PROLOGUE

Things were never a rolling boil in the bedroom with Noel. I'll be the first to admit it, the first to take the blame for the troubles that came out of that fairly early-on in our marriage. The seven-year itch probably came around year three.

Not that I'd act on it. Not that I'd actually scratch it. For all the same reasons that I had kept dating Noel for such a long, long time; for all the same reasons I had married her. I wasn't going to cheat on her, and I wasn't going to risk divorcing her or hurting her over our sex life.

It wasn't a bad sex life, it was just.... not especially spectacular.

It might be hard for some people to understand the dichotomy at work in my life. I think of myself as pretty sexual guy. And I love Noel, very deeply.

But Noel is... a bit locked up, sexually. I had always thought there might be something in there, some hidden thing that I could get at if I just found a way to unlock it. But after a while, it seemed less and less likely. And there were so many other things I loved about Noel, that I think I just stopped thinking about it after a while.

You have to understand that Noel has a ton of great qualities about her. She has this plain, inconspicuous kind of beauty, a very fresh, freckled, hazel-eyed prettiness about her that at first glance makes her look like a milkmaid from a pastoral painting. She dresses in conservative matching knits that are a little too loose and a little too old for her, but rather than making her less attractive it gives her this kind of church-going, innocent luster. Not a "crazy church girl" look, with the too-long hair - just a nice, sweet, church-going girl who might be persuaded to get a little naughty. She has a gangly, colt-like look about her; her legs are too long and her gait is a little awkward. When you combine all of these things - the gangliness, the fresh-church-going-farm-girl clothes, and her face (which has this underlying layer of sultriness, like it's just smoldering under there and she keeps it buried under her freckles) - the effect is arousing. And somehow, a little dirty. She's the kind of cinnamon-sprinkled milky-complexioned girl you just want to corrupt. Or fantasize about corrupting. She gives you the impression that there just has to be something in there to unlock.

She's also a very smart girl. Noel's a very fun conversationalist. She's skeptical and cynical at her scientists' core, but she's also very sweet. I don't meet too many bright women, and I meet even fewer who manage to be both smart and genuinely sweet at the same time. She has a contagious laugh, and it makes her voice turn gravelly. She does this thing where she opens her eyes a little wider and leans forward to say something halfway mean (because halfway is as far as she goes).

It's unsurprising – at least to me – that with all of these qualities, she was never much of an adventurer in bed. What's the best way to describe Noel and sex? She gave it a kind of naughty feel, because she always seemed to be a little scandalized that she was even doing it. For her, it was always sort of an afterthought.

There were some... disappointing aspects to this side of her, and the fact that I never figured out how to unlock that other thing I believed was inside of her. After we had dated for a while, she abandoned trimming things up down there. She often wore the same two, sturdy and practical, bras for months on end. After enough time passed, the allure of the Sunday-school clothes wore off, especially since I started to believe that there was no wild animal beneath them, just waiting to get out. I was always the one to initiate sex, and there was never any real surprise in what was going to happen with that. If she had a few glasses of wine, Noel might be convinced to go down on me, and if you're a guy I'm sure you feel the same way I do about it: a blow-job is a blow-job. But there wasn't much... passion in it, if you know what I mean. Every blue moon we would do it doggy-style or introduce some minor rough-sex or dirty-talk, but this was never anything mind-blowing.

Still, I kept dating her, and then we moved in together, and then we got married. I don't know how it all happened, to be honest. We just sort of... imploded into marriage. Like a fallen souffle. And then it turned into Everybody's Long-Term Relationship I Ever Heard Of: Noel wasn't a great adventure in bed, but she was a sweet person, a pretty girl, responsible and smart and fun to hang out with. She wasn't great in bed but she was there, and at least she was pretty willing to have sex on a regular basis. The dating scene was increasingly demented: I'd come out of a scary time with a girl who had thrown me up against a wall and pulled my cock out of my pants fifteen minutes into our first date, and then accused me of rape three weeks later. I'm not even sure how I weaseled out of that, but it left me irritated by, and frankly scared of, most of the women on the market. Noel, in her pretty matching knits and long skirts or jeans, her eyes that darted briefly around before she agreed to anything, as though to make sure that it was okay with the world first – Noel was a nice breath of fresh air. She was safe. And after a while, it just seemed like.... well, there was no good reason to break up, not one that I could tell her. We got along, we agreed on almost everything, our sex life was “okay.”

In some ways, this was kind of fun for me. What can I say? I’m a glutton for a perverse kind of punishment, one in which I was never really getting everything I wanted from Noel. And I think I liked leaving the dirty possibilities in the realm of fantasy. I made suggestions here and there, but Noel had a way of giggling them away, or pretending she didn’t hear me, or looking so scandalized that I often took back the idea before she decided to cry or something.

So after we got married, and the doldrums of marriage set in, I kind of abandoned all hope on ever having any excitement in bed. I amused myself with porn, I occasionally rolled over in the morning and convinced her to lay there with her legs open for a quickie, and less frequently than before, but still occasionally, we went out to dinner or shared a bottle of wine (me: four glasses; Noel: one) and had lukewarm to warm sex that involved something “different,” like oral or a lackluster blowjob. It was sort of boring, but I loved her, so who cared?

And I was okay with that.

And then, almost out of the blue, I discovered the key to unlocking Noel.

1: LAST YEAR

The first year I got a clue about how to unlock Noel's secrets, we had stayed at my buddy Mike's cabin in Steamvail a few days later than the other guests. Mike was an old family friend of mine, and a college buddy. I had been spending a winter vacation with him since we were kids. His parents had passed away and he had gotten rich in Silicone Valley and redone the property, and Steamvail had gone from a sleepy mountain village to a hip mecca for Silicone Valley vacationers, but Mike let me tag along every year out what could only be loyalty.

It had been a fun year, a good year of skiing with great snow. Mike's wife Alicia and Noel, who had never really gotten along all that well, mostly from lack of things in common, a wild age difference, and completely different personalities, had somehow struck up a kind of weird friendship that year.

Alicia was possibly a trophy wife. She was young, stunning, and seemed about 40 IQ points behind him at times. But then, you never really knew with her. It could have been part of an elaborate act.

She had one of those faintly exotic faces that looked best pouting or sultry, and she knew it, so she maintained one of those two expressions on her face most of the time. She had long, sun-streaked hair that she pushed constantly and drowsily from her face: unusual, full lips; an unremarkable and perfectly proportioned nose; smoky gray eyes that she usually surrounded with very little, but very dramatic, shadow. Every feature on her face was curved, unlined, youthful - sexy. She had light pink lips, smoky gray eyes, light brown-blond hair - but her skin was a deep olive, revealing Mediterranean heritage of some kind.

Noel seemed incredibly plain next to Alicia, and her sharp wit and slightly dorky sense of humor seemed cartoonishly exaggerated next to Alicia's sultry pouts. Alicia was a model or something, and Noel was a PhD. They found little common ground.

But that year, they were spending the days on the easy, fun blue slopes together in the morning and then hanging out at a restaurant or the house in the afternoon. Alicia had even managed to convince Noel to go shopping with her. (I imagined the trip consisted of Alicia purchasing racy lingerie while Noel blushed and politely, followed by Alicia looking on nonplussed while Noel held up glass figurines of polar bears she found hysterical). Whatever; they were both having fun and Mike and I could tear up the mountain like the old days without having to spend half an hour at the bottom of every run waiting for the two of them to catch up.

Our last day, Noel agreed to try snowboarding with Alicia.

“Really,” I said, bemused, when she emerged from the rental shop with a board. Noel was wearing a light-blue snowsuit, sporty and practical. Her hair hung in two braids from inside her helmet. She hadn’t put on her goggles yet, and her cheeks were rosy, her eyes glowing unusually. She grinned, looking impossibly cute.

“Alicia’s going to teach me,” she said. She seemed actually excited about it.

I looked over at Alicia, who was wearing a white snowsuit, the jacket unzipped provocatively to the center of her belly, revealing that she was wearing a tight-fitting tank-top beneath her coat. Her hair was hanging from her powder-blue-hat like someone had primped her for a fashion shoot, and she had her arms draped casually over her board. She gave me a weak smile and a shrug.

It was very unlike Noel to do anything new of her own free will, let alone cheerfully. “Okay,” I said, a little warily. “Well, have fun ladies.”

Noel grinned and the two of them bobbed off looking delighted.

We found them in the afternoon totally wasted on the deck of a pub at the base of the mountain. Noel had her foot propped up on a chair with something draped over it. It looked like an injury she had been treating and, subsequent to drinking, forgotten all about.

“Hey,” I said, furrowing my brow.

Noel wasn’t a drinker, and she was especially uptight about injuries and caring for them. She was not a “twist-my-ankle-and-get-wasted-and-blow-it-off” kind of girl.

Noel had a straw between her lips, and a rosy glow on her cheeks. Her hazel eyes looked dark, probably from her large pupils. It gave her a dangerously sexy appearance. “Hey,” she said, and her voice seemed craggy and low. She slurred a little trying to pronounce even the one word.

Mike took in the scene and headed for the bar without comment. “Get us some rum and Cokes!” Alicia called out to him as he left. “Diet Cokes!”

“Uh...” I said, to Noel’s bright face, a little flabbergasted she was so drunk.

She closed her lips around her straw and sucked some of her drink into her mouth sexily. “I spent,” she said, and took another sip, “the whole day on my ass.”

I looked over at Alicia, who wrinkled her nose to indicate that it was true. “She’s really bad,” she concurred, and the two laughed.

“What happened to your ankle?” I said, looking at her foot.

Noel looked at her foot as if she’d forgotten she had one. “Oh that,” she said, and they burst out laughing again. Noel pointed behind Alicia and said no more. I squinted in that direction and saw the stairs, which I could only assume meant she had tripped there or something. Neither one of them seemed inclined to tell the story, so I didn’t press for details.

Then I felt Noel’s hand on my thigh. It was a strange gesture, coming from her, and it gave me a mild jolt.

“How about you,” she murmured. She was bubbling, throaty, her hair loose and her features relaxed. She moved her hand over my thigh. “How’d it go?”

I stared at her. Like I mentioned before, it was usually only with the help of a glass of wine that Noel got anywhere near approaching “wild” in bed, and she was well into a third or fourth drink. I got lost thinking about the possibilities and stared at her.

She moved her hand lightly, pushing her fingertips further toward my crotch, along my inner thigh. “Skiing? How was it?”

She tried to grab the straw of her drink between her lips, and missed. She tried again, and then burst out laughing and set the drink down. “I think I’m wasted,” she said.

“Okay,” I said. “I’m having one drink, and then we’re getting you out of here.” She was dangerously close to being ridiculous. Like I said, she didn’t drink, and she was going to be miserable the next day.

I took her home in Mike’s car, and Mike and Alicia stayed, Alicia waving us away dreamily with her sultry eyes fluttering and her voice crystal-clear like she hadn’t had a single drink. They would ride up with some friends who were coming later anyway, they said.

My plan was to get Noel to take a brief nap and sober up a little, before she became a disaster. She came willingly, so she must have had some sense she had too much. She was being fun, though. Carefree, for once.

And flirtatious, which was always welcome.

She headed straight for the bedroom, saying she was going to get into her suit and soak her foot in the hot tub. I followed her, feeling a little hopeful that between her diminished reasoning, and the evidently frisky mood she was in, I might get treated to some sex. In the early evening, no less.

“So what’d you and Alicia talk about all day?” I said, closing the door.

Noel didn’t answer, she just peeled her shirt off over her head. She was wearing a tight-fitting wool undershirt and beneath it, a sports bra. I was surprised when she peeled the bra away and her large tits sprung loose, right there in front of the big, open window. “Oh... you know... girl-stuff,” she said.

She turned toward the dresser and, topless, with her full breasts swaying slightly, began to fish through her clothes for her swimsuit.

“That’s a good look for you,” I said, trying to sound seductive.

She found her suit and held it up. It was a one-piece, dark blue suit that made her look more like a member of a diving team than anything else. “I knew I had it!” she said. She threw it on the bed and started to shimmy out of her Lycra pants, peeling them from her body. A practical pair of cotton undies went with them.

She was naked for a moment. The reflection of the light against the glass gave a great view of her bare behind: the pretty curve of her well-turned ass, her long legs, the bumps of her spine. In front of me, her breasts swung slightly as she leaned over and stepped into her swimsuit. When she stumbled a little, she reached out and grabbed my thigh.

I put my hand on her shoulder and gently pushed her toward the bed. “Before you get into that suit,” I said, “maybe we should just...” I had no end for that sentence, so I put my mouth on hers. Her lips were moist and tasted a tiny bit like alcohol and sugar, as though her many rum and Cokes had lingered on her lips all this time. She kissed me back, and I was stirred even more to push her toward the bed. I could feel her mouth smiling beneath my lips. “Spencer...” she mumbled, muffled by my mouth. I felt her hand come up to push against my chest, but she gave up fairly quickly, and melted into the bed.

I knew an opportunity when I saw one: Noel was good and drunk, and there was something about her playful, secretive times with Alicia that I found alluring.

Some ideas came into my head, and they made me a little more aggressive than usual. Noel said, “Oh my gosh!” She made a move for the light – it had started to get dark in the folds of the mountains and I had turned it on as we entered the room.

(It should be noted that Noel changed her clothes in the bathroom when we visited Mike’s. Every bedroom had a floor-to-ceiling glass wall at one end of it, and even though the house was designed so that no windows looked into each other and there was only empty forest surrounding it, Noel was too shy to stand there naked. She would let me make love to her, but only under the covers, and only if I undressed her beneath them. She was not big on exhibitionism. I thought it was pretty cute.)

“Leave it on,” I said, making a trail of kisses down the side of her abdomen. I was pleased when her skin prickled with goosebumps and her chest rose up, a little squirmy but more to meet my mouth than to get away from it.

“But...” she said, and her voice drifted away as I rubbed my cheeks against her inner thigh. I hadn’t shaved in two days so the stubble was pretty fierce, and though I rarely had the opportunity to test my theory (it was crucial to be immaculate in my appearance at work), I believed Noel got really turned on by the sensation against her inner thigh. Her leg twitched a little.

I could smell her scent now, a honeyed nectar that tasted far tangier than it smelled, uniquely hers, as sweet-scented as her personality. She had trimmed her bush up, but it was still a tangle of mahogany curls, and I used my opposite thumb to push them away and peel her open. I was pleased to find the curls damp beneath my finger.

“The light...” Noel mumbled, and she started to twist a little. I gripped her with my hand and dove into her flesh, finding her clit between her buttery folds and sucking it into my mouth. Her body went limp, giving up her resistance, and then she went tense in a new way as I made lazy circles over the face of her clitoris. I could feel her winding up, giving in to the pleasure of it. I found her hole and was satisfied with the slick taste of her juices. I dove inside of her, relishing the silky feel of her insides. She seemed to coil up inside as I pulled her lips open and made several passes over the silky inner lips of her pussy, letting my stubble brush against her clit. She shuddered and I felt her body rising up to meet my mouth.

I looked up at her and sealed my lips around her hardened clit. Noel's clit is a tiny nub that gets wildly engorged when she's turned on: it's almost vulgar how fat and bright it gets. I forsake looking at it for the moment, and began to move my tongue and jaw rhythmically over the sleek center of it. Noel threw her head back, and her stomach began to ripple with waves of mounting pleasure.

She tossed her head back and forth, and then, as I hoped, she lifted her head and looked at me as I finished her off. Her thighs squeezed inward and she jolted violently when she came.

I kept my mouth against her clit until she was bucking wildly to get away from me, the pleasure too much for her. Her sweet juices were dripping down my chin and sticking to my cheeks, gathering in her curls. I knew she didn't want to scream, but I wanted to try and make her do it. She thrashed around and panted helplessly, trying to move away. "Please, Spencer, oh my god, stop!"

I kept going, until she threw her head back and let out a little bit of a tortured sob. Then I slowly rose to my knees, and pushed her legs open.

My cock was throbbing now. I looked at myself in the reflection across the glass wall opposite the bed. Noel's upturned tits heaved beneath me, and her legs sprawled around me. She watched as I took my cock in my hand and guided it to her pussy.

I would have liked to do a lot of things at that point – a lot dirtier things, which I think I could have gotten away with. But between my thoughts of Alicia and Noel, and the taste of Noel's cum all over my lips, and the fact that we hadn't had sex for almost a week, I could feel myself boiling over almost as soon as I sheathed myself in her hot pussy. I covered her body with mine, and she wrapped her legs around me. Her soft heels slid over my lower back, and she wrapped her slender arms around me, under my own arms. I ground slowly against her, sinking into her heat, and trying not to come until her lips parted and her eyes seemed to dilate again and become distant as she rose to another crest herself. I felt her lifting her hips to mine and pulling me into her with her thighs, and then I lost it. I slammed my cock deep inside of her and filled her up with my cum, hammering myself into her long after I was finished so that I could feel her pussy clench around me once again as she came a second time.

It was the hottest sex we'd had in a while. And at that time, it had been a long while between those mediocre episodes. I turned to kiss her, and enjoy the moment a little, but Noel was hyper-drunk. She fidgeted and sat up.

"I have to go take a shower," she said, and jumped out of the bed.

"Why?" I said, jokingly.

She crumpled up her face. "Ew," she said. "We're going into the hot tub." She started to dig into the drawers, looking for something. She pulled out a razor after muttering for several seconds under her breath. "Also," she said, waving it in the air. Ah yes. She needed to trim up her unruly curls for her suit.

She opened the closet, loudly, drunkenly, and pulled out a robe. She wrapped it around herself and tied it firmly, like it was a rope for life preservation and not a robe. She pushed her hair from her face.

With the flush of exertion across her face, the little beads of sweat on her upper lip, and her messy hair, Noel had a whoreish glow to her. Even though I had just come inside of her, I felt my cock twitch. She looked down, scanning the bed, and seized her swimsuit. "Okay!" she said, flustered. Then she disappeared out into the hall, headed for the bathroom.

By the time Noel finished what was likely a pretty hefty shaving job, because as I've mentioned, she wasn't exactly a perfectionist about upkeep, Mike and Alicia and some of their friends had returned. Mike knocked on the door on his way past our room and bellowed that everyone was going to the hot tub.

Noel returned, wearing her robe over her suit, and sat down on the bed. "Did I hear everyone come back?"

"Yep."

"Well, I have to go soak my foot, I think. I can't feel it now but it was really bad when I did it."

"Aren't you supposed to ice it?"

Noel grinned. "Yes. But a hot tub is more fun."

"I think everyone is headed down there," I said. "Just so you know."

Noel wasn't terribly big on being seen in a swimsuit by a lot of people, and especially not the beautiful people who showed up at Mike's place. I saw her hesitate a little. She bit her lip. "Who is it?" she said.

I shook my head. I was admiring the visible length of thigh that was hanging out of her robe. Sometimes I forgot how attractive Noel was. I reached toward her legs, and wiggled my fingers in the air, beckoning her to me. “You know,” I said, “we could just stay up here.”

She pulled her robe tighter around herself. “Oh,” she said. “I really wanted a hot tub. I shaved and everything.”

I shrugged. “So? Let’s go.”

Noel nodded. We started toward the door.

“Let’s get a drink on our way down,” she said, deviously.

We grabbed some beers (I talked Noel out of a glass of wine, because she was really mixing it up and she needed to slow down) and headed to the hot tub.

Mike was already planted in it, relaxing with his arms over the ledge as though he had been there all day. “This feels great after all those bumps,” he said to me. He smiled at Noel. I enjoyed the way he looked eager to see Noel take her robe off. When a guy like Mike, who is married to a hottie like Alicia, takes the time to let his eyes wander salaciously all over your wife, you can’t help but take it as a compliment.

Noel shrugged her robe off and hurried to get into the hot tub, on the side far opposite Mike.

Mike smiled at her. “Lookin’ good, Noel. You been working out?”

Noel looked slightly horrified. It was just like her not to know if he meant this as a joke or not.

Noel did work out, but she worked out with a scientist’s precision, the same amount as always, and specifically for health and not beauty reasons. “I...” she started.

She was saved as I handed her a beer. “Whoa!” Mike yelled at me. “Use one of those frosty mugs over there, plastic.”

Noel looked relieved and sank into the water.

And so the evening began. Noel soaked and drank beer and got a little drunk again. It had the pleasant effect of making her loosen up about getting in and out of the hot tub in front of people, who seemed to be randomly multiplying. We went upstairs and ate some snacks (which had appeared, as they always did at Mike’s, as if by magic) and stood around in our robes chatting with another couple, the ones who had given Mike and Alicia a ride. We knew them from a previous trip.

Noel was getting pretty drunk, but it seemed not to matter much anymore. I expected her to turn it in pretty early at that rate, and it was far too much to hope for sex twice in one day at this point in our marriage. I was also pretty tipsy, and we were having a good time. Noel could be a lot of fun when she let loose, and I was enjoying her happy mood.

The couple left, and so did the other people who had come through the house. At that point, Noel wanted to go back in the hot tub. I went with her, but I went back inside after about ten minutes because I was overheating. A light snow started falling and Noel was in love with being outside when that happened, so she stayed. Mike gave me too much whiskey upstairs, and then I went back down and dipped my feet in, to see if Noel wanted to go to bed.

She didn't.

And that's when Alicia showed up at the hot tub, gliding out of the changing room like a goddess.

She let her white robe slide from her shoulders.

Alicia, needless to say, was not wearing a diving-team swimsuit.

The scraps of fabric that clung to Alicia's body, suspended against her skin by the thinnest of ropes, could hardly be called a swimsuit at all. It seemed, in fact, like two long straps of black, which ran along her chest and just barely covered her nipples, before folding back into themselves to (barely) cover her gash. And just her gash – the material barely spanned the width of the flesh between her legs. In back, the two straps melded into one, a thong nestled snugly between her asscheeks. All of Alicia's olive, smooth skin was on display, only loosely encased by the minimalist, and vaguely bondage-like suit.

I stared a moment too long at her as she stepped into the hot tub. My eyes went quickly to Noel, to see if she had caught me staring. But Noel was staring, herself. She was sinking into the hot tub, inch by inch, her eyes on Alicia's racy suit.

Alicia looked at her and smiled. "I got it from some designer, and I only wore it once."

Noel's eyes widened. "How do you get into it?"

I smiled. Once Noel went past a certain level of drunk, she lost all her speaking inhibitions, and uncovered her undiluted personality, which was, to say the least, charmingly child-like.

Alicia laughed.

Her eyes moved up and down Noel's swimsuit. "Do you want something a little less... I don't know, sporty? That you can relax in? I have tons of suits I've never used."

Noel's mouth hung open a little. I could tell she had no idea what to say, but any second now her brain would catch up and she would decline politely. Now that everyone was floating in the hot tub in bare skin, her suit did seem extremely cumbersome. And it was just us (Alicia, Mike, me). I could see her calculating.

Alicia reached out for her hand, giving her no time to respond. "Come on, here, they're right down here, I've never even taken the tags off some of them."

She pulled Noel with her, hopped out of the tub, and the two of them headed into the changing room.

The simple, pleasant drunk I had going suddenly got a sharp edge. I looked at Mike. He was smiling, watching them retreat. Smiling, with a very smug, kind of dirty look on his face.

Instead of angering me, I felt my cock pulse at the idea that he was imagining some kind of dirty scenario with my wife.

I slid into the water. It was uncomfortably warm. Mike tore his eyes away from the door and handed me a beer in a frosty mug. He gave me a grin. "Those two are certainly getting along," he said.

I made a strange sound.

Above us, the sound of an opening window scraped through the night air. "Hey-o!"

We looked up at the kitchen window. A dark face was hanging out of it (Mike's property management took screens off of the European-style windows in the winter to make the view more beautiful than it even needed to be).

This was turning into a big party.

Mike waved at his friend. "Bring down some more frosty mugs," he said. The guy shut the window.

"I forgot I was having a bunch of people over," he mused, sounding genuinely confused. Then he shrugged.

I looked over at the sliding door through which Alicia and Noel had disappeared. Poor Noel. She was probably only going along with Alicia's plans to put her in a scandalous suit because she thought no one was going to be here but Mike and me. She was going to be utterly mortified – especially if the suit was really risqué and she actually wore it out – if she came out here to a crowd of people. Or even one person more than she expected.

So for a second I felt bad.

And then that dark side of me got a little excited.

I couldn't help it. It was just exactly the kind of thing I liked to think about in my private fantasy-world. Noel in a naughty outfit. Noel getting a little drunk, a little risqué. Maybe I even enjoyed the idea of Noel feeling a little mortified. I didn't like to admit it, even to myself, but it sent a thrill up my spine when she got that shocked and scandalized look on her face.

And even better would be if she decided to have a little fun with it.

They were in there for quite some time. Mike's friend, a dark-skinned guy with a sculpted torso and chiseled biceps, arrived at the hot tub with a handful of guy friends. We had time to clap hands together and make introductions (his name was Devin), all before the ladies returned.

I gulped my beer. Noel was going to really feel awkward when she came back out, and I couldn't help anticipating that, secretly, I was going to enjoy it. Noel had a great body – she was no Alicia, but she had ample curves and lean thighs, and she looked quite good in a swimsuit. In fact, most of the reason she didn't look more like Alicia was an issue of confidence: Alicia walked like a regal queen, a model who knew to throw her shoulders back, and also she didn't give a damn and you could see it in the way she moved.

Noel's movements were crouched, angular, all designed to try and hide herself. But really, she had nothing to hide.

The door opened, and I tried to catch her eye to sort of apologize through the air. I saw Noel's mouth open slightly and her eyes dart around the scene, taking in the newcomers (all men).

She seemed like she wanted to step backwards into the building. Her face flushed with rosy pink that could have easily been mistaken by anyone there for a reaction to the cold night air. She moved her head like she wanted to turn around and dodge past Alicia, but I saw Alicia's slender fingers press into Noel's spine through the bathrobe and prod her forward. Alicia's mouth moved, but whatever she said was completely unknown.

Noel looked from side to side nervously, but she moved forward at Alicia's insistence. Noel looked to me helplessly. I was again caught between feeling sorry for her (which I knew was the appropriate feeling to have), and really wanting to see what kind of swimsuit Alicia had concocted for her, and how Noel's face would morph when she took off her robe in front of all those guys. And then another part of me that couldn't wait to feel their reaction ripple through the air.

I smiled at her and shrugged. Nothing could be done about it now, I tried to say with my face. That crazy Alicia.

Noel edged toward the bench closest to the steps of the hot tub. It was far too cold to hang out there in the robe, but I knew she was going to try. Alicia slid right out of her robe, but she kept walking on the porch. "Hey hey hey," I heard Devin growl, and they moved toward each other with arms open. Alicia became more animated than usual. I slid my eyes toward Mike, to see his reaction to Devin cuddling his wife, but I didn't want to turn my head. Mike was standing next to me on the porch, and I could tell by the movement of his body that he was casually sipping a beer. I looked over at Alicia's olive skin, which was everywhere, and the black hands that were moving over it.

I felt a rush of excitement and quickly jerked my eyes toward Noel.

She was looking cold. Any minute now she'd have to get in the hot tub, and we'd get to see the bikini.

I opened my mouth to beckon her to me, and give her some moral support as she disrobed, but Alicia beat me to it. "Have you met Noel?" she was cooing, and turning, along with the ebony Devin, toward Noel. "She's a scientist," Alicia said. I noticed that Devin's hand appeared to be resting on Alicia's hip.

Noel looked up at Devin. I was intrigued by the quick flicker of interest that seemed to flash through her eyes. She smiled shyly and extended her hand.

I felt my cock twitch again as the man closed his very dark, very large paw around Noel's tiny white hand. "Scientist, huh? Anyone teach you about thermodynamics? Girl you look like you're about to go into shock."

Alicia was already climbing down to sit on the porch, her legs splaying open and giving a tantalizing view of the very narrow, very flimsy, very thin black strip that covered her gash. She put her feet in the water and groaned. "Oh honey, it's so hot," she complained, looking to Mike.

Mike plopped down next to me. I was keeping my eyes rigidly fixed on Noel, who was smiling politely for Devin's "thermodynamics" comment. Alicia slid into the hot tub. "Get in, Noel, before you freeze to death. The sooner you get in the sooner you can get out because you're overheating." Alicia looked at Mike, amused.

"I do it on purpose," Mike murmured to me, unapologetically.

Alicia seemed to catch what he said and rolled her eyes, but then she smiled and extended her pretty legs in front of her. She leaned her head back and looked up at Noel. "Come on. Don't be shy," she said. "Devin, darling, will you get me a frosty mug with a drink in it?"

Devin abandoned my wife reluctantly, after letting his eyes take another walk all over what he could glimpse of her body, and Noel waited until he had turned around to slip out of the robe and stand up in one swift movement.

"Whoa," Mike said, audibly.

Noel only paused for a moment before scrambling into the hot tub, flustered. But what a moment it was. The bikini Alicia had chosen for her was red, a sort of rusty red that complemented her eyes and her hair, and her skin. It was a very narrow boy cut bottom, and an equally narrow top – the top barely covered her breasts and tied around her neck, framing the shape of her tits and plumping them up perfectly. The cut of the bottom was flattering as well – it transformed the gangly shape of Noel's legs into a pretty flare of well-proportioned, though thin, hips.

Devin turned around to catch Noel sliding into the water. He grinned, and handed a drink to Alicia. "Noel," he said, and his voice was overly-friendly, his teeth large and perfectly white. "That's a very festive name. You want a drink, Noel?"

