A Note to Readers

For some fans, who prefer stories like The Hotwife Summer or The Hotwife Tattoo, which are much more romantic in tone, even in the explicit scenes, this is a different kind of story. It's definitely one of my lewder tales. For me, it's in a gray area between cuckolding and hotwifing, but leans a lot more toward the former.

I like the romantic overtones of hotwifing, which is why I dedicate my longer works to relationships that have more complicity and tenderness between the married couple. It's sexy, it's fun, it's ultimately more realistic. Sometimes, though, I just get carried away by dirty thoughts that are so fantastically filthy that they could only happen in the microcosmos I create in one of my stories. Nothing Better To Do is the product of one of these times.

So, if you aren't really up for a third of this book being a pretty depraved gangbang, then it probably isn't for you. Don't worry, I have plenty more novels in the vein of Hotwife Summer in my mind, and they'll be out soon! But if you feel, like I do, that sometimes it's just incredibly hot to see your wife get thoroughly and dirtily fucked...then I hope you enjoy.

nothing better to do

I went for it.

I figured I might as well; I was on vacation, away from the kids, and my wife had almost no good reason to turn me down.

As usual, my cock was hard when I woke up. I had rolled over and draped my arm across the curve of Kirsten's body, along the dramatic dip from her chest to her waist, then the slow, rounding fullness of her hip. I scooted carefully, trying not to disturb her, until I was against the curved perfection of her ass.

She didn't move away.

I let my hand drop from her hip to her belly, taking a swipe across the satin panties that barely covered her patch of soft curls. I moved my fingertips over her belly. It was flat, but when she lay on her side like this, a small roundness developed just below her navel.

My fingers kept moving, underneath the silky nightshirt.

I could get turned down any second, in which case I could divert to her belly button and pretend to be joking. We had, after all, had sex the night before, and I was pushing the limits of my wife's patience.

Still...we were on a vacation. Of sorts.

Kirsten stirred. But instead of swatting me away, I felt her push her ass back, into my groin and against my cock. The tip of me was against her crack, and I could feel the valley between the two mounds of flesh that made up her full, tight ass.

I started to move my hand along her body and toward her breasts, hoping to slowly bunch the fabric of her nightie up in my palm until I could move down, along her skin, to the rim of the satin panties. Underneath them, to the silken curls, and then further, to where her flesh was soft and hot.

She gave a light moan.

I stopped, not because the sound was discouraging, but precisely because it wasn't. I hadn't scored morning sex in ages. My cock twitched in excitement against her ass.

I was propped on my elbow, and I looked at her face. Her eyes were still closed, but her lips were parted in a small smile.

I slid my hand beneath the fabric of her nightie, and kept moving up, taking it with me to get it out of the way. I wanted to pay a visit to her full breasts – by far her best feature – and see if I could tease her nipples into hard beads.

Kirsten's breasts are incredible. They're not over-sized incredible; they are big without being enormous, and they are just perfectly shaped. She rarely shows them off, but when she does indulge in a low-neck shirt, I am unable to take my eyes off their round form, the way the creamy color turns to beige and the light disappears between them in crescent shadows.

I also like that Kirsten is an attractive woman who isn't scrawny. She is fit, and her stomach is trim but it doesn't disappear into a pile of bones. She is perfectly proportioned and perfectly toned, but she has flesh you can grab onto.

My fingers found her right nipple, and I enjoyed the sensation of its hardness as I made a circle around it. The pleasure of feeling her harden in my hand traveled down the length of my arm to my cock.

I moved my hand down, curious as to why Kirsten was allowing me to this and still lying there with her eyes closed, but not so curious I was going to lose my chance.

I slipped my fingers beneath the panties, and with my forefinger I sought the slit between her two lips.

My finger dipped into a thick, hot wetness.

No kidding, I thought.

I leaned forward and pushed her shoulder-length blond hair from her neck, meaning to nuzzle against her skin.

But Kirsten moved, and stopped me. She didn't pull away, but rather pushed her ass back against me and sort of folded herself over. The message: no foreplay.

It was odd, but what man was going to turn it down? My fingers had been clamped into her wet flesh and I pulled them out easily because she was so slippery-wet. I moved to her hip and started to slide her panties away.

She moved her hand up to where mine was and grasped it, and for a moment I felt the ache in my cock of getting turned down, especially painful because she had let me get so worked up. But her hand moved mine away and then grasped the narrow straps of her panties. She wound her hand beneath them.

She twisted the panties so that they were sucked between her asscheeks like a thong, and bound around her own wrist like a rope.

I stared. My cock throbbed, but I was unable to act. Kirsten had never done anything like this before.

It was hot as hell, like a scene from a dirty magazine: a hot, round ass bound by a pair of panties, a tied wrist. But in ten years of marriage Kirsten had not done this even once.

She pushed her ass toward me, lifting it seductively. She twisted her improvised BDSM device even tighter around her wrist.

I used the hand I had been propping myself up with to pull on the thong she had created. It was tight against her crack, and as I pulled on it to test its strength, it must have slipped between her wet folds and pulled taut against her clit. She gasped, and rocked her hips toward me again.

I slid my finger up and down the length of the fabric, from the top just at the entrance to the valley between her cheeks, to the bottom. The panties got wetter and wetter, and when I neared the place tucked away between her legs, they were soaked.

Now I could smell her excitement, sweet and honeyed.

“Fuck me,” she said.

So it's only in retrospect that this seemed odd. Because at the time, I had my knuckles covered in the juices of her pussy, and her ass grinding against me, and my wife had just ordered me to fuck her with her hand bound behind her waist by her own underwear. I didn't argue.

I fumbled to get my cock out before she changed her mind.

Then, buoyed with confidence, I slid my fingers along her self-made bondage again and tugged when I reached the top. I knew the red fabric was pulling tight against her gash, possibly rubbing her clit, maybe just slipping between her folds with a tiny bite. She gasped again, and her gasp ended with a cat-like purr.

I did it again, a little harder.

Another gasp.

This was fun, pulling on her panties like this, making her mewl. But my cock was so hard now it felt like it might burst. My own precum was dripping onto her ass, and I smeared it with my thumb.

Kirsten rolled onto her stomach, letting me know what she wanted next. Her hand was still wound up in her panties, and when she got on her stomach, she surprised me by working her free hand beneath the very tight fabric on her right side as well. There was no way to wind this hand up in her panties: the fabric was already stretched like a cord, and cutting into her flesh.

I could only imagine that it must have been rubbing painfully between her lips, against her clit. Now she was prone and bound, and asking me to fuck her.

I climbed over her and pushed her legs apart. The tight red panties were pressed against her asshole and tight against her outer lip. I slid a finger from just above her ass and down, to lift them up – they were strained now – and pushed the fabric out of my way. It held her outer lip open so I could see her gushing hole and her throbbing clit very clearly.

She tucked her knees up beneath her a little, and the picture seemed to open up: now I had only to press her other labia away, and her entire flower was exposed for me. Her nectar was dripping down her thighs, and had wet her asshole.

Maybe...

No. Kirsten never let me go there.

I fluttered my fingers over it anyway. She shivered and gasped again.

It could be worth a try, I thought.

But my cock was so close to being buried in her pussy.

“Fuck me!” she repeated.

I entered her roughly, but I slid into her melted-butter flesh easily. She was almost too wet. As I moved back and forth, the panties sprang back to the center of her slit and began to rub on my cock.

I didn't care.

I started to ram into her, and she pressed hard against me, trying to get as hard of an impact as she could. Our skin slapped together hard. Her wrists were left hand was turning purplish-red now, streaked by white where the fabric of her panties cut into her skin.

I felt her muscles clench around my cock and she turned her head to bite into the pillow. “Harder!” she screeched, before she began to bite the white sheet.

The sounds she was making were also completely different than anything I had heard from her throat before. But I wasn't complaining. I slammed into her, harder and harder, while she let out a slew of filthy demands.

Kirsten rarely talked dirty, and my ears were ringing as my own orgasm rose like a tide inside of me. She might have said some things I would think about later. Maybe I was just hearing things.

It didn't matter at the time. I came harder than I had in years, so much that I almost doubled over from the pain.

Kirsten screamed as she came, turning her face again to bite at the sheets.

We remained where we were for a few moments, panting. I slowly pulled my cock from inside of her, and my cum dribbled onto the bed from her engorged slit. She untwisted her hand, and her panties – now stretched beyond recognition – released her flesh and the white marks against her skin began to fade away to pink.

“Whoa,” I said, not knowing what else to say.

Kirsten was still out of breath, her chest rising and falling. Her hair clung to the sweat on her neck. She remained as she was, with her ass in the air, my cum dribbling from it. Later, I would think about how unusual this was, but at the time I just enjoyed the view.

I guess was hoping for Kirsten to say something about how great that was, because for me it had been really, really great. But she just sat up, on her knees, and tossed her blond hair back. A little of it whipped my face. I was just getting ready to slide my arms around her waist when she hopped nimbly out of bed, and started to tie a silky bathrobe around her. The abused panties slipped from her hips and landed on the floor with a plop.

“Need a shower,” was all she said. She opened the door and disappeared down the hallway of the quaint and somewhat shabby Bed and Breakfast we were staying at.

She left the door open.

My ass was on on view for the entire hallway, should anyone step out of their room.

It was weird, but at the time it just seemed mildly unusual.

I hopped out of bed and to the side of the door, to close it in front of me. Then I looked around for something to cover myself with to get to the bathroom.

An hour or so later, we were outside surveying the bright fall day.

“Do you want a jacket? It's getting pretty cold.”

Kirsten shrugged. She clapped her mittened hands together and smiled.

Not only was it getting cold, but I felt the impulse to cover Kirsten up a little.

She had adorned herself in a rich red sweater that clung to her body and showed off the swell of her full breasts and her flat but pleasantly thick waist. The sweater plunged into a low scoop, revealing the creamy skin of her neck and shoulders, but the show ended before the valley between her breasts could be seen.

Something about the sweater was unusual, and I had spent a lot of time squinting at it, trying to pinpoint what was wrong with it.

It just wasn't...her style. Not that I'm some kind of fashion expert, but Kirsten was ordinarily conservative and expensive-looking. The sweater had a cheap, adolescent quality about it.

Her jeans, too, were particularly tight. I wasn't complaining: they rested low across her hips, and the tight sweater didn't come completely to the waistline, so a sliver of her narrow waist was always peeking out as she moved. Her ass looked incredible, and the tightness of the jeans seemed to elongate her legs. She had placed a red hat on her head, and braided her hair into two jail-bait plaits. The mittens – a thick pair of brightly-colored, hand-woven mitts – completed the effect of giving her an almost childish appearance.

Lolita-childish.

She looked about ten years younger, and a little trashy.

But sexy. The morning's sexual exploits flashed through my mind and threatened to give me a hard-on in the middle of the street.

I had on a gray wool trench coat, the only coat I had brought. I didn't dare put on my leather gloves, even though the air was biting at my fingers, because it would have made me look even more ridiculous next to Kirsten.

What Kirsten didn't look like, I thought, as I walked next to her and into town, was my wife. She did not look like the same woman with the terse lips and matching luggage who had arrived at Denver International three days before. She did not look like the woman who drove my kids to soccer matches in a spotless SUV, with all of her insurance documents filed neatly away in the glove box. She did not look at all like she managed a variety of volunteer positions and part-time legal counseling.

