

BEST HOTWIFE EROTICA VOL. 1

SUMMER CONFESSIONS

Ben Boswell

Arnica Butler

Kirsten McCurran

Max Sebastian

Kenny Wright

Table Of Contents

About The Authors

Foreword ~ Arnica Butler

Madeleine Performs ~ Max Sebastian

Cat Unleashed ~ Kirsten McCurran

An Unconventional Summer ~ Kenny Wright

Laura Abroad ~ Arnica Butler

Summer Reunion ~ Ben Boswell

More From Best Hotwife Erotica Authors

About The Authors

Ben Boswell

Ben is your typical family man with a wife and kids and an overactive imagination. He is a longtime reader and author of erotic fiction. He writes in genres that he finds exciting and arousing. Most of his stories are in the naughty wife, wife-watching genre, though occasionally he ventures into other subject matter.

He has written several pieces of longer-form fiction.

For more information on future projects, visit <http://www.benboswell.com> and his author page at Amazon. You can send him an email at ben.boswell.author@gmail.com.

Arnica Butler

Arnica is a wife and mother who lives on a farm and writes steamy hotwife erotica by day. She likes large dogs, non-craft beer, and police procedurals in foreign languages. On all other matters, she tends to be a closed book.

Please contact Arnica at @ArnicaButler on Twitter or through the <http://www.thirteenthline.com/> website to give her reader feedback. She loves to hear what you think!

Kirsten McCurran

Kirsten McCurran is the nom de plume of an average thirtysomething woman with a dirty mind and the drive to share her vivid fantasies. She is especially interested in tales of women like her, who are tempted by the forbidden and give in—only to discover the complications that can cause. Like many of her characters, Kirsten lives in the ‘burbs and has a loving husband and a couple of children, so she understands how difficult it might be for one of her characters to balance a real life with her erotic adventures. Her neighbors may be scandalized to discover what is going on in her head, but Kirsten’s husband fully approves, and even lends a hand in the creative process where he can.

Kirsten has written over 30 ebooks, all of which can be found on Amazon. Some are available in other formats on BN.com and Smashwords. She loves to hear from her fans and can be reached on Twitter @kirstenmccurran or by email at kmccurran@gmail.com.

Max Sebastian

Max Sebastian writes sizzling hot, romantic erotic stories that challenge the conventional boundaries of modern relationships, featuring naughty wives and insatiable girlfriends, along with the husbands or boyfriends who adore them.

His stories explore themes including female empowerment, dominance and submission, trust and true love, with couples learning to explore their filthiest fantasies together, ultimately searching for their happy ever after.

Max is a thirty-something author and former journalist who lives with his wife and two young children in London, England.

You can also find Max online at MaxSebastian.net, on Twitter @MaxSebastian, on Facebook at facebook.com/writermx, and on GoodReads at <http://www.goodreads.com/maxsebastian>.

And, you're always very welcome to contact Max by emailing Max@MaxSebastian.net.

KennyWright

Kenny is just a guy who writes what he likes to read: steamy, explicit erotica that's just crazy enough to be true. He writes romantic erotica. He writes about characters that he likes, and endings that feel natural. He writes stories where husbands watch their wives get naughty. He writes about MILFs and erotic games and loss of innocence. He believes in a world where men read and appreciate erotica, and hopes to contribute to it word by word.

Liked what you read? Have an idea for something else? Drop him a line. He can be reached at kennywright.writer@gmail.com, or if you're more the voyeur, find me on Twitter at @kennywriter, Facebook at <https://www.facebook.com/kennywriter>, or at <http://www.kennywriter.com>.

Foreword

When I first began writing hotwife erotica, the four authors included in this anthology were the “gold standard,” so to speak, of the genre. I read these authors for inspiration and motivation, and aspired to write the genre as well as they do. I never imagined that I would someday be part of a collaboration with such excellent writers, so this anthology is a very special project for me to be a part of. It's also a special honor to edit and compile the first volume.

I want to thank all of these authors for their support and encouragement, but I think all of us would concur that special thanks should be given to Kenny Wright, who works generously and selflessly to support promising authors in this genre.

I also want to applaud the work of these authors, and their insistence on quality in a market where it is very tempting to cut corners. Each and every work by these authors is well-crafted, sizzling, literary erotica. We've compiled these short stories for you either as a thank-you (if you're a longtime fan), or as a seduction (if you're a new reader).

If you enjoy what you read (and we know that you will), then give our other works a try. Links to a selection of the authors' works appear at the end of each story, but please visit our (linked) author pages, because we didn't include all of our work, in order to avoid spamming our readers.

We also hope you'll visit our new website, Hotwifebooks.com, where Kenny has compiled links to all of our books, on all of the platforms where they are published, to make it convenient and easy for you to find the best in hotwife erotica from the best writers in the genre.

Without further ado...please enjoy what we have no qualms claiming as The Best Hotwife Erotica.

Arnica Butler

Madeleine Performs

A Short Story

by Max Sebastian

"There should be a law forcing men to wear speedos."

"International law, I take it, since we're in Antigua?"

"Of course. I mean, women give men plenty to look at when they're in swimsuits."

They were on vacation. It had been a long time since they'd been on vacation. Hugo had forced it upon his beloved wife, because he was of the opinion that she was far too focused on her work. Things were taking off for her, that was true enough. But she needed a break.

It was nice that she had agreed so readily.

It was nice that she had packed the tiniest little bikinis he'd ever seen, and was now lying here by the pool outside their villa in the Neptune Antigua resort looking mouthwateringly good.

It was nice that she felt free to smile at handsome guys as they wandered past, obviously checking her out, wishing she wasn't so obviously part of a couple. Nice that she could point out to her husband the men she liked the look of across the other side of the pool.

"Those guys are giving you plenty to see."

"You don't get it: usually the guys who actually wear speedos are the guys who really shouldn't."

"So your new international law would have to have a serious caveat, right?"

"Okay. If your penis is this small or smaller, you don't have to wear speedos."

It gave Hugo Finnell hope. Because as well as it being a while since they'd taken a vacation, it had been a while since his beautiful wife had done anything to take advantage of the freedom he had given her to see other men. You could almost say they'd become like a conventional couple.

While he still thought almost every day about the wild things they'd done at the tail-end of their twenties, when they'd first moved to New York, it seemed like Madeleine rarely thought about it these days.

True enough, she had been devoting most of her energies to her work. Her small publishing business had been taking off, reaching whole new levels. There was a new office, a growing roster of staff members. New clients, and new opportunities all to direct. Hugo himself had stepped up the career ladder, to manage a whole department at his PR firm in the city. Then came the move out of New York, to a beautiful if somewhat small house in Connecticut. There were even thoughts of possibly having children.

Life was getting in the way.

There simply wasn't time for Madeleine to date other guys, to enjoy the full sexual freedoms granted by her devoted husband. Sure, they still talked about it — occasionally, when they were all sweaty in bed together — but recently, it had been less and less often.

Hugo had started worrying that his gorgeous wife was getting a little too successful in business, a little too mature in her attitudes to life and their relationship.

But here she was, lying out there under the Caribbean sun, palm trees shivering in the gentle breeze above, candidly gazing at the gym-toned college-age bodies hanging out on the other side of the pool, nearest to the cocktail bar.

"You'd have to have somebody to enforce your new international law," he chuckled.

"Oh, sure. People like me."

"You'd do it?"

"Oh, I'd drop everything and sign up," she gently scratched at her knee, but it really only had the effect of drawing Hugo's gaze down her stunning figure, which might not have enjoyed much sun just yet, but was still just breathtaking to behold. She was his perpetual goddess, and even his private, secret fantasies were filled with her long, blonde hair, those wicked, dark eyes, her pretty face strewn with pixie freckles, her full breasts, those pink nipples stark against her pale skin, the sensual curves of her body, leading the eyes down between her thighs to her perfectly smooth mound, her devilishly hairless pussy.

He'd been surprised that she'd agreed so readily to the vacation. Thought she'd object, tell him that she had no time for lounging around a beach, or tearing down a ski mountain. But she'd squealed and hugged him the moment he'd suggested it, acknowledging just how badly she needed the break after turning into a full-on workaholic.

But what would she feel about the sexual fantasy that was increasingly taking control of Hugo's dreams — that she might take up the philosophy of What Happens on Vacation Stays on Vacation, and be tempted into a little sexy infidelity while at the resort?

"I'd patrol the beach. Any guys like that..." she was saying now, pointing across the azure blue water of the pool at the buff college studs, "I'd order them to strip off right there and then."

"Strip off? But your law wouldn't require nudity."

"I'd give them little emergency thongs to wear, until they could get the appropriate tight swimsuits."

The resort was perfect. It was all self-contained, with an array of pools and various guest villas dotted around between them. Plenty of palm trees overhead, a nice beach if you wanted some ocean time, a few fairly decent restaurants. They didn't want to explore the island, they didn't want to sample local delicacies and enjoy the local culture. They wanted warm sunshine, comfortable sun loungers, an easy dip in the cool water and easy nourishment. They wanted to relax, nothing else. Oh, and some good poolside cocktails, if you were asking.

Expensive, but then it was a Neptune resort. And Madeleine's business was doing so well, they could afford the occasional luxury.

"You'd get too tempted by all the nice young college guys wearing tight trunks. You'd never manage to patrol the whole beach in time."

"I'd have a team to help me."

"And how would you enforce the penis-length stipulation?"

Madeleine laughed. "I'd have to get out there and measure them."

Hugo was actually surprised how well Madeleine forgot about her work here, and let her hair down while they enjoyed the heat and the peace of the resort and the beach. He could happily go without thinking about his day job, simply glancing over at his pretty wife as she lay out there in next to nothing. But he'd feared she might take her laptop with them on vacation, and spend all day every day peering at the numbers, emailing the clients, worrying about the sales.

Instead, she was just lusting after the other resort guests.

"You're going to be a cougar some day, Mrs. Finnell."

He loved how easily she smiled, how it filled the world with brightness when she did. "Who's to say I'm not one now? How old do you have to be?"

"I would've said forty and up."

"But you don't think I could date one of those 21-year-olds, and be considered a cougar at 35?"

"I'd have to see it first."

"Naughty."

Most people would probably want an empty resort to truly relax, but Hugo and Madeleine enjoyed the people watching enabled by this thriving place. There were plenty of families around, but there were also a lot of beautiful people, and a healthy enough selection of college students to make you wonder if Spring Break had been deferred to the summer for some reason.

"Hey, you think those guys are twins?"

Hugo followed her gaze and saw two large, highly fit young men among the college group who regularly hung around the pool nearest their room. He'd seen them around, he'd even taken a second look at how ripped they were — both of them, identical as could be. Did twins have to do exactly the same amount of working out in order to look the same like that?

"I think they must be." He saw her lift her sunglasses to check them out, and the corners of his mouth curled up in a smile. "Don't tell me, you're curious what they might be like in bed."

"Of course," Madeleine laughed. The sound alone made her husband's insides warm up by at least a degree.

"You're wondering which one is better in bed."

Both of the twins were wearing long swim trunks that came down beneath their knees, but even if they weren't wearing speedos, you could tell they were stowing beasts of significant size in there.

"Well, now I am."

"Okay," Hugo chuckled, "let me guess: you were thinking about what they might be like... together. If they even would sleep with someone together."

She wrinkled her nose, a touch disappointed that he could apparently read her so easily.

"No," she said, but she was blushing and smiling, and both of them knew she was telling a little white lie, "you just take it too literally that I'm your favorite porn star."

"You should go ask them."

"Maybe I will."

"No time like the present."

And just like that she was on her feet, stretching out, and then adjusting her bikini this way and that so that she looked just perfect — shifting the top a little around her breasts, pulling up on the waistband of her bottoms to ensure they were tight against her sex and that cute butt of hers. Hugo felt his heart beating a little faster, at the thought she might actually go and introduce herself to those college guys.

"You should take off your wedding ring," he said.

Madeleine turned to look at him, a serious note on her pretty face, asking him silently if he was really sure about this, whether he knew that if she took off her rings, and posed as a single girl, those twins might really want to make a play for her.

"Go on," he laughed, trying to lighten the mood, though his insides were all aflutter in a way they hadn't been for a while.

She smiled, and stepped toward him, giving him a glorious view of her trim body in that tiny swimsuit, all primed and ready for other men to lust over. "You're the best husband in the world, did I ever tell you that?"

He chuckled at her flattery, but inside it warmed him up to feel her excitement, her gratitude, her love. Then he watched her sauntering over to the other side of the pool, to where the twins in question were ordering mojitos at the cocktail bar, and it felt like Christmas.

If they were 21, then the twins were newly legal in the States, and the whole group of those college guys seemed to be drinking as though they'd only recently joined the club. Hey, it allowed Madeleine to mingle with the crowd easily enough.

Hugo watched her sidle up to those guys and strike up conversation as easily as if they'd been old friends. Well, she was a highly fanciable female, and actually you could look at her and believe she was a college student herself, even a decade after graduation.

From this distance, Madeleine's white bikini looked almost as though she was wearing only underwear to flirt with them. And it really didn't leave anything of her body to the imagination. Delicious.

It had been a while, but there was that familiar little tickle inside him, the faint burn of jealousy and excitement blending like the most delectable cocktail ever devised. The sight of Madeleine flirting with other men never got old. Even after the things she'd done, the things he'd seen her do.

When one of the twins put a mischievous hand on her rear, though, it wasn't Hugo who gasped.

He turned his head to find a youngish couple — younger than them, at any rate — lying there on sun loungers much closer than he'd realized. They couldn't have failed to overhear his conversation with his wife. The young woman, a pretty brunette in a fairly conservative but nevertheless appealing green, one-piece swimsuit, was fairly openly staring across the pool at Madeleine, and she did not seem to approve of what was going on.

The guy with her — boyfriend or husband, Hugo couldn't see their ring fingers — looked faintly confused, though not so judgmental.

Hugo just smiled and lay back to watch Madeleine flirting. They probably should have been a little more discreet in their conversation, but he wasn't going to care about what people around them thought of them. They were on vacation. He wasn't going to see anyone but Madeleine again, so who cared? Right now, the more pressing issue was the clear delight on the faces of the twin college guys that Madeleine was even talking to them — and the way they were flirting right back.

Madeleine could really turn it on when she wanted to — her dazzling smile, the sparks in her eyes, the way she pushed up her chest and arched her back, the way she toyed with her long, silky blonde hair, the way she occasionally tilted her hips, or put a hand on her waist, all subtly designed to draw the eye to her breathtaking figure.

In a bikini, it was just plain unfair. No wonder the twin college guys were captured by her in mere moments. Hugo smiled as he saw them trying to impress her by subtly — or not so subtly — flexing their muscles, by standing as tall as they were able, by puffing out their chests like turtledoves in heat.

He wasn't surprised that they stepped in to buy her piña colada. He wasn't surprised they were standing so close to her, and that when they all had cocktails in hand, they were all edging away from the rest of the group of college guys and girls.

He had to hand it to his wife when she linked arms with them both and sauntered off in the direction of the beach. She had come, she had seen, she had conquered.

Hugo looked up to see the brunette now lying on her front, ignoring what was going on across the pool — but her partner was looking back at Hugo with an open display of confusion and surprise on his face. Hugo smiled at him, shrugged, and turned on his front himself to get a little sun on his back.

It was kind of fun shocking the neighbors.

Lying on his front he was able to fire up his Kindle and get back into the latest Stephen King epic, but it also had the added benefit of concealing his rather swollen manhood. He had no idea what Madeleine was doing with the twins, but just seeing her go off with them was enough to spark his filthy imagination. He had to temper his hopes and desires with the reality that going off toward the beach — rather than the hotel rooms — more than likely meant Madeleine was looking to continue her flirting rather than arrange some seriously speedy tryst.

A few minutes later a text came through:

*>They're called Carl and Calvin. They're really nice, too.
We're down on the beach. Think we might be roped into some volleyball.*

Well, that had Hugo up on his feet. He wasn't going to ignore the chance to watch Madeleine jumping around on the beach.

*

Beach volleyball. Well, if it didn't all seem like one great euphemism. Young, beautiful men and women leaping around the sand, laughing and yelling and smiling and flirting. Wearing next to nothing as they leaped about after the ball, jumping into each other, accidentally or otherwise, diving into the sand for a difficult shot, hugging each other when points were won, sharing high fives, touching each other in consolation when points were lost.

There were two courts set up on the beach, and from what Hugo could see it wasn't exactly regulation Olympic Beach Volleyball. There were four on each team, for starters. It meant for crowded courts, but lots more opportunities for players to collide, to embrace, to flirt, than the normal two aside sport.

The games seemed to be perpetual, too, with Madeleine's side up 37-26 when Hugo eventually arrived, with no end in sight. The players were drinking and laughing and liberally swanning in and out of the game, with rolling substitutions part of the overall lack of restrictions.

Hugo was pleased there were plenty of people watching, too, because it meant it was easy for him to get a good view. Wasn't only college students, either.

So he got to see Madeleine jumping around in that sexy little white bikini, her golden hair tied back in a pony tail, stretching up for a high ball, jumping and diving all over the place, pert buttocks jostling in her bikini bottoms, which seemed to require continual adjustment for comfort and so they didn't accidentally expose everything. Her body might be paler than most of those around her, but Madeleine's beauty made up for that. And when she got a little sweaty and coated with sand like everyone else, it was a little less obvious.

There was plenty of booze around — and two guys on the sidelines to sell more bottles of the stuff. And with Madeleine playing with the twins and another girl from the college group, it seemed to Hugo perfect opportunity for her to flirt with them — and, as the afternoon progressed, seemed to get them all closer than if she'd gone on a date with them.

They played for two hours, and Hugo spent much of the time nursing a semi, and trying not to let others see it, it was so thrilling to see Madeleine out there, showing off before all those people, and enjoying all the attention she was getting.

When she came off the court, periodically, she hung out with Carl and Calvin and their friends, drinking and talking and laughing as though she were just another college girl, hot and available.

At last when it all seemed to be coming to an end, Hugo thought Madeleine might stay with the twins and party with them all night — but she eventually tore herself from them, and scampered through the thinning crowd to Hugo, to link her arm in his and escort him home.

"You're not staying out with them?"

"I told them I need a break, I need to freshen up."

"So maybe you'll see them later."

"Maybe."

She looked up at him, a sparkle in her dark eyes, her pretty mouth stretched wide in a glorious smile, implying that, yes, something might actually happen. That so long after anything had last happened, Madeleine might actually be in the mood to return to The Fantasy, that dark delight that had so perked up their sex lives in New York.

On the walk back to their villa, Hugo didn't like to pry further, fearing it would jinx the potential for Madeleine to go out and have fun with other men.

But then they got into the villa, and as Madeleine went into the bathroom to turn on the shower, Hugo couldn't help but push her with a little question or two.

"So you think they'd be up for something?"

"Carl and Calvin?"

"Of course."

"And you'd like it if they were?"

"Uh-huh."

Madeleine came out into the hallway, gazing directly at Hugo.
"Are you saying what I think you're saying?"

He laughed. "It's been a while since you played with anyone."

"And you're still of the opinion that you'd like it again?"

"Of course."

She broke out into a smile at that, and it warmed Hugo up considerably.

"So you going out with them tonight?" Hugo asked her.

"I don't know. They're partying, like they do every night. Didn't really invite me..."

"That's because they're assuming you'll show up."

Madeleine smiled, but shook her head.

Hugo took her in his arms and kissed her, tasting her sweet, full lips, the faint tang of piña colada still lingering in her mouth. She moaned as he pulled her to him, his hands swarming over her behind, which was barely covered by her bikini.

As she felt his hardness pressing against her, she caught her breath.

"You haven't changed, have you?" she said softly.

"Why should I?"

She laughed, "It's been such a long while... I thought you might have come to your senses, or something."

That made Hugo laugh. "'Come to my senses'? No, I guess I haven't done that."

There was a sparkle in her deep brown eyes, serious excitement. It rubbed off on Hugo. "So you secretly wish I was partying with those guys, right? Maybe more than partying..."

"Not so secretly," he said, pressing himself against her.

"They seemed to like me having fun with them," she said, moving her hips subtly but clearly so she could graze her bikini-clad sex against his shaft. "I'm not sure if they want... you know..."

"Are you kidding? The way you look in this bikini?"

"They're in college," she laughed. "I'm not even in my twenties any more."

He kissed her neck, just beneath her ear, breathing in the faint scent of her remaining perfume, the warm personal smell that was Madeleine, and the sharpness of chlorine from the pool, the salt of perspiration gone by.

"I saw the way they were looking at you."

She pouted. "Well, they should have asked me to go with them to the party tonight."

But she had her hands on his hardness, and the way she stroked him, she was loving just how rock-solid it was. Before Hugo could open his mouth to say something else to encourage her to gatecrash the college party, she said, "Maybe I should just dress nice and go down, hang out in the bar. Someone else might come along..."

Hugo felt himself throbbing in her hands, and Madeleine giggled as she noticed it.

"Seems like you approve," she said.

"Oh yes. But you have to keep me updated."

"Of course."

"Don't leave me hanging."

"I won't. But you're really happy to do it again... I mean... if I meet someone, and he's nice..."

"Really happy."

Hugo slipped a few fingers inside her bikini bottoms, stretching out that little triangle of white cotton and Lycra so he could stroke the smooth, soft skin over her mound, and run one finger gently along her searing slit. She was seriously wet already, her juices slick, oily to his touch.

"No," she moaned as he slid his finger inside her, up to the knuckle. "I have to get ready."

"Oh, okay."

"You know it'll be better if we hold back until... well, until I come back."

Hugo nodded. "One way or the other."

He kissed her one last time, and allowed her to step away, smiling a touch nervously and a whole lot excitedly as she disappeared into the bathroom. Hearing the sound of her firing up the shower. He slumped in the armchair in the corner of the room to watch — or at least point his eyes in the general direction of — CNN on the television.

Jesus, how was he nervous again? After the journey they had both taken when they'd first moved to New York — he'd watched her breaking every boundary of their once monogamous relationship, he'd seen her crashing through the taboos of modern marriage. He'd seen her doing all manner of filthy things with other men. Other people.

Sure, they hadn't done anything for a while. But it felt almost as it had the first time.

Listening to her in the shower, and then to the sound of the hairdryer, he suspected that the anxiety he was feeling now was somehow different to that he'd first felt when encouraging Madeleine to go with the flow of her desires, to pursue the man she'd lusted after. Right now, there was definitely a component of his nerves from the concern that she wouldn't go through with it again, that the powerfully erotic adventure of sharing Madeleine would be denied to them.

He had to tell himself that this was going to happen. Even if the twins could resist her, there would be some other man in the resort who would fall, helpless.

And as Madeleine stepped out of the bathroom, naked yet now dry, flicking out her freshly brushed golden hair over her shoulder, Hugo felt certain that this was going to happen, in some shape or form.

"What do you think I should wear?" she asked him.

"A skirt," he said. "Probably nothing much else."

She smirked. "You don't think it might get a little cool later on in the evening?"

"You'll have a man to heat you up, won't you?"

She laughed. Hugo tried to look as though he was calmly watching CNN, he did have some pride. He didn't want his wife and soulmate to see him as some slobbering pervert. But in truth, he couldn't help gazing at her. His eyes darting back again and again, to behold her pert breasts, stiff little nipples, her shapely derriere, her freshly-shaved mound, the sweet pussy that might later be used by someone else. She noticed him looking at her, and enjoyed his renewed enthusiasm, even dropped a pair of panties on the floor on purpose, so she could pick them up and give him a naughty show of flesh.

She laid out three skirts on the bed, and Hugo chose the shortest, a short but flouncy, blue-and-white crinkle skirt. Madeleine chose a white tank top to go with it — it would show her arms, her shoulders off nicely, and prove flattering for her chest.

Hugo was offered the choice of her underwear. She knew how it would get him going, selecting the intimate apparel she would use to seduce another man. He opted for a white lace thong and matching bra — almost bridal. Perhaps signifying her return to purity, so long it had been since she had last strayed.

"How do I look?" she said, dressed with her make-up finally applied, a pair of white high-heeled shoes added to the mix.

"Incredible," he said, and he wasn't flattering her just for the sake of it. She looked stunning. Classy, summery, virginal somehow, unsullied.

"You still want me to go?" she smiled.

He nodded. "And have a wonderful time. That's the important thing, remember?"

"Sure. Love you."

A last peck on the cheek, to protect her make-up, and Hugo breathed in a lungful of her strong, vanilla-sweet perfume. How could she possibly fail to capture some horny male? It would take a minor miracle.

"I love you too," Hugo said, feeling a strange surge of emotion inside him. "You want to leave your rings behind?"

She grinned. "Sure?"

*

He started off hanging out in the villa. Wandering from the bedroom through to the lounge, out to the balcony. Spying on the few people still hanging around the pool as the sun dipped behind the palms and the daylight faded. A few nice beach bodies to look at, but really it was mostly old people or families, and they were all finishing up ready to disappear back to their own villas.

But time was moving too slowly while he waited. He ended up donning a pair of pants, grabbing his room key, wandering around the resort until he found the bar in which Madeleine could be found.

There she was, sitting at the Paradise bar overlooking one of the resort's main pools, piña colada in hand, chatting to some dark-haired guy perched on another stool. Slightly older than her, perhaps 40, he was wearing a white shirt and swim trunks — as though he'd hardly made much effort.

Hugo hung back from the bar itself, didn't go in. He could sit and dip his toes in the cool water of the pool and see her flirting with that guy, enjoy the flutter of butterflies inside his stomach as she smiled and laughed at the conversation of a man who clearly fancied her.

But then the man was gone, and Hugo received his first text update from her.

>Having a good time, but might try another bar instead.

Hugo replied:

>That one no good?

She send another saying:

>Okay, not great.

He felt a twinge of disappointment, but it was only for a moment. Madeleine had standards, of course, and when he thought about it he was pleased she did. She wasn't going to sleep with just anyone because she knew it made her husband horny — she was going to choose someone she really wanted, someone who really got her going, someone worth the pressure that went with sharing her.

And it only turned Hugo on more to know that whoever she chose, she would want.

He let her go, didn't stalk her. Let her choose whichever bar she'd try next, he wouldn't even try to find which one it was. He wandered a little, even took a detour down to the beach for a little last look at the sun before it sank beneath the horizon. The sound of the waves crashing against the shore were so restful.

Then he sauntered back to the apartment, waiting for her next text update, hoping something might happen.

There was no avoiding the slowness of time passing. He watched the clock. This time, though, he took a more positive attitude to it. With every tick of the big hand, the chances that Madeleine would find someone were that much greater.

9pm, she was still out. 10pm. If she could just remain open to something happening for another hour or so, Hugo felt certain she would be texting him that she'd met someone, that they might go some place more private.

Nothing, though, from Madeleine. 11pm arrived. Hugo was hoping that receiving no more texts from her was a good thing, it meant she was too distracted by someone. He sat out on the balcony overlooking the pool, imagining how much fun she would be having, at how energized she would be by the attention from some new guy. How beautiful he'd make her feel with all his compliments, by the lust in his eyes.

Half past eleven. Hugo had ordered a large piña colada on room service — Madeleine's favorite poolside cocktail — to take the edge of his wait, and perhaps make him think about the taste of his pretty wife's lips.

Suddenly, his phone buzzed with a text from Madeleine:

>Going well :-)

Hugo felt himself thicken up in his pants. He responded:

>Tell me more! Who is he?

But there was nothing more but continued clock-watching. A couple of college-age guys dived in the pool, which was beautifully lit from beneath, glowing blue and inviting in the darkness. Hugo found himself wishing it was the twins, that Madeleine was in there with them.

11:45pm. He was trying to figure out how long it might take a man to whisk Madeleine off her feet, assuming they were both up for a little seduction. If things had truly been going well, something ought to be happening by midnight, right?

A few minutes later, another text from Madeleine:

>No time. Going to be back late ;-)

Wow. He was so hard he was throbbing at that one. He was so unbelievably aroused, and in large part it was because he knew what a good time Madeleine had to be having. How she would be smiling, laughing, so monumentally cheerful and upbeat. Once, their relationship had trawled such dark times, when she'd been so miserable, unable to pull herself up. She hadn't returned to that state after they'd moved to New York, but now she was having so much fun again, Hugo was reminded just how far she'd come.

Now midnight came around, and Hugo was certain his wife must have gone back to some other man's villa. She would be unable to tear herself away long enough to send a text update, but she would be lounging on his bed, going down on him, taking him in her mouth.

She would be slipping his hard cock deep inside her.

Every minute that now passed now seemed to make Hugo more and more turned on, if that was possible. The longer she was away now, the longer she would be having full blown sex with another man.

Only, then it was 1am, and Hugo received another text message:

>Are you really sure about this?

Hugo felt a jolt of almost painful energy flash through his heart — so she really hadn't done anything yet?

He replied:

>Definitely. I want it as much as you, maybe more!

Then, from Madeleine:

>I don't want you to think we have to do this for old times' sake

Hugo sighed. Was she going to think her way out of this opportunity? Surely not. He replied:

>I never stopped thinking about you going with other guys, just because life got in the way of it happening again. Nothing sexier than seeing you being naughty :-P

Then,

>Okay. Love you xxx

Hugo responded in kind, but now he felt as though his wait was restarting. After all that sitting around, things might only just be beginning soon. His assumption was also that, this late in the night, she would be spending the rest of the night with whichever guy had won her desire.

2am. Now he was pacing, back and forth, back and forth. He'd tried sleep, on the assumption that Madeleine wasn't going to return to their villa until the morning. It hadn't worked. He was so buzzed, his cock hard as a marble column, there was no way he was going to relax.

He'd thought about relieving the tension in himself, but then he faced the prospect of losing his desire for what was happening in some other villa somewhere. The post-orgasmic downer that could creep in, which might take all the heat out of the reality of his wife spending the night in someone else's bed.

So, to the pacing. In and out of the villa, across the balcony.

3am. The world outside was so very still, so very silent. The surface of the pool below was pure glass. The resort was empty enough to imagine it was closed to the public. Hugo found himself stopping, standing completely motionless, trying to quieten even the sound of his thumping heart — was it vaguely possible he might be able to hear two people having sex, if it wasn't too far away?

He couldn't, though.

He sat, and tried some more. Even hearing Madeleine sleeping with another man would be wonderful. He knew it was happening — it had to be — but his heart craved the certainty of ironclad evidence that it was.

Disappointment was creeping back in now that he failed to hear anything but the distant surf crashing against the beach.

And then he heard something. Laughter. He thought he was imagining it at first. Or that the sound had come from one of the bars, wafting on the breeze. None of the bars were open this late. No one was awake.

There it was again. Male and female laughter. It was getting a little louder, approaching. Hugo ducked down in the corner of the balcony in case whoever it was looked up and saw him watching them.

Two young men burst out of the bushes onto the tiled terrace around the pool — and it didn't take more than a moment for Hugo to recognize them in the light from the pool. The twins from the college group. Carl and Calvin, not that he knew which one was which. They were wearing nothing but swimming trunks, their bare chests as ripped as ever, and not even any shoes.

Both of them were laughing, but someone behind them was shushing them, reminding them that they were no longer on the beach, they were within easy earshot of dozens of villas.

Then Madeleine stepped out onto the terrace. She was still wearing exactly what she'd been wearing when she'd left the villa, although she was now carrying her white high-heels in her hand.

What was she doing with them? Had she joined the college group's party?

"You'll wake everybody up!" he heard her whisper at them. She glanced up. Could she see her husband?

The twins stifled their laughter, but now they shocked Hugo by suddenly bending over, to pull down their swim trunks. Again, he thought his tired eyes were playing tricks on him, but looking again, Hugo saw the two young men standing entirely naked by the edge of the pool, Madeleine giggling behind them at their bravado.

They stood there for a long moment, apparently unconcerned that insomniacs in any of the villas around the pool would be able to look outside their windows at their huge cocks lolling between their thighs, startlingly obscene. Then as though they'd been part of a synchronized swimming team, they raised their arms in unison, then dived into the pool.

More laughter as they emerged from the water, turning back to gaze at Madeleine as she ventured closer to the edge of the pool, astonished at what they were doing.

"Come on, it's nice," they were urging her, now actually doing their best to keep their voices down.

Madeleine flashed her eyes in horror and delight and outrage at what they were suggesting.

Hugo felt his heart thumping so loud in his chest, he was afraid he'd be seen, and his presence would disrupt what was going on, scare away the twins.

Then Madeleine gave him another little shock as she suddenly pulled her white tank top up and over her head, dropping it by her side on the tiles to leave her bra visible. Jesus. She was laughing again. Off came her bra, and the twins in the pool whooped before remembering to restrain their enthusiasm.

Hugo shivered, feeling a little light-headed to watch his topless wife standing there before two strange men, her breasts bare, her nipples stiff, her face lit by her beaming smile.

Then down came her skirt, leaving her irresistible in those dainty white lace panties. She paused, seeming to weigh the balance of keeping on her remaining shred of underwear, letting them just get wet so she might protect some of her modesty — or give in to the wild spirit with which the twins were infecting her.

Hugo knew his wife well enough, but it took him by completely surprise when she stooped and slipped down her panties, much to the approval of the two men in the pool. This time when she hesitated by the edge of the pool, apparently mulling over whether to dive in with them, and risk that the pool was now cold in the night air, she was really adoring the attention she was getting, the admiration and longing from the two young men for her lithe, nude form.

Then Madeleine lifted her arms, echoing the movement of her two suitors, and launched herself from the edge of the pool, hitting the surface of the water like a straight arrow, piercing it and shooting through the depths to where the twins were standing.

Laughing, swimming a little this way and that to warm herself up, acclimatize to the different temperature of the water, it wasn't long before Madeleine was approaching one of the twins, pulling him in for an embrace.

Hugo was riveted to the sight of his beautiful wife pulling the young man to her, bouncing in the water, leaning in to kiss him. God, oh God. This never got old.

The other twin was hanging back, watching them, but then the lovers parted, and all three were simply giggling at how ridiculous this was, how brave and stupid they all were, how risky it was to skinny dip in the resort pool right beside all these villas.

Madeleine kissed her twin, and then swam away. The guy gave chase, and then the other twin joined. Madeleine came to a stop down the other end of the pool — closest to Hugo, as it turned out — and things descended into a water fight.

Then she was kissing the other twin. Hugo couldn't be entirely certain it was the other twin, since they looked so much alike, but he felt sure enough that it was. This was like watching the street magician moving the identical cups around, inviting you to guess which one covered the coin. Could Madeleine tell the difference?

She swam away, and again they gave chase. This time, the two of them caught her, and lifted her between them in the water, and Hugo could see both their hands wedged between her thighs, pressing against her bare sex. They were laughing and chatting in hushed voices, but Hugo couldn't hear what they were saying.

Madeleine squealed as the twins suddenly dropped her, the high-pitched sound escaping her attempt to confine it. Then one of the twins lifted her by himself, as though a new husband carrying his bride over the threshold. She was loving being handled by them, the way their muscles bulged and flexed as they lifted her, Hugo could tell easily from all her bright smiles.

The other twin came to help his brother hold her up above the surface of the water, her pussy open for the world to see, and Madeleine was laughing but protesting the danger of discovery, that someone else would see her full exposure.

This time, though, they settled down, and Hugo watched them both holding her, touching her, admiring her, stroking her, rubbing gently at her available pussy. He watched her kiss them, one and then the other, as they caressed her sex, as they slid their fingers inside her.

Hugo could hardly believe what he was seeing. The old acid burn of jealousy was back inside his stomach as he watched these two men enjoying his wife — and yet once again, it merely made his arousal feel that much more powerful.

One of the twins swam away, to the edge of the pool. Was he leaving her to his brother? He hauled himself out, perching his behind on the edge of the pool, his hard cock upright and seeming disturbingly large as he sat there.

Madeleine was laughing and smiling as she now approached him, brushing her long, wet hair out of her face, moving between his legs, placing her arms on his thighs as she took that great manhood in her hand and guided it to her mouth.

