, and she felt that familiar tingling down below. She felt like she had to say something to keep Chase from getting the wrong idea. The problem was, he didn’t have the wrong idea. He was looking at her intensely, and she knew what it meant. I cannot let him kiss me out here where anyone could see! It took a shameful second to amend that thought. I can’t let him kiss me at all!

“That’s probably best. I really need to get going.”

“You’re coming to my parents’ Halloween party, right?”

“Of course. We wouldn’t miss it.”

The party next door was the one all the adults in the neighborhood looked forward to all year. Unlike the barbeques and other get togethers, this was an adults-only party, and it gave everyone the chance to blow off steam and just be people—not parents. Couples would make sure they had their babysitters months ahead of time. Riki's daughter was already booked for the night.

"Do you know what you're going to be?" Chase asked.

"I should hope so. It's only a couple of weeks away." She almost added, I'm sure you'll like it.

"Tell me, so I know to look for you."

"You're going to be there?" Riki was surprised, but then, Chase was technically an adult now. However, given some of the things their drunken neighbors got up to at the party, she would have thought they wouldn't want Chase around.

"I'm bartending this year. Mom and Dad are paying me."

"Really? Well, please don't judge us crazy adults. Things can get pretty rowdy."

Chase smiled broadly. It was a handsome, charming smile, and Riki could see the girls melting for it. She was melting a little herself.

"I think I can handle it. How crazy do you get?"

"I try to keep things in check, but it's good we only live next door and don't have to worry about driving home."

"I'll keep an eye on you, Riki."

"Thanks, Chase."

The awkward moment of silence felt like it stretched on forever. She felt it hanging between them, and knew he felt it too. It reminded her of that moment at the end of a date when a boy wondered if he should go in for a kiss, and she would be waiting, hoping he did. She didn't think Chase was the type of boy who took too long to make up his mind.

Riki cleared her throat. "I really do need to get going. I guess I'll see you at the party."

"Can't wait."

She turned tail and hastily retreated to her house, knowing Chase was watching her tail.

The house was empty and Riki shot straight up to the master bath, stripped out of her workout clothes and pulled her long red hair out of the high ponytail it had been pulled back into. The water was turned on and clouding the glass shower door before she even pulled it closed.

She knew it was naughty, but Riki didn't even try to push Chase from her mind. Her hands moved over her curves as the hot water cascaded down them, and she tweaked her already-stiff nipples. Her whimper echoed off the tile and glass surrounding her. She faced the showerhead, letting the needles of hot water sting her sensitive nipples while she played with them. She closed her eyes and imagined teaching Chase just how she liked to be touched there—how to ride that line between pleasure and pain. How would his calloused hands feel on her body? Riki cried out, a mini-shockwave rolling through her body. She recalled the talented boyfriend who tied her to the bed oh-so-long ago and teased her nipples until she came. Chase replaced that boyfriend in her mind, and her mouth hung open as her moans grew louder.

Riki wrestled the showerhead down from its mount and turned the dial to a light pulse. The tile was cool on her back when she leaned against it. She pinched and rolled a nipple, while moving the showerhead down between her thighs. The first pass of the pulsing water over her mound made Riki jump when it hit her hooded clit. She started again the second time around, but was better prepared for the intense jolt of pleasure the water caused.

The shower massage had been her sex toy of choice for years, ever since she'd read about it in an issue of Cosmo. That first time she'd brought herself off three times and stayed in the shower until the hot water ran out. She couldn't believe such an amazing device had been hanging in the bathroom all the time and she never knew. She had even extolled its virtues to the friends she was close enough with to share such intimate knowledge.

The showerhead was pressed to her smooth, shaved lips, angling the head just right so the jet of water pulsed up onto her clit. It was so intense her knees went weak and she slid down the slick tile wall, until she braced a foot against the opposite glass. The power of the water brought her to a swift, shattering orgasm, just as it always did, and she was glad no one was home, so she could cry out as loudly as she liked. The climax quaked through her, and Riki imagined Chase was holding her there in the shower, pumping his cock inside her. She released the showerhead and it bounced around at the end of the hose while she sank down and sat on the floor of the shower. She smiled and thought, I'm such a terrible slut! Incurable old lady!

JOEL LINGERED while Riki got ready, but she was deliberately slow while he dressed in the bedroom. She was still wrapped in a towel and fluffing her cinnamon hair up in a late 1960s style before pulling it into a loose side ponytail. An old photograph of her mother was her guide. Next, she worked on her make-up, approximating the color palette of the day as best she could. On went the fake lashes and heavy eyeliner. She even found a close match to the “hula orange” lipstick her mother had been required to wear as a stewardess. The effect was rather psychedelic, in Riki’s opinion.

Back when she was a single twentysomething, Riki’s mother had been one of the lucky pretty girls who qualified for a job as a Pacific Southwest Airlines stewardess—the important qualifications being between eighteen and twenty-six-years-old, five-foot-one and five-foot-nine, and being 105 to 135 pounds. A girl also needed a high school diploma, of course. Stewardesses—definitely not flight attendants—were considered little more than cocktail waitresses in the sky, there to be eye candy for the travelling businessman, and nothing exemplified that ideal more than PSA’s famous orange and pink mini-dress uniform of the late sixties. A long—well, not too long—zipper, with a big circular pull, ran down the left side in front, and the low, squared neckline could show cleavage if worn right. The uniform really put the mini in mini-dress, and the girls’ modesty was only saved by the orange hot pants worn underneath. Otherwise, they would have never been able to move without flashing everyone up the aisle.

Riki’s mother had always acknowledged that a modern woman could see the uniform, and the attitudes toward stewardesses back then, as misogynistic, and the men could get rather handsy. The worst of them did not take kindly when their drunken advances were turned down, but she insisted that the girls generally knew how to handle the men. And if the guy was hot, maybe the advance wasn’t all that unwanted. Riki’s father had been one of those businessmen catching a regular flight between LA and San Francisco. It had been a blast, one of the best times of her life, and she always told Riki she’d never regretted her time in the air for a second. Riki had considered following in her mother's footsteps for a couple of years before college, but by the 1990s the skies had changed considerably. It would be more like a real job, not a nonstop party at 30,000 feet.

Joel had been thrilled when she informed him she was pulling her mother's old PCA uniform out of the attic, and went right to work putting a pilot's uniform together. It was not Riki's first time in the uniform. She'd worn it to a Halloween party in college, and it had been a big hit—especially with the guys. It had gotten her into trouble that night, which was how the hot pants had gone missing. They were replaced with a tiny pair of orange yoga shorts that almost matched.

The uniform was tighter than she remembered from twenty years ago—she didn't quite fill out her mother's curves back then—but now it really clung to her, barely closing over her boobs. Her cleavage looked fantastic. Riki was a couple of inches taller than her mother, making the curves of her butt really hang out. Even with the yoga shorts, she would have to avoid bending over. She zipped on the orange vinyl go-go boots and placed the little orange cap on her head and the look was complete. She posed in the full-length mirror and snapped a selfie. She had to admit it—she looked hot. If she really put effort in, she still had it. But she still hesitated to post the picture on Facebook. The outfit probably wasn't appropriate to send out to the world. She tucked her phone into a tiny pink vinyl purse she'd found in a thrift store, pushing off the decision until later.

"Holy..." Joel hissed, followed by a whistle, when she posed on the stairs for him. At that angle, he could see right up the mini-dress, and she wondered for the hundredth time if the yoga shorts were enough coverage.

"I guess you approve," she replied, starting down the steps.

"No, wait. I need another minute to take it all in."

She laughed and struck another pose for her husband. It was nice to get such a reaction after twenty years of marriage, and it took away some of the jealousy she felt when Joel fawned over the old pictures of her mother's PCA days. "You don't think it's a bit much? No one was ever supposed to wear one of these things over the age of twenty-six."

"You look like you stepped out of a time machine. You don't look a day over twenty-five."

"Ha ha."

"Really, you look incredible."

Riki smiled and conceded, “Twenty-five, huh? I guess I have one good year left then.”

“You can bring me a cocktail anytime, sweetie.”

“Very funny. I will not be the one slinging drinks tonight.”

“That’s right, young Chase will be there. I’m sure he will appreciate your costume.”

“You think? And what if he behaves like one of those grabby, drunk businessmen my mom used to talk about?”

“All the better.”

Riki descended the stairs and brushed past her husband. She knew it was a mistake telling him about her encounter with Chase the other day, but they didn’t keep secrets from each other. Besides, she knew he’d get a kick out of it, even though she left out the part about rushing into the house to masturbate. Joel was right, Chase would get a kick out of her costume. What kind of fantasies would it fuel in his brain, she wondered? Probably best not to think about it, lest she start having fantasies of her own.

“You’re lucky I’m not really one of those naughty wives. I might just have some fun with him.”

“I know you can be one of those naughty wives. You’ve just been dormant. I’ve seen exactly how naughty you can be. Maybe Chase has a friend he can bring along.”

“No fair using my past against me!” she protested, vividly remembering the occasion she was enjoying a new friend at a party and Joel decided to join in. That had been her first threesome, but not her wildest. Riki didn’t know if she could even handle more than one guy these days. Could she keep up?

Riki narrowed her eyes and made a stern face, hoping she looked serious. “If you keep pushing this, I may just fuck him to spite you.”

“Just to spite me?” Joel laughed.

THE PARTY WAS in full swing when they arrived next door. Riki had never liked being one of the first people to a party. She liked to get there when things were cooking. The house was packed with about forty or fifty people, mostly neighbors, but there were others who were just friends of the hosts. The dining room table was pushed to one side so there was space to dance, if people chose to, and it held all the snacks and a punch bowl. People sat talking in the quieter living room, while most of the party was concentrated in the huge family room in the rear of the house. A sunroom had been built onto the back of the house, and since it was so unusually warm for late October, the bar had been set up back there. Riki didn't like the thoughts swirling through her mind about Chase, so she asked Joel to go back and get her a Bay Breeze from the boy. She was surprised he didn't make her fetch the drink herself.

Riki couldn't help but beam with pride as she caught the glances she received from many of the men at the party. Just about every guy she passed at least paused a moment to check her out, while some of them took their time admiring her retro stewardess uniform. Joel had her tuned in to the attention she received from other men, and every time one of their neighbors looked her over it felt like their hands were roaming her body. And it wasn't just the men her age and older. Honestly, she expected some of that. She knew how the uniform fit her. A guy would not see the flaws in her body she focused on; they would just stare at her big tits and be waiting for her to bend over in that mini-dress. There were some guys at the party at least ten years younger who were visually following her through the crowd. All the attention was heating her up, and she'd only been at the party for about a half hour.

The attention didn't go completely to her head. Riki knew she wasn't the sexiest or prettiest woman at the party. When the neighbourhood wives got together, there were always catty comments about how some of the husbands drooled over April, the neighborhood trophy wife. April was only about thirty—nearly twenty years younger than her husband—and seemed to love the attention as much as men loved giving it to her. Riki thought she was a bit obvious, with her big blonde hair and bigger—obviously fake—tits. Apparently April didn't own a top that fit, or a skirt that came anywhere near her knees. It didn't bother Riki the way it bothered the other wives, mostly because she didn't care if Joel's eyes roamed—not as long as the rest of him didn't. One thing their partying back in the old days had done for her was to flush any jealousy she might have once held.

April was a typical center of attention at the party, and her costume made Riki's look like a nun's habit. The bubbly blonde had really outdone herself this year. She was a hula girl, complete with a coconut bra that barely contained her breasts, and a loose grass skirt that flashed the barely-there bikini bottoms she wore underneath every time she moved. Even Riki caught herself looking at her neighbor. April was not the type of woman Riki had been drawn to in the past, but she just oozed sex, making her everyone's type, really. April walked through the party sliding leis over the heads of all the husbands, and Riki could see the other wives standing in the corner, grumbling. The only saving grace was that in another hour or so those same women would be shamelessly flirting with each other's husbands, once they had a few drinks in them.

Riki caught up to Joel, finding him in the living room chatting with Stacey and Tim. A couple she didn't recognize occupied another corner, deep in conversation. Her brain flashed right to their bedroom teasing, which made the tingling down below grow stronger, even as she wondered if her husband had ulterior motives for seeking the couple out. She knew the bedroom fantasy was even more vivid in Joel's mind than hers.

"Wow, Joel wasn't exaggerating when he told us about your costume. Did your mom really wear that for work back in the day?" Tim asked. He seemed to take her sexy attire as an invitation to gape at her. Riki did her best to ignore it and hoped it didn't anger Stacey.

"It fit her a bit differently, but yes. This is how the stewardesses dressed at PSA back in the late sixties. Keep in mind it was a regional airline on the West Coast and things were looser in California even then."

"Why not? It was the Summer of Love, right? Stacey commented. "I don't know that I could work like that, but I get why they think that would draw the businessmen in. I'm sure my dad would have booked a ticket. You look amazing, Riki."

"Some of those skirts you wear to work are pretty short, hon. I don't think you're too far off from that," Tim commented.

Stacey punched her husband in the arm. "My suits are not that short." Then, with a smile, she allowed, "Not quite. Just like Riki's mom had to keep the businessmen happy on the plane, I have to keep the doctor's attention if I want to see them. I know it's part of my job."

"Do the doctors keep their hands to themselves? The guys on the plane didn't," Joel said.

With a sly look to Tim, Stacey replied, "Mostly."

“I guess it’s okay—if it’s for work,” Tim said. He didn’t sound like he would mind either way.

“You look hot too, hon,” Riki replied, relieved her friend didn’t mind her husband ogling her. She meant it too.

Stacey was so pretty, with a great petite body, so it wasn’t hard for her to look hot if she chose to, and she was one of those women who took the opportunity of Halloween to put herself out there in a way she never would in her regular life—much like Riki herself. In the past she’d done the sexy nurse thing, memorably going for a little latex outfit that looked painted on one year. This year she was sexy Harley Quinn from the recent Suicide Squad movie, and she was the perfect woman to pull it off. Her blonde hair was pulled up into pigtails, with some colors thrown in, and her make-up was heavy. The “Daddy’s Lil Monster” tee was cropped to show off her taut abs. She worked hard for that body. Riki had tried to attend a Pilates class with her once and could not keep up. Stacey had gone with a padded bra based on how she filled it out up top. Stacey had nice boobs, but they weren’t quite that big. She wore fishnets under sparkly blue hot pants that few of the women at the party could have pulled off, and knee-high boots with a stacked heel. Most of the tattoos were obviously stuck-on. Stacey only had a couple that Riki knew of. Tim was a matching Batman, though he had the cowl pulled back at the moment.

“I was just telling Stacey how much I loved her costume. Harley Quinn was the best part of that crappy movie. You’re ready to cosplay at one of those conventions,” Joel said, seeming a bit too excited by Stacey’s costume.

“That might be fun, but I’m not really a nerd at all. I just thought the costume was fun.”

“It is. I give you a lot of credit for walking around like that. I don’t think I could pull it off,” Riki said.

“I don’t know about that. Turn around,” Tim instructed.

Riki obliged him, feeling foolish. She turned back to find Tim grinning widely.

“Hate to tell you, Riki, but your ass is hanging out just as much as Stacey’s.”

Stacey hit Tim again. “And why are you looking at her ass, sweetie?”

“She put it out there!”

“It’s cool with me, Stacey. He looks at Riki’s ass, I look at yours. It’s a win-win to me,” Joel said.

“Excuse my husband,” Riki said. “He’s a walking hormone. Age hasn’t diminished him at all.”

“Do you mind?” Stacey asked.

Riki knew just what her friend was asking, and she shook her head. “Not at all.”

Stacey stood up and sauntered over to Joel—dragging her big fake mallet behind her—taking her time and working her hips. He was transfixed. In those stacked-heel boots, she was almost as tall as he was, but she still looked up at him, blinking like a coquettish schoolgirl. When she spoke, she perfectly mimicked the voice Margot Robbie had used in the movie.

“Is this what you wanted to see, Daddy?”

Stacey had to be a few drinks ahead of Riki to be so brazen. The blonde wasn’t the shy, retiring type, but this was crazier than Riki had ever seen her. Riki wasn’t jealous. She had to stifle a laugh. The look on Joel’s face was priceless. She hoped he embarrassed himself by making a mess in his pilot’s pants.

Joel looked helplessly at Tim, who appeared pleased with his wife’s behavior. They were all friends, so it was all in good fun, but Riki wondered if there was more to Stacey and Tim’s marriage than they knew.

Stacey turned and doubled over, almost bending in half. Her ass was perfectly presented to Joel, the hot pants creeping up between her cheeks. It didn’t appear she was wearing panties. Her ass was pretty perfect, and after a stab of jealousy, Riki admired it just as much as her husband did. Stacey was every bit the MILF that Joel insisted she herself was, Riki mused. She bet those doctors didn’t know what hit them when Stacey really turned it on to sling her company’s drugs in their offices. In most settings, she was a typical suburban, sweats on the weekends mom, but Stacey sure knew how to work it when she wanted to. Riki was impressed.

“I...uh...Stace...” Joel stammered.

“Cat got your tongue, Daddy?” Stacey cooed.

“You look like you need a cold shower, man,” Tim said, enjoying Joel’s discomfort. “I wouldn’t let her get away with teasing me like that.” When Joel looked helplessly back at him, Tim added, “Punish her. She likes it.”

Stacey's head popped up and she glared at her husband. He'd hit a nerve. While she did that, Joel wound back and gave her a good, hard slap on the ass. It was so loud it even pulled the strangers in the corner out of their conversation. Riki thought Stacey might just turn and smack him back, but instead a smile spread slowly across her face. It seemed she did like a good spanking. All of their conversations about this other couple ran through her mind, and for the first time Riki considered that Stacey and Tim might actually be up for some shared kinky fun. She didn't want to be left out with Tim, so she walked over and dropped onto his lap, working her firm, round butt into his lap. His arm went right around her, his hand resting on her hip. The other couple excused themselves—probably feeling the sudden erotic tension that filled the room.

"I can't believe she's going to let him get away with that," Riki commented to Tim.

"It all depends on the kind of mood she's in," Tim replied.

Stacey turned, and as she straightened up, she dragged her tight body up along Joel, until she stood with her tits pressed into his chest. Riki knew her husband well, and knew he was hard as a rock. Stacey was so close she could have flicked her tongue out and licked his lips. Watching them, Riki felt her heart pounding. Tim's hand subtly tightened on her hip and she could feel his manhood stirring against her butt. Years fell away and it was like they were right back at one of those old parties. Riki had that same sense of anticipation she'd always gotten right before something sexy happened. Stacey stayed there, plastered to Joel, and Riki was sure the naughty blonde was going to kiss him. Instead, she smiled wickedly.

"If you want to keep that hand, you'd better keep it to yourself. No touching without permission, Daddy."

Stacey stepped back and gave him a big, harmless whack with her fake hammer. Everyone started laughing, and suddenly the tension was eased. Except, the throbbing in Riki's pussy remained just as strong—as did the erection pressing into her behind. The blonde turned and looked a little surprised to find Riki sitting in Tim's lap. She took Riki's hand and pulled her to her feet.

"Let's go get fresh drinks for everyone," she insisted.

Around the corner, in the hallway, Stacey stopped her, hands on her shoulders, and Riki thought there was going to be a fight.

“Oh God, you’re not mad are you? I know I went too far. I should have never done those shots, but Chase insisted we do them,” Stacey said, her words coming out in a rush.

Riki put her hands over Stacey’s and gave a reassuring squeeze. “It’s totally fine. I am so not the jealous type. We’re actually pretty open about that sort of thing.”

“Really? That’s cool.”

She gave Riki a look like she was trying to decipher exactly what Riki meant. How open was open? Riki wasn’t too sure herself what she was implying. Walls seemed to be coming down tonight, but it wasn’t anything she had planned for.

“Joel and I gave up being possessive a long time ago. It made life more interesting.”

“I know just what you mean. Tim’s surprised me by just how open he can be.”

“It sounds like there’s a story there.”

“We’ll have to get together sometime and maybe I’ll tell you. The four of us should get together sometime.”

Riki sensed that it could be more than just a dinner invitation, but she didn’t shy away from it. Her heart was still pounding by the near miss in the other room, and suddenly possibilities that she’d thought were distant seemed much closer. It was turning into an interesting night.

“That could be a lot of fun. We definitely need to do that,” Riki agreed.

People were pushing through the hallway, making it difficult to stand there and have a conversation, so they returned to their original purpose of fetching another round of drinks for all. It had gotten so intense back in the living room that she had forgotten about Chase—even Stacey’s passing mention didn’t stir anything—until she saw him. And then Riki could not think of anything else.

Chase was shirtless, but did wear a shirt collar and a tie. For a breathless second, she thought that was all he wore. His smooth, muscled chest gleamed in the faint light, almost like he’d been oiled. After a few moments of staring at his chest, Riki realized he was also wearing jeans—jeans so tight it looked like he’d had to have been oiled up to get into them. If the flirty playing in the living room had gotten her riled up, seeing Chase like this had her positively swooning.

“Hey, Mrs. Ruskin. I was wondering where you were. Hi, Mrs. Snyder.”

Chase's voice was nice and respectful, but he was looking at both women like he couldn't believe his eyes. Riki had to admit that Stacey's was the crazier of the two costumes, and she didn't blame the young man for staring at her, but she was jealous of having to share his attention. She didn't want to think that his crush on her was one of many he had on moms in the neighborhood. Riki reacted by leaning forward toward him, pushing her boobs right at him. The gambit worked and his eyes were right back on her.

"You should call me Stacey, really Chase. I hardly feel like a Mrs. Snyder in this get-up. I know it's a bit much."

"Sure, Stacey. It's, uhm, pretty cool. You're a perfect Harley Quinn."

Riki recalled her own similar conversation with Chase about familiar names. It was amusing that Stacey was suddenly acting so innocent, like she had no idea what her costume was until Chase looked at her. This wasn't the same woman who'd just been plastered all over Joel in the other room. But she cut her friend some slack. She knew very well the effect Chase had, and that was when he was fully dressed.

"Do you think so? That's sweet. Thanks, Chase."

"How about you hook us up, Chase?" Riki said, drawing Chase back to her.

"Yeah. Anything you want." That gave Riki lots of bad ideas.

"The guys were having beers. I had a Bay Breeze, and what did you have, Stacey?"

"I'll take whatever you've got, Chase. Surprise me."

Riki couldn't believe the brazen hussy said it with a straight face. She smiled and wished she'd said it first. Chase poured the guys beers from a quarter keg sitting on the floor behind him and mixed Stacey a quick vodka and cranberry juice, which emptied the bottle he was using.

"I need to grab another bottle of cranberry juice. Do you mind waiting a minute?"

"No problem, Chase. Take your time," Riki said, enjoying the view.

"I'll run these beers back to the guys and let them know you got hung up," Stacey said, carefully lifting the three cups.

"Okay. Tell Joel I'll be at the bar with Chase. You can keep him entertained until I get back."

"If you insist," Stacey replied, smiling. With her back to Chase, she leaned in to Riki and whispered, "Have fun."

Left alone with Chase, a tingling ran up and down Riki's spine. Being alone with the young man when she was so horny was not a good idea. It seemed even worse when he poured her a vodka shot.

"Here, have this while you wait, Mrs. Ruskin," he said, pushing it toward her.

"I thought we agreed it was Riki from now on."

He smiled, and she melted. "Sorry. It's habit, I guess."

Riki looked at the shots dubiously. "I don't know about that. I gave up shots a long time ago. I'm a grown woman. A mom. I'm supposed to be more responsible."

"You don't look like a mom, Mrs—I mean—Riki."

"Really? Do you like my outfit, Chase? It's not inappropriate is it?" She put a hand on her hip and posed for him. She liked that he wasn't making it hard for her. Fishing for compliments from such a younger man felt as silly as it was thrilling.

Chase looked like he was weighing his response, and then he smiled again. "You look fucking hot, Riki."

She was taken aback by his directness. Their flirting had felt like a dance, but it felt like Chase had just taken it to the next level. She sensed their flirting was no longer harmless. If she stayed, she was in dangerous waters. She knew she should run away. She didn't.

"Chase," she said, shocked—only half meaning it.

"Don't tell me you don't know how hot you are in that dress. You wouldn't be wearing it if you didn't know."

Her mock-shock turned to a smile. "What are you accusing me of, Chase?"

"I think you know exactly what I mean."

She only maintained her smile in response. Any denial would be transparent.

"I'm going out to the garage to get more supplies. Want to come?"

Riki had been doing well, but now she blushed. She tingled everywhere with anticipation. Now her brain was screaming for her to flee.

"Why not? I don't think Joel is missing me yet," she replied, thinking that with Stacey to stare at, he probably wasn't missing her at all.

Instead of going through the house, Chase led her out through the backdoor off of the sunroom and into the backyard. They entered the dark garage through a side door. Riki tripped over something, and Chase was glad to catch her, letting his hands linger on her body. They were in a narrow space between the shelving on the back wall and the front of an SUV, which was parked in the garage. She could still hear the music coming from the house, but after being in the loud party it felt quiet and still in the garage. The perfect place for an erotic assignation. He reached up and pulled a chain to turn on a hanging bulb, which provided weak, yellowish illumination.

“I should grab more soda while I’m in here,” he said.

“Do you need my help with anything?”

“Actually, yeah. I was hoping you could take care of this.”

Chase turned to face her and took Riki’s hand, placing it right on his crotch. She felt the thick lump of his cock in the tight jeans and followed it down his right leg. It was big and solid, just like the rest of him. She couldn’t help but give it a squeeze. Subtle, she thought.

“Chase...” she whispered. It came out like a plea.

“You caused it, so that’s why I think you should take care of it.” He flashed a cocky grin.

Riki was rubbing his shaft through his jeans without even thinking about it, and she kissed him. The high-heeled boots made it easy. His arms went around her, surprisingly gentle, a hand caressing the back of her neck, the other resting lightly on her butt. His response to the kiss was gentle, too, like now that he got what he wanted he wasn’t sure what to do. In all of his fantasies, did he ever think this could really happen? But the longer Riki kissed him, the hotter she got, and when she slipped her tongue into his mouth it seemed to kick him into gear. His embrace tightened and he grabbed her ass under the uniform. In response, she squeezed his prick tighter.

Once she started, all of her hesitancy melted away. Riki fumbled to unbutton his jeans, and once that was accomplished she shoved her hand inside. His prick felt hot, even through his underwear. When she massaged it, he groaned into their kiss. Chase took her aggression as an invitation to be more forward. He turned them, so she was pushed back against the front of the SUV, and he moved his hand around to grab her through the skin-tight yoga shorts. The pressure on her mound made her tear her mouth from his and cry out. She remembered where they were and bit her lower lip to quiet herself, but little moans still escaped as he touched her.

His face pressed into her throat, and he nibbled on the tender flesh there. Riki's pale, freckled skin marked easily, so she pulled him back into a kiss, even though what he was doing felt amazing. She dragged down his jeans and boxer-briefs. His cock popped free, smacking against her, and she grabbed it.

"Chase," she whispered, gasped as her fingers just about closed around his girth.

Riki felt an immediate stab of guilt. Was she sure this was what Joel wanted? She had been passing her husband's teasing off as a joke before this, but now she was in a dimly-lit garage, her hand full of Chase's hot young cock. She wasn't sure Joel was okay with this, but she convinced herself that he had to be—and if he wasn't it served him right for pushing her into it. Be careful what you wish for, she thought.

Chase used her pause to grab the ring pull and unzip her dress. The stewardess uniform hung open, but he wanted to see all of her and pulled it open. Riki fought the urge to cover herself. She didn't think she could possibly measure up to the young man's fantasy, and would be crushed if she saw any disappointment in his face. He looked suitably impressed. He smiled that alluring, crooked smile.

"Damn Mrs. Ruskin. You are fucking stacked. Damn."

Riki didn't correct him—tell him to call her Riki. She was too busy melting under his adoration. She was ready to do just about anything for him in that moment, and she proved it by sinking to her knees.

His eyes widened as he watched her go down. It looked like he didn't believe it was really happening. Riki didn't tease him the way she might when she blew her husband. She did pause to examine his cock. It was even bigger up close and a shudder ran through her as she thought about it inside her. He was neatly trimmed, which wasn't something she'd ever experienced. Guys didn't do that when she was still on the market, but she liked it. It was sexy. It was a terrible idea, but she really wanted to fuck him right then. Instead, she put him in her mouth. She sucked him deep, taking as much as she could on the first go. This was one area she was sure she could impress him. She'd been sucking dick since before he was born, and she knew the girls his age didn't know all of her tricks. She relaxed her throat, taking him past the point most women could. Riki started choking when she truly tried deep throating him, but pressed on, and almost swallowed all of him. She looked up and found him staring down in wonder.

“Oh shit!” he marvelled.

She pulled back until only the head rested between her lips and she sucked it hard, working her tongue over it. Her hand stroked his shaft while she enjoyed the head. Chase staggered and held onto the vehicle behind her for support. When she cupped his balls and played with those, it looked like he just might pass out, so she really got to work, bobbing back and forth on his prick, giving him a world-class blowjob. She was an expert with her hands, knowing just how to play with whatever wasn't in her mouth. The only drawback was that her pussy was on fire, and she desperately wanted to touch herself. She knew that would really blow his mind, but chose to focus on him. A tiny, responsible voice at the back of her head made the crazy argument that if she got him to blow his load now she could end it before things went any further. Like getting on her knees for the young man wasn't too far already!

Riki took a deep breath through her nose and sucked him deep again, sucking down just about every inch. She grabbed his muscular butt, pulling him to her. He held her by her ponytail, pressed his cock into her throat, and started thrusting his hips. Riki struggled to breathe and tried to pull back, but he resisted. Chase fucked her mouth with quick, rapid strokes. His dominance made her burn hotter, and she whimpered into his cock, frantic to be fucked. She did touch herself then, but it was frustrating with the yoga shorts in the way.

“Shit...shit...Mrs...”

Chase started coming down her throat, letting go as he did so. Riki pulled back and his warm seed filled her mouth. She sucked and swallowed the thick, salty load, but it was impossibly huge and dripped from the corner of her mouth. The kid came like a firehose. Cum ran down her chin by the time she was finished. His cock slipped from her lips and he staggered back, looking stunned. Amazingly, his prick was still half-erect. She eyed it hungrily.

“Are you okay, Chase?”

“Yeah. That was just... it was fucking awesome.” He watched her rub the cum from her chin and suck it from her fingers, and gasped, “Shit.”

Riki pushed to her feet and pressed against him. With her dress hanging open, their bare skin melded together, and the heat radiated through her body. He only hesitated a moment when she kissed him. She wasn't offended. A guy his age was probably still weird about kissing a girl after coming in her mouth. Chase was easily seduced though, and kissed her back hard, while pulling on her yoga shorts.

The yoga shorts didn't want to come free, so he used both hands and pulled them down her legs, leaving her little black g-string halfway down her thighs. When he pulled her close again, his shaft bounced against her nude mound. God, she wanted him. She couldn't help herself. Riki was pliant when he turned her and bent her over the hood of his parents' SUV. The moment was deliciously slutty. She willingly laid forward, her bra-clad tits pressed into the cold metal. Being bent over and taken while half-dressed was somehow hotter than if he'd just ripped her clothes off.

The feeling of his cock brushing her lips caused Riki to instinctively buck back against him, trying to get him inside of her. He pushed the dress up, so that her whole ass was exposed to him. She hoped he liked the view. His thick head split her lips. Riki gasped, pushing back harder. Chase finally took the hint and buried himself inside her. Her loud groan filled the garage.

Chase kept his cock planted inside her, and her muscles rippled around him as she adjusted to his girth. As excited as he was, he still felt big, and she felt him swelling inside her. He had not been fully recovered when he put it in. Her husband was not a small man, but he was longer than her new lover, rather than thicker. Riki had not had a new man in nearly twenty years, and she had forgotten how thrilling it could be when one first took her. She began trembling in anticipation as she waited for Chase to give her what she truly needed. His fingers dug into the meat of her hips and he went to work.

Riki tried to control herself. She tried to be quiet. She reached forward and grabbed onto the lip of the hood where it met the windshield. Her chin rested on the hood and she tried to keep her mouth closed, but that didn't stop the moans that bubbled up from her throat. It didn't stop her from crying out with every short, powerful thrust. Chase fucked so differently from her husband. He pulled out just halfway and then hammered back into her with all his strength, pushing her up against the car, jolting her entire body. His heavy, shaved balls bounced against the backs of her thighs with every thrust. She felt like she was truly being taken, and it was marvellous.

“Ohhh...oh god...ohhh...” Chase moaned, tightening his grip on her hips.

“Chase...honey...don’t stop...” she pled, fearing he might come quickly again. She was close—so very close—but she wasn’t quite there.

The sound of the door into the house opening froze time. Chase stopped cold, his cock buried inside her. Riki stopped and even held her breath. She was so exposed. Panicked thoughts of being ruined flew through her head at light speed. She had to escape, but she couldn’t move.

“This isn’t the bathroom,” a female voice said. Riki didn’t recognize it.

The door closed just as quickly and Chase collapsed on top of her, his shaft still throbbing inside her. She sagged into the car, in both relief and frustration. She had been so damned close to climaxing—it was right on the horizon—but it receded now. She was so frustrated, she wanted to scream.

“Oh man, I thought we were dead,” Chase said.

Riki pushed him back off of her, and she whimpered when his wonderful cock slipped from her. Almost getting caught should have been a reality check.

“We cannot get caught,” she said, with gravity. She turned to face him. “No one can ever know about any of this.”

“I know. Trust me, I’m cool.”

He kissed her, and while she resisted for a moment, she melted in seconds. He was reaching for her, but she pushed his hands away. The garage was not safe. The smart move would have been to put an end to everything right then and go back to the party like nothing happened. She could grab Joel, drag him home, and screw him until the sun came up. She didn’t do that.

“Come home with me. Right now.”

That cocky grin came right back. “Yeah,” he said.

Riki zipped her costume and Chase pulled up his pants. In her rush, she completely forgot about her g-string and yoga shorts which had fallen to the floor. The night air on her pussy should have been a reminder, but she was running on pure adrenaline. Satisfied that the coast was clear, she took his hand and pulled him along as she darted across the yards and back to her house. Once inside, she led Chase right up to her bedroom. Her daughter would be late and Joel was busy at the party. There would be no more interruptions.

Thinking of her husband made her pause. She had been too wired to stop and really consider what she was doing before, but now she had the chance and she couldn't just go through with this—not without at least telling him. If she found out he had been joking she would be crushed and would stop, but she had to do the right thing.

“I'll be right back,” she said coyly, stepping into the master bath.

Her phone was in the little clutch she'd been dragging around all night. At least she'd remembered to grab that back in the garage. It was only now that she realized she'd left something behind and hoped no one would connect the clothes to her. Maybe she could retrieve them before they were found. She texted Joel, hoping his phone was on vibrate in his pocket. He wouldn't hear over the party noise.

-I've been a bad girl.

It took an excruciating four minutes for him to respond.

-do tell

-I hope you weren't joking going out to play

-I meant what I said. I want you to have a good time

-Sure? Last chance

A pause of a couple of minutes. He could have been changing his mind.

-how bad have you been?

-not as bad as I'm going to be

-can't wait to hear all about it. Ps. I might be bad too. But just a little bit

Riki had a sudden, unexpected stab of jealousy. The fooling around with Stacey and Tim had been one thing, but was she okay with him really doing something? And should she assume it would be with Stacey? They would have to talk later, but she was good with it all now. She could hardly object, not considering how she had behaved.

-have fun

She was going to put her phone down, but then smiled evilly and added:

-Could you grab my panties from the garage?

She unzipped her costume and held it open while she took a picture of her pussy. She knew her red, swollen lips would tell Joel exactly what she had been doing. She texted it.

-You have been bad. I'm going to have to spank you when I get home

-please!

-love you

She replied:

-love you more

Riki put the phone down and looked in the mirror. She was dishevelled, looking every bit like she had just been fooling around in the dark garage. Her ponytail was half-out, but the little hat remained in place, held to her copper hair by bobby pins. She left it, but did freshen her make-up and drop the stewardess uniform and her bra on the floor. The boots stayed on. She was ready to make an entrance.

Chase sat on the bed, fully nude. He hadn't wasted any time. But he looked a bit confused. She felt bad. He probably had a million questions. But the second he saw her, he perked right up. She even saw his cock twitch. She cupped her tits as she walked toward him.

"I know you've been thinking about this moment for a long time. I know you've been looking at me, Chase."

"I couldn't help it. You're so beautiful. The second I saw you I couldn't believe it."

"Lots of boys have crushes on their friends' moms. That's not so special."

"Everything about you is special, Mrs. Ruskin. Moms do not look like you."

She didn't correct him again. It made it naughtier that he called her Mrs. Ruskin. "No? Do you like what you see? Do I live up to your fantasy?"

"I had no idea how hot you are."

"My tits still look good?"

Riki was directly in front of him and released her breasts, letting them hang, and her stiff nipples pointed right at him. She thought they still looked pretty good, but was he really ready to see a fortysomething pair of tits? She remembered what they looked like when she was twenty.

"Your tits are fucking awesome, Mrs. Ruskin," he enthused.

Chase was done talking, apparently. He pulled Riki to him and buried his face in her chest. He kissed them all over and then really started working on her nipples. She whimpered his name when he licked them and dug her nails into his scalp when he sucked on them. He was eager, but too rough at first. It made her appreciate a skilled lover like Joel. After she urged him to be gentle a couple of times, he calmed down and started sucking and nibbling on her just the way that drove her crazy. She was shaking and moaning, almost smothering him against her chest.

Riki was dripping wet, and when he pulled her down onto the bed, she hoped he was going to fuck her again, but he instead kissed his way down her body.

“You don’t have to,” she whimpered, watching him go down.

“I want to,” he said.

Chase was hot and young, he had a wonderful cock, but he had a lot to learn. It felt good when he kissed her down there, but he was all over the place. He let his fingers do more of the work than his tongue. Luckily, he had an excellent teacher in bed with him.

“Mmm, right there, baby,” she moaned, moving her hips so his tongue touched her clit. “Yeah...like that...lick it, Chase...” She played with her nipple with one hand, but used the other to hold his head in place.

Riki had to give more direction, but Chase was a quick learner and eager to please. She had his tongue dancing on her clit, even when she pumped her hips to push back at his fingers. Her entire body felt like it was throbbing—her climax right there on the edge.

“Suck it, Chase. Suck right there!” she cried.

It was so dirty to be telling a younger man how to eat her pussy, and it made her crazy. She’d never done anything like it. She revelled in fulfilling her stereotype. Chase was going down so well, she thought she might never let him up. When she came, her cry was so loud it even startled her. She dug her boot heels into his poor back and arched her back off the bed. Time hung for a moment as the intense orgasm claimed her fully, and then she pushed him away because his licking felt too intense.

“Damn. That was intense,” he marvelled, kissing her.

Riki tasted herself and kissed him harder. “You have no idea,” she said between gasps.

“I never saw a girl come like that. Holy shit!”

“You ain’t seen nothing yet. Now comes the real fun part.”

They kissed passionately as she rolled him onto his back and straddled him. He grabbed for her tits as they hung over him, but she slid back and reached for his cock. He felt just as wonderful and thick as before when she slid onto him. He actually felt even bigger as she sank all the way down and pushed deeper. Riki leaned down on Chase, flicking her tongue at his while she worked her muscles all around him. He moaned into their kiss, which made her kiss him even harder. But he didn't like being teased. He grabbed her ass with both hands and started working her back and forth on his shaft. She pushed his hands away. Riki wanted to be in control—at least for now.

“Let me,” she gasped, slowly sliding her cunt back and forth on him.

“Mrs...”

“Does that feel good?”

“So fucking good.”

“You feel so good inside me, Chase,” she cooed. She played her part to the hilt. She didn't want to make the young man come too fast, but she wanted to be the perfect fulfilment of his fantasy.

Her nipples dragged against his smooth chest as she moved, shooting sparks back to her pussy, but then he grabbed her tits and thumbed her nipples. She cried his name and started moving faster. She sat up on him, bracing her hands back on his thighs, and bounced hard. He was so large inside her like that. So deep. Chase ran his hands up her body and grabbed her breasts again, handling them rougher this time. He pinched her nipples and she cried out, bouncing harder. He stared up her in total awe. Yes, she knew, this was exactly his fantasy. How many times had he beaten off, imaging her tits bouncing as he fucked her? She was impressed that he didn't come right then. But she was close to coming again, and fell forward.