She looked more like the girls we had seen clustered around the crepe shop the evening before, smoking cigarettes, revealing midriffs, and waiting for the snow to come so they could spend the day smoking up and cruising the slopes.

It was unsettling.

We had returned to Colorado to visit family in Denver, but Kirsten had – also uncharacteristically – come up with a spontaneous idea. An idea which had seemed wonderful at the time: we would leave the kids behind and visit the town she had gone to high school in.

Snowy Butte.

I had never heard of this place, but she sold it to me as a dramatic mountain town, a ski village for hippies and mountain-men, a place of smoking log cabins and crisp mountain air. We could go mountain biking, enjoy the changing aspen leaves, and have a romantic weekend.

I was sold on that whole idea, because the potential for sex was greatly increased by the removal of our children from the scene. I would go pretty much anywhere based on that alone. But I was also more than a little bit curious about how my wife had spent her time as a teenager, in such a vastly different place. Snowy Butte was a small, insular community, and as per her description a town of ski bums and potheads. It was so far removed from Philadelphia, where we lived now, in both geography and style, that my curiosity was piqued.

Since we had arrived, however, I was feeling more uneasy with every passing moment.

There was the weirdness of the town. An ominous feeling. People were looking at me strangely. I realize it sounds paranoid to say that, but I could really feel the looks. I chalked it up to the usual unease that I figured most city people feel in any small town.

The more disturbing thing was the strange, tiny shifts that were taking place in Kirsten. Starting with her clothing and her hair.

And now the sex. Which don't get me wrong, was amazing.

But strange.

Still, Snowy Butte was beautiful. The sun was out, casting a bright glow on the yellow aspen leaves and the green pines. The air was fresh, the mountains and the sky were blue. As soon as we started walking, I felt better. Kirsten had convinced me to take a stroll through the town, and we had about a one-mile walk into the center from the Bed & Breakfast.

I was starting to feel better about everything. Admiring Kirsten's ass, and the craggy mountains, headed for a leisurely day.

A truck slowed behind us, its diesel engine glugging.

The sound was assuredly masculine: a vehicle like that was almost guaranteed to have a man inside of it. And not just any man. A certain kind of man.

I felt a pang of dread. Kirsten was swinging her lovely ass in her tight jeans. She had obviously attracted the attention of some backwards redneck. The engine growled as I wondered what to do.

Kirsten, to my horror, flipped a braid over her shoulder as she turned around – invitingly – to look at the truck. I kept my eyes on the sidewalk.

“Where can a guy get a piece of that?” a male voice said.

Kirsten, to my utter disbelief, adopted a girlish voice and a strange accent to say:

“You gotta talk to my pimp, baby.”

Fear and confusion were percolating inside my chest. Kirsten had slowed her walk. I slowed with her, but was reluctant to turn around. I was also looking at her, staring at the woman who seemed to have taken over my wife's body. She was Kirsten, but she didn't walk like Kirsten, or talk like her. Or dress like her, or even laugh like her, as she was laughing at that moment. Her mouth was open seductively. Sexually. She was smiling but with her lips parted. Like she wanted to take a big cock in her mouth.

Finally, I turned around, looking first at her and then completing the circle to take in the source of the menacing truck noise.

A scruffy guy with a plaid shirt over thick, defined arms, with a short beard obscuring much of what seemed to be an attractive face, had one arm hanging out the side of the truck on the passenger side, and was working a toothpick between his teeth. His lecherous gaze was moving up and down Kirsten's body with no effort being made to hide that he was undressing her in his mind. He grinned when he saw me, but it was an insolent grin. Like I was some kind of joke.

Kirsten, her body encased in her slutty clothes, wiggled her way toward the car. I started to feel like I was watching a movie. “Well, Danny James, as I live and breathe,” she said, in a faux Southern accent.

“Holy shit, girl, you look fine,” a voice said. It came from the driver's side, a similar low, masculine drawl.

I shifted uncomfortably. Danny James As I Live And Breathe had lifted his hand to Kirsten's shoulder, and was holding her close to the car with one tough and wiry hand.

"Who's this?" he said, dismissively, jerking his head in my direction.

"Nobody told you? I got married."

A knife of pain twisted inside of me. Her tone was so dismissive, almost like our marriage was an afterthought of hers. The two men in the car reacted as though it were the punchline of a joke. "Kirsten Dunlap, married," the driver said, and whistled low. "That'll be the day."

I felt like I should say something here, but I felt a little bit like Kelsey Grammar in my trench coat and dress shoes. I tried to smile casually and look cool with the whole thing.

But Danny looked me up and down and stripped me of any confidence I had. "This him?"

"Oh yeah," Kirsten said. To my relief, she turned to me with a friendly smile.

"This is Rob. My husband." She linked her arm with mine. "These are Danny and Craig, old friends."

There was a strange moment in which Danny looked straight ahead, and nodded with a wry smile. As though there were something more to that.

Or was there?

Maybe I was just imagining things. God, what was wrong with me?

Just as quickly as the scene had turned nightmarish, it shifted again. Kirsten kissed me on the cheek, and she squeezed my arm. The men in the truck suddenly seemed less menacing, the glugging of the dual exhaust seemed less loud. The brightness of the day seemed clean and clear again.

"Where you headed? Y'all want a ride?"

My heart thumped.

Kirsten patted my arm. "I'm showing him the town," she said.

"How long you here?" Danny seemed friendly now. He was talking to both of us.

"Just tonight," I said, quickly. Perhaps too eagerly.

Kirsten rested her head on my shoulder.

"Let's make sure to meet up, then."

I looked at Danny's face. Did he wink at Kirsten?

The sun was in my eyes. I could easily have been wrong.

Kirsten held up a mittened hand and flapped it open and closed. She said something like, “yeahhuh,” and the truck moved away.

I felt something coiling in my stomach, though I couldn't be sure why.

The truck slowed again, about 100 feet away from us. We walked toward it.

Danny hung his head out of the window. His eyes, again, seemed to strip Kirsten's clothing away.

“There's a party at Osenbaugh's,” he said.

“Oh yeah?” Kirsten said, and I was sure she shifted her hips coquettishly.

“Tonight. Stop by.”

Again, she said nothing, and again, it seemed that Danny winked, and again she flapped her mitten in the same odd salute.

The truck glugged away.

Kirsten said nothing. Her arm was still linked through mine.

Above the mountains to the west, blue-black clouds were obscuring the bright blue of the sky. They seemed to have appeared out of nowhere. I waited for her to say something, or ask me if I wanted to go to “Osenbaugh's” party, but she didn't. She tipped her head back and blinked at the sky, breathing in the air, and said nothing.

Snowy Butte is, I am told, like any mountain town in Colorado, but because it is out of the way and off the highway corridor, it retains some of its mountain 'charm.' Houses that had seen much better days lined the main streets, each of them leaning slightly, giving the center of town the appearance of being a gathering place for drunk buildings. Most yards looked uncared-for, and cars were parked haphazardly.

In the business area of the town, the usual stores gleamed in comparison: specialty stores selling candy, turquoise jewelry, snow globes and t-shirts, crepe shoppes, bars with overpriced beer and ancient skis plastered on the walls. Wedged between these universal tourist shops were outerwear and ski and snowboard shops.

Kirsten extended her arms to take in the scene and twirled around. “Well,” she said. “This is it!” She laughed.

There was an edge to her laugh, though.

It seemed.

Maybe I was going crazy.

I watched her, twirling sexily on the sidewalk. She not only didn't seem like my wife as her lithe torso spun around. She didn't even seem like a woman. She seemed like a girl. A silly, sexy, young girl, who would be very easy to make laugh, very easy to entice, very easy to impress, and very easy to get into bed.

"When does the season start?" I asked, selecting a neutral question to tamp down the dirty thoughts rising in my brain.

It was late September, but they seemed to be ready to hit the slopes already. The mountain bikes had been pulled in and skis leaned against every square inch of wall space, inside and outside the shops.

"Any minute now," Kirsten answered. She paused in front of a store, her eyes moving over the skis. They came to rest on a set of stairs between two ski shops. "There's a great bar down there," she said. "Want to grab a beer?"

It was not even noon.

"You. Want a beer," I said.

This was definitely un-Kirsten. Kirsten not only did not have beers (she drank red wine, and one glass per evening), but she never drank before six pm, and she certainly never proposed that I have a beer.

She frowned at me when I did. The message was always clear.

Kirsten gave me a friendly nudge with her shoulder. Her cheeks were flushed with the increasingly cool air. "Come on," she said, as if I were the one who ordinarily axed the booze. "Live a little."

She didn't wait for my answer, but instead, swung the door open and disappeared into the artificial, pub-like darkness.

I heard a round of greeting shouted in the bar while I was still in the narrow stairwell. It sounded like Norm had walked in on an episode of Cheers, and for a moment it had a nice quality about it. For a moment I was thinking, how nice that people live in a place where you can go to a bar and everyone does actually know your name.

I was thinking this because I did not, naturally, assume that the cheerful hello was for my wife.

Kirsten had been living in Philly for almost seven years now. But maybe because I am a city boy, maybe because I had never even set foot in a town this small before except to buy gas and move on, I did not understand how places like Snowy Butte worked.

By the time I rounded the corner at the end of the narrow stairway, my wife was sitting in a barstool at the bar. She was wedged between two scruffy looking guys with skull caps pulled low to their foreheads and the kind of three-week old beard you grow unintentionally, by just forgetting to shave, and only in a town like this one. My eyes rested on the wiry forearms of one of them. His taut, sun-darkened skin was covered in hard-looking tattoos.

Oh god, I thought with dread. The cool people. The cool jocks.

I like to think that I'm not hung up on high-school nonsense, and I have no reason to be: I make the good money and I have the beautiful wife. I didn't even have a tremendously difficult time in high school. I kept my head down.

But to someone like me, who has no athletic prowess and the persistently thin physique of a nerd, guys like this, who just ooze “coolness” are a little nausea-inducing.

Especially – especially – when my wife is squeezing herself between them.

I was stood awkwardly at the bottom of the stairs, feeling as out-of-place as possible in my trench coat, but grateful to finally be inside where my reddened hands could thaw slightly. Kirsten had her long arms extended in front of her on the bar, and her head was tipped forward in laughter. The man with the tattooed arms was close to her ear, whispering something.

There was no place for me to sit.

Kirsten seemed to have forgotten me.

I wasn't sure what to do. It would seem awkward, I was sure, if I went up behind her and stood there, waiting for her to notice me. I would seem like an insecure husband if I tapped her on the shoulder and asked her to sit somewhere else. And I would seem like a jackass if I sat down at the last remaining barstool, which was placed in front of a glittering pinball game of some sort and didn't even have enough room in front of it to set down a glass.

The bartender set three small glasses of what looked like vodka in front of them, and no one looked up or around to see if I wanted any.

Rob, I told myself. You've got to stop being such a fucking pussy. She's your wife.

I didn't feel the same confidence I was trying to shove down my own throat as I stood up and moved to the cluster of barstools where the three of them were drinking.

Kirsten spun in her chair. "Oh hey!" she exclaimed, to my relief, giving me a smile and grabbing my arm. "God, Rob, I'm so rude...guys, this is Rob. Shit, honey, here, someone – Kel!" she waved at the bartender. "Get this guy a drink, will you? I have to wizz." She hopped off the barstool and into a dark corridor to the left of the bar.

'Kel' slapped a glass on the table.

The guys looked me up and down.

