

A woman with blonde hair, wearing a white bikini with dark polka dots, is sitting on a large white coffee cup. She is holding a small object in her hand. The background is a warm, blurred indoor setting.

KIRSTEN MCCURRAN

It Started with COFFEE

BOOK THREE OF EVE & FRIENDS

It Started With Coffee

By

Kirsten McCurran

IT STARTED WITH COFFEE

© 2011 Aphrodite Omnimedia. All Rights Reserved. No part of this work may be reproduced for distribution by any means physical, mechanical or electronic without the explicit written permission of the copyright holder.

This is a work of fiction. All characters are fictitious or used fictitiously.

First Smashwords edition electronically published by Aphrodite Omnimedia, May 2011

Cover Design: Kenny Wright

Thank you to JBV and Kenny Wright for their contributions in making this ebook as good as it could possibly be. Any errors or mistakes are my own.

And thank you to everyone who purchased this ebook. I've had great fun creating Eve's adventures and as I read these stories back I realize just how much of myself I've put into her. Sometimes when I close my eyes I can put myself in Eve's shoes and it's like I'm there, having her adventures. I hope all of you are enjoying reading about Eve as much as I enjoy writing about her. Please check out the next chapter of Eve's adventures in "It Ended With an Announcement," which is coming soon!

Throwing a party for twenty seven-year-olds is a thankless job. A lot of work goes into cleaning the house, then the guests tear everything apart in the first half hour. You're left with a bigger mess than when you started. If only you could collapse on the couch with a beer afterward while a tornado goes through the house and sweeps everything away. Preparing everything is even more work when you have a husband who disappears to the golf course the day before the party, I love my husband, Kurt, but sometimes it seems like he's trapped in a permanent adolescence. But it's his spontaneous nature that makes me love him. It's funny that what makes you love someone can be the same thing that annoys you the most.

Luckily, that day, Marie came to my rescue. Her husband, Brett, was out with their son, so she had some free time. Amazingly, she chose to help me set up the party, instead of relaxing, or getting her nails done. I had cooking to do, the house to clean and party favors to put together, so her help was invaluable. I couldn't imagine why she would give up a free afternoon to help me, but we had become much closer of late. Much, much closer.

Marie and Brett live across the cul-de-sac, and we became fast friends from the time they moved in, getting together for barbeques and such. But over the last couple of months, our get-togethers had become more intimate. It started with a couples' night out and a joke about swapping partners. Somehow, that joke turned serious, and Marie ended up in bed with my husband, Kurt, while Brett and I screwed in their living room. But that was not a one-time thing. When we attended Marie and Brett's Christmas party, Kurt and I ended up in bed with them again after all the other guests left. After that second encounter, there was no doubt that we were some kind of foursome, even though I didn't know exactly what that meant. My husband and I talked about it, but neither of us ever had a heart-to-heart with the other couple. I'd talked to Marie often in the intervening weeks, but I could never figure out a smooth way to bring up our extracurricular activities.

"Okay, it's break time," Marie announced. She'd just pulled a fresh batch of cookies from the oven, while I sat at the kitchen table assembling party favor bags.

"Yeah, we have been going at it all day. I could use a break too," I agreed.

Marie poured two cups of coffee from a fresh pot and brought them over, while I fetched the milk and sugar. I take it black, but she pours so much milk into hers it might as well be a dessert. "Just one thing missing," she said, disappearing with a wink. She returned with a bottle of Jamison's and added a nip to her coffee.

"Isn't it a bit early for that?" I asked.

"It's after lunch," she grinned, holding the bottle over my coffee. I shrugged and she poured.

"I can't thank you enough for your help. I would be so far behind without you."

"Don't worry, honey, I'll think of a way you can return the favor."

I laughed. "I'm sure you will."

"You can lend me your husband for a couple hours," she said. My shock must have been all over my face, because she added, "I didn't mean for that, although that would be nice. I've been after Brett to put the boxes of Christmas decorations back up in the attic and he could use a hand. I'm afraid I don't have the reach to be much help."

"Oh, sure, I know Kurt will be happy to help." I don't know how happy my husband would be that I volunteered him to move boxes, but I was annoyed enough by his disappearing act that I didn't care. And I could see where Marie would have trouble handing boxes up the ladder that leads to the attic. She's a petite thing, just over five-foot-three, with a crazy, curvy body that demands attention, even dressed down as she was in tight jeans and a green cardigan over a tank top. A couple inches of pale, freckled cleavage were exposed, as usual. Marie is so amply endowed that I couldn't help but notice. She's a beautiful, fiery redhead and I understand why my husband jumped at the chance to sleep with her.

"What did you think I meant, Eve?" Marie asked.

"Nothing," I mumbled.

She fixed me with her emerald eyes. She wasn't going to let me off the hook. "What if I did ask to borrow Kurt for a couple hours? Would you mind? Of course I'd return the favor with Brett. I know he wouldn't mind one bit."

"I...I don't know. I haven't thought about that." I can't say I'd turn down another roll in the hay with Brett. He was a great lover and a lot of fun. I was pretty surprised he was attracted me to in the first place, if Marie was any indicator of his type.

Marie and I could not be more physically different. Where she is short and curvy, I am three inches taller and slender. I've always been thin and I still run just about every day, keeping me in great shape at thirty-two, if that's not immodest to admit. Before the kids, I was really skinny, and I know Kurt likes that motherhood has put a little more meat on my bones. I have a tight, round butt, and while I am much smaller than Marie up top,

I'm perky enough that I don't need a bra. Both Kurt and Brett have told me how perfect my breasts are. Marie is the very image of an Irish Lass, I've got fine brown hair and delicate features. Kurt's always told me how much I resemble Natalie Portman and I almost dressed up as Queen Amidala for him once at Halloween. Marie is always made up; I wear little make-up. She loves attention, I shrink from the spotlight. As I said, Marie and I couldn't be more different, so I'd always thought her husband's flirting was just playing around...until that night.

"Really? Given everything..."

"I mean, I've thought about Brett, sure, I just haven't thought about, you know, going off alone with him, or Kurt going off alone with you. You know, when we've been together, uhm, we were all, you know, together." I felt the heat rushing to my cheeks and hoped I was making some kind of sense. It was difficult to talk about swapping spouses, even with the person I was doing it with.

"Yeah, it's something that just seems to happen, isn't it? Maybe it's more fun when it's not planned."

"Could be," I agreed.

"Are you still okay with what's been going on?"

I felt so put on the spot, but I knew this was a conversation we needed to have, that we should have had a while ago. I sipped my coffee and finally met her eyes. "Yeah, we both are. We like you guys and trust you. It's been a lot of fun, so what's there not to like. As long as we're all open with each other, I don't foresee a problem."

