

SEX EQUITY

Kirsten
McCurran

HOUSE
FOR SALE

Sex Equity

By
Kirsten McCurran

Other ebooks by Kirsten McCurran

Her Other Husband

A Snap Decision

Kissing In a Tree

Kelly Crosses the Line

Stormbound: Seduced by the Neighbors

Because He's Watching

Eve & Friends Series

It Started With a Joke

It Started With Mistletoe

It Started Over Coffee

It Ended With an Announcement

SEX EQUITY

© 2011 Aphrodite Omnimedia. All Rights Reserved. No part of this work may be reproduced for distribution by any means physical, mechanical or electronic without the explicit written permission of the copyright holder.

This is a work of fiction. All characters are fictitious or used fictitiously.

First Edition electronically published by Aphrodite Omnimedia,
November 2011

Cover Design: Kenny Wright. Images licensed from istockphoto.com.

Molly always marveled when she walked into Jonah Mitchell's home. It wasn't that she didn't have other wealthy clients; the nature of her work as a private physical therapist guaranteed that. Only those with the Cadillac insurance plans, who didn't want the inconvenience of having to go out of their way for physical therapy, could afford her services. Jonah was one of those people. Six months ago, he'd wrapped his Mercedes around a tree because he was paying more attention to his Blackberry than the road.

The gate in the high privacy fence gave way to a large, immaculately manicured backyard with sculpted shrubs and white, gravel walkways. She could see much of the interior of the long, low house through the floor-to-ceiling windows that looked out on the yard. The house was one of those 1950s California Modern designs with a wide roof and plenty of open space that was uncommon on the East Coast. Molly thought it looked like the type of house an old-time movie star like Lana Turner would have lived in. It was so different from the McMansions and tacky, overdone homes she frequently saw. She headed for the pool building, which framed the backyard on the other side and connected to the house by a breezeway.

When Molly came to work on him, Jonah was always in the pool house, which included a bar, full bath, changing rooms and workout area. They'd made good progress over the last few months. Jonah no longer needed his cane and had cut back on the meds, but he still walked with a slight limp. Molly predicted it would still be a couple months before he was back to normal. She slid the glass door aside and stepped inside.

Although the ventilation windows were open at the top of the room, the smell of chlorine still hung in the humid air. Jonah sat on the edge of the tiled pool, his feet dangling in the water. CNBC played on the flat screen that hung over the bar. He looked up at the sound of Molly's flip flops echoing on the tiles.

"How's the market today?" she asked, setting down the bags that contained her gear. On one side was a big mat, the other held various pads and other equipment.

"It's killing me. Your smiling face is the only bright spot in my day so far," Jonah answered. He waited for Molly to come over and help him to his feet. She took his hand and pulled, wrapping an arm around his back. She was deceptively strong for such a slender woman, and Jonah was not a small man, even if he was in great shape. He was still wet from the pool and Molly came away with damp spots on her crimson polo shirt.

"Hey!" Molly exclaimed, pulling the wet cloth away from her body.

Jonah grinned, barely hiding his evaluation of her body. "Come on, it's not like you're wearing a white t-shirt. I can't see a thing. You do look great today, though."

"I look the same as I always look." Molly wore a standard uniform of a polo shirt and khaki pants, with a tank top underneath, while working. She didn't think there was anything remotely sexual about her outfit, but she had caught clients, like Jonah, checking out her ass on more than one occasion. Her shoulder length auburn hair was pulled up and out of the way.

"And you always look great."

"Better not let your wife hear you talking like that."

Jonah looked pretty good himself, she thought. It wasn't the first time he'd been waiting for her right after a swim. Although in his late forties, Jonah was still fit, his broad chest firm, with a light dusting of graying, dark hair. His chief complaint was that his injury impacted his active lifestyle. Jonah had been an avid cyclist and kept asking when Molly thought he could return to it. His snug black trunks hugged him in all the right places, leaving little doubt that Mrs. Mitchell was a satisfied woman. But Molly made sure she did not let her gaze linger. That would have been unprofessional, and if he caught her it would only encourage his flirty behavior.

"Cerina wouldn't mind, believe me. She'd probably agree."

"Why don't you get dressed, so we can get started," Molly ordered. She rolled out her mat in the open space between the leather and steel loveseat and the bar.

"I'll be right back." Jonah disappeared into one of the changing rooms.

While he was gone, Molly took time to stretch and bend, limbering her body up. Her therapy involved a lot of stretching and muscle manipulation, combined with the use of resistance bands. Jonah's problems were in his right knee and shoulder, so she had to be careful when positioning him that she was not stressing one injury while working on the other. She was ready when he returned in loose running shorts and a snug, black, Under Armor t-shirt.

Molly enjoyed working with people like Jonah because he was already in shape and he truly wanted to get better. When she gave him homework, exercises to do during the week, she knew he would do them. Some of her clients seemed to do little more than wait for her to show up and work on them. They acted like they had no stake in their recovery. She would miss Jonah when he was back to full health.

They chatted as Molly put him through the paces. Hers was a hands-on job, but it always stayed professional, no matter what people might think. She understood people's suspicions. She was a pretty, young woman and many of her clients were men. She went to their houses alone, and her work did involve massage, but there were no "happy endings." She'd heard all the jokes before, even her husband Eric made them. He'd looked over her calendar once, and when he saw how many of her clients were men he jokingly asked if she was giving out hand jobs. Molly had replied, "I'd be getting paid a hell of a lot better if I was doing that!" But she was a trained health professional and there was no monkey business, despite some of her clients throwing out feelers. It was just harmless flirting, though, like with Jonah. Only one client had ever made her uncomfortable, and she only treated him once.

About forty-five minutes later, Jonah was covered in a fine sheen of sweat. His knee was much better, but he complained his shoulder ached, so she massaged it and stretched and rotated his arm. He was on his side, while she stood above him and bent at the waist. His eyes flicked to her neckline, but she knew there was nothing to see but her tank top. Not that there was too much to see anyway. Molly thought her smallish, perky breasts were cute, but they didn't attract attention the way some women's chests did.

"Don't you think some of these exercises would work better in the pool?" Jonah asked.

"Maybe. I didn't study much aquatic therapy in school, but the water provides good, distributed resistance."

"Do you think we should try it?"

"Let me guess. I should wear a bikini so I'm unencumbered?" Molly laughed. It wasn't the first time he'd suggested they get into the pool. It actually wasn't a bad idea, but she would have to study up before working him in the pool. And besides, she didn't need to feed his ulterior motives.

"That's your idea, not mine, but I'm not going to disagree."

"Very funny. I promise, I will look into it, but I think we're doing fine how we're doing it right now."

Molly looked up at the sound of heels clicking across the floor and saw Cerina, Jonah's wife walking toward them. Molly hadn't heard the tall blonde come in. Cerina was careful not to interrupt, but bent forward to kiss her husband's sweaty brow before walking past them to retrieve a bottle of water from the refrigerator behind the bar.

"You haven't broken my husband, have you?" Cerina asked. Only the hint of a smile on her pale, pink glossy lips revealed she was joking. She always had a cool even tone, no matter what she was discussing.

"I think he's still in one piece," Molly replied.

"Not for lack of her trying," Jonah complained. "How was court?"

"The judge adjourned us early. I think he had an afternoon tee time."

A stranger might look at Cerina Mitchell and assume she was just another rich man's trophy wife, but that was not the case. Yes, the tall, tanned blonde had the classic look of a runaway model. And yes, she was ten years younger than her husband. But she was an accomplished lawyer and senior partner in a downtown law firm and her tailored suits said that she did not feel the need to sacrifice her femininity to be taken seriously in a man's world. She was in one of those suits now, a navy blue number with a skirt that fell an inch or two above the knee and a fitted jacket and that put her curves on display. Five inch heels pushed her over six feet tall. Cerina unbuttoned her jacket as she sipped her water and slipped out of it. The fine cream silk blouse underneath hugged her breasts. Molly wondered why Jonah even bothered to flirt with her when he had a wife like Cerina.

"Justice can't stand in the way of a round of golf," Jonah said.

"It's important to have priorities," Molly chimed in.

"True," Cerina replied. "I'm going to change and work out. Find me when you two are done. It was nice to see you again, Molly."

"Make sure you stretch," Molly warned. She had to look away from Cerina's crystal blue eyes. For just a moment there, she had the crazy feeling that Cerina was checking her out.

Cerina went inside and Molly finished up with Jonah. While he dropped into the loveseat, she stretched the kinks out of her own body. Working with a client could be as hard on her as it was on them. She was well aware of his watching as she moved, but she didn't mind. It was always nice to have the eye of an attractive man, even moreso since Molly had caught Cerina checking her out.

"Why don't you come inside and join us for a drink?" Jonah asked.

"Come on, now. How many times do I have to tell you I'm not that kind of girl?" Molly laughed.

"You keep saying it, but I know you're more fun than the girl-next-door image you project."

"Do you now?"

But it was true. She'd gotten to know Jonah well over the last few months and had been almost as open about her own life as he'd been about his. She may have been a young, married professional woman now, but she'd had her share of wild times. She and her husband, Eric, still liked to party pretty hard with their friends. They figured it was a good idea to try and get it out of their system before they settled down with the house and the kids and all the responsibility that came with that. Change would come soon enough. They were looking at buying their first house already. Soon they'd be in their thirties and have a couple kids running around.

"Aren't you the girl who said that after enough Jamison you're up for just about anything?"

She had told him too many stories, Molly thought. "Just because I'm an adult who still has water gun fights in the house doesn't mean I'll do anything."

"So have a couple cocktails with us. Maybe we'll all get buzzed and slip into the Jacuzzi, and then who knows what might happen."

"I should go kiss Cerina just to shut you up!" Molly laughed, but thought she just might be blushing.

This had been a running gag between them for the last month or so, since Jonah told her Cerina referred to her as the other woman in his life. Jonah said he'd love to get his women together, and when Molly challenged that Cerina might not like that, he said that the blonde found Molly just as attractive as he did. Molly had blushed then, and told him he was crazy. Jonah said it wouldn't be the first time for them, but Molly blew the whole thing off like it was a crazy joke. Still, Jonah brought it up every now and then. He was a man used to getting what he wanted, and maybe he thought he could wear her down. Molly just kept putting it off like he was joking..

"Please!" Jonah said. He jumped up, and winced from the sudden movement.

"Don't hurt yourself. Seriously, I don't think my husband would appreciate it if I went off making out with other people, though in this case he'd probably love to watch."

"I'd rather he wasn't there for this. How about I buy him off?"

Molly laughed. Jonah was too much. He was talking like her being with Cerina was a possibility. "I'm very expensive. Even you couldn't afford me."

"Give me a price. I'm a ruthless negotiator."

"I'll have to sleep on it and run it past Eric."

"Okay, so you have two homework assignments. Look up aquatic therapy and tell me what it will take to make this happen," Jonah looked very pleased with himself. Molly just shook her head.

"Fine, I will look up some aquatic exercises."

"And?"

"And I'll ask Eric how much he wants to pimp me out. You might be lucky, he'll probably let me do it just to watch if I show him a picture of Cerina."

"Only if it's a big room and we're far away from each other," Jonah said, sounding as if he were seriously thinking about it.

"I will see you next week, you lunatic," Molly said, shouldering her gear.

+++

Molly did tell Eric about Jonah's proposition, but only because she knew he would think it was funny. She was blessed to be married to a very sweet man with a great sense of humor and not a jealous bone in his body. He even jokingly encouraged her flirting. "Those guys might buy you some nice gifts," he said.

