About the Author

Previously...

Cori Lynch returns to the workforce after spending over a decade raising her children. A desire to help people and a familiarity with Eastern medicine leads Cori to a career as a massage therapist.

Dylan has been enduring happy ending digs from his best friend, Baines, since Cori trained for her new job, so he already has Cori giving out handjob on his mind. The fantasy is weirdly erotic, but he knows Cori would never do it—and he'd never want her to. Cori takes the digs good-naturedly, but it bothers her that Baines reduces her real, serious profession to being a jerk off artist. Like she would ever!

Everything changes when Cori learns many of her coworkers are doing exactly that for extra cash. Rather than being disgusted, she peppers her new work friend Mayde with questions about how it all works, and the more she hears the more she begins to think...maybe. The only thing more shocking than that revelation is how much Dylan is into the fantasy of Cori jerking off her clients. The couple keeps playing with the fantasy until that maybe because a yes.

Cori tries to start slow, with a timid client, and it goes great—too great. She learns to like the power and the adulation too much, and soon Cori is craving the contact as much as her clients. It doesn't help that Dylan is fully on board and pushes Cori to go further and further with her clients.

Cori tries to draw lines and keeps crossing them. She swore in the beginning that sex would never be on the table, but the temptation to do whatever her clients' will pay for it so great.

Dylan finds his wife's new side gig intoxicating and fixates on Cori going all the way with her clients, but things take a darker turn when Dylan develops a new fixation. He's been watching Cori and Baines shamelessly flirt for years. It always seemed like innocent banter, but with his new fixation Dylan can't stop thinking about how hot it would be if they got together...

Chapter One

Dylan laughed at himself. He didn't think he could be any more of a wreck than he'd been the first time Cori went out on a special appointment. This new job of Cori's was forcing him to learn a lot about himself—things he'd never ordinarily have had a reason to consider. Just when Dylan thought he was settling into a new normal, Cori threw him another curveball. It didn't stop. He didn't blame her. Deep down, he wanted every single one of those curveballs. But damn, this new side gig of Cori's was not going as she'd said it would, and it was hard to keep his footing when the ground kept shifting beneath him.

In the span of weeks, Cori went from swearing she could never do what girls like Mayde did to helping out one of Mayde's clients to deciding that, okay, maybe she could, but just hand jobs, nothing more. Cori swore she wasn't that kind of girl. She didn't want to be a whore. Dylan believed it when she said it, but she'd moved on from that in record speed. He chose to believe that Cori had meant it when she said it and that maybe she didn't know herself as well as she thought she did. Or maybe she did but couldn't admit it. Whatever the truth, it felt like Cori told him one thing and then was pushing the envelope the next time he turned around.

Cori, his sweet, practical wife, rapidly progressed from giving hand jobs for a hundred bucks to letting her new favorite client, Steve, rub her pussy and make her come. Cori was alight when she told him about it. She loved every second of Steve's worship. His best friend Baines had warned him: She loves the attention. Cori added her second client after that, Brett, and she was absolutely, definitely, no doubt going to give him a hand job for his first session. She didn't want him to think everything was available, not on the first appointment. Cori stripped on that first appointment and ended up swallowing Brett's load.

Dylan would have been reeling if his sinister inner voice wasn't urging her on. That dark, newly discovered side of himself wanted to see just how down and dirty Cori could get. It wanted to see Cori completely lose control and give in to her most primal desires. It was scary as shit. Dylan didn't blame his wife because he was just as twisted as she was.

Cori's latest curveball had the potential to blow through all her limits. Dylan tried to stay neutral when she told him of Mayde's plan for them to handle a client together. Cori and Mayde servicing a client together was the hottest thing ever. It sounded crazy on the surface, but of course, Dylan wanted her to do it—because it was so crazy. The way Cori pitched it made the appointment sound safe, almost tame. Mayde would be doing all the hard work and Cori would just be there for eye candy and a little rubbing. Dylan didn't believe that for a second. He knew his wife too well. Cori would be naked or sucking his cock or fucking him and she'd come home to Dylan to explain she didn't know how it happened. It did anger him, but he tamped that down. He was unsure why he was angry anyway. Was he angry that Cori kept telling him one thing and doing another, or that his dick kept taking over his thinking and making him okay with it? At least he'd gotten over the worry that he could lose Cori to a client—even a rich, well-hung client. This client wasn't either of those things.

Roger was the client she'd visited with Mayde before. Roger's was the first strange cock she'd touched in over twenty years. Cori didn't lose her mind over Roger then, and she wasn't going to now. And oddly, it felt safer if Cori was there with Mayde anyway. One-on-one felt instinctively dangerous. Three was just a party. Dylan was only jealous that he couldn't be there. He thought if she was going to have a threesome, he should be the guy in that setup. But then, Dylan didn't have the thousand dollars to pay for this particular threesome.

Dylan joked that if Cori did this threesome, she owed him another. She rolled her eyes and reminded him it was work, not a threesome. She was doing her Cori thing, where she acted all conflicted and unsure if she should do it. It was strange to see this new facet of his wife, who was ordinarily so confident and decisive. Cori usually analyzed something, made a decision, and didn't look back, but when it came to this new work stuff, she was a different woman. She constantly second-guessed herself. Dylan recognized that some of it was performative, at least that's what he thought. He could see right through her.

Cori hemmed and hawed, but she obviously wanted to do this appointment with Mayde. Dylan could see her excitement when she talked about it. She was just afraid to show him how eager she was for it. Cori was afraid he would judge her, which was funny. He was just as eager as she was. It was ridiculous that both of them wanted this—for their own reasons—and they were both afraid to share it. Dylan could have been the one to break the ice, but he didn't. He defaulted to his usual, weak do whatever you think is best. I trust you. He wondered how long Cori would have to do this before they broke that pattern and became completely comfortable with her side gig. It was another of their new rituals, like Cori needing Dylan to make love to her when she came home from those special appointments, although make love wasn't quite accurate. Cori needed Dylan to fuck her and reclaim her after she'd been with another man. He realized that ritual was important to him too. Dylan hung on all the details of her client encounters. They'd relived her appointment with Brett several times over the last few days. He could picture it like he'd been there. He loved when she described how possessively he touched her. He wished Cori had let Brett have his way with her completely. Cori wanted it. Her eyes were fiery when she described it. She'd wanted to say yes when Brett tried to take her to bed. Dylan was rock hard when he pictured his wife underneath the big, younger man, writhing and begging him to fuck her. Cori would be seeing Brett again. Dylan wasn't so sure she'd tell him no the next time.

Three days had passed and now Dylan sat home while Cori was on her way to that tag-team appointment with Mayde. Those three days had passed impossibly slowly, but the moment she left the house, time came to a stop. Every second was an hour and it drove him insane. Dylan was not a wreck because Cori would be touching another man, as he was the first time. This agony was different. It was the agony of anticipation. He would be a coiled spring, waiting for release until she came home and told him what happened. In the meantime, all he could do was sit there and drink and wait for each torturous minute to pass. He spent those minutes imagining what was happening in that hotel room.

Dylan was sure Cori would be crossing new lines tonight. She insisted Mayde would be the lead and would be doing the heavy lifting. Cori joked that she was just there to look pretty and rub Roger while Mayde did the hard parts. Dylan didn't believe that. He didn't believe his wife could just sit back and watch. Cori was a doer. He also didn't believe Roger wanted her to just watch and rub him a little bit. Roger obviously wanted Cori enough to pay a lot of money to see her again, and when he saw her in the outfit Mayde picked for her, he was going to lose his mind. Dylan had.

Mayde waited until Cori said yes to the appointment to add instructions. Dylan could tell his wife felt deceived, but she took it in stride. She also had fun with it. The first change was that it would be an evening appointment at a hotel. Roger couldn't find a good time to have the girls to his house when his wife wouldn't find out. Dylan and Cori discussed how going to a hotel raised the stakes, but she assured him she would keep things from getting out of hand. The other detail Mayde shared after Cori agreed was that Roger was into leather and requested the girls dress up for him. Cori had nothing in her closet, but ordered several choices online, intending to keep one and return the others.

Dylan was Cori's eager audience, sitting on the bed while she tried on her choices. She modeled them for him and snapped photos in the mirror for Mayde for approval. Dylan insisted she send him the photos too. He wanted those keepsakes. Cori ruled out the first dress right off the bat. She only tried it on because Dylan insisted he see it on her. It was a shiny, tight, royal blue dress with sculpted cups at the bust and looked like it was painted on her. He thought it showed off her tight body, but Cori thought she looked like a space hooker in it. She wouldn't even send a photo of the dress to Mayde, although Dylan snapped one on her phone—Cori giving him a skeptical, annoyed look in the photo. Cori also disliked the second dress, a strapless black cocktail dress because she thought it made her look too flat-chested. She didn't have a strapless push-up bra that would allow her to fill it. Mayde thought she looked good in it and Dylan loved how much skin it showed. Cori put a lot of work into keeping her body toned and she deserved to show it off. She was judging herself too harshly, but Dylan knew she shouldn't go out in a dress she didn't feel confident wearing. The final dress was the one. Cori looked great in it, but it wasn't quite as explicit as the other two. He knew that was why Cori loved it. The thin, black pleather shirt dress had shiny snaps up the front and a belt with a big, chrome buckle. It was vaguely dominatrix-ish, and that tickled Dylan's balls. He also imagined Roger grabbing it by the front the pulling, yanking all the snaps open at once. The dress was a style Cori would normally wear if it wasn't pleather. She had several shirt dresses and looked great in all of them. This was a tad shorter than her ordinary dresses, but she'd just wear tights with it. Cori wore fishnet stockings for her appointment and complained she'd be tugging the dress down all night. Dylan laughed and said it just meant Roger wouldn't have as far to go when he pulled up the dress.

Dylan watched Cori throw a coat over the dress and walk out the door to her big money appointment, leaving him home to keep the fire burning. He sat in his chair, sipped scotch, and kept his phone close to his side, imagining all the filthy things his wife could be doing at any given moment. He couldn't wait for Cori to get home and tell him all the details.

Chapter Two

Cori met Mayde in the high-end hotel's lobby, her coat belted tightly at the waist, lest it pop open and expose the dress she wore beneath. She already felt like everyone who passed her in the busy lobby knew why she was there, waiting with her teased hair, flashy makeup, fishnet stockings, and spiked, black heels. Hooker, she knew they were thinking. Cori hadn't done herself up so fancy since a girls' night out over the summer, though she wasn't wearing a leather dress that night. What would her friends think if they saw her in that getup? If anyone had the nerve to say anything, Cori would give them a piece of her mind, but mostly people just passed on by as she stood by a wide pillar, hoping to blend in with the scenery. It wasn't quite an effective strategy. Most of the men passing by noticed her, several of them smiling approvingly. A smile from one older gentleman earned him a smack on the arm from his unamused wife.

"Here, take this. You need to chill out," Mayde said, passing her a small, gummy candy.

"Gummy bear?" Cori asked, eyeing it.

"It's an edible, silly. You need to chill out. You look like you're ready to jump out of your skin."

"Sorry, I didn't think it was that obvious. What kind?"

"It's a Sativa, of course. It won't put you to sleep."

"Oh, I know. This will help. Thanks."

Cori popped the edible in her mouth and chewed it, hoping the pot candy wasn't too strong. It was an artificial grape flavor she didn't love, but the taste wasn't the point. She just wanted the edge off and be energized for the appointment with Roger. She didn't need to be out of her mind for eight hours.

Mayde brought her gear, but Cori carried an oversized purse with several extra items in it. Dylan asked if she wanted to throw some condoms in there. He played it off as a joke with a nervous laugh but knew part of him hoped she'd say yes. She almost did it just to see his reaction. Mayde led her to a bank of elevators. Thankfully, they had the car to themselves. Cori went to slip off her wedding band and put it in her purse. She'd never thought of it with her other clients, but this one felt different. Steve and Brett knew she was married anyway. She doubted Roger noticed it when she met him before, and he didn't need to know she was married.

"Leave it on," Mayde said, putting her hand over Cori's. "Roger likes that you're married. He was asking about that when he asked about you."

"Really? Does it matter? What did you say to him?"

"I think it turns him on that you're married and doing this. He knows I have a man, but it's not the same. I told him I don't know what your husband knows."

"Oh god, he thinks I'm whoring around behind Dylan's back?" It didn't sit well with Cori, but she didn't know why. Roger knew virtually nothing about her. He could build whatever fantasy he wanted if it helped him.

"Who cares if it gets him off? That's what we're here for, right? We're selling a fantasy of ourselves, not our real selves. He's not getting the Cori who does the family's laundry and takes the kids to practices. He's getting Cori in leather who likes to give men a good time."

Cori laughed. "Is that who I am tonight?"

"It's who we both are, girl. Embrace it. We're going to have fun. I promise."

Roger took a large room on the eighteenth floor with a sitting area. He cleared the chairs and coffee table to the side before the girls arrived, creating space for them to work. Cori was relieved they wouldn't be treating him on the bed. That just felt like an extra risk for the night to escalate. He offered them a drink when they arrived.

"That would be lovely, Roger," Mayde said.

He assumed Mayde answered for both of them and poured out three measures of Don Julio 1492 and passed them around. They didn't toast. Mayde sipped hers, but Cori knocked hers right back, smiling as the warmth spread through her. There was no pretending this was a normal appointment.

Roger sat on the bed while the girls prepared the table. Cori kept her coat on as Mayde instructed. Mayde wanted a big reveal of their outfits. Once the massage table was assembled and prepared with linens, they stood side by side in front of Roger.

"I hope you approve. I want everything to be perfect tonight. This is a very special appointment. We don't do this kind of thing a lot," Mayde said, smiling as she unbelted her trench coat. Cori followed suit.

They dropped their coats and Roger's face lit up like he'd just won the lottery. He couldn't stop smiling as Mayde did a little turn for him. Cori felt silly, but she did a twirl as well. She'd felt confident and sexy when she left the house but seeing Mayde in her dress made Cori feel inadequate like she was tagging along with her hot friend. Mayde just dripped sex. Her deep plum dress was suspended from the hardest working straps Cori had ever seen and looked like it was going to burst off her curves at any second. A zipper, with an oversized ring pull, ran right up the front to a low-cut neckline that struggled to contain Mayde's breasts. All of her exposed light brown skin was flawless. Her outfit was completed with platform heels that could only be described as stripper shoes. Cori didn't know how she walked so easily in them. She had to step deliberately in her own strappy heels, which had silver buckles on the ankle straps matching the buckle on her belt.

Cori questioned why she was even there. If she had to choose between the two of them, Cori would choose to fuck Mayde. But she held her head high and smiled. She may not have had Mayde's big, curvy butt, but Cori had skills. She could do things that would blow Roger's mind. She was supposed to be there for support, but she was suddenly feeling competitive.

"You girls have exceeded expectations," Roger enthused. "I can't thank you enough for taking this appointment."

"The pleasure is ours," Mayde replied.

"Although, hopefully not all ours," Cori added.

"I have no doubt this will be memorable," Roger said.

"Do you have a present for us, papi?"

"Of course. Sorry, I'm distracted at the moment."

Mayde smiled and said, "I'd be disappointed if you weren't." She took an envelope from him and tucked it into her bag. Cori felt a sting of wantonness when the money was handed over. It was exciting being paid. “Why don’t you come over and we can get you ready for your treatment?” Mayde suggested.

Mayde held out a hand and Roger took it, coming off the bed. He was dressed very suburban dad, expensive but not cool jeans, and a checked button down. Cori followed Mayde’s lead when she began unbuttoning Roger’s shirt. Cori smiled sweetly and got the buttons at the cuffs while Mayde worked down the front. Roger stood between them and Mayde pressed her leather-clad breasts to his chest when she spread his shirt open. Cori pressed in behind him and untucked his shirt. She ran her fingers up his sides under his shirt and he was hot to the touch. Roger laughed as her fingers played over him.

“Sorry, didn’t know you’re ticklish,” she said.

Cori pulled off his shirt while Mayde unbuckled his braided leather belt. Roger was decidedly uncool, but that was appealing in its own way. He was fit enough, and Cori liked the smattering of hair on his chest. It was the situation, but she found she was attracted to him in a way she hadn’t been during their first meeting. It was the same with Steve. Steve wasn’t a guy she would usually go for, but the situation of being paid to take care of him elevated her attraction. She rubbed her leather-clad body against his back and felt the rumble of a moan from him. Mayde knelt when she pulled his jeans down, suggestively leveling her face with his groin. Roger was tall, so Cori couldn’t see over his shoulder—even in her heels—to see if Mayde did anything while she was down there, but he did take a shivery breath.

The girls stripped Roger naked before leading him to the table and laying him facedown. His cock was already rising—he couldn’t stop staring at the girls—and had to arrange himself when he laid down. Cori was pleased that he spent as much time checking her out as he did Mayde. She even decided he gave her a bigger smile. Mayde was the kind of girl that every guy wanted, but maybe Cori was more Roger’s type. Her competitive side hoped so.

Mayde had been evasive when Cori asked for details of the appointment, leaving her to wonder how much of an actual treatment they would be providing before they got to the fun part. She felt like they’d already thrown any pretense they were providing a therapeutic treatment right out the window, with their outfits, the drinking, stripping the client. She laughed to herself, thinking of offering to strip legit clients before a treatment. The guys would love it, for sure, but would be greatly confused. Mrs. Silverberg, a polite but haughty grandmother she treated, would probably pass out.

Mayde did intend on giving something of a massage. She popped a bottle of lotion into the room's microwave for a couple of seconds before squirting a small pool into Cori's hands. Cori got to work, while Mayde slicked her own hands. Cori took a deep breath as she began working on Roger's shoulders. He wasn't tense at all, but he released a deep sigh when she kneaded his flesh. She liked that they were giving something of a treatment. Cori found it centering to be able to do what she was trained to do. Mayde stood on the other side of the table and started on his mid-back, working her way down.

"Take nice, deep breaths," Cori advised, using her hands on either side of his neck. "Just relax and let me move you."

"I've never been more relaxed," Roger sighed, speaking down into the face support. "Mayde's massages are perfection but having four hands on me is incredible. I swear, every man should get to experience this."

"Every man dreams of experiencing this, but you were bold enough to make it happen, papi. If you like tonight, we could make this a regular thing," Mayde said, smiling at Cori.

Cori hadn't considered this as anything but a one-off, but the money was very good. If she was comfortable with whatever happened tonight, she could consider doing it again. But that would have to be a conversation with Mayde. She gave her friend a look and told Roger's back, "Let's just focus on making you feel good tonight and leave the future to itself."

"Mmm, I am totally in the moment. Don't worry about that, Cori," he replied, turning his hand to touch her leg. He squeezed her thigh through the thin pleather, but then reached lower and ran his fingers over the texture of her stockings.

A shiver ran through Cori at the touch, her heart skipping a beat as she felt a sliver of danger. Roger touching her was different than when she treated Steve or Brett. They were both clients she'd treated for months or weeks before adding her special services. She had time to get comfortable with those men before suggesting taking their treatments to the next level. She barely knew Roger. Mayde trusted him, but Cori didn't have that relationship with him. Everything thing about this appointment was different, dangerous in that it all felt unknown. Cori had felt the thrill of her illicit, paid activity before, but this was the first time she truly felt like a sex worker—and she hadn't really done anything yet. But the hotel room was filled with a sense of anticipation. They all knew why they were there. The girls were there to service Roger, not give him a therapeutic treatment. They were his whores. Just thinking the word revved Cori with excitement. She stepped closer, signaling to Roger that he was free to touch her. Both his hands were busy. He felt Cori's shapely legs and Mayde's round ass on the other side of the table.

"What do you like, papi? Do you want us to work you over hard, or do you want the light touch tonight?"

"Tease me a little. I love a good tease."

"Do you think we can do that, Cori? Do you know how to tease?" Mayde asked.

"I think I can be creative."

Cori lightly raked her nails along his scalp, tousling his hair. She continued down his neck and over his shoulders, doubling back and retracing her route. Roger rumbled and seemed to deflate into the table as he achieved total contentment. Cori thought it was funny that clients were rarely that relaxed from a real treatment, but it just took a light teasing touch to turn Roger to jelly. Mayde worked his lower half, her nails and fingertips teasing up and down his legs and over his butt. Her fingers dipped between his thighs and Roger adjusted, opening his legs for better access. He trembled and Cori was sure Mayde was stroking his shaft down there. The girls used all four hands to tease Roger and brought him to a trembling, moaning mass of contentment. Cori was weirdly jealous of Roger. Being caressed by four gentle hands must have felt amazing.

Mayde oiled Cori's hands again and added more oil to her own. Roger rewarded them with deep, satisfied moans while their hands rubbed every inch of his back. The girls switched places and Mayde worked on his upper half, while Cori went below. She gave his calves a serious massage and went down to work the pressure points in his feet. Mayde was still just teasing him with slick, sliding touches, but Cori managed to release tension from their client. Cori didn't forget the teasing. Her slick hands worked back up his legs, fingers dipping in between them with each stroke. Her fingers pressed deep and brushed his head. It was hard to tell with her oily fingers, but it felt like his tip was drooling its excitement. She teased her fingers all around the sensitive underside of his head. Roger trembled so hard she had to stop afraid she'd make him finish prematurely. Instead, her fingertips trailed up his shaft and glanced over his balls. She even touched his taint, causing his legs to stiffen.

