A Hotwife's Christmas Stocking

Luke and Harriet have a blissful marriage and their own business is flourishing. Just as he thinks life can't get any better, their friend's husband leaves her with two small children. It's only natural that Harriet wants to help Maisie out.

As the weeks go by, Luke finds himself babysitting while Harriet takes Maisie out to cheer her up. When Harriet tells him that several men hit on Maisie, giving her confidence a real boost, he starts fantasising about men hitting on his wife. And there's an added thrill because she always comes home wet and horny.

Come December, the girls have upgraded from pubs to clubs, and one night, Harriet comes home and reveals Maisie went home with a younger man. When she confesses to letting one guy give her more than just a Christmas kiss, Luke can barely control his lust.

They're still coming to terms with Harriet's minor misdemeanour when it's time for their Christmas trip to the fjords and northern lights of Norway. Luke's bought Harriet the sexiest outfit he could find for Christmas Eve in Oslo.

Surely, among the hundreds of total strangers, they'll find the perfect gift for her Christmas stocking...

Chapter One

Luke and Harriet were working late at the office when her mobile rang. He glanced over and she smiled at him as she picked up.

“Hey Bestie,” his wife said, but almost immediately stopped smiling. “What?” They spoke for a couple of minutes, Harriet’s voice low and sympathetic. “Do you need me to come over? I can leave work now and be there in half an hour.”

Luke could now hear sobs coming through the phone.

“Okay, I’ll be there as soon as I can.” After ending the call, she looked over at her husband. “Jake’s left Maisie.”

Luke was as shocked as his wife sounded. “Why? What’s happened?”

“I don’t know. She’s in tears. When she said Jake had gone, I actually thought he’d been killed in a car crash or something.” She shook her head. “Apparently he came home from work early, packed his things and told her he was leaving.”

“What about the kids?”

Harriet glanced at her laptop, saved whatever she’d been working on, then closed it down. “I said I’d drive over, but I’ve just remembered we travelled together. Can you leave now? I can drop you at home first.”

“I need to finish this, so I’ll take a taxi home later.”

“Are you sure? Sorry, I wasn’t thinking ahead.”

“It’s fine. Go see Maisie. Sounds like she needs you.”

Harriet grabbed her coat. “I haven’t heard her cry like that since we were teenagers.” She walked over and kissed his cheek. “Thank you.”

“Text me to let me know what’s happening. If you need to stay over, that’s fine.”

She squeezed his shoulder and left.

Alone in the quiet office, Luke was still shocked at the news. He'd known the other couple for years. Maisie had been Harriet's best friend since primary school, and she'd started seeing Jake around the same time Luke had met Harriet. They'd double-dated often, and even taken a holiday as a foursome to Corfu. The women had been each other's chief bridesmaid at their respective weddings, and although Luke and Jake had never been drinking buddies, he'd always liked the guy. He couldn't imagine what must have happened to make him leave.

Since he'd be going home to an empty house, Luke put another hour's work into the new software contract for their French client, taking the opportunity to get ahead of schedule, then decided to walk from the business park into town. It was only a mile or so, and it was a dry October evening. He stopped at his favourite Indian restaurant and bought himself a takeaway curry and naan, then walked to the taxi rank. Fifteen minutes later, he was sitting in their living room at home, eating chicken korma and watching the build-up to a Champions League game. Meal over, he checked his phone for messages and then got himself a fresh beer.

Harriet arrived home halfway through the second half.

Luke muted the TV and waited as she took off her coat and sat in the chair opposite. "So, what's happened?"

"Jake's moved out."

"Why?"

"Maisie doesn't know. She'd thought everything was fine until he left."

"He didn't give a reason?"

"Not according to Maisie. He told her things hadn't been right for a while, and he'd had enough."

"What about his kids? He can't just leave them, he has a parental responsibility as well as a financial one."

"I know. There's lots they need to sort out, but tonight was about Maisie. She's still in shock. I helped her get the kids bathed and settled in bed, then spent the rest of the time trying to comfort her."

"How were the kids?"

"They were both upset because their mum was crying." She shook her head and sighed. "Sorry about leaving you stranded."

"No problem. I got myself a curry on the way home."

“I can smell it.”

“Have you eaten?”

“I made us some pasta, though Maisie hardly touched hers.” She was obviously worried about her friend. “Do you mind if I have a quick bath?”

“No. I’ll watch the end of this game.”

Harriet went to run a bath and Luke turned the volume back up, but his mind was still fixed on their friends. He didn’t want to make false accusations, but he thought the most probable reason for Jake to leave his wife was that he’d found somebody else.

* * * *

Over the next few days, Harriet spent quite a bit of time on the phone. Luke texted Jake to ask if he wanted to meet up for a drink, but his offer was declined. After getting back from Maisie’s place on Saturday afternoon, she told Luke the latest developments.

“Jake’s been in touch. Apparently, he’s staying with a mate from work and has asked if he can see his kids every other weekend.”

“That’s good.” He saw his wife’s expression. “I mean good that he wants to see the kids.”

“Yeah, I suppose so.” She gave a sad smile. “It means it’s only Maisie he no longer wants.”

“What about money?”

“They’d been saving up to move to a bigger house. Their mortgage is relatively small and Maisie reckons she’ll be able to afford it with her salary. Jake will get most of their savings as his share of the assets, and his name will be removed from the mortgage and house deeds. He’ll also pay her child maintenance.” She shook her head. “He seems to have thought it all through.”

Luke decided to reveal his suspicions. “Do you think he might be seeing somebody else?”

Harriet shrugged. “I’ve no idea. Maisie thought things were fine. Apparently they’d had sex in the morning of the day he left her.”

“Wow.”

“Anyway, the kids are desperate to dress up for Hallowe’en and play Trick or Treat, so I suggested they come round tomorrow. I’ll make a chilli for us and do some spooky nibbles for the kids.”

They spent much of the next day prepping. Harriet made a plate of severed fingers by carving knuckle joints into carrots and adding red pepper fingernails. She also made a green jelly with fake eyeballs in it and bought chocolate biscuits shaped like bats, spiders and witches’ hats. Luke carved the pumpkin and hung lace spiderwebs from the kitchen ceiling.

The doorbell announced their guests’ arrival. Five-year-old Tia was dressed as a witch, and three-year-old Finn was wearing a onesie decorated in squares of green and brown with a square box on his head. Apparently he was Creeper, whoever that was.

Luke thought Maisie looked tired and drawn, though her lack of makeup and hair scraped back in a ponytail didn’t help. He gave her a hug, then took the kids out to see the pumpkin he’d carved earlier. The kids seemed to enjoy themselves, and Harriet fussed over her friend for a couple of hours.

After they’d left, Luke dismantled the decorations while Harriet tidied away the food and dishes.

“Maisie looked shattered,” he said.

Harriet nodded. “She’s working full-time and looking after two kids on her own.”

“You should take her out for a drink one night. I’ll babysit the kids.”

Harriet looked up, surprised. “You’ll babysit?”

He nodded. “Yeah. I mean, they’re both out of nappies so how hard can it be?”

“Thank you. I’ll suggest it to Maisie.”

* * * *

On Thursday evening, Luke and Harriet drove to Maisie’s house. The kids seemed excited that he’d be looking after them, and both had already chosen several books for him to read to them. Maisie looked more like her old self. She’d applied makeup and wore her shoulder-length blonde hair loose.

As Maisie cuddled the kids and told them to be good, Harriet gave Luke a kiss on the cheek.

“Thank you,” she whispered.

“You can thank me later.”

She held his gaze for a second. “Maybe I will.”

Maisie smiled at him. “Thanks, Luke. Any problems, phone Harriet and we’ll come straight back.”

“I’ll be fine. Go and have fun.”

His evening was surprisingly easy. After their supper, both kids were keen to show him their toys and bedrooms. Finn was asleep before his first story was finished, and Tia explained each illustration of The Snail and the Whale. Luke was back downstairs by eight-thirty and hadn’t heard another peep from the kids by the time the women got back at eleven.

When they settled into bed at home, Harriet revealed a group of men had chatted them up in the pub.

“I think Maisie was surprised by the attention she got.”

“Why was she surprised?” Luke had always found Maisie attractive.

“I think Jake leaving has knocked her self-confidence.”

“Well, she’s got a lot going for her. Whatever Jake’s reason for leaving, it can’t be anything to do with how Maisie looks. Did she enjoy the attention?”

“Yeah, I think so.”

Luke ran his hand over his wife’s flat tummy. “And did you enjoy the attention you got?”

She slipped her hand inside his boxers. “What makes you think I got any?”

He remembered how good she’d looked in the black trousers and angora sweater. “Just a hunch. I know what men can be like.”

“Yeah, me too.” She pushed his boxers down to his thighs and slipped her panties off. “Now,” she said, sitting up and straddling him, “didn’t you say I should thank you for babysitting?”

“Oh yeah, I’d forgotten.”

When she rose up and impaled herself on him, he was surprised how wet she was. He let out a sigh, then closed his eyes and placed his hands on her hips as she rode him. She moved faster, grinding her clit against his pubic bone. He heard her breathing get ragged, then felt the clench of her orgasm. Harriet rarely came this quickly. Luke gripped her hips, thrusting as he pulled her down onto his cock. His back arched with the power of his climax. As he came down, he found himself a little shocked at the intensity of their lovemaking.

She lay on his chest. "Would you mind if I took Maisie out again?"