Hugo stifled a gasp as he saw his wife take another man into her mouth. It was so wrong, and yet so thrilling. Seeing her full lips stretching around another man's hard cock, her eyes closing as she enjoyed the wicked feeling of this new cock in her mouth, making him moan as she sucked him, as she stroked his shaft with her fingers.

The other twin was watching them, touching Madeleine, feeling her back and her butt, sliding his hand between her legs, though he didn't fuck her in the pool.

Did he come in her mouth? Hugo didn't think so. But the moment was over, the guy returned to the pool, and for a little while the three of them were just swimming around again, chasing, fooling around, diving under the surface and reappearing, pushing off the side and crossing to the other.

Madeleine watched as both twins climbed out at the steps, and then offered hands to pull her out with them. She accepted, went with them, and then they were standing in front of the pool, not far away from Hugo at all, one of them kissing her, her body glistening with the water in the light of the pool lamps, the man's hand sliding all over her body, dipping between her thighs again.

He kissed her, fondled her breasts, caressed her sex, and then his brother was there too, echoing his movement. Madeleine, a beautiful blonde temptress, was loving being sandwiched between these two olympic-looking gods. Moaning and laughing at how wicked they all were, she was close enough to Hugo for him to tell that she was more than a little tipsy.

And both of those guys were rock hard for her — she was loving that. Her hands drifting between them, checking out this one and then that.

One of the twins now took her hands and drew her back to the edge of the pool, where he sat dipping his toes in the water. Now it was his turn for Madeleine to take him in her mouth, and Hugo was certain this was the other twin, the one she hadn't already gone down on.

He held her hair out of her face, and she grasped the guy's huge throbbing shaft before swirling her tongue around its head. Then she sank down on it, sucking him, exploring him, enjoying this second cock.

The guy's brother sat down behind her, stroking her back, massaging her as he watched her going down on his twin. He had her kneel, and raise her behind, and now he could slip his fingers inside her pussy while she went down on his twin. Hugo admired the man's patience. He wasn't rushing anything: just appreciating Madeleine's raw beauty, and the sight of her with his twin.

Hugo figured it had to be strange being a twin like that. Though no doubt you'd be able to tell yourself apart from your twin, it would be almost like watching her going down on yourself, from a different perspective. Perhaps you could appreciate such a sight in the same way a husband who shared his wife appreciated watching his wife with another man.

Now Madeleine swiveled, and turned, straddling the twin she'd just been sucking on, though he now turned to face his brother, so that Madeleine could slide his cock inside her and face his brother.

Hugo caught his breath as he watched his pretty wife take the young college boy's cock deep inside her pussy. She moaned, but bit her lip to control her noise in the still of the darkness. Then the other twin stepped up, and her noise was stifled by his huge cock.

Hugo was so hard, he had to take it out to enjoy the sight of his wife being filled by two cocks. She was so wicked, she was so sexy, two hard lengths sinking into her at once, her body rocking back and forth between them, still glistening with water from the pool.

Oh God, he was burning all over, pulsating, quivering, fizzing. He felt cold and hot at the same time, feverish. She was his, and yet she was giving herself to them. He was her beloved, and yet she enjoying the naked bodies of two other men. She was so sexy, so delicious to behold and yet so unfaithful.

It was a feast of contradictions, but a mind-blowing experience.

Madeleine pulled herself off the twin on the ground, and now went on all fours so that the other could enter her from behind. Hugo heard her moan as the twin entered her tight pussy, before she managed to quieten herself. It made the hairs stand up on the back of Hugo's neck. He could hear them groaning despite their attempts to remain quiet. He could hear the sound of their bodies moving together, Madeleine being pounded.

The other twin slid under her head, letting her take his hardness in his hands, stroke his bulbous head all over her pretty face, stretch her lips around it.

In the stillness of the night, Hugo heard his wife come, and it very nearly made him lose control of himself to watch her. His body was filled with the warmth of sexual gratification at the cast-iron proof that Madeleine was having a wonderful time, that she was in sexual heaven.

He watched her shudder and shiver over the buff body of that college boy, could even see her reddened pussy clamping around his huge cock, as though he'd positioned them all specially so that her husband might see everything.

They changed around, and it wasn't long at all before the other twin was making her come, just as powerfully as before.

She was quietly whimpering, and then one of the twins said something, and the three of them were laughing again — and Madeleine couldn't help but laugh even though she was still coming. It was a strange, wonderful mixture of fun and wickedness and light-hearted hilarity at how completely ridiculous it was for them to carry on like this in public.

Then the twin on the ground — Calvin or Carl, he had no idea — withdrew his cock from Madeleine. His hand emerged from between their bodies, reaching under her to grasp it, the shaft so huge and glistening with her wetness, and beat it until his white cream was spurting out all over her pussy, her abdomen, her stomach.

More laughter, drunken merriment over the conclusion of their wild threesome. And as Madeleine reached down to gently stroke the man's softening cock, and rub his cream into her skin, the other twin was pulling his own hardness from her mouth, taking it in his hands, guiding it to Madeleine's pixie face as he pumped.

Then the second man within a minute was unloading all over her body, his cream squirting all over her mouth, dribbling down her chin, splashing over her chest.

Hugo very nearly lost it himself, very nearly wasted the hardness he had. He looked away from the sight of Madeleine stretching out along the side of the pool, continuing to touch herself as the laughing twins dove back into the pool, needing to calm down, stop thinking of the sizzling sight of his wife being taken by two men.

He turned to the side and caught sight of something outside another villa. Movement. Hugo felt a shot of ice course through his chest — fear. Were they discovered? What if the police were called? Madeleine Finnell, owner of a respectable small publishing business, arrested for lewd behavior.

But he peered at the balcony, and saw someone in the shadows — watching intently. Not the police. Not someone calling the police. Someone watching the show. The ice inside him thawed quickly. It seemed hot to Hugo that someone else might be watching Madeleine being so naughty. Who was it?

He tried not to look as though he was watching them, in case it scared them away. Madeleine and the twins appeared to be winding down at the pool. She was sitting on the edge of the pool, dipping her feet in again, but resisting the demands of the twins to join them back in the water.

"It's cold," she was saying quietly, "it's too cold now."

Hugo saw the person on the balcony move, and then light from their room fell across their face, their body. It was a woman.

The woman who, along with her boyfriend or husband, had been so shocked and outraged by Madeleine's flirting with the twins earlier in the day. She didn't seem outraged now. She was dressed in one of the white resort bathrobes — and unless Hugo was very much mistaken, she had her hands between her thighs while she watched the twins pulling themselves out of the pool, flaunting their brawny nude bodies before the naked Madeleine.

"Stay with us," one said to her.

"Yes — there's only a few hours until dawn."

"Come to our villa. We'll play some more."

"I'm tired," Madeleine was laughing, but delighted they were hooked on her. "I want to sleep in my own bed."

Hugo was trying to watch, while continuing to monitor what their secret voyeur was up to. He remembered the couple mentioning their jet lag, their inability to sleep at night. Did the guy know his wife, or his girlfriend, was out here watching three other guests having sex at the pool?

Then the curtains shifted behind the woman, and by the low light coming from the villa, Hugo could see the woman's partner emerge, dressed in another bathrobe, then sit with her. He not only knew she was there enjoying the show, he'd been enjoying it himself.

Hugo saw the man reaching over, laying a hand on his wife's thigh, moving it up, so that he could touch her pussy, perhaps take over from her masturbation. As he watched, the man slumped down on the balcony floor, climbing between her legs, burying his face between her thighs.

Now he glanced down, and there was nobody down by the pool. For a moment, Hugo was suddenly afraid she'd fallen for their persuasive requests and had gone back with them to their villa.

Then the door of Hugo's villa banged shut, and there was Madeleine. She was wearing her skirt and her top again, but along with her shoes she was also carrying her underwear, rather than wearing it. He watched through the open French windows as she wandered through the bedroom, dropped her underwear and her shoes on the floor, beaming at him as she walked toward him.

"Hey," she said, flashing white teeth.

"Hey yourself."

"You were watching, then?"

"Uh-huh." He stood, leaned against the balcony railing with his back to the pool as she stepped to the French windows.

God, she looked stunning. The freshly fucked look was truly something to behold.

"You want me to take a shower?" she asked.

He shook his head, glanced aside, and saw that the woman in the other villa was still there on her balcony, watching Hugo now, who was standing there fairly prominently.

He said, "Someone else was watching you as well."

Madeleine looked alarmed for a moment, before she read Hugo's relaxed body language. "Who?"

"A couple. I think they might be married. They were lying next to us this morning when you went off to meet the twins."

"Oh, they were?"

"Probably heard me telling you to take off your wedding ring before you went over."

"Oh, really?"

"They looked kinda shocked when they saw you go over there and start flirting with those guys."

Madeleine gave him a mischievous grin, obviously feeling the same way about it as Hugo. Why should they care about shocking people? They were on vacation. They weren't ever going to see them again. She reached for him, a hand through the French windows.

"You coming inside?"

But Hugo reached for her hand, and pulled her out onto the balcony with him, making her squeak in surprise.

"It's nice out here," he said.

"But they might still be there, watching," she said.

"What are you worried about? They've already seen you well enough."

He drew her to him, and as she put her arms around his shoulders for support, kissed her mouth. He breathed in the strange scent of another man — other men — on her body, along with the tang of chlorine. Tasted the unusual flavor of her mouth, tickled by the knowledge that she'd taken two hard cocks between her lips that night, that she'd been so wicked with her mouth. He breathed her in and he sucked on her lips, his hands sweeping all over her back, and Hugo subtly used his pretty wife as a cover, behind which he could check on the couple in the other villa.

The woman was staring at them, apparently aghast at what she was seeing. So shocked, she wasn't being careful to keep to the shadows, to avoid the light from her own villa.

Hugo enjoyed shocking her. What must she think of him, for wanting Madeleine so badly so soon after he'd witnessed her public infidelity?

"You're so naughty!" Madeleine panted as she pulled back from him. "You want them to see, don't you?"

He chuckled. "Why not? If they want to watch."

Hugo's hands slipped around her breasts, feeling her through the thin white tank top, his thumbs finding those hard little nipples of hers.

"I didn't think you were an exhibitionist," she giggled quietly.

He smiled. "I don't know that I am," he said. "I just like the idea of showing you off. And maybe shaking them up as well."

Madeleine was fumbling with his pants, pulling them down his thighs, freeing his hard cock before taking it in her hands. "You know I was looking forward to this all night," she insisted.

Hugo laughed. "While you had your hands on two young studs?"

"Seriously." She knelt down, holding up his hardness to her mouth, kissing his tip, swirling her tongue around its head. "They're fun... but this is mine..." she said in between taking him in her mouth. "And I love, love, love how hard you get watching me with other men."

Hugo sighed and groaned as she sucked him into her mouth, her hand closing around his shaft to pump him.

"They... still watching?" she asked.

"Just the woman, I think."

"Maybe... they don't think...I'm your wife."

"Huh?"

"Maybe... they think... I'm an escort or something."

"No, they heard us too well this morning. Saw you taking off your wedding ring."

Madeleine grinned, and now Hugo urged her up onto her feet, to kiss him again, to hold him, to feel his hardness against her body — and so he could tear off her top, and shove down her skirt.

Damn, she was still the hottest thing he'd ever seen, even after all these years they'd been together.

She was beaming with delight as he turned her, so that she had her back to the pool, so that she could lean her pert butt against the balcony wall after stepping out of her skirt — while Hugo knelt down on the floor.

He kissed his way down her stomach, past her navel, and couldn't fail to recall how the college boys had sprayed their come all over her. He moved down between her thighs and had her sit on the wall of the balcony, spreading for him. She smelled so strongly of sex, it made him feel quite giddy, intoxicated.

He kissed his way over her freshly shaved mound, hearing her moan softly as he approached her soaking wet slit.

Two men had been here, had slid their huge cocks into her here. It made Hugo feel a little dizzy to see how red and puffy her pussy was, how unbelievably wet she was. He lapped at her juices, and she sighed at the pleasure of his tongue against her sensitive folds.

"Are they still watching?"

"Yes," she said. "Or at least, she is. I'm not sure where the guy is."

It had been a while, but Hugo was pleased that he still enjoyed the taboo of going down on his beautiful wife just after she'd been unfaithful. The taboo of a husband accepting his wife's infidelity, the taboo of a man tasting a woman's pussy so soon after she'd fucked someone else, the taboo of doing it all out here, in public — it all combined to form a tantalizing experience.

Perched there on the edge of the balcony, Madeleine put one thigh on his shoulder as he ate her, locking him in. He devoured her, reveling in her wicked scent, her tangy flavor, coating his face in her juices.

She came twice before he was done with her, and despite warning that she was sore from taking the two large twins that night, she was begging for her husband's cock.

"Here," he said, and turned her so that she stood and faced the pool, leaning over the balcony wall.

"Please..." she said.

But before he rose to slide his hardness inside her, he crouched to eat her from behind, recalling the sight of those twins taking her from behind as he slid his tongue into her pussy, wedging his face against her hot flesh.

When he did stand, gliding his stiff prick into her eager pussy, he was pleased to see their voyeur was still there, following their progress.

"Fuck me..." Madeleine hissed as he did exactly that. "Fuck me... fuck me... fuck me..."

After a while, she had him help her turn around, so he could face her as he fucked her unfaithful pussy. They could gaze into each other's eyes and whisper dirty thoughts to each other.

"You liked watching them fucking me?"

"Oh, yes."

"You liked seeing two men shoving their cocks inside me?"

"It was so hot... I'll bet you loved it. Those big cocks."

"They felt amazing. I wasn't sure they'd fit."

"I couldn't believe how sexy you looked with them both inside you."

"I was thinking of you watching us, of how hard you must be to see that."

"I was harder than ever."

"I love making you hard. And then when you're inside me..."

"I'm not as big as them."

"No, but you're the perfect size... not too big, not too small..."

"And the twins, they were the same?"

"As far as I could tell. I thought one was a little rougher than the other when we fucked me, but then they both proved me wrong."

She dropped down on to the floor again, turning to demand he take her from behind once more. He slid inside her, wrapping his arms around her, his hands clasping her breasts, and as he moved within her pussy, he leaned in to kiss her neck, breathing in that intense scent of sex and other men once again.

"She's still watching," Madeleine said quietly, in amongst her heavy breathing.

"Yeah?"

"Only... the way she's moving... I think he might be there to."

"Her husband?"

"Underneath her." Madeleine giggled. "Maybe we've converted them."

"Maybe."

Hugo peered into the darkness in the direction Madeleine was looking, and could see the way the woman on the other balcony was moving. Rising and falling, in a clear regular rhythm. She was definitely still watching them, but she was straddling her partner, riding him.

Madeleine now leaned forward over the balcony wall, resting her elbows on it, pushing up her behind, making it easier for Hugo to thrust in deeper and harder. He held her hips and upped his pace, rocking her body every time he slammed into her, making her cry out.

And her cries grew progressively louder. It wasn't like she was going to wake the dead, but it was loud enough for the other couple to hear in the other villa.

Hugo could tell it was getting Madeleine even more fired up, knowing they were being watched — and being watched by a couple who had been apparent prudes about a married woman going off to fool around with other men.

Along with the constant thud of his body pounding against hers, Hugo could hear the wet sounds of his hard cock powering into her soaking pussy. She was so drenched with juices at the whole experience, and in the still night air he could smell how aroused she was, and it only spurred him on further.

It wasn't long before her cries turned to a constant quiet whimpering, and Hugo knew well enough what it signified.

"I'm going to come," she panted, as if she needed to.

"Me too.

"Please... come inside me..."

She was clutching at the balcony wall now, her hands turning whiter at the knuckles as he continued to pound her beautifully rounded behind, splitting her cheeks with his hard shaft.

She was so very wet, but Hugo also thought perhaps she'd been a little stretched by the enormous cocks she'd taken earlier that night — he was gliding into her so easily it seemed a wonder that just now she was able to get to orgasm in this way.

It made him shiver to think of her being stretched by other men, only made him bulge and throb down there all the more. Perhaps the memory helped to drive her on, too. It seemed so very filthy that she'd been just down there by the pool, taking two strangers at once.

He felt her orgasm approaching, welling up in her body, and there could be no doubt that the other couple would hear her. Madeleine quivered, and juddered, and bucked under him, and Hugo allowed himself resolution knowing it was the perfect moment.

He allowed all the memories of Madeleine being fucked by two muscle-bound college boys flood his mind, and felt the surge of jealousy and arousal swamp his chest, adrenaline powering around his blood vessels from the sheer buzz of just how desirable Madeleine became in his eyes at the thought of how insatiable, how sexual she was.

Thinking of her like that, there was no stopping his own climax, no stopping the blissful explosions firing off in his loins, the filling of his body with the elation of orgasmic hormones, the hot seed erupting out to fill his wife's unfaithful pussy.

*

In the morning — late, though they had emerged from sleep — they caught the tail end of breakfast in the main resort restaurant. They both felt the strong need for nutrients after such an active night.

Madeleine was purring after engaging in a brief text message conversation from Carl and Calvin.

"They want to take me to a beautiful private beach along the coast somewhere," she said, all beaming smiles and brightness, with more than a hint of horny vibrancy in her eyes.

"I'll bet they do," Hugo chuckled, but felt the thickening of his manhood and was helpless to prevent it.

"I'll probably have to take it steady if I go with them."

"Still a little sore?" he laughed, biting into a juicy peach that made him suddenly crave a taste of his naughty wife's pussy.

But she didn't answer. She was looking across the large dining hall, where the couple who had been watching them the night before were just finishing up picking up their breakfast from the buffet bar.

Hugo saw them notice himself and Madeleine, recognize them. But the other couple looked differently at them now — no longer outraged. Interested, perhaps. The woman — a redhead, wearing a dark blue bikini top and long white skirt this morning — nodded a silent greeting across the room.

"Well, I never," Madeleine said.

The man, who wore a faded black t-shirt promoting some long-forgotten band, and a pair of knee-length brown swim trunks, nodded a greeting to Hugo.

"What are they doing?"

They were coming over.

END

About Max Sebastian

More From Max Sebastian

Next: Cat Unleashed

Table Of Contents

Cat Unleashed
A Short Story
by Kirsten McCurran

Cat thought she was even more excited to be in Las Vegas than Glen was. She took in all the big, fancy hotels along the Strip as the shuttle took them from the airport to their hotel. There was just an energy to the city that was unlike anything she'd ever experienced before. She couldn't wait to get checked in and start exploring.

"Are you hungry, Cat?" Glen pored over a map of the Strip.

"I'm famished, actually." She had refused to buy the overpriced snack box on the plane.

"Good. Me, too. We'll get checked in and changed and then find something to eat."

"Okay. I'd like to get to the pool, too. The website said it's only open 'til seven."

Cat had studied everything about Vegas she could before they left. It pays to plan ahead. It wasn't raining when Noah built the ark was one of her mother's favorite sayings, and she was a smart woman. And Cat's plans included spending a lot of time relaxing by the pool, going to some nice restaurants and seeing some shows. She knew Glen wanted to get some gambling in, and she would join him at the tables, but if he wanted to spend serious time playing poker, he could do it while she was reading by the pool.

The check-in line at the hotel was long and slow-moving. It serpentine through a roped-off area and all Cat could think of was how much fun time they were losing. Glen's reassurances that they would be checked in soon enough only annoyed her. Cat expected people to do their jobs competently, quickly and cheerfully.

Glen could see Cat's reserves of patience dropping with each passing minute. He hoped it didn't ruin her afternoon. She could get in a mood sometimes. He was just as eager to get to out there and have some fun as she was. He would have preferred to hit the Strip and explore, but knew Cat would want to go straight to the pool. He found her tight focus on relaxing amusing. It was just like her to be annoyed that her fun didn't go according to plan. But he loved her for it. She could be very cute when she was frustrated over silly things—not that he could ever admit they were silly.

Once they reached their room, Cat suggested they just get a bite to eat at the pool. It sounded good to him. He was so hungry he didn't care what he ate. He took his bathing suit into the bathroom to change into after using the facilities and when he came out she was ready to go, wearing a cute little red tankini with white trim. Seeing her changed into her swimsuit perked him up and he pulled her into his arms. She allowed a kiss and even a quick grope of her ass, but she wouldn't be sidetracked.

"We'll have plenty of time for that later," she said.

Cat felt him getting excited through his baggy trunks and knew he would be dragging her onto the bed if she didn't slow him down. It wasn't that she didn't fancy a quick roll in the hay. Her body reacted to his excitement just like it always did, but she didn't want to spend time in the room now after being cooped up on that plane for so long. When they made love later, they would take their time.

The pool scene was crazy. A DJ on a riser kept a relentless beat going, while people in the shallow pool partied and danced to the music. At first glance, every lounge seemed to be taken, covered in blue and white striped towels if they weren't occupied, but Cat spotted two empty ones together. Glen was glad for the positioning. He had a perfect view to the pool, and more importantly, the girls dancing in it. Not long after they set down their things, a pretty brunette with a gorgeous body took their drink and food orders. He made an effort not to stare, and it was truly an effort. Her red bikini did not cover much.

"It's okay to look," Cat laughed. "Just try not to stare and keep the drooling to a minimum."

She knew girls like that waitress were no threat to her marriage, so she did not mind if her husband looked. Besides, he was like the dog that chased the car. If he caught her, he wouldn't know what to do with her.

Cat was never sure how to feel about sexy girls like their cocktail waitress. Or many of the other girls she saw in and around the pool. She knew how she'd been taught to feel. They were all tramps and should cover up. But really, she was more than a little jealous of them. She knew she had a good body. Sure, she couldn't tumble out of a bikini top like their waitress, but her breasts were perky and she kept trim and fit. It just went against everything she had ever been taught to put herself on display like that. Cat knew she was loosening up as she got older, but it was hard to shake those old lessons.

When she read a sexy romance novel—or their racier cousins, erotica—she always put herself in place of the heroine, wishing she could just let go and let her passions take over like that. Some of the things in 50 Shades of Grey went too far for her, but her pulse still raced when she read it. Reading those things gave her ideas for the bedroom, but she could never bring herself to tell Glen. She blushed just thinking about it. And besides, their sex life was great, anyway. But still... She watched those girls in the pool, gyrating to the music in their tiny bikinis and rubbing against their boyfriends and thought it would be exciting to be like that just once and not worry about being judged. Maybe she would cut loose a little. She hated being a cliché, but if ever there was a place to do it, it was Las Vegas. They were a thousand miles away from home with little chance anyone they knew would see them. Her mother could hardly disapprove of things she would never find out about.

Glen helped Cat apply her sun block. She was fair skinned and lightly freckled—adorable in his eyes. It was funny to him that she couldn't wait to get to the pool only to make sure she didn't actually get any sun. As he rubbed the lotion into her shoulders, he could not resist glancing around. He had never seen so many hot women in one place wearing so little. Some of the bikinis he saw barely covered a thing. It was a sight to behold. And here Cat was so covered up. He knew she would look just as good as any of those other women in some little string bikini. Even better, because she didn't have tattoos everywhere. She did own some two-pieces more revealing than this one, and he decided he would have to see if she'd packed any. At least his first ploy worked. He ordered Cat a slushy frozen drink over her objections that just a Coke would be fine.

The desert sun burned hot and after they ate they moved into the pool. The water only came to a few inches above Glen's waist when standing, and a ledge went all around the inside perimeter, providing seating. They sank down into the cool water, and he pulled Cat into his lap and hugged her to him.

"So here we are," he said.

"It's pretty wild, isn't it?"

"Do you think we should get out there and dance?"

Cat laughed. "In the pool? This isn't a nightclub."

With the music, the dancing, and the booze, it might as well have been, and he said as much. He was sure most of the people there were hammered. "Everyone else is having a good time."

"And I'm having a good time, too, being here with my husband."

Cat turned and kissed his cheek, but he moved before she turned back and met her lips with his. She closed her eyes and tried to forget everyone around them as she returned the kiss. She was all for public displays of affection, as long as they didn't go too far. But the fruity drinks—she was on her second—had done their job and she was feeling relaxed and loose. She ruffled Glen's wet, sandy hair and a thrill shot through her when he flicked his tongue towards hers. The driving beat of some club song rocked her body and for a moment it was just the two of them, floating in the cool water under the hot sun. But then Cat felt his hand sliding over her side, and she halted his progress before he reached her breast.

"Glen, there are too many people around," she sighed, pulling his hand back down to her side.

"I don't think any of them would notice. We'd fit right in."

"Still..."

Glen kissed her again and let her turn back around. Cat wished he'd tried just a little bit harder. Maybe this would be the time she would relent.

"Hey, guys, where are you from?" The voice carried a strong Irish brogue and startled them both.

The couple looked up to find a handsome, obviously inebriated man approximately their age—mid to late twenties—grinning up at them as he floated low in the water. He had a chin-strap beard and a mischievous twinkle in his eyes.

"Ohio," Glen answered. He could tell the stranger was appraising his wife.

"Pleased to meet you. I'm Kris, with a 'K.'"

"I'm Cat, my husband is Glen."

Kris took Cat's hand, but did not bother shaking Glen's. Glen was sure this charmer had the girls falling all over him, but then noticed he was also wearing a wedding ring and he relaxed. He didn't mind other men checking Cat out, but he didn't like them openly flirting with her right in front of him. A man demanded respect.

"So is it pleasure or work you're here for?"

"Pleasure," Cat replied warmly. Glen knew that tone. The fruity rum drinks had her relaxed alright. "It's our two-year anniversary."

"Splendid. The missus and I have been together two years as well."

"Where is she?" Glen asked.

"Just over there." Kris gestured to where a pretty woman with a short, blonde bob was dancing with another couple, paying special attention to the tall, slender woman.

"That's a beautiful accent. What part of Ireland are you from?" Cat loved the way his brogue washed over her. She'd always had a weakness for handsome men with accents, and Kris was certainly handsome. His clear blue eyes held her like she was the only woman in the pool and she felt her heart sink just a little every time he looked away.

"Ireland?" He laughed and added, "I'm from Canada."

"Really?" Cat laughed, too.

"Oh, aye."

Glen tightened his arms around his wife, lest he be forgotten completely. "And are you guys on vacation, too?"

"We are. Just a wee break from the routine. We all need to get away."

"How long have you been here?" Cat asked.

"All week. We head back tomorrow, sadly."

"That's too bad."

"Aye. Think of the times we could have had."

Although Kris was there with his wife, Glen couldn't help but think the Irishman was thinking of what a time he could have with Cat. Her arms were folded over his and she stroked his arm, suddenly more affectionate since Kris had joined them. Glen let his annoyance go, deciding that if meeting Kris got Cat going in some way, it was worth it.

"There you are, woman," Kris said. "Michelle, this is Glen and Cat. They are celebrating their second anniversary."

“Hi, guys. Congratulations.” Michelle moved right past Kris with a hug that really just embraced Cat, and she kissed Cat on the cheek. Glen felt his wife tense for a second. “Cat...that’s fun. Is it short for Catherine?”

“It’s Catroina, actually.”

“Mmm, pretty,” Michelle purred.

Pretty was definitely the word Glen would have chosen for Michelle. The blonde had keen eyes and a classically sculpted nose—and that hint of an overbite he’d always found so sexy. She wore a multi-colored, bandeau bikini, and while it wasn’t as skimpy as many sported at the pool, it did nothing to hide what a fantastic body she had. When she pulled on her top to keep it in place, it only called attention to how well she filled it out. The bottom swung low on her pelvis, revealing a tattoo of several stars right along her bikini line. She stayed close to them—or close to Cat. Glen was sure it was accidental that her leg kept brushing his leg under the water.

“Kris tells us you’re from Canada,” Glen said.

“Yeah,” she replied curtly.

“Which part? I used to go up there with my parents during the summer. It’s so beautiful,” Cat said.

Michelle did not answer, and Kris jumped in. “How are you two celebrating?”

“We’re just going to relax and do some gambling. Cat’s excited about taking in some shows.”

“Ooo, there are some good ones here. You guys have to check out the clubs, too. They’re awesome.”

“Aye, we could all go out tonight.” Kris grinned, like it was a brilliant idea.

“I don’t know, we just landed today. I don’t know if this is going to be a late night for us.” Cat surprised Glen. She sounded genuinely disappointed.

“We can go if you really want to,” he said. “We can do anything you want, honey.”

“Yeah, think about it. I bet a night of partying is just the thing you need,” Michelle said.

To prove her point, Michelle took both Cat’s hands and pulled her out of Glen’s arms. She pulled Cat toward the middle of the pool then pulled Cat close to her. Glen watched, dumbfounded. Cat let Michelle hold her, and the women moved with the DJ's throbbing beat. His mind went right to dirty places. His cock hardened as he thought about the women doing more than just dancing. What if Michelle leaned in and kissed his wife? He could dream that Cat would not just freak out.

Cat was freaked out, and confused. She tensed up when the pretty blonde invaded her space, but she was drunk enough that she relaxed and allowed herself to enjoy it. It fit perfectly with her desire to cut loose. She was surprised when Michelle literally swept her off her feet and held Cat in her arms, as if she were carrying the brunette across the threshold. Michelle slowly spun her around, and Cat was uncomfortable that some of the men around the pool had started paying attention to them. But being pressed against Michelle felt good, and took her back to an experience back in college that she'd always wished had gone differently.

Glen hid his disappointment when his wife squirmed from Michelle's arms, but their new friend was not deterred. Kris insisted on buying a round when the women returned, not relenting until Cat drained the drink she was currently working on. Glen watched his wife stare at Kris when he stood, the water rippling down his muscular chest and tight abs. A hint of a treasure trail lead from his belly button into his trunks. There was a big, colorful tattoo of a tiger on his ribcage, which Glen thought was gaudy, but Cat was entranced by it. Kris had several more tattoos on his shoulders as well.

Kris vanished, leaving Glen with the women. He pushed into the conversation as much as he could, but the women chatted away like old friends. The fruity, frozen drinks had stripped away Cat's shyness completely. Michelle kept finding excuses to touch Cat, and Cat seemed to mind less and less. By the time Kris returned with their drinks, Michelle was hanging on Cat, who had her arm around the blonde's waist.

Not long after Kris returned, Michelle announced she had to use the bathroom and took Cat's hand, leaving her no choice but to accompany Michelle. Cat shot Glen a look of resignation, but in truth, she did not mind going along. The bathrooms were around the back of the far side of the pool, past the rows and rows of lounges.

Two women were at the sinks, looking at themselves in the mirrors when they ducked into stalls. When Cat emerged, Michelle was already washing her hands, and Cat did the same. They bumped into each other by the hand dryer and both laughed. The next thing Cat knew, Michelle was kissing her. Her first reaction was to stiffen, but she barely reacted, and did not pull away.

It brought Cat right back to college, when her roommate dragged her to a frat party, insisting she'd have fun. She even let her roommate talk her into wearing some flouncy little spaghetti strap dress. Cat danced and enjoyed all the guys hitting on her as she drank more and more, but the strangest part of the evening came when they returned to their dorm room. Her roommate spun on her and kissed her, just like Michelle was now. Her brain buzzed and she flushed from head to toe, but Cat was too scared to go on and she pushed her roommate away. It was something she'd always regretted—and with that in mind—she refused to push Michelle away now.

Cat allowed herself to relax, and even began enjoying the kiss. Michelle brushed her hair back, and flicked her tongue into Cat's mouth. She held Cat's face in both hands, but then slid them down the brunette's sides, and pulled Cat closer by her hips. Cat's breasts mashed into Michelle's, and the full-body contact took Cat's breath away. She opened her mouth fully to Michelle, and even tentatively touched her arm. Michelle took that hand and guided it to her own ass. Cat gave it a soft squeeze, but then went harder when Michelle did the same to her. The kiss grew more impassioned by the second, and Cat really went for it, meeting Michelle's tongue with her own. Michelle turned them and pressed Cat against the wall. Cat fought back a moment of panic—she felt trapped—and squeezed Michelle even harder, digging her nails in. Cat was scarcely aware of Michelle's hands, until the blonde rubbed her palm across Cat's breast. Cat froze once again, and this time she pulled back. Drunk as she was, she was not ready to go any further than kissing.

"The guys are going to wonder where we are," Cat stammered. She turned away and hoped Michelle did not see how much she was shaking.

“You’re probably right.” Michelle smiled wickedly and led Cat out of the bathroom by the hand.

Glen noticed right away that Cat looked shaken and flushed, and he did not think it was just all the alcohol. She seemed unable to meet his eyes. When the women sank back into the pool, Michelle floated behind Cat and wrapped her arms around his wife. Cat only hesitated a moment before leaning back into her new friend. It made him even more curious about what had happened in the ladies’ room. Pondering the more far out possibilities made him hard again, and he was glad no one would be able to see in the pool.

The two couples moved around to an alcove on the other side of the oddly-shaped pool, where they had more privacy. The two women sat side-by-side on the submerged bench, though it was more accurate to say Cat was half in Michelle’s lap, and the blonde kept holding and caressing her as much as Cat would allow. Kris kept yammering on and hardly seemed to take notice, while Glen was glad to be wearing sunglasses. He could not take his eyes off the women. Cat’s expression was unlike any he’d seen before. He had no idea what she was thinking. She kept her hands in her lap, and at one point Michelle rested a hand on Cat’s. Glen imagined the blonde might be trying to touch his wife’s pussy and he thought his cock was going to burst. Meanwhile, Michelle’s other hand moved closer and closer to Cat’s breast, just beneath the waterline, and he was sure Michelle wanted to grope her. Kris droned on in the background and Glen interjected where he could, but he hardly paid attention. Cat was surprisingly chatty, as if she were making the conscious effort not to think about being so close to Michelle. The tension came to a head when Michelle finally closed the distance and her fingers brushed the underside of Cat’s breast. Glen was watching another woman touch his wife’s tits! He was out of his mind.

Cat was a whirl of emotions. She would never have thought being so close to another woman—being touched by one—would turn her on so much, but Michelle had her practically trembling. Michelle’s hand on her lap kept pressing harder, forcing Cat’s clenched hands into her lap. Cat was so turned on that the pressure made her throb. And Glen sat right there the entire time. He had to see what was going on, but he didn't seem to object. Did he want something like this? Did he want to see her with another woman? No matter how good Michelle's hands felt, Cat didn't think she could ever do something like that. She couldn't bear seeing Glen with another woman.

Cat was forced out of her thoughts when Michelle touched her breast again. This time she did not pull the blonde's hand away, but forced herself to sit there. The touch was almost casual at first, but Michelle lightly massaged her, fingertips just brushing against Cat's nipple, which hardened through her tankini. Fear took over, and Cat had to get out of there. She pulled away from Michelle and crossed the distance to hold onto Glen's arm.

"We should get going, honey. It was a long flight and I want to get some rest before tonight," Cat announced.

"Can you not stay a bit longer?" Kris asked. "I was thinking maybe we could all go out together tonight."

"That would be fun," Michelle said. She smiled hungrily at Cat.

"What do you think, babe?" Glen asked Cat. She clung to his arm like he was a life raft.

"We already have plans. I'd hate to waste that money."

Glen silently cursed. There she was being practical again. He thought something really crazy might happen if they hit the Strip with Kris and Michelle, but he could tell Cat was not going to bend, so he backed her up. "She's right. Sorry, guys. Maybe we'll see you at the pool again tomorrow."

"I hope so. That's too bad," Michelle said. She crossed over and hugged Cat tightly, giving her butt a good squeeze.

Cat practically dragged Glen out of the pool, and she could not pack up their things quickly enough. He felt a strange energy from her on the walk out, and all the way up on the elevator. He wanted to ask her what was going on, but they were never alone—not until they finally walked into the room. And before Glen could ask her anything, she shoved him back on the bed.

"Babe..." Glen uttered when she fell on top of him.

"Be quiet. Make love to me," she demanded.