"I think it's time to turn you over, papi," Mayde suggested. "Let us help you."

The girls stood on either side of the table and turned Roger onto his back. His prick sprang right up, flicking a web of his drooling excitement onto his stomach. He managed to look embarrassed, but Mayde smiled reassuringly. "Look at that. I'm glad you're having such a good time, papi, but we're not close to being finished. Are we, Cori?"

Cori trailed fingers through his chest hair and gently massaged his balls with the other. She did it without thinking—did it before Mayde could touch him. She saw his masculinity and wanted to touch it. She ran her fingers down and smeared the flicked precum into his belly. Her core tightened as she played with his leaked excitement. Cori was enjoying teasing Roger way too much. Her core tightened when she thought about the power they had over him in that moment. So much for hanging back and letting Mayde take the lead. She also felt the edible kicking in. The Sativa gummy sharpened her focus, and Cori thought about all the things they could do to Roger if they were really going to cut loose. Her creative side was engaging. The sharper focus from the Sativa brought Cori deeper into her head, making her acutely aware of how horny this special treatment had her. She hadn't considered the aphrodisiac effect Sativa pot had on her. The few times she and Dylan had made love on it had been incredible. Would he be mad that she got high without him? Dylan would have warned her about the Sativa before she took it if he'd been there. He knew very well the effect it had on her.

"Does this feel good, papi? Is this what you like?" Mayde asked, taking Roger's hand and putting it on the slight curve of her tummy so he could feel the tight plum-colored leather stretched across her body. She kept her hand over his and rubbed herself with it, over her sides, down to the high hem that barely concealed her sex, and then up again to feel the swell of her breasts through the dress. Her thick nipples dented the leather. It didn't look like Mayde wore a bra with her dress. Cori wondered if she wore anything under it. she was about to find out. Mayde hooked his finger in the big zipper pull ring. She released his hand and Roger did the rest, slowly drawing the zipper down like the was unwrapping a present.

Mayde's big tits pushed the dress open as soon as the zipper cleared. She was indeed braless under the dress. Cori felt Roger's surge of excitement when he revealed her big, soft mounds, and shared it. The zipper reached the bottom and the dress parted. Mayde pulled it back and stood proudly with her shoulders thrown back and tits thrust forward. Her big, dark brown nipples were engorged, demanding attention. Cori didn't look away until she realized she was staring. It was then that she noticed Mayde wore a tiny black G-string. She was barely covered and obviously waxed smooth.

"You didn't prefer the dress on did you, papi? I know you like the feel of the leather."

Roger's eyes were big as saucers as he took in Mayde. "No, off is definitely better. Goddam, honey. You're..." He ran his hand back up her belly and cupped a heavy breast, this time touching her bare, hot flesh. The scene was surreal to Cori. Just watching Mayde blow Roger that first time heated her center, driving her to distraction. Watching Roger freely touch Mayde while she stood there with an encouraging smile had Cori on fire. She squeezed her thighs together, but it just made her pussy throb harder. She blamed the edible but knew it was also her own dirty mind. She loved being part of such a sexy, dirty scene. That first time she'd been sitting in a corner, watching. This time she was in the thick of it, caressing Roger's chest and balls while he touched Mayde. Cori's involvement wasn't going to stop there. She was frightened of just how far she'd go.

"Give me a second, papi," Mayde said, removing Roger's hand from her. "I need to catch Cori up with the rest of us. You want to join the party, don't you Cori?"

Cori nodded.

Chapter Three

Cori met Mayde at the foot of the massage table, where they had room to maneuver. She opened the big, shiny buckle on her belt, while Mayde loudly undid the top snap. Cori left the belt to hang down her sides. She fought the urge to help Mayde with her snaps. It was a better show for Roger if Mayde undressed her, and they were putting on a show. Roger had paid for that. Cori was unsure exactly what he'd paid for, but he'd paid for that at least.

Mayde stared at the snaps as she opened them, popping each one like it was a puzzle she was solving. She smiled over at Roger and then looked up at Cori, who was still slightly taller, despite Mayde's stacked heels. A naughty, challenging smile played on Mayde's lips. How far will you let this go? She seemed to ask. The last snap popped and Mayde's hands pushed inside it. Roger watched down the table, over his erection, but the dress still concealed Cori's body from him. He could only see that Mayde was touching her beneath it. The gentle touch of another woman made Cori close her eyes and revel in the sensation of those warm, oil-slicked fingers on her body. Mayde touched all over her torso but came back to focus on Cori's abs.

"Damn, girl. You are tight. I knew you were fit, but damn you are solid. I'm jealous, girl."

"You're jealous of me with that body?" Cori marveled, touching Mayde. She was soft in all the right ways.

"You're like an athlete, girl. No way you had two kids, mami."

Cori answered with a kiss. She just leaned in and planted a deep kiss right on Mayde's plump, red lips. The shorter woman snaked her tongue right into Cori's mouth and she sucked on it, flicking back with her own tongue. The heat rose in Cori quickly and she wanted to throw Mayde down on the bed and forget about Roger. Part of that was the Sativa, she knew. Mayde's every touch was scorching, spreading prickly heat of pleasure throughout her body. That particular strain of pot focused Cori on the hands roving her body. Cori hefted Mayde's big, soft pillows in turn. She loved Mayde's femininity. Mayde ran her hands up over Cori's breasts, but she was not nude under her dress. She wore a matching midnight blue bra and panty set, with black lace trim and little silver pendants—one that hung between her breasts, the other at the waist of the panties, above her sex. She wore it hoping it would make Roger hard. He hadn't seen the lingerie yet, but Mayde fixed that, pushing the pleather dress from her shoulders.

Freed from the dress, Cori wrapped her arms around Mayde, and their making out heated up. It had been more than two decades since she seriously kissed another woman but kissing Mayde and feeling her lush body crushed to hers brought back everything Cori loved about being with other women. She loved brushing back Mayde's hair, feeling her round ass, feeling the crush of her big globes against her slender body. Mayde was an excellent, teasing kisser, the flicks of her tongue elevating Cori's passion. Cori had never thought of herself as quite bisexual. She liked girls and liked playing with girls when the opportunity presented itself, but she'd never dated a girl or even considered it. Cori just liked to think of herself as open, and she felt very open to Mayde.

"Look at her body, Roger. Couldn't you just eat her up?" Mayde said, ending the kiss and turning them so Cori's backside was more exposed to their client. She grabbed Cori's butt with both hands, squeezing it hard. Mayde tried to jiggle it, but Cori's ass didn't have much give. "See how tight this thing is? You could bounce a quarter off this thing."

"Your ass is incredible, Cori," Roger affirmed, his cock twitching while he stared at her.

Cori might have blushed if her cheeks weren't already so flushed from making out with Mayde and being exposed to Roger. Being objectified by a man was bad, but should she feel weird that Mayde was doing it with her standing right there? Should she feel weird that she liked it? Cori felt Roger staring at her, wanting her, and she liked that. She liked it a lot. Her pussy wasn't drenched only because of Mayde. But she couldn't just allow herself to be presented to Roger, like a commodity he'd purchased. Mayde was just as bought as she was. Cori grabbed Mayde's ass, which had a fun shake to it.

"Or do you like this juicy peach better?" Cori asked.

"You are both stunning and I'd like a closer look. I love you two enjoying each other, but I'm feeling left out over here," Roger said, smiling but serious.

"We can't have that," Mayde answered. "Let's go make Roger feel special, Cori."

"That's what we're here for," Cori agreed, giving Mayde another kiss before they pulled apart and approached Roger on either side of the massage table.

"What would make you feel included, papi?" Mayde asked, touching his chest, and running her fingers through his hair. Cori was impressed by her rapt expression. Mayde looked down at Roger like he was the only man in the world. Cori hoped she was that convincingly seductive with clients.

Roger complained he felt left out, but Cori felt like a third wheel standing to the side. The night didn't resemble her expectations at all, and she felt lost at sea. Mayde had told her she only had to be as involved as she wanted to be. Cori surprised herself by wanting to be very involved. She grasped Roger's cock and stroked it. Her hand was still slick enough with oil to smoothly slide up and down his length. The heat and energy in his engorged shaft excited her.

"Ahh, that's a good start," Roger moaned. He palmed Cori's ass, bringing her closer to the table. Her panties were skimpy, leaving plenty of bare cheek for him to grope.

Cori stared at his manhood while she stroked it like she was fascinated by it. she swore it pulsed in her hand, and the excitement that oozed from the tip felt like a reward for her efforts. Roger was a nice size, but she didn't need both hands to pleasure him. She used her other to massage his balls. He was neatly trimmed down there, and she wondered if he was specially groomed for them. She couldn't recall how he looked the first time she saw it. Either way, she appreciated it.

Mayde leaned down and kissed his chest. She ran the tip of her tongue all over him, circling his nipples when she reached them. Roger stiffened and trembled. He moaned deeply when she sucked his nipple. He surged in Cori's hand, and she thought he might blow his load right then. She gripped him tighter at the base to stop it. Cori wasn't ready for him to come yet. She pressed her fingers lower, massaging his taint.

"Ahh, fuck..." he groaned, fingers digging into Cori's butt. His fingers worked lower too, pushing between her thighs from behind. She adjusted her stance, giving him access. The angle was awkward and he could hardly touch her down there, but he had to feel her panties were soaked through. Cori was frustrated by his limited, teasing touch. She took his hand and guided it to the front of her panties.

Cori gasped and moaned. Roger used four fingertips to push her soaked panties into her cleft and massage between her lips. She braced against the table as her knees went weak. She closed her eyes and held onto him, gripping but not stroking. She was too distracted. Pleasure pulsed through her body, centered on her core. Cori focused on it, reveling in it.

While Cori was occupied, Mayde worked her way up Roger's body, kissing and licking the side of his neck. She was careful to not leave any marks. Mayde came close to kissing him, her lips hovering over his, but when he tried to kiss her, she pulled back. It was an exquisite tease. Roger surged in Cori's hand. He wound his fingers in Mayde's thick, curly raven hair, trying to pull her down. She teased, licking his lips, but refused to kiss him. Instead, Mayde whispered something in his ear.

"Ahh, fuck yeah," he moaned.

Mayde came around to Cori's side of the table and stood behind her. Mayde didn't ask permission but swept Cori's hair aside and kissed her neck. Cori sighed her approval. She leaned back into the other woman, enjoying the softness of her body. Cori's body undulated to its own erotic rhythm, lost in two people touching her at once. Roger kept his smoothly massaging fingers on her pussy, while Mayde kissed her neck and held her hips. It was suddenly all about her. Cori should have had questions, but it was too much fun to just roll with it.

"Roger wants me to play with you, mami. You don't mind, do you?" Mayde whispered, seductive honey in Cori's ear.

Cori gently shook her head and smiled at Roger. "He's the client. I guess I have to do what he wants. What do you want to see, honey?"

"I think you girls have a good handle on it," he said, looking up from where he touched Cori to meet her eyes.

"You mean this handle?" she teased, squeezing his cock.

Roger moaned and pressed harder through her panties, bringing a matching moan from her. "You're handling that perfectly, Cori. You really know your way around a cock. I bet you've had a lot of practice."

"Mmm, I have. I know just what guys like you want."

"You sure do, Cori. You're going to give me exactly what I want."

"Mmm...yeah...if you're good..."

Mayde flicked her bra open while she was distracted, and Cori let it fall, releasing Roger's cock and balls long enough to remove it and set it on his chest. He felt its silky softness for a moment and reached for her. Mayde wrapped her arms around Cori and cupped both little rounds, rolling the swollen, pale buds capping them. Cori purred and melted back against Mayde. Roger reached for her too, tangling his arms as he tried to touch her pussy and tits at the same time. Mayde made room for him and they both caressed and massaged Cori's breasts. Mayde was more aggressive, tweaking Cori's nipples to the very edge of pain, making her hiss and whimper, while Roger had the soothing touch, caressing Cori as a lover would. The combination drove Cori wild. She loved having four hands on her. She understood why Roger paid a thousand dollars for it.

Cori had a stab of hesitation when Mayde took her panties and eased them down her hips. She knew she should stop her friend as it increased the danger of it all getting out of control, but it was like her own hands were glued to Roger's genitals, and the way the pair had her body pulsing with pleasure made Cori weak. She knew she should stop them, but she didn't want to. Mayde rolled her tiny panties down her hips to her knees.

"Tell me how wet she is, papi," Mayde encouraged.

Roger moved like Mayde's was the only permission he needed. Two fingers pushed right up inside Cori. She cried out and arched her back, pushing at them. It also frightened her, and she finally released Roger to grasp his wrist. But Mayde took both her arms and gently pulled them behind her back. Cori didn't really resist, it was more symbolic that Mayde had control. Mayde held both wrists with one hand and played with Cori's tits with the other. Roger plumbed her depths with his fingers, and she tightened her core, grasping at them. She couldn't pretend she didn't want this, even if she knew it was crossing a line.

"You're so fucking juicy, Cori," he said, hungrily staring at her. The urbane, professional Roger was gone, replaced by a hungry, possessive man who wanted to enjoy what he'd paid for. Cori felt cheap and loved it. He looked to Mayde. "She's drenched. She fucking loves it."

Roger sat up, swinging his legs to the side of the table, sitting right in front of Cori, with her between his legs. Somehow, he kept his fingers inside her as he moved. His cock was right there, dangerously close to her sex. She was relieved he didn't try to put it inside her. Cori didn't know that she would have stopped him. She wanted to reach for him, but Mayde kept her arms behind her. Cori liked the helpless feeling. It let her pretend this was happening to her, rather than accepting that she just wanted it. That acceptance would come later when she was clear-headed again.

"You do love it, mami? Do you love the attention?" Mayde purred in her ear.

Cori nodded, barely able to breathe out a whimpering, "Yes."

The first time Cori came it was startling. Her body was ramping up to it, but she was so enjoying the hands all over her—Mayde's lips on her neck—that she didn't even think of coming because she never wanted it to end. But Mayde rubbed her clit and Roger pistoned his fingers into her. Cori heard her own squishing, thought she might go mad from it all, and then she was howling and shaking and climaxing. Her legs were jelly, but her lovers held her in place while they toyed with her body. Cori cried out over and over as their hands extended her orgasm and her brain emptied out. In that flash, her world was reduced to those four hands and those lips on her. Cori was nonsensical.

Everything moved fast after that. Cori was laid on the massage table and Mayde knelt by the end, lifting Cori's legs over her shoulders. Her hands scooped under Cori's butt, and she plunged her face into Cori's honey pot. Cori cried out, gripping the side of the table and pushing herself at Mayde's voracious mouth. Mayde's agile tongue was everywhere inside at once, like a prodigy stroking piano keys, bringing notes of pure pleasure from Cori's throat. Cori kept her eyes squeezed shut and rode the waves of ecstasy buffeting her body.

Roger watched Mayde pleasure Cori for a while. He was in every man's dream position and had the best seat in the house. Cori's lithe body twisted and trembled on the massage table, shaking her little tits, glistening with a fine sheen of sweat. The room had been cool when the girls arrived, but Cori was burning up. She felt Roger watching her and looked at him—looked at his cock. It dripped with excitement. Excitement for her. His desire for her was like a physical presence in the room. She hadn't felt such pure lust from another man in ages and she craved it so badly. Cori felt a dangerous need for his lust that was dangerously addicting. She reached for his cock and stroked it. She wanted to make him come. Cori wanted to manifest his desire. She would do whatever was needed to give him what he wanted.

Cori freely offered her body when Roger touched her. Mayde dining on her sweet puss burned brightly like a star, but Roger's desire for her took center stage. He massaged her breasts with both hands and when he pinched her nipples she begged for more.

"Ahh...yeah...ohh...honey..." Cori moaned and cried.

Roger bent and sucked on her nipples. Mayde sucked on her clit and swiftly fingered her. Cori came again. It was otherworldly. Cori lifted out of her body and absent-mindedly knew that edible from earlier was making all of this that much more intense. She was in a magical place where these two people could make her come all night and she would never tire. Cori usually pushed Dylan away when he made her climax like that, but she grabbed Mayde's hair and pulled the girl's mouth into her. Oh Dylan, she thought. He said he wanted this, but she feared he'd be angry. Cori feared she'd revealed herself to be exactly the slut he'd suspected she was and that he'd turn away seeing it. She imagined he was there with them, watching. Phantom Dylan was horrified but couldn't look away. He also loved it like she did. He furiously stroked himself.

Cori slammed back into her body and out of her dream state when Roger slipped his cock into her mouth. The moans and cries that filled the room were muffled like a stopper had been stuffed into a bottle. Her head was cradled in the headrest, and he turned her face to him. Cori felt the pressure of his smooth, spongy tip on her plush lips and opened her mouth like it was the natural thing to do. He didn't just cram it in there, but slowly fed Cori his cock and she began suckling him on instinct. She twisted her arm back and cradled his balls as he slipped deeper into her mouth. She wanted to look up at him—Cori loved eye contact when giving a blow job—but it was impossible at that angle.

Roger tried turning her head further to the right to get more into her mouth, but the table was in the way. Cori fumbled back by her head with her left hand and found the release for the headrest. It folded down and her head hung off the edge of the table. Roger stepped in closer and pushed more cock into her mouth. It was quicker than expected and Cori gagged, caught off guard. He pulled back and let her catch her breath, but then he was right back into her throat.

“Just relax, Cori, that’s a good girl. Just relax and take it all. I know you can handle it, Cori,” he encouraged, his voice taking on a paternal tone she would have found creepy in another context, but tonight it enflamed Cori. It was a reminder that her mouth, and yes, her throat were his—at least for the time he’d paid for them.

Cori did her best to close her lips around his moving shaft and suck, but Mayde was relentless feasting on her molten center. As she ramped up to yet another orgasm—she’d lost count of how many she’d had—Cori felt like she was just hanging on for dear life. Roger thoughtfully took over. He cradled the back of her head and stuffed his cock into her mouth. At that angle, he had a perfect path right down her throat, as long as she remained relaxed. It required every ounce of mindfulness Cori had practiced, but she was able to regulate her breathing with Roger’s thrusting rhythm and breathe through her nose, despite Mayde going nuts on her pussy.

Mayde slurped away on the pulsing nub of Cori’s clit, while her fingers pounded into her pussy. She had three fingers going and the force jolted Cori on the table. Cori felt like she was being fucked from both ends. She’d had a threesome with two guys once, back in college, but she didn’t recall it being so enthralling. Every inch of her body sizzled with excitement like Cori had turned into one throbbing sex organ. It felt so good being used by Mayde and Roger that she felt like she should be paying him, rather than the other way around.

“Ohh fuck...ohh fuck...Cori...I’m...I’m gonna...” Roger gasped, like a freshly caught fish thrown onto a deck. “Can I come in your mouth?”

Cori didn’t know how he expected her to answer when his cock was crammed down her throat, but she wouldn’t have objected. He could finish anywhere he liked. Cori wasn’t uptight about that, and he was paying the piper, so he could call the tune. Roger slowed as he came close and pushed even deeper. He was longer than he was thick, a little longer than Dylan. He probably hadn’t experienced many women who could deep throat him. His wife surely never did. Cori was twistedly proud that she gave him that. Roger pressed deep down her throat and his balls rested on her chin, her nose buried in his trimmed pubes. He held it in her throat, feeling her pulse around him. Cori’s eyes watered and her vision blurred. She was running out of air. His balls tightened on her chin, but she didn't know if he'd finish before she passed out.

Roger grunted like an animal and spurted into her throat. Cori gagged uncontrollably and he pulled back as he kept coming. His head cleared her lips and she coughed up cum and spit all over her chin and her cheek. It ran down into her hanging hair. Roger wasn't done. He shot more strings of jizz across her cheek, nose, and neck.

Cori was a mess but couldn't think about that, because while she was still light-headed Mayde gave her an earth-shattering, soul-quaking climax that exploded from her core, rushing out like it had to escape her body. Cori was incandescent. She felt it in her toes and her fingertips. Cori shook on the massage table and dug her spiked heels into Mayde's back. She crushed Mayde's head between her thighs, imprinting the pattern of her fishnet stockings into her friend's cheeks.

When it was finished, Cori felt like she'd lost time. That could have been down to the edible she'd had. She was still under its influence. But it was the totality of what she'd just experienced that had overwhelmed her brain, and she had to reboot. Cori came back into a fuzzy dream state as she lay on the massage table. She felt the mess on her face and couldn't stop smiling. It didn't sink in that she'd been left alone until she heard Mayde moaning. Cori groaned when she pushed herself up to a sitting position.

Mayde sat on the edge of the bed, with Roger on his knees before her. She held the back of his head and mashed his face into her sex. Mayde stared down at this client with an evil smile. She was all about controlling this man who'd paid them. Cori wondered how much of that was about taking back her power after being paid for sexual contact. Whatever the reason she was there, Mayde was clearly enjoying what Roger was doing with his mouth.

