It was a beautiful, lavish affair, from the string quartet playing as the bride walked down the lined path, to the adjacent manor house where the reception was held. The ceremony took place creek side, surrounded by trees dripping with the golds, russets and coppers of autumn.

“It was a gutsy call to plan a wedding on the last weekend of October,” Callie said. Brandon’s suit coat was over her shoulders, as the snug, short sleeved jacket she wore over her little black dress did nothing to keep her warm, but it matched her blue-green heels and she loved the shoes.

“Nice call, I say,” Tyler replied, taking in the points of a bridesmaid’s hard nipples showing through the silk of her dress. Callie elbowed him playfully and he shrugged. He never tried to hide his eye for the ladies. He didn’t see the need to pretend to be something he wasn’t. They continued their brisk walk along the creek to the manor house.

“That’s our Tyler,” said Brandon, hugging Callie to his side. “Not one for marriage but loves to come at weddings.” He held the door for his girlfriend and Tyler went his own way.

Callie laughed while watching Tyler move in on a blonde bridesmaid. The girl was very pretty, but he was a handsome guy and could turn on the charm when needed, so she thought he had a good shot at the girl. She missed the hunt sometimes, and wondered if Brandon ever did.

Just a couple inches over five feet and slender, Callie was a slight girl, and chilled to the bone by the time they reached the manor house. She shrugged out of Brandon’s jacket, taking in the toasty warmth of the dining room filled with people. Servers circulated with hors d’oeuvres, and Callie chatted with her boyfriend’s friends while he waited in line at the bar. Matt, Ethan and Tyler were all fun guys and Callie knew them well as they frequently hung out together. They were on the same rugby team with Brandon—as was the groom—and they usually partied after games, drinking and icing their sore spots. Ethan and Tyler were each other’s “man dates” for the night, as Ethan's wife, Cyndi, was stuck at work and Tyler was unapologetically single. Matt's fiancé, Skye, was with him, but she was in line at the bar with Brandon.

"Wasn't the ceremony beautiful?" Callie asked.

"If you like that sort of thing," Tyler responded, returning from his bridesmaid quest. "I see it as tragic, myself. Another man down."

"They love each other, what's wrong with that. Don't you look forward to finding someone to spend your life with?"

"I don't know if anyone is ever going to tame our Tyler," Matt said.

"Hey, I don't think I've 'tamed' Brandon. We just like spending time together," Callie said defensively. She was a free spirit herself, and didn't want to be thought of one of those women who keep their men from having fun

"Have you been tamed, Callie?" Tyler asked.

"I belong to myself, Tyler. Tamed or not, my decision."

"Does all this talk mean you're going to join Skye and me on the wedding track?" Matt asked.

"We'd better start planning to smuggle Brandon out of the country," Ethan said.

"Don't let Cyndi hear you talking like that," Callie said. "She'll string you up. And no, I am not planning on dragging Brandon to the altar. Jeez, we're only twenty-three. There is way too much to explore and too much fun to be had before I settle down. I'm like you guys, I'm not ready tie myself to a job and a mortgage and kids yet, but I do look forward to it all when the time is right."

"If our drinks were here I would toast you right now," Tyler said. "If you keep talking like that I'm going to steal you away from Brandon."

It wasn't the first time he'd had the thought. Callie was a little piece of ass and—more importantly—a fun girl. He'd love a chance to find out what she was really like one-on-one. He could imagine she was a party in bed. But Tyler didn't know if she and Brandon were as open as some of the others on the team.

"He doesn't own me, so you can't steal me," Callie replied with a wink. "But I choose to be off the market right now."

“Are you trying to steal my girlfriend again?” Brandon asked, returning to the group. He passed out beers to the boys while Skye handed Callie a Tequila Sunrise.

“She says she doesn’t need to be stolen. Better keep your eye on this one,” Tyler joked.

“Callie is free to do as she pleases. We work because I trust her. She would never do anything behind my back,” Brandon said confidently.

“And that’s why I love you so much,” Callie said, kissing Brandon. “You’re not afraid to let me be me.”

It really was the truth. She loved that Brandon didn’t pressure her into being someone she wasn’t, or insist her life revolve around him. Most of the guys she’d dated were so possessive she felt like she was being smothered and it was why she was quite the serial dater in college. That, and the fact that Callie had always loved the thrill of a new guy. There was just something about meeting someone new—the sparks that flew when you were learning each other’s bodies—that she missed whenever she was in a relationship. She met Brandon when they were both college seniors and the year and a half she’d been involved with him was the longest relationship of her young life. They’d spent most of the year after graduation travelling. The winter was spent in New England, snowboarding and skiing and when it grew warmer, they spent months in Maui. Callie worked on a tour boat, and Brandon at a local hotel. They spent their free time on the beach, sunning and surfing.

Her favorite spot was Little Beach, an unofficial clothing optional beach where she used to spend hours soaking up the sun and swimming. The older perverts staring at her lithe young body did not bother her because there was nothing Callie loved more than diving into the crashing surf au natural. The gawking didn’t bother Brandon either, because he was proud that all those guys lusted after his girlfriend. In fact, the visits to Little Beach usually led to them fucking out in the surf, or at least Callie blowing him in the Jeep with the top down on the way home.

Now they were back on the Mainland and Brandon was working in finance, she had a marketing job and she was antsy that things were starting to feel settled. Brandon didn’t want to sit still and get stale any more than she did, so they planned trips almost every weekend, sometimes going away with the guys to the beach or the mountains—anything to keep them from feeling like they were becoming full-fledged grownups.

The friends found their table and chit-chatted until the best man stood and made his toast. When he finished, they snatched up their champagne flutes and chinked them all around. Callie had to reach across the round table to reach everyone and Tyler was so distracted by the unexpected peek down her low-cut dress that he nearly missed her glass. He could see right down to the fringe of the blue-green bra that offered her perky tits up to him. Callie smirked when she caught him looking, but he could tell she wasn't mad. Besides, he'd pegged her as one of those girls who like attention a long time ago. He knew it wasn't any accident that she didn't seem to own a skirt that reached her knees, or that all of her bikinis were so skimpy. As long as Brandon didn't mind their looking—and it seemed he didn't—he and the other guys were going to look. Tyler and the boys had discussed Callie's hotness on more than one occasion.

Ethan was subtler about checking her out, but Callie still caught him and gave a flirty wink. He loved his wife, but that didn't mean he could admire Callie just as much as his friends. And since Cyndi wasn't there, he'd been free to admire her tight little ass in that dress all night.

Brandon just shook his head as he watched his teammates drool over his girlfriend. Not only didn't he mind, he was proud of the attention she received. He'd even helped her pick out that sexy little dress. It turned him on that other guys wanted to fuck his girlfriend, and the attention had other benefits as well. The last time they all spent a weekend at the beach, Callie had been wearing a very small string bikini and the guys couldn't get enough. He'd heard the rumors about what some of the guys on the team got up to and he was shocked none of them made a pass at Callie when he wasn't around. Or if they did, she never told him—and he wasn't going to ask. He wasn't quite sure how he would feel if she ever took things beyond flirting. That day all the attention took its toll on Callie, and she jumped him the second they were alone in their room, giving him the ride of his life. And Callie was enjoying the attention tonight, too, going by the smile on her face.

“What’s so funny?” Brandon asked. He kissed her and gave her a squeeze.

“Nothing, just naughty thoughts.”

“You’ll have to tell me all about them later,” he grinned.

“I promise.”

Dinner was excellent and Callie was glad when it arrived because while she loved the champagne, it went right to her head. The fillet was tender and peppery and the veggies crisp. Brandon finished what was on her plate while she and Skye excused themselves to the ladies room.

“You look hot tonight,” Callie told Skye while they waited in line.

“I can’t let you grab all the attention.”

“Are you calling me an attention whore?” Callie giggled.

“Not at all. If you’ve got it you should flaunt it, right?”

“Well, you’ve got it, sister.”

“Thank you. Matt could hardly keep his hands to himself while I was getting ready.” Skye wore a slinky black dress that sparkled in the light and had an asymmetrical line that came just below the knee on the right side, but ended above on the left. It was cut as low as Callie’s dress—showing off her larger breasts—but Skye’s dress clung tightly, so there would be no flashing from her.

“I can understand why. Be careful if Tyler asks you to dance,” Callie warned.

“He won’t grope me on the dance floor in front of everyone.” Skye actually wasn’t so sure about that. Tyler’s hands wandered like they had a mind of their own—something she knew from firsthand experience.

“That’s true. He has to behave himself too much when he’s in full view of everyone,” Callie agreed. She didn’t think Skye minded if Tyler did not behave in private, though. She recalled a late night at the beach house the group rented last summer. Everyone was drunk—half of them were passed out—and Callie was stumbling out to the car to see if she could find Brandon’s lighter. On the way back into the house, Callie spied movement under the rickety wooden steps that led up to their rooms and when she squinted found it was Skye and Tyler caught in a clinch. She didn't peek too long, but before she ran up the steps she was sure she saw Tyler's hand underneath Skye's sundress while the secret couple made out. It had been a long time since Callie had an illicit encounter in the dark of night, and part of her was jealous. She'd never said anything about what she saw that night. She knew some things were better kept to yourself.