Noel was not some kind of idiot who didn't know that a guy was overtly flirting with her. She was just pretty unused to it. I watched her eyes move back and forth from me to Devin, then to Alicia for help, while her mouth flapped open and closed, wordlessly, several times.

Alicia watched this, amused, and then looked up at Devin. "Get her a rum and Coke," she said.

Devin grinned at my wife, and then turned around to get her drink. Alicia looked at Noel, and it seemed to me a little exchange of complicity passed between them. Then Alicia began to float in our direction, holding her drink out of the water with a toned and slender arm. She smiled at Mike, and I felt like I saw her wink.

My stomach twisted again.

I decided I was obviously drunk, and letting my fantasies get ahead of my reasoning.

Then I felt Alicia's legs move over mine as she settled her ass onto Mike's lap, her long legs floating in front of her but grazing my thighs, the floating material of my loose suit, and then – yes, unmistakably – the tip of my hard cock.

I flushed, and kept my eyes rigidly on Noel. She looked over at me, but saw that there wasn't much room for her on either side of where I was sitting (one of Devin's friends was next to me, leaning against the deck and facing backwards to talk to a woman who seemed to have appeared out of nowhere about what kind of beer he wanted her to get for him.)

Devin came back with two drinks, and dropped down to a crouch next to Noel to hand one to her. He bounced with athletic ease in front of her, his dark, hairless calves and thighs taut with muscle, his sculpted chest barely changing shape, his average-sized biceps moving like an animals' with roped of muscles beneath his skin. "Here you are, pretty lady," he said charmingly.

Noel took the drink from him and looked over at me as though she was doing something perfectly sinful. Devin placed his free hand down to steady himself so that he could drop neatly into the hot tub next to her.

Noel sipped her drink and looked somewhat taken aback.

But there was something else there, too. I was sure that I saw it. I mean, she couldn't not notice that this guy was fucking gorgeous. He pressed his lips together, and seemed to move even closer to my wife. "So what kind of scientist are you?" he said.

At that moment, Alicia's heel grazed my cock.

My head spun.

Someone turned on the jets and the sound drowned out my wife's answer to Devin's question, and I stared in disbelief at the two of them smiling and talking. The water fizzed in front of my face, and I began to sink into a voyeuristic bubble, surrounded by the hum of the jets, watching my wife unknowingly engage in a fantasy of mine. She was smiling, laughing.

Maybe her hands were doing something beneath the water...

I myself was sinking down into the water, so only my eyes were above the surface.

The jets went off as abruptly as they had come on. Alicia kicked me lightly with her toe. She raised her eyebrows when I looked at her. “You need to take a breather, soldier. Don’t drown in my tub.”

She floated over to Devin on her back. Her breasts were beautifully buoyant above the water, jiggling and real. “Leave her alone,” she purred to Devin, and to my shock, extended a hand to touch his face. Noel took advantage of the moment to scoot over to me.

“You look hot,” I said, almost too quickly.

She looked down at her bikini and used her free hand to adjust the material. “Oh my god,” she said. “I had no idea all these people would be here.”

But she seemed a lot less self-conscious than she had minutes ago when she had removed her robe. Almost like the sweltering looks Devin had been giving her body had clung to her, giving her a new, albeit faint, sheen of self-confidence.

“Devin sure seems like an interesting guy,” I said. “He seemed to think your new look is pretty hot.”

I’m not sure how I had expected Noel to respond. But I didn’t expect her to avoid the statement altogether and take a sip of her drink without saying anything, which is what she did.

More people started to filter out of the house. I started to overheat in the water. After a few too many minutes of mesmerizing watching, I went up to the kitchen for some drinks to cool off, both literally and figuratively. I got caught up in a conversation with a man I’d met before, and took about half an hour to go back down.

When I returned, Noel was sitting on her knees on the bench seat of the hot tub, so most of her torso was out of the water, and she was engaged in some kind of conversation with Alicia that was making them both laugh and flap about like the opening scenes of a Girls Gone Wild video. (Not that I’d ever seen one, this is just what I imagine. Girls in hot swimsuits being giggly and drunk, their tits promising to pop out at any moment...)

But the part that really got me was that Noel was constantly leaning away from Alicia, just as part of her animated state and not with any purpose. But when she did, she was leaning against the very dark, very muscled arms and torso of Devin. At one point she even seemed to fall back against him.

And the longer I stood there watching her, reluctant to go outside and break the spell, the more I realized that because of the way that Noel was sitting on her knees, the only physically possible place for her calves to be was in Devin's lap.

I got such a perfect vision of it in my mind – Noel's pretty ankles and small, shapely feet, pale and smooth, fluttering over Devin's dark lap. The top of her foot constantly brushing over a hard, thick something. Maybe she was thinking about it, maybe not. Maybe she was just innocently curious, in the back of her mind, about what it was that was so hard and so big in Devin's lap.

And then I noticed that his hands were both underwater. He was talking to another guy, who was sitting next to him, but both of Devin's hands were in his own lap.

Moving. Moving in slow, smooth strokes. Kneading something.

I felt a jolt of queasiness, a dangerous mix of alcohol and adrenaline and eros, and then I realized what he must be doing.

His sinewy hands had Noel's feet in them, and he was pushing his thick, strong thumb along the sole of her foot, pressing in to the center of her, sending a delightful shiver from the sole of her foot to the center of her cunt.

And she was just sitting there, letting him do it.

My blood pressure had skyrocketed. I could feel the blood pounding in my ears, and I stood there, paralyzed.

And then it dawned on me, through all the feelings that seemed to be falling inward on me from above:

My cock was rock-hard.

Thinking about Devin touching my wife's feet was really turning me on. I felt, in fact, like I was getting sucked in to an alternate reality, almost as vivid as the world around me, one in which I could actually see through the stone of the tub, and the water, and watch Devin's hands move over Noel's feet, then along her leg, up her calf and along her inner thigh...

I had to actually shake my head to clear the fantasy image from my vision: no, I was not looking at Devin's black hand between Noel's legs, his thumb sliding beneath the red fabric of her borrowed, sexy bikini. I did not see Noel's body freeze, her mouth open slightly, or her eyelids flutter uncontrollably as his fingers brushed over her clit.

No. But I did see his hands moving where her feet were.

I looked at Noel's face. Was she aware that he was doing that to her? Or was she just so drunk and distracted that she had no idea? She was laughing at Alicia, and Alicia was touching her face. Noel's head was like a loose cannon on her neck. She was really trashed.

I was so caught up in all of this that I didn't even notice Mike had come to stand next to me, without making a sound. He popped something into his mouth and crunched on it. I looked over at him. He was looking at the same thing I was, amused.

I realized how drunk I was. The whole thing was so surreal.

"Who knew Noel was so hot under those sweater things she wears all the time," he commented.

He popped another crunchy snack into his mouth.

We stood there for a moment, and then he shot me a quick look.

"Looks like Devin thinks so, too."

I looked back at him, with absolutely no idea what to say to that – and really, no idea how to even read his comment, because he was giving me a really funny look. It wasn't the kind of look a person gives to a man after commenting that another man seems to be taking an interest in his wife. I felt my eyes close into a squint of confusion.

Mike popped a snack – a nut, I saw – into his mouth. "Your girl is gonna mess up our plans, if she keeps this up," he said mysteriously, and slipped the door open to step outside.

Mystified, I stood in the semi-darkness with no idea what to do next.

"There you are!" Noel exclaimed, and she was looking at me. She moved in my direction, sinking into the middle of the hot tub. She caught herself in time to avoid going under, but the blunder was obvious: she was so drunk she had forgotten there was a drop-off in the middle of the tub. Devin smiled at her, and I thought I saw his arm reach forward and touch her back. Noel was smiling innocently at me.

I had my eyes on my wife, but behind her the scene was also captivating, and confusing, with Mike's words still in my ears – your girl is gonna mess up our plans.... Alicia looked over at Noel briefly, and then closed in on Devin. Devin looked mildly disappointed as he watched my wife cross the hot tub, but got over it pretty quickly and turned his attention to Alicia.

Noel stood up and leaned against the side of the tub, smiling at me. “Where have you been?” she called cheerfully. I was still standing inside the changing room with the door open, staring at the scene like an idiot. I stepped out onto the patio and closed the door behind me. I was surprised that it was not as chilly as before, and I looked around: someone had brought out heat lamps and now the whole place was pretty balmy.

I stepped up to the side of the hot tub. I had no idea what I was feeling or about to say. I was thinking about three things at once. The image of Noel actually getting a foot rub under the surface of the water, while laughing capriciously with Noel; the weird thing Mike had said to me; and the weird fact that Alicia was now sitting on Devin’s lap – actually sitting on it, and they were getting closer and closer to each other.

And Mike? Just sitting on the edge of the hot tub, watching them.

I realized, then, that most of the partiers were gone. The guy who had been sitting next to Devin was rising up out of the tub and following a giggling woman away to the right. I had no idea where they were going; there was nothing in that direction.

Noel was smiling up at me, giving me a strange look.

“Come in,” she said.

I glanced at Alicia again. Then at Mike. Mike was fixated on his wife and the muscled black man, but not in some kind of angry way. Instead, he was just watching.

He seemed to notice that I was looking at him, and looked up at me. He shrugged. “Sorry, man,” he said.

At that moment, I could see in my peripheral vision, which seemed to be enhanced as though by magic, that Devin’s hand was sliding under the black strap of Alicia’s suit, his knuckles grazing her nipples. I heard Alicia’s throaty voice, sexily murmuring over the water.

“Unless you want to get in on the action,” Mike said. He was looking at Noel.

Noel was still looking at me. Her smile was disappearing, though I wasn’t sure why – maybe my own expression was disturbing her, or the way I kept glancing from person to person. Maybe she realized, like I had a moment before, that she was wildly drunk and wearing a bikini and behaving a bit wantonly. Whatever it was, it made her smile slowly melt away, and her head turned slowly to Alicia and Devin.

The Noel I knew, or a sober Noel, would have turned back quickly, covered her mouth, giggled a little, and jumped out of the hot tub, dragging me with her to the house through whatever door was closest. “Oh my God,” she would have said.

But instead of doing that very expected thing, she sank slowly to the bench of the hot tub, and stared at the scene in front of her.

By now, Alicia had her arms over Devin’s shoulders, and their mouths were moving very close to each other’s. They were saying things in murmuring voices, as though there were nobody else there at all.

I saw Noel’s head turn slowly toward Mike.

Mike gave her a simmering look, and for a second it was so intense I thought he might devour her right there. I felt my heart leap in my chest. Noel’s mouth fell open slightly, but not so much in disbelief as... something else.

She looked back at Alicia and Devin. Devin had his fingers on her nipple now, and he was twisting it between his thumb and forefinger, massaging it into a hard little ball. He leaned forward and very, very slowly and gently, closed his white teeth on Alicia’s lower lip, sinking into the full, red flesh.

I was frozen.

Noel stared a bit more, and then she very gracefully – for how drunk she was – turned and pushed herself out of the hot tub. She walked calmly around to the other side of the tub and picked up her robe.

“I am... going to bed,” she said. I could tell she felt a little awkward, but she was holding it together pretty well.

Alicia broke from a kiss with Devin to look at her. “Oh, you’re not going yet,” Alicia complained. “The party’s just getting started.” She gazed seductively at Noel, and for a moment I actually thought Noel might take her up on her offer. Then Noel seemed to break out of her trance, and she shook herself. “I... uh... no, I have to...” she looked to me for help.

We both dove for the glass door to the men’s locker/changing room and fumbled around trying to open it.

Noel shivered and plodded toward the door to the hallway. Then she turned abruptly, not seeming to know what to do with herself, and looked around for a towel. “Oh my God,” she said. “I’m so... drunk.” She seemed very surprised by the fact that she was.

I scrutinized her face when she looked at me. Something else was going on there, but I couldn’t figure it out. I was also drunk. And I couldn’t stop flickering my gaze out the window, where Alicia was now making out heavily with the large-lipped Devin. He seemed to be consuming her mouth, and his hands were everywhere. Noel rested her hand on the hanger she had removed the towel from, and looked at me for a moment. Then she slowly turned her gaze outside.

To my surprise, she stood there watching for a few moments.

I was pretty hammered, and I was turned on as fuck, so I went for it. I came up behind her – her skin was still wet and hot. I slid my hands around her waist. A thrill went through me when she didn’t try to move or turn around.

I pressed my mouth to her neck, pulling her wet hair away. It slid over her skin and slapped against her chest with a sound that was wet and strangely sensual. She was salty from the pool water, and her skin was radiating heat. I could barely believe what I was doing when I pulled at the knot of the bikini with my teeth, and moved my hands upward to peel the fallen straps down and expose her breasts.

We were probably in darkness, invisible to the hot tub group, and even if we weren’t, they were quite immersed in what they were doing now. But it surprised me that Noel – Noel of all people – stood there with her eyes fixated on the scene unfolding in the steamy tub, while I moved my hands to her breasts and closed my fingertips on her nipples. They pebbled at my touch, and I gave them a fierce squeeze, overcome by a desire to really claim Noel. I kissed her neck, and moved down her shoulder, pleased by the way she stood still for me, watching Alicia and her black lover, watching this very sinful scene in front of us. It was so unlike her, so far from anything I had ever even imagined Noel doing. I could feel my pulse accelerating and my veins boiling with a new, exhilarating excitement.

“I can’t believe she’s...” Noel said, and I looked at her face as she gave one slow, steady blink in their direction.

I dragged my mouth along her skin and back up to her ear. I was emboldened. I found myself diving into dirty talk I would have thought unimaginable just hours earlier.

“What’s the matter,” I breathed into her ear, not even sure who the hell I thought I was or what I was doing, “you jealous?”

Another blink. “What?” she said, drowsily. She was absorbed by what she was watching. Her body swayed a little, hinting that she was much too drunk, that I might be taking advantage of her inebriation a little more than I should.

I pushed the idea away and kept talking, probing.

I had moved my hands down the bikini shorts and under the wet fabric.

“Maybe you’re jealous of Alicia,” I said. “You seemed to be having a pretty good time with Devin yourself.” Just saying this to her, close to her ear, made my blood boil over and my cock throb against her ass.

My finger slid into her curls – which were shorter than before, and more cleanly shaved on the sides, and my fingertips found the ultra-slick wetness of her own juices as soon as I passed it over the hood of her clit. Noel gave a little jolt, and I closed my other arm around her, keeping her in place, keeping her from moving.

Her eyes were locked on the scene in front of her, as though she couldn’t look away unless she ran away, which she quickly gave up doing.

Noel gave a slow shake of her head, but it was – deliciously – half-hearted. “I wasn’t -”

“Oh, I don’t mind,” I assured her. “I liked watching you with him.”

Noel started to move her head, and I caught her chin in my hand and held her face toward the scene in front of us. I couldn’t believe how bold I was being, but what I also couldn’t believe – as much as I was thrilled by it – was that Noel was letting me do everything that I was doing to her. Sure, she was putting up a tiny fight, but it seemed more for show than anything else.

And let me just say, there is nothing like holding your wife’s face so that she “has to” look at a black man who was just a minute ago rubbing her feet seductively, as he sucks on the tits of another woman who is also married. All of it just a few feet past a glass door. My cock throbbed against Noel’s ass.

“Did he give you a foot massage?” I said into her ear.

Noel’s face moved into a state of confusion, and then her eyes widened and her body went stiff. I figured she had forgotten, then remembered.

“I watched it,” I said. “That was pretty naughty of you, Noel.”

We were in totally uncharted territory here, and I could feel fear and excitement pulsing like alternating currents through Noel’s body. Her heart was beating rapidly – I could feel it against my wrist through her chest. Her breaths were short and gasping. I pinched her clit between my fingers and she shuddered.

“I didn’t...” she began, but I bit into her earlobe. “I liked it,” I interrupted. “Was it a very good massage?”

In front of us, Devin and Alicia were getting into it very heavily. They were pawing at each other, and Alicia’s hands were under the water, strained with motion, grasping, no doubt, at his cock.

“Could you feel his cock under your feet?” I said. And then, before Noel could answer, I whispered, “I know you could. Was it big?”

Beneath my fingers, I felt Noel’s clit throb.

“So you are a bad little girl,” I said. I pinched her clit again, the core of it darting between my fingers, the movement echoed in a shudder that coursed through her body. She gasped. I placed the tip of my finger on the face of her clit, and I felt another jolt go through her. I began to stroke the raw center of her knob, and she sank a little with the weakness in her legs. I pushed up against her, and dipped one of my fingers into her cunt.

She was wet, filthy wet, and I had my answer.

“Tell me if you felt his cock, Noel.” I slowed the pace of my strokes.

Her eyes, like mine, were on Alicia and Devin now, and the way that Alicia’s body was rising up and then settling down on his lap. They were open-mouthed, panting like animals now. We stared, only our own heavy breaths in the silence of the room, as Alicia and Devin pressed their beautiful bodies against each other.

Mike, watching, calmly sipped a drink and watched his wife get slutty with another man.

“I did,” Noel said, breathlessly. “I felt his cock.”

My fingers were inside of her soft cunt by then, and I felt her pussy clench around them with a pulse of excitement.

“And was it big?” My voice was shaking. It was almost too much to bear.

She gasped a little, and it wasn’t because of anything I had done. I shuddered. The memory of Devin’s big cock under her shin was enough to make her suck in her breath.

“Do you wish you were Alicia right now, riding on his big, fat, cock?” I whispered. I slowed my fingering, and waited for answer.

We both had our eyes on the hot tub, where things were rapidly turning into depravity. I had never watched anyone else have sex before, not in real life, not right in front of me. I had never dared to hope that a scene this lurid would ever happen, or that Noel of all people would be there with me. I had never even imagined that she would let me extract such dirty words from her mouth while I fingered her. I never imagined in a million years that my wife – sweet, milky-complexioned Noel – would get a drenched pussy watching a black man fuck my wife’s friend while I insinuated that she wanted it to be her taking the thrusts of his big cock.

Devin lifted Alicia out of the hot tub and pushed her around like a rag doll until she was leaning on her elbows on the deck. Her ass, with nothing more than the lewd black strap of her swimsuit between her cheeks, was on full display, and she arched her back and thrust herself up, displaying herself for Devin and, apparently, for her husband. Devin slowly peeled away the “swimsuit,” and it crumpled into the water of the hot tub, leaving the bare contours of Alicia’s body on display for us all. We watched, and I slowly pumped my wife’s incredibly juicy cunt, as Devin’s dark fingers disappeared into the red gash of Alicia’s cunt.

He finger-fucked her, first one thick finger and then two, finally three inside of her. As he added his fingers her cunt broke open, her pink lips spilled out and we could see her whole pussy unfolding like the petals of a flower. A wet, dirty flower, getting stuffed full of black. Devin dipped his thumb into her juices, and then he rubbed it over the tiny, barely visible pink eyelet of Alicia’s ass.

I sucked my breath in and plunged my own fingers deep into my wife’s pussy, making her fold over a little to accommodate me, as I watched Devin’s thick black thumb disappear into Alicia’s asshole. He spread his fingers like a fan, with his thumb in her ass and two of his fingers in her cunt, prying her open. He finger-fucked her slowly and methodically for a good long time.

I could feel Noel’s pussy throbbing around my fingers, and her muscles were straining against my chest. “Wait,” I said, and I stopped finger-fucking her. “You want to see his cock in her pussy first, don’t you?”

I slid my hand from her chin to her left hand, which was clenched in a fist and floating aimlessly near her ribs. I guided her hand to my cock, and placed her palm on the pulsing, rock-hard column of my shaft. Her fingers closed around it through the fabric of my swimsuit.

“You feel that?” I said. I slid my fingers out of her swimsuit and pulled on my swim trunks, freeing my cock. I tugged on her hand to push her down to the floor, where we had soaked the carpet we were standing on. Noel fell to her hands and knees, without taking her eyes off the hot tub.

“Do you wish you were out there right now?” I whispered. I pulled her suit down – peeled it away from her skin, really, and it made a sensual and filthy, sticky sound as it came away from her body. I slid my fingers into her pussy, mimicking Devin, picturing his dark hands, instead of mine, dipping into my wife’s soaked folds. The effect was as exhilarating as anything I’d ever done. Noel kept her eyes on the scene in the hot tub, where Devin was pulling down his own swim trunks. His cock was enormous, just as I had suspected. It sprung loose and bobbed above the bubbling water of the hot tub.

He pushed Alicia by the small of her back, until she lay down flat on the wood of the deck. And then he turned his body, and we were no longer able to see the details we both craved, but the scene was lewd enough. His round black buttocks covered Alicia’s ass from view, and his body sank into hers. For a moment that was all we could see, and Noel gasped audibly.

I imagined the thickness of his column filling her up, and then I looked down at Noel’s drenched pussy and pictured her getting filled by the veined shaft of meat of another man. The meat of a ripped, black bull like Devin. I took my own, more moderately sized cock and guided it to Noel’s wet hole. I had never, to my recollection, felt her pussy gush like this before.

She squirmed and pushed her ass back toward me, trying to get my cock inside of her. She made a desperate noise, something she never did, and whispered: “Please, Spencer, please.”

Devin was pounding Alicia now, his ass moving back and forth in furious slaps against her body. But then, to add lewdness to the already dirty scene, Alicia lifted her legs from the water, folding them up so that Devin could grasp her ankles and push forward on them, like handlebars on a bike he was riding hard.

Mike was moving as well, and he had stripped away his suit. His pale, swollen cock was erect in his lap as he shuffled into position next to Alicia’s face.

I grabbed Noel's hips and slammed my cock inside of her. "Do you wish you were getting fucked like a little whore, like Alicia? Tell me how much you want a big cock inside of you."

"Oh my God!" Noel said, and it was unclear why – whether because I had slammed my meat into her so hard, or because she was so turned on by the idea I had suggested. Her pussy throbbed around my cock. I could feel that she was ripening, pulsing to a climax, and she was coming like rocket. "He's..." she said.

I looked away from my cock sliding in and out of her cunt to the scene outside, and saw that Mike had lifted Alicia by the hair and twisted her body toward him. He was pushing her mouth onto his cock now, and she was opening up and taking him in.

I shuddered, suddenly overcome by a wave of ecstasy that threatened to send me over the edge, as I pictured Noel's mouth around my cock while her body bumped against me with the motion of another man pounding himself into her pussy.

"I'm going to come," I said, in a whisper, my breath being sucked from my lungs.

Noel bucked against me and started to move back and forth, slamming herself into me while she watched Mike and Devin pound away at Alicia's pussy and mouth. Then I felt her cunt spasm around my cock, and she gave a little yelp. She seemed to explode, hot and liquid, all around me. She dropped her head and groaned as I pounded her mercilessly until my seed filled her soaked cunt. I didn't hear myself yelling until the crest of my orgasm passed, but no one seemed to hear or notice.

Outside, I could see that Devin's buttocks were clenching and he was rammed inside of Alicia, dumping his cum into her. Mike was staring at the place he could surely see Devin's cock moving in and out of Alicia's pussy. He had his hand on his wife's head, pushing her up and down the length of his shaft while he boiled over in her mouth.

Noel was panting, her head hanging, her pussy still throbbing around my cock with a wild orgasm. She lifted her head, and looked at the final throes of our friends' orgy. Then she slowly crawled forward, and my cock flopped wetly from her pussy. She rose to her knees and slid the suit up to cover her ass, and drunkenly fumbled for a towel we had discarded on the floor. "We better go," she whispered, and she looked back at me.

Her face was a stunning mixture of shame and delight, embarrassment and sultriness. She smiled, almost shyly, and we gathered up the things we had scattered on the floor, giggling, and crept hurriedly away to the hallway.

We ran into some of the other party guests upstairs, and to my recollection they seemed to have also just done something very naughty, but maybe I'm wrong. My head was spinning, and Noel was practically unable to walk.

"I can't believe we did that," she whispered, when I closed the door to our room. "Oh my God." Then she collapsed on the bed, face-first. I followed suit, on my back. I closed my eyes. I stroked Noel's back. "That was... so hot," I said. "So hot."

Noel squirmed, tugging on her swimsuit to try and get it off. "Do you... are they swingers, then? Oh my God, I can't believe..." her voice was extremely slurred, and she was starting mumble. She laughed as she got her fingers caught up hopelessly in her suit. She pulled the covers up and over herself, wrapping up like a burrito.

I meant to say something, but I closed my eyes for a bit, searching for the right words and wondering if I should say anything at all. By the time I decided to say something, Noel's breathing had slowed and it was clear, from the soft sound coming from her mouth, that she was asleep.

We were wickedly hungover the next morning, and so for the first few minutes of us stirring in bed, I was confused more than anything else. Confused about where I was, when I had gone to bed, how I had gotten there.

The memories of the night, now stark and almost frightening in their sober clarity, rushed into my head, but I had been so loopy and the things we had done so surreal, that I almost doubted any of it had even happened.

Noel groaned and rolled out of the bedcovers. "Oh my God," she said, sucking her breath in and putting her hand to her head. "Oh God, my head."

It was ten o'clock. I had no idea when we had gone to bed. I kissed Noel on the forehead. A bit insensitively, I have to say. I was overeager to talk about the night before, to say something about it, to press against the envelope of dirty filth it had created. To see what had really happened and what had not. My pulse started racing as the images from the night before flooded my mind.

My cock got hard.

I started kissing Noel's shoulder, but she pulled away sharply and sucked her breath in again. "Oh God," she said. "Oh no. Oh... I think I'm going to be sick."

She stood up and stumbled around, grabbed a robe to cover herself, and disappeared into the hallway. She didn't even bother to close the door. She was gone for a long time, taking a shower.

When she returned, she looked clean and a little better. She gave me a weak smile. "Wow," she said. "I really, really overdid it." She opened a drawer.

I could feel my heart falling from the high it had gone to.

"That was pretty hot sex last night," I ventured.

She smiled, and selected a shirt, which she struggled to get over her head. "Yeah," she said, and she found some underwear, which she struggled equally with. Then she stood, put her hand on her hip, looked at me, and smiled shyly.

It seemed genuine, and truthful, when she said, sheepishly, "I mean, uh... honey, I'm sorry. I don't really remember how I even got out of the hot tub."

And my hopes went crashing to the floor.

In the car, on the way home, I tried to bring it up again. Noel spaced out, looking out the window, biting on her thumbnail and thinking.

"Well," I said, looking over at her. "That was probably our best trip."

I was trying to open the door to talking about the night before, but giving Noel the chance to side-step the topic if she needed to. You might think it's strange, but the thing is, I knew Noel had really gone outside of her comfort zone with sex last night. And while I did want to talk about it (expand on it, repeat it, tease more like that out of her), I didn't want to make her so uncomfortable that there would never be any possibility of talking about it... or doing something like that... ever again.

Surely she had a reason for not talking about it, and the possibility did exist that she didn't remember it at all. I suspected that she was fibbing a bit by pretending not to remember anything, in order to avoid talking about it because she felt guilty.

(I have to admit, also, that the idea that she felt guilty was a turn-on for me.)

It took her a moment to respond to what I said, and it seemed to me that she was being very secretive. She had a lot of thoughts going on in her head, I could almost see them swarming around behind her eyes. I became more convinced by my theory that she was just pretending to have been so drunk she had forgotten the whole event, the longer she took to answer.

And I wasn't sure what I should do with that.

She looked over, suddenly. "What? Oh... yeah, it was... good."

She looked back out the window.

"At least you had fun with Alicia this year."

Noel looked over at me. Her expression was really hard to read. She seemed to be searching through her mind for something. "Yeah," she said. "She's actually pretty cool."

But she seemed distracted.

I waited a beat, and then I used my cutesy voice:

"What's wrong?"

Noel pressed her fingertips to her head and rubbed them. "I don't know, I'm sort of... I think I just have a hangover."

She looked back out the window. Her arms were folded over her chest.

So I decided to change the subject. After a while, Noel said she was going to close her eyes, and we drove the rest of the way home in silence.

I remember feeling conflicted all the way home, thinking to myself on that drive. Up until the night before, I had pushed my fantasies, and my disappointments with our sex life, deep down inside of me. I'd told myself a lot of lies about how it didn't matter to me, how I didn't need anything else, and how I didn't have dark fantasies about Noel. And I might have gone on my whole life convinced by the stories I had told myself. I might have been able to push all those fantasies so deep inside of me that I forgot about them.

But Noel's participation in the evening before had brought everything to the surface like a geyser. All of my careful putting away of my desires and perverted fantasies was overturned, and they were scattered around in my head like someone had burglarized my mind. Maybe if I had witnessed Alicia and Mike myself, alone, it wouldn't have been like that.

But because I had felt for myself that Noel was turned on by what had happened – because I had dipped my fingers into her pussy and felt her excitement, warm and slick on my fingers – I couldn't just put all of these ideas away and forget about them again. They kept invading my mind, surfacing no matter what I tried to think about to distract myself.

In the weeks that followed, the feelings only intensified. Noel seemed determined to never speak of that night again. I tried to talk about our trip, and I could have sworn that she tried to avoid the subject altogether.

I had no proof of anything, but I began compiling evidence for my theory that Noel did, in fact, remember what had happened.

When we had sex – our standard, missionary-style sex – it was far more passionate, more... I don't know, wild somehow, than it had been before. We were still doing the same things, physically. The petting, the well-traveled path from fondling her breasts to stroking her clit while she gave me a dispassionate hand job to get me worked up... but each of us seemed to be in our own minds, our own fantasies.

At least, I was.

And it seemed to me that Noel was, too. She seemed to be thinking of something else, and she dug her heels in to my back with more force, and her pussy seemed wetter, and her mouth seemed hungrier. There was nothing extremely different, of course, just subtle things, things that only a husband would notice... but I felt sure that she was thinking of something else, and I felt sure (or at least I hoped) that the something else was along the same lines of what I was thinking about.

