"Remind me why we picked the hottest day of the year to do this?" Tim asked.

"Because the painting needs to be done before they deliver the carpets this week. It has to be now," Stacey told her husband. She wasn't any happier than he was. She wiped the sweat from her forehead with the back of her hand, trying to avoid getting anymore paint on herself. Golden strands of hair that had escaped her ponytail stuck to her forehead and caught in her eyelashes.

"Let's open the vents," Alex suggested, and not for the first time. He was the couple's closest friend, and was helping refinish their basement.

"Are you going to pay our electric bill? I can't afford to air condition the whole Northeast," Tim said.

"You always were cheap." The two men had been friends since before high school, over twenty years.

"Hey, that's easy to say when it's not your money. How about I come over and throw open all your windows and turn the air on," Stacey said, defending her husband. Just because they earned a good living did not mean they had to throw their money away. The basement vents were closed because the patio doors were open for ventilation. They did not need to be inhaling fumes on top of the beers they'd been drinking all day. And it was extremely hot, even for mid-July.

"You're welcome to, if you'll clean while you're there."

"I can only imagine what that place looks like. I'm not your slave," Stacy said.

"Yeah, she's mine," Tim laughed. He reached out to swat her ass with a paintbrush, but she jumped away.

"Hey!" Stacey flicked sea foam paint onto Tim's t-shirt and he charged her. He pinned her body against his. She was deceptively strong for a slender woman. Pilates and yoga kept her in shape. She knew she had to work harder at it now that she was in her late thirties.

"Dude, give me a hand," Tim called out.

"Keep me out of your kinky games."

"He's not going to help you. Alex knows who to side with," she taunted. She bit Tim's arm hard enough to get him to let go and spun away, headed to wet her brush.

"Okay, I don't like your cocky attitude," Alex said.

Stacey saw Alex join Tim and darted behind the stepladder. As the men advanced on her, she fainted toward Tim and when he grabbed for her, then sprang the other way, making for the stairs. But Alex snagged her arm and jerked her back. He wrapped his arms around her waist, pinning her arms to her sides. He was six-foot-three, a couple inches taller than her husband, and easily lifted her feet off the floor, leaving Stacey to helplessly kick in the air.

"No! No!" she shrieked, flicking Alex in the face with her ponytail.

"Yes. Yes," Tim said, sidestepping her wheeling legs and holding a dripping paintbrush menacingly. "You've earned this—so take it like a woman."

"No! No! Don't! How dare you!"

Tim ignored Stacey's protests and attacked her helpless body with the paintbrush. His wife wore an old, threadbare college t-shirt, so he knew she wouldn't hate him for destroying it. He was pretty impressed she still fit into the same clothes she wore in college, even if the t-shirt was tighter across the chest than it had been back in the day. Having two children had only improved her body, in his opinion. He painted her tits through her t-shirt, trying not to paint his best friend's arms in the process. Tim couldn't help noticing her nipples hardening under the brush. He felt a twinge in his shorts and realized that seeing his helpless wife struggling in his best friend's arms was kind of a turn-on.

Tying Stacey down wasn't anything he'd really ever thought of seriously, but it suddenly hit him that maybe they should try it some night. Maybe even tonight. Jokingly, he thought he could have Alex help with that, too. She had a lot of fight. It might take both of them to hold her down.

"Stop it! Stop it! I can't believe you're doing this!" Stacey cried.

"I'll let go when you say uncle," Alex said.

"Fine, uncle!"

Alex abruptly released her and Stacey also fell over. She looked down at her shirt, saw her hard nipples, and thought for a second it looked like she'd been painted topless. It reminded her of the time she went to that off-campus rave wearing liquid latex instead of a shirt. She thought of how much things had changed over time, and she laughed. It was good to cut loose and have fun like this. It had been too long. She knew she didn't let go and let her wild side out often enough these days. She just had too much responsibility with a family and a full time job. There wasn't time to be Stacey the party girl anymore. When she looked up, both guys were staring at her chest and obvious nipples.

"I think you created a masterpiece," Alex said.

"Thanks. I like it," Tim agreed.

"Get a good look, boys," she said, hands on her hips. She wasn't as embarrassed as she usually would be, but then, she'd been drinking, though not as much as the guys. Someone had to keep their head. She posed for about a minute and announced, "I am going to grab a shower. It's getting near dinner time anyway. Why don't you two get this stuff cleaned up and come upstairs?"

"I was hoping we could paint some more," Tim said.

"Me or the walls?"

"I know what I'd prefer," Alex voted. He was only so flirty because of the beer. She knew it didn't mean anything, not that Tim would care. Tim and Alex were like brothers.

"In your dreams," Stacey grinned.

In the bedroom, she was careful to peel off her t-shirt and get it into the trash without getting any paint on the carpet. She should have just thrown it in with the rags and the sheets in the basement, but she wasn't about to just strip in front of Alex. He hadn't seen her naked in twenty years—not since she was a college freshman—and while she stayed in shape, she did not look like she did at eighteen.

Alex did see her. He'd run upstairs to use the bathroom, but stopped dead at the top of the stairs when he saw Stacey through the doorway. She'd just taken her t-shirt off, and now she peeled her tight jean shorts down her long legs. He knew he shouldn't be spying on his best friend's wife, but he was damned horny. He'd only been dating on and off since the divorce and it had been too long since he'd gotten laid. So he stayed quiet and still and watched Stacey undress. She still looked amazing. She was toned and tight, with a flat belly and a nice, full butt. She was a pharmaceutical rep, and keeping your looks up was part of the job. He silently cursed when she turned her back to unhook her bra, but then she turned again and he saw her in profile when she dropped it. Her tits weren't huge—a good handful as he recalled—but full and firm and Alex thought they'd held up pretty damned well. She began turning in his direction, so he ducked back down the stairs.

Stacey looked down the hallway, sure she'd seen something move in the corner of her eye, but no one was there. The guys were in the basement and the kids were away, so she must be losing her mind. She'd just left the bedroom door open without thinking, but now swatted it shut in case Alex came up to use the bathroom.

Dinner preparation was well underway when the guys came up from the basement. Stacey felt much livelier after a long shower and a change into fresh clothes. Her damp, long blonde hair was pulled back into a ponytail again to keep it off her neck. A blast of hot air came up from the basement and she ordered Tim to shut the door. She'd had enough of being hot and sticky for one day.

"Smells good, hon," Tim said. He kissed her cheek as he passed and looked in the steamer to find fresh cauliflower.

"Yeah. You're quite the homemaker, Stacey. I should have kept you for myself," Alex commented. He knew just how lucky his friend was, now that he'd seen her nearly naked a few minutes ago. It was an image that would not leave his mind easily. Tim was lucky he was such a stand-up guy. Alex would never do something like that to his best friend, not that he thought Stacey was the cheating type.

"You missed your chance, buddy," Stacey laughed.

"You just weren't man enough for her. You couldn't handle her," Tim said. He hugged her from behind.

"Eww, you stink. Get off."

"See, it's not all it's cracked up to be," Tim joked.

"Yeah, I guess," Alex said. "I prefer to think she couldn't handle me."

"That was it," Stacey said with wide-eyes. "You were just so big I couldn't take it." She sipped from her wineglass. They joked all the time about how she had dated Alex first, for a couple weeks, before she met Tim. She actually met her husband through Alex. But they usually didn't talk about the fact that she had slept with both guys unless they had been drinking. It did not seem to bother Tim that his best friend had once fucked his wife.

"I knew it!" Alex said.

"Keep thinking that, buddy," she said, before turning back to her husband "Hon, you need to start the grill. Try not to set yourselves on fire. You've had a few."

"I'm fine," Tim said.

“And get a shower before dinner. Both of you. I don’t want your sweaty asses at my dinner table.”

“Oh, by the way, I washed the clothes you left here last weekend. I’ll get them for you,” Stacey said.

“Wow, you really are Wonder Woman. Joan wouldn’t do the regular laundry, let alone extras,” Alex said.

“From what you say, she didn’t want to do much for you toward the end there,” Tim said.

“That’s true.” Alex’s sex life with his ex-wife was virtually non-existent toward the end. “But she was never as domestic as Stacey.”

“You can compliment me all you want. I am not coming over to clean your place,” Stacey called.

“I’ll pay you.”

“You couldn’t afford me.”

“Ha! That’s the truth,” Tim interjected.

Tim went out on the deck to start the grill. The men agreed to switch off on grilling duties, and Alex hit the guest bathroom in the hallway upstairs. When Stacey finished chopping the salad, she fetched the fresh clothes from the laundry room and then knocked on the bathroom door.

“It’s okay. I’m decent,” Alex said.

“You haven’t been decent since you were six years old.”

“Funny.”

Stacey opened the door and encountered a shirtless Alex. She paused for a moment to admire his muscular chest and strong arms before moving up to meet his slate gray eyes. A trail of sparse gray hair trailed downward to a promised reward before disappearing into his shorts. It matched his neatly trimmed beard, which had taken on a streak of silver now that he was in his early forties. His hair, which reached just past his collar, was still shiny black, though.

She wanted him from the first time she’d seen him all those years ago, and his Mediterranean looks had only improved with age. She thought Joan was crazy to leave him Alex. She was not going to find another guy who was that good-looking and who would treat her so well. It’s a shame we work better as friends, she thought. Stacey thought her life could have been very different.

“Not as good as you,” he replied. Her perky tits, capped with puffy rose nipples, popped back into his mind. “But I have to stay in shape now that I’m back on the market.”

“Thanks, but hands off,” she teased. “My husband is right downstairs.”

He put the clothes aside and pulled Stacey close by the waist. “Do you think he’d mind? Tim’s not the jealous type.”

