

Arnica
Butler

a well-laid
TRAP

The story of a professional hotwife

Thirteenth Line Publications

A WELL-LAID TRAP 2

The Story Of A Professional Hotwife

By Arnica Butler

Copyright 2016 by Arnica Butler

All rights reserved. No duplicating and no resale, but feel free to share with friends or family.

Published by Thirteenth Line Publications

This book is a work of fiction. All characters, companies, organizations, products and events in this book, other than those that are clearly in the public domain, are fictitious, and any resemblance to real persons, living or dead, companies, organizations, events, or products, is purely coincidental.

All characters depicted in this story are 18 years or older.

Cover characters are models. Image(s) is/are licensed from:
cokacoka / DepositPhotos

Published by Thirteenth Line Publications

Other Novels by Arnica Butler:

A Well-Laid Trap \(1\)

The Hobby Job

Ela's Performance: A Romantic Wife-Watching Novel

Not Black And White: A Hotwife Novel

A Gamble: The Making Of A Hotwife

The Tenant: A Very Naughty Hotwife Novel

The Hotwife Summer

A Dark Place: Cuckolded in Lagos

The Hotwife Tattoo

READERS!

SIGN UP for our newsletter!

We email once per week and do not spam.

You can also follow Arnica Butler @ArnicaButler on Twitter.

Please drop me a line! I love to hear from readers.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

1: The Man At The Bar

2: In The Hotel

3: Other Men?

4: Into The Abyss

5: A Talk

6: Tyrese

7: That Night

8: A Date

9: The Dress

10: The Wait

11: Again

12: Ball

13: Practice

14: The Plan

15: Ready

16: A Grand Finale

17: An Ending

TO THE READER

First, I want to thank those who took the time to read this sequel and offer their opinions and advice. Special thanks to Kenny Wright, not just for personal support, but for his tireless support of so many authors in this genre.

People seemed to be very divided about where they wanted Paddy and Jordan to go. This is one of the reasons I don't typically write sequels. This is not to say I think all sequels are a bad idea, but because of the way I write, leaving much to the reader to think about, I realize I am on dangerous ground when I do.

The books I love to read leave much of the interpretation to me. In turn, as an author, I like to leave much of the character analysis to my readers. Is Jordan a trustworthy wife? Is Paddy really as quixotic as his actions would suggest? I think it's best if you decide, and my favorite books are those where more than one interpretation is plausible. I created Jordan and Paddy, so I know what I think, but the beauty of fiction, for me anyway, has always been that no story is exactly the same for any two people. I wrote the story, but once you read it, it's yours. (Hence the danger of sequels: they may diverge from what the readers dreamed of as a future for the characters).

At the same time, I know you'll at least have fun, because at the end of the day, that's my main purpose for writing hotwife novels: to indulge in fantasy, and to have a good time. So, even if Jordan and Paddy don't go exactly where you expected, I hope they at least entertain you.

As always, I hope you enjoy reading this book as much as I enjoyed writing it.

Arnica

THE MAN AT THE BAR

I watched the man at the bar. Not a real go-getter, this one. His hands were clamped around his drink: another large, piss-colored draft of beer. While he was obviously attracted to Jordan, and edging his body and his hands closer to her, he was doing it at a glacial pace.

I was bleary-eyed and exhausted. I accidentally had too many drinks while I was waiting for the scene before me to unfold into action. It was getting late, and even Jordan seemed to be drooping.

To keep myself from dropping off, I looked at her lean leg. It was crossed over the other and stretched out toward the man's barstool.

There was no way he could miss her delectable bare thigh, and there was no way he could misinterpret the signals she was sending him. She ran a finger along the neckline of her dress and placed her pretty head coyly in her palm; she laughed and looked him in the eyes; she practically gave the rim of her beer a blowjob each time she brought it to her lips.

So far, I had never seen a guy resist Jordan's advances. Since my wife had informed me that her job working for a private investigator involved a little bit "more" than paralegal work, I had crept into bars and restaurants to watch her work as a honey-trapper. In every case, she had dressed, acted, and flirted her way to success: every man she was after had fallen right into her well-laid trap.

Of course, how could they not? My wife was utterly stunning. A fact that, as stupid as it sounds, was finally getting rammed into my apparently very thick skull.

I mean, I always knew Jordan was attractive. It's why I had been so attracted to her, after all. But things were different long ago, when Jordan and I had fallen in love as teenagers. She had been a cute girl with unruly hair, neither straight nor curly, which she dismissed by pulling it into an eternal ponytail. She had been a lean, tomboyish girl, who hid her enormous, shapely breasts under baggy white shirts and an oversized leather jacket. She had one of those faces that was sort of uncomfortable with itself in high school: too lean, too childish, too angular and awkward. No one had turned their heads when Jordan walked by, not back then.

Now, she made entire rooms stand still and left a trail of whiplash victims in her wake.

So what happened to your wife, Paddy?

Who knew? Who knew when it was, exactly, that Jordan's features had softened and aligned into the regal countenance she now had? Who knew when she had learned to straighten her hair to a silky, black-cherry crown? Who knew when she had worked out so hard and toned her whole body to red-hot perfection? Who knew, for that matter, when she had gone from tomboy to femme fatale?

I certainly hadn't been paying attention. I was too busy with my career.

The woman at the bar was a freckle-less redhead, and not a pasty-skinned one. She had a killer body. Her legs were long and her thighs were sculpted. Her ass was small and round, and her waist was narrow enough she could have been eighteen and never had children at all. The top she was wearing now did not hide her tits; the material hugged her figure and the top three buttons of her sheer blouse were left open to showcase her unarguably best feature.

It was more than just the physical Jordan that had changed, though, and perhaps this was the most enticing thing but also the most disturbing. She was clever and charming, and she handled men with a disturbing ease. There were moments when I felt almost bad for them, her targets. There was no way to escape a woman like her.

Today, Jordan was wearing a jean skirt and a casual white blouse. She had cowboy boots on. This was another delightful aspect of her new job: the way she changed for each man. She put on a different, exciting act, becoming a different woman for every man.

And she was great at it.

And me? I got to watch. Lurking in the restaurant or the bar or the club. Watching my wife reel in her mark (and nearly every other man in the place as well). I got to watch her flirt lightly, or heavily, or maybe even go a little further.

Maybe she would kiss him. Let him fondle her. A hand might wander along her thigh.

And then there was the time – the one time, so far – she went all the way.

A ripple of searing-hot pleasure shook me as I thought about it. I felt the hairs on my forearms and neck rise against the fabric of my shirt. I was Pavlov's dog, and there were a million bells in the world. Anything could set me off, set me salivating, ratchet my cock up to hard-as-stone: a bathroom stall; loud music; an errant thought; a woman's laugh; a strobe light; a martini; a hockey game; the color pink. All since Jordan – Jordan and I – had taken things all the way with one of her honey-trap targets.

My wife had fucked another man.

And I loved it.

Or, at least, I thought I loved it. My cock loved it. I couldn't stop thinking about it.

And even if I we never took things that far again, I didn't want Jordan to stop what she was doing.

A knife twisted inside of me. I didn't want Jordan to stop what she was doing. I liked to tell myself that I was sacrificing myself for her: she loved her new job, and she loved how good she was at it, and I was just letting her do it because it was important to her. She deserved some kind of self-fulfillment after everything we'd been through together as very young parents.

But the real truth was, I didn't want Jordan to stop because I didn't want to stop watching. Watching other men paw at my wife. Watching her reel them in, watching them get all hotted up for her, with the promise of her body, and then watching her blow them off.

Or not.

What I really wanted, I knew, was for this to go somewhere the way it had months ago, when Jordan and I decided she should go all the way. And Jordan seemed to want this, too, because she was always looking for another man who would be a possibility.

Which is why I was here.

Jordan had texted me to come and watch her tonight because she couldn't tell if this guy was going to be a “winner” or not. By “winner” she meant good enough to cross her professional boundaries for. Good-looking enough to go a little further with him, or all the way.

It's important to mention here that Jordan had my complete approval for all of this. We'd discussed it, and she wouldn't put on a repeat performance of her hockey-player-romp without my permission, or approval. Or whatever you wanted to call it when she sent her drooling husband a text that read:

????????

and I wrote back:

yes. Do it.

So everything was perfect. My wife was indulging my wildest fantasies, and she was even making good money doing it. I got to watch her, looking her absolute best, flirting with other men, and sometimes even more.

Perfect, right?

But something was bothering me.

I knew it was control. I felt a little out of control, even if Jordan did check things out with me by sending a text and inviting me to watch her. Even if she gave me the power to veto her choice, I still felt out of control.

Who knew if she would listen to me, if I said no?

But more importantly, who knew if I could say no?

I was an addict, and I wasn't about to turn down a chance to get a fix. I was out of control on two counts, and there seemed to be no way out of it.

In real life, the target she was currently working at the bar had been a bit of a disappointment. (Not like Mr. Hockey, who had looked like a thug in his picture and had turned out to be over six feet of perfect man. His thug-stare for his hockey shots had turned into a searing, soul-searching gaze when he directed it at women in real life. And there was the fact that he had held my wife by the ass against a wall and fucked her until she screamed, straining himself no more than if he were taking a bite of a cupcake).

Mr. Glacial here was not that hot, but he was an attractive enough guy. A tiny bit of middle-aged pudge on his belly, but otherwise slim. He seemed to have some kind of thick arms hiding underneath his sweatshirt. Jordan liked his curly hair, I knew.

He seemed a little bit red-neck, but it wasn't entirely turning me off for some reason.

????????, Jordan had written, about Mr. Glacial.

If you want to, I had written back.

This is what I'm talking about, out of control:

If you want to???

Who the fuck was I? What kind of man writes if you want to back to his wife when she's asked him if she should have sex with another man?

So now I was waiting, waiting to find out if Jordan wanted to or not. I had no idea what she would do. Jordan, along with Arest, her boss, typically had things arranged so that the guy she was trapping would go to meet her later at a hotel room. She would not be there, but Arest would. If the guy actually showed up, it was pretty decent proof of intended infidelity. It was Jordan's job to make the promise as sweet as...well, honey.

And Jordan's job ended there. Her job was to lure men to a trap, and she was supposed to do it with as little physical contact as possible. With as much confidentiality as possible.

What we were doing in this bar was strictly unprofessional.

The guy was getting up now. I watched him stride toward the restroom.

My phone buzzed.

I think this guy is a dud. Im gonna let him go kind of feel sorry for him

I have no idea why, but the idea that Jordan felt anything for her target sent an extremely unpleasant knife of pain right through the center of my heart. Not the kind of pain that came with the idea of Jordan letting him touch her, or Jordan getting pummeled by the hockey player in the bathroom stall. Not a sweet pain. This pain was just...bad.

The guy came back from the restroom, and Jordan held her phone to her ear.

Yep, I could see her saying into her phone, faking a call to an imaginary “work emergency.” Okay.

She hopped off the barstool and shrugged apologetically at the man. I could almost hear her. Work, I have to go, you know how it is...

Not one to give up, Jordan placed her hand on his upper arm. One final attempt to lure him in.

The man, so slow-paced up until now he seemed half-dead, leaped into action now that it appeared Jordan was leaving. His hand shot out, and cupped Jordan's ass. This surprised her and it surprised me. He pulled her close to him and began to speak to her, very close to her face.

Jordan, ever the professional, recovered quickly. I could see she had changed her plan back to “kill” and responded like a pro: she registered surprise by opening her mouth in a wide gasp, but she coated it with a smile.

I watched as she walked her fingers up his chest. I rolled my eyes inwardly. God, what a cliché.

But like any man would, he was falling for it.

And like any man would, I was enjoying watching it.

I watched the man's hand. Jordan's jean-skirt was short-short, and he was taking full advantage by sliding his fingers under the fabric. It was just a short trip from there to the sweet fold where her ass met her legs. Was he working his finger in there now? Sliding his middle finger along the delicate valley of flesh that made goosebumps pepper the insides of Jordan's thigh?

And what of Jordan? Did her pupils dilate, and did her cunt well up with her delicious honey when she felt his fingers there, the same way she did for my fingers? Was it all just the same to her, no matter who touched her? Or worse yet, was it more exciting that it was another man's fingers in her sensitive spots?

My cock certainly responded.

I gripped my whiskey glass fiercely enough to make the waitress raise her eyebrows in alarm as she approached.

I glared at her. She was in my way.

“Just the bill,” I said, trying to keep my voice calm.

Her mouth hung slightly open. I was evidently making her nervous. I knew I looked like a madman when I came to observe Jordan. I could tell by the way the waitresses looked at me and talked to me in soft, calming tones.

The waitress left for my bill, and the view of my wife and her target was restored.

Jordan was squirming in his hands, smiling. He had a handful of her ass and was holding her body close to him. Jordan was responding by giggling and batting her eyes.

I wondered if she would change her plan again, and leave with the guy after all.

I watched her with some relief as she took a small card out of her purse. She asked the bartender for a pen, and she wrote something on the card. In the meantime, “Mr. Glacial” had turned into “Mr. Hands” and was working his fingers beneath her blouse. Stroking her lower back.

Jordan didn't squirm away. She tossed her hair and gave him an inviting look.

She bit her lower lip.

My god, the cliched gestures, straight out of a bad movie or a good porno.

But I wasn't complaining. Jordan was putting on a show, not just for him, but for me.

No reason to complain.

She tucked her card into his pocket, and then she leaned toward him.

This was signature Jordan. It was my turn to feel sorry for the guy, because Jordan was about to do something incredibly cruel. She was leaning in close, her full breasts swinging just below his face. Her light perfume was probably steaming from her skin with the heat of her body, and her lips were inches from his ear. She was probably saying something very, very naughty right now. In the past few months she'd started coming up with some really filthy things to say to "seal the deal" with her targets. The kind of things that made my cock start dripping like a faucet, the kind of things that bit into my balls and throbbed in my pelvis until we actually fucked.

Mr. Hands moved his hand up, under her shirt, and Jordan stopped him.

It was a calculated stop. Jordan was 100% professional, and she didn't slap him away or stop him when she could: she stopped him right where his fingertips could graze the swell of her breast in her nearly-see through bra. In combination with her sheer shirt, it provided just enough fabric to make her nipples into a vague darkness in the center of her breasts. I knew she let him get to where he could just feel the shape of the mounds he'd been drooling over all evening, before she detained his fingers.

I saw disappointment, quickly turned to hunger, flash over his face.

He moved in again, trying to get a handful of my wife wherever he could get it: under the skirt or under her shirt.

But Jordan pushed his hand away, and slipped from his grasp. She gave him a smile of encouragement, though: something to keep him thinking about her. Get him to take the next step, and call her or "meet" her at a hotel, and then Jordan's trap would close around him.

He watched her go, a smug grin on his face.

Poor schmuck.

I looked for my waitress, and, not finding her, I left $100 on the table. Probably way too much, but I needed to go. I had a hot date with a hot woman, and whatever Jordan had promised Mr. Hands was going to actually be bestowed upon yours truly.

IN THE HOTEL

Come to the Westin on Holly

I stared at Jordan's text.

I was in my car, fighting off the ache in my cock and the flood of images my imagination was producing, trying to focus on finding a way out of the maze of beige and glass buildings.

I stopped the car with a lurch on the side of one of the excessively wide streets when I felt my phone buzzing in my pocket. Lately, I was acting like a teenager with a crush. Digging for my phone the moment it buzzed, checking for messages every minute.

I stared at her message. She wouldn't dare to use the hotel room arranged for her trap? We could run into Arest...

Jordan evidently guessed at what I would think, because a second message rattled my hand.

I took the liberty. too long a drive

We were in Tech City, a mini-city that had exploded ten years ago at the Southern-most point of the actual city. Conference centers and office complexes, business-grade hotels, traveler's bars, and not much else, abounded. It was almost an hour to get back to our end of town. Added to this that we had, necessarily, come in separate cars, and it was a long drive.

I fumbled to type: K

Then I set to work finding the Westin.

Jordan greeted me by pressing her body up against mine. "I'm sorry this might be going a little to waste," she said. "That guy was such a dud up until the last minute."

I slid my arm around her. I wanted to explain that nothing was wrong about my wife getting a hotel room after the scene I had just seen. For that matter, no man would really have a problem with his wife getting a hotel room and inviting him to it, regardless of what just happened.

"I like this get-up," I told her. I lowered my hand to the hem of her skirt and stroked her thigh with the back of my forefinger. I felt her move inside her skin as the wave of gooseflesh rose along her inner thigh.

"I think he liked it, too, there at the end."

I felt a cool river of jealous arousal snake through me as I remembered the sight of the man's fingers on my wife's thigh.

"It's a good thing he didn't keep going," Jordan said, and she gave me an impish look.

I didn't bother asking why; in a way I already knew. I moved my hands up, further beneath her skirt, and as I suspected, I encountered nothing but her smooth skin, all the way to the swell of her ass.

I moved my hand inward, between her thighs, and brushed my fingertips over the smooth lips of her pussy. I was pleased that my fingertips were wet as I moved down the length of her opposite thigh.

We kissed, our lips mashing hungrily against each other's, and I wriggled from as much clothing as I could as we charged, lip-locked, toward the bed. I pushed Jordan onto the white covers, and fell to my knees on the edge of the bed. At the same time, I grasped her legs and pulled her up to me, so her ass was on my lap, and her legs were over my shoulders.

I had my doubts that Jordan would be so brazen as to wear this tiny jean skirt in a bar with no panties on, but the idea that her last target had moved his fingers so very close to her sweet cunt with nothing, not even a scrap of fabric, to stop him, certainly wasn't an idea I was going to "kick out of bed," as the expression goes.

I spread Jordan's legs open, and enjoyed the steamy whiff of her wet pussy. With her legs apart, her slit opened up for me; layer after layer of pretty, pink flesh.

The image of Mr. Hands' fingers, brushing along her inner thigh, so close to her soft pussy lips, made me shudder.

I decided to change tack. I lowered myself down, onto the floor, and yanked her body toward the edge of the bed. "You like having strange men touch you here?" I said. I let my lips graze the inside of her thigh, down low. I watched her skin prickle, and I felt her try to twist in my hands. I clutched her buttocks. I breathed on her upper thigh, and I felt her squirm again. "Or here? You li-ttle slut." I licked the inside of her thigh. "And no panties, Jordan? What were you hoping would happen?" I moved my mouth against her skin, my lips barely touching her thigh, closer and closer to her pussy. I could feel the energy coiling up inside of her, and it drove me wild. I passed my mouth just in front of her cunt, but I paused only long enough to let her know I was there, millimeters from her clit. Then I moved to her other thigh to give her the same treatment.

When I looked up at her, she had propped her head up to watch me, and she was panting. A wild, needy look was in her eyes, and it sent a wave of extreme pleasure through me.

“Such a slutty little wife,” I said.

This was part of our game, and I knew it drove Jordan as wild as it drove me. I knew because the more I dirty-talked her, the sluttier she got.

“Tell the truth,” I said, placing my mouth close to her pussy and breathing against her wetness. I felt another ripple of pleasure travel beneath her skin. “Did you go to the bar with no panties on?”

She waited a moment teasing me as much as I was teasing her, before answering:

“Yes.”

“Such a bad girl, Jordan.” I licked her clit. Just a quick, nimble lap. She dropped head on the bed and looked up at the ceiling, groaning a little when the brief caress ended.

Her scent was driving me wild, but I wanted to have some fun with her before I got what I had been aching for for nearly two hours: the sweet release of pounding my cum into my very naughty wife.

“Were you hoping he would touch you here?”

I ran my tongue along the edge of her outer labia, up to where her clit was pulsing and waiting for my touch.

“Mmmm,” Jordan said.

“Is that a yes?”

“Yes.”

“You wanted him to put his fingers here?”

I licked the silken inside of her outer lips. My tongue glided over them as though on a liquid surface, and her tangy taste filled my mouth.

“Find out that you were wet for him?” I wasn't going to be able to take much more of this myself. I moved in on Jordan's clit, and treated her to a few languished swirls over her sensitive nerves. “I'll make you come, if you tell me all about what you wanted.”

I tugged at the little hood of pink flesh that covered her clit, until the center of her button was exposed, stretched to purplish membrane. I licked her there, and as always, it was as if I sent a bolt of electricity through her. Her entire body jerked. I knew it was almost to painful for her to expose her like this, but I also knew she loved it.

“I wanted him to keep going,” she panted. “I wanted him to finger me at the bar, put me right in front of him, with his hand up my skirt, and get his fingers inside of me, right there where you could watch.”

The image was clear in my mind. I slid two fingers inside of her, and licked at her slit at the same time. Her pussy spasmed around my fingers, and her sweet juices flowed onto my palm. “Like this? But that wouldn't make you come, Jordan. What else did you want him to do?”

I licked her clit, already knowing what it was, and she howled again. I kept going, pushing upward inside of her and against her clit with my fingers, right against the tip of my tongue. Every swish of the tip of my tongue sent a jerk through her limbs, and she began to rock her hips up and down. She pressed herself up toward my mouth, trying to get herself inside of my whole mouth, but I pulled away, smiling.

“Please,” Jordan said. “Please. Fuck, I can't stand it.”

She was talking about the feel of my tongue against the outer edges of her exposed clit, in places normally protected by the hood of skin. She had told me this particular, tiny patch of skin was almost painful to the touch – painfully delicious. Her reactions were wild. I licked her again.

“Oh god.”

Jordan reached down and grabbed my hair. She tried to pull me close to her, but I resisted.

“Just a little more, Jordan. You've been very bad,” I licked her again.

You've been very good, strutting around in a bar with no underwear in a short, short skirt, letting a man slide his fingers up, up, nearly to your pussy.

Jordan planted her feet on my shoulders and pushed against me. “Oh god,” she almost screamed. She was panting. “Too much.”

I unzipped my pants and shimmied them down my legs with my underwear. I jerked her back by the legs, but I was no longer interested in torturing her: I wanted to be inside of her.

I pulled her feet up to my shoulders, and pushed her knees open. I teased her a bit more with the tip of my cock, stroking it up and down her clit.

“Open your shirt,” I said.

She complied, twisting as I teased her, and then she pushed her bra up and over her tits, so I could have a nice view of her nipples. I cupped her ass, and pulled her onto my shaft. As I slid in she moaned and closed her eyes. She clenched tight around me. I grasped her ankles, which were close to my face, and began to pound myself into her. I knew she was close, which was good, because so was I. Her lovely, full breasts bounced up and down as I pummeled her, thinking, all the time, of Mr. Hands reaching under her skirt...further...further...then his stubby fingers disappearing into her flesh.

Jordan lifted her head and screamed as her pussy tightened around my cock. I felt a hot wave of liquid gush around me. I pushed her down, with her ankles still up close to my face, and thrust into her as deeply as I could go to fill her up with my seed. The orgasm gripped me so fiercely I had to close my eyes.

We left the hotel about an hour later, because we were people with jobs and kids and a house in the suburbs. When we got home, all was like any “regular” home. Olivia, Jordan's live-in little sister, was diligently eating cereal in front of the TV. The kids were on their laptops, pretending to do homework.

We went to bed.

Jordan gave me a kiss, turned out the light, and her breathing was slow and steady moments later.

I stared at the ceiling.

I was troubled, just like always.

You might be wondering where the problem was in all of this. I was a man whose wife was fulfilling his fantasies, and I had come to terms with the fact that I enjoyed watching my wife with other men. The heat this had infused in our marriage and my (youngish) middle-aged libido was almost unbelievable.

But something was nagging at me.

How could it not?

Sometimes I woke up in the middle of the night, as though a door had slammed or someone had hit me on the head. The first thing to enter my mind was the thought: I let my wife fuck another man.

This was really me, really my life.

I would look over at Jordan, and find her sleeping, every time. This was the woman I loved, and I was thinking all day long about how to get her into the arms of another man. How to get another man between her legs, with her muscular thighs wrapped around him and her hot pussy encasing his cock.

In seconds my pulse would be elevated. I would have to throw the covers off and sweat out my...what to call it? Anxiety? Existential discomfort?

Don't forget my new constant companion, a huge erection.

I was the one who asked my wife to go all the way through with it. But in the wee hours of the night, the idea somehow twisted into a different shape. Things took on a darker aspect. Maybe Jordan had manipulated me, somehow. Maybe Jordan had only given me half of the truth. Maybe she was playing one game with me, and another game on the side. Maybe telling me about her honey-trapping, and then letting me in on it was just a way to keep me pacified and ignorant. Like all the nights she didn't call me, what was she doing then? I just assumed she had no target to meet, and that she went to the gym. But maybe she was out having her real affairs then...

Like everything, it all looked better in the light of day. The nightmarish ideas that kept me awake at night seemed ludicrous. Jordan slept peacefully and brushed her teeth with...I don't know, such a frank, normal honesty and then smiled at me with the same sentiment. There was no way she was as duplicitous as my nighttime thoughts made her out to be.

In the daytime, I was obsessed in a different way. Obsessed with thoughts about Jordan and our next adventure together. Thinking of Jordan's lips against another man's mouth, or traveling down his chest, or kissing the tip of his cock...

This, too, was a problem. It was a problem because it was taking over my mind, and my life. It was a problem because I wanted to keep my nose, and personal life, clean for an eventual judgeship. I wanted to climb all the way to Appeals, or Circuit: and watching one's wife walk as close to the edge of prostitution as one can get without breaking the law was...well, not great for all that.

No.

This wasn't the actual problem.

The actual problem was that I could never quite to the point with Jordan where I felt like we actually talked this out.

This, too, was disturbing me. My need to have some kind of deep conversation with Jordan about what we were doing. What she was doing.

What it meant for our marriage.

Wasn't it women who were supposed to need this kind of thing?

And why didn't Jordan need it more? That really burned when I thought of it. Why didn't Jordan want to sit down and write down rules and talk about the same thing over and over again like I did?

There was also some latent guilt about how I had actually discovered Jordan's activities. Some part of me that wanted to have a talk with her about what a rabid lunatic I had been acting like after I saw her one night on one of her "assignments." How I had followed her around, how I had snuck into my own house like a burglar hoping to catch her with another man, how I had almost lost my job because of my obsession with her.

How I had thought she was fucking another man upstairs in our house and I had watched for five minutes until I discovered it was Olivia.

(And then kept watching...best maybe to leave that part out).

How I hadn't trusted her, but I also hadn't confronted her. Because in a way, the idea of her cheating had been too horrible to imagine and make real, but also a huge turn-on.

I wanted to come clean about all of this, but of course I was too chicken-shit.

It all painted me in a very terrible light, for one thing.

But also, it bothered me that Jordan herself wasn't pressing the issue more. When I had finally confronted her, the conversation we had about how I had discovered her had been just a bit too...quick. Didn't he have any questions for me? Didn't she want everything to add up as desperately as I did?

Or did she just not care?

And that was the dark thing, the thing I didn't want to get anywhere near. The thought that I recoiled from, like a hot coal:

Maybe Jordan didn't need things wrapped up because she didn't care.

Or worse yet, because she was hiding even more secrets, and she didn't want the ground disturbed so close to where they were buried.

All of these things kept me up at night.

OTHER MEN?

In the strange way that coincidences happen, after the cowgirl night at the Westin, Jordan started getting fewer honey-trapping jobs.

Jordan and I had an arrangement as far as her honey-trapping assignments went. If she got an assignment, and she would be doing it in a place where I could easily watch her without being seen, she would text me as soon as she knew about it. If I managed to escape work, I would go to where she was, and watch her lure a man to promises of sex.

It was all very spy-thriller, cloak-and-dagger fun, in addition to being almost intolerably sexy.

But the week after our adventures at the Westin, there were no messages from Jordan in the afternoon. It wasn't the first time a week passed with no jobs, so I suppressed my deep disappointment, and tried not to check my phone constantly, salivating or worse.