The next thing you might be thinking is: why the hell didn't I just talk to her about it, then? Why didn't I share with her that she had unlocked all of the fantasies that I kept hidden away?

And the reason for that is: after having sex and believing that it was more passionate, after believing that Noel was dreaming other men filling her with their cum while I watched, after coming inside her, as we lay there in the dark – I would suddenly doubt myself.

Because what if she wasn't thinking all of those things? What if I felt she was because I was imagining all of these things? And in the darkness, after sex, a possibility like that seemed so much more likely: It seemed much more realistic that Noel – my sweet-faced, slightly prude, conservative-dressing wife – had consumed far too much alcohol one night, gotten a little wild by watching our friends, and then forgotten all about it because she was so drunk. It seemed much more likely that Noel had no secret desires to change up our sex life, and that if I told Noel what I wanted, she would be scandalized and probably start crying.

I had locked all of these desires away before, I concluded.
And so I could do it again.

After several months, we were back to our old relationship. And I was back to telling myself I didn't need anything else.

But I have to be honest; it felt worse. That night, and Noel's participation in it, had unlocked my fantasies and my desires. But with their release, she had also unlocked a deep sense of dissatisfaction with our sex life. It was almost as if the light of possibility had thrown all of the dullness of our actual sex life into stark relief. It made me feel terrible, but there was no denying that it was true.

We started having sex less frequently. I started to feel neurotic; I spent disproportionate amounts of time re-living that evening, embellishing the night with my own fantasies. Picturing Noel getting up and walking out to the hot tub, climbing in and positioning herself just like Alicia but facing me, and looking me in the eyes while Devin fucked her the same way he had fucked Alicia. I spent my commute practicing ways to tell Noel what I wanted, ways to start a conversation with her. Of course I never did have the conversation, but I planned it and rehearsed it endlessly.

And this went on for most of the year. Sure, by the time our winter vacation rolled around, it had dulled to a quiet roar inside of me. I was back on track for just going about my life, loving my wife, dampening my fantasies until they disappeared.

And this is the condition I was in when Mike called me in December to invite us up again. When he called my pulse raced, and the montage of feelings and images slew through my mind. When I asked Noel, as I did every year, if she wanted to go, I was shaking inside with the excitement of it, of the dread of it, the raging disappointment and possibilities that awaited us. I both wanted to go and didn't want to even ask her if she did. It was kind of like not smoking for a year, getting over your cravings, not thinking about cigarettes at all for days on end and when you did, only mildly. And then suddenly finding yourself with a smoke in one hand, a lighter in the other.

Noel had looked up at me. If there was any trace of conflicting feelings or any memory of the year before in her mind, she betrayed none of that. She smiled, as though I had asked her where she wanted to eat dinner, and turned a page of her book.

"Of course," she had said.

Of course. We went every year, why wouldn't we go this year, she was saying. Of course, because what had happened the year before meant nothing to her, had not turned her heart and mind inside out and upside-down. Of course, because she wasn't a perverted psycho who wanted to see his wife fuck another man, a dirty guy who wanted to see his wife do filthy and unspeakable acts in front of him, a man who savored the thought of his very clean, very sweet wife being corrupted and degraded for his own perverse pleasure. Of course.

At that moment, I had become convinced that Noel had been telling the truth all along. She had forgotten the previous year, she had no interest in changing up our sex life. I think I even started to believe that I had imagined the whole thing. It's hard, after a year of summoning a memory, especially a memory like that, of something you did while you were drunk, and embellishing it and using it as a departure point for fantasies – it's hard to know if it really happened or not.

And that's the condition I was in when Noel told me, quite casually, that she would have to stay behind for two days to finish up her lab work. "You should still go on the fifth," she had said, leafing through some papers, not really giving it much thought. "I can just come up after."

So that's what I had done, and that's how I arrived at Mike and Alicia's place for our sixth year of ski vacation: convinced that I was a man with a dark fantasy about my wife, and unsure whether anything had happened the year before or not. Ready to have a nice time. A relaxing time, like always.

Skiing.

2: THIS YEAR

Alicia opened the door, as luck would have it. She bestowed one of her rare, wide smiles on me and waved me in with her hand.

I tried not to let my eyes drop, scanning her delightful body, but as usual Alicia was not making it easy for me. A thin lavender sweater hung loosely on her torso, and it slipped down to expose one smooth, olive-colored shoulder. Her full breasts pushed against the loose fabric and hinted at their delightful shape. I had memorized her bare torso, so it was easy to imagine the narrow waist and small belly-button floating on her olive skin. She was wearing jeans that looked like they had been painted on over her shapely thighs. She looked, as always, expensively dressed, deliberately ruffled, like she had just fucked someone in secret in a closet. And of course – outrageously sexy.

Her toes peeked out of a pair of high-heeled sandals. She wiggled her feet, having evidently followed my eyes as they moved southward. I stopped and stared at her feet for a beat too long. Her feet were nicely shaped, well-manicured, and they sent a little river of electricity straight to my crotch. I have a small foot obsession.

“They’re house shoes,” she said, by way of explaining why she was wearing strappy gold heels when it was zero degrees and snowing hard in a small mountain town.

I looked back up at her face quickly, because my mind was wandering back to the year before and tossing all kinds of explicit images in my face. I cleared my throat, hoping it would clear my head.

“Where’s Noel?” Alicia said, closing the door in a way that indicated she either knew the answer, or didn’t really care. Like everything Alicia did, there was a glaze of nonchalance on it. She had a low, throaty voice, a voice that sounded somehow exotic. I remember that a friend once described her voice as “Brazilian,” which somehow fit in spite of it making no sense. Her voice matched her appearance almost exactly, though what I mean by that I couldn’t explain. It was sexy.

Her voice unfailingly sent a cool shiver down my spine, and I rustled through my mind for an un-sexy image to cool myself down. I decided on imagining a fat pig.

“She has to wrap things up at the lab,” I said, when Alicia’s chin began to tilt with boredom because I wasn’t speaking.

Alicia’s already-pouty lips seemed to pour out of her face into an even more sultry pout. She brought a finger to her mouth and tapped her lower lip. “Oooh,” she said, her voice spilling out of her mouth like whiskey. “So we have you all to ourselves?”

I felt my cock twitch. I fervently imagined the pig. The pig, the pig, the pig.

“I thought she was coming tomorrow?”

Relieved, I turned in the direction of the masculine voice. I also noted with relief that another woman’s cackle came from inside the house, and that there were several other people sitting on the minimalist-style gray couches in the living room. I simply hadn’t noticed any of them because... well, Alicia takes up a lot of space and sort of reduces the world to a very small one containing only her.

“Hey, Mike,” I said, and we embraced. Mike has a masculine hug, and he walloped me on the back so hard I almost coughed. “Um... yeah, she’s coming. She’ll be here Friday.”

I was speaking quickly, because Alicia’s gaze was burning right through my skin.

I had spent the better part of the three hour drive to Steamvail psyching myself up for Alicia’s presence. I always spent about half a day fumbling around like a fucking idiot when I saw her, and after... well, seeing her last year, I wasn’t sure I could keep my shit together.

“Are you still on that weird diet?” Alicia said, out of nowhere, and I looked at her blankly.

“From last year,” she clarified. The words left her mouth in slow, creamy drops. I pushed back on the tide of erotic thoughts that were surfacing in my mind. Last year: A cold tingle traveled along my spine.

“So I can get you a drink?” she pressed. “Beer is okay?”

Alicia was speaking in a voice that was not impatient or even surprised. Maybe because she was just accustomed to every man acting like a moron around her. I blinked.

Oh yes. The low-carb diet. Long gone. But importantly, Alicia had remembered it, which meant that she remembered last year as well.

“Beer is fine,” I said.

“I’ll pick which one?” she said, and she did this thing with her face where she somehow winked without winking. Her lips turned up just a tiny bit, and she lowered her eyelids like she was going to fall asleep.

Jesus. It was really hard – really hard! - to keep my mind in the realm of the appropriate with that one.

Alicia slid away, her purple sweater slipping further down her shoulder.

Mike had a drink in his hand, and ice clinked in the glass as he lifted it to take a sip. I quickly turned my attention back to my friend and gave him a smile.

“I thought Noel was coming tomorrow?” he said. His eyes were on the retreating form of his wife, and I imagined that he was enjoying the way her ass moved under the long sweater. It took nearly all of my willpower to keep from looking that way to see it for myself. I focused on the expansive living room of teak floors and walls in a warm brown color. The wall facing the wooded area behind the house was floor-to ceiling glass. The ground sloped away from the house, so the view of the pines and Aspen grove was picturesque, though not a vista. Right then, the falling snow was creating an almost surreal picture in the window.

Actually, it was a bit like something a dentist would plaster on his wall.

I looked back at Mike’s face. He was waiting for something.

An answer.

What was the question?

He hit me on the shoulder. “You with us, bro?”

I brought a hand to my left eye and rubbed it. “Aw,” I said. “Sorry man, I just... the drive.”

It was snowing thickly outside, but in truth that weather had begun only about three miles from Mike and Alicia’s home. “It’s brutal,” Mike agreed amicably. “Here, come meet my friends Tracey and Jim. They’re from LA.”

We crossed the floor, which seemed to go on forever, and because I used to work in contracting, I knew, I was stepping on about $50,000 worth of wood alone just to get across the room. Mike had replaced his parents’ rustic-cabin-for-rich-people decor with a minimalist look that reflected both the nature and the income of his Silicone Valley job. Sleek (and very uncomfortable, I might add) gray couches that could seat about five people each faced each other over a purposefully weathered coffee table with an abstract sculpture in the center. Seated on the couch to the left were the people I presumed were Tracey and Jim.

Tracey was one of those women who was about to spring loose and possibly split the atom when she did, she was so tightly wound. She was as straight-backed as a Victorian etiquette illustration, stirring an artificial sweetener into a white china teacup. She was holding the whole setup like she only ever consumed tea with artificial sweetener while holding it just below her lip and discussing business. She seemed to have about 10% less body fat than a regular woman. She cracked a thin smile and gripped my hand like a vice to give it one graceful, violent shake. “Tracey Smith-Pierce. I manage Alicia.” This was all one word.

She gave me the willies. I was actually grateful because if there was something around that would cool off Alicia’s heat and take my mind off my fantasies and inner conflicts, it was Tracey Smith-Price’s semi-skeletal smile.

“Spencer,” I said jovially and (because I love fucking with women like Tracey) I added: “I manage my own checking account.”

Jim, who had stood up to shake my hand and was dressed like middle management, started to let out a laugh, but Tracey cut him off with a very minute shift of her eyes in his direction.

He coughed into his left fist and then shook my hand. “Jim.”

Well, they were going to be a barrel of laughs.

Alicia seemed to materialize next to me at that moment, and I felt a ripple of tingling skin on the back of my neck. It was less of a tingle than before, so I congratulated myself on being on my way to self-control around her. She placed the cold beer into my palm, which was fine. But she also closed my fingers around it with her own, and my -well, not my heart, exactly, more like my cock – went skittering away again. She dropped onto one of the straight-lined gray sofas and stretched out. Her sweater slid away from her tight jeans and her long legs seemed to pour out all over the cushions. She folded her hands behind her head, and then caught sight of something at the other end of the couch, on a side table. She flipped on her stomach to reach for it.

Tracey set her teacup down on the saucer with a crack and glared at Alicia, who rolled her eyes and brought a piece of dripping, oozing chocolate brownie to her mouth. “Don’t talk to either one of these two,

Spence,” Alicia said, without looking at me, her voice nasal and low. “Tracey is such a bitch.”

Tracey smiled, as we all did, while Alicia bit into the brownie and sensually swiped a stray rope of chocolate from her lower lip.

I didn’t know Alicia extremely well outside of these trips, but it seemed like this was the kind of thing she said all the time and never apologized for. I looked at Tracey. She didn’t seem bothered by having been called a bitch. She sipped her tea. “Please don’t eat any more of those,” she said quietly.

“So,” I said, after an uncomfortable silence. “How is the career going? It must be going well if you have a manager.” I looked at Tracey.

I waited a beat. “What’s your latest project?”

I was -10% interested in all of this, really, but I had to keep Tracey and Jim talking, and keep some distance between myself and my thoughts about Alicia, my wife, and last year’s hot tub.

“It’s... in the works right now,” Tracey said quickly, as Alicia opened her mouth to say something. “We can’t really discuss it.”

Alicia was looking right at me, a hint of mischief in her eyes, adding a shimmer of lightheartedness to her otherwise sexily dour expression. Her mouth turned up a little at the corner, and she popped the brownie into her mouth.

I supposed that was the end of my conversation attempts.

My stomach flopped a little, as memories of last year threatened to bubble to the surface.

I didn’t have time to give it much thought, thankfully. Mike put his arm around me and pulled me toward the kitchen. “Let’s go get some booze, buddy.”

We clinked our glasses together and stood, leaning on the kitchen counter, at the end where big windows overlooked the ravine and the snow-covered trees. “Glad you could make it out,” Mike said.

“Me, too,” I answered, and tipped back a swig of the amber whiskey Mike had poured me. I knew it was expensive, so I stifled a sputter. It burned like hell.

I was torn on how “glad” I was that we could make it this year. Part of me was tingling with excitement and potential. The other part was worried that Noel was not into at all, and it was going to be awkward and wildly disappointing.

“So Noel had to stay back and do what?” Mike said, after staring into his glass at the whiskey as he swirled it.

“She’s got... uh, things cooking up in the lab that she can’t abandon.”

Or: she harbored some bad feelings about last year and didn’t want to talk about them. Either one was as likely as the other, but I enjoyed the sweet pain of the latter idea, so I indulged in it more.

“What is it she specializes in, exactly?” Mike said. “I know it’s geneticsomethingorother...”

I took a deep breath, assembling my carefully-memorized speech about Noel’s research in microphage genomics and phage biology, but Mike looked up at the ceiling and made an “a-ha!” sound.

“Microphages,” he said knowingly. Like he actually might have known what the fuck they were and what she was doing with them, which was a relief and a little strange. Mike was a smart guy, though, full of surprises. “You know, she could really be making a lot more money in the private sector. In fact, I have a guy coming up here mid-week who’s investing a ton in this company... what is it... the name is really stupid... pha-something...”

“Phage-nominal,” Alicia said dryly, walking through the kitchen. Very funny.

Mike smiled and continued talking to me, none of which I heard at all, because somewhere in the past few minutes Alicia had ditched her purple sweater and jeans and was walking through the kitchen in a fuzzy white terry-cloth robe that barely covered her ass, and which she had only loosely tied across her body. There was a huge plunge between the opposite sides of the robe, and between them her breasts swelled and almost burst from the material. Her skin was showing all the way to the very loosely-tied belt, and as she walked the bottom half of the robe folded and unfolded, tantalizing me with the prospect of coming completely undone and revealing what was beneath her robe. Which appeared to be nothing.

“... make it happen. Pharmaceuticals are dumping a ton of money into this. It’s going to be big.” Mike was still talking.

Alicia had retrieved what she had come for – a bottle of wine and a glass – and was walking back through the kitchen rolling her eyes slightly.

“I’ll be in the hot tub if you ever decide you want to talk about something other than business.”

I shivered. Mike smiled and swatted at her ass, which she moved languidly out of the way. Alicia did not giggle foolishly like most women would. I shivered again.

“The caterers are coming at seven,” Mike said to her retreating form. It wasn’t really a protest. Just a statement. I looked at my watch. It was 6:30.

Alicia shrugged as she exited the kitchen, and I tried, but failed, to keep my eyes from following her out of the room. The robe ended squarely just below the curve of her bottom, so that when she walked, a sliver of her rounded flesh peeped out from beneath the hem.

“I know Noel is a real do-gooder,” Mike said, turning around to look out the window. My head spun with the abrupt change of subject. Below the kitchen window, I knew, on the lower floor, a sweet-scented sauna-like changing room let out to a deck, and in the center of it was the hot tub. It was just visible if you turned and leaned against the metal counter. A kidney-shaped, black stone, back-lit jewel, the water moving as Alicia’s olive skin sank into it. Her robe crumpled on one of the benches to the side. Mike continued: “But there’s a lot of good to be done in the development of microphage biology in pharmaceuticals. She could really save lives.”

I pondered this, not really sure what we were talking about, my whole brain taken up with wondering if Alicia was naked in the hot tub or just wearing an extremely small bikini.

I had seen her do both, after all.

“And make a fuck-ton of money,” Mike continued, sounding more like the capitalist I knew.

I took another excruciating sip of the whiskey. “I’ll talk to her about it,” I said noncommittally. “But you know how she is.”

Mike didn’t say anything, but his face brightened a little. I took that moment to turn around casually and glance down at the hot tub. The lower floor was quite a ways down, more like two stories than one. Alicia was sitting in on a bench in the water, her form pale against the onyx stone of the tub. A bright light cast a glow on her body. She was holding a wine glass. Her legs were stretched out in front of her, ankles together, feet wiggling playfully. The water rippled around her, she had evidently just stepped in. I could see the shape of her breasts outlined over her hips, and it was impossible to tell in the shifting waters if she had anything on at all. I could only see her skin and, vaguely, the shape of her body. The rest was left to my imagination.

Mike smiled. There was no way to know if it was for Alicia or for his comment about Noel. He downed the remainder of his whiskey. “So what are you up to these days? The last – oh...” he fished his phone from his pocket and read something from the screen with his quick, business-like eyes. “Shit. Man, I’m sorry, I gotta go do something about this.” Mike had clicked into busy-mode, but he was unperturbed. He looked from the phone to me, brightly. “You should go relax. People are coming around eight. Another drink?” I shook my head. Mike started to walk out of the room. “Maybe go have a dip with Alicia.”

I felt a stab of excitement but also fear – that kind of feeling you get when someone suggests you do something that you both want to do and want absolutely nothing to do with. “Uh...” I said.

“It’s fucking great. Or have a sauna. Or...” he looked back toward the living room before stepping closer toward me to say: “Hang out with Tracey. She’s really fun.” He raised his voice. “You know where everything is?”

I held up my glass in the affirmative as I swallowed a slightly-less-painful gulp of whiskey.

Mike made some kind of weird, pointing gesture at me, one that seemed like it should have been accompanied by a hammy “click” sound (but was not), and he disappeared.

I leaned toward the glass, and looked down at Alicia. The water had settled, and she was kicking her legs slowly as she floated and sipped her wine.

Maybe go have a dip with Alicia.

I shook my head at myself, and walked into the living room, where Tracey and Jim were sitting on the couch. Tracey was upright as though she actually had a pole along her spine, and Jim looked imminently bored. They were a strange couple to find in Mike's living room. Kind of like the uptight relatives who come to visit you and disapprove of your lifestyle, but have to be there because they're family.

Actually, they were just a strange couple. Jim was a good-looking guy, with a lot of brown hair that was just starting to succumb to a receding hairline. He was mostly fit, with the exception of a small pouch developing around his middle. He was one of those guys who could be either a rough 30 or a well-preserved 45. His arms were stretched over the back of the couch.

"Hey man," I said. "You want a beer? Or some of this fifty-dollar a glass shit?"

Tracey Smith Pierce's spine, incredibly, became even straighter. She didn't look in his direction, or so much as move a facial muscle, but the vibes she was radiating at her husband were palpable. Jim looked at me in exasperation and lifted both of his hands from the couch, then let them drop. He didn't get to drink beer, or whiskey, is what that meant.

Most of my job consists of smoothing over situations just like this one. I'm in PR, and so most of what I do is schmooze and gab and keep up the small-talk, melt icy situations in to warm, buttery bullshit so that people spend more money and agree to more shit than ordinarily would, and think of me the next time they need anything. Because when they think of me, they think of all the great conversations they had in which I asked hundreds of soft-pitch questions about themselves, all carefully researched or planned to allow them the maximum amount of humble-bragging possible.

The more time went on, the less I was into this shit. Especially on my vacation.

I started to open my mouth and get Jim going on what he did for a living, but I found myself saying, instead: "Well, I think I'm gonna take a dip before the party starts."

Neither Tracey nor Jim found this particularly interesting, and they waved me away with a sort of motionless... impression, I guess, of a nod.

I knew it was a bad idea as soon as the words came out of my mouth. I could feel a slick, uncomfortable feeling coating my insides as I stepped outside into the now gently-falling snow, and walked to my car to retrieve my suitcase. The snow was dry, the kind of perfect powder for cursing through bowls or terrorizing moguls in explosions of white, and it squeaked under my shoes. The temperature was falling, the air was brutally crisp. I had hoped it would clear my head, chew through the bad idea I had just had, but it didn't. I felt myself taking out the suitcase, walking robotically back to the house, smiling at Tracey and Jim on my way to the hallway leading to the bedrooms (I had come so often at this point that I just assumed I'd be in the same room as always, and I appeared to be right).

All the while, I felt the cold, black, slickness of my bad idea coating my insides.

It was a bad, a bad and terrible idea, to go down to "take a dip" with Alicia, in all of her naked splendor and libertine ways. It was a bad, bad idea to get so close to last year's events, especially when I was trying to forget them.

It was a bad idea to get into a hot tub with a woman like Alicia.

I put on my swim trunks, which were thankfully very loose-fitting with a mesh underwear to keep any "ideas" I might have had a little more contained.

The property management place that Mike used left white bathrobes – not skimpy, ass-revealing terrycloth robes like Alicia's, but hotel-style white robes – in the closets. When he wasn't staying here, Mike rented the place out through the management company to ski-vacationers for an extremely tidy sum. There were even little hotel-style bars of soap in the bathrooms.

I took out a robe and slid into my sandals – I came prepared for serious hot-tubbing – and trotted to the back stairs that led down to the sauna area. Still whistling. Still feeling the cold, clammy "bad-idea" syrup coating my insides.

There were two saunas and two changing rooms in the downstairs area, down two flights of stairs. There was also a workout room with a treadmill, elliptical machine, two stationary bikes, some weights, and a chamber off to the side that heated up to extraordinary temperatures for hot yoga. Another rec room, smaller, had a pool table in it.

I hurried past all of this and stepped into the subway-tiled changing room. The sauna was tempting, with its fresh sandalwood scents and sexually-segregated promises of avoiding temptation in a cloud of steam. But I was on a sort of crash course, and I walked straight through it all, grabbing a towel and hanging up my robe before opening the door and stepping into the frigid air.

Floating in the center of the tub, her hair spread out around her head, silky and bright blonde in the light, was Alicia. Her eyes were closed and her long, flawless limbs fluttered occasionally to maintain her buoyancy. Her breasts were out of the water, two creamy olive cones of flesh, defying gravity, pointed at the sky, her dark brown nipples hardened into little balls in the cold air. My eyes made a quick pass over them, however, to get to what I really wanted to see: the smooth contours of her olive skin, bare and smooth all the way between her legs, where only a narrow line defined her gash.

I felt my cock twitch and looked out into the forest deliberately to distract myself.

“Oh!” I heard myself say, as if I had been surprised to find her there, naked.

Alicia’s perpetually come-fuck-me-sleepy lids slowly opened, and the dark blue irises rolled toward me. She let her feet sink into the water, and then her abdomen, taking her completely shaved snatch with her, and then her pretty, firm breasts. Her long hair seemed to pull itself back in toward her head, and when she looked at me, kneeling in the shallow pool, it was slicked back perfectly and she looked like an advertisement for something... very naughty.

“Oh yourself,” she said.

Then she floated to the other side of the hot tub and rose out of the water, her glorious naked body steaming. She dried off at a languid pace, her ass and sculpted thighs to me, bending over to get every drop of water from her bare skin.

I sank into the hot water of the tub. It was uncomfortably warm.

It was good that she was leaving, I thought. No good could have come from this situation.

Alicia walked past me, the short robe just above my face, right where I could have looked into its depths and seen another glimpse of her pretty gash, but I resisted the urge, and bored a hole with my eyes through the bench where she had just been standing.

When the door gave a soft crack, then a puff, then another puff, I exhaled, and realized that I had been holding my breath the entire time.

I waited a good five minutes, and listened in vain for the sound of her feet going up the stairs, before I couldn't take it any more and popped out of the hot tub to cool off. The cold air felt incredible, sent a cooling wave down below, and steadied my thinking.

"Go to bed, Spencer," I told myself.

Because no matter what Alicia was doing, there wasn't any way anything good could come of it.

The hot tub slowly cooled. I stayed down there for far too long, not wanting to run into Alicia. I actually did feel sleepy and a little bit sick, which is what I planned on saying so I could go to bed early. My face felt flushed. Perfect.

I got out and dried off, put on the robe and sandals and headed upstairs. The best plan was to go to bed, claiming to be worn out from the drive and the hot tub, and avoid the party, Alicia, and any more sticky situations, until Noel got here Friday.

I was relieved when Mike came trotting down the second flight of stairs as I was headed up. I wouldn't have to go hunt him down. "Hey man, you been in there this whole time? We were starting to worry about you," he clapped me on the back and continued on his way, evidently getting some wine from the cellar.

"Yeah," I said, "You know, I think I overdid it. I think I'm... going to just pack it in."

Mike looked back at me. "Dude. Come on. Just have a few beers, it'll set you straight. There are some cool people coming over."

I held my hand to my forehead, a bit theatrically. "I... yeah... okay, I'll see after I get changed."

"Cool man, yeah... whatever, take it easy. There's great snow so I wanna hit the bowls tomorrow, get some rest if you need to." And then he continued down the stairs. "Whatever you want to do, man."

Mike could stay up all night and ski all day for weeks on end. He was a high-intensity guy. I usually didn't try, but that was more because of Noel than anything.

I darted up the stairs quickly to get myself into my room as fast as I could without running into Alicia. I scurried into my bedroom and closed the door, breathing a sigh of relief.

I stared out the window and into the forest. It was a known fact that the nearest neighbor was two miles away, and I could see for myself that the only thing staring back at me was a forest of snow and the white bark of innumerable Aspen trees. Even so, even I felt a little weird undressing in front of the floor-to-ceiling windows.

I set the towel on the bed and sat down. I took out my phone.

I called Noel, but I wasn't surprised when I reached her voicemail. She was in charge of the lab until tomorrow and whatever they were cooking up there had to be supervised constantly or millions of research dollars could be wasted.

"Hi," I said. "I'm... well, you know I'm here. I was just calling to say goodnight, and I love you."

I smiled. Around two in the morning she would get the message and text me back: What did you call about?

It was an old joke.

I turned off my phone and lay back on the bed. My head was spinning. I'd had far too much to drink, I realized. I could feel my mood shifting in jagged spikes as I lay there. Thinking about why Noel didn't want to come up here tonight, or have me wait with her back in the city. Thinking about how maybe Noel didn't want to come because she remembered more about what happened last year than she let on... and maybe she was too embarrassed. Or maybe there was something else going on.

And then, that dark, unpleasant space inside of me opened up wide. A whole valley of discontentment, unsettled blackness, shameful desire, all of it centered around Noel and some very, very bad things I wanted her to do. Things I wanted done to her.

This was a dark place, a place I sometimes worried wasn't entirely fantasy for me.

I opened my eyes, because the room was suddenly spinning. The ceiling pulsed, green-gray, green-gray.

A montage of images started percolating through my head. My spirits lifted and then they fell as each image appeared and dissolved: Alicia's wet skin in the hot tub, Noel's wet skin in the sauna, Alicia's fingers in her mouth...

The darkness burst, like a breaking damn, and spilled throughout my body. I closed my eyes, and sank into it.

Why not?

The fantasy had really started after I married Noel, though when I finally let it into my consciousness, it had a familiar feeling to it, like maybe I had always had ideas like that and just never admitted it to myself. At first I found it shocking. I really thought I was a fucking pervert. I just couldn't shake the thoughts, couldn't shake my daydreaming and thinking about it, imagining it, building fantasies about it after Noel interacted with any other man.

Fantasies about my wife fucking another guy.

And this was something I'd kept to myself for a long time. I had planned to never reveal it. I had planned to never tell a single soul, not even – especially not – Noel. I had been resolved to never tell my wife that my cock got hard thinking about her giving in to the caress of another man, that I thought about her getting wild in bed (a pretty common thought, I suppose), but when I did? When I thought about her sucking cock like a whore, or getting corrupted little by little until she was a dirty slut. That I thought about it all happening at the hands of another man. When I pictured Noel reluctantly kissing the fat head of a cock and opening her mouth timidly to suck up another man's seed, it drove me wilder than any other thought I could have.

That was my dirty little fantasy. And I had intended to keep it just that: a dirty fantasy, nothing more, private and locked away, electrifying me every time I saw Noel talking to another man.

But last year, I had a glimpse of something I had only imagined, and it was burning its way through my mind day and night, and had been for a year.

Opportunity. However remote.

The chance that I could make my fantasy, even a little bit, a reality.

3: THE PARTY

Trying to sleep (trying to rid my mind of the dark thoughts and fantasies I had) didn't work out very well for me. I watched some TV on my phone but got worried about all the data I was burning through just to stare at the screen and think about my problems and fantasies.

I could hear the group getting their party on. The doors of the house were pretty thick, and so I couldn't hear much until a woman shrieked with laughter and punctuated the stillness in my room. As they got drunker they got louder and this happened more frequently. Someone turned some music on around 12 am, which was even more annoying because I could only feel it through the walls.

Half an hour ticked by after that. I ended up getting hot under the down comforter and throwing it off. I stared into the darkness outside: the light of the adjacent rooms threw a glow onto the trees. Snow was falling again in fat flakes. It should have been restful but it wasn't.

