Emma didn't know how many times she played that final fight over in her head on the long flight out to the West Coast. She, of course, could recall it in vivid detail. When something that traumatic happens it becomes frozen in the amber of our minds, perfectly preserved and ready to be resurrected at only the slightest reminder. Emma remembered the way Rob smelled when he came into the kitchen that morning. He was fresh from the shower and she could still catch the scent of his shampoo in his wet hair. They usually ate breakfast together, but Rob had taken longer in the shower than usual and she'd ended up eating her oatmeal alone. She was just clearing away the dishes when Rob came into the kitchen and said, "Emma, could you sit down, we need to talk about something."

"We're going to be late for work. If you wanted to talk you should have come out earlier. Can't it wait until tonight?"

"I'm not going to work today and no, it can't wait." Rob said, sitting at their small kitchen table and not meeting her eyes.

A cold knot tightened in the pit of Emma's stomach. She knew something was wrong now. It was not particularly chilly that morning, but suddenly she was very chilled and she hugged her sweater around her. "What is it, Rob?"

"I don't know how to say this. I don't know where to start."

She wanted to reach across the table, to take his hand. Even in this situation Emma could not suppress her nurturing nature. "Just say it, whatever it is."

"It isn't working." His voice was very low. Emma wasn't sure she heard him right.

"What isn't working?"

"This. Us. None of it is working. I'm sorry, Em."

"What do you mean, it isn't working?" Emma was frustrated by his sudden fascination with the microwave and said, "Look at me." Rob met her eyes, but only for a second. "Rob, talk to me." She tried to keep the panic from her voice.

"I'm really sorry, Em. I just can't handle all this. I'm not even thirty yet. This is all too much too soon, I'm not ready for the responsibility. I know it's not fair to you."

"Rob...what...how could you?" She battled the tears forming in her eyes, but lost.

The rest of the conversation went just like that, with Emma asking why and Rob not able to say anymore than he already had. After a half-hour of back and forth Rob said he had to go and that he would be staying at his cousin's until they figured out what to do about the apartment. And that suddenly, Emma's engagement was over.

At the time, she was stunned, struck by a bolt from the blue. It was only over the following week that Emma could really see that things had been bad for a long time. Rob found excuses to not be home with her, and when he was, they either fought or he ignored her. She had to admit to herself that she had not been happy either—she had been going through the motions and staying steeped in denial. Months ago she'd suspected something was wrong when she caught him lying, but when she'd tried to talk about it he told her she was being paranoid. That had led to a good fight.

Emma knew she didn't want the apartment. There were way too many bad memories. She packed what she wanted and moved in with her mother. But even out of the apartment she'd shared with Rob she still couldn't stop thinking about things and it was driving her crazy. One night, two weeks later, Emma decided she had to get away. She left a voicemail for her boss, saying she needed to take some personal time. She had been there since interning in college and knew her boss would understand. She threw some things in a bag and booked a flight to California online. She left a note for her mother in the morning and went straight to the airport.

The only fly in the ointment was that her sister was not answering her phone or responding to her texts. Emma tried several times before her flight left and again when she landed. She had only been out to see Becca once before and was completely unfamiliar with Las Verdes, so she hailed a taxi and hoped she would not get robbed too badly for the ride to her sister's. Becca's car was parked in front of her condo, but there was no answer at the door, and still no response on her cell. She called Becca's work and explained who she was.

"I'm sorry, but Becca is working on a shoot in Costa Rica until a week from Friday. I don't think their phones work down there. I can take a message in case she checks in." The woman at the agency was nice, but there was nothing she could do to help.

"No, thanks," Emma said, dejected.

Becca hadn't said anything about going away, but she usually didn't. Emma just saw the pictures on Facebook afterward and jealously wished she was more like her sister. They were close, but nothing alike. Becca was all impulse. She'd transitioned from a limited career modeling into being a makeup artist. Becca loved to just pick up and go and worry about the consequences later. Emma could not even take a day trip to the beach without triple checking that she'd packed the sun block. Just jumping on a plane across the country could not be more out of character, but Emma thought it was high time she shook things up and got out there. Playing it safe had not done much for her so far.

She was sure she did not just want to get on a plane and go home defeated. It figured that when she finally did something impulsive it completely backfired. No, she told herself. Be proud that you did this. Don't focus on the negative. You decided you needed to get away and you did it! Just because Becca isn't here you don't need to change your plans. You're alone in a strange city and you can do whatever you want to do. The old rules don't apply. You can be whoever you want to be. It was too early to check into a hotel, so Emma decided to take advantage of the fact that she was so close to the ocean and headed for the beach. She had everything she needed.

The cab dropped Emma off at a gas station near the beach and she squeezed into the grimy bathroom with her two bags and managed to change into her bikini without touching anything. She was a chronic over packer, so Emma had four bikinis to choose from and went with a pink print that was cut high on the thigh. She wanted to wear her string bikini she rarely pulled out—it seemed the more daring choice—but wasn't sure she could manage to tie it properly in the tiny bathroom. Over the bikini she pulled on a pair of shorts and a tank top.

It was the middle of the day on a Tuesday and Emma thought the beach was surprisingly crowded. Most of the people were in groups and she felt self-conscious being there on her own, but pressed on, picking out a spot back from the water. She dropped her bags and spread out her towel before stripping off her shorts and top. There were almost twice as many men on the beach as women and she caught several of the closest men checking her out as she squeezed sunscreen into her palm and began applying it.

Emma was always conflicted when she caught guys looking at her. It was flattering of course, but knowing their minds were filled with dirty thoughts made her uncomfortable—especially when it was someone old enough to be her father, like the guy to her left. She turned her back toward him and tried to forget he was probably staring at her butt. She was self-aware enough to recognize she was pretty, if not the tall, willowy model Becca was. She always envied her sister's long legs. Emma reached five-foot-three in her sophomore year of high school and stopped growing. She was toned and fit from all the hiking she and Rob did on the weekends, but always being more of a tomboy she never dressed to show off her assets. Rob loved her body and tried to get her to dress sexier, but when he picked a low cut that hugged her firm C-cups, she almost always shot him down. She was not looking for that kind of attention. Her mother had taught her she should be valued as a woman first, not a sex object. While Becca went in the opposite direction, Emma was always more comfortable doing what was expected of her.

Satisfied she was covered, Emma slipped on her headphones and relaxed, willing her mind to go blank. She watched the whitecaps breaking as they charged toward shore and the deeper blue water farther out, glittering under the sun like a blanket of gems. There were about a dozen surfers taking advantage of the beautiful Southern California day, though the waves did not appear very high to Emma's untrained eyes.

After an hour or so, Emma was feeling that maybe going to the beach unprepared was ill advised. She had a bottle of water from the airport, but that was gone already and she was becoming very thirsty again. The blazing sun made her want to run into the water, but she was afraid that if she left her stuff unattended on the beach it would be stolen. Emma hated it when she was indecisive like this. Finally she decided to go down to the water and just get herself wet. If she didn't go too far out, she could still keep an eye on her stuff. She pulled her chestnut hair back into a scrunchie and headed for the water.

It felt so good. Emma was used to going in the water on the East Coast, where even on the warmest days it could still be shockingly cold when that green-gray water first hit your feet. But the water off of Las Verdes was almost like a bath. Emma went out just above her waist and dunked down up to her neck, but kept her hair dry. Nervously, she kept glancing back at her things on the beach.

Something splashed next to her and Emma jumped. Floating beside her was a white Frisbee. Looking over, Emma saw a handsome guy looking toward her expectantly, from about twenty-five feet away. When she didn't move, he shouted, "Could you throw it back? Don't worry, it won't bite you." Emma sent the disc sailing back with a flick of her wrist and the guy jumped out of the water—showing some tribal artwork on his ripped chest—to make the catch. He was playing with another good-looking guy, and she figured they must have overthrown.

Emma went back to minding her own business and just as she was about to go in, the Frisbee came sailing her way again. She plucked it from the water and turned to see her new friend looking her way again.

"Hey, my friend went in, thought you might want to toss the Frisbee around," he said.

"I, uh, was just getting ready to go in. I don't want to leave my stuff too long," Emma replied and realized that was probably the most she'd said to anyone all day.

"Don't worry about it, my friends will keep an eye on it for you. We saw you sitting over there alone, so if they see someone by your stuff they'll stop them."

Emma wasn't sure. How did she know these guys wouldn't rip her off? But then, he just didn't seem like the type, as silly as that seemed. What did she know about him? He was very much a surfer boy. Sandy hair, short on the sides, long on top, a lean, toned body, just enough hair on his chest to be sexy. He had a smile that would put anyone at ease, and Emma felt it working its magic on her. "Oh, alright. For a little while," she finally agreed and flung the Frisbee back at him.

The surfer boy easily snatched the Frisbee in midair and sent it sailing back in the same motion. It was a bit high and Emma had to jump to catch it, splashing as she came down. Emma's next toss went slicing into the water, well short of her partner. "Make sure you keep your wrist straight," he instructed, giving the Frisbee a short toss back. The Frisbee went back and forth and Emma noticed that the guy was slowly closing the distance between them. He tossed one to her left and Emma's reach turned into a dive as the Frisbee was just past her fingertips and she came up soaked. So much for keeping her hair dry.

"I think I'm done," Emma said. The surfer boy was close enough now that she just handed him his Frisbee.

"Sorry about that."

"Oh, it's alright. I just don't want to get too pruny out here."

"Oh, by the way, I'm Cameron. But just call me Cam—everybody does."

"I'm Emma," she replied, aware she was smiling back coquettishly. The power of Cam's smile increased a thousand fold up close.

"Why don't you come over and join us? It's better than sitting there on your own."

"Oh, I don't know," she waffled. Emma was shy by nature and wasn't accustomed to just striking up a conversation with a complete stranger. She really didn't feel like being alone though, and Cam did seem cool. He was being nice to her, but she didn't feel like he was undressing her with his eyes, which was a nice change. Still, she didn't know how she felt about hanging around with a bunch of guys she didn't know.

"At least have something to drink."

That did sound good and Emma told him so. She followed him out of the water and without asking, Cam went to her blanket and gathered up her stuff, carrying it over to where his friends were hanging out. All of Cam's friends seemed as casual and laid back as he was and they set her at ease.

"Guys, this is Emma. Emma, these are my housemates KC, Brady and Theo. You don't have to be nice to those other two guys, Ren and Sean, they're just friends of KC. Let me get you that drink," Cam said. The guys seemed to have carved a large island out of the beach for themselves, their things spread out on several bamboo beach mats. There were several duffle bags and three coolers. One of the coolers had a boom box on top, blaring an old Sublime CD. Beside the mats were several long surfboards.

All the guys were very good looking and Emma felt good that they wanted her to hang out with them. She suspected that the Frisbee coming her way earlier was no accident. They all seemed to be variations on a type, just like Cam. Each of the boys was tattooed in some way and they all seemed to be around her age. KC could have been Cam's twin, blonde and tan, except his hair was buzzed down and his upper body was more muscular. He also had a close-cropped goatee a nipple piercing. He had black tribal tattoos banded around each bicep. Brady contrasted with his friends, with jet-black hair and the darkest tan of all of them. He also had a big sun tattoo on a bicep and both his ears were pierced, as well as his left nipple. Theo was the most different however. He was a huge Samoan, towering over his friends, with dark skin and a naturally strong build. He wasn't cut like KC or Cam, but with arms like telephone poles, he looked like he could bench more than all of them combined. Both of KC's friends were more tattooed and pierced than the others and they were the only ones who gave Emma any kind of dangerous vibe.

Cam handed Emma a large red Solo cup filled with what looked like fruit punch. She thanked him, and very thirsty, took a large drink, which nearly stuck in her throat when she realized it wasn't just fruit punch.

"What's in this?" Emma asked, suspicious. She wasn't much of a drinker. She flashed on the possibility that Cam could have slipped something into her drink and she suddenly wasn't so thirsty anymore.

"It's just a little bit of rum. Nothing to worry about, it really is only a little bit," Cam said.

"Yeah, hardly anything in there at all," Brady added, drinking from his own cup.

KC took the cup from Emma and drank from it himself. "See, there's nothing in there. We're not like that."

Emma was still wary, but then she remembered that Rob always used to tell her that she needed to be more open and not so suspicious of people, so she decided to go out on a limb and trust these guys—even if it was somewhat out of spite against her ex-fiancée. She smiled bravely and drank again.

"There ya go," Cam said, smiling.

The guys cleared away a space in the middle of their mats so Emma could take a seat and KC asked, "So are you from around here? I don't think I've seen you at the beach before."

"No, I'm from back East. I just came out to see my sister for a few days. I needed to get away."

"That's cool, sometimes you do just need to get away. You get tired of looking at the same old things all the time," Cam said and it made her think of Rob needing to get away from her. She was really trying not to blame herself for Rob being an asshole, but it was hard not to think it was her fault somehow.

Brady added, "Yeah, if you get away things can look completely different. Sometimes you just need that change in perspective."

"Yeah, I definitely need that," Emma agreed, fighting back the sadness and draining her cup. When KC offered to refill it, she didn't hesitate.

All of the guys were friendly, but they gave Cam room to maneuver. He had brought her over, after all. Emma took out her sunscreen and reapplied, catching all the guys sneaking peeks as she did. But rather than be bothered by it, she let herself enjoy it, flattered by the attention of such handsome guys. She was committed to loosening up during this trip.

Brady fumbled in his bag and pulled out a small metal pipe and a Zippo. At first Emma didn't realize what he was doing. It seemed like a weird little pipe and she had no experience at all with any kind of drugs. But then she got a whiff of what he was smoking and knew it wasn't tobacco. She couldn't believe he was sitting on the beach and smoking pot so openly. Brady took a couple drags off the pipe and passed it to Theo. The pipe went around to everyone, but when it came to Emma, she just let it pass with a, "No thanks." None of the guys pressured her, which earned them all brownie points. She went back to talking to Cam while Brady repacked the pipe.

Cam told her that he and his roommates all worked at the same local surf shop and shared a four-bedroom house about fifteen minutes away. It sounded like they had a pretty laid back life, which mostly consisted of making enough money to keep up their lifestyle. Emma was too high strung for that. She had to have a plan and know where she was going, but she could see the appeal of going with the flow and just waiting to see where life took you. Especially now that all of her plans for her life had been derailed. Maybe it was time for her to chill out, she thought. She was trying to relax her grip, if only a little bit.

The pipe came around again and Emma watched Cam take a long drag off it. Again, he offered it to her and she started to refuse, but then thought better of it. This was an opportunity let go and reinvent herself. What if she was the kind of girl who liked to smoke pot and just didn't know it because she was too uptight? You can be whoever you want to be. "Sure, I'll try it," she said, reaching for the pipe and lighter.

Emma had never even smoked so much as a cigarette, so she had no idea what to expect. She had been curious what smoking pot might be like, but she'd never had the nerve to try it before. Well that was changing now. She pressed the pipe to her lips and then held the flame over the bowl, like she'd watched the guys do.

"Just suck the smoke into your lungs and hold your breath for as long as you can," Cam said helpfully.

That turned out to not be long at all. The acrid smoke burned her throat and lungs and Emma could only hold it for a few seconds before the smoke came rushing out in a coughing fit.

"Are you okay?" Cam asked, leaning forward and rubbing her back.

Tears ran from her green eyes and she kept coughing until she'd completely evacuated her lungs. "Yes, I'll be fine. I've just never smoked anything before."

"That's cool, just take it easy. It can be a shock the first time."

Emma knew all the guys were staring at her and she was determined to get it right. She didn't want them to think she was a wuss. She took the pipe between her lips and inhaled again. It still burned, but not as badly as the first drag and she was able to hold the sickly-sweet smelling smoke longer this time. Emma exhaled with a whoosh and sucked in fresh air before taking another drag from the pipe. She was proud that she held the smoke in even longer this time.

"Better take it easy, there. That's some strong shit. You won't know what hit you," Brady said, reaching for his pipe.

"Damn, girl, you did good," KC said, offering his hand for a high five. Emma smacked his palm and then found that all the guys wanted one.

When she finished high fiving all her new friends Emma felt a head rush. She could definitely feel the pot working on her. She felt like she was wrapped in a shroud of cotton and the whole world seemed to slow down by a fraction of a second. She also felt a tingling cascading down from her head all the way to her toes. It took some getting used to, but it wasn't unpleasant. In fact, Emma decided she liked the feeling. A lot. She was smiling and didn't even realize it. When she did realize she was smiling and didn't know it that made her giggle. Emma felt very silly, and then self-conscious giggling for no reason in front of the guys, but then they started giggling too and it was okay.

"Feels good, doesn't it?" Brady asked, giggling right along with her.

It felt very weird, but yes, it did feel good. "Yes," was all Emma could say before succumbing to another giggle fit. Brady was laughing too and she thought he looked really, really cute when he laughed.

"Dude, she is so burnt," KC said.

"No, I'm not, dude," Emma said, and then giggled when she realized she'd just called him dude.

"Yeah, you are, dude," KC replied.

"I'm not a dude. Can't you tell the difference?"

KC nakedly checked her out and Emma did not mind it at all. The pot was making her feel good all over. He said, "Trust me, I don't think I could mistake you for a guy."

"Better watch it, dude, you might pop wood," Theo giggled to his friend.

"I'm gonna hit the surf. Anyone else coming?" KC announced.

"Yeah," Brady said. Both guys grabbed their boards and headed for the water.

"You wanna come out?" Cam asked Emma.

"I don't know how to surf, silly. I'll drown!"

"I won't let you drown. Come on, I'll show you how. It's not that hard."

Emma knew it probably wasn't a good idea to learn to surf when she was stoned, but she felt too good to care and she was curious about it. Besides, she couldn't deny that smile of Cam's. She had begun wondering what it would feel like to kiss him, which she thought was very silly and that started her giggling all over again.

Cam took Emma out to where the water was lapping at her breasts and he boosted her up onto his board. His hands on her waist turned her tingling to a buzz and Emma giggled again when she realized the pot had made her horny.

"Now just lay flat on the board and get used to it moving with the water," Cam instructed. Emma did as she was told, letting her arms dangling into the water. She felt his hand on the small of her back and where she ordinarily would not let a stranger touch her so much, now she didn't mind at all. Besides, he was only teaching her to surf, right? "Okay, I want you to try and stand up on the board. Get up on your knees and then to your feet." Emma got to her knees easily enough, but standing on the board was another story. The pot was throwing off her balance. She felt the surfboard sliding to the left and she fell to the right. Cal caught her in his arms and she was all too aware of her softness pressed against his hard body. Cam held onto her for longer than he needed to, but Emma didn't try to pull away.

"Back up on the horse," Emma said, sliding from Cam's arms and climbing back onto the surfboard. This time it was a little easier, though it still took several tries before she could get to her feet on the floating board. As she worked at getting it, Emma enjoyed Cam's hands on her bare skin, not minding that more than once his hand brushed the side of her breast, or landed on her ass. Emma was not used to being pawed like that, but from Cam she liked it.

Once Emma was able to stand on the floating board, Cam told her it was time to try out a wave. While she lay on the board, he pushed her closer to the beach, where the waves were breaking. His hand was on her back as he pushed, but it slid lower until he was palming her ass and he gave it a playful squeeze. The first wave came along, but Emma didn't paddle fast enough, even with a good push from Cam, and it got by her. She caught a piece of the next wave, but she tumbled into the surf as soon as she tried to stand on the board. It went like that more or less for the next half hour and Emma was just about ready to give up when she had some success. It reinvigorated her and she vowed not to stop until she'd caught at least one wave and rode it in. Luckily, Cam was perfectly happy to stand out there with her. Of course that probably had something to do with that fact that he was copping as many free feels as he could get away with—something Emma's compliance only encouraged. Some of the fuzziness had cleared from her head, but the tingling from the pot was still strong, more of a throbbing now from the touch of Cam's strong hands. Emma couldn't remember the last time she'd had so much fun or been so turned on. Her ex hadn't done it for her like that in such a long time.

"Get ready, here comes a great one!" Cam shouted, and Emma threw a quick enough look over her shoulder to see a huge wave bearing down on them. "Remember, balance," he told her and gave her a good shove while she paddled furiously. Just as he released her, Cam's hand slipped down and his fingers pressed deep into the cleft between Emma's thighs, rocking her with a jolt of excitement just as the wave hit.

Emma held her breath as she felt the wave catch the surfboard and propel it forward. Carefully, she got her feet under her and she rose on shaky knees—suddenly she was doing it! The surfboard shot forward toward the beach and Emma felt a rush of exhilaration. The crest of the wave flattened out and Emma hopped off. She was still excitedly hopping up and down when Cam swam over to her.

"You did it!" Cam shouted, holding out his arms. Emma jumped into Cam's arms and he hugged her tightly to his firm pecks. He spun her around in the water and Emma wrapped her legs around him as she hung on.

"I can't believe it! That was so cool, I have to try it again!" Emma said.

"I'm sure you'll get plenty more chances," Cam told her and planted a kiss on her lips. It was quick, just a little more than a peck, but it was a kiss just the same and Emma was surprised that she wished the kiss had lasted longer.

They made their way back to Cam's friends and Emma thirstily gulped down two full cups of punch from the cooler. She didn't even think about the alcohol in it.

"I saw you out there, that was pretty cool," KC told her and gave her another high five.

"Yeah, you rock girl," Brady added.

"Damn, I'm worn out," Theo said. "Are you guys gonna be ready to go soon?"

KC checked his watch and said, "It's almost four o'clock, we should get going soon."

Emma was disappointed that her fun day seemed to be coming to an end. These guys were really cool and she would have loved to hang out with them longer. If they were going that meant she would have to face her immediate problems, like finding a hotel and figuring out what she was going to do next. Again, she thought about just going home. She wasn't sure she wanted to hang out in Las Verdes by herself.

"What are your plans for the rest of the day?" Cam asked.

She'd already told him about going to her sister's place and Becca not being there, though she hadn't gone into any detail about what she was doing in Las Verdes in the first place. "I guess I'll have to get a cab and check into a hotel."

"That sucks," Theo said.

"Why don't you just come with us? The least we can do is drop you somewhere, there's no reason for you to call a cab," Cam said.

"Nah, I wouldn't want to put you guys out. You've been great already."

"I have an even better idea. We're headed to a house party tonight. You should come with us," KC suggested.

"No, really, that's okay."

"That's a great idea. Come on, Emma. You'll have a blast. And you said you don't really know anyone here. What else are you going to do, just sit around your hotel room and do nothing? Come on, come to the party with us," Cam insisted.

Emma knew it was not a good idea. Hanging out on a beach in public with these guys was one thing, but she really didn't know them and going somewhere with them would be crazy. Emma didn't do crazy things like that. But that's why you should do it, she told herself. You're here to have a good time and try new things. You're taking a vacation from your life. Don't be boring! Take some risks! Take a chance! These seem like good guys, they could have taken advantage of you already if they were going to. Cam's been a gentleman, and even if he has been a little forward it's not like you were discouraging it. Be daring!

"Okay, sure. It does sound like fun. But I'm trusting you guys. No funny business," she said, but even she had to laugh as she said it. She still felt very mellow from the pot and the punch and really, probably almost anything would have sounded like a good idea.

It was a tight fit in KC's truck. His friends rode in the bed with all their gear while he drove and Theo sat up front with him. Emma had to squeeze into the small seats in the back of the cab with Brady and Cam and she ended up on Cam's lap with her legs draped over Brady. They dropped KC's friends at their place on the way, so they traveled a roundabout route. Emma felt awkward in the back with the guys, but as soon as they were rolling, Brady broke out his pipe again and Emma took a hit with very little coaxing. It felt like her second toke took effect much faster and left Emma feeling dreamy.

Because of their position, Cam's arms were around her waist and one of his hands absent-mindedly stroked her tummy. She'd pulled on her shorts, but hadn't bothered with the tank top. Her chestnut hair was up and she could feel Cam's breath on the back of her neck, spreading warmth through her body. Brady was rubbing her legs, but he kept his hands below the knee. KC hit a bump, shifting Emma in Cam's lap and all of the sudden she could feel the thick lump of his cock against her ass! Oh my God! She thought. He's hard! And he felt big. She could feel his cock wedged right into the crevice between her firm ass cheeks and when she squirmed in his lap she could feel him twitch. Emma couldn't help giggling. It seemed so silly. It also seemed very sexy, because she knew it was her being in his lap that made him so hard. Even though this wasn't normally her thing, it felt nice after the way Rob's leaving had her feeling about herself. Emma gave into impulse and intentionally shifted in Cam's lap. She was rewarded by his cock pressing harder against her. She giggled to herself for being so bad. For the rest of the ride to the house, Emma squirmed every chance she could without making it too obvious. Cam's shaft felt like it wanted to tear out of his shorts and Emma almost wished it could. She knew the pot had made her horny and while it wasn't the greatest idea to have smoked it with these guys, it was too late to do anything about it. Instead, she just sat back and enjoyed Brady massaging her legs, though she did press her legs together when it felt like he was trying to move above the knee. Cam was also still touching her, seemingly very casual, but she had noticed that his hand had gradually crept around and his thumb was now brushing the undersides of her breasts through her bikini top. Emma realized that her nipples were rock hard and she hoped neither of the guys noticed.

Emma was pleasantly surprised that the house the guys shared wasn't a complete sty. Of course it could have used a good cleaning from top to bottom, but it wasn't covered in beer cans and pizza boxes and there weren't clothes thrown everywhere. It was a big old house, with both a living room and a dining room, though the dining room seemed to be the place where they kept and took care of their surfboards. There was a small porch on the front, where KC told her they spent a lot nights sitting and hanging out while they watched all the girls going to the bars up the street. The living room held a big, ratty couch, a loveseat, and two recliners, none of which matched. The low coffee table in front of the couch was scared and scattered with various surf magazines. The kitchen was in the back of the house and had its own balcony looking out over a narrow alley. Near the kitchen was a downstairs bathroom. Stairs in the back by the kitchen and beside the living room, both leading to the second floor, where the four bedrooms were. Cam had the master bedroom in the front, which had its own half-bath, and that's where he deposited her bags for now. Two of the other bedrooms were a decent size, but Brady's bedroom, in the back by the upstairs bathroom was tiny, with barely enough room for his bed and a dresser.

"Hot water can be a problem sometimes, so you can have the first shower," Cam told Emma.

"You don't have to do that," she replied.

"Hey you're a guest, but don't hesitate because someone will jump in there if you do."

Emma went through her bags and found her toiletries. A clean towel waited for her in the huge bathroom. It was long with cracked white tile and a huge freestanding porcelain tub. Emma stripped off her clothes and stepped into the stream of steaming water. She didn't want to hog the hot water, but she did take a few moments to just let the water hit her. She tilted her head back and her thick hair fell down a few inches past her shoulders as she plastered it down to her head. She had to wash her hair three times before it felt like she really got all the saltwater out of it.

As she ran her soap slicked hands over her body she remembered the feeling of Cam's strong hands touching her, first on the surfboard and then as he held her in the back of the truck. God, it was such a turn on. A woman would have to be dead not to be turned on by Cam, she thought. Her nipples became hard as she soaped them and she took her time there, massaging with her thumbs before she moved on. Her nipples sent pleasurable tingles traveling down her spine to where they made her pussy grow hot. She thought if she'd been braver, if she was the type of woman who always went after what she wanted, she would have put her hand over Cam's and moved it to her breast. She loved having her breasts touched and it was so long since anyone had really taken their time touching her. Rob certainly didn't take his time—when he bothered to touch her at all. She pressed a hand over her trimmed mound and massaged herself there too, a little moan escaping her lips. It felt really good touching herself, but it wasn't something that Emma really did very much. She'd never made herself orgasm before, though she was tempted now. But she didn't want the guys to be mad at her for wasting the hot water, so she wrapped things up and got out. She cursed herself for not thinking to bring her clothes into the bathroom with her and wrapped the towel around her body before scurrying down the hallway to Cam's bedroom.

She closed and locked the bedroom door and pulled out her clothes. Emma had only brought two bags, so she had to pull out just about everything so she could decide what to wear. She wanted to look cute and sexy, but didn't want to be overdressed. Emma always had a tough time deciding what to wear. Her indecisiveness was one of the things that bugged her most about herself. Because she wanted to go out with her sister, who was single, and have some fun, Emma had packed some of her sexier clothes. They were tastefully sexy—not slutty. Not that slutty was a word that could ever be used to describe Emma. After going through all her clothes twice, she finally decided on a cute denim skirt with a fringed hem that fell a couple inches above her knee, and a tight dark red top that she knew looked really good on her.

Just as she reached for her bra, the bedroom door opened and Cam walked in. Emma spun around, wearing only blue panties and gave Cam an unimpeded view of her firm, pear-shaped breasts before she covered her chest with her hands.

"Geez, sorry!" Cam said, but he didn't turn away.

The flush crept down from Emma's cheeks until she felt like her whole body was blushing. "I thought I locked the door."

"Oh, sorry, the lock on the door is broken. Guess I should have told you."

Cam was still just standing there and Emma wanted to cover her panties, but that would have meant taking a hand off her chest. "Do you mind?" She asked.

"Yeah, right," Cam said and turned his back.

Emma pulled her bra on and finished getting dressed, surprised that Cam did not just leave the room. It didn't occur to her that he could watch her getting dressed in the mirror he'd turned toward until she was finished. She decided maybe that wasn't so bad. Once she was properly covered, Emma told him, "You can turn around now, I'm decent."

"Thank God," he joked. "You look really hot Emma."

"Really? You think so?" She beamed at the compliment, but had her doubts. Emma never really could objectively think of herself as more than just pretty. She knew she was pretty, but she never thought any guy would consider her hot. "I still need to do something with my hair."

"Yeah, you really look hot. Don't sound so surprised."

"Is there going to be food at this party? I'm starving." It had been a very long day and Emma knew she needed an energy boost.

"Someone's got the munchies." Cam laughed. "Yeah, don't worry, we'll feed you. We're ordering in." He pulled his shirt off and threw it onto a laundry basket in the corner. Emma was shocked when he did the same thing with his trunks! "I'm going to jump in the shower. If you need anything, just ask one of the guys." He took a towel off the back of the door and wrapped it around his waist and left the bedroom.

She couldn't believe it. Cam had just dropped trou right in front of her like it didn't even matter. He must have been some kind of exhibitionist. She'd tried to look everywhere but where she really wanted to, though she couldn't help sneaking a peek or two. He hadn't been completely soft and a part of Emma hoped that had been from his walking in on her. The only cock she'd ever seen was her ex's and Cam looked to be comparable, though his looked meatier than Rob's. She wondered how different it would feel. But Emma knew she would never find out. She just wasn't that kind of girl, even if she was enjoying all the light flirting that was going on.

The pizza came and Emma ate in the living room with the guys, while they took turns on the Xbox that was attached to the big screen TV. All the guys complemented her on how she looked and since they were all wearing baggy shorts and t-shirts or button-up prints she was glad she hadn't overdressed.

Although Cam had his own car, and so did Theo, they still all piled into KC's truck to go to the party. Brady thoughtfully rode in the bed, affording Emma more room in the back with Cam, though she was still very close to him. He looked very sexy in his board shorts and a blue Hawaiian shirt with a simple white floral print that really made his eyes sparkle. The shell necklace around his neck seemed to glow against his bronzed skin. On the ride over KC passed around a large baggie that held pills and some small brown vials with black caps. Cam took a vial out and a capsule and offered the bag to Emma. She asked him what was in the bag.

"Mostly some vitamins and herbal stuff to make tomorrow's hangover more bearable . You know what they say about an ounce of prevention. And some party drugs to make tonight more fun."

"I don't know," Emma said wearily. The guys hadn't done anything to her yet and she was really growing to trust them, but taking strange pills was so not a good idea.

"There's nothing in there that will hurt you, trust me." KC chimed in from the front seat. "We're all taking them. If we were going to molest you we could have done it back at the house!"

Emma didn't quite find the joke funny. Cam placed a couple pills in her hand and one of the vials. One pill was obviously a Vitamin C and the other B-12. She took the two she recognized as vitamins, but just stared at the vial.

"Really, nothing there will hurt you. If you do any drinking tonight you'll thank me for the pills in the morning," Cam said.

"I'm not much of a drinker, really. If I have more than one drink I'll be amazed."

"Well, it's up to you, but here, just to show you," he uncapped the vial and tilted a clear liquid into his mouth. "See, if it was a roofie or Special K why would I take it? Promise this stuff is only going to make you feel good and help you cut loose tonight. Like I said, it's just a party drug, kinda like Ecstasy."

Even the mention of the date rape drug and cat tranquilizers made Emma nervous. "Nothing to hurt me, or make me pass out? Not LSD or something."

"Nope, Scout's honor." He smiled and Emma could picture Cam as the world's hunkiest Boy Scout. "Hey, I just drank it, so if it was I'd be passing out too."