After all, one couldn't expect there to be an endless stream of female clients in this city who wanted to catch their husbands cheating, and that all of them would go to Arest Greene, supplying me with endless opportunities to watch my own wife flirting with other men.

But after that dry week, another week went by, and still no texts in the afternoon.

A dry spell, nothing more.

I did my best to pretend to be shrugging it off.

"No jobs this week?" I asked Jordan one evening.

Another unspoken rule about our arrangement was that she wouldn't bother telling me to come if she thought the guy was unattractive, sine that wasn't as much fun to watch. Her words, not necessarily mine, though I appreciated the sentiment.

I was hoping Jordan would tell me she hadn't texted me because her targets had all been unattractive, or inconveniently-timed.

"No," she said, instead, and furrowed her forehead. "I hope business isn't drying up."

For a moment I wondered what bothered Jordan most about the tide of business drying up. Was it the loss of income (she was well-paid for her services)? Or the loss of our sexual game?

Which one was more important to her?

I often considered this question, and came to the same disappointing and slightly painful answer every time: Jordan was definitely not like me. She was not as addicted to the thrill of these encounters. She liked what she was doing, and that was plain to see.

But she was not like me.

She didn't spend her entire day thinking about it, I'm sure.

Perhaps because it wasn't her fetish as much as it was mine. Perhaps because women in general never seem to care as much about sex as men do. Perhaps because I was a raving lunatic, and Jordan was a sane and rational person.

The following week was also empty of "jobs."

A different kind of man, a less paranoid man, a man who was less of a sexual junkie, might have taken this at face value: it was just the way the market was. Sometimes up, sometimes down. Everything in capitalism was like this, up and down.

That was all there was to it.

But I was not a less paranoid man.

I was a sexual junkie.

I began to compulsively check my phone for texts from Jordan. I began to pace in my office in the afternoon. I began to invent twisted fantasies in which Jordan was still doing her job, with very attractive men, and had simply decided to cut me out of the picture.

A step further: it had been her plan all along to do so.

I loved Jordan, and I trusted her. We had talked all of this out, and I had felt comfortable with it. I loved her but I just actually couldn't stop myself from creating these fantasies.

Don't worry. I knew I was acting like a crazy person. I talked to myself, straight to my own reflection in the mirror.

"Paddy," I told myself, my brow furrowed with sternness. "You're a fucking lunatic idiot."

I didn't listen to myself though. Even though I could already see the cloud of disappointment that would darken her bright face as she realized I was a strange, possessive, troubled man, I couldn't stop myself from driving home one day and picking at the issue.

Jordan was home, exactly where she should be, her hair in place and a track suit hugging her incredible curves.

For a moment the nauseating madness that had gripped me back before I knew what Jordan was really doing (honey-trapping) and I thought she had been having an affair, rose up inside of me. I tried to back away from that place, where I was a paranoid and insecure man, and I knew it, and I behaved so irrationally...but it was already enfolding me.

Was Jordan's hair just a little too in place?

Track suit? Didn't that seem staged? Jordan did yoga, and who wore track suits these days anyway?

Olivia was looking at me strangely as I stood in the kitchen, saying nothing and most likely looking like an untamed animal. She rolled her eyes and walked out of the room. "You two are fucking annoying," she quipped on her way out.

Jordan opened her mouth in indignation, and for a moment she had the appearance of a sixteen-year old girl in fight with her younger sister about shoes or hair ties. But she closed her mouth without saying anything and turned to me.

She folded her arms. "Looks like you've got some kind of weird bone to pick."

This was bad. She was already on the defensive.

There was a mirror over one of the counters in the kitchen and I turned to look at myself in it. I looked like the Mad Hatter.

I looked back at Jordan. It was a wonder this woman put up with me at all.

I could have easily told her this. Told her I was sort of insecure, told her I was being a little crazy and getting a little paranoid. Explained that with such a beautiful wife, it's easy to tip over into the madness of jealousy. Sometimes just saying your crazy thoughts aloud can cast a new light on them, release you from their power...

I thought of all this, of course, in retrospect. There was no reasoning with myself at this particular moment.

"Have you been at the gym?"

Jordan's face twitched. The emotion behind it was a mystery. "Not this again," she said finally.

Spot-on. She was spot-on; she knew exactly where I was coming from. It irritated me.

“Not 'what'? I'm just asking, if you've been to the gym.”

I'm just being a huge dick.

Inside me, a little voice was telling me to shut up, for the record.

“It's casual wear. I have been wearing it since 6:17 pm, when I arrived home and made roasted broccoli and salmon for dinner.” Her tone was sarcastic, laced with venom. She grasped her collar and sniffed her track suit. “Hmmm. Even smells like fish.”

Olivia walked back through the kitchen, theatrically on her tiptoes. “Just...going upstairs...” she whispered, grinning at her bitchiest level of amusement.

I submerged my desire to throttle Olivia.

We waited in silence for her footsteps to disappear up the stairs.

Jordan rolled her eyes. “God, she's such a bitch. I can't wait 'til she moves out.”

She said it in a valley-girl accent, and I could see it was a ploy to diffuse the tension.

I forced myself to smile for her.

“So seriously Paddy. What's your beef?” she said.

The little voice of reason in my mind managed to elbow its way to the forefront of my thoughts and urge me to stop being a psychotic dick.

I exhaled. “I guess I'm just tense about...you not getting as much work.”

She squinted at me, obviously not believing that this explanation even made any sense, which it didn't, really.

“Arest doesn't seem worried about it,” she said. Her eyes, though, conveyed to me that she knew this was a straw man.

I just kept going.

“But you just said he doesn't have any clients lined up.”

Jordan put her hand on her hip and cocked her head. “Are you worried about money or something? We're fine.” She began to fold some napkins that were scattered on the kitchen table.

I'm not sure if other people experience this, but I am occasionally filled with a deep rage when women behave like this. I'm not even sure where it's directed: at them, or at myself. So dismissive, so un-needy, so able to take sex or leave it. So infuriating. I felt the anger flash across my cheeks, but thankfully, it subsided.

“It's not about the money,” I said.

Jordan looked up. She swung a napkin neatly against her stomach to fold it, and then she set it down.

Her eyes were reading my face, moving quickly over my features.

In the few moments of silence between us, I desperately hoped we didn't have to drag this conversation out. I liked watching my wife with other men, and her honey-trapping assignments had given me a free pass to doing just that. I had been able to avoid what would have been a difficult conversation, and everything fell sort of neatly into place for me.

Now, I was going to have to talk to her about how I was desperate to watch her again. How I was desperate to at least believe we were getting closer to her finding a man to go all the way with again. How I was a man obsessed with the thought of seeing her defiled, being close enough to smell the sweat on her skin and the skin of the man who was touching her.

And frankly, I hadn't minded not having to state all of this explicitly.

Jordan pressed her lips together.

Then she shrugged, and picked up another napkin. "We could always just find our own 'targets,'" she said. "There's no reason it has to come from Arrest."

Her words traveled like a shockwave through me. A wave of arousal, a wave of affection, and a wave of fear.

I should have just been thrilled. And I was, don't get me wrong. Here was my wife, telling me she understood my obsession. Telling me she would still try to give me what I wanted. Saying exactly what I wanted to hear. Once again, being extremely diplomatic and letting me off the hook for almost starting a fight.

Our own targets. A simple solution.

An elegant solution, and Jordan herself had proposed it.

And yet...

This was also a little like jumping off a cliff, I realized.

At least when they were assignments there was something holding us back from...I don't know... "anything." There was a safety net, there was a fence around the realm of possibilities. There was also a way, however unlikely it might sound, to claim that it was strictly professional if someone caught us somehow.

What Jordan was proposing was to throw all of that out the window.

And once again, I was staring at my wife as though she were a stranger.

Jordan was cool as a cucumber. She had proposed this idea and she was now folding a napkin into a neat, store-quality square. Her heartbeat was not elevated, she wasn't panting like an animal. She didn't even appear to be thinking about it. Her features were untroubled and relaxed.

On the other hand, I felt as if I were standing over a cliff, and I had just looked down. I was struggling to keep my balance, to not get ill and fall over. It didn't help that I apparently had some addiction to the mixture of risk and sex, buried inside of me. It didn't help that what Jordan had just proposed was, in one way, exactly what I wanted.

“Let's take this into the bedroom,” she whispered suddenly.

This wasn't an invitation, necessarily, for sex. She was cocking her head in the direction of the rest of the house, taking note of how indiscreet it was to have this conversation here, where the kids might somehow overhear.

Or fucking Olivia.

She walked back to the bedroom, and I followed her.

She watched me close the door. “Okay. What's up with you?”

When I didn't answer, she climbed onto the bed and began to waddle toward me on her knees. “We don't have to. I just thought...you'd like the idea, and it'd be a good substitute...basically, it's the same idea.”

She was right. She was the one with the ice-cold logic. She's the one who should have been an attorney.

She was close enough now to extend her arms and rest them on my shoulders. She stroked the back of my neck and sent a tsunami of involuntary shivers down my spine and up to the crown of my head. My cock was unhelpfully twitching to life, and I could already tell that I was going to get nowhere with logical thoughts.

I knew this was what bothered me. I never had a moment where all of my blood was being delivered to my frontal lobe, or whatever it was that I needed to think my way through this haze. Consequently, I felt like a man trapped in the body of a teenager, with no control over my decisions.

Exhilarating, but clearly not the best idea.

As I was struggling to think, Jordan had come closer to me. Her warm breath was on my ear. “I just thought, it's been such a long time since you saw me from across the room, all dressed up for another man...”

Jordan's hand traveled down to my cock. She rubbed it through my boxers, gripping it tightly. A shudder went through me.

“I just thought maybe you'd want to see another man do this,” she said. She leaned back on her heels and slid the straps of her shirt down her shoulders. She peeled the shirt away from her breasts. I watched her fingers move over her skin, first in wide circles, far from the almond centers of her breasts. As she touched herself, her nipples shook themselves awake, rising to attention. Her fingers swept closer and closer, until at last she grasped her own nipples with her fingers and squeezed.

The image she had planted in my mind, though, blossomed: another man was touching her breasts, and another man was going to taste them.

“We could pick him out together. Actually this way, we'd have so many more options. So many more men to choose from...”

I spun Jordan around and pushed her onto her hands and knees. My cock was so hard now that it was painful, and I wanted to slam inside of her the way I wanted another man to slam inside of her.

“And what kind of man are you looking for?” I growled.

I pulled her track pants down, along with her panties, and wasted no time on foreplay. Her pussy was already wet, and jealousy and rage and filthy arousal cut through me like bullets, in quick succession. I jerked her hips toward me to impale her with my shaft.

“A big man. A good-looking man.”

“With a big cock?”

“A man with a huge cock.”

“And what's he going to do with that cock Jordan?”

She tossed her hair over her shoulder. “Who says he's going to do anything with it?”

I started to pound her, imagining her on her knees, attending to another man's cock...licking, slurping, eagerly bobbing her head up and down his shaft. I imagined another man's fingers in her hair, his knuckles bending as he grasped her to pull her closer and get himself deeper into her throat.

Without much warning, an orgasm seized me. I held on to Jordan's hips, as though for dear life, as I plunged as deep inside of her as I could go.

She also came, howling a little as she did.

It was great, rocketing, mind-blowing sex, as it always was when Jordan talked like that. It was better every time, as Jordan fine-tuned her talking to tell me exactly what I wanted to hear. It was even better now that we had already crossed the line.

Now that we were talking about crossing another, well...what could be better?

So why, after all of that, after Jordan handed me this fantasy on a silver platter, was I lying awake at night?

I was bothered by the fact, I suppose, that my wife was as turned on by what we were doing as I was.

INTO THE ABYSS

Want to make it a date night?

It was Thursday evening. I held my phone in two hands, staring at the text from Jordan.

I stared so long, weighing the pros and cons of all the possible answers I could give her, that she sent me another text.

Hello. Paddy? Date tonight?

There was no need, of course, for her to explain what “it” was, and how we would make “it” into a date.

My heart rate was doubling by the second. I stared at my phone until the colors began to go gray.

What should I do?

As in every step we had taken on this journey, a seductive lure had snared part of me. But I was also terrified.

Another problem was that I didn't really know how to stop, if I actually wanted to.

And so, knowing it was a bad idea, I typed:

When and where?

My fingers hovered over the screen. Did it seem too cold-hearted to write that message?

I added:

baby?

I stared for another thirty seconds, my heart kicking with terrific force against my chest.

I sent the message.

I immediately regretted it.

When and where, baby?

Was I some kind of fucking idiot?

I was overcome by the same sensation I had felt several times since Jordan and I had begun this “game.” It was both a pleasant and an uncomfortable feeling: I felt much like I had just started dating Jordan. I felt the thrill of not knowing how she felt, of not knowing how she would react to something.

There was something delicious about the unexpected.

At the same time, I also had moments of panic, when I felt like I was out a plane with no parachute.

This was my wife, after all.

What happened if things went totally wrong?

What happened if she thought my message was lame and never wrote me back, and then went out on her own? I had seen first-hand the power Jordan had over men. She would pick up a suitable man in no time. She could leave me behind...be off to better-looking, more attentive, more exciting pastures -

My phone jittered in my hand, saving me from more painful thoughts.

Baby, I'll text you the details later. But let's say eight downtown somewhere. Can you do that, baby?

This was Jordan making fun of me.

But at least she hadn't dumped me for being a world-class idiot.

I swept my eyes briefly over my desk: the haphazardly piled case boxes; the urgent items in the diary on the screen of my computer; the empty chair where Cassy was supposed to be sitting and straightening this shit out (she was instead getting a root canal). I definitely would have been able to spend the whole night here and not get caught up.

But I typed:

I'll be there.

I saw Jordan walking from quite a distance away. She had a new dress on, a sea-green, summery dress, tight across her chest and plunging, like all of the clothing she wore now, to show off her incredible tits.

She smiled when she saw me, and sort of slinked toward me, flirtatiously. "Hey baby," she said, and then she snorted a little. She linked her arm through mine.

I looked down at her feet, because she was almost as tall as me. She was precariously perched on the tallest shoes I had ever seen her wear: ankle-high heels made of some kind of twine-like material.

She followed my gaze. "Too much? These are Cindy's."

"They're hot," I said. "I just...how can you walk in them?"

"I can't," Jordan said. "Not for more than five minutes."

She was in a very sunny mood. It was delightful, of course, but it also turned on a small drip of dread in the back of my mind.

Wasn't she just a little too excited?

Would she be this excited and this bubbly if she was just meeting me for an old-fashioned date? Would we have the same joking repartee without bringing these dangerous other possibilities into our lives?

"It's just down the street. Cindy also recommended the place."

I felt my heart leap. "You don't tell her..."

Jordan looked at me, nonplussed. She blinked slowly. "Well, I only tell Cindy."

A chill sank through me.

"And Candy, and Cherise, and Liz..."

Jordan was smiling at me now, and before I could react to her joke and let her know I "got" it, she slapped me on the shoulder. "God, I'm just joking you dork. She recommended it to someone else, and I overheard. She says there's a lot of hot guys here, but like, our age."

I tried very hard to maintain my composure, and perhaps regain a bit of my dignity. But my pulse was racing so quickly I knew it was affecting everything I did. "Show me the way," I said, but I felt like my voice was still shaking.

It's a terrible and extraordinary feeling, being disarmed all the time by your own wife.

"You go in first, and find a place to sit." She looked at my face. "We can't go in at the same time, silly."

This was advice for novices, which we really weren't. We had done this exact same thing so many times before. I couldn't figure out what was wrong with me.

I nodded, and stuffed my hands in my pockets, and headed down the street.

"Hey, tiger!" Jordan called out behind me.

I spun around.

"You want to know the name of the bar?"

The name of the bar was Washington's.

Like another bar where I had watched Jordan honey-trapping, The Yacht Room, the place gave off a certain immediate vibe. The men at the bar were, as "Cindy" had promised, good-looking and wore the uniform of the professional class. The women were slightly younger, even better-looking, and they bore expressions of determination underneath their painted faces. It was a meat market, and no one was doing much to hide it.

The bar was already a little crowded, especially for 8:15pm on a weekday, but I suppose this was just a testament to the human spirit.

I found a small round table with no seats around it to anchor myself to after ordering a whiskey soda. I was tucked away in a corner of the bar where not much was happening, and as usual, no one really took notice of me. I suspected this was because I gave off a slightly psychotic aura.

I texted Jordan, and then I leaned against my table, which tipped wildly, and waited.

I felt a different kind of dizziness as I waited for Jordan.

Before, when we had done this as part of her assignments, the bars had not seemed so teeming with men. Jordan had been there with one man in mind, and so the others had fallen away like extras in a movie.

Now they had all come to the forefront of the evening, and as I surveyed the many, many good-looking men at the bar, I started to feel a little sick. Any one of them was an option for Jordan, and she could easily seduce any one of them.

I was starting to sweat a little. Once again, the idea was as arousing as it was terrifying.

The energy changed when my wife came into the bar. Not immediately: the place was packed and so it wasn't as if everyone could turn around and see her all at once. But as she squeezed through the clusters of men and the already paired-up couples, Jordan worked like static electricity. A sort of ripple went through the room. Eyes went to her body, bodies turned ever-so-slightly in her direction, and, was it me? Or did all the men start speaking louder, puffing up like peacocks, making crasser jokes to try and get her attention?

She was cutting through the crowded room with a black clutch in her raised left hand. I stared at her finger.

Her empty finger.

Our wedding ring had been tucked away somewhere, who knew where. And no Jordan was just a beautiful, single woman at the bar. Dressed to the nines, wearing slutty shoes made of twine, and looking for a good time.

My heart fell to the floor.

Of course I was right there. At any point I could step in and put an end to it all.

She stopped at the far end of the bar from the door, just before it curved around and went into another small room. Two men had been pressed up against the bar, having a conversation, but they parted immediately to let Jordan in between them. I could see them exchanging looks above her head as she leaned in to order her drink from the bartender who was also anxious to wait on her immediately.

And then they began to speak to her. Jordan gave a toss of her hair, and laughed prettily for the one who had evidently made a great joke.

I stared at her empty left hand again.

I stared until my eyes went practically dry. It seemed like eternities went by, though it must have only been minutes. The two men were clearly vying for her attention. They had gone into a competitive mode, making jokes, sparring with stories meant to delight her. It was so obvious from across the room, just like a dance.

But after half an hour, the winner was evident: a blonde guy, with a square jaw and a smattering of stubble across his cheeks. The loser swiveled to the pretty girls to his left, and my wife and her man moved closer together.

Jordan turned to lean against the bar, facing me. Her strapping hunk followed her lead. I watched Jordan twist the straw of her drink (what in God's name had she ordered? A daiquiri? She must have been playing her bimbo card) between her fingers. I couldn't see very well, and perhaps I was imagining things, but she did seem to be stroking the length of the straw between her fingers while batting her eyes at her man.

Yes, her face seemed to be saying, I want you to think of exactly what you're thinking of.

She brought the straw to her lips, and closed them around the top of it with her eyes on his.

Then she reached out and pressed her hand against his chest.

She held up a finger.

Reached into her purse.

Wait just a minute, she was saying. I forgot something I have to do.

The buzz against my thigh was expected. I didn't move right away. My eyes were glued to the scene in front of me, and my blood had gone cold with jealousy.

Why did it matter so much that this was just a random guy at a bar? There wasn't any real difference between this guy and a guy she had been assigned.

I pulled my phone from my pocket.

????????

His name is Troy tho

lol

Oh Jordan.

Troy was the only other guy Jordan had dated besides me, way back in high school.

Coincidence.

Still, it felt like salt on my open heart.

I couldn't take my eyes away from her to type.

She had dropped her phone back into her purse and was playing with her straw again. Troy was mesmerized, staring at her mouth and her fingers. from his point of view, he could watch her mimic pumping cock with her full, barely encased breasts in the background.

What must a guy like Troy be thinking right now? I wondered. I myself had never been out on the prowl like this, so I had never had the experience of standing at a bar and having a woman like Jordan start flirting with me.

A new kind of jealousy sliced through me: these men were getting to experience something with my wife that I never got to have. Jordan had been kind of awkward and nerdy in high school. We had made out for the first time in the back of a car. We had sex at parties or under trees. I had never experienced what Troy, and all of Jordan's other honey-trapping victims experienced: Jordan seducing them. The fevered excitement of not knowing if you would really get to peel that green dress away from her skin. The curiosity, still unquenched, about the color of her nipples, and what she had done with her bush: was it trimmed? Was it the same color as her magnificent hair? Did she have a small mole somewhere that you would find while kissing her from her inner thigh to her navel? Was the soft skin buried in her snatch red or pink or purple?

I knew the answers to all these questions, and so I would never get to feel what Troy-at-the-bar was feeling right now, for my wife.

Jordan looked at me, at that exact moment. Her eyelashes lifted from her daiquiri, and she met my eyes.

Only briefly.

I was taken on a roller-coaster ride of abysmal pain and my own twisted elation as the next few minutes unfolded before my eyes. It seemed to happen both in slow motion and too rapidly for me to do anything about it.

Jordan leaned in toward Troy. Her body was close to his now, pressed up against him so he could feel the soft pillows of her breasts and maybe even the hardened nubs at the center of them. He could probably feel the shape of her body, all the varied firmness of her against him: the sinewy strength of her stomach against his lower abdomen; the malleable core of her against his upper thigh; the supple flesh of her thighs against his legs. Her hair, and the lemon-mint shampoo she used, were just beneath his nostrils.

She pressed her hand against his chest as she spoke to him, in her low, sultry voice. I could only guess at what she was saying: there was no way to know. I had never responded to her text. Whatever she was doing now, she was doing independently of me and what I wanted.

And what was it I wanted? I had no idea what I really wanted to happen next: for Jordan to move her hand down to his jeans, and search for the shape of his cock? For them to disappear, out the back door of the bar, with me running after them but just a moment too late? For them to fuck in a bathroom stall, the way she had done her hockey player?

Excitement was quivering inside of me. I supposed I wanted something like that.

And then, just like that, Jordan's mouth was against Troy's. I watched him move his manly jaw to grind against her lips. It wasn't a little kiss: it was a kiss to precede mating, a kiss that was practically a sex act by itself. His tongue was inside of her mouth. He was letting her know what he could do with it, how he could possess her. Feeling out the place where he would put his cock.

I was burning from the crotch up, and I could feel the jealous rage moving like a reverse drip, from under my collar and up to my face.

Jordan broke free of the kiss, and leaned back to give him a smile. She moved her hand down the front of his body, and very indiscreetly cupped his cock in her hand through his jeans. She gave him a knowing smile, and then pressed her body against his as she told him something with her lips next to his ear.

Another kiss. Jordan put her hands up to his head this time, pulling him close to her.

I felt my insides turning to a liquid that ran both hot and cold. My face by now was burning, and my cock was hard and straining against my boxers and pants. I felt sick. I felt exhilarated. I felt like I was flying, and about to slam into the ground.

And then, very suddenly, it was over.

Jordan looked over at me again, whispered once last thing to Troy, and turned to leave. He caught her arm, pulled her back, and they kissed again briefly. She whispered in his ear. She laughed. And then she swept her eyes in my direction, with who-knows-what expression on her face, and she glided out of the bar.

I looked at Troy. He was practically licking his lips. His buddy patted him on the shoulder to console him, but it was clear from his response that whatever Jordan had said to him, she had given him the impression he would only get more.

My phone snapped me out of my reverie.

You coming or what. I need a ride home remember?

I blinked.

My cock was throbbing.

Troy was grinning.

My wife was waiting for me.

Feeling more drunk than I could possibly be, I stumbled through the crowded bar and onto the street. I bumped into a group of young men and they hollered an obscenity at me.

When I reached the car, parallel parked on the same street, Jordan was already sitting in the passenger seat. She looked up at me, and smiled. Then she twirled something around on her fingers.

I watched it, not knowing what it was for a moment, and then I realized it was her panties.

I had never, in my life, had a blowjob in the car, while driving.

I had often wondered about it. How dangerous it was, really. What I would think about while it happened.

I never imagined, in any of those scenarios, that I would be getting a blowjob from Jordan right after she flirted with another man, and that the thing I would be thinking about was whether or not I was disappointed or thrilled that she had decided to end the evening the way she had.

I had gotten into the car and looked at her. I opened my mouth to say something, but she gave her head a slight shake.

“Just get us home,” she said. She put her hand between my legs, along my upper thigh, and used her pinkie finger to tease the awkwardly bulging length of my shaft.

I pulled into traffic, thinking of what to say to her. Wondering if should even touch it. She had evidently decided, for some reason, to cut the evening short of going all the way.

Some reason. The reason was obviously me.

Had it been my hesitation in answering her text?

My inner voice sort of laughed at me. I knew it hadn't been that.

I knew, deep down inside, that she had looked over at me and changed her mind.

What had I looked like in that moment? The deranged crazy man I was?

And what awful thing had she felt for me at that moment?

I was swirling around the word, close to saying it to myself but, luckily, never getting to it, because Jordan's fingers moved to my belt buckle.

Only one hand. She deftly unbuttoned my pants, and unzipped them, and reached into the material to find my cock. With an ease that seemed as practiced as a hooker's (a surge of suspicious arousal came with this thought), she took my cock out, and held it with her left hand.

“Don't wreck,” she said, and she slipped the seat belt over her head.

“Jor-”

I suppose I protested like every man who has received a blowjob while driving a car has protested.

In a short-lived sort of way.

Because the moment her lips kissed my glans, it was all survival mode. A battle between my most base and animal physical instincts and...my second most base and animal physical instincts. Cock versus physical coordination. On a public road.

It would have been beyond unacceptable to get pulled over. There was no way it wouldn't get back to the office. There was no way it wouldn't be worse for me than just a hilarious joke in the cops' locker rooms.

I looked at the streets. Teeming with people. No place to park discreetly.

I almost ran a red light. I kept my face forward, not wanting to now if the trucker next to us was looking over at what Jordan was doing.

Her mouth was all the way down my shaft now. It was the only thing my body could actually feel. I knew my hands were on the wheel of the car, but it felt like they were someone else's, and I was operating them more like a user in a video game.

I felt my abdomen spasming with the struggle to control myself and my car, and the desire to give in to what Jordan was doing. I tried very hard to steer my brain toward concentrating on the road, but it was instead busying itself with images from the evening, and fantasies about the evening ending differently. Troy sliding the straps of Jordan's dress from her shoulders, Jordan swirling her tongue around the tip of his cock...

I ran a red light, very definitively, at the on-ramp to the highway. No one was coming, and I drove onto the ramp and into the right lane.

There wasn't much traffic. I stuck to the right lane, and Jordan began to bob her head up and down my shaft. I was getting closer and closer, and I let my foot off the pedal as my orgasm rose up inside of me. Jordan's mouth was wet and hot, and I was deep inside thoughts of it wrapped around another man's cock.

I grasped the steering wheel until my knuckles went white as I came. Jordan left me deep inside of her, and I felt her throat close around my shaft, swallowing my seed.

I panted.

A car roared by us, tilting with the sudden jerk to the left the vehicle had made, horn blaring through the many tones of a traveling object. I looked at the speedometer. I was driving less than 30 miles per hour.

Another honk.

I felt Jordan's mouth move into a smile, but she was still sucking up the last drops of cum from my cock. She held me erect with her hand and sucked hard as she pulled herself off my cock. It sent a shudder of pain through me: the pleasure was far too intense. My foot jerked and the car lurched forward a little.

Jordan sat up.

Her face was amused.

She snapped her seatbelt back into place.

I was still driving thirty, still panting and staring out the windshield.