I was still staring in the direction that Kirsten had disappeared, trying to get my head around everything that was wrong with what had just happened.

It was like a teenage girl had taken over my wife's body. Shit, honey...have to take a wizz?

All things the Kirsten I knew would never let come out of her mouth.

A cool sensation snaked around in my chest. The idea that Kirsten The Lawyer, Kirsten The Professional, Kirsten The Soccer Mom, was all just a veneer over Real Kirsten, a floozy snowboarder, fluttered through my mind.

But... no way. No way could that be true.

But also: so what?

A male voice interrupted my thoughts.

"So. You're the man."

The voice was deep and heavily scarred by smoking. I looked down to find the tattooed man peering at me. He seemed displeased and amused.

My own voice grated on me as I stuttered: "I..yes, I'm Kirsten's husband."

This caused both of them, and Kel the bartender, to exhale through their noses in the universal gesture of disbelief. The tattooed guy shook his head.

Then Kel raised her eyebrows. "You're joking, right?"

My feathers ruffled a bit. Kirsten was a really attractive woman – really attractive. But I was a good-looking guy, and I was also very successful. "Why's that?" My voice was a little snappy. I was surprised at my own anger.

I tried to soften it with a joke. "I'm not metro-sexual enough for her?"

The joke landed, and the tattooed guy slapped me on the back. They laughed, through their noses, and Kel nudged my vodka toward me.

The other guy had obtained a beer from somewhere and he shook his head as he brought it to his lips. “That is something,” he said.

“Man,” the tattooed guy said, placing an unlit cigarette he obtained from a plastic packet in his shirt pocket in his mouth, to no one's surprise or concern but mine. “It isn't you...it's just...”

The guy drinking his beer snorted a little and it made a wet sound in his beer. “It's just...who would marry Kirsten Dunlap?”

Then they nudged each other.

“What does that mean?” I said. My tone was strange.

The tattooed man looked at me. A different sort of expression crossed his face. Then he smiled. “No. No...it's cool. She just...never seemed like the marrying type.”

Another foamy snort from inside the pint in front of his friend's face.

“But people change,” he added. He turned to Kel. “Get this guy another shot. And Kirky too.”

Kirky.

Kirsten emerged from the corridor and I almost didn't recognize her as my wife. The town seemed to be sinking into her skin. Changing her from the inside out.

“Gentlemen,” she said, and her eyes moved from tattooed guy to his friend, without ever really taking me into account. She laid her arms over their shoulders. “Let's get our drink on.”

The tattooed man turned out to be another man named Danny, and apparently the town was filled with Danny's: Danny James As I Live And Breathe, Danny Smites, Danny Who Shredded The Mountain, and several others who I dismissed as impossibilities. The other “friend” at the bar was Dirk, whose skin was weathered and tough, stretched over thick arms and a tight chest. He was a mountaineer and spent his winters ice climbing.

After a few vodkas, some beers came, and I watched in a mixture of fascination and horror as Kirsten knocked them back. Like a pro. Like she drank all the time. She was getting light and air-headed, but not sloppy drunk, and it was impressive considering how much she was drinking, and how little he ordinarily drank.

The conversation degenerated into a completely unintelligible exchange of info about the so-and-so's of Snowy Butte. I was staring at Kirsten and slipping into my own dark thoughts, circling and circling around Danny's wry words:

But people change.

What had Kirsten changed from, exactly? What was it about Kirsten's previous life that had made her 'not the marrying type?'

She was touching her mouth a lot. Biting her fingertips, smiling attentively. Leaning very close to her two friends.

And did they seem to have some sort of familiarity with her that went above and beyond just 'friends?'

Well, okay, I thought. It was a small town. It was high school. Certainly she had to have some history with someone. She was hardly a virgin when I met her.

The cool sensation began to stir inside of me again.

Kirsten was always very reticent about her past lovers. I myself had always wanted to flesh them out, to hear her tell me in vivid detail about them. But she always managed to squirm out of the conversation. Or she just blew me off.

What secrets was she hiding about Snowy Butte? I wondered.

The image of her ass in the air, her arms twisted under her panties, rose up in my mind again.

Kel poured me another vodka.

I began to disappear inside myself and a haze of dark, sexual thoughts. All the while my wife leaned closer, placed her hands more frequently on Danny's forearm, on Dirk's shoulder. Traced the collar of her sweater while she talked...

It was incredibly late – almost 7 pm – by the time Danny and Dirk decided they needed to go and grab a shower and 'grab some grub' before they headed to the infamous party at Osenbaugh's. By then, I was good and drunk, more than a little tired, very annoyed, and very afraid that Kirsten would agree to go to dinner with Dirk and Danny. Or grab a shower with them.

Or maybe I was a little hopeful?

It was difficult for me to understand my feelings. I was oscillating between burning jealousy and shame, and a vague, but creepy, attraction to watching my transformed wife flirt with these men from her past. The thought of what she had been like when she lived here so long ago was nagging me.

She surprised me, a little, by telling Danny and Dirk we would see them at the party. She wanted some Mexican food, she needed some fresh air.

I was glad to have her alone again.

She linked her arm with mine when we got outside, and we began to stroll down the street.

Now that we were away from Danny and Dirk, and outside in the fresh -and very cold – air, I began to see things in a new light. I began to think about a delicious Mexican entree -

“Here,” Kirsten whispered hoarsely, and pulled at my arm.

Her voice didn't even sound like her own. I followed her, but only because I thought perhaps she was dragging me to an actual hole in the wall, where the best burritos in the world were to be found.

Instead, she pulled me into a narrow alley, pushed me up against the wall of a brick building and began to unbuckle my belt.

It was at this precise moment that I noticed that it had begun to lightly snow. It was also considerably colder than before.

“What are you...” I said, even though it was obvious what she was doing.

“I'm soooo horny,” Kirsten said.

I cocked my head. She looked like Kirsten. She smelled like Kirsten. But she was acting like the town whore.

Or something.

However...there was something appealing about it. Like the fact that she was attacking me.

But why? Why now, after ignoring me all afternoon?

Suspicion and horniness fought in my mind, while Kirsten continued to relieve me of my pants.

“It's like negative ten out here,” I protested, as the cold worked it's fingers over my groin.

It was nowhere near that cold, but the temperature was dropping and I could not even think of a time when I had gotten a blowjob outside, let alone in the freezing cold.

Kirsten could not be deterred. "It's a specialty of Snowy Butte girls," she cooed.

I could not tell if this was some kind of joke, or a truly sincere homage to her female cohorts. Either way, she was unzipping my pants.

I grasped her hand, which was already in my pants. "Kirsten," I said. "This is -"

But she was already on her knees.

My cock shriveled away to nothing when the cold air hit it. By balls were sucked up tight. I looked down, more in anxiety than anything, and saw Kirsten's tongue headed for my sac.

The first lick was warm and then instantaneously cold. A shiver ran through me.

Kirsten winked.

"See?" she asked me. "I told you it's good."

Another hot lick against my sac, and then the icy cold.

And then my entire flaccid cock was inside her mouth, suddenly warm, suddenly wet.

Kirsten moved her tongue around, inside her mouth, over the edges of my head, along the ridge of the bulb. It began to twitch back to life, growing hard inside her mouth. Pressing out against her cheeks as it twitched to its full-grown size.

She kept working on me, and my cock began to push back further and further into her throat, while I stared in disbelief at my wife, kneeling in an alley on some fresh snow, sucking my cock all the way to the back of her throat.

She slowly pulled her head away from my shaft, and the cold air seized on the wet, exposed parts of my cock. I shivered. It was ice-cold and almost stung, but it also felt incredible. A light breeze tickled my exposed dick, and I felt the cold sting of a snowflake turned instantly to warm water on my skin.

And then she went back down again, swallowing me up in the heat of her mouth.

I made an incomprehensible noise. She was right: this was the best thing ever, and I could see people visiting the town just to get their cocks sucked like this, if it was in fact the repute of Snowy Butte.

What was I saying?

Hot, cold, hot, cold. Kirsten's mouth slurped and then released me, and the wind and snow tickled my cock just before she smoothed them away with her soft lips.

"Oh god," I said, as I felt myself tipping over the edge.

Kirsten, however, did not pull away to let me come into the street as I expected she would. In all the time we had been married, and even when we were first dating, she had never swallowed my cum.

Now, on her knees in an alleyway, and surely aware that I was about to come, she dove deeper, and began to suck, like she wanted to actually suck the cum out of my cock.

I grasped her hair to steady myself more than anything. I opened my mouth to tell her I was going to come, but I didn't have time. My cum exploded in her mouth.

I wriggled and flopped against the wall, because she didn't stop there, but kept working her tongue and lips around me, to clean every last drop of my cum off my cock.

Only then did she release me into the frigid night air, which seized me roughly and made me shiver again in perverse pleasure, before it became too cold and I tucked my cock away.

I stared at Kirsten. She wiped a corner of her mouth, and then replaced her mittens.

"Whoo," she said softly. "I guess it is cold. Let's get some eats."

From the alley, I followed my wife in a daze, wondering what was going on with her. As she devoured a taco, I asked her that exact question, and she looked at me like I was an idiot.

"Just trying to have a good time," she said. Then she laughed, and pushed some very fatty, very un-Kirsten meat into her mouth. "What? You can't let loose every now and then?" She blinked. "Or...you don't like it." She startled me a little by gasping loudly. "Don't tell me you're gay!" she shrieked.

Then she looked around the restaurant, to make sure she had attracted enough attention, and bit into her taco again.

Everything about the woman in front of me was nearly the opposite of my wife.

"Kirsten," I began. "I just..."

I just what? What was I going to say to her? I just think you're dressed to provocatively? I just think you're too flirtatious? You're eating a lot of meat? You are giving me too many blow jobs? You drank too much beer this afternoon?

I mean...wasn't this secretly, deep down inside, the way I wouldn't mind Kirsten being?

Wasn't it a little more like how she was when I met her?

I scanned my mind.

No, Kirsten was more laid back when I met her than she was now, but she was definitely never like this.

"You're acting weird," I said.

Kirsten spoke with some taco in her mouth. "You know," she said, wiping a piece of lettuce from her lip. "That's just what all my other boyfriends said."

I had no idea if she was joking, or if she was serious. I didn't get time to think it through because suddenly the booth we were in was set upon by Danny and Dirk from the bar, and the driver from the truck earlier in the day. Craig.

"Oh," I said glibly, as my wife squealed and hugged Danny. "Where's the other Danny?" I was referencing the Danny from the truck.

No one answered me. Craig took some of my chips and held them over the plate, waving them a little in my direction as if to ask me if I minded him eating them, but they were already on the way to his mouth.

"Gettin' started early," Dirk said to Kirsten. "Gotta get up early to shred some freshies."

I looked at him.

He smiled and translated for me. "New snow. It's snowing hard tonight."

"Really?" I said, genuinely impressed. It was late September.

Danny's hand slammed on the table and the plates jumped. "Gotta get it on!" he shouted.

It's one night, I told myself, as I followed the gang of jocks and my wife, who fluttered around them giggling. One night, and we will leave Snowy Butte.

And we will never, so help me god, come back here again.

To get to the infamous Osenbaugh Party, we crammed into Craig's truck, and swung through town adding more and more people to the vehicle. I tried to catch Kirsten's eye, and give her a silent "what-the-fuck?" because if this car were to get pulled over, what with all the pot, unfastened passengers, and probably drunk driver, she would possibly get disbarred.