Glen tore the filmy cover-up from Cat's body and tossed it on the floor. He was consumed with desire and could not remember the last time he'd wanted his wife so much. It took some fumbling to untie her tankini, and by the time he pulled it down they'd rolled over and she was on her back. While they kissed, she pulled on his t-shirt, and he helped add it to the growing pile of discarded clothing on the floor. He grabbed for her breasts and her dark, puffy nipples were already thick with excitement. Her breast easily fit into the palm of his hand and he massaged it. Cat was not big up top, but she was perky—and in Glen's opinion—perfect. He moved down her body and smothered those breasts with kisses, flicking his tongue at her nipples. She purred and arched off the bed, pushing her chest at his hungry mouth. Her pink manicured nails dug into his shoulders. It spurred him to suck her nipples harder and nip at them.

"Mmm, not too hard, honey," Cat gasped. His mouth felt good on her, but her nipples were so sensitive, and she did not like it when he got too rough. He tended to when he was very excited. But she liked the frenzy with which he attacked her body. Her pussy throbbed, and she burned for him. And yet, as much as she was in the moment with her husband, she kept flashing back to when Michelle kissed and touched her. Glen's hands and mouth felt so good on her, and she couldn't help wondering what Michelle's would have felt like if she had not pushed the blonde away. The pang of regret was pushed from her mind when Glen pulled down her bikini bottoms and touched her wetness. She was so very wet. There were times when she could complain her husband was in too much of a hurry in bed, but this was not one of them. She was as ready as him. His fingers thrust inside her, and she pushed back at them.

Glen felt her cunt squish around his fingers and he couldn't believe how wet she was. Cat could be hard to get going sometimes. He liked to think he always took his time and got her aroused during their lovemaking, but she hardly seemed to need foreplay now. She was probably more excited than him, and it felt like his cock was going to explode. Smoothly as he could, he shifted into position and slammed his prick into Cat. She gasped and enfolded him in her arms and legs. He tried kissing her, but she turned her head aside, and raspy moans carried on her ragged breaths.

Cat clung to him, his pounding cock driving her higher and high toward her peak. The tingling that had started in her pussy filled her body now. It was like she was on fire. Glen grunted right in her ear, and his weight pressed her down into the bed. She loved the feeling of being possessed like this. Cat was not looking to be tied down or anything like that, but she liked when her man was a man and just took her. It just felt right. Sooner than she thought possible, Cat reached her peak and toppled over it, into the glorious freefall of her orgasm. She cried out and crushed Glen in her embrace. It felt like they were collapsing into one as the bliss filled her.

"Cat...Jesus..." he gasped. He could never hold out when she climaxed. Not only did she lock her arms and legs around him, but her cunt tightened and drew the cum right out of him. Glen shook and lost his rhythm. He emptied himself into his wife and whispered how much he loved her.

"I love you so much," she breathed, giving him one more squeeze before pushing him off of her. The cool air conditioning felt good on her sweaty skin, but she pulled at the sheets to attempt to cover herself. She had never been comfortable just lying there—naked and exposed—after sex.

"I guess what they say about vacation sex is true," he laughed.

Cat chuckled. "I guess so."

But in their own ways, both lay there thinking about just how much Michelle's advances had turbo-charged their lovemaking.

★

After a short post-coital nap, Glen showered and hit the casino floor for a spot of gambling, while Cat went shopping in the casino's stores. Her afternoon encounter with Michelle had left her more convinced than ever that Las Vegas was the place for her to spread her wings. She wasn't going to go off the deep end, but suddenly all of the dresses she'd packed for the trip felt too dowdy. She wanted to sex it up just a little bit for her husband.

Cat went about her shopping with the same focus and organization she did everything else. She looked all around each store before choosing what she would take back to the dressing room. Just because she was looking for a sexy outfit it didn't mean she'd transformed completely. The shop girls kept encouraging her into outfits she found far too risqué. Crop tops were apparently back in, and while Cat had the flat tummy to wear one, she felt that in her mid-30s she was too old to pull off that look. Clubwear just was not for her. She finally found the perfect little black dress. Its thin straps more or less matched the tan marks left by her tankini and it was snug to her thin frame, while flowing out at the short skirt. The skirt was not obscene, but it was shorter than she would have worn anywhere else, falling well above the knee. Cat chose not to fret about it. The whole point was to push herself. In another store she found a pair of ridiculously high heels, and even purchased thigh highs to go with them. She could not wait to see Glen's reaction when she was all dressed up!

Glen showered and changed for their night out and Cat disappeared into the bathroom to get ready. When he knocked on the door to ask how much longer she would be, his wife surprised him by suggesting that he have a drink in the bar downstairs, and that she would come down and meet him. He was in a good mood—a couple hundred dollars up from his time at the blackjack tables—and he readily agreed. He didn't mind hanging out at the bar while the sexy cocktail waitresses came and went.

While he waited at the bar, Glen kept going over the afternoon's events in his head. It wasn't like Cat had suddenly whipped off her top in the middle of the pool, but for his ordinarily reserved wife it felt like she had gone that far. In just a short period she had gone from chiding him for trying to make out in the pool to letting another woman feel her up. If he didn't know better, Glen would have thought that Kris drugged Cat when he brought those drinks back. But Cat wasn't altered, she was just horny. Glen hoped her new looseness continued into the night. The show would be a good test. It was one of those topless reviews. When he first brought it up—back at home—he didn't think Cat would go for it, so he was surprised when she said she thought it might be naughty fun. If hanging out with Kris and Michelle had gotten Cat's motor revving, what would a topless revue do to his newly open wife?

Cat took a deep breath when she stepped off of the elevator. For anyone else, this would not be such a big deal, but for her it was a huge step. As she strolled out onto the casino floor she felt the admiring glances of men right away. Her freckled cheeks flushed, and she willed herself forward. She was not used to walking in such high heels and she stepped carefully. As she walked, Cat found that the heels put an extra wiggle into her hips that made her feel even sexier. She heard her mother's voice in her head—that kind of attention is inappropriate. Those boys are only thinking about one thing. Cat knew what the men looking at her were thinking about, and she kinda liked it.

Glen did not recognize her at first. He saw those nice long legs in the patterned stockings and the swell of cleavage below the diamond pendant—things that certainly could not belong to his wife. Her lipstick was a deep red, and she'd re-done her nails to match it. Her auburn hair—now more red than brown from the sun—was pulled up off her shoulders, revealing her slender neck. With the thin straps of the dress, it left the illusion that Cat was showing more skin than she was. When Glen did realize this sexy woman was his wife, his mouth hung open.

"Is this seat taken?" she asked.

He was suddenly dry-mouthed and sipped his whiskey before answering. "I was waiting for my wife, but I don't think she's going to be coming tonight."

"Then it's good that I'm here to keep you company. I'm Catroina."

"I'm, uh, Glen. What can I get you to drink?"

Cat smiled slyly and replied, "You choose."

Normally, his wife would have ordered her standard white wine, but since she was obviously trying something new tonight, he decided to see how far he could push it. Cat would let him know where her limits were. He got the bartender's attention and ordered her a Cosmopolitan.

"You look..."

"Cat got your tongue?"

On a whim, Cat pulled him into a kiss, flicking her tongue to draw his into her mouth, where she toyed with it. She could not believe she was doing this in public. Her earlier poolside adventure had really left a mark on her. Her rational mind insisted, There's really nothing wrong with kissing your husband in public.

Glen was even more surprised by the kiss than his wife. It was exactly what she didn't want to do in the pool. With that dress, and now the kiss, Glen thought he might be in for a fun night.

"What's gotten into you, hon?" Glen asked, when she finally let him go. He saw by her reaction it was the wrong question.

"Is something wrong? You don't like the dress?"

Cat was defensive. Her adventurous side was newborn and therefore easily cracked. Glen was always encouraging her to loosen up, but did he now disapprove?

"No, Cat, you look incredible. That kiss was...wow. I'm just surprised, because, well..." He put his hand over hers, and tried to choose the right words. The last thing he wanted to was to derail his wife's wild side.

Cat smiled shyly. "Because it's not me? Maybe I want to try to be someone new while we're here. I know it's a terrible cliché, but if you're going to cut loose a little bit, isn't Vegas the place to do it?" She sipped at her cocktail. It was strong, but she forced it down.

"That's what they say. I think this is great. This afternoon was awesome."

"Haha. Don't get any crazy ideas. I don't know what was going on there. I blame the hot sun and giant drinks."

"I can remind you, if you'd like."

"I remember everything."

A mysterious smile played across her lips. She liked the way Glen was watching her, confused. She wasn't going to do anything too crazy—she had no plans to kiss any other girls—but it was fun to keep her husband on his toes. He was this excited, and he didn't even know everything. Imagine if he'd seen that kiss!

"Let's toast to a fun, sexy night," Glen said. Their glasses chinked together and they sipped. He leaned in for another kiss, and the slight hesitation on Cat's part reassured him that she was still the same sweet woman he married.

"If you keep kissing me like that, we're going to have to go back up to our room," she giggled. Her emerald eyes sparkled.

“That would be a shame. I want all the guys on the Strip to see the hot chick I’m going out with tonight.”

Cat had put a lot of effort in, but she still demurred at the compliment. She just didn’t see herself that way. She was the cute girl, the best friend, not the vamp leading men around by the nose. “Now you’re laying it on a bit thick, sweetheart.”

“Look at that guy on the other side of the bar. He’s been staring at you since you sat down, and he can’t even see how incredible your legs look, which is why that guy over there keeps sneaking looks at you.”

Cat looked across the bar and saw the man her husband was talking about. He was openly staring at her, and when she accidentally met his eyes she dropped her head and blushed. It also got her heart racing. Maybe it wasn’t so bad to get that kind of attention every once in a while.

Looking at her lap, she realized that she really was showing a lot of leg perched on that stool. The skirt of her dress was so short that it hardly covered her lacy stocking tops with her legs crossed like that. She sought out her other admirer and found him sitting at a table with his wife. Every time he thought she wasn’t looking, he glanced over at Cat, staring hungrily at her legs. She turned an even deeper crimson, if that was possible, and her heart raced even faster.

She always told Glen it was okay to look around, but now she thought this stranger was a dirt bag for staring at her like that. His mind was probably filled with filthy thoughts. A shiver shot through her as Cat realized he might be thinking of her when he made love to his wife tonight. She had no idea where such naughty thoughts were coming from, but it both scared and excited her.

“We should probably get moving if we’re going to get to the steakhouse before the show,” Glen said.

He watched her reaction to her admirers, and he thought the blushing was cute, but he also thought it was pretty hot that these guys were checking out his wife like that. He was not used to her getting this kind of reaction, and he found it really liked it. He wanted those guys to be jealous of him.

“Then let’s get moving.”

Cat drained her drink and hopped to her feet, smoothing the dress down her legs. That cocktail went right to her head, making walking in those heels even more of a challenge. She held onto Glen's arm as they exited the casino.

Glen stood tall as she squired his wife up the Strip. They looked like a lot of the other couples he saw. The wives were dressed to the nines, while the husbands were dressed down. Cat looked as hot as any of the other women in their little cocktail dresses. Glen had put more effort into his appearance than some of the guys, though. Despite the heat, he wore a light jacket over his shirt, he'd worn his nicest khakis and his favorite pair of boots. Cat turned a lot of heads, and he grinned every time. Cat seemed to be enjoying the attention more and more, and walked with a sexy strut. Glen couldn't wait to get Cat back to their room to take advantage of her newfound confidence.

Cat was conflicted by all the attention she drew. She had to fight the urge to cover up as she noticed those hungry looks, but she couldn't deny the tingling it kindled between her thighs. That tingling spread throughout her body, buzzing her brain. She'd never felt so desired, so sexual. Cat understood why the sexy girls always seemed to have so much confidence. The attention—knowing you're hot—naturally bred confidence. And she was not used to feeling sexy. She had been taught that should never be her focus, but she could get used to this.

Dinner at the steakhouse was wonderful. The thick, juicy cuts of meat seemed to melt in the mouth. The wine was the best Cat had ever had, but she paced herself. It would be easy to drink her nerves away, but she wanted to be able to enjoy this feeling.

Glen sat back and watched as the handsome young waiter openly flirted with his wife. He enjoyed it more than he thought he would—it was actually disturbing how much he enjoyed it. He could feel his prick hardening when he saw the waiter looking down Cat's cleavage. He'd always enjoyed men admiring his wife, but this was something more.

The seating for the show was cabaret style, and they had a little table down front, near the stage. Glen could tell Cat was feeling very good by the way she hung on his arm and kept touching his chest.

He wanted her so bad he almost wanted to skip the show and get her back to the room. He leaned in to kiss her and was excited by how easily she opened her mouth to accept it. She even held the back of his neck to keep the kissing going. It was hard to believe this was the same woman who'd been embarrassed by anything more than a peck in public.

His hand rested on her thigh, and he inched it higher. He felt her tense, but she didn't stop him until his fingertips brushed under the hem of the dress. Cat placed her hand over his, but he still tried to go further.

"Glen..." she breathed, breaking the kiss and resting her head on his shoulder.

"Babe, you are so incredible tonight. I want you so bad." He tried to inch his hand higher, but she held it back.

"Honey, there are so many people around."

"You're so hot. I can't help it. Come on, Cat..."

"I promise, it'll be worth it if you're patient."

Cat could not believe how much willpower it took to stop Glen. Her thighs were pressed together and she could feel the humidity radiating from her pussy. She wanted him to touch her—she needed it, but she was not that far gone. Not yet.

The show started, distracting both of them. Smoke filled the stage, obscuring the figures moving about to the blasting classic rock. The shadows moving on the stage looked mostly female. A hunky, long-haired vampire came to the front of the stage. He was shirtless and his leather pants looked painted on. Cat was already so horny that her reaction was visceral. She bit her lower lip and tried to slow her breathing down as she memorized every nook of the actor's six-pack.

Glen spent more of the show watching his wife than looking up at the stage, which was impressive given how sexy the topless dancers were. And not only were they topless, they were hardly dressed at all. They were also impressive dancers. The aerial dancers spinning on the ribbons were amazing. These were not just glorified strippers. He had to wonder how these women, who probably had years of formal dance training, felt about ending up in a topless Vegas revue. He decided most of them were probably just happy to be dancing, rather than working in an office somewhere.

Cat's brain was a cloudy mass of erotic confusion. The dancers on stage were in incredible shape and except for tiny dots of glitter on their nipples and leather g-strings, they may as well have been nude. Their sensual movements suggested all of the things that Cat had always been taught were naughty and forbidden. She knew she should look away, but she could not. Her mind filled with dark, sexual images, and despite what she was supposed to feel, Cat liked it. Her body reacted of its own accord. She squeezed her thighs closer together and it felt very hot in the little cabaret.

One of the dancers particularly reminded Cat of Michelle, and as she watched the blonde work her body on the stage, rubbing against the hot male lead like a kitty in heat, Cat's mind kept flashing back to that kiss in the bathroom. She ached to feel it again. She could almost feel Michelle's hands on her in the pool.

Glen watched Cat's lips quiver, and he wished he knew what was in her head. He knew it had to be good, because her cheeks were flushed and her leg was hot to the touch. He pressed his luck and inched his hand up Cat's pale thigh again. She tensed as before, but when he didn't relent, she relaxed and he moved higher. His fingers pushed beneath the loose hem of her sexy little dress and he felt the humidity radiating from her sex well before he reached it. He wished he'd brought Cat to Vegas years ago.

Cat bit her lip and tried to bottle her moan when Glen brushed her panties. Luckily, the pulsing music was so loud that no one could have heard her. The little round table didn't hide her lap, but it was dark enough in the audience that she hoped no one would notice what her husband was doing. It was so wrong to let her husband touch her like that in public. She felt so good about breaking the rules. She reminded herself that here—thousands of miles away from home—it was okay to break the rules.

The soaked, silky panties clung to her lips, and Glen nudged them into the cleft between them. Cat put her hand on his forearm, but instead of stopping him, she dug her painted nails into his flesh. He knew she was fighting the urge to stop him, and it was so hot that her sexy side was winning. His fingertips traveled up and down her sex, pressing harder, and he felt Cat shaking. He peeled her panties away, exposing her.

"Honey, you should stop," Cat gasped. Despite her plea, she had no intention of stopping him. She couldn't.

Glen wasn't listening. He was too distracted by the feeling of his wife's newly shaved cunt. She must have done it while she was getting ready for the evening. He was stunned. He'd wanted Cat to do this for years, but he was always afraid to suggest it for fear that she would think he was a pervert. He caressed her smooth mound, smearing her juices on the soft skin, wishing he could see what he was touching.

Her sticky lips parted for his fingers and she was soaked. She sucked his finger right inside her, quickly adding a second. Her muscles tightened around him, like she was trying to trap those fingers.

"Oh Glen," she moaned, closing her eyes. She tried to ignore the music and the sounds around them and pretend they were alone. She concentrated on those fingers inside her. Glen slowly stroked those fingers in and out of her, and her clit throbbed. Her juices were flowing and she was afraid she was going to stain her dress. She'd never been so wet. She wondered if anyone was watching her, but she didn't dare open her eyes to find out.

Glen wanted to be subtle, but anyone who saw the motion of his arm would know exactly what he was doing. He was obviously getting his wife off. But he didn't think anyone around him cared. Others in the audience were also fooling around. The erotic vampire show was having the desired effect. He was so hard it was painful. He wanted to put Cat's hand on his cock, but he was afraid that if she touched him he would come in his pants.

Cat's breathy moans were coming fast and furious. It was good that she'd always been more of a moaner than a screamer. But as she lost more control, it was difficult to be quiet. She was going to climax, right there in the middle of the crowd, and she didn't think she could contain it.

It was time to bring it home, and Glen slipped his fingers up to her clit. Cat was a quivering mess, and he was barely touching her clit before she was coming all over his hand. It sounded like she was hyperventilating and then she gave a sharp cry and her entire body clenched, locking his hand between her thighs. Her nails drew blood on his arm, but he didn't care. Making Cat come in public was well worth it. He kept touching her pussy, wanting to make her climax again, but she pushed his hand away.

"Glen...it's too much, honey..."

Glen relented, pleased with his work. That orgasm would tide her over until he could get her back to their room and really take care of her. As hot as the show was, it couldn't end quickly enough.

*

The rest of the show was a blur for the couple, and when it was time to leave Cat was shaky on those crazy heels. She had gulped down her drink, but it only left her buzzed. Cat had never been more clearheaded. Now when men watched her walking down the Strip she took pride in their attention. She wondered if they could tell she'd just had an orgasm by looking at her. Her glow and rosy cheeks made it obvious to her.

There was a lot to do on the Strip, and it wasn't very late—not by Vegas standards—but they were both in a hurry to get back to their room. They didn't speak of what had happened, but kept stealing conspiratorial little looks at each other and smiling.

They were moving through the gaming floor of their casino when that familiar Irish lilt stopped them in their tracks. Glen tried to keep going, and tugged at Cat, but she turned to greet the other couple.

"There are the two of you. We were hoping we might run into you," Kris said, approaching from between a row of slot machines. Michelle was by his side.

They both stopped to gape at Michelle. Glen just didn't encounter women who looked like that, and dressed like that. Her dress was a two-piece, glittery electric blue number—the top a tube top that worked hard to contain her breasts, and left her tanned belly bare, and then a tiny skirt that was barely larger than the tube top. She teetered on matching blue platform heels. Glen was sure Cat was checking Michelle out just as much as he was, leaving him confused and aroused.

“Kris! I thought you guys were out clubbing,” Cat replied. Her obvious excitement displeased her husband.

“We just weren’t feeling it tonight. I couldn’t find anyone fun to dance with—except Kris. I wish you had been there,” Michelle added, her attention locked on Cat.

Glen felt like a bystander as the other couple embraced his wife. First, Kris pulled her into a tight hug, holding her for longer than needed for a casual greeting. Glen ruefully noted that the hunky Irishman only just kept his hand above Cat’s ass while kissing her cheek. Michelle’s greeting was even more familiar, but Glen couldn’t bring himself to be too upset about it. Michelle held Cat and their bodies moved together, almost like they were slow dancing. She pushed back a strand of Cat’s auburn hair that had escaped from her up-do, and kissed her on the lips. It was intimate, stopping just short of going too far. Glen couldn’t believe his wife didn’t push the blonde away.

“Wow, I love your dress. Did that come out of your closet in Ohio?” Michelle asked.

Cat would have blushed at the compliment, if her cheeks hadn’t already been so flushed. Michelle’s kiss had the blood pounding in her ears. She’d been burning up before, but now she thought she might melt into a puddle right there on the casino floor. Michelle’s compliment went right to the part of her that wanted to misbehave. Her own dress looked like a church frock next to Michelle’s barely-there dress, but the blonde had noticed.

Racing back to the room to be alone with Glen faded from her mind as she thought about spending more time with the other couple. She could not decide who she was more drawn to. Michelle was full of feminine mystery—fantasies never explored—but Kris was so strong, so masculine. His black shirt was stretched over his broad chest and those slacks seemed tailored to show off his manhood. She was sure she felt him stir down there when she was in his arms.

“Oh no,” Cat said modestly. “I bought it here. I don’t usually wear things like this.”

“It would definitely stand out,” Glen added, forcing himself back into the conversation. He wished his wife would stand out like that more often.

“That’s a good thing, mate. I’d be showing off this sexy lass every chance I had,” Kris said, taking Glen’s hand in a crushing handshake.

“Glen likes it when I dress up. He says I should do it more often,” Cat said.

Michelle moved to Glen’s side and pressed against him. Her hand felt hot on his chest. His cock throbbed with his heartbeat. “You’re like my Kris, then. I think it’s hot when a man has the confidence to show off his lady. If you know she’s yours, you know you don’t have to keep her on a leash.”

Glen didn’t even know what that meant, but it sounded sexy. He was very distracted as Michelle’s long fingernails tickled at his chest, suggestively tracing downward. He didn’t understand why Cat wasn’t upset Michelle was plastered to him like that, but then, she was distracted by Kris, who put an arm around her waist like she was his. Glen’s brain was all over the place. He’d never been so confused.

“If I had a sexy little wife like you, I’d be showing you off everywhere we went. You’d only have hot dresses in your closet,” Kris said.

“Oh, I don’t know about that. It’s just not who I am,” Cat replied.

“You can be whoever you want to be,” Kris told her.

“Where were you guys off to?” Michelle asked.

“We, uh, were just going back to our room,” Glen said. He really wanted to get his wife upstairs, but he also didn’t want to sound lame. By Vegas standards, it was early to be headed back to their hotel room.

“Hmm, that’s no fun,” Michelle pouted.

“We’ve had quite the day,” Cat said. She’d never been so torn in her life. Yes, she needed to make love to her husband, but the prospect of spending time with the other couples offered more sexy delights—though Cat didn’t know how much of that she could stand. The masculine scent coming off of Kris made her weak in the knees.

“Surely you two have enough time for a night cap. You don’t need to rush off right now, do you?” Kris suggested.

Glen was about to beg off when Cat took the decision out of his hands. She wanted at least one more drink with the exciting couple before they disappeared from their lives.

“That sounds great,” Cat said. “Which bar should we go to?”

“I was thinking of our suite. You’ve got to see this place they put us up in,” Kris said.

“You won’t believe it! They upgraded us on this trip. I’ve never seen anything like it. We have our own pool!” Michelle tugged on Glen’s arm, leading him toward the elevators, as if the decision had already been made.

“Really! That sounds so cool. Doesn’t it, honey?” Cat replied. She allowed Kris to lead her by the arm.

“Yeah, that’s crazy,” Glen replied, resigned to their fate.

Glen could not put his finger on it, but it just felt like going to that suite was a bad idea. He was probably being ridiculous—what could the other couple do to them—but he just couldn’t shake the feeling that they were navigating right for the rocks.

The suite was in the eastern wing of the hotel, and Kris had to press his keycard to a panel on the elevator just to get it to go up to that floor. Glen wondered just what this couple’s story was. Why were they so cagey? They were clearly high rollers, but Kris was clearly not Canadian. He fancifully considered that Kris and Michelle were some kind of international criminals, and that they needed a bland Midwestern couple as a cover for their scheme. Although, Cat was anything but bland in that dress. He watched her hanging on Kris’s arm and felt a stab of jealousy. It would have been worse if Michelle didn’t keep rubbing herself against his side.

“Wow,” Cat said when Kris opened the big mahogany double doors to the suite.

Pink marble was everywhere. Three steps led down to an enormous living room with gaudy French Revival furniture spread about. Beside a well-appointed kitchenette was a wet bar, and another wall held a big flat screen television. A corridor led off to the other rooms. The most impressive feature of the suite was directly across from the entrance. A small infinity pool extended out onto the balcony and seemed to flow off into the Las Vegas sky. Cat had never seen anything like it. The casino suite was the most opulent thing she’d ever seen. She stood in the middle of the living room and spun to take it all in.

"Can you believe this place, honey?" she asked.

Glen stepped down into the suite and had much the same reaction as his wife, except that it made him intensely curious who their new friends really were. Unless one of them was an heir to some huge fortune, how could a couple in their 20s possibly be in this suite?

"They upgraded you to this? From what?" Glen asked.

"It was just a standard suite. Nice, but nothing like this," Michelle answered. Glen suspected they had very different definitions of nice.

"What will ye have?" Kris asked, moving toward the bar.

"Wine, whatever," Cat said, moving toward the pool like it had its own gravity.

"A beer is good for me," Glen added, following his wife.

"This is amazing. You can see the whole Strip," she said, looking out of the floor to ceiling windows. The pool was bisected by two panes of glass above the water line, meaning a portion of it could be used if the occupant wanted to keep the suite sealed.

"This is how the other half lives," Glen chuckled. The people walking the Strip looked like ants from up there.

"It's important to indulge yourself every once in a while, isn't it?" Michelle asked, joining them.

Michelle found a way to squeeze between the couple, and rested a hand on each of them. Glen noted that Cat hardly reacted to the touch. His wife had become very comfortable being close to Michelle.

Kris brought over their drinks, and then fetched cocktails for Michelle and himself. He maneuvered around behind Cat, and the way they stood again called into question who the real couples were. Glen's jealousy was an itch he couldn't quite scratch.

"To the good life!" Michelle announced, raising her glass.

"The good life!" Cat echoed enthusiastically.

"Slainte," Kris said.

The foursome drank and stood awkwardly. The air of anticipation was palatable. Glen knew something was going to happen—he just didn't know what. The smart move would have been to drag his wife out of there, but he had to admit that even with his worry and jealousy he was curious to see what might happen. He was fascinated by what Cat might let happen. She was not the wife he knew, which meant things could get very interesting. Glen was willing to let it play out, even knowing that events would probably get out of hand. He would just have to be on standby to step in when Cat decided enough was enough.

"If you think this is crazy, you should see the rest of the place. Let me give you the tour," Michelle said, linking her arm through Glen's.

It seemed she did not plan on giving him a choice. Leaving his wife alone with Kris was not a good idea, but he allowed Michelle to lead him away. She showed him a full bath off of the hallway, and then it opened wider with two doors opposite each other. Michelle led him into the master suite.

"This really is like a mini-palace," Glen commented.

"I know. It feels like a waste for just the two of us," Michelle replied.

The master bedroom was almost as large as the living room, and had a glass-walled shower and sunken jet tub in the room. Glen presumed the toilets were behind another door. The décor was just as opulent as the rest of the suite, including the largest bed he had ever seen. It was round and raised on a platform, with lights trained on it. Predictably, the ceiling above it was mirrored. His sense of danger increased. Everything about that bed screamed sex, reminding him that the other couple had not just invited them up here for a nightcap.

Cat had only been alone with Kris for a handful of moments, but had the handsome young foreigner made his move yet, Glen wondered. The Cat he knew would have smacked Kris—no matter how handsome he was—but the Cat she'd transformed into could have reacted any way. She could be in there making out with Kris right then. Glen's heart thumped in his chest and his reaction was confusing—it was equal parts jealousy and arousal.

Michelle caught him staring at the bed. "Yeah, that's been a lot of fun."

"I can imagine," he replied, observing that the sheets were all pulled back and the comforter was balled-up at the bottom. The bed had probably seen some fun before they went out for the evening.

He couldn't help imagining Michelle in the middle of that big round bed, nude, with her arms and legs thrown wide. The vision put steel in his shaft.

"Can you now?" she purred, not-so-innocently brushing against his crotch.

"I, uh, I, meant..."

"I know exactly what you mean, Glen. It's okay. Do you think I'm the easily offended type?"

"Uh, no..."

"What would you and Cat do with a bed like this?" Michelle was so close. Her breasts just touched his chest, and in her heels her shiny ruby lips were so close to his. Glen could hardly hear her over the blood pulsing in his ears.

"You know..." he stammered. At the moment, he wasn't thinking about his wife at all, but he could think of plenty of things to do in that bed with the hot blonde right in front of him.

Michelle smirked. "I have some idea. How about Cat and I? Do you think she and I could have fun in this bed?" She touched his arm and pressed those fantastic tits into his chest.

Glen's brain short circuited at her suggestion. It would be the hottest thing ever, but his sweet wife would never go for that—would she? It was so outlandish that he couldn't even picture it, until he remembered how cozy they were in the pool. Did Michelle know something about his wife that he didn't?

"I think you'd be surprised. We women have many layers."

"But Cat..."

"Just think about it, Glen. And don't worry, there's plenty of room on this bed for you," Michelle teased, pausing a beat before adding, "And Kris."

Glen was going to answer, but Michelle brushed his lips with hers—just long enough to leave an impression, and perhaps a trace of lipstick—while simultaneously cupping his groin. He groaned and closed his eyes, fighting for control. He thought of Cat, but that only confused him more. What compromising situation was she in?

In the living room, Cat knelt by the side of the pool while Kris worked a remote. The glass doors over the pool slid open. The chilled air of the suite gave way to the desert air and the heat hit Cat like a smack in the face. There was a breeze, being so high up, but the heat still baked into her skin. She dipped her hand into the pool and it was pleasantly warm, yet still refreshing. She turned to locate Kris and he was right beside her, his crotch right at eye level. The bulge she found there caused a visceral reaction.

"This is really nice," she commented, concentrating on the water instead of what was in her face.

"You're more than welcome to go for a swim. Both of you."

Cat felt his eyes on her, sure he was trying to look down her dress, but it was tight enough that even looking down like that he couldn't see much more cleavage, which made it curious that she leaned forward for him anyway. Her dress was also high on her thighs, exposing the lacy tops of her stockings. She wondered if the bulge in front of her was a reaction to her body, and the possibility that it was made her squeeze her thighs together. Kris was so close, and she knew she should move. What would her husband think if he came back right now?

"I suppose we could pop down to our room for our suits."

"Is that really necessary? We're all grown-ups."

That familiar heat was back in her cheeks. "Oh, I don't know..."

"You can't tell me that you've never skinny dipped."

Cat giggled. "That was a very, very long time ago. It was pretty innocent. Not like..."

Cat had been a teenager on a church retreat. Half a dozen of her friends had snuck out of the cabin in the middle of the night and scurried down to the lake. She knew it was wrong, but she was not willing to be left behind. She already had the reputation of being a goodie-two-shoes. One of the boys had smuggled a small bottle of Boone's Farm in his backpack, and they passed it around while sitting on the pier with their feet dangling in the cold water. Cat let it pass her by. She would not try alcohol until she reached college.

The inevitable suggestion to skinny dip came up and Cat protested that the water was far too cold. Her friends saw through her protests, and after some light teasing, told her to suit herself. They were going in. They were at the age where mixed company skinny dipping was about the most exciting thing in the world. Even Cat, the good girl to the end, couldn't help sneaking peeks as the boys shed their clothing. Those dark, fleeting glimpses were the first time Cat had ever seen a penis before, and they were enough to turn her deep crimson from head to toe as her young brain filled in what the shadows concealed.

All of her friends dove into the lake, splashing around in the silvery moonlit water. She just couldn't take being excluded and shed her clothes too, hoping the others were too distracted to look. But one of the boys, Phillip, was staring right at her as she undressed. Instead of stopping, Cat pretended not to notice and stripped bare before slipping into the water. The cold lake was quite a shock, especially given how suddenly feverish Phillip's gaze on her naked body had made her. Nothing crazy happened that night, just some clumsy groping as they played Marco Polo, which filled her teenage mind with fiery thoughts. A couple of the others paired off, but Cat held her own. The strange new feelings in her body scared her, and she did not want to risk temptation.

Now, a couple decades later, Cat was faced with a similar temptation, but this time she reacted very differently.

"Taking a little dip could be perfectly innocent, unless you don't want it to be," Kris suggested.

Cat looked away, unwilling to take the bait.

"Why don't you put your feet in and see how it feels?"

"That's a good idea."

When Cat agreed, she didn't think about her thigh high stockings. It seemed silly to put her feet in the water wearing the stockings. She sat on the cool marble floor, and when she extended her legs, the short dress naturally fell to her lap to expose the tops of her stockings and a sliver of newly tanned thigh above them. Cat didn't need to see if Kris was watching her. She could feel it.

Cat slipped out of her heel and then slowly rolled the stocking down her shapely leg. She would have never admitted it, but she was putting on a show for Kris, taking her time to unsheathe her leg. As she moved to the other leg, Cat realized she flashed him her lacy black panties, and the daring move made her swoon. She could feel Kris memorizing the curves of her calves, the lines of her legs. It was almost as if he was touching her, and her pussy was soaked. It was that moment that her husband returned with Michelle. Nothing had happened, but Cat instantly felt guilty.

“What are you two up to?” Michelle asked brightly. She slipped her arm from Glen’s and instead took his hand.

“I was just telling Cat that she should feel free to take a swim. It’s the perfect night for it, is it not?”

“That’s a great idea, baby,” Michelle agreed.

Glen wasn’t even listening. He saw his wife removing her stockings, and Kris staring at her with undisguised lust, and he wondered what might have happened if he and Michelle had taken a few more minutes returning from the bedroom. Watching Cat, he had no confidence she would have stopped Kris. And then what would Glen have done? He wished he had a clear answer.

Cat twisted and lowered her legs into the water. It really was perfect. Her aching feet were soothed after the torture of walking up and down the Strip in those heels. They were sexy, but unforgiving. She couldn’t contain her contented sigh. She hung her head back and closed her eyes. The water was so inviting. She was more tempted than ever to take the plunge in the pool.

“It looks great, but we’re, uhm, not quite prepared,” Glen said. He looked to Cat. His normally conservative wife’s response would let him know how far gone she was.

“Do we really need bathing suits?” Michelle asked. “We’re all friends now, aren’t we? There’s no need to be shy.”

Michelle illustrated her point by stepping away from Glen, and with her back to him, and then reaching behind her to open the hooks behind her crop top. Glen stared at her like he couldn’t believe what was happening. The night was taking the turn he’d dreaded—and wished for—and now all he could think was that they had stepped into some late night Cinemax movie. He shifted his attention to Cat as Michelle’s top fell away. He was shocked at Cat stared right at Michelle’s tits, looking more interested than scandalized. It appeared that his wife had made some kind of decision, and Glen had to go along or stop things now.

Glen’s eyes widened further when Michelle turned to face him, proudly showing off her perfect tits. They were so perfect, in fact, that he tried to decide if they were real. Her tits were not unnaturally round or hard-looking, so he decided they probably were real. There was a good way to find out, he thought.

"See?" Michelle said, holding her arms out wide. Glen liked the way it made her breasts move. Yes, they were real. And awesome. "The world didn't end. We didn't slip into madness. They're just tits."

Glen didn't think he should say any of the things that came to mind.

Cat watched Michelle cross the room, knowing what the blonde would do, but unsure what she should do in response. She looked to her husband, but he was too busy staring at Michelle to catch her eye. Glen looked eager to see the rest of Michelle's outfit come off. Did that mean he was okay with what else that meant? Cat wished they could step aside and talk, but events were moving too quickly.

Michelle took Cat's hand and helped her to her feet. The blonde's nude breasts pressed into Cat. Cat's heart pounded. Michelle touched her bare shoulders, ran her hands down Cat's sides. Cat trembled and focused on Michelle's pretty eyes.