I heard her throaty laugh. "Paddy. You'd better step on it. This is not safe and -" she flipped the sunscreen down and looked in the mirror. She wiped the corner of her mouth and flipped it back up. "I'm not done with you yet."

A TALK

I gripped the steering wheel for dear life all the way home, with white knuckles. My hands were sore by the time we pulled into the driveway.

The drive was quiet. I had every opportunity to open my mouth and say things to Jordan that I knew I needed to say.

Or did I?

It was obvious to me, as soon as I got some blood flowing back into the thinking of my two heads, that Jordan had ended things with Blondie at the bar because she had seen something in my face. All the terrible feelings I was having. Jealousy of the wrong kind.

But something inside of me really needed to actually talk about it. I wanted to confirm that she had in fact looked over at me, seen my pain, and decided to leave the bar. For me.

At the same time, I didn't actually want to talk about it.

I wanted to somehow confirm it without having to be frank.

I shook my head at myself and laughed at some point in the drive.

“What?” Jordan said.

I looked over at her. She was flushed with excitement. The green of her dress caught flecks of green in her eyes, and the glow of the city lights made her appear green-eyed.

Seeing she was getting no answer from me, she rolled the window down and the wind picked up her hair. She reached into her purse and found a cigarette. But she didn't press me for my answer, or what I was thinking.

And that bothered me. Didn't she want to know what I was thinking?

A happy possibility warmed my heart for a moment: perhaps she didn't need to ask me what I was thinking because she knew me so well. She already knew what I was thinking, and the real reason she had left Washington's without going all the way is because she knew it was making me uncomfortable.

The warmth of the sunny idea, though, was quickly clouded over by my usual paranoid thoughts. She didn't care, this was all part of her elaborate plan to trick and cuckold me...on and on.

I am a dark guy, I thought to myself, at some point.

About ten minutes from home, Jordan turned in her seat and placed her hand on my thigh. She moved it down, back to my cock. She explored the shape of it with her fingers. She was grinning impishly at me from her seat.

My intentions to talk to Jordan immediately disappeared into thin air.

By the time I pulled into the driveway, my cock was hard again and I felt sure precum was oozing from the tip of it. We looked at each other across the car as the garage door closed behind us.

Jordan unlatched her seatbelt and bit her lip. If she felt anything like I did, and I didn't see how she couldn't, she couldn't wait long enough to walk through the kitchen and the hallway.

I watched her smile as she slid her hands under her skirt. She slid her panties down her legs, and moved her feet to "step" out of them.

My cock was almost bursting now. I knew there was a stain of precum spreading across the front of my pants again. I could smell the scent of Jordan's ready, soaked pussy. There was a beat, as I tried to think of how I could get inside her as fast as possible.

In one tiger-like move, Jordan jumped over the gearshift and into my lap. We kissed violently, and our hands moved to grab each other like teenage lovers. The horn honked and Jordan laughed. She tried to shift her weight and grab at my pants, but there wasn't enough room in the seat.

I fumbled for the door handle and finally got it. My other hand was busy searching out her bare pussy, the smooth feel of which had not ceased to send shivers up my spine every time I felt it.

We sort of tumbled out of the car, and I turned Jordan around and pressed her against the back passenger door. She splayed her hands against the top of the window and arched her back so that her ass was turned up toward me.

There was no need for any kind of foreplay: that had all happened in the searing, silent moments in the car. Again I saw Jordan's mouth against the mouth of the blonde stranger at the bar, and my cock thrashed violently against my pants.

I jerked the zipper down, moving in disjointed, feverish movements, until at last my pants fell down to my ankles and I could shove my boxers away. I pushed Jordan's dress up to her waist and guided my cock between her dripping-wet legs.

She was so wet that she actually felt different. I glided into her with no resistance whatsoever. Her body squeezed me from above, and she pressed back ward to drive me deeper inside of her.

I began to fuck her, and I engaged wantonly in the act of summoning the images of her with other men. All of the many, many men that Jordan had seduced. The ones who had touched her beneath her skirts, the one who had gone all the way with her and rammed his cock into her pussy much like I was doing now, against a wall. I slammed into her, and I felt her come almost immediately. Warm, honeyed cum burst around my cock and the walls of her cunt shuddered and squeezed as I slammed my cock deep inside of her to fill her.

She let her head drop to the edge of the window and let out a light laugh.

Very suddenly, the whole scene took on the light of reality, and it seemed insane. Insane that we were in our garage, fucking up against the car.

She had been on her tiptoes, and she dropped to the heels of her shoes. My cock slithered out of her, and she adjusted her dress.

She turned around and smiled at me as I put my pants on.

Sure, I needed to talk to my wife about what had just happened at Washington's. I needed to say to her: I didn't like that because it felt too out-of-control. I needed to hear her say, "I knew that, that's why I left."

But Jordan pushed her hair from her face and leaned in toward me.

"Hey," she whispered. "Do you still keep some secret beer out here?"

So instead, we sat on an unused cooler that we had moved from the old house, which everyone was afraid to open, because we hadn't been on a picnic for ten years, and laughed about how she'd known all along about my secret stash of beer.

I found myself staring at her and wondering how the woman I was married to could be so incredibly beautiful, and know so much about me, while at the same time I could be such an idiot and not know her at all.

Who was this woman I was married to?

So I never did get around to that conversation.

The dry spell wore on, for weeks. Jordan never suggested the idea of going out on our own again, and I never brought the topic up. I was half-relieved, and half-devastated. I divided my time between the low of repeated disappointment, every afternoon, when she didn't text me, and hungry, boundless optimism that she might. With a sprinkling of relief that she didn't.

Did my wife love me as much as I loved her? Or did she not?

I don't know how I thought I would leave that cycle. Would I talk to her some day about what had happened at Washington's? Did I need to? Would we go back to fishing for our own men if she no longer had honey-trapping assignments? Would I decide to abandon my obsession and put an end to all of this once and for all?

One Thursday night, these questions evaporated.

"Don't make plans for Saturday," she said, with a wink. "I have an assignment."

My heart began to beat quickly, and I felt the hot high of this particular excitement spreading inside of me.

But I had no idea how this next assignment would change everything.

TYRESE

“How do you guys always know where these cats are going to hang out?” I said, turning the windshield wiper off with annoyance.

“Cats,” Jordan laughed. She had the mirror down and was putting on some lipstick. She paused and looked, with me, at the oncoming traffic. “You cool cats sure can jibe, gotta get me a zoot suit looks like that, cool cat,” she said, in some kind of funky accent.

“I don't think that's where 'cool cat' comes from,” I pointed out.

She snorted. “I know. I don't even really know what a zoot suit is. It's just...you sound like an idiot.” Her voice was friendly, not actually berating. She was using what I called her “kooky voice,” a deep, fluttering voice that belonged on an Amazonian class-clown. She was having fun with me.

I let my eyes drift away from the seemingly unending flow of traffic and appraised Jordan's appearance.

She was in a black dress she had worn before, and it looked murderously good on her. This dress plunged at the neckline, in a wide, deep v-shape. It was tight against her skin, and Jordan's body was flawless. A curtain of fabric hung low in the back of the dress, swaying as she walked. And advertising that she had nothing between her and the dress, at least not up top. She had a faux-fur coat-like wrap over her shoulders, which kept slipping seductively and baring her creamy skin.

From where I was in the car, I had a nice view of her breasts, barely contained in the dress. She had her hair up, but in some messy style where parts of it were falling down and grazing her shoulders.

She leaned toward the mirror and started putting on her lipstick again. It was quite bright, and I stared at her as she outlined her lips, and filled them in with the orange-red color.

“Kinda...seductive,” I commented.

“That's the idea,” she sang. She waved her left hand at me, pointing the cap at the traffic. “You've missed an opening.”

“I was staring at you,” I said softly.

My romantic tone tore Jordan away from the mirror. She smiled, and it was heart-melting. I know it seems strange, but there were moments of real romance in this thing we were doing. She leaned over and kissed me.

The car behind us startled us by honking. I heard angry words through both of the closed windows of the vehicle and ours.

“Better go,” Jordan laughed.

She turned around in her seat and waved at the man behind us. I cringed, but apparently the sight of her lovely rack in the hot black dress calmed him. The yelling and honking dribbled away. I looked in the mirror. The driver was a dark-skinned cabbie, a very sappy grin on his face now.

“Nice one,” I said. Not just anyone could get a taxi driver to lay off his horn in this town.

Jordan snorted again.

We were on our way to a place called Little Havana. Aside from watching my wife flirt with another man, I was looking forward to a mojito and the promised faux tropical climate inside.

“I turned into the street. “But seriously,” I said. “How do you guys know where these guys are going to be?”

“Google.”

Jordan's personality, while still intact at its core, had evolved into a particularly edgy, witty version of her former self. I liked it – I loved it – but it was a little disconcerting at times. More than anything, it served as a piquant reminder of the fact that I had been fairly neglectful of my wife for many years, probably close to fifteen.

I flashed my eyes back at her. I was lucky to have Jordan. I was lucky to have escaped a disaster that we seemed to have been heading for, where I kept working and working and then woke up one day to find my wife to be a totally different person, probably having an affair, and wanting a divorce. I was lucky to have been shaken awake when I was.

I was lucky she would indulge my fantasies.

Right?

Right.

For whatever reason, Little Havana was nothing like Little Havana at all, or probably even Havana, and looked more like the set for Casablanca. It was, as promised, warm to the point of feeling steamy, and palms in giant pots dotted the entire place. It was a cavernous place, nearly empty at this odd hour of 4pm on a Saturday. I asked for the bar when an eager host in a beige linen suit appeared in front of me.

Jordan had gone in ahead of me, and she was already in the bar, where the illusion of Little Havana had been suspended in favor of sports games on flat-screen TVs that I noted could be tucked away behind big, wooden shutters, probably in the evening.

I sat at the opposite end of the bar.

There were a few men scattered here and there, but none of them appeared to be Jordan's intended target.

Well, she texted me.

I smiled. It was a cardinal rule to never answer texts right away, or even smile at them. We would give ourselves away.

Here we are.

I fought a smile again.

But also, I fought with the thing that was crawling around inside of me. It was great that Jordan was so funny. So casual. Such a professional that she could make jokes while she did her job.

But all of that cavalier, easy-breezy attitude meant something else, and it was this “something else” that I didn't like. I felt out of control.

I'm going to have some fun with the bartender while wait. OK? DON'T TEXT ME. Just stick your finger in your ear 3 times if it's okay.

This kind of thing. Funny, absolutely.

Potentially hot as hell – also.

But something about it wormed around inside of me. There was something about Jordan's new power – over me, over other men – that made me horribly uncomfortable.

And then there was the fact that I wasn't going to resist it.

I drank my beer and stuck my finger into my ear, but only once. I let my eyes meet Jordan's to let her know her joke was funny but I wasn't going to act like a clown. She winked at me.

Then she went to work.

It wasn't much work, naturally, because Jordan was stratospherically hot, and she was the only woman in the bar. The bartender was a young Hispanic guy, and he hadn't wasted any time laying down the charm already.

Jordan leaned over the bar, allowing him an even better view of her breasts. I watched her place a finger between her teeth while she frowned at the menu. The bartender was mesmerized, and he stood next to her as she chewed helplessly on her finger, wondering what on earth to order for a drink.

I settled in to watch my wife flirt. Biding her time before she would flirt in earnest.

My stomach flopped.

And maybe...do more than flirt.

We would just have to see.

Nearly an hour went by. I moved to a table to make myself seem less obvious at the bar. I had begun staring in a way that might be considered “creepy” and perhaps even break some laws in some states.

Finally, Jordan texted.

I looked up. The bartender's mojitos had seemed, initially, to be practically free of alcohol, and so I had ordered far too many. An older gentleman had chatted me up about stocks, baseball, and taxes, and since I mostly nodded and agreed with everything he said, he had bought me a large beer. I was a little drunk.

Jordan was now leaning on the bar and chatting with the bartender and the man next to her. I blinked. The place had, in that way that bars do, very suddenly begun to hop. Gone were the older men watching football – the TVs had been shuttered and music was on. Young women in tight, revealing dresses seemed to be everywhere.

The location made infinitely more sense now. I wasn't sure why Jordan had wanted to be here so early, but I suspected now it was because this place had a line after a certain time and she was worried I wouldn't get in.

She would get in. Anyone would let her in to any club anywhere, at any time of night.

I watched Jordan's eyes as she sought out her target: Brian Green, age 42, owner of several car dealerships and an heir to some other automotive fortune. Blonde, athletic, smug, and with a blond, athletic, smug wife who had apparently grown tired of his cheating ways.

She had shown me his picture, and now I could see him myself. He was settling in at the other end of the bar with some friends. But all of them, I could see, had noticed my wife as they passed her. They had all taken a big drink of all the bare skin cradled by the low-dripping dress, and an eyeful of her round ass. I could see their faces brighten when they reached the other side of the bar and saw that her tits were just as spectacular as the rest of her. I felt sure one of them even pursed his lips in a whistle.

Why did I get off on this? I wondered to myself.

But I did. It had been such a long time to wait to see this again. It felt like a smooth whiskey after weeks of sobriety. I could feel it tingling under my skin, throbbing in my cock, buzzing in every fiber of my being.

Jordan played it cool as always. She was having fun with her bartender and another girl who was sitting next to her now. I could tell that it was all very staged, the way she ignored her target and let him observe her. Just a fun, sexy girl alone at a bar. Leaning over the bar to show the bartender something, with her dress dipping low and revealing almost all of her breasts...

I twisted in anticipation as I watched Jordan turn a little on her bar stool to make her move. No matter how many times I watched her in action, it was always hot. I could always admire her from afar, a little bit like she was a stranger at a bar instead of my wife: a leggy, slender redhead with huge tits and a sexy, wry smile. Then I let it sink in, deliciously, that she was my wife, and she was putting on her performance for me.

I mean...mostly for me. Right?

I pushed the thought away.

Jordan was walking now, and I wondered if she was going to use her classic move of spilling something on her only-too-happy target. Or if she would drop her purse, or bump into him, or – as I had seen her do before – simply pull him in like a tractor beam by walking next to him radiating all of her sexiness.

But she never made it that far.

A tall man in a very classy and expensive suit backed out from the bar at precisely the moment Jordan was attempting to pass. He timed it to be exactly in her way, at precisely the right moment.

He was at least a foot taller than Jordan – who was almost six feet tall in her heels. He was nearly seven feet of towering, black man. He pressed his lips together and said something to the surprised Jordan, and whatever it was, it made her laugh.

It took my mind, which was all set for Brian Green, millionaire, to be wiping vodka off my wife's collarbone, to catch up to what was happening in front of me.

A lot of guys hit on Jordan when she was after a man. She was beautiful, after all, and she didn't simply go unnoticed while she planned her approach. She always worked these men into her schemes. She had things under control.

I tried to remind my knotting, writhing stomach of this fact as I watched her, smiling even more broadly now, squeeze into the small space at the bar where the black man had been standing, and disappear behind his huge body.

I had no view of my wife now, only the large back of the tall gentleman who had stopped her cold in her tracks and made her laugh. From the looks of things, he was against her body, his big, muscular chest pressing against her, solid and gigantic.

Definitely. Definitely he was leaning up against her.

My cock was rock-hard, almost instantaneously. After watching these scenes play out so many times, I had become a little numb to the set-up. Like anything, I needed more and more to fuel my desire.

And now I was getting it.

What had this guy said to her?

The scene dragged out for what seemed like an eternity. Jordan out of my sight, only her legs visible, occasionally, through the legs of the handsome stranger who was rubbing up against her, behind her.

Then a stool opened up next to them, Jordan sat down.

And there they were. Jordan was animated, telling a story probably, given the way she was waving her hands around.

Except...this was the real Jordan. Not an act. This was the way my real wife told real stories. The look on her face was not the femme fatale act she had cooked up for the evening.

I felt a searing pain in my chest.

And the black guy was listening to her, smiling. Was he enjoying his view of her breasts from high above her? Where he was, he could stare straight down at the two swells, the soft shadow between them, and see her thighs below that lovely image. Was he imagining how it would look to see the top of her head for a different reason...not because she was sitting but because she was kneeling?

I stared, the jealousy building and building, as Jordan continued to talk to the wrong guy.

I mean...he was the wrong guy but he was also the right guy. The longer she talked to him the easier it was to imagine their bodies pressed against each other. It became hard not to envision his cock, which grew in my imagination with each passing minute, stretching her open as she gasped in pleasure and surprise. It was hard not to hear Jordan moaning “oh, it's so big, it's so big, it's so big!” over and over in my mind.

Really. That's where my mind went.

I couldn't help feeling uneasy, though. This wasn't her plan, it wasn't her target. She was getting seduced. She didn't seem to be leveraging it in any way to get at her target, either.

But tell the truth, Paddy.

You want Jordan to fuck another man.

And you want it sooner than later.

And if she does fuck another man, you'd rather see this guy do than Brian Green.

Admit it.

I felt like I was getting torn apart by the battle of feelings going on inside of me. Just actually ripped apart. My chest hurt and my cock was hard enough to explode.

I considered sending her a text, but I resisted the urge. It was part of our agreement, an unspoken rule: she was in charge of these encounters. It was her job, and she was the professional. And if I did send a text, it would imply that I didn't trust her.

And I did, didn't I?

I should.

I mean, I did.

Just...what the fuck was she doing?

I desperately wanted reassurance that, while this man was a pleasant surprise for her, she was talking to him because it was all part of a plan. Not because he was just so charming, so handsome, so alpha, that she had been swept off her feet. I wanted something to reassure me, and she hadn't given me even so much as a look since she started talking to the guy.

What if she had forgotten not just her mark, but me?

Paddy don't be fucking ridiculous.

Just when I thought I was going to boil over, finally, and call her to ask her what the hell she was doing, the man held up a hand and set his drink down. Pulling something from his pocket, he left the bar.

Jordan watched him go, and my heart sank through my feet and into the floorboards of Little Havana, further and further, deeper and colder, with every second she did not look over at me.

She looked down at the counter.

Someone stood behind her to order a drink.

My phone buzzed.

A message from Jordan.

I think I lost my guy

Something twisted inside of me. My fingers hovered over the screen. Jordan tipped her head and looked past the man waiting for a drink, at me. She twisted a little in her seat.

It was my turn, she seemed to be saying. The ball was in my court. The guy who had kept her from her mark was a “winner;” we both knew that.

He was more than a winner.

It was now up to me to say what I wanted.

He would be back any minute.

If I wanted out, I needed to say so.

If I wanted in, I needed to say so.

What would she do, if I didn't say anything at all?

My heart felt like someone was wringing it out. Thoughts were going through my head so fast I couldn't get a handle on any one of them. This guy obviously had something. Whatever it took to distract Jordan from her job, which I had never seen before. If he could distract her from her target, what else could he take off her mind? Her marriage? Her promises to me?

As awful as all those ideas were, there was also a certain thrill to them. Just as I had suspected, back when Jordan and I had started down this path: it was like a drug. It had to always be ratcheted up a notch, and then another, in order to give us a thrill.

This guy was charming, this guy had game, this guy was dangerous.

And he was black.

Very, very black.

With all of the sexual stereotypes that came with it. He was radiating an alpha energy; he was moving in on his own target and wasn't going to be put off his goal; and...

(I owned up to my ridiculous preconceptions)

...the man had very, very big hands.

An image of the two of them, ebony and ivory flesh entwined, flashed through my mind, and I felt it reverberate inside of me like an electric shock.

Jordan looked back at me for the second time. She gave me a small shrug.

I saw him, coming like a shadow out of the adjacent hallway. His face was serious, his eyes were on Jordan.

I typed fast.

This guy looks good

I sent the message. A knife of pain went through me. I started to feel cold.

Jordan was already talking to him again. When he sat down she moved her foot close to him.

Had she even gotten the message yet? No.

I could feel my respiration picking up, turning to a rapid panic. My heart was going to need a defibrillator in a minute.

I looked at Jordan's phone. It was on the table, untouched.

She was moving closer to him now.

But something seemed very different than other times. Normally the one casting the spell was Jordan: it was obvious from across the room. Now Jordan was clearly the one being reeled in. He was charming her. And she was blooming like a flower with his every word.

I wiped my eyes. Was that really what was happening, or was that just my mind playing tricks on me like it had a tendency to?

I forced myself to remember all the misunderstandings that had come before Jordan admitted to me that she was honey-trapping. How I had hired a private detective. How I had snuck around in my own house like a burglar and watched her sister fucking a guy for ten minutes believing it was Jordan, just because my mind played such nasty tricks on me and I had wanted to see Jordan with another man.

What was happening here?

God, if you can't fucking trust yourself, who can you trust?

They were leaning very close to each other now. Jordan's eyes were lit up, she was smiling. Her lips were moving. I heard the man laugh. A great, roaring laugh. Low, manly, but genuine. Dear little Jordan was knocking out of the park with whatever she was saying.

Should I take it back? I wondered.

I willed her to look at her phone. If she would just look at it, then I would feel like the event unfolding before my eyes was, in some way, under my control.

Where would it go from here? What would she do next? Because she hadn't looked at my text. She had no idea I was in on it.

Should I call her?

Did I want to break this up?

The man moved his big hand toward Jordan's now. I watched as he picked it up, and she let him move it like it was a limp, unattached part of her body. Her flesh disappeared as he took her hand in both of his, covering it completely. He rubbed his palms together against her hand. For a second I almost felt what Jordan must be feeling: big, strong paw, hot to the touch, enveloping her flesh.

Jordan seemed to swoon with whatever he was saying. Her skin was so fair that the lightest flush was visible from miles away, and I watched as bright pink bled across her cheeks.

He leaned toward her.

I grabbed my phone, and fumbled with the pattern for the lock. "Fuck!" I hissed. I looked back up, swiping uselessly at my screen.

What had I been planning to send to her? Stop? Go? Please hold on while I get my shit together and decide if this huge black man is who I want you to fuck next?

His face was close to hers, and I saw her hair ruffle with the movement of his hand through it, and he held her head in the palm of his hand

-another visual, obviously, crashed through my mind, of his hand on the back of her head and her head between his huge, dark, muscular thighs - and then:

He stood up. He kissed her on the cheek. She batted her eyes, which had somehow gone sleepy or drunk or gotten stuck together with syrup, and he left.

I watched him go. A huge wall of feelings slammed against me.

I moved my eyes back to Jordan. She was picking up her phone.

She smiled, and dropped it in her purse. She ordered another drink and slammed it.

Then she stood up, gave a final glance at the door, and came walking over to me.

She plopped in the chair across from me. As if I were some kind of girlfriend on a show like Sex and The City (which Jordan, she would only think it fair I point out, detested), she widened her eyes. “Whoa!” she said.

It was in reference, of course, to the magnificent man she had just spent the entire evening flirting with.

The tall, dark – very dark – and handsome man. The man who had distracted her from her original mission. The man who had been so masculine, so suave, so gorgeous, as to derail the incredible Jordan Goodall.

I was conflicted. On the one hand, maybe the more obvious hand, I was feeling anger and jealousy flushing my face, rattling inside of my bones, swelling up inside my blood vessels and threatening to rip me open like an animal trapped inside.

On the other hand, my bad habit was claiming me as intensely. My addiction to seeing my wife flirt with other men, listening to my wife fuck another man, fantasizing about her with other men, other men, other men...Jordan wet and limp after being fucked by other men...Jordan moaning while a huge cock disappeared inside of her...

I scratched my forehead with the edge of my thumb and squinted. “That guy really messed you up.”

Jordan held her phone up, displaying my own rash message for me. I stared at the words.

My words.

My go-ahead to my wife that said, essentially: fuck this black stranger.

This guy looks good

The words burned into my eyes.

This was against what I had believed to be our implicit arrangement, but I knew that Jordan would see in my face what I knew to be true in my heart: this was different.

I liked this man.

I liked the idea of Jordan with this man.

Didn't I?

Jordan smiled. “I gave him my number. So...it's not like anything's set in stone.”

I stared at her. My head was filling up quickly with images of her, and him, and they were turning into a caricatures.

“Say something Paddy.”

“It's...good...” I stuttered. It was good. It was a delicious, dark, pulsing, filthy fantasy, and it was all going on in my head as we were speaking and my balls were throbbing and my cock was squeezing out precum. It was good.

“It's just...I guess...”

“Does it bother you that he's not the target?”

She was piercing me with her eyes.

“Uh...well, yeah...and no. No, mostly no.”

This was the truth. Mostly not.

“Does it bother you that he's black?”

Jordan was looking at me, blinking her eyes. Her expression was impossible to read.

Tricky question, this one. One doesn't want to sound like an asshole racist, but on the other hand, one essentially is a bit racist, if the fact that the man is black is fueling more sexual energy than if the man were, say, white.

“I...it's complicated.”

Jordan tipped her head back and let out a whoop. She gave me an icy look when she dropped her head back down, and she held up her finger for the waitress, who was passing by. “Can I get a martini?” she asked. “I just need something to wash all this bullshit down with.”

The waitress, unflappable, looked at me, as if she got drink orders like this all the time.

“I'll take another,” I said. “Okay, okay,” I said to Jordan, seizing on the joking tone in her voice, which was largely at my expense. I leaned forward. “Look, it is...a problem that he's black, but not because it's a problem, as much as it's sort of a problem that it isn't so much a problem...”

Jordan snorted. She leaned closer to me. “You sound like Dr. Suess.” She put her hand on my arm. “Look. Whatever. I just won't answer the phone if it's a problem.”

We sat in loaded silence, and the waitress was back before it seemed possible.

“Just so you know,” Jordan said, swirling an olive around and then biting into it like a small, ravenous animal. “It's sort of a racial thing for him too.”

I cocked my head.

“He's totally into redheads,” she said. She looked up at the ceiling, the small plastic sword in her mouth. “Apparently it's a thing.”

I looked at her.

“Everybody knows that,” I said.

“What?”

“That redheads are a 'thing,’” I said, relieved to have something to be matter-of-fact about. Jordan had somehow rocketed ahead of me in sexual savvy since taking on her new job. “It's really hot if...you know. The carpet _.”

“Please do not finish that metaphor!” Jordan snapped, holding her hand up. “God, I hate that. Also,” she dropped her voice conspiratorially, “there's no carpet, remember?”

I laughed.

“Did he tell you he's into redheads?” I said, after a pause.

Jordan smiled at me, the sword between her teeth.

When she dropped her act, whatever act it was she was using for her current target, Jordan reverted to a very intoxicating combination of tomboyishness and elegance. She leaned over the table. “He told me,” she said, lowering her voice to an especially sultry purr, letting the sentence hang in the air with promises of a dirty quote. She leaned closer, and I leaned in, suspecting she was going to make a joke, but hoping for something dirtier. She ran her fingers over the top of my hand. She whispered, dramatically: “That he's into redheads.”

She laughed at herself, and I gave her a smile. Because it was a good joke, and Jordan was funny. But at the moment, I was experiencing a very non-humorous feeling.

Turned on. Jealous. Out-of-control. Aroused. Possessive.

“Come on,” she said. “Let's get out of here.”

She slammed the rest of her martini.

THAT NIGHT

When we had sex that night, I pounded myself into Jordan. I had felt out of control again, and controlling her in the bedroom made me feel back in control. I had pushed her toward the bedroom and onto the bed. I told her to take off her clothes, and she had: revealing that she had on only the skimpiest of black panties, which I told her to take off as well. I found a scarf in the first drawer I opened, and wound it around her hands. She gave me a sexy smirk and told me she had handcuffs.

I shook my head. I didn't have time for that.

I unbuckled my belt and unzipped my pants while holding her hands behind her. She was on her knees in front of me. I thought better of things and went around to the front of the bed, where I knelt and pushed her down to my cock. When she bent over I grasped her tied hands and held them, twisting the fabric of the scarf tighter and tighter as she bobbed up and down on my cock.