"Not if you promise to jump me like that again when you get home."

"I'll jump you like that anytime you want."

He ran his hands down her back. "Maybe next time you should get a taxi so you can both have a drink."

"Good idea." She fell asleep with her boobs pressed against his chest.

Chapter Two

Two weeks later, Luke looked after Tia and Finn again at Maisie's place while the women went out to a wine bar in the middle of Stockport. When the taxi dropped them home, both women were a little tipsy. Maisie gave Harriet a tearful hug just before they left.

In the car, Luke asked if Maisie was alright.

"You were right about Jake," she said with a sigh. "He is seeing someone else. It's a woman he works with."

"He admitted it?"

"Yeah, but he was vague when Mais asked him how long it'd been going on."

"So was she upset all night?"

"No, she was on top flirty form with the barman. He even brought over two glasses of complimentary bubbly."

"Two glasses suggests you were flirting with the barman as well."

"No it doesn't." She leaned close and blew in his ear. "I was flirting with the bouncer."

Luke laughed. "Was he big and strong?"

She nodded. "And he wore a tux and bow tie."

"Well, I suppose that's okay then."

They drove the rest of the way home in silence.

While Harriet was in the bathroom, Luke stripped naked, took out his only bow tie from the wardrobe and put it on. Harriet walked into the bedroom and burst out laughing.

Luke stood at the side of the bed, smiling. "I thought if the bow tie had worked for the bouncer..."

Harriet stepped closer and, to his amazement, dropped to her knees. Luke held his breath. She looked up into his eyes, gripped his cock and took it into her mouth. He let out a sigh as she bobbed her head and cupped his balls. He was soon fully erect, and he pulled her to her feet and practically threw her onto the bed.

She wriggled as he undid her trousers and tugged them off. "Are you going to be rough, like the bouncer?"

"Was he rough with you?"

She smiled, her eyes a little unfocussed. The smell of alcohol and her perfume was a heady mix. He pushed her top up, released her boobs from her bra without unfastening it, then dipped his head to suck on one of her brown, taut nipples.

Harriet reached down and squeezed his dick. "Get this inside me."

"Is that what you said to the bouncer?"

She pulled her thong aside. "He didn't need telling."

Luke entered her and she arched up to meet him. She was hot and tight and wet. He groped her breasts and slammed into her again and again. She grunted with each thrust and scratched his back. Harriet came quickly, thrashing her head from side to side as he pounded her. He withdrew, rolled her over and entered her from behind. She slipped her hand between her legs. Luke could feel her fingers rubbing her clit while he fucked her.

He put his lips to her ear. "If you're going to come again, you need to be quick."

Her fingers moved faster. "Don't wait for me. Come when you're ready."

Luke fucked her harder. "Is that what you said to the bouncer?"

"Oh yeah..."

He felt the clench of her second orgasm and erupted inside her. Harriet groaned and jerked beneath him as they rode out their pleasure, then he rolled off.

She looked over at him and smiled. "I like when you treat me like that."

"Me too."

"Thanks for suggesting we go out tonight. I think it was just what Maisie needed."

"The drink or the barman?"

"Both." She pulled her top and bra off, then snuggled under the quilt. "She suggested we go dancing next time."

Luke removed the bow tie. "Yeah, though it might be a late night."

"We'll go when Jake has the kids. You won't need to babysit." She raised her eyebrows. "You could even come dancing with us."

“Nah, I’d probably cramp your style.”

“True.”

They settled down and Harriet was soon asleep. Luke thought about his wife and her friend going out dancing. If blokes had hit on them in the pub and wine bar, what sort of attention would they get in a club?

The idea of Harriet being chatted up was actually quite arousing. And if she came home and gave him more of the sex they’d just had, then it was a win-win situation.

* * * *

Harriet and Maisie went out on a weekend when Tia and Finn were staying with Jake. Luke met up for a drink with one of their neighbours but was back home shortly before eleven. Harriet didn’t get home until two in the morning.

As she tiptoed into the bedroom, he turned on his bedside lamp.

“Hiya,” she said. “Sorry if I woke you.”

He shook his head. “I couldn’t sleep.”

She was dressed in a silver knee-length dress and carrying a matching pair of strappy sandals in her hand. He’d left the house before she’d got ready for her night out, so he hadn’t seen her outfit or makeup. She’d pinned up her hair and applied thick eyeliner and bright red gloss. She looked really good.

“So,” he said, sitting up. “How was your night?”

“It was a good laugh, but I’ll probably have a hangover tomorrow.” She slipped her dress off, revealing a lacy white bra and panty set that looked great on her perfect body.

“Does that mean you’re drunk and I can take advantage?”

She held his gaze as she unclipped her bra. “Maybe.” Harriet rolled off her panties and slid into bed, snuggling her cold body against his. “Ooh, you’re nice and warm.”

“I was.” He leaned up on one elbow and looked down at her.

“You’re going to get makeup all over the pillow.”

“I figured I’d be washing the sheets tomorrow anyway.”

“Oh?”

She traced her hand down his stomach and rubbed the bulge already forming inside his boxers. "I'm guessing you're going to make more mess with this than I will with my makeup."

Luke loved it when she acted this way. "Yeah, I probably will." He leaned down and kissed her glossed lips, then pulled back to look into her big, brown eyes. "How was the dancing?"

"It was good." She slipped her arms around his waist and pulled him on top of her, parting her legs to make room for his knees.

Luke pushed his boxers down and guided his cock to her entrance, swiping the tip through her folds a couple of times. She was already wet. He eased forward and slid inside.

Harriet groaned, rocking her hips from side to side. "Oh, that feels good."

He couldn't disagree, and for a minute or so he slid gently in and out of her drenched channel, revelling in her heat and tightness. But he needed details about the night out.

"So," he whispered, "how did Maisie feel about the attention she got tonight?"

Harriet opened her eyes and studied him. "She loved it."

"Did a lot of guys want to dance with her?"

"You could say that."

"And what about you?"

Harriet grinned and squeezed down on his cock. "A few."

Luke studied his wife's teasing expression while he fucked her. He realised how much he liked the idea of her flirting and dancing with men. "Were there any slow dances?"

She slipped her hands down to his buttocks and pulled him deeper. "Yeah, a few."

He wanted to know everything. Had the guys wrapped their arms around her? Had they slid their hands down to cup her arse, or around to stroke the sides of her boobs? Had they tried to kiss her? Or pull her body against theirs? Had she been subjected to them pushing their erections against her while they danced?

The mere thought of her dirty dancing with some stranger affected him in a way he couldn't explain. The tightening of jealousy was overwhelmed by a shiver of arousal. She'd been dripping wet when she got into bed, so whatever happened at the club had turned her on. The added thrill made him fuck her harder.

Harriet's response was to lift her head and bite his shoulder. Luke opened his eyes in surprise and fired his load deep inside her. Harriet moaned, grinding herself against him and coming just a few seconds later. They heaved and clung to each other until, still trembling, Luke rolled off her.

Harriet snuggled under his arm and laid her head on his chest. "I like how you treat me when I get back from a night out with Maisie."

He frowned at her, pretending to be puzzled. "How do I treat you?"

"You fuck me. Hard."

She was right, but he felt obliged to deny it. "I'm not sure that's—"

"Yes it is, but I'm not complaining." She kissed his chest. "I told Maisie, and she was really jealous."

"You told Maisie?"

"Yeah. She whined that she has to make do with her wand."

"Maisie has a wand?"

Harriet bit his nipple. "You're not allowed to like that idea."

Though the idea of anyone as attractive as Maisie using a sex toy was arousing, most of the images flickering through Luke's imagination were those of his wife dancing with other men.

"Tell me about the slow dances," he said.

"What, the music?"

"No. How you were touching."

She shrugged. "They put their arms around my waist, and I put my hands on theirs."

"Was your body pressed up against theirs?"

"Sometimes."

"Did their hands stray to your arse or tits?"

She laughed. "No, but I saw one guy groping Maisie's bum."

"What did she do?"

"She didn't seem to mind. She was rubbing her body against his, and they were kissing."

"Kissing?"

She nodded.

"Did you kiss any men?"

She scoffed. “Of course not. Well... ” She cleared her throat. “Not in the same way as Maisie did, anyway.”

“Oh yeah? How did you kiss them, then?”

“It was just one guy, and it was at the end of the last dance. Maisie and her guy were snogging, so I gave mine a chaste peck.”

“On the cheek?”

“The lips, but it was just—” she brushed her lips against his chest “—like that. Mais and her guy were swapping spit and using tongues. Mine was simply a ‘thank you for the dance’ peck, and nothing more.”

“Right.” Luke’s mind raced. “Did any of them push their hard-on against you while you danced?”

She shook her head. “You have a filthy mind.”

“Yeah, I know. Maybe Maisie won’t need her wand tonight. She might be getting the real thing.”

Harriet shook her head. “I don’t think she’s ready for that yet. Besides, we shared a taxi home, so I know she’s alone.”

“Oh.”

“Can I go to sleep now?”

He reached over and turned the lamp off. Harriet was soon asleep, but Luke lay awake imagining his wife dancing with another man, their bodies and lips pressed together.

* * * *

Luke and Harriet were working through a debugging list in their office on a wet Tuesday afternoon when Harriet received a phone call. Partially eavesdropping Harriet’s side of the conversation, Luke surmised that another evening out was being planned. His heart rate kicked up a notch. He saw Harriet glance over in his direction and heard her say she’d ask.