"Oh yes, papi. Right there... Right there, papi. Lick it... Lick it... Ooo, papi. Yes!" Mayde cooed.

Mayde churned her hips up at Roger's mouth and locked her ample thighs around his head. Cori was afraid she was going to smother the poor man. It was exciting to see Mayde in the throes of passion. She was vocal and spirited. She held nothing back. Cori could see why men paid her for sex. Watching Mayde in action made her want the woman. Cori would have gone over and joined them if she wasn't still wrapped up in the afterglow of her own orgasms. They'd left her drained. If Cori went over to that bed, she would have just crawled into it and gone to sleep.

Mayde shrieked that she was coming and leaned back on her elbows, pushing her pillowy breasts at the ceiling. Roger grunted between her thighs and Cori feared that Mayde was actually suffocating him in her ecstasy. He pushed away and gasped for air, while Mayde fell back onto the bed with a joyous laugh.

Roger disappeared into the bathroom, smiling at Cori as he passed. Was it because he just liked seeing her naked, or that he was proud of his handiwork on her face? Cori bet it was both. Cori hopped down from the massage table and stretched like a sleepy kitty. Mayde popped up from the bed like nothing had happened. Cori questioned if the woman truly had an orgasm, or if that was a performance for Roger. Mayde tugged her G-string back into place and retrieved her dress from the floor, shrugging into it. She came close and appraised Cori.

"You're going to want to ask Roger if you can shower," Mayde said.

Cori chuckled. "You don't think I should go home looking like this?"

"Your man might like to see you this way, but I don't think you want to walk through the lobby downstairs with sticky hair and that on your face. You were quite something tonight, Cori."

"It didn't feel like I had much choice. It all felt out of control."

"We're always in control, remember that. You always have the choice, Cori. You didn't feel forced, did you? It seemed to me like you were into it."

"You're right. No one forced me to do anything. And I was into it all."

Mayde smiled. "That was obvious, mami." She brushed back the hair from Cori's face on the clean side. "You were off the hook tonight. You were made for this work. I don't know if I ever saw a girl throw herself into the work like that."

"You said you had that one client who rocked your world," Cori replied. She started feeling weird like she'd done something wrong.

"Oh yeah, but most clients aren't like him. Roger is not rocking my world, girl."

Cori reached out and ran her hands over Mayde's curves before pulling her dress closed and starting the zipper. "It wasn't really about him. It was the situation. It just flipped a switch inside me. And it was about you, Mayde. I know it was the job, but I had a good time with you. You're a great kisser."

Mayde replied with a slow, soft kiss. "It wasn't just the job, mami. You're sexy. You were the fun part. If you ever want to get together outside of work..."

They didn't realize Roger had come out of the bathroom, but he was behind, watching their intimate moment. He said, "You girls can keep the room all night if you like, but I need to get home."

"That's very generous, papi. Cori needs a shower after what you did to her."

"Sorry about that. I guess I got a little carried away," Roger said.

Cori was still naked, except for her thigh highs and heels and Roger stared like he wanted to get carried away all over again. It was tempting because the one thing she hadn't gotten was a good, solid fucking, but he'd gotten what he'd paid for. Cori wasn't selling that. Yet? She pressed her naked body against him and kissed his cheek.

"It's okay. I had a good time. I hope you feel like you got your money's worth."

"Oh, more than that. Here's a little something extra for going above and beyond. You earned it, honey." Roger pressed a sheath of folded bills into her hand. "Hopefully, we can do this again sometime soon."

"Talk to Mayde about it and we'll see if we can arrange something," Cori said.

Mayde showed him to the door and Cori counted the four hundred dollar bills Roger gave her. If two hundred of that was for her, that was seven hundred dollars for the night. Her mind was blown. She'd never had a job where she brought that home in a week, let alone for a couple hours of work. She laughed and left the money on the dresser, headed for the shower.

It was a huge marble space with a glass wall facing the bathroom. The water was hot and the pressure excellent. Cori filled the bathroom was steam as she scrubbed her body. Even the hotel shampoo was a good brand, which was nice as she had to wash Roger's jizz out of her hair.

Cori stood under the fall of steaming water like it could wash the night away and return her to the woman she was before stepping into that hotel room. She didn't regret anything she'd done, but she'd have to be honest when she got home, and she had no idea how Dylan would react. It was like he'd sent his wife out to work and a crazy whore was coming home. His attitude that she should do what felt right would be tested this time. Would her husband look at her the same when she confessed a client had his cock shoved down her throat tonight? Cori didn't honestly know how she'd react if she were in his shoes.

Mayde knocked on the glass. "Are you okay? You've been in there forever."

"Yeah, sorry. Just thinking about stuff. I'll be out in a minute."

"Take all the time you need, but I need to get out of here. The sitter is off duty in less than an hour. I left your half of the fee on the dresser with the tip."

"That tip wasn't all for me. Take half. That's ridiculous."

Mayde laughed. "I really do think it was for you. You went above and beyond, girl. I couldn't fake what you did. I'm into it, sure, but not into it, into it. Not like you were. You earned every penny, Cori."

"Thanks, I think. You have to take some of it. It wouldn't have happened without you."

"Okay, I'll take a hundred, if you're going to twist my arm."

"Good. That makes me happy."

"Take your time. As Roger said, the room is paid for all night. But text me and let me know you got home okay. And we'll connect sometime tomorrow."

"Great. Thanks, Mayde. I mean it. None of this would be happening if it wasn't for you."

"I'm just a facilitator. Nothing would happen if you weren't into it. Good night, girl."

I am into it, aren't I? I know what it makes me, but I truly loved tonight. I love this, Cori thought. She also thought, Holy shit, eight hundred dollars. Eight hundred fucking dollars! For a couple of hours work! And I came like a billion times! What was that old saying? It's not work if you love what you do? Cori howled with laughter.

Chapter Four

Dylan sat beside Baines at the bar. The Flyers game was on the screens hanging behind the bar and his friend was talking, but Dylan wasn't listening. He was too in his own head. Baines wanted to hang out and watch the game, but Dylan didn't want to have him over. He had to get out of the house. He knew he was shitty company, but it was better to sit at the bar with Baines than sit there alone.

"Have you heard a word I said?" Baines asked, nudging his friend.

"Sorry, no. I've got some stuff going on. I'm distracted."

"What is it, dude? You're not usually one of those moody fucks. Is it work shit?"

"Nah, work is easy. I can do my job in my sleep," Dylan replied, thinking it was a good thing that he could, considering how distracted he'd been.

"You and Cori aren't having problems, are you? Don't tell me it's that. You two are the most stable couple I know. You guys are so solid, it's boring. I mean, you guys are great, and you're fun when you party, but you're boring. And I mean that as a good thing, dude."

Dylan smiled thinking how far from boring he and Cori were. He almost confessed what was going on simply because he knew Baines would think it was all bullshit. It would be fun to see Baines' reaction when Dylan told him Cori was a call girl anyway. He almost did it but didn't. If Dylan opened up, he might not stop until he convinced Baines, and then what? Cori would murder him, that was what.

It had been three days since Cori came home from her double date appointment with Mayde and told him about the session with Mayde's client, Roger. In those three days, he'd been forced to admit that his wife was pretty much a call girl. Dylan reacted much the way he thought Baines would to the revelation. He didn't believe her. Cori had to be jerking his chain. No way Cori did everything she described. It was a great story, and he appreciated the creativity. Her fiction had the desired effect. Dylan was rock hard when Cori told him how she ended up on her back, with Mayde eating her out and Roger stuffing his cock down her throat. He had to stop her from stroking him while she told it because he was going to go off prematurely in her hand. Cori finished her story and Dylan did as she claimed Roger had. He pushed her down on the bed, with her head hanging off the side, and rammed his cock down her throat. Mayde wasn't there to go down on her, but Dylan reached over and rubbed her pussy.

When Cori took him right down to the root, Dylan had the first twist of his gut, believing it might all be true. A reason he doubted her was that he didn't think it was possible, that this Roger, with his "nice-sized dick", could get it all the way down Cori's throat. She was great at giving head, but she'd never done that to him in all the years they were married. He'd also never tried to ram his dick down her throat. But Cori relaxed, and even though she gagged, she took Dylan down into her throat and let him fuck her mouth. It was so strangely aggressive that it freaked him out and he nearly stopped—until he pictured Roger doing it to her. He imagined Roger fucking his wife's mouth and Mayde licking her, and Dylan thrust harder. He felt Cori was soaked and realized she loved what he was doing. His balls tightened and he shot his load down her throat while obsessing on two strangers using his wife's body in a hotel room. It was dark, maybe the darkest thing he'd imagined, and he recoiled from it.

Dylan needed Cori to take it back afterward, but once she was done coughing Cori rasped that it was all true. He saw it in her eyes. It had really all happened. Cori needed to know how he felt after that, but Dylan shut down. He couldn't process the feelings tearing him apart, let alone share them with his wife. He wasn't angry. That wouldn't be fair, because he'd encouraged all of it, but he was freaked the fuck out and couldn't talk about it.

Things were strained between them since then. Cori gave up exhorting him to talk, which made Dylan feel even guiltier. He had to address it all with her. He just didn't know where to begin.

"Hey, come back from outer space, dude. You zoned out again. I think you need to slow down on the Jamison's," Baines said, moving the shot glass away from Dylan on the bar, even though it was empty.

“I can’t really talk about it. I appreciate the support, man, but I just need to work through some stuff. I probably should have stayed home tonight. I knew I would be shit company.”

“Damn, you and Cori are having problems, aren’t you? Last time I saw you guys together you seemed so cool. Especially her. I don’t think I’ve seen Cori that chill in ages.”

“Cori’s good. She’s fine. Everything is fine. We’re not getting divorced or anything. There’s just some stuff going on and I have to work through my shit. Don’t worry, we’ll be back to the same old boring couple you expect.”

Dylan knew that last sentence was a lie. He didn’t think things would ever be the same with Cori again. She’d flown too close to the sun and now he was the wings that were burning and melting. Dylan loved Cori as much as ever and didn’t judge her—he didn’t think he did. He tried not to. But he didn’t know if he’d ever see his wife the same way again, knowing just how capable she was of losing control. That wasn’t as negative as it sounded, which was part of Dylan’s problem and the root of his confusion.

For all the time he had known her, a piece of Dylan—a piece he’d buried deep, deep down—wished he’d known Cori back in her wild, younger partying days. She wasn’t exactly tame when they met, but by the time Cori was his girlfriend her days as a casual hook-up girl were over. It was a twisted desire, but he wanted to see the Cori who got drunk and stoned, met a boy she liked and went off into the woods with him, or to the backseat of his car, or later his dorm room. He wanted to see that fire in her and see how she casually gave in to her lust. In short, he wanted to see Cori in action. Seth warned him that this fantasy version of his wife was overblown, but it was so deeply ingrained in Dylan.

Circumstance had finally made his forbidden wish a reality. Dylan might have thought it was some of that magic from The Secret and his desires made it happen, but he knew that was all bullshit. Cori finally exposed the hidden side he’d always craved, and Dylan didn’t know what to do with it. He didn’t know if that beast could be tamed now that it was unchained, but that wasn’t even the real problem. What had really plunged him into such a dark place was that Dylan didn’t want the beast to be tamed. He had a beast of his own, and it wanted to cheer on his wife. Dylan didn’t see Cori the same but was utterly enthralled by the incandescent, rapturous sexual creature she had become. Dylan didn't believe the money had much to do with her behavior at all. Cori wanted to do it and the money was just the excuse. Dylan wanted it too, and it made him question everything about himself. No real man wants his wife to be a filthy, dirty whore, but that was exactly what he wanted. He couldn't tell Cori that.

"I hope so, dude. You need to figure your shit out. I hope this isn't some midlife crisis bullshit. You outkicked your coverage with Cori. I love you like a brother, but you're never doing better than her. You need to keep Cori."

"Believe me, I know it. and I'm not having a midlife crisis. I don't think so anyway. Maybe I am. Or maybe she is. We're just in a weird season of our marriage."

"This is why I stay single, so I don't need to go through seasons."

"Please. If you had met a girl like Cori, you'd be wearing a ring too, man."

"That's probably true. She is one-of-a-kind. But honestly, we're both too intense. I think we would have killed each other long ago. She needs a chill guy like you."

"Thanks, I think I needed to hear that."

"No problem, dude."

The men were silent for a few minutes, watching the game. The Flyers were down by two goals in the third period, and it wasn't looking good. They had no offense that night. Dylan realized Baines was right about why he and Cori were a good match. He was equally sure that, bad match or not, Baines would take a shot with Cori, if she were available. Dylan figured Baines was thinking about the same thing, though that could have just been him projecting. Too much of his time lately was filled with thoughts of his wife with other men.

"I can see Cori going through some midlife horseshit. It kind of makes sense," Baines said.

"How so?"

"There's the job stuff, first of all. That shows she wanted to make a big change."

"Right, but it's not what you think," Dylan lied.

"Yeah, I know, that's all teasing. But seriously, it's a big change. She's been mostly home with the kids forever, now she's out there. Maybe she's reevaluating herself, seeing some things differently. One change often leads to another.”

“That’s weirdly insightful coming for you.”

“Wiseass,” Baines cracked. He finished his beer and waggled the bottle in the air to signal the bartender he wanted another. “And don’t get all weird about it, but the way she was dressed when she came home the other night?”

“What do you mean?” Dylan asked, excitement tickling down his spine. His cock started to perk up in his jeans.

“Dude, that little dress she was wearing when she came home from work? When does Cori ever wear short shit like that? I mean, she should. Her legs are rockin’, but she doesn’t wear little minidresses. And I know she wasn’t wearing a bra. Sure, she doesn’t have to with those cute little tits, but she always does.”

“Careful, that’s my wife’s cute little tits you’re talking about.”

They paused when the bartender brought Baines a fresh beer. She placed one in front of Dylan too, assuming he was dry. He wasn’t, but that was easily fixed. Dylan nodded thanks to the bartender and downed the rest of his beer. It was his fourth beer and he felt it, his buzz increased by the two shots of Jamison’s he’d done. He craved a third but knew it was a terrible idea. Dylan was too attracted to terrible ideas lately. Dylan caught the bartender’s eye and tapped his empty shot glass. She poured a fresh measure of the amber liquid.

“I wouldn’t have said anything about it if you hadn’t brought it up,” Baines said. He asked the bartender, “Can I get one of those too, honey?”

Dylan would never have called the cute bartender honey. He would have expected a dirty look if he did. Baines got a warm smile, even though he was nearly old enough to be the girl’s father. Women just ate up Baines’ charm.

“I did not bring up my wife’s tits,” Dylan said, trying to muster an offended tone.

“Not her tits, her midlife crisis.”

“Her tits are part of her midlife crisis?”

Dylan was playing dumb because his brain was short-circuiting from discussing Cori’s breasts with his best friend. It was not a conversation he ever thought they’d be having. He recalled how seeing Baines staring at Cori’s body that night electrified him. Dylan had been left with very disturbing thoughts, which were all coming back to him now. Every furtive glance and flirty comment from Baines directed toward Cori had a new context in Dylan's brain.

"I think showing them off is."

"What makes you so sure Cori was showing off her tits?"

"Come on, dude. She didn't go out in that dress unless she wanted to show off. Her nips were perked right up. Did she wear that to work, or change for happy hour or something? She's always going on about that wellness and spiritual crap around giving massages when I rag her about giving happy endings, but if she wore that for her clients she was definitely not going for a breezy, new age vibe. I'm not crazy, right? Something's going on with Cori and that's what's got you so bent."

"It's not what you think," Dylan said, trying to think of exactly what he should and shouldn't say. He lifted his shot and raised it. Baines toasted him and they both downed their Jamison's. "Yeah, Cori's going through some changes and that means adjustments for everyone in our family, but I think it's a huge leap to assume that Cori suddenly wants to show off her body in public. I mean, why would she?"

"We both know she likes attention. She's coy, she doesn't initiate it, but she loves to flirt. She's over forty now. Could be she needs to capture some of that old magic to feel sexy. I'm sure you tell her she's beautiful, but it's different coming from other guys than it is coming from your husband. That's why if you go out to the bar on a Friday night married chicks in their forties and fifties are such easy marks. You give them the attention their husbands aren't, buy them a few drinks, and they're going home with you."

Dylan stared into his beer, consumed with the idea of Cori out at some bar, a smooth customer like Baines starts hitting her on, and next thing you know she's going home with him. He saw it so clearly, Cori blowing the guy in his living room before going back to the bedroom and wrapping her arms and legs around him. Afterward, she slips out of his bed, finds her dress on the floor, and slinks home to Dylan. That was exactly how old Cori behaved, and now she was awakened again. Was that the next step? Dylan couldn't handle that. Tying her fun to her work made it feel controlled. He did not want his wife going out seeking one-night stands.

"I give Cori plenty of attention," Dylan defensively replied.

"But it's not the same as when another guy does it, that's what I'm saying."

“Another guy like you?” Dylan regretted it the moment he said it, but the words just slipped out of his mouth.

Baines looked confused like he understood the context, but it didn’t compute. “Yeah, like me, I guess. I like seducing married women sometimes. There’s the extra thrill of conquering another man’s woman, but I’m not going to seduce Cori.”

“But if you saw a woman like her out at the bar, you would. She’s the type you’d go for,” Dylan pushed. Shut up, he thought. What the hell are you doing?

“Uh, yeah, I guess so. What are you getting at, dude? It sounds like you’re asking if I’d fuck your wife.”

“I’m not asking you to fuck Cori,” Dylan hurriedly replied. Baines stared at him, and he had to keep going. “But like, you guys have flirted for years. I know you wouldn’t snake me and do her, but if you’d met her first you totally would have fucked her, right? Or if I was out of the picture?”

“This has a taken a weird turn. You’re asking me if I’d fuck Cori?” Baines paused, searching Dylan’s face. Dylan wanted to crawl away and hide. Going out tonight had been a terrible idea, as was starting this conversation. He needed to wipe away the last ten minutes.

“I’m sure every guy in this bar would fuck Cori. If she strolled in here in some little dress. I’m a man, so yeah, if she came in here, and she wasn’t your wife, damn right I’d try to take her home. But the flirting’s just a game, dude. It’s like our thing. If it bothers you, I’ll stop. I don’t mean anything by it. There’s no need to be jealous.”

“I’m not jealous, and I know you’re not up to anything, man. I trust you like a brother. Don’t pay attention to me. I’m drunk, and as I said, it’s a weird time. Forget about all of this. I should go home.”

“Yeah, maybe you should. You can’t drive though.”

“I’ll text Cori and have her pick me up.”

“Tell her to wear that dress if you want to see how guys will react.”

“Haha, maybe I’ll do that,” Dylan replied, clapping his friend on the shoulder.

Dylan texted Cori that he needed a ride and went to wait outside. He hoped the chilly night air would sober him up before she arrived. Baines said he’d wait outside with Dylan, but he wanted to be alone. As Dylan stood there in the cold night, he went right back to thoughts of Cori showing up at the bar in some tiny dress and flirting with every hot guy in the place, just like the old days. And just like the old days, if someone caught her fancy, she'd go off with him, at least for a blow job in his car in the parking lot. But instead of it being some generic guy, that guy was his best friend, Baines. Dylan saw his wife and best friend laughing, drinking, and flirting in the bar before going out to Baines's truck. Baines' hand would go up her dress to see if she was pantyless to match her lack of a bra. She would be. Cori would take out his dick and blow Baines right there in the front seat of his truck, right in the parking lot, where anyone could catch them—where even Dylan could see them.

By the time Cori arrived to pick him up, he told her to park the minivan in the back of the parking lot and he was all over her.

Chapter Five

Cori was with Seth when she received Dylan's message to pick him up from the bar. Seth had been sending her texts ever since his talk with Dylan and she was dodging them. Cori had known Seth since elementary school, and she knew what he was thinking. Dylan swore he played it cool with Seth and made it all about himself, but Cori knew that wouldn't stop Seth's imagination from running wild. Seth would have a thousand questions for her, and she had no idea how to answer them. But she couldn't avoid Seth forever. She finally told him to come over to the house for a hangout. Like a lot of friends who have known each other forever, there was no bullshit between Cori and Seth. He cut right to the chase.

"Had an interesting talk with your husband," Seth said, kicking back in the family room with a beer.

"I knew that's why you've been texting me like a madman. It wasn't because you were looking for hand-me-downs for Stella."

"Yeah, no. But do you have any?"

"I have a box of stuff for you. Anyway, what seed did Dylan plant in your head?" Cori was beside him on the couch but stuck to water. It had been a day of ordinary treatments, but she was still left exhausted and needed to hydrate.

"I think Dylan wants to be a cuck," Seth said, throwing it right out there like he always did.

"A cuck? Like the political thing?"

"Don't play dumb with me. He told me he talked to you about his new feelings. Is that not true?"

"No, we've talked."

“He had a ton of questions. I tried to tell him that it’s perfectly natural for a boy to have strange new feelings at this time of his life.” Seth laughed, pleased with himself.