"You're talking like you have intimate knowledge," Skye said, playfully pushing her friend. "Have you let Tyler's hands wander in private?" Callie and Brandon were still a big question mark when it came to the group's extracurricular activities. It was clear Callie loved to flirt, but Skye had never heard about the cute brunette letting things go further—and she thought she would have. Tyler would have said something to Matt, who wouldn't have kept it from her. Another woman would have been insecure having someone like Callie around to soak up the guys' attention, but Skye's attitude was the more the merrier.

"Not really," Callie answered honestly. There was wandering and there was wandering, but she never let him cross any lines. "How about you?"

Skye's thin, ruby lips curved into a smile. "Let's just say these guys are very close and it's not uncommon for them to pass around more than the rugby ball."

"Really?" Callie was genuinely surprised, despite what she'd seen that night. Sure all the guys flirted up a storm with each other's girlfriends and some drunk groping did occur, but Callie never dreamed things regularly went beyond that. She just assumed Skye's encounter under the steps was an once-in-a-lifetime drunken moment.

"Don't get the wrong idea, Callie. It's not like there's full blown orgies or anything, it's just that sometimes when everyone's cranked up and the booze is flowing and the pot's getting passed around, things happen. No one seems to mind as long as it's all kept in the family and no one gets too crazy. It's all in fun. I'm surprised no one's cornered you yet."

"Me too," Callie answered. She thought she was offended. Sure, Skye was a sexy woman, taller than Callie and curvy, with a wide, sensual smile, but Callie was hot too, so why hadn't any of the guys really made a play for her? Not that it was something she was looking for, Callie quickly told herself.

Skye could see the wheels turning in her friend's head. Maybe Callie was more open than anyone suspected. That would suggest Brandon was too, which pleased Skye immensely. She loved big, strong men like him. Perhaps she should feel Callie out and see how open the couple might be. "I wouldn't be insulted. Hey, maybe they respect you too much, or they're not sure how you would react. Brandon is the newest member of the team, and one of the youngest. You're such a cute couple, maybe they think you're still too in the throes of young love."

"Maybe," Callie admitted, but still she felt left out and did not like it. "Does Matt know?"

"Oh yes, he's no innocent. There was a night in the hot tub last year—before Brandon joined the team—that hands were wandering pretty freely, and from the look on Cyndi's face I don't think Matt was left out." That was one of the tamer stories she could tell. She didn't think Callie was ready for any of the truly spicy ones.

"And you weren't jealous?"

"Jonny's fingers were so busy with me I was hardly in a position to say anything. But Jonny doesn't get up to those things now that he's with Marissa. I definitely don't think she would understand." They were at Jonny and Marissa's wedding. "Again, don't get the wrong idea. It's not like we're all sleeping with each other's significant others. We just have some fun now and then. But, obviously, it's not for everyone."

"So do you know if Brandon's gotten up to no good?" Strangely, Callie wasn't concerned that the answer would be yes. She found the idea of all this crazy, sexy activity terribly exciting.

"Not that I know of, but I always see him checking out Bill's wife after the games." Bill was another of the guys from the team, but wasn't at the wedding and only occasionally socialized with them. He was more than a few years older and had a family. Bill's wife definitely fell into that soccer mom, MILF category. Blonde and curvy, very preppy, but almost always sexy, dressing in shirt dresses and the like to cheer her husband from the sidelines. This was news to Callie and she was disappointed that she hadn't noticed her boyfriend's crush—she must be slipping.

"How would you feel if Brandon did more than just look?" Skye asked.

Callie wasn't positive, but she didn't think she would mind. She tried to picture Brandon and Tammy, Bill's wife, together under the steps, like she'd found Skye and Tyler that night. More than anything, it turned her on, but she didn't know if she could handle knowing he fucked another woman. Shouldn't they keep something special between them? She weighed her answer. Would Skye try to corner Brandon if she was honest? That might make for an interesting night, as long as she was allowed her fun, too.

"I think we'd have to be in that situation to really know," she answered coyly.

"That's not a no."

Callie couldn't hide her smile. "No, it's not."

Callie had a million questions, but suddenly the ladies room was getting very warm. "I love what you've done with your hair."

"You inspired me." Skye allowed the change of subject. The seed had been planted.

Both women had auburn hair—though Skye's was a shade darker. Callie wore hers very short and swept back, with light streaks, which gave her a cute, pixie-ish look when combined with her blue eyes and delicate features. Skye's hair reached just past her shoulders and she wore it swept in to frame her face for the wedding. Recently, she'd added streaks—just like Callie's.

Callie was looking at the guys in a whole new light when they returned to the table. When Tyler flirted with her now, it did not seem as innocent as before, and she aggressively flirted back. Brandon caught the change and enjoyed watching her have fun.

"It's a shame Cyndi couldn't be here," Callie said, putting an arm around Ethan's waist. "She's missing a great time."

Ethan slid his arm around her slender shoulders and hugged Callie tightly to him. "Trust me, she would rather be here than watching the ICU tonight, but the hospital is so short staffed she just couldn't get off."

“Don’t worry, I promise to keep you company since your ‘date’ seems to have deserted you. Where is Tyler anyway?”

“He was dancing with that bridesmaid, but I don’t see either of them now.”

“He’s probably off somewhere getting lucky. This place seems to have a lot of rooms.”

“I’m glad one of us is tonight. He’d better come across with details, though.”

“You guys are so tacky.” Callie shook her head.

“We’re just normal guys,” Ethan grinned. “Can I get you something from the bar?”

“Sure, I’d love more champagne.”

While Ethan wandered off to get her a fresh drink, Callie snuggled up to Brandon from behind with a hug. He was in the midst of some intense conversation with another of the guys, Roger, who was seated at another table. Roger and his wife Gina were in their mid-thirties and seemed so normal Callie couldn’t imagine them playing around as Skye had described, but then Roger and Gina did not really hang around regularly with the others either.

“Don’t you want to show me off on the dance floor?” Callie implored, squeezing Brandon.

“I hate this song,” he complained. Brandon was not much of a dancer, though he did like showing off his sexy girlfriend.

“Come on, Skye and Matt are out there and they’re having a great time.”

“Okay, let’s go.” Brandon drained his beer and set the empty glass down as Callie took his hand and dragged him away.

Once on the dance floor Brandon loosened up—all the beer probably helped—but truthfully he was not much of a dancer and it was really Callie’s show. He did the typical “white man” dance while she twirled and gyrated and wiggled all around him, turning her back so she could rub against him. He put his hands on her narrow waist and as she shimmied down he nearly cupped her breasts. Her teasing had him hard and it was tough to behave himself.

Callie turned and pressed into his arms and was pleased to feel his erection pushing against her. She felt quite warm herself, and was tempted to drag Brandon off to find an unoccupied room. She spun away and did a sexy, serpentine dance with her hands over her head, raising the hemline of her short dress even higher.

Brandon's mind was in the same exact place and he was ready to drag Callie outside for some "air" when Skye moved in and gyrated behind her. Callie stuck her tongue out at him and turned around to dance with Skye, while Matt danced to their side. Brandon couldn't take much more teasing and decided to leave them to it.

When Callie glanced back over her shoulder, Brandon was gone, so she stayed on the dance floor with the couple since they were all having fun. Skye suggestively ran her hands up and down Callie's body and the petite woman returned the favor, going even further and grabbing Skye's supple ass. Matt looked quite pleased by the turn of events, so Callie decided to ratchet up the teasing and shimmied over to rub against him. She could really enjoy teasing him now that she knew Skye wouldn't mind.

While Callie was busy teasing Matt, Ethan came out onto the dance floor and started dancing with Skye. He'd been watching the girls dancing together and had to get in on the action. Brandon didn't seem interested in dancing, so Ethan was more than happy to step in. He'd been hoping to have a little fun at the wedding since Cyndi wouldn't be there.

The two couples closed together and were in their own little world. Matt's hands freely wandered Callie's body and her only complaint was that he wasn't friskier. He kept brushing her tits, which wasn't difficult as he was over six feet tall and his hands just naturally fell there, but he didn't push it. When she pressed into him and gyrated to the music Callie felt Matt's cock surge and was pleased she was showing him a good time. Skye and Ethan weren't being shy either, and Callie wondered if they had the other wedding guests scandalized.

A slow song came on and Skye wanted her man back, so Callie slipped into Ethan's arms and he pulled her into him. She saw Brandon chatting over at the bar and guessed he didn't mind she was in another man's arms. After all, it was one of his buddies, right?

Callie had a hand on his chest and one on his shoulder, while both Ethan's hands were on her back. Ethan was big and broad, with black, curly hair and dark, soulful eyes that seemed to draw Callie right in. She always thought he was the hottest guy on the team, even if he didn't project the bad boy vibe Tyler did. She so liked the bad boys.

"I hope Cyndi won't mind that we're dancing so close," Callie said. "But I did promise to keep you from being lonely."

"I really don't think she'd mind. She wouldn't want me being lonely, either."

"Good."

"And Brandon doesn't seem like the jealous type."

"He's not. Like he said, I'm free to have fun because he knows I won't sneak around."

"So he wouldn't mind if I pulled you closer?"

"Hey, it's not behind anyone's back. We're right here in front of everyone, aren't we?"

"Good to know."