"Brett and I love getting together with you. Brett can't say enough about you," Marie smiled. She added more Jamison's to her mug and mine, but not more coffee.

"Really? You guys talk about what, uhm, what we do?"

"Of course. I want to know what you're like. I want to know if you guys are having a good time. And it sounds like it's a very good time."

If it was possible, I turned a deeper crimson. "Really?" I repeated. "Don't you get jealous talking about it?"

"Don't sound so surprised. Brett's looking forward to being with you again, I know that. I know he loves me, so I have no reason to be jealous. But don't you guys talk about what we've been doing?"

"We've discussed it -- generally -- but we haven't gotten into any details. I don't know... talking about it, that seems a little odd to me."

"So you're not curious at all about what Kurt and I do?"

"I wouldn't go that far," I responded, with a sly smile, remembering how I'd briefly spied on Marie and Kurt through the cracked-open bedroom door the last time we swapped. I honestly didn't understand why Kurt and I hadn't gotten into specifics. Maybe he didn't want to know about me and Brett. Maybe Kurt didn't want that picture in his head.

"Is there anything you'd like to know?" Marie asked.

"I... I don't know. Uhm, is it good? I mean, do you like Kurt?"

"I wouldn't be going back if I didn't, would I?" Marie laughed. "I wouldn't keep doing it just so Brett could keep screwing you."

My laughter joined hers. "I guess not."

"I don't need to tell you, but Kurt's great in bed. He's still like a teenager, all excited and he can last forever, the second time. I love that thing he does with his hips, too."

Marie was very enthusiastic describing sex with my husband, and I felt a pang of jealousy. I knew just the thing she was talking about with the hips. And while I may complain sometimes that it seems like sex is the only thing on Kurt's mind, I'm secretly pleased that he wants me just as much now as when we first met.

"And you're enjoying Brett?" Marie asked.

"Oh yeah, he's terrific," I answered, perhaps too quickly. "It's exciting to be with someone so different from Kurt. Brett's so strong. Not that Kurt isn't, but it's different with Brett."

"I know what you mean."

"I never thought I'd be with another man again, so it's a very nice surprise. I don't know where this thing is going, but I'm enjoying the ride."

"You never really did answer me. How would you feel if Kurt and I went off together, without you guys around?"

"I don't really know. Would you be okay with Brett walking across the street for a quickie?" I asked, trying to inject some humor into the conversation. I really didn't know how I would feel if Kurt were to be with Marie without me around. Was that crossing a line?

"I'd be fine with it. Feel free to borrow my husband anytime time you like," Marie said.

I just couldn't match Marie's smile. I wasn't quite where she was on this. "Kurt and I would have to talk about that. I don't know how he feels about me just going off and being with Brett."

"Fair enough. In the meantime, you know what the guys really want? You know what would drive them crazy?"

"I think I know what you're getting at. Kurt would probably pass out. I don't think he'd know what to do with the two of us," I laughed, glad we've changed topics.

"Brett would be fine, with a little direction, I think. I know his biggest fantasy is two women in bed. I think he'd love for those women to be us."

I thought about when I kissed Marie that first time, and then after the Christmas party, when I was pulled into bed with her and Kurt, after I'd come to collect my husband from her bed. The two of them began undressing and kissing me, and I barely had the willpower to pull away. I agreed with Marie. Either of our husbands would love to be in bed with both of us, but how could we work it out to be fair to everyone?

"I think you're right. And if you and Kurt had your way, it probably would have happened last time."

"Yeah, that was fun. You're a great kisser. It's a shame you guys had to go."

"Maybe something will happen next time," I said. "I know we can work something out."

"We should just ignore the guys entirely. Just let them sit there and watch," Marie said, taking my hand.

"That could be interesting," I agreed. Was the whisky in my coffee warming me up, or was it something else?

"But you know, we don't want to promise them something hot and then not deliver. It'd probably be a good idea to practice first." Her thumbs caressed the back of my hand and she moved closer.

"Oh? You think so?" I smiled.

“Most definitely,” she nodded.

Leaning across the table, Marie closed the gap between us and our lips met. It was not our first kiss, of course, but it was the first time we were kissing without an audience, and there was no rush. It was years since I’d really sensually kissed another woman, and it was just as wonderful as I’d remembered it. Her lips, painted a reddish-rusty color, were soft and full, and I closed my eyes and just enjoyed the kiss. Her hand was on the back of my neck, slender fingers tickling where strands of hair had come free from my hurried effort at pulling my brown locks up. I gasped when our tongues touched. It was electric, like the first time I’d kissed her husband. An illicit thrill passed through my body. I’ve always gotten a special pleasure from doing things that were forbidden or dangerous. Sitting in my kitchen and kissing one of my best friends like this definitely fell into both categories.

“Do you think we should move things up to the bedroom?” Marie asked.

“It’s like you read my mind,” I agreed. As we both stood, I grabbed the bottle of Jamison’s and took a huge pull. The amber liquid scorched my throat and warmed my body. Coming from a large Irish family, I’m not lightweight when it comes to handling my liquor. I handed Marie the bottle and she took a more demure sip.

I left the bedroom shades up, but pulled the curtains closed, and the afternoon sun filled the space with warm, diffused light. Marie waited by the side of the bed and I was glad that I habitually make our queen-sized bed every morning. There was nothing I could do about the clothes Kurt insisted on throwing on the floor. I walked toward my smiling friend.

Our bodies touched and her hands rested on my waist when we started kissing again. I lightly held her face in both hands and then ran my fingers through her flaming curls. She really has great hair. I'm almost as jealous of that as I am of her generous chest. I've never been able to do much with my fine hair. My tongue slipped past her lips and Marie's hands moved to my butt, pulling me closer as she squeezed. Our breasts mashed together and our clothes felt so cumbersome. I worked at the buttons on the front of Marie's sweater and her massaging hands slid up my back. I pulled her cardigan from her shoulders and ended up wrestling her arms out of it.

Marie decided to finish undressing herself, pulling her white, lace-trimmed tank top over her head, then unhooking the white, lacy bra she wore underneath. Those big, pale, freckled breasts bounced into view and her strawberry nipples stood out, thick with desire. While she unsnapped her jeans, I was peeling off my layers as well. A tight green henley gave way to a white tank top and then a white, stretch camisole. I frequently go braless around the house, especially under so many layers. It's one of the benefits of smaller breasts. I kicked out of my shoes and peeled snug khakis down my legs. I was unsure if I should leave my little white and red striped cotton panties on, but stripped them too when I saw Marie shed her black, silky panties. I would have worn something sexier under my clothes if I'd known anyone besides my husband would be seeing it.