And there was mind, my mind going to all the places I didn't want it to go.

So I got up and threw on some jeans and went back to where the party was. As I walked down the hall, I was thinking, again, what a bad idea I was having.

By the time I got out there, it was the remnants of a party: a lot of the guests had left and everyone had migrated to the kitchen. Some colored lights had materialized from behind a wood door and now spun uselessly around the room to the beat of the music. It was some kind of techno, which made my teeth hurt a little.

I went to the kitchen, where the sharp female voice that had kept me up was erupting into more laughter.

The scene took a bit of time to absorb.

Tracey, Alicia's uptight manager, stole my attention. She was propped up on the kitchen counter. Her hair was still in her tight and flawless updo, but a few strands seemed to have dislodged themselves and hung around her face. One of them seemed damp and stuck to her cheek. She had her head tipped back and was laughing. I couldn't remember what she had been wearing before, but I was pretty sure she had modified it or changed clothes – the zipper of her sweater was pulled down to the center of her chest, revealing a very nice display of cleavage that I feel I would have noticed if she had been showing it earlier.

“Come on,” Mike was saying. He was standing next to her. A little closer than a married man should be standing, and his hand was close to her mouth with a piece of lemon in his fingers. “Just try it,” he was saying. And Tracey, who seemed to be unraveling with each passing second, laughed again and made a face that was – incredibly – almost sexy.

But the scene was a little... too sexual between the two of them. They were just a little close, and Tracey was being just a little too pliant.

I felt an urge to turn and leave. Here it was, tempting me again. Was I imagining it, or was it real? I could feel it. My skin boiled across the back of my neck and up to eyes. A thrill stabbed right through my groin when I saw Mike’s fingers brush over Tracey’s knee. I let myself wonder how far he could take it. I felt the pull inside of me, the desire to see him take it further. And then I thought of Noel, imagined Noel in her place, imagined Mike’s hand on Noel’s zipper, tugging it slowly down, baring more of her skin bit by bit...

Then I heard Alicia’s low laugh, which was really less like a laugh than a purr from a very large, sleek cat. I turned to the sound. She was swinging her legs under the kitchen table and giving me her half-smile. She produced a beer from nowhere and held it out to me by the neck.

She was talking to a man who also seemed to be situated very close to her. My stomach lurched, and for a moment I thought it was Devin. The man was dark-skinned and toned, just like him. But quickly I assessed that it was another, different, almost better-looking black man.

At that moment, I was almost reassured. It was too... what? Unrealistic? That Alicia would be flirting with another black man, in Steamvail of all places. In fact, I was halfway sure I was dreaming.

I moved across the room and took the beer from Alicia’s hand. She had drifted her seductive eyes lazily back to the man, and now she had her poofy lips around the opening of her own bottle of beer and was tipping the liquid back into her throat while staring at him.

I watched, transfixed, and she popped the bottle from her mouth sensually to say: “Spencer, Ben, Ben Spencer,” without breaking her seductive eye contact with him. My stomach twisted, my instincts told me to flee the room and not take a drag of this craving again... but I didn’t. “Hey,” I said, and walked as though with purpose deeper into the room.

I focused intently on opening my beer bottle to keep my mind from running to wild fantasies, but to no avail. I felt my cock coming to life.

I scanned the room quickly as I took a swig of my beer. No one had said anything to me, and only Alicia had even acknowledged me with the beer.

Probably a dream, I decided.

Though it wasn't, and I knew that.

My scan revealed that Jim, Tracey's husband, was leaning against the wall on the opposite side of the kitchen table. It was a big room, so he was quite a distance away from the counter where his wife was now eating the lemon out of Mike's hand. Jim had a phone in his hand and his head was tilted toward the screen, but he was very much looking at Mike and Tracey.

The expression on his face sent an odd ripple of pleasure through me: he was burning up with a helpless jealousy.

I let my eyes wander back to Tracey: she was biting into the flesh of the lemon and making a vaguely sexual sound as she did. Mike was obviously responsible for her undone shirt and the fact she was sitting on the counter. And his fingers were – were they?

Yes. Brushing over her lips. Just barely, just lightly. In a plausibly deniable way.

I looked back at Jim and his reddened cheek – a splotch of bright pink was branching out from his ear to his temple and down to his jaw.

I could almost feel that hot patch on my own face.

I wouldn't mind feeling that sort of hot patch on my own face again.

I told myself, again, to leave, because things were heating up in ways I had really hoped they wouldn't. But of course, I had also hoped they would turn out like this, if I was being honest.

And it couldn't hurt to watch what happened, right? Noel wasn't here, and I wasn't actually doing anything...

I looked back at Alicia. She had about the same amount of interest in what Mike was doing as she had in knitting, which is to say, less than zero. Her own eyes were big and doe-like, riveted on this guy Ben and sucking him in like a tractor beam.

Everyone was deep in a conversation with someone else... maybe a bit more than a conversation. And I was free to just watch it all unfold.

Fuck. I shouldn't be there, I realized.

My scan of the room had located a few bottles of booze sitting on top of a piece of furniture that was new to the room. Some kind of fancy bar. I made straight for it and began opening the cupboards to hopefully make myself a drink and busy myself with something for a few minutes so I could make a graceful exit. Jim continued to smolder to my left, and Mike and Tracey were behind me, radiating a great deal of sexual energy in just the rise and fall of their voices.

I clinked ice from a bucket into a glass loudly.

A sidelong glance at Jim revealed that he was growing even more ruffled, and he was not to be distracted by a few plings of ice in a glass. He was watching his wife and Mike with an intensity that could not be easily interrupted. I turned and leaned against the “bar,” trying to focus my attention somewhere in the room that didn’t make me look like a pervert. Unfortunately, there was really no such place.

I could have gone to bed.

But I didn’t.

I didn’t know where to look first. Alicia was leaning closer to Ben, and tucking a strand of hair behind her ear. She had worked her mouth into a sultry half-grin, and the sight of it was turning me on from across the room. And in front of me, Mike was working the uptight Tracey into a lather. She was actually smiling now, and playing with the zipper of her sweater.

Jim moved suddenly, and crossed the room to Tracey and Mike. “I think we’d better get you off to bed,” he said, curtly, to his wife.

The spell was broken, and Tracey’s face went immediately back to the uptight expression she had worn earlier in the day. She slid off the counter and walked away unsteadily.

It was a sign, I thought numbly, that I should get out of here. This was all very... what? Dangerous. Over-the-line. Exactly the type of thing I should avoid. I didn’t need to get involved in any of this again, whatever it was. I didn’t need to spend another year being neurotic about unfulfilled fantasies, and I definitely didn’t want to do something stupid and cheat on my wife... and honestly, this was all a little weird.

I saw that Alicia was grinning at Mike now.

He smiled back at her, and I had a hard time reading the expression. He did not seem even mildly perturbed that his wife was so close to another man, that they seemed to be moving closer together.

But of course he wouldn't, I realized with a cold, thrilling chill. Of course that's what these two did.

I hadn't imagined last year.

At that moment Mike looked over in my direction. "Spencer!" he said. "Can't sleep?"

I walked over to him, giving my head a little shake to affirm his suspicion. Then I started blabbing away, because as soon as I stood my the counter, I realized that I had locked myself into standing there where Alicia's flirting with Ben was in full view. And I was getting an erection.

Mike wasn't really listening to me. At least he was making some minimal efforts, though, He nodded, or he made a sound like "mm-hm." every thirty seconds or so. However, after a bit, it was pretty obvious he wasn't listening at all.

He was staring at Ben and Alicia.

As I was talking to Mike, and keeping my eyes very firmly riveted to the glass in my hand or Mike's face, Alicia had changed positions. She had slid onto Ben's lap.

Her sweater had changed positions also, and now it dropped on her left shoulder all the way to just above her nipple. She had her arms around Ben, and by doing so she lifted the material of the sweater a little so that there was a gap between her skin and the sweater. Ben could look right in and see her breasts, which we all knew were unencumbered by a bra.

Once I saw the scene, I had a hard time tearing my eyes away from it. Alicia's fingers were making little circles over the back of Ben's neck.

I looked at Mike.

He was relaxed, leaning against the counter. He brought his drink to his lips without taking his eyes off his wife, and it was clear that Alicia and Ben were who he was looking at.

One of the other couples seated in the adjacent sunroom had noticed the scene as well and I saw that they had started talking quietly to each other in between glancing over at Alicia and Ben.

"I, uh... think..." I said, intending to tell Mike I was going to go to bed and escape the weird scene. Just at that moment, though, several things happened at once. The sunroom couple rose and waved at us with an upraised hand. "See you guys on the slopes tomorrow!"

And Alicia lifted her eyes, looking past Ben's face... and directly at Mike.

Her eyes sent daggers through my spine, and it wasn't even directed at me. I felt my cock pulse and I even had to look down to make sure it wasn't overly obvious that watching Alicia do... whatever she was doing with Ben... was turning me the fuck on.

Alicia was saying something in a low voice, too low to hear. The way her mouth moved, though, her lips popping on certain consonants like she was letting a dick pop out of her mouth, the tinge of smile and naughtiness on the shape of her mouth, you could tell it was sexy, whatever she was saying.

And the whole time she spoke to Ben, she looked at Mike.

The final couple was shuffling away, but I barely noticed them. I gave a quick glance at Mike, who was now smiling a little and shaking his head.

"You win," he mouthed to Alicia.

I followed his gaze back to Alicia, who smiled and dropped her eyes to look at Ben. She then raised one of her legs in an almost impossible feat of acrobatics, and swung it up and over as she leaned back. Now she was seated in Ben's lap with his body between her legs. She placed her mouth very close to his ear and raking her fingers through his hair, whispering something that was making my dick hard without even hearing it.

I didn't know a ton about what was going on here – it was pretty easy to figure out, sure, but the details were unknown to me. I did know that it was very likely the right moment for me to take a large step to my left and slide along the kitchen counter until I reached the exit. Time to walk back to my room, close the door, and wait for my wife to arrive.

But I was frozen to the floor. I was working really hard on communicating what I wanted to do (leave) to my feet, but they weren't moving.

Overridden. By my cock.

Meanwhile, that perverted excitement I had tried since last year to put back in its cage was threatening to get out.

Alicia's lips were close to Ben's ear, so close I knew he could feel the shape of her mouth through the moist warmth of her breath. He couldn't possibly be sitting there with Alicia's firm ass grinding against his crotch, her lips telling him what seemed like very dirty little secrets, and not be getting hard under her thigh. She had to feel his stiff cock against her leg. She knew what she was doing to him.

And of course, she knew her husband was watching. She knew for sure, because she kept looking at Mike. Directly. While she talked to Ben.

Then, without any warning, Alicia leaned in and kissed Ben on the mouth. The sound of their lips locking, and then moving in a wet, passionate frenzy, was the only sound in the room. I turned to Mike, and found that he was just watching. Unsurprised. The way he had been last year when Alicia and Devin fucked.

I looked back at Ben and Alicia, and saw that Ben had worked his hand up and under her sweater. His hands were now moving beneath the fabric, stroking Alicia's right breast, making her nipple harden beneath his thumb while he tasted her pouty mouth.

Now it was time for me to leave, I thought. It had been one thing watching this with Noel, and tucked away where Mike and Alicia didn't know I was watching them. But now, I was getting woven into a story that I didn't necessarily want to be a part of...

But I didn't leave. I just stood there.

Alicia leaned her head back, and her silky hair fell in a curtain of ashy blonde behind her. Ben kissed her throat, and then moved his mouth up to her jawline.

Alicia moved her hands down to grasp the bottom of her sweater. She leaned back deliciously and tugged, and the silky material slid slowly along her stomach, over her ribs, and caught for a moment on the swell of her breasts. I sucked in my breath as the curve of olive skin pushed against the fabric, lifting with it gently before springing loose and giving me an unobstructed view of Alicia's small, pert breasts. Her enormous pink areole glowed in the center of them, her nipples erect and bitable.

For a moment, I was transported out of the scene, and stared openly at Alicia's nipples and Ben's hands sliding along the indentations of her ribcage. His hands were large and his thumbs reached all the way to the center of her breasts to play with her nipples while he grasped her torso. He made quick circles with his thumbs and then leaned in to place one long nipple in his mouth, between his teeth. Gently he tugged at it, and pulled her whole breast forward. Alicia sucked in her breath and he released her nipple. It sprang back into place.

At that moment, my beer bottle began to slip from my fingers and I had to reach down to catch it. Mike looked over at me and laughed under his breath.

“I’d better... I have to... I better get to... bed...” I sputtered.

Mike was still amused. He took a sip of his own drink and moved his eyes back to his wife. I followed his gaze. Alicia was leaning back as Ben suckled on her other nipple. He had moved one hand to her soft back to support her, and I could almost feel her skin beneath my own palm, soft and hot, the bumps of her spine shifting beneath it as she squirmed in my hands.

I inhaled sharply.

Ben shifted in his chair and turned Alicia and himself sideways. Alicia leaned back and spread her upper body over the table. She did it with a remarkable ease, almost as though it were a job she did all the time. She pushed her hair out behind her so that it fanned above her head as though it were a photo shoot. Then she stretched her arms up over her head and crooked her body a little. She was still straddling Ben, but her pelvis had shifted up.

I stared as Ben leaned in and popped the button on her jeans with his teeth. Alicia was watching him, one finger in her mouth, grinning.

I looked at Mike. He was focused on the scene in front of him, serious as a heart attack, but making no move to stop anything that was happening. A chill went through me as I realized this was all an orchestrated event, something that Mike and Alicia did all the time. It had probably been planned all along, and it was probably no coincidence that Ben was as dark and muscled as Devin.

Mike was going to watch this guy fuck his wife. And he was going to enjoy it. Just like that.

I pulled my gaze away from Mike and looked back at Ben and Alicia. Ben had tugged the zipper of her jeans down, and a silky black fabric peeked through the yawn of the open denim. He lifted her by the waist and pushed her backward on the table, so that she was dangling over the edge from the knees down.

Ben slid his hands down her thighs, along her calves, and to the sensual curve of her dangling ankles. As he caressed her ankles and fiddled with the straps of her gold sandals, Alicia writhed and turned to look at Mike. Her eyes stopped on my face, however. She seemed to know that the sight of Ben’s hands on her feet – slipping them out of her sandals, tickling the smooth bone of her ankle again, sliding over the sole of her foot – was driving me wild.

Her shoes clunked to the floor, first one then the other a few seconds later. Ben stood up, pushing the chair out behind him, and grasped the waist of her jeans.

The jeans peeled away, turning inside-out as they did. Ben had to back away from her to pull them off. They rolled back on themselves, revealing as they did all the long, slender inches of her thighs. When he reached her foot and the jeans popped away, releasing her legs, she let them drop and swing.

Alicia was now stretched out, almost naked, on the table. Her breasts, marvelously firm, were pointed at the ceiling. Her nipples stood at attention, begging for some more action, for someone to bite into them until she moaned. And all that covered her now was a flimsy scrap of black satin.

Ben moved back between her legs. He leaned over her, and ran his hands over her body, caressing her breasts, sliding over her hips, and then slowly sliding a finger from her pubic bone to between her legs. He dragged his hand so that when his fingers spilled over the crest of her pubic bone they dropped, just grazing her slit through the fabric of her panties. He nudged her legs apart with his hand, and Alicia obliged him by spreading them wide, using her own hands to pry apart her knees.

Ben traced his fingers along the hem of her panties. He began just at the edge of the fabric, next to where her pink asshole lay under the fabric, along the laced edge of the panties up and over her inner thigh. Back along the top hem, grazing the bare skin just above the pink center of her, and then back down along her inner thigh to her ass again.

Alicia swung her feet from side to side, lifting her legs up and holding them open wider.

The part of me that thought I should leave was being won over by a new part, a part that wanted to see every juicy detail that happened next. I remained as I was, planted to the kitchen floor and forgetting to breathe for minutes at a time.

Ben made the same circle around the hem of Alicia's panties again, but this time he tucked his finger under the fabric. His nail was against her skin as he slid his finger up along her slit, down the curve along her pubic bone, and then back along her inner thigh.

He brought his hand to his nose and inhaled the scent of Alicia's excitement. I wondered how wet she was, and if all along his route his fingers had been sliding along the slick of her juices.

He slid a finger beneath the fabric again, but this time, he kept digging in further. He delved into her pussy. I watched his fingers sink into her behind the screen of black satin. There was no place else they could be going except into her cunt.

He placed his thumb against her clit through the fabric of the panties, and used the leverage to slide his fingers in and grasp her. I watched as he curled his fingers in toward his thumb, and Alicia's legs shook. She mewled.

My cock was spewing precum, I could feel it. I was breathing haggardly. Ben moved his hand in Alicia's slit and she moaned. He lifted his arm, and her pelvis moved up with it. Alicia howled again but let him handle her like that, like a puppet for his pleasure.

I could feel a hot red splotch crawling across my cheek. I shouldn't be watching this, I told myself. But Alicia began to pant at that moment. Ben said something to her in a low voice, I couldn't make it out.

It drove Alicia wild, whatever it was, and she made a whining noise.

"Maybe deeper?" Ben growled.

He reached forward with one hand and grabbed Alicia's panties. The fingers of his other hand were still inside of her. He yanked on the fabric and it shredded as he jerked it downward and toward his own wrist. He withdrew his fingers for a moment to clear the fabric away, and I had a nice view of Alicia's spread-open pink gash, brimming over with her excitement.

Then Ben sank his fingers into her again. Only this time, he plunged even further, and used all four fingers. I watched as his hand stretched her pussy wide, and he stroked upward against the pressure of his thumb. Alicia howled, and she dropped one leg from her grip. It fell to the table with a loud smack.

"Hold that leg up for me, baby," a male voice said. It took me a moment to realize it was Mike's voice.

Alicia's hand slipped under her leg and raised it again, holding herself wide open so that Mike and I had an excellent view of Ben strumming her g-spot with his whole hand embedded in her pussy.

It was stunningly vulgar. Like porn, but real.

Alicia moaned, and her breath became ragged. I saw her abdomen rippling as she neared orgasm. Finally her breath caught in her throat for a moment, and her legs shuddered. Her abdomen went stiff, and Ben began to fuck her with his hand in earnest, sloshing in the welling cum of her pussy. She let out a shriek, and her whole body seemed to spasm as she came.

Ben finger-fucked her a bit more, until she was writhing on the table in obvious discomfort from the over-stimulation. Then he slowly slid his hand from inside her and leaned over her on the table. He placed his hand in her mouth, and she accepted it, opening wide to accommodate all of his fingers and suck the taste of her own cum from them.

A shudder went through me. I knew it was high time I was getting out of there when Ben stood up and started to unbuckle his own belt. When his cock popped free of his boxers, I felt my whole body fight to move from my place on the floor, to which I was frozen.

Mike looked over at me as Ben stood with his cock in his hand, stroking it lightly, looking down at Alicia's spread-open naked body on the table as though he were deciding the best way to penetrate her. Mike made a gesture that was unmistakably an indication that I should go ahead and get in there, but I shook my head rapidly in tiny shakes.

I might be sort of out of control, but there was no way I was having anything to do with this.

Mike shrugged, and stepped away from the counter, unbuckling his own belt.

He rounded the table and dropped his pants, his own hard cock springing loose to point straight in front of him. Mike's cock was bigger than average, and when hard it was very thick, almost like a blunt instrument. His balls were huge and loose, dangling like a bulls' below the shape of his cock.

I stared as he slid his arms under Alicia's and pulled her toward his end of the table slightly. He leaned a knee on one of the chairs and guided his cock over her mouth.

Alicia's mouth opened and her tongue emerged, darting out to lap at Mike's swinging balls and the fat thickness of the underside of shaft. She pulled at the skin of his testicles to suck it between her lips, and then swirled her tongue around on his balls again, running the blade all over his inflamed skin. Mike held his cock aloft by the tip so that she could lick his shaft.

Meanwhile, Ben climbed onto one of the chairs on his knees. He lifted Alicia's legs by the ankles, and then pushed them together, propping one leg on each of his shoulders. Alicia let him handle her like a rag doll, her only reaction being to let her knees fall open as Ben leaned forward and sank his cock into her pussy.

Alicia opened her mouth, and Mike dropped his ball sack into her gaping hole. She took his balls completely into her mouth, and then his cock was resting on her chin and pointed toward her buoyant tits.

Ben began to fuck her, and her body shook, jiggling her tits, and he began to thrust more violently. Mike held her head steady so that she could suck on his balls in spite of the impact of Ben's cock sliding her back and forth on the table. It was utterly, utterly obscene, but my cock was pulsing with the need for release.

Mike lifted his cock, and his balls pulled out her mouth with a wet smack. A gooey bubble of spit popped and landed over her lips. As Ben pummeled into her, she was pushed backward on the table until her head hung over it. I stared as Mike guided his cock to her mouth. Alicia gobbled him up, and within seconds the bulge of his cock was visible along the tender length of her throat.

I stared, my cock nearly bursting, my mind in a frenzy and also utterly dead, as Ben and Mike fucked themselves in Alicia's pussy and mouth. They began slowly but built up into a vicious rhythm, and soon the sounds of the squelching as they hammered into her were loud and echoed against the kitchen walls.

I saw Alicia reach up and grasp Mike's ass. Ben's body stiffened as he began to tip over the edge, and he thrust violently into her as he came, his features strained and veins sticking out on his temples as he exploded inside of her cunt.

Mike let his cock slip out of Alicia's mouth. She gasped for air and yelled, apparently coming again as Ben pummeled into her. Mike stood over her, watching her face as she half lifted her head and watched Ben's cock slamming into her.

Ben slipped out of her and stood back, his cock still hard and cum oozing from the tip. Alicia turned onto her stomach and grasped Mike's cock, pulling it toward her and into her mouth. Mike placed a hand on her head and pushed her toward him. I watched her lips sliding up and down his cock, and Mike's face growing more and more serious.

Ben was heaving with exertion, and he looked over at me. Alicia's legs were spread open again, and her gash and inner thighs were glistening with her cum. Ben made a gesture at me, like it was my turn, and I felt my cock throb with a desire to sink into Alicia's soaked flesh, even if it was full of cum. With a shudder, I realized I almost found it appealing.

"Fuck, baby, yeah, suck that cum out of my cock," Mike was saying.

I looked once more at Alicia's tantalizing pussy, and shook my head. Well, I tried to shake it, but I probably made some weird gesture, because there was definitely a large part of me that wanted to give in to temptation.

Ben shrugged, and moved toward her again. He placed his two hands on her ass and pushed her asscheeks apart.

Another painful throb went through my cock, and I was dizzy with lust and indecision.

But just at that moment, my phone buzzed against my thigh.

Noel.

Had to be.

I was brought back down to earth, and just made a beeline in the direction of the hallway without looking back. I could hear the slurping of Alicia's mouth on Mike's cock, and I was sure that the last thing I saw was Ben's dick pressing against the pink pucker of Alicia's ass.

But I walked swiftly and directly for my own room, locking myself in.

I stared at the screen of my phone.

Noel calling.

I was out of breath. My finger hovered over the green answer button, but then I dropped the phone without answering.

I unbuttoned my pants and grasped my cock. I closed my eyes and pressed back against the door, sliding my hand over my shaft.

As I did, I envisioned the scene I had just seen, all over again, with only one significant change: instead of Alicia's olive skin spreading open in a wet pink gash, getting filled by Ben's cock, I saw the pale skin of my wife. And instead of Alicia's pouty mouth and pillowy lips around Mike's cock, I saw my straight-laced wife and her pretty lips committing the most vulgar acts imaginable.

"Fuck!" I shouted, as I came, spurting onto the floor.

I slid down the door and panted, squatting, unable to believe myself, what I had witnessed, or that I had been so vulgar and spurted cum all over the floor.

While thinking about my wife getting her upturned face stuffed with Mike's hairy balls.

I lay down on the bed face-first and fell asleep. The drive and the booze, and then perhaps the stress of seeing that salacious sex scene right in front of me, had in fact worn me out. I didn't even lay there thinking bad thoughts or excited thoughts. I just passed out.

I woke up at about 2:30, my heart pounding with the rebound of too many alcoholic drinks. Once it thumped me wide awake, the bad thoughts began to pour into my head and fill it to the brim.

The truth was obvious to me, even if I want to pretend like it wasn't: I felt guilty for staying and watching Alicia, Ben and Mike. I felt guilty for being so captivated by it, so jealous of Mike, so eager to partake in something like what had happened last year with Noel. I felt guilty for all the very filthy thoughts I was having about Noel, superimposing her on the lewd acts Alicia had committed.

Who imagines their wife doing things like that?

And worst of all: I felt a sense of dread that I would have to tell Noel what had happened, and I had no idea what that would lead to. I did, however, know what I wanted it to lead to, which was more of the same from the year before.

Or maybe even more.

I looked at my phone to figure out what time it was. A small icon in the upper corner told me there was a message, and it was almost undoubtedly from Noel. I dialed my messages and held the phone to my ear.

"Hey," Noel's sweet voice said hesitantly into the phone. "I'm sorry I missed your message. I was in the middle of recording some things. I love you and I guess... I'll see you on Friday, if all goes well." Noel sighed audibly in the message. "Okay, by, then."

I swiped the call away and contemplated her message. The tone of it, the quality of her sigh.

A ripple of guilt went through me again. Almost like Noel had somehow interred that I had watched the sordid scene in the kitchen, and somehow she had also opened up my mind and seen all of my dirty fantasies. I had this weird dichotomy in my mind: on the one hand I really wanted Noel to act like a dirty whore, but on the other, just the idea that she might see how perverse my fantasies were made me feel terrible.

I was being ridiculous, I told myself. Her sigh was just a sigh. I was reading way too much into her message because I had just done a bad thing – or, maybe it was better to say “an offside” thing – and I was getting really nasty ideas from it.

Ideas were just ideas. That was all. And Noel didn’t know about them, and what she didn’t know couldn’t hurt her. Or our marriage.

And it wasn’t like Alicia and Mike were going to open the door and say: “Oh hey, we had an orgy Wednesday night and Spencer watched.”

Right?

And I had gone to bed without doing anything else.

No. Noel’s sigh was just a sigh and everything was going to be just fine. We would make sure not to get too drunk, go to bed early, avoid all the orgies Mike and Alicia seemed intent on having, and everything would be fine.

Her sigh was just an ordinary sigh.

I reminded myself that Noel had felt mildly uncomfortable in this setting long before last year. She wasn’t a racy, jet-set type, and she didn’t move easily or fluidly between different social groups like I did.

Mike and Alicia, up until last year’s trip (or the beginning of it, at least) had always made her a little uncomfortable. Alicia because she was wild, unpredictable, so much younger than Noel, so unlikely to land on a topic that Noel would be able to contribute to.

Mike made Noel uncomfortable because... well, because he was Mike. He was sort of the antithesis of what she looked for in men. He was, as she said, “too businessy-racy.” I smiled remembering her saying that.

All of these things had been true before last year. So, it was not only entirely possible, but very likely, that any sighing or “tone” in Noel’s voice was just more of what she had always felt, and everything was exactly as it seemed to be: she was coming in spite of her misgivings about Mike and Alicia, and she was sighing because of them.

I decided, after staring into the snow for a good twenty minutes, that it was best if I just went to sleep. I closed my eyes, but my heart kept pounding away and my thoughts kept going in circles for a good long while, until I finally couldn’t take it anymore and I threw the covers off. I fished my headphones out of my bag.

I crept downstairs to the exercise room, which was two floors down from the bedrooms and well-insulated by all the expensive wood and carpet. On more than one occasion I’d been wine-awake at Mike’s place and needed to run for twenty minutes on the treadmill to get the alcohol out of my system.

I put on a podcast to keep my brain from wandering back to the bad thoughts I had been having, set the pace pretty high, and started running.

4: THURSDAY

Alicia, unsurprisingly, had a new snowsuit, and it was a real doozy. Whereas she had dressed the year before in a grungy, snowboarder-chic look, she was now carting a pair of barely-used skis and encased in a fur-lined, form-fitting white snow bunny suit. The pants gripped her ass and thighs tightly and showed off her figure, and she was walking around with the top open. Beneath the suit, she wore a sexy, low-cut white shirt made of a highly transparent material that let the full color and shape of her nipples stare through it. It was hard not to look at them.

Mike and I had been up hours before she was, and when I came out to the kitchen the same mysterious catering elves who had been there for the party the night before had left a lovely breakfast on the table. For shits and giggles I made myself a salmon bagel sandwich.

I was uncomfortable with Mike in the kitchen for a few minutes, given what I'd witnessed the night before (and specifically, could not deny having seen). In some ways, I was dying to bring up the topic, but it seemed a little weird while holding a bagel in my hand. In other ways, I was perfectly happy with us both not discussing it, which seemed to be Mike's tack. He pounded and orange juice and talked about the snow conditions and his plans for getting to the back bowls. He wondered aloud if we should leave early and let everyone else find their own way over there, because we were missing all the fresh powder.

Alicia appeared, already dressed, around ten o'clock, which was the earliest she could be bothered to start a day of skiing. She drank some kind of green-colored shake and mumbled that Tracey and Jim were on their way. The pair appeared shortly after, but it was still a good boring hour of breakfasting before we were on the slopes, which were only a five-minute drive away, down this mountain to the base.

Alicia stepped out of the Suburban and looked up at the sky with a scowl before removing her skis from the ski rack on the side of the vehicle.

"So you're a skier now," I said, taking my own skis out.