“No, he doesn’t mind you looking, but touching is another matter, isn’t it?” She drummed her pink manicured fingernails on his firm chest, not trying to pull away. Drinking had definitely brought the old flirting up a notch. Stacey didn’t think her husband was the wife-sharing type. But she suddenly remembered that, a while back, she told Tim she’d only give him a threesome with another woman if she could have one with a guy. He did not recoil the way most guys would. Tim actually tried to start negotiating, hoping she was serious!

Stacey and Alex were so close he could see the flecks of color in her hazel eyes. He had a strong, sudden urge to kiss her, and moved her away. God, it really had been too long if he was having thoughts like that.

Stacey felt the sudden tension too, and backed out of the bathroom. “There’s a fresh towel in there. Let me know if you need anything else.”

“Thanks.”

Alex briefly considered rubbing one out in the shower, but decided that would be inappropriate. He forced his mind to other things and finished his shower, but he couldn’t help feeling he’d crossed some kind of line. He was sure Stacey had sensed what he was feeling and hoped it wouldn’t be weird. He went down and took over for Tim at the grill.

“I just put the steaks on, so they should be done at about the same time as the potatoes,” Tim said.

“Okay, great,” Alex answered. He glanced through the patio doors at Stacey. She looked great, wearing a loose white skirt with black lines that almost reached her knees and a snug black, ruffled tank top, leaving plenty of tanned skin to appreciate. It was casual, yet sexy. He felt another stab of guilt and stopped Tim before he went inside. “Listen, man, I’ve got to tell you something.”

“Can it wait? Stacey is going to kill me if I don’t get a shower before dinner.”

“No, it’s bugging me.”

“Okay, spill it.”

“When I went up to use the bathroom earlier, I accidentally saw Stacey getting undressed. I just came up the stairs, and she was there and she hadn’t closed the door. It was a total accident, man.”

“Is that it?”

“Uh, yeah. I think so.”

“How many times have you seen her in a bikini? Hell, you really have seen her naked before, even before I did. It’s really not a big deal.”

Alex felt he had to go further. “But I didn’t just turn away. I stopped and watched for a minute.”

“Okay,” Tim drew the word out. “I get it. What guy wouldn’t, though, right? I would, especially if it had been a while since I got laid. Besides, I’m flattered guys still want to check out my wife. She’s hot, right?”

“Yeah, Stacey is definitely hot. She’s kept it tight.” Alex could not believe how cool Tim was about this. He was relieved he’d gotten it off his chest.

“No worries, buddy. I bet Stacey would even get a kick out of it if we told her.” he watched his friend’s reaction and added, “But don’t worry, I won’t.”

Tim went up to take his shower and Alex kept an eye on the steaks, but found time to keep glancing inside to check out Stacey. A few minutes after Tim went upstairs, she disappeared, too. Alex really hoped his friend would keep his mouth shut.

Stacey was glad her husband hadn’t locked the bathroom door. He was just stepping out and reaching for his towel when she slipped into the bathroom. She studied him for a moment before he noticed she was there. It was the second man she’d encountered in a bathroom in less than an hour—the difference being that Tim was fully nude, not just half-naked like Alex. And she enjoyed this view even more. Her husband was lighter, both in skin tone and in his brown hair, which he kept short and had begun to thin a little in recent years. His blue eyes were startling without his glasses in the way. She smiled thinking about the way his goatee felt when he kissed her. Tim had nearly no body hair, except for the curls he kept trimmed down near his cock. And that was where her eyes rested. She’d come upstairs for a reason.

“Hey, honey, is dinner ready?” he asked.

“Just about,” she replied, coming closer. “It can wait a minute.” She stood up on tip-toes and kissed him. He responded and snaked an arm around her, his hand resting on her butt.

“Mmm, what brought this on?”

“Can’t a wife just want to molest her husband? You know, with the kids at your mom’s tonight we can have all the fun we want.”

To make her point, she grasping his growing shaft and softly stroked it. She did not want to tell him what really had her fired up. All the flirting in the basement, combined with her encounter with Alex, mixed with a good dose of alcohol, and Stacey felt hornier than she had in a long time. She would have had Tim bend her over the sink right there if dinner wouldn’t have burned. Instead, she teased her husband with promises of greater delights later. She pushed her tongue into his mouth for a brief, hot kiss, and then circled it around his nipple. His cock surged in her hand. She smoothly crouched down in front of him and flashed a smile before taking him into her mouth. She sucked him slowly, sliding back and forth as if savoring every inch. Which she was. God, she wanted him inside her. With just the sensitive tip left in her mouth, she bathed him with her tongue and he had to hold onto the sink for balance.

“Jeez, honey. Mmm...”

Stacey had the reaction she wanted. She gave the tip a final kiss and stood up and kissed his mouth. “Try not to be too distracted through dinner,” she said.

“Hell, let’s kick Alex out now.”

“He worked hard today. We owe him dinner, at the very least.”

“You’re right. Maybe we can wet your top again, too. He liked seeing it the first time.”

“Stop it.”

“Come on. I know you saw the way he was looking at you.”

She kept her thoughts to herself, and replied, “It’s just because he needs to get laid.”

“Give yourself more credit than that, hon. You’re still a piece of ass.”

“Gee, thanks.” Actually, it felt good to hear.

“You know what I mean. I bet Alex would jump at the chance to sleep with you again.”

“He can look all he wants,” she said, doing a brief twirl in the limited space of the bathroom. “But only you get to touch.”

“You could say that.”

“So I could lend you, like my drill.”

Alex wondered what had kept the couple upstairs, but didn’t say anything. Stacey came down first, looking rather pleased with herself, followed by Tim a few minutes later. She finished the dinner prep, while Tim set the table and Alex carried things over. All three were famished and they dug into the meal without much conversation. Compliments on the meal went around the table and when they finished, Stacey announced she was going into the living room to relax while the guys took care of the dishes.

Stacey sat in the living room sipping her wine and hoping that her husband was telling Alex to make himself scarce quickly. She even considered disappearing upstairs and slipping into something sexy to lay in wait for Tim. But instead, she sat and listened to the radio. She was a little disappointed when Alex came out of the kitchen first and sat on the couch. She was in the big, comfy chair she usually sat in to read.

“Hey, Stacey,” Alex said. He had a fresh beer and drank from it. That did not suggest he planned on leaving any time soon.

“What’s up, Alex?” she replied, feigning a yawn. “It’s getting late, isn’t it?”

“No, just been a long, busy day, that’s all.”

Tim joined them shortly and sat at the other end of the couch from Alex. Stacey tried shooting him a look—to remind him he was supposed to be getting rid of Alex—but he didn’t get it. She thought she must be losing her touch if he had forgotten their little interlude upstairs in the bathroom. She sipped her wine and tried not to think about how horny she was.

“How’s the dating going, buddy?” Tim asked.

“It’s tough. I make a good living and I don’t think I’m a bad looking guy, but I can’t seem to meet a woman I’d want to spend any time with.”

“You’re a good looking guy,” Stacey said. “I can’t believe the women aren’t lining up.”

“I didn’t say there weren’t women, but there’s not a line.” Alex watched her tanned legs—her skirt had settled around mid-thigh when she tucked her legs up under herself. If there was a line, he’d want Stacey to be right at the head of it. He flashed back to her ass in those panties. It was tight, but surprisingly round for a woman so in shape.

“I’m not just looking for sex.”

“Come on, a man has needs.”

So does a woman, she thought, and reflected back on how he looked shirtless, ready to jump in the shower. If Tim wasn’t going to get rid of his friend, maybe she should drag him upstairs instead. It reminded her of her kinkier fantasies. Those fantasies were much more on her mind since she’d given into peer pressure and downloaded Fifty Shades of Grey.

“I’m not sure I’m hearing the problem,” Tim said.

“The problem is that he’s not just looking for sex. Sounds like you’re jealous.”

Tim fumbled for an answer, which was answer enough.

“Hey, if you’re tired of Stacey I’d be more than willing to step in for you,” Alex suggested. The beer was had him back to pushing the limits of flirting.

“It would be like that movie with Ryan Reynolds and Jason Bateman.”

Stacey laughed at her husband. “Except that neither one of you is Ryan Reynolds or Jason Bateman. At the end of that, Jason Bateman couldn’t get back to his wife fast enough, remember.”

“I think he just likes the idea of being with another woman after all these years.”

“I can speak for myself, thank you,” Tim said. “Come on, Stacey don’t tell me you never think about it. I know you do—you’ve admitted it!”

“Really?” Alex said. “So just who would you like to screw?”

Both guys were staring at her and Stacey couldn’t help blushing. Just how much of their private lives was Tim willing to discuss in front of their friend? When they shared fantasies and intimate thoughts, she did not expect Tim to ever tell anyone else about them. “We’ve had that talk—y’know—about which celebrities you’d get a free pass for.”

“So which ones?” Alex asked.

She stared into her wine and refused to answer. Tim stepped in.

“Colin Farrell is at the top of her list. We only discussed a top five.”

“Why are we only talking about me? Tell him yours.”

“Sure. Sofia Vergara is at the top of mine, but I’d have to gag her. I couldn’t put up with that accent for more than five minutes.”

“I hear that. I don’t think she would be my first choice, though.”

“Oh, what’s your type?” Stacey was happy the focus had shifted from her.

Alex resisted his immediate answer, but did look over at her. Instead, he answered, “Stacy Keibler is hot.”

“Yeah. Guess you have a thing for leggy Staceys,” Tim agreed, without a hint of jealousy.

“I’m no Stacy Keibler. What is she, six feet tall? I’m only five eight, and I do not look like that in a bikini.”

“He’s right.”

“Thanks, but you guys are crazy.” She knew she was enjoying Alex’s attention and compliments more than she should, and blamed the wine.

“Don’t be modest. Go upstairs and put on a bikini. We’ll wait,” Alex said.