"What do you think, Cat? Is this so terrible?" Michelle asked.

Cat shook her head. All she could think about was their kiss that afternoon and how Michelle was close enough to kiss again.

"You're not going to leave me hanging like this, are you?"

Cat shook her head again. Michelle smiled and pulled Cat's zipper, which ran along the side of the dress. Cat was oddly calm, and glad she was more sober than not. She wanted ownership of her decisions tonight. Michelle slipped the straps from Cat's shoulders and tugged the dress down over her pert breasts. Michelle looked surprised Cat wore a strapless bra under the dress, but Cat had not been prepared to go braless for the evening. Besides, the undergarment enhanced her cleavage. Michelle did not stop there, but pushed the dress past Cat's slender hips and it pooled on the marble at her feet. Michelle's fingers felt white-hot on Cat's bare flesh when she trailed them up her trim belly to flick open the front hook of Cat's bra. The black bra fell away and Cat was actually wearing less than Michelle. She felt like her little black lace panties didn't cover anything.

"That's not fair," Cat said, finding her voice. "My dress was all in one piece."

“Go ahead and take care of it then,” Michelle said.

Cat pulled on the tight skirt of Michelle’s outfit, and it did come over her generous hips, but it pulled her thong down with them, leaving the blonde nude, but for her platform heels. Michelle was completely bare down there too, though she looked waxed instead of shaved. Cat fought the urge to touch Michelle there.

It was like he was watching his wife on a movie screen. It was an alternate reality version of Cat. The wife he knew would not be naked in a room with other people, her tits brushing another woman’s. His Cat would not be looking at Michelle like that. And then Michelle gave Cat the kiss Glen saw she wanted, and he thought he might pass out from all the blood rushing to his cock. He put a hand on the arm of the couch to steady himself. Glen had an odd feeling this was not the first time his wife had kissed Michelle.

Glen looked to Kris, who was unbuttoning his shirt. Apparently, it was on, but Glen couldn’t bring himself to undress. He could not move. All he could do was watch the bizarreness unfolding before him.

The girls were kissing, and as Michelle’s hands roamed Cat’s body, Cat’s hands began to move. She cupped Michelle’s nice, round ass, caressed her back. Cat’s hand met the blonde’s cascading hair halfway down her back. Their tits pressed harder together, and Glen imagined how hard Cat’s nipples must be. Cat’s nipples were so sensitive. Michelle ran her hands through Cat’s sun-reddened hair, pulling it out of its up-do so that it came tumbling down. She stroked the side of Cat’s breast and Cat moved to let the blonde touch her. Watching, Glen felt like the luckiest man in the world.

“What are you waiting for, mate? It’s now or never.”

Kris had appeared beside him, fully nude. The man obviously spent time in the gym, but nude Glen could see his muscles weren’t the only thing on him that was over-developed. He felt weird for it, but Glen couldn’t help glancing down at the thick cock swinging beside him. Kris was quite impressive, and although he was not small himself, Glen couldn’t help feeling a bit intimidated. He was not naïve. He knew Kris planned to use that thing on his wife. If they were going to do this, he would have been more comfortable if Kris had been less exotic.

“Uh, yeah, right,” Glen answered.

“It’s pretty fucking hot, isn’t it? I knew the girls would get along as soon as I saw them together.”

Glen nodded dumbly, pulling on his shirt. What had Kris thought he’d seen?

“Your Catroina is a hot one, she just needs a little urging. Am I right?” Kris clapped a hand on his shoulder, and Glen jumped. He’d never been so close to another naked man.

Kris moved to the girls and stood to their side. One hand rested on Michelle’s ass, the other—thankfully—on the small of Cat’s back. Glen’s gut was knotted and he felt like he might be sick. He couldn’t have handled it if Kris had just grabbed his wife. He was going to need to ease into this. More of the two girls together, or perhaps Michelle in his lap, would make this go down easier. Glen undressed with urgency. He felt left out.

Cat jumped when Kris came beside them. His hand was so provocative. She was nude and a strange man was touching her. That was so wrong in a way that was vastly different than kissing Michelle—which was just silly. Her upbringing had taught her that all of this was wrong—and yet, she wanted more. So much more. Cat wondered where Glen was, but Michelle’s soft lips clouded her mind. It was tough to focus on her husband. The anticipation of where Kris would touch her next was so exciting.

“Let’s take this into the water, ladies,” Kris urged.

Cat had forgotten all about the pool—the pretext for being undressed. Kris walked around them, and by god did he look good naked. He moved with supreme confidence, like he strutted around naked all the time. With a body like that, Cat thought he had reason to be confident. His ass looked rock hard, and the glimpse she caught of his cock made everything down below tighten. She was ashamed at how eager she was to see his cock—but she couldn’t help it, even knowing that seeing that thing would lead her further down the road to depravity.

Kris stepped into the pool and then held out his hands for the girls, who entered on either side of him. The water was only waist deep on Kris, and she found a bench around the inside, just like the pool outside. Kris kept her hand, pulling her farther into the pool and she floated, suddenly conscious of her nudity. She tried to stay low in the water to obscure her breasts. That didn't stop Kris from staring at them. He smiled and she glowed.

"Are you coming in or not?" Michelle asked, standing by the steps. The water came to just below her tits, and their upturned nipples seemed to call to Glen.

Glen was hesitant to turn and face her—embarrassed by his obvious erection. He did not want to appear too eager. The phrase "act like you've been there before" echoed through his mind. But he'd never been in a position remotely like this. Neither had Cat—to his knowledge—but oddly he was the more hesitant one. When he did turn, Michelle's eyes went right to his shaft. At least she looked pleased by what she saw.

"Come on, the water is fine," Michelle said.

Glen descended into the water and she shifted to deliberately brush his cock. Cat was almost in Kris's lap—where his nude cock stood proudly—and Glen wanted to be closer to his wife, but he wasn't comfortable getting so close to a naked Kris, so he sat on the other side of the pool. Michelle sat beside him, their flesh pressed together, and teased his chest hair with her fingertips.

"Isn't this cozy?" Michelle asked.

"I don't know how you guys can be so blasé about this suite. Who has a pool in their room?" Cat commented. Kris's arm was around her, and his caresses of her arm were just about all she could think about.

"It's not blasé, lass, it's just rolling with whatever life hands you, and being open to new experiences," Kris answered.

"But it's hard to be open to anything, isn't it?" Glen asked. His jealousy at seeing Cat and Kris together was tempered by Michelle touching him. His cock throbbed, and she hadn't even touched it. The tingle of anticipation had him on the edge of his seat, like waiting for the rollercoaster to drop from underneath him.

"It's the only way to live life, we think. Sure, not everything will be great, but at least we can say we tried it," Michelle answered.

Cat laughed. "Our life doesn't offer many experiences like this. It's mostly the same every day. Don't get me wrong, I love our life. I'm just saying there aren't experiences like this every day. I don't know if I could handle it if there were."

"I bet you'd be surprised what you can handle," Kris said.

Kris squeezed Cat, her nipples brushed his arm and the electricity went right to her pussy. She was beginning to ache for him. She felt guilty, wanting another man so badly, but the guilt would not stop her from having this experience.

Michelle pushed off from the bench, briefly grasping Glen's cock under the water. He moaned. She floated in front of Cat. "Take this morning. Did you ever see yourself having a kiss like that, Cat?"

"I didn't," she replied breathlessly.

"But it was good, wasn't it?"

Cat nodded, yearning for Michelle to do it again. She would not be disappointed.

The women were kissing again. This time, Glen was not conflicted about it. He moved around the pool, away from Kris, to get a better view. Michelle teased Cat's pale pink nipples with her long nails, and Cat was shaking. His wife thrust her tongue into Michelle's mouth. Glen's hand went to his cock. He couldn't help himself.

Cat felt Michelle's lips on her nipple, softly sucking, and she looked to her husband. Glen's hand was under the water, and she knew what he was doing. Okay, so he approved. Cat had been worried he might jerk her away, but he was behaving like most men probably would. He was enjoying the sex show unfolding in front of him.

Michelle's attention on her tits was delightful. Her tongue and lips were so gentle, but so arousing. When the blonde did lightly nibble, it only made Cat moan and push her breasts harder at Michelle's mouth. She stroked Michelle's long blonde hair and watched her husband. He looked so into it—no hint of uncertainty. He was eager to see her with Michelle, and that only made it sexier. She wanted Glen to enjoy this as much as she did. She wished he was closer so she could touch him. Cat then turned to Kris, who was watching like a predator patiently waiting for the right time to pounce. He was enjoying the show, but his eyes were on Cat, watching her reactions, eating up her arousal. His lust for her only made Cat want him more. And he was close enough to touch. Beneath the water, she tentatively moved her hand toward him. Kris took that hand and placed it on his rod.

Cat moaned deeply, as much from touching Kris as from Michelle. She realized he'd only been partially aroused before. He was so thick, filling her hand, and he seemed to pulse as she stroked him. She did not have a ton of experience with men—and she had not touched another man's cock in almost fifteen years—but his cock seemed perfect to her. It was so dirty, so wrong, to be touching that cock, and being the naughty girl for the first time in her life made Cat feel more alive than ever before.

Glen had to stop touching himself, or he was going to spill his seed in the pool. This was something he never, ever thought he would see—his sweet wife being seduced by another couple. And make no mistake, both Kris and Michelle were seducing Cat. The blonde may have taken the lead, but Kris was right there, taking full advantage. Glen knew he should be jealous, he should be dragging his wife out of there, but it was so goddam hot that he couldn't. This would probably be the hottest thing they ever did, maybe it would make Cat sexier in their everyday lives. He didn't think about the potential downsides.

Glen didn't like being a bystander. He didn't want to be left out, but he didn't know what to do. This was foreign ground to him. Kris was right at home, but Glen didn't think it was his first rodeo. Kris cooed encouragement to both women and pushed Michelle's hair aside so he could kiss her neck while she kissed Cat. Mostly, Glen could not see his hands, and the realization that Kris may be intimately touching Cat was a hard pit in Glen's stomach, no matter how hot this was.

Kris was touching her breast, while Michelle sucked the other one, and Cat thought she might scream. His thumb strummed her nipple and she tightened her grip on his cock. He pushed it at her hand, and she stroked him. She had never been touched by more than one person before, and it was confusing, but sexy. She looked to Glen, and he looked just as confused as she was, but also just as hungry. She wanted to tell him to come over, but her voice was stolen by the soft moans she couldn't stop uttering.

Glen watched Cat turn the other way, and then Kris kissed her. That was a gut-punch. Cat closed her eyes and kissed him just as passionately as she had Michelle—as passionately as she'd ever kissed her husband. It turned him on, but that did not quite override how wrong it felt. Maybe it was part of this whole experience, but Glen just was not prepared to see his wife kiss another man. How was he going to be able to watch her do anything else? He thought he should intervene, but then things shifted again.

The kiss with Kris left her gasping, and bewildered. It turned her on, but it felt so, so wrong. As Michelle and Kris helped her to sit up on the edge of the pool, she guiltily looked to her husband. He looked shocked. She seriously considered putting a stop to this—it was not worth ruining her marriage—and then Michelle was pushing her thighs apart, moving lower, and kissing her pussy. Cat hung her head back and whimpered. She trembled and thought she was going to climax in a second.

Glen's feelings shifted again when Michelle went down on Cat. The blonde's face was buried between Cat's thighs, and she was obviously a talented cunt-licker, judging by the way Cat was losing her mind. His wife was usually pretty quiet and timid, but she was whimpering Michelle's name. It was like she was pleading for more. Cat's cries grew in pitch. Michelle was going to make his wife come more easily than he ever had. But to be fair, Cat had a lot of prepping.

"Get over here, mate," Kris urged, waving to Glen.

It was silly that he was on the sidelines watching, so Glen finally moved over. He tentatively touched Michelle's back, and stroked Cat's hair. Cat's eyes popped open and she smiled. Michelle freed a hand to grab Glen's cock and he jumped. He prayed he wouldn't come too fast.

"Oh god...ohhh...Michelle..." Cat gasped. She looked at Glen and went on. "Honey...ohhh...sooo..."

"You're so sexy, honey. So damn hot, Cat. She's going to make you come, isn't she?" Glen whispered.

"Yes...yes!" Cat cried.

“Make her come, baby. Make her fucking come,” Kris urged. He pinched and rolled Cat’s nipple, and in response Glen did the same, perhaps rougher than he ordinarily would have touched her.

They were all touching her. They were all paying attention to her. Cat was so dirty. It was perfect. She cried out and the orgasm rolled out from her cunt, filling her along the way, pushing the wonderful pleasure out past her fingertips and toes. Cat felt she was floating on a cloud, but she wasn’t alone. The others were all there. Even as she came, Michelle still sucked on her clit, bringing another wave of climax right after the first. Cat was so overwhelmed she thought she might pass out. She pushed at the others, begging for a break.

Michelle looked delighted when she lifted her face from Cat’s pussy, and she immediately turned to Glen and kissed him hard. As if kissing another woman wasn’t strange enough, he tasted the familiar tang of his wife’s pussy on her lips. He froze up at first, not taking to it as naturally as Cat had, but Michelle was a great kisser, and he melted. She still held his cock, and his arms went around her. He grabbed that sweet ass as she pushed him backward and straddled him when he sat in the water. Glen still heard his wife moaning in the background, but Michelle demanded his immediate attention. His stiff nipples brushed his chest and she tussled his hair. All the while, she held onto that cock. Glen groaned.

“This is some night, isn’t it, baby?” Michelle whispered, while nibbling his ear.

“Jesus,” he moaned. Glen didn’t know what else to say. It was so very strange to have another woman right there, her body so sexy, but unfamiliar. It felt all kinds of wrong, and he couldn’t help thinking he should stop, but if his wife approved why should he? Glen snuck a look to the side and found Cat in Kris’s arms. This was where things were going—where they were always going.

“You want to fuck me, don’t you?” Michelle cooed.

Of course he did, but Glen couldn’t speak.

“It feels like you do. Or maybe you need more encouragement.”

Glen watched Michelle take a deep breath and then go under the water and take him in her mouth. She swallowed him and sucked hard. She had an amazing capacity to hold her breath, and he only just stopped himself from blasting away in her mouth. She was an even better cocksucker than she was a kisser.

Making it even harder to restrain himself, he watched Kris lead his wife out of the pool and onto one of the couches. Kris lounged back on the couch, whispered something to Cat, and she knelt before him grasping his cock. He only barely noticed that Michelle came up for air and went back down. He watched the back of his wife's head move as she kissed Kris's cock and he lost it. Michelle blew up a fury of bubbles as she tried to swallow his load and came up coughing. Glen felt terrible and apologized immediately. Did he look like an amateur for coming like that?

"Michelle, I'm so..."

Michelle looked over her shoulder at Kris and Cat, amused. She kissed Glen's cheek. "It's okay, baby. I guess seeing that really popped your cork."

"It's not that, uh..." he protested. He did not want Michelle thinking he was some weird guy looking to get his wife fucked—but secretly he did think it was hot. Seeing Cat go for it like that made him see his wife in a whole new light. Now he was sure things would never be the same. His jealousy seemed to be forgotten just as he came in Michelle's mouth.

"It's cool. I like seeing Kris fuck other women. It's hot to see him make them come. There's no shame in that, as long as you give me the attention I need."

Glen returned his attention to the beautiful blonde in front of him. He caressed her tits and ignored the choking sounds coming from his wife on the other side of the room. Michelle was right. She deserved his attention.

"Take me to the bedroom. I know they'll join us."

It was impossible to believe, but he did as she asked. Michelle led him from the room, and he left his wife alone with the studly Irishman. The last look he had at Cat, she was bobbing furiously on Kris's thick cock. She had never sucked him that enthusiastically.

Cat was unaware her husband had left because that fat prick in her mouth was her whole world. She knew how good Michelle was with her mouth, and Cat wanted to prove herself. She usually did not swallow, so she didn't know what would happen when she accomplished her goal, but she was going to make Kris come.

The cock in her mouth was so big she couldn't suck it all. Not that she didn't try. She stuffed it all the way to the back of her throat and only backed off when she gagged on it. Kris stroked her hair and seemed willing to let her go at her own pace. She stroked what she could not suck, and played with his shaved balls with her other hand. Kris was totally clean down there, and she had to admit it made oral sex easier.

"Suck it, lass, that's it, suck all that cock. That pretty mouth is so nice," Kris encouraged.

Glen would never talk to her like that on the occasions she went down on him. And then she realized she couldn't remember the last time she did this for her husband. And yet, when Kris whispered in her ear that he wanted her to do it, Cat went right to her knees. She decided that after tonight she needed to be every bit as dirty for her husband as she was willing to be for this other couple. It would be fun to be Glen's whore in bed. As she thought about being her husband's whore, she sucked Kris even harder.

"Cat, baby, you'd better stop," Kris warned, pulling her mouth off of his tool. Saliva dripped from her lips to the wet, red head.

"It's okay, I want you to," she said, staring at him with what she hoped was a sultry look.

"I'm going to fuck you tonight." He said it like there was no doubt. His confidence made her shudder.

Cat kept stroking his cock, using both hands. She felt it jerking in her grip. She knew she had him, and she knew he was going to fuck her. She was sure he would not be done after coming once. She smiled and answered, "I know. I need you to fuck me tonight."

"Fuck me, you sexy little slut," Kris groaned.

He pushed on the back of her head, but Kris was not quick enough. His load blasted right in her face. Big gobs of cum shot across her nose and lips. Cat kept stroking him. She didn't know what else to do. She let Kris put it back in her mouth, sure he had to be done, but then he blasted again into her mouth. She tasted him, and instead of wanting to spit it out, she sucked him harder. She knew how dirty she must look, and she wanted it all. Kris blasted in her mouth again, and she sucked until she was sure he was done. When she finished, he was still semi-hard. Cat was amazed.

Kris pulled her into his lap, freely touching her body as if she was his. Her nipples buzzed when he played with them, and her pussy was sopping wet at his touch. She gasped when he pushed a finger inside her, and added another. His fingers were thick, but not as thick as his cock would be. He was getting her ready.

"I bet Glen had no idea he was married to such a hot little slut," Kris teased.

It was hard for Cat to talk. Those fingers felt so good. "No...I didn't either..."

"You're going to be a new couple after tonight, Cat. He's in there fucking Michelle right now. And she's quite a fuck."

Cat listened. She had not been paying attention before, but now she heard Michelle moaning and wailing from the other room. It sounded insane. She wondered why the knowledge her husband was with another woman didn't bother her. Maybe it was because Kris's fingers were deep inside her.

"Old Glen is going to want slutty Cat from now on."

"Yes," she moaned.

"You're going to be his slut, aren't you?"

"Yes, I want to be his slut. I want it."

"You want it all, don't you, lass?"

"Yes...please fuck me...oh god..."

"Then let's go to the bedroom. There is more than enough room."

Kris swept her into his arms and carried her down the hallway. Cat was shocked by what she saw. Michelle was bouncing on Glen's cock like a wild woman, and he was mauling her breasts as she rode him. They were so possessed, they didn't even notice they were no longer alone. Cat saw the way Glen stared up at Michelle was how he looked at her earlier, and Cat wanted to husband to look at her like that all the time.

"Fuck me! Fuck me!" Michelle cried, arching her back, thrusting her tits upward. Glen's hands covered them, and he pinched her nipples hard, just like she demanded. "Fuck! You're making me come!” She fell forward and kissed Glen hard, hiding their faces behind her hair.

Glen felt the bed shift and realized they were no longer alone. Michelle’s cunt was massaging his cock, and he didn’t care that Kris had just brought his wife to bed. The blonde was an incredible fuck and he was not stopping. While he kissed Michelle, he heard Cat cry out, then moan deep in her throat. Now he was curious and had to turn his head. Right beside them, Cat was on her back, her legs were thrown over Kris’s forearms, and he was slowly working that big cock into her pussy. Cat’s expression was pure bliss.

“You can watch them, baby,” Michelle cooed. “Fuck me from behind.”

Michelle slid off of Glen and knelt with her face in the pillows. Glen was unsteady as he moved around on the bed. He slipped back inside Michelle and groaned. He really could not focus that much on his wife when he was with Michelle. Besides, that view of Michelle’s ass was heaven. All he could really see of Cat was her toes pointing to the ceiling, while Kris moved on top of her. But he was shocked by the deep animalistic noises coming from her. He’d never heard anything like it.

“Fuck me, baby! Fuck me hard! You feel so fucking deep this way! God, don’t stop!”

Glen let Cat have her fun and gave all his attention to Michelle. He knew Kris was going to make his wife climax, and he wanted Michelle to come just as hard. The noises coming from his wife only made him fuck Michelle harder.

The switched couples had their fun, side-by-side, on the giant bed, mostly focused on their new partners. Cat was proud by how Glen made Michelle scream, but Kris was her entire world at that moment. He filled her so completely, and she was thankful he was slow and patient at first. But once she was ready, he did not hold back. Kris drove that monster down into her and Cat found her voice, wailing to match Michelle. Her orgasms were so deep, so complete, she wanted Kris to fuck her forever.

Kris flipped her over, and now Cat was in the same position as Michelle. Her face was buried in the mattress and her ass pointed at the air. Kris felt even bigger if that was possible. His heavy balls slapped the backs of her thighs as he pounded down. Michelle took her hand, and Cat gripped it tightly.

“Oh god! Kris! Ohhh...”

“Isn’t his cock brilliant?” Michelle cried. “Come all over that cock, babe. I know you can take it. Glen is amazing too. Fuck, your husband is making me come so good.”

Glen’s ears rang from Michelle’s words. The encouragement from such a woman was incredible. He’d never felt like such a stud. He didn’t want this night to end, but he felt he was close. All he had to do was manage to hold out longer than Kris. That became the most important thing of the night.

“Your pussy is so sweet, Cat,” Kris moaned, pulling his cock from her.

Cat felt an immediate sense of loss. She’d climaxed more than she could count, but she wanted him inside her still. He flipped her onto her back and knelt between her spread thighs, stroking that masterful cock. She thought he was going to put it back in, but then his cream blasted once again, coating her belly and staining her tits. It was so dirty to let him come on her. It felt right because it was so wrong.

At the last second, Glen realized that he probably wasn’t supposed to come inside Michelle. None of them were using condoms. Crazy, but understandable the way the night had taken on a momentum of its own. He pulled out at the last second and spilled his seed all over Michelle’s perfect ass.

“Thanks, baby,” Michelle cooed. “I love a hot load on my ass.”

Glen had no idea what the protocol was for post-orgy cuddling, but was still surprised when Kris practically knocked him over to get to Michelle. Kris crushed his woman in his arms and said, “I love you so fucking much. You are so fucking hot.”

“Baby, I fucking love you too. Thank you. Glen made me come so much” Michelle replied.

“Good, babe.”

“Cat’s a little piece of ass. I know you had fun,” she answered.

Okay, Glen thought. Cat jumped into his arms and almost knocked him over. She whispered to him, like she wanted the moment just for them.

"You know I love you, right?" Cat said earnestly.

"Of course."

"Tonight wasn't about that."

"I know, honey. I love you. I know you love me."

"You're my world. My everything. Thank you for tonight."

Glen had to chuckle. "I was hardly selfless."

"I heard." Cat giggled. "Apparently you made Michelle come so much."

"And you're a piece of ass."

"Am I?"

"I've always thought so. I'm glad you know now too."

Glen and Cat slinked out of the bedroom. Kris and Michelle were too consumed in screwing to even notice. That was fine with Glen. He felt very strongly that it was time to go. Cat found her dress and put it on, while holding her discarded underwear in one hand, her heels in the other. Seeing his wife dress without bothering with underwear was almost as hot as anything else that had happened.

They giggled like teenagers as they scurried back to their room. Cat knew everyone they encounter could tell they had just been fucking. They looked like a mess. She felt Kris's cum rubbing all over her body inside the dress. They burst into their room and she pulled Glen down on top of her on the bed.

"Fuck me. Make me come," she cooed, echoing Michelle.

"Give me that sweet pussy." Glen had trouble keeping a straight face as he said it.

Cat's dress was hiked up, and Glen's pants pushed down, and he thrust inside her. He could tell she had just been well-fucked by another man, but Cat still felt perfect. They kissed furiously, with no thought to where their mouths had been. Their coupling was frenzied, more fucking than making love, but there was no mistaking the emotions behind it. The couple was making love, re-establishing themselves. When they came together, it was the best one of the night for both of them. Glen collapsed on top of Cat, exhausted. Sleep would come easy.

*

Even with the tinting, the morning sun was harsh through the hotel room window. Cat winced at it and yawned. She was wrapped around Glen, and they were both nude. They never slept naked. The events of the night before replayed in her mind and she smiled. She could not believe she had done all of those things. Even if they had gone too far the night before, Cat could not regret it. She'd finally thrown off the shackles of the moral lessons she'd been taught all of her life. She'd done what she wanted, not lived her life based on how she was told she was supposed to live it. Cat was truly herself for the first time in her life. She hoped that her husband would be okay with that by the light of morning.

Glen felt Cat stir beside him. He'd been awake for a while, turning over the previous night in his mind. He didn't regret anything—not really—but he was worried that the effects could reverberate through their marriage. He did not expect Cat to wake up as a completely different person, so how would she react to everything they'd done? Would she hate him for fucking Michelle? Hate herself for what she had done with the other couple? It was easy to get caught up in the moment, but one had to face one's self eventually. He turned over and was relieved to find Cat smiling.

"Good morning, stud," she said, kissing him. It was like she'd never noticed just how handsome her husband was before.

"Morning, honey. You don't seem hung over."

"I didn't drink that much. I wanted a clear head."

Glen smiled wryly. "I guess we can't blame all that on booze then."

"Did you want to?"

"I really don't know what to think." He felt Cat tense beside him.

"Do you regret..."

"We really are okay?" Glen asked.

"Yes, of course. I love you more than ever."

"Really?"

"It's like, if we could do something like that and come away whole, how strong must we be? How strong is our marriage?" Cat looked excited.

"You have a point. So we really are good? You're okay with it all? What I did?"

“You were a stud last night, honey. You were so hot,” Cat cooed. She fumbled under the covers and found his cock, already growing hard.

“Cat, you were insane. Like, totally out of control.”

“Is that good?”

“It was the hottest thing I’ve ever seen. It was like you would have done anything.”

“Maybe I would have,” she said with a wink. He was hard and she wanted him. But first...

“I don’t think we left much on the table. Jeez, Cat, that feels good.”

Cat thought about it, thought of every depraved thing she’d done, and thought about what she could have done. “Maybe next time I’ll have to have both of you guys at the same time.”

Glen’s eyes widened, and he sputtered, “Next time?”

Cat answered by sweeping down and sucking him—sucking him with a skill and an intensity she’d never shown before. She sucked him to the back of her throat and relaxed. She sucked his entire shaft into her mouth. Glen thought he was going to pass out. Apparently Cat was changed, and in the best way possible.

Glen stroked her hair and watched his beautiful wife slurp away at his shaft. The fire in her eyes alone almost made him come. It wasn’t that she’s suddenly learned a porn star’s technique overnight, but there was an enthusiasm and passion for blowing him that Glen had just never seen before. Cat fondled his balls, something she’d never done. He briefly wondered if Kris had taught her that, then banished it from his mind. That was not a productive thought.

Cat held him in her mouth, his head at the back of her throat, and just sucked, tickling his shaft with her tongue. She vigorously rubbed the little bit that wasn’t in her mouth. She willed her husband to come. She wanted to drink his juice. She couldn’t believe how much she wanted it. With her free hand, she touched herself. Cat did not normally masturbate, and it was something she certainly never would have done in front of Glen—not before. But she was so wet, she couldn’t help herself. She teased her clit and her moans vibrated his cock in her mouth.

“Oh...my...” Glen gasped.

Seeing Cat touch herself was incredible. That, and her incredible blowjob, made his load come gushing out. Cat coughed on the thick fluid and eased back on his cock. Cum bubbled from her lips. She was not used to swallowing yet, but Glen was very impressed she's tried. He thought he was going to love this new side of his wife.

"That was fun," Cat said, rolling onto her back. She still softly touched her pussy.

"Cat...that was..."

She beamed. "Thanks."

"You really have discovered a new side of yourself, haven't you?" he asked.

"I've been having a lot of fun. We have a few more days in Vegas, let's see where it takes us. If you don't mind."

"What sane man would mind? But I don't know if I can handle another night like that. At least, not so soon." Glen didn't know if he would ever want to do that again, but he wasn't sure how Cat felt, so he left the door open.

"I guess it's a good thing Kris and Michelle are leaving today." Cat smiled, letting him wonder if she would really do it. But the truth was that she wanted time to think before she got that crazy again. She wanted to be sure she was doing it for the right reasons—and that Glen wanted it too. No matter how she felt, she would never push him to do something he didn't want.

"So what's the plan for today, my sexy wife? Should we hit the pool?"

"Of course, but I am going to need to do some shopping first. The clothes I brought just don't seem right anymore. I definitely need some new bikinis."

Glen practically salivated. "I can't wait to see what you come up with." He decided to push it, to see how much she'd really changed. "You know, some of the pools here are topless."

Cat smiled wickedly. "Now that sounds like fun. But before you do anything, I need to get you hard again so you can make love to me."

Glen pounced on her, thinking they might not ever make it out of the room.

END

About Kirsten McCurran

More From Kirsten McCurran

Next: An Unconventional Summer

Table Of Contents

An Unconventional Summer

A Short Story

By Kenny Wright

Linnea Sorenson set her glass of Chardonnay on the table beside her lounge, stood, and stretched. Behind her sunglasses, she watched as the young men next door stole glances at her bikini-clad body once again. Those looks made her feel ten years younger—maybe more. She smiled to herself, sauntered to the edge of her private, backyard pool, and gracefully dove in.

The water rushed up around her, greeting her like an old lover. She'd always been comfortable in water, stretching all the way back to her years growing up in Finland. Her workouts always consisted of doing laps. When her husband offered to install her own personal lap pool in the privacy of their own yard, she'd excitedly agreed.

That was years ago—going on fifteen now. So much had happened since then. Time had slipped by her like the water did now, fluid and fast and completely out of her control.

She broke the surface at the other side of the pool, pressing her pale blonde hair back out of her face. The sounds of the summer day returned. A mower droned somewhere down the block. Birds chirped in the trees. Music thumped next door, where the neighbors were having a party around their own pool, and all their eyes waited in anticipation for her to pull herself up out of the water and strut back to her chair, dripping wet.

She rolled her eyes and laughed silently before diving back beneath the water and swimming back the way she came. Let them wait. Linnea was never one to give guys what they wanted just because they wanted it.

Of course, there was one guy in particular she wouldn't mind giving into, if he played his cards right. Even under the water, cool as it was, she felt hot. Thinking like this was a problem, especially since Sebastian was only a couple years older than her son, and she'd known him since he was ten.

She rolled in the water like a seal and came up for air at last. Despite herself, her eyes drifted to the party over the low fence between their yards, seeking out the young man. He was there, broad shouldered and shirtless, his tan rich thanks to the months he'd spent working as a lifeguard at the neighborhood pool. As if sensing her looking, Sebastian turned his head and found her over the low fence that separated their yards. He smiled widely at her, raising his bottle of Miller Lite.

Her face lit up like she was some a schoolgirl, and that annoyed her. She oversaw dozens of employees and handled millions of dollars in marketing contracts. They called her the Director of Ice—and for good reason. It just didn't do for that woman to start blushing because some boy twenty years younger looked in her direction.

Still, he was fucking hot.

She groaned inwardly, returned Sebastian's gesture with a curt nod, and paddled over to the pool's edge. If he wanted to flirt with her from a distance, she could do that. She took a deep breath and pulled herself up out of the pool. The water sluiced across her slender body and pale skin, drawing more eyes than just Sebastian's. She didn't need to look to know that, and it felt powerful to ignore. Again, she pushed her hair away from her eyes. Again, she sauntered across the pool in full view of the party next door. She felt excitement press in around her, and did everything in her power to hide that sensation.

Inevitably, her nipples tightened and pressed through the thin layer of her blue bikini. She could pretend that it was the chill of the water.

With her back to them, she slipped her fingers along the hem of her bikini bottoms, fixing them where they'd ridden up the cheeks of her ass. She practically giggling, knowing where everyone's eyes lingered. Scooping up her glass of wine and her towel, she headed into her home.

"They can't stop looking," Mark, her husband, said. He was in the kitchen, chopping carrots for a salad on the island counter. He smiled without looking up.

"Oh, please," Linnea said, her Finnish inflection coming out. "I'm ancient to them."

Finally, Mark looked up, taking in her damp body with a quick sweep. Even after all these years with the man, she still felt warmth at the way he looked at her. "We both know they were."

Linnea wrapped the towel around her as she approached him. He set his knife down to greet her with a kiss. "Hey now, you're getting me all wet."

Pulling back, Linnea said, "Then that makes two of us."

She enjoyed the way Mark's face went slack and his eyes lost focus whenever she teased him like that. He had a thing for her and other men. But in this case, what she said was true. She didn't need to close her eyes to imagine the way Sebastian looked at her.

Sighing, she looked down at the salad. "That looks great."

"Maybe you should fix a bowl and eat it outside on the patio," Mark said. "Alone."

Her heart skipped. She knew the game he was playing—the game that he wanted her to play.

She studied him, cataloging every detail of his handsome, familiar face. His had dark eyes beneath sandy hair—now laced with gray that made him look even more distinguished. He was the kind of man who knew how to wear suits and liked the idea of her being bad with other men, and somehow these two things didn't contradict.

She said, "Now why would I do that? They'd think that I was all alone in the house, a sad, sad old woman eating alone."

Linnea could see the obsession set into Mark like a fever. "Maybe one in particular would come over and keep you company."

"He's almost as young as Jason."

"No, he's not. He's a college graduate."

"Still, much closer to our son than us."

Mark kissed her neck. "And that's a problem for you?"

She thought about Sebastian, just next door. They were members of the neighborhood pool, where Sebastian had worked as a lifeguard for the past four years during his summers home from college. She'd watched him grow from a lanky teenager into the broad shouldered young man he was now, all the while denying her attraction.

Because that's what grown, mature women do with men twenty years younger than them—they deny their attraction. Because while she'd done some very inappropriate things over the years—including sleeping with one of her employees—at least he was more age appropriate. Well, more age appropriate than Sebastian.

"You're thinking about it," Mark said, drawing her back into the moment.

"Hm? Oh, no," she lied.

Mark unraveled the towel from around her body and pulled her close. "I've watched you two flirt all summer long."

Linnea leveled a look at him.. "You're seeing things. We just talked."

Mark slid his hand into her bikini bottoms, quick enough that she wasn't expecting it. She gasped.

"You really are wet."

"I was just in the pool."

Mark ran his thumb along her bare mound, where she'd waxed away her landing strip earlier in the summer. She'd explained to Mark that she was just trying something new, but that wasn't completely true. At least a part of her—a small, secret part that she didn't admit to—had thought about Sebastian when she'd gone to her aesthetician and asked for the full Brazilian. It's what guys his age would expect.

Not that he'd ever see.

It was just a silly daydream.

Mark pressed a finger inside of her, making her forget about her thin justifications. She moaned, reaching out to steady herself on the countertop. She squeezed her fingers around the edge of the granite as Mark added a second finger. She was definitely wet enough.

"Oh, Mark..."

"Mark, or Sebastian?"

She'd been thinking Mark, but as soon as he said the young lifeguard's name, the man in her head switched.

When Mark's lips found hers again, she kissed him back with the illicit passion that came with the thought of another man. When she circled her free hand behind Mark's neck, she imagined the way Sebastian's would feel, thick and supple and warm from the sun.

Mark guided her up onto the counter, and she imagined how Sebastian could probably have lifted her without her help. She tossed her head and lifted her butt as the man between her legs pulled her bikini bottoms off.

His lips touched down on her pussy, on her clit, made so much more sensitive because she was bare.

