

KIRSTEN MCCURRAN

SHOOT
THE MESSENGER

Shoot the Messenger

Kirsten McCurran

SHOOT THE MESSENGER

© 2017 Aphrodite Omnimedia. All Rights Reserved. No part of this work may be reproduced for distribution by any means physical, mechanical or electronic without the explicit written permission of the copyright holder.

This is a work of fiction. All characters and locations are fictitious or used fictitiously.

Cover designed by Kenny Wright. Cover image licensed from Bigstock.

First edition published digitally June 2017.

preface

I have to give credit where credit is due. When we were tossing around story ideas for our last anthology Best Hotwife Erotica Vol. 3: Caught!, Kenny Wright had an idea involving a husband reading his wife's texts in some way. He went in another direction, and I took the idea of an electronically peeping husband and turned it into this story. My problem was, this took on a life of its own, and it turned out to be way too long for inclusion in a collection of short stories. I put this aside and wrote the short that ended up in the anthology, and came back to this work with fresh eyes. It turned into a short novel. I guess I don't know how to keep it brief! This was a nice switch-up from what I've been writing, and I hope you enjoy reading it as much as I enjoyed writing it.

one

“My laptop won’t print again,” Haley called from upstairs.

“Okay, I’ll be up to look at it in a few minutes,” I called back, with more annoyance than was proper.

“I need this done now,” she replied. I could hear the frustration in her voice. “I’m tired and I want to go to bed soon, and I need it for tomorrow.”

“Fine. Bring it down here.”

I was watching college hoops in the basement rec room, and I was annoyed because it seemed like this stuff only happened when I was trying to watch a game, but that was not fair. Haley had just made dinner and cleaned it up, and she was trying to squeeze in some online school work before bathing our daughter and putting her to bed. And I was in the rec room watching basketball. I was tired from working all day, but so was she.

Haley carried her laptop downstairs and handed it to me.

“I swear you only married me because I know how to fix things.”

I paused the game because she was blocking my view. She noticed and smirked.

“And I remember a time when you wouldn’t be trying to look around me when I stood in front of you,” she shot back.

Fair enough. There was a time when I couldn’t keep my hands off of her when we were alone, and now—after I’d been up since 5:30 am—I was just trying to pay attention to my game. I set the laptop aside on the couch and leaned forward to grab her. Haley tried to skip away, but I snagged her arm and pulled her into my lap. I tried to pull her into a kiss, but she squirmed and wrestled with me.

“I thought you wanted my full attention, honey,” I cooed.

“I don’t have time for this. I have to get back up to Sophia before she gets into something.”

“But honey, I need you.”

As we wrestled, I grabbed a handful of her boobs. It was an accident. It’s hard not to grab her tits when I reach for Haley. She’s a tiny thing, only a couple inches over five feet, and most of that is boobs. Haley had always been gifted in that respect, and they had only grown bigger when she had Sophia four years ago. She'd swelled to a D-cup—I know, I check these things for lingerie shopping—and stayed that way, big and bouncy. I have to admit, I love it when I catch my friends trying to catch a peak of Haley's cleavage. I'm proud to have the hottest wife in our group. I like to think my friends would agree with me. They've always been fond of telling me I outkicked my coverage.

"Matt, I really have things to do," she complained.

The wiggle of her soft butt in my lap got me going, and I began to rise.

"Seriously, enough of that," she said.

Haley gave me a quick kiss and jumped out of my lap. "Keep that thing to yourself."

"Now you've got me all excited," I protested.

"You did that to yourself, mister. I just came down here to get my laptop fixed. Your timing is terrible. You always try to grab me when I'm in the middle of something. Why don't you come up to bed after Sophia is down?"

"Because you'll be passed out five minutes after she is."

"You've got a window there," she said, smiling. "If you get me awake you can have your way with me."

"Maybe I'll try my luck."

"Fix my computer and you'll have earned it. I need that open document printed."

"Yes, ma'am, Tech support at your service."

"We can play Geek Squad and the lonely housewife." She had a twinkle in her green eyes, behind her black-framed, oval glasses.

"Now you're speaking my language."

"Or you can pretend I'm that redhead from that law office," she teased.

"You'd better go do what you need to do if you don't want me to pull you back onto this couch," I said.

"See you soon...maybe." Haley blew me a kiss and went upstairs.

My wife had been unusually playful lately. I shouldn't say unusually, because for most of our marriage things had been great. But then Sophia came and things just changed. We didn't love each other any less. And we certainly aren't any less attracted to each other—at least I'm not. But we were always busy, and when we finally did get any down time we were both ready to collapse. I usually put in ten hour days, Haley works full time and is going to school, and we've got Sophia. There are only so many hours in the day. And so many dollars to go around. Even if we had the time, date night had fallen victim to gymnastic classes last year. So our love life had been stagnant for a while, but Haley had a spring in her step lately.

I lifted Haley's laptop again and got to work. I'm a travelling IT guy, meaning I go from office to office fixing things, so you'd think I'd have my home network running like a well-oiled machine, but our stupid networked printer kept dropping off the network. It seemed to me that another device had an IP address conflict, but I hadn't made time to narrow it down yet.

As I worked between windows, a chat box popped up in the lower left corner. I closed it without looking the first couple times. I'm not nosey by nature, and I didn't need to know the latest gossip Haley had going with her friends—especially if she was bitching about me. But when the Messenger window popped up again, I clicked on it to tell her friend: Hey, it's Matt working on Haley's computer. She'll get back to you. But it was not Melanie. Or Eve. When I saw who it was, I just stared at the little box.

[Travis] r u there?

[Travis] haley, can u chat?

[Travis] haley?

Seeing the name Travis Holman on the screen made my pulse race. My reaction was immediate. For the first few years we were together, Travis was far too much on my mind. I didn't know what to make of seeing his name here on Haley's computer so many years later. I had no idea they were Facebook friends—Haley has around five hundred friends on there—let alone communicating. Or were they? Just because Travis sent Haley a message, it didn't mean she'd ever responded to him. But then the notification dinged when Haley answered.

[Haley] sorry. Getting the kiddo in the tub.

She must have been on her phone upstairs, not considering that Messenger would pop up on her laptop as well. It was probably very innocent, but didn't stop my paranoia from spiking. As I said, Travis was something of an issue for us.

I knew I hit gold when Haley and I met. I was sent to her office to fix her bricked computer, and I instantly fell for the pretty, funny girl with the cute little overbite. It was that adorable overbite and freckled cheeks I noticed first, not her tits, as one might expect, but maybe it was my ability to look her in her sparkling green eyes, and not her chest, that made her consider me. She was flirty and cool, but I never thought I had a chance with a girl like that, not until I threw caution to the wind and asked her to coffee. I nearly fell over when she said yes. I'm not a bad looking guy. I'm tall, and was in reasonably good shape back then, but I was usually too laid back to get the fun, outgoing girl.

Haley not only wowed me with her charm and wit, but after a few dates I learned she was my match in the bedroom as well—more than my match. She was insatiable, but that wasn't it. I can get rather kinky, and Haley just rolled with it, whatever I suggested. Tie her to the bedposts with neckties? Check. Dressing up for me? Check. Dirty talk? Check. And when that dirty talk went to some weird places, Haley went right there with me and didn't blink an eye. I've always had something of a voyeur streak in me, and when Haley was comfortable enough to tell me what a real party girl she was back in college, I started asking for details. And those details were wild. It turned out, I had the reformed version of Haley—the Haley who had calmed down and wanted to be a grown up. In college, sweet-faced, girl-next-door Haley had been a hellcat. When Haley realized I wouldn't hold it against her, she told me all of the lurid details, and I had never been more turned on thinking about my sweet girlfriend—then wife—doing all those crazy, sexy things. And almost all of her stories involved Travis, her longtime college boyfriend.

Travis was a couple years older than Haley—I'm closer to five years older—but he sniffed her out as soon as she arrived on campus as a freshman. They met at a mixer, and she was head-over-heels for the handsome, confident lacrosse player. He could have had any girl, but he wanted her, and Haley couldn't resist. Haley had grown up a good Catholic girl, outgoing, but involved in nerdier pursuits like theatre and band. Her experience with boys was somewhat limited, and none of those boys looked like Travis. But she always had that adventurous streak, and Travis took that and ran with it. He introduced her to all kinds of new things in bed, things she had never considered. When he wanted her to kiss another girl at a party, she said, why not? She learned she liked the risk of getting caught. Travis started pulling her clothes off with his roommate across the room, and it excited her. Haley realized he was watching, and she loved it. She didn't even mind when he didn't stay on his side of the room.

It was an intense three years for Haley. They kept dating even after Travis graduated, even when she suspected he was seeing other girls. She couldn't help herself. One day, Haley realized she didn't recognize herself in the mirror, and she didn't like the person she was becoming. She was too smart to live for a boy like that. She ended it and forced herself to move on, and became the confident woman I would fall in love with.

The more stories I heard about her time with Travis, the more I wanted. I had never been so turned on in my life. She told me stories about other guys, but they weren't as crazy as the things she did with Travis. We never did anything that crazy. Haley insisted she wasn't that girl anymore. Don't get me wrong. We have our fun, but we weren't squeezing into changing booths at the mall for quickies. Although Haley wasn't that girl anymore, I could tell reliving the stories turned her on as much as it did me. We eventually stopped it when we realized it became our go to thing in bed. I was too into it. Haley didn't like me obsessing on her past, and I realized it was a little weird that I was so into it. So we stopped—mostly. Every once in a while, Haley would bring something up, but we hadn't gone there in years.

I realized my eyes had glazed over thinking about Haley's past with Travis. It all came rushing back when I saw his name on the screen. I returned my attention to their chat. I should have closed it, but I didn't.

[Travis] wish u were getting in the tub

[Haley] haha. U wish

[Travis] just said that. I'm picturing it now.

[Haley] very nice for you

[Travis] is your tub big enough for 2?

[Haley] it's doable

[Travis] now I'm really picturing it. Me and u...

[Haley] u never give up, do u? I'm bathing my kid and you're talking about this?

I was proud of my wife. Travis was shamelessly flirting with her, and she was having none of it. My initial paranoia eased, and I realized it was a silly reaction. Haley could online chat with an ex. I wouldn't want her telling me that I couldn't. Although, none of my ex's were as interesting as hers. Haley would have nothing to be paranoid about.

[Travis] so if you were alone I could lure you into that tub?

[Haley] who knows what could happen if u had a bottle of wine with u

[Travis] u do love your wine

[Haley] and I love a hot bath

[Travis] not as much as u love tequila and a hot tub

[Haley] don't go there. I don't have time right now

Okay, now the paranoia was back, and stronger than before, but I was overacting. Haley is a flirt, it didn't necessarily mean anything. I was giving it meaning because it was Travis.

[Travis] ur no fun

[Haley] I'm plenty of fun, just not right now

[Travis] can u chat later?

[Haley] I'll be asleep later. Maybe tomorrow.

[Travis] send me something to entertain me

[Haley] tomorrow

[Travis] fine. Tomorrow.

[Haley] nite. X

I stared at the screen in disbelief. What was going on? I went to Travis's profile. He lived at least three hours away, so I didn't think Haley was having an affair, but anything was possible. He could come to town. I tried to recall if Haley had any missing time recently, but couldn't think of anything. I didn't know where she would find the time to cheat on me. Travis was married—according to his profile. Would his wife miss him if he drove out here?

I worked my way through his profile, checking out his pictures first. I had seen old pictures of him, Haley's mementos of her college days, but that was more than fifteen years ago. Travis was a stud back then, and it looked like he'd aged well. Better than I have. There were a lot of pictures of him on the golf course, and all of his golf shirts were tight enough to show off the time he spent in the gym. He was clean-shaven and still had that solid jaw and a full head of short light hair, flecked with the kind of gray they say adds character. It made me self-conscious of my thinning on top.

As I scrolled down, I found pictures from a trip he'd taken to the Caribbean with the family a few years ago. Yes, he was married, but that didn't prevent him from flirting with my wife. There was a picture of him standing on a beautiful beach, in front of flawless sapphire waters. He just wore trunks, and the guy was ripped. A tribal tattoo circled his bicep, high enough that even a short sleeved shirt would hide it. The woman beside him had to be his wife—Jenna Mabrey Holman. Haley had told me that Travis was tall, so his wife had to be tall too. She was slender and beautiful. Of course she was. Her little, multi-colored bikini didn't cover much, and I was surprised she was wearing it with their two kids standing right there. Haley would never do that—not that she wears bikinis anymore. I think she could still get away with it, but she won't even consider it. Jenna Mabrey Holman was in impressive shape, considering that she'd given birth twice. Her tummy was flat and hard. Her navel had a dangling jewel piercing it, and it looked like she had some writing tattooed on her side. Her tits were small, but looked perky in the bikini top. Maybe that's why he couldn't stop thinking about my wife. Jenna Mabrey Holman had blonde hair that cascaded down in waves, but it wasn't natural. Her coloring and the tilt of her dark eyes made me think she was part Asian. The more I looked at her, the more I realized how really beautiful she was. He had all that, but Travis was still flirting with my wife online. I was oddly proud.

The rest of his profile showed off how active and fun he was. Travis was listed as an Account Manager at a large health insurance company, and he obviously did well for himself. Haley and I aren't poor by any means, but we don't do that well. I wondered if she looked at Travis's profile and thought about what could have been. We hadn't been to the Caribbean since our honeymoon. We were currently saving for a trip to Disney. I patted my soft middle. Did Haley look at Travis on that beach and wish I would hit the gym? I stopped looking at his profile because it was just depressing me.

I went back to the chat window. It went back about six weeks. I had no way of knowing if anything had been deleted prior to that, but it didn't look like Haley was hiding anything. It looked like Travis reached out first, messaging her as soon as they became Facebook friends. He asked if she was going to Paula's wedding. He was invited as well. Paula was a friend of Haley's from college, and the wedding was coming up in a couple weeks. We were going. Sophia was staying the entire weekend and the hotel was already booked. We both looked forward to getting away and having some grownup time. Knowing that Haley was going to see Travis again soon set off a little buzz in the back of my brain.

Their chats started innocently enough, with the usual catching up chatter that people do when they reconnect on Facebook. They talked about their families and jobs, gossiped about people from the old days. It was a chat she could have had with any of her girlfriends. It didn't stay that way.

Travis kept telling Haley how great she looked. I agreed, but did I tell her often enough? She was humble, of course, but I know my wife well enough to know that she was probably eating it up. She returned the compliments, leaving me to wonder if she was just being polite, or was she looking at his pictures and getting ideas. He certainly was. We all look at Facebook pictures of exes to see how they've held up, and Travis liked what he saw. Haley still measured up in his book, obviously, because he started steering her toward talking about the good old days.

What started as chatting about this party or that, or the time the gang went camping, quickly turned to reminiscing about some of their more interesting adventures. Talk of a camping trip turned to Travis reminding her of how they screwed in a tent with everyone right outside by the fire. Apparently, Haley just couldn't keep quiet, no matter how hard she tried, but instead of being embarrassed, she did a bow for the group when she emerged later. I'd heard other stories from their camping trips, but not that one. Haley was a good girl, at first, trying to steer him away from those conversations. She even kept reminding him that she was married, and so was he. When she asked how his wife would feel if she saw that chat, he replied: She's not going to, and we're only chatting anyway. R u going to show this to Matt? It irked me to see him use my name. Haley's response more than irked me. I was red-faced when I saw her reply: God no!

"Did you fix it yet?" Haley said.

I jumped when I heard her voice, and nearly snapped the laptop shut. She stood at the top of the stairs and bent low so she could see me below the line of the ceiling. She'd changed for bed already, and wore loose pajama pants and a loose V-neck shirt. I could see right down her top, my favorite view. Her brown hair fell forward like a veil.

"Just about," I mumbled, wondering if I could subtly close the chat window if she came downstairs.

"Well, Sophia is down and I'm going to bed. Could you print my document and leave it on top of the computer?"

"Sure. Of course." Did I sound as guilty as I thought?

"Are you okay?" Her pretty eyes narrowed.

"Uh, just annoyed that I don't have this fixed yet. I'm trying to remotely reboot the printer."

"Whatever. If you fix it, you're my hero. I'll see you when you come up."

"Okay."

"Love you," she said, mouthing a kiss.

“Love you, hon.”

Haley disappeared and I took a deep breath, unsure why I felt guilty. Okay, I knew why I felt guilty, but I was only snooping because she gave me reason to. I’d never done anything like this before. Once my heart calmed down, I went back to reading their back chats.

They started out chatting about once a week, sometimes less, but the frequency gradually increased. There were times when Travis tried to get her, and Haley didn’t reply for a day or two. After a couple months, though, they were chatting every day, even if it was just a quick hi. By then, he was constantly flirting with my wife, not just reliving the old days, but making suggestive comments.

Travis also moved from telling Haley how great she still looked to telling her how hot she was. He told her over and over she was sexy. He wasn’t wrong, but that was not the point. He picked out pictures from her profile, even ones that had me or Sophia in them, and told her how much he liked them.

[Travis] u look amazing in that black sweater, babe.

He had started calling her babe, and she didn’t correct him.

[Haley] it’s just a sweater

[Travis] nothing is just a sweater on u

[Haley] haha. U just like it because it makes my boobs look big [Travis] u don’t need any help with that!

[Haley] u always did love them

[Travis] they look even better now

[Haley] how can u tell thru a sweater?

[Travis] ur right! I need a pic

[Haley] haha. Very funny.

[Travis] I mean it

[Haley] do u think that’s appropriate? I’m married. So r u

[Travis] married people can take pix?

[Haley] ur crazy. Besides, these aren’t the 20 year old tits u remember

[Travis] I’m sure they are awesome. Let me see

As much as Haley loves her girls, she does have mixed feelings about them. I think they are incredible. I’m amazed at how nice and full they are. They are big, but they don’t droop. Travis would be impressed. I know she likes showing them off, but Haley swears she doesn’t have a choice. It also bothers her that she’s all boobs. Because she’s so petite, she thinks her tits make her look heavier than she is. Sure, maybe she doesn't have a perfectly flat tummy, like she did before she had Sophia, but she didn't let herself go like some of my friends' wives. I bet she's within ten pounds of her pre-baby weight. There's a reason my friends think I have the hottest wife. She's got a curvy little body, with a nice round ass to balance out those tits.

Haley blew off his request for pictures, but he was insistent, and he wore her down over time. I would have thought she would have found the constant needling annoying. She would if I was doing it. But she seemed amused by Travis constantly asking her for sexy pictures. I froze my scrolling when I saw she sent him a picture. It wasn't a nude, but it still felt like crossing a new line.

The picture was a selfie in the bathroom mirror. Haley was wearing a button-up black blouse she frequently wore to work, but she left it open a button or so more than she regularly would have, exposing cleavage she never would have shown at work. Her adorable smile told me how pleased she was with herself. It was a baby step, but Travis was pleased.

[Travis] Nice! U haven't changed at all

[Haley] ur too sweet

[Travis] I mean it babe. Ur hotter than ever

[Haley] thx

[Travis] how about another few buttons?

[Haley] that's why ur buttering me up!

[Travis] come on. It'll be fun

Haley sent a second picture, this time she was leaning into the mirror, and it looked like she had opened another button, at least. I could see the edges of a navy blue satin bra and a ton of cleavage. It looked like she was going to spill right out of the picture. Travis was thrilled and tried to push for more, but Haley pushed him off.

I stared at the screen in disbelief. It wasn't like she'd cheated, but she did cross a line. If I did something similar with an ex—or any woman—Haley would have my head. She would not be okay with it. And I wasn't okay. Not by a longshot. My heart was pounding in my chest, and I felt sick. I was angry, but it wasn't that simple, because as I stared at a picture of her cleavage my wife sent to another man, I realized I was rock hard.

Being aroused made my heart pound harder, and I was lightheaded for a moment. Why the fuck was I turned on? Of course I knew, and that almost made me feel better. Almost. I told myself that if this was with any other man my reaction would be different, even though I had no reason to believe that. It seemed that I'd never really gotten my weird fascination with Haley and Travis out of my system, even though it had been years since we'd played those games. It made sense, at least to me. If hearing stories of things they did together turned me on so much, seeing them actually flirt would do the same thing. It was almost hotter, even though it was only online chatting—for all I knew. I'd gone straight back to the beginning. There was still over a month of chats I hadn't looked at. They could have moved onto chatting on the phone. And I didn't know they hadn't met. I tried not to think about the latter.

I closed my eyes, and I could just imagine Haley sitting in her car at lunchtime, outside work, talking to Travis on the phone. Haley tried to keep it friendly, but Travis kept flirting, kept pushing, and she gave in, like she had before. I could almost hear them whispering to each other. Travis asking, What are you wearing? Haley hesitating before answering. Travis would tell her how hot she must be, and how hard it was getting him. She would react, unable to help herself. I heard Travis asking my wife to touch herself, and Haley resisting again, but always giving in to him. Travis used to rock her world. I know the effect he had on her way back when, and obviously he had that power over her still. Haley would always give in.

I forced my mind elsewhere before I came in my shorts. I was so shaky it felt like I would fall over if I tried to stand, and took slow, deep breaths to calm down. I was so horny I couldn't think straight, and I set the laptop aside. I still had to fix it for her, but all I could think about was her invitation. I don't know how long I was reading their chats, but there was still a chance she was awake. I practically leapt up the steps from the basement.

We live in a townhome, with two stories, beside the finished basement. The lights were all off on the first floor, and I made my way carefully, not wanting to trip on the toys that were always everywhere on the floor.

I crept up to the second floor and slinked past the door to Sophia's room. The last thing I wanted to do was wake our daughter. I peaked in on her, and satisfied she was fast asleep, I eased her door closed. I continued padding down the hardwood floor of the hallway, but what I heard from our bedroom stopped me short. The door was left ajar, but Haley had probably pushed it closed, and then one of our cats nudged it open. I flattened against the wall, and my breathing sounded so loud I was afraid she could hear it while I strained to hear her.

The unmistakable sound of her little pocket vibrator came through the gap in the door. It was covered with soft purple silicone, and surprisingly powerful for something so small. It was compact and easily fit in her purse—not that we were that adventurous anymore. It was not her only toy, but I know it's the one Haley pulls out when she wants a quick, easy orgasm. We have a bigger, more intricate toy we use when we play together, but that one doesn't come out very often these days.

Haley was obviously as horny as I was, and I couldn't help suspecting it was for the same reason. Travis. His flirting had gotten her going. I should have gone in there and replaced that vibrator with my dick and made us both happy, but I was so charged up I didn't know if I would get the job done. I don't ordinarily have a hair trigger, but when my buttons are pushed—like they were at the moment—I can be quick. Besides, I was fascinated hanging out in the corner and listening to my wife. Spying on her. Once again.

I peeled away from the wall and peeked through the gap. Haley left her bedside lamp on, and there was a spread-open book beside her on the bed. Had she tried reading to distract herself and decided she was just too horny to concentrate? I could relate. Her pajama pants were pushed down to her knees, and her right hand had the toy pressed against her mound. Her other hand fondled her breast, massaging it and teasing her nipple. Her nipples have been so much more sensitive after the kids—another benefit of pregnancy. It's become a sure way to drive her crazy, just like touching the special spot on her neck.

Haley's head was tilted back against the pillows, and her lips were just barely parted. I could hear her soft moans floating over the buzzing of the vibrator. The sound made my dick throb. Haley has the sexiest little moan. It goes with the husky bedroom voice she gets when she's really turned on. I used to joke she could have made a fortune as a phone sex operator.

I couldn't see exactly what she was doing, but I've watched my wife masturbate for me enough times that I knew what it looked like. The blunt tip of that toy would be nestled between her lips, pressed right on her love button. Haley liked to tease her clit at first, almost tapping it with the toy. It sounded like she only had it on medium, so she was stretching it out tonight. If she had it on high, she would have been too fast to catch.

Her eyes were closed and her chest rose and fell as her breathing got heavier. I told myself her eyes were closed because she was thinking about Travis. She could have been reliving one of their college adventures, like when she jerked him off in a crowded lecture hall, while he returned the favor. They wanted to see who would finish first. Haley barely edged him out, and only leaned down to swallow his load in the nick of time. Or she could have been thinking of something current. Maybe she was thinking about how hot she made Travis now, and wishing he was there.

My hand was in my shorts, stroking my prick. Haley looked so sexy. Her breathing shifted, coming in short gasps that made her tits jiggle a little. I knew she was getting close. We were both thinking about the same thing—Travis fucking her. I knew it.

I leaned closer to the gap and put my hand on the doorframe. Shifting my weight made the floor creak. Haley's eyes snapped open and I recoiled, praying she hadn't seen me. It wasn't that she minded putting on a show for me—or she didn't back in the day—but I was spying, and that was creepy. I flattened against the wall again and held my breath, which was difficult when I was so close to coming.

“Matt? Is that you?” she called out. “Matt?”

Her voice had that low, husky tone I love. Yeah, she was so close. A moment later, she moaned, “Oh,” like she was surprised, followed by a soft cry. I knew Haley was coming. Christ, it was hot. I came a second later, making a mess in my shorts, but I did it silently. I hated the way the sticky mess felt, but I retreated down the hallway, and glided down the steps silent as a thief in the night.

I returned to the basement and cleaned up as best as I could in the powder room. I took another pair of shorts from the laundry, and buried my underwear and shorts in the dirty hamper Haley carried down earlier. When I plopped back down on the couch I was wired. My mind was racing. I stared at the laptop, sitting on the couch where I'd left it. It was calling to me, demanding I pick up where I left off and see what else there was to discover. But I still had to fix the printer for Haley and print her document, and I had to try and sleep. Work came early. It would still be there tomorrow, I told myself. I got the printer working, printed her document, and shutdown the laptop.

two

Sleep did not help. I woke exhausted and edgy. Haley hardly stirred when I slid into bed beside her that night. I was up first as usual. I hit the shower and got ready for work, and was in the kitchen making coffee when Haley came down ready for work. Her black sweater hugged her figure nicely, and her jeans made her ass look great. Her chestnut hair was still damp and she's wearing her glasses. I've always loved that she looked so hot even in everyday clothes. I almost preferred Haley in a nice pair of jeans than all dressed up, but that was hard to say. I couldn't remember the last time I'd seen my wife dressed to go out.

"Hey, hon," she said, pausing to kiss my cheek as she passed by.

I watched her move around the kitchen and wondered what she was wearing under those mundane clothes. Was she thinking about Travis as she put on a pair of barely-there panties? I felt my cock stir as I contemplated my wife dressing for her old lover. She caught me staring at her.

"What?" she asked.

"Huh?"

"You're staring. Is there a stain on my sweater?"

I stared for another minute, working up the courage to confront her, but that didn't happen. Instead, I pounced on her. Haley was pinned back against the kitchen island and I was all over her. Haley tensed up out of surprise, and I wondered if she'd react that way if Travis grabbed her. She gradually relented, melting against me. Her arms enclosed me, and her fingernails raked through the back of my short, brown hair. Haley's breath caught, and I knew the kiss got to her. She kissed me back, and when I pressed my knee between her legs, her moan vibrated through our kiss.

"What's gotten into you?" Haley asked, between kisses.

I didn't reply, because I had no idea what might come out of my mouth. Instead, I swept her damp hair to the side and kissed her neck. My lips found her sweet spot, and Haley leaned heavily against the island behind her as her limbs turned to jelly. She clung to me and alternated between moaning and gasping. I grabbed for her breasts, and she pushed back against me.

“Matt, Sophia’s going to be up any minute. Come on.”

Her words went right over my head. I had a raging hard-on, and all I could think about was fucking my sexy wife. She probably thought I was giving in when I let her go, but before she could squirm away from me I spun her around to face the island and pushed on her shoulders, bending her over. She batted at my hands when I reached to unsnap her jeans, but it was a half-hearted effort. Haley was as turned on as I was, and for the same reason—her chats with Travis. I was about to yank her jeans down when we both heard Sophia call out from the hallway.

Haley pushed back against me hard, but I was already moving, and I slammed back into the refrigerator. A glass jar, holding teabags, toppled from the top of the refrigerator. It painfully bounced off of my shoulder and would have shattered on the floor if my reflexes had been a tad slower. I juggled the jar and pulled it into my chest like an errant football pass just as Sophia came into the kitchen. Haley was still pulling her sweater into place.

“Hey juniebug, good morning,” Haley said brightly. Our daughter crashed into her with a hug and Haley shot me a look Sophia couldn’t see.

“I, uh, I guess I better get moving,” I said.

“I hope you still have some of that energy later,” Haley replied.

“Bye, daddy,” Sophia called, still hugging her mother.

My day seemed impossibly long. Fortunately, I didn’t have any complicated jobs lined up, because my mind only had room for one thing. I strung network cable and re-installed Windows on computers and configured a router, all the while thinking about my wife and her lover.

I was thoroughly distracted all through dinner. I did my best to be an attentive dad and husband, but every time I looked at Haley all I could do was picture her and Travis together. The night dragged, as I was just waiting for Haley to go to bed so I could get back at her laptop. After I’d pounced on her that morning she probably expected me to follow her to bed. She looked disappointed when I told her I was going to stay up and watch television. When I was confident she’d fallen asleep, I crept upstairs, grabbed her laptop, and took it to the basement.