Alicia lifted her furry hood and rested on her head, framing her pretty face with the soft rabbit fur and giving herself the appearance of some kind of Scandinavian princess. She made a severe pout of her full lips. "I have to do a photo shoot,” she said cryptically. Her gray eyes slid away to Tracey, who was encased in a sporty snowsuit that managed, somehow, to be as uptight as Tracey herself. “Let’s go do this thing.”

Alicia has something going on on Instagram that I neither understand nor really want to.

It was then that I noticed that Jim was removing camera equipment from the Suburban. I opened my mouth to ask him a question (something like, “are you a photographer?”) but Mike clapped me on the back and yelled: “Just you and me, baby!” before I could get a word out. “Jesus, let’s hit it before the bowls get shredded.”

I leaned on my skis and gave a glance to the departing trio, my eyes lingering on the pretty shape of Alicia’s ass in her snowsuit, while Mike fished somethings out of the vehicle. “So what’s she doing, anyway?” I said.

Mike groaned as he leaned in to retrieve a rogue glove. “Eeeeh,” he said. “It’s some kind of photo shoot thing.”

“For?”

He stood up, tugging the glove on. “Honestly, man, I can’t keep with all her shit. Ask Tracey. That’s what I do. When I want to know. Which I never do.”

We started walking toward the snow. Steamvail is a ritzy place; the sidewalks and streets in the village are heated and perpetually clear of snow.

“You aren’t... I don’t know, curious what she’s doing?” I said. It sort of blew my mind. If Noel were posting the kinds of pictures on the Internet that Alicia was, I’d want to at least know what she was doing.

Mike tossed his skis on the snow and shrugged. “I mean, I can’t keep up with it, you know?”

I shook my head.

We glided down a hill to the lift line and chatted with some other skiers about the snow and where to go. Then we settled in on the large and lengthy lift ride up the mountain peak. We managed to get our own gondola, which was another great aspect of this place. It was too far from the city to be a weekday spot for the city-dwellers, and too expensive to get too many people on the weekends, even.

We rode in silence for a while. I was determined not to bring up the evening before, but it was lurking in my mind.

“Cat got your tongue?” Mike said, after about five minutes of gloomy silence.

“Yeah, man, I’m just... hung over. It was a really... crazy night.”

Mike shook his head and looked out at the snow. “You gotta take it easy man. We’re too old. I always take it easy, just in case something happens like it did last night.” He laughed, like this was just an ordinary conversation.

I cleared my throat. “Yeah... look, about that,” I said.

Mike looked at me, and he seemed honestly surprised that I was about to say something with obvious hesitation in my voice.

“I hope that didn’t make you uncomfortable, man,” he said. He sounded a little incredulous.

“Yeah... it’s not so much that as, uh... Noel. You know?”

Mike shrugged. “Maybe she’d be into it,” he said, and grinned.

My mouth dropped open a little. “Uh... Noel? Yeah, no.” I shook my head vigorously and grinned like an idiot.

Mike looked at me. “I don’t know. It’s always those prudish, innocent, doe-eyed ones who turn out to be the dirtiest whores.”

“That’s my wife you’re talking about, man.”

Mike held up a hand and nodded in apology. “I’m just saying,” he said. “You never know what to expect.”

I opened my mouth to object, and my voice got caught in my throat. I changed my question. “So... about that, like... you and Alicia. How does that work? I mean, do you just have an open relationship, and that’s... okay with everyone?”

Mike shook his head. “No man, you have it all wrong. It’s not an open relationship.”

I blinked.

“She’s a hotwife,” he continued. “That’s a whole different... don’t tell me you don’t know what that is.”

I knew what it was. It wasn’t like a man could wander around on porn sites and stay away from his true self.

“I didn’t think that was real,” I said, the disbelief evident in my voice.

Mike laughed and shook his head at me. He looked back out the window, as if he didn’t care if this conversation continued or not.

I felt like a real ass when I said it, and my voice sounded so pathetic it makes me cringe even thinking about it now. “So listen,” I said, “anyway.

Can you maybe not... say anything to Noel about it? Or just... I don't need the hassle, man."

A flicker of amusement crossed Mike's face. The gondola grated over a bumper and rolled into the shadows. "It's your call, buddy. But I'm tellin' you. It's always those girls like Noel."

And without any real explanation of what that meant, he stepped out and into the snow, letting out a howl of excitement.

The conversation was over for now.

That evening, I made a point of being out of the hot tub by six, making a big show of how tired I was, and getting the password for the WiFi so that I could watch TV right through any party that ended up taking place.

But Alicia and Mike had plans to go to someone else's house, and so my job was made easy. I pretended I was exhausted, maybe coming down with a cold, dying to hit the slopes early the next day. And I watched with relief as they left the house, Alicia decked out in a scandalous red sweater dress, loosely knit with nothing underneath it but her red panties, and black boots that came to just below her knee.

Tracey and Jim went out to dinner.

I was relieved, and went down to the gym to run out some of my pent-up anxiety and energy, then I sat in the sauna, and I went to bed earlier than I had in a long time after leaving a message for Noel, reminding her to drive carefully and telling her – quite truthfully, I might add – that I was very, very happy she was coming the next day.

5: FRIDAY

I opened the door for Noel. I had heard the car crunching on the driveway.

I fully expected her to look a little frazzled because of the difficult snow driving. I had been picturing her in one of her slightly oversized sweaters, her eyeglasses still on for driving, fogged up by the sudden change in temperature, and her hair springing loose from a hasty clip to keep it out of her face.

Instead, she was clutching a tidy black suitcase in two hands. She had taken her glasses off and she was wearing a tight-fitting red sweater. She was hopping lightly in the cold. Her cheeks were rosy with the cold and... something was different. I scanned her face and her body, looking for what it was.

Something else was different, definitely. My heart started racing. Did she have me figured out, somehow? Was that it?

God, I was fucking losing it.

“Hey,” she said, with a laugh. She looked at me, confused. “You going to let me in, or what?”

I backed up and said something stupid, with far too much enthusiasm, like: “Oh. Yeah. Of Course!”

Noel stepped into the foyer. She had her coat draped over her arm. I embraced her, and kissed her on the cheek. “I’m glad you made it,” I said.

There was still something unsettling about Noel’s appearance, and I was searching for what it was.

Alicia’s ultra-hot, moist and tingly aura swooped up behind me. “You changed your hair,” she said to Noel. “It looks great.”

I looked at Noel’s hair. Now I felt like an ass: it was quite different. Much darker. Still a reddish-brown, but darker than her actual hair color. It picked up the caramel in the smattering of freckles on her nose, and made her hazel eyes pop.

“It looks great,” I blundered. “I knew something was... well, I couldn’t figure it out, it’s a real surprise, it looks great though.” My face fell into a look of confusion. “But, uh... when did you do it?”

Noel was looking at me like I was an idiot, which is what I was acting like. She smiled for me. "Thank you."

She lifted a scarf that had been hanging over her neck and hung it on my shoulder.

Ben, who was over for more drinks that evening, had wandered into the room and was standing next to Alicia. He extended his hand, and I was unable to suppress a slight cringe as he did. "Ben," he said simply.

"Noel," Noel said.

"That's a-" Ben began

"Please don't say it," purred Alicia.

"-festive name," Ben finished, and Alicia's eyes slowly closed and opened in annoyance.

"Do you want a drink?" Alicia said to Noel, who was smiling generously at Ben in her very kind way.

Noel is one of the few people I've met in my life who is smart but manages not to be a cynical jerk about everything. She folded her arms to shrug off the rest of the chill from outside. "I'll just have some tea," she said to Alicia, who seemed to expect the answer, because she was turning long before Noel finished her sentence.

Noel leaned closer to me and took my hand in hers. "So?" she said. "You like my new look?" She fluffed her hair a little. This is when I realized that it was arrow-straight and silky, not like its usual wild waves.

I kissed her on the lips. "Yeah. Yeah... it looks... it's really stunning," I said.

Noel rolled her eyes. "Okay. It's not that big of a deal. But it looks good, right?"

"No-el!" Mike's voice boomed. He strode across the room and took each of Noel's hands. "You look... different somehow. The hair? You look hot." He moved his eyes up and down her figure, and winked at her.

This was just Mike being Mike, I told myself. He did the same thing with every woman he met.

Still, a little shiver went through me. A shiver of hope and dread. God, I was fucking losing it hard. I reminded myself that I was the only person in the room with a mental problem. My wife was just my wife, and Alicia and Mike were just sexually-liberated swingers, and I was going to have a nice weekend skiing if only I could stop picturing Noel sucking Ben's cock.

Alicia was back with a drink, which looked nothing like tea, though it was in some kind of hot drink glass.

“Have this,” she said.

Noel smiled wanly and took the glass like it was dynamite. I could see that she had sniffed the alcohol. I couldn’t help but feel another sensual shiver thinking about how Alicia seemed to want my wife to get drunk right away.

“I...” Noel started, but she gave up pretty easily, as she always did. Noel wasn’t the type to correct someone if they got her drink order, or anything else, wrong. She peered into the glass, sniffed it again, and shrugged. She took a sip.

“Careful,” I said, nudging her.

But there was something inside me that of course didn’t want her to be careful. I could feel it fluttering around in my chest. I needed a drink to settle myself down. I looked at Alicia, and her eyes met mine. Her lip seemed to turn up at the corner a little, like she was reading my mind – not just about the drink, but really, really reading my mind, and all the dirty, pent-up ideas that were occurring to me.

And it was at that precise moment, though you may not believe I could have not touched upon it until then, that the idea first occurred to me that Alicia was machinating something of her own.

“Drink?” she said to me, her eyes burning with whatever salacious thoughts were behind them. Something inside of me melted with the heat of her brief stare.

I managed to nod, and Alicia trotted cheerily away.

We had some drinks while Noel was introduced to everyone who happened to be there: Tracey and Jim, another couple we had briefly met several years ago, Laura and Ham, and a strange, gangly Asian guy who seemed to work with Ben.

I tried not to let my imagination run wild, but I couldn’t help feeling like Noel was stealing glances at Ben. She laughed especially hard when Ben made a joke. Who wouldn’t be taken in by him? He has a low, Barry White-voice and a hard jaw, and he was taller and more fit than anyone in the room. And black. Very black, and therefore just... a lot cooler than anyone else.

Noel finished her drink and then put her hand on my shoulder. “Hey,” she said. You want to come back with me while I unpack?”

It was a weird request. I lifted an eyebrow and nodded. I felt a little twitch of hopeful excitement. It wasn't like we had sex constantly, but it had been a while. Though it seemed unrealistic, I am, after all, a guy.

"Sure," I said.

Noel went out to get her suitcase, and I tried to down my drink and make my excuses.

I closed the door behind me and turned around to watch Noel. She started unpacking her suitcase: placing things neatly in the drawers and organizing her closet.

She tucked a strand of her dark hair behind her ear. The color was really quite flattering – not too different from her natural hair color, but brighter, sexier. It really complimented her skin and her face. The red sweater was also a nice, if minor, change in her appearance. Instead of her usual shapeless and bulky sweater, this one silhouetted her figure nicely against the white of the snow framed in the window.

"You really look great in that sweater," I said, lacking anything intelligent to say.

She looked down at her stomach and pulled slightly at the fabric. "Yeah?" I don't know. It's a little... tight. But I thought I'd try to... you know... blend around here."

Around here, with Mike and Alicia. My skin tingled and my stomach twisted with the sweet and filthy reminders of what Mike and Alicia got up to.

I smiled. Noel lifted a shirt from her suitcase and tried to fold it carefully. I continued standing in the doorway, my hands in my pockets. With her new hair and her new sweater, she was making it easy for my imagination to wander. It was easier to imagine what Noel might look like to another man: unfamiliar, sexy, something to be explored.

I was getting turned on. I cleared my throat and tried to steer my mind in another direction. As I said before, I'm a pretty sexual person, but I wasn't normally so... mired... in these kind of thoughts. At times, I felt almost juvenile.

"So," Noel said, sitting down. She bounced a little on the bed. "What've you guys been up to while I was slaving away?"

I felt guilt slide over my skin as images from Alicia and Mike's "party" flitted through my head. I tried to say "you know, skiing," but the wires got crossed. I moved my mouth uselessly instead.

Noel squinted at me and turned her head slightly. She had picked up on “the something,” that was off with me, and it was making its way through her scientific mind. “You’re being weird,” she said.

She offered no further clue as to how she felt about that, or whether she suspected me of being weird for the very reason I was being weird.

And what was that reason?

Instead of addressing her question, though, I completely derailed the conversation. I said (or maybe it’s more accurate to say, I found myself saying): “Yeah, so. How’d you have time to get your hair done?”

For some reason, this came out of my mouth sounding more like an accusation than anything. As soon as I heard myself, I realized how harsh it sounded, and as Noel’s face changed into confusion, I felt the need to back up the apparent over-indignation I had just lobbed at her. “I thought you had to work the whole time.” I tried to make my voice softer, but my tone was the same. Confrontational.

Noel folded her arms across her chest. For a second, she looked a little hurt. Then she got defensive. “I needed to be at the lab for a regular shift,” she said, in a lecture-y voice. “That doesn’t mean I was spending every waking moment there.”

I didn’t understand, myself, why I was getting all in what could only be called a tizzy about her hair.

“Did you go shopping, then, too?”

Noel made a face. “Yes. Actually. I did both things at the mall. What is with you?” She stood up and started taking things out of the drawers she had put them away in and into another drawer. I could tell she was shaking with anger under her skin.

Another really stupid marital “fight,” I thought. I regretted having started it, and I was only then catching up with my own thoughts, my reasons for lashing out with her about her hair. Which I actually really liked. Something like that – a little bit of time and care with her appearance – is what I’d been hoping for and wanting, after all.

I realized I was just being pre-emptive, accusing her of something in my mind to rid myself of the guilt I had about the party on Wednesday.

“So,” she said curtly, moving her arms to flip half of an already-folded shirt over on itself. “You didn’t say. What’ve you been up to?”

“Uh...” I stuffed my hands, which had come out of the pockets, back into my pants and tried to sound friendly. “You know... the usual. There’s great snow. Um... they had a party a couple of days back.”

I watched her carefully for any reaction to the word “party.” Was it my imagination or did a look of fleeting interest, or maybe alarm, cross her face?

“Oh yeah?” she said, and turned to look at the bed before sitting back down on it. She brought her fingers to her mouth and tapped her lips.

She was thinking about something. Was it what I hoped she was thinking about? My hopes flared up again. And then I had a typically masculine, ultra-hopeful thought: maybe the reason she had done her hair and put on a sexier outfit was because she – Noel – had been hoping for something, too.

So I stepped forward, and sat down on the bed next to her. I put my hand on her lower back and made a lazy circle over the material. Noel’s body was tense, and I could tell I had made her angry. I didn’t really blame her; I was being confrontational for reasons I only vaguely understood myself, and certainly it had come as a surprise to her.

“I’m sorry,” I said. “I don’t know why I said things that way.”

I felt her relax a little under my fingers, but not completely. She had shared with me that there was hard science to demonstrate that women retained a physical state of anger far longer than men, which is why they didn’t end fights as quickly as men do. I let her fume a little and searched my mind for a joke or something to say to change the subject. Lacking any brilliant thoughts, I slid my fingers down the small ribs in her sweater, to the bottom hem, and ran my fingertips along the sliver of skin between her jeans and the sweater.

Noel seemed not to even notice what I was doing, and kept looking ahead of her and thinking. I pushed my fingers under the sweater and began to stroke her skin, feeling the small knobs of her spine, moving along the sinewy dips in her muscles. I could feel her reacting to my touch now, softening, enjoying the feel of my fingers tickling her skin. The angry reaction inside of her was melting away.

I moved in, and brought her face close to mine by crooking a finger under her chin. For a moment she seemed to relax, and relent, ready for more.

Then squirmed away, giving a slight push against my chest. She smiled, a smile she reserved for gently turning me down for sex. It was an infuriating expression, a sort of pitying and condescending smirk. Sometimes, like at that moment, it only fortified my resolve to try and have sex with her. I leaned in and kissed her again, taking one of her wrists in my hand and trying to guide her backward, into lying on the bed. She went with it partially, her mouth moving with mine, but she fought to remain seated, refusing to melt into the bed. Then she backed her face away from me. "Honey," she said.

I climbed toward her, pushing her down to her elbows. "Yeeees," I growled, moving my free hand under her sweater. She kissed me back when I put my mouth on hers, and her lips felt soft and warm. My libido flared, and I suddenly wanted to be inside of her.

"Honey," she repeated, pulling her mouth away from mine again. "Aren't we... isn't dinner soon?"

"We can be there in no time," I said, finding the satin material of her bra with my exploring fingers. I brushed them over the center of her bra and felt her nipples through the fabric. "You just look so great in this sweater..."

Noel sort of squirmed away from me. "I'm not really in the mood," she said.

"I can get you in the mood," I prodded, using a hammy voice of seduction and pinching her hardened nipple between my forefinger and my thumb. All of the things I had witnessed, both last year and this year, were flitting around in my head, along with some strange desire to claim her, which seemed to be instigated by her new hair and sweater. My cock pulsed against her thigh.

For a moment I felt her relenting, and a sense of victory and further excitement surged inside of me. But then she pushed on my chest and slipped out from under me, scooting to the side. "Honey, I'm just... I'm really hungry." She looked behind her, with worry, at the big open window. It didn't matter how many times we stayed here or looked at the window from the ravine or explored the whole house to confirm that absolutely no one could see into this room, the open windows still made her nervous.

"Let's go have another drink before dinner," she suggested, when I put my hand on her thigh and scooted closer.

I can usually convince Noel to have sex, if you're wondering why I was being so relentless about this. If it wasn't sleepy morning sex, or too-much-wine sex, Noel always needed a little prodding. And she almost always gave in.

But now, she pushed my hand away. "Honey," she said sharply. "I'm serious."

A little bit of anger flushed the right side of my face. "Come on," I said, and my voice was curt. "We can just have a quickie and be out there in a jiff. I haven't seen you in two whole days, and you look so great in that sweater..."

Noel shrugged. "Spencer," she hissed. "I just don't feel... comfortable... someone might... you know. Walk by." She looked at the door.

I moved closer to her. "So?" I said. I moved my hand along the inseam of her jeans. A look of panic was starting to creep into her eyes, but unfortunately for her, it only served to make me more determined. Now I was thinking about the feel of her hot pussy around my cock, sifting through her probably wild bush to get to her juicy cunt with my fingers, and then pull her open and apart and tease her with the tip of my cock. I could almost feel her hot wet juices swimming over the head of my dick. I found the button of her jeans and began to clumsily work the metal through the buttonhole.

"So," she said, as though I were an idiot. "I'm just... I don't know..." she swatted my hand away.

"You think people don't know we have sex?" I suggested. I smiled.

"Of course I know that," she said. "I just don't want.... you know..."

I knew what she wanted to say, but was too bashful, maybe even too prudish to say: she didn't want anyone to hear us having sex, or think about it in detail. This made something flutter in my heart, made my pulse quicken, made my cock throb even more. I brushed her hair from her neck and leaned in to kiss her ear, and I saw a ripple of gooseflesh on her neck and a bit of color spread over her cheek, so I knew that whether she wanted to or not, she was getting at least a little turned on. This only added fuel to my own fire. I had been massaging her left nipple, which was good and hard now, and I moved my hand up to tug on the fabric of her bra and expose her skin beneath her sweater, so I could touch the heat of her body. "You don't want anyone to hear you?" I breathed into her ear. "Because that would be just awful, wouldn't it? If someone could hear us, and they were imagining you naked, and enjoying the thought of it?"

I was being so bold I almost wanted to pat myself on the back. This was a good move, because it was backing her into the very corner I wanted to have her in.

Noel's breath caught in her throat, and another wave of goosebumps traveled over her shoulder. The fine, white hairs on her neck rose with my warm breath and I felt her body quiver. Her eyes closed, almost as though they were heavy with sleep.

Oh Noel, you very naughty girl, I thought. She might be playing the prude, the conservative, the innocent, but there was no lying about the heat rising from her skin or her shaky breath: she was turned on by the idea.

She popped her eyes open and broke her own spell almost immediately after that, though. She shifted away from me, bringing a hand up to push on my meandering hand through the fabric of the sweater. "Spencer!" she hissed. Her face flushed with embarrassment and her features were making contorted expressions on her face. She looked down at the floor and shook her head. She looked almost like someone had caught her naked in the bathroom.

"Oh come on," I said, moving in at her ear again, while I pushed my hand back toward her breast beneath her shirt. "Don't tell me the idea doesn't turn you on, just a little..." She let me brush my lips over the smooth skin of her shoulder, and in that gesture there was the truth again: Noel did like the idea.

Or at least, she could be talked into liking the idea, which from my perspective was essentially the same thing. I felt my stomach wrenching with newfound excitement.

Noel shook her head in little, rapid movements. She laughed awkwardly and pushed my hand down and out of her sweater. "Oh my God," she said, laughing nervously. "You're such a pervert."

I didn't relent with my mouth getting closer to her. I moved my lips over her neck and was satisfied to see a stain of crimson moving over her cheekbones. Her skin was actually radiating heat. She was so ashamed of the fact that she liked this idea that her face was getting hot with humiliation.

"I can tell," I whispered close to her ear, "that you're at least thinking about the idea... are you embarrassed because you maybe... like it?"

She jumped to the side and laughed and swatted at me. "Will you stop it?" She said. "Jesus!"

Incredibly, I had a moment of great, great clarity, and reined myself in. If I pushed her too hard, I realized, I wasn't going to get anywhere close to what I wanted. Better to lose this battle and win the war.

I leaned back on the bed on my elbow. "All right, all right," I said, holding up my hands.

Noel tucked a strand of hair behind her ear. I was very pleased to see that the expression on her face was not entirely one of relief. A little bit of disappointment was in there as well. "Thank you," she said quietly, and looked down to adjust her sweater.

"Just... if you're worried about those guys," I said mysteriously, and then I smiled, laying out the bait for her. I shook my head and waved at the air. "No. I shouldn't say."

Noel looked back at me quickly, her eyes sharp and dark with interest. Her cheeks were a little pink, and the bare skin on her chest was a little flushed as well, I noticed with satisfaction. "What?" she said, feigning mild disinterest.

"Well," I said. "I guess I maybe should tell you anyway..."

I let the tension build. I could tell that Noel, being nobody's fool, knew at least what the topic of what I was about to say was: sex. I knew she didn't want to appear anxious to hear this juicy bit of gossip, but she couldn't really help herself. The interest was there, under the surface.

It was at that moment that it all became pretty clear to me: of course Noel was pliable, of course she was turned on by these ideas, whether she remembered last year or not, after all, she had been gushing excitement while she watched Alicia and Mike. She was just reluctant to admit it to herself.

I sat up and folded my hands together. Now was the time to really choreograph my moves. I was picking up steam as I went along. This was my talent, after all: manipulating people into believing what I wanted them to believe, doing what I wanted them to do. And now that I could feel myself figuring Noel out, putting all the pieces together, I was getting into that tunnel-vision state.

I admit, I sort of forgot that this was an intimate relationship, and that Noel was my wife and not a project or a client. But once the spin doctor triggers in my mind, there's really no stopping me.

"Yeah," I said. "I really should tell you, because... I sort of got caught up in something at that party the other night and it's..." I let my voice trail off.

This was designed to make Noel incredibly fearful that I had done some very bad thing like cheat on her. Get her to suspect and worry about the worst, so that when I told her what had actually happened, she would be relieved and judge it less... well, harshly.

I looked at Noel. Her excitement had turned into wide-eyed fear. Her mouth was slightly open.

“So I don’t know if you remember,” I began, “how last year, the night you got really drunk... Alicia and Mike were like... well, we saw them doing something, you know... extramarital, in the hot tub?”

Noel blushed again, and then she bit her lower lip. She shook her head. It had the forced, plastic feel of a lie, and that made me smile a little inwardly. I could see she was still trying to figure out how all of this could work together, what it was that I was about to say, and she was hoping it wasn’t awful.

Now was the time to lean in to her, place a hand on her knee, be as aghast as she thought she should be and build complicity between us. “They were at it again,” I whispered. “At the party.”

Noel’s features moved strangely, as she tried to decide what expression to wear on her face. “At what?” she said, finally. “At...” she leaned toward me now. “Are they... swingers?” she said.

I nodded.

“And you saw them?”

I felt a little bit of admonishment building in her voice.

I closed my eyes and shook my head solemnly. “There was no way not to,” I said. “It just... happened right in front of me and there wasn’t really any way to get out.”

I looked at Noel’s chest, which was fluttering with her rapid breath. Was it really true? Was she turning out to have a dirty little mind somewhere in there? She was titillated by this; she couldn’t have hidden it from a complete stranger, let alone me. Another strange stain of pink was creeping up her shoulder and to the back of her neck. I looked at her eyes: they were black with dilation. She brought her hand to the small gold chain around her neck and fidgeted with it with her nimble fingers.

I knew she wanted details; she was looking at me so hungrily now, willing me to say something more. But better than that, she was too shy to ask me to give them to her.

“Did you see them....?” she said finally.

“I saw everything,” I said. “It’s... there wasn’t really any way out.”

Noel dropped her eyes. “Wow,” she said. Then she gave herself a little shake to snap herself out of her fever. She put her hands to either side of her hips and pushed against them. “How does that... work?” she said. And then her eyes went straight to mine. “But you didn’t...?”

“Of course not,” I said, incredulously. I shook my head. “It was... Alicia and... Ben.”

Noel stroked the collar of her sweater and her eyes widened. And I was sure – I was sure she reacted to Ben’s name. The possibility that she had the same dark proclivities as me was almost too much to think about.

“And what was Mike doing?” she whispered.

“Watching. For a little bit. And then... he got in on it.”

Noel sucked in her breath. “So they just... he doesn’t care?” She was rubbing the collar of her sweater.

I took a deep breath. “It was pretty erotic,” I said. “I mean, I know I should have left, but I... there wasn’t any good way out.”

Noel looked at me sharply, and then she brought the gold chain to her lips and rubbed it against them. She was thinking. She was thinking and she was getting turned on, but she’d rather die than admit it to me. For now, at least.

“But that’s his wife, ” she said. “Isn’t he...?”

“Jealous?” I said.

Noel moved her hand more quickly under the chain, and it made a little noise.

“I think it’s part of the thrill,” I said cautiously. “Being jealous.”

Oh, we were so close now – to something – I could hardly believe it. Noel was breathing in fluttering little gasps. Quietly, but the movement of her chest was impossible for her to hide.

I leaned back on my hands. I wanted to push her down on the bed and rip her jeans off and fuck my cum into her hard, but this was a delicate project and I wanted to do it right. “I kind of get it,” I said. I made sure to sound sort of hesitant.

Noel’s quick eyes flashed at me. “You do?” she said, disbelievingly.

I shrugged. “It’s... I don’t know. It’s sort of a turn-on, the idea of your wife putting on a show for you, driving you crazy with jealousy, then... you know, coming back to you.”

I'd leave the black cock out for now, until I was more certain about her desires.

Noel's eyes went wide with disbelief. "But..."

"I know, it sounds weird, but it's kinda hot. Maybe they just needed to put some spice in their marriage."

"But it's cheating!" Noel said breathlessly.

A word about the way she said this: it was half-indignant, but with a lot of other emotions beneath that indignation. Almost like she partially hoped I would say what I said next, argue with her:

"Not... I mean, it's not, really. Not if you agree to it. I mean... a lot of people do this. It's not like it's a new thing."

Noel's mouth fell open. "I thought that was like, something from the seventies."

"You can't see the appeal?"

She shook her head. But it was a pretty empty denial.

"Not even for a woman?"

I was moving closer, very, very slowly now. Noel shook her head again, but there was even less conviction behind it than before. I extended the fingers of my left hand and placed them on her thigh. I moved them slowly. Noel looked down at my fingers and stared at the motion of them on her jeans.

"Not even a little bit?" I prodded. "It wouldn't be fun to be with another man, even if I asked you to?"

Noel stared at my fingers, almost hypnotized.

Then she looked at me and gave me another awkward guffaw. "Oh. God. Spencer, I thought you were serious for a second there."

"Seems like you didn't mind the thought..."

Noel's mouth hung open. "I... no. What? No, that's... I couldn't do something like that." She stood up. "I can't even believe those guys... and you watched it... I can't even imagine how... I don't know what to think about that." She hugged herself. "God. I don't know if I want to go to any party they have..."

"Noel," I said, suddenly very serious. She looked at me timidly.

"Do you really not remember last year?"

She narrowed her eyes. She shook her head, but it was a very half-hearted, guilty shake.

I stood up. She was frozen in place and she looked down to avoid my stare.

I got very close to her. Another blush spread across her face, and my cock throbbed in my pants in response. I pushed myself close to her so she could feel my hard cock against her thigh. “Because surely you remember something, don’t you?”

She shook her head.

I trailed a finger down her shirt. “Nothing? Because the way I remember it, you were very, very...” I moved my hand down the side of her torso, just brushing her body through the softness of her sweater. Over her hip bone, down to the center of her jeans, where I knew she could feel the strum of my fingers over the seam between her legs... “interested in what they were doing. You don’t remember anything?”

She pressed her lips together.

I leaned in and kissed her earlobe. I moved my free hand up to her neck and pushed her hair from the opposite side of her face, stroking the soft skin at the back of her neck. I knew this sent shivers down her spine. “I can understand why Mike likes watching his wife with another man. And something tells me maybe you can, too.”

“Spencer,” Noel whispered, half-whining. “I don’t think...”