While we kissed, I pulled back the covers and we slipped into bed together, facing each other in the middle. Our eyes were locked together as our hands explored each other's bodies. I was suddenly nervous and felt rather silly about it. Marie had seen me naked before, and we'd touched too, briefly. And unlike her, I'd been with women before, although not in many years, and never as sober as I was then. She caressed my breasts gently, grazing my dark, hardening nipples with her red-painted nails until a low sigh escaped my lips. My breasts are not my most sensitive area, but I can really get going when someone touches me there the right way. I loved how Marie's husband's rough hands felt on my delicate flesh, and I enjoyed her touch just as much. Yes, she was gentle, but also firm, kneading my breasts and pinching my nipples until she drew them out and I moaned for more.

"Brett's right, you're tits really are perfect," she said as a prelude to a kiss.

"Ahhhh, I don't have what you have..." I moaned when her lips slipped to my neck and she found that special spot that makes me nuts. With her kissing and sucking me there, and caressing my breasts, I was nearly helpless.

But I wasn't passive. Marie's breasts spilled from my hands and when I isolated her stubby, pale nipples I teased them gently as she touched me, but it seemed the rougher I was, the more reaction I provoked.

"Mmm, that's it Eve, I'm not a shrinking violet. You don't have to be too gentle," she encouraged, her lips moving lower. I did as she wished, pulling her nipples even harder, with a little twist. "Mmm...yesss...Evvveeee..."

I cried out when Marie's lips and flicking tongue found my breasts. Looking down, all I could see was her mass of fiery curls as she kissed and sucked on my nipples. She circled over and over with her tongue, and then sucked hard, giving me a little bite, before moving to tease my other breast. She kept teasing my free, wet nipple with her fingers, softly pinching and rolling. I wasn't really teasing her breasts as much as just holding on. She made me feel so good. It was hard to think about anything but those soft lips, and I found it hard to believe she'd never done this before. When it became too intense, I guided her mouth back to mine and thrust my tongue into her's.

While we kissed, I took the initiative and touched between Marie's thighs. She was smooth and warm down there. I shave and do my best to keep it clean, but she was so smooth that I suspect Marie waxes. Her lips were puffed out and she moaned into our kiss when I touched them. I tried lightly rubbing her mound, but she was insistent and pushed at my hand. I pressed harder and my middle fingers went between her lips. She was drenched, as I knew I was, and my fingers slipped easily over her clit. I ignored that little bud of pleasure and instead pushed both fingers inside her and curved upward.

"God, Eve!" Marie cried when I fingered her g-spot. I rubbed in little circles, teasingly, but then pressed more firmly and the redhead really started shouting. She pulled my face to her breasts and I feasted, sucking and nibbling her thick nipples, so different from my darker, pointier ones. She cried, "More, more!" I added a third finger and pressed her g-spot as I frigged her faster and faster. I've always thought I was easy to get going, a little too easy, really, but Marie seemed to go from zero to sixty in record time. I am sure I had her on the edge of climax. I could even hear how wet she was as my fingers moved in and out of her.

"If you don't stop....I'm...I'm...gonna...cumm..." she wailed, tearing my face from her breast.

"Do it! I want you to," I encouraged, unusually wordy in bed. Dirty talk just isn't my thing, but my friend had me inspired. I'd heard just how vocal she could be while she fucked my husband.

"Nnnnot...yyettt..."

Marie touched my pussy and I was every bit as wet as she was. Her fingers filled me, but I guided them instead to my clit. Having fingers inside me is okay if someone knows what they're doing, but the surest way to my orgasm is to rub me the right way, which I showed Marie. God, her fingers felt good. It was almost as good as when I touch myself. She knew the clit is sensitive and didn't just attack it, but applied pressure through the hood. Only when she had me moaning and gasping did she pluck my clit from underneath and push me into overdrive. Our eyes held each other's with an incredible intensity as we lay side by side on the bed and brought each other closer to cumming. It was so amazing, so different from the connection I had with Kurt or Brett.

"God, Eve! God, don't stop! Make me cum!" Marie cried, just before she did, indeed, climax. It was incredible to watch her eyes widen, like she was surprised, and then narrow, like she was concentrating on the most important thing in the world. Her eyes closed and her face went slack, even as her body tightened into a straight line, thrusting at me as she howled through her orgasm.

My quieter moans joined hers, as I was cumming myself. I shook and curled toward her as lightning filled my body, illuminating every inch with pleasure. God, it was magnificent! It felt like I was floating in that other world forever, until I stopped Marie from rubbing me -- it just became too intense.

Marie kissed me deeply. "That was so good, Eve! Wow!" She trailed her slick fingers up her own body and then tentatively tasted them. "I've never...mmmm...that's kind of nice."

"Glad you like it," I laughed, unsure of what else to say. I closed the distance between us, so our bodies were together, and kissed her. It was a long, languid kiss and our hands roamed while our wet, swollen mounds rubbed together. The friction was hot and it made me want another round. I knew she would be game if I went down. I couldn't wait to kiss her pussy and make her scream again.

"I want more," Marie moaned, trying to push me onto my back.

"No, me first," I insisted.

Marie rolled onto her back and I leisurely made my way down her body, licking, touching and kissing. She spread her legs wide and I kissed all around her pussy, but ignored the obvious target. She was moaning and kept trying to move her sex into my path, but I kept moving. It was only when she reached down and pushed her fingers through my hair, letting it fall free, that I followed her guidance and lightly kissed her mound. The redhead hissed and raised her hips off the bed, but I still took my time, only lightly kissing, until she was panting and trembling.

"Ohhh...Eve...why are you teasing me..."

"Because it's fun," I grinned. Ironically, I hate being teased like that. When I'm ready, I'm ready.

I parted her lips and darted my tongue, gently lapping at her inflamed flesh. She was soaked and I happily drank her tart juices. While my tongue explored, I slipped fingers inside her once again and found her g-spot.

"Oh God! Yes! Yes! Eve!" Marie called, tightening her fingers in my hair, forcing my face into her.

She was more aggressive, more vocal than any of the girls I'd been with in the past and it was exciting. I sucked her clit through the hood and then zeroed in with my tongue. When Marie came, she came hard, screaming my name and bucking on the bed. She flooded my face and I did my best to keep up. It was so exciting to do that to her. I wanted to stay down there and make her cum all day!

"Eve! Eve! EVE!"

I kept licking and slurping and I'm pretty sure she came a second time before she rolled, forcing me off of her. Marie lay on her back, legs splayed open and chest heaving, her pale, freckled skin flushed deep red. It was the only time I'd ever seen her "blush".

"Oh...my...God..." she sighed. "You are so doing that again sometime. Wow, Eve. You are incredible. I mean, wow! Anytime you and Kurt want me in bed, I'm there."

"It would make his dreams come true, I'm sure," I laughed, hoping she wouldn't notice how much her compliments made me blush. It seemed like my hair was everywhere, and I brushed it out of my face. "What about Brett?"