They were out house hunting and in a big house they both loved, but was out of their price range. The realtor was outside on the phone while they wandered through the big empty Tudor. Eric loved the open kitchen, while Molly swooned over the backyard. Her mind vividly conjured the lush garden she'd be able to plant. They were on their way upstairs when she mentioned Jonah. Molly had brought him up before, so Eric was familiar with her client.

"So this guy wants to see you with his wife? Why is that so hard to believe?" Eric asked.

"I don't know. None of my other clients has ever made a serious pass at me, let alone suggested anything like that. And while he's playing it off as a joke, I know he would jump at it if I agreed and called him on it. Wow, look at this bedroom. There's so much light!"

They had just walked into the master bedroom, which had a big bay window that looked out over the backyard. The padded window seat would be the perfect place for Molly to sit and look out on her garden, or read, when the morning sun came streaming in.

"This bathroom is nice. There's a shower stall and a tub," Eric called from the bathroom. The narrow townhouse they lived in now didn't even have a master bath, just one full bathroom in the hallway on the second floor. It was a pain when they threw a party and the lines stretched long for the bathroom.

"Maybe you should hook up with this Cerina. That's her name, right? What does she look like, anyway?"

Molly smiled. She knew Eric would want her to do it when she described Cerina. "She's really tall, like five-nine, or five-ten, perfectly straight blonde hair a few inches longer than mine, I think. I've never seen it down. And she's got a killer body. I'm telling you, she looks like a model. Hell, I think she's hot, too. I'd definitely fuck her." She stuck her tongue out at her husband's wide-eyed stare. He followed her into the second bedroom, which looked out on the street. "Don't get any ideas. When I said you'd love to see that too, Jonah said he didn't want another guy there."

It was Eric's turn to laugh. "Then what's my incentive to go along with it? These rich guys think they can just have anything they want."

"Well, he is a rich guy. He'd probably pay you off."

"Does he look like Robert Redford?"

"No," Molly laughed. "This isn't Incent Proposal. He doesn't want me for himself."

"So he says," Eric interjected.

"Yes, so he says, but I think he'd keep his hands to himself if he promised to. But anyway, I don't think he's going to pay a million dollars for me."

"I think you're selling yourself short, Molls. I'd pay that for you." He pulled her into an embrace and as they kissed his hands moved down to her firm, round ass.

"This from the man who forgot his wallet on our first date."

"You'll never let that go, will you?" he chuckled. "I am better looking than Woody Harrelson, right?"

"Yes, you're way hotter." Molly punctuated her sentence with a longer, lingering kiss. After four years of marriage, Eric could still set her ablaze with a sexy kiss. He was hotter than Woody Harrelson to her, she wasn't just saying that. They were about the same height, but Molly was five-seven, tall for a woman. He wore his thick brown hair shaggy and a bit long. It was his rebellion against having to wear a shirt and tie to work every day. And he was still in great shape.

"So how much money are we talking about?" Eric arched an eyebrow.

"Not a million dollars, that's for sure."

"For that much you'd have to let him sleep with you."

"For half that much, or a quarter of it, I'd have to fuck him. Are you kidding?" Although she knew he wasn't serious, it was kind of kinky and hot that they were discussing her sleeping with another man for money. Of course, it didn't end so well for Demi Moore and Woody Harrelson in the movie. Molly pushed against Eric and the lump in his shorts suggested that he thought it was hot, too.

"Yeah, you're right."

"I don't hear you saying no." She reached between them and pushed her hand into his loose cargo shorts and boxers. "In fact, I think you like the idea of pimping me out."

Eric appeared to think about it and slid his hands in the back of her cut-off denim miniskirt. Molly hated wearing pants in the summer. She liked the way a short skirt showed off the legs she worked so hard to maintain. She wasn't running at five in the morning for nothing.

"I like picturing you with some blonde supermodel type." He gave her ass a firm squeeze. "But if I don't get to watch, we could use the money. We could buy this house for starters."

Molly kissed the side of his neck and glanced down out the window. The realtor was still pacing in the driveway and having an animated conversation with whoever was on the other end of the phone.

"You're okay with buying this house with my ass?" Molly kept a straight face until he looked worried, then she smiled brightly.

"Maybe not the whole house. How about just the down payment?"

"I guess that's only fair, since you'd have to loan your wife out for the night." Molly slipped down to her knees and yanked Eric's shorts and boxers to his ankles. His cock flicked free and pointed toward his belly button.

"Hey! What are you doing?"

Eric tried to bend over for his shorts, but Molly moved right in and took him into her mouth, sucking about half his shaft. When she worked her tongue on the other side, he placed a hand on the wall for support.

"And besides the money, I would give you a blow by blow account of everything Cerina and I did afterward." Molly kissed his crown and ran her tongue around its ridge. "I bet Cerina's lips are sooo soft, and her tits are fantastic. You haven't seen a pair that big in a long time, but now I'll be the one playing with them," she teased.

"Christ, Molls, you're killing me," he groaned.

Molly smiled and licked down one side of his shaft and up the other. "Keep an eye out," she warned. With a firm grip on the base, she took him in her mouth again and began sucking in earnest. Time was of the essence. She had no idea how long it would take their realtor to wrap up her phone call. Given the time, Molly would have rather pulled Eric to the floor on top of her, but she would settle for this, for now. Later they could pull into the back of some big parking lot on the way home and finish things. They hadn't done that in a while. Going down on Eric would suffice for now. Besides, Molly really enjoyed giving head.

She looked up at her husband and saw that familiar, dizzy, horny look that all men get when you're sucking their dick. Each guy's was unique, and she thought Eric's was kind of sweet, but all men had that look. It was why she liked giving head so much. Molly loved turning a big, strong man to putty. She saw Eric trembling and knew she had complete control of him. She bobbed rapidly on his shaft, cheeks hollowed and lips making a wet, sucking sound. His crown hit the back of her throat and she relaxed. Eric was a nice size, perfect for her, and Molly couldn't quite swallow the whole thing.

"Christ, Molls, that feels so damn good. Don't stop, it feels so good, babe. Aww, Christ..."

Molly loved hearing that need in her husband's voice. She never felt sexier than when she knew he really, really wanted her. And given how horny Eric was, that was pretty often. It was a shame she couldn't really draw it out and tease him.

"Shit, Molls, she's off the phone!" Eric exclaimed. "She's coming into the house!"

It was okay. Molly knew she had him close. She sucked even harder as she heard the door downstairs open and close. The realtor called out for them. Eric didn't answer, but he was hardly quiet either. The realtor may have heard his strangled moans all the way downstairs.

"Are you guys upstairs?" the realtor called.

Molly heard her heels on the steps and cupped Eric's balls while teasing just behind them with her finger. The move usually wrapped things up quickly.

"Christ, aww Christ, Molls..." Eric choked. He lost it and Molly swallowed fast as his cum shot into her mouth. She didn't love swallowing, but didn't mind when it was called for, and this was one of those times. The realtor kept calling their names as she came up the curved, hard wood stairs. As soon as Molly was sure she'd drained Eric, she jumped up and wiped the excess drool from her lips with the back of her hand. She darted out the door, pulling it partially closed behind her. She met the realtor in the hallway.

"You guys must not have heard me," the realtor said suspiciously.

"Yeah, we were going over the fact sheet," Molly said, licking a last bit of moisture from her lips. Just then, Eric appeared behind her, his shorts in place.

"We love the house, but it's a little pricy," he said.

Molly felt her cheeks burn deep crimson under the realtor's judging gaze. Surely they weren't the first couple to get naughty in an empty house. Let her judge, Molly thought. She smiled as innocently as she could, and asked...

"The price is a little high. Do you think the owners would go down for us?"

+++

When Molly returned to Jonah's the following week, she'd forgotten his offer. Not that it was something they would seriously consider. They were open to new things, like when they'd taken care of business in the parking garage at the mall after their quickie in the show home, but that was just too far out of the box.

Molly had, however, looked into some aquatic exercises and there were some she thought he would benefit from. It required her going swimsuit shopping, though. She was not going to wear one of her beach bikinis to see a client. Eric had made fun of her navy blue one-piece. He'd asked if she'd joined a swim team. Her husband had always loved her slender body in a bikini, preferably a string bikini.

Jonah was in the pool house, as usual, though he was not swimming. The television over the bar commanded his attention. His eyes flicked from the television to the laptop on front of him on the bar, as if he couldn't decide which was more important. He was so engrossed by what the pretty brunette anchor was saying that he didn't even look away when Molly came in, but waved over his shoulder.

"Hey, Jonah. I'm not disturbing you, am I?" she asked, setting down her bags.

"No, just trying to see which way the numbers go on this before I pull the trigger on a trade."

"I'm going to need your attention in a couple minutes. And you're going to need to change. I finally looked up some aquatic exercises, so we're going to work in the pool today."

That got Jonah to perk up. "Right," he said, tapping a key on the laptop and closing it. "I needed to get off the fence anyway. Do you need to change?"

"Yes. Does it matter which room I use?"

"No, take your pick."

Molly snagged her suit and carried it into the closest changing room, which was nearly as big as her bedroom at home. Towels were stacked on a rack on one side, and there was a clone of the loveseat out by the bar on the other. Beside a full-length mirror was a door leading to a small bathroom with a shower stall. She double checked to make sure the louvered door was locked, and stripped out of her clothes, neatly folding each piece and placing her plain bra and panties on top. Eric had told her many times he wished she wore better underwear, but she just didn't think the sexy stuff was comfortable for a physical job like hers.

The door to the changing room beside hers slammed shut and she heard Jonah changing in the room beside hers. For a crazy moment, she wondered if the long mirror was somehow a two-way. Is Jonah the type to watch his female guests change? she wondered. Molly thought of the way he watched her whenever he thought she wouldn't notice. No, it was insane. But what if he did? Before putting on her suit, Molly stuck a sexy pose, hand on her hip, and imagined Jonah watching her. A thrill ran down her spine. Quickly, she dressed and then tugged at her swimsuit to make sure everything was in place before stepping out. The tight suit wasn't revealing, but it did show off her trim figure. Molly frowned at how it constricted her breasts. She thought she looked pretty flat. But why did she care if Jonah thought she was too small up top? That was the real question. Molly pushed it out of her mind and went out to the pool.

Molly knelt by her bag, putting her phone in silent mode, when Jonah came out of his changing room. She could just feel him staring at her ass and fought the urge to hook her fingers into the bottom of her swimsuit and spread out the coverage. She also smiled inwardly. Molly would never admit it, of course, but she liked that Jonah was checking her out. She was more tomboy than glamour girl when she was a teenager and never thought of herself as a head turner, no matter how much attention men paid to her. Yes, she knew she was attractive, but she didn't see herself as the top billed attraction, more like the girl who plays the best friend.

"I'm ready for you," he announced.

When Molly turned and stood in one, swift motion, his eyes swept up her body. It was certainly more of it than he'd ever seen before. Not that she was immune to curiosity. Jonah wasn't wearing baggy board shorts like Eric wore to swim, but snug, black trunks. They weren't Speedos, but they didn't hide much either. Jonah may have had a decade and a half on her, but Molly still found him attractive. It was as much his confidence as his fitness, but his toned physique didn't hurt.

"Let's hit the water," she said.

The water was chilly and Molly tensed the second she stepped into it. Her nipples formed hard points in her swimsuit and she was glad her back was to Jonah. He bumped into her when she stopped short and grabbed her arms to keep her from falling forward. Normally, she would have dived right in, but she wasn't here to play. She willed herself forward and dipped to the neck. That helped. She turned and kicked out into the deeper water. Jonah looked at ease with the cool water.