I slid my hand into her jeans, and she jerked violently in response to the move and tried to wriggle away, but I had my other hand at her neck and I gripped her gently to keep her from escaping. I slid my hand into her panties, and I was so caught up in finding what I knew to be there – evidence that she was actually quite turned on by this game – that I didn’t recognize for a moment that she had trimmed things up quite nicely. I worked a finger into the head of the valley between her lips, and found her inner folds soaked, as I had suspected.

“Hmm,” I said, and Noel flushed again. God she was really turning me on with this good-girl act and her soaked pussy. I wormed my fingers into her folds, further until I could stroke her clit. She remained as she was, breathing in short little gasps. “So something tells me you’re not quite telling me the whole truth,” I murmured.

“Spencer -” she began. I pressed my fingers against her clit, and the hard center of nerves at its core darted away in her slick juices. She gave a shudder and I followed the red-hot ball, pressing against it again and again until it slipped away from my touch. It sent a jolt through her each time.

She shifted from foot to foot in her mounting excitement. “Spenc – ah,” she said. “I...”

She closed her eyes and her body tensed as she began to reach the crest of her orgasm. I let her nearly go over the edge, and then I slowed my caress of her clit. Her hands were on my shoulders now, her fingers digging into my flesh. I guided one of her hands down to my cock. “It really, really turns me on,” I said, “thinking about you with another guy, watching you touch his cock.”

Noel inhaled sharply as her own hand touched my dick through my pants, and I felt her try to pull back, almost as if she had imagined the thing I was saying with such clarity that she believed she was actually doing it: placing her hand on another man’s dick. It was then that I felt the two forces pulling at Noel, different in some ways from those that pulled at me, but also similar. She both wanted to, and did not want to, give in to the idea of touching another man.

Then she grasped my cock through the material, and moved her hand against my prick, pressing hard. We moved together, in a single, fluid motion, as I withdrew my hand from inside her jeans and she turned around. I held her in front of me for a moment, searching her eyes with mine, and then we kissed passionately. We began to claw our clothes off, with a frantic abandon that I couldn’t really say we’d ever had. Noel unzipped my pants and her hands went after my cock, like she was really desperate to get it into her hands.

I pushed her onto the bed and pulled her jeans off, taking her panties with them. I stood over her, panting, and for a moment I was so overcome by her enthusiasm and my own desires that I was about to just plunge inside of her, and almost surely come right after that. I was that turned on.

But then I remembered the delicious feeling the game we had been playing was giving me, and I paused, standing over her.

“It really turns me on,” I said, “thinking about what sorts of things you would do with another man, if I asked you to.”

Just saying the words, imagining Noel doing what I told her to do, sent such a thrill through me that my cock bounced in the air. I could feel blood surging inside of me. Noel looked slightly alarmed, but also intrigued. Also very, very turned on.

“Would you do that for me, Noel?” I said, and as I said the words and imagined the act, I had an epiphany: the idea turned me on as much as it did because it was an act of such submission, such sexual obedience, that it had no equal. My breath shuddered out of me and I felt a drop of precum pearl at the tip of my cock.

Noel had a look on her face like she wanted to say “yes,” but she was flushed with shame or guilt or insecurity, and couldn’t quite get the word out. She sat up instead, bringing her mouth close to my throbbing cock, and she took it in her hand and looked up at me uncertainly.

“Would you be a good little girl and suck another man’s cock for me?” I breathed. I could see how the words traveled through her, rippling over her skin and making her shiver slightly. She dropped her eyes, the two forces of lust and guilt pulling her in opposite directions.

“Show me how you would do it,” I said. I held my cock in my hand and guided it to her lips, and when I placed the dripping tip of my dick on her mouth I pictured another man’s cock – specifically, Devin’s cock from the year before, thicker and blacker than mine. For a moment Noel looked stunned, almost as if it was in fact another cock and not mine, and the precum coated her lower lip in a creamy white film as she lifted her eyes to meet my gaze.

I used the hand I was using to hold my dick to her mouth to pull gently on her lower lip, and then her jaw. I opened her mouth so that my cock could slide between her lips. Her teeth grazed my cock at first, and I pulled harder on her jaw to open her mouth wider. “Would you take a big cock all the way into your mouth, just for me?” I moved my hand to the back of her head, and pushed her forward. Noel brought her own hand up to the base of my cock, so that she only had to take about half of my dick into her throat.

By then, I was so wound up I felt like I was going to come any second. Noel bobbed on the end of my dick a few times, and I held her by the hair at the end of my cock on her second trip along my shaft, pulling hard until she looked up at me. The fat bulb of my glans slowly slid from her open mouth, and my sticky precum slipped onto her chin. I looked at the scene for a moment, savoring it, before I threw her onto the bed and pushed her legs open. My cock was so hard it was easy to point right into to her soaked pussy, and I slid into her excited flesh like a knife through butter. “You like thinking about another man’s cock, don’t you?” I whispered. “You can’t lie to me, your pussy’s so wet.”

Noel's eyes had watered a little from sucking on my cock, and her lips were wet with her spit and my precum. "Oh," she said, refusing to give me the answer I wanted. I slid my fingers down to her soaked pussy and brought them up to her mouth, and she let me pull her mouth open. "See?" I said. Then I thrust inside of her as I stroked her lower lip with my pussy juice-coated fingers. Noel moaned again, and I could feel her pussy tightening around my cock. She thrust up against me, trying to grind her body against mine and give herself the relief she craved.

I pushed her hands down and over her head, holding her wrists tightly. I ceased all movement, and she almost whimpered beneath me. "Say it," I said.

She must not have known how close I was to coming, because she relented immediately. "I like thinking about another man's cock."

"Good girl," I said, and my own words set off a chain reaction. I started to fuck her, but I felt myself coming hard. I spilled my come into her.

Noel ground her body against me, and I tried to help her along. She was wild with desire, so ready to come -

And then I had a magnificent idea.

I pulled out her pussy and climbed on top of her before she came, and the whimper that came from her confirmed that I had caught her just in time. She squirmed beneath me, but I pulled my thighs together and held her against the bed. Her arms were pressed above her head.

Her cheeks were red with lust, and now she looked at me and they began to turn red with desperation, and then anger. "Please," she said. "Spencer, I'm so close."

I looked down at her. Noel, my very conservative wife, begging me with her mouth and her body to make her cum.

"I know," I said. She whimpered again and fought against me, sweat gathering at her temples. I let her buck beneath me, and I watched her, thinking more and more how beautiful my plan was, how devious and wrong, and how perfect.

"Shhhh," I said finally. My cock was already getting hard again, lying on her stomach. I leaned down close to her face. She was losing steam, but still breathing hard.

"I'm going to make you a deal," I said in her ear. "If you want me to make you come, then you're going to have to earn it."

This got her attention, and I could also feel that it made her shudder. She looked at me.

“You’re going to put your clothes back on-”

“Spencer, no, please -”

“Shhhh. And then you’re going to have to... hmmm...”

I let her squirm, waiting for me to tell her what to do, wanting, in her heart, for it to be very, very bad.

But I knew I shouldn’t push her too far.

“Let’s make it easy. You just need to... flirt with another man.” I paused. “Maybe Ben.”

Noel stopped struggling against me. Her eyes locked on mine. She stopped breathing. “That’s all?” she said. She seemed a little relieved.

But also – and this was delicious – a little disappointed. I could see in her eyes that a small part of her had been hoping for a dirtier task.

I stood up, releasing her, and snatched her panties from the floor. “That’s all,” I said. “Put these on. That’s all, and then, if you’re very good, I’ll make you come.”

Noel sat up on the bed, and she had the dizzy, rumpled look of a just-fucked, still-hungry whore. My skin tingled, and my cock throbbed.

“Panties on,” I said.

Noel complied. I tossed her jeans at her.

She stood up and slid them over her ass. She leaned in to the mirror, and straightened her hair, then dug into her suitcase and produced some lipstick. I watched her apply the red paint to her lips, staining them with a slightly whoreish, rusty-red color.

“That’s hot,” I said. “That’s good. No man will be able to resist that.”

Noel gave me a smile. It was a shy smile, but a little sly. “Just flirting,” she said.

I would have loved to tell her, at that moment, to let someone put his fingers in her mouth, and then his cock, and smear that red lipstick all over her face, but I nodded. “You give me what I want, and I’ll give you what you want.”

Noel dropped her eyes. “I don’t know...”

“It’s just for fun,” I said, pushing her hair to one side and kissing her shoulder. “Just flirting. For fun. It’s hot.”

She met my eyes in the mirror. She shrugged. “Okay,” she said, with a smile.

6: DINNER

My ears were full of the tinny ring of my own, elevated-beyond-dangerous blood pressure as we opened the door and walked down the hall. I had the scent of Noel's pussy all over my fingers and I could smell her everywhere. Her panties were probably soaked with her own excitement. The jeans she was wearing were tight, showing off her ass. She looked good, better than I remembered.

We stepped into the kitchen, where the mysterious caterers had come and gone, leaving food ready to go in the kitchen. A few people had already trickled in, and I felt my pulse quicken when I caught sight of Ben. He was standing in the sunroom off to the side of the kitchen, his back to the kitchen area, his black hair neatly trimmed over his thick neck. He was wearing a loose and expensive-looking shirt, but his muscles occasionally pressed against the fabric as he moved, showing off his physique.

I can hardly describe how incinerating it was to watch Noel's eyes move to the sunroom, and then drop suddenly to the floor when she saw Ben. How quickly my whole body simmered to a boil as a bright red flush crept over her cheekbones, and her mouth went taut, like she was covering something up. Prior to this trip, I might have misread Noel's reaction for something else, but now I knew that she was flushed with the guilt of her naughty thoughts.

"Interesting," I said.

This was all so new to us, and I was walking such a fine line just getting her to talk about other guys, that it hadn't even occurred to me to explore the other (literally darker) side of my own fantasy, or to test the waters with Noel. But here she was blushing because she saw Ben. Dark, black, muscled Ben.

I tried to quiet my pounding heart. I didn't know for sure that's why she was looking at the floor.

But then I remembered that the first steamy scene with Alicia, the one that had so turned her on, had been with the very dark, very well-hung Devin. Excitement starting building up inside of me again. Was it possible that I could access not only one of my desires, but all of them?

Alicia was approaching by then, several glasses of wine somehow balanced in each of her hands. Like everything she did, she was carrying the wine with minimal interest in the task. She had a mischievous expression on her face, and she directed it at me, which sent a chill through my body. I had no idea what Mike had told her, and I had no idea what she would do with the information.

Alicia was, after all, capable of anything.

She was wearing another loose, fuzzy sweater that slid around on her shoulders as she moved, promising to slide too far and provide a nice glimpse of her obviously bare breasts. The sweater was long, and came down to just below her thigh, which was a good thing because she didn't have any pants on. Fuzzy black legwarmers covered her calf and half of her thigh. The combination of fuzzy materials and the cut of the clothing gave her a look that was simultaneously reminiscent of a babysitter and a hooker.

She extended one of her hands, which held two glasses in a nifty trick of her slender fingers. She smiled at me, and then at Noel. We stood in silence for a beat, and then Alicia turned away to deliver the rest of her wine. But she stopped suddenly, and put a hand on my shoulder. "Oh," she said. "Did you see? Ben is here, still. Take Noel over there. He's into... whatever genetics stuff she does."

I looked at Noel, and saw that she was flushed again.

I put my arm around her and gave her squeeze, bringing her ear close to my mouth. I was about to ask her if she had a thing for black guys, but I caught the words in my throat.

There was such a thing as pushing Noel too far, I reminded myself. Besides, it was fairly obvious.

And I could always ask her later, and enjoy anticipating the thrill of making her admit it.

For now, I was going push her gently into Ben's circle and see what happened.

So instead of pestering her about her thing for black guys, I whispered, "Okay. Put on a show for me."

She looked at me with hesitation, and then gave a brave smile. She took a sip of her wine, and then gulped it down in under a minute.

She looked back at me. "Are you sure we should be...?"

I leaned close to her. "It's just for fun. It's just flirting. Here. Do you want me to introduce you to Ben?"

At this point, Noel darted her eyes all around. I suddenly wasn't sure if I had used Ben's name when I had told Noel about what I had witnessed Wednesday night.

I took her hand and pulled her along with me, stopping at the bar to get us another glass of wine. As I poured it, I gave Noel a smile. She took the wine glass from me with a strange expression. It looked like she was having fun, but she also looked really nervous. For some reason this only turned me on even more. I pointed toward the sunroom and we squeezed through the entrance among a few chatting couples.

Ben was talking to another guy, and it sounded like finance stuff. I could feel Noel stiffening up next to me. I squeezed her hand in reassurance. Breaking into conversations and introducing people was my job.

"Hi Ben," I said, at the optimal break in the conversation. "I'm getting all sorts of pressure to put you two together about genetics." I made a gesture between him and my wife.

I extended my hand, and when he closed his gigantic paw around mine, all kinds of very dark and erotic thoughts flooded through me. I could feel my cock pressing against the confines of my boxers, coming to life as I thought about that same hand on my wife. "Mike and Alicia have been hounding me to get this conversation started," I continued.

Noel smiled, and I had to give her maximum credit for doing it in the most adorable way possible. I watched her eyes melt into pools of caramel when Ben closed his fingers around her hand, which he reached for and took without her offering. The sight of his dark skin enclosing her pale hand in his grip sent a shudder of delight through me. He brought her hand to his mouth and placed his lips against her fingers.

"I am looking for a geneticist," he said, and his voice was low and almost cartoonishly deep.

But the way Ben was walking his eyes all over Noel, and smiling warmly but somehow dirtily, like he was peeling her clothes off with his eyes, indicated much less that he was looking for a geneticist for pleasure, not business.

For a moment, staring at the scene in front of me, I felt like I was falling. I had gone too far, setting these wheels in motion. Ben, after all, was a man I knew to have a proclivity for – or at least no qualms about – fucking another man's wife. And my sweet Noel seemed to be turning into a puddle right in front of my eyes.

He still had her hand in his.

Noel seemed stunned by what he had just done, and I wondered (pleasantly) if she was soaking into her panties right now.

"You don't even want to know why?" Ben growled at Noel, still smiling.

Noel shocked the hell out of me by shrugging – a sexy, adorable little shrug – and saying, slyly, "I know when to be discreet."

It was brainy sexual-innuendo, the kind that was almost too dorky to be real. I fought to keep my eyes from bugging out of my head. Ben seemed to get it, and the corner of his mouth turned up a little.

Noel looked at me, almost like she couldn't believe she had just done that. (Or, more likely, that it had worked). I'm sure my mouth was open. Ben finally released her hand. Noel crossed her opposite arm over her body and held out an empty wine glass to me. "Honey, could you get me another glass of wine?" She met my eyes, giving me the impression of having winked.

I turned to go back to the bar. In my peripheral vision I saw that Ben and Noel, eyes locked on each other rather scandalously, were turning a little in the other direction and walking slowly toward the back wall. I could hear snippets of Noel's voice, enough to know that she was still at least nominally talking about genetics.

For now.

I poured a glass of wine for Noel with slightly unsteady hands.

Alicia's oversexed aura hummed next to me, disturbing the air around her, as she appeared like a witch and stood next to me. "You're not wasting any time, are you?" she said, amused. She leaned on the bar and took a sip of her wine as she stared openly at Ben and my wife. I snuck a glance at her nearly-bared ass, noting that she did not appear to have any underwear on, and then flicked my eyes back to Ben and Noel.

My wife was standing quite close to Ben. It was just a smidge over the line of acceptability.

But the shocker was in her body language: she was bending herself slightly at the waist, so that her pretty breasts were thrust slightly forward. At that moment she gave her hair a little toss.

Noel was the type to stand with her arms crossed at her waist and slightly slouched, about three feet away from anyone. This seemed like a completely different person.

I had another pang of regret, wondering if I'd perhaps fucked up letting my wife get into Ben's charming clutches.

I looked at Alicia, who smiled and sat back up straight. "Have fun," she said, winking at me.

I took Noel's wine to her, and she barely stopped talking to take it from me. Man, was she laying it on thick. I mumbled something about saying "hi" to someone, and left them there. When I turned around, I didn't see anyone I knew except Tracey, who was sitting, tight-lipped, at the kitchen table, her arm slung over the back of her chair, her eyes darting around like knives. Alicia had disappeared, I didn't see Jim, and I didn't see Mike.

I wanted my wife to flirt with Ben, but I didn't want to look like some fucking doofus who didn't have anything to do in the meantime, like Jim had looked on Wednesday when Mike was flirting with Tracey.

Tracey it was. I plopped into a chair next to her, angling myself so I could keep an eye on my wife and Ben (provided they stayed where they were).

"Hiya Tracey," I said. "You look a little peeved."

Tracey closed her eyes slowly like a cat, and then opened them. "I'm very tired," she said icily.

I barely heard her. Ben had reached for my wife, and put his hand on her arm. He appeared to be telling a story, and Noel was smiling, then she laughed outright.

I watched them for a while. They seemed to be moving closer to each other with each passing second. The longer she stood there with him, the more she seemed to stand upright and thrust out her breasts, to radiate with a sexual energy she just didn't have with me. My feelings ran from hot to cold as watched her almost transform: I hadn't honestly expected her to be so charming, to draw Ben in so much. I hadn't expected her to captivate him, but there she was, doing it.

And slowly, slowly, as Ben moved closer to her and started to stare more into her eyes, the slow burn of jealousy began to creep up on me. It began like a strong drink in my stomach and spread out like the burn of alcohol until it was numbing my limbs and tingling in my dick.

Noel looked at me and I saw her blush. The sight of the light color creeping over her face drove me wild: it meant that she had thought of something she felt guilty about. And she had thought of it right after Ben touched her, however accidentally. Right after the heat of his ebony skin had radiated through her arm. I wondered how “naughty” her thought had been. Had she pictured his hand moving down her arm, bringing her fingers to his lips? Or maybe jumping from her arm to her torso, trailing a thick finger down her abdomen, brushing deliberately over her mound?

She had won the game we were playing, or completed her mission. Now, she seemed to want to linger. I tried to indicate to her that it was fine, that I wanted her to linger as long as she wanted with Ben. Let him go even further. I wished there was a way to transplant my thoughts and feelings without saying them, a way she could know it wasn't a lie or a trick. A way she could know how much I wanted to see Ben dip his fingers into her cunt.

“How is it you know Mike, again?” Tracey's voice cut through my reverie.

I blinked at her. “He's a college buddy,” I said. My head was still swimming with filthy imaginings of Ben's muscled mass lying on top of my wife, her thighs on either side of his dark body, her feet bouncing slightly as he bounced on top of her, grinding his big cock into her pussy.

Tracey started to talk about something, and it fell away to background noise as Noel started running her fingers along the collar of her sweater, lazily and very deliberately. Ben's eyes were locked on her breasts, and he wasn't making any attempt to be subtle about it.

This went on for a good twenty minutes, until Noel was kind of drunk, leaning her head against the wall and staring at Ben with her big hazel eyes. Her long, pale neck was exposed to him, and she occasionally punctuated what she was saying by placing her hand on his.

But then Mike's voice broke through the chatter to tell us that food had arrived and was waiting in the next room – a little-used dining room tucked away just outside of the kitchen. The little crowd began to filter toward the room.

Tracey, perhaps unsurprisingly, didn't seem in a hurry to get food. Noel and Ben seemed not to have even heard. They were deep in a conversation, and now I was starting to feel a little uneasy about it. After all, I wanted Noel to flirt with Ben, not fell in love with the guy or find out that he was more interesting or charming than me in addition to being a hunk of gorgeous black man.

Almost as though she was reading my mind, Noel looked over at me. She had a faint blush covering her cheeks, and she seemed a little uncomfortable all of a sudden. I stood up. She put a hand on Ben's arm and turned as though headed to get another glass of wine.

I headed to the bar. She walked toward me, her face impossible to read – excited, flushed, burning with something. She took me by the arm. “I think I need to go to bed,” she said in a low voice.

I followed her out of the living room and down the hall. Our departure was unexpected and unannounced, but everyone was so drunk I doubted it would get noticed. Noel opened the door, and waited for me to come in after her. I was starting to get vibes of anger and shame off of her. It was dark and I couldn't see her face as she leaned back against the door, facing me. She dropped her head, and I felt my stomach plunge with dread: I had pushed her too far, or she had gone as far as she would go, and she was going to start crying.

Then I heard her laugh. A sort of wet snort. She lifted her head, and now I could see the contours of her face in moonlight as my eyes adjusted: she was biting her lower lip, a little uncertain, but also happy. “I can't believe I did that!” she said, and brought both of her hands to her face.

Since I had been expecting something so different, it took a second for me to react. I had the brains to move toward her and turn on the light when I did, though.

“That was really hot,” I said, sort of stupidly. “That was...” I lost my train of thought. Noel was looking at me. I moved my hand to her throat and trailed a finger down her neck, between the curves of her breasts. “I'm actually... shocked... by your behavior, Mrs. Zerlich,” I said.

Noel had been looking at me, and her gaze wavered a little, but she looked back to me quickly. She seemed to be getting used to her new persona: less blushing, less aversion of my gaze. She cocked her head a little to the side. “Well,” she said. “I really wanted my reward.”

The word “reward” made my cock instantly hard. I had all kinds of things on the tip of my tongue, but Noel's parted lips and her bad behavior had them all tied up in my throat. I pushed her into the door and pressed my mouth to hers, violently searching for her tongue. I used my hands to unbutton her jeans and shimmy them down her hips, taking her panties with them. As I slid them down, I felt the center of them with my thumbs, and I was satisfied to find them soaked. "You naughty little girl," I said to Noel, in mock astonishment.

I slid my fingers over her pussy and into her folds. She was soaked, and I could barely find her clit in the sea of slimy juices that had oozed from inside of her.

"I take it you liked flirting with another man?" I said, stroking her clit at last. She jerked a little and her mouth fell open to emit a tiny gasp. She let me finger her, and her eyes got glassy, but she didn't answer.

"It makes me wonder," I said, sliding the tip of my forefinger to pull back the hood of her clit and expose her raw nerves to my thumb. "What would you let Ben do to you? Did you think of anything good while you were talking to him?"

Noel opened her mouth, and she moved her body to get my fingers to stroke her more quickly. For a moment I didn't even believe this greedy, hungry woman was my sweet wife. Noel never did this kind of thing. Her breath was harsh and ragged and she squirmed underneath me, pressing down on my shoulders with her palms to get more leverage.

Well, there was my answer. But I wanted to delve further into Noel's mind, find out if she could do something more than just flirt. Even if it was only talking about it.

I leaned close to her ear, and slowed the movement of my fingers. By pressing hard against her body I could stop her bouncing. She squirmed and spread her legs apart as far as her jeans, now at her knees, would let her. "Do you want me to make you come?" I said. "I want to hear you tell me what else you would let Ben do to you."

She leaned her head backward and exposed her throat. I had so much control over her body, which seemed to be turning to liquid, melting, surrendering completely to me. She emitted a whine from deep in her throat. "No, Spencer, that's not fair," she said. "You said -"

"I know what I said," I growled, pinching her clit. "But this is what I want. I want to know just how bad you would be Noel. Would you let him suck on your tits?"

I used my free hand to push her sweater up to her arms, where I let it remain tangled and I pinned her wrists, suspended above her head. I lower my head and extended my tongue to make a lazy circle around her nipple. Noel squirmed, and I felt her clit pulse against my fingers. I bit gently into her hardened nipple and she gasped. I stopped moving the fingers I had buried in her cunt. I lapped at her nipple, drawing away as she tried to get it in my mouth. "Would you?"

"Yes," she relented.

"Say it."

She breathed heavily, and I slid my fingers from her cunt and pulled away from her nipple, looking up at her and blowing on it, teasing her. She looked at me in mild disbelief, and her cheeks colored again. I knew she didn't want to say the words, that something about actually admitting her naughty thoughts was burning up inside of her.

"I can wait all night," I said, moving my mouth to her other nipple and brushing my lips over it without caressing it. Noel tried to wriggle but couldn't. I could feel her attempting to gyrate her hips, but I pressed hard on her pubic bone with my thumb and pushed her back against the wall. I tasked. "Just say what I want to hear, Noel. Tell me what a bad girl you would be. I want to hear the words from your own dirty, dirty mouth."

I shuddered. Noel's mouth was far from dirty. But it could be.

Noel bit into her lip. She closed her eyes. "Oh," she said. "Okay. I would. I would let him... suck on my tits."

I bit gently into her left nipple. I slowly slid my fingers back into her slippery folds. She was positively gushing excitement now. My whole hand was slick with her juices. I pushed her lips open and thumbed her clit slowly.

"And what else? Would you let him put his big, black cock in your mouth?"

Noel's eyes widened and her pupils dilated. The stain of red on her cheeks deepened.

But her cunt, teller of ultimate truths, welled up with juices and trembled around my fingers.

"Say it," I coaxed, "or I'll have to make you wait until tomorrow."

"I don't... I..."

I slowly pulled my hand back, hinting at my withdrawal.

"I would let him put his cock in my mouth," she whispered.

"His big, black cock."

I flicked her clit.

"His big black cock," she repeated.

I let go of her sweater-bondage, and moved my hand to her neck, where I stroked the soft, pulsing center of it. “Good girl,” I said. I guided her roughly to the bed, spinning her around and pushing her onto the edge of it. I got my own pants undone, somehow, as I was doing this. Noel wriggled out of her sweater, and her hands went to my hips.

I had been planning to throw her onto the bed and give her what she so richly deserved, but now that I had her sitting there like that, and she was squirming out of her pants with her mouth so close to my cock, I couldn’t resist.

I put my hand on the back of her head and gently pushed her forward. “Show me what you would do with Ben’s cock in your mouth,” I said.

She looked up at me, and for a moment seemed taken aback. She was pushing against my hand, and then a strange expression came over her face and she gave me a smile. She leaned forward, and without bringing her hand to my cock as she usually did, in order to take only the upper length of my shaft into her mouth, she opened her mouth and let me guide her onto my cock and push her gently further, further, until I felt her gag at the back of her throat. She pushed back against my hand and took a deep breath, but then, incredibly, she opened her mouth again and went all the way down my shaft. I felt her throat spasm with a lesser gag this time, but she went on, and slowly my entire cock was inside of her mouth. I stared down at Noel’s lips sealed around the base of my shaft, almost unable to believe what she was doing.

She lifted her eyes up to look at me, and I shuddered, remembering at that exact moment what I had asked her to do.

Show me what you would do with Ben’s cock in your mouth.

I was going to go over the edge, and I almost let myself, by it really wasn’t fair. Noel, after all, had done far more than she had promised. I pushed her back onto the bed. My cock flopped from her mouth, and her spit clung to the tip and sank slowly onto her chest, I straddled her and pushed her backward, taking my dick in my hand and guiding it to her sopping hole as I did.

I used the tip of my cock to play with her clit until she was writhing on the bed, moaning. Then I plunged into her. “Come for me,” I said. “Show me what a good little slut you are and come for me while you think about Ben’s big, black cock.”

I could feel her pussy clenching around me, and her body was heating up as she gyrated her hips and ground against me under my body. “Think about his big, black cock while you come,” I said, and this was enough to push me past the point of no return.

Noel as well. She opened her eyes, and they rolled back in her head slightly as her body seemed, for a moment, overtaken by a seizure. She lifted her head and opened her mouth, her body frozen solid as she was racked by the first wave of her orgasm. Then she yelled as I groaned and filled her soaked cunt with my seed.

It was the most violent orgasm I’d ever had. I don’t know how many times I slammed into her, my thighs slapping against her buttocks, but I gave it to her as hard as I ever had. By the time the roar of my climax slowed to a dull tide, Noel was lying back on the bed and biting into her finger, her eyes squeezed closed.

I covered her with my body and pushed her hair from her face, alarmed suddenly that I’d hurt her. “Hey,” I said, “you okay?”

She opened her eyes and nodded, and I slowly slid out of her pussy and lay on my side, close to her body. She turned toward me and buried her face in my chest. I put my arm over her and we lay, panting and entangled, our sweat and cum mixing on our legs – far more intimate and close than we had been since the beginning of our relationship; maybe closer than ever, if I was being honest. There was an intimacy that had not existed in the beginning of our marriage, and the dullness of so many years of marriage had been thrown off for the passion we had in the beginning.

Noel brought her fingers to her mouth and tapped on her lips. Then she looked up at me. She seemed a little sheepish as she looked back down at my chest. Then she giggled.

“What?” I said.

“I don’t know,” she answered, her voice muffled, reverberating against my chest. “It’s just so...” she shrugged in my arms.

“Hot?” I said. “It’s very, very hot.”

Noel shrugged again.

There was a silence.

“Wrong,” she said. “Dirty. I still can’t...”

I rested my chin on her head. I didn’t want to lose any ground here: there was no doubt in my mind that this had been a good experiment, no doubt in my mind (at that moment) that I wanted to take it further, and very little doubt in my mind that, whatever she thought cerebrally about it, Noel had something inside of her that wanted to try it out for real as well. “This is the best sex we’ve had in...” I began.

To my surprise, Noel finished: “Forever,” she said.

Her declaration, the stark reality of it, the brutal honesty of it (so unlike her) felt heavy between us for a moment.

“I feel really close to you right now,” I said. It was true, however strange it may have seemed.

Noel was playing with her fingers on her lip. “But it’s so... wrong to feel that way, isn’t it?”