When she ended the call, Luke said, “I’m guessing Maisie wants to take you out cruising for guys again.”

“Actually, she’s invited me to her company’s Christmas Party on Saturday.”

“Christmas? It’s still November!”

“It’s always on the first Saturday of December, which is this weekend. She booked the room months ago, assuming she’d be going with Jake.”

“It’s an overnight thing?” Luke wasn’t sure how he felt about that.

“Yeah. It’s in a big hotel in the centre of Manchester. They book one of the conference suites and loads of rooms.”

“So you’d be staying overnight in a room with Maisie?”

She grinned. “Do you think she’ll bring her wand?”

Luke laughed, but part of him was disappointed she wouldn’t be coming home that night.

Harriet obviously read his mood. “If it’s a problem, I won’t go.”

He forced a smile. “It’s no problem. Of course you should go.”

She smiled. “Thanks. I’ll text Mais and let her know.”

“Speaking of Christmas,” he said, as Harriet tapped out a message on her phone.

She paused and looked up. “What about it?”

“What do you think about us going away?”

“What, like a holiday?”

He nodded. “The new contract means we can afford to spoil ourselves a bit, not spend it roasting a turkey and peeling spuds. Maybe spend Christmas Day on a tropical beach.”

“I like the idea of going away.” She seemed to think about it for a few seconds. “Let’s go somewhere cold, with snow.”

“Really?”

She nodded. “A white Christmas.”

“Okay, I’ll look around at the options.”

Chapter Three

Maisie came to pick up Harriet on Saturday afternoon. A couple of hours later, while he was making himself a stir-fry, his phone alerted him of an incoming text. Harriet had sent a photo of her and Maisie ready for their party. Both women wore nice dresses, high heels and shiny lipstick. Harriet had added the caption: 'Ready to go cruising'.

Luke replied with a laughing emoji. He plated up his dinner, grabbed a beer and took both through to the living room, where he watched TV while he ate. No more texts came during the evening, and he resisted the temptation to send one asking how their cruising mission had gone. He headed up to bed around eleven and soon fell asleep.

Checking his phone soon after waking up, he saw three texts from Harriet. He was surprised he hadn't heard them, but then he'd had a few beers and had been tired.

The first had arrived at 01:43. As he read it, a strange mixture of dread and excitement crept through him.

*Well, Maisie seems to be over Jake :-)
I'm now sitting in the bar with a very nice man while waiting for her to tell me it's safe to go up to the room.*

Luke re-read the message. If Maisie had found herself a guy and taken him back to her room, had Harriet been left at the party on her own? If so, who was the guy in the bar?

The second message had arrived at 02:18.

Have been given the all-clear so on my way up to our room. xx

He clicked immediately to the final one.

I've got dirty gossip for you when I get home...

A hot shiver ran through him. Even though it was only seven-thirty on a Sunday morning, Luke went downstairs to make coffee. He carried his mug through to the living room and re-read all Harriet's texts. Maisie had obviously found something better than her wand to satisfy her last night, and God knows she had every right to after what Jake had done.

He clicked again on the party dress photo. They both looked great. Luke reckoned the guy who'd taken Maisie to bed would be pretty smug now.

The idea of Maisie having sex with someone from the party was kind of titillating, but his mind soon focused on Harriet and the guy in the bar. Had she spent the evening dancing with him, or were they simply the last two stragglers at the end of the party who'd finished their final drinks together? He visualised them on stools at the bar, deep in conversation. Maybe the guy had suggested they go up to his room, and that was the dirty gossip Harriet had to tell Luke about when she got home.

He dismissed this idea immediately. Harriet wouldn't do that, though Maisie had probably thought the same thing about Jake not too long ago.

Since Harriet would be eating breakfast at the hotel, Luke decided he'd treat himself as well. He showered and dressed, then walked to a local café. After he'd ordered a bacon roll and coffee, he searched winter holiday destinations on his phone. Breakfast finished, he headed back home and waited for his wife to arrive.

Harriet let herself in through the front door. She was dressed entirely in black—jeans, t-shirt and flat boots—and looked fabulous even without makeup. Smiling, she walked over and grabbed him by the hand, pulled him to his feet then led him upstairs. Luke didn't resist. Neither spoke until they were in the bedroom.

"Get your kit off," she instructed as she removed her t-shirt and undid the button of her jeans.

Luke complied, his cock already swelling.

Once he was naked, Harriet said, "Lie on the bed."

He did, then watched in silence as she climbed between his legs and dragged her hair over his erection.

“Do you want me to tell you what happened?” she asked.

“Only if you can talk with your mouth full.”

Harriet smiled, then leaned down and took his cock between her lips, making him groan. She bobbed her head and used her tongue, then released him and crawled up his body, straddling his waist. “I’ll suck you another time. Right now, I need this...” She gripped his cock and guided it inside. “...Here.”

Luke pushed his hips up and Harriet let out a quiet moan as she clenched around him.

After a few seconds she opened her eyes and looked down at him. “So, it appears Maisie has an admirer from the marketing department. He’s called Chris, and he spent most of the party flirting and dancing with her. They’d disappeared for about ten minutes at the end of the meal, so I assumed Chris was a smoker and they’d gone outside so he could have a drag. They returned and everyone moved to the dance floor. I ended up dancing with another marketing guy called Amir.”

Luke tried to keep his voice casual. “Only dancing?”

“Yes. But after the last dance, Maisie invited Chris and Amir to our room for a nightcap.”

Luke’s heart rate accelerated more than a little. “Oh?”

“We were all talking, then Chris needed the bathroom. Maisie made some lame excuse and followed him in.”

Luke blinked. “And?”

“And I had to sit on a bed with a guy I hardly knew while listening to my friend having sex.”

“They fucked in the bathroom while you and Amir were on the bed?”

She nodded, then closed her eyes.

“Did—?”

She put her finger to his lips and ground down on his cock. “Ask me later.”

He felt the clench of her orgasm and reached up to cup her breasts, running his thumbs over her nipples as she came. When her orgasm had passed, she opened her eyes and smiled. “Are you ready to come yet?”

He rolled her onto her back and pounded her hard and fast. Harriet cried out and held onto his arms, coming again and wrapping her legs around the back of his. Luke erupted inside her.

She writhed beneath him, then smiled contentedly. "That's better."

He withdrew, pulling the quilt over them. "So," he said, stroking a strand of her hair back from her eyes. "How did you feel about what was going on in the bathroom?"

"They'd been flirting all through the party. Maisie's now single, and she got what she wanted at the end of her evening."

"What about Amir? Didn't he want the same end to his evening?"

"No. I think he was even more embarrassed than me, but I could see a bulge in his trousers."

"He got a hard-on?"

She nodded.

"Were you wet?"

"Why does that matter?"

"I'm just curious."

"I was sitting on a bed next to a good-looking guy with an erection, listening to my best friend getting railed. It was a surreal situation, so I suppose I was pretty wet."

"Why didn't you fuck him?"

She scoffed. "Why do you think?"

"I'd never have known. You could have fucked him and I'd have been none the wiser."

Harriet frowned. "Yeah, but I'd have known. That's not who I am."

He smiled. "I know."

"What's more, that would make me just as bad as Jake."

"Do you think Amir was disappointed you didn't?"

"No. It was his suggestion that we leave them to it and go for a drink, so we headed down to the bar."

"Was he sharing a room with Chris?"

"No, but he was too much of a gentleman to leave me alone in the bar and go back to his own room."

"Did Maisie know you'd left?"

"Yes. They moved the action from the bathroom to the bedroom."

"They fucked in the bed where you had to sleep?"

Harriet nodded and laughed. "I made her sleep on the damp patch."

Luke chuckled. "So will Maisie be seeing Chris again?"

“I’ve no idea. I don’t think she’s ready for anything steady. She just needed to let loose.”

“Fair enough.” Something occurred to him. “When you say you made Maisie sleep on the wet patch, does that mean they had unprotected sex?”

Harriet nodded. “She’s on the pill, but I still think it was a bit irresponsible.”

“Yeah, I guess, but I’m impressed by her recklessness.”

“She’s spent over ten years with one man. Giving herself to someone else, and taking his load inside her, must have been a big step.”

Harriet smiled. “She took another big step. She admitted this morning that when they’d disappeared after dinner, she was sucking his dick in the cloakroom.”

“What?”

“I know. The little floozy.”

“Doesn’t it make you a little envious, though? All the escapades she might get up to?”

“God no!” Harriet smiled and ran her hand through his hair. “I have a husband who I love, and we’re building a business and a life together. Maisie might get to let her hair down once in a while, but most of her time’s going to be spent as a single parent with a full-time job. It’ll be hard for her.”

Luke smirked. “Well, I guess Chris was hard for her.” He slid back on top and looked down into her eyes. “What did Amir look like?”

“Dark hair, dark eyes. His family moved here from Delhi in the nineties, so I won’t need to tell you he was dark all over.”

“And you know that for a fact, do you?”

She pouted. “Unfortunately not.”

His cock was hard again, so he fed it back inside her. “So, would you ever take a guy to the cloakroom to suck his cock, or follow him into a bathroom and fuck him while your friends listened?”

“Yeah, I’d do that and more.”

Luke knew she was only teasing, but it still excited him. “How much more?”

She raised her head to whisper in his ear. “So much more.”

