

with temptation,
sometimes it's better
to just give in.

sam
surrenders
to the neighbors

— book one —

kirsten mccurran

sam surrenders to the neighbors

Book One

kirsten mcurran

contents

Chapter 1

Chapter 2

Chapter 3

Chapter 4

Chapter 5

Chapter 6

Chapter 7

Chapter 8

Sam Surrenders to the Neighbors: Book Two

Magic Hands

Carol's Trinity

Sexy Tumbles

Gentrified

Stephanie's Hotwife Seduction

About the Author

one

. . .

“IS THAT WHAT YOU’RE WEARING TO THE NEIGHBORS?”

Sam looks down at her cute, lightweight sundress and back at me. “What’s wrong with this? It’s summer. It’s hot outside. What should I be wearing?”

I see she’s annoyed that I’ve questioned her outfit choice, so I wisely shut it, but it’s difficult to hold my tongue. Sam doesn’t look bad, and that’s the problem. She looks fantastic. She looks hot. The short dress drapes over her petite curves perfectly, presenting Sam’s body like it’s a sexy gift waiting to be unwrapped.

On top of wearing a lightweight, floral print sundress that doesn’t leave much to the imagination, Sam is obviously braless. Her perky tits jiggle with every move, and her chilly nips poke through the dress in our air-conditioned house. I hope they’ll be less obvious in the humid outdoors. I know Sam hates wearing bras, but the choice to skip her bra in such a light dress when we’re spending the evening with the neighbors is odd. I usually love it when my wife dresses in a cute, revealing dress like that, but not tonight because I suspect it isn’t for me, and that’s my problem with it. We’re about to head out to neighbors, and I think the cute outfit is for Hank.

I’ve always known my wife has a thing for old guys. I’m five years older than her, but I mean really older guys. She told me that when she was eighteen and working in a restaurant, she blew her married, thirty-six-year-old manager in his office one night after closing. It turned into an affair where he'd take her to a local, sleazy hourly motel and fuck her silly a couple of times a week. She slept with another married, older boss at another job. Let's just say Sam has a type. But that was all before we met. I never saw it in action until we moved into our new house and met the neighbors.

We bought a three-bedroom house in a quiet neighborhood that had room for Sam's two kids from her previous marriage and was in a great school district. I think I'm a decent stepdad, but I'm not gonna lie. It's nice that her ex has the kids every weekend, and we can make plans to do whatever we please. Increasingly, that's become hanging out with Hank and Tina, the couple who live across the street.

Hank and Tina DeSimone are a great couple. The kind of neighbors you wish for. Tina brought us a lasagna the week we moved in, telling us she remembered what it was like when life is consumed by unpacking right after a move.

I'm not the handiest guy in the world, but Hank is a union carpenter, and he's always been there to pitch in when something in the house needs work that's beyond my modest skills. We do whatever favors we can in return. Sam takes Hank a case of his favorite beer every time he helps me out, and she's swapped gardening tips with Tina. Hank and Tina invited us over for a cookout about a month ago, and we all had such a great time that it's become a regular thing.

The DeSimones are older than us, but that's made no difference. We get along like we've been friends forever. Besides, I swear they have more energy than we do despite the years they have on us. Hank is sixty, but with his physical job and early morning gym runs he's in way better shape than I am at forty-eight. Tina is a couple of years younger than Hank, but she's also in phenomenal shape. Tina has a trim body and amazing tits, which I'm pretty sure are fake, but I don't care. Real or fake, they're fun to look at, which I do every time I think I can get away with it. Tina is quite a looker. She's a silver fox—she keeps it in a sexy pixie cut—with sparkling green eyes and a warm, mischievous smile. I've never really been attracted to older women, but Tina is an exception to that rule. I only hope Sam holds up as well as Tina, but I don't have any worries on that front.

Turning forty hit Sam's confidence hard, and she doubled down on her fitness routine. I'm proud to say that after a couple of years, she's in the best shape of her life. My wife has a round ass, but it's nice and firm, her tummy is tight, and her tits are still high and perky. She keeps a couple of dark burgundy streaks in her dark brunette hair to show that she isn't just a typical suburban mom. But then, anyone who catches a peek of her tramp stamp—a “mistake” from her youth—can see that.

It's been over the course of those backyard cookouts that I've seen my wife's crush on Hank develop. I don't worry much about it. I know Sam loves me, and Hank and Tina are obviously happily married. I've never seen a man adore a woman the way Hank does Tina. Sam isn't going to run off with Hank. And I've enjoyed checking out Tina, so who am I to criticize? Sam tells me I'm insane when I tease her about having a crush on our hot, older neighbor, but I think she's defensive because I've struck a nerve.

One night I whispered that I bet she wished it was Hank in bed with her, not me. Sam moaned a denial, but I felt her pussy tighten around me. I pressed on, teasing that she'd love Hank to do her dirty the way her boss used to. Sam stopped denying it and closed her eyes with a sharp moan. I kept whispering to her about all the filthy things she wanted Hank to do to her, and when Sam had a wailing orgasm, I knew I was right. It was a fun little game for both of us, which confused me. I didn't understand why my wife fantasizing about fucking another man turned me on, too. My own motivations may have been confusing, but I still wasn't concerned about Sam's crush. It was just a fun fantasy to play with in bed when I wanted to really rile her up. At least, that's how I felt until I noticed that Hank was openly flirting with my wife.

I never thought about it, but we did have a weird dynamic with the DeSimones. I'm not much of a grill guy, which means I'm useless for typical male bonding with Hank over steaks. Sam handles the backyard grill at our house, which turned into her hanging out with Hank at the grill or going inside to help marinate his meat, while I hung out with Tina like I was one of the wives.

Luckily, I don't have much of a macho male ego to bruise, and Tina is delightful company. But our dynamic was turned upside down. It's funny, I know Hank likes me, but I can't help feeling sometimes that Hank smirks at my lack of manliness. I try not to take it personally because if I were in his shoes, I might feel the same way. But Hank is the kind of guy you want to like you, and deep down I wish he saw me as a masculine equal. I know I would only get in the way, but I want to be the one bonding with Hank over steaks and ribs.

I try not to focus too much on all that because I'm more than thrilled with Tina's company. Her deep emerald eyes pull me in, and her acerbic wit keeps me laughing. I've been so captivated by Tina that it took a bit for me to notice Hank aggressively flirting with my wife.

Sam is a beautiful woman. I'm used to men noticing her and even flirting with her. I usually just take it as a compliment because I don't see those random guys as a threat. Sam isn't going to run off with some random dude. But it feels different with Hank. I'm not threatened because he's charming, which he is. It strikes a chord because it feels disrespectful that he's doing it right in front of me, but more importantly because I see Sam eating it up. Hank is my wife's kryptonite. He's fit, rugged, charismatic, confident, and older. Subconsciously, I realize those are all things I am not.

When it really wormed its way into my brain, I had that aha! moment where I wondered what Sam was doing with me if Hank was her type.

Hank always tells Sam how great she looks when we first arrive at their house, which is accompanied by a quick kiss and hugs that seem to linger longer and longer. The compliments on her appearance became more specific the more familiar we all became. Hank told Sam how great her legs looked in shorts, which led to her pulling out her old, shorter shorts from the back of her drawer—and that led to Hank telling her what a great ass she has. She would beam when he told her how all her time at the gym was paying off, and she wore tighter, more revealing outfits to the neighbors' house.

Shorts and a tight tank top became flirty little summer dresses like the one she chose for tonight. But this is the first time she's skipped her bra. I gave Sam the same compliments as Hank, but they don't have the same impact. Hank will invite Sam into the house, and she'll follow him inside, giggling, while I'm left outside with Tina. I don't understand why it doesn't bother Tina. Tina laughed when Hank told Sam how tight her body was and agreed with him.

We cross the street to the DeSimones' house, and I stay a few steps behind Sam to admire her ass in that short dress. It's not snug on her butt, but it really does drape it perfectly. She carries a pasta salad she prepared, and I have a bottle of wine. We don't ring the doorbell but go right through the gate in the vinyl privacy fence. They're already outside, and Tina takes the pasta salad from Sam so Hank can pull her into a tight hug. He's tall and built, making my petite wife look tiny in his arms. He plants a kiss on her cheek that's dangerously close to her lips.

"Bring that wine inside, dear," Tina tells me. I swear she smiles seeing Sam in Hank's arms. "We can open it right up. And I want to slip this salad into the fridge anyway."

I'm uneasy leaving Sam alone outside with Hank, but I follow Tina. I tell myself I'm crazy. If Tina doesn't have a problem with what's happening, why do I? Am I just becoming a jealous prick? Tina hands me a corkscrew in the kitchen, and we make small talk while I open the wine. I pour myself a large glass, thinking I'll need it to get through tonight.

Hank and Sam are by the grill when we emerge onto the back deck. Somehow, she has a beer already, like he had it waiting for her. He leans in close, his hand on the small of her back, and whispers something to her. As I'm about to go over and join them, Tina beckons me to sit with her at the large, round, glass-topped table in the corner. I throw a last look at our spouses as I join her.

"I must be terrible company, Corey. It seems like you can't get away from me fast enough," Tina jokes.

"Sorry, Tina. I'm just too much in my head tonight."

"Well, get out of it! You haven't even told me how nice I look."

I take it as an invitation to openly ogle her, rather than my usual habit of sneaking glances at her body. A white knit top clings to her huge orbs, and her thick nipples make me wonder if she's braless like Sam. If she is, those things have to be fake because they are absolutely perfect. Little black shorts show off both her long legs and her heart-shaped ass. Her feet are even perfect, with pretty pastel-painted nails that match her fingernails. She is a woman who pampers herself. Tina is in amazing shape and could pass for ten years younger. Of course, I prefer my wife, but if I had a woman like Tina, I don't know that I'd be flirting as hard with the neighbor's wife as Hank does with Sam.

"You look incredible, Tina, but I think you already know that."

"Maybe," she concedes, smiling. "But it's still nice to hear."

I glance back at our spouses, huddled too close by the grill. Hank has the lid open and is turning the steaks. "Sam clearly loves a compliment," I snark.

“And I’m sure she gets a lot of them. Your Samantha is a hot number, Corey. But it doesn’t really bother you that Hank compliments her, does it?” Tina is the only person I know of—besides her mother—who calls my wife by her full name.

“I think it’s crossed the line from compliments. I swear he’s flirting with her.”

“Hank just likes to dote on pretty girls. I wouldn’t let it bother you, Corey. It’s his way, that’s all. And Samantha doesn’t seem to mind it. I bet she sees him as a father figure.”

I snort. I know damn well my wife doesn’t see Hank as a father figure, but I don’t admit that to Tina. Her utter lack of concern makes me loop back around to thinking I’m being paranoid. Rather than argue with Tina and ruin the evening, I let it go and change the topic.

The steaks are excellent, as always. Sam’s pasta salad is also delicious, and the fresh corn Tina prepared is sweet and crisp. It’s perfect summer backyard barbeque food. Sam sits beside me at the table, and everything feels normal. She kisses me and holds my hand when she finishes eating. We’re all back to just being friends, like ordinary neighbors enjoying a night together.

My jealousy recedes and I start feeling good as I start into my third large glass of wine. But not as good as Sam. I haven’t been tracking her consumption, but I know she’s had more than a few beers. She’s not drunk by any means, but she’s at that comfortable cruising altitude where she gets this lilt to her voice making her sound like she’s constantly amused, and her mischievous side comes out. Sam is a lot of fun when she drinks because her inhibitions drop away. I always make sure to keep an eye on her when we’re at a party.

“Could you help me bring the plates inside, Corey?” Tina asks.

I know it makes me sound like a neanderthal, but it irks me that she asks me and not Sam. Once again, I’m relegated to the wife role, while Sam is free to hang out with Hank like she’s one of the guys. But I’m not going to be rude and say no.

“Of course,” I reply, gathering my and Sam’s dishes.

Following Tina into the house, I realize I’m more buzzed than I thought. I need to slow down on the wine. I hit it hard early in the evening when I was annoyed by whatever it is between Hank and Sam. And now that those thoughts are back in my head, I wonder what our spouses are up to outside while we’re in the kitchen doing the dishes. I know nothing is happening, but I still feel like Hank is taking advantage of his one-on-one time with my wife while Tina and I are busy in the house. It occurs to me that Sam and I need to break away from this new routine with the DeSimones. I’m going to suggest that we go away next weekend, just the two of us. We could get an Airbnb up in the mountains.

“You’re a great helper, Corey. Samantha is very lucky to have such a thoughtful husband.”

“I think she would beg to differ. I try, but I know she doesn’t think I do enough around the house.”

“Does any man? Hank is wonderful, and he takes such good care of me, but he is still a man, and he likes having his woman take care of him. But don’t all men?”

“I suppose we do. But Sam and I have a pretty modern relationship. I don’t feel like she has to take care of me.”

Tina hugs my arm and rubs my shoulder. “You really are a gem, Corey. I can see why she fell for you.”

“I appreciate that, Tina. I can see why Hank fell for you, too.”

I can’t help myself and let my eyes drift over her curves. Tina smiles like she expects it and likes the attention. I’ve always suspected that she’s aware of my attraction to her and is amused by it.

“It was totally mutual, dear. I knew I wanted to be with Hank the first time we met. Did I tell you he used to be in a hair metal band back in the ‘80s? He played the bass. All the girls in the clubs were throwing themselves at him. He’s just like that. Women are drawn to him. But I was determined to make him mine. Those other bitches didn’t stand a chance.”

Tina’s laugh is musical, and I join in, trying to picture Hank with long, teased-out ‘80s metal hair. I’m sure he had his pick of the groupies back then, but I get why Tina stood out from the crowd.

“Well, he’s the lucky one, Tina. And don’t let him forget it.”

“You really are the sweetest,” she replies, leaning up to kiss me on the cheek. If I thought she had any real interest, I’d swear Tina is flirting with me.

two

. . .

WE RETURN TO THE BACKYARD TO FIND SAM AND HANK HAVE wandered off the deck. They've moved to the rear of the yard, where Hank built a rock garden with a bubbling fountain. The wooden bench in the middle of the rock garden is tiny, and from the deck, it looks like Sam is practically in Hank's lap. His arm is on the back of the bench, and Sam seems to be snuggling into him.

If anyone walked into that backyard, they'd think Sam and Hank were a married couple. It makes me wonder what I'm even doing here with my wife. I feel like I'm a third—in this case fourth—wheel. It wouldn't make me feel any better about Sam snuggling up to Hank, but I've never shared that kind of closeness with Tina. I don't think she sees me like that.

"Come on over and sit with me," Tina says, taking a chair at the table on the deck.