So could she really trust him, or was it just because he was so handsome and nice that she wanted to? The pot did make her feel really good, though she promised herself no more, at least not tonight. If Cam was willing to take it himself it couldn't be bad. From what she'd read about Ecstasy, it just made you all touchy-feely, but did not actually do anything to hurt you. Stop being so indecisive and take a chance, she chided herself and in her annoyance Emma uncapped the vial. She was always afraid of not being liked and she knew that coupled with her emotional state pushed her to do something she ordinarily never, ever would have. Emma swallowed the contents of the vial and immediately regretted it. The liquid was completely foul, like liking the bottom of a sneaker. Emma scrapped her tongue against her teeth, but nothing got rid of the taste. KC and Cam laughed.

"It takes some getting used to." KC said. "But trust me, you won't be regretting it later."

The party was really jumping. Emma couldn't believe there were so many people packed into such a small house. There had to be at least fifty people inside, almost shoulder to shoulder, and another twenty out in the backyard. It was a nice house, much nicer than the one where her new friends lived and Emma wondered whose it was. The guys introduced her to people they knew as they moved through the crowd, but she never met the host. The crowd only thinned at all near the bar and directly in front of the DJ, where the volume of the music was just too loud to tolerate. Emma didn't know a lot about that sort of thing, but everyone was dancing and having a good time so she assumed the DJ was a good one. Cam had paid for her at the door. She didn't know she would need money and hadn't brought much, and he handed her a Solo cup and told her she could have anything she wanted. There were several kegs and a huge vat of punch and Emma tried some of that. The liquor in it was much stronger than what the guys had on the beach and it took some getting used to. Still, she was glad for something to kill the taste in her mouth.

Emma felt very out of place at the party. She was not a crowd person and she clung to Cam as her lifeline most of the time. However, Emma promised herself that she was going to try and have a good time and fight the instinct to slip unnoticed into a corner. She was glad when they moved outside and she could get some fresh air. He asked Emma if she wanted to dance and she promised she would later. Ordinarily she was not much of a dancer, but she wasn't quite feeling herself.

As she felt the drug take a hold of her, Emma realized that it was not just some sort of herbal supplement she'd taken. First, she felt a rush of heat to the skin. Her heart was beating faster too. Emma thought the liquid may have been some kind of herbal speed, but then all the lights seemed brighter and even left trails if she looked around too quickly. She knew stuff like ephedrine didn't do that. She meant to ask Cam exactly what she'd taken, but she was too distracted by what she was feeling. Emma was no longer just hearing the music, but she was feeling it. It entered her through every pore and pulsed inside her and it felt wonderful. Soon Emma was enjoying what she was feeling so much that she wasn't so concerned about why she was feeling it.

A lot of people stopped by to talk to Cam and she could tell he was very popular. She started feeling uncomfortable because she was sure she was keeping him from mingling and having a good time. She wanted to tell him he could go around and talk to people if he wanted, but she also didn't want him to go. She felt very safe with him standing right there. Mostly, she people watched and thought it was remarkable how many good-looking people were there. Most of the girls were pretty and a lot of them were wearing a lot less than she was. Girls in bikini tops or tiny halters were very common—a lot of them wore skintight shorts or tiny skirts. Everyone seemed to be having such a good time flirting that she really wanted to force herself out there and join them. Emma was not sure if it was an effect of the drug, but everyone at the party seemed so attractive and she found herself wanting to get to know each and every one of them.

"I'm going to get another drink, will you be okay here?" Cam asked.

She wanted to say she'd go with him, but instead replied, "Yeah, I'm cool."

Cam took her empty cup to refill it without asking and disappeared into the crowd.

He seemed to be gone forever but Emma didn't mind. Every stranger seemed like a new friend, although they passed by too quickly to get to know them. Every sensation was amplified. A drop of sweat running down her spine sent chills shooting back up it and every time someone brushed into her Emma felt all her nerves crackle to life with delicious energy. Ordinarily she hated being jostled in a crowd, but now Emma was craving all the contact she could get. Every touch felt like the caress of a lover and she could feel it building up inside her. But what was weird was how lucid she felt. She was giddy from the pot earlier and from drinking, but Emma did not feel all trippy like she thought she would from a drug. Maybe Cam hadn't been completely honest with her about it, but she wasn't mad because it didn't seem to be hurting her and it did make the party more fun. It reminded her of all the fun she'd missed out on by being so reserved, and Emma thought tonight was the night to change all that. She started wondering where Cam was because she thought it would be really nice to rub up against him.

A few guys—obviously players—came over to chat her up while Cam was gone and Emma was not shy with them at all. Her usual social awkwardness had evaporated. She felt like these guys really liked her and she liked them in return. Even though they were just hitting on her, Emma somehow felt the guys were all really sincere. They were pretty good looking too, but she was still keeping an eye open for Cam. She smiled and laughed at their pick-up lines and when they got too close she did not mind like she usually would have. One of them was rubbing her bare arm and without realizing it Emma was pressing into his hand like a content kitty. She thought he had the best hands she'd ever felt and his touch made her glow.

"Hey, dude, see you've met Emma," Brady said. He put a protective arm around her waist and pulled her against him. He felt warm and alluring and Emma put her own arm around him.

"Yeah, she's great," said the dark haired guy who'd been hitting on her. Emma couldn't remember his name.

"Hey, Emma, let's dance," Brady said and pulled her away from the guy. She didn't tell him no like she'd told Cam. Dancing sounded like a lot of fun now.

Brady was able to find a space on the edge of the crowd and he and Emma started moving to the beat, constantly pushed together by the crowd. Every time Brady touched her a wave of contentment washed over her and Emma found herself rubbing against him even when she didn't have to. She could feel his chest rubbing her nipples even through her top and bra and they felt like they were on fire. Every time she brushed against Brady, Emma felt such a rush of pleasure and desire that it was nearly overwhelming. She thought Brady was the best dancer ever.

"You'd didn't want to talk to that guy much longer. In another two seconds he would have been trying to sneak you off somewhere," Brady said, close to her ear.

He seemed nice enough, Emma thought. "I guess I am lucky to have you guys looking after me then." Emma smiled up at him. In fact, she just couldn't stop smiling. She looked at Brady and he seemed like the sweetest, most handsome man she'd ever met. "You guys have been so great, I'm so glad I met you."

"We're really glad to have you around too," Brady said, kissing her cheek.

That felt very nice. Emma didn't think a kiss on the cheek had ever felt so nice. She knew a kiss on the lips would feel even better. "Really, I want you guys to know how much I appreciate all this. You have no idea how much I needed this. I wish all men were like you guys." This time she kissed him on the cheek.

"You did seem a little down today."

"Not anymore," Emma said, giving Brady a clinging hug and rubbing against him. Her nipples tingled and expanded, telegraphing pleasure between her legs.

"I thought you didn't dance," Cam said and Emma turned around to find him holding two cups, one of which he pressed into her hand. She was feeling so warm that she gulped nearly half of it down.

"I guess I changed my mind," Emma giggled.

"Then you're going to have to dance with me," Cam said, turning the wattage on his smile to full brilliance.

"Only if Brady doesn't mind. He was here first." She hugged the dark haired boy again.

"It's cool, I need a refill anyway. You guys have fun and I'll catch you later," Brady said, giving Emma another kiss on the cheek.

Cam stepped in close and started moving against Emma. She kept one hand around his waist and held her drink with the other. He was so strong she could even feel it while he was casually holding her, and Emma swooned in his arms. He was an even better dancer than Brady, she decided. If Brady's touch had been exciting, being in Cam's arms was making her absolutely wet. She wondered if she should dance with all the guys and figure out who was the best.

"Looks like you're having a better time," Cam said, leaning down so his lips brushed her ear.

"I am having the best time ever. Thanks for bringing me." Emma kissed Cam on the cheek and then added a couple to his neck. She couldn't believe how forward she felt, but it felt so right. To her, Cam was the nicest, sexiest man on the planet.

Cam pulled her tighter against him so she was pressed into the line of his body. She could feel the hardness of his muscles from his shoulders to his thighs and she could feel the hardness between his legs. His bulge was rubbing against her stomach and Emma playfully pressed against it. Rubbing his cock like that felt so good and for a second Emma wished there weren't any clothes in the way. He was making her so hot. Her pussy was throbbing like never before and she knew that if he touched her there he would feel how wet she was, even through her panties. She flashed back to his hand pressing into her there earlier and how good it felt and wondered if it was an accident. If it was, she hoped there could be another accident like that. Cam tilted her head back and when he kissed her Emma opened her mouth and accepted his kiss full on. His lips felt so good she thought they would melt her into a puddle at his feet. She hadn't even kissed many guys before Rob and if this was what a kiss was supposed to feel like none of the boys who had kissed her before had gotten it right. Cam's kiss breathed fire into her and Emma rubbed herself more fervently against his growing prick. She was sure she could feel it throbbing. She wanted to feel it throbbing. His hands grabbed her ass and Emma felt herself pushed into Cam's bulge even harder. She whimpered through their kiss. He knew exactly what she was doing!

The kiss ended leaving Emma blinking and breathless. Wow! He is the sexiest man alive. Please kiss me again! No, don't. I won't want it to stop. Emma's mind was racing. She had never casually hooked up, even when she was a teenager. She didn't kiss guys on the first date. This wasn't even a date! But God did she want him to kiss her again. He must have been reading her mind because that's exactly what Cam did and she put her arms around his neck and pulled him down to her. Suddenly everyone else at the crowded house party disappeared and it was only the two of them.

Emma did not leave Cam's side for the rest of the night and even though she desperately wanted him to, she was glad he didn't kiss her again. The rush was just too much and she feared it would sweep her away. Why did she feel so amazing? Was it the couple drinks? She knew she was buzzed because the world tilted this way and that, but she didn't know drinking or smoking pot could make you so incredibly horny. Again she wondered what that liquid had been, but she didn't waste much thought on it. Whatever the reason, Emma was definitely living up to her promise to herself and cutting loose. Emma found many excuses to rub up against Cam and was very glad to find his cock hard every time. She was having the best time being a tease and she was happy that Cam wasn't taking it as a go ahead to rip her clothes off.

It was incredibly late when they left the party. Emma didn't understand how she could be so wired. She was usually falling asleep by eleven. In the back of the truck, Emma was snuggled into Cam and she rested her hand on his thigh, but she didn't have the nerve to touch him any higher. Just like on the ride home from the beach, his arm was around her and he was stroking the side of her breast, only this time she shifted, she hoped subtly, and he was touching her almost where she wanted. His fingertips kept randomly brushing her nipple and it almost made her crazier than if he'd just openly teased it. Deep down she knew she wasn't fooling anyone. Cam had to feel how hard her nipple was. Her nipples felt like they were going to burn right through her top, and if just for a moment, Emma thought she could fall in love with any man who could make feel so sexy and wanted.

They got back to the house and even though it was unsaid, she knew she would be spending the night. She knew Cam would offer his bed instead of making her sleep on the couch, but she thought the couch might be safer. His bed would smell like him, would be full of him and her mind would be too full of dirty thoughts for her to ever get any sleep. They all said goodnight to each other and Emma followed Cam up to his bedroom.

Almost as an afterthought Cam said, "I hope you don't want to go to a hotel now."

"No, spending the night here is fine."

"Good." Cam approached and his arms went around her and Emma pressed into him. God, did he never go soft? She looked up at him, ready to speak when he kissed her. It felt just as good as before, but so much more dangerous because of where they were. She wanted to run out of the room, go right for the couch without even getting ready for bed, but not more than she wanted to kiss Cam. His hands rubbed her back and set her aflame everywhere he touched. He cupped her ass and when she molded against him his thigh was between hers, pressing. It felt so amazing and she pressed back into him. She could feel him slowly lifting the back of her skirt and the thought to stop him came and went in the blink of an eye. He was touching the curve of her ass through her panties and Emma tilted her head back so he could kiss her neck.

"Cam," she said weakly.

"Yes, Emma," he breathed between kisses.

"What did you give me? I know it wasn't just a supplement. Tell me, I'm not mad."

"It's called Foxy. It's just something to make you feel good, but not really fuck you up. You don't feel too fucked up, do you?"

"No, I feel soooo good," Emma said as Cam resumed kissing her neck. Foxy was a good name for what she felt, she decided. Still, she hesitated going after what she wanted. "I don't think we should do this." It sounded as hollow to her as she knew it did to him. There was no denying she wanted him.

"Do you want me to stop?"

Now he was fully massaging her breast and her nipple pressed into his palm and the truth came out before she could stop it. "No..."

"Me neither."

Emma couldn't believe she was going to do this. She felt like a character in one of those books on her Kindle, the ones she closed immediately if someone came into the room. The ones that sometimes made her touch herself.

Cam was gently rolling her nipple and the pleasure was like a physical force assailing her body. "But..." she started. It was all she could get out. She wanted to say, But I don't have any experience. I've only been with one man. I'm not that kind of girl, but she was feeling very much like that kind of girl at the moment. Rob was the only man she'd ever slept with and she was extremely self-conscious about it. She was afraid she would do something wrong or she wouldn't be any good. She didn't want Cam to be disappointed. She was sure he'd been with some incredible women. She also didn't sleep with strangers. She knew it was wrong. That wasn't how she was raised. And yet, she had never known need so powerful. She'd never wanted a man the way she wanted Cam. Every touch, every kiss was a tiny explosion beneath her skin. Every nerve was singing at once. How could he make a simple caress feel so erotic? All of Emma's arguments against sleeping with Cam went unsaid because she simply wanted him and her desire was far more powerful than her objections.

Emma felt Cam moving her back toward the bed and she went with it, sitting down on the edge. He knelt in front of her and when he pulled the bottom of her shirt up, she raised her arms so he could get it over her head. Cam started kissing her breasts and Emma moaned loudly. Her incredibly sensitive breasts were on fire from his kisses and she jumped every time his lips found her nipple through the thin nylon of her bra. Her nipples throbbed to Cam's touch and she wanted to grab him by the hair and force his mouth to her nipple, to keep him sucking and licking it. With a deft flick of his thumb and forefinger, Cam popped open the front hook on Emma's bra and he gave her exactly what she longed for, catching her nipple in his mouth and sucking it hungrily. Emma pushed her breast into Cam's mouth and raked her fingers through his thick hair and rubbed his shoulders. He was pinching and rolling her other nipple and then he moved back and forth between her breasts, sucking on one until she thought she would scream, and then attacking the other. It was driving Emma out of her mind and when his hand moved up her skirt, she eagerly parted her legs, hoping he would relieve the pressure building down there. Cam rubbed her through soaked panties, pushing the fabric between her slick lips so he could caress them skin-to-skin.

"Ohhhh Cam," Emma moaned, hanging her head forward and kissing the side of his face. God he was an amazing lover and it was dawning on her that if Cam wanted to fuck her that she was going to let him. He tugged on her panties and she lifted her hips to let him pull them off. He pushed her skirt up around her waist and was kissing her thighs, tongue flicking up toward her pussy. Emma trembled and was self-conscious. She wanted him to go down on her, but she was scared. Rob hadn't done that in ages and it made her wonder if there was something wrong with her. But if Cam had a problem, he did not show it, for he kept kissing upward until his face was right between her thighs.

Emma put a leg over Cam's shoulder and she pulled him in tighter when he started kissing her pussy. She leaned forward, scratching her nails down his back and gasped from the pleasure she was receiving. Cam's tongue flickered over her lips, then pressed between them, mining for her moisture, and then flickered over her clit, making her shoot up straight and moan his name loudly. It was hard to remember she should stay quiet because of the other people in the house.

Cam pushed her onto her back and lifted her other leg over his shoulder. Now he slid both hands under her ass and he was pressing her pussy up against his mouth as he feasted on her. Both his thumbs rubbed little circles over her pussy lips and even slipped between them. Emma was in absolute heaven. She was gasping for air and clutching fistfuls of the sheets and she pushed her hips at his mouth. Her lips moved, but only incoherent moans escaped and she looked down to watch her handsome lover licking her. She had no idea anything could feel so good. Nothing in her experience had come close. Rob never made her feel like this. She felt so free, like she could do anything. It felt so good she almost felt like she loved Cam, even if it was a ridiculous notion.

A tiny spiral started deep in inside her. Currents shot from her clit, which Cam was sucking on, and fed the spiral of pleasure, causing it to grow and spin faster and faster. Soon it was filling her pussy and going beyond, up her chest and flowing out her arms and legs. Emma was crying out uncontrollably and loudly, filling the bedroom with her sounds of ecstasy. She couldn't quite be sure what was happening, because she'd never felt anything like this before, but then the spiral reached her fingertips and her head and everything just exploded in brilliance.

"Ohhhhhh..." Emma cried, arching her back, clenching the sheets in her hands so hard it hurt. Her entire body was flowing with energy and it tightened and relaxed over and over and she seemed to be vibrating, like she'd struck a beautiful chord. And then Emma realized that she was having an orgasm. Cam made her cum and in all those times with Rob before she never had. She enjoyed sex with Rob and sometimes it felt really, really good, but it just never occurred to her that she'd never actually had an orgasm before. Maybe just because she'd never had one she didn't know the difference. But she was having one now and Emma wanted it to go on forever.

Cam kept sucking at her pussy and her orgasm didn't ebb. The vibrations kept going up and down her spine. He kissed his way up her stomach and then each of her breasts and then he was on top of her. Even though he'd just been licking her pussy, she kissed him hard and without hesitation. Emma clawed at Cam's shirt and when he got it off for her, she kept running her hands over his hard chest and kissing it. Her hands moved lower and she rubbed his bulge through his shorts. She wanted it out and free and so could touch it and show Cam how much she wanted him. Emma rolled him onto his side and pulled his shorts down.

Seeing his cock so close wasn't like when she'd seen it from across the room. It seemed bigger and it was so hot to her touch. It sprang upward when she took it out and she used both hands to grasp the shaft. She wanted to taste him, but she was still a little too shy, so she just stroked and caressed his cock while she kissed his stomach. Cam, meanwhile was touching her, rubbing her juicy pussy and letting the tip of his finger push inside her. Slowly, he worked it up into her tight pussy and soon Emma was stroking Cam's cock in time to the finger gently fucking her. Emma's lust filled mind made the connection and she really wanted Cam's cock to replace his finger.

Cam rolled Emma onto her back again and placed himself between her legs. They both had a hand on his cock as he brought it between her legs. The head brushed against her and Emma suddenly remembered something.

"Wait," she said breathily.

A little groan escaped Cam's lips and he whispered, "What is it, Emma? Don't you want it?"

"God yes, but do you have something?" She let her eyes convey her meaning and she was relieved when he nodded. She wanted him so badly that she wasn't sure she would have stopped him if he didn't have protection.

Cam found a condom in the nightstand drawer and after a couple seconds they were right back in position. Emma grasped his latex-sheathed member and pressed it against her.

"Now," she moaned, and he pushed forward, spreading her open and invading her.

It felt even better than she could have imagined. His cock was so filling. Every nerve ending sang. Her muscles clutched at him. She wanted him all the way inside her, but Cam took his time, giving her his cock inch-by-inch, and when he was fully embedded, he stopped and took a few moments to just enjoy the feeling of the beautiful brunette wrapped around him. Cam was holding himself above Emma and looking down at her face, which was rapt with ecstasy. He leaned down and kissed her and Emma gave him the hottest kiss of her life. While they kissed he started pumping his hips, grinding and slow at first, then faster, rising and falling, pulling out and then thrusting back into her. Little startled moans escaped Emma's lips and she held onto his powerful arms.

Emma was pushing her hips up at her hunky lover with every thrust and the fucking he gave her was unparalleled, but her passions just weren't reaching the heights of before, when he was going down on her. She could feel the Foxy grabbing hold of her system and making the fucking seem almost magical. Every time Cam thrust into her Emma swore her entire body rippled with the force, like a physical wave traveled up her flesh to crest in her brain, flooding it with bliss. Her own moans echoed in her head musically, like they were going at it in a concert hall. She ached to cum again, but it always seemed just out of reach. Time would slow between Cam's thrusts, making her feel so empty, but then she would be rewarded once again with his filling shaft. Cam seemed to have incredible staying power. His cock stayed rock solid long after her ex-fiancée would have shot his load.

Cam rolled over, pulling Emma with him and amazingly his cock stayed inside her. Now she was lying on top of him. Emma pushed herself up off his chest and leaned over him just as he had been leaning over her a moment ago. Churning her hips, she worked his cock in and out of her. She always preferred being on top with Rob and it felt just as wonderful on Cam, if not more so. Emma held herself in an extended push-up over Cam and worked her pussy down on his shaft. At first she felt uncoordinated and it was hard to find a rhythm. Her mind was detached from her body and she had to will herself to move in any directed way. When she thrust down on his cock the shock of pleasure caused bright colors to flash through Emma's brain and it was hard not to be distracted, but Emma found if she concentrated and visualized Cam's shaft slipping in and out of her she could control her movements. It felt like he was going even deeper and the base of his cock pushed against her clit. Cam grabbed both her breasts and rubbed her nipples with his thumbs, then he leaned up and sucked on them.

"God yesss..." She hissed, thrusting harder and harder into Cam. His shaft seemed to be in a perfect position now and while her orgasm seemed unattainable before, now it rushed at her like a runaway train and when it hit her she gave a keening cry and her whole body heaved. She stopped moving on her own, so Cam grabbed her by the hips and kept fucking her up and down on her cock. She'd never had an orgasm in her twenty-four years and now Cam was giving her two in the span of a half hour. She wanted to keep Cam in bed forever.

Cam rolled Emma onto her back again and held her by the hips, this time slamming his cock deep inside her. It wasn't gentle like before, but Emma was so hot she was ready for anything.

"You're so fucking hot," Cam growled, jamming his cock into Emma.

Emma wasn't used to talking during sex, but she kind of liked it and responded. "Mmmm, you feel sooo good, Cam. Fuck me! Fuck me!" The words sounded funny coming out of her mouth, but Emma knew it was what Cam wanted to hear because he started fucking her even harder.

After another ten minutes she really thought Cam never would cum, because he seemed to be able to fuck forever. She so wanted to cum again, but it didn't feel as if it were happening in that position. She knew she couldn't take much more, or she would be very sore in the morning. She was almost relieved when he pulled out, but was disappointed seeing him still very hard. Immediately she wondered if she'd done something wrong.

"Is something wrong?" Emma asked, leaning over to kiss Cam and stroke his cock.

"No, it's not you, Emma. It's the condom and all the partying." He smiled and ran his fingers through her hair.

"Is there anything I can do?" She asked, already pulling off the condom.

"I don't know."

Emma got on her knees between Cam's legs and kissed his stomach and thighs while she ran her hands up and down his cock. She could smell the latex and lubricant of the condom he'd just been wearing, but she would not let that deter her. She started at the base and kissed her way up to the tip of Cam's cock, then slipped it into her mouth. She could feel the hot, salty precum seeping from the tip and she washed it away with her tongue. She just sucked on the head while she pumped the shaft and was rewarded with hearty moans from Cam. He pushed his cock upward, trying to get more into her mouth. Emma did suck more down, but she made him wait. She could only get about three-quarters of his cock into her mouth, but she made the most with what she had. Cam was running his fingers through her hair and thrusting up, showing just how much he loved her sucking.

Emma was so focused on Cam's cock that she didn't know KC had come into the room until she felt him touch her. She tried to whip her head around, but she only could see KC out of the corner of her eye because Cam used his hand to gently keep her mouth in place. Emma wondered what the hell was going on. Her skirt had fallen back into place, but KC pushed it up around her waist and found her soaking pussy with his hand. Emma couldn't help but moan when KC's fingers slid over her swollen labia and he rubbed her clit. She was still super sensitive down there. KC concentrated on her clit and Emma's body shook of its own accord, her hips bucking. Cam's cock was still in her mouth, but she wasn't sucking. He was moving her mouth up and down on it. She wanted to turn her head all the way, but she couldn't. She wanted to tell KC to get out, but she could hardly do that with a mouthful of cock. She really wanted to tell him to get out now because his fingers in her pussy felt too good and she could feel herself giving in to that. No, that wasn't something she could do. Could she? Emma had fantasized what it might be like to have the attention of two lovers, but it was not something she would ever do. Would she?

She felt a tongue and Emma knew KC must have bent down and was licking her pussy. Something smooth and hard and warm brushed her clit and Emma moaned loudly into Cam's cock. KC must have had his tongue pierced. Wow, that feels different, she thought. Different and amazing. When KC flicked his tongue and that ball bounced against her clit currents of pleasure mainlined right up her spine. Emma still didn't think KC should be in the room with her and Cam, but she no longer didn't want him there. She knew she would have stopped KC if she'd been in her right mind. That's what Emma told herself. But she was feeling the Foxy so powerfully that she didn't want either man to stop. Every touch, every caress was like being licked by tongues of flame and whether it was right or wrong Emma could not give that up. She convinced herself that it was not her tonight, it was a daring, sexy, foxy woman who'd stepped into her place and was inhabiting her body and that woman was going to do as she wished and damn the consequences. She didn't think she would ever feel this way again and she had to give herself over completely to it.

Just as Emma went back to sucking Cam, KC's tongue disappeared. She redoubled her efforts, now determined to make Cam cum. She felt badly that KC's tongue had distracted her from getting him off. As she filled her mouth with Cam's cock, she suddenly felt KC's shaft push into her from behind. Before she could even react, he was buried balls deep inside her and thrusting in and out. He was fatter than Cam and it felt like his whole cock was massaging the inside of her pussy. Again when she faltered, Cam kept moving his cock in and out of her mouth.

Emma couldn't believe she was having sex with two men at once. Even more, she couldn't believe she was enjoying it so much. It felt incredible, almost like one long cock was running through her. Did that make her a slut, she wondered. She was too busy to really think about it, because she went right back to sucking Cam while KC fucked her from behind.

Cam was holding her head and really shoving his cock into her mouth. Emma sucked as hard as she could, but KC's prick in her pussy felt so good that it was hard to focus. All she could really do was keep her mouth tight. But that must have been enough.

"You're soooo fucking hot, Emma. Fuck!" Cam moaned. Emma was sure she could feel his cock expanding in her mouth.

"Damn, had no idea you were such a piece of ass, Em," KC grunted from behind.

"Oh yeah," Cam exclaimed, the cum gushing from his cock into her mouth. Emma's cheeks ballooned out as his cum filled her mouth and she swallowed down every drop, slurping at his shaft as she made sure she got it all. She didn't love swallowing, but she wanted to make sure she did it well if she was going to do it.

With Cam's cock out of her mouth, Emma rested her head on his thigh while KC kept her ass high in the air and he plunged his cock in and out of her pussy. She was so wet she squished as he plunged in, something she was not used to. She never got that wet.

"Ohhh...ohhh...ohhh...ohhh..." Emma gasped as KC brought her to a third orgasm. It wasn't as powerful as the ones before, but it was still marvelous. When she finally stopped trembling, Emma realized that KC was probably inside her bareback. It felt that way. Hurriedly, she pulled off his cock and turned around. Without even a word of explanation, she popped his cock into her mouth and started sucking him hard. She understood what was expected of her, and she didn't mind it. She wanted to make KC feel good too.

"Oh damn," KC said, startled. It only took a couple minutes of sucking after that until KC was also filling Emma's mouth with cum. She swallowed his load his ease, while he stroked her cheek. When she was done, KC bent down and kissed her, whispering, "You're the sexiest woman I have ever met, Em."

KC left her to be alone with Cam, who she found fast asleep when she turned around. Emma slipped out of her skirt and spooned against Cam, naked. She felt so wired and a thousand things filled her head, but remarkably she was fast asleep within minutes.

When Emma opened her eyes she was blinded by the dazzling sunlight streaming through the windows. For a couple seconds, she was totally disoriented. She had no idea where she was or what she was doing there. She did realize she was naked, which was odd, since she did not sleep in the nude. Slowly, everything started coming back to her as her brain rebooted. Meeting Cam and his friends, then going to the party. She was still tingling all over and that led to her remember the rest of the night. God, Cam had felt so good. She couldn't believe she'd had sex with a guy she knew less than twenty-four hours, but she didn't know how she could have turned it down with how he made her feel. And then she remembered KC coming in.

Emma's stomach dropped. Did I have sex with two guys? Oh my God! What is wrong with me? I let two guys fuck me? At the same time! What was I thinking? Emma knew she wasn't thinking at all. Both Cam and KC made her feel so good that she didn't want to think—she only wanted to feel—so that was exactly what she'd done. But I have morals! I'm not that kind of girl! Emma flashed on the images she'd found when she'd checked Rob's internet history. Although the concept of having two lovers—having all that attention—might have been exciting in her deepest, darkest fantasies, it was not something she would ever seriously consider doing. Seeing the porn on her ex-fiancé's computer had disgusted her. But now she'd done it. How could she? She kept telling herself she wasn't that kind of girl. Obviously she was. Did she really know who she was? Emma's head filled with panicked questions, but slowly a realization cut through. While what she had done with Cam and KC was dirty and immoral, she had loved every second of it. She could have stopped them. Somehow she knew that neither of the guys would have made her do anything. They weren't like that. Emma knew she'd been a willing participant. There was something inside her that wanted to act out and go crazy. She thought about the books on her Kindle—the ones where girls her age would act out and do crazy things with some handsome guy. Perhaps she sought those out because she secretly wanted to be like those girls. She always thought living vicariously through reading about them was enough. But maybe it wasn't. She was glad Cam wasn't there because she didn't know how she could have faced him. It felt like her mind was flying apart.

Crawling out of bed, Emma realized that she was sore between her legs, and they were shaky. That was understandable considering she'd had more sex last night than she'd had in the last six months combined. Rob almost never touched her toward the end and sometimes Emma felt like she would explode. She decided that helped explain what happened last night. She was just a powder keg waiting for a match, and KC and Cam were just the lucky guys with a light. What Emma couldn't understand was how she could still feel so tingly after last night. She still felt very aware of everything, from her hair on her neck to the warmth of the sun on her naked skin. And the tingles centered on her pussy. She felt like if Cam had been there and touched her she would be all over him again. Whatever was in that vial—Cam called it Foxy—the effects must not have worn off yet. Sober, she knew that taking a drug she knew nothing about from a guy she barely knew was not a great idea, but for whatever crazy reason she just trusted him. He was just trying to help her cut loose, and she couldn't deny that she'd needed it. She just maybe didn't need to get that loose. Emma decided she would feel better after a shower. But when she looked around the bedroom for her stuff, it was gone. Now what was going on?

Emma found her towel from yesterday and made her way to the bathroom, feeling rather exposed. The house seemed to be deserted and she was relieved. Her toiletries were in the bathroom, but still, none of her other stuff seemed to be around. At least she could get a shower. She turned on the water as hot as she could stand it and scrubbed herself clean. She avoided touching her pussy or her nipples much, though. Not just because they were sore, they were, but because every time she did it sent shocks through her system and she didn't want to get all revved up again. She dried herself off after the shower and found a t-shirt of Cam's. Any of his other stuff would have dropped right off her and the t-shirt was big enough to fit like a nightshirt, falling down to her thighs. Since she thought she was alone, Emma figured it would be okay to wear until she found her bags. In the meantime, she headed down to the kitchen because she was famished.

As she approached the kitchen Emma knew she was wrong about being alone. She paused on the back steps and took a deep breath, preparing to face everyone. She wondered if everyone in the house knew what she'd done with Cam and KC last night and figured they probably did. I'm going to have to face them eventually, she told herself, so with her head held high—and wearing nothing but an oversized t-shirt—she walked into the kitchen. She was relieved to find only one of the roommates, Theo, was there. He looked up from his huge stack of waffles as she came in.

"Morning," he said between mouthfuls.

"Good morning."

Theo smiled and said, "I was starting to think you were going to sleep all day."

"It's not that late, is it? Is anyone else home?"

"It's pushing noon. Don't worry, I sleep in too when I don't have to be anywhere. Oh, no one else is here. Cam and Brady are working, I have no idea where KC is off to. Probably just hanging out somewhere. You must be hungry. Can I get you anything?"

"Just some juice, maybe toast or something." Emma said. She could feel Theo checking her out and she purposely looked the other way. Maybe she should have put on something besides the t-shirt. Suddenly it didn't feel nearly long enough.

Theo pushed up from the table and when he brushed past her Emma felt how really massive the young man was. He had to be well over six feet, which easily dwarfed her petite five-foot-three body, and he was just massive. Not toned, like Cam, but not fat either, just huge and strong, like a football lineman. Standing there, he seemed to fill the entire kitchen. But there was a gentleness about him too. Emma didn't feel like she had anything to fear from the giant Pacific Islander. He was like an enormous teddy bear. His undershirt seemed like it would be a tent on anyone else and even his boxers were huge. They also did nothing to hide what was under them and Emma was embarrassed when she was caught looking.

"Only juice we have is orange," Theo said, not acknowledging her gaze. "Is that okay?"

"Sure."

Theo rummaged through the cupboard until he found half a loaf of bread. Once he set it to toasting, he poured Emma a glass of juice. She took the juice and she moved to the other side of the kitchen, feeling suddenly uncomfortable. There was an electricity in the air. She could feel the sexual energy coming off Theo as he kept sneaking looks at her legs, and she didn't like the way her body responded to it. Emma found more and more that she liked attention from guys. It was like she was becoming a different person. She sipped her juice and stared out the window into the alley below.