"Oh, yes... Right—there." Her pleasure wound around her chest, her lungs, her heart. Her breath stumbled and caught with each shallow intake. She felt dizzy.

"I've been dreaming of this moment," the man between her legs said—not quite her husband, but not quite Sebastian yet, either. He was faceless, and exciting because of it. "You're so sexy."

His tongue was warm and soft and silky as he drew it along her pussy lips and up around her exposed button. He focused the tip, grazing her hooded clit, around and around and dizzyingly around. She jerked, moaned, reached down and laced her fingers through the man's hair. Dark hair. Sebastian's hair.

At the thought of the name, she tightened her fingers into a fist, pushing his head deeper between her legs and the pressure that had begun outside under the youthful attention next door grew. It was wrong, and because it was wrong, it was exciting.

He was young. So young. She thought of young guys like him, just out of college, coming to work at her company wearing suits that reminded her more of children wearing their parents clothing than professionals in the workforce. That's who Sebastian would be in a month, when summer ended and he went into the real world. He was green. He was out of his league. He was a kid.

Only in these moments of weakness, when pleasure coursed through her like a river and her mind got swept away in it, she didn't see him as a kid. She saw him the way the girls around him did, the ones who twirled their hair and batted their lashes. She saw his shoulders, his toned upper body, the square cut of his jaw. And most exciting of all, she saw the way he looked at her when he thought she didn't know. He wanted her. He could have any of those sighing girls, but what he needed was a woman.

Her climax enveloped her. She wrapped her legs around his head, digging her heels into her back so that she could lift her hips off the counter. She moaned something unintelligible. The tongue never stopped, never gave her respite, never lifted away from its circling, teasing, attacking swirl.

The counter was cool where her shoulders touched it. She wasn't aware of having laid back in the first place. Not until she opened her eyes to see their pendant light glittering down at her. She was almost as surprised to see Mark was with her, standing now. And looking nervous.

"I..." He sighed. "I have to tell you something."

*

Mark had been watching his wife flirt with the lifeguard all summer long, although he wasn't sure how many others would consider it flirting. They always made a point of saying hello every time they'd gone to the neighborhood pool. Linn's eyes would linger. Or the lifeguard's. Mark would catch her staring at the other man's back or the graceful way the man would dive off his lifeguard chair at a shift change, and it would get Mark hard every single time.

There was also the matter of Linn's bikinis. His wife had a body that looked great in a bikini. She wasn't voluptuous like a swimsuit model. She didn't have large breasts or particularly wide hips, but that probably helped as she'd moved into her forties and fought against age and gravity. When she wore a bikini, she projected that cool, slender sexiness of a European fashion model.

This summer, however, she'd purchased new bikinis, bikinis that showed off a bit more skin and made her look a bit more youthful. They'd also taken advantage of their pool membership more than ever. And all of this happened when he'd overheard a particular lifeguard tell her that he was going to miss her after this summer—his last working there.

Linnea liked being in control, and because she liked it so much, she usually was. This went for her professional life, and had projected her into the upper levels of the marketing world, but also in her personal life, in her marriage. She wore the pants between them, and Mark had no problem with that—especially since she wore them so well.

The thing about this current situation that got him the most excited was the potential that maybe, with Sebastian, she didn't want the control. Or short of that, maybe she'd be fine giving it up for a time, for a guy like Sebastian.

He wouldn't have been the first lover his wife had taken, although even after over a year and a half since they'd crossed that line, Mark still couldn't believe that they had. Linnea didn't see the man often, and as far as he knew, she hadn't seen him in at all lately. He didn't know for sure because she liked it that way—they both did.

Part of the excitement was the mystery. It supercharged every moment that they were not together.

Linnea traveled a lot for work. Sometimes, she came home with a story. Sometimes, she didn't share a thing, but he was pretty sure that something had happened. He knew that that probably made him wimpy in most men's eyes—possibly even his wife's—but he didn't care. He wasn't afraid that she was going to leave him, and because of that, he found security in their relationship, no matter how unconventional it was.

At the start of the summer, when he'd first noticed Linn and Sebastian doing their little dance, Mark had thought that he'd be perfect for her. He was young, would be moving on after the summer, passing from college to the real world and out of their lives, and he had a good guy quality. As much as a man-eater as his wife was, she'd never been drawn to bad boys. She demanded respect from her lovers, especially the ones she said that she'd fooled around with, and Sebastian was respectful enough.

Or so he'd thought, until he'd overheard a very eye-opening conversation while he was in the neighborhood pool's shower about a month back.

Only two members this summer? Losing your touch, Sebastian.

Shh, man, keep it down. That had clearly been Sebastian.

Why, man? You worried about your rep? This is your last summer.

I'm worried because there could be guests around, asshole. And have you ever heard it's about quality, not quantity?

The other guy had laughed at that. Hard. You're not getting her, man. You always set your sights too high.

I'd rather have standards than...whatever the hell you have, Sebastian had said. And I don't know, I've got a feeling about her.

Their voices grew distant as they left the shower. Mark hadn't realized how frozen and tense he was until they were almost out of earshot. Then:

Linnea Sorenson's one fine piece of ass. But you, friend, are never gonna tap that.

Mark hadn't told his wife about what he'd heard—partly because he barely believed he'd heard it himself. All parts of it were crazy: the running competition to sleep with the most pool members in a summer; the fact that one was the mild-mannered Sebastian; the fact that he had his eyes set on Linnea all along!

So he hadn't mentioned it

Besides, it had been a lot of fun watching the two of them flirting, it was a lot of fun knowing what he knew. If he'd told his wife, she probably would have shut it down right away. She liked control, after all, even in circumstances in which she didn't. He hadn't shared his theories with her when she'd come home with the new bikinis, or when she visited the salon and gotten a full, Brazilian bikini wax. He had pretended not to notice how often she visited the community pool, even when they had one of their own. So what was one more lie of omission?

That was until this moment, with Sebastian just next door. Now that the fantasy was actually real, that maybe things were actually going to happen between the two of them, guilt came swift and real.

So now, standing between Linn's legs, staring down at her panting body, he had to confess. "I...I have something to tell you."

She lifted a brow in that way of hers, and suddenly he was on his heels. He considered making something up, diverting the inevitable backlash. But he couldn't. He owed this truth to her, even if she hated him for it.

"Sebastian wants to...sleep with you." It was funny, he couldn't even say the word fuck in this situation, even after all that they'd been through. That inability made him blush.

Linnea laughed, pushing up onto her elbows. She closed her legs as he stepped back. "I hate to break it to you, but that's not exactly news."

"I overheard him. At the pool. Talking to someone else." As he stuttered out the confession, her attention crystallized. He rushed on. "Apparently they have some kind of running competition with the members. The, um, female members."

"Really?" She said it curiosity, rather than skepticism, like she was commenting on an unusual marketing tactic that a competitor had employed. Mark's stomach fluttered.

"Apparently Sebastian's had his sights set on you, and that's...um...messed with his game."

Linnea seemed to lay out the problem in the air between them, scanning the size and shape of it without seeing him. She smiled at whatever she saw. Then, suddenly, snapped back to him. "When did you find this out?"

"Uhh... I don't remember?"

"Mark..."

"A month ago."

"Hm..." She nodded, not exactly upset, but not happy. She sat up fully, reaching out to touch her husband's chest absentmindedly—it was anything but. "You know you should have told me, right?"

"I do."

Linnea laughed. "But you still wouldn't have, even if you could go back, right?"

Mark felt so flushed. "Probably not."

"I am definitely going to have to punish you for this one, dear, and..." Her smile was frightening. "...I know exactly how to do that."

"How?" Mark asked, nervously.

"Fix me a plate of salad and refill my wine. I'm going to take your advice and eat outside." She hopped up, adding, "Alone."

Mark breathed deeply, loudly, and when he released it, he felt giddy.

*

Neither of them could stop smiling. She went upstairs to straighten up her makeup and brush out her hair. She pulled on a gossamer, babydoll robe that managed to cover her without hiding anything, checked herself out one last time, then went back downstairs.

A tall glass of wine awaited, along with her salad, arranged in an asymmetrical white porcelain bowl. It looked like something she'd ordered from a trendy restaurant. Mark was all about presentation, and Linnea loved him for that.

He said, "The vinaigrette is a new recipe. I think I went too heavy on the lemon though."

"I'm sure that it will be lovely."

Mark stared at her like she'd just said something remarkable. Just when she started to feel uncomfortable, he said, "I love you so much, honey.”

He could be so transparent sometimes. “Stop getting your hopes up, dear.”

Mark flushed. “I was just commenting on your accent. That never gets old.”

“Even after twenty years together?” said Linnea.

“And it will be even after fifty.”

Linnea kissed Mark softly. “Well, I am glad my...accent will still keep you interested.”

She tucked her phone into one of the pockets of her robe, grabbed the salad and wine, and slipped outside.

It was 7:30 in the evening. The party next door had been going on since the early afternoon, and at last, those young creatures were showing fatigue. The music was still loud to the point of being obnoxious, but it was drowned out less and less by the whooping and hollering of drunken twenty-somethings.

Linnea wondered what Martha Clark would think of what was happening there. Maybe she wouldn’t have been surprised. Linnea had known the Clarks when they were still together, and had known their son, Donny, as the kind of young man to keep her own children away from. Things had only gotten worse when the Clarks divorced. The fact that Donny Clark had invited all of his friends over just a couple hours after Martha went away on a business trip spoke volumes about how much he’d matured.

Not that Linnea really cared. It gave her entertainment and eye candy throughout the day, and when she’d seen Sebastian show up...well, that was nice, too.

Thinking of him drew her eyes in his direction, and sure enough, he was still there, talking to a slip of a girl who seemed to laugh too hard at whatever he was saying. Linnea was too proud to feel jealous...but she felt jealous all the same.

Mark’s revelation was interesting to her as well. The bet. The fact that he’s actually said that he wanted her. She looked at that girl differently after that. She looked and could think: You may be young, but you are not me.

Linnea laughed at her own bravado, pulled out her phone, and did her best to ignore the party. There were always work emails, after all, and they were always a distraction.

A year and a half ago, she'd attended a convention in Las Vegas that had unlocked a new area of adventure for her and Mark. She hadn't intended on doing anything but make her company a boatload of money—something she'd done—but she'd also slept with another man. Had even let Mark listen in on them over the phone. Adam was a younger coworker—a guy who worked for her at the time. Her only regret was that it was such a Vegas cliché. Still, things hadn't stayed in Vegas.

Adam was still with the company, and they still got together on occasion, but in the past year or so, things had gotten serious between his girlfriend Casey and him. She liked Casey. Casey had been in Vegas, too, so it was fitting that those two ended up, but it was still bittersweet. That was the reality of it, though, and Linnea didn't have any illusions. She could have fun with them, but in the end, they'd always look for someone younger.

As Adam and Casey would say, it was both a bug and a feature.

She laughed out loud that she even understood that joke. The next thing she'd know, she'd be purchasing an Xbox. What would her own sons think of that?

"Email that funny?"

A man's unfamiliar voice drew her out of her thoughts. Well, maybe not entirely unfamiliar. Her heart had already begun to race before she'd looked up.

Sebastian was standing just on the other side of their fence. The laughing girl was gone. He was alone, and because of that, everything else disappeared.

"More the situation," she said. "Evening, Sebastian."

At least she sounded cool and collected, no matter how she felt. And she definitely wasn't thinking about how he wanted to fuck her.

The young lifeguard nodded thoughtfully. "Haven't seen you at the pool lately."

Linnea smiled and wished she had sunglasses, even though dusk had arrived. "You noticed."

"Of course." He somehow managed the flirty line without the smugness that she'd been expecting. If she didn't know what she knew, she would have figured that he wasn't a guy who'd figured out just how attractive he was.

The fact that she did know things didn't change her impression all that much. He did know who he was and what he had, and it appeared that she could still intimidate him. For Linn, that revelation was like an aphrodisiac.

"Tell me what you are doing over here," she said.

He shrugged, but she saw his uncertainty.

"Just making small talk."

He wants to sleep with you.

"Bored of all those girls already?"

Sebastian had a very nice smile. He'd do well in life with that.

"Not bored, but maybe I saw something more interesting over here."

Linnea lifted a brow, as if to say, Really, that bold? "So you wanted to keep me company?" She tried to pack as much meaning into her words, and judging by the way he flushed, she was successful.

To his credit, when he spoke, he didn't stutter. "Just wanted to say hi."

"Hello then."

Sebastian nodded, his smile tight and flat. He was being dismissed and he knew it. "Right then. Hope to see you around at the pool."

He turned to go, and she was going to let him, because that was absolutely the right thing to do. Only... only she knew Mark was watching from the upstairs window, and... and she wanted this, too. It had been too long since she'd fooled around with Adam.

"Sebastian?"

He paused, his back to her, but his head turned just enough that their eyes could meet. "Mrs. Sorenson?"

"How long will you be staying at the party?"

"Was planning on leaving now, actually. Not much reason left to stay."

Fire mixed with her blood and raced through her body. How to play this. So many possibilities. The kitchen sink is leaking and my husband is out of town. Mind if you take a look at it before you go?

Or, I've got a light bulb that I just can't reach, and you're so tall... Or, I need to move a bookshelf and I can't manage it by myself.

"My husband is out of town. Would you like to sneak over and have sex?"

She almost laughed out loud at her audacity. Then at his shocked expression. Then again that she'd forced this situation like she had. She wasn't sure if it was her corporate persona leaking through, or the lingering charge of her earlier orgasm.

"I'm sorry, what?"

For a second, Linnea thought that she'd read the situation all wrong. That Mark had been lying to build up her confidence. Maybe Sebastian really did see her as a nice, older woman who he wanted to say hello to. Maybe he didn't see a MILF, but just a mom. He'd seen her come to the pool with her college-aged children, after all, even if they were a few years younger than him.

Only she knew that wasn't right. Even if Mark hadn't told her what he had, she'd seen the way his eyes followed her at the public pool as he sat up there on the chair—how they'd followed her earlier today. She might have been old enough to be his mother, but she also knew she was attractive. Hot, as this American young man would say.

Besides, she'd already put it out there, and she hadn't been successful by being indecisive.

"You are a good looking young man, and I have seen the way that you look at me. We could keep flirting. Keep pretending that we both do not know what we really want..." She lowered her head, just barely, just enough that she had to look up at him through her lashes. "But then we might run out of time to do anything about it, yes? I am too old to play those kinds of games."

Sebastian had turned back to her, and while he still looked shocked, it was starting to take on the quality of one who'd woken up to realize that he'd completely forgotten that Christmas was today.

"So, Sebastian, if you are interested, tell your friends goodbye, leave through the front door, and sneak into my house. I'll leave the front door open, and I will be upstairs in my bedroom."

"Mrs. Sorenson?"

"Please, Sebastian, call me Linnea."

“Okay... Linnea... Did the guys put you up to this? Did Donny?”

She wondered briefly if Donny had been the other guy in the shower room. Would Donny find out about this? And if so, would Martha? Ah, fuck it.

Linnea knew her laughter was musical, and it sounded like an orchestra now. “No.”

He looked back at them, then to her. There was that smile again, broad enough to break a girl’s heart. “See you in twenty then.”

“In ten.”

“And Mrs... Linnea?”

“Yes, Sebastian?”

“Please leave your bikini on.”

Of all the things he could say, that was the one that made her flush and tremble. “Deal, as long as you leave yours on.”

That smile turned into a grin. “I didn’t bring a change of clothes. See you soon, Linnea.”

When he turned away, she rolled her eyes. What was she doing?

A moment later, she answered her own thought.

About to have a lot of fun.

She’d only eaten half of her salad, but her glass of wine was empty. The combination left her stomach swimming. Or maybe that had to do with what she’d just agreed to.

Leaving her bowl and wine glass on the table, she took one last dive into the pool, one last turn through the cool caress of the water. When she emerged, she carried that feeling of weightlessness inside with her.

*

Mark watched them from the upstairs bedroom window, dark and hidden from the world below. Sebastian had been glancing into their yard all night long, seeming to try and build up his nerve to go over. To say something. To act on what may be his last chance. When he threw back half a bottle of beer, Mark knew it was time.

His wife, eating her salad on the patio and reading something on her phone, seemed lost in her own world. It was catching her in moments like this that he loved, when she wasn’t putting on the confidence that she wore so well it was almost natural. Not that she wasn't confident. Not that she wasn't strong. But like anyone else, that's not all that she was, and it was her nuance that had attracted him to her in the first place.

That and a killer pair of legs.

Then, she did see Sebastian. She did flirt with him. He couldn't hear their banter, but he could see it in their body language and the way their eyes met and held. Even when he turned his back to her, the connection hummed between them like electricity.

Mark didn't miss the moment that she made the suggestion. Sebastian looked back at her, smiling like he'd been handed an unexpected gift. In a sense, he had. This was the moment, and it arrived like thunder in his ears and lightning through his veins. He swooned against the window, stumbling back toward the bed. It caught him in the backs of his knees. He didn't remember sitting.

He didn't remember much of anything until Linn appeared in the bedroom door. Her slim body was backlit by the light in the hall. Her blue bikini looked almost black against her silhouette.

"He's coming over," she said.

Nausea and excitement rolled through Mark. This is it, he thought. I'm finally going to watch her. And yet, equally present was the other side of this coin: You'll no longer be able to deny what she's done.

It wasn't the voice of regret, although it easily could have tilted that way. He wasn't sorry about losing that innocence. Instead, it was the lifting away of doubt. It was the confirmation that his wife was a hotwife, and he was about to watch her get taken somewhere else by a man that she wasn't married to.

"Where should I go?" asked Mark.

"The walk-in closet. Leave it cracked. You should have a good view."

When he took a breath, it was like someone had put a knee on his chest. He took a step toward the closet before hesitating. He knew that the question he was about to ask was a crazy one, given the circumstances. He asked it anyway.

"Are you sure about me watching? I know that in the past you've...you've never, you know..." The way she was staring at him, like a lioness would a curious piece of food, was distracting. He wiped his hand over his face to clear his head. "You haven't ever wanted me to watch before."

"That is true," she acknowledged. "So you should hurry up and get in there before I change my mind, yes? This may be your only opportunity."

He nearly jumped out of his skin.

She added, "If I decide I want things to be more private, I can just close the door."

Mark didn't think she'd do that, but the threat of it was oddly exciting anyway. She reached out and touched his arm as he turned away. "And Mark?"

"Yes, Linn?"

He felt shy, almost reluctant to meet her eyes. Only when he did, he saw the softness in her hazel irises. Not what he was expecting. "I love you, Mark." And: "Thank you."

Mark nodded, thought about responding, then nodded again and walked into the closet. A moment later, he heard the door downstairs open and close.

*

Linnea felt the hot-cold buzz of nerves—the same kind of performance anxiety she felt in those last few minutes before a presentation. Part of that was because of the young man making his way up the stairs. Most of it, though, was the man in her closet.

For a brief moment, she'd considered ordering him into the guest bedroom when he'd asked where to go. It was true, what he'd said—having him watch her had never been part of her fantasy. For her, her liaisons had always been a private thing with her lover—physical, not emotional, but private still. She'd teased Mark, and even knew that part of this game was that he was left partially in the dark, but she also knew that what he really wanted was to watch. She also knew that he'd never ask.

Giving him this experience was her gift to him. As she listened to Sebastian's steps on the stairs, she trembled slightly with performance anxiety. With nervousness. What if Mark really didn't want this? What if what he saw broke him? Broke them?

The rational side of Linnea reasoned that if it didn't now, it would have eventually. If this game was poison, then that poison had been injected long ago, back in Vegas. And if it wasn't? Well, that was the test, and it was that test that made her nervous now.

"Hello there," Sebastian said from the door.

She turned her head, glancing at him over her shoulder. He pulled his gaze away from her ass to meet her eyes. Either he hadn't bothered putting a shirt on when he'd left the party, or he'd taken it off when he'd arrived. She was grateful, either way.

"So I heard that you like having sex with the guests at the pool," she said.

Sebastian's eyes went wide. He shifted his weight back onto his heels, off-balance. "Where did you hear that?"

"Tell me who you slept with," she said.

Sebastian shook his head slowly, whether denying her request, or denying this situation in general, she wasn't sure.

She turned to him, slinking the handful of steps up to him. "Tell me or you can leave now. I need to know who I am competing with."

"It's not like that," he stammered. "There's no competition. You've got...no competition."

"Oh, Sebastian," she said, running her hand down his arm. "I know that. But you still need to tell me."

"Jillian Green."

Linnea felt her eyes want to go wide. She stifled the urge. She thought it Jill, who she'd known since she was a teenager. She'd matured into an attractive young woman. "Maria's girl? She's cute. Who else?"

"I don't—"

"You're not going to tell me you don't remember, are you? Because then you're really going to have leave. I'm not going to fuck you in my marital bed if you're not going to remember it."

That one was for Mark.

"Was going to say that I don't think it's appropriate to kiss and tell," he said. He reached out and touched her cheek with the backs of his fingers. "You wouldn't want me to tell others about this."

The proximity more than anything quickened her pulse. His answer, while disappointing, was a good one. He was discrete.

She stepped close, and his arms went around her. He was much taller than her, and she wished she'd put on heels. When he collected her close and their skin touched, hot and still damp from the pool, she stopped caring.

First kisses could make or break a night. Sebastian's firm kiss, coupled with the way his hand curled around the back of her neck and held her close, totally made it. Her hands went naturally to his sides, just above his trunks. Mark was soft here. Sebastian was hard.

And that, she was pleased to feel, wasn't the only thing hard.

His hands didn't remain idle, and once he seemed sure that she wasn't going anywhere, or that this wasn't a dream, they explored. He had a nice touch, self-assured without groping, as some young men might be. And when his hands found her ass and lifted her up into his arms, well that was nice, too.

They kissed as Sebastian carried her to the wall—right next to the slightly open door of the closet. Linnea was too hotted up to worry about whether her husband would be seen or not. The idea of his voyeurism had become abstract, and Sebastian's hard body very much not.

"I can't believe this is happening," Sebastian said between kisses.

But you've thought about it a lot, she thought. "Because I'm old enough to be your mother?"

"God no," he kissed her hard, as if to prove otherwise. "You're so fucking hot."

Such a young, American thing to say. Linnea loved it. She wrapped her legs around him and dug a heel into his lower back. The effect brought her pussy right up against his groin, where his erection bulged. He felt huge.

She gasped. She couldn't help it. She tipped her head back, baring her neck to him. He took it, kissing the sensitive column as she pressed her sex harder against his. Only the thin material of their swimsuits separated them.

Holding her in place with one hand, he peeled the top of her bikini down, freeing her nipples for her hungry mouth. She rocked back even harder against the wall, her hand reaching back to steady herself. The slap of it shuddered through the house.

Mark. She remembered Mark—inches from her. He wanted a show. She wondered if he'd ever imagined it would come so close.

"Is that really all you?" she said, forcing sincerity even as she rolled her eyes in her mind. She got the reaction she was hoping for.

"All me. Want to see?"

She imagined Mark in the closet, his heart in his throat. It was surprisingly endearing. If she could have been both places at once, she would have loved to be in there with him, cuddling him as they watched her act so badly.

But she wasn't. She was here, in Sebastian's arms, and about to be more.

"Take it out," she said. "I'd love to see it."

He set her down. She didn't wait for him to do the job. She buried her thumbs in the band and pushed down. The trunks caught on his dick, snagging momentarily before he was freed. She expected large, but he was the biggest thing she'd seen outside of what little porn she'd watched. When she wrapped her hand around it, her fingers barely touched.

"Well then..."

The hand she'd caressed him with was her left hand—the hand that her wedding ring sparkled from. It gave her a wicked thought.

Linnea guided him with that cock, turning him until he was against the wall where she'd been leaning, then sank to her knees. She risked a look to her right, into the closet. It was dark, filled with shadows, but she could swear she caught a glimpse of Mark shifting, saw the whites of his eyes.

"Did you ever think I would do this?" She wasn't sure who the question was for. Both of them, she supposed, she thought with a smile. Leaning forward, she took Sebastian's monumental cock into her mouth.

Sebastian was huge. A challenge. She liked challenges. She'd been with only a few men, despite the freedom that she now knew that she had, but Mark was on the larger-than-average side, and she'd had plenty of practice with him over the years. She couldn't take all of Sebastian into her mouth, but she compensated with her hands and her wandering tongue.

“Oh, that’s good,” he groaned as she slathered her tongue along his balls. Some men couldn’t take that, but judging from the fact that he’d shaved his smooth, Sebastian wasn’t one of them. “Suck them, baby.”

Linnea slurped off. “Do I look like a baby to you?”

Sebastian looked down at her quickly, like a dog whose name was called. “Not even close.”

“Do I look like a bimbo?” She jerked him, even as she interrogated him

“No, of course not.”

“If I swallow your come, will you be able to get it back up?”

“For you? Anything.”

Linnea smiled. “Then give me your come.”

When she returned to his cock, she didn’t relent. She bobbed her head, keeping her eyes on his. She imagined what she must look like—her blond hair still wet, now with sweat, her cheekbones looking fantastic as she sucked, her nipples screaming on the shelf of her displaced bikini top.

She looked like a slut—for Sebastian, for Mark. For her as well. This was as much her fantasy as either of theirs.

Sebastian couldn’t hold out long. She watched as his eyes went soft, wrinkles marring his young face as he grimaced. She readied herself for him, for the explosion that was somehow dirty and exciting all at once—this moment in a nutshell. She felt her own orgasm build with him, and pushed her fingers inside of her bikini bottoms to help it along. She was so wet. So ready. So close.

Sebastian let go with a grunt, flooding her mouth. It triggered her own release. She plunged her fingers into herself as it raced up around her, shortcircuiting her brain. She swallowed. She fought for breath. Stars filled her vision, clouding the view of this hot, young man losing himself to her.

Linnea drank all of him, then stood up, trailing her nearly naked body along his bare skin. “Now it’s my turn...”

*

Mark didn't dare move, pinned as he was in the back of their spacious, walk-in closet. He didn't dare breathe. He didn't even adjust his erection, no matter how uncomfortable it got in the tight confines of his pants. Not with Sebastian right there!

When Linn repositioned them, he found it slightly easier to relax. At least his breaths came easier. But he still saw Sebastian's meaty thigh and the way the man's swimming trunks circled around his ankles, and the way Linnea stared up at him from her knees.

The other man's cock was enormous, and even more thrilling, Linnea looked hungry for it. That was the look he was going to remember tonight—his wife on her knees, holding another man's impressive erection, and wanting more.

But that wasn't the only look, nor the most memorable. No, that came after, when Linn had sucked Sebastian dry and led him to the bed. After she'd pushed him between her legs, and after she'd watched him drag her bikini bottoms away—just as Mark had done earlier.

"See something you like?" Linnea had asked as Sebastian stared at her cleanly waxed pussy.

That had been hot, but it all paled in comparison to what came next, what came after Linnea asked if Sebastian had a condom, and Sebastian had produced one without hesitation.

Mark couldn't breathe as he watched Sebastian crawl up over his wife. He didn't dare blink, despite the burn in his eyes. He wasn't going to miss a single millisecond of this, and thanks to Linnea's forethought, he had the perfect view.

His wife reached out and took Sebastian's sheathed cock in her hand, placing it against her pussy. She stared up at Sebastian, holding his eyes as she rubbed him along her slippery lips. She gasped. Sebastian gasped. From the darkness, Mark gasped. Sebastian's cock edged inside of her, stretching her, entering her.

This was no longer just a fantasy. This was no longer a dream, or a game, or an abstract thing that existed in his mind. This was real, and the evidence was literally screaming just a few feet away.

He'd had sex with Linnea hundreds of times over the years. They'd explored the act together, getting comfortable with one another, with the things that excited them and the sounds they made when they were excited. Listening to Linn mewl and scream as she took Sebastian's cock were completely new to him. He felt his world view shattered and rebuilt. He wished he had the guts to pull out his phone and record this moment. Instead, he watched.

Sebastian had a big cock and knew how to use it. He wasn't gentle, nor was he a jackhammer. Once Linn had adjusted to his girth, he fucked her with the skill and stamina of an experienced stud. Mark watched this other man's ass rise and fall with each thrust, watched Linnea's legs wrap around him, encouraging him to drive into her harder. She scratched his back, marking him. It only encouraged him to fuck her even harder.

Linnea teased and encouraged at first, for Mark, perhaps, for Sebastian, surely. "It's so...it's so...it's so big!" But after she came the first time, her words broke down into a series of grunts and cries. She seemed to twist away from him. Sebastian went with it, ripping his cock free and flipping her onto her stomach before re-entered her.

"You're so tight," he said. Thumbs on her ass, hands on her hips, he pulled her into him as much as he thrust. She clawed her hair and thrashed as another orgasm slammed through her. "Everything about you is so tight!"

Mark touched himself through his pants, but when he felt his balls seize, he froze. He didn't want to make a mess. He didn't want to waste the opportunity. He even looked away, if only for a moment.

"Yes!" Linnea cried. And like that his eyes were back on them. Back on Linnea and Sebastian and their sweaty beautiful bodies rutting. Her bikini top was still on, he noticed, the scraps of cloth lifting her perky tits as they shifted and bounced beneath the onslaught.

"I'm close," Sebastian groaned.

"Come."

"So close."

"Come, Sebastian. Do it. Do...it!"

Sebastian yanked her hips against him, threw back his head, and roared as he came. Linnea buried her face in the mattress, muffling her own cries. Mark tried to fight the impulse to join. He almost did it. Almost. And then he noticed Linn's hand beneath their writhing bodies, tugging on Sebastian's scrotum.

For some reason—whether it was the lewdness of the act, or its aggressiveness, or the fact that it was something that Linnea had never done for him—it pushed Mark over the edge. It was like she was tugging on his own balls, coaxing his own orgasm. And without even touching himself, he came.

*

The aftermath was like a dream. Linnea rolled onto her back, drained and relaxed and languid. She pulled Sebastian close, kissing him like the lover he now was. She touched his body, feeling his muscles beneath his lean, youthful torso.

"For the record," he said, "you were way better than any of the others."

It was probably a line, but he said it with a sincerity that she chose to believe. "So were you," she said with a wink.

Sebastian shook his head, like he was still surprised by her. "Thanks for tonight," he said.

"Thanks for sneaking over and entertaining an old woman while her husband was away."

"Please, enough with the old woman line. You know that's not what you are."

"It's all relative, dear," she said. "Come on, I'll walk you out."

She pulled off her bikini top at last and grabbed her transparent robe. It didn't cover a thing, but she liked Sebastian's eyes on her. Give him something to think about in the long nights to come, she figured.

They made out one last time at the front door. "No telling anyone, yes?" she said. "If you do, I'll find out, and you wouldn't want that. Trust me."

Sebastian laughed, but she could hear the nervousness in it. "No need to threaten. Our secret's safe."

"See you around, Sebastian."

"You too, Linnea."

She touched his face. "It's Mrs. Sorenson now. And good night."

She laughed when the door closed behind him, and for a moment, she stood there and reveled in the night. Her body was still alive, still craving more.

Upstairs, she found Mark waiting for her. Good Mark. Sweet Mark. And right now, the man she couldn't wait to drag into bed with her.

"Was it everything you imagined it would be?" she asked.

"And more," he said.

They met in the center of the room, kissing lovingly. It was a completely different kind of kiss than the one she'd just shared downstairs, and she wouldn't have wanted it any other way.

"How about for you?" he said. "Was it...was it weird?"

She gave it a moment of thought. "No, actually. It was kind of hot, knowing that you were there." She fingered the top button of his shirt, then twisted it open. "I got to tease you in a whole new way."

"You sure did," Mark said, nodding.

"Did you come?"

Her husband blushed. "Yeah."

She reached down and felt the front of his pants. He was already hard again. That, alone, was a testament to what this did for him. She felt warm inside, the same feeling she got when she surprised him with the perfect gift for a holiday. In many ways, this was no different.

"Then I suppose we should get cleaned up together." She took his hand. "Come on, I still have...chlorine all over me. I could use a hand."

She pulled him into the shower. Neither of them could stop smiling.

Liked what you read? You can read all about Linnea Sorenson and her adventures in Las Vegas in Unconventional: Business Meets Pleasure, available on Amazon in paperback and digital formats.

END

About Kenny Wright

More From Kenny Wright

Next: Laura Abroad
Table Of Contents

Laura Abroad
A Short Story
by Arnica Butler

I am an average guy. By that I mean: I'm not funny but I've made people laugh; I have brown hair, a medium build, a six-inch cock of average girth; I work in an office and I hate my job more than half of the time but stay on for my benefits.

There is a thing that sets me apart from other men (and I mean, stratospherically apart from other men), though:

I am married to Laura Caldwell.

Laura Caldwell, from high school. Laura the cheerleader. Laura of the longest legs anyone had ever seen on a girl, then or since. Slender, sweetly shaped legs, disappearing like a Barbie Doll's beneath her navy blue cheerleading skirt. Spiking into the air as she jumped. Laura, whose skirt flapped up and gave every boy in the stands a tantalizing view of where her legs met, hiding underneath the navy-blue flash pants. Laura Caldwell who went up and down, and up and down, with her skirt flying in the air and her legs spread and her big breasts bouncing in her cheerleading sweater.

Laura Caldwell of the sweet smile and rich chestnut hair, who bobbed cheerfully through the halls of West Lake High smelling like fruity shampoo and freshly washed polyester cheerleader uniform. Laura with dark, Guinness-colored eyes and straight lashes that fluttered at languid odds with the rest of her, as if her eyes alone stayed all day in the bedroom seducing a lover. Laura of the all-American freshness: a wide smile and the smattering of freckles on her milk-colored skin.

The virginal Laura Caldwell, the Holy Grail of high school pursuits.

Laura Caldwell, who is now Laura Evans, and who looks like what you want a girl that pretty and sexy to look like twenty years later: long-legged, still trim and athletic, with high, firm breasts and the same silky chestnut hair.

You might ask how a guy like me gets a girl like Laura. Everyone certainly did at our ten-year reunion. I might have gone to that reunion a hundred times just to have a conversation like this one over and over again:

"So you married or what, man?"

"Yep."

A pause.

"You probably know her. She went to our school, class below us."

"Oh yeah?" A note of disinterest.

"Yeah Laura Evans..I mean, Laura Caldwell."

"Laura Caldwell? You? You married Laura Caldwell?"

A pause.

"Laura fucking Caldwell?"

A nod.

A low whistle. A clap on the back. "Holy fuckin' shit man."

I mean, I hate that sort of banter. But I also like it. It's gratifying. It makes me feel above-average.

I met her in a liquor store in Seattle, if you want the answer to the question. Right after graduating university. She remembered my full name and everything, which shocked the hell out of me because she was a cheerleader and I did things like slink down the halls trying not to be seen by the jocks, on my way to Mathletes. We were thousands of miles from our high school, and we just bumped into each other there. In a liquor store.

And then like some cheesy romantic comedy we were parked next to each other in the parking lot. We giggled and laughed, and went on three dates before I wooed her sweetly into bed. She was no virgin, but she wasn't easy and she wasn't a porn star. Anyway, none of that would have mattered, however it panned out, because I've spent the last fifteen years in a long, drawn-out state of shock that began right after I said: "Would you, I dunno, maybe want to go see a movie?" and she said yes.

It turned out that the magnificent Laura Caldwell was as lovely inside as out, and in about the same way. Her personality was sweet all over, just like her milk colored skin sprinkled with cinnamon freckles. In places, her personality was sexy, just like her big, swimsuit-model tits and ludicrously long thighs. She was kind, and fun, and energetic. Apparently she had no idea she was all that hot – and how she never clued in on this, I still wonder – and so she didn't have any desire to have a richer or funnier or better-looking man.

With supreme ambition, I asked her to marry me after six months.

It's hard to believe that story could begin like that, with a girl like her, and end up where it did fifteen years later, but I suppose everyone who falls in love and gets married thinks the same thing.