With one hand braced on the headboard and the other on the mattress, Riki jammed onto his young cock as hard as she could, slamming their bodies together. It sounded like the bed was going to collapse underneath them. Her orgasm slammed through her body and she screamed. Her orgasm pulsed through her and she lost control. She was happy to let Chase take control now, and he bounced her up and down on his surging cock.

“Chase...” she moaned. “You have to pull out, baby. Please. Please, baby, don't come inside me.”

Joel had been fixed years ago. Birth control was not something she'd thought about in years, but as she sensed Chase was close to coming, she knew she had to warn him. She could not afford to be knocked up by her twenty-year-old neighbour.

Chase quickly rolled her off of him and knelt between her legs.

“Where?” he desperately asked.

Riki thought of the dirtiest answer she could. “Come on my tits, baby.”

She reached for his cock, and instead of making him finish himself, she did it, jerking his shaft until ropes of cum shot across her heaving tits.

Chase gave a strangled cry as he came, helpless in her hands. He coated her tits, impressive given that he'd already come once that evening. She didn't release him from her grasp until she was sure he was finished. He rolled onto his back and started laughing. Riki didn't know what to think.

"Chase," she said, concern in her voice.

He shook his head on the pillow. "No, it's not bad. It's awesome. It's incredible. I never did that before. It was hot! I've seen it online, but I never got to do it."

Riki laughed with him, relieved. For a moment, she feared she was the butt of some cruel joke. "What do you usually do when you pull out?"

"I never even did that. Gotta admit, I'm a little impressed with myself that I could even do it. It felt so good I didn't want to stop."

"Never?"

"Nah. I always use condoms."

"Always?"

"Yeah. I don't want to get anyone knocked up or catch something, y'know? I just figured you were safe 'cause, y'know..."

She rolled onto her side and kissed his cheek. "I'm not too old to get pregnant," she said sweetly. She wasn't offended. She just thought he was naïve.

"I didn't mean you were old. I more meant I figured you were safe because you don't sleep around, right? You're married."

"Yes, I'm married, and no, I don't sleep around. Not usually. I haven't done anything like this before."

"That makes it even more awesome," he said. He pulled her into a slow, sensual kiss. She felt his confidence growing in that kiss. Now that he had her, he seemed more comfortable treating her like a lover than a frenzied one night stand.

Riki wanted to get cleaned up and told Chase she'd be right back. She looked at herself frankly in the bathroom mirror. Her make-up was ruined, her hair was a mess, and she was flushed all over. Red marks covered her breasts where he had gotten rough with her. She was not in the habit of evaluating herself after sex, but looking in the mirror now she knew she looked like exactly what she was: a well-used, horny housewife. She smiled at that.

The hat finally came off, and so did the boots. After cleaning his cum from her tits, Riki scrubbed off her make-up and brushed out her hair. She looked softer—pretty—with her copper-colored hair down. But she was not prepared to face Chase with no make-up, so she re-applied it with a light touch, going for the I'm-not-wearing-make-up look.

Chase lay confidently in the middle of the bed, the sheets thrown back, like he was the king of the castle. He had to be pretty cocky to behave like that in another man's bed. Riki didn't even consider taking him to another room to fuck, but now she thought maybe she shouldn't have done this in her marital bed—even if her husband knew it was happening. She wasn't cheating. She was just a slut.

Those thoughts all fell from her mind when she beheld Chase's nude body, so toned, so beautiful. Riki was not used to seeing that in the flesh. It was like she was looking at a model in an ad—not that he was modelling anything but that assured grin of his. His cock lay along his leg, wonderfully sculpted even when he wasn't erect. Riki would normally have been done after their vigorous session, but she could feel her desire rising once more as she looked. She was so entranced that she didn't notice he was looking at her exactly the same way. His cock began to twitch at the sight of her voluptuous body.

"Come here," he said.

"You're not done with me yet?" she asked, walking toward the bed. "You've gotten what you wanted."

She climbed onto the bed and sat back on her heels. She took his cock and casually stroked it. It rose with impressive speed. It had been a long time since she'd experienced the resilience of a young man.

"No way," he gasped, breathing heavily as she made him hard. "I want you more than ever. You're fucking amazing, Mrs...I mean, Riki."

Riki giggled, and it made her feel like a girl. "I kind of like it when you call me Mrs. Ruskin in bed."

"Oh yeah?"

Chase fondled her breasts, smiling when she jumped as he toyed with her nipples. She parted her thighs when his hand moved lower, and she moaned softly when his fingers slipped inside her. She was still wet and ready.

"You like being my MILF, don't you Mrs. Ruskin?"

"Yes," she moaned, admitting the truth.

"I think you wanted me as much as I wanted you."

She wanted to tell him she never knew, that this was all new for her, but the fingers stroking in and out of her cunt short-circuited her brain, and all she could do was moan, “Yes, Chase. I want you.”

“Do you want me to fuck you, Mrs. Ruskin?”

“Yes.”

Chase pulled her down on the bed and slipped inside her while she wrapped her legs around him. Gone was the confident woman who went down on him in the garage. Chase had the upper hand at the moment, and she loved it. Riki wanted to feel his powerful young body and be taken. She frantically kissed him as he thrust deep inside her, locking her legs tighter to try and trap him there. She roughed his thick, shaggy hair with her fingers, dug her nails into his back. He was not brutally fucking her like when he bent her over the hood. Chase took her slowly and deliberately, like he was trying to savor every moment.

“Oh fuck...ohhh fuck Chase...”

“You love that cock, Mrs. Ruskin?”

“Yes!” she cried.

“Tell me.”

“I love your young cock, Chase! Fuck, give it to me!”

“You’re so fucking hot, Mrs. Ruskin. I’ve wanted to fuck you so bad!”

“Yes!”

“You’re so pretty. So perfect. I have to jerk off every time I see you.”

“Oh god, Chase!”

“I don’t have to anymore, do I, Mrs. Ruskin?”

“No...god no, Chase. You’re fucking me now. Fucking me so good.”

“And it’s so fucking good. I want to fuck you forever.”

“Please! Please fuck me forever!” she cried.

Riki came so hard she thought she saw stars. Not only was Chase a strong, vigorous lover, he seemed to know just the right things to say. She had never felt sexier. She locked her arms and legs around him—her toes curling—and practically screamed as she came, completely letting go. Chase rode her through that orgasm, and she just started coming again.

That second time seemed to go forever. Riki lost count of how many times her young lover made her climax. He never stopped telling her how hot, how beautiful she was, never stopped kissing her, and never stopped fucking her. She didn’t even have the sense to tell him to pull out, but he respected her wishes, crying out as he withdrew just in time to shoot onto her tummy. Finally, his load was depleted and just a little shot onto her. Riki pulled him close after that and clung to him as the aftershocks of her last orgasm rocked her. She only let him go when she felt she was falling asleep. That would not do.

“Chase, honey, you have to go home,” she said, giving him a little shake. He was drifting off, too.

“Yeah, sorry. You like totally drained me. That was intense.”

“It was. You were incredible.” She kissed him sweetly.

“No, it was all you. I’ll never forget tonight.”

“You know you can’t tell anyone, right? You can’t say anything to your friends.”

“I want to brag to all of them. I’m not the only guy who knows what a babe you are, but I get it.”

“Yeah?”

“You’re totally the neighbourhood MILF, Mrs. Ruskin. You don’t even want to know the things we used to talk about.”

“I don’t know. Maybe I do.” Then again, it could be dangerous. She couldn’t even handle knowing Chase had a crush on her, apparently. What would happen if she knew all the dirty thoughts of his friends? She shuddered to think of it. “But not right now.”

“Yeah. I better not get caught here.”

Riki weighed her next words carefully. She had trusted Chase this far, so she went for broke. “Joel knows.”

“What?” Chase seemed stunned.

“It’s okay, honey.” She put a calming hand on his chest. “He’s actually the one who told me about your crush. I really never knew.”

“And he’s cool with this?”

“It’s been a long time, but Joel and I have always been open about this sort of thing. We try not to be possessive.”

“That’s cool, I guess. I have a buddy who’s shared his girlfriend. I probably would’ve done it if he’d asked me.”

Riki could tell he didn’t really understand. He would take advantage of someone else sharing, but would never do it himself. That was okay, as long as he could be discrete about it.

“You can’t say anything about that either. We can’t have rumors spread about us.”

“I would never do anything to hurt you.”

“I know that, Chase.”

“So if Mr. Ruskin is cool with this, does that mean...”

Riki heard the hope in his voice, but she didn’t have an answer. Looking at his nude body, she wanted him as much as ever, but she did not know if she could be that stereotype housewife having an affair with the young stud next door. That could not turn out well. When she and Joel played in the past, it was never about either of them maintaining relationships with anyone else.

“I honestly don’t know. I loved every second of this, but I don’t want to lead you on. I don’t know if it’s a good idea if we do this again.”

“But maybe.”

“I never say never, but I’m not promising anything.”

Chase looked pleased that she didn’t just tell him no. It was enough for now. “I’ll give you some space. But you know I’ll be thinking about it.”

“Me, too, Chase.”

Chase only had jeans and boots, so he dressed quickly. Riki threw on a robe and saw him to the door. It had been hours and the house next door was quiet. There were party stragglers over there, but most people had probably gone home. She wondered where Joel had ended up.

“My parents are going to kill me for disappearing,” Chase said.

“You’ll think of a good excuse.”

“I can’t tell them I had to come over and fuck you?” He saw the look on her face and hastily added, “Just kidding. It’ll be cool.”

They shared a long, lingering kiss, and then she opened the door and he slipped out. She hoped no one was about at that hour to see him leaving. She put her back to the door and let out a long sigh. The smile would not leave her face. God, I’m terrible! she thought.

“I thought he’d never leave,” Joel said, coming out of the dark bedroom.

Riki jumped. “Don’t sneak up on me like that.”

“I guess you’re a little distracted. Sorry.”

“How long have you been home?”

“About an hour. I thought about coming upstairs to join you two—I remember how much you love that sort of thing—but I didn’t know if Chase would be okay with that. I didn’t want to freak the kid out and ruin your night.”

“Probably a good call. I did tell him you knew about this, but I don’t think he really gets it.”

“Most people don’t get it. That’s why most people aren’t cut out for the Lifestyle, and the people who do try it don’t usually last too long.”

“We lasted a while. We had a good time,” Riki insisted.

“We did. We knew how to have fun with it. Could be we’re entering a new phase with it, I think.”

Riki took both his hands in hers, relieved that Joel was okay with what she’d done. He said he wanted her to do it, but things often changed after the fact. It had been so long that they couldn’t be sure they would still feel the same way about playing with others.

“Do not take this and run with it, but maybe. The door is definitely open.”

Joel chuckled softly. “I knew it would be. I know you better than you know yourself.”

“Don’t pat yourself on the back too hard. I’m not committing to anything until I’ve had time to process this.”

“But you had fun?”

“You heard me, didn’t you?”

“I think they might have heard you back at the party.”

“Was I too over the top?”

He squeezed her hands and kissed her. “I thought you sounded like a goddess. I loved hearing you lose control like that. I almost had to whip it out and take care of myself. Especially after what happened earlier.”

“What did happen after I left?”

“I didn’t have as much fun as you, but I did find out that Stacey is a lot of fun when she has a few drinks in her, and Tim is totally on board with it.”

“I suspected as much. You’re not going to hold out the details, are you?”

“I’ll tell you all about it upstairs.” Joel nudged her robe open and touched her pussy.

“Careful, I’m a little sore.”

“I’ll be gentle. But if I don’t get you upstairs and make love to you right now I think I might pass out. I have never wanted to fuck you more than I do at this moment.”

Riki smiled. “Really? Let’s go up then, and you can tell me all about it.”

Joel led his wife upstairs by the hand. “Oh, Tim and Stacey want to have us over for dinner soon. I think it could be an interesting night.”

“It sounds like it. Chase would like to come over again.”

“Of course he does. He’s going to be addicted now. I can’t blame him.”

“Are you okay with that?”

“Why not? Maybe I’ll see if Stacey and Tim are free that night.” Joel hastily added, “And maybe you could get some pictures next time.”

“Maybe—if there is a next time. Haven’t made up my mind yet.”

“Oh, I think you have. You just don’t know it yet.”

“We’ll see,” she replied cryptically. “You might need to find some co-ed to make us even.”

“I don’t know if they are looking for an old guy like me, but that would be awesome.”

They were at their bedroom door. Riki saw Joel staring at the torn-apart bed. He looked excited.

“Right now, though, we need to forget about everyone else,” he said. “I want you, and I want it to be all about us.”

“That sounds perfect,” Riki agreed.

They went to bed hand in hand.

TRUTH OR TREAT

Andrea Donovan was not thrilled with her husband Seth at that moment. He had accepted the invitation to Jared Devlin's Halloween party without even asking her.

He probably knew that she didn't like Jared all that much. If he'd asked first, she would have said no, or at least argued about it for a while. In fact, it seemed to Andrea that they were doing a little too much arguing—and too little lovemaking—these days.

Both in their early thirties and married for eight years, their lives had settled down into a bit of a routine. It wasn't that Andrea didn't want sex anymore, or that she was not attracted to Seth any longer. She thought Seth was just as sexy as when they'd met. He was about five foot ten, but he kept in shape by hitting the gym three mornings a week before work and playing softball in the spring. He still had all of his thick brown hair, although he did bitch about occasionally finding a gray one. And when he turned those steel gray eyes on her, Andrea still felt a tingle all the way down to her toes. But it just felt like life got in the way. With two busy careers that demanded much of their time, it seemed like they both wanted to fall into bed and go to sleep at the end of the day.

With all that in mind, Andrea took special care in selecting her costume for the party. She figured that with the right costume she could encourage her husband to leave early and to make love to her the way she longed for it. Once or twice a week just wasn't enough for Andrea. She'd always had a strong sex drive. What they said about women hitting their sexual peak later must be true, she thought. She could swear she'd only gotten hornier as she'd gotten older. So, after hitting all the shops at the mall Andrea finally found the perfect costume on the Internet. She just had to hope it fit because by the time it arrived, as there wouldn't be time to return it.

Seth knew his wife was up to something. She'd insisted that they keep their Halloween costumes a secret from each other. It made him feel like a kid going trick or treating again, only this time he knew he'd be getting something much better than a Baby Ruth or Good-n-Plenty. Knowing his wife, the way he did, Seth pictured something that made his cock ache. He knew that Andrea and he hadn't been making love often enough to suit her lately, and he was sorry about that. Hey, he wanted it more too, but it seemed like he worked from dawn until dusk a lot of the time, and he just wasn't in the mood. He knew this Saturday after the party would be his big chance to make all that up to Andrea.

For his part, Seth decided to go as a pirate, so he found a shirt with billowy sleeves and wore black pants, which he tucked into the high boots he usually wore when he rode his motorcycle. A bandana on his head and a patch over his eye completed the outfit. He even managed to borrow a cutlass from a guy at work, who was into role-playing, with the promise he wouldn't let anything happen to it. All that was left was to practice his "Arrggg" in the mirror.

When Andrea came into the kitchen, Seth almost dropped the bottle of rum they were bringing to the party. He thought maybe the eye patch was doing something funny to his vision because that couldn't be his wife standing there. Andrea was dressed like a genie from a bottle. She wore billowy, diaphanous white harem pants that showed she was wearing very tiny white lace panties, and an almost-as-see-through white halter with billowed sleeves. Seth didn't think Andrea was wearing a bra and expected, when she moved if the light struck right, he would be able to see her pale nipples through the halter-top. Her long, blond hair was pulled back into a ponytail and her make-up was perfect. Her spiked heels made her as tall as Seth.

"Well," she asked when he didn't say anything and gave a little spin. She could tell, however, from the look on his face exactly what he thought. It also occurred to her that another part of Seth's body would be telling her too—if only his pants weren't so baggy.

Seth still couldn't speak. Fortunately, he wasn't one of those guys who freaked out if his wife tried to look sexy around other men. For all he cared, every other guy at that party could eat his heart out, because Andrea would be going home with him. And every other guy would certainly be eating his heart out. The halter cut off right below his wife's breasts, which were a big C-cup, capped by long, pale nipples. Her stomach was still as flat as when she was a varsity cheerleader, and Andrea had great legs. She was the type of woman that other women hated because she kept her figure with a minimum of effort; just eating right and having a job that kept her active. Seth knew his wife had a great body, especially when he checked out the bodies of some of his friends' wives. But he was surprised she would go out in something like that. Andrea wasn't exactly conservative, she could dress as sexily as the next woman, but she wasn't a show-off either. She rarely even wore a bikini, thinking her hips were bigger than they were. But this outfit was, well...

"I, I'm not... You look incredible. I'm just surprised..." Seth stammered.

Andrea pressed up against her husband and lightly brushed his lips with hers. "I was feeling kind of playful when I picked this out and I thought you might like it." She cupped his crotch and felt Seth's seven-and-a-half inches standing at full attention. That made her pussy tingle and she momentarily thought of taking him right there, but then thought it would be better if she made him wait.

"Hmm, baby," Seth whispered as his wife massaged him through his pants. He put the bottle on the counter and wrapped his arms around her. The material that barely covered her ass felt thin as a sheet of tissue paper. Andrea's panties barely covered her ass and Seth kneaded her cheeks, knowing how much she loved that. He also nibbled her neck, something else that made Andrea crazy. "You know, that outfit doesn't leave much to the imagination," he whispered.

"Does that bother you, honey? Think some guys might be checking me out?"

Seth's hand brushed her breast. "I don't think they could help it. I couldn't."

"That doesn't bother you, does it?" She asked playfully.

"I think I kind of like it. As long as I know whose bed you'll end up in."

"You don't need to worry about that, honey." When Seth tried to kiss her, she turned her head. "Uh-uh, we need to leave soon, and you can't mess up my make-up—not yet."

Actually, the costume was much sheerer than it appeared in the picture she saw on the web. But it arrived too late to send it back, so Andrea knew she had to make do. It wasn't cheap, so she wasn't going to trash it. She played the confident sex kitten to her husband, but Andrea was self-conscious about wearing the barely-there outfit in public. She did try on a strapless bra beneath the top, but it just didn't look right. It was only the tiny lace panties that looked right under the bottoms. Andrea told herself she just had to suck it up and enjoy herself. And truth be told, the idea of the other husbands and boyfriends checking her out did turn her on more than a little.

By the time Andrea and Seth arrived, the party was jumping. It was mostly couples, with a few single guys here and there. In total, probably twenty-five to thirty people, which was a lot for the small house. Once she got there, Andrea was even more nervous than she thought she would be. She headed right for the party ball, filling a large plastic cup of beer for herself. As she stood there waiting for Seth to catch up with her, Andrea caught a couple of guys checking her out, which made her more uncomfortable than excited. She downed the first beer then got herself another. The fact that it was chilly outside hadn't helped, and the short dash from the car to the house had left Andrea's nipples standing out through the thin fabric of her halter. When her husband reached her, she was going for her third beer.

"Hey, you okay?" Seth asked, seeing the look on his wife's face.

"Yes, I'm fine, really," Andrea reassured him.

Seth gave his wife a hug and a kiss just as their host arrived, pushing through the crowd. Jared Devlin seemed oblivious to the fact that Andrea didn't like him. He kissed her cheek and hugged her. A little too long of a hug, Andrea thought. Jared was dressed like a Scottish Highlander with yards of tartan fabric wrapped around his hulking frame. Jared wasn't a bad-looking guy. His dark hair had started to thin, and he had the large frame of a man who'd been a football player in college—but was starting to go to seed. And although Andrea thought he was a boor, even she had to admit that with his large, hairy chest exposed, Jared didn't look half bad. His eyes just ate her up, and Andrea suddenly wished she were in an overcoat.

Even when she was fully dressed, even when his wife was right there, Jared always made Andrea feel uncomfortable. And Seth had been friends with Jared for so long that he seemed oblivious to the whole thing. On more than one occasion, she'd narrowly avoided Jared copping a feel. She would have said something, but Andrea didn't want to turn Seth against one of his oldest friends. A lot of Seth's old friends were like that—not people Andrea wanted to hang out with. But then, she knew that her own longtime friends bored Seth to tears. Fortunately, they'd worked out a nice compromise over the years.

"Wow, nice outfit, Andi," Jared whistled. "If we had a contest, I know who'd get my vote."

Dick, Andrea thought. She hated being called Andi, but she'd given up correcting him years ago. "Thank you, Jared," she replied icily.

"You have to promise me a dance later," he said, leering at her nipples, plainly visible through the top. It took all her will not to cover herself.

Before Andrea could say no, Seth jumped in. "Of course, she will. What kind of friend would I be if I didn't let you dance with my sexy wife?"

Andrea took the bottle of rum from Seth and told him that she'd take it into the kitchen and mix them some rum and cokes. It was as good an excuse as any to get away, and she knew the extra alcohol would come in handy. She already felt a little heady from the beers she'd knocked back. In the kitchen, she ran into Jared's wife, Maria.

Maria was not tall and seemed even shorter as she was barefoot, and Andrea was in heels. Maria was going for a cavewoman look, which she'd accomplished by stretching a flimsy, jagged-cut piece of leopard-print cloth across her body. Maria had a great figure and Andrea thought she looked sexy. Maria was a striking Italian woman with lush, soft curves. Jet black hair fell almost to her waist and her plump breasts threatened to burst out of her costume. Maria's breasts were at least a cup size larger than Andrea's and it didn't look like Jared's wife was wearing a bra either. Maria was a few years younger than Andrea and had the striking features that turn heads. Andrea had thought more than once that she looked like Carla Gugino, one of Seth's favorite actresses. And her husband never failed to give Maria the once-over, although the poor fool thought he was being subtle. Andrea was just a little jealous of that.

"Hi, Andrea," Maria said when she saw Andrea.

"Hi Maria," Andrea replied. They engaged in girl talk while they both made drinks. Andrea mixed hers heavily, and the first sip made her flinch a little. But that was all right. Andrea liked tying one on every once in a while, and she knew she was safe as long as her husband was around.

The party was so loud Seth thought the neighbors might call the cops. But then, he and his friends had always thrown wild parties. He was glad to see Andrea was unwinding, although he could tell she was becoming quite drunk, and he knew he'd have to keep an eye on her. He didn't trust some of the rat bastard guys there not to cop a feel, although if they kept it to that, he couldn't complain too much. Andrea looked hot, even hotter than he'd first thought. Every guy in the house was checking her out, and that only made Seth want her more. He was going to go over to her when someone grabbed him by the arm and spun Seth around.

"Hey, stranger, we're you going to avoid me all night?" Maria asked, smiling.

"I wasn't avoiding you at all," Seth laughed, trying to keep his eyes above Maria's neck. Her black eyes glinted at him.

"I hope not, you know I always look forward to seeing you. What are you waiting for, ask me to dance." Instead of waiting for him to ask, Maria just grabbed Seth by the hand.

The Devlin's house was far from large, and even with the dining room table pushed to one side, there was not much room to move. Several couples were already dancing, although dancing was not quite right. It was more of a rhythmic grinding. Some of the couples were going pretty far too, as Seth saw hands slipping to places they shouldn't have been. Maria held him close, and Seth could feel her grinding all those sexy curves against him. He was feeling the beers he'd had too and started to get into it, grinding right back at her. Seth realized he was getting aroused and hoped that Maria couldn't feel it. It was embarrassing. He didn't want his best friend's wife to know she was giving him a hard-on.

While Seth was dancing with Maria he glanced over and saw Andrea dancing with another of his friends, Jeff. Jeff was a known womanizer, but Seth was still surprised he would be that blatant. Jeff's girlfriend was at the party somewhere and Jeff knew that Seth was there, but Jeff's hands were all over Andrea. He kept putting his hands on Andrea's ass, undeterred that she kept moving them. But what shocked Seth was that she kept letting those hands stay on her ass for longer and longer. Seth knew his wife had to be plastered if she was letting that go on. Much as he hated to leave Maria, Seth knew he should go over and cut in. Before Seth could take action, Jared stepped in and with an arm around Andrea, he guided her over to her husband. Seth could see his wife was having trouble walking.

“I think Andi here’s had a bit too much to drink,” Jared chuckled.

Seth could see that and although it wasn’t very late, he knew he should take her home, especially if he wanted to get laid. In another hour or so she’d be out for the night. But he was having a great time and didn’t want to leave so early.

Maria must have seen the conflict in Seth’s face because she suggested, “Why don’t you let her lie down on our bed for an hour or so and sober up?”

“What do you think, Andi? Could you use a little nap?” Jared asked the woman he supported.

Andrea giggled and said, “Maybe.” She had no idea how she’d gotten so drunk. The alcohol sent a warm feeling through her whole body and was making her more than a little horny. It also washed away her concern about her costume. She was enjoying the looks it brought now. She did not feel like taking a nap, though. What she really wanted was for Seth to take her home and make love to her, but he didn’t seem ready to leave.

“Let me help you get her upstairs, looks like she might not make it on her own,” Seth said.

Jared clapped his friend on the back and said, “Nah, you stay and have fun, I can handle Andi.”

Andrea had the vague feeling of being lifted off her feet as Jared carried her up the stairs. In her haze, it felt like his hands kept slipping over her breasts. But the way she was feeling, she didn’t mind so much. A door swung open, and she was laid down on a bed. He was saying something, but Andrea couldn’t quite make it out. Even upstairs she could still feel the base of the music thumping through her. Andrea heard Jared say something like, “It slipped,” or something like that and she was dimly aware of a cool breeze making her nipples stiffen. Jared was murmuring something else, but Andrea wasn’t paying attention. The pressure on her nipples felt very nice. It felt like something—or someone—was pinching them, but that didn’t make any sense because she’d left Seth downstairs. Next, Andrea felt something pressing, then squeezing her pussy. A little moan slipped from her lips. She pressed back against the pressure, but then there was a louder noise, and the sensation was gone. Andrea heard the door close, and she was in darkness. In another couple of minutes, she was passed out.

Andrea rolled over and her eyes opened. It was dark, but she could make out enough to tell she wasn't in her bedroom. She felt kind of stiff as she sat up and tried to figure out where she was. It came back in bits and pieces, the party, being nervous, and drinking too much. She could only just remember coming upstairs. She couldn't hear the music anymore so she knew it must be late. She still felt kind of funny and knew she was still drunk, although not like she had been.

Then she noticed that the halter of her costume was pushed up, exposing her breasts. Andrea panicked for a second. How did that happen? Did Seth come up and she didn't remember it? Or had someone else been in there? It was possible that moving around in her sleep, the halter had ridden up, but it had tight elastic at the bottom. It wasn't a very likely scenario, but to make herself feel better that's what Andrea told herself happened. Since the alcohol hadn't completely worn off Andrea was still feeling a little horny. Drinking had had that effect since she was young and had gotten her into trouble more than once. She figured she'd go downstairs, find her husband, and whisk him off to bed.

The last stragglers had gone home about forty-five minutes ago, leaving Seth to help Jared and Maria to clean up. They didn't get very far, though, and were soon sitting in the living room reliving old times. Jared and Maria were on the couch while Seth was on the floor in front of them. The party was great, Seth couldn't remember the last time he'd had so much fun. And dancing with Maria had been one of the highlights. He didn't get to go out and cut loose nearly as much as he would have liked.

Seth took care to keep from staring at Maria. The way she sat on the couch, he could see right up her costume, and there were no panties to block his view of her pretty little pink cunt. Almost all the hair was shaved off, leaving just a little tuft above it. Seth couldn't believe she was sitting like that, but he didn't say anything. He just stole a glance every chance he could. His cock throbbed in his pants.

There was a noise, and Seth saw his wife coming down the stairs. She was still a little wobbly but looked much better than when Jared had taken her upstairs. Seth had almost forgotten that Andrea was up there. He figured she'd probably want to go home now. With the way he was feeling, he couldn't wait to get her alone.

"Hey Andrea, come on and join us," Maria said when she spotted the blond.

Seth took Andrea's hand and helped her sit on the floor beside him. "What are you guys up to?" She asked.

"Nothing, just chit-chat," Seth said, kissing his wife. The kiss turned into more than a peck and the other couple was forgotten until Jared said, "Hey you guys, go back upstairs if you're going to do that." Both the Donovans were tempted to take him up on that.

"Did I miss all the fun?" Andrea asked.

"There's no reason four can't party," Jared said.

"What time is it?" Andrea asked.

"Three-thirty, I think. Does that matter?" Maria said.

"No, guess not. Hey, I feel great, just had a nap," Andrea said.

"Okay then, what are we going to do?" Jared asked.

"We could play Strip Poker, but I think with what Andi and I are wearing it, would be a short game. I know I'm not that good a poker player," Maria laughed.

"Hey, the eye patch counts!" Seth added.

"No, I have too little to lose," Andrea said.

"Besides, what are we, back in high school?" Jared said.

Andrea stood up. "Well, while you guys figure it out, I am going to get something else to drink,"

Andrea knew the last thing she needed was another drink, but if they were going to hang out longer, she didn't see the harm. Besides, it would help her put up with Jared. He was openly staring at her, reminding Andrea how exposed she was. She hoped that if she had more to drink, she'd stop caring again. She mixed herself a drink from what was left in the rum bottle and returned to the living room. When she did, Jared announced, "We're going to play Truth or Treat. It's actually Truth or Dare, but this is a Halloween party."

"But you get a Treat, instead of a dare?" Andrea asked, sitting on the floor beside her husband again.

"Something like that," Jared answered.

"But we'll set some sort of limits. Don't want to get too crazy," Seth hastily added.

Andrea took a sip of her drink and decided she was in the mood to get a little naughty. Maybe it would be fun to tease Jared. She didn't want things to get out of hand, but she was up for some fun. "Why don't we play it by ear, honey," she told her husband, kissing him.

“Sounds like my kind of game,” Maria said and took another drink.

Glancing at the brunette, Andrea noticed Maria was not wearing panties and realized what was distracting Seth. There was no way Maria did not know she was so exposed. Andrea knew she should be angry that Maria was flashing her pussy to Seth, but she didn’t really mind. The more worked up Seth was when they got home, the better. What surprised Andrea was that she was also turned on a bit getting peeks at Maria’s pussy. It was hot to get a forbidden look like that.

“I guess I’ll go first,” Jared said. “Truth or Treat, Andi?”

Andrea was confident that she had nothing to hide, but she didn’t quite trust Jared, especially with the way he’d been looking at her all night, so she said, “Truth.”

“Where’s the wildest place you’ve ever fucked?”

Somehow Jared’s use of the word fuck surprised her, even if his question did not. “Let me see...got to go way back for that one. I’d have to say on a table in the science lab in high school.” Andrea was pleased by all their shocked looks.

“Wow! You go girl!” Maria said.

“You never told me that!” Seth protested.

“Guess you don’t ask the right questions, buddy. So how did this happen?” Jared said.

Andrea was tempted to leave them all hanging, but she could tell by their looks they’d all be disappointed. “Well, I was in eleventh grade, and I was seeing this guy. I’d been horny all day—I can’t believe I’m telling you all this—anyway, I let him know, not so subtly. He met me after softball practice, asked me to go with him while he got something out of his locker. But instead, he pulled me into one of the science rooms and started kissing me. Next thing I knew I was on a table with my pants off and my head practically hanging in one of the sinks, trying not to bang my head on the spigot. The hardest part was trying to be quiet. As it was, a custodian passed us in the hallway about two seconds after we came out of the room!”

“That’s pretty incredible, baby,” Seth said, kissing his wife.

“Yeah, who knew you were such a wild woman?” Jared commented. “Okay, your turn, Andi.”

“Seth, Truth or Treat?” Andrea asked her husband, knowing exactly how she would embarrass the hell out of him. He responded “Truth.”

“Ever do the cum cracker thing at camp?” she asked sweetly.

“I...I...I...” Seth stammered. He saw Jared examining him closely. Although they had been friends since high school, Jared had not gone to summer camp with him. When everyone chided him, Seth gave his wife a look of death before answering. It was clear where this game was headed. “Yeah, when I was thirteen, at camp, we did that. But hey, the lights were out! I didn’t see a thing!”

“I don’t know which is worse,” Jared joked, “Having to get the cracker, or being able to come first in a room full of guys.”

Everyone laughed and Seth flushed deep crimson. He was going to get Andrea back when the time came. He asked Maria, and she picked truth as well. Not being as brave as Jared, he asked Maria when she lost her virginity. She answered, “In a car, when I was fifteen.” That led to everyone sharing stories of losing their virginity when Jared broke in.

“Come on, isn’t anyone going to say ‘Treat?’” Jared asked.

“Okay then, Truth or Treat,” Seth asked Jared.

“Treat.”

“Hit off the party ball for a full minute,” Seth said.

“That’s it? That’s easy,” Jared said. He got to about forty-five seconds before he spilled beer all down the front of him.

The game continued with the relatively tame questions and “Treats” for the next half hour. Sensing that Jared might be up to no good, the other players conspired to keep the game away from him. They asked each other all kinds of crazy questions, but then Jared complained about being skipped over.

Finally, his wife asked him what Scotsmen wore under their kilts.

“Why don’t you find out for yourself?”

Smiling, Maria moved across the couch and slid her hand up under her husband’s kilt. Both Andrea and Seth could see it moving under there and it stayed hidden for a couple of minutes before Maria finally took her hand back. She’d left behind a sizable lump under the tartan.

“That’s not fair, we didn’t all get to find out,” Andrea complained.

“Okay, Truth or Treat, Andi?”

Andrea could read the challenge in Jared’s eyes and chickened out, asking for a Truth. Jared asked her, “Have you ever been with a woman?” Andrea’s eyes darted away. Clearly, she did not want to answer.

“Yes, once. Back in college, but we didn’t go all the way,” she finally answered.

“How far did you go?” Jared asked.

“Uh-uh. That wasn’t part of the question,” Andrea taunted.

“Fair enough. But we need to jump-start this thing. Come on, guys!”

“Make your come face,” Andrea told her husband.

Seth couldn’t believe how bad Andrea was being tonight. She was definitely going to get it now. But being a sport, he did his best come face for everyone.

Maria laughed. “Really?”

“Oh, yes, that is definitely it,” Andrea answered.

Seth challenged Maria, who also appeased her husband with a “Treat.” Seth told Maria to demonstrate on her husband, fully clothed, her favorite sexual position.

“That’s easy,” Maria said, pushing her husband back on the couch. She hiked her costume up, giving both Seth and Andrea a nice flash of her assets, and straddled him. She put her hands on his chest and ground down into him. For a moment it seemed like the couple had forgotten their friends were there. Maria was grinding hard into her husband, and Jared looked to be pushing back just as hard. After a little too long, Maria climbed down, though she didn’t bother to push her costume down and she was even more exposed than before. Seth gaped, seeing her pussylips swollen with desire and glistening with anticipation. He quickly looked away, hoping Andrea didn’t catch him. But she was staring just like her husband. Seeing how wet Maria was only reminded Andrea how horny she was.

Maria next targeted Jared, who again chose “Treat.” She gave him a shot glass and told him to demonstrate his oral technique on it. He flicked his tongue into it and said, “Mmm, Jaeger,” which made everyone laugh. But then got down to business. He rimmed the glass with the tip of his tongue several times before slowly dipping his tongue back into it, flicking repeatedly. He kept his tongue buzzing around the inside of the shot glass while he wrapped his lips around the outside like he was kissing it. Jared finished off with a slurping kiss.

Seth saw that his wife was watching Jared with rapt attention, her lips parted. Andrea’s hand was resting in her lap, but it didn’t look like she was doing anything. Whenever Seth went down on his wife, she always went crazy. By the looks of it, she was quite impressed with Jared's technique. He could only imagine how turned-on Andrea was.

Jared set the shot glass down and looked Andrea in the eye. Her drunken arousal was plain on her face. This time she did not back down. "Treat," she said.

"Well, really it's a treat for us," Jared said. "Since you're dressed kind of like a harem girl, I want you to get up and do a little harem dance for us."

Ordinarily, Andrea would have been way too self-conscious to do anything like that. But her mind was overpowered by alcohol and desire. She slowly rose to her feet. Jared reached for the remote on the table and turned the stereo back on, finding a slow blues CD. Andrea saw the surprise on her husband's face. She thought he might be pissed, but he looked as pleased as Jared.

Andrea had no idea what a harem dance might entail, so she just started swaying to the slow blues beat. She figured she should be dancing to something Mediterranean. She raised her arms above her head and turned around when it struck Andrea that her dancing was coming off more like a strip routine than some belly dance, but she had no intention of taking anything off. Andrea kept moving to the music, running her hands over her body, swaying and twisting. She closed her eyes as she danced and found she was really getting into it. The caress of her own hands felt so good. The hotter she became, the more Andrea put into her dance. When her own hands glanced over her breasts, it felt like they were almost bare. It was turning into a full-fledged erotic dance. Andrea was oblivious to her audience and only stopped dancing when Jared stopped the music. She opened her eyes and saw Maria looking at her with a smile. Her husband looked shocked and aroused, while Jared appraised her with naked lust.

"That was quite some dance, Andrea," Maria said.

"Yeah, baby, I didn't know you had that in you," Seth told his wife.

"I'm just full of surprises tonight, I guess," Andrea grinned.

When Andrea asked him, he said, "Treat," and she figured she would give as good as she got. She told him to give them all a little Chippendale dance. She also said that something had to come off. Seth did not seem nearly as upset as she thought he'd be. Instead, he hopped right to his feet while Maria put a dance CD into the stereo.

As soon as the music started Seth strutted his stuff. He was much less inhibited than his wife, he was pumping his hips in the air and grabbing his crotch. He danced to Andrea, who was back to sitting on the floor and gyrated his hips right in front of her face. When she recovered from laughing, Andrea ran her hands up her husband's legs, nails clawing at his pants. Her massage made his bulge grow. As Seth's cock grew, Andrea felt her own need for it grow as well. Her open groping testified to how drunk she was. Although the game was really getting interesting, she hoped they would be alone soon.

Maria waved a dollar bill and yelled, "Hey, big boy!" Seth danced over to the dark-haired girl and Andrea thought things were getting interesting. Seth gyrated at Maria while both Andrea and Jared cracked up. He whipped his shirt off over his head. Maria hooted and whistled. Seth held open the front of his pants and Maria took the invitation, her hand diving into them. Andrea was amazed when Maria didn't pull her hand right out. Andrea glanced at Jared, but he didn't seem to mind at all, he just kept laughing. She decided that she didn't really care either, she was just surprised that Maria was so brazen. "You are a big boy, aren't you?" Maria laughed. Maria finally withdrew her hand, sans dollar bill. Andrea noticed that her husband's face had grown rather red again.

When Seth sat down, he didn't bother to put his shirt back on. He just grabbed his drink and took a big gulp. He couldn't believe it. Hot little Maria, his best friend's wife—who he'd been checking out for a couple of years now—had just grabbed his cock. Not only that, but she did it in front of her husband, and his wife. When she wrapped her fingers around him, Seth thought he was going to explode. He looked over to make sure Jared wasn't pissed. Thankfully he didn't seem to be. He didn't want to know what Andrea thought. This game was getting pretty cool. Seth wondered how far it would go—and how far he wanted it to go. A few years ago, he and Andrea had talked about experimenting with another couple, or a threesome, but it had never amounted to more than fantasy talk while they were in bed. Even if Andrea would consider such a thing, he knew she wouldn't do it with Jared. And Seth was pretty sure he didn't want to see his wife with one of his oldest friends anyway.

They went around with more silly, sexy stuff—almost all the choices were "Treats" now—and Seth could feel his pulse pounding. He also knew, just by looking at her, that his wife was very horny. There was a look she always got in her eyes when she was in the mood. He was surprised she hadn't dragged him out of there yet. She seemed to enjoy the risqué game, even as things just kept heating up.

It came back around to Seth's turn to ask his wife. Without really knowing why—maybe it was temporary insanity, or Maria groping him earlier—Seth decided to return the favor to Jared.

“Since you were so curious earlier about what's under Jared's kilt, I want you to go find out.” Then Seth added, “Blindfolded.”

Andrea's eyes widened. She looked like she wanted to slug Seth, but he stood firm. Andrea gritted her teeth and then turned away from her husband with a flick of her blond ponytail.