He swallowed the lump in his throat. “Tell me what you’d do.”

“Well, Maisie just sucked his cock to tease him a little. I’d give him a full blowjob, and I’d swallow everything he shot down my throat. Then I’d take him back to the dance floor and push my tongue in his mouth so he’d taste his own cum.”

Temporarily speechless, Luke stared into her eyes.

She smiled, obviously enjoying the fact she’d shocked him into silence. “And then I’d take him back to my room and fuck his brains out, but I wouldn’t do it in the bathroom. I’d do it on the bed. If there were other people in the bedroom, they could watch.”

“I’m going to come.”

She smiled. “That’s what he’d say.”

Luke’s heart thumped in his chest. “Where would you take it?”

“The same place I’m going to take yours.”

His entire body shuddered with his release. Harriet ground herself against him and came while the spasms still rippled through his body. He couldn’t remember having a more intense orgasm.

They lay in silence for a while, and Harriet dozed in his arms, catching up on her sleep after the late night.

Chapter Four

Luke and Harriet spent a lazy Sunday afternoon doing very little. The subject of Harriet's dirty story and Luke's reaction to it wasn't mentioned. He wondered if she felt as awkward about it as he did, now the heat of the moment had passed.

They sat in their living room and did some online Christmas shopping, ordering gifts for their parents. Luke was an only child and Harriet's brother was single, so they had no nephews or nieces to shop for.

"I need to ask Maisie what to get Tia and Finn," she said.

Luke grinned. "I was going to suggest getting Maisie a new wand, but that won't be necessary now she's back on man meat."

Harriet scowled at him over the top of her laptop. "It was a one-night stand. Don't make such a big deal of it."

"Sorry." He concentrated on his own screen. "What do you think about Norway for a holiday?"

She looked up, eyebrows raised. "I don't know. I've never—"

He spun his laptop on his knee and showed her the promotional slide show on a travel site. There were white-capped mountains surrounding cobalt-blue fjords, a picturesque snowy village like a scene from a Christmas card, and the magical swirls of the Northern Lights filling the night sky.

“It looks fantastic.”

“That’s what I thought.”

“I got the impression you’d prefer a tropical beach.”

He shook his head. “No, I really like your white Christmas idea.”

“Great.”

“I had another thought as well.”

“Oh?”

He set his laptop aside. “When we set up the business, we had to rent the office because this place is too small.”

She nodded.

“As a start-up business, we got the introductory deal. But now the rent’s gone up to the regular rate, and—”

“But the French contract means we can easily afford it.”

She obviously hadn’t guessed where he was going with this. “True, but that contract also means we could afford a bigger house, where we could work from home.”

Her mouth dropped open.

He shrugged. “It’s doable. Think of the money we’d save on office rent and commuting. No more sitting in traffic during the rush-hour.”

Harriet grinned. “I never thought about moving house.”

“Maybe it’s time to consider it. The office lease is on a rolling contract, which means we only need to give two-months’ notice.”

She smiled brightly. “This is turning out to be a great weekend.”

“As good as Maisie’s?”

“Not from the noises she was making in the bathroom.”

Luke dropped onto his knees and crawled across to her on the couch. He twined his fingers through her hair and pulled her in for a kiss. She moaned into his mouth as he cradled the back of her head.

He moved back until they were nose to nose. “I really enjoyed your story earlier.”

“I noticed.”

A tightness gripped his insides. “Did it turn you on?”

She gave a non-committal shrug.

“It didn’t turn you on?” he asked.

“Of course it did. The thought of doing something like that is...”
She shook her head. “I’m pretty sure everyone has fantasies like that.”

“Like what?”

“Dirty sex with someone who isn’t your spouse.”

Luke’s balls jumped in their sac. “Do you think it’s the sort of thing that should remain just a fantasy?”

“Yes. While the thought of sex with a stranger probably appeals to most married women, the cheating aspect stops us doing it. Our wedding vows tell us to forsake all others.”

“Yeah, I guess.” His mouth was dry. “But what if the husband doesn’t consider it forsaking?”

She frowned. “What do you mean?”

“What if he likes the idea of his wife being with another man?”

“I think that would suggest he no longer loves her.”

“Or it means he loves her enough to let her live out her fantasy.”

Harriet frowned.

“Maybe,” he went on, feeling braver, “he’s realised it might be his fantasy, too.”

“What’s brought this on?”

“I don’t know.”

“Yes you do.” She narrowed her eyes. “You’re different whenever I go out with Maisie.”

Luke hesitated. She’d already pointed out how hard he fucked her after she’d been out, so there was no point denying it. “When you told me about men chatting you up, I realised that rather than feeling angry or threatened, I was kind of...”

“Kind of what?”

“Buzzed. I liked the idea of other men fancying you.”

She studied him. “When we have sex afterwards, you always come sooner than usual.”

“So do you.”

She blinked, though he wasn’t sure whether she was surprised she hadn’t noticed or that he had.

He pushed his point further. “And you’re always really wet before I’ve even touched you.”

Harriet started to shake her head in denial, then sighed. "It's flattering when men pay you compliments and ask you to dance."

"Flattering or arousing?"

"Both, I suppose."

Luke smiled.

"You're not angry that I get aroused dancing with other men?"

He shook his head. "Are you angry that I get aroused thinking about you dancing with other men?"

"No, but it's a bit weird."

"I know. It's not an easy thing to admit to."

"I can imagine." She looked down at his lips, then back into his eyes. "Are you going to fuck me now?"

"Yeah."

"Will you be rough and come quickly?"

"Probably."

She smiled. "Even though I haven't been out?"

"I'll pretend you have."

"And what have I been doing?"

"The usual sort of thing, swapping spit with a stranger while getting your arse groped."

"Ooh, I like the sound of that."

Harriet removed her t-shirt and pushed her leggings down and off over her bare feet. Luke stood and lowered his jeans to mid-thigh. She looked towards the door as if suggesting they go upstairs, but he picked her up and laid her on the couch. She laughed, lifting one foot onto the backrest and lowering the other to the floor. Luke knelt on the cushion between her spread legs, pulled the drenched gusset of her panties aside, and entered her with a violent stab. Her yelp of surprise soon turned to moans of pleasure. He pounded into her, and she arched up to meet each thrust.

Clasping a hand to each side of his face, she stared into his eyes. "You can come whenever you're ready."

He'd probably been inside her less than a couple of minutes when she tightened around him. Luke banged faster and exploded while she was still in the throes of her own orgasm.

As Luke lay in the afterglow, he knew they'd crossed a line. He'd said things he couldn't take back, even if he wanted to. Harriet looked up at him with big eyes, and he wasn't sure if she looked excited or worried about whatever lay ahead.

* * * *

Nothing more was mentioned about their conversation until Thursday afternoon. They were at the office when Harriet looked up from her desk.

"Are we doing anything next Friday night?" she asked.

He noted the mobile in her hand. Probably a text from Maisie. A low-level thrum developed in his groin. "I don't think so."

She looked apprehensive. "It's just that Jake will be having the kids, and Maisie wondered if I wanted to..."

"Yeah, fine." He tried to smile but felt as nervous as she looked.

Harriet held his gaze for a moment, then tapped out a reply.

Although neither of them mentioned her upcoming night out again that afternoon, the atmosphere between them felt charged. Harriet seemed to be avoiding eye-contact.

When they got into bed that night, Harriet left her bedside light on and leaned up on one elbow to look at him. "So, Maisie wants us to go dancing next weekend."

"Cool."

She sighed. "Don't make me do all the talking."

Luke reached out and stroked her face. "Go and have fun."

"Fun?"

He looked into her eyes. "It'll be the last weekend before Christmas. Everyone will be in high spirits, so I think you should drink, dance and be merry."

"How much should I drink?"

"Take a taxi and drink as much as you want."

"And how much should I dance?"

Luke knew where this was going. A shiver of anticipation ran down his spine. "As much as your feet can manage in high heels."

"Right." With a teasing grin, she lowered her voice. "And how merry am I allowed to be?"

His throat constricted so much that his breathing made a wheezing sound. He swallowed. "That's up to you."

She frowned. "I don't think I could do anything."

"I'm not suggesting you go out with the intention of doing something. Just go knowing that if anyone grabs your bum or pulls you in for a Christmas kiss, it won't cause a problem between us."

"Okay."

She still looked nervous, so Luke reached over and turned her lamp off, then pulled her close and held her. Surprisingly, he didn't need sex. Tonight he just wanted to hold his wife and reassure her that, whatever happened when she was out, he would always be here waiting for her.

* * * *

Over the weekend, they trawled travel websites and eventually booked their holiday in Norway. They'd fly out on the twenty-first and fly back on Boxing Day. It was to be a multi-destination trip taking in a fjord cruise, a flight up to Tromsø to see the Northern Lights, and then Christmas in Oslo.

This meant they had so much work to get through that the week shot past. On Friday morning, when Harriet told him she intended driving to Maisie's house, Luke was startled. Was she suggesting she stay at Maisie's? Or maybe spend the night elsewhere?

A cold weight settled in Luke's stomach. "But if you're going to be drinking—"

She rolled her eyes. "I won't drive home, obviously. I'll leave my car at her house while we're out, then get the taxi home as usual. It's just that I need to take presents for the kids because I won't see her again before we leave."

"Ah, right." He nodded, trying to hide his initial shock.

"Then you can drive me over to get my car in the morning."