Now, this was a really, deeply romantic moment with my wife, but it would be a dishonest retelling of this story if I didn’t interject that Noel’s remnants of guilt really fired me up. I know that’s a sort of twisted thing to say, but the way she asked this question? In her tone of genuine wonderment, her voice almost adolescent with a kind of unadulterated naivety? It went straight to my cock.

I waited for a few moments, thinking about the right thing to say.

“Look,” I said, finally. “I don’t see how it’s wrong, if we’re both into it, and we both agree about it.” I added quickly: “And we both stick to the rules we set up.”

Noel was still moving her fingers over her lower lip, fancifully, sort of sexually (probably without realizing it). “I guess so,” she said. “I guess if we don’t really do anything more than flirt.”

It seemed to me that she left the end of this sentence open, like an invitation. It really did. I felt my heart start to flutter rapidly enough in my chest to put me in the hospital. I felt sure that she wanted me to play the bad guy here, to be the one to suggest something out-of-bounds, because she couldn’t bring herself to do it.

My hesitation came from the fear of being wrong. Misreading her, and setting my progress back.

I sucked in my breath and dove in anyway:

“So, about that,” I said, and could feel my voice trembling a little deep down. I hoped it wasn’t coming across that way to her. Now was the time to sound resolute, to sound like... well, like a man in charge.

I moved my head back so I could have a good view of her face. “I don’t know if it has to just be flirting.”

As soon as the words were out of my mouth, it was like a fire had started inside of me. It was too late to take it back, anyway. “I’ve been thinking about this for a long time. I think I have to just admit that to you. Yeah, I do. This is a fantasy I’ve had for along time and I just never said anything because I thought you’d think I was... I don’t know. Crazy or something. But it’s... and it’s not just something that’s all about the sex, I’ve given it a lot of thought, Noel. It’s something else, and now that you seem like you’re sort of interested in it, I’m... I think maybe we could take it further.”

Noel moved her head so she could see me better. Her eyes were moving slightly from side to side. Analyzing, analyzing. Her fingers were still playing along her lips, tapping out some secret code to herself as she thought about what I had said.

And then the worst imaginable thing happened: her eyes seemed to well up with tears. They didn’t spill over, but I could see them fill up to the brim.

“Noel,” I said. “Say something.”

She closed her eyes, and a single tear slid out of her left eye.

“I didn’t want to upset you,” I said.

She opened her eyes.

“Why are you upset?” I asked.

Disclaimer: I get panicked if women cry. It freaks me the hell out and I just try anything I can to get them to stop. I was throwing out anything I could think of to say.

I saw another quick flash of pink travel quickly across her cheeks. “I don’t know,” she said, helplessly. “I’m just... I’m not sure what to think.”

I scooted down so I could have a better view directly into her eyes. “Hey,” I said. “This isn’t something to get upset about. I don’t want you to get upset. I just... okay, I’m going to be perfectly honest, here. Our sex life has been-”

She rubbed her left eye. “Dull,” she said. She looked down and her fingers walked along my chest.

I was stunned again by her honesty, by the brutal way she just met it head-on. I was stunned that she agreed with me. I had always assumed that Noel thought everything was fine, and I was the only one who felt things were monotonous.

But she was still a little weepy, so I hurried to console her. I touched her cheek gently. “Which is... I think it’s like, what happens. But now, now I feel like we both have something we like, and it makes us both more excited, and it makes me feel closer to you.”

There was a pause. Then Noel seemed to fill with resolution, suddenly and fully. “Yeah, see? That doesn’t make any sense,” she said.

Great.

I brought my hand up and stroked her head. “Noel,” I said. “You’re a smart person, but I have to ask you to just try to feel your way through something for once. You can’t tell me that this doesn’t feel good, right now, having a conversation like this about something we just... never talk about. You’re saying things that I would never have expected you to say, and we’re in agreement about them. And I feel close to you, you feel close to me, and we just had the greatest sex we’ve had in forever, according to you, yourself. So maybe just don’t... think about it. Just feel it.”

Noel was silent for a moment.

I had no idea where she was going to come down on this one, I really didn’t. She could have done anything, and it wouldn’t have seemed absurd, whatever it was.

She rubbed her nose, and sniffed a little. “Aggh,” she said finally. “I have to think about it.”

My hopes were falling, skyrocketing towards an abyss. Then she looked at me with a gleam in her eye, and laughed.

“Joking,” she said. She turned around quickly and worked her way into my body, her ass against my cock (which she had to feel was hard) and her soft skin like silk up and down the length of my torso. She wiggled herself into place and pulled my arm around her. Her fingers played with mine, tapping at the fingertips the way she played with her lip.

“I feel really guilty,” she said. “For being turned on by something that’s so...”

“Wrong?”

I waited.

My jaw dropped open. That was literally, literally the last thing I had expected Noel to say.

She turned back to face the wall, and played with my fingers. “Ben’s leaving for New York Sunday,” she said softly.

My cock throbbed. I couldn’t actually believe what I was hearing. Noel brought my fingers to her lips and bit into one softly. The sensation of her teeth on my flesh ripples through me, down the inside of my arm, into my spine, right into my cock, wham.

“It might be our last chance you know... with him. Tomorrow.”

I could barely breathe. Was my wife actually saying, without saying, but definitely saying, that she was hungry for cock, and not just any cock, black cock?

Talk about things I never saw coming. But she kept going:

“And I think if we’re going to actually do this it would be... I think I would want it contained. Like, only here.”

I was frozen, afraid to move, afraid to breathe, afraid to shatter the fragile, incredible reality Noel was building.

This wasn’t really happening, was it?

She bit my thumb lightly, then rubbed it over her soft, slightly fuller lower lip. “So I think,” she continued, “if we’re going to... you know... actually do this...”

There was a pause that seemed to actually be a presence in the room.

Her voice grew weak at the end of the sentence.

I was still paralyzed.

Was this really my wife?

For a moment we were silent in each other’s arms, our breath heavy and audible. Noel lifted her eyes to meet mine. In them was her quest for approval, for assent to her suggestion.

I rolled on top of her, and sank into her sloshing pussy. I couldn’t believe I was hard again after everything that had happened, but I was. And so, wordlessly, I gave Noel my approval for her plan.

7: SATURDAY

The girls walked off together at the slopes the next morning, Alicia's little butt swaying with her usual spunk. Noel looked back at me with a smile.

I turned to Mike, and he had a strange smile on his face. He clapped a hand on my shoulder. "You sly dog. I didn't think you had it in you," he said.

"What?" I said this to maintain my dignity, or give the appearance of doing so, but Mike was having none of it. He jerked his chin in the direction of Noel's retreating form. "I saw her flirting with Ben last night," he said. Then he turned his gaze toward me. "And I saw you watching. I have to say, I didn't think you could talk Noel into it."

I leaned in toward him confidentially. I knew I should keep things a secret, that Noel would prefer that I did, but I felt like I needed to talk to Mike about it. I was relieved, actually, that he brought it up. A man with experience.

Also, I needed to make sure Ben – Noel's choice – was around this evening.

"Last night," I said, "she, uh... agreed to... you know."

Mike looked at me disbelievingly. "Noel?" he said. He let out a low whistle. "No shit." He looked at the two retreating women. "Goes to show you never can tell."

I looked at Noel, who was turning around the corner. "The thing is," I said. "I have so much momentum here, I don't want to lose it. She's been really... pressing the envelope, you know? What do you think I should do, how do you... how do you arrange this kind of thing? And she has a specific guy in mind, I sort of need your help."

Mike was blinking at me.

"It's Ben," I said. I realized I was babbling like a high school idiot who was about to have sex for the first time, but at this point I didn't really care. "Ben's.. like, he's okay with that?"

Mike snorted. "Yeah, no Ben? He's just a guy who goes over to people's houses and starts fucking their wives. If it works, it works, if not... he's a fast runner."

I was in such a state that I looked at him in horror, and believed him for about two seconds. Mike shook his head. "Jesus man. That's a joke. Yeah... Ben... I don't know. It just kind of evolved with him."

I felt almost desperate. I was, in fact, desperate, I realized. "So what do I do?"

Mike put a hand on my shoulder again. "Spence," he said. "You have to just chill out. Look. From what I saw, she was digging it, flirting with another guy. But that's a long way away from fucking someone."

I sighed. "She said..."

Mike nodded. "Ben specifically, huh? Look, we'll have him over, see what happens." He threw his skis over his shoulder. "If not, I'd be happy to help you out."

I opened my mouth to object and saw that he was joking when I looked at him.

That was a little too close for me.

Mike shook his head again. "Noel. I never would have had her down for it... but then again... you know Tracey right?"

I stared at him.

"I know, I know. I never would have thought she had sex at all. But..."

My mouth fell open. I thought about Jim, and wondered if Jim knew, and thought about asking Mike, but then I decided better of it.

I had my own wife to deal with, and my own agenda.

We had started walking toward the slopes.

Mike threw his skis down and stepped into them. Then he took out his phone and started typing something.

I leaned on my poles and looked at him questioningly.

"Alicia loves Noel's look, she's like a dress-up doll to her, yeah I don't get it either... but... I thought I'd make a suggestion to her to maybe get a new suit or something."

He was waving his phone in his hand, smiling.

My mouth went dry. "But she can't... say anything to her," I said. Noel would definitely not have appreciated me telling Mike what was going on, to the point all my plans might be ruined if it leaked. "She won't say anything will she?"

Mike was typing again. He shook his head. "There," he said. He tucked his phone away.

“What’d you write?” I said, a fearful feeling creeping over me. Now I’d gone too far, and now Noel was going to back away from all my... gains. Jesus I was a fucking idiot.

He looked at me. “Relax. I just told her to take her shopping. And to invite Ben tonight. She’ll put it all together.”

“Oh God,” I said.

Mike slapped me on the back. “Let’s tear up some bumps.”

He skied away toward the lift.

There was nothing to do now but try, and almost certainly fail, to have a nice day on the slopes, praying all the while that whatever message Alicia received with that text, she didn’t foil my plans.

I was dying to know what had happened during the day with Alicia, but I didn’t want to come outright and ask it. We met up at the bar, and Noel was drinking responsibly, only about halfway through what she claimed was her first glass of wine.

The girls reported that they had gone shopping, which filled my mind with all sorts of delicious ideas. Noel didn’t seem secretly angry about anything, so I began to relax. If Noel was mad about something, she couldn’t do much to hide it. We had a few drinks and a normal conversation, while I fretted about the evening, and whether Ben would somehow go to Mike’s house, and how we would orchestrate my ultimate fantasy.

I also fretted about whether or not Noel, sobered up and with a whole day to think about it, would back out of the plan. We chatted for a bit over beers and then headed home. I still didn’t know if Ben was coming or what Noel had bought. I didn’t want to appear over-eager and somehow let something slip that Alicia knew about our “plans.”

Noel yawned and stretched when we walked through the door. “I’m going to lie down for a bit,” she said. “You coming?”

I followed her, a really premature excitement building up inside of me. Who knew what Noel’s plans were, luring me back to the room?

She took the shopping bags she and Alicia had amassed (I did not really want to think about how much money she might have spent) and set them on the dresser when she walked in.

When she had asked me back to the room, she had seemed playful, almost like she was taking the lead in something very naughty. Now that I closed the door behind me, her mood seemed to shift suddenly.

She looked in the bags, then walked away from them and found something to do on the nightstand. Then she came back and looked in her suitcase.

There was obviously something on her mind. I sincerely hoped it wasn't backing out of the tentative agreement we'd made the night before.

"So," I said, finally, after she paced the room a little more. "You have a nice time with Alicia?"

Noel looked frantic for a moment, and then she twisted her hands and looked from side to side, and then she smiled. "I, uh... yeah. Yes. Yeah, it was good."

"What'd you do?"

Noel smiled again, and she blushed. She looked down at the floor.

"Uh... I um, okay. You have to promise not to, um... laugh."

I shook my head. My stomach was in knots now, worrying that she was having second thoughts about our agreement.

Noel looked back up at me. "Okay, well... I needed a new suit, right? And so we found one, and it's... she held her fingers to her mouth. "Well, it's not like... one of Alicia's swimsuits, but it's, um..."

"Revealing?" I was starting to feel relieved. Maybe this was just about the suit, or how much money she'd spent.

Noel shrugged.

"More revealing than your deep sea diving swimsuit?" I joked.

Noel slapped me on the wrist playfully. "Okay, so then we, uh, went to the... you know, the spa." She swallowed. "And..."

"And...?"

Noel put her hand to her forehead in order to cover her eyes with her palm. "I got a... wax."

"A wax," I repeated, before the concept made it through my thick skull.

Oh.

"Why would I laugh about that?" I said.

Noel bit her lower lip and looked at me.

"It's a full wax," she finally whispered.

Oh.

I growled, and my hands seemed to be acting of their own volition as they floated in the air, headed directly for Noel's pants. She swatted at them and scooted away. “No! No! It’s... I can’t show you. It’s scandalous. I look like... like...”

I inched closer. “I bet it’s hot.”

“It looks good with the suit.”

I gave her a sidelong stare. “Is that the only reason you did it?” I coaxed.

Noel blushed. She opened and closed her mouth a few times, wordlessly. “I... you’re still...”

I was really relieved now. “I’m still game,” I said. “If you are.”

She was no longer leaning away, moving away. I reached out and tapped my finger on her pants. Then I started to push on the lip of it, trying to force it into the button hole.

The button slipped through the hole and her tight jeans split open, the zipper making a dull creak.

“Are you trying to tell me that you aren’t going to let me get a peek before you let another man see you?”

Noel didn’t answer. She looked caught in the headlights. Her hazel eyes seemed to go black as her pupils filled them. “I... I...” she stammered.

I moved quickly, pushing her back and jumping on top of her, putting my knees on her wrists and holding her down with my weight. Her mouth was open, and she looked both scared and excited.

I moved my hand down her abdomen, slowly, teasing her. My fingers moved down to her panties. The silky feel of them beneath my fingers sent a shiver through me.

“I haven’t been able to think about anything else all day,” I said. “And I think maybe you’re a little bit more naughty than you’re letting on.”

I already knew what I would find between the lips of her pussy: Noel might put on a good show on her face, and she might be conflicted in other parts of her body or soul, but between her legs she was 100% committed to the filthy ideas I had.

Her eyes widened as I slipped my fingers beneath the fabric of her panties.

All the way down, almost like an endless avenue of bare, hairless flesh, smooth as silk, my fingers passed over only baby-soft skin, every millimeter of it making me shudder with desire. Then, the soft wet center of her – and it was wet, thoroughly soaked with the slippery juices of her cunt.

“Oh, Noel,” I said, with mock disappointment. “You are a very bad girl, getting so worked up thinking about another man, waxing your pussy for another man, finding a slutty little suit so another man can enjoy your body.”

Noel’s mouth fell open as I found her clit and pinched it between my fingers. She shuddered.

I stood up and yanked her jeans off.

“Take your panties off,” I told her. They were black, lace panties, a pair I hadn’t seen before. Sexier than usual. I wondered if they were also new, but I was much too interested in what was under them to really ponder it. “Put on a show for me,” I added. “Practice makes perfect.”

This made Noel blush – and her cheeks turning red was becoming one of the most sexual things I had ever seen. She placed her fingers on her panties, and I sucked in my breath, hardly able to wait to see what I had felt with my hands.

She stopped, though, and sat up. I was confused, and very disappointed for a moment, until she clutched the bottom of her black shirt and pulled it up and over her head. She lay back down on the bed, meeting my eyes with a look of small triumph. Well, good for her, if she was going to do it she was going to do it right.

She took her time, teasing me a little. She slid her hands down her body, stopping to trace the edges of her bra with her fingertips. She had a new bra on, and the pretty black lace against her pale skin was stunning. It was also just a bit too whoreish for Noel, like she was playing dress-up. Which made it even more tantalizing in its own weird way.

I watched her hands moved over her abdomen, down to her panties, where she hooked her fingers beneath the material and started to slide it away. The material rolled up, peeling from her body. Inch after inch of smooth white skin, and then slightly pink, the placed she had waxed. All of it bare. Only a wet, dark line where the lips of her pussy came together and enclosed her hot, wet cunt.

The shudder that went through me was complete, all the way from toes to my shoulders.

I stared at her for a moment, and then it was like someone else took a hold of me. I stepped forward and bent down to get her legs at the calves, and then I pushed them up to her face, bending her over and exposing her newly waxed, pretty pussy. The very pussy she had promised to be unfaithful with, the very pussy she had promised to fill up with Ben's cock.

I leaned on her ankles with one hand while I unbuckled my belt and freed my cock. It was awkward going but I was enjoying the view of her pussy so much it didn't matter. She was excited; the lips of her bare cunt had spread open and the flesh inside glistened with her obvious excitement. The tangy scent of it reached my nose. My cock sprung loose, hard as a rock.

I placed the tip of my dick against her clit, and rubbed it slowly up and down on her hard button. The sensation of her pussy around my cock was so different, all silk.

She squirmed and moaned, and I could tell she was close to coming. Her pussy started to make sticky, squelching sounds as I rubbed harder against her clit. It would feel so good to sink into her, to feel nothing but her smooth lips as I slid in and out of her velvet hole...

But something about Ben having that first taste of her like this appealed to me. As soon as I had the idea, I decided not to, no matter how tempting it was, fuck my cum into her.

Noel's legs began to shake, and I felt her body strain against me as she came. Her pussy gushed with creamy cum, and I groaned as I stood up and put my hand on my cock to jerk myself off instead of sinking into her silken flesh to come.

My cum spurted in thick ropes across the back of her thighs and her gushing cunt, sliding down into the crack of her ass and pooling between her legs at her mound.

I let her feet drop down as I stood up and looked at her.

I gave her a mischievous smile.

"So are you going to model this suit for me?" I said.

Noel sat up. "Not yet. The party doesn't start for a while, after all."

I must have looked disappointed. She brought her finger to her mouth and bit into it. "I do have to take a shower and get ready. I want to look my best. Maybe you can help me pick out what to wear." She stood up and got her bags of clothes from the dresser and set them down on the bed, pushing me to sit down on the edge. Then she slipped into a robe and headed for the door. "Look through that, and decide on something."

"I'm not really a fashion.. guy."

Noel shrugged. "Just pick whatever looks good."

I rifled through the bags after she left. I went straight for the swimsuit, because that was the item I was most excited about. If parties proceeded like they usually did around here, it would be the thing that Noel was wearing when Ben finally took her clothes off for her.

I held up the item that must have been the suit, but I found it incredibly perplexing. It was black, and very skimpy, but the top looked like an infinity scarf more than a swimsuit. I had no idea how that was going to work.

I set it aside and rifled through the clothes. All of them looked good, and it was hard to tell what was going to look sexiest. Especially because I had no idea how they would sit on Noel's body.

I settle don a naughty-looking red shirt with a deep plunge in the front, and a pair of jeans that looked like she would have to paint them on. I laid them on the bed and stared at them.

Was Noel really going to go through with this?

Was I?

I sat back down on the bed, and then I leaned back, and before I knew it I was dosing off, because Noel was taking forever in the shower.

When she finally back in, it was as if the steam from the bathroom fallowed her down the hall. Her skin was a little pink from her shower, and she smelled like something citrus-y and sweet.

She assessed my clothing choices. "Okay," she said.

I watched her as she let the robe slip off of her shoulders. She was naked in the room, and she barely gave a glance at the open windows. She picked up her sodden black panties from the floor.

"You're wearing those?" I said.

She shrugged. "I don't have any really sexy underwear packed," she said. She looked at me. "Just in case... you know." She wriggled into the sexy bra. "I feel like it will be in the hot tub... but just in case."

Was this actually my wife, getting ready, sliding a sexy red top over her body, dolling up to lure another man to her? She had to shimmy into the jeans, and when she buttoned them on her flat stomach I reached out to touch her. Her red shirt cut between her breasts and showed off far more cleavage than Noel ever revealed.

"You look..." I paused, searching for the right word.

Noel leaned toward me, and ran her fingers through my hair. “Okay,” she said. “I have to do my makeup.”

The make-up, too, was new. It was in packages that she needed to tear open. Noel didn’t need much make-up; she had a perfect complexion, and her eyes and lips were naturally dark, her eyelashes long, and she looked pretty sexy without anything. I had only seen her put it on on a few occasions.

I watched her, transfixed, as she applied all kinds of special touches to her face. Eyeliner, a bit of dark and sultry shadow, a layer of mascara. Again, she started to get a film of slightly-whoreish, and it turned me on to the core.

She stained her lips with a red liquid that almost seemed like a dye. The red sank into the flesh of her lips and turned them bright. She looked at herself in the mirror, her mouth slightly open, watching the dark red spread on her mouth.

“Jesus,” I said. She looked the same – the make-up wasn’t drastic – but she also looked vastly different. Inviting. Clearly trying to attract something (someone).

Noel met my eyes in the mirror. “Too much?” she said.

She picked up a brush to dab some blush on her cheeks, and I reached out and touched her leg. “No blush,” I said.

She looked at me questioningly and turned around.

“I like to see your natural blush,” I said. I pulled her toward me by the back of the knee. “When you’re being a very, very naughty girl.”

I was pleased to see another flush of pink on her cheeks.

Then she smiled and squirmed away. “Okay. Don’t mess me up. Should we go?”

A flash of freezing heat cut through me as I nodded.

We were on our way.

The party began slowly, and for a while we thought it would be a disappointment. By 9:30 Ben hadn’t even arrived. Noel was happily flushed from drinking, and she looked stunning. As the time ticked by, she seemed looser and looser, and I almost wondered if she wasn’t relieved that Ben wasn’t there.

“Don’t forget,” Mike said, sidling up to me, “I’m happy to help you out.”

He winked at me when I looked over at him, so I knew he was “joking.”

He was also serious, of course.

I didn’t want to be over-eager, so I bit my tongue and didn’t ask about Ben. It was like the guy to show up late, I knew.

Around ten Alicia announced she wanted to go in the hot tub.

Noel looked at me, conflicted. I wondered if she had changed her mind as the night dragged on, and now she was happy that Ben wasn’t here and she wanted to go to bed. My blood started to pound.

She approached me where I was leaning against the counter. “Well,” she said. “What do we do if Ben doesn’t show up?”

I was unable to think of a reply.

She kissed me on my cheek. “I’m going to go get in the hot tub anyway. Have to use my new suit.”

I surveyed the group of people at the party. None of them were Noel’s apparent “type,” and I felt sort of skeezy even thinking about replacing her choice with another guy. Don’t get me wrong, part of me was so desperate, now that I was this close to my fantasy, to get what I wanted, that I might have done something like that.

But the other part of me didn’t want to just flail around and get a half-baked fantasy. I wanted Noel to have a good time and get what she wanted as well.

I sighed and headed back to the room to get my suit. It would at least be fun to see her in that wacky swimsuit. And we would probably have hot sex tonight.

As I walked toward the living room, my heart soared as I heard the door opening, and the stomping of heavy, men’s boots.

The voice, unmistakably, was Ben’s.

Mike was talking to him in the foyer as I passed through the living room. Trying to keep my cool, I lifted a hand. “Hey man,” I said.

Then, like a fucking idiot: “Just going down to the hot tub.”

Ben started to peel off his coat. He gave me a strange look.

But as I went to the hallway, I saw in the corner of my eyes that Mike was leaning toward Ben to say something.

And I could only hope that I knew what that was.

7: A VERY HOT TUB

Noel was already gone by the time I got to the bedroom. Huh, I thought. That was fast.

I dig through the drawers looking for my suit, and then I realized that I had hung it to dry in the bathroom. It was gone when I got there, so I had to ponder where it might have gone. I headed back out to the kitchen to look for Mike and ask him, but Mike was nowhere to be found.

Back down the hall.

Alicia appeared like a wild, sexy ghost. She was in her teeny white robe, all skin and, because I was on a my won mission, not even desirable.

“I’m looking for my suit,” I said, and I sounded panicked.

Alicia looked amused.

“I left it in the bathroom,” I stammered.

“Oh,” Alicia said, and she started to slide down the hallway. “The maids might have washed it.”

“And?”

Alicia had passed me, and she looked back with a grin. Oh, Alicia, she knew the score. “It’s probably in the closet in the bathroom, they leave things in a basket.”

These maids. I never even saw them.

Sure enough, there it was. I stumbled into my suit, feeling like this whole thing was taking as long as the events in a bad stress dream, and then I practically flew down the stairs with no towel or robe.

It was just Alicia and Noel in the hot tub when I got down there, having drinks and laughing. Noel looked at me like I was insane. “Hey,” she said.

She stood up on the bench in the tub. Water poured off of her, and she shone, wet and lit up by the lights of the hot tub.

The suit was black, and the top criss-crossed in the front just below her neck, the two swaths of material draping very loosely over her nipples. It looked like she could burst out of it at any moment. The bottoms were very ordinary, but they were skimpy, and knowing that her pretty waxed cunt was under them made them even sexier. She put a hand on her hip. “So? What do you think?”

I crossed the deck, my heart pounding with excitement. I splashed into the hot tub, and Alicia moved away, slightly annoyed. I sat down by Noel, who was looking at me strangely again.

I watched Noel’s eyes dilate, her cheeks pinken with the rush of blood that went through her. Her stained red lips seemed to plump. She stared at me for a moment and then averted her gaze bashfully.

“You still in?” I whispered, hoping for some reason that Alicia was minding her own business. I stole a quick glance at her. She made a big show of sipping her drink innocently and looking up at the stars.

I looked back at Noel.

She bit her lip, and nodded.

It was another few hours of torture as I had to wait for Ben to wander down to the hot tub, and for the guests to mingle and drink and slowly filter away. I saw Ben checking Noel out, his eyes walking up and down her body, but he did little more than say hello for what seemed like an eternity.

I sat cooking in the hot tub, getting in and out, taking trips to the kitchen to get beer, all the while with the cold, needy animal in my abdomen, clawing away inside my chest. The anticipation was killing me now, and I wanted to fast-forward things, but they kept dragging along.

I sat down in the hot tub for what felt like the millionth time. By then I’d had a lot to drink and had lost track of the time and my sense of how the party was going. Noel floated over to me and sat on my lap, and for a while she sat there with her hand on my cock, slowly massaging it, while she chatted with another woman.

I was growing impatient. I started to zone out, trying to get my mind off my desire.

I looked up at the stars, and when I looked back down sometime later, I saw that the whole party had changed. It took a second to process what was happening. Noel put her arms around my neck.

“People are leaving,” she said. “Ben’s still here,” she whispered. “He hasn’t talked to me, really. What should I do?”

I looked at Ben, who was turned to fiddle with something sitting next to him on the deck.

The door opened and the two people who were buzzing around outside went through it. The door closed with a crack and a poof.

We were all alone.

“Tell him now,” I said, in a not-so low voice. Ben turned around and met my eyes. The look electrified the air. It was clear that Mike had talked to him, and it was clear that what I wanted was just about to happen.

“Tell him you’re a hotwife, tell him I want to watch you,” I told Noel, pushing her slightly forward.

Noel’s cheeks were already red, or she would have blushed. “Just tell him?” she said. She looked over at Ben. He hadn’t taken his eyes off her, and he wasn’t making any effort to hide what he was thinking. His animal-like stare of lust sent a chill through me.

“Do it,” I said. I moved my hand down Noel’s side. “It’s your chance. The time is right.”

My voice seemed to be coming from far away. I had already communicated, through our sordid stares, with Ben. Now I just needed for Noel to step off my lap, and cross the hot tub, and put everything into motion with her consent. My whole body seemed to throb with my pulse.

So close. We were so close.

And then, just like that: the weight of Noel’s body slipped away from my lap, and I held her hand until it, too, slipped out of my grip. She was in the middle of the hot tub. Crossing over to him.

This couldn’t be undone, I thought idly.

Noel turned and looked at me. She brought her hand to her shoulder as she did. It was a final chance for me to stop her, but I just made a barely perceptible nod with my head. It sent a dagger through my heart, a throb through my prick.

And then she was on his side of the hot tub, curling up next to him on the bench.

Ben met my gaze for a moment, and then he turned his attention to my wife.

Noel leaned in to his ear. The gesture was less sexy than that of a schoolgirl, telling a secret to another. I knew she had her hands on her feet, nervously pinching them beneath the water. I knew she would have a slight giggle in her voice as she told him her secret, as she finally committed to my darkest desire.

Things happened very quickly after that, maybe more quickly than I wanted them to. Ben tore his eyes away from Noel for only a second, to look at me, perhaps as a final confirmation or perhaps to let me know what a perverted schmuck I was. And then her turned toward her, one hand beneath the water and definitely targeted between her legs. The other hand on her face, pushing her hair away, giving me an unobstructed view of his lips as they grazed her mouth on their way to her opposite ear. I imagined how Noel's skin was pimpling with goosebumps, how his touch was radiating through her body, warming her up in her core. He whispered something into her ear, his plump lips moving right against her sensitive skin. Noel shivered visibly. I watched her mouth. She formed the word, "okay," and her eyes dropped to the water. Noel, and her perfect and accidental blend of willingness and hesitation.

I wasn't sure what to do with myself, so I just kept staring. Ben's hand was moving under the water, and Noel was watching what he was doing from above, her expression a little worried. Her mouth opened slightly and she looked up at him sharply. I saw him forming words with his own mouth, his big lips punctuating the instructions he was giving her. Noel's body shifted in the water, side to side, as she obeyed his command. And then, without looking at me, he lifted his hand from the water and tossed something into the center of the hot tub. It landed with a plop, and floated for a moment on the surface before being sucked away by the swirling current.

It was Noel's swimsuit bottom.