It felt like a thousand ants crawling up her spine as she felt the weight of Theo's gaze on her from behind and she was too aware that Cam's t-shirt only fell a couple inches below her ass. Self-consciously she pulled at the front, but that only made the back rise up and she was sure Theo could see the curve of her ass. She forced herself to think about anything but what she'd seen in his boxers and how strong he looked and what it would feel like to be swept up in his arms. What was going on with her? She had a healthy sexual appetite, but it was never raging like this. And after a night like she'd had with Cam and KC, she should have been satisfied for quite a while. Besides, Theo wasn't even the type of guy she normally would have thought about in that way. She preferred the clean-cut, all-American type.

"Have you guys lived here long?" Emma asked, hoping small talk would defuse the tension.

"KC and Brady have been roommates for a long time. Then me. We got this house when Cam was looking for a cheaper place to stay."

When Theo spoke he was so close behind her she jumped. He moved surprisingly silently for such a big guy. Emma turned around and he was right there, less than a foot away and she was staring right into his chest. He loomed over her, filling Emma's world.

"Really?" Emma stuttered.

"I hope you don't mind if I tell you something. I mean, I don't know if you're with Cam or not."

Automatically, Emma said, "I'm not with Cam." Did that sound too defensive?

Theo's face split into a wide grin and Emma thought he had the sweetest smile. "Well then, I have to tell you Emma, you're the most beautiful girl I have ever seen."

Emma turned twenty shades of red and said, "Oh, please. Don't be silly."

Theo reached out and brushed an errand lock of chestnut hair from her cheek. "Really. You are so beautiful. You've got a quality a lot of women don't have."

Emma was breathless as she asked, "What's that?"

"You're sweet and beautiful and sexy as hell all at the same time. It's easy to be one or the other, it's rare to find all three in someone." Theo was against her now and Emma put her hands on his chest. His giant hands were on her shoulders, lightly rubbing with an almost hypnotic pattern. When he leaned in his kiss was almost shy.

"Theo, maybe we shouldn't," Emma said, even as her lips sought out his.

"You don't want me to kiss you?"

Oh, it's not that. She couldn't believe how much she wanted him to kiss her. "I'm just," she started, but didn't finish. She wanted to say, I'm just going crazy, but her hands had been wandering over Theo's chest, signaling that she was receptive to his advance. His kiss was tentative, soft and sweet, just like the man himself. Emma closed her eyes and allowed herself to enjoy the gentle kiss; it was a nice contrast to the frenzied sexual energy she had felt from the other boys the night before. His fingers twined in her heavy, damp hair as he drew her into his masculine wall of flesh. She was a doll in his arms. It felt like a safe place, a respite from her crazy life. But then Theo's hand dropped from her back, brushing over the hem of the t-shirt to touch her bare ass. The sensation was skin on skin was electric, and Emma felt the heady rush of lust from the night before. The shared kiss lost its innocence she had to pull away.

"Sorry. I just thought..."

Emma put a reassuring hand on his chest and shook her head, forcing herself to meet his eyes. Theo hadn't been anything but sweet to her and she did not want to hurt his feelings. This was about her, not him, as trite as that sounded. "This kiss was really nice." She realized that sounded bad. "I really liked it, but I don't think we should..."

The implication of what she meant hung there between them until he finally said, "Yeah, yeah, I know what you mean." His disappointment was palatable. She did not want to leave it like that.

"You're a handsome guy, Theo. I'm just not up for fooling around right now. Last night was rough. I'm not used to that. I really need to just chill out.”

“So maybe I’ll see you later?”

“Definitely. We’ll hang out later,” she replied. He lit up at the hint of hope. “I’m going to go back to bed now, though.”

Emma stood on her tip toes, but Theo still had to lean down for her to kiss his cheek. She felt his eyes burning into her butt as she left the kitchen with her juice and toast.

Back in the bedroom, she tried to get a hold of herself. Theo’s pass convinced her the other guys knew about her and Cam and KC. They’d probably had a good laugh about it this morning. He did not seem like that kind of guy, but Theo probably thought if she was willing to give it up to his two friends after less than a day he had a shot too. That was probably unfair, but Emma’s mother had always taught her that men had ulterior motives and could not be trusted when it came to women. They just want to get in your pants, she always insisted. Emma did not want to believe that. She wanted to believe that guys were sweet and romantic, like in the books she read. She struggled to give Theo the benefit of the doubt.

Emma was scared that maybe Theo didn’t have it wrong. When he kissed her and began touching her, it was just like the night before when Cam did it. Rational thought escaped her and morals went out the window. She did not want Theo to stop kissing her, and just that quick touch only made her want more. If Emma hadn’t pulled away then, she might not have done it at all, and she would have taken her third lover in less than twenty-four hours. She had to get her head on straight.

First things first. She had to find some clothes. Obviously, she couldn’t run around in Cam’s t-shirt. Her bags weren’t there, so she went through the drawers. The only things Cam left behind were her under things and bikinis, which she found in a cleared drawer. Gone were her comfy sweaters and baggy tops. Cam did not unpack for her just to be nice. The boy had an angle, and she would call him out on it. But for now, she chose a flowered bikini top and panties, which she paired with a set of his board shorts. She pulled the drawstring as tight as possible and rolled the waist a couple times, and the shorts managed to stay up.

Emma lay down intent on figuring out her next move, and promptly fell asleep.

An hour later Emma woke up and found that she was really alone. She thought about taking a walk around the neighborhood, but didn't feel she was dressed appropriately, so she settled for watching TV until someone came home. Brady was the first one back and he seemed surprised to see her on the couch.

"Cute outfit," he said, taking in all the exposed skin of Emma's torso and her trim legs.

"I couldn't find anything else to wear. I don't suppose you'd know where my clothes are?"

"Beats me, but I'm sure Cam could tell you. He'll be back soon, he stopped to get the oil changed in his Jeep."

Cam was back within the hour and he defused her anger with a dazzling smile.

"I know where your clothes are."

"Could you tell me?"

Cam laughed. "I could. Why don't you come upstairs with me?"

Emma hoped Cam wasn't expecting sex because she just wasn't in the mood. That wasn't true, strictly speaking. The kiss she'd shared with Theo got her tingling again and the nap had done nothing to subside it. Emma was starting to wonder if the tingling would ever go away, or was she going to be permanently horny now. When Cam kissed her in the bedroom, she let him slip his tongue between her lips and she kissed him back. Cam sat on the bed and patted the spot beside him until Emma sat too. She stared at him, impatiently waiting for an answer. She focused on her annoyance to keep her from thinking about how good the kiss felt.

"Tell me, Emma, something brought you here. Something happened to make you come out to California, didn't it?"

"I don't see what that has to do with you hijacking my clothing." He rubbed her shoulders and it felt so nice that she had to work to stay angry.

"Just stay with me for a minute here."

It was weird, but after how intimate they'd been last night, Emma didn't want to open up to Cam. For one thing, she didn't want to be a downer, but also she'd always had trouble opening up to people. She didn't like the feeling that she was burdening other people with her problems and was always afraid they would think she was weak. It still felt like Rob leaving was her fault, that there was something wrong with her, even though she kept telling herself it wasn't true. "Why do you think something drove me out here? I told you, I just wanted to visit my sister."

"Without warning? Wouldn't you at least make sure she was going to be there? I could just tell something was troubling you as soon we met. I'm not judging you. You seem like a cool girl and I know it took a lot for you to trust us and come back to our place yesterday. You're not the kind of girl who just takes off with a bunch of strange guys, are you?"

"Not usually, no," Emma admitted. "But you guys didn't seem like you would take advantage. I don't know—I just had a good feeling about you."

"Do you still feel that way after last night?"

Emma wasn't sure how to answer that. She wanted to think nothing would have happened—especially the part with KC—if she had not been tipsy or high, but honestly she wanted it just as much as Cam did. She couldn't even be angry with KC for jumping in either—what he did felt incredible. She could not blame the guys for seeing that she wanted something they wanted too and giving it to her.

"Yes, I still feel that way. Last night was awesome." She suddenly wondered if she should tell Cam about kissing Theo. Did she have any obligation to? She decided she did not, at least not yet. "I just hope you guys don't think I'm some kind of slut. Trust me, I am the farthest thing from it. Last night was totally out of character. I've never done anything remotely like that."

"Hey, no one thinks you're a slut. Last night was just some friends enjoying each other. There's nothing wrong with that as long as no one gets hurt."

Emma couldn't say she entirely agreed with that, but she nodded anyway.

"I could tell that was very different for you. That's another reason I think you're here for a specific reason. You wouldn't be doing stepping that far out of your comfort zone unless you were trying to get away from something, even if it's yourself."

It held some appeal, escaping from herself, who she was before she boarded that plane. Maybe I do need a vacation from myself, she thought. "I do think I need to loosen up and try new things. You're right; I need to get away from something." And with that, Emma gave Cam the Cliffs Notes version of what had happened with Rob. She was crying by the time she finished and Cam was holding her tight to his chest. "I'm sorry for falling apart like this," she sobbed.

"Don't be ridiculous. You'd have to be inhuman not too. I totally understand how you feel. I've had some bad relationships myself. But don't worry, it's not you. Look at you. You're sweet and sexy and cool. Rob must be a total lunatic to leave you. He's never going to find another woman like you."

"You don't have to say that, really," Emma insisted, wiping back her tears.

"I said it because I meant it."

"I'm sure I look really sexy right now."

"I don't think you couldn't look unsexy if you tried."

Emma let out a deep sigh. "Well, what does all this have to do with my clothes? I may be branching out, but I am not going to run around this house naked."

"Well, I suspected some of this, so I thought I would give you a hand with all that change." Cam was smiling like he could barely contain himself.

"Really? Wearing nothing but a bikini is going to bring personal growth?"

"How long are you out here for?"

"Five days."

"I was thinking that for these five days you should reinvent yourself. Try out being the sexy, free woman who's clearly trying to break out. Crack open your shell and see what happens. At least here you don't have to worry about running into anyone who's going to judge you."

It was an exciting proposition. Emma did wonder what it would be like to just totally cut loose and do whatever she felt without worrying about consequences or how it would be perceived. She did not know if she could do it, though. Live for herself? What a strange concept.

Cam was pleased to see her mulling it over. "And the first step is for you to buy a wardrobe that matches your attitude. The clothes you brought are fine, but it's out with the old, in with the new."

"Okay, but I pick the clothes and don't think I'm going to go too far out there."

"All I ask is that you keep an open mind and let me offer some suggestions. I think you're going to surprise yourself."

Cam left the room and returned with a pair of her shorts. He picked the shortest pair that hugged her ass the best, of course. He did not give her a top and when she balked Cam assured her that she would not be out of place walking around in a bikini top and shorts. Once they were out and about, Emma was relieved to find he was correct.

Instead of going to a mall, Cam took Emma to a strip of shops that were just a couple blocks away from the beach. It was an eclectic row of boutiques selling everything from ice cream to sex toys. Cam pointed out the surf shop where he and the others worked. Emma asked where they should start and he told her to leave it in his hands.

Cam was clearly well known in the little beach town, especially among the women it seemed. The girls who worked in the clothing stores were mostly perky blondes and they lit up when they saw whom Emma was with. At first, Emma was jealous, but then she saw that the women were jealous of her and she filled with pride. When Cam asked the salesgirls to give Emma a hand picking some outfits they tripped over themselves trying to be helpful. They asked what she was going for and when she said she wasn't exactly sure what she wanted they were more than happy to recommend outfits.

A sun-bleached blonde in cutoffs and a loose knit tank top led her around a small boutique, showing Emma various items. When Emma kept shrugging indifferently, the girl just asked her size and began picking things, while directing Emma back to the small changing booth, which was hardly more than a closet off the hallway to the backroom, with a flimsy curtain across the doorway. Emma liked the girl's tank top, except that it was so loose that every time she moved it revealed she was braless. Emma could not imagine just casually flashing her tits like that.

The girl's selections were a mixed bag. Emma found several cami tops, which while, very cute, showed more skin than she ordinarily would have. And a blousy eyelet tank was pretty, but when she held it up, it was virtually see through. She would only wear that with a tank top underneath it. She suspected Cam would deem that playing it safe. The skirts were uniformly short, and with of them—a distressed canvas with pockets—was super tight. The others were flowy, with pretty patterns, and were close to something Emma would have worn, if they had been several inches longer.

Emma modeled all of the clothes for Cam, who took up station just outside the booth. The curtain barely covered the doorway, and she knew he was watching her through the gap, but she was becoming increasingly comfortable with showing her body, at least to Cam. Emma acknowledged some of the outfits looked cute, but they were so different than what she usually wore. Of course, that was the point. Cam insisted she buy the canvas skirt and other, plus three of the tops.

The second boutique was slightly more upscale, and here Cam actually picked out a couple halter tops and dresses for her to try on. The changing booth here had an actual door and Emma missed knowing Cam was peeking while she changed. The little green dress had tiny white flowers all over it and buttons up the bodice. Again, it was crazy short. Cam demanded she give him a spin. Modeling for him was fun, and when he insisted, "You have to get that," she didn't even care how short it was. In all their years together, Rob had never made her feel as special as Cam did in that moment. He also loved the filmy halter top that was nothing more than a couple strings in the back, and she bought that, too. Emma could not imagine wearing that in public, but Cam pulled her close and laid a toe-curling kiss on her when he saw it, so she had no choice.

Emma enjoyed modeling for Cam more than she cared to admit. The damp spot she'd spied on her panties in the changing room testified to that. All those orgasms from the night before were a distant, happy memory, and embers the morning's kisses had stoked were burning brightly now. She shifted in her seat, trying to ignore the heat radiating from between her legs. It was impossible. As Cam drove, she leaned over and rubbed his arm before letting her hand fall suggestively on his thigh. The wind whipping through the open Jeep had raised Emma's nipples to hard little points, which she hoped Cam noticed.

"So what's on tap for tonight?" Emma asked.

"Well, I was wondering if you wanted to hang out with the guys, or just go out and grab a bite to eat with me?"

It hardly took a second for Emma to say, "It would be nice if just the two of us went out, I guess."

"Cool, so we'll eat and then play it by ear."

Cam freely came in and out of the bedroom while she was getting ready, which was beginning to feel like old hat. He also stripped down naked in front of her before his shower. Seeing Cam's muscled, tanned body naked made Emma want him all the more and she carefully chose her own outfit. She changed her clothes in front of him too, but it required her to swallow her modesty. She reminded herself that she was the new, sexier Emma. She went downstairs before he came out of the shower, because she was afraid that if she had to see him all freshly scrubbed and naked and wet she might not be able to resist jumping him.

Brady and KC were on the couch when Emma came down, and she was relieved that KC acted like nothing had happened. He seemed just as cool and casual as before. When she walked into the living room, both Brady and KC tore their attention away from the Xbox long enough to admire Emma's sexy new look. She chose the little green dress Cam loved so much and was glad the other boys found it as appealing as he did. Her bra straps would have shown, and she hadn't packed a strapless one, so she'd been forced to go braless—something she never did. The top was snug enough that it pushed her up slightly, but Emma would have been more confident in one of those Victoria's Secret specials that really gave her some lift. Both boys whistled as they drank her in.

"My my my, you look like something else," KC said, smiling.

"Something good, I hope," Emma replied, blushing.

"If you weren't going out with Cam tonight I would show you just how good you look."

"Yeah, you look good enough to eat," Brady added, emphasizing the last word. "Come on over and sit down with us while Cam gets ready. He's as bad as a girl. He's going to be a while."

The boys moved apart—barely—leaving Emma wedged between them on the couch. When she sat she realized just how short the loose skirt of the dress was, and knew that if she wasn't careful she would be giving both Brady and KC a preview of what Cam would be enjoying later.

KC played the videogame and Brady packed his magic pipe and offered Emma a toke. She was nervous about the night ahead and took him up on his offer, remembering how relaxing the pot had been last time. After just a couple hits she was feeling rather mellow. Emma was so relaxed that she was much less careful with how she sat, and she caught KC checking out her white silk panties. He didn't even try to hide it. Emma tried to smooth the dress over her lap, but it still didn't cover much. KC ran his hand up her tanned legs and rested it on her knee. The pot began having the same effect on Emma as the day before, and the pleasant warmth spread from her lap. KC eased her thighs apart for a better view. Emma—enjoying the attention more than she should—happily let him.

KC whispered in Emma's ear, "I like your panties." She could feel his fingers on her thigh.

Emma didn't know what she would do if he moved his hand higher. She knew what she should do, but the kissing and touching and modeling for Cam had left her very horny and not quite in her right mind. She started rationalizing again. Cam didn't mind KC touching her last night, so he probably wouldn't mind this. The propriety of letting KC touch her right there in front of Brady didn't enter the picture. That was buried beneath the gauzy chill the pot left in her brain.

Not sure how to respond, she just said, "Thank you." The feel of his breath on her neck gave Emma the chills. She glanced over and was relieved to see that Brady was too engrossed in the game now to notice KC's hand had crept higher. KC lightly stroked her thigh and her body naturally responded. She closed her eyes and enjoyed his warm touch. Fortunately, Cam came down before things could progress any further.

"Are you ready, Emma?" Cam asked. He was handsome in a dark blue surf shirt and light cargo shorts with sandals. His blonde hair was artfully disheveled and a couple buttons had been left open at his throat to reveal his pooka shell necklace gleaming white against his tanned chest.

"Yes, let's get out of here," Emma said a little too quickly, KC's hand falling away as she stood.

"Where are you guys headed?" KC asked.

"Not really sure. Wherever the night takes us."

"Have a good time," Brady said, sneaking a peek at Emma's ass as she and Cam departed.

Emma climbed up into the Jeep and Cam had to catch the white flash of panties. They rode around for a while before they settled on somewhere for dinner and Emma decided that she loved the feeling of riding around in the Jeep with the top down, especially as the sun was setting. Cam took her to a very small sushi place right on the beach, which was barely more than a shack. The sushi was excellent. They sat at a picnic table facing the ocean and watched the sun make its final descent. Cam gave Emma a cup of warm sake, but it was too strong for her taste. She wanted to be clear headed tonight, or at least as clear headed as she could be after sampling Brady's powerful weed.

After they finished the meal and Cam had a second cup of sake, they took a walk up the beach, Emma slipping off her sandals and carrying them in her left hand while Cam held her right. It seemed like they talked forever and again Emma felt like she was spilling much more about her past than she should, but Cam made her feel so at ease, and she knew the pot had loosened her tongue.

A crescent moon cast the only light by the time they decided to turn back, and looking around the only signs of civilization Emma could see were some very nice houses towering above the dunes on the one side and some distant lights out on the ocean on the other.

"Not a lot of people come on the beach up here," Cam said, standing beside Emma as she watched the dark waves lapping at the sand. The water came up over their toes and still felt warm. "There's really no public access because the houses don't leave any walkways."

"That doesn't seem fair. These aren't private beaches, they should be for everyone to enjoy." Emma keenly felt the heat from Cam's body pressed to her side and turn to lay her head on his chest.

"I agree, but some people are greedy and they want to keep all the world's beauty for themselves. I think beauty should be shared and enjoyed at every opportunity."

Cam bent forward and Emma stood on tiptoes so her lips met Cam's. His kiss took her breath away just as before and she was completely lost in his arms. He lifted her off the sand as they kissed and she wrapped her legs around his waist, pushing her dress high. Cam carried her while they kissed until he laid her on the incline of the sand dune. Emma felt the loose sand against her back and propped herself up on her elbows. Cam was kneeling in front of her and she reached forward and unbuttoned his shirt while they kissed. She was burning to feel him inside her again and she wanted to show him just how much she wanted him.

Emma sucked on Cam's throat and caressed his smooth, muscular chest. He moaned when she nipped at his throat. His nipples were hard in the cool night and Emma flicked her tongue over them. His fingers dug into her scalp and she took his nipple completely in her mouth and suckled it while she fumbled for the button holding Cam's shorts closed. She looked up at him and smiled as she moved to his other nipple and pushed his shorts down around his knees.

Cam wasn't wearing underwear and his rigid shaft hotly filled her hands. Emma stroked him, smearing his sticky precum all over the head while she continued to kiss each of his nipples. It was not until she was sure he throbbed in her hands that Emma kissed her way down his hard stomach, where her lips met the scalding head of his cock.

Emma swirled her tongue all around his head. Cam tasted strong and masculine. His seeping precum was like a tease of what she could expect if she really went to work on him. Emma kept jerking the thick shaft while she rhythmically pushed her lips around Cam's head. She sucked a little in, then withdrew, and then took a bit more between her lips. Emma swallowed Cam like that until she had over half his cock in her mouth and it was pushing at the back of her throat. Cam had one hand on the back of her head and the other on her bare back, rubbing while she went down on him. While Emma had always liked giving head, she absolutely loved giving it to Cam. His cock, like the rest of him, was beautiful and she felt like she could not do enough to show how desperately she wanted him.

Cam thrust his hips upward and fed his cock into her mouth. Emma tried not to gag as the head pressed on the back of her throat. She reached between her legs to find her panties soaked through. She rubbed her pussy through her panties and moaned into Cam's prick as it slipped in and out of her mouth.

"God, Emma, your mouth feels so good," Cam moaned and Emma glanced up to see him looking down at her bobbing on his cock. She held his eyes as she sucked on him and massaged his heavy sac. His lips parted in a gasp and she kept rubbing his sac, feeling his cock twitch in her mouth. "You're going to make me cum if you keep that up," Cam warned playfully.

Good, Emma thought. She wanted Cam to cum in her mouth. His cock was swelling and he was pumping harder at her mouth. Emma let his shaft slip out of her mouth and kept just the head between her lips while she pumped the shaft with her hands. She sucked intensely on the head and rapidly flicked her tongue over it.

"Fuck, Em, where did you learn that?" Cam exclaimed. "Jesus..." Was all he could get out before Emma felt the first spurts of his orgasm jet into her mouth. She kept her hands moving fast up and down his shaft and more thick cum followed those first shots. His cock kept gushing and gushing and Emma dutifully swallowed every last drop while staring up at her lover. Even when she let his cock pass from her mouth and thick strings of cum dripped from the head to her pretty pink lips Cam did not go fully soft, which amazed her.

"Mmm," Emma cooed, "Did you enjoy that?" She kept kissing his stomach and lightly touching his cock, feeling it tremble with new life already.

"Do you even have to ask?" Cam laughed, stroking her hair. "That was some trick."

"I just do what comes naturally."

Emma stood up in front of Cam and opened the tiny buttons on her bodice. Taking her clothes off outside was something she would have never done before, but with her need for Cam so strong she didn't even give it a second thought. Emma covered her firm breasts with her hands and she rolled her nipples between her fingers until Cam reached up and took over. With the thumb and forefinger of each hand Cam teased her nipples, rubbing them ever so gently at first, then slowly increasing the pressure. Emma whimpered and swayed on her feet as the stimulation made her pussy throb. She pulled the spaghetti straps from her shoulders and let her dress drop to the sand. Cam leaned forward and kissed her pussy through her panties and Emma held his face against her. She could feel his tongue probing as if it could tear right through the silky fabric. Cam sucked on her pussy and Emma pushed her hips forward, nearly losing her balance. Her moans grew louder, competing with the waves crashing on the beach behind them. Cam took his mouth away long enough to roll Emma's panties down her legs, but instead of letting him kiss her between her legs again she pushed him onto his back. Emma towered over him, her petite nude body stunning in the moonlight.

Kneeling over Cam, Emma grasped his shaft and rubbed it between her legs. The thick root easily slipped over her slick lips and the teasing thrilled them both. Jolts of pleasure shot through Emma and Cam returned to steely hardness. She rubbed her clit with his thick head and threw her head back and moaned. It was so tempting to just settle down on his cock, but first Emma reached for the little crocheted clutch she'd been carrying and found the condom she'd stashed there. Cam's looked briefly disappointed, but to his credit he did not try to talk her out of it, contenting himself to lay back on the gentle slope of the sand dune and watch Emma prepare his cock for her.

Once Cam's prick was safely sheathed, Emma grasped it once again and slowly fed it into her pussy. Just like the night before, she felt stuffed full. She didn't know if she could ever get used to having such a big cock. It was a good thing Cam made her so wet, she thought, because big as he was, he slid right inside her until she lay on top of him, fully impaled. Emma's breasts crushed against Cam's hard chest and she kissed her lover passionately while he wrapped his arms around her. Cam's shaft pulsed inside her and Emma grasped it with strong muscles, fucking him even though they lay perfectly still. Emma gradually began moving her hips and pushed herself up. With her hands on Cam's chest Emma held herself over him, her head hanging forward and her chestnut hair veiling her face. Emma gasped as Cam filled her and his cock bumped her clit with every down stroke. It was a slow burning coupling and Emma was in no hurry to have it end. She was content to slowly ride his cock for a while. Cam held her ass in his hands and kneaded the cheeks while she churned her hips.

"Mmm...ohhh...uhnnn..." Emma moaned. It seemed like every time she moved Cam's cock touched a new part of her and sent shivers of joy through her tight body. All those little shocks of pleasure were gathering in her pussy and building, becoming an unstoppable force that would take over her body. Emma felt the beginnings of that and moved faster and faster still as she built toward her peak.

Cam lifted Emma so she was sitting straight up on his cock and he massaged her breasts while she rode him. "Ohh...Cam..." she moaned. "Uhn...yessss...yessss..."

"You're so sexy, Em," Cam groaned. He was lifting off the sand and thrusting upward to drive his cock deeper inside her. Emma's pussy gripped him like a fist.

"Mmmm...yesss...You feel so good..."

"So do you, baby."

"Ohh...don't stop...Camm...don't ever stop..."

"I'm all yours, Em, anytime you need it," Cam moaned.

"Need it...oh, I need it...fuck me, Cammm..." Emma gasped, her orgasm charging hard now. She arched her back and thrust hard onto Cam. He held her by her hips and lifted her up and down, fucking her whole body on his cock, jarring her every time she crashed onto him. Emma ran her hands through her hair, thrusting her breasts toward the sky, her cries becoming loud enough to rival the booming surf just yards behind them.

As Emma arched her back and stared up into the night, she saw a light on in one of the houses behind the dunes. It was a huge, whitewashed art deco beach house and grand windows on the second floor and framed in one of those windows was a man, clearly watching them. The distance was only about thirty yards so Emma could see that he wasn't a bad looking man, probably in his late thirties, with thick brown hair. The other obvious thing was that he was touching himself as he watched her fuck Cam. The watcher was wearing a long robe parted in the front and one of his hands was down between his legs. Emma could tell by how his arm moved that he was playing with himself. Emma's pussy clamped down on Cam's prick when she thought about the man watching them and that he could see her completely naked and fucking. Obviously he found her attractive and that made Emma feel so sexy. Cam still had her by the hips and fucked her up and down on his cock. Emma fondled her breasts, wanting to put on a show for their voyeur.

Tremors shot through Emma's body and just like that—knowing she was being watched—she went over the edge, moans ringing out in the night as she came atop Cam's wonderful cock. Her pussy gushed around him and her juices ran down his shaft as she rode him. Even though he knew she'd cum, Cam did not stop fucking Emma. Just as the night before, he stayed hard and he kept fucking her petite body on his shaft. Emma's toes curled into the sand and she squealed as he fucked her past her orgasm. She kept her eyes on the window above and she saw their audience was still there, keeping track of all the action while he stroked himself. If it weren't for the watcher she might have climbed off Cam's cock by now, but she wanted to keep putting on a show for the horny stranger.

Cam kept Emma riding his cock until it felt like the big tool was going to turn her inside out. Emma didn't know if the watcher could hear her, but she was definitely more vocal knowing he was there. "Fuck me! Fuck me, Cam!" She cried into the night. It seemed to her that Cam would never tire of being inside her, but that was fine with Emma because she rapidly built to another orgasm, right on the heels of the first. This whole multiple orgasm thing was still so new to Emma that it easily overwhelmed her. She held onto both of Cam's hands, fingers intertwined, thrusting down onto his pole. She screamed into the starry night with glee and could see the watcher's arm moving faster and faster. Realizing he was getting off right along with her made Emma's orgasm that much stronger. She ground her pussy onto Cam until she just couldn't take it anymore and then collapsed onto his broad chest, gasping for air. Cam hugged her tightly and amazingly she could still feel him hard and throbbing inside her.

"That was incredible," Emma breathed, kissing Cam on the cheek.

"You are incredible, Emma. So damned sexy."

"I wish I could make you cum," she said with a hint of disappointment.

"It's not you, baby. You have to believe me. It's the condom, like I told you. But trust me, you're coming the closest, you feel so good around me."

Emma had reached down and pulled the condom off Cam and stroked his pulsing shaft. She knew she was not going to leave him in that state, so she bent down and took his big cock back in her mouth.

"Em, you don't have to..." Cam started, but then he felt Emma's tongue go to work and he just laid back and sighed contentedly. Her pussy had truly felt great and Cam was so worked up from fucking her that Emma did not have to suck him long at all before he was filling her mouth with another creamy load. She sucked down every last drop once again and even licked her lips when she was done. Emma realized she'd swallowed more cum in the past twenty-four hours than she had in the past year and thought she was getting to like it. Emma gave Cam a last kiss on the head of his spent cock and reached for her dress. Her pale panties were lost somewhere on the sand.

Standing up naked, Emma was disappointed to see their voyeur was gone. The light was still on in the window, but the man was no longer there. A chill went through her when she thought that a complete stranger had no only seen her naked, but fucking as well. She hoped it had been as good for him as it had been for her.

Emma rolled and stretched as she slowly opened her eyes to find she was nude and alone in Cam's bed once again. She had not slept nearly as late as the morning before, despite the wee hour Cam had finally let her go to sleep. She wouldn't let him fuck her when they got back because she was sore and she knew she would feel guilty when he didn't cum, but she could not stop him from going down on her and making her cum that way. Emma fell asleep about two seconds later and that was the last thing she remembered before waking up tangled in his sheets. The sounds from downstairs told her for sure that she was not alone in the house this time. Lacking sleepwear, she once again slipped on one of Cam's t-shirts to make her way to the shower.

Emma pulled on a pair of tight, low-ride shorts with the t-shirt and made her way downstairs. Cam and Brady were in the kitchen having breakfast and Cam asked, "Do you feel like heading to the beach today? We can pick up those surf lessons."

"That sounds like a great idea. What's for breakfast?" Emma replied.

"There's cereal or cereal. You've got Fruit Loops or Count Chocula."

Emma had a bowl of Fruit Loops with some nearly expired milk and went back upstairs to get her things together for the beach. She knew her halter bikini would be better for surfing, but Emma thought she looked cuter in the multi-colored string bikini and decided on that one.

Theo decided to tag along and the four people piled into Cam's Jeep. Emma rode in the back with Theo and he gave her several knowing glances, but he didn't say anything about their kiss the morning before. She vividly remembered how wonderful the kiss had been and by the way Theo kept glancing at her, so did he. He obviously wanted another chance, probably hoping that Emma would not stop things the second time around.

The sun was bright and hot, but since it was a weekday the beach wasn't overly crowded. Emma helped the boys lay out their mats and they put on some music. Of course they made more of the punch they had brought to the beach before, but Emma planned on sticking mostly with water. She peeled off her tank top and shorts and was about to ask Cam to spread some tanning lotion on her when Brady snatched the bottle from her hand and said, "Let me help you with that."

Emma turned her back to Brady and she jumped when the cold lotion touched her. But it only took moments for his hands to warm. He took his time, enjoying greasing up the sexy young woman. Brady had a soothing touch and Emma enjoyed his help more than she felt she should. Brady was the quietest of the friends, the only one who wasn't a hardcore jock, and Emma was not surprised that he had the gentlest touch she'd experienced from them. It occurred to her that now on her third day of hanging around with these guys each of them had now found an excuse to get their hands on her. Emma felt a bit trappy, but she couldn't deny she was enjoying the unusual amount of attention.

Brady covered her back and instructed Emma to turn around. She told him, "That's not necessary, I can get the front."

"Nonsense. Think of me like Jiffy Lube. I won't stop until you are completely oiled up," Brady said with a twinkle in his dark eyes.

Before Emma could utter another objection, Brady shook the bottle and suggestively held it waist high as he squirted lotion onto her stomach. Emma couldn't help but laugh as he started rubbing the white, creamy lotion into her flat belly. Her bikini bottom was slung low on her hips, and Brady was not shy about taking his hands as low as he could go while rubbing in the lotion. Emma couldn't help reacting to his hands being so close to her most sensitive area and her nipples hardened through her bikini top. Brady's hands traveled upward from there and his fingers continually brushed the undersides of her breasts as he helped her.

Emma saw a couple guys who looked barely out of their teens watching Brady rub her down. Feeling safe behind their sunglasses, they were hardly subtle about admiring her trim body. Brady followed her gaze and smiled when he saw the young bucks checking Emma out.

"Looks like those boys would love to be in my place right now," Brady said, still rubbing her just beneath her breasts and grazing them.

"Maybe, but I am sure there are other women on the beach they would rather get their hands on," Emma said. Not too far away from them were two typical, blonde, big-breasted beach bunnies sharing a towel and the gravity-defying women made Emma feel almost like a boy by comparison.