I turn away from our spouses in a huff. Normally, I'd sit opposite Tina, which just feels natural, but instead, I take the chair beside her, where Hank sat for dinner. She looks at our spouses in the rock garden and favors me with the smile you'd give a pouting child.

"You're not still worried about Hank, are you?"

"No," I grumble. I don't want to admit my feelings to her again after she dismissed them the first time. She must see it. She just must not care.

“Corey, look at me. I know you better than that by now. You’re still bothered seeing Sam over there with Hank.”

I force my attention back to Tina. It’s hardly a chore. She leans toward me, tempting with a bounty of tanned cleavage. She catches me looking—again—and her jade eyes sparkle. She likes the attention. Is that because she doesn’t have all of her husband’s?

“I know you think I’m crazy,” I confess. It’s like her perfect, round tits hypnotize me into telling the truth.

“I don’t think you’re crazy, dear. I just think you’re missing the big picture. You lack perspective.”

“What perspective, Tina?” I look to our spouses. “I swear, it looks like something’s going on between them.”

“Of course, there is.”

Tina smiles like it’s the most obvious thing in the world. Does that mean I’m not paranoid? I stare at her looking for a sign she’s yanking my chain, but she keeps giving me that smile. It’s a stunning smile, but a pitying one.

“You think they’re having an affair? I didn’t quite mean that. I don’t think Sam would do that.”

“Hank never would either. We’ve been together for thirty years. I know that man better than anyone. Trust me, Corey, he would never sleep with your wife behind your back. He’s a good man. Honest to a fault. When he takes Samantha, you’ll know about it.”

I stare at her, baffled. When he takes Samantha? What the hell is Tina talking about? That is not going to happen. Why does she think her husband is going to screw my wife?

“I’m so glad you see it too, Corey. I was beginning to wonder if you’d ever catch on.”

“Catch on to what?”

“That Samantha wants Hank. He wants her too, of course. Your wife is a beautiful girl. She’s just Hank’s type.”

“And you’re okay with that? You’re good if our spouses want to fuck each other?”

Tina laughs, and it’s delightful. She’s as light as if we were discussing the latest episode of Ted Lasso.

“If I had a dollar for every time a woman crushed on Hank I’d already be retired. When you’re married to a man like Hank, you come to expect it. And if I had a problem with it, we’d have divorced years ago. Fortunately, Hank and I are in sync in every way. I understand that such a powerful man needs to spread his seed. I’m fully on board with Hank enjoying himself because I know he’ll always include me.”

“Include you?” I speak the words slowly like they’re a foreign language. “You mean, you and Hank have threesomes?”

“Sometimes we do, but that’s not what I mean. We’ve swapped with couples, too, but I’m not so into that. It’s hard to be with other men once you’ve had Hank. You’ll understand that when you see him with Samantha. But I won’t join them tonight. I like to watch when other women experience Hank for the first time. It’s breathtaking.”

I felt strange enough when Tina implied Hank was going to fuck my wife. Now she’s saying he’s going to do it tonight. She acts like it’s inevitable. How does she think that’s possible? I don’t know what kinky thing she and Hank are into, but that’s not Sam and I. Sure, Sam has a crush on Hank, and it’s going to her head, but nothing’s actually going to happen. She’s had some crazy times in her past, but that’s not who she is now.

“Tina, Sam is not sleeping with Hank. I don’t know what you think is going on here.”

“Corey,” she sighs. She sets her glass down and takes my hand. “I’ve seen this many times, and trust me, it’s so much easier if you can get on board and enjoy seeing Samantha receive pleasure. You shouldn’t feel threatened. Hank isn’t going to steal her. He isn’t looking for another wife, and I see how much she loves you. This is about fulfilling a carnal need. It’s about giving Samantha something only Hank can provide. You'll still have her heart, but her body will belong to Hank until this has run its course."

I feel bad for Tina. Hank obviously has her brainwashed. She's talking like he's some kind of sex god, and women just fall at his feet. He's duped her into being happy he screws other women. I've heard of guys who are into their women being fucked by other men—cuckolds—but I don't think there's a female equivalent. Yeah, Hank is rugged and handsome. His steel-gray hair is thinning, but he keeps it close-cropped, so it doesn't matter. His mustache frames his mouth, and somehow the throwback '70s look works for him. Everything seems to work for Hank. I see where women might throw themselves at the guy, but she's wrong about Sam. She's wrong about both of us if she thinks there's a chance in hell that I'd just sit back and watch Hank fuck my wife.

"I think Sam and I should be going."

Tina tightens her grip on my hand when I try to rise. She's surprisingly strong and pulls me back down into the chair. Her smile is tight now like she's spent enough time humoring me.

"Hank, Sam. Could you join us?" Tina calls out to our spouses.

The other couple looks over like they've forgotten we're even here. Sam looks guilty but happy as she sticks by Hank's side. She comes closer, and I can see from her flushed cheeks and dreamy eyes that she's reached the stage where she's had enough beer that she's gliding on a happy cloud. Not drunk to the point she doesn't know what she's doing but sauced enough that her inhibitions are lowered. I start to fear that Tina might be right. Maybe Sam would sleep with Hank. But it's not going to happen. I won't allow it.

"You guys seem to be having fun," Tina says, watching our spouses take the seats across from us at the table.

"It's been a great night, hon. Sam is fantastic company," Hank replies. He looks like he's in complete control, and I want to wipe the smile off his face, but Hank would mop the floor with me.

His arm goes over the back of Sam's chair, and he possessively caresses her shoulder. She doesn't snuggle against him the way she did over on the bench. Sam looks uncomfortable being affectionate right in front of my face, but I can tell she likes Hank's attention.

"You don't have to tell Corey that, sweetheart. He knows how incredible Samantha is. I'm sure he understands why she's caught your eye."

"Corey, man, your wife is amazing. I love spending time with her—with both you guys."

I can't help feeling that I don't factor much into the equation. Hank doesn't need to bullshit me.

"I appreciate this lovefest about me, but you all are going to make me blush," Sam says.

Finally! She speaks. Sam still won't look at me, but she beams at Hank.

"Corey was just telling me that he's noticed how close you and Samantha have become, sweetheart," Tina says.

Sam looks nervous, but not because of me. I see she's worried Tina is jealous. Tina reaches across the table and takes Sam's hand. My wife doesn't get the pitying smile I did, but Tina radiates genuine warmth at Sam.

"Tina..." Sam begins.

"Don't fret. Women have always been drawn to Hank, and I don't mind it at all. I was just telling Corey the same thing. Wasn't I, Corey? And I know it would be selfish of me to keep Hank all to myself. I love seeing you and Hank becoming close. I think you two are beautiful together, like you were made for each other."

"That's very sweet of you to say, but don't worry Tina, I'm not moving in on your man."

“You can move in as much as you like.” Tina laughs. “He’s more than enough man for both of us. Why don’t you two get closer? I bet you’d fit perfectly on Hank’s lap, darling.”

Sam stares at Tina and asks, “Are you serious? I mean, wouldn’t that be weird?”

“Let’s find out. I think it will be fun,” Tina urges.

“Come over here, honey. I won’t bite. Not too much anyway,” Hank says. His voice is a deep rumble. I bet he has massive balls.

Sam doesn’t look at me until she’s already in motion. It’s like she’d forgotten she’s married. She gives me a weak, apologetic smile that fails to hide her excitement. She slides onto his lap, and her arm goes around his broad shoulders. Hank wraps his arms around her, pulling Sam tight against him. Her short, light dress rides up even higher, nearly exposing everything. Hank grins when he takes in her long legs. Sam’s stiff, aroused nipples are beacons through her dress.

“This is crazy, isn’t it Corey? It’s like we’re playing some kind of crazy game. Does Tina sit in your lap now?”

I’d welcome Hank’s wife into my lap. Not only because she’s hot, but also because it would balance out our situation. But Tina doesn’t move. She’s only interested in watching our spouses together, not getting closer to me. I’m completely at sea, and Sam is completely at home on Hank’s lap. Their age difference is off-putting, like she’s sitting on her lecherous uncle’s lap or something, but she’s also never looked happier. I can tell Sam is turned on being so close to her crush. Her lips are slightly parted, and she’s breathing heavier. She caresses his arm, fingers tickling through the manly coating of hair.

“One thing at a time, darling,” Tina says. “This is about you getting to know Hank.”

“I think I know Hank pretty well.” Sam’s voice has that musical lilt it gets when she’s tipsy.

“We could always get closer, honey,” Hank suggests. He brushes dark hair back from her cheek. His eyes drill into her, and I see Sam melting under the intensity.

“How much closer could we get?”

My wife hugs the neighbor and wiggles her tight ass in his lap. I know from experience how good that feels. Hank must be hard, and I’m sure Sam feels it. Does she like that lump pressing into her ass? She wiggles her ass again, her cheeks go deeper crimson, and that answers my question.

“We can get as close as you like, Sammy.” Hank’s tone is low, seductive.

Sam’s lips curl into an evil smile. She usually hates being called Sammy, but she seems to like it from Hank.

“I think you’re forgetting we’re both married, Hank.”

“Get as close as you like. I really don’t mind, darling,” Tina says. “Has Hank told you what an amazing kisser he is? Experience makes all the difference.”

Sam’s eyes dart to me. I’ve never seen her so torn. Her lips part like she’s anticipating Hank’s kiss. She wants it so badly, but she hasn’t completely forgotten about me yet. Sam must be wondering why I haven’t intervened. I wonder the same thing myself. I just sit there and watch. Could I be waiting to see if she’ll actually do it?

“Corey,” she whispers.

Tina answers for me. “Don’t worry, darling. Corey and I already talked about this. He understands. He has eyes. He sees what’s going on between you and Hank. Corey loves you. He doesn’t want you to deny yourself.”

“Corey?”

Sam doesn’t look at me when she whispers my name this time. She’s captivated by Hank’s steel-gray eyes, and I’m captivated by what’s unfolding in front of me. I remain silent, failing to speak up before my wife seals my fate.

“Give us a kiss, Sammy.” Hank crooks a finger under her chin drawing her to him.

Sam gives Tina and me one last glance before her eyes flutter closed and her lips meet Hank’s. Their lips barely touch, and for a moment I think that chaste kiss will be it, but Hank doubles down, hungrily going for my wife, and she eagerly responds. Watching my wife kiss another man makes me dizzy. My brain rejects the images my eyes send because this could not be happening. Sam could not be kissing another man. But it’s all true. She scratches her nails through his short, graying hair, drawing him to her as she parts her lips for him. Sam gasps when Hank slips her his tongue.

“Don’t they look marvelous together?” Tina comments. She beams at Hank kissing my wife with utter admiration.

“How can you say that?”

Our spouses don’t react. It’s like we’re not there. If Sam heard me, she didn’t care. She kisses Hank with such desperate need that it makes me question our sex life. How could she want another man so badly if I keep her satisfied? He pushes her dark hair aside and sucks on the side of her neck. Sam moans, clutching him to her. Hank will surely leave a mark, but does it matter?

Hank tugs the thin straps from her shoulders, and she leans back just enough to let the light dress fall to her waist. Sam’s pert breasts fit perfectly into his hands. His work-calloused fingers roll her nipples, and her body heaves with a deep moan. Hank teases her breasts like he already knows how to handle her body. Is it experience, or has Sam been passing him classified information in those whispers they share?

“I knew you weren’t wearing a bra, you little tease. I bet you like being a tease, don’t you, Sammy?” Hank asks, playing with her swollen pink buds.

Sam opens her mouth to reply, but only moans. The more he teases her nips, the more she squirms on his lap. She’ll do anything Hank asks to keep his attention. I've given up thinking Sam will stop this. I was totally wrong about my wife. I wish I knew what was going through her mind. Was kissing Hank some kind of test? If it was, I failed it. I stay in my chair and watch while another man enjoys my wife.

Hank dips his head and sucks on Sam's tender titties. She cries out, and I look around, suddenly afraid that my humiliation won't remain private, like that's the part that matters. The privacy fence should block any nosy neighbors, but if Hank keeps teasing Sam's breasts, they're going to hear her. I hope everyone has their windows closed and their air conditioning turned up on this steamy night.

"Look at Samantha. See how beautiful she is in Hank's arms? Wouldn't it have been selfish to deny her this?" Tina asks.

"It's...it's not right. I can't believe she's doing this to me."

"This isn't about you, Corey. Why can't you see that? This is about Sam getting what she needs."

Tina's words are insane. The whole thing is insane.

"And I think you like it too, Corey. It's okay to admit it."

"I do not—"

I'm cut off when her hand drops into my lap, where Tina finds me rock hard in my shorts. She rubs me, and I groan. It sounds like defeat to my ears. She keeps rubbing me, and I will my erection to go down, but my dick disobeys and twitches under her expert attention. I look at Tina, and she smiles sympathetically like I'm a confused dog.

"It's okay to admit it, Corey. Do you think you're the only man who gets off on seeing his wife seduced by a stud like Hank? Trust me, I've seen lots of guys in your position. It's much easier if you just surrender and enjoy it."

"Ahh...mmm..."

Sam's exclamation demands our attention. Hank's hand is up her dress, and her legs are parted for easy access. He keeps licking and sucking her ruby tips as he plays with her pussy, completely controlling my wife's body. She rocks on his lap, making me wonder if he's already past her panties, and his fingers are inside her. Her cries climb in pitch, and I know he's fingering her. Sam throws her head back, and her body heaves as she wails her passion.

"Mmm...ahh...mmm...fuck..." Sam cries, barely muffled by Hank's shoulder. She shudders in orgasm.

"I think we should move this inside, where there's more room for fun, and we'll have more privacy," Tina suggests.

Hank lifts Sam like she's a doll and carries her through the French doors into the house. I'm still paralyzed by everything I've witnessed. Tina tugs my cock and orders, "Come along, Corey. I don't think you want to miss this."

three

. . .

I DUTIFULLY FOLLOW TINA INTO THE HOUSE TO FIND OUR SPOUSES haven't gotten far. Sam is seated in a big, plush armchair, and her dress is on the floor with her panties. Hank's shoved the ottoman aside and he's kneeling in front of her. His shirt is off, and her legs are over his shoulders. His face is buried between her thighs. The large, circular tribal tattoo between his shoulders—which I've seen dozens of times because Hank loves to take his shirt off—looks threatening now. I hear him slurping away down there, letting me know he's got my wife utterly soaked. Sam hunches low in the chair and pulls Hank's short hair while pushing her pussy at him. Hank feasts on her slit. His hands cradle her ass, pulling her to him like he's devouring a juicy watermelon. She wantonly moans his name.

“Ahh...Hank...yeah...ahh...”

Tina guides me onto the couch and sits beside me. Leaning close, she says, “Hank loves eating pussy. It's all about making them come. And he knows he has to get most of them ready to take him. Most women haven't been with a man my Hank's size.”