When I was close to coming, I turned her around. The scarf unwound a little, and her white hands went bright pink with the rush of blood. Her hands were still trapped, and I pushed her down to the bed. I didn't wait to survey her pretty ass, pointed up in the air, or the beautiful, sopping red gash between her legs. I just rammed my cock into her, and grasped the scarf again to keep her body from sliding across the bed and into the headboard with the force of my thrusts.

I came with a yell, and kept fucking her until I felt her twist with her own orgasm, seconds later.

Then I unwound her hands, and we collapsed on the bed.

After a bit of silent panting, Jordan walked her fingers up my chest.

"Okay," she purred. "What's on your mind? Tyrese?"

I knew as soon as the name left her lips who she was talking about, and it cut through me that she was using his name.

"Tyrese?" I said, trying to sound confused. "Who's Tyrese?"

"Please," she said. She stroked me on my chest with the tips of her fingers. "Look, I only let that go where it went because...well, you know, we had talked about it before."

It took me second to realize she was referring to the discussion we had had about going outside the pool of men she was being paid to honey-trap.

“Tyrese seemed to fall out of the sky, it just seemed like a good idea. That Brian guy seemed like a bit of a dick, to be honest.”

I was silent. A lot of different feelings were coursing through my veins.

There were, I realized, a lot of things we still needed to talk about.

I sighed.

She raised her head and looked at me. “I don't have to-”

All at once, my mouth was doing a lot of talking for me. Almost like it wasn't part of my body. As I heard myself, though, I realized I had been giving a lot of thought to the things I was saying.

This sort of thing happens to me a lot. I find myself sometimes, sounding really brilliant in court, and almost observing myself as though from outside of my body.

“Jor,” I said. “It's not that I don't like the idea. I do. I asked you to do this and I loved it last time. I loved it when you did it with men you were trying to trap because...well, there was almost a guarantee there, that it was just for the thrill. But something's been bugging me when we talk about other situations...and you know what it is? I don't want there to be any emotional...thing'...between you and some guy.” I was nodding at myself as I said this.

Right-o, Paddy, you really are smart enough to be an attorney.

“I also feel...I don't know...”

Jordan was looking at me. The expression on her face was almost blank. She really had no idea what I was about to say.

I sat up on my elbows. “Look,” I said. “This has been...exhilarating. And I'm not saying I want to to stop. But, we never talked about it really. Not really. And I feel...I feel...”

Just fucking say it, Paddy.

Jordan's face, too, was twisting up in impatience. She detested waiting for me to finish a sentence.

“Out of control,” I spat.

Jordan's eyes narrowed.

“Out of control, how?” she said. She was a little annoyed.

But her face softened, and she let herself fall back on the bed. "Sorry," she said. "You're right, we haven't really thought this through enough."

Panic started to rise up inside of me, because she had the tone of voice that indicated she was going to give up on something. I needed to put the brakes on it fast.

"No...the thing is, Jordan, I've thought about it a lot. I feel all these things about it, all day long. It's..the most exciting thing that's happened since..."

Jordan was silent. Then she snorted, having obviously made a joke in her mind.

"What?" I said.

She shook her head. "No, it's stupid."

"Tell me."

"Since the washing machine exploded, I was going to say."

"Funny."

"I know. I'm sorry." She pressed her fingers to her nose. "Okay," she said, serious suddenly. "I'm sorry. I just do that because it's sort of...hard to talk about this stuff."

I was silent for a moment. Where was I?

Ah, yes. Control, how I wanted to have it. Emotional connection, how I wanted it all to myself. How I think and feel about this, all day long. Ah, yes.

"So that's it – I think about his all the time. We just never talk. We never really...I don't know...set up any rules."

Jordan was quiet. Then she turned on her opposite side and propped herself up on her elbow to look at me. "Okay," she said. "Tell me what the rules are."

I felt that feeling, the one I get sometimes in court, when things have been sliding away from me...bad witness, surprising motion, sympathetic smiles from the jury...and then something, somehow, puts me back in control. It just sort of clicks back in place, and then everything sharpens. I won't lie and say that feeling doesn't have echoes of eroticism to it, that getting back in control. The same way driving does, the same way sports do, the same way, I imagine, digging up a ditch with a huge backhoe does. Control was sexual, and I was getting a big dose of it right now.

Tell me what the rules are.

My cock was coming back to life again, and I rolled on top of Jordan. She seemed to expect it; seemed to want it, even, because she spread her legs and my semi-hard cock slipped into the very folds of her pussy almost magically.

I pressed her hands against the bed, and looked into her eyes.

She smiled. "Tell me what the rules are," she said. "So I can be a good girl and follow them."

Perceptive Jordan.

She smiled again, this time very obviously for the pulse of my cock as it hardened in a millisecond. She squirmed underneath me. Her eyes were expectant.

"You tell me everything," I said. "Every detail, if I'm not there."

She rocked beneath me. "Okay."

"You get approval," I whispered in her ear. "For everything."

"Everything?" she purred. "Like if he wants -"

"Say he wants you to suck his cock," I said. "You have to tell me first."

Jordan paused. "Okay," she agreed, obviously letting her mind wander to the logistics of that request. To reel her back in, I thrust inside of her. She mewled.

But now I wanted to go in for the kill, the thing that was really bothering me.

"No emotional connection," I said. "These men are strictly for your physical pleasure."

"Mmmhmm," she purred. She opened her eyes. The edict seemed to affect her in no way whatsoever, which was good, right? It meant she didn't think about an emotional connection. She didn't consider it, or want it. "And yours," she answered.

I smiled. "Speaking of that," I said. I started to rock on top of her. Inside of her.

But no...wait.

There were other things I wanted to tell her. Other things I wanted to talk about.

Once again, they were drowned out by obsession.

A DATE

In the end, Tyrese called Jordan the next day. The requisite time to wait before calling a woman. When she didn't answer he sent her a text.

Jordan showed it to me. It was a lazy Sunday afternoon with a strange rain outside. Jordan was reading on the bed, and she called me in to the room when she got it.

Need to talk abt case. OK to call?

I read it.

“Why is everyone so good at having affairs?” I murmured. The guy was using code and everything.

Jordan smiled. “No, he's a special case.” She dropped the phone on the bed to pull her cashmere sweater over head, distracting me from the topic of the conversation so completely that I didn't even know what she was talking about when she said: “After all, the only reason I have this job is because all the wives know.”

Now she was wearing only a slippery, silken camisole. Her nipples were hard beneath the fabric, and I watched them as it slid over her skin, two little rocks beneath a river of silk...

Jordan took the phone from the bed, shaking her head.

“So. This is it. Should I tell him to call?”

I blinked.

She snapped her fingers in front of my face. “Paddy? Your wife is making a date with a hot black man here. Yes, or no?”

Your wife is making a date with a hot black man here.

She was already typing when I said “yes.”

“Okay,” Jordan said, setting the phone down and settling onto the bed cross-legged. She had typed with two thumbs, biting on her lower lip. A pang of jealousy vibrated inside of me, at her expression. She had the appearance of a schoolgirl with a crush.

“Now what?” I said, climbing onto the bed. I reached toward her camisole, plotting to push it up, get my fingers underneath it, and find the little buttons of her nipples...

Jordan shrugged, ignoring my advances.

Then she laughed. "I don't know. I'm sort of...nervous. Isn't that silly?"

In a way, I felt the same kind of nervousness I knew she was describing. What if he didn't get back to her?

Then I looked at Jordan, and realized there was no chance we weren't getting a call back. Her hair was down, and parts of it had begun to turn wavy again from humidity. She had no makeup on but her face was still very pretty. Almost more so, in fact. It gave her a very youthful, fresh appearance.

Her lower lip was distended in a small pout.

"Don't worry," I said. "He'll call."

The ridiculousness of this statement struck me, suddenly, as very funny, and I stifled a laugh. Jordan seemed actually concerned. Another wave of molten jealousy rolled beneath my skin.

I was starting to see that there were two kind of jealousy here: good and bad. The lines between them were gray and blurry, but I was beginning to see that it fell down, for the most part, on the division between physical and emotional. It was odd, wasn't it, that men seemed to feel more pain from their wives having an emotional connection with another man, and women seemed to go ballistic about a physical one? On the face of it, it made no sense; after all, the world could generally agree that women cared more about their emotional connections and men would generally rate physical needs higher than emotional ones. (If they were being honest.)

I felt an urge to get a handle on things again.

"Can we...go over the rules one more time?" I said.

Jordan looked up at me. She blinked. She was obviously lost in thought and my words were taking a long time to get to her consciousness.

"Yeah, see, this," I said. I was surprised that I was being so direct. "This kind of bothers me."

"Huh?"

Jordan seemed genuinely perplexed.

I was grateful for all of the deep thinking I had done, just moments before. I explained my theory about physical and emotional jealousy.

Jordan stared at me.

"Huh," she said, leaning back against her huge pile of pillows. "Yeah, it's true, I'd be totally pissed at you if you had sex with another woman. Just so you know. But..."

She was thinking. And I was glad she wasn't thinking about Tyrese.

She shook her head. "Nah, you know, your theory is no good. I would be pissed no matter what you did. This doesn't work for me, the other way around, either physically or emotionally. But I take your point...you're worried about an emotional thing between me and him, is that it?"

I submerged my desire, a very deep and instinctive one for a lawyer, to defend my original argument. I was getting her to talk about what I really wanted to talk about, after all, and I didn't need to take any argumentative detours.

I nodded. "It's this: the jealousy is good, it's part of the thrill, but it's only good if I know..."

"You have my soul," Jordan growled, in a monster voice. It wasn't very good, and she laughed at herself. "Sorry. That was supposed to sound like the devil."

I smiled in spite of myself. When did Jordan get so funny? I wondered. I didn't remember her being this funny when we first started dating.

Or was that true? I started to sift through some memories, and as they surfaced, I realized that Jordan's humor was one of the things I had been so attracted to when we were younger. Kids, houses, career, the suburbs, decorative pillows...it had all gotten in the way.

Jordan snapped her fingers in front of me. "Where have you gone to, now?"

"Just thinking about you."

She smiled and pulled her feet under her, taking her phone with her. "Look, I know I'm all...giddy. But it's not that kind of giddy, where it's like, I'm thinking of running off with this guy or something. I mean..." she looked at me. "This was your own idea, Paddy. It's exciting, but it's not any kind of emotional thing. I promise."

I rubbed my forehead. "You would tell me if it turned into that?"

"I'm only doing this...because you want to see it. And it's going to be like...a one-time thing. I think that's the best idea."

"But you like this guy, right?"

"Personality-wise?"

"Yeah."

She looked at the ceiling. "Well, yeah, of course...but not like, have-an-affair, 'like' him. He's too suave."

“Too suave?”

“Yeah, you know, like...guys who unhook your bra with one hand, or act all, I don't know, James Bond-y...they're too suave. It means they're players.”

I frowned. “Who's been unhooking your bra with one hand?”

This was a joke, because other than one boyfriend in high school who she dated during a tempestuous, adolescent-angst filled breakup we had, Jordan had only been with me, until the hockey player.

“Certainly not you,” she joked, snorting a little.

Her phone started ringing. She had it set to the 1812 Overture, which was also quite funny, especially given the phone call she was waiting for.

She looked at the screen, and then back at my eager face.

She shook her head. “You look like a kid at Christmas,” she told me. “It's just Arest.”

She swung her legs out of bed and stood up to answer the phone. “Jordan.”

She walked away, out of the room, which I don't mind saying blew another wave of heated jealous-breath through me. Why didn't she just stay here? What was up with her and Arest? Weren't we in the middle of a deep conversation about ourselves and our marriage?

I stared at the indent in the pillows where she had been leaning.

My jealousy was boiling over, when my mind did me the great favor of having a brilliant thought:

This must be how Jordan felt for so many years in our marriage.

After all, I always left the room for a work call. I always locked myself in my study.

I always justified leaving a conversation that must have been important to Jordan because my job was so important. I was a spoke in the wheels of justice. I was a real hotshot. I was going to be somebody.

Next to Jordan's side of the bed, there was a picture of us. It was by a professional photographer, and I couldn't even remember the photo being taken.

My own face smiled back at me. Forced. A man, undoubtedly, in too big of a hurry for a photography session. A man with too many things to do.

What a stupid look.

What a stupid man.

“You're an idiot,” I told him.

I had been in the study, working. I had been planning to go back to what I was doing, but now the idea seemed silly to me. The kids had disappeared at friends,' rain was streaming down the windows, and it was warm in our bedroom.

I unbuttoned my shirt, and took off my jeans. I lay back on the pillows.

Life was too short, and I had a beautiful wife.

When Jordan came back into the room she raised her eyebrows. “That's a very sexy look,” she laughed.

I had extended my arm, jokingly, and propped on leg up to strike a sexy pose.

“Do you like it?” I purred, hoping she would catch my imitation of Val Kilmer in The Saint, a movie we had watched and re-watched when we were younger for the purposes of making fun of it, and mostly – or maybe entirely – because of that scene.

She threw her head back immediately and laughed. “Oh my god! We should watch that. ”

She hopped into the bed, and I was filled with nostalgia. She was giggling.

We started quoting the movie, and scouring the internet for a way to get a copy of it, and planning our snacks. Jordan was on her stomach, her feet flitting girlishly above her. She had taken off her worn, baggy “house pants,” and was now in only her underwear and her camisole.

Suddenly she stiffened, as her phone vibrated in her hand.

“It's him,” she said.

“It's him,” she said again. Her face seemed to flush a little.

She jumped up and climbed on top of me, staring at the phone.

“Who?” I said, and instantly regretted it. I sounded like an idiot. I knew who “him” referred to, of course. And Jordan knew that as well. She knew that I had spent nearly all of my time thinking about “him” and her together. She wasn't an idiot.

“Should I answer it?” she said, ignoring my dumb question. She looked away from her screen and to me. I watched her eyes move over my face, reading me quickly and with ease.

I was about to open my mouth, though truth be told, I have no idea what was about to come out of it, when she grinned very wickedly and swept her finger over the screen.

“Hi,” she said simply. Her voice was sweet, tinged with just a sliver of sexiness. “I was wondering when you would call.”

My cock was already hard underneath the soft weight of Jordan's body. But now it felt as if every liter of blood in my body had been sucked to it instantaneously. I felt it all hit with a slam. It almost made me sick. I crunched forward against the physical pain.

This amused Jordan. She reached and casually behind her and found my balls. She rubbed them through the fabric of my boxers.

But she was smiling into the phone, for Tyrese. Her eyes were on mine.

“Oh, just the usual. I don't live a very glamorous life on weekends, like I told you. Husband, kids, laundry...the usual.”

Another stab of pain. So she had told him. He knew she was married and he didn't, obviously, care.

I closed my eyes as Jordan closed her hand around my balls and shifted her weight rhythmically so that she was rubbing my cock from side to side with the place between her legs. I could feel through my own boxers and the material of her panties that she was very turned on by something. Whether it was Tyrese's voice, or what she was doing, or me, I have no idea.

Probably all three.

She smiled, and ran her tongue along her teeth, all the while looking at me. Tyrese said something to make her laugh.

“I'll tell you what. Let me find an opening in my schedule, and I'll call you back.”

I could hear the low rumble of Tyrese's voice through the phone, but not what he was saying. Whatever the words were, they were lighting up Jordan's face. He was making her laugh inwardly. The corners of her mouth were turning up against her will.

She raised her eyes to the ceiling, and when she did I felt the slam of jealousy against my chest. It was like a hard slap. Her fingers continued to play with my balls, but without her steady gaze, it seemed more absent-minded.

She moved her fingertips underneath the fabric of my boxers and raked her nails gently along the tight sacs of my balls. My cock, pressed up against my pelvis and beneath the weight of her body, throbbed wildly.

Jordan smiled at that moment, though who could know why? Was it something Tyrese said? Or was it because she liked the way she turned me on? Or was it because she was getting off on her own power over me?

"I'll be sure to do that," she purred, finally. Her eyes dropped back down to mine. Her smile seemed now, with the connection between our eyes, to be for me.

Not for him.

"But Ty?"

A pause, while I let the pain of his nickname leaving my wife's lips gnaw at my heart.

"Make a reservation for someplace nice. Someplace with good wine."

And then she smiled again, and her body rocked on top of me. My breath was caught in my chest and my cock had robbed every last drop of blood from my body. I strained to hear, through the pounding of my blood and the ringing in my ears, what it was that Tyrese said in response to her. What it was that made her mouth quiver at the corners.

"Oh, I will," she said. And then she held the phone away from herself, and hung up with a quick swipe of her finger. She tossed it on to the bed carelessly. She looked down at me.

"Guess who that was?" she joked. She drew her finger along the collar of her camisole, grinning at me with her eyes.

I was finally able to move my hands from her hips, where I had been gripping her as though for dear life to enjoy the torture she was putting me through, and I slid my thumbs under her panties as I drew my hands forward. As I had suspected, the panties were soaked and her pussy was a sloshing, velvet mess. I curled a thumb inward. As I had hoped, it slipped past her clit and then into her hole, where she was hot and so very wet.

"You're very excited," I said. "What were you thinking of while you were talking to him?"

Jordan's lips trembled into a smile. "What were you thinking about while I was talking to him?" she challenged.

I slid her panties to the side and pushed gently on her mound. She rose to her knees, and I freed my cock from my boxers and held it up for her to slide down. While she was high on her knees, she lifted her camisole over her head.

She reached down and held my cock in her hand. I was aching for her to encase me in her flesh, but I knew she was going to tease me a little. She rubbed the head of my cock against her wet flesh, between her bare lips. She shivered each time the head of my cock rubbed against her taut clit, and her mouth opened a little to let out a faint gasp.

“I was thinking about his cock,” she said, and her eyes lit up with delight when she felt my cock throb in her hand.

I reached up and grasped her ass, but she resisted being pulled down onto me. She moved the tip of my cock in her watery folds, teasing me more.

“I was thinking about how big his cock probably is. What it would feel like if inside of me, filling me up, with his body on top of me.” Her eyes fluttered and she began to move my cock more quickly now. Her body was growing tense, and I knew she was getting closer to coming.

“Keep talking,” I urged her, hoping the desperation in my voice was not as evident to her as it was to me.

“I was imagining what it would be like to get on all fours and take his big cock really hard from behind.” Her breath was ragged now, and the words left her mouth in uneven gasps. “How good it would feel taking all of him...”

I was digging my fingers into her flesh now, watching her use my cock to stroke herself to orgasm while she told me all about Tyrese's cock.

“Don't stop,” I said. “Were you thinking about sucking his cock?”

“I was thinking about if I would be able to get his whole, big cock inside my mouth, down my throat, so I could...suck the...” her voice trailed off, and her hand jerked my cock faster over the hard knob of her clit. “Inside my...” Her eyes were half closed now, and her legs had turned to steel, along with her abdomen.

I watched her in all of her beautiful, distracted glory, as her orgasm seized her and sent a bright flush of pink streaking across her face. Her mouth opened and a moan escaped her chest, a sound she had no control over. I felt her legs shudder against my thighs. A hot liquid streamed from inside of her and coated my cock.

When her body went limp, I grasped her and flipped her onto her back, rolling on top of her.

I ripped her panties away, and I pushed my cock into her flesh.

She wrapped her thighs around me. Her soft feet were at my lower back. I sank into the hot flesh of her pussy, the soft flesh of her legs wrapped around me, and I let out a growl. I wanted to tell her to keep talking, keep saying “Tyrese's cock” over and over again, keep filling my head with images of her mouth and her pussy being filled up by all the many inches of his thick black cock. Images of her lips against his skin: a kiss against his chest, stretched around his cock, biting into his shoulder.

But I was nearly gone within moments. She had driven me so wild talking on the phone and masturbating with my cock that it took very little to send me over the edge. The orgasm almost popped out of me, and I gave a sharp yell as it did.

I collapsed on the bed next to Jordan. The intensity of my climax was such that I actually couldn't stand being inside of her, and her throbbing pussy, any longer. We lay on the bed, panting.

I held up my hand to my forehead. “Fuck,” I whispered. I wasn't entirely sure what I meant by that. “Fuck, that was good?” Yes.

“Fuck, what am I doing?” Also.

“Fuck you are such a hot, dirty-mouthed little slut Jordan?” Probably.

“Fuck, this is out of control?”

I closed my eyes.

“So you have a date with Tyrese?” I asked.

Jordan smiled and her abdomen twitched violently in a small laugh.

“No, no date yet. I told him I'd call him back.”

But I knew that. She knew I knew that, because she knew I was hanging on every last word she said.

She rolled over, sat up, and picked up her phone.

“What did he say to you? At the end?”

This was what Jordan had responded to with: “Oh, I will.”

Jordan shrugged. "Uh...'bye?'"

I shook my head. “You said, ‘oh, I will,’” I reminded her. I really hammed up her sultry accent.

“Oh, I will,” Jordan repeated, in an even more ridiculous accent. She laughed and threw herself backward on the bed.

“Oooooooooohhhhhhhhhhhhhhhh, I wiiiiiiiiiilLLLLLLLLL, oooh, ahh.” She turned to me. “No. Impossible. Never happened.”

I squinted at her.

She narrowed her eyes, as if trying to remember. Then she shook her head. “Sorry, I forget. Anyway, I told him I have to check with my husband-”

“Wait, he knows?”

“That I'm married? Yeah of course. I was wearing my wedding ring-”

“But he knows that we're...you know...like, doing...this...?”

Jordan propped her head up in her hand. “What's, 'this'?” she said, waving her hand around to mock the dumb gesture I had just made.

I looked at her. “Uh...well, that's kind of something I've been wanting to talk to you about. Like...what is 'this'?”

She gave me an incredulous look. “You're such an attorney. You should have been a contract attorney. You could be the guy who writes all the definitions at the beginning.” Her voice was amused. “I thought we were watching The Saint. And eating Max's cheese puffs that he hides in his room.”

She kissed me.

It felt good again. Of course I had nothing to worry about.

Jordan, the Jordan who stole food from her children and watched terrible movies, was all mine.

“Do you need a name for that, too?” she said, standing up and moving the covers, in search of her panties.

I tried to think of a pithy reply, but it was Jordan who beat me to it.

“Saintenwatchenslanger...mitdemstolenkassespoofen.”

I laughed.

She gave up on her underwear, and trotted out of the room in only her camisole.

THE DRESS

The date was set, after a series of text exchanges, for the following Saturday.

So Monday, I started bugging her about what she was going to wear.

I held up, first, the pink dress from our first adventure, with the hockey player in the club.

She shook her head, and smiled at me. "I don't think he's...that kind of guy. And we're going to sort of a classy place. I think. Something classier."

She reached past me and selected her gray dress, the dress I had first seen her in at The Mile. She didn't know that, of course, because I had still never confided to her all the details of my crazed stalking.

I yawned theatrically. "Too boring."

"You don't like this dress?" she complained.

I liked that dress. The sight of gray worsted fabric made my cock hard, if I were to be honest. But I wanted Jordan to be encased in some fabric that clung to her every curve, something incredible, something devastating.

Instead of saying any of this more poetic stuff, though, my mouth opened up and dumped out:

"It doesn't really show off your boobs."

Jordan shook her head and rolled her eyes as she replaced the hangar on the closet. "I married a thirteen-year old boy."

In reality, she wasn't really that far off. We had married at twenty, because she was pregnant, and we had started our relationship when we were sixteen. There was a lot of adolescence still coating our ideas about each other, and who we were. I was starting to see how hard it was to leave that impression behind, and see the person I married for who she was now.

Or to let go, and let her be who she was now.

"I'm glad we did this tonight," she said, fingering the fabric of a red dress with a frown.

"That's a nice one," I said.

She folded her arms. "I don't really like how the red makes my skin look. Should we go shopping?"

“Uh...”

The idea of standing around in a store normally squeezed my balls in a completely different way, as in, as if they were in a vice. But now, imagining myself sitting in a chair, watching Jordan do pirouettes in sexy dresses that she planned to wear to entice a gorgeous, hulking black man to strip them off of her...that was squeezing my balls in an entirely different way.

I had an erection.

Jordan leaned toward me, and kissed me as she rubbed my cock through my pants. “That's a 'yes.'”

The outdoor mall, normally a hell for me, had transformed into a paradise.

Not wanting to appear...I don't know, somehow cheap...as I selected a dress for my wife to wear on a date with another man who I wanted her to fuck in front of me, I drove to Cherrywood Village on Saturday. It was the most expensive conglomeration of stores in the city. Where Banana Republic looked like a semi-trashy discount store.

The first saleswoman approached us and was utterly confounded by my interest in Jordan's dress.

“What sort of occasion is it?”

It lingered for a long time in my mind, the thought of saying to her: My wife is going to fuck a gorgeous black man and this is their first date.

Jordan put a hand on my arm, evidently concerned that I would actually say such a thing. We laughed, irritating the saleswoman with our private, special joke.

“It's a cocktail party with a client. It should be sexy, but not over-the-top. Cocktails and dinner.”

Jordan's voice delivered the perfect amount of authority and confidence, at just the right time, that the saleswoman lost her unease with us and fluttered away to see what she could find in a size...

“Four,” Jordan said. “For cocktail dresses. But...it has to accommodate...” she made a box with her fingers across her chest and drew them apart.

The woman gave her a warm smile, underneath which there was a layer of cool cattiness. Jordan had the kind of figure I had heard many a woman swear did not actually exist without the help of a plastic surgeon.

I turned to Jordan. "When did you get so...I don't know...con-artisty?"

Jordan fingered a scarf on a mannequin bust. "Why 'con-artisty?" She was smiling. She knew why. Jordan had acquired a taste and an evident talent for manipulating people. Telling lies with ease, making up stories on the spot. Where and when she had acquired this was still up for discussion: was it solely when she began doing her job as a honey-trapping seductress? Or had it developed before that, and Arest had only tapped into an already-developed ability of hers? One that I had never noticed?

And then the real question: was she manipulating everyone around her but me, as I hoped? Or was I just another item on her smorgasbord of cons?

"Here you are. This season is all black and white."

The sales clerk was holding up two dresses that looked like they had come off a runway show. Jordan held them. "Oh, they're delightful, aren't they? I'm thinking something a little more...sexy," she said. She leaned in and whispered something to the woman, whose eyes widened a little and a knowing smile spread on her face.

I raised my eyebrows, and Jordan winked at me, indicating that whatever secret she had whispered to the associate, she wasn't going to share it.

It was a strange feeling, watching my wife exit a dressing room and stand in front of me, waiting for my opinion. Strange to hear myself saying things like, "not short enough," or "is there something with a deeper scoop?" All the while, knowing that I was dressing my wife up for myself but also for another man. Trying to find the best way to showcase her, within the folds of some expensive fabric, almost like she was a gift...so another man could unwrap her.

Odd. It was really the only thing I could think of to tell myself: odd. Well...odd, and fucking hot.

"This is the one," Jordan called from behind a thick curtain.

My heart skipped around in my chest.

"Yep. This one has everything you were looking for. It looks...incredible."

She was teasing me now.

I leaned my elbows on my knees in an attempt to do two things: look more like one of the cool male models in the large photographs adorning the walls, and hide my slowly burgeoning erection.

She wasn't even out of the dressing room, and my cock was ready to go.

"It's expensive, but it's trashy while still looking classy, it says, 'come get it,' without looking like a hooker dress. Well...maybe an expensive hooker." Jordan was purring behind the curtain, and I imagined her smiling, enjoying the tease.

"Jordan."

A giggle from behind the curtain. It was a thick, velvet-like black curtain that went all the way to the floor. There was no telling what she was up to in there.

She threw it open.