Although, to be fair, she was only a passenger.

Also, there seemed to be no way to put the breaks on any of it.

It wasn't all bad, though, because a lovely, long-legged, raven-haired girl named Lena was forced to plant her small, lovely ass right on my lap.

The group seemed decades younger than me, and I felt out of place. But no one was paying me any mind. They were, instead, passing around a joint and talking about shredding the snow.

I was relieved when the truck skidded to an uneasy halt in the driveway of what must have been Osenbaugh's. The party was well underway already, and a cloud of smoke dribbled from the doorway as we entered. It was scented with weed and cigarettes, and the faint stench of stale and new alcohol hung over everything.

Kirsten slipped between two guys at the front door and disappeared into what can only be described as the bowels of the house.

I followed, with a deep unease in my chest.

Kirsten had begun a conversation with Lena, and become really absorbed by it on a couch in a gutted room being used as a dance floor. The place looked more like a club than a house on the inside. Kirsten seemed determined to ignore me and leave me to find someone to talk to for myself.

I was uncomfortable. The whole scene seemed like something out of university. I told myself to make the best of it, maybe get wasted, and the night would be over soon enough.

The kitchen was the most normal place to be: it was well-lit, and everyone seemed to be using it just to drink beer and smoke cigarettes. The group in the kitchen was friendly and less creepy than a lot of the guys at the party (who outnumbered the women 10 or 15 to 1), so I parked myself there in spite of the thick cloud of smoke.

I had a beer, then another. Then another. The guys were talking gibberish about skiing, and very now and then turned to ask me a question that I could not understand.

“What kind of sticks you got, man?”

Which someone would save me from by giving me a complicit smile and yelling, “No, this guy's a grabber, right man?”

I shrugged, which seemed to gain me more and more camaraderie, as well as a reputation for being some kind of under-the-radar superboarder.

Occasionally someone would open the window to let out the smoke. The air was getting colder and colder, and then around ten o'clock, there was a raucous applause as powdery white snow billowed in when they opened the window again.

A lot of unintelligible snow terms were exchanged, hands clapped, and bets taken about how long it would be before the season started.

I was drunk. I calculated in my head.

Wasn't it September?

But I had a good buzz going, and so as more and more snow blew in every time they opened the window, I remained unperturbed. It was September. I didn't think to move from my place in the kitchen, or look outside.

After a few hours I was actually having a decent time, the way everyone begins to after enough alcohol has been shared. Kirsten popped into the kitchen occasionally, and she smiled at me. I was proud of myself for hanging out with her friends and having a good time. Like an idiot, I began to settle in to the party. I froze Kirsten in my mind on the couch with her friend Lena, talking to each other earnestly, getting caught up on old times.

So the snow kept coming through the window, and I kept getting drunker, and Kirsten starting looking stranger and stranger as she came in, and I did nothing.

Then she came in and her eyes were black, consumed by her pupils. She was slithering in a very skanky way, placing her arms on one man after another.

The whole scene changed instantly for me. The bright kitchen seemed suddenly too florescent. The linoleum was cracked and filthy. My smiling acquaintances now seemed to be sneering. Everyone was looking at my wife, giving her a hug, moving their hands down her body.

I reached out and grabbed her hand. I pulled her toward me. “Honey,” I said. “We better go.”

Someone laughed and tipped a beer. There were snickers all around. I looked into Kirsten's eyes.

"Are you on something?" I said. Her pupils had eaten up her entire eye.

The crowd in the kitchen found this question even more hilarious, and a firing line of snorts went off around me.

Kirsten smiled and wiggled away from me. "Just life," she said, and slinked away, pressing herself up against all of the men she could on her way out of the kitchen with a few beers in one hand.

The group laughed appreciatively.

"You can't go anywhere," a fat guy seated on the counter said. He left a pause at the end so I looked at him, not knowing if he was finished with his sentence. He sucked in the smoke from his cigarette. "Blizzard," he said.

I stared at him.

"Blizzard," I repeated.

The group grinned again, their demeanor changing back to one of camaraderie. "This guy," he laughed. "Aren't you in Philly or something, man? It snows there."

They all looked at me.

"It's September," I said.

The shifting ambiance of the room changed again, and no one said anything. The whole place had a menacing vibe about it. "I gotta go," I said, and no one tried to stop me. No one laughed. I felt their eyes on me as I walked out.

In the living room, the party had changed considerably. Lena was seated on the laps of two guys, one of whom had his hand halfway up her skirt. She had somehow been relieved of her stockings. Kirsten was nowhere to be found. The music had turned to the strange, slow beats that very stoned people seem to like, and it was fairly obvious from the hyped-up sexual energy and the vacant, black-eyed stares of the inhabitants of the room, that everyone was on something.

I opened the door, and everyone waved me away from it, shouting "whoa!"

A huge gust of white flakes slapped me in the face. The door was actually difficult to push closed. When I turned back to the room, a few people were shaking their head, but most had returned to whatever they were doing before. Someone yelled, "Don't open that door, man!"

On the floor, there was about half an inch of snow nearly ten feet into the room.

There really was a blizzard.

I wandered through the maze of halls, looking for Kirsten's red cap and sweater. The party was giving me a terrible vibe, and we needed to get out of here before we got trapped.

I went in circles before I found her. The red cap was off, and her hair was hanging down in slightly curled, slightly damp waves. She had taken her sweater off and had on only a camisole. She was leaning against the wall, but most of her body was pressed up against Danny. They looked like a couple, which is why I had passed them so many times.

My cheeks felt hot as I looked at my wife, shiny with sweat, drinking from a Dixie cup, her back pressed up against the hard abs of her 'friend.' Danny.

"Kirsten," I said, and I was snappier than I wanted to be.

She looked at me over the edge of her Dixie cup, but made no move to peel herself away from Danny. Dirk, too, was standing close to her, I noticed.

The scene wasn't obscene, but it was too close for a married woman.

"There's a blizzard. We have to go," I said, stepping down on my anger.

Danny's hand fell down around Kirsten's shoulder, and his fingers brushed over her breast before resting on her arm. He looked me right in the eye as he did this, and grinned when I did nothing about it. "Too late already man. Roads are closed. You're stuck here for the night."

I looked to Kirsten, who closed her eyes as she swallowed a huge gulp of her drink. "No way out," she agreed. "Let's just make the best of it."

She said this last bit to no one in particular, thrust her hands up in the air, shouted "Whoo!" and sort of fell through the doorway and into the living room.

Her entrance caused a stir, and a gaggle of yells, and then an unintelligible chant to erupt. Dance music, turned up excessively loud, quickly drowned out the chant.

I remained where I was, and Danny raised his eyebrows in an expression that was half-apologetic, and half-derisive. What can you do?

his face seemed to say. Kirsten, your sweet little wife, is a party animal.

Dirk shrugged, and they both entered the room.

I saw Kirsten's hands in the air, above the now bobbing heads of most of the party.

Infuriated, I stomped back to the kitchen.

The kitchen had been emptied out, except for the large guy sitting on the counter. He lifted his chin in greeting when I came in.

I looked around. "You got a phone book?" I said.

He shook his head and took a swig of his beer. "Man," he said.

I lifted a pile of boxes and peered under them while I waited for the rest of his sentence.

"Who you callin'? National Guard?"

"Pizza."

I was really hoping for the number of a taxi. The blizzard couldn't be that bad.

"Nobody coming."

I looked at him.

He pulled a long stick of beef jerky out his pocket and showed it to me with a gleam in his eye. "I pocketed all of these soon as it started snowing."

I blinked at him. "You know a cab number?"

He looked at me like I was an idiot, shrugged, and reached behind him. His hand emerged with a phone in it, and he sighed and dialed. He handed the phone to me.

The phone rang for an eternity before a harried woman's voice answered.

"Hello?"

I looked at the fat kid, who waved at me to speak.

"Is this...I'm trying to get a cab."

"When for?"

"Uh...tonight."

The woman sniffed. "Where you at?"

"Uh...I'm up the main street..." I bumbled. I pressed my hand over the receiver. "What's the address?" I asked the man.

He shook his head. "Snowy Butte, tell her."

I opened my mouth soundlessly.

"What town?" The woman's voice was impatient.

“Snowy Butte,” I said.

Her laugh was cracked by years of hard smoking. It disintegrated into a cough. “Oh lord. You looked out the window, darlin'? I ain't driving out there.” The phone clicked.

The fat guy extended his hand. “Told you.”

“Well are there any other cab companies?” I said, frantically.

“Cab companies!” he laughed. “Shit man, there is one cab in the county and that was it.”

I looked around me. “So how do you -”

“Just drive,” he answered, without needing the question. “Carefully,” he added. “But no one can drive in this shit. It'll be tomorrow before they get to Ozzie's road.” He held up the filthy lace curtain that was hanging by a thread over the window and looked out into the snow. “Gotta let it go, man. But tell you what. I am going to pack up on this food before times get grim.” He slid off the counter, revealing that he was amazingly short, and began to rummage through the cupboards.

In a daze, I went back toward the living room.

Kirsten was nowhere to be seen.

My heart sank, and then rose back up into my throat. I could feel it kicking against my chest.

I stood, scanning the room carefully, because by now she might have changed her hair or outfit again. The room was hot, and Lena was now down to a bra and panties, and had her mouth on one of the guys she was sitting on. Incredibly, the other guy was leaning over and discussing something passionately with another man.

I closed my eyes. I wanted to get out of here. This place was giving me a really dark feeling, and my wife was acting like a high-school slut.

I felt a hand on my shoulder.

I turned around quickly, and was both relieved and annoyed to see Kirsten standing in front of me.

“We have to get out of here,” I snapped involuntarily.

Kirsten placed two arms on my shoulders, and let her head fall back so that her lovely throat was exposed to me. “Oh, Robert,” she moaned, and her voice sounded more like we were having sex than anything else. I felt a twitch in my groin, but I was still frustrated. “Just have some fun for one night.”

The irony of Kirsten being the one to say this was completely lost on her. I took in her sweaty hair, sticking to her face in place, strung across her damp neck. Her mascara had sweated a little, giving her eyes a dark rings of smoky makeup that contributed to her generally whoreish appearance.

Was this my Kirsten?

And why was I vaguely turned on by her?

She twirled around, and grabbed the collar of my shirt in her hand. She dragged me playfully to the living room.

While I was certainly relieved in some way to have Kirsten paying attention to me again, to have her hand on my clothing and a visible reminder to everyone that she was connected to me in some way, the living room was the last place I wanted to be.

I calculated that everyone in the room should be about the same age as me, but they were all ski bums and boarders, and their beards and boarder shirts took ten years off their apparent age. They looked like large adolescents, and they had the same ill-controlled, male energy about them.

Kirsten let go of my shirt and moved to the middle of the room, where she began to dance obscenely.

Obscenely.

She was bending over and humping the air, raising her hands up to let her camisole rise up to the swell of her breasts, twisting and gyrating with puckered, pouty lips.

I stood, almost helplessly, unsure of what to do with myself.

Danny materialized out of nowhere, and began dancing with Kirsten. He had removed his shirt, and his flat stomach and enormous biceps were now on display for everyone. As he moved in close to my wife, he cast a menacing glare in my direction, and the corners of his mouth curled up in a grin.