"Why don't I just drive you over tonight? That way your car can stay at home and you won't have to drive with a hangover tomorrow."

"Why didn't I think of that?"

"Because thinking's a man thing. It's what we do."

Harriet ignored him.

Luke sat watching TV on Friday evening when Harriet walked into the living room. Her short dress, bare legs and high heels made his jaw drop. She'd pinned her hair up and applied similar makeup to what she'd worn for the Christmas party.

"Wow," he said, running his eyes down her legs.

She frowned and tugged down on her hemline. "I know it looks a bit tarty, but it's how all the women dress."

"It looks great. You look great."

"Thanks." She went into the kitchen to collect the bag of wrapped Christmas presents. "Right, are you ready to drive me?"

He stood up and grabbed his keys. They hardly spoke in the car, and he wondered if she was as nervous as him.

When the car stopped outside Maisie's, she turned to look at him. "I don't know if anything will happen."

"That's fine. Just see where the evening leads."

She looked into his eyes for a second, then offered her cheek so he could kiss her without smudging the scarlet lip-gloss. As she walked to Maisie's front door, Luke wondered if her lip-gloss would be smudged when she got home.

He spent the entire evening in turmoil, flipping between apprehension and anticipation with every fresh image his mind's eye created. He checked his watch often, trying to gauge the progress of her evening. It'd been a few years since he'd been to a club, and he really couldn't guess what music the DJ would be playing. Did they still play Christmas songs in nightclubs? Would Harriet be bouncing around the dance floor with a hundred other people forming a large circle and singing Slade's Merry Xmas Everybody, or canoodling with a tall, handsome stranger?

Luke poured himself a glass of brandy and sat in the living room with conflicting desires as he waited for his wife's return.

He heard the key in the door at a little after two. He studied her when she walked into the living room. There was hardly any lip-gloss left, and bits of her hair had come loose. A single tendril hung down on one side of her face.

"Hello," she said, smiling.

"Hi." He sounded hoarse.

“I’m glad you’re awake.” She ran her hands up her hips, lifting her dress in the process. She slid her panties down her long legs, bending at the waist to push them to her feet.

Luke glanced down as she lifted each sandalled foot out of the tangle of white silk.

Harriet saw where he was looking. “There’s no spunk in them, if that’s what you’re checking for.”

He looked into her face, trying not to show his surprise at her bluntness.

She stepped closer. “Are you disappointed there’s no spunk inside me?”

Luke shook his head. In truth, he wasn’t sure.

“I am,” she said, lifting her dress again to show him her naked sex. He could smell her musk, even over the smell of booze and perfume. “But I know you can fix that.”

“Can I?”

Harriet dropped to her knees and got busy with the buttons of his jeans. “Yeah, I think so.” She slipped a hand inside and wrapped her fingers around the thickening shaft. She pulled it out and looked down, smearing the copious precum over his bulbous tip with her thumb. “And it looks like I won’t have to wait long for it.”

Luke just stared into her gorgeous brown eyes as she got up and manoeuvred herself onto his lap. He leaned back and held his cock as she lowered herself onto him. She was wetter than ever, and he shuddered.

She watched his face while slowly rocking her hips forward and back. “You’d better ask your questions now.”

“How many men did you dance with?”

“Too many to count.”

“Try.”

“About twenty.”

“How many of them did you kiss?”

“Most of them.”

“Proper kisses? Tongues?”

She nodded.

“How many groped your arse or tits?”

“Quite a few.”

“Did any of them press their hard-on against you while you danced?”

“Of course.”

“And did you rub yourself against their hard-ons?”

She leaned close until they were nose to nose. “Yes, but I only rubbed one with my hand.”

His stomach knotted. “You touched a guy’s dick?”

“Mm hmm.”

“And did he touch your... You know.”

“Yes.”

“Through clothing?”

“At first, but then skin on skin.”

“Where were you?”

“Standing against a wall in the dark corner of a club.”

“And he got his hand up your dress?”

She dragged her nails across his chest. “He stroked me through my panties while I rubbed him through his trousers. When he slid his fingers inside me, I felt obliged to put my hand inside his trousers and play with his dick.”

“Did he make you come?”

She hesitated for a split second, then nodded her head once.

Luke felt as if he was falling yet soaring at the same time. “Did you make him come?”

She licked her lips. Bounced harder and faster on his cock. “I’ll tell you when you come.”

“I’ll probably come when you tell me.”

She smiled. “Yes. He sprayed his spunk all over my hand.”

Luke closed his eyes and sprayed his all over her insides. Harriet came with him, grunting and pulling his hair as she writhed in his lap. They held each other tight and sat like that for a long time afterwards, probably both a little shocked but excited by what had happened.

Chapter Five

Luke woke early and watched his wife sleeping peacefully. Who'd guess that, just hours earlier, she'd jerked off a complete stranger in a nightclub while he fingered her to climax? He dozed, half-thinking and half-dreaming about what had taken place. Had other people in the club seen them? Had Maisie?

The next time he opened his eyes, Harriet was awake. She smiled at him, then scooted over and snuggled under his arm, kissing his chest.

"Good morning," she whispered.

He kissed the top of her head, then ran his hand down her naked back. "Hi."

She looked up into his face. "Are we still okay?"

He nodded, surprised by the question. "Yeah. Why, are you having regrets?"

"No, I just..." She frowned. "While I knew what you'd do when I got home and told you, a little part of me worried that afterwards—when you'd had time to think with your big head rather than your little one—you might see things differently."

"I told you before you went out there'd be no problem. I wouldn't have said that if I hadn't thought long and hard about it."

She smiled. "Ooh, long and hard. I like the sound of that."

Luke dug his fingers into her ribs, making her squeal and squirm. Her kicking legs pushed the quilt down, revealing her breasts. Luke stared at her beautiful face and perfect body, wondering why on earth he'd want to share his wife with another man. She rested her head on his chest again.

"How busy was the club?" he asked.

"Heaving."

"So people could see what you were doing?"

"There were several rooms, different music in each. We were in a smaller room in the basement with brick arched ceilings. There were people around, but it was dark. They were concentrating on whoever they were with.”

“What about Maisie?”

“She’d already left.”

“Oh?”

“She spent about an hour with the same guy, then told me he’d invited her back to his flat.”

“It wasn’t Chris?”

“No, and I reckon he was about ten years younger than her.”

“Woah, Maisie the MILF,” he said, stroking her hair. “How old was your guy?”

“I guess he was about our age.”

Luke grinned. “Do you mean your age, or mine?”

“I mean early thirties, which we both are. I’m only a year older, you muppet.”

He smiled. “So, what was it like to kiss another man?”

“It was...” She sat up and fluffed up her pillow, leaning it against the headboard. “It was like being sixteen again.”

He sat up and placed his pillow next to hers. “How do you mean?”

“I mean we’ve been together for so long, I can’t remember the last time I kissed someone else.” She shrugged. “Not only do we live together, we work together as well. I spend all of my time with you—”

“Is that a bad thing?”

“No.” She squeezed his hand. “I love what we have and what we’re working towards. What I’m saying is, I don’t spend much time with other men. There’s no exchanging furtive smiles with cute guys on the train to the office, no smutty conversations with work colleagues about raunchy TV shows. Other women get that, but... I’m not saying I want those things. It’s just that after spending so long being a responsible grown-up, to suddenly go out dancing and have lots of men flirting with me... that’s like being a teenager again.”

“Is it a good feeling?”

She gave a beautiful smile. “Yeah, it’s flattering.”

“And what about having someone else slide his hand up your dress?”

Her smile disappeared, and he saw her bite her lip. She pushed the quilt further down and looked at his exposed cock. "That was nice, too."

His cock got harder. His reaction to her being with another man was still embarrassing, much as he enjoyed the arousal.

"I liked being touched by him," she whispered. "When he slid his hand up my dress, I parted my thighs because I wanted him to touch me."

Now fully erect, Luke lay still as Harriet moved down the bed and straddled his knees.

"And when his fingers touched my panties, he must have felt how wet I was." She wrapped her fingers around the base of Luke's cock and started to pump up and down. "I was kissing and nibbling his earlobe, letting out little moans and murmurs as his fingers pushed against the wet silk." She smiled. "Is that what you want to hear?"

Already breathing heavily, he nodded.

"So I started squeezing his dick through his trousers."

"Was he big?"

"He was a healthy size. I'm not one to judge." Harriet held eye contact as she lowered her head and took the tip of Luke's cock into her mouth. She ran her tongue around beneath the rim, still pumping the base.

Luke let out a sigh. Harriet took more of his length into her mouth until her hand touched her lips on every upstroke.

He wanted to enjoy it but craved more details. "Was it strange, feeling a different dick than mine?"

She released him from her mouth but kept pumping her hand. "The fact it was someone else's made it exciting."

"How long did you rub it through his trousers?"

"Just a minute or so. When he started fingering me, I slipped my hand inside his trousers."

"How long did it take him to make you come?"

"Not long. And he came soon after."

"Didn't you want it inside you?"

She smiled and shook her head. "No."

"Did he?"

"He seemed happy with what he got."

"Yeah, I bet."

"Okay, no more questions."

She took him back into her mouth, making him groan. For the next few minutes, the only sounds were Harriet's slurps and his grateful mumblings. As the first hint of his orgasm fluttered through his groin, he visualised his wife pressed up against the sweaty basement wall, her parted legs shaking as a stranger finger-fucked her.