Ethan noticed the change in Callie since she'd come back from the bathroom. She was always flirty, but not quite like this. He didn't spend much time dwelling on the why, but was ready to just hang back and enjoy it. Having her tight little body pressed against him had his cock throbbing and he was going to need some relief if this kept up. As long as he stayed within the boundaries he'd set up with Cyndi he was free to play.

He'd been on the team for about a year when Cyndi told him that Matt had made a pass at her. His first reaction was to find Matt and deck him, but intriguingly Cyndi suggested that maybe it would be better revenge for Ethan to make a pass of his own at Skye. That was when she admitted that maybe she hadn't pushed Matt away as quickly as she should have. Ethan wasn't happy, but he didn't ask for details. He knew Cyndi loved him and wasn't going to leave him for Matt. He still thought her suggestion to make a pass at Skye was crazy. He had no idea how Skye would react, but he did feel entitled to take a shot—if his wife was giving him permission to kiss another woman he wasn't going to say no. To say Skye was receptive to his advance was an understatement, and after that night Ethan and Cyndi found out how the group played. No one was pressured to do anything, but those who wanted to were free to play as long as they kept it discreet. He and Cyndi set their ground rules then. No fucking other people, but anything else goes—and they would always keep their activities to themselves. Ethan was okay with his wife playing, but he didn't need to know about it.

Ethan had to lean forward to reach Callie's ass, and he gave it a nice squeeze and Callie grinded into him as he almost lifted her off her feet. It only lasted scant seconds, but left Callie's heart racing. All the dirty dancing had her horny as hell and she looked around for Brandon, who was on his way outside with Tyler.

Brandon watched Callie out on the dance floor with some interest. Rather than feeling jealous that Ethan was all over his girlfriend, he was excited because he knew she would be horny as hell later and ready to fuck all night. He did wonder just how far she would let Ethan go. Ethan's hands were kneading her ass like he was working pizza dough, and she seemed to like his hands on her. Knowing how this group could get, Brandon thought Ethan might take this as permission to go further, and then what would happen? He knew Callie loved him, but she was so carefree and determined to take life as it comes that he couldn't be sure what she might do. He was beginning to think he was going to find out tonight. This seemed like one of those nights where his friends were going to get wild.

"Dude, wanna light up?" Tyler asked, pulling Brandon from his musing.

"Yeah, sure." It was just the distraction he needed.

Callie watched Brandon and Tyler leave. She thought Ethan would want to follow. "Looks like Brandon and Tyler are going to get stoned" she told Ethan.

"And they didn't invite us? The bastards. You wanna go outside and join them?"

Callie wasn't in the mood—she was having too much fun with Ethan. "You go ahead. I'll stay in here with Skye and Matt." She knew the couple did not smoke pot.

Ethan was tempted. He never missed a chance to smoke someone else's pot, but he was also having too much fun with Callie. He whispered, "I think I'll stay," and pulled her closer. He wasn't sure, but it felt like she was intentionally teasing his cock with her little motions, and now he wished he'd tried something with her before. He just didn't fancy getting punched by Brandon. Brandon had only been their teammate for a few months, and no one had the sense that he would be okay with Callie playing around. Besides, the couple seemed so in love no one thought either of them would be interested in anyone else—despite Callie’s flirting. He returned his hands to her butt and she snuggled closer. Her hot breath on his neck drove him crazy. If she stayed in his arms like this very much longer he wasn’t going to care what Brandon thought. If Brandon was willing to let his girlfriend get down like this, he deserved whatever followed.

Callie was going out of her mind. Drinking always made her horny anyway, but ever since her conversation with Skye all she could think about was misbehaving. At first Tyler had been on her mind, but now she was all about Ethan. Based on his behavior, she had to guess that he and Cyndi had some kind of understanding. But did she and Brandon? Not that she knew of. Rather than go looking for trouble, Callie knew she should probably find Brandon and drag him back to their room. By the time the song ended and Skye announced it was time to go back to the bar, Callie’s heart was hammering and her panties were soaked. She was halfway into a much needed cocktail when Brandon and Tyler returned.

“Hey, baby,” Brandon chuckled as he wrapped Callie up in a big bear hug. She loved how goofy he was when he was stoned. “You should have come out with us.”

“That’s okay, I was having my own fun.”

“Yeah, I saw you out there with Skye. Nice.”

“In your dreams, buddy,” Skye chided. She squeezed Brandon’s mouth between her fingers and planted a quick kiss on him. “If I seduce your girlfriend it’ll be for my pleasure, not yours.”

“Nice,” he said.

“Who says I won’t be the one doing the seducing?” Callie teased.

They all laughed and Tyler added, “Whichever way it goes down, just make sure I’m around.”

“You’re not too busy with your bridesmaid?” Callie asked.

“Come out and dance with me and I’ll tell you all about it,” Tyler promised. “Do you mind?” He asked Brandon.

“Told you, dude, she’s her own woman.”

Callie followed Tyler away from the bar and fell into the music’s driving rhythm.

“So, did she fall for your charms?” Callie asked while dancing away from Tyler.

“You could say that.” His grin was wide, but she couldn’t be sure if that was because he was stoned or had just gotten lucky.

“Come on, don’t be coy with me.”

“You want all the dirty little details?”

Surprisingly, she did. She was so horny and feeling the need to be naughty.

“Come closer and I’ll tell you all about it.”

Callie did as requested, moving into his arms, and let Tyler hold her ass while they grinded together. The DJ played “Push It,” which was the perfect grinding song. Tyler wasn’t a big guy, maybe five-foot-ten, so they were a much better match on the dance floor than she’d been with Ethan. She could feel the lump in his suit pants pushing right into her tummy and was surprised it felt so big. She thought about him and Skye under the stairs again and wondered if her friend knew just how big it was. Callie couldn’t help it now that Skye had put so many ideas in her head—she really wanted to find out for herself. “So?” She whispered, lips close to his ear.

“We talked in the garden for bit, until she said she was cold then we took a bottle of champagne into one of the storage rooms upstairs.”

“And?”

He pulled her back just far enough to look down her dress. Tyler’s eye had been on Callie all night, even when he was flirting with that bridesmaid. She had a tight little body, and that dress showed it off perfectly. He knew she liked to show off, and if she was going to put it out there he was going to look. There was no need to be coy about it. Obviously, Brandon didn’t have any problem with guys looking at his girlfriend, so Tyler knew he had nothing to worry about it. But he wondered if Callie ever went beyond teasing. In his experience, it wasn’t that big a leap for girls who liked to show off like that. Skye was one of those girls. But she put it right out there. Callie hadn't made any overt signs she was waiting for him to make a move—yet. The way she was acting, maybe tonight was the night to push things. “And did I tell you how great your tits look tonight, Callie?”

“No, but you didn't have to. I can tell you like the view by the way you keep staring. I'm surprised you're so interested. Skye's are bigger.” Callie was pleased he was so interested, as she always thought she could be bigger in the chest. She was jealous of curvy girls like Skye, but her modest mounds did look big on her tiny frame.

“Hers are great too, but yours are just served up for the taking tonight.”

“And you think you'll be taking?”

“Well, from what Brandon says it sounds like that's up to you,” Tyler challenged.

“Maybe—after you tell me what happened upstairs.”

“What do you think happened? We popped the bubbly, had some drinks, then I helped her out of her bridesmaid gown, or at least as far out of it as we needed. Do you need more details?”

“No, that's enough, thank you. You are such a cliché.” Callie was laughing when she said it. Far from being offended, the thought of sneaking off for an illicit fuck while there was a wedding in full swing just downstairs was thrilling. She wanted to drag Brandon off there and then. Or maybe I should take Tyler, she thought naughtily.

“Someone needs to keep clichés going. But enough about her. Let's talk about you.”

The song ended then and Callie spun away from him, saying, “Sorry, your dance is over. You'll have to catch me later.”

“Count on it,” Tyler promised. The more she teased, the more intent he was to test her. She didn't deny that she had the go-ahead to play with other guys if she wanted to.

When they rejoined the others they found the group was ready to wrap things up, so they found Jonny and Marissa, gave their best wishes and boarded the shuttle bus back to the hotel. The wedding was local, but Jonny knew his friends and knew they would be in no shape to drive, so he had reserved a block of rooms and arranged for a shuttle bus to carry people there. Callie and Brandon, Skye and Matt, and Tyler had rooms all in a row, while Ethan planned to hang out until Cyndi came and picked him when she finished work. They waited impatiently on the shuttle bus for Tyler, and were about to leave without him when he stumbled in, carrying four bottles of champagne.

“Where did you get those?” Brandon asked.

“Does it matter? There’s no reason the party has to stop.”

“Isn’t your bridesmaid going to join us?” Callie asked.

“She only had the babysitter until eleven. She’s already long gone.”

“Poor baby, guess you’ll have to cuddle up to Ethan,” Skye teased.

“Are you kidding? I’m going to kick Matt out of bed and snuggle with you.”

“Hey, I don’t think so. I plan on being way too busy with my wife to entertain you clowns,” Matt said. “You’re going to have to find your own fun.”

“Okay, that’s like five minutes, and then what?” Tyler laughed.

“Just don’t mind the screaming from my room,” Brandon announced, which earned him a playful punch from Callie. She really wasn’t a screamer, although she did enjoy some dirty talk.

“You guys really are making me jealous. Cyndi’s going to be too tired after working all night,” Ethan complained.

