FOREWORD

After finishing my last book, I Gave Him My Number, I decided to build out that universe of characters. This is book two, in a sense, of what I am thinking of as the La Jolla Cycle, which focuses on the interweaving lives and loves of Kayla and Jeremy (from IGHMN) and the characters of this story. The books are designed to stand alone, but you'll see characters and situations pop up in the stories that make references to happenings elsewhere. I hope you find this entertaining. There will be at least three more books in this cycle... and maybe more depending on how the characters grow and develop in the writing.

I want to thank readers Andrew, Robert, and Johnny for help with copyediting. As always, all remaining errors remain mine alone. And also, as always, I love reader feedback. ONE

I was in the locker room, changing after my workout, when one of the personal trainers, Tony, came out of the shower and opened the locker beside me. He was tall, broad chested, and, not surprisingly, ripped. His dark skin was covered in tattoos. His back was to me. When he doffed his towel, I noticed his muscular ass, and as he turned while drying himself, I caught a glimpse of his massive dong. Now, I'm not gay, but I didn't need to be attracted to men to realize this was one hell of a physical specimen. I sighed softly and looked away, knowing that I'd never be in that sort of shape, nor, of course, would any amount of working out give me that sort of cock.

Still, I was doing okay. In my early forties, I could still run eight-minute miles and bench two hundred pounds. I had most of my hair, and my emerging love handles gave me a dad bod, which is a good thing, right?

Certainly, my wife, Amanda, never seemed to complain, about that at least. She did sometimes complain that I worked too long hours and she wasn't crazy about my hobby of buying and refurbishing old muscle cars. But all in all, there was little to disrupt our slice of heaven. Hell, even our teenage kids, Emily 16 and Charlie 14, were, on the whole, a delight.

Anyone hearing all of this would surely be expecting another shoe to drop. Something dark and horrible to spoil this otherwise unrelenting picture of comfort and privilege. But there really wasn't. Amanda and Donnie, the perfect couple with the perfect life.

And hell, even the sex was great. I don't want to brag, but my wife is hot as hell. Long blond hair and bright blue eyes. Big, beautiful teardrop breasts, and a perfect booty. And very sensuous. She used her hands and mouth with consummate skill. Her pussy, shaved except for a closely trimmed blond triangle, begged to be eaten, and felt even better on my cock. She was creative and loving, liked to dress up for me – her schoolgirl outfit was my favorite – and she was almost always in the mood.

I don't play the lottery because, you know, I feel like I've already won.

But of course, our dicks have their own minds, don't they? And my dick started talking to me after I saw Tony's schlong. Telling me how hot it would look to see his dark skin pressed against her pale flesh. How hot it would be to watch that huge cock stretch my wife's juicy pussy. How amazing she'd sound as she creamed on his fat prick. Those thoughts went from fleeting and easily dismissed to intrusive and constant. How long did that take? About as long as my drive home from the gym.

I mean, neither of us was getting any younger, and it's not like this fantasy would get any hotter over time. Amanda would still be lovely, even in her dotage, I'm sure, but forming those memories now would last a lifetime. In our 80s, we might look back on a crazy adventure back in our 40s and, I dunno, even my floppy, elderly prick might perk up.

That night, as we made love, all I could think about was Tony and Amanda. I came much, much faster than normal, and Amanda, bless her, took it as a compliment. I finished her off with my fingers, and we cuddled after, as my mind conjured up pornographic scenarios involving the two of them.

Her birthday was coming up. I'd already gotten her a lovely emerald necklace and earring set, but I decided to give her another present. She was training for a half marathon, and had mentioned that she really needed to add some strength training into the mix, but had trouble getting the motivation to lift. I had offered to coach her, and she'd wisely demurred. Working out with a spouse, particularly with one taking the role of trainer, never quite works out. And so circumstance and my dick began to talk with one voice.

The next day when I went to the gym, I sought out Tony on the floor. He was by the free weights, standing over a pair of 80 pound dumbbells he'd just finished curling. I sidled up to him.

"Hey there," I began, "I'm Donnie. Been a member for a while."

He nodded. "Yeah man, I've seen you around."

"So, my wife's birthday is coming up, and I wanted to get her some personal training sessions, and I was wondering if you take outside clients? We have a pretty well-stocked workout room at home, and —"

He chuckled. "You want me to fuck your wife?"

“Wh- wh— what? No, nothing like that, I- I- just....”

“Dude you’ve seen me here for like three years, and the first time you talk to me is the day after you saw my cock. Doesn’t take a rocket scientist to figure that shit out.”

I should note that I am, indeed, a rocket scientist. Well, an aeronautical engineer. It’s not as impressive as it sounds. This is not Apollo Project time. We’re not doing complex calculations in our heads or using slide rules. We have sophisticated computer models to do most of that work.

“I think you have the wrong idea, I —”

“Listen... Donnie?”

I nodded.

“Relax. Guys ask me to fuck their wives all the time. It’s, like, an occupational hazard or something.”

I nodded, honestly not quite understanding where this conversation was now headed.

“So,” he continued, “a couple of questions.”

I nodded yet again.

“Does she know? Is this something she’s asked for, or...?”

I shook my head. “No. And, honestly, I don’t know if she’d go for it, but...”

“But you think it would be hot,” he said, chuckling. “Alright, so, second question, what does she look like?”

“Oh, she’s beautiful, blond, blue eyes —”

“Pics?”

“Um, sure,” I said, fumbling to get out my phone.

I opened the photos app and scrolled to a nice picture I took of Amanda when we were hiking. She was grinning down at me from the top of a rock scramble, her shorts showing off her shapely legs, and her shirt tied beneath her breasts, exposing her toned belly.

“Very nice. Got any nudes?”

I shook my head. “I mean, I can’t share those.”

He grinned. He had a hell of a smile. He clapped me on the shoulder and my knees nearly buckled. “Donnie, if this thing works out like you want, I’m going to have her naked, legs over my shoulders, while I pound that pussy. Know what I’m saying?”

I did. And I had to sort of squirm in place to keep my rapidly stiffening pecker from becoming too obvious.

I scrolled further back in my photos. And there I found it. My favorite pic. She'd just come out of the bathroom, wrapped in a towel, her hair freshly blown out. I'd been sitting on the bed and started taking pics of her, and when she noticed me, she'd given me a saucy smile, dropped her towel and smirked at me, hand on hip. The pic was perfect, sexy and lighthearted, capturing both her beauty and her playfulness. I showed it to Tony.

He nodded, impressed, which gave me a disturbing rush of pride. This hot, young stud was into my wife.

"Have you guys done this before?" He asked.

"No. I mean, I don't think so. I mean, I don't think she's, like, been with another man since we've been married. But, like, no, we haven't, like..." I blathered

He chuckled. "Relax Donnie. So you're not swingers, you've never played before, and you don't even know if she'd be into it."

I nodded. "Is that bad?"

"Naw, man. Honestly, it makes it even better. Cheating pussy is always the hottest."

"Well, she wouldn't be cheating. I'm like —"

"You're setting it up, but she won't know that, right? So, in her mind, she'll be cheating. Doesn't matter that you've given her a secret hall pass."

"Right. I guess that's true," I replied.

He thought for a few moments, then said, "Look, Donnie, are you sure you want to do this?"

"I'm not talking about, like, forcing anything on her, right? You understand that? It's just..."

"Right, give her the opportunity. I hear ya. But you seem like a nice guy. Got a nice wife. Nice life. Why do you want to go messing around with things?"

I started to answer, but then realized I didn't have a coherent response. All I had was, "It might be hot?"

"And trouble. What if she takes a bite of the apple and likes it, really likes it?"

“Are you that good?” I asked, not quite sure if I wanted the answer to be “no” or “yes.”

He shrugged a slow, confident shoulder roll that implicitly seemed to suggest the latter. “Why take the risk?”

“I dunno. Honestly, I don’t. But sometimes you gotta just let it fly.” Which is, by the way, also something that aeronautical engineers sometimes say.

TWO

That evening I came home to find Amanda in the kitchen, chopping, slicing, and searing. There was a mise bowl with a spicy-looking orange sauce, and some carefully trimmed chicken breasts on a cutting board. She was listening to Sheryl Crow and drinking a glass of Chardonnay as she cooked. She was in a sheer, flowered sundress that clung to her curves as she swayed to the beat.

I walked up behind her, nuzzled her neck, and cupped her luscious ass. “Hey Babe, that smells amazing.”

“New recipe I’m working on.”

Amanda always has projects in the works. Her latest was a themeless cookbook. Working title: Shit I Like to Eat.

I squeezed her ass. “Where are the kids?”

She slapped my hand away. “You’re out of luck. Charlie is at soccer, but Em is upstairs.”

“Bummer,” I sighed. Emily has always had an uncanny ability to sense and disrupt any frisky time between me and my wife.

I took a glass from the cupboard and poured myself some wine. “Mmm, this one is good.”

“Napa,” she replied. “It’s from that case Jeremy sent us.”

“He really didn’t need to do that.” I took another sip. “But it’s nice that he did. Are we seeing them this weekend?”

Jeremy and Kayla were our best friends, and we hung out most weekends. They’d borrowed our lake house for a week, and the wine was his gift in return.

“No. I don’t know. They’re going out of town. All very mysterious. Asked us to watch the kids. Em said she’d help with the driving.”

“And what does she get out of that?”

Amanda laughed. “Brownie points towards us buying her her own car?”

“She’s a sneaky one,” I said.

“She just knows her dad is a soft touch.”

I laughed. "I guess I am. Speaking of which... I know it is a little early for your birthday, but I arranged for a personal trainer to give you some sessions."

She wheeled and put her hand on her hip. "Are you telling me I'm getting fat?"

"Um, no, you're not getting fat. And even if you were, I'm too smart to say something like that."

"Well, you are a rocket scientist, though, yes, I know, that's not what it once was. Maybe I should trade up to a brain surgeon."

"Well, you did make me sign that pre-nup." I should mention that Amanda's folks are loaded.

"Exactly. I was thinking ahead."

I chuckled. "So, the trainer?"

"I don't like going to your gym."

"Oh, he'd come here," I replied. "I mean, unless you don't want to. I booked for six sessions, but we can always cancel."

She walked over and kissed my cheek. "Thank you, Honey. That's great. I was aching after my run this morning, so probably good to have a professional look over my form."

"Perfect."

Dinner was amazing. And so was Amanda that night in bed. I was lying on my back, and she was between my legs, sensuously licking and sucking my cock and balls, with her ass in the air. I had a sudden, searing vision of Tony kneeling behind her, nude, muscles gleaming and rippling. His powerful hands on my wife's ass, his huge cock plunging inside her. It was enough to almost make me come right away.

I cupped her cheek. "You should stop now," I sighed.

She looked up at me, smiled, and raised an eyebrow.

"I don't wanna... you know," I said.

She kissed my belly and then slowly kissed her way up my chest. Her heavy breasts brushed my cock, my stomach. She kissed my lips and settled on top of me. I could feel her heat and wetness against my prick. As we made out, she slowly ground against me until my cock slipped inside her. She moaned softly, and we began to move together.

I cupped her ass and she ran her hands through my hair. Her body was soft and hard in all the right proportions. Her pussy was hot, juicy, and so tight that I wondered if she'd even be able to accommodate Tony's size. But I knew she could, and that it would feel so amazing when she did. I imagined her labia clinging to his shaft as he thrust deep and hard inside her.

"Oh fuck," I gasped, my cock suddenly spurting inside her.

She chuckled and rolled off my rapidly deflating member. I turned to my side and leaned down to suck a plump nipple into my mouth as I pressed two fingers into her pussy, drenched with her excitement and mine. I twisted my fingers from side to side. She squirmed and moaned. I curled my fingers upward and massaged the spongy flesh within before slowly, slowly drawing my digits out, even, constant pressure on the entire length of her clit, culminating in slow circles on the hood. She moaned again, louder. I repeated the maneuver. She gasped, breathless, her body shuddering. And again, this time I increased the pressure on her swollen nub while also sucking hard on her nipple. She gasped and bucked upward, her belly rippled, and she croaked out a throaty, "Oh God."

Then she giggled. Amanda always giggles after coming. It is one of her many cute quirks. She snuggled up close to me and rested her head on my chest. She absentmindedly ran her fingers through my chest hair.

"You're as horny as a teenager," she joked.

"It's not my fault you're a great piece of ass."

She slapped my chest. "Is my ass getting greater?"

It was, definitely, though I couldn't... or more accurately, didn't want to explain why. I probably should have, but then she'd have shot the whole thing down. Better to just let nature take its course, and if she decided to indulge, she decided to indulge, and if she didn't, well, then no harm, no foul, no embarrassing revelations or discussions. Makes sense, right?

THREE

I'd arranged for Tony to come over on Thursday morning at 10:30, which was, not coincidentally a hole in my schedule that would allow me to come home to observe. We had set up our exercise equipment in the sun room with its floor to ceiling windows overlooking the backyard. From the pool house, I had a perfect view inside. I picked up a baby monitor and hid it behind the TV.

Binoculars in hand, I was ensconced well before the appointed hour, in a darkened room, peering through half-open blinds. 10:30 came and went, and I realized the fatal flaw in my plan. What if they never made it to the workout room? What if he managed to seduce her in the foyer or even the living room? I glanced at my watch. 10:35. Holy shit, what if she was right at the moment on her knees, tits out, sucking on his massive pole.

My dick twitched and I debated scurrying from my hiding place to investigate. Luckily I hesitated because a few moments later, I heard her voice.

"Our exercise equipment is back here."

And there they were. Amanda, wearing yoga pants and loose tee over her sports bra, leading Tony into the sunroom. He was in shorts and a tank top, buff as always, smiling happily.

"Nice set up you have here," he said.

"It's all we need. Probably not enough weights for you," she noted.

It sounded flirtatious to me, and at the very least reflected the fact that she noticed and admired his physique. My stomach did a flip even as my prick became rock hard.

He laughed. "Honestly, you can get a good workout just using body weight. It's more about technique than it is equipment."

Was that a double entendre? Or was I just seeing everything through a horny fog?

She ignored it. "So, what did my husband tell you about me?"

He smiled and for a second, I thought he was going to come clean, and tell her everything. That I wanted them to fuck. That I'd shown him a nude of her. My heart raced.

“Oh shit, oh shit, oh shit,” I gasped.

“Just that you’re doing a lot of cardio and wanted to add some strength work to your routine.”

She nodded. “Yeah, I’m training for a half marathon, and well...” she chuckled. “Honestly, I’m not sure what I am doing.”

“I bet you’re doing great, but let me ask a few questions. So, do you have any persistent pain after longer runs?”

“I mean, not really, just the usual, I guess? I dunno, I sometimes feel it in my knees. But that’s normal, right?”

He shrugged. “It could be, but that’s usually more of an issue for Clydesdales.” She seemed puzzled. “You know, heavier runners. And you’re not that. Okay. Knees. Anything else?”

She reached back and grabbed her hamstrings. “I sometimes can’t quite loosen up my legs. Takes me a couple of miles just to feel comfortable, and some days it just never quite feels right.”

He nodded as if he’d heard this all before, which he probably had. “Okay. That makes sense. Gives us something to start on. It sounds like you might be developing some muscular imbalances. Very common for people building up mileage, especially if they don’t include cross-training in the mix. So, I’d recommend a mix of strength and flexibility work. Does that make sense?”

“Yeah, sure. I mean, you’re the pro. I’ll do whatever you say.”

I got chills. Seeing my hot wife, staring up at this stud, saying those words was an incomprehensible thrill. It just conjured up the most lurid images of her submitting to his every whim.

“Let’s get started,” he said.

I watched as he led her through a series of exercises. He was patient, explaining everything carefully, a consummate professional personal trainer. But there was more, or maybe I imagined there was more.

He was very focused on her form, which involved being very close to her, frequently correcting her movements, nearly imperceptible adjustments that nonetheless seemed to accustom her to his touch.

Toward the end of her session, he knelt down beside her as she did a goblet squat with a 35 pound kettlebell. He ran his hand along her hamstring. “That’s it, nice and low, really feel that stretch. The stretch is what you need.”

She went lower and lower, her legs beginning to shake. Just as she seemed about to collapse, he slid behind her and caught her, his powerful hands on her hips to stabilize her. He helped her move the weight back upward, his body pressed up close to her, her ass seeming to rest against his crotch.

He took the weight from her hands with two fingers and effortlessly placed it down. Her face was flush, though I couldn't tell if it was from excitement or exertion.

"Okay, I think that's enough work for today," he said.

She nodded, mute. I wondered if I'd badly misread the situation, whether he'd made her uncomfortable instead of aroused.

"Stretch time. Go ahead and lie back on the mat."

Amanda complied. He lifted one leg and pressed it upward. She winced.

"Breathe and relax," he said.

She puffed out a deep breath. He pressed her leg further.

"Good, good," he encouraged.

Then he dropped to the mat and bent her knee, pressing her thigh to her chest. He was leaning over her, and she was bent in half, looking up at him. It struck me as intensely sexual, and though neither mentioned it, I'm sure they felt the tension as well. He repeated the same with her other leg, and then with both legs at the same time. At the end, he had her in what seemed like a very compromising position, looming above her, her pelvis tilted upward in a position to receive his cock. He held the stretch. Their eyes seemed to be locked. I couldn't breathe.

And then he slowly released her. The rest of the stretching was less intimate, though it still involved him handling her confidently, and her letting herself be manipulated by him.

Finally, he rose and held out his hand. Effortlessly he lifted her off the floor.

"So, how was that?" he asked.

"I'm a little sore, but good."

He smiled. "That's how you'll usually feel after our sessions."

Now that was definitely a double entendre, though I doubt she recognized it.

"So, should we do this again?"

She nodded. “Sure. Yeah. Monday?”
“Great. See you then.”

Over dinner – grilled mahi-mahi with a soy reduction and braised bok choy – I asked Amanda about her session with Tony.

“It was good,” she replied. “I think it’ll definitely help. How did you choose him?”

“Why?”

She shrugged. “I dunno. Must be a lot of trainers at the gym. Have you ever worked with him?”