Her voice is like a bee buzzing around me, almost drowned out by my wife's moans, but the mention of Hank's size gets my attention. How big could he be? I get chills picturing him feeding Sam some monster cock that ruins her forever. I know I have to stop this, but I just keep watching.

Sam has always been incredibly sexual, and I've always been impressed by her appetites. It's a truism that women get hornier as they get older. It's always been a blessing to me, but tonight it's a curse. It's been building for some time, but in the end, Sam so easily gave herself to Hank. And yet, as horrified as I should be, it's amazing to watch my wife that way. I know she's hot when she comes but seeing it from the outside rather than causing it is such a different experience. As Hank licks her pussy and makes her wail in orgasm, I get to truly behold what an astonishing, sexual creature I'm married to. I'm still horrified it's happening. I've never been more confused in my life.

Sam pants hard. How many times has Hank made her come? Two? Three times? While she slouches dazed in the chair, he stands and loses his shorts. Sam's eyes go wide when she sees what he's packing. He turns to the side, and I swear it's only to show me what he's about to shove into my wife. Hank has a beast standing almost straight up against his belly. I understand Sam's shocked reaction. I'm not small, but that piece of meat dwarfs me. It's got to be as big around as Sam's wrist, and at least seven or eight inches long. I stare at that huge cock and don't understand how he's going to fit that thing in my wife. My insides revolt, demanding I take action and protect Sam from that thing, but Tina keeps rubbing me through my shorts, and I stay rooted on the couch.

"It's okay, Corey. Hank knows just how to break them in. He'll go slow, and he'll have Samantha begging for it before they're done," Tina says as if she read my mind. "Take off your shorts, dear. Let me give you a hand."

I don't even stand but lift my butt and scoot out of my shorts. Tina looks down at my cock, and I can only imagine she's disappointed comparing it to Hank. She gives my rod a couple of strokes before pulling off her top. It had a built-in bra, so she's topless. Tina's tits are incredible, and as I've suspected, very fake. But I don't care. I stare at those things like they're a lifeline.

“I know you like them, Corey. I catch you staring and it’s okay. I like it when you stare.”

I would have kept staring at Tina and her huge, fake tits, but Sam’s strangled cry brings me right back to her. Hank pushed the ottoman up against the chair, and my wife is on her back on the two pieces of furniture. She holds her legs spread wide open, the way she does when she’s inviting me to fuck her, but that isn’t me heading inside her. Hank kneels on the edge of the ottoman and has his cock at her entrance, nudging her opening. Then he slowly begins to feed his massive cock into Sam’s tight pussy. He pushes her legs even further back, tilting her hips up at him, and bears down. Sam’s mouth hangs open, and her eyes are wide.

“Just relax and breathe, Sammy. I know you’re not used to this, but believe me, you’ll learn to love it,” Hank reassures.

Hank pushes deeper and Sam makes a sound I’ve never heard in our eight years of marriage. It’s a keening wail like she’s being torn in two. I was right. Sam can’t take it. I knew I should have jumped up and saved her. Instead, I sat and watched the neighbor defile my wife. Not only because Tina was doing a masterful job stroking my cock, but because I was fascinated watching this alpha break in my wife. A secret part of me hopes it hurts since she’s being such a slut for Hank.

“Jeez, you’re tight, Sammy. You’ve never really been opened up, have you? Don’t worry, old Hank knows just how to make it good.”

Sam hangs in there, and I can see it’s worth it. Hank does go slowly, feeding it to her thick inch by thick inch and cooing that she needs to relax and breathe. The process takes time, but her sharp squeals turn to gasps, and then to moans. It feels like an eternity watching Hank break in my wife. It’s worth the effort—for both of them. Sam’s deep moan when he bottoms out is a sound I’ve never heard from her before. Hank’s strained grunts tell me that Sam is incredibly tight around him.

Hank keeps it embedded in her until Sam's hips begin moving. Once she's adjusted to his size, she wants it. The slow rolls of her hips encourage Hank to fuck her. He sees she's ready and flexes his own hips, slowly working Sam's slit to build her excitement.

"Isn't it incredible watching Hank fuck? You see how much Sam loves it, Corey? Do you know if she's been with any hung men before?" Tina asks.

I take it as the slam it is and don't answer. I can't get too angry because my dick is in her hand, and it feels terrific.

"Even if she has, trust me, no one's made her feel like this. I'm jealous that I can't have my first time with Hank again."

Hank pulls her legs forward, and Sam wraps them around his waist. He holds her slim hips, lifting her ass off the ottoman at the perfect angle to drill down into her. The crazy way he bends forward to do it would destroy my back, but Hank doesn't break a sweat. His back muscles flex like a perfectly tuned machine while he fucks my wife. His heavy balls slap loudly against her flesh when he thrusts into her. I don't know how Sam is comfortable at that weird angle either—his weight bearing down on her shoulders—but her flexibility is astounding. I doubt she feels anything but that slab of meat splitting her open. Her moans are constant and wild. She stares up at Hank with a crazed look in her eyes. I barely recognize Sam as my wife.

"Ohh fuck...aww fuck...fuck..." Sam whines. Those are the sounds she always makes when she's getting close, but they have a different edge with Hank, like she's pleading with him.

"Let me feel it, Sammy..." Hank demands. "Let me feel that little pussy cream on my dick..."

"Aww fuck...yeah...fuck...fuck...fuck!"

I swear Sam's eyes roll into the back of her head when Hank makes her come. My wife isn't just having an orgasm. Hank is making her come. He is in charge. She screams like he's murdering her, but she's so soaked I hear her pussy squishing as he plunders it. It seems like Sam is going to keep coming until her heart stops.

"It's magnificent, isn't it Corey? You've never seen her come like that, have you?"

"No," I weakly admit.

It's shameful to admit I can't make my wife come like that, but it's the truth, and Tina is just as in control of me as Hank is of Sam. This couple has dominated us. I stare at my wife and memorize every little detail of Hank making her come. The way her mouth twitches while she moans. The way her tits bounce while he plows her, and how her chest is flushed with exertion. The way her toes curl with her ankles locked behind his back. I groan when Tina grants me my release. I shoot my seed all over my thigh and then down into my shorts pooled at my ankles. Tina keeps pumping me until I'm drained.

"Let the poison out, Corey. That's a good boy. I want you to enjoy this just as much as Samantha." Tina chuckles. "Well, maybe not just as much. I mean, look at what Hank's doing to her."

I can't explain exactly how he does it, but somehow Hank lifts Sam from the chair without ever taking his cock from her pussy. He holds her with one arm, bouncing her on his shaft as he turns, and then sits in the chair with his cock spiked up into her. The man is a beast. I hate to admit it, but Sam should worship a man like that.

Sam starts moving her hips the moment she sits down on him. Her knees dig into the chair, and she rocks her pussy on him, keeping his monster deep inside her. Hank may be a fuckmaster, but Sam has a few tricks of her own. I didn't know how much control she had stretched around that meat, but she does her best. She grips his shoulders and begins bouncing on him, grunting with the effort.

“There you go, Sammy. Work that pussy. Show me how much you want that cock,” Hank growls.

“Ahh...ahh...fuck...fuck...”

“Yeah, earn that cock, Sammy...” Hank holds her tits while she bounces, pulling her nipples.

“Oh fuck! Oh fuck!”

“You want my cum inside you, Sammy?”

“Yeah...yeah...please...”

“Show me, Sammy. Show me you want it.”

“Yeah...yeah...I want it, Hank...mmm I fucking want it...”

“You’re gonna come first though, aren’t you...”

“Yeah...yeah...ohh fuck yeah!”

Sam creams on his cock one more time. And when she stops to savor it, Hank takes over. His power is amazing. He fucks Sam up and down on his dick, using her pussy like a sex toy. She wails and begs him to do it. Long after I had pathetically come by Tina’s hand, Hank keeps going. But he can’t go forever, not with a woman like Sam. I swear his huge balls swell and tighten right before he jets his seed deep into my wife. He holds her down on his impaling shaft, and she writhes through another climax. While he pumps her full of his essence, he can’t possibly know Sam has an IUD, can he? It looks to me like he’s trying to breed my wife. He keeps Sam on his lap when they’re done, and she snuggles into his chest while his thick meat keeps his load plugged up inside of her.

“Why don’t you go clean up in the powder room and give them a moment?” Tina suggests, urging me off the couch.

I reluctantly leave the living room, knowing it’s wrong to leave my wife alone with Hank. Tina doesn’t follow me. I go into that bathroom, and after I wash up, I don’t want to come out. I’m afraid of what I might walk in on when I return. But I have to get my wife and take her home.

I return to find Sam dressed and in Tina's arms. Hank is nowhere to be found. Tina whispers something to my wife. Sam nods and smiles. She might even say thank you. Tina notices me and holds out her hand. I let her take it and pull me close to them.

"You need to take sweet Samantha home and take care of her. She's had quite the night. You might want to reclaim her, Corey, but that should wait for morning. I bet she's plenty sore, aren't you, darling?"

Sam smiled dreamily. "I don't know. I'm still tingling all over."

"Corey will take good care of you. He loves you so much. Think of how much he must love you to let you have this."

I don't feel like I let anything happen. I was hardly more than a bystander to the neighbor fucking my wife silly. But I take Sam from Tina and lead her back across the street with my arm around her. When we're finally home, she looks up at me, and I'm not sure what I see in her eyes. It's all shifted so fast. I think I see fear and gratitude and satisfaction and shock and exhaustion.

"Corey, I don't know what to say."

"Are you sorry?"

"Should I be? You were there. You watched it all happen. You could have..."

"Stopped it? I don't know how I could have stopped that, Sam. It all just seemed to happen."

"I feel like I was hypnotized."

"Yeah, by that giant dick."

"It wasn't that big, Corey."

I shake my head. "It was huge. I saw it."

"Oh god, Corey. It felt even bigger than it looked. Oh my god." She looks down. "Do you hate me?"

"I love you. I could never hate you, Sam. As you said, I was there. I could have stopped it. I honestly don't know why I didn't."

“What does all this mean?”

“I don’t know. I guess we’ll figure it all out in the morning.”

four

. . .

I HAVE A BLISSFUL MOMENT WHEN I FIRST WAKE AND DON'T REMEMBER what Sam did last night. I break the surface of my slumber and sigh the way I always do first thing in the morning, rolling over to stretch out the kink that forms in my back when I've slept in one position for too long. I feel Sam's familiar weight and heat beside me and smile. It isn't until after I stagger out of bed and into the bathroom that I remember what happened at the DeSimones'.

I stand in the doorway and stare at Sam's slumbering body in our bed. She's out cold and looks so peaceful and innocent. But as I stare at her, jagged memories come flashing back into my brain, slicing my morning peace to shreds. I see Sam on Hank's lap kissing him. I see Sam on her back, moaning while he goes down on her. And I see Sam bouncing hard on his giant dick while moaning about how badly she wants it. My stomach drops, and I think I may have to turn back into the bathroom and be sick. But the aching hard-on in my shorts stops me in my tracks. The sudden wave of lust for my wife is far more powerful than the nausea.

I came the night before, but that was from Tina jerking me off. I never fucked Sam. Tina told me she would be too sore after taking Hank's huge tool, and Sam fell right into bed when we returned home. Looking at my wife in the morning light, I'm overwhelmed by the sudden urge to reclaim her. I drop the running shorts I sleep in as I approach the bed.

Sam had thrown on one of her comfy, shortie nightgowns when she fell into bed last night, giving me easy access to her body. I peel back the sheets and see the nightie is almost up around her waist already. Looking down on my wife's cute ass only makes me want her more. The way she's twisted, half on her tummy with one leg cocked, she's fully open to me.

I smile at her tramp stamp and think how appropriate it is this morning. Hank never commented on it, but he didn't take her from behind. He might not have seen it. I scoot in behind her and palm her butt. Sam doesn't react. She's out cold. My fingers stretch lower to where her lips puff out between her thighs. Sam groans and twitches but stays asleep.

I'm surprised to find Sam damp when I touch her. It's probably paranoia, but I imagine she's dreaming of Hank's big dick. In my mind, I was firm that our night with the neighbors would be a one-time thing. Our socializing is over after Hank seduced my wife. But as much as she loves me, I had to believe that Sam wanted Hank again. What woman wouldn't?

I gently massage her ripe fruit and she moans in her sleep, shifting slightly to open up further. Her respiration deepens the more I caress, and her hips move like she's urging me to penetrate her. I'm not sure that she's still sleeping. Sam has always played a little game of pretending to be asleep when I wake her for sex. She claims it's that she enjoys the slow, warm, and fuzzy climb from slumber to arousal, but I think Sam likes to play helpless and surrender herself to me.

Sam is the most sexual woman I've ever been with, and she told me when we first got together that I could wake her for sex any time I liked. She swore it was the best way to be awakened. I was tickled by the idea of a partner who was always available for sex and availed myself of that often during our first few years together. But over time, you get tired and just want to sleep and that stuff just goes away. It wasn't just me. The last time I recall trying it, Sam pushed my hand away and rolled over, making it clear she just wanted to sleep. She did not push me away this morning.

I slip my fingers inside her and sweep her hair aside to nibble on her shoulder and neck. Her hot, wet sheath grips my fingers, and Sam gasps, rocking back onto my digits. I'm sure she's awake now. Her hips move with me as my fingers glide in and out of her. She goes from pleasantly aroused to soaked so quickly it makes my balls ache. I'm convinced Sam is thinking of Hank and not me as she closes on her orgasm. The thought is a stab to the gut, but it energizes me. I'm losing my mind.

"Mmm, what are you doing?" Sam moans, voice thick with lust and lingering slumber.

"Molesting my wife. Should I stop?"

Sam whimpers and shakes her head against the pillow.

"No, you know I like it when you just take me."

"I saw how much you like to be taken last night," I groan in her ear. I hope it doesn't sound angry.

"Ahh..."

"Hank didn't ask. He just took you."

"Ahh...Cor..."

I roll Sam onto her back and we both pull at her nightie to get it off of her. Sam throws it aside while I move between her legs. My manhood slots into her cleft like it's moving on instinct. I can't remember the last time I wanted her so badly. I'm impatient and pin her with one deep thrust. I can't help thinking it's not as deep as Hank reached. There is no build-up. I start quick as a jackrabbit. Sam's ready. She's drenched taking my cock with no problem.

"Are you still sore?" The words slip out between gasps.

"Just...a little...harder babe..."