They got to work and Molly found she liked working in the pool. Not only did it offer good resistance, but it was easier to do some of her adjustments in the water, as well. She'd always loved water of any type, from the time she was a girl, to the point her friends accused her of being a mermaid. She'd even chosen her college based on its proximity to a beach. Being in the water brought out a playful side in Jonah she hadn't seen before, too. He splashed at her and dared Molly to come and get him in the deep end, only swimming back when she held her ground. Oftentimes, Jonah felt more like a friend than a client during their conversations, and it was tough to resist the urge to play in the water, but if she started that she'd be there all day and there were other clients to see. Molly liked working in the pool, overall, and thought she might suggest it to a couple other clients who had pools.

Jonah was out first and he handed Molly a towel as she emerged, dripping, from the water. She swept her hair back and dried her face. Jonah made a good show of pretending not to watch as she toweled dry, but she noticed the front of his trunks were suddenly much tighter. She felt the blush rising to her cheeks and quickly looked away.

"I guess a bikini would have been out of the question?" he asked. He was at the bar, mixing a drink for himself. "Would you like one?" he asked, holding up the bottle of whiskey.

"No thanks. I can't get sloshed in the middle of the afternoon."

"If one drink gets you drunk you must be a cheap date."

Molly grinned. "I can be." She changed the subject. "So what did you think? Better? Worse than the regular workout?"

Jonah flexed his shoulder and rolled it several times. "I liked it. It feels like a much better workout than usual. It'll be even better if you wear a bikini next time."

"You don't quit do you?" Molly shook her head. "That's extra. Much extra. Don't you think I look good now?" She held her towel open to give him a last look, knowing there was nothing sexy about the tank suit.

"You look great, hon. You must work out every day. But that doesn't mean I don't want to see more."

"I run five miles every morning and do a couple hundred sit-ups every day."

"I admire a woman who keeps herself in shape."

"I've always loved to be active."

"All the more reason to ditch that bathing suit. You shouldn't hide all that hard work."

"We'll see," Molly lied.

"So you did one part of your homework, how about the other?" Jonah asked.

"Excuse me?"

"You were supposed to come up with a number for your husband to lend you to us for an evening."

"Oh God. Really, Jonah? That wasn't serious."

He just grinned. "I was totally serious. You said you're very expensive and I said to name your price. What did your husband say?"

"What makes you think I even mentioned it? Maybe he'd come over here and punch you in the nose if I told him about your offer."

"You've spoken enough about him that I know he wouldn't do that. He was probably chomping at the bit to watch when you told him." Jonah sounded so confident, like he had her pegged.

"I'm going to rinse off and change."

"I'll be here when you're done."

Molly's mind raced while she used the shower to rinse the chlorine from her body and dress. Her wet chestnut hair was pulled back into a simply ponytail. With no make-up and her workaday clothes she felt decidedly unsexy. Does he really want this? she wondered. It was still too crazy to seriously comprehend. She and Eric joked about it, sure, but she couldn't see her husband sending her off to be with another woman, and probably a threesome, if they were honest. If he was involved, sure, Eric would be all over it. It was actually something he kept promising for their ten year anniversary, but she wasn't entirely serious about it. Molly knew she had to go out there and shut Jonah down if he kept pressing, but wondered, What if I throw a million dollars out there, like in Indecent Proposal? No, that's too much, even for Jonah. But maybe I should throw a number out there just to see what he says. If he wants to tease I should call him on it.

Jonah's eyes tracked Molly as she walked to her equipment, wet swimsuit in hand. He held his tongue while she stashed the swimsuit in a plastic bag and stuffed it away. He was clearly waiting for an answer, but she wasn't just going to blurt it out for him. Jonah would have to work a little harder.

"I'll take that drink, but just a little one." He poured a finger of amber liquid into an expensive cut crystal tumbler.

"So what's your price, Molly?" His eyes shone. He was a hunter in his element. Everything about his manner suggested he knew he had her, it was only the price that needed to be negotiated. That would make it all the more fun when she put an end to this silliness.

Molly tossed back the whiskey and felt that familiar, comforting burn, though Jonah's expensive whiskey was smoother than the Jamison's she was used to. She met his dark eyes, but then looked away. He was too intense. No, look him in the way so he thinks you're serious, she thought.

"Fifty thousand dollars. Fifty thousand dollars and you can only watch, no touching from you. And Eric has to be there." Every muscle in her body tensed as he silently considered her offer. The second he tried to negotiate her down she would lower the boom and say she was only kidding.

"Done, but no Eric. He can bring you, and even wait if he wants to, but he can't be in the room. My fifty grand pays for a private show."

Before her green eyes shot back to the bar she caught his triumphant grin. "What? Really? I was only kidding. You wouldn't really give me fifty thousand dollars." His grip almost crushed the tumbler.

"Sure I would. I think it's more than worth it. Think of everything you could do with the money. You can have a cashier's check or even cash if you like."

Molly knew exactly what they could do with the money. Fifty grand would be the down payment on that house she and Eric had fallen in love with. They'd been saving for a house for a couple of years, but they hadn't saved that much money. If they got the money from Jonah, they wouldn't have to spend any of their savings on a down payment. But no – it was crazy to even think about.

"No, Jonah, I, uh, was only kidding. Really, I couldn't– "

Jonah chuckled her under the knee with his fingers and forced her to look him in the eye. "I think you could. You said before you'd probably do it if you got drunk enough, so why not get paid for something you'd enjoy doing anyway?"

"But that's—I couldn't, really. I'm not that girl. Jonah, I—"

"You find Cerina attractive, right?"

"Of course. She's a sex bomb." Once, during one of their more flirty chats she'd intimated that she'd been with women before, but refused details, mostly because the details weren't that exciting to her. Molly had made out with a couple friends while very drunk in the past. She thought it might be fun to try more, but she never had.

"Then why not?" He made it sound so simple.

"I'm married, for one thing."

"If it's just with another woman and he knows it's not cheating. And maybe afterwards you'll want to do the same thing for him."

"Eric would never go along with it." She shook her head.

"I bet just the thought of it would turn him on, even if he doesn't get to watch it. He doesn't sound like the jealous type. And I know you guys are house hunting, so you could use the money. It's a win-win for everyone."

How did Jonah always manage to read her mind? It was like he could divine her intentions just by looking at her. "I don't know. This is just all crazy."

"Just talk it over with him, Molly. I think you'll be surprised by what he says."

"I know that man pretty well."

"Just ask. You can let me know next week."

+++

"Fifty Gs? Are you serious?" Eric blurted. He stared at Molly like she's just told him the Earth was flat. "He's willing to pay fifty grand?"

"That's what he says. I was pretty blown away, too. I didn't really know what to say. I tried to play it off like it was all one big joke, but I didn't get a joking vibe from him." Molly sat next to her husband on the couch in their small living room. The baseball game on the television with the sound muted. It was all but forgotten.

"Do you think he was serious?" He turned fully to face her and gripped the TV remote like a security blanket.

"He certainly sounded serious. Yeah, I think he was. He even said we could have it in cash or a check."

"How about all ones? We could roll around in it."

"It's crazy, right?" Molly added to her second glass of wine. She didn't understand why she was so nervous. This was all one big joke.

"It is pretty crazy. When does he want you?" Eric still wasn't looking at her, but seemed to be thinking of ways to spend the money.

"Haha. Very funny. We could never do such a thing. I mean, who would do something like that?" She watched Eric carefully, as this was not the reaction she expected.

Molly knew who would do such a thing. It was a word that had been hanging around in her mind since she saw Jonah, a couple days ago:

Whore. If she took money for sex, it would make her a whore. Molly didn't want to be a whore, and she was sure Eric didn't want to turn her into one. At least, she thought she was sure. She tried to play it off as a joke, but couldn't get it out of her mind, no matter how hard she tried. Molly wasn't going to even bring it up to her husband, but she couldn't get the mad offer out of her mind. She hoped if she and Eric had fun with it, it would put the whole issue to bed.

"Oh, sure, we couldn't do that. You couldn't, could you? Where did you come up with that number, anyway?"

"It would be the down payment on that house. When Jonah brought this offer up again I just threw it out there because I thought it would just end the thing, but he barely even thought about it. He just said yes."

Eric chuckled. "You should have asked for more money. I think you sold yourself short."

"I'll remember that the next time a man propositions me for sex," Molly said, shooting him a sarcastic look.

"That house really was awesome, wasn't it?" Eric said wistfully.

"You think I should do it, don't you?"

"I didn't say that!"

"But you're thinking it, aren't you?"

Eric was defensive. "You don't know what I'm thinking."

"I bet I do," she said. Molly knew her husband and she could see he was considering that she do it. It was written all over his face. If her husband thought maybe she should do it, should she? Molly was more confused than ever.

"I...I...I don't know. Is it really so nuts? We could use the money."

"It's not about the money!" She couldn't believe this. She drained her glass.

"It kind of is. We could have our dream house. No part of you wants to do this?" Eric watched her cautiously.

"I...no...maybe. I don't know if I could even seriously consider it, but I guess if I could I can see where it wouldn't be so bad." Am I really saying this? Molly wondered.

"It's not like you have to sleep with Jonah. It's just hooking up with another chick, and you're kinda interested in that anyway, right?"

"I guess. It's fun and exciting to talk about, but I thought if we ever did something like that it would just happen, like we would be out and meet someone and bring her home."

"Really? Damn, we should do that."

"Cool your jets, we're not even discussing that. This is so different. For one thing, I'm doing it, not us. That's one of the conditions, by the way. You don't get to watch. He wants a private show."

Eric looked crestfallen.

"And I don't know if I could just go do that. If it's all planned and forced, would it be sexy? I would have to be so drunk."

"Even if I'm not there, it would be so hot. But more importantly, we could buy that house."

"I know what you're saying, and I know it's just one night, but I don't know if I can do it. Will anything be the same after that? You're not going to be able to look at me the same."

Eric crossed the space between them and kissed her. "Molls, I will always love you and nothing like this would change that. You'd be doing this for us, and besides, it's being with another woman. It's not even like real sex at all. No dick, it doesn't count."

"You really think so?" She didn't agree.

Molly was more confused than ever. First it was all a fun joke. Then it was a shocking proposition. And now it was something they were seriously considering. Yes, the money could change their lives, but it wasn't like they'd be homeless without it. There was no denying this was a choice, not a necessity. Even if Eric wouldn't look at her differently, Molly didn't know if she'd be able to look in the mirror afterward. Was she the kind of woman who could take money for sex? She'd done some pretty crazy things when she was drunk, and done them for no reason. If she got hammered and blocked everything out, maybe she could.

Eric watched her deliberating and took both her hands. "Listen, Molls. I'm not saying to do it, or not to do it. This has to be completely your decision. I am cool with it and I love you either way. I need you happy way more than we need a new house."

"But you hate it here," she said. Eric could be as reassuring as he wanted. He'd shown how he really felt. He was fine with his wife going off and having sex for money. Molly didn't know how to feel about that.

"I would hate seeing you do something you hate even more."

"But you'd really be okay if I did it?"

"Yes, I would be fine. Listen, it's one night out of our entire lives. We could do it and then never speak of it again. Or..."

Molly laughed and was glad for the tension breaker. "Or I could take you to bed afterward and tell you all about it."

"Or that." Eric winked.

"It's a crazy fantasy, but I don't think I can do it. I mean, I'm just not a seductress. I would feel silly if I went in there and tried to be all sexy."