Maria fetched a cloth napkin, which served as a perfect blindfold. She thoughtfully wrapped it over Andrea's eyes and waved her hand in front of her until she was sure Andrea couldn't see anything. Then Maria moved Andrea closer to Jared.

“Be good, Andrea. Or at least don't be too bad,” Maria giggled.

She didn't seem to mind at all that Andrea was going to put her hand up her husband's kilt. Seth found himself surprisingly turned on as he watched Maria guide Andrea's hand to Jared's bare leg. Jared was wearing the biggest shit-eating grin Seth had ever seen. Andrea moved her hand forward and out of view. Seth knew the second his wife made contact because she let out a surprised little gasp. After she had found it, Seth's wife did not remove her hand—he could tell by her motions that she had a good hold on Jared's cock. Seth was even harder now, watching his wife grope another man. For the first time, he thought that this game could get out of control. Andrea seemed to be enjoying herself. His wife's behavior was certainly surprising him this evening. How far would she go?

With Jared's thick cock in her hand, Andrea felt the sensation of its warmth filling her palm. She guessed he was about as long as her husband, maybe a little more, but he was certainly thicker. No wonder Maria was always so perky. Although she'd always thought Jared was rude and too forward with her, Andrea could not deny that having her hand around his cock was very arousing. She could feel herself getting wet as she pumped the shaft in her little hand, her fingers just making it around his girth. At first, she had planned to be showy because she was pissed at Seth for making her do this. As drunk and horny as she was, Andrea would not have been putting her hand on Jared's cock unless she was told to. But when she touched him, her body just reacted. Now she was touching him because she wanted to. All she knew was that the game was headed into dangerous territory and that Seth had better get her home soon.

When Andrea took her hand away, Jared slipped her blindfold off and blew her an infuriating kiss. "That was nice, Andi," he grinned.

The rush of excitement left Andrea shaky as she returned to her place on the floor. Seth leaned over and whispered, "Are you mad?"

"A little. But I'm still having fun if you are." She really wasn't mad at all. She couldn't stop thinking about how hot Jared's cock felt in her hand and how it would feel in other places. Yes, he was a jerk, but that did not matter so much at the moment. She smiled to herself as she thought about Jared being bound and gagged so she could have her way with him while not dealing with his personality.

"Come on, enough whispering, let's keep going," Jared chided.

Andrea challenged Maria next, who ended up having to do a dirty phone call to a complete stranger. She just picked up the phone and dialed at random. She woke some poor guy out of a sound sleep, but he was awake by the time Maria was done with him. Andrea thought Maria sounded very sexy as she moaned into the phone telling him what she wished he was doing to her. Andrea saw that Maria's hand kept wandering toward her pussy too. Maria clearly wanted to touch herself and was stopping just short of doing it. Maria faked an orgasm into the phone and hung up, laughing.

Maria went to her husband next, and she made him slow dance with Seth, which left the woman rolling. Both guys really hammed it up too, with Jared dipping Seth, and Seth spinning Jared. The kilt flew up on the spin, giving both sexed-up women a good look at his cock. That's just what Andrea didn't need. Seth collapsed on the floor laughing while Jared sat back on the couch trying to recapture his dignity.

Once he recovered from laughing, Jared asked Andrea, "Truth or Treat?" When she said the latter he replied, "Are you sure, Andi?"

"I'm game for just about anything. Shoot, tough guy," she said, shooting a quick glance to her husband. The second Jared flashed an evil grin, she regretted her words.

"Okay then. I want you to show us, with Maria, exactly what you did with that girl in college." He crossed his arms in triumph.

"I...I...I can't do that. Don't you think that's a bit much?" Andrea stammered.

"Depends on what you did," Jared laughed.

Andrea looked to Maria who seemed nervous, but willing. Then she looked at her husband, hoping he would help her out of it, but Seth just said, "It's up to you, baby."

Andrea felt trapped. It wasn't that she was against making out with Maria. Maria's flashes and tight costume had an effect on a drunken Andrea. But Andrea did not relish doing anything with an audience to watch them. There was no mercy in Jared's eyes, and she knew she was either going to have to do it or be called a coward. She was not going to back down to Jared.

Andrea pushed Jared over and sat beside Maria on the couch. She wondered if Maria had ever been with another woman before. That knowledge might have helped a bit.

"How do we do this?" Maria asked Andrea. Like I'm some sort of expert, Andrea thought. Andrea was trying to remember what had happened all those years ago. She'd been even drunker than she was now, so it was all kind of fuzzy. Andrea did know that she'd enjoyed it and probably would have gone further if she and the other girl had been braver. Without a good reason to stall, Andrea laughed nervously, and then softly kissed Maria.

It took Maria a couple of seconds to respond to Andrea's kiss, but her soft lips parted, and the black-haired beauty put an arm around Andrea. Andrea's heart raced as she slipped her tongue into Maria's willing mouth. Maybe it was her general state of horniness, but Andrea found kissing Maria such a turn-on. She had her fingers tangled in Maria's hair, mashing her lips into Maria's even harder. Maria sucked on her tongue and tickled it with her own. Kissing Maria was so different from kissing her husband. Andrea liked kissing Seth, but Maria seemed to understand that there was a teasing art to kissing. Her tongue kept flicking at Andrea's, teasing even as Andrea pulled her tongue back. Maria swept her tongue over Andrea's lips playfully and then nipped at her bottom lip. A moan escaped Andrea's lips and she pulled Maria's mouth back to hers, kissing more forcefully now.

Slowly, Maria became the more aggressive one and Andrea found herself following Maria's lead. That was how it had been last time too, she remembered. Maria scratched her long nails across Andrea's bare back, sending shivers down the blonde's spine. When Maria did the same to her bare stomach, Andrea had to try not to laugh since she was pretty ticklish there. But laughing was the last thing on Andrea's mind when Maria cupped both her breasts. The halter was so thin it might as well have not been there.

Andrea's nipples popped through the sheer material as Maria stroked them with her fingers. Again, Maria's touch was not like Seth's. It was gentler, coaxing Andrea's arousal rather than forcing it. Maria had Andrea's nipple tingling, making her sigh and moan before she pulled her mouth away from Maria's.

Andrea knew she should stop Maria—she didn't know how far this was supposed to go—but it felt too good. She just relaxed as Maria pushed the halter up above her breasts. If Maria's hand had felt good on her firm, pale flesh, then her mouth was amazing. Andrea was running her hands through Maria's hair as the girl flicked her tongue over Andrea's long nipples. There was no hiding her arousal now and Andrea was starting not to care. Let the guys have a show if they wanted it. But Andrea decided it wasn't fair that she was the whole show, so she pushed Maria's costume from her shoulders and peeled it down beneath her breasts. The big D-cups spilled into Andrea's hands. Maria had fat, dark brown nipples. They thickened as Andrea pulled on them. Maria's body still bore tan lines from the summer, and the contrast of the lighter skin only made her nipples appear darker. Andrea pinched and rolled Maria's nipples and mashed her breasts in her hands. Maria locked her lips over Andrea's nipple and sucked as she moaned.

Maria straddled Andrea on the couch, which gave the blond genie great access to her breasts, and she made the most of it, sucking and licking the fat, dark nipples. Maria held Andrea's mouth against her and softly moaned, "Mmm, that's it, bite them, oh yes, a little rougher."

Andrea got into it, nipping at Maria's nipples and stretching them out, then letting them snap back to the jiggly flesh. Maria pushed Andrea back onto the couch, leaned over, and kissed her. Maria moved her knees between Andrea's legs, and she ground one into Andrea's cunt. Andrea tried to squeeze her legs closed, but could not, and Maria kept that wonderful pressure on. Andrea had her lips locked onto Maria's breast as much to muffle her moans as anything else. Being horny all night was catching up with her and she felt her control slipping away.

Andrea stopped trying to close her legs and pushed back against Maria's knee. Maria sank lower, again devouring Andrea's breasts. Now Andrea's thigh was caught between Maria's legs. Andrea felt Maria's bare pussy rubbing against her, the thin harem pants did not block Maria's wetness at all. Andrea liked that Maria was just as turned on as she was. While Maria sucked Andrea's nipples, she pushed her hand down and rubbed Andrea's pussy.

"Ohhhh," Andrea moaned, pushing back at Maria's hand. Maria rubbed harder and the material of Andrea's tiny lace panties was gathered between her pussylips. Andrea moaned even louder, her pussy on fire.

Seth just couldn't believe it. He thought the girls might make out or something, but this? There was no way he thought his wife would go this far with another woman, especially with Jared in the room. But there it was. He was witnessing every man's fantasy. And what made it better was that he got to see Maria too—a woman he'd been fantasizing about for so long.

Maria's breasts looked just as good as Seth thought they would, and his cock throbbed for relief as he watched his wife suck on her nipples. Seth could tell Maria liked how rough his wife was being with her fat, stubby nipples. Maria put her hand inside Andrea's harem pants and the material was so sheer that both Seth and Jared could see Maria's fingers push Andrea's panties aside.

Andrea, not to be outdone, pulled up the bottom of Maria's costume. Seth thought Maria's pussy, all neatly trimmed with puffy lips was very sexy. He would have given anything to be able to sink his cock between those lips. His wife's slender fingers were rubbing them now and Seth was jealous. He could also see Maria's hand busy at Andrea's cunt. Maria had two fingers pushing into Andrea while she sucked her nipples. Seth noticed that the more turned-on Andrea got, she rubbed Maria's pussy less and less. Seth knew that his wife started to lose it as she got close to coming. Amazed, Seth thought Maria was about to make his wife come right there in front of everybody. This certainly wasn't the Andrea Donovan he thought he had married.

"Oh god...oh god...ohgodohgodhogodohgod...OH MY GOD!" Andrea cried as she came, her pussy grasping at Maria's fingers and gushing. She pulled Maria's mouth from her breasts and kissed her fiercely while she rode the wave of her orgasm. Finally, trembling, Andrea came down. She fixed her top, covering her breasts. It took another moment or two before she slipped away from Maria and went back onto the floor beside her husband.

Jared actually applauded. He leaned over and kissed Maria. When she tried to pull her costume back Jared stopped her, and Maria left it down.

“Very good, that was amazing Andi, babe. I didn’t know you had that in you.”

Andrea was completely red-faced, but there was nowhere to hide so she just sat in silence. She was mostly angry with herself for letting go so easily. But she’d been horny all night and Maria’s touch felt so good.

“Well, uh, should we keep going?” Seth asked lamely. It was obvious the game had reached a turning point. If they went on now, they would be going into territory that was uncharted for all of them. Seth realized he wanted to go on. He knew the risk he was taking, but at this point, he was willing to go wherever the game went. After what just happened, it seemed Andrea was pretty open too, but he couldn’t be sure about that.

Everyone else nodded that they were ready to keep going, except Andrea. She could feel them waiting for her. She was so torn. Her body was telling her to go on; she wanted to know what could happen next, but her mind screamed at her to stop before she did something she would regret.

“Come on, Andi, you can’t quit now, the game’s just getting good. You can’t be the only one to have fun,” Jared said. That pushed Andrea over the edge, and she gritted her teeth.

“Fine, let’s go. Truth or Treat?” she asked, turning to her husband.

Let’s see how far Jared really wants to go, she thought.

“Okay, first, I am guessing we are at the ‘anything goes’ stage. Jared? No one can back out?”

Jared looked at his wife, then Seth. Andrea smiled when she saw him hesitate just for a second. But then Jared nodded and said, “Whatever the dare—I mean, Treat—no one backs out now. Agreed?”

Everyone nodded.

“Okay then,” Andrea said, her eyes locked on her husband “Seth, since I know you liked what you saw—and especially since you can’t keep your eyes off her breasts, I want you to go over to Maria, get as close as you can to her...but you may not touch her. But Maria can do anything she wants to tease you.”

Seth looked shocked that his wife was telling him to do this, but he got up and went over to Maria. Andrea looked to see how Jared was taking it, but he showed no reaction.

Maria, on the other hand, looked to be really enjoying herself. Her costume was still around her waist, and she got up from the couch and told

Seth to sit back on it. She playfully blew her husband a kiss, then straddled Seth's lap, holding her breasts out in her hands. Seth kept his hands at his sides, but Andrea could tell it was taking real effort. She knew her husband hated being passive like this. And the fact that it was the first new pair of breasts being held that close to him in ten years just made it worse. Andrea only felt a little jealous and wondered why she didn't feel more. Actually, she was getting aroused anew as she watched Maria taunt her husband with her breasts. But this was more about Jared than her husband. She wanted him to see that she wasn't the only one who could be manipulated. How would Jared feel about seeing his wife teasing Seth with her breasts?

Maria told Seth to open his mouth and just when he thought he'd be able to kiss those big orbs, she pulled back and giggled. She took her breasts and caught Seth's face between them, smothering him. Andrea could hear Seth frantically slurping for a taste, but Maria denied him again. Andrea could see that Maria was rubbing her bare pussy against Seth's crotch. Andrea hoped her husband didn't embarrass himself by coming in his pants. Finally, Maria gave Seth a treat and popped one of those fat nipples into his mouth and he sucked it hard. Maria tossed her head back and moaned, "Ohhh baby, yesss..."

Seth felt Maria humping her bare cunt against his crotch and the damp heat came right through his pants. The teasing was making him nuts. When Maria finally relented, he caught her nipple in his teeth like he would never let go. By how frantically she was humping him, Seth could tell Maria loved it. He didn't care that her husband was sitting two feet away. Hey, his own wife told him to do this! What had gotten into Andrea? He knew it was a silly thought, but it almost seemed like she was playing chicken with Jared. As long as Seth kept getting benefits like this, he didn't care.

There was a mini tug-of-war with her nipple, but Seth released Maria's breast from his mouth, and she told him it was over. However, instead of making Seth get up off the couch, she sat on the floor beside Andrea, her breasts still exposed. "Mmm, thanks, Andrea. That was great," Maria told Andrea.

Seth turned to Jared and Jared took a Treat. Jared didn't look pissed about what had just happened with Maria, so Seth thought he should be cool and really give Jared a Treat. But he was having trouble thinking of something. After a moment, he finally said, "Okay, I know, when we were younger, we always joked around about who was bigger. Now it's time to settle it. I know how big I am. I want you to get a ruler, then you get to pick one of the ladies to help you measure.”

It only took a couple of seconds for Jared to retrieve a ruler. Of course, being the cocky bastard he was, he brought back a yardstick, saying, “This should do.” When he was nice and settled on the couch again Jared crooked a finger at Andrea and said, “Come here Andi, I need your help with something.”

Andrea looked uneasy as she approached Jared, then went down on her knees on the floor beside him.

“Now,” Jared instructed, “I need to have a good showing here, so make sure you get me as hard as you can. Isn’t that right, Seth?”

Seth saw Andrea look at him with uncertainty in her eyes, but he just nodded and said, “Yup, whatever it takes.”

Jared pulled his kilt up unceremoniously and looked like he was pretty hard already. Seth did want to avert his eyes—he didn’t have any desire to see Jared’s prick—but he found he couldn’t turn away as he watched Jared take his wife’s hand and put it on his cock. Andrea touched it tentatively like she was petting a skittish animal.

“Come on, Andi, that’s not going to get the job done. Don’t worry. It won’t hurt you—too much.”

Andrea’s hand looked very small next to Jared’s cock. He wasn’t giant, but with some jealousy, Seth could tell it was bigger than his. Andrea grew bolder and went from just touching to stroking, then she wrapped her fingers around the shaft. She could just barely close her hand around his girth. She slowly jerked him up and down.

“That’s more like it. Do it like that, just a little faster. Hmmm, tighter... yeah, Andi,” Jared said. Seth could see his wife getting more into it. He recognized that look of hunger in Andrea’s eyes, and it scared him a little. He knew what that look meant. Andrea was jacking Jared off faster now, and his cock seemed to grow a little bit more.

Andrea looked up into Jared’s eyes—the eyes of a man she’d never really liked, whom she’d always sort of thought of as a pig, actually—and saw him looking down at her with desire. Andrea hated it, but she knew her eyes were conveying the same thing. She couldn’t help reacting to the situation, to his raw sexuality. She’d felt a charge when she touched his cock earlier—despite his asshole comment about it not hurting her too much—and she felt it now, only stronger. She couldn’t help but wonder what that thick cock might feel like inside her. Seth might get pissed if she seemed too into what she was doing. But he started it, so he could hardly blame her. The way their sex life had been recently, Andrea decided she could not be blamed for reacting to Jared's strong sexuality. But she was angry at herself for being so easily manipulated.

God, her pussy was so wet. Jared's shaft felt so hot in her hand. Andrea pushed her ponytail back as she bent forward and spit into her hand a couple of times. That made things much slicker, and she was able to give Jared a good hand job. She wanted to get him off because she hoped it would wipe that superior smirk off his face. But she also realized that smirk was a big part of what was turning her on. She never thought in a million years she'd be giving a hand-job to this jerk. But here she was on her knees and getting more excited by it than her husband had managed to make her in some time. She leaned in closer, just to let him think she was going to suck on him, but instead blew some air across the head of his cock. Jared shivered and moaned, "Damn Andi, you're gonna make me blow my cork."

"Then I had better measure you now before it shrinks," Andrea said and grabbed the yardstick.

Her guess had been close. Jared was a little over eight inches and a very nice handful. When she was done measuring, Andrea laughed and flipped down the kilt, saying, "You'd better cover that thing up."

Of course, she was joking, but Andrea did want it covered because if she kept looking at it, she just might lose control again.

Andrea went back to her place with a very satisfied look on her face and sat. She'd shown Jared she wouldn't back down. Andrea could tell her husband was turned on and was a little confused by it.

"Maria, girl, what would you like?" Jared asked his wife.

"A Treat, of course," Maria answered.

"Since you got Andi off, and I don't think she can deny that I want her to get you off."

Maria lay back on the floor and Andrea crawled over her. Not wasting any time, Andrea grabbed Maria's costume and pulled it the rest of the way off. With the way the game was going now, Andrea was determined to enjoy it and decided to give herself over to complete abandon for one night.

Andrea started again by kissing Maria while she toyed with her nipples but quickly moved her hand down Maria's tummy to her neatly trimmed pussy. Andrea found her soaking wet and instantly sank two fingers into Maria's cunt. The dark-haired woman cried out and thrust her hips up at Andrea's probing fingers. Her arms were around Andrea, and she was kissing her back. Andrea tore her lips from Maria's and then gave each nipple a nice, long hard suck before kissing her way farther down.

Andrea stopped to kiss Maria's thighs, but it was as much to catch her breath as it was to tease Maria. Andrea had never gone down on a woman before and, while she wanted to get Maria off with her tongue, she was still just a little apprehensive. The only pussy she'd ever tasted to this point was her own. The strong scent of Maria's arousal filled Andrea's senses and she could hear the wet sounds of her own fingers churning in and out of Maria's cunt. Maria moaned loudly and writhed all over the carpet, reaching down and stroking Andrea's hair while she not-so-subtly guided the blonde's mouth to her pussy.

Maria's lips were swollen and glistening with her juices as Andrea stuck her tongue out and lapped at them. Andrea liked the taste. While it wasn't quite like her own, Maria tasted a little stronger and, Andrea thought, a little sweeter. It was pleasant and Andrea especially liked the way Maria cried out her name when her tongue touched her. Andrea kept licking at Maria's lips and fingering her. It felt like Maria was going into convulsions. She knew that Maria must be a handful in bed. It turned Andrea on to no end, knowing the effect that watching her go down on Maria had to be having on the guys. Andrea drove her tongue into Maria along with her fingers and knew Maria was very close to coming.

"GOD ANDIIIIII!!!" Maria cried.

This was about all Seth could take. Now he knew Andrea had gone mad. Not that he minded. In fact, he had to get some relief soon or he'd have a serious case of blue balls on his hands. What had happened to his wife? Andrea was not boring in any sense, but this was not normal for her at all. And now she was going down on another woman—right in front of him and another man. And just moments ago, Andrea had been jerking off his longtime friend, a guy he knew she couldn't stand, in front of everyone. It was too good to be true. Maybe there was something in the drinks. Whatever it was, Seth knew he better be fucking his wife or Maria soon. Andrea was acting like a total slut and something about it turned him on.

Maria's cunt was sopping wet, and she gave a last keening cry before reaching orgasm. She tore at Andrea's hair, calling out her name over and over and Andrea lapped at the flow of juices that came from her until, with a deep sigh, Maria finally settled down. Then Maria pulled Andrea's face back up to hers and kissed her, licking away at the juices that glazed Andrea's face.

The game took a quick pause while they freshened their drinks. Seth was hoping it would give him a chance to talk to his wife, but she went into the kitchen with Maria while the men stayed in the living room.

"So, how about all this?" Jared asked his friend.

"I've got to say, I'm stunned. I knew you threw wild parties, but nothing like this."

"Yeah, I didn't think anything like this would happen. Isn't it great?"

Seth paused, and then said, "Yeah, it's great. I'm just surprised is all." He didn't bother to finish his sentence, but apparently, he didn't need to.

"Yeah, who would have thought that Andi was such a hellcat? Damn. Are you prepared to keep going with this? I think this might go all the way."

Seth was still not sure how he felt about seeing Jared fuck his wife. The sight of her jerking his cock, and very into it, was jarring enough. But he also thought that this would finally be his chance to have Maria, and he could not shake that thought from his mind.

"I'll go as far as Andrea will. It's all up to her," Seth said.

Jared laughed. "Then the game is on."

Meanwhile, the women were in the kitchen, and Andrea was busying herself looking for fresh drink glasses. But then Maria surprised her. She grabbed Andrea in a sudden embrace and deeply kissed her. This wasn't part of the game, after all. But despite her apprehension, Andrea fully returned the kiss. It seemed kind of odd to her that Maria hadn't bothered to put anything on. It made Andrea self-conscious of even the skimpy outfit she wore.

"Thank you, that was so wonderful," Maria told Andrea, kissing her again.

"It was great for me too," Andrea said and meant it.

"I just wanted to make sure you and Seth aren't freaked out by all this. Jared and I have played games like this before, with other friends. But none of them have gone this far."

"I can't speak for Seth, although I think I could guess what he's thinking. I'm okay with it, just a little shocked by my behavior, I guess."

Maria kissed Andrea again and said, "As long as you're enjoying yourself, just go with it. No one's going to judge. We're all willing participants, right? And if you want to stop at any point, just say it, there won't be any hard feelings."

That didn't make Andrea feel much better, but she was glad Maria had given her the little pep talk. She grabbed up the drinks they'd made and went back to the living room.

"I believe it was Maria's turn to ask next," Jared said, as the ladies passed out the glasses.

"Yes, it was, so Seth honey, which will it be?" Maria asked.

Seth drank in Maria's naked body. He didn't know why she didn't bother to put clothes back on, but he wasn't complaining. She was a fun girl and he hoped her inventive mind would come up with something good.

"I don't think I should be the only one here with a licked pussy," Maria answered. "I want you to get down and lick Andrea, but you can't make her come. If you do, you have to spend the rest of the game naked."

This was something Seth knew he could definitely do, although he knew that in her sexed-up state it was going to be hard to keep his wife from coming. He pushed off the couch and practically tackled Andrea to the floor. Seth kissed his wife, and he could taste Maria's pussy on her breath. It tasted good, and Seth hoped he'd be getting a firsthand taste before the night was over. While he kissed Andrea, Seth pinched her pale nipples through the halter until she was moaning into his mouth. Seth knew her nipples were oh-so-sensitive to the right kind of touch, and he used that to his advantage before he even got down to her cunt. When Seth slid down Andrea's body, he pulled her harem pants and panties with him and there was Andrea's clean-shaven pussy staring back at him. The sight of his wife's completely bare pussy always made Seth instantly hard. If Jared and Maria weren't there, he would have pulled down his own pants and thrust right into her.

But they weren't alone, and Seth had a mission, so he spread Andrea's cunt open until her red, engorged clit stood straight up, presenting the perfect target. He worked Andrea's clit with the flat of his tongue and she gave a satisfied moan. He kept at her clit and massaged her pussylips with the thumbs that spread them open. "God, honey, don't stop, please don't stop," Andrea whimpered to her husband.

She worked her hips at Seth's lashing tongue, and she painfully dug her nails into his scalp. Seth could feel his wife rapidly building to an orgasm. To try and stave her off, Seth switched from licking Andrea's clit to stabbing his tongue inside her, fucking her with it. Andrea's breaths became more ragged, and she worked her cunt at her husband more forcefully.

Andrea had heard the instructions, but after being rubbed and fingered and teased all night, there was no way she was going to let Seth get away before she came. He'd always been good at sensing her oncoming orgasm, but she couldn't let him leave her hanging. He returned his tongue to her clit, this time drawing tight little circles over it with the tip, and Andrea felt herself rapidly building again. It wasn't going to take much more to get her to come.

"Ohh honey," she cried. Andrea felt her husband trying to pull his mouth away, but she kept her hold on his head and did not let go. She was getting so close. "Ssseth!"

Andrea's eyes had been squeezed closed before, but now she opened them and saw Maria sitting just a couple of feet away, staring at her and her husband. And there was Jared sitting on the couch, so obviously enjoying the show. She was sure he liked the fact that she kept her pussy shaved. Andrea dug her nails into Seth's scalp harder and locked her eyes on Jared's. She could see how badly Jared wanted her, how he lusted for her and that was about all Andrea needed to go over the edge. She was angry at herself for it, but she wanted Jared to want her, to want to fuck her as badly as she wanted him.

"GOD!!" Andrea shrieked as she came for the second time that night, gushing into her husband's mouth. Seth kept slurping at her cunt, knowing it was too late to get away. She thought he might be punishing her because even after her orgasm subsided, Seth kept licking her pussy, building her up again, making her cunt grasp for his tongue. Andrea was so filled with desire that her limbs trembled, and she cried out Seth's name once again, but this time he pulled away, leaving her quivering on the floor with her harem pants around one ankle.

Andrea rubbed her eyes and sighed in frustration as she tried to calm down. She knew she wouldn't have to wait too long. She knew she'd be coming again tonight. As she pulled her harem pants back on, she wasn't going to sit there naked like Maria, she heard Maria saying, "Well, Sethy-poo, I think your wife came, and pretty hard so that costume is coming off. Come on, big boy, let's see it all!"

Andrea added, "Oh, yes I definitely came!" She saw Seth sneer at her but could tell he wasn't really angry.

Seth did a repeat of his earlier performance, prancing about the room, bumping and grinding. He danced over to Maria and gyrated his crotch at her. She took the hint and unsnapped his pants for him and pulled down his zipper. He pushed them down off his hips and stepped out of them, then swung them and flung them at his wife. Andrea clutched them to her chest and squealed like an excited schoolgirl. Seth stayed right in front of Maria, thrusting his pelvis at her still. It was glaringly obvious that he was hard as a rock. Maria traced the outline of his cock through his underwear before tugging them down. When Seth's cock sprang free it almost whacked Maria in the face, and she laughed before slingshotting his underwear at Jared. Jared swatted the discarded jockeys away murmuring, "Yuck!"

Seth was now totally naked except for his eye patch, which he defiantly left on, and did a bow to the women's applause before he took his seat. His cock stood up straight in his lap and sitting on the couch with Jared he had to resist the urge to cover it.

Seth asked Jared what was next, and Jared predictably chose a Treat. The asking was just a formality now. Seth said, "Since I'm naked and Maria is naked, I think everyone should be. So, I want you and Andrea to undress each other, but both blindfolded." Andrea shot her husband a look. What was he trying to do to her? She did not want to think about Jared's cock anymore, let alone have to touch it. She did not want the temptation. Although Jared had turned her on, she was still apprehensive about being that close. She didn't want to totally give away how she was feeling. This was going to be a battle of wills. It was one thing to tell herself she was going to give in to her lusts tonight, but it was another to actually go through with it.

Maria got the blindfolds and she and Seth wrapped their respective spouses. They guided Jared and Andrea until they were standing about a foot apart, facing each other, and told them to go.

Andrea groped out in the darkness and her hands came into contact with Jared's bare chest. She rubbed her hands up and down it and raked her fingernails at his nipples. She heard him take a breath, but he did not moan. Andrea was determined that he would moan before she would. Jared's hands found her waist and then moved up her stomach, his calloused fingers felt rough on her smooth skin, and he pushed her halter-top up, his hands poised on her breasts. His rough thumbs strummed her long nipples and Andrea bit back a moan. God, it felt so good, but she told herself she couldn't give in.

Instead, she made like she was grasping for the folds of his kilt, but instead slipped her hand inside it and grasped his cock. Jared was hard and throbbing, but somehow that didn't help. Just like before, when she had her hand wrapped around his shaft, Andrea could feel the tingle between her legs that told her she wanted that cock—even if she wasn't thrilled about its owner. Her nails tickled Jared's balls and he gave a start, but Andrea still didn't hear anything from him. She did hear Maria urging them on, though.

“Come on guys, we wanna see some skin!”

Jared worked Andrea's nipples until they literally ached with desire and then pushed the halter up off of her. Before Andrea could grab his cock again, Jared ran his hands down her breasts, over her stomach, and hooked his thumbs in the waistband of her harem pants. Andrea did not like this part. No matter what the situation, she knew she would not feel comfortable just sitting there naked. But she didn't have much time to think about it. Jared sank to his knees and after he had her pants off, he hooked a finger in the crotch of her panties. She could feel his knuckle rubbing her dripping pussy as he crooked his finger to get a good grip on her panties. Next, Jared got her panties in his teeth, which allowed him to grind his chin right into her clit. That was too much for Andrea and a low, throaty moan escaped from her lips. She swayed and held onto Jared to keep on her feet. Andrea couldn't help it; she wanted that bastard so badly. As he dragged her panties down, he teased Andrea's clit with the tip of his nose, then she felt his stubble on her inner thighs as her panties came down completely.

Somehow, being blindfolded made being naked in front of everyone easier, like that old childish theory that if I can't see you, you can't see me. Andrea groped in the blackness for a few seconds before she found Jared standing again. She went to her knees this time and jerked his kilt right down. It was pinned tightly to keep it on, and he let out an “Ouch” as she yanked it down. Had she been able to see, Andrea would have known how close she was to him. When she pulled the kilt down, Jared's cock popped her in the face and then lay warmly against her cheek. Andrea stayed close, rubbing her cheek against his shaft while she got him to step out of the kilt. She nuzzled him more firmly and resisted the urge to kiss his prick, but she was rewarded with a moan from Jared, and she even felt a sticky droplet smear across her cheek.

With the stripping completed, the blindfolds came off. Now everyone was nude, and at least for the guys, there was no hiding how turned on they were by the whole thing. Andrea noticed that since the men were naked, they sat even farther apart on the couch. Just like her husband, it took a lot of willpower for Andrea to keep from covering herself while she sat on the floor.

Jared quizzed Maria and told her, “Since we’re playing high school games, I want you and Seth to play seven minutes in heaven. You two go into the coat closet over there and have fun. Your time starts when the door closes.” Maria smiled and took Seth’s hand and led him over to the closet. Andrea saw inside that the closet was pretty big. There was ample room when Maria pushed the coats to one side. Maria fell back into the closet and pulled Seth after her, and he reached back and pulled the door closed.

Andrea was very surprised Jared sent his wife into the closet with her husband. All of them playing around in the same room was one thing but sending two people off to fool around was completely different. It made Andrea nervous. Nervous to be left alone, naked, with Jared, and nervous about what her husband might be doing in that closet. Would he really fuck Maria? So far, all Andrea could hear was shuffling and something bumping into the door. Jared moved down off the couch and sat uncomfortably close to Andrea on the floor.

“I bet you’re wondering what they’re doing in there, aren’t you?” Jared asked.

“Of course, I’m curious,” Andrea answered.

“Jealous?”

“No,” she answered quickly, then added, “maybe a little. Aren’t you?”

Jared smiled. “I’m okay with it. We’re all adults and I trust my wife. Even if Seth makes her come like a maniac, I know she’s not going to leave me. This is all just about fooling around tonight. Don’t worry, Andi.” Jared draped an arm over her shoulder and moved even closer.

“I’m not worried. I trust Seth completely,” Andrea answered a bit defensively. Jared was way too close now. With his arm over her shoulder, his hand hung right in front of her breast and Andrea could feel Jared touching her tingling skin. “Hey, I don’t think that’s part of the game,” she told Jared.

“Do you mind?”

In truth, she didn't. His touch was exciting. She was enjoying having a different man, even if it was this one, touching her after being with the same lover for so many years. Maria cried out loudly from the closet and it distracted Andrea. Jared took the opening and closed his hand around her breast, catching her nipple between his thumb and forefinger. Jared gave it a little twist and Andrea moaned, "Please don't," but it was clear she didn't mean it. Andrea's heart was pounding in her chest, and she wanted Jared to take her right there on the floor, no matter what she told him. Jared kept at her breast and Andrea leaned into him. Jared turned her head and kissed her full on the mouth, a kiss Andrea hungrily returned. She reached into Jared's lap and grasped his cock. Jared tilted her back and sucked on Andrea's nipples while she slowly jerked his shaft.

"God yess," she moaned as his tongue stabbed at her nipples. She was so worked up that she was about ready to let Jared do anything he wanted to her. He may have been a bastard, but he seemed to know just what she wanted. Andrea heard Maria cry out from the closet again and Jared pushed a finger into Andrea's cunt at the same time. Her wetness sucked his finger right in.

From the closet, Andrea heard thumping and Maria's strangled moans. The wild woman must have been having trouble keeping quiet.

Jared pulled Andrea into his lap and rubbed the head of his cock against her pussy. She was so wet he could easily have slipped right in. Andrea felt the pressure and moaned, "No, don't...you can't..."

"You're telling me you don't want it, Andi? Is that what you're telling me?" Jared hissed into her ear. He easily suspended her above his cock with one arm.

"No...yes...god, I don't know..."

"You know I've always wanted to fuck you, Andi. As long as I've known you. And you know tonight I'm going to. When I saw you in that outfit, I wanted to rip it off. You were so damned sexy and now that I see you naked, I want to fuck you so much more. God Andi, you can't tell me you don't want it to."

His words inflamed Andrea. She couldn't deny she wanted Jared just as much as he wanted her. She'd never thought about it until tonight, but as soon as she touched his cock, she knew she wanted him. "Do it, do it now," she urged. "Put it in me. Do it!"

But Jared just lifted her away. "They're about out of time in there," Jared told Andrea. "Better let them know." He smiled at her, then shouted, "Hey you two, come out of there!"

"Bastard," Andrea cursed him, covering herself.

"Don't worry, Andi, I am sure your time will come," Jared grinned.

As soon as they'd gotten into the closet Seth was all over Maria. It was pitch black, so everything was by feel, but neither of them minded that. Oddly, Seth did feel like he was back in junior high, groping Jenny Titleman and trying to get under her sweater. Back then just to feel a bare nipple would have been something, but now Seth had much more than that on his mind. Maria's hands enveloped his cock, and her lips found his.

"Mmm, you're so strong and hard. Is that for me?" Maria asked.

"Yes," Seth whispered, his mouth seeking out her breasts. Seth found his mark and slurped at her big breasts, almost becoming lost between them when she shifted. They were on something soft in the bottom of the closet, like rolled-up sleeping bags or something.

"You know, I see you looking at me sometimes, catch you out of the corner of my eye. But don't worry, I never say anything to Jared. I think it's sexy. And now you have your chance, baby, so do what you want, make me come, OHHHH that's just what I mean..."

Seth's fingers had found her sex and she'd practically pulled two of them right into her damp depths. He fingered her harder and Maria bit into his shoulder to keep from crying out. She kept jerking his cock and Seth knew that if she didn't stop in a minute, he was in danger of spilling his load.

"God, I want you," Seth breathed to her. He so wanted to replace his fingers with his cock. That little dark Italian girl he'd been lusting for was finally his. Maybe Seth should have wondered what was going on outside the closet but honestly, his wife was the last thing on his mind at the moment.

"Then do it," she whispered urgently. "Do it, Seth. Put your cock in me. I want it so bad," Maria moaned.

"Are you sure?" he asked softly. Maria answered by pulling his cock forward so the head slipped between her lips. She accidentally kicked the door as she wrapped her legs around him.

"Do it," she said, spurring him with her ankles.

His cock speared her to the depths. Seth noted that Maria didn't feel quite as tight as his wife, but she felt wonderful just the same. It flashed through his mind that he was fucking someone other than his wife for the first time in God knew how long, but he would not let that thought linger. After all the sexual tension built up over the last couple of hours, he could not help himself. It was awkward in their position, but Seth found a way and he hammered his cock down into Maria. She was squealing with delight, and he was trying as hard as he could to keep quiet. He knew he didn't have a lot of time, maybe another five minutes, but he knew he couldn't hold out this first time anyway. Maria bit into his shoulder again, painfully this time, and her cunt squeezed him.

"God Seth, do it, do it to me, I'm going to come baby!"

He knew she was coming, and the pressure of her cunt made him come just seconds behind her. Seth was barely done draining his cock into her when he heard Jared telling them their time was up.

When Seth and Maria emerged from the closet flushed and out of breath, everyone kind of assumed what had happened but no one said anything. Seth wondered why Jared was on the floor now. He saw Andrea regard the bite mark on his shoulder with a raised eyebrow. She looked a little steamed, though he couldn't tell if it had anything to do with him.

"Well, that was fun. I think I miss being a kid!" Maria announced, flopping onto the couch. "My turn. Andrea, whatcha want?" It was a Treat, of course. "Okay then, I want you to do exactly as I say." She turned to her husband. "Jar, I want you to lay on your back on the floor. Good, just like that." Jared was stretched out on the floor with his hands behind his head. "Now Andrea, I want you to squat over Jared. He's going to hold his cock up and I want you to tease yourself with it for three minutes. But if you pull off or sink onto it, you're going to have to blow him until he comes." Andrea didn't move, instead, she looked over at her husband. Maria said, "Everyone okay with this?"

"Uh, sure," Seth said.

"Okay, then," Andrea said and moved over to Jared, who had the biggest shit-eating grin.

"Hope you've got some control Andi because I really need to come right now and I'd like nothing more than for you to make me."

Andrea just ignored him. She squatted above him and kept her balance with a hand on his chest. Jared held his cock pointing straight up, aimed right for Andrea's pussy. When she first touched herself to him, she jerked away, like she'd been shocked. It was a shock of pleasure. Her cunt was aching so much to be filled. This was probably about the hardest thing Maria could have asked her to do. Andrea eased down again and caught the head of Jared's cock between her lips. Andrea threw her head back, swinging her ponytail, and moaned softly. It felt so good, and Andrea knew immediately that she was in trouble. Keeping her hands on Jared's chest, she thrust her ass into the air and dragged her pussylips across the head of Jared's cock. She got some satisfaction from seeing the look on his face, which told her he was feeling just as teased as she was. But all he had to do was lay there and take it. Andrea had to tease herself and stay up. She caught the tip of his cock on her clit and worked it in little circles, driving herself crazy. Andrea was so wet her juices ran down her thighs. She hung her head forward, her ponytail spilling to the side, and closed her eyes as she worked her clit on his cockhead. But it was all just too much. She knew she was slipping. The head of Jared's cock had pushed farther inside her, and she could feel her cunt trying to draw it deeper. Her thighs hurt from trying to stay up so, with a defeated groan Andrea settled down, taking Jared's shaft all the way into her cunt.

"OH, GOD!" Andrea exclaimed, then thought, Sorry Seth.

Jared's cock was just what the doctor ordered. Andrea felt so wonderfully filled. The extra size he had over her husband stretched the walls of Andrea's pussy and gave her tingling in places that hadn't been touched in so long. Andrea moaned loudly again as she felt pulses of pleasure shoot through her. Andrea settled on Jared's cock, just getting used to it, but now her hips started moving of their own volition, humping and grinding down onto Jared's pole.

"God..." Andrea moaned again. Never in a million years did she think she would be fucking anyone but her husband, especially with him watching, but here she was. And he was very clearly enjoying it. Jared's cock was buried to the hilt. Damn him, she hated Jared, Andrea told herself, but his cock felt so good. So good. She arched her back and threw her head back while she rode that impaling shaft. Her ass clenched and released as she worked his cock. The train was on the track, and she was going to come big this time. Jared reached up and pinched her nipples and skyrockets went off in Andrea's head.

"Yes...yes...fuck yes...oh God Jared..."

Jared grabbed the blonde by her hips and started fucking her up and down on his cock, lifting his ass from the floor to pump up into her.