I watched as his hands slid down Kirsten's suspended arms, along the inside of her biceps, tickling her armpit, down her ribs, to her bare waist. His fingers curled in a possessive grip at her hips, his four fingers splayed across her flesh.

Kirsten's eyes were closed, but surely she knew that the hot, bare skin touching her back was not mine. She didn't flinch, or turn to see who it was. A light smile spread through her expression, and she parted her lips. She began to twist sexually in Danny's arms.

I stepped back, because I didn't know what else to do. I leaned against the wall.

I knew that I should try to pry Kirsten away from him. Maybe I was stunned. Maybe I was afraid: Danny, after all, was a large guy, and his biceps revealed a strength that easily outranked mine. He was also giving me a challenging look, almost like he wanted to see what I would do. When I stepped back, I knew, and he knew, that I had been beaten.

There was also the matter of my own conflicting feelings: I was aroused, although in a strange way, by watching my wife transform into another woman. By watching her grind against another man.

As though she was reading my mind, Kirsten's eyes opened. She met my stare. Who knows what my expression was? My face was contorted into a half-smile, and my mouth was hanging open. My cheeks felt flushed and my eyes were narrowed in anger.

Kirsten leaned her head back and smiled more. She continued to look at me as Danny moved his hands upward from her waist. Up, fingers under the material of her camisole...

And there it was. His fingers were beneath the shirt but it was plain to see by the shapes and the shadows of the fabric that his gnarled fingers were stroking Kirsten's nipples.

There had been a way, until this point, to excuse everything I had seen. To argue that I was just being jealous and over-reacting. But now, there was no such exit. Another man's hands on your wife's nipples...that was just too far.

They were both looking at me.

Then Danny lowered his head and, with his eyes still incinerating me, he licked Kirsten's ear and whispered something to her.

Kirsten extended her arm, in my direction, and then her long pale finger crooked. She hooked me like a fish, and dragged me toward her.

I moved, entranced, my cheeks burning and an awkward erection beginning to press out on my pants. I was close to them now, close enough to smell Kirsten's skin, slightly tinged with nicotine and alcohol, sweet with a sexy, nectary scent. The scent of her excitement.

Was I being ridiculous?

Their skin glistened in the strange, colorful lights that seemed to have changed as I moved toward her. Danny's hand moved beneath the fabric of her shirt, grasping and kneading her breasts.

She fell toward me. She was quite drunk, and she was unlike herself in any other context I had ever seen her in. She clumsily placed her hands on my chest and leaned her mouth toward my ear.

The music seemed to have increased in volume and decreased in speed. The “dance floor” seemed to be occupied, very suddenly, by quite a few more people.

“Want to have some fun?”

Her words seemed to hang in the air, incomprehensible to me for several moments. I looked down to where Danny's fingertips appeared at the collar of her camisole, the end of the cup he had formed over her breast.

“We're trapped here,” she said, as though I had argued with her, and for a moment I wondered if I had. Then, casually, as if she were suggesting doing laundry, and with me not entirely sure of what she actually was suggesting: “There's nothing better to do.”

She leaned back, and her hair stuck to Danny's firm chest. She was grinning impishly.

Smiling.

And then we were on our way.

Did I have any real sense of what was about to happen in the room we went to? Kirsten led me, Danny-Tattoos, Dirk, Craig, and, though I didn't know it until I turned around in the room, two nameless strangers, down a hall, up some stairs that looked like they should be condemned, and into a room. I followed her in the darkness, and it felt as though my mind had been turned off.

I mean, what did I think was going to happen?

There's nothing better to do, her voice kept repeating in my mind.

What, after all, did I think that meant? She wanted to play backgammon?

The room looked like it had seen a lot of action and better days. A hodgepodge of worn furniture was clustered around the large place – the ceiling revealed that it used to be two rooms, but someone had knocked out the wall inexpertly. The engineer in me shuddered at the damage and tried to push it out of my mind. The house would probably collapse if too much snow piled on it.

Once we entered the room, things began to move very quickly and very slowly all at the same time. Kirsten laughed, she claimed to be hot. She stripped her soaked camisole from her torso.

I blinked, and the men moved around her. I thought I heard somebody say they hadn't seen those in a long time.

Kirsten looked at me. Her face was burned into my mind forever in that moment. Beauty, defiance, malice, and playfulness overlapped on her face.

That moment, I knew, was my chance to stop her.

But I stood near a wall, and watched her instead.

Her caramel nipples were hard in the cool room. Sweat glistened on her creamy skin.

Her fingers moved down to slide her jeans from her hips. She shook herself to make them slide down to her feet, and then she stepped out of them. She kicked them to the side.

I looked at the scene: my wife, covered only by a thin black pair of satin panties, standing in the middle of a room, smiling, and twirling her camisole in her hand, for an audience of five men.

Who had gone silent, and serious. Like a pack of hyenas, circling prey. They were serious now, and they were going to devour my wife.

My cock was hard and my eyes felt like they would well over with tears.

This cannot be happening, I thought to myself.

Kirsten tossed the bar away and smiled. She climbed, a little unsteadily because of her drunken state, to prop herself up on one of the worn armchairs scattered throughout the room. Her knees and hands were resting on the seat, and she crossed her ankles playfully. She rested her chin on the back of the chair.

Now the men began to stir.

Danny moved almost simultaneously with her, and he slid her panties from her hips.

Her bare ass was now exposed to the men who were watching her, encircling her like a pack of horny, hungry wolves. She turned her face toward one of them, with a sexy and dirtily inviting grin on her face.

She looked over at me, and still smiling, shrugged. As though there were nothing that could be done about it.

Why wasn't I moving?

There wasn't really much that I could do to stop any of it, I told myself. The house was filled with men who wanted to fuck my wife, and who were, right now as I watched, taking their cocks out of their pants. We were snowed in, and I had a feeling that if I tried to stop them now, there wouldn't be much left of me by the time the police dug their way in.

The police. The police of this town were probably at this party, for all I knew.

It was horrifying, but the truth was, I was finding reasons that I couldn't interfere.

Danny unbuckled his belt and unzipped his pants with one hand, near Kirsten's face. Her eyes lit up like she was getting a present. She was smiled, and ran her tongue along the ridge of her teeth as she watched the metal teeth of his zipper part to reveal his hairy cock.

Her hot red mouth was making the most sexual, dirty movements I could have imagined from a porn star, let alone my own wife. She didn't even look like my wife now, or even like the girlish character she had seemed like earlier in the day. She looked, now, like a character in a porno who resembled my wife.

I wanted to look away, but I also deeply, truly wanted to see what this woman who looked so much like Kirsten would do next.

I mean, I didn't really. But I also didn't really not want to.

I settled my conflicting feelings by telling myself I had no choice but to watch. I certainly wasn't going to take on these...my eyes went around the room to count the men who had remained behind the closed door...five guys.

Danny took his shirt off. He reached his thick bare arms out and stroked her neck with one hand, massaging the place where he was going to place his cock. He ran grubby fingers through her hair. He kneaded her shoulder like a baker with dough, clumsily, all the time pushing her face closer to where his cock was erect and waiting. He grasped her jaw in his hand and turned her face up toward him, to Kirsten's apparent delight. She shifted her jaw in his hand as she grinned.

With his hand under her chin, and his fingers over her jaw, he squeezed her cheeks so that if she hadn't opened her mouth willingly, he would have opened it for her. I watched as her lips parted wider and wider, with Danny's cock moving closer and closer to them.

She was really going to suck this guy's cock. While four other men watched her do it.

Well, five, if you included me.

I wiped my eyes. Was I really here? I was so drunk I could barely see straight. It was possible this was all a dream, and all in my imagination. The men in the room seemed to have forgotten all about me: their interest was now on my wife. They seemed not only to be perfectly comfortable gangbanging a married woman in front of her husband, they seemed to not even care.

As his cock got closer and closer to her lips – and the whole thing was playing in out in horrific slow motion – Kirsten had a seductive smile on her face. She opened her mouth wide to let his fat cock fill her up.

He slid his big, veined meat into her waiting mouth, and then he grasped her hair and pushed her head down onto him. All the way to the base of his cock.

A shudder went through me as I watched my wife's lips make contact with the hairy base of his dick. I stared at he big hand in her golden hair, pushing and pushing so that she could only let more of him into her throat. I could hear her struggled breathing, and then it stopped, as she was filled up in the mouth by so much cock she could only swallow and wait for him to have mercy on her enough to let her breathe.

After pushing her hard onto his cock for a few thrusts, he let go of her hair and placed his hands on the back of his head. The gesture was cocky, full of confidence.

He had the confidence that Kirsten would just kept going. And she did. She bobbed her head up and down, sucking and tugging on his cock, slurping and gulping and getting it wet with her spit until it shone. She did release herself enough to breathe heavily through her nose as she stroked him up to the tip of his cock with her lips.

“That's it,” he coaxed, and I could see in my peripheral vision that he men surrounding the scene were circling closer and closer, licking their lips and almost bursting at the sight of this tremendous, lewd blowjob. “Oh, fuck. That's good. Just keep sucking on that cock.”

For some reason, his degrading words for Kirsten were almost more obscene to me than what he was doing. The fact that she was such a willing, whoreish accomplice in her own humiliation, letting him talk to her like this, was almost as horrifying and as stimulating as the thing I was seeing.

I was so obsessed with what she was doing with her mouth, that I hadn't been paying attention to Dirk, who was moving around behind Kirsten now, his own cock in his hand. His eyes were fixed on her round, naked ass. The way she was propped on the chair, her ass was upturned and rose like two hard spheres, with her dripping cunt and tight pink asshole bared between them.

Dirk wet his thumb in his mouth, and then leaned over her ass and let a thick glob of spit drop slowly from his mouth. I heard the dull plop as it landed on her asshole. Without any further foreplay, he reached down and placed his thumb inside of her.

I couldn't quite see where his thumb went, but I could guess by the way she tensed and the sound that gurgled from her stuffed throat, that it was her ass. I imagined the sight of it: Dirk's grubby finger plunging deeper and deeper into her little hole.

She moaned, but didn't stop sucking on the big cock in front of her.

I watched as Dirk moved his fat thumb deeper and deeper inside of her, while he guided his own pink, fat cock – it was short but incredibly thick, and looked more like a blunt instrument than a cock, really – toward Kirsten's backside. He pushed his hand in further, embedding his stubby thumb deep in Kirsten's ass, and then he guided his cock to her pussy.

Kirsten, my slut wife, was slippery and wet, and Dirk's fat cock slipped right in.

As he pushed forward, and the sticky sound of his cock slipping into her wet cunt crossed the room and tickled my ears. She emitted a moan, and squealed. Her mouth was full of cock, though, and the moan was muffled. I gazed in half-disbelief at the sight of my wife being spitroasted: her mouth spread open and stuffed full of meat, her pussy full of cock, and a fat thumb in her ass.

I looked at the expression on Dirk's face as he watched his cock slide into her – his greedy, lusty face as he watched his own cock get wet with my wife's pussy juices.

He started off slow, fucking her lightly. He extended his hand to grasp her hair and push her face further onto Danny's cock. Danny maintained his casual posture, relaxing with his hands crossed on the back of his head like a day at the beach. Just relaxing, while my wife's mouth pleased him all the way down to the base of his fat, dirty cock.

Dirk started to pound into Kirsten harder, sucking on his lower lip and watching his long, veined meat sliding in and out of her. I was sick to my stomach with the pain of watching it, but at the same time I wished I could see what he could see: the edges of Kirsten's pussy stretched around his cock, curling and uncurling as he pummeled in and out of her.