I sucked in my breath. Partly because she was breathtaking, and partly because, while I knew little about dresses or fashion, I could see that I was about to drop an incredibly large amount of money in this store.

The dress was a simple black sheath from just above her waist to the middle of her thigh, where it ended, just half an inch shorter than "decent" length. The length lent it the kind of sexiness that you had to keep sizing up for sluttiness: was it a "decent" dress or too far over the line? The length perfectly showcased Jordan's legs. They were in amazing shape, and they would look even better, I knew, in heels.

The bodice of the dress was made of a perfectly sheer fabric, so Jordan's skin was everywhere. Intricate swirls of black beads covered the fabric, but only just enough to cover what needed to be covered and a tad more, so the dress looked like a dress and not a stripper's costume. The fact that the beads were expensive, glass and ceramic, and clearly hand-sewn to the fabric, elevated the skimpy design to the realm of high-fashion. The neckline plunged, almost to where the bodice joined the skirt. The entire dress fit like a glove around Jordan's curves. There was very, very little left to the imagination, but what was left to the imagination was delightfully gift-wrapped.

"Hey," Jordan snapped her fingers. "You're spacing out." She turned and put a hand on her hip, striking a sexy pose. "You don't like it?"

I exhaled. "I...no...it's..."

Jordan lifted the tag to check out the price. "Oh Jesus!" she said. She reached up to close the curtain, shaking her head.

I stood up, and stopped her.

The dress was the sexiest thing I had ever seen her wear. And she had worn quite a few sexy things. I didn't care how much it cost. I wanted her to wear it. I wanted her to wear on a date with Tyrese.

"Get it," I said.

"It's -"

I kissed her, because I'd rather find out later about the exact price.

My cock was hard, and Jordan grinned as she felt it against her thigh. She reached down, very indiscreetly, and stroked me with her hand.

Ordinarily, I might have found this sort of thing inappropriate. Childish. Beyond the pale.

Instead, I kissed her again, enjoying the view in the mirror behind her of her ass in the tight black skirt and the plunging line of the dress in back, which I hadn't noticed. The dress scooped down nearly to her ass.

This woman, was my wife.

"Help me with this zipper," she said, and stepped backward.

I stepped with her, a vague concern about her plans drifting through my mind. Almost immediately, the concern evaporated.

She found the zipper herself once I stepped inside the dressing room and pulled the curtain shut. It was on the side, easily accessible. She winked at me. I wasn't here to help her with a zipper.

She slid herself out of her dress, setting it neatly on a stool.

She was naked now, except for a pair of black lace underwear, and even in the stark light of the dressing room she was flawless.

"Can you be very quick?" she whispered, moving close to me.

Was she actually talking about...?

"I..."

But she was already unzipping my pants.

She pulled my cock out, and pressed herself up against me. Her hand encircled my dick, and she began to rub me down.

I looked down at my cock, and Jordan's hand pumping me, with a nice view of her tits pressed up close to me in the foreground. I sucked in my breath.

A shudder passed through me. I slid my hand down her bare back and into the crack of her ass, trying to reach around and through her to get at her sweet, wet cunt. Jordan lifted a leg and wrapped it around me, and I hooked my hand underneath her thigh. Now I could get at her more easily, as she stood on her tiptoes and pressed against me harder. My fingertips found her wet hole and dipped inside of her.

It was wildly uncomfortable, and even through my fevered lust, I knew I would be paying for it later. As soon as my orgasm racked through me, I would feel the pain.

But just then, I was too wound up to stop myself. I grasped Jordan's ass with my fingers still in her pussy, squeezing all over her fiercely with my hand. We were both trying not to make too much noise, and so she leaned into my shirt and bit me through the fabric.

I moved my hand to get better access to her dripping cunt, still holding her leg up. I found her clit with my fingers and began to stroke it at the same pace as she was jerking me off. Her hand was working rapidly now, and I had to fight to keep from coming too far ahead of her. I made the mistake of looking into the mirror, at Jordan's beautiful body crawling up me like a cat. Her lean leg was hooked over my arm, her hand was pumping my cock. Her bare pussy glistened, my fingers inside of it.

My eyes shifted to the corner, where the dress Tyrese would peel off of her was draped over a stool. The sight was too much. I felt myself losing control, impatient to possess her.

I spun Jordan around quickly and pushed her toward a wall. Her hands thumped against the mirror and we both paused, trying to listen over our labored breathing for whether someone heard or not. But we didn't pause long: we were too far gone in our own little world now to care about the scene we were making. Jordan arched her ass up for me, and I pushed her panties to the side to enter her from behind.

I thrust upward and inside of her. From behind her I could see the full length of her body in the mirror. Her big tits bounced with each thrust, and her sodden black panties were twisted into a thin strip that cut through the center of her slit. I pulled on them from behind, and the fabric tightened and rubbed her between her folds. Her mouth opened in surprise, but I could see that she liked it so I twisted the panties around my wrist and pulled again. At the same time, I hammered into her. I could feel her body tense as her orgasm overtook her. When I was sure she had gone over the edge, I let myself go. I gave her underwear one final twist to really pull them tight against her clit as I drove deep into her cunt, almost lifting her legs off the floor.

Jordan's face colored as she struggled to contain a scream. Her legs shook as she came, and I pulled her back against my chest as my seed filled her.

Then, it was suddenly very obvious that we were making quite an auditory scene. Jordan slid forward and my cock, still semi-hard, slipped from inside of her. She covered her mouth to stifle a laugh.

I watched her in the mirror as she very pragmatically removed her destroyed panties, and tucked them into a plastic bag she happened to have with her.

I watched her dress. She slid the conservative brown skirt she had come in up her body and buttoned it against her navel. She smiled at me in the mirror, and then ruffled my hair. "They won't say a thing," she assured me. "This is a three-thousand dollar dress."

Oh well.

THE WAIT

Jordan stepped into the cab. With her hand on the handle, she looked up at me.

“You're sure about this?” she said. “Last chance.”

I gripped the top of the door.

I'm a decisive person, in general. You have to be decisive if you do things like argue cases in court. You don't get second chances in that kind of performance. You have to commit to a tactic and you have to think on your feet. No one has patience, for that matter, for a hemming and hawing prosecutor.

But I couldn't channel the same decisiveness into this one decision.

“It's good,” I said.

“Okay...anything is good?”

My stomach went cold, as a montage of images of “anything” flitted through my head. Anything: Jordan's lips around his cock. Anything: Jordan bouncing on his lap with his huge cock in her ass. “Anything is good,” my mouth said.

She pulled the door closed.

Don't wait up for me, she mouthed, and then laughed at her own joke.

The car rolled down the driveway, and then Jordan and her three-thousand dollar dress were gone.

The walk from the driveway to the study was fine. I was fine.

Once I shut the door, and looked around my office, the reality of the situation set in upon me. It slammed through me. I felt like I had swan-dived onto concrete.

Stunned – actually stunned – I sat down in my chair.

While we had already leaped into the great unknown in a way before this, it had been different. I had been there, watching, able to send a text to stop things or even reach out and physically restrain Jordan.

I had never done that, but the option had always existed.

There had been no need for Jordan to tell me what happened, because I had seen it all with my own eyes.

Now, it was all about trust. And it was terrifying.

Terrifying, and exciting.

I rubbed my temples with my fingers. I had no idea how I was going to make it through the evening. I couldn't just sit here, thinking about Jordan and her date every second. I would drive myself crazy.

Work.

I turned on my computer.

It was useless. I read and re-read the same sentences over and over again, without a single word permeating my consciousness. I had no idea what I was looking at. All I could think about was Jordan. Jordan in that scorching dress, glittering in the center of some restaurant with every man's eyes peeling away her dress in his mind. Jordan laughing at Tyrese's jokes, Jordan meeting his eyes across the table. Jordan sliding down the chair and disappearing under the table, because she couldn't wait another minute to feel every inch of his cock with her tongue...

Would he take her home? I pictured him sliding the zipper of her dress down her side. Or maybe he had pressed her against his chest and dipped his hands into the bodice, watching his own fingers through the transparent fabric, under the beads, until he found what he wanted: the hard button at the center of her breast.

Or maybe he had just ripped it away. Maybe he had torn apart her three-thousand dollar dress, sending beads rattling to the floor. Maybe she was bent over his kitchen counter right now, with his enormous cock filling her up. "Oh!" she was screaming. "Oh! Oh! Oh fuck!"

Yes, I had plenty of time to think about every possibility. The possibility that Jordan's ass was full of cock right now. The possibility that Tyrese had been a lover of hers all along and she had just pulled a very clever heist of our marriage. The possibility that everything was what it was, and she loved me, and she was only doing this because she knew how the feeling slithered around inside of me like icy-hot in my veins. The possibility that she might begin that way, but find Tyrese to be a superior lover, a superior man, and never come home.

I tried to distract myself with television.

I ran on the treadmill, and almost broke it because I was slamming against so hard. The commotion summoned Max from his blue-screened twilight life, to stand in the doorway of the office. He surveyed my running, and shook his head. Olivia appeared next.

"I thought there was an earthquake," she said simply, and left.

I took a shower. I jerked off, unable to stand the pain of my erection anymore.

And then, it was only ten o'clock.

Jordan came home at two.

I emerged from the study when I heard her come through the door, where I had been pacing in my paranoia all night. I had stayed there for the benefit of Olivia, to give her the idea I was working.

I heard Olivia's voice from the kitchen. "Oh my god," she was saying. "Will you please tell your boss I will do that job? How much was this dress? Is it yours? You have to be kidding me."

They looked up when I stood in the doorway.

I was doing my best to look like a man who had simply been working in his office all night. Waiting for his wife to return from an unconventional job that he was perfectly and totally comfortable with her doing.

This was apparently not the impression I gave, because Olivia looked from me to Jordan and back again, and then shook her head. "You two are totally fucked people," she said, and spun around to leave in a hurry.

I was already buzzing with even more arousal than I had experienced before, as impossible as it seemed. I felt like this must surely be the high the cokeheads talked about.

My eyes were inspecting every inch of Jordan's body.

Her dress was in place, as it had been when she had left. I looked for wrinkles, for some kind of indication that it had been hiked up to her waist as she bent over a counter, or climbed on top of a man in a car. But the material was smooth and unblemished. I was actually relieved to see it intact, because I had allowed my fantasy of it getting torn to shreds to get a little out of hand in my mind.

My eyes went to her legs. I don't know what I was expecting there: a trickle of cum running down her thigh?

Back to her face. Was her lipstick smeared? Had she sweat until the smokey eyeliner around her eyes had smudged ever-so-slightly?

"So," I said.

Jordan smiled and leaned against the counter. "So."

There was mischief in her eyes. She was enjoying the desperate way I was looking over her. She was holding her cards close, toying with me. And she was clearly getting off on it.

My stomach twisted again.

"I'm tired," Jordan said. "Let's go to bed."

In the bedroom, I moved my finger along the plunging neckline of her dress. I started at her collarbone, and moved up and over the swell of her breast, then down to where the "v" came together, somewhere between her sternum and her navel. Back up again, along the edge of the other side. The skin on her neck went bumpy with delight. I heard her breath catch. "Tell me what you did. Every detail."

I slid my finger beneath the dress, and moved down the edge of it again. I stopped at when I was across from her nipple, and dove beneath the fabric to find it with my fingertips. I grazed the silky skin of her areola, and she shivered. Then my fingers found her nipple, and it turned hard underneath the pads of my fingers.

"So?" I whispered.

Jordan's eyes were partially closed. "We ate dinner," she said, and while this normally might have been an opening for a joke, I knew she was in no mood to be silly. "It was...nice."

"Nice,' hmmm? Why 'nice'?"

I leaned toward her, and moved my lips over her neck. Her gooseflesh returned. I felt her body stiffen, excited by touch.

Or maybe by the thought of what had transpired between her and Tyrese

"He's a really...he knows how to really make a woman feel sexy," she said. "He's an interesting guy."

I'm sure.

But these were water I wasn't interested in wading in. Not now.

"Did he touch you? At dinner?"

She smiled. "On my hand. Then on my knee. Under the table."

I imagined Tyrese's enormous hands on her knee, under the table. I imagined his big fingers moving over her kneecap.

"Anything else?"

"Not at dinner."

The words traveled through me like an injection of boiling water.

"This part," she said in a whisper, "we should probably go over in the bed."

Tyrese was a medic in the army. Of fucking course. He was now a reservist, and in medical school. He was going to be rich, respected, and he could also whip out a story about his actual tour of duty.

Of fucking course.

He was also, apparently, an incredibly smooth gentleman.

But that didn't mean that he had any problem hitting on my wife, who he knew was married.

It also didn't mean that he had ended the evening with a light kiss.

He was after Jordan, and he hadn't spent any time mincing words about it.

While Jordan gave me this back story, I sat practically cooking myself in my own juices. I was looking at her and listening to her, but my body was really just suspended in time, waiting for the part I really wanted to hear.

At dinner he had put his hand on her knee. His hands were smooth and hot, and – she added for me, because she knew I wanted to hear it, over and over if possible – they were big.

He wasn't looking for any kind of relationship. That's why he was into married women.

And then he had bored through her with an animal stare, the kind that works like a magnetic force on women everywhere. He had asked for the check and just kept staring at her, and she knew something was going to happen.

She was still in her dress while she told me all this. Still wearing it. I could envision more easily the way that Tyrese had seen her, and looked at her. God, she was stunning in that dress, more stunning than I could remember.

He had asked her if she wanted to go home with him, and she told him she wasn't quite ready for that yet. She didn't have enough time this evening.

Jordan had held her thumb up to her mouth and bitten on it at this point. “I think I want to keep playing it like, I'm having an affair and I'm not really sure if I want to do it or not...you know? I think it makes it more exciting.”

“Okay,” I said lamely. Whatever she wanted, it was fine by me.

In fact, so much the better.

So he had offered to walk her to a cab. She had been surprised, surprised he would give up that easily, but she decided to play the long game. They walked up the street to a busier avenue where they might get a cab.

Close to each other. Flirting. They bumped into each other and found each other's hands.

"Where you turned on by him then?" I interrupted.

Jordan's eyes fluttered a little. I could see she had some reservations about admitting it to me, which could mean only one thing: she was. She was very attracted to him.

"Remember," I said. "You said, 'every detail.' It's part of the deal. Were you getting hot for him, wishing he would do something?"

Jordan bit her lip. "I mean...he's a really attractive guy. So...yeah. Yeah, I was...turned on."

A satisfying jolt sizzled through me. I pictured them in the dark, walking down the street, their bodies "crashing" into each other occasionally, their hands finding something to squeeze.

Tyrese, looking down at the ripe breasts of my wife, so near to being freed.

He hailed a cab in a second. Made a joke about how it was handy to have a white woman with him. They stood there, toying with the idea of kissing. Both of them wanted it.

I pictured his big hands on the door of the cab. Maybe draped there, because he seemed like the kind of guy who would hang his arms coolly over the edge of the door. He moved a hand and his fingers stroked her cheek.

He asked if she was sure she couldn't find a way to stay out later.

She thought about doing it, and she wanted to. But then she decided to make it all even more savory, more delightful, by dragging it out.

So she shook her head, but she suggested they split the cab at least to his place.

It's not on the way, he pretended to protest. I could see him, laughing. Already coming around the door to get in the cab next to her.

In the cab he had wasted no time. Smiling, looking the other direction as though he weren't paying any attention to my wife, he slid his hand down the inside of her thigh. His long pinkie finger moved backward, backward, toward the sweet spot between her legs.

Then he brushed over the fabric of her underwear. A light touch, and it sent a shiver through her.

He fanned the fingers on his big hand, and his ring finger and thumb pushed her knees apart. Spread her legs open. All the while, he looked out the window and smiled. I could see that smile now: assured. Smug. The smile of a man who is about to dip his fingers into the wife of another man.

The gorgeous wife of another man.

“And what did you do?” My voice was raspy.

Jordan reached over and found his cock beneath the fabric of his pants.

She waited after saying this, giving me time to get the image arranged in my own mind, and sharpened into excruciating focus: Jordan's pale hand on the dark fabric of his suit, closing in around the shape of his cock.

He was hard, but maybe not all the way. Still, she could tell there was a lot there. He had a good, big package.

She moved her hand over it to try and feel the shape of it, and he grinned.

Meanwhile, he had pried her panties away from her bare snatch. When he found her smooth skin he looked over at her and gave her a raised eyebrow of surprise. Perhaps there weren't that many utterly bare suburban women in the world.

Then he held her gaze as he dipped into her wet folds. She could tell he pleased to find her so turned on.

His finger had been solid and strong against her clit, which he found easily in spite of her body being so new to him. He had moved over the slippery button with ease and a practiced hand. In less than a minute he had made her convulse with a jolting orgasm.

Just as the cab arrived at their destination.

Her hand was still on his cock. Now it was bigger, and she could feel all the promise of it on her palm. Her panties were soaked, and her face was hot and red with the flush of coming.

He had already popped the door open. “You sure there's nothing you can do about that curfew of yours, Cinderella?”

Jordan was still reeling from what he had done to her. So she shook her head.

Then he had leaned over, and pressed his lips to hers. Soft, big lips, and entirely different kiss than she had ever experienced. His hand moved down her chest again, feeling her soft, bare skin.

"I'll call you tomorrow," he had said.

Then he paid the cabbie, and strolled into his condo. Hands in pockets. Smooth as ice.

He turned back and smiled at her.

I pictured it: a wolfish grin.

He knew she'd be back.

"And that's it?" I said, when she finished telling her story.

You didn't lean over in the cab, and take his cock into your mouth, did you?

She leaned back on the bed, on her elbows. "That's it for now."

Several kinds of pain were writhing inside of me. I felt a pang of disappointment. As delicious as it was to think about Tyrese's fingers prying open the wet folds of my wife's pussy in the back of a cab and making her pant against the fake leather seats, I wanted more.

As delicious as it was to imagine Jordan's hand caressing the bulge of another man's cock, I wanted her to have actually wrapped her hand around the hot flesh of it. To be able to tell me exactly how fat it was, if it was veined and dark purple, or brown and smooth. How long it was, and then...

I wanted more.

I wanted Jordan to have his cock between her legs, plunging into her flesh and spreading her open. I wanted to see her gasp and scream in pleasure. I wanted to taste the sweat on her shoulders when he was done with her. I wanted to see her lips wrapped around his cock.

I almost blushed at the slew of dirty thoughts that flooded my mind.

But Jordan knew I wanted more.

She tapped her fingers on the bed. She was still looking at me.

I moved to the bed, and rested my knees, left first, then right, on the edge of the bed. I grabbed Jordan's ankles and pushed her backward. She scooted onto the bed, and as she did her skirt bunched up, almost to her waist.

I used one hand, as Tyrese had done, to push her thighs open. She let them fall open wide, and the scent of her cum and arousal breathed onto me as they fell open.

I reached for her underwear, right in the soft center where her hole was. As I had expected, they soaked clear through. I slid them down her legs, and she pushed them back together to get the panties down her leg. I stretched them to slide them off her right foot, and then I pushed her legs open again. Her wet panties still dangled from her left ankle.

I looked at her slit, and the light skin that surrounded it. Smooth and fresh, it seemed, but someone else had been there just an hour ago. Playing with her ivory petals, dipping into the hot flesh between them.

Someone dark. Practically a stranger. A big, athletic man. A man with a huge cock.

I dipped a finger into her pussy. She was so wet the sensation was almost strange.

Was it that? Or had she perhaps been stretched open, and she wasn't telling me? My fingers slid into her with no resistance at all.

I jerked her by her ankles, close to me.

"Is that everything, Jordan?" I growled.

She brought her fingers to her mouth and touched her lips.

Was her expression distant? Was she thinking of a lie?

She paused like this, and the moment seemed to drag out forever.

Then she slapped me suddenly on the arm. She laughed. "Of course that's everything," she said. "That was the deal, right?"

I lowered myself on top of her, and my cock sank into her flesh. She squirmed in pleasure. She hung her arms around my neck and lifted her hips up to me, grinding against me.

"What do you want me to do next time?"

She rocked her hips back and forth, and her pussy squeezed my cock.

"Tell me," she said. "It turns me on when you tell me what you want another man to do to me."

I pushed her hips down, to stop her from grinding me right over the edge. She felt so good, so hot and silky, and I wanted a chance to talk dirty to her and get an even sharper, more agonizing high than all of them that had come before.

"Do you want me to lick the cum from the tip of his cock?" she said. Her voice was sibilant, a warble and a purr. I sucked in my breath.

But she kept going. "Do you want me to swallow the whole thing, no matter how big it is, until my mouth and my throat are just completely stuffed with big, black cock?"

I froze, because I was right at the edge.

“Jordan,” I whispered, though I had no idea what I meant by saying that. I wanted her to stop, I didn't want her to stop. This was too much, it wasn't enough. I loved it, I hated it. I was in control, I wasn't.

She placed her arms above her head, as though she had just woken up from a nap.

“Do you want me to do every dirty thing I've ever done, until I'm dripping cum from every hole-”

By the time she got to “dripping” I was already gone. I slammed my cock into her and began to pound at her. I was fucking her so hard, it cut her words off.

We came together, both of us seized by an intense orgasm and involuntary screams that we tried to stifle, but failed to.

I half-expected Olivia to appear in the doorway and tell me she thought there was another earthquake.

AGAIN

Jordan decided, and I agreed because I didn't know what else to do, that she would wait for Tyrese to call her. I had never understood the intricate “rules” governing calling back or not calling back, because I had never spent much time dating.

So of course it made me suspicious that Jordan, who also hadn't spent any time dating, felt so attuned to them.

So we waited.

I was in a strange twilight, a little like the half-life of jury deliberations. Time was all but suspended, and every second ticked away on clocks as an entire hour. Whole, tangled sagas weaved themselves in my mind, as you ran through possibilities over and over in the slowest possible motion.

With jury deliberations, these sagas were legal.

With the waiting I was doing now, the possible outcomes I was fine-tuning and replaying in my mind were all sexual. Darker and lewder with ever passing moment.

A week went by.

“Nothing from Tyrese?” I finally asked, trying to be as casual as possible by asking while she was brushing her teeth. I peered into the dental floss container to make it look like I was otherwise mentally occupied. This was just a casual question.

“Oh,” Jordan said. She spat into the sink and pushed her hair back. “I completely forgot to tell you. He did text me...but he's out of town for another week.”

“Hmmm.”

She smiled at me and twisted her toothbrush in her mouth. “What?”

“I dunno, just seems...weird. Doesn't he have medical school or something?”

Jordan shrugged. “Maybe it's a lie. Doesn't really matter, right?”

Naturally, I should have felt happy about Jordan's reaction. She was not taking her “relationship” with Tyrese very seriously. She seemed almost indifferent to the idea that he might be lying.

That was perfect, right? That was exactly what I wanted.

But Paddy, as I'm sure you've come to realize, is never satisfied with the most satisfactory of situations.

Instead of falling asleep, thrilled that my wife had no emotional connection to her lover, which is exactly what I believed I wanted...I instead spent the whole night concocting horrific nightmare after horrific nightmare.

Wasn't she just a bit too calloused?

Was it a possibility that a man in medical school had gone out of town? Or that a man who had fingered a gorgeous woman in a taxi cab had so many other options on his plate that he couldn't get back to her for a week, and had to make up some story about being out of town?

Or did it make more sense that Jordan was keeping something from me? Maybe she was seeing him and not telling me. Maybe she had an emotional connection with him after all. Maybe she had been swept off her feet by the guy, and they had plotted this escape route together: tell your husband this is what happened. Then tell him I never called you back. Then we can have a torrid affair together in peace and he won't suspect a thing...

As usual, in the middle of the night my paranoid thoughts all made sense. I was writhing in the pain of my jealousy, unable to sleep, concocting more and more elaborate scenarios in which everything leading up to this moment had been an elaborate set-up, all so that my wife could have an affair with my idiotic blessing.

When the light of day was shed on the facts, I would feel a little crazy.

But not so crazy that I put an end to my cycles of crazy thoughts. Oh no.

There was still so much to think about, think through, anticipate, worry about. And I hated and loved every single thought I had.

As the week dragged on, Jordan had no further honey-trap assignments come her way.

A wave of paranoia about this rolled in around Wednesday.

Perhaps she was no longer taking those jobs, because she herself could only think of Tyrese. Or she was taking them, but she wasn't telling me. Or she just forgot, because she was so obsessed thinking about Tyrese.

Maybe I was being cuckolded.

It would be so much worse, if that were the case, than just getting cheated on.

Because I had my own hand in it all.

Get a grip Paddy.

It's too complicated, the shit you're concocting, to be real.

You're acting like an ass.

Maybe so. But I actually couldn't stop myself.

Like magic, just as I was about to tip over the edge on Friday night to a new and unfathomable low, a text arrived.

I read and re-read it.

It almost added to my suspicion, as illogical as that sounds. As if Jordan possessed some magical power to read my mind, from across the city, and know that I was getting paranoid.

I read the text again.

Have a trap tonight but you can't come. Call u around 6?

It was coincidence. A sane man would see that.

But I was not a sane man.

I ended up at home fairly early that night, to the arched and suspicious eyebrows of Doug as I left the office, and Olivia as I arrived home.

I wanted to be home when Jordan got home.

I knew, in a way, that I was outside the boundaries of the trust we had established between us, to deliberately go home in order to be there when she arrived.

But I also knew she could never prove that I was there in order to see for myself that she had only been at an assignment, and not fooling around on me. Even if she thought it, she could never prove it.

I was agitated. I was agitated by her latest assignment, and the fact that she had told me about it just as I was thinking about her honey trapping.

I was agitated that my mind, my cool, logical, reasonable mind, was allowing itself to go to idiotic explanations of what had to be – had to be – a simple coincidence.

Everything, after all, was exactly what it appeared to be.

Everything was exactly what it was:

Jordan was a gorgeous woman and she worked for a PI honey-trapping, and she had an idiot husband who had neglected her for years, who now had a fantasy of seeing her get fucked by other men, and she was fulfilling it. For me. Because she loved me. She even said so. She had never done anything to make me suspicious.

All of my suspicion, I reminded myself, had been generated by my own stupidity.

So what was bothering me, then?

Tyrese.

Jordan seemed perfectly at ease with the arrangement we had.

I knew I should be happy about that.

After all, we had discussed things. In detail. We had made rules and set boundaries and made it clear that this was an arrangement between us.

Why was I so bothered, then?

Oh, of course it was obvious. It was obvious this whole time. Deep down I knew it all along. It bothered me because Jordan had control, in the end, over everything. And I just had to trust her. I had to trust her to follow the rules, and there was no way to ever know if she did or she didn't.

Not really.

No one can ever know what another person actually feels.

What if all along, all this time, Jordan wanted more? More from our marriage? And this was just a pleasant turn of events for her, giving her an easy way to get what she wanted? Another man. Without all the messiness of an affair and a divorce.

That was the real question.

But it wasn't really dangerous, if the question wasn't out there.

And then, I suppose, it wasn't really as sexy, if the danger wasn't there.

I was pacing the room.

Jordan. Out there baiting men.

Tonight was a little different than the usual flirt-in-a-bar setup: the wife was going to introduce Jordan as a friend. Jordan was at a basketball game right now, in box seats.

There was no way for me to go and watch her.

She had explained all of this and it was a perfectly reasonable explanation.

I wondered if she was doing her job as well, now that she had this plan with Tyrese.

Or was she thinking about him all the time?

Was she able to flirt with other men while she longed to be with another?

Was she able to pretend to love me, while she actually longed for another?

I covered my face with my hands and sighed.

“Uneventful.”