“Come on Andi, ride me, ride my cock, damn you’re tight. Your pussy’s so good, fuck yeah!” Jared shouted to Andrea, encouraging her to ride him even harder. His words stung her ears, but she loved them and wanted to respond in kind.

Seth watched in amazement. Here was his beautiful, faithful wife, fucking another man right in plain view. He thought he should be angry, but it was an amazing sight. Her body never looked more beautiful as when Andrea arched her back and rode Jared’s cock.

“Oh God, fuck me, fuck me Jared, OH YES!!!” Andrea cried as Seth’s best friend pleased her. Seth was a little jealous, though. While Andrea was loud in bed and could be vocal, she was never like this with him. She never told her husband to “fuck” her, but was telling Jared just that, and rather loudly too. Guess she didn’t dislike Jared so much anymore, he told himself. She seemed to like his cock. A whole lot. But what could he say? Hadn’t he just fucked Jared’s wife in the closet? Seth knew he just had to sit back and enjoy the show. And he had some help. Maria nuzzled into him and took his cock in her hand. He was already hard again from watching Andrea ride Jared, but Maria’s touch was so good.

The show didn’t last very long. Andrea only rode Jared for about another handful of minutes before she screamed to wake the dead. “FUCK YESSSS!!!! FUCK ME, DAMN YOU!!! I’M COM...” Andrea cried and then her orgasm seized her, cutting off her words and making her shake uncontrollably while Jared drilled his cock up into her. Andrea had not come so hard in a long time. She was finally getting what she’d wanted all night. She was sure now that Jared had been groping her upstairs when she was drunk, the memory came flooding back, but after the way he was making her come, Andrea didn’t care. She rode his cock until the very last tremor shot through her body and then collapsed forward like a puppet with cut strings.

Jared bit Andrea’s ear and whispered, “Great as that was, you know what you have to do now.”

Andrea pulled herself off Jared only to hear Maria say, “This Treat isn’t over yet.”

Andrea looked over and saw Maria practically sitting in her husband’s lap with his cock in her hand and smiled. She knew this was just going to turn into one big orgy now. Seth was rock hard in Maria's hands and Andrea knew that if they hadn't fucked in the closet that they would be soon. Having impaled herself on Jared's cock, Andrea's apprehension was gone, and she smiled up at him as she moved down and held his cock. It smelled strongly of her own pussy, and she lapped at the shaft. Andrea tickled his balls with the tip of her tongue and then licked her way back to the crown. Andrea kept smiling at Jared and locked eyes with him, then slowly let his shaft disappear between her smiling lips. She ran her tongue down the underside as she let the shaft slip deeper into her mouth. Only when she'd deep-throated Jared's entire cock did she seal her lips and give him a good, hard suck while humming around his cock.

"Damn, Andi, damn..." Jared moaned. Andrea was pleased that she was able to give Jared such pleasure after the orgasm he'd just given her. She massaged his balls as she slurped up and down on his cock.

Seth was enthralled watching his wife take Jared's entire length down her throat. Andrea was a very good cocksucker, one of the best he'd ever had. And now he had something new to compare it to, because while he watched his wife with Jared, Maria bent down and took him in her mouth. Seth looked down and saw the nest of Maria's hair spread across his lap. She couldn't quite take him all in, but she more than made up for that with her sucking and licking skills. Jared was a very lucky man if he got this every night. He stroked Maria's hair and kept watching his wife sucking Jared off.

Jared lifted his hips from the floor again, this time fucking his cock into Andrea's mouth instead of her cunt. "That's it, Andi, suck me, oh yeah, suck me, baby, your mouth feels so good. Make me come in your mouth, Andi, do it for me, yeah baby," Jared lauded Andrea. The encouragement worked and she sucked him even harder, letting his cock practically slide from her lips and then taking it deep into her throat again. Jared had her ponytail wrapped around his fist and was using it to move her mouth up and down on him. Andrea wasn't used to being handled roughly like this, but she found she liked it. She was sliding faster and faster on Jared's shaft, wanting to make him come, wanting to show him that she wasn't the only one to give in, and soon she got her wish. Jared gave out a victory whoop and Andrea could feel his cock spraying down her throat. But she wanted to taste him, so she pulled back a little and his thick cum filled her mouth. She swallowed every last drop of it and then let his cock slip away while she smacked her lips.

“Looks like you’re enjoying yourself,” Andrea said to her husband, seeing Maria’s head buried in his lap. She went to him and kissed him, amazed that he didn’t object since she’d just gone down on Jared. “Did you like watching that, honey?” She asked her husband.

“I didn’t think I would, but it was pretty hot, watching you in action like that,” Seth said, pinching Andrea’s nipple.

“Good, since I don’t think we’re going to stop here. Looks like Maria has other plans anyway. Let me see if she needs a hand down there,” Andrea said, and then sank to her knees. She swept Maria’s hair back and when the black-haired woman looked up Andrea took her mouth from Seth’s cock and kissed her slowly, tasting her own husband’s cum. After that, she gave Seth’s cock a lick and Maria figured out what Andrea was up to. Together they licked Seth’s cock and took turns sucking on it. First Andrea would deep throat her husband and then pass his cock to her friend like a baton so Maria could suck it too. And while they licked him their tongues mingled. All in all, it was an incredible experience for Seth and nearly as erotic for Andrea. She was running on pure desire and lust, not giving a thought to her actions beyond the moment.

“That is some sight, I hope I get my turn,” Jared said in approval as he watched the women pleasuring his friend. He was stroking his own cock and had it rock hard again. He moved in behind Andrea, who was still kneeling on the floor, and rubbed his cock against her cunt from behind. She was just as wet as before and her pussy gaped open to take him in. He got a good grip on her ass and slid up into her pussy. Seth’s cock was down her throat and for the first time in her life Andrea was impaled on two cocks at the same time. It felt incredible. She wasn’t going to be releasing her husband’s cock to Maria for a little while, but the brunette seemed okay with it.

“Looks like Andrea is enjoying that quite a lot, isn’t she Jar?” Maria commented.

“Yeah, she’s some piece of ass, if you don’t mind my saying, Seth,” Jared said.

“Not at all, anything for my Andrea,” Seth said, thrusting his cock into his wife’s mouth. He could feel Jared pushing her into him with every thrust. Jared was taking it slow, but then he picked up the pace and started slamming his cock into Andrea from behind. He knew Andrea particularly liked taking it from behind so she must be in heaven now.

Andrea's mind was blown, truthfully. Having two men at once seemed so slutty and she loved every second. Jared's cock split her from behind, Seth's cock filled her mouth and Andrea felt like a porn star. But the fucking she was taking from Jared was making her cocksucking sloppy and she had to pull her mouth from her husband's cock. "OH, GOD! FUCK ME! Both of you have to fuck me!! God!"

Since Andrea had stopped sucking on Seth, Jared pulled Andrea away from him, putting her on her hands and knees. She whimpered when he took his cock away and moaned when she got it back. In this position, Jared could ram her even harder and Andrea urged him to do just that.

Maria wanted Seth's now-free cock badly and climbed into his lap facing way, explaining, "I want to be able to watch," as she slipped down onto his cock. He reached around and grabbed her big breasts as she started bouncing up and down on his shaft. "Oh, baby, that's so good," Maria cried, feeling Seth piercing her. Seth was thrusting off the couch so hard they both almost spilled onto the floor. Maria's pussy pulled Seth in and milked his cock while it flowered close to another orgasm.

Jared had Andrea by her ponytail and was pulling her head back while he rode her like a bucking bronco. Andrea really did love the rough treatment, having her hair pulled like that while her pussy was being rammed, and she cried out, "GOD! FUCK ME!" She came yet again, but Jared did not stop fucking her.

"Your tight pussy's so fucking good, I'm going to fuck it until you come again and then I'm going to fuck it some more until you pass out!" Jared barked.

"Yessss...yesyesyes...yes, do it, you bastard!" Andrea's animosity toward Jared now only served to fuel her desire for him. He kept pumping into her from behind, jerking back on her ponytail every time she tried to let her head lag and she was coming once again, right on top of her last orgasm. When Andrea came this time, her limbs went rubbery, and she just fell to the floor.

Jared's cock was glistening with Andrea's juices, and it was just as hard as ever. He walked over to his wife who leaned forward and licked it clean.

"I like the taste of Andi on you, baby," Maria told her husband and then sucked him down. It was Seth's turn to feel like a porn star as he watched the woman he was fucking get fucked in the face. He had a better view this time and seeing Maria's ass spread over his lap while Jared fucked her face was just great. Seth redoubled his efforts and thrust harder into Maria. He heard her moaning into her husband's cock, but Jared did not take it away, he just fucked her mouth faster. All at once Maria went rigid and screamed from her stuffed mouth and Seth felt her juices flooding into his lap. The clenching of her pussy was too much for Seth and he blasted his second load of the night into Maria's cunt.

After Maria came, she climbed off Seth's cock, and he went down to the floor where his wife still lay. Her ponytail was pulled out and her hair was in total disarray. She looked like a well-fucked whore, which is exactly what she was tonight, and he loved her. "Are you okay, baby?" He asked.

Andrea grabbed her husband and gave him a big hug saying, "I'm more than all right. I'm on cloud nine. Oh Seth, tonight's been great." She reached for his cock. It was slick from Maria's pussy and slid easily in her hand. Through stroking him, Andrea knew she could get her husband back up again. She saw Jared and Maria sitting on the couch, watching. Jared's cock was still just as hard as it had been. Andrea bent double so she could reach Seth with her mouth and sucked him again. If Jared was still hard, she wanted both men to herself one more time before the night was over. Once she had Seth sucked back to full hardness, she beckoned Jared over.

Andrea had a man on either side of her and alternated sucking their cocks, her eyes tracking between the two of them and the looks on their faces was all the reward she needed. They were both deeply in lust at the moment and Andrea felt like the sexiest woman in the world. She'd stroke whichever cock wasn't in her mouth at the moment. She'd deep throat her husband and bring him to the edge, then release him and give Jared the same treatment.

"Damn your wife is hot," Jared told Seth.

"Yeah, she is one of a kind," Seth agreed.

Maria must have felt left out because she came over and knelt in front of Andrea. She didn't take a cock though. She could see Andrea was having too much fun with them. Instead, Maria leaned forward and started sucking on Andrea's nipples and rubbing her cunt. This was the last little piece Andrea needed to be in complete ecstasy. Maria lay on her back and moved close enough to lick Andrea's pussy. Now gasps were escaping from Andrea as she switched between the two cocks. All four of them were involved now and it had developed into a full-blown orgy. Andrea was sucking the cocks hard, desperately wanting to make both men come. And she was getting close to coming herself. Meanwhile, Maria was rubbing her own cunt and she looked like she could come soon herself.

Jared was the first one to lose it. Andrea was sucking her husband and Jared roared and his cum blasted across Andrea's cheek and into her hair. She was quite a mess by the time she switched and got his last couple of spurts in her mouth. She felt so wonderfully dirty and Maria's tongue dancing on her clit felt so good that Andrea exploded and came, moaning into Jared's cock as she sucked him dry. Maria came next, crying out as she plunged her fingers into her own pussy. Seth was the last one in the chain reaction and since his wife's mouth was still on Jared's cock, he shot his load all over her face too. Cum dripped from her chin down onto her firm breasts and dripped from her nipples onto Maria, who licked up the overflow. When Andrea was done sucking both men clean, Maria licked all of the stray cum from the blonde. With that done, everyone was too exhausted to continue.

Jared and Maria told Andrea and Seth they should stay, but the Donovans really wanted to get home. They found their clothes and Andrea struggled to make herself respectable, despite the fact she was wearing a genie costume and her hair was caked with dried cum. They all said their goodnights and the Donovans left.

It was a short ride home and during that time they discussed the whole night. There were no hard feelings and they loved each other just as much, although they decided they didn't want to make a habit of it. Personally, Andrea didn't like Jared any better, but she did have to admit that he was a skilled lover, and she could not rule out the fact that something might happen in the future if the four of them got together. All the talking got them both turned on again and Seth and Andrea barely made it to bed before they were making love with wild abandon.

Maria called Andrea a few days later at work to see how things were.

"Everything is okay," Andrea insisted, though talking to Maria now, she was embarrassed by her behavior that night. She'd never acted like such a slut in front of her husband in the privacy of their bedroom, let alone in front of other people.

"Are you sure? It doesn't sound it," Maria said.

Andrea explained her feelings, and it was better to get it all out.

"You have nothing to be embarrassed or ashamed about. We're all consenting adults. We all wanted to play that night. Jared and I had a great night."

"I know you're right. It's just a lot to wrap my head around. It was hardly normal behavior. What would people think?"

"No one else will ever know, so you don't have to worry about it."

"You're right. You're right," Andrea agreed and laughed. She made the decision there and then to just let her apprehensions go and enjoy the memory.

"So now that we have that out of the way when are we all going to dinner?"

The knot in Andrea's stomach came right back. "I don't know. We're pretty busy this month with the holidays coming up..."

"It's just dinner, Andi. We'll go out, what could happen in public?"

"Okay, as long as you understand it's just dinner. I don't know if I can handle another night like that."

Maria laughed. "Of course. Just dinner. But if you change your mind..."

Andrea wondered what Seth would say if he was in on their conversation. She knew her husband would love another chance to be with Maria. And if Andrea was honest, wouldn't she like another roll in the hay with Jared, even if he was an asshole? But wasn't that playing with fire? What would it mean for her marriage? She knew they were playing with fire. But then again, maybe she should keep an open mind.

"Maybe if the circumstances are right and the drinks are flowing. I just love to play games, you know," Andrea said, grinning to herself.

BLANK CANVAS

“Have you decided what you’re going to be yet?” Cassie asked. She still picked at her salad with the plastic fork, but mostly she was finished with it and just pushing the dregs around the tortilla bowl, which she’d chipped a couple of bites from. It was a Saturday morning in early October, and they’d stopped for a bite at a little café after hitting the gym. Ellen had only been joining her at the gym for a couple of months, but she was proud her friend was sticking with it, even if she thought Ellen was protesting too much. Most women Cassie knew would kill to have a curvy body like Ellen’s, especially the way her breasts swelled to D-cups after the baby! Cassie, just a large B-cup herself, was certainly jealous. Still, ever since her baby was born last spring Ellen complained that her body wasn’t bouncing back the way she hoped it would.

“Yeah, I figured it out a couple of months ago. I’m going to be June Cleaver. I’ve got the heels, of course, and pearls. I just need to find a good 50’s style dress. Feel like hitting some vintage stores?” Ellen said.

“Sure. We’ll find something appropriate. You should carry around a tray of cookies.”

“I thought of the cookie sheet, but I think I’m going to carry Jell-O shots on it instead.”

“You’re sure to be the hit of the party then!”

“What are you going to be?”

“I’ve been thinking about this for months and I just kept drawing a blank.”

“That’s not like you. You’ve always got the best costume.”

“But it’s hard to think of something I like that’s remotely original. I don’t really feel like going the slutty route like everyone else this year, either.”

“That will disappoint your fans.” Ellen had been teasing her about the attention some of her costumes drew for years, not that Cassie thought any of her costumes were over the top. She was comfortable with her body, but she wasn’t the type to run around half naked.

Their group of friends had been having these Halloween parties since they were teenagers, and they were all in their late twenties now. Cassie had always been a flirt and had no problem admitting she loved the attention, even more so now that she was engaged. It is important to know you’re still desirable. Luckily her fiancé was not the jealous type, not that he had any room to complain. Don had just as many female friends as she did guy friends.

“Maybe not. I think everyone will have fun with my idea.”

“I thought you said you were drawing a blank.”

“I was,” Cassie replied. “And then I realized that was my costume.”

“I don’t get it.”

“I’m going to be a blank canvas and I’ll let people do their art on me. I’m going to have little brushes and a little box of paints.”

“You’re just going to let people paint you? Uh, Cassie, are you saying...”

She could see where Ellen was going. “I’m not going to be naked! Jeez!”

“Well, you said you were going to let people paint you.”

“I’ve got two costume options. I can go safe and wear one of those white painters’ coveralls that zip up the front, but if it’s too baggy it’s going to be hard for people to decorate it. The other option is to wear a unitard. I found some white ones on the Internet. I’m not sure I want to be walking around all night in a unitard, though.”

“At least you could get away with it if you wanted to. I understand how you feel though, you might as well be walking around naked in one of those things! How does Don feel about it?”

“Oh, he doesn’t care. He loved it when I was Catwoman.” That was a memorable costume, but somehow a skintight white unitard seemed more daring than the black vinyl catsuit she’d worn.

“I bet. He probably likes it that all the guys are drooling over you and he’s the one who gets to take you home.”

Cassie suspected her friend was right, although saying all the guys were drooling over her was an exaggeration. Cassie was pretty she knew, but not in a flashy, look at me kind of way. She rarely wore make-up and didn’t tan because the sun just gave her freckles. She’d always been complimented on her cool blue eyes. Her shoulder-length blonde hair was in a ponytail as often as not and she was a jeans and t-shirt kind of girl when she wasn’t dressed for work. She worked hard to keep her five-foot-six figure slim because it seemed like every errant order of fries showed, but she didn’t dress to flaunt it like some of their girlfriends. Today she’d changed into a faded, comfortable pair of jeans, boots, and a dark blue Phillies t-shirt after showering at the gym. She was the quintessential girl-next-door and Cassie was proud that one of the reasons the guys liked her was that they thought she was cool because she was approachable.

“You’re crazy,” Cassie demurred. “There are always a lot of girls there way hotter than I am.” She thought of their friend Sonja, a smoky brunette. Sonja was hot. The first time Don met Sonja he couldn’t stop staring and Cassie couldn’t blame him. She couldn’t wait to see what Sonja was going to dress up as this year.

“Just remember there’s going to be strangers this time, so maybe the coverall is a better idea.”

“That’s right, Frank said he was going to invite people from work.”

Way back when their Halloween parties had just been their small group of friends and it floated from house to house. Over the years new friends and spouses joined in the fun and nowadays there were close to thirty people. Frank bought a big new house this year and insisted on hosting the party since he wanted to show off his new digs. Since he had so much room, he warned his group of friends he was inviting people from work. His thinking was that some of their group was still single and what better way to make things fun than to throw some new people into the mix. Besides, everyone in their group who could possibly date each other already had. Cassie shuddered to think how many of her friends she’d hooked up with over the years. The fact that Don knew all about their incestuous little circle and didn’t mind was just one of the reasons she loved him so much. Cassie thought the more the merrier, but she knew some of their friends resented the intrusion.

“You could be right,” Cassie agreed. Parading around in a unitard, essentially naked, with a bunch of strangers around might not be a good idea. She was sold on going with the coverall.

When she got home that evening Cassie ran her idea past Don and he liked it, even though he pointed out that letting her perverted friends attack her with paintbrushes might not be a good idea. “It’s a good thing I’ll have you there to protect me then,” she said.

The party was actually the night after Halloween, which fell on a Friday. That allowed their friends with children to do the trick or treat thing with their kids and then have their own grown-up night. Cassie had gone to a hobby shop and bought small jars of washable paint that fit into a box she wore on a belt. She was sure she would get sick of lugging the box of paints around and it would be set aside before the night was even halfway through. Maybe by then, she would be covered, and it wouldn’t matter.

Cassie pulled her hair up and tucked it into a white ball cap so she wouldn’t get paint in it and was zipping up when Don found her in the bedroom. He’d been down the hall applying make-up and she thought he wanted help with his wig. Don was going as Captain Jack Sparrow and had gone all out with the costume. He even had a fake beard with the beads dangling from it.

“Hon, I’ve got a problem. Work just called and the whole orange line is down. They’re calling everyone into work on it.” Don was an engineer with the local transit company.

“That sucks. Do you have any idea how long it will be? We can go late.”

“It’s going to take hours to get the whole system back online. There’s no point in waiting for me. You’re not going to be mad if you have to go on without me, are you?”

“Well, I don’t know who’s going to keep the perverts from drawing crazy things on me,” she joked. She pulled Don into her arms and gave him a long kiss. She knew he was looking forward to this party just as much as she was. “Of course, I’m not mad. Just come on out as soon as you can.”

“I promise I will. Have a good time for both of us, okay?”

“If you insist!”

It turned out Don didn’t even have time to get out of his make-up, so he threw his costume into the back of his car and took off for the depot. Cassie could only imagine the comments he was going to get from all the macho men he worked with. She left a few minutes later, after setting her GPS to Frank's address.

Frank's house turned out to be one of those McMansions that developers throw up on a postage-stamp-sized piece of land. The house was beautiful, three stories high, with a big open entryway and a great room in the back, but it seemed that you could almost lean out of the window and touch your next-door neighbor. If Cassie ever moved out of the city, it would be out to some old farmhouse on a big piece of land where she could plant and maybe even have some animals. She just wasn't the cookie-cutter conformity type.

After parking way up the street, she let herself in, knowing no one would hear the doorbell over the blaring music. The house was already crowded, and with greeting everyone it took her ten minutes to make her way back to the kitchen, where one of her friends, Neil, pressed a big, red plastic cup of beer into her hand. The keg was on the deck out back and people kept shuttling in and out for refills. It wasn't quite warm enough so late in October to leave the sliding doors open. When Frank finally reached her, she barely recognized him under all his green make-up and his wild wig. He was covered, except for the tattered purple pants he wore. She kissed his cheek but didn't hug him because she didn't want his Hulk costume rubbing off on her.

"Okay, I can't figure it out. What are you supposed to be?" Frank asked.

She held out the box of paints she'd set down on the counter and explained her costume.

"That is going to get very messy before the night is through. You have to promise to save me a spot. Where's Don?"

"He got called in to work at the last minute, but I expect him later."

"Sucks for him. I'll find you later. I've got to mingle."

Cassie had the potential artists lining up for her when she explained her costume and she took up court in a corner of the rec room, which took up a quarter of the cavernous basement. The ones who came first got the best canvas space, but things started relatively tame. A few of her girlfriends painted flowers or little designs on her arms, while the guys painted as close to her naughty areas as they could without crossing the line. Todd, one of her more talented friends, painted a little blue Smurf who looked like he was climbing upward and about to scale her left breast. Another of her friends, who was dressed as a pimp, told her, “I always thought you would look good with a tattoo.”

“How do you know I don’t already have one?” Cassie teased. She actually did have one, a tiny little heart just below the bikini line, but he would have never seen it. Few people had.

“I guess I don’t. Wanna show me?”

“Not tonight, John,” she laughed. He’d always been an incorrigible flirt and ever since that summer at the shore when they were sixteen—when they had a drunken hookup—he’d been after her for a replay. The fact that she was engaged to be married didn’t slow him down one bit. “So, what are you going to give me, then?”

“I don’t know, maybe a dragon. It’s always hot when you see something like a dragon or lizard peeking out from some chick’s tank top. Just sit back and let the artist work.”

Cassie leaned back on the battered old leather couch and John straddled her leg without a second thought, but everyone knew she was a physical person and not one to be concerned about such things. After all, she went to the party knowing people would be touching her all night! John pulled down on her coverall and then placed a hand just below her breast to keep the fabric taut. Before he started painting, he handed over her beer and said, “Here, this will help with the pain.”

“Thanks,” she said and drank. She already had a nice buzz going, helped along by a couple of Jell-O shots from Ellen’s tray.

John leaned forward and took his time painting. The color was too bright a green for a proper dragon, but it didn’t matter much as he wasn’t much of an artist. He wasn’t creating a masterpiece, but since it gave him an excuse to get his hands on Cassie he was going to take as long as she allowed. The dragon’s tail curved down around the outside of her right breast and the rest of the ugly beast perched just above it. He gave the dragon big yellow daggers of teeth and then added fiery red breath. By the time he’d finished, it looked like a six-year-old had been working on her, but she couldn’t deny enjoying the stray touch he stole as he painted all around her breast, or the way he started massaging lightly with the hand holding her coverall in place. By the time he was finished her stiff nipple was just about visible through the taut coverall and she was feeling that sweet, familiar tingle that came from being touched or caressed. There was nothing overtly erotic about the way John touched her, but she’d always been susceptible to those light touches, and the drinks she'd had just amplified it.

Once John crossed that line, others were more than willing to follow him across it and Cassie's friends grew increasingly more intimate in their drawings. One of the guys knelt in front of her and pressed his hand against her left breast. Even Cassie was shocked at his brazenness, but she did not stop him. The touch did feel nice, and she sort of invited it with her costume she reasoned. Besides, he was just one of the guys. He didn't mean anything by it, although he did grab a quick squeeze while he was tracing his hand. When he finished drawing the outline in black, he took his time filling it in, leaving a big handprint over her breast. He was heavy-handed with the brush, giving her chills as he teased her breast over and over again.

Another guy had her bend over and he traced her ass through the coverall, which meant that she couldn't sit until the paint dried, so she grabbed a fresh beer and then went upstairs to the living room, which had been turned into a small dance floor. On the way, a couple of more people grabbed her and added their own art. She would soon be a complete masterpiece.

She had a great time dancing and was glad to move around after sitting so long to be the human canvas. As she danced people admired her artwork and a couple of her friends made wisecracks about the more risqué art adorning her body. After a couple of songs, the crowd thinned, and she found herself dancing with a Joker she didn't recognize. He wore his face paint smeared, like Heath Ledger in The Dark Knight, but even with his identity disguised she knew it was not one of her friends. When he spoke, he even did a fair approximation of Ledger's voice from the movie.

"Why aren't you just a living work of art?" he asked with a low cackle.

"You're not too bad with a brush yourself."

"I didn't mean the paint," he added with a wiggle of his brow.

Cassie laughed and instantly warmed to the stranger. He was quite charming and even with the make-up, she could tell he was handsome. "Thanks. That's a really good costume."

"Oh, this old thing?" He glanced down at himself, smoothing out his tattered, multi-hued hobo's suit. It may have been a nice three-piece suit about thirty years ago, but time had not been kind. It appeared that he had done his own coloring and she wondered what color it had been when he found it.

He took Cassie’s hand and spun her to get a good look at the work that had been done on her. Yellow angel wings sprouted from her shoulders and a complex design in blue stretched down the length of her spine, ending in a poorly drawn Stop sign right where a tramp stamp would traditionally go. When she turned back to face him, the Joker reeled her in and held her tightly against him for a moment before dipping her. With her buzz, the sudden move gave her a head rush and when he pulled her back up, she happily leaned into him, because otherwise, she might have stumbled. He felt solid under that shabby costume, and she wondered just who he was.

“You’re getting filled up there. I hope you save some room for me,” he rasped.

“It depends on what you have in mind.”

“It won’t be any fun if I tell you ahead of time.”

She wondered if he missed her engagement ring, or just didn’t care. Either way, it was fun to flirt, especially considering her horny, naughty mood. There was no danger in a house full of people and Don would be the ultimate beneficiary. When he finally got there, she might just have to drag her fiancé into an out-of-the-way room if she kept feeling so good!

“I’m Cassie, by the way.”

“My pleasure, Cassie,” he replied, taking her hand and kissing it, leaving a red smear.

“And you are?”

“I’m the boy you don’t take home to mother. I’m the mistake that you can’t help smiling over.”

“Really?” Cassie laughed.

He pulled her close again and whispered in her ear, “Maybe if I get to paint you, I’ll sign my work.”

“We’ll see. I am going to get some air, but I’ll save a spot for you if I can.” She wasn’t sure if she really meant it. Somehow letting a stranger work on her body like that seemed wrong, but just the thought of the sexy, enigmatic stranger taking a brush to her made Cassie tingle from head to toe. She hoped Don wouldn’t be much longer.

One thing she hadn't anticipated was that the coverall would be so hot in a crowded house. She wanted to peel it off, but she hadn't worn enough underneath to leave herself the option. Instead, she was just going to hang out on the porch for a while. She pushed her way through the kitchen and stepped onto the back deck, where several of the guys were having cigars. Ellen was out there too, sneaking a joint with John.

"You bad, bad girl," Cassie teased.

Ellen sucked in a deep hit and offered the fat joint to Cassie. Although she rarely partook anymore, Cassie took a hit for old times' sake.

"You should talk. Look at you!" Ellen replied, once she'd released a lungful of smoke. It looks like all the guys have had their way with you."

"And some of the girls too." Cassie giggled and unzipped the coverall to the middle of her chest, revealing a tight, white lace-trimmed camisole underneath. The cool air felt good and added to the heady feeling she received from the pot.

"That one's mine," John said pointing out his work on Cassie's chest.

"Oh, very classy. I think you missed your calling," Ellen teased.

"Thanks. I'm heading in, it's cold out here. I'll catch you girls later."

Once they were alone, Ellen said, "It's a good thing Don's not the jealous type."

"Eh, he knows it's just the guys. None of those fools are going to get lucky. Speaking of guys, did you see the Joker in there?"

"Sort of ratty looking? Yeah, I think I saw him talking to Sonja earlier. They were off in a corner, and it looked like they were getting along very well if you know what I mean."

Cassie could have guessed. There was no way Sonja would miss a guy as interesting as the Joker, and in her little sailor's outfit, he couldn't have missed her. Cassie sighed with jealousy when she first saw her sexy friend that evening. The little navy-blue dress was skintight and low cut, exposing a deep valley of cleavage, and ended in a very short, pleated skirt with white accents. The outfit was finished with white fishnets, high heels, and a little white sailor's cap perched atop her raven hair, which she wore pulled back, with big, bouncy curls. Every time Sonja passed through a room all eyes were on her, even the other women's. Her sex appeal certainly wasn't lost on Cassie.

"So do you know who the Joker is?" Cassie asked.

“I have no idea. He must be one of Frank’s work friends. Why are you so interested? You’re not going to get yourself into trouble, are you? Maybe you should cut back on the drinks.”

“No, don’t be silly. Those days are behind me. I was dancing with him before and I was just curious, that’s all,” Cassie replied. She couldn’t blame Ellen for being suspicious of her motives. In her younger days—not so long ago really—Cassie earned herself a reputation for acting crazy when she’d had too much to drink. She just couldn’t help herself sometimes. She loved feeling high and light when she had her buzz and for some reason being horny had always gone along with it. And she was never so drunk she was completely out of control—she always told herself—or couldn’t remember what had happened, which was key. For one thing, she never wanted to blame her actions on being drunk, that was lame, and for another, some of her best sexual escapades had occurred while she was drinking or high and she was glad for the memories.

Cassie drifted back into the house with a fresh beer and went downstairs again after finding the queue for the main floor powder room too long. She knew there was another bathroom in the basement and headed for it but found a line of people three deep waiting to use that one as well. She decided to stay and wait and chatted up a friend while they awaited their turn. She was in line by herself when Sonja came around the corner and joined her.

“Looks like you’ve been having a good time,” Sonja commented, eyeing up the gallery of their friends’ work adorning Cassie’s body.

“You look like you’re out to have a good time,” Cassie teased, eyes flitting from Sonja’s breasts to her legs. The little sailor girl dress seemed to have been constructed around Sonja’s hourglass figure while she posed.

“I think I could have a couple of takers if I wanted.” Sonja put her hand on her cocked hip and ordered Cassie to turn so she could see it all. After Cassie completed a 360, Sonja added, “I’m glad you saved some room for me.”

Cassie looked down at the coverall and wondered where her friend might find enough space to do more than add some squiggly lines. “If you can find a spot, you’re more than welcome to add something.” Actually, she quite liked the idea of Sonja taking a paintbrush to her.

“I know exactly what I want to do.” She knelt beside Cassie with a quick flash of white satin panty. In that position, Sonja’s skirt did not quite meet her stocking tops.

Sonja took her hand and pulled her down the hallway and into a child's playroom. Dolls and blocks were scattered around the floor and Cassie almost twisted her ankle stepping on a Brio block. There was a short, plastic play table with a big bright orange beanbag chair beside it, which Sonja deposited her in when she stumbled. Sonja took the box of paints from Cassie's waist and set it on the play table.

"Ooookkayyy..." Cassie said, giggling. Just what was Sonja up to?

"I'm glad you saved the best for last," Sonja said, uncapping all the paints and taking up the paintbrush. She dipped it into the black, which was nearly depleted, and pushed Cassie back so she was flatter on the beanbag chair. "Now spread your legs," she ordered.

"What are you doing?" Cassie asked, leaning forward so she could look down her own body.

Sonja did not need to answer, as her intentions were instantly clear. She pushed Cassie's legs apart and began outlining a large leaf right over her pelvis. No one else had dared get that close to her most intimate area. The way Cassie had fallen pulled the coverall tight around her crotch, which made Sonja's work easier. It also made Cassie feel every brush stroke through the thin, papery material. She was also all too aware of Sonja's hand on her inner thigh and its sweet pressure on her tender flesh. If she just extended her thumb, she would be touching the swell of Cassie's mound. She would never have let any of the guys touch her like this, even in her high, horny state, but letting Sonja do it was another matter. Cassie's heart started thumping in her chest and all those dirty little throwaway thoughts she'd had about Sonja over the years sprang back with urgency. She hoped Sonja didn't notice how flushed she was becoming.

Once she finished outlining the leaf, Sonja went for the green and filled it in using long, slow strokes. It seemed to Cassie that she was spending a lot of time right in the center, where it would tease her the most. Cassie couldn't tear her eyes away from the brush, taking stroke after stroke over her pussy. She didn't know if it was her imagination or that she was so overstimulated, but she was sure she could feel every pass of that brush, even through the layers of clothing. Her need was palpable, and she barely contained the urge to grab Sonja.

"Now I just need to add the veins," Sonja said. She smiled at Cassie as she took up the black brush once again.

Sonja added long, spidery lines to her leaf and adjusted her hand as she worked so it was even closer to Cassie's throbbing pussy. Cassie wanted to be touched down there so badly, yet she remained still. She wondered when the hell her fiancé was going to get to the party. She knew they would not be waiting until they got home now.

"So, what do you think?" Sonja asked.

"It's good," Cassie rasped. "Interesting choice."

"Well, I couldn't leave you exposed, could I?"

"No, that would be bad," Cassie replied, as she unzipped the coverall to her belly button. "It's really hot down here, isn't it?"

"I hadn't noticed, but feel free to open up. That thing must be hot, and I was wondering what you were wearing under there anyway." Sonja pulled open the unzipped coverall and regarded Cassie's body, which was only covered by the tight, white camisole that barely reached her belly button. She unzipped the coverall further, revealing a skimpy pair of lace-trimmed panties. She trailed her fingertips across Cassie's flat belly.

"So do you approve?"

"Honestly, I was hoping you weren't wearing anything at all under there."

"Oh," Cassie replied softly, belatedly realizing they were having a moment.

Sonja only briefly paused at the edge of the camisole before sliding higher and grazing Cassie's breast. Cassie gasped when Sonja traced her pebbled nipple. The women locked eyes. Their desire for each other was unspoken but evident. Sonja flicked the nipple with a navy-blue painted nail and Cassie bit her bottom lip and reached out for Sonja. Sonja palmed Cassie's breast and kissed her hard. Cassie thrust her tongue up into Sonja's mouth.

Cassie pushed her chest against Sonja's hand while twining her fingers in her friend's thick, raven hair. Sonja kneaded her breast roughly before releasing it to concentrate on pinching and pulling her nipple. Cassie moaned into their kiss. It was fantastic that Sonja understood just how to touch her, how rough she could be without causing pain. It had been many years since Cassie had been with another woman, she'd only done it a handful of times, but she fell right back into it, savoring the differences. She loved how Sonja's silky hair felt between her fingers and, brushing her cheek, how different Sonja's lips felt, even the way she sensuously used her tongue to tease Cassie's. Cassie threw herself into kissing Sonja with abandon.

While Sonja slipped a strap from Cassie's shoulder inside the coverall, Cassie reached under Sonja's dress to squeeze a round, ripe cheek. Cassie always thought Sonja had a terrific ass. She got a good feel of it too, as Sonja was only wearing a thong under her short costume. Sonja's hand felt cool on Cassie's overheated flesh. She massaged Cassie slowly and only touched her pale pink nipple as an afterthought, giving it just enough of a pinch to make Cassie moan and dig her short nails into Sonja's ass.

Cassie opened her eyes to see Sonja looking at her while they kissed. There was something predatory in her eyes and it made Cassie shudder. Sonja gave her tongue a playful flick in her mouth and then moved downward, kissing and sucking on Cassie's tender neck. Cassie couldn't contain her soft cry when Sonja nibbled on her earlobe. It had always been a particularly sensitive trigger. Most guys she'd been with quickly figured out that if they spent some time biting and sucking her earlobes that Cassie would be putty in their hands. No fool, Sonja figured it out too. She bit and pulled Cassie's earlobe and Cassie's soft cries turned to whimpers and she clutched Sonja to her. Cassie found the gusset of Sonja's thong soaked through and rubbed her there.

"Mmm, that's good," Sonja breathed into Cassie's ear.

Cassie was rubbing the side of her hand against Sonja's sodden cleft and pressed harder when the jet-haired beauty rimmed and teased her nipple with the pointed tip of her tongue. Sonja flicked that painfully hard nipple and Cassie cried out and pushed herself at Sonja's ruby lips. Sonja pulled back and kept teasing with her tongue. Cassie breathed hard, yearning for Sonja to kiss her there. Cassie pushed the flimsy thong to the side and found Sonja's clit with her thumb. She stroked the slippery little button and Sonja stiffened and locked her mouth over Cassie's breast. Sonja sucked hard while chasing Cassie's nipple with her tongue and Cassie arched her back. Cassie turned her hand just enough to slip a couple of fingers inside Sonja and she could hear wet sucking sounds as she slowly worked her fingers in and out.

"Fuck, Cassie," Sonja murmured as she moved from one breast to the other, almost tearing the camisole as she tried to pull it out of the way. She couldn't get the other strap down with the way Cassie was holding her.

Cassie opened her eyes and looked lustily down at Sonja, with her now messy mass of black curls and ruby lips, which contrasted from Cassie's pale breast. She also caught movement from the corner of her eye and realized they weren't alone. Standing just inside the doorway was the Joker! How long had he been watching them?

"Sorry for interrupting," the Joker grinned.

Cassie's mouth dropped open, but only a moan came out. She knew she should stop Sonja and cover-up, but it was so hot to have the mysterious stranger standing and watching them. She couldn't keep her eyes from flitting down to his crotch to see if she liked what she saw. The tenting she saw in those raggedy, pinstriped slacks made her curious to see more.

"You're not interrupting anything, sweetie," Sonja said, resting her head on Cassie's chest. She shuddered when Cassie massaged her g-spot, which was Cassie's way of saying we need to get rid of this guy and get on with it!

"Well, I'll let you get back to your 'nothing' then," the Joker replied. He turned to leave.

"Why don't you hang out? Let's have some fun," Sonja said.

Cassie didn't know how she felt about that, but she was so turned on that she didn't object when the Joker closed the door behind him and shed his rainbow-hued jacket.

Sonja went back to licking and sucking and nibbling Cassie's breasts and Cassie closed her eyes and let her head fall back against the beanbag chair, trying to forget that she and Sonja weren't alone anymore. Sonja slipped a slender hand down inside the coverall and cupped Cassie's mound and gave it a good squeeze. Cassie moaned and pushed herself encouragingly at that hand. What must be going through his mind? Cassie wondered. She opened her eyes and saw the Joker was no longer across the room, but standing right beside them, staring down at all of Cassie's exposed skin. He was close enough to touch if her hands hadn't been busy already. She wondered how much he wanted to touch her and if she would stop him if he tried. As titillating as being the center of attention was, Cassie thought it would be better if Sonja was more a part of their little show.

"Oh Cassie," Sonja cried when Cassie attacked her clit in earnest. She slid her fingers faster in and out of Sonja and rubbed her clit in a hard little circle and Sonja's whole body jerked in reaction. Sonja screwed herself down harder onto Cassie's fingers and increased her own attentions on Cassie's clit. Cassie arched her back and moaned and it seemed to be a race to see which woman could make the other climax first.

Sonja was kissing her way downward again, and as she did, she took the Joker's hand and put it on Cassie's breast. Cassie was shocked by her friend's forward move and wondered what the hell she was thinking. Cassie thought being watched might be a nice little distraction, something she could go for in her horny, drunken state, but Sonja was taking it to a whole new level. It was becoming something far more, something that Cassie knew she should not be involved with, not when she had a fiancé. But even with all of that flashing through her mind, she did not remove the stranger's hand. Instead, she sighed and moaned when he groped her with his calloused hand. His rough fingers made her sensitive nipple tingle and having two people touch her sent Cassie into overdrive. A threesome was something she'd often fantasized about, but not something she'd done. She certainly didn't think she'd ever have one under these circumstances.