I could only imagine, from where I was, that her cunt was glistening and swollen – so different than she was for me anymore.

Kirsten let out a cock-filled squeal.

Dirk leaned forward, pressing his body against her back. He whispered something in her ear. She released Danny's cock from her mouth. A long trail of saliva dripped from her mouth to his vein-covered cock. Whatever Dirk had said made her smile, then pant, then bite her lip, then say: Yes, over and over again.

He had moved his free hand under her body, and his fingers had undoubtedly gone to her slit. Now he was expertly fingering her, and she was writhing in his arms.

She started to arch her back, and her legs began to twist beneath her. My eyes widened in jealousy, rage, and humiliation – just seconds into Dirk's fingering, she was flailing wildly and panting and squealing in delight. She moaned, and started to scream.

Danny watched this for a moment, but then decided that his own needs were more important than the pleasing view he was taking in. He grasped Kirsten's head and pushed her open mouth back onto his cock.

I heard in her muffled voice that she was coming. She was screaming, but the sounds of her ecstasy were dampened by the cock in her mouth and throat.

A painful rage burned through me, but my cock was so hard now that it was pulsing painfully with each beat of my heart. I had to free myself. Like a zombie, totally unencumbered by the fact that I was standing in a room full of men who were fucking my wife, I moved my hand down to my zipper.

As I watched, Danny lifted Kirsten's head from his cock, like he was lifting an animal from it. He was stroking his huge cock with one hand and holding her head up by the hair with the other. Kirsten's face was flushed and wet with her own saliva, and she had an erotic smile on her lips.

“Did you like that?” Danny asked her. “You want some more, though, don't you? Show me how much you want me to fuck you.”

Kirsten smiled and licked her lips, but she didn't do anything else. She knew what was coming even before I did.

Acting in unison, as though everything had been choreographed, Dirk withdrew from her cunt and moved around her, while she stayed propped up on it like a toy. Danny took his place behind her.

In a trance, I moved as well. I scooted to a wall, where I leaned against it. No one took notice of me as I did so: they had determined long ago that I was not going to stop this abuse of my wife. I didn't even care that my erection was protruding from my boxers, and that I was going to take them off and have my cock in my hand while these men fucked my wife. I was too sucked into the scene, too stunned by it. I was effectively hypnotized.

Now I had a view of Kirsten's ass, and her swollen pussy, her juices smeared on her inner thighs.

Kirsten squirmed, and pushed herself back toward Danny's cock. Her asshole was slightly red, her pussy was a wet, sloppy gash.

Dirk, who was now near her face with his pussy-coated cock, had already gathered her hair in his hands, and pushed her mouth onto his meat. Kirsten swallowed his dick, and the taste of her own cunt must have filled her mouth.

The other three men seemed content to wait their turn, their cocks in their hands, hard and ready to fill my wife's pussy up with cock after cock up after Dirk and Danny had their way with her.

The most I could get Kirsten to do was lick me a little, and suck the tip of my cock. She did it with disinterest, certainly never looking me in the eye while she did it. Here she was, impaled on Dirk's fat cock, all the way to his balls. His cock was twice the size of mine – thicker, longer – and she just took the whole thing into her mouth, like she did it all the time.

As Dirk pushed her head forward, and the meat of his cock disappeared inside of her mouth, Danny slipped a finger into her pussy, and moved it down to stroke her lightly on her clit.

Dirk tipped his head back and seethed through his teeth. “Oh, fuck,” he said.

I stared in horror at the sight, imagining what I couldn't see clearly: Kirsten's lips, spread wide, wide open, and Dirk's brown-pink cock stretching them apart even further, buried all the way in her soft pink mouth. The pristine mouth of my prim wife, who kissed my children goodnight and calmly explained legal matters to unionized workers. A mouth that never said a cussword or swallowed my cock.

Dirk started to thrust his hips, holding her head in place with his hand on her throat. He was using her face like a toy now, holding it like an object in his hand and beating his cock into her.

And Kirsten? She obediently allowed herself to be manhandled and fucked like that.

And I was enjoying it. I was enjoying the hell out of seeing her get used like a fuck-toy.

My eyes flicked to Danny, and another jolt went through me as I saw what he was doing: he had gotten his finger wet in her pussy and now he was slowly sliding into her ass.

Now that I had a view of what I knew Dirk had done to her as well, my cock hardened until it felt like it would split. Her tiny little hole was spreading for his finger, and he had his hand in my wife's most intimate hole. His fingers moved slowly, first one, then another, and another, until he was practically fisting her. He used her juices to lubricate his hand but the movement of his fingers was rubbery and dry: he must have been causing her terrible pain as he practically dry-fucked her ass.

Kirsten did not moan or cry out – and perhaps this was because her mouth was filled to full with cock. Instead, she tipped her ass up more by arching her back, like an invitation. Danny looked down at her ass with new interest, clearly pleased that she was offering him some more.

I heard his gravelly voice. “You like that, huh?”

My eyes were on his three fingers, embedded deep in her flesh. Why was I enjoying this so much? I almost longed to know what the ache felt like, the submission and the pain she was being subjected to. I found myself hoping it hurt, cheering for her to take more and more.

At that moment Kirsten pulled away from Dirk's cock to catch her breath. Saliva trailed from his swollen member to her mouth, and her lipstick was smeared all over her chin and cheek. Her mouth was gushing saliva and sticky juices, probably salty precum from Dirk's near-bursting cock. She reached up a hand to take Dirk's cock in her palm and stroke him, as she turned with a smile to Danny.

“I like it in the ass, if you do it right.”

My eyes bulged and I squeezed my cock to keep myself from coming all over the floor right then and there. What the fuck?!

I had just never had the balls to give her what she really craved. I watched her asshole while I fucked her in those rare occasions that we strayed from the missionary position. I watched it and thought about how it would feel, opening up for me, squeezed tight around the base of my cock while my dick was massaged by her hottest flesh.

But I never had the balls to even put a finger there.

Kirsten watched Danny as he fucked her with his three fingers. Her body rocked with the momentum of his fisting. I couldn't take my eyes off my wife's tight ass being pried open by Danny's fat, greedy fingers.

Kirsten closed her eyes and moaned, but she kept pushing her ass back toward him. He smiled.

Dirk, probably near blowing up, placed his hand on Kirsten's head and pushed her back onto his cock. Into her mouth went the big slab of meat, all the way down, deep into her throat. I had a view that allowed me to see her neck, and see the way her throat stretched to accommodate the bulge of his big slab. All the way in, all the way down. Her lips disappeared as they stretched wide to get him all in.

Danny's eyes watched her swallow Dirk, and I could see his cock was thumping around in excitement, like a big, twitching club. He moved his hand back and forth in Kirsten's ass, and she made sounds like it hurt her and she liked it. She whimpered and moaned. But all the while she kept sucking on Dirk's cock, and pushing her ass further onto Danny's hand.

Danny teased her with the tip of his cock, dipping lightly into her pussy and rubbing her clit. Dirk pulled out of her mouth for a moment so that she could catch her breath and she gasped. "Put it in my ass," she mewled.

Yes, I thought sinfully. Put it in her ass.

Fuck, my cock was aching imagining what it must feel like to just have a finger in her tight ass. And the fact that someone else got to do it, instead of me...that was just making things better for me.

Danny smiled behind her. "I'm going to stretch you out first, sweetheart. Why don't you see if you can get Craig's cock in that mouth of yours while I break you in?"

Rage was filling my head – both of my heads. Rage and heat. What in the hell was wrong with Kirsten? Is this really what she wanted? Why wasn't she putting up any resistance to these men using her like a fuck toy?

She shook her head slightly as she kept sucking on Dirk's cock. She didn't want to stop.

But Dirk, with some obvious reluctance, obeyed Danny, who was clearly the ringleader of this gangbang, and he lifted her head away from him by the hair. "I'll come back for some more. Maybe after I get it in your ass."

Now Craig moved in front of her. Craig's cock was enormous, a big, dark, veined cock, so heavy it drooped even while fully erect. The men watching shifted and gave out impressed, low laughs. I heard someone comment that it was too big for her.

Craig was smiling, stroking his fat cock. He stroked Kirsten's forehead. "She can take it all. You've done it before, haven't you?"

The words seared through me. All evening long there had been references to what a slut my wife had been, but this seemed to materialize the idea. Kirsten had sucked on Craig's enormous cock before.

A slightly horrific thought rose up in my mind: maybe this is who she really was. A slut, who liked a good, hard gangbang. Maybe she was always unsatisfied by me.

He lifted his cock and held it out for her, and she flicked her tongue out. Like a kitten. Licking the tip of it. Teasing him, getting him hotter. Pleasing him. She ran her tongue over his hairy balls and sucked the fragile skin into her mouth. She made noises like she was eating something delicious.

And then Kirsten's mouth opened in a gasp, because Danny started pushing himself through the tight sphincter of her ass.

Her scream was muffled by Craig, who lifted his cock to her mouth, and stuffed her full of his thick cock.

She got most of his cock into her mouth, but it was too big even for my apparently talented cock-sucking wife. Still, she gave it her all, opening and opening, the bulge of his dick moving further and further down her throat.

For a few minutes there was silence, and only the sounds of Kirsten's holes being pumped, sticky saliva and mucous lubrication the passage of those huge cocks. Danny began to move back and forth slowly, and she whimpered a little with her mouth full of cock. I watched as her asshole spread and spread. I imagined the searing pain, and the solid ache she had to be feeling now. Craig lifted her head up and pulled himself out of her. His cock was soaked with her saliva, and she lapped at it, licking the tip.

Danny chose that moment to give a huge thrust, deep inside of her, and she screamed.

But her voice meant: I fucking love it, it's so big, fuck me harder.

I watched, mortified, as the two of them went down her throat and into her ass again, enjoying themselves immensely, filling up nearly every hole of my wife.

Craig pulled his cock from her mouth and breathed heavily. "Gotta wait a minute, sweetheart. You're gonna make me come and I want to fill your ass up."

Danny didn't stop. His voice was labored as he panted: "I'm gonna fuck my load in her right now." He slammed against her ass, his cock ramming deeper inside of her. "You ready for it?"

She was, and she mewled that she was, but he didn't wait for her answer to grasp her ass on both sides and hammer into her until he growled and yelled. He pulled out at the very final moment, just as his hot cum started to burst from the tip of his cock. Dirk, who had been standing nearby and watching, sweaty and pale with excitement, reached over her and held Kirsten's gaping ass open with two fingers, so that Danny's cum splattered into her dark, throbbing hole. Streaks splashed all over her ass.

The sight of her asshole, rid-rimmed and yawning, getting splattered with Danny's white cum, almost pushed me over the edge.

"That's one load," Danny commented. "Now Dirk's gonna fill you up, and you're gonna give some attention to our other friends."

One of the other two guys watching laughed. "Craig has to go last. She won't be able to take any more after him." The same guy moved forward, pushed Craig aside, and guided his cock to Kirsten's lips.

So this was real. These five men really were going to fuck my wife.

"Keep your mouth open," Craig ordered Kirsten, as he slid his huge cock from her mouth.

Kirsten, my slutty whore of a wife, obeyed, extending her tongue and stretching her mouth open for the next cock.