Haley had not left Messenger open, but I popped it up. It didn’t look like they’d chatted that day, so I paged back to where I’d left off, about a week and a half earlier, when she had finally sent him a picture.

Travis seemed to be encouraged by the cleavage picture my wife sent him. He started pressing her harder after that—a lot more flirting, begging for more pictures, more compliments. I know Haley is smart enough to know when a guy is working her, and I could see her batting away his cheesier, more aggressive advances, but his subtler praise pushed her buttons, and Haley responded to it in kind. But the thing that opened her to Travis the most was when he brought up the old days.

Haley always tried to put him off when Travis brought up something crazy they did in the past. She'd start with either a haha or saying something like that was a hundred years ago! But Travis would press, and she would slowly relent and start reliving it with him. Seeing my wife being slowly seduced by her old lover made me feel like my brain was going to overload. I know Haley, and I knew those walks down memory lane were turning her on.

[Haley] I can't believe we did that. if we had gotten caught...

[Travis] wasn't that kind of the point? U loved the danger

[Haley] I was crazy then. I would have died if that security guard came into the lab

[Travis] I don't know babe. U used to like being watched

[Haley] maybe. Sometimes. □ that would have been weird

[Travis] u used to like weird too

[Haley] I'm a grown up now. Things change

[Travis] but people don't

[Haley] you're the same now as u were then?

[Travis] I'm still me. I don't believe you've changed that much

[Haley] haha. You'd be surprised.

[Travis] u don't like taking risks?

[Haley] not like that! I'm a mom! I have a job! Too much to risk

[Travis] so u would if u could

[Haley] I didn't say that. no one wants to see this anyway

[Travis] I know that's not true

[Haley] you've only seen me with my clothes on. Don't forget I've had a kid

[Travis] ur still hot babe

[Haley] haha. U have no idea.

[Travis] so show me.

[Haley] not this again.

[Travis] u say ur not hot. I say prove it.

[Haley] I can't send you naked pictures. You're crazy. I'm married. So r u

[Travis] it's only pictures.

[Haley] come on. U know I can't [Travis] but u want to. I know that girl who fucked me on a couch at a frat party is still there

[Haley] that girl was whacked on E

[Travis] she's still in there. Let her out to play. U know u want to.

[Haley] you're crazy

[Travis] but I'm not wrong. U miss it. don't u?

[Haley] I don't really think about it

[Travis] but when u do u miss it

[Haley] maybe a little bit ;)

[Travis] I bet ur horny right now thinking about it

[Haley] never said that

[Travis] ur not denying it

[Haley] I admit nothing

[Travis] which was hotter? Fucking in the chem lab, or fucking at the frat party?

[Haley] hold on. Gotta grab the phone

It's crazy, I know it, but part of me was rooting for Travis at that point. I knew how Haley got when she told me stories about her old days—although I hadn't heard about the frat party. I wanted her to admit that going back there still turned her on, and for some reason, I wanted her to admit it to Travis. It was like a knife in my belly that my wife would be like this with another man, but I was constantly hard as I read those chats.

I could tell from the time stamps that most of these chats were happening while Haley was at work. I guess she wasn't as busy there as I'd always thought, but there were gaps of a few minutes before her responses at times. Travis must have had a lot of free time at work. This time, it was almost ten minutes before she answered, but when she did, her answer made my dick pop against the bottom of her laptop.

[Haley]the frat house was really hot, especially when that girl started petting my hair and touching my face. Felt incredible on the e. but when I thought that guard was going to come in and u didn't stop and that rush hit me, I came so hard. So that was hotter□

I almost came reading that. It was so wrong, but that was why it was so sexy. I could totally understand what she was describing, because in my own way, I felt it. Something that shouldn't be turning me on had me rock hard. I was angry at this little betrayal, but that didn't stop my elation when Travis pounced on her comment.

[Travis] I think I still have the teeth marks where u bit my hand when u came. Didn't keep u very quiet.

[Haley] quiet enough. We didn't get caught.

[Travis] or he decided to let us have our fun

[Haley] haha

[Travis] u don't miss that?

[Haley] I plead the 5th

[Travis] ur turned on right now, aren't u?

[Haley] We're not going there

[Travis] bet ur panties r wet

[Haley] not going there

I was past being proud of my wife when she held out against Travis's entreaties. It made me feel guilty, but a big part of me wanted to see her give in.

[Travis] ur not denying it

That seemed to be one of his signature moves, trying to hook Haley on a technicality. He knew her as well as I did. She hates to back down. She could have just told him no, but she didn't want to. She wanted to have it both ways.

[Haley] I plead the 5th

[Travis] u know ur non answer is an answer

[Haley] u can take it however u like

A lot of their chats went that way. Travis would manipulate Haley into some kind of sexual talk, after sufficient token resistance Haley would relent and go there with him, but she would always withhold the key confession he wanted. Haley was really getting off on teasing him, and Travis had fun wearing her down. They were chatting every day by then. I felt like she was leading this secret double life; teasing her old boyfriend and reliving her slutty college past by day then coming home to be the perfect wife and mother at night.

Their chats got more and more explicit, and started moving into the present day. Travis would ask what she was wearing, and after dodging him the first few times she answered him, but with bland answers. A blouse. Pants. Underwear. The answers became more descriptive, and I gritted my teeth when my wife told him, black panties. They're all lace. Travis begged her to show him, which was exactly what she wanted. I was torn. My head would have exploded if she'd done it, but I was disappointed when she didn't.

I was disappointed when I ran out of chats to read. It was like waiting for the next Star Wars movie. I had to know what was going to happen next. Haley is one of the stubbornest people I know, but I thought Travis could wear her down given time. It had been a week since she'd sent him those teasing photos, and I could see in their messages that she was wavering. Did Travis have the key to pushing her over the edge? It was so wrong, but there I was, rooting for him again.

I went through another day like a zombie, doing my job, but thinking about Haley and Travis in my spare moments. I kept wondering, Are they chatting right now? Travis was probably begging her one more time for more explicit pictures, and she was flirting right up to the line, but doing no more than sticking her toe over. I know a lot of husbands would consider what she was already doing to be over the line, but I was looking at her behavior through my own, weird voyeuristic lens.

I was on tenterhooks that night, and grabbed for her laptop at the first chance I got. Haley was upstairs reading Sophia a story, I found the laptop on the kitchen counter and popped it open. It was risky to spy in the open like that, but I was afraid to run off to the basement with the computer in case Haley came looking for it. I was confident that I would hear her coming down the steps and be able to close the laptop before she made it into the kitchen. I opened Messenger.

My heart sank, but my dick went up, when I saw that they had been chatting all morning. It was the usual mix of small talk and flirting. They went from talking about what was going on in their lives to the flirting. Travis didn't even try to be subtle about it, but Haley didn't seem to care. He went right back into pressing her for hotter selfies after she told him what she was wearing. Haley wore a Henley top and jeans with boots that day.

[Travis] but what's underneath? Show don't tell

[Haley] u never give up

[Travis] can u blame me? Come on babe. U know u want to

[Haley] give it up already [Travis] I guess I'll see the real thing soon
[Haley] haha u think so?
[Travis] the wedding is come up
[Haley] doesn't mean you'll be seeing that.
[Travis] I still know u. get a few drinks in u and get u alone...
[Haley] I'm not some horny college girl anymore
[Travis] true ur not a college girl
[Haley] You're too much. Married women do not run around showing their underwear to strange men
[Travis] ur enjoying teasing me too much
[Haley] maybe
[Travis] no one likes a cocktease. Ur gonna go over my knee
[Haley] mmm promises promises
[Travis] see...
[Haley] haha
[Travis] can't wait to see u. wear something sexy for me
[Haley] I have something sexy planned but u won't see it
[Travis] wait til I get u alone
[Haley] in the middle of the wedding? With my husband there? Good luck
[Travis] sneaking away is our specialty
[Haley] haha u know nothing's going to happen. Right?
[Travis] sure
[Haley] I mean it. playing like this is one thing. It's fun. But we can't cross that line
[Travis] it's just one weekend babe. If we're careful it'll be our little secret
[Haley] come on. Promise me you'll behave
[Travis] u don't want me to
[Haley] promise
[Travis] u don't want me to
[Haley] not the point
I gripped the counter with sweaty palms. My wife didn't deny his accusation. Haley could have said, you're wrong. I don't want that. But she did not. Instead, she was asking—practically begging—Travis to behave himself, as if she had no self-control. Maybe she wouldn't once she got around him. It seemed to be the only thing standing between Haley and adultery at the wedding was my being there. If I came down with a cold and stayed home, would she spend the weekend fucking Travis? A chill ran down my spine.

I was so lost in my sick thoughts that I only just heard Haley coming into the kitchen. I barely had the laptop closed in time and was an edgy mess when she came into the kitchen. She was in a cute, matching pajama set.

“Hey, I was just getting ready to go to bed. Are you coming up?” she asked.

“Uh, in a few minutes. I just need to go over some work stuff first. I’ll be up soon.”

“Are you okay? You look like you’ve seen a ghost.”

Her smile was warm, amused, not suspicious, but my adrenaline was pumping and I just couldn’t hold it together.

“Yeah, fine. It’s just been a long day. I’ll be up soon,” I said hurriedly. Knowing I was acting oddly, I retreated from the kitchen to the basement.

I stayed downstairs and listened to Haley moving around the kitchen, trying to slow my heartbeat. How could she stay so calm while doing something wrong, and I was a mess from spying? Once I was sure she had gone up to bed, I crept back into the kitchen. The laptop sat in the same spot, undisturbed. I carried it back down to the basement, deciding I wouldn’t likely be disturbed now. I opened the screen and was shocked to find they were chatting right then.

[Haley] r u there? I’m in bed, all alone

[Travis] sounds like u need someone to keep u company

[Haley] matt is downstairs watching tv

[Travis] his loss my gain. Do u still sleep naked?

[Haley] haha

[Travis] prove it

She sent a selfie. Haley was in bed, and her tits strained against her top. Her nipples stared right at the camera.

[Travis] damn u look good ur tits r amazing

[Haley] haha thanks

[Travis] bet they look better naked

[Haley] not happening

[Travis] afraid to get caught?

[Haley] maybe. What are you doing? Where's your wife?

[Travis] in my office. She's somewhere in the house. Don't worry she won't interrupt us

[Haley] us? There's an us?

[Travis] ur the one who's talking to me in bed.

[Haley] I was bored

[Travis] I'd never leave u bored in bed

[Haley] haha

[Travis] I can think of something to keep u busy in bed

[Haley] oh yeah

[Travis] still thinking about that time by the lake? Bed wasn't lonely then

[Haley] three's a crowd

[Travis] u didn't think so that night.

[Haley] that's because of the E u got that weekend. It was strong shit

[Travis] it's cute how u try to blame the e. u dragged us both to bed

[Haley]randy was really cute back then and I wanted to know if he had a reason for all that bragging.□

[Travis] u found out u were wild that night

[Haley] haha he wasn't all talk. It was a fun night

[Travis] so u are thinking about that night?

[Haley]maybe□

[Travis] I bet ur wet as hell

[Haley]maybe□

[Travis] I'm fucking hard thinking about it.

[Haley] yeah? What are you thinking?

[Travis] how he rammed u so hard it jammed my cock down ur throat. I came and u shoved me out of the way for him.

[Haley] he just flipped me on my back like a doll and took me. That was awesome. You didn't seem to mind

[Travis] it was fucking hot to see. Got me right back up

[Haley] you guys wore me out that night. That would kill me now!

[Travis] I think u could handle it

[Haley] haha. Might be fun trying...but no

[Travis] is matt the sharing type?

[Haley] you're too much. Is jenna?

[Travis] she could be convinced

[Haley] of course u married someone who would share

[Travis] didn't u?

[Haley] matt is fun he takes care of me

[Travis] that's why ur touching yourself alone in bed?

[Haley] I haven't admitted to anything. Are you?

[Travis] I asked first.

[Haley] definitely maybe □

[Travis] tease

[Haley] you love it

[Travis] maybe if u showed me

[Haley] maybe I'm too busy to take a picture

[Travis] fuck haley. I want u to cum

[Haley] so stroke it and think about that

[Travis] I am. U?

[Haley] mmm

My mind reeled. I was downstairs in the basement while my wife was upstairs sexting with her ex, and I was getting off on it. If the three of us were jerking off, was it some weird form of threesome? Why didn't I just run upstairs and sink my dick into Haley? Because I was too turned on watching her play with Travis. What the hell was wrong with me?

The lull in their conversation led me back to their night by the lake. I knew there was a time when Travis's roommate watched them and joined in, but Haley never told me about a threesome by a lake. I thought I heard it all back in our wild days, but it seemed she thought there were some stories even I couldn't handle. It sounded like those guys used Haley like a fuck toy all night. I closed my eyes and I could easily imagine it—a pretty, curvy young Haley hopped up on Ecstasy and all over Travis and some guy named Randy. Apparently Randy fucked the hell out of her. It was so easy to picture that before I knew it I was coming. As I was making my mess, I heard the computer chime with a new message.

[Haley] ok. I'm going to sleep now

[Travis] u just came didn't u?

[Haley] □ sweet dreams. Xoxo

[Travis] !

Haley was done with him for the night, and I closed the laptop. I couldn't believe how quickly things escalated. My wife was sexting with another man. And I knew about it and did nothing. Worse than doing nothing, I got off on it. I knew I had to confront Haley, but what the hell was I going to say?

three

The next morning we both acted like nothing had happened. Haley showed no hint of guilt over what she'd done, and I didn't say a word. I went to work knowing I wasn't going to confront her. I'd let it play out and be a happy, tortured voyeur. I tried telling myself an online fling was harmless—but she would be seeing him in a couple months. Travis was laying the groundwork, and now I thought there was a good chance she would bite.

Travis did not have to prompt her for a photo that morning. When I got my hands on her laptop that night, I saw she'd sent him a picture as soon as she got to work. She was in the ladies' room, based on the row of stalls behind her in the mirror.

Haley was smiling. She wore a yellow wrap blouse with some kind of print on it, and because it would have shown too much cleavage, she had a black camisole under it to make it work-appropriate. A second picture followed, and she had unwrapped the blouse and held it open. It was a lower angle, and I could see her chestnut hair on her shoulders, but not her face. Her tits strained against the camisole, and its straps intertwined with her bra straps. I suspected she wore that top that day exactly so she could do that for Travis.

[Travis] fuck! Show me more!!!

[Haley] haha. That's enough for today

[Travis] ur killing me!

[Haley] down boy. If you behave it'll be worth it

Travis was speaking for both of us. She was killing me too, although my emotions were far more complex than his. He just wanted to see her naked. He wanted to fuck my wife, too. I felt the same way, but my gut was a churning mix of arousal, anger, hurt, shame.

Being so turned on by Haley flirting with another man didn't feel good. I didn't pat myself on the back for having this weird fetish. Yet, I had it, and I had to make some sense of it. I tried telling myself that it was okay because it was all in my head. I was getting off on chatting and fantasy. My wife had crossed some lines, but she hadn't done anything—and she wouldn't. I worked hard at convincing myself of that. Haley would not cheat on me. This was just an outlet for her. I tried not to think about why she needed it. And it wasn't like I actually wanted to see Haley fuck Travis. Did I? No, I told myself, not entirely confident in my answer. I was relieved that Travis didn't live near us.

Haley did not stop at showing Travis her camisole. It became a thing for them. Every morning, right around ten o'clock, my wife would go into the ladies room and message Travis two pictures. The first showed whatever top she was wearing, and in the second she was exposed to him. Her face wasn't in any of these pictures, but I'm sure Travis didn't mind. If she was wearing a sweater, she pulled it up to expose her bra. If it was a blouse, she unbuttoned so that her tits were hanging out. Her bras got sexier over the couple weeks the pictures spanned. She pulled out lacy bras, bras with plunging necklines, lingerie I had not seen in ages. I had no idea she'd been wearing those things. If Haley and I did have sex, it was usually before bed, and she'd long since changed out of her work clothes.

The more skin Haley showed, the more brazen he became, pressing for more. Soon, the titty shots weren't enough. Travis asked to see her topless. She just laughed, but a couple days later she shocked me by wearing a sheer black bra for him. To me, she might as well have been topless. Her thick, dark nipples were plain through the see-thru material, and based on their state she was excited to show off for Travis. She wore a heavy sweater over it to compensate, or everyone she worked with would have known how excited she was. High beams had always been a problem for Haley, which was why she favored padded bras.

Staring at my near-topless wife showing off for Travis pushed me too far. I shifted the laptop to the side and began rubbing myself through my shorts. Travis's reaction only made it better.

[Travis] fuck me! U r crazy babe. Ur so fucking hot

[Haley] thanks. They always look good in a bra.

[Travis] let me see without! Please! U have me so hard right now

[Haley] really?

[Travis] come on. U know exactly what u do to me. U like making me crazy

[Haley] maybe □ how hard r u?

[Travis] I fucking need u here right now

[Haley] oh yeah?

I could imagine Haley sitting there, pleased with herself. All that attention had her just as horny as he was. Now I knew why my wife had been so frisky lately. I probably could have been getting laid every night if I wasn't so tired all the time. I kicked myself for not taking advantage of this situation, but how could I know? Her toy must have been getting quite the workout.

I scrolled down on the laptop, and the next image made me avert my eyes, and killed my erection. Right there on the screen was a picture of Travis's cock. It could have been the camera angle, but it looked huge. He was as hard as he'd promised, and it looked like he did a lot of grooming down there, but I didn't take much of a look. I tried to read Haley's reaction without looking at his dick.

[Haley] OMG! U are the worst! I didn't ask to see that!

[Travis] but it's ur fault. U should see it. maybe u have changed, my Haley wouldn't leave me hanging [Haley] doesn't look like it's hanging to me. Put that thing away before u get caught!

[Travis] I showed u mine

[Haley] I really need to get back to work. Chat later. X

My mind went flying in all kinds of new directions. I did not need to know how well-hung Travis was. I'd asked Haley once—many years ago—and she simply said he got the job done. I am not a small man by any means, but it was hard to see that thing and not be intimidated. That was probably due to who it was attached to, I knew. It wasn't just his cock that had me on edge. It was also the way he referred to my wife as my Haley. Haley was mine.

It took her several hours, but Haley responded in kind. The time stamp indicated she sent the picture in the evening, right after she got home from work, so it was probably while she was changing out of her work clothes. Haley posed in the full-length mirror mounted on the back of our bedroom door, wearing nothing but that sheer bra and a matching set of sheer, black panties. I suspected she put those on for Travis, as she didn't wear matching undies very often. Or maybe she knew that morning that she would be showing him everything.

For the first time in a couple weeks—since that night Haley sexted with Travis the first time—I questioned if I could let this keep going. Was I prepared for what might happen? It was about to get really dirty. Would I be able to hold my shit together when I saw that? And it always hung in the back of my mind that Haley would be seeing him soon. I was going to find out, because my cock wouldn't stop throbbing. I couldn't stop.

This must be what reading someone's diary is like, I thought. The crazy, obsessed part of my brain expected to find non-stop dirty pictures and sexting, but there were still chats where they talked about work or the kids. She resisted talking about me when Travis prompted her—that was something. But I found myself growing frustrated when their chats weren't endless sex, and that was when I crossed a line I never should have.

Catching up with their chats at night wasn't enough anymore. I needed more. I couldn't go through everyday wondering what Haley and Travis were doing, and I couldn't sneak her laptop away as often as I liked. It was getting harder to sneak her laptop away because I wasn't staying up in the basement as often as I used to. The crazy side effect of Haley's illicit online affair—and my spying—was that our sex life was hotter than it had been in years. I followed her to bed every night, and as soon as we were sure Sophia was asleep we were all over each other. Making love to my wife was incredible, but I still needed my fix, so I took my spying to the next level.

I bought a burner phone—yes, I watched The Wire—and installed Messenger on it. I couldn't have my phone going off whenever she received a message or an alert. I know Haley uses the same couple of passwords for everything, so it was easy to guess what she used for that app. I've told her a hundred times she needs better passwords, and luckily she never listened. My hand trembled as I held the phone. I had real time access to Haley's chats with Travis. It did not disappoint—although it became difficult to get any work done.

Travis was pleased with her underwear shot and asked for more. Haley was past hesitating. The dam had burst. First came the topless pictures. She still sent him the photos of her outfit every day, the day after his dick pic, Haley sent him a topless photo taken in our bedroom mirror. Travis asked for more after that, and he received them.

She was careful to only show her tits, not her face and nothing below. I felt bad that she was too self-conscious about her body to show more, but it bothers her that she's not exactly the same as she was before Sophia. Looking at the pictures she sent Travis, I thought she had never been sexier or more beautiful. In seeing her through pictures she took for another man, it was like I was seeing my wife for the first time. I was a damned lucky man, even if it seemed like my wife was one step away from cheating on me. As Travis asked to see more of her, I began rooting for him. I wanted to see more of her this way too. Haley relented, although she was always careful to get her best possible angle. She posed in the mirror, the light dim, wearing nothing but panties. I thought her body looked amazing, and so did Travis.

The pictures led to more sex talk. When pressed, Haley admitted she was turned on sending Travis pictures. He told her what he'd like to do to her, and she told him how wet he made her. Gone were the days when she kept reminding him they were both married. A typical exchange occurred when she sent him a picture of her heart-shaped ass.

[Travis] Damn babe. That ass is perfect

[Haley] stop it. My ass is too big. I can't believe I sent u that [Travis] if u were here right now I'd show u just how much I love that ass

[Haley] yeah?

She had gone from resisting to actually encouraging him. It was yet another twist of the knife, and yet I was rubbing my cock while I read their chat.

[Travis] I'd spank that ass until u beg for it

[Haley] I don't beg

[Travis] we both know that's not true

[Haley] I'm not going to beg u

[Travis] we'll find out in a couple weeks

[Haley] nothing is going to happen. Matt will be there. Jenna will be there

[Travis] Jenna's not coming. Babysitter fell through. I'll be free

[Haley] I won't.

[Travis] u can sneak away

[Haley] haha. Even if I could matt might notice if I come back with a red butt

[Travis] I'll be gentle then

[Haley] I didn't ask for that □ just no marks

[Travis] ok. I'll bend u over and pull ur hair while we fuck

[Haley] now u have my attention

[Travis] we can slip out and find some quiet corner

[Haley] u know I'm not quiet

[Travis] then you'll get caught
[Haley] not fair. U know what that does to me
[Travis] if u get too loud I can put my dick in ur mouth
[Haley] we have to stop talking about this [Travis] why?
[Haley] because you're driving me crazy and I'm at work!
[Travis] ur wet, aren't u?
[Haley] yes! Happy? U have me all worked up and I can't do anything about it
[Travis] u could. Go to the bathroom
[Haley] I am not doing that at work!
[Travis] why not? U need it. If I was there I'd just pull u in there and take care of u [Haley] come on. Stop.
[Travis] I hope that door has a good lock. How should I keep u quiet?
[Haley] dunno
[Travis] I could stuff ur panties in ur mouth
[Haley] fuck. U have to stop!
[Travis] I love making u crazy
[Haley] I'll be back
My wife was gone for ten minutes. I knew the anticipation was killing Travis as badly as it was me. When Haley returned, we both knew exactly what she'd done.

[Haley] mmm. Much better now
[Travis] u did it!
[Haley] I don't know what you're talking about
[Travis] u fucking did it! U just got off
[Haley] I will neither confirm nor deny
[Travis] u sexy bitch. I knew my haley was still in there
[Haley] I still like to have fun
[Travis] I hope so. I'm gonna find out in a couple weeks
[Haley] haha

Mind officially blown. I was sitting in my work van between calls and my cock was out. I was out of control. I closed my eyes and leaned my head back as I worked my cock. I could see it, Haley slipping away from her desk and into the bathroom, making sure she was alone in there. Did she lock the door, or would that be too risky? She'd go into a stall and lower her jeans—she usually wears jeans to work—and push a hand in her panties. Haley was already horny as hell, so it probably didn't take much to get off. I've always appreciated that she can go from zero-to-sixty in no time. I could hear the same soft moans I heard earlier when she was alone in our bedroom. She wasn't completely quiet, but Haley could keep it down when she had to—at least when she was masturbating. When she loses control, all bets are off. I came just as quickly as I imagined Haley doing it, ruining my second pair of shorts since last night.

I came down from my self-induced orgasm and was immediately filled with disgust. I jerked off thinking about how horny another man made my wife. It was thrilling that Haley still had it in her to sneak off and do that, but there was no avoiding the fact she was doing it because of Travis. If he had been there, as he teased, would she have snuck into the bathroom and fucked him?

The images flooded into my mind, and I couldn't force them out. Even though I'd just come, I felt my cock tingling, fighting to come back to life. Travis pulls Haley into the bathroom and shoves her into the wide handicap stall at the end. They are all over each other, and he practically rips the buttons off her blouse trying to open it. Her tits spill out of her bra, and he grabs them. Haley is busy too. She opens his belt and drops his pants. They kiss frantically as Haley pushes her jeans down. Travis smirks and roughly spins her around. Haley pushes out her sweet ass and Travis slams into her.

I smacked myself in the side of the head and snapped out of it. My cock was twitching, but it wasn't coming back up, no matter how turned on I was. I'm not twenty anymore, and I don't know if I could even recover that quickly back then. Travis can probably fuck all night, I thought sourly.

I put the burner phone down. I needed a break. Being my wife's voyeur was my drug, and I started to wonder if I could overdose on it.

four

At home that night I was barely present. The burner phone stayed in my pocket on vibrate, and I braced myself for it to go off every time Haley left the room. She wasn't chatting with Travis that much, I just wanted another fix. In my mind, Haley was this insatiable harlot who couldn't stop thinking about her ex and couldn't wait to get back to him. That wasn't the truth, but I probably wasn't far off.

I almost couldn't look at my wife because every time I did I pictured her with Travis. It had become too easy to imagine them together, and that made it more difficult to cling to the fig leaf that I didn't really want her to fuck him, that it was just a fantasy. All I could see was my wife in Travis's arms, falling onto her back and pulling him with her. I saw her crying out and wrapping her legs around him as Travis hammered that big dick into her. While I tried to watch television, I saw Haley on her knees in front of Travis, pulling out his cock with a smile, and then sucking it down. I couldn't remember the last time she'd gone down on me. The wedding was so close. It could actually happen. Of course I'd have my eye on Haley. If she tried to sneak away with Travis, would I stop her? I wish I knew the answer.

Haley took Sophia off to bed, but I did not follow. We'd been having sex almost every night, but I wanted to see what would happen if I didn't join my wife in bed. I wanted her to turn to Travis, even if I couldn't admit it. I wasn't disappointed. I pulled the vibrating burner out of my pocket. She messaged him, and he was answering.

[Haley] busy?

[Travis] depends what u have in mind

A selfie followed. She was topless, using her arms to keep her breasts together. Her tits looked so good, I felt like I could reach through the screen and grab them. Travis probably wished he could.

[Travis] damn babe. I just had to go into the bathroom and lock the door

[Haley] why?

[Travis] u know why. U know what u do to me

He sent another picture of his dick, but this one showed more of his body. I hated to see how fit he was. Unlike Travis, I'd let myself go a little bit. I'm not terrible, but I am soft around the middle from a few too many beers. Travis didn't look like McConaughey, but he was still toned. If I was Haley, he was what I'd fantasize about.

[Haley] I told u not to send me those!

[Travis] because it's too tempting? Want to reach out and grab it

[Haley] haha

[Travis] I remember how good ur mouth feels.

[Haley] I know a trick or 2

[Travis] I bet ur even better now

[Haley] you'll never know

[Travis] I'm sure there's going to be some corner we can sneak away to. I promise not to get any on ur dress

[Haley] what kind of a girl do u think I am?

[Travis] I know exactly what kind u are

I was so hard I couldn't think straight, and it only got worse when Haley followed up with another selfie. This time, her pretty lips were pursed, like she was ready to receive him. I could see Haley on her knees, looking up at him Travis with a smile as she grabbed his cock and brought it to her mouth. He was right. She was amazing with her mouth. I wanted to run upstairs and shove my cock into her mouth that moment, but I couldn't tear myself away from that damned computer screen.

[Haley] what's in it for me?

[Travis] I'm going to make u scream

[Haley] I can't do that if we sneak away

[Travis] you'll have to figure something out because I'm going to tease u with my tongue until u pass out

[Haley] I guess I shouldn't wear panties to the wedding

[Travis] I bet ur not wearing them now

My dick was in my hand when she sent a picture with her pants pulled down. She was not wearing panties. She had also trimmed back her bush to a little triangle right above her lips. That was new. She had not been staying on top of her grooming as our sex life has slipped. It had to be for Travis.

[Travis] how wet r u?