“If you’re nice we’ll let you watch and you can jerk off,” Brandon joked. Callie was shocked, and was sure it was the pot and booze talking, but suddenly thought that might be exciting. She had not indulged her exhibitionist side in quite a while. “You don’t mind, do you Callie?”

“Only if he’s really quiet. I don’t like to be distracted,” she responded. She kept a straight face as long as she could before bursting into laughter.

“I can be quiet as a church mouse,” Ethan promised.

The party continued as they stumbled through the lobby and took the elevator up to their rooms. Feeling devilish, Callie pulled Brandon into the second elevator and then forced him up against the back wall. She pressed her body to his while sensually kissing him and cupping him through his dress pants. Brandon palmed her hard little ass and squeezed it and they were so into fooling around they didn't even stop when the bell dinged and the doors opened. All their friends were standing there and watched for a second. Tyler even stuck his foot out to block the doors from closing. Skye finally told them, "Get a room you guys. Oh yeah, you already have one." They all laughed and Callie broke away from Brandon, giggling.

Brandon knew from Callie's little stunt that she was ready to go, and he was torn between getting her alone and staying with the group to see what happened. He'd always been curious what their crazy nights were like, and he was coming to the conclusion that he didn't mind if his girlfriend played around with his friends—as long as he got his turn. That was important. He watched Skye's heart-shaped ass as she walked ahead of them and thought it would be fun to get his hands on her.

Callie and Brandon's room was the first in line, Skye and Matt were in the middle, and Tyler's was on the far side. As much as both couples really wanted to be alone, no one was ready to let the party end, so the doors that connected the rooms were thrown open and they congregated in Skye and Matt's middle room. Corks were popped and little plastic cups were filled with champagne while Brandon connected his iPhone to the bedside clock radio and put on some music. Callie was hoping they would just hang around for a few drinks and then retire to their room, but Brandon seemed perfectly content to stay up and hang out with their friends. She looked to Skye, who obviously didn't feel the need to wait until she was alone with her husband.

Matt sat on one of the queen sized beds with his back against the headboard and Skye sitting between his legs. His arms were around her and his hands roamed her body freely, barely staying within the bounds of decency. He cupped Skye's breast and stroked the bud of her nipple until it hardened through her dress. She leaned back and twisted to kiss his neck. Skye knew Tyler was watching, but didn't mind putting on a show for him. She even opened her thighs enough to give him a teasing peek into that shadowy valley. Skye had already decided tonight was going to be one of those party nights. She knew the seed she'd planted in Callie's mind was growing after watching her on the dance floor with Ethan and then Tyler. Now Skye and Matt just needed to provide the spark to get things going. She saw Callie watching Matt touch her. Callie stood behind Brandon and rubbed his back and seemed to be trying to steal glances around his broad shoulders.

“Screw the music, let’s get some pay-per-view porn,” Ethan said, snatching up the TV remote. He saw that Matt and Skye were trying to start something and he was ready to advance the ball. He flipped through the pay-per-view menu and called out titles. “What sounds good? Bad Wives, Truth or Treat, Wheel of Orgasm...”

“What’s Wheel of Orgasm about?” Brandon asked.

“It sounds good,” Tyler chimed in.

“You guys really are just big kids. I’ll be right back,” Callie said, and passed through into her room. She was already going out of her mind. The last thing she needed was porn to tease her more. She was disappointed when Brandon didn’t follow her. If he didn’t make a move soon, she was going to have to take care of herself.

It was too warm in the crowded room next door and Callie slipped out of her jacket and was going to change as Brandon didn’t seem in any hurry to get her out of her slinky little dress. She kicked off her heels and tugged at the zipper at the back of her neck, but then lost it midway down and walked back toward the other room for help, where she ran into Tyler in the doorway.

“Hey, what’s up?” Callie asked, putting her hands on his chest as he rested his on her narrow hips.

“Just coming to see what you’re up to.”

“I was going to change into something more comfortable since we’re all just hanging around.”

“Need help?” Tyler grinned wolfishly.

“Actually, I can’t quite get the zipper,” Callie said, smiling slyly, knowing the trouble she might be getting into.

“I am at your service.”

They fell back into Callie’s room and she turned her back so Tyler could reach her zipper. She shivered when he caressed the back of her neck, the chills going on as he pulled the zipper to her bra strap, tracing down her spine with his fingertips. The light touch stoked the fire already kindling inside Callie, and she considered how far she should allow her boyfriend's teammate to go.

"Do you need some help with this too?" Tyler asked, fingering her bra strap. Any doubt he'd had that Callie was ready to play around was gone. This girl was obviously looking for action, and he figured he was just the guy to give it to her. He just needed everyone to stay next door for a little while.

Callie was just about to tell him yes when Brandon called out from the other room, "Guys, can you get more ice before you come back?"

"Yeah, we'll run and grab some," Callie answered and separated from Tyler. She stepped back into her heels and picked up the bucket from their room, asking Tyler, "Care to join me?"

Brandon watched his girlfriend leave with Tyler and realized his heart was pounding. He only caught a glimpse of them on their way out, but he could see they were standing close and that Callie's dress was unzipped. By sending her off with Tyler he knew very well what he could be setting in motion. Was he crazy to take this risk? If the two of them played with other people tonight would it change their relationship forever? But despite his fears, Brandon stayed behind.

The ice machine was in a cubby down the hallway and around the corner from the elevators. As they walked down the hallway Tyler kept his hand on her ass and Callie didn't mind one bit. She also did not bother to re-zip her dress, so it gaped open in the front, showing off the sexy bra that was meant for Brandon's eyes only. She could feel Tyler's eyes on her chest as he glanced down from beside her, but he refrained from saying anything. He followed her into the narrow cubby holding the ice machine, and Callie decided to let him stare at her ass instead of down the front of her dress, so she turned her back to him when she bent over and filled the plastic ice bucket. She was playing with fire and hoped Brandon wouldn't mind her naughty behavior.

"Is there a thong matching that bra under there?" Tyler asked. If the dress was just a tad bit shorter he would've had the answer for himself. She really did have a fantastic ass. It took every ounce of willpower not to just grab it.

“Why should I tell you something like that?”

“If you won’t, I guess I’ll have to find out for myself.”

Before Callie could react, Tyler lifted the back of her dress and found that while she was not wearing a thong, her tiny, sheer panties did indeed match her bra. He grabbed both cheeks and squeezed. Callie backed away from the ice machine and right into Tyler, who used the opportunity to hold her hips and grind into her. Callie pushed back for just a second, but then straightened up and shouldered him back as she turned around. The fire in her grew hotter from just that brief contact and wasn’t disappointed when Tyler did not back up, but kept her in the cubby. She held the full ice bucket between them, but that meant she didn’t have a free hand to keep her dress from falling forward.

“Damn, your tits are just as nice as I thought they’d be,” Tyler said with a low whistle. He didn’t bother to pretend he was looking anywhere but at her chest. Her tits were served up by her bra, like she was begging him to grab them. He only looked her in the eyes when she spoke.

“But this is way sexier.”

Sometimes Callie just didn’t understand guys. Her bra wasn’t see-through, but it did lift her and provide nice cleavage. The underside was padded, but she knew he could see her nipples hardening through the blue-green silk. Still, her bikinis showed way more skin than this, so why was Tyler so excited? Maybe because he thought he was going to get somewhere with her.

“Are you just going to stand there staring at my tits all night?”

“No, I don’t think I can just stare.”

Tyler took an ice cube from the bucket and Callie gasped when he touched its edge to her tanned skin. He ran it up over her throat and chin and then pressed the ice cube to her parted lips. Callie flicked her pink tongue out and sucked the ice cube between her lips—eyes locked on Tyler’s. Her tongue flicked over his fingertips like a hungry flame as he pulled the ice cube away and touched it to her skin again, running the flat of the cube along the slope of her chest, all the way down to the edge of her bra. The cold was bracing, but Callie did not gasp from discomfort. Tyler’s touch was so intimate.

He traced the ice all around the perimeter of her bra, puckering Callie's nipples and they poked through the thin satin. Her small breasts rose and fell as Callie took slow, measured breaths, while trying to figure out exactly what game she was playing and if all this was wise. Already the tingling between her thighs had grown to a full throbbing, and Callie could feel the dampness on her lips. Tyler's confidence was sexy, and it carried her along. She loved that he just went for it without asking and risking a no.

The ice traced her nipple through her bra. Biting her lip did not quiet her breathy gasp. Playing with ice had never been so charged. The painful, cold needles made her flesh throb. Callie grew weak in the knees and placed a hand on the ice machine to steady herself. Tyler took the ice bucket from between them and placed it on top of the ice machine. With no barrier between them, he pressed close and returned the ice to her lips. It melted quickly under her hot breath, and Callie sucked his fingers between her lips, lashing them with her tongue. Tyler palmed her butt and she pulled his lips down to hers, running her fingers through his short, dark hair. Their mouths crushed together and their tongues intertwined. She rubbed his strong back while Tyler kneaded her ass and massaged the back of her neck. He pressed her back against the ice machine and she felt the vibration of its compressor through her body and the cold door over the ice compartment on her ass. Callie's head swam as she was consumed by the kiss. He was such a good kisser and she had been ready for attention for so long that she let herself be carried away by his passion.