Sam hooks her legs over mine like she's trying to trap me. She needn't bother. Nothing could get me off her now. I feel her muscles tighten around me and it's heaven. It's one of my favorite tricks because she has incredible muscle control down there. But that paranoia is working on my mind, and I wonder if she must squeeze to feel me after being split open by Hank's monster. Could one night with our hung neighbor have ruined her forever? I think about Sam becoming obsessed with Hank's cock, and my balls tighten. I slow down, afraid I'm going to blow my load too quickly.

"Don't...stop...don't stop babe..."

"Beg me...like you begged him..."

"Corey...fuck me...fuck me babe..."

It doesn't sound the same. I know she wants me, but she sounded desperate for Hank.

"You...couldn't get enough...begged him...like a slut..."

"Corey...I don't know why..."

I chuckle in my head. She knows why. We both know why. Hank is a real man with a huge cock. Of course, he made my wife his slut. It's not that I don't understand it. I just don't know what to do with it. Her arms hook over my shoulders, clutching me to her. Sam's hips come off the bed so hard we violently slam together. I'm moving faster again. I'm not going to last no matter what I do. I'm fucking my wife, but I'm obsessed with her fucking another man while I do it.

"Because you wanted his huge cock," I growl.

"Ohh...Corey..."

"Admit it!"

"Corey..."

"Admit it!"

"God...fuck...yes! Oh fuck yes, I wanted it!"

I grit my teeth and throw myself into her. I stare down at Sam, and her face is a twisted mask of ecstasy. Her eyes are squeezed shut—all the better to imagine it's Hank with her, not that she could mistake my average dick for his. Her next words surprise me.

“You didn’t stop me...”

Sam moans it like it’s just occurred to her, but I hear an accusation in her voice.

“Sam...”

“You watched Hank fuck me...you wanted...wanted it...”

“No, Sam...no...”

“You liked it...liked watching him fuck me...”

“Sam...I...”

“Oh fuck...ohh fuck...ohhhh...fuck...YEAH!”

Sam doesn’t come as hard as she did with Hank, but she still comes harder than she’s ever come with me before. I’m seconds behind her, my essence blasting into her with a power that leaves me lightheaded. Her arms and legs stay locked around me and her body undulates beneath me like she’s trying to milk every last drop out of me. Maybe she can’t believe that’s all I have after what Hank did to her.

I’m happy to stay locked to her, but my sweat drips onto her forehead, and I know Sam’s as hot as I am. Once she feels me shrink completely inside her, she shoves me off her. Her chest rises and falls steadily as she breathes deeply and takes back control of her body. I, on the other hand, am gasping and a flushed, sweaty mess. Sam stares at the ceiling with a stunned expression. She’s been through a lot in the last twenty-four hours. I get it. I’m shell-shocked too. But now that the fucking is done, we have to talk. What the hell are we going to say to each other?

“Corey, what happened last night...” Sam begins. She’s still staring at the ceiling, purposely avoiding eye contact.

“You were right. I could have stopped you and I didn’t.” I say it, but I’m not entirely sure I believe it. Could I have stopped her? “I should have stopped you.”

“Maybe. I guess so. But that doesn’t take away my responsibility for doing it. I never in a million years thought I’d cheat on you, Corey.”

I’m on my side, looking at her. Sam truly is beautiful. I can’t blame Hank for wanting her. She’s got the cutest button nose and sharp cheeks. I love the way her hair ordinarily frames her face—although now it’s a mess from sleep and sex. Her raven bangs are plastered to her forehead with sweat. Her pale cheeks are still flushed from her climax, even though her breathing has slowed to normal. Her rosy, pink nipples are still thick with desire, and it requires a lot of willpower to keep from playing with them—even though my head is filled with serious thoughts. I can’t look at Sam’s naked body without wanting to touch it.

“I don’t know if that was cheating. I mean, can it be cheating when I’m sitting right there? You didn’t sneak around with Hank. You haven’t been sneaking around with him, have you?”

“Of course not. I would never. Don’t you know me better than that?”

Sam finally looks at me and her jade eyes flash with anger. She’s got some nerve being angry with the question. It’s a valid question given what happened. But I don’t really think she was screwing Hank behind my back. If I thought Sam were capable of that, there’d be no point in having a conversation. It would be over.

“Sorry, Sam. I know you wouldn’t do that. You’ve got to understand, my head is all twisted up right now. I don’t know what to think. Why? Why did it happen?”

“I was a little drunk.”

“More than a little.”

“And you know how I get when I drink.”

“But that’s not an excuse, Sam. You know that. I’ve seen you drunk at a lot of parties. Yeah, you get flirty. Maybe you get right up to the line, but you’ve never just charged across it like that before.”

Again, another question hangs in my mind—have you? But I don't ask it this time. I don't know why I'm feeling defensive when she's the one who fucked someone else. Sam can be more than flirty with other men when she's had a lot to drink. She's free with her hands and doesn't mind if guys get free with theirs. She'll trade bawdy comment for bawdy comment with any guy brave enough to go toe-to-toe with her.

Which begs the question, how do I really know this is the first time Sam's taken flirting too far? I've never thought about it because I trust her, but I can't say for certain that she's never snuck off for a hook-up at a party. I don't have eyes on her the entire time. I can't go down that road, or I truly will lose my mind.

It's a gray area that would probably piss a lot of guys off, but despite what Tina tried to gaslight me into thinking, I'm not a jealous man. I know it might sound weird, but I like seeing that side of Sam. It's a good reminder of just how sexy she is and how lucky I am to have her. And the side effects of a flirty night of drinking are always great. Sam fucks me like a maniac when we get home. She has to channel all of that flirty energy somewhere. But that didn't happen last night. Sam got all charged up as usual, but Hank was the one who benefitted, while I sat on the sidelines watching.

"I know it's not an excuse. I'm not trying to make excuses. I'm just saying it's a factor, Corey."

"I'm not trying to blame you for anything." It's a weird thing to say to your wife after she's screwed someone else. I should be blaming her. "We were both there. This isn't solely on either one of us."

"But I'm the one who had sex with someone else. Why didn't you and Tina do anything?"

Sam asks a valid question that my ego doesn't particularly want to answer. Deep down I know the real reason Tina only jerked me off is that she's not interested in me because she has Hank, and it exposes my worst fear, that after having Hank too, Sam won't be interested in me either. I don't want to tell my wife any of that and plant an idea she hopefully doesn't have. I shrug.

"I think we were both too blown away by how quickly you and Hank went from zero to sixty. She did jerk me off." I can't keep ta "Really? I think I saw that she was topless at one point, right?"

"Yeah, she showed me her tits."

Sam smiles. "I bet you liked that."

"They're pretty nice."

"These aren't a disappointment after playing with those?" Sam cups her boobs and gives them a healthy squeeze. I love watching her touch herself.

"I, uh, didn't touch them. She just jerked me off while we watched you and Hank."

"Hmm. You should have gone for it." It's sweet that Sam assumes that was an option—a notion I'll let her keep.

"Are you mad that she did that? Jealous?"

Sam laughs. "I don't have any right to that, do I? Besides, I know you love me. You're not going to run off with Tina just because she showed you her boobs and jerked you off."

"You don't have anything to worry about, Sam. Do I?" I don't want to ask that, but it just slips out of my mouth.

Sam looks at me with the first real warmth I've felt during this conversation. She's felt distant like she's holding back something for herself. "Of course not. Hank is not a threat to our marriage. I don't want to sound flippant about it because I know what happened is a big deal, but it was just sex, Corey. It doesn't have to change anything between us if we don't want it to. I know we can move on from this. I want to."

"So do I, Sam. This was a one-time thing, right?"

"I don't plan on going over there and fucking Hank again." That does sound flippant, and it's not a no.

“I don’t want us to become like them. This is something they do. I don’t know how often, but Hank has sex with other women, and Tina’s totally fine with it.”

“I got that feeling last night, like she was weirdly supportive of me being with Hank. I was too dazed to really think about it, but it is weird, isn’t it? So, they’re swingers? She sleeps with other men too, aside from last night I mean.”

It stings, even though I know Sam doesn’t intend it to. I feel like she’s implying, Tina usually fucks the other husband when they hook up with couples, but she just wasn’t into you. Maybe if you had a big dick like Hank.

“I assume she does sometimes. I don’t really know. We didn’t have an in-depth conversation about their swinging habits. We were kind of distracted by you two.”

“Sorry again. I was kinda loud, wasn’t I?”

“Sam, I’d be shocked if the whole neighborhood didn’t hear you.”

“Stop it. I wasn’t that bad.”

I remember the otherworldly sounds my wife made when Hank plowed her with his powerful dick. Yeah, she was loud, and more—passionate, enflamed, angelic. My cock twitches when I think about it even though we just made love.

“You were very into it all,” I charitably reply.

Sam can’t stop herself from smiling. I know she’s going back to her own memories of last night. I wonder which she liked better, being on her back and taken, or climbing on top and controlling how she took Hank’s cock?

“I have to be honest with you, Corey. It was really good. You want me to be honest, right?”

“Always, Sam.”

“It doesn’t mean that I don’t love you. And it doesn’t mean that I felt like I was missing something, or that I feel like I need something else now.

But last night, fucking just to fuck, it was so freeing. I wasn't in my head at all. I don't know if I can really explain it. I'm sorry if none of this makes sense to you."

It all makes perfect sense, and it's a kick to the gut. The question Sam never really answered was why it happened. But what she just told me is the answer. Hank made her feel something she doesn't normally feel with me. Sam wanted it, and I didn't stop her, so she did it. The answer really is as simple as that, and I need to find a way to accept it. I'm just not sure how that happens.

five

. . .

I THOUGHT IT WOULD GO WITHOUT SAYING THAT WE WEREN'T SEEING Hank and Tina again. How exactly are we supposed to sit around and chat over burgers and beers in the backyard after what happened? I don't think I can ever look at Hank again without picturing him balls-deep in my moaning wife. But Tina texted Sam asking if we were coming over next weekend.

"Seriously?" I ask Sam.

I can't quite believe she's bringing it up to me. Sam should have ignored the text, or if she had to reply, just answer with a simple, cold no. Does she really think we're going to socialize with the DeSimones again? I can tell by her tone that she doesn't think it's an impossibility.

"We don't keep secrets from each other, so I felt like I had to tell you."

"Okay, thanks for telling me, but why does it seem like you want to go over there?"

"I know what happened was weird, and you have feelings about it, Corey, but we've become very close to Hank and Tina. It just doesn't feel right that we're never going to see them again."

"You became very close to Hank."

"You don't have to be mean. Don't forget Tina jerked you off."

I glower at her. I don't feel like getting a hand job from Tina quite equals Sam fucking Hank. We're not even, if that's a thing in this situation. Even if I had fucked Tina, I don't know that I'd be okay with Sam doing what she did with Hank again.

"Okay, I hear what you're saying. But don't you think we should at least talk to them? Maybe they feel just as weird about this as we do."

Sam doesn't say you, but I know that's what she really meant. I do feel weird about what happened last weekend, but Sam seems fine with it. More than fine. Only a couple of days have passed since she begged Hank to fuck her and she's making it sound like we can just go back to normal with the DeSimones.

I can't help thinking she has hidden motives. She doesn't want to just barbecue in the backyard with the neighbors. She wants Hank's dick again. I don't come out and accuse her of it because I know that would go poorly for me.

"I doubt that, Sam. This is obviously a thing they do. I don't know if they get off on seducing normal people like us, or they usually hook up with other swingers, but this is their thing."

"You don't know that, Corey."

"Sam, you heard the way Tina was talking. And that was only the tip of the iceberg. She was basically trying to convince me that I should just sit back and let you fuck Hank and enjoy the show. She made it sound like I would be an asshole if I didn't let you do it."

"We were all heated. I'm sure things were said that could be misinterpreted. That's why I think we should talk."

We weren't all heated, I think. At least, I wasn't, at first anyway. Sam was captivated by Hank, but I was just confused by what was happening. It wasn't until I saw my wife in his arms that I felt an uncontrollable lust that I still don't understand.

"I don't want to see them, Sam."

“Fine,” she huffs and storms out of the room.

We haven’t talked about that night since then. Sam acts like it was just a blip on the radar. Meanwhile, it’s all I can think about, but I don’t bring it up. It’s like the subject has become the third rail of our marriage. But we have not gone back to normal. Not at all.

Every time I look at my wife, I see her in Hank’s arms. It’s gotten completely out of hand. My brain is even building on reality. I don’t just flash back to the night anymore. It’s only been a week, but my mind is spinning new fantasies of Sam and Hank together.

I walk through the kitchen and see her there leaning against the counter and drinking a glass of water, but then I blink, and Hank has her pinned against that counter, his tongue in her mouth and his hands mauling her tits. I saw her in the bedroom, bent forward on her knees to retrieve a storage box from under the bed. I picture Hank sliding up behind her and sinking it into her pussy. I can’t stop thinking about Sam fucking the neighbor and it’s driving me crazy.

I know it’s on her mind too because our sex life hasn’t been this hot in years. We’ve fucked every night since then. And I do mean fucked, not made love. It’s been wild and frenzied, like when we first got together and couldn’t wait to tear each other’s clothes off. Our usual routine is maybe a couple of times a week, which I thought was good for both of us. Now I’m not so sure. Hank is a specimen of a man, but would Sam have been so quick to fuck him if she was satisfied with our sex life? We don’t talk about that night at the neighbors’ while we’re doing it, but I know we’re both thinking about it.

Sam must have told the DeSimones we weren’t coming over because she drops it and weeks pass, and we don’t talk about the neighbors at all. I try to time leaving the house to avoid running into them. If Hank or Tina are outside when I come home from work, I stay in my car until they go inside. I feel like a coward, but I'd rather live with that than have an awkward conversation about that night. I know it's not healthy for us to outwardly act like nothing happened, but I don't know how we can talk about it when neither of us is willing to be completely honest.

I start to think the matter has been settled when Sam texts me that she's meeting Tina for lunch. My stomach drops, and my head fills with rage. And all I can think is that this is a ruse for her to meet Hank.

I knew Corey would be angry when I told him I was seeing Tina, which is why I told him via text. He wouldn't try to tell me I couldn't go. He knows better. But Corey would complain about it so much I might change my mind anyway. I love my husband, but sometimes it feels like passive-aggressive is his natural state. He's easygoing most of the time—it's what I love the most about him—until he's not.

It's selfish, but I was angry when Corey put his foot down about seeing Tina and Hank again. I didn't show it—much—because I knew I was being selfish, and I could hardly clap back at my husband after what I'd done. I can rationalize all I want, but I know I cheated on my husband. We aren't swingers. We don't have an open marriage agreement. It's not like we had a mature conversation beforehand and decided to do this crazy thing. Hank came on to me, and I liked it. Corey didn't seem interested in stopping it, so I did it. It's only marginally better because Corey was sitting there. Why did Corey just sit there while I did it?