On our wedding day, it seemed like nothing could ever possibly dull the passion we felt for each other.

I could see a few people in the audience, people who had been married a long time and some who had gotten divorced, and how they were forcing a smile and saying lovely things to us, but deep down inside they were skeptical. They knew there was no avoiding the inevitable.

Still, I appreciate all those people not ruining our wedding day.

And I also appreciate all the people who didn't say anything to us about how the kids would destroy our lives.

How we would stop having sex, and stop even trying. How we would grow apart and feel so distant from each other. How we would turn into roommates. How all of the dish-washing and bills and appointments and cupcakes and whining and lack of sleep would pile up around us and we would blame each other for all of it.

And then, when the kids got old enough to be out of our hair for a while, we wouldn't really know each other anymore.

That's what happened.

It happens all the time.

We still loved each other, of course, and I looked at her and still saw (beneath the layers of exhaustion and sweats and the ugly bun she wore all the time when she was in the house) the magical creature she had been before all of this.

But we were stuck in our old habits. There seemed to be no way to change them. If I tried to spice things up, it always ended in some kind of disaster. There was always something wrong with it, like she was too tired or had forgotten something for one of the kids' millions of activities.

Still, I am an ambitious man. I wasn't going to let it all end that way. After all, I was the average, no-name guy who had married Laura Fucking Caldwell.

*

So purchased a vacation package for Barbados.

(I know. It's not off to a very original start. But stay with me.)
This is where we met Taryn and Alan.

More specifically, Taryn and Alan were sitting at the swim-up bar at our hotel. They looked like a carbon-copy of us: a scrawny, mathematical-looking man with glasses and an underwhelming demeanor. And a gorgeous wife.

Taryn was curled up on a stool like a cat. She was dark-skinned and she was damp everywhere, like she had taken a swim or maybe sat here sweating delicately, or maybe she had rubbed a whole bottle of suntan oil into her olive skin. She rose on her knees on the stool to steal a fruit from the bartender's tray just as we approached the bar, and so it was hard not to take her in: long legs (not as long as Laura's, but slender and shapely), and a full, rounded bottom that was barely covered by a black and gold bikini that was loose on her skin and seemed ready to fall off any moment. A string tied at her back, and when she plopped back onto the stool, her full breasts gave a bounce and strained against the small triangles of gold-trimmed black that barely enclosed her nipples.

They smiled at us, and we all exchanged that semi-awkward look that similar couples exchange, and then we settled in at the end of the bar.

They were like us in appearance only, we discovered quickly. Taryn unfolded and refolded, to sit on Alan's lap. She began telling him secrets next to his ear before taking a bite out of a lime. She seemed to be flirting with him. Her breasts jiggled and she opened her mouth a lot, mostly to smile or laugh at something.

Laura was trying to relax. She wasn't a big drinker, and she had become increasingly conservative since she had the kids. She still had a beautiful body, but she wasn't confident about it, so she had encased herself in a pretty, polka-dotted one-piece suit that showed off a little of her cleavage and, with its boy-cut shorts, actually made her legs seem longer. I had thought it was a little sexy when we left the room, but next to Taryn's outfit, the suit looked matronly. Laura sat in front of her strawberry daiquiri, no part of her touching me, wondering aloud if her parents were doing things right back at home.

I looked at Taryn and Alan, who I assumed were just a new couple, here for some fun, or maybe two people having an affair, and I felt a pang of jealousy.

We had been like that, once. And now we were...

"Oh god!" Laura exclaimed. "I hope my mom doesn't forget about Kelly's piano lesson. She doesn't realize she has to go with her, no matter how many times I tell her..."

I murmured something encouraging and caring, but I was watching Taryn toss her hair over her shoulder. She looked behind her, watching the action in the pool. She placed another lime in her mouth and bit into it seductively. The juice of the lime squirted into her mouth, and some of it dribbled onto her lips, giving them a light sheen before she swept it away with her tongue.

Then her eyes moved, and she looked at me.

I froze. Laura was still talking about pianos and typing on her phone, which she hadn't been able to put down. And I was caught, blatantly, by a woman I had been checking out.

But the woman smiled.

She didn't just smile. She moved her lips apart like she was going to kiss my cock, and her eyes twinkled wetly the same way. She placed the lime in her mouth again, and bit into it. A shudder went through me, my mouth ached with the thought the tangy taste of lime on warm lips. I could feel my cock getting hard, and I was vaguely wondering how I was going to hide it in the pool.

And then my problem was solved, because Alan looked right at me.

My stomach went cold, but Alan didn't give me a glare or a hard stare. In fact, he looked amused. He very amicably lifted his hand. "Hey," he said. "Where you guys from?"

"Seattle," I answered quickly, and a bit too cheerfully, in an attempt to smooth over the way I had been checking out his wife.

Taryn threw her head back, and her black hair skimmed the pool. "Oh god! So rainy!" She did this thing where she kind of stretched, as if to emphasize that she spent far too much of her time in the sun, covered in shiny oil, to even think about a place like Seattle. Her breasts were turned up and spread apart as she leaned back, and I noticed her nipples were hard under the fabric. Hard, and large, and round.

"Let me buy you guys a drink," Alan said.

Laura looked up, just becoming aware of the conversation. She smiled, sort of shyly.

The thing about it is, even though this olive-skinned beauty was getting my cock hard as fuck, it wasn't like I had some kind of craving for her. Laura was just as hot as this woman, in fact, depending on what you liked, more so: Laura's face was prettier, her hair was silkier, and her body was just as lean and curvy in all the right places, respectively. What this woman had, though, was a kind of sexual sheen to her. Everything she did seemed to invite anyone for miles around to have a look, or maybe more.

And something about that, as obscene as it was, got my cock uncomfortably stiff.

*

Taryn and Alan moved over to where we were sitting, at the corner of the bar, and Taryn somehow convinced Laura to have another cocktail, and then another. She threw her shiny, wavy hair around a lot, and she laughed easily. Her mouth was big and she used it a lot, biting into limes, stretching it open when she laughed at something, lingering on the straw of her drink the way you hoped she would linger on your cock.

She somehow got Laura into a conversation about places they had traveled, and away from Laura's usual droning on and on about kids, and things related to kids.

Don't get me wrong. I love my wife. I love what a great mother she is. I love my kids. I just longed for a day when we can talk about something else – anything else – for more than ten minutes.

Alan was friendly, and he was, as I had suspected, very much like me. An engineer with a hot wife.

But I can't remember what Alan and I talked about for the first few hours we hung out there at the bar. Not now. Not after what happened.

We were all sitting around the bar. Taryn had returned to sitting on Alan's lap. Or more appropriately, stretching out her legs on his lap and sliding them along each other. She was half in the pool, so that she was floating and glistening with water on her dark skin. Her breasts were dabbled with beads of water, and her bikini seemed almost too small for her. The mounds of her olive-gold flesh were nearly bursting out of the fabric, which had rolled down slightly on her left breast and revealed just a tiny bit of her smooth areola, a light coffee color.

She was laughing even more now, and stretching out in Alan's arms to show off her body. Her arms were long and toned, and she seemed to move like a serpent, writhing sexily rather than reaching for her glass, for example.

Alan twisted in the chair and whispered things into her ear, very close to her ear. The things he said made gooseflesh pepper her neck, and she giggled happily.

Laura was leaning on my shoulder now, which was not anything like what Taryn was doing, but I was starting to get excited about the greatly increasing chance of having sex that night. I was enjoying watching Taryn, with her black hair and her dark red-pink lips, but it wasn't why anyone would immediately think.

I was enjoying watching her hang on Alan, and smile at him, and whisper things into his ear. I wanted Laura to be like that again.

Something caught Taryn's attention. She focused her gaze like a hunter on its prey. She stopped laughing, and stopped twisting in Alan's arms. She popped herself back on the bar-stool next to him, and leaned in to whisper something in his ear.

She was very serious now. She bit into another lime, but she was focused and did not break her connection with what she was looking at.

Alan turned in the same direction. He did it as though Taryn had recognized someone they both knew, or as if they had some plan all along to meet someone, or find someone.

I looked at Laura, who was also watching them, and had also noticed the change in the way they were acting.

They had stopped talking to us, and almost walled us off as if we weren't there.

They both looked across the pool.

We followed their gaze. We were both curious now.

Laura leaned in, and whispered close to my ear: "Maybe they're bounty hunters."

Her voice was light and fun again. Her lips brushed over my ear. I felt a pang of desire throb in my crotch. She so rarely made jokes these days; it felt good to be laughing at something she said, to feel her lips next to my ear.

There were a few people clustered around the pool. An ancient couple, drinking a margarita that was clearly too strong for them, and laughing about it.

Not them.

A woman with a two-year old who was screaming.

Not her.

A teenage boy trying his best to flirt with a disinterested teenage girl. Awkward.

Hopefully not them.

A black man, muscled and fit, his legs dangling in the pool.

I looked back to Taryn. Her eyes were trained on that man like lasers.

It was him.

I could understand why Taryn might look at the guy: he was supremely masculine, a fine specimen of man.

But why was Alan looking at him as well?

At that very moment, Alan nodded, and Taryn stood up in the water. She adjusted her bikini, covering her exposed slice of areola. She slid her fingers through her hair, and puckered her lips. As though she were going on a date, it looked like.

Alan gave her a playful slap on the ass, and she giggled. Then she turned around and grabbed one more drink. She and Alan clinked their glasses together, and she gulped the rum and Coke elegantly but quickly. Then they kissed, and it was a spectacular, wet, pornographic kiss.

"Wish me luck!" Taryn said, after her lips left Alan's with a wet slurp. She smiled at me and Laura, as though we knew what we would wish her luck for. She waded out into the pool. The water got deeper, and she sprang to a graceful swimming stroke, on her side, as she glided out and right in front of the muscled, handsome, much younger man.

Laura and I both watched in confusion. Alan turned his chair toward us, but kept it so that he could easily see what was going on between his wife and the stranger at the pool.

The dark man smiled, and it was clear that Taryn was saying something to him. His eyes were running remorselessly over her body. I looked at Alan, and I could see he was drinking the sight in. It was at that moment that I felt the pang of something I had never really felt before, though to be honest it had a familiar feel to it: I was jealous of Alan, watching his wife flirt like that, watching another man peel her clothing away with his eyes.

Taryn moved like a mermaid in the water. She turned on her other side and swam the other direction, in front of the black man, but with her face turned to him, her attention on him.

Something inside of me was turning inside-out. I could feel that I was getting turned on: Taryn was attractive, and as we had been sitting at the bar talking, I had felt an attraction to her. But this was different, a different kind of turn-on. I was more interested in watching Alan, and imagining what it would be like to watch my own wife flirting with another man.

I looked at Alan. He was unperturbed. It even seemed like he was enjoying the show.

Laura's eyes were on Taryn, watching her. Taryn had caught her interest. She sipped on her daiquiri and stared.

I knew that neither one of knew exactly what was going on, but we suspected. And I think both of us, even at that early stage, had our own reasons for being interested in what Taryn and Alan were doing. But it was strange to watch: you heard about people who did this, you just never imagined actually meeting them.

Alan watched his wife, then suddenly struck up a conversation about climbing, turning back to the bar. He lived in Arizona and he couldn't believe he hadn't lived there his whole life, he said.

As if his wife had never been part of our conversation, and what she was doing needed no explanation.

I started to talk to him, because I had no idea what else to do. Laura was a little drunk, and to my surprise, and also my delight, she kept watching Taryn, sipping on her daiquiri. Alan ignored his wife for the most part, but he kept checking over his shoulder every now and then.

Taryn was circling in, ever-closer to the black man. They were talking now, and she had stopped swimming to stand in front of him, treading water, stretching out so he could take in the length of her body.

They were definitely too close to each others' beautiful, dark, skin for a married woman and a stranger at the pool. Taryn's skin glistened with water; the man was shiny with beads of light sweat.

And then just as suddenly as it had all begun, I saw their two figures come together. I turned to look at Laura, whose mouth was open slightly, and whose eyes were fixated on the two of them. But not in a horrified way, just a calm, intent, interested concentration. I could only guess that she liked what she was seeing.

I glanced back in the direction of Taryn, and saw that she had wedged herself between the man's dangling legs. She was resting her arms on his thighs! She was squeezing his biceps, and her mouth was coming ever-closer to his. She was talking to him now, looking down at his chest, his firm abs. Her fingers were walking up and down his skin. She put her arms over his shoulders, and leaned toward him. Her full breasts were just inches, and then just centimeters from his skin, and then they were pressed against his firm chest.

I felt my heart racing, and my mind was playing a terrible trick on me: superimposing an image of Laura right over Taryn's body. Where Taryn's dark breasts pressed against the hard ebony chest of the stranger, I saw Laura's, white and contrasting.

I looked at Alan to distract myself.

Alan was watching all this the way you would watch a movie.

I was aghast.

Well – no. I was aghast in one way, but churning underneath my shock, there was something about the whole scene that was making my cock turn to stone. I shifted in my seat, unsure of what to do, and I could feel my own erection against my thigh. The water lapped at it and teased it more.

Alan set his drink down, just as I was searching for something to say, and clapped me on the shoulder. “Gotta run,” he said. His eyes were alight with desire and interest. I looked at his wife, who was still by the pool, embracing the stranger. She was talking to him so close to his lips he must have been able to feel her warm breath invitingly on his mouth. "See you guys tomorrow? Breakfast? It's been a lot of fun," Alan chattered cheerfully.

And like that, he was off, in another direction, leaving his wife at the pool.

In the arms of another man.

Laura sat there, watching Taryn get closer and closer. Watching her hands move up and down the man's hard body.

And then down. And this was shocking, and so we just stared: right there in front of everyone at the pool, Taryn slid her hands down into the stranger's swimming trunks, where they came into contact with something she liked. She threw her head back and smiled. Her hand moved beneath the fabric of his suit, back and forth, clearly wrapped around his cock and stroking the length of it.

I looked over at Laura at that moment, and though you may find it hard to believe, the look on her face was the image that burned into me from that evening. The way she was watching Taryn, her eyes honed in on Taryn's hand. Her stare was both vacant and full, like she was seeing Taryn's hand on that cock, but she had withdrawn into her own, deep fantasy.

And wouldn't I have liked to know what that was? The idea that maybe Laura was sitting there staring, thinking about that man's big black cock and wondering what it would feel like in her own hand, wondering about the weight of it, wondering if it was smooth and dry or sticky and wet...well, obviously this was all just my own fantasy, but the thought of it wound me up like a top.

We watched them climb out of the pool, hands all over each other, and then disappear in the same direction Alan had gone.

We sat in silence, and then wordlessly got up to go to our room. My cock was pressing out against my shorts and I had to hold a towel in front of me.

I closed the door behind us, and Laura surprised me by turning around, and pressing me into the wall. It should be noted that this is not a very "Laura" thing to do. She ran her hands underneath my shirt, and lifted it over my head.

But what I remember most was her eyes. They were hungry, alive. Interested in me.

I pushed her back, into the room, onto the bed. My cock had been aching in the pool. Now I could feel that I was so hard that precum was dripping from the crown, and I had to concentrate hard to move slowly over Laura's body instead of diving right in.

But she didn't seem to want that. She remained on her knees, and sort of thrust her hip out as though she were posing for something. She peeled her swimsuit off, hooking her thumbs under the straps to pull it down slowly. First her light brown nipples, pebbled and ready, popped out from the fabric. Then her lean torso, her very narrow waist, and her boyish hips. Between her thighs she had a newly waxed landing strip, and I stared at it because it had been a long time since she had kept things perfectly trim down there. The suit bunched at her knees, and she flipped onto her back with a neat, gymnastic movement, and pulled them off her legs. I caught sight of her ass and her bright, dripping gash as she lifted her legs to pull the suit off her ankles.

She bounced back up, probably because I was just kneeling there, dumbfounded like an idiot. Her breasts bounced and she nibbled on her lower lip as she reached for my swimsuit.

She pushed my trunks down with her hands. When they got to my hips, she fell backward again and stretched out on the bed. I was still kneeling there, mouth open, my cock pointed out straight.

Then she did something she had never done before. She lifted her feet and pushed my trunks down with her manicured, small feet. Her toes, which had always been freakishly agile, grasped at the hem and tugged. But the part that made me kneel there, staring, was that she took my hard cock between her feet, and slid the soles of her feet up and down my shaft.

As she did this, her legs spread open like a frog's, and her pussy opened up for me, revealing that she was dripping wet. The scent of her reached my nostrils and I almost lost it.

I wasn't really a foot guy, but I was turned on as hell by that. More than anything because it was so unlike her, because she was getting caught up in the moment.

She released me, and when she did, she extended her calves away from each other, spreading her legs even wider.. It was like being back in high school, seeing her spread her legs as she flew through the air, except now there were no flash pants between my eyes and what was between her legs. At that moment, it was almost like I went back in time, like I was fucking her for the first time. Like I didn't know what was going to happen: all the danger of the unknown.

I fell over her, and felt the familiar shape of her body: her soft thighs against mine, her full breasts against my chest. I kissed her neck, and her body rippled. I delivered light kisses down to her breasts, and made lazy circles around her already-hard nipples. I felt her squirm, and she arched her back to get her breasts up, closer to my lips. I finally pulled one into my mouth, and my cock twitched when I felt her body react, shuddering slightly. I bit on her nipple gently and enjoyed a low moan against my chest.

She was impatient, and already reaching for me with her hands. She grasped my cock and moved her hands down my shaft, to the base of my dick. Her fingers worked around my sack, busy, and then she did another thing that she had never done: she squeezed my balls hard against my cock. A wave of pain, but the kind that felt sickeningly good, washed over me. I sucked in my breath. She started to stroke me, at the deepest part of my cock, behind my balls. She gripped this part of me fiercely while she guided the tip of my cock to her opening.

All the flesh of her pussy was soaked, and I felt her warmth slide over the tip of my aching cock while she sent another wave of intense pleasure through me by squeezing my balls and rubbing the root of my dick. She massaged me at the base, clutching my balls just tightly enough to make me moan.

Suddenly, I couldn't take any more. I fumbled between our bodies, pushed her hands out of the way, and thrust myself inside of her. Her hot flesh kissed my balls and she spread her legs to get me even deeper into her, until all I could feel or think about was the wet heat against every inch of my cock.

She arched her back, and wrapped her spread legs around me. Her ankles rested on the small of my back, and then she crossed them. She used her strength to squeeze me, pulling me closer to her, though it didn't seem possible. She squeezed tighter and tighter, pulling me deeper inside of her. I was wrapped up in her sweaty, overheated flesh in every possible way, and her pussy was snug and wet around me. She opened her mouth, and smiled at me as I went for it, pounding into her. Her face was flushed and she was tightening all around me, close to coming. It seemed like we were in that state for both a brief and very long time.

We came at the same time. Of course you can never be one hundred percent sure, but I felt her burst open and closed, oozing warm juices all over me, while she lifted her head to bite my shoulder, and I filled her up with my cum.

It was the best sex we had had in a long, long time. To be honest, maybe ever. It felt like both of us really wanted each other again, and we were both really there in the room together.

We both knew it had something to do with Alan and Taryn, I think, but we didn't say anything about it that night.

*

We saw Alan and Taryn at breakfast the next morning.

Taryn waved us over to the table they were sharing. She was sitting very close to Alan, the way new lovers sit: she had scooted her chair toward him and she had kicked off her flip-flops to run her foot along his calf.

She was eating a sticky bun, and the way she was doing it and looking at Alan, it was almost pornographic. She left her thumb in her mouth, between her red lips, and flashed her eyes at him before she popped her thumb from between her lips with a sticky sound.

"You guys!" she said, with a part of the bun in her mouth, like she couldn't possibly wait to say what she wanted to say, or give up on her breakfast for even a second. It was oddly charming. She waved her hands in the air. She was so alive.

"I'm so sorry about last night, I didn't even get to say goodbye."

Alan walked his fingers up her arm and kissed her on the shoulder.

"You just have to go when – did you get the coffee with the cinnamon stick in it?" she interrupted herself. "It's so good."

I wanted to hear the rest of her first sentence. You just have to go when what? I mean, it was obvious that they were swingers, but something inside of me wanted to hear them say it. Or hear her say it. You have to go when you get your hands on a big, thick black cock.

I would have given anything to hear her say that. And I must have looked like I would have, because Laura was looking at me, a little disbelievingly.

Laura surprised me by saying, "I'll try it, yeah it looks good. You were saying?"

For a moment, I was launched into a state of frightening euphoria, as my imagination tricked me into believing that Laura was somehow saying she would try the black cock I had been thinking of just then. My mind envisioned her white hands clamped on the veined, purple shaft of last night's stranger, and the blood drained from my whole body and into my cock.

Now, I might have looked deranged while I was thinking about Taryn saying, "You have to go when you get your hands on a big, black cock," but I'm sure I looked beyond deranged as I sat there thinking of Laura saying that.

I realized, after a few moments of wild, tense silence, that Laura was of course talking about the coffee, not a black cock. But my dick was already at attention, and it wasn't going to deflate so easily. I stirred with slight discomfort in my chair. My pulse was racing.

It should be said that at this point, I was having a kind of awakening. But it wasn't like I was discovering something totally new about myself. I'd had the fantasy before, about Laura flirting with another man or having an affair...I just hadn't quite put together that it made me so hot.

Taryn squinted her eyes. She laughed. She turned to Alan. "What was I saying?"

"About leaving -"

"Oh! Yeah...sorry. It's just...you know. You can't miss an opportunity."

My mouth was actually watering for her to keep talking, and give me all the details of that "opportunity," but I managed to keep my maw shut.

I looked at Laura, and her facial expression sent a shudder through me.

She was intrigued, and a look that was much different than usual was on her face.

"Did you have sex with that guy?" she said bluntly.

She didn't say it judgmentally, or even in a shocked voice. She said it in the voice she used to ask if someone had tried a menu item before. Her tone, and her question, also stirred something up inside of me, and I felt blood throbbing in my cock again.

Taryn smiled, like she had a secret, and said nothing.

Laura leaned forward, her eyes hungry.

"Do you guys do this..a lot?"

She was not usually this straightforward about sex...god, she hadn't even seemed to have any interest in sex for years. Now I could feel my heart almost flapping around in my chest, beating at a ridiculous, heart-attack inducing pace.

Alan kissed Taryn again. "Only on vacation."

But Laura didn't stop there. Oh no.

"How does it work?"

Excitement filled my veins, and my head was starting to spin.

Was she actually into this?

I was too paralyzed by her questions, and my cock was too hard, to do anything but watch the scene play out in disbelief. Taryn looked at me and cocked her head. My cock throbbed painfully.

Alan stroked Taryn's arm. "Well, we find a guy who we think is suitable...and then I go back to the room and find a place where I can watch."

"So you just...you only watch her, or do you do this with other women?"

My eyes widened.

Taryn smiled. "No, he just likes to watch me." She tossed her hair back over her shoulder.

"And you don't get jealous?" This question was for Alan. My cock pulsed again, as I looked at Laura's face. She was more than just intrigued; she was...turned on. She had streak of pink flush on her face, a sign that she was animated. Her eyes were dilated and fixed on the two of them.

He shook his head, and the way that he did it made it seem very genuine. "I'm the one who asked her to do it."

“But why?”

I stared at my wife. My heart was going cold and hot.

Alan took a sip of his coffee. “It's not for everyone. I just like seeing her with another man. It's sort of like...she's someone else for a while. It's good for -”

“It spices things up,” Taryn interrupted. “It was hard for me to understand at first. But it's not like...it's not like cheating on him, you know? I know he's watching, so it's something I'm doing for him.”

Laura gave a slow nod, as if she could totally understand that. My mouth was hanging open, but I wasn't able to close it.

Taryn took a sip of her coffee. Then she looked at me, and raised her cup in a mock toast. “He gets it,” she said, extending one slender finger at me.

Laura turned to me.

I braced for an exclamation to the contrary, or her shock. Instead she put her head in her hand. “Huh,” was all she said, but the way she moved...she sort of squirmed in her seat.

She took a sip of her coffee, and it seemed to me that everyone at the table was watching her. “I guess I can sort of see what it's all about. I never thought I would say that. Until I saw you guys last night.”

She shrugged, and looked at me, as if we were having a conversation in Home Depot about blinds.

Alan winked at me.

Taryn flagged down a waiter and asked him, in a deeply excited voice, if they had any bacon.

I shifted in my chair, trying to calm myself down. I was so turned on that I felt like my balls were going to fall off. I could feel my cock pressing out against my shorts, and I was pretty sure precum was dripping from my glans and staining my trunks. I wanted to get Laura back in the room as quickly as possible and fuck her up against the wall. But I placed my hand on her arm instead.

★

We didn't bring it up again as a conversation. Taryn and Alan were leaving that same day, so we didn't get to see them in action again.

But the next night, we sat at the same pool bar, and looked over the crowd. Laura nudged me when she saw a very muscled guy splashing water at a girl in the pool.

This moment is burned into my memory forever. The look on her face. It sizzled right into me. She had a mischievous little grin turning her mouth up. But just imagine, will you? A mouth like Laura's: middle-America smile, wholesome, rarely uttering a cussword...smiling like a dirty whore. Not a lot. Just a little.

Something twisted inside of me.

"So I wonder if this is how they do it," she said.

Two forces now tore at each other in my chest. One was desire, obviously. Hot, sexy, panting inside of me. The other was cold fear. Because when your wife starts to act like this, it's hot as fuck, but it's also scary as hell.

My chest tightened, gripping me from my heart to my cock.

"Uh..."

"What if I just tried it?" she said, absent-mindedly. Then she quickly turned back to my shocked face. "No, not...it. But just...you know, flirting. Would you like it?"

Something like this, I remember thinking, is bound to be a trap. I opened and closed my mouth a few times. Did I want her to do it?

It was just flirting, right?

"Uh..." I murmured.

Laura's eyes drifted down to my crotch. She leaned over and slid her hand over the shape of me beneath the fabric.

She sat back up, and leaned her arms on the bar. Her face was smug. She had her answer.

The smug look, though. Laura never had a smug look on her face. It electrified me, to be certain.

But it left a frightening taste in my mouth.

She swung back around and ordered another drink. "I wouldn't," she said, smiling. She slurped the last of her first daiquiri out of the glass. Her eyes shifted toward me. "I mean...maybe. We'll see."

The bartender set her drink down, and I watched the sweep of his eyes over Laura's chest. She was still in that polka-dot suit, but somehow the suit had become sexier. It was the way she was sitting, pushing her breasts out, lengthening her torso. Her legs were crossed and she seemed to be channeling Taryn. The transformation was a little shocking.

She knocked back a few, and I kept up with her. She was leaning toward me, and we were laughing and flirting, but her eyes kept sweeping around the bar. "What about him?" she would say.

After about half an hour, it seemed like a joke. She was pointing out fat, hairy men and octogenarians.

But then, I saw her face light up.

"He-llo," she said. She was four drinks in now, and so she was drunk. She twisted the straw in her fingers and stared, openly, at a man who had just come to the bar. He sat down at the stool on the land-side. He was a dark-skinned man, but he didn't seem like a Caribbean local. An unbuttoned linen shirt billowed around his chest, showing glimpses of his chiseled chest.

Laura gave me a wink.

I wasn't sure what that meant, or what to do. Partly because I was actually, literally, torn right in two: I wanted her to go over there and sit on that man's lap. I wanted to sit here and watch the whole thing, and I wanted to see her lean against his chest and slide her hand into his swim trunks, and start moving it up and down.

But I also didn't.

So I sat there, while my wife floated away in the pool, in the other direction, and then swam around, smiling at me. Then I watched her get out of the pool, and dry off her hair, and walk around the bar. For a moment I couldn't see her, and it seemed long. I started to wonder if she had gone back to the room.

And then, she appeared.

Her eyes flicked over quickly to meet mine, and she smiled. A mischievous, sexy grin. A playful grin. She was playing a game, and she wanted me to watch her.

She was still drying her hair with the towel. But it was the way she was doing it. She was massaging herself, working her fingers into her scalp in this erotic way. As she lowered the towel she dragged her hand between her breasts, her eyes on mine, and in her eyes there was a flicker of never-before-seen mischief. It sizzled through me and I had to shift my position on the stool because my cock was wound up to launch-ready, and the water on the pool was lapping around my balls and only making things worse (or better) for me.

Laura finished trailing her fingers down her torso, and went right next to the man. He had obviously picked her up on his radar, and he was not making too big of a show of not looking at her. He let his eyes move over her body in a side glance.

She put her hand on his shoulder.

This was so brazen. So bold. So un-like Laura.

"Is this seat taken?" she said, and the line might sound silly, but the way she said it, it didn't. The guy reacted to her immediately: he straightened up; he turned; he took in her body with one, lusty slurp of his eyes. His voice was low and rumbled when he said, "No problem, darling."

He had a Southern accent.

I watched my wife smile. It was a slow, teasing smile, that kind of glided across her face. When she sat down she seemed to coil.

She placed her hands together and brought her thumb to her teeth. She asked him what he was doing here, and she smiled as he explained his job. I could see the guy getting wound up as he stared at my wife's face, her pretty smile and her big, brown eyes. I was spinning, absolutely spinning, thinking about what I knew he was thinking about: Laura's thighs, Laura's tits. What he would see if he could get that swimsuit peeled away from her hot body.

My own wife started to look hotter and hotter from this perspective. Things I had taken for granted for a while started to glare at me: the swell of her breasts, so spherical they almost looked fake (they weren't); the yards of creamy skin that covered her coltish legs; her unblemished skin.

And new things. She was really piling on an act of sexuality I had never seen before. She was playing on her fresh-faced appearance, and then doing things like biting her thumb or swiping her fingers over her chest.

At one point, she complained about the heat, and then dipped her slender fingers into a glass of water to retrieve an ice cube.

My cock throbbed. She wasn't actually going to...?

But she did. She placed the ice cube on the back of her neck first, and then leaned her head back and swept the melting square over her chest. Rivulets of melted ice snaked down her chest and into the crevice between her breasts, and I knew the guy was watching every one of them. Laura opened her mouth and let out a little gasp.

It was too much, I thought. She was taking things too far.

And yet...

I wasn't able to move myself to stop her. I wanted to see what she would do next. Whatever cliched, whoreish thing she might come up with. Maybe she would suck on a cherry, or spill her drink in his lap and pat it dry with a napkin to get a feel for his cock. It was like watching a B-grade porno play out in front of me, with my wife as the star.

Laura leaned in at this point and whispered something in his ear. Her lips were close to his skin, and her breath washed over him, electrifying him. He smiled, and his chest heaved with a suppressed chuckle.

Had she told him a joke? Or had she asked him to fuck her? Was she attracted to him?

My thoughts took an abrupt, dark turn. In a matter of seconds I felt like I was in the Twilight Zone, watching Laura make this guy smile by whispering into his ear. Because this woman looked like Laura, but she was not Laura.

And wasn't it strange that Laura would fall into this sort of thing so easily?

Did Laura want a different kind of man? What if this was the kind of guy she was really attracted to? A bigger, more athletic man? An alpha-type, a jock. Maybe she had wanted that all along.

She let me sit there, watching her with all of these feelings, while she flirted shamelessly. Touched her ankle, shook her hair, ordered a drink with a long, sculpted arm in the air.

And then she pretended to look at her phone, and put her hand on the man's arm apologetically.

I saw the disappointment crawl over his face. Laura shrugged, and stood up.

There was a sweet play in front of me for a few minutes, as he reached out and slid his hand around her waist, brought her back toward him. "Come on, now," he said. And all the other things we've all said, as men, to get a beautiful girl to stay. Laura took her time blowing him off, letting him get his big dark hand around her waist a few times. She wriggled and squirmed, hesitated and demurred.

I sat there with my stomach bunching up into a ball of quivering jealousy, and my cock straining against the laws of physics with lust. Until finally, Laura squirmed away and trotted off.

“Dang,” the man said, watching her leave.

It was my exit cue. Dizzy, I stepped into the water behind me and sought out the least public exit from the pool, where I spotted a pile of towels. Because my hard-on was going to get me on a sex offender registry if anyone saw it.

*

I was practically panting like a dog when I got back to our room. For a fleeting moment, as I pushed the door open and the ultra-cold air conditioning breathed on my torso, I had the nightmarish thought that Laura might not be there.

But she was. She was there and she was smiling. On the bed. Her swimsuit was off.

I stared at her. She was kneeling, her thighs resting on her legs.

“Did you like it?” she said.

I decided not to answer with my mouth, because I was certain I wouldn't be able to make any sounds that approximated language. I stared at her full breasts, at her hands that she was playfully moving all over her body.

I dropped the towel and ripped my swim trunks down. I savored Laura's eyes lighting up as she saw my cock, barely bouncing as I stumbled toward the bed. I almost fell because I was entangled in my shorts.

Laura leaned toward me and grabbed my cock. “I guess you did,” she said, and it was the second time she had said those words on our vacation but they had only gathered up more impact. My cock throbbed in her hand.

She pushed me back on my heels, and leaned down.

I stared at the back of her head and the long line of her spine, ending in her raised, pert ass, as her lips enclosed me. I sucked in my breath and flailed around for something to grab, because the sensation was so intense on my swollen, near-bursting cock that I felt I needed to hold on. My crown grazed the soft back of her mouth, then her throat.

All the way into her throat, and then she began to do the most extraordinary thing – sucking, really sucking, but all the way down the shaft of my cock.

She began to move her head up and down, and I put my fingers in her wet hair. I grasped the sheets with one hand, leaning backward a little and holding on for dear life.

And then I tried something different, too. I began slowly at first, almost as if I did not believe it. But when I grasped her head and pushed lightly down on my cock, she gave no resistance – she just opened up, and swallowed me. And so I pulled, and then pushed, gently. She slurped and swallowed. When the hot ring of her lips slipped down to the very base of my cock, I felt her tongue emerge and slide all over my balls. I clenched her hair, almost unable to control myself, and I moved her head faster by pulling up and down on her head by the hair.

There was no objection.

It was like she was a different woman.

My cock hardened to the point that it felt stretched, and I felt something snake through me. A desire to dominate – but stronger than I had ever felt it before. I began to move her head furiously over my cock, thinking about her touching the man at the bar, stroking his arm, maybe rubbing her foot on his leg. I started to fantasize about her doing to him what she was doing to me. Sneaking off to his room, opening her mouth, taking his new and different cock into her wet throat...

The sensation itself, of her mouth and her throat over my dick, was incredible. But the thoughts about her with another man; that made me come the way that I did, as hard as I have ever come before.

I let go of her head as my orgasm began to erupt, and I breathed something about how I was coming, but Laura surprised me even more by diving down further onto my cock. When I came, I felt the explosion inside of her mouth, my cum swirling around my dick, and then a quiver in her throat as she gagged a little. But she swallowed it up, and slowly raised her head, sucking like a vacuum cleaner until the tip of my cock popped from her mouth.

She looked down at my cock, which was still raging hard. I was still shuddering with the remnants of the most intense orgasm of my life, and her eyes wandering over my cock almost felt like a caress.

Then.

Then.

She saw that some of my cum had dribbled onto my balls, she placed her lips on them, and slurped it up.

I had been holding on to the cover of the bed, and sliding incrementally backwards this whole time, and the only thing sustaining me on the edge of the bed was sheer will. When she slurped up my cum, my arm collapsed, as did most of my psyche, and I slid right off the bed.

Laura covered her mouth and gasped. When she saw I was all right (at least, I hope after that), she laughed. Her laugh was silver and carefree.

"That was incredible," I bumbled.

Her laugh died down, and her smile faded quickly to seriousness. "I'm not done with you, yet," she purred. She fell backward onto the bed, and stretched her arms up and over her head.

A man has to do what a man has to do, I thought.

My cock cooperated completely.

★

We had wild sex, two more times if it's even possible to believe it, and then we fell asleep, exhausted. We were leaving the next day, and we didn't say anything at breakfast or in the van.