"Oh, the three of us in bed would be epic. I hope Kurt's okay with that."

"We'll see," I said, still unsure how I felt about a spouse being excluded from our fun, even for a moment.

"Yeah, there's other things on my mind right now, anyway," she grinned wolfishly.

"You don't have to," I said, although I was crazy horny and really wanted it.

"I really, really want to."

Marie pounced on me and, while her mouth on my breasts drove me crazy -- God, her lips -- her fingers teased my pussy. By the time she moved down there completely, I was dripping. She opened my lips and dove right in. She did not tease me, as I did her, but went right for my clit like she was starved for it. It's almost embarrassing to admit, but I climaxed immediately. Hey, I said I was easy! I was just so charged up that, really, Marie barely had to touch me. And touch me she did. She didn't stop when I came, but doubled down. I locked my thighs around her head as that tongue of hers explored my every crevice. My legs were over her shoulders and she reached up and lightly scratched at my nipples with her nails. Now, that felt good. Marie circled my clit with her tongue over and over, giving me a third orgasm. My entire body heaved and my cries filled the bedroom as I clawed at the sheets. A final orgasm came when she was just lightly sucking on my clit. Marie left me totally wrung out. When she lifted her face from between my legs it was totally glazed and I was exhausted. Like her husband, she had her way with me.

"I wish I was multi-orgasmic like that," she cooed, kissing my cheek.

"It doesn't happen all the time, but you guys seem to have the knack," I breathed.

"I'm sure it's just the hot situation," she said, rolling away.

I closed my eyes, taking deep, cleansing breaths, filling my diaphragm with air. I had to be careful, or I could become addicted to this sort of thing. Sex with Kurt was great as always, but there was just this extra excitement when we were with Brett and Marie. My eyes flew open when I heard the click of a picture being snapped.

"What are you doing?" I shouted, reaching for her phone.

Marie laughed and rolled away. I pulled her down on the bed, while she held the phone away from me. "Too late, it's sent," she said.

"To who?" I demanded.

"I texted it to Kurt. I said we just had a fun afternoon."

"Oh my God! He's going to lose his mind!" I murmured. Luckily, I knew he would not mind this happening. He would just be disappointed he wasn't with us. Still, I couldn't help wondering what he would think. "Stay here!"

I streaked through the house and found my phone downstairs, doing my best to avoid lingering in front of any windows. Already, there was a text from my husband: WTF? DETAILS!

Back in the bedroom, Marie posed in all her naked, satisfied glory while I snapped her picture with my phone and sent it to Brett. He texted me right back:

WISH I WAS THERE. JUST GOT AN INTERESTING TEXT FROM KURT. WILL ANSR SOON.

Apparently, the boys were exchanging our pictures.

Marie and I lingered in bed, naked, for a while longer, but finally dressed. It was getting late and I had to pick up the kids from Kurt's parents soon. Marie wanted to stay and help clean up the kitchen, but I insisted she'd done enough.

"You know the guys aren't going to stop until they see us together in real life," I said.

"Good, because I can't wait for it to happen again. Are you guys free next weekend?"

"I'll see if I can get the sitter. She can probably watch all the kids again."

"That would be great. I've got the perfect plan to drive the guys crazy."

I smiled. "Oh yeah? Tell me all about it." I couldn't believe how forward I was!

"I think we should put on a little show for the boys."

"I don't know about doing a striptease or anything like that." I didn't know if I could feel sex while trying that hard.

"No, no striptease, but I do see outfits involved. I want to turn back the clock."

"Details?"

"In time. I need to get out of here, so you're going to have to trust me for now," Marie teased. I hoped she knew me well enough not to plan anything too out there.

We shared a slow, sultry kiss before she went home and I returned to my mom duties.

+++

Later, Kurt was already home when I got back from picking up the kids. I think he wanted to put them to bed that second, but we hadn't even had dinner. I played it coy when he got me alone and I made him wait until much later to talk about my afternoon. He followed me up to bed like a puppy dog, but I made him wait just a little longer while I showered. I toweled my hair dry and slipped into a little black see-through babydoll I hadn't worn in ages. I don't usually like loose stuff like that, since I put an effort into keeping in shape. But it was sheer, and not much was left to the imagination. Although it didn't come low enough to hide anything, I decided not to wear its matching panties. When I posed in the doorway, Kurt tossed his copy of Sports Illustrated into the corner of the room. I locked the door behind me and sauntered over to the bed.

"I'm sure you have some questions," I cooed, crawling onto the bed and tracing my finger up his bare chest. Kurt is muscular, but not broad, and the black hair on his chest is sparse.

"Start at the beginning and don't leave anything out," he said eagerly. He's so cute when he thinks he's going to get laid.

"Well," I started, pulling his pajama bottoms down so that his cock, already hard, sprang out. "Since my husband would rather go play with his buddies and leave his wife all alone to get ready for a big party, Marie came over to help."

I took him in my hand. He was warm and firm and twitched when I stroked him. "We took a break and got to talking about what's been going on these past few months."

"You mean the hooking up?" Kurt sat up so he could reach me and started by tracing up my arm and then rubbing my shoulder and caressing my neck. I love how he knows just the right way to touch me. It was sweet and sexy.

"That's one way to put it. After we agreed that everyone was still cool with things, we talked about what might happen in the future." Pre-cum leaked from his cock and he shook when I smeared the sticky fluid on his sensitive head. I love the velvety softness of the head of a man's cock, and I had to resist the urge to lean over and kiss it. "Talking got us both hot and we kissed."

"Where?"

"At the kitchen table. We were having coffee."

"Wow." He sounded like a teenager hearing about sex for the first time. "So did you clear the table?" His caress moved to my breast, where he coaxed my nipple to hardness through the sheer lace. Now I was the one moaning.

"No, we're civilized. We came up to the bedroom."

"And?" He hung on my every word.

"And we had some fun," I taunted. Finally, I kissed his cock, my lips spread over the head, lightly sucking while I held his shaft. I brushed my hair back and watched him, licking and sucking until I was sure he was going to lose it.

Then I stopped.

"Come on, Eve," he moaned.

"I bet you'd like Marie here with us now, wouldn't you? Maybe I'd hold you while she kissed it." I returned my lips to him.

"Ohhh...yeahhh..."

"And maybe we'd kiss while we were going down on you..."

"Eeevviieee..."

"And you wouldn't mind if we forgot about you for a little while, would you?"

"Nnnooo...go right ahead, honey."

"And after Marie had me ready, nice and wet, I'd climb on top of you just like this..."