"Oh Molls, you're plenty sexy. If you just think it's wrong, shut it down. If not, sleep on it. I'm not going to bring it up again, but if you decide to do it, just come and tell me."

It sounded like a reasonable approach. "Okay. I'll at least try to keep my mind open." Even as she said it, Molly knew she could never do it.

+++

Once the decision was made, Molly texted Jonah and told him they were on. She just couldn't look him in the eye and say, "Yes, I'll sleep with you for money." Jonah was fine with Eric bringing her, as long as he stayed in the pool house while they had their fun. This could be a big mistake, but Molly trusted that she and Eric were strong enough to put this behind them.

The date was set for the following weekend. Molly was afraid if she waited too long she might chicken out. Also, there was the house to consider. If someone else made an acceptable offer before they did, this would all be for nothing. Not that fifty thousand dollars was nothing, but it was what they wanted to do with the money that was important. If Molly was going to do this, she wanted her dream house, dammit!

A trip to the mall was in order after Molly searched her closet and decided she had nothing to wear for a night like this. Nothing she owned seemed sexy enough. Shopping did not work out well either. She tried on some slinky dresses, short, tight dresses, and some little skirts, but she wasn't comfortable in any of them. Seduction just didn't come naturally to her and she felt silly when she posed in a clingy red dress that hardly covered anything. After her fruitless shopping expedition, Molly returned to her closet, where she tried on every little black dress she owned. They were cute and pretty, but none of them said I'm here to sleep with your wife. Although this was supposed to be about Cerina, Molly wanted to turn Jonah's head as well. She wanted him to want her as much as Cerina did. She chose not to consult Eric. It just didn't seem right.

In the end Molly chose a short azure dress, white a subtle gray pattern and a cinched waist. Normally, she wore a tank top underneath it, and sometimes leggings, but for her big night she would go without either. Molly thought it was more sweet than sexy, but it was light and showed some skin.

Eric was pacing in the living room when she came down, but he stopped in his tracks when he saw her. He stared when she stopped and posed on the bottom step, letting one foot dangle in space. She'd chosen a pair of beige wrap-up sandals with a high heel, which she rarely wore, to go with the dress. The laces wrapped all the way up her calf.

"So?" Molly asked. She couldn't read her husband for once.

"You look awesome, Molls. You're hot."

"Then why the look?"

"What look? You really look amazing. You should dress like that when we're going out sometime."

Molly wondered if the look was jealousy. Did Eric think she made for effort for her night with Cerina and Jonah than she did for him? Maybe she had. She wanted to make sure her client got his money's worth. "If you're nice, I will. Are you sure about this, hon?"

Eric laughed nervously. "It's too late to back out now, anyway, right?"

"I will call and cancel right now if you want me to," Molly insisted. Seeing he might have doubts raised all of her own, and Molly's stomach flip-flopped. What am I thinking? I can't do this!

"Do you want to cancel?"

"No, I want to go through with it. Not least because I made a deal with Jonah, but also I want to do this for us. Buying that house will be the first step toward the rest of our lives. It's where we'll raise our children. For all that, it's worth it. But if you don't want me to do this, then it's not worth it at all, because it'll destroy us."

"This won't destroy us, Molls." Eric came crossed the room and she towered over him. She leaned down and they kissed, while Eric lifted and spun her before setting her on the floor. "If you're really okay with it, then let's do it." That was the last they would speak of it until it was all over.

The couple was silent on the drive over to Jonah's, except when Molly had to give directions. She fiddled with the radio, but couldn't decide on a station and just kept jumping from one preset to the next. The gates at the end of Jonah's driveway, usually open during the day, were closed and Eric reached out to thumb the intercom button. Apparently Jonah was not very concerned with security, because he buzzed them in without even checking to see who it was. Molly glanced to Eric, but his eyes were straight ahead, watching the gate swing slowly inward. After Eric pulled forward, the gate swung closed. Molly watched it in the sideview mirror, thinking it not only sealed the driveway, but her fate.

"Whatever happens, remember I love you," Eric said, before they got out of the car.

"I love you too, honey."

Jonah opened the front door before they could even knock, and Molly thought it strange that this was only the second time she'd entered the grand house through the front door. Jonah was dressed casually in all black, loose silk shirt and slacks. He shook Eric's hand when Molly introduced her husband, and gave her a quick embrace and a peck on the cheek. It felt odd to greet a client that way. The whole night was going to be one odd experience after another. Molly wondered how she would get through it. She just kept thinking about the money.

"Please, come in, both of you," Jonah said, ushering them into the spacious living room. Molly's heels clicked on the hardwood floor and the sound echoed off the floor-to-ceiling glass that looked out on the backyard.

"I love your book collection," Molly said, eyes pouring over the high bookcases that covered one wall. She pushed on the anchored ladder used to reach the upper level of the bookcases and it slid easily on oiled casters.

"You can borrow anything you like. The books are mostly Cerina's. She's much more of a reader than I am."

Eric looked around and asked, "Where is your wife?" His tone was carefully neutral.

"She'll be down presently," Jonah answered. "Can I get you drinks?"

"A white wine would be great," Molly said, resisting the urge to tell him to bring the whole bottle.

"I'll just have a beer," Eric replied.

"I'll be right back," Jonah said.

While their host excused himself, Molly navigated around the leather furniture centered on an expensive-looking oriental rug, and joined Eric by the huge television, which was mounted over an inactive gas fireplace. She hugged her husband from behind and felt he was tense as an iron rod.

"It's going to be okay, honey," she said.

"I know. It's just very real now that we're here and I've shaken this guy's hand." He turned and they kissed.

"Maybe you'll relax a little when Cerina joins us."

As if on cue, the statuesque blonde swept into the room attired in nothing but a short, white silk robe and heels. Her rich, honey colored hair was down, falling to her breasts, and swept to the side. Eric just gaped at her, and Molly did much the same. From the way her tits swayed when she walked, to the way her nipples bored through the thin silk of her robe, it appeared Cerina wasn't wearing anything but the robe and the heels. She towered over both Molly and Eric.

"Molly, how wonderful to see you. We are going to have so much fun tonight," Cerina said, her warm smile betraying her ice queen look. Still, she never lost the aura that she was in control. Always. "And this must be Eric. I wish Molly had brought you around sooner. Such a handsome man."

Eric was mesmerized by Cerina, and it only increased when she ignored his proffered hand and pulled him into a tight embrace. For a second, it looked like Eric didn't know where to put his hands, but then he settled on her back. Molly was sure he enjoyed having that exquisite body pressed against him. Cerina did not kiss his cheek, but bussed him on the lips. She knew it was kooky, but Molly felt a twinge of jealousy. When Cerina pulled back, Eric kept watching her.

"I told you she would be right out," Jonah said. He handed Eric a bottle of expensive, imported beer and Molly a rather large glass of wine.

"Why don't you boys take care of business while I take Molly away to get ready?" Cerina suggested.

"Great idea," Jonah said. He clapped Eric on the back and turned him toward the door leading to the breezeway between the main house and the pool house. "Let's get you set up in the pool house, Eric."

Eric looked back helplessly over his shoulder at the women.

"Don't worry, Eric dear. I'll take excellent care of Molly," Cerina said.

Molly gasped when Cerina kissed her. Cerina hugged her as she had Eric and tickled the back of Molly's scalp with long, blood red nails as she kissed her firmly and deeply. Molly responded when Cerina's tongue flicked at her own. She closed her eyes and felt a current of excitement pass from Cerina into her body. As Cerina's soft tits flattened into her, Molly rested her hand on the blonde's ass. The head spinning kiss seemed to last forever, but the men were still there when it finished. Eric looked like he was going to fall down if he didn't sit.

A long hallway led to a short flight of steps and a left turn to the master bedroom, which was as big as the entire second floor of Molly's home. More floor-to-ceiling glass looked out onto the beautiful garden and the pool house. Molly could just see the men down there. Eric sat at the end of the couch and held what looked like a check. Only Jonah's legs were in view. So that's it, she thought. I'm sold...or at least rented for the evening. Why did that thrill her?

Two low, wide chairs faced outward toward the windows and then a lot of the bedroom was open space. The bed was raised up on a platform, and it was gigantic compared to Molly's queen-sized bed at home. It looked even larger than a king, which meant the black satin sheets had to be custom made. Another large flat screen television was mounted on the wall opposite the bed and three doorways led out on the other wall. Two went to his-and-hers dressing rooms, which functioned as walk-in closets. Aromatic steam floated from the third door, which led to the master bathroom, and that was where Cerina steered Molly.

"Wow, your house really is beautiful," Molly marveled. "This is like a dream bathroom."

"It's nice to have room," Cerina said mildly.

The bathroom was as large as Molly's bedroom and featured every amenity imaginable. The hardwood floor continued into the bathroom and a complicated-looking toilet sat beside a bidet. One wall was a long, white marble counter with two sinks set into it and a mirror covering the length above. The shower was a freestanding cube, all thick, glass walls with water cascading from above and a second showerhead mounted in the glass wall.

And then there was the bathtub. The tub was amazing and unlike anything Molly had ever seen. It was like a large, polished wooden bowl set on the floor. A lip around the top was filled with a ring of white stones and an elegant chrome fixture rose from behind it to provide water. The tub was currently filled with steaming water that smelled of rose petals. It was an inviting oasis.

"I took the liberty of drawing a bath. I thought it would help you relax," Cerina said.

The bathtub was enticing, but Molly thought of all the time she'd put into preparing for the evening. "I don't know. I would just have to get dressed all over again."

"Don't worry about that, Molly. I picked outfits for us to wear for Jonah tonight, so you'll just be changing anyway." Cerina made it clear there was no question that Molly would be wearing what she was told to.

"Oh, okay, I guess I may as well then."

"Let me help you."

Cerina didn't wait for a reply, but instead caught Molly's zipper and drew it down her back. A breath drew in Molly's chest, which she held as she remained perfectly still while waiting to see what Cerina had in mind for her. This was all supposed to be about putting on a show for Jonah, but her client was nowhere to be seen.

Cerina parted the pretty dress and slipped it from Molly's shoulders. Molly had to fight the urge to raise her hands and hold her dress in place. She was modest and allowing another woman to undress her like this went against her nature. Molly's lifting, strapless black bra was exposed. It was responsible for her shallow cleavage. The dress clung snugly to Molly's body, but Cerina pulled it down past her slender hips and when it dropped to the floor, Molly stepped out of it, feeling very exposed. Molly took a deep breath when she realized she'd have to get used to this, for the next couple hours anyway.

Molly closed her eyes and enjoyed Cerina's soft, slender fingers on her sides. Cerina unsnapped her bra with an ease no man had ever shown. Molly herself plucked the lacy garment from her chest and dropped it to the tiled floor. She expected Cerina to touch her more intimately, but the blonde instead hooked her fingers in Molly's little black lace panties and dragged them down her legs, kneeling to help Molly step out of them. As she straightened, Cerina trailed her nails up the backs of Molly's legs, over her butt and up her back. Molly shivered. Cerina's breath tickled the side of her neck. Molly closed her eyes, waiting for Cerina to make a move, but it did not come.

"I hope the bath isn't too hot for you. Please, sink in and let me know," Cerina said.

Molly blinked back to reality and walked forward. A small wooden block served as a step to enter the tub, and Cerina held her hand as she stepped over the edge and into the aromatic water. Not only was the water not too hot, it was perfect. Molly sighed and braced with a hand as she sank into the big, deep tub. She pulled her hair back so that it rested on the wide edge instead of going into the water. Molly put effort into her elegant 'do, and didn't want to ruin it. Cerina placed Molly's wine glass on the edge of the tub and refilled it.