"I don't think so. You are the sexiest woman on this beach, Em, precisely because you're not obvious like those chicks. There's something to be said about a woman who doesn't just throw it all out there. You know what those chicks are all about with a glance. But a girl like you comes in under the radar. You have those sweet, girl-next-door looks, but when someone really stops to look they can see something smoldering underneath."

"Really?" Emma asked, utterly flattered. Brady had a way with words, no doubt. Seeing herself through Brady's eyes made her blush and start to tingle—though that was largely to his gentle, insistent hands. Just like that, she formed a crush on another of the housemates.

"Oh, yeah. Look at your body. Any guy can tell with one look that you can do some serious damage." He rubbed her abs and said, "Feel those, feel how toned you are. How could I not imagine you working that body on top of me?" Emma's eyes fluttered closed and her lips parted in a sigh. It was impossible to not picture it. Brady moved his lotion-slick hands upward again, quickly cupping both Emma's breasts as he did. He squirted more lotion onto her chest and started rubbing it in, all over her neck and shoulders and then down her chest. Emma's bikini top did not hide much and Brady massaged every inch of exposed skin. "And look at your tits. I hope you don't mind me saying you have about the most perfect tits I've ever seen."

Emma slowly shook her head and sighed, "No, I don't mind."

Brady's fingertips nudged past her top, almost touching her nipple and she moaned quietly. She was completely focused on his touch—forgetting there was a beach full of people around them. "I can only imagine what these look like naked. Come on, look at those boys watching you," Brady said, returning her attention to their audience. The boys' mouths hung open as they watched Brady rubbing lotion into the sexy brunette's chest. "They look like they would cream in their pants in two seconds if they were in my place."

Emma thought she might like to see that. Reluctantly, she took his hands in hers and moved them. She knew that if she didn't stop Brady then, she wasn't going to want to at all. "Thanks for the help," she said with a wink.

"Anytime."

She looked to Cam to see if he'd been watching Brody touch her, but Cam was chatting away to Theo. If he had seen Brady's hands all over her, he didn't care. She had never been the girl to just have sex for the fun of it—she couldn't understand separating the emotion out—but she was starting to get it. If Cam felt no possessiveness toward her, then she shouldn't feel any guilt from enjoying flirting with the other boys—though she was beginning to allow it might not end was flirting, or a kiss in the kitchen. If Emma was going to spread her wings and experience everything she could out here—if she was truly going to be another person—shouldn't she open herself to every experience that came her way?

Brady had been so focused on certain parts of her anatomy that Emma had to go back over her body to get the places he missed. Once she was confident she wouldn't get burned, she laid back on the mats to work on her tan. After she baked both sides, Emma asked Cam for that surfing lesson.

It felt like she was starting from scratch when Emma got out on the water. Just getting the board under her feet and staying on it was a challenge. The surf was choppy than it had been the other day, and while Cam told her it would be good for surfing, Emma knew the rough surf was making it harder for her personally. But she finally started to get the hang of it under Cam's expert tutelage. Emma was exhilarated when she rode a wave in on her own, keeping her precarious balance on the board as the frothy blue and white water propelled her forward. Surfing was not the only thing exciting her. That first day on the surfboard, Cam's touches had been so subtle that Emma couldn't even be sure if they were all intentional, but now Cam was openly touching her wherever he wanted while they were out on the ocean, and it was really heating her up. Emma hopped onto the board and he cupped her breasts as he positioned her, then he slipped a hand between her legs when she was laying flat on her belly, grazing her mound through her bikini bottom.

"What do you think you're doing?" Emma asked playfully, glancing around to make sure no one was close enough to really see what Cam was up to.

"Just getting ready to give you a push when the next wave comes," Cam said innocently as he applied more pressure between her legs.

"I think I might be too distracted to catch it when it comes." Emma bit back a moan as Cam rubbed her pussy in little circles.

"Oh, I think you'll be ready when it comes. Don't worry about that. I'll make sure you're ready." Emma's bikini bottom was plastered to her lips, making it easy for him to find the nub of her clit and rub it.

Emma parted her thighs and pushed back against Cam's fingers. Suddenly, a huge wave was upon them, pulling the board forward. Cam kept his hand between her legs and Emma wanted to scream from the delicious pressure as she rushed forward faster and faster. He released her and Emma scrambled to her feet, staying up for several seconds before she fell into the churning surf. Emma tumbled end over end beneath the frothing water, keeping her arms up to protect her head as she rolled across the sandy bottom. Finally the sea spit her back up and Emma broke the surface, sucking in big lungs full of air. It wasn't until she had been standing in the waist-high water for a minute that Emma realized she'd lost her top when she went down. Emma was the last one to notice. Every guy within twenty yards was checking out her pert breasts as they rose and fell on her gasps. She quickly covered herself with both hands and looked around for her top, which she found dangling from Cam's hand. She fumed when she realized that he had no intention of coming over to give it to her and expecting her to come to him.

"Come on, throw it to me," Emma pleaded.

"Okay," Cam said and gave her bikini top a half-hearted toss.

The top landed several feet away and while Emma stood there staring at it, the skimpy garment already started drifting further away. Emma stubbornly decided, Fine, if he doesn't care if I flash the beach I don't either, and she dropped her hands and slowly waded over to her bikini top with her breasts in full view of everyone. She picked up the top and kept walking toward Cam while she fit it back over her breasts.

"Would you mind tying me?" Emma asked, sweet-as-could-be.

"You're not really mad, are you?" Cam asked as he fixed the knot at the back of her neck.

Even though she really wasn't, Emma played it up. Turning back to face him, she said, "How would you feel if you had to flash the whole beach?" She reached below the water, which was just beneath her breasts, and made like she was going to yank Cam's swim trunks down, but stopped when she felt his cock, fully hard, pressing against them. Instead of pulling Cam's trunks down, she reached inside them and grasped his cock.

"Are you always thinking about sex?" Emma asked as she stroked him.

"I'm just a typical guy, Em. Guys are horny. Especially when they are around women like you."

"So you liked seeing me topless? It didn't bother you that everyone saw me?" Emma had both hands on his cock and his throbbing member already answered her question.

"It was cool to see you just cut loose and drop your hands. Yeah, seeing your body turns me on. And I know being seen turns you on." Cam pushed a hand under her top and teased her already hard nipple.

Emma couldn't honestly deny it, so she didn't. "Maybe."

Cam shifted his hand from inside her top to inside her bottom and he fingered her tingling clit. "You probably wouldn't mind if I pulled you onto my cock right here in the middle of the ocean." Cam slipped a finger past her lips and inside her. Emma whimpered.

Pushing against Cam's finger, Emma grasped his cock more tightly and laid her head against his chest. Again, she said, "Maybe." But when Cam started pulling her bikini down she breathed, "No please, not here, not right now." It wasn't that she didn't want it—she always seemed to want it anymore—she just didn't want to do it in front of all those people. It was one thing to be watched by that guy last night, but it was another to have a large audience.

"Okay, baby, maybe later," Cam said, tilting her face up toward his for a kiss.

Emma tried her luck at surfing on and off throughout the day and by the time they were ready to leave she was getting fairly good at it. Cam wandered off to hang out with some other people and Emma chatted with Brady for a spell. The dark haired boy was rather clever and she liked that his jokes weren't at the expense of others, though he couldn't help commenting on her losing her top in the waves.

"You said you wanted to see them, so I guess you got your chance." Emma laughed.

"And they are every bit as great as I thought they would be. Still, I think I need a better look. I need to see them up close."

"We'll see about that," Emma teased. She decided that it wasn't out of the realm of possibility.

A short time later Cam returned with the news that they'd all been invited to a beach party later that evening. Emma had never been to a real beach party with a bonfire, so she was excited to see what it was all about. Brady asked if he could borrow the Jeep in the meantime to run into town for some things and Cam tossed him the keys. Brady asked Emma if she wanted to come along and since they were going to be on the beach all night too she thought it was a good idea to get away for a while.

"So where are we going?" Emma asked as Brady drove from the beach. She'd pulled on her shorts, but didn't bother with the tank top.

"I just need to run a couple errands and then see a man about some supplies for tonight." Brady did not elaborate beyond that and Emma wasn't sure she wanted to know what he meant.

Their first stop was a Target, where Brady grabbed a few things, and it amazed Emma that no matter where you go, no matter how cool or exotic a destination might seem, there were some things that were always the same. You could find the same fast food joints and chain restaurants and box stores in almost every town across America. After they left the Target, Brady drove farther away from the beach and into a seedy little neighborhood that looked much older than the clean, neat houses along the shoreline. Emma felt very out of place. None of the children playing in the street, or the people staring out from the porches, looked like her. It was a predominantly Mexican neighborhood, and Emma had had very little reason in her life to step outside of her comfort zone. She chided herself for being nervous because the people around them were different. Emma had not been raised to think she was better than anyone else. But it wasn't that. It was just that this neighborhood, with its bars over the windows and poverty, didn't feel like a place she should be.

Brady stopped the Jeep in front of a tumbledown one-story house with peeling green paint and a gray primer Toyota Corolla with shiny chrome rims parked in the driveway.

"I'm only going to be a couple minutes, do you want to wait out here or come inside?" Brady asked.

Emma had guessed why they were there and didn't want any part of it, but she did not want to sit alone out front either, so she agreed to come inside. She even felt a shiver of excitement knowing she was about to watch a drug deal go down. She was so very far from home now. Brady led her to the door and reached between the heavy bars on the storm door to slam a heavy knocker. She didn't think anyone would hear it over the Tijuana music blasting from inside. It did take several minutes of Brady banging before a tall, thin Mexican of about twenty answered the door in a white undershirt and very baggy trousers.

"Melio," Brady said, exchanging a complicated handshake with the youth.

"¿Que pasa?" the Mexican said, showing them into the house.

Emma found another three guys in the living room, all about the same age and all looking very, very stoned. The shades were pulled and a thick haze of musky incense and pot smoke hung in the pale light that stole between the blinds. All three men nodded a hello to Brady, but she saw them sit up and take notice when she walked into the room. Emma suspected they didn't have many female visitors, and she suddenly felt very exposed. She wished she'd at least pulled her t-shirt on now. There was an air of lawlessness in the room that both excited and repulsed her.

"Who's the chica?" It was the largest of the men, who had the longest couch to himself and was clearly the head of the roost. He looked older than the others by several years and both his arms were covered with tattoos. He was a beefy young man and Emma reflected that he wouldn't be unattractive if he'd cleaned himself up a bit. Well, maybe a lot. His dark eyes flitted from her breasts, which were nicely displayed in her bikini top, to her shapely legs and then he met her eyes with a lascivious grin.

"Her name is Emma. Emma, this is Julio."

"It's an honor to meet such a chica bonita," Julio said, getting off the couch and taking Emma's hand to kiss it. She wanted to pull it right back, but politely waited for him to release it. There was something unsettling about Julio. "Please, have a seat," he said, offering her a spot beside him on the couch.

"That's alright, I don't think we're staying long," Emma replied, shifting from foot to foot. She wanted Brady to complete his business so they could get out of there. The presence of marijuana smoke in the air was so powerful Emma was sure she would get a contact high if they lingered much longer.

"Come on now. I just packed a fresh pipe, what kind of a host would I be if I did not offer my guests a smoke?"

Brady, never one to turn down free pot sat down on the other side of Julio, leaving Emma to sit in the spot the Mexican had offered. She reluctantly sat, staying as close to the end of the couch as she could. Julio's pipe was not a little thing like Brady's, but it was a large and elaborate implement. It almost looked too pretty for its purpose, with an ivory bowl carved into the shape of a well-proportioned nude woman—with dabs of red paint to mark the nipples—whose legs were crossed. Her lap was where the pot was packed. Her hair streamed upward and became the long, silver stem. Julio handed the heavy pipe and a Zippo to Brady, who flicked the chrome lighter open and held it over the open part of the bowl while he inhaled deeply. Brady held the smoke in his lungs until he looked like he was going to pass out and then exhaled a huge cloud of smoke. Immediately Emma could tell the smoke did not smell like the stuff Brady had given her to smoke. Brady passed the pipe to his right and it made its way to the others before it was passed to her. Emma had no desire to partake and passed the pipe right on to Julio.

Julio looked hurt and said, "What, do you not smoke?"

"It's not that. I'm just not in the mood," Emma said, perhaps a tad defensively.

Turning to Brady, Julio said, "What is her deal? Is she too good to smoke with us?"

Brady already had a big stupid grin on his face and his eyes were barely open. Emma knew they wouldn't be getting out of there anytime soon unless she was driving. "Naw, man, she's just new to it. Don't hassle her, man."

"I promise this is the most primo stuff you will ever have the pleasure to taste, chica. Just give it one drag." Julio held the pipe out to her.

"Really, I don't know," Emma said. She felt the arm of the couch at her back and realized she couldn't pull any further away. She could see the displeasure on Julio's face and she knew that with Brady already stoned out of her mind perhaps it wouldn't be the best thing to get Julio pissed at her. Itchy fingers of dread crept up Emma's spine as she tried to make a decision. Would it really be so bad to just take one drag? The couple times she'd tried pot before made her feel good, so what was the harm? But Emma still didn't really want to. This did not seem like a place she wanted to be without her wits. She was angry with Brady for putting her in this position and she planned to tell him so as soon as they left. Julio was still looking at her expectantly and Emma glanced around the room expecting to see everyone staring at her, but surprisingly everyone else seemed off in their own little world. One, quick hit would not be so bad. Besides, she was supposed to be the new Emma—the one who embraced risk, didn't shrink from it. Finally, she relented and told Julio, "Okay, I'll take one little puff."

Julio grinned, flashing white, perfect teeth and held the pipe so Emma could put her lips to it. When she did, Julio struck the Zippo and held the orange flame over the already smoldering weed. Emma may have only intended to take a small drag, but when she tried to stop, Julio kept the stem between her lips and she was forced to take as much as of the acrid smoke as her lungs would hold. Julio stared at her chest as it puffed out. When he finally took the pipe from her mouth, Emma coughed the smoke out of her lungs while her eyes stung with tears. Julio sat the pipe on the table in front of them and moved closer to Emma rubbing a soothing hand on her bare back.

"Easy, chica, easy. Just breathe normally," Julio advised.

Emma wanted to pull away, but there was nowhere to pull away to. She heaved until she got her breathing under control, but even then Julio kept his arm around her. Instantly she knew that Julio's pot was not the same as Brady's. Emma did not know anything about drugs so she did not know what differences there could be, but this stuff was more potent or something because the effects were on her already. Everything in the room was suddenly much slower, as if the world had suddenly gone to half speed. She passed her hand in front of her face and it seemed like someone else's. The light coming in between the blinds was brighter now, yet softer and tinged with pink on the edges. When Julio spoke now his voice was like sweet honey filling her ears.

"See now, that was not so bad. I think you even like it, yes?"

"I...I don't know." Emma answered truthfully, her tongue feeling too big for her mouth. She turned to face Julio and he seemed impossibly close, like if he moved even a fraction of an inch closer he would pass through her. His masculinity filled her nostrils, mingling with the sweet pot smoke and burning incense and his hand rubbing her back seemed to be passing incredible heat into her body. As he rubbed circles on her back, Emma saw little multicolored circles drawn in the air in front of her eyes, and she giggled dreamily as she enjoyed the lightshow. That dread and danger she'd felt just moments ago evaporated into the fog wrapping her brain. Julio placed a hand on her side and the lightshow before her increased in intensity. Julio's touch was so fantastic that she didn't mind his hands on her anymore. It was so amazing she wanted him to touch her more even, and moved closer to him on the couch. As the energy passed from his hands, through her body and out her eyes they blazed a trail of incredible pleasure through her. Emma's lips felt very dry and she licked them as she quietly whispered, "Wow." She willingly went as Julio pulled her to him.

Emma was not prepared for how good it felt when she was pressed against Julio. It reminded her of the other night, when she'd first had sex with Cam, but this was dreamier while that had been all intense physical pleasure. She felt so close to Cam that night, where now she felt disembodied and not connected to herself, or Julio, at all.

Julio pulled her mouth against his and pushed his tongue past her lips. Ordinarily she would have thought it forward for a first kiss, far more aggressive than Emma would have preferred, but she poured herself into that kiss. Her tongue had a mind of its own as it battled Julio's and it seemed to Emma that her whole body was acting of its own accord and that her mind was just along for the ride. Julio's kiss was so dreamy that she didn't mind when he pulled free the knot that held her bikini together at the back of her neck. As he peeled her top away, a distant voice—Emma didn't recognize it as her own—screamed for her to stop him, but that was the last thing she wanted. The teasing she'd experienced at the hands of both Brady and Cam earlier had left her horny and vulnerable. Emma realized now how badly she needed release. Was it so wrong to let Julio give her that release?

His hand trailed over her naked skin and rather than try to cover herself in front of the stranger, Emma gasped and pushed herself at him. The heat in his touch was gathering inside her and building to a critical mass of raw sexual energy. Her nipples were almost painfully hard from arousal and she ached for Julio to touch them. And that he did. The pleasure Emma felt when Julio strummed those hypersensitive nubs was beyond description. Her back arched toward him and she went completely rigid. The colors swimming in her vision were blinding, almost too bright. Emma did not quite have an orgasm, but it was almost something more, like an intense wave of pleasure gripped her and would not release. Julio covered her pert breasts with his hands and the pink, puckered flesh of her nipples exploded with every touch and pinch. He lowered his mouth to her chest and at that moment Emma felt her body melt away, leaving only her sex to remain and feel. Emma was one big, throbbing sexual organ and she did cum while Julio sucked on her nipples. She came and came, and cumming from having her breasts touched felt so strange. Her pussy erupted, but it was just pure feeling, there was no touch there. Her pussy throbbed and grasped, but there was nothing to hold onto. Emma heard a noise, a keening cry cutting through the background static and she slowly realized it was her own cry. She was howling for Julio, almost weeping from the extreme pleasure he gave her.

Emma still convulsed and gripped the back of Julio's neck as hard as she could, but as the waves of her pleasure ebbed, if only slightly, she realized there was something in her hand and then realized that it was Julio's cock. She didn't know if he had put her hand on him or if she'd reached out for it herself, but he was filling her hand and felt scalding hot as she stroked his shaft. Her hand moved almost automatically, for Julio kept touching her and because of that her orgasm never completely subsided, it just went on and on and felt like it would consume her fully. The last thing she remembered before it became too much and the blackness closed in was Julio gushing all over her hand and covering it with his sticky goo.

When Emma opened her eyes she had no idea where she was or how long she'd been there. She was snuggled into the crook of Brady's arm, but it took her a few seconds to even realize who he was. She slowly recognized the living room and remembered their drive out here, but she could not tell how long she'd been out because there'd been so little light coming through the blinds in the first place. The only other person still there was the Mexican boy who'd let them in, and he was passed out on a chair. The music still played in the background, but it had been turned down to a quiet din. It was right about then that it dawned on her that she was topless.

With horror, Emma realized that she couldn't remember how she'd gotten that way. Her bikini top was still on, tied around her middle, but it had been untied and pulled down. Brady was shirtless as well and seemed to be sleeping soundly. Emma also felt that her shorts were unfastened and pushed down, though her bikini bottom was still in place. She concentrated and the last thing she remembered was taking the hit off Julio's pipe and then making out with him. She knew he didn't force her, that she'd wanted it, but how far did she go with him? Emma knew she hadn't found him all that attractive before she smoked the pot. Oh my God, did I fuck him? She wondered. She reached down and felt inside her shorts. Her bikini bottom was soaked, but she realized with some relief that it was all from her. She could tell that she hadn't had sex, which won Julio points. He could have taken full advantage, done anything he wanted to her, but had just fooled around a little and left it at that. Even just lightly touching herself Emma had to bite back a moan. The effects of the pot had not quite worn off yet.

As she fixed her clothes, Emma wondered if she'd done anything with Brady and if he would remember if she had. Brady looked sweet and handsome as he lay there she didn't think she would mind kissing him. Cam's hotness was out there and obvious, but Brady had a more subtle charm. There was depth behind those dark eyes of his.

Emma pulled her chestnut hair back into a band she wore around her wrist and that was when she felt the sticky cum all over her hand. It repulsed her, but then it was better on her hand than someplace else. Emma got off to couch to find a bathroom and clean up. As she passed a bedroom, she could see Julio sprawled on the bed, naked from the waist down and unconscious. Had she helped him get that way? Did she go back to the bedroom with him? Emma wasn't sure she wanted to know.

Coming back from the bathroom, Emma found Brady still sleeping on the couch and she sat beside him, curling her legs beneath her. She leaned over the boy and gently nudged him, but he stayed fast asleep. Emma traced the lines of his smiling sun tattoo on his arm and then fingered his nipple ring. She did want to get her belly button pierced, but she couldn't imagine getting it somewhere so sensitive. She also wondered if it made his nipple more sensitive. She decided to ask him later. Touching Brady, Emma could feel how horny she still was and she took that as another good sign that she hadn't fucked either Brady or Julio. She may have cum—she had to have from how wet she was down below, but her sexual desire was not slaked. She couldn't help but wonder if she was turning into some horny little nympho, and not for the first time. It was a good feeling, to be sure, but the thought that she had so easily fallen into bed with Cam, happily accepted a threesome with KC, and now she'd at least jerked Julio off did not sit well with her. She did want to experiment more, but she didn't want to turn into a dirty girl either.

Brady stirred while Emma was gently playing with his nipple ring and he smiled at her. He put an arm around her and purred.

"That feels good?" Emma asked.

"Mmm, very, but you have to have just the right touch."

"So I guess I have it?"

Brady nodded and replied, "Yeah, but that doesn't surprise me." With gentle pressure, Brady guided her lips down to his nipple and Emma softly tongued it and sucked on it. Her fears of being too slutty were quickly dismissed. Playing with Brady was fun. It didn't have to lead to sex. When she tugged the ring by looping her tongue through it, Brady gasped through gritted teeth. Emma flicked the ring with her tongue while she sucked on his nipple. As if it had a mind of its own, her hand wandered down to stroke the hard lump in his board shorts. Soon, Brady was moaning and gasping for air, but Emma stopped. She was serious about just playing and stopping there. Even if she did allow anything more to happen with Brady, it would not be here.

"We really should get out of here. I don't know when the other guys are going to wake up and Cam's got to be wondering what happened to us by now." Emma kissed his chest and slowly withdrew her hand from down below.

"I hope you plan on continuing this later," Brady sighed.

"If you're lucky," she teased.

Brady found the stash he'd paid for on the coffee table in front of them and they let themselves out. The sun was sinking over the ocean and Emma knew they had to have been in the house for several hours. She wanted to ask Brady what had gone on, but she was too embarrassed to admit she couldn't remember.

Cam texted Brady, asking where they'd disappeared to. Brady replied they were on their way back, but it would be a while. Cam replied he and Theo would get a ride, and that Brady and Emma should meet them at the party.

The party was toward the far end of the beach where Cam had taken her the night before. There were dozens of people scattered around a huge bonfire and there were kegs and coolers and barbeques everywhere. A DJ had set up a makeshift stand with milk crates and plywood, supplying the entertainment. Emma saw KC first, and then Theo moving through the crowd, but his attention was focused on two black girls he had his arms around. Emma suggested they should find Cam, and Brady told her to go ahead and they would meet up later. She felt adrift on her own in the crowd and was relieved when she finally found Cam standing near a barbeque with a couple others. He threw her a quick wave, not the hug and kiss she'd been hoping for. Was he jealous after all?

"Did you and Brady have fun?" he asked. She couldn't help wondering exactly what he meant by fun.

"We went to see some friends of his and lost track of time."

"That can happen with his friends. You need to be careful, though. He knows some sketchy dudes."

"You can say that again. I'm happy to see you." Emma moved to his side and he casually slipped his arm over her shoulders. It felt good to be there, like it was where she belonged.

Cam guided her through the party, as he had the other night. Her first priority was to eat. The fog from toking earlier had cleared, but it left her ravenous. She devoured chicken legs from a barbeque until the grease ran down her fingers and gorged herself on fresh fruit, not caring it was soaked in alcohol. The spiked punch she sipped from the big red cup already had her buzzing anyway. At least she felt she kept her head with the punch and the fruit. She did not fuzz out like she had with Julio's stuff. Emma did not have the experience to know before, but now she realized she was a happy, flirty drinker. Once her hunger was sated, she glued herself to Cam's side. If he had been cool when she first returned, he was melted by her good cheer, tightening his arm around her and returning her kisses. He was fully back to her when he massaged her through her bikini top during a clutch in the middle of all the dancers. Spurred by the drink and her horniness, Emma slipped her hand inside his shorts for a quick tug.

"Something's definitely gotten into you." Cam laughed and kissed her.

"Well, I am supposed to be out here living and trying new things, right? I'm just feeling happier than I have in such a long time." She kissed Cam lustily and added, "Thank you for everything."

"You don't have to thank me. I'm glad to help. But just make sure you don't do anything you'll regret, Em. I want you going home with only good memories."

"Okay, I promise, only good memories."

The night cooled as the moon rose in the sky, and Emma asked Cam if they could move closer to the bonfire. Orange flames leapt high into the sky and they did not have to get close at all to be bathed in the heat. Cam stood behind her with his hands on her hips and they both shifted and moved to the music while Cam talked to a guy he knew and his girlfriend. As they were talking, KC pushed his way through the crowd and asked the other woman, whose name was Brittany, if she was going to participate in the impromptu wet t-shirt contest. The girl readily agreed and with her huge chest Emma thought she was a ringer.

"How about you?" KC asked, turning to Emma and Cam.

"I hope you're talking to Cam," Emma commented.

"Come on, you would be great," KC said. "You've got a killer little body."

Emma did like the flattery, but argued, "That's the point. Little. I've seen some of the girls walking around here. I don't think my chest would rate at all."

"You're being silly, Em. You've got a nice chest. Those things have to be C's, right?"

"Uh, I'm a 34B, not C." She decided to let him calling her breasts 'things' pass.

"Could have fooled me!" KC said.

"You do have a beautiful body, if that's what you're worried about," Cam interjected.

Emma half turned to look at Cam. "Do you think I should do it?"

"I think you should do whatever you like. I'm just saying you've got a great body and sweet, perky tits. Don't let insecurity stop you." As Cam spoke, Emma could feel his cock growing against her leg. Did thinking about her parading around in a wet t-shirt turn him on?

"I don't know."

"Come on, don't be chicken!" KC teased. "You're wearing a bikini top now. It's not like you'll be going topless. Just do it. You'll be glad you did!"

Emma wasn't quite sure about that, but she didn't really see why she shouldn't. It was only her shyness and self-doubt stopping her, and she knew she shouldn't let them. The guys were right. She did have a nice body and even if her breasts weren't huge, she knew they were nice. "Okay, I'll do it," she announced.

KC led them over to an area on the far side of the bonfire where about five or six other girls had gathered. It occurred to Emma that she didn't actually have a t-shirt, but KC quickly solved that problem by volunteering his loose, white tank top. It was way too big on her and as Emma slipped her bikini top off under it she knew that everyone standing around could see her breasts clearly through the hanging sides. KC helped her pull the top tight and then knotted it behind her waist.

The other women standing around were all beautiful and most of them had pretty big chests, which caused Emma to doubt her decision. There was a redhead in particular with gargantuan breasts and Emma thought the guys would take one look at that girl and forget all about her. A blonde with an excellent figure stood beside Emma, and when she saw Emma looking at the competition apprehensively she said, "Hey, it's all just for fun, right? It's not like this is for money or anything."

"Yeah," Emma conceded.

"I'm Mia."

"I'm Emma."

Mia looked over at the redhead and whispered, "Those things are so fake anyway. I know at least two of the other girls are fake too. I think guys really prefer the real thing."

That's easy for you to say, Emma thought. Mia was the very image of the Southern California surfer babe. Several inches taller than the petite brunette, Mia had the deep tan of someone who spent most of their time outdoors, crystal clear blue eyes and poker straight blonde hair that reached the middle of her back. Mia had full hips and a nice round ass and full breasts that were larger than Emma's, like plump teardrops. Her white t-shirt was very tight and cut off to show off her tanned, toned tummy. Emma was a bit jealous of Mia's Barbie doll looks, but there was something very likable about the easygoing girl.

"Did someone rope you into this?" Emma asked.

"Why? Is that what happened to you? I came with a couple of guy friends and they wanted me to do it, so I figured why not, you know?"

"Sure, why not," Emma echoed, fighting her nerves. Now she wished she had drank more.

"I don't think I've seen you around before. Who did you come with?"

"Cam and his roommates. We only met a couple days ago."

"Isn't Cam such a great guy? I swear he's one of the nicest guys I've ever met. He's so laid back," Mia gushed. "But that KC, you take one look at him and you know he's just trouble. Watch out for him."

Emma had to laugh. KC was definitely trouble.

"Are you ready girls?" It was a tall boy in his twenties. All of the girls nodded and he turned back to the twenty or so people who'd formed a semicircle at the edge of the bonfire. The boy cupped his hands around his mouth and shouted to be heard over the music. "Okay, everybody! I hope you're ready because here's the moment we've been waiting for! Time to see some sexy ladies and figure out who's the hottest chick at this party." All the guys, and even some girls, assembled applauded and whooped and the boy acting as announcer asked for the first volunteer.

A stick thin girl with curly blonde hair and impossibly big breasts strutted into the open, walking toward the fire. She did a turn and raised her arms above her head. Her t-shirt was almost transparent already and Emma could see her dark nipples through the white t-shirt. Another boy approached her with a bucket of water and threw it on her, completely soaking the girl from head to toe. The girl proudly raised her arms above her head, raising her rock hard tits and it was like her t-shirt had been washed away completely by the water. Her breasts looked perfectly round and were capped by thick, dark nipples. The guys loved it and screamed their appreciation.

"She got to be another of the fake ones, right?" Emma asked Mia.

"Oh definitely. She goes around to those bikini contests. She thinks she's going to get discovered that way. You should have seen her this time last year, she was barely an A-cup. She fucked some rich dude for like six months to get those."

Mia was laughing and Emma laughed right along with her, forgetting her nerves for at least a moment. The plastic blonde stayed out there and milked as much attention as she could before the announcer said, "Thanks Tammy. Let's have Jenni next." That was the redhead and she seemed to get even more applause than the first girl. Her t-shirt wasn't quite as revealing as Tammy's when wetted down, but the bright orange light of the bonfire didn't leave much to the imagination. After she'd been soaked, Jenni did another turn and as she came around her pulled her top up, which made the guys go completely nuts. She walked out of the clearing with a very satisfied smile.

"Are you ready to go next?" Mia asked.

Emma shook her head. "There's no way I can follow that!"

"Then I guess I'll go." Mia walked toward the clearing and the announcer shouted out her name. Her reception was just as good as the first girl's, but not as enthusiastic as Jenni's. When the boy approached with the bucket, Mia shouted, "Come on, give it to me!" He soaked her and Mia's little shirt clung to her breasts like a second skin. The boys started chanting, "Take it off, take it off!" Mia laughed and yelled, "Only if you guys ask nice!" That brought a fresh round cheers and Mia did flip up her cropped t-shirt, showing the salivating guys her lovely tits. She even jumped up and down to give them a jiggle and prove they were real. Now the boys were screaming, "We love you Mia!" The blonde just laughed as she walked off.

A couple of the other girls waiting with Emma backed out and she suddenly realized that if she didn't want to go on last she was going to have to get out there. She very nearly turned and ran, but at the last minute Emma pushed past the other girl waiting, nearly stumbling into the clearing. She turned to face the crowd and froze like a deer in headlights. All the boys were shouting and clapping and mixed in with them she saw both Cam and KC. KC was screaming like the other guys, but Emma could feel Cam trying to telegraph whatever encouragement he could with his eyes. She couldn't believe she was standing out there. She hated to be the center of attention, and especially for a reason like this! It took every wit of willpower to keep from running away. All the confidence she'd acquired the last couple days was washed away by the shouting crowd. She could feel the intense heat of the bonfire at her back and then she barely got her eyes closed when the huge bucket of seawater was thrown on her. The water was freezing and Emma shrieked and recoiled.

For some reason, Emma's reticence seemed to excite the guys even more than the girls who showed off and they all howled for her. Emma forced a smile and realizing she looked silly just standing there, began to dance to the music thumping in the background. Although she didn't think much of her dance skills, the guys seemed to like it, especially when she turned around and shook her little ass. The tank top was completely transparent and Emma's plump nipples pressed through the wet cotton like beacons. She realized that all the guys standing on the right and the left could see her breasts through the long armholes of the tank top because it sagged down when it was wetted. Emma resisted the urge to cover up and finished her dance and dashed through the gap in the crowd.

"That was, er, who was that?" The announcer shouted. KC thoughtfully provided her name and the announcer added, "Emma. That was Emma. She looked shy, so give it up guys!" A roar went up from the guys and Emma was freshly embarrassed.

"That wasn't so bad, was it?" Mia asked when she got back to where the other girls were still waiting.