“So you think I’m just going to model a bikini for you guys?”

“It would make my night,” Tim said.

“I don’t think so. You’ll just have to use your imagination.” She imagined posing while the guys lusted for her, and a thrill ran down her spine. She really needed to get rid of Alex.

“Or our memories. I can remember a month ago.”

“Flattery isn’t going to get you anywhere. I’m staying put.”

“So would you guys really do it? I know Colin Farrell was just in town shooting a movie. If Stacey had run into him and one thing led to another, would that have been okay?”

“I’m sure I would have to do more than just run into him. I’d probably have to tie him down.”

“He might be into that sort of thing. You never know. He did make that sex tape,” Tim said.

“How about it?” Alex pressed.

Tim took a long, careful look at his wife before answering. The fact was, he’d teased her about this very thing when he saw on the news that they were shooting that movie in town. He’d even told Stacey to go downtown and hang out. She’d told him that if he kept on teasing her she just might do it. But later in bed, when he teased her about fucking Colin Farrell, they'd had some pretty incredible sex. He kept whispering about the things "Colin" was doing to her and she came quickly and more than once.

"Yeah, I totally would."

"Really? It would be okay with you if I slept with another man?"

"Not just randomly cheating, no. Of course not. But in a crazy situation like that or that other thing we've talked about, sure. I know you're not going anywhere."

"What situation is that? This is getting good," Alex said. Now that he knew there was a situation where Tim wouldn't mind Stacey fucking someone else, he wanted to know more. It would feed his fantasies about her when he was jerking off later.

"No comment," she quickly answered. When Tim looked like he was about to speak she repeated it. Firmly. "No comment."

Tim pressed on. "Didn't you and Joan used to discuss who's hot in everyday life? Like people you just saw?"

"Not if I wanted to keep my head," Alex said.

"She really wasn't any fun, was she?" Stacey asked. She could not help feeling bad for him, even if she hated this part of the conversation. "I can handle it if Tim thinks Briana's teacher is cute. It's not like she would have him."

"Hey! Stranger things have happened. Buddy, you should see this girl. She can't be more than twenty-five, and wow! Let's just say parent-teacher conferences are my highlight of the school year."

"Damn, none of my kids' teachers look like that," Alex said.

"If we knew her better I would try to set you up, though I'm sure she has a boyfriend," Stacey said.

"What about me?"

"She doesn't look like the homewrecker type. Besides, you should focus on someone more realistic." Inwardly, she wondered if her husband would have a shot with Miss Melanie. There were a lot of women who looked at a handsome successful man like Tim and fell for him—precisely because he was a family man. It made them seem stable. And there was always the lure of the unobtainable. She recalled the English teacher in high school she'd tortured with shameless flirting. The poor guy's wife probably didn't know what hit her when he got home.

“There’s that woman, Laura that you work with,” Alex helpfully suggested.

“Yes, your work wife,” Stacey added.

“She’s hot,” Tim agreed. He and Laura had worked on several projects together and they’d immediately built up a flirty banter between them. She was an attractive, petite brunette, pretty much the opposite of his wife. If he was going to get Stacey in bed with another woman, Laura was his leading candidate. And he half-thought that if he could get the two women together—and there was enough wine—he could make it happen. There was just the little problem of Laura’s husband. He probably would not be pleased to be left out.

It was a risk Tim would be willing to take.

“Would you let him, though?” Alex asked.

“Hmm, I don’t know if let is the right word,” Stacey replied. “I know things happen, and I get that sometimes sex is just sex. Tim knows I wouldn’t leave him, but if something happened, I would just prefer not to know about it. If Tim had to get something out of his system, I say, let him do it discreetly, and move on.”

“That’s pretty progressive, Stacey.”

“It’s not like we have an open marriage, or we’re swingers. Don’t get the wrong idea, Alex. If Tim goes out and starts sleeping around, I’ll kill him.”

“It’s confusing. It’s best to just avoid the whole thing,” Tim said, then turned to his friend. “I don’t quite follow her logic either.”

“Don’t make it sound like I’m crazy. You know what I mean.”

“And you’re okay with Stacey doing this, too?” Alex was fascinated. There were no circumstances where Joan would have been okay with him sleeping with another woman. And if he’d ever found out Joan had cheated, he would have hunted the guy down. Knowing how open Stacey was made her even more appealing. He wondered what else she might be open to.

“So who do you lust after, Stacey?”

“Can we discuss something else? You already know more than enough about this,” Stacey said.

“We’re all friends. We can share everything,” Alex laughed. He loved seeing Stacey squirm. As she shifted on the chair, more of her legs had become exposed and he wished he could will her skirt higher, hoping to turn thought into motion.

“He knows about Laura. You can tell him about Graham,” Tim said.

“She’s being modest,” Tim said. “He’s the guy all the housewives go to for workouts. There’s a waiting list to get an appointment with him. Stacey and her friend talk about him over coffee when they think I’m not listening.”

“Oh, I know you’re listening. I just don’t care.” She stuck her tongue out at him, and then smiled. She could see Graham in the too-small wife-beater tank top that showcased his perfectly sculpted body and the tribal tattoos that adorned his thick, muscular arms. She only wished he didn’t also wear those baggy basketball shorts in the gym. She wanted to see the whole package. He kept his black hair buzzed down in the summertime, but she thought it looked better longer in the winter. Watching him working the weights was a pleasant way to pass her time on the elliptical. Graham was the type of man who could only exist in captivity, in the gym. He’s just too ridiculously sexy to spot in the wild. In her fantasies, he came onto her late at night in the deserted locker room at the gym and took her. She was just pressed down with her back against the hard bench, so she could watch him moving over her. No words passed between them. Stacey suspected if he spoke, it would ruin everything.

“Are you still with us?” Tim asked. He recognized the faraway look in her eyes and knew just what she was thinking about.

“Uh, yeah, sorry. What were we talking about?” She was getting too horny to be embarrassed. She drained her wineglass. Who cared if Alex knew all her intimate secrets? If there was one other person she could trust them with—besides her husband—it was him. Part of her knew that if she got any hornier, she wasn’t going to care if he was sitting there. She was going to fuck Tim right there on the coffee table. She longed to be touched.

“Please,” she joked.

“No, I wouldn’t just let her go off and do it.”

Tim knew it was crazy to even contemplate, but he would give Stacey whatever fantasy she wanted if it got him his. He could handle sharing her, though probably not with some stud from the gym. That might be intimidating. But he was not a jealous man and thought it might even be hot to see her losing control from all that attention. He loved to watch her play with herself, something she would do as a special treat for him. As he thought about it, he'd be most comfortable with someone like Alex. He trusted his best friend implicitly, and it would probably be best to be with someone they both knew well. He didn't think it would be awkward afterward. And Stacey might even be more comfortable with it since she'd already slept with Alex all those years ago.

Tim had never before seriously considered giving her that fantasy—he wasn't even sure how serious she was about doing it—but now a plan emerged fully formed in his mind. Alex hadn't gotten laid in a long time. He knew Stacey was horny—she'd been drinking virtually all day. Maybe this was the perfect time to try some experimenting. He started thinking of the women he could get her into bed with when it was his turn.

"I didn't think so," Alex said, snapping Tim back into the conversation.

"Isn't it always like that? Men are so selfish," she said. She took the bottle from the coffee table and tipped more wine into her glass.

"If you really want to know what she's about, turn on her Kindle," Tim suggested.

"Hey! No!" Stacey protested. She fumbled for the Kindle, which was sitting on an end table between her chair and the couch. But she was too uncoordinated from the wine and Alex easily snapped it up.

"Really? Fifty Shades of Grey? I thought you were better than this, Stacey." He scanned a couple of pages, but she did not seem to be stopped on a steamy part.

"Give me a break. Everyone's been talking about it. I had to see what it's all about."

"Isn't that what every housewife says?" Tim teased.

"I'm not a housewife."

"You know what I meant. There's a reason they're calling this thing 'mommy porn.'"

"You seem to know an awful lot about it."

"Don't deflect this onto me. It's all over the press. Everyone knows about it."

"Check out her bookmarks," Tim encouraged. Stacey stared daggers at him. Tim ignored it, he was not trying to embarrass her. In fact, Tim didn't know quite what he was doing, but he knew what his goal was.

"Okay, now I see it. I get where this is kind of hot, but it's so cheesy," Alex said after scanning the text.

"Come on, give it back. We're not doing this."

Alex read aloud from the part involving Ana being bound with a necktie and touched. When he finished reading, he turned to Stacey and asked, "So does Tim make your inner goddess glow? You can't possibly like this."

"It's the idea that's hot, not the writing. Who the hell has an inner goddess? It's reading it and being able to picture it in your head," she explained, although she couldn't believe she was doing it. She drank more wine.

By the end of the evening, Alex really was going to know everything about her.

"I think she likes to picture herself in the scene," Tim said.

"Stop helping," She objected. Now she was horny, and getting a little pissed. Maybe she would just use him and then kick him out of bed anyway. It would serve him right.

"So you want a guy to do all this to you? That's pretty damn hot, Stacey."

"I never said that." She was admitting nothing.

"Does Tim announce everything he's going to do to you like this guy?"

"I'm done talking about this."

Tim jumped back in. "All I know is that after she's reads it she's all over me. It's like Viagra for her."

"I hope you like the couch," Stacey fumed.

"You're not going to make me sleep on the couch. You're too horny," Tim challenged

"Tim! Screw you!"

"Keep reading, buddy."

"You can read it to Tim. Maybe you'll get him off. I'm going upstairs."

"No you're not," Tim countered.