Tyler enjoyed exploring Callie's body, but he was kicking himself for never making this move before. She was beyond receptive. She was hot for it. He felt like his cock was going to rip out of his pants like an angry Hulk. He loved the way she trembled when he teased her nipples. Callie had to lose that bra so he could really play with those tits. He slid his hand from her bare hip up her back and unhooked her bra with a snap of his fingers, the way he'd been doing it since he was a high school freshman. Callie stiffened—he thought she was going to stop everything—but only for a second. Instead, she grabbed his crotch, and he almost exploded in his pants. He decided in that moment that he was going to fuck her tonight.

Somehow, he didn't think she would have a problem with that. He lifted her, so her ass rested on a narrow ledge on the ice machine, and she wrapped her legs around him.

Tightening her thighs, she ground her increasingly wet pussy into his cock, while he leaned her back and pushed her bra aside. Tyler left a wet trail as he kissed down from her neck to her breasts, ending his journey at her dark, upturned nipples. Callie cried out, heedless of who might be walking by in the hallway. She was not worried that someone else on the floor might want ice. She wanted Tyler badly—almost badly enough to fuck him right there in the ice machine cubby. Callie groped for his belt buckle while he wedged a hand between their grinding groins. Her dress was already around her waist and he nudged her panties aside. His fingers slipped over her damp, smoothly-shaved mound before finding his way between her lips.

Ethan heard them before he saw them. Brandon was pretty distracted by Skye and Matt, but Ethan realized that Callie and Tyler had disappeared. It didn't take that long to get ice, and he knew what would be on his friend's mind. He'd been having the same thoughts about Callie all night. When he didn't find them in the adjoining room, he made his way down the hallway, where he heard the unmistakable sounds of a couple hooking up over the hum of the ice machine. Still, he was surprised when he discovered Callie half naked and Tyler all over her. He knew she was a flirt, and a fun girl, but not that fun. Tyler blocked most of his view, but Ethan kept seeing flashes of her tits, and he could see Tyler's hand busy between her legs. Ethan rubbed himself jealously through his pants, wishing he'd had the guts to make the move on Callie first. But just because Tyler was first didn't mean Ethan wouldn't have his chance. He watched them for a couple minutes—enjoying the show—and finally made his presence known.

Callie felt Tyler slip a second finger inside her and she pushed forward onto them with a grunt, working her hips as best she could in that awkward position. She was frustrated because while she had his pants undone, she could not get them out of her way. She pulled his face from her chest so they could kiss again, and he shoved his fingers harder and deeper inside her. Pure pleasure swept through her pussy and pulsed out through her body. God, but she wanted to drag him back to her bedroom. She didn't care that all their friends would be right next door. Well, all of them except for Ethan, who she discovered was standing right in front of them while they got it on against the ice machine.

"So this is what kept you guys," Ethan said. He nakedly leered at Callie's tits.

Callie pushed Tyler away. She almost fell to the floor before she could get her feet to the ground. She blushed crimson, her face almost as hot as her pussy. Shame and panic flooded her until her brain kicked in and she realized that Ethan was not going to judge her because he had probably been up to just as bad or worse many times before. Suddenly, she realized this wasn't just her little secret with Tyler anymore. She couldn't count on Ethan not saying anything—she knew how guys are. It looked like she was going to find out how Brandon would react to her pushing the boundaries of their relationship. She hoped she hadn't just screwed up everything. Callie put on her game face, pretending nothing at all unusual was going on.

"Hey, Ethan," Callie said casually, avoiding his eyes. She was naked from the waist up and struggled to pull her bra back in place while keeping her dress from slipping lower on her body. "What are you up to?"

"Not anything as fun as you. Things were getting a little hot back in the room so I thought I would find you guys." Ethan enjoyed watching her tap dance.

"You found us," she replied. What did Ethan mean? Was Brandon up to something similar? It wasn't like he'd come looking for her.

"Yes, I have," Ethan said, his eyes willing her dress to slip to the floor. Callie's unfastened bra did a poor job of covering her and her puckered nipples stared right back at him. "You guys trying to melt the ice machine?"

"Callie's hot enough, right?" Tyler chimed in.

"You know, I'm not just here to give you guys boners. We should get out of here before someone shows up who actually wants ice. Can you help me with this?" Callie asked Tyler. She was not about to go parading down the hallway half naked.

Tyler moved in close behind her, but instead of hooking her bra, he pushed the straps off her shoulders. "Hey," she complained, but he was undeterred and massaged her back before slipping his hands around her slender body. He wasn't done with her yet. Not even close. Callie kept her arms pressed tightly to her sides to keep Tyler at bay, which had the unintended effect of flashing Ethan even more skin.

"I'm having some trouble with Callie's dress. Can you give me a hand?" Tyler asked.

"My pleasure," Ethan replied and stepped forward. This was what he'd been waiting for. Callie was caught between the guys and they pulled her farther back into the cubby.

Ethan pulled at the bottom of her dress and when Callie tried to stop him the top of her dress fell completely. She let go of her bra to catch her dress and Ethan quickly snatched it away. She leaned back against Tyler to keep her dress pinned between them and tried grabbing for her bra, which Ethan dangled just out of reach. She did not appreciate being taunted. Tyler grabbed her wrists and pulled her hands behind her back. Callie was spunky and fit and twisted wildly, but the guys were stronger and Tyler was able to catch both her wrists in one of his big hands. Ethan's hands caressing her sides tickled, but she squirmed for entirely different reasons when he cupped her tits. He kneaded her breasts roughly, but lightly rolled her nipples, and she gasped while sagging back against Tyler. The hands on her breasts teased her so deliciously that she didn't even notice Tyler's free hand creeping up under her dress. She closed her eyes when Tyler nibbled on her shoulder and opened her lips when Ethan kissed her. She wanted her hands free to run her fingers through Ethan's thick, curly black hair, but Tyler still held her wrists. And it was exciting to be restrained. She could tell herself the lie that she was being used—that she wasn't an active participant. It was easier to let go that way. A hand on her inner thigh pulled her legs apart then fingers pressed her wet panties against her pussy. Callie moaned into her kiss with Ethan and pushed her breasts into his hands, shaking when he pinched her nipples harder.

“Oh God...” Callie moaned when Ethan moved his lips to her breasts. Her heart was pounding and her pussy was on fire. Tyler caressed her pussy with his fingers describing a tight circle, and Ethan was flicked her tender nipples with his tongue.

A threesome was one of her wilder fantasies, but not something she thought would ever happen—especially not when she wasn’t dating either of the two guys involved. She was sure Brandon would not approve of this, but while she loved her boyfriend, she didn’t want Tyler and Ethan to stop. But they needed to be somewhere more private. “We can’t do this in the hallway,” she moaned, still not sure what this was going to be.

The boys finally relented and a breathless Callie zipped her dress enough so she could walk down the hallway with some modesty, but the guys both still grabbed at her as she giggled and scampered back to the room. As soon as the door closed behind them, Callie grabbed Ethan and pressed him against the wall, roughing his hair with both hands while flickering her tongue at his. He unzipped her dress again before pulling up the bottom to grab her ass. Meanwhile, Tyler went through to the next room to deliver the long awaited ice.

Ethan had been worried that Callie would cool off, given time to think, but she was hot as ever. If she kept at him like this he would be hard pressed to stay within the rules he’d agreed to with his wife. Just the way Callie shoved her tongue into his mouth and moved her body again had him ready to throw her onto the bed and rip that dress off her. His cock desperately needed attention, and he was ready to find out how her tongue would feel down there.

“I don’t think we need to worry about being interrupted,” Tyler said, returning from next door.

It suddenly occurred to her that she hadn’t given her boyfriend a thought since the guys started in on her together. And here she was making out with Ethan when Brandon could walk in at any moment. Reality hit her like a sledgehammer and she pushed Ethan away. Her dress fell to the floor and she stepped out of it, kicking it away. Her body was on fire. If she was going to throw the boys out, she was going to have to drag Brandon in here and fuck him silly—and hope he didn’t ask why she was almost naked until afterward. But then Tyler's words registered. Brandon was still next door with Skye and Matt. Surely Brandon noticed she'd never come back by now, so why didn't they have to worry about interruption, unless...

Callie peeked around the door into the next room and was shocked by what she found. Skye was on the bed on her back, with Brandon's face buried between her legs. Matt knelt on the bed beside them and Skye was twisted so he could feed her his cock. Brandon had quite the talented tongue, and Callie could tell Skye was enjoying it by the way she writhed on the bed. With his head pinned between Skye's thighs, he had no idea his girlfriend was now watching, but Skye noticed. She pulled her husband's prick out of her mouth long enough to smile and blow Callie a kiss. She must have assumed that Brandon was fair game when Callie didn't freak out about the group's playtime. Skye cried out, and Callie thought Brandon must be doing that special thing with his tongue. Matt waved to Callie and turned his wife's mouth back to his cock. Brandon was just as guilty as she was! They would need to have a very long talk later, but for now she had the green light to do as she wished, and she planned to take full advantage.

Brandon had no idea what his girlfriend was up to, but he assumed it was no good when she didn't come back. But it wasn't like he'd been sitting around fretting about her behavior. Just after he'd sent her and Tyler for ice, Skye called him over to the bed. Matt had gotten up to use the bathroom, and Ethan was sitting in one of the chairs to the side, watching like Brandon had been.