[Haley] let me check

[Haley] very

[Travis] fuck I want to taste u
[Haley] mmm I bet you're still good at that [Travis] the best you've ever had babe
[Haley] maybe you're all talk
[Travis] give me the chance and I'll prove it
[Haley] you're tempting me so bad
[Travis] I still know what u want
[Haley] yeah?
[Travis] u need to be fucked babe. U always need to be fucked
[Haley] maybe
[Travis] just admit it ur thinking about it right now
[Haley]hard to type with one hand□
[Travis] u need to be fucked tell me babe
[Haley] yeah. I need to be fucked
[Travis] nice and hard
[Haley] yeah. But you're not here

That was the moment reality smacked me in the face. Haley needed to be fucked, and while Travis was hours away, I was right there in the same house. She was upstairs touching herself. I was in the basement jerking off. What the hell was I doing? I shut off the phone and almost ran upstairs.

I wasn't exactly quiet, so I was not surprised when I didn't find Haley with her phone in one hand, and the other on her pussy. She was in bed with the covers to her waist, with a book in her lap—an upside down book. She smiled up at me and I could see the sexual frustration on her face.

“Hey honey. You came to bed,” she said.

“I couldn't stay away,” I said, closing the bedroom door and locking it.

I shed my clothes on my way to the bed. I threw back the sheets and climbed onto the bed, sending her book tumbling to the floor. Haley was about to say something, but I stopped her with a kiss. There was no hesitation, like that morning. She pulled me into her and reached for my cock. We kissed frantically, and I wrestled her pants down. Once they were past her knees, she kicked, shedding them completely, and I rolled on top of her. Neither of us needed any foreplay. Fantasies of Travis had us both ready to go. Haley guided me toward her, and I slipped right inside.

Haley cried out as I buried myself to the hilt. I couldn't remember her being so wet. It wasn't for me, but that didn't matter. We resumed kissing, and she grabbed my butt, pulling me into her. Her ankles hooked over my legs, and she used the leverage to push back at me. It was like she wanted every inch I had, and I wondered if that was because she was craving Travis's big dick.

I rested on my forearms as we fucked—it wasn't lovemaking—and stared at my wife. Her eyes were closed and her mouth hung open, deep moans slipping from it. I wanted to taunt her about Travis, but I worried it would tip her off. I did it in my head. You want his big fucking dick, don't you? You miss fucking him!

"Fuck, you're wet," I swore, huffing as I rode her hard.

"Yeah..." Haley gasped.

"You fucking needed it."

"Yeah...yeah, baby..."

My mind went right back to Haley and Travis sneaking away together at the wedding, and my wife going to her knees and reaching for his cock. I saw him holding her head and fucking her mouth, messing up her fancy hairdo. Haley would choke on his cock, but she wouldn't stop sucking him.

Haley must have had something similar going through her mind, because while I imagined my wife blowing her lover, she came beneath me, crying out and locking her legs around me. Her nails dug into my back and her whole body tensed that way it always does when she has a climax. I love the way she seems to completely clench into herself for a second when she orgasms, just before collapsing into a breathless heap. Her cunt rippled around me with her orgasm, and I exploded right after her. It was a miracle I lasted as long as I did. I didn't always outlast my wife—not when I was that horny—and she would have to finish with her fingers. Haley always told me it was okay, but I never felt good about it.

"Oh god, oh god," she whispered, still clutching me as the final tremors rolled through her.

Haley took a final deep breath, and when she exhaled she went limp under me. That was my cue to roll off of her and let her cool down. I rolled onto my back, huffing for air. We lay there, side-by-side, silent except for our breathing.

"That was intense," she finally said.

"I guess I was feeling inspired."

"You've been inspired a lot lately."

"So have you. You were soaking before I even touched you."

"Aren't I always?" Haley turned and smiled at me.

“Not like that. What would you have done if I hadn’t come up?”

“I guess if you didn’t come up to finish I could have gone to the toy.”

“You’re so hot.”

“Thanks, honey. So are you.”

I just laughed, mentally comparing myself to Travis. Haley had always insisted I was as attractive as she was. I knew that wasn’t the case. I just got lucky.

“We used to do this kind of thing all the time. I’m glad we’re back to it,” she said.

“I don’t know why we got away from it.”

“I’m just glad we’re back to it.”

“Whatever it is, we should have tapped in to it a long time ago.”

Haley smirked. “Maybe. I try not to overthink it. I’m just having fun.”

“We’re going to have a whole weekend to ourselves at the wedding. We can have a lot of fun then,” I reminded her.

“I’ll have to pack something sexy.”

I bet she was already planning on that, but not with me in mind.

“We’ll have to bring along the bag of tricks,” I suggested.

“We don’t need that.”

“You always say that, and then you always love it when we break out the toys.”

“I’m just saying, we have to socialize too. We can’t spend the whole weekend in the hotel room.”

It was no shock that Haley had socializing on her mind, not when Travis was going to be there. Why did we need to bring toys when her favorite dick was going to be around all weekend? She kept telling him nothing was going to happen, but I could see in their chats that he was wearing her down. I lay there in bed next to my wife and I knew I had to say something, but what? I knew exactly what would happen. Haley would change the subject to my spying on her and we’d start fighting, and we wouldn’t get anywhere. That was my excuse for staying silent anyway.

“As long as we find some time,” I said, running a hand over her smooth thigh. I touched her newly smooth mound and she trembled and pushed my hand away.

“Sorry, still a little sensitive,” she said.

“You know I love it when you keep yourself groomed.”

“Keep this up and you’ll give me a reason to do it.”

It was Haley's usual response when I found her with a full bush, but this time her grooming wasn't about me. Instead of answering her, I rolled out of bed and went to the bathroom to clean up. The afterglow from my orgasm had faded, and my mind was back in chaos.

five

Time passed excruciatingly slowly as the wedding got closer. Haley regularly sexted with Travis during the day, all of her limits gone. The dirtier he got, the dirtier she responded. I was seeing new depths to my wife, and it drove me crazy. If he asked for a picture, Haley sent it, and she freely told him how wet she was, even without him asking. She taunted him with how often she played with herself after their exchanges. It seemed like Haley was masturbating every day—sometimes two or three times a day, if she was to be believed. I have to admit it, I was too, although I tried to hold out and wait until I could actually fuck my wife.

Our sex life was incredible—despite all our masturbating. After watching her and Travis chat all day, I'd chase her to bed with a raging hard-on. Haley was always ready for me. It made me laugh that Travis was frustrated she wasn't chatting with him from bed anymore. I don't know where I found the willpower, but I didn't bring up Travis. He was still on both our minds, like a phantom in the room with us.

It felt like Haley was taunting me, planting deep, sexy kisses on me in the morning, or getting up early so I could see her getting dressed. When I commented on how sexy her underwear was, she would just smile and say she was in the mood. Haley probably would have worn sexier outfits too, but she had to be respectable for work. I had to give Travis a mental pat on the back. I hadn't seen my wife so confident in years.

Travis never stopped pressing her, never stopped trying to get Haley to agree to a meeting over that weekend. He was full of ideas for how they could steal time away together. He'd really thought it through, and he was intent on getting in Haley's pants. When he pressed about getting together, she no longer told him nothing was going to happen because they were married. Her new response was either That's not a good idea, or How would we sneak away? Travis had an answer for everything.

I tried in every way I could think of to get Haley to admit Travis was going to be at the wedding—possibly even admit she'd been talking to him online. I didn't expect her to come clean completely, but I would have felt better if she said something about him being there. None of my queries about the wedding got Haley to crack. Travis remained her dirty little secret.

The wedding was about three hours away, and we were due to drive up on Friday, spend the night, and attend the wedding on Saturday, staying over that night too. Most of the out-of-town guests were staying at the same hotel, and of course Travis was too. He kept telling Haley how perfect that was, and she just kept laughing him off.

Haley took the entire day off. She got her nails done in the morning and then dropped Sophia at her mother's and got us packed. I left work early so we could get on the road and arrive in time to check in at the hotel and meet up with everyone for a cocktail hour before the rehearsal. I showered as quickly as I could after work, so we could get on the road.

I sensed Haley was tense from the moment I got home from work. It was only three in the afternoon and she was already having a glass of wine. She didn't say much, but kept fidgeting, and she jumped every time her phone made a noise. I suspected it was Travis, but there was no way for me to check. Haley stayed downstairs the whole time, so there was no opportunity to get her laptop alone, and battery was dead on my burner phone. I could only guess at whatever plans they'd made that day. Was Haley nervous because she'd made plans with Travis and she wondered if she could go through with it?

Haley was dressed casually for the ride—colorful patterned leggings with boots, and a baggy sweater—not the outfit of an adulteress. She looked so cute that I tried to make a move on her—my mind had been filled with images of her and Travis all day—but she rushed me along, saying we had to get going. I loaded our bags into the car and we were on our way.

Her weird, quiet behavior continued until about halfway through the trip. We'd broken through traffic and making good time on the interstate. I was trying to make up time in case we hit another patch of traffic. Haley finally worked up the courage to share what was on her mind and turned down the music.

"I hope you're not going to be bored being around all my college friends for the weekend," she said. She stared out the window at the passing scenery, and her tone sounded deliberately casual.

"I'll find a way to keep myself amused. Besides, I get along with them okay."

A lot of them had been at our wedding, and we saw her closer friends from college occasionally over the years. I'm not a social butterfly, but I can hold my own in a conversation.

"I wonder how I'll get along with them. I haven't seen some of them since school."

I took her hand and squeezed it. "You've got nothing to be nervous about, Haley. You've got a good job and we have a nice life."

"You're right." She squeezed my hand back.

"And you're still hot. I'm sure not everyone has that going for them."

"You're funny."

"I mean it, Haley. You look amazing. Those other girls are going to be jealous."

"Stop," she said, smiling.

"And their husbands are going to be wishing they'd met you first."

"Okay, now you're going too far. Besides, you're biased. Some of the girls, like Amy and Carol, haven't aged a day."

"I'm sure it's all Botox and Spanx."

She laughed. "Don't think I didn't pack mine."

"You don't need Spanx. You don't even own them."

"Not all of my pantyhose are just pantyhose, hon."

"I'm sure a lot of the people there are going to be family and friends anyway. It's not just a college reunion," I said.

"That's true."

"Do you know how many of the old gang are going to be there?"

"I don't know, six or seven, plus spouses."

"I'm sure once you girls start talking it'll be just like the old days."

"It's not all girls," she said, so low I hardly heard her.

"No?" My chest felt tight, and I hoped I sounded surprised.

"No."

Haley paused and looked at me, chewing her bottom lip. The inside of the car was suddenly stifling. I cracked my window.

"No. Uhm, Travis is going to be there."

"Travis?" I swear his name came out like a squeak. We were on our way to the wedding, with no way to turn back, when she finally chose to say something.

"Yes, Travis. You know..."

“I remember Travis,” I replied, forcing myself to breathe normally. “He’s kind of hard to forget, because, you know...”

“Yeah.” She drew the word out, and it looked like she braced herself for me to flip out, but that was not going to happen.

The mention of his name caused a mini panic attack, and I gripped the steering wheel tightly, forcing myself to focus on the road as it went all wavy in front of me. The last thing we needed was a car crash. It seemed like Haley was feeling me out, but I didn’t sense a confession coming. Did she think just the mention of his name, after all these years, would freak me out? It did, but she didn’t know why.

“Is that going to be weird for you?” I asked, playing the concerned husband.

“Because we dated? That was so long ago,” she answered quickly.

“But it was really intense between you two. I mean, thinking about seeing him must stir something for you.”

“I don’t know. I guess? What about you?”

“I didn’t date him,” I replied, forcing a chuckle.

“But we used to, y’know, talk about him a lot.”

“I remember.”

I couldn’t keep the smile from my lips. I almost couldn’t believe she was bringing this up—given what she’d been doing. I just assumed she’d keep her mouth shut at that point. I was suddenly paranoid, and wondered if she was baiting me, but I didn’t see Haley doing that. She’s too straightforward. If she knew that I knew, it would be a very different conversation.

“So is it going to be weird for you to meet him?” she asked. She had a lock grip on my hand.

“It shouldn’t be. You guys were together a long time ago. There’s nothing now, right? It would be silly to be jealous.”

“Right,” she agreed, nodding vigorously.

“I guess when I see him some of those old stories might come back to me. You did tell me every vivid detail.”

“Because you wanted me to.”

“I know.”

The conversation had taken a strange turn. It would have been easier if she had just confessed to what she had been doing online. Our little walk down memory lane felt like she was trying to get me to admit something, but I had nothing to confess.

“You used to really like that sort of thing.”

Haley still stared at me, and her voice had gone low. She released my hand, and hers moved across the console to rest on my thigh. My cock twitched at the touch. I was already growing aroused, so her touch was just adding kindling to the fire.

“You thought I liked it too much,” I countered, eyes flicking between Haley and the road.

“We were young and foolish then, and maybe it was too close. Too recent.”

“Maybe,” I mumbled.

I saw what she was up to, and had mixed feelings about it. I knew she was manipulating me, and wondered why. Perhaps Haley thought if she got me horny it would distract me and I’d be cool with letting her hang out with Travis. Or, she may have thought that if she got me turned on it would be easier for her to confess. If she reminded me of the weird old days, I’d be more turned on than upset. Her fingers brushed my cock, and it didn’t care that I was being manipulated. It just liked the attention.

“Do you ever think about that stuff?” she asked.

“Maybe. We did a lot back then. I think about all of it.” I shrugged.

“Me too. You used to get so crazy. I remember doing a little striptease for you, and then I would tell you all about something Travis did to me, and you’d be all over me.”

“Yeah, it was really hot. You used to be a very bad girl.”

“And you loved hearing all about it.”

“I think this weekend has you all excited.”

Haley brushed past that. “Did I ever tell you how much he loved it when I gave him road head?”

“I remember something about going to the clubs.”

Haley nodded and smiled. I knew she was thinking of him, even as she rubbed my shaft through my jeans.

“When we were going out to the clubs off campus I’d wear one of those little velvet dresses and boots, and it would make him crazy. He’d start touching me while he was driving, and I knew the only way he was going to calm down was if I took care of him.” Her voice was low, barely above a whisper.

“Did he touch you like this?” I asked.

I had seen pictures of her from those days. Haley was the hottest thing on two legs. She wore her hair cut into a short bob—very cute. Those old velvet dresses hugged her curves, making the most of her big tits and juicy ass, and they were all short, hardly coming to mid-thigh. It would have been so easy for Travis to slide his hand right up there. I reached across the console and pushed my hand between her thighs. The leggings made it feel like she was hardly wearing anything at all. She gasped and squeezed her thighs around my hand.

“Yes, just like that, except I was only wearing little lacy panties.”

“Probably not for long.”

She shook her head. “No. He hated it when I wore panties. He usually made me take them off. I must have flashed half the campus in those little dresses.”

I rubbed her through the leggings and I felt her damp heat growing through the stretchy fabric. Haley took off her glasses and put them into the storage space under the armrest. She unfastened her seatbelt, and as she knelt up on the seat, her crotch moved out of reach. She unfastened my seatbelt too, so she could get to the snap on my jeans. The dinging of the seatbelt alarm was annoying, but I could cope.

“I think my old stories still turn you on,” she cooed.

“I’m surprised you never made him crash the car.”

It was awkward to lift up and move so she could pull my jeans down, and keep driving. The console was pressing into her boobs, and I thought that couldn’t possibly be comfortable.

“You don’t have to, Haley,” I told her.

“And if I want to?”

I grinned. “Whatever’s gotten into you, you need more of it.”

I was so conflicted saying that, because it was partially true. I hated it that Travis was the reason she’d rediscovered her old, slutty self, but I loved the effects. Maybe if it was only an online thing I could find a way to live with it, but Travis was going to try to fuck my wife this weekend, and I was pretty sure Haley was going to give in if she had the chance.

“This used to be easier in his old Impala. It had bench seats.” She chuckled and grabbed my naked cock. I had no more thoughts of stopping her.

“That car saw a lot of action,” I moaned.

“You have no idea,” she said, a wild look in her eyes.

“I have some idea. You’ve told me enough. He used to fuck you everywhere in that car.”

“Yeah,” she said breathily. She kissed me hard.

The kiss was sultry, and it was hard to look past her and concentrate on the road ahead. Traffic was picking up again, and I didn’t want to ram into the back of a truck. Haley jerked my cock while we kissed. She pulled back from the kiss, smiled wickedly, and slid back into her seat far enough to lean over my lap. Her warm lips wrapped around me, and I shivered. Her mouth felt damn good under regular circumstances, but given the venue and all the thoughts circling in my head, I was lucky I didn’t pop in two seconds. She sucked it quickly, dipping twice, but then pulled back and worked her tongue all around my shaft. She banged her head on the steering wheel and giggled.

“I forgot how fun this was, and how difficult,” she said.

I reached down and slid the seat back, giving her room, and stretching to keep my foot on the gas pedal. Haley swept her hair behind her ear and went back to sucking me. I laid my head back on the headrest and moaned. I couldn’t help myself. I pictured Haley sneaking out to Travis’s rental car with him and doing the same thing. Would she give him the teasing little licks she gave me, or would she be so eager she’d just go to town and swallow his big dick? Could she swallow that thing? Haley could just about deep throat me, but it took effort.

“That’s so good, hon,” I moaned, stroking the back of her neck through her hair. Her sexy hair covered my lap, tickling my legs.

Haley took me deeper, and sucked harder. Was she imaging another cock in her mouth too? Maybe she needed the practice to loosen up for him. She held my balls and massaged them, a move she hadn’t broken out in ages. Just a blowjob was great, she hadn’t employed any bells and whistles in years

Traffic suddenly slowed, and I barely hit the brakes in time, jerking the car to a halt. It jammed my cock down her throat, and Haley choked, coughing hard as she pulled back. She kept my head against her lips, and once she could breathe, I was right back in her mouth. Traffic crawled around us, and I was suddenly aware of the cars around us. I drive a small SUV, so the car on my left couldn’t see anything, but if the middle-aged guy in the bakery truck to the right looked over he'd know exactly what my wife was doing.

"Hon, someone's going to see," I warned, the words coming out as a half-whimper.

Haley moaned around her mouthful and sucked me harder.

"Fuck, Haley..."

She bobbed faster, and her head hit the steering wheel again, but it didn't slow her down. I could hear her sucking sounds over the radio. She was determined to get me off. We inched along, but it was difficult to lightly tap the brakes when Haley was controlling me like that. I noticed more space had opened in front of the bakery truck, but he hadn't moved forward. I looked over, and sure enough he was watching us.

"Haley, the guy in the truck next to us is watching. Honey, he sees what you're doing," I whispered, as if he could hear too.

She just sucked harder still.

"Fuck, Haley. You want to be seen, don't you? That's right, you like an audience. That's probably why you always loved sucking dick in cars."

"MmmHmm," she moaned around my shaft.

I darted my eyes sideways and saw the delivery guy was all smiles. He wasn't looking at the road ahead at all, but watching Haley. He couldn't see anything but her hair bobbing, and her nice butt in the air, but his mind could surely fill in the blanks. He leaned down for a moment, and I saw his phone in his hand. I looked away and held my hand up.

"You've got to stop. Honey, he's got his phone out."

Even that didn't stop Haley. She worked me so hard with her mouth I saw stars. I've never come easily from blowjobs, but she's always been able to get the job done. Today she was going to do it in record time. Her wet sucking mouth and expert hands had me right at the edge. A quick glance confirmed the driver still had his phone up, and he wasn't just taking pictures. He was shooting video. I didn't warn Haley again. Nothing was going to get her mouth off my cock. I was so close. I tightened my grip on her neck and forced her to go faster. She tightened her lips around me.

"Fuck, Haley! Ohhh, fuck..." I groaned.

I blew my top, catching Haley on a down stroke, and my blast hit the back of her throat, choking her again. As she struggled to swallow, I finished unloading in her mouth, and I felt it leak from her lips and down my shaft. She chased it with her lips, and sucked up what had escaped. She kept sucking as I deflated, like she wanted to suck me back to life. Was she going to try and fuck me in the car next?

Haley lifted her face from my crotch with a loud laugh and sat back in her seat. She seemed to suddenly remember our audience and she turned to the delivery driver and winked at him. He gave my wife a thumbs up, his phone still up. I don't know what was going through her mind, because she swiftly lifted her sweater, flashing her incredible tits in a sexy black bra. The driver's eyes bugged out.

A horn from behind us brought me back to reality, and I saw traffic had moved ahead. I hit the gas, leaving our new friend behind as Haley laughed in the seat beside me.

"Oh god! That was crazy!" she exclaimed.

"You're the crazy one! You realize that could end up all over the internet, right?"

"He's probably just going to take it home and jerk off."

"But he could upload it," I persisted.

"What can I do about it? Besides, there are millions of videos up there. What are the odds anyone we know will ever see it?" She leaned down and got a bottle of water out of the foot well.

"You like it, don't you? You like thinking he might upload it."

Her eyes had a wicked glint as she drank from the bottle and looked over at me. "Maybe," she admitted.

"You want him to jerk off to you!"

Haley sat there, trying not to smile.

"What has gotten into you? You've lost your mind." I don't know that I was angry, just shocked.

"I guess reliving the old days has me feeling a bit wild. I thought you liked me wild?"

"I do. That was hot. But I don't know that I want pictures of you flashing out there on the internet."

Haley shrugged. "There are worse pictures floating in the world. You know Travis used to love to take pictures of me."

"Maybe he'll want to take more this weekend," I suggested. It just slipped out.

"Haha. I don't think so. I'm not a cute coed anymore. And he's married, Matt. I mean, he must be."

It was the first time she'd slipped and admitted she knew anything about his current life, but I let her think she'd covered. I was too busy thinking about how the more things change, the more they stay the same.

I'd forgotten about her long ago photo sessions with Travis. They were almost tame in comparison to the other things she did with him. But he used to love taking pictures of her in the bedroom, modeling sexy clothes, or lingerie, or nothing at all. He also used to take pictures of her flashing around campus—the riskier the better. Haley admitted that posing for him gave her an incredible rush—especially when she did it in public.

It was even more daring back then because it was before the days of digital cameras being everywhere, so they were using film. Travis took the rolls to a little pharmacy off campus. Obviously, the tech would see them, but he always put them through. The first couple times the guy gave Travis a knowing smile, according to Haley. After that, he made Haley go with him to pick up the prints. She confessed she was mortified the first time, and he had to drag her out of the car. Haley discovered she liked the attention, and then looked forward to picking up the pictures and dressing sexy for the poor guy at the pharmacy. I'm sure Haley was blowing Travis on the trips home from the pharmacy.

"You're still plenty cute, Haley. He'd be lucky to see you naked again," I said.

"Aww, thanks, honey."

We made it to the hotel without further incident and while Haley checked us in, I couldn't stop myself from looking around the lobby for Travis. Several of the people milling around were obviously wedding guests, but I did not see him, or anyone else I recognized. We were running late, so Haley's college friends were probably already at the cocktail hour. We ran up to our room to get changed.

The cocktail hour was a casual affair at the restaurant across the street. The people who weren't in the wedding planned to stay to eat and drink afterward. It was the perfect atmosphere for people to catch up, and for Travis to try and get my wife alone. If it was crowded enough, he could easily secret her away while I was talking to someone. I didn't know what I would do when he made his move.

Haley swapped the leggings for a pair of jeans that made her ass look phenomenal. The baggy sweater was exchanged for a knit top that showed a lot of cleavage, where a heart-shaped gold locket rested. The boots stayed.

She touched up her make-up, highlighting her pretty eyes, deep red lipstick slashed across her lips—and her contacts came out. Her chestnut hair was pulled back into a ponytail. It only took twenty minutes, but she looked transformed to me. It was probably all in my head, but Haley looked like a woman on the prowl to me. I put on a nice shirt and my favorite pair of low, gray boots. I wanted to look good for my first meeting with Travis too.

The restaurant was crowded, but it was easy to pick Haley's college friends at the bar. They were the loud, raucous group that kept drawing stares. The group occupied two high top tables pushed together in a corner, and I felt a pang of disappointment when I didn't see Travis among them. Did Haley feel the same thing? There were eight in the group, including spouses like me. I knew most of them, and shook hands with the husbands, while accepting welcoming hugs from the women. Carol pulled my wife aside and whispered something in her ear. A mix of emotions washed over Haley's face, so I could guess what that was about. I played it cool and took a stool beside Ken, who married Cynthia. They had been guests at our wedding, several years ago, and I probably knew them better than anyone else in the group. They lived the closest to us, and they had two kids close in age to our Sophia. We used to get together with them annually, but over time that had slipped a bit.

"We don't see you guys enough anymore," Ken said, sipping from a pint of beer.

"You know how it is. It seems like it's impossible to get away anymore. Life just gets in the way," I replied.

"How is Sophia?" Cynthia asked.

I'd always liked her, and not just because she was among the more attractive of Haley's old friends, with honey-blond hair and a yoga-toned body. She was the perfect advertisement for clean living, because she never seemed to age. Ken was tall and slim, with black hair past his collar and glasses. They were the most down-to-earth of that gang.

"She's awesome, but I'm glad to get away. How are your two?" I said.

"They're great, but I miss them already," Cynthia replied.

"I try to tell her to relax and enjoy the break, but she'll be texting my parents all weekend," Ken said.

I chuckled. "That's why she's a better parent than I am. Do you guys need anything? I need to hit the bar."

"I could use a refill," Cynthia said.

“Someone’s already getting me one,” Ken added.

I tapped Haley on the shoulder, and she surprised me by asking for a Cosmo instead of a red wine. She always had wine. Perhaps she felt the need for something stronger tonight. The bar was crowded, and I had to push my way through to reach the bar. It took a while to get the bartender’s attention, and I grew more nervous every moment I was away from Haley. I felt like Travis was going to appear out of nowhere and whisk her away. I kept looking back toward the group, but they were difficult to see through the crowd. Once I had drinks in hand, I maneuvered through the crowd, and sure enough there was a tall, sandy man standing behind Haley with his hands on her shoulders. I didn’t need him to turn around to know who it was. I dropped Cynthia’s drink to her and steeled myself to face my wife and her old boyfriend.

Haley jumped when she saw me, like she’d been caught with her hand in the cookie jar. As she turned, Travis took his hands from her shoulders, but he didn’t rush. Haley plastered on a smile and put her arm around me, greeting me with a big, showy kiss.

“I thought you were never coming back, hon,” she said, taking her drink from my hand.

“The bar was pretty crowded,” I replied.

“Yeah, man, I was just up there getting a round. Sorry I missed you. I’ll have to get you next time,” Travis said. I hated his handsome smile already.

“Travis, this is my husband, Matt,” she said. “Matt, this is Travis. I don’t think you two have met before.”

“No, I don’t remember ever seeing Travis around,” I said.

“Nope. Nice to meet you, Matt.”

I gave him my best he-man grip and did respectably, but Travis’s big hand was stronger. If he’d done any poking around Haley’s Facebook page—and I was sure he had—Travis knew exactly who I was. I searched his face for any trace of smug superiority—Yeah, buddy, your wife is rubbing herself and thinking about me—but he didn’t betray his secret knowledge of Haley. He was a cool customer.

“You must be excited to catch up with everyone,” I said.

“It’s been too long. I haven’t seen most of these guys in years. Can’t wait to find out what everyone’s been up to all these years. Especially this one,” he replied.

“My story’s boring,” Haley said. “Work, family. The usual. There’s really nothing to find out.”

“I find that hard to believe,” Travis said.

“She’s being modest. Haley’s still a fun girl,” I chimed in, getting an elbow in the ribs for the effort.

“Haley was cool back in college. She was the girl everyone wanted to bring home to mom,” Travis said.

“But I’m the one who got to do it,” I said.

“I needed a few years out of school to mature before I was ready for that,” Haley said. “None of you boys were getting me to settle down.”

“That doesn’t mean we didn’t want to,” Travis said.

“How about you, Travis? I’m sure you’re settled down. Is the little lady here?” I asked.

“No. Sadly, she had to stay home. Babysitting fell through. She’s really bummed to miss everyone.”

“I’m sure,” I said. “Being stag at a wedding isn’t much fun. At least if you were really single you could try to pick up a bridesmaid or something. Weddings are a great place to get lucky.”

Travis smiled. “I guess it is too bad, isn’t it? I don’t think Jenna would take too kindly to my picking up someone, though.”

“No, I don’t think she would,” Haley said tightly.

“Not unless you have an open marriage, or she’s into that sort of thing,” I said. I felt Haley’s eyes boring into me.

“That’s funny. Most of us aren’t that lucky, are we?”

“No, I guess not. You wouldn’t give me a hall pass, would you honey?” I said, turning to Haley.

“Not unless you want it to be permanent.” She tried to sound lighthearted, and failed.

I could sense we were being watched. Of course everyone at that table knew Travis was Haley’s ex, and they knew how intense it was between them. It was almost fifteen years, but they obviously thought it would be uncomfortable. I was unwilling to be their entertainment, so I forced myself to relax. It was time to sit back and observe, and see where this all went.

“Nice to meet you, Travis. I’m sure we’ll be seeing more of you this weekend,” I said.

“For sure. I can’t wait to catch up with Haley, if you don’t mind.”

“Of course not.”