I straddled Kurt, putting him inside me. He held my hips and moaned while I completely enveloped him. I was so wet from the little tale I was spinning and reliving my afternoon with Marie that I was more than ready. Normally, dirty talk just makes me giggle and blush, but my afternoon with Marie had left me emboldened. Gripping my hips, Kurt guided me up and down on him. We were both so ripe I knew this was not going to last.

"Uhhnn...Evvvviiiieee...ohhhhh..."

Kurt's hands cupped my breasts and I leaned forward for a kiss while our hips churned together. He clutched me in strong arms while I tightened around his cock and in moments we both came, Kurt with a cry muffled by my shoulder, me with a long, powerful gasp. I stayed on top, holding him inside me.

"I love you so much," he whispered.

"I love you too, hon. If things ever get too crazy, don't forget that."

"How crazy do you think things are going to get? Did you girls make any plans?"

"Nothing concrete, but Marie wants to get together next weekend. Is that okay?"

"Sure, I'm game." He hugged me tighter, and I gathered the extra strength needed to "hug" his cock, still half-hard inside my pussy.

"Where do you think all this is going?" I asked.

"What do you mean? We're all having fun, right? I don't know that it's going anywhere."

"I don't know. You're right, I'm sure. It's just sometimes I wonder if things will get crazy, if we'll go too far." I didn't have any solid fear, but there was this nagging feeling that, as much fun as we were having, things could go too far and someone could end up hurt or jealous.

Kurt chuckled, clearly unconcerned. "I don't know how much further we could go. I mean, you and Brett, me and Marie, we've pretty much done it all."

"Yeah, I know, but what if they did want to have a threesome and asked me to come over sometime, without you?"

"I don't know. That would be weird. I know I would be jealous, unless there was reciprocation. Is that on the table?" He sounded excited again, which bothered me. I rolled off of him and onto my side, looking at him with my head propped on my hand.

"So you'd be okay if I just went over there to sleep with Marie and Brett?"

"I don't know if 'okay' is the right word, but if it's something you wanted, and you're okay with it, then I'd be okay with it – as long as I wasn't left out. I'm sure I would be pacing until you came home."

That last part made me feel better. "It's just something Marie mentioned, but don't hold your breath. I'm not sure I'm up for it."

Kurt stroked my hair back from my face. "Listen, Eve. Don't ever feel pressured to do anything you don't want to. I love you, and I just want you to be happy. If this little thing we have going with Marie and Brett stops being fun, tell me, and it's over."

"Okay."

"And if I have a problem with anything, I will let you know. I'm sure I'd be jealous if Brett had both you girls, but I would get mine, trust me."

"That's the man I married," I laughed.

"And if you and Marie want to spend another afternoon together, feel free. And remember, you're phone shoots video, too."

"You're a funny, funny man. Push it, and I'll use that with Brett!"

"That might be interesting..." He read my shocked expression and added, "Well, I am a little curious, that's normal, right?"

I laughed at his use of normal. "Sure, I guess. Do you want to see us?"

"I don't know, but I am curious. Maybe I would want to run from the room. Or maybe it would be hot and I'd pounce on Marie, I just don't know."

I kissed him. "Then maybe we won't go off to separate rooms so quickly next time," I said.

"Speaking of next time, I want to know when I get to see you and Marie together in person. Pictures just aren't enough."

"Funny you should mention that. Marie has a plan and I arranged for your parents to have the kids this Saturday night."

Kurt arched an eyebrow. "What kind of plan?"

"I'm not sure, she was short on details."

"Well, knowing her, I don't doubt it will be a good one."

"We'll see," I said, apprehension creeping up my spine as I pondered what the outrageous redhead had in mind.

+++

“Where did you find that? Has it been in your closet all this time?” I asked. I was sure I hadn’t seen anything like Marie’s outfit in close to fifteen years. It made me feel less ridiculous, dressed as I was.

“I found it in a vintage clothing shop. How depressing is that?”

“Yeah, it’s better not to think about that.” Clothing we wore as teenagers was considered vintage? Wow. I wasn’t feeling old at thirty-two, but hearing things like that give you pause.

“I’m very impressed that still fits you. I told you it would. You look fucking hot, hon,” Marie said, giving me the lusty appraisal that usually comes from a man.

“Thanks, I guess.”

I don’t know if my old parochial school uniform really fit. At least, it didn’t fit the same way it did back when I was in high school. Back in those days I would roll up the navy blue-checked kilt until it only came to mid-thigh, but yesterday I’d hemmed it to be that short. Both that skirt, and the crisp white blouse, translucent in the light, fit more snugly than they did back in the day. I’m still trim, but back then I’d really had no curves at all. I was stick-pin skinny. It’s only since I’ve had the kids that my butt’s filled out and my breasts have plumped up a bit, much to Kurt’s joy. I suppose I could see how a guy would think I looked hot -- isn’t it a cliché for guys at this point? But looking in the mirror now, I thought I just looked like a woman in her thirties trying to look like a schoolgirl.

“Where did you find it?” Marie asked me.

Marie had a foot up on the bed, as she pulled on a black stocking that came an inch or so above the knee. I’ll admit, in her burgundy velvet tank dress and stockings, with black clogs, she did look like she’d stepped right out of 1995. The dress sculpted to her curves, but flared out to a loose, very short skirt. The buttons on the bodice were strained to the breaking point. Her russet locks were curled and teased out, and the heavy makeup was very 1990s. Any boy looking at the expanse of creamy thighs exposed between the hem of her dress and her stockings would pass out. I knew Kurt would go crazy for her. The boys waited for us downstairs.

“It was in a box in my parents’ attic,” I answered. “When I went to my parents’ house, I told my mom I was looking for something else. I stuffed this in my bag so she couldn’t see what I was really there for. I didn’t feel like explaining why I needed my old school uniform.”

“It’s not the right time of year for a Halloween party,” Marie said.

“Trust me. I would not wear this out of the house.” I sat on the bed and pulled on the white knee socks I’d just bought. I even had the blue and white saddle oxfords I’d have worn to school. The only difference was, in high school, the girls usually wore boxers under our crazy short skirts. It came in handy on windy days, and I liked to wear a tank top under that thin shirt. But tonight, there was nothing proper under my uniform.

“You’ve got to loosen up a little if you’re going to have fun with this, Eve.”

"Don't you feel a little silly trying to look like a teenager again?" I asked.

"No, because I'm not really trying to do that. I just want to give our husbands a fantasy I'm sure they had back then. It'll be awesome if you would just play along."

“Playing along” was never my strong suit, but I gave her a forced smile and reached for the bottle of Jamison’s I brought up to the bedroom. The burn as it went down felt good, and the ensuing haze blurred my nerves. "Okay, you're the boss," I said.

"And don't forget it," Marie answered. "You about ready?"

I tied my other shoe and pronounced, "As ready as I'm going to get."