Stacey stood and set her wineglass down on the coffee table, but before she could flee the room, Tim jumped off the couch and grabbed her. Like before, she fought back, but Tim threw her back into the chair and then grabbed her arms from behind. His grip was tight, almost painful. She pulled against him, but there wasn't much wiggle room. She was trapped. Alex watched them with shock. Stacey was red-faced and angry, but Tim thought things were working perfectly so far.

"Go on, keep reading," he encouraged.

Stacey struggled against her husband, but she listened to what Alex was reading. The words sank in, and it was even hotter to hear about the girl in the book, Ana, being tied up while she, too, was restrained. She had never come right out and told Tim that she wanted to be tied down—as open as they were with each other she couldn't imagine that—but he was right about her jumping him after reading the ebook. If she was reading in the evening, she would try to get the kids down early so she could lure Tim up to the bedroom before it was time to go to sleep. Once, they didn't even make it upstairs. He took her on the floor of the playroom while they were cleaning up toys.

Tim felt her relax, but kept his hold strong. He wouldn't put it past her to lull him into a false sense of security, and then try to bolt. Her breathing had become slow and steady and he realized that she was really listening to Alex and getting into it. He watched the rise and fall of her chest and wished there was some way he could get her top off without letting go. If ever there was going to be a time to try something, it was now.

"Put that down and take her arms," Tim said to Alex.

Alex looked surprised, but moved quickly to take Tim's place. That snapped Stacey out of her trance. She tried to break free when Alex took her arms. She pushed off the chair and leaned forward. But both guys pulled her back by the shoulders. The way they grabbed Stacey, made her pussy throb. She kept fighting, but the struggle only turned her on more. It wasn't like anything Stacey had ever felt before. Alex took both her arms and pulled them above her head. She used the moment to try to break free; Alex was too fast for her. And part of her was hoping she wouldn't escape. He did not grip her as tightly as her husband, but his hold was just as strong. She felt even more vulnerable with her arms held above her like that. Her breasts seemed to jut out, like she was asking someone to grab them.

"What are you playing at guys? Isn't holding me hostage once today enough?" She didn't have quite the same fight in her voice as before.

"I'm just helping Alex get an answer to his question. I'm curious about it myself," Tim said.

Tim knelt in front of the chair and Stacey squeezed her legs tightly together. All her working out really paid off, he thought, as he pried at her knees. Her thighs were locked like a vice. He could see the strain on her face as she fought him. Her bare feet were planted firmly on the floor. He did the only thing he could think of—he tickled her sides.

When she instinctively pulled her legs up to protect herself, he pushed her knees apart, and moved between them to keep them apart. Stacey still struggled against her husband, but with Alex holding her arms in place there was not much she could do. Tim’s fingers danced along her inner thigh, moving under her skirt. The gentle touch was unexpected, and felt so good that she could not contain her sigh. He pushed her skirt higher as he touched her. Nearly all of her legs were exposed. Only her crotch remained draped. She did not want to react to his touch, but that was impossible in her current state. She’d been thinking about sex for hours now—anticipating it—and his hand felt too good to ignore. He watched her closely to gauge her reaction. She could only guess Alex was watching her just as closely from above. She did not dare look up to see. He would see the excitement on her face, and she still had hope she could control herself and get out of this. Stacey did not know if she was ready for this particular fantasy to come true, especially not like this, restrained. If she was going to have a threesome, she wanted to be an active participant.

Tim could tell from the tension in her upper body that she was still pulling against Alex’s hands, but his grip was strong. He snuck a quick look at his friend and saw he was still very much onboard. No doubt he wanted to see how far Tim would take this. Tim was curious himself how far Stacey would let him take it. Despite her struggling, she hadn’t seriously told him to stop yet. He was confident that he knew his wife well enough. When she really wanted him to stop, he would know it. Stacey jumped when his fingers grazed her baby blue cotton panties. Tim could feel they were already damp. Knowing she really was enjoying this only emboldened him. He pressed his fingers to her sex and she gasped. She squirmed while he gently massaged her pussy through her panties. Her eyes closed, and she worked to breathe steadily and calmly. Watching her struggle to maintain control made him rock hard. Her panties rapidly soaked through. He pressed his knuckle between her puffy lips and nudged her clit. Stacey bit her lip and barely contained her moan.

“Yes, honey?”

“We...ohhh...shouldn’t be doing this.” Her voice was low and strained.

“It doesn’t seem like you want me to stop.”

“But...”

Alex looked down and although her skirt still covered Tim’s hand, he knew what his best friend was doing. He only wondered if Tim was actually fingering her, or just rubbing her. Either way, it was the hottest thing he’d ever seen. It was unbelievable that Tim was including him in this. Stacey’s pretty face had taken on a whole different dimension as she’d become aroused. Her brow furrowed and her lips were just barely parted. The faintest hint of a moan escaped her lips when she exhaled. Her tits pressed against her top and the hard points of her nipples looked ready to tear through it. Alex so wanted to grab those tits. Unfortunately, both of his hands were busy. Stacey fought him hard at first, but the more Tim touched her, the weaker her tugging became. He stared hard at her lap and wished Tim would move her skirt just a bit higher.

Tim peeled her panties to the side and without warning pushed two fingers deeply inside her. Stacey cried out and twisted in the chair. It appeared to Tim that Alex almost lost his grip when she pulled, but he held her, pulling even harder on her arms, which stretched out her lean body. She quivered when Tim crooked his fingers inside her and gently massaged her g-spot. Her pussy was snug around his fingers. He felt every ripple of her excitement. Her jade eyes finally snapped open and gazed pleadingly into his, but it wasn’t clear just what she wanted. With her full attention, he pulled his fingers back until only his fingertips touched her lips. Then he thrust those fingers back inside her and her mouth formed a curious “O” shape. He slowly worked his fingers in and out of her as his thumb found her clit. Stacey moaned his name and sank back into the chair, sliding her butt closer to the edge.

“You don’t really want me to stop, do you?” Tim said.

“Do you want Alex to let you go?”

“Nooo...”

Stacey was torn. The fingers in her pussy felt so good. There was no way they should be doing this, but she couldn't stop it. Her husband touched her perfectly, just like he always did. He always had the ability to turn her on with just a simple touch, and when he really put his mind to it—like now—she was putty in his hands.

But her need could not completely shut down her brain. Stacey was already thinking ahead. Apparently Tim wanted to have a threesome with Alex. She knew this wasn't going to stop with Tim only getting her off. It would be hot, but not very fair to their friend. She was sure Alex had a raging hard-on. Looking down, she could see the tent in Tim's shorts. Tim had never before expressed a desire to see her with another man. It was nice to know he could still surprise her after so many years.

She turned her wrists in Alex's hands so she could grab his wrists, too. She did not want him to let go. She liked being held like that, and it made things easier for her if they kept the pretense they were making her do this. As she thought about the things the three of them could do together, she squeezed Tim's fingers inside her. But if Alex was not holding her there, she couldn't be sure she wouldn't get cold feet and try to run away. The test came when Tim inched her tank top up with his free hand. Yes, Alex was watching Tim finger her, but he still couldn't see anything. Crazy, the thought of being exposed to Alex panicked her. She closed her thighs on Tim's hand and pulled hard to break away, but the guys had her helpless.

"Honey, I don't know," she moaned. "We shouldn't..." What would Alex think of her body? The last time he saw her she was a tight eighteen-year-old. She was fit, but her breasts weren't as perky as they used to be. Would he see her stretch marks and judge her? Despite the compliments he threw her way, Stacey did not want to be judged against her younger self.

"Yes, we should," Tim answered, without stopping. He fought against her efforts to trap her tank top against the back of the chair and pulled it up over her tits, exposing a lace-trimmed, navy blue bra with leopard print piping under the cups. It was one of his favorites, and he hoped Alex appreciated it too. His friend was seeing something meant only for his eyes. Her nipples poked through the cups like the light padding wasn't even there. He was glad she hadn't worn one of her usual heavily padded ones. Those things seemed like they could stop a bullet, he could hardly feel anything through them when he groped her. But in this bra, he could thumb her nipples, and he watched as she bit her bottom lip again. He thought it was so sexy when she did that, because it was how she always reacted when she got really turned on, like she was trying to hold back, but just couldn't. He dragged a thumbnail over her nipple. She shook, and relaxed her thighs once again. Sometimes, he could almost make her cum just from playing with those sensitive nipples.

"I've got an idea. Keep her here," Tim said.

Stacey stared at him in disbelief as he withdrew his fingers from her drenched pussy and stopped touching her breasts. She was so close to climax and angry that he just stopped. "Baby, don't go," she whispered.

"Don't worry. I'll be right back."

Left alone with Stacey, Alex did not know what to do or say. It hardly seemed the time for idle chit-chat. Instead he maintained his grip on her and watched as her tits heaved while she breathed heavily and wished her bra would magically disappear. How was it that he was going to see her naked twice in one day? Sneaking a peek from down the hallway had made him hard—seeing her up close had him about ready to cum in his pants. He wouldn't push things, but he hoped Tim did not plan on him to just be a spectator.

"You can let me go now," she said. Her long pink nails played along the insides of his wrists. It felt good to Alex.

"So you can run and hide? I don't think so. Besides, Tim's right, I don't think you want me to let you go."

"I won't run, I promise. My arms are just getting tired." She tilted her head back to look up at him. She looked sincere. He liked how her cheeks flushed red against her creamy skin.

"Okay, but just for a minute."