“No. I just... I have my own routine.”

“So, why him?”

“You don’t like him?” I asked.

She tilted her head slightly and took a bite of fish. “Is there some reason you don’t want to answer the question?”

“Of course not. I mean, I dunno. How does anyone choose a trainer? I... I guess... I think I saw him working with another woman, who, I guess, reminded me of you. So you know, it just made a connection.”

She regarded me skeptically, but then shrugged as if to say whatever. “Yeah, so, no, he’s good. I mean, I think. Asked good questions. Seemed to know what he was doing. I mean,” she chuckled, “whatever it is, it seems to work for him.”

“You find him attractive?” I winced at my ham handedness.

Another puzzled expression. “You can’t be jealous. You hired him, I didn’t.”

I forced a laugh. “No, of course not. I just.” I took a bite of fish. “This is amazing, by the way.”

“Yeah, I don’t know. It’s missing something. I think it’d be better with a sear instead of grilled. Or maybe I just need to spice it up a bit. I like the umami, but it needs something more. Especially with the bok choy. Need to set it off a bit.”

I breathed a sigh of relief. I’d successfully moved the conversation on from Tony.

“I think it’s great.”

“You’d think a cheeseburger is great.”

“It would be,” I acknowledged.

“Sometimes change is good. Need to keep trying new things, experimenting.”

I hesitated. Were we still talking about food? Or about Tony? I decided to change the topic again.

“Where are the kids?” I asked.

She rolled her eyes. “Charlie had Chipotle on his way home from practice, and Em is at the mall with Taylor.”

“Do you think she and Taylor...?”

Amanda sighed. “I don’t think so. I’ve told her I’d like her to talk to me before she went too far, but then again, my mom said the same to me, and, well, I didn’t. We are getting to that age. She has a good head on her shoulders.” She laughed. “Better than I did.”

I wanted to press on this. This wasn’t the first time that Amanda had hinted at her somewhat unruly past, but I’d never worked up the courage to probe. Maybe that was behind my sudden desire to see her with another man? An alternative way to explore what she was like before me?

Talking about the kids led inevitably into a discussion of logistics, especially since we were watching Kayla and Jeremy’s kids for the weekend. Between the four kids, there were 13 separate commitments we had to plan for. Madness.

I was a little surprised that Amanda was in the mood that night. Well, maybe surprised isn’t right. More like, intrigued, I guess. We do have a solid sex life, but it usually comes down to once on the weekend and once during the week, and this was our third time this week. And I couldn’t help but think that her workout with Tony had somehow primed the pump. Although maybe it was just my quick draw from the past couple of times that had her wanting more.

There was something else that intrigued me. Amanda is, gloriously, one of those women who can climax from penetrative sex. She usually prefers it that way, actually, which means that oral is typically foreplay for us. But not this time.

I went down on her. She was wetter than usual, louder too. As she got closer, I began to slide upward between her legs to finish her off with my prick, but she pushed me back down. Hands on my head, she pressed me to complete the job with my tongue. She moaned louder and louder, thrusting upward, grinding her pussy against my face. I tried to keep up, licking and sucking enthusiastically. She grabbed my hair and gasped, her entire body shuddering in passion. She giggled.

As she came down, she urged me upward and pulled her knees to her chest. She was completely open for me, her pussy drenched, swollen, and pulsing. I rose above her, and suddenly we were in the same position she'd been with Tony. It was an explosive realization. Literally. I didn't even get my dick inside her before I was spurting all over her belly.

She laughed. "Jesus, Donnie, you're turning into a teenager."

I lay down, embarrassed. "I'm sorry."

She laughed again. "Don't be." Then a pause. "But do get me a towel to clean up this mess."

FOUR

The next day I ran into Tony at the gym. He raised his chin at me in greeting.

“So, um, how’d it go yesterday?” I asked.

“That’s a pretty, pretty lady,” he replied. “So, you sure you want to go through with this?”

I chuckled. “You seem awfully confident.”

“I could have had her yesterday, man. She was primed. I could see it in her eyes, and, well, everywhere else.”

Again, I twisted and turned as my stupid prick began to call attention to itself. “Wh- what do you mean?”

“Even with that heavy-duty jog bra, I could see those nips. And when I was stretching her legs, I got a nice view of some juicy cameltoe. Believe me, brother, I’ve been around the block enough to know when a woman is good to go.”

His confidence, bordering on arrogance, or hell, maybe well across that particular line, rankled me. And it turned me on. And made me feel queasy. Angry, horny, and queasy. I was turning into a self-contained version of the seven dwarves of sex.

“So, yay or nay?” he asked.

I don’t know why I decided to respond as I did. Was I trying to puncture his bubble or provoke him?

“Sounds like you’re looking for a reason to back out.”

He chuckled. “I am not, my man. Like I said, that is a fine woman. She’s in great shape, but got a little meat on her bones. You know she can take a lickin’ and keep on tickin’, you know what I mean? Likes it long and hard, am I right?”

I felt my face redden. Given my recent performances, I was the last person who could comment on giving it to her long and hard.

“So, what’s the problem?” I asked.

“No problem for me. And I guarantee you, no problem for her. Question is whether you’re going to be able to take it.” He paused and took a step closer. His voice lower, gentler, he continued, “A lot of guys, they think this is a hot fantasy, you know. But the reality can be a shock. Knowing your woman is giving it up to another guy? That's intense. It can be too much. And I like my job, and don't need the grief of an angry husband trying to get me fired and shit."

"I'd never do that. I mean, I approached you."

"Right, but that's all well and good until some other dude gets his dick inside your wife. I'm just sayin', if you're down, I'm down. But if you wanna pull the plug, gotta do it now because next Monday, things are gonna get hot and heavy."

I couldn't tell if this was just some sort of bravado, maybe designed to let him off the hook. For all his talk, and everything I'd read into Amanda's body language during their training session, I couldn't quite believe that she'd actually let herself be seduced quite so easily. Whatever roundheel tendency she may have had back in the day, she was now a stolid, suburban mom, and unlikely to fall for a would-be gigolo. The whole situation was surely a creation of my imagination, and I felt like a wimp for even considering his offer to turn it off.

I smiled. Or at least I tried to smile. It may have come off as a grimace. "I don't want to pull the plug."

He clapped me on the shoulder. My knees nearly buckled. "Full steam ahead then."

"Full steam ahead."

Now, on one hand, I saw all of this as a game. Just a bunch of silliness. Words, fantasies, and nothing else. Tony would make a pass at Amanda. She'd bat it away without a second thought. She'd tell me she decided she didn't need a trainer after all. I'd break the news to Tony, maybe with a little dig at his overconfidence, and that would be that.

On the other hand, I was in a state of near-constant arousal. Almost anything and everything had me conjuring up images of my lovely, blonde wife carousing with her studly Black trainer. And yes, I knew I was fetishizing them both, turning them into lurid caricatures. So I plead guilty to that. But the nature of sexual fantasies is precisely that they short-circuit the rational parts of our brains, and tap into something visceral, primordial.

And somehow, the idea of a powerfully built Black man with a huge cock taking my wife, making her scream in passion and beg for more got me going. Some sort of lizard brain thing, but labeling it and acknowledging it did nothing to diminish the power of it.

I really should have just come clean to my wife. Use your words. That's what we'd always tell the kids when they were little and melting down. And that's great advice when the words are I want a cookie or the cat won't let me pull its tail. It's much harder when the words are, something along the lines of, I'm obsessed with the idea of you fucking another man.

I knew Amanda would be upset if she knew what I'd done, what I was doing. Or, at least, I recognized that she'd have every right to be. But then again, I wasn't doing anything, was I? Just offering her the opportunity. Dangling the apple of temptation. Up to her whether she decided to take a bite. So, really, if anything, I was being a great husband in a sense.

So my thoughts went around and around, though they always ended up in the same place: That moment when Tony's huge prick first entered her, her eyes going wide, and a sultry moan of absolute pleasure escaping her lips.

It was making me more than a little weird.

"Why are you staring at me like that?"

I had been staring. She was folding laundry, Air Pods in and dancing adorably to the music, her perfect ass encased in those damn yoga pants she always wore around the house.

"I like your butt?"

She gave it a slap. "With all those squats Tony has me doing it is going to get absolutely ginormous."

Tony. Was she mentioning him as often as expected or more? How often did she think of him? Daily? Hourly? Did she just think of his exercise routine or did she think of him? He'd seemed so confident he would have her, that he could already have had her if he'd wanted. Was that true? Would she admit it to me if it were?

"Donnie?"

"Um? Yeah, ginormous."

She laughed. "I am so glad we got that long-term care insurance. I think you're already losing it."

“It’s not my fault your ass is hypnotizing?”

She shook it at me. And in a Svengali voice, added, “I command you to stop staring and help me fold the laundry.”

I chuckled and went over to help.

I lasted more than thirty seconds on Saturday night. It was a fucking challenge. It was the first time I actually used those stupid meditation techniques I learned from a college girlfriend who was into that. Not that she’d taught it to me to prolong sex. She was one of those true believers, and I had to try to keep getting into her pants. But it came in handy now.

Every time thoughts of Tony and Amanda crept into my head, I quickly banished them, trying to empty my mind, focus on my breathing and not on how tight Amanda was and how stretched she’d be by Tony’s huge... deep breath. In and out. Focus on the moment. Just me and my wife, riding me, her big tits jiggling delightfully, her cleavage a tempting tunnel for Tony’s massive... breathe, breathe, breathe. Her soft moan. Just a taste of how loud she’d be with Tony when he thrust his ginormous... clear your mind. Stay in the present. She was close, so close, I could feel her excitement. Her eyes were closed, the better to fantasize that she was riding Tony’s thick...

“Oh fuck,” I grunted, and thankfully she answered back with an equally fervent “Oh God.” Then the giggle.

FIVE

Monday. The big day. Or... maybe, the big bust. And yeah, I still didn't know what the fuck I wanted it to be. The day in which my wife demonstrated that she could not be seduced by even the hottest guy with the biggest prick? Or the day she got turned inside out by a massive, black, cock?

I was positioned again inside the pool house, lights out, blinds cracked open, binoculars in hand.

The seconds felt like minutes, minutes like hours, as I waited for them to arrive in the sunroom. I got an immediate thrill. Unlike her yoga pants and tee shirt outfit from last time, Amanda had opted instead for just yoga shorts and a sports bra, and the shorts weren't even those mid-thigh ones, but rather the ones that were more like booty shorts.

I let out a gasp and my heart felt like it was going to burst through my chest. For a second time in 48 hours, I drew upon meditation techniques, this time just to keep from hyperventilating.

"Oh fuck, oh fuck, oh fuck," I muttered. "This is really happening."

But I didn't know that. All I knew was that my wife had decided to wear about the skimpiest outfit possible for her private workout session with her extremely hot, extremely hung, trainer. But it was a warm day, so maybe....

"So, how've you been doing?" he asked.

"Pretty good. I did a long run yesterday, eight miles, and it was fine. But I am still feeling some knee pain and," she turned sideways and angled her ass toward him. She drew her hands down her hamstrings, "I'm still getting some tightness along here."

He nodded and ran his hand along her leg, as if examining it. He smiled up at her. "Well, eight miles is a long way, it's not surprising to be a little sore after. You might want to add some massage therapy into the mix."

"Oh, is that something you do as well?"

"Only in my spare time."

She gave him a playful pout. The breathing control was not working. I was huffing and puffing like I'd run a sprint. There was no way this was innocent banter. She was flirting with him. Flirting hard.

He laughed. "I'll give you a few minutes at the end of our session."

She widened her eyes. "Oh, would you?"

"Oh shit, oh shit, oh shit," I gasped. This was about to go down.
"Holy fuck."

He chuckled. "Sure. So, let's get started."

That threw me for a loop. He was trying to get things back onto a professional plane. Or maybe he just didn't want to seem too eager.

"Since you ran yesterday," he said, "we'll focus mostly on range-of-motion exercises and some light weights. Just enough to get the blood flowing to promote recovery. Make sense?"

She nodded. "Like I said, I'm at your command."

He grinned and I noticed the growing bulge in his flimsy shorts.

"Okay, so do you do yoga?"

"A little. Once in a while."

"Okay, do you know cat/cow?"

"Is that where I'm on my hands and knees?"

"Exactly."

She dropped down onto the mat and looked up at him.

"Okay, so go ahead and lower your head and round your back. That's it, really press down on the mat, lengthen your spine. Very nice, very nice. Now, lift your head and arch your back."

She followed his instructions, raising her chin, her lower back dropping down, her ass on display in that position. He kneeled down next to her, one foot flat on the ground, his huge prick just inches from her face, only covered by sheer workout shorts. He ran a finger along her spine.

"That's it. Go ahead and squeeze your shoulder blades together and open your chest. Keep breathing. Now shift back into cat, slowly, slowly, focus on your muscles. Your shoulders, neck."

He flattened his hand on the small of her back, his fingers spreading across her bare skin. Dark, thick digits on her pale, creamy skin.

"Okay, now back into cow," he said, pressing down lightly on her spine.

Her head came up and she looked up at him. "You didn't just get me in this position to do yoga poses, did you?"

He slowly began to massage her back. “What do you mean?” he asked with a grin.

She held his gaze for a few more seconds and then shifted her attention to his shorts. “I think you have something you want to show me.”

“Well, the real question is whether you want to see it.”

She nodded.

He chuckled and his eyes made a circuit of the room, and I had the sense he was scanning for a camera or some other sign I was watching.

“Are you sure?” he asked.

“Are you trying to get me to beg?”

“Holy shit, holy shit,” I gasped. I was rock hard. Like, I could cut glass with the damn thing. And throbbing. And, shit, leaking pre-come through my khakis.

“I don’t think it has to come to that,” he said, “it’s enough to know you would.”

She didn’t contradict him. I was literally shaking.

He stood up and somehow, without coming off as insufferably arrogant, slowly pulled down his shorts. She sat back on her heels.

“Wow,” is all that Amanda could say.

And she was right. Wow. I’d gotten just a glimpse of what he had at the gym, and he’d been flaccid at the time, or what passes for flaccid for a guy like that. But my wife’s obvious availability had him chubbed up, and through my binoculars I could clearly see his plum-sized head, the gnarly veins running along the length of his shaft. He gave it a firm tug, and it seemed to grow even larger.

She licked her lips.

“Do you want to kiss it?” he asked.

“God yes. Kiss it. Lick it. Suck it,” she enthused.

He stepped out of his shorts and kneeled in front of her, his crotch at eye level. She glanced up at him, and then crawled forward and took the head into her mouth. He cupped her chin with one hand and with the other gripped his shaft to better feed it to her.

“Mmmm, mmmm, mmmm,” she sighed as she rocked forward and back on his cock.

He grinned. “Looks like you like cock.”

She let him slip from her mouth. “Who wouldn’t like this cock?” She licked his shaft and then swallowed him again.

“You like ‘em big?”

She didn’t answer immediately. Too busy slurping on his prick. “Mmmm, mmmm, mmmm.”

He was getting harder, his cock jutting out without support. She swallowed him deeper, taking at least the equivalent of my entire member in her mouth, though it was barely half of his. She finally unlatched herself.

“I’ve only had one big one before, and I was too young to know what to do with it.”

“But you think you do now?”

She took him deep again, fucking his thick shaft with her mouth. In and out, deeper and deeper, making gagging sounds as she took him into her throat. She again pulled away.

“Then I was more scared than intrigued, now I’m more intrigued than scared.”

She demonstrated her interest by sucking him deep again.

“It’s all about letting it happen... oh, damn, girl, you are good at that. Damn... fucking... pro.”

Her eyes twinkled and she took him deeper still. Like two-thirds of the damn thing. I’ve seen plenty of porn where the girls didn’t manage as much with a cock that size.

“Mrrph, mrrph, mrrph,” she croaked around his meat.

He lifted his eyes to the sky as if to thank God, and then caressed her cheek. His cock glistened with her spit, and it dripped into her cleavage. He ran his hand down her back, and slipped it into the back of her yoga shorts. He cupped her ass, lower and lower, his hand sliding into her crack.

She pulled her head away from his cock and let out a long, sultry moan.

“Fuck, you’re wet,” he sighed.

She gasped as her hips began to thrust up and down.

“You want it in that juicy pussy?”

Glassy eyed, she just nodded.

He grinned and gave her a passionate kiss, and then he moved behind her. Her ass traced lazy circles. He grabbed ahold of the waistband of her shorts, and peeled them down. I was desperate to see between her legs, to see the evidence of her excitement, but the angle was wrong. But that didn't stop me from imagining her pussy, swollen, pink, and slippery with her arousal.

With her shorts rolled up beneath her ass, he took his cock and rubbed it against her slit. She threw her head back and moaned.

"Don't tease me," she pleaded.

"Don't worry, Baby, I want it just as much as you."

He entered her, slowly but steadily. I watched as his massive prick disappeared inside my sexy wife.

"Oh, oh, oh, oh," she sighed, "oh God, that's good."

"Yeah, shit it is," he moaned. "You're so fucking wet."

He began to give her deep, slow strokes, eventually after a couple of minutes, apparently getting balls deep. My sweet wife had lost the ability to speak. All she could do was moan in pleasure. His thrusts left her shaking and gasping. When he pulled back out she sighed so deeply that it seemed to convey an almost existential emptiness at the absence of his cock.

Tony paused to peel off his tank top. She peered over her shoulder and let out a dreamy moan at his powerful, tattoo-covered physique. Shirtless, he was even more ripped than I'd remembered. A full six pack, muscles that I didn't even know existed. Amanda licked her lips. He reached beneath her and pushed her bra up, exposing her full breasts. He reentered her and began churning slowly. They swayed gently with his thrusts, her pink nipples and pale areolas swollen. He palmed her tits, his fingers mauling her squishy flesh.

As he began to fuck her harder and faster, her moans increased in pitch and intensity. He was so big and fucking her so hard that I couldn't believe she could take it. But she not only took it, but loved it. Her ass rocked back and forth, meeting his powerful strokes.