"This feels so good, Cerina. It's perfect," Molly sighed.

"Excellent. Relax while I check on the men. I'll be back in a few minutes."

Alone in the bathroom, Molly heard the faint strains of classical music floating from hidden speakers. It was good to have some time to gather her thoughts. The wine mellowed her and her jitters were calmed. Cerina's touch was electric and she wanted more. She tried to forget about the money and concentrate on the experience. Her only experience with another woman was fleeting, a kiss, some touching long ago, but it had been pleasant enough to make Molly want more. What would it be like to go down on another woman? While in bed with men, Molly loved getting her partner off, and she thought it would be exciting to make another woman cum.

Molly sipped her wine while her other hand dipped beneath the cloudy water. She lightly stroked her lips and tingles spread through her body. She didn't masturbate often, only when she needed quick relief, but she absolutely felt the need now. When Molly touched herself, it was like being tickled with a feather at first, and then those tickles spread throughout her body while warmth grew inside her, spreading from her pussy. She touched her clit and the tingling turned sharper, jolting her body. Orgasms always built quickly when she touched herself and tonight was no exception. Molly was so concentrated on her own pleasure that she stared when she heard Cerina rejoin her.

Oh my god! Molly thought, cheeks burning. She wanted to disappear beneath the water.

"Don't let me interrupt. It looked like you were enjoying yourself."

"It's not what—" Molly stopped when she realized it was silly to lie about what she was doing.

Cerina unbelted her robe and slipped it from her shoulders like undressing in front of a near stranger was the most natural thing in the world. Molly couldn't help staring. If Cerina looked gorgeous clothed, she was nearly stunning naked. Her lightly tanned skin was flawless and her tits were perfect, pert and capped by puffy, pale pink nipples. Molly wished she could snap a quick picture for her husband. Cerina's hips flared from a narrow waist, and she was completely bare between her thighs. Molly kept a neatly trimmed landing strip. She never liked the bare look for herself. It looked right on Cerina, though. Cerina was in great shape, if not quite as toned as Molly, but that was just because she was a curvy woman. Molly finally stopped staring and forced her gaze up to meet Cerina's blue eyes.

"You don't mind if I join you, do you?"

Molly fumbled for answer, but Cerina didn't wait. The tub was big enough for two. She scooted back in the tub, her breasts bobbing just above the surface of the water, but Cerina did not go to the far end of the tub. Instead, she used her long legs to step in the tub as she nudged Molly forward. Molly placed her wine glass on the side moved forward, while Cerina's long legs slid up on either side of her. Cerina lightly pulled back on Molly's shoulders. Those big tits pillowed Molly's back and she felt Cerina's hardened nipples press into her flesh. Molly leaned her head back on Cerina's shoulder. She'd been in this position with Eric before, but it felt so different to be pressed against another woman. The blonde was soft and yielding, it was more inviting, and of course, there was nothing rising and pressing against her from behind. Her husband would be rock hard already if he was behind her.

"Jonah hasn't been able to stop talking about this. It's been the only thing on his mind since you agreed to it," Cerina said. She rubbed Molly's shoulders, then caressed her arms, hands moving inward. Her breath on Molly's ear almost tickled and Molly shivered.

"I'm glad. I want him to enjoy himself tonight. For what he's paying, he should be satisfied by the end. I would hate to disappoint him." She watched Cerina's hands like they were something alien. Those dark red fingernails seemed so stark against her own skin. Cerina still caressed her arm, but also rested a hand on Molly's tummy.

"I know Jonah will be very happy with tonight, don't worry about that. I have some plans." She softly kissed the side of Molly's neck.

Molly sighed. Cerina's lips felt really good. "Want to share those plans?"

"I'd rather you were both surprised. It makes everything more fun."

Maybe for you, Molly thought.

"I can't wait for Jonah to see you naked tonight. He's been very curious about that ever since you started working together." The kisses moved along Molly's shoulder.

"Really?" She knew the way Jonah looked at her, so she wasn't truly surprised. She was just surprised he'd told his wife. Jonah and Cerina had quite an interesting relationship.

"Oh yes. And I know he'll be pleased. You have such lovely tits."

Molly couldn't help laughing. It was such an odd compliment, especially from another woman. But her laughter turned to a moan when Cerina cupped her breasts. Those long red nails traced along sensitive flesh to Molly's stiff, darkened nipples and then flicked them.

"I think smaller, perky tits are so beautiful. And they can be so much more responsive," Cerina continued. As if to make her point, she lightly rolled Molly's nipples and the brunette pressed her breasts into Cerina's hands. Molly was not one of those women who went crazy from having her breasts played with, but it did feel great when someone really knew what they were doing. Cerina had just the right touch, commanding, but soft. She didn't attack Molly's tits, so much as tease them. Molly gripped Cerina's legs under the water, wishing she was in a position to touch the woman back. Cerina kissed back up her neck, lightly sucking, while she continued teasing Molly. The heat in Molly's pussy that had started earlier had expanded, demanding her full attention. She needed to touch herself, but couldn't quite do it in front of Cerina. She'd never had her tits played with so expertly. Molly didn't know it could feel so good.

"Jonah tells me you've never done more than kiss another woman," Cerina whispered.

"I haven't," Molly sighed.

"I hope you enjoyed it. I hope you wanted more." Cerina moved a hand lower, beneath the water. Molly felt those long, slender fingers trailing down her body and she tensed in anticipation. Would those be so different too?

"I...I did."

Instead of saying more, Molly twisted and kissed Cerina. It was heated, hotter than the one they shared in front of their husbands. Cerina rolled with the kiss, sucking on Molly's bottom lip and flicking her tongue back at the brunette's. She dug her hand deeper between Molly's legs and pressed all four fingers against her mound. Molly gasped into the kiss as her pussy throbbed. Cerina pressed the heel of her hand right above Molly's clit and the pressure was incredible. Finally, Molly had to break the kiss just so she could moan and breathe. She turned her back against Cerina again and spread her legs wide for the sexy blonde. Cerina massaged her pussy, turning Molly on, but not bringing her to climax. Cerina seemed very good at teasing without letting her partner cum until Cerina wanted it.

"Ohhhh...mmmm..." Molly moaned, rubbing herself against Cerina's hand, hoping to encourage more aggressive contact. Cerina was nibbling on her neck and teasing Molly's nipple again. God, it was heaven!

"Mmm, Molly, that's so sexy. It feels so good, doesn't it?" Cerina cooed.

"Yesss....mmmmm yessss..."

"I can't wait to make you cum in front of Jonah. He loves when women lose control." Cerina massaged harder, a finger pressed between Molly's lips, just about touching her clit.

"Ohhh...shit...Cerinaaa..." Her pleasure was so intense. Molly wanted to climax so badly.

"Do you ever play with toys, Molly?"

"Nnnn...nnnoooo..."

"I think you'll like this."

Molly wasn't really concentrating on what Cerina was saying, so when she felt the warm, hard object press against her pussy, her eyes flew open and she looked down, but all she could see was Cerina's hand moving under the cloudy water.

"Just relax and trust me. You're going to have to do that a lot tonight, Molly," Cerina said, kissing Molly right behind the ear.

It was hard not to do as she was told with the way Cerina was touching her. Molly took a deep breath and relaxed. It felt like there were little pebbles on the tip of the toy in Cerina's hand, but once the flared tip pushed past her lips, it was a smooth, hard shaft, like it was ceramic or made of glass. The shaft was just thick enough to fill her and be comfortable, and there was a definite curve to it. Cerina pushed the toy deep inside her and that thick, studded head pressed right into Molly's g-spot. That little bundle of nerves shouted when the pebbles rubbed it, and Molly cried out. She gripped the sides of the tub and gave herself to Cerina completely.

"That's it, just let go. I promise you'll enjoy it," Cerina whispered.

"Ohhhh...god....oohhhh..."

Molly felt the tingling all over her body, like tongues of flame licking out from her pussy. The pleasure inside her grew and grew until it was fit to burst. Cerina rocked the toy in and out of her, the studded head rubbing her throbbing g-spot every time and driving Molly out of her mind. The cherry on top was when Cerina's pressed her thumb to Molly's clit. The balloon inside Molly burst and she was flooded with intense pleasure. It roared through her, out her arms and legs, flowing out to her fingers and toes. Molly was a woman who usually came pretty easily, and sometimes intensely, but this one was off the charts.

"Ohhh...God!...ohhhh....shit....oohhhhh...mmmmm..." Molly bit her lip, but it didn't quiet her. She rocked back against Cerina as the orgasm flowed through her. When the tide finally receded, she was left spent and hot. She had to push Cerina's hand away, to pull the toy out of her because it was just too intense.

"See, you need to trust me," Cerina laughed.

"You may be right," Molly moaned. She still couldn't believe how easily Cerina made her cum.

"Jonah is probably waiting for us. Are you ready?"

"As ready as I'm going to get," Molly answered, reaching for her wine and draining the glass.

After they exited the tub and dried off, Cerina informed Molly she wouldn't need her clothes. For a moment, Molly thought they would just be walking into the bedroom naked, which unnerved her, but no, Cerina had outfits for them. Two boxes held matching brocaded bustiers, one in black, one in white, with matching g-strings. Knee high boots, with five-inch spiked heels, completed the outfits. Molly had to admit, the outfits were sexy, though she had never seen herself dressing in anything like that. Her time had been paid for, and quite well, so she would wear what the couple liked. Cerina said she had chosen the outfits and she had a good eye, as the outfit fit Molly perfectly. The bustier cinched tightly around Molly, and Cerina helped close the hook-and-eye closures down the front. Molly loved the way the bustier pushed her up. Cerina dressed in her bustier like she wore one daily. Once they were fully dressed, Cerina helped Molly fix her hair, she wore her chestnut locks down, and then apply more make-up than Molly usually wore. The red lipstick matched Cerina's. Cerina's blonde hair was piled up high, with loose strands framing her face. They posed together in a full-length mirror and Molly thought they both looked like well-paid professionals.

When they walked into the bedroom, Molly was dismayed to find bright lights shining down from recessed fixtures above the bed. She was hoping for subdued lighting. The same classical music played in the background, a tad louder, there sat Jonah, in relative darkness. He was in a large, black leather, semi-circular chair that had been facing the big window. The way the room lit, she couldn't really make him out in any detail, but it looked like he was wearing nothing but a robe. His lack of clothing made Molly suspect he was going to want to do more than watch. It all made Molly feel very much like they were putting on a show.

"You ladies look amazing," Jonah said.

"Thanks," Molly replied. "It's all Cerina."

"Oh, it's not all Cerina, although my lovely wife has done a fantastic job, as always."

"Go over and say hello to Jonah. Don't worry, he doesn't bite...at least not very hard," Cerina said, giving Molly a nudge.

Molly wasn't sure about going over to Jonah. Were they changing the rules? Partially, she didn't completely trust herself. She was buzzed on wine and very horny after fooling around with Cerina. If Jonah did cross the line, she wasn't sure he would stop him. But she walked across the space of the large bedroom and posed right in front of her benefactor, with her fist on a cocked hip. She felt so silly, but she kept telling herself otherwise. You are sexy. Play it up!

"You really do look exquisite, Molly. You've got an incredible body under those work clothes."

"You saw me in my bathing suit." She could just make out his eyes sweeping up and down her body.

"It's not the same thing. How about a little kiss?"