Luke opened his eyes and watched her sucking his cock. He tried to imagine her expression as she'd jerked the guy off. Did she look into his eyes while she beat his meat? Did she whisper that she wanted him to come? Did she—?

Luke exploded into her mouth. Harriet gulped and swallowed. She let go with her hand and took him deeper. His tip squeezed into her throat and another spurt left him. She massaged his balls and he fired another two, three shots, his heels digging into the mattress. He banged his head on the lip of the headboard but didn't care. Euphoria engulfed him. He seemed to float away like a cloud.

Harriet released his cock and crawled up until they were nose-to-nose. Luke remembered her dirty story about sucking a guy off and making him taste his own cum. He leaned forward and kissed her lips, then cradled her head and kissed her more deeply, probing her mouth with his tongue. He could taste himself, and it excited him.

They cuddled in bed for half an hour before breakfast. Harriet received a text while they were eating and grinned.

"Maisie's still at the guy's flat. Apparently he's a post-grad student and she got very little sleep last night."

"Lucky him."

"Lucky her."

He smiled. "Are you going to tell Maisie what you got up to after she'd left?"

"No!" Harriet looked horrified at the thought. "It's none of her business, and I'd prefer to keep it between just us."

"Okay." He wondered if this meant she had no intention of repeating the experience. Or going any further with another suitor.

"So," she said, breaking into his thoughts. "What do you want to do today?"

"I hadn't thought about it."

“It’ll be our last chance to go shopping for each other’s presents, so let’s go into Manchester. We can shop till we drop and see the Christmas lights when it gets dark.”

He smiled, feeling smug that he’d already bought her the smartwatch she’d been swooning over. They took the train, splitting up to shop separately. Luke decided to get his wife a sexy outfit for their trip to Norway. He bought black lingerie and hold-up stockings, a classy wraparound black dress, and snuck into Flannels high-class shoe shop for a pair of black suede Christian Louboutin peep-toed heels. He spent much more than he’d intended—the shoes alone cost a fortune—but the idea of Harriet dressed in this outfit made him tingle all over.

Her face broke into a smile when she saw the branded bag he carried into the bar they’d agreed to meet in.

“They’re for me,” he lied. “Snow boots.”

“Ah, I see.” She leaned close to whisper. “If you wear them and nothing else, I promise to keep you warm while we’re in Norway.”

“Ah, promises, promises.”

After lunch they walked through Piccadilly Gardens and St Peter’s Square, sipping hot mulled wine and admiring the Christmas lights before taking the train home.

* * * *

The last couple of days at work were so quiet that Harriet found time to get her legs waxed and go for a haircut. The taxi to the airport picked them up at five in the morning, and they were in the air on the way to Oslo before ten.

They landed in sub-zero temperatures. Although snow wasn’t actually falling, all the surrounding areas were blanketed with it. Once through passport control, they caught the train to Flåm. The journey took over six hours and the scenery of the mountains and fjords was breathtaking. They were booked on a cruise the following day, and by the time they’d checked into their hotel and eaten dinner, Luke and Harriet were too tired to look around town. They retired to their room and were both asleep within minutes.

The day of the cruise heralded clear blue skies. The views were amazing, though in Luke's opinion, the photo he took of Harriet smiling brightly in her red woolly hat was as stunning as any of the surrounding landscape. In the evening they went for dinner in one of the local restaurants, and the following morning they took the coach to Sogndal airport for their flight north.

"How long's the flight?" Harriet asked as the plane taxied down the runway.

"I'm not sure. Norway stretches up a long way. It's probably as far from here to Tromsø as it is from here to Manchester."

She stared. "You're joking."

He shook his head.

"Wow." She looked at her watch. "So it'll be dark when we get there?"

He laughed. "It's inside the Arctic Circle. At this time of year it never gets light."

"What?"

"If we visited in June, we'd have twenty-four-hour days. In winter, the sun never gets above the horizon."

"Oh."

"But," he said, grinning widely, "this is the best time to see the Northern Lights."

And so it proved. A few hours after they'd arrived in Tromsø, kitted out in thermal all-in-one snowsuits, hats, gloves and boots, Luke and Harriet stood in a snow-covered field with over a hundred other tourists and stared up in wonder at the magnificence of the Aurora Borealis. Swirls of green, yellow and turquoise danced across the sky like heavenly ghosts.

When they got back to their hotel, Harriet still seemed to be on a high. Luke suggested they eat, but she ignored him. As soon as they'd removed their snowsuits, her hands were pulling at his belt.

"What are you doing?" he asked, laughing.

"I'm going to have sex in the Arctic Circle."

"We're staying here all night."

She dropped to her knees and yanked his jeans down to his feet. "I'll be too tired later. Get on the bed and shut up."

"Yes, ma'am."

Smiling, Luke lay on his back and watched his wife strip off her outer layers. Harriet jumped on the bed, pumped his cock until it was hard enough, then impaled herself on it. Even though her nose was pink from the cold and she still wore a creased t-shirt and fluffy thermal socks, he found her absolutely beautiful.

He watched her expressions while she rode him. Saw the familiar flush colouring her neck as she got closer to orgasm. Her eyes fluttered and her breath caught, and he felt the clench when she came. Luke ran his hands over her hips as she rocked and ground through the aftershocks. Once she'd come to a halt, he rolled her onto her back, held himself up on straight arms, and jack-hammered his hips. Harriet groaned and arched up to meet his thrusts, whispering encouragement and urging him to come. He did, firing spurt after spurt into her eager, writhing body.

She kissed the side of his face and held him tight.

After getting back into their snowsuits, they wandered around the streets. The sky still flickered with streaks of green and yellow, though it was far less dramatic due to the streetlights and neon signs. They were in bed by ten-thirty for their early flight back to Oslo. That would be the final destination of their trip, but hopefully the most memorable.

Chapter Six

Their plane touched down at ten on Christmas Eve. Though the sun was low in the sky, it provided actual daylight. The hotel was a huge glass-fronted place in the city centre and their room was spacious. It had a huge bed with red satin coverlet, and two leather armchairs either side of the coffee table, upon which stood a wire pyramid covered with star-shaped fairy lights.

They spent a few hours wandering around the city, calling at a café to warm themselves up before returning to their room mid-afternoon. There was a Christmas ball in the hotel that night. Harriet went for a bath, and Luke took some of her presents from his suitcase.

When she emerged wearing a fluffy white robe, she saw the wrapped gifts on the bed and looked at him questioningly. “Are we having presents early?”

“Just these ones.”

She picked up the first and unwrapped it, her eyes going wide as she held up the black dress. She flashed him an excited smile and went over to stand in front of the full-length mirror, holding the dress against her. “This is gorgeous. Thank you.”

“You’re welcome.”

She opened the next present. It was the underwear he’d chosen for her. She picked up the packet of sheer hold-ups. “Ooh, stockings.”

“Well, it is Christmas.”

She laughed and grabbed the final box, grinning. “Are these your snow boots?”

“Maybe.”

Harriet tore off the wrapping paper and gasped at the name on the box. “God, Luke! I knew they sold Louboutins, but...” She lifted the lid and took out one of the shoes, turning it over and examining the stiletto heel. “These are fabulous. You’re going to have to fuck me in these.”

“Well, I think someone should.”

She blinked. “You don’t mean that.”

Luke’s mouth was so dry he couldn’t speak.

She stepped closer, looking up into his eyes. “Luke?”

He exhaled. “I don’t know what I mean.”

Harriet dropped the shoe on the bed and stroked his cheek, her expression serious. “I know things over the last few weeks have been a little... I mean, it’s obvious we’ve both been getting some kind of thrill from my...” She looked into his eyes. “What are you suggesting?”

He was determined not to back out now. This had been on his mind when he bought her the outfit and ever since. “We’re in another country. It’s Christmas Eve, and we’re going to be surrounded by complete strangers.”

She nodded silently.

He took a breath. “I’m suggesting we go to the ball and have a wonderful evening. No doubt many of the men in the room will be looking at you.” Luke gripped her hands. “If one of those men happens to be someone you find sexually attractive, you should enjoy yourself.”

“By enjoy myself, you mean have sex with him?”

His chest tightened. “Yes.”

“I couldn’t...” She shook her head.

Cold disappointment seeped through him.

“I couldn’t go anywhere with a complete stranger. I’d have to bring him up to our room.”

Luke’s heart kicked. “Our room?”

She nodded. “And I’d want you there, too.”

“Me?”

“I’d feel safer with you there.”

This was something he hadn’t considered. “You’d do that?”

“If you’re sure it’s what you want.”

Could he bear to watch her with another man? Thinking about it and hearing about it afterwards was as far as his dirty mind had gone. But to actually witness it?

He swallowed hard. “Okay.”

Harriet closed her eyes and stood perfectly still for about ten seconds, then she looked at him and nodded. “I suppose we’d better get ready, then.”

After Luke had showered, Harriet used the bathroom mirror to put on her makeup. He'd brought a grey suit, white shirt and burgundy silk tie for the ball.

When she came out of the bathroom, she smiled approvingly as he stood by the armchairs. "Very handsome."

Luke didn't respond because he was staring at her makeup. She looked like a model. The eyeliner and mascara made her eyes look bigger than ever. The blusher made her face look angular, her cheekbones more prominent. But what stood out most was her Cupid's bow mouth in the dark red lipstick.