Jordan was dressed casually, in jeans and a very hot striped top that showed off her cleavage but kept everything covered nicely, just the way the upper-crust box-seat holders would dress for a sporting event. I had “wandered” into the kitchen as she arrived home. I was now pretending to be on a quest for a midnight snack, by opening the cupboards.

“What was the score?”

Jordan snorted. “Oh god. I don't even know who they played.”

A smile crept into my face. This had been a test, even though I felt sort of shitty for giving it to her. If she had known the score, it would have been more of an indication that she was lying and trying to cover something up.

It was anybody's guess, at this point, what I thought that “something” could be.

Another date with a man I knew she was dating?

Sex with a man I wanted her to have sex with? Who she texted while riding my cock?

What was I thinking?

She reached into the cupboard from behind me and pulled out some Triscuit crackers, handing them to me. “Here.”

“I hate those.”

She gave me a wicked grin. “I know. That's for being a dick.” She opened the box as she took it across the room and plopped onto a barstool. “What's with the quiz? Did I pass?” She looked into the box and shook it, as if searching for one specific cracker.

I stared at her.

She looked up at me. “Busted.”

But she was still amused.

This was both really wonderful, and amusing; and it irked me.

She pointed a finger at me. "This isn't going to work if you can't trust me," she said.

"I trust you."

"Yeah?"

I nodded.

"Why are you pretending to look for a snack then? Why are you asking me what the score of some stupid basketball game was?"

She raised her eyebrows.

A very quick flash of anger went through me.

Jordan must have seen it. She was one of the few people (I hoped) who noticed that while I was an outwardly very calm person, anger stained my cheeks bright red in a small patch just below my cheekbones, and the stain remained for hours. I could feel the color in my cheeks, even though the moment had passed.

She dropped her crackers. "Sweetheart," she said. "I'm sorry...I was just joking around. I didn't mean to get you mad."

She came across the room and leaned against the counter next to me. She placed her hands on the edge and tapped her fingers in a long roll, from her left hand to her right, like a wave in a stadium.

"Look, maybe we should just..."

I waved my hands in the air in exasperation. "No," I hissed. "No, god...it isn't that. It isn't you. It isn't anything...it's just...I can't stand being so out of control."

Jordan was quiet.

"Except that's what I want," I added.

She looked at the wall in front of her.

"Sometimes I don't know if I understand you, Paddy. Is this what you want, or isn't it?"

I was about to open my mouth, and I was glad that she interrupted me, in that way of hers:

"And if you say, 'I don't know,' that's as good as a 'no' to me."

I snapped my mouth shut.

She was right, of course.

I needed to make a decision.

I needed to stop second-guessing myself.

“I need to stop second-guessing myself,” I said aloud, not really realizing I was speaking my thoughts.

Jordan looked at me, and her eyes were angry. “You need to stop second-guessing me. ”

I looked anxiously at the living room. I knew Olivia was listening in on our conversation, even though she was pretending to eat cereal and be absorbed in the TV.

I jerked my head toward the bedroom, and Jordan gave an exaggerated sigh, but she picked up her purse and went out of the kitchen and toward the bedroom.

She surprised me by tossing her purse on the bed and tackling the conversation head-on. “I’m getting tired of this, Paddy. I need to know if this is really what you want to be doing, or not.”

She folded her arms over her chest and tapped her fingers on her own forearm. Her lips were pressed together, and she was a little flushed.

She was mad, and in a strange way it was good to see.

I realized, watching her anger streak across her face, that this is sort of what I had wanted. This was one of the missing elements of Jordan’s reactions to what was going on, a thing she hadn’t felt that made me uneasy because she wasn’t feeling it.

“So?” she said, annoyed at my reverie. “You have to either decide what you want to do or I’ll just decide and we’ll get it over with. I’m sick of this cold-hot business with you.”

“How can you just be so...business-like about this?!” I blurted.

Jordan narrowed her eyes.

“Because it is business. Remember? You are the one who wanted to turn in it to something more.”

She had me there.

Sure, that was true.

I spluttered a few things, none of which were complete sentences. I was not even sure what point I wanted to make, and as a person normally so in control of my words, I felt awful. I was really careening out of control.

“What is bothering you?!” Jordan said, exasperated. “Just spit it out.”

“I’m bothered,” I was practically shouting, “that you’re not that bothered by any of this!”

Jordan snapped her mouth shut. Then she opened it, and seemed to suddenly think better of it.

So I just went on and on. My mouth was ahead of brain again, but as I listened to myself I realized that a lot of what I was saying was not only true, but needed to be said. My mouth wasn't doing the worst job.

"It bothers me...that you don't, like don't you get mad, mad that I was so out of it for so long, and caught up in my career, and then when you start doing something like this, all you have to do is text me and I'm there just like that?!" I snapped my fingers. "I don't understand why you aren't angry about that. And then you're just...like you don't even need to talk about that? Or talk about how you're this completely different person than the person I married, and it's great that you are, but don't you want to say something about that? I'm really...it bugs me. And don't you...don't you have more curiosity, for example, about how it is that I figured out what you were doing? Don't you want to know more about that?"

Jordan was now pressing her lips together, I think, to keep from smiling.

I sat down on the bed, shaking my head.

There was nothing new under the sun. Guilty people want to confess. They really do.

I put my head in my hands.

And then it just all started pouring out.

I'd seen it happen before. Someone starts talking, they admit to a murder or a robbery or a rape. They get the first two sentences out and then it's like a toilet flushing, it's past the point they can stop it. It all just comes out.

"This whole thing is driving me crazy," I said. "Okay? That's the truth. I love it. I hate it. I feel like...a drug addict." Because Jordan gave a small shake of her head at that moment, like I was being ridiculous, I spat out this: "I...there's so much more to the story about how I figured out what you were doing. I hired Doug's brother as a PI, but that was only...only after I was following you around myself, thinking you were having an affair...I...I fucking came in here, one afternoon, because your car was here and some kid was driving it in a hoody and I snuck into my own house, and I went upstairs thinking you were fucking some guy and it was actually Olivia, and then...I don't know, fuck, I was relieved but I almost wanted to catch you doing it? You know? Like, I didn't want that, and I did want that, because I wanted you to have just...I don't know, I don't know...gotten back at me, for being such a shitty husband."

This last sentence, I realized, was really the heart of the matter.
The whole thing.

Jordan's eyes were wide open but she seemed to be unable to say anything.

"And now," I kept going, "I don't know...you're incredible, you're this sexy, amazing woman and I love watching you, and it's fun, and it's dangerous, and it gives me a high...but I also sit there looking at you and thinking, maybe I've lost you, or I did along time ago..."

I stopped talking. I rubbed my face with my hands, hoping to keep myself from starting to cry or some likewise un-masculine thing.

There was a very uncomfortable silence.

Then I felt the weight of Jordan's body next to mine. She had moved closer to me.

"I didn't know you were feeling all these things," she said quietly.

I dropped my hands from my face and sucked in my breath, trying to recapture some dignity.

She placed a hand on mine. "You know, it's...some things you say are maybe true. I'm not the same person you married. But you aren't either. You know? People just change. But I...I guess the only reason I was doing this was because...yeah, it seemed like you liked it. I hadn't really thought of that before. Because you were finally paying attention to me..."

Her voice trailed off.

She squeezed my hand. "But it wasn't like, I was angry or something."

Another pause.

"I was just...I liked it because you were finally...I could get you away from work, you know?"

A cool pain throbbed inside my chest. For some reason this meant a lot to me. It was maybe the most romantic thing she had ever said.

"And who the fuck was this kid driving my car?" Jordan said suddenly, smiling to break up the tension.

I wiped my eye quickly because it had started to...let's call it "water."
"Olivia's boyfriend," I said.

Jordan rolled her eyes. "Oh god," she said with irritation.

"Jordan," I said quickly, not wanting her to deviate too much from the topic at hand. "I love you. I'm sorry for all the years I didn't...make that clear."

I could see that what I had said had affected her deeply, because her eyes watered almost instantly.

She leaned forward, and our lips met.

"I love you too," she whispered.

"Okay," Jordan said. "So how do we wrap this up?"

Jordan knew as well as I did that we weren't just going to walk away from all of this, just like that.

"I don't know," I said. "I want to stop, and I don't."

She rested her head on my chest. "Me too."

She moved her head to my shoulder.

"What if we say, one last time with Tyrese? Where you can watch, and then...that's it. It's over."

There was a silence. I nodded, almost imperceptibly.

It was a good solution.

A good solution like setting a date to quit smoking. A New Year's resolution. It had the exact same qualities to it, and we were looking at it on the opposite side, facing it bravely with all of our enthusiasm and unbridled hope. There were people out there who succeeded! We would be those people!

We laughed at the same time, though I don't know if Jordan was laughing for the same reasons I was.

We made love, a bit more like the old married couple we were, slowly and tenderly. Afterward, I lay in the darkness and felt as though a weight had been lifted off my chest.

For the first time in many, many months, I fell asleep within minutes.

BALL

“Ooohhhhh,” Jordan said, sitting up in bed at about 6am. She was holding her hand to her head.

I bolted up. “What the matter? You have a migraine?”

She shook her head. “I mean...yes, yes I do.”

She smiled. She pressed her hand to her head harder and grimaced falsely. “Oooohhhhhh...”

I laughed at her.

“I just remembered the charity ball...my head is hurting...”

I pushed her gently backward. “I have a cure for that,” I suggested. The announcement about the charity ball, a fundraiser for the Children's Hospital, had not yet made its way through my skull. I was more focused on the sleepy scent of Jordan's skin, and my morning erection, and the new sense of confidence I had after last night's conversation.

“It's incurable,” she said, pushing me away. “I am so tired of going out at night. How do the rich and famous do it?” She covered her eyes with her forearm. “Ohhhhhh god...”

“Oh god,” I echoed. Now it was all turning to reality: a charity ball, a stuffy tuxedo, a lot of fake laughter and boring conversation.

Jordan got out of bed and trotted into the bathroom. I heard the shower turn on. Apparently whatever she had thought of with this charity ball meant we needed to get up and get going now.

“Do you even have anything to wear?” she called out, over the shower water.

I sat up. “What? I thought...”

I heard Jordan giggle. “I got it. I'm on it. But you have to get up.”

Jordan, luckily for me, had been thinking far, far ahead, and rented a tux using measurements from an event the year before. I stared down at my stomach and sucked it in, hoping it would be okay.

Jordan smiled at me in the mirror, where she was applying a multitude of creams to her face. “I added an inch,” she said. “Just in case.”

I couldn't believe we had to spend most of our day dealing with this thing, but we both knew there was essentially no way out of it. Everyone had to go. It was one of the few charity events that could in no way return to be misconstrued, controversial, or divisive, and bite anyone in the ass politically at some later date. Failing to go was the only thing that could have that unwanted effect.

Jordan got a mischievous expression on her face very suddenly.

“Let's make the best of it,” she said.

The look on her face was one that both pushed me into a state of arousal and sort of terrified me: Jordan could do some pretty naughty things. The fact that she had this expression on while talking about the charity ball, where all of my colleagues would be, sent a jolt of panic through me.

I mean, it was one thing to play with fire in places where we barely stood a chance of seeing anyone we knew...and quite another to do it in a roomful of colleagues.

“Jordan...”

She grinned again and winked at me. “Oh darling,” she said, layering a rich Southern accent all over her voice, “I wouldn't dream of doing anything untoward at your charity ball.”

From a drawer she found a powder puff, almost as if it were there as a prop for this scene, and tapped it against her nose. Powder exploded on her face and she sneezed and waved it away impatiently. There was no way for us not to laugh.

She turned around and leaned against the counter. “No,” she said. “Whatever I do, it'll be just between us.”

I had no idea how to read her, at that moment. Her nose was white with powder, which made the whole scene comical. She was smiling. But her voice was serious and smooth, and in her eyes I could see that same “something” she got when she was trying to trap a man. A pent-up, predatory sexual energy.

Now, what I should have said is:

“How about we go and have a nice normal evening?”

But I didn't.

The truth was somewhere in there:

I didn't want to take old Jordan to the ball.

I wanted take this woman to the ball.

Jordan suddenly snapped her fingers. “Hey!” she exclaimed. “I can use that dress again!”

She pushed past me, on her way to the closet.

When we got to the dinner preceding the ball, it was just as awful as we imagined: boring entertainment, long speeches, bad decor.

But because Jordan had made a sort of promise to get up to something “fun,” the whole evening was injected with excitement right from the start.

First of all, her dress was killer, and her presence sort of swept through the room like a magnet, drawing everyone's eyes to her. Even women. There were ladies dressed to the nines there, in long, glittering dresses that should have been more eye-catching than hers. But the dress was a mere accessory to what Jordan had: herself.

At the last minute, she had found a shrug to put over the dress, taking it from “hot date-night” to “hot charity ball.” But the shrug still couldn't hide the sweet curve of her breasts, or the bare skin beneath the transparent material, or the perfect roundness of her ass.

I enjoyed the satisfaction of having Jordan on my arm. She was my wife, and the shifty, wandering eyes of other men told me they coveted Jordan. But since our conversation the night before, I felt a change in my insecurity about Jordan.

Don't get me wrong. When I thought about Tyrese, it wasn't as if the conversation the night before had just swept everything under the rug about him. I still felt a flush of jealousy flash through my cheeks, and my heart pounded with exciting fear, thinking of just his name.

But in a setting like the charity event, I could relax and enjoy Jordan's devastating good looks, and savor the reverse of the jealousy I sometimes felt: there was a special kind of zing to watching other men covet my wife.

My wife, who was wearing the same dress she had worn on her first date with Tyrese. The same dress he had worked his fingers underneath to finger her in the back of a taxicab.

But Jordan still enjoyed making me feel nervous.

We made the rounds, exchanging hellos with our friends and acquaintances, with Jordan clinging to my arm. But I was much more attuned now to Jordan's every flirtatious gesture: when she extended her hand and held someone else's just a little too long, or batted her eyelashes just a little more than needed for blinking, or shifted her weight to very subtly stick her hip out and accentuate her curves, I was not some clueless man. I saw everything she did to sparkle and grab the attention of every man we spoke to.

Then we sat down at our table, where we were, thankfully, seated with Doug and his wife.

Doug's wife was a civil- liberties attorney, and if Doug looked the part of hard-on-crime prosecutor, she was his opposite in every respect. Doug was a beefy man, to say the least, and Ellen was the sort of washed-away thin girl you saw on college campuses dressed in black and headed for a protest. She looked more swallowed by her black dress than anything, and she had pulled her normally wild, hippy hair into a severe bun, giving her an androgynous, almost futuristic appearance.

Still, it was nice to have someone to chat with at this thing, because I couldn't just spend the whole evening ogling other men ogling my wife.

In a break between the seemingly endless speeches and what was billed as "entertainment," Jordan found my leg under the table, and stroked my leg with her stockinged foot. She had evidently kicked off her sexy heels to get beneath the tuxedo fabric and get my attention. I felt a small flutter of terror when I looked at her and a mischievous smile twitched at the corner of her mouth.

Her foot disappeared, and then almost immediately she rose. Doug's eyes went involuntarily with her, as did Ellen's, along with eyes of everyone at the table. "I'm running to the bar," she told me. "Get you anything? Ellen? Doug?"

We all shook our heads.

I watched her walking away, her long strides graceful, almost as if she didn't touch the ground. She sort of glided. And as she glided, she dragged every man in the place toward her. Some of them moved only inches in her direction, like plants turning to the sun.

But others moved. You could actually see men making excuses to go the bar. Marty Harris from the Public Defender's office actually slammed a half-filled snifter of whiskey to head off in her direction.

From across the room I enjoyed the sight of that little pipsqueak inching closer and closer to my wife. I wondered if he knew who she was. I hoped not. He was running his eyes all over her body, stepping closer, telling her jokes and making her smile. Jordan was batting her eyelashes and sipping the drink she was supposed to bring to me.

I didn't get as worked up watching this play out as I would have just two days before. I shook my ice and asked Doug a question about work, and when I returned my gaze to Marty and my wife I was calm. A nice little shiver ran along the front of my thighs when she raised the whiskey glass in her hand and pointed to me from across the room with a smile.

Or did the shiver come from watching Marty's face fall?

I raised my glass and turned back to Doug, who was answering the question I had asked him in a monotone voice, oblivious to the fact that I wasn't really listening. He was pretty drunk already.

Jordan was cutting through the tables now, sashaying her hips.

Jealousy still burned through me, but I was feeling, for the first time in a while, that I had regained some of the control over the situation. Jordan's winks seemed to be more complicit; her smiles seemed more like an act for me than for the men she was flirting with.

My mind was determined not to go to the darkest possibilities.

I realized, for the first time in a long time, I was enjoying myself immensely.

It felt so good, and so liberating, that I decided to dance.

Being a formal ball, they played mostly tame, slow music that everyone could dance to as a couple. A lot of older songs, because the white-haired patrons were the ones with the deepest and broadest pockets.

I spun Jordan around theatrically, not knowing how to really slow dance at all. She laughed appreciatively.

"So listen," she said, running her fingers along the lapel of my suit jacket. "I've been thinking about our plans with Tyrese." She danced a little with me, letting her words sink in, just as she had probably hoped, down at my crotch, where my cock was pulsing to life.

"This might be the one and only time we do something like this this. I want it to be a really, really great performance."

My cock was at full attention now, and I pressed myself close to her as we spun around to hide my erection from the guests.

As a rule, I didn't dance, but this was very nice.

Especially since my wife was talking to me, in a low, sultry voice, about her plans for having sex with another man while I watched.

She played with my tie. "I was thinking, then, that maybe I should get some practice in. You know that black men have a certain reputation," she purred. She leaned close to me and dropped her voice to a whisper. "And I was thinking, since it's maybe a once-in-a-lifetime thing, I should do...well...everything."

Everything. The word crawled inside of me, slamming into my cock, burning right through my balls, clanging around in my pelvis. I almost felt myself get weak in the knees.

"So I think it would be best if I had a little practice first. Don't you?"

I was too stunned, too worked up, to answer. My mouth was hanging open.

"Well? Paddy?" She was smiling now, enjoying her power over me. She placed her arms on my shoulders, and danced so that her body was grinding against my very, very hard cock. "Do you want to go home, and fuck me in the ass, so I get nice and ready for another man's big cock going in there?"

An actual haze of red, maybe from blood loss, crept into the lower field of my vision.

I grasped Jordan by the lower back and pressed her to me.

She moved against me. It was now utterly improper, and I knew the stuffier women at the party were tisking silently. I also knew their husbands were watching with jealousy, wishing sincerely that they had a hot, stunning wife who turned slow-dancing into...whatever this was.

Jordan raised her eyebrows. "Well?"

"I do," I croaked. I clasped her close to me and spun her around. "I want to go right now, I just...don't leave me standing here with this boner."

Jordan threw her head back and laughed loudly, and without looking, I could sense the heads of attendees whipping around to look at us. She leaned close to me, at least, to say: "Boner? Oh my god, you sound like you're thirteen."

"I feel like I'm thirteen."

She ground against me. "You do. But..you had better try to be a little more sophisticated than that."

I clasped her hand. "Stop doing that, or we'll never get out of here."

PRACTICE

When we got home, we found our trash cans from Friday – which we had not noticed when we left – knocked over and all over the street. We sighed together. No matter what you did, you still had the reality of children who did not do simple chores to deal with. I went to get them, and Jordan went inside.

I felt like the evening's fun had maybe been destroyed by the event when I didn't find Jordan at the kitchen counter when I came in. We had planned in the car to have some more wine when we got home. Jordan was in a giggly, fun mood.

I set my keys down.

I loosened my tie.

I went to the bedroom to change. Whatever we were doing, I could do it out of a tux.

Jordan was waiting on the bed. She was sitting kneeling, resting on her heeled feet, still wearing her underwear. But nothing else. She looked over her shoulder to me with a grin.

I clawed at the buttons of my shirt after tossing the jacket aside. I pulled the shirt over my head, undershirt and all, and hastily removed my pants. Jordan kept her eyes on me, expectantly. It felt great to have her looking at me, the way I looked at her, with desire.

But this was also about other things, I realized. All the way home in the car I had been getting even harder, my blood had been pumping faster, and I was now raging to get my hands on Jordan and complete her “practice.” Because I realized, this was going to give me back the control I wanted.

I moved to the bed and placed my hand on Jordan's neck. Gently enough, but with authority. I pushed her forward until she was on all fours, and she stretched into the pose with a feline movement.

I left my hand on her neck, and I pulled her panties down with a firm jerk. The scent of her excitement flooded my nostrils almost immediately, and the evidence of her arousal was glistening between her thighs as well.

I took in the still-intoxicating sight of her bare pussy, lily petals clasped around the red, hot depths of her body. I pushed her ass open, to view the place where I had been given permission to spend most of my time this evening.

Jordan was ahead of me, however: I watched as her long fingers appeared between her legs, and she spread her pussy open with two fingers, sliding a third into the sopping flesh of her cunt. She made long, leisurely strokes up and down the length of her slit, swirling over her clit until it was engorged. She started to rock her hips, and she fell onto her chest to get another hand in on the action.

“Do you think Tyrese will like it if I play with myself like this?” she said.

I watched, unable to speak for a moment, as her two hands worked together, one pulling her lips open for the other to stroke her pussy. Viscous juices dropped from her folds.

“Play with your ass,” I growled.

It seared through me as my command was followed and she pushed her finger upward, drawing some of her honey to her light pink anus. She drew it around her hole in a circle, and I saw her pucker.

“Again,” I said. “Do it again.” I leaned over her, and pushed her ass wide open. I let a drop of spit fall from my mouth. It landed just above her hole, in her crack, and she reached with her hand to draw it down, down to her hole. She made another circle around her ass.

I spit again, and this time I hit my target. Jordan swirled her juices and my spit around, wetting the rim of her asshole.

I wanted to watch her forever, but the ache in my cock was becoming almost too much to bear. I guided my cock to her pussy, and she lightly raked her fingernails along my shaft. I slid in, enveloped in her hot, super-click cunt. I felt her fingertips making the same lazy circles on my testicles.

It would have been easy to stay there until I came, gently moving inside of her wet cunt, letting her squeeze the cum from my balls. But the pink eyehole of her ass beckoned me. I wasn't going to miss a chance to get my cock inside of that superheated flesh, especially if it was all in the name of stretching her out and training her for another, bigger, cock.

A shudder went through me.

I slid out of her, an inch at a time. I enjoyed the sight of my cock slowly withdrawing from inside of her, coated in her juices. The image of a darker, bigger cock doing precisely that floated through my mind, and I felt my orgasm threatening to surge up right then.

I panted behind her, staring at her ass.

“Hold it open for him,” I said. “I think he'll want you to do that.”

Jordan placed her hands on her asscheeks. The submissive gesture sent another ripple through me, and I felt my cock twitch wildly in the air.

I would have normally asked if she was sure she wanted this, as a matter of gentlemanly conduct, but there seemed to be no doubt, given everything that had transpired this evening and the lewd scene now before me, that she did.

I pressed my cock against the ring of her anus, and leaned over her to spit one final time. The spit was warm and swirled around the tip of my cock, dripping down the bottom and probably into her pussy. I pushed forward.

Jordan mewled, a little, strangled gasp of pain at the end of her cry. But she pushed back against me, encouraging me to go further.

As the tip of my cock disappeared inside of her tight hole, I remembered how thrilling this had been the first time. I pushed further, and felt her ass clench and then almost burst open for me, letting me sink inside of her. All the way in, my entire cock sheathed in her hot flesh.

She gasped when I crushed my balls against her pussy, my entire cock stretching her open.

I let her squirm there, her ass still, occasionally, clenching against my cock and making her gasp.

“Just relax,” I said. I massaged her lower back, and felt her calming down around my dick. Her ass relaxed a little.

I slowly pulled back, and Jordan howled again. I felt her clench around me. Her fingers dug into the flesh of her ass. I stopped.

“Keep going,” she said. “Keep going.”

I moved slowly, until just the tip of my cock was inside of her. Then back down.

We did this a few times, and slowly, Jordan's body relaxed. Her howls turned to the same sexual purrs that she ordinarily made when I fucked her pussy. She unclamped her fingernails from her flesh. There were purple welts where she had dug into her skin.

“How do you think Tyrese is going to fuck you?” I said. “Slow, like this? Or hard and fast?”

Jordan mewled again. "Oh. Oh fuck me, fuck me hard. He's going to make me take it hard."

I rammed myself inside of her. "First make yourself come," I said. "Get your hand up there and make yourself come."

I felt Jordan's fingers obeying my command, her forefinger working fast along the hard ridge of her clit.

Now her ass was squeezing my cock again. She was nearing her own release, and I would feel it harden the flesh surrounding my cock as she screamed into the pillow.

I tried to distract myself so I wouldn't come. It wasn't easy, as Jordan thrashed around beneath me, her pussy gushing onto my balls, her ass pulsing around my cock.

When I was sure she had come hard, and was exhausted, I began to pump into her. I grasped her hips and began to pummel her. She braced herself by pressing her hands flat against the bed on either side of her head.

It only took the single thought of Tyrese's cock, instead of mine, pistoning in and out of Jordan's tight ass, to send me past the point of no return. I slammed myself deep inside of her, and I felt my cum fill her ass.

"Fuck, that feels good," she said.

I thrust one final time deep inside of her, and she squeaked with pleasure.

I panted, kneeling over her with my cock still inside of her, for a full minute. Then I pulled back and let my cock slide out of her. I watched her ass throb closed, my cum draining from inside of her. I made a circle around her ass with my finger. I thought of seeing this same image, but knowing it was the cum of another man, of Tyrese. And I was almost certain that I felt arousal snake around anew inside of me.

Jordan flipped onto her side, and then her back, kicking her legs up playfully.

"That was hot," she said.

I grabbed a foot and pressed it to my chest so I could run my hand along the length of her calf. I kissed her toe, and she giggled and jerked it away. "Stop it, Jesus, I'm so ticklish there!"

She jumped up and practically skipped to the shower. "Let's get cleaned up. We still have more things to practice, though. So don't think you're getting off the hook."

I wouldn't dream of it.

THE PLAN

There was only one small hitch to this “perfect resolution,” and that was finding a way to manipulate things so that I could have a good, if not great view, of Jordan with Tyrese. If we were going to wrap up this chapter of our lives in this single act, then I wanted front-row seats.

This led to all kinds of preposterous ideas, like stuffing me into a linen closet in a hotel basement, and worse.

Jordan had suggested that perhaps we could just ask Tyrese if he would be into letting me watch him with her. It would be logistically much easier than the outrageous plans we were concocting.

Apparently, they had even talked about it on their date. Jordan had nearly given me a heart attack when she said this, because she had given me the impression that they had actually talked about her, me, and him. Specifically.

“No,” Jordan had laughed, when my face went pale. “No, he's just...it was just a general conversation, because he knows I'm married.”

She had looked at me, and I had apparently looked wildly unconvinced. The last thing I needed was to be running up for election to the State Supreme Court fifteen years from now and have a man pop up on the news saying Judge Goodall had asked him to bang his wife in front of him. Yeah, I could hear him saying in this infelicitous future, yeah he wanted a black man to do it, because he said, and I quote, “black men have huge [bleep].”

“It wasn't like that,” Jordan had explained. “I asked him if he dated a lot of married women, and he started laughing, and he was like, 'you would not believe some of the things people ask me to do,' and that's how the subject came up.”

I didn't know much, but at least I was decisive about this one possibility, which was that it wasn't a possibility. I definitely had to be anonymous, no matter how casually Tyrese was willing to have sex with other men's wives in front of them.

“It's okay. You could hide in the shadows, you know like in a documentary,” Jordan had teased.