"Did Tyler go with Callie?" Skye asked.

"Yeah. They'll be right back." Brandon tried very hard not to stare at her black panties. She hadn't bothered covering up when her husband got off the bed.

"Oh." A smile played across her lips.

"Oh, what?"

"Nothing." Skye looked very pleased with herself, and he couldn't help feeling she knew something he didn't.

"Don't give me nothing. Spill it."

"Really, I don't know anything, but you know how Tyler is with pretty girls."

“Yeah, but I don’t think Callie’s into that. I mean, we’ve never talked about anything like that. She wouldn’t just...”

“We were talking about it earlier. She didn’t exactly faint from the scandal of it all. She seemed rather intrigued when I told her how the guys in the team could be—if they were given the chance.”

Brandon didn’t know Callie was in on the secret. That put a whole different spin on things. Why hadn’t she said anything to him? Did she think he was like the other guys, looking to fool around with whomever? He could see how she would take that as tacit permission to playing around herself. Suddenly, what had just been a dirty, risqué possibility was now a very real one. Tyler could be all over Callie right that moment. For the first time in their relationship, he felt jealousy. It was so weird, so unexpected, he didn’t know what to do with it.

“Are you okay? You look dizzy,” Skye asked, taking his hand.

“Yeah. It’s just—I never thought about me and Callie...you know...”

“She might not be. If you want to make sure you should probably go after her. Or...”

“Or?”

“Or you could just go with things and have some fun. Callie loves you. It’s not like she’s going to run off with Tyler. We’re just all friends having a good time. And if she’s going to have a good time, shouldn’t you?”

Skye was kissing him before Brandon could even process what she’d said. His world turned upside. He was sure Matt was going to come tearing out of the bathroom and deck him. But he was horny and Skye’s lips felt so good. And then she was undoing his pants, and he didn’t give a damn what Callie was doing—or what Matt might think. Skye was hot, and if she wanted to play, why not?

“Oh, shit,” Brandon groaned, looking down to see Skye’s head in his lap. She’d opened wide and swallowed his entire shaft in one gulp. He stroked her pretty auburn hair back from her face so he could see her cheeks hollowed as she bobbed on him. He was only dimly aware of Ethan watching from the sidelines, but found it odd. He was ready to suggest his friend get lost when Matt came back into the room. He couldn't fight the impulse to jump up and push Skye away.

"Hey man," Brandon stammered.

Matt laughed. "I knew it was only a matter of time before Skye got your pants off. She's been thinking about that all night. Don't stop on my account."

Brandon didn't know what to say. Skye kissed his cheek and told her husband, "Get me out of this damned dress. It's hot in here." She dropped her face back into Brandon's lap.

Within a few minutes, all three of them were naked and Ethan had left the room. Skye went back and forth sucking the guys' cocks until she told Brandon to lie down. Callie never came back, but Skye was on his face and he was too busy licking and sucking to care where she was. He trusted that she could take care of herself. And if she wasn't out misbehaving, he was sure he'd hear about it when she got back.

The scene in the adjoining bedroom was so hot that Callie couldn't tear herself away. One of the guys joined her, pressing in from behind and wrapping his arms around her. She leaned back against the warm, hard chest and parted her legs when his hand pushed into her panties. He teased her clit expertly. She pushed against his hand and reached back to find a thick, hard cock, but intentionally did not turn to see if it was Tyler or Ethan touching her. It was hotter not knowing. Callie moaned and when he pushed one, and then two fingers inside her. Those fingers filled her, but she was soaked and then easily slipped in and out of her. A throaty moan escaped her, and she clung to the doorway for support.

Skye was happy to see Callie playing with Tyler and Ethan. Callie had a sexy little body—one that Skye wouldn't have minded enjoying. Skye was jealous of Callie's perky little breasts. She was at least two cup sizes bigger than Callie, but the girl's tits were perfect. She assumed both boys were having their fun with Callie, even though it was only Tyler touching her at the moment. Ethan would only go so far, but Skye knew from experience that Tyler would be fucking Callie soon, which made her night. That meant she could ride Brandon's nice, thick cock to her heart's content. But she was in no hurry. Brandon's tongue in her pussy had already rocketed her to orgasm twice, and she could feel another liftoff coming. Skye twisted with the grace of a gymnast, rolling Brandon fully on his back, and she fisted a hunk of his thick brown hair, holding his wonderful mouth to her mound.

“I think it’s time we have some fun of our own,” Tyler whispered, finally revealing his identity as he pulled Callie away from the door. Watching Skye play was always a ton of fun, but Callie was his focus right now.

Callie shed her panties on the way to the bed and crawled into the middle of it, looking back and forth between the naked guys standing before her. They both had impressive cocks, though Ethan might have had more of that satisfying girth she loved. She gestured them closer to the bed and reached out to stroke both their shafts. They both grew stiffer in her hands and she playfully sang, “Eenie meanie, miney moe,” before leaning forward to take Tyler in her mouth. Callie pumped him twice into her mouth and then let her tongue play along the underside of his shaft while it slipped out of her mouth. She switched and gave Ethan the same treatment, though she had trouble taking him very deep because of his size. She went back and forth between the boys, spending more and more time with their cocks and taking them deeper each time. She could almost swallow Tyler’s cock, but had a good three fingers of Ethan to jerk off past her lips.

The boys laid Callie back on the bed and Ethan knelt by her head and Tyler lay down and lifted her legs over his shoulders. She barely had Ethan in her mouth before Tyler had her spread and was licking her clit, stoking her to red-hot pleasure. She cried into Ethan’s cock and he pushed it deeper into her mouth, softly stroking her cheek. Tyler attacked her with his lips and tongue and it was only seconds before she was sure she was going to climax, but then he backed off, ignoring her clit and pushing his tongue deep inside her, which felt just as wonderful—if not as intense. Just when her breathing had calmed down and she was really concentrating on Ethan’s beautiful prick, Tyler attacked her clit again and this time did not back down. Callie tore her mouth from Ethan’s cock and cried out as her toes curled and her lithe body tensed while the white hot pleasure burned through her. Ethan’s cock rested on her cheek and Callie did her best to lick it so he wouldn't feel left out, but she could only focus on her own pleasure in that moment.

"Somehow I just knew you'd be shaved, baby," Tyler said, getting to his knees and rubbing her swollen red lips with all four fingertips.

"Mmm, I'm glad you like it," she moaned.

"Your lips are incredible," Ethan whimpered as she continued licking and kissing his cock.

"Thank you," Callie cooed.

Tyler took her hand and pulled Callie to her knees, only to turn her around and push her forward. He had waited long enough. It felt like she'd been teasing him all night. Even with that bridesmaid—her name was on the tip of his tongue—blowing him earlier, he still felt like he was going to scream if he didn't cum soon. He held his cock and stroked it for just a moment while he enjoyed the view. Callie's tight little ass was right there for the taking. She'd become strangely still after being so hot for it all night and he wondered if she was having second thoughts. He wasn't going to give her a chance to change her mind. He pulled her ass a little higher and rammed his cock home. Callie was so soaked that he slipped right in and his groan mingled with her loud cry.

Callie wasn't sure if she should take that final step. Fucking another man was something she could never take back. She was still pondering the question when she heard Skye cry out from the other room, begging to be fucked. She didn't know if it was her boyfriend doing the fucking, but she had no right to be jealous if he was. She was seconds away from taking Tyler's prick. Any ambivalence was erased when Tyler made the final decision for her and shoved his cock inside her. God, she felt so filled! His prick took over her world, and she pushed back at him without thinking. She needed this. Tyler held her hips like a vice and slammed her again and again.

"Don't forget me," Ethan reminded her, kneeling down in front of her. He lifted Callie's face and she accepted him in her mouth. His whole body twitched and he just barely avoided cumming in the first seconds. Her pretty blue eyes stared up at him, hooded with lust. He could see she was having the time of her life, and seeing her going for it like that made everything hotter.

Tyler slowed down for a moment so Callie could get her wits about her and Ethan held her head while pushing forward into her mouth. Callie relaxed and let him push further than before until it felt like he was going to push down her throat. At the same time, Tyler started again, pulling out fully and then slamming home again. Callie's head was swimming and she could barely keep up with what was going on. She was being fucked by two guys and it was just overwhelming. It felt good. It felt amazing. But she could hardly follow what was going on and was at the mercy of the two guys using her body. With Tyler's cock pounding her from behind Callie could hardly concentrate on making Ethan feel good, something she prided herself on while giving head—so she just kept her lips tight and kept up her suction since he was happy doing all the work anyway.

“Oh shit, Callie, that's so fucking good!” Ethan moaned, tightening his hold on the back of her head.

“Her pussy's so fucking tight,” Tyler grunted.

Callie felt odd with them discussing her like she couldn't hear them, but she dismissed it as male bonding bullshit. Besides, it made her feel sexy to be the object of so much lust. It was like her fantasies, although in those she was directing the action.

“Oh God, Callie! Fuck!” Ethan cried. He didn't know how Callie felt about swallowing, but there was no time to ask. His body jerked twice and then he was filling her mouth with cum. He held her head tightly, determined to feed her every last drop. She really seemed to be trying to swallow it all too, but with Tyler pulling her back onto his cock the entire time she couldn't concentrate on him, and white juice bubbled from her lips. Seeing his cum dripping from her chin was the hottest thing ever, and Ethan fell back, totally satisfied.