I floated back over by Ken and Cynthia, and Haley reluctantly came with me. The group came together as one and they talked about the good old days. They lamented not seeing each other more, but there were far fewer weddings now that they were in their mid-30s. I hung on every word, but most of the other husbands looked bored, and there was a lot of checking of phones. They didn't see single, handsome Travis as any kind of threat. Susan's husband, Don, was looking at the other wives more than he looked at his phone. He paid special attention to Cynthia and Haley. I have to admit, Cynthia's ass looked incredible in a snug pair of slacks, and it was worth a second look. When he wasn't looking there, he was staring at Haley's cleavage, but he wasn't the only one. I even caught Ken checking out my wife's chest, but I didn't mind that. Ken was not the type to ever do anything improper, and it was only fair since I looked at his wife. Haley's friend Carol looked nice too, but unfortunately was not holding up as well as the last time we'd seen her. She just wasn't bouncing back from the last pregnancy. I know it sounds horrible to say that, but I was proud that my wife was one of the hotter women in the group.

Travis hung on Haley's every word, and laughed too hard at her jokes. He found a way to wedge in right next to her, and their bodies were touching. It made my pulse quicken. Haley tried to be subtle, but I could tell she was pressing back against him. His hand brushed her on the table, and she jerked hers back.

"We need to hit that shuffleboard table over there," Carol announced.

"Playing for shots like the old days?" Susan asked.

"We have to," Travis said.

"I am not doing shots," Cynthia said.

"Come on, can't handle your drink anymore?" Carol taunted.

"We're a little old for drinking games, aren't we?" Cynthia pressed.

"It'll be fun, Cyndy. Come on," Haley said. I was a little surprised she was up for it. I couldn't remember the last time my wife had done a shot.

"Fine, but I am not doing more than one."

"Then play well," Travis said.

"Are you coming, honey?" Haley asked.

"Nah, I'm good here. I start doing shots, I'll fall asleep," I said.

"I'm going to hang back, too," Ken added.

"You guys are no fun," Haley said.

I wanted to see how much fun my wife was going to have. The crowd in the bar had dissipated enough that I could catch glimpses of the shuffleboard table on the other side. How would Haley and Travis behave if I wasn't sitting right there? I picked at the array of appetizers that littered the table as I watched them depart. Susan's husband followed, happy to watch the girls play.

Ken clapped a hand on my shoulder and leaned in and said, "How you doing, man?"

"What do you mean?" I asked.

"It's cool, man. I know Haley used to date that guy. It's got to be a little awkward."

"That was so long ago. It was like another lifetime. I'm not insecure enough to worry my wife is going to run off with her college boyfriend," I lied. Well, it wasn't truly a lie. I wasn't afraid she was going to run off with him—just fuck him.

"He was asking about her before you guys came in. He wondered if anyone had seen her. I'd keep an eye on that Travis guy."

"Maybe you're right. People get drunk; things can happen that they didn't intend. How would you feel if Cyndy's old boyfriend was around?"

"I don't think I would mind, generally. I know Cyndy isn't the kind of woman to stray—not saying Haley is—I'm just saying I would never feel threatened because I know even a guy like Travis wouldn't get anywhere. Not that he'll get anywhere with Haley."

I laughed. "It's okay, man I know you're not calling my wife a slut. And I know Cyndy must have told you some of the old stories about how wild Haley was back in college."

"But she's not like that now," Ken said.

I didn't think so, I thought. I said, "No, she's not. And Travis being here isn't going to turn her back, either. I'm sure Haley will know how to handle him if he doesn't keep in line."

"Yeah, of course. She's a good woman."

The thing was, Haley handling Travis could mean a lot of things, and Ken was surely not thinking along the same lines as I was. He would not be torn like I was. I didn't get the sense that Ken had any desire to see Cynthia fool around with an old boyfriend. Even if he did, I didn't expect him to tell me. That's hardly the kind of thing you just drop into a conversation.

After that awkward exchange, we switched back to small talk, which allowed me to focus my attention on keeping an eye on Haley and the others on the far side of the bar. Ken could see I was only half paying attention to him, and he probably read that as some kind of worry, but it didn't matter. The glimpses of my wife and her old boyfriend that I stole through the crowd had me utterly distracted.

They started off normally, with nothing untoward between them. Travis leaned close to whisper to Haley several times, leaving me to guess what they might be saying to each other. Did he suggest, Let's slip out of here. I need you, Haley? Or was he just telling her how hot she looked. She did look sexy, and I could tell he was constantly looking down her top. I needed to hear what they were saying to each other, but I kept cool.

The first shots were taken, bringing a rosy color to Haley's cheeks. Things subtly changed after the shot. Travis kept moving closer to her, and after stepping away from him the first couple times, she didn't move when he pressed against her. Soon, she was leaning back against him, and then his hand rested on her hip. The second round of shots came, then Haley was really feeling it. She and Travis looked like a couple standing there. I didn't think two shots were enough to get Haley rocked, but it was clearly enough that she wasn't too worried about what other people might think. Her hands were on his chest or his arms when she turned to speak to him, and he went from just holding her hip to putting his arms around her waist. I could see the group by the shuffleboard table was having a good time together, but surely they noticed Travis was all over my wife. He wasn't hanging on any of the other women like that.

I had never felt so conflicted. The same overpowering arousal was there. My dick throbbed in my pants, and there was no way I could have stood if I had to. It made the way I felt when Haley used to tell me stories feel like a weak schoolboy's crush. Seeing Haley flirting with her ex was so powerful I was dizzy sitting there, and as wrong as it was, I didn't want to stop it. But at the same time, I was angry that Haley would behave like that in front of everyone. She had to know they would be whispering behind our backs. I didn't want anyone feeling sorry for me. I might have been humiliated, if I hadn't been so turned on. The only saving grace was that they didn't start making out right there in front of everyone.

I was completely on edge when they all returned from their game. The tension felt like it was going to break me, and I knew I had to get out of there. I just didn't know if I was going to be leaving with Haley. She was having a great time, and it didn't look like she was ready to go.

"Haley's still got it," Travis announced, throwing his hands up. "She kicked my ass, just like in the old days."

"It's like riding a bike. It came right back to me," she bragged, exchanging high fives around the table.

"You always were amazing at that," Cynthia said. "You have a natural talent."

"It's all in the wrist," Haley replied, mimicking a flick of the shuffleboard disk.

Travis mimed jerking off and said, "You did have great wrist action."

"You did not," Carol said, glaring at him.

"Hey, that's a compliment," Travis insisted.

I kept my temper in check, but mostly because I was picturing my wife off in the corner of the bar giving Travis a hand job under a table. From the way Carol's husband stared at Haley, he was imaging the same thing—albeit with himself as the recipient. The group had a good laugh, and I pulled Haley aside.

"I want to get out of here. That drive really took a lot out of me," I told her.

Haley's face dropped. It was as I suspected. "Really? I feel like I'm just getting started. Why don't you just stay for another drink and see how you feel?"

"I just don't think I have it in me, honey."

I saw she was ready to pout. It's something Haley does when she really wants to get her way, and she's more prone to doing it when she's drunk. My wife might not have been falling down drunk, but her easy giggles and flushed cheeks told me she was far past sober. She is also a terrible flirt when she drinks. Haley was in that sweet spot where she's a whole lot of fun. I knew if I dragged her back to our room and got her in bed she'd be a tigress—if she wasn't too mad at me for making her leave. At the same time, it was so tempting to stay and watch her interact with Travis. That last point was probably why the next words came out of my mouth.

"Why don't you just stay then, and come back when you've had your fun?"

"Really?"

I should have said, of course not. I'm not leaving you alone with Travis when you've been drinking, but I did not. I convinced myself that her friends would keep her from doing anything crazy. So instead, I told her, "Yeah, you should stay. You never see your friends. Wake me up when you get in, okay?"

Haley pulled me down into a long, sultry kiss. Yep, those shots had her feeling good. I felt Travis watching us, and I possessively put my hand on her ass.

"You're the best, sweetie."

"Don't forget it."

I said my goodbyes to the group, who called me out for being an old man. Travis didn't seem sorry to see me go. It almost made me stay. What did he have planned for my sweet wife? I crossed the street to our hotel, and as I walked through the parking lot I felt myself pulled back to the bar. The burning in the pit of my stomach said I'd made a terrible mistake, but did I want to make that mistake? It drove me crazy that I couldn't answer that question. I am not normally an indecisive man. I had never been so conflicted.

The dark room felt cold and empty when I returned. I sat on the edge of the bed, not tired at all. That had only been a pretext to get Haley to come back to the room with me, and now that I was there alone I had no idea what to do. I knew what I wanted to do if she was with me, but I couldn't do that alone, and I wasn't going to jerk off—not while Haley was out with Travis.

I paced over to the big windows and pushed the curtains aside. The hotel didn't have any good views, so I didn't notice we had a view of the parking lot when we checked in. Looking down on the still cars in the lot, and the busy ones racing past on the roadway, I realized that I would be able to see Haley returning from the bar. I would see if she was alone. My heart pounded at the realization, and I pulled a chair over by the window to stare out into the night.

The lot glowed orange with those sodium lights that are common in parking lots. The lot was well-lit—I couldn't possibly miss Haley returning—yet there were plenty of shadows she could sneak into with Travis. But why bother with that when he had a room right upstairs? I could imagine seeing Haley and Travis return from the bar and enter the hotel, but my wife not coming back to our room. If she went with Travis she could be gone for hours. She thought I was passed out from exhaustion, didn't she?

Waiting was torture. I tried looking at my phone, but I was too distracted to read anything. My head was filled with wild thoughts, and I was afraid I might miss Haley, even though she could never cross the parking lot fast enough for that to happen. An hour passed, and I saw Ken and Cynthia return to the hotel. Carol and her husband followed a few minutes later with Sue and her husband. The group was breaking up.

I knew everyone would be talking if they left Haley alone at the bar with Travis, and she had to know that too. Had she really become that reckless? The rest of the group came, meaning that Haley had to be back at the bar with him. I had a sudden urge to charge across the street and claim my wife, but before I could move I saw her and Travis scampering across the street. They weren't that far behind the others, but they were far enough back that their friends entered the hotel ahead of them. Haley leaned on Travis, and his arm was around her. Instead of heading right into the hotel, he steered her to the side. It was darker there, but I could still see them.

My heart was in my throat. I leaned forward and placed a trembling hand on the glass. Calming myself was impossible. I was wired. Haley and Travis stood close together talking. I'd have killed to hear their conversation. After weeks of being a secret voyeur to their online chats, it killed me to be excluded now.

Haley shook her head. He probably wanted her to come to his room. She was still clear enough to say no. He stepped even closer, his hand on her shoulder. She looked tiny next to him. Haley laughed at whatever he said and looked around the parking lot, staring back at the hotel. I ducked back, which was silly. There was no way she could see me up in our dark, fourth-floor room. She shook her head again, but his hands went to her hips, and he pulled her up against him. Her hands were on his chest. Haley looked over her shoulder one more time, then she kissed him.

I was dizzy, and realized I'd been holding my breath. I breathed deeply, but it hardly helped. Any hope that Haley would realize she'd just made a terrible mistake and pull away were quickly dashed. That kiss went on and on. Travis pulled her into him and kneaded her nice, round ass. Her tits crushed against him. I leaned so close to the window that my forehead pressed against the cool glass. My cock throbbed in my pants, but I didn't touch myself. It was like I was paralyzed watching them.

They finally came apart after an eternity. Haley stared up at him, and Travis moved in for another kiss. She dodged it, shaking her head. She pushed out of his arms and skipped away from him. He moved closer, but Haley stayed out of reach. It looked like she was laughing. She turned and walked toward the hotel, with Travis right on her heels.

I fell back from the window and tried to calm my panic. My thoughts were wildly disjointed. Haley just cheated on me! That slut! Kissing isn't really cheating, is it? Ohmygod that was hot! Haley is so fucking hot! No, this is terrible! I had to pull myself together. She would be back up to our room any minute. I tried deep breathing, but my heart still felt like it was going to pound out of my chest.

Haley did not come right up to the room. Even if she had to wait for the elevator, I estimated it couldn't take any more than five minutes to reach our room. After fifteen minutes passed, I began to panic anew. Travis convinced Haley to go back to his room. I just knew it. She was probably on her knees in front of him right at that moment. Or maybe she was so turned on that she just made him fuck her the second they entered the room. I was losing my mind when I heard the beep of the keycard accepted into the door, followed by the click of the lock disengaging. I was caught flatfooted, so when Haley walked into the room I stood in the middle of the room, wide-eyed and pale.

"Oh, you're still awake," she said neutrally.

I studied her for signs of what she'd just done, but I couldn't see anything. She didn't even seem particularly drunk. She must have stopped drinking after I left the bar.

"Yeah, I couldn't sleep after all," I stammered.

"That's a shame. You should have hung out with us."

"I'm sure you had more fun without me there."

"Really?"

Haley knew something. Her arms were crossed over her chest and there was a gleam in her eye—the one she gets when she wants me to admit something. I froze, like a cornered animal. I don't know why I felt guilty. I hadn't done anything wrong. My spying paled in comparison to what she'd done. She got tired of waiting for me to confess.

"Did you like the show?" she asked.

"How did you know I was watching?"

“I didn’t know, but I thought you might be. I knew where your head would be.”

“I can’t believe you did that! You fucking cheated on me!” I spat.

“Don’t be so dramatic. I only did it because I knew you were watching—or was pretty sure you were. I thought I’d give you what you were waiting for.”

“What the hell, Haley? I didn’t ask you to do that.”

“No, but you wanted to. You’ve been following us online for weeks. Did it get you nice and hard seeing all that?”

“How dare you? I’m not the one who was doing something wrong,” I yelled. I wanted to keep my anger in check, but it wasn’t easy.

“No? Spying on me like a creepy voyeur isn’t wrong?”

“Apparently I needed to. You’ve been dying to fuck him!”

Haley laughed. She actually laughed at me. She was lucky I’m not a violent man. “What the hell?”

“It never occurred to you that I knew you were watching? I kept pushing, wondering how far you’d let me take it, but you never said a word. You were getting off on it.”

“How long did you know? How did you know?” I went through everything I did. I thought I was careful. I didn’t know how she knew I was spying.

“I’ve known for a long time, Matt. Do you remember that night when I came into the kitchen and you jumped? I knew you were looking at something you shouldn’t be on my laptop. And then you couldn’t scurry downstairs fast enough. Messenger was open when I looked, and I knew I didn’t leave it open. So I decided to bait you and make you admit you were spying.”

I sputtered. I didn’t know how to respond. “Maybe I shouldn’t have been spying, but that doesn’t change what you did.”

“I kept pushing it to see what would get you to break, but you were happy to just follow along and watch what I did with Travis. I wasn’t surprised. I wanted you to say something, Matt.”

“So this was all about me? That’s bullshit, Haley, and you know it. First of all, you were flirting with him behind my back before I saw anything. You were sexting him before I knew anything.”

“I was not! Maybe flirting a little, but not sexting.”

“You flashed him,” I countered. It was hard to keep everything she’d done straight in my head, but I was sure about that.

She couldn’t help smiling. “Maybe a little bit. Okay, I was flirting with an ex, and maybe I shouldn’t have done that. But you shouldn’t have been spying on me, either. I thought you trusted me!”

“I did—I do. I don’t know. I wasn’t just randomly spying on you. That night I was fixing your printing issues, a message popped up. I couldn’t believe it.”

“So you just had to go back and read everything?”

“It’s a good thing I did. You would have never told me about him, would you?”

“There was nothing to tell, Matt! I did some things I shouldn’t have—okay. Yes, you’re right. I’m sorry. I guess the attention just got to me. But it really was innocent. It wasn’t anything more than chatting. And I didn’t say anything about Travis reaching out to me because of how you are about him.”

Haley came farther into the room and sat on the edge of the bed. I sat on the edge of the dresser in front of the bed. I hated to see her so upset, but I was not in the mood to comfort her. I could buy some of what she was saying, but not all of it.

“I’m sorry I spied, but I couldn’t help it either. I hated that you were sneaking around behind my back. You should have just said something.”

“And that wouldn’t have kicked off your Travis thing?” She glared at me, daring me to lie.

“I don’t know what I would have done if you told me in the beginning.”

“But I know what you did do. You spied, and you got off on it. I kept thinking, this will be the thing that stops him. He’ll come to me. But you didn’t, because you liked it. You wanted me to keep doing it.”

“I never said that,” I protested.

“But do you deny it?”

“It’s complicated, Haley.” I needed to deflect. “What about you? This wasn’t all about trapping me, was it?”

“What do you mean?”

“You did all that just to bait me? You didn’t enjoy it at all?”

“I...I...”

“You expect me to believe the only reason you kissed Travis was because you thought I might be watching? It looked to me like you wanted that. I don’t think you were thinking of me at all while you kissed him. Were you?”

“Matt...

“We both need to come clean here. I’ll start, if that makes it easier for you. Yeah, it turned me on. Reading all those chats and seeing how you were with him turned me on.”

“Just like the old days,” she said.

“Yes. And no. Not really. The truth? It was hotter than when you used to tease me with stories. I was seeing it for myself. It wasn’t just a memory. It was happening. Travis came on to you, and you wanted it. It got you hot.”

“Matt...”

“And seeing that was incredible. I’ve never felt anything like it. I’ve never been so turned on. I always knew you had that inside of you, and I loved seeing it come out.”

“Even with someone else?”

“Yeah, I guess so. Maybe it was even hotter with someone else because I got to watch. I don’t really understand this, and I’m not proud of it. I’m just telling you what I feel.”

“Matt, I was angry, but I don’t want to hurt you. I just... I don’t know what I was trying to do.”

“But it wasn’t just about getting back at me, was it?”

Haley sighed. “I guess not. No. I kept telling myself that, but yeah, I liked it. I know you think I’m beautiful, and I know you want me and love me, but it felt different coming from Travis. It’s almost like you have to feel that way. He knew me when I was young—and hot. And knowing he still wants me—I don’t know. I know it’s vain and wrong, but I fell for it. I don’t know what to say. I liked how it felt, and I had the excuse that I was getting back at you.”

“I hadn’t been showing you how much I want you—before this, I mean. I wasn’t paying the attention I should have been.”

“I wasn’t either, hon. Life just sort of got in the way.”

A small smile creased my lips. “Maybe we should be thanking Travis, in some weird way. He jump started our sex life like nothing else could.”

Haley smiled too. “I guess he did, didn’t he? But did he break it in the process.”

“I love you, baby. I will never stop loving you. If this is our chance to get back on track, we need to take it. Just don’t lie to me anymore.”

“And don’t spy on me,” she said.

“I promise I won’t spy without your permission.”

“Haha. Very funny.”

“You really liked kissing him, didn’t you?” I said, lowering my voice.

Haley looked uncertain. I knew she was hesitating for me. She really didn’t want to hurt me, but I wanted to hear it. I could handle it. “Yeah, I did. I don’t know how to describe it, but doing something bad feels really good. It’s like I’m touching a part of myself I’ve lost track of.”

“And it’s nothing to do with Travis?”

She smiled, looking down. “He always was a good kisser. I swear that first kiss, way back when, got me right into bed with him. He hasn’t lost it.”

“You still want him, don’t you?”

“Matt...”

“I want to hear it. Tell me, Haley.”

“He’s still hot.”

“And you want to fuck him...”

“I don’t want to cheat on you, Matt.”

“I didn’t ask you that. I know how horny he made you. You weren’t pretending in all those chats, were you?”

“I told you it feels good to be bad.”

“You really did sneak off and touch yourself at work, didn’t you?”

Haley hesitated again, but then answered, “I did. I was really turned on teasing you two. It wasn’t just for him, you know. It was hot knowing you were watching what I did. Is that terrible?”

“You know I don’t think that. I think it’s sexy as hell.”

An evil gleam came into her eyes, and she leaned forward to pull me closer. I stood by the foot of the bed, and she looked up at me. She rubbed my bulge through my jeans. I was obviously hard.

“I bet you were hard watching those chats,” she cooed.

“I was mad, too,” I said, feeling the need to assert my masculinity.

“But it turned you on. I know it did.”

“Yeah, it did. I told you, I love seeing you like that.”

“You’ve always loved hearing about me being bad.”

“This time I got to see you in action, sort of.”

“You were jerking off to our chats, weren’t you?”

Haley took out my cock, stroking it in her warm, small hands. Of course my first thought was how big Travis would look in her hands. It made my cock jump. She stroked me with both hands and cupped my balls. I was so stimulated from watching her with Travis that I was afraid I was going to blow my load right in her face, but I didn't stop her.

"I couldn't help it," I answered.

"That's okay, baby. I want to make you hard. I like knowing how much I turn you on."

"When you sent him those pictures, I couldn't believe it..."

She rubbed my head all over her lips when I started talking, but I lost the ability to speak when she took me into her mouth. I slid past her tight lips until she'd swallowed about half my shaft, and then she started sucking. Haley sucked hard, and my knees almost buckled. She jerked the length that was not in her mouth and worked magic with her tongue. I had to hold onto her shoulder, and I still felt like I might fall over.

As wonderful as her mouth felt, I wanted to fuck her, and if I stayed in that mouth one more second I was going to come, so I pushed her off me and pulled Haley to her feet.

"What's wrong, baby?" she asked.

I answered by pulling her top off and spinning her around. I pulled her back against me and mashed her tits in my hands. Her bra was in my way, so I unhooked it and threw it aside. I grabbed her breasts again and teased her thick, dark nipples.

"Oh god, Matt," she panted.

I pushed her hair aside and kissed her neck. "I know how much you love to be taken," I growled.

"Yes," she moaned.

"You'd love Travis to take you like this."

"Matt..." I tweaked her nipples. "Yes! I want him."

I unfastened her jeans and pushed them down with her panties, and shoved her forward over the foot of the bed. Her legs were spread as wide as her jeans would allow. It was enough. With my cock in hand, I hiked her butt higher. Haley was soaked. I buried myself to the hilt in one strong stroke.

"Oh god!" she cried. "Yes, baby!"

I held onto her round hips and pounded into her. We were not making love. A couple that goes through what we just had doesn't make love. They fuck. And I really needed to fuck my wife.

“He got you so fucking wet, didn’t he?” I grunted.

“Yeah...”

“I knew you still wanted him.”

“Yeah...baby...I wanted to kiss him all night...”

“You want to fuck him, too. I know you wanted to go back to his room.”

“I did, baby. I’m so bad.”

Inspiration struck, and I slapped her jiggling ass. The crack of my hand striking flesh rang out in the room, and I left a big red handprint on her cheek. I felt her cunt clench around me. I spanked her again.

“God, I’m bad, baby. Punish me!” she cried.

I reached for her long chestnut hair and yanked, wrenching her head back. Haley yelped and arched her back, pushing her butt at me. The damp heat of her tight pussy was too much for me. I tried holding out as long as I could, because I wanted her to climax before me, but all my buttons were being pushed, making that difficult.

“Did he ask you to go to his room?”

“Yes! I wanted to, baby. I didn’t want to hurt you,” Haley moaned.

“What if I wanted you to?”

“Oh god...”

“What if I wanted you to fuck him while I watch?”

“God...Matt...”

“I want to see you fuck him, Haley. I want him to make you come.”

“Matt...oh god...”

I pulled her hair, smacked her ass, and plowed my cock into her. Haley clenched around me. She was right there. So was I.

“You want it, don’t you? Don’t you, Haley?!?”

“Yeah...yes...Yes! I want him to fuck me! I want it! Ohmygod!”

I came immediately. My prick exploded inside her, and I stopped mid-stroke, feeling my balls draining. Feeling me come seemed to trigger her own orgasm, and Haley shrieked, writhing beneath me and clawing at the ugly floral hotel bedspread. She slumped all the way to the bed, her hair fanning out around her. I stumbled back and held onto the dresser for support. I hadn’t come like that in ages, and it left me completely drained. Yet, I had never been more energized.

“Oh god,” Haley groaned, still face down on the bed. She stayed that way for a couple minutes before pushing up and holding her jeans and duck walking into the bathroom. She didn’t say a word to me.

I sat worrying that Haley was pissed until she came out of the bathroom. She had cleaned up and brushed her hair. Her jeans were back in place and she picked up her bra, sliding back into it. She climbed onto the bed and sat on it cross-legged, staring at me. I couldn’t quite read her.

“Were you serious, or was that playing?” she asked.

“Which part?”

“Any of it. All of it. I know the idea of me and Travis together turns you on. Did it really turn you on when you saw us kiss?”

“Yeah, it did. I know I’m weird.”

“Don’t go there, Matt. You need to own your feelings.”

“Okay.”

“Do you really want me to fuck Travis?”

That was Haley, always blunt. I admired her ability to get right to the point, even when it was difficult. My avoidance of awkward subjects led to situations like we ended up in at that hotel.

“It’s not that simple. I don’t just want you to run off and fuck him.”

“You want to watch us.”

“Okay, that’s a little more accurate, but it’s not just that. This is really hard for me to talk about.”

“If we’re going to get through this weekend, we need to talk about this.”

“The idea of watching you fuck Travis is the hottest thing I can think of. I don’t know how I would react to the real thing. I know it would turn me on, but how can I know what else I would feel—if I could handle it? I think it’s one of those things you can’t ever really know until you’ve done it. I would have never thought I could handle watching you kiss someone else. I always thought I would slug the bastard, but that wasn’t what I felt while I was watching you.”

“What did you feel?”

“Hard,” I chuckled. “Horny. It was an incredible high, like I was doing drugs. I guess there was a little jealousy in there, but it wasn’t negative, if that makes sense. The jealousy just made it hotter somehow. Why are you asking me all this? Do you really want to go screw Travis?”

“I’ve never thought about it as a real thing. I swear. All those times we were playing online, it was all in my head. It didn’t feel like something could happen in real life. I’m married, and I take that seriously. Despite what I did, I would never actually cheat on you. I wouldn’t sneak off to sleep with someone else.” Haley looked conflicted.

“But he turns you on. He makes you horny. I mean, you want to do it, if it wasn’t for me.”

“It’s dangerous to think that way,” she answered.

“Not if I want you to do it.”

“Do you?”

I laughed. “It feels like we’re talking in circles here. I feel like I want to try something. It feels like we have this unique chance here.”

“This could go so wrong, Matt.”

I sat on the bed beside Haley and took her hand. “If we’re honest with each other, and check in every step of the way, it’s going to be fine. If either of us gets uncomfortable at any point, we back away. No blame.”

“But what if you can’t handle whatever happens. Or if I can’t?”

“I will never blame you for trying something I wanted. And somehow I doubt you’re going to regret anything.” I smiled reassuringly.

“I don’t know, Matt.”

“What’s the worst that could happen?”

“You’ll think I’m a terrible slut.”

“What if I think you’re an awesome slut?”

We both laughed.

“Okay, what if I like it too much? What if I can’t give it up?”

“Do you think that could happen?” I asked, suddenly sobered. I hadn’t considered that. I guess I was naïve, but I just thought that Haley could go play with Travis and then come back to me and we’d go on with our lives. She had a point. Haley was so into Travis back in college that she had to pull away from him.

“I don’t think so. Nothing could make me give up you and Sophia, but how can I be sure? I’m not that crazy, daring college girl anymore, but what if he wakes that in me?”

It worried me that she looked genuinely concerned, but I was so aroused by my pervy thoughts that I didn’t let that slow me down. “I trust you. I know who you are, Haley. I am not worried.”

We sat quietly for a few minutes while she considered it. It was a huge thing—I knew that—but I really didn't think it was such a huge risk. Now would I feel that way when she was with Travis? I couldn't answer that. I was dying to know what was going through Haley's head. Sitting and waiting for her to make a decision was torture. I thought I knew what she wanted. I saw those chats, and deep down I was convinced she wanted to fuck Travis. I didn't want her to go that far, but was I confident she could keep herself in check. Finally, a smile spread across her lips. There was that cute overbite. The funniest thing is that Haley looks so much like the sweet girl-next-door that no one else would ever guess the evil thoughts in her mind.

"So how do we do this? Do I just march down to his room and tell him I want to fuck him?" Haley asked.

"Uh, I don't know about all that."

Her eyes narrowed. "Are you really sure about this?"

I nodded. "I am. I want this. I just don't know if I want you fucking him. Why not start with something easier, like a test?"

"I'm game."

"Text him. Tell him you came back to the room and I was asleep."

"And he'll want me to go to his room. You want to watch, don't you?"

I nodded.

"I could meet him in the parking lot again, but that's too public. Someone might see us."

"Good point. I haven't really thought this through," I said.

Haley leaned over and pulled the binder out of the bedside table drawer. She flipped through it and found a floorplan for the hotel. It was a nice place, with all the amenities—including a pool, gym, sauna, game room, and a large breakfast room.

"It looks like there are bathrooms between the pool and the gym. I could meet Travis in the gym, and you could peek out from the bathroom door. I doubt anyone will be coming down for a workout in the middle of the night," she said.

"He might see me," I objected.

"Nothing's going to be perfect, Matt. I think if you just keep the door open a crack he won't notice. I'll keep him distracted."

"The gym probably has a security camera in it."

“Maybe not. Women would find that creepy, I know I would. I don’t want someone watching while I work out.”

Haley didn’t catch the irony of that.

“And if someone is watching, I’ll make sure I put on a good show.”

Her sudden enthusiasm was concerning, but it also turned me on more. I didn’t want to feel like Haley was doing something for me. I wanted her to do this because she wanted to.