Stacey took her arms down and rubbed her wrists where he'd been holding them. She wasn't lying, her arms were getting sore from being held in the position. But she didn't know if she wanted to wait and see what her husband had in store. The moment Alex relaxed, she bolted from the chair. He was between her and the steps, so she ran toward the fireplace to draw him into the room. Alex came around the chair and she juked the other way. She felt his fingers barely scramble on her back before he grabbed her bra. Alex showed no mercy and yanked her back by it. The underwire dug painfully into her ribs and she yelped. She slammed into him and they both fell backwards until he hit the wall. His arm went around her, his hand landing right on her breast. Given the situation, he didn't feel obliged to remove it, and copped a feel. Her nipple pressed into his palm and Stacey froze. He wrapped his other arm around her, his hand resting on her flat tummy. His thumb picked at the waist of her skirt and his hand dropped a little lower, just above her mound. She held her breath, wondering how far he would go. No other man had touched her like this in over fifteen years.

Alex desperately wanted to move his hand lower and touch her, but he was nervous. He didn't know how far Tim wanted to take this, and he didn't want to overstep his bounds. She was still, like she was anticipating his next move. He would have sworn she wanted him to touch her. Just as he worked up the nerve, Tim came back into the room. He shifted his hand from her tit.

"She tried to get away," Alex said quickly.

"Looks like she almost did."

"Don't you think we've gone far enough? You made your point," Stacey said, struggling against Alex.

"What's my point?" Tim stood back and watched Stacey in Alex's arms. A strange thrill shot through him, straight down to his cock. When she didn't answer, he added, "We're waiting."

Was he really going to make her say it—right there—in front of Alex? She never felt so helpless before. She was always in control of the situation. At work, she knew if she wore a shorter skirt or tight pants, she'd have the doctor eating right out of her hand. At home, she had her way. But now, she felt totally at Tim's mercy. It was frightening and thrilling.

"That Fifty Shades of Grey turns me on?"

"It's not my only point. Bring her over here."

It was strange to be a bystander to the couple's power play. Alex admired how easily Tim was taking control of Stacey, a willful woman. And he saw her in an entirely different light. She was more than just a friend's sexy wife and mother. Just how kinky could she get? Alex did as Tim asked, dragging a resisting Stacey back to the middle of the living room.

Tim held up one of her long, silk scarves and gathered it until there were enough layers to keep her from seeing through it.

"My other point," Tim said, "Is that you'd like some of that stuff done to you."

"I don't know about that. We could try it sometime when we're alone. Hey! No! You don't have to do that."

“It’ll be more fun this way.” Tim pulled the scarf over her eyes. When he found it difficult to knot it over her ponytail, he let her hair down—he liked it better that way, anyway—then knotted it at the back of her head. He tested to make sure it was secure and waved his hand in front of her face until it was clear she couldn’t see it.

Stacey was plunged into darkness, and did not like it. The guys spun her around and she became totally disoriented. She tried to picture the living room around her to find her bearings, but it didn’t help. She could hear the guys moving around her, hear them breathing, but they’d stopped talking. One of them held onto her arms at all times to keep her from fleeing or removing the blindfold, but it felt like they were switching off. The helplessness she’d felt before was nothing compared to this. It was thrilling.

“Please take off the blindfold,” she pleaded. No one answered.

Her arms were jerked upward and someone yanked her tank top over her head. She shouted for them to stop, but again she was ignored. Her arms were freed too briefly to break away. She was getting used to that. She fought even harder when her bra was unhooked. They had to let her arms go again to remove her bra, and she slung them wildly, connecting solid blows on—someone. Stacey thought she recognized Tim’s voice when he muttered in pain. They got her flailing arms under control again and she was back where she started—except topless. She was panting, and utterly confused by her conflicting feelings.

“Shouldn’t we have a safe word or something?” she nervously chuckled.

The knot at the waist of her skirt was untied and the skirt pulled down her legs. She struggled against the hands holding her as the instinct to cover herself kicked in, but that wasn’t possible. In the darkness, she imagined the guys pouring over her nearly nude body and thinking about what they wanted to do to her. It made her ache and wish they’d do something—anything—other than just look.

“I don’t know about that, but you if try to get away again you’re going to get spanked,” Tim said. He was to her left, so Alex was still holding her arms.

“You’ve got to be kidding,” she replied.

The answer came in the form of a sharp, stinging slap to her rear. She cried out and jumped, fighting Alex’s hold, which only brought another slap on her ass. She couldn't help crying out, but she did stop fighting. Tim began fondling her breasts with both hands, teasing her hard nipples with his thumbs before lightly pinching and tugging them. He knew all her triggers and he touched her perfectly. For a moment, she even forgot how strange it was to be standing, almost naked, in the middle of the living room. She leaned back, submitting, and pressed against Alex while she enjoyed her husband's touch. Her hands touched Alex and turning them she realized she was right at his crotch. It was easy to find his prick through his shorts. He was rock hard, and she felt this through his shorts. His grasp on her arms tightened. She enjoyed doing a little of the teasing for a change.

Alex was surprised Stacey went for his cock, but he wasn't complaining. She'd been pretty passive up until now. He'd been satisfied with the view of Tim playing with her tits, but having her touching his cock while he watched was even better. Now he just needed to get her hands inside his shorts. She was moaning softly while Tim touched her, and shifting from foot to foot. He had been wondering when it was going to be his turn for some fun, and was glad when Tim gestured for them to change places. Tim took her arms and Alex stood in front of her, taking a good, long look before he got to business.

Stacey was pretty sure the guys had changed places. She couldn't tell the difference from the hands on her arms. Whoever had her now was standing out of reach, but she had been let go for a moment. When her breasts were touched again, she tried to sense if the hands were different. They felt about the same, but the way she was touched was very different. She knew it was Alex. Tim touched her with confidence, because he knew what he was doing, but Alex touched her like it was the first time again. She felt a special buzz knowing it was another man touching her. Having anyone other than her husband touch her so intimately was something she never thought she would experience again. There was a moment of guilt that she was so excited by it. Alex ran his hands gently over her breasts, teasing her nipples, before he cupped the firm mounds in his hands and massaged them. As he grew more comfortable, his touch became firmer and he played with her nipples. It felt like he was trying to imitate what Tim had done to her, but Alex grew more aggressive. He pinched her nipples harder and mashed her breasts in his hands. She liked the rough treatment and gasped, pushing her tits into his hands.

Tim's cock throbbed while watching his best friend manhandle his wife. It wasn't the reaction he expected. He never thought he was one of those wife-watching guys, but it was hot to see Stacey get so excited from another perspective. From her moans and body language, he knew she liked Alex's hands. But he didn't like just holding her arms. Tim wanted to touch her, too. He thought about binding her hands with her bra, but then was inspired. He tapped Alex's shoulder and had him step back for a second.

"I'll be right back," he whispered. But then Tim took a look at his wife and couldn't leave just yet. Tim placed a hand on Stacey's shoulder and kissed her deeply. He dropped his other hand, cupped her pussy and squeezed. She stiffened, and then sagged as he massaged her pussy. The couple kissed fiercely, while Alex stood on the sidelines and watched. When Stacey tried to raise her hands and touch Tim, Alex took his place behind her again and held her arms.

The kiss left Stacey breathless. She staggered when she was released. Her panties were plastered to her pussy. She needed them to stop teasing, but she was not ready to beg yet. Instead she tried to gather her composure while the boys decided what to do next. They were clearly flying by the seat of their pants. This was not the practiced seduction of Christian Grey. He took Ana smoothly and deliberately. Her husband and their friend were more like two boys who'd just gotten a new toy and couldn't decide what to do first.

Tim tapped Alex's shoulder and again said he'd be right back. In the meantime, he told his friend to, "Have fun." Tim held Stacey in place.

Stacey was pleased when she was kissed again. She loved kissing. The first kiss was from her husband, she'd been sure. But now she wasn't so confident. Both men had facial hair and their kisses were very similar. If she'd been able to touch, she would have been able to tell who was who. But did it really matter? She returned the second kiss just as passionately as the first. She greedily accepted his tongue and moaned into the kiss when he touched her pussy. The second kisser held the back of her head, instead of her shoulder, but he rubbed her pussy just the same. His fingers worked between her lips, pressing her panties with them. The friction on her clit was wonderful and she went weak in the knees. The hands holding her arms back kept her steady. When her mystery kisser—she still thought it was Alex—swept her panties to the side and plunged a finger inside her, Stacey swayed against him. The finger pumped into her, pushing her higher into ecstasy, but it wasn't enough. She needed one of them to fuck her, and soon. She so wanted to cum.

Alex kept kissing her when Tim released her arms and slipped from the room. She did not seem to notice her arms were no longer being held, and kept them behind her back. It was strange to be left alone with Stacey to have fun, but it didn't slow him down. She whimpered when he stopped fingering her, but it was only because he wanted to touch more of her. Alex held her beautiful face while they kissed and massaged her tits. He liked the way she tensed when he did something she particularly liked. She finally seemed to realize her arms were free and he felt her hands caressing his arms.

As soon as she touched Alex, she knew it was him. Tim wasn't a werewolf, but he had hairier arms than his friend. And when her hands slid up his arms, she felt the edge of Alex's black t-shirt instead of her husband's striped polo. She flicked her tongue back into his mouth. Knowing it was him only made her want to be sexier. She felt guilty being with Alex, not her husband, made her hotter, but she didn't care. She was almost horny enough to grab a passing stranger. Besides, she could always claim she wasn't sure who she was with. Was Tim just watching them? She couldn't picture him sitting back to watch her fool around with another man. Alex trailed his hand back down her body and pushed it inside her panties this time. His fingers brushed her swollen, wet lips and she dug her nails into his arms.

"Mmm, Alex," she moaned when he nibbled the side of her neck. His fingers kept brushing past her cunt, and she thought she was going to scream in frustration when he finally flicked her clit. She raked her nails through his hair and trembled. She was so close now.

So she did know it was him. Alex thought she had to be able to tell who she was with. And she didn't care! He was definitely going to fuck her tonight. It seemed like she was about to cum, too. He wanted to be the first one to make her cum.