This guy's cock was smaller than Craig's monstrous dick, but impressively thick. When Kirsten opened her mouth obediently and started to suck on him, her jaw and lips were strained by his girth. I could hear her breathing heavily through her nose, struggling with her third huge mouthful of cock.

Dirk had taken over at her rear, and now pushed his own cock into her ass. Her squeals were gagged by the cock in her mouth.

I watched Dirk's cock spread her open. Danny's cum gushed out of her ass, spurting around the sides of Dirk's cock and dripping down her thighs each time Dirk moved in and out of her. He rammed his cock in deep to make her shriek into her cock-gag, and then withdrew completely, most likely to get the same show I was reluctantly enjoying myself: her wide, gaping asshole, twitching closed and spewing white cream.

Dirk didn't pull out to fill her up. He abused her like this for several minutes, and then he began to fuck her wildly. He exploded with his cock deep in her ass, groaning and clawing at the skin of her butt.

Kirsten bawled like a farm animal.

The guy with his cock in her mouth couldn't take any more. I could see his muscles tense, and his face contort. He was past the point of no return, even if he finally had the opportunity to bang Kirsten's ass. He grasped her hair with one hand and tried to get out before he came, but cum was already spurting from his cock and into the back of her throat before he got out. It gushed out, splattering all over her face and her cheeks.

Kirsten smiled and opened her mouth, moving her head to try and catch it all. Cum splattered in her eyes, and she blinked it away without losing her burning, slutty eye contact with her third mouthfuck.

The final guy, who until now had only been allowed to watch, was stroking his cock so hard that I could see he was about to come.

Dirk stood back from Kirsten to let him at her. He seemed to be determined that this last guy should fuck her ass. I was sick to my stomach at this point, wanting to see more, but also wanting the nightmare to end. I glanced at Dirk's cock, and a cool feeling went through me; he was not flaccid, but still slightly hard. His cock was shiny with the filthy cum that he had just been stirring around in Kirsten's ass.

A terrible thought occurred to me and evaporated: Was he going to fuck her again?

The final man moved behind her and slid his cock, also quite large, into her ass. Now that her mouth was relieved of the endless cock she had been sucking, I could hear her half-anguished, half-sultry cry.

“Oh god, it's so full of cum back here, you little slut,” he told my wife. He grabbed her hair and pulled it, jerking her cum-streaked face toward the ceiling. Her eyes watered and her mouth opened in either pleasure or pain. “Such a dirty little whore, Kirsten.”

And she was. My wife, my own wife, was in fact the dirtiest and filthiest slut I had ever seen or imagined.

I braced myself to watch this fifth guy pummel another load of cum in Kirsten's ass, but just when I thought they couldn't get much more obscene, he withdrew from her. The sphincter of her hole spasmed, and the loads of cum that were already inside of her dribbled out with each squeeze. Her asshole was a chasm now, rimmed with creamy white. I stared at the scene for moment, my own cock pounding, while the man who had just pounded her ass walked around her and lifted his cock to Kirsten's lips.

Kirsten looked at the dirty slab of meat and opened her mouth for it. He slapped it on her lips and her face, smearing the filthy cream from her ass all over her cheeks and her mouth. Her tongue appeared and began to lick him like a lollipop, slurping up the cocktail from her ass.

And I had forgotten about Craig, the biggest cock in the room who would fuck her last. He had moved behind her as she licked and slurped at the cock in her face. I moved my eyes around, not sure where to look: to the black center of her red-rimmed hole that was throbbing and squirting white froth onto her thighs, and the fat cock that was about to tear her open? Or to her cum-covered face, and her tongue that was happily licking it off?

Craig's cock. That's what I wanted to see. I licked my lips and I took my own, aching cock in my hand. I was so close to coming that the touch of my palm almost sent me over the edge, so I closed my eyes and grasped myself. I wanted to see the end. I didn't want to come until I saw Craig's meat embedded in Kirsten's ass.

The tip of his cock was big and blunt, so thick that when he placed against her gaping hole, it was still larger than the gash the previous men had made. It would still have to stretch her open to go in: Kirsten would have to feel her asshole opening and pulling apart to get his cock inside of her.

“You didn't want to go skiing tomorrow, did you?” Craig said, and the other men, who were riveted to the scene as I was, gave perfunctory laughs. “Because you won't even be able to walk when I'm done with you.”

Kirsten, who was still running her tongue along the length of the fifth man's cock, licking up cum and ass-juices, only smiled.

Craig pressed forward.

Kirsten let out a wild squeal as his thick cock passed through her asshole. For a moment she stopped her licking and closed her eyes. She was most definitely in torturous pain, and the sound of her voice rattling beneath her moans put me over the edge.

I felt my orgasm at the last moment, surging from deep inside of me and slamming through me like a brick wall. I shuddered, and there was no way to control the gush of cum that spurted from my swollen cock. It sprayed onto the floor, and I directed the tip of my dick at one place on the floor in a strange urge to keep things tidy. This was, of course, a bizarre inclination, given that my wife's ass was full of cum and her hair was glued to her face with another man's seed.

Craig had pushed himself all the way inside of her, and when I looked up, the first thing I saw was her asshole stretched wide around his gigantic dick.

But the other men had, at last, turned their attention to me. They smiled, a little wolfishly, at the puddle of cum on the floor. Humiliation seared through me, though I wasn't precisely sure what from: the fact that they were fucking my wife (I had, after all, let this whole thing happen and deep down inside, enjoyed it), or because I had so clearly enjoyed it, and the evidence was now on the floor.

Danny, whose erection had returned by now, tapped the man whose cock Kirsten was slurping away on, and pointed at the puddle of my cum on the floor.

I leaned against the wall, my cock still in my hand, squinting in confusion. A trickle of fear raced through me, but I was too spent to act on it. Instead, I watched as Danny orchestrated the next humiliation for my wife.

The fifth man stood over the puddle of cum and added his own with just a few quick strokes of his hand. His load splattered the floor, nearly twice as much as my own contribution.

I looked at the floor, confused for only moment, because while I had watched him shaking every last drop of his load into my own cum, Craig had walked my wife by the hair, on her hands and knees, to just behind him.

When he moved his legs, Kirsten was there, on all fours, looking at the puddle of cum. Craig dropped to his knees and aligned himself behind her.

Danny had somehow circled the scene, and was standing directly next to me. He gently nudged me to the left. "Get over there, you'll have a better view," he said hoarsely.

Rather than over-think it, I moved to the left, where indeed the view was better: I could see Kirsten's head as Craig pushed it down to the floor. I could see his hand in her hair as he used her face to mop the cum a little, and then I could see her hover over the cum, her face shining, as she braced herself for Craig cock to go back in her ass.

I could see, from where I was, the length of Craig's shaft as it disappeared inside of her. I could see her mouth open wide in pain and her arms tremble as she pressed against the floor.

"Lick it up," Dirk's voice commanded, and he extended a foot to her head, pressing her cheek down to the floor. She was now crouched, her ass up in the air for Craig's pumping cock in her ass, and her face smashed to floor by Dirk's foot. She opened her mouth and swept her tongue out to the floor. Licking up, as she had been instructed, the puddle of cum that the fifth man and I had made together.

My cock, to my own surprise, was filling out again. I was hard enough to fuck, and it was just minutes after I had spilled my seed.

Craig's pace quickened, and Kirsten's face rubbed against the floor as she struggled to lap up all the cum in front of her lips. Her face was red where the boot was crushing her into the floor, and she was braying like a cow.

Craig let out a terrifying roar as he thrust deep inside of Kirsten, blowing his cum so deep in her ass I half-expected to see it dribble from her mouth. Kirsten froze for a moment, her eyes squeezed shut, her mouth open.

Craig thrust a few more times, and Dirk released his foot from Kirsten's head and crouched next to her. He wound her hair around his hand and shook her face at the cum. "Get it all," he ordered.

Craig was still slamming the last of his load into her, but Kirsten lapped at the floor, her head hanging by her hair in fifth man's hands.

Craig slapped her ass. "Nice and full," he said.

Danny smiled. He rubbed his hands together, clearly trying to decide what to do next. His own cock had gotten hard again, and so had Dirk's.

They had more in mind for Kirsten.

My own cock was hard as stone now, and I stared at the scene, unsure what to do. I looked at Kirsten: surely she had had enough? Surely I should step in, take her to another room, let her rest?

I should be more offended, more shocked, I thought.

What I shouldn't be, I was thinking, is what I actually was: hungry to see Kirsten do exactly that. Take some more. Take more cock in her ass, lick more cum from the floor, suck more cock.

The fact that there were more people in the house had completely disappeared from my mind. Danny opened the door to the room and the smell of cigarettes puffed into the air, and the sounds of very drunken laughter and music. The same song, in fact, had been on this entire time. The DJ had apparently abandoned his post.

Was Danny going to get the whole houseful of men to come in here, and fuck Kirsten?

Intense pleasure, as well as intense fear, jolted through me at the same time.

Craig slowly pulled himself from Kirsten's ass, and I shifted my feet as subtly as possible so that I could see the aftermath for myself. Craig fell back and clutched his knees with his wrists, as though sitting on the sidelines of some sporting event.

Kirsten's ass was now gaped so wide that it didn't look real. I stared at it. It was nearly two inches in diameter, punctured and stretched. It wasn't closing up. From its depths, cum trickled between her legs.

She was panting, her chest heaving up and down. But Dirk still held her by the hair, and was watching her diligently lick up the floor cum, to his satisfaction, which seemed to be nothing less than shining up the floor.

He rose to his knees, and lifted Kirsten by the hair. I watched the back of my wife's head as it began to bob again, this time servicing Dirk for a second time.

I sucked in my breath. I didn't want to admit it to myself, but I wanted in on the action. I wanted to get my cock inside of Kirsten's ass, even if it was stretched and sloshing with other men's cum.

Maybe because of that.

Danny returned, and he was leading the very lovely Lena by the hand.

Lena had evidently been up to her own fun somewhere else, because her lipstick was smeared and she was shirtless. Her dark hair was wet with sweat and seemed to be sticky with cum.

My god. How did they get these women to do these things?

Lena surveyed the scene in front of her and tisked. "I see you've been having your own fun up here," she said. Her voice was sexy, almost like she was attempting to seduce someone. Even though seduction was unnecessary, and the only thing that would happen here, it was plain to see, was lewd obscenity.

Danny pushed her into the room and closed the door.

"Poor Kirsten here has been working so hard," he said. "She's dirty and she needs someone to give her some relief. I thought you'd be just the slut to help out."

He placed a hand on her shoulder, and pushed her down to her knees.

Lena smiled as her body neared the floor. She looked, instead of fearful or disgusted, like she was enjoying herself.

Such dirty sluts.

She crawled on her hands and knees to Kirsten's torn-up and leaking backside. Kirsten was still sucking on Dirk's cock, and she did not even pause when Lena placed her mouth next to her ass and trailed her tongue along the stretched rim of it.

My eyes widened. It was so filthy, and so delightful. I felt my cock pulsing and I bent over slightly to fight the painful ache inside of me.

Lena gave Kirsten's asshole a few more swirls. Dirk tensed: watching Lena and having his cock sucked at the same time was too much for him to hold back. He yelled, "fuck!" and bent over slightly, grasping Kirsten's head, as his face reddened and his veins pulsing beneath his skin: he came so hard it looked like he might have a stroke. While he smashed himself into Kirsten's face violently, Lena did the most beautiful and disgusting thing I have ever seen:

She pressed her lips to the outside of Kirsten's ass, and began to suck. She was sucking all the cum out of her.