I'm dying to ask him why he let it happen. There are so many reasons why I haven't. Shame. Guilt. Fifty Shades of Fear. I'm afraid if I open that can of worms Corey will realize I'm a horrible slut, and it will be over.

Corey analyzing his feelings might not be a good thing. I'm also afraid I won't like his answer for other reasons.

I think he liked seeing me with Hank. I don't understand that, but he got hard watching, and I don't think it was just because Tina showed him her tits. Hank demanded my attention while we were together, but I could feel Corey watching us, and I could feel the heat coming off him. I don't understand a man watching that at all, let alone getting off on it. I'm afraid that if Corey tells me he liked it, I won't know what to do with that.

I feel like such a bitch. Of the two possible outcomes, I'm lucky that I have a husband who liked watching me screw another man and didn't leave me over it. I've already been through one divorce. It was hard on me and my daughters. The girls really love Corey. A divorce would really hurt them and me. But Hank... I need to get over myself.

I meet Tina at a local bistro, and we sit on the outside deck. Corey is still being a brat, so I text him, Don't worry. I'll try not to fuck Tina too. She greets me with a warm hug, and I have to concede that Corey is right. It is weird. I used to hug Tina every time I saw her and thought nothing of it. Today I look at the pretty older woman, and wild, new erotic thoughts fill my head.

First, I think that woman jerked off my husband. I feel more jealousy over that than I thought I would. I told Corey I wasn't jealous about him doing things with Tina, but that wasn't entirely true. I was saying what I knew I should say. I have no right to be jealous after what I did, but deep down I don't really want Tina's hands on my man.

My second thought when I see Tina is, shit, I fucked her husband. Does she hate me? Should I apologize? I'd guess no based on the way she acted that night, but we're seeing each other woman to woman now. We hug and her big, fake boobs mash into mine. I never used to care that Corey liked staring at them, but I feel differently now that he's seen them in all their nude glory.

“It’s so good to see you again,” Tina says. “We’ve missed you—missed you both.”

I smile, hoping it masks my sudden onset of nerves. “We’ve been busy.” I don’t know why I go with such an obvious lie.

“It’s just us girls, Samantha. We can be straight with each other.”

The waitress brings our drinks, and I’m thankful it gives me a moment to get my thoughts in order. I go right to work on my Bloody Mary. Tina holds her iced tea, tapping her wedding ring against the glass.

“I’m sure you had a lot to think about after the last time we saw each other.”

I laugh. “You think?”

“Hank can scramble a girl’s brain. Don’t feel bad that you needed time to adjust,” Tina continues.

Hank certainly rocked my world. His confidence was so intoxicating. It was like he decided we were going to have sex, and I had no say in the matter. It helped that I wanted it so badly. Tina seems just as okay with it all as Corey described. I don’t understand her any more than I understand my husband.

“I can’t believe we did that. I can’t believe we did it right in front of you guys.”

“Would it have been better to fuck my husband behind my back, darling?”

I stare at her until Tina cracks a smile.

“You know what I meant. I don’t know what you and Hank are into, but that’s not something Corey and I do.”

“Until now.”

“Until now, I guess. You really are totally fine with this, aren’t you?”

“You could say that, but it’s a bit of an understatement. I’m not neutral about other women enjoying Hank. I love seeing my man exert his power. Every woman should be as lucky as I am.”

“You think you’re lucky that Hank sleeps with other women?”

“Samantha darling, you of all women understand his allure. You’ve felt his power. I can’t expect him to keep all that caged. He’s an alpha wolf. I wouldn’t want to keep him caged. It was just as thrilling for me to watch him that night as it was for you to experience him.”

I doubt that. I think it, but I don’t say it.

“I love that Hank chose me as his mate. Our bond is unbreakable, which means I don’t feel threatened by other women. For Hank and me to be equals, I need to be just as confident as he is.”

“I guess I just don’t really understand your arrangement. Are you guys swingers?”

“We’ve done some swinging. It can be rather exciting, being in that sexually charged atmosphere, even if you don’t partake and just like to watch. But Hank is quite the draw whenever we go to a lifestyle event, so I know we’ll never just be watching.”

Tina is a stunning woman. She must have been a firecracker when she was younger, but I can only imagine that she’s gotten sexier with age. I’ve never met another woman with more confidence and poise. Her bone structure is perfect, with a model’s high cheekbones. Her eyes are like emeralds set in her perfect skin. She must use Botox because no one’s face is that unlined in their late fifties, but it looks natural on Tina. She is just marvelously preserved. And with her perfect boobs, I know Hank isn’t the only one attracting attention when they meet up with other swingers. I would do her, even though it’s been ages since I’ve been with a woman.

“You’re being modest. Hank’s not the only reason you guys get attention, and you know it, Tina.”

“Boys seem to really like the MILF thing, don’t they?”

Her smile tells me she knows exactly how hot she is. Tina has the best smile. It promises all kinds of mischief. Honestly, I can’t believe she didn’t have all of Corey’s attention that night—even if Hank and I were having sex just a few feet away. For that matter, I can't believe Hank took his eyes off his wife long enough to notice me. It's a high compliment. I feel a forbidden warmth between my thighs thinking about it.

"I wouldn't know," I say.

"Don't give me that. You're a MILF if ever there was one."

"Yeah? Well, you're a cougar!"

We both laugh and Tina looks at me like she's assessing me. She says, "You're not a cougar, though, are you darling?"

"What makes you say that? I like a hard, young body as much as the next gal."

"I don't think so. I see the way you look at my Hank. I think you like older guys."

"Corey isn't that much older than me."

"No, he's not, but you do prefer older men, don't you Samantha?"

"I hope you're not accusing me of having daddy issues."

"I wouldn't judge you if you did. And even if you weren't into older men, I can understand that you'd be into Hank anyway."

It's unnerving how easily Tina has me pegged. I don't think I obviously stared at Hank before he started flirting with me—flirting which I now understand was a seduction. And Hank is hotter than any older guy I've known, so I don't know that you could conclude that finding him attractive equals finding all older men hot. Brad Pitt is almost sixty years old, and you couldn't say that wanting to fuck Brad means you want to fuck all guys his age. But Tina has me pegged, nonetheless.

I am into the older guys. Corey knows that. I've confessed some of my questionable past to him, but he doesn't know everything. There are things I could never admit to my husband. Corey doesn't know just how strong my attraction to older men really is. And there's no reason for him to know. Rather than confessing any of this to Tina, I pivot.

I lean in like I'm making a confession. "It feels weird telling you this, but you're so lucky, Tina. Hank is so hot."

"I know I'm the luckiest girl in the world. And my Hank isn't just one of those men who looks good because he's always at the gym. It's more than that. It's his presence. And god, is his cock incredible. But I'm not telling you anything you don't already know, darling."

I tremble inside remembering just how incredible Hank's cock was. The way he opened me up was mind-blowing. I don't want to slight my husband, but Hank made me feel things Corey just never has. And it isn't just about the cock—although it is huge. It's not just that he knows how to use it—and damn, he does. Hank is the walking embodiment of Big Dick Energy.

"You really do like this, sharing your husband with other women. Don't you?"

Tina laughs. "What more do I need to say or do to convince you? We could go back to my house and Hank could enjoy you again."

I laugh too, but I can see she's serious. Tina wants me to fuck Hank again, but I've shut myself off to that. I haven't allowed myself to consider the possibility, but having it put right out there makes my sex tighten. Deep down, I want it, but it can't happen. Corey will never go for it.

"Right, we'll just go over and do it." I laugh again, but it's nervous laughter this time.

"Why not? I know you want to. I recognize the hunger in your eyes. When Hank has a woman, she always wants more."

"I couldn't. I can't. It can't happen again."

"Because of Corey?"

I don't reply because I feel like the answer is obvious. I'm a married woman. I can't just run across the street and fuck the neighbor like I'm borrowing a cup of sugar. That just isn't what civilized people do. I also don't want to put all the blame on Corey because that isn't fair. We agreed it can never happen again. We both know that night was an insane aberration and swinging, or swapping, or whatever it was just isn't who we are. We're a normal couple. I focus on that because it's easier than focusing on the feelings Hank awakened inside me. It's easier than admitting what that dark, slutty side of me really wants.

Tina reaches across the table and takes my hand. I sip my Bloody Mary. Something about her makes it feel right to confess my secrets to her, but we're in a weird situation. I down half my cocktail before I answer.

"It's not just Corey."

"You don't want to fuck Hank again?" Her frankness shocks me, although it shouldn't at this point.

"In a perfect world..." I reply, a smile playing across my lips. "Even if it was something I really wanted, Corey wouldn't allow it. Why would he? What kind of man wants his wife sleeping with another man?" I don't add, especially one like Hank.

"He might surprise you."

I shake my head. "You haven't talked to him about this. You haven't seen how he's been since that night. Corey is different."

"I could talk to him if you like."

"That would not help."

"You'd be surprised, darling. I can be very persuasive."

I don't doubt that. I am sure Tina could use her seductive powers and get Corey to agree to almost anything, but that wouldn't be fair, and it wouldn't be real. It would be his dick talking, not his brain.

"I bet I know one way he's been different. The sex has been great, hasn't it Samantha?"

I'm not the blushing type, but I can't help it. I hate how Tina has the ability to see right through me. Is that how she and Hank knew I'd give in if he put the moves on me? I don't speak, but Tina takes my silence as an answer.

“I thought so. Corey might not like that he’s confused by his feelings, but trust me, darling, that boy loved watching my Hank give it to you. I was the one holding his dick, so I know. I bet it’s all he can think about.”

“I don’t know, Tina. I just can’t imagine that my husband is into seeing me with another man.”

“How else do you explain the uptick in your sex life?”

Tina has a point, even if I don’t want to admit it. I know I’ve been thinking about how incredible sex was with Hank. I’m ashamed to admit I even think about it when I’m with Corey. My husband doesn’t remind me of being with Hank—not at all—but maybe that’s why. Making love has always been great with Corey, but he just doesn’t bring out the animal side of me that Hank did that night. At least, that hasn’t happened with Corey in such a long time. I guess I’ve been so consumed with my own horniness since that night that I haven’t even thought about why Corey was all over me. Tina’s explanation makes sense in a twisted way.

“Corey is turned on thinking about Hank fucking you. It’s okay to admit it.”

“Okay, maybe. But that doesn’t mean he’d ever want anything to happen again.”

“I’m sure it would only take a little nudge to get him on board again. I know men like Corey, and I know how to bring them around. Think about the benefits he’s already getting from it just happening once. You’ve wanted it all the time, haven’t you? And that wasn’t happening before, was it?”

I shake my head. If Tina’s half as good at convincing Corey as she’s been with me, she’s right. Corey will do anything she wants.

“Think of how things could be with Corey if you really feed this beast,” Tina continues.

“Even if you’re right about the sex, I don’t know that me being with Hank again would be the best thing for our marriage overall.”

“Darling, you’ll find that once Corey accepts what’s happening, even comes to want it, it’ll make everything better overall. See, the mistake you’re making about all this is thinking that it’s really about Hank. It’s all about you, Samantha. You need to understand what Corey is reacting to, and it’s seeing you as a queen. Watching you with Hank allows him to see you as a purely sexual being, as this woman who gives in to her carnal pleasure. Deep down, almost all husbands want to see their wives that way, even if they don’t realize it. When you give Corey this, he’s going to put you on a pedestal. Trust me, this will only be good for both of you in the end.”

Tina’s working overtime, but she doesn’t have me quite convinced. I know what I’d get out of being with Hank again. Just thinking about experiencing his body again makes me shift in my seat as I feel my panties dampen. She makes a compelling case for what Corey could get out of it, and yes, I understand she’s trying to convince me.

But even if she’s right, is that the Corey I want? Do I want a husband who worships me for fucking another man? It just feels unnatural to me. The two things balance on a scale in my mind and I’m ashamed to say that Tina’s pitch is effective. I think about Hank’s hands on me, and I tell myself that Corey and I can keep everything in perspective. I want to believe that because my dirty, slutty side—a side of me that’s been dormant for so long—wants it to be true.

“This is not an admission that I want anything to happen,” I begin, unconvincingly. “But if anything was to happen again, how would that work? Corey is adamant that he does not want us to see you two again. I don’t think I can convince him to go back to your place. And I’d feel terrible about tricking him into something.”

“We won’t need to trick anyone, Sam. With your permission, I’d like to speak with Corey.”

Tina projects wicked energy. She's won me over and she knows it. She's confident she'll do the same with Corey. This is a woman who is used to getting what she wants, and she's sure it's going to happen again with us. I think she's right, which both frightens and thrills me.

"You can talk to Corey anytime you want, Tina. I'm not his mom," I say. Tina stares at me and I realize she's willing to do what it takes to close this deal. I'm afraid to ask if she's seeking permission to fuck my husband. Jealousy surges through me, but I think of what I have to gain. "You're not asking about just talking to him, are you?"

"I'm motivated, darling. I like to see Hank get what he wants. In this case, I believe it means everyone gets what they want, even if they have to be convinced that they want it."

I laugh. "I see why you're always the top salesperson at your dealership."

"What can I say? I know what motivates buyers."

"I have to ask you something, Tina. Did Hank send you here? Is he behind all this?"

"Samantha, darling. I know you don't understand this, not yet, but you will. Hank didn't have to send me. He and I want the same things. We work as one. What pleases one, pleases the other. I truly believe Hank and I were fated for each other."

"You make it sound beautiful, Tina."

"It is. And I think you and Corey can be like us. Hank and I can show you the way. Sounds like you're saying you want to do this."

"I'm willing to explore it."

"You won't regret it, darling."

Tina's smile reminds me of the serpent in the Garden of Eden, and for the first time that afternoon, I don't fully believe her.

six

. . .

SAM WAS GUARDED WHEN SHE RETURNED FROM LUNCH WITH TINA. I was dying to know what they'd talked about, but I had too much pride to corner Sam the moment she walked in the door and interrogate her. I knew she would tell me what Tina had to say in her own time. At least, I hoped she would.

I let it slide for a couple of days. We were busy with the kids anyway. It was easy to avoid talking about the DeSimones when Sam's kids were with us during the week. I wasn't going to bring up how their mother fucked the neighbor when they might overhear it.

I thought I might mention Tina at bedtime, but Sam typically heads up before I do, and she was asleep every night when I went to bed. It's not unusual for Sam to fall asleep with a book in her hands and her bedside lamp lit. I take the book away and turn out the light before slipping into bed beside her. Her return to earlier bedtimes put an end to the run of fabulous sex we'd been having since that night with the neighbors.