"Here, raise her arms up," Tim said, walking into the room. He'd been in the doorway watching his friend and his wife together, for just a moment. It sparked a jealousy inside him he didn't know was there. Their kiss looked so intimate. It also turned him on—almost too much. He rationalized that watching two people get it on was always hot—even if one of the people was his wife.

Again, Stacey was denied. She was sure Tim wanted to hear her beg. At this rate, he was going to get his wish. Her arms were pulled up and apart then she heard tape being pulled from a roll. She did not want to be duct taped. That seemed a step too far. She fought hard against whoever held her, which brought a stinging swat to her ass. She yelped, but didn't stop fighting, which only brought another spanking. She only offered to token resistance after that. If she hadn't been so horny so might have tried to stop them for real, but she was half-drunk and if they were going to finally fuck her, she was willing to trust them. It wasn't like either of the men would actually hurt her. She just didn't like being helpless.

Warm metal was pressed to her wrist and she found she was not only being duct taped, but duct taped to something. It had to be a rod or pole of some kind, because it went across her shoulders and both her wrists were bound to it. They kept winding the tape until there was no chance she could tear free. Fear crawled up her spine. There was no escaping now. And yet, she still did not make them stop.

Tim stepped back, pleased with his handiwork. The old curtain rod from the basement was behind Stacey's shoulders and both her hands were bound to it. He watched her struggle to see if she could tear free, but that wasn't going to happen. He found he was enjoying her helplessness much more than he thought he would. He should have tried tying her down years ago. The question now was what to do next. He knew he was pushing boundaries by restraining her like this, but he wanted to keep pushing now. He wanted to know just how depraved his wife might get.

"Man, she looks hot like that. Jesus," Alex said, whispering. They were standing back from Stacey so she couldn't hear their conversation. With her arms held up like that, her tits were really pushed out and they looked even more fantastic. She twisted this way and that, like she was trying to measure her limitations. Alex was afraid she could lose balance and fall over if she was not careful.

"Yeah, she really does. What do you want to do with her now?" Tim agreed.

"I can hear you guys," she said, but she could only hear their murmuring, not what they actually said.

"What...uh...is on the table?" Alex knew it was time to find out just what Tim was playing at.

Tim had felt his friend's tension all night. It was time to let him relax. This might not be the best idea, there may be some regrets in the morning, but for tonight they were all going to play until Stacey seriously told them to stop.

"Anything, man. If she's cool with it, I am," Alex said. "Do you think it's time to let her cum?"

"Maybe not quite yet. It looks like she's having trouble standing there. Let's make it a little harder." Tim had an evil gleam in his eye.

Stacey didn't think it was possible, but she felt even more helpless than before. At least when she was being held, she could try to jerk away or trick the guys into letting her go, but the unyielding rod across her shoulder would not yield. She also felt more awkward with her hands in this position. One of the guys started touching her breasts again and she sighed. She was so tired of being teased. That fact that it felt so good was becoming irritating. She just wanted to cum!

A second set of hands—Tim's, she thought—began touching her. He kneaded her toned ass and ran his fingers down the backs of her thighs before rubbing her hips and moving his hands forward, tracing the edges of her skimpy bikini-cut panties. She trembled as she waited for him to touch her steaming pussy again. All the attention to her breasts had her aching with need once again. She couldn't recall having been kept on the edge for so long without being satisfied. It was so frustrating and she hoped the guys would take care of her soon, before she lost her mind.

"Guys, at least let me sit down—or lay down," she gasped. It was hard to keep her balance while blindfolded.

"Say please."

She could hear the amusement in her husband's voice. He was definitely the one behind her. She wanted to tell him to go fuck himself, but instead replied, "Please. I don't like standing like this. It's hard. And I feel like I'm on display."

"That's because you are."

"And you look awesome," Alex added.

"Please, guys."

Alex silenced her with a kiss. Her tongue chased his back into his mouth, but then he pulled out of her reach. God, she hated being at their mercy. Tim pulled back on the bar, forcing her shoulders back and pushing her breasts out further. It was like he was presenting them to Alex, who cupped both and started kissing her there. His tongue circled both her nipples in turn, and he lightly pinched whichever one he wasn't kissing. When his teeth grazed her tender flesh, she cried out and twisted, trying to force more of her into his mouth. Tim added to the stimulation, sliding his hand inside her panties and softly rubbing her mound. It only took moments. She came hard. The guys were not fast enough to pull back this time, or they intentionally let her climax—she didn't care which—all that mattered was that she was finally cumming. Her long, low moan was followed by a sharp cry. She tensed so quickly, she lost her balance. Tim jerked her upright by the bar and the tape bit painfully into her wrists, but that didn't matter. Pleasure rushing through her body and cancelled out the pain. Her pussy gushed. She heard it squish as her husband pressed a finger between the cleft of her lips.

"Hey!" Stacey called out when she was unceremoniously thrown over someone's shoulder. She was still breathless from her orgasm as she lay across the shoulder like a rag doll.

Tim followed as Alex carried Stacey back into the dining room. Alex did not want to take the action up to the bedroom, though he didn't completely understand why. Alex carefully sat her on the table and Tim went around to the other side and pulled on the rod so she was laying flat. Her head went back and forth like she was looking around, which was impossible, as she was blindfolded. He waved his hand in front of her face just to be sure, and she didn't react. Alex pulled her panties off.

"What are you guys planning now?" She was actually relieved her panties were gone. She hoped it meant no more teasing. It felt like she was on the dining room table. She felt it's cool, smooth wood beneath her. Laying flat on it was not comfortable, but the guys probably didn't care about that. They just wanted her helpless and on her back. She was ready to oblige them.

"You'll find out," Tim taunted. He was above her head. That meant Alex removed her panties.

"C'mon, you can let me go now. I promise I'll do whatever you want. At least take off the blindfold."

"That sounds awesome, but you can stay put for now. We're having too much fun with you this way," Alex said.

"Yeah. For once, you're just going to have to do what you're told," Tim added.

“You’re so going to pay for this later,” she said.

“But not right now,” Tim said. To make his point, he bent over and pinched both her nipples just roughly enough to add a jolt of sweet pain to the pleasure. She cried out and arched her back at the table.

Alex pushed her legs apart and sat on a chair between them. He had to admit there were advantages to having a bound woman on a table. Going down had never been so easy. He kept her thighs apart and dove right in, kissing her pussy and pushing his tongue between her lips. She moaned and moved her legs up onto his shoulders. She was not shy about showing how much she liked him touching her in front of her husband. Alex didn’t think he’d ever seen a woman so wet. She was dripping and he slurped at her juices while his tongue danced inside her. She wiggled all around and pushed her hips at him. The curtain rod banged on the table as she tried to sit up and was pushed back down. Her cries kept getting louder. It sounded like she was being tortured.

Stacey felt anything but tortured. This was what she wanted. Alex licking her felt so good. He was unfocused at first, but then settled down, and his mouth felt like magic. Tim didn’t go down on her as much as he used to, but he was so good at it that he could make her cum so easily that way. It was fun to feel Alex exploring, then reacting to her body’s cues.

“Oh God!” she cried. Alex was sucking on her clit and fingering her, while Tim played with both nipples. She thought she might pass out. Tim bent down and kissed her, cutting off her cries. This was a huge part of her fantasy of two men, and the guys fulfilled it perfectly. Making out with her husband while Alex went down on her really drove home that she was with two sexy men. The only difference was that in her fantasy, she was touching them and making them crazy, too. But if she’d been free, could she have been so shameless? She was free to fully enjoy all this because, technically, the guys were making her do it. She experienced a brief moment of disappointment when Tim stopped touching and kissing her, but when he turned her head and his cock touched her lips moments later, she opened her mouth happily.

Tim looked down at his beautiful wife sucking his cock and stroked her hair. Her head was at the edge of the table and turned to the side, making her mouth the perfect target. He only had to maneuver the curtain rod lower and out of his way. She looked so hot bound and prone on the table, her pale skin beneath her tan lines flushed with excitement. He tickled his fingers down between her tits and flicked a nipple, which only added to the pleasure she received from Alex licking her pussy. She was so distracted by their friend's oral skills that Tim had to take charge of her sloppy, unfocused blowjob. Holding the back of her head, Tim fed Stacey his cock and slowly fucked her mouth. Stacey didn't usually like that, but she didn't complain now. It seemed like she was up for anything now. She as he pushed deeper and deeper, further than she usually accepted him. Saliva dripped from the corner of her mouth, but Tim did not stop. This was what being in charge meant. As long as he did not harm her—and he never would—he felt he could do as he pleased. He pulled his cock back and she sucked in a deep breath, but then he plunged right back in again.

Stacey reveled in her helplessness. She was surprised by just how much she liked Tim fucking her mouth. She was forced to relax as he pushed deeper, and soon his balls bounced against the side of her face. She was proud to be deep-throating him, even if she was forced to do it. But really, all of her focus was on Alex's amazing mouth. He tongued her clit right until she was about to cum, then backed off. Alex kept her suspended on the edge of orgasm for so long she felt like she was lost in a mist. Stacey's world was finally brought back into sharp focus when Alex brought her to climax, thrusting his fingers hard while sucking on her clit. It was like a lightning bolt shot through her and her back arched off the table. Only the cock filling her mouth muffled her cries. Alex kept sucking and slurping away, dragging her orgasm and on.

Alex lifted his glazed face from Stacey's cunt and stared jealously at his friend. He wanted his cock in her mouth. Tim pulled out of her and she gasped and coughed. The way her chest was heaving and the way she groaned, he could tell she was still coming down from the orgasm he'd just given her. Alex thought it was time he got his.

"Why don't you come up here and give her a try?" Tim suggested, reading Alex's mind. It wasn't that he was concerned about his friend getting off, he just wanted to be the first to fuck his wife tonight. Once he got off, Alex could do as he pleased, as far as Tim was concerned. Somehow, he didn't think Stacey would mind that.