Chilly and wet, Emma shivered now that she was away from the fire. "I guess not. It was kinda fun." Actually, Emma had enjoyed herself when she did her dance and the boys went wild. She was swelling with pride. If only her friends at home could see her now! "I can't believe you pulled your shirt up, though."

"Eh, it's no big deal to me. The other girls did it and besides, I've lost my top surfing enough times that a lot of these guys have probably already seen 'em." Mia looked at Emma's tank top and said, "You're practically hanging out of that, you didn't really need to flash them."

"That wasn't intentional."

"Let's have all the girls out here again," the announcer called and though she didn't want to, Emma followed the others back into the clearing by the bonfire. "You guys tell me which one you liked best." All the guys started shouting out names and Emma was pleased to hear her own name shouted by several of the guys. She wasn't sure what they were competing for, but it was nice to be picked. One by one, all the other girls flashed the guys yet again, a couple of them just pulling off their tops completely, while Mia raised hers above her breasts again. Emma decided, What the hell, and pulled the two open sides of her tank top to the middle of her chest, showing off her breasts to the cheering boys. She heard Cam, KC and Theo shouting her name the loudest and then saw that KC was recording her with his phone. What did he think he was doing? She hadn't even thought of that. She looked around and noticed KC wasn't the only one with his phone up. Oh my God! What if I end up on the internet! She tried to imagine how she could explain this away and quickly covered up again.

Mia was declared the winner, which surprised Emma and seemed to piss off a couple of the other girls, especially Jenni, but Emma was happy for her new friend. As for what they were competing for, apparently it was nothing because the only "prize" Mia received was to be boosted on the shoulders of several guys while she flashed everyone at the beach party. To Emma it was just as well she hadn't won.

By the time Emma fought through the crowd, the boys were gone. She planned to force KC to delete that video. At least it would be one copy she wouldn't have to worry about. Emma refilled her big plastic cup with the yummy red punch and went looking for the guys, but encountered Mia first, who was flush from her victory. Mia had just filled a big plastic cup of her own.

"You're like the Miss America of the party," Emma joked.

"Something like that I guess. I'm just glad the guys liked a real girl over a plastic one!"

"I'll toast to that," Emma said, raising her cup and knocking it against the blonde's. "Have you seen KC?"

"No, but I wasn't really looking for him. Why?"

"Did you see he had his phone and was shooting us when we pulled our tops up? I wanted to find him to make him erase it."

Mia laughed. "He was far from the only one."

"I just want him to get rid of it. And besides, he's got my top and I want to change back into it before the two people who haven't seen my boobs yet get their chance."

"Let's go find him then," Mia said, linking her arm in Emma's and leading her through the crowd.

It took a few minutes, but the girls finally found KC sitting on the tailgate of his truck, kissing the redhead from the wet t-shirt contest. Mia and Emma stood to the side unnoticed until Mia loudly cleared her throat and KC looked over at them.

"Hey girls, what's going on?" KC said, his arm around Jenni.

"Nothing much, you just have a couple things I want," Emma said.

"I'd love to help you, Em. You should have asked sooner. How about I come find you when Jenni and I are done?" KC said cockily.

"It's not what you think, wise guy," Mia said.

"Why don't you talk to your friends?" Jenni said, seemingly annoyed at the interruption. Obviously the mood was ruined. "I need a refill anyway."

"Hey, wait..." KC called after Jenni impotently as she disappeared into the darkness. When the redhead was gone, KC turned to the other girls and said, "Well, you've got me all to yourself. Who wants me first?" Both girls advanced on him and with a wide grin he added, "Both of you at once? Alright!"

"In your dreams," Mia chided.

"That's not what you said when..." KC started.

"But that was before I really got to know you. You were just a hot guy to me then. I didn't know the real you yet," Mia said, adding to a laugh to show she was only busting on him.

"Do you still have my top?" Emma asked, eager for the relative cover of her bikini top. "And let me see your phone."

KC dug her top out of his pocket, but protested, "Why do you want my phone?"

"I saw you taping us while he pulled our tops up. Don't play dumb," Emma said.

"Who says he's playing?" Mia joked.

"That's so unfair. Maybe I did shoot a little video, but I am only helping you document your vacation, Em. These are memories you'll want for the rest of your life."

"Yeah, I'll want something to show the grandkids when I explain how I was in a wet t-shirt contest," Emma said skeptically.

"Exactly! My intentions are pure. Besides, didn't I give you the shirt off my back?"

"I'm going to return that in a minute." Emma reached behind her to work the knot on her top loose, but it was wet and she couldn't quite get a grip on it.

"Let me help you with that," Mia said, setting her drink down on the tailgate of KC's truck. She pulled at the tight knot in the back of Emma's tank top, but it really did not want to come out.

"That's it girls, undress each other," KC said and both girls turned to see that he had his phone out again. He was moving to try and get a better angle.

"Put that thing away," Emma demanded.

"Oh, don't be shy. The camera loves you, baby. Come on, work it. You're just going to make me erase it anyway, right?"

"So you wanna see some skin?" Mia asked, finally freeing the knot at the back of Emma's top. "You wanna see a little show?" She tried to sound sexy, but couldn't help laughing.

"That's the spirit. Come on, Em, get into it like Mia."

Emma giggled and said, "Oooo, baby, yeah. You're going to see it all." She pushed back against Mia as the blonde slid her hands beneath the loose tank top and rubbed her stomach. Even from the parking lot they could hear the music from the beach, and both girls gyrated to it as Mia slowly raised Emma's top until her breasts were revealed to the camera.

"Like what you see, baby?" Mia asked.

"You're getting there," KC encouraged, getting a nice close up of Emma's breasts.

"You'd probably like to see us touch each other too," Mia purred. She let go of the tank top and put her hands over Emma's breasts, cupping them in smooth hands. They may have been kidding around, but Emma couldn't help responding to the touch. Her nipples instantly hardened and pressed into Mia's hands. She was still so horny that anyone touching her would have gotten a similar reaction, Emma reasoned.

"I can't see anything now," KC complained. He reached out and pulled the loose tank top off Emma's shoulders. Mia withdrew her hands long enough for the top to fall to the ground and then resumed massaging Emma's breasts. The brunette's nipples throbbed from Mia's touch and a warm glow spread through her body. Emma was embarrassed by her reaction, but she didn't want Mia to stop touching her.

Mia looked purposefully at the front of KC's shorts and said, "I can see you like it. This is like every guy's fantasy."

"Almost," KC said. "Help her out of her top, Em. It's not fair that you're topless and Mia's not."

That's true, Emma thought and turned around to relieve her new friend of her top. The wet, cropped t-shirt was still clinging to Mia's chest and Emma had to peel it off. The cold had kept Mia's nipples nice and hard and they stood out like two pink erasers in the glow of the bright moon. They were far enough away from the beach party that none of the light from the bonfire reached them. "Oh baby, you feel so good," Emma cooed mockingly, caressing the blonde's breasts just as Mia had touched her. Emma was surprised when she felt a shiver go through Mia as her fingers moved over her nipples. Mia liked Emma touching her, just as Emma had enjoyed Mia's hands. Mia returned her hands to Emma's tits and the girls caressed each other while making silly erotic noises for KC, though Emma was starting to feel anything but silly.

"Now you're really getting it going. Kiss, girls," KC instructed.

"Oh, you would love that," Mia taunted, leaning close to Emma while lightly rubbing her nipples in little circles.

"Not as much as you guys would," KC answered.

Emma had to admit that was true. Mia's hands on her breasts felt so wonderful that it had Emma wondering what it would be like to kiss her. But fear kept her from doing it. Emma was not so far gone that she was ready to start making out with other girls. She had never thought about another woman that way. Mia didn't wait for Emma to get off the fence. She pulled Emma close and softly kissed her. It was a quick kiss, mostly designed to tease KC, but Emma chased Mia's lips as she withdrew them. Mia gave the petite girl several more quick kisses, though each successive one seemed to last longer and longer.

"That's it, get into it. Don't tease me," KC urged, moving closer to the girls.

The girls did not need his urging. It was like he wasn't even there anymore. They were all about each other. Emma opened her mouth and eagerly accepted Mia's tongue. The blonde's kiss energized her. It was so gentle and passionate, so different from any of the guys who'd kissed her. Emma could feel Mia's desire in her lips and her probing tongue. The heat built inside her until just kissing did not feel like enough. They pulled each other closer and Emma felt her tits crushed against Mia's larger chest, and when their erect nipples brushed Emma moaned into their kiss. There was something so sexy and exciting about being pressed into the soft, lush curves of another woman as opposed to the hard body of a man. Emma had no doubt that Mia could touch her and excite her in ways that no man ever had. Their bodies pressing together reminded Emma that she was topless and making out with a girl in a parking lot, but like the night before, on the beach with Cam, when her desire took over she didn't care who might see them. The promise of an audience excited her even more.

Emma lost herself in that moment and moved with Mia onto the tailgate of KC's truck. Mia crouched down and covered Emma's breasts with soft, sensual kisses. Emma moaned and held her friend's head, guiding her mouth to a nipple that throbbed for attention. Mia caught that nipple, sucking it and flicking her tongue in a way only another woman could possibly know. Mia knew how to touch and kiss her because unlike a man she knew exactly how it felt to be on the receiving end. Emma hung her head back and moaned as Mia went from one breast to the other, soft lips and dexterous tongue working their magic to stoke the fires burning inside the brunette even higher. Reaching between them, Emma unfastened Mia's shorts and worked a hand down the front. Mia was only wearing a tiny thong and it barely covered her pussy. She jumped when Emma's fingers glanced over her pussy. Emma rubbed Mia down there until the surfer girl was doing as much moaning as she was kissing. Mia returned the favor and opened Emma's shorts, pulling them down the girl's hips while she leaned back on her elbows. Emma scrambled back onto the truck bed and Mia followed. There was a big, ratty comforter spread out in the bed as KC had planned on getting lucky there before the girls interrupted him and Jenni.

KC moved around to the side of the truck, leaning on the side with his phone extended at the girls. His cock ached painfully. He needed to do more than just watch. Emma pushed Mia onto her back and climbed on top of her. Mia pulled Emma's hair free and it tumbled down, veiling Emma's face as she caught each of Mia's tall pink nipples between her lips. Emma did what she liked to Mia, lightly teasing the blonde with her tongue before gently sucking the nipple and was pleased when Mia arched her back to push her breasts to Emma's mouth. It was curious to her how different Mia's nipples were from her own, standing straight out like beacons while Emma's own were darker and thicker, tipping her breasts like the snow cap on a grand mountain. Emma enjoyed flicking her tongue over Mia's longer nipples and especially enjoyed the way the surfer girl practically squealed every time she did it.

Mia raised her hips off the truck bed as Emma struggled to pull her shorts down, dragging her white thong with them. Mia lay naked before Emma and the petite girl was struck by just how beautiful the female body was, all curves and softness, so nice to touch and kiss. Emma was surprised by her own aggressiveness, but she could not stop until she'd explored Mia's body completely. Her lips journeyed down the plane of Mia's taut stomach, feeling the muscles rippling beneath. Emma peppered Mia's spread thighs with a multitude of light kisses, moving toward Mia's slick, engorged pussy. Mia was not completely shaven, but close, with only the thinnest coating of peach fuzz surrounding her lips, which were full with desire. Just the lightest brushing of Emma's lips over Mia's pussy made the blonde shudder and moan, and Emma kept teasing her like that until Mia was practically shoving her mouth onto her.

"Ohhhh, don't tease me like that," Mia breathed, running her fingers through Emma's thick dark hair, not-so-subtly urging her closer.

Emma peeled Mia's lips apart, revealing her red, slick pussy and pressed her tongue into her. This was the part Emma was most curious about. What did it feel like to kiss a woman there? She'd always wondered what it was like when a guy went down on her. It was slippery and the taste was strong and alkaline, but not unpleasant. In fact, the more she licked Mia and the wetter the blonde became, the better she tasted. Mia's clit was a hard little bud that Emma attacked mercilessly with her tongue, which had the surfer girl writhing in the truck bed and crying out into the night. Emma had to press both hands to Mia's thighs just to hold her still enough to keep her mouth focused where it was needed. Emma sucked on Mia's clit and flashed her tongue over it and Mia just couldn't hold back the storm building inside her.

"Yes...Yes...Yess...YES...YEESSS!" Mia cried, pushing her pussy up into Emma's mouth. Emma was unprepared for the flood coming from Mia, but eagerly lapped at it just the same. She pulled herself up and laid on top of Mia, covering the blonde's body with her own, and Mia pulled at Emma's bikini bottom, which she kicked out of once it was low enough. The girls kissed and Emma held herself up on her arms, so her nipples just dragged across Mia's and she ground her mound down into Mia. The sweet friction was incredible and Emma could feel her lips slipping over Mia's.

KC's phone captured everything. He'd gotten some great close ups of Emma going down on Mia and was now panning down the girls' bodies as they rubbed against each other. This was better than the best porno because they were just two girls that started going at it, not two hardcore professional women doing it for money. KC had his shorts down and was jerking his cock, trying not to shoot a load on the side of his truck. He pulled back as Mia rolled Emma onto her back and turned around so she was facing away from Emma. Instead of lying between the brunette's legs looking up, the way Emma had gone down on her, Mia lay beside Emma and leaned over to kiss all around her trimmed mound. Mia's hair tumbled down and tickled Emma's thighs, making her giggle, but the giggling stopped and Mia pressed her lips to Emma and sucked.

Emma's eyes shot open and she gasped loudly. She was still so horny from that afternoon that her pussy was super sensitive and Mia's attack on her pussy mainlined pleasure right up her spine. Emma shook uncontrollably and grabbed fistfuls of the comforter as she humped her pussy up at the blonde's mouth. Mia sucked hard on her clit and slipped two fingers into Emma's dripping pussy. Emma pulled the fingers right in and worked her pussy down on them. Turning her head to the side, Emma saw KC with the phone and remembered he was there. Of course he was still taping everything and Emma thought, What a bastard, but she had no thought of stopping. Mia was going to make her cum and Emma wanted it so badly. Mia's tongue dove deep inside Emma, replacing her fingers for a moment, while she sucked on her lips. Emma cried out loudly, looking right into the camera lens and KC's snug face. Emma could tell he was jerking off by how his arm was moving and God help her, it turned her on to know that the cocky boy was getting off watching her.

"Uhhnn...God yes...mmmm...ohhhh...oh God...Uhhnnnn..."
Emma gasped, cumming while Mia sucked on her clit and fingered her. Her entire body shook and twisted, the intense pleasure making every muscle tense and relax.

Emma was panting and covered in a fine sheen of sweat when Mia finally lifted her face from between the petite brunette's thighs. She turned back around and gave Emma a tight hug and kissed her. The pickup shifted as KC climbed into the truck bed with the girls. He sat on the side, panning up and down the girl's naked bodies as they lightly stroked each other.

Looking up at KC's turgid cock Emma realized she wanted it inside her. It wasn't that she particularly liked the guy, but even with all the orgasms she had today Emma felt something was missing and that was good old-fashioned sex. Being licked and fingered felt really good, but there was a satisfaction that only came from having a cock in her. It was one of the reasons Emma rarely masturbated, because she'd rather hold out for the real thing. And this was the new Emma, who took what she wanted. She'd just proved that with Mia. If she wanted something—or someone—she wasn't going to let her worries of what people might think stop her. She fleeting thought of how she'd planned to end up in Cam's bed tonight, but he'd been pretty clear she was free to have whatever fun she wanted. And right now, she wanted KC.

KC noticed Emma checking out his cock and he stroked it while she watched. Mia was looking too, but not in the same way Emma was. "So you girls aren't going to leave me like this are you?" he asked.

"We didn't do this for you," Mia said. "Maybe you should just take care of yourself. I wouldn't mind seeing that. How about you, Emma?"

"Sure, I'd watch that," Emma said, not ready to come out and admit what she really wanted. She was confident she could have what she wanted without doing that. Mia was still lightly touching her and Emma shivered every time the other girl's hand passed over her sensitive mound.

"Come on, between the two of you I think one of you could do something for me. How about it?" KC got to his knees in the truck bed, beside Emma, who was lying on her back, with Mia on the other side.

"Sorry, I'm not making that mistake again," Mia said firmly.

"Awww, I know you liked it," KC replied, trying on his most disarming smile.

"Oh, I didn't say I didn't like it. Much as I hate to feed your ego, you know what you're doing in bed. It's dealing with you afterward that I don't have time for."

So KC had fucked Mia too. It didn't really surprise Emma, she figured KC was a male slut, but meeting someone else he'd had sex with was a bit disconcerting. Especially since she'd just had sex with that person too! But all that went right out of her mind when KC started touching her with Mia. KC massaged her breast and rolled her nipple between his fingers while Mia continued to lazily rub her pussy and Emma bit back a moan while she twisted her body toward each of their hands.

"How about you, Em? You wouldn't mind helping me out, would you?" KC asked with a smirk.

She only moaned in response. She hated that the cocky guy was playing around. He wanted to fuck her and he knew she wanted him to, but he had to drag it out. Emma grabbed his cock and jerked it, pulling it closer so as to leave no doubt what she wanted.

"Go for it," Mia said. "He's definitely good." Emma did not bother to tell her friend that she already knew very well just how good KC was.

KC slipped between Emma's legs and handed the phone to Mia, who surprised Emma by training it on them instead of turning it off. "I don't have a condom, baby," he told Emma as he rubbed his dripping head across her slick lips. That concerned Emma, but she wasn't about to stop him. It was funny. KC was the only guy who'd ever been inside her bareback and now he was about to do it again.

"Just don't cum inside me," Emma moaned even as he was pushing his shaft inside her. KC sank it to the hilt and Emma gripped him there. God, but he felt good. His cock was so filling and without a condom it felt scorching hot inside her. She could feel every nuance of his shaft, could feel the way the lip around his head rubbed her. Emma decided there and then that while condoms were a necessary evil, she hated them. A natural, bare cock inside her felt so much better.

KC lifted Emma's legs over his shoulders and really started pounding his cock into her. The whole truck was shaking with his thrusts and Emma just clung to him while her pussy squished around his penetrating cock. She felt his balls bouncing off her as he drove it home over and over again. Mia was at the head of the truck bed now, shooting down toward the fucking couple, capturing the look of pure satisfaction on Emma's face and the way her breasts bounced with every thrust. Mia panned up to KC and recorded the sweat dripping off his brow and way his face twisted into a mask of lust.

Emma couldn't judge how long KC was fucking her for, but he gave her what she needed so badly. Her moans turned to cries and her cries grew louder and louder until they were shrill in the night and she was cumming while she clawed at KC's arms. As her pussy clamped down on him, KC started fucking her even faster and his cock was swelling inside her and Emma was so caught up in her own orgasm that she didn't realize he was so close to cumming himself.

"Fuck, baby. Damn you fuck good! Fuuuuccckkk...Emmm..." KC gasped, forgetting his promise and letting his load fly deep in her pussy.

"Yes! Yes!" Emma cried, she could feel his cock spurting inside her and it did feel good and even if she would hate herself for it later, she wanted it now. She didn't want him to pull out at all, but she wanted to keep his cock inside her.

As soon as he was finished, KC pulled out and pulled his shorts up and Emma was glad he wasn't the cuddling type. She saw sex with KC for what it was. She found her clothes, which were scattered and dressed herself, while Mia gave the phone back to KC, who turned it off and pocketed it.

"I'd better get going before my friends think I was kidnapped," Mia said, giving Emma a hug. "It was really nice meeting you. I hope I see you again before you go home."

"Me too," Emma said. Mia left and she was alone with KC and instantly felt uncomfortable. She could feel his cum leaking into her bikini bottom and she thought about what she'd just done, letting him fuck her in the back of his pickup, and she felt like a real slut. Yes, she felt sexy and free, but she couldn't help the old morality creeping in and that part of her judged the new Emma. The awkward silence with KC didn't help—it made this seem like exactly what it was. A cheap quickie had just for the thrill of it. And what's wrong with that? Emma demanded of herself. She still wanted to get out of there and looked over at KC, and said, "I think I'd better go find Cam."

"Yeah, I'll catch up with you later."

Emma still had that freshly-fucked glow and she was shaky on her feet as she crossed the dark sand back to the beach party, which was still in full swing. She realized how disheveled her hair was, and pulled it back into a ponytail once again. She headed straight for the punch and after a drink she felt ready to find Cam. She actually found Brady first, but he knew where Cam was.

"Are you alright, Emma?" Brady asked. "You look kind of out of it."

"I'm okay, really, just getting tired, I think." Brady put his arm around her and Emma leaned into him. Brady seemed so cool and Emma wished that if she were going to fuck someone beside Cam tonight that it had been Brady instead of KC.

"Maybe we should think about getting you home then."

"I don't want to spoil anyone's fun. I'll be okay, I think I just need to sit down for a few minutes."

They found Cam and Brady passed Emma onto him and disappeared again. Even Cam noticed Emma was acting funny, but she passed it off as being tired again, which was easy as she really was exhausted after her session with KC and Mia.

Cam, thoughtful guy he was, sat with Emma down by the water and they watched the waves breaking on the dark beach. Without realizing it, Emma fell asleep in Cam's arms and had a brief but much needed power nap. When she woke, Emma was ready to go back to the party with Cam and they danced and had a wonderful time. By the time they all made it back to the house the sun was chasing the moon back to its bed.

Speaking of beds, Emma did not protest at all when Cam took her to his and undressed her. He smiled when he took her bikini bottom off and she realized he had to have known she fucked someone else, but he was too much of a gentleman to say anything. Emma felt guilty, even though she knew she had no reason to. Cam put on a condom and took her gently, rocking his body against hers until they both came. When they finished, Emma kissed Cam deeply and curled into his arms and fell asleep to the soft rhythm of his breathing.

God, I am such a drunken slut, Emma thought upon awakening. She couldn't help but smile. She felt in control of her life for the first time. No, her mother certainly would not have approved of her behavior, and the people at church would have judged her decisions as reprehensible, but the important thing was that they were her decisions, and she had done what she pleased.

Emma was stretched out naked on the beach, the sun baking into her and forcing her to keep her eyes squinted against its brilliance. The sounds of people enjoying the day filtered into her ears and she turned her head from side to side, seeing dozens of people arranged on the bright, hot sand. She was the only person that was naked, but no one else seemed to notice her nakedness or care about it. The crystal clear blue water crashed on the beach and waves of pleasure flowed through Emma, seemingly in time to the waves meeting the land. Her waves were emanating from her pussy and Emma knew she was as wet as the ocean down there. She wasn't having sex, she was sure, because her body didn't seem to be moving, except for the thrusting of her hips at the source of the exquisite pleasure. Suddenly her clit was seized with a powerful throbbing and Emma arched her back into the sand and moaned loudly, yet still no one paid any attention to her. At first Emma was mortified that she was naked on a beach full of people, but now she wanted them to notice her. She wanted someone to watch her as she got off. Maybe the handsome guy with the dark hair to her right, or the pretty blonde sitting behind her. But no, the people around Emma acted like her writhing in pleasure on the beach was an everyday occurrence. Emma felt something slip inside her, though she didn't think it was a cock, and she cried out again, more loudly this time.

Opening her eyes, Emma realized that there was not sand beneath her, but the rumpled sheets of Cam's bed and warm sun was on her naked body, but it was the midmorning sun coming in through the window, not the burning bright sun on the beach. And looking down Emma saw the source of her pleasure was not some mystery, but Theo was kneeling between her spread legs, holding them apart, while he pushed his thick tongue inside her. The way he curled his big tongue and thrust it inside her it almost was like she was taking a slippery little cock into her pussy and the sensation set her afire.

"Ohhh..." Emma moaned, closing her eyes again and giving herself totally to her desires. Theo moved back to lap at her clit and he fucked her with his thumb, which felt as thick as Rob's cock ever had. She was so wet she squished around him and she only became wetter as he licked her clit. He brought her right to the edge of cumming, but then backed off again before she could finish. Emma's groan was a mixture of need and frustration.

Theo just laughed as he grabbed Emma by the hips and flipped her onto her stomach like a rag doll. The big Samoan kept her legs spread and stuffed a pillow under her hips to raise them up. He pulled her pussy back open and attacked with his tongue again until Emma was whimpering his name, about ready to beg him to let her cum, but he took his tongue away again and pressed his thumb back into her. His fingers easily spread her tight ass apart and Emma of course knew where he was going.

"Please, not that," she protested weakly, but her words ended as a moan when his tongue circled over her tight anus. Emma pushed her pussy down to envelop his thumb and she ground into his hand. Having Theo's tongue on her back door was indescribably amazing, but Emma couldn't help feeling that playing around back there was dirty and wrong. Still, she couldn't tell the boy to stop. She loved it too much. He was pushing his tongue past her tight anal ring and opening it up as he fixed his lips to her ass and sucked. Emma was clawing at the sheets and humping down wildly, her hair tossed into a cloud as she threw her head this way and that. All the energy in her body was being sucked toward her nether regions, where it swirled and grew, making Emma practically spin her hips.

Theo removed his tongue and instead pressed a finger to Emma's asshole. It was a tight fit, but she was so turned on that she did not protest at all when he started fucking the digit in and out of her ass. Whatever pain the girl felt was quickly replaced by intense pleasure. Theo kept his tongue rimming Emma as he fucked her with his finger in her ass and his thumb in her pussy and it only took seconds for her to explode in orgasm, thrashing face down on Cam's bed.

"AAAAHHhhhhiiiiiii!" Emma cried, the animalistic sound tearing from her throat. She rode both those digits until she could take no more and then she weakly pushed Theo back. He could have kept going but to his credit, he did not.

Instead, Theo crawled on the bed so he was kneeling beside Emma as she rolled back over. His huge cock was pointed almost straight out and visibly throbbing as he pointed it at Emma and started jerking off. Emma saw him staring at her as he played with himself, so she started touching her body for him, holding both her breasts and tweaking her nipples, then running a hand down between her legs, shocked at how wet she was. Her clit was still very sensitive and her body trembled as she touched it. Theo smiled at seeing her touch herself and his breathing got heavier and huskier. Emma reached for him and he moaned when she massaged her balls as he jerked his shaft. She felt so nasty with one hand on his balls and the other on her own pussy. Theo's thick precum dripped from the end of his cock onto Emma's chest and though she felt a little silly doing it, she rubbed the clear liquid into her breasts, knowing guys liked that sort of thing. Theo liked it and groaned louder, his expression telling Emma he was very close to getting off. She propped herself up on an elbow and leaned in to take his head in her mouth. His was so big just his head stretched her lips and Emma sucked him, swirling her tongue all over it. Theo's hips jerked and she felt his balls tighten and she knew his load was on the way.

Emma swallowed down Theo's first couple blasts, but then he pushed her onto her back and kept jerking his cock so his load spewed all over her chest, splattering her pert breasts and flat tummy. Theo seemed to have an ocean of cum and Emma thought she might be completely frosted before he was finished. Theo milked his tool until the very last drop seeped from the head and it hung limply between his beefy thighs.

"Thanks," he muttered, almost shyly.

"Thank you," Emma sighed, exhausted before she was even out of bed. "That was some way to wake up."

"I was walking by and the door was open and you were laying there naked and I just couldn't help myself. I hope you don't mind."

"I usually like to get to know a guy better before he just goes down on me, but I can't complain about the end result can I? Do you wake up a lot of girls that way?" She was curious why Theo thought she wouldn't mind his just touching her, but thought she had the answer.

Theo was sheepish, running fingers through his thick black hair before speaking. "I..uh...just I know you like to have fun, and you liked it when we kissed, and I just thought..."

"Don't worry, big guy," she said, smiling. "I loved it. I just usually prefer to be awake for the foreplay, okay?" That confirmed it for her. All the guys in the house knew what she'd been up to. Theo probably knew that she'd fucked both Cam and KC last night, and probably even knew about her hooking up with Brady earlier in the day. The poor guy probably felt left out, and she couldn't blame him. If he knew all that, no wonder he thought she would be up for this. Licking her pussy was tame in comparison to some of the stuff she'd done.

"Okay." His smile was bright and sweet. He had an innocence that didn't jibe with a guy who'd just had his tongue in her ass.

"Thanks for the visit, but I'd better be getting up," Emma said patting his thigh. Suddenly she felt vulnerable laying there naked and cum covered and looked around the room for something to throw on, since she didn't want to smear Theo's cum all over Cam's sheets. She wondered where Cam had gotten to.

Theo leaned down to kiss her, but Emma turned her head and kissed his cheek, not wanting to kiss him on the mouth considering where it had just been. "I'll, uh, let you get up and stuff," Theo said, pulling on his shorts and leaving the room.

It was ridiculous to put something on when she was such a mess, so she made her way to the shower naked. She thought she was alone in the house with Theo since she figured her screams would have brought anyone within earshot running.

God, I am such a slut, Emma thought while the hot water soaked her hair. She couldn't help but smile. It was incredible to think how much she'd changed in a few short days. The girl who boarded the plane for California had only slept with two guys in twenty-four years, and only hooked up with a couple others. That Emma would have been horrified to wake up with Theo licking her pussy. The new Emma had slept with two different guys in the last twenty-four hours and forget about hooking up. In the past hooking up had been kissing and maybe some touching. If she was really into it, she would let a boy get under her shirt. Now she seemed to be giving hand jobs away like they were nothing—and nothing seemed off limits for her now. Girls? Yeah, it seemed she was into them. She'd been really into Mia. Drugs, she enjoyed them as long as things didn't go too far. She did not want to completely lose it like she had at the house yesterday. Emma, it seemed, was open to anything now, and she wondered what her next adventure would be.

As the hot water washed away the remnants of her morning with Theo, Emma had to wonder why the Samoan didn't try to fuck her, instead of just jerking off on her. She was relieved because she was sure his big cock would hurt, but she did think it was a little weird. But then she thought it was weird that he was so fascinated with her ass too. She still thought that any ass play was just too odd for her, but then she had easily taken Theo's finger up there and it felt amazing. It was an interesting start to the day.

Emma had given up trying to predict what her days here in California were going to be like since each day brought a strange new adventure. She had slipped down the rabbit hole and was becoming a whole new woman in the process, a very horny one, and she wondered if she would be able to go back to her old life. Emma washed herself thoroughly and trimmed her pussy neatly, noticing how sore she felt. She was getting so much activity down there that it seemed to be sore whenever she wasn't being stimulated. Maybe it was a good thing that she was almost constantly stimulated then!

Emma pulled on a tight pair of shorts and a baby-T, without a bra. Emma never went braless if she thought she was going to see anyone—only at the end of the day when she changed into comfy jammies after work. She wasn't the kind of girl who didn't wear a bra—or she hadn't been before now. She posed in front of the mirror and decided she looked sexy with her nipples puffing through the tight t-shirt. It was such a new thing to feel sexy that she almost second guessed herself and put on a bra, but she strode out of the bedroom before she could change her mind.

Brady was on the couch downstairs flipping through channels. Had he been there when Theo was making her scream in ecstasy earlier? Emma blushed and walked by with a quick hello on her way to find breakfast.

Fortified by a bowl of Fruit Loops, Emma returned to the living room to see what everyone was up to for the day.

"All the other guys are working," Brady informed her, lifting his legs long enough for her to slide under them and sit on the couch. "Cam said to tell you that he had something to do after work and didn't know when he'd be back, but he hoped it wouldn't be too late. He asked me to keep you entertained until he came back."

"I don't want you to feel like you have to look after me. Just do whatever you were going to do."

"It's my pleasure, don't worry about it."

"I just don't want to be in the way."

"You worry too much, Emma." Brady laughed. He patted her shoulder and added, "I thought you might want to buy some souvenirs for your friends back home. I know some cool shops."

"Yeah, that would be great."

Brady pulled on a loose tank top and shorts and they took off. As they drove, the wind billowed up Brady's t-shirt and Emma kept glancing over at his nipple piercing.

"You seem fascinated by my piercing. I could tell you liked playing with it yesterday," he said.

"It's not that. I just keep wondering if it really hurt. It must have."

"I can't lie, I think it's one of the most painful piercings, but I was pretty fucked up when I got it, so it was easier to take."

"And there's no after effects? It still feels the same when you're touched there? I would hate if it lessened the sensation in my nipple." Emma had to resist the urge to reach out and touch his piercing.

"I guess you're really sensitive there. I think it's even better. Makes things feel more intense. But couldn't you tell that yesterday?"

Emma met his eyes with a smile. "Yes," she said softly, now regretting that she hadn't had more time to play with Brady's nipple ring the day before. KC was pierced there too, but she had no desire to play with KC at all. He just seemed to be there when she wanted a quick, animal need fulfilled, and Emma was perfectly fine with that arrangement.

"Maybe you should get one yourself."

"No, I could never get my nipple pierced. Ouch! But I would really like to get my bellybutton pierced. I've even thought about getting a little tattoo on my bikini line, you know, something feminine."

"That would look cool. You've got a great body."

"Oh, stop it," Emma protested and Brady just shook his head.