I had smiled for her, but the idea of her joking about all of this and having such a frank conversation with Tyrese on her date disturbed a little. And not in the most pleasant way. I was definitely excited about seeing her with him, but a part of me was also almost as excited to have it all over with, and make sure the relationship ended there.

Before I really lost control.

But in just a few days, Jordan had again managed to save the day. “I have the perfect idea. Are you ready? It's so great.”

Jordan was shaking with excitement, her fists clenched up in little balls at either side of her head.

I had just come home. It was 9:30, and she had been waiting for me in the kitchen with barely-contained elation.

“Uh...”

This could be anything. Still, a flutter traveled through my abdomen, hoping it was something I wanted.

Hoping it was the thing I wanted.

“So you know how Doug and Marie are always going out of town and offering up their condo for the week?”

“Uh...” I racked my brains. “No.”

Jordan let her head fall back. “Oh god. Will you please get on Facebook like everyone else in the world?” She tilted her head back to look at me. “Anyway. They do, and they always want money for it which is just...so cheap, and plus what are you going to do with a condo downtown for a week, right?”

I squeezed my eyes.

“But what if we rented it for the week, or even just the weekend, and then we'd have the perfect place to...you know?”

Now I knew what she was saying. A pang of arousal slapped through me.

I squinted into thin air, trying to imagine how this was a better plan than, say...

“It's a better plan,” Jordan said, echoing my thoughts, “than, say, a hotel. Because there will be all kinds of places for you to hide. Don't you remember their place? It has these big, crazy curtains, and it has a weird closet thing, and all these...” she was looking at me and could see that I had no idea what she was talking about. “Anyway. It's just, like...a lot better than anything else we were thinking about.”

I remembered Tyrese's physique and military background with a shudder. I could already see myself getting mistaken for a burglar and bashed to death in a downtown condo with my pants around my ankles.

I squinted some more. It was a new habit of mine, as though there were something in the air that would give me more direction than my own, apparently useless, mind.

“So...? Should I tell them we want the apartment?”

I was off in outer space.

“Who?”

“Doug and Marie, Paddy, Jesus. ”

Doug and Marie...Doug and Marie. I had no idea who these people were.

But I knew I wanted to see Jordan with Tyrese. And I knew I wanted it sooner rather than later.

“Yeah...wait....when?”

Jordan smiled her coy little smile.

“Next week.”

READY

The arrangements were made by Jordan.

The unease that would not leave me alone began to creep back into my mind; the sense of losing control over my wife, and my marriage, and myself. It was easy enough to have come to the conclusion that all of these things had happened long before we started down this particular road in our marriage, but saying that to myself didn't help me feel better about it.

At the same time, the thought of Jordan with Tyrese had me salivating.

I liked the idea that we were staging a final act, but it almost seemed too good to be true. What would we do after this? How would we go on with our marriage?

And always, the little chorus of doubt piped up in the back of my mind: and what if Jordan changed her mind? What if she didn't want to stop, or stop seeing him? What if she told me she did and then didn't?

I wouldn't have been able to tell anyone what happened in court. I went through the motions of my job almost like a zombie. Leaving the courthouse on Tuesday I had the terrifying sensation of having driven for hours and not realized where I was. Except it was an assault trial, not a drive home.

I needed to get my life the hell back on track.

Jordan made the date for Saturday night, and obtained Olivia's (questionable) services staying with our kids. I remembered Olivia's "gentleman friend" and thought of asking her to keep him out of the house, but thought better of it.

"So that's it," I said, as Jordan stood in front of her ever-burgeoning closet on Friday night, deciding which dress to wear.

She selected a dress from the rack and held it up for me. I shook my head.

Did she hear me? Was she even listening to me anymore?

"So that's it," I repeated.

Jordan smiled without looking over at me. "I heard you."

She pulled a white dress from the closet and held it up.

“It's good,” I said.

She peeked over the top of it. “I don't just want 'good,’” she said. “It has to be hot. Since we're making it sort of a grand finale.”

“About that...”

Jordan folded the dress over her arm and sighed. “Paddy. No more indecision. Please.”

“It's not indecision. It's just....”

She leaned toward me. “In-de-ci-sion,” she mouthed.

She pressed her finger to my lips. “Before you say anything, let me tell you one last thing I have planned for tomorrow. Then you can waffle all you want.”

So I never did end up having that conversation.

Saturday afternoon, I found myself in Doug and Marie's spacious condo downtown. The place looked like it had come out of the pages of an interior design magazine. Clearly, Doug and Marie did not have children, and they did not sit on their own couch.

“This is super uncomfortable,” I commented, sitting on the square, art-deco sofa.

“Looks great, though,” Jordan breathed.

I frowned. This was at the back of everything: I always wondered what would have happened if Jordan and I had not had kids so early. What Jordan would have done with her life. If she thought about and longed for a life where she had a better career and an apartment like this downtown.

“Do you ever wish our lives had turned different?” I said.

Jordan sat down on the couch. She bounced a little. She lay back. The sofa was deep and she ended up crumpled uncomfortably and sliding down the back of it. Her eyes looked over at me, and she stuck out her lower lip.

“Nah,” she said. She sat up. “This couch is not comfortable.”

“Looks good, though,” I suggested.

Jordan snorted and rolled her eyes. “This is such a cliched metaphor.” We kissed.

“I love my comfortable couch,” she said. She bounced again. “This is terrible,” she affirmed, patting the couch.

Then she hopped up.

“Now,” she said. “Let's get cracking. I have to be at Antonio's by seven, and I want to look my best.”

My cock was already way ahead of her, remembering the reason it was that I had not felt the need to go on waffling the night before.

An hour or so later, Jordan was leaned over the counter in the spectacular bathroom of the condo. I took a moment to savor the view: her panties just below her ass, stretched by her slightly-spread legs. She was turned around and smiling at me, holding a small silver dildo in her hand. It shone with the lubrication she had applied.

I pushed her buttocks apart and looked at the eyelet of her ass, above her glistening pussy. It was tight and dull pink, as though nothing had ever been inside there. I wondered if it would ever be the same after Tyrese was inside her.

I trailed my finger along her outer labia to slide some of her excitement upward to her ass. She smiled and closed her eyes. I made a circle around her asshole, and her body tensed with pleasure. Her mouth popped open a little. She breathed raggedly as I treated her to one more swirl.

“Don't get any ideas,” she said. “I don't want to have to shower again.”

You mean you want to be fresh for your “date.”

I took the dildo from her hand, which she had placed back on the counter to steady herself. Her face was flushed. “I'm not the only one getting ideas,” I said, and she smiled. I brought the dildo to her ass and pressed on it gently. She opened her mouth and let out a long breath as I pushed it slowly inside of her.

I moved a hand around her waist, and then traveled up her chest to stroke her breasts. Beneath my fingers, her nipples turned to hard stones. I lifted her and pressed her up against my chest. “It's hardly fair,” I whispered, “to make me do this and then tell me I can't get any ideas.”

I pushed her hair up and kissed her neck. I let my other hand travel down her side. She jerked sideways as I passed over her ribs, giggling. It was the leave-me-alone-giggle, a staple of the earlier years of our marriage when the kids were young.

As I had then, I ignored it and marched forward with the brave conviction that it didn't mean that at all.

Jordan squirmed away from me. “I have to finish getting ready.” She swatted at my hand. “You'll get everything you want soon enough.”

She was smiling, but she was firm. She took her new lingerie from a chair in the spa-like bathroom.

I watched her slide her lace panties up the length of her leg, and adjust them across her hips. She tucked the black ribbon of the dildo into the material, but it was still visible along the crevice between her buttocks, where the lingerie was no more than a flimsy strip of lace.

“What about that?” I said.

She smiled. I'll find a way to get it out before he sees it,” she said. She looked over her shoulder at her magnificent ass, and then back up at me. She winked. “Or not.”

She pushed her breasts into a matching bra that was even more revealing than the panties: very fine lace formed the skeleton of the bra, but the material that spread over her breasts was nearly transparent.

It was strange to me that I wasn't more used to the pangs of icy or boiling blood that shot through me when Jordan said or did certain things, but I was not. My blood seemed like molten lava for a second, and I shuddered.

Jordan slipped the mostly sheer white dress over her body. This one was more casual than her first-date dress (and less expensive), but it was no less sexy. Slashes of white fabric covered her breasts and eight inches or so of her hips, but the rest of the dress was a gauzy transparent white. Another white layer hung over it, so she wasn't bare at her navel, or from her buttocks down...but her skin flashed through the fabric.

My cock throbbed.

She handed me a clattering necklace of wooden chunks and turned back to face herself in the mirror. “Put that on for me, would you?”

I stood directly behind her, my body against her soft curves. A grin crept into her expression when she felt my erection against her. Her skin was warm and the smell of her soap and her skin curled up in my nostrils. I inexpertly hung the wooden necklace around her neck, and looked up as I fastened it.

It was surprisingly sexy, the necklace. It was a collection of sharp edges that hovered just along the lines of her curves, almost pointing at them.

She let her hair drop. “Thank you,” she said.

I started to move my hands down the outside of her body but she twisted in my hands and put her finger on my lips. “Don't ruffle my dress,” she said. She smiled. “Go have a beer or something. I need to get ready.” She waved me away.

I backed up but sat on a couch (yes, it was that kind of bathroom) against the outer wall. She gave me a look through the mirror as she leaned in to apply a tiny bit of concealer on her face, but she didn't say anything more.

There was no way I was going to miss a moment of my wife getting ready to go see her lover.

The plan, as Jordan outlined it for me, was to meet Tyrese for a date, and then to come back to the condo, after texting me a warning to give me plenty of time to hide.

She was right that the condo was a perfect place for this “final act” with our extramarital adventures: along the entire wall of the living room, there was a deep closet that closed with beautiful panels of dark wood, with decorative slats in them. Not only that, the closets were neatly organized and there was plenty of room for a grown man to fit inside without crouching or stooping.

“But also,” Jordan had pointed out, taking me on a tour of the place when we first arrived, “you could hide behind these big curtains, or here in the bedroom, or even you could hide in the bathroom closet if you wanted.”

I had put my hands in my pockets. We were standing in the bathroom, surveying the tub that looked like a pool, and the shower that rained from the ceiling onto slabs of unpolished granite. I examined the closet, which was the size of my office. The door was made of the same slatted wood as the living room closet.

I whistled.

“Uh...I don't know...where were you...?”

Jordan put her hand on her hip. “That's your choice,” she said. “What do you think?”

So, like any man who was going to watch his wife having sex with another man, I elected for the most comfortable place.

We discussed the plan. We had a cocktail. Jordan got ready. I watched her leave.

And then I stood in the kitchen, alone with my thoughts. My wife, barely wrapped in her gauzy white “dress,” was going to sit at a restaurant with a gorgeous and charming black man. All evening she would be smiling at him and squirming a little because she had a small dildo in her ass, getting ready for a porno-grade performance with him later on.

My mind, for the first time in a long time, went completely blank except for the anticipation of seeing them together.

I tested the hallways and practiced my plan. I got myself worked up, imagining everything I was about to taste and see, long before I received Jordan's text. It was early, only 8:00.

Be there in twenty or so.

A shiver went through me. I was so close.

I stood there for a moment, trying to force myself to ask myself if this was really the best idea.

Then I climbed into the closet.

Then I climbed out, having decided that, in spite of my erection, I would be an idiot not to take a leak before this whole thing got going.

A GRAND FINALE

They came through the door laughing.

"I'll get the wine," Jordan said.

The bulky body of Tyrese came into view in the living room. I had left only one light on. The track lighting in the living room awakened and bathed the room in a pleasant glow. Bright enough to see everything.

"This is a nice place," Tyrese said, his hands in his pockets. He was running his eyes over everything, nodding in approval. "You keep this place just for...staying in the city?"

Jordan was pouring wine. I could only see the bottle and the glasses from where I was, but I knew she was giving him a carefully orchestrated smile to answer "yes."

Tyrese let out a low whistle. "Damn. I'm in the wrong business, I guess."

"No," she said. "An inheritance got us this place. We can barely afford the condo fees."

This sent a little prick of annoyance through me – I had really enjoyed at least being more financially successful than Tyrese in this scenario, but then I realized Jordan was right to cover our lie casually and right away. Otherwise she might have to explain what I really did for a living. Her lie was a sign of our complicity, hers and mine.

Just...I would have liked to be rich.

But also, she was trying to seduce him.

Also...whatever. It was kind of hot.

"So you didn't finish this story you were telling me," Tyrese said. He was examining the pictures on the walls. "About the doctors."

I heard Jordan laugh.

My heart felt like it was getting stomped on. I didn't like, at all, that these two were talking like some long-time couple. I was fine with this guy making Jordan scream while he fucked her in the ass, but I didn't want anyone making my wife laugh like that but me.

She was in the kitchen. "I dunno," she said. "Now the momentum is kind of lost."

He turned around. "Try me. I was into it."

But I could tell from the look on his face, directed at the kitchen where my wife was, he was into a lot more than her story.

I heard a wine bottle pop. "All right. Where was I?"

"You went out to dinner with all these doctors and one of them was talking to you..."

Jordan picked right up. "So I was soooo bored at this point, and this guy was just droning on and on, and on and on, like...such a prick, right? He's like, oh, you're from Boston. Oh, I know a lot of guys there, and then he says, like...I don't know, Victor Martinez or some stupid thing – not him, but some other guy from the Red Sox, right?"

I looked at Tyrese. He was entertained by Jordan's story. Another wave of pain went through me.

I struggled to figure out where this story was going.

Jordan was not from Boston. And as far as I knew she knew nothing about baseball, and she had never gone anywhere with any doctors.

"And I'm like, what the fuck is this guy talking about, and he's such a meathead for a doctor, and how can I get the hell out of here, you know? So I'm a huge bitch for half an hour, and then I say I have to go, and then I leave, and my friend...god, I don't even remember this girl's name, she comes running after me and she's like what are you doing?"

There was a pause, while she sipped the wine she had evidently poured.

"She's like," Jordan was giggling now, "Jor, we are hanging out with the fucking Dodgers, and you're being this huge twat!"

Tyrese's face broke into a big grin, and Jordan had broken apart into giggles.

He was shaking his head appreciatively. "Not 'doctors.'"

This was a good story. I had never heard it, and it almost had to be an invention of hers. She was telling it with a comedic timing that made me have to stifle a snicker. If I hadn't had the counterbalance of my wife flirting with another man right in front of me, and the deep worry that she was sharing with him some part of her life she had never shared with me, I might have laughed out loud.

But I was also bothered by something. She had used her own name. All along. She must have used it since she met him.

Or had it been a mistake?

Why was I more bothered by my wife using her own name than her letting Tyrese touch her in a taxicab?

"It's still good," Tyrese said. "What'd you do?"

Jordan came out of the kitchen. She had kicked off her shoes. She had two glasses of red wine in her hands.

My breath, quite suddenly, caught in my throat. This was really happening. Right now.

I wondered if Jordan still had her dildo in her ass, or if she had taken it out. She had been deliciously unclear about her plans.

Tyrese sat down on the sofa. He so large he would have looked comical sitting there, like a giant in a dollhouse, except that he rested his arms on his knees and looked cool instead.

Jordan stood in front of him. "Well, it was just...too late to do anything, you know. So I was like, 'whatever, those guys are lame!' and I just took off. Apparently it was a pretty great night, they had a kick-ass party..."

Tyrese shook his head.

He pressed his lips together and watched Jordan as she set the wine down on the coffee table.

"That's a bold dress to have on while drinking red wine," Tyrese said.

The comment was an observation, but his voice transformed it into a command. I almost felt it myself, his mesmerizing, alpha power. His eyes were locked on Jordan's, and his mouth was neither smiling nor not. He was a man who was simply going to get what he wanted.

And what he wanted was for my wife to take off her dress.

Jordan paused. Then she twisted her hand behind her, and found the zipper of the dress.

I watched her hand move slowly down, a gash developing in the fabric of the dress, the gauze peeling away to reveal her lightly tanned skin, and the slash of white lace that was her thong.

The dress slipped from her shoulders and started to slide down her body. Tyrese let his eyes fall with it, taking my wife's glorious body in inch by inch.

Finally, the dress was crumpled at the floor, and Jordan was all but naked. For a moment Tyrese only stared, and Jordan stood in front of him, letting him drink in the sight of her.

Then she let her hand drop to the coffee table, and she picked up her red wine. She brought it to her lips, and took a sip.

I saw a pleased grin spread slowly across Tyrese's cool face, and he brought his own wine glass to his lips. Jordan's effect on him was evident, and even though he was a smooth player, he seemed to have a healthy respect for Jordan's own confidence. He almost seemed to be tipping his hat to her.

Or maybe he was just used to neglected, white suburbanite housewives throwing themselves at him.

"Come over here," he said. He reached his very long arm behind him and set the wine glass on the floor.

I felt another ribbon of cold streaking through my torso. It was just seconds until I would get to see what I had only so far imagined, over and over again: Tyrese's big black hands on my wife's skin.

And then more.

Jordan climbed onto his lap. From where I was, I could now see one bare breast, her nipple square and hard, reaching toward his skin.

He placed his hands on her back, and shivers of horror and delight went through me at the same time. There it was: his dark hands wrapped around her back, her soft skin beneath his palms. He moved one hand along her back, stroking her lightly up to her shoulder, and back down again. Then both of his hands slid down, down...down to just above the flimsy strip of lace underwear that wrapped around her hips. He rubbed a long finger along the hem of her panties, slowly, teasing her.

But while he was doing this, his mouth was moving ever-closer to her chest. He was so tall that she was angled upward by his knees, and so when he pushed her forward with the pressure of his hands, which were now entangled in her lace underwear, her hard nipple was right at his mouth.

He didn't suck it into his mouth immediately, though. He extended his tongue to swirl it over her creamy skin. Jordan's body went stiff in obvious pleasure, and I thought I heard her suck in her breath from across the room.

His tongue went in circle after circle all over Jordan's breast, moving in closer to her nipple. He made a final circle around her silken areola before he licked the pebble in its center. And then, squeezing her ass with both of her hands to hold her to him, he sucked the whole of her nipple and areola into his mouth. Jordan's hands went to his shoulders, and her body began to twist. But he did not release her for a long time. She moaned a little.

I wondered what he was doing inside of his mouth that was making her writhe like this: swirling his tongue around her? Nibbling at her with his teeth? Flicking at her hard nipple with his tongue?

Behind her, he pulled at the material of her thong, and her body stiffened even more as the material stretched away from her back and, almost surely, rubbed hard against her pussy on the other side. Her breast was still imprisoned in his mouth, and her own mouth hung open. She tipped her head back, and her long hair hung down her back, swaying with the movement of her body as she wriggled in his grip.

He let go of her left nipple with a loud smack, and his head disappeared behind her torso to attend to her right. He released his fierce grip on her thong, and slid his finger down the center of her ass. His other hand swung over the mound of her left buttock, and lifted her to move inward, inward to the sweet flesh between her legs.

I knew he had already been to this place with my wife, but seeing for myself, it came at me like a belly-flop: the whole front of my body felt as though it had been slammed against a wall. The pain tingled in my skin and ached all the way through to my spine.

But it was like a belly-flop while while losing my virginity: my cock was hard as a rock. I could feel myself dripping precum into my pants. Even the pain of seeing what I was seeing could not overpower my arousal. My sharp, consuming arousal.

I knew his fingers were now where he could feel her smooth pussy, and that they were wet with her excitement. That he was feeling the same sweet sensation that I had felt earlier in the day: Jordan's smooth skin, coated in her hot juices.

I felt my face getting hot. I could barely breath.

They seemed to fall over, like a felled tree now. But it was just Tyrese, getting Jordan onto the couch, so he could get on top of her and into her. Before they fell into the cushions, he tossed her, and her body went skidding along the couch a few feet. He did as though it were nothing, from his awkward angle. Within seconds he was on top of her.

He pressed his body – still clothed, disappointingly – against her, and kissed her on the mouth. I watched Jordan's body rise to meet him. The kiss seemed natural, and passionate, and another knife of jealousy went through me. They looked good together. They looked like a couple.

I almost had to press against my chest, as if the contents of my heart were going to burst out of it. It was so painful, but it was also so hot.

Tyrese rose to his knees, and Jordan lay on her back, with her legs threaded through his. She watched as he reached behind his back and grabbed his shirt, pulling it over his head.

The expensive cotton rippled over his torso, and his black body was unveiled. I stared at his ripped abs, his big arms, his hairless chest, and chiseled wave after wave of hard ebony muscles.

Jordan had a hand to her mouth. I knew she was smiling at him. Her auburn hair was draped over the edge of the couch. She was twisting between his legs, unable to contain her excitement.

And then he moved his hand to his zipper. It seemed to happen in slow motion, one tooth a minute.

And then he stood up, and pushed his underwear and pants down, and quickly got back to where he had been, in one smooth movement.

He was now naked, but my eyes could only look at one thing:

His cock.

It was pointed straight out, hard as steel. From time to time, as he looked down at my wife, it pulsed with his own excitement. It seemed absurdly long from where I was, but perhaps this was only the angle I was at.

I told myself this.

It was dark, almost purple, as I had expected. Circumcised, smooth as glass. Only one ripple in its surface, from a vein. It was, I had to admit, an extremely good-looking cock.

The thickness could not be a trick of the eye, either.

I remembered Jordan's plans, and I felt both a trickle of fear running down my spine and a sleazy, very lewd ripple of extreme pleasure. This man's cock was going to spread her open wider than she had ever been spread before. I could almost see it now: his cock embedded in her flesh. I could almost hear her flesh stretching, her little squeals of pain and pleasure as he drove further and further.

Tyrese knelt over Jordan for a moment, his big cock bobbing in the air. His breathing had grown deep and hungry. His eyes were devouring her.

He reached down, and scooped her legs up. He pushed them up, together, so that her ankles were just inches in front of her face. Jordan let him contort her like a rubber doll. With his other hand, he reached for her panties and slid them up her legs. Then he twisted them, so that they clutched her ankles like handcuffs.

Jordan's legs spread open as her knees bent. I watched her slide her hands down to her ass, and place them on her buttocks. In this position she was little more than a fuck-toy; a willing one, one pulling herself open to be used.

By another man.

I let the cool pain of the thought drip over me.

Tyrese restrained her with one hand, and used the other to grasp his cock and guide it to her opening. I watched, cold pain and scorching lust churning in the cavity of my heart, as he teased her a little. He moved the tip of his cock over her clit, and she squirmed and gasped at his caress.

The memory of Jordan, holding my cock and playing with her own clit with my throbbing glans, crashed to the forefront of my mind.

Rolling behind it came shadows of doubts, waves of paranoia that I thought I had rid myself of.

The two gestures were so similar. I couldn't help but feel some darkening in the back of my mind. Which one came first?

But there was no time to think about it, because now the thing I had been so anxiously awaiting and coveting in my mind was happening: Tyrese was going to fuck my wife. His dark cock was going to spread her open, and the warble of pleasure that she made when I fucked her was going to vibrate in her throat – but not for me.

I didn't have the best view, not the one I would have liked to have, but still I could see it as it happened. My heart felt like a heavy stone, still and cold, as Tyrese's meaty dick sank slowly into my wife's pussy.

From across the room, I could hear their breath, and the stickiness of their connection: a crackling, sucking sound, as he withdrew, and then plunged in again.

But Jordan's voice, a shrill meow, covered the sound of their mating. There was nothing left to do but watch him slamming his cock inside of her. Watch her feet jerk and bounce like the feet of a doll. Listen to her squealing rising in pitch and frequency, hear her nearing another tremendous crest. Soon she was going to come all over his cock, and this man would have Jordan's nectar sticking to the length of his shaft.

Jordan's twisted legs jerked as her orgasm made her jolt. She screamed, eliciting a bit lower lip and more insistent thrusting from Tyrese.

But he wasn't done with her yet. I could see that he had no intention of coming so early in the game. He slowed his assault on her, and slowly withdrew his cock.

With a sophisticated ease, he twisted Jordan's feet down, taking her body with her, so that she was bent over the couch with her legs on the floor. Now I had a nice view of her ass, and her glistening pussy, unraveling in bright red and pink.

He wasted no time getting inside of her again. I watched his cock disappear inside of her, only now she was positioned so that I could see how big he was, how much he stretched her pussy open. The edges of her red hole were white like fiercely gripped knuckles, stretched almost to their maximum. She was so wet, though, that he glided easily in and out her with a sloppy, sticky sound.

He pressed his hand onto the small of her back, and Jordan's body bent into a pleasing, submissive position. Her torso sank into the leather cushions of the couch and her ass turned upwards for him.

I watched him pummel her. My view of his cock was unimpeded now, and I got to savor every delicious thrust, clearly visible. Jordan began to moan again.

I looked at her ass, where she had kept her dildo all night. All evening while she sat in the restaurant, talking to him, sipping wine, she had squirmed with the small dildo inside of her. Knowing that she was warming herself up for him. Knowing she would be feeling this giant cock opening her up in just a few hours.

I shuddered at the thought of it. Her asshole looked as tiny as ever.

I wondered if she would be able to take it.

His hand slid along the rounded swell of her ass. He withdrew completely to allow his thumb to sweep some of her cum up toward her asshole.

He didn't linger long, as I had: he swept his finger quickly over her asshole, and then he plunged his thumb inside of her.

Jordan turned her face into the leather pillows and yelled. But Tyrese did not hesitate; instead, he began to finger-fuck her, roughly, plunging his thumb all the way to his second knuckle.

He whispered something to Jordan, and I couldn't make out the words. She didn't respond, so it didn't seem to be a question. I licked my lips in anticipation. I was excited to see if she could go through with it. Excited to see her take this man's huge cock in the ass, just for me. The prospect of seeing this, finally, right in front of me, actually made me feel dizzy.

But very suddenly, Tyrese moved like a leopard and dragged Jordan around, repositioning her as though she were no more than a rag doll. Before I could even register the disappointment, he had her by the back of the head and was filling her mouth with his cock.

Jordan was on her knees, and I could see that she was still dripping wet with excitement, ready to come again. Tyrese's fingers were curled up in her hair and moving her head back and forth, her entire mouth stretched open and completely stuffed full of his cock. I saw her throat spasm with a gag as he pushed even deeper. She managed to push back against his hand and get her mouth open to gasp for air. She looked up at him as she did this. Her face was a mess now: her mascara was streaked and her lipstick had worn off. Strands of her hair were ticking to her spit-covered face. She sucked at the air, but he didn't give her long. He pushed her down on his cock, and she made a muffled cry as he pushed her all the way, all the way to the very base of his long prick. "That's it, that's a good girl, you can do it," his low baritone growled.

Jordan opened her eyes, and looked past his tree-trunk of a leg, to where she knew I was hiding. It was inexact: she was staring at the closet next to me, but I knew she meant to meet my eyes.

I felt a ripple of awful pleasure go through me.

Tyrese moved her head along the length of his shaft, and I watched Jordan's eyes water and her nostrils flare as she struggled to breath and suck at the same time. Ty's cock was so big that it stretched her mouth to what seemed its limits: any further and her lips would split open. For some reason this uncoiled immense, filthy pleasure inside of me.

He was close to coming. It was evident in the ripples beneath his skin, the flexing of his muscles. He clenched his ass.

My wife's mouth was about to be filled with another man's cum.

He surprised me, and perhaps Jordan too, by sliding his cock from her mouth at the last minute.

And then he pulled her head back and grasped his shaft in one hand.

I watched as his seed burst from the tip of his cock, layering streak after streak of white cum across Jordan's face and cheeks, over her chest.

He stood over her, panting with the exertion of his own orgasm. Then he said something in his low voice. The words were not intelligible from where I was, just the rumble.