My heart kicked at my chest. I watched as Ben's hands moved below the water, though I couldn't see exactly what he was doing. I knew when he found her bare pussy, though, because his mouth turned up in a delighted smile. A smile as his fingers stroked the silky-smooth skin of my wife's bare cunt.

I felt like I had been kicked in the chest.

Ben's other hand came out of the water. He moved closer to Noel, who seemed almost hypnotized, and he began to say something to her as his hand slid along her ribs, then under the black fabric of her suit. He pushed the material away until her right breast popped free, and I had a full view of his fat thumb making circles on her nipple, massaging it, making it hard beneath the pad of his thumb. I could almost feel the shape of it on my own finger.

He pushed the other side of her suit away in the same way, so that the material still wrapped around her neck in a seductive way, but her tits were free and in view. I stared as he lowered his head and kissed the flesh of her breast.

Quite suddenly, he lifted Noel up, picking her up as though she weighed no more than a feather. Her body emerged from the water far enough for me to get a glimpse of her bare snatch. Noel let him handle her, her limbs limp, her face almost stunned. He set her down again, in the water, on her knees on the bench. This gave him better access to her nipples with his mouth, and he wasted no time extending his very red tongue to lick at them, and then suck them in between his lips. Noel clutched his back, and her mouth fell open. Water streamed down her skin and beaded on her neck.

I had been imagining something a little more private – me hiding (somewhere) in the sauna and discreetly watching Ben seduce my wife. But now things seemed to be moving outside of my control, and it was going to happen here, and there wasn't anything I could do about it. I stared at the obscene couple in front of me, unable to move, unable to even size up my own feelings. Was this what I wanted?

This went on for a while, Ben sucking on first one of my wife's lovely nipples, then the other, until they were red and distended. Noel seemed frozen in place, unsure of what to do next, unable to act. She looked over at me, and I have no idea what I looked like, but I tried to give her a look of encouragement. Something fluttered in my heart: a desire to ask her if she was enjoying this, but there wasn't any practical way to do it.

She turned her attention back to Ben almost immediately. He was talking to her again, and he brought his other hand – the one that had been doing God knows what under the water, to Noel's mouth. I watched as his big fingers pulled her jaw open, opening her mouth, making her lip flop open, then probing inside. For a moment, Noel let her mouth hang open, almost in a trance, and the scene was incredibly vulgar – she looked like she was getting deflowered, almost. Finally, she reacted, and closed her mouth around his fingers, sucking up whatever coated them.

He moved his fingers in and out of her mouth a few times, and then pulled them out, playing with her lip.

He rose out of the water, standing up on the bench of the hot tub. I stared as he slid his suit off of his hips and his thick cock bobbed free. It was dark and fat, and the veins that stood out along the sides were purple and almost gnarled by the pressure of his full, erect meat. Beneath his dick his balls, loose from the heat of the hot tub, dripped into the water, large and dark and hairless.

Noel looked suddenly unsure. Her eyes went wide, and she looked like a deer in the headlights.

Ben sat down on the edge of the pool, and beckoned her toward him. Noel gave another quick glance in my direction before she edged toward him, a little timid. He reached down and took her hand from the water, and guided it to his cock. I watched her small, pale hand close around the girth of his dick, and I could see the profile of her face and her eyes growing wide as she felt the full weight of him in her hand.

For a moment Noel was holding him almost as if someone had placed a snake in her hand. She scrunched up her shoulders and gave a furtive glance around her. But Ben seemed to be an expert in guidance, a mentor to timid women: he used his hand to guide her up and down the length of his smooth, circumcised shaft, from the bulbous top along the length of the seemingly muscled column. When her hand was at the base of his cock, I saw his mouth moving to give her more instructions. His voice rumbled, low and incoherent to me, and he held her hand firmly where it was.

Noel's fingers, at his command, splayed out and stroked his balls. He smiled, and though I couldn't hear what he was saying, it had the cadence of warm encouragement. Noel made another sweep over the satiny skin of his ball sack.

He released her hand, and leaned back on both hands to watch her as she continued on her own. She stroked the length of his shaft, staring at his enormous dick.

At that moment the roar of the Jacuzzi disappeared suddenly, and the splash of water against the side of the tub as Noel's body rocked gently back and forth with the motion of her strokes cut through the sudden silence.

"That's good," Ben rumbled, and I could hear him distinctly now. "You ready to have a taste of that, little girl?"

My own cock throbbed and my body went cold at the sound of his words. Noel stopped her stroking, and stared at the big cock in front of her. Then she leaned gingerly forward, and brought out her tongue to lick the tip of his dick.

"Good," Ben said. He stared at Noel's mouth as she ventured further, taking his glans into her mouth, and then opening up to get the top quarter of his shaft inside of her.

Ben extended his hand to her hair and manipulated her head at the same time he shifted his own position on the edge of the water, so that Noel was behind his cock and facing me. "Put on a good show for your husband, honey," he said.

Noel paused, and then she opened her eyes, and stared into mine as she drew the blade of her tongue from the base of Ben's dick to the tip of his cock and back down again. She closed her lips on the side of his shaft and sucked on his cock, and then repeated the journey of her tongue. All the while, her eyes on mine.

My entire torso was racked with the most intense and pleasurable pain I had ever felt in my life.

Ben still had his hand in her hair, and so he pushed her back into a position at the head of his cock so that she was facing him again, but I still had a nice view of what she was doing. He played with her hair, pushing it sweetly from her face. He used his free hand to rub his cock lightly over her lips.

"Is this the biggest cock you've ever sucked on?" he asked, and Noel gave a little nod of assent. Ben pushed her hair back tenderly. "We'll go slow, then. Open up."

I watched as my wife obediently opened her mouth, and Ben tipped his cock down to fit inside of it. Now that he was slowly feeding it into her, his cock looked even thicker than it did before. Too thick, impossible for Noel to swallow. Her jaw opened wider and wider, and he pushed himself in inch by inch until about half of his cock was in her mouth. By then he must have reached the back of her throat, because she gagged and coughed. He pulled her head back and let her gasp for air. Her eyes were watering and spit coated Ben's smooth dick. "You can do it," he said. "You're gonna like it once it's all the way in."

Noel opened her mouth, and he stuffed himself into her again. He lifted her by the hair to get her mouth better positioned as her lips passed down, further, further. Her stomach spasmed as she gagged again, but Ben held her firmly where she was, and then pushed her gently forward. I stared as the inches of Ben's cock disappeared into her mouth, down her throat. I could hear her struggling to breath through her nose, and then, as the final inches of his dick went inside of her throat, her air was cut off, and she was completely stuffed full of his cock.

When he released her head she pulled away quickly and gasped for air. Her eyes were watery and her red-stained lips looked like a watercolor painting that was smearing away dirtily.

Noel moved of her own accord to go down on Ben's fat shaft. She gobbled up his cock without any need for him to push her down. Her mouth was stretched open to a ludicrous and deformed shape as she took him in. She sucked the length of him slowly, in a way that made it seem like she was savoring his cock, worshiping it.

I shuddered, watching the obscene act my wife was engaging in with relative abandon. My cock felt like it was going to burst open, but I didn't dare move. My limbs felt like they were cemented in place as I watched Noel's lips sliding up and down Ben's column.

Ben finally reached for her head and stopped her by holding her by her hair. My slutty wife tried to lick the tip of his cock, hungry for more of a taste of it. Ben smiled. "You can have some more in a little bit," he said. Then he pulled on her hair and brought her out of the water. He pushed her face-first onto the deck, just as he had with Alicia, and commanded her to spread her legs.

I hadn't yet seen my wife from behind like this, naked, with her new wax job. The sight was spectacular. As she spread her legs open, I could see the extent of her arousal: her pussy was gushing with the shiny, slippery juices of her excitement, and her clit was fat and protruded, aching for Ben's touch. There was no doubt that she had gone wild while sucking on his cock.

Ben pulled apart the lips of her pussy, and his dark fingers played with her pretty, pink lips. He crouched down, and his head covered her pussy from my view.

Finally, I found the will to move. I shifted slowly to the right, to get a view of Ben's tongue exploring the buttery folds of my wife's pussy. His big hands were palming her buttocks and spreading them wide open. He was drawing his tongue along her outer lips, tasting my wife's sweet nectar, exploring her in places that had always been exclusively mine. I stared as his tongue ventured along the ridges of her inner lips, and flicked at her swollen clit. I watched Noel's body twitch as he touched her bundle of nerves. She turned so that she was looking at me. Her mouth was open and her eyes were wide. She moaned when Ben sucked her clit into his mouth.

He stopped, though, to draw his tongue upward, to the pristine pink dot of her asshole. Noel had squeezed her eyes closed in rapt pleasure as he had sucked on her clit, but when his tongue explored her asshole her eyes flew open in alarm. Ben held her where she was, and I could see that his hands were resisting the movement of her body. She relented, but this was definitely outside of Noel's comfort zone.

Ben made a few lazy circles around her ass, before he returned his attention to her pussy. Noel began to pant in excitement again, and whinny like a horse, as he brought her closer to her climax.

But he disappointed her again, just as she was reaching the crest of her climax, and made his way back up to her ass. I stared, and Noel stared at me, as on that pass he dipped his tongue inside of her.

I wondered what Noel would do if his ass play went any further. We had never done anything like that, with the exception of one drunken night, and things had gone no further than what Ben was doing right now. I wondered what she was thinking as this strange man dipped his tongue into her ass, made circles around her eyelet.

"Oh!" Noel exclaimed, as Ben sucked her clit. He was really diving into her pussy now, and his whole face seemed buried in her soaked folds. I could hear the squelching as he moved his mouth rhythmically against her clit, until Noel gave a strangled, animal cry, and arched her back, throwing her head back. Her legs flailed in the water and Ben grabbed them, pushing them against the hot tub.

But he kept going. Even after it was evident that Noel had come and now could take more stimulation, he kept himself glued to her pussy. "Oh God!" she panted, struggling to move away from him but utterly unable to do so. "Ben, God, no, no more, oh! Oh!" she was whimpering now, and still trying to wriggle from his grip.

But he just kept right on going, until she relented, and flopped onto the deck again, face-first. Her face was squeezed into an expression of ecstasy-bordering-on-pain, and she was whimpering as he continued his assault on her clit.

When she finally submitted completely, he rose up, and looked down at his handiwork: Noel's pussy was now blown open, almost as though it had exploded: her clit was fat and red, the lips of her pussy practically throbbing, and her creamy cum coated her cunt, her inner thighs, everything.

Ben played with his creation for a while, his fingers moving through her folds playfully. He drew a finger up to her ass, and I sucked in my breath, wondering what he would do – what Noel would let him do – as he made another circle around the ring of her hole. I was now staring at his cock, which seemed bigger than ever, and which hardly looked like Noel's pussy could stretch to accommodate it. Surely he wouldn't try to put it in her ass.

Noel turned back to face him, her face showing that she had evidently had the same thoughts as me. "I've never done that," she said. "I don't... I can't."

Ben didn't move his fingers. He kept massaging her hole, and Noel looked at him helplessly. "It's too big," she said, almost desperately.

"It's just a little ass-play, baby," he said. "Don't tell me you don't like it. Don't get ahead of yourself. But let's see if you can take a cock this big in your tight pussy first."

My jaw fell open. Jesus, the way this guy was talking to my wife.

I stared as his slipped two fingers into her pussy.

The things he was doing to my wife.

He used his other hand to push her down to the deck. He nudged her legs further apart with his knees. And then he guided his cock to the opening of her pussy.

He was so engorged, and his dick was so thick, that the head of it seemed to cover her swollen petals completely – never mind her hole. My eyes widened. I had no idea how he was going to fit.

Noel was panting, waiting, her hands on either side of her, submitting to him completely. She turned her head again so that she could meet my eyes. I wanted to find the right words to mouth but I couldn't. My eyes went back to Ben's meat, poised to stretch her open, and I watched as he pushed slowly forward.

Noel's eyes went wide as the first inches of his cock pushed inside of her. The engorged petals of her pussy were stretched out so wide they disappeared into a cartoonish red line line drawing, as the black meat of Ben's dick stretched her hole and consumed the entirety of her pussy with its thrust outward. Noel let out a long, whimpering cry as he kept going in, but she did nothing to stop him or to get away.

When his cock was halfway into her, she brought a hand back toward him, and waved it around uselessly. "I can't," she panted. "Oh! It's too big,

I can't take it!"

Ben took her hand and placed it on her buttock, holding it in place until she calmed down. Then he pushed further into her, and she lifted her face and looked forward to moan. "Almost there," Ben said.

His cock sank deeper into her, until, with a final slap of the water against the side of the hot tub, the base disappeared and his balls swung against the wall of the hot tub.

He remained like that for a moment, letting Noel squirm beneath him. I stared at her stretched cunt, at how stuffed full she was, and wondered how tight her pussy was clamped around Ben's dick. He was now deeper into my wife than I had ever been, her silky cunt grasping him tighter than she ever had me. And he was about to fuck her senseless.

But this first time, he seemed to want to gently break her in. He moved very slowly, with complete control, pistoning his thick cock in and out of my wife's pussy as she moaned and tossed her head, complaining that it was too big while he told her to relax.

Finally, she seemed to obey his command of relaxing, and I could see that a hunger to come was building up inside of her again. She pushed up on her elbows and backed herself toward him, but Ben was having none of it. He held her hips and fucked her slowly until she was moaning again, but this time much differently; now, with need.

His dick was slick with her juices, and she was trembling from head to toe, but he continued his very slow assault on her pussy.

"Please," Noel said finally, and she looked back at him. "Oh God, I'm so close," she said. "Please."

Ben smiled, a little cruelly, and brought a hand to her right buttock. He rubbed his thumb over her ass hole, and rumbled: "All in good time."

Noel was panting and almost crying when he finally, after five minutes of steady and patient slow-fucking, made her come. She squealed and then yelled, throwing her hair around and trying to buck against him, but he held her firmly in place with his tight grip.

Her climax was wild, from the sounds that came from her mouth and her tensed muscles. She seemed to shake everywhere, and the sounds that came from her pussy were sloppy and wet. Ben let it run its course, his cock deep inside of her, until she finally lay panting, spent, on the deck.

And then he began to fuck her for his own pleasure.

He didn't just fuck her – he tore into her, manhandling her in a way I could scarcely believe. Her pussy slurped and sloshed as he rammed into her furiously, smashing into her cunt, slapping against her ass so hard it started to turn red as though he were spanking her. He moved his whole body to thrust into her. Noel just lay on the deck, her eyes lost, her mouth open, her body sliding back and forth over the wood as he pummeled her. He finally gave a shout and thrust so deep inside of her that Noel yelled, and I stared as he filled my wife with his enormous load of cum. The white liquid spluttered through the tight seal of her pussy around his cock. He slammed into her a good three more times, just as hard, and Noel bit her lip and cried out with each thrust.

It was only then that I noticed that he had thrust his thumb into her ass as well, and it was still buried in her tight hole to his knuckle. He twisted his hand as he slowly pulled back and let his cock plop out of her pussy. He moved to the side so that I could have a nice view of what he had done to my wife: her pussy was stretched open wide, red and swollen, and throbbing from inside of her, in pulses, his white cum slid from her hole.

He stood there, panting, and looking at his handiwork, with his thumb still deep in Noel's ass. Noel panted as well, exhausted on the deck.

Then Ben began to move his thumb – not in and out, but in circles, almost as though he were stirring something. Noel's half-closed eyes flew open again: I could see that she was so stunned by how she had just been fucked that she didn't even realized he had his thumb inside of her.

For a moment I thought she would cry out, but the shock on her face soon turned to... what? Pleasure? Not really? Resignation? Interest? It was a hard emotion to read for a moment, and then her mouth fell open and she pushed up on her elbows again and looked forward.

“Oh!” she gasped. “Oh... I ... I can't... you can't...”

Ben continued to move his thumb, pulling harder in every direction as he did. He pushed upward and I shuddered, thinking of the pressure inside her ass as he pulled it toward her tailbone. Then down, his thumb surely pressing against he walls of her throbbing cunt.

“Oh...” Noel gasped. “Oh, my.”

She really said that. The quaintness of it, as this man who had just fucked her silly abused her ass now, was so pleasurable to me I thought I might burst open spontaneously right then.

I realized that I was moving toward them, slowly, as though they were animals I didn't want to disturb. It was only then that I realized my plan: I rose from the water and sat down next to Noel on the edge of the tub.

Ben kept his thumb in her ass as she crawled toward me, positioning herself on the edge of the hot tub, steam rising off of her body. She lowered her head to my lap as I took my cock out.

I had no idea where to look as Noel swallowed my dick. Her ass was in the air, and Ben had moved behind her now to deal with her ass. I watched as his finger sank into her flesh further, and I felt Noel whimper against my cock as he pushed deeper into her.

But after all of that, it didn't take much of Noel's mouth on my dick to send me over the edge. I felt my cock, incredibly, hit the soft back of her throat, and felt her lips at the base of my dick, and with just a few motions of her head, bobbing up and down on me, my cum was surging through my dick. I held Noel's face to my pubic bone and dumped my seed into her throat with my eyes on Ben's fingers, prying her ass open, drawing the liquid of her pussy to her hole, planning his next invasion of my wife.

Noel lifted her head and my cock flopped from her mouth. She was breathing heavily, and propped herself up to stare into my chest. I pulled her face back so I could look at her; she was grotesquely smeared in cum and her own spit, her light lipstick streaked, her brown mascara running down one cheek. I swiped my thumb over her lips, thinking what a magnificent little slut she was.

Her mouth fell open at that moment, and I felt her body grow stiff. When I looked at what Ben was doing, he had added another finger to his thumb, and he was pushing them both forward into Noel's ass, meeting, obviously, some resistance.

"Oh!" Noel said. She looked up at me. "I can't take his cock in my ass," she said. "It's too big."

Ben's cock was already hard again, and it indeed looked far too big to go in her ass. I moved my thumb over her lip. I knew that I desperately want to see Ben's cock in her ass, even if I didn't get much out of doing it myself. But she had already done so much, let herself be so degraded, performed like such a world-class slut.

I looked up at Ben, and he gave me a glance. "Just a little ass-play," he said, and he spread his fingers apart, pulling Noel's ass open with the motion.

Noel sucked her breath in, but she didn't move away.

I couldn't help that my cock was throbbing back to life again. It bobbed against Noel's throat.

I wasn't sure where this would go, but it felt most natural, however strange it seemed, to let Ben take the lead. He wriggled his fingers in Noel's ass a little more, and she moaned, and my gut twisted with the awful and beautiful idea that there might be no stopping him from fucking her in the ass. Noel looked up at me and rocked back and forth slightly, her eyes strange as she endured and enjoyed what he was doing to her.

I could see that as strange as it was, she liked it as well – there was that same gleam in her eye, that same spark to her stare, that had been present when she had first begun all of this naughtiness.

But Ben slowly withdrew his fingers, and she gasped again.

"Turn around, baby," he said, and Noel gave me a lingering look before turning around and facing him. I was left, crouching on the deck, with my cock hardening in my lap, as Ben maneuvered my wife onto his lap. He dipped his feet into the hot tub, and Noel crawled onto his lap. "Come here and ride my cock."

Noel climbed on top of him, and he held his cock up for her so she could sit down on it. Now that her pussy was slick with his cum and she had been stretched out already, the fit wasn't as tight, but again I was struck by how thick his dick was and how it pressed her cunt open to what appeared to be its limits. Noel's thighs trembled as she lowered herself slowly, sucking her breath in, maybe from the size.

Ben pulled on her hips and then moved them side to side to settle on his dick. Noel's pretty tits were now pressed against his dark skin, and he slid his hands all over her ass, which was slimy and wet with their mingled cum. He seemed to have tentacles, his hands everywhere on my wife, slipping and sliding all over her cum-stained body. He sucked her lips into his generous mouth again, almost like he wanted to swallow her whole. "Ride that cock," he said.

I watched as my wife – sweet, conservative Noel – began to rise and fall with her pussy clenched around that great black column of meat. She did it at first with some reluctance, because her pussy must have been sore, but as she began to grind against him, her hunger grew. I could see it in her face, in the greedy way she began to press herself into him when she got to the base of his dick.

He slid a wet, slick middle finger into her ass as she came down, and I think she hardly noticed. She was pumping herself up and down on his cock and starting to gasp and tense up, ready to come again all over him. “That’s it,” he coached her. “There you go. Come all over my cock and get my balls wet, that’s it, you can lick it all off when you’re done.”

Noel bounced and bounced until her voice became shrill and she screamed with her third orgasm. She threw her head back and dug her fingers into Ben’s dark flesh. “Oh my God! Oh my.. God!”

Ben caught her by her neck and rubbed his big hands over her fragile, white throat. He pushed her down to kneeling on the hot tub bench, and she wasted no time in opening her mouth and gulping down his cock, which shone with her sticky cum. She was panting and swallowing, licking and gobbling like the hungry little whore she had become. I watched as she drew her tongue along every inch of his cock to clean her juices – and undoubtedly, some of the seed he had pumped into her cunt – from his gnarly cock.

He suddenly moved, flipping her around and standing on the bench, a little crouched, to drop his balls into her open mouth. “Lick it all off, taste all that pussy juice in your mouth,” he said. “Open wide.”

My eyes went wide and my cock oozed precum as I watched Noel open her mouth and get Ben’s fat balls stuffed into it. He pushed on his ball sack to get both the huge bags into her wet, cunt mouth. He let her suck on them and then stood up to direct his dick into her throat again. He grabbed her head and pumped it against him.

Noel spluttered and choked as he cradled her head like a football and jerked her up and down the length of his shaft. Finally he let her head rest against the side of the hot tub and thrust himself into her mouth. I could see that he was going to come soon, and when he finally did, he pulled out of her mouth, used two fingers to spread her mouth open, and sprayed his cum all over her lips, splatters of it flinging to the back of her throat, into her eyes, all over her face.

Ben stood up, and lazily moved a finger through some of the cum on her mouth and her cheek, making a smear of it over her beautiful but destroyed features. Noel was gasping for breath.

Then Ben looked over at me, and sort of jerked his head in my direction, looking at Noel. Noel looked at me, and floated over to where I was sitting. My cock was in my hand, hard as a rock again. I swung my feet around and put them in the water. “Turn around,” I said. “Lie down.”

Noel lay down on the porch, her ass to me, as I climbed into the hot tub and knelt on the bench. I was shorter than Ben, so I had to push up on my heels and balance against the wall to get my cock aligned with Noel’s pussy.

“Pull your ass open,” I told her, hardly believing that I was talking to my wife like that. But she obediently brought her hands to her ass, and spread it open for me. Her pussy was stretched and oozing her own and Ben’s cum. Her clit was still distended and red, and she looked sore – she had taken a real pounding. Her ass, normally a tight, perfect, off-limits hole, was slightly disheveled from Ben’s finger-fucking.

I savored the scene, sliding my fingers through her slimy, filthy lips. But I couldn’t wait any longer. My cock was nearly bursting. I guided my dick to her opening, and slammed my cock into her loose, cum-filled, unfaithful cunt. She squealed and then her hands dropped to the porch to steady herself as I pounded my cum into her hard.

The orgasm the night before had been incredible – this one almost made me fall into the pool as it drained my brain of blood. I leaned over her, completely spent, feeling like I might pass out. I slowly melted into her body, forgetting that Ben was even there, or that we were outside at a friend’s house, or that this was real life. Noel’s skin was getting cool from being out of the hot tub. I lay there for a while, panting and exhausted, before I kissed her on her back, and slid slowly into the hot tub.

Noel sank in after me. She pushed her hair from her face as she sat on the bench.

Ben was tying a towel around himself. “Y’all fish my suit out of there if you remember,” he said.

I think we both stared at him, saying nothing, as he waved a hand and whistled on his way to the sliding glass door. He stepped inside and closed it behind him.

I looked over at Noel.

She looked worried, more than anything.

“Come here,” I said.

She bit her lip and scooted toward me, and I pulled her out and tried to bring her onto my lap. She looked even more worried. She shook her head a little. "Oh not now," she said. "I can't, I'm too..." she blushed, "too sore."

I pulled her onto my lap and brought her arms up onto my shoulders. "Don't worry," I said, smiling.

She still looked worried.

"Hey," I said. "What's up?"

Noel bit into her lip and looked down. "I don't know. Was it... maybe a little too much?"

I tried to look extremely taken aback. "It was hot," I said. "Really."

"I feel like... I got a little carried away."

My cock twitched. "You were pretty bad," I concurred.

Noel looked up at the sky. "Too bad?" she said. "I feel really..."

I was hoping she would say "dirty," but she didn't finish her sentence. She tipped her head back down at me. She had cum drying on her face and her hair. Almost as if she read my mind, she popped off my lap and dunked herself in the water.

She adjusted her swimsuit top back onto her tits when she came out. She looked at me shyly. I pulled her back onto my lap, and we kissed. "I love you," I said. "I don't want you to feel bad about this. It's what I wanted, remember?" I kissed her hand.

She smiled. "Well..." she said, and leaned back until she was floating on her back. She stirred her arms and floated away, her pussy bare and pretty just below the surface of the water. "I don't mind feeling a little bad."

I grabbed her foot, and started to massage it gently. She smiled at me, and we were about to have some kind of romantic moment, when we heard the screen door open and Alicia and Ben stepped out. Ben seemed to have found another suit somewhere.

Noel smiled at me, and jumped to her feet to hide her nakedness. I happened to see her swimsuit bottoms floating next to me, and I put them in her hand.

Alicia had a knowing smile on as she sauntered toward the hot tub. She had a bottle of wine or champagne in one hand, and she seemed ready for a party. Mike came out of the house next.

Alicia took off the robe, and she was stark naked underneath.

Noel floated over to me, and we looked at each other. We shared a complicit exchange, silent but crystal clear, and then we shook our heads slightly. We both turned and climbed out of the hot tub.

Alicia was settling in to the tub, and she grinned. “Going so soon?” she said.

I looked at Noel, who was tucking herself into her robe, a little flushed with embarrassment. But she was also a little more confident. She would have ordinarily melted into the deck under these circumstances. She just smiled and pretended to look for something on the ground.

I wrapped a towel around myself. “We have... a long drive tomorrow,” I said.

Alicia smiled. Mike shook his head, opening a beer. Ben sat down on the side of the hot tub. “You sure?” he said. His tone could have meant he was joking or seriously extending an invitation. He grinned at us.

Alicia held up a glass. “More people are coming later,” she said suggestively.

Noel just giggled, and covered her mouth.

“Maybe next year,” I said.

“Maybe next year,” Noel echoed.

And who knows what will happen next year?

How far will Victoria go to save what she holds most dear, now that her virtues, her love for Ryan, their marriage, Ryan's desires, and even their finances all hang in the balance? This is a 52,000-word novel about risk and romance, filled to the brim with the hard, steamy scenes you love. Please enjoy!

The Hotwife Summer

When Ben and Summer have the chance to spend the summer in Italy, their stale marriage starts to heat up in ways Ben could only have dreamed about. Summer is ready to take his hotwife fantasy all the way, and her choice is a sexy, Italian, Michelin star-studded chef. It's too late to put the brakes on what he's set in motion when Ben discovers the humiliating truth about Summer's choice of man. Summer has a taste for being naughty, and a filthy little plan of her own. Will it be everything he could wish for, or will Ben's cuckold fantasy turn into a nightmare he can't escape?

Well-Constructed Affairs

As a hot female construction engineer, John's wife Adria draws a lot of attention at the job site. Which isn't all bad. But when Adria opens the door for him to tell her about his sexual fantasies, he doesn't realize she has opened the door on her own – very dark – fantasy as well. A fantasy she hasn't shared with anyone until now. The couple are off on an exploration of their desires...but is their marriage well-constructed enough to withstand the forces of their fantasies?

Nikita Gets In Too Deep

When Cole and his wife Nik arrive at their usual vacation spot in dull Cape Breton, they're taken by surprise by the most unlikely of next-door neighbors: ultra-sexy Paige and wealthy, commanding Mitch. And these new neighbors are full of surprises. Cole and Nik embark on new adventures in their marriage, trying new things and pushing boundaries they'd never even discussed. It's invigorating, but Cole can't help but wonder if his transformed wife hasn't gotten herself in too deep...

Not Black And White

When a photographer turns Rick on to the idea of watching his wife with another man, Rick feels an obsessive desire inside of himself catch fire. He can't help arrange for his shy, girl-next-door wife Danielle and the rugged, black photographer to cross paths. He knows that Drake Reyes' erotic photographs are not as abstract as they appear, and that Reyes sleeps with his married models. He knows his wife is not immune to Reyes' charms – no one is. He just can't help but imagine what it would be like to stand in his gallery, looking at Reyes' lurid photos, knowing his own wife is the model, knowing how the photos were taken. But was it really his idea, or have Drake and Danielle been as manipulative as he has?

Please note, this is the novelized version of the short story Black and White, with significant changes to all scenes depicted in the short story, as well as the point of view. There is, however, some repetition: scenarios which occurred in the short occur in the novel. There are plenty of fresh new adult scenes, however. Please enjoy.

A Dark Place: Cuckolded In Lagos

Three people are carving out their fortunes in Africa's largest city, but each of them holds a deeper, darker desire. What is the secret desire of the angelic Charlotte, who finds all men's eyes on her after dark in Lagos? What about Andrew, who keeps a secret hunger so buried perhaps he doesn't admit it even to himself? And what could be darker than Clement

Ambode's already shadowy “reliability” as an all-purpose contractor in the underbelly of Lagos?

Charlotte, Andrew, and Clement will find themselves in a very dark place when their worlds collide in this ultra-sexy, novella-length cuckold story.