Brady took her to a strip of shops not far from where Cam had taken her clothes shopping and he was right, there were a lot of interesting little shops. Emma lingered in each one and made several purchases. She was afraid she was boring Brady, but he was all smiles, telling her to take her time. They broke for a late lunch and Emma had a juicy mahi mahi sandwich, which she washed down with sweet lemonade and then she hit some more stores. Brady insisted on carrying some of her bags, which she thought was very sweet of him, and she rewarded him with a kiss, which she meant to be a quick peck but Brady turned into a heated exchange. Emma was very impressed, the dark-eyed boy definitely knew how to kiss. After that, Emma allowed herself to be flirtier with him, brushing against him as she looked around in stores and even letting her hand drag over the front of his shorts. Brady also discreetly touched her and Emma could feel her temperature rise. After they dropped off her bags at the car, Brady slipped her hand into his and led Emma down the sidewalk.

"Where are we going?" Emma asked. "I don't think there's a store we missed." A beautiful sunset was forming on the horizon.

"There is one place we didn't go into," Brady replied, leading her to a storefront away from the strip. The big front window was covered so no one could see inside and "Tattoos" was printed on it in intricate, red curving script.

"I don't think I am ready for a tattoo yet." Emma said, stopping before he could lead her inside.

"They do piercings too."

"I'm not sure about that either."

"You said you wanted one and you are trying to be adventurous here, so come on and give it a shot. You can just get a piercing, or maybe you'll change your mind and get a tat too." Brady pulled her toward the door and Emma let him lead her inside.

The front room was small and dark with a couple old wooden chairs and seemingly hundreds of tattoo designs on the walls on clean white butcher paper pressed behind Plexiglas. Lights mounted over the artwork lit it well, but they did little to penetrate the gloom. There was a high, scarred wooden counter and doorway behind it covered by a red curtain.

"Looks like no one is here. Guess we should go," Emma said, but before she could turn toward the door a tiny Latina girl came through the curtain. She was even smaller than Emma, barely five feet tall and delicately boned. Her jet-black hair cascaded to her waist and swung as she walked. Her eyebrow, nose and lip were all pierced and Emma couldn't help but think there were other piercings hidden by her tank top and low slung jeans. Her arms were so covered with tattoos that it looked like she was wearing sleeves.

"Hey Brady," the girl said. Emma realized she was staring at the girl and purposely looked in the other direction.

"What's up, Marisol? Here to get a little work done for my friend."

Marisol gave Emma a disbelieving look and said, "He's going to be busy for a little while. You can wait in one of the rooms in the back."

"We can always come back," Emma said quickly.

"We'll wait, it's cool. We don't have anywhere to rush off to." Brady put an arm around Emma and steered her behind the counter.

They followed Marisol through the curtain. Emma could hear the buzzing of a tattoo needle from behind one closed door and chills went down her spine. Marisol showed them to a small, clean room lit by pale fluorescent lighting and closed the door behind them. There was a counter off to one side with various implements on it, but the room was centered on what appeared to be an old dentist's chair with a spotlight over it. Brady took a chair in the corner, leaving the dentist's chair the only place to sit, but Emma just paced around the small room.

"You really need to relax. The more tense you are the more it's going to hurt," Brady said.

"It's not going to hurt because I don't think I am going to do it," Emma replied nervously.

"You said you wanted it."

"I do, but it's going to hurt," Emma whined. "I'm a chicken." She wrung her hands and went back to pacing.

"But you do want this?"

"Well, yeah. I think it would be cool. And I wanna be more, y'know, edgy. I don't want to be boring."

"You are definitely not boring, Emma."

"I want to be sexy."

"Come here." Brady said. When she didn't, he said, "Come on, come over here, Emma."

Emma affected a pout and walked over to Brady, who promptly pulled her into his lap. He brushed her hair back and softly kissed the side of her neck. His lips felt really nice and she let him keep going.

"You are very, very sexy, Emma. You don't need to doubt that," Brady said between kisses. His arms were around her waist and he moved one up her belly and under her baby-T. He cupped her breast and she put her hand over his through the shirt, meaning to stop him. She didn't know when someone would walk in. But he gently massaged her breast and her nipple grew stiff and she let him go. She almost laughed at herself. She was such a sucker for having her breasts touched. "And you are going to look so sexy with a belly ring to show off. No one will be able to keep their hands off you."

"Mmm, like you can't?" Emma sighed, leaning into him. The way he touched her was so good.

"Something like that. Now you need to relax. Trust me, it will be easier if you do." Brady reached into his pocket and produced a tin cigarette case. Flicking it open with one hand, he pulled a joint out with his lips and plucked a thin, disposable lighter from inside. He lit the end and inhaled deeply while Emma watched the glowing red tip of the joint. All the while he kept his massaging hand on Emma's breast.

"Is that the same stuff from the house yesterday?" Emma asked warily. She knew pot would help her relax, something she needed if she was going to go through with this, but she did not want any of the stuff they'd smoked with Julio.

"No, that was laced with something. This is just run of the mill pot. Don't worry."

Emma took the joint and puffed twice on it. She was getting good at it and didn't cough at all as she sucked the tangy smoke into her lungs. A cloud of contentment settled over her and all her muscles seemed to relax at the same time. Brady's massaging her breast felt much better too, and Emma pressed into his hand. She hadn't counted on the pot amplifying her horniness like it always seemed to. And she'd already been horny, like she always seemed to be anymore. Theo had given her an amazing orgasm, but she still needed that feeling of a cock inside her.

Emma turned in the chair and straddled Brady, grabbing his face and kissing him full on while he held onto her ass and ground her into him. She could feel the lump growing in his shorts and it felt good when she pressed into it so she worked her hips against him. Brady slid his hands up her back, under her shirt, massaging her naked skin. He worked his hands around under her shirt until he was cupping both her breasts and rolling her tender, puckered nipples. Emma moaned into their kiss and pushed her whole body at Brady. He pulled her shirt up and leaned forward to kiss her breasts. Emma kept an eye on the door, but she was feeling mellow and Brady's mouth felt too good to make him stop. The further he went, the further she wanted him to go. His tongue was flicking across her nipple, captured between his lips, sending shockwaves of delight through her petite body.

Emma was breathing hard and rubbing her soaked pussy into Brady's hard cock when she slipped off his lap and onto her knees in front of him. With a wicked smile, she pulled his shorts down and freed his cock. It was a nice thick one, maybe seven inches long, just about the perfect size for her, Emma thought. Keeping her eyes on the boy, she held his cock out and ran her tongue all over the head. She was very pleased by the lusty expressions that crossed his face, his dark eyes telling Emma just how much he wanted her as she sucked his head between her lips. She loved watching a guy's face as she went down on him so she could see that exact moment where he ceded control and he became hers. She took him deeper and deeper into her mouth and cradled his balls in her hand while she slurped on his shaft. Emma pushed her other hand under his shirt and played with his nipple ring. Brady let out a low groan and started pushing his cock into her mouth, but Emma made sure she controlled how much of him she sucked. She loved teasing, and Brady was a fun boy to tease.

Her pussy was burning and Emma wasn't sure if she should make him cum with her mouth or straddle his cock. She liked the danger of fucking Brady in the tattoo parlor, where anyone could walk in, now that she was high. Before the last couple days she was sure she would have been mortified, but now she realized she enjoyed being watched, and thought it would be fun to have someone come in on them. But before Emma could make up her mind, she heard voices outside the door and jumped to her feet, leaving Brady's prick standing out in the open. Brady scrambled to put his prick away, and Emma barely had her shirt fixed before the door swung open.

"Brady, I see you have brought your friend again. Excellent. You would like me to work on you, yes?" Julio asked, entering the room and closing the door behind him.

Emma couldn't believe who it was! Julio was the last person she ever wanted to see again. She knew she'd been putty in his hands the day before and she was ashamed at how easily she'd given into him. It was different with Cam and his friends because she had gotten to know them, at least a little bit. But with Julio she'd just smoked pot with him and then melted for him. She still wasn't even sure how far she'd gone with him. Emma wanted to call the whole thing off right there. It was only the pot taking off the edges that kept her from really freaking out.

"Come to think of it, I really don't think I want anything done," Emma said quickly.

"Stop being silly. You change your mind more often than the tide comes in. Just chill out and don't worry so much. Julio is the best I know of with this stuff and if you are going to get something permanent on your body he's the man you want," Brady said.

"Si, just relax, chica. Julio won't hurt you. Wasn't I nice yesterday?" Julio said, taking Emma by the arm and steering her toward the old dentist's chair. Once she was deposited in it, Julio reached for a lever on the side and she was reclined far back. He reached up for the spotlight and pulled it down closer, but did not switch it on yet. "So what are we doing here today?"

"She definitely wants her belly pierced, but she was thinking of a tattoo also," Brady answered for her.

"Let me guess, chica, something dainty and feminine, on your ankle, or perhaps your bikini line? I see you wanting it more on your private area, si? That way it can only be seen when you wish it."

Emma did not think she wanted a tattoo at all, especially not from this man, but she answered, "I guess." The pot made her feel so mellow she felt almost detached from what was happening to her body.

"Si, si. A tiny sun perhaps, or a rainbow? I do not see a heart on you. You are an animal lover, no?"

"Yes, I like animals a lot."

"A dolphin. Si. I see a jumping dolphin on you." Without asking, Julio unfastened Emma's shorts and started tugging them past her hips. She reached to stop him, but Julio took her hands in his and said, "If I am to tattoo you there, it must be exposed, no?"

Emma did not like the word exposed. That was something definitely she did not want. She felt incredibly vulnerable lying back in the chair between Brady and Julio. "But...but...I'm not sure I want the tattoo. I think we should start with the belly ring first."

"No. The belly ring will hurt and then you will not want the tattoo, even if you really do want it. Tattoo takes longer and is more painful. Piercing will be easy after that, best to do the tattoo first."

"But I don't know about the tattoo," Emma said, very aware that Julio's hands were still on her, touching her bare skin. He was stroking her belly, left exposed by her baby-T.

"I will draw dolphin and then if you like we can do. If not, it washes right off. Si?"

That didn't sound so bad. It wasn't permanent, it was just a drawing. She didn't want to go back to being boring, she told herself. Be daring! She didn't like that Brady thought she couldn't make her mind up. In all this flawed reasoning Emma had forgotten that her initial objection had been to Julio working on her, not necessarily the tattoo. She took her hands away, and with a smile, Julio pushed her shorts all the way down past her knees. It left Emma in a very tiny pair of sheer white bikini cut panties and she wondered why her shorts had to be so low. The panties hid nothing and the dark thatch of her trimmed hair showed through, as well as her red, engorged lips. Next Julio took hold of her panties and started pulling them down too, but Emma stopped him before she was completely exposed. Her panties were rolled down to where they just barely covered her and the sparse hair of her mound was showing.

"Very nice," Julio said, appraising her grooming job and Emma blushed. He took a black, fine-tip felt pen from his shirt pocket in his right hand, and spread his left hand out so his pinky was just barely touching her pubic hair. Julio reached up and switched on the spotlight and then leaned over her. It felt very intimate to have Julio so close to her down there.

Emma giggled and wiggled, causing Julio to press more firmly with his left hand. "Sorry, it tickles," she said. She looked down and watched the Mexican drawing on her just below where her panties might cover her, and she had to admit that he was a good artist. He was drawing low on her hip, but Emma realized that if she wore low rise jeans it would probably show, and while shopping with Cam she'd bought a pair of jeans and a skirt that definitely rode that low.

The hand holding her pelvis no longer just held her, but now rubbed in little circles, which rather distracting. His fingers were still above her pubis, but she felt them slowly descending as he continued to work on the drawing that adorned her pale skin. Julio's fingers were sending sweet waves coursing through her, and Emma couldn't help responding to his touch. The feel of Julio's hands on her body brought back how intense that climax he'd given her was. It also drove home how horny playing with Brady had left her. She'd been soaked when Julio interrupted them and she knew he'd be able to feel it if his fingers dipped just a bit lower. Emma was easy prey. Without realizing it, she shifted her hips, bringing her mound closer to his rubbing hand.

Julio's fingers slid over her panties and Emma sighed when he rubbed her lips. The see-through mesh of her panties clung wetly to her lips and left the tattoo artist in no doubt about her state of arousal. Emma stopped watching Julio draw and laid her head back with her eyes closed to enjoy being touched. She knew it was inappropriate, but she did not want him to stop—this was becoming a common thing for her. New me, she kept telling herself. This is exactly the sort of adventure one of the girls in her ebooks would have. It was hard for her to stay still and let him draw, but she could still feel the felt tip of the pen sketching over her supple skin. Julio's fingertips pressed into her, grazing her clit and Emma gasped loudly while pushing her hips at him to get her clit back under his fingers. Slowly he worked the material of her panties into her pussy lips and he was stroking inside her through the mesh. Now her throbbing clit was exposed and Julio took full advantage. He strummed her clit and laid the pen aside, giving up the pretense that he was working on her.

Emma opened her eyes and first saw Brady, who stared at Julio having free rein with her body. Brady was rubbing a lump in the front of his shorts, but he didn't even seem to be aware of it because he was too caught up in watching Emma. She felt that now familiar charge that energized her whenever she knew she was being watched. Never in a million years would Emma have guessed that she was a closet exhibitionist.

Julio wasn't looking at anything but her red, swollen pussy. He rolled her panties the rest of the way down and pressed her thighs apart before touching her again, this time massaging her with both hands. He had a delicious touch. Emma bit her lip, but that did not stifle her moan. A lock of long, slick black hair fell over Julio's forehead as he leaned in and kissed her lower belly. Butterflies took flight in Emma's stomach. Julio bent from the side and his lips descended toward her own, only making contact when she was ready to yank him there by his hair. With Emma's lips splayed open, Julio attacked her clit with short, precise strokes of his tongue. He used his tongue as he might a tattoo needle and Emma bucked up at his mouth.

"Ohhh..." Emma moaned, gripping the armrests of the old dentist's chair. Julio's tongue kept busy, but he lowered his lips and sucked on her pussy while he licked her clit. Brady finally stopped watching and got involved, pulling her baby-T over her head. Once her breasts were exposed, Brady sculpted them with his hands while kissing and sucking the tender nipples that capped them. Emma twisted in the chair, trying to push her body at both men's hungry mouths at the same time. This was nothing like being taken by Cam and KC. They had been using her for their pleasure. Julio and Brady were kissing and licking and sucking solely to give her pleasure, and they were doing an excellent job. It only took a couple minutes of Brady teasing her nipples and Julio sucking her pussy before she was crying out in an intense orgasm that slowly rolled out through her body. It was not the sort of orgasm that exhausted. It left her wanting more.

Neither man took Emma's orgasm as a sign to stop. It only made them redouble their efforts. Julio moved to the foot of the chair and lifted both her legs over his shoulders. From down below it almost seemed as if he were trying to climb inside Emma as he licked her. He also corkscrewed a long finger into her pussy and crooked it to massage her G-spot. Brady was still content to suck and kiss her breasts and Emma was happy to let him do that as long as he wanted. Emma thought this had to be every girl's dream, two guys focused entirely on pleasuring her. But she felt selfish and so she reached for Brady. She grasped his shaft through his shorts and rubbed him as she twisted and moaned on the old dentist's chair, brightly lit by the spotlight above her.

Brady dropped his shorts and rubbed the spongy head of his cock over her turgid nipples. It was a different sensation, but one she liked. Emma massaged his balls as he did it and then drew his cock toward her face. She looked Brady in the eye and to tease him she rubbed his cockhead over her lips and licked it before she took him in her mouth. It seemed the more sexual she became—the more she let go of her old moral restrictions—the dirtier she was willing to behave. She thought about the things girls in the erotica books she read would tease their men. With smooth strokes she took him down until she could fit his whole shaft into her mouth. He was more average-sized than his roommates and so Emma could suck him more easily. But it was hard to focus on sucking Brady because Julio was doing such an amazing job between her legs. The drug dealer-cum-tattoo artist was feasting on her like no man before Theo ever had. It was a new idea to her that some men must like going down on women. Julio sure seemed to like it. The juicer she got the harder he sucked. Emma's clit was on fire and she came again while she sucked on Brady's cock, her cries muffled by the.

While Emma was still quaking from her second orgasm, Julio was kissing his way down her thighs until he kissed each of her feet in turn. Emma hated her feet and that did not particularly do anything for her, but it did distract her from the fact that he had taken his cock out. Emma was still giving Brady lusty looks as she snacked on his cock while Julio pulled her legs wide apart. She looked down, startled, when she felt the head of Julio's cock press against her soaked pussy. Her eyes widen as he rubbed the fat organ between her slick, swollen lips and pierced her. She tried to tell him no, but Brady's cock muffled her words. She was so horny that she wanted to be fucked, but it was clear there was no condom on Julio's thick, dark cock. Julio kept pushing forward and Emma's muffled protests slowly turned to muffled moans as he stretched her around his cock.

God, but a bare cock felt so much better than latex. She could feel the uncircumcised head of his cock poke out of the foreskin as he penetrated her and she felt every detail of that magnificent cock as she tightened her muscles around him. Her legs were over Julio's shoulders again and he held her hips as he slowly fucked her. It felt totally slutty, but Emma liked being impaled on two cocks. She was totally sexual while the men pleased her and that was all that mattered. Emma loved her new, sluttier side. She humped her hips up at Julio's cock and slurped on Brady's cock and even rubbed her own breasts, but then men pushed her hands aside and they each took her one of her breasts in a hand. Julio's soft warm hand was a contrast to Brady's rougher, smaller hand and having two men touching her breasts in different ways was such an odd, pleasurable experience. Julio used his other hand to rub her clit and Emma started shaking. Brady held her head and fucked her mouth as he got closer to his orgasm while Julio was really pumping his cock hard into her now. Emma felt bounced between the two cocks and all the sensations overwhelmed her. She lost herself in a fog of complete pleasure and just went along for the ride, feeling the powerful orgasm that was gathering force in her body.

"Your pussy is as tight as I hoped, chica. You are one little hot fuck," Julio told her, surprisingly calm for how hard he was now fucking her.

Brady did not speak at all, but just grunted as he stroked her hair and fucked her mouth. Emma's piercing cries were loud in the small room, even muffled as they were by Brady's cock. She couldn't catch her breath and thought she might pass out, but she did not dream of stopping things. She was just about there...

Brady popped his cork first, filling Emma's mouth with his thick cream. She came right with him and just could not keep up with swallowing, so his spunk bubbled from her lips and ran down her cheeks as he pumped his load into her mouth. Julio came right on the heels of that and she felt him spurt deep inside her before she had the presence of mind to push him away. His cock flopped out of her and he kept cumming, his load streaking across her belly and onto her breasts. Emma screamed out at the top of her lungs and was so caught up in her own cumming that she did not think about what a sticky mess she was becoming.

Both men stood over her until they were finished. Emma lay limply in the chair and her cum-covered breasts heaved as she breathed. Her eyes fluttered open and closed, but the spotlight above her blinded her so she could not see they were not alone.

"When did you get here?" Brady said and Emma was stunned when she heard a third male voice in the room.

"I've been here long enough," KC said. "I saw your truck and thought I would see if you were getting more work done. I didn't know Em would be the one getting worked on.” He laughed.

Emma shielded her eyes from the spotlight and was horrified to see KC standing over her with his phone out once again, panning up and down her naked, cum splattered body. "Give us a smile," he said as he panned up to her face, but Emma only said fuck you as she rolled away from the camera and got to her feet with her back toward him. Unfazed, KC kept shooting video as she found her clothes. Emma could feel Julio's cum oozing between her legs as she pulled her shorts up. It occurred to her that she could not put her top on without cleaning up and she asked Julio for a bathroom.

While Emma was washing the drying cum from her skin there was a light rap on the door and she heard Brady ask if she was okay.

"Go away, I'll be out in a minute," she said, trying not to cry.

Brady ignored her and instead opened the door, which didn't lock. "Emma, are you alright?"

Emma kept her back to him and felt tears welling up as she said, "I don't know." He took her by the shoulders, turned her around and she buried her face in his chest and started sobbing.

"It's okay, Emma," Brady cooed, holding her tightly.

Emma was so very confused. Again she had to ask what she was becoming. While she wanted to regret what had just happened, she really didn't and that bothered her more than anything. It bothered her that she was caught on video by KC. She was becoming a total slut, something she used to despise. Why was she throwing herself fully into this new role? Funny, she mused, it didn't bother her at all until she saw KC with his phone out. It was like her behavior was okay as long as no one outside the room knew what was going on. But there was evidence of what she was doing, and if anyone ever saw that what would they think of her? And strangely, why did she feel a shiver of excitement at the thought of someone seeing the video? She couldn't help but wonder how turned on KC got watching them. God, she was confused.

Once Emma had calmed down and wiped away her tears she pulled her hair back into a scrunchie and let Brady take her back into the other room. KC was still there, idly talking to Julio, who wondered if she still wanted her tattoo. There was no way Emma was going to be persuaded to sit there long enough for a tattoo, but she did let him pierce her belly button, since it was something she'd wanted for a while. Her system was still flooded with endorphins from her orgasms, so it didn't hurt all that much when Julio put the needle through and then fixed a thick titanium ring just above her belly button. Emma eyed her new piercing with fascination while Julio gave her instructions on how to care for it and of course KC shot video of the whole thing. Emma noticed her panties hanging out of Julio's pocket and since she did not want the humiliation of asking for them back she let him keep them, thinking of it as a tip. She was not charged for the piercing.

Cam and Theo were both impressed with her new jewelry and Cam insisted she had to wear something to show it off when they went out that night. Emma asked where they were going and Cam told her that there was a bar that had a killer DJ. She thought it sounded like a lot of fun, but she told the boys she needed a nap before she'd be ready for a night of dancing. She peeled off her clothes and took a quick shower to wash the earlier sex from her body, and in a move that signaled she had become more comfortable with her body than she'd been just days earlier, Emma crawled between Cam's sheets without putting anything on.

Emma was asleep as soon as her head hit the pillow and her dreams were dominated by sex. She was back in the tattoo parlor with the guys, KC included—only in her dream KC joined in as well, slipping into her pussy after Julio finished. KC asked if she wanted him to wear a condom, but she told him no and he pushed right into her bareback. In the dream Cam was there too and he took the phone from KC when the boy came over to fuck her. As soon as Brady came in her mouth, he took the phone from Cam and kept recording as Cam slipped his cock into her tired mouth.

The boys kept Emma busy for quite some time and when KC shot his load into her she noticed that Theo had been standing there and watching as well. Theo lifted her legs into the air and shoved his prick right into her. Emma was afraid it would hurt, but she was so slippery from all the cum already inside her that there was no trouble at all. Emma couldn't turn her head and look around because of the cock in her mouth, but she wondered just how many guys were in the shadows beyond the spotlight that kept her on display, pinned like a prime specimen. For all she knew it could be dozens waiting to be with her, and the prospect excited her. Emma felt like a total slut, and that felt right. There was no moral equivocation in her dream.

Suddenly, the old dentist's chair was on a stage and Emma was aware of quite a large audience beyond—both men and women—watching her every move. Two more men, some of the guys who'd flirted with her at the house party, replaced Cam and Theo and the audience cheered, which sent a thrill through Emma. She went beyond just letting the men fuck her and really started to perform for the audience, excited, knowing that she was turning on every single person watching. Men changed places again and Emma did not know how long she went on, but it seemed like she could go forever as long as her audience was with her. In the dream she was experiencing one long, unending orgasm and it seemed her heart would give out before she stopped cumming. She could not tell if she had been fucking for ten minutes or ten hours.

Rolling over, Emma touched Cam and came out of her dream. He was naked beneath the sheets too and Emma rubbed herself against him like a content kitty and sleepily kissed his chest. Her extreme arousal hit her like a slap as her wetness smeared on Cam's leg.

"That must have been some dream," Cam said, slipping his arm around her.

The details of her dream faded quickly, but Emma still remembered the gist of it as she crawled on top of her well-built lover and kissed his neck. "Mmm, you could say that," she purred.

"Do you always wake up like this?"

Emma felt Cam grow hard as she ground her pussy against him and teasingly kissed him on the mouth. "I am horny in the morning a lot, but this isn't the morning." It was dusk, and only a bedside lamp illuminated the shadowy bedroom. Her hard nipples dragged across Cam's smooth chest as she moved, sending sparks through her. She reached between them and grasped his cock, guiding it toward her pussy. She was soaked and had no need for foreplay. Emma just wanted Cam to quench her thirst. As she massaged his shaft, Cam stretched his hand into the bedside drawer and produced a condom. Julio had already fucked her without a condom that day, and KC the night before, but Emma had a moment of clarity and rolled off of Cam so he could shield himself. She wondered what he would think if he knew he was wearing a condom with her while others weren't. She felt bad about it, but she knew Cam was right and the others were wrong, just taking advantage of her mind numbing horniness. Even though it felt better, Emma resolved right there that she'd taken her last unprotected prick.

Properly prepared, Cam spread her legs and pushed inside Emma. She whimpered, sore from the nearly nonstop sex of the last few days, and Cam took it nice and slow, gently easing his cock in and out of her. He filled her completely and it felt so good.

"Does that feel alright?" Cam asked, concerned.

Emma held onto his muscular ass and moaned, "Yes, Cam. You feel wonderful."

Cam smiled as he steadily worked his cock into her. "I guess you've been having a little too much fun the past couple days. You're not used to all this activity, are you?"

She felt a pang of guilt. How much did he know about what she'd been doing when he was not around? "No, not really. I'm sorry."

Cam kissed her and sort of corkscrewed his cock into her and it felt amazing. How come Cam was the only one who knew how to take her like this? "You don't have anything to be sorry for, Emma."

"But your friends... I didn't know how you felt about..." Emma left it vague, not wanting to put into words what she'd done. Besides, the slow, sensual fucking Cam was giving her was robbing Emma of the power of speech.

"Shh, baby, you don't have anything to apologize for. I'm not your boyfriend and you're here to have fun, to get away from everything. Do whatever you desire. Mmm, besides, you feel so good I couldn't be mad at you."

Desire, Emma thought. That was a dangerous word. Especially over the last few days. Her desire seemed out of control most of the time anymore—just as it was at that very moment. Cam was moving faster inside her, building her slow burn into a raging fire. She nudged Cam and he took the hint, rolling onto his back and pulling her with him, so she remained on top.

Emma moaned throatily as she impaled herself on Cam and rode him, leaning down to kiss him as she worked her hips. Now in control, she worked his prick just the way she wanted to and it only took a couple minutes more before she was biting her lower lip and crying out as she came. Trembling, she lowered herself onto Cam's chest while he stayed throbbing and hard inside her.

"Mmm, thank you, that was so good, Cam," Emma breathed, kissing her blonde lover. She rolled off of him and then reached down and rolled the condom off his rigid shaft and stroked the hot, veiny surface with her thin fingers. She felt even worse about making him wear a condom when others hadn't since he had such a hard time cumming while wearing one. Emma did not want to leave him disappointed so she turned around and took him in her mouth. She was starting to get used to the taste of latex and it did not bother her as she ran her tongue down the underside of his cock. She sucked as much of his shaft between her lips as she could and pumped the rest in her fist. While she was sucking him, Cam was moaning and lightly touching her tender pussy. Cam was so excited from just fucking her that she did not have to suck him long before he was filling her mouth with a load of thick cream. Emma's cheeks ballooned out as she took his cum and swallowed down every last drop. When Emma finished she smiled at Cam and licked her lips. He pulled her up into his arms and she lay against his chest. Emma clung tightly to him and sighed.

"Is there something wrong?" Cam asked, stroking her hair.

"No, not really. It's just I have to go home tomorrow."

"You don't want to?"

"I guess I do, I don't know. I just feel like that whole life is a world away. I don't know if I would even recognize the woman I used to be if I looked in the mirror. I know that none of my friends or family would know who I am now."

"Including your ex?" Cam asked gently.

"Especially Rob. I am sure he would be horrified if he knew some of the things I've done in the past few days. I'm not sure he ever saw me as a woman, or as really sexy. I think I was just there, someone who was dependable and someone to take care of his needs, but I don't think it occurred to him that I had needs of my own. I'm not sure it even ever occurred to me."

"But now you realize you have needs?"

Emma couldn't help a little chuckle. "Oh yes. Sometimes it feels like they are overwhelming me. But it's more than sexual too. It's like for the first time my life is about me and what I want and need. It's not about what other people expect of me. I feel like if I want to do something I can do it, and it doesn't matter how anyone else feels about it. I think when I go home I can finally start living for myself."

Cam tilted Emma's face to his and kissed her. "I'm really happy to hear that. You should be living for yourself. Only you really know what's going to make you happy."

"You're right. But I still wish I didn't have to go home tomorrow. How can your whole life change in four days?" She searched Cam's face for some kind of meaning and found caring there.

"I think change finds you when you're ready for it. You just have to be willing to reach out and grab it. And if this is your last night here we're going to have it make it one for you to remember. I don't want you going home feeling like you missed out on anything."

"How about regretting some of the things I have done?" Emma asked, only half-joking.

"If you enjoyed it and no one got hurt, you don't have any reason to regret anything. That's the best way to live life."

It made sense. "Is that why you seem so content?"

"Something like that. Great sex with hot brunettes helps too." Cam gave a rich laugh.

"Silly!"

"We'd better get ready for your big night. The guys will want to get going soon."

"Okay, let me jump in shower. I'll be quick as I can." Emma kissed Cam and climbed out of bed.

Emma returned to the bedroom, skin freshly scrubbed a healthy pink and Cam took her place in the bathroom. She saw he'd been busy while she was in the shower because there was an outfit laid out for her on the bed. It was what she would have expected from a guy. The skirt was the one she'd been most apprehensive about buying. It was a low-rise skirt, so it was very short on both ends—nothing she would have ever worn before. The black top was tiny and tight, suspended by spaghetti straps. She didn't think she should wear a bra with it, but the material was so thin there was no way Emma was going out without one. She picked a matching see-thru lace lavender bra and panty set and laid them beside the outfit, then dropped her towel and stood naked in front of the mirror as she blew her hair dry.

She turned and examined herself in the mirror, truly seeing herself for what was probably the first time. Emma still wished her tummy was tighter, but she loved how pert her breasts were and she decided her ass was nicer than she had thought in the past. Her new belly ring glittered and she was glad she got it. She knew the outfit Cam picked out would show it off nicely. It was starting to hurt from all the activity she'd been engaging in and she hoped she would remember to take it a little easy tonight. Emma was also pleased to see that all the sun she was getting was really bringing out the lighter streaks in her chestnut hair. Yes, she could see why guys liked her when she looked in the mirror now. It was new to think of herself as sexy, but she liked the change in her attitude.

Cam returned from the shower and when he saw Emma still wasn't dressed he couldn't help but pull her nude body against his. They kissed hotly and touched each other, but there wasn't time for them to have sex again, so all they did was get each other worked up. Cam had trouble pulling his boxer briefs over his big erection and Emma was soaked when she pulled on her panties. She had to keep swatting Cam's hands away as she finished dressing. She added a pair of black leather boots that were tight over her calves and nearly came to her knees. With their low heel the go-go boots were the perfect complement to her outfit. She sent Cam ahead of her and then grabbed a handful of condoms out of his drawer and stuffed as many of them as she could fit in the small pockets at the waistline of her skirt. Emma had always thought that only sluts carried their own condoms but then that's what most people would probably call her now after all the fun she'd been having.

Everyone was waiting for them downstairs, and both Brady and Theo told Emma she was worth the wait. Before they left, Cam poured out a shot for everyone and they toasted to Emma. She was embarrassed and the scorching tequila turned her a deeper crimson as it warmed her on its way down.

They all packed into KC's truck as they had on Emma's first day there and she ended up sitting on Cam's lap with her legs across Brady. Cam was not shy about touching her in the packed truck, his hand snaking around her side to rub her breast and keep her nipple constantly aroused. She returned the favor by wiggling her ass into his lap until she could feel his erection pressing firmly into her. Brady rubbed her legs at the same time, massaging little circles behind her knee, which had always been a sensitive spot for her. Emma was mightily aroused and if that kept up it was going to be a very interesting night.

The parking lot was packed with cars and Emma was surprised to see the club was on the small side. A large dance floor dominated the room, with a bar at either end. There seemed to be few places to sit and they were all occupied. Emma excused herself to the bathroom when they got there and fought her way through the crowd after Cam pointed her in the right direction. When her turned at the mirror came, she looked at the women around her in the packed restroom and was glad she'd dressed as she did because she fit right in—though some of the girls wore even less than she did. Once out of the bathroom she wormed her way through the crowd to the bar in the back, where she found the guys. It meant crossing the dance floor and several guys tried to grab her and drag her into dancing with them. She was flattered rather than offended when some of the anonymous men copped a cheap feel as she passed.

Cam put a Bay Breeze in her hand and she was forced against him by the crush of people. It was after eleven and the place was really jumping. Theo was still around, but Brady and KC had disappeared into the crowd. Cam was still being bad, using the camouflage of the crowd to run his hands all over her. He had to get very close for Emma to hear him over the thumping dance music and every time he spoke to her he also kissed the nape of her neck. She rubbed against him and even dropped her hand to rub him through his shorts when she was sure she wasn't going to get caught. Talking was really too difficult so they ended up standing beside the bar and bopping to the music while people watching. The club was dark and smoky and even in the little bit of clothing she was wearing Emma felt hot. She watched the girls on the dance floor moving their bodies with complete abandon with envy, but halfway into her third Bay Breeze Emma had lost enough of her inhibitions to let Theo take her onto the dance floor.