The boys were waiting for us in the basement, where Brett had set up his mancave. He'd built a bar into the one side, and the other held two deep black leather recliners and a matching sofa, which formed a "V" that faced a huge flatscreen on the wall. I recognized the techno music that thumped up from the basement as being from an Xbox game. All they knew was that we had a surprise for them. Marie and I held hands as we descended to the guys. Their backs were to us and the loud music masked the creak of the wooden steps, so they weren't aware of our arrival until Marie stepped in front of the television.

"Hey, watch it..." Kurt started, but as he took the redhead in, words failed him. It took all of two seconds for him to forget about his video game.

"I was wondering when you guys were finally going to come down," Brett said, checking out his sexy wife before looking over at me. I felt the blush burn my cheeks as his eyes climbed my body. I was sure he was going to think I looked silly, but his smile told me different. "Damn, Evie, you look awesome, but isn't it the wrong season for trick-or-treating?"

"Very funny," I said, summoning false bravado. "If you're not good, there'll be no treats tonight."

Marie bent forward, giving my husband a great view of her cleavage before she kissed him. He grinned like a goofball, lips smeared with her deep red lipstick.

"Remember back in school when you boys wondered what girls did at a sleepover?" Marie asked.

"Are you guys going to have a pillow fight?" Kurt asked eagerly.

I thought that was kind of funny, because I didn't do sleepovers like that back when I was a teenager. I was friends with all the guys. We spent our nights hanging out in the woods or some other secret haunt where we could get drunk and stoned. They were great times, and I still have some of those friends. But I was one of only a couple girls, and there certainly were no pillow fights or anyone brushing each other's hair. I didn't know Marie back then, but I couldn't imagine Marie being the giggly-good-girl type, confirmed it when I asked her out this insane plan.

"We painted each other's nails, sure, but we also got hammered on Boone's Farm and if we couldn't sneak our boyfriends in we broke into my dad's porn collection. My mother was clueless," she'd said.

"Didn't you girls used to practice kissing on each other?" Brett asked.

"Maybe," Marie said, trying to sound coy.

I moved over to stand beside her in front of the guys. She slid her arm behind my waist and I did the same. "We used to talk about how you boys were insane if you thought we were going to sleep with you," I said, my lips quirking in a smile.

"Okay then, but why did you pull your skirts so short if you didn't want our attention, Evie?" Brett asked, staring at my legs.

"I didn't say we didn't want your attention. I just said we weren't going to give it up."

"So you're basically teases?" Kurt asked. "That's not fair at all." My husband, handsome now, was cute as hell as a teenager. He's not any taller than I am, but he's always been an athlete and in great shape. He keeps his black hair closely-cropped now, mostly for convenience. He could have had all the girls he wanted in high school, but he was shy and only dated one girl all through high school. When we met in college, I became his second girlfriend.

"Do you really think I'm just a tease?" Marie challenged.

"Why practice kissing then?" Kurt asked.

"Maybe we just like it," I answered.

I took the reins and kissed Marie. With my eyes closed and that dreadful music pulsing in the background, I forgot my silly outfit and Marie's dumb game. I licked her lips and she parried by pushing her tongue past mine. While our tongues dueled, she grabbed my butt and I felt her pulling my skirt up to expose the little pink panties I wore under it. One of her shoulder straps fell down over my hand, which rested on Marie's arm, but her dress was so tight it didn't need the straps to keep it in place. When our kiss finished, the Jamison's wasn't the only thing warming my body.

We came up for air and the boys stared at us, slack jawed. Kurt gripped his beer bottle like he was going to crush it and Brett was smiling like he'd gotten the best present ever. He's ruggedly handsome and I'm sure that smile has gotten many a girl out of her clothes. Brett's tall and broad. His work as a contractor gave him a strong, hard body.

"I'd call that one hell of a tease," Brett said, shifting in his chair. "You sure you girls aren't just trying to drive us crazy?"

"Not at all," I replied. My heart was racing from kissing Marie, and the way the guys looked at us made me feel so sexy and daring. It was like I could step outside myself and be someone else, confident and brazen. "Just because I said we weren't ready to give it up back then, that doesn't mean we left you boys high and dry."

"Yeah, she was no prude, my friend," Kurt laughed.

"Hey, that's your wife you're talking about," Marie said.

"Exactly! I know all her deep dark secrets."

"So you were a technical virgin?" Brett asked.

"I didn't say I was any kind of virgin. I'm just saying that there are other ways of making a boy happy than just spreading your legs," I answered.

I knew Marie's plan was to get it on in front of the boys and then give them some relief once they'd begged for it, but I just couldn't help myself. I was fully into my new bad girl role and wanted to give Brett taste of what was to come. After another, brief, hot kiss with Marie, I went down on my knees in front of her husband and tugged on his belt. With his help, I got Brett's jeans and black boxer briefs around his ankles. His stony shaft sprang up and I took him in hand, while smiling sweetly up at him, trying my best to look the innocent schoolgirl. I leaned forward to lick his smooth crown and pushed my braided ponytail back over my shoulder.

"Shit, Evie, no virgin knows how to do that," Brett moaned.

"Practice does make perfect, I guess."

I smiled and focused on my task. My tongue darted over that little cleft just under the cockhead and Brett shivered. He moaned my name and stroked my hair. I licked lower and lower, while holding that thick shaft in the air so I could get everywhere. As I returned to the top and sucked on the head, I saw Kurt out of the corner of my eye.

For a second, I froze in my tracks. I didn't know what to make of the look on my husband's face. We'd never really fooled around so openly right in front of each other. The first time we were with Marie and Brett, we necked like teenagers in the living room, but we were both more focused on our partners than watching each other. Kurt did watch me kiss another man at the Christmas party, but this was so different. He sat there, a few feet away, and watched me go down on another man. Marie watched too, not even trying to distract him. I know we'd talked about maybe doing more in the same room, but now that the moment was here, and I was the one taking the initiative, I wasn't so sure. I'm usually not a girl who likes an audience anyway. And when I realized my audience was my husband, it just felt bizarre. He didn't look angry or jealous, but what must he be thinking? Did he think I was a tramp because I was so into getting Brett off? My stomach was in knots and I had to get it together if I wasn't going to lose my nerve.

"God, Evie, don't stop," Brett whimpered, nudging me forward.

The only thing I could do was close my eyes and block out everything but the cock in front of me. I sucked his head and swirled my tongue. Brett's hips flexed forward instinctively, and I took more of him. The thumping music helped me block out everything else. I just focused on pleasing Brett. It did help that giving head is one of my favorite things. It always has been. For one thing, I'm a people pleaser, and there's not much more pleasing than giving head. For another, I love the control. I love making a man weak in the knees, showing him that I've got his number.

Nothing compares to that feeling of knowing you have a big, strong man in the palm of your hand.