I have to consider that whatever Sam and Tina discussed broke the spell. But I'm not so sure about that. Sam is glued to her phone like never before. I know she spends time on Instagram and Facebook and TikTok, but she's not just browsing. She types furiously and smiles or laughs. When I ask Sam what's so amusing, she just says it's nothing. She's texting with one of her friends. My paranoia makes me suspect that friend is Tina—or worse, Hank—but I can't ask without seeming like a jealous asshole.

The spell is not broken for me. I don't think of Sam fucking Hank every time I look at her, but that night is still at the front of my mind. The thoughts of my wife giving herself to the neighbor still make me achingly hard every time, and since she's backed off from the daily sex, I've taken to masturbating in the shower. I start to think that maybe I'm the deviant one. If Sam has moved on, why can't I?

The kids will return to their father's place on Friday, and I'll finally have a chance to ask Sam about her conversation. I'm gearing up for it when I have my own surprise visit from our sexy neighbor.

I'm in front of the house, having just pulled the trash cans out to the curb. I turn to go back inside and a Fuji White Range Rover whooshes to a sudden halt in front of the driveway. The passenger window whirs down and of course, it's Tina.

"Hey, stranger. She's a beauty, isn't she?" Tina is all smiles like nothing's happened between us.

"Yeah, it's great," I reply, turning away from her.

"Why don't you jump in for a ride? You really must experience how smooth of a ride this baby has."

"Thanks, Tina, but I'm not in the market for a hundred-thousand-dollar car. My Jeep is just fine."

"Just take a ride with me, dear. We have things to talk about."

I walk back to the Range Rover and rest my arms on the window to lean in. Tina is turned toward me, inviting cleavage spilling from her red sheath dress. My feelings on Tina don't stop me from staring at her tits. She sees it and her smile grows wider.

"We really don't have anything to talk about, Tina. What is there to say? Sam and I aren't into your lifestyle. Sorry."

“Samantha made her feelings clear when we met for lunch, but it didn’t sound like she was as definite as you are.”

I have a terrible poker face, and Tina reads my reaction perfectly. She’s pleased that she seems to know more about my wife’s state of mind than I do. It dawns on me that Sam hasn’t told me about her lunch with Tina because I won’t like what she has to say. I want to get in the car because Tina might tell me what Sam won’t, but I know I can’t trust our hot neighbor. Tina is going to spin whatever she tells me to get what she wants. And I know what she wants. I should go back into the house and just talk to Sam. Spending time with Tina is dangerous.

“Just hear me out, Corey. Hear me out, and if you want to be done with me—with us—fine. I’ll leave you alone.”

Tina makes it all sound so reasonable. She just wants to talk—about my wife fucking her husband. I must be out of my mind because I get into the expensive SUV. I’m still marveling at the buttery soft cream-colored leather seats when Tina speeds away from the curb.

I expect Tina to make her pitch as soon as she has me in the SUV, but she cranks up the radio and directs me to admire how amazing it sounds. She does have a point. The satellite radio 80s channel is dialed in, and Queen’s Fat Bottomed Girls is crystal clear. The bass thumps and the guitar is so pristine it’s like Brian May is sitting in the backseat playing for us live. But then, I wouldn’t expect anything less from a hundred-thousand-dollar luxury SUV.

Everything about the Range Rover is so smooth and so perfect it’s hard to believe the vehicle is real—kind of like Tina’s tits. They aren’t, of course. I know that for sure now that I’ve seen them bare. I glance at them while she drives. They really do look perfect in her tight red sheath dress. The dress is very short, showing that her legs are just as incredible as her fake rack. But the legs are the result of hard work, not a talented surgeon. It’s hard to believe that’s the body of a woman in her fifties. It’s no surprise

Tina is a top salesperson at the dealership with her assets on display like that. Hell, looking at that body makes me want to buy the Range Rover, even though I'm nowhere near the right income bracket.

Tina uses the loud music to avoid talking to me until we pull into the parking lot behind the local high school. The spot is deserted early on a Friday evening in the summer. She pulls up into the shade of the trees that line the back of the lot. Tina leaves the engine running and the windows up, with the icy air conditioning blasting. She seems content to just sit in the car and listen to the radio. I'm the one who turns down the music to speak.

"You wanted to talk. Talk, Tina."

"Aww, I love that song. Hank and I used to go to a local club—you wouldn't know it, that was before your time—and we loved to thrash to that song. It brings back such amazing memories."

I imagine a sweaty, lithe twentysomething Tina rocking out to Judas Priest with her black hair sprayed up to the heavens, make-up heavy and dramatic, and I'm ashamed to admit it makes my cock twitch. I picture her with the big tits bouncing in a hot pink, off-the-shoulder top, even though I don't know if she had those things back then. Is there a polite way to ask a woman when she got her implants? Unfortunately, I also imagine a young, muscular Hank, arms bulging from a t-shirt with the sleeves cut off, tossing Tina around like she's a doll—the same way he handled my Sam.

"Do you have something to say to me or not, Tina?"

"Samantha tells me you're struggling with what happened at our house."

"That's one way to put it, although I wouldn't say I'm struggling. I've put it behind me, and I'm very clear that it will never happen again."

"Have you, dear?"

"Have I what?"

"Put it behind you. I don't believe for a second that you've put it behind you. You wouldn't be tense as a whore in church if you'd truly put it behind you, Corey. I know you have unresolved feelings about Hank your wife being together.”

I stay silent because I feel like she’ll know I’m lying if I speak, and I don’t want to give her the satisfaction. I realize getting in the car with Tina was a mistake. I thought I could handle her, but that was only because I was hypnotized by her tits. She places her hand on my thigh before continuing. Can she feel my cock twitch?

“It’s perfectly natural, dear. You shouldn’t feel ashamed.”

“I’m not ashamed. I didn’t do anything wrong,” I reflexively snap.

“Of course not, dear.” She pats my thigh, fingertips closer to where my dick lies in my jeans. “But any man would be shaken seeing his wife taken by a superior man like Hank. I don’t mean that in a pejorative way, Corey. Samantha loves you very much, and I’m sure you take good care of her, but Hank is a cut above other men. It’s not a competition. It couldn’t be.”

I think about how hard Hank made my Sam come when he used her pussy, and deep down, I know Tina is right. Hank did give my wife the fucking of a lifetime. As a man, it’s impossible not to think of it as competition. No man wants to think another guy can fuck his wife so much better. It’s insane that Tina expects me to just be cool with that.

“I hope you’re not trying to make me feel better, Tina. You’re doing a terrible job. Trying to convince me that Sam having sex with your husband is a good thing is a fool’s errand.”

“It’s just a matter of perspective, dear. Isn’t it a good thing that she gets so much pleasure? I know you love her, Corey. You want to see her be happy, right?”

“Sam is happy with me. We’re happy together.”

“I know you are, but it isn’t the same kind of happiness Hank gave her. That was pure ecstasy. You saw it, Corey. You know it’s true.”

I’m feeling just as confused as that night at their house. Tina is building a verbal trap, and I need to keep from stumbling into it. Her hand on my thigh—her fingers are massaging—makes it harder to think.

“Yeah, Hank fucked the shit out of Sam. I’ve admitted it. Is that what you wanted to hear, Tina? Do you get off hearing me say your husband made my wife come so hard she was dizzy?”

Tina licks her lips and smiles. “I loved seeing it, Corey. You don’t have to tell me anything because I already know the truth, but it’s good to hear you admit it. I’m sure you’ll feel better if you speak your truth, dear.”

“And what truth is that, Tina?”

“The truth that you liked seeing it just as much as I did.”

“You’re crazy, Tina.”

“Am I, Corey?”

Tina grips my cock through my jeans, pressing it to my leg. I throb to full hardness and groan. She massages it and for a moment I’m afraid I’ll come in my jeans right there in the high school parking lot. It’s like a flashback to younger days. A wet spot of precum darkens the fabric.

“I know you like my tits, Corey, but what I’m feeling in your jeans isn’t about me, is it?” She allows a smile and adds, “Well, not entirely about me.”

“Tina...”

“You’re thinking about my Hank fucking your wife, and it’s making you hard, isn’t it? Don’t worry, I’m not offended, dear. I know I can’t expect your full attention against such a powerful display of manhood.”

“Tina...you’re hot...” The lame response comes out as a strangled groan.

Tina grins as she draws down the shiny gold zipper that closes the front of her dress. The fabric parts for her tits like it’s relieved the strain is over. Those glorious orbs pop into view, sheathed in red lace that makes them sexier than if she’d been braless beneath the dress. They aren’t the ghostly white of most women’s breasts but match the deep golden brown of the rest of her perfect body. I suspect Tina doesn’t have tan lines anywhere.

Pale, excited nipples strain against the see-through lace. I'm surprised to see they're pierced, like I've never seen them before. I was too distracted to think about it last time I guess. Tina gets off on teasing me. I see it now. This isn't solely about her husband fucking my wife.

"Thank you, dear. It's okay to look. I like it when men look. Hank likes it too. He loves for other men to lust after what belongs to him."

The zipper continues its downward journey, and the red dress falls open completely. Her panties are as translucent as their matching bra, and I see through the damp lace that her lips are puffed out. My balls tighten. Tina is right. So much of this is about Hank fucking Sam, but it's not just that. I want Tina, too. Her teasing drives me insane. I'd let Hank do whatever he wanted to my wife if I could slip my dick inside sexy Tina—even though I wonder if she'd feel it. I've seen her husband's cock. I comfort myself with the knowledge that I can still make Sam come, although she's only had that thing once.

"Here, touch me, Corey," Tina sighs, taking my hand and putting it on her tits. It's a relief to have her hand off my dick—even if it's for a second.

"What about Hank?" I stammer.

I'm afraid he'll twist me into a pretzel for touching his hot wife—even though he's fully had his way with mine—but it doesn't stop me from groping Tina. Her tits feel amazing. They must have paid top dollar for them because they almost feel real. She trembles when I strum her nipples, and it's exciting to feel her react to my touch. Maybe I do have some moves of my own.

"Mmm, dear. Hank's okay with it. He knows you're not going to steal me."

It's a slam, like of course you couldn't take me from Hank, but I don't care because I have my hands on Tina. I toy with the barbell through her nipple, and she hisses.

"Careful, dear. Not too rough."

“Sorry,” I reply, chastened.

“Take out your dick, Corey. I want to see it.”

I scramble to comply, and when my rod is exposed, it dawns on me how easy it was for Sam to be swept away with Hank. When something turns you on so quickly, so easily, you just react. You don’t think about right or wrong anymore, just about what you want.

“Tina, we should—”

I mean to say we should stop, but she grabs my exposed dick and squeezes hard enough that it hurts as much as it feels good. She loosens her grip enough to stroke me, and it keeps me from complaining further. Tina is in charge. It’s a weird feeling because I’ve never been a submissive guy.

“Let go, dear. Didn’t Samantha let go?”

“Yeah,” I moan.

I turn in the passenger seat and lean across the console so I can get both hands on Tina’s rack. I’m careful to avoid being too rough, but I’m still fascinated by her piercings. She gasps when I lightly flick them.

“Sometimes you just want something so much, you just must have it. You understand, don’t you Corey.”

“Yeah...”

“You couldn’t expect Samantha to deny herself Hank, could you?”

“No...uhn...Tina...”

“Why shouldn’t she have what she wants? Just like you’re having what you want.”

Not quite, I think. I want to be balls-deep in Tina, not just playing with her tits. I wonder if that’s on the table.

“She still wants Hank. You know that, don’t you dear?”

“Yeah...”

“And you know it’s wrong to deny her.”

Deep down, I don’t agree with that, but it’s hard to argue when Tina is slowly pumping my cock. She only needs one hand to work my shaft, freeing her other one to rub her lips through her panties. I close my eyes. If I keep watching her touch herself, I will shoot my load. But Tina won't let that happen. She feels me swell, and she grasps me tightly at the base to slow me down. She's perfectly edging me, keeping me at her mercy.

"Yeah," I weakly admit.

"We can all get what we want, Corey. You benefit from giving her to Hank just as much as she does. She's been insatiable since that night. I know she has. It's what he does to women. She's horny all the time because she craves what he has."

I know it's true. It should make me furious, but I love that Sam is so horny. Tina almost has me believing the reason doesn't matter.

"And you liked seeing Hank fucking your sweet little wife. Don't deny it, dear. I was there."

"Yeah," I groan.

"You loved watching a stud like my Hank use Samantha. You think about it all the time," she teases. She's stroking me faster now. It's hard to breathe. "He'll let you watch, dear. Not all the time—Hank likes to have them to himself—but he likes it when the husbands watch, too. It's good for you and for Samantha. You can learn what she really needs."

"Tina..."

"Hank is going to fuck her again. He's going to fuck her whenever it pleases him. And if you're a good boy about it, I'll reward you when I feel like it."

"Ahh...fuck...yeah...Tina!"

My body tenses and my balls draw tight, and I spew my shame all over the expensive polished wood of the Range Rover dashboard. I'm impressed with how much I have to give. Tina has inspired me. She keeps pumping my shrinking dick, but she pulls one of my hands from her tits and shoves it into her panties. She twists and I ram three fingers right up inside her.

Tina squishes around my fingers as she pulls me right inside her. She feels so open until she locks down around my fingers. Her muscle control is incredible. She holds my hand and thrusts onto it, using it like a sex toy. It's my fingers inside her, but she is in control, as usual. This isn't the kind of clumsy finger-banging I might have attempted back in my high school parking lot after hours.

"Harder! Harder!" she demands. "Fuck me, you bastard!"

Tina fucks my hand so hard I'm afraid she's going to break my fingers. I'm starting to lose feeling when she shrieks and bears down hard on me. For a second, I fear she's going to pull my whole hand inside her. Her body jerks, and she shrieks louder. I've never seen a woman come as violently as Tina. She's like a force of nature. It's incredible to behold. She keeps my hand until she's done with it, then casts it away.

"Mmm, I needed that to hold me over until I get back to Hank. Thanks for being useful, dear."

"Uh, sure," I mumble, looking down at my spent dick in my lap. I know it couldn't make Tina come as hard as my hand just did. If Tina expects that kind of pummeling, I'll never get her off—if I'm given the chance.

Tina sighs and zips her dress closed. She reaches into the backseat and pulls a bottle of water from her handbag, drinking it down without offering me a sip. I tuck my dick away.

"Now that we have things settled, we should be getting back. Be a dear and clean up your little mess."

I take the Armor All wipes she produces from the back of the Range Rover and do as I'm told, while she shifts the vehicle into gear and pulls away. My mind is a jumble. Nothing feels settled, as Tina insists. I didn't really agree to let Hank have his way with my wife again, did I? Things said while Tina was stroking my cock don't amount to a legal contract. That's lunacy. Her words made sick sense when she was jerking me off and I was touching her, but all that logic falls away when my pulse is back to normal —even if most of it was true. Doesn't it? I'm reeling as I wipe away my mess from the dashboard, unable to shake the feeling that I just made a deal with a she-devil.

seven

. . .