"You're just here to watch. Behave yourself," Molly admonished.

"One little kiss is harmless. You can kiss me."

Molly thought about all that money and decided one little kiss would be harmless, but she was going to kiss him on the cheek. She placed herself in his lap and wiggled her butt. Not only was Jonah already hard, but it felt big in his pants. She almost wished she could see it. Jonah smiled broadly, pleased to be getting his way, and she leaned in for a quick kiss. Molly aimed for his cheek, but Jonah turned his head at the last second. When their lips touched, he held the back of her neck and kept her in place. I should have known he wouldn't play completely by the rules, she thought. Instead of jerking away she kissed him for a few seconds, giving him her sexiest, tongueless kiss.

"You'd better be good from here on in," she said, wiping the red lipstick from his lips.

"Scouts honor," he agreed, and gave her ass a nice squeeze.

Cerina sat on the edge of the bed facing them and Molly hoped Jonah was watching her ass as she walked over to her. It's time to just go for it, Molly thought. She was ready to throw herself into her role. She grabbed Cerina's face and kissed her. She kissed her hard and deep. Jonah could only see her back, she knew he could suss out what they were doing. Cerina kneaded Molly's tight ass, left bare by the g-string. Cerina stood without breaking the kiss and turned them both sideways so Jonah could watch their mouths clash. Molly groped Cerina's breasts, but couldn't feel much through the bustier, which Cerina was spilling out of. Molly broke from the kiss and buried her face in the valley of Cerina's cleavage, kissing and nibbling. The blonde had a pleasant, faint scent of cinnamon.

Molly felt Cerina steering them closer to the bed and went along. The women fell onto the bed sideways, their legs hanging off the side, facing Jonah. Cerina pulled Molly back into a kiss and the women frantically tried to continue kissing as they positioned themselves better on the bed. Molly gasped when Cerina touched her pussy. The skimpy g-string didn't offer much cover and was easily nudged aside so Cerina could slip a finger inside her. Molly was still damp from before and she tightened around the finger, trying to draw it deeper. Cerina seemed to have a sense that her long nails could hurt and was gentle. In response, Molly pulled down on Cerina's bustier, hoping her big tits would just pop out, but it wasn't that easy, much to her chagrin. She wanted everything to look elegant and sexy. Wrestling with clothing was far from elegant. After a flash of inspiration, Molly flicked open the top hooks of the bustier and Cerina's breasts popped up when she pushed.

"Mmm, Molly, yes," Cerina moaned when Molly rolled a round, thick nipple between her fingers.

Molly kissed Cerina's neck between her own moans. The blonde had added a second, slender finger to Molly's pussy and slowly massaged it, inside and out. Those tingles emanated through Molly again, which made her want to please Cerina even more. Her lips travelled down the swell of Cerina's quivering breasts and she flicked her nipples with her tongue. Cerina shivered hard and gripped Molly harder. Licking turned to sucking, and then nibbling, and Cerina really seemed turned on when Molly delicately pulled at her nipples with perfect, white teeth. Cerina's nails dug into Molly's shoulder and she rubbed the brunette's g-spot even harder, which forced Molly to pause while she swooned with pleasure. Cerina's chest heaved with her moans and Molly found it harder and harder to focus on what she was doing with those two persistent fingers in her pussy. It was almost a relief when Cerina stopped fingering her.

Making a show of it, Cerina sucked her fingers clean of Molly's juices. The women held each other, catching their breath, and Cerina asked her husband, "What would you like to see, darling?"

"You're doing great so far. I'd love to see you make Molly cum," Jonah said from the shadows.

"That would be my pleasure," Cerina smiled.

"I guess I get no say in that?" Molly laughed.

"Just lay back and enjoy yourself," Cerina said.

Cerina ran her fingers through Molly's fine chestnut hair and her lips moved from Molly's down her throat and across her collarbone. Her soft lips felt amazing and Molly could have let Cerina kiss her like that all night. Cerina moved with a slow sensuality she hadn't experienced before. It made her realize she'd never really been properly seduced. As Cerina clicked open the hooks down the front of the bustier, Molly looked to Jonah and wondered what he was thinking. Did he feel like he was getting his money's worth? What did he think as more of her body was exposed? She hoped her slender, athletic body didn't disappoint next to Cerina's curvy figure. She wished she could see his face there in the shadow.

"Ohhh...Cerina..." Molly gasped.

"Sweet," Jonah said quietly.

Cerina parted the bustier and kissed Molly's breasts. She intentionally ignored the nipples, lips moving all around until Molly thought she would scream from the teasing. Molly did not like to be teased. When Cerina finally made contact, she arched her back and grabbed a fistful of the expensive sheets beneath them. Having her nipples sucked was intense.

Molly cried out and wished she had better control in front of Jonah. She couldn't play it cool. Cerina was just too good.

"Ohhhh...god...." Molly moaned.

Molly opened her legs when Cerina touched her pussy through the little lace g-string. Her mound was aflame. The pressure building inside her grew substantially when Cerina touched her pussy. Cerina's kissing lips began their descent and Molly closed her eyes in anticipation. The soaked g-string was peeled away from her sex. It was so skimpy it was easily moved to the side so the blonde could work her magic. Cerina's lips glided across her bikini line, and over her thighs, and Molly trembled. Molly's slick lips were peeled apart and Cerina kissed her down there. It was such a wonderful, passionate kiss. Cerina's tongue danced inquisitively about Molly's pussy. When she found a spot that made Molly squirm or moan, she focused there and Molly quaked, crying out in the still, shadowy bedroom.

Molly pressed her pussy toward Cerina and wound her fingers in her golden hair. Her eyes stayed shut and she didn't even think about the fact that Jonah was sitting just a few feet away, watching as she approached one of the most intense orgasms she'd ever had. As much as she loved her husband, Eric had a way of trying too hard when going down on her, working his tongue in a frenzy, or fingering her too hard. Cerina, on the other hand, had perfect technique, and when she found just the right spot she worked Molly masterfully. Cerina did not even use her fingers until Molly was well on her way to cumming. Her tongue traced a crazy pattern over Molly's clit while she lightly sucked. Finally, she added two fingers, which slipped right to Molly's g-spot.

"This is fucking awesome," Jonah said enthused.

"Ohhhh...ohhhh...ohhhh...shit...Cerinaaaaa..." Molly cried, her orgasm plain to everyone within shouting distance. That pressure inside her finally burst and the force of that intense pleasure slammed every inch of her being. Cerina kept licking as wave after wave took her. When she finally pushed Cerina away, she felt wrung out.

"You are a sexy fucking woman, Molly," Jonah said from the sidelines. Her eyes flickered open and she turned her head to see Jonah on the edge of his seat. Don't come any closer, she thought. She breathed deeply and tried to find some equilibrium.

“Uh, thanks, I think,” Molly chuckled.

“He’s right, you’re fucking hot,” Cerina concurred. She was stomach down on the bed between Molly’s legs, with her feet in the air. She licked her lips, and added, “And sweet, too.” She crawled up on top of Molly, who accepted her kiss. Tasting herself was something Molly had always quite liked. It seemed kinky and decadent. It was even more of a turn-on tasting herself on another woman’s lips.

Molly pushed a hand between them and yanked Cerina’s g-string aside. Cerina’s pussy was swollen and damp. With no real frame of reference, Molly just touched her the way she liked to be touched. She rubbed her fingers up and down Cerina’s slick lips, pressing a finger into the furrow between them. Cerina moaned, and Molly pushed the finger just a little deeper, as she pushed her tongue into Cerina’s mouth.

“Do you want to lick my pussy?” Cerina breathed into Molly’s ear, too low for Jonah to hear from his perch.

“I would love to taste you,” Molly replied excitedly.

Cerina shed her g-string and then sat back on her heels and discarded her bustier, while Molly pulled down her own g-string and kicked it away. Molly thought Cerina looked every inch a centerfold, almost like she was posing to best show off her body. Those large, firm tits heaved with her excited breaths, while her sex was just barely concealed between her legs. It wasn’t fair that Eric didn’t get to see this, Molly thought. It was the first time she thought of her husband since they’d started. He must be twisted in knots wondering what was happening in that bedroom, she knew. Could his imagination be as hot as what was really happening? Molly didn’t think so.

Molly crawled forward. Cerina’s pale nipples were ripe and Molly feasted on them. The blonde’s reaction was loud and immediate. Cerina howled for Molly to suck them harder. Molly didn’t like to be handled too roughly, so she’d started easy, but with Cerina’s encouragement she sucked harder and nibbled. Cerina dug her nails painfully into Molly’s shoulders when she used her teeth, and it took a moment to figure out that was a good thing. Cerina was so adamant about her pleasure that Molly thought she must be performing for her husband. Molly wondered if she should have cum “harder” for Jonah.

“Yesyesyesyesyes...” Cerina called, moving to put one breast and then the other in Molly’s mouth. Molly’s hands were full of those big tits. She mashed them and kneaded them, and it seemed that the rough she was, the more Cerina liked it. Being manhandled in bed was sometimes a turn-on, but it didn’t set Molly off quite like that.

When Cerina pulled her tits away from Molly’s mouth, she made it clear it was time to move on. She directed Molly onto her back again, this time with her feet pointed toward the headboard. She kept complete control, moving atop the brunette and hovering her sex just above her.

Molly inhaled Cerina's sweet aroma. She'd never seen a pussy so close, or from that angle, but still she couldn't help but compare Cerina's to her own. The clean shaven mound seemed puffier and Molly saw just a hint of pink lips peeking out. Her heart felt like it was going to hammer out of her chest as Cerina came closer. She reached for Cerina, stroking her thighs, and leaned up and kissed her.

"Mmm, Molly, that feels nice," Cerina cooed.

Molly felt Cerina's dew on her lips. She planted soft kisses up and down Cerina's lips, using her hands to keep the blonde from forcing herself too close. Molly parted Cerina’s lips and darted her tongue up inside her. Cerina bucked and pushed harder, making it more difficult to hold her back. She worked her tongue up toward and Cerina’s clit and then attacked it. Molly didn’t know how she would react to tasting another woman, but she found she quite liked it, moreso than when a man came in her mouth. She wasn’t much on swallowing, but she found she liked the way Cerina tasted, and she liked that the blonde kept getting wetter and wetter. It told Molly that Cerina really liked what she was doing, and not just play-acting.

“Yes, Molly! Yes, suck my clit, do it! Fuck yes!” Cerina cried. She leaned forward, gripping the footboard with both hands. She humped her pussy at Molly, making it hard to find a spot and really tease it. Molly went after Cerina’s pussy much more aggressively than she liked it done to her. She feasted on Cerina, winding the blonde tighter and tighter. Cerina released her death grip on the footboard to wind one hand in Molly’s hair and pull the therapist’s face tighter to her pussy. Molly was flooded by Cerina’s nectar, but kept licking and sucking, sensing that she was close to orgasm.

“Fuck! Yesyesyesyesyes! Fucking make me cum!” Cerina shrieked. Even muffled by Cerina’s thighs, it sounded impossibly loud. Molly was sure Eric must have heard her, even down in the pool house. Cerina's orgasm was swift and strong. She pounded her fist on the footboard and kept her pussy pressed tightly to Molly, who kept licking away as Cerina quaked on top of her. When Cerina finally rolled away, Molly sucked in a huge breath.