Cassie was forced to pull her fingers from Sonja as the other woman moved around between Cassie's legs. On impulse, Cassie pressed her fingers to the Joker's red lips, and he sucked them in, licking off Sonja's sticky juices. His tongue darted quickly around and between her fingers and she wondered what else he could do with that talented tongue. She took her fingers from his mouth and held his face while she pulled his lips down to hers. She kissed him full on, her apprehensions evaporating as he and Sonja touched her in concert. He pulled her little white cap off and Sonja shook her hair free to fall around her shoulders.

While Cassie was busy kissing the Joker, Sonja was between her legs, kissing and rubbing Cassie right above the panty line. But that was as far as the coverall would allow her to go. The zipper only opened so far. Sonja cleared her throat until the others took notice of her and then said, "Can I have a little help here?"

The Joker jumped to help her and pulled the coverall from Cassie's shoulders. Cassie leaned forward and then pushed up so the others could peel the coverall away. He followed that by folding the camisole down so both her breasts were fully exposed and ripe for the picking. Sonja pulled Cassie's panties right off and suddenly Cassie was almost nude. She felt funny, and dirty, being so completely exposed, especially when the other two were still dressed. That was something she had to remedy.

Cassie sat forward on the beanbag and grabbed Sonja and kissed her. Even with her eyes closed, it was easy to find the zipper in the back of Sonja's little costume and she yanked it down. As Cassie started pulling it off, Sonja shimmied her body and shed the sailor outfit like a discarded skin. A navy, satin bra proved to be the source of her fabulous cleavage. Cassie unhooked that bra hurriedly and threw it on the floor. Their breasts pressed together, the women kissed and groped at each other frenetically, Cassie kneading Sonja's ass, while Sonja found room to squeeze her hand between them and grope for Cassie's cunt again.

Cassie shivered when she felt her hair swept aside and the Joker kissed her neck from behind. He pulled her back just enough to massage both Cassie's breasts, trapping her nipples between his fingers. It was so easy to just turn his hand and touch Sonja too and that was just what he did, filling one of his hands with Sonja's heavy breast. He groped both women until Cassie turned and pulled him into an embrace while pushing her tongue into his mouth. Drawing back, she pulled him into a three-way embrace and turned his face to Sonja's. While they kissed, Cassie sank and kissed and licked Sonja's breasts. Sonja had thick, brown nipples and she really seemed to like it when Cassie pulled on them. At first, she just used her lips, but then she nipped with her teeth and Sonja dug her nails into Cassie's scalp. Sonja also pushed the Joker down to join her, and he and Cassie attacked Sonja's pendulous breasts side-by-side. Cassie also thrust her fingers back into Sonja's slippery pussy.

"That's so fucking hot, guys," Sonja moaned, holding them both to her chest.

Sonja soaked up their attentions for a bit and then turned the focus to the Joker, who was the only one of the three still clothed. Sonja stood and pulled him to his feet before sinking back to her knees. She and Cassie exchanged glances and then both went to work on his pants. Cassie got the belt and the button while Sonja attacked the stubborn zipper and pulled his pants down.

"Now ladies, be gentle. I'm a delicate flower," he cackled.

In keeping with his costume, he had crazily colored paisley boxers under his pants and both women reached for his package through them. They joined hands and caressed him together. Cassie was pleased with what she felt, and her few remaining reservations evaporated in the heat of her excitement. Even if it was wrong, she was having too much fun to stop now. She reached in through the loose fly on the boxers and grasped his hot shaft. He was long and thick, a tad bigger than most of the guys she'd been with. He filled her hand nicely and she tried to put out of her mind how well he could fill her in other places. He practically purred as she stroked him, and she only let his cock go when Sonja wanted to pull down his boxers.

Cassie was so close that when his cock sprang up it almost smacked her in the face. She brushed her hair back and leaned in and gave the tip a sweet little kiss. One kiss was followed by another and another until she was softly sucking and licking, and she tasted the salty precum that dripped from him. Sonja got in on the act by going low and kissing the side of his long shaft, working her way downward until she was licking and sucking his balls. It felt oddly intimate to be so close to Sonja while they pleased a man together. Their faces brushed each other, and Sonja's hair tickled her ear. It was how she'd always imagined it in her fantasies. Cassie started going up and down on his cock and her lips touched Sonja's.

The women kissed each other and licked his prick as their lips came together at the crown. It was such an intense kiss that Cassie almost forgot they were supposed to be focused on the costumed stranger. She held Sonja's breasts and pulled her nipples while Sonja slipped a hand back between Cassie's legs. Sonja took over by grabbing the Joker's shaft and going down on him, not stopping until his head was in the back of her throat. Cassie was impressed. She took Sonja's role and kissed and licked his balls, pleased that he had done some manscaping down there. Sonja sucked him for a minute or two and then passed the baton back to Cassie. The friends did that, passing his cock back and forth, keeping him on the edge until he couldn't take it anymore.

"I should warn you ladies. I'm about to pop my cork," he stuttered, shaking and rocking back on his heels.

He was in Cassie's mouth, and she wasn't about to let him go, but Sonja pulled her away from his shaft and kissed her hotly. Okay, Cassie thought, I guess she has other plans. While they kissed, Sonja eased her backward, so Cassie was lying back on the beanbag chair again. Sonja fell right on top of her with her knee between Cassie's legs. As they kissed and groped each other Sonja pressed her knee hard and Cassie responded, grinding her pussy into that knee, setting off firecrackers throughout her body.

Sonja's mouth was busy as she made her way down Cassie's body once again, but this time there was nothing to halt her descent. Sonja pulled Cassie's panties right off and then lifted her friend's legs over her shoulders.

"Oh, God!" Cassie cried when her friend's tongue plunged inside her. This was another advantage to being with another woman, Cassie remembered. Not that her fiancé wasn't good at going down, but she'd never been with a guy who was as good as a girl. Every guy sort of hunted around and darted from place to place without explicit instructions on what to do down there. Sonja, on the other hand, knew exactly what to do. She was a maestro with her tongue, sweeping it just so, right where Cassie needed it. And then Sonja kissed and sucked and worked her lips and effortlessly made the nubbin of Cassie's clit explode. Cassie hung her head back as she cried unintelligibly.

Cassie's head snapped up when she felt another mouth and hands on her body. The Joker did not stay on the sidelines. He was sucking and nibbling one of her breasts while he pinched and massaged the other one. It was heaven and how she'd always imagined a threesome; all the attention was focused on her. He took a hold of his cock and jerked himself off while he helped Sonja make Cassie feel amazing. Together, they brought Cassie to another toe-curling climax, and she struggled to stifle her cries, lest someone beyond the little playroom hear her. The joy that pulsed from between her legs did not stop as the others kept kissing and licking and stroking her. Cassie thought she was going to melt into a puddle if they did not let up, but they showed no sign that they were done with her.

The Joker flicked out his long tongue and worked his way down her tummy to join Sonja between Cassie's legs. She didn't know how the two of them could go down on her at once, but the possibility of two tongues busy down there was exciting. As he moved lower, Cassie noted he left a smeared skid mark of red, green, and white makeup down her body. He was kissing her thigh and then deftly slid into place as Sonja moved out the other side.

"Oh," Cassie whimpered when he slid his tongue inside her. It seemed impossibly long, and he was able to almost use it like a cock to penetrate her, except that it curled and flicked and darted around to touch all of her most sensitive areas. Impossibly he even curled it inward and up and tickled her g-spot in an impressive feat that left her breathless. He kept her a sobbing, moaning mess while completely ignoring her clit.

Sonja half-lay on the beanbag beside Cassie and turned her face to kiss her. It was a slow, languid kiss, punctuated by Cassie's moans, which came every time the Joker's tongue found a particularly sensitive spot. It was the sweetest torture. He added a couple of fingers to his tongue, filling her, and worked on her pussy in a way she'd never quite felt before. Cassie felt a slow burning orgasm that made her catch her breath and whimper softly rather than scream to the rafters.

Much as Cassie loved being the center of attention, Cassie wanted to make this encounter memorable for Sonja too. She wanted to give as much pleasure as she had received. Cassie turned to the side, rolling off of the beanbag and trapping Sonja beneath her. It twisted the Joker's fingers inside her, giving Cassie such an intense flash, she nearly came again. She wasn't generally multi-orgasmic like this, which really made tonight special.

Cassie was on top now and it was time to take charge. She took a lot of time scaling and sculpting and generally teasing Sonja's breasts. They were just so full and beautiful, and Cassie loved the way Sonja moaned and cried when she pinched and pulled her nipples. Sonja moaned, "Yesss...harder Cassie...oh damn...just like that..." But Sonja was not the only one moaning with pleasure, because their mystery friend had not given up on playing with Cassie. He knelt beside her and was kissing her back while massaging her breasts from beneath and using all his fingers to stimulate and drive her crazy. She had never been so keyed up in her life. Juices ran down her thighs and she thought she just might never want to leave that little playroom.

"Come on, hon, lick my pussy," Sonja begged, pushing on Cassie's shoulders to urge her lower. Cassie was planning on going down there anyway, but it was nice to hear she had her friend so aroused that she was begging for more. Cassie did not tease her way down the way the others did to her, but skipped straight down, scooting on her knees and pushing Sonja's legs far apart. She liked the way Sonja looked, waxed clean, and thought maybe she would get rid of her own slim landing strip. She thought Don might like it.

It had been so long since Cassie did anything like this and she hoped she did it right. She just did what she knew she liked, and it seemed that Sonja approved. Sonja had both hands on the back of Cassie's head, forcing her face harder between her legs. Sonja was obviously unconcerned that someone in the hallway would hear because she was caterwauling to wake the dead. She cried, “Yesss...yessss...Yes! Oh damn!” Sonja bucked her hips at Cassie’s face, and she could only guess Sonja was coming.

Meanwhile, at the back of all that action, the Joker got up to his oral tricks once again. Cassie’s ass was sticking in the air, and she felt him press his face against her and then snake his tongue inside her. This time it reached out and tickled her clit and Cassie wailed straight into Sonja’s muffling cunt. It was like a brand searing her flesh and Cassie went from wet and happy to trembling and on the edge of climax in seconds. Cassie slurped away at Sonja’s pussy, but her technique was shot, at least for the moment.

The Joker stopped licking her and Cassie was caught between relief and disappointment. She was on the edge of control and knew he was about to tip her over into a lusty abyss. She was at that dangerous place where she was ready to let him, or Sonja do anything to her they wished as long as she kept feeling so blissful. She refocused her efforts on making Sonja climax again, but immediately she found her resolve tested. The Joker kneaded her ass and pulled it higher into the air and then she felt the tip of his cock against the backs of her thighs. She was ready to protest, to tell him to stop, but Sonja held her snug to her pussy with both hands on the back of her head and before Cassie could pull away or voice a complaint he stabbed forward, filling her completely with his thick shaft.

Cassie closed her eyes as her senses reeled. God, he felt good inside her. She was so wet he just slid right into the hilt, and she locked down around him. His cock was the final match thrown onto the gas-soaked bonfire of her unslakable need and even though she knew it was wrong and that she had to make this stranger stop, she couldn’t. She just didn’t want to. His prick was inside her and she knew he was going to give her the fucking she so desperately craved. In a twisted way, she reasoned away everything that had happened to that point as being not that bad, but even in her drunken, lust-filled state she couldn’t justify letting another man—a stranger no less—fuck her. But then he really started doing it and all those thoughts went right out the window.

Cassie was glad her face was buried in Sonja’s lap because she was beyond being quiet now. The Joker gripped her ass tightly and slammed his cock in and out of her rapidly. He was fucking her hard and fast and she whimpered and pushed back at him, wordlessly pleading, Give me more, dammit! God, don't stop!

Sonja must have realized that Cassie was going to be useless down there while she was so exquisitely distracted because she finally let her friend come up for air. Cassie lay her head on Sonja's thigh, but she did not completely abandon her friend. She slipped first two, and then three fingers inside Sonja and friggd her as hard and fast as the Joker fucked her. Cassie buried her face in Sonja's flesh and even bit her thigh as she tried to confine her cries to the playroom. His balls slapped the backs of her thighs, and she squished around him, and he climaxed before she did, but only narrowly.

"That's fuckin' it!" He exclaimed.

"Uhhh...uhnn...yessssss..." Cassie hissed, arching her back as her muscles tensed all at once and that comet of pure pleasure rocketed through her. She felt him throbbing inside her as he shot his load and then slipped out, slimy and spent. Sonja was not left out of the orgasmfest. While Cassie was fingering her, Sonja was busy rubbing her own clit and she came gushingly.

Cassie curled into a ball between Sonja's legs, sated and happy. She opened her eyes dreamily to see the Joker doing up his pants. He executed an exaggerated bow and announced, "I hate to fuck and run, ladies, but I suspect my presence is no longer required." He slipped from the room, closing the door behind him.

"Wow, that was..." Cassie started.

"Yeah, it certainly was. You were amazing," Sonja agreed.

"I was out of my mind, is what I was. I had a great time, but we can never speak of this. Seriously, if anyone finds out about you and me and..."

"Don't worry, I've got your back. He won't ever find out from me. But if you wanted a repeat performance sometime, something a little more private..."

Cassie grinned and gave her a hug and kiss before reassembling her clothes. "Well, I never say never."

Sonja left the room first and then Cassie slipped out a few minutes later. Now that the sex was over and she was left alone with her thoughts, Cassie felt an overwhelming sense of guilt. She was happy that she had a fantasy fulfilled, but she felt guilty that she did it without Don—even if it was probably easier to do it without him. She knew she would have been jealous if he was there and seemed more into Sonja than her. It was better to do something like that with a man who didn't mean anything to her. Still, it was not fair to Don and while she knew she could never come clean, what would be the point, she knew she had to find a way to make it up to him. Maybe she would invite Sonja over to their place one night and put on a little show for him, but he would only be watching.

Cassie slipped out of the playroom and went right into the bathroom to clean up. Getting the Joker's makeup off her body was the toughest part, but she got most of it. She headed back upstairs to get a fresh beer and some air when Ellen corralled her in the hallway.

"Where have you been?"

"I was just taking a break. Why?"

"Don got here about a half hour ago. He's been looking for you. Are you okay? You look kind of worn out."

"It's just been a long week. Thanks for the heads up."

Don found her in the living room and pulled her into a long hug followed by a longer kiss, which Cassie enthusiastically returned. Despite her recent encounter, kissing her fiancé fired her right up again. She just hoped she didn't taste suspiciously minty fresh.

"You weren't downstairs, were you?"

"No, why?" Cassie replied, eyes darting to the side.

"I heard Sonja put on quite a show with some guy dressed like the Joker. There was a ton of noise coming from some room down there and then someone saw Sonja and this guy leave the room separately."

Cassie was thankful the hallway was empty when she left the playroom. "That sounds like Sonja," she said, taking his hand. "How about we find an empty room upstairs and see if we can't get some people whispering about us?"

"What's gotten into you?"

"Nothing, I just missed you."

"I'm right behind you," he replied as she led him up the steps. "This will give me somewhere more private to check out all your artwork. No wonder you're worked up if people have been touching you all night. Looks like a couple of people got pretty daring, but please don't tell me who."

Cassie laughed and said, "You have no idea."

She found an empty bedroom and pulled Don into it. He sat on the end of the bed, and she did a slow turn so he could see everything. He may not have been a jealous guy, but she wondered what he really thought about all the paint on her tits and other places. Obviously, a lot of the guys at the party had fun with her. She just needed to make sure he never found out exactly how much fun she'd had.

"Looks like the guys really took advantage of their chance to get crazy," Don commented.

"I thought you didn't want to know anything."

"Now that I've had a better chance to see just what they did to you, I have to admit I'm curious. I kind of want to know, even though I don't.

"You know I'll tell you anything you want to know, but I'd rather not waste our time up here talking about other people. And it wasn't just the guys painting me."

Cassie moved between his legs and rested her hands on his shoulders.

Don ran his hand over her breast, tracing John's dragon. John was the one guy he had shown a little jealousy over, only because he knew too much about their hookup in the past, and because John made it clear he'd love another shot—always disguised as a joke, of course.

"But I know a guy did this one. And I can guess who," Don said.

"You know it was just all in fun, right?"

"I know for you it was—though I know you well enough to know you enjoyed every second of the attention."

"You have nothing to worry about, babe." The Joker flashed through her mind, but Don truly had nothing to worry about. She loved him—one bad decision didn't change that.

"Oh, I know."

Don traced the leaf between her legs and then grabbed there, giving a strong squeeze. All the fun she'd had earlier did not matter. She was still very horny. She pushed back against his hand and steadied herself on his shoulders.

"That," she said, referring to the leaf, "was not one of the guys. That was Sonja."

"Mmm, now that sounds like something I wish I'd been there for."

The room was already a little crowded, Cassie thought. "Oh, you'd like to see Sonja painting me?"

“What guy wouldn’t? Come on, Cass. You could sell tickets. I’m sure every guy in the room was staring when she did it.”

“They probably would have been, if we hadn’t been alone.” Cassie didn’t know why she teased him with that. It was venturing into dangerous territory.

“Oh really?”

“Sonja cornered me.”

“It sounds like she was doing a lot of that tonight.”

“How do you know the Joker didn’t just grab her and have his way?”

“Because I know Sonja. She knows how to make what she wants happen, and no one takes advantage of her. Sonja is always in control.”

Cassie thought about that and wondered if Sonja running into her in the hallway wasn’t a coincidence after all. If it wasn’t, the Joker probably did not just happen upon them either. She started to believe her friend had set her up for a threesome. Cassie knew she should be mad, but it was hard to be angry when she had had so much fun.

“So, what did Sonja do besides paint you?” Don tugged at the zipper on the front of her coverall.

“What makes you think she did anything more than paint me?” Cassie asked nervously.

“Sonja didn’t have to get you alone just to paint you.”

“I guess not, but it was more fun that way.”

She could tell Don was fishing for something, but she did not know how he would respond to even a fraction of the truth. He knew she had been with women in the past, and he always—half-jokingly—bugged her for a threesome for his birthday, but that didn’t mean he would be cool with her going off for a quick hook-up with Sonja without clearing it with him first. He probably thought there was nothing to tell, so it was safe to tease him a little bit, she decided.

“She wasn’t exactly shy while she was painting me,” Cassie continued.

“Meaning?”

“Her hands wandered a bit, and I didn’t stop her. It felt good.”

“You dirty girl.”

“Just a little bit.”

Cassie pressed her knee forward and felt the effect the image of Sonja groping her had on him. The coverall hung open, and she pulled it from her shoulders. It was simple enough to step out of. Don helped her out of her panties, and she pulled the cami off—it was the second time that night she was stripped, and she was just as excited as the first time.

“It’s a shame Sonja didn’t do any painting on the inside,” Don said, running his hands down her sides, and over her flat tummy. She loved the way he touched her.

They hooked up on their first date and when he caressed her, she wanted to throw him down and fuck him right there in the car. It took all of her restraint that night—restraint she did not need now. She pushed him backward on the bed and straddled him.

Cassie leaned over him for a hot kiss and Don scooped both her breasts into his hands, rolling her nipples in that way that always made her tremble. He pinched and pulled them harder. She moaned into their kiss. She ground her pussy down against his bulge and wished his costume wasn’t between them. She broke their kiss and hung her head, enjoying his touch before whimpering, “You are wearing way too many clothes.”

“Let’s do something about that,” he agreed.

Don rolled Cassie onto her back and made short work of his costume. When his boxer briefs were tossed onto the floor, he grabbed one of the paintbrushes from her box of supplies but did not dip it. He trailed the tip down between her breasts. She closed her eyes, lost in his wonderful teasing.

“What do you think you’re doing? There’s no paint on that brush,” she sighed.

“Does that really matter?”

The brush did carry traces of red paint, leaving faint lines as Don traced in spirals on her breast, tightening until he flicked it over the hard pebble of her nipple. The wet brush was firm enough that it almost felt like the tip of a downy soft tongue teasing her nipple. Don went back and forth, teasing both nipples and Cassie arched her back off of the bed. The static charge of pleasure shot straight from her nipples to her pussy with every swipe of that brush, driving her mad. She blindly reached out and found Don’s cock, several thick inches of wonderful meat she wanted inside her. Cassie was so turned on by all the night’s activity that she did not need to be teased. Her cunt was slick and ready for Don. She stroked his prick, drawing him closer, hoping he would take the hint and stop the teasing.

“Christ, I’m never going to get over how incredible you look naked,” Don marveled. Although they’d been together for a few years now, he always reacted to her nude body like he was seeing it for the first time and couldn't believe how lucky he was. It was certainly good for a girl's ego. Cassie was so lucky to have a guy like Don. That made it so crazy that she would risk everything by losing control like she did in the basement. She could never put herself in that position again.

"Baby, please stop teasing me. I'm ready," Cassie pleaded.

"I've been thinking about this all night. I'm in no rush."

Don began kissing his way down her supine body and she panicked, realizing his intentions. She could not allow him to do that, not after what she had done with the Joker. Cassie grabbed him forcefully by his shaggy dark hair and insisted, "I mean it. I need you to fuck me. Now."

"Wow. I guess all that attention really did get to you," he chuckled, pushing her legs back against her chest.

"I don't know. I don't care about anyone else's attention. I want you."

"Alright already!"

Cassie cried out and gripped the sheets in both hands when he rammed it into her. Don slid in smoothly like he was meant for her—like she'd been waiting for his cock all her life. The bedsprings were impossibly loud once they got going, and she hoped no one would hear them and look in to see what was going on. The last time an unexpected guest had come into the room things took a bizarre turn. Her legs were over Don's shoulders, and he took her urgently, plunging deep inside her, balls bouncing on her thighs with every powerful thrust. He was a man possessed.

"You're thinking about Sonja touching me, aren't you?" she gasped.

"Uhn, maybe..."

"You want to see her hands all over me, don't you?"

"Yes..."

"And kissing me." It was hard to form the words between her moans, but she did it, knowing how hot it was making Don.

"Fuck yes..."

"It was so hot. I wish you'd been there to watch us."

"She made you cum, didn't she? Sonja licked your pussy," Don growled. Imagining Cassie and Sonja together had turned him into an animal.

"Yes! Yes, I came so hard, baby. It was so hot." Cassie wasn't faking her enthusiasm. She did cum hard when she was with Sonja. It was just that Sonja was not the only reason. The threesome was one of the hottest things she'd ever experienced.

Don pulled out and flopped onto his back, demanding, "Fuck me, Cass. I want to watch you."

Cassie climbed on top and pushed down onto his shaft. She loved riding him. He pierced her so deeply this way. She worked her hips, drawing off of him and then pushing back down in a sultry rhythm. He held her hips but moved his hands to grasp her taut ass, urging her forward onto his cock. She saw the look in his eyes and knew he was picturing her and Sonja together as he watched her. She closed her eyes and reveled in the intense pleasure his invading cock radiated through her body.

The sound of the door catching drew her attention and Cassie opened her eyes to find Ellen standing there in the shadows, watching them fuck. Don had not noticed, and Cassie tried not to stare, lest he figure out they weren't alone and stopped. The women's eyes met briefly, enough for each of them to acknowledge the situation. Ellen made no move to leave the bedroom but leaned against the wall and began unbuttoning her pretty, floral, 50s-style dress. The way it clung to her breasts and flared at the waist; it flattered her figure perfectly. She was every inch a sexy June Cleaver. With the dress pulled open, Cassie spied a lacy black bra, which strained to contain her copious cleavage and matching panties. Ellen's hand slipped inside those panties, and her lips formed a surprised "O" as she began touching herself. Ellen was every inch the prim 50s housewife in that costume, which just made watching her touch herself seem all the dirtier.

"Mmm, I bet you'd love to watch me with Ellen, too. You want to see me play with her big tits?" Cassie teased. Her gaze flicked from Don to Ellen. Her friend smiled. Ellen was full of surprises. Cassie had no idea Ellen was so wild. She certainly had no clue her friend was into something this crazy.

"Yeah, that's sexy baby," Don groaned. "That would be the hottest thing ever."

Cassie was not surprised by his reaction. Ellen was right up his alley—curvy, dark-haired. Cassie was anything but his usual type. "What would you do if she was here right now?"

"I don't think I could just watch."

"No? You want to play, too?"

"Can I?"

“If you’re a good boy.”

“I promise I’ll be good.”

“Maybe we’ll both use you.”

“Please...”

“You can lick her pussy while I ride you. Your cock is mine.”

“Oh fuck, Cass...”

Don grabbed her hips again and fucked Cassie violently up and down on his cock. Each temblor of pleasure roiled her brain. She could no longer speak. And it looked like Ellen was right there with her. Ellen bit the side of her hand, but still whimpered as her fingers worked furiously in her panties. The women climaxed at the same time, and Ellen’s throaty moan was lost in Cassie’s high-pitched cry. Cassie arched her back and jammed down on his shaft. Don never heard their observer. He came just after the women and his own orgasm consumed him. Cassie fell onto Don and held his face to hers so she could peek at Ellen, but he could not. She wasn’t sure why she wanted to keep her friend’s presence a secret, but she was keeping a lot of secrets tonight. She watched Ellen button her dress and silently slip out of the room.

“I love you, baby,” Cassie cooed, proving it with a long hot kiss.

“I love you, Cass. I’m so lucky to have a sexy woman like you.”

Cassie wanted to cuddle with him on that bed, but they were not at home. “We should probably go back downstairs. It seems like we’ve been up here for a while.”

“People are too busy talking about Sonja to notice us,” Don said. He turned serious. “You were making all that up about Sonja, right?”

Cassie smiled wickedly. “You’ll never know.”

“Very funny.”

“What about Ellen? Seems like you’re pretty hot for her.”

“I think being with you two would be hot. I could follow the rules,” he eagerly replied.

“If anything like that ever happens—and I do mean if—I doubt it will be with anyone we know.”

“She might be into it,” he insisted.

“But her husband probably wouldn’t be.”

Don chuckled. “He doesn’t need to know.”

“Right.” She drew the word out. “We need to get out of here.”

They dressed in the semi-darkness. Cassie had spent a lot of time that night getting dressed and undressed. Don went downstairs to grab a drink, while she diverted to the bathroom to clean up—yet again. When she came out, Ellen was waiting for her.

“Care to explain what that was all about?” Cassie asked, leaning her shoulder against the wall and crossing her arms over her chest. She wasn’t really angry—she honestly didn’t know what to think—but she felt she had the right to give Ellen the third degree.

“I heard you going crazy again and decided to find out what it was all about.”

“What do you mean again?”

“You know what I mean.” Ellen looked very pleased with herself.

Cassie just stared while she tried to control her rising panic. She thought she could trust Ellen, but if she knew, who else did? She admitted nothing.

“Don’t worry, I don’t think anyone else knows. I saw you guys slip into that room and then saw the Joker go in there. I listened at the door and recognized your voice, but no one else was there. Someone saw the other two leave, but no one saw you.”

“So, you listened at the door?” Now that she knew she hadn’t been found out, Cassie was curious about what was going on with her friend.

“It sounded hot. I couldn’t help myself.”

“And you thought it was hot, just listening?”

“Well, I wasn’t just listening. I was picturing what was going on in there. Even if it was only half as hot as I imagined it must have been pretty incredible.”

Cassie couldn’t suppress her smile. “It was hot. It was so...” She caught herself. “It was wrong. It can’t happen again.”

“I don’t think I can go through life that way.”

“You don’t need hot strangers anyway, not with a guy like Don.”

“So, you enjoyed our little show?” Cassie was glad for the subject change. She did not want to discuss what she did wrong.

“Watching was even hotter than listening.”

“You’re a voyeur. I would have never guessed.”

“Why? Because I’m a nice girl? Nice girls like to be bad, too. Why didn’t you let Don know I was there? Were you afraid he’d invite me over?”

“Maybe. I don’t know. It felt hotter to just have you there watching.”

“And touching myself?”

Cassie blushed. She was not used to talking about these sorts of things so openly. It was one thing to just do crazy, spontaneous things. It was another thing to analyze them. That made her squirmy. But Ellen was waiting for an answer. Finally, Cassie admitted, “Yes.”

“I’m glad we all enjoyed it. Don’t worry, I won’t say anything to Don about this either.”

“Just one thing,” Cassie said. As long as they were talking about this, she might as well satisfy her curiosity. “Why did you just watch? Why didn’t you join us?”

“I wanted to save something for next time.” Ellen smiled and kissed her cheek and went downstairs to rejoin the party.

Next time, Cassie thought. She was sure there would be no next time. But then again, she knew Don would love it, and maybe if she did this for him it would erase her guilt about the threesome with the Joker. Did it work that way? Could one sin wash away another? If Ellen was serious, maybe Cassie would find out.

For now, Cassie just wanted this crazy night to be over. She went down to collect Don and go home. She hoped she would wake up tomorrow and this whole night would turn out to be one wild, sexy dream.

ANA'S FORBIDDEN FANTASY

The plan began forming in my mind when my wife Ana finally told me about one of her most forbidden fantasies. I couldn't get it out of my mind from that first moment. We have an amazing sex life and have opened up about many of our fantasies, which had led to some fun times in bed. The reason Ana was tied spread-eagle to our bed was that I told her about my fantasies of dominating her. When we tried it the first time, she found that being tied down and teased made her climax harder than ever before. Since I'd met Ana about six years ago, she'd gone from a somewhat shy, naïve girl to a very sexual woman. More than once she's marveled at how much her eyes have opened in our time together.

Ana moaned and gasped as I lightly stroked her g-spot with two fingers curved up inside her. I'd teased her super-sensitive nipples until she begged for mercy before I moved on to her pussy. Maybe I'm biased because she's my wife, but I think Ana's tits are perfect. They are a firm, big handful, capped by puffy, dark nipples that seem to harden at the slightest provocation, which embarrasses her in the wrong situations. But I have to confess, I get hard every time I see those nipples showing through her top. I had her dripping wet and begging for release before I even started touching her cunt.

"Oh God, oh please..." Ana gasped as I played with her pussy.

"Not until you tell me something," I whispered, rubbing her g-spot in little circles. Smiling, I also pressed on her clit with the base of my palm. She cried out and pulled hard against the straps securing her wrists to the headboard. We now have rings set into the bed for those restraints.

"Anything, God anything, just..."

"Tell me a fantasy, honey. Tell me your deepest, darkest desires," I cooed into her ear.

"I...I...I've already told you my fantasies...ohhhhh...please, sir..."

It was true. Ana had told me many things she'd fantasized about over the years, from being with another woman to having sex outdoors in a park, and we'd done many of them, but I didn't believe she'd told me everything. I was sure there were things I hadn't discovered yet. "Tell me, Ana. I can keep you like this for hours."

"No, please no!" She arched her back off the bed, pushing herself at my fingers.

"Then tell me. What have you fantasized about that's so crazy, so dirty, that you've never admitted it to anyone?"

"I...I..."

I leaned in and circled her nipple with my tongue before briefly sucking it into my mouth, but only for a moment, and Ana moaned with frustration. "Tell me, Ana."

"Ohhh...God...two...two men...I've wondered..." Ana was unable to finish speaking because at that moment I started fingering her rapidly while rubbing her clit with my thumb. She totally lost it, thrashing on the bed and pulling hard against all her restraints. I know she hates not to be able to touch me and that's part of the thrill of tying her down. I turned her head toward me and pressed my aching cock into her mouth. Ana immediately sucked me hungrily.

She did not need to finish her sentence. I knew what my wife was trying to say, and it did not surprise me. A few times I'd used a dildo on her while she was sucking me and that really seemed to make her crazy. I waited for her to say something about it, but she never did. Typically, I need to bring these things up anyway. Ana still hasn't completely shed her strict Catholic upbringing. I'm not sure it's so uncommon for a woman to fantasize about having two men ravish her. What man doesn't want to experience two women? I'm sure she was afraid it might hurt my feelings if she ever confessed, she'd thought about sex with another man, but it didn't. I'm an open-minded guy.

Ana came very quickly and very hard after that and I kept fingering her until she had another orgasm. She almost choked on my cock when she came, and I had to pull back for her. I'm a couple of inches larger than average, but I'm no porn star. If she relaxes and tries, Ana can deep-throat me. She kept sucking me until I was sure I was going to cum and then I pulled out of her mouth and shot my load all over her tits. She was shocked the first time I told her I wanted to come on her, but now Ana looked up at me with lust as I finished on her firm chest.

When we were finished making love that night Ana snuggled against me in bed, lightly tracing her fingers through my chest hair while I stroked the small of her back. There's nothing I love more than the feeling of our hot skin pressed together after a night of incredible sex.

"When I told you about my fantasy, it was because I was so turned on, you know? I mean, you know you're all I need, right?"

"Honey, you don't have to worry, I know that. I like it when you open up like that."

"I know, but something like that is crazy."

"But it is a fantasy you have."

"Sometimes, but it's just a fantasy, that's all. I bet it would just be awkward in real life. It's probably one of those things you only should fantasize about."

"Probably," I agreed.

I may have agreed, but I couldn't stop wondering what it would be like. I'll admit I'm probably strange, but there's nothing on Earth that turns me on more than testing Ana's sexual boundaries. Could I handle seeing Ana with another man, even if I was part of the action? I don't know. I'm not jealous by nature but seeing your wife intimate with another man could be tough for anybody. I'm very secure in our love and our marriage and I'm sure she would not run off with the other guy, no matter how good the sex was. And it's not like I would just lay back and be watching. I decided that I could handle it. If it got Ana off, it's something I could do. But I thought just to be sure a test might be in order.

One Saturday night when Ana and I were going out for drinks and dinner I encouraged her to dress especially sexy. She always looks hot, but that night I made sure she would be a treat to any man who laid eyes on her. She wore the proverbial little black dress. It was a little black silk dress that hugged her curves. Four-inch pumps completed the outfit, and she wore her thick, dark hair down, so it fell past her shoulders. Ana's mother is from Panama, giving her smooth olive skin and long black locks, which she wears with auburn highlights. She is a petite, curvy beauty, just like her mother. Her father is an American engineer who met her mother while he was down in Central America on business. Ana has lived in the United States since she was nine and only speaks with the faintest trace of an accent. She never fails to turn heads and I knew she would be impossible to resist in that little black dress.

We went to a trendy new restaurant about an hour away, which friends had told us about. I purposely stayed away from our familiar haunts so no one would recognize us. There was a wait for a table, which was fine with me. I wanted to wait at the bar. After ordering Ana a glass of wine, and a whiskey for myself, I checked my phone and told Ana I'd just received a work email and had to make a quick call.

"Don't take too long, or maybe I'll let someone else buy me dinner," Ana teased, kissing my cheek.

"I'll be back as soon as I can, but feel free to have some fun until I get back."

"What do you mean?" she replied suspiciously.

"I know you have fun flirting. Maybe you'll make a new friend while I'm gone."

Ana smiled wickedly and said, "You are incorrigible. One of these days your love of games is going to backfire on you."

"But not tonight. I know whom you're going home with."

"That's what you think?" Ana punctuated her last comment by downing her entire glass of wine.

The truth is that since we've been together, and Ana's built her sexual confidence, she's found that she enjoys flirting. She's told me a couple of guys at work have crushes on her and I told her I don't mind her flirting as long as they understand it's just that—and it stops there. I actually like that other guys lust after my wife. It's a great ego boost. I know some of the male halves of our couple friends lust after my wife too, and I've seen her get very flirty after a few drinks, but it's all in good fun. Usually, it leads to their wives flirting with me, so I can't complain.

I went out to the lobby where it was quiet and waited there for about ten minutes, going over my fantasy football trades. I figured that would be enough time for someone to notice my sexy wife on her own at the bar. I returned to the bar and slipped into a back corner where it would be hard for Ana to pick me out of the crowd. I didn't want her to change her behavior because I was there.

Ana sat at the bar with a fresh glass of wine, which I figured had to be her third. I knew sitting on that stool would show off her tanned legs. Sure enough, I could see some tall blonde guy checking her out for a minute or so before he went over to introduce himself. He was pretty built and looked like a surfer type. Ana smiled up at him as he started speaking to her and I could tell she found the stranger attractive. From where I was, I couldn't hear a word of their conversation, but it seemed to be going well because he stuck around. Although he was careful not to get caught by her, I saw him looking over Ana's body every chance he got. Her neckline plunged to a point that revealed a tantalizing couple of inches of cleavage, and as if that wasn't enough to draw attention, she wore a lariat necklace to make sure the eye was drawn to her chest.

After a few minutes, I could see he was casually touching Ana's arm and when they both laughed at some joke, he moved closer to her, and his hand dropped from view. Through breaks in the crowd, I could see his hand now rested on her knee, which my wife did not seem to mind. She kept touching his arm as she spoke too, and I knew she liked this stranger. It was a little odd to watch my wife so openly flirting with an attractive stranger when she thought I wasn't around, but surprisingly I wasn't jealous of their little touches. I was actually turned on to see Ana glorying in her sexual power. There was a hint of danger that wasn't there when she innocently flirted with a friend.

The stranger leaned into Ana, moving his hand to her hip and he whispered something very close. I could imagine he might have even brushed her ear with his lips. It gave me a nervous, jolting thrill. He did not pull back until Ana pushed him away and she smiled as she shook her head. I could tell she'd just politely turned down a proposition. After the surfer dude slinked away, I pushed through the crowd and rejoined my wife.

"Miss me?" I asked, greeting her with a kiss.

"Not really. I had company. Another minute or two and I might not have been here anymore," she teased.

"Really?"

"I had quite an interesting offer to see someone's beach house."

"You'll have to tell me all about it," I said innocently.

"You already know the broad strokes, or wasn't your view good enough?" When I looked at her quizzically, she said, "I knew you were over in the corner watching the whole time. Give me some credit. I know your games. I almost kissed him to see how long you would just sit back and watch." Her smile told me she wasn't angry.

"I was curious what would happen if I left my sexy wife alone in a busy bar."

"You weren't worried some handsome stranger would come along and sweep me away?"

"I was sure someone would try, but I know you love me. You're not really going anywhere."

"You're awfully confident, but also right." She kissed me. "So did you enjoy the show?"

"Yeah, I have to admit, it was kind of sexy to see you like that. It looked like you were having fun."

Ana blushed. "Sure, it was exciting to flirt with some stranger like I was single. I didn't do too much of that when I really was. It was like my second chance. It made me feel sexy, but it was weird too. I felt a little guilty even though I knew you were right over there. I told Evan I was married, and he didn't care! He still wanted me to leave with him."

"And did you want to?"

"No!" I swear there was a moment of hesitation. Did visions of Evan kissing Ana flash through her mind like they did mine? "But I do want you to get me home as fast as possible," she finished.

We rushed through dinner and when we got home that night the sex was hot. We barely made it through the front door and did it in the living room the first time. Ana was bent over the back of the couch with her dress up around her waist as I took her from behind and while we fucked, I taunted her with dirty talk.

"You liked flirting with Evan, didn't you?" I grunted.

"Yes, honey. It made me hot. It made me feel sexy!" Ana moaned.

"You thought about him taking you home and fucking you like this, didn't you?"

"Uhn...uhnnnn...yessss...Yes! Does that make you hot, Jim? Are you hard thinking about Evan fucking me?"

My cock throbbed when she said that, and I rammed it into her harder. Without thinking I said, "Yes! Yes! Oh, fuck!"

We only lasted another minute or two and both came hard. Afterward, we went up to the bedroom, stripped, and started things all over again. We made love three times that night and fell asleep both exhausted. The next morning Ana told me she enjoyed our little game, but if we ever played it again, she wanted some warning. She seemed surprised by how into it I was.

“Did it really turn you on, watching me flirt with that guy?” she asked.

“Of course, it did. Seeing other men want you turns me on. You know that.”

“And what about the other part? You know for a lot of people flirting doesn’t just end with flirting. What if we did that again and the guy wanted to do more than flirt? Were you really thinking about me and Evan together last night?”

I had to be honest. That’s why we work so well. “I was. Yeah.”

“And that turned you on?” Ana sounded surprised. “Is that something you might really want, to see me with another man?”

“No, it’s not like that. I couldn’t just sit back and watch. Honestly, I’ve been thinking about what it would be like to share you with another man ever since you told me about your fantasy.”