COREY BREEZES RIGHT PAST ME WHEN HE COMES IN FROM TAKING OUT the trash. I know that's not all he did. It doesn't take an hour to take out the trash. Besides, I saw Tina pick him up in the fancy, white SUV. Corey is flustered, which leads me to believe they did more than talk. Tina did stress how motivated she is to get Hank and me together. Would she sleep with Corey to make that happen? I'm sure Tina would do anything for Hank.

I don't care how hypocritical it sounds, but I just don't like the idea of my husband being with another woman. I can live with Tina jerking off Corey while they watched me and Hank. A handjob really is nothing. I was doing that to guys as a high school freshman. But I don't want to truly share Corey with another woman. I don't understand how he sat back and did nothing but watch Hank use me that night. He should have been consumed with jealousy.

Corey says nothing, and I don't press him for details. He's an animal in bed that night. Our sex life has tapered back to normal now that we're over the initial shock of that night, but Corey makes it clear he needs sex. I don't mind. I need it, too. We may be back to our usual one or two times a week, but I've been excited ever since my lunch with Tina.

I fantasize about Hank all the time. My little friend—okay, not so little friend—I keep in my nightstand drawer has been getting a workout. The only reason I haven't turned my passion on Corey is that I'm guilty about its source. I don't want my husband thinking I'm all over him because I'm still horny for Hank—even if that's the truth.

We get right to it. Foreplay is fun, but neither of us needs it. I'm standing at the end of the bed, folding laundry, and Corey comes into the bedroom and closes the door behind him. Thankfully, the kids are with their father. Corey presses in behind me and I feel he's already hard. His hands come up from beneath my breasts and he kneads them, gently rolling my nipples through my cute, polka-dotted sleep tank top. I pant and rub my ass back against him, not that Corey needs the encouragement. He sweeps my hair aside so he can nibble on my neck. He knows the chills that gives me.

“I need you, Sam.”

I rub back against him and softly moan by way of a reply. He pushes a hand into my sleep shorts. Fingers trace over my landing strip before he finds me soaked.

“God, you're so wet, Sam,” he gasps, sounding surprised.

“Mmm, yes...”

Corey bends me over the end of the bed, and I lean on my elbows. He doesn't just slam me down and take me, but he is more aggressive than he generally is, and I like it. It reminds me of Hank. Hank just takes what he wants. Corey pulls down my shorts and slots himself inside me. He gasps when he shoves it in like he always does. It's like he can't quite believe how good it feels to be inside me. I've always loved that about my husband. He truly makes me feel sexy and adored. My guilt over my lust for Hank blooms.

Neither of us speaks while we do it. We're both lost in our heads. Corey's fingers dig into my hips, and he pulls me back onto him while thrusting as deep as he can go. Is he trying to match Hank? My husband satisfies me—he always has—but he's not going to match Hank's power. I wish I could climb inside his head and know what Corey's thinking. Is he trying to give it to me like Hank, or punish me for fucking the neighbor? Is this about Tina? Did he fuck Tina in that SUV, or is this frustration that she didn't allow him? I drive back onto him, determined to outdo Tina if she did fuck him. She's a sexy woman, but I know I'm better.

Corey and I slam into each other. He's grunting like he might have a heart attack, but he doesn't relent. I bury my face in the stack of folded towels in front of me on the bed, moaning into it. We're fucking like we did right after that fateful night at the DeSimones, except we're not reliving it with each other. I love feeling Corey's desperation for me.

I close my eyes, and it's not Corey behind me. Those are Hank's hands on me. No, it's not really like being with the hot neighbor—Corey doesn't stretch me open the way Hank did—but our coupling is fast and frenzied, just like Hank took me. I come hard, pushing my ass up into the air to present to my husband. I'm so wet he slips right out of me, but Corey plugs it back in and hammers away for another few seconds. I feel him pulse and come inside me. He pumps two, three times and he's done. Hank would still be filling me. The thought makes me come again as Corey finishes. Our sex didn't last long, but it was intense. We both got what we needed.

"I love you, Sam," he gasps, falling back away from me.

"Love you too, honey. That was great. You must be inspired tonight."

I give him the perfect opening to bring up Tina, but Corey slips away, telling me he needs a shower. I huff in frustration, even though I'm still pulsing from my climaxes. I'm not going to push Corey to tell me what happened with Tina in that car. I can't. He didn't pressure me to tell him about my lunch with her. We've been married long enough that I can read between the lines of Corey not asking what he must be intensely curious about. But he'd better not leave me hanging forever.

I get my answer soon enough, but it doesn't come from my husband. He remains tight-lipped. Tina reaches out to me by text.

TINA

did Corey tell you we spoke?

SAM

he forgot to mention it, but I saw you pick him up

TINA

that means he didn't share details

SAM

he didn't but he came home horny as hell

TINA

we can't do this and have secrets

SAM

I'm not worried. We're working through it that's what I want to hear. I believe I have Corey handled. He understands the benefits of giving you to Hank how much convincing did it take?

TINA

SAM

TINA

I was hands-on. I understand men like Corey. I knew just what he needed

Jealousy blazes through me. I'm pretty sure saying she was hands-on with Corey is Tina's clever way of telling me she jerked him off again. I don't know if I can get used to the idea of her hands on my husband. At least, she didn't fuck him. I don't think she did. I also don't like her implying she knows Corey better than I do. I've never thought of myself as insecure, but Tina stirs feelings in me. All those worries fizzle away when I think about Hank's body and that wonderful cock of his. My concerns don't stop me from pressing forward.

SAM

what happens next?

TINA

we need to get together!

eight

. . .

TINA MAKES THE NEXT MOVE. SHE REVIVES OUR DORMANT GROUP TEXT chain to ask Sam and me to spend the day with her and Hank on a boat. They don't have their own boat, but Hank has mentioned in the past that one of his union buddies has one they borrow from time to time. He kept saying they needed to get us out on the water with them, but it's never happened. I guess getting another shot to fuck my wife inspired him to make it happen.

I wait to see if Sam responds, but she leaves it to me. It's been over a week, and I still haven't told her about my car ride with Tina. It's petty, I know, but I'll tell her about my outing with the neighbor when she tells me about hers. I suspect she knows something about it anyway. Sam keeps giving me strange looks like she's trying to figure out something. I give her nothing. But I am the one who breaks our silence in the text chain, replying, Sounds great! Let's make a plan. Sam stays silent. She holds her thoughts until we're cleaning up from dinner that night.

"I guess we're going out with Tina and Hank this weekend," she says, with a forced casual tone as she carries the salad bowl to the sink.

"Sounds like fun. You love being out on the water."

"I do, but I'm surprised you changed your mind about this. You made your feelings about the DeSimones clear last time we talked about them."

“You’re right, I did. But I’ve had time to reconsider.”

“Is that so? Did your car ride with Tina help with that reconsideration?”

The plates in my hand clatter to the counter when they slip from my hands. A spot of spaghetti sauce splashes onto my t-shirt and Sam’s arm. I’m right beside her.

“You’ve been holding onto that.”

“I wanted to see if you’d say something about it.”

“She wanted to talk about what happened between us. All of us.”

I hate that I sound defensive. Maybe my hands aren’t clean, but I still feel like I’m on the right side of all of this.

“Tina must have been very convincing. With her words.” Sam turns to face me, fingers tapping the counter, her other hand on her hip. The salad leftovers she was putting into Tupperware forgotten.

“How did your lunch with Tina go? You never said,” I deflect.

“Just girl talk, you know how that is. We had so much to talk about.”

“I’m sure you did. You girls have so much in common now.”

Sam and I stare at each other. It’s a good thing we’re alone in the kitchen because the tension is thick. Her older daughter, Ashleigh, who is seventeen and drives, is at work. Her thirteen-year-old daughter, Amelia, is at dance. One of the dance moms, Liz, is supposed to drop her off at home after practice.

“Is this who we are now? Are we one of those couples who plays games?” Sam asks.

“I don’t want to be, but everything’s been different since that night. You know it’s true.”

“We were getting back to normal, weren’t we?”

“On the surface, sure. We’ve been acting like everything is fine. Our sex life has gone back to normal.”

“Until your ride with Tina.”

I want to be angry with the accusation, but it's the truth. We've been back to sex every day since then, but it's not all me. Sam has been just as into it. I know what's buzzing around in my brain. I'd love to know what's going on in hers.

"I'll tell you all about my lunch with Tina. You can ask me anything you want, Corey."

"I didn't want to have to ask."

"That makes two of us. Since I know you're dying to ask, Hank was not there. It was just us girls."

"Were you disappointed, Sam?"

"I'm not obsessed with his dick." She isn't quite convincing, like she missed saying that obsessed. "Tina and I needed to get some things straight. We had a good talk. You were right. They've done this sort of thing before. She gave me an interesting perspective on everything."

I laugh. "Tina has an interesting perspective. No doubt about that. She's very good at getting her way."

Sam's eyes narrow. "How did she get her way with you, Corey?"

"She, uh..."

"It's okay. You can tell me when you're ready. I already have an idea of what happened."

"She told you?" I knew Sam knew! "I'm sorry. I know I shouldn't have let it happen. She was just talking, and she unzipped her dress, and then her hands are everywhere. All the blood rushed out of my head, and I stopped thinking clearly."

"Unzipped her dress?"

Sam sounds surprised, and I'm confused. Did I fall into a trap? It feels like everyone in my life is manipulating me. Didn't we just say we need to stop playing games?

"What did she tell you?"

“Tina implied. She didn’t tell me anything, except that she brought you around to her way of thinking. She said she was hands-on.”

“Men like me? What does that mean?”

“Why don’t you tell me, Corey?”

“Tina thinks she has it all figured out, but that doesn't mean she’s right. She’s got crazy ideas about men and women, about Hank and women.”

“I don’t know if they’re that crazy. Sure, they sound out there, but when I really think about it, she’s not so wrong.”

“About what? How women should just throw themselves at Hank’s feet. Is that what you want?” I regret the edge in my voice. It sounds more like an angry accusation than I’d intended.

“We’re telling the truth, right? Yes, Hank is hot, and the sex with him was incredible. I told you that the morning after. I do still think about it.”

“And you want it again.”

“I don’t want to wreck our lives over it, but if everyone wants it to happen, then yes, I’d like to be with him again. But let’s talk about your truth, Corey. You liked watching it. Admit it.”

I step back from Sam and feel sweat break out on my forehead. She knows the truth, just like Tina does. It’s written all over her face. None of that makes it easy to admit the truth—my truth, as Sam put it. She steps to me, keeping us close as I try to back away.

“It’s okay to admit it, Corey. I’m not going to judge you. You admitted it while we were in bed that morning. Do you need to be hard to admit the truth?”

I changed into loose running shorts when I got home from work and Sam easily finds the outline of my cock through the thin fabric when she touches me. I didn’t start the conversation hard, but when Sam told me how great it was fucking Hank, my dick twitched to life. She feels I’m half-hard when she touches me and smiles. The tension is still there between us, but now it feels like it’s feeding something else.

“I feel you’re already hard. Just talking about all this gets you going, doesn’t it Corey?”

“That’s not fair,” I weakly protest. Just like when Tina started touching me, I can’t think clearly.

“You liked watching me fuck Hank. Tell me the truth. You owe that to me.”

“It’s not that simple, Sam.”

Her hand shoves inside my shorts and underwear. She grasps my shaft, and it pulses to full life. I groan when she lightly tugs it.

“It feels simple to me. We’re talking about Hank and Tina. We’re talking about what I did with Hank, and it makes you hard. You don’t have to feel weird about it. I don’t. Tina says deep down all men want to see their wives the way you saw me that night.”

“I doubt that,” I grunt. “A real man doesn’t want other men to fuck his wife.”

Sam kisses me, tasting of Italian dressing, but it’s a teasing kiss. Her hot, slick lips press to mine, but when I try to slip her my tongue, she pulls back. I try again, and she retreats again.

“You’re a real man, Corey. I wouldn’t have married you if you weren’t. That night doesn’t make me doubt your manhood.” She grips me tighter, and I moan. Can she feel my meat pulsing in her hand?

“No?”

“Never Corey. I like that you got off watching me. It makes me feel sexy.”

“It does?” I hate that I sound so unsure. I feel anything but manly.

Sam squats in front of me and hauls down my shorts and underwear. My dick springs up, and she catches it. I’m dripping with excitement, and she uses it to slicken her grip on me. She looks up at me with smoldering eyes. Sam wants me. I feel it. It’s just what I need with all this talk about how good it was fucking Hank.

“It makes me feel like a goddess. I know you’ve been thinking about it all these times we’ve made love since then. Most husbands our age aren’t into their wives like that anymore. I love how you want me now, Corey.”

“God, I want you. You have no idea.”

Sam giggles and looks at my cock. “I think I have some idea.” She swirls her tongue around the head, collecting my leaking passion. My brain swirls, and I lean back against the counter for support.

“You’re fucking sexy as hell, Sam. It wasn’t just that night. Most guys my age don’t still have wives as hot as you. Let’s be real.”

“It’s nice to know all that effort working out is appreciated.” She still slowly pumps my cock, keeping it close to her lips. I feel her humid breath on it.

“I know how lucky I am, Sam. Hank knows it, too, that’s why he wants you.”

“It’s nice to be wanted, but the only man that really matters is you, and that will never change. He can’t take me away from you.”

I remember the way Sam howled on his cock, and I’m not so sure. Sam loves me, and she doesn’t want to leave me. I believe she means it. But letting her fuck Hank again is so dangerous. It’s like doing crack. If you get away with doing it once without getting addicted, would you ever go back? I’m beginning to realize that watching Sam fuck Hank is my crack. I want it again, no matter how dangerous it is.

“What are you thinking about, hon?”

“You and Hank, and how hot it was.”

Sam rewards my honesty by taking me in her mouth. She sucks me down with a long, deep stroke, holding me at the back of her throat. Her mouth wetly pulses around me as she sucks. My balls tighten, but I don’t come—not yet—because she slips me out of her mouth.

“Tell me your favorite part,” she coos.

It's difficult to speak, but I force out the words. "When he...when he lifted you...was slamming you...you wrapped your legs around him and you sounded like he was murdering you...and you came so hard..."

"I came so hard."

"It was like you'd never come before...like you'd never been fucked before..."

Sam starts sucking again, and I lose my words. Her fingers circle the base, and I realize she's been controlling me by squeezing, making sure I don't come too soon—just like Tina. She's having fun teasing me. I'm having fun too. I want to fuck my wife right here in the kitchen, but I don't want to pull my cock out of her hungry mouth. It feels too damned good. And Amelia could be dropped off any second. I do not want my stepdaughter catching me fucking her mother in the kitchen.