Then suddenly, she gasped and threw her head back. She made a sound more feral than human, a growl from deep inside her that felt like a release of a sort of immense pressure, a dam breaking with a terrible urgency. Her body shuddered, and her arms buckled, dropping her chest to the mat.

He grabbed her hips and began pounding her even harder. She squealed desperately as he used her hard, mercilessly, each brutal stroke going in balls deep. And then it was his turn. With a sound that mixed a laugh and a roar, he buried himself inside her, his abs tensed, and he dropped his load inside my wife.

As he recovered, he continued to slowly churn inside her battered pussy, a wide grin on his handsome face. She looked back at him red-faced, but also smiling broadly.

“Did you like that?” he asked.

She let out her trademark giggle, slightly delayed, but even more bewitching.

“Just a little,” she replied.

He let his slab of meat slide from her well-used hole and dropped back onto his heels. She spun around, her movement sinuous and nearly feline in grace. Without hesitation, she dipped her head into his lap and swallowed his still impressive cock as if to ensure that any drops of come that had not ended in her pussy would find a home in her mouth.

He brushed the hair from her face, and chuckled. “You are something else, Baby.”

“No, you are something else,” she gushed, kissing his abs and pecs before returning her attention to his prick.

“You keep doing that, and I’m going to need another taste.”

“That’s the idea.”

“So, I guess this was a better experience than your last big one.”

She just nodded as she continued to slurp on his cock.

“We still need to get your workout in. Don’t want your husband to accuse me of shirking on the job.”

Amanda licked him up and down and then suckled on his heavy balls. “Well, you’ve already given me a good stretch.”

He chuckled again, and squeezed a fat tit. “We’re just getting started.”

She moaned softly. “I can’t wait.”

Impressively Tony managed to fit in a pretty solid workout into the rest of their time. First, he lay flat on his back, and had Amanda, flat footed, squat up and down on his massive pole. After a few minutes of that, she had worked up a nice sweat. Then while on his knees, he had my wife sling her pussy up and down his shaft by doing hip thrusters. And he ended it by giving her a good stretch, and not just of her pussy, folding her in half, her ankles up over his broad shoulders as he pounded her hard.

It was during that last part that I finally surrendered to my excitement, yanking down my pants and spooging into a houseplant by the window. So, if anyone is keeping count, that was one orgasm for me into a pot of dirt, two for Tony inside my wife's juicy pussy, and several, at least three, maybe more, for Amanda from his thick cock.

I had to go back to work. Thankfully, I didn't have anything pressing, so I basically spent the rest of the day pretending to work while reliving all afternoon what I'd seen that morning in my home.

From a purely fantasy perspective, it had exceeded my wildest expectations. Tony's muscles and massive tool had turned my beautiful wife into a complete fuckslut. They looked amazing together, his dark skin contrasting with her pale complexion. They had flirted and laughed and fucked and come like a well-oiled machine.

But I was also shaken by how easily he'd seduced her. He hadn't been bragging. He knew he could have her, and he did, and it did make me wonder if my entire marriage was a lie. Surely this wasn't the first appealing man to cross her path. She'd submitted so quickly that it almost felt as if she was following a well-practiced path.

Part of my afternoon was, thus, spent in re-interpreting our twenty years together. Every girls-night-out became suspect in my mind. Every friendship with a man similarly now seemed fraught. There were gardeners and plumbers and electricians. The guys who put in our pool. How many of those dozens, maybe hundreds, of men had she fucked? Just a few? Most? All? The answer, after what I'd seen that morning, surely could not be none.

I didn't know how I felt about that. Amanda is beautiful. She likes sex and is good at it. So, sexy as a definitional matter. And, of course, I knew other men (and surely many women) also found her attractive, which was always an ego boost, no matter how primitive and unreconstructed such a thought was.

But I was seeing her in a new light now. Her sex appeal was suddenly much more visceral, powerful, and in a way, dangerous. It was no longer something I, in a sense, possessed, something that I could have reason to believe was solely mine to enjoy. She had cheated on me with Tony. I had dangled the apple of temptation, but I'd never quite believed that she'd actually take a bite, much less that she'd grab it by both hands and devour it, stem, seed, and all.

I was in shock. I thought I was just feeding a fantasy, but it had turned into something more. Even if Tony was the first man to sample her charms since our marriage – which, let's be real, seemed wildly unlikely – this was big. A major new chapter in our lives.

So there was part of me that was horrified. My stomach ached, a dull pain in my belly. There was fear. And anger. And humiliation. Fuck, how could I go to the gym again? See Tony again? Have to talk to him. Fucking hell, I needed to write the bastard a check for services rendered. Fuck.

But part of me was wildly aroused. I could not quite believe what I'd seen. The intensity of their coupling. The intensity of her climaxes. Her submissiveness. Her hunger for him, her literal need to have that cock in her mouth whenever it wasn't actively plowing into her married pussy. Reliving the experience in my mind had me rock hard, cock throbbing, just a quick tug away from climax. And despite the pit in my stomach, I wanted to see more.

So, yeah, not much work got done that afternoon.

The kids had a rare night off from extracurriculars, so we ate with them and then they just, sorta, hung around. It was like they knew I wanted to talk to Amanda alone, and just wouldn't let me. Teenagers are weird.

So after an afternoon of stewing, I spent another few hours of family time doing the same. It made me nuts. It's not like Amanda was doing anything to provoke a reaction, except, maybe not doing anything to provoke a reaction. Like, you know, she hadn't spent over an hour that very fucking morning getting plowed by her trainer's massive prick. No, there she was, all normal. Not a fucking care in the world.

She'd of course changed out of her workout clothes, but the yoga pants and tight tee she had on did nothing to dissuade me from obsessing about what had happened. I mean, let's be realistic, she could have been in a nun's habit and I'd have still been beside myself. But it surely didn't help that I could see her shapely ass clearly, the same ass that Tony had peeled her yoga shorts off, the same ass that he'd palmed as he plunged his huge cock inside her. And the swell of her breasts had me thinking of how he'd mauled them, how they'd bounced as they fucked. I stared at her lips, her tongue, thinking about how she'd licked, kissed, and sucked on his cockhead, his shaft, his balls. His balls, his big huge balls, and I know that it's not like men actually store jism in them, like some sort of pastry piping bag, but I couldn't help but imagine the loads he'd left inside her.

"Holy fuck," I muttered.

Charlie laughed. Em gave me a cheeky grin, "Daaad, bad words are sad words."

"Everything okay?" Amanda asked.

I nodded. "Yeah. Just.... I just realized something about... a project... a work project... at work."

My wife tilted her head. "A project, a work project, at work?"

I stood. "Yeah. Um. Give me a sec. I need to send an email."

I virtually sprinted to my home office and shut the door behind me. He'd come inside her. Twice. And Amanda wasn't on birth control. I'd gotten a vasectomy a few years earlier once we were sure we didn't want more kids. She was 41, so the odds were low, but, shit, 41-year-olds have baby-oopses all the fucking time. And I also couldn't repress that crazy idea that, somehow, Tony's sperm, like the rest of him, was somehow more fit, more potent than the usual sperm. Which is crazy, of course. It's a nutty idea, but there is something about seeing your beloved spouse getting railed by another man that short-circuits rational thought.

Calming my breathing, I managed to return to the kitchen. The kids had finally gone, and Amanda was doing dishes.

I stared at her for a long moment. Tony's cock seemed to have frazzled her brain too if she was taking that sort of risk. And that was also both exciting and terrifying.

"I can help with those," I said.

She smiled and handed me the sponge. "Great. I'll finish the laundry."

By the time she closed the bedroom door behind her when she came to bed, I was in a barely concealed state of panic.

I needed to confront her, but... I couldn't. Jesus, where to begin? How would I explain that I was spying on her? That, shit, I'd set the whole fucking thing up? Sure, I could make up a story about why I'd been in the pool house... or, could I? I'm an engineer, not like some creative writing major. Because I needed to explain not only how I'd caught her, but why I hadn't said anything at the time. I tried to rehearse in my head the various permutations of that story, it always came out the same – crazy and unbelievable.

“Are you getting ready for bed, or just standing there?” she asked.

“I'm getting ready for bed,” I replied, still rooted to the same spot on the floor.

“Okaaaay.” She shrugged. “Soooo, how was your day?” she asked.

My day? MY DAY? MY FUCKING DAY? What about your day, slut? I didn't say that.

“Okay. The usual. You?”

Ah, the moment of truth.

She shrugged again. “The usual too, I guess. Oh, wait there is something...”

Here it comes, I thought. The big reveal.

“I was talking to Jeanie, Jeanie Morgan? You remember her? She just moved over to Penguin, and we got to talking about my cookbook, and she thinks she might be able to sell it. How cool would that be?”

“Wow, yeah, cool,” I mumbled. “That would be amaz...”

She began to undress, yanking her tee shirt over her head and slipping out of her bra. Her full breasts bounced into view. I've always loved my wife's tits. They're just perfect, large, still firm even after breastfeeding, with plump, sensitive nipples. And earlier today, another man had teased, squeezed, and sucked them enthusiastically.

“Amazing,” I managed to say. “So that was good news. Anything else happen?”

She tilted her head as if to think, and at the same time, slipped off her yoga pants. She wasn't wearing panties, and I realized I wasn't sure if that was normal for her or not. Just not one of those things that registered. I peered at her sexy, blond triangle, trimmed so close it was almost invisible, and at her sexy pussy.

“No, not really.” She shrugged, and then added with infuriating insouciance, “Oh yeah, had another session with Tony. I really owe you. He’s great.”

She bent over and removed a nightgown from her dresser, flashing me her ass, her pussy. It felt like she was taunting me, displaying everything that she had given to Tony earlier.

I waited for her to continue. To come clean, but instead, she just pulled the nightgown over her head and began to move toward the bathroom.

“So, you want to keep, um, working with him?” I asked.

“Yeah, definitely.” She squeezed toothpaste onto her brush. “Hesh a realsh prosh,” she mumbled as she began to brush her teeth. I watched as she took the full two minutes to brush, and then flossed, and then finished with mouthwash. Finally, she continued, “I feel like if I keep working with him, I’ll definitely finish the half strong. His approach to strength work and stretching is really unique.... Um, are you going to get ready for bed?”

I’d been sitting on the bed, incredulous. But, of course, what did I expect? For all she knew, I was completely ignorant of her shenanigans, as I’d surely been to past transgressions. So why would she suddenly admit anything? Since when do cheaters come clean until they’ve been caught. And yes, I know she wasn’t really a cheater, or at least that I didn’t have a leg to stand on in accusing her of such a thing.

“Donnie? Are you okay?”

The question suggested concern; her self-satisfied smirk something quite different.

I nodded and went into the bathroom. I took my PJs off the hook on the back of the door and did my own oral hygiene routine. I was stewing, but also still unmistakably excited. Her flash of skin reminded me all at once of her infidelity, my culpability, and my hunger to, I guess, reclaim her.

She was reading in bed when I returned. I slid in beside her and ran my hand up her thigh. “Are you sure you want to read?”

Amanda placed the book down in her lap.

“I’m sorry, Honey, Tony really gave me a hell of a workout. I’m sore all over. Can I give you a raincheck?”

She leaned over and chastely kissed my forehead. I withdrew my hand, and slunk beneath the covers, though as I turned over, I thought I saw a small smirk cross her face.

SIX

It is damn lucky that I am now senior enough that most of my “work” consists of meetings. I wouldn’t have been capable of much beyond that. Shit, if I were actually doing real work, I’d probably have been responsible for sending a multi-billion-dollar satellite hurtling into the sun given my level of distraction.

Going to the gym is usually a good way to refresh and regain focus. Whether it was a run on the treads or a hard, sweaty circuit, it usually got me into a zone where I could clear my mind and come out renewed. Sort of like meditation, but with less napping, and more cardio. But, of course, that sort of mind cleanse was impossible given the circumstances because the gym meant seeing Tony, and seeing Tony meant... I didn’t know what it meant.

I actually sat in my car for the better part of a half-hour before I worked up the courage to go inside. But I finally grabbed my gym bag, and headed in.

Tony was out on the floor working with another client, an older woman who looked like she might be blown over by a stiff breeze. He saw me and gave me a wink. I gave him a manly chin nod in return. I began my workout, but it was hard to get into a groove. I kept thinking of Tony and my wife. The weights which I’d felt proud about lifting the past week seemed to mock me, and I was tempted to lift beyond my limits to, I don’t know, impress him somehow? I refrained, preferring to look weak, but in control over having to bail on a lift in some spectacular fashion. But I could see him out of the corner of my eye, and I knew he was judging me. Or maybe he wasn’t giving me a second thought. Who knew?

I was doing some squats when I heard his voice as I completed my set.

“You have good form,” he said, “but you could drop a little lower. Really work that full range of motion.”

I immediately remembered the sight of my wife squatting up and down on his prone body, working his huge prick with her cunt. Was it his intention to conjure that up?

Racking the weights, I turned toward him.

“So, did you and Mandy get a chance to talk yesterday?”

Mandy? Where the fuck did that come from? I shook that off, but still found myself facing the horns of a dilemma. There was no good answer to that question. If I lied and said that she and I had talked, then the next time he saw her, he might expose that lie. If I told the truth, he’d surely get a kick out of knowing that she was apparently trying to keep her tryst a secret from me. Or maybe, fuck, I was overthinking it. I ducked the question.

“How’d it go?” I asked.

He paused, processing that. Then he shrugged. “Mission accomplished. Accomplished with style, I might add. Though she made it a little too easy, you know? I didn’t even have to work my craft. She was raring to go. I know she had a good time. I sure did. How much did she tell you?”

I forced a smile. “Enough. So, did you guys make plans for the next session?”

“Thursday,” he grinned.

“Have fun,” I said.

“Oh don’t worry.” Then after a beat. “We still good? I mean, all you have to do is say the word, and I’ll —”

“All good,” I interrupted. The last fucking thing I wanted to do now was show weakness, and asking him to stop after he’d already gotten his dick up in my wife would have been an ultimate show of weakness, especially since she’d arranged for a repeat already.

He clapped me on the shoulder. “That is great news, man. I have a lot of things planned for Mandy, and I know she’ll love all of them.”

I smiled and nodded, smiled and nodded, smiled and nodded as I walked away from him.

Mandy was in a good mood when I got home.

“Oh, Honey, I totally nailed this!”

She thrust a piece of braised short rib at me. I took a bite. It was spectacular. Hard even to explain, sweet and savory at the same time, and the meat melted on my tongue.

“This is great.”

“Need to figure out the pairings,” she said. “I’m thinking a Pinot, right? A Pinot. Or maybe a Rioja? Root veggie puree as accompaniment if that helps.”

I shrugged. “Pinot works. Or, yeah, a Rioja.”

She laughed. “Silly, that’s what I said. Anyway, I have the Pinot open. Have a glass.”

I poured myself a glass as she returned to the stove. She was wearing a sundress and I noticed cork sandal heels by the door.

“Why are you all dressed up?”

“No real reason. Just tired of yoga pants. Charlie, no Em tonight. But he’s going over to Mitch’s after to work on a science project. Think it’s okay if he just bikes?”

I shrugged. “Sure. It’s just a couple of blocks.”

I took a sip of wine, and yeah, it was a great pairing. The sundress threw me for a loop. It shouldn’t have. I mean, there was nothing particularly odd about it. Amanda wears sundresses sometimes. But now that I knew she was a cheating slut who made it “too easy” for men to fuck her, I immediately suspected that the outfit reflected not a simple fashion choice, but rather hinted at a midday assignation.

A lot of bad movies and books have a flaw in common. The entire conflict could be resolved if the characters just talked to each other. I felt as if I’d fallen into that kind of situation. Surely, clearing the air would be the best answer. I couldn’t continue to torment myself like this. But the problem was... I sorta liked the torment. I, and this doesn’t make sense even to me, didn’t want to clear the air. I wanted to, I guess, continue to think the worst of my wife because it was oddly exciting to imagine that our entire lives had been a lie. That instead of the normal and stable marriage I thought I had, my wife had been slutting around the whole time, fucking any man with the looks and confidence to catch her attention. So there it was. I was embarrassed to confront her because I’d have to admit my own culpability in the scheme and that I’d been spying on her, and I was also reluctant to puncture the lurid fantasies I was increasingly constructing.

So I acted normal, or tried to. We had dinner. Then after dinner I paid some bills while Amanda cleaned up the kitchen and typed notes into her laptop about the recipe. And then with both kids finally home and safely ensconced in their own rooms, we met in the master bedroom.

She stripped down in front of me again, and fucking hell, she was again bare-assed, this time beneath a dress, which seemed even more provocative than with yoga pants on. When had Amanda stopped wearing panties? Or perhaps more to the point, when had she decided to begin making me aware of that? Well, I knew the answer to that. Something had changed when Tony fucked her. And the most plausible explanation seemed to be that the experience had convinced her to make public what she'd previously kept secret. For all I knew, I was the only man for whom she had ever worn panties.

So there I was, in bed, imagining that my wife had been fucking every man within a ten-mile radius. Dozens of men, surely. Hundreds maybe. Probably just in the past few months.

And off came her bra and she was naked, gloriously naked, every last inch of her painfully desirable. It felt like a moment of clarity. Of course, she was fucking around. How could I have ever hoped to keep her to myself?

She gazed over at me. Was that a hopeful expression on her face? I froze. She shrugged and then reached for her nightgown.

"Wait," I said. "Why don't you come over here?"

She grinned. "Oh, is there something you want?"

I took her hand as she approached. "I want all of you."

"Here I am."

She stood in front of me. My eyes roamed over her body. And yeah, at that moment, she wasn't my wife, or the mother of my children, she was just a sexy bitch I was lucky enough to have in the flesh.

I dropped to my knees. Her eyes widened in surprise. And then I buried my face in her crotch. I reached around and grabbed her firm ass. She spread her legs slightly. I licked her slit, once, twice, and then at the third lick, her labia split open, and I tasted the juicy nectar within. She moaned. I flicked at her clit, and felt it swell. Her hands gripped my head and she thrust her pelvis forward. I licked her deeper, harder, pressing my tongue into her pussy and then sucking her clit into my mouth.

"Oh fuck, Donnie, oh fuck, just like that."

I eagerly obeyed, and in a few more moments, she was quivering in orgasm. She giggled and pushed my mouth away and guided me to my feet. Then she put both hands on my chest and roughly shoved me onto the bed. I sat on the edge. She advanced on me, and then dropped to her knees between my thighs. She clawed at my belt.

“Get your fucking clothes off,” she hissed.

She worked on the pants as I unbuttoned my shirt just enough to yank it over my head. She lifted my feet off the floor and wrenched off my slacks, taking my boxers down at the same time. And suddenly, my entire prick was bathed in the warmth and wetness of her mouth, her tongue circling my turgid shaft expertly.

She moaned as she sucked me, as she’d done with Tony, though without the choking and gagging that his massive tool had elicited. Even when he was flaccid, she couldn’t get all of him into her mouth. I wondered if she was comparing us, as I was doing, and finding me wanting. She must have. How could she not?

Suddenly she rose up and I groaned as I slipped from her mouth.

“I want you inside me,” she said.

She climbed into my lap and kissed me passionately. Her big boobs mashed against my chest. I could feel her wetness against my shaft. She wrapped an arm around my neck, and rolled us onto the bed with me on top. She spread her legs wide, and I sank into her.

Her pussy was soaked and swollen. I began thrusting.

She grabbed my ass. “Harder, Donnie.” Our eyes met. Hers flashed. “Deeper!”

I was already going balls deep and she knew it.

“Deeper!” she repeated.

I came explosively.

“Oh fuck!”

She chuckled and caressed my cheek. She kissed me. It was tender and loving and felt almost like she was consoling me.

My prick shrank with alarming rapidity, a tiny, spent knob, so different from Tony’s even when he was soft. I reddened and pulled out and rolled onto my side. She held my hand.

“That was a fun, little mid-week quickie,” she said.

And again, I wasn't sure if there was a hidden meaning there. A taunt at my manhood.

"Yeah," I replied.

She looked at me expectantly. But I was mute. Thoughts swirling in my head but trapped there as well. Amanda shook her head slightly, grinned, and then rose.

"Well, I better get ready for bed."

SEVEN

I barely saw my wife on Wednesday thanks to a business dinner I had to attend. By the time I got home, the lights were out, and she was dozing peacefully. I dressed for bed in silence and crawled in beside her. She rolled onto her side, and I spooned her for a few moments before rolling over and trying to sleep. But it was a challenge. Tomorrow was her next appointment with Tony.

I was of half a mind to cockblock them. It had been a late night, and no one would begrudge me a nice, long sleep-in, followed by an equally casual breakfast. I could be there to greet Tony, and there also to ensure that their workout was a purely conventional one.

But, of course, I didn't. Extreme angst and sexual mania form an addictive compound. So I left that morning as normal, security badge around my neck, and bade my wife to have a good day.

I returned home a couple of hours later and installed myself in the pool house. I brought a sock with me in which to jizz. I didn't think the houseplant particularly needed it.

10:30am came and went. I figured they were again taking their sweet time making out it to the sunroom. Then 10:35am. Then 10:40am. I was torn. I needed to know what was going on. But if I tried to make my way across the pool deck when they came into the sunroom, they'd see me in an instant, which was a mortifying thought. Yes, the notion of Amanda and Tony spotting me scurrying from my hiding spot was worse than them having sex. At least the latter also had prurient excitement going for it; the former was pure humiliation.

Another five minutes passed, and I could no longer stand it. Taking a deep breath, I opened the door and sprinted to the main house like a soldier racing from one position of cover to another. I made it without being spotted. At least I thought so. For all I knew they were watching me the whole time, now doubled over with laughter at my absurdity. I slipped inside through the kitchen door.

I paused to calm my breath and listen for sounds. Nothing. I wondered if, maybe, they had agreed to meet elsewhere. I peeked into the garage. Amanda's car was still there. Then I snuck over to the dining room window and peered out front. A strange SUV was parked in my driveway. They were in the house, somewhere.

It hit me like a bolt. I knew where they were. It had to be.

I crept upstairs and slowly made my way toward the master bedroom. The door was cracked open. I heard them. Mostly her, moaning passionately, her sounds periodically punctuated by the sounds of flesh slapping flesh. I glanced inside, ready to duck away if they were in a position to observe me. I needn't have worried.

They were on our bed, the covers torn off, and their clothes scattered on the floor. Amanda was on top, but he was definitely still in control, pounding his huge cock up into her pussy. Her stretched labia clung to his thick shaft. Her ass was reddened by his periodic slaps. He sucked on her erect nipples. Her blond hair arced through the air with each hard thrust.

Amanda's cries of passion sounded raw and desperate, the sounds of a woman overwhelmed by the sensation, out of control, driven half-mad by the intensity of it. He spanked her ass hard. She yelped and then growled lustily. The contrast between the sharp pain of his blows and the irresistible pleasure of his cock bringing her to the edge. I watched as he palmed her ass, his middle finger slipping into her crack and then pressing deep into her anus.

She threw back her head and tensed. Then her body began to vibrate and she cried out. "Oh my fucking God!!"

Amanda shook and writhed, closer to a seizure than a normal orgasm. She gasped for breath, her whole body continuing to convulse. He continued thrusting inside her, slower now, drawing out her orgasm. Her jerky movements calmed, becoming slower, more sensual. She collapsed onto his chest and nuzzled his cheek.

"Thank you," she gasped. "Thank you."

She kissed his lips and his face and rose up off his cock. It slipped out of her battered snatch, which remained gaping open, dark red and swollen.

My wife kissed her way down her lover's body, pausing to suckle his nipples and worship his abs. She slid down between his legs and took his cock deep into her mouth. He was still hard. He hadn't come yet, but he was giving her a break, letting her service him with her mouth, and likely planning the next stage.

As she made love to his prick, she continued to moan and sigh and mewl out heartfelt expressions of gratitude that made it clear that Tony was the best lover she'd ever had, better than she might have imagined was even possible. He lay back, enjoying her ministrations, letting her recover.

But soon enough he reasserted control. He grabbed a thick handful of her hair, and lifted her head up. She replaced her mouth with her hands, apparently unable to stop playing with his cock one way or another.

He sat up and pulled her to her knees on the bed. She gazed at him, face flushed and eyes glassy, her fist still pumping up and down his shaft. He kissed her hard.

"Fuck, you're a hot little slut," he growled.

"Oh God, you're so powerful."

"You have no idea, Baby."

Her eyes widened. "Show me."

He grabbed her tits, mauled them hard, and slapped her nipples.

"Like this?"

She grunted excitedly at the rough treatment. "Harder."

He palmed her throat and her eyes widened. He thrust his other hand between her legs and jammed two fingers in her wet cunt. Her hips pumped as he fingerbanged her.

"You like it rough, don't you? Hubby doesn't do this to you, does he?"

She shook her head, a deep, low growl attesting to her arousal.

He took his fingers from her pussy and shoved them into her mouth. She sucked them, tasting her own juices. Her face was red. She gasped for breath.

"Okay, then, enough of the romantic shit," he grunted. "Time to give you a real fucking. Gonna tear that pussy up."

She moaned, eyelids fluttering.

He manhandled her onto her hands and knees, feet dangling off the edge of the mattress. He stepped in behind and yanked back hard on her hair. He cut short her whine by pounding his cock into her already well-used hole. She growled in pain, but also rocked back against his fat prick. She wanted it all.

He fucked her like an animal, wrenching back on her hair and lifting her hands off the mattress. Suspended like that, defenseless, he hammered her cunt violently. His other hand repeatedly slapping her ass. He was sweating, his muscles gleaming.

She growled, grunted, hissed, whined, and moaned. Her body shook with the force of his thrusts. But it wasn't just his pounding that had her shaking. She gasped suddenly, eyes rolling back into her head as she came again. He didn't let up this time. Her squeals became high-pitched, plaintive, but he just kept going. And amazingly, after a few more minutes, she came again. And then again.

Suddenly, he wrenched her off the bed and onto the floor. She was covered in sweat, her eyes wild.

“Open up, Slut.”

She did as he commanded. Kneeling, looking up at him, she opened her mouth wide. He pumped his fat cock and spurted a rope into her mouth. Then another. She leaned forward and wrapped her lips around his shaft. He continued to jerk himself off until he'd given her every drop, at which point she drew back and opened her mouth to show him that she'd swallowed it all.

“Good girl,” he said.

She smiled widely and then dipped low and sucked his balls into her mouth.

“You want more, don't you?”

She didn't answer. She just sucked his balls and then licked his shaft and then took the head back in her mouth. When he was hard again, which happened with shocking speed, he lifted her back onto the bed.

This time he fucked her slowly. They kissed deeply. They maintained eye contact. Their bodies gleamed with sweat.

“You okay baby? You liked that?”

She nodded and lifted her legs and wrapped them around his waist. He kissed her again, his cock slowly churning into her stretched hole.

She came again and again, and when he did for the second time, it was into her unprotected pussy.

EIGHT

I didn't bother returning to work. Instead I went to Harry's, our local bar. Alex was working behind the counter.

"Dude, you okay?" he asked as I sat down.

I nodded mutely. "Can I get a Bud and a SoCo chaser?"

He looked at me curiously, but then nodded. He returned a few moments later with my drinks.

"On the house, Donnie. And let me know if you want to talk."

I nodded again and downed my liquor, dousing the rush of heat with a swig of beer. I forced myself to breathe, and nursed the beer, slowly recovering my senses.

What had I been expecting when this all began? It was only like two weeks ago, but I couldn't easily recall my state of mind at the time, in those few days between seeing Tony's oversized dong and his easy seduction of my wife. I remembered my excitement at the idea of his body against hers. As I replayed the scene I'd just witnessed, I realized the reality was not much different than I had imagined. Except, it was different somehow. I'd been thinking with my dick, and focusing purely on the eroticism of it without taking into account the emotional aspect. At the beginning, I think I was picturing it as just another porn scenario. Hot blonde, hung Black guy, my God, the most fucking cliched fantasy in the world, but with my wife as the main character. It didn't occur to me what it being my wife would actually mean.

I ordered a second beer.

Yet the thing was, the moment I detached myself from the emotion of it, which I could do in sporadic bursts, I was hard as a rock. Holy fuck, it was searingly hot. Had he really made her come by fingering her ass? Did she moan in pleasure when he slapped her tits? Did she beg for more after he spanked her butt red and shredded her pussy? Yes, yes, and fucking, hell yes.

Alex walked over and wiped down the bar in front of me. He was a tall, slender, older dude. Every bar seems to have a guy like him. A lifer. Gray hair, usually glasses, sometimes a mustache, though not in this case.

“So, Donnie, how’s it going?”

I nodded, then shrugged, then sort of stared at him blankly.

“Because,” he continued, “you seem out of sorts. Everything okay at home?”

I felt my features tighten and I hoped he wasn’t a poker player. Even a piker could read that tell.

“Yeah. Sure. I mean. Yeah.”

He picked up an already clean glass and ran his cloth over the exterior.

I sighed. “You married?”

He held up his ringless hand. “Nope. Should I?”

I laughed. It was a dark, barking chuckle, and it caught him off guard. “It’s funny. One of the things we marrieds always say is, ‘Man, thank God I’m married. Not in that whole dating scene. Not dealing with all that drama.’ Except, you know, drama is human. Doesn’t matter if you’re married, single, gay or straight. There’s always drama. And most of it is self-inflicted. I think we look for it when there isn’t any.”

He nodded. “Life would be pretty boring with no drama, wouldn’t it?”

“Yeah,” I said, taking a gulp. “I guess it would.”

There was a lull in the conversation and Alex continued his fake tidying up. Finally, he broke the silence. “How’s your buddy Jeremy doing? Funny thing, he was in a few weeks ago, sort of like you, alone, waxing philosophic.”

“Midlife brings crises, I guess. He’s good. We’re seeing them this weekend. I’ll let him know you asked about him.”

I finished my beer.

“Want another?”

I nodded. “Yeah. And the tab. You wanna know about drama? Show up at home on a weekday afternoon drunk and see how the old lady reacts.”

He grinned. “I bet she loves being called that.”

No, I thought to myself. She likes being called “dirty slut” and “good girl” after she guzzles a load of come.

I took the afternoon to myself. It was lovely out, and I walked almost 8 miles. It cleared my head. And I also realized it was time to come clean. Things with Amanda seemed to be spiraling, and I need to get a hold of the situation before... well, I don't know what. Something.

I had to wait until we were in the bedroom again, getting ready for sleep before I could broach anything. I noted with some irritation that although my wife had made the bed, she hadn't changed the sheets. I wondered if she was thinking she'd get a kick making me sleep on the same linens on which she'd been fucked senseless.

As before, I gave her a few minutes to come clean in response to my open ended, "how was your day?" type questions. She didn't bite, and instead launched into her recently begun, but now almost expected habit, of stripping naked and prancing around for a while.

She was completely shameless. I could still see the redness on her ass, and though this might have been my imagination, I thought that her vulva also seemed more prominent, swollen-still from the abuse she'd taken this morning. Finally, I snapped.

"I'd have thought you'd have spent enough time naked in the bedroom today."

She wheeled on me, eyes twinkling, and a smile that made me think of a cat tormenting a mouse. She strode closer, and then stopped about a yard away, just out of reach, her legs parted slightly wider than natural.

"Whatever do you mean?"

"I saw you. Okay? I fucking saw you and Tony. This morning and last week."

"I know."

"You know? What do you mean you know?"

"I know you were in the house this morning, and in the pool house the last two times."

I shook my head. "How?"

She laughed. "The same way I know Charlie skipped soccer practice last week and went over to Nick's, and that Em has been sneaking time with Taylor when she's supposedly studying with Eleanor. Life 360."

"Oh."

She laughed. "I wouldn't have, um, indulged if I didn't know it was your idea."

"Oh, right. Like I twisted your arm."

She softened and sat down beside me. "Well, you sorta did."

“How so?”

“So, after that first session, I was like, what in the fuck is Donnie up to? What man, in his right mind, sets his wife up with personal training sessions with an absolute stud muffin like Tony?”

“So you admit you’re attracted to him.”

She laughed. “Yeah, big fucking reveal. Sort of like getting you to admit you’re attracted to Scarlett Johansson. He’s a hunk.”

I shrugged in defeat.

She continued, “So I decided to see where you were during the session, and lo and behold, you were in the pool house. So I go in there, and the blinds are drawn just right and the binoculars are on the table. Now, I’m not a rocket scientist like some people, but I can put two and two together. And two and two gave me, not four, but two options. One: You’re testing me. In which case, you’re a manipulative douche and you get whatever you deserve. Two: You want to see me fuck a super hot Black man. From my perspective, either way, I have a hall pass.”

“You didn’t have to use it.”

She laughed. “No, of course not. But, and don’t take this the wrong way, I have fantasies too. And I don’t know if you intuited it and picked someone you knew I’d be hot for... or whether you were just working out your own little fetishes... but Honey, you pushed all my buttons.”

I have to admit, hearing that got me more than a little worked up.

“Yeah? What about him –”

She shook her head. “No. You first. Why did you pick him?”

“I... um... I mean, he’s hot and –”

She shook her head again. “No. You didn’t just pick him because he’s handsome. What is it about him that made you launch into this adventure?”

“I... I...”

She grabbed both my hands and squeezed them tight. “We don’t have any secrets. I mean, even if we did, we don’t now? After what you saw this morning, you can’t think that anything you say will shock me.”

I sighed. “It was in the locker room and I... I saw his dick.”

“Oh,” she said, a little surprised. “Oh, wow, I thought you were going to say something about the whole ebony and ivory thing. But, okay, I...”

“I knew I shouldn’t have said —”

“No. It’s okay. It... I mean, right, of course, you guys are sort of obsessed with that sort of thing.”

“Oh please. I heard you gushing over it the first time, and —”

“Ah, I was wondering about that,” she interrupted. “I didn’t know if you could hear from the pool house, which is why I decided to lure you inside today. But yeah, sure, that was a turn on, his package, I mean, though honestly, until he took it out, I had no idea what I was in for, and by then I was already launched, right?”

I nodded. “I guess so. So what was it that pushed your buttons?”

She blushed, which was quite unexpected, all things considered. “This is hard to admit.”

“Harder than admitting I was turned on by the idea of a man with a huge dick fucking my wife?”

Amanda chuckled. “Not any harder, but, well, fraught. I mean, the big dick thing is, I guess, common and sort of ridiculous. I mean, you know that, right?”

I nodded.

“Mine is... um... more sinister, I guess.”

“What pushed my buttons was... him.”

I got it. “Because he’s black?”

She nodded. “And big and strong. And all those tattoos.”

“Dangerous?” I proposed.

Amanda’s eyes dropped. “Yes. Because I couldn’t stop him if I tried.”

“Okay, I mean, not politically correct, but not sinister either.”

“Of course, it is. It’s the oldest trope in the book, of course. But it’s also something that underpins a lot of ugliness, you know? And honestly, maybe that’s where the appeal comes from. Knowing it is something so fraught.”

“Is it... I mean, something that you personally... I mean, where do you think this comes from? I know where my big dick thing comes from. That’s just your standard male insecurity. And also, just so you know, the fact that he’s Black was a turn on for me too, though I think it was more that I find the visual of it arousing.”

She shook her head. “No. This isn’t some sort of trauma manifesting as fantasy. Or, I don’t know, maybe it is in a sense. It’s just impossible to live in this country without, at some level, picking up the notion that Black men are dangerous and that, well, they are especially dangerous to White women. Just deeply rooted in our culture.”

I laughed. “Look at us. So stuck inside our heads that we can’t just, I mean, just enjoy it, whatever it is. Because it’s all gone according to plan. It’s just that we’re scared of our own desires.”

“Yeah, but Donnie, now you’ve been all weird about it. You sure this has gone according to plan?”

I shrugged. “It has. But, yeah, honestly, it was more intense than I had anticipated. I think I was hoping he’d have to work a little harder. I liked the idea of him seducing you, but then again, I didn’t really put myself in your shoes and consider what might or might not make you want to do it.”

“It’s definitely something that is probably best discussed in advance,” she noted.

“Yeah, but then it’s planned. And, I think that takes some of the excitement out of it.”

“Maybe, but then again, in the moment, with all the physical and visual sensations, I think you’d forget it was arranged in advance. I mean, the fact that you’d set it up didn’t stop you from getting worked up, did it?”

“Ah no.” I squeezed her hand. “I’m sorry. If we ever do something like this again, I’ll use my words first.”

“So, I guess we’re done with this?”

I felt a twinge. It felt like she was probing, but not for a way out.

“Do you still have buttons left to push?” I asked.

“I... promise you won’t be mad?”

“I can’t quite promise that, but I can promise I’ll try my best? That’s the best I can do.”

“I still have buttons. And some of them are nasty.”

Whoa boy, that pressed one of my buttons. Hearing my beautiful, and, I should note, still naked wife saying she had some nasty desires got my heart racing, my blood pumping, and my dick growing.

“Like what?” I asked.

She laughed at my feigned nonchalance. “Did you happen to notice what he did with his finger when I was on top?”

I was rock hard. “He put it in your butt.”

“Maybe part of my fantasy is that a big, strong man like him puts something else in there.”

“Oh God, Honey, you’ve never wanted to try that.”

She shook her head. “No. I’ve never wanted to do it because, well, I have tried it. Once with an old boyfriend, and I didn’t like it.”

“So why now?”

“Because it’s part of the fantasy, you know? Being, um, forced to do something I wouldn’t otherwise do. Being taken that way. And... there’s more.”

“I don’t know if I can take anymore.”

She shook her hand free from mine and palmed my crotch. “Because it would make you too angry or too excited?” She gave my prick a squeeze.

“I think you know the answer to that.”

She slid off the bed and onto her knees on the floor. She pressed up between my thighs and unzipped my pants. She pulled out my cock, dark red and leaking pre-come.

“I guess I do.” She gave it a little lick.

“So... button?”

She grabbed the cuff of my pants and pulled them off me. I stripped off my shirt so that I was naked as well. Then she leaned forward again, pressing her big boobs against my inner thighs. She looked up at me. For some reason, that position, looking up at me from below gave her visage an almost innocent appearance, which contrasted sharply with her nudity and her mouth inches from my prick.

“I don’t just fantasize about being taken by a powerful, Black man. Usually, my fantasy is about being taken by powerful, Black men.”

“Oh God,” I sighed.

“I know,” she giggled. “It’s fucked up.”

“But hot.”

“You think so?”

“Amanda, I can’t think of anything hotter.” It wasn’t so much the scenario itself as the fact that she had that desire. I could feel the urgency building in my balls. “I don’t want to come in your hand.”

“I’m too sore for sex,” she said, which pushed me even closer to the edge. “Do you want to finish in my mouth?”

I shook my head. We’d opened the door to revelations, and it gave me the courage to ask for what I wanted as well.

“I’d, um, like to thrust between your breasts and, um, finish on your face.”

She laughed. “Is that all? You could have asked for that anytime.”

“You’ve done that before?”

She cupped her ample mounds and pressed them together. “Uh, yeah.”

“Why didn’t you offer it?”

She laughed again. “I mean, what do I get out of it? There are plenty of ways for me to get you off that are better for me... and less messy.”

“You don’t have to.”

“I’d be happy to.” She rose up and climbed onto the bed. She crawled into the middle and rolled onto her back. “Come here.”

She guided me so I was straddling her and then dripped saliva into her hands, which she then coated on my cock, making a nice, slippery mix with my pre-come. She rounded her shoulders and pressed her tits together, and then guided my cock between her mounds.

I began to thrust between the warm, fleshy tunnel she’d made for me. The sensation was nice, but it was the visual that really made it erotic: her breasts mashed together, my cock disappearing between them and reappearing at the top. Her grin.

“How many guys have you done this for?”

“A half dozen?”

I groaned. Fucking hell, six guys had tittie-fucked my wife. I thrust harder. My excitement built. Her eyes widened.

“Oh God,” I groaned.

She moved quickly to reposition my prick so my load splashed onto her face, a thick rope that went from her nose to her forehead. The next spurt coated her cheek. A third dribbled onto her chin. She took it into her mouth and sucked my cock gently as the remainder leaked out.

“Seems like you’ve been saving it up,” she joked.

“Oh, wow,” I moaned. And then after a moment, “What can I do for you?”

She looked at me, her face covered in my jism. “My pussy could really use a little TLC. I cleaned up pretty good after this morning, but I’d understand if you didn’t want to.”

I was already sliding down her body before she finished. She spread her legs wide, and I settled between her thighs. Her labia were puffy, though I couldn’t be sure if that was a result of her session with Tony or her current excitement.

I gently licked her slit, and it parted immediately. Her pussy was juicy and darker red than usual. I slowly traced her outer labia and then her inner lips. She moaned softly and gripped the back of my head. I tenderly soothed what Tony had so forcefully abused. She moaned again, her hips beginning to pump slowly. I licked around her clit. She gasped, her body tensing and then relaxing as a wide smile spread across her come-covered face.

“That was nice,” she sighed.

I grinned. And then shuddered.

“Oh fuck, Amanda. I just remembered. Baby, you let him come inside you.”

She nodded. “Both this time and last.”

“I... it’s been a while since we had to worry about it.” I made the snip-snip gesture. “But you can still get pregnant.”

“Oh my God,” she gasped. “You’re right. His big, black dick delivered his potent seed right into my fertile womb.”

My eyes widened, though I also felt a strange erotic stirring.

She laughed and reached into her bedside table. “Just in case you’re wondering, Tony is definitely sponge-worthy. But, you know, if you’d prefer I go without...”

She let it hang in the air, and I knew she was yanking my chain. But it was still hot.

NINE

We met up with Kayla and Jeremy at Donatello's. The food is typical red tablecloth fare, but the decor is modern, and it has a lively atmosphere. We did the hug-hug, kiss-kiss thingy and then sat down, each couple sitting opposite their partner.

I looked Kayla over. She was always put together, just perfect. Big blue eyes and dark, wavy hair. Tonight, she was giving off a bit of an old Hollywood vibe, with dark red lips and arched eyebrows. She wore a red polka dot, halter-top dress. Gene Tierney maybe. Jeremy matched her well, slightly rumpled, his eyes always sparkling like he was thinking of a private joke.

They beat us there and just as we sat down, four glasses of prosecco they'd ordered earlier appeared. We made a toast and left the menus on the table. We all knew it by heart.

Idle chit-chat followed for a bit until the waiter came and took our orders. We'd watched their kids the previous weekend, and Jeremy insisted that meant they'd pick up the tab. In response, I ordered the lobster. Well, not really in response; I was planning to order it regardless. But it made for a good chuckle.

"So," Amanda said, "you guys never told us what you did last weekend."

Kayla and Jeremy exchanged a glance and a smile.

Kayla leaned forward, elbow on the table, hand on her chin. "Well, we have a bit of a story to tell."

Amanda chuckled. "Do tell." She looked ravishing as well in a spaghetti strap floral with plenty of cleavage.

Kayla raised her eyebrows and then leaned back and took another sip of prosecco. "We may actually want to wait until we have a full bottle."

I ostentatiously gulped my glass and signaled for the waiter. "We'll have a bottle of the Gavi... and a bottle of the Barbera."

He nodded.

"That should keep us satisfied," I said.

"I guess we'll Uber home," Amanda chuckled.

“It’ll be worth it,” Jeremy replied.

The waiter quickly returned. We dispensed with the tasting, and he left us with two full bottles. Kayla and I began on the white, Amanda and Jeremy on the red.

I nodded at Kayla. “You were saying?”

She grinned. “I hope you understand this remains between us.”

I laughed. “Are you going to make us pinky swear?”

Amanda leaned forward. “Stop vamping. You’re never going to be able to live up to the buildup. It’s not like we’re Amish, you know?” My wife gave me a side-eyed glance. I kept a poker face.

Kayla turned toward her husband. “This is really more your story than mine,” she said.

“Well, it was your idea.”

Now I jumped in, quickly swallowing my seared octopus, “Spill it. One of you.”

Jeremy aimed his palms at his wife.

Kayla nodded. “So, I don’t know if you know this, but there are some men —”

“Who shall remain nameless,” Jeremy interjected.

“For about the next thirty seconds,” Kayla replied. “Some men who have a strange fantasy about their wives, um, playing with other men.”

I felt my poker face dissolve. I resisted the urge to look at Amanda. Was this some sort of weird set-up? Had Amanda told Kayla everything? Or what?

“Erm, playing?” Amanda asked.

“Playing doctor,” Jeremy said.

Kayla laughed. “No doctor I’ve ever been to.”

“It’s an expression, Sweetie,” he said. “Or as you might say, a trope.”

“I’m not sure it is,” she replied. “More like a platitude.”

“Is there a difference between a trope and platitude?” he asked.

I relaxed a little. Kayla and Jeremy were clearly playing some sort of game with each other.

Amanda pressed the pace, cutting through the overly erudite nonsense. “Are you guys swingers, now?”

Kayla shrugged. "Not quite."

"It's called hotwifing," Jeremy said.

"He," she nodded toward her husband, "likes the idea of me flirting with other men."

I glanced at Amanda. She was suppressing a smile. She raised an eyebrow. I gave her a tiny head shake. I was not ready to share.

"I'd like the idea of a lot more," Jeremy said. "A lot more. But you know Kayla."

Amanda laughed. "I'm not sure we do. Or know you either."

Jeremy shrugged. "Honestly, I didn't know me either. It's just, one day, Kayla came home all distraught and told me she'd flirted with a guy. And, suddenly, it just sparked something."

"Maybe there is something in the water?" Amanda proposed.

I cut that off. "So, what did you say?"

Jeremy replied in a tone that implied the answer was obvious. "I told her she should pursue it."

"Why would you do that?" Amanda asked. She glanced over at me, and I understood that she was also trying to get a better handle on me.

"It's hot?" he proposed.

Kayla jumped in. "I did a lot of research on this, and —"

"Is anyone surprised by that?" Jeremy interjected.

Both Amanda and I shook our heads.

"Yes, I am sorry that I like to be well-informed," Kayla snarked.

"But anyway, although my darling husband does not seem interested in exploring the roots of this, I suspect it is related to the changing role of women in society, and the sense men have that we don't really need them."

"But we need you?" Jeremy asked.

"I didn't say we didn't need each other. I just said that men are worried that women don't need them. Or perhaps, more accurately, men are concerned that women are less dependent on them. And this fantasy is, I suspect, an eroticization of that alarm."

"That makes us seem like chauvinist pigs," I noted.

Amanda shot me a quick peek, and I realized I was coming close to outing myself. I should have said that it made Jeremy look like a chauvinist pig.

Kayla batted that away. “No, not at all. It’s more like it is in the cultural zeitgeist. It’s something you can’t help internalizing in a way. I mean, we all internalize all sorts of things. What it means to be healthy or successful or whatever. We don’t invent all that ourselves.”

Jeremy chuckled. “We were in the midst of a sexy story, and, of course, Kayla has to go all Derrida on us.”

“More like Freud with an assist from Foucault I’d say,” she replied.

Amanda chuckled. “So did you? I mean, go out on the date?”

Kayla shook her head. “No, though we did have fun with the idea, didn’t we?”

Jeremy nodded enthusiastically.

“So just a game between you two?” I asked. And yes, they had oversold it.

“Pretty much,” Kayla said.

She took a sip of wine. I looked over at Amanda who shared my disappointment.

“Until this weekend,” Jeremy said.

I nearly choked on my wine.

They grinned.

“In Vegas,” Kayla added.

“What happened?” I asked.

“Things progressed,” Jeremy replied.

“I had a date. With a man. Whom we met online,” Kayla explained.

“Oh my God,” I sighed. “Stop dragging it out.”

Jeremy held out his hands. “What’s the rush?”

I refilled my glass. “True enough.”

Kayla resumed the story, though proceeding with a little more alacrity. “So, after a lot of talk, and you know how Jer and I like to talk...” both Amanda and I nodded, “we thought it might be fun to experiment with this further. So I created an online profile —”

“We created,” Jeremy emphasized, “if I’d left it up to Kayla she’d have said she was looking for a meet-up to exchange cookie recipes or something.”

Kayla rolled her eyes. “He exaggerates, of course. But he’s right that left to my own devices, my profile would not have described me as a ‘bored wife looking for excitement,’ much less included a picture of me... from behind... in a thong.”

My dick began to stiffen. I should mention that Kayla has an epic ass. Not much up top, but a booty for the ages, even if I hadn’t actually seen her in anything more, or perhaps I should say, anything less, than a conventional bikini.

Amanda laughed. “That must have been popular.”

Kayla nodded. “Yes. Men are nothing if not predictable.”

Jeremy chuckled. “Would it be better if we were erratic?”

“Somehow, you guys manage to be both,” his wife retorted. “In any case, yes, we were quite flooded with responses offering excitement. It is fascinating how many men felt that somehow excitement would correlate with the size of their phallus.”

Amanda glanced at me, a smile playing over her lips, and I quickly averted my gaze.

“We deleted the dick pics,” Kayla said.

“I may have saved a few of those emails, actually,” Jeremy replied.

Kayla rolled her eyes. “Yes, well, have fun with your explorations in bisexuality then. May I continue my story?” He nodded. “We did hear from one guy who did seem interesting. He was a bored husband and also looking for excitement. He didn’t send a dick pic, but instead described what he meant by excitement.”

“Which was?” Amanda asked.

Jeremy laughed. “You know Kayla. I’m sure you can guess. He wanted someone to talk to. To explore new ideas. Someone who would challenge him. Break him out of tired routines. He said that after twenty years of marriage, he knew what his wife would say in response to everything he said. He wanted to be surprised again.”

“Yes,” Kayla acknowledged. “The brain is the most erotic organ. But let’s not get crazy. That worked too because he’s really handsome. You know, George Clooney handsome.”

Amanda nodded appreciatively.

Jeremy chuckled and puffed up his chest. “Yes, my sweetie does have her type.”

Kayla laughed. “I think you’re more a Benedict Cumberbatch type.”

“I can live with that,” he replied.

“Can you go on?” Amanda prompted.

“I didn’t want to waste all the surprises on texting, so pretty quickly we agreed to meet up. Which brings us to Vegas.” She turned toward her husband. “Would you like to continue?”

He nodded, but waited until the waiter had cleared the table of appetizers and brought out the main course to continue.

“So, there we were in Vegas,” he began in his best announcer voice. “We got a room at the Cosmo. They have this really swanky bar, multistory, purple strands of lights. Great people watching. We got in Friday and just sort of walked around the strip. Then back to the hotel room, where, erm, let’s just say we had some fun thinking about her date the next day. Now, I wasn’t sure Kayla was actually planning to go through with it. So, when we got up the following morning, and she was all agitated and nervous, I was like, holy shit, she’s actually going to do this!”

“I wasn’t that nervous,” she protested.

Jeremy laughed. “Yes she was. And honestly, that made me nervous too. You know, it’s all fun and games until you get someone else involved.”

I forced myself to not make eye contact with my wife.

“But isn’t that the whole point?” Amanda asked.

He nodded. “Yeah, but it’s weird. It’s a fantasy. And even if you really, really think you want it to happen, you have doubts.”

Woo boy, could I relate to that. Still, I held my tongue.

“The minute I realized it might happen,” he continued, “I started reassuring myself there was still plenty of time to back out. You know, all day. Except, it didn’t feel like all day. It felt like, I dunno, an instant, because suddenly, before I knew it, Kayla was going back up to the room to get ready for her date. And then, again, in like the blink of an eye, she was ready.”

“What look did you go for?” Amanda asked Kayla.

But Jeremy answered. “Party girl. Painted-on short black dress, smokey cat eyes, glossy red lipstick, thigh highs, stilettos.”

Kayla shrugged. “Vegas standard.”

“So they’re meeting at the bar, the snazzy one. I followed her in at a discreet distance. But you know, it’s a mob scene. Unless we were holding hands, no one would know we were together. But I kept my distance. She’s texting with him and they're coordinating their meeting spot, and then bam, they almost run into each other."

"What did you guys say to each other?" Amanda asked.

"You must be Mick. You must be Kayla. That sort of thing. A bit awkward, honestly," Kayla said.

"But they became friends fast," Jeremy said.

Kayla shrugged. "He was really easy to talk to. Like there was a few minutes of forced conversation, but then he started talking about travel, and we compared notes."

"They had some drinks," Jeremy continued. "And then she started laughing."

Kayla smiled at the memory, and in a strange way, I think that would have been harder to take than what I actually saw with Amanda and Tony. In our case, it was just sex. Intense at times, romantic at others, very passionate, very erotic, but I'd never seen anything that suggested a real connection beyond the physical. But Kayla's smile hinted at more. I wondered if Jeremy saw it too, and whether it triggered any difficult emotions for him.

"Was he telling jokes?" I asked.

Kayla shook her head. "No. Stories really. He has a great eye for detail. Very sardonic."

Jeremy snorted. "Wasn't one of the stories about an elephant erection he saw in Chiang Mai?"

She smiled again. My heart ached in sympathy.

"Anyway, another round, more laughing. And at this point, they're hanging on each other's every word."

Kayla didn't deny it and her eyes gleamed.

"And then," Jeremy said, "he leaned in for a kiss."

Kayla's smile widened, and it felt almost like I was there.

"Was he a good kisser?" my wife asked.

"Electric," Kayla swooned.

I looked at Jeremy, trying to gauge his reaction. It was difficult. He maintained a studied nonchalance, but I couldn't help but wonder if it was a mask. My own experience made me doubt that he could remain so imperturbable.

“They kept leaning in closer and closer,” Jeremy continued. “They got more intense. More serious. Deep eye contact.”

Kayla chuckled. “Or so my husband imagined.”

“So he was wrong?” Amanda asked.

Kayla shrugged enigmatically. I didn’t know what to make of that.

Jeremy nodded at me. “It gets worse.”

“What?” I said.

“She’s a cipher that one.”

Kayla shrugged again. “A riddle wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma.”

“He put his hand on her thigh. Did I imagine that too?”

“First on my knee, then on my thigh. I always do love it when a man discovers the stocking tops and the bare skin beyond.”

Amanda fanned herself. “Oh my.”

I felt the same.

Jeremy continued. “Then, suddenly they both got up, and I was like, oh shit, it’s going down.”

Kayla laughed. “Hubs was so worked up he forgot that Mick and I had dinner reservations.”

“I followed them out, thinking they were going back to our room or something. But instead, they ended up at Zuma. Japanese place. Swanky. They got a dark table in the back. I sat at the bar, but couldn’t really see them much, except when I went to the bathroom.”

Kayla grinned. “He walked past us so many times that Mick joked the poor guy must have the runs.”

“He didn’t,” Jeremy said.

Kayla rolled her eyes. “Jocularly sometimes passes over my darling’s head.”

“Then what happened?” I asked. I was rapt, and I didn’t want them slipping back into their Nick and Nora Charles routine.

Jeremy shrugged. “I don’t know. I mean, they were very intimate during dinner. Really close together. Very intense.”

My wife turned to Kayla. “So, dish.”

“We had a lovely dinner,” Kayla said.

“And then what?” I demanded.

“We went for a walk,” she replied.

“Where?” Amanda asked.

Kayla smirked, silent.

Jeremy stared at his wife.

“I don’t get it,” I said.

Jeremy shook his head. “She won’t tell me. They, um, ditched me. They paid their bill without me noticing, and by the time I could settle up, they were gone.”

“Kayla!” Amanda hissed. “What happened?”

She shrugged.

Jeremy shook his head. “She didn’t get back until late. After 2:30am. She won’t tell me what happened.”

I turned to Amanda. She was incredulous. “Are you serious?” she asked.

“As a heart attack.”

Jeremy laughed. “She’s crazy.”

“And you love it,” his wife chimed back.

TEN

We had to ask the restaurant to reheat our food. Our repeated entreaties could not break her will. Kayla would not tell us what she'd done with Mick after dinner. It was maddening, and yet, I could see how it worked for Jeremy. The mystery clearly had him hooked.

Their Uber came before ours, and we talked as we waited out on the street.

"So what do you think happened?" I asked.

"She fucked him," Amanda said.

"How do you know?"

"I don't! But I doubt Jeremy was making up the chemistry he witnessed, and you don't just turn that off, not after a bunch of drinks, and not after it's been part of your fantasy play for weeks before. No. She totally fucked him."

"I dunno," I replied. "He made it seem like she'd pretended before too."

"I think she's just having fun dragging it out. Imagine how wild it must be making him."

"I don't have to. Fuck, that was a hot story." I laughed. "We should have come clean."

Amanda shook her head. "That'd be like announcing you're pregnant at your sister's wedding. And anyway, I didn't want to break the flow. They're good, those two. When she talked about his hand on her thigh...."

"Me too," I admitted. "And if we're that worked up over it...."

Amanda glanced back toward the alley behind us. "Think we have time for a...."

But we didn't. The driver pulled up just then.

I crab walked to hide my erection. Had my wife just suggested a quickie behind a dumpster?

We got in the back seat, and Amanda reached into my lap. She gripped my boner.

“Driver,” she said, “my husband and I have had quite an exciting evening. Would you mind if I sucked his cock while you drove us home?”

He wheeled around. His eyes peeked into my lap, then at Amanda’s face, and then his gaze disappeared into her cleavage.

“Show me those tits and you can do whatever you want.”

She smiled and quickly slipped her spaghetti straps off her shoulder. She reached into her dress and pushed down her bra, lifting up her big boobs and presenting them to him as if on a platter. My cock went from hard to throbbing.

He whistled. “Fuck dude, you are a lucky man.” He turned back around and put the car in drive.

Amanda raised an eyebrow and then dipped down into my lap. She unzipped my pants and pulled out my raging erection. She swallowed me deep. I groaned in delight.

“Hey lady, one thing. If he blows, you gotta swallow it. Don’t want a mess in my backseat.”

I caught his eye in the rearview mirror. He gave me a wink.

I didn’t come. It would have been too awkward, and the ride was too short besides. I paused out front of our house to allow my hardon to abate before we went inside. I needn’t have worried. Our kids were quite preoccupied, and not even a little interested in what sorts of shenanigans their parents might be up to. We gave them quick goodnights and ducked into our bedroom.

I grabbed Amanda and pulled her into an embrace. She ground against me and my dick stiffened again. I yanked down her top and sucked her nipples hard. She hissed and roughly rubbed my cock through my pants. I reached under her dress and into her panties from behind. I squeezed her ass and then explored between her legs, finding her swollen and soaking wet.

I dropped to my knees. She draped the dress over my head and raised her leg, resting her hamstring on my shoulder. I pulled aside her panties and lapped at her hot, wet cunt. She humped against my face.

“Fuck, I want you now,” I growled.

I began to rise up, cupping her ass, I lifted her off the ground and threw her onto the bed. No way I could wait to take off our clothes. Madly scrambling to take off my pants, I climbed on top of her, ready to bury my raging erection inside her. But she had other ideas.

She placed her hands on my chest. “Slow down cowboy. You need to do something first.”

I groaned. “Later.”

“Now.”

I sighed and moved down between her legs again, planning to eat her to a climax before she’d allow me my fun. But she stopped me.

“No, not that.”

I groaned in frustration.

She chuckled and rolled me off her. I lay on my back on the bed, my pants around my thighs, prick jutting upward. She rose and disappeared into the bathroom. It took her a few minutes. I was of half a mind to just jerk myself off. My balls were aching. I needed relief.

She returned a moment later holding a carefully rolled towel. I had no idea what she was planning. And it was a shock when she spread out the contents: a tube of lube, a slender, sliver dildo and three butt plugs, each with a different faux jewel base: A narrower one with an emerald base, a larger one with a diamond, and a massive one with a thick stem topped by a ruby.

I looked up at her. She smirked. “You need to get my ass ready for Tony. I’ll need to be able to take the ruby by Monday, but tonight you can fuck me with the emerald in.”

I couldn’t tell whether she was more excited about tormenting me or about her trainer’s cock. But she was excited. And that was exciting to me. I wasn’t sure that Kayla’s theorizing about male fragility was correct. It seemed to me that what got us men hot about the cuckold fantasy was less some sort of bank-shot argument about the eroticization of anxiety over gender relations and more, you know, about the fact that thinking about, talking about, flirting with, and actually fucking other men got our women hot and wet.

Amanda yanked her dress over her head. She was naked beneath; she’d removed her bra and panties in the bathroom. She climbed up onto the bed, got on her hands and knees, and shook her ass at me. My five senses registered her arousal. I could smell her excitement. See it in her juicy and swollen pussy. I felt her wetness. I'd already tasted it. And now, as she rolled her hips and told me to get her ready, I could hear the hunger in her low, raspy tone.

"Eat my ass," she growled, reaching back and spreading her cheeks.

My dick ached. Like most men, I had something of an anal obsession. She'd made clear, early on, that butt stuff was off the table, and knew now that a bad experience early on had soured her. I accepted it, and consigned those thoughts to the realm of fantasy. And honestly, I knew I liked the idea of it – the transgressiveness, the dirtiness, the submissiveness – more than the reality. So, being suddenly confronted with a demand for anilingus, I hesitated.

Amanda insisted, "Eat my ass or you can jerk yourself off with no help from me."

My dick ached and her wet pussy was so enticing that I couldn't resist. At that moment, I'd have done almost anything to plunge into her juicy cunt. I leaned forward, and grabbed her ass, sinking my fingers into her firm cheeks. She grunted in pain, but I knew she could take rougher, much rougher, treatment, and I knew also that the ache would make the pleasure to come that much better for her.

I flicked my tongue over her anus. She arched her back and raised her head. "Ahhh ahhh," she cried out, her hips pumping.

Her excited reaction fueled my arousal. I licked her asshole again, swirling my tongue over her crinkled bud. I wrenched her cheeks apart making her hiss. Her hole gaped slightly. I pressed my tongue inside. She bucked up and down. I licked her all around and dribbled spit into her back door, spreading it around with my thumb.

"Ohhhh, ohhhh, ohhhh," she moaned.

I pushed my thumb inside her. She gasped, her sphincter spasming against my digit.

I pumped my thumb in and out of her ass.

"Slow, Baby," she sighed, her voice a sultry contralto.

But she'd inflamed me well past the point of moderation. And I knew, also, that she could take it, and would need to take it when Tony was ramming his thick pipe into her butthole.

“Shut up,” I growled.

I pressed my forearm into her lower back and forced her flat onto the mattress. I grabbed the lube off the towel and squeezed a gob into her ass crack. I followed it with two fingers, plunging into her ass.

She whined at the intrusion, but her body writhed sensuously. And as I probed her ass, she reached between her legs and began rubbing her clit.

I grabbed the smallest buttplug, which was still wider than my fingers. I pressed it against her asshole, slowly twisting it in.

“Ah, ah, ah,” she gasped.

I stared as her asshole stretched around the egg-shaped plug. She moaned, sighed, and growled. I pressed it in, too aroused for doubt. Her ass seemed to clutch at the bulbous intruder, sucking it in, her ass closing in on the stem.

“Oh, wow,” she sighed.

I goggled at the sight of it, the emerald green jewel in the place of her orifice. She rubbed her clit, her ass rising and falling. I dropped down on top of her, my legs forcing hers apart. I thrust upward, my cock finding her drenched pussy. I sank into her.

“Ohhhh,” she sighed.

Laying my weight on her, I began humping her juicy hole. And in that moment, that’s all she was to me. Not my wife. Not the mother of my children. Just a wet hole in which to rut and nut.

She got there before me. Still rubbing her clit, with a plug deep in her ass, and my cock slamming into her pussy, Amanda growled, her body squirming beneath me, her cunt spasming on my prick. I grunted, my orgasm so intense it blurred my vision. It felt as if I was emptying my entire existence into her, a complete voiding of mind and body.

“Oh fuck. Oh fuck,” I gasped.

We writhed together until my prick softened and slipped from her gushing twat. I rolled off her onto my back. She pressed up against me, her leg over mine, her head on my chest. She was dripping sweat. I reached down and cupped her ass, my finger tracing the outline of the buttplug still in her ass.

She licked my nipple and chuckled. “I think you like being married to a slut.”

I slapped her ass. “Fuck, you’re a sexy, nasty bitch.”

She glanced up at me. “I haven’t even started being nasty.”

My cock twitched.

Maybe I was eroticizing some weird psychological fear. Or maybe I was just having the best sex of my life. All I knew is that I wasn’t scared or conflicted anymore. I wanted Tony to ream my wife’s ass. I wanted him to make her scream and beg. Because I knew that, in the end, I’d get a mind-blowing encounter out of it.

ELEVEN

Sunday morning we had plans to brunch with my parents. I love my parents, of course, but the whole thing is a chore every time. My mother is impossible. I can't remember the last time she didn't complain at a restaurant, but she also always insists we go out. Presumably my folks also love each other, although who knows? Maybe they're just too bound by inertia to imagine life apart, but they spend most of their time bickering, which is exhausting. And, our kids don't much like these outings either, not least of all because it gets them out of bed before noon on the only day during the week when they can otherwise sleep in. It's one of those things we do once a month because, well, it's one of those things we do once a month. No one really seems to enjoy it, but it is apparently unthinkable to consider just not.

So, I'd finally gotten the kids up, showered, and hustled out to the car. We'd only be fifteen minutes late, which I counted as a kind of victory, even though I knew it would still provoke snarky comments from my folks.

I was standing on the stoop when Amanda summoned me inside.

"Honey, can you come back in?"

I glanced at my watch, although I knew the time, and rolled my eyes.

"We're already late," I shouted back, tapping my foot in frustration, conscious that I was acting like a character out of a sitcom.

My wife did not come out.

"Amannnnda," I pleaded.

Still nothing.

"Goddamn it," I snarled.

I went back inside. Amanda was just standing there in the foyer.

"Amanda, we're already late, what are you d—"

She silenced me by raising the hem of her pale blue, sheath dress. Higher and higher, exposing her shapely legs and creamy skin. Higher still until I could see she wore no panties. Then with the fabric bunched around her waist, she spun in place and bent at the waist, and I could see the diamond tip of the second largest butt plug in her ass.

It was just a flash, but enough to get me hard. She released the fabric and strode toward the door, a big smile on her face. Her hand brushing my crotch on the way past. She went outside.

I closed my eyes and took a half-dozen deep, slow breaths, willing my erection to subside. I followed after her and settled into the driver’s seat. She didn’t look at me, instead staring straight ahead, but with that same grin on her face.

My mom sent back her salmon. She and my dad argued about who had broken the recliner. Our son kept giggling at memes and then slamming down his phone if anyone asked what he was laughing about. Our daughter grouched that all of her friends were going thrifting and she was missing out. And it didn’t affect me even one bit.

All I could think about was my wife, bare assed, with a plug the size of a plum lodged in her rectum. It was like I was a middle schooler again, afflicted with uncontrollable erections. But also not like a middle schooler in the sense I’d be taking the object of my affection home before too long and ravishing her.

Amanda ignored me almost the whole time. It was a particularly effective form of teasing. No wry grin or raised eyebrow to acknowledge and defuse the tension with a touch of humor. She was letting me stew in my own juices, and stew I did.

On the way home, I offered to drop off the kids to meet up with their friends. Em took me up on the offer. Charlie didn’t, but then again, I knew he’d likely make a bee line for the basement and the game console. Happily he did just that.

But infuriatingly, instead of meeting me upstairs in the bedroom as I might have hoped, Amanda decided that right now was the right time to do laundry in the room right beside the game console. I was shaking as I approached her.

“What are you doing?” I hissed.

She answered blank-faced, “Linens?”

I had to admire her sangfroid. I grabbed her hand. “Come upstairs.”

She held her ground. “The laundry won’t do itself.”

I leaned in close. “My dick won’t suck itself either.”

Amanda chuckled. "That sounds like a you problem, not a me problem."

"Tell you what. You come upstairs now, and I'll do the laundry."

"Throw in dinner and you have a deal."

I rolled my eyes. "Okay, fine."

I took her hand and led her upstairs. Happily our kid didn't seem to notice, or maybe he just had the common sense to ignore his parent's weirdness. I dragged my wife into our bedroom and shut and locked the door behind me.

"My God, Donnie, it's like two o'clock on a Sunday afternoon. What's gotten into you?"

"It's more what has gotten into you," I said, bending low to grab the hem of her dress, pulling it over her body.

She let me strip her.

"Are we talking about Tony's cock or my cute little toy?"

"Little?" I said.

I reached behind her and unsnapped her bra. Her full breasts spilled out. She was completely naked, while I remained fully clothed.

"Are you going to participate in any of this?" I asked.

She put her hand on her hip and sighed. "I guess I did make a deal."

I took a step back. "I don't want to force you into anything."

Amanda smirked. "Oh my, you don't take well to teasing. Imagine if you were poor Jeremy. You'd explode."

"Yes, I probably would."

"And yet, I am sorta enjoying the power dynamic right now. Here I am, naked, completely vulnerable, and somehow I think I could get you to beg for it if I wanted to."

She got a wicked gleam in her eyes as she said it.

"Yes, well, as they say, women have half the money and all of the pussy in the world."

"That seems like the kind of comment that is liable to get you canceled."

I groaned. "Baby, you are standing there naked with a butt plug in your ass. Aren't you even a little horny?"

She reached down between her legs and slid a finger into her pussy. In and out, in and out, and then she held it out to me. I sucked her finger into my mouth, savoring her taste.

“Mmmm,” I sighed.

“There’s more where that came from.” She placed her hands on my shoulders and pushed me to my knees. I buried my face in her snatch, licking and sucking with abandon.

“You service me, and I service Tony. Does that turn you on?”

“Yes,” I admitted, but it struck me, as I looked up at her that the idea was turning her on even more. And it also made me realize that I seemed to be spending a lot of time recently in this position, something I don’t think we’d ever done in our previous decades together. Of course, I’d gone down on her many times, but not on my knees, not with her standing and looking down at me.

“Because his dick is bigger than yours?”

My cheeks burned. I didn’t want to talk. I wanted to fuck. I wanted to get her going and then throw her down and have my way with her. I sucked on her clit.

She hissed. “You’re good with your mouth,” Amanda teased. “You wouldn’t need to be if you were hung like him.”

I gave her what she wanted to hear, and maybe what I wanted to hear too. “You like his dick better than mine?”

“Yes,” she said, and I didn’t know if she was telling the truth or yanking my chain. But it didn’t matter. It seared. My face reddened. “He’s a stud. The kind of man every woman dreams of. The kind of man we want to pleasure. The kind of man who can truly take and possess us.”

“And what am I?”

She sighed and grabbed the back of my head. She didn’t need to say it. I felt a rush of humiliation and anger, and also still more excitement. I knew it was a game, or at least I hoped it was... or maybe I hoped it wasn’t, but I needed to pretend it was.

She moaned louder, her hips thrusting faster. My face was covered in her juices. I’d never seen her this wet, this totally aroused. She grabbed my hair, tight in her fist, threatening to yank it from my scalp.

“That’s it, Baby, keep working that tongue. Get it in there, nice and deep.”

I could barely breathe. She was smothering me with her sex. And then she let out a feral growl. Her body shook. I could see her cunt spasm before my eyes.

“Oh yeah. Oh fucking yeah,” she moaned.

As she came down, she pulled me away from her pussy. I gazed up at her, my face glazed with her fluids. Her eyes were glassy, lips pursed, breathing hard. So fucking sexy.

She smirked and released me. She’d been holding me so tightly that I almost fell on my ass. She turned and walked over to the bed. She lay down and pulled her knees to her chest, exposing her swollen gash and the jeweled toy in her ass.

My eyes played over her sexy body. Our gazes met. She tapped her pussy. But there was no urgency in her gesture, no spark, it was more like... like she was bored. Like she just wanted me to get it over with.

I got up and waddled over to her. I dropped trou. She didn’t look at me. Fucking bitch. I was going to fuck her into next week.

I plunged into her. She was hot and wet and swollen, and it almost felt as if she’d already been fucked, already had a load or two inside her, like I was getting sloppy seconds. I knew it was just her arousal and my tongue. But I couldn’t shake the intrusive thought that Tony’s massive prick had ruined her. That she’d never really enjoy sex with me again. I thrust it again, and felt the hardness of the plug in her ass. Another hole that Tony would soon ruin.

I gasped, “shit.” My cock erupted inside my wife. So much for fucking her into next week. I was a literal two-pump chump.

Rolling onto the bed, I expected her to cuddle me. Instead, she sat up, slowly shook her head, and stood up. She grabbed her dress, pulled it over her head, and glanced over at me.

“Don’t forget about laundry and dinner. I think I’m going to go over to Kayla’s and talk about... things.”

TWELVE

A promise is a promise, so I did three loads of laundry, and put out some chicken breasts to thaw and marinade. But I also stewed. Amanda and I had moved into some sort of weird power game. As my wife had noted, he Dommed her and she Dommed me. This wasn't what I'd signed up for.

Or... was it? I mean, what else had I expected when I set up my wife with a muscular stud with a massive cock? In doing so, I was advertising my inadequacy. I wasn't just inviting the comparison, but almost demanding it. And once she experienced him, how could she not hold me in contempt?

So, that was it. This was my life from now on.

When Amanda came home, I braced myself for more humiliation. Surely I'd done the laundry wrong, and had fucked up the chicken.

She didn't look like the vixen who'd left a few hours earlier. She'd changed into casual garb, yoga pants and a long-sleeved tee. Her hair was in a ponytail. She smiled at me and came over and gave me a hug and kiss. She peeked at the chicken.

"Smells good."

"Thanks," I replied, wondering when the other shoe would drop.

"Need help folding the sheets?"

I nodded. "Sure."

We went downstairs and began folding.

"Thank you for doing the laundry," she said. "If you help me carry it up, I'll put it away."

I was increasingly puzzled. Had Tony's cock induced some sort of split personality disorder? A few hours ago, she was a taunting virago, but now she was back to normal.

"Did you see Kayla?" I asked.

She nodded and laughed. "Couldn't get her to come clean on anything. Though she did hint that they did more than kiss."

"How'd she hint that?"

"She said something about how she found men's hands sexy."

"So, you think they, um –"

“Yeah,” she interjected. “I’m pretty sure he got to third base.”

“I think that refers to hummers?”

Amanda shrugged. “I’ve always thought it referred to fingering.”

“So what base is a blowjob?”

“That’s a home run, no?” she said. “Dick in any orifice in a homer. Anyway, she’s having more than a little fun keeping her secrets.”

I nodded. I placed a folded sheet in a basket, turning my back to my wife for a moment. I used that distance to ask my question, “And what are you having fun doing?”

She didn’t answer until I turned back to look at her.

“Donnie... I think we need to discuss ground rules. Because, like, right now, I don’t know how you’d like me to answer that. Are you asking for a serious discussion? Or...”

She removed her scrunchy and dramatically shook out her hair while at the same time rolling her hips and pressing her palm down over her abdomen, “Or, do you want me to tell you how I masturbated thinking about Tony forcing his huge cock into my tight, little ass?”

I shivered. It was terrifying how quickly she code-switched, and easily it affected me. I wanted both. I wanted both a conversation about boundaries and to hear her lurid sexual talk. But, she was right, we needed to talk.

“Boundaries,” I acknowledged.

She nodded and returned her hair to the ponytail. “First thing you need to know is, it’s not an act. I’m not just making shit up to turn you on. When I’m in the moment, whether it is when I am with Tony, or when I have a butt plug in my ass, or when we’re fucking while talking about him, I’m being authentic. I mean, not one hundred percent, of course. I know that I’m playing to an audience – more than one actually – but I am not putting on a mask. Do you understand?”

I nodded. “You’re letting real sentiments through. Like when you say you like his cock more than mine?”

“In that moment? Yes,” she admitted. “But the context is important. It’s in a moment of lust, when I am thinking about him, about how sex with him feels and makes me feel. But it’s like a fever. It’s a delirious sensation, but then it breaks, and when I think back on it, it seems absurd. Like who is that fucking crazy woman going on and on about a stupid penis. It's ridiculous. It's not so much that it is untrue, but it is meaningless."

"That's hard for me to completely grasp, because, as you say, you are tapping into something real."

"Okay, so think of it another way. You like to go to Vegas with your college buddies, right?"

I nodded.

"And you guys act like a bunch of fucking idiots, right? Getting drunk, talking shit about girls, who the fuck even knows what you get up to in a strip club. I don't want to know. I don't care. I mean, you're not putting on an act with them, or with me when you're not with them. You're real in both places, even if those two parts of you are not integrated. We all have multiple personalities in a sense, don't we? And we can, to a certain extent, control which we choose to inhabit at any moment, although, of course, not completely. Distinguishing between that is what we mean by appropriate behavior. What you and I are doing here is, in a sense, exposing each other to parts of ourselves that until now we'd deemed either private – not to be shared at all – or confined to a different context – not be shared with each other in particular."

"This sounds a lot like Kayla," I noted.

"She helped me crystalize some thoughts, yes. But it feels right, doesn't it?"

"Yeah," I admitted, "it does. But honestly, that makes things a little scary, don't you think? It means we can't pretend it was all just fantasy play."

Amanda nodded. "Right. But I think that's also what makes it exciting. I mean, imagine if we had fantasies that were really incompatible. Like, I don't know, necrophilia. Now, I'd like to think I am a giving person and that if you, like, really wanted me to take a cold bath and just lay still while you had sex with me, I'd do it. But, I mean, at some level you'd know I wasn't into it, and that would diminish your enjoyment."

I laughed. "I'm not sure that is a good example because, you know, the whole point would be specifically that you were just an inanimate object. But yeah, right. I'm guessing we've both, at one point or another, done things purely to humor someone else, and yes, the person being humored can tell.”

“So that’s part of the risk/reward dynamic,” she noted. “And that is something we need to consider. Do we feel sick afterward? I mean, not just a little embarrassed or uncomfortable, but having real regrets. Then it’s no good.”

“Have you been having real regrets?” I asked.

She shook her head but at the same time replied, “Yes.”

I laughed. “Holy mixed signals Batman.”

Amanda grinned at me. “I don’t have regrets about my actions. Like, I don’t think about things I did with Tony and wish I hadn’t. No buyer’s remorse on that end. But I’ve had twinges because I haven’t always been sure you’re enjoying it. And I would regret it if I’d hurt you. So, Donnie, have I?”

I nodded my head, but also said, “no.”

She laughed.

“Be serious,” she said.

“I am. This is hard. I feel like I am bearing my soul more than you. I mean, you had sex with a hot stud. And yes, I know that some of that was fraught because the fantasies you have are rooted in some dark concepts. But that’s sort of abstract, you know? Like it implicates, very indirectly, your self-conception about justice or something. But my fantasies are grounded in very personal vulnerabilities and insecurities. At worst, you’re going to feel bad about being a hypocrite of some sort. But,” I shook my head slowly, “that’s not the same as feeling weak or inadequate. That’s where the visceral power of the fantasy comes from.”

“I’m not sure where that leaves us,” she noted.

“I don’t think it leaves us anywhere inherently. I mean, yes, you hurt me. But it’s precisely that pain that makes it so intense. And it’s self-reinforcing, you know? I’m angry at feeling inadequate, and that makes me so excited that I can’t even control myself, which, you know, makes me feel even more inadequate.”

She chuckled. “You do know that’s not how I see it, right? Like, for me, getting you so worked up and you’re begging for it, and so excited that you come right away is a huge turn-on. It’s funny that guys never seem to understand that. We like making you come as much as you like making us come.”

We stared at each other over the remaining pile of unfolded sheets. She picked up the end of a fitted king sheet, and I grabbed the other. We began folding in a practiced pattern.

“Okay, so, I guess this is on you a bit,” she said. “Because you’re right, I’m not as conflicted as you, and my conflict is really more about your reaction than anything else. So is this too much?”

I laughed. “I don’t even know. I mean, even that question is difficult, right? Because in a sense you’re asking me if I am too weak to handle some fantasy play with my wife. And yes, I know you didn’t say that. It’s just how it makes me feel. And on the one hand, I do want to shut it all down. But on the other hand, I sorta want to prove I can take it. You know?”

“That seems like a strange argument. I mean, why would you want to prove that you can suffer? To what end?”

“Right, except, it’s not just that, of course. There is a real thrill in watching. Not just in the purely voyeuristic sense, but in the sense of seeing how you respond to him. It’s hot.”

“It is,” she agreed. “So does he come over tomorrow morning, or no?”

“Yes.”

“Are you sure?”

I laughed and shook my head. “Yes.”

She rolled her eyes. “Be serious.”

“Yes,” I said firmly.

“Okay.”

We folded another sheet.

“We need a safe word,” she said. “If either one of us says it, the scene shuts down. If I say it, you come to my rescue. If you say it, I stop whatever I am doing. Deal?”

I glanced around the basement and lighted upon an old sled in the corner. “Toboggan.”

“Okay, toboggan. And,” she continued, “we probably need a start word. Something that signals we’re playing.”

“I dunno. That seems forced,” I replied. “You’re right, we need a shut-off switch, but I sort of feel like a ‘ladies and gentlemen, start your engines’ is forced. I mean, if either one of us is in the mood to play, we can just play, and if the other person thinks things are going downhill, then toboggan it is.”

“I just don’t want any mixed signals,” she said.

I laughed. “I don’t think we’ve been missing much. I mean, I didn’t need to be a rocket scientist to figure out that you flashing me your bare coochie and showing me a buttplug in your ass meant you were up to something.”

Amanda laughed. “That was a little overkill.”

I shook my head, “No. Just the right amount.”

“Just so you know, that will always be a reliable sign.” She blushed. “I had some trepidation about butt stuff, you know. But holy hell, having a sex toy in there really gets me going. I just feel so sexy and so lewd.”

“Is it in now?”

She shook her head. “No... but tomorrow....”

“Tomorrow Tony comes over.”

“Yeah.”

She raised an eyebrow at me, offering me the chance to back out. All it would take was one word. I smiled and took the folded sheet and placed it in the basket.

“I guess I better bring this upstairs and get that chicken going.”

With our conversation still playing in my head and the knowledge that in less than twelve hours she had another training session with Tony, I expected fireworks in the bedroom.

But when I arrived, Amanda was already in bed, wearing conservative, pink, button-down PJs, and reading a murder mystery. Her hair was still in a ponytail, and she had on reading glasses. She looked very staid, and it was hard for me to square that with the woman from this morning going out to brunch sans panties and with a bulbous sex toy in her ass.

I wondered if she was resting up in preparation for tomorrow. I didn't know how that made me feel, although I realized that just because she had a lover didn't mean she had to be sexually available to me at all times. And in a strange way, I was sort of relieved. Well, sort of. Disappointed as well in a sense.

I brushed my teeth and flossed and changed into my own PJs and joined her in bed. I picked up my Kindle and resumed reading a book on 1970s movies. I glanced over at Amanda. She smiled at me and went back to her book.

We settled into our comfortable nighttime routine. As the clock ticked to eleven, first I, and then she went to the bathroom one last time. When she returned, I placed my Kindle on the nightstand, and she turned out the light.

We met beneath the covers, face-to-face. She leaned forward and kissed me gently on the lips. Now it was up to me to reciprocate if I wanted more. I kissed her as well, my hand caressing her cheek. I could barely make out her smile in the darkness. She scooted in closer, pressing her body against mine. I wrapped my arm around her, my palm in the small of her back. Her tongue flicked out. I kissed her longer, more passionately. Her hand slipped down between us and into my bottoms. She gripped my cock and stroked it slowly as it stiffened. I pressed my hand into her PJs and squeezed her ass. It was our mating routine. Predictable and well-practiced.

As she handled my penis, I began to unbutton her top. She kissed my neck. I peeled open her shirt and palmed a full breast. She moaned softly as my hand caressed her nipple.

"We should get naked," she proposed.

I agreed and we disengaged for a moment to strip off our remaining PJs. Then naked, we resumed our kissing. I kissed her lips, her chin, her throat. I rolled her onto her back and then slid on top of her. She spread her legs to accommodate me. I kissed my way down her luscious body, taking my time to worship her perfect breasts, sucking on each glorious swollen nipple. She moaned softly and ran her fingers through my hair.

I glanced up at her and smiled, and then kissed between her breasts, down over her belly, across her downy, pale muff, until I found her shaved slit. I licked it gently, and it cleaved open. She moaned louder as my tongue traced her labia, and still louder as I ran my thumb over her clit. I licked her deeper, swirling my tongue around her sensitive bud.

“My turn,” she sighed.

I nodded and kissed my way back up her body, again venerating her breasts before coming back face-to-face with her. She kissed me and then it was her turn to slide down my body. She moved more directly than I did, settling in, her head on my belly, taking my cock deep into her mouth. Her mouth was delightfully wet and hot. Her tongue swirled magically. Her hands massaged my balls.

“Ohhhh,” I moaned.

That was her cue to kiss her way back up my body.

“Do you want me on top?” she asked.

“Yes,” I sighed.

She grinned and grabbed my cock. She rubbed it up and down her juicy pussy and then settled down on my rod. We moaned together. I crunched upward and sucked on her nipples. She placed her palms on my chest and began riding me. She closed her eyes to focus on the sensation, but I kept mine open because I so loved the visual, those big, beautiful breasts bouncing up and down.

She began to move faster, grinding against me. I grabbed her ass and thrust upward to meet her. Her breaths quickened. My heart raced. I noticed a drop of sweat on her temple. Her mouth parted slightly, her tongue flicked out, and she moaned loudly.

“Oh Baby,” she sighed. “Ohhh, ohhh, ohhh.”

I was close as well.

She arched her back. Her pussy spasmed on my cock. I thrust upward hard, emptying inside of her.

She giggled softly and then sighed and slowly dropped down onto my chest. She was warm and soft. She kissed my neck.

“I love you,” I said.

“I love you too,” she echoed.

She cuddled for a while, just enjoying the closeness and intimacy and familiarity. It was perfect. And yet, we both wanted just a little more. Some new excitement.

Amanda nuzzled against my neck and breathed in my ear. “Honey? You probably should call in sick tomorrow. I’m going to need help getting ready. And I'm pretty sure that Tony and I are going to go way longer than one hour.

I groaned and she giggled again.

THIRTEEN

Ostensibly the morning progressed normally. Amanda got the kids up and out the door to school. I logged into work, cleared out the small pressing issues in my in-box, and then called in sick.

When I was done, I went looking for my wife. She was in the shower and the bathroom door was wide open. I entered. She saw me and grinned. She cracked open the shower door and told me to join her.

I stripped off my PJs and stepped into the stall. She turned toward me and handed me a bag with a long, plastic tube attached. I gaped at her.

“I told you I needed help.”

I swallowed and nodded. Of course, she didn’t really need my help to give herself an enema, nor could I refuse her. I filled the bag with warm water. She turned and thrust out her butt at me. I squatted down and she reached back to spread her cheeks. Her puckered anus pulsed. I pressed the smooth, plastic tip against her hole, but she was so tight that it wouldn’t enter.

“Use a little spit,” she advised.

My gaze shifted between the nozzle and her ass. I made my decision. I worked up some spit in my mouth, leaned in, and licked her butthole.

“Oooh,” she sighed. She apparently expected I’d just spit on the applicator rather than going for the more personal approach.

When I pressed it in again, the tip slipped past her sphincter. But it was still not easy. The nozzle was more slender than my pinkie, and I couldn’t believe that before long she’d be able to take a monster cock in there. I began to squeeze the bag and saw water shoot up the tube.

“Ahhh,” she moaned.

She grabbed my hair and lifted me to my feet. We locked eyes as I compressed the bag, filling her with warm water. And I watched as her eyelids fluttered once the applicator was removed and the liquid drained back out of her. She reached down and grabbed my cock.

“It makes you hard to prepare my ass for another man’s much bigger cock, doesn’t it?”

I blushed a deep red, but didn't respond. I mean, she knew the answer. Her hand moved lower and gripped my scrotum. She squeezed. Hard. I yelped.

"Answer me when I ask you a question," she demanded. "Does it get you hard to get my ass ready for another man's much bigger cock?"

"Yes," I groaned.

She squeezed again. "Yes, what?"

"Oh God," I grunted. "Yes, it gets me hard to get your ass ready for Tony's much bigger cock."

"Not just Tony," she corrected. "Any man I choose, right?" She squeezed again.

"Yes, any man you choose," I echoed.

She finally released the pressure. "Thank you," I gasped.

Amanda's eyes lit up. I had no idea where this wicked streak had come from, but something powerful had awakened in her.

"Good boy," she condescended.

My cock throbbed.

"Are we going downhill?" she asked.

Toboggan. She was giving me an invitation to end it. That didn't tempt me even a little. I shook my head.

She grinned and slapped my cheek, "You're a pervert."

I nodded.

She sat down on the shower seat and handed me her razor and shaving cream. "Touch me up, Baby. I want to be perfectly smooth for him." She parted her legs. Her pussy was already swollen.

I gulped and nodded.

I coated her legs with cream, and then carefully ran the blade over her pale skin. Then I leaned forward between her thighs and lathered up her pussy. She grabbed my hair again.

"Don't you dare cut me," she warned.

"I won't."

She released my hair. I shaved her slowly and meticulously. Then I rinsed her off, entranced by her sex, aroused, her lips cleaving open.

"Did you do a good job?" she asked.

"I think so."

"Check."

I reached out and ran my hands over her perfectly smooth skin. She grabbed my hair again.

“With your tongue,” she clarified.

I nodded and dipped down, licking her all over. She squirmed and moaned. “That’s nice,” she sighed. “I think you’re really starting to learn your place.”

I groaned. My cock ached. I wanted to stroke it, knowing I’d quickly come, but also terrified of doing so, worried that she’d object, sensing I needed her permission, but also sure that if I asked she’d refuse. And oddly enough, that was tempting. At some level, I wanted her to deny me. It’s not something I’d ever considered before, but it felt like an inevitable progression from the moment I’d begun fantasizing about my wife fucking a muscular, big-dicked stud.

“So, Donnie?”

She cupped my chin. “It better be. If Tony complains... there will be consequences.”

“He won’t,” I promised.

She smirked. “Let’s finish up in here. We have a lot of work to do.”

I interpreted that as meaning I needed to bathe her. I don’t know if that is what she meant, but she allowed me to soap her up, all over, and then to shampoo her hair and massage her scalp. I also quickly cleaned myself.

Out of the shower, I dried her off and then myself.

I grabbed the hair dryer.

She laughed. “Oh, Baby, you’ll just fuck that up. I’ll take care of that. You should get dressed.”

“Okay,” I replied.

As I opened the bathroom door, she called after me, “I think you’d look good in a pair of my panties.”

I wheeled back toward her, and realized that she was testing me. Or maybe provoking me. A moment passed between us. Something unspoken, but no less real for it. We were both in uncharted waters, both scared, and both aroused beyond our understanding. We both wanted this. Wanted it badly. And yet we both had a secret wish that the other one would pull the plug. I knew, in that moment, that she’d be grateful if I used our safe word, but I also knew she’d be disappointed. Not resentful. She wasn’t putting any pressure on me. But it was all scary. And why the fuck did we need the risk, the danger. We were living the dream. And yet, for both of us, the lure of transgression was nearly irresistible.

“Thong or regular?” I asked.

She laughed, nearly breaking character. “Thong.”

I left the bathroom as the hair dryer came on.

I’m skinny, my wife has a booty, and as a result, her underwear was surprisingly comfortable, although the fabric in my butt crack was a new sensation. How did women put up with it? I didn’t have much time to contemplate that.

“Hubby?” she summoned.

I hustled back into the bathroom. She looked down at me in her thong, my cock, though not in Tony’s class, still barely contained by her skimpy undies. Amanda suppressed a laugh and then bent over the bathroom sink. She lifted a leg up onto the bathroom counter, opening her ass and pussy to me. She gestured toward the dildo and assortment of butt plugs. She met my gaze in the mirror.

“You have an hour to get my ass ready for Tony’s cock. If I can’t take it when he gets here, then you’re going to have to.”

“You’ll be ready.”

“I better be.”

I got to work. A kiss and a lick to start. Then some lube and the tip of my index finger. Her opening was tiny and tight, at least for now. There was no way to avoid thinking about what it might look like as it gaped obscenely around Tony’s massive prick. I felt a pang of disappointment as I realized I would not be able to see it, not close up, not like I longed to.

I lubed up the slim dildo and pressed it into her ass. Amanda moaned, her hips rising and falling gently. I slowly fucked her ass with the metallic phallus, deeper and deeper. I wondered how much of his cock she would be able to take. Just the tip? Or maybe my cock’s worth, about one half of his? Or would she be able to take it all? Take all ten inches of thick, dark meat inside her?

As the dildo slid in easier, I pumped it in and out, fucking her with it. She moaned louder, her pussy beginning to glisten. I took the narrowest of the plugs and pressed it inside. She gasped as her ass stretched to accept it and then sighed as it closed in on the stem.

She lifted her hips off the counter and looked back at me.

“Lick my clit, Donnie. Get me used to coming with something big in my ass.”

I nodded. It didn't take long. She was so primed. Her cunt was wet already. I pressed my tongue between her folds and then angled her so that I could reach her clit. It was swollen. I flicked at the hood. She hissed. I sucked it into my mouth. She reached back and cupped the back of my head and humped back against me.

“Oh yeah,” she gasped. “Oh yeah.”

Her entire body shivered. I watched her asshole pulse around the stem of the plug. I massaged her butt cheeks, kissing them gently, knowing that soon her tender flesh would be a dark, angry red from Tony's spanks.

As she recovered from her orgasm, she peered back at me. Her eyes were glazed, her lids heavy with excitement.

“Keep going,” she said. “I'm not ready for him yet.”

I nodded again. I began playing with the plug in her ass, twisting it and pulling it out partially, stretching her anus. I added more lube. I used the buttplug as a dildo. Her ass gradually got used to it. I pulled out the smallest plug and substituted the next size up and repeated the process.

Again her hips began to gyrate. Her labia became puffy, glistening, tender. I'd rarely seen her this aroused, and only, thus far, since she'd started fucking Tony. I couldn't deny it. Playing with him had brought her sexuality to a whole new level.

I gave her a few moments to get used to the second plug, massaging her back as she acclimated to the toy in her ass. Then it was time for the final one, the ruby-tipped plug with a head nearly the thickness of my wrist. I lubed it generously and pressed it against her distended sphincter. She gasped and growled and shook, and it slowly went deeper and deeper until it reached the thickest part and then slowly, as if in slow motion, lodged itself in her rectum, leaving only the jewel exposed.

She was breathing hard, her face reddened with the effort, her body covered with a thin sheen of sweat. She gingerly slipped off the bathroom counter, and placed her feet on the floor. She turned to face me.

She was glorious. Her face aglow with excitement, her body swaying sinuously. Her nipples were erect, her areolas swollen, her sex red and slick. It was the most lascivious sight of my life.

“Nothing will be the same after today,” she said, her voice low and sultry. “You sure you’re ready for this?”

I nodded, my mouth too dry to speak. She ran her hand down my chest and over my belly. She carefully avoided my throbbing prick, leaking pre-come into her panties.

“You should go to your little hiding spot,” she suggested. “And don’t you dare jerk that little thing until after. Understand?”

“Yes,” I grunted.

She reached around and slapped my ass. “Off you go.”

I hesitated. I wanted to put on some clothes. Or at least watch the rest of her preparations. But her expression made it clear I was to depart immediately. I did.

I pranced – because, honestly, that’s what it felt like in my skimpy thong panties – across the pool deck and sighed in relief as I slipped inside the pool house. I approached the window, found my binoculars, and switched on the baby monitor. I had a momentary panic attack as I considered the possibility that Tony would again lead her into the bedroom. Or just take her in the foyer. Or the living room. Or the kitchen. Or on the desk in my study. And yes, each of those musings was accompanied by a lurid vision of his massive prick forcing its way into her butthole, her mingled yelps of pain and groans of pleasure. But my current attire with its perverse mix of arousal and emasculation left me paralyzed. I don’t know why, but somehow having Tony see me like this was more unsettling than him using all of my wife’s holes.

I needn’t have worried. Though they made me wait a bit, Amanda’s exhibitionism and newly discovered kink in humiliating me ensured they would end up in the sun room sooner or later. They made quite an entrance.

Tony was already naked, his massive prick jutting out before him. Amanda was topless, in booty shorts and wearing a black choker around her neck. I gasped and nearly came in my panties when I noticed that he was leading her by a long, gold chain attached by nipple clamps to her heavy breasts.

“Is your little cuck watching?” he asked.

She didn’t answer but betrayed me with her eyes. He followed her gaze, and although I knew he couldn’t actually see me, he knew I was there.

He smirked the unmistakable smirk of a man about to fuck another man's woman.

He dragged her over to the floor-to-the-ceiling windows. He yanked up on the chain, lifting her massive tits up and away from her body. She whimpered softly as her nipples elongated.

"Did you do what I told you?" he asked.

She nodded. I was a little disappointed. I had hoped that he'd discovered her prepped asshole on his own.

"Say it," he ordered.

"I didn't put in my sponge," she said. "I don't have any protection."

I gasped. My balls tightened. I spurted into Amanda's panties, which were much too sheer to contain my load. Come leaked down my legs.

"Good girl. Now get on your knees and help me work up an extra big load for that juicy pussy of yours.

She dropped to the floor. My dick didn't soften even a little. Despite my first orgasm, I felt almost as if I were on the edge again already.

My wife opened her mouth wide, and Tony began to fuck her face. While I was frantic in my arousal, he remained in complete control. He gave her long, deep, slow strokes, deeper and deeper, until I could hear her choked gags as he entered her throat. She stared up at him unblinking, her wrists crossed behind her back in an additional gesture of submission.

I couldn't believe she could take him that deep, and I realized that in addition to me helping her get her ass ready, she must have also spent some time practicing on an oversized dildo to get this proficient. Either that, or she was seeing Tony on the side as well as during these regularly scheduled sessions. I closed my eyes and took deep breaths to keep from coming again at that thought.

He pulled out completely and gave Amanda a few moments to catch her breath. Then he shoved it back in her mouth, deeper than before, not pausing when she gagged as he entered her throat, not stopping until he was balls deep. I saw her throat bulge and her eyes water.

He chuckled. "Damn, you're a nasty slut. What would they think of you at the PTA if they saw this?"

Again, he withdrew completely, and then entered her again, inch after inch passing her full lips, and even once he was fully inside her, she pressed forward as if she wanted even more. He fucked her mouth over and over, harder, faster, using her face like a cunt.

“Goddamn, Girl, I need to introduce you to some friends. They’re not going to believe what a slut you are.”

Her eyelids fluttered and her body shivered. I’m not sure he caught it for what it was, but she confirmed it when he pulled out and she let out a giggle.

“I’d love to nut in your throat,” he said, “but I don’t want to waste any that could be going into your unprotected pussy.”

She nodded silently as he lifted her to her feet by the chain. She hooked her thumbs into her booty shorts and eased them down, her hips wiggling sexily as she did.

He palmed her bare ass and a wide grin spread across his face. He wheeled her around and bent her over. She reached back and spread her cheeks for him.

He laughed. “Is this for me?” he asked, as he flicked at the faux ruby.

“Yes,” she said, low and sultry.

“Mmmm. First I’m gonna wreck that pussy, and then I’m gonna ruin that ass.”

He grabbed his cock and rubbed it along her slit. He rammed in, hard.

“Oh fuck,” she grunted, shocked at how full she felt with both her holes filled.

He grabbed her upper arms and squeezed them together, arching her back, and thrusting out her big tits. There was nothing subtle or romantic. He just pounded her wet hole.

Their bodies slapped together. Amanda grunted and gasped. Sweat dampened her hair and began to run down her face. Her breasts swayed wildly, the gold chain dangling, her nipples a dark angry red from the clamps digging into them.

If her first orgasm was subtle, the second one was intense.

“Ohhh, ohhhh, ohhhh,” she gasped, her face contorted, and her whole body wracked with spasms from head to toe. She giggled.

It left her drained. Her knees buckled. He kept her limp body immobile as he continued to use her cunt for his pleasure, until suddenly he too climaxed, shooting what must have been a gallon of jism into her unprotected pussy. He laughed as he slowly lowered her to the floor.

She gazed up at him, absentmindedly rubbing her battered twat. He reached down and grabbed the chain and yanked her painfully to her knees.

“You’re not done yet. Suck me hard so I can fuck your ass.”

She nodded, and sweaty and gasping, she immediately began slobbering over his shaft. His fitness and the prospect of her ass ensured that he was hard again in no time. He dropped down onto the mat with her, and as she continued to suck him, he began playing with the buttplug, twisting it and then slowly pulling it out partially. She moaned louder, but slowly he worked the toy out of her ass. As it came out, she gasped.

He held up the plug between them.

“Pretty big,” he noted. Then he grabbed his cock, glistening with her spit and vaginal juices, “But not as big as this.”

She gulped, wide-eyed.

“Face down, ass up,” he commanded.

My wife obeyed, spinning around, lowering her chest to the floor and reaching back to spread her cheeks for him. Her asshole gaped open for him, but just barely, a small, black circle surrounded by pink, crinkled skin.

He placed his bulbous head at her opening and began pressing inside.

She gasped and then hissed and then cried out as her asshole distended to accept him.

“Oh, oh, oh,” she gasped as she realized her ass would not be able to close in on a slimmer stem. There was no narrowing, just ten inches of thick shaft, getting even thicker toward the base.

He paused as she groaned and shivered. She looked back up at him. Her face was crimson, eyes squinting and lips pulled into a tight grimace. Something passed between them. She gave him a quick nod.

“You’re a crazy bitch,” he said, his tone surprisingly gentle. But then he chuckled. He slapped her ass hard. “I’m going to fuck your ass.”

He thrust in, just another couple of inches.

She growled. “Yes. Fuck my ass, you bastard.”

He spanked her again and began sawing his massive prick inside her.

Amanda grunted, louder and louder, more feral than human, but never trying to get away, always spreading her cheeks. He went in deeper, although nowhere near all of him. And then faster, fucking her hard.

It was only a few more minutes before he tensed up and shot his load into my wife's ass. His cock slid out of her, and she collapsed onto her side.

He leaned down and kissed her forehead. "You are one, nasty... crazy... sexy... bitch."

She smiled but remained prone.

"I better go," he said.

He stood and cast a quick look out the window in my direction. He smiled and winked. And then with leonine grace, left the room.

FOURTEEN

I waited a few minutes to allow him to depart before making my way into the sunroom. Amanda was still lying on her side, but grinning and no longer gasping for breath.

“Are you okay?” I asked.

She giggled. And then looked at her soiled panties on me and the evidence of my jism on my legs.

“You weren’t supposed to touch yourself.”

“I didn’t. I just... came.”

She laughed. “You’ve still broken the rules.”

I chuckled. Her face darkened.

I swallowed hard. “I’m sorry,” I said, chastened.

“Clean me up,” she said.

I felt my face redden. I stared at her battered pussy and ass, both leaking Tony’s jism. I hesitated.

“In the shower, I mean,” she said. But she’d noted my temporizing, and I knew she’d understood it both ways – as reluctance but not refusal.

I helped her upstairs, and in the shower, I gently washed her off, all over. Once I’d cleaned her, I bathed myself. I wrapped her and then me in fluffy bathrobes and we staggered over to the bed.

It was still early. Plenty of time before the kids came back from school, but we were both spent. We napped.

I woke up to find my wife staring at me. I glanced at the clock. We still had a bit of time. Just enough for a short conversation.

“You could have stopped it,” she said.

“So could you,” I replied.

“I guess we didn’t want to.”

“Was it good?” I asked.

She rolled her eyes and nodded. “I’m a bad girl.”

“A good girl,” I replied.

She laughed.

“Did you really take out your sponge?”

She nodded. “Yes. I’ll take Plan B... tomorrow. For the rest of the day you get to imagine his powerful sperm working its way inside me.”

I groaned.

“You came when he talked about sharing you with his friends,” I said.

“You noticed?”

I nodded.

“Are you going to?” I asked.

“Am I going to get gangbanged by a group of hung Black men?”

I groaned again. My cock was hard. I nodded. She reached into my robe and gripped my erection.

“Yes,” she said.

I nearly came.

“But not with Tony.”

“Oh?”

“Too close to home. We need to get away for something like that.”

“Oh?”

She released my cock and stood up. She ambled over to her dresser.

“I’ve found a really nice... um... club. In Aruba. On the beach. Sort of specializes in this sort of thing.”

I gulped.

She reached into her drawer and placed something into her robe pocket. Then she lay down next to me again.

“Just sun, sand, and dozens of hot, hung studs.” She reached in and grabbed my hard cock. “Would you like to see that?”

I nodded.

She continued. “Of course, we can’t have you being all... um... out of control. So, when we go, you’ll need... um... to wear something special.”

I chuckled. “More panties.”

She shook her head. “No. Something... um... sturdier.”

She reached into her pocket and pulled out a stainless steel cock cage.

“You’ll be caged the whole time.”

I shook my head.

“Are you saying this is going downhill too fast?”

Toboggan. She was reminding me of our safe word. I could end this any time.

But I didn't want to.

She raised an eyebrow.

I smiled.

She giggled. “This... is going to be fun. But I think we're going to need to test this toy out beforehand. Everything is going to need to be perfect in the islands.”

“Do you have a plan?”

She grinned. “I think you should be wearing your cage at our next pool party.”

“In front of friends and neighbors?”

She nodded slowly. “And, of course, I'll invite Tony. I'll fuck him in our bedroom. Hopefully no one will walk in on us. I can't even imagine how embarrassing that would be for you.”

“And I'll be wearing the cage?”

“And I'll have the key.”

“I... I dunno,” I said.

She laughed. “I don't see that you have much choice. You're the one who got me hooked. You can't complain that I'm an addict.”

I chuckled. “I guess I can't.”

She reached into her pocket for the key and unlocked the strap. “Let's get this on you,” she said.

“Now?”

Amanda didn't answer directly. Instead, she deftly placed the cage over my cock and tightened the metal loop around my scrotum. I hissed in pain and my erection disappeared.

“It's a little tight.”

“We don't want it slipping off.”

She admired her handiwork, tracing the metal of the cage with her fingertip. “Does it bother you that Tony gets all of my holes, and you get... this? But it's only fair, isn't it? He is the better man.” Her taunts had the desired effect. My cock began to swell, or rather it tried to. The cage prevented the erection, and instead left me throbbing against the cool steel.

She grinned and nodded. “Yes, this is going to work out very nicely.” She dangled the key in front of my eyes. “I’ll be keeping this with me.”

“How long?”

She giggled. “Oh, don’t worry your pretty little head about it.”

She laid back on the bed and parted her legs. “Eat my pussy while I reminisce about getting fucked up the ass. If you do a good enough job maybe I’ll let you rub one out later... or maybe not.”

I knew already that the answer would be no. She was having too much fun with her power over me. And I was as well. Truth is, I couldn’t wait for the trip to Aruba she’d teased. Just thinking about it had my cock pulsing in its cage, which was exactly how she wanted me.

AFTERWORD

The adventures of Donnie and Amanda (and Kayla and Jeremy) will continue. I hope you've enjoyed your time with them so far, and I assure you they have plenty of sexy adventures coming up.