At the airport I felt a surge of desperation take over me. Laura was looking at a magazine, the overhead was droning on and on about departures, and I was seized by the desire to say something.

"I really liked that, last night," I blurted.

Laura smiled, but she didn't look up from her magazine right away.

I didn't know how far I could take this conversation. I wanted to tell her that I actually wanted her to go through with it, and sleep with another man. Really. All the way, in some way that I could watch. But I was worried it would be too much for her, or at least I had been in the past. Now it seemed like something about what had just happened had turned her on as well.

“Yeah?” she said. Was her voice hesitant? Was she also trying to say something, but nervous about telling me how far she wanted to go?

I plunged in.

“It...it really turned me on seeing you with that guy. I know it sounds weird...”

“Mmhmm.” Was her voice seductive? She looked up finally.

It's hard to describe the expression on her face. She was still the same, sweet Laura, but there was something...well, a little devious, under her skin. I would say “awakened.”

It was sort of disturbing, in retrospect, but I plowed ahead anyway, thinking with my cock.

“How much further would you take it?” I asked, in a forced whisper.

She looked at me, and her stare was laser-focused. There was a terrible silence that seemed to go on forever. She flipped a single page of the magazine, slowly, without looking at it.

“How much further would you want me to take it?” she asked, finally.

I could read nothing from her tone of voice. My stomach was tied in knots.

I decided to go for it.

“All the way.”

There was another silence. I was worried for a second that I had gone way too far, and she was going to get mad and slap me and accuse me of pimping her out.

I was mostly worried about this, truth be told, because my cock was hard again from talking about this, and I wanted to have sex again.

I'm a guy, what can I say?

“All the way, huh?”

I nodded. My mouth was dry.

“Really, really, that's what you want?”

She seemed like she was taking this seriously, and I was thrilled but it was also like tumbling around in a dryer or something. I mean, what the fuck was she doing?

I nodded again.

"I guess I could do it, for you...I just don't...I guess I just worry that you wouldn't actually like it. You know?"

Don't do anything you don't want to do, I heard myself saying. It's just a fantasy, it's hard to explain.

"I guess it turns me on, too," she said coyly.

I felt the cum building up inside of me, ready to burst, as if she had just sucked my cock right there at the airport.

She set the magazine in the empty seat next to her, and leaned over to whisper in my ear. As she did, she very indiscreetly slid her hand over my thigh, and let a finger wander up the leg of my shorts. Her pinky finger scraped on the inflating end of my cock and sent a shudder through me. I looked around the waiting area to see if anyone was watching us.

"Let's sneak into the bathroom," she whispered. "I don't think I can wait."

Laura found a door marked "Family Restroom," and we jammed ourselves inside. My cock was painfully hard by now. Laura let me push her against the wall, her face to it. She spread her fingers out to brace herself, and I slid her skirt up to expose her smooth, tanned ass. She reached down to pull her panties down, just to her mid-thigh. I slipped into her immediately: she was soaked and there was no need for foreplay. We were rutting like teenagers now.

I still had a chill on my earlobe from where she had whispered into my ear, and the images of her flirting with the man at the bar rose up in my mind and shook the orgasm out of me in only a few minutes. I held on until I felt Laura's pussy clench around my cock and she threw her head back to gasp. Her cunt gushed hotly over my dick, and I filled her with my cum.

She shimmied into her panties, flushed and smiling at me.

"I like Laura in Barbados," I panted.

She smiled and then made a zany pun, which was unusual for her:

"I'm a crazy broad when I'm abroad," she said. She opened the door, popped her head out, and looked both ways before stepping out. She gave me a smile as she disappeared.

I remember that I began calculating the expense of our next trip right then and there.

*

When I told her I had purchased the tickets to Grenada, four months later, she looked back at me with a glint in her eye. I knew / had purchased the tickets with the specific intention of rekindling what we had felt because of Barbados. I knew / had the idea, or maybe just the fantasy, that we would do what we had talked about when we went on vacation, and that it could just be as casual as Taryn and Alan.

But I hadn't really believed that she would get that look in her eye.

"Sounds good," she said. "Sounds amazing." She seemed to wink at me.

Wait.

Did she?

But then she made it clear.

"We can do it there, then."

And that was that.

*

The atmosphere on the beach was picking up. A lot of young people, filled with the energy of chasing a mate, were starting to emerge into the tiki-lit night. I knew I looked like a creepy old man, sitting at a table by myself, staring at the bar. But I didn't care.

At one point a pretty girl asked for my chair, and took it away. I barely spoke to her.

We had been in Grenada for three days, and Laura hadn't found her man.

Now don't get me wrong. I was enjoying her teasing and playing. I was enjoying the fantasies we were playing out in our minds all day, and I was enjoying going at it with her like rabbits on the beach, in our room, behind bushes, and everywhere else. I was enjoying the dirty talk she was treating me to. Having a hard cock all day. Feeling like a teenager again, sex on my mind 85% of the time, my wife's wet pussy on my cock the remainder of the day.

But I was getting desperate. Desperate to actually see if she would take it all the way.

We had taken to going to the bar separately, as though we weren't a couple at all. And then, on the third evening, it finally came together.

Laura was wearing a white bikini that had been stopping every man in the resort for the past three days. There was nothing special about the suit: it was a standard bikini. Triangular patches to cover her nipples, and strings around her neck. The bottoms were the same.

But Laura's legs were not ordinary, and neither were her tits. She walked around in a pair of tall sandals that lengthened her legs to the point that she approached looking cartoonish. In fact, if had been slinking around in a purple evening dress she would have looked a lot like Jessica Rabbit from Dick Tracy.

I know. It's a bad metaphor but this is how she looked.

A lot of men had watched her. Every man was watching her on the beach, especially the day before, when she had gone into the surf and splashed around with the waves crashing all over her body and threatening to rip the tiny suit right off of her. I saw a guy get hit in the face with a football his friend had tossed his way because he had just stopped to stare.

But nothing had ever really boiled over. She couldn't find the right guy.

And then this guy came onto the scene.

He was dark and muscled, chatting with an equally athletic friend. I knew, though, that he was the one. I could see Laura's eyes get sucked right to him as if by gravitational force. And it was him, not the other one, for reasons that are difficult to explain. They were both good-looking, both made of sculpted ebony, both shirtless and showing off their enormous pecs and biceps. But the one she chose radiated something. Right from the start. He was the one.

Laura left for the bathroom, which I found confusing until she returned. She knew they had seen her; she knew they were looking at her. But coming back toward the bar gave her a chance to reposition herself. She sat closer to them, and almost immediately they turned to look at her again while she was looking the other way.

Excitement rippled through me. Laura was even more in possession of herself than she had been in Barbados. She was working these guys like a skilled fisherman, and I could see that she was enjoying putting on a show.

As soon as I had that thought, though, I had a dark, frightening one surface: what if Laura had never realized until now that she was as hot as she was? What if she got drunk on her power, and turned into a real slut? What if this was not the beginning of a fantasy, but a nightmare?

I saw her turn in answer to one of their voices. They had offered her a drink. The bartender slid it across the bar to her. I watched Laura slide her fingers over the condensation on the glass. She dipped the stick of the little umbrella in and out of the clear liquid – a mojito, by the looks of it - and lifted it to her mouth. She closed her lips around the tip of it seductively, with her own eyes on the man we both knew she was after.

Music picked up on the beach somewhere, and the voices of everyone around me grew louder. Laura started twisting the straw of her drink in her mouth, tossing her hair over her shoulder, making the two of them laugh. I wondered what she had planned. A sinking feeling went through me, but one that was also lewdly exciting: would she take them both?

My stomach turned and I felt heat crawling up the back of my neck. That was too much. Too far. But I felt the same paralyzing grip on me that I had felt in Barbados, and I stayed where I was. I half-wanted her to do it. My mind was already bubbling over with images of her sandwiched between the two of them, while the other part of me screamed like an animal for her to stop.

As if to answer my question, she started to move closer to the larger man, to turn her back a little to his friend. She had made her choice, and the friend began to let his eyes wander around the bar. The place was filling up with pretty women. He began to talk to one of them, and he just kind of melted away with a blonde who was across the bar from him. In truth, I didn't even see him leave. The two of them must have been down this road before, and they each knew their part. Get the girl, then the other guy had to get out of the way.

That left just my wife. She was dipping her straw in and out of her drink and bringing it to her lips, smearing the contents over her mouth and licking the juice off. She twisted in her chair and batted her eyes.

I felt like time had stopped: I loved watching the scene unfold, but did I really want her to do this? There was no going back from it if she did.

Before I had time to contemplate my answer fully, they both stood up, and began to walk out onto the dark beach. Their figures were close, bumping a little as they walked off with that flirtatious, drunk walk of expectant lovers.

I felt like I had been hit in the face by a wall.

Your wife is going to the beach with a stranger, a black man, an alpha-male – and you're letting her do it.

I waited before following them, and when I stepped away from the tiki torches, for a moment I thought I had lost them. The beach was black and my eyes needed time to adjust.

A lot of couples littered the beach, and I scanned frantically to find them. My heart was pounding, and fear seized me: what if I had lost them? I started to walk quickly in the sand. I was drunker than I had meant to get. The dark cloud of bad decision-making was enclosing around me. What if I missed them?

What if I saw them?

Which was worse?

Then I saw them: his dark, enormous figure towering over her pale frame, walking unsteadily in the sand. She clutched him and laughed. They looked like any other couple on the beach: hot, young, ripe for each other.

They were walking up to the beach entrance of a sleek glass hotel.

I scrambled to catch up to them: they had walked faster than I had anticipated. They seemed to be anxious to get where they were going.

I scrambled up to the dimly lit area behind the hotel just as the door clicked shut. It was the glass door to an enclosed pool. I reached for it, hoping they couldn't see me. It was locked.

My heart sank. I turned around, searching for a place I could hide and look in, but the glass was reflective and I had to stand right next to it to look in: they would see me.

The door opened suddenly, and Laura ran out. For a moment I thought – with disappointment and relief – she was running away. But she seemed to fall to the ground, and then I saw she was picking something up off the walkway.

Her swimsuit cover-up – a slinky, translucent slip of a dress that she had been carrying in her hand and had perhaps dropped when the black man had embraced her passionately and made her lose her grip – literally.

“I just left it right here!” she called out.

She looked over at me at that moment.

It was my last chance, I knew. I wondered what I looked like when she saw me: wild, uncontrolled? Or paralyzed, as I felt? She gave me a moment to consider the choice, and I just crouched there on the cement behind a much-too-small leafy plant.

And then my wife winked.

It occurred to me then that she had done it on purpose, dropping the coverup. To give me a chance to get in. Maybe to give me a chance to back out.

But was this really my wife? I knew we had agreed to it. I knew we had asked for it. I knew we had lived with this plan for months and I had the chance to back out. I knew it was only on vacation, and my cock was as painfully hard as it had ever been...but was she actually going for it?

She was already gone. The black man had emerged from inside the hotel and slipped his hands on her waist. She giggled, and looked at him, away from me. “Oh, Dwayne!”

It was done. There was no real way to stop it. They moved into the pool area, and my body moved out of instinct, scrambling toward the doorway

I caught the door, with my hand, crawling up to it on all fours as they disappeared inside.

*

There was a small entryway that curved before going into the pool area, where there were showers and instructions to clean sand off before going into the pool. It was perfect because it gave me just enough space to slip in unnoticed.

I surveyed the area: the pool glimmered in the center of the room, still and empty. A light was on beneath the water.

When I got there, Laura was dipping her toe in the pool.

"Nice," she said.

He was wasting no time. He dove in to the water.

Laura was also wasting no time. Almost professionally, as if she had gotten the lay of this place beforehand and planned it all out, she turned and waved me to a cart of towels that was in a darkened corner. I scampered to it while the muscular black man moved like a shark under the water.

I had a great view where I was, and I saw him through Laura's legs when he surfaced.

"Come on in here," he purred, in his deep voice. "The water's great."

Laura laughed. She was laying it on thick, now that she knew I was watching. I hoped she wouldn't go overboard, and give me away. She kept looking at the towels, and practically winking. It was cute, but if this guy caught me, I felt like he might beat the crap out of me.

I strained to see through the towels, moving closer even though there was not much closer to go. Laura was standing there, not moving and not saying anything, and I had no idea what she was doing. My cock was screaming.

Then her bikini top plopped on the floor. The bottoms slid down her legs, and she shifted from one to the other to leave it crumpled on the floor.

I looked to Dwayne, and his face was smug. He was getting what he wanted, and it was all on display in front of him.

Then her legs disappeared. A moment later, I heard a splash. She had leaped with her cheerleader strength into the air, and dove into the pool.

"That's it," he coaxed.

Then there was a silence, and then a giggle, and then Laura said – but she was laughing, playful, as she did - “Oh no! No you don't!”

I couldn't see either of them now.

I moved my head up so I could see over the pile of towels.

Laura was splashing water playfully at Dwayne, and his big, dark arms were moving under the water and reaching out for her. He got some of her body – her naked body – in his strong, black hands whenever he caught her. I watched as he took pinched her ass, and then caught her inner thigh.

Laura flirted, and swam away after letting him get a little piece of her. But she smiled and teased him in for more.

And then she stopped struggling to get away.

He moved in, staring at her, cutting off her giggling and her splashing, and her will to resist him at all, with his alpha-male stare.

My cock was stiff as a board, pushing against my pants. It looked like this was really happening, and Laura looked like she was ready to go through with it. I licked my dry lips. There was so much tension in the air, between the two of them, surrounding me like a cloud, as my stomach twisted and my cock throbbed.

Laura's body floated toward him as he pulled her through the water by the ankle. Her long legs seemed to stretch out under the shining surface, pale like the reflected light. His hands were moving underneath the water, up her thigh, closer and closer to her sweet spot. Laura's face was disintegrating from laughing to concerned to totally serious to orgasmic, with each passing second. She closed her eyes, offering no resistance anymore to whatever he was doing, and her lips parted.

The water moved around them in gentle rhythmic waves after she reached him, and clutched his hard, strong shoulders. While he did whatever he was doing to Laura under the water, she dug her fingernails into his flesh.

Then she began to stir, to shake her head a little. “Oh no,” she said, but she didn't move away from him. “No, I'd better not...” her voice trailed away in a gasp. “Oh, but what about my husband? I had...” she gasped again. “I think I should -”

For a moment I wondered if she was actually trying to get out of this, and my stomach lurched as I thought about what I would do about it. But she looked up, to the towels where I was hiding, and smiled. It was all part of her game, part of the tease.

It was so hot watching her not only give herself to another man for me, but also to manipulate him. She was teasing us both now.

Dwayne lifted her up, standing with her body in his arms. Her pale skin contrasted sharply with his wet, ebony body, and his enormous erection was pushing his swimsuit out almost comically. Laura fell silent, and she looked into his eyes seductively.

He moved quickly to set her on the edge of the pool. "Don't worry about your husband," he said.

He commanded, rather.

Laura's mouth opened slightly, but she said nothing. She played her part very well, of being conflicted but overcome by his seduction.

Of course I wondered how much of it was an act. The guy was seducing even me with his determined stare, his ripped body, his low, soothing voice.

He pushed her legs apart, and she willingly opened them for him, looking down at him as he sank back into the water, so that his mouth was in front of her spread, dripping, pink folds. I could see her from where I was, as Dwayne pulled his head back to kiss the inside of her thighs, next to her knee. A shudder moved through her body.

Then he moved closer to her center.

Closer.

Closer.

Laura closed her eyes and opened her mouth. She lifted one hand and placed it on his head.

"Don't worry about your husband," he said again. "This is just between me and you."

I stared at her pussy until I could no longer see it, as Dwayne's mouth moved closer, closer, and then covered it.

She clenched her hand on his head and gasped. "Oh!" she said, almost as though she were surprised. "Oh god, oh god that feels so good!"

Maybe she was acting for me, and maybe for him, and maybe a little of both. Whatever it was, it was hot as hell. Her squealing and moaning was sexier than ever.

I saw her legs trembling almost instantly. She threw her head back and her mouth opened.

It seemed genuine – her cheeks were flushed, her feet splashed in the water in convulsions, and she panted like an animal, like she had run a marathon.

“Oh god,” she said. “Oh god, don't stop.”

The big man's black head barely moved as he did whatever he did to her, but she began to squeal, and then she screamed.

His hand came out of the water and gently pressed against her mouth. She took his finger into her mouth and sucked on it. Her whole body was shaking.

He stood up, water dripping down his heavily muscled body. He was a big man, and it was evident that he did a lot of some kind of work, or athletic endeavor. He reached out and dragged Laura closer to him by her still-trembling thighs. “Did you like that?” he growled.

Laura just nodded, biting her lip. She was still shaking and flushed.

“You want some more of that?” he said.

Please say yes, I thought. I wanted desperately to see his cock, to see him inside of her.

“Oh yes,” Laura mewled, and her eyes traveled down to where he was now naked, having somehow taken off his trunks, and his cock made her eyes widen in surprise and pleasure.

My own cock was aching, but I was savoring the pain.

He easily twisted her with his giant man-hands, almost like he was playing with a doll, and had Laura propped up on all fours in a split second. He stood up, and the shallow depth of the water became obvious. He had been floating in it at a crouch, but now he was level with her ass, and his cock was erect and ready. I stared at it: dark, almost purple, glistening wet, and from there it actually seemed like almost a foot long. He put one large paw on Laura's right butt-cheek and kneaded it, growling with approval.

He appraised the same things I was looking at: her neatly trimmed bush, her pussy that was wet with her own cum, her tight asshole, her long legs parted slightly.

Then he slipped his finger to Laura's pussy, sliding easily into all of her dripping cum. Laura made a soft sound. He slipped a second finger in, moving slowly, and she tipped her ass up for him. He murmured something with pleasure, and added a third finger to his gentle fucking.

Now his big, black fingers were pulling her apart, stretching her open. The folds of her pussy were stretching for him, sucking at his long fingers like the lips of a flower.

He moved slowly inside of her for a few moments, working her back up to a frenzy of desire. She began to gyrate her hips with his motions, her head turned up. Sounds that she had never, ever made with me escaped her open mouth.

He pressed the small of her back down, and arranged her ass so that it was turned up toward him.

I saw his hand move to his cock, which he lifted because it was so big that it drooped slightly with the weight of its own meat. He was thick and hard, and he was headed for my wife.

He moved it to where Laura's pussy was opened up for him like a swollen flower, dripping with moisture and pulsing for his cock. He placed the tip of his cock on her clit, and rubbed it there for a few minutes while she squirmed and twisted, howling and moaning. She tried to push herself onto him but he pulled away.

"Tell me now, pretty Laura, do you want my big cock?"

"Yes," she moaned.

"Say it, baby. I like to hear it. Tell me how much you want my big cock in your little pussy."

She whimpered, and twisted, ready to be fucked hard. I could tell by the way she moved her body: she wanted it badly. "Please. Please, I want your big cock inside of me."

"Say it again."

"I want your big cock inside of me!"

Her voice echoed all throughout the pool, on the walls, and the sound of it sent a jolt of heat through me: this was my wife, begging for another man, a bigger man, to fuck her. And she was doing it so I could watch her.

He moved the tip of himself over her clit a little longer, dragging out her pleasure and mine, while she begged him to fill her up.

But he changed tack suddenly, and pulled away from her. He flipped her over again. "Show me how much you want my cock," he said. "Touch yourself."

I expected Laura's face to reveal some kind of surprise, or..well, anything but the piqued interest that suddenly came over her.

She reclined on the pool deck, and spread her legs wide open. She let her eyes flutter over to where she knew I was, and she met my gaze. Dwayne must have had his eyes on her pussy, because she kept her eyes on me and not him as she slid her fingers into the engorged folds of her cunt. She stroked herself for his pleasure, but she looked right at me. Her face began to twist with the agony of her nearing orgasm, and she closed her eyes as it began to bubble over. Then her mouth popped open and her pussy throbbed. Even from where I was I could see her cum oozing out and sliding down to dampen her pink asshole.

Dwayne murmured his approval, and then I looked back to her face.

But Laura was not done yet. She looked at me, and she switched to her left hand. I watched as she dipped her fingers into her own cunt, all the way down to the gold band of our wedding ring. Then she lifted her fingers, coated and shining with her overflowing cum, and sucked them into her mouth, down to the small diamond that symbolized our marriage.

I almost choked on what was boiling inside of me.

I had moved my hand down to my own cock, which was wet with precum and felt like it would burst if I didn't at least stroke it to calm myself down. But I didn't want to come just yet. I could see that the performance was far from over. I held onto my cock and fought the urge to jerk myself off.

"Is that enough?" Laura slurred at her lover.

"Dirty little girl," Dwayne grunted.

Laura smiled, and turned herself over, playfully stretched like a kitten, and assumed the position she had been in before, on all fours.

Dwayne guided his cock to her opening. It was so thick that it seemed to cover the whole flower of her cunt.

And then, frozen in my own perverted and beautiful hell, I watched as he slowly slid his giant black cock into my wife.

One inch at a time.

Laura yelped as he pushed her open, and then she screamed, and then she said it was too big for her. The words seemed to come scraped out of her mouth, ragged and as stretched out as she must be. But even while she squealed and complained, she pushed her ass back, onto his cock. He was really stretching her open. His cock was so much thicker than mine, so much bigger, and the swollen red lips of her cunt were spread so tight they had turned white like her porcelain skin. She pushed her legs further apart, scraping her knees on the cement, to accommodate him. She fell down with her chest to the concrete on the side of the pool. Her big tits spread out against her chest.

"That's it, Laura-baby. Just take all that big cock."

She turned her head to the side, so that I could see her face. Her mouth was open and her eyes were rolling in the back of her head. She clutched at the floor and howled and moaned. Nothing she said formed an intelligible word.

I let my eyes rest on Dwayne's cock, moving in and out of her. With every thrust it looked wetter and wetter, covered with Laura's cum and juices. Her enjoyment was obvious, whatever she was saying: she was slick as butter.

Her pale body scraped against the floor with every thrust, and she let herself be fucked hard like a rag doll. He started to really pump into her. The sounds of his thighs slapping against her ass reverberated throughout the pool house. The water in the pool, which was only up to just above his knees, was splashing like a hurricane was being stirred up inside of it.

"That's it," he said to Laura, who just lay there, taking it and moaning.

"Ooohhhhh," Laura howled, putting on a show for us both, "Oh god, it's so big!"

She kept saying this, over and over, tossing her head from side to side.

Dwayne began to move faster, and Laura's feet curled under and she turned her face to the floor, screaming.

But he wasn't done yet. He kept pounding and pounding at her. I was paralyzed by the pulsing of my cock, moving in time with Laura screaming, and the sloshing of water and the slippery, sticky sounds of his cock in her overflowing pussy.

She really started to pull out all the stops. She screamed, "Oh yes, fill me up with your hot cum!"

"You ready for me?"

"Oh yes," Laura screamed. "Oh, give it to me!"

Dwayne thrust into her so hard I thought she might break apart, and I stared at his black cock shredding her delicate pink folds, but she just squealed and asked for more.

She came first, howling and kicking her feet against him. He held her by the small of her back and rammed his cum into her, deep and hard, grunting like an animal as he came. Filling my wife up.

I bit my lip, and bent over. My balls were so blue, and my cock so hard, I felt ill.

They both stood there, heaving and sweating for a moment.

I couldn't take it any more. I found my cock with my hand and easily, quickly jerked myself off, biting into a towel to hide the sounds I made when I did.

I could not stop looking at the scene in front of me. My small wife, spread apart by a thick black cock, a hulking man behind her, holding her in place, enjoying the throbbing of her pussy around his still-buried cock.

When Dwayne pulled out of her, her pussy quivered and his white semen dripped out her. He slapped her playfully on the ass and sank back into the water, swimming away.

Laura twisted around and pushed her hair out of her face. Her cheeks were flushed and glowing, and her mouth was turned up in a smile. She winked in my direction, and stood up. She headed for her suit and coverup on the floor.

"You ain't gonna stick around?" he said playfully. "Maybe we could do that again, just give me a few minutes..."

Laura bent over with her ass to Dwayne to pick up her bikini bottoms. She waved her hand at me that it was time for me to make my move, and she walked over to the other side of the pool, taking his gaze with her. She pretended to be unsure, pretended he could still convince her to stay and fuck him again.

She was a natural. She was giving me my chance to escape.

So I did.

And that's how I ended up outside, waiting and waiting, my cock getting hard again, feeling like time was passing like a glacier. I couldn't wait to get my wife back to our hotel, and fuck her brains out.

*

I went back out to the beach. There were a few clusters of people there, a few fires burning to give it a little light. The whole scene had transformed and it had an air of danger about it. I sat down alone and waited, facing the hotel and not the ocean.

But Laura didn't emerge.

I knew time had slowed because of my anticipation. My cock got hard again as I sat there waiting, remembering, wondering.

Then I started to worry.

It seemed like an eternity, the time I sat there waiting. I stopped looking at my watch, which lied and told me only moments had passed. Still, what was she doing?

I was almost on the verge of standing up, going in to interrupt them, when the door opened and Laura emerged. I looked at my watch again.

In truth, only fifteen minutes had gone by since I had last looked at my watch.

I stood up and stumbled toward her.

"Are you okay?"

"I'm fine," she said, and she looked at me curiously. Then her face fell. "Are you?"

"What were you doing in there?"

She looked back at the pool door nervously. She grabbed me and we started walking. "I...oh I hope you won't be mad."

I stopped. "What happened?"

She smiled, but she was a little nervous now. The ultra-confident Laura had disappeared. "I...one thing kind of led to another, and I.."

"You what?" My voice was barely a whisper, strangled by excitement and fear.

"I sucked his cock," she admitted.

I mean, what could I do or say? What could I even legitimately say I felt? Her words sliced through me, and they also injected a fever into my body that went straight to my dick. It wasn't any worse than fucking him, what she had done. But I still felt a little spike of anger, of resentment.

Then I realized: I just wanted to have seen it.

"That's very bad," I said, and I enjoyed the way it made her squirm a little. A flush rose up from her neck and colored her cheeks.

"I don't know what to..." she started. "I thought you would be okay with it."

I put my finger on her mouth. Oh, I was okay with it.

"I'm okay with it," I said. "If you tell me about it. Every last detail."

We were in a space on the beach that was dark enough that we knew no one could see us. Laura gave me a wicked grin, and she slid down to her knees. "I could just show you," she offered.

"Tell me about it," I said, and I took my cock out of my shorts and began to stroke myself.

She smiled. "Well...I was putting on my suit, and he pulled me back into the water."

Laura slid her own hand down to her swimsuit bottom, and I watched her fingers disappear beneath the fabric and into the wet, dirty fold of her cunt as I listened to her story. Her knuckles moved in waves beneath the material as she stroked herself and told me of her unfaithful adventure.

He pulled her back into the water. Dwayne, the man she had fucked. He had asked her not to go, not just yet, not when they could still have so much more fun. They played around a little, splashing and flirting some more. Laura had told him she really had to go, before she got caught by her husband. Dwayne had sat up on the side of the pool, his big cock erect and pointed at the ceiling. He had moved one dark hand over the smooth, glistening skin of it, and Laura had been entranced by it. She moved closer to him.

As she recounted this scene, her eyes closed partially, like a content pussy-cat, and her fingers slowed to rhythmic circles beneath the fabric of her bikini. I stroked my cock the way I imagined Dwayne stroking his own, and the way my wife was closing her eyes to envision a different cock, the one she had just sucked, made me even harder.

She had moved even closer, and then before she knew it she was running her tongue up and down the length of his shaft. Then she wanted to get the whole thing in her mouth. Even though he had been in the pool, there were still traces of herself on his cock and she could taste her own tangy juices, especially down at the base where she slid her tongue along his balls after swallowing the whole big cock in her mouth.

She opened her eyes as she told this part of the story, and she lifted her wet fingers to her mouth. They glistened with her own juices. She met my eyes as she slid her soaked fingers into her mouth, and sucked the nectar of her cunt, mingled with Dwayne's cum, from her fingers.

The sight sent me over the edge, and I erupted onto her hand, on her lips, and on her cheeks. The white streaks of cum gushed out of me, and Laura smiled wickedly.

She licked the cum from her hand, and the corner of her mouth. It was the lewdest thing I had ever seen Laura do. Then she rose from the sand, and took me by the hand, to walk unsteadily back to our room.

*

The elevator doors closed on us and we started in on each other like teenagers again.

She took off her coverup and bikini top before we even made it into our room, while I fumbled with the lock.

She stood in front of me, and let me lead this time. I reached out, and trailed my fingers over her shoulder and her collarbone. She shivered, and I felt her skin bump up beneath my fingers. I moved my fingers down her body and found her pussy, wet and swollen.

Her mouth opened slightly, and she sucked in her breath. In the folds of her labia her clit was hard and she was wet to the touch. She bit her lip as I stroked her lightly, and she put her hands on my shoulders and looked down to see my fingers working on her.

I slid into her easily, and inside she was warm and slick. Her pussy was still full of Dwayne's cum, and I shivered with excitement picturing what I had just seen, his big black cock stretching her open.

My cock was throbbing now, and I could feel the cum frothing at the crown.

As though she read my thoughts, she licked her lips – just lightly. “Do you want me to tell you about it?” she asked, and her voice purred like a cat's.

I pushed her onto the bed, and she stretched out like a cat while I ripped my clothes off.

Then she pulled her legs open for me. Her pussy was swollen and I could see it was wet, wet with her own juices and still full of Dwayne's cum.

I wasted no time. I fell on top of her and pushed inside. She was warm and wet like a ripe fruit. She arched her back and pushed herself up onto me, until my cock was buried inside of her and I could feel her ass against my balls.

She started to move but I pushed her into the bed, reaching beneath her to find her ass. I grabbed her skin and I thrust into her.

“Tell me how it felt,” I said. I sounded a little desperate.

She smiled.

“His cock was so big,” she told me.

“Did it fill you all the way up?”

I was so close to coming already, and this wasn't helping me stop myself from bursting before I brought her to orgasm.

She folded herself around me, her legs tight around my chest, and dug her nails into my back. “He filled me up until I almost couldn't breathe. His body was so hard and he fucked me just right...”

I barely heard the rest of what she said, because blood was pounding so hard in my ears that I went almost deaf.

She was squeezing and stroking my cock with her sweet, hot cunt. She moved with such a dirty, liquid grace, that I lost control, and fucked her as hard as I had ever fucked her, while she twisted her head and moaned, and her pussy tightened and pulsed on my cock. Images of Dwayne's enormous cock in her pussy, and her face while she lay on the poolside cement, taking it for my pleasure, filled my head.

She looked up as I came, smiling at me, smiling with her mouth wide open and those big lips quivering.

It was sensational.

And we would have the memory to use, for another year, to keep things hot in our own bedroom.

END

About Arnica Butler

More From Arnica Butler

Next: Summer Reunion

Table Of Contents

Summer Reunion

A Short Story

by Ben Boswell

“You know what I just realized, Rob?” Tammy asked me.
“We’ve all known each other for ten years!”

“Good job,” Grant replied, sipping on his beer. “You managed to subtract 2006 from 2016. Have a cookie.”

Tammy flipped him the bird.

Grant wagged his tongue. “Any time, any place, baby.”

I shot Cori an amused glance as Gracie laughed.

Jeff shook his head. “So much for an officer and a gentleman.”

We hadn’t all been together in three years. Not since Cori and I got married. The problem was mostly Grant, or more accurately the U.S. Army’s, I guess, since they were the ones who kept sending him around the world to meet new people... and kill them. But in truth, we didn’t see much of the old gang anyway. Gracie was in graduate school out in California. Jeff was always rushing around from one project to another. Even Tammy we rarely saw, especially now that she was engaged to Drew, who was frankly a bit of an introvert, and happily too busy to come to our informal reunion.

That said, I could understand Drew’s position. The rest of us had known each other forever... well, since literally the first day of college, which seems like forever ago. And we’d been inseparable for the better part of four years, which meant that we were constantly sharing inside jokes and references and telling old stories that, in all honesty, were probably only interesting to the six of us. Even though Jeff and I tried to reach out to Drew the last time we met, it was obvious he’d rather not bother.

Also, Drew probably wasn’t crazy about hanging out with his fiancée’s old... well, what? Not boyfriends. None of us ever really dated one another, at least not until Cori and I became an official couple after graduation. But that didn’t mean nothing happened between us. Tammy had hooked up with Grant and Jeff at one time or another. Gracie and I had had a quick fling. Even my wife had gotten together with both Grant and Jeff at least a few times back in school.

I don’t mean to sound flippant about it, like none of it meant anything. There was plenty of teenage and then early-twenties angst and drama at the time.

In particular, I have to admit, at the time, it wasn't easy for me to deal with, but all of that happened before Cori and I were an us. Not that that was really my decision... or my decision at all. Indeed, I think it is fair to say that I fell in love with Cori at first sight. Well, not at first sight, I guess, but at first interaction. She was funny and smart, and maybe the first really pretty girl I'd met who wasn't something of a stuck-up bitch. And she was... is definitely pretty, with that whole dark hair/blue eyes thing, going on. At the time I was a boobs-man... well, boobs-boy, I guess, which was her only shortcoming, so to speak. She's not flat-chested, but not stacked either. Maybe that's what made her seem approachable to me. It also caused me to miss what I now realize is her best physical feature, her absolutely perfect ass. Firm, but not bony, round, but not fat. There is nothing I like better in life than to watch her prancing around in a thong or yoga pants.

I was smitten right away. But no one at school really "dated." It was very much a hook-up culture. It would have been weird to, you know, ask her out alone or something. So anyway, the six of us, sharing two adjacent suites in our freshman dorm started hanging out, and I sort of got friend-zoned by her, which wouldn't have precluded a hook-up, except that since I wanted more than that, it was something I never really went after.

Crushes came and went. All of the girls had a thing for Grant. Even before joining the military, he was a ladies man. It helped that he was an athlete, a starter on the basketball team, which wasn't a huge deal since we were division 3, but still, in relative terms that made him something of a BMOC. It also helped that at our lily-white, New England college, he was one of the few black guys, and one of the even fewer black guys without a chip on his shoulder or a preference for dick. Fun, athletic, handsome, exotic.... Let's just say that he fulfilled many a liberal, white girl's fantasy of being with a black man.

Including my wife's, though as I say, at the time she was my friend, my crush, and not even my girlfriend.

I guess I should describe the rest of the gang. Jeff was my best friend. Still is, I guess, well, except for Cori, of course. Super-smart guy. Endless energy. The attention span of a puppy. One of the few people I've ever met so naturally talented that he could succeed in life despite completely untreated ADD. At the time, he had a mop of wild, wavy, dark hair, although after dealing for years with a receding hairline, he's now shaved bald, a striking look, given how wiry he is. Gracie, as befits her name, was, and is sweet and angelic looking, a wispy blonde, with very pale blue eyes, very slender, almost delicate. Tammy is a Jewish girl from Long Island, with dark curly hair, and dark eyes, three older brothers, a wicked ball-buster, tall, a volleyball player, and very busty. I'm an Italian kid from Upstate, NY. Or was. Not really a kid anymore. I've still got all my hair, thick, and dark, like my eyebrows... and the hair on my arms... and chest... and back. Cori says she finds it manly and sexy. I suspect she's just a good liar.

I'm not sure how this weekend got organized. The girls, I think, started talking about it, and then suddenly Jeff finagled a house in Wellfleet on Cape Cod from a partner in one of his countless projects for us to have a reunion. Once he circulated pictures of it, we all dropped our other plans and agreed to go. A modern mansion, six bedrooms, right on the water, and often empty because its owner has a half-dozen similar places all over the country.

The only thing that made it less than perfect was that even in early July, the water off the Cape was too cold to really swim in. But then again, Wellfleet has these amazing fresh water ponds too, so nothing to complain about.

Nothing to complain about in terms of the food situation either. I'm pretty handy around the kitchen, but Gracie is a no-shit gourmet chef. Well, at least she's trained as such and worked as one briefly before deciding to go to grad school for viticulture.