Molly rolled onto her side and kissed Cerina, just as the blonde had kissed her before. But Cerina had drenched Molly's face and so she kissed all around Molly's lips. The series of light kisses was almost affectionate, and while she did it, Cerina slid her hands up and down Molly's nude body, coming to rest on her tingling mound. Molly hadn't been thinking much of her own body while pleasuring Cerina, but now she realized going down on the blonde had her quite turned on again. The point was underlined when Cerina curved a finger inside her and rubbed Molly's g-spot. Molly moaned and shifted on the bed.

"We have one more surprise for you," Cerina said. She hopped off the bed and licked her finger clean.

"I don't know if I can handle any more surprises," Molly replied. She watched Cerina cross to her husband and had a great view of her ass when she bent forward to kiss him. Molly wondered if this was the moment where Jonah tried to get Molly to fuck him. As horny as she was it would be difficult to refuse him.

"You'll like this one," Jonah promised. "Cerina thinks it's magical." He rose from his chair and followed Cerina into one of the dressing rooms.

When he comes on to you, you're going to politely decline, get dressed and get the hell out of here. Molly thought, adding, and get your husband home and fuck the hell out of him. She looked for her clothes, thinking it would be good if she was dressing when the couple came back, but she was only just off the bed when they came back. Jonah carried something covered in a sheet and Molly thought, I am not doing any kinky bondage shit.

Cerina unrolled what appeared to be a large yoga mat, and Jonah sat the object on top of it. When he pulled off the sheet, she saw something low and black, shaped like a barrel cut in half. A small pin jutted from the top. It was unremarkable and Molly wondered what it did. She only noticed the cord when Jonah plugged it in.

"What is that thing?" Molly asked.

"The most amazing sex toy ever invented," Cerina announced.

"I don't get it. What does it do?"

Jonah chuckled. "Oh, you're going to find out." His robe hung open, exposing his fit body and that he was only wearing black boxer-briefs. Molly tried not to linger on the sizable bulge she saw there, telling herself it was no different than when she saw him in his bathing suit. She didn't add to her inner monologue that she was turned on when she saw him then, too.

Cerina removed an oblong piece of rubber from a wrapper. It looked like a dildo, about the size of an average cock, except for the long, rubber pad at the bottom, which looked like a base of some kind. Things took shape when Cerina put the rubber piece onto the pin, so that it rose up from the black base, making the object look something like a saddle. Am I supposed to...

"Come on over," Cerina said, hand extended.

"I don't know, guys." Nonetheless, she joined them by the machine.

Cerina kissed her. It felt strange now that Jonah was standing right beside them, not off watching from the shadows. "You've trusted me so far, so trust me now. You'll love the Sybian."

"Sex toys just aren't my thing."

"This is no ordinary sexy toy," Jonah promised.

"Just give it a try, and if it doesn't do anything for you, we'll stop. Okay, Molly?" Cerina asked.

Although she was intimidated by the big machine, Molly nodded. She had taken their money and promised to be theirs for the night, so the least she could do was to give this thing a try. "What do I do?"

"First, I need to make sure you're really ready," Cerina said. She knelt in front of Molly and began kissing her pussy. No teasing, no warning, she just flicked her tongue between Molly's lips. Molly swooned, and Jonah put a hand on her shoulder to steady her. She held onto his arm, charged by even this innocent touch between them. She didn't think they should be having any physical contact at all, but when Cerina sent sparks through her body she really did need the steadying hand. That sweet, sweet pressure built inside her again. Cerina licked her until she was sopping wet again and stood. Instead of kissing Molly, though, she turned and kissed her husband.

"My darling wife is right, you are delicious, Molly," Jonah grinned.

"Come here," Cerina said.

With hands on Molly's hips, she guided the brunette over the Sybian, so she was straddling it, and then urged her downward. Molly stopped when she felt the rubber tip touch her pussy. Cerina spread her lips and Molly held her breath as she descended further. The jutting dildo spread her open and filled her. It felt larger than it looked and was a little uncomfortable at first. As she shifted to try to settle properly, Jonah took up a small box and pressed a switch. The machine jumped to life and Molly started.

"Oh!" she exclaimed. She couldn't believe how loud the Sybian was.

Molly actually had very little experience with vibrators. She'd received one at her bachelorette party and tried it, but it didn't feel anything like this. The attachment was deep inside her and the vibrations rumbled straight through her core. Once she was past the shock, it felt damned good. Molly couldn't believe how the machine seemed to stimulate her entire body at once.

"This is only the lowest setting," Jonah said. He was standing just a few feet away and the box he held obviously controlled the machine. While he wasn't really touching her, did his controlling the sex machine violate the spirit of their agreement? How would Eric see it if she told him about this?

"What til you see what it can really do," Cerina said, brushing Molly's hair aside and kissing her neck from behind. The blonde had straddled the machine behind her. If this was the lowest setting, Molly wasn't sure she was ready to find out what the Sybian could do.

Jonah turned a knob, and the vibration grew stronger. Molly gasped and sagged back against Cerina, who wrapped her arms around Molly. Those familiar tingles were supercharged and spread to corner of her body. Jonah turned the machine even higher and her entire body vibrated powerfully. It was almost too much. Pleasure bordered on something like pain, but the intensity drove Molly higher and higher. It was almost like she was watching herself from the outside. She'd never felt so sexually out of control in her life. Cerina massaged her breasts, red nails teasing her nipples.

"Ohhhh...ohhhhhh God....ohhhh...shit..." Molly cried. She realized her hips were moving, like she was fucking the machine back.

"You are fucking crazy hot, babe," Jonah groaned. Molly looked to him and saw his boxer-briefs were gone. His cock stood out before him, thick and strong, and he stroked it while holding the control box in his other hand. Seeing Jonah masturbating only made it better for Molly. She'd never considered herself an exhibitionist, but she loved knowing how much she turned Jonah on, even if it was from seeing her so out of control. He pressed another switch on the controls.

"Ohhhh shit!" she shouted. The attachment began moving inside her, in a tight circle as it gently rotated. Now it really was touching every part of her. Molly moaned incoherently as the pleasure expanded inside her until she thought she was going to pass out. She was right on the tip of a spectacular orgasm when Jonah turned the machine down to a low rumble. Molly groaned in frustration. The Sybian still possessed her, but her climax had ebbed for the moment. She was ready to do about anything to get Jonah to let her cum, she thought. And she was about to be tested.

Jonah stepped forward and knelt down. Molly stared helplessly when he leaned forward and kissed her. She didn't respond at first, but the situation was too charged for her to resist long. Cerina still fondled her and kissed her neck and his kiss was firm and insistent. She was so aroused that returning the kiss felt so natural and she pressed her tongue into his mouth. Her hands were on her thighs to steady her, but she held onto his shoulders and leaned into the kiss. It had been so long since she'd kissed another man beside Eric – all the way back to her sophomore year. Jonah was quite a good kisser and it was easy to enjoy their buss and not think about whether she should be doing it. Jonah turned the machine up a smidgen and she moaned into the kiss. She was building right back up to that climax.

"Ohhhh...Jonah...you shouldn't..." Molly gasped when Jonah rubbed her clit. He ignored her and Cerina increased her teasing of Molly's nipples. She'd never felt more than one set of hands on her body before and it was strange, and wonderful. She couldn't keep track of exactly what was being done to her, but it was all incredible.

"That's it, Molly, cum for me! I want to see you cum, babe," Jonah urged. He stared intensely at her, like he didn't want to miss the exact moment she climaxed.

Jonah did not have to wait long. The pressure inside Molly burst and flooded her body from toes to top with throbbing, insane pleasure. She squeezed her eyes closed and wailed and held onto Jonah's shoulder with one hand, while reaching back and clutching Cerina's thigh with the other. The relentless vibration drove her orgasm on and on. It seemed like that machine could make her climax all night, if it didn't kill her first.

Molly's eyes fluttered open and Jonah's cock was staring her in the face. It was a testament to how strange the night had been that she didn't scream or back away. He looked so big up close. She could almost touch it if she stuck her tongue out. No, this you cannot do. This is not part of the deal. Eric would kill you, she thought. Kissing Jonah and letting him touch her was just a little over the line, but if she did what she thought Jonah wanted, it would be going all the way. Could she rationalize it away if she blew Jonah?

"Go ahead, Molly," Cerina urged. Soft lips brushed Molly's ear. "He's dying for you to do it."

"I can't. It wouldn't be right. Eric..."

"He would never know. Only we know what happens in here tonight," Cerina said.

"Please, babe. I need it so badly," Jonah pleaded. He stroked her hair, moved her imperceptibly closer. She could see his member twitch.

"But..." She just barely moved, but her lips brushed the silky, hot head. The Sybian clouded her thinking. The machine kept vibrating, moving inside her. It controlled her and drove every thoughts toward sex. Was this how nymphomania felt?

"He's been such a good boy. He deserves a treat," Cerina said.

"I have been good," he agreed.

Aside from the kiss and the touching, Jonah had been remarkably well behaved. Molly assumed that he would be hard to keep away when she went into this, so she was impressed by his general self restraint. She wasn't sure her husband would have been so well behaved, especially if he had parted with fifty grand. Would it really be so bad if Eric never found out? she wondered. She prided herself on her oral skills, and was sure she could get Jonah off quickly. He was already pretty tuned up.

Molly took a deep breath and kissed Jonah's crown. He nudged forward and she took hold of his shaft, while sucking and licking the head. She swirled her tongue and Jonah's knees almost buckled. He groaned her name and she tightened her grip on his cock. Cerina still kissed her neck and touched her. The Sybian droning in her pussy kept Molly distracted, making it difficult to concentrate on getting Jonah off.

"It's so sexy watching you suck him," Cerina urged, whispering in her ear.

Molly did feel hot for committing the forbidden act. Sometimes it felt good to be bad. She had to open her mouth wide to take more of him. She didn't think it was a knock on her husband that she noticed how thick Jonah was. It had been so long that she'd almost forgotten how different it was to go down on different guys. When it came to blow jobs, bigger isn't always better. But Jonah wasn't as long as Eric, so she swallowed more of his shaft than she could of her husband's. She stared up at him as she slid back and forth, her mouth fully stuffed.

"Fuck, Molly! Oh, fuck that's good. Suck it, babe. Keep sucking!" Jonah exclaimed.

Cerina moved even closer until she was pressed right into Molly's back, her big tits mashed into Molly's flesh. She held Molly's hips, steering her on the Sybian, so that she moved with the dildo inside her. It set off new sparks in Molly's body and she popped Jonah out of her mouth to cry out. His shaft bobbed against her cheek. Before Molly could capture the cock again, Cerina leaned forward over Molly's shoulder and sucked Jonah's cock. The women were cheek to cheek while Cerina noisily slurped at Jonah's prick. The devil took Molly and she tilted her head and flicked her tongue over Jonah's groomed balls. He grunted and she sucked one between her lips while attacking with her tongue.

"Fuck yes. Girls..." he went on and on about how great they were doing while stroking both their hair. He seemed in heaven, and how could he not be with two beautiful women sucking his prick.

Cerina pulled back and his cock slapped Molly's cheek wetly. Molly took right over and sucked him hard. Her cheeks hollowed with the effort and she slid rapidly back and forth, desperately wanting to finish him. He held the back of her head and thrust toward her mouth. Eric was never that aggressive and she decided she liked it. She tightened her lips and held the base of his cock to keep him from going too deep, but let him take charge. It also allowed her to focus on the Sybian working inside her. It was turned down low enough to make her feel really good, but not high enough to make her cum.