In Brett's case, it was both hands. I stroked the base of his shaft, where I hadn't reached, and I cradled his balls in my other hand. By relaxing my throat, I took him deeper and deeper, but he was too big for me to swallow wholly. Now that it was just me and him, I opened my eyes and gave him my best smoldering look.

"Shit, Evie...oh god..." Brett gasped, raising his hips from the recliner and holding my head. I let him set the pace for a second, but I was not about to let him cum yet. This was just a taste. When I knew I had him at the edge, I pulled back and licked my lips. "You can't stop now!" he cried.

"Maybe I can. I am a tease after all," I chuckled.

Kurt and Marie had not just stood by and watched after all. She was in his lap and they were making out like we weren't even there. Her dress was up over her butt, which filled Kurt's grabbing hands. While it was hard for me to be watched, I felt a thrill seeing them together. Maybe it's because I've never seen much porn, except to drunkenly mock it as a teenager. It had never even occurred to me until now that I have a voyeuristic streak. I only discovered it when I first saw Kurt and Marie together and my heart raced. I was curious to find out how it would feel if we were all in the same room together -- for everything.

Time to get on with the show, I thought and pushed up from the floor. I tapped Marie on the shoulder and when she looked up, I leaned down and kissed her, feeling Kurt's hot breath on my cheek while I raked my fingers through Marie's hair. He touched my back and I felt a charge, like he'd completed a circuit. I pulled her from his lap and over to the loveseat, going down on my back.

Marie's russet locks tumbled down around us and I pushed them back so the boys could watch us kissing. Her knee was between my thighs. Her flesh felt cool while mine felt like it was burning. Slim fingers, topped with red-painted nails, deftly flicked open the buttons on my blouse. I pulled at her dress straps, but the tight velvet did not want to peel down over her breasts. I pushed up and Marie sat back on her heels. I pulled my blouse free of the skirt, but let it hang on me instead of shedding it. Her big breasts mashed in my hands and the thick nubs of her nipples pressed through the thin velvet. I found the zipper on the side of her dress and pulled it halfway down. The stretched dress sprang open and dropped, its useless straps hanging on her arms. I heard one of the guys gasp, but didn't look over to see who. I was still trying to block out their presence. It was bad enough that the driving videogame music made it feel like we were shooting an amateur porn movie down there in the basement.

"Mmm, Eve," Marie murmured when I dove into her cleavage. As I knew she was no shrinking violet, I was not gentle. I left a trail of little bite marks on her pale, freckle flesh, moving ever lower. Cupped in both hands, her breasts jiggled as she moved, trying to get her thick, pink nipples into my mouth. I tried to tease her with my tongue, but Marie seemed intent on suffocating me if I didn't do as she demanded, so I sucked hard, flicking with my front teeth until she cried out. I kept up my oral assault of her breasts, guided by Marie's satisfied sounds, rather than what I like, which is something more gentle and sensual. She kept my face buried at her bosom, while she pulled off my shirt with her free hand. I was disrobing her too.

While trying to push a hand up her dress, I forced it up over her curvy hips. When I reached her silky panties, they were drenched.

Marie fought me, but I pushed her onto her back, riding her down so I was lying between her legs. Pulled down and pushed up, her velvet dress was bunched around her middle and covering nothing important. I felt exposed too. My tight butt was high in the air and the short kilt barely covered it. Brett later told me that he couldn't keep his eyes off my little pink panties. Speaking of panties, I quickly relieved Marie of hers and threw them over at the guys. A peek told me Kurt caught them, and I saw both guys literally on the edge of their seats as they vied for the best possible angle. Kurt had the advantage, as he was in the closer recliner.

My bra strap snapped painfully across my back as I pulled it out of Marie's reach. She wanted my bra off, and I wanted to be lower on her body. But honestly, I also felt better remaining covered with our audience sitting right there. Everyone in the room had seen me naked, so yes, I know it was a silly thing. But it felt right just the same. The hot, humid scent of Marie's aroused sex hit me as I pushed her legs back and kissed her shaved mound. I don't mind tasting myself, in fact I like it, but the few times I've been with other women it's always taken me a moment to get used to the strong taste of someone else. Luckily, I enjoyed Marie's, closed my eyes and dove in without hesitation. Her tart juices covered my lips as my tongue darted inside her and I kissed and sucked her tender flesh. Marie's cries soon drowned out the videogame music and all I could hear was her shouting my name. She came so quickly the first time we were together, and I didn't think that would make for a great show for the boys. I worked my tongue to hit all of her hot spots, but didn't pay too much attention to her clit, not until she started pleading for it. I pushed two slender fingers inside her, curving them to find her g-spot.

"Ahhh...Evvveee...that's it....ahhhh...yesss...pleeeaassee..." Marie wailed.

Hearing Marie plead like that was exciting and I felt myself getting hotter. When I squeezed my legs together I could feel just how wet I was. I ached to be touched. Is it wrong that my first thought was I wanted Brett to just take me, and not my husband? I could imagine a scene where Brett moved in behind me and fucked me while I went down on his wife. I felt so depraved. I finally stopped teasing and sucked on Marie's clit while rubbing her g-spot in little circles and she screamed to the heavens. She howled my name and pulled painfully on my ponytail as she forced her hips up at my face. I noisily slurped at her juices and I think I could have made her climax again if she hadn't stopped me.

"God...oh god...Eve..." she panted. We shared a deep kiss and this time, she did unhook my bra. I shrugged out of it and she tossed it aside. While we kissed, we turned and I was on my back on the warm, soft black leather she'd just peeled away from.

"Your tits are so perfect, Eve. So cute and perky. No wonder the guys love them so much," she cooed, cupped my tits and showering them with kisses.

Her lips felt so good on my skin and I could have let her do that all day if I weren't so horny already. I was in no mood for foreplay, no matter how good it felt. I just needed to climax. And it wouldn't take much. If my nipples were more sensitive, would have even done it. I like them gently played with, and Marie was doing a great job with her pillowy lips and eager tongue, but they aren't super-sensitive. I nudged her shoulder and hoped she'd get the message.

Marie rolled my panties down and I raised my legs straight in the air for her to pull them off. I spread my legs in a wide V as I brought them down and then wrapped them around Marie's shoulders. Happily, she did not tease as I did, but flicked her tongue at my clit perfectly. But she had a great teacher. Her husband is one of the best guys at going down I've ever been with.

My head rested on the arm of the couch and I stared down at Marie while she flicked her tongue like a dervish. I bit my lip, but my gasping moan came anyway, just as I did within seconds of Marie licking my clit. I knew the guys were watching intensely and I was instantly embarrassed at how easily I came, even though they both had firsthand experience with that. I closed my eyes and curled forward, wrapping around Marie.