“I knew that would come back to haunt me.” Ana smiled.

“It’s not bad. I think it would be hot.”

“It’s a crazy fantasy, that’s why I never mentioned it before. I don’t know that I could really even do it. It sounds overwhelming.”

“Or overwhelmingly hot. You’ve changed a lot over the last few years, honey. I don’t know that you even know what you’d really do.”

“Maybe you’re right,” she admitted. “I spent most of my life thinking anything other than missionary position in the dark was dirty and wrong. Now that my mind is open to all the possibilities, who knows what I might enjoy? I know I’ve told you I’m up for anything, but that sounds scary. I mean, I wouldn’t even know what to do with two men at once.”

“I think it would be more about what we’d do to you.”

“We don’t have to worry about it. We are not inviting any of our friends into bed and I have no idea where we’d find an acceptable guy who’d jump into bed with us. This one is probably going to stay in fantasy land.”

We did not get the chance to go out and have men hit on Ana like that again, but over the next few weeks I brought her fantasy up again while we were in bed. I used the dildo on her while she blew me and even had her lick it while I was fucking her—all the while talking about there being another man there. Ana got off on exploring the fantasy in bed, but we did not talk about going further than fantasy. I could tell she was really into it, but she would never ask me to set it up in real life. Usually, when I want to try something new, I sort of make it happen, and then if she balks, I stop it. It's a system that's worked well for us but going that route to introducing another man to our bedroom would be tough. If she did chicken out, he would have to be cool enough to leave. Even with those risks, I was confident enough that Ana was ready to try it if I made it happen.

The first hurdle was to find this "cool guy," who wouldn't be pushy when invited into our bedroom and would be willing to bow out if Ana got cold feet. I might have been more comfortable with someone we knew—someone I knew I could trust—but Ana made it clear that was out of the question. She would never be able to face them again, so it had to be a stranger. Still, it was fun thinking about which of our friends would most like to fuck my wife. I had a friend from college who would have jumped at the chance—never fully hiding his interest in Ana's hot body—but he was not her type. A couple of the husband-halves of the couples we knew had probably already fantasized about Ana like that, but my wife would never do anything like that behind their wives' backs—even if she would consider a friend.

This man also had to be someone I knew my wife would be attracted to. I'm a bit over six feet with brown hair and a goatee and I keep myself in moderate shape, and obviously, she's attracted to me. I thought about the exes she'd described too, but I didn't see much of a pattern there. Besides, shouldn't it be a really hot guy if I was thinking about treating my wife? It was weird to be thinking in terms of hot guys. I thought about her friend Evan from the bar. She really liked him, so with that in mind, I created an ad on AdultFriendFinder.com and posted something on Craigslist. I did not post pictures of Ana, which I knew would make my search harder, but I didn't feel comfortable throwing those out there. I would provide pictures if I got to that stage. My Craigslist ad read: Husband seeks special surprise for his wife. She is late 20's, petite, 34C-24-35, long black hair, tanned, very sexy. Please respond with pictures and how you plan to make her feel special. Replies came pouring into the special email address I set up for this project and I spent quite a lot of time looking at pictures of guys, which was no picnic for me, especially since so many of them included pictures of their dicks! It was so strange to be picking the guy whom I would be sharing my wife with.

I narrowed it down to five, based on pictures and what they had to say for themselves. I replied with a little bit about Ana and me and included some pictures of my wife, a few of her dressed up, and some sexy pictures we'd taken in the bedroom. I blurred her face, but I knew she would not be happy I was sharing those intimate pictures with others. Hopefully, she would see it as being in service of a good cause. I corresponded with those five guys by email and then spoke to three of them on the phone. From there I decided on one and we met for drinks one night after work.

His name was Kyle, and he was a little younger than us, just a couple of years out of college. He was taller than me and had light shaggy hair. He worked as a field analyst for an environmental clean-up company and had that sort of laid-back nature boy vibe. Kyle had said in his emails that he kept in shape by hiking and mountain biking almost every weekend, and even in a company polo, I could see it was true. We ordered beers and I asked exactly what he expected.

"I don't know, man," Kyle said, drawing off his pint of craft brew. "I was poking around on AFF because I like my girl's kind of kinky. I wasn't really looking for anything like this, but I thought your profile sounded intriguing and if you weren't lying about your wife's looks, she sounded hot. I was not disappointed when I got the pictures. I'm still curious about what she really looks like, though. Her face was blurred in every one."

I lifted my phone from the table and found a picture of Ana and me from the company Christmas party last year. She was wearing a little red spaghetti strap dress—nothing too sexy for a work event, but hot enough that she would turn heads. That was for me.

Kyle whistled. "Damn, she's beautiful, dude. So, fucking sexy. It's cool to say that, right?"

"I never get tired of hearing it. Just so you understand, I'm planning a threesome. I'll be there, too. You're not going to have any trouble performing with another guy there, are you?"

"I don't think so. I've never tried anything like that, but I think I'll be so concentrated on her that I probably won't even notice you."

Exactly what I was looking for. "We've never done anything like this either, just to make that clear."

"You said that in your email. I get it, dude. You've been married for a few years, you want to spice things up a little. That's totally cool."

“I’m not quite sure how or when this is going to happen, but it will be a surprise for Ana. I have to tell you, there is a chance she’s not going to want to go through with it. If she doesn’t want to, I need to know you’ll be relaxed about it and just leave. She doesn’t have to do anything she doesn’t want to.”

Kyle nodded. “I’m with you, man. I would never try to push it. This is all about her, right? We want to make her night.”

“That’s totally it. You get it. It’s all about giving her an unforgettable night.”

“You do think she’ll be into it, don’t you? Like, she’s not going to run screaming out of the room.”

“Yeah, I think she’ll love it. But I want her to just feel it, not overthink it.”

“Right.”

“I know it’s weird for me to ask this of another guy, but you do know what you’re doing—in bed, I mean. I’m not asking for specific details...” It was so awkward to ask. I really didn’t want to sound like a pervert, but I had to ask. He was a good-looking guy, so I doubted he had trouble getting girls, but you never know.

“I’ve never had any complaints.” Kyle looked amused.

“That’s good. I think this is going to work. When I have it figured out, I’ll text you with the details and make sure you’re free, but please try and keep yourself open for the next few weekends.”

“Don’t worry, man. I’d cancel just about anything for this,” Kyle said. I liked his enthusiasm.

My next task was to figure out how to pull the whole thing off. Several scenarios went through my head, but most of them did not seem right. I knew I had to set it up and spring it on Ana but do it in a way that she wouldn’t chicken out before anything even got started. I had to make it okay for her to give in to her desire but give her an out if she did have cold feet. I decided it would be best if I did it in a way where we were already involved before she caught on to what was happening. I ran the risk that she would be furious with me for tricking her, but I was confident she would go for it and forgive my little deception. That might sound crazy, but I do know my wife. When we received an invite to a friend’s Halloween party, everything kicked into place for me. I had a devious plan.

Ana was excited about the party, and we had a lot of fun costume shopping. It was great to watch her trying on costumes, although she shot me a look when I suggested the Playboy Bunny costume. It was the classic black one-piece, low-cut in the front, high on the thighs, with the ears and the tail. While Ana complained it was too revealing, I don't think the costume we agreed on was much better. It was a Can Can girl outfit—basically a black and red striped corset with a frilly little skirt that hardly covered her butt, black ruffled panties, and fishnet stockings. It came with a sequined hairclip with a red feather and a black jeweled choker. I guess the little skirt and the ruffles made her feel less exposed. She looked incredible and I couldn't wait to show her off in that outfit. I chose a red-jacketed tux to look like a gentleman from the gay 90s.

"Are you sure this costume is, okay? It doesn't leave much to the imagination," Ana said doubtfully as she turned this way and that in front of the mirror. We were getting ready for the party. She paid particular attention to how her butt looked in the frilly skirt and ruffled panties, which would surely be exposed whenever she moved, but then the panties were meant to be seen.

"It's a little late to worry about that now. I think you look stunning and every woman at the party is going to hate you," I replied, pulling her into my arms. She only let me kiss her cheek so that I didn't smear her dark red lipstick. In her spiked five-inch heels she was the perfect kissing height.

"I don't want that!" Ana mock-protested.

"But every guy is going to be lusting after you."

"Well, that's not so bad. Just make sure you're at my side to keep them from getting fresh."

"Maybe just a little," I teased.

"I've warned you about your games. This might be the night it backfires, and I disappear with some stud."

I couldn't suppress my grin. "You never know."

The party was thrown by one of my co-workers, which meant that Ana did not know many of the people there well enough to recognize them in their costumes. That worked perfectly for me because I'd also invited Kyle to the party. I wanted him to get the chance to see and flirt with my wife instead of just going to a bedroom and I thought the party would be just the thing. Kyle told me he would be dressed in Navy whites. Women love a man in uniform, and he was no exception. I picked him out of the crowd immediately and noticed that most of the women at the party were checking out the tall, handsome stranger. Oddly, Ana did not seem to notice him until I pointed Kyle out.

“Looks like that guy could have his pick of the litter tonight,” I said.

Ana took her time looking him over before replying, “He’s okay, I guess. If you like that sort of thing.”

“Please, you want him as much as the other women here.” I know Ana well enough to read her expressions.

“He is pretty hot, but I have my own hot guy already.” She pulled me down so we could kiss. “Maybe if I was single, I’d let him buy me a drink,” she added playfully.

“Or if I leave you alone long enough, he’ll bring you one,” I teased.

“You’re terrible. Playing games in front of your co-workers isn’t a good idea.”

Under any other circumstances, I would have agreed. But the party—like the house—was huge, and it was one of those parties where everyone dressed risqué, drank, and mostly paid attention to their own fun

We went and grabbed drinks and I could see Kyle’s eyes following us. He gave me a knowing look when Ana wasn’t paying attention and I knew the game was on. Over by the punch bowl, we met up with a friend from work and his wife, both of whom Ana knew and we spent some time talking to them. After a while, the girls excused themselves to the bathroom, and Jon and I stood around talking.

“Can you believe that guy over there? I think he’s going to take Tanya home, or at least to one of the bedrooms upstairs,” Jon said.

“And while her husband’s home watching the baby,” I replied. He was referring to Kyle, who was in the corner talking to our office manager, who was moving closer to Kyle by the second. Tanya is an attractive blonde and the fifteen pounds or so she hasn’t lost from her pregnancy have only made her curves more luscious. She was wearing a tight lavender dress with little fairy wings on her back and knee-high boots with patterned stockings. Her blonde hair was piled on top of her head, and she looked like the call girl version of a fairy godmother. Her huge breasts, which she seemed to be pushing at Kyle, looked like they were going to burst out of her dress at any second.

“Yeah, it’s a shame. That’s why I would never let Carol go to a party like this by herself.” His wife, Carol, is a pretty redhead, but she’s a little skinny for my taste. She was dressed somewhat conservatively, in a baggy witch costume. The guests were encouraged to sex it up, but she refused. Jon was the jealous type anyway. I doubt he would have ever let Carol out of the house dressed like Ana was that night, but I noticed he kept checking my wife out whenever he thought no one was looking. I could tell Ana knew it too and enjoyed the attention.

“You don’t trust her?” I asked.

“I don’t trust guys. An operator like Navy guy over there would pour drinks down her throat and have her panties off before she knew what hit her. I don’t even recognize him. Who invited him?”

I was not going to admit he was my guest. “It hardly looks like he needs to make an effort with Tanya.” If anything, it looked like Kyle wanted to get away, but he was backed into a corner. Still, I thought it was good for Ana to see other women interested in him.

The girls rejoined us, and I noted Jon looking appreciatively at the jiggle of Ana’s chest—pushed up by her costume and the bra beneath it—as she walked. Jon and Carol went off to mingle and Ana and I were left alone.

“I don’t think Carol likes me anymore after the way Jon was looking at me, but she told me she found a sexier witch outfit and he wouldn’t let her wear it.”

“She can’t blame you for being hot, honey. And Jon is just paranoid. Because he wants to screw everything that moves, he just assumes everyone is like that. He’s afraid if anyone notices his wife, she’ll cheat on him.”

“And you’re not afraid of that? You don’t think most guys want to screw anything that moves?”

“Of course, they do, but I know you’re not going to let them—unless I’m in on it.”

“I guess I should consider myself lucky that my husband wants me to have sex with another man.”

“Only with me there,” I reassured her and repeated it.

I made a point to get separated from Ana later in the party. We were on the back deck, and I told her to stay put while I got us fresh drinks. Kyle knew that was his signal to go and flirt with my wife. He’d been pretty busy with a few other women, but he made sure to slip outside when he saw me come “in”. The unusually warm October night had started to turn cool, so they had the balcony to themselves. I did freshen our drinks, but I also stopped and chatted with a few friends on the way. I also managed to overhear some of the women at the party—some of them single, some of them wives—talking about Kyle, wondering who he was, and guiltily sharing what they would do to him, given the chance. I was pumped knowing that a guy who really could have his pick of the women at the party wanted to fuck my wife. Don't judge.

I stopped just inside the doors leading outside and saw Kyle and Ana by the railing, looking out into the night. He'd taken off his jacket and put it over Ana's shoulders, leaving him in a white tank top that showed off how built he was. He and Ana were standing very close and by their expressions, I could tell they were getting on very well. She kept touching his hand, which rested on the railing as they talked. The heavily spiked punch was affecting her. She always gets flirty when she's had a few drinks. Ana is definitely a love drunk.

Kyle said something and Ana laughed and put her hand on his chest. I thought maybe she was going to push him away, but instead, she was feeling his chest through the ribbed tank top, looking impressed by the time he spent in the gym. He flexed an arm and she felt that muscle too. I would have loved to hear what they were saying, but there was too much noise from the party behind me. She slipped one of her arms out of his jacket and giggled while she made a muscle, which he took his time feeling. By that point, I was positive Ana would like her present, so I went out and joined them on the deck.

"I was wondering where you got to," Ana said.

"I was tied up inside," I replied. Smiling, I added, "I see you weren't lonely."

"Hey, I'm Kyle. I hope you don't mind my keeping your wife company." We shook hands as we met.

"Not at all. I'm happy Ana had someone to keep her occupied."

"I'd better get back inside," Kyle said.

"It was nice meeting you," Ana said. She shook his hand and when he didn't leave, she realized she still had his jacket. "Oh, sorry," she said, sliding the jacket off her shoulders and handing it to him.

"No problem. It looks way better on you anyway."

After Kyle excused himself, Ana pulled me against her and kissed me hard. I could tell that flirting with the tall, handsome stranger had her fired up. I kissed her back hungrily. I was pretty horny too, knowing what would be happening soon. We made out like teenagers on the deck until it was just too chilly to stay outside. We stayed at the party long enough to be polite, but we were both eager to get home and be together.

On the car ride home, Ana unbuckled her seatbelt and slid across the front seat. She kissed my neck while running her fingers up the inside of my pant leg until she found my thickening shaft and focused her attention there. When she's fired up—and that night Ana was hungry for sex—she can be aggressive. Ana had me shaking before she even opened my pants. Once my cock was out, I tilted the steering wheel up and she went face down in my lap. Stray strands of her raven hair tickled my thighs as she licked my head like an ice cream cone before taking me in her warm mouth. Ana sucked softly, with plenty of tongue, and I knew she was just playing with me, just giving me a taste of what I had in store when we got home. If she only knew what she was in for! I reached over and slid a hand over her butt and between her legs. Even through those silly ruffled panties, I could feel how hot she was down below. She moaned into my cock when I rubbed her mound and sucked me harder. Ana bobbed faster and brought me right to the edge of cumming before she stopped.

"You're going to pay for that when we get home," I chuckled.

"I hope so," she smiled.

I told Ana I would lock up while she went upstairs. As I stood in our den by the unlocked patio doors, I had a moment of indecision. If I left those doors unlocked—as I'd arranged with Kyle—he would come in after fifteen minutes and join us upstairs. If he found the doors locked, he would just go away, knowing I changed my mind. Was I prepared to see my wife with another man? Would I be able to handle it? Could I be sure Ana wouldn't freak out and tell me to get lost? There was no way I could know any of those answers for sure, but I had placed my bet and I was prepared to let it ride. I left the sliding glass doors unlocked and headed upstairs to discover my destiny.

Ana had lit several candles around the room, filling it with a pleasant floral scent. Soft music from the Spa Channel on Sirius filled the room. It's a little soft and New Agey for my taste, but Ana likes it. She waited for me standing at the foot of the bed with her hands clasped demurely in front of her. Instead of going to her, I went to my dresser and opened the top drawer, where we keep our toys. She smiled when she saw the red silk blindfold and stepped forward so I could tie it securely over her eyes. I know from experience that she would be completely blind in the dimly lit bedroom.

"Undress me," I ordered, feeling that shiver of excitement that comes when I take control of my wife.

"Yes, sir," she replied quietly, a smile playing over her lips. Ana goes into the submissive role so easily and she loves it more than anything else we do in the bedroom. I was counting on her submissive streak to carry her through tonight. Her instinct would be to do as she was told, not question it.

It was always more fun when Ana undressed me while blindfolded. Her hands smoothed over my body, tracing its contours before she slipped my jacket off and let it drop to the floor. She kissed me while she unhooked my bowtie, which she tossed away. She took her time unbuttoning my ruffled shirt, kissing my chest as she worked her way down the buttons. The light touch of her fingers felt amazing, and she had chills shooting down my spine before she stepped behind me and pulled off my shirt. Her long nails trailed down my back and she kissed it. God, but she knows how to get me going and I barely resisted the urge to grab Ana and throw her on the bed. She walked back in front of me and dropped to her knees.

I've long felt there is no sight like Ana in front of me on her knees, even with the blindfold hiding her beautiful dark eyes. She smiled innocently as she fumbled with my pants, rubbing my cock through them before she found my belt and unbuckled it. My pants dropped and I stepped out of them and my shoes, kicking both away. Already she was reaching for my cock in my boxers. She had it out and was stroking it lovingly when I felt Kyle's presence in the room. Looking back over my shoulder I saw him standing in the doorway. Ana softly kissed the head of my cock and licked away a drop of precum before I told her to stand again. If my wife wasn't so good with her mouth, I might have lost my hard-on with Kyle there. It just felt odd to have my cock out with another man there, and I hoped I'd get past that. Self-consciously, I pulled my boxers back in place before turning to gesture Kyle into the room.

I nodded to Kyle to let him know everything was still good and then started the zipper down on the back of Ana's costume, telling her, "Undress."

Ana stepped away slowly, using her visual memory to avoid bumping into the furniture. Those are the silly little things people don't consider when blindfolding someone. It's not all just sexy moments. Kyle and I stood side by side and watched her pull the zipper down the rest of the way before turning to face us and pull the top away. She briefly held it in front of her chest before pulling it down to reveal a black, lace-trimmed strapless bra, which really gave her fantastic cleavage. She pushed it down over her hips and stepped out of it. Ana struck a sexy pose and then lost those frilly black panties too, leaving her in the bra, a tiny thong—her real underwear—the sexy stockings, and her heels. Kyle's eyes went right to the tiny butterfly on her bikini line and then the tiny strip of hair that showed through her sheer thong.

Goddam, she looked like a sex goddess. Kyle's jaw just hung slack as he took her in. Exactly the reaction I was hoping for, but I knew I'd stepped over a line at that point. Sharing pictures of Ana with a stranger was one thing, but now I had that man in our bedroom, watching as she stripped. I was far out on the ledge and had to hope that Ana would react the way I thought. If not, I was in serious trouble. This was a big moment for me. It was one thing to get turned on while other men checked out my wife in a club, or while watching her flirt with a stranger. Those were surreptitious thrills. I had it all going on in my head. But really, I was exposed here as much as Ana. Kyle knew my kink, he knew I was turned on by showing Ana this way. I had to wonder if he was judging, thinking I was crazy to be sharing my wife that way. I did have a moment of doubt just then, but those thoughts were crowded out of my brain when I looked at my wife standing before us half-naked and watched the way Kyle looked at her. He was very excited to get his hands on her. I was harder than ever before. The moment was more intoxicating than I ever imagined it could be.

While we stood watching, Ana touched herself. She slid one hand down over her smooth tummy and cupped a breast with the other. She moaned quietly while she rubbed herself through the flimsy thong, pressing while her fingers slowly moved up and down over her mound. When she reached back and unsnapped her bra one-handed, her strapless bra dropped away, revealing those luscious tits. Kyle looked ready to jump Ana, but he held back and waited for my signal. She squeezed both breasts and pinched her sensitive nipples as she leaned forward like she was presenting herself. When her hand went back down below, she pushed it inside her thong and pushed a finger between her lips to find her clit. Ana cried out and it looked like her knees were going to buckle. I knew she would get herself off if I let her go any longer.

I went to the toy drawer and fetched a shiny pair of handcuffs. Taking a hold of Ana from behind, I steered her into the middle of the bedroom and snapped the cuffs on her wrists behind her back, bringing a little giggle from her lips. With gentle pressure, I lowered her to her knees.

“What do you have in mind, sir?” Ana asked playfully. I hoped she wouldn’t regret showing her submissive side when she realized we weren’t alone.

I gestured for Kyle to get undressed and stepped forward to feed Ana my cock. I didn’t hesitate to drop my shorts in front of Kyle this time. I rubbed the tip across her lips, and it dragged over her cheek as she moved around and tried to capture it in her mouth. It was hard for her to get what she wanted with her hands cuffed behind her back. I toyed with her for a bit before finally letting her get me in her mouth. She sucked the head between those full, ruby lips and took her time before swallowing anymore. Ana really knew how to use her tongue and she had me weak in the knees. She did not take any more into her mouth until she could hear me moaning. While she wanted to go slow and tease, I was past that, and I held the back of her head while feeding my cock deeper into her throat. Ana adjusted and hollowed her cheeks as she sucked me harder. She could almost take my entire shaft but usually kept a hand around the base to keep control of the pace. That was not an option, and I pressed my prick until I felt the head in the back of her throat. She gagged for just a second, but then I pulled back and with both hands on her head I slowly fucked her mouth. Being used like that made her drip. It was so tempting to just cum in her mouth right there, but it was not the time yet. I was looking forward to seeing how Kyle reacted to my wife's skills.

Pulling out of Ana's mouth, I gestured Kyle closer to make my place. It was the moment of truth. I looked down and was pleased to see he wasn't that much bigger than me, just a bit thicker, but probably not any longer. His shaft stood out proudly from his well-muscled body and it waggled as he stepped closer to Ana. I wondered how long it would take for her to realize it wasn't me. He was shaved nearly clean, so if she swallowed enough of him, she would notice the lack of pubes, wouldn't she? I held Ana's head from the side and Kyle put his prick on her lips. She opened wide and immediately swallowed him. She moaned as she sucked him, bobbing her head as I guided her to take him deeper each time. Within seconds I sensed she knew something was wrong, but she didn't try to stop until she'd swallowed over half his cock. It smacked her in the face wetly as she twisted away, turning her head to look around as if she could see.

"What's going on?" Ana asked, licking her lips to get the extra drool off of them. "Who's there?" I nudged her head forward and Kyle's cock pressed against her lips again. When she turned away, my prick rubbed her cheek. "Jim, what's going on?" I thought there might be a little panic in her voice.

"I am making one of your fantasies come true," I replied, stroking her hair.

"I...I...who's here?"

"Ana, meet Kyle."

"Nice to, uh, meet you," he said mirthfully.

"Who's Kyle?" Her head moved blindly back and forth to follow our voices.

"Kyle's our new friend. Do you trust me?"

The minute it took her to answer was an eternity. "Yes," she replied hesitantly.

"Then just let go and enjoy it."

A longer pause. Ana was thinking it through, deciding if she was ready for this. The longer she waited the more I feared she was going to throw us both out of the house. I started to get nauseous when my wife finally said, "Okay, but let me see."

"Not yet," I told her.

"Please," she begged. It was not a demand, but the request of a submissive woman. I smiled. I knew she had let go.

"In good time."

I guided her forward again and Ana opened wide and swallowed Kyle. There was definitely something different in the way she sucked him. I think there was an excitement there I don't ordinarily see, but that made sense. It was the first time she'd gone down on a new man in a long time, after all. I am sure I would be just as excited to be with a new woman. She sucked him hard and deep, filling the room with wet sounds and her muffled moaning. Kyle was moaning as well, and he gently thrust into her mouth as I held her head for him. It was a little strange to be holding my wife's head so another man could use her mouth, but it was exciting too. If watching Ana flirt was a minor high, this was like doing a line of coke.

After sucking Kyle for a few minutes, Ana pulled back and turned her head to me. Kyle was right next to her, but I was still rock hard. I happily pressed my cock forward into her mouth and Ana sucked me with renewed lust. So, our session was affecting her! I let Ana suck me freely and was surprised when Kyle took the bold step to hold her head and guide her. It was so strange to see him brushing back her hair and guiding her back and forth on my shaft. He had her move faster and faster and drool ran from her lips. Ana just sucked me and gave over control to Kyle. I shook and moaned her name, and I couldn't help myself. I pulled out at the last second and shot my load all over her tits. She was a sexy mess, and I could see Kyle liked it.

"Oh God," Ana whimpered, sucking in a deep breath.

Kyle and I helped Ana to her feet and over to the bed. I uncuffed her wrists, but only to pull her arms out and slip her wrists into the restraints attached to our headboard. Kyle cuffed her left wrist while I cuffed her right. We left her legs free, but I did slide her thong off, leaving her with the stockings and heels. I told Kyle I would be right back and ran to the bathroom to get a warm washcloth. I thought he might hesitate to touch her tits if my cum was there, and I didn't want him to hold back. When I returned, Kyle was exploring my wife's body touching her everywhere, while she strained to get his hands where she wanted them. He leaned down and teased her lips with his. She tried her hardest to kiss him, but he just flicked his tongue over her lips and pulled back. Kyle already knew how to tease my wife perfectly. My cock was throbbing back to life as I watched them. I moved over and lovingly wiped down Ana's tits, cleaning her up.

Kneeling on her right, I turned Ana's face to mine and kissed her. She returned the kiss heatedly and pulled against her restraints because she wanted to touch and hold me while we kissed. While I kissed my wife, Kyle continued touching her body, running his hands up and down her. His fingers danced over her thigh, but he avoided touching her pussy when she twisted toward him. When I broke our kiss, Ana tried to chase my lips. I nodded to Kyle, and he turned her face to him for a kiss.

I froze watching my wife kiss another man. It was even hotter than watching him tease her. He stroked her cheek, and I could see Ana opening her mouth and really going for it, pressing her tongue into his mouth before he chased it back into hers. Maybe I was surprised and jealous because I expected her to be more hesitant, and more reserved at first, but she threw herself right into it.

The normal part of my brain told me to stop things, that it was insane to share my wife like this. It told me I was opening Pandora's Box and I could lose Ana. But the lust drug mainlined through me, the fear only feeding it. Ana probably would have screamed at me if I tried to stop it now anyway, and it was really about her. While she and Kyle made out, he massaged one breast and I teased the other one, caressing and teasing it with my fingertips. She shook and moaned into Kyle's mouth when I plucked at her tender, stiff nipple. I also lightly tickled her thigh and trailed my fingers across her swollen mound. I could feel she was already soaking wet, and she'd barely been touched.

Kyle pulled his lips from Ana's and kissed his way down her throat until he was down opposite me on the other side of my wife. We both were all over her tits—licking and sucking her nipples. Ana went crazy, twisting and turning and pulling hard against her restraints like she didn't know where to turn or what to do. She cried out wordlessly when my two fingers pressed into her with an audible squish. I fingered her slowly, finding her g-spot, while both Kyle and I mercilessly teased her tits.

"God! Ohhhh God! Oooo, please don't stop...ohhhhhh..." Ana cried.

I pressed my thumb on her clit and rubbed it roughly while I fingered her and noticed Kyle was lightly nibbling on her nipple. The stimulation from so many hands and mouths drove Ana over the edge easily and she howled as she climaxed powerfully. She arched her back and wailed as she came, fighting against the restraints every step of the way.

Ana did not even have a chance to catch her breath. Kyle moved down between her legs and pulled them over his shoulders. He spread her open with his thumbs and dove right in, stabbing out his tongue and swirling it deep inside her pussy. I kept right on teasing both her breasts, licking and sucking and nibbling one and then moving over to tease the other. I pinched and flicked her other nipple while I was busy sucking and licking the first. I could hear Kyle licking and slurping down below, but it was impossible to see what he was doing from where I was. Ana never seemed to calm down from that first orgasm and kept right on moaning and whimpering and crying out almost like she was just having one impossibly long orgasm. She was pulling against her restraints so hard I thought she was going to rip them out of the headboard.

"Oh, God! Oh God guys! Ohhh...I...I...guys...ohhhh...yesss..." Ana cried.

"Having fun?" I asked smugly.

"I...I...can't...take...it..."

We ignored her for a few moments more but finally gave her a break. We both backed off and looked down on her nearly naked, quivering body.

Her pussy was so red and swollen and her juices slicked her thighs, and I knew Kyle must have been doing a number on her.

“Please let me see,” she begged when she finally caught her breath. “Please free me.”

I decided that she had had enough. Besides, if she was going to get the most from this experience Ana should have the freedom to do what she wanted. I couldn’t control everything! Kyle and I freed her hands, and the first thing Ana did was rip off the blindfold. Once her eyes adjusted to the dim light in the bedroom, she looked Kyle over. She seemed very happy with his physique, especially when her eyes dropped to his lap. She did not recognize him at first, maybe because she hadn’t spent too much time checking out his face, but then the light of recognition dawned in her eyes.

“It’s you! This was a setup from the beginning, wasn’t it?” She shot me a look. She wasn’t thrilled to be deceived, but she was coming enough to forgive me.

“Guilty as charged,” I replied, holding up my hands in surrender.

“Good to see you again,” Kyle said. “I’ve been looking forward to this. You are sexy as hell.”

“Oh really? Are you a friend of my husband’s?”

“We met recently. You’re not mad that we set you up, are you?” I appreciated that Kyle wanted to make sure she was cool with everything. Ana just smiled and turned to me.

“Thank you, honey,” Ana told me before pulling me into a smoldering kiss. When she was done with me, she leaned forward on her knees and pulled Kyle into an embrace and kissed him. Their hands freely roamed each other’s bodies. She moaned when he played with her tits and when she grabbed his cock, he followed her lead and slipped two fingers inside her. Ana rotated her hips at him while stroking his shaft and massaging his balls. They kept kissing like horny teenagers as they groped each other.

Watching that was even more intense than when I just saw Ana sucking his cock while blindfolded. There she was just passive, taking what she was given, but here she was going for it. My wife was showing her desire for another man. She kissed Kyle. Ana grabbed his prick. Jealousy burned stronger in the pit of my stomach, but I still stayed put and focused on how hard it made me to see Ana in her sexual glory. My cock was throbbing, and I’d need a place to put it soon. It was so weird to feel that jealousy but be so turned on at the same time. Watching my wife flirt had not quite prepared me for how intense this would really be.

Ana pushed Kyle back and slowly kissed her way down his muscular chest. She circled his nipples with her tongue and then sucked them when Kyle groaned and wound his fingers through her long, raven hair. She moved lower, tracing the outlines of his defined chest with her tongue before she went even lower and took him back in her mouth. It made me wonder if she would be satisfied with me after being with this perfect physical specimen.

Now that she was in control, Ana took her time with Kyle's prick, swabbing the head with her tongue and then licking up and down his shaft like it was coated with sugar. Once he was nice and slick from her tongue, Ana buried her face lower and sucked on his big, shaved balls. Kyle hung his head back and looked like he was in heaven while my wife sucked on his nut sack.

"Oh shit, Ana. Oh, that feels so good," he moaned. Once she'd given both his balls equal attention, she smiled up at him and swallowed his cock. Ana slowly bobbed up and down and he pulled her hair back so he could watch his prick disappear into her beautiful face.

I watched Ana going down on Kyle for a couple of minutes, but then I decided it was time for me to jump back in. This was a threesome after all. Moving in behind Ana, I pulled her hips back and raised them in the air. Ana wiggled her nice, round bottom and I lined up and shoved right inside her. Her cunt was so wet and hot and locked right around my cock like she'd been waiting for it all day. Ana's mouthful of cock could not muffle her deep moans when I sank into her. I just held her hips and enjoyed the sensation of being inside her for a moment and she worked those muscles and slowly fucked back against my cock. I felt her getting even more heated and started moving—screwing Ana with long, slow strokes. I left only the head inside her before plunging my cock back deep. The long line of her back looked so sexy as Ana was stretched out between me and Kyle. She worked her hips back against me while noisily slurping Kyle's prick. He held both sides of her head, guiding her as she bobbed up and down. By her moans and body language it was pretty obvious Ana loved being trapped between two cocks and as I picked up my pace, she seemed to suck Kyle harder, and he was moaning his encouragement to her. She kept sucking right up until she came again and then she tore her mouth away from Kyle's cock. His wet shaft rubbed against her cheek as she cried out.

"Ohhh...God! Ohhhh...IIII..." Ana wailed. Her pussy locked around my shaft tightly and it took every ounce of restraint not to come right along with her.

Making the final big decision, I told Kyle, "Let's change position." Another man was going to fuck my wife. He nodded and we both slid away from panting Ana.

We all moved on the big, king-sized bed to find a comfortable position. Ana lay on her side while Kyle moved up behind her. Before he could do anything more, I pulled a condom from the drawer and handed it to him. Kyle fitted it on his shaft without complaint. She lifted a leg and bent it back over his while he pushed his prick inside her. He reached around and massaged her tits while he rocked his prick in and out of her. Ana leaned forward and grabbed my cock and put it back in her mouth. Damn, but she sucked me hard. It was so weird to feel her body moving with the rhythm of Kyle's fucking and it seemed that the harder she was screwed the more she got into sucking me. Ana massaged my balls and buried her nose in my groin. Her deep throating just about had me, but I really couldn't hold back when I felt the vibration of her screaming into my cock from the hard fucking she was receiving. Kyle rubbed her clit while he screwed her, and it easily made Ana come again. She screamed into my cock and almost choked. Ana pulled my cock back and I shot my load into her mouth. She swallowed hungrily and did not miss a drop. Finally, my spent prick slipped from her lips. Ana had a dreamy look on her face as Kyle pulled her back and took over.

Kyle kept his cock inside her as he rolled onto his back and pulled her with him. She lay back on his chest and he pumped his cock into her from below. It was a move that I'd only ever seen in a porn movie, and it looked pretty amazing in person. They only stayed like that briefly, though. Ana sat up and rode his cock reverse cowgirl. She started by just working her round Spanish booty and I knew Kyle had to enjoy that view as much as I always did. She gyrated her hips, working his thick shaft with her cunt until she had him twitching and jerking his hips up at her.

"Shit, Ana, that's too fucking good. Damn, girl, you're gonna make me cum," Kyle moaned, holding onto her shapely hips. I had a weird sense of pride seeing my lovely wife driving her lover crazy with her pussy.

"I'm not done with you yet, baby," she cooed, putting on a show for her new friend.

While moving her booty, Ana started sliding up and down his shaft, slowly at first and just a little at a time, but she must have liked the way it felt because she started moving faster and faster. Kyle roughly kneaded her ass with both hands, which really helped to get her off. If only he knew how much she likes to be spanked, I thought. He knew a second later!

"Spank my ass, baby! Spank it hard!" Ana moaned. She was leaning forward on her hands and really working her pussy back at him. I was mesmerized watching the way her breasts swayed as she rode Kyle's cock.

Kyle slapped his open palm against her ass, making the olive flesh jiggle and Ana cried out. He smacked that ass again and she squealed and thrust back against him harder. He really got into it and used both hands, alternating cheeks as he reddened her beautiful ass. I could tell he liked the little tart Ana was playing.

"Ooo...yesss! YES!" Ana cried. "Smack that ass...ooo baby...ooo yesss..."

"Fuck you're hot! Oh shit!" Kyle grunted. The more excited he got the less he held back, and he smacked her ass harder and harder.

"Oh, God! OH, GOD! I'm soooo close, baby! God don't stop!"

"Fuck yeah! Fuck yeah!" Kyle cried, bucking his hips off the bed. He kept slapping her ass with one hand while he grabbed the hair cascading down her back with the other. He must have just assumed that she would like her hair pulled if she liked a good spanking. He was right! He pulled her hair like a bridle and Ana loved it!

"Oh FUCK BABY! YES! YES! YESSSS!!!! AHHHH..." Ana screamed. She held nothing back. It was like my wife had forgotten I was even there as she enjoyed her young stud. She jammed her pussy onto his shaft as hard as she could, burying him inside her as she shook and wailed and fell forward onto her forearms as she climaxed. It was so amazing to see my wife's orgasm from an outside perspective. She really is the sexiest woman in the world. Her entire body looked like it was possessed by her passion, and she seemed to vibrate like a struck tuning fork.

"OH SHIT!" Kyle shouted. He pulled hard on her hair and rapidly pumped his hips until his whole body tensed and I knew he was coming too. I was glad I made him wear a condom, even though I know Ana hates them.

It was slightly awkward when the coming was done. Ana crawled over and snuggled into my arms, thanking me and telling me how much she loved me, which left Kyle as the odd man out. He didn't move and I wonder if he thought there would be a round two. Although I was hard again, that was not in the cards. I got out of bed first and pulled on my boxers, trying to ignore the tent in the front, and fetched Ana her robe. Seeing us cover up, Kyle got the hint and after a trip to the bathroom, he dressed quickly. My wife said her goodbyes in the bedroom.

"Thank you for an amazing night, Kyle. You've fulfilled one of my wildest fantasies," Ana said, hugging him. She stood up on her tiptoes and kissed him with plenty of tongue.

"Anytime. It was an incredible night for me too," Kyle replied.

Ana slipped back into bed while I showed our guest to the door. We shook hands and although I thought it was odd to thank another man for fucking my wife, thank him I did.

"Thanks, man. You were totally cool. You made Ana's fantasy come off without a hitch."

"Hey, I should be thanking you. Your wife is unbelievable. When I said anytime, I meant it. If you guys ever want to party again..."

"I'll let you know," I told him. Kyle's enthusiasm bothered me, I have to admit. If he was too into my wife, it could become more than just sex, and I did not want to go down that road. Once he was gone, I returned to the bedroom to find Ana nude in the middle of the bed. She held her arms out to me and I jumped into them.

We made love slowly, as Ana confessed, she was sore, and after we both had a final orgasm for the evening we lay in the bed, limbs entwined.

"I don't know what to say, honey. Tonight, was so amazing," Ana said.

"You keep saying that," I laughed.

"But it was! I mean, wow, it wasn't like anything I expected. I don't mean that in a bad way. It was hotter than I ever could have dreamed. I can't believe how crazy I got! It felt like I was possessed."

"It was pretty cool to watch. I'll never forget seeing you like that."

"So, you're okay with it? I don't want you to think that it means I want more--"

I stopped her right there. She did not need to apologize or make excuses for how she acted. I wanted her to have a great time and she did. "Ana, stop. It was just as incredible for me as it was for you. I wouldn't change a thing."

“Really? Nothing at all? Seeing me with Kyle didn’t bother you?”

“Sure, it felt weird. It wasn’t as simple as watching you flirt. I see that as harmless, and this wasn’t harmless. Taking things to this level is a risk.”

“What do you mean?”

I felt weak admitting my fears to Ana, but it was important to be open. “There’s just the risk that it could change us. What if you liked it better with him? What if I wasn’t enough afterward?”

“That’s insane. I love you. And making love with you is about way more than just fucking. You know that. Kyle was incredible in bed, but it could never be better than with you because he could never make me feel what you do.”

That was the perfect thing to say.

Ana went on. “Do you still look at me the same? Do you think I’m a slut now?”

“You are a slut.” I grinned. “You’re my slut and I love it! Nothing you do in bed like this can change the way I feel. I love you, Ana.”

“So, we’re good?”

“You’re not mad that I didn’t ask you first? I thought it might be better to just spring it on you.”

“I liked the surprise and you’re probably right—I might have chickened out if you asked me, and I’m glad I didn’t have the chance. Missing out on this would have sucked. It made me so hot to be helpless between you two. Besides, I had a clue you were up to something. You kept bringing this fantasy up and you’ve been acting weird for the last few weeks. Thank you very much for my surprise. I love you so much.”