"Sam...Sam...we have to..."

Her lips smack when she lets me go. "We have to what? We have to see the DeSimones again? You have to see Hank fuck me again?"

"Yes!" It's a strangled cry when she starts sucking again. I'm so close, but she's still controlling me, not letting me come. "Let's...upstairs... Amelia..."

Sam glances at the clock on the microwave. She slurps around my head before speaking.

"Don't worry. I think we're about done here, hon."

I stare down, and her eyes sear into me as she jacks me hard. Sam smiles, realizing I'm there. It's like she's giving me permission to finish, and I think it's going to happen on her face. I'd fucking love that. I picture Hank painting her face and there it is. But as my balls tighten, she pulls me to the back of her throat, and I blast my load right down. Sam swallows every last drop without missing a beat, although to be fair, I've been coming so much lately that my delivery is diminished. She sucks until I shrink and slip out from between her lips.

“See, we’re finished,” she says. I take her hand and pull Sam to her feet. “You’re finished anyway. You’d better have more for me later after the kids are in bed.”

I’ve got a couple of hours. I should be able to manage that. While I consider it, Sam kisses me hard on the mouth. I don’t mind if we kiss after she goes down on me, but it’s not usually so aggressive. She shoves her tongue deep into my mouth like she really wants me to taste it. I do catch a hint of my own essence, but it doesn’t slow me down. I wrap my arms around Sam and clutch her tight while we kiss.

“I can’t wait for this weekend,” she says, turning her back on me and wiggling her ass on her way out of the kitchen.

I guess I’m cleaning up the rest of dinner. I suppose that’s fair. Sam did just put in a solid effort. I wish I could show her enthusiasm for our time with the DeSimones, but I just can’t. It scares me as much as I want it, and I don’t know how to untangle those feelings.

© 2023 Aphrodite Omnimedia. All Rights Reserved. No part of this work may be reproduced for distribution by any means physical, mechanical, or digital without the explicit written permission of the author.

This is a work of fiction. All characters and locations are fictitious or used fictitiously. Any resemblance to actual persons or places is entirely coincidental.

Cover design by Max Sebastian

Cover image © konradbak. Licensed from depositphotos. Individuals pictured are models and are used for illustrative purposes only.

First Smashwords edition published April 2023

 Created with Vellum

sam surrenders to the neighbors:

book two

Corey and Sam plan a day out on the boat with their neighbors, Hank and Tina. The day on the water will be full of sun, fun, and Hank taking Sam at will. Can Corey hold it together while watching his wife reach the heights of ecstasy with another man? And can Sam ever look at her husband the same again after being Hank's plaything all day?

Enjoy this short sample from book two and click the pre-order link below to make sure you're first in line for this hot nautical adventure!

Hank has one hand on the throttles and the other on the wheel as he guides us out of the marina and into the open bay. He looks like a natural at the controls, and it's arousing to see him in control of such a big, powerful boat. I slide into the seat beside him, and he briefly glances over to appreciate me, but he's responsible and keeps his eyes on the water ahead of us.

"How is Corey holding up back there? I know the water is a little rough today. There's a storm far out, but it shouldn't arrive until tonight. We should be back well before then."

"He'll be fine. He just needs time to get his sea legs."

"Tina will take good care of him."

"I'm sure she will," I reply, smirking. I resist the urge to check on our spouses in the back of the boat.

"Don't worry, Sam. She doesn't have designs on your husband."

The way he says it makes it sound like it would be absurd for his wife to be interested in my husband. Hank might be more of an alpha than Corey, but Corey is a great guy and a passionate lover. Tina would be lucky to have him in her bed. I want to tell Hank that, but I don't want to sound defensive. Corey needs to stand up for himself.

"I know. Maybe you guys have been doing this so long that it's all routine, but there's a learning curve for the rest of us."

Hank laughs. "You make it sound like we're a couple of wild and crazy swingers, fucking everyone we meet. It's not like that, Sam, not at all."

"Now you're just trying to make me feel special."

“You are special. I noticed it the day you moved in across the street.”

“You’ve had your eye on me since then?”

“Why do you sound surprised?”

“It’s just not something that would have occurred to me. Corey and I don’t live that kind of life, and you and Tina have always seemed so much in love.”

“We are in love, Sam. I adore my wife. No one can question my devotion to Tina. That devotion is why what we do works for us. We could never do these things if we weren’t deeply in love with each other and if we didn’t trust each other completely.”

“You make it sound so sweet.” I hope I don’t sound too snide.

“Don’t you trust Corey completely?”

“Of course, I do. And he trusts me.”

I say it reflexively but realize we haven’t been acting that way recently. We’ve both been keeping secrets and been suspicious of each other’s motives. Hank is right about one thing. If we’re going to do this and survive it, we do need to trust each other. Corey and I need to come together or we’re going to fall apart. I’m not going to let that happen.

“I hope so, Sam. We had a great time with you guys that night. I had a good time with you that night. I’ve missed seeing you.”

“I’ve missed you too, Hank. It’s weird that we did... that,” I tripped over the words, unable to be more explicit in the moment, “and never talked afterwards. Makes it feel like a one-night stand.”

“I hope it’s not.”

“Isn’t that why you invited us out on the boat today?”

“I’m a go-with-the-flow kind of guy. Whatever happens, happens.”

Hank smiles when he says it. We both know he’s anything but. Hank is the kind of man who takes what he wants, the way he took me that night. We clear the marina, and he opens up the engines. Their roar cuts off any further discussion. The front of the boat lifts, pushing me back in my seat, and we’re off like a rocket.

I enjoy the wind on my face and the way my ponytail flutters in the wind. It reminds me of the old days being out on the boat with my dad. I stand up and lean forward over the windshield so I can really feel it. I laugh, thinking I’m having my I’m the King of the World moment.

The day was hot before we set out on the water, but it’s comfortable in the shaded cockpit with the wind blowing on me. None of that stops me from deciding it’s a good time to tease Hank. I don’t want him to get the wrong idea that I’m not interested. I stay on my feet and pull the tank top over my head. When it drags my bikini top with it, I don’t rush to fix the triangles over my boobs. I don’t have huge boobs like Tina, but I flash a ton of sideboob, and Hank is there for it. He’s so busy appreciating my chest that I’m afraid he might crash the boat. I look him right in the eyes when I tug my top back into position. Hank's a confident man. He doesn't look away but keeps staring and smiles to show he likes what he sees. I shiver, and it's not the breeze, but the effect of Hank's attention focused on me.

"How would you like to steer her?" Hank asks, raising his voice above the roar of the engines.

"I'd love to!"

Hank doesn't throttle down or slide out of the captain's chair, but holds out his left arm, that charming smile growing wider. I don't think he's stopped smiling since he's seen me, and it makes me glow inside. I return that smile and slide over between his arms, settling onto his lap. My dad would let me steer from his lap when I was little, but it never felt like this.

I settle between his spread thighs and feel that big lump right against my butt. It jumps when I settle in, and my core tightens. Just being in contact with Hank's manhood triggers the memory of feeling him inside me, and my craving for him intensifies. I grip the wheel hard with both hands and try to focus on steering the boat, not on what's teasing me from beneath.

The power of the boat hums through me, and I realize how much I've missed this thrill. I wouldn't call myself an adrenaline junkie, but I do love things that go fast and thrill at a sense of danger. The crystal blue water of the bay spreads out before me, and with the land receding in the background, I feel like I can go anywhere. It's so freeing.

I open the throttles wider than Hank had it, and the boat bounces hard on the choppy water. My round ass bounces on Hank's lap, and I feel him jump under me. Feeling his excitement makes me smile, and I bounce harder on his lap than is necessary.

"Careful, Sammy. Don't forget this isn't my boat," Hank warns, using the jostling as an excuse to put his hands on my waist and steady me. Now that I'm back in his lap, he's back to calling me Sammy. I'd kill anyone else for that, but I like it from him. Hank's just that charming.

"Don't worry, Hank. I can handle as much power as you've got."

"We'll see about that."

Once he has an excuse to touch me, Hank drops the pretense that I need him to be my human seatbelt. He caresses my sides, and I squirm when it tickles. I think he enjoys torturing me and he keeps tickling me. Hank probably likes the way it makes me wiggle my ass on him.

"I thought you didn't want me to crash," I say, laughing.

"You said you could handle anything I've got, Sammy."

"Very funny."

I ease back on the throttles, but not on rubbing my butt into his crotch. Hank holds my hips and pushes up to meet me, wedging his bulge between my cheeks. His grip is so tight it feels like I couldn't escape if I wanted to, and his power is such an aphrodisiac. Focusing on guiding the boat becomes difficult as the friction increases the heat between my thighs. It's like I'm giving Hank a lap dance. I feel dirty and sexy. Corey can't see much from behind us, but how much is his imagination filling in the blanks? How does he feel seeing me back on Hank's lap?

Hank releases my hips, and he doesn't have to hold me there to keep me grinding on his lap. His hands slide higher and cup my breasts through my top. Those big hands only grope me through my bikini for a moment before he just pulls it out of his way and massages my naked boobs. I bite my lip but still moan out loud. Corey can't hear it over the roar of the engines anyway. Hank's rough, calloused fingers roll my nipples, thrilling me. My pussy throbs in rhythm with my nipples, and I grind into his lap like I'm trying to wear away the clothing separating us. It would be amazing if Hank could just slip that big cock right inside me. Hank handles my body like it belongs to him, and I'm ashamed to say I love it.

"Is your pussy wet?" he asks, leaning close and kissing behind my ear.

"Yesss..." I hiss.

"I can't wait to feel how wet you are for me, Sammy."

Hank says it like it's a foregone conclusion he'll have me because we both know it's true. I hope my husband is ready.

Available for purchase June 27, 2023

magic hands

Cori Lynch spent the last decade raising her children and is ready to return to the workforce; working as a massage therapist is the perfect fit for her schedule and her desire to help people. Cori knows she can make a difference, improving her client's well-being by using her skilled hands.

Cori quickly learns that many of her coworkers are using their talents for much more than working out kinks and treating sore, strained muscles. Cori's shock turns to curiosity and then to temptation as she peppers her new work friend Mayde with questions.

Cori's husband Dylan was already enduring happy ending jokes from his best friend Baines when Cori became a massage therapist, putting the possibility of "extras" front of mind even before his wife shared the news of her coworkers' special services. It's not something Cori would ever do, of course, but the revelation propels Dylan's mind to consider outlandish and forbidden fantasies.

Magic Hands is the story of a couple tempted to explore dark possibilities and suppressed desires. Can a typical suburban couple resist such temptations? Can their marriage survive if they give in?

carol's trinity

It was a birthday surprise Carol didn't ask for, but one she would never forget. Carol had a feeling that things wouldn't be the same after that magical night her husband, John, shared her with three sexy, younger men. She just couldn't anticipate all the ways it would change her. At forty, she feels like a new woman, with powerful new desires.

Conner, Noah, and Matteo are never far from her mind in the months afterward, but Carol doesn't quite know how to tell her husband she wants another round with "her guys". Was her 40th birthday present a one-time thing? Isn't it safer if it's left that way? She doesn't want to hurt John's feelings, and she doesn't want to come off as a wanton woman. But after a moment of honesty with John, Carol gets everything she asked for—and more!

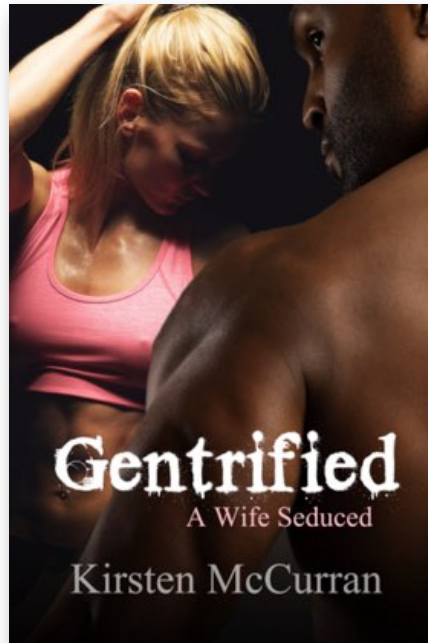

Can Carol handle satisfying three younger studs and keep her husband happy? Can she resist the urge to sink deeper into depravity, giving the men in her life every kinky thing they ask for? And can her marriage survive when Carol is pulled in so many different directions by so many men?

sexy tumbles

Goody-two-shoes Kris finds her dormant naughty side ignited when she discovers an old couples' sex game while helping to clean out the neighbors' garage. Everyone is shocked when Kris is the one to suggest they give Sexy Tumbles a try, but her husband and their best friends are all in. Long-simmering crushes and secret desires explode out into the open when these two couples place themselves at the mercy of the erotic game.

gentrified

Jessica is a fish out of water when her husband, Kyle, moves their family from the cushy suburbs to a fixer-upper in an up-and-coming neighborhood in the city. The new arrivals get the cold shoulder from most of the neighborhood old-timers, except for one. Winston has designs on Jessica the moment he sees her on the street. After deciding he must have her, Winston sets about seducing the pretty young mom and making sure he has her husband's blessing when he does it.

But no great plan comes off without a hitch, and when Winston meets Jessica's best friend Nicole he finds his attention split. Can Winston seduce Jessica while romancing her best friend? Will Nicole be a wrench in his plans, or become an unexpected ally?

stephanie's hotwife seduction

Stephanie is on a rare date night with her husband Andy when they spy a curious sight. Her coworker Dez, an attractive younger black man, is out with an older white couple. Curiosity gets the better of her and Stephanie asks Dez what his deal is. Dez explains he's a Bull and a whole new world is opened to Stephanie and Andy.

Stephanie can't help but be tempted by the hotwife lifestyle...and her handsome coworker. Will Stephanie lose herself to this new lifestyle or can Andy reel her back in and keep the woman he fell in love with?

These and other titles are available at online booksellers

about the author

I'm the stereotypical wife and mom with a dirty little secret: I have lots of fantasies about what all my friends and neighbors are up to behind closed doors, and I turn those sexy fantasies into the stories I love to share with the world. I could be the sweet mom you see in the stands at the soccer game or the pretty woman at the supermarket you wonder about as she's squeezing the melons.

Most of my stories are about married women looking to bust out and explore their wild side, often with the encouragement of their husbands--and sometimes without it. If you like daring stories about women of a certain age embracing their sexuality, I'm the girl for you.

I've written over 60 ebooks, which can be found at major booksellers. I love to hear from my readers. You can reach me on Twitter or by email at kmccurran@gmail.com. My free erotic shorts can be found on Medium.