At first Emma was shy, dancing, but not really getting into it. She was surprised by how good a dancer Theo was. The big Samoan moved with a fluid grace that belied his size. A benefit of dancing with him was that he easily cleared a space for them to move in without constantly bumping into the others on the dance floor. One song melted into another and the beats were so similar that it was hard to tell where one ended and the next began.

The heavy bass thudded through Emma's slender body, vibrating her diaphragm and it took control of her movements. She relaxed and let the music take her and soon she wasn't worried about whether anyone around her was watching and if she would look foolish. She just danced. There were people looking at her, of course, mainly guys admiring the way she moved her subtle curves, dancing close to Theo and then backing off again. Certainly some of them thought the lithe girl looked odd with the giant boy with the buzz cut, though no one would have told him that. As she became more comfortable, Emma put more sex into her moves, dancing close to Theo and rubbing against him, then backing off and running her hands up and down her body, pausing as they passed over her breasts and thighs. She danced low, but not too low, aware that her skirt would let anyone see her panties. When she came in close to Theo, he grabbed her by her ass and ground her against him. While Emma rubbed her crotch into his thigh she could feel his hard cock press into her stomach and knowing she was affecting him excited her. She remembered how amazing it felt when Theo went down on her and she wondered if there would be the chance to do it again before she left, though she was frightened of taking such a large lover, if he wanted more. The physical power Theo exuded was such a turn on. It was like he could just throw her over his shoulder and carry her off to do with her what he would, but he'd been so tender with her before that she knew she wouldn't have to fear him. By the time they decided to take a break they were both sweating and needing another drink.

Emma found Cam and Brady talking to a tall, thin blonde who was barely wearing a halter top and a very low pair of skintight hip huggers and even though she couldn't hear what was being said body language made it clear that the blonde was flirting heavily with Cam. Though she had no right, Emma could not suppress a pang of jealousy. If she was free to do as she wished, with whomever she wished, it meant Cam was free to do the same—whether she liked it or not. She turned a critical eye on the interloper, deciding the girl was too skinny and her breasts were tiny. Brady beamed when he spotted Emma and ordered her another drink while Theo chugged a beer and then went off after shouting something about finding the bathroom.

Brady put an arm around her waist and Emma leaned into him, but warned, "I probably feel gross and sweaty."

"I like it when you're hot and sweaty," Brady said slyly.

Emma felt that the blonde, who Cam introduced as Iris, was hanging all over him, so she responded by hanging on Brady, putting a hand idly on his chest and letting her thumb brush his nipple ring through his tight plaid shirt.

Cam leaned over and shouted, "Iris wants to dance. I'll be back, okay guys?"

"Take your time," Brady answered.

Iris pulled Cam out to the dance floor. Brady noticed Emma fidgeting with her belly ring and asked if it was bothering her.

"It's just sore, but I know that's to be expected." Actually, rubbing against Theo on the dance floor had really inflamed it.

"We don't want that ruining your last night here," Brady said, digging in the pocket of his baggy cords for a small tin, but it did not hold mints. Instead it contained pills of different shapes and colors. Brady held out two small white pills that could have been aspirin.

"What are they?" she asked suspiciously. Brady was a walking pharmacy and who knew what he was trying to give her.

"They're just a simple pain killer." When Emma did not take the pills he added, "I swear. Come on, you must trust me by now."

After her experiences of the past few days she knew it was crazy to trust Brady—he was into risks she just didn't usually take—but nothing he'd given her had actually hurt her. She took the pills and washed them down with her bay breeze. She located Cam and Iris on the dance floor and as she watched them Brady put his arms around her from behind.

Iris was acting like a total slut, in Emma's opinion. She was all over Cam, slinking down to the floor so her face was pressed right into his crotch and then she slithered back up his body to hang on him. Of course Cam appeared to be enjoying every second of it.

As if he could read her mind, Brady said, "Don't even think about Iris, you're way sexier than she could ever be." His cock pressing into her from behind told Emma he wasn't lying.

When Emma turned back to answer him, Brady kissed her and she let his tongue into her mouth briefly. When she could speak, Emma said, "Oh, I don't care what she does."

Brady gave her a skeptical look and said, "Not even a little?"

"Well..." She said drawing it out, then smiled and told the dark haired boy, "Maybe I just want you guys to myself."

Rubbing his cock into her, Brady answered, "You have my full attention."

Emma broke out of his arms and took Brady's hand. "Come on," she said, "let's show them how to really dance."

"I'm not that much of a dancer," Brady protested even as she was pulling him to the dance floor.

"I'm sure you'll catch on."

Setting up right next to Iris and Cam, Emma put her hands on Brady's hips as she found the rhythm and moved her body. Already warmed up she went right into her sexy moves this time. She danced just out of Brady's reach and cupped both her breasts as she swished her hips and closed her eyes. Even through her bra and top Emma could feel her excited nipples plainly and knew Brady would be able to see them even in the low, blue tinged lighting. Out of the corner of her eye Emma could see Iris rubbing against Cam, and Emma did the same to Brady, blatantly grinding into his cock as she put both hands on his chest and teased his nipple ring. Brady's cock twitched against her and he put his hands on her exposed lower back. As she danced Emma could feel her low riding skirt slip and she realized that her panties were peeking out from beneath, but she did not stop to adjust. Her competition with Iris was causing her to dance in a way she never would have in public. Both Brady and Cam were having the time of their lives as the girls tried to outdo each other.

Emma was running her hands through her hair and gyrating her hips when a pair of hands grabbed her from behind and she felt a man press into her. Before she could react she felt hot breath close to her ear and then KC whispering, "You look so fucking hot dancing out here, Em." He held her in place and ground into her from behind while she pushed back into him. He put one hand on her right above her pussy; close enough for her to feel pressure there when he pressed her back against him even harder. Emma felt a rush and her pussy throbbed and she felt just as sexy as KC told her she looked. Just like the other guys rubbing against her, KC was hard as rock and Emma reflected she been ground into more guys tonight in such a short time then she'd ever felt before in all her twenty-some years. As she freely pressed against KC, he moved his hands up her sides and cupped both her breasts, fingers teasingly brushing her nipples. Emma moaned, but moved his hands back to her hips. However, just as soon as she reached back to grab his hips, KC moved his hands right back up and Emma was slower to move them this time. Emma realized that KC was also dancing her forward and before she realized it she was pressed into a sandwich between KC and Brady.

Keeping one hand behind her, Emma reached forward and put a hand on Brady's hip as well and she could feel both boys grinding their cocks into her. It felt dirty and sexy and she was in heaven. She definitely had Iris beat and she could see the skinny blonde eyeing her enviously. Both boys took advantage of Emma's helpless position, rubbing their cocks all over her while Brady's chest moved against her sensitive nipples. KC kissed the back of her neck and Brady leaned down and kissed her lips. Emma was really hot and as she closed her eyes she could imagine both boys ripping her clothes off and having their way with her. Brady's kiss left her breathless and Emma pushed him away while turning to face KC. He pulled her right up against him and put both hands right on her ass. Emma grinded against him before moving his hands to her back and gave him her best seductive look. Surreptitiously, she slipped a hand between them and grasped his cock through his shorts, giving the hard member a firm squeeze.

"You are so bad," Emma said, straining to be heard over the music.

"Yeah, but I know you want to be just as bad," KC laughed, moving his hands back to her ass and even inching her skirt up. The garment didn't have far to go and Emma's ass was almost exposed before she moved his hands again.

"Sometimes, but I have my limits too. I don't usually let guys paw me on the dance floor." Not that she was usually on the dance floor. She thought KC would probably fuck her right there in plain view of everyone if she'd let him and the thought excited and terrified her at the same time.

"I'm sure you've been doing a lot of things you don't usually do," KC replied, one hand sliding over her breast while the other one went back to her ass. With Emma's attention split she did nothing and just let the handsome boy grope her. She could not lie—it felt damn good.

"True," was all she said and she gave his cock another squeeze. She loved knowing how badly KC wanted her, but that he couldn't have her, at least not that second.

"I just wanted to let you know that you're pure sex tonight." KC gave her a little push with both hands on her ass, propelling her to Brady, who happily accepted the girl back. She danced with Brady for a couple more songs, but then she needed a break.

Back at the bar, Emma ordered a water and swallowed it in about two seconds. Brady pulled her to him and gave her a passionate kiss she couldn't help but return. She could only imagine what any observer might think seeing her kissing and clinging to a different guy every few minutes. Ah, the freedom of vacation, she thought. Emma decided she needed to collect her thoughts and excused herself to the little girls' room.

Emma was at the sink washing up and splashing some water on her face when she saw Mia come into the bathroom behind her. "Hey Mia," she called out.

"Oh, hi Emma. It's great to see you again," Mia said, smiling. She came over and gave Emma a hug. "Are you still enjoying your vacation?"

"Oh, yeah, I've been having fun," Emma said, and had to laugh.

"I can imagine. The other night was a lot of fun," Mia said.

Emma was suddenly aware of how close Mia was. There were other women coming in and out of the bathroom, but no one seemed to take notice of the two of them. Emma finished with her makeup and moved to the side, before one of the other women waiting for the mirror pushed her aside. Mirror space was at a premium. Mia joined her in the corner by the air dryer.

"It was great time, but it was a little more fun than I am used to having." It took Emma a second, but she realized Mia was not just looking at her like another friend. She looked at Emma hungrily. The tall blonde was sexy in a backless halter that was barely more than a scrap of fabric held in place over her breasts by a few strings across her back and a low, tight pair of black hip huggers. Plenty of Mia's tanned flesh was on display and Emma responded to the blonde's sexual energy.

"It did get intense, especially right there at the end. It would have been better if KC wasn't there." Mia reached out and stroked Emma's hair.

"I think so too. I never did anything like that before." Emma had trouble finding her voice.

A girl leaving the bathroom bumped into Mia and she was pushed against Emma, who was in turn pushed against the wall.

"I don't do it all the time—it's not like I am a big lesbo or anything—but I do like it," Mia replied. Her breasts were brushing Emma's. "Did you?"

"Yes," Emma admitted and her heart was pounding because she knew Mia was about to kiss her again right in the bathroom full of other women.

Mia did kiss her, and Emma did not resist at all, but opened her mouth welcomingly and put an arm around the other woman to pull her closer. Kissing a woman was just as wonderful as she remembered and it opened the floodgates in Emma's pussy once again. The brunette was pressed against the wall as she made out with Mia, their tongues dueling in a passionate battle. When Mia finally stopped kissing her Emma thought she might pass out from the head rush.

"I'm here with a date so I'd better get back, but I hope I see you again before we leave tonight," Mia said, and gave Emma another peck.

Emma's need crawled over her body like an army of ants. If she didn't get some relief soon she thought she might scream. It was crazy how she'd never even had an orgasm before coming out here to California, and now she felt as if she was addicted to them. Emma was always horny, and sex was never far from her thoughts. She gave her makeup a last check and went to find the guys.

KC was the lucky guy. She ran into him, literally, as she came out of the ladies room. He was standing right outside the door and she walked right into him.

"Hey, what were you waiting there for me?" she asked.

"Something like that. I just came out of the bathroom when the women's room door swung open and I caught a view of you and Mia in there. You guys should have taken it into a stall," KC said.

"We weren't doing anything," Emma replied defensively.

"I saw something different."

Emma went to move past him, but KC had a restraining hand on her waist. She was uncomfortable being so close to him because it only reminded her of how horny she was. "I don't know what you think you saw. We were talking."

"I saw this," KC answered and pulled her into a hot kiss. KC kissed like he fucked, intense and forceful, and Emma was swept right up by it. Feeling the barbell in his tongue felt weird when kissing him and she wasn't sure she liked it, even if it did feel good in her pussy. KC's hands were all over her and Emma just let him maul her right outside of the bathrooms while dozens of people passed by. Emma's panties were soaked and even her thighs were damp. She was ready for anything. KC broke their kiss, but did not let her go.

"Okay, you might have seen something," Emma stammered, "but it was just a kiss."

"Yeah, like that was just a kiss." KC pulled her away with him and she let him lead.

He took her right out the front door of the club and around the side of the building. The back corner of the building was barely lit and KC pressed her against the rough stucco wall and kissed her again, groping her breasts. Emma's nipples burned to be touched and sucked and she even helped him pull the spaghetti straps off her shoulders and peel her top down. He pinched and rolled her nipples through her lavender bra and Emma moaned, pushing into his hands. She grabbed madly for his cock and pushed a hand into his shorts. KC pulled her bra out of the way and sucked a nipple greedily into his mouth, nibbling the tender nubbin.

"Ohh...yesss..." Emma moaned, gripping his hard cock. The ball on his tongue piercing bouncing against her nipple, tapping out a tattoo of pleasure that made Emma sure she was going to let KC fuck her again. He pulled her skirt up far enough to get a hand on her pussy and squeeze it. Even biting her lip, Emma couldn't suppress her cries as KC squeezed and rubbed her pussy. When he teased her clit, Emma's whole body jerked and it felt like her legs were going to give out.

"You're so fucking wet, I don't believe it," KC groaned into her ear as she worked his cock with her hand. "I've got to fuck you, Em." She could only respond by squeezing his cock harder and trying to pull it out of his shorts. He hiked her skirt higher and pulled her panties down until they tangled in the heels of her boots and she almost fell over kicking them off. KC has his cock out and was pushing it toward her, but she stopped him.

"Wait," she gasped, fumbling for a condom from her pocket.

"What is it?" he asked, a note of frustration in his voice. His lust for her was clouding his reason.

"Put this on," she said, pressing the wrapped condom into his hand.

"Oh, come on, you didn't make me wear one before," he whined.

"But I should have. I want you, but you have to wear it." God, why was he making her wait? She wanted to scream, Just put it on and stop being a baby, but didn't. She was afraid if he really knew how much she wanted him he would know she probably would have let him fuck her without the condom anyway.

Thankfully, KC pouted, but he put the condom on anyway. With that out of the way, Emma held her skirt around her waist while he lifted her off her feet. She grabbed his cock and lined it up with her pussy and he sank her down on it.

"Fuck that feels good, Em," KC moaned, holding her by the ass as she hooked her boot heels behind his back. She used her powerful muscles to squeeze him inside her and milk his cock.

"God, fuck me," Emma moaned, leaning into the wall behind her and urging her hips forward. In that position it was all KC, but the strong blonde hunk had no trouble at all lifting the petite girl up and down on his cock, piercing her deeply and then pulling out and leaving her empty, only to fill her again. KC pumped with his hips and pulled her up and down and he fucked her hard as he could. She could feel the wall scrapping her back, but she didn't care, she just wanted KC to do what he did best. Over the sounds spilling out of the club she could hear her pussy wetly drawing him in and felt her orgasm speeding toward her. It seemed to be getting easier for her to cum. Her climax sped toward her after just a couple minutes of KC's intense fucking. She clung to him for dear life as he drilled into her, the cool night air chilling the sweat coating her skin.

"Yeah...fuck yeah...oh fuck Emm..." KC grunted, sounding like something out of a bad dirty movie.

"Mmm...ohhh...ohhh...mmm...ohhh...yyyeeaa..." Emma joined in the chorus, but got quiet when she came, face screwed up like she was concentrating hard. She tensed up and held KC so tightly she nearly squeezed the breath out of him.

KC turned Emma from the wall behind her and sat her on the hood of an SUV that was parked behind him. Her legs hung limply as he kept fucking her on the hood of some anonymous person's car. The momentum of Emma's first orgasm carried her right toward her second one and when the initial intensity passed she was once again pressing her hips at him, pushing that big, filling cock inside her. She held onto him and felt that hard, strong chest pressed into her.

Pulling out only long enough to turn her over, KC shoved his cock back into Emma when she was face down on the hood of a car. Her boots made her tall enough to bend at the waist instead of just laying on the hood. She put her palms down flat and pushed back into the invading cock. He felt so much deeper fucking her from behind. She could feel his balls slapping into the backs of her thighs. Her nipples dragged across the cool car hood sending chills down her spine, which intensified the firestorm in her pussy. On the far side of the parking lot a small group of guys noticed them fucking and stopped to look for a minute. Emma didn't even break stride, wondering at what a sight she was with her tits hanging out of her bra and her skirt around her waist while some guy bent her over the hood of a car. Knowing she had an audience really did it for Emma and she was cumming once again, even more strongly than the first time. Her pussy clamped down on KC, willing him to cum with her.

"Fuuuuccckkk..." The boy behind her groaned his cock expanding and then emptying its load into the condom. KC pulled his slick cock out and her pussy left a wet spot on the white hood of the car beneath her. Emma was still shivering, feeling the after effects of her orgasm. She stayed bent over the hood until her breathing was under control.

"Oh my God," she breathed, leaning back against the hood of the SUV as she pulled her clothing back into place. If KC could give performances like that, she thought, he should hire himself out.

"It's always nice to hear a chick say that," KC said, smug as usual.

Emma was disgusted when she saw KC just throw the used condom on the ground as she bent over to pick up her panties. After checking to make sure they weren't dirty from the ground she pulled them back on. "We'd better go back inside," she said. "I could really use a drink." Getting fucked had become that casual for her. She came, fixed her clothes, and was ready to keep partying.

The club was stifling inside. It didn't help that she was hot and sweaty from fucking KC in the parking lot. She made her way to the first bar and immediately ordered a fresh drink. She managed to lose KC in the crowd and she was glad for that. She just wanted to find the other guys. She tried to pay for her drink, but a tall, handsome man with Mediterranean features wouldn't let her. After he paid for her drink, Emma felt obliged to stand there and talk to him, even though she could only hear every third word or so over the music. He was very aggressive, touching her arm right off the bat and standing so close that Emma felt uncomfortable. She wondered if she had that freshly fucked look and he thought he could get lucky too. Or maybe, she thought, he could have been one of the guys who actually saw her fucking KC in the parking lot. In either case, this guy was not going to get lucky tonight, at least not with her. She was trying to think of an out when she was saved by the most unexpected person.

"Sis, is that you?" Becca sounded incredulous.

Emma turned from her would-be paramour and said, "Becca?"

"I thought that looked like you, but..." Emma's sister gave her a once over that suggested she could not quite believe what she was seeing.

"It's me."

Emma's first thought was that she should not be out dressed like that and she needed to cover up. Just seeing her sister, she reflexively reverted back to her old self—the girl who's fear of being judged kept her from living her life. It was only when she fought that reaction back that Emma realized that her transformation must be complete. She should be proud that her sister was shocked by her appearance.

"You look...great. What are you doing here? I got your message and I've been trying to call you, but your phone keeps going to voicemail. I just assumed you went back home." Becca would not have called their mother to check on her. The two women were not on the best of terms.

"I came out with some friends. I could ask you the same thing. I thought you were in Central America or something working."

"Oh, yeah. A big tropical storm was coming in so we had to scrub the rest of the shoot. We were lucky to get the last flight out." Becca changed the subject back. "Since when you do have friends here?"

"I met some guys and we've been hanging out."

Becca slowly trailed her eyes up and down her sister once again. "Some guys, right. We should talk."

They took their drinks and Becca led the way out to a deck that Emma hadn't realized was there. It was slightly quieter outside and the girls could talk. Becca complimented Emma on her sexy new look and Emma thanked her. Becca was not dressed much differently. The taller girl wore a tight, sparkly miniskirt and a tight top that dipped in the front to showcase shallow cleavage that Emma knew was the product of a helpful bra. Becca was taller—and she always thought prettier—but no one could deny that Emma had the nicer chest of the two sisters. Becca was classically beautiful, which a deft touch with makeup only highlighted. Despite their differences, one could tell they were sisters at a glance. Emma usually felt mousey when standing beside her sister, but not anymore. She was proud that the new Emma could hold her own beside her tall, pretty sister.

“There’s something different about you,” Becca said tentatively. “It’s not just the clothes. You’re positively glowing.”

Emma knew it was because she had just been out having sex with KC in the parking lot, but did not think her sister would guess that, despite her mussed hair and flushed complexion. That was not something the sister Becca knew would ever do. But that Emma would never be caught dead in public so scantily clad either.

“I just have a new perspective on things. It’s time to stop living life on the sidelines,” Emma announced.

“I’m glad to hear it. I was afraid you’d be a wreck after what happened with Rob. No offense.”

“None taken. And I was, but then my eyes were opened.”

“By your new friends?”

“You could say that. They’ve shown me that I don’t always have to live by the rules—other peoples’ rules, I should say.”

“And I’m guessing your new friends are responsible for your new look, too.” Becca noticed Emma’s belly piercing for the first time and touched it lightly. “That’s hot,” she commented. Becca’s own belly button was pierced, as well as both her nipples. When she’d seen the pictures, Emma couldn’t even begin to contemplate how it must have hurt.

“Cam picked some something out for me.” Emma straightened her back defiantly. Her sister’s attitude was written all over her face. Some guys had taken advantage of poor, vulnerable Emma. It was like Becca did not allow for Emma’s free will.

“Cam Wright?”

“I think so.” Emma was embarrassed to realized she did not even know Cam’s last name—nor any of the other guys. It just hadn’t come up.

“Big, handsome hunk? Works down at the surf shop?”

“That’s him.” Emma smiled, thinking about how many times she’d had that big hunk. Cam obviously had his pick of the girls, and he’d chosen her. “You know him?”

Becca gave a knowing smile. “Yeah, I’ve partied with him and his housemates before. They’re a tight group. And they can party pretty wild.”

“You can say that again.”

“So you’ve been hanging out with those guys all this time?”

Emma nodded. “They offered me a place to stay.”

“I’m sure they did.”

“What does that mean?”

“They’re nice guys, I guess. It’s just I know how they are. I’m sure they were tripping all over themselves to help a lost, pretty girl like you from out of town.”

“They haven’t taken advantage of me, if that’s what you’re implying,” Emma sniffed.

“I’m not saying you can’t take care of yourself. You’re a smart girl, Emma, but you have to admit you’re probably not in the best place right now. And you’re not exactly the most worldly person...”

“The boys haven’t gotten me to do anything I didn’t want to.” Emma put her hands on her hips. “And I wore this out tonight because I know I look good in it. I’m a twenty-four year old woman, not the girl who was still in high school when you left. I know how to handle myself. I know what’s right for me.”

“Calm down, sis. No one is saying you’re not a woman, or that you can’t make decisions for yourself. I just wanted to be sure those guys haven’t convinced you to do anything you’ll regret. I love you, Emma. I just want you to be happy.”

“I’m very happy,” Emma insisted.

“Glad to hear it.” Becca embraced her sister. “Personally, I’ve always thought you needed to cut loose. It’s not healthy to be so uptight.”

Emma laughed. “I don’t think anyone would call me uptight anymore. Not after this week.”

“Really? I want all the gory details.”

“That might not be a great idea,” Emma warned.

“I know those guys, and I know how they like to party. I don’t think I’ll be shocked.”

Don't be so sure, Emma thought. She didn't know if she was ready to confess everything she'd been up to, not to her sister. She was excited to dish about how she got a hot guy like Cam and how amazing the sex was, but she did not know if her sister was ready to hear about her threesomes, or how she'd let a virtual stranger—a drug dealer—take her in the back of a dirty tattoo parlor. Emma was spared from deciding which parts of her story to share by the arrival of Brady and Theo.

"There you are," Brady said. "I started to think you'd left."

"I wouldn't go anywhere without you guys," Emma replied.

"Hey boys. I hear you've been taking good care of my sister," Becca said, injecting herself into the conversation. Emma was secretly proud that neither of the guys noticed her hot sister was standing with her. She was used to being the ignored one.

"Hey, Becca," Theo said, tossing her a smile. He didn't register what she'd just said, but Brady did.

"Your sister? You mean..."

"Yup, Em here is my baby sister. She's been telling me all about the fun she's been having with you guys."

Emma watched the blood drain from Brady's face as he took Becca's words literally. He did not know Emma well enough to know she wouldn't have shared everything, at least not yet. She was still deciding how she felt about everything. She let him squirm for another moment before sliding an arm around him and pressing to his side. "Don't worry, I didn't tell her everything yet." When she saw him relax, she added, "There wasn't time."

"I guess being hot runs in the family," Theo said, always the flatterer.

Becca seemed to check out her sister as she said, "Apparently it does. You boys gave Em quite the makeover."

"We can't take credit for that. It's all Emma. She's just a hottie," Brady said.

"Stop it, you guys. I'm just like any other girl." Emma secretly loved the flattery.

"Why don't you come out with me and show the other girls how to dance?" Theo suggested.

"I really need a break," Emma protested, still weak kneed from her session with KC.

"Nah, you just need to dance more." Theo laughed and practically carried her onto the dance floor, leaving Brady with her sister.

Theo turned out to be right because as soon as she started dancing she forgot how worn out she felt and just had a good time. She was dancing just as teasingly as before—if not more so—emboldened by her encounter with KC in the parking lot. Emma loved knowing she was the kind of girl who would sneak off to the parking lot for a quickie and she tried to put how sexy she felt into her dancing. She felt like if she could let KC bend her over a hood out in plain sight she could get as crazy as she wanted to on the dance floor. And while part of her was still mortified that her sister would find out what she'd done, the other part wanted to brag about how crazy she could be. Emma knew once she spent more time with her sister she would probably spill everything. She was bumping and grinding Theo and touching herself until she was completely worked up all over again. It was as if her sex with KC hadn't slaked her desire at all. When Theo said he needed a break Emma surprised both of them by staying out there to dance by herself.

Emma wasn't dancing alone for long. One after another, guys would move into her orbit and Emma would dance with them, enjoying the way their eyes bulged out when she'd run her hands over her breasts or she'd sink low as she danced toward them. She let one guy grind into her from behind, but she kept moving his hands when he tried for a cheap feel. Another guy did manage to palm her ass a few times, but Emma didn't mind as he was such a good dancer. Emma was sexually super charged when she left the dance floor to find the guys.

All of the guys—except KC—were near the back bar, and her sister was right in the middle. Emma was dismayed to see that Iris was still hanging around with Cam, who seemed to welcome her attention. A devilish smile crossed Emma's lips and she walked right up to Cam and, put her arms around his neck and planted a kiss right on his lips. Cam held her and kissed her back. She could only imagine what Becca thought of that.

"Hi," Emma said.

"Hi yourself. Where have you been hanging out?" Cam said, his arm still around her.

"Oh, I was just doing some dancing. I wish you'd come out there."

"The night's not over yet, maybe I will still get my chance."

"I'd like that," Emma said, giving Cam another kiss and going to the bar to order a drink. If she was not mistaken, that was jealousy she saw in her sister's eyes.

Emma did drag Cam out onto the dance floor—after a huffy Iris made her exit. The girl just could not compete. Becca followed, pulling Brady out with her. Side-by-side, the sisters danced with their partners, each trying to out-sex the other. When Emma went down low, Becca went lower, unconcerned that everyone could see the tiny black thong that barely concealed her sex. Emma let Cam's hands freely roam her ass while they moved, but only allowed his hands to graze her breasts—which was teasing enough in her hyper aroused state. Becca happily let Brady touch her wherever he wanted, and he mashed her tits in his hands when she leaned back and worked her ass against his hard on. Emma couldn't help her emerald flash of jealousy—she felt possessive of her boys, but she was secure in the knowledge that she could tear Brady away from her sister at any time. By the time they left the dance floor Emma desperately needed to be fucked again and was ready to get out of there.

"We can keep the party going back at the house," Theo said.

"You gonna tag along?" Cam asked Becca.

"I wouldn't miss it for the world," she answered.

That was just what her sister was doing, tagging along to Emma's party. It was nice feeling on top for a change.

They rounded up KC, who was busy making out with a redhead in a corner and headed back to the house. If the truck had been crowded before, it was absolutely packed with Becca along for the ride. She jumped right into Cam's lap so Emma happy planted herself in Brady's lap, happy to give her sister a taste of what she planned to enjoy later. Emma was flirty with Brady for the whole ride home, touching the dark haired boy and letting him freely touch her. She could feel his hard on against her ass for the entire ride. Becca squirmed her narrow butt in Cam's lap and share tales from her latest shoot. Her arm was around Cam's broad shoulders, and his hand conveniently rested right over her breast. Emma cattily thought that most of what he felt was padding. Brady was touching the real thing. And if all went right, we would be doing more than just touching when they got back to the house. It was Emma's last night with the boys and she didn't want to hold anything back. Not even her sister's presence was going to hold her back.

Brady fired up the stereo while KC fixed some drinks and Becca went off to freshen herself up. She tried to catch Emma's eye and have her come along, but Emma followed Cam upstairs and got him alone in his bedroom.

Throwing her arms around Cam and kissing him, Emma said, "Finally I have you all to myself."

"You can have me anytime you want me," Cam told her, cradling her ass and kissing her back.

"What about my sister? You looked awfully cozy in the car."

"Your sister is a nice girl. Very pretty. But not really my type."

"And what is your type?" Emma hung onto him.

"I think you can guess."

"So you and my sister have never..."

Cam's lips creased in a slight smile. "I can't say nothing ever happened. You know, people are hanging out, having a few drinks, things happen... But things never went all the way. She just doesn't get me going the way you do."

"That's what a girl likes to hear." She had to wonder what things happened, but could not bring herself to ask. If Cam had been with both sisters, he had to be comparing them, didn't he? Emma would have never thought she stacked up to Becca before—her sister had a lot more experience—but now she was sure she could give Becca a run for her money.

"So I guess this is for me?" Emma asked, rubbing his rigid shaft through his shorts.

"When you kiss me like that you shouldn't even have to ask," Cam said, and gave her another one of his trademark heart-thumping, toe curling kisses. She lost herself in that kiss and would have been happy to let it go on all night long. Cam was caressing her in all the right places and she wanted to pull her clothes off so he could touch her naked skin. She reached into his shorts. His cock was scalding hot to her touch, like a branding iron and she started to pull it out, but the blonde hunk stopped her. "Come on, we should go back downstairs."

"But I want to stay up here," Emma insisted, still gripping his cock.

"I don't think the other guys would forgive me if I monopolized all your time on your last night here." Cam cupped her breast, teasing her nipple with his thumb. She gripped his cock tighter, but Cam did finally take her hand out of his shorts. "Come on, let's go down. I promise you will have my undivided attention before the night's over."

The stereo was bumping downstairs and the Xbox was running, with Theo and Brady facing off against each other in a fighting game. KC commanded Becca's attention now and they were sitting together in the loveseat deep in conversation.

"Hey guys, what's up?" Emma asked. She let go of Cam's hand and sat between Brady and Theo on the couch.

"Theo is kicking my ass is what's going on," Brady said, his fingers flying over the controls and his eyes never leaving the TV.

"That's because you smoke too much pot, man. Your reaction time is shit." Theo whooped as his character on screen knocked Brady's flat on his back and the round ended.

"No, Brady just needs the proper inspiration," Emma said. She leaned over and kissed Brady on the cheek while suggestively putting her hand on his thigh. "Be my hero and win it for me, Brady." He looked over at her and smiled as her hand moved upward on his thigh.

"We'll have no favoritism here," Theo said.

Emma turned to Theo and put a hand on his thigh too and said, "Oh, of course not. You can be my hero too." She also gifted him with a kiss.

Cam returned from the kitchen and handed her a glass of water and then leaned against the wall watching everyone with amusement.

"But you can't root for us both. That's crazy," Brady complained as the next round of the videogame started.

"I'm rooting for the one who wins."

Theo laughed as his character delivered a savage uppercut to Brady's. "Then I guess you really are rooting for me."

"You should make it more interesting," KC said, chiming in from the loveseat. One arm was around Becca while he was working a hand under her top. She was giggling—not trying to stop him.

"I'm not some kind of trophy, if that's what you're suggesting," Emma said.

"You can give the winner some kind of reward. It'll be fun," KC suggested.

"Yeah, it's just some harmless fun," Cam agreed.

"You could give the winner a kiss," Becca contributed. "I'm sure either of them would like that."

Emma thought it was funny her sister was pimping out her kisses. Becca could not guess that anything she did with the boys was not going to end with just kissing. "Okay, that's a good idea. A kiss for the winner," she declared.

"Oh yeah," Theo said.

Emma was happy to kiss either one of the boys, but she did not want to see Brady get his ass kicked, so she tried to even things out. She kept a hand on each guy's thigh, but she reached higher on Theo, trying to distract him. She did not have to reach very high to find the enormous cock lying along the right side of his shorts. Her fingers brushed his cockhead and it twitched so she kept touching it and although she really didn't know anything about the game the boys were playing, she could tell that Brady's character did seem to be landing more blows. Her right hand also brushed against Brady's cock and she felt he was very hard too. She was so horny that she had lots of ideas for the hard cocks in the room. She thought back to her first night in the house and how she'd been fucked by both Cam and KC and while it was something she hadn't thought she'd ever do again, now the idea had some appeal. She loved thought of licking Theo's massive cock while Brady was licking her down below. Then she thought about sucking on Brady while she slowly rode Cam's cock. It wasn't something she would initiate, but if the boys made the first move...