Harriet saw his expression and smiled. Then she ran her finger roughly over her lips and held it up. The tip was clean and her lipstick still perfect. "It's smear proof. And waterproof."

She untied the robe and slipped it off her shoulders. Luke's cock twitched. She stepped into her new panties and slid them up her long legs. Next she put on the bra, then slowly turned through three-sixty so he could admire his purchases. She looked fantastic.

Harriet took out the stockings, placed one foot on the bed and rolled the sheer nylon up her leg until the lacy top gripped her toned thigh. She repeated the performance for the second stocking, then took the dress from its hanger and put it on. The belt emphasised her narrow waist and the feminine swell of her hips. Finally, she stepped into her new shoes.

Luke's pulse raged in his ears. She looked sensational. The only colour to break up the black of her outfit was the matching dark red of her lipstick and soles of her shoes.

She held out her phone. "Any chance you could carry this for me? I didn't bring a black clutch-bag."

Luke dropped it into his jacket pocket and dimmed all the lights except for a bedside lamp. The pyramid of fairy lights glowed like a small Christmas tree at the darkened end of the room.

Harriet took a deep breath. "Come on," she said, pulling him through the door. "Let's see what the evening brings."

They took the lift to the ground floor, then followed signs to the conference suite. Waiters dressed as elves stood by the doors, holding trays of champagne flutes. Inside the large room were about thirty circular tables with white linen cloths, silver cutlery and polished glasses. Large groups of people stood around talking. Luke noticed several men running their eyes over Harriet.

Harriet's phone vibrated and he passed it to her. She showed him the text. It was a photo of Maisie, Tia and Finn cuddling on their couch with the caption, 'Merry Christmas!' Harriet stepped by his side, snapped a selfie of them and sent it.

"So she's not out cruising guys?" he teased.

"Not tonight."

"Maybe we should have got a new wand for her Christmas stocking after all."

"I think you should stop thinking about my friend's sexual needs and concentrate on finding something nice for my Christmas stocking."

He nodded at her outfit. "I don't think you'll need any help from me."

They eventually found their seats and introduced themselves to the others at their table. Luke and Harriet were the only Brits, but it seemed all Scandinavians spoke perfect English. Luke didn't like fish, but Norwegians apparently did. When the meal was over, the lights were dimmed and a band appeared on stage. Many couples moved to the dance floor, Luke and Harriet among them. Glancing around at all the other guests, he grew anxious. It seemed every man at the ball was part of a couple. He cursed himself for not anticipating this might be the case. Why would single men spend Christmas Eve in a place where there were hardly any single women?

They headed back to their table for a short rest and more wine, then returned to the dance floor. After a couple of songs, Luke voiced his concerns about the dearth of potential candidates. "This may not be the best venue for cruising guys."

Harriet continued dancing, a half-smile on her face.

"What?"

Her smile broadened, then she moved close and danced so their bodies touched. "Are you sure that me finding another man is what you really want?"

"Yes." He looked around, puzzled. "Have you already found one?"

Her eyes sparkled with mischief.

"Who?"

She glanced at the stage. Luke followed her gaze. The band was playing covers of old soul songs, and the saxophonist kept looking over in their direction.

Or to be more precise, he kept looking directly at Harriet.

“How did that happen?”

“Do you think he’ll let me blow his horn?”

Luke was lost for words, as she giggled and carried on dancing. At the end of the song, everyone turned towards the stage and applauded. The band members smiled their thanks, though the guy with the sax only smiled at Harriet.

She led Luke back to their seats and picked up her glass, watching him over the rim.

His mind raced. “How—?”

“All the guests are couples. That left the hotel staff or the band.” She shrugged. “The guy handing out champagne was cute, but I’m not in the mood for an elf. I checked out the band and saw something I liked.”

“And he evidently noticed you checking him out.”

“We’ve shared a few smiles.”

“But...” Luke sighed. Things were moving faster than he’d expected. “I just assumed it’d be one of the other guests, and that we’d talk to him for a while. You’d flirt and maybe dance, then invite him back to our room for a drink.”

Harriet leaned close, her expression serious. “We both know he’s not needed for talking or dancing.”

“So, how are you going to approach him?”

“I assume he’ll need a drink when the set is finished. I’ll offer to buy it for him.”

“And then?”

“I’ll tell him what I want in return.”

“Just like that?”

“Is there a subtle way of saying ‘my husband and I want you to fuck me’?”

Luke gawked at her. She was the belle of the ball by a long way, so it was hardly surprising the sax player had noticed her. Every man in the room had probably noticed her.

“Do you still want to go through with it?” she asked.

“Do you?”

She chewed at her lower lip. “If you could feel how wet I am, you wouldn’t need to ask.”

His balls tightened. “You’re wet from thinking about fucking him?”

“No. I’m wet from thinking about fucking him while you watch.”

Before he could respond, everyone in the room began clapping. Luke glanced around, confused, then saw the band taking a final bow. As they left the stage, the DJ announced he’d be providing the music for the rest of the evening. The spotlights went out and a strobe flashed over the dance floor.

Harriet looked into his eyes. “Well?”

Luke knew if he backed out now, he’d regret it for the rest of his life. “It’s what I want.” He squeezed her hand, running his thumb over the rings on her wedding finger. “And I think you want it, too.”

Harriet brushed a kiss across his lips, then walked towards the bar at the far end of the room. The fitted black dress, stockings and stilettos gave her a forties look, and the flashing of the strobe produced a slow-mo effect that further enhanced the film noir quality of the scene. Luke’s heart thundered in his chest, competing with the bass of the music.

He couldn’t see the bar because of the people dancing. The song changed. Some dancers left the floor and others joined, but Luke didn’t get a clear view of the bar during the shuffle. He waited. A different song came on, and still there was no sign of Harriet. Maybe the band hadn’t stopped at the bar. Had she gone to find them? A vision invaded his mind: his wife, stretched out on a chaise in the band’s dressing room wearing only stockings and shoes. Six guys surround her, running their hands over her breasts and between her legs. They start to undo their trousers—

Harriet appeared at the edge of the dance floor holding the hand of the sax player, who’d changed his shirt. He had dark wavy hair and blue eyes, and was taller than he’d looked on stage.

Luke stood up as they approached, his stomach full of butterflies.

Harriet smiled brightly. “Luke, I’d like you to meet Andreas.”

Luke managed to conjure up what he hoped was a friendly smile and held out his hand. Andreas shook it.

“I’ve explained the situation,” Harriet said, moving to stand next to Luke. She slipped her hand inside his jacket and stroked his back. “I told Andreas how we like to spice up our evenings every once in a while, and he's happy to help out tonight."

Andreas nodded earnestly. "Very happy," he said.

I bet he is.

Luke glanced at his wife. She'd pretended this was something they often did to take the pressure off. He was impressed by her tactic.

"However," Harriet said, looking up into her husband's eyes. "The guys are playing in Drammen tomorrow, so as soon as they're allowed back on stage to pack away their gear, they have a coach to catch."

"Oh." Luke wasn't sure if this meant the deal was off.

Harriet dug in her nails, making his spine tingle. "They can't shift their gear while the DJ's there, though, so we have a window if we go up to our room now. It would mean missing the final hour of the ball, though."

Her eyes bore into his. She was giving him one final chance to back out. A chance to leave it as just a fantasy. He could pretend he wanted to dance some more and still save face. His jaw muscles were clenched so tight his teeth hurt, but he wanted the reality.

"We can dance anytime," he said.

Harriet's expression told him she liked his decision. She wanted to fuck this guy, and that notion alone was enough to make Luke's cock swell.

They left the conference suite and walked straight to the lifts. Once the doors had closed, Harriet turned to Andreas and smiled up at him. She leaned in and kissed his lips gently. He gave a self-conscious smile, glancing at Luke as the lift came to a stop and the doors opened. They walked down the corridor, Harriet holding Andreas' hand. Luke opened the door and walked in first. He passed the bed and sat in one of the armchairs in the darkest part of the room.

Harriet didn't pay any attention to her husband sitting just ten feet away. Standing by the bed, she slipped her arms around Andreas' waist, parted her lips and tilted her head back. Andreas kissed her.

Luke's breath caught. The musician began exploring Harriet's body, his big hands running up and down her back and pulling her in tighter. She let out a moan as they kissed, then her hands moved to the buttons at the front of his shirt. Andreas pulled his head back as she undid his shirt and pushed it off his shoulders. His chest was broad with a smattering of dark hair, his arms toned and stomach flat.

Harriet ran her eyes over his body, then held his gaze as she unfastened the tie of her dress. She pulled the sides open and let it drop to the floor. Andreas gaped at her body in the black bra, panties, stockings and shoes that Luke had chosen for this very purpose. The outfit he'd intended another man to enjoy.

Harriet lay back on the red satin bed cover, gazing up into Andreas' face. He bent down and kissed her stomach, then started to trail his kisses higher. After kissing her chest and neck, he reached beneath and unhooked her bra, easing it down her arms and off. Luke caught a glimpse of her hard nipples before Andreas took one into his mouth and sucked it.

Letting out little whimpers, Harriet cradled Andreas' head and guided him to her other breast, then back to the first. When he started trailing his kisses back down her body, she arched up so he could slip his fingers into the waistband of her panties. Kneeling up slightly, he slipped the panties down her stockinged legs and off over the shoes. He showed no inclination to remove her Louboutins or stockings, and Luke didn't blame him. She looked incredibly sexy with them on.