“I love you, too. I’m glad you had a good time.”

“But next time, I want to be in on the planning,” Ana teased.

“Next time?”

“Unless you don’t want to...”

Of course, I wanted to. That crazy feeling had only just left me, and I wanted to experience it again already. “We’ll see. It’s my turn to have a fantasy fulfilled, though.”

“Mmm, tell me”

“Let me think about it,” I replied. I didn’t have anything in my head, but somehow I knew it would probably involve another threesome. Maybe we could even give Kyle a call...

QUEEN OF HEARTS

Finn had a strange feeling about the night. He could not quite put his finger on it, but there was just a weird something in the air that suggested the party could be far more interesting than he expected. Going into the party, he was nervous because he wasn't going to know anyone there except Alycia. They had been together for nearly a year, but for some reason, he had not met many of her friends, just one or two couples on double dates. Mostly, they hung out with his friends, which was fine, but he was curious.

The couple had met at work when the company had undergone a round of consolidation. Finn had seen Alycia around the office, and she'd caught his eye, but he had been dating someone else and he hadn't had an excuse to get to know her until he was assigned to her team as their graphic designer. Alycia was the account manager, which meant they worked closely together as she directed his work. Deadlines meant late nights, which turned into drinks after work, and intimate conversations followed. By the time they finally kissed, after a few weeks, it felt like they'd known each other forever. Alycia, to her credit, said it was about damned time he made his move. She was about to write him off. They tried to keep their relationship a secret at work, but of course, there were whispers—probably because they had trouble hiding their lust for each other.

Alycia thought Finn had potential when he joined her team, but she was not thinking about work. He was tall and thin, cute, with a little bit of a hipster beard going and unruly sandy hair. Guys like him weren't always respected in the corporate environment, but she knew how to handle creative types. Alycia was 33 and had not been in a serious relationship since an ugly divorce about a year earlier—and she was not looking for another one. But Finn, handsome and a couple of years younger than her, could be fun for a fling. She usually tried to keep it out of the office, but she couldn't resist his goofy smile.

Finn quickly learned that Alycia was not the buttoned-down corporate type he thought. First of all, she could drink any man under the table, and when a client tested her with ribald humor, she gave it right back. She was strong and confident, and not to be messed with. After they became involved and she shared the story of her divorce he wanted to feel bad for her, but her manner would not allow it. Besides, Alycia insisted on not dwelling in the past, at least not her painful past. She was, however, very interested in his past.

It started innocently enough, so to speak. They were in the front seat of his car one evening after work and Alycia had just gone down on him. Finn had a thick, strong eight inches of cock, but she had no problem swallowing the whole thing. Her raven hair, which fell to her waist when freed, was pulled back into the elaborate up-do Alycia usually wore for work. She deep-throated him and then bobbed up and down like it was no problem. Finn was impressed as not many girlfriends had been able to do such a thing. At first, he sat back and enjoyed the blowjob, but he was not a selfish lover and he leaned forward to slide his hand under her skirt. Her thong was pulled aside, and he found she was juicy already, so he slipped two fingers into her tight pussy. Alycia came first, but not by much. She climaxed, with Finn firmly rubbing her clit, just before she started swallowing his load.

"I guess you're not used to road head," she asked. Alycia sat back in her seat and sipped a bottle of water from her bag.

"It's not that. It's just that anyone could have seen us here. You don't want to get caught, do you?"

Finn had been nervous when she started coming onto him and was confused when she took his keys and unlocked his doors. She got into his car rather than hers. He objected when she started working on his pants, but those objections fell silent when she took his cock in her mouth.

"A little danger is a turn-on, isn't it?" She smiled cryptically.

"I guess so." He was pushing 30 and it had been a while since he'd done anything like that.

"So how many times?"

"How many times, what?"

“Road head. Blowjobs in the car. I want to know how many?”

“I don’t know. Why does it matter?”

“Just curious what kind of girls you’re used to.”

“I’ve had my fun.”

“I hope you’re not too shy, then.”

After that, Alycia regularly asked him about his past. How many lovers? Strange places? Ropes? Blindfolds? Threesomes? Finn was not sure how to take her questions, but he answered them—and asked his own. Alycia was just as frank as she expected him to be, and it was eye-opening. Finn had always thought he was more adventurous than the average guy. Yes, he had had threesomes. One of his girlfriends was bisexual and loved to bring girls home. He had even had a drunken threesome with a buddy and his girlfriend in college, an experience he enjoyed more than he would have thought. That night Finn learned he had a voyeuristic streak.

Alycia wanted to know how experienced her new boyfriend was because she wanted to know how he would take it when her past came out. She was used to being judged and if Finn was one of those guys, she figured she might as well find out before she became attached. He quickly became more than just a fling. Alycia’s attitude had always been if it feels good, why not? She thought girls were hot, and figured if sex with one guy was awesome, maybe two would be even better. She found out she was right.

Most of her wild adventures were left behind in college. Alycia married and settled down, but she knew her past always bothered her ex-husband, and when they divorced, he threw a lot of it in her face. That was why she was determined to have fun and not get attached again. She wanted to be free to do as she pleased, but then she met Finn and he was sexy and awesome, and she wanted to keep him around. Alycia was very relieved to find he was not the judgy type. If anything, he was always very turned-on hearing about her past adventures, and it led to incredible sex.

One night, just a few weeks ago, nude and slick with sex from a particularly vigorous session, Alycia asked, “Do you think you’d ever be into something like that?”

“I don’t know. Maybe if the mood was right. I think I’d probably want to talk about it first, though, rather than just have it happen. I’d want to make sure we were all on the same page.”

Their hot, sweaty night started with Alycia telling Finn about a night with one of her high school boyfriends and his best friend. The boyfriend was older and out of school and they'd been hanging out at his friend's apartment one night, watching movies and drinking. One thing led to another and the three of them ended up screwing right there in the living room. It was Alycia's first threesome, and it was one of the most intense ones she'd had because the boys had been rough with her—something she'd learned she loved. What had really surprised her that night, though, was that when the friend wanted to go again her boyfriend just sat back and watched. He even ended up leaving the room to get another beer. She dated that boyfriend all through her senior year and those threesomes became a semi-regular thing.

Alycia nodded, filing the information away. She didn't have any plans to do anything crazy kinky, but it was good to know where Finn stood if the situation presented itself.

"Why? Is that something you want to do again?" he asked.

"I don't know. Maybe, if the timing and the people are right."

"So, what if I didn't want to?" It was exciting to think about, but he didn't know if it was something he was prepared for. The last time had been so long ago, and with a girl, he did not care too much about. His feelings for Alycia were strong and he didn't want to go down some path where he might lose her. He did not know for sure if he was ready to share her, even if the idea made him start growing hard again.

"That would be okay. It's not something I feel like I need to do. It's just you know I spent a long time feeling restricted and I guess I want to know the possibility is out there." She also noticed he was getting hard but pretended not to.

"Sure, it's a possibility."

"It goes both ways. If there was something you really wanted to do—if there was someone you wanted to bring home—I'd totally be okay with it."

"Good to know, but you're all I want." Finn had to wonder how honest she was being. Was Alycia happy with just one guy? He was afraid to ask her directly.

"And I'm happy with you, Finn. I just want you to know I'm open to some fun. We're not too old to get crazy."

All of those conversations fed into the queer feeling Finn had as he drove to the Halloween party. Alycia had also warned him that her friends “could get a little wild.” And then there was her costume. Alycia liked to dress sexy when they went out, but he’d never seen her in anything like that costume.

Alycia was the Queen of Hearts. And her costume was certain to make hearts race at the party. It was a flared black velvet mini dress that barely reached mid-thigh and was filled out with a black tulle petticoat underneath, which only made the dress appear shorter. The tight dress offered up an abundance of cleavage, which kept Finn’s eyes straying from the road. Her tits were a little larger than a palmful and he thought they were perfect. There were red hearts down the bodice, which matched red trim, and a quilted high white collar attached to two thin strips of satin, but it was ornamental—it did not support the dress. Knee-high, black leather high-heeled boots, and a tiara completed the costume. Her long, jet hair was piled up high under the tiara and her makeup was dark and dramatic. It was the very definition of a slutty Halloween costume, and no one would have mistaken Alycia for a successful businesswoman in that dress. Finn thought the costume was scorching but wondered if Alycia was ready for the kind of attention she was going to receive. Or maybe that was the point, which made Finn ask if he was ready for it.

Finn’s reaction to her costume when he picked her up confirmed that she’d made the right choice. It meant a lot that rather than look at her like she was a tramp he couldn’t keep his hands off of her. Alycia had not completely let go and had fun in such a long time and she wanted a daring costume for the party. People were going to be at that party that she had not seen in ages. Her friends could be a wild group, and she did not want them thinking she’d become boring and stiff once again. They had not liked her husband or the way she acted when she was with him. This was her chance to prove that the old Alycia was back.

“Thanks for coming tonight,” she said. “I really do appreciate it.”

“Why wouldn’t I come? I’m your boyfriend.”

Alycia chuckled. “It still sounds funny when you say that. Boyfriend, girlfriend, it makes us sound like teenagers. Does a grown woman really have a boyfriend?”

“You can call me anything you like.”

“How about sexy, baby?” Alycia leaned across the center column and nibbled on the side of his neck, just below the line of his beard.

“Careful, you shouldn’t distract me too much while I drive.” Finn felt it right down to his balls when she did that.

“You don’t want to be distracted? Then maybe I shouldn’t do this.”

His hand rested on the shifter, and she took it away, pulling it over into her lap. Finn drove a small, older BMW. She parted her legs and pulled it up past the layers of tulle. The thin strip of her red silk thong barely covered her sex. Alycia knew he could feel the humidity coming from her mound. She pressed his fingers to her thong and traced them up and down.

“Yeah...that’s distracting,” he gulped.

“Then this would be really bad.”

Alycia slipped her thong to the side, and he touched her bare flesh. Finn’s fingertips just barely pressed between her folds, and she sighed. She’d always hated being teased—probably because it was so easy to do. Her thighs parted further, and he pressed deeper when she settled back into the seat.

“Mmm, that’s good.”

“You just can’t get enough, can you?” he teased. She shivered when he brushed her clit.

“No...” The word was a moan.

“That’s why you’re dressed like that, isn’t it?”

“Like what? Tell me,” she whimpered.

“Like a little whore.”

“Yes, I’m a little whore tonight.”

Finn wondered just how much of a whore she planned to be now. He thought back to their conversation just a few weeks ago about bringing someone else into their bed. Was she planning on making something happen at the party? Finn was tempted to ask, but he didn’t want to break the spell.

“You’re my little whore.”

“I’m your little whore,” she hissed.

Finn learned early on that Alycia liked dirty talk. He’d always liked it too, but it had been a long time since he’d been with anyone who gave themselves to it the way she did. Alycia really loved being treated like a whore, and he happily adapted. The women he had been dating were way too politically correct to get into anything like that. Alycia liked a good spanking too and didn’t try to stop him until her ass was cherry red. She was an exciting woman, but he was starting to wonder where her limits were—or if she had any at all.

Alycia leaned back farther in her seat and spread her legs wide. She pulled the fluffy layers of the petticoat out of the way. Finn could glance over and look at her cunt now, red and swollen. Her lips glistened with her excitement. He switched to rubbing her clit and she pushed back at his fingers with a desperate moan. His fingers kept slipping off target—his hand was at an odd angle while he drove—but he was on target enough to make her start to squirm.

They slowly rolled to a stop at a major, well-lit intersection. Finn went at her clit hard and fast, just the way that always made her come. With two fingers, he rubbed her clit so fast his hand started to cramp, but he was well rewarded with louder and louder moans. It was at that moment that a big pick-up rolled in next to them and the driver had a perfect view down into the passenger seat. Finn tried to pull his hand away, but Alycia trapped his wrist in a vice grip.

“Can’t stop. I’m gonna come. Please!”

The big truck idled loudly beside them, and Finn tried to see if the driver had bothered to look over. He couldn’t see from his angle. But then he saw Alycia looking up through the window and thought the only explanation was that she knew she was being watched. Were her eyes locked with some stranger’s while he played with her pussy? She bit her lip, then her mouth dropped open as she cried out, but she kept looking up and out that window. Finn found himself oddly turned on that his girlfriend was being watched by some stranger. He always took pride when guys noticed Alycia, but this was taking it to a whole other level—one he’d never have guessed he’d like. His cock grew as he thought of some stranger watching Alycia get off. The light changed to green, and the oncoming traffic moved, but they and the stranger stayed in place, as there was no traffic backed up behind them.

“Oh god!” Alycia cried, arching in the seat, which thrust her chest out.

Finn felt her cunt gushing and she snapped her thighs closed over his hand, the way she always did when he made her come that way. A series of quick, staccato cries followed, and she shuddered before settling back in the seat. He took his slick fingers from her sex and pressed them to her lips. Alycia eagerly licked and sucked his wet fingers clean. It was so hot that she got off on her own taste. He knew she liked other girls and hoped that if she did want to get crazy sometimes it would involve bringing another woman into bed.

“Drive, Finn. Go!” she demanded.

He stepped on the gas hard and the tires squealed as the little car shot forward. “Done with your audience?” he asked.

Alycia laughed hardily. “I think he was jerking off.”

“That’s not gross to you?”

“Not under the circumstances.”

“You dirty little whore.”

“You know it!”

The party was only a few miles further, leaving Alycia just enough time to put herself together. When she pulled Finn’s hand into her lap she did want to get off, but she had not anticipated being watched like that. It was an incredible turn-on. It was not the first time she had been watched, but it had been a long time, and she forgot how invigorating it could be. The man in the truck was not attractive at all—heavy, scruffy, much too old—but it didn’t matter who was watching. Alycia came very hard, but it did not sate her desire. She was only left wanting more.

Alycia reached into Finn’s lap and felt how hard he was. It was a shame there wasn’t time to pull over for a quickie, but she figured she would be able to pull him into a room at some point. She would need to. Alycia was so horny she was not going to get through the night without doing something wild.

“Hey, careful. I’m going to make a mess in my costume,” Finn objected. He was dressed in all black to be the Executioner to her Queen of Hearts. He had a big ace of hearts sandwich board to wear over his costume in the back, along with a toy axe and a hood.

“The card will cover it,” she teased.

“Come on, I’m serious. Shit, Aly.”

Alycia stopped, but only reluctantly. It would be fun to make him come like that, but she did not want to embarrass him. It would just have to wait until later. And if he still resisted then, well, there would be plenty of guys at the party, she thought naughtily.

The street was all parked up when they arrived, and Finn found the closest spot almost a block away. The party was at a typical suburban McMansion—a gigantic house on a tiny piece of land. Parking was limited because of all the driveway cut-outs in the curb. Alycia stood there looking chilly while he struggled into the rest of his costume. She had little protection from the night’s chill. Her make-up had been refreshed in the car and her costume was back in place. No one would guess what she'd been up to. She hugged a bottle of expensive vodka to her chest. Once Finn was arranged, he took her hand, and they walked up the sidewalk. They could hear the music from three houses away and he tried to ignore the pit in his stomach when Alycia knocked on the front door. There was no answer, so she twisted the knob and let them in.

The party was hopping. It was no surprise no one heard her knock. They came into a foyer with a high ceiling and a curving stairway off to the right, which led upstairs to the bedrooms. There were rooms on their side, both of which were occupied by several people. The room to the right was dimly lit and different music came from it. There was more of a chill vibe. The other room was lit and looked like a home office, but someone sat at the computer, showing something to a semicircle of people gathered around behind him. Directly ahead was a large dining room that led back further into the house. Alycia pulled him that way.

The back of the house was all open plan, with a great room and a huge kitchen. The second-floor hallway was a balcony above the room, and patio doors led to a sizable back deck. The space was fairly packed with more than a couple dozen people milling around. A large, L-shaped section was arranged around a fireplace and the television was mounted above it. People were sitting there talking, while others stood around them. A long, oak kitchen table had been pushed against the wall and was covered with food, which left an open space to dance. The music seemed to come from nowhere until Finn realized there were speakers mounted into the walls. It was a lot for him to take in all at once. He preferred small, intimate gatherings.

A short, dark-haired woman parted from the crowd and hugged Alycia tightly. Her witch costume was pretty much just a very tight little black dress, leggings, dark make-up, and a pointy black witch hat. She carried a broom as a prop. She introduced herself to Finn as Debbie. Debbie was cute, a little thick for his tastes, but her incredible cleavage more than made up for that. She looked to be only about five feet tall, and most of it was tits. An amiable guy with messy brown hair and a thick beard followed Debbie and introduced himself as her husband, Billy. Billy had an easy-going vibe and Finn liked him immediately.

“Of course, I showed up. I always do what I say I will, don’t I?” Alycia said. “Besides, how could I miss a party with this crew? They just don’t happen too often anymore.”

“That’s because we all have grown-up responsibilities now. We’d probably be dead if we tried to keep going like we used to,” Debbie said.

“Don’t listen to her, honey. It’s not that bad,” Alycia reassured Finn, squeezing his arm.

“Not until the drinking really starts,” Billy said.

Billy took time to absorb her in that revealing costume, and said, “Yeah. I’ll believe it when I see it. Come on, Finn, I’ll show you where the beer is.”

Finn didn’t like being separated from Alycia, but he did not want to be rude. Billy proved to be a good guide, introducing Finn to people as they moved through the crowd and explaining their relationships to each other. Finn tried to file it all away, but there was no way he was going to remember everyone’s name. He was glad when he got his hands on a cold beer from the keg on the deck. He was already overheating in his costume. He pulled the hood back, so it was off of his face.

“So, you guys have all known each other for a long time?” Finn asked.

“Some of us have known each other since high school. The core of us has a pretty twisted, incestuous relationship. I met Debbie in college, though. Don’t worry, newcomers are always welcome.”

“Thanks,” Finn replied, wondering just what twisted and incestuous meant.

“Hope you’re not a douchebag like Aly’s ex.”

Finn chuckled uneasily. “I don’t think I am.”

“That I am not.”

Billy laughed and slapped him on the back. “Obviously. He would have never let her out of the house wearing that.”

“Maybe I should go find her.”

“That’s not a bad idea.”

Finn pushed back through the crowd, noting that most people were just standing and chatting in the space meant for dancing. He didn’t think too many people danced at house parties anyway. He found Alycia in the kitchen, talking to Debbie and two other couples. One couple was the hosts, Sue and Don. Sue was a pretty, perky blonde and was dressed like a flapper from the 1920s. Finn wondered if her short bob was for the costume, or if she always wore her hair that way. Don was a big, jolly guy. He had that salesman's personality that can effortlessly take over a room. Finn tended to distrust guys like that, but Don seemed nice. He was dressed like a 1920s gangster, to match his wife. They both welcomed Finn warmly.

Alycia watched carefully as Finn introduced himself to Eric and Cerina, the other couple. She knew there was a good possibility that her ex could be there, but she had not told Finn. She did not think he would care, but why create drama if it could be avoided? Not that there was any reason to be concerned. It had been a long time since she had been with Eric. It was back in her early 20s and was one of those brief, intense relationships that young people are prone to having.

It had been years since Alycia had even seen Eric—it was before she was married—and he had held up well. Eric was shorter than average but compensated for it by working out and the dark suit he wore did not hide the hours he spent in the gym. The suit jacket was stretched over his broad shoulders and the sleeves hugged his biceps. His dark hair had begun to go gray at the temples, and his goatee was flecked with gray. Eric was in even better shape than when they'd been together, but Alycia tried not to think about that.

Finn noticed there was something weird between Alycia and Eric. Eric was drinking her in—not that all the guys at the party weren't, but in a seemingly more intimate way. He was checking out her body like he was familiar with it.

Not that Eric had a reason to be looking. Finn had trouble keeping his eyes off Eric's date, Cerina. Apparently, the couple came as Christian Grey and Ana from 50 Shades of Grey. Cerina's tiny black bustier dress was sculpted to her curves and left very little to the imagination. Her tits strained at the bustier, while the Lycra skirt barely covered her ass and left the lacy tops of her stockings exposed. Finn noted she kept pulling at it. A pair of handcuffs were locked over her right wrist, she wore a thin leather collar, and she carried a riding crop. The costume gave Finn an unexpected thrill. Finn also noted that Cerina bore a passing resemblance to Alycia. Both women had black hair and were similarly pretty, but Cerina was several inches shorter and rounder in the curves. If he was correct about Eric and Alycia having a past, the guy had a type.

“You’ve got a great house,” Finn said.

“Thanks,” Don said. “It’s our refuge from the rest of the world. We have three girls, so we needed a lot of bedrooms. Remind me, and I’ll give you the nickel tour at some point.”

“Where are the kids?” Alycia asked.

“With Don’s parents,” Sue answered. “We don’t have to get them until tomorrow evening, thank god.”

“These parties can go pretty late,” Eric told Finn. “Getting the kids on only a couple hours sleep would be rough.”

“I can imagine,” Finn replied. He really couldn’t. He thought of suburban people with kids as more boring—certainly not partying until the sun came up. He’d always assumed that when he settled down and had children that would be the time to slow down.

“Hey, everyone needs a chance to cut loose, right? You don’t stop living just because you had kids,” Alycia said.

“No way!” Cerina said. “Luckily, this is the weekend the ex has mine.”

“So, you can go all night, babe,” Sue said.

Cerina lifted her glass and toasted Sue. Alycia joined in. “Count on it,” Cerina said.

The small talk gradually petered out and Finn joined Alycia to mingle with the crowd. She didn’t know everyone at the party, but she seemed to know quite a few people. Finn stuck close to her side, but he did not want her to feel like she had to babysit him. He would probably end up doing what he usually did when at a party full of people, he didn’t know, retreat to a corner and people watch.

Alycia knew her boyfriend wasn’t the most social guy in the world, and she was proud of him for rallying to hang out with her friends. She would richly reward him later. She noticed he was only sipping his drink, while she was draining her cup about as fast as she could fill it. If Finn wasn’t really going to drink, that meant he could drive, and she did not have to limit herself. It was another thing that made him an awesome boyfriend. She pulled him over to the corner of one of the couches and pushed him down to sit so she could plop herself in his lap. Her dress rode up dangerously high, but she did not bother to fix it. Finn put his hand on her exposed thigh.

“Have I told you how hot you look tonight?” he asked.

“There might have been a few clues that you like my costume.” She pulled the executioner mask down over his face again, and commented, “That’s kinda hot. You don’t mind wearing that later, do you?”

“Later for what?” he asked knowingly.

Alycia leaned in close and whispered, “I can pretend you’re some anonymous guy who just dragged me into a bedroom and took me.”

Finn felt his cock growing just thinking about it and wondered if it was too early in the night to drag her off. Fucking her in some room at the party sounded exciting. He had never done anything like that before, but suspected it was old hat for Alycia.

“You always know how to make it fun, Aly.” Finn’s hand crept higher up her leg. He glanced around and was relieved that the party was too busy for anyone to pay them any attention. His fingers stretched under the hem of her dress, and he felt the damp heat between her thighs. She parted her thighs just slightly and his fingertips brushed her wet panties.

“Mmm, you mean tease,” she cooed, biting his earlobe through the hood.

Finn chuckled. “I’m the tease? Have you looked in the mirror? I’ve been dying to fuck you since I picked you up. And I’m not the only one here.”

Alycia squirmed her butt in his lap, making him harder. She liked feeling his hard-on, just as she liked knowing that the guys at the party appreciated her costume. She didn’t miss the looks she’d gotten from the guys. A couple had even accidentally groped her ass as she pressed through the crowd.

“Let me freshen my drink and I’ll meet you right back here.”

“Sounds like a plan.”

But Alycia did not come right back. Finn sat there for twenty or so minutes and then gave up and went looking for her. He did not find her in any of the downstairs rooms or out on the deck. He hesitated to look upstairs because it seemed that the party was confined to the ground floor until he found out there was also a basement. The basement wasn’t finished, but apparently, there was a pool table down there, and some of the partygoers had gathered down there. Finn went down the surprisingly rickety steps but did not find his girlfriend down there.

Finn did not find Alycia because she was sitting on the front steps catching up with Debbie. Debbie wanted to have a cigarette and Alycia agreed to tag along. The girls also snagged a bottle of whipped cream-flavored vodka from the counter and went out the front door. Alycia just lost track of time.

“Shit, I haven’t done this in ages,” Alycia said, taking a deep drag on Debbie’s cigarette.

“Then you shouldn’t start again now. It’s a terrible habit.” Debbie took the cigarette back and drew on it. They’d been outside catching up for quite a while before Alycia broke down and asked for Debbie’s cigarette again.

“I’ve broken terrible habits before. I can do it again.” She took the cigarette back.

“I think he’s one of the good ones.”

“I appreciate your skepticism, but no, not yet.”

Debbie considered that and took a swig from the vodka bottle. “That’s nice and vague. I would assume that if you brought him around us, he’s got staying potential.”

“Oh, he does.” Alycia took the bottle back. “Maybe I’ve become more boring over the years.”

“That could be, though I suspect if that’s true it’s only because of who you’ve been with. I don’t think it was by your choice.”

Alycia tried to look offended. “You don’t think I’ve grown up?”

“I didn’t say that. I just think some people have a wild child in them that never goes away. Besides, growing up is overrated.”

The women sat close together on the front step to share their body heat against the cooling night. Neither of them was wearing much to keep the chill away. Debbie lit another cigarette, and they swapped the bottle back and forth for the smoke.

“Remember that trip back in—God, when was that—2006...2007? That camping trip to Rickets Glen?” Debbie asked.

“Oh, sweet Jesus. That feels like another lifetime. I think it took almost two days to come down from the high.”

“And we sat there under the stars, and we swore we’d never let anything change. We’d get older, but we’d never grow up.”

Alycia laughed. “But then you went and got knocked up. You had to grow up.”

“I don’t know about that. Billy’s fought it as hard as he can.”

“He’s a good man,” Alycia stated.

“He is. But he really does need to grow up more. He’s not great at handling life’s setbacks.”

“But he’s fun and he loves you like crazy. That’s more than a lot of people get.”

“I know you’re right.”

Debbie snuggled in closer to her friend. “We also swore we would never grow apart. How did that happen?”

“I have to take the blame for that one. My asshole husband thought you were a bad influence.”

“Why would he ever think that?”

Debbie turned and kissed Alycia. It was not quite a friendly, hello kiss, but it did not linger too long.

“Yeah, why would he think that?” Alycia echoed.

Alycia started the kiss this time, and it was decidedly not just a friendly peck. She darted her tongue right into Debbie’s mouth, and her friend chased it when Alycia withdrew it. Debbie nibbled on her lip and Alycia sighed into the kiss, before thrusting her tongue right back at her friend. Her free hand held the back of Debbie’s head and stroked her hair. Debbie’s kiss was one of the hottest she’d had in a while, and Alycia forgot all about the chilly night. All the reasons she’d loved kissing girls came rushing back, and she wondered why she’d ever stopped. And Debbie was a great kisser. The friends had not hooked up over the last number of years, but it was always fun and sexy when they had. Alycia felt chills that slithered right down to her pussy. She dropped the bottle and started groping for Debbie’s full breasts.

Neither of the girls knew how long they kissed. It was Debbie who finally breathlessly pulled back. The women stared at each other for an intense minute, and then they both laughed hysterically.

“I’m not sure who the bad influence is,” Alycia said.

“I think it might be a tie. We should probably get inside. I’m sure your date is wondering where you disappeared to.”

FINN DID WONDER where Alycia was, but he was having fun on his own, mixing in a few rounds of pool and talking to the guys. He and Eric stood by the side watching Don and his brother, Scott, playing pool. After Scott turned down an offer of a drink the conversation turned to Scott's faith.

"I can respect that. And it doesn't bother you, being around all these other people drinking?" Finn asked.

Scott took a shot and then it was his brother's turn. "There's a little temptation, I guess. But it's nothing I can't handle. I know I can be an asshole when I drink, and I'd rather not be an asshole. I'm trying to be a better person."

"It's ever since he found Jesus," Eric commented.

"He did turn around my life, yeah. But I wouldn't want to be a drunken asshole even if it wasn't for my faith."

"Booze isn't the only thing my baby brother has given up. Tell them the rest," Don said. He sank a ball in the corner pocket and moved on to his next shot.

"I haven't given it up. I'm not looking for casual sex. It has to be in a committed relationship. Hopefully, one leading to marriage."

"So, you're celibate?" Eric marveled.

"Not with the right woman," Scott protested. He watched as his brother gradually cleared the table. It was not looking like he was going to get another shot.

"And you're not with anyone right now?" Finn asked.

"No."

"So, you don't... Like if you go out a couple of times and you're really hitting it off..."

"No, it's worth waiting for," Scott answered, sounding a little annoyed.

"How long have you been waiting?" Eric asked.

Don looked up, waiting for their reaction to his brother's confession.

"It's been a while," Scott admitted.

"Like six months?" Finn asked.

"Longer..."

"A year?" Eric asked.

"A bit more than that. Hey, don't judge me. I'm trying to stay true to something I believe in. I didn't say it was always easy."

“Do you date?” Finn asked. He knew some guys who had gone that long without getting laid, but it was not by choice. Those guys weren’t getting any dates. Scott wasn’t a bad-looking guy. He was tall and looked fit under his punny costume. He wore all black under an oversized foam strip of bacon. He wore a name tag that said Hi, my name is...Kevin.

“Of course, I do. I would love to meet the right girl.”

“I mostly try to date Christian girls who get it.”

“Wow. Well, good for you,” Finn said. “I don’t know a lot of women in their 30s who’d just give up sex like that. If you find one, she’s a keeper.”

“Yeah, Cerina would be out the door if I dropped that on her,” Eric said. “You could say goodbye to Aly, right?”

“Uh, yeah.”

Of course, Eric was right about Alycia, but Finn wondered how he sounded so certain. He was surer than ever that his girlfriend had a past with Eric. It only really bothered him because she hadn’t said anything—like she had something to hide.

“Speaking of Aly, I really should go and find her.”

“That’s not a bad idea,” Don said.

Finn ignored that and headed back upstairs. He found Alycia leaning against the kitchen counter. She pushed off to greet him and wobbled dangerously on her heels. It appeared that a lot of her missing time had been spent drinking.

“Hey baby,” Alycia said, laying a deep, hard kiss on Finn.

He knew it as one of her you’d better fuck me soon kisses. So, what else had she been doing, besides drinking? Finn felt guilty for suspecting his girlfriend of bad behavior, but he could not help it—just as he could not help enjoying the kiss. He held her tightly, hand on her butt, and just like that he was thinking of dragging her off to a darkened bedroom.

“Where did you go?” she asked. Alycia did not quite slur her words, but she was less than clear.

“Sorry. I got caught up talking to Debbie.”

Finn kissed her again and said, “It tastes like you were doing more than talking.”

“You can tell?”

Alycia looked genuinely surprised—too surprised for it to be about his tasting the sweet alcohol on her kiss. The tingling suspicion in his brain kicked up a notch.

“Tell what?” he asked.

She flashed a guilty smile and then pulled him close and whispered in his ear, “Debbie and I kissed.” She nibbled his ear.

Finn was knocked back on his heels. That was not something he expected to hear, though he was not sure what he expected to hear. It felt like he should be angry, but like a typical guy all he could do was picture his girlfriend making out with Debbie, and that got him so hard his brain short-circuited. He would have felt different if it was a guy, she had been off with, but how could he be angry that she was making out with another woman? The only thing that bothered him was that he wasn’t there.

“You should have come and gotten me, babe,” he said.

“Billy wasn’t there either. And besides, it just sort of happened. We didn’t go off to mess around. We were just reminiscing about the old days.”

“Did that happen a lot in the old days?”

“Often enough.” Alycia smiled and kissed him.

The visions in his head progressed, and now the girls were pulling each other’s clothes off and they were falling back onto a bed upstairs. Finn imagined Debbie’s big tits popping out and Alycia being all over them. In his mind, Alycia was the aggressor. Debbie’s hand moved up Alycia’s dress when he snapped back into reality.

“Maybe we should wander upstairs...” Finn suggested.

“In a few minutes. I promise.”

Alycia pulled Finn back through the crowd and she got talking to another handful of people she hadn’t seen in ages. She felt bad because she didn’t like being a tease, but at the same time, she had come to the party hoping to connect with old friends. There would be plenty of time for them to sneak off later when the party began to thin out. Alycia was so engrossed in talking to her friends that she didn’t notice Finn had drifted off to get another drink.

Finn was relieved to be out on the back deck. The house with stifling with all those people packed into it and all of the windows closed. He did not even particularly mind that the deck was being used by all of the smokers. Don was out there, so was Cerina, and some other people Finn had not been introduced to. He tried his best to keep up on the small talk, but he couldn't keep his mind from wandering back to Alycia and Debbie—a task that became more difficult when Debbie came outside for a cigarette. Finn said hi and was determined to pretend he knew nothing. He was going to head inside when he was pulled out of his thoughts by Cerina.

“Is this weird for you at all?” she asked.

“Is what weird?” he replied, focusing on not staring down at her tits. He was feeling rather tipsy, and his self-control was slipping.

“Being here with Aly while Eric is here. You know what I mean.” Her words were slurred, and she was clearly too drunk to realize that Finn did not follow her. “Have you gone to a lot of parties where exes were there too?”

“Uhm, no. I guess not. It's weird for you?”

It felt good to know he was not paranoid, but at the same time, he was annoyed to learn the information from Eric's girlfriend. What did Alycia think Finn was going to do if she told him? He was a reasonable guy. He would have still gone to the party. Eric and Alycia were together years ago. It shouldn't mean anything now—unless there were lingering feelings. Was that why Alycia was so tight-lipped? Panic swelled inside him as he realized that he and Cerina were outside together while Eric and Alycia were...where?

Finn noticed Cerina looking at him funny and he realized his paranoia must be showing on his face. He did not want her jumping to the same conclusions, so he tried to appear reassuring. “Listen, it was years ago, right? I don't think they've been pining for each other all these years. That would be crazy.”

“Yeah, you're right,” Cerina agreed.

“Besides, Alycia never even talks about him.”

Cerina's sour expression said it was not the same with Eric. That could mean Eric was looking to revisit the past. Finn knew he should trust Alycia, and he kept telling himself he did, but was it such a jump from Alycia drunkenly making out with Debbie to her doing the same with Eric? Alycia had some kind of past with both.

“You're a good guy. I'm glad we had this talk.”

Finn was startled when Cerina hugged him tightly and then kissed him. It didn't linger, but it was definitely a kiss.

They went inside and found that Eric and Alycia were indeed together, but they were talking to a small group of people. Finn tried to get a grip as he found himself reading into every little gesture and word between the former lovers. He looked at his sexy girlfriend, with her luscious body barely contained in that Halloween costume and his mind could not help going to dirty places. Alycia looked like she was ready for action.

Surprisingly, Finn's mind led him to dark places—places it had never gone before. Instead of imagining Alycia and Debbie off in some dark corner, he pictured Eric pulling her into some dark corner. At first, Alycia resisted telling him she was there with someone else, but as Eric pressed and kept trying to kiss her, she melted. She pressed her supple body to his and gave him free rein to roam it. Before long, Alycia was sinking to her knees, pulling at his pants...

Finn came back to reality. They were sitting on the couch, Alycia on his lap, and everyone was chatting. It must have been later than he realized because everyone was only a small group that remained, including Don and Sue, Eric and Cerina, Don's brother Scott, and another guy, whose name might be Wayne. Everyone in the group—except Scott—was inebriated at some level, and now a vape pen loaded with THC juice was being passed around. Pot had never been Finn's thing, but he still took a hit. He'd always been curious about what it was like to vape the stuff. He heard it was a much smoother high. Alycia also took a deep hit, despite her protests that she'd never liked pot either. Only Scott abstained. Finn thought it was cool that Scott could hang, regardless of his convictions.

"So, are those just props?" maybe-Wayne asked Cerina.

"What do you mean?" she replied.

Cerina sat next to Eric on a loveseat, maybe-Wayne was half-sitting on the arm. The two other couples were on a long couch opposite, and Scott leaned against a brick wall beside the dark fireplace.

"Are those just props for your costume, or is that stuff you already had?"

"What do you think?" she asked. Cerina looked to Eric, who just winked at her.

"I think the rest of us know the answer," Sue said with a laugh.

"Oh yeah?" It came from Scott, of all people.

"She's a dirty, dirty bitch," Sue said.

Sue jumped up and snatched the riding crop from her friend. Cerina made a token attempt at grabbing it back, but everyone was laughing and enjoying themselves. Sue grabbed Cerina's arm and pulled her from the deep loveseat. She was surprisingly strong for such a lithe blonde.

"Bend over, bitch," Sue ordered. She was laughing so much she barely got the words out.

"Be gentle," Cerina giggled. She bent over and the short dress naturally rose to where it hardly covered her butt.

"Careful, hon. She hits hard," Don warned of his wife.

"You would know," Eric said.

Sue gave Cerina a hard whack on the butt with the riding crop. Cerina jumped and rubbed her butt, but Sue was already swinging again, harder than the first time. Cerina tried to turn and stop her friend, but Eric grabbed her and forced Cerina to stay bent over. Sue laughed and pulled up the back of Cerina's dress. Cerina's cheeks, laid bare by a black thong, were already red.

"Anyone else want a shot?" Sue asked.

"Ooo, let me try," Alycia said, jumping off of Finn's lap.

Finn's head was spinning. This sort of thing did not happen at his friends' parties, even as a joke. He remembered a few games of strip poker breaking out in the past, but people chickened out before things got out of hand. He didn't know how far this group would take things. Eric didn't seem to mind his girlfriend's ass hanging out. But Cerina wasn't the only one. Alycia was drunk and stoned and did not bother to fix her own costume when she stood, so her ass was half-hanging out as well. Finn admired his girlfriend's shapely ass and decided not to warn her.

Alycia rolled the riding crop in her hand. It was smooth leather and expertly stitched—obviously not just a cheap prop from a costume store. It had been a long time since she'd seen a good riding crop, but back then she'd been on the receiving end of it. She glanced at Eric and wondered how freaky he'd become in the years they'd been apart. He was no prude, obviously, but when she'd tried to get him interested in some Dom play, he'd never been able to pull it off. His heart just didn't seem to be into it. Had Cerina brought out a side of him that Alycia couldn't? Her competitive side came out.

"Brace yourself, girl," Alycia warned.

"Bring it on." Cerina was ready for the challenge.

The riding crop whistled through the air when Alycia brought it snapping down on Cerina's ass. Cerina yelped and jumped, but Eric kept her in place. Alycia smiled evilly. Finn watched her with a mixture of fascination, lust, and fear. The tool came whistling down again and Cerina cried out. Alycia whipped her one more time before she could react, and the whole group winced while laughing.

“Okay, my turn. Both you bitches bend over,” Cerina declared.

Sue and Alycia shared a look, and then did as they were told. They moved over by the fireplace and put their hands on the wall while they bent at the waist. Scott tried to move out of the way, but they did not leave him room to escape. He looked confused being so close to both sexy women, who were sticking their asses out on display. He ended up staring right at Alycia’s butt as he tried to avoid looking at his sister-in-law’s exposed assets. Sue had a cute, petite ass, framed by black, lace-trimmed panties.

Cerina surveyed both women’s behinds, and then whacked Sue’s with a hard swing of the riding crop. Sue jumped and a red mark appeared on her smooth, white bottom.

“Hey, I’m not the one that whipped you so hard,” Sue protested.

“Just take it like a woman!” Cerina ordered, and she whipped Sue again. The blonde whimpered but took it. Without a break, she turned and whipped Alycia’s ass even harder.

Alycia took the whipping stoically at first. Being spanked with the riding crop hurt, no doubt, but it also reached a primal place inside her, and the pain triggered a jolt of excitement in her pussy. Cerina, apparently pissed by her lack of reaction whipped her even harder the second time. Alycia’s ass stung, but she still held firm, squeezing her thighs together. It felt strange to be submissive to another woman—she preferred a man—but it was so exciting. She could feel her panties were soaked through. When Cerina went back to Sue, she felt a pang of disappointment. Sue yelped, and then Cerina was right back to her. Alycia whimpered this time, but it was a sound of pleasure, not pain.

“I think she likes it a little too much,” Don commented.