Danny was pleased. "Get each other cleaned up," he growled.

Dirk released Kirsten's head as he was still spewing his load, and he coated her face with the last spurts of his cum. Kirsten breathed through her mouth, gulping at the air. I couldn't see her face, and I couldn't look away from Lena, but I imagined she was destroyed. Covered in spit and cum, her mascara streaked down her face.

Once Dirk released her, Kirsten moaned and mewled for Lena's treatment, then she turned to face her.

And the two girls began to lick each other clean.

Kirsten started on Lena's lips, running her tongue over them and then moving down her neck, where some dried cum evidently needed her attention as she sucked it up with a smack. Lena's tits were shiny with cum, and my wife lapped at them like a dog in a water bowl, to everyone's delight.

Lena then took the lead, swiping her tongue deep inside of my wife's mouth, very professionally turning her up so that we all had the best possible view of her licking the insides of her mouth for cum. She licked her face, and her shoulders, and her tits. Lena pushed her back on the floor, onto her back, and spread her legs open wide.

I could not believe I was actually seeing this. Lena leaning in and used two fingers to expose my wife's clit. Cum still coated her slit and her thighs, and Lena leaned in as though going for her cunt, but diverted her attention to lick at Kirsten's thigh's instead. She sucked and nibbled, and Kirsten moaned.

Kirsten's cunt was gushing its own juices. She must have been aching for release, but Lena was putting on a show for the men, and she dutifully cleaned up all the cum on Kirsten's body before she finally turned her attention to Kirsten's gash.

I watched her tongue as it flicked at Kirsten's swollen clit. Kirsten shrieked and arched her back, but when she returned to a flat position, her arms snapped forward and grasped Lena's head, pushing her into her pussy. She came almost instantly after that, and her body shook as though she had been outside for hours.

Danny clapped his hands together two times. Lena looked up at Kirsten with a wicked grin.

I was so hard now that my eyes were watering.

I jumped as, out of nowhere, an object fell on top of Lena and Kirsten. It seemed like a dead animal and it gave me a jolt.

Craig was standing next to me and clapped a hand on my shoulder. "Don't worry, man."

Now, I realize that I should not have let this group of men pull me into their gangbang fold. They had just degraded my wife, right in front of me. I should not have been pleased at all to have one of them being buddy-buddy with me.

But I admit it. I was.

Lena reached behind her, grinning mischievously, and grasped the object.

She waved it around, sitting up on her knees. It was only when she brought one end of it to her lips and began to suck on it that I realized it was a dildo.

A big, thick, long – almost too long – dildo.

“Mmmm,” Lena said. “Double-sided.”

She raised her eyebrows. “So what's the plan?”

I could see, though, that both Lena and Kirsten knew exactly what the plan was. I have to admit, it wasn't even occurring to me. No matter how dirty I tried to imagine the next scene, these friends were one step ahead of me.

Lena took one end of the dildo in her mouth, and held the other end out for Kirsten, who had gotten on her knees. They began to suck on it.

Craig smiled at my bemused face. “Just getting it lubed up,” he said.

For what? I think I wondered briefly. The girls turned away from each other, Lena taking the dildo with her. Danny crouched between them as they scooted themselves toward each other, entangling their legs. Lena gave the dildo to him.

I watched as he pushed the big tip down and into Lena's ass. Lena gasped and moaned, and reached back to try and grab it. “It's too big,” she complained. But Danny kept going.

He pushed it deep into her, and then he bent the other end down and into Kirsten's ass.

Kirsten had considerably fewer complaints: her ass was stretched out wide and the dildo was not that much bigger than Craig. Still, she drew her breath in sharply and looked down at the floor as more and more of the dildo disappeared inside of her.

“Now fuck,” Danny said.

Kirsten moaned. He leaned close to her hair and stroked her almost tenderly. “You ass getting sore? ” he cooed menacingly in her ear.

Kirsten closed her eyes and bit her lip in assent.

“Give us a good show and we won't have to get inside that ass again,” Danny said cruelly. He stood up.

The two girls began to fuck, moving forward and then back on the extra-long dildo. They worked out a rhythm, and for a moment we were all silent, watching the lewd scene before us.

“But really fuck, ladies,” Dirk complained.

They began to move faster, and slap their asses together.

“That's more like it,” Danny said. extra-long

And then he moved to the floor in front of Kirsten, and sat down. The man who had fucked Kirsten's mouth third followed his lead, but in front of Lena.

The ladies slowed, and Danny slapped Kirsten on the head. “Don't slow down,” he commanded. “Keep fucking.”

The girls obeyed, and each man grasped their heads and the girls opened their mouths to take their cocks inside of them. Danny grasped Kirsten's head and yanked her up and down himself. Lena was given the option to suck at her own pace, but she nearly gagged and he pushed her down with the back of his hands in retribution, holding her there and watching the two girls shift uncomfortably as they tried to continue fucking.

Danny raised his hips and came, holding Kirsten's head to his cock and forcing himself all the way to the back of her throat.

At this point, the dildo slipped from Lena's ass, and everyone in the room began to move, converging on the two women. Danny moved away and Dirk and Craig went for Kirsten. The dildo was slipping from her ass slowly, and it Dirk grabbed it, tossing it aside. Craig pulled her up on top of his body, and lowered her pussy over his cock.

I stood, staring, waiting for Dirk to go in for her ass, and he was nearly there when he turned to me and smiled. He waved his hand in the direction of my wife's ass, as if welcoming me to his house. “I'm bein' rude,” he said, with the same tone people used for having taken to many hits on a pipe.

But I didn't care. The only thing I could see now was Kirsten's ass. I moved in my trance toward her, and fell down on my knees between the legs of Craig and Kirsten. I pushed her onto his chest, and watched his cock moving in and out of her pussy for a moment, beneath the gaping hole of her ass.

For a moment the scene was so surreal that I couldn't act. My cock was so painfully hard, for the second time that night, that I was almost doubled over with the pain. It made it difficult for me to think through what

I was seeing: Kirsten, my wife, had another man's cock inside of her, and her asshole had been stretched out by not one but three cocks and was now gushing cum and stretched open.

I was finally going to fuck my wife in the ass.

I held my cock for a moment near her gaping hole. And then I went in.

Kirsten squealed, and I felt her ass clench closed, but I didn't stop. I had a thought flutter through my mind: if she was going to be such a whore, there was no way I wasn't going to get a piece of her.

Instead of making me feel guilty, it just turned me on more. Suddenly the idea of degrading my own wife was like heroine in my veins. I thrust inside of her roughly and pushed past her high-pitched wail.

The flesh of her ass was slick, likely with other men's cum, and it was tight even though so much had been done to it already. Her hot flesh closed around my cock and nearly sent me over the edge as soon as I was inside of her. I sucked in my breath, tried to think of something boring, and held back the wave of climax that was overcoming me.

Against my cock, I could feel the hard, thick member of Craig. I could feel another man's stiff cock through the stretched flesh of my wife, as he rammed his hips upward and inside of her. His cock was practically stroking mine, and I could feel Kirsten twisting and clenching in discomfort. She whinnied like a horse and bucked, but the two of us had her pinned with our cocks.

I was near the edge, and I began to move just to feel Kirsten squeeze me and hear her mewl. I wanted to enjoy this for just a moment more.

But Dirk knelt near her face, and lifted her by the hair, and turned her face toward him.

And then my wife, who it turns out was a very filthy little whore, opened her mouth, and took Dirk inside her last unfilled hole.

The room went quiet for moment, or maybe it was only the blood filling my ears. But for a few seconds the only sound I could hear was the sticky, rubbery sound of my own cock in her ass, the wet stickiness of Craig's cock in her pussy, and the choking, gagging stickiness of Dirk's cock in her throat.

And then my orgasm gripped me, like someone had me by the balls, and shot up through my torso so hard I thought I would lose consciousness.

I screamed as I thrust my hardest into Kirsten, who was emitting agonized sounds, muffled by the cock in her mouth.

I looked up, after my cum had filled her ass, and saw Dirk's cock spewing cum onto her face.

I fell back on my heels and then sat down.

I was exhausted. Drunk.

And then quite suddenly, staring at my wife on all fours.

Craig had scooted away from her, and Dirk was sitting in a chair. Everyone in the room had gotten their fill of either Lena or Kirsten, and now there were only panting people, and the smell of sex on everything.

And Kirsten. Her holes dripping white cum, her pussy and her ass red and swollen. Her skin coated in a white glaze.

I stared at her, and even though my cock could not respond after so much fucking, I could feel a tingle in my groin.

She fell onto the floor, and laughed.

I reached out, and grabbed her by one ankle, pulling her toward me, dragging her on the floor. I wasn't sure where the strength to do this, or the inclination came from. She twisted around, and her face was a smeared, wet mess, streaked by mascara and sticky with spit and cum. She let her hands fall above her head.

A white glob of cum, perhaps Craig's – but who knew? - was on her stomach. I reached out and rubbed it into her skin. She smiled, and the scene was surreal again, as though I were giving her a friendly massage.

Her eyes closed, like a cat being pet.

The others, somehow, and I don't really remember when, disappeared from the room, except for the nameless fifth man, who had fallen into a chair, tipped his head back, and fallen asleep. Someone had tossed a towel over him.

The carpet was a bit filthy, and the lights were still on, but when I looked back at Kirsten, she had fallen asleep.

I made a pillow of my pants and her jeans, and found a blanket on the floor – likely quite dirty, but at this point, what wasn't? - and I lay down and covered us both.

“Rob.”

I was awake but my eyelids felt too heavy to lift. The color of them told me that daylight flooded whatever room lay on the outside of my closed eyes, but what that was came seeping through my skull.

Oh god.

Images of my wife, sucking and fucking and covered in cum.

“Rob.”

It was Kirsten's voice. Harsh. Uptight.

Back to its usual self?

I opened my eyes.

Kirsten was dressed. Her hair as in a ponytail. She had no makeup on and her skin was freshly washed. She had the annoyed expression on her face that I had come to know and love. The expression for me running late, for people burping at the table, for me wanting a beer.

“The plows are here,” my back-to-normal wife said.

Her voice was frosty. I rubbed my eyes.

“We have to go.”

The drive from an altitude like Snowy Butte's, in the fall, when the mountains are already covered in snow and the rest of the world is still warm and sunny, is surreal. As we descended one pass and ascended another, the swirls of snow disappeared, the cold air turned warm, and by the time we reached Denver it seemed like late summer. My wife seemed to harden back into her old self as well. The girl who had fucked so many men was gone, and replaced by my wife, who was already on her smartphone, answering legal emails with terse lips by the time we turned the corner to her parents' house.

We have never spoken about Snowy Butte, and the more time that passes between that night and now, the less I can even believe it happened.

I catch her sometimes though. Winking at me a little, a smattering of her mischievous look on her countenance.

I am still waiting for her to suggest another trip to the mountains, or an old haunt.

I can't say with any certainty whether or not I will agree to go.

Black and White

(My personal favorite quickie to write!)

Danielle is a little prude, but married sex is stale and boring even for her. When she meets her husband's big, black boss, she can't control herself. Not only will she cheat on her husband, she lets Drake push her to the limits of her sexuality – and beyond. With very extended anal foreplay and BDSM, it's almost too hot to turn down!

Oh, I forgot: there's a camera in there somewhere. You won't believe what they do with the pictures.