Harriet bent her legs and parted them. Andreas lowered his face between her thighs and she moaned, pushing her head back into the pillow. He rested his hands where the lacy stocking tops met bare skin and feasted on her sex. Her moans grew louder and she became more animated, gripping the back of his head and pushing her groin up, grinding herself against his face. After she'd come, she eased his head away, obviously too sensitive for more contact.

He smiled at her, cheeks slick with her juices. Luke struggled to steady his own breathing as precum dripped freely into his shorts.

Harriet sat up and started to unbuckle Andreas' belt, then leaned up further and kissed him, no doubt tasting her own juices. After manoeuvring him back and off the mattress until he was standing by the foot of the bed, she got onto her knees and pulled his trousers and shorts down to mid-thigh.

His cock sprang out, long, hard and pointing directly at her face. Without hesitating, Harriet opened her mouth and took it between her painted lips. Andreas let out a sigh.

Luke watched his wife slide her once-faithful mouth up and down the other man's cock. She eventually released it, looked up into Andreas' face and lay down on her back. After running her hands down over her breasts and stomach, she parted her legs invitingly.

Andreas shucked off his shoes, trousers and socks and climbed naked onto the bed. Luke's jaw clenched again as Andreas loomed over Harriet. She raised her groin so he could line his cock up, then placed her hands on his buttocks and pulled him into her hot, married cunt.

Luke couldn't breathe.

She let out a groan. Andreas pulled back a little then pushed in deep, making her groan again. She ran her hands up his arms and gripped his shoulders. They soon fell into a rhythm, him delivering long, slow thrusts as she undulated beneath him.

Luke was in turmoil as he watched, simultaneously hurt and aroused. He chewed the inside of his cheek while his hard-on strained against his trousers.

Harriet's voice rose in pitch and her groans became more urgent. She was working up to another orgasm and evidently Andreas knew it. He nuzzled her neck and increased the force of his thrusts. She wrapped her arms around his waist and clung to his back, sobbing with pleasure as he drove his cock into her again and again.

Harriet arched up and screamed, thighs trembling as she jerked and twitched. Then she pushed him off and rolled onto her stomach, turning to lie sideways across the bed before scrambling up onto all fours facing Luke. She reached behind for Andreas' cock and guided it back to where it had just been. Then, for the first time since they'd returned to the bedroom, she looked at her husband. Her cheeks were flushed and her hair tousled, but her makeup was still immaculate.

Andreas drove his hips forward and Harriet winced. Maybe he went deeper in this position, but she was soon pushing herself back onto his cock. Andreas picked up the pace and fucked her harder, sending shockwaves through her hips and shaking her breasts.

She stared into Luke's face while being fucked, letting out short gasps through clenched teeth. He wasn't sure if she'd be able to make out his expression in the darkened side of the room, but he could see hers. She was getting reamed by a guy she'd known for less than an hour, and she'd never looked sexier.

Andreas' breathing became ragged and his eyes squeezed shut.

Luke and Harriet hadn't got as far as discussing safe sex. She was on the pill, so pregnancy wasn't the issue. In her fantasy story, the stranger came inside her. But this was reality. Andreas wasn't wearing a condom. He was bollocks-deep and getting close to blowing his load, and all three of them knew it.

From the way Harriet was throwing herself back on Andreas' cock, she wanted him to come inside her. Before Luke could contemplate how he felt about that, Andreas dropped his head back, held still and grunted.

Harriet let out a growl and wiggled her hips from side to side, all the while staring into her husband's face. Andreas resumed his movements and banged into her for another half minute or so, presumably draining his balls. Finally he stilled and took several deep breaths. He was sweating more than he had on stage.

The silence in the room was a little awkward. Andreas pulled out and said something about packing up the gear. Once he'd dressed, Luke stood up and walked over to the door. Andreas flashed Harriet a wide smile, nodded a sheepish thank you at Luke, then left.

Luke closed the door and turned to look at his wife on the bed. She'd repositioned herself onto her back in the middle of the red satin coverlet, still wearing the stockings and shoes.

He moved to the foot of the bed and ran his eyes over her body. She was every man's dream. "Did you enjoy that?"

Harriet responded by slowly opening her legs.

He looked down at her sex, his heart thumping and his cock throbbing. Her inner thighs glistened with their juices, her pubes damp. A tell-tale trickle of pearly white seeped out and ran between her buttocks.

"Are you going to fuck me now?" she asked.

"You didn't answer my question."

"I assumed it was rhetorical. You just watched him make me come twice. Of course I enjoyed it." She smiled. "And you didn't answer my question."

Luke slipped off his jacket and unzipped his trousers. "I thought yours was rhetorical, too." Without bothering to take off his shirt or trousers, he clambered onto the bed between her legs and stabbed his cock into her.

She let out a long sigh and wrapped her arms around his waist.

He looked into her big brown eyes. "You're really wet."

"Well, somebody's just filled my Christmas stocking with his goodies."

He laughed. "Goodies?"

She rolled her hips and clenched around him. "Okay, he just filled it with his spunk."

Luke shivered.

"I watched your face while he came inside me, so I know you liked it. I could see it turned you on." She lowered her voice to a breathy whisper. "Are you enjoying sloppy seconds?"

He didn't get time to answer. A violent spasm jolted him and he flooded her. Harriet cried out and rocked herself against him. She pulled him deeper, then he felt the clench of her orgasm. They kissed passionately, her tongue pushing against his. She'd had Andreas' cock in her mouth, but he didn't care. All that mattered was adding his own cream to the mix. It wasn't a case of reclaiming her. He was simply showing how much he loved her.

They finally stopped moving, both panting. Luke felt lightheaded.

Harriet eventually broke the silence. "Do you think tonight will change things?"

He kissed the side of her head. "We'd be naïve to think it won't. I mean, it's not something either of us will forget."

"Do you regret it?"

"No."

"Will you feel the same tomorrow? Next week? Next year?"

Luke smiled. "Tomorrow is Christmas Day, and I know we'll spend it here in Oslo. I don't know what we'll be doing next week or next year, but if we have a repeat performance, there'll be no—"

"You'd do it again?"

Her shocked tone surprised him. "Yeah."

"Wow, I thought..." She shook her head. "I just assumed this would be a one-off. A 'fantasy fulfilled then locked away' sort of thing."

"Don't you want to do it again?"

Harriet held his gaze. "Yes please."

"Good." He kissed her. "Merry Christmas."

A Hotwife's Journey

Her key in the door made his heart race. He listened as she came up the stairs, then held his breath when she walked into the bedroom. He couldn't help staring. Her clothes were twisted, her makeup was smudged, and her hair was dishevelled.

She's fucked someone.

Karen walked to the foot of the bed and looked into his face. "I did it."

He swallowed.

She pulled her top over her head and dropped it on the floor, then pushed her skirt down over her hips and kicked it away. Slowly, she unclipped her bra at the front. As the cups came away, he saw a love bite on one of her breasts. Karen held his gaze as she pushed her thong down her legs and then bent to pick it up, holding it open so he could see the gooey mess soaked into the crotch.

It was another man's cum, and it'd dribbled out of her during the drive home. The guy had deposited it deep in her cunt, and she'd returned home to her pervert husband to show him the evidence.

Nigel ached for her.

After her husband's open invitation to become a hotwife, Karen enjoys a variety of surprises and adventures that are hotter than any wife could wish for.

This collection covers her entire journey.

Karen's Open Invitation

Nigel is a lucky man. He has everything a man could want: a successful and beautiful wife, a happy marriage, two wonderful daughters, a nice home and his own business.

So why risk it all just to satisfy his dirty fantasy?

When Karen's throwaway comment about a hot colleague in the Sweden office unlocks the door to his secret desires, he offers her the chance to have a little fun; to mix business with pleasure.

Nigel has fantasised about sharing his wife for a long time. And from the way Karen's been behaving lately, he suspects the idea appeals to her, too. But there's a big difference between fantasy and reality.

Will she take up his suggestion and have a passionate tryst with a virtual stranger while attending an overseas meeting? Neither know the answer when she leaves for the airport, but she doesn't have to make her decision straight away. She can see how the meeting pans out. After all, it's an open invitation...

Karen's Party Surprise

Nigel is amazed by how Karen's taken to her new role as a hotwife. Not only does she give herself freely to strangers, but she also thrills her husband by giving him all the juicy details he craves when she gets home.

Their sex-life is better than ever.

Nigel realises that an upcoming company get together will mean that they'll be staying in the same hotel as Sean, the first man he ever shared her with. He offers Karen the chance to enjoy another night of passion, and they hatch a plan that could work. But Sean comes up with a counteroffer that's just too good to refuse.

For a wife-sharing couple like Nigel and Karen, it's the ultimate party surprise...

Karen's Holiday Adventures

Life keeps getting better and better for Nigel. His long-held wife-sharing fantasy is now his reality, and he couldn't be happier.

Or at least that's what he thinks until his wife reveals her plans for a break.

Their daughters are going away with their cousin's family, so Karen books a holiday for the two of them—on a Caribbean island. What's more, she promises to make it a fun-filled week where nothing is off-limits.

Under the hot tropical sun of St Lucia, Nigel learns just how hot his hotwife can be.

He's shocked by the diversity of her sexual appetite, but then she did promise him an 'anything goes' holiday adventure...