It only took a couple more minutes before Jonah uttered her name in a strangled cry and he pumped his thick seed into her mouth. Molly thought it would have been nice if he asked if she minded him cumming in her mouth, but she supposed fifty thousand dollars earned him the right. Besides, making him pull out and having him cum on her chest would have been degrading. He must have been saving himself for tonight, she thought, because his load was huge. It shot down her throat, and then when he pulled back a little bit, it filled her mouth and even bubbled out of her lips. She was relieved when he finally pulled his cock from her mouth and she took a deep breath.

"No wonder your husband seems like such a happy guy!" Jonah said, with a hearty laugh.

"Very...uhnn...funny..." Molly tried to say. I was hard to form words with that damned thing buzzing inside her. It felt like she'd been on a slow boil forever.

"Sounds like someone needs to finish," Cerina suggested.

"She's certainly earned it," Jonah agreed.

Jonah fell back to his seat and held the Sybian controls in both hands and played them like they were his instrument and Molly was his masterpiece. He turned up the rotation first, forcing her to work her hips on the machine to get it hitting all the right places. Once she was moaning with eyes closed, he cranked up the vibration. He did it slowly, but steadily, letting it built from a low rumble in her pussy to a body shaking earthquake. Cerina stopped touching her, leaving Molly to experience the Sybian on her own. Molly hunched forward, supporting herself with hands on the edge of the machine. It sounded like an outboard motor and she couldn't believe how powerful the thing was. The vibrations jiggled her tits, a detail she was sure Jonah hadn't missed. He slowed the rotation to a lazy spin inside her, letting Molly focus on the vibrating. She worked her narrow hips, getting the Sybian touching all the right spots. Yes, right there! Oh my God! Oh my God! Rubbing back and forth to getting the machine to touch her just right quickly turned into fucking the machine. Molly rode the Sybian like a wild bronco and it only took seconds for her to climax.

"Ohhhhh....ohhhhh...shiiittt...ohhhhh..." Molly cried out as the building pressure exploded inside her. It buffeted every last inch of her being and her words turned to a crazy, keening cry. She rode that machine until she was sure she was going to pass out, and then begged, "No more! Please, I can't take it!"

Jonah dialed the machine down and then turned it off. When Molly sagged backward, Cerina caught her and helped her to stand. Molly was embarrassed by the loud slurp when she lifted off of the machine. She was unsteady on her feet and needed Cerina for support when she climbed off of the Sybian.

"Be careful, it can be difficult to get your balance after using the Sybian," Cerina warned.

Cerina helped her to the bed and Molly fell on it, breathless. The room was spinning and she closed her eyes. Could a machine, could orgasms, really make her feel this way? She didn't believe it. Molly used the slow breathing she practiced when doing yoga and gradually came back to earth. When she opened her eyes again, Cerina was wearing her robe and sitting on Jonah's lap. Her hand was busy on his shaft, while his was inside her robe. They both watched Molly. Molly was suddenly self-conscious and looked around before she remembered she didn't have a robe to cover up with. She did her best with crossing her legs and laying an arm across her chest, while trying not to make it look too obvious.

"You were wonderful tonight, Molly," Cerina said. She sighed heavily, and then moaned. The mystery of what Jonah's hand was doing was solved.

"Thank you. I hope you're pleased with how I fulfilled my duties," Molly replied. The words sounded odd to her, like she was a professional courtesan.

"And I hope you didn't just think of it as doing a duty," Jonah said. "You seemed to enjoy yourself, too."

A smile played over Molly's lips. "It was enjoyable." An understatement, to put it mildly, but she wasn't about to say, Your sex machine gave me the hardest orgasms of my life! Fooling around with Cerina had been great, too, but nothing could compare to the Sybian. She wondered if Eric would let her spend some of the money on one of her own. No, that was a bad idea. If she had one of those for her own she'd be an addict. She would have to settle for fond memories. Or maybe she could borrow Cerina's sometime. "I should probably get dressed and find my husband. It looks like you two need some time alone, anyway."

"You can stay as long as you like," Jonah said. His eyes showed his wheels were turning, but Molly was not up for a second act. She was exhausted, and more than a little afraid of what might happen if they started up again.

"No, I'm sure Eric is anxiously waiting for me. Please, don't get up."

Molly walked back to the bathroom as confidently as she could fully naked and closed the door. A long hot shower felt wonderful and went a long way to making her feel human again. Her thighs were sore from straddling the Sybian for so long, but it wasn't anything she couldn't handle. She redressed in the clothing she arrived in and checked herself in the mirror to fix her makeup. Molly could not do anything about the state of her damp hair, but she did put on a little lipstick and blush. She didn't want to return to her husband looking like she'd just rolled out of bed. She exited the bathroom and stopped dead in her tracks.

Cerina was on Jonah's lap, facing outward, slowly riding his shaft. She moved up and down like she was savoring every inch. Even after everything she'd done that night, Molly was stunned to see two people having sex right in front of her. Jonah reached around and massaged Cerina's tits, roughly pinching the nipples, but Molly couldn't really see him besides that. Cerina smiled at her, though, pleased to see Molly watching. She knew she should leave, but Molly was rooted in place. It was just fascinating to watch two people fucking.

"Sure you don't want to join us?" Cerina asked. She began rubbing her own clit.

"I...I...I...really should go," Molly stammered.

"Mmm, stay. We love an audience," Jonah moaned.

Cerina rode him faster. "Uhhnn...his cock is so fucking good, Molly. You really should feel it..."

"I really need to go. I'll see you two later."

Molly fled the bedroom, afraid she could be seduced into doing some she would regret. As worn out as the evening had left her, she could feel her pussy tingling again from watching Jonah and Cerina. She carefully made her way down the open stairs in her high heels and out through the breezeway to the pool house. Eric was on the couch with a beer in his hand. He stared expectantly up at the TV above the bar, but the screen was dark. He nearly jumped off the couch when Molly slid open the glass door.

"Hey, hon, uh, are you done?" he asked nervously.

She gave him one of those smirks he always said were so cute. "No, I just wanted to check in before we went for round two."

"Funny." There was a long, awkward silence. "So, how did it go?"

Molly laughed. She couldn't help it. That's what you asked after a doctor's appointment, or a test, not when your wife came back from having sex with another woman for money. While she was laughing, she noticed his pants were open. She put her small clutch on the bar and walked over to Eric.

"It went well. I'm sure you're going to want all the gory details, aren't you?" Not that she would tell him all the details. "But I want to know what you were up to." She sat beside him on the loveseat.

"What do you mean?" He followed her eyes to his crotch and turned red.

"Did it turn you on thinking about what I was doing?"

"It's more than that. I saw what you did. Jesus, Molls..."

Molly was horrified. Eric saw everything she did! He watched as she just went for everything? He watched her suck off Jonah? She didn't understand. How did he see? They weren't near the window. "How?" she asked.

"Don't be mad. After you and Cerina went upstairs, Jonah took me out here to wait and before he left, he said I might want to see what was on channel 99. So I turned on the TV and went to that channel, and there you were. You and Cerina."

"And you saw everything?" She forced the words out through her panic. If Eric knew that she broke their agreement, that she did that with Jonah, why wasn't he angry? Was he just in shock?

"I saw you and Cerina on the bed, and I saw you get on that machine..."

"And you saw me..." She couldn't bring herself to say it.

"I saw you completely lose it on that thing. Jesus, Molls, that was incredible. I've never heard you scream like that. I guess I should be jealous, but it was such a thing to see."

"You saw it all..." The words trailed off. She searched his eyes but didn't see any anger or betrayal there. Why not? He looked excited. Molly couldn't believe Eric was excited to see her with another man. He wasn't one of those wife watcher types.

"After you came the screen went blank. I figured the show was over. I hoped I might see more, but I guess you were just cleaning up, right?"

"Right," she slowly replied, drawing the word out. Eric didn't see everything. Jonah smartly turned off the video feed before he came over and touched her. She was so relieved it didn't occur to her to be pissed that Jonah had hidden camera in the bedroom, or that Eric had secretly watched her. How could she be angry at him about that, considering what she'd done for Jonah?

In her relief, Molly threw her arms around Eric and kissed him. A jubilant kiss turned to something else. They were both hot for their own reasons. Molly was still excited from watching Jonah and Cerina fucking. Eric was horny from watching Molly with Cerina. It didn't matter that they started from different places. All that mattered was that they both desperately wanted each other. She didn't care where they were. She had to have him now.

"You jerked off while you were watching, didn't you?" she asked, reaching into his pants. He was already hard and filled her hand. Just touching him like that, Molly knew she had a spark, a chemistry she could never have with another man. It was definitely sexy being with Jonah like that, but it just wasn't the same as being with her husband.

"Maybe I did. Are you okay with that?" Eric was pushing up her dress, forcing his hand under it.

"I think it's hot, babe. What was your favorite part?" She had his cock out and stroked it. He touched her soaked pussy and when he found she wasn't wearing panties his eyebrows went up. Molly smirked and straddled him.

"It was fucking hot watching you and Cerina make out and touch each other, but the best part was seeing you cum, both when Cerina licked your pussy and you rode that machine. Seeing you cum like that, seeing it from the outside was so fucking hot. God, that feels good, Molls..." She hovered just above him, teasing his head with her dewy lips.

"How about seeing it up close? Ohhhh shitt..."

Molly sank onto Eric's prick and he held her ass under her dress. She was fully impaled in an instant and her pussy clutched at him, rippling around his powerful cock. It felt so wondrous having him inside her. She loved the way he filled her. The way any two people fit together was unique, and she loved the way she and Eric fit together. She wrapped her arms around him and kissed him and set her heels on the floor as she rocked her hips and slide on him. Rocking turned to a hurried rise and fall. Molly rose until he was barely inside her, and then slammed back down again. It was a frenzied coupling. It was intense lovemaking, and it was just what they both wanted.

"Ohhh....ohhh Errriccc...shit...I...I....I'mmm..."

"Mmmmollllsss..."

And it was that quick. Just as soon as they'd started, they were both cumming. No, it wasn't the heart stopping, mind-shattering orgasm the Sybian gave her, but it was intense and organic, and it was their special moment, and it was what Molly wanted, to be close to her husband. All the night's events melted away in that moment they climaxed together. It was a moment of pure joy.

"I love you," Eric said.

"I love you, too," She echoed.

The glow began to fade and Molly felt like a terrible slut. She'd just been with two men in less than an hour. Oddly, it made her smile. She liked having a dirty little secret, and she didn't think it meant she loved her husband any less. It was because she loved him that it would remain her dirty little secret. There was no reason to burden him with the knowledge she'd crossed the line. This whole night had been across the line, outside of the bounds of their vows, but they'd decided to do it, despite the risks. So no matter how much she loved her husband, Molly would cherish the memory of her crazy night where she got to let go and live out the fantasy of being a woman for hire. It was a once if a lifetime experience, wasn't it?

Molly pulled off Eric and smoothed her dress down over her thighs. She was sure she heard Cerina cumming from upstairs. She thought it would be a good idea if they got out of there before Jonah and Cerina realized their guests hadn't left. She would deal with Jonah and his secret cameras later.

"Let's go home, honey," she said.

"I'd love nothing better, Molls."

About the Author

Kirsten McCurran lives in the suburbs with her husband, young children and a dog named Jake. She lives out her vivid fantasy life through her writing. Kirsten is most interested in exploring the fantasies and inner sexual lives of women like her. Kirsten is the author of Because He's Watching and the Eve & Friends series, including It Started With a Joke, It Started With Mistletoe, It Started With Coffee, and It Ended With an Announcement. Please let Kirsten know what you think of her work at kmccurran@gmail.com and follow her on Twitter @kirstenmccurran.