I looked at my wife. She was panting, leaning back on her heels now. She looked up at Tyrese with excitement in her eyes, and her expression told me all that I needed to know: there was more to come. Her hand moved down her torso, between her legs, and I understood what Tyrese was commanding her to do in his low voice. Her fingers slid between the soaked folds of her pussy, and she began to stroke herself. From where I was the details of her fingers could not be seen, but it didn't matter. The way she was touching herself, almost subserviently, while looking up at Tyrese, was more than enough to make my cock feel as though it might rip open.

Her breath began to quicken; I could see her chest rising and falling now in short, unsteady pants. She was getting closer to coming.

Tyrese had not moved: he stood over her, his still-hard cock lightly bobbing in the air. He reached out and pressed his fingers against my wife's face, stroking the cum that had fallen all over her like a shower.

Rubbing it in.

Rubbing his cum into her skin while she obediently masturbated for him on her knees, her eyes locked onto his. A faint smile on her lips.

No matter how secure she had made me feel, there was no way not to feel the scorching pain of this scene, right in the gut. At the same time, I was practically doubled over from the ache in my cock and my balls, which felt like they were being torn apart from the inside by an animal.

When Jordan came, she did it quietly, without making a big scene. It was almost more inviting that way, at least for me: I watched her body tense and her cheeks puff out with a breath of rapidly expelled air. She seemed almost ready to faint, and her cheeks flushed. She bit her lip.

"That's good," I heard Tyrese distinctly say. He used his free hand to caress his cock in long strokes, a silent message to Jordan that he wasn't finished with her yet.

"Go on, get in the bedroom," he told her. He reached down to the side table where Jordan had set her wine, and picked it up with his massive hand like a crane claw. He shuttled it to her. "Have some of this..." and whatever he said after that faded into oblivion.

Jordan sipped her wine, then set it on the table. She rose, and walked calmly from my field of vision, toward the bedroom.

Tyrese moved to the side table on the opposite side of the couch, where his own glass of wine was sitting (and miraculously, had not been knocked over). He brought it to his lips.

I could now contemplate the man who was fucking the shit out of my wife this evening, in his full glory. He was calm as he sipped his wine, but his arousal was evident: his cock had barely softened, and it protruded in front of him like blunt instrument. I stared, unable to stop myself. Not only because the size of it was stare-ably impressive, but also because I knew that his cock was covered in my wife's sweet juices.

Sticky with them.

The image of his cum, splashing all over Jordan's face, flitted through my mind and I had to press against the inside wall of the closet to restrain myself.

My stomach was twisting from more than one thing: looking at Tyrese's body, I was getting nervous about the next hours of this "final act." If I were to get caught, it seemed a sure bet that I would get torn to pieces by this guy before I had time to explain anything to him.

It wasn't going to stop me, of course, from creeping out of the closet and down the hallway as soon as he went into the bedroom.

To fuck my wife.

I could only hear what transpired in the first minutes of the next scene. Tyrese's low voice, telling my wife what to do. She didn't answer; I can only assume she obeyed his every command. I wanted desperately to hear if he was talking dirty to her. Something inside of me wanted him to debase her with his words. I heard their breath, heavy and almost synchronized. Panting like animals. The wet slaps of skin against skin, lips against lips.

I was shaking and didn't fully trust my ability to remove myself from the closet and creep down the hall to stand outside the door and look in at the scene that awaited me.

Oh, nothing would stop me from doing it, not even the possibility that Tyrese would see me, decide I was a burglar, and kill me on the spot with his huge fists. Nothing could stop me from looking at his cock, surrounded by the flesh of my wife's most intimate hole.

I had tried out the closet doors and the hallway floors. In Dave and Marie's ultra-expensive condo, nothing made noise unless you wanted it to. Jordan had assured me that she would do everything she could to attract Ty's attention away from the door of the bedroom, which was really more of a hallway with two sharp turns in it and no door.

The journey from the closet, down the hall, seemed to take an eternity. The adrenaline in my veins made me half-sick. The darkness of the hallway turned my vision into a green-pink soup, and my ears were tinny with the sound of my own blood pressure.

Even though I knew the hallway floor would not squeak or creak, I couldn't compel myself to move quickly. Even though the low, rumbling breath of the man who was fucking my wife, and my wife's whispered pants were growing louder and quicker, I couldn't move any faster. The fear that Ty would prick his wolfish ears up at the sound of my heart, which seemed to fill the air around me, held me back.

That and the fact that, between fearing Ty discovering me and what I would see when I got far enough to stand in the doorway, I felt like I was going to vomit.

With each turn in the small labyrinth leading into the bedroom, the sounds from the bed became sharper. The stickiness of skin slapping together, the sounds of wet pistoning. I felt bile churning into my stomach. As I inched to a view of the room, the heat their bodies had generated struck me in the face, along with the smell of sex.

Jordan was on the bed, spread-eagle, holding her legs wide open for him by the feet. She was looking down at where his cock was pumping in and out of her already very used pussy, and giving him the very satisfying performance of a porn star. She bit her lip, and sucked in her breath.

Or maybe, I reminded myself, it wasn't a performance at all. I watched Ty's dark, sculpted buttocks as they rose and fell in rapid fire over the spread white thighs of my wife. When he rose, I could see his cock inside of her, and when he drove into her his huge balls slapped her ass, sticky from her numerous orgasms.

"Come for me again," Ty growled. He started to slam into Jordan furiously, and she dropped her head back and mewled at the ceiling. Her tits bounced violently with the thrusts. Ty reached behind her neck and pulled her head to touch his forehead. Jordan obeyed his silent command and opened her eyes: He wanted her to watch his cock moving in and out of her.

Her whole body shook as she came, and she dropped her legs in her excitement. Ty did not release her head, so she had to watch as he continued to fuck her long after the wave of her orgasm had crashed, and long after she began to howl with the ecstasy of being fucked long past when she came. Until she was excited again, almost against her will.

But Ty rose up on his knees, withdrawing from inside of her abruptly.

Her legs slapped against each other when he tossed them to one side to flip her over.

I licked my lips.

I was standing against the wall that blocked the turning hallway, and leaning against its cool surface both for support and in a vain attempt to cool myself down. By now every pulse of my cock was excruciating. I was so hyped up I thought it might actually be possible to ejaculate without anyone even touching me.

And this was it. This was the great performance that Jordan had wanted to give me.

Jordan tossed her head over her shoulder and looked up at Ty. But as she did, her eyes went past where I was in the doorway, and lingered for a sweet, if brief, moment. Her smile of complicity crackled through the air, reminding me this was all for me.

She reached behind her and found Ty's cock with her hand. She guided it to her pussy and then up, to her ass, where she stroked her pink ring with the tip of him.

"I see," Ty murmured. He didn't elaborate on what he "saw," but evidently he needed no more clarification from Jordan: she was one of those women who wanted a huge cock in her ass, and he wasn't going to ask any questions.

He moved his hand to her pussy, and plunged three of his enormous fingers inside of her. He drew her sticky wetness up to her ass, and rubbed it over her anus and the inside of her buttocks, roughly, getting it everywhere. He repeated the motion again, slapping her cum all over her ass, hastily, messily.

Jordan lay down on the bed and raised her ass up. She turned a little bit so that her face was angled more toward the doorway, and she looked directly toward me.

Ty turned his hand so that the fingers were pointing down, and his palm was resting at the small of Jordan's back. He then dipped two fingers inside of her ass, with almost no warning, and Jordan's mouth opened wide as though to gasp, but no sound came from her lips.

Tyrese made a noise that sounded almost like a grunt of approval. He buried his fingers inside of her, and Jordan squirmed and finally emitted a squeal. He used his free hand to steady her hips, and keep them in place. Then he began to finger-fuck her with his two giant fingers.

Jordan moaned and tried to writhe in his hands, but he held her steady and continued to have his way with her, stretching her out for the big event. Her feet twisted between his legs, but that was all the struggle she could manage. "That's nice and soft," I heard him say.

He eased his fingers from inside of her, and moved his hand around to hold her ass, but Jordan placed her own hands on either side of her buttocks and held herself open for him. He nodded, and made a comment under his breath that I could not hear.

He guided his cock to her ass, which had opened up for him easily. It was clear why Jordan had stretched herself out with her dildo, as he moved his fat prick closer to her opening.

As he pushed inside of her, slowly, a wail rose from Jordan's throat that became higher and higher pitched as he went deeper inside of her. She dropped her hands and bunched up the sheets on the bed in her fist as inch after inch of his cock disappeared in her cunt. Now that his cock was pressing out at the ring of her anus, it seemed even bigger. It was almost impossible to believe that she was taking all of him inside of her. The sphincter of her ass was stretched to a nearly invisible line as it stretched open to accommodate him.

"Get those hands back up here," Ty growled.

"Oh!" Jordan howled. "Oh! It hurts! It's so big!"

"You can do it," he said, calmly. At the same moment he began to rock back and forth inside of her. Her ass was so tight around his cock that I could almost feel the rough tension against him and on the inside of her body as his thick member slid out and then back in. Jordan howled again, but she obediently put her hands back up on her ass. Then she opened her eyes, and looked in my direction again. Her face had a slight sheen of sweat forming on it, and she was evidently in some pain, taking his huge cock.

I knew I shouldn't have such a deep fascination with what I was seeing, but I did. It was the most lewd thing I had ever seen, in one way, but it was also so intensely erotic that I opened my mouth and breathed onto the wall like an animal.

Jordan spread her ass apart, and I knew that she was doing this for me, so that I could better see the punishing thrusts of Ty's cock as he began to pound himself into her. In spite of all the lube he had dragged from her dripping cunt, the friction of his movement was evident for the first few thrusts. I could actually see how her ass began to loosen up, and accept his cock with more ease. He sank more readily as he pushed forward, and slid more quickly out.

After a minute of Jordan's tortured mewling, his cock was sliding inside of her as though completely lubricated, and Jordan began to moan instead of howl.

And then he began to really fuck her, in earnest.

While I thought he had been pummeling my wife, it was evident that he had been holding back: he grasped her hips, pressing her own hands into her flesh and holding her captive with his grip, and he began to pump inside of her with tremendous force. It was unlike anything I had ever seen.

A long howl came from deep inside Jordan's throat, but as he punched himself inside of her, it seemed to die down as though he actually fucked it out of her. She fell silent, and there was nothing left for her to do but take it as hard as he wanted to give it to her, in the ass.

He slowed after a few minutes of this abuse. He was panting, and Jordan began to howl again.

"Not done yet," he said. "You ready for some more?"

"I can't," Jordan panted. "It's too much."

"You're going to," Ty told her. "I know you can. You're going to take it until I fill your ass up."

Jordan mewled.

For a moment I wondered if she had really taken too much, and things had gone too far. A new pain twisted inside of me, and a new fear: and what if it was too far? We had no plan for that. What would I do?

"Oh, oh, oh!" Jordan cried again. "I can't take it. You're too big!"

At this moment, she opened her eyes and looked at me again. It wasn't a look begging for help, I could see. My cock reacted by squeezing more and more precum from the tip, and throbbing to all new levels of aching pain.

Tyrese began to fuck her wildly again. He switched his grip on her, and now held her hands together with one of his giant paws, and her left buttock with the other. He held her in place while he pummeled her, but her body was scooting up the bed, and her head clanged into the headboard.

"It hurts!" Jordan wailed, but her voice had the tone of willing victim. "Oh god! Oh fuck!"

Ty ignored her, and continued to fuck her hard.

He opened his fingers and let one of her hands drop to her side. It fell like a corpse's hand, and then Jordan moved it to try and push herself up, but Ty tisked at her. "Stay like that," he said. "I want you to make yourself come."

He slowed his fucking again.

"Do that and it won't be much longer, baby."

Jordan lifted her torso to slide her hand beneath her body, and I saw slivers of her fingers in her pussy when Ty pulled back and his big balls swung away from her body. But I had to rely on him to know how close Jordan was coming. "Mmmm," he murmured, over and over, each time more pleased than the last.

"That's it," he whispered, when Jordan turned her face to the pillow and screamed into it. I knew her body was spasming with pleasure and how her hot flesh was pulsing around his cock. I knew what it felt like but I was not the one who was feeling it now. She must have been so tight around his girth that her orgasm was even more intense on his flesh.

She dropped her hand. He reached down and grabbed her hair. He wound it around his hand like the reins of a horse.

I sucked in my breath.

Jordan was utterly exhausted, so when he pulled her up by the hair she went with him as though she were not conscious. She let her other hand drop to the bed to prop herself up, but besides that, she was like a limp doll in his hands.

He began to slam into her, counterbalancing the force of his thrusts with his grip on her hair. Jordan took it silently until she couldn't bear it any more, and then she began to howl. Her voice rattled with each of his thrusts, and the sound she was making was incomprehensible.

And then, with a loud grunt, Ty thrust deep inside of her and pulled on her hair and ground his seed into her ass. He held her immobile while he yelled through his long orgasm, and Jordan whimpered as he thrust the last of his seed up inside of her.

Then he let her drop to the bed. But he didn't pull out of her. Instead, he remained there, panting, with his cock still inside of her.

I looked at his cock. All but two inches of it was still embedded in her ass and stretching her open. It seemed to still be hard.

My own cock was ready to explode.

I knew I should probably move away, but I wanted one final treat for myself. I really wanted to see Jordan's ass when he pulled himself out of her. My instinct for sexual desire was stronger than that of self-preservation. I remained where I was, my eyes riveted to his cock and her stretched hole.

Jordan was panting on the bed, and when he still didn't pull out from inside of her, she squirmed a little.

He leaned down and slid his hand along her ribs and then under her body, lifting her with one chiseled arm like she weighed no more than a glass of water. He pulled her back against his chest, and leaned back on his heels. He had her breast in his hand and he kneaded it.

Jordan gasped as the weight of her own body shifted onto his cock.

"You don't wanna go one more time?" he said.

I froze.

No way he would do that.

She couldn't take it. I couldn't take it.

And yet...

Jordan ground herself on top of him and moaned.

She wasn't going to do this?

She leaned her head back against his shoulder. "I can't," she whispered. "I can't take any more."

I watched his hand as it moved up and down her body, playing with her breasts and then brushing over her navel. He wouldn't actually be able to do this himself, would he?

He pushed her forward again, and actually began to move back and forth in her ass. Jordan moaned, and shook her head. "No way," she laughed. "I need a break."

He slapped her left buttock, and a shiver of fear went through me before I realized it was a playful slap. His cock slid from inside of Jordan's ass: he had only been joking.

And there it was. The sight I had wanted so badly to see. I wanted it so badly I unwisely stood there, staring at it: the red-rimmed, gaping hole of Jordan's ass. Fully stretched to a black hole, one a dollar coin could easily fit inside of. And dribbling from her quivering insides: Ty's creamy seed. Dripping down to her pussy, and onto her thighs.

Ty moved, and I caught the movement in my eye like an animal of prey: I jerked back behind the wall and stepped backward very quickly. Fear was flooding my body. What if he saw me?

The image of Jordan's ass, though, filled or gaped, rocking on top of him or getting pummeled by his cock, would not leave me. Not for a long time. Nor the sound of her voice, wailing into the pillow.

When I got to the hallway I was suddenly filled with panic: where should I hide? I wanted to see anything more that happened between them but I did not, under any circumstances, want to get caught by Ty.

I heard movement in the bedroom, and it seemed to be coming closer. I turned and strode as quickly and silently as I could into the living room.

I was aghast that I had left the closet door open. I flailed over to it, and then I heard footsteps in the hall. I flung myself into the closet and shut the door behind me.

I had made entirely too much noise.

I closed my eyes as tightly as I could, until I was seeing green.

I held my breath.

I waited for the door to open, and for the blow of Ty's fist to land on my head.

I wondered if I should jump out and get it over with?

But after a few minutes, which seemed like years, I realized that nothing was happening. I opened my eyes. As if to answer my confusion when I saw the kitchen and living room empty, the sound of the shower started down the hallway.

My fear subsided, which left room for my memories of the evening to come flooding into my mind. As if they were physical entities, they caressed and sucked at my already-hard cock until I couldn't take it anymore.

I unfastened my belt and my pants, and grasped my cock in my hand. I let still image after still image of my wife with Ty flip through my mind:

her mouth wrapped around his cock, his seed on her cheeks and forehead, her stretched ass. I thought I could even smell her from here.

It took almost nothing to send myself over the edge, and I fell to my knees when I did. I gaped with an open mouth into the darkness of the closet as my seed spilled all over the floor. The orgasm came through me so hard I felt as though I had been hit by a truck.

I calmed my breathing and listened, praying no one had heard me.

No one, Tyrese.

But nothing happened. A clock ticked. The shower water kept running.

I put my hands on my knees.

“Enough,” I told myself in the dark.

That was enough.

I leaned back against some sleeping bags that were piled in the closet. I don't know what I had been expecting to happen at the end of this tryst, but I hadn't been smart enough to know I would end up trapped in the closet. I should have stashed a blanket and pillow for myself.

It didn't matter.

I was totally drained.

I think I must have fallen asleep in less than a minute, before the shower even stopped running.

I either dreamed or it really happened: I awoke in the middle of the night and heard the gasping and panting of my wife and Ty going at it again. I had several dreams which really were dreams, in which I left the closet and went to watch them. In one dream, Ty caught me and started to chase me. In another, I just watched as he fucked her again, twice as hard as before, until his cum began to drip from her mouth, like a fondue fountain.

But there was one time where I just lay in the closet, clutching my hands to my chest, my cock getting harder and harder, as I listened to more of Jordan's howling, and the slapping of his ebony skin against hers.

I watched them through the slats as they moved around in the living room and kitchen the next morning.

“I hate to make you leave so early,” Jordan said. “But...you know.”

Ty shrugged, and stood behind her, scooping her up into his arms. He kissed her neck, and then stole a bagel she had made from the plate.

He waved it at the air. “What is this made of, birdseed?” he said.
“Nah. No, I'm taking you out for real food.”

I had to pee so badly I could feel my kidneys. My cock was hard from my dreams or my reality or both, and I felt another pain – my heart – as I watched my wife flirt with the idea of going out to breakfast with Ty.

She smiled. “No can do,” she said. “Gotta be at a meeting by eight.”

“On a Saturday? What is it you do again?”

She placed her arms over his shoulders and gave him a kiss. He began to slide his hands down and into the bathrobe she was wearing, feeling for her body, hoping to get more of it. “I could tell you,” she said. “But then I'd have to kill you.”

This made him smile, and dive further into her bathrobe.

She slapped his hand away playfully. “C'mon,” she said. “I have to go. So you do, too. No bagel?”

He shook his head.

She shrugged. “Suit yourself.” She kissed him on the cheek. “You know how to get out.”

It was cold, but she said it sweetly.

He folded his arms and looked at the plate on the counter. He shrugged and picked up the bagel.

Taking a bit of it, though, he decided better, and swept up his wallet, keys, and jacket.

He disappeared from view. And then the door clicked open. And closed.

AN ENDING

Jordan opened the door.

“How was it?”

She actually looked a little worried.

I wanted to tell her I was relieved to see that expression on her face.

I realized, in that moment, that this was the one situation Jordan didn't feel 100% confident about.

And that was flattering.

It sort of slid a little control in my direction as well.

I hugged her. “It was fucking hot,” I said. “Incredible.”

She hugged me back, and I could feel that she really wanted the embrace.

We had the condo for two more days, but after Jordan showered again and we sat down with coffee, in a strange silence, I looked at Jordan.

“Let's get out of here,” I said.

She threw her grainy bagel on a plate. “God, I was hoping you would say that.”

“This place isn't really us,” I said.

She shook her head in agreement and started sliding things into the trash with enthusiasm.

On the way home, she held my hand.

“You okay?”

I nodded.

I was, in fact, okay.

“It was good. It was a good ending to all of this,” I said, finally.

“And we needed to wrap it up, I think,” Jordan said.

I wondered if she felt this was true for the same reasons I did.

But did it matter?

“Yep,” I agreed.

I mean, I agreed didn't I?

This was something we needed to quit.

“But it was fun.”

“Yeah, it was fun.”

Jordan opened her purse and took out a cigarette.

I looked at her as she blew smoke out the window.

“You're not taking that up again, are you?” I was compelled to say.

Jordan smiled and took another drag. “I'm quitting,” she said.

And then a long pause.

“This is my last one.”

I turned just in time to see the remainder of a smile disappearing from the corner of her mouth.

So I guess the one thing I can take away from all of this with any certainty, is this:

I married an incredible women.

END

MORE FROM ARNICA BUTLER

Thank you for reading. I hope you enjoyed my story as much as I enjoyed writing it.

Please don't forget to leave a review...it's the best compliment I can receive, and it helps boost sales and get my stories out to the readers who want them, so I can keep writing more long works like these for you to enjoy!

Also, don't forget to Sign Up For Our Newsletter

If you enjoyed A Well-Laid Trap, give my other novels a try!

The Hobby Job

Former career professional Laura is going crazy living her stay-at-home-mom life in a small country town. Her husband Conrad has the perfect solution: get a “hobby job.” Laura gets turned on to the idea, and to Conrad's surprise, chooses to wait tables at a run-down restaurant down the street. But she gets a lot more than a hobby job when she meets Nate, a young, hot waiter who has his eyes on her from the start.

Conrad and Laura start on separate journeys, exploring new possibilities in their marriage, and opening up to their hidden desires, fantasies, and needs. Will their journeys merge, or will Laura's “hobby job” make a hobby of their marriage?

Ela's Performance

Peter's sweet-faced and fiery wife is headed back to school for a degree in violin performance. Unexpectedly, Peter finds himself becoming very paranoid about who Ela is spending so much time with, and what she is doing at school so very late. It isn't as if he doesn't have his reasons for suspicion. There's the way his own relationship with Ela started, and their own past experiment with an open relationship before they were married. A few other strange things to fuel his jealous fantasies...

And when he discovers someone from Ela's past has resurfaced, he'll take a chance and confront his own desires and obsessions...but will he get what he really wants?

The Hotwife Tattoo

When Greg's brother marries his wild, tattooed, ex-girlfriend Renee, he knows things will be a little complicated. But when Renee befriends his wife Sara, she starts to change in almost unbelievable ways. Greg sees that there is something more to Renee's plans than just friendly sister-in-law bonding. Is Renee's influence all bad, or can Greg get something he has always wanted and never admitted to his wife – maybe even himself?

The Tenant: A Very Naughty Hotwife Novel

Once upon a time, his exotic and incredibly sexy wife Anna loved to indulge Brian's fantasies...to a point. She teased strangers, and took them to cruel, tantalizing places. But she never went all the way. The game ended when Brian and Anna got married, and that was that.

Or was it?

When the gorgeous, charming, and very black John moves into their basement rental, Brian finds that his sleeping desires have been building up all these years. He doesn't just want Anna to tease. He isn't just toying with the idea. He is obsessed with driving his wife to do things with another man. Lewd things. Obscene things.

When he confesses his desires, is Anna just a little bit too willing to make things just like old times? Is she too easy to push over each new line? Brian can't help but wonder if his own obsessions have gone too far...or if Anna's have.

A Gamble: The Making of A Hotwife

Ryan is just an average guy, coaxing his sweet, beautiful wife Victoria into playing into his hotwife fantasy – even if they're just pretending. But a trip to Vegas with his co-worker Brad and his sexy wife Irena turns Ryan's life upside-down. To help Ryan, Brad makes a proposal that could change everything...but it all centers on Victoria's innocence. How far will Victoria go to save what she holds most dear, now that her virtues, her love for Ryan, their marriage, Ryan's desires, and even their finances all hang in the balance? This is a 52,000-word novel about risk and romance, filled to the brim with the hard, steamy scenes you love. Please enjoy!

The Hotwife Summer

When Ben and Summer have the chance to spend the summer in Italy, their stale marriage starts to heat up in ways Ben could only have dreamed about. Summer is ready to take his hotwife fantasy all the way, and her choice is a sexy, Italian, Michelin star-studded chef. It's too late to put the brakes on what he's set in motion when Ben discovers the humiliating truth about Summer's choice of man. Summer has a taste for being naughty, and a filthy little plan of her own. Will it be everything he could wish for, or will Ben's cuckold fantasy turn into a nightmare he can't escape?

A Dark Place: Cuckolded In Lagos

Three people are carving out their fortunes in Africa's largest city, but each of them holds a deeper, darker desire. What is the secret desire of the angelic Charlotte, who finds all men's eyes on her after dark in Lagos? What about Andrew, who keeps a secret hunger so buried perhaps he doesn't admit it even to himself? And what could be darker than Clement Ambode's already shadowy “reliability” as an all-purpose contractor in the underbelly of Lagos?

Charlotte, Andrew, and Clement will find themselves in a very dark place when their worlds collide in this ultra-sexy, novella-length cuckold story.

Not Black And White

When a photographer turns Rick on to the idea of watching his wife with another man, Rick feels an obsessive desire inside of himself catch fire. He can't help arrange for his shy, girl-next-door wife Danielle and the rugged, black photographer to cross paths. He knows that Drake Reyes' erotic photographs are not as abstract as they appear, and that Reyes sleeps with his married models. He knows his wife is not immune to Reyes' charms – no one is. He just can't help but imagine what it would be like to stand in his gallery, looking at Reyes' lurid photos, knowing his own wife is the model, knowing how the photos were taken.

But was it really his idea, or have Drake and Danielle been as manipulative as he has?

Please note, this is the novelized version of the short story Black and White, with significant changes to all scenes depicted in the short story, as well as the point of view. There is, however, some repetition: scenarios which occurred in the short occur in the novel. There are plenty of fresh new adult scenes, however. Please enjoy.

NOVELLAS BY ARNICA

Try To Have Some Fun

Poor Keith. He's been condemned to a campy cruise with his family and friends. Worse yet, he suspects something is going on between his wife and bad-boy Hank, the husband of a family friend his wife has invited along. Keith's in for a very big surprise – and much more naughty, adult fun than he expected on this cruise – when he finds out what's really going on.

Claire's Cowboy

When he gives his wife Claire the gift of a vacation of her choice, Chris is perplexed when she wants to go on a horseback-riding adventure in Montana. Nothing about that kind of trip has ever appealed to Claire. Next, she mentions a mysterious ex-lover, and she turns out to be nearly a professional at riding horses. Chris can't help but wonder if her choice of vacation, and the rugged man who will lead the tour, are just an uncanny coincidence...or if there is something more to Claire's cowboy?

Nothing Better To Do

Rob is finding out from the locals in his wife's small mountain hometown that his soccer-mom wife Kirsten may have been quite a different person once upon a time. He'll find out the truth first-hand when a late summer blizzard traps everyone at a party, and his wife comes up with some very indecent ideas for passing the time.

After all, there's nothing better to do...

If you're a new fan of Arnica Butler, why don't you try Wives Gone Wild?

I've put together ten of my short stories about wives on vacation, who get taken every way you can think of while their husbands watch. Ten stories for $4.99! For fans of my longer hotwife novels, these stories may not be for you (but then again...they might). These are quick or medium-length, dirty stories about men taking willing wives right out from under their husbands' noses. Most include very graphic scenes of humiliation, menage, cleanup and...well, that's all I can write about here!

Stories included in this bundle are: Double-Cucked; Cuckolded in Texas by The Oil Tycoon; Watching My Wife Get Trucked; St. Paddy's Day Cucktale; A Long Hard Winter; Watching My Wife Get Lumberjacked; My Wife Goes Back To Black; Cuckolded On A Plane!; Cuckolded In Vegas!; and Cuckolded on My Dominican Vacation.

All stories are available for purchase individually for $2.99 and some are in Kindle Unlimited for free, with the exception of Cuckolded In Texas, which is only available here. I want to give readers a chance to read some of my earlier works and quickies at a discounted price.

Because sometimes, you just want to get down and dirty, right?
Enjoy!