All in all, it promised to be a great long weekend.

*

Cori and I picked up Gracie at Logan and fought our way through traffic to Wellfleet, where happily Jeff, Tammy, and Grant were already settled in. The fridge was packed with all the groceries Gracie had asked for, and the wine fridge full of bottles she'd gotten a Provincetown wine store to order for us. So it was just a matter of changing into our beach clothes and making our way out onto the deck to enjoy a nice, cold beer along with the views and salty sea breezes.

“So how did you get us this place?” I asked Jeff.

He shrugged. “Just had to ask.”

“How soon until you have a place like this of your own?” Tammy asked.

Grant jumped in, “Already regretting accepting Drew’s ring?”

Tammy and Grant were the two “big personalities” in the group. Always busting on each other.

“Yes, Grant, I’m full of regret. If only I could have held onto you.”

I laughed. “No one hangs on to Grant. Terrorists, he can handle. A girl says ‘I love you’ and he coats himself in grease and wiggles away.”

He shrugged. “What can I say? I like small plates. Why eat just one thing for a whole meal?”

“Which is why he’s going to die alone,” Tammy noted to the rest of us.

“Ah, but with my memories,” he replied.

Cori laughed. “To all of our memories,” she toasted.

I noticed she and Grant exchanged a quick grin, and it didn’t take a brain surgeon, which is what I hope to be after finishing medical school, to know what memory he and she were thinking about.

Not that I had much time to reflect on that. The evening was a whirlwind of laughter and drinks. It was great to be back with the old gang.

*

I got up the next morning, a little bleary-eyed. The wine Gracie had picked out went down a little too well. Both Cori and I stumbled into bed, intending some vacation loving, only to fall asleep in each other’s arms instead.

I took a quick shower to refresh myself, slipped on my sunglasses, and gingerly made my way downstairs. I grabbed a banana and a glass of orange juice, and headed out onto the deck, the scene of most of our drinking last night.

Grant was out there already, on a lounge, grinning as he looked out at the sea.... Well, not just the sea. There in front of him were the three girls, all in bikinis, all facing away, draped over the rail and enjoying the breeze. Grant was enjoying the view.

He smiled when he saw me. "My memories," he said, gesturing at the women.

I shook my head and sat down beside him. He returned his gaze to the view. I followed suit.

All three looked about as good as in college. Tammy maybe a bit better, tighter, and Gracie too, though for the opposite reason, she'd filled out a little, giving her an actual ass. But even still, and maybe I'm biased, but Cori still had the best bottom. It helped that she had chosen her bikini to accentuate it, a pale blue, Brazilian cut, that only covered the top half of her cheeks, before narrowing to a slender thong that disappeared between her shapely legs. Tammy had a more traditional bikini, red, still sexy, but nothing special. Gracie surprised me though. She was wearing a black and silver, string bikini, really skimpy, just this side of too much... or rather too little.

"Whoa," Jeff appearing behind us, "nice view."

Grant nodded at him.

"I never thought I'd see Gracie in something like that," Jeff added.

Grant grinned. "I talked her into it."

"Yeah?" Jeff said. "How's that?"

He shrugged. "We got, um, reacquainted last night, so I was close at hand to offer some advice."

"Wait," I said, "what do you mean reacquainted?"

Grant laughed. "You don't think you're the only one she hooked up with, do you?"

I shook my head and tried to affect an insouciant grin. I'm not sure it worked. Truth is, I'd always sort of taken a weird pride in the fact that I was the only one of the group to have gotten with Gracie.

"You nail her too?" I asked Jeff.

He shook his head. "I wish."

Grant chuckled. "Looks like I'm the champ. The only one to get all three. I'm surprised you guys didn't know about me and Gracie. I didn't think we were all that ninja about it."

Jeff laughed. "Yeah, well, with all the coming and goings out of your room, it was hard to keep track." He hesitated for a moment, but then asked, "So, which was the best?"

Grant looked over at me. "You okay with this conversation?"

I nodded. I didn't really want to hear my wife assessed sexually, but then again, I didn't not want to hear it either. It was a long time ago, and, well, it was a bit of thrill to think about it. Anyway, I had always been curious. It was weird, but back in the day we were surprisingly mature about it all, or maybe self-conscious. Or maybe just too insecure to risk hearing things we didn't want to hear. We used to talk smack about girls, of course, but not about the girls.

He gave me a couple of seconds to change my mind, but when I didn't he answered.

"They're all different. I mean, Tammy was crazy. Like really aggressive. Almost too much."

Jeff laughed. "Yeah, it was more like she was fucking me than me fucking her."

"Seriously," Grant said, "I mean, I like a confident woman, but she's a stone-cold top. I bet she uses a strap-on with Drew."

"Did she use one on you?" I teased.

"No, but she did squeeze me so tight between her thighs that I wasn't sure if we were banging or doing MMA."

We all laughed.

Grant turned toward me now. "You'd be surprised about Gracie. I don't know about you, but back in the day, she was a little insecure. Lights out, under the covers, not really big on giving head."

I nodded. She was a good girl.

"But last night," he continued, "man, she wore me out. I don't know if it was the wine, or what, but she was amazing." He opened his mouth wide and mimed swallowing a cock. "To the root," he added.

Although the girls were too far away to have heard him, Gracie happened to look back at him at the moment and they exchanged a sly grin.

"She looks like she had fun too," Jeff noted.

"No doubt," Grant confirmed.

—“ Jeff gave me a ball-busting smirk. “So, now Cori. As I remember

Grant laughed. “Oh, as if you would forget. The first time you had her, you were like in love.”

Jeff grinned. “I was young.”

Grant shook his head. “Naw uh, man, she was a freak. I bet she still is, right Rob?”

I shrugged. “I can’t complain.”

They laughed.

“Seriously man, does she still, like, you know....” Jeff fumbled, “you know, like it in the butt?”

That escalated fast.

“I... I wouldn’t know,” I replied. “It’s... it’s not my thing.”

Grant stared at me incredulously. “Wait, what?”

I shrugged. “It... it just isn’t anything I’m interested in.”

“But, like, she offered, right?” Grant persisted.

“I guess,” I acknowledged.

I’m not quite sure how it came up. We’d been dating for a while, and sort of getting to know each other’s limits. We were watching a porn together, which was something we did sometimes back then, though we haven’t now in years, and when an anal scene came on, she asked me if I was interested in that. I said no. I wasn’t sure if it was a test. But anyway, I have to admit, it is something that I’ve always been more interested in watching than in trying myself. Maybe I’m just squeamish or something. Anyway, the issue came and went. She put it out there. I didn’t bite. It didn’t come back up.

Grant and Jeff were both staring at me incredulously.

“What?” I asked.

Grant lit into me. “Dude, what is wrong with you? You have a girl with a world class ass who likes to take it in the ass and —“

Okay, that was too much. “Hey, dude, wait a minute,” I interrupted hotly. “That’s my wife we’re talking about.”

He put his hands up. “Take it easy. We’re talking about the past.”

“Even still....” I grumbled.

Jeff chuckled.

“What are you laughing at?” I asked.

“Dude, it’s just... you know... you found a unicorn and you’re like not even aware of it,” Jeff said.

“You might be gay,” Grant offered.

“Oh, right,” I replied. “Because I like pussy more than ass, I’m the one who’s gay.”

Jeff laughed. “He’s got a point there.”

“Whatever man. You’re just missing out. And....” He trailed off.

“Oh, now you’re suddenly worried about going too far?” I said.

Grant laughed. “It’s just... she really liked it.”

Jeff was nodding along.

Grant continued. “I’ve been with a lot of girls. A lot,” he emphasized. “And none of them ever reacted like Cori did when we did that. Fireworks, man. Fireworks.”

“What are you boys talking about?” Cori asked.

I jumped in surprise. Gracie and Tammy laughed at my reaction.

“Nothing,” I replied.

My wife looked at me skeptically. “Really?”

“You don’t want to know,” Grant said.

Cori looked from him to me and back again. She had a wry grin on her face. She knew. Or at least had an idea.

“Uh huh.” She paused. “Well, then, you want to go for a ride? They have bikes in the garage.”

I wasn’t feeling quite as hungover anymore, but even still, I didn’t much feel like exercising. Particularly as the temperature was beginning to climb into the mid-80s.

“I’ll go,” Grant said.

Normally, I’d have been relieved. But our conversation had me on edge. “I’ll go too,” I said quickly.

Grant shot me an amused grin. He knew he’d gotten under my skin.

Fucker.

★

We biked up to Provincetown for lunch and stayed for the afternoon and a few drinks. Grant regaled me and Cori with all sorts of crazy stories, deftly mixing in the amusing and gruesome. Guys in the military always have the best tales to tell. But it wasn’t all one sided. It was a great chance to catch up, and despite the conversation out on the deck, it wasn't at all awkward. Just three friends reconnecting.

At one point, Grant went to the men's room and I leaned in close to my wife.

"Grant and Gracie hooked up last night," I said conspiratorially. She laughed. "I know."

"Did you know they got busy back at school too?"

"Yes, of course."

"Why didn't you ever tell me?"

She shrugged. "I don't know. No real reason."

I could tell she was holding back. "Come on, tell me."

"We were afraid to hurt your feelings."

"We?"

"Tammy and me. And Grant."

I groaned. They'd all conspired against me?

She continued, "I mean, we knew it was already weird for you when he and I hooked up, and –"

"Wait, what?" I interrupted

"Oh, come on, Rob, it's not like you liking me was a big secret, and –"

"So, why weren't you interested in me back then?"

"Really, honey, you want this conversation now?" she said.

She was smiling awkwardly, but her attempt at kindness felt surprisingly insulting.

"I don't know," she said, "I just wasn't looking for anything serious, and you seemed to want, like, more."

"I did," I acknowledged.

"So, I wasn't ready."

"You two look glum. What are you talking about, Donald Trump?"

"No," I grumbled. "Just about you banging all the women in my life."

Cori winced. Grant hesitated and then laughed. "So we all had a little fun. It's not like you were celibate." Another pause. "I mean, compared to me, maybe you were a little, what, priest-like?"

"Uh huh," I grunted.

"Well, minus the little boys," Cori added.

I gave her a sneer. She grinned.

"Anyway," Grant added, "you should be thanking me for helping your old lady sow her wild oats."

Cori shook her head in disbelief at the conversation.

"Thanks for that," I said sarcastically.

"You're welcome," he said deadpanned.

"You're not actually jealous, are you?" Cori asked.

"No," I replied a little uncertainly.

She laughed. "Oh, God, you are. Come on. It was forever ago, and anyway, you got the girl in the end. I'm not upset that you hooked up with Gracie."

"I know," I admitted.

"There," Grant said, slapping his palms on the table. "It's settled. Cori and I had some meaningless sex back in college.... The best sex of her life...."

She shook her head and laughed but didn't exactly deny it either.

".... And now you two are happily married," he continued. "Just like the universe intended. Now who wants another one?"

"Me," Cori replied.

"Get me two," I grunted.

He turned and went back toward the bar.

She put her hand on my forearm. "You're not really upset, are you?"

"No. Long time ago."

"Exactly."

She leaned over and gave me a kiss on the cheek as Grant returned with a bucket of beers on ice.

*

We biked back to the house a little shakily just in time to find the beginning of a feast Gracie had prepared, cool little canapés to start, and of course, all of them perfectly matched with delicious wines. We never actually sat down to dinner, but instead noshed our way through several courses, including some absolutely delicious, bite-sized lobster rolls, and finished with these incredible strawberries filled with the most decadent chocolate mousse imaginable. I've never tasted anything quite so rich in my life.

After, we pulled up the loungers into a tight circle and just sat enjoying each other's company as well as the stars and sea breeze. It was nice. Relaxed. Comfortable. Still, there was a sexual tension in the air, not least of which because of how the girls were dressed.

Grant, Jeff, and I were all wearing shorts. Jeff and I were in t-shirts, Grant in a tank top that showed off his muscular arms. Generic. But the girls were putting on a bit of a show. Gracie had dressed up in a cute, flowered, very sheer sundress that clung to her sexy little body. Cori was still in her bikini, though she'd wrapped a sarong around her waist. Tammy was in short shorts, braless and nearly bursting out her college tee shirt.

Also, we'd sort of coupled up. Cori was lying back, her head in my lap. Gracie and Grant had given up any pretense, and were sitting side-by-side, arms intertwined. Only Tammy and Jeff were awkwardly keeping their distance from each other, even though they shared a lounge.

Grant whispered something in Gracie's ear, and she giggled delightfully. Tammy rolled her eyes.

"I'd have thought you'd have had enough chocolate for the night," Tammy snarked.

"Trying to muscle in on my action?" Gracie asked.

"We could arm wrestle for it," Tammy replied.

"Or mud wrestle," I suggested.

Cori slapped my belly playfully.

Gracie grinned. "Oh, don't worry, Tam, there is enough for both of us." She patted the lounge, and Tammy stalked over, settling down on the other side of Grant.

Grant smiled proudly.

"That doesn't seem fair," Cori noted. "What about Jeff?"

"Yeah, what about me?" Jeff asked, amused.

Tammy laughed. "Well, since Cori is so concerned, how about you spend the night with her and Rob?"

"Um, do I get a vote?" I asked.

"I thought we agreed at lunch this sort of thing wasn't a big deal?" Grant asked puckishly. "I mean, it's not like it would be first time Cori and Jeff –”

“Grant, stop it!” Cori hissed, though I wasn’t sure if she was more appalled or embarrassed.

He shrugged and turned to Jeff. “Sorry man, I tried.”

“You guys are crazy,” Cori said.

“Just having a little fun,” Grant replied. “Anyway, it was Tammy’s idea.”

“I still think it’s a good one,” she insisted.

“Naw,” Grant said. “If we’re going to do this, it should be Tammy with Rob and Gracie with Jeff.”

Gracie laughed. “You have two in the hand, and you want the one in the bush?”

“Just saying, that would even everything out.... And let us really settle our dispute this morning,” Grant noted.

Cori sat up. “Oooh, I knew you guys were up to something this morning. What dispute?”

Tammy laughed. “They were talking about which one of us was a better lay.”

I looked over at Jeff who had turned red. Sorry, he mouthed. He’d ratted us out while Grant, Cori, and I were in Provincetown.

“It wasn’t like that,” I said.

“So who won?” Cori asked eagerly.

“I’m sure you did,” Tammy replied. “After all, you’re the only one to bang them all.”

Gracie gaped at my wife in mock astonishment, eyes wide, hand over her mouth. “You slut,” she gasped.

Cori smirked. “I seem to remember one night when you and –”

Gracie shook her head vigorously.

Cori laughed and charged ahead. “You and Tammy, um, explored the Sapphic arts.”

“What the fuck does that mean?” Grant asked.

Jeff laughed. “They lezzed out.”

“No shit?” Grant gasped as she looked from Tammy to Gracie sitting beside him. Tammy smirking and Gracie suddenly a deep, crimson red.

“That’s hot,” he noted after a moment. I could tell he was looking forward to arranging a replay tonight.

Tammy cleared her throat. "Um, good try, Cor, but you're not getting off that easy. So, guys, who was the best lay?"

"I wouldn't know. Gracie's given it up to everyone but me," Jeff said with a grin. Gracie gave him an exaggerated sad face. "And Rob can't really judge either, unless...." He looked from me to Tammy.

I shook my head. Tammy laughed. "I offered," she said.

"When?!" I asked.

"After Spring Fling? Fuck, I even crashed at your place," she noted.

"You said you were too drunk to leave."

"I lived next right door," she noted.

I shook my head. I hadn't even thought about it that night. "I.... well, fuck me."

She shrugged. "Too late now, unless... what do you think Cori?"

Cori laughed. "First you want to muscle in on Gracie's action, now on mine?"

"What can I say?" Tammy asked, "I always want what I can't have."

Now Grant chimed in, "Well... we could follow my proposal, resolve this lingering longing, and also help settle the debate."

"And," I interrupted, "you don't need to do anything with Cori, since you two are already acquainted. Perfect."

He looked a little downcast at that.

Cori rescued him. "Nuh uh. I don't mind the four of you completing the round-robin," she said looking from Tammy to me and from Jeff to Gracie, "but no reason that Grant and I should sit the evening out."

"Are you serious?" I gasped.

"Why not?" she asked.

"Because we're married?" I replied.

"Come on, Rob," Jeff urged. "You know you've always wanted to get your hands on Tammy's big ta-tas."

"This is crazy," I said.

Tammy laughed. "Well, yeah, but could be fun. I mean, I'm always up for a new experience."

“Exactly,” Cori added, “everyone gets a new experience except me and Grant.”

Now Gracie chuckled. “You are so generous that way.”

Cori nodded. “I’m a giver.”

“I don’t know--” I began.

I was cut short by Tammy rising from the lounge opposite me. She fixed me with a sultry gaze and then confidently peeled off her t-shirt, exposing her big, luscious boobs. For a moment, I couldn’t take my eyes off them. Truth is, I’d never been with a really busty girl, and despite my appreciation for my wife’s great ass, there was still inside me a teenage boy who just wanted to maul a great, big rack. Remembering myself, I tore my gaze away, turning toward Cori instead.

She was smirking at me. “You look like a dog staring at a steak.”

“No, I –”

Tammy dropped heavily into my lap, her hands grabbed the back of my neck and pulled my face between her heaving mounds. She smelled of sweat, suntan lotion, and wine, which ought to be gross, but is actually quite enticing. It didn’t hurt that she started grinding against my rapidly hardening cock with groin covered only by skin-tight shorts.

I heard my wife giggle, and looked over to see her being pulled to her feet by Grant.

I opened my mouth to protest, only to have Tammy feed me one of her nipples, swollen like an overripe grape. Instinctively, I closed my lips over it, sucking hard, feeling her nub swell and stiffen, even as her grinding caused a bloom of heat at our connected crotches.

“You can’t play favorites,” Tammy said as she offered me her other boob.

In the transition, I gazed around the deck. Gracie was lying face down on one of the loungers just in her sheer panties, as Jeff, shirtless, lean, and fit, crouched above her rubbing her back sensuously. And then, over by the railing, overlooking the sea, were Grant and my wife, locked in a passionate embrace, his big hands cupping her perfect ass beneath her sarong. It gave me pause, but Tammy’s fat nipple pressing insistently against my lips won out.

She lifted my tee shirt above my head, and then held me tight, running her hands through my hair. I sucked hard on her titties and at the same time cupped her firm ass. I was torn between a desperate desire to stop whatever was going on with Cori and Grant, and an even more insistent need to play with Tammy's beautiful rack.

The latter won out, especially as Tammy's nipples continued to stiffen and lengthen into hard, nearly inch-long nubs, and especially as her moans filled my ears the harder I sucked on one nipple while rolling the other between my fingers. Cori's pert breasts are exquisitely sensitive, but almost too much so. Any rough handling has her squirming away. But with Tammy, it seems like the rougher the better, and when I gripped her nipple between my teeth, she growled excitedly.

I don't know how long I sucked and fondled her nipples. Long enough that I was rock hard and she was excited enough for me to feel her wetness through her shorts. Long enough, also, that when she disengaged from me and dropped to her knees between my thighs, I realized that Grant and Cori had disappeared. Worse, when I looked over at the spot they'd been in, I noticed they'd left behind a marker, my wife's Brazilian thong on the ground.

Before I could really focus on that, Gracie's moan distracted me. Jeff was still massaging her, though now they were both naked. He was running his hand over her firm ass, and dipping it between her legs, plunging two glistening fingers deep into her tight, little pussy. His cock was rock hard, jutting out from his body at a 90 degree angle, and looking impressively long against his flat belly and shaved pubes. Gracie seemed to like what she saw because she turned her head and with a graceful motion swallowed him whole. Grant was right. She had improved her game.

Grant.... What was he doing to Cori right now? Why was I asking? I knew. Driving her crazy with his big, black dick. Spreading her ass cheeks and – “Oow!” I hissed.

Tammy had grabbed handful of my chest hair and yanked hard. I looked down at her.

“That's better,” she said.

She unzipped my shorts and pulled out my hard prick.

“Mmmm, nice and thick,” she growled as she licked around the head.

I looked into her dark, heavy lidded eyes. She was a sultry creature. How many times had I fantasized about being in exactly this situation? More than I could recall. The idea of fucking Tammy had been a regular fantasy, even when I was pining for Cori....

Cori.... I remembered when I first heard she'd hooked up with Grant. Jeff had broken the news to me. I'd been in denial about it. About their flirty glances and the way they often ended up on the same sofa passing a joint back and forth. Except it was a denial punctuated by images, equally horrifying and exciting, of Cori riding his big prick, of him pounding her from behind... as he was probably doing right now. Except now she was my wife and not an unrequited crush.

I gasped as I felt Tammy's teeth brush against my shaft. She grinned at me. What's good for goose, she seemed to be saying. And then her teeth disappeared and she swallowed me deep, her hands plunging into my shorts to grab and fondle my balls. God she was good... and different... aggressive, rough, maybe a little frightening. Sexy.

And speaking of sexy, there were Gracie and Jeff, standing, arm-in-arm, perfectly matched, slender and pale, swaying gently against each other as they walked inside, leaving just Tammy and me out on the deck. We too were well-matched, dark wiry hair, thicker bodies, and Mediterranean complexions. Though contrast could be sexy as well as I thought about Grant's dark skin against my wife's pale body.

Tammy yanked down my shorts, leaving me naked. She rose up and stood before me, her crotch at my eye level. I could smell her excitement, see even the slight dampness at the V between her legs. I reached out and unbuttoned her shorts and pulled them down, as she rocked from side to side to make it easier.

Unlike Cori, she wasn't shaved, barely even trimmed, maybe the closest thing to a full bush I've even seen in real life. Still, it worked for her. Tammy would have looked weird bare. She was a sexy, athletic, full-figured woman, and retro bush looked good on her.

I grabbed her ass cheeks and pulled her hard into me, burying my face in her snatch. She was wetter than I realized. I wormed my tongue between her swollen lips, tasting her tangy juices, flicking at her engorged clit. She thrust against me hard, urgently. I pressed a finger into her pussy, and then a second, stretching her out, feeling her velvety sleeve pulsing on my digits.

She gasped sexily, feeding my hunger. I wanted her. Now. I leaned back and tried to pull her down into my lap.

She stopped me. "Not yet," she said, hand firmly on my chest.

I groaned in frustration. She laughed. "Can't wait, huh?"

"I want you," I grunted.

She dropped back down to her knees and again licked my shaft. "Don't you want to titty-fuck me first?"

"Oh God."

Another laugh and then she rose up, pressing my thighs further apart and leaning in close so that her heavy tits pressed against my groin. She teased me, rubbing my cockhead against her hard nipples before cupping her mounds and using them to surround my prick.

"Might as well take our time," she cooed. "After all, I suspect Grant is going to want to make his reunion with Cori last all night."

I gasped.

She began to move her breasts up and down on my shaft, a delicious erotic sensation.

"And," she continued, "I am pretty sure, Cori isn't going to settle for less."

"Did she... did she talk about him?" I stammered.

"You mean back in college?"

I nodded.

"Oh, Rob, do you really want to know?"

I gulped.

"To know all the nasty, little details?" she teased.

I wasn't sure. She was my love, my wife... but this was a long time ago... well, and going on right now as well, I guess. I was... torn. Tammy dribbled spit between her breasts, onto my shaft, and resumed massaging my cock with her boobs. It felt so good. She could tell me anything as long as she didn't stop.

I nodded.

"He was her go-to booty call," she said.

I felt my cheeks flush with... what? Excitement?
Embarrassment? Anger?

"I thought they only hooked up a couple of times."

Tammy laughed. A deep, throaty growl. "A couple of times a week, maybe."

She paused to gauge my reaction. I was dizzy, confused. It seemed to amuse her.

She continued, "And he was always ready and willing to give it to her, even if he'd been with another girl.... Maybe especially then. I think it made her jealous to think of him with another girl. Made her extra eager to please him."

Had Cori been in love with Grant, as I had been with her?

Tammy enjoyed my torment. She twisted the knife. "I think that's why he fucked Gracie last night. He knew it would get her juices flowing."

"I wouldn't think he'd need an ulterior motive," I noted.

"Hmmm, maybe not. But even still, you know Cori and Grant would have fucked out on that bike ride if you hadn't gone."

"No."

Tammy laughed. "That's why you went, isn't it?"

Not consciously, no, but practically. "Yes," I mumbled.

She let my cock slip from between her breasts and sucked it wetly into her mouth. I wondered if Cori was doing the same to Grant. Coated with her spit, she returned my cock to the warm embrace of her cleavage.

"Don't worry, Rob, it's just sex between them. Always has been. Mind-blowing sex, but the two of them are like oil and water otherwise. You know that. Which is why you're here with me and letting them have some fun."

"And why are you here?" I asked suddenly.

She chuckled. "I told you. I've always wanted to fuck you, and anyway, I wasn't about to cock-block Cor. Plus..." she trailed off.

"What?"

She just grinned enigmatically before swallowing my prick back into her mouth. I gasped at the hot wetness of it, at the delicious sensation of her tongue swirling around the head of my cock.

She shivered suddenly.

"Let's go inside," she said. "I'm going to the bathroom. Meet me in my room."

I nodded. That was an order I wasn't about to refuse.

I took a leak as well, which wasn't easy with my prick hard as a rock. After, I crossed through the massive, great room with an ocean view. The house seemed alive with sex. Sultry and I thought I could hear moans, though it might have just been the wind, or my imagination. I thought of Tammy waiting for me, naked, ready. About her riding me, her wet cunt surrounding my prick, her big tits bouncing up and down. But as appealing as that was, I knew I needed to first look in on my wife.

Grant had taken one of the bedrooms in the back of the house, overlooking the rolling, wooded hills of Wellfleet. I crept across the landing and approached his door. It was cracked open, almost as if to invite observation.

I braced myself and peered in. They were lying on the bed, face-to-face, naked, talking softly. I couldn't tell if they'd already fucked or were still working their way into it. Or maybe just taking a break. Her skin was gleaming, nipples and areolas puffy with excitement. His cock was rock hard and huge.

I tried to block out the sounds from the rest of the house – the humming of the air-conditioning, the wind coming off the ocean, the chirping of crickets from outdoor – until I could make out their words.

"I missed you baby," he said.

She giggled. "You already have me in bed, you know."

He gave her another soft, wet kiss. Her tongue peeked through, flicking his lip. He reached out and brushed a strand of hair from her face.

"Seriously, I missed you."

She shook her head. "I know what you missed."

"It's always about the sex with you."

She reached down and grabbed his fat prick. "Uh huh. That's all there's ever been between us."

Oddly, though, their body language told a different story. There was an intimate tenderness about the way they were together, hands gently caressing each other's bodies, soft kisses. Still, there was no mistaking the sexual attraction. They were so into each other at that moment that I could have probably walked in, pulled up a chair and they wouldn't have noticed.

He reached for her as well. His palm on her belly, his slid his thumb down across her lower abdomen and dipped it into her shaved snatch. Cori shuddered a little.

"Should I put it back in?" he asked.

"You know what I want," she replied.

He laughed. "Yeah? Sure you're not out of practice?"

She giggled.

"What are you looking it?" said Tammy's voice in my ear.

I startled and nearly slammed into the door as her hand covered my mouth to keep me from screaming.

"Nothing," I mumbled.

She laughed softly. She pressed her body against me, her big tits against my back. She reached around and gripped my hard cock.

"So has he fucked her yet?"

"I don't know.... Yes, I think so." I admitted.

Tammy is as tall as me, so she was able to look over my shoulder into the room.

"Yeah, he was probably inside her before they ever reached the bed."

As good as her body felt against mine, her hand on my prick, I wished she was gone so I could hear Grant talking to my wife. Although, as I watched, I realized that they were now beyond words. Cori, lips pursed, was moaning softly at his touch. I could hear her hand squishing wetly on his cock.

"Won't be long now," Tammy said, "before he's sliding his big cock back inside her. Have you ever watched Cori getting fucked?"

"No."

"It'll be hot."

I nodded.

They kissed again. A few more words exchanged and then Cori rolled over on her belly. With her legs spread slightly, I could see right up to her pussy, swollen and glistening with excitement.

"Look how wet she is," Tammy gushed as she stroked my cock harder. "How many times do you think he's made her come?"

I merely groaned in response.

Grant's hand slid between my wife's legs. He slid his middle finger into her pussy as he began to kiss down the line of her spine. Tammy fondled my balls and kissed my back as well. Lower, lower, he went. His finger pumped in and out of my wife, now also trailing up between her butt cheeks, lingering for a moment on her anus. Cori groaned and squirmed.

"Do you like that too?" Tammy asked as her finger tickled my asshole.

"Oh God," I groaned.

Grant kissed down to her lower back, his hands now kneading my wife's lovely butt cheeks. Tammy did the same to me. And then, as I watched in shock, Grant spread Cori wide open. For a moment, I could see her pulsing asshole, and then he leaned in and began to lick her there.

"Oooh, kinky," Tammy growled.

And then she pressed her face between my cheeks. Still stroking my cock, she began tonguing my ass as well. I'd never felt anything like it. So dirty. So hot. I was actually too excited to come.

I moaned loudly... or was that Cori? I wasn't sure. It was hard to focus. I had to shake my head to keep my vision from going blurry. Cori suddenly reared up, and reaching back grabbed at Grant's head.

"No more, no more," she gasped. And then, "now, now."

Grant kissed his way back up her spine, and then lay beside her. Cori rolled onto her side, facing away from him, thrusting her ass toward him. Tammy rose to her feet and licked my ear.

"He's going to fuck her in the ass," she growled.

"I know," I gasped.

My wife reached back and spread herself open for him. It was lewd. Obscene. Submissive. And very erotic.

He rubbed his cockhead against her anus. Tammy's finger returned to mine. I tensed.

"Relax, Rob," Tammy said, "watch your wife."

The more Grant pressed his prick against her ass, the more she seemed to surrender and relax onto him, until her bottom seemed to swallow him up as much as he thrust inside her. Deeper, deeper,

Cori shuddering and moaning, and then my own ass opening as Tammy thrust inside me.

Odd. A violation. Shockingly intimate. Scary. Deeper and deeper. Grant's fat tool mostly hidden in my wife's ass. Movement inside me. Her finger curling. A sudden jolt. A blinding light. Dizzy. My crotch hot and wet. Dripping down my thigh.

By the time I could even breathe again, Grant was fucking my wife hard and deep in the ass. She was gasping desperately. Her breath coming in ragged wheezes. Her experience just beginning.

Grant's tenderness slowly evaporating. His hands gripping my wife more firmly. Pulling her hair. Palming her throat. And his cock, over and over and over, plunging into her butt.

Tammy grabbed my hand firmly and gave me a sharp tug.

"They're going to go all night. And there is so much more I want to do to you."

As we walked across the landing, I could hear my wife wailing in passion behind me. Tammy's hand cupped my ass. I was scared, but also oddly eager to put myself in her hands.

*

I lay in bed naked the next morning, sore all over, even... especially in places I had never expected to be sore. Tammy had left around dawn. About an hour later, Cori appeared wearing nothing but her sarong.

"I hear you had a wild night," she said.

"So did you," I replied.

She nodded. "Maybe this reunion wasn't such a great idea."

"Or maybe," I suggested, "it was the best idea ever."

"Yeah?" she asked hopefully.

I reached out and pulled her close to me. She smelled of him. It was oddly exciting.

"Don't kiss me," she said.

"A morning hummer, huh? You're a dirty girl."

She grinned and I kissed her anyway. A little salty, but not too bad.

She looked at me oddly. "When did you get so kinky?"

I shrugged.

“So...” she began. “We still have another night here.”

I nodded. “What’s the plan?”

She looked surprised. “I don’t know. Why are you asking me?”

“Because you girls planned it all, didn’t you?”

She hesitated. “Rob, I have no idea what you’re talking about.”

“So, tonight?”

She grinned. “Maybe its time for all the skeletons to come out of the closet.”

“What does that mean?”

She leaned in close, her breath hot against my ear. “You’ll see....”

END

About Ben Boswell

More From Ben Boswell

Table Of Contents

More From Best Hotwife Erotica Authors

Remember! All authors in this anthology can be found at <http://www.hotwifebooks.com/>

More From Ben Boswell

Two Sides of Terri

Bill has just about the perfect life. Good paying job. Lovely home. Perfect children. And most of all, he has his wife Terri – smart, funny, great with the kids. Thing is, she's a good girl trapped in a bad girl's body. Blonde, busty, and devastatingly beautiful, she makes him want to do dirty things – things you don't admit to wanting from the girl-next-door.

Or so he thought.

It starts with a revelation about Chucky, a past boyfriend, and everything he thought he knew about his sweet wife unravels. He becomes obsessed with learning more about this other side of Terri – and everything he learns points back to Chucky, a man she couldn't say no to. Does he dare invite her past back into their present? And if he did, would she now be able to say no?

Whatever it Takes

Honeymoon Hazards

The Surrogate Master

Dark Tide: An Interracial Adventure on the High Seas

And much more...see Ben's Author Page for additional titles

More From Arnica Butler

A Well-Laid Trap \(2-Part Series\)

It all begins when Patrick is convinced he saw his wife with another man at a downtown bar.

He begins to investigate. But the more Patrick uncovers about Jordan's activities, the less he understands.

The biggest problem is, Patrick can't decide how he really feels. On the one hand, his wife seems to be betraying him, and on the other, his sex life has reached a scorching pinnacle he never thought possible.

But he had better hold on to his hat, because when he finds out the truth, things will get much, much hotter than he might have ever imagined...

Human Interest 1: A Lead-In To Wife-Watching

Ela's Performance: A Romantic Wife-Watching Novel

The Hobby Job

Not Black And White: A Hotwife Novel

And much more...see Arnica's Author Page for additional titles

More From Kirsten McCurran

The Hot Dates Trilogy

Most women would throw something at their husband if he asked them to sleep with other men. But Dana is NOT most women. Dana and Dave have a history of adventurous, kinky fun, so she's not exactly stunned when Dave confesses his long held secret fantasy. After some careful thought, Dana agrees and they proceed slowly into a sexy, dangerous new lifestyle. Dana and Dave quickly learn that wild desires cannot be controlled, and that every decision has consequences. Can they keep their marriage together, or will their new lusts tear them apart?

Her Other Husband: The Complete Series

Devil's Bargain

The Coach's Wife

Domestic Bliss

And much more...see Kirsten's Author Page for additional titles

More From Max Sebastian

Heidi, Corrupted

A man gains new desire for his ex-wife after she asks for his help to find a new lover...

After their passion-free marriage collapses, Joe is certain he'll never even see Heidi again. But several months after their relationship fizzles, Heidi asks for Joe's help to understand why it all went wrong, and how she can move on.

Joe knows in his heart he was never right for her, but feeling sorry for her, he wants to help her rebuild her shattered self-confidence.

He agrees to help Heidi find some new, but as he gives her suggestions on attracting other men, Joe finds his own interest in her rekindled like never before – in a most unexpected way.

Wives With Benefits, Volume 2

The Game

What's Mine Is Yours

The Madeleine Trilogy

And much more...see Max's Author Page for additional titles

More From Kenny Wright

Training To Love It 3

The exciting conclusion to Kenny Wright's Training to Love It trilogy

Erin and Tom Smith keep crossing lines, pushing their boundaries of fantasy, of comfort, of what it means to be a hotwife, a swinger, a cuckold. Their shared fantasy unlocks a side of Erin that neither of them suspected—a submissive who craves wild sex, who gets excited at obeying the whims of another man. Tom loves this new side of her almost as much as he fears it. They've already gone too far once before. Could it happen again?

All actions have consequences, and those consequences are about to hit for Erin and Tom. Will this couple falter under this ultimate test, or will they emerge stronger than ever?

Something Forbidden

Just Watch Me

Parallel Lines \(Part 1\)

Ian's Obsession

And much more...see Kenny's Author Page for additional titles