Finn knew just what Don was talking about. He knew damn well what Alycia sounded like when she was turned on. It almost looked like Alycia was wiggling her ass, begging for more. Cerina also looked like she was enjoying herself too much. Did she see it as revenge to spank her boyfriend’s ex? Finn stayed focused on Alycia’s sweet ass. He was rock hard. They’d played a little with submission in the bedroom, but he’d never seen his girlfriend like this. He was scared and excited to see how far it was going to go.

“Beg for its girls,” Cerina demanded.

“You’ve got a natural Dom on your hands, Eric,” Don said. He looked eager to see his wife keep taking the spanking. “Enjoying the show, little bro?”

Scott looked bewildered. He was staring at the exposed women like he didn’t know what was going on. If he thought he should leave the room, he was resisting the urge.

“Ooo, give it to me, mistress,” Sue cooed comically. It didn’t sound like this was her thing.

“Please, give me more,” Alycia begged. She, on the other hand, was clearly begging for real. Finn made sure no one would notice, and then adjusted his cock in his pants.

“I suspected you were eager bitches,” Cerina pronounced.

Cerina went back and forth, whipping the two women, whose butts increasingly took on a cherry red hue. Alycia’s ass stung wickedly, and she had to bite her lip to keep from crying out. Her pussy was also dripping wet, and she was determined Finn was going to fuck her at their first chance. Cerina only stopped when Sue declared that she’d had enough.

“Ow, that’s it! Not funny anymore,” Sue said, straightening up. She snatched the riding crop out of Cerina’s hand and began swatting at her with it. Cerina tried running, and Sue chased her around the small space. Eric grabbed his girlfriend, so she was down over his lap, with her dress up.

“That’s not fair, hon,” Eric said. “You spanked them way worse than they did to you.”

Sue cackled as she took her shots, spanking the prone woman. As much as she bucked and fought, it appeared that Cerina was actually enjoying the game. Alycia had straightened up and was rubbing her sore ass. Finn saw the fire in her green eyes and knew exactly what she was thinking. His cock throbbed even harder as he tried to figure out a way for them to slip away from such a small group. Perhaps they should just leave and then pull into some parking lot. It was the middle of the night—they could probably get away with it.

“Anybody else want to try?” Sue asked, holding out the riding crop.

No one else jumped right away, so Alycia said, “Go ahead, honey.”

“I don’t know.” Finn didn’t know if he was up to whipping the ass of a woman he hardly knew.

“Let’s see what you can do,” she encouraged.

“Go for it, man,” Eric said.

Finn did not need much more encouragement than that. If Cerina’s boyfriend had no problem with it, why shouldn’t he take his shot? A buzz of excitement filled the room like they were all crossing some line and the possibilities for the night were just opening up. Finn tried to surreptitiously adjust himself when he stood and hoped no one noticed his hard-on. He took the riding crop from Sue and gave it a few experimental swings in the air. Cerina’s butt was a little big for his tastes, however, something was exciting about a prone woman waiting for him to spank her. He took his first swat, which even he knew was weak.

“If you’re going to do it, do it,” Alycia said.

“Yeah, don’t worry. She can take it,” Eric said.

Alycia watched her boyfriend closely. She was very interested to see how he handled a situation like this. The couple of times he’d spanked her—while fucking her from behind—he’d done well, but there was also some hesitation on his part. She was curious if he could handle the heavier stuff. She was interested in more than just an occasional spanking.

Finn drew back and riding crop and brought it down hard on Cerina’s ass. She yelped and he winced, but when the others cheered, he did it again. Alycia saw he was getting into whipping Cerina, whose ass rippled and reddened as Finn had his way with her. It appeared that Cerina would not be able to sit for a week. Finn took a couple more shots and stopped.

“Who’s next?” Sue asked.

“No one!” Cerina complained. Eric still held her in place.

“How about you, little bro?” Don asked.

Scott had faded into the corner like he was not even there. He probably wanted it that way, because he watched the proceedings with a keen eye, despite his moral proclamations. He looked away from Cerina’s butt the second all attention was on him.

“No, really,” Scott answered.

“Dude, this has got to be driving you crazy. I’m not saying to fuck her. Giving a spanking can’t be breaking your vows, can it?” Don taunted.

“If I don’t care it’s not a sin, is it?” Eric added.

“What about me?” Cerina complained. “Let me up!”

“No, I really shouldn’t.”

Alycia noted that Scott was not wearing a wedding ring. He did not have a date, so she didn’t understand his reservations. She only knew him a little bit from when they all used to hang out together. Scott was a few years younger than Don, so he had his own crowd. The only thing she remembered about Scott was that he was kinda cute and always seemed shy. He would stare at her boobs if he thought she wasn’t looking, but he had trouble meeting her eyes.

“What’s the problem?” Alycia asked. She crossed over to Scott and put her hand on his arm.

“He’s down with Jesus now, so he doesn’t do sex,” Don volunteered. “I invited you tonight because I hoped you’d cut loose.”

“You don’t do sex? What does that mean?” Alycia was baffled by the concept. A man who didn’t want sex? In her experience, that was impossible.

“I hate it when you put it that way,” Scott replied. He spoke to Alycia. “It’s not like that. I’m just waiting for the right woman now. I don’t believe in casual sex.”

“Don’t believe in it? It’s not Santa Claus,” Alycia said. “I don’t think we would have been given a sex drive if we weren’t supposed to go with it. Are you saying you have no sex drive? You don’t even want it?” She was fascinated. She moved closer to him.

“I didn’t say that,” he stammered. “I have the same desires as anyone else.”

“But you just resist?”

“I guess, yeah.”

“You don’t even jerk off?”

Scott was very uncomfortable, and he tried to look anywhere but at Alycia, who was right in front of him—close enough to touch. He obviously did not want to answer, but his silence was a kind of answer.

“Okay, so you jerk off,” Alycia said. She brushed against him. “I bet you’re going to be jerking off the second you get home tonight.”

“Uh-oh. Looks like Scott might be in trouble,” Sue said. She sat on the arm of the couch and watched Alycia close in on her brother-in-law.

“Is that where the line is? Or are you allowed to do more than jerk off,” Alycia asked.

“I...uhhh...dunno...” Scott was red-faced and stood stiff as a board. He was cornered; there was no way to escape Alycia without pushing past her.

“Is kissing allowed?” she asked.

Finn was sitting on the couch again and he could not believe what he was watching. Here was his girlfriend throwing herself at Scott. He felt like he had stepped through the looking glass. What he could not figure out was whether Alycia was serious or not. Was she just screwing with Scott to rile him up? That wasn’t nice, but it was mostly harmless, he supposed. Or was Alycia doing more than teasing and coming on to Scott? The latter seemed impossible. Even if she was interested in him, she wouldn’t do this in front of everyone, would she? Alycia was there with Finn. She had to be teasing Scott, but that was still out of line. Finn knew he should say something, but still, he sat there, watching.

Alycia caressed Scott’s face. He was handsome enough, a bit full in the face, and he had a neatly-trimmed brown goatee. He also wore wire-rimmed glasses. He was very much an everyman, not the type of guy women like Alycia usually threw themselves at, but she was not really thinking at that point. She had started just teasing him, but now that she was against him and felt the heat of his body, she could not help responding to him. Even with the ridiculous foam bacon suit, she could still feel him, tall, solid, and masculine. She brushed her lips against his neck and felt him shiver. He was horny as hell. Alycia felt the need coming off of him in waves and that just made her want to screw around with him more. She’d almost forgotten the others were in the room. She was drunk and horny and she wanted to break Scott. She wanted him to admit he wanted her.

“Uh...whoa...maybe you should back up a little,” Scott said. He took Alycia by the arms, but only put minimal effort into moving her and she didn’t budge.

“You didn’t answer me.” She ruffled the back of his short brown hair. He was trembling. She was sure she would have felt him hard if not for his silly costume. She thought of ways to remove it. “Is kissing allowed?” She softly kissed his neck, trailing her lips up to brush his earlobe.

“Yeah,” he stammered. “Kissing is allowed.”

“So, I’m not breaking any rules yet?”

Alycia still kissed his neck, and she also slid a hand inside his costume, feeling his chest through his black mock turtleneck. He was softer than her boyfriend, but she did not mind. The sudden thought of Finn barely checked her actions. What did it mean that he hadn't stopped her yet? She just assumed he was still there? Was he giving her permission to play? Finn was turned on by her kissing Debbie—maybe she was allowed to mess with boys too. Maybe Finn was the kind of guy who got off on watching that sort of thing. She would have to find out—that could be hot.

“Nooo...”

Scott was a statue while Alycia kissed along his neck and up the line of his jaw. Her hand roamed inside his costume, but Finn could not quite tell where it was. It did not look low enough that she was grabbing his cock, but that could be next. Finn's brain kept screaming, You've got to get up and stop this! And yet, he still sat there. Jumping up to stop Alycia was not so simple now, because complications had arisen. He'd been hard before, watching his girlfriend getting spanked, but now his cock was positively throbbing as he watched her trying to seduce Scott. It didn't make any sense, and he was kind of ashamed. His head throbbed and his stomach had tightened into a knot. He was angry, but he was also incredibly turned on—as horny as he'd ever been. He just didn't understand it. It had to be the crazy situation. A normal guy didn't get turned on watching his girl throw herself at another man.

“I guess you're really going to have to jerk off when you get home now. I hope you're thinking about me when you do it. I'd better make sure you have plenty to think about,” Alycia whispered.

Alycia's breathy tones were too low for anyone else to hear. Her hand slid down inside his costume and she grabbed his shaft. He was like a rock down there, and she was very pleased. She knew he was just like any other man. Scott groaned when she rubbed his cock and thought it would be fun to make him come in his pants. It would be okay as no one would be able to see. She brushed her lips over his cheek, moved toward his mouth, and Scott grabbed her arms harder, pushing her away more firmly.

“This isn't appropriate, Aly. You need to slow down,” Scott complained.

Finn burned, seeing his girlfriend trying to kiss Scott, and it finally spurred him to action. He jumped off the couch, making sure the lump in his lap was blocked from the other's view and grabbed Alycia from behind. “I think you need some air,” he said, pulling her toward the doors out to the deck. Finn could hear the others commenting but paid no attention to what they were saying.

“What the hell are you doing?” Finn asked, after snapping the sliding glass door closed behind him.

“I was just having a little fun. This is a party, remember?” she was not cowed.

“You came to the party with me, remember?”

“Yes, and I’m going home with you. I was just playing with Scott. I couldn’t believe what his deal is.”

“Don’t you think you went a little too far?”

Alycia pressed herself to him and grabbed his butt to pull him in close. Just as she suspected, Finn was rock hard. She wiggled against him and felt his shaft twitch. “It’s not like I blew him. We were in a room full of people. How far did you think it was going to go?”

“I don’t know. It didn’t seem like you wanted to stop.”

Finn’s anger was not lessened by his arousal. He was almost angrier because of it. But her proximity was making it hard to keep yelling. All he could think about was how close she was and how good her spicy perfume smelled and how little she was wearing. He thought about that riding crop and how maybe Alycia really just needed to be punished.

“Maybe you’re just mad because you’re not so sure you wanted me to stop.” Alycia reached between them and squeezed his cock through his pants.

Finn needed a moment before speaking. She had always been very good with her hands. “That’s crazy.”

“It doesn’t feel so crazy. If you’re one of those guys who likes to watch, I’m cool with that, baby. You just have to let me know.”

“I...I...”

Was he one of those guys? He’d never thought about it—but he’d never been in a position where he had to think about it. He knew a denial would sound weak, given his current state, but he didn’t think Alycia hooking up with Scott was something he wanted. Finn was so confused.

“You know you don’t own me. There’s not a ring on my finger, baby,” Alycia cooed, kissing his cheek and then neck. “I told you when we met that I didn’t know if I was ready to settle down with just one man.”

“I remember...” Finn was so horny he wanted to scream. He was afraid that if they did have sex he would come in seconds.

“So maybe I shouldn’t be a one-man woman. Maybe that’s what you want.”

“I...don’t...know...”

“Then we should experiment some more.”

Alycia kissed him hard, her tongue invading his mouth. He grabbed her under the skirt and kneaded her ass roughly. He knew it had to sting after the spanking she took, but she gasped into their kiss as if she liked it. Finn didn’t know what to make of his girlfriend—or his feelings. She could be right, but he just wasn’t ready to admit it. All he could think about was throwing her down on the closest flat surface and fucking her like crazy. This wasn’t a time for watching.

“I need you,” he growled.

“Let’s go inside,” she breathed.

The confusion was only one way. Alycia was sure she had Finn figured out. He liked to watch—specifically he was turned on watching her. And since she thought it was hot to be watched, it could work out excellently for them. She just had to get Finn over the hump so he could realize it. To that end, Scott might still come in handy. Alycia was sure that if she had him alone, she could push the right buttons.

Finn slid the door open and led Alycia back into the house by the hand, but before they could slip away, they were rounded up by Don, who was gathering everyone in the kitchen for shots. Finn knew more alcohol was the last thing they all needed, and tried to beg off, but the others would not hear of it. Eric produced an expensive bottle of tequila and poured out shots for the group—except for Scott, of course. Alycia enthusiastically snatched up two shot glasses, handing one to Finn, who smiled wanly.

“To Halloween!” Eric proclaimed.

The group knocked back the shots and Finn felt it go right to his head. He held onto the counter for a moment and blinked hard. He was barely back in control when another shot was pressed into his hand. Again, he tried to resist, but peer pressure forced him to do the shot like everyone else. The room began to tilt, and Finn backed up into a chair. He sucked in deep breaths and closed his eyes.

“You okay, buddy?” Don asked, clapping him on the shoulder.

“Yeah, I’m good. Just not a big tequila guy. It hits me like a smack to the face.”

“We’ll give you something else for the next one. How about rum?”

“No, no. How about some water?” Finn asked.

Another shot was pressed into Finn's hand. He only drank half of this one—although he was relieved it was not tequila again—and put it on the table. He realized that he had become very drunk, very quickly. His thoughts were a jumble, and he only vaguely remembered that he and Alycia had been headed off to fuck before they were waylaid. He looked around for her, but before he found her Scott dropped into the seat beside him. The rest of the group had moved away like they were intentionally giving them space.

"Man, can we talk for a second?" Scott asked.

Finn wasn't really in the mood, but he could imagine Scott had something to get off his chest, so he nodded. He hoped this would be quick.

"I'm really sorry about what happened before, man. I want you to know I didn't do anything to encourage Aly."

"I know. It's okay," Finn answered, not looking at Scott. He was trying hard to pull it together. He was generally a happy, chatty drunk, but it had been a weird night.

"Seriously, I don't know what got into her. She was all over me, but I was telling her to stop."

"It's okay, really. I know it was her. Aly's in a mood tonight."

"You can say that again."

"You have nothing to be sorry about. Besides, I don't own her. If Aly wants to go off and do something, that's up to her. I'm not her daddy."

Finn opened his eyes and Scott was looking at him strangely. He realized he'd just said a version of what Alycia had told him outside, and he realized how it sounded. It sounded like he was saying his girlfriend was free to go and do as she wished, with whomever she wished. Could Alycia be right about him? Did he want her to be with other men? Finn shook his head. This wasn't happening. This whole night was not happening.

"Uh, yeah, man. Just so you know, I wasn't pressing anything."

Finn clapped Scott on the shoulder. "I get it. Aly wanted to have some fun with you. What was I going to do? I could tell she was making you uncomfortable, so I stopped her. She gets crazy like this, who knows what she can do?"

That may have just made things worse, Finn knew. He'd said the only reason he stopped Alycia was because Scott wasn't into it. The implication was obvious. He needed fresh air. Finn used Scott's shoulder to push up and he headed straight out to the deck. He didn't even care that Don and Eric and Sue were out there smoking. He sucked in the cool night air and felt his head begin to clear. He dropped into one of the chairs and tried to follow their conversation, but what they were saying didn't make sense. It sounded like they were talking about going to bed—together. There had to be something Finn was missing.

After a while, Sue went into the house, saying she was going to change, and Cerina came out. Cerina took the seat in front of Don, and he began massaging her shoulders. It seemed innocent enough until Finn noticed the sounds she was making. Cerina started with soft sighs, and she cooed her encouragement. Don moved from working her shoulders to her neck, but there it seemed like he was more caressing her than massaging. Eric seemed to take little note. Finn didn't know how close the friends were, but he did find it a little odd. It was another moment where the two other couples seemed like more than friends.

"That feels so good, babe," Cerina moaned. She leaned further back in the chair and closed her eyes.

Don ran his fingers through Cerina's hair and massaged her scalp. The heavier she breathed, the more it looked that her tits were going to burst free from her dress—a fact not lost on Don. He was staring down at her chest as he worked on her. His fingers descended from her hair, and he caressed her cheeks and traced her jawline. Cerina's lips parted slightly, allowing a breathy moan to escape.

"I'm going to grab another drink. Anyone need anything?" Eric asked.

"No, I'm good right now," Cerina said.

Eric went back into the house and Finn became uncomfortable. The others seemed to be ignoring his presence. Don caressed Cerina's throat with feather-light touches and then he traced her collarbones. Finn noted the general direction Don's hands were headed, and he couldn't believe that Eric had gone inside to leave his girlfriend to be manhandled by Don. But was that so different than Finn himself sitting back and watching Alycia plaster herself to Scott? Maybe she thought that behavior was acceptable because that's what this group did.

If this was some kind of swingers' party, he wished Alycia would have told him ahead of time—although Finn didn't know what he would have done. Before tonight, he probably would have bowed out, but now that he'd been through it all he didn't know what he would have decided. He was more confused than ever.

Finn could not help but feel like a third wheel—even if Don and Cerina didn't care. And seeing them together made him realize that he'd lost track of Alycia once again. He could only suspect she was up to no good. As subtly as he could, Finn slipped away and went back into the house to find his girlfriend.

Eric and Sue were in the kitchen, standing very close. She had changed, into a green silk slip with white lace trim. The slip barely covered her butt, and her nipples were hard bullets in the thin satin. Eric was touching her bare arm and whispering to her. She giggled at the private joke. They were sharing an intimate moment and Finn didn't want to interrupt it, so he kept moving through the room after noting that Alycia was not there. It did not escape his attention that Scott was missing in action as well.

Neither Alycia nor Scott was in any of the other downstairs rooms, and he paused at the bottom of the steps, afraid of what he might find if he checked upstairs. The angel and devil on his shoulders were having a fierce ping pong match, debating Alycia's fidelity. The angel assured him that she wouldn't go so far as to drag Scott off to a bedroom. The devil reminded him how horny she was and that she had told Finn she wanted to test him. Instead of facing the music, he decided to check the basement first.

Finn crept down the steps, making every effort to be quiet without realizing it. The music still played loudly and helped cover his descent. He turned right at the bottom of the steps and found the area with the pool table empty. There was a narrow corridor that passed under the steps and was lined with storage. On the other side was a small sitting area with a couple of old loveseats and a big television hanging on the wall. Even with the music blaring, Finn thought he heard something from the room. It was more like he sensed the room was occupied. He looked around the corner and finally found Alycia and Scott. She was on his lap, facing him, and it looked like she was giving him a lap dance. Finn froze.

THE NEXT DAY, Alycia filled me in on her time while I was on the deck. Alycia had been curious earlier when she saw Scott and Finn talking, and as soon as she saw her boyfriend stagger outside, she'd grabbed Scott and dragged him off. She led him to the basement, and he'd helped her navigate the steps as her heels were not cooperating with her drunken stagger. She'd noticed right away that Scott was not as stiff when she touched him. She dropped down into the loveseat and pull him with her.

"What did Finn say to you?" she'd immediately demanded. She had to lean in close to be heard over the music.

"He just told me he wasn't angry. He said we're cool."

"That's all? You were talking too long for that."

"He told me he doesn't control you. It's up to you what you do."

Alycia smiled. It sounded like Finn was giving some kind of permission. Watching Scott, she could see he took it that way. She knew Finn probably was not just throwing caution to the wind, but she decided to interpret his words like that. She was not done testing Scott. Her pussy was soaked, and Finn had staggered off and left her alone. If he was not going to take care of her, she had someone here who could. A thrill shot through her when she realized that Finn would come looking for her at some point and that he might find her down there with Scott.

Scott just needed a little push. She could sense it. His hands were shaking in his lap. Her dress and petticoats had flopped up when she dropped to the loveseat, so her long legs were completely exposed. And when she leaned in to speak to him, he could see right down her dress. He was dying to touch her. She just needed to make it easy for him.

"Sounds to me like Finn was okay with me tempting you."

"I guess so. I don't get it, though. Are you guys into something kinky?"

Not yet, she thought. "Finn's just cool. He knows I can get a little crazy, and he can roll with it."

"That's cool." Scott snuck another look down at her tits. She pushed them forward.

"So, now that we're alone I can really test you." Alycia put her hand on his thigh. He did not move it.

"Do you really think we should be doing this?"

"Yes. I think you're a sweet guy and you're cute. You need a break."

"But I shouldn't..."

Alycia had a moment of inspiration. "All you have to do is sit there—if that's what you want. It'll be like a lap dance. I've always been told they don't mean anything. But first, we need to get rid of this thing."

Scott started uncooperatively, but as she pulled at the foam rubber bacon suit, he relented and moved just enough for her to remove it and throw it onto the floor. He was handsome in his black mock turtleneck and black chinos, like a thicker Steve Jobs.

Alycia unsteadily got to her feet and quickly found the beat. She was fun but giving a lap dance would never have entered her mind if she were sober. And she knew damned well this lap dance would be far from innocent.

Dancing while Scott looked up at her made her feel self-conscious. As she moved, Alycia felt her elaborate up-do loosening, as it had been doing all night, and she felt her tiara hanging askew. Strands of raven hair framed her face now, giving her a naughty look. She kicked his legs apart and tried to move closer, but she drunkenly stumbled on her heels and ended up falling forward. She caught herself on the back of the loveseat and tried to make it seem intentional, as her tits ended up right in his face. Scott remained a good boy and kept his hands at his sides. The tight velvet bodice hugged her body, pushing her breasts right at him and he could not look anywhere else.

Alycia turned and dropped onto his lap, pulling the petticoat out from between them. Grinding her butt against him, she immediately felt the hard lump of his erection in his pants. She managed to wedge it between her cheeks and worked him hard. Scott's breathing became heavier and heavier, and he finally started giving in. His hands moved to her thighs and rested there. It was like he wanted to control her moves but was afraid to do it.

"Aly..." Scott gasped, tightening his grip on her thighs.

Afraid he was going to come—it was too soon—Alycia let up and turned to straddle him. Her cunt was on fire now and she desperately needed to come, but she did not want to rush her climax either. She was afraid that if she came Scott would use it as an excuse to push her away. Still, she tried to center her mound on his cock as she gyrated on his lap.

"Aly..." Scott moaned. He stared at her helplessly. He was caressing her bare back, above her dress and below the silly high collar. His thumb kept fidgeting with the zipper, and she knew he was dying to pull it down.

"You don't want me to stop, do you?" Alycia leaned close to whisper the words to him and kissed his neck afterward.

Scott shook his head.

"Say it, baby," she said between kisses. His neck tasted warm and slightly salty. She wished his mock turtleneck wasn't in her way.

"Don't stop, Aly," he breathed.

“Unzip me, baby,” she urged.

FINN WATCHED Alycia lean into Scott and it looked like they were talking. It also looked like she was kissing him again, but it was difficult to tell from his angle. He mostly saw them head-on, with only a slight angle, and there was a post in the way. Finn didn't think they would see him in the shadows even if they looked over, as he was dressed in all black. He watched Scott pull down the zipper on her costume and his heart froze.

Alycia ducked her head and pulled off the high collar, which would have kept the costume in place. She was not wearing a bra underneath and her tits were exposed to Scott when she pulled the dress down. Finn's view was imperfect, but he could see Scott gaping at her full, perky breasts. It looked like it was the first time he'd ever seen breasts, and his reaction almost made Finn laugh—but he was in no laughing mood. She sat back and pulled Scott's face forward into her chest.

The room seemed to be tilting, and as Finn clung to the wall, he knew it was not just because he was drunk. The world had just stopped making sense. Why was he the one standing in the shadows and Scott the one all over Alycia? She was Finn's girlfriend, right? And even more bizarre, why was Finn's cock throbbing so hard? He was so horny his balls ached. It made no sense that he was so turned-on watching Alycia with another guy. It seemed that Alycia was right about him—he liked to watch. But what kind of man did that make him?

Finn gritted his teeth when Alycia threw her head back and moaned. He could just about hear her over the loud music. He knew that sound—she loved what Scott was doing. His face was at her chest and Finn could just imagine him sucking and licking her delicious pink nipples. She was especially sensitive there and Finn could have her begging just by teasing her tits. She dropped her head forward again and more of her hair tumbled from her up-do, veiling the couple from view. Finn had to work with his imagination, which was worse than watching. In his mind's eye, he could see them frantically making out like teenagers behind that spill of hair.

Alycia thrust her tongue into Scott's mouth and found he was a surprisingly decent kisser for someone who started so reluctantly. He shivered when she bit his lip and then surprised her by nipping back at her. He ran his fingers through her messed-up, half-down hair and she moaned when he tightened his fingers in those jet locks to pull her into a harder kiss. His assertiveness made her pussy throb. As fun as it was to seduce him, she loved it when the man took charge. He grabbed her ass too and pulled her tighter against his crotch. She was beginning to think Scott might actually fuck her. So where was Finn when she was being so bad?

Finn was fighting the urge to touch his dick. He gradually overcame the shame of being turned on by watching his girlfriend with another man and now all he could think of was getting off. What he really wanted to do was to rush into that little room and pull Alycia off of Scott's lap and throw her on the floor and fuck her—hard. He'd make Scott watch him make her come. Or maybe he would let her blow Scott while he fucked her. That could be hot. But he didn't do any of that because he had not worked up the nerve. Instead, he remained in the shadows, where his hand dropped down and he touched himself through his pants.

"Are blowjobs allowed?" Alycia whispered to Scott, still playing their little game.

"Uh...no," he groaned. Scott looked bewildered and a little crazy.

"Then I really shouldn't do this."

Alycia slithered from his lap down to her knees, where his foam bacon costume ended up giving her a welcome cushion. She pulled at his belt and when she unfastened his pants, he lifted his butt so she could drag them down. His briefs were not particularly sexy, but she let it go. He was not prepared for this. He also was not groomed, which was a bigger sin in her book, but she was too horny to hold it against him. If he was her boyfriend, he would be trimmed down like Finn was. She was glad she never had to tell Finn to take care of himself. He just knew.

Scott was hot and hard in her hand, just a shade bigger than average at seven inches. But he was nicely thick, and she knew he'd feel good inside her. The head leaked precum as she slowly pumped the shaft, and she gathered it with her tongue, looking up at Scott through her bangs as she did it. She was putting on a show. He started jerking like he was fighting the urge to come.

Finn took deep breaths, trying to fight off what felt like a panic attack. He wasn't prone to them, but this is what he thought one would be like—except for the incredible hard-on. His heart raced, and he could barely breathe. His thoughts ran a mile a minute. He was beginning to believe his girlfriend had no line. Alycia was on her knees in front of Scott, and he'd seen her pull his pants down, so even though his view was bad, he knew what she was doing. He knew her hands were in front of her so she could hold his cock. And when she leaned forward, Finn knew she was sucking another man.

His eyes combined with his imagination to paint a thrillingly erotic picture. He could see Scott resting his head back when Alycia started slowly bobbing up and down. Finn could only really see the back of her head, where Scott lightly stroked her hair. His imagination filled in the other details; Scott had a huge cock and Alycia's mouth was stretched around his girth as she struggled to stuff the big piece of meat into her mouth. But she did the chore happily because she was hungry for him. Finn was sure that Scott—who hadn't been blown in ages—couldn't believe his luck because Alycia was one talented cocksucker. She'd probably had even more practice than Finn had ever suspected. Once she adjusted, Finn imagined her moving faster and going deeper, until she swallowed every inch of his shaft. Finn had to stop touching himself because he knew he was close to coming.

Alycia held Scott at the base and bobbed quickly on his hot shaft. She could have deep-throated him but didn't feel the need to impress a man she would never be with again after tonight. She tickled her tongue along the underside of his cock as she moved, but then backed off when she thought he was going to come. She wasn't sure that she wanted him coming in her mouth. It wasn't that she minded swallowing—she actually enjoyed a mouthful of cum, she saw it as a reward—but if he came in her mouth, he wouldn't be able to satisfy her elsewhere. They did not have all night and she doubted she would have the time to get him hard again.

She opened her eyes to find him staring down at her. His eyes had been closed too, but now Scott was watching her like he could not quite believe what he was seeing. Maybe even when he did get laid it was in the dark, in the missionary position. Alycia thought about really blowing his mind and sucking his balls, but he was too hairy down there. Instead, she kept sucking and tried to decide if she wanted to take the next step.

For the first time, Alycia felt hesitation. After their talk upstairs, she knew she could get Finn to go along with all of this. He was into it, even if he didn't know it yet. But if she went ahead and fucked someone else without getting his clear-cut permission, it might be too far. Finn might find it unforgivable. She was drunk and reckless, but not reckless enough to want to throw away a possible future with Finn. And yet, she was so damned horny. That made it hard to think clearly. Luckily, Scott took the decision out of her hands.

Finn tried to brace himself for what could happen next. He was sure he was about to see his girlfriend fuck another man. The thought of it made him sick, but he realized he was leaning forward like he was eagerly waiting for it. It was so, so wrong, but deep down he knew he wanted to see Alycia fuck Scott. He could barely admit it to himself. Would he ever be able to tell her she was right about him, or would he keep this a secret? Finn didn't know if he could ever tell Alycia that he stood in the shadows and watched her fuck someone else.

Scott had been stroking her hair, but now he tightened his fingers in her long dark locks and pulled her harder onto his cock. Finn watched in fascination as Scott took control of his girlfriend. Alycia stiffened and seemed to be fighting back, but Scott had her where he wanted her. Finn watched as Scott jacked his hips off the couch and fucked Alycia's mouth, while he pulled her down onto him at the same time. Finn realized that not only did he like watching Alycia in action, but he also liked it even better when he saw her being used. Scott was fucking her mouth like she was some eager slut. Finn supposed she was.

Alycia gagged when Scott shoved his prick to the back of her throat, and then beyond. She dug her nails into his hairy thighs and stared up at him helplessly, but he did not care. He stared down at her malevolently, like she was only there to get him off. Alycia shivered with excitement as Scott took control. She relaxed and let him thrust his cock down her throat. Her lips locked tightly around him, and her cheeks hollowed. Her pussy was on fire. Being taken was so wonderful. Alycia reached down between her legs and pushed her thong aside to find her clit. It was so slippery, but she kept her fingers there and shocks of pleasure rocked through her. She was already so close to coming.

Her drool ran down his shaft and he moved her faster and faster. Her nose pressed into his pubic hair. Alycia could barely breathe, but she did not want him to stop. She wanted Scott to come.

"Suck it...suck it...take it all..." Scott grunted. He sounded like someone else entirely, not the sweet guy she'd dragged into the basement.

Finn gripped the shelves beside him with both hands. It was the only way he could keep from rubbing himself. He saw Alycia was rubbing herself. She looked so slutty. She was sucking some guy's cock and she was so horny she had to rub her pussy. God, he wanted to fuck her so badly. Finn wanted to rush in there and pull up her costume and thrust his cock into her. He wanted to feel her body rocking from Scott using her mouth while he fucked her.

Scott jammed his cock in the back of her throat and Alycia felt him erupt. She immediately gagged and forced her head back. A thick wad of cum landed on her tongue, too. The head slipped past her lips, and he grabbed his slick prick, holding it to her face. His load was huge. Scott kept coming, jetting cum onto her lips, over her cheek and eyes, and even into her hair. Alycia felt deliciously slutty. He came across her other cheek too, and then she opened her mouth and took his last jet on her outstretched tongue. She couldn't remember the last time a guy had come so much, but it had probably been a long time since Scott had come at all. His balls were probably full.

Finn could tell from his vantage point that Scott had come. He saw the other man hold Alycia's head down on his cock and assumed that was Scott shooting his load down her throat. Finn wished he'd been able to come around the side and see Scott fucking her mouth. Next time, he thought, and then immediately wondered where that thought came from. He watched Alycia pull all her hair back from her face and then tell Scott something he couldn't hear. Finn figured the show was over and decided to slip out of there before he was discovered.

Alycia had been so close to her climax when Scott came. She held his now-flaccid shaft and rubbed it against her face as she kept stroking her clit. His rubbery head made trails in the thick cum drying on her face and Scott watched her like she was the biggest whore he'd ever seen. And that was about all she needed. With a sharp cry, Alycia climaxed, hanging her head down as she rubbed her clit through the orgasm. Waves of pleasure rose up through her and Alycia was stiff while the climax controlled her. The final waves passed through her, and she sagged to Scott's lap for a moment, breathless. When she looked up at Scott, he looked utterly confused. He didn't know what came next.

"That was fun, wasn't it?" she asked cheerfully.

"Uh, yeah," he said lamely.

Alycia fitted the collar back over her head and pulled her dress up to cover her boobs. “I hope I didn’t make you behave too badly,” she said insincerely. He looked annoyed at that. She turned and offered him her back. “Zip me, please?”

Scott pulled her zipper in place without trying to cop one last feel—very unlike the other guys she’d known. She turned and tried to kiss him on the cheek, but he recoiled. It was the cum on her face, she realized. She smiled at his prudishness, and simply said, “Bye.”

Upstairs, Alycia quickly darted into the powder room and did what she could to clean up. She washed her face but found it more difficult to get the cum out of her hair. She did the best she could, but the results were kind of obvious. She took out her tiara and let her hair down completely. It looked like she had been up to no good. The second Finn saw her he would know she’d been bad. She couldn’t wait to see what he’d do.

Finn saw her go into the powder room, but he let her go. He wanted her to clean herself up before he confronted her. In the meantime, he waited in the hallway and looked back into the big room at the back, where Sue was on her knees on the couch, with her elbows on the back. Eric was behind her, vigorously pumping his cock into her. Both of them had their eyes closed and they didn’t notice Finn. He imagined Don and Cerina were in another of the rooms doing the same.

Alycia emerged from the powder room and Finn locked her arm in a vice grip. She looked at him, startled, but did not speak when she saw the look on his face. He had never looked so intense. He looked angry, but that wasn’t all. Finn dragged her toward the steps, and she meekly followed. His dominance made her weak in the knees. She stumbled as he pulled her up to the second floor, but he did not slow down.

Finn found a vacant guest room and threw her down on top of the four-poster double bed. With its floral-print comforter, the bed looked like it belonged in some country house, making Alycia look very out of place sprawled on it in her skimpy Halloween costume and disheveled hair. Finn was suddenly gripped by an erotic rage he could not control. He looked down at his girlfriend with a powerful anger, but at the same time, he’d never wanted to fuck her more. They had to talk, but there would be time for talking later. He stood over her and dropped his pants.

Alycia sucked in her breath when she saw his angry cock standing out, pointing at her accusingly. She’d been bad, and that cock was going to punish her. Finn stepped closer and shoved her legs apart, pulling them up onto his shoulders. She gasped when he tore her thong away. He wasn't even going to undress her, she realized. He was just going to take her. She whimpered in anticipation.

Finn knelt on the edge of the bed and tilted her hips back. He had to swat her silly petticoats out of the way, but then he saw her sex: red and swollen, soaked and ready. Her bald mound glistened with her juices in the light from the hallway. He hadn't thought to close the door, and the hallway provided the only light in the room. Foreplay never entered his mind. They were not making love. He was going to fuck Alycia and fuck her hard. He rammed his cock into her as violently as he could. She jolted on the bed and cried his name.

The bed beneath them protested their furious sex. Alycia held onto the edge over her head, and Finn gripped her thighs tightly to keep her from slipping away as he hammered him. She cried out in pure joy. The angry fuck was just what she wanted—what she needed—after her basement session with Scott. But how did Finn know? Had he been watching somehow? She groaned in pleasure thinking about him there watching her. Her tits were bouncing up out of her dress and she pulled them completely free so she could tease her nipples.

Finn had the oddest thought. Alycia had never been hotter. And fucking her had never been better than now when he reclaimed her. She looked so sexy, all disheveled on her back. It was like a thunderclap in his brain when he finally admitted that Alycia had given him exactly what he'd wanted. He wanted a little slut girlfriend, and she'd obliged. Why had it taken him so long to realize it?

“God! Fuck me! Fuck me!” she cried.

“I'm gonna fuck you like the whore you are!”

“Yes! I'm yours, baby. Do what you want with me!”

Finn leaned in, pressing her thighs back against her body. He had an evil gleam in his eyes. “Anything?” he asked.

Alycia knew just what he meant. It was something they'd talked about once or twice but hadn't done yet. In her most submissive voice, she implored, “Fuck my ass. Please fuck my ass, baby.”

Finn pumped into her a few more times and pulled his dripping cock from her cunt. Alycia grabbed her legs behind the knees and pulled them back to her chest, tilting her hips so that the little brown eye of her asshole winked up at him. It looked so tight that he wasn't sure he'd get it in there, but he was determined to try. He hoped his prick was wet enough from her pussy.

"Do it, baby!" she cooed, feeling his head pressing against the tight ring. He pushed, and she squealed.

It was hard to tell if she was squealing from pleasure or pain—he knew it was probably both—but he did not stop. It was difficult to push past that initial ring, but he popped through. Alycia screeched loudly and her ass gripped his cock impossibly tightly. Finn grunted and pushed harder. His shaft was just slick enough to penetrate her, and he sank in inch after constricting inch.

Alycia gritted her teeth. It did hurt. It hurt a lot. Her ass kept stretched, and when she thought she was about to rip open, it stretched again. The penetration seemed to take forever, and she was almost surprised when she felt his balls resting against her ass. He was fully in. She took a deep breath and forced herself to relax. She looked up at Finn and saw his eyes closed and pure pleasure on his face. It made her proud to do this for him.

His cock had never been anywhere so tight. Even when he was younger, and the girls he was fucking were younger, he'd never felt a girl so tight. He felt her chute pulsing around him, adjusting to his girth, and it felt amazing. The delicate sensations finally got him moving.

The tearing pain came back when Finn really started fucking her ass, but then he reached down and rubbed her clit with his thumb. Fresh pleasure bloomed with the pain, creating a heady mixture in her body. Suddenly, she was pushing her ass back at Finn. She'd never really enjoyed anal in the past, but this time was different. She loved it. Alycia thought that cock in her ass was the best thing ever.

Finn rubbed her clit furiously. He wanted her to come, and he knew he was not going to last long. Her ass felt incredible, and he already felt the cum bubbling up in his balls. Alycia was moaning louder and louder, thrashing on the bed. He hammered his cock into her asshole. He was too close to take it easy on her. His balls slapped her ass and the wet sounds of their coupling competed with the creaking of the bed. Finn had to move forward as they pushed the bed across the hardwood floor.

"Yes! Yes! Yes! Fuck my ass!" Alycia cried, loud enough for the whole house to hear.

"Fuck, baby! Oh, fuck!"

Finn held his cock in her ass as it spurted his load deep inside her. Her anal chute pulsed around him, milking every drop out of his load. Alycia gave a final sharp cry, and he knew she was coming too. He stayed inside her until she'd taken every last drop, and then he gingerly pulled out. Her asshole was red and wide open. Alycia let go of her legs and sprawled on the bed in exhaustion. Finn tucked his dirty cock into his boxer briefs and pulled his pants up. He laid on his side beside Alycia, stroking her hair.

"You know what happened downstairs?" she asked.

Finn nodded.

"Are we okay?"

He nodded again and then found his words. "I think we have a lot to talk about, but we should probably do that sober, and not right after I fucked you in the ass."

"That was so hot, baby. You can have it any time you want."

Finn chuckled. "I don't have to wait for you to blow someone else first?"

Alycia kissed him and it was sharp and minty. She'd found mouthwash in the powder room. "Only if you want me to."

"We'll talk about that." Finn couldn't believe he was not ruling it out.

"I love you."

His heart unexpectedly swelled, and he was suddenly choked up. "I love you too, Aly."

"Let's get out of here." All Alycia wanted was to cuddle with him.

"I don't think the others will miss us. They're pretty occupied."

Alycia laughed. "I didn't know they were still up to that. Good for them."

Finn thought about everything that had happened that night and the boundaries they'd broken. They were in a new phase of their relationship, one that promised to be exciting. He kissed Alycia and said, "No, good for us."