“Sounds like a plan. Let’s do this,” I said.

“One more thing. You’ve never said how far you want me to go. I know what you don’t want me to do, but that’s not enough.”

“I don’t want to script this out for you. That’s no fun. I guess just don’t fuck him.”

“That’s a big help,” she said, rolling her eyes.

“Sorry. How about this; keep your phone in your back pocket on vibrate. If I suddenly can’t handle it, I’ll text you.”

Haley looked skeptical. “So just do what I want unless I hear from you?”

“Yeah, that’s the plan.”

“I don’t know if this is smart, but it’s going to be fun.”

Haley reached for her phone.

six

I waited in that dark bathroom for an eternity. I had the door propped open a couple inches with one of those rubber doorstop things, which gave me a view of three-quarters of the gym. As long as they stayed there, I'd be able to see everything. I'd hear them too, unless they whispered. Haley was as nervous as I was. She paced in and out of view. I would have thought Travis would come running down there, but he was taking his sweet time.

Travis was eager when Haley messaged him. He did his damndest to get her to just come to his room, but she insisted she wasn't going to do that. Travis said she was afraid she'd end up in his bed. Haley said they needed to talk after what happened. He pressed her and only agree to meet in the gym when she wouldn't budge. I thought he was right. If Haley went to his room, she would sleep with him. I had no guarantee things wouldn't get out of hand in the gym, but at least I was there to intervene.

The bathroom was stifling. The acrid scent of chlorine floated in from the pool side, as did thick humidity. It was like I was locked in a dark sweatbox. I wouldn't have endured that torture for any other reason, but I knew it would be worth it.

A beep, followed by a click, came from out of view. Either Travis was finally there, or someone else had decided to use the gym in the middle of the night and ruined our plans. Haley turned and a smile touched her lips. It was him. My cock began to throb.

"I was starting to think you were going to stand me up," Haley said, adding a nervous laugh. She brushed her chestnut hair back behind her ear.

"Maybe I was hoping you were eager enough to come to my room and find me." His voice was strong and confident. Travis was a man who took what he wanted, rather than waiting for something to happen. He would not timidly hide in a bathroom like me.

"I couldn't do that. I don't want you to get the wrong idea."

"Oh, I think I have the right idea, Haley. There aren't a lot of reasons for you to meet me in the middle of the night while your husband is asleep."

"You're so damned cocky. You always have been."

"And you used to love it."

“Used to being the important part.”

“I don’t know. I think you still like it. I don’t think something like that leaves you.”

Travis stayed stubbornly out of view. I did not want him luring Haley to the side of the room where I couldn’t see. She took a tentative step forward, but stopped. Her body language was stiff, signaling her uncertainty about this. But like a fish on a line, he was drawing her to him.

“You’re an expert on women now? Let me clue you in to something, a middle aged woman does not want the same thing as a college girl.”

“True, not in life. I don’t know if it’s so different in bed. But then again, I’ve found sexy women like you—you are not middle-aged—only get more adventurous with age. You’re probably wilder now than you were then.”

Haley laughed. “Is that possible?”

“There’s only one way to find out.”

“You’re funny.”

I didn’t understand why Haley was being so antagonistic with him. I didn’t want her to push him away and wreck this, unless she had second thoughts. She may have been looking for a way out. I grew impatient waiting for something to happen. In my pervy mind, Travis was going to just walk in, grab my wife, and go to town. The anticipation was sweet, so sweet I swore I could taste it, but I needed something to happen.

Travis finally came into view, standing directly in front of Haley, and she almost stepped back from him. She jumped when he touched her arms. Her eyes darted to the bathroom door for just a second, and I reflexively ducked back. I hoped Travis didn’t catch her move.

“You didn’t ask to meet me because you wanted to talk. Did you need to meet me to say you can’t kiss me again? That makes no sense,” he said.

“No?” Haley’s voice was small and her eyes wide.

“You started all this, Haley. You kissed me. What do you want?”

“I kissed you because you’ve been chasing me for months, and I had a little too much to drink.”

“I haven’t made you do anything, babe. You’ve done everything because you wanted to. You asked me down here because you wanted to. But what do you want, Haley?”

His eyes were fixed on Haley, and she looked like she wanted to escape. It didn’t seem to be going the way she’d anticipated either—however that was.

“I don’t know. Maybe I should go,” she replied.

No! I screamed in my head.

“Do you want to kiss me?” he asked.

Haley swallowed hard and answered, “Yes.”

“Then do it.”

“No,” she said firmly. “Kiss me this time.”

“Ask me for it.”

She smiled slyly. “I’m not going to beg you to kiss me.”

Travis tightened his grip on her arms. Haley stiffened. I saw fire and fear in her eyes.

“Ask me, Haley.” His voice was tight. Travis was taking charge. I knew that would push her over the edge.

“Kiss me,” she whispered.

“Hmm?”

“Please, kiss me.”

Travis ran his fingers through her long hair and held the back of her head, pulling her lips to his. Even in heeled boots, Haley had to stand on tip-toes, and she wrapped her arms around him, pulling him down to her. Travis laid his other hand right on her round butt.

I swooned and held onto the wall for balance. Being so close, hearing them talk—hearing the soft sounds of their kissing—was so much more intense than watching them from a window a few stories up. My heart pounded, and I felt it all through my body. I blinked, squeezing my eyes shut tight, as if I couldn’t believe what I saw, but when I opened them the view was the same. My wife was right in front of me, making out with her old college flame.

Haley looked so different kissing another man. She was transformed. I realized I too often looked at her and saw my partner, the mother of my daughter, my best friend. I didn’t look at her like I did that first time—a sexy, sultry woman whom I’d love to get into bed. It was hard to miss how sexy she was in that moment. Travis was all over her like he’d been waiting years to have her again. And Haley seemed like she was starving for him. Doubt tugged at the back of my mind, and it occurred that perhaps this hadn’t been the best idea.

Travis pulled Haley’s face back from his so he could look at her. She bit her lip, and it looked like she was trembling. He looked just as incredulous as I felt. He held her face in both hands and brushed at her lips with his thumb, pulling at the corner of her mouth. She tried to kiss his thumb, but he stroked down to her jawline. I saw her straining to pull up and kiss him again.

“You’re fucking hot as ever, babe. Damn, I fucking want you,” he whispered.

Haley looked speechless, but then he kissed her again. She pulled him down hard and rubbed against him, like she was trying to climb his tall frame. They were frantic for each other, and I knew keeping them out of his room was the right call. Any doubt I harbored that Haley would sleep with him if she had the chance evaporated. As my heart thumped in my chest, I thought that might not be so bad.

Travis pulled at her sweater and Haley put her hand over his, but he was insistent, and her restraining hand slipped away when he pulled up her sweater. She raised her arms, and the sweater dropped to the rough, gray industrial carpet floor. He held her at arm’s length and examined her. Haley squirmed, uncomfortable with the attention, and I could tell she was trying to hold her tummy in—hard to do when you’re panting. No, she did not look like she did a decade and a half ago. Her tummy might not be tight-as-a-drum any longer, but it was pleasingly smooth and mostly flat, and I could tell Travis thought she was just as hot as I did. The Haley she saw in the mirror was not the gorgeous, curvy woman we saw. Her tits were especially alluring as they heaved with her panting, presented up by her lacy bra. Travis eyed them hungrily.

“Don’t stare at me like that,” she said.

“I can’t help it. You’re incredible. It’s like no time has passed. You haven’t changed at all.”

“Now you’re being ridiculous.”

“You’re right. You’re even sexier than before.”

Haley laughed. “Because my boobs are bigger?”

“Heh. I guess that helps.”

Travis walked her backward and she held onto his arms.

“What are you doing?”

Haley’s answer came when the backs of her legs brushed the angled bench of an exercise machine, and Travis sat her down. He loomed over her for a moment, like a jungle cat about to pounce on his prey, before kneeling on the edge of the bench between her spread legs, which fell to either side of the bench. I felt suddenly foolish. He didn't need a bed to fuck my wife. Haley laid on the angled back of the bench, staring up at him expectantly. Her tits heaved with every breath.

"Fuck, you're gorgeous," he exclaimed.

Haley colored from his compliment. He played her perfectly.

Travis curved forward, bracing one hand on the bench beside her head and hovered, making Haley come up to kiss him. She did so fervently, grabbing his shirt to pull him lower to her. His free hand groped her breasts. His hands were big, like they were made just to handle her generous tits. She gasped into their kiss and worked at unbuttoning his shirt. He tugged a bra strap from her shoulder, but her bra was firmly in place. Haley paused undressing him just long enough to reach back and unsnap her bra as she lifted from the bench. She pulled off her bra and discarded it on the floor beside them. Her unencumbered breasts spilled forth, and he grabbed for them, mauling the creamy, warm flesh she'd just exposed. Her nipples stiffened, begging for his attention.

Haley pushed her hands inside his unbuttoned shirt, groping his defined chest. Unfortunately, I knew just how in shape Travis was under that shirt from the beach pictures on his Facebook profile. I hadn't completely let myself go, but I do have the softened body of an average 40-year-old, and I imagined my wife was excited to get her hands on a specimen like Travis. She doesn't touch me like that these days. I thought about how wet she must be from exploring his body, and how eager she was for more. I don't think it mattered that she had just been fucked less than an hour before. She was ready to go again.

Travis reached lower, snatching open the button on her jeans. Haley quickly placed her hand over his. He was insistent as before, but this time she did not relent. "Come on," he urged, pulling her jeans further open. Her zipper lowered, exposing her black panties beneath.

"No, baby, please," she whimpered, breaking their kiss.

"You're such a fucking tease. I'm dying here, Haley," he complained.

Travis shoved his hand inside her jeans and panties. He got a grip on her cunt, because Haley arched her back off the bench and cried out, pushing her body at him. He moved his hand and my wife moaned, enthralled by him. Were his fingers inside her? Was Haley's resolve gone?

I was frozen in place. Watching Haley get fingered was gut-wrenching and thrilling. I was getting everything I wanted and more. I saw Haley becoming his right before my eyes, which left me confronted again by that burning question. Did I want my Haley to fuck Travis? If he kept pressing and she didn't stop him, would I? No did not spring to mind, which was my answer, wasn't it?

"Travis, we can't. I can't." Her voice was breathy, but firm.

"You're killing me, babe," he groaned.

Haley smiled against his kissing lips. "Have I ever left you unsatisfied before?"

She pushed him back and sat forward on the bench, reaching for his belt. She undid his pants like an expert. The ease with which she undressed Travis was impressive—and concerning. She yanked his underwear down with his pants and his prick sprung out, almost smacking Haley in the face. I took a step back from the door like it was threatening me.

It was mesmerizing watching Haley handle his cock. I took it like a shot of adrenaline to the heart. She held him with both hands—she nearly needed both to handle him—stroking his shaft and rubbing it on her lips. That cute overbite smile I love so much was suddenly much dirtier. Travis was shaved clean—I didn't remember that from his dick pic—and I wondered if that was for Haley. She caressed his hairless balls and pumped his shaft slowly, staring up at him while his head still brushed her lips. Travis stared back. He looked as stunned as I was. We both loved watching my wife handle his cock. Haley lifted him away from her lips, leaving a string of precum stretching back.

Haley licked down the underside of his shaft and sucked his hairless balls. Her hair hung down, blocking my view. I was disappointed. In my mind's eye, I expected it to be like porn, where you always have the perfect angle and see exactly what you need to, and the women always move their hair to the side because they are ever-aware of where the camera is located. But I could hear the sucking sounds of her busy mouth and Travis's groaning, and that combined with seeing her face down by his crotch was almost hot enough.

"I forgot how eager you are, Haley. Damn, work that tongue," he moaned, stroking her hair and looking down at her. He had an excellent vantage point to watch my slutty wife work on him.

I imagined I could see through the veil of her hair, and Haley's face was down there tight, buried in his balls, her tongue darting deep down as she kissed and licked and sucked. My cock was out, but I only touched it lightly, afraid that I would blow my load if I really touched myself.

Haley pulled up, tossing her hair back and smiling up at him before kissing and licking his head again. Her hands looked so small wrapped around his thick shaft. “You haven’t been dreaming of my blowjobs all these years?” she asked.

“You were always the best baby, but it’s been a long time.”

“The best?”

“I’ve had some experience. You’re definitely the best.”

“Even better than, Jenna?” she challenged.

Before he could answer, she engulfed his head with her lips, giving it a long, slow, deep kiss. His answer was a low, guttural sound from his throat and he lovingly cradled the back of her head. I loved how Haley’s cheeks hollowed when she sucked him.

I had to wonder if asking about his wife was for my benefit. Travis had been blatant about disregarding me as he’d tried to bed my wife, implying he was better than me, so now Haley was turning the tables on him, exerting her power and establishing primacy over his wife. She gave him a taste of his own medicine.

“Yes,” he groaned. “You’re the fucking best, baby.”

Haley was done playing with her food. She slipped past his head and sucked more and more of his beefy shaft into her mouth. Her lips slid low on his cock, but she didn’t swallow it all. She is every bit as good with her mouth as Travis said. The first time she gave me a blowjob—on our first date—I think I came in about two seconds. I don’t know how to describe it, but she does this thing with her tongue that’s magical. And she’s one of those remarkable women who can deep throat with ease. When Haley’s lips touched the base of my cock for the first time, I nearly applauded. But as I said, Travis was very well endowed, and even my amazing wife could not quite swallow that sword.

“Damn, baby, that’s hot. Feels so fucking good,” Travis gasped, fixated on my wife’s bobbing head.

Travis was a lucky guy. Haley pulled out every trick in her book while working his cock. It seemed that each time her head dipped down, more of him disappeared into her mouth, but she didn’t ignore the rest of his cock. Both hands massaged and stroked the exposed portion of his shaft, and she kept returning to play with his balls. Her cheeks hollowed and her eyes closed as she focused on pleasing him. The soft sounds of her sucking was music to my ears. My wife sucking another man's cock was a sight to behold.

"You still like it a little rough, don't you, Haley?" he growled.

Haley looked up at him, her eyes wide. I couldn't be sure, but she seemed to give a tiny nod. Whatever she did, Travis took it as consent, and the hand that had been stroking her hair tightened, his fingers twining in her hair. He took control of her motions, holding Haley's head as she bobbed on him. She tried to use her hand to restrain him, but he pressed his cock deeper into her mouth.

"That's it, baby, take that nice and deep. I remember how deep you can take it, Haley. Don't play with me. Don't hold back," he groaned.

I had a grip on my cock, jerking it in time to my wife's bobbing head. Seeing Haley blow another man had been incredible, but seeing her used like that fulfilled the deep-rooted fantasies I couldn't even admit I had. It wasn't just that I wanted to see Haley with Travis. I wanted him to take her like the old days. I wanted him to use her like when she'd been a naïve coed learning the sexual ropes from an experienced, perverted mentor. I'd always enjoyed being rough with her, but seeing another man dominate her was so powerful. It was too powerful. I had to turn away and retreat into the dark bathroom as I grunted and had my release. Haley's sexual antics made me come like an over-sexed teenager. I left my mess on the floor.

Travis was fucking her mouth hard when I returned. Her fist was wrapped tightly around his base, the only thing preventing him from shoving his shaft all the way down her throat. Haley's spine was stiff and she gagged for air when he pushed into the back of her throat. Her body language may have suggested distress, and I would have stopped it if I had not seen her other hand was shoved down inside her unbuttoned jeans. Haley was as aroused as the rest of us. Travis and I weren't the only ones who were going to get off.

So many memories came rushing back. Haley would always play with herself when she went down on me back in the beginning. I'd never seen a girl do that, and I was mesmerized by it. It was also why I never lasted more than a couple minutes when she blew me. But now, on those lucky occasions when she does suck me, that doesn't happen. It was just another example of how we'd let the fire go. We had to get it back.

Haley moaned into that blowjob, and by the way she twisted and her body rocked I suspected she'd brought herself to orgasm. Travis figured it out too. He pushed his cock as deep as she'd allow and held it there. I don't know if she was choking or moaning more, but it seemed to prolong her climax as her face turned red.

"You were always fucking wild, baby," Travis moaned, speaking for both of us.

"Oh my god," she gasped, pushing him away and falling back onto the slanted bench, sucking in deep breaths. "You were always a bastard too," she moaned, smiling slightly.

"You love to be pushed. Don't even pretend otherwise."

Travis straddled her on the bench and bent at the knees, his thick cock lying on her chest. She looked up at him and laughed, pushing her tits together to embrace his prick. He was slick enough from her mouth that he had no trouble sliding his shaft between Haley's massive tits. Was it something he'd missed all these years? His wife Jenna was stunning, but she couldn't do this for him. I'd tried it with Haley once—only because she had such great breasts—but it didn't do much for me. I guess it's not my fetish. It certainly was his. Travis looked to be in heaven.

His hands covered hers, and he pushed her tits together tighter, pulling them higher. Haley tilted her head forward, and he was so big that his head popped into her sucking mouth every time he stroked up. It was a remarkable sight. My cock stirred. Watching Haley being titty fucked did more for me than doing it ever did.

"Fuck, baby. Fuck, baby," he grunted.

Travis stopped moving, except for a slight quake to his big frame, and his cock jerked, blasting ropes of cum into my wife's waiting mouth. One shot, two shots landed in her mouth, and a third caught her across the cheek. He stood and milked his prick, and the last of his load spurted onto her tits, leaving them dripping.

Haley laughed. "You always did love coming on me. I don't get it."

Travis needed a minute to gather himself and put his cock away, and then he answered her. "It's because you're so beautiful and so sweet-looking. It just seems wrong, which makes it so right."

"Well, thanks. It's a good thing there's a bathroom right here."

"You don't want to go back to your room like that?"

They both laughed.

“We need to do this again, sometime soon,” Travis said. He couldn’t look away from Haley. She still lay back on the bench, breasts exposed, covered in his mess. I couldn’t look away either.

“This wasn’t enough for you?”

“Never. And I know it’s not for you either.”

“But my husband is here. I doubt you’d feel the same if Jenna came to the wedding with you.”

“I’d figure out a way to keep her distracted.”

“Seriously, Travis. I think Matt might notice if I just disappear.”

“He seems like a nice guy. Maybe he won’t mind if we want to catch up.”

“He’s an amazing guy, but I’d never take advantage of him.”

“So why are you down here?”

It was a good question, since he didn’t know I was hiding just a few feet away. I wouldn’t believe Haley’s protests if I were him.

“Don’t make me regret this, Travis.”

“You know you want me.”

“There is so much more to this. You can’t even imagine.”

“Then tell me, Haley.”

Her eyes darted to me for a second. She had to stop doing that. “You couldn’t begin to understand. I will see if I can work something out, but I promise nothing. Be happy with what you got tonight.”

“I have faith. You’ll be mine this weekend.”

“Good night, Travis.”

He shook his head and left. The door had barely clicked shut when I came charging out of the bathroom. I wanted to jump all over Haley. I wanted to show her how incredibly hot she was, but I balked at kissing her with his cum on her face.

Haley stood from the bench and looked at me. I’d never seen her like that. She looked worried and helpless. Strong and excited. She looked desperate. When I was close enough, she grabbed me by the shirt. Her eyes searched mine frantically. I wanted to tell her how amazing she was—how proud I was.

“Matt...”

“Haley, honey. You were...”

“Please, Matt, fuck me. Please, baby,” she begged. “I need you. Now.”

She seemed so desperate I was almost too scared to do it. I wanted to hold her and reassure her. Tell her I loved her. But that wasn't what she wanted. It wasn't what she needed. She clawed at my pants, and when they were down she sat me hard on the bench. Haley wrestled off a boot and pulled her jeans down with her panties, kicking one leg off over her sock-clad foot. That was good enough for her to straddle me. I was coming up, but not quite there yet. I'm not a kid anymore and I can't get hard at will after already coming twice in an hour.

"I know you want me. I know it made you hot to see that," she cooed, stroking my shaft.

"You were perfect, Haley. God, I can't believe it."

"Show me, baby. Show me how much you liked it."

A little help was all I needed, and as soon as she felt I was back to full mast, Haley sank down onto me, her hands on my shoulders. I don't think I've ever felt her so wet. Her cunt gripped me and Haley rocked on my lap. I stared into her beautiful dark eyes, fiery with need and something else—fear? She bit her lower lip then her eyes fluttered as she softly moaned. I cupped her tits, pinching her nipples, while avoiding Travis's load on her chest. She gasped and gripped me tighter inside her.

"Oh god, Haley, he got you so excited, didn't he?" I groaned.

She nodded, still biting her lip.

"You sucked him so good, baby. You were so hungry for him. I knew that was what you wanted. I know you wanted his cock."

"Matt..."

My hands ran down her sides before holding onto her sweet, round butt. I used that butt to move her on me. Haley took the hint and started to move. She rode me slowly at first, like she was savoring my cock inside her, but then she quickened her pace. Her cheeks flushed. I knew that look. Haley needed to be fucked. She got herself off when she was sucking Travis, but she still needed a man inside her. I wondered if she wished it was him, but settled for me. I still wasn't convinced she would have resisted him if I wasn't there. If I hadn't been watching, it would be Travis she was riding in this hotel gym at this moment. Thinking of Haley helpless to resist him sent a jolt of energy through me, my cock surged inside her.

"Ohhh..." she cried out.

"I loved watching you. I loved how he used you..."

"Matt..."

“God, he came all over you, Haley. It was so fucking hot.”

“Was I a good...a good...a good slut...baby...” she moaned, bouncing faster on me. Her tits rocked against me, smearing his load on my shirt.

“The best, Haley. You’re amazing,” I grunted.

“It felt so wrong...”

“And you loved it...”

She nodded vigorously. “Mmmhmm...”

“Yeah, I could see it. You wanted to fuck him, didn’t you Haley?”

She stared at me, unsure. Her climax was coming quickly. It was all over her face.

“You want to fuck him don’t you Haley?”

She hesitated, then nodded.

“Don’t you, Haley,” I growled.

“Yes!” she cried. It was too damned loud for a hotel gym in the middle of the night, but neither of us worried about that. “Yes! I want him!”

“I knew it. I fucking knew it, Haley!”

“I’m a slut!” she cried.

“You’re a whore. You’re his whore!”

“Yes! His fucking whore, baby...”

“Haley...”

“Tell me you love me, Matt,” she begged. “Please!”

“I love you! You are my fucking world, Haley! I fucking love you!”

“Oh fuck! Oh fuck! I love you!” she howled.

Haley suddenly stopped moving and tremored in my arms with a high-pitched moan. As her cunt muscles fluttered around me, I came for the final time that night. My wonderful wife was coming in my arms, just minutes after sucking another man. I must be insane, because it was one of the most wonderful moments of my life. I can’t even explain the surge of energy and emotion that hit me. I did love Haley. I loved her more than ever.

“I love you, honey I love you so goddamned much,” I whispered to her, squeezing her tighter still. “I will love you forever.”

“Oh Matt, thank you, baby. Thank you so much.”

“Thank you, Haley.”

seven

I barely slept that night, but after all of her playing and the drinking, Haley passed right out when we went to bed. We didn't talk much about what had happened down in the gym, except to joke that the kid at the front desk was probably too busy watching us on the security camera and jerking off to come in to stop us. Haley took a shower when we returned to our room, and went directly to bed afterward.

The room was dimly lit by the light creeping around the edges of the curtain, and it was easy to see Haley and Travis together as I looked into those shadows. Visions of my wife grabbing his big cock were so vivid to me it was like I'd jumped in a time machine and was right back there in the gym. My cock stirred as I imagined them together, but I didn't jerk off—I was done for the night. In my imagination, they didn't stop at a blowjob, and Travis took her right on the bench in the gym, with Haley begging him to fuck her. In my fantasy, the twenty-something guy at the front desk was furiously masturbating while watching them. The fantasy brought back all of the anxiety and raw lust I'd felt watching them in real life. It made me question everything I'd thought about myself, but there was one thing I didn't doubt. I had to see more.

Haley stirred beside me as the morning light streamed in around the curtain. I closed my eyes and pretended to be asleep. I was tired, but wired, and didn't know what to say if she wanted to talk as soon as she woke. Haley is more of a morning person than I've ever been. Talking was not on her mind.

Her hand pushed inside my boxers, seeking my shaft. I was so oversexed that I responded immediately to her touch, but I still feigned sleep. She pulled back the sheets and pushed my boxers low enough that my cock popped free. Haley took me right into her mouth.

Memories came flooding back. Haley used to wake me like that all the time. She loved morning sex, and knowing I was not a morning person, she would go out of her way to get what she wanted. I never complained. Her warm, wet mouth was better than any alarm clock I'd ever owned. Haley just had to be careful not to be too good, or she'd get a mouthful of thick cum rather than the fucking she needed. When she was overly enthusiastic, she usually got the former, but it wasn't a bust. I was always happy to go down and return the favor. Like so many other things in our marriage, I couldn't remember how we'd gotten away from those happy mornings.

As I grew harder in her mouth, it was more difficult to pretend I was sleeping. My breathing became heavier and I shivered as the pleasure shot through my body. I had to react when her tongue bathed my cockhead and then slithered along my shaft as Haley slowly swallowed it. I slitted my eyes open and saw her head smoothly bobbing, her disheveled brown hair spread over my stomach and thighs. She teased my balls and I jumped. I heard a chuckle as she slipped her mouth off of me.

"I knew you were awake."

"I didn't want to interrupt you. It seemed like you were enjoying yourself."

"Until you come in my mouth, and then I'll miss out."

"When did I ever make you miss out, hon?"

I rolled Haley onto her back and tossed the covers off the foot of the bed as I yanked down her loose cotton pajama pants. Haley giggled at my sudden forcefulness. I crawled between her thighs, throwing her legs over my shoulders. The scent of her arousal filled my nostrils before I even touched her, quickening my heartbeat. Her lips were already dewy and swollen. Haley was ready for sex, and I hadn't even touched her. I knew it wasn't because of me. Her encounter with Travis was effecting her the same way it did me. I spread her lips and ran my tongue between them.

"Oh, Matt..." she moaned, shaking and staring down at me over the mounds of her breasts, which were restrained by a stretchy pink camisole.

I've always loved the way Haley tastes. The more I lick her and the more aroused she gets, the more I want to lick her. She tasted even sweeter that morning because her wetness was for Travis. I knew that made me insane, but I couldn't help it. I loved that my wife was enthralled with another man. It drove me crazy that she craved his big dick. My lips pressed to hers and I happily drank of her, my tongue flicking upward in search of the little bud of her clit. I lapped at her clit, and Haley jumped like she'd been shocked.

"Baby..."

I kept slurping away, sucking at her pussy and working my tongue in a crazy crisscross over her engorged clit. Haley twisted on the bed, and when

I looked up from my perch between her thighs, I saw she was mauling her tits, pulling her nipples through the camisole.

“Ohhh, baby...ohhh, yes...ohhh...yeah...yeah...Matt...yeah...”

Haley was easy. It felt like I’d only just started, but she was on the verge of climax already. I redoubled my efforts, easily pushing two fingers inside her and thrusting them hard.

“Ohhh...yeah...yeah...OH FUCK MATT!” she cried.

Haley locked her thighs around my head and twisted to the side, nearly ripping my head off. I licked and sucked at her gushing cunt, savoring every last drop. God, my wife was so sexy! I was so lucky. How could I keep such an incredible sexual creature to myself? That’s what was in my head anyway.

“Baby, baby. Come here. I need you,” she moaned, pulling at my shoulders.

I slid over her, my cock bouncing against her thighs. I was painfully hard. She grabbed my shaft and pressed it to her sex.

“Damn, Haley. You’re fucking crazy this morning,” I teased.

She smiled wickedly. “If you’re not up for it, I think I could find someone to take care of me in the hotel.”

“You could find lots of people, but there’s one particular person you have in mind.”

“You mean, a person you have in mind,” she taunted.

I rammed my cock inside her. Haley gasped and her legs wrapped around me. She gripped my back.

“You don’t want to fuck him?” I grunted, thrusting into her.

“Uhn...you want me to fuck him...”

“Because I know you want it...”

“Baby...

“Admit it...say it, Haley. Fucking say it!”

“You want it! You want to see Travis fuck me...ohhh...see him make me come...”

“Yes, dammit. I want you to fuck him, Haley! You’re a little slut...you need it!”

“I am! I’m a fucking whore! I need it! Fuck me, baby! Fuck me!” she cried, nails digging into my flesh.

Her legs were so tight around me that I could hardly move, but I was thrusting with all my might. My cock felt like it would explode at any second—this was too intense for me—but I was not going to come before she did. I knew Travis wouldn't. Travis would make her come over and over before he finally dropped his load—all over her slutty face. God, I was so wrong!

“You're gonna fuck him tonight, aren't you?”

“Yeah...fuck yeah...” Haley stared at me, the look in her eyes frightening. “You're going to let me slip away with him, aren't you?”

“Yes...”

“Let him fuck me right at the wedding...”

“Yes...”

“While you hide and watch us...”

“Yes...”

“I'll be such a good whore for you, baby...”

“God, you're such a whore...”

“I'm your whore, baby...”