Even with Emma providing an excellent distraction Theo still easily beat Brady and he jumped off the couch and did a victory dance as the final score flashed on the screen. "Who's the master? Who's the champion?" Theo taunted, dancing around the living room. Cam and KC gave him a high-five, though KC had to take a hand out of Becca's shirt to do it. Theo came back over to the couch, Emma thought to collect his kiss, but instead he scooped her up and threw her over his shoulder.

"Hey! What are you doing?" Emma protested, knowing that everyone could see her ass in that position.

"Taking you upstairs!" Theo roared victoriously.

"For a kiss?" Her heart was pounding.

"You didn't say where I could kiss you. But we can do it here in front of everyone if you want."

Emma did not say another word as Theo carried her up the stairs.

Theo didn't stop until they were in his room, where he tossed her onto his bed. Emma was breathless and her hair was disheveled as she looked up at Theo. The way he just picked her up and carried her off made her want him so badly. She loved a man who was a man. Emma planned on giving him the blowjob of his life.

She got to her knees on the bed and pulled her top off, then removed her bra. Emma looked up at Theo and caressed her breasts—paying special attention to her nipples, and took one of his big hands and put it on her breast. She was still amazed at how gently he touched her for how big a guy he was. Emma decided that the "gentle giant" type was very attractive. While he was touching her, Emma pushed his shorts and boxers down and ran her hands along his giant cock.

His heavy balls filled her hand and she stroked Theo's shaft until the sticky nectar dripped from the head. It lubricated her hand and she stroked him harder while she planted kisses all over the head. She turned from kissing to licking, then licking turned to sucking and she stretched her lips around his plum-sized head. Her mouth was stretched so wide it almost hurt, but Emma didn't pay any attention to that. Instead, she concentrated on giving Theo head and she pressed further and further down on his cock. Emma couldn't even take half his cock in her mouth, but she made the most of what she had.

"Uhg...Emma..." Theo moaned, running his fingers through her hair. To his credit, he did not try to force his cock further into her mouth, but was content with the excellent job she was doing sucking and stroking him. She was massaging his sac and jerking her hands up and down his thick shaft. Her head moved slowly, but she sucked him hard. She looked up, met his eyes and she knew she had him. She knew she could make him cum whenever she wanted, so Emma flicked her tongue on the underside of his cock as she sucked him and she saw his body tense up and in seconds he started filling her mouth with thick, sticky cum. Emma swallowed and swallowed and still cum bubbled from between her lips and ran down her chin. She thought he was going to shoot a gallon of cum down her throat, but finally he gave a last couple spurts and was done.

Theo was done cumming, but he wasn't done with Emma. He pushed her onto her back and unzipped her skirt, pulling it down with her panties. Emma felt sexy being naked except for her high black boots. He planted his meaty hands on her thighs and pressed them apart. Emma's lips were red and swollen and soaked and Theo dove right in.

"God," Emma moaned, feeling Theo's tongue against her pussy. First he licked her up and down, nudging his tongue deeper and deeper into her pussy until he was practically fucking her with it. Emma gripped the headboard and pushed her pussy at Theo's mouth. She was already so turned on that as soon as his tongue touched her clit she was cumming.

"Ohh..." she cried. Theo circled her clit and slipped a thick finger into her pussy. Theo's hands were so big that his finger felt like a smaller man's cock would and she screwed herself onto that finger. Emma's first orgasm seemed to flow right into a second one and then Theo added another finger to her pussy.

"Mmmm," Emma moaned. The two fingers were a tight fit, but Theo took it slowly and soon his tongue had her so turned on that his fingers felt good in her and she was working her pussy on both his fingers. Being so filled and having her clit licked and sucked felt so incredibly good that Emma was swiftly working on a third orgasm. She was so turned on that she was ready to do anything Theo wanted and didn't even blink when he filled his glazed smile from her pussy and rolled onto his side to reach out for his top dresser drawer.

Theo pulled out a long strip of condoms and tore off the top one. The condom looked ridiculously small as he rolled it onto his cock and Emma was afraid it might tear. When he took her legs and put them over his shoulders she was suddenly afraid that she might tear.

"Take it easy," Emma breathed, feeling the head of his cock nudging against her.

Theo must have been used to that reaction from women because he was very gentle and he took it slow. It hurt at first, but Emma relaxed and let him keep going. It was silly, but she felt Theo deserved to fuck her because he was so sweet and she had already given herself to his friends. By the logic, she knew she would be fucking Brady before the night was over, too. If that happened, she will have screwed them all in one night. That sounded crazy!

He worked himself halfway into her and then started moving out again. Emma held her breath and as Theo slowly started stroking in and out of her she began really enjoying it. Nothing had ever been so filling. It was such an incredible feeling. KC and Cam were big, but they were nothing compared to Theo. It was unbelievable. Her pussy was gushing for him, she could hear it every time he pushed that monster tool back into her. Theo took her little ass in his hands and started to build momentum.

"Yesss...God..." Emma whimpered, the feelings building inside her so extreme that they were like nothing she'd ever felt before.

While Theo slid his cock into her he separated her ass cheeks and pressed his thumb to her ass. She was so wet her juices were running out of her pussy and there was plenty of lubrication for him to press his thumb into her ass. Emma gasped when she felt the uncomfortable pressure, but Theo's prior work on her ass had loosened her up and Emma's back door took his thumb easily. Her whimpers turned to throaty moans and Emma was clawing at the sheets. She was really stuffed now. She felt paralyzed by the pleasure buffeting her body. Her ass was sending throbbing shocks straight to her clit, which was constantly being rubbed by Theo's huge cock.

"Thhhhheeeooo..." Emma gasped, blinking rapidly as she tried to process everything she felt. Theo was truly transporting her to a place she'd never been, never even knew existed. Her orgasm came in waves and it almost carried her into unconsciousness. Emma was still as a statue and her pussy clamped so tight onto Theo's cock that he had no choice but to cum right with her. She was screaming and everyone downstairs had to hear. No music was loud enough to cover that.

"Ahhggg," Theo groaned, shaking uncontrollably as he came into the condom.

Emma was out of touch and wondered if she'd even blacked out for a moment. It was only the sound of applause that brought her back to the room. She looked around Theo's bulk and saw that all the guys were in the room watching the Samoan fuck her—except for KC, who must have been otherwise occupied with her sister. Theo pulled his cock out of her and moved away as Brady and Cam came up on either side of the bed. They lay beside Emma and began touching her naked body. Cam unzipped her boots and pulled them off while Brady caressed her breasts.

Brady was softly kissing one breast and Cam began kissing the other one while he gently massaged her sore pussy, which was quite swollen after Theo. As hard as Theo made her cum, it wasn't enough. As the other boys touched her, Emma's need continued to grow. Cam's hand on her pussy was so soothing and their sucking mouths on her breasts were heavenly. She held both their heads to keep their mouths in place and was moaning and wriggling from their attentions.

Emma was trembling and could not take the teasing any longer. "Fuck me," she begged, to neither of the boys in particular. She would have been perfectly happy to have either Cam or Brady inside her. Brady jumped up first though, moving between her legs. Cam handed him a condom and Brady slipped it on before pushing inside her. After Theo's monster, Brady's cock felt really nice and Emma moaned and whimpered with pleasure as he set into an easy rhythm plunging it inside her. Cam was still kissing and caressing her breasts and Emma thought this was exactly how it should be, enough mouths and hands and cocks to keep her happy, with her always as the center of attention. She raised her hips to meet Brady's and ran her fingers through Cam's hair and just let her orgasm wash over her when it came. She'd had so many tonight that when she came now it was like a warm, pleasant feeling, not the shattering, mind numbing experiences she'd had before.

The boys were surprisingly quiet while they enjoyed her. Emma would have thought there would be more high-fiving or bragging, but everyone just seemed laid back and out to enjoy themselves. Emma reached out and played with Brady's nipple ring while he fucked her and that had him cumming in about two minutes. With the condom wrapped around his cock the only sense she had that he'd finished was that his spent cock shriveled and slipped out of her. Emma knew it would be Cam's turn with her next and although she was getting very tired and sore she was looking forward to it. She didn't want Cam to be left out.

Cam took her as a lover, not just another guy enjoying her body. He kissed and caressed her as he drove his cock into her. Emma easily found his languid rhythm and matched it. Their bodies moved as one as they enjoyed each other. She looked up into Cam's eyes and the thing that passed between them confirmed the bond she shared with him. No, they weren't in love—or even dating—but what they shared wasn't like what she felt with the others. Cam would always been the man who revealed who she could truly be, if she was brave enough to step out on her own. When they climaxed, it was together, and the flash of pleasure left her completely spent.

Emma was already dozing when Cam lifted her from the bed and carried her to his room. She thought she heard a female cry out from downstairs and hoped Becca was having fun. She was in good hands with KC. Sleep came fast and hard, and Emma met it snuggly in Cam's arms.

“It sounded like you had quite a good time upstairs last night,” Becca said, sipping at a weapons-grade spicy bloody mary.

Emma had stuck with coffee, and was mixing cream into her second cup. They sat in a small café a couple blocks off the beach, which was also in walking distance from the guys’ house. She was not sure she was up to walking anywhere—Emma woke sore and hungover—but her sister swore the café was close, and that the exercise would do her good. After a shower long enough and hot enough to drain the hot water heater, Emma dressed in cut-offs and a tank top, and joined her sister. The handful of guys they passed on the sidewalk stared at both Becca’s walk of shame attire—the sparkly skirt from the night before was not casual wear—and the cute bounce of Emma’s breasts. Being braless in public was beginning to feel natural, and she just smiled at the attention.

“I did. I wanted to give the boys a proper goodbye since I have to fly back today,” Emma replied.

“Mission accomplished, from what I heard.”

“It was a fun night,” was all Emma would offer. She felt like her sister was fishing for details, but she was not prepared to tell Becca all the gory details. Sisters did not need to share everything. She doubted if she would be comfortable telling anyone about all of the things she had done while out there in California. Even her best friend would blanch if Emma told her about being molested in a tattoo parlor, or that she’d allowed KC to fuck her in such a public place. She was past being ashamed of her behavior, but that didn’t mean she had to tell anyone her business.

“Someday you’re going to have to tell me what happened on your little vacation.”

“Maybe someday. We’ll see.”

“Mom is going to be quite surprised when she sees you.”

“Yeah, maybe I’ll put that off. Or at least I’ll pull out my old wardrobe when I go to see her.”

“Your old wardrobe? So this isn’t just a sowing your wild oats thing? I thought this was just a fuck you to Rob and that you’d go back to normal when you went home.”

“What is normal?” Emma was peeved. It was just like Becca to underestimate her. “Normal can be whatever you want it to be. Besides, normal is boring. At least, my normal was boring.”

“Sis, you are a perfectly sweet girl. Why do you feel like you have to reinvent yourself? Vacation is a time to go a little crazy. When you go home, it’s time to settle down and resume your life.”

“Sweet is boring, too. People say you’re sweet like it’s a compliment, but what they really mean is that you’re predictable and easy to push around. Sweet girls follow the rules and do what’s expected. I spent the first twenty-four years of my life doing that. The time has come for me to make my own rules. I feel like I’ve been asleep until now. I never considered all the possibilities in front of me.”

“But you were happy, weren’t you?”

“I guess. But I think it was only because I had no idea what was going on out there. And I’d been taught too much was off limits. If all of the fun stuff is off limits, what’s the point of living?”

“That’s a little extreme,” Becca said skeptically.

“Okay, maybe. What I’m trying to say is that if I learned anything this week, it’s that there is a lot of life out there to be lived, and I can’t spend mine worrying about what people will think anymore. I couldn’t live like this all the time. I have to work and function, but I see there are possibilities now. Look at you, Becca. You’ve never been afraid of anything.”

“We’re different people, Em.” Becca was finished with her drink and looking for the waiter to bring another. The more Emma explained herself, the faster Becca drank.

“Yes, but I think I could learn a thing or two from you. Instead of sitting back and envying your freedom, I want to grab some of my own. It hasn’t worked out too badly for you.”

Becca smiled. “That’s true. But you have to be careful not to overdo it. I learned that lesson the hard way—and still had to learn it more than once.”

“I think I learned some of my limits this week.” It was Emma’s turn to smile. She told her sister the truth, the only caveat being that her limits were shockingly out there.

“I just want you to be happy, Em. If you think a change is what you need, then go for it. Trust your instincts. Just don’t let anyone push you too far.”

Emma thought about Julio and the things she’d done with him. It didn’t matter how good it felt—or how hard she climaxed—that was well past her boundaries. It was a memory she could revel in when she needed something particularly naughty to think about, but it was not something she needed to repeat.

“That’s good advice. Thanks, Becca.”

“I’m disappointed I’m not going to get to party with my baby sister more. Why do you have to go back today?”

“My boss is patient, but he’s not a saint. He told me to take some time off to get my head together, but I think if I’m not back in work on Monday I’m going to be looking for another job.”

Another job might not be a bad thing. It was going to be hard to go back to sitting in a cubicle analyzing reports for eight hours a day when what she really wanted was to be out in the sunshine looking at cute boys. But now that she thought about it, there were some cute boys at work. And they were single, too. In the past she would be upset if she caught one of them looking at her butt, or trying in vain to see down her blouse. Now she looked forward to it. They would have less trouble with that when she got back to work. Emma planned to spend the weekend shopping back at home. The boring wardrobe had to go. She would not be wearing halter tops and miniskirts to work, but a top with a neckline that scooped below her collarbone—and hung open when she leaned over—would not be a bad thing. She could wear a tight skirt to work that might not quite reach her knees. Somehow, she didn’t think she would receive any complaints.

“You’re just going to have to come back out here soon then,” Becca insisted.

“I can’t wait.” Emma smiled, thinking more about seeing her boys again than partying with her sister.

“Now where is that waiter?”

The girls returned to the house and Emma was disappointed to find all the guys hadn't stuck around to say goodbye. Only Brady and Cam remained. KC had gone to work and Theo was just gone. Emma liked to imagine he was too heartbroken to see her off, but he was probably just busy. Her impression was this had just been a normal week for these guys—it was only life changing for her. She wanted to think she had something special with Cam at least, but talking to her sister the night before only reinforced the impression that she was another in a long line of girls who the boys had entertained. Maybe it was different with Cam. She was sure there was a connection there.

Becca wanted to go along to the airport, but insisted she go home first to shower and change. She sat downstairs and chatted with Brady while Emma went upstairs to pack. With all her new clothes, she did not have enough room in her suitcase and made the big decision to leave behind a lot of her old wardrobe. Emma realized it was a way to leave her old self behind. She was going to be a different woman now, and it officially started there.

"Here, don't pack this. You should wear it on the plane," Cam said, picking one of her more revealing outfits. The low-rise denim skirt paired with the cream-colored crocheted tank top guaranteed she would be showing as much skin as possible while remaining fully dressed. It was probably the last time Cam would be choosing her outfit and she let him, knowing it was not exactly conducive to a long plane ride.

"You think this is appropriate?" she asked.

"Appropriate is all relative, isn't it? I think it depends on what your intentions are."

"And just what are your intentions?"

Emma took her time getting changed in front of him. The crochet would not allow her to go braless without flashing everyone, so she chose a lacy dark blue bra that would show plainly, and little pink panties since she had nothing that matched the bra. He couldn't take his eyes off of her, but did not touch. The flight was too soon. They did not have time for anything other than a quickie, and that would not satisfy her urges. When she was changed, she posed for Cam.

"What do you think?"

"Looks appropriate to me," he replied.

“You’d say that if I was standing here naked.”

“Nothing’s more appropriate than that.”

Cam grabbed her by the wrist and hauled her down onto his lap. Their kiss was hot, fueled by their pent up desire and the knowledge it could not be fully expressed. His tongue found her mouth and his hand found its way beneath her skirt. Her panties were quickly soaked through as he applied that luscious pressure to her mound. Her legs parted further by instinct. She felt like she could barely keep her legs together anymore. Emma wiggled her butt and felt him pressing into her, hard and thick, just like he always was when they fooled around. Eventually, she pried away from him. If she didn’t, she would demand he fucked her, even if it meant missing her flight.

Becca just smirked when she saw her sister’s flushed skin, and mussed hair—Emma had pulled it back into a ponytail, but it was still obvious what she’d been up to. Cam carried her suitcase down and then threw it into the back of Brady’s Jeep.

The interlude upstairs left Emma pressed for time, but Becca swore she could be in and out of her place in a flash. Cam and Emma rode in the back of the Jeep, Becca sat up front with Brady. Emma exercised every last bit of willpower and kept removing Cam’s hand from under her skirt. Becca’s attention was focused on Brady and she never looked into the backseat, but Emma just was not comfortable having Cam touch her like that while her sister was sitting two feet away. And yet, she wanted it so badly. Emma and Cam chose to sit in the Jeep while Brady followed Becca inside. He surely planned on helping her get changed.

Emma stared at the big, fluffy clouds hanging in the cobalt sky, and finally worked up the courage to ask Cam what had been on his mind all morning. She just couldn’t do it up in the bedroom. She hadn’t been ready to admit she was really leaving then. Packing was bad enough. “I’m almost gone. Miss me yet?” she asked. He had his arm around her and kept trying to grope her. She did not mind, but did want to have a serious talk.

“Of course I do. This week has been awesome,” he said, not giving up yet.

“That’s sweet, but I’m sure you’ll have some other little lost puppy following you home tomorrow.”

Cam stopped trying to molest her and met her eyes. “That’s not true and I don’t want you to think of yourself that way.”

“It’s just I know you just like to have fun and you meet lots of girls and I...” Her words trailed off. Now that she was saying all this, it felt like a mistake. She did not want to come across as clingy or a nuisance. Cam never led her on. It would hardly be right to come on like she wanted to be his girlfriend now. Besides, that was not what she wanted. She just did not want to feel like another notch in his bedpost.

“Stop it, Em. I’ll admit it. I like to party and have fun. I’m not looking for a commitment, but that doesn’t mean the girls in my life are just playthings. And anyway, you’re not like the other girls I meet around here.”

“Now that sounds like a line.”

“But it’s true. The party girls around here, they’re fun, don’t get me wrong, but they’re party girls. When I meet up with them, it’s to have a few drinks, have a good time. And they know it, too, and it’s what they want. Everyone’s cool with it. But I could tell you weren’t one of those girls the second I met you. You’re not just beautiful. You’re grounded and you’re real. And don’t lose that. I know you had a lot of fun here this week, but don’t become just another party girl.”

Emma was blushing heavily. No one had ever talked to her like that, not even her ex. It made her question if Rob ever really got her—or loved her—at all. “Don’t worry,” she told her. “I don’t think I could just go out and party every night and then hang out on the beach all day. I do have a real life back at home. Maybe parts of it aren’t so exciting, and I’m going to do something about that, but it is my life, and I like it.”

“Good. And you’re going to come back and visit soon, right?”

“If you want me to. I’d love that.”

“Em, you are welcome here anytime you want.”

Emma beamed and was ready to accept that affection Cam had been trying to press on her. She grabbed his thick hair and pulled him into a kiss, welcoming the strong arm and that snaked around her. Touching Cam, kissing him, sent a charge through her she just did not feel with the other guys, as much fun as they could be. She hoped she could find someone like Cam at home. And until she did, it would be a lot of fun looking.

Cam met no resistance when he slid his hand beneath her skirt this time. He easily found just the right place to touch her, as he always did, and the pressure on her clit took Emma’s breath away. She could barely hang in with the kiss as the handsome surfer wound her up, and she dug her nails into his muscular shoulder. God knew who could walk by, the top was off the Jeep and they were out in the open. She did not dare open her eyes to see if they were being watched. Just the possibility that someone could come along was enough to fire her passions. But before Emma could climax, she heard her sister and Brady noisily coming down the front walk. Emma pulled back, flushed and trembling.

“Do you two need us to go back inside for a few minutes? Or better yet, maybe you two should go inside,” Becca teased. She climbed into the front seat with Brady. He was silent, but his smile said it all.

“We need to get a move on. Traffic by the airport is going to be hellish,” Cam said, pulling down Emma’s skirt so she was decent again.

Brady put his flashers on in the loading zone and they exchanged painful goodbyes. Emma felt him palm her butt when he hugged her goodbye and kissed her cheek. Becca promised to get back East soon so they could hang out and insisted that Emma come back to the beach. Saying goodbye to Cam was the hardest, and the others stood off to the side.

Emma clung to Cam and didn't even try to stop the flow of tears. She apologized repeatedly, but he would not hear of it. "Thanks for such a great time," she sobbed.

"Thank you for all the trust and letting me show you around town," Cam countered.

Emma refused to let him go until the security guard insisted Brady had to move the Jeep. Reluctantly, she took up her bags and walked into the terminal.

Emma checked in for her flight and handed over her luggage and then went right to the ladies room to make herself presentable for her flight. Between the quick playing in the Jeep and the emotional goodbye she felt a mess. Lunch was a wrap at a lunch counter in the airport, where she also stocked up on snacks for the long flight.

The plane back to the East Coast was surprisingly empty and Emma was pleased to have three seats to stretch across. She gamely tried to stay awake, but all the activity of the last four days combined with the lack of sleep finally caught up with her and Emma kicked off her sandals and curled up across the seats at her disposal and pulled the thin, short airline blanket over herself. She was out in about two seconds.

It seemed to Emma that she'd only been asleep for a minute when the steward was gently shaking her awake with a hand on her shoulder. Emma blinked the sleep from her eyes to find a very handsome flight steward leaning over her. He stepped away and Emma rolled partially onto her back.

"I'm sorry to wake you," the steward, whose nametag identified him as Colin, said with a slight hint of a European accent. "But we're going to be serving dinner soon."

"That's okay, I'm really not hungry. Just some juice would be fine." Emma stretched and it did not escape her that Colin was checking her out as she did. Her blanket had fallen to the side and her tank top came up to show a lot of her flat belly as she stretched. She also realized her skirt had ridden up in her sleep when she followed Colin's sightline and knew he had a perfect view of her lacy panties. Colin's eyes quickly flitted back up to her face, but Emma already felt the now familiar twinge of knowing she was being checked out.

"I can do that for you," Colin said. "Also, if you're going to be laying down to sleep I'm going to have to check and see if your seatbelt is fastened when the light comes on, so don't be alarmed if I wake you up to check if I can't see it."

Of course you do, she thought. Emma smiled up at him and shifted, letting her legs part once more. Colin took the bait just like all guys would, and his eyes flitted back down to peak up her short skirt again, finding a much better view this time. "Okay, I'll try not to be startled if I find you hovering over me," she said.

Colin could barely tear his eyes away as he told her, "That's great," and moved on.

Rearranging her blanket, Emma laid back down, but this time she couldn't sleep. There was no one sitting across the aisle so she made sure the blanket didn't cover her legs and her new friend would have an interesting view when he passed again. It wasn't obvious, you'd only know she left herself open if you were looking for it, but the idea that Colin would pause every time he walked by really excited her. Colin was really cute. Tall and dark, he may have had some Middle Eastern or Italian in him. Emma noticed him when she boarded, but she was so exhausted at that point she hadn't given Colin much thought, but now that he had shown interest she could not stop thinking about him. This was her first chance to flirt with a cute boy and she wanted to explore it. Without the knowledge that she had her boys there, and without the help of drinking and drugs, would she engage Colin or chicken out? It was an opportunity to prove she really had changed and it was just harmless flirting. She did not think Colin would risk his job to help her join the Mile High Club. Would he? That possibility brought a raft of naughty ideas to mind and she could not stop the flood of heat that rushed between her thighs.

Emma closed her eyes and when sleep didn't come she thought about Colin peeking up her skirt. She even fantasized that he was so turned on he had to slip into the bathroom and take care of himself and she was bold and slipped in there with him. Her nipples stiffened and she wanted to touch them.

She was finally half asleep when the "Fasten Seatbelts" signal dinged, but she ignored it. Emma did have her seatbelt on across her tummy, but it was under her blanket where Colin wouldn't be able to just see it walking past. She felt him come and stand over her and struggled to keep her eyes closed and feign sleep.

The steward felt over her blanket for the seatbelt and then his hands moved under the blanket. Emma started , but Colin did not appear to notice as he ran his hand up her hip and over her skirt to find her fastened seatbelt. He didn't take his hand right away, but let it linger on her bare leg again, curving toward her inner thigh. Emma's heart pounded and it was difficult to control her breathing and pretend to be asleep. Colin did not move his hand higher—he left her alone after that. Emma was both relieved and frustrated. She knew this was going to be a long flight.

Half an hour later, after the signs switched off again, Emma made her way to the bathroom and caught Colin watching her as she padded barefoot down the aisle. She favored him with a smile before disappearing into the lavatory. Looking in the bathroom mirror, Emma saw she was flushed from her arousal and she was glad the plane was darkened. So what would she do if Colin really made a move? Playing with the steward on the plane where they could be caught both frightened and excited her. Emma remembered playing with Julio and bravely insisted that she did not have to be with one of her boys to get crazy.

Emma returned to her seat, but did not fasten her seatbelt when she lay down. Her skirt barely covered her and her bare legs stuck out from under the blanket. Now she would have to hope for more turbulence. She kept her eyes slitted open and watched people pass by on their way to the lavatory. There was one older guy who seemed to have caught on to the fact that her ass was hanging out. He was now going to the bathroom an awful lot. The guy was not particularly good looking, but knowing he was checking her out did notch up her arousal.

At last the plane shook with turbulence and the seatbelt light reactivated. Emma closed her eyes and waited. After checking the other passengers Colin made his way to her and he did not even bother feeling over the blanket this time. She felt his knee on the seat against her legs and she shifted to give him more room. He touched her legs again, taking his time, and then moved his hand to her bare tummy. His hand was warm as he pressed it against her skin. She could feel him hesitate at the bottom of her tank top and then his hand moved over her breasts. It was a quick touch at first, but when he thought that she was still asleep he passed his hands over her breasts again, giving them the faintest squeeze. Her nipples puckered to life and she yearned for more.

When he realized she wasn't wearing a seatbelt, Colin reached behind her to find the short end, shifting her to her left. He thoughtfully kept a hold of her to keep Emma from rolling off the seat, and his restraining hand just happened to mash against her breast. Even through all those layers she could feel him softly massaging her. Emma moaned softly and sighed. He didn't jerk his hand away, so he must have believed she was still asleep. He found the end of the seatbelt and rolled her back.

Colin pulled the blanket back and seeing Emma lay out before him he couldn't help himself. While he fastened her seatbelt, Colin kept touching her breasts and her bare belly, even letting his fingers drift down to the low top of her skirt. All of the steward's tentative touches were driving Emma crazy and she wanted to open her eyes and put his hands right where she needed them. She tried to give him the hint by moving as he touched her, but he didn't seem to get it. Colin pulled the blanket back over her, but instead of going away he slipped his hands under it. Emma chanced opening her eyes and saw Colin look to see if the coast was clear in the aisle before getting down to business.

One hand slid up and covered her breast through her top while the other rested on her bare thigh, caressing, but not daring to move higher. Emma shivered when Colin found her nipple and teased it. His hands froze for a moment, but then he continued. Her breathing grew heavy and she thought he had to be a fool to think she could still be asleep. His hand felt nice on her thigh, but it just wasn't going anywhere and Emma decided it was time to end the charade. She opened her eyes and watched the mixture of concentration and lust on Colin's face for a few moments before he realized she was looking at him.

"I...uhhh..." he stammered. Colin started to pull his hand back, but Emma smiled and kept it where it was.

"It's okay," she told him quietly. His hands were still in place, but they were frozen. "You don't have to stop."

Colin took her permission to mean he had free rein over her body. He pushed his hand under her top and palmed her breast. She hated that the soft padding of her bra was still in the way and contemplated if it was too slutty to just whip off her bra. Emma moaned and pushed into his hand. Yes, that was what she wanted. Her puckered nipple burrowed right into his warm palm, he had to feel through the bra. She parted her legs and Colin slipped his other hand right up between them, feeling just how wet all the anticipation had made her panties. He rubbed her pussy aggressively, plastering her panties to her wet lips. Emma just laid back and let him touch her however he wanted. Her bare foot drifted into his lap where she could feel just how much he wanted her. Emma was burning up and wanted Colin to pull her into the lavatory.

"Come to the back of the plane in five minutes. It's dark and there's no one sitting back there," Colin breathed as he touched her and Emma nodded. He disappeared and she lay there thinking about what awaited her at the back of the aircraft. Hooking up with a hot steward on a flight felt so naughty and it electrified her. She knew it was trappy behavior and she didn't care at all.

It was the longest five minutes of her life, but she made the most of it by shedding her bra. She did not care if people could see her through the crocheted top. She avoided making eye contact with other passengers on her way to the rear of the aircraft. It felt like they all knew what she was doing. Colin was right, the last several rows of the flight were empty and the back of the plane was so dark that she barely saw him sitting in the last row on the right. She looked over her shoulder to make sure no one was watching and slipped down to him.

Colin pulled her against him, but did not let her sit beside him. Instead she put one knee on the seat while he kissed her bare tummy. His lips were warm and soft for a man's. He tried to kiss her belly ring, but it was too sore and she guided him away from it, though she was looking forward to having some fun with it when it healed. As he kissed her tummy he pushed both hands under her top, pausing to smile when he found her bra was gone. He massaged both breasts at once and then pushed her top over them so he could lick and suck her nipples. Emma gasped and was happy the engine noise was so much louder at the back of the plane. He massaged both her breasts in his dark hands, but let her nipples peek out so he could suck and lick them. Emma arched her back and pushed her breasts forward. Colin worked a hand up her skirt and rubbed her pussy firmly, just like before. He nudged her panties out of his way and pinched her clit. Emma squealed and her legs almost buckled from her under, but Colin steadied her as he kept attacking her clit and sucking her nipple. God, this guy really knew what he was doing. Colin began inching her skirt up and kissing his way down and she knew exactly where he was going.

Lust did not fully cloud her judgment and Emma still remembered they were on a plane with a high risk of getting caught and she kept looking over her shoulder, but no one came near. The danger of getting caught was a strong aphrodisiac. The seatbacks were high enough that no one looking toward the rear would be able to see what they were doing. It would just appear that Emma was just standing up in the back row. Standing became much more difficult when Colin rolled her panties down over her hips and kissed her pussy. He was as aggressive with his mouth as he had been with his hands and his tongue pushing inside her and his sucking on her clit had Emma swooning. She held onto the back of his head and pushed his face into her crotch. He slurped noisily at her pussy, but the sound of the jet engines drowned it out, as well as Emma's whimpers of pleasure. He locked his full lips on her clit and pushed a finger deep inside her and worked her pussy until Emma's whole body was shaking and jerking uncontrollably and suddenly she climaxed in the back row of the aircraft.

"Ohhh...Ohhh...Ohhh..." Emma gasped struggling to keep her voice low. Her top was still pushed up and she groped her own breast, rolling her nipple as she came.

Emma sank to her knees, squeezing into the space between the seats and unbuckled Colin's uniform pants. His dark hard cock filled her hand and Emma set to covering it with kisses and she fondled the shaft. She gave it a couple good licks and Colin groaned and tried to pull her mouth over his cock. She looked up at him seductively and saw him mouth, "Fuck me," but she just shook her head. She hadn't thought to grab a condom out of her purse before coming to the back of the plane so the steward was going to have to settle for a blowjob, not that Emma thought it was settling. If nothing else the last few days had proved to her how good she was with her mouth. If she could pleasure Theo's monster orally, then Colin's average-sized cock would be no problem.

Hollowing her cheeks, Emma sucked him deeply into her mouth, inhaling his whole cock as she sucked it. It took a little doing, but Emma bobbed up and down his full length as she sucked him hard. She cradled his balls in her hand and she gave them a squeeze every time she went down. She popped him from her mouth and licked his cock up and down while looking up at him with her best "fuck me" eyes, and then took him back between her lips. As she sucked him, Emma played with her own nipple and moaned into his cock. That really got Colin and he thrust into her mouth and moaned incoherently. It only took about another two minutes of that before the steward was sucking air like a marathon runner and holding onto the back of Emma's head as she swallowed his cum. Emma did not miss a single drop and kept sucking until his balls were completely drained. She let his cock slip from her lips and blew him a kiss as she pulled her top back into place and picked up her panties.

"I could go for some juice now," she said sweetly and gave the steward a peck on the cheek. She checked to make sure the coast was clear and walked back to her seat, feeling like the sexiest, sluttiest woman in the sky.

It was easy to sleep after that. Emma fell into a fitful slumber that lasted until the aircraft began its descent. As she gathered her things, Emma noticed both her bra and panties in her purse and could not suppress her smile. No, she did not need the boys backing her up. She had changed and was not concerned that returning home would instantly revert her back to the old Emma. This Emma was going to proudly strut off that plane in her sexy outfit and into her new life without looking back. She mouthed a silent thank you to the new friends who'd helped her find herself and eagerly anticipated what awaited her next.