When Ethan let her go, Callie sucked in a great lungful of air and dropped onto her forearms and buried her face in the duvet. That raised her ass higher and Tyler rose up and slammed down into her like a pile driver. It was so hard it almost hurt, but it felt so good and Callie cried out with every thrust. Tyler hit her g-spot every time and quickly Callie whimpered the tensed up as she came again. Her pussy locked down on his shaft but still he rammed into her.

Tyler flipped a breathless Callie onto her back and lifted her legs onto his shoulders. Ethan hopped off the bed to give them room.

Tyler slipped his prick inside her once again. He was coming to the homestretch and he wanted to be looking her in the eye when he came. She still cried and whimpered and it felt like she'd been cumming forever. He couldn't remember being with a girl as orgasmic as Callie before. He was jealous that Brandon got to bed her every night. Tyler started slow, but soon he was hammer at the same furious rhythm as before.

"You have no idea how long I've wanted this. I've dreamed of fucking you like this, Callie. I knew you wanted it hard," Tyler grunted.

"Shut up and fuck me," Callie grunted through gritted teeth. She clawed at his back and stared at the ceiling with wild eyes as the bed rocked beneath them.

"You've got the tightest fucking body, baby. God, I could fuck you all night!"

He felt so good that she almost wanted him to, but if he used her like this all night she would never walk again. Fortunately, Tyler was not up to his boast and only lasted a few more minutes before he came deep inside her. As his load jetted inside her, he stared at her with a frightening intensity. When she felt his cock shriveling, Callie pushed his dead weight off of her, happy to flex her legs out and get some air. Tyler rolled over and lay beside her, gasping like he'd just run a marathon.

Now what? Callie asked herself. She did not know threesome etiquette. Cuddling was not appropriate—she was sure—and saying thank you seemed lame. Ethan sat in the chair in the corner, wearing boxer-briefs and watching her—which made Callie self-conscious—but she had nothing to cover herself with, so she just let him look. There was quiet conversation coming from the next room, so she guessed they were done too. Had Brandon fucked Skye? She hoped he did—if only to make them even. She decided to change into the running suit she'd brought when Tyler gave a whoop and pushed off the bed.

"That was in-fucking-credible, wasn't it? Jesus, you're a firecracker, Callie!" Tyler laughed. He took a bottle of champagne from the dresser and popped it open, cheering as the cork careened around the room. He took a long, sloppy pull from the bottle and then wiped his mouth on the back of his hand. “Want some?” He asked Callie.

She blushed at his compliment—yes she knew that was silly—and happily reached for the bottle. All the fucking had killed her buzz and now that the endorphins were clearing from her head Callie wanted to be drunk again. She reached for the bottle, but Tyler shook his head and held it over her. She gave him the finger and then rose up on her elbows and tipped her head back with her mouth open. It was a great idea because it defused the tension. Callie laughed as he poured the champagne down over her. She swallowed what she could and then it overflowed down over her face and her chest. The cool bubbles tickled her nipples, hardening them again and Tyler didn’t stop there, pouring the bubbly down over her pussy too. Callie rolled over and pushed him away, even though it actually felt good.

“I’m all wet and sticky now!” Callie cried while laughing.

“Let me help you with that,” Tyler replied after taking another long pull from the bottle.

Callie was about to take him up on that when Brandon came in from the next room. His long, lean body was clad only in boxers and he had the biggest grin she’d ever seen, which made her ache for him. That look let her know everything was okay. He wasn’t angry, he wasn’t jealous, he just went with it all and enjoyed himself. He really was the perfect guy for her.

“Hey, you’ve had your shot, man,” Brandon said. “Besides, I think Skye wants to see you. She said something about not letting Callie drain you dry.”

Tyler handed Callie the champagne and slapped Brandon a high-five as they passed each other. Callie felt like Tyler was tagging her boyfriend in, and drank deeply from the bottle as she realized the night was not quite over yet. The champagne spilled from her mouth and drinking so much so fast gave her an intense rush. She looked at Brandon’s fine body and realized she too wanted more—she wasn’t done yet. If this night was really happening she planned to enjoy all it had to offer.

“So did you have fun, honey?” Brandon asked, crawling onto the bed with Callie.

“It was pretty good. How about you? What went on in there?”

“Do you really want to know?” He was kissing her as he talked and then kissing and licking her neck and chest, everywhere the champagne spilled.

“You can tell me you fucked Skye, I don’t mind.”

“Okay, we did fuck. Matt and I switched places a couple times until we both came. God, you taste good.”

“That does sound like fun. Oh!” Callie moaned when Brandon caught one of her nipples and sucked it gently between his lips. She loved being with the other guys, but there was something about being with a man who knew her body so well. He reached between her legs and stroked her clit just the way she liked it, the way that made her shiver and get off effortlessly. The boys switching off on Skye sounded like fun and she wondered why Tyler and Ethan didn’t do that to her. She was sore from the pounding Tyler had given her, but when Brandon played with her clit Callie forgot about that. She needed her boyfriend inside her. Excitement crackled over her flesh like static electricity.

Brandon felt weird being with Callie now, after two of his friends had just been with her. He’d been too busy getting ridden by Skye to see what Callie was up to, but she knew at least one of the guys had fucked her, and based on the sounds coming from this room she’d loved every second of it. At first, it had pulled him out of the moment with Skye. He tried to recall if Callie moaned like that when they were together. Did she like the other guys better? It was weird to be wondering such things. Thankfully, Skye wouldn’t let him dwell on such things. She really was spectacular in bed. She started on her back, with Brandon fucking her pussy while Matt used her mouth. Then they’d switched and gone like that for a while before Skye order Matt onto his back again. Skye rode Brandon until they both came. She finished by crawling to her husband and sucking him until she came all over her face. Brandon couldn’t believe his eyes. Somehow, he’d wandered into a Roman orgy.

Callie pushed Brandon backwards onto the bed and knelt down between his legs, pulling his boxers off. She could tell his cock was well used, but was confident she could breathe life back into it. Swirling her tongue around his red, flared head, Callie could taste Skye, but it only gave her pause for a second. Hadn’t Brandon just been kissing her after a mouthful of two guys? But to be fair, she guzzled a lot of champagne in between. She knew he couldn't taste anything, but Callie got Skye's full, musky flavor. She'd tasted herself after kissing or going down on a guy before, but this was different. Surprisingly, it wasn't unpleasant, even though Callie was not attracted to other girls. She licked her way down his shaft and Brandon's heavy breathing told her she was on the right track. Callie held his prick against her cheek while she sucked and licked his balls, thankful that Brandon kept himself groomed down there, something too many guys seemed to forget about. His cock was twitching and growing, pleasing Callie, and to seal the deal she took him fully in her mouth. As she bobbed up and down on his shaft, sucking him heartily and working her tongue on him, Callie felt Brandon growing and growing and knew he was just about ready for her. She couldn't wait. Her competitive side reared its head, and she was going to prove to her boyfriend she was a better lay than Skye.

The bed shifted when someone climbed on behind Callie and then she felt hands rubbing her ass and spreading her legs. She moaned when two fingers slipped between her sore, swollen lips and rubbed her growing wetness. She couldn't discover who it was without releasing Brandon's cock, so she just enjoyed being touched while she pleased her boyfriend. Her mystery lover gently caressed her clit while slowly moving those fingers inside her. It felt so good that Callie pushed back at the hand.

When Brandon was fully hard and ready, Callie released his cock, smacking her lips and she smiled when she turned and saw it was Matt playing with her pussy. "Nice to see you," Callie said. She was still stroking Brandon's cock and curious what the three of them would do next.

"Not as nice as seeing you right now," Matt grinned.

"Now that you've got me all hard again, what do you plan on doing about it?" Brandon asked. He wasn't at all disturbed that Matt had joined them. It was poetic justice that they were going to share Callie now, after having so much fun with Skye.

"I was just going to fuck your brains out, but now that I've got two boys to play with my plans have changed a bit," Callie giggled.

Callie turned around and straddled Brandon, while facing Matt, and grabbed Brandon's cock so she could lower herself onto it. Her cupped her ass and kneaded it while she sank down, burying his shaft. Matt wasn't left out. He massaged both her breasts. With all those hands on her and Brandon's beautiful cock inside her, Callie was in heaven. She gyrated her hips—Brandon loved it when she worked his prick like that—while also playing with her clit. That left her a free hand to grab Matt's stiff cock and stroke it. Callie was content to stay like that forever, but Brandon grabbed her hips and started to move her up and down on his cock. Matt held her right under the arms and lifted her, helping Brandon slam her up and down on his cock. He had never touched her deeper and Callie couldn't believe how amazing it felt to be fucked up and down on Brandon's beautiful cock. She couldn't explain it—it was like they were fucking for the first time all over again. She threw her head back and cried out at the ceiling.

After bouncing Callie on Brandon's shaft for a couple minutes, Matt pulled her forward onto her hands and fed her his cock. He had a nice upward curve that tickled the roof of her mouth as she sucked him down. Holding her tight ass, Brandon pulled her back and forth on him while Matt matched him and both their cocks pushed inside her simultaneously, making it feel like one, huge cock impaled her. Callie audibly squished around Brandon and her gasps and her moans would have joined Skye's cries from the other room if she didn't have a mouthful of cock. The pressure of her passion quickly built and her dam burst, making her want to scream. The boys did not let up and kept fucking her pussy and mouth even as she climaxed. Her juices coated Brandon's cock and soaked his balls.