“Don’t be an asshole. That’s my husband you’re talking about.”

“Yeah, sorry Cor. But what’s going on? Dylan was cagey, like he wanted to talk about something, but not talk about it. I don’t see you guys as swingers unless something’s changed.”

“We’re not considering swinging. It isn’t anything like that. I don’t think swinging is for me.”

“If you ever change your mind...”

“I know, Donny, you’re always there,” she replied patting his leg. Donny was an old nickname from when they were younger. Their crew was the kind that called each other by last names, like Dylan and Baines. “But I don’t think Andi would be down for that. Aren’t certain people off limits?”

Seth grinned wolfishly. “If you and Dylan were into it, I think she’d make an exception.”

Cori laughed. “You’re saying that Andi wants to fuck my husband, so she’d deal with you fucking me?”

“Something like that. But don’t keep changing the subject. What are you and Dylan up to? That was not a casual chat the other day.”

“He told you he’s going through some stuff, right? He’s just got these ideas and he’s not sure how to deal with them.”

Seth sipped his beer and stared her down, clearly not buying what Cori was pushing. “And it has nothing to do with anything you’re doing?”

“What would I be doing?”

“Dylan said it’s about your job.”

Cori had her first oh shit moment. Dylan swore he didn’t give anything away to Seth, but he clearly said something about her work. She had to guess how much Dylan had said to avoid spilling anything to Seth. She should have talked to Dylan before seeing Seth, but they were hardly speaking since the other day.

Dylan swore he was fine, and he didn’t hate her or want a divorce or anything, but Cori feared she’d broken him. He was oddly quiet, and when they were in the same room, he was skittish, like he didn’t know how to react to her. This was what Cori feared from the beginning. Dylan swore he wanted this, but what if he just couldn’t handle it? Wanting it was one thing. Facing the reality of it was quite another. Cori hadn’t done any special appointments since her night with Mayde and Roger, and she thought she should probably cancel her appointment with Steve for tomorrow. The fun probably had to end. The thing was, Cori didn't want it to. It scared her too, but she felt like she was just starting.

"I'm a therapeutic massage therapist. It's not that different from being a physical therapist. My job isn't responsible for whatever Dylan is feeling." She felt bad lying to her oldest friend.

"But you're not a physical therapist, Cor. Physical therapists don't do the things massage therapists sometimes do. You know what I mean."

"Not you too. Really, Donny? Cori faked exasperation well. She channeled the frustration she felt with her husband at Seth.

"Apparently Dylan's head is filled with images of you jerking guys off, or whatever, so I have to ask. Sure, maybe it's all just fantasies he has, but Dylan's pretty levelheaded. I don't see him taking off on a flight of fancy."

"Just come out and ask it, Donny. I know you're dying to."

"Are you jerking guys off for money, Cor? Or does Dylan just want you to?" Seth sat back, grinning broadly, and waited for her answer. He might as well have had a bucket of popcorn in his lap. He was way too entertained.

Cori could have just lied, as she had been, but she thought Seth would see through it. She would deny it all night and he couldn't prove anything, but he would know. Cori could have confessed the truth but didn't know how to do that. She could swear him to secrecy, and she did trust him, but Seth would at least tell Andi, and Cori would always wonder if he'd let it slip and their group was talking about her. It was the last thing she needed in their incestuous little group. They were all just friends, but she knew those guys would line right up for her services. Cori felt trapped and had to dodge.

"Dylan has some interesting fantasies about my work. Maybe I've teased him a little, but I was just teasing him back—him and his buddy Baines. Baines has been acting like I'm working down at the local sleazy massage parlor."

"Kind of a cool thought," Seth confessed.

"Screw off. So yes, I've teased back, and it gets Dylan going in a way he didn't expect. I didn't expect it either. It's not like the Dylan I know."

"I don't think we ever really know what we're into, or what we might do until we're faced with it. How do you know if you'd be into your wife jerking guys off until it comes up, right?"

Cori laughed with Seth. “Yeah, right? I guess not. None of this even entered my mind when I decided to do this. Dylan never said anything about it when I was going to school. Really, in my head what I do is a thousand miles away from that other stuff. I guess I was naïve that I didn’t make the connection.”

“Guys are gonna be guys. We can’t help ourselves. I hadn’t really thought about it either, but now that it’s in my head...”

“Really? You too, Donny? You’re my friend. Shouldn’t you be better than that?”

Seth laughed, while looking at her with a naked desire she hadn’t seen in years. Their period of hooking up, when she was nineteen, had been brief, but intense. They didn’t date as much as rip each other’s clothes off every chance they got. It was a scorching two weeks in the middle of summer. But Cori knew they worked better as friends, and after some convincing, Seth had agreed. But that heat had never completely gone away, and she saw it in Seth again now.

“You know I’m not better than that, Cor.”

“I hope you didn’t come over here thinking you’re going to get something,” she warned, feeling a charge in the air. Cori wouldn’t. Not with Seth.

“I do have a fresh fifty in my wallet...”

Cori blurt laughed. “You think you could get me for fifty? I’m not a cheap whore.”

“So, there is a price?”

“Fuck off, Donny.”

“Does Dylan want you to do it?”

“What did he tell you?”

“I think he really wants you to do it.”

“What if he does? Do you think that would be a good idea?”

Seth leaned forward, coming closer. They were already close on the couch, their legs brushing. Cori sat on a leg tucked up under her, and her knee pressed into his hip. She focused on that physical contact in a way she shouldn’t. It was Seth, after all.

“What if he does? Do you want to do it? We’ve been talking about Dylan the whole time. We haven’t talked at all about how you feel about this all, Cor.”

“You’re asking if I want to jerk off guys for money?”

“Maybe it’s not just for the money. You could be into it. Don’t forget, I knew you back in the day, Cor. You were glowing when you realized a guy was into you, even if you weren’t into him. And you were always nice about it, not like one of those stuck-up bitches.”

“Thanks, I think.”

“It’s a compliment, Cor. And I know you hooked up with guys you weren’t into, just because they were into you, almost like a thank you.”

Cori swatted at Seth. “You make me sound like a slut! I was not a slut, Donny!” Cori remembered Grace was in the other room doing homework and lowered her voice, repeating. “I was not a slut.”

“I didn’t say you fucked them. You just hooked up.”

“Is hooking up really a big deal?” Cori asked. It was that kind of thinking that brought her to where she was now. Thinking a hand job for a hundred bucks wasn’t anything led directly to Cori being in that hotel room with Mayde and Roger—which may have broken Dylan. But Cori was who she was. She still didn’t think hooking up, or giving a hand job, was that big of a deal.

“I don’t think so. And clearly you don’t either. Which brings me back to, would you do it, Cor?”

Cori smiled enigmatically. “You’re dying to hear me say yes, aren’t you?”

“You’re not saying no.”

“I confess to nothing. Whoever’s dick I might put my hand on is between me and my husband, Donny.”

“That’s not fair. You know about me and Andi.”

“I didn’t say there was anything to know, did I?” Cori was enjoying this too much. She didn’t dare look down but imagined Seth was hard as she contemplated her jerking off guys, which gave her an unexpected tingle in her core. She was like Schrodinger’s Whore: to Seth, she was both jerking off clients and not doing it. He would lose his mind if he knew the truth.

“You’re being a bitch,” Seth complained.

“Poor baby.”

They could have gone on like that, but it was when she received the text that she had to pick up Dylan from the bar, where he’d apparently gotten drunk with Baines, and she kicked Seth—and his hard-on—out of her house.

Cori started on Dylan the moment he slid into the passenger seat of the minivan. “Seth thinks I’m jerking off my clients because of you.”

“I didn’t tell him that. I wouldn’t, Cor,” Dylan complained, slamming the door. The words were loose in his drunken mouth, and she smelled the booze on him—beer and something else.

“He at least thinks you want me to. He thinks you might have asked me to.”

“I didn’t ask you to. You wanted to.”

“Is this the place for this, Dylan?” She shifted into drive and pulled away from the front of the bar.

“What did you tell him?”

“I didn’t tell him anything, but he knows I was holding back. He’s always going to suspect I’m doing something, even if I never say anything.”

Dylan smiled, sloppy and drunk. “He knows you too well.”

“That’s not helping,” she replied, cruising toward the exit.

“Go to the back of the parking lot,” Dylan directed.

“Why? We’re not talking about this here. It can wait until the kids are in bed.”

“I don’t want to talk. Go to the back of the parking lot, Cori. Now.”

Normally, she would have laughed at Dylan for trying to order her around, but it was kind of sexy in her current mood and she was happy he was done with the cold shoulder routine, even if Dylan going from not talking to her for three days to wanting to screw in a bar parking lot gave her whiplash.

Dylan didn’t even wait for her to stop but dove between the two middle captain’s seats to the back row bench seat, cursing as he banged his knee on something. Cori threw it into park and followed him. She paused to slide one of the middle seats forward on its track so they would have some room. She dove into the gap between the seats and straddled Dylan, ducking so she didn’t bump her head. He clumsily worked at the buttons on her loose, denim-blue chambray shirt, but moved too slowly. Cori unbuttoned the cuffs and yanked it over her head, bending awkwardly to remove it. Dylan grabbed her ass when she leaned forward to pull at her shirt. The tank top she wore under the shirt followed, leaving Cori in a purple, strappy racerback bra.

“Should I be concerned that hanging out at the bar with Baines got you so horny?” she asked, giggling as she wrestled his shirt over his head.

“Nice to know I get you so horny when I’m not even there.”

Cori was silenced when he frantically kissed her. He held her face in both hands and attacked like he wanted to consume her. His flashes of sexual aggression had always excited her, but it was concerning when it came on the heels of his recent weird behavior. Cori didn’t pause to think about it but went with him. She always had more fun when she didn’t slow down to think about what she was doing. After years of being the family’s planner, she was enjoying sliding back into being the impulsive one.

Dylan shoved his hands into her leggings and grabbed Cori’s tight, naked ass, which was split by a black thong. Her tongue wrestled with his, while she wrestled with Dylan’s belt. It became clear she wasn’t getting his jeans off without moving and slipped down to her knees in front of him. Something crunched under her knee, and she tried not to think about it. Dylan lifted his butt and she yanked his pants and boxers down in one smooth motion, stripping her husband like she was a pro. His cock popped right up, and she was relieved he wasn’t suffering whiskey dick. Dylan’s brain may have wanted it, but that didn’t mean his body was going to cooperate, and she could tell he was hammered.

Cori grabbed his dick and stroked it, staring up at him. His fire for her flashed in his eyes, but she saw something else there too, something dark. It wasn’t quite the way a husband looked at their wife, even during hot sex, and it sent a shiver down her spine. It wasn’t enough to slow her down, and Cori stroked him while grinning evilly.

“Is this for me or some hot bartender?”

“You...” he groaned, pulling her in, pushing her face at him. “Can’t stop thinking about you, Cor.”

She let him pull her mouth down on his cock. Dylan wasn’t gentle. He jammed her down, forcing in as much as she’d take. Cori sucked in air through her nose and sucked him. She should have pushed him away and asked what the fuck, but she sucked him fiercely. Dylan needed to get something out and Cori felt she had to let him. It could be the thing that relieved the pressure between them. Dylan gripped her head tightly and fucked her mouth up and down on him. Cori gagged and dug her nails into his bare thighs, but she stole breaths where she could and sucked him like her life depended on it. The minivan filled with sounds of Dylan's moans and labored breathing, and Cori's muffled grunts as she struggled to keep up with her husband. It brought her back to Roger forcing his cock down her throat and Cori did what she did that night, focusing on pleasuring the meat in her mouth, and her breathing.

Dylan's moves became erratic and his breathing ragged. Cori was sure he was about to fill her mouth with cum and braced herself, but he stopped, ripping her mouth from his shaft. His eyes were wild when she looked up at him and he fumbled to pull her back onto his lap. What is wrong with him? Cori thought. Their encounter was just turning weird, and finally she didn't know if she liked it. Dylan was behaving like an animal. It was fun to play-act that she was a whore, but it felt like Dylan was really treating her like one.

"Dylan, babe," she said, hoping to slow him down.

"Cor...come up...I need you..." he pleaded.

Cori wiggled out of her leggings and thong and climbed onto his lap, holding his shaft straight up. She sank onto him with a satisfied moan. It didn't make all her reservations disappear, but things also felt right when her husband was inside her. Cori would give him what he needed, but then he'd better be prepared to talk.

Dylan couldn't think straight. He was driven by primal urges. All he wanted was to stick his dick in his sexy wife. He rammed her mouth down on his cock like the paid whore she'd become and was frightened by how much he loved using her that way. He'd never thought of using Cori in all their years together. Even when it was just sex, and not making love, he never felt like he'd used her. They were there for each other. That wasn't always the case for Cori, he knew. Sometimes his wife just had the itch and just wanted to get off, with Dylan being along for the ride. Sex with Cori was always fantastic, so he never complained about it.

Anger surged through him when he jammed it into her mouth. Dylan thought about how she willingly let Roger fuck her throat for money—except it wasn't just for money. He knew damn well Cori took it because she wanted it. He was sure she wanted to fuck Roger that night too. It was what he wanted, wasn't it? Dylan knew it was, which was why he was so confused. Everything about a normal marriage told Dylan he should be angry with Cori for being a slut, but he wasn't truly angry with her. Cori was being Cori, and Dylan told her that was what he wanted. She would never have just gone ahead and done any of this without his assent. Dylan fucked her mouth because he wanted to turn his anger outward at her, but it was directed toward himself. He had feelings about Cori's behavior he couldn't sort, but he knew where he was with himself. He just couldn't understand why he was this way.

Cori settled down on his cock and tightened around him. Dylan was in heaven. Feeling his wife's pussy gripping him focused Dylan. She ground her hips against him, and he looked at her in the dark confines of their minivan and he felt nothing but desire for this woman. How could he want to share her? How could he ever risk losing her? But thoughts of sharing her consumed him. He was so out of control that he couldn't keep his mouth shut and Dylan was pretty sure Baines was convinced Dylan wanted him to fuck Cori. Once that thought rushed into his head, Dylan imagined it was Baines in the backseat of the minivan, Cori riding him right outside a crowded bar. He groaned and his cock surged inside her. It was so easy to picture his best friend and wife doing it like he'd already witnessed the act and was just reliving it. He grabbed her hips and worked Cori on his lap, pushing up from the seat to get deeper inside Cori.

"Babe...feels so good...ahh..." Cori moaned, her hands on his shoulders, nails digging in.

Dylan felt her hot, smooth, toned back, feeling for her bra clasp, but felt none. He wanted to play with her bare tits. He squeezed a hand between their bodies, but it was tough in the tight confines of the vehicle. Cori reached in and flicked her bra open for him. Dylan covered a breast and felt the stiff nub at its tip burrow into his palm. She moaned, thrusting hard onto him.

"Ahh...babe...like you...all fired up..." she moaned.

"Fucking hot...you're so fucking hot...can't stop...thinking about..."

"Me and Roger? You don't hate it?" she panted, slowing down riding him, but working her core harder around him.

"God...fuck...can't believe...you did it...he fucked..."

"My throat, babe. He fucked my throat like he owned me because he paid for me..."

“Because you’re a whore...”

“Yeah...ahh...a dirty whore...you love it...”

“Fuck, Cor...I do...all I think about...”

“You don’t want me to stop?” she teased.

“Uhn...no! Cori...”

“You want me sucking more dick?”

“Uhn...fuck yes...”

“Mmm...seeing Steve tomorrow...”

“Fuck...Cori...yeah...do it...”

Dylan pushed both his hands between them and palmed both her tits. He pinched her nipples and Cori trembled on top of him. Her head was cocked at a weird angle until she leaned all the way back and held onto the two seats behind her to keep from falling back. Cori was stretched out like she was on display for him. The way she displayed herself for Roger on that massage table, with Mayde’s face buried between her legs. Dylan’s body sizzled.

A flash of headlights illuminated the interior of the minivan and Dylan froze, but Cori moved her muscles around him, like the chance of being seen excited her. That was the Cori he always wanted to know. It was the same Cori who came into their family room and dropped down right next to Baines in her sexy outfit and flirted with him. Dylan put Baines in his place again, saw Cori impaled on Baines in the minivan. His balls tightened.

“Has to be our secret, babe,” Cori moaned. “Seth knows you want me to handle clients, thinks I might be doing it.”

“You want him to know,” Dylan groaned, surprising himself. It was a weird time for his old insecurities about Seth to pop up.

“Ahh...babe...no...” Cori moaned. The tightening of her pussy around him suggested otherwise.

“You like him thinking it...like the attention, Cori,” Dylan pressed.

“Mmm...no babe...no one...can know...”

“But you like them thinking about it.”

“Ahh...them?”

“Baines knows something’s up. He thinks I want you to fuck him.”

Cori’s eyes flew open, and she looked as confused as he felt. Dylan wasn’t the one on his back heel for once. He could see Cori torn between desire and logic, just like he’d been.

“Ahh..god...no...why...”

Dylan smirked. "He sees the change in you. I denied it, but he saw right through me. He sees it because he wants it, just like Seth," Dylan taunted, pulling her back into him. Cori's body slapped back to his and her snatch squished around him when their position shifted. She was drenched. Her pussy told the truth, even when she denied it.

"They know you...they see you...they want it to be true...they want it, Cori..."

"Ahh no...babe I can't..."

"Baines wants to fuck you. You know it. Don't you?" His voice took a hard edge, not anger, but determination. Dylan was determined to make Cori come with him and confess the truth while she did it.

"Ahh...babe..."

"The way he looks at you...flirts with you...how he looked at you the other night..."

"Yeah...I saw it..."

"He wants to fuck you," Dylan demanded.

"Yes! Ahh, fuck yes! You want it... Say it!" Cori growled, too loudly for such a public place. That hardly mattered, though, as the minivan was rocking around them. Dylan forcefully jammed Cori up and down on his prick.

"Yeah...Cor...yeah I do..." His answer spilled out. He was too drunk and horny to keep it in.

"You want to whore me to Baines..."

"Yes..." he hissed.

"I'll fuck him if you want it..."

"Uhn...god Cor..."

"I'll be such a good little whore for you..."

"Uhn...Cor...fuck..."

"Do you want it?"

"Yes! Fuck yes!"

"Anything for you babe. I love you," Cori moaned, bouncing so hard her head banged into the roof.

"You love whoring," he groaned.

"Yeah...so hot...when Mayde and Roger..."

Cori came first, which pleased Dylan immensely. He couldn't recall the last time she came before he did. She squealed and locked around him. Dylan kept hunching his hips up at her and Cori's spasming pussy drew the jizz up out of his balls. He grunted into her shoulder as his essence jetted up into his wife. He locked his arms around her and clung as tightly as she did.

Later, after Cori cleaned up with tissues from her purse and pulled her clothes back on, she asked, “How much of that was real?”

“Of?” Dylan asked, uneasy. He wasn’t comfortable with everything he admitted. Honestly was usually best in a marriage, but he confessed dangerous fantasies.

“You know what I mean. You didn’t really tell Baines you want him to fuck me, did you?”

“No, I didn’t tell him that. But our conversation got weird. I drank too much, I had too much on my mind. I said some things I shouldn’t have.”

“Like?”

“It’s kind of a blur, honestly, Cor. But I think I got him to admit he’d fuck you if I was out of the picture.”

“Why would you do that? I think we all already knew that, but why would you press it?”

“I haven’t been in my right mind since the other night. You know that. It’s a lot to process, and I think it all came tumbling out.”

“All of it?” Cori crossed her arms and stared at him. She was back in the driver’s seat, but Dylan remained in the back, trying to avoid the wet spot on the seat.

“No, not all of it, but probably too much.”

“You need to talk to me and stop saying strange things to our friends. How am I going to face anyone if they figure this out?”

“I know. I need to lock it down. Sorry, Cor.”

Dylan realized that while he was so consumed with the fear Cori would lose control, he was the one who was out of control. He was just flailing. Dylan wanted Cori to keep going, but maybe he just couldn’t handle it.

“If this is too much for you, I can stop.”

“You don’t want that.”

“I don’t,” Cori said. Her admission made his spent balls tingle. “But your sanity is more important. I don’t want to see you lose it, babe.”

“I won’t. I see things clearer now.”

Cori laughed. “Because you made Baines tell you he wants me, and then fucked me in the minivan.”

Dylan smiled wryly. “Something like that. I do think this is one of the most honest moments we’ve had. You’re not just doing this for the money, Cori.”

“No, I’m not. I like how it makes me feel. I love feeling the desire and the power when I make these men come. And I don’t know why, but I like the feeling of being bought too. Maybe I need therapy.”

“Or you just need more clients to satisfy your cravings.”

“It sounds like you don’t want me to limit it to clients. I asked how much of all that was true, and you didn’t really answer.”

Dylan looked away. He knew what she was asking.

“Do you really want me to fuck Baines?”

“Christ, Cori, I don’t know why, but when I think about it...”

“You know that’s a terrible idea. Like, the worst idea ever.”

“I’m well aware. I know it’s something I just need to flush from my system.”

“Would that happen if I really did it?”

“Did what?” he stupidly asked.