“No, you're his!” I growled. “You're his fucking whore!”

“Yeah...oh fuck yeah...”

“Say it, Haley! Fucking say it!”

“I'm his whore! I'm Travis's fucking whore, baby!”

“Oh fuck, Haley...”

“Is that what you want?”

“Yes! Oh fuck me yes!”

“I'm his whore! Travis is going to fuck me so good tonight! Ohh... yes!”

The moment I was sure Haley was coming underneath me, I let go, burying my cock in my wife and collapsing on her. She hugged me tightly as she writhed and moaned beneath me. Her cunt worked my prick like she was desperate for every last drop of cum I had. My mind reeled. It had never been that intense before, but then when she used to tease me about what Travis did to her it was always about the past. It was always about the tramp she'd been back in college. But we were talking about Travis fucking her now. We were talking about Haley giving herself to him tonight, and it made me wild. My heart felt like it was going to explode out of my chest, and I felt nauseous, even as pleasure coursed through my body.

Haley didn't let me go when we were done, and her arms and legs remained locked around me. She was trembling.

“Is this really what you want?” she whispered in my ear.

I drew a deep breath. “Yeah, I think it is.”

“You can’t think. You have to know, Matt. We can’t even talk about this if you have any doubt.”

“Yes. I want it, Haley. I want this to happen.”

“You can’t even say it?”

I pulled back from Haley and stared down into her deep brown eyes. “I want you to fuck Travis this weekend.”

“All weekend?” She raised an eyebrow.

“Is that what you want?”

“I didn’t say I wanted any of this. We’re not talking about me right now.”

“We talked about this last night, Haley. I thought you wanted it too.”

Haley pushed me off of her, and I rolled onto my back beside her. She reached for a bottle of water she’d left on the nightstand before bed. She looked at me, her expression so serious, like she was evaluating me.

“We talked about dipping a toe in and seeing how it went,” she said.

“It seems to be going pretty well.” I laughed nervously.

“So you’re sure you can handle seeing me have sex with Travis now?”

“I am. I didn’t freak out and stop you last night, did I?”

“It didn’t bother you at all to see me with someone else? Really?”

“I didn’t quite say that, but—how I can say this—I think the little bit of panic is part of the excitement. It’s weird, I know.”

Haley laughed. “I’m not going to lie. It is a little weird to me. I don’t know why something upsetting would turn you on. I know I wouldn’t like seeing you with another woman, and the jealousy wouldn’t turn me on.”

“I know it’s freaky. You don’t think I’m a pervert do you?”

“I love you, Matt,” she said, taking my hand. “And that means I accept you, warts and all. I wouldn’t say you’re a pervert, but I don’t understand it. I don’t need to understand it to accept it, though. You’re just lucky you didn’t marry a lights out, missionary position girl.”

“I don’t think I could have. So you want to do this?”

“If I say no, are you okay with that?”

“Of course. I would never want to push you into anything, Haley. I want it to be exciting for both of us. If you’re just doing it so I get off, it’s not fun.”

“Is it just about Travis, or would you get off on me with any guy? What if I grabbed one of the waiters at the wedding?”

“That would be hot. That would be really hot, but I don’t know if it would be the same. Your history with Travis, and the hold he has over you, it’s hotter because of that. It’s hot knowing you can’t control yourself around him.”

“That was a long time ago, Matt. I’m not the girl who acts without thinking anymore.”

“I think Travis still has your number. I could see it in your body language last night. You didn’t want to stop him when he tried to fuck you.”

“Maybe you were seeing what you wanted to see. We had a deal, and I was not going to break it.”

“It was that easy?”

Haley sighed. She pushed up off the bed and sat propped up on the pillows. I turned onto my side to face her, head on my hand. I could see she was calculating her answer, but she didn’t need to. I wanted the unvarnished truth.

“I can’t believe you want to hear this stuff. I never want to hear you talk about another woman like this,” she said.

“Just humor me. It’s all good.”

“No, Matt, it wasn’t easy. The moment he touched me, my head was spinning. It felt like my past and present were colliding. It was so strange, like no time had passed. Kissing Travis is just as exciting as it was back in college, but that’s weird. It shouldn’t be. We’re both grown-ups now.”

“Chemistry is chemistry, honey.”

“I know, but that makes it scary. If all those feelings came rushing back so fast, how easy would it be to fall right back into those old patterns? You didn’t know me then. When I was with him, nothing else mattered. I just wanted to be with him and have a good time. Whenever Travis was around, I just wanted to fall into bed with him—or onto the nearest horizontal surface. You hear the stories, and it’s just crazy, kinky sex to you, and it turns you on, but it’s not abstract for me. I got away from him because I needed to.”

“But you said it, you’re not the same crazy girl you were back then. You’re older and wiser. And you said last night that you would never do anything to jeopardize our marriage, so I’m not worried you’re going to leave us to become his mistress.”

“Watch it with the older stuff.” She elbowed me. “No, I’m not going to leave you to be his mistress, but what if I like the thrill too much?”

“You can always go visit him,” I joked. “He’s only a few hours away.”

“You’d be okay with that?” She sounded surprised.

Did she think I was serious? Was that something Haley would even do? I tried to imagine Haley going away for the weekend to see her lover, while I stayed home and played Mr. Mom. Haley being his for the whole weekend made my heart race. God, what insane things would he get my wife to do if she was in his hands for a couple days. I thought about Travis sharing her with his friends again, and it made me woozy. She was worried that she might become addicted to this, but I realized there was a very real possibility that I could too. Giving Haley to Travis like that certainly wasn’t healthy, but it would be damn thrilling.

“That’s probably not a good idea. You should probably find a lover closer to home.” I hoped I sounded lighthearted.

“I think you enjoy this a little too much.”

Did she see through me? I turned the focus back on her. “You still want to fuck him. You’re just worried you want it too much. That’s the problem, isn’t it?”

Haley laughed musically. “It just sounds silly when you put it that way.”

“Travis lives hours away. He’s married. After this wedding, you’ll probably never see him again. I know you’re worried about your history, but if we were ever going to do something like this, this is probably the safest way. There’s no nerves about finding someone, there’s no worry if there’ll be chemistry.”

“It’s funny how you talk like this was inevitable, like it’s something we’re destined to do.”

“It’s an incredible fantasy for me, Haley. And I know it’s exciting for you—despite your fears. I know you like how he makes you feel.”

Haley smiled. “It’s such a rush. I’d forgotten the raw energy I got from being so reckless. Anyone could have walked in on us! I’m a married woman, but I went down on another man in a public place! It’s madness!”

“Think how much more exciting it will be to fuck him like that. The reception is going on all around you, but there you are, secreted away with him, can’t keep your hands to yourself.”

“Stop making it sound so good!”

“So we’re going to do this?” I asked expectantly.

“I don’t think we’re doing anything, are we? I’m the one doing this. You’re just going to be watching.”

“You know what I mean.” I knew Haley didn’t mean it as a dig, but it felt that way.

“I still reserve the right to back out. If this doesn’t feel right for any reason...”

“Of course!”

“And there has to be a place we can do this. I do not want to go off and be alone with him.”

“That’s what I want too.” I tried to keep my excitement tamped down.

“We’ll go to the wedding and see what happens,” she said, her voice wavering between excitement and doubt.

“That’s all I ask.” That may have been all I was asking for, but I knew it wasn’t all that was going to happen.

eight

I was eager to get out the door and over to the wedding, but Haley took her time getting ready. I think she was just torturing me. We planned to be there early, so we could scope out the place. There was a shuttlebus running between the Kingston Country Club and the hotel, but since we were going early—and I still didn't want to drive—we were going to take an Uber over—if Haley ever finished getting ready.

Haley insisted on fully getting ready in the bathroom, not even dressing in front of me. She told me, "I had some surprises in store for you, but I guess they are for Travis now." She knew the comment was twisting the knife—in the best possible way. When she finally emerged from the bathroom, she was gorgeous. The black fit & flare dress had a subtle lace pattern and hugged her big tits beautifully, while flaring out at the hips to a loose skirt that fell an inch or two above the knee. Cut-outs on the shoulders made me wonder why I wasn't seeing bra straps. Haley looked awesome, but all I could think about was what surprises awaited under the dress, and whether they had really been planned for me, or if she always had Travis in mind when picking her outfit for the wedding.

She did a quick twirl for me and the dress rose enough to reveal one of the surprises when I saw the lacy tops of her thigh-high stockings, attached to garter straps. My cock throbbed in my pants, and I felt a stab of jealousy that Travis was going to be the one enjoying her later. She knew I loved those, but hardly ever wore them anymore. I took a step toward her, reaching, but Haley smacked my hand away.

"Stop, Matt. I can't have you messing me up before Travis sees me."

Haley laughed, and I realized she was enjoying this too much. She had a delightful twinkle in her eyes I hadn't seen in so long. Her hair was elaborately done, half up-half down, revealing emerald earrings, and her makeup was dramatic. She'd pulled out all the stops—for Travis. A short strand of tiny pearls hung right at the halter neckline of her dress. They had been a gift for our fifth wedding anniversary.

"It's not fair, honey. You look so damned hot." My dick twitched when I thought about how Travis would react upon seeing her.

“I put a lot of effort into getting ready for tonight. I can’t have you undoing it all in five minutes.” She sat on the end of the bed and slipped on black pumps.

I chuckled. “I doubt it would take five minutes, not right now.”

She smiled up at me and rubbed the tented front of my suit pants. “Poor baby. Are you going to be able to handle this?”

“I already feel like I’m losing my mind. It’s going to be incredible,” I replied. She kept rubbing and I shivered.

“But you can’t walk around with a hard-on all night.”

“I can’t help it.”

Haley smiled wickedly, her lips a deep red, and reached for my belt. “I guess I can always re-do my lipstick before we go.”

~ ~ ~

We arrived at the Kingston Country Club slightly delayed, but still had forty-five minutes before the wedding to wander around. The grounds were massive, containing a complete 18-hole golf course, tennis courts and a nice outdoor pool, which was closed despite the unusually warm fall. The country club was incredibly posh and not the type of place Haley and I are used to. It looked like a movie set of a country club. We didn't go into the golf clubhouse, but could see it held a pro shop, locker rooms, and most importantly a bar. Another, newer building, held a spa center and a gym. That looked promising if it would be deserted after hours. We just had to find a spot where both I could watch in secret, and they would be undisturbed.

The main building was a Georgian revival mansion, with lots of heavy stone and a beautiful patio and gardens in the rear, which was where the ceremony would take place. Inside, was a restaurant, main ballroom, and several smaller ballrooms. The country club could host several events simultaneously. Not all of the rooms were in use that day, which left open possibilities. Perhaps I could secret myself into the shadows and Travis would never realize I was there. It would be darker than I'd like—not the perfect view I had in the hotel gym—but I'd have to make do with what was available.

Haley's nerves crackled off her like static electricity, while I started at every little sound and unexpected motion. I wanted her to talk through her feelings with me, but she mostly kept her own council. She probably thought her darker, sexier thoughts would be too much for me, but they were exactly what I wanted to hear. I could tell she was relieved when we returned to the site of the ceremony. She could put her mind on something else.

I saw Travis arrive first. His suit was similar to mine, dark gray with a crisp white shirt, but his looked more expensive and his tie was a brighter, more adventurous color than mine. His suit was also obviously tailored to his gym-toned body, while mine was off the rack. I hastily excused myself with a lame excuse so Travis could approach Haley without me there.

I watched from the rear of the patio while Travis joined Haley and Carol, chatting with the ladies. Carol had her tits—smaller than Haley's—pushed together and on display with a low neckline, but Travis focused all his attention on my wife, despite her more modest outfit. Haley had added a black sweater to her sexy little dress, making it even more reserved than it really was. She looked stiff in Travis's presence, and I wondered if she was worried Carol would pick up on something between them. She visibly relaxed when Carol excused herself.

Travis moved in closer to my wife and spoke close to her ear. Haley smiled, and I swear she blushed at whatever he said. He had to be commenting on their tryst in the gym. I was dying to know what they were talking about, but I am no expert lip reader. My imagination tried to fill in the blanks.

"I thought about you all night. Last night was hot, Haley," Travis said. He leaned into her, with a hand on Haley's hip.

"It was fun, but I can't believe we did that," Haley replied, embarrassed.

"You look incredible, babe. I can't wait to sneak off with you again."

"Thanks, but don't get crazy. There are so many people around. You look good too, by the way."

"Are we still playing this game? You know you want this, Haley. You don't have to pretend anymore."

"I'm not pretending, Travis. We can't get caught."

"We're not going to get caught, babe."

"How many times have you told me that?"

"We only got caught when you wanted us to. You liked getting caught."

Haley smiled. "I'm not that crazy anymore. Neither one of us can afford to get caught. I'm sure you don't want Jenna to know what you're up to. And my husband is right over there."

Haley glanced toward me, but Travis did not. I understood why he would avoid acknowledging me, considering he was trying to fuck my wife. His hand remained on her hip, and they were so close her tits kept brushing his chest. I wanted to read her mind. I had never felt so conflicted. I loved the idea of Haley dying to give herself to her old boyfriend, but at the same time I wanted her to be conflicted. I wanted her loyalty to me to at least slow her down and make her think about what she was doing. I knew from our conversation she had concerns, but in my pervy mind I imagined that all of those reservations melted away when Travis came around—Haley couldn't tell him no.

"We'll wait until a little later. Everyone will be drunk, it'll be easy to get lost in the crowd," Travis insisted.

"It's so dangerous."

"You get off on the danger, babe. You haven't changed that much, or last night wouldn't have happened." He moved even closer. They looked like a couple, and not for the first time that weekend. Travis had no shame about getting close to her in front of everyone. Haley only stopped him when his hand moved toward her ass. My mouth was dry as I watched them. They were cheek to cheek when he spoke again.

"Stop playing games, Haley. We both know I'm going to fuck you tonight."

Haley shivered. So did I. She swallowed hard before replying. "We'll see what happens. We'll figure it out."

Travis looked triumphant, and I decided it was time for my return. I crossed the short distance, and Travis started when I spoke his name. Maybe he wasn't so comfortable being around the man he was trying to cuckold. Haley jumped too, guiltily stepping away from her lover. Was that for show, or a genuine reaction? There were so many layers to this that it made my head spin.

"There you are," he said, giving me the he-man handshake again. I was prepared this time, and gave as good as I got.

"Yeah, just had to duck away for a minute. I left Haley with Carol, but thanks for keeping her company," I said.

"Anytime, man. I always love being around Haley."

"Who doesn't?" I felt like I was grinning like an idiot.

"Sorry you had to turn in so early last night. Hope you're not too hung over."

"Don't worry, I'm rested and ready for tonight."

"Good, man. You missed all the fun last night. This one gets a little crazy when she gets a few drinks in her," Travis said, nudging Haley. Like he had to tell me about my own wife.

"I've seen it, believe me."

"I'm standing right here guys," Haley interjected.

"It was nice to see last night that you haven't missed a step. You're still the same girl I remember from college," Travis said.

"I don't think that's true. I could get a little out of hand back then. I'm a respectable woman now."

“I don’t know. I think the same old Haley is in there. What do you think, Matt?”

“I like to think people don’t change, not really. If there was a wild and crazy Haley back then, I think she’s still in there, just waiting to break out,” I said.

“That’s what I think, too,” Travis agreed. “Maybe you’ll let her come out and play tonight.”

Confidence came off him in waves. He could sense Haley’s discomfort as well as I could, and he enjoyed toying with her. I couldn’t say I blamed him. I was enjoying seeing her squirm too.

“Why not?” I suggested. “I’d hate to think I missed all the fun last night, like Travis said.”

“I have a reputation to think of, guys,” Haley replied, shooting looks at both of us before turning to me. “You don’t want people talking about me, do you?”

“I trust you to be discreet,” I said.

“I guess I’ll catch up with you guys at the reception. We’ll get a few drinks into Haley and see what happens,” Travis said.

“Haha,” Haley replied.

Travis gave her a quick embrace, and Haley leaned up to peck him on the cheek. He went off to find a seat, while Haley pulled me down to sit in the closest seats to us. I was feeling pretty good, but she did not look amused.

“What the hell do you think you’re doing?” Haley said, in a low, tight voice.

“Just having a little fun. I don’t want that cocky bastard thinking I’m some weakling he’s getting one over on.”

“So you want him to know that you’re cool with him fucking me?”

“Of course not.”

“Then what the hell are you doing?” She slapped my arm.

“He’s not going to figure it out from that. Travis doesn’t look that smart.”

“He’s pretty devious, Matt. He always has been. Travis is going to enjoy playing with you, but if he sucks you in he’s going to sense something is off.”

“Maybe he should know I’m okay with it. Maybe he shouldn’t think I’m some weak cuckold.”

“Do you really want that?”

Haley sounded shocked—more shocked than I expected. It made me wonder what she really thought of my weird, voyeuristic fetish.

“I don’t know. He’s married, who’s he going to tell? He’s actually got more to lose than we do. I guess you don’t want him to know?”

“I hadn’t even thought about it. I was sure you wanted to keep it secret, and I get it. This isn’t the sort of thing you want getting around. People don’t announce they’re swingers, do they?”

“Are we swingers? I thought swingers swapped with other couples. That’s not what we’re doing here.”

“Is it something you’re interested in?”

I was about to answer when someone walked by, so I waited for them to pass. I didn’t want anyone overhearing our crazy conversation. It was insane we were having the conversation there as we waited for the wedding ceremony to begin. We spoke in hushed tones, but still there was no one close enough to overhear so far. However, the clock was ticking.

“No. I can honestly say I’ve never thought about that. I don’t feel any need to sleep with other women. This is really all about you for me.”

“Are you sure? If I do this, I’d be a hypocrite to say you couldn’t sleep with someone else if you wanted to, but you know how I feel about that. It would kill me.”

“But it’s not like that. I’m not looking for that. This is about seeing you doing something wild,” I insisted.

“With Travis.”

“Yeah, with Travis. What are you asking?”

Haley eyed me warily. “I don’t know. I’m just worried you’re going to like this so much you’re going to want a repeat performance—if not with Travis, then with someone else.”

“I don’t think it would be the same seeing you with some other guy. Part of it is about your history with Travis.”

“It wouldn’t be the same, but would you want it? Are we going to go home swingers?”

“It’s not just about what I want. Maybe you’d want that too,” I countered.

“I don’t know. This is so overwhelming. I don’t know if I can see myself going to a club to pick up men for you to watch me with. I don’t think that’s me.”

“Then let’s just have fun this weekend and worry about all this later. Why are we even talking about it?”

“Because I thought maybe you wanted to open this up and let Travis know,” Haley said.

“Even if I wanted to, it doesn’t sound like you’re okay with that. I guess you’re embarrassed?”

“I don’t know, Matt. We need to stop talking about this. It was all exciting and hot before, but the more we talk about it, the more it confuses things. I think you’re right. We just need to see how this weekend goes and then see where we are.” She gave my hand a hard squeeze.

We had barely ended our conversation when we were joined by Ken and Cynthia. Cynthia looked lovely in a floral tank dress that showed off her fit body, without being too daring. I hoped they weren’t standing behind us for too long. That was not a conversation I wanted to explain.

“Is everything okay?” Cynthia asked. “You two look awfully serious. This is a wedding. We’re supposed to be having fun.”

“We’re good. Nothing to worry about,” Haley quickly replied, plastering a smile on her face.

“You feeling better?” Ken asked me.

“Yeah, I was just tired from the drive last night. I hear I missed a lot of excitement.”

“Everyone was drinking and getting a little loud, but I don’t know if you missed anything too exciting,” Ken said.

“You probably would have been bored, like Ken, if you stayed,” Cynthia said.

Ken laughed. “I didn’t think it was boring. I haven’t seen you that drunk in years.”

“Yeah, it was good to see you cut loose,” Haley said, nudging her friend.

“You were so loose, I’m surprised you noticed,” Cynthia said.

“I wasn’t that bad,” Haley insisted.

The skeptical look on the other couple’s faces made me wonder just what happened in the bar last night, but it couldn’t have been worse than what I saw with my own eyes, could it? I’d have to corner Ken later and ask him what he saw.

The rest of the guests were seated, and the ceremony started shortly after that. A string quartet played while the bride was escorted down the aisle by her father. Paula looked stunning. Her gown was off the shoulder and daringly low-cut, with a panel of mesh that did nothing to hide her ample cleavage. She looked every inch the perfect bride, and her husband-to-be was a lucky man. There were tears as the couple exchanged their vows, including from my soft-hearted wife.

I looked through the crowd during the ceremony and saw that Travis had found a seat from which he could watch Haley. We locked eyes once when he glanced over at Haley, and he surprised me by not looking away. He was a bold bastard. I fought the urge to look away myself, and held his gaze. He smirked and finally looked back to the ceremony. Perhaps Haley was right, and Travis had figured out something about us.

After the ceremony, everyone moved onto a cocktail hour while the wedding party took photographs. I expected Travis to make a beeline for us, but he stayed on the other side of the crowd and talked to a couple of the old college crowd, while Haley and I stayed talking to some of the others. It was nice to be distracted from our evil plan for a little bit, but it was still on Haley's mind. It was her turn to continually glance Travis's way, eager to keep tabs on her lover. I smiled wryly when I saw she was none-too-pleased to see him chat up a busty blonde who also appeared to be at the wedding solo.

The group gradually moved onto one of the ballrooms for the reception. Haley and I made our way down the hallway, chatting with Ken and Cynthia, but I looked to all those doors off the hallway, seeing places my wife could sneak away with her old college flame. I was so distracted I almost walked into a wall.

We were seated at the requisite round banquet table with other couples Haley knew from college. The large, but tasteful, centerpiece kept us from communicating effectively with people on the other side of the table, but Ken and Cynthia ended up right beside us. Travis was not at our table. He was relegated to the singleton table, but he didn't seem to mind as he was seated beside the blonde he'd been chatting up during the cocktail hour. She was even sexier up close—I noted as we passed—and younger than any of us. She could not have been older than her mid-twenties.

Haley's displeasure with Travis's new companion grew by the moment, and she was so distracted that I was afraid others might notice. At first, I was pleased by her jealousy and competitiveness with the blonde stranger. It showed just how much she wanted Travis, which really got my juices flowing. Haley might even go the extra mile later to prove to him she still had it. I never once considered that Travis would blow off my wife for his new friend. However, I did begin to worry that Haley would become so annoyed with his games that she would blow Travis off. That would not do. I had to give Travis room to work on my wife, which meant I'd have to do a lot of mingling elsewhere. Luckily, there was room at the bar for me to lean an elbow.

I waited an acceptable amount of time before making my move, and chatted with Haley's friends like everything was normal. Haley made it easy to excuse myself as she worked her way through her first couple glasses of wine rather quickly. Each time I went to fetch a fresh round, I kept an eye out, but Travis didn't approach Haley. He stayed at the singleton table and chatted with the blonde's cleavage. I began to think Haley should have shown more of her fabulous tits, but she was not going to dress like a tramp around her friends. Her dress was sexy, but more than acceptable.

Dinner was served, and Travis still kept his distance. I slowed our drinking as I didn't want Haley to get sloppy drunk, and if I kept hitting the Jack and Coke's at the rate she was drinking her wine I'd be on the floor. We both needed to get some food into us, but I was so nervous I picked at my steak, while Haley hardly touched her chicken. But she did slow down on the wine, perhaps sensing she needed to keep her wits about her. Haley was tipsy enough to be fun and daring, but not hammered enough to embarrass herself. It was her sweet spot.

The toasts and first dances came, and after that the party really got underway. The eight-piece wedding band did a good job of keeping things moving and people out on the dance floor. The music was a combination of standards, classic pop, and a smattering of contemporary hits. With people up and away from their tables, I took my leave to go and mingle. Haley didn't question it when I excused myself, as she was talking to her friends. I floated around the edges of the reception and eventually made my way to the bar, where I ordered a fresh Jack and Coke. My buzz was starting to wear off.

The bar gave me a good vantage point from which to watch the reception. Travis kept busy with the blonde for a while, but after a couple dances he excused himself from her and took a quick look around to locate Haley. I thought he'd make a beeline straight for her, but instead he diverted to the bar. He asked for two flutes of champagne, and when he turned he seemed surprised to find me there.

“Hey, Matt. Topping off your drink?”

“Yeah. You know how these things are when you’re not really part of the core group. After all these years I start to glaze over when I hear stories of the college glory days. I guess you had to be there,” I replied.

“I see what you mean, but I always find a way to have fun. Jenna always makes sure to keep me entertained.” He gave me a knowing grin.

“It’s a shame she’s not here with you. So the fires are still burning hot?”

“Of course, man. I don’t think my fire’s ever going to burn out. Don’t tell me you and Haley let it sputter out.”

“We’ve been together over ten years, you know how that goes, but we’ve still got the fire. It’s actually been burning hotter than ever lately.” I stood a little straighter, feeling the sudden need to show Travis I was as capable of making Haley happy as he was. But was I? Did I really bring out that wild, out-of-control side of her?

“Yeah? Good for you guys. Anticipating the wedding must have Haley thinking of the old days,” Travis said.

“Like I said, that’s all they’re talking about, the college glory days.”

“Heh, heh. Haley’s got some good stories, if she’s willing to share them.”

“Oh yeah?”

“I’m sure they aren’t news to you, right? You must have heard everything after all these years, right?”

Travis was testing me. He wanted to know if Haley had been completely honest with me about her trappy exploits in college. It would probably be a small victory for him if I had been kept in the dark all these years—thinking my wife was one woman, when in the past she’d almost been someone else. Maybe he wanted to stir up trouble and drop some knowledge on me about my own wife. He wasn’t going to get the satisfaction.

“Haley’s told me all about her college days. We don’t have any secrets.”

“That’s great.”

“I know you two were together in college,” I said.

“I hope you’re cool with me hanging out this weekend. I don’t want you...”

I cut him off. “I’m totally cool. I know it was intense between you two, but that was a long time ago.”

“Right.”

“She’s married, you’re married. I think it’s great you two have the chance to catch up this weekend,” I said, forcing a smile. I hoped I didn’t sound too upbeat and phony.

Travis clapped me hard on the shoulder. “That’s great, man. Everyone should be as open as you. I never got the jealousy thing. A woman doesn’t belong to you, right? Even though Jenna’s my wife, she’s not my possession. I didn’t feel like I owned Haley back in school. She was always free to do what she wanted. I don’t believe in limits.”

“That’s what she’s told me.”

“No one can steal a woman, am I right? She’s only going to go if she wants to.”

“You’re right. We’re on the same page, Trav.”

“I like you, man. I hope we get to hang out. But speaking of Haley, I was going to go over and see what the gang is up to.” He gave me a questioning look, calling my bluff.

“Go for it. I’ll be around,” I replied. I wasn’t bluffing. Little did he know; this was exactly what I wanted. The weekend was going according to my crazy plan.

Travis took up the two flutes of champagne and went over to Haley and her friends. One of those flutes was for her, of course. He knew—just as well as I did—that keeping Haley tipsy was the key to getting her really wild. If only he knew he didn’t have to work so hard.

I watched Travis and my wife together from the bar. It was a repeat of the night before in many ways. He was overly familiar with her, casually touching Haley as they spoke, even putting his arm around her waist several times. Unlike the night before, Haley did not stiffen or seem uncomfortable at all. With his arm around her, Haley melted against him. I could only imagine what their friends thought as they seemed more and more like the couple attending the wedding together. I knew there would be pitying thoughts about me—the poor, clueless husband—but I didn’t care, because I knew the payoff would be worth it. Besides, we rarely saw any of these people anyway, and they weren’t my friends.

They placed their glasses on a table and Travis led Haley out onto the dance floor. I was surprised it took him so long to get her away from the others. Haley had always loved to dance, and could make quite a spectacle of herself when she was younger. When we were young and dating, she particularly enjoyed rubbing all over me as I gamely did my best to keep up with her, and I enjoyed seeing the other men jealously watching her. Now it was my turn to watch.

The song was some dance number from the 90s. That wasn't my kind of music, so I didn't recognize the tune, but Travis and Haley moved to it like they were right back at a frat party. She had never mentioned he was such a good dancer. Their dancing was sexy, but not out-of-place for the wedding. Haley is past her days of wanting to be the center of attention like that, but they did draw notice from their friends. I watched them, but tried not to be too obvious about it. Their bodies came together here and there as they moved to the beat, and I imagined if it was twenty years ago Haley would be plastered onto Travis.

The music shifted to a song I did recognize, Don't Speak, by No Doubt, and I had a jangling thought at the back of my brain that Don't Speak was a song that had special meaning for Haley and Travis. They didn't move off of the dance floor, but instead she moved into his arms and they began slow dancing, like several other couples around them.

I knew that in my fevered mind it looked more intimate than it was. They weren't making out in front of everyone, and Travis kept his hands off Haley's naughty bits, but to me there was a crackling energy between them. I had to keep half-turned toward the bar to hide the painful erection in my pants. They became closer as the song went on, with Haley's head on his broad chest and his hand just above the swell of her ass. I knew that would get tongues wagging—they probably already were, but I was laser-focused on my wife and Travis. It was like no one else was in the room. I was so locked into them that I jumped when Ken put his hand on my shoulder.