"You'd like to suck Alex's cock, wouldn't you?" He said to his wife.

"Yes, please," she breathed, licking her lips. She could have used a break, but knew the guys wouldn't go for that. She heard the men moving around the dining room, but lost in darkness she could only guess what they might be doing. Only when she felt Alex's cock on her lips did she know he was by her head. She tried to take him into her mouth, but he rubbed it on her lips, and then her face. She knew it looked impossibly slutty. She kept trying to get his prick in her mouth, and she wondered how her husband felt seeing her going for another man like that.

Tim sat back for a minute and watched Stacey with Alex. He wished he could show her a picture of how this looked later. It looked like she was desperate to get Alex in her mouth. Jealousy stabbed at him, but he ignored it. He did, however, decide that this moment had to be saved for posterity. He ducked into the other room for a second and snagged his phone. When he came back, Stacey was avidly sucking Alex's cock. She twisted her body and opened wide, was bobbing back and forth with hollow cheeks. Tim zoomed in and snapped a couple quick pictures of his wife at work. He was ignored completely. He took another couple pictures of her nude, prone body, one without her face in it.

"Christ, Stacey, you suck cock like a champ," Alex cooed. He couldn't tear his eyes away from the pretty blonde sucking his cock. If she did this for Tim often, he was a lucky man. She sucked him like she was really into it. He only remembered Tim was even there when her body jolted and she moaned into his prick.

Stacey was impaled on two cocks and it was just too much stimulus. It wasn't the same as having one of them go down on her while she sucked the other one. This made her feel like she was truly being used. It was an incredible experience. Tim had her legs in the air and he shoved his cock inside her with no warning. He gripped her thighs and hammered her with his shaft. She was so sensitive, she was cumming almost immediately. Alex took control, just like Tim had, and held her head in both hands while he fucked her mouth. He was not quite as long as her husband, so it was easier to take him deep in her mouth. But he was thicker, and after sucking him for a couple minutes, her jaw ached.

It was all just too hot for Tim. After a couple short minutes of vigorously fucking his wife, he rammed it inside her one last time and came. He shivered from head to toe and fell back into one of the chairs. He closed his eyes and took a deep breath and smiled.

Alex was getting close to cumming, too. But there was one more thing he wanted before they finished. He pulled off the blindfold and watched Stacey blink against the bright, overhead lights. Her eyes fixed on him and he wasn't sure what he saw there. Was it desire? Pleading? It didn't matter because that brief, intimate moment made him loose it. His cock jerked and he shot his load into her mouth. She choked and he pulled out, blasting a couple shots across her cheek and nose. When he finished, he laid his shaft against her lips and she kissed it.

For some reason, Stacey didn't think they had the lights all the way up, but they were, and she became very conscious that she was on display. She stared up into Alex's eyes helplessly while he used her mouth, then she was gagging on his cum. He thoughtfully pulled out, but then finished on her face. No one had done that to her in ages. Was it wrong that she wished she had a mirror? When Alex finished, she was left on her own and she took a few moments to gather herself. Oddly, Stacey was energized rather than exhausted. It was like the guys had poured their vitality into her, and now she just wanted to keep going.

"Are you guys going to leave me like this all night?" she asked.

"What if we did?" Tim asked. He had no idea what would happen next.

"Why should we let you up?" Alex asked. "Maybe we're not done with you."

"If you let me up, I promise to make it worth your while."

The guys exchanged glances, and Tim told Alex, "You can let her go." He was very curious as to what his wife would do. He expected she would just run from the room.

Alex did not help her up, but he did free her hands, and take the curtain rod away. She rolled onto her side and rubbed her sore wrists. Her entire body felt stiff. She hopped off the table and did a couple bends and stretches. The guys watched her closely, and she held her positions longer than necessary to give them a good show. She excused herself and walked into the kitchen. It felt odd to be walking around the house nude. She ducked quickly away from the patio doors off the kitchen when she realized the shades were not drawn. The last thing she wanted was the neighbors getting a look at her. She cleaned the gooey mess from her face with a wet paper towel, and drank deeply from an open bottle of wine before returning to the guys. The only thing stranger than her being naked in the living room was seeing both the guys sitting there with no clothing on. Did they feel weird being nude in front of each other?

“What would you guys like me to do next?” Stacey asked, looking from one to the other. She saw Alex was already getting hard again, while her husband was twitching to life.

“So you’re just going to do what you’re told now?” Tim asked. That was not the Stacey he knew.

“I don’t want to be punished again.”

“Alex? What would you like?”

Alex looked to Tim. Even after everything, he knew his friend was still running this show. Tim just nodded.

“Yes, sir.”

Stacey was surprised Tim left it to Alex. She didn’t mind—performing for her husband actually turned her on more—but she did not expect him to just sit back while Alex had his way with her. She did as she was told, wiggling her butt for Tim while she crawled to Alex. She knelt between his legs and held his shaft. It had been a long time since they had dated years ago, but she didn’t remember him being so thick. She kissed and licked the head while staring up at Alex.

“Should I suck your dick?” she asked innocently.

“If you’d like.”

Alex looked down at Stacey taking his cock in her mouth, and couldn’t believe how docile she was. This just wasn’t the Stacey he knew. Had they fucked her senseless? He couldn’t complain. For the second time in one night he was receiving a masterful blow job. She stretched her lips around his shaft and took him deeper and deeper. She massaged his balls, too, and looked like she was really into it. As much fun as it was to have her at his mercy, he liked this blow job much better than the first one. Stacey was sexier when she was free and active.

Tim watched his wife’s pretty blonde head bobbing up and down in their friend’s lap and was mightily confused. He knew watching her like that shouldn’t turn him on, but it did. This was different than when she was tied down. Although she was acting submissive, Stacey was going after what she wanted, not just laying there and being taken. It made him question if she had desired Alex all this time. No, he knew that was crazy. He couldn’t get paranoid and turn what was a hot experience into something negative. Tim had given her permission to play, and she was just making the most of it. After all, the guys had been able to fully enjoy themselves.

Stacey pulled off of Alex's cock and smacked her lips for effect. She was enjoying the role of the eager slut. She found she did not have to be restrained to be submissive. It was an excuse to be more proactive, but still act under guise that she was doing as she was told. Tim sat and watched, and so she assumed he was getting off on this. If that was true, she wondered if she should she keep going with Alex, or go to Tim? She did not want to do the wrong thing and ruin this. So she continued playing her role.

"What should I do now, sirs?" she asked. She stayed on her knees and kept stroking Alex's cock, leaving little doubt about what she wanted to do.

"I know what I want you to do," Alex said. Only one thing was on his mind now.

"Tell her," Tim found himself saying. His heart felt like it was going to pound out of his chest, but now he wanted to see it. He wanted to see them go all the way. He told himself that if Stacey got to do everything she wanted, he would have an open field when he got his threesome.

"Please, tell me," she asked, her hazel eyes locked on him.

"Get up in my lap and fuck me, Stacey."

"Yes, sir." She hoped she didn't sound too enthusiastic.

It was easy to straddle Alex in the chair, and she pressed her breasts to his face. He didn't pass up the opportunity and massaged them both while he went back and forth sucking them. She hung her head forward and purred in his ear. He didn't have the touch her husband did, but it still felt so good. She reached her hand down between them held his cock so she teased the head with her slick lips. He held her just a little tighter. Neither of them could stand to be teased long. She sank down on his shaft and sighed as it opened her up. It was a line she never thought she would cross, like so many others tonight. It was the first time in nearly twenty years that another man—besides her husband—was inside her. Ironically, it was also the last man who'd been inside her before her husband. It was an interesting bookend. She rotated her hips and kept him trapped inside her while working her Kegel muscles around him. When he pinched and pulled her nipples—just at the edge of pain—she gripped him even tighter.

"Fuck, Stacey, that feels good," he moaned.

Tim was rock hard watching his wife fuck Alex. It was the most erotic thing he'd ever seen, and it left him more confused than ever. How could something he'd never even fantasized about—something that should make him livid—turn him on so much? The jealousy was still there, but it was only a reflex. He still felt sick at his stomach when he saw them start to kiss—that felt too intimate—but he stayed in his seat and watched.

Stacey was impressed that Alex did not hesitate when she kissed him, despite the fact she'd spent a good portion of the evening with a cock in her mouth though to be fair, red wine was probably the only thing he could taste now. She ran her fingers through his hair and held his head while dueling with his tongue. His hands slipped to her hips and kept her impaled on his cock. But as fully absorbed by Alex as she was, she couldn't help thinking about her husband watching them. She hoped he was pleased by what he saw. She kissed Alex's cheek, nibbled his ear.

"Is that good, master? Is that what you wanted?"

"You're the sexiest fucking woman I ever met. I wanna fuck you all night, Stacey," he whispered back.

"So I've still got it?"

"You're hotter than ever, babe. Hotter than ever. Fuck me like you mean it. Fuck me like the slut you are tonight."

"Yes, sir. I want to fuck you so bad. I've wanted your dick all night," she cooed. Stacey was not usually a dirty talker, but it was so easy to give in to those primal urges now.

Shifting her movement, Stacey started riding up and down on Alex's shaft. His thick cock felt so good. He felt decidedly different inside her. Not necessarily better, though she did like the way his thicker cock filled her. A tilt of her hips, and he was brushing her g-spot with every thrust. Alex held her ass and helped her move, making her ride him faster and harder. The chair creaked beneath them. Wet sounds from their coupling joined the couple's moans.

"Fuck me...fucking ride me..." Alex grunted.

"Mmm...ahhh...ohhh..." She couldn't help herself and kissed him again, plunging her tongue into his mouth.