“If I fucked Baines, would that get it out of your system?”

Dylan stared at Cori. She couldn’t have just said that. If she did, she had to be screwing with him. He chuckled and said, “Yeah, sure, if you fuck Baines, I think I’ll get over it.”

“And you know what an awful idea it is? We should not be mixing my business with our friends.”

“It’s insanity. I know that, Cor.”

“But knowing that you still want me to do it?” The intensity came off her in waves, like sheets of wind-driven rain in a hurricane.

“The idea has taken hold in my head, but I know it’s not something that should ever really happen. I can just deal with it.”

“We both know it’s reckless and the worst idea ever, but if it’s something you truly want, I’ll do it. If you think it’ll cure your obsession, I’ll do it.”

“Cori, you can’t be serious,” he replied, knowing damn well she was serious. Her posture was stiff, her blue eyes blazing. “Are you? Would you?”

Cori cracked a smile. "I'm not going to pretend it would be a chore, but I'd be doing it for you, to get this insanity out of your head. You really want this to happen."

"There are so many reasons it shouldn't, Cori. So many very, very good reasons, and no good reasons why it should."

"Except that you want it. Me being with clients gets you hot, but you keep coming back to this. This is what you want, I think."

"Wouldn't it change everything?"

"Probably, hopefully not. We're all adults. You know I can just enjoy sex for what it is. It doesn't have to mean anything more than the moment. And Baines is the same way. I think he could be cool about it, especially if it was just part of a treatment."

"You want to do the massage thing with him?"

Cori smiled wilder. "Think of how it would blow his mind, after all that teasing."

"Yeah, he wouldn't know what to do," Dylan said, but he didn't believe it. Baines would know exactly what to do if he ever got his hands on Cori. Letting that happen was colossally stupid, like inviting the wolf right into the sheep pen.

"What do you want, Dylan?" she asked.

"Fuck, Cori," he groaned.

Chapter Six

Cori regretted their decision the next morning. She had no idea what possessed her to suggest she should screw Baines. Dylan had annoyed her by spilling his guts to Seth and Baines, and she wanted to tweak him, but that didn't exactly explain it. Cori could blame her post-coital bliss for poor decision-making, but she didn't make stupid decisions every time she came, so it wasn't really that either. But Cori's brain was swimming in endorphins, and that flood came right when they were both obsessing on her doing the forbidden nasty with her husband's best friend. It's like it was imprinted on her brain in that moment and Cori couldn't stop herself from just throwing it out there.

Dylan wasn't supposed to take it seriously. Cori wanted him to be shocked and squirm and reject it out of hand. Maybe she sold it too well. He wouldn't bite if she didn't seem serious, but the idea was pinballing around in her head, and it was easy to sound serious about it because the idea of seducing Baines appealed to all of those dark parts of her that Cori had recently excavated. She loved risks and she loved being bad and she was seduced by the forbidden. Being with Baines checked all those boxes. But still, Cori didn't have any burning desire to sleep with her husband's lifelong best friend. At least she didn't think she did. Baines had been around for twenty years and she'd never actively lusted after him. Cori firmly blamed Dylan for planting the idea.

Baines was just like many of her guy friends—and most of her friends were guys. Cori had girlfriends, too, but she'd spent her formative years hanging out with the boys from the neighborhood. They were her older brother's friends first, but they became her friends just as much. Cori hated the cattiness and competitiveness when a group of women got together. It wasn't all women. Cori had a core group of what she called cool chicks. She had the ladies she ran with on Saturday mornings and occasionally drank wine with on Saturday evenings. And there were a couple of ride-or-die bitches from college. But Cori had always felt like she could most be herself and let her hair down with the guys. There was always that sexual undertone, but Cori easily blew that off if the boys could behave themselves. They could have their dirty thoughts if they kept them to themselves—and they mostly did—and Cori could keep the secret that she liked knowing the boys wanted to fuck her. It was one of the reasons why she'd so casually hooked up with several of them when they were young, and why it was meaningless. They were all just friends, no one wanted to date—at least that they would admit. They knew she wouldn't go there. Cori didn't think of herself as a tease, but if she ever analyzed it, she'd realize that maybe she hooked up with her guy friends—hooked up, not fucked (usually)—to keep their attention.

It wasn't quite the same with Baines, but close. He was aggressively flirty from the first time they met, just after she started seeing Dylan. Cori questioned if Baines was trying to snake her from his best friend until she got to know him. It was just his way. Baines didn't have many boundaries and would do anything for a laugh. He had an if-it-feels-good-do-it philosophy very similar to Cori's. Once she figured out Baines was just messing with her—and Dylan—she enjoyed giving it back to him just hard as he threw it out there. Cori could flirt very aggressively with Baines when they were all younger but tried to do it when Dylan wasn't around. Dylan got her, but there were limits. Cori liked pushing it right to the line to force Baines to blink. She wanted him to know she had his number. Baines was all bark and no bite. And knowing that was why Cori had always been comfortable with his flirting in front of Dylan because she'd tested him and proved it was harmless.

Given their history, Cori thought Baines might just laugh at her if she even proposed they get down and dirty. He wouldn't think she was serious. If she went through with this—which was still a huge if in her mind—Cori would have to find a way to convince Baines it wasn't just a practical joke. It was telling that her brain was already swimming with ideas, no matter how much Cori protested.

“I was starting to think I’d never hear from you again.”

“I know. I’m sorry. That appointment was just a lot. I wasn’t expecting any of that. I guess I knew it wasn’t going to be as simple as it sounded, but I still wasn’t prepared for all that,” Cori said, cheeks warming as she felt silly and naïve for her admission. She didn’t consider herself a babe in the woods.

“It’s okay, girl. I tried to give you space because I know you’re still a baby to this side of the business, but I didn’t like thinking you might be mad at me,” Mayde said, reaching out to squeeze Cori’s hand.

The girls were at their usual hangout, El Camino, in their usual booth to the side of the bar, splitting a pitcher of Modelo. Cori feared it would be awkward seeing Mayde again. She truly believed that hooking up was just hooking up, but that didn’t mean she wasn’t embarrassed by how easily she’d lost control in that hotel room. It made her feel like a stereotypical suburban mom who couldn’t handle herself, and she didn’t want Mayde to see her that way.

“I wasn’t mad at you, maybe just a little bit at myself,” Cori admitted.

“You were incredible. Why would you be mad at yourself?”

“Being with a client is all about maintaining control, right? You told me that. It’s okay to have a good time and enjoy yourself too, but you’ve got to keep control of the appointment. I didn’t do that. I didn’t make deliberate decisions about what was going to happen. I just got, uh—”

“You got horny and let yourself have a good time. Nothing wrong with that, Cori. You might not want to let go quite so fully on a solo appointment, but I had your back. There wasn’t a chance Roger was going to take advantage and try to make you do something you didn’t want to.”

“Thanks, I think.” Cori grinned. “I don’t know that it felt so much like you had my back as you were egging me on, though. Felt like you wanted me to lose control.”

Mayde’s smile wasn’t evil, but dark and seductive. It suggested Mayde wanted to take Cori home and strip her and make her beg. A shiver went down Cori’s spine, where it made her core tighten and pulse. “I was curious about you. I’ll admit it. I wanted to figure you out. And yeah, I wanted to taste you, Cori. Is that bad?”

Cori returned her smile and tried to ignore the tingles sparking throughout her body. She wasn’t there for that. Besides, randomly hooking up with Mayde would be well outside her arrangement with Dylan. Mayde wasn't about to pay her for a treatment.

"It didn't feel bad," Cori confessed. "I hadn't enjoyed that in quite some time."

"Dylan doesn't go down? That boy is begging you to go out and fool around."

"No," Cori replied, laughing. "I meant with a girl. It's been a very long time for that. Dylan has no problems taking care of me. None of this is about that."

Mayde pouted. "Aw, I was hoping I was your first."

"Is first in a long time good enough?"

"It'll do."

The women held each other's gaze and Cori's heart hammered. She was sure they were about to kiss, which was another bad idea. Kissing other women in public was not a way to keep her business private. Mayde sipped her beer instead of kissing her, and Cori was disappointed.

"Have you heard from Roger?" Cori asked. "Did he feel he got his money's worth?"

"What do you think, girl? We blew that poor bastard's mind. You think he ever dreamed he'd have something like that? I know you feel kinda set up, but it really wasn't supposed to go down like that. I thought you'd help me tease him—yeah fool around with me a little—and then I'd blow him and we'd be done."

"I don't know if that makes me feel better." Cori chuckled. She looked around and was relieved no one was sitting close enough to eavesdrop. Any stranger overhearing their conversation would be scandalized. "It sounds like Roger would have been happy with half as much action. I did way too much. Worked way too hard."

"Is it work when you enjoy it that much?"

Cori smiled. "Fair point. It didn't feel like work at all, and I don't know if that's good. I don't want the line to blur."

"I told you about that one client, the one who rocked my world. It can be a lot of fun if you blur that line—at least smudge it—but you're right, it's safer to keep it clear. You don't ever want to get caught feeling things you shouldn't. It's dangerous."

Cori thought of Baines and how blurry that line would be if she serviced him. There would be no pretending that was just about money or work. "Is that the only time you've blurred the line, with that guy?"

"He's not the only client who's been good enough to make me forget I was doing it for money—not that I'd ever refuse to collect—but he's the only one I was in danger of catching feelings for. I loved the ride, but it wasn't smart. It could have worked out way worse."

Cori stalled by draining her mug and pouring herself another beer. She refilled Mayde's mug too. "Have you treated someone you knew? I mean, knew from your civilian life?"

Mayde laughed and Cori wanted to crawl under the table.

"No, because I don't want everyone in my life to know where I get my real money. There are a couple of Quan's friends who would love to get on my client list, but no, girl. That is a line I will never blur." Mayde eyed Cori suspiciously. "That's not just an idle question, is it?"

"Something's come up... with Dylan... with his best friend..."

"Dylan wants you to fuck his best friend and you're thinking about doing it," Mayde said, lips pursed like she'd tasted something sour.

"We're still working that out."

"Which means that boy wants it, but he's afraid to just say it, so he's trying to sneak up on it like it'll be okay if he's slow and sneaky about it."

"I'm the one who threw it out there if you must know."

Mayde snorted. "That boy is good. He convinced you it's your idea." Her eyes narrowed. "Unless it really is. You been wanting to fuck his friend and now you have an excuse?"

"No, I haven't been waiting for my chance to pounce on Baines. He's a good-looking guy, he's got that cocky energy that pushes a girl's buttons, but no, it's never been a thing. And yeah, Dylan's brought it up a few times in bed, but always as this out there fantasy. I think you're right, he does want it, but he doesn't. He knows how dangerous it is."

"He's right. You should listen to that instinct, girl. Is fucking his best friend a box you want to open? That's the kind of thing you can't take back and usually ends badly."

"I know. I know it's crazy to even consider. I don't know if I really am considering it. I brought it up right after sex, which means I wasn't exactly thinking clearly, right? But it does feel like Dylan is kind of obsessed with it and I just had this idea that maybe if I did something with Baines it would get it out of his system."

“And get this Baines into yours. Do I need to list all the ways this could go wrong?”

“I know, Mayde. I know. I probably won’t even do it. I don’t know why I brought it up.”

“Because you want it, girl. You know it’s the shittiest of shitty ideas, but you still want to do it. Maybe that’s why you want to do it. You, sweet Cori, are a thrill-seeker, and you want to touch the third rail, don’t you?”

“Maybe when I was younger. I’m a mature woman now. I know better.”

“Mmhm. If your mind is set on it, you’re going to do it no matter what I say, so I’m not going to try to convince you not to. But make very, very sure what you’re risking is worth it, girl. Do you want this that bad?”

“It’s not what I want. It’s Dylan. I don’t know exactly why he wants it, because he hasn’t been able to say it, but all of this stuff with clients and me touching other men has fixed this fantasy in his head, and it’s something I can give him. And sure, I’ll enjoy it too.”

Mayde shook her head. “You White people are crazy. I knew you had a wild streak that first time we talked about all this. Good luck, girl. You’re gonna need it.”

Dylan poured all his attention into setting his fantasy lineup because he needed something to focus on. Otherwise, he’d spiral out of control as he locked into his new, batshit crazy obsession—Cori fucking Baines. He literally could not think of anything else when he let his guard down. Cori should never have tossed the idea out there. She liked to tease—it was one of the fun things about her—and she liked to challenge, but this was over the line. Cori couldn’t just offer to sleep with Baines—dead serious—and just carry on as if nothing had changed.

Cori would never do it. She insisted she would and sold it convincingly. Dylan believed her when she said it, and as much as it fried his brain, his body screamed YES! The years of Baines and Cori flirting, all the times she’d dropped herself in his lap and wrapped her arms around him—only to laugh and jump away—and all the innuendos between his wife and best friend had come to this, making the thing really happen. Dylan couldn’t help but think Cori and Baines had wanted to fuck each other all this time, a dirty little secret they shared. They were just waiting for the right time to make it happen. The very thought should have been poison to Dylan, but it was sweet sugar, energizing him and giving him a heady sugar rush.

Dylan knew their flirting had gone into the danger zone over the years. He'd seen them together when they thought they were alone. Cori sitting in Baines' lap and wiggling her cute little ass for him. It had to make Baines hard, and Cori had to have felt him. That was exactly the effect she wanted to have. We both know she likes attention, Baines told him. Baines knew better than anyone. Dylan couldn't hear what Cori whispered when she leaned in so close to Baines that she could have been kissing his neck, but he could imagine. Hmm, that hard dick feels good. Bet it would feel better inside me. If we were alone right now, you have no idea what I'd do. Baines would be handsy, going for her ass, maybe groping Cori's tits. Dylan couldn't quite tell from his angle. But then Cori would jump off with that wonderful, magical laugh of hers, and leave Baines hanging. She was probably afraid they would be caught.

Those were all paranoid thoughts, and Dylan knew Cori would never really fuck Baines behind his back but painting their flirting in that light had become irresistible. Ever since Cori started touching other men for money it opened the possibility that she might touch the one man Dylan knew best. If Cori wanted to play with other men, of course Baines would be on that list. There had to be something behind those years of flirting. Cori wouldn't have to fuck Baines behind Dylan's back, because now she could just go out and do it openly. Dylan wanted her to do it. Why shouldn't she, except for the many, many reasons it was a terrible idea. A truly paranoid man might think that the whole giving hand jobs for money had been a long con by Cori to get into Baines' bed. Dylan laughed out loud at that thought. It proved he truly was going round the bend, and he had to stop. Or Cori had to do it so he could stop obsessing that it might happen.

His phone chimed and he saw a text from Cori. Come up to the bedroom. Dylan smiled. Being summoned to the bedroom was his new favorite thing.

Cori sat on the bed, wrapped in her big fluffy robe. That was disappointing, except that she was probably naked under it. He hoped for something slinky he could easily remove, but he would take naked. She patted the spot next to her on the bed and his growing erection flagged. Cori had that let's talk face.

“So, about Baines...” she began.

“I know what you said, Cor. But neither of us were in our right minds when you said it. If you think I really expect you to go through with it...”

“Stop, Dylan. Don’t do that. Don’t tell me what you think I want to hear or fall back on the safe thing. I want to know what you want. However we go forward, it has to be with all our cards on the table.”

“Okay,” he agreed, frightened and excited. His erection began to rise again.

“You want me to fuck Baines,” she didn’t say it like a question, but when Dylan didn’t jump in with an answer, Cori added, “Don’t you?”

Dylan was done hiding. He couldn’t do it anymore, staying in his head and torturing himself. He loved and trusted Cori more than anyone else in the world. She was the one person he could tell these things to. He thought of how much courage it must have taken for her to admit she wanted to touch other men for money. He owed Cori the same candor.

“Yeah, I do. I feel like there’s this whole will-they-won’t-they thing that’s been going on for years.”

“That’s all in your head, you know that don’t you babe? I haven’t been biding my time to get your best friend in bed.”

“Yeah, I know, but you have to admit you guys have this crazy sexual energy and now that you’re...uhm...open, it just seems natural you should do it. Do something with him anyway. Fucking might be going too far.”

Cori laughed. “I don’t know if natural is a word I would use, but okay. I see where you’re coming from. How far would you like me to go?”

“I really don’t know, Cor. It’s not like I’ve given this serious thought. Sure, it was in my head, but it was never a real thing. I guess if you gave him a treatment like you would with a client...”

“And give him a hand job?”

Dylan knew that wouldn’t be enough and he was ashamed to admit it. He wanted to see more. He wanted to see Cori fuck Baines, but wasn’t that too far? “More than that,” he hedged.

“Oral? Would you like me to blow him?”

“That would be so hot, Cor.”

“And what if that’s not enough?” she asked.

“For who?”

“For him? You know how Baines is. If we start things, he’s not going to want to stop there.”

“It’s not really up to him, is it?” Dylan said. Cori didn’t answer, but her silence spoke volumes. “Blowing him wouldn’t be enough for you, would it?”

Cori looked conflicted like she was afraid the truth would hurt him. But she wasn’t one to hold back. That was his job. “Don’t take this the wrong way, but I would want more. I’ve been thinking about how far I should go with clients, and I don’t know if I’ll ever be comfortable having full-on sex for money, no matter how turned on I am. I don’t want to wake up and regret it. Baines is different. He’s not just a client. And I do have this itch I want to scratch now. I’m sorry, but it’s something I want, babe.”

“You want to fuck Baines because he’s not just a client, but because you know him? That just feels so wrong, Cor.”

“Does it? I know you’re there too, babe. You’re just afraid of it.”

Dylan hated that she knew him so well. Cori was right, and he couldn’t leave her dangling. He still didn’t like the idea of Cori having sex with his best friend because of where it could lead. But on the other hand, if he had to trust a man with his wife, shouldn’t it be his best friend? And Baines knew what he was doing. If he wanted it to be incredible for Cori, Baines was the man. Releasing those years of sexual tension would be like a bomb going off. Dylan just hoped it didn’t nuke their life. He sighed and confessed the truth.

“Okay. I understand. The two of you together just makes so much sense in my head. You’re hot. He’s...well, he’s Baines. I think a guy like Baines...”

“Don’t you dare say he’s an alpha. I hate that bullshit,” Cori warned.

“I won’t say alpha.” Dylan laughed. “But Baines is that kind of guy. He’s a lady’s man, he doesn’t have trouble getting laid, but you’ve always been the forbidden fruit. You’re the one woman he can’t have.”

“Until now?” Cori asked.

“Until now,” Dylan agreed. “He can finally have what he’s always wanted.”

“And you’re giving me to him like you’re granting an indulgence?”

“Something like that. I don’t know. Maybe I just want you to blow his mind, so he knows what I have. He can have a taste, but he can’t have you.”

“I get it. This is the ultimate way to one-up him. It’s like, check out my piece of ass wife. I want you to know just what you’re missing out on. Men are so fucking ridiculous.” Cori laughed heartily.

“Like you don’t want to blow his mind, too. I know that’s part of it for you, Cor. You’re the one granting the indulgence. Like, here’s a sample. You’ve wondered all these years.”

Cori smiled smugly. “That could be some of it. I think it’s safe to say that we both have complex reasons for wanting this.”

“It turns you on just as much as it does me, Cor.”

“It’ll be fun.”

“We’re agreed. We’re going to do this.”

“I’m going to do this. If you’re lucky, I’ll let you watch.”

Dylan’s eyes lit up and he knew Cori saw it by how she smiled. “Can I?” he asked, not caring that he sounded like a kid asking to go to Disney.

“I think we can arrange something. But right now, you’re going to show me just how much you appreciate me doing this.”

Cori rose up on her knees and threw off her robe. The sheer black nightie underneath hid nothing. Her nipples were fine, dark points through the filmy fabric, begging to be teased. Her tight curves were like a taunt, barely shrouded from his eyes.

“You’re in charge,” Dylan said, reaching for her.

“I always am,” Cori sighed, giving herself to her husband.

Chapter Seven

The setup to seduce Baines was surprisingly simple when they decided to do it. Dylan got together with Baines to watch a hockey game a couple of nights later and told his friend Cori would take a look at his bum shoulder. As expected, Baines jumped at the chance to get onto her table. Dylan wanted it to be a sexy treatment like Cori could give to a client. Cori had different feelings, but she gave in to her husband's request since this was just as much for him as for her.

Cori preferred the direct approach. Treating Baines like a special client had its appeal, but she knew she wouldn't have to work that hard to get him into bed. She thought they should just get the kids out of the house, invite Baines over for the evening, and she could just tell Baines that after twenty years of flirting she was ready to see if he lived up to the hype. Cori knew it would be worth it just to see Baines sputter and wiggle on the hook while she convinced him she was serious. The convincing, she knew, would be very fun. And the direct approach had the advantage that Dylan would be right there to confirm he was on board.

Dylan didn't want to be in the room when it happened. He did, but he didn't. Cori understood when he explained it. Dylan wanted to see her in action more than anything, but he would feel like a weird cuck just sitting in the corner where they could see him, jacking off while his wife fucked his best friend. Cori tried to reassure him that she wouldn't judge, but Dylan held firm and she respected his feelings.