"Hey sorry, Matt. Didn't mean to scare you," Ken said. He followed my eyeline and added, "Oh, right. Yeah."

I got my head right and said, "No, it's cool. They're just dancing, right?" There was a tone in my voice that I'm sure he mistook for concern and jealousy.

"Yeah, it's just dancing," he agreed.

We were both quiet for a moment, watching Haley and Travis together on the dance floor, and then Ken spoke.

“Listen, I don’t want to get you alarmed. I didn’t even want to say anything, but Cynthia really thinks I should tell you, so here I am.”

“Ken, chill out. What’s up?”

“Are you guys okay? You and Haley, I mean.”

“I figured. We’re fine. Just say whatever you need to say.”

“Like I said, I don’t think it means anything—everyone had too much to drink, and you know how that gets—but last night...”

I fixed my sights squarely on Ken. “Did something happen between Haley and Travis after I left?”

“I don’t know, not for sure.”

I thought she had been honest with me about Travis the night before. Haley didn’t need to hide anything from me, but had she been playing me all along? Was that kiss in the parking lot the first time they were together? How did I know they didn’t sneak out the back of the bar and fuck in an alley? Was there even an alley behind the bar? My mind was spinning off in crazy directions, and that sick feeling in the pit of my stomach was back with a vengeance. What if I was the world’s biggest fool? It didn’t matter if I was into this if Haley had been manipulating me from the beginning. I told myself she would never do that, but she had been doing a lot of impossible things lately.

“What did you see?” I asked.

“It’s not that they did anything—not anything obvious—but at the bar last night they were hanging all over each other, and it wasn’t just him. I’m sure he got a grope or two in, but Haley didn’t seem to mind, and she was hanging on him just as much. I think maybe if we weren’t all there they might have...”

“I see. I know Haley can get a little overly friendly, shall we say, when she drinks. She probably liked the attention from her old boyfriend, but I’m confident she knows where the line is. Haley would never do anything to jeopardize our marriage. I just can’t believe she would. I guess what she did wasn’t cool, but it’s not the end of the world.”

“I didn’t mean to start anything, man,” Ken hastily added.

“No, I get it.”

“I’d want someone to tell me, that’s all.”

“I know. Listen, Ken, it’s cool. I have a confession to make anyway. It’s kind of hot that Travis still wants Haley, don’t you think? It’s hot that he wants her, but I have her.”

“Really?”

“Don’t you think? Isn’t there some part of you that likes it when Cynthia draws an admiring glance? You must be proud you have a hot wife.”

“I guess so, yeah. I appreciate that Cynthia’s kept herself in good shape.”

“You had the good fortune to marry a yoga teacher, my friend.”

“I see your point. It would be cool if I knew some guy was into her, but I don’t think I’d like it if he was hanging all over her.”

“What if all that flirting sent her home to you on fire? Like all worked up? You get the benefit.”

Ken thought about it. I was trying to feel him out—to see if he was like me at all—but I could tell this was not something he’d ever considered. Or he was very good at hiding it.

“I get what you’re saying. And thinking about it is sexy, but I don’t know. You’re not jealous at all?”

“A little, sure. I’m human. But there’s still something sexy about it to me.”

Our conversation stalled there. Ken was probably trying to figure out what was wrong with me. He fetched refills for himself and Cynthia. After he excused himself I looked to the dance floor to find my wife and Travis, but they weren’t there. My pulse raced. I scanned the crowd in the ballroom. I still didn’t see them. I moved around the reception, but they were nowhere to be found. My heart was pounding. Haley wasn’t supposed to slip away without me. I felt myself sweating as I realized I had no control of the situation. I pulled my phone from my pocket, and at that moment it buzzed in my hand. It was a text.

[Haley] Travis wanted to go for a walk. We ended up in the spa. Are u joining us?

[Me] are you getting a couple’s massage?

[Haley] it’s closed, but the door was unlocked. It’s all dark. No one’s back here

[Me] where will I find you?

[Haley] go in past the desk and to the right. There are a couple rooms with small Jacuzzis all the way in the back. We're in the left one. I'm in the bathroom. I have to get back to him.

[Me] I'll be right there

ten

I stared at the phone in my hand and re-read our brief text conversation. After all the talking we'd done, and what I'd seen the night before, and Travis hanging all over my wife, I still had trouble believing Haley was going to do this—that we were doing this. Fear struck me like a heart attack, and I was short of breath. I couldn't go through with it. It was insane. How could I let my wife fuck another man—especially a stud like Travis? I was out of my mind! I was surely going to lose her! I forced air into my lungs and stuffed the phone back into my pocket. I downed the rest of my drink and dashed out of the reception.

I was like a teenager again, trying to sneak out of the house—except that I was trying to sneak into somewhere this time. My nervousness crept over my skin like an army of ants. It felt like if someone caught me surreptitiously slipping into the spa they would know everything and we'd be exposed. That was silly, but there was a real worry that if I was caught and redirected that I would miss out on my chance to witness Haley and Travis together.

The glass-plate front doors to the spa area were unlocked and after I slipped through I darted to the side, worried someone would come down the hallway and see me inside. It was startlingly quiet inside, which made the soft spa music seem like it was blasting. I don't know what I expected to hear—Haley screaming while Travis fucked her—but I heard nothing.

I navigated my way around the reception desk and down a dark hallway. I lifted my phone and used its glow to make sure I didn't trip over anything. At the end, the hall forked, and I forgot which direction Haley told me to go. I went to the right and found a heavy door with a large glass panel that had closed blinds hanging on the inside. I paused with my hand on the door handle. We hadn't discussed a game plan. I had no idea what I was walking into. Where was I expected to hide? I didn't want to just stride into the room to see Travis on top of Haley. I almost texted her again, but I knew I wouldn't get a response.

The door eased open quietly as I applied pressure. It was quite heavy, so I could understand why I didn't hear anything behind it. Even with the door open, I didn't hear anything, and the room was silent, except for that nondescript spa music that floated in the background. I peeked around the edge and saw nothing, so I pushed the door open. The little room was dark and empty.

I'd never seen anything like it, but I'm not a regular customer of upscale spas. A Jacuzzi was sunk into the floor, with a raised lip around it, and a railing to safely enter it. The Jacuzzi looked like it would comfortably handle three people at the most. A marble shower stall was sunk into the opposite wall. A chaise lounge was angled in one corner, and there was a daybed against the wall opposite the Jacuzzi. A little refrigerator hummed in the darkness. Travis and Haley weren't there. I also didn't see anywhere in the little room where I'd be able to hide. What was Haley thinking?

I left that room and followed the hallway to the other end. The blinds in that door were open, and I caught movement through them. Standing outside the door, I swore I heard hushed voices, maybe Haley's musical giggle, but as I strained all I heard was that terrible spa music. I crouched down and peered between the blinds.

Haley and Travis stood beside the daybed, locked in a tight embrace. Her back was to me, and one knee was on the daybed. His hands roamed her body, spending a lot of time focused on her round ass. I heard nothing through the door. Travis pulled out her dress, exposing her stocking tops and garter straps to me. Did he realize yet that she was wearing them?

Travis pulled at the zipper on the back of her dress. It was shiny silver, and ran all the way down to the swell of her butt. The zipper reached its terminus, and he stuffed his hand inside it to grab her ass. Haley pushed into him. Body language told me she was kissing him even harder, and she held him tighter. Travis pulled at her shoulders, but the dress was tight enough that it didn't just fall away. She stepped back from him, and while he watched, Travis shed his jacket and tossed it onto the daybed.

Haley pulled the dress down, and then she wiggled her hips until it dropped to the tile floor. Her ass was nearly bare—framed by the garter straps, cheeks split by barely-there black t-back panties. That butt looked incredible. My jaw dropped. It appeared she wore some kind of bustier thing, part of her back was sheathed in a black garment with a deep blue floral pattern, but it was difficult to tell from the rear. I heard a murmur of Travis's voice, followed by her musical laugh, but I couldn't tell what he said. My frustration bloomed.

They stood apart for several moments, and Travis reached out to touch her. I couldn't see what he was doing to my wife, but it made her squirm and shift in her heels, while looking up at him. I guessed his hands were on her tits, and the way she started made me think he was a bit rough.

Haley reached for him. My limited view was so frustrating, but I could see that she was undressing him. His tie was cast aside, and she unbuttoned his shirt. She pushed it open and leaned forward. Travis cradled her head while she kissed his chest. It looked like she was spending time teasing his nipples, and I saw him shudder. Haley's tried that with me over the years, but it's never been something I enjoyed. Did she learn that move from him? I wondered what other things my wife did with me in bed that she learned from her old boyfriend.

As my jealousy mounted, my cock grew harder. It was confusing, but I went with the conflicting emotions. I was past questioning every weird feeling I had when seeing my wife with another man. I just accepted that I was different from other men, and these extreme things turned me on. Luckily for me, I was married to a woman who would indulge me. Yeah, lucky for me. It didn't look like Haley was doing any of this for me. She was deeply in thrall to Travis.

Travis sat Haley on the daybed. He was taking control, like he had in the gym. Now I had a decent view. I could see my wife in profile. She was sultry in a bustier that pushed her tits right out. The garter straps came right off the bustier, attaching to her thigh highs. That was all supposed to be for me—so she said—and now it was all for Travis. At least he seemed to appreciate it. He stared at her like he couldn't believe his luck, and seeing his lust for my wife made me dizzy. That was the drug for me, knowing this stud of a guy desperately wanted my wife. He could borrow her, but he could never truly have her. I kept telling myself that last part. No matter what happened tonight, Haley would still be mine.

Haley attacked his cock, tearing at his pants. That appeared to be her drug. She pulled his thick staff out and pushed down his pants. Travis kicked off his shoes and awkwardly kicked off his pants. It was the only thing awkward about him. With his chiseled chest and big dick, Travis looked like the perfect man. I could see why my wife worshipped his body. How could I blame her? I'm very average, he looked like he stepped off of a movie screen. His cock jutted out in front of him, and Haley's mouth plunged onto it.

The image of my sweet wife sucking another man's cock is burned into my mind forever. The impact was not blunted by the fact that it was the second time I was seeing it. Seeing Haley devour Travis made me woozy, and I placed a hand on the door as I leaned forward. I was bent at an awkward angle to peer between the blinds, but the burning in my shoulders faded into the background. I rubbed myself through my pants, barely resisting the urge to take my dick out and beat it.

Travis shocked me by pushing her mouth off his shaft. I'm not sure if she was even sucking him for a minute. She looked disappointed. She licked her lips and stared up at him. Haley said something I couldn't hear, and he replied. Travis went down onto his knees in front of her, grabbed her, and roughly kissed my wife. Her held her head tightly, possessing her, and she willingly surrendered. The forceful move upset her elaborate hairdo, and tendrils came tumbling down. It only made her sexier.

He scooped her tits from the bustier, forcing it lower on her body. Haley reached between her breasts and pulled a zipper, loosening the lingerie to give her lover better access to her body. Haley threw her head back when his lips went to her neck, and she seemed to be looking over at me again. The submission on her face—submission to Travis—was intoxicating. She bit her trembling lower lip and raked her nails through his hair. I imagined I could hear her moans when he nibbled on that sweet spot on her neck.

Travis could not resist the lure of her amazing tits, and he buried himself in them. He ravished her breasts and Haley arched her back, presenting herself to him. She savored his mouth on her, attacking her excited nipples. As sensitive as they are, she's never asked me to be gentle with them, but Travis took rough treatment to a new level. It amazed me that my wife responded by pulling him harder to her chest, urging him to continue. Travis was not rushed like the night before, and took his time with her body, using his hard-earned knowledge from the old days to make her quiver.

My heated breath fogged the glass, and I wiped it away with my hand, not wanting to miss a second of the show Haley was providing. I realized I was panting so hard, I'm shocked I wasn't hyperventilating. I was achingly hard, and I'd finally succumbed to temptation and unfastened my pants to shove a hand inside. I tried to take it easy. I didn't want to make a mess like the night before, but I knew that was inevitable. I was as helpless as Haley, in my own way.

Haley leaned back, hands on the daybed, and Travis moved over her. He wasn't just sucking on her tits, but he had a hand busy between her legs. I couldn't quite see what he was up to, but the movements of her hips suggested his fingers were inside her. How long before his cock replaced his fingers? I could imagine my wife was already soaked. I know how she gets. She was ready for him. But Travis was not to be rushed. He eased her onto her back on the daybed, but he did not mount her. He lifted a stocking-clad leg over his shoulder and buried his face in her cunt.

The view was terrible, but my mind filled in the blanks—Travis pulling her panties aside, his tongue slithering into her slit, his lips fixed to hers. Haley leaned up on her elbows to watch him go down, but then hung her head back and cried out so loudly that I actually heard her. I nearly came in my pants. I was so startled I leaned into the door with all my weight and discovered it hadn't been closed all the way.

The door pressed into its frame with a heavy thud. There was no way they hadn't heard that. I backed away from the door in a panic. I knew I had to get out of the there, but I could not retreat and leave my wife alone with Travis. My twisted desires kept me rooted in place as the door swung open. Travis stared at me. He was completely nude, and still rock hard. His shaft curved upward.

"You might as well come into the room, rather than skulking in the hallway," he said.

I gaped at him, frozen. If my situation seemed unreal before, now it had gone completely over the edge. My wife's lover was inviting me into the room where he was just going down on her. Haley stayed in the room, and I couldn't see her past Travis's big body, which filled the door frame. I just couldn't grasp the absurdity.

"You're not going to hit me, are you?" he asked. I shook my head, and he replied, "I didn't think so. Come on in, and let's figure this out."

I started forward, my feet moving of their own volition. Travis stepped back into the room, leaving me space to pass without brushing against him. I had to will my eyes away from his cock. It wasn't an attraction thing—I'm not bi—it was just right there, and the more I thought about not looking at it, the more I was compelled to. Travis closed the door behind me, and I heard the click of the lock. No one was going to interrupt us now.

Haley watched me closely, keeping her face neutral. She was still seated on the daybed, and had fixed her bustier so that it covered her tits again. My gaze went right between her thighs. Her tiny black panties were stretched out, from when Travis pulled them out of his way. Her lips were swollen and juicy. I wanted to know if he had made her come before I interrupted them. She still leaned back, propped up by her extended arms, her body on display for both of us. Neither Haley nor I spoke, so Travis took the lead.

“You don’t look pissed, so I guess you’re cool with this, aren’t you, Matt?” His hands were on his hips, and I tried not to let his ripped physique intimidate me.

I didn’t answer. I had no idea what to say.

“Are you one of those guys who’s into sharing his wife? Like a cuckold?”

I shook my head hard. “It’s not like that. I’m not a pussy,” I said, the words rushing out.”

“Matt just likes to watch me. It’s not about anything else,” Haley chimed in, coming to my defense. She got off the daybed and crossed to me, pressing her luscious curves against me. I swore I could smell the tang of her arousal.

“Hell, I understand that,” Travis said. “Who wouldn’t want to watch you? You’re fucking sexy, Haley.”

“Are you okay, baby?” she asked me. I bristled. I didn’t want any signs of weakness in front of Travis. It felt like I was working from a deficit already.

“Yeah, I’m good. It’s all good.”

“So you watch her with other guys? I’ve heard of that,” Travis said.

“We’ve never done this before. We decided to give it a try and see what happens,” I said.

“Last night...you were watching?”

“Yeah. I was there.”

“I would never cheat on Matt. I’d never do anything without his permission.” Haley sounded sincere.

Haley stroked my chest through my shirt and looked up at me with wide, wild eyes. She looked high, probably riding a wave of pure adrenaline. I played with the hair falling down her back, and her skin was scorching to the touch. Her breasts heaved in the bustier with her deep breaths. Haley was ready to jump right back in. If we stopped there, I wondered how she would react. Would she resent me for fucking it up?

“He gives permission for you to fuck around. Kinky. That’s hot.”

“Like I said, this is the first time. We’re testing the waters,” I insisted.

“And you’re digging it so far?” He looked down to my open pants. Fortunately, my dick was tucked inside. Travis staring at my junk made it shrivel. “I guess you are.”

“Yeah, it’s hot. Haley seems to be having a good time.”

It was important to stress that it wasn’t just about my pervy desire to watch, but also that Haley was having fun too—doing something she really wanted to. I didn’t want it to be all about me, and I didn’t want Travis thinking I pushed Haley into anything. I don’t know why I cared what he thought, but it mattered that he knew we were in this together. We were a team.

“I think we’re all having a good time,” Travis replied. He smiled slyly. I could see his wheels turning.

“I’ve got two hot guys entirely focused on me. Of course I’m enjoying myself,” Haley said, adding a soft laugh.

Travis moved to her other side. “If everyone’s having fun, there’s no reason to stop, is there?”

He casually touched Haley’s arm, stroking it with the back of his hand, and she shuddered. Haley looked up at each of us, fear and desire warring on her face. She saw no reason to stop, but she didn’t want to hurt me either. She didn’t want to push me into a decision I didn’t want to make. Haley half-turned to Travis and traced his muscles with her fingertips.

The truth was, I was eager for them to keep going, but I didn’t want to seem eager. I didn’t want Travis to have the satisfaction of knowing how badly I wanted to see him fuck my wife. I also didn’t want him to feel like this had anything to do with him. It did—but I wanted Travis to think we could have been doing this with any guy and it would have been the same.

“What do you think, babe? Do you want us to keep going?” Haley asked, her voice low, her attention focused on Travis.

Travis moved his hands upward from her hips, cupping her tits in the bustier. Her nipples strained through the lacy material, and he gave them each a little pinch. Haley moaned quietly, and my breath caught in my throat. I was right there. It was so real. Almost too real. It felt like my heart was going to explode out of my chest. Would I be able to take it if I was in the same room as them? Maybe I would be too self-conscious to truly enjoy it. I knew I was going to find out.

“What do you say, Matt? Do you mind if Haley and I have some fun?” Travis asked, staring down at my wife.

I pressed my erection against Haley’s hip. I wanted her to feel how hard I was—to remind her of why this started. “Don’t let me stand in your way, guys. I want you two to enjoy yourselves.”

“I’ll do you proud, buddy. I won’t leave anything on the table,” Travis said, flashing a cocky grim.

Travis swept Haley up and carried her away from me. The motion pushed the zipper in the front of her bustier down, and her breasts spilled out, spreading alluringly when he replaced her on the daybed. He picked up right where he left off, kneeling on the tile floor between her legs, but he must have felt free to be more aggressive. Instead of pulling Haley’s panties to the side, he ripped them away from her. The sound of fabric tearing was followed by a yelp and a giggle from my wife. She loved the way he handled her. Travis made a show of tossing her ruined panties over his shoulder. He was finished with them. It was so hot I almost lost it.

“Ohh...god...” Haley gasped.

Travis buried his face in her pussy. Haley had one heel on the floor, while the other one dangled in the air as her leg tightened over his shoulder. Her foot tapped in the air to a beat only she could hear. Her breathy moans grew louder and I saw her squirming underneath him, but mostly I saw the back of his head.

I kept my distance at first. I don’t know if I was afraid of intruding, but that was silly. This was my wife. As I watched, I crept forward without even thinking about it, until I was standing right beside them, staring down at my wife as her college boyfriend went down on her. Travis held onto the thigh beside his head, while his other hand massaged a breast, rolling her nipple. Haley’s mouth hung open, and her eyes were closed. She played with her other breast, while her other arm stretched above her head, where her long painted nails tapped against the wall. She was so wet, I could hear Travis slurping at her cunt. It was incredible to look down and watch my wife like that. In a way, I felt like I was seeing her for the first time. I was able to lock in on every little detail—the quiver of her tits as she moved, the fine sheen of sweat on her pale skin, the way her mouth opened and closed, with only whimpering moans escaping. Her body kept jolting, like she was ascending a ladder, coming ever closer to her climax.

Haley's eyes snapped open, as if she could sense me standing above her. She looked powerless to resist Travis's oral assault. Haley stared up at me, wordlessly pleading. I knew what she was pleading for. She desperately wanted to come.

"OH!" she cried. "Oh god!"

Her body shook, and then she was rhythmically moving. Her tits bounced alluringly. I glanced down and saw that Travis was pumping his fingers in and out of her while sucking on her clit. Haley was flushed. She was about to get what she wanted. I know when my wife is going to climax. Haley was a sex goddess. My pants fell to my ankles as I grabbed my cock and started abusing it.

I knelt down beside them, getting incredibly close to my wife. She turned her head to keep her eyes locked to mine. She grabbed my shoulder and dug her nails painfully into my flesh. That was going to leave a mark.

"Oh god...Matt...I'm gonna...he's...I'm..."

"I want you to come, baby. I want to see you come for him," I whispered.

"Oh god...oh god..."

"That's it, baby...let go..." I encouraged.

I stroked stray strands of hair away from her face, and Haley sucked my thumb between her lips, sucking hard, like she wanted my cock. I couldn't resist that. I stood, ready to plug my prick into her mouth, but Haley cried out and stiffened, gripped by an explosive orgasm. I was still stroking myself as I stood, and that was all I needed. My cock erupted, shooting thick strands of cum across her quaking tits and staining the bustier.

"Oh, fuck," I grunted.

Travis kept slurping between her legs, and I think Haley might have come again if he continued, but he pulled back when he heard my outburst. He looked at my ejaculate on her chest with distaste, but managed a smile.

"I guess you really are into it, man. Good for you," he said, sitting back on his heels, and rubbing Haley's legs through her stockings.

"Yeah, that was fucking great," I said. I felt like I should do something, like high-five him, but that seemed weird.

"Oh my god, you guys," Haley sighed.

Travis stood up and put a hand on my shoulder. It felt really strange to have another man touching me while both our dicks were out, but I didn't want to overreact. He leaned closer, and I fought the urge to step back.

"Listen man, can you step back a little. I'm all for you watching—I'm cool with it—but you're a little too close for comfort right now. Just give me a little room to work, and I promise that they're will be plenty of time for you to jump in and go hog wild. I remember how much Haley loves having two guys at once, and I never minded sharing."

My first instinct was to punch him and shout Who the fuck do you think you are? Of course, Travis could probably kick my ass, and once I got past my initial flush of anger I was more understanding. I don't know how well I could perform with some guy I barely know looking over my shoulder. And unless Travis and Jenna were swingers, I guessed he hadn't done anything like this in a long, long time—probably not since he was last with my wife. Still, it rankled. I had to fight to keep my pride from being bruised. Haley was my wife. Who was Travis to dictate terms to me? I should be the alpha here. But I didn't feel like an alpha around Travis, and really, I didn't know that I wanted to be. Deep down, I wanted to see him control Haley, like he did back in the old days. I wanted to see Travis possess my wife.

Haley got up from the daybed and molded against me, her hands on my chest. She pulled me down into a kiss. "It's okay, baby. Just let us have a little space. I promise it will be worth it."

I bristled. Haley was taking his side—wasn't she—but wasn't that what I wanted?

"Slip into the hot tub and relax. Haley and I will put on a show for you."

I didn't say anything, and I wasn't thrilled with myself in the moment, but I was a driven man, and I knew what I wanted. I stepped back and began undressing. I placed my clothes on the chaise lounge on the other side of the small room and turned on the hot tub. The water began to churn and bubble, sounding too loud in the tight space. The water was only lukewarm when I stepped in, but I knew it would heat up. I sat on the back end of the watery maelstrom, with my arms stretched out. I was low, but I'd have a good view of them on the daybed, and I could always stand if I needed to. Haley went to a stack of towels on the shelf and dipped one into the hot tub, wetting it. She used the towel to clean my mess from her chest. I guess she didn't want to offend her lover.

"Let me see what you've got, babe," Travis said, sitting on the edge of the daybed.

Haley placed a foot on the daybed beside him and untethered her stocking from the bustier, and repeated the process with her other leg. The stockings didn't need the garter straps to stay up, as they had elastic under their lacy tops. The garters were for show. She stepped back and only hesitated a moment before drawing the zipper down the front of her lingerie. Haley angled her body so we could both watch her. She put a wiggle in her hips, but I wouldn't call it a striptease.

"You always loved to watch me undress," she told Travis.

"Because you're so fucking hot. Who wouldn't?" he replied.

"You still think so?"

"Come here and I'll show you how hot I think you are."

Travis reached for her as Haley sauntered over to him, and pulled her down to straddle his lap, facing him. Her back was to me, but I was staring at his cock bobbing between her thighs, so close to her pussy. He was so close to just slipping right inside of her. My prick pulsed back to life in the bubbling water. The couple was locked in a tight embrace while they kissed. Travis kneaded her ass, and his efforts to stroke her hair caused more of her dark brown locks to come tumbling out of her up-do. Even if her dress wasn't wrinkled on the floor, there was no way Haley would be able to return to the wedding now. Neither of them seemed concerned about that.

They whispered low to each other, and I couldn't make out the words. It was frustrating, but the visual of my wife grinding on his lap was enough for me. I could tell how much she wanted to fuck him by how she moved her body on him. Haley was ready. He whispered again, and she nodded. Her head bounced a second time, emphatically.

"Put it in," Travis growled. His low voice was clear over the bubbling Jacuzzi.

My heart stopped when Haley rose up and grabbed his thick shaft. She held him against her lips, and it seemed like she paused there, letting his fat head spread her lips while she rubbed it. The moment hung in time for me, but it was probably only a second or two before Haley sank down on his cock. I leaned forward, but that wasn't enough. I crossed the Jacuzzi and looked up, right behind them. It was the perfect view to see Travis splitting my wife open. Haley moaned low and deep, taking him a couple inches at a time before rising up again and plunging deeper. Travis held her hips and pulled her down on him when she paused. His cock was fully sheathed inside my wife, and it looked like it belonged there.

“Oh god! Ohmygod!” Haley exclaimed, rotating her hips and adjusting to having her old lover inside her again after so many years.

“Fuck, you feel as incredible as ever. I knew you would, babe,” Travis moaned.

It twisted my gut to hear him call her babe, like she belonged to him. Haley kept churning her hips, like she was desperate to get him even deeper inside her. Hearing her moan on his cock made me wonder how I ever satisfied her. That was a crazy thought—I knew it—but that sort of thing goes through your head when you watch another man screw your wife.

They kissed, kissed hard, and Haley never stopped moving those hips. Watching them make out while he was inside her turned my stomach to acid. I thought regular kissing was intense, but this was so passionate, so personal—so wrong. It drove home that I was on the outside looking in, and my wife belonged to another man, at least for the evening. It didn’t matter that I’d encouraged it. That didn’t make it any easier. But it was so perfectly wrong that it was right. It was exactly what I’d asked for, and I fell back into the water with a head rush. I let myself float on the bubbling water, and I watched them, and I thought I couldn’t be any higher. Each fix Haley gave me was more intense than the last, and yet I craved more.

Travis held her hips and began bouncing Haley. They still kissed, but she tore her mouth from his to cry out when he dropped her back onto his cock. Her hips flexed and she took over, gliding up and down that big prick with her high heels planted firmly on the floor. Her cries were loud and urgent. Haley leaned back, and hung her head back, thrusting her hips forward. Travis supported her behind the shoulders with his strong hands and flexed his hips up at her.

“Ohh...ohh...Travis...”

Haley moaning another man’s name stung. My cock surged.

“That’s it, babe, that’s what you needed,” he moaned.

“Yes...”

“You missed it, babe.”

“Yes...Travis...”

“I’m gonna fuck you silly, Haley.”

“Yes...please...oh god...”

I held the sides of the Jacuzzi hard, afraid I might slide under the water. Nothing made sense while I watched them. I should have been crazed with jealousy. Haley begging for his cock should have made me scream, but I wanted to hear more. I wanted to hear my wife beg all night. I wanted to see her come on his cock like a raving slut. I’d lost my mind. I stroked my dick under the water, but it was half-hearted. I didn’t want anything to take my attention away from Haley. She was truly my goddess.

“Come on, babe, turn around. Let Matt see you,” Travis said, lifting her.

Haley’s cunt literally dripped onto his cock as he slipped out and turned her around. I didn’t recognize that look on her face—sheer helplessness, fierce need, hunger—but she had never been more beautiful to me. She stared at me, but she wasn’t really seeing me. I don’t think she could believe this was happening either. I was dying to know what emotions were swirling around inside her. Would she be able to handle this afterward, or would she be consumed by guilt? Would she hate me for pushing it? The danger made my heart race as much as anything else.

Haley’s eyes focused on me, and she mouthed my name—then Travis plunged her onto his cock again and she wailed. Her nails dug into his thighs. She sat inside his legs, her heels close together on the floor, and she leaned forward, pushing her sweet ass back at him as she took him. Her stockings were covered in a thousand runners, ruined from riding him so hard. Her ripe tits hung forward, and swayed and bounced with her frantic movements. We’d never been in that position—I’d never seen it outside of porn—but Haley looked to love it, and I wondered if that was how Travis used to show her off when he fucked her in front of others. The way she leaned forward, I could have stepped right up to Haley and shoved my cock into her mouth. I know she would have eagerly sucked it, but I wanted to watch. I wanted to experience this fully.