Tim stroked his cock as he watched Stacey bounce on Alex's. The dining room reeked of sex. He knew that he should join the couple and make it a threesome, like it was supposed to be. That urge became even stronger when she turned around in Alex's lap and sat back down on his cock facing Tim. Now the married couple was looking right at each other. He saw her incredible need written all over Stacey's face. He also saw curiosity. She seemed to want to know what he was doing while she fucked

Alex. Tim could easily walk over and bend her down to suck his cock, but instead he just watched. He would wait until they were alone again.

Alex held Stacey's waist tightly and pulled her up and down on his cock. Damn, her pussy felt good, nice and tight, just like the rest of her body. Blonde hair flew in his face as she rode him. Alex liked it better when she was facing him, but she wanted to change positions, and who was he to say no? Although this was his second time tonight, he was close to cumming. It was hard to hold out with a woman as sexy as Stacey. He was not lying when he told her how hot she was. She was so much sexier as a mature woman than she'd been back in college. That coed would never have done something like this.

Stacey wished she knew what Tim was thinking. Her husband just sat there and watched as she fucked Alex thoroughly. His cock pushed her higher and higher. The trembling started in her legs and travelled up her body until she was shaking and her brain went cloudy. Just as her orgasm hit, Alex jammed her down hard on his prick and she felt his hot seed spurting inside her. She let out a sharp cry and arched her back. Alex wrapped his arms around her and held her in place while his cock pulsed inside her.

"I really need to go upstairs and clean up, guys," Stacey said. She stood on shaky legs and turned around to kiss Alex.

"Go on ahead, hon. I'll be up," Tim said.

Stacey said goodnight and left them. For the first time in their lives, there was a moment of awkwardness between the two friends. Alex quickly dressed without looking Tim in the eye, while Tim pulled on his shorts. "I should get going," Alex said.

"Yeah, I want to go see how Stacey is."

"Uhm, I don't know what happened here tonight, but..."

"Don't worry about it, man. We're all good. Really."

"It isn't going to be weird?"

"I hope not," Tim said. "We all shared something pretty wild. We're all consenting adults. I know Stacey had an amazing time."

"And you don't mind that Stacey and I..."

"Really, if I had a problem I would have said something. Trust me, we're good. You're like a brother to me. If I was ever going to try this with anyone, you're the only person I'd even consider."

“Thanks. I mean, I really appreciate that,” Alex said. He didn’t know if a bro-hug was appropriate under the circumstances, so she shared a vigorous handshake with his friend. “The fact that you guys would include me in something like this really means a lot. It was the most incredible night in my life.”

“Ours, too.”

“I’m going to get out of your hair. I’m sure you guys have a lot to talk about. Tell Stacey I said thank you.”

After Tim saw Alex out, he went upstairs and found Stacey still in the shower, where he stripped down and joined her. “Hey, babe,” she said, turning to kiss him.

“Why is it that you look so sexy wherever and whenever I see you?” Tim kissed her and his hands roamed her soapy, slick body. Her hair was smoothed down on her head by the water. Red marks on her butt and tits showed that she’d been well-used. While they kissed, she reached right for his cock.

“Did I look sexy tonight? Did you like seeing me so helpless?” The twitch of his cock in her hand answered her question.

“You did. I loved having you at our mercy.”

“Our mercy. Interesting that you decided to include Alex. Did you two plan this?”

“No, it was totally spur-of-the-moment, hon. Mmm, you feel good.”

“I love the way you touch me,” she moaned. Stacey was sore from her rough treatment and all that sex, but Tim’s touch and his kiss had her wanting him one more time. “And did you like...watching me?”

“Let me show you how much.”

Tim spun her roughly, and Stacey planted her hands on the cool tile, while sticking her ass out at her husband. He cupped her breasts from behind and kissed her neck. His erection pressed into the cleft between her cheeks. His cock easily slipped over her wet flesh. He thrust into her and buried his shaft. Stacey cried out. It was so violent, so sudden. She was still being dominated. He held her tits and slammed his cock into her from behind. Their wet flesh slapped together, and her cries sounded impossibly loud echoing through the bathroom. The desire quickly built inside her, and she thought she might have her swiftest orgasm of the night. But then he stopped.

“Please don’t tease me anymore. I’ve been teased too much tonight,” she whimpered.

“I have one more surprise.”

His cock pressed between her cheeks and nuzzled her anus. “Oh,” she said.

“Don’t worry, I’ve read that conditioner makes excellent lube. It doesn’t burn like soap.”

“Okay, just go slow. Oh!”

Stacey cried out when he forced his cockhead into her ass. He wasn’t harsh, but it wasn’t exactly gentle, either. She tried to turn to look back at him, but a hand between her shoulders kept her pushed forward. They rarely had anal sex. She only did it when Tim really wanted it, and it always kind of hurt her, though she did cum if she played with herself. Tim slowly and deliberately pushed his cock into her ass, grunting as he went. She stayed submissively bent over and took him. Stacey understood that tonight, she was to do as she was told. Once his cock was fully in her ass, he started pinching and pulling her nipples. It felt good, and distracted her from the dull ache in her ass.

“Touch your pussy,” he ordered. Tim felt a sudden surge of power with his cock in her ass. He really loved the way her butt gripped him, but he just couldn’t convince her to do it too often. Tonight, he knew she would not refuse him. Once he thought she had the time to adjust, he started to saw his shaft in and out of her. He noticed that her whimpers turned to moans as she touched her pussy. And her moans sounded desperate. For the first time, he knew she was really enjoying anal sex.

Stacey was shocked. As she played with her clit, the cock in her ass started to feel good. That mixture of pleasure and pain drove her wild, just like when the tape bit into her wrists while the guys used her, or when they spanked her. It wasn’t like he was trying to hurt her, but the little bit of pain from the anal was the spice to the sweet pleasure in her pussy. And Tim playing with her nipples was the icing on the cake. The hot water beat down on them and he took her ass faster and faster. Stacey couldn’t believe the climax blossoming inside her. Why couldn’t it always be like this? The cock in her ass felt amazing.

“Please... please don’t stop...” she begged.

“Tell me what you want, Stacey,” he demanded.

“Please fuck my ass, sir. Please!”

Stacey howled when she came. She slapped her palm against the wet tile and the quaking rocked her to the core. Tim kept fucking her ass right through. She just came and came. When he pulled out, she slipped down onto her knees in the tub, blinking against the spraying water. Tim stood over her, stroking his cock, and moments later his cum sprayed all over her tits. He staggered back against the wall while the water quickly rinsed away the mess on her chest. Afterward, the couple lovingly washed each other. Stacey was in heaven when he massaged her scalp while washing her hair. She would have stayed in the shower all night if the hot water had not run out. She slipped into the soft cotton shorts and camisole she slept in and joined her husband in bed.

“You have to tell me what you were thinking,” she said. She rested her head on his chest while he stroked her damp hair.

“I don’t know. I really was flying by the seat of my pants. It started out as teasing, but it got sexy really quickly.”

“Yeah, it did. What made you think I would go along with it?”

“I know the way you jump my bones after you’ve been reading that book, and I think I know your fantasies pretty well. I thought it was the sort of thing you’d like.”

Stacey’s face felt hot. “You do know me well. And if you’d asked me beforehand, I probably would have said no.”

“I thought so. So you enjoyed yourself?”

“You couldn’t tell?” She laughed.

“Yeah, I could. I just didn’t know if we went too far at times.”

“I got a little scared when you taped me to that bar, but you are the two guys I trust most in the world, so I knew you wouldn’t hurt me. Being helpless like that was way hotter than I ever thought it would be. I felt like a different woman.”

“That’s because you’re always so together and in charge, hon. I appreciate it, I love that about you, but I think I had to strap you down to get you to completely let go.”

“You’re probably right. It was such a rush.”

“Then we’ll have to try it again sometime,” Tim said.

“With Alex?” She knew that element had to be talked about, but she was hesitant.

“I don’t know,” he answered honestly. “I wouldn’t take anything back from tonight, but I think that may have been a onetime thing—at least for me—with Alex. I wouldn't want it to become a thing the three of us do."

"I understand." Stacey wouldn't turn down a chance to be with both guys again, but if it didn't happen, she could savor the memory. "Did it bother you? Seeing us?"

"I'm not sure I can explain it, really. It turned me on so much, but my feelings were a big jumble. I could see where that kind of rush could be addictive, but I don't think it's a healthy thing. I mean, I trust you and Alex. I know you're not going to run off. But I don't know that it's healthy to go there. I'm probably not making sense, I know that. We'll see, I guess."

She kissed him. "You have nothing to worry about. Being with Alex was great, I'm not going to lie, but I liked having you both at the same time. It was like you two were worshipping me."

"Maybe it will happen again, if everyone wants it. I don't know. We'll see how we all feel later. Honestly, another kind of threesome is on my mind..."

"I knew this was coming. You are so predictable." She stopped herself. "Well, okay, maybe not tonight, but you know what I mean."

"Yeah, I know what you mean. You said..."

"I know what I said," Stacey said.

"How about Cynthia? She's pretty hot."

"Sure, I'll just shoot her a text and ask if she wants to have a threesome with us. You're crazy."

"I'm only offering suggestions," he said innocently.

"If we do that—and I am only saying if right now—it's not going to be one of my friends. We'll have to find someone else," Stacey said.

"Okay. Whatever you need."

"So now I get my way?" she joked.

"I could just tie you down, blindfold you and spring it on you."

Stacey smiled and her body tingled as she thought about those possibilities. "Mmm, that could be fun with the right person."

"Yeah, I've got your number now," Tim said.

They both laughed and shared a kiss. Tim turned off the light, but sleep wouldn't come. His head spun as he thought about a sexy redhead spanking his wife.