Brandon was filled with conflict. Sharing Skye with Matt was one thing, but sharing his own girlfriend with another man just felt weird. It was hot—no question about that—but so strange. It bothered him that he wasn't more jealous. When Callie first started sucking Matt's prick, and was so into it, he did feel a stab of jealousy, but now all he could think about was how hot Callie was. She just bounced between them and seemed to be loving every second. He was proud that he was with a woman who could just let go like that.

Matt pulled Callie forward, and even though he knew what was coming, Brandon just went with it. Turnabout was fairplay, after all. He had just fucked Skye, and had a great time doing it. Callie passively let them position her on her side, with her face down by Brandon's cock. Matt pulled her leg back over his and slipped into her while spooning from behind. She closed her eyes in rapture and when she opened her mouth to moan, Brandon took advantage. She easily glided to another powerful climax—Brandon knew all the signs, the fluttering eyelids and the tensing of her body. His concerns about sharing her evaporated and he threw himself fully into the experience.

Callie never knew she could feel so free, so good. Unlike Tyler, Matt and Brandon used her body gently, seeming to be at least as interested in her pleasure as their own. She didn't know how long she floated on that cloud, but it seemed like the guys were going to go on forever. After fucking Skye first they may have had some staying power, but they couldn't really go forever with a girl as hot as Callie.

Brandon lost it first, as he'd always thought there was nothing hotter than watching his cock slip between Callie's pretty lips. His girlfriend had always been a free spirit, but seeing her like this tonight it was like she was a whole new woman. Brandon wondered if there were any limits to Callie's adventurous streak and thought about how much fun it would be to find out. While pondering the possibilities, Brandon lost it and shot his load. First his cum bubbled from her lips, as Callie was too lost to swallow, and then he pulled out and finished by shooting the rest of his load all over her face, something she'd never let him do before. He knew she didn't mind because she smiled and then licked her sticky lips.

Matt followed close behind. Callie's tight pussy felt so good he'd actually been trying to hold out because he didn't want to cum first, but once Brandon shot his load, Matt joined in, pulling out as well and pumping his cum onto her perky little tits. Matt was just amazed by how hot her little body was.

"Thanks guys," Callie said dreamily as she stretched out on the bed. "That was the perfect ending to the perfect evening."

"Trust me, it was my pleasure," Matt replied.

“I love you, baby,” Brandon said, finding a clean spot on her cheek to kiss.

“I love you, too. Don’t worry, we’ll talk later, but right now I want a long, hot shower.”

Callie stayed in that shower for a half hour, letting the steaming water rain down on her sore, spent body. When she finally emerged, with a towel wrapped around her body, Callie found her room empty, but heard voices from next door. She was too tired to investigate, so she peeled back the covers and crawled into bed. She was out as soon as her head hit the pillow.

When she awoke the next morning, Brandon was in bed beside her and the door to Skye and Matt’s room was closed. Callie stretched like a contented cat, pleased with her performance the night before, but more than a little disturbed as well. She would have thought it was all just some crazy dream, if not for the fact she was still sore all over and that the smell of sex still hung in the room. Had she really done all those things? Yes, she had, and it made her feel like some crazy, sexy lunatic. She wished she could brag about such a feat, but having pulled a train after a wedding was not something she would tell anyone about—not even her best friend. It would have to remain Callie’s little secret. Well, hers and all the rest of the group, of course.

Callie decided to give Brandon a special wake up call, so she pulled back the sheets and went down on him until both he and his cock were wide awake. It was easier than dealing with her feelings about the previous night’s orgy. They had to make love slowly and gently because she was still so sore, but it was no less satisfying. Afterward, Callie lay with her head on Brandon’s chest, but the afterglow did not quell her curiosity.

“Did you know that was going to happen last night?” Callie asked. Even if he had set her up, it wouldn’t have made any difference. She wasn’t angry. Not with him, anyway.

“Honestly, I had no idea. When Skye called me over to the bed I thought my head was going to explode. I didn’t truly know how to react until Matt told me it was okay.”

“So you haven’t done anything with other girls at the team parties?”

“Nothing more than flirting. I’ve heard stories, but nothing like that ever happened to me. Why, is there something I should know about?”

“No, I’ve never done more than flirting before either, although I heard some rumors of things getting wild too. So, are we okay? I don’t want last night to ruin things.”

“If you’re okay with it, so am I. I mean, I never thought anything like that would happen to me in a million years, but I just sort of went with it and had a good time. It didn’t seem like you minded all that attention.”

Callie couldn’t suppress her grin. “No, I don’t think any girl would. Every girl should have the chance to experience that kind of attention some time in their life.”

“Good. I didn’t want you waking up this morning all freaked out.”

“As long as you don’t think I’m some kind of slut, I’m good, I think. I don’t want you thinking it’s something we’re just going to start doing all the time, though. I mean, it really was great, but I can’t believe the things I did! I was so caught up in the moment I would have done anything last night, but now that I’m sober and really thinking it through—that was all just too crazy. I enjoy a good time as much as the next girl—probably more—but I’m just afraid of going down that road. Do you understand?”

“Well, I think you’re slut, but I still love you.” Brandon kept a straight face until Callie hit him in the stomach and then they both laughed. “Seriously, though, I get what you’re saying. It was fun, but if we did that all the time what would it say about our relationship. And how far would we let it go?”

“Do you mean would I fuck the whole team?”

“That’s not quite what I meant...”

“No, I get what you’re saying and I think we’re on the same page. I don’t know if I could go there again.”

“Even if Tyler pulled you away for some one-on-one time? I heard the way he made you scream last night.”

Callie sighed just thinking about it. Tyler was an incredible lover and the thought of fucking him again made her tingle all over, but that was just what she was afraid of, doing something to damage her relationship with Brandon. Already she knew she would be tempted she would be tempted if Tyler tried anything and she couldn't give him—or anyone else—a chance to kick that door all the way open. She wanted to be truthful with Brandon, so she answered by saying, "I don't want to do anything to mess up our relationship." Luckily, Brandon seemed pleased with her answer.

As they were checking out, Matt and Skye came down to the lobby, and Skye pulled Callie aside while their men paid the bills.

"I heard you had a good time last night," Skye whispered conspiratorially.

"I think everyone on the floor heard what a good time you had," Callie countered.

"I can't help it if I let go when I'm enjoying myself, can I?"

"Last night was fun, but whatever happened to things not getting out of hand?"

"They usually don't. It's like I described, people having some fun, but not a full on orgy. There are usually more people around though, and not such easy access to beds."

"Do you think the guys will be cool next time we all see each other? I don't want them talking about me behind my back."

"Yeah, they're all good guys. Are you cool with everything?"

"Do you mean that you seduced my boyfriend, you tramp?"

"Yes, that and the fact that my husband screwed you silly."

Callie laughed. "When you put it that way I suppose it all works out."

"Good, because I feel like I have to make a confession. With the team things usually aren't like that, but the truth is that Matt and I are swingers. We've been in the Lifestyle for a couple years now, but it's not something we advertise."

"How does that work?" Callie was incredulous. She'd heard of swinging, of course, but thought it was mostly just a relic of her parents' generation. Did that mean that Skye and Matt did this sort of thing all the time? It seemed crazy, but Callie could see the appeal if you could live with the consequences.

“It’s amazing—for the type of couple that can handle it. And trust me, that’s not everyone.”

“Okay, so why are you telling me now?”

“I just thought you should know, after last night. And since you enjoyed yourself, I wanted you to know it’s possible to have that much fun again, if you and Brandon are interested. Please don’t think I am trying to push you into anything. I just wanted to put the thought in your head.”

“Honestly, I don’t know, Skye. That’s not a judgment, and I want you to know Brandon and I had an amazing time, but I don’t know if we’re built for that sort of thing. It would be great fun, but I could see it fucking with my head after a while. I still don’t know if this will fuck with me yet.”

“Please, I don’t want you to think that Matt and I are some kind of freaks trying to seduce other couples back to our lair. If you don’t think it’s for you that’s totally cool, but I want you to know that if you change your mind after you think about things then please feel free to ask me or Matt anything you like.”

The women hugged and then went their separate ways. On the drive home, Brandon and Callie talked about an upcoming snowboarding trip in New Hampshire they were planning, but her mind was far away. Finally, she asked what was on her mind.

“So, just how much fun did you have last night?” Callie asked. After talking to Skye she couldn’t get the image of Brandon and Skye fucking out of her head. She knew it was totally unfair, since she had such an incredible time herself, but the thought that Skye might be better, what with all her experience, bothered her. Skye must know how to do things Callie never even heard of.

“What are you really asking, honey?”

“Nothing, just forget about it,” Callie insisted. They couldn’t go there, because that led to his asking about the other guys and she could not honestly answer him, not about Tyler anyway. They both had an incredible, insane night and came through with their love and relationship in tact. A lot of couples probably wouldn’t be able to say the same after a night like that. Callie didn’t think it was wise to tempt fate, so it was best to move on and keep building their lives together. No, this was one Pandora’s Box that had to stay closed.
