

A close-up photograph of a woman with dark, curly hair, wearing a white, possibly silk, dress. She is smiling slightly and looking down towards a glass of red wine. Her right hand is resting on the rim of the glass. The background is dark, and the lighting is soft, highlighting her face and the dress. The overall mood is intimate and elegant.

Ben Boswell

I Gave Him My Number

I Gave Him My Number
Ben Boswell

I Gave Him my Number: A Hotwife Story All Right Reserved © 2022 by Ben Boswell

Cover image © DepositPhotos. Used under license.

First digital edition electronically published by Ben Boswell, May 2022

With the exception of quotes used in reviews, this book may not be reproduced or used in whole or in part by any means existing without explicit written permission of the copyright holder.

This book is a work of fiction and any resemblance to persons, living or dead, or places, events, or locales is purely coincidental. The characters are productions of the author's imagination and used fictitiously.

FOREWORD

Some stories take forever to finish. Some almost write themselves. This one was an example of the latter. Once I got started, it just flowed. Hopefully, it reads that way as well.

I've mentioned in the past a lot of my stories begin with a scene in mind – usually a sex scene. Then I try to imagine what would have happened to get the characters into that situation, and of course, what might result from that situation. In this case, the title gives it away. That was my motivation. Wife meets a strange man and gives him her number.

Of course, this set-up can go in a million directions from that starting point. I didn't quite know how it would end up. And indeed, I am not sure this story is over. But that said, this is not part of a series. This is a self-contained story, though, I may very well revisit these characters at some point in the future. In part, that will depend on your reaction, dear reader. So, please do let me know if you like this story and would like more adventures from this couple.

I want to thank readers Andrew and Robert for help with copyediting. As always, all remaining errors remain mine alone. And also, as always, I love reader feedback. Please visit my webpage www.benboswell.com for all my links, and also please leave me your email so I can update you on new releases. You can also email me at ben.boswell.author@gmail.com.

Ben Boswell
June 2022

ONE: Friday Afternoon

It was a perfect summer day. I left work a little early so I could enjoy the Friday afternoon on my patio with a beer and a book. Kayla texted she'd be a little late. She had a work reception and wouldn't be home until seven, which was fine, time for another beer before I fired up the grill. I had some zucchini strips, a couple of rib-eyes, and a nice California zin planned for dinner. Then maybe Kayla and I would strip down and soak in the hot tub before a leisurely evening in bed. With our kids at camp, we were temporary empty-nesters.

The plan was well underway when Kayla arrived. I heard her heels clicking on the tile in the kitchen, and I went inside to greet her. She startled when she saw me, and her already big eyes became saucers.

"Jeez, Babe, you look like you've seen a ghost," I said.

Her mouth opened and closed in silent distress, and then she let out a sudden sob.

I rushed in and pulled her close.

"Kay, what's the matter? What happened?"

She sniffled and wiped her nose with the back of her hand. She looked up at me tearfully.

"I fucked up. I'm sorry," she exclaimed.

For some reason I thought she'd done something to the car. Not sure why that's where I went, but I did. I forced a chuckle.

"It's okay. I'm sure it'll buff out."

She regarded me quizzically.

"The car?" I suggested.

"Huh?"

Okay, so that was not it. "I thought you had an accident or something, but I—"

"I gave him my number," she blurted.

"Huh?"

"At the bar. There was a guy. He was chatting me up. And when I told him I had to go, he asked for my number and I gave it to him." She stared down at her feet as she relayed this.

“I... what?”

“A guy. Bar. My number.”

“Right. Guy, Bar. Number. And then what? I don’t get it. I...” Then it hit me. “Oh, you gave a guy your number.”

“Yes.”

The gears of my mind moved slowly. She was upset. Surely I should be as well. But, I wasn’t. It’s not like Kayla has ever been short of male attention. As I like to tell her, she’s a tight, little package, what with that dark hair and piercing blue eyes, and a fit body with cute boobies and a great ass.

“Okay. So, I’m still not sure I get why you’re all discombobulated. What’s the big deal?”

She threw up her hands. “I don’t know, Jeremy. Am I supposed to be giving strange men my number?”

“I guess not. But—”

“It wasn’t just that I was surprised and blurted it out mindlessly.”

“Okay,” I said cautiously. “So, you were talking to a guy and having a good time. He asked for your number, and you gave it to him. Then after, you had second thoughts and started feeling guilty, and now you’re confessing it all to me. Is that about right?”

“You’re missing the part when you’re supposed to be angry.”

“Um... okay....” I narrowed my eyes. “Grrrr. Bad wife. I’m sooo angry! Grrrr.”

She stared at me. “You think this is funny?”

I chuckled, which was apparently the wrong thing to do.

“This is NOT funny!” she insisted.

“Oh, so now you’re angry at me for not being angry at you?”

She shook her head. “No, you’re totally missing the....” She hesitated. “No, that’s exactly right. Why aren’t you angry? What is wrong with you?”

“I dunno. So, you met a guy and for a few minutes thought you might want to see him again—”

“I didn’t say that I wanted to see him,” she interjected.

I chuckled again. “You didn’t need to. You gave him your number. You totally wanted to see him again. Hell, you probably still do want to see him again; it’s just that you’re married.”

“Exactly!” she exclaimed.

“You seem to think I should be angry about that, but I’m not. We’ve been together a long time. Seems only natural that you might get tempted. I don’t think it’s that big a—”

“Wait a minute, Jer, are you saying you hit on women?”

“Um, no. I don’t think I said that, did I? But I do think about other women. I mean, I notice pretty women.”

“And you’d like to have sex with them?”

I shrugged. “I mean, in the abstract? Sure. But not in reality?”

“So, if a hot chick gave you her number, you’d....”

I laughed. “Babe, ain’t no one doing that. I still wake up every morning worried that you’ll finally come to your senses and look for greener pastures.”

She snorted. “Stop deflecting, so what you’re saying is—”

I stopped her. “Now wait a minute. I’m not upset you gave another guy your number. But I will get upset if you try to make this about me. All I did was get dinner started. You’re the one who was making plans to see another man.”

“I did not!”

I laughed. “You totally did! You gave another dude your number. And when you did, you totally were thinking about him calling you.”

“No one calls anymore. Just texts.”

“You seem to have more experience with this than I do.”

“Shut up Jeremy. You’re being a dick.”

“So, has he texted?”

“No, not yet. I’m just going to block—”

“It doesn’t bother me if—”

“Yeah, what the fuck is that about?”

“I trust you.”

She narrowed her eyes. “Trust me to do what?”

“The right thing.”

“Jeremy, what are you talking about?”

“Jeez, Kayla. I don’t know. I’m not the one who gave my number to a strange man.”

She vibrated with frustration. “I told you it was a mistake.”

“Okay, then what are we talking about?”

“I’m just coming clean,” she said.

“Yeah, but why?”

“Because that’s what married people do?”

“Do they? I mean, do you want me to tell you every time I notice some girl with a nice ass?”

“Maybe we should go into therapy,” she said.

“I’m still not sure I see the conflict. Are we going into therapy to find a fight?”

“You’re supposed to be mad.”

“But I’m not.”

“Which is why I am,” she said.

I sighed. “Okay, let’s try this then. Why did you give him your number?”

“It was a mis—”

“Yup, a mistake. Stipulated. But in the moment, you made a conscious decision. So, what were you thinking?”

“I dunno.”

I laughed. “Sure you do. So, what was it? Was he tall, dark and handsome? Did he have a great smile? Big hands?”

“Eww, no, nothing like that.”

“Okay, so short, blond, ugly, bad teeth, and tiny Donald Trump hands.”

“You’re impossible.”

“I’ve been told that before,” I noted. “By you mostly. But come on, what happened?”

“I dunno. I was at this stupid happy hour, and just looking for a chance to leave. Then some dude—”

“Please to be describing said dude,” I interjected.

“What? I mean, yeah,” she paused. “Yeah, tall, dark, handsome, nice smile, I guess that does cover it.”

“Big hands?”

“Not that I noticed.”

“Was he in a suit?”

“Yeah. And, yeah, it was nice. Really cut well. Crisp.”

“Okay, so what’s the big deal? A hottie in a great suit talked you up and you let your imagination run for a bit.”

“What if I had done more?”

“Did you?”

She shook her head. “No. But I did think about it.”

“Go for it.”

She stared at me in shock. “What did you say?”

“You should see him again.”

“What?”

“You heard me.”

“No.”

“Why not?” I asked.

“Well, for one, he hasn’t asked me, and for—”

Her phone buzzed. I chuckled. “One down.”

“You don’t know that’s him.”

“Check.”

She hesitated but then pulled out her phone. It was from him. Of course, it was. She read to me.

“He says, ‘Kayla? I hope you didn’t give me a bad number. Though I wouldn’t blame you. I know you’re married, and I’d never ask you to do anything to jeopardize that. But I would love to have a chance to see you again.’ Well, it is polite at least, isn’t it?”

“What are you going to say?” I asked.

“I’m going to block him.”

“Tell him, drinks tomorrow.”

She squinted at me. “Say what?”

“Tell Mister Tall, Dark, and Handsome you want to meet for drinks.”

“I don’t.”

“But you do. We know that already. It’s why you gave him your digits.”

“I am NOT going to lead some dude on, and for what?”

“So don’t lead him on.”

“What even does that fucking mean?”

“Oh my God, Kay, what the fuck? Hot dude wants to have drinks with hot girl. No mystery there. I’m not testing you. I just think this could be fun.”

“How so?”

“Huh? How could a date with a hot dude be fun? Are we really that old?”

“Maybe we’re even older than that, because I don’t know what you’re talking about. I mean, yeah, drinks with a hot dude is fun BECAUSE you’re thinking about fucking him! Do you not understand that part?”

“I do.”

She shook her head. “No, I really think you don’t.”

“But I do. So, go out with him, and... whatever, trust your instincts. I won’t be mad.”

“But I will! That’s what you don’t seem to get.”

“Ugh, Kay, I don’t want you to do anything. I just want you to do what you want. And if that is blocking his number, then block it. Yay, my wife only has eyes for me. And if you want to see him again... well.. yay, my wife is a hottie with passions that run deep.”

“But what if it does lead to something?”

“Yes.”

“Huh?”

I tried a different tack. “What’s the worst thing that can happen?”

“He could be a serial killer.”

“You could become the star of a true-crime podcast!”

“I’d be dead.”

“I’d be the grieving spouse who puts everything on hold to track down his wife’s killer. I smell Netflix series!”

“And the fact that I’d be dead wouldn’t put a damper on things for you?”

“If you want to make an omelet you need to break some eggs.”

She tilted her head. “I see through you, Mister. You’re just trying to provoke me so that I agree to drinks with this guy.”

“Honestly, I hadn’t thought it through quite like that. I’m a simple man.”

“And even simpler than usual today.”

“Ouch. Sorry my wit is falling short of what Mr. Big Hands was dishing out.”

She rolled her eyes. I took her hands. She tried to shake them loose, but it was half-hearted, and I squeezed her palms. I looked into her eyes.

“Kay, you don’t need to do anything you don’t want to do. But I would like you to do what you do want to do. I’m not looking for a hall pass myself. I’m just, honestly, sorta curious to see where this all goes. And you’re curious too because despite all your protests, if you really wanted to block him, you’d have done it and never mentioned it to me. So have drinks with the man.”

“And what if something does happen?”

“Putting out on the first date. Seems a little slutty. Want to make him work for it a little, no?”

“Ah ha!”

“Eureka? What?”

“See, you don’t want me to do anything, and—”

“Babe, do whatever you want. I was talking tactics not strategy.”

“Whatever the fuck does that mean?”

“Kay? As far as this guy is concerned, you’re available. Do with that what you will.”

“And what do you get out of this?”

“I guess we’ll see.”

She raised her phone in front of her. “Okay, you sure? You want me to text Darren?”

I nodded. “If that’s his name.”

She typed out a text. “I suggested we meet up next week.”

“Why next week?” I asked.

She smirked. “I think all of us would benefit from letting anticipation build, don’t you?”

I nodded. “I do.”

TWO: Friday Night

So, yeah, I went there. Not exactly sure why. But in that moment, just seeing her all worked up over this trivial interaction, I had an instinct that somehow this Darren guy had touched a nerve with Kayla. Or maybe, it was just with me? Yeah, I have that weird fantasy. It's not so much that I want "my woman" to be with another man. It's more that I have this sense that, of course, why wouldn't she want to be with another dude?

That said, whatever doubts and trepidations I might have had were quickly dispersed. We had dinner. Then a soak in the hot tub. And then to bed.

Kayla was on fire. Everything was just a little more intense than usual. Her nipples harder than normal, her pussy wetter, she ground on me more aggressively, and came harder than I could remember in years. As it turns out, there are few things that get married women going more than thinking about sex with another man. That's probably not universal, but it was certainly true about Kayla. Even if she wouldn't admit it.

"You were thinking about Darren," I noted.

"Was not!"

"I was thinking about you and Darren," I admitted.

"I was just being in the moment. Present."

I shrugged. "Okay."

I wasn't sure why she was lying about that. But I found it erotic. Hard to explain why. It's just, I guess, that knowing Kayla had these desires that she couldn't admit to me, or maybe even herself, was sexy. A little scary too, and that probably contributed to my excitement.

And for all Kayla's talk that she wasn't affected, here is one thing I know: After she wrung a climax from vigorously riding my dick, she went down on me. She sucked me back to life and rolled me on top of her. She locked her ankles behind my back and used both hands on my ass to urge me to fuck her hard. So yeah.

After, sweaty, and with her head resting on my chest, we caught our breath.

"You were thinking about him," I chimed again.

“Shut up, Jeremy! You’re being an idiot. I think you’re the one who’s obsessed with him.”

“I’ve never even met him! And I never used the word obsessed. That’s on you.” I smiled at her. “I know this is going to sound weird, but it’s sort of hot that you’re denying it. That you feel you need to keep this a secret. You’re really hot for this guy.”

“I shouldn’t have said anything.”

“Is that what you’ve done when you had crushes on guys in the past?”

“I haven’t had crushes on guys in the past.”

“Just in the present.”

She vibrated like a tea kettle about to whistle. She sat up quickly and turned toward me. I was momentarily distracted by her pert titties, b-cups, with small, dark nipples. When I looked up she met my grin with a scowl.

“This isn’t funny!”

I sat up as well. We were naked, in bed, facing each other. She had her knees curled beneath her, and I was sitting cross-legged. I tried to take her hand in mine, but as I reached out, she pulled away.

“I’m sorry,” I said.

“That’s better. So, no more talking about this?”

“Well....”

“Jeremy, I’m serious.”

“Baby—”

She shot me daggers. She was not in the mood to be sweet talked. I changed tack.

“Kay. I love you. I do. I’m not trying to hurt you or guilt you or whatever. But you need to understand, this is hitting you and me differently, and, well, that’s okay. We are different people. And we have different desires and needs. And that’s okay too.”

“Okay, look, whatever. I sent your stupid little text. We had our fun. Now I’m going to go ahead and cancel, okay?”

I shook my head. “Not okay. Because that’s not what you want. It’s what you think I want. Or what you think I should want. Or you should want.”

“You having a stroke there? Or just too much blood surging toward the little head to make the big head coherent.”

“Just be honest with me for a while,” I said.

She let out a deep sigh. “I have been honest.”

“But not completely.”

“Oh, for fuck’s sake. What do you want from me?”

“Well, first of all, when you first gave him your number, what was your fantasy?”

“I... I didn’t really have one. Just, I don’t know, I didn’t want it to end.”

“Want what to end?”

“I mean.... I mean that feeling of being desired mostly. I dunno. It wasn’t really thought out. It’s more like I just liked the way it made me feel.”

“Which was?”

“I dunno. Sexy or something.”

“You’re always sexy.”

She laughed. “You have to say that. It’s, like, in the marriage handbook.” She paused and then added, “Sort of like not cheating on your spouse. That’s in there too.”

“The handbook is just a series of suggestions. Maybe even a starting point for discussion. But it’s not like it’s written in stone, much less —”

“Ha! It is quite literally written in stone! Both the seventh and tenth commandments apply.”

I rolled my eyes, but was happy that her sense of humor seemed to be returning. I reached out for her hand, and this time she let me take it.

“Kayla, I’m not saying that I’d be okay with you just cheating on me with any guy who happened to catch your eye. I am saying, though, that as long as you’re open and honest with me, I’m okay with you, um, exploring.”

“But why?”

I pulled her into an embrace, our naked bodies pressed up against each other.

“I don’t know....” I trailed off because I really didn’t know. I had noticed men looking at Kayla’s ass before, found it amusing, and a little hot. But I didn’t have that whole cuckold bug. I didn’t think of her fucking other men all the time. It wasn't my go-to fantasy by any stretch, or at least not the only one. "I think, in part, it's how upset the whole thing had you. I don't know how meaningful it was for you when you gave him your number, but by the time you came home, it's obvious it had been weighing on your mind. And I don't think you came clean just to assuage your conscience. You came clean to try to head off a temptation that you were not sure you could resist otherwise."

"You're reading a lot into a very limited interaction."

"I was, but you've confirmed it again and again. You were on fire a few minutes ago, and I'm pretty sure it is not just the usual spike of attraction that hits couples after eighteen years of marriage like some sort of reverse seven-year itch."

"Maybe I'm just getting into the whole empty nest thing. Temporary for now, but before we know it, they'll be gone, and we'll be able to spend whole evenings in bed, naked, making love, and talking, like we're doing now."

I shrugged. "And maybe part of the empty nest thing is you knowing you can explore a fantasy romance without the kiddies wondering why Mom is going out alone in a tight dress and high heels and not coming home until the next morning."

She let out a soft, involuntary gasp. "You'd want me to spend the night with him?"

"Well, you're going to need time. Time to feel how another man's lips feel after all these years." I kissed her mouth softly. "Time for him to explore your sexy, little body." I kissed her again and caressed her cheek, her throat, fingertips trailing between her breasts. "Time to enjoy his mouth on your perfect titties." I leaned forward and kissed her hard nipples, one then the other, and then I sucked them into my mouth in turn, gently tweaking the other nipple with my fingers. Her breath caught. "Time for him to lick his way down over your sexy belly and nuzzle against that cute little triangle you keep so well trimmed." I pushed her back onto the mattress and did just that, licking and kissing her tummy, running my fingertips through her muff. She moaned softly. "Time for him to admire your juicy, little shaved pussy." I traced her labia with my thumbs, spreading her open to expose her pink flesh within, wet with her juices and my come. I licked her clit. She moaned again.

“Oh God, I’m going to come again,” she gasped. “I want you inside me.”

I kissed and licked my way back up her body. As I moved upward, she reached down and stroked my hard cock. She jerked me forcefully, her eyes closed, lips pursed. Her hips rose up and down off the bed.

“Are you thinking about him?” I asked.

“Fuck me,” she hissed with an urgency I’d never heard from her before. Despite coming twice already, it was almost enough to make me pop.

“Tell me,” I insisted. I kissed her throat gently while I palpated her clit with my fingertips.

She moaned again, and then in a throaty whisper replied, “Yes.”

“The whole time?” I asked. “When we were making out in the hot tub?”

“Yes.”

“When we were having sex?”

“Yes.”

“When you were sucking my dick?”

“Yes, oh yes. Yes! Oh God, please fuck me.”

“Say his name.”

Her pussy was drenched, her hips gyrating lewdly. Her nipples looked ready to explode. Her tongue flicked across her plump lips.

“Fuck me,” she gasped. “Fuck me, Darren.”

She spread her legs wide as I rolled onto her. My prick like a homing missile, I entered her and sank in balls deep. She shuddered and grabbed my ass. I didn’t even have time to give her a second pump. Kayla came hard, bucking and moaning, and I followed suit, dropping a third load into her hot, juicy snatch. She held me close, not letting me roll off, and we writhed together slowly.

“Oh God, oh God, oh God,” she sighed.

I chuckled. “If you can make me come that fast after all these years, imagine what you’re going to do to him.”

She gasped and I felt her pussy twitch on my rapidly deflating cock. It was barely midnight. The night was still young. We did it one more time, and I told Kayla I’d stay silent so she could more easily imagine she was with her fantasy lover. It was intense. No words. She kept her eyes shut. Our only communication was her hands on my ass, urging me to fuck her faster and harder. Her orgasm left her shaky and teary-eyed. She was too sore for me to finish inside her, and when I declined her offer of a handjob, she sort of nodded, sighed, and quickly drifted off to sleep.

It took me a little longer to find slumber. Not that long. Just enough time to contemplate what I might have set in motion. I braced for a wave of regret, but it never came, and I'm pretty sure I slept with a smile on my face.

THREE: Saturday

Kayla slept in Saturday morning. I was in the kitchen, admiring through the window what looked to be another beautiful day. I broke out the French Press rather than using the Nespresso and made a stack of waffles from scratch. I topped them with sliced strawberries, blueberries, a dollop of butter, and maple syrup on top. Probably 2000 calories right there but keeping up with a horny wife is hungry work.

I'd just cut into my stack when Kayla appeared. She was wearing yoga shorts and a crop top, which is her usual comfort weekend attire, but which struck me as wildly erotic at the moment. Darren would surely enjoy the look, especially as it really does accentuate my wife's charms. She's skinny and small chested, but her hips flare giving her a great booty. It's a bit reminiscent of those Pixar moms.

"Why are you looking at me like that?" she asked.

"You're looking especially tasty today," I replied. "Having a fantasy lover suits you, I think."

She rolled her eyes. "About that—"

"Oh, here we go. More cold feet."

"You know, Jeremy, you can be a fucking dick sometimes."

I gave her my best incredulous reaction. "Me? I just want you to be happy."

"No. You want you to be happy."

"Well, sure, but you know what they say, happy wife, happy life. And if that means you going on a date with another man, then so be it."

"I am not going on a date with him."

"Did you cancel already?"

She hesitated. "No."

I grinned at her. Then rose and retrieved a plate from the cupboard and gave her half of my stack of waffles. "Coffee?"

She nodded and then warily sat down in front of her plate of food. I filled her cup, added a splash of cream as she prefers, and placed it before her. I could see the skepticism in her eyes.

"It's not a trap," I promised.

“Oh, it definitely is a trap.”

“It’s just waffles.”

She skewered a blueberry on her fork and flicked it toward me, nailing me right in the forehead. It took me a second to react, but then I laughed, and she joined in. Our mirth fed on each other, and we both started laughing hysterically. It took several moments of “oh my Gods” and deep breaths to recover our self-control. I wiped the tears from my eyes.

“Okay, so we’re done now?” she asked.

I shrugged. “I mean, if you want to, of course. But why?”

“Because it is stupid. And dangerous. And it’s not fair to involve a third party in this sort of nonsense.”

“Now wait. I don’t know Mr. Tall, Dark, and Handsome, but he’s a grown-up. He knows you’re married. You’ve tempered his expectations. And he still wants to give it a shot. Right? Did he respond to your text from last night?”

She nodded toward her phone charging on the kitchen counter. “I haven’t checked.”

I got up and brought her the phone. “So check.”

Sure enough he had responded, though we’d been too busy screwing to notice. Two texts from him. The first came in immediately after she’d sent her text.

She summarized them for me. “He suggested drinks on Friday. Then like an hour later, he texted again and suggested drinks at the beach. He attached a picture.”

“What’s that about?” I asked.

“Jesus, I was telling him about our trip to Puerto Rico and how much fun we had. I think he Googled the beach I mentioned. Sketchy right?”

I shrugged. “He just wants to get a conversation going. He thinks it’ll be easier to get into your pants if you’ve been chatting all week instead of going into your date cold.”

“It’s not a date.”

“It is a date.”

“He’s not getting into my pants.”

I chuckled. “No, I imagine you’re probably going to wear a dress or a skirt.”

“Ha ha,” she replied, not laughing.

“So how are you going to reply? I know what you should do.”

I picked up my phone and scrolled through my pictures. I selected one and shared it with Kayla.

“Send him this.”

She looked at it and rolled her eyes. The picture was a shot of her on that PR beach, from behind. She was wearing a very revealing thong bikini, a wide-brimmed straw hat, and holding a pink drink in her hand. It had been a creeper shot. She didn’t know I was taking it, but her ass looked so perfect that I wanted to memorialize the moment. And it came out perfectly. She was relaxed, unposed, and it looked amazing.

“I am not sending him a pic of my ass.”

“You’re wearing a bikini.”

“I am wearing, like, a string between my butt cheeks.”

“Oh, it’s not that risqué.”

“It’s not your ass.”

“Well, it sorta is,” I replied.

She laughed. “Well, not for long if you have your way.”

I groaned. “Oh boy, Kay, now you’re getting me hot again.”

“Stop that!” But I could see her struggling to keep a smile off her lips.

“Just send him the pic,” I said. “It’ll be hot.”

“For you maybe.”

“And him.”

“What do I get out of it?” she asked.

“Two hard cocks?”

My wife just stared at me. I stared back.

She shook her head but picked her phone back up. “I can’t believe I am doing this.” She added a few words and hit send.

“What did you say to him?”

“I texted, ‘Only if it is a strawberry daiquiri.’”

Her phone dinged almost immediately after and another text a moment later. She glanced down at them and smiled brightly.

“What did he say?”

“He said....” she paused. “Actually, you know what? I’m not going to tell you.”

“Huh?”

“We’re married and all, so I definitely owe you an accounting of anything he does to me... or I do to him, but not what we say to each other.”

“Now, wait...” I trailed off and shrugged. “Okay. That’s fair, I guess.”

“It is?”

I chuckled. “Sure. Just don’t run me down too bad.”

“Oh Jeremy, I’d never do that.” Then she smirked.

The day passed leisurely. Lots of errands and chores, but without the kids adding to them and being otherwise under foot, it was more relaxed than our usual weekends. I got the yard mowed and went grocery shopping. Kay caught up on laundry and reorganized the pantry – we’d somehow accumulated five half-eaten bags of tortilla chips. She also spent a lot of time with her phone. Smiling as she read. Typing rapidly in response. And always keeping the phone just out of my line of sight. She wanted me to see she was texting, but not what was being texted.

It worked. Between that and her sexy bottom in those yoga shorts, I was perpetually aroused. I finally decided to do something about it.

She was folding laundry when I came up behind her. She heard me, but still startled slightly as I pressed up against her. I reached around and locked my fingers across her belly and nuzzled against her neck.

“Stop that!” she giggled.

“Why?” I whispered as I kissed her right behind the ear. “We have the house to ourselves.”

“And you think we should fuck in the laundry room?”

I nibbled gently on her neck and slid my hands up under her crop top. I felt her hard nips through her sports bra.

“I never said anything about fucking. I’m just showing my wife a little affection.” I pulled her bra upward and cupped her sexy little breasts. I rolled her nipples gently between my thumbs and forefingers. She gasped softly and thrust her firm ass back against my crotch. I was hard and she felt my erection.

“You sure this isn’t about fucking?”

At that moment a wicked thought entered my head. Wicked, weird, a bit painful, and very exciting.

“Maybe we should take a pause from that.”

“What?”

I chuckled and roamed my hands over her taut, little body. I caressed her sides and drew my thumbs down her spine. She shivered as I teased her lower back. I slipped my thumbs into the waistband of her shorts and slowly peeled them off, taking her black, thong panties down at the same time. As I pulled them down, I dropped to my knees behind her, and teased her inner thighs with my fingertips. She moaned softly, stepped out of her shorts, and spread her legs slightly. Bent at the waist, with her ass thrust back, it was an open invitation. But I didn’t take it. Instead, I slowly kissed my way up her calves and her hammies and palmed her ass.

“Oh Jeremy, you’re getting me so worked up.”

“I don’t think that was me. I think you were ready to go even before I walked in. I think you got all hot and bothered texting all day with your boyfriend.”

“He’s not my boyfriend.”

“Yet.”

Despite years of marriage, this was my first time in this position, on my knees, behind my wife’s bare ass. My mistake. I should have done it sooner. It was an amazing view. I spread her cheeks gently. Her pussy was just beginning to open, revealing hints of pink, slick folds. Even sexier was her delicious little asshole, just a tiny, puckered bud. It was so erotic to see her so exposed, so vulnerable. I continued to kiss and lick upward, the tip of my tongue across her inner thighs, making her sway and quiver. I could smell her arousal. I licked the length of her slit, and she moaned, her snatch cleaving open as if in slow motion. The aroma became more pronounced, and I licked her deeper.

“Oh, Jesus, fuck Jeremy, no more teasing,” she groaned.

“What did he say about the pic you sent him?”

“I don’t remember.”

I gave her ass a playful swat and resumed eating her pussy. She moaned. From my position behind her, I couldn’t quite get at her clit with my mouth, but what I was doing was working anyway. She began pumping her hips. She reached back and cupped the back of my head holding me close.

“Tell me,” I insisted as I licked deep into her pussy.

“He commented that he preferred peach daiquiris.”

I chuckled and cupped her ass. “Man’s got good taste. This is a juicy peach right here. You going to give him a taste?”

I spread her cheeks, but this time directed my tongue a little further back. She growled as my tongue found her anus. It was my first time doing that to her, or anyone for that matter.

“Oh God, Jeremy,” she gasped. “That’s so bad.”

I reached around with my hand and made slow circles just above her clit. I tongued her ass again. “And so good.”

“Yes, yes,” she gasped as I licked her more aggressively.

“You didn’t answer me,” I said. “Will you let him eat your ass?”

“Oh God. Yes. Oh God.”

Her body shuddered violently, and my touch which had been just right a moment before seemed to scald her now. She twisted away from me and collapsed onto the floor. She was gasping for breath as if she’d just run a sprint, and her body was sweaty and shivering. I pulled her into an embrace.

“Oh fuck, oh fuck, oh fuck,” she chanted softly as her heart rate came down. Her eyes were glazed, cheek flush and shiny. “Take off your pants,” she ordered.

I shook my head. “No, I don’t think so.”

“What?”

“You heard me.”

“Why?”

“No dick for you. No tongue either. Not until after your date.”

She looked at me in shock. “Are you nuts?”

I rose. My erection jutted out from my shorts, and I had a prominent wet spot. She looked from my package to my face. I chuckled. “You’re cut off.”

“You know, I am perfectly capable of getting myself off,” she said with a smirk.

I grinned. “Thing is, I know from experience that just provides a brief reprieve, and then the urges just come back stronger.”

She stared incredulous.
And then I turned and walked away.

FOUR: Sunday to Thursday

Kayla is nothing if not competitive. My pronouncement seemed to have triggered a desire to break my will, or maybe she just wanted to demonstrate that she was in control of the situation, not me.

If I thought her yoga shorts, sports bra, and crop top outfit from Saturday was sexy, it was nothing compared to what she was sporting Sunday. I was power washing the driveway, when I noticed Kayla exit the side door with her gardening basket. She had on that wide-brimmed straw hat that not only served at the beach, but also provided shade while weeding the flower beds, so that wasn't surprising. But what was surprising was that she was also wearing the rest of the outfit from the beach picture, that very skimpy, blue bikini, and high-heeled cork-soled sandals. It would not have been out of place at a resort beach, but it was very much out of the ordinary out in front of our suburban home.

I glanced around anxiously, wondering which of our neighbors would notice my wife prancing around nearly naked. There were a few folks out, but they seemed mostly preoccupied. Still, being a man, I knew she would attract admirers (and haters) sooner or later. As I completed my scan, my attention returned to Kayla. She was grinning at me, enjoying my discomfiture. She sashayed over.

"You okay, Baby?" she asked. "You look a little pale."

"Just thinking you're putting on quite a show."

"Oh this? It's not that risqué."

Bam. Hoisted on my own petard.

She trailed a fingertip across my chest. "But if you'd rather take me inside and admire it in private, I'm sure that could be arranged."

I chuckled. "Naw, you're better off getting your vitamin D from the sun. None for you in there."

She shrugged. "As you wish."

Then she turned on her heels and swished back toward her flowers. She positioned herself carefully on the grass, on her knees, waving her ass in my direction, which also happened to be toward the street. A delivery truck drove by, the UPS man slowing down to enjoy the view. And the view was spectacular. Her thong had the traditional little triangle of fabric at the top of her crack, and when she stood, it was just a sexy bikini. On her hands and knees, with her ass in the air, though, it was a whole other story. That thin strip of fabric barely hid her asshole; indeed, I caught a tease of shadowed crinkles, and her camel toe was clearly visible as well. She put on her headphones, and as she battled weeds, she also shook her ass to the music. I've been in strip clubs where the girls don't put on half as good a show.

I was distracted enough that I hadn't used the pressure washer in several minutes. I'd just been staring at my wife's ass, and in the process calling additional attention to it. I shook my head to clear it and resumed my chore.

It was a hot day, which meant I was sweaty, and soon, so was Kalya. I went inside to grab some cold-water bottles, and then returned to cool down in the shade. Kayla took a different approach. She put down her tools and approached the water hose. She made a show of bending over to pick up the hose, and then to turn the spigot. She giggled in glee as the water began to spurt as if this were a novel invention she was seeing for the first time. Water splashed across her chest, and she brought the hose up and drank from the stream. She twirled playfully, and then dripping, she picked up her tools and hat and sauntered toward the garage.

As she passed me, she smirked and said, "I'm all wet. You should come inside and see."

I laughed. "I should have filmed that for Darren."

"Oh, don't worry, Honey, he has plenty to look at already."

I straightened. Like, my body, but also my cock. "Oh? You've been sending him pics?"

She bent down toward me giving me a peek of her cleavage, but also giving any watching neighbor another great look at her ass.

In a stage whisper, she replied, "Oh Jeremy, remember? What he and I communicate remains between us. But... I guess I could make an exception. Maybe if you ask really, really nicely, I'll let you peek at my texts."

"Would asking really, really nicely involve letting you sit on my dick?"

"Well, that would be really, really nice."

“I’ll pass. I really, really think your date will be more fun if you’re a bit... deprived.”

“Suit yourself.”

On Monday I was reading in bed, when Kayla came out of the bathroom stark naked. I gave her a quick looking over, as one does to a naked wife, but then went back to my book. I was a little surprised when she popped into bed naked. We always slept in PJs, even before we had kids, except in those few instances when our lovemaking was so intense that we fell asleep after, cuddling unclothed, such as Friday.

I put down my book and turned toward her. “You don’t think I’m that easy, do you?”

“What?”

I raised an eyebrow.

“Oh, you think I’m trying to seduce you?” she asked.

“You might be.”

“Why would I want to do that?”

“Hmm, for no other reason than that I’ve cut you off. And you don’t like not getting your way.”

“What makes you think I’m not getting my way? I met a super hot dude in a bar. He’s smart, funny, and oh so sexy. And you’re encouraging me to fuck him. You don’t really think that was your idea, do you?”

And that’s why I love Kayla. I mean, aside from the great ass. She’s smart. And with that comment, she left me momentarily speechless. Well, more than momentarily. I didn’t have a retort even as she flicked off the light on her nightstand, turned over, and at least pretended to go right to sleep.

She didn’t pretend all that well. And actually, I realized she wasn’t even trying when I felt something by my leg and realized it was her sexy booty rubbing against me. I peeked under the covers. She had her hand between her legs, and it looked like she was gently fingering her anus.

“Oh, dirty girl,” I groaned.

“What? I just had an itch. Unless you’d like me to continue playing with my ass?” She peered back over her shoulder to make sure I was paying attention, and then slowly, deliberately, she pressed her finger into her anus.

I have to admit I was more than a little aroused.

“Your tongue felt so good the other night.” Her voice was low, fried, very sexy. “I was thinking how nice it would be to have something bigger and harder back there.” She began sliding her finger in and out. “Is there anything you’d like to try?”

I should note that we’ve never had anal together. I’d never had it at all. I was under the impression that she hadn’t either, though, I wasn’t sure if we’d ever actually discussed it. So, the temptation was powerful. But now it was a test of wills, and I was not going to let her win.

“After your date.”

She giggled. “After my date, the offer might not be on the table anymore. Maybe Darren will satisfy my taste for adventure. Would you like that, Jer? Knowing another man stuck his big, fat dick in my married, virgin asshole?” She plunged her finger in again and moaned.

I cuddled up to her and wrapped my arm around, cupping her boobies. Her skin was hot to the touch, her nipples hard as pebbles.

“I don’t think you have the guts.”

“Men are so funny. You think you know what goes on in our heads. But you don’t have a fucking clue.”

I expected more, but instead, she unceremoniously unclamped my hand from her titties and slid a couple of feet away from me on her side of the bed.

“Good night,” I said.

She let out a soft grunt in return.

On Tuesday, she was a little more subtle, which of course wasn’t difficult, since her last essay involved fingering her own ass. She arose before me, and by the time I came out of the shower, she’d selected her outfit for the day.

It was a hot, summer day, making a sheer sundress an appropriate choice for work. This particular dress, yellow and patterned, was one of my favorites. Not only did it look great on her, it had the amusing quality of being nearly transparent with any sort of backlighting. Kalya usually pairs it with a set of sexy lingerie, and when she does, she gets more than her fair share of looks, a fact which she knew, and knew that I also knew. So, it was meant to be a tease.

But as I walked into the bedroom, she stood in front of the French doors that led to a small balcony overlooking the backyard.

She grinned at my gasp.

“Everything okay?” she asked.

I’d been expecting a peek at some sexy undies. Instead, I got more than I expected, because as the sunlight streamed through the window and rendered her dress translucent, well, more than translucent, but less than fully transparent, I realized that she was not wearing skimpy unmentionables. She was wearing nothing at all beneath. Kayla has dark nipples and a dark, though carefully trimmed muff, and all of that was clearly, unmistakably on display.

She stood there, hand on her hip, awaiting my response. When I made none, she gave me a smirk and proceeded downstairs. After basically flashing our neighbors, it seems she’d decided to move on to flashing the rest of the world as well.

I had a vague sense of mortification as I imagined all the people she’d run into during the day. Friends, co-workers, random strangers. Even without the backlighting, the fabric was sheer enough that her sexy nips would surely be widely noticed. It was an interesting game. I think what she was saying was that if I wanted her to be a slut, she could be an even bigger slut than I’d imagined. Or maybe it wasn’t that thought-out, and it was just her trying to provoke me into breaking my moratorium on sex.

It didn’t work. I let her go off to work like that. But in a sense, it did work. I spent almost the whole day thinking about my sexy, little wife, naked except for a diaphanous shroud that highlighted rather than concealed her assets.

That evening, I expected her to tease me with various sexually charged interactions she’d had throughout the day. Instead, she was cool and collected. Almost like there was nothing out of the ordinary in our lives. She told me a long, weirdly detailed story about a departmental meeting, a glitching PowerPoint, and the resultant email exchange. None of this mentioned that she’d been bare assed all day or that her titties were probably piercing a hole in her dress in her overly air-conditioned office.

Clever, clever. It left me to stew in my own imagination.

Thursday night featured yet a different dynamic. Like the day before, Kayla said nothing about her upcoming date. We had a normal day. Went to bed as usual.

Then a little after midnight, I awoke. Kids these days, I think they call it stirring the mac and cheese. I peered at my wife. She'd whipped off the covers, yanked down her PJs, and she was going to town on herself.

"Kay? You want a little privacy?"

She gazed over at me, eyes heavy-lidded. Instead, she lifted up her top so I could see her playing with her very swollen nipples.

"Wanna help?" she asked.

"I'm not sure I could control myself if I did," I replied.

"Then don't."

I grinned. "Oh, but we're so close. Date is tomorrow."

She fingered herself. "Oh, Baby, my cunt is so fucking wet."

I shivered. I'd never heard Kayla drop the c-word. It was jarring. Provocative. It made me hard. Just like she wanted.

She noticed. She spread her legs wide. The slurping sound of her fingers plunging into her pussy became louder. Her gaze invited me to replace her digits with my cock.

I demurred. Instead, I whipped out my prick and started jerking off beside her.

"Are you going to do this for Darren tomorrow?" I asked.

"I doubt a real man like him will need this sort of encouragement."

"Real man, eh?"

"Mmm," she sighed. "A real man, with a big dick, who doesn't play fucking games."

"Sounds hot."

"Oh, yeah, Jer. It'll be hot." She rubbed her clit. "He's going to want to take me, and I will be much too horny to resist. That's what you want, right? Another man to fuck your wife. Fuck her the way you won't or can't."

“God yes,” I gasped. My hand was coated in precome and the squishing from my prick began to rival in volume her self-pleasure.

“And then you think I’ll come back to you? Be a faithful wife after another man has given me what I need?” She snorted derisively.

For some reason that really set me off. The more she tried to provoke me, the more I wanted her to go through with it.

“I’d never stop you from getting what you need,” I said.

We locked eyes, even as we continued going to town on ourselves.

“I’m going to fuck him, Baby,” she moaned. “I’m going to give him everything. My mouth. My cunt. My ass.”

“Oh God,” I gasped as I spurted all over my PJ top.

The sight of my jism arcing upward and splashing on my chest threw Kayla over the edge as well. She scrunched her eyes and arched her back, and from her gasps, I knew she was coming as well.

We lay gasping, side by side.

“Fuck, Jeremy, this is ridiculous. And you’re an idiot.”

Harsh, but her tone was affectionate.

“Have you decided what you’re going to wear on your date?”

“I haven’t given it any thought.”

She was lying.

FIVE: Friday, First Date

I managed to get out of work early again on Friday, and I rushed home. I needed to make sure she wasn't going to just half-ass her date. I needn't have worried.

Kayla had beaten me home. And in fact, I quickly got the feeling she'd skipped out on work altogether. Strewn across our bed were a half-dozen shopping bags, shoes, clothes, and right in the middle something from Eres, Kayla's favorite lingerie. I was about to paw around when she popped her head out from the bathroom.

"I thought I heard you. Get away from all that."

"Um, okay, do you need any help getting ready?"

"I think I can handle that myself. Go downstairs. I'll let you know when I'm out."

She ducked back into the bathroom. I heard her running a bath. That got me hard. Kayla only takes a bath normally when she's going for an extra smooth shave. But I respected her wishes and went down into the kitchen where I cracked open a cold beer.

I wasn't quite stalking her, but I also was. When I finally heard her pull the plug on the bathtub and it start to drain, I went back upstairs. She was showering now, and I waited patiently on the edge of the bed as she rinsed herself off, and then dried her hair. She came out wrapped in a towel and jolted as she saw me.

"Jesus, you scared me. You've been there the whole time?"

I nodded toward my beer. "No, I just came back up."

"Just in time to watch me get dressed, you perv?"

"Wouldn't miss it for the world."

She shook her head. "Interesting. Most guys would be more interested in getting me undressed than dressed. But I guess you're going to leave that part to a better man?"

"What makes him the better man?" I asked. "Isn't that yet to be determined?"

"You're confident. I'll give you that. I'm not sure you would be if you saw him in person."

“Oh, he’s the kind of man who can steal my girl out from under my nose?”

“Not sure it would be theft since you’re throwing me at him.”

She whipped off her towel and tossed it at me, presumably mirroring how I was tossing her at him. I admired her sexy body. She looked taut and a little pumped, a little like a fighter about to step into the ring. She’d trimmed her triangle closer and tighter than usual, and her pussy looked perfectly smooth. Her tits and ass had me distracted so it took me a moment to notice her hands and feet. She’d gone in for a mani-pedi, and sporting matching finger and toe nails in a rich, dark red, the fingernails looked to be extensions.

Kayla reached past me and grazed my arm with her breast. She smelled of soap and herbal shampoo. It took a lot of self-control not to grab a hold of her and roll her onto the bed. But I was playing a longer game, and pretty sure my patience would pay dividends for both of us.

She grabbed her lingerie and stepped back over to her dressing table. I’d say she was playing to her audience, but she was playing to me by basically ignoring me. She unwrapped her undies and removed the tags. Her back to me, she slipped on her panties. They were sky blue, lacey, ultra-sheer and extremely skimpy. Just a wisp of fabric that accentuated rather than concealed her sex. Her bra matched. Kayla doesn’t need any support. Her breasts are perky and perfect, and as with the bottoms, her bra served as an enhancement to her charms.

“They say that if a woman’s bra and panties match when you get her clothes off, it means she decided to have sex, not you.”

“Do they really?” she said casually.

I nodded.

“Interesting. So, you think I plan to have sex with Darren tonight?”

“I don’t know. Do you?”

She just smiled. “You should go back downstairs. I still need to finish getting ready and you’re distracting me.”

I laughed. “I wouldn’t want to distract you from getting ready then.”

Sitting in front of her makeup mirror, she didn’t bother to reply. I rose and went back downstairs.

Kayla took longer than I expected, and I was on my third beer of the early evening before she appeared. I gasped when I saw her.

So, I should go back in time for a moment. Back in the day. Back before marriage and kids and a house in the suburbs. When I first met Kayla I was instantly smitten. She had that effect on a lot of men at the time. She's always been a maestro with a makeup brush – she was a theater kid in high school and college – which made her a bit of a chameleon. The first time I met her, she was a complete girly-girl, in a short skirt, tight sweater, jewelry, and makeup. Not just a little mascara, but eye-liner and shading. Not just lipstick, but lip liner and gloss. It was subtle, well-done and very sexy. The next time I saw her, she was completely different. We were hiking rather than going dancing, and she looked like an outdoorsy girl-next-door. Over time, the girly-girl stuff – the makeup, the jewelry, the nails – gradually disappeared. The last time I remember her going all-out was for our wedding. There were a couple of events, New Year galas and the like, where she put on a bit of a show, but especially once we had kids, all of that seemed to stop.

I don't think I'd quite realized that until I saw her now. But suddenly, this wasn't Kayla, my cute little wife and fierce mom. This was Kayla, a hot vixen on the prowl.

“Wow,” I gasped.

“Is that for the dress?”

Honestly, I hadn't even noticed it at first, but yeah, it was super hot too. A blue, Cyrus dress, very short, crochet knit fabric that showed off her sexy undergarments. Then I glanced down at her matching shoes and her three-inch stiletto heels.

“Wow,” I said again. “He won't be able to keep his hands off you.”

“And that's what you want, huh?”

“It's what you want, I think.”

She shook her head and chuckled. She didn't need to verbalize it further. I was an idiot.

“Okay then.” She approached me and kissed my cheek. Her perfume swirled in my nostrils. She took a step back and looked me in the eye. “I'm going on a date with another man. Last time I met him, he talked me into giving him my number. I wonder what he'll talk me into tonight?” Her phone chimed and she looked down at it. “My Uber is here.”

“I’ll wait up.”

She let out a short laugh. “Don’t. It might be a late night.”

And she was gone.

I’d sort of expected a wave of regret to hit me once she left. I thought there was a reasonable chance I might text her and ask her to call it off. But honestly, now that she was on her date, all I felt was anticipation. But what was I anticipating? What was the best-case scenario?

I wasn’t completely sure. I couldn’t know quite how I’d react when reality met fantasy. What if she came home having been expertly and repeatedly fucked by this new man? What if he was huge and powerful, and gave my wife orgasms like she’d never before experienced? What if she became addicted to his cock, unable to resist his every demand, eager to cater to his every whim? Like I said, I couldn’t know how reality would affect me, but damn, that fantasy made me so rock hard that I had to make a conscious effort not to jerk off.

And the worst case? That was easy. He’d be a jerk, and not in an overconfident, “alpha male” kind of way, but just boring and unpleasant. Yeah, the worst case was Kayla coming home annoyed with bone dry panties.

So, which would it be? I could only wait and hope that the kind of persistent hardon you get from your wife being out on a date does not result in the sort of priapism that lands ones in the ER.

It was a late night. They met at 7:00pm for drinks. That must have segued into dinner because she was still out at 10:00pm. When she still wasn’t home by 11:30pm, I knew more had happened. A lot more. The dress, the shoes, the panties, the makeup had not been just for show, and I knew that even as I paced the ground floor of our home my wife was currently riding another man’s dick. And indeed, maybe my whole assumption about dinner had been misguided. Maybe drinks had transitioned right into passionate fucking. I shivered with excitement. Was it possible reality was even more exciting than fantasy?

I heard a car pull up and ran to the window. Holy fuck, it was her, but she was returning in an Uber. I was a little disappointed. I had been hoping he'd give her a ride home, and maybe that she'd express her thanks by sucking him off right there in our driveway. But it was not to be. Kayla exited out the back door of the sedan, and as it drove off, she removed her shoes and walked barefoot across our lawn. She had a big smile on her face and her pace was languid, dreamy. She looked almost like a caricature of a well-fucked woman returning from a successful date.

I was waiting for her in the foyer, and I turned on the light as she approached the door so as to warn her I was there. I opened the door and she glided inside.

"So?" I asked, well-aware that I was shaking with anticipation.

"So what?"

"What happened?"

She tossed her heels aside and approached me. It was a warm, summer evening, but her body radiated even hotter.

"We had drinks," she replied. Her voice was sultry, her breath boozy.

"And?"

She grinned. "Is there something you want to ask me? Something specific?"

I groaned. "Did you... have sex with him?"

She chuckled. "Well, I won't be much of a storyteller if I started at the end rather than at the beginning, would I?"

"Oh God, so you did?"

Another laugh. "Were you always so quick to jump to conclusions? All in good time, Dear..." She paused and her lips twisted into a smirk. "Though, I guess if you want to get your answer sooner, I'll give you an opportunity to check for yourself."

"What's that mean?"

"Either you can be patient and listen or you can be impatient and see if you can figure out the answer with your tongue." She grinned at my expression. "Do you think you could taste it if another man had come in your wife's pussy?"

“I don’t know.”

“Wanna try?”

I hesitated. The idea of another man fucking my wife and finishing inside her was hot. I was less excited about tasting another man’s come.

“If I do, will you still tell me the story?”

She laughed. “Nope. Either you’re a good, patient boy and you get all the details. Or you can jump ahead and maybe get the answer you’re looking for sooner, but then you’ll need to fill in the gaps yourself.”

“Why?”

“For the same reason you didn’t fuck me all week. Because it’s fun.”

She circled around me, trailing her hand over my shoulder as she sauntered into the kitchen. It took me a moment, but then I followed after her. She went to the fridge and pulled out an open Chardonnay, and she poured the remaining half-bottle into two wine glasses. She handed one to me.

“You sure you want another?” I asked. I didn’t want her getting so toasty that she might crash before revealing everything.

“Oh, I haven’t had a drink in hours. If I’m, um, a little lightheaded it is from other activities.” She took a sip. “Isn’t it funny how being aroused can make you goofy? Makes you prone to impetuous decisions.”

I took a gulp of wine as well. “I thought that was only men. You know, only enough blood for one head at a time.”

She chuckled. “Oh, it’s not only men.” She pirouetted around me and headed for the living room. Again, I trailed after her as she continued, “I mean, you go out sometimes, just planning to have a little fun. A few drinks. A little dancing. Maybe you have an early day, and you’re going to get a good night’s sleep. And then, poof, suddenly your panties are stretched across your thighs and you’re getting it hard from behind.”

I gulped the rest of my wine. “Is that what happened tonight?”

She sat on the sofa and patted the cushion next to her. When I sat down, she twisted sideways and placed her feet in my lap. “Rub my feet, will you Dear?”

Dear. That’s twice she’d called me that. It felt a little condescending somehow. The sort of expression a wanton woman might indeed use on a man she’s cuckolding. I bet she didn’t call Darren Dear, and certainly not when he had her bent over, what, a bar bathroom sink? When he was fucking the hell out of her from behind. Then she probably called him Baby or Lover or Stud or Daddy.

She poked at me. "Feet?"

I dutifully began to massage her toes.

"Mmmm, that feels nice," she sighed. "Not as nice as a big, hard cock. But everyone plays their own role, right?"

I shouldn't have gulped that wine. My head was beginning to spin. Though, in truth, that was likely more due to the two heads issue we'd discussed before. My cock was throbbing and the wet spot on my shorts was too obvious to deny.

"Are you saying my role is to rub your feet, and his role is to fuck you?"

"Did I say that?"

"You implied it."

She didn't correct me. Instead, she transitioned into recounting the date.

"So, you know we met at Morgan's, right?"

I nodded. That was actually the only thing I knew about their date. Morgan's was a fancy whiskey bar downtown.

"I've always been attracted to men who drink brown liquors. It always seems sophisticated. A man who knows his Scotch is sexy. It hints at intimate knowledge. You know what I mean?"

I chuckled. "As you know, I don't drink Scotch."

She nodded. "Oh, right, right. Well, Darren does. He exudes savoir faire. You can see it in everything he does. From his tailored suit to his gleaming shoes to his manicured nails. He's the sort of man you know, right away, also knows his way around a woman's body."

"I'm not sure bending a girl over a bathroom sink is what I think about when I hear savoir faire, but you do you."

She chuckled. "Did I say he bent me over a bathroom sink?" She let it hang in the air before continuing. "Now, I didn't say he didn't either," she admitted. "But if Darren did do something like that, it would only be because his desperate, horny date couldn't wait one more minute to feel his big, hard cock inside her. Know what I mean, Dear? When you are so worked up that you need it, like, right... fucking... now?"

I groaned. Her feet squirming in my lap just about pushed me over the edge. I adjusted myself to reduce the sensation. She grinned at my discomfort.

“Sounds like things moved quickly,” I said.

She took a sip of wine. Dragging it out. “Well, yes, but also no.”

“What happened at the bar?”

She shrugged. “We got to know one another. When we met last week, it was a work thing. Sure, we talked about some personal stuff like where we liked to vacation and movies we’d seen, but, you know, we were not sizing each other up as sexual partners. At least not openly. It was different this time. That’s something we were talking about over texts. Like, was this a real date? And we agreed it was. So, our conversation was a lot more, um, interesting and intimate. We talked about you... a lot.”

I chuckled. “Doesn’t sound like a fun date talking about another man.”

“Oh, but we had to. Needed to clear the air. Set some ground rules. Am I cheating? Do we have an open marriage? Have we done this before? Do I need permission before doing anything?”

“What did you tell him?”

“The truth as I understand it. Not cheating, because you know about it and even encourage it. Not an open marriage because you, Jeremy, are not allowed to be with other women. Never done it before. Told him he’s the first man tempting enough to prompt some exploration.”

“He must have liked that.”

She grinned. “Sure. But there was no reason to lie. Taking his number, agreeing to meet up with him, and, of course, this dress left little doubt in all of that right? He’d have to be an idiot not to realize I wanted him. And he’s no idiot.”

“What did you say about permission?”

“That I don’t need any. That I can follow my desires.”

I chuckled. “And you followed them into a bar bathroom.”

“And what if I did? Would it bother you to think of me bent over a sink? Getting fucked hard by a hot stud while other people wait in line to get in? Screaming in passion. What if someone we knew saw me coming out of the bathroom with him, my face flush, and panties full of his come? Would that be hot to you or painful or scary?”

“How about all of the above?”

“I didn’t fuck him... in the bar.”

“So where did you fuck him?”

“So impatient,” she teased. Then she resumed her story. “We talked for a while. He just got out of a long-term relationship. He doesn’t think he’s ready to commit to anything or anyone for a while. I told him that was good. I wasn’t looking to leave my marriage.”

“No, you just want a little extra-marital dicking. He must have been delighted to know you were down for some NSA sex.”

“We didn’t discuss it quite so explicitly. But yeah, he seemed pleased at that point. He knew I was attracted to him, free to pursue my desires, and not interested in tying him down. I guess in a way that makes me the perfect little slut, doesn’t it? Maybe that’s why he decided then was the right time to kiss me.”

“Where was this?”

“Right at the bar. Out in the open. Where everyone could see us. It was quick though. Just a little, electric moment. His hand grazed my thigh. My stomach did a flip and my pussy went from juicy to drenched. I remember thinking, oh fuck, that’s hot.”

“Did he notice?” I asked.

“I think so. He gave me this knowing smile. I think that’s where the bathroom sink daydream came in. If he’d invited me to go back there with him right then, I don’t think I would have... could have said no.”

I nodded, my throat too dry for words. If just a little while into the date, he had her creaming her panties and fantasizing about being taken in a powder room, then I was pretty confident I knew how this date had ended: In his bed, my wife bouncing on his dick. I went from lightheaded to dizzy.

Kayla was chuckling. “You okay, Dear? Your eyes went blank for a minute there.”

“You fucked him,” I croaked.

She laid back on the sofa, her upper back resting on the arm rest. She pulled up her dress to the waist and spread her legs slightly. My gaze was drawn to her pubis as she’d intended. She drew her hand across the crotch of her panties, visibly wet, and so sheer that I could easily see her swollen labia beneath.

“Pull down my panties and have a taste to confirm your suspicions if you want.”

“I want to hear it from you,” I replied.

“Then you just have to wait, don’t you?”

I nodded, chastened, and only now beginning to sense the power dynamics our little game had unleashed. I continued to rub her feet, though the view of her swollen, dripping cunt, was a brutal distraction, and she continued describing their evening.

She dragged it out, relishing my increasing desperation to hear what had happened. She narrated their short walk to the restaurant, Darren holding her hand. She described her frisson when he leaned in close and whispered a compliment about her dress in her ear. She recounted their flirty discussion about whether to order oysters for appetizers, and her admission to him that the last thing she needed at the moment was an aphrodisiac. They bantered puns and innuendo as they ate their meal.

All of this seemed to get to about 9:30, which meant I’d heard about barely half of their date. But my cock was aching already, and I didn’t know if I’d be able to stand the suspense for another half hour as she slowly wound her way to the denouement.

“Just tell me if you had sex with him?” I interjected.

She smiled that I’d walked into her trap. Kayla reached down and pulled her thong to the side, exposing her tumescent sex. She slipped her finger between her lips, and her pussy split open. She was so fucking wet and aroused that it was impossible to imagine that she hadn’t fucked him, that he hadn’t pounded her sweet snatch and dropped a load, or more, deep inside her.

“Taste,” she taunted.

“No. Tell me,” I demanded.

She played with herself for a few moments and let out a sultry moan as she touched her clit.

“Are you sure? A woman’s vagina is self-cleaning. Pretty soon there won’t be a trace of anything he might or might not have left inside me. Sure you don’t want to investigate for yourself?”

“What happened after dinner?”

“We haven’t even gotten to dessert yet.”

“You’re going to make a cream pie joke?”

She laughed. “That would be a little desperate, don’t you think?” A pause, then she continued: “But we did split a chocolate mousse, which did feel oddly intimate. The two of us, sitting side-by-side, dipping spoons into the same coupe. Though, of course, by now, everything felt intimate. Watching him eat, all I could think about was his lips kissing mine, sucking on my nipples. His hands roaming over my body, playing with my pussy, fingers running through my hair. He touched my bare thigh, deliberately this time, his fingertips tracing circles on my inner thigh. I felt like I was on fire. My pussy was throbbing, my nipples so hard they hurt.”

“Did you go back to his place?” I asked.

“You really can’t wait to hear, can you? What if I did, Baby? What if I went to his place, spread my legs wide, and let him fuck me? Would that turn you on?”

“Yes.”

“Even if he was the best I ever had? Good enough that while he was inside me I couldn’t think of anything other than his big hard cock? What if I came so hard I almost blacked out? And what if, after, I begged him for more? Begged him to fuck me again? Told him he could do anything he wanted to me?”

“Did you? Did you say that to him?” I asked breathlessly.

“We didn’t go right to his place. Instead, he took me to this cool, little jazz bar. Down a flight of stairs, low ceilings, dark, a place for illicit meetings, and romantic flights of fancy. We got a booth near the back, away from the stage, far from prying eyes. We ordered drinks and enjoyed the music, a quartet, riffing around a seductive saxophone lead.

“We started kissing. Tentative at first, but we were both too hungry for restraint. I nibbled on his lip, our tongues flicking, electric. I ran my hands over his muscular shoulders and arms. He palmed my inner thigh, and I know he could feel my arousal, the heat, the wetness. His other hand cupped my breast, and his thumb teased my nipple. I moaned, louder than I realized, and a woman at a table nearby gave me the evil eye. But honestly, I didn’t care. If he’d fingerbanged me under the table, I’d have let him. If he pushed me to my knees and demanded a blowjob, I’d have obliged. If he’d pulled me into his lap and slid his cock into me, I’d have come before he even got it all in.”

I could see it in my mind, his hands all over her, hers all over him. The wet, passionate kissing.

“Oh God, Kayla. What did you do with him?”

She sat up and climbed into my lap. Her whole body felt like it was on fire. I could feel her heat and wetness through my shorts.

“Last chance, Baby,” she sighed. “Want to taste or do you want your dick inside me?”

“Inside,” I groaned.

“You sure? You might be contaminating the crime scene, so to speak.”

“I don’t care.”

She grinned. “Whip it out.”

She lifted off me and I tore the button off my shorts in my desperation to get them off. My cock jutted out, red and tender from prolonged arousal, and paradoxically as a result, not as full and firm as I might have liked. Kayla didn’t care. She yanked aside her thong and dropped down onto my prick.

“Oh fuck,” I gasped.

“Is this what you imagined a well-fucked pussy would feel like?”

It was. She was so wet and hot and loose. He’d really stretched her out. I wondered how many times he’d fucked her. How many loads of another man’s come my dick was bathed in.

“Yes.”

It was intense. We didn’t kiss, just stared into each other’s eyes, as she ground against me. Her juices, and his load, leaked into my crotch, my pubes, my balls.

“You sure, Baby? Sure you want me coming home with another man’s come inside me?”

“Yes.”

She peeled her dress off her shoulders and undid her bra. She leaned back and I sucked a plump nipple into my mouth. She gasped.

“Oh God,” she sighed.

I felt her pussy pulse on my prick. I wondered how many times she’d come on his cock. Given how wet and loose she was, it must have been dozens. That was my last straw. The dam broke, and I shot my load inside her, the orgasm almost painful after such a long arousal.

She lurched forward and wrapped her arms around my neck. She gasped hotly into my ear.

“Oh fuck, that was hot,” she sighed.

It was but I needed more. “Tell me the rest. I need to know what it was like to see his cock for the first time. Did you kiss it? What did it feel like when he was first inside you?”

She didn’t say anything for a moment, and then she chuckled. “Oh my, your imagination really does run wild, doesn’t it?”

“Please, Honey, no more teasing, just—”

She chuckled again.

“Oh, Baby,” she began as she lifted herself off me. “There is nothing more to tell. We made out like teenagers in the jazz club. Lots of kissing and heavy petting. Second base. He invited me back to his place, and I was tempted, really tempted. But instead I came home. Are you disappointed?”

I was. I can’t explain it, but I was. But I lied, sort of.

“No, it sounds like a successful first date. So, when is the next one?”

She sat down beside me and casually ran her fingertip over my flaccid shaft. “You do understand how this works, right? Like, things pick up where they left off.”

“Yes,” I answered as my cock began to swell again.

“I dunno,” she said. “Things could get crazy in a hurry.”

“You did say you were really tempted.”

“That’s true. But this also tempts me.” She stroked my shaft firmly.

I grabbed her hand and lifted it off my cock. “Well, then I guess I need to cut you off again... at least until after your next date.”

“You’re fucking insane, Jeremy,” she said. But her lips curled into a wicked, little smile.

SIX: Saturday to Monday

Kayla took being cut off again with equanimity. More than I expected. Unlike the previous week, she didn't seek to break my will or seduce me. I had stumbled into the exciting idea of goading my wife into an affair by denying her sex, but she turned the tables on me by embracing the idea as if she'd come up with it.

It was Saturday afternoon, the day after her first date, when she bounded up to me excitedly.

"He invited me for dinner at his place on Tuesday night."

I was sweaty, working hard to replace a drainage line that ran under our yard and carried water from the downspouts away from the house. She was in her usual yoga shorts and a tee and looking fetching.

I leaned on my shovel. "His place? Well, he's not making any pretenses, is he?"

She chuckled. "It's like he knew you'd think that. He specifically told me he had honorable intentions. As he said, it's only our second date, so no expectations."

"Uh huh."

"That's on you, you know. Even though I'm still horny from making out with another man, you won't fuck me until I see him again. I'm trying to maintain a little dignity here, but surely you can't blame me if I end up falling into bed with him, can you?"

"I doubt you'll make it all the way to his bedroom."

"Oh God, you're so transparent. I bet you're imagining him just grabbing me as I walk through the door, ravishing me with his mouth and hands, and then taking me hard right there on the floor in his foyer."

"I hadn't thought it through like that."

She grinned. "Well, I have. Speaking of which, I think I am going to go inside and spend a little quality time with myself in the bedroom." She glanced down at my half-completed job. "Looks like you still have a lot of work. Well, best get to it."

Kayla swished toward the house, but right before reaching the house, she peeled down her shorts and flashed me her ass. Then she went inside and disappeared from view.

Sunday, over dinner, Kayla threw a new wrinkle into the mix. She'd done some research.

"So, Jeremy, we probably should talk about what all you're getting out of this."

I answered nonchalantly: "I don't have an agenda. I just think you having a crush is sexy. I mean, I'm a simple man, really."

"Yes, no doubt." She let it hang in the air. "And yet, even simple men have preferences and desires."

"I want you to have fun and be happy."

"You're so sweet and considerate. But not being fully honest?" I began to protest, but she put up her hand to cut me off. "Jeremy, you're not merely empowering me to pursue my fantasies; you're actively pushing me into his arms... and his bed."

I nodded. "Honestly, I just think you need a little encouragement to do what you really want but are too afraid of doing."

"Interesting. So, this is just like a sort of exposure therapy. You've diagnosed I have a phobia about strange cock, and you're committed to helping me overcome it. I didn't realize you were so concerned with my mental health."

"In sickness and in health," I replied, grinning.

"It's nice that you amuse yourself. But speaking of therapy, I've been looking into this sort of thing."

"Sort of thing?"

"Oh, don't be otiose with me, Jeremy. You know what I mean. I have to admit, I always imagined that your tastes in porn would be along the line of sexy blondes with big tits. But that was too conventional, I think."

"I like blondes with big tits, though I think brunettes with blue eyes, perky tits, and a great ass are great too."

"Aw, you're so sweet. But I'm not just talking about a type. I always assumed you were just into standard porn. You know, hot chick, hot guy or guys, the usual pound and money shot stuff."

I pretended to loosen my collar, even though I was wearing a polo. “Is it getting hot in here? I didn’t realize you were a porn aficionado.”

She shrugged. “I’ve seen my share. More in the last week since I’ve been left to my own devices.”

“Okay, now it is definitely getting hot,” I said. “Tell me all about the porn you like.”

“Ha. But no. We have matters to discuss about you first. So, as I was saying, I’d imagined you as the standard porn consumer, but now I suspect that was all wrong. I’m guessing now that you have a thing for cuckold porn. Is that right?”

I shrugged. “Sure, it’s hot. Sexier at any rate than seeing girls pretending to be stuck inside a clothes dryer and being taken advantage of by their horny stepbrother.”

Kayla laughed. “Yeah, weird how that is a thing now, isn’t it? But anyway, it turns out that there is all sorts of cuckold porn out there. I’m wondering what flavor is yours. I think we can rule one out. Seems like you’re not all into the cuckold cleanup genre. I offered you a taste on Friday, and you turned it down.”

“Maybe I knew there was nothing in there.”

“Oh please, you were totally convinced.”

I chuckled. “Okay, you got me. I’m not particularly interested in eating Darren’s come from your pussy.”

She flushed slightly at my mention of his name. I filed that away.

“Hmmm. ‘Not particularly interested’ is an interesting turn of phrase. So, you’re sorta interested?”

“I’m not super squeamish. I wish I’d eaten your ass sooner, for instance. And, if you did have another man’s come inside you, and we were fooling around, I wouldn’t be skeeved out if some of that came out or got on me.”

“Or ended up in your mouth?”

I shrugged. “Sex is beautiful and sometimes messy.”

She drummed her fingers on the table. I took a bite of my salmon.

“Okay,” she said, “noted. So, another subgenre, is the whole sissy cuckold genre. It seems to have a mix of forced feminization, a lot of dick sucking by both the wife and the cuck, and even some pegging or actual anal.”

“Wait, who is getting anal in this scenario?”

“Well, you primarily, I guess. Some guys like it when the bull fucks both members of the couple.”

“Wow. You’re quite a diligent researcher. But no, that’s not my cup of tea. Never been into men. I’m not interested in getting up close and personal with another man’s dick.”

“Does that include not being interested in a threesome with me and another man?”

“Well now, let’s not get crazy. That would be hot.”

“Would you and he take turns? Or like, both of you screwing me at the same time? What’s the scenario?”

“Oh, I don’t know. I can imagine a lot of options.”

“Would you want to fuck me while I suck his dick?”

“Yes.”

“How about the reverse?”

“God yes,” I exclaimed. That one struck me hard. The idea of another man ramming Kayla’s pussy while she slobbered on my knob was painfully arousing.

“How about—”

“Yes,” I interrupted. “Any combination of the two of us fucking you at the same time works for me.”

“Interesting. Well, I’m not promising anything because I sort of like being able to devote all my attention to one dick at a time. Alright, so I’m pretty sure I know this next one. Based on your answers, I think you’d like to watch, even if you weren’t participating.”

I nodded. “Definitely.”

She laughed. “That’s crazy to me. Why would you want to see your wife getting all intimate with another man? Like losing control. Kissing, sucking, coming.”

“That’s how I’m wired, I guess.”

“No, but seriously. Your lack of interest in eating come or sucking dick takes some sort of bi-curious stuff mostly off the table.”

“Mostly?” I said.

“Well, you are turned on by sharing me, and if you two were having sex with me at the same time, there would be some contact, you know. At least some of the cuckold stuff does feel like a, I dunno, safe or something... maybe more deniable, maybe, way to explore some man-love.”

“I don’t know,” I replied. “Maybe I’m not in touch with my true emotions. Who knows? But that doesn’t feel right.”

“So, what is it? Some sort of competitive thing? You want to see if you can fuck me better than another man?”

I laughed. “Quite the opposite. Honestly, nothing would be hotter than if he was so fucking good that you completely lose your mind. I’d like to see you fucked so hard and so good that you were a quivering, panting mess.”

“But if I enjoy it that much, don’t you risk me running off with him forever?”

“Like I told you, I trust you. And anyway, if you met a man who could fulfill you the way I never could, I wouldn’t want to deny that to you. You don’t feel the same way about me?” I asked.

“Aha! Well, Jeremy that was a long road, but now I get it. This is about you getting a hall pass!”

“Ah, nope. It really isn’t. And all I meant by feeling the same way about me is the broader sense. If there was something that might make me really, really happy, wouldn’t you want to try to make sure I could experience it? Even if it made you a little anxious? Like, I dunno, if my lifelong dream was to drive a race car, wouldn’t you try to arrange that even if you worried about it being dangerous?”

“I guess I would. But—”

“And no, I don’t want a hall pass. You showed up a week ago, all frazzled about this man, giving him your number, and all that, and I could just see how torn you were. That you did want to see him again. And I was right, wasn’t I? You had a great, sexy evening with him, right?”

“I did,” she admitted.

“So there. I’m happy you got to experience that. And here’s the kicker, Kay, I get to give that to you, and I don’t feel like I’m making a sacrifice.”

“Because it turns you on,” she said.

“Yup.”

“And there’s no girl out there who...”

I shook my head. “No. I promise you there isn’t. And if there ever is. If I ever do have a crush on someone, you’re still not committed to anything. You don’t have to do the same thing.”

“I’d feel terrible if I didn’t,” she replied.

“Well, that’s going to be something we’ll deal with if it ever happens. But in the meantime...”

“In the meantime,” she said, “you want to watch some stud pound me into a panting and quivering mess.”

“Close. What I want is to watch Darren pound you into a panting and quivering mess.”

I stressed his name and she reddened. And though I can’t be sure, I suspect she got wet as I said it.

SEVEN: Tuesday, Second Date

Kayla was partly right. I do watch cuckold porn. I watch other porn too, of course, including the dreaded stepsister/stepbrother stuff. But yeah, I have a thing for cheating wives, hotwives, and so on. What I like most is when the bull really seems to blow the wife's mind. I guess that's the fantasy for me – that there is some dude out there who can fuck “my woman” so good she loses her mind. I didn't always have the fantasy. It grew over time as my relationship with Kayla solidified... or maybe calcified? But I also wasn't lying when I told Kayla I was thinking about her as well. She obviously wanted to see this guy. For all her suggestions that I was forcing her into an affair, I knew Kayla too well to take that seriously. She's nothing if not independent, and if she really wasn't interested, she'd have shut the whole thing down in a New York minute.

She dressed more casually for her second date, but no less carefully. At the core of the outfit were her favorite coral-colored Capris. I have it on good authority that all women have a particular pair of pants that they love because it makes their ass look great. This was Kayla's. She'd had them for years, from when Capris were in, through the years when they were out, and still now that they seemed to be making a comeback. And while her ass is always pretty epic, in these it was literally jaw dropping. She paired it with cute, strappy, open-toed sandals, and a white, tight, ribbed tank top. Her make-up was subtler as well. Less hot vixen, more girl-next-door, though through some sort of womanly sorcery she managed to make her eyes look even larger and bluer than usual.

“Uber's on its way,” she said as she came downstairs. I followed her into the foyer.

“I hope I didn't underdress,” she said.

“You look amazing.”

“Are you sure?” She cupped her boobs. “I should have worn a padded bra.”

“But then your perky nips wouldn't poke through when you got excited.”

“Or cold.”

I laughed. "I think my scenario is more likely than yours." She didn't reply and I added, "He's a lucky man. You look good enough to eat."

I said it without really thinking, but I immediately pictured her on all fours with Darren munching away at her from behind.

"If you'd rather have me for yourself, I can always cancel the ride."

"You don't really want me to do that."

She cogitated for a moment. "No," she admitted.

"Are you thinking about what you're going to do with him tonight?"

I glanced over in time to see her blush. "Not really," she lied.

The car pulled up. She moved toward the door.

"Have fun," I said.

She paused at the threshold. "Do I have a curfew?"

"Thinking about spending the night?"

She shrugged. "You never know."

"No curfew."

She gave me a peck on the cheek and bounded out the door and to the waiting car.

I paced around the house, watched some baseball on TV, and had a couple of beers. For dinner, I nuked some leftover chicken stir-fry. I spent a lot of time thinking about my wife and her new... what? What was Darren at this point? Not a boyfriend. And not even a lover... though for all I knew that bridge might already have been crossed. Still just a crush then.

My thoughts didn't dwell too much on what Kayla and Darren might be up to. I'd know soon enough, and speculation wouldn't provide an answer anyway. I thought about how sexy she'd looked both on their first date and tonight. I felt a small frisson of jealousy that she was pulling out all the stops for him, and how rarely she did that for me. But then again, when was the last time I'd dressed up for her? Or worn cologne? Years. I'd have to change that. Next time Kayla and I had a date night, I wouldn't see it as just an opportunity for a night out without the kids. I'd actually make an effort to romance my wife. Funny how your wife seeing another man makes you want to work just a little harder, isn't it?

I must have been pretty successful at keeping myself occupied because even though Kayla didn't return until after 11, nearly five hours after she'd gone, the time passed quickly. As before, I knew she'd returned because of a car pulling into our driveway. Another Uber. I wondered if he'd paid for it. Isn't that the least you can do when you fuck another man's wife?

She stepped out and virtually skipped to the house. I opened the door for her.

"Oh my God, Jeremy. Oh my God," she gushed.

"What?"

"Okay, you need to get us a couple of drinks, and meet me on the sofa. I need to pee."

I chuckled but did as I was told.

She returned and sat down next to me. She'd splashed water on her face, but still seemed a little jittery. My excitement grew.

"Okay, Baby," she began. "So, I need to show you something, and I don't know if it is going to turn you on or freak you out."

"From your tone I think I'd guess both."

She laughed. "Oh God, probably."

Then she pulled out her phone and pulled up a picture.

"Is that?" I began.

"Uh huh."

It was a pic of a very thick, very long cock. Even more jarring was a woman's hand near the base, not even close to being able to encircle it fully. Kayla's hand, as was made obvious by the gold tennis bracelet the woman in the photo was wearing, the same bracelet I could see on my wife's wrist as she held up the phone.

"Oh, wow," I gasped.

"Just under nine inches. I measured," she added with a giggle. "I've never seen one that big. Not even close. Not out in the wild at least."

I've never been particularly anxious about my dick size. I've even been told by women that I am bigger than average, but yeah, Darren was apparently hung like a porn star. His cock was so impressive that it took me a few moments to focus on the fact that my wife was gripping his erection in the photo.

"Oh, wow, you fucked him," I gasped.

“No, not yet,” she replied, eschewing the teasing this time. “No, but I did play with it.”

“Play?”

“Uh huh. Want me to show you?”

I thought she was going to bring up some more pics or a video, but instead she put down the phone and reached for my zipper.

“What are you doing?” I asked.

“I’m going to demonstrate what I did to Darren so you can, uh, better picture it.”

She peeled open my shorts and then said, “It’ll be easier if you take these off.”

I was a little shaken and made compliant as a result. She got my shorts and boxers off. I sat on the sofa bare assed. I was hard already, and she leaned down and kissed the head of my cock.

“I didn’t quite know where to begin,” she said. “So, I just started by kissing it all over.”

She proceeded to lightly kiss up and down my shaft, just little pecks and a tease of her flicking tongue.

“Then I gave him more kisses.”

Kayla again roamed over my cock, her kisses open-mouthed and wet. She paid extra attention to the head, licking around the top, and then kissing the tip. She pressed my cock down, and then kissed and licked her way from my abs to my glans, and then down the bottom of my shaft to my scrotum. She slipped off the sofa and kneeled between my legs.

“I got on the floor so I could suck on his big balls,” she said.

She licked and then took my balls into her mouth, one at a time. She looked up at me as she did, fixing me with those baby blues.

“Oh wow,” I moaned.

She immediately backed off and gave my thigh a quick, sharp pinch.

“Owww, fuck,” I hissed.

She chuckled. “You’re not coming yet.” It wasn’t a question. It was a command.

“Did you do that to him?”

“Actually, I did. I wanted time to really play with his big, beautiful cock. Couldn’t let him end my fun too soon. But don’t worry, I made it up to him.”

She kissed my thigh where she'd pinched it. Then pressed up against me, she writhed against me as she kissed my thighs, my belly. She lifted up my shirt, and I took it the rest of the way off. She licked and kissed my chest and my nipples, then my shoulders and my neck. She sucked on my ear lobes. She kissed my mouth wetly, passionately, her body grinding on mine. All of that was so hot, and even hotter when I remembered she wasn't actually making out with me, but rather replaying what she'd done with Darren.

That insight became more poignant as she worked her way back down my body. Settled again between my thighs, she returned her hands and mouth to my cock. She kissed my shaft sloppily, getting it wet enough that it squished loudly when she stroked me up and down with her palms. Then she took the head, and only the head, into her mouth. She looked up at me and swirled her tongue.

I let out a long, low moan. And then she pinched me again. “Owww,” I whined.

She chuckled. “Now Jeremy, you're not going to complain, are you? I did that to Darren for over an hour.”

“An hour?”

“Uh huh.” She again kissed where she pinched, and when she was sure I wasn't about to pop immediately, she returned to stroke my shaft slowly. “Like I said, I wanted to really enjoy his length, his girth. At first, I could only take his head into my mouth. But my momma didn't raise a quitter, and I kept at it.” She licked my cock head and swallowed me deep, almost to the root. She rose back up. “I like to think I am pretty good at that.”

“Oh God, yes,” I sighed.

She released my cock and instead slowly kissed her way across my belly.

“But even after an hour, I could still barely take half of him in my mouth.”

“Ah poor baby,” I snarked.

“As you can imagine, he was more frustrated that I kept pinching him. After a while, he got better at hiding how close he was. But he still had a tell.” She chuckled. “Every time he got close, he got rougher with my nipples.”

“I can understand.... Wait... what were you wearing while you were blowing him?”

“He was naked like you, and I was naked, except for my thong.”

That hit me hard. I pictured my wife, nude save for her skimpy panties, worshiping Darren’s huge member. I gasped, “Oh God,” and my jism spurted high in the air, splashing across my chest.

Kayla shrieked and then giggled. “Oh, wow, I was barely touching you even.”

“You were naked?” I said.

“Mostly. I mean, I didn’t just go down on him. What kind of a slut do you think I am?”

“I... I....”

She laughed. “I’m just messing with you. But yeah, we started with kissing, and then slowly the clothes came off, and when I got a good feel of what he was packing, I turned my attention there.” She paused. “Would you like a towel?”

“Yeah, that'd be great.”

She went into the kitchen and returned with a clean dish towel. I wiped myself off.

Kayla sat back down next to me. “Well, that was unexpected.”

“What happened with him?”

“I just kept at it. Lick, sucking, taking him deeper, pulling back when he was close, edging him over and over. His cock is amazing. So big and hard.”

“I didn’t realize you were such a size queen.”

“I didn’t either. And I’m not sure I am. I just liked handling that thing. Even half-way in my mouth, I could still get two hands on his shaft, and his balls were so big too. So much to play with. Probably how you’d feel if you got your hands on a nice set of double-Ds, I’d think.”

“Maybe, though that’s different.”

“How so?”

“Well, I wouldn’t be taking those double-Ds inside me.”

“Men are interesting. So you’re more threatened by my taking his dick in my pussy than in my mouth?”

“I’m not sure I’m threatened, but yeah, somehow it feels different, you sucking him versus him pounding you.”

“Even though the pounding is your fantasy.”

“Did you ever let him come?”

She laughed. “Of course. That would be torture otherwise... for both of us. He wanted to come. And I wanted to taste him.” She dabbed a drop of jism off my chest and brought it to her mouth.

“You let him come in your mouth?”

Kayla used to do that for me when we first started dating, but it had been years since.

She nodded. “You’d have been proud of me. I was such a good girl. I let him come in my mouth. And, oh my God, after all that edging, he came a gallon. And I swallowed it all.”

“Why didn’t you fuck him?”

“We should probably go upstairs to finish the story. After all, all of this happened in his bedroom, not his sofa.”

I was rock hard again, my mouth dry as a desert. She stood and quickly stripped down to just her thong. Then she took my hand and led me toward our bedroom. As I followed her up the stairs, I could see how excited she was. Her panties were soaked, translucent, and clinging to her pussy. I wondered if she’d lied to me in the interest of building to a surprise reveal of her swollen, well-fucked cunt. And I also knew that was what I hoped would come out.

We lay on the bed, side-by-side, facing each other.

“After I got a little cleaned up,” she began, “we started kissing again.”

She leaned forward and kissed me passionately. My hands roamed over her body. I teased her rock-hard nipples, palmed her perfect ass.

“He has great hands. Just like you,” she sighed. “He said he wanted to make love to me. I told him I was scared.”

“Scared? Of what?”

She chuckled. “That’s what he asked. So, I told him. Ten percent, I was scared he was too big and he might hurt me. Ninety percent, I was scared I’d love it too much.”

“Too much?”

“Hmmm. I’ve only been with a half-dozen men in my life. You’re the biggest I’ve been with, and the best. I can still remember the first time we made love. How good it felt. The way you stretched me. That small moment of uncertainty, and then that sense of submission as you began thrusting inside me.”

“You were so hot,” I said. “You still are. I remember that look on your face, and the way you relaxed into it. The way you curled beneath me, and your legs went in the air.”

She was glowing with excitement. “And how it felt when you were completely inside me. Do you remember that kiss?”

I chuckled. “I remember not lasting long.”

“It was perfect.” She stroked my cheek. Then she added: “What if I feel like that with him?”

“You think you will?”

“I don’t know. Maybe.” She sighed. “I think so. There is something about him that leaves me feeling gooey inside. When I said I didn’t want to have sex, he offered to reciprocate the oral. But I told him no. I didn’t trust myself to keep my head if he got near my clit.”

“Is that how your evening ended with him?”

She chuckled. “Not quite. Lying on his bed, mostly naked, kissing and fondling, he was hard again, and I couldn’t leave him in that condition.”

“You’re so considerate. Did you edge him again?”

“No, this time I gave him my best, sloppiest blowjob. And when he started moaning, I made eye contact and sucked him deeper, until he came in my mouth again.”

“Fuck, you’re sexy,” I sighed.

“So, Jeremy, you’ve already come. Does that mean we’re done fooling around until my next date?”

“When is that?”

“He asked me if I was free Saturday.”

“So you’re not scared anymore?”

“I’m still scared, but also curious.”

“Take off your panties,” I said.

“Um okay.”

She did and I grabbed her and rolled her on top of me.

“Third date. He’s going to expect you to put out.”

“And I plan to,” she replied.

I reached down and rubbed my cock up and down her slit. She was so wet and swollen.

“Well, then we need to make sure this pussy is nice and ready for him.”

My cock slid inside her. We moaned together.

“You’re going to need to fuck me more than once then,” she said.

“Oh, don’t worry. I plan to.”

EIGHT: Wednesday to Friday

Back when Kayla and I first started dating, there was a stretch where we just couldn't keep our hands off each other. It wasn't just that we wanted each other all the time, though we did, but how primed we were. Just being in the same room, or even just thinking about her, kept me in a state of near-permanent semi-arousal. And judging by how quickly she was ready to go, it was the same for her. Quickies don't mean sex without foreplay; they happen when merely being in the same room is a form of foreplay in itself.

Kayla's upcoming date with Darren, coupled with what had already happened between them, brought us back into that state. Despite increasingly intense and sweaty rounds of sex Tuesday night into early morning, I still woke up Wednesday with residual ardor.

My wife apparently felt the same. She was running a little late, and I got downstairs before her and was eating breakfast when she appeared. She was wearing another of her sexy sundresses, though she could have been in a sackcloth, and I suspect it would not have made a difference.

Our eyes met. She looked at her watch. "I have five minutes," she said.

I didn't quite understand what she meant until she casually bent over the kitchen table, lifted up her dress, and slid her cute, little pink thong aside. She was visibly aroused.

"Fuck me," she growled, low, feral.

I rose so fast my chair flew across the room. Belt, pants button, zipper, all opened in an instant. I was fully erect and sank into her in an instant. I grabbed her hips and began thrusting inside her. There was nothing subtle or romantic about it. We fucked hard, animal rutting. Kayla's moans and the gyrations of her ass proof, if I needed any, that this was just what she wanted. She came almost right away, and I was not far behind.

As I pulled out, she adjusted her thong and stood up. She glanced at her watch.

"Good, I still have time for a quick breakfast."

I sat out on the deck after work. I'd been worthless all day. I was completely sexed up, and it didn't help when I received a text from Kayla midday.

<Kayla>: I dreamed about your big cock all last night. Can't wait for Saturday.

Then a moment later.

<Kayla>: Oops, Babe, didn't mean to send that to you.

Which was, of course, a lie. She had meant to send it to me, though I didn't doubt it was also meant for Darren.

When Kayla returned a little while later, she seemed to have spent the day equally hot and bothered.

She found me out back, and without prologue issued a terse command: "Take off your pants."

I looked around. Our backyard is fenced and reasonably private, but there were still plenty of neighbor windows that had a view onto our patio. I was about to note that when I saw that Kayla was unbuttoning her dress. She peeled it off her shoulders and slid off her bra straps as well. Perky titties on display, she advanced on me.

I hastened to pull down my pants. She settled down on the ground between my legs and swallowed my cock whole. She made eye contact and began bobbing up and down, tongue lapping at the head, hands massaging my balls and shaft. This wasn't normal marital sex. This was a street hooker turning a trick as quickly as possible. And it worked.

"Oh God, Kay, I'm close."

She removed my cock from her mouth. "Don't be shy. Darren wasn't."

She took me deep again. I gasped and came in her mouth. She swallowed it all, and even continued to stroke me as I softened to elicit every last drop. Then she rose and wiped her mouth with the back of her hand. She walked toward the house, and as she did, she pulled her dress over her hips and let it fall to the ground. Then her bra. And then, just before she went through the sliding door into the kitchen, she wriggled out of her panties.

It took me a moment to work through my stunned paralysis, but then I was after her like a shot. Holding up my pants as I followed, I caught up to her as she started up the stairs and virtually tackled her. She dropped to her hands and knees on the steps, leaving me in a perfect position to bury my face in her juicy snatch. I licked and sucked her slick folds. She reached back and cupped the back of my head. Her hips pumped a mile a minute. I spread her cheeks and dipped low so that I could lick from her clit all the way to her ass. She hissed and growled lustily, and before I knew it she was writhing orgasmically.

Kayla wriggled free and rolled onto her back. Sitting on a step, she spread her legs wide and pressed two fingers into her pussy.

“You gonna fuck me with that thing or just watch?” She asked.

I was hard again, and I didn’t need any additional prompting. I whipped off my shirt and kicked off my pants. I hammered my cock inside her. She gripped my ass and urged me to fuck her harder.

“That’s it, Baby,” she cooed. “Stretch out your wife’s pussy for another man to fuck. Get me ready for his huge cock.”

It wasn’t just the lewd words that got me off, but also the way she licked her lips as she said it.

“Oh God,” I moaned as I came again.

I collapsed onto her. She chuckled. “Not bad, not bad at all,” she said. “But we still have a lot of work to do to get me ready for Darren.”

I felt my cock twitch again.

We didn’t cook for three days. No time. We just ordered delivery. We didn’t sleep much either. Eschewing our normal PJs, lying next to each other in the nude, grazing against one another in the dark quickly turned into passionate makeout sessions and more. It’s a miracle neither of us got fired.

Between sex, Kayla showed me the fruits of her research. We scrolled through a Twitter feed she’d curated of cuckold and cheating wife memes, pictures, and videos. We browsed the cuckold videos on porn sites. She read to me from some special authors she’d discovered online.

We happened on a video of a woman taking a very big, very fat dick while supposedly talking to her husband on the phone. I could tell from Kayla's body language that this one particularly turned her on.

"Is it the dick? Or that she's talking to her husband?" I asked.

She answered without taking her eyes off the video. "That could be us."

"A lot of it could." I considered it for a moment. "You asked me before what part of it turned me on, but you never told me what you liked or might want to do."

She chortled. "Uh, I think I'm pretty spoiled already. A handsome, charming new lover and a smitten husband who can't get enough of me."

"Fair enough. You do owe me big time."

She rolled her eyes. "Don't get crazy, this is your fantasy more than mine." On the screen the woman getting fucked was no longer describing what was happening. She was just moaning into the phone. Kayla was rapt.

"Do you think that would be even hotter if he was in the room watching?"

"Maybe, but I like that the bull isn't paying any attention to the husband or the phone."

"He's just working the pussy."

"Mmmm, yeah. So, in many of these videos, the bull is, like, more focused on the husband. The wife is just a prop, you know. The real action, so to speak, is the bull taunting the cuck. You sort of almost feel like they'd rather be fucking each other."

I chuckled. "And you want there to be no doubt who is getting fucked."

"Yeah. I mean, even in a threesome, I'd want both the men to be focused on me. On what I am doing to them, and they to me. If that makes me a diva, so be it."

"I'd like to watch you with Darren," I said.

"I know."

"I could sit quietly in the corner, and you could tell him to ignore me."

"You don't need to sit in a corner. But you can't play director either."

"I can live with that."

The video ended and she turned toward me. "I think it would also be hot if you held my hand... and kissed me gently... and whispered sweet nothings in my ear."

"While he's shredding your pussy."

"Yes," she gasped. "Or... my ass."

My heart raced.

"You've never... we've never...."

"I don't want to do it with you." She gasped silently at my crestfallen expression. "Fuck, I didn't mean it like that."

"It's okay. What did you mean?"

"I... it's just... I don't want that to be us. I can't explain. It's just... I don't want to be the girl you fuck up the ass. It feels, I don't know, disrespectful or something."

"But you still find it hot."

"Uh huh. I was too scared to do it when I was younger. But now..." she shrugged. Then peering at me she added, "especially if you were there."

I groaned as a surge of excitement washed over me. "You want me to watch Darren sodomize you."

She didn't answer. Not verbally at least. Instead, she quickly straddled me and fed my prick into her soaked pussy. She ground against me, gasping into my ear, "yes, Baby, that's what I want."

Friday night after a couple of rounds, first on the living room sofa, and then up in our bedroom, we discussed logistics.

"I want him to come over here tomorrow," Kayla announced.

"You want to fuck him in our bed."

She grinned. "I hadn't thought of it that way. I was just thinking it would be a safe place for me, and also easier for you to watch. But now that you mention it, being taken by another man in our marital bed does sound pretty hot."

"Hadn't thought of it, huh?"

She ignored me as she continued. "I haven't asked him if he's okay with you being in the room yet. But also, I'm not sure I want you in the room. At least not right away. Not the first time."

I nodded, though I was a little disappointed. “Okay, though the first time he enters you... that’ll be hot.”

“I know, but I’ll be nervous enough as is. And... I know this is selfish, but that first time, I don’t want to be thinking about you, or worrying about how you’re dealing with it, or thinking about putting on a show. I just want to be able to surrender to the sensation of having a really big cock inside me. Is that... okay?”

“I think so. Yes.”

“So there’s more. I... I want some time with him. I’m making him dinner. I want to be able to enjoy it with him, and a bottle of wine. I want to work into it slowly. I want to kiss him and gradually undress him. I want to kiss him all over. And I want him to do the same to me.”

“Where should I be?”

“I was thinking you’d be out. I was thinking I’d text you when we were ready for round two.”

So, I’d be in a bar or something, just waiting while my wife fucked another man. “Okay,” I groaned.

“You sure, Baby?”

“No,” I said with a chuckle. “But let’s give it a shot.”

She smiled. “I want this to be good for you, but also good for me.”

“That’s reasonable,” I replied, though an inkling of doubt passed through my mind. “I can’t believe we’re doing this.”

I’ve never been one of those people who thinks “sucking ain’t fucking” or “eatin ain’t cheatin.” It is. And yet, it isn’t quite, especially in this case. Yes, Kayla had sucked another man off and swallowed his come. She’d made love to his prick, and he’d had his hands all over her. Nonetheless, the idea of him putting his penis inside her still seemed like an important boundary to be crossed. Maybe it was just how big he was. Like Kayla, I had this gnawing worry that the experiences would change her. And like Kayla, I found that both frightening and erotic. It was probably an absurd concern. A dick is a dick. Kayla had birthed two kids and her pussy was as tight as ever. But knowing all of that did little to diminish my response.

I think I was sorta hoping she’d back out, and I was also conscious that the initiative in all of this had shifted at some point. Kayla had taken ownership, and that too was both scary and sexy. She was now eager for it, and that realization had me a little shook.

“Finally,” she said, completely ignoring or not recognizing my anxiety, “we probably should have talked about this before I took him in my mouth, but anyway, I don’t want to use a condom with him.”

I shuddered slightly. “Okay. But why?”

“Well, Jer, I could tell you that I want to make sure I have a nice, juicy creampie to share with you, but honestly, it’s more about wanting to feel him skin to skin. For my first time with a really big cock, I just want it to be completely au naturel.”

“So, you’ll use a condom the second time?”

“Don’t be fatuous, Jeffrey,” she replied with a grin.

“Erm, well, okay then. You think I should go bowling while you’re entertaining then?”

She shrugged. “Bowl. Drink. Jerk off. Just be out of the house, okay?”

I nodded. “Okay.” Then after a moment, I added, “Wow, you’ve really gotten into this.”

“You were right. I did want this, and now I can’t stop thinking about it.”

My cock was quickly coming back to life. “Well, maybe I can distract you for a bit.”

She chuckled. “Easy, Tiger. In less than 24 hours, I’ll be spreading my legs for his huge cock. I need to let the kitty rest until then.”

I groaned in disappointment, but Kayla didn’t relent, or even offer an alternative.

NINE: Saturday, Third Date

I didn't sleep well. I was horny and anxious, and the two emotions fed on each other. So I woke up feeling barely rested as a result.

Kayla, though, was another story. By the time I got up, she was halfway into an intense BodyPump workout. Sweaty in her yoga shorts and sports bra, she looked good enough to eat, but I knew she was getting her pump on for Darren and not me. Knowing that, I went for a run before the summer heat got too oppressive.

After returning and showering, I caught up with Kayla in the kitchen. She'd just returned from the store with ingredients for tonight's dinner: Chilean Sea Bass, Thai peppers, and French beans. I noticed a couple of new bottles in the fridge, a prosecco and a lovely Chenin Blanc.

"You're going all out," I noted.

"Wanted to make something tasty, a little spicy, but not too filling. Want to make sure we leave room for dessert."

"And by dessert, you mean sex."

She smiled but didn't respond.

"So, what time is he getting here?"

"Six," she replied.

"Early."

"I told you I wanted to take my time with him, but also didn't want you to stay out until last call, you know."

"That's very thoughtful."

She ignored my snark.

"Jer, so how would you feel if he and I ate out back on the patio? Or maybe used the hot tub?"

"Ha. You're just trying to put in my head the idea of the neighbors knowing you have a lover."

"It is something we probably should have discussed," she said. "This isn't like some dude I hooked-up with in Vegas. I met him at a bar after a work function, and we've been out for dinner and drinks. It's certainly possible that someone we know saw us together."

"A little late to be worrying about that, I think."

She shrugged. "As long as you're okay with it.... So, patio, hot tub?"

"Knock yourself out."

She put away the groceries as I made myself a sandwich for lunch. She was smiling and humming to herself, and I couldn't help but assume that thinking about entertaining Darren had put her in an exceptionally good mood. She was clearly jazzed, flitting around the house in tight terry-cloth shorts and a tank top, casual but very sexy.

"Did you pick out your outfit for tonight?" I asked.

"I'm considering a couple."

"Do I get a fashion show?"

She laughed. "Oh, you have some ideas? How would you dress me? Sexy or demure? Dressy or casual?"

"Maybe it would be easier if you just wore a bathrobe and nothing else underneath."

She wheeled toward me. "Now that is an interesting idea."

"I was kidding."

She ruffled my hair. "So was I. I think I'll pass on the fashion show this time. I have a pretty good idea already."

She didn't elucidate further, leaving me to my imagination.

When I finished eating, she approached. "Baby, would you mind straightening up the living room? I'd like to make a good impression."

I chuckled. "Speaking as a man, I can assure you that if I thought I was going to get tail, you could be a hoarder for all I care."

"Maybe, but if he's got me bent over the sofa and is pounding me from behind, I'd rather not have my gaze alight upon your smelly running shoes."

I rolled my eyes. "Fine."

Which is how I found myself cleaning the house in preparation for my wife's date. There were times in all of this that I found myself marveling at how subtly Kayla seemed to be able to push my buttons.

I was vacuuming when I noticed her scoot upstairs. I checked my watch. It was already after 3:00pm. I am not sure there is any circumstance under which time flies faster than in a count-down to one's wife going on a date with another man.

With the ground floor nice and tidy, I went upstairs to see how Kayla was getting on. She was in the bathroom, and from the sounds of water sloshing, luxuriating in the tub and giving herself an extra-close shave. I hoped Darren