Travis reached around and grabbed her breasts, mauling them. She whimpered when he pinched her nipples and leaned back against his chiseled chest. Travis grinned at me over her shoulder. He was judging me. You fucking wuss. I’m going to pound your fucking wife. She’ll never be the same again! I didn’t care. He could have his way with her. I wanted him to have his way with Haley. I was getting everything I needed—and apparently so was she.

“Yes! Yes!” she cried.

“Rub your clit,” he growled, still holding her tits.

“Oh god!” Haley moaned, obeying her lover.

“You’re so fucking tight around me like this. I feel your cunt shaking. You’re gonna fucking cum, babe.”

“Yes! Oh god! Oh fuck! FUCK!”

Haley frantically rubbed her clit. She bounced hard on that cock, and she had a screaming, shattering orgasm unlike anything I’d seen in over a decade of marriage. Haley threw her head back and cried at the ceiling, making me wonder if they heard her all the way back at the wedding. Travis moved his hands to her hips and kept bouncing Haley on his shaft when she froze, and my sweet wife just kept coming and coming.

“Oh god! Oh god! Travis!”

“That’s it, babe. That’s it,” he cooed.

“Wait...wait...please...” she begged.

Travis stopped moving her, and Haley sagged back against his chest.

“I need a second,” she gasped, looking completely drained. She was flushed from head to toe. Her wild hair was plastered to her forehead with sweat. Her quivering breasts were covered in a fine sheen. She looked magical.

Haley peeled away from him, and when she stumbled, she kicked off her heels. Her eyes were wild. She came to the edge of the Jacuzzi and leaned on the railing. I rose up from the water to meet her, my dick tapping against her before we embraced. I held her face in both hands and kissed her. She grabbed my cock and stroked it.

“Oh god, baby. I...” she stammered.

“It’s okay. You don’t have to say anything, honey. You’re glorious,” I whispered. It was a moment just for us, away from Travis.

“I’m...he’s incredible...don’t know...”

I chuckled. “He’s fucked you senseless. I guess you love a huge dick.”

“He feels so...” She paused to look at me. “Oh, Matt...”

“It’s okay, Haley. It’s what I want. Tonight is perfect. Enjoy it.”

“It might kill me.”

“Well, I don’t think he’s done with you yet.”

“You sure?”

“You want it, don’t you, honey?”

She bit her lip and nodded. Haley loved me, but she would not deny the truth. And that was why I loved her.

“Be his little slut,” I whispered. “Make him come. Show him just how incredible you are. And then come back to me.”

Haley took a deep breath and smiled wickedly. She was ready for more.

Travis loomed behind her, like he’d come out of nowhere. He pulled her back away from me, but not too far. The couple was just a couple feet away. He grabbed her tits from behind and gave them the rough treatment Haley loved. His cock had to be stabbing her in the back. He bent down and nibbled her shoulder. Her sensitive neck was shrouded by her hair and his hands were busy.

“Touch yourself,” he ordered.

Haley dropped a hand between her legs and rubbed her pussy. Her lips were red and swollen, her abused clit peeked from beneath its hood. She shivered. Haley looked down at me. Her expression said Travis was in control again, and her eyes were apologetic, but she didn’t need to apologize to me. This was my drug.

“This is the Haley I knew back in college,” he said. It was unclear if he was talking to me, or her. “The girl who loved sex, loved attention, and could never get enough.”

“She’s amazing,” I commented.

“She especially loved being shown off. Does she still like that?”

“Haley is beautiful and sexy, and I think she still knows it. She just lost a little confidence.”

“That’s a sin, babe. You’re obviously still an incredible fucktoy.”

“Oh god,” she moaned. She rubbed her clit in slow, tight circles.

“You want to be a fucktoy, don’t you Haley?”

She nodded. He pinched her nipples harder. He wanted to hear it. “Yes. Please, I’m your fucktoy, Travis.”

“You don’t mind, do you, Matt?”

Travis was letting his asshole side show. I’m sure the tender moment Haley and I shared made him jealous. He could fuck her. He could make her come all night, but Haley could not—would not—be his anymore, not in the ways that mattered. He was trying to prove he could dominate her, but that was fine with me. It turned both of us on. We had chosen to include Travis. Perhaps he thought he was taking Haley from me, but I was giving her as a gift—a husband giving his wife—with her consent, of course. I was not foolish enough to think Haley was something to be given. In the end, she was the one truly in control. We were just dancing around her.

“Haley’s enjoying herself, and I think she looks incredible doing it. Why should I mind?”

I smiled, just to show him how cool I was with it. It was funny, the more insecure Travis seemed, the better I felt. He may have been a god in the bedroom, but that wasn’t enough to win my wife. Haley was a strong woman now, not an inexperienced college student.

Travis pulled Haley back to the daybed, and she docilely laid on it, reaching out and stroking his cock while he stood over her. She kept looking from him to me, which I’m sure he didn’t like. He wanted all of her attention, and he knew just how to get it. Travis knelt on the daybed by her head and fed my wife his cock.

She greedily sucked him, and I could just see past his thigh to where his prick disappeared between her lips. I loved the way he stretched her mouth open. In my mind, the bigger the cock, the more Haley wanted it, but I didn’t know if there was any reality to that. She had never expressed a preference for big cocks. Haley was fond of saying that skill mattered more than looks, but I didn’t fully believe that after seeing how she reacted to Travis and his chiseled body.

Travis pressed his meat into her throat until she started choking. He waited until her eyes went wild before pulling out, and Haley choked and coughed. She didn’t look angry, but defiant, as if to say she was ready for more. My wife loved the rough treatment.

Haley held out her arms when he climbed on top of her, lifting one of her legs over his shoulder. His cock sunk into her with one smooth motion. She didn’t need to get used to his girth now. She was primed and ready. Her moan was loud over the bubbling of the Jacuzzi. She smiled seductively up at him, and he stayed upright, slowly pumping his cock in and out of her. Haley was in heaven.

My own dick throbbed once again as he sheathed his cock in my wife, but my stomach clenched when I realized he’d been fucking her without a condom. I don’t know why it didn’t hit me until that moment—maybe I was too excited to catch that detail. Panic seized me, but I didn’t rush over, or even shout for them to stop. I sat back and watched Travis pleasure my wife with his superior cock. Oddly, the panic fed my excitement. I may not have felt as much danger that he was going to steal Haley—although that never fully left my mind—but now my heart hammered because another man was fucking my wife bareback. Travis was married, so I wasn't too worried about disease, although he was obviously a cheater. And Haley was on the Pill, but it's not foolproof. In no way did I want Haley knocked up by another man—or anything worse to happen—but I couldn't deny my sick thrill from her unprotected sex. What did she think? Haley did not insist he put on a condom. I know she hates them, but I was surprised she didn't make him wear one. I'd have to ask later.

“Ohh...Travis...god...”

“You're hot as ever, babe...oh fuck,” he groaned.

He stopped, just the tip of his shaft inside her. He flexed his hips, violently impaling her.

“Oh!”

Travis slowly withdrew and did it again.

“Oh god!”

Again.

“Travis!”

Again.

“Ahh!”

Again.

“Stop teasing me! Dammit, Travis!”

“You used to like being teased.”

He thrust again, so hard he jarred her entire body. I loved how it made her tits bounce.

“Please,” she whimpered. “Please...”

“And I always loved it when you begged.”

He smiled evilly and thrust again.

“Ahh! Please fuck me!”

“I love this, babe.”

“Please...please...I'm your slut...fuck me...please...Travis...”

“Yes you are, babe. You always were.”

Travis looked triumphant, and my nerves were a live wire, but I reminded myself this was all a show. Haley was giving herself to him because I wanted her to. My confidence in her independence slipped, but held—just barely.

I watched in fascination as Travis lifted her other leg over his shoulder, my wife's ankles by his ears. He began by slowly drilling his cock into her cunt. He had a little swivel to his hips, which brought earthy sounds from deep in Haley's throat—they sounded more like growls than moans. Both her hands were braced on the wall behind her, and she used the leverage to push herself back at her lover. I slowly stroked my dick under the water, my hand moving in time with the lovers.

“Ohh...yes...ahh...”

Travis leaned into her, pressing her legs back against her bouncing tits. It looked painful. Haley's flexibility was impressive. He leaned in close enough to kiss her. Haley devoured his kiss, raking her nails through his hair.

“Fuck, babe, that feels good. I forgot you did that,” he groaned.

“I love doing that to you. God you're so big! You make it so easy.”

“Gonna make me come too fast, Haley...”

“Yes...please...want to...want to feel you come...come inside me...” she gasped.

“Fuck, Haley! Fuck, Haley!”

Haley was working some kind of magic on him, but I didn't get it—not at first. But it slowly came back to me. She had this little trick when we first started dating, when she wanted me to finish quickly. Haley had this way of making her pussy ripple around me. Her little trick blew my mind every time she did it, but over time she did it less and less until it disappeared from our sexual repertoire, just like the ropes and the spanking and the teasing behavior. It sounded like Haley broke the old trick out for Travis, and it was so hot that she wanted to impress him. I wondered how he was going to go back to his wife after my incredibly sexy wife rocked his world.

Haley's legs slipped from his shoulders and wrapped around his back. Their bodies were pressed together, and between their moans they kissed passionately. Haley held him in her arms, and Travis stared down at her intensely. The couple shared such an intimate moment that it gave me chills. I was so fascinated watching them that I stopped touching myself. It wasn't that I didn't think it was hot—it was the sexiest thing I'd seen yet—but I wanted to drink the moment in with no distractions. Haley's mouth hung open as she moaned. Her nails dug into his shoulders and her eyes went wide.

“Oh god!” she cried.

“That’s it, come on my cock. Fucking come, Haley. I love making you fucking come,” Travis grunted.

It was the prelude to a soul-rocking orgasm in my wife. Her toes curled, and she locked her body around him. She trembled in his arms, but even as she climaxed, Travis pulled away from her, prying himself from her orgasmic-grasp.

“Not yet, babe. You’re not getting me yet. I’m not done with you.”

Travis moved back and left Haley limp on the daybed. He smiled down at her, pleased with his handiwork. I have to admit, I was pretty pleased, too. Seeing my wife so thoroughly fucked was the ultimate fulfillment of my fantasy. I had no idea what else Travis could have in mind. He lifted Haley in his powerful arms and held her by the edge of the Jacuzzi.

“Are you ready to give Haley what she really wants?” he asked.

“Looks like she’s gotten it to me,” I replied.

“Oh, no. I know her, and there’s one thing that always drove her crazy—turned her into the ultimate slut.”

“Travis,” Haley warned.

I couldn’t help myself. I had to know. “What it is?”

“My Haley always turned into a hellcat when she was between two guys. What do you say, Matt? Ready to give her what she really wants?”

“Guys...” she moaned.

I stood in the Jacuzzi and went up on the step, so my face was near Haley’s. “Is he right?”

“Honey, I...” Haley’s eyes were hazy, her cheeks flushed. She licked her lips.

“Do you want that?” I asked.

“Tell him, babe. Tell him how you loved taking two dicks at once,” Travis chuckled.

“Honey...”

I stroked her cheek. It was weird to be having this moment while another man held my wife in his arms, but the whole evening had been a trip into The Twilight Zone. “It’s okay, baby. It’s hot. If you want it, it’s okay,” I reassured her. “You want it, don’t you?”

It was obvious she didn’t want to admit it, didn’t want me to see her like that, but the truth was in her eyes. Haley craved it. She wanted us to use her. I almost came without touching myself.

“Let’s do this,” Travis said, taking charge.

Travis was in the driver’s seat for both of us. I should have taken charge, but I liked seeing him in charge of my wife too much to take back control. He laid her on the padded chaise lounge and Haley looked up at us both. She was recovering from her last orgasm, because I saw the life coming back into her eyes and body. She squirmed in anticipation of what we were going to do to her. I couldn’t help wondering how I compared to a stud like Travis as she looked between us, but I knew she loved me.

“How do you want it, babe?” Travis asked her.

“Mmm, just do it.” She sounded impatient.

“What about you? How do you want her?” he asked me.

I didn’t know what to say. I hadn’t fucked her yet, so it made sense I did that. I found my voice and told him, “I’m going to fuck her.”

“Nice.”

Haley turned around on the chaise, hugging the raised back, her butt pushed out at me. Her pussy was obscenely swollen after the pounding it had taken. The sight almost made me come before I was inside her. Travis didn’t wait for me to start. He stepped up to her face and pushed all her hair back. She reached for his cock, but he brushed her hands aside, taking up his shaft himself.

“Come on now, Haley. Show me what a good cocksucker you are. You’ve still got it, but it’s time to bring it home, babe,” he taunted.

Travis rubbed his head against her lips, which parted to accept him, but he teased, rubbing it all over her face. Haley licked at it, clearly frustrated that he wouldn’t give it to her. She tried to reach for him again, and again he pushed her hands away.

“Hold her hands, man. Don’t worry, she’s into it.”

“I know she likes it rough,” I told him, irked that he thought he had to tell me what my wife liked.

“Are you two going to do this or talk all night?” Haley asked. I loved her spirit.

I grabbed her by the wrists and pulled her arms behind her, careful not to hurt her. Haley gasped. She liked it.

“That’s more like it,” Travis taunted, rubbing his cock all over Haley’s face. He slowed down when she got her tongue on it. “It’s okay, babe. I just wanted to make you work for it.”

Travis slid his head past her lips and his shaft disappeared into her mouth. He only let up when she gagged, pulling back until just his head rested in her mouth. Haley was helpless to resist him. It was incredible. He began steadily pumping his meat into her mouth, and it was like I woke up.

I had to let go of one of her wrists to grab my dick, but Travis was okay with that. Haley reached up and massaged his balls as he fed her his cock. I knelt down on the chaise, and had to pull her sweet butt up, but I slipped inside my wife. I'd never pushed into her so easily.

Being inside Haley after another man—especially one as big as Travis—felt so different. Those stories about men sharing their wives are no exaggeration. I knew she wasn't ruined—that's silly nonsense—but for the moment her used pussy was well-worn and slippery. Haley adjusted and tilted her hips, and tightened around me, but it was still a different experience. Her cunt seemed to swallow me. It felt like I was cheating, it was so different. And as I reflected that this was because another man had been fucking her, it took all I had to keep from shooting my load in two seconds.

I grabbed her other arm again and used her arms as leverage to thrust into her. It pulled Haley back, but Travis moved with her. He stared down at the way her ass shook every time I thrust into her and he couldn't wipe the smile off his face.

"Fuck, I've missed this! There is no other woman on the planet like sweet Haley. You're a lucky motherfucker, Matt. I'm goddam jealous!"

"I won the fucking lottery," I grunted, throwing myself into her as hard as I could. I was determined to make a good showing in front of Travis.

"You missed this too, didn't you? I know you fucking did," he told my wife.

Haley tried to answer through her mouthful.

The last phase of the evening did not last long. Travis was not superhuman, after all, and he'd been having fun with my wife for quite a while. It was a miracle he lasted as long as he did. I think sharing Haley with me pushed his buttons. I could see it in his face. Travis was in heaven like the rest of us. I wondered if he'd ever convinced his wife, Jenna, to do anything like this, but I suspected not, since he was here with us. I had a wild thought of seeing Haley and Jenna together, while Travis and I watched, then shared them. What a night that would be!

Travis held Haley's head in both hands and rapidly pounded his cock into her mouth. She sputtered and choked, and I felt her pussy clench around me. Her muffled moans were incredible. Travis gave a final roar and pulled out so that his head was just in front of her lips. He spurted into her open mouth, but he also made sure to have bad aim and blasted across her cheek and past the corner of her eye.

Haley pulled her arms free from me and fell against the back of the chaise. The sudden shift in weight caused it to collapse, and she fell forward, resting on her arms, her ass high in the air with me. My cock still rested inside her, but I'd stopped moving to watch Travis finish on her face. Haley wiped the cum from near her eye and looked back over her shoulder at me while she licked the cum from her finger.

"Oh fuck," I moaned.

"Yeah, you haven't changed one bit," Travis gloated.

"Come on, honey," she whimpered, wiggling her ass at me. "I need you to come for me too."

"Fuck, baby," I said, grabbing her ample ass and going to work.

"Screw that, man. Fuck her ass. Haley loves a good ass fucking."

That stopped me in my tracks. Anal sex was not on the menu for us. We tried it once when we first got together, and it was awkward. I didn't really care about it, and Haley never asked for it. I didn't think real women were actually into that, but maybe I was wrong. Travis seemed to know all of my wife's secrets. I looked down at her, and I could see the shame in her face. But the shame didn't stop her.

"Fuck my ass, Matt. Please fuck me in the ass, baby," she cooed.

I didn't even think about it. I pulled out of her pussy and spread her cheeks. I was literally dripping with her juices, so lubrication was not a problem, and I'd never been harder. Still, it was tough. Her rosebud was incredibly tight, and she squirmed and whimpered as I pushed. Haley bit her lip and squeezed her eyes closed. She also reached beneath herself and rubbed her clit. With a firm push, I popped past her rosebud and into her ass. Haley squealed and buried her face in the chaise. I froze for a moment. Her ass was so tight, especially after how her used pussy had felt. I could only slowly move in her.

"Yeah, the only thing Haley likes better than being fucked in the ass is some DP."

"Oh god...Travis...don't..." she begged.

“Haley never told you how much she loved taking us two at a time back there. She came so hard on me and my buddy one night I thought we fucking killed her. Remember that, babe?”

“Ohh...ahhh...fuck!” she cried.

Haley trembled and tightened around me as she climaxed. The vision of my beautiful wife pinned between two men, one in her ass, one in her cunt, flashed through my mind, and I came immediately, filling her sweet ass.

“Oh fuck, Matt! Oh fuck!” Haley cried, like she was coming all over again.

I pulled my limp dick from her ass and staggered back against the wall. My mind was spinning, and I tried to get ahold of myself. I looked at my wife laying there, panting and glowing from her night, and tried to reconcile that woman with the one I’d known all these years. The mother of my child. It was impossible.

Travis was already dressing. As he buttoned his shirt, he said, “I don’t know if we can go back to the wedding like this, but do you guys want to grab a nightcap?” He was blissfully unaware that something major had just gone down between the three of us. He really thought Haley was exactly the same girl who loved all sex, any sex, anytime, with anyone, that she was back in college. I knew that girl was still inside her—and she’d come out to play tonight—but Haley was so much more than that now. Most importantly, she was my wife.

Haley took a deep breath and answered, “I need to be with my husband now, but thanks for the walk down memory lane.”

“Maybe I’ll see you guys in the morning.”

Neither of us answered, and Travis slipped out the door. I was confident we would not see him again, which left me with complicated feelings.

“Haley...” I started.

“Let me try and clean up, Matt.”

eleven

She went to the shower stall and turned up the heat until the water was steaming. Her ruined stockings hung in tatters, and she discarded them. She unwrapped the little bar of soap and bottle of shampoo and scrubbed herself. I watched, enthralled by how sexy she was. I loved the way her tits bounced and her ass jiggled when she moved. I loved how her soapy hands moved over her curves. I felt myself getting hard again, but I knew we were done for the night. I didn't really have another time in me, and Haley looked exhausted. Once clean, she shut off the water, and I dressed while she toweled dry.

Haley shimmied into her dress, sans any underwear. Her panties were ruined—I wasn't even sure where they were—and the bustier was too complicated to put on again. She raked her fingernails through her wet hair, and it almost looked combed. She looked so sweet, so normal, with her face scrubbed clean and her wet hair. My heart ached for her. We stared at each other. There was so much to say, but neither one of us knew where to start. Haley opened her mouth, but I stopped her.

“Not here. Let's get back to the hotel.”

Haley nodded.

I checked the hallway, and seeing it clear, I led Haley by the hand into the darkness. She carried her heels, but left other ruined lingerie behind. It would be an interesting surprise for whoever opened the next day. Her bustier was folded and tucked inside my suit jacket. There was no other way to hide it, and it was too expensive to leave behind. We skirted around the front desk and slipped out of the spa area. As I pulled the door closed, a masculine voice froze us both.

“Can I help you? This area is closed.”

I turned to find a well-built young man in a dark jacket and tie—security. Did we look as guilty as I felt? Did Haley look as well-used as I thought?

“Sorry, we're here for a wedding and the club is so nice we thought about joining, so we're taking a look around,” I said confidently.

He looked at us skeptically. Haley carrying her heels was a dead giveaway we were up to something. The guard appeared to make a decision, and said, "There are official tours if you're really interested in joining. In the meantime, you can't be back here."

I was so relieved I almost hugged him. Haley and I scurried past him and down the hallway. We looked at each other and burst out laughing when we were out of sight.

"Oh my god! I feel so bad!" Haley said.

"And you love it, don't you?"

"Don't start, Matt. Not here."

We took a wide berth around the wedding, but we still had to take the shuttle back to the hotel. That couldn't be avoided. We were relieved to find the shuttlebus waiting for us, but the driver would not pull away, insisting he was on a schedule. Another couple joined us before it departed, but fortunately they were strangers. They look at our disheveled appearance and clearly came to the conclusion we'd snuck away for a quickie, but there was no way they could guess what we'd really been doing.

At the hotel, we readied ourselves for bed. Haley properly brushed her hair and put on a soft cotton camisole and a cute pair of shorts. I left on my boxers. We settled into bed and sat silently beside each other. We were stone cold sober. Haley started.

"Matt, the things he said..."

"I wasn't shocked, honey. I mean, you told me things."

"Really? You weren't shocked?"

"Don't take that the wrong way. I just mean, I know you were wild in college, and I guess I'd have been foolish to think you'd told me everything. Everyone holds something back, right?"

"Did you?"

I grinned. "I haven't done anything worth holding back."

"Yeah, you were kind of boring. You needed me to bring you some excitement." She smiled now.

"I can't argue with that."

"Those things...the stuff I did...I've told you, I wasn't myself with Travis. He opened this other part of me, and that girl would do anything. If there was an experience out there, she wanted to try it. She wanted to feel everything."

“That girl is you, Haley. It’s not all of you, or even the most important part of you, but it is you. You wanted those things. You did those things.”

“I guess you’re right.”

“And obviously it’s still a part of you.”

“I really thought that was all in the past. I still feel like it’s all in the past, even with what happened tonight.”

“I don’t think so, Haley. I saw how you were with him. I saw it from the beginning. I know you tried to resist at first. You wanted to be good, but obviously the temptation was too much, and don’t give me that nonsense about knowing I was reading those chats. Maybe you did, but you liked what you were doing.”

“Maybe,” she mumbled.

“And after seeing you with him tonight, I know it’s still a part of you. Maybe you keep it contained, but it’s there, waiting for the right guy to bring it out.”

“Travis is the devil. He seduces, and I can’t hold out.”

“Is he the only man who brings it out?”

“Oh Matt, we’ve never been like that. It’s not that I don’t feel crazy for you...”

“I know. But I don’t come at you like he does. I don’t strike that nerve. I can accept that. It’s not about love.”

“I could never love him.”

“I know.”

“Now I remember what a prick he could be.”

“And I’m sure that’s part of the attraction.”

“Am I really such a stereotype?” she asked. “A slave to the bad boy.”

I hadn’t thought I was fishing for reassurance, but maybe I was. I didn’t think it bothered me that I didn’t bring out that animal side that Travis did, but was I deluding myself? Shouldn’t it bother me? I should be her ultimate man, that was what we were told about marriage, but that was a sham. No one is everything to anyone. Given all that, it was still hard to accept as a man that another man had that kind of power over my wife. I also found it hard to believe he was the only man on the planet capable of bringing that out in her. Thinking about another man bringing out Haley’s wild side lit up the darker reaches of my fantasy.

“I don’t think you’re a slave to anyone, but I guess you do have a weakness. I don’t judge you for that,” I said.

“How can you not? I don’t know how you can ever look at me the same after tonight. You saw me beg him to...”

I took her hand. “You’re forgetting a very important part of all this. I wanted you to do this. You didn’t do all that on your own. I was right there. I was encouraging you. I was thrilled by it.”

“But now that your hard-on is gone, how can you still feel the same?”

“You’re forgetting, I have a weakness, too. I have a part of me I can’t control. So how could I judge you?”

“But you didn’t really do anything.”

I laughed. “I’d like to think I did something tonight.”

“Very funny. Yes, you did a lot, baby. And I loved it. You felt so good.”

“Even in your ass?”

Haley shot me a look. “Really? That’s where you’re going?”

“Okay, did it feel good while I was double teaming you with Travis?”

“Point taken.”

“You really like it in the ass?” I asked.

“If the circumstance is right, and I’m in the mood...”

“You are so fucking hot, Haley. Travis is right about that.”

“I feel like a complete whore.”

“You are. You’re my whore, and you’re perfect.”

“We’re the perfect pair, then. I’m a whore, and I’m lucky enough to have a husband who wants a whore.”

“I love you so much, Haley.”

“I love you more.”

We fell silent again, until she asked, “Where does this all leave us? Do we just go home and act like this never happened?”

“I don’t know if I can do that. This night is going to be burned in my brain forever—in a good way.”

“So what then? Do you expect things to change?”

“I don’t know. You can expect I’m not going to be able to keep my hands off of you.”

Haley smiled. “I can handle that.”

“Think you’ve heard the last of Travis?”

“It doesn’t matter. I don’t want to see him again. It’s just not a good idea.”

“Because you’ll lose control again?”

“I want to say I can control myself, but I can’t promise that. He is kind of a dick, though. I don’t think he deserves all this.”

“No, he doesn’t,” I agreed.

My thoughts must have been written on my face. Haley said, “I know what you’re thinking. Listen...”

“I’m not thinking anything specific...”

“If you think we’re going to go home and I’ll become—I don’t know—some version of how I was in college, I don’t know if I can handle that. I don’t know if our marriage can handle that. It couldn’t be good for us to do this all the time.”

“But every once in a while, like a little vacation from our lives...”

“You’re crazy! I should have known I was opening Pandora’s Box!”

“I’d never push you into anything, Haley. Just keep an open mind. If you get an urge, you can always bring it to me and...”

“And you’ll encourage me to jump in bed with some hot guy I can’t resist.”

“Only if I’m there.”

“That makes it all okay!”

“Just keep an open mind, Haley. I saw you tonight. You were wild, incredible. It might not be so easy to just stuff the genie back into the bottle.”

“Okay, I am not promising you anything, but I will try to keep an open mind.”

“That’s good enough for me.”

We settled into bed after that, and my exhausted wife passed right out, but my mind would not be quiet. It wasn’t as settled as I’d told her. Among my doubts was a big one. Yes, Haley had done all that because I encouraged her, but after seeing Haley with Travis I was sure he would have been able to lure her back to that room—to do all those things—even if I wasn’t there and never knew. Haley was his creature, and always would be.

All of that meant that if I encouraged Haley to think along those lines again, she could meet another man—one who could ignite a wildfire she couldn’t control. Was I really afraid of that, or was it wishful thinking? I honestly didn’t know. But I did know I wouldn’t be able to let it go after tonight. I would always want a repeat performance, and I wasn’t above nudging Haley in that direction. And deep down, I knew Haley wanted it too. It was so insane, so dangerous, but it could not be denied. So where did that leave us?

ebooks by Kirsten McCurran

Best Hotwife Erotica Vol. 3: Caught!

Gentrified

A Swinging New Year

Halloween Fling

Hawaiian Swing

Hot Dates 3: Consequences of Being a Shared Wife

Domestic Bliss

Queen of Hearts

Her Other Husband: The Complete Series

Hot Dates 2: Living as a Shared Wife

Meghan is Wild

Ana's Forbidden Fantasy

Hot Dates: Becoming a Shared Wife

Emma's Escape

Blank Canvas

The Wedding Party

Devil's Bargain

Sydney's Sin

Truth or Treat

Bound By Two

The Coach's Wife

Flirting With Trouble

Swinging Saved Our Marriage

Her Other Husband Series

A Snap Decision/Kissing In a Tree

Kelly Crosses the Line

Kelly Can't Help It

Kelly's Last Date

Substitute Wife

Swapping Around the Christmas Tree

Sex Equity

Stormbound: Seduced by the Neighbors

Because He's Watching

Eve & Friends Series

It Started With a Joke

It Started With Mistletoe

It Started Over Coffee

It Ended With an Announcement

about the author

Kirsten McCurran is the nom de plume of an average thirtysomething woman with a dirty mind and the drive to share her vivid fantasies. She is especially interested in tales of women like her, who are tempted by the forbidden and give in—only to discover the complications that can cause. Like many of her characters, Kirsten lives in the ‘burbs and has a loving husband and a couple of children, so she understands how difficult it might be for one of her characters to balance a real life with her erotic adventures. Her neighbors may be scandalized to discover what is going on in her head, but Kirsten’s husband fully approves, and even lends a hand in the creative process where he can.

Kirsten has written over 30 ebooks, all of which can be found on Amazon. Some are available in other formats on BN.com and Smashwords. She loves to hear from her fans and can be reached on Twitter @kirstenmccurran or by email at kmccurran@gmail.com. Checkout Kirsten’s blog and all of her books at her website, kirstenmccurran.com.

Table of Contents

Shoot the Messenger

Kirsten McCurran

preface

one

two

three

four

five

six

seven

eight

ten

eleven

ebooks by Kirsten McCurran

about the author