Baines often came over on a Sunday afternoon to watch football with Dylan. It worked out perfectly because Grace would be at work and Jack would be out to see the latest superhero movie with his friends and grabbing food afterward. The parents would have a generous window to get their freak on.

Cori felt very strange clearing the kids out of the house so she could fuck another man. It was just so wrong on so many levels. She didn't recall a chapter on integrating outside lovers in any of the parenting books she'd read over the years. Was Cori a bad mother because she wanted to have sex with her husband's best friend? She had a good laugh when she realized how absurd the question was. The Rubicon had been crossed when she began pleasuring men for money, hadn't it? Ninety-nine out of a hundred parents would say that yes, being a sex worker made her a bad mother. Cori's message to that ninety-nine was the middle finger. She still prioritized her children and her family as she had all these years. But she'd earned the right to do something for herself and she was bringing in money for the family. Whether it made her a bad wife wasn't even a question for Cori. Her husband was good with it—even encouraged it. Cori was a great wife because she indulged Dylan's fantasies. She hoped he felt the same way after she'd fucked Baines.

Dylan was drinking way too much. It was only the second quarter, but he was already wobbly. He barely touched the pizza they'd ordered. His stomach was a violent caldron. Adding food would be a bad choice. The truth was, Dylan was barely holding it together. He sat there in the family room with Cori and Baines and knew that they would be fucking before the afternoon was out. He watched them sitting on the couch together—he took his typical position in the recliner—and swore the sexual tension came off them in waves. They might as well just fuck right now, he thought. But it was all perception. He knew that outside of his twisted head it was just a normal late fall afternoon.

Cori didn't usually join them to watch football. She could hang for anything—Cori was a social animal—but Sunday was the day she reserved to catch up on doing laundry or cleaning, or since she'd started working, stealing time to relax. If Dylan was on top of the laundry—it happened sometimes—she'd go curl up in bed with a good book. Today, Cori made it a point to hang out with the boys. Baines seemed pleased to have her hang out with them. Cori looked good and Baines was all about it.

“You might want to slow down there, dude. Why are you chugging those beers? The birds are winning for once, but you look like we’re down by three touchdowns,” Baines said. He gave Dylan a look that was as close to concern that an emotionally closed-off man could muster.

“You know them, they could turn it around at any point and start losing. Walker’s too streaky. He can go from hot to cold in a heartbeat. He was a turnover machine a month ago.”

“More reason to enjoy the good game while you can. I’d bet you anything we don’t make .500 this season.”

Dylan knew what he wanted to bet and almost threw Cori out there. What would she say if he broke with the plan and wagered her? It would be incredibly hot, he knew that. Cori would also kill him. She wasn’t leaving any of this to chance and she made it clear she was in charge. Cori would refuse to fuck Baines out of spite if he pulled that, no matter how badly she wanted to do it. Dylan had no idea if the words coming out of his mouth made any sense. It felt like he was babbling.

“Dylan’s had a rough week, haven’t you babe?” Cori interjected. “He’s under a lot of pressure.”

“You should do something to release it. Do you ever give my man one of your treatments?” Baines asked.

Dylan had felt a moment of respite when Baines’ attention was turned to him a moment ago, but now it was firmly back on Cori. It had been from the moment she’d joined them. She stayed upstairs when Baines arrived, leaving the men to settle into the family room with the big screen like they always did on game day. Dylan knew she wanted to make a grand entrance. It occurred midway through the first quarter, when she appeared in the doorway, beer in hand. Cori smiled and asked if they minded if she joined them. Baines stared hard, sweeping up her long legs and over her tight figure. She went with sheer leggings, which Dylan conceded was hotter than bare legs. After he followed the lines of her body up, Dylan swore Baines focused back down on her cute little feet, encased in the tights.

“Are you all dressed up for us?” Baines had asked.

“Is this all dressed up?” Cori’d innocently replied. “I’m going out with friends later, but I didn’t think I was all dressed up. Thanks.” She’d concocted the lie about plans to explain why she wasn't lounging around in leggings or sweats.

Dylan wanted to feel bad that Cori agonized so long over her outfit choice for the afternoon but watching her model different choices was just too hot. He'd had trouble keeping his hands to himself, which slowed down the process. Neither of them minded. Dylan offered his opinions on her various choices, but he wasn't quite helping. He pushed for the sluttier options, while Cori wanted to be sexy without being obvious. She didn't want Baines to walk in the door, take one look at her, and know she was down to fuck. Cori wanted him worked up and suspicious as he had been that night she'd come home from seeing Steve to find him on their couch, but not sure she was coming onto him.

Cori tried on just about every skirt she owned, and most of her dresses. She dug deep into the back of her closet and Dylan was excited to see her model things she hadn't worn in years. She settled on a military green miniskirt with a big copper zipper down the front, wide hip pockets, and oversized belt loops. It was very boho and perfect for Cori's style. Dylan couldn't recall the last time he'd seen it on her. She never wore skirts that short anymore—even with tights. The skirt was paired with a wine-colored, flowy top that perfectly matched her style. It was something she'd wear every day, but she skipped the tank top she'd ordinarily wear underneath it. Leaving its two buttons open meant Baines would be treated to a peek down the blouse almost every time she moved if he cared to look, which Dylan assured Cori would happen.

The outfit was perfectly Cori and exactly what she was going for. Dylan still wished for something trampy and obvious because he was a guy and wanted to see Baines' eyes pop out of his head the moment he saw Cori, but that would come because that outfit wouldn't stay on all day. Deep down, he knew Cori's instincts were correct.

Cori planted her butt on the couch right beside Baines and tucked her legs up under, her favorite way to sit. The skirt looked ridiculously short in that position and Dylan was sure she would have flashed her panties if she hadn't been wearing the tights. He spent more of the afternoon watching the would-be couple on the couch than watching the game, which was how he knew Baines was as distracted from the game as he was.

Baines couldn't keep his eyes off Cori's legs. He seemed obsessed with where they disappeared into the skirt like he was sure he'd get a flash when she shifted. Cori knew it, and she shifted a lot like she just couldn't get comfortable. She found a lot of excuses to lean over when she chatted with Baines, patting his arm as she provided a perfect view down the front of her billowy blouse. Dylan wished she'd gone braless to truly shock Baines, but her sheer black bra, with a spray of embroidered flowers strategically placed to obscure her nipples, was damn sexy. Dylan loved sheer underwear and knew Baines would agree. Baines spent as much time staring down Cori's top as he did watching game replays. Watching Baines watch Cori made all the agonizing he'd done in the days leading up to this worthwhile.

The build-up was almost as exciting as the actual event for Dylan. He had days to baste in the charged eroticism and discomfort of his thoughts. He was—almost—past punishing himself for his strange new fetish of wanting Cori to experience other men, but the prospect of actually seeing her do it, with his best friend no less—was almost more than he could bear. The fantasy played out in his head a thousand times in those days, but Dylan knew the reality would be so much better than anything he could imagine. Now that they were in the room with Baines, it was almost more than he could bear. Dylan wanted it to begin already. He needed it to. But that was all in Cori's hands.

Cori and Baines were still talking, but Dylan was too distracted watching them to keep track of the conversation. It was the hundredth time he'd zoned out during the game. He wanted to smack himself to focus.

"I would work on Dylan any time. You know that, don't you babe?" she said, looking to Dylan with a mischievous sparkle in her baby blues.

"Yeah, Cori takes care of me," Dylan agreed.

"I'd be asking for that every day," Baines said.

"And that is why you're single, babe," she replied, patting his thigh. Dylan's crazed mind thought she was reaching for his cock. Every previously innocent gesture was now loaded—not that any of it was truly innocent. Cori knew what she was doing. And when did she start calling Baines babe?

"Cori takes good care of me," Dylan said, recalling all the teasing hand jobs he received recently. "You should be so lucky." And you will be soon, he added in his head.

"Then why are you so stressed, dude? You're not yourself today," Baines said.

“Just not feeling great. I think I’m going to run upstairs and throw some water on my face at halftime.”

“That’s a good idea, babe,” Cori agreed. She turned to Baines. “And I could look at that shoulder for you if you’d like. “

“Really? That would be great. This week was brutal. We were pounding out roofs every day. We’ve got so much work I was up there with the crew way more than usual. They need the extra hands.”

“Poor baby. Are you saying you’re getting too old to keep up?” Cori teased, leaning closer and rubbing his shoulder.

Dylan watched his wife touching Baines, caressing his shoulder through the football jersey. They looked like a natural couple, a handsome man and his beautiful wife. Dylan had a little dad pudge around the middle, but Baines was just as fit as Cori, with broad, muscular shoulders. His shaved head had just enough five o’clock shadow to add color, and his dark beard, flecked with gray, was neatly trimmed. There was a reason Baines didn’t have trouble with the ladies, and it wasn’t just his charisma. He was a good-looking guy. Of course, Cori would want to fuck him. It would be weird if she didn’t. Dylan’s gut twisted with a flash of insecurity when he realized a guy like Baines could probably fuck Cori way better than he ever could. Cori insisted she didn’t need any other men, but would she feel that way after Baines pinned her legs behind her ears and pounded her into submission. Dylan began regretting agreeing that Baines should fuck his wife. He wanted them to play, but it would have been safer if Cori stuck to just jerking him off or blowing him. Would she be angry if he tried to rein her in at the eleventh hour?

“You give me a chance and I’ll show you how well I keep it up, Cori,” Baines replied. He didn’t even bother to look up from his view down her blouse. He’d become so enamored with her tits that he just stared. Cori just let him do it, so he had to assume it was okay. There was no pretending she hadn’t noticed at that point.

The last two minutes of a half in football can see incredibly long with all the timeouts being burned off and the clock stoppages with incomplete passes and players getting out of bounds. The Birds were trying to score because they would get the ball back to start the second half, which would give them the chance at back-to-back scores. But they fell short, with the kicker going for a fifty-eight-yard field goal and missing as time expired.

Those last two minutes passed in a flash for Dylan because he knew what would happen next.

As badly as he wanted this, he also wanted to delay it forever. The voice in his head that had been murmuring what a bad idea all this was for the last few days had elevated to a roar. You think you want this, but you're going to regret it, moron. He's going to fuck your wife into a sex coma. She's going to scream for him in ways you've never heard. He's going to show you just how hard Cori can come, while you're watching with your little dick in your hand. Get used to it because there's no way this is going to be a one-time thing. Cori's going to want it every day once she has a taste. You know how she loves sex. Dylan nearly shouted aloud for the voice of doubt to stop.

The game went to commercial, and Cori came over to him, touching his cheek and smiling sympathetically. "You do look kind of pale, babe. Are you good? We could kick Baines out and you could go up and lay down."

"Hey, what about my massage," Baines complained from behind her. He wasn't letting it go, and Dylan knew why. He had a perfect view of Cori's ass in the miniskirt while she was bent over.

Dylan's brain said, Yeah, that's a good idea. Let's kick him out and go upstairs together. Cori looked so hot, and he wanted to enjoy her himself. What was he thinking giving that to another man? What came out of his mouth was, "Nah, I'm fine. I'm gonna go, throw some water on my face, chill out for a couple minutes. Don't let me ruin your fun."

"Are you sure, babe?" Cori pointedly asked.

"I'm sure, honey," he replied, managing a wane smile.

Baines got up when Dylan did and clapped his friend so hard on the back that Dylan staggered a step. "Don't worry, dude, I'll take good care of her until you come back."

"Yeah, great, thanks," Dylan mumbled. On top of everything else, he was kicking himself for his inability to play it cool. He heard Cori and Baines talking as he left.

"Let me get my table," Cori said.

"Oh, this is going to be a real, full-service massage?" Baines gleefully asked.

"Have to do it right," Cori replied. "I'll be right back."

Chapter Eight

Dylan sat on the bed, convinced agreeing to allow Cori to fuck his best friend was a massive mistake. He still wanted them to be together—to see them together—but going right to sex was too much of a leap. It would have been just as hot to watch Cori with her beautiful, full, pink lips wrapped around Baines' thick cock. Seeing that would have scratched Dylan's itch. He wasn't afraid he'd lose his wife. Cori loved him, and Baines would never interfere with his marriage, but Dylan had a very real fear he would never measure up in the sack again. He could see Cori going over to Baines' place a few nights a week to get what she couldn't get at home. It was funny how this particular insecurity hadn't cropped up until the act was just about to happen. Dylan was too myopic to see it before.

The iPad sat on the bed next to him, but Dylan stared at it like it would sully his fingers if he touched it. He couldn't allow himself to be in the room while Cori was with Baines, but Dylan had discreetly installed three small Wi-Fi cameras in the room. He would be able to see and hear everything if he worked up the nerve to pick up the iPad. He told himself he didn't need to see Cori setting up her table. He would join them once she got started.

Splashing water on his face hadn't helped. Dylan had swabbed a cool, wet washcloth over his face, but he was still heated. He was dizzy and felt like he'd fall over if he tried to stand. He strained to hear from downstairs but was too far away. He didn't even hear the TV. It was crazy that he didn't turn on the iPad because his imagination in the absence of input was maddening. He saw his wife and best friend laughing and flirting as she set up for their session. Did Cori ask Baines to strip down, or did he just make the assumption and proudly strip off his clothes for a thirsty Cori? Perhaps Cori helped Baines disrobe and it got the ball rolling. Once she started pulling at his clothes, surely Baines would strip her. They could have skipped the massage and be going at it already right downstairs, while Dylan sat alone with aching balls. Speculating was so much worse than it had been when Cori was with a random client. Of course, he had an out this time, an easy way to know what was happening. All Dylan had to do was pick up the iPad and see for himself.

Dylan's hands shook so badly he needed three attempts to enter his passcode on the iPad. When the Wi-Fi camera app delayed loading, Dylan thought it might mercifully refuse to connect, but he was too good with tech. The cameras connected and a grid of the three views loaded onto the screen. His heart caught in his throat when he saw Cori standing beside the massage table, her hands on Baines. Baines was on his stomach on the table, his jersey and shoes off, but still wearing his jeans. Dylan was disappointed Baines was still so clothed. Cori was playing a slow game. The three tiny windows spared him a detailed view of the action, but that wouldn't do. Dylan tapped the camera in the upper left corner of the room—behind his recliner—and it enlarged to fill the screen.

The camera looked down from a good angle. He saw Cori from the front and Baines' feet were pointed toward the camera. Dylan chuckled when he realized that if he zoomed in on the image, he could see down her blouse, just like Baines had been doing all afternoon. Cori was aware of the camera positions, and she promised to position her table to give Dylan the best view possible. She was excited when Dylan told her about the cameras, and she promised to show off for him.

Cori had her hands on Baines' midback and looked to be pressing deeply into the muscles. She pressed in and up, her arms flexing with the effort. She stared down at Baines with her full attention, almost like she had X-ray vision and could see the muscles she manipulated. Dylan was impressed seeing his wife in action. It was a reminder that Cori didn't get into this to get him off or play with strange men, but because she genuinely wanted to help people and knew she could make a difference. Dylan's new perversion was just a pleasant, unexpected side benefit. She moved around to the head of the table and leaned in with both hands on Baines' left shoulder. He grunted. Yes, the cameras had sound.

“Relax and breathe. I told you, just put yourself in my hands,” Cori admonished.

“I thought this would be more relaxing,” Baines complained. “It kind of hurts.”

“That’s because your shoulder is so fucked up. You’ll appreciate this later when the soreness begins to wear off.”

“Is fucked up the technical term? Did you learn that in massage school?”

“Yeah, smart ass. You should be careful how you talk to me. I also know a lot of ways to hurt you.”

“Promise?”

“Asshole. Now take a deep breath and let it out.”

Dylan heard Baines suck in a deep breath, and as he released it, Cori did a quick maneuver with his shoulder that made him gasp. Dylan saw his hands ball up on his sides. She followed up by gently rubbing a spot on his shoulder. To Dylan’s untrained eye, it looked like she was caressing Baines like she enjoyed touching his muscular back.

“Mmm, it hurts so good,” Baines mock moaned.

“You know, you’re a bigger baby than some of the grandmothers I work on,” Cori teased.

“I’m picturing you with your hands all over some GILF, like Christie Brinkley. That’s hot, Cori. Tell me more.”

Cori laughed. “You’re not taking this seriously at all. Do you even need help, or was this just an excuse to get my hands on you?”

“You know I’d use any excuse to get your hands on me, but I am deadly serious. Let me turn over and take off my pants and you’ll see how serious I am, Cor.”

“Go ahead and turn over then. I need a good laugh. I can get some decent leverage if I get under your shoulder anyway.”

Baines eagerly turned over on the massage table. He moved so quickly that he almost fell over the side and Cori laughed at him. He reached for the button on his jeans, but she smacked his hands away and pushed him onto his back, admonishing him to behave.

“Am I going to have to call my bouncer back down here?”

“I love Dylan, but I’m the muscle here, and you know it, Cor. Besides, the poor guy needs his rest. You can handle me if you need to.”

“You would love that, Baines if I handled you.”

“Why do you think I’m on this table? This is a full-service massage parlor, isn’t it?”

Baines took Cori’s hand, which rested on his shoulder, and moved it down his chest. She only stopped him when they were at the waist of his jeans. Cori snatched her hand out of his and smacked his stomach. Baines didn’t look like an action hero, but he still had the outline of a six-pack. It had been a long time since Dylan had seen his friend without a shirt, but he didn’t recall Baines being so ripped. The guy was built. His pecks were well-defined, and his arms were like hard slabs. It was like he’d gotten himself all pumped up for Cori like he knew this would happen, which was ridiculous. Dylan thought he’d kept himself in decent shape for his age, but Baines put him to shame. The knife in his gut twisted and he thought letting his wife get her hands on such a ripped guy was a huge mistake.

Cori returned her hand to Baines, tapping the button on his jeans. His stomach muscles rippled in anticipation at the touch. “I’m sure it would be quick service, like going through the drive-thru,” she teased.

“Haha. Whip it out and find out, Cor,” Baines cracked, staring up at her in challenge.

Cori laughed at him and withdrew her hand. She trailed her fingers up through his dark chest hair. Baines wasn’t particularly hairy but had enough to make him look like a man. Cori followed his treasure trail up his stomach, away from the goal, and traced around his pecs. Dylan was looking over her shoulder now and wanted to see her face. He switched to the camera with the reverse view. Cori stared down at Baines with interest and it electrified Dylan. Baines had to see it on her face too.

“I’m almost tempted to do it just to see your reaction. It would be worth it just to see you pussy out,” Cori taunted.

“I know you’re not going to do it, Cor. You’ll all steak and no sizzle. You love the tease and the chase, but we both know you’re a domestic cat now. That’s why it’s so fun to tease you.”

“You don’t think I’m really giving my clients hand jobs?”

“Come on, you Cori? I don’t think so.”

Cori smirked, her blue eyes sparkling with mischief. She tickled her fingers back down Baines’ stomach and twisted the button on his jeans open. Dylan was sure he heard Baines gasp. His view of his friend’s face was imperfect, but he could imagine the look of shock there. Maybe he even looked a little scared. Cori always said Baines was like the dog who wouldn't know what to do if he caught the car he chased.

"Your move," Cori purred. "Take off your jeans."

"You don't think I will."

Cori kept smirking and shrugged.

Dylan switched back to the other camera view. He couldn't see Cori as well, but he was dying to see Baines' reaction. To him, Baines was like an open book. They'd known each other for so long and his best friend wasn't a complicated guy. Dylan was sure he saw fear flicker across Baines' face like this was some kind of trap or trick. Then there was the calculation, Baines trying to anticipate Cori's next move if he did. But underlying all that was unadulterated lust. Baines stared at Cori like all he wanted was to bend her over that massage table and have her. Dylan knew the feeling. He couldn't be mad at him for it. A smile slowly dawned, and Baines unbuttoned his jeans. He pushed them down his hips and kicked them off completely before laying back. Dylan could see him thinking, checkmate.

Cori walked around the massage table, coming back to the side where Dylan had an excellent view of her. She was stalling because she needed to think. It was obvious what she was thinking about. Her attention was locked in one place as she moved like her gaze was tethered to Baines' bulge and she was being pulled toward it. Dylan couldn't blame her. The thing in his underwear looked huge. Baines was clearly enjoying the game of cat and mouse. His smile only grew larger as he watched Cori staring. It wasn't the only thing growing.

Dylan had seen Baines naked here and there over the years. He wasn't looking for it, but they had gym classes together, shared a tiny motel room during Spring Break, and had even gone to the gym together at one point. Dylan didn't stare on those occasions, but a guy looks, and he knew Baines wasn't small. It was why he knew Cori would be pleased if she got this chance. But the growing tent in Baines' boxers looked ridiculous. Dylan thought it had to be his new kink twisting it in his head, but Cori was staring too. She was impressed. He knew she couldn't wait to get her hands on it.

"Your move," Baines proudly said.

Dylan was a statue while he waited for his wife's reaction. He didn't breathe. Even his heart had stopped pounding. This is it. She's going to do this.

Cori felt dizzy as she looked down on Baines' fine body, which made her feel silly and girlish like she was some regency romance heroine getting the vapors from seeing a man with his shirt off. She knew how to handle herself around men. She'd been doing it quite well since she hit puberty and realized how much she enjoyed being around boys. Cori would bat those long lashes over her pretty blue eyes, flash that flirty smile, and think of some disarming quip to keep the boy guessing if she was truly interested. But it wasn't just any boy half-naked on the table in front of her. This was her husband's best friend.

Cori had known Baines her entire adult life and their friendship had been an interesting one. They'd always had a low-simmering sexual tension, but Cori had never taken it seriously because it was Baines. It didn't matter if he was a good-looking guy because she was married, and Cori didn't do that sort of thing. She'd certainly never do it with her husband's best friend. She had to take it seriously now because he was spread out before her with a barely concealed hard-on that demanded she take it seriously. Her first instinct was to just reach out and grab it, but Cori didn't want to seem eager—not to Baines or Dylan. She was very aware that her husband was watching through his secret cameras. The cameras were a good call. She didn't have anything to hide and knowing he was watching added a thrill, like a current running through her, but Cori didn't know if she could do this if Dylan were sitting right there.

Baines looked so smug. He glanced from Cori to his cock, which she'd been openly staring at, and back to her. She almost wanted to deny him just to wipe that smirk off his face, but honestly, the smirk was hot. Cori had the same Achilles Heel most other women did, she loved a cocky, confident man, and Baines fit the bill. She was dying to know what was going on in his head.

"You're not worried about Dylan walking in on us?" Cori asked.

"You're the one who told me to take my pants off. I get the feeling he'd understand," Baines replied.

Cori touched his thigh, just below his boxers. Baines jumped and his cock visibly twitched. She caressed him and he tensed. He wasn't as confident as he pretended to be. Cori looked to his dick again and saw the wet spot spreading on the front of his boxers. They were well past the point either of them could pretend this was just a teasing game. Baines wanted her, and Cori was dying to touch him. She forced herself to look him in the eyes as her hand swept higher, first feeling the soft cotton of his boxers and then smoothing over the curve of his heavy balls. His balls felt massive, which just seemed appropriate. Baines gasped when she touched his balls and looked conflicted for the first time. Cori saw him questioning, Are we really doing this?

“Is this how you pictured it?” she asked, running her fingers along the outline of his shaft.

Baines stammered, looking from Cori’s face to her hand on his cock. She smiled, pleased to see his bravado slipping away. She traced all around his outline, impressed by what he had. Cori didn’t think size was everything, but Baines was impressive, and she assumed he knew how to use it, which was the perfect combination. He twitched as she teased him. His excitement heightened her own. Her core tightened and she felt the dampness in her panties. Cori wanted to drag out the tease, but need was overtaking her.

“It’s...uh...a good start. You really do love to fucking tease, don’t you, Cor?”

“You think I should just pull it out and go to town? I’m trying to be respectful and make sure you really want this, babe. I don’t want you to do anything you’ll regret. She wrapped her fingers around him as she spoke, feeling his heat through his boxers.

Baines went from unsure to determined and his smirk was back. Cori swore he swelled in her hand.

“Or maybe you’re just scared, Cor. Don’t put it all on me. What will do you if Dylan comes back down and finds my dick in your hand? I think you hit your limit in this game of chicken. You can take it out and have it any time you want it.”

Never one to back down, Cori reached into his boxers and gripped him. He was hot and thick and pulsing. Baines showed off his control by making it flick in her hand. She barely stifled a groan. Cori didn’t want him to know how badly she wanted him. She squeezed and pumped him, pulling his boxers down with her other hand. She finally looked away from his cocky smirk because she had to see him. Baines felt big enough in hand. Her fingers barely closed around him. Seeing it, Cori failed to hide her reaction—lips parting in a soft gasp, her eyes widening. Baines was big. Magic Mike big. If Cori used both hands his head would still be exposed. It was the largest cock she'd ever held, and Cori had gotten around. Her hand stroked up and down the impressive length like she needed to feel it because she couldn't believe her eyes. Baines' ridiculous confidence made sense now. He'd been blessed in every way. He wasn't just handsome and charming. He had a huge cock. Cori had to wonder what Dylan thought seeing that thing in her small hand. Was this what her husband wanted?

"You like that, don't you, Cor? You're impressed, I can see it. Go ahead, have fun with it," Baines said.

Cori laughed, thankful for his cheesy lines. It broke the tension. Baines just couldn't help himself and let the moment unfold, but he had to be Baines.

"Okay, you have a nice dick, but you're the one getting all the fun here. Am I supposed to lose it just because you have a big dick?"

"I knew you'd like it, Cor. And you can have as much fun with it as you want." As he spoke, Baines slid his hand up the back of her skirt, grabbing her ass through her tights. His hand was all over it like he was reading Braille. It was like he'd spent so many years staring at her ass that he couldn't believe he was truly touching it. "I don't expect you to just take care of me if that's not what you want. You know I'd love to..."

Cori palmed his head and smeared his leaking excitement into her hand. Baines grunted when she played with his sensitive tip and it silenced him. She used the fluid to lube her hand and confidently stroked up and down his length, tugging that thing hard, not teasing as she had been. Cori was torn between making him come as quickly as possible—just to prove she could—and saving his cock to have real fun with it. Although, she suspected that Baines had more than one shot in him. He wasn't a young man anymore, but he was nice and fit. Cori wanted to climb all over him.

The hand up her skirt was distracting. Baines had a lot of fun feeling the curve of her tight ass, but he also kept dipping his fingers lower, between her thighs, where he had to feel her damp heat. Cori widened her stance to give him better access, but Baines was still clumsy in trying to get his hand where she needed it. Roger had been smoother with his hands, but he had a better angle. She could have moved closer, but Cori still had a weird thing about seeming too eager to him. She wanted Baines to feel he had to work for it.

“Fuck, Cor, you really know how to handle a dick. I always knew you would,” Baines moaned, staring at Cori as she manipulated his cock. It was like if he stared hard enough her clothes would disappear.

“Yeah? You’ve thought a lot about me playing with your dick?” she teased.

“Ahh...you know it, honey. You know I’ve wanted to fuck you forever.”

Cori massaged his heavy balls as she corkscrewed her other hand up and down him, teasing the head with her thumb every time she reached the top. Baines was nice and groomed down there, which she liked. It made his genitals easier to enjoy, and she guessed it made his cock and balls look even bigger—not that Baines needed the help. His breathing grew husky and Cori knew she had him close to the edge. It made her heart beat harder. As much as she wanted to fuck Baines, she realized she wanted to see him come. She had the upper hand for now and she wanted to keep it.

“Your best friend’s wife? That’s so wrong, Baines. You’d never do that to Dylan,” she said.

“No...” he gasped. “Couldn’t do that, but now...”

“Now? What’s changed, babe? Why is it okay now?” she taunted, pumping him faster.

“You’re...ahh...fucking pro...jerking me off like a pro, Cor...”

Cori smiled. “You’re sure I’m doing this for other guys?”

“Oh yeah...too good at it...magic hands, Cor... It’s your calling...”

Cori leaned over him, gripped his cock tighter, and slowed down her stroking. His eyes went right down her blouse, drawn to her tits like magnets to steel. She felt his balls tightening.

“You really think so? You think Dylan would let me do that?” she cooed, hovering right above him.

“Yeah, Cor. Ahh...fuck... He loves knowing guys want to fuck you... gets off on it...”

“You’re so fucking sure, aren’t you, babe? You have us all figured out,” Cori whispered, close enough to kiss him now. Her left hand moved to his cock, and her right stroked his shaved head, feeling the rough stubble. “You think Dylan would let me fuck you?”

Baines gritted his teeth like he was trying to hold out, then he panted, barely managing a smile through the intensity of Cori stroking him. “He... he wants me to fuck you...basically admitted it the other night...”

“Yeah?”

Baines used her new position to thrust his hand up between her thighs, squishing her tights into her bare, soaked pussy. Cori moaned and sagged against the table. He pressed his fingers up against her and she felt a tiny explosion like Baines just touching her cunt gave her a quick orgasm.

“Not wearing panties,” Baines taunted through his moans. “You fucking want it too, honey. You want me to fuck you, don’t you, Cor?”

Cori’s response was a sharp moan when his fingers sawed the tights up between her lips, pulling them in to press on her clit. She leaned down and kissed Baines, thrusting her tongue into his mouth. He reached for her with his free hand, tugging her hair to keep her in the kiss. She kissed him desperately, feeling the balance of control shifting. Cori didn’t care. She wanted to give herself to him.

Baines exploded in her hand, blasting his thick seed all over her blouse. Cori pulled back, forcing him to release her. His hands slipped away from her body. She straightened up just in time for him to shoot again, this time across her tits, ruining her blouse. Another shot went into the air, landing on his stomach, and the rest oozed out over her pumping fist. Cori stared at his cock like she’d never seen a man come before. She kept stroking him like she could will him to stay hard and fuck her. Baines didn’t go fully soft. He stayed half-erect in her hand, his root still pulsing with life. Cori knew she could get him to full mast again. She got an idea so filthy, that Cori could only smile. She knew Dylan would love it just as much as Baines.

Chapter Nine

“I guess you’re right. I guess you’re right about everything,” Cori told Baines, leaning down and stretching her tongue out like she was a Gene Simmons impersonator. She drew the tip of her tongue along his toned abs and lapped up the jizz he’d shot there. She swirled it with her tongue before drawing it in and tasting him with a smile.

Dylan saw it clear as day. His third camera was mounted just below and behind the TV, perfectly level with the massage table. It was a close-up of everything that happened there. He had a perfect, high-definition view when Cori took out Baines’s cock and stroked it, stunned by how tiny Cori’s hands looked on his best friend’s massive cock. He saw what oozed from the tip and how his wife used it, making Baines’ cock glisten, and how she rolled his big balls in their sac. The mic on that camera even picked up the sound of flesh on flesh as Cori jerked off Baines.

Dylan cut to a split-screen when Cori leaned in, as they were too close for him to see much. He added the shot from her right and saw down her blouse, as Baines did, and saw her whisper to him. The TV was still on in the background, but even though the volume was muted Dylan only heard every other word. He heard enough. You think Dylan would let me fuck you? Cori asked. Baines answered, He wants me to fuck you. It sent a chill down Dylan’s spine. He loved that this was happening, but he felt weak for exposing himself to Baines that night at the bar. If they were going to keep going with this, Dylan had to learn to control himself.

Cori held Baines by the base and continued her licking, tracing the thick veins that ran up his shaft before swirling her tongue around his head like she was working on an ice cream cone. The shot was so good that Dylan could see the glistening trails she left on Baines. He also saw the look of absolute ecstasy on his wife's face as she licked his best friend's cock. Her plump lips spread over the thick, flared head and she suckled Baines like she was nursing from his cock. The soft sucking sounds made Dylan tremble the same way the actual sucking made Baines shake.

Dylan shed his pants and lay back on the bed, with the iPad resting on his stomach. He lubed his hand from the lotion on Cori's nightstand and went to town on himself. He stopped immediately. Just touching himself almost made Dylan come. He stopped, took a deep breath, and lightly stroked his prick, avoiding touching the sensitive head. He wanted to enjoy the show, not blow his load in two seconds.

Cori did not avoid Baines' head. She focused on it, sucking hungrily while she stroked up and down his shaft. Baines ran his fingers through her hair, but he didn't force her head down. He was in control and content to let Cori work her magic while he enjoyed her mouth. Dylan saw his friend grow thicker in Cori's mouth and was jealous at how quickly Baines got hard again. If Dylan blew a load like the one he'd seen from Baines, he would have been done for hours. Baines looked to be man enough to give Cori everything she needed.

Baines pulled Cori's mouth from him and eased her back. He sat up and swung his legs off the massage table, pulling her in between them. His back was to the camera and Dylan switched to a split-screen of the other two views. He held Cori's face with both hands and kissed her. She put her arms around him, but Baines pushed her back and pulled at her shirt.

"Let's get rid of this," Baines said.

"You ruined my blouse anyway," she replied, laughing as he pulled it over her head.

"I'll make it up to you, Cor."

"Promise?"

Baines held her at arms' length for just a moment, absorbing the half-naked woman in front of him. He'd seen Cori in bikinis before, but he looked like he was truly seeing her for the first time. Her bra was sheer, only the embroidered flowers on the cups hiding her nipple from view. Dylan appreciated seeing her in lingerie was different than Cori wearing a bikini. He loved that his friend slowed down to truly appreciate her. Cori deserved it, and it made Dylan's cock throb to see how much Baines wanted her. It also stabbed at his gut because it was a moment his wife and best friend shared—an intimate moment that wasn't just about sex. It was plain on their faces. They both understood the meaning of what was happening. They weren't just having a one-night stand with a stranger. This was the culmination of years of veiled lust between the pair. Cori breathed quick and shallow, her eyes wide. She looked like she needed to say something but couldn't find the words. Dylan knew how she felt. He was glad he was alone in that moment. There was no explaining the insane swirl of emotions inside him at what he was witnessing.

Everything moved quickly after that. Cori and Baines kissed ferociously, pawing at each other's bodies. Baines twisted her bra behind her trying to unhook it and Cori reached back to help, but he got it and she shrugged off the bra. He pulled the big copper zipper and her skirt parted, falling away to the floor. Cori was down to just her tights that quickly.

"Ahh...yes..." she cried, throwing her head back when Baines pressed his face to her chest.

Cori wrapped her arms around his shaved head and held him in place while he feasted on her breasts. Dylan wished he had a great close-up view of that action, but all he could see was Baines' face moving against her, while he heard kissing and sucking sounds. Cori went wild if Dylan took his time to tease her small tits and nipples, something he didn't do enough these days. Cori was always so ready for sex, so quickly, that they rarely took their time with foreplay. When Cori wanted it, she wanted it. Baines was taking his time. He'd waited years to get his hands on her and he was not wasting his opportunity. She bit her lip before her mouth dropped open and she moaned at the ceiling. Her eyes were closed, but they popped open, and she stared right into one of Dylan's cameras.

Dylan's pounding heart seized, and he thought he might pass out. Cori stared right at him as she moaned excited encouragement to her lover. Dylan had to stop touching himself because his balls tightened right up and he only just avoided spilling his seed. The edging was torture, but he knew it would bring a heart-stopping orgasm when he was ready.

"Ahh...babe...that's so good...yeah babe...ahh..." she exclaimed, and Dylan was unsure who she was talking to.

Baines stood and effortlessly lifted Cori from her feet. Her legs wrapped around his waist, and he carried her like it was nothing. They skirted the coffee table and spun, Baines dropping onto the couch with Cori straddling his lap. Their wild kissing resumed, and she rubbed his head while he pressed his hands between them and pinched and teased her nipples.

“Fuck your tits are perfect,” Baines exclaimed, between kisses.

“Not disappointed?” Cori moaned, enjoying his touch.

“They’re perfect, Cor. Size isn’t everything.”

“Mmm, thank you, babe.”

Dylan knew the compliment went right to her head, as she’d always been self-conscious about her small tits. If she wasn’t going to fuck Baines before, she’d do it just for that. Dylan imagined his wife had fucked guys for less.

“You really do have a great dick,” she sighed. She had a hand between them now too, but down low. Cori was keeping him ready for her.

“You think you’re impressed now,” he teased.

“Mmm, what are you waiting for?”

Baines reached down and Cori scooted back. Dylan couldn’t see their fumbling, their bodies blocked the view. Obviously, her tights frustrated Baines. Cori squirmed impatiently on his lap.

“Fucking tights...” Baines cursed.

“Here, let me,” she said.

A loud rip followed, and he said, “Got it.” They both laughed. Cori rose up, hand between them, surely grasping Baines.

“I’ll make a mental note,” she said. “No more tights.”

“Thigh highs next time,” Baines said.

“You like sexy lingerie?”

“Mmm, I’d love to see you in it, Cor.”

Dylan felt like it was a dig at him, even though Dylan couldn’t possibly know it. Dylan was not a big lingerie guy. He just wanted Cori naked and hated anything that slowed that down. He loved her in sexy outfits, but nothing beat nude. He would have had her greet Baines naked today if there was any way she’d have gone for it. But now Cori had a man who appreciated her in lingerie. He was sure she couldn’t wait to dress up for Baines. They both talked like this wasn’t a one-time thing. That was like an icy dagger in Dylan’s chest. Could he handle Cori and Baines being regular lovers?

“Stop stalling and fuck me,” Cori demanded.

Cori settled onto him and must have taken his tip, because she put both hands on his shoulders and lowered herself, impaling her pussy on him with a long, low, impassioned moan. Baines held her hips and guided her down, moaning with her. Her legs spread wider until she was fully settled onto his lap. Baines had to be fully inside her. Cori started little motions with her hips like she had to acclimate to him.

“Take it easy, honey. You’re not used to something this big,” Baines said.

Cori chuckled, but it was from low in her throat like she had to force out the sound through a moan. “Mmm, don’t worry, babe...I can handle anything you’ve got...”

“Show me, Cor.”

Dylan shot his load. There was no more edging. Seeing his wife impaled on his best friend was the end for him. Seeing Cori fuck any man would have made him blow his load but seeing her with Baines was just the ultimate. Dylan couldn’t downplay their flirting now. It wasn’t possible. Even if it was all in his head, he was convinced that Cori had always wanted to take Baines’ dick for a spin, and it was only propriety and loyalty that kept her in check. Cori jumped on it the second she had permission. It should have infuriated Dylan, but he loved it. He loved every second of it, no matter how much it scared him.

The pleasure he took from seeing his wife screw his best friend was unnatural, but that only made it hotter. He understood that compersion Seth had told him about. Dylan could only see Cori’s face in profile—seeing her head-on would have been too much anyway—but her ecstasy from having Baines big cock stretch her open was evident. Cori’s lips were parted, and she breathed heavily. Her eyes were tightly closed, crinkled in concentration. Dylan wondered if a big cock hurt after years of his average size or if his wife was so wet and ready that she took it right in. She didn’t move like she wanted to get away from it. She slowly rotated her hips and started nudging up and down. Cori loved it. She wanted to feel every inch of Baines inside her. Impossibly, Dylan felt himself getting hard again watching his wife enjoy his best friend’s cock.

“Feels good, doesn’t it honey?” Baines taunted.

“Yeah...” Cori whimpered.

“You’re nice and tight. You’ve got to be feeling it all, Cor.”

Cori stopped moving on him and Baines groaned in surprise and cursed. She smiled.

“I feel it all, babe, but I know how to work it, don’t I?”

“Fuck, Cor. That’s a nice trick. Ohh fuck...keep doing that...”

“I don’t know, babe. Can you handle it?”

“Fuck...that’s a magic pussy...Dylan’s a lucky guy...”

“And he knows it. Don’t come too soon now. I want to enjoy this.”

Cori slowly moved on him, her fingers gripping his shoulders. Dylan knew she was doing his favorite magic trick, working her cunt muscles around that big cock. He was impressed she could still do it with something that big in her. That’s my girl, he thought. Show him how incredible you are, Cori! He loved that Baines got to experience how special Cori was. Baines spent all these years thinking about it, but he could never have guessed just what an incredible lay Cori truly was. He wanted Baines to be jealous that Cori belonged to Dylan. Even if Cori and Baines became regular lovers, she could never belong to him. She would always be Dylan’s. He knew it in his soul, even if he experienced passing insecurities.

“Oh, I can take whatever you’ve got, honey,” Baines grunted.

Baines slipped his hands under the curve of her tight ass and started bouncing her on his dick. It was impressive. When Cori worked her magic on Dylan’s dick, he had no control. But Baines couldn’t let her keep the upper hand. It was just like their relationship had always been, Cori and Baines constantly trying to one-up each other. Cori dug her nails into his shoulders as he bounced her harder on him. Dylan saw her hips flexing, showing it wasn’t all Baines. Cori was riding him. Riding him hard. The couch creaked beneath them and his camera mic picked up the sounds of their flesh slapping together. Cori’s gasps and moans grew louder, more frenzied.

“Ahh...yeah...ohh...fuck...” she cried.

Baines released her butt. She didn’t need his help any longer. Cori rode him like a thoroughbred jockey. She handled his big dick like a pro. Instead, he grabbed her little, bouncing tits and pinched her nipples. He pinched until she cried out, but she didn’t beg him to stop.

“Yeah! Ahh...fuck!”

“Come on, Cori! Ride that dick! Ride my fucking dick!” Baines roared.

“Yeah! Yeah! Ahh!”

“You’re gonna come on that dick! Come for me, Cori! I wanna hear you scream!”

“Yeah! Yeah! Fuck!” Cori howled.

Dylan was so transfixed he didn’t think about what Cori’s yelling meant. The illusion that he was resting upstairs and they were sneaking downstairs was shattered. No one could have napped through the racket

Cori was making. Dylan had to know they were fucking—even without cameras—and Baines knew it. Baines didn't care at all that Dylan knew he was fucking his wife. It made Dylan shiver to his core. His cock should have shrunk, but it only grew harder. He didn't want to be humiliated by Cori and Baines, but there was something primal about the way that Baines so confidently took his wife. Baines was proud of how he used her body, and he wanted Dylan to know. He understood what Dylan wanted, so why not go for broke?

Baines pinched Cori's nipple with one hand and reached back and pulled her hair with the other. Dylan could never be that rough with Cori. He'd never pulled her hair once. Her head was jerked back and she screamed at the family room ceiling. It felt like she was trying to scream her pleasure up at Dylan.

"Yeah...yeah...yeah..." Baines cheered as Cori violently bounced on him.

Dylan was handling his own dick again, but before he could come a second time, Cori screamed in climax. Hearing another man make his wife scream like that pierced his soul. Why did he love it?

"Ahh...fuck...AHH!"

Cori arched her back, fully impaling her pussy on Baines. Her whole body rippled, covered in a sheen of sweat. She convulsed once, twice, then crumpled down into Baines. He wrapped his arms around her and kissed her as she panted. Seeing them cuddle was worse than watching them fuck, and Dylan stopped touching himself. He understood it, but it made him uneasy. Baines was petting her hair and rubbing her back. He appreciated Cori's orgasm as much as Dylan did. Dylan marveled at his wife's power. Just seeing her come like that was worth all the angst. He would never get used to seeing Cori like that with another man, but he'd never be able to see it enough. It would be weird, but Dylan would let Baines fuck Cori anytime he wanted if Dylan got to see her come like that.

"Did I wear you out, honey?" Baines whispered. It was so low Dylan almost missed it.

"Not a chance," Cori panted in reply.

"Good, because we're not done, Cor."

"I can feel that." She wiggled on him.

Baines turned them without his cock slipping out of her. Dylan was impressed with the move. She ended up on her back on the couch. Baines held himself over her and stirred himself inside her. Cori moaned, holding onto his arms. She looked up at him, eyes pleading.

“Don’t just tease me, babe. Fuck me,” she whimpered.

“Not afraid we’re going to get caught?” Baines chuckled.

Cori smiled through her need. “You think it’s still a secret?”

“I did make you scream pretty loud.”

“Don’t be an asshole. You can be too cocky.”

“Let me see if I can make you scream even louder. Maybe that will bring Dylan down.”

Baines started fucking her again.

Chapter Ten

Cori's feet were high in the air, her legs spread, as Baines pumped away between them. She clawed at his biceps, hanging on for dear life as Baines possessed her pussy. The ripples of his thrusts went right to her enflamed core, centering her world on his wonderful cock.

Baines was an incredible lover and Cori was all about him in the moment, but she couldn't fully surrender to him. She was someone else's wife, and Dylan was watching them. She thought about him upstairs, stroking his own dick as he watched them. Dylan had to be pleased. This was exactly what he wanted. Cori didn't have to fake a thing when Baines made her come. Her screams were real, not for Dylan, but she was thrilled he was there to see it. She'd teased her husband that she was his whore, but it turned out to be true. If she was going to be a whore, she wanted to be Dylan's whore. Knowing he supported her was what made all this possible. His level of trust and support made her heart swell.

A moment of doubt did creep in. When she clung to Baines and her orgasm slowly ebbed, she'd had the space to think about Dylan. What if this was too much for him? He wanted it, but was he truly prepared to see it? Could any man handle someone else making their wife come like that? Even as she clung to her lover, Cori thought she should check in with her husband. But then Baines was shifting them and he was on top of her and he was moving inside her again and his filling cock banished all other thoughts.

Baines grunted and sweated as he labored above her, and Cori loved his sheer masculinity. She didn't realize how much she missed being manhandled because she'd just stopped thinking about it. Baines was the kind of man that had always just caused a chemical reaction in Cori, a primal desire. She'd never allowed herself to truly see him that way because he was her husband's best friend, but now that his cock was deep inside her, it was all she could think about. She wanted Baines to keep fucking her until she couldn't move. And god, was he deep. She thought he was impressive when she was just holding him, but she wasn't prepared for how Baines felt inside her. He opened her right up, stretching her wide and filling her like she'd never felt. She should have taken it slow, but she wanted him so badly that she ignored that initial moment of discomfort. She just wanted to feel him.

Cori felt Baines now. He drove his cock down into her like he was trying to push her through the couch. She raised her arms over her head and they bounced with the motion just as her elevated feet did. Baines had scooped her ass underneath, and while she hated that he ruined her favorite pair of tights, she loved the smooth feeling of his touch through the slick, silky material. It made his hips riding between her thighs give Cori goosebumps.

Sweat dripped onto her forehead and her eyes blinked open. Baines stared down at her intensely. Cori expected to see nothing but animal lust there, but there was deep emotion in those soulful gray eyes, like he wanted her, not just sex. It pierced her soul and Cori's heart quivered. She didn't love him, certainly, but it was foolish to think it could be just sex when they'd been friends for so long. Baines saw something on her face, and it made him smile. In that moment, Cori realized that the racket ringing in her ears was her own cries and moans. She was urging him on without even thinking about it as another climax built.

"Ahh...ahh...yes...yes...oh god yes..."

"Knew you'd fucking love it, Cor. Knew it all these years," Baines grunted, holding himself over her and leering down as he thrust.

"Yes...god yes..."

"Knew you'd fuck like a beast..."

"God yes..."

"You love that cock," he accused.

"Yes...yes...fuck me...oh fuck me babe..."

"You're gonna come again."

"Yeah...yeah..."

Baines didn't look away from her, but he called out loudly to Dylan. He smirked as he spoke. "Come on down here, dude, and watch me make your wife come. You don't have to hide dude. See how much Cori fucking loves it."

"Ohh...ohh...ohh god...oh god...YES!"

Panic stabbed at her heart when Baines called out Dylan. It was nonsensical, but in that moment what they were doing felt painfully wrong. Cori was fucking another man and she shouldn't be doing it—no matter what Dylan wanted. Dylan certainly shouldn't be called to watch her as she came on Baines's dick. That old Catholic shame swept through her, mixed with her panic, and gave Cori a mind-bending orgasm. Cori had never felt sluttier and had never felt more alive. She looked to the doorway and was relieved she didn't see Dylan there. Her body rippled under Baines and the pleasure made her giddy. She laughed for a moment, but then her orgasm just kept going because Baines kept fucking her, and Cori was breathless.

"That's it, honey. That's it," Baines cooed, slowing down, letting his shaft slowly slip into her as she rippled around it. "I love feeling you come, Cori. Let's take it down now. Come on, honey, I want to feel you."

The words were porno cheesy and the sentiment a little weird, but it got to her. Cori got the hard pounding she'd expected from Baines and now he was taking her nice and slow, letting her feel every inch of him, the weight of his body on hers. Their eyes locked and she smiled. Being treated like a slut was great. It was exactly what she'd wanted, but he was sensual now, and Cori needed that too. Baines leaned in and she kissed him without thinking. Her arms and legs wrapped around him and she moved her body in rhythm with his.

Dylan froze when Baines called him out. His best friend had to know he was aware. They weren't even trying to be discreet about it. Cori screamed so loud when she came that the neighbors probably knew she was fucking Baines. It had been such a long time since he'd heard her so unbridled. Dylan told himself it was because the kids were always around and they had to be discreet, but the reptile part of his brain smirked and taunted, Yeah buddy, you just don't do it for her like that anymore. Maybe you never did. You saw that cock. Of course, she's screaming for him. You give your wife to a stud you have to expect this is going to happen. The thoughts were dark and they should have made Dylan sick, but they fed his kink and made his balls swell. Dylan might have spontaneously come again if he hadn't let go of his cock.

It was painful for his ego to hear Cori come like that with someone else, but he loved that he heard her so rapturous and because he was watching—not doing it to her—he got to appreciate it in a way he never could have otherwise. Opening their bed wasn't just a gift for Cori, but for both of them. It was just difficult to fully appreciate that when she was howling on the end of his best friend's dick.

Dylan watched Cori lose it and come again. Baines kept fucking her like he was a machine. His friend had called him down to join them, but he was starting to think he'd have to come down and tell Baines to stop before the kids came home. Baines and Cori may have wanted to, but they couldn't screw all day. Baines did slow down, but they weren't stopping. Cori wrapped her arms and legs around him and drew him down into her. Her arms looped under his and she hooked his shoulders, clinging to him. They made out while they did it and Dylan shuddered watching the intimate moment. It was uncomfortably close to watching them make love. This was just supposed to be about hot, dirty sex, not intimacy. Dylan knew that was naïve to expect. Maybe with a client, but not with Baines. There was too much history. Dylan felt he should look away but was too obsessed to stop watching. The strange feelings it engendered in him were almost too intense, scorching his insides. If anything, he needed to see more. His cameras weren't good for this, and that made him pull up his pants and go downstairs.

The couple was murmuring to each other when he entered the room, oblivious to Dylan's presence. They kissed as they spoke and Baines' hips churned, pumping his muscle into Cori's molten center. The wet sounds of their coupling filled the room, with the TV barely audible in the background. The football game was forgotten. Dylan moved closer. He had to hear. He had to see.

"Yeah...yeah...yeah..." Cori breathlessly chanted.

"So amazing, honey...uhn...uhn...yeah..."

"Come on, babe...come on, babe...yeah...yeah..."

It was so strange to hear them so tender with each other. Every time Cori called him babe was a stab to the gut but made Dylan's cock pulse.

"I'm close, Cori. Do you want it, honey? Do you want it?"

“Yeah...yeah...please...”

“Inside you, Cori?”

“Yeah...yeah...oh god yeah...wanna feel it...”

Cori was begging Baines to come inside her. Dylan was dizzy. They’d never discussed condoms. Had never considered it. They hadn’t used them in years. A complication in her second pregnancy made it highly unlikely Cori would conceive again. They’d never discussed her sex with Baines in any kind of practical terms. That took the fun out of it. Cori already let another man come in her mouth, but this felt so different. Dylan staggered and dropped into his chair, and that was when the couple noticed him.

“Oh god...babe...” Cori gasped, now addressing her husband.

“Uhn...you’re just in time, dude...” Baines grunted, taking his wife deep and slow.

“Ahh...ahh...oh god...AHH!” Cori cried.

“Aww fuck, Cor...”

Baines grunted, and stopped, his meat spiked deep inside Cori. They both shook and Dylan knew his best friend was emptying his balls inside Cori, pumping a huge load of seed into her. Baines’ load was huge when he came all over her earlier. Cori trembled and jerked, smiling before uttering a satisfied, “Ahh...” Dylan realized she loved Baines filling her. Watching them made his cock ache painfully. He had to take care of himself, but he couldn’t sit there and beat off while Baines was inside his wife.

“Get over here, dude. You must need some fucking relief,” Baines said, as if reading his mind.

Baines pushed off Cori and it looked like she only reluctantly released him. Dylan stared at her gaping, red pussy. She was so swollen, a trickle of Baines essence leaking from her. He had read about reclaiming, but Dylan was afraid to feel how loose Cori was after Baines had her. Instead, he dropped his shorts and moved to her mouth. She turned to her side and took him right down her throat. Dylan wasn’t gentle and Cori sucked him vigorously.

“Yeah, dude, feed her. She fucking loves it. Cori sucks dick like it’s her job,” Baines encouraged, laughing before adding, “I guess it is.”

It was a strange vibe, Baines encouraging him to take Cori’s mouth as if Baines was the husband and Dylan was the interloper. But he had to admit, he liked the way Baines casually claimed Cori, the way he used her and talked about her like she was a whore. It gave voice to Dylan’s darkest desires. He lasted about ninety seconds before blasting what little he had left down her throat. Dylan staggered back to his chair as she wiped her lips on the back of her hand. Baines watched with a smile.

“It’s hot to watch her, dude. I get why you like it. Next time we need to do this shit all together,” Baines said.

“Next time?” Dylan asked, finding his voice and managing a weak smile.

“What kind of a slut do you think I am?” Cori asked.

“The fun kind,” Baines said. They all laughed.

“Which one of you two is going to get me a water?” Cori asked.

“You think we’re just going to wait on you now?” Baines asked.

“Oh, I think I’ve earned that much,” she said.

“They’re in the fridge,” Dylan directed, thinking Baines owed him just as much as he did Cori.

“Right away, m’lord and lady,” Baines said, standing and bowing. He confidently strode out of the room with that big piece of meat hanging between his legs.

Cori was happy they kept it light, but she could tell Dylan was working to seem normal. She knew well how awkward the moments after a threesome could be, although she’d never done one with a boy she was committed to. Having a casual threesome with two guys she was just hanging out with had much less potential for drama. It was always the guys who got weird. Cori was always good with it—granted she’d been high—and just rolled over and grabbed her clothes. The guys suddenly got weird being naked around each other when their hormones weren’t in charge.

The moment Baines was out of the room, she called Dylan to her. She hoped Baines took his time finding the water. Cori sat up on the couch and grabbed a throw pillow from the floor. She would have gotten dressed, but her clothes weren’t close enough to grab. She awkwardly covered herself with the pillow. It would have to do.

“Come here, babe,” she told Dylan, holding out a hand to him.

Dylan slowly stood, pulling up his pants before trying to cross the distance. She took both his hands and made him look at her. His face was stormy. She hoped it was one they could weather. Cori knew Dylan wanting a blow job a few moments ago didn't mean everything was okay. That was just a biological response. She wondered why he didn't want to fuck her to reclaim her and hoped he wasn't disgusted with her behavior. It was awful, but she could understand if Dylan couldn't look at her the same again after what he saw. Cori gave him what he wanted, but that didn't mean he could live with it.

"Are you good?" she asked. "Are we good?"

Dylan hesitated before saying, "Yeah, we're good, Cor. I mean, I have a lot to process, but I think we're good."

"You think we're good, or we're good?"

"We're good," he insisted.

"I'm sorry if this hurt you," she said, although she didn't think she had anything to be sorry for.

"It didn't hurt me." He managed a wane smile. "My ego may have taken a few body blows..."

"Babe, I love you. You know that. Nothing Baines could do to me could change that."

Dylan chuckled. "Or anything you want to do to him? Really, I'll be fine. I know you love me, but I also know I've never made you make those noises."

Cori was still flushed from the vigorous sex, but her pale cheeks still found a way to redden. "I may have gotten carried away. I wasn't really thinking, Dylan. I was just reacting. If I had thought..."

"Stop. Don't apologize to me for enjoying yourself, Cor. That was what I wanted. I wanted you to have a good time. I wanted you to be free to just let go. It's part of why I didn't want to be in the room. And you blew my mind, Cori. Oh my god, I've never seen anything so hot. Maybe it was hard to see at times, but damn Cori, I wouldn't change a thing. Every man should get to see his wife like that."

"You're one in a million, babe. I don't think most men could handle that. It's only an open heart that would even think about it."

"Me and Seth."

"I'll take you over Seth any day. I don't want what he has with Andi. I want what we have. I want this."

"And what do we have, Cor? What are we moving forward? I heard you and Baines, the way you talked..."

So much happened, she didn't know which thing Dylan meant. Was it when she told Baines what a nice cock he had, or when she begged him to come inside her? Yeah, that was weird. Cori didn't know what came over her.

"What do you mean?" she asked.

"Like how this isn't a one-time thing."

"Is that what you want? If a one-and-done with him is all you want..."

"I don't know, Cor. There's the rational answer, and then my answer when I think about how hot it was to see you together."

"I want the answer that will make you happy, babe."

"What about work?"

Cori was confused. It hadn't even occurred to her that having sex with Baines could affect her lucrative new side gig. She had no intention of giving that up. She had no idea what she would do if her husband demanded it.

"Why would that be on the table? I'm good at it, I like it, and the money is awesome."

Dylan was thoughtful. "Does this change what's on your menu?"

Cori smiled slyly. She had no plans to fuck a client but couldn't rule it out. Steve couldn't possibly take care of her the way Baines did, but that didn't mean it wouldn't be fun. Just being a paid whore for him would be exciting.

"We'll see how things go. Are you okay if I don't take that off the table?"

Cori's mind went back to Hayes Caldwell and Janine's offer. She still thought it was a bad idea to entwine this side of her business with Janine, but Caldwell hung out there like this exotic adventure, a man who could truly test and challenge her. Cori had firmly rejected it before, but things had changed, and it could be fun to at least consider. Janine hadn't brought the client up in weeks. The opportunity was probably lost. It was a bad idea anyway, she told herself.

Baines chose that moment to return. "Take what off the table? Seems to me like everything is on the table with you, Cor."

"Haha, very funny. Don't think you can just treat me like a slut all the time now. You get this doesn't change anything about our relationship, right?" Cori said. She accepted a cold bottle of water and twisted off the cap. She downed it in one go.

“Don’t worry, I know how to be appropriate,” Baines insisted, handing a second bottle to Dylan. He kept one for himself and took Dylan’s chair. Cori was glad he didn’t try to squeeze in on the couch with them.

“Since when?” Dylan commented. “I’ve seen no proof of that. Like, when are you going to put on some clothes? Your naked ass is in my chair.”

“Sorry, dude. I thought we were just sharing everything now.”

“Don’t get any ideas, asshole. And don’t take anything for granted. I’ll decide what I want,” Cori said.

“I’ll follow your lead, Cor. It can be fun when a woman takes charge.”

“You make sure you do,” she replied, thinking it was much more fun when Baines took control. She would insist on it if there was another time.

“Seriously, man. Put some pants on. I don’t need that thing hanging out,” Dylan said.

“You need to get dressed and go anyway. We need to put ourselves back together before the kids come home. They cannot find us like this,” Cori said.

“Got what you wanted, and now you’re kicking me out. Cold, Cor.”

She smiled. “You know me. What did you expect?”

Cori laughed, realizing that the old, casual version of herself had finally come out. She could probably tamp it down and return to just being the dutiful wife and mother, but Cori didn’t want that. She liked this version of herself. It was the Cori who felt most truly authentic. That was the Cori who had fun taking care of clients and getting paid for it. You never work a day in your life if you love what you do, she thought. She hoped Dylan could accept that. He always said he wanted to see that old, fun version of her. And fun Cori was here to stay.

Magic Hands: Book One

Cori Lynch spent the last decade raising her children and is ready to return to the workforce; working as a massage therapist is the perfect fit for her schedule and her desire to help people. Cori knows she can make a difference improving her client's well-being by using her skilled hands.

Cori quickly learns that many of her coworkers are using their talents for much more than working out kinks and treating sore, strained muscles. Cori's shock turns to curiosity and then to temptation as she peppers her new work friend Mayde with questions.

Cori's husband Dylan was already enduring happy ending jokes from his best friend Baines when Cori became a massage therapist, putting the possibility of "extras" front of mind even before his wife shared the news of her coworkers' special services. It's not something Cori would ever do, of course, but the revelation propels Dylan's mind to consider outlandish and forbidden fantasies.

Magic Hands is the story of a couple tempted to explore dark possibilities and suppressed desires. Can a typical suburban couple resist such temptations? Can their marriage survive if they give in?

Magic Hands: Book Two

When Cori Lynch went to school to become a certified massage therapist, she had the best intentions in the world. After years as a stay-at-home mom, she wanted to get out and make money by helping people. It didn't take long for Cori to learn the dark side of her new profession. At a happy hour with her coworkers, Cori learns the truth that many of them are selling extras to their clients by providing happy endings.

The revelation is a curiosity, and a fun fantasy Cori shares with her husband, Dylan, until it becomes an obsession for the couple. Dylan can't stop thinking of Cori pleasuring her clients, and Cori struggles to resist temptation. The couple decides that she should join her coworkers in their peculiar side hustle.

Cori establishes strict rules for herself to keep it all clean and professional, but as she becomes close to her clients, temptation becomes overpowering, and she surrenders to it. How far will Cori go? How many lines will she cross? Can Dylan deal with having a wife who goes the extra mile for her clients?

Carol's Trinity Series

It was a birthday surprise Carol didn't ask for, but she would never forget. Carol had a feeling that things wouldn't be the same after that magical night her husband, John, shared her with three sexy, younger men. She just couldn't anticipate all the ways it would change her. At 40, she feels like a new woman, with powerful new desires.

Conner, Noah and Matteo are never far from her mind in the months afterward, but Carol doesn't quite know how to tell her husband she wants another round with "her guys". Was her 40th birthday present a onetime thing? Isn't it safer if it's left that way? She doesn't want to hurt John's feelings, and she doesn't to come off as a wanton woman. But after a moment of honesty with John, Carol comes home from a morning of yoga to find an incredible surprise waiting for her!

About the Author

I'm the stereotypical wife and mom with a dirty little secret: I have lots of fantasies about what all my friends and neighbors are up to behind closed doors, and I turn those sexy fantasies into the stories I love to share with the world. I could be the sweet mom you see in the stands at the soccer game or the pretty woman at the supermarket you wonder about as she's squeezing the melons.

Most of my stories are about married women looking to bust out and explore their wild side, often with the encouragement of their husbands--and sometimes without it. If you like daring stories about women of a certain age embracing their sexuality, I'm the girl for you.

I've written over 50 ebooks, which can be found at major booksellers. I love to hear from my readers. You can reach me on Twitter or by email at kmccurran@gmail.com. My free erotic shorts can be found on Medium.