A jolt of mainline pleasure raced up my spine when she made me orgasm again. My muscles tensed, and I might have crushed her if she'd kept going. My eyes were squeezed shut and I didn't know the guys were done watching until there were hands pulling at me, lifting me away from the couch.

Brett swept me into his strong arms and carried me toward the steps, until I whispered, "No, right here." He looked surprised, but stopped. Instead, he set me down on the steps and I went right for his pants. Just past him, I could see Marie tearing at Kurt's clothes.

Sticky precum leaked from the tip of his cock and I made a show of licking it clean before sucking him deep in my mouth. He shed his shirt, then held my head while I bobbed back and forth. It was just a quick tease.

We were both tense with sexual energy and neither of us was interested in wasting time.

"Christ, Evie that was the hottest thing I've ever seen. You girls are so fucking hot," he marveled. "God, I've got to fuck you, like right now."

I pulled back and wiped my lips on the back of my hand. "I thought you'd never ask." I kicked off my silly white sneakers and pulled at my kilt, but Brett stopped me.

"No, leave it all on," he commanded.

"You dirty pervert," I giggled.

"You're the dirty schoolgirl. I'm just giving you what you've been asking for."

I leaned on my elbows and he lifted me into his arms. I reached between us, found his shaft and fit it against me.

"Oh really?" I asked. "Ohhhh..." I moaned. He penetrated me with one thrust. It was so easy for him because I was so wet. He backed me against the wall and held my butt. I locked my legs around his waist. Brett lifted me until I feared he would slip out, and then he slammed me back down on his cock. God, it was breathtaking. His simple strength was so sexy. He handled my body like it was nothing and took me effortlessly. I came again so easily. He just kept bouncing me on his cock, even as I locked my muscles around him.

"Fuck Evie...you feel so fucking good," he grunted, looking from my bouncing breasts to my wide eyes. If I had the power when he was in my mouth, he was in complete control now. I reached up and grabbed a rafter as he bounced me harder and harder on his cock. I felt like a toy for his pleasure.

I could hear Kurt and Marie, but could not see them from the bottom of the steps, not at first, but then I looked at the bar and realized I could see the whole room in the mirror behind the bar. I loved Brett's mancave! I saw our reflection by the wall, then Kurt and Marie. She had one knee on the loveseat and a foot on the floor. Kurt was behind her, slamming away. She yelped when he smacked her butt and grinned back over her shoulder.

"Fuck! Fuck me! Fuck Kurt!" Marie howled.

It was perfect. I could see Kurt and Marie, but they really couldn't see us. I loved watching them fuck. The voyeuristic thrill lit up every nerve in my body. It was the perfect companion to sex with Brett. I had never felt so alive or so sexual in my entire life. It was the evening's most perfect moment.

Brett turned and walked us over to the bar, incredibly keeping inside me the entire time. When he set me down, he violently turned me and I grabbed the edge of the bar as he bent me forward. My kilt was flipped up over my waist as I hoisted my butt in the air and he was inside me again. I rested my head on the bar, but Brett yanked my ponytail, forcing my head up. I could see Kurt and Marie in the mirror and I saw Brett watching my face as he took me. God, it was intense.

"You really like watching them, don't you?" Brett growled in my ear.

He'd come to know me so well, from the way he handled my body to the way he read my expression. I couldn't lie. "Yes," I gasped. And admitting it pushed me over the edge again. It was my strongest orgasm of the night. My grip on the bar turned my knuckles ivory and I went rigid as an iron bar. I locked around Brett so tightly that he was trapped inside me. He pulled my braid so hard that I cried out in pain. Then I felt him cumming inside me as he moaned my name. He swept me into a bear hug from behind as his cock slipped out of me. I turned in his arms and we kissed with the crazed intensity of long-parted lovers. I was so focused I hardly noticed Marie screaming that she was cumming.

Brett and I were locked in that embrace for quite some time. I didn't trust myself to let go until my heart stopped pounding. When we finally pulled apart, he sat on the recliner away from the loveseat and I sat in his lap, demurely smoothing my kilt over my lap. I'd even found my bra and put it back on. Kurt and Marie were entwined on the loveseat, neither worried about covering themselves. Watching them sit so intimately like that wasn't the same as watching them have sex. I felt a sudden pang of jealousy, but pushed it down. Brett's arm was around me and I played with his chest hair, so who was I to be jealous? But it was good to know I could still feel a "normal" emotion.

"So I guess you boys liked our show?" Marie asked.

"It was worth the wait," Kurt said.

"The costumes were a nice touch," Brett said, kissing my cheek.

"That was all your wife. I felt silly," I said.

"You didn't look silly, babe. I wish I knew you had that laying around," Kurt said from across the room.

"Maybe if you're nice you'll see it again sometime."

"I don't know about you guys, but I want to get out of this stuff and take a hot shower." Marie stood and pulled her dress off, leaving the stockings on. "Anyone care to join me?"

"Who could turn that down?" Kurt replied, hopping to his feet.

"Anyone else?" she asked, looking right at me.

"You guys go ahead," I replied.

Kurt and Marie left hand in hand. I found the remote nearby and finally turned off that damned music. "Finally! Some quiet!"

"I kind of liked the soundtrack," Brett chuckled, pulling me back into his lap.

"I think music and sex go together great, but not that music," I said.

"You'll have to give me a playlist then."

I laughed. "Music to fuck Eve by?"

"Why not?"

"I'll whip up a mix for your iPod."

He wanted to kiss and I couldn't resist. It was actually nice to just sit in his lap and slowly kiss, even if he was naked. There was not much kissing in all that frantic action, and Brett is a very good kisser.

"How long do you think those two will be?" he asked.

"A while, probably."

"And what should we do to kill the time?"

I let him remove my bra and purred when he turned his attention to my breasts. I was not in a rush anymore, and enjoyed his tender touch. His tongue made my nipples achingly hard again, and his hand under my kilt made me gasp. Brett worked me with his fingers until I thought I would climax again, and then I straddled him.

Our coupling was slow and passionate this time. I rose and fell on him with the easy rhythm of my breathing. We kissed and I moved faster, then we slowed when I leaned all the way back with his hands supporting me. We ground together. At that languid pace, we enjoyed each other. When we both finally came, we hugged tightly and I kept his throbbing cock inside me.

Later, I changed back into the jeans and t-shirt I'd arrived in, Kurt and I walked back across the cul du sac to our home, hand-in-hand. We barely spoke as we undressed in our bedroom and made love, as had become our custom after an encounter with Marie and Brett. Neither of us came, but that wasn't the point. It was the closeness. As my husband held me in the wee hours of the morning, I fell asleep with a contented smile on my lips.

Kirsten McCurran lives in the suburbs with her husband, young children and a dog named Jake. She lives out her vivid fantasy life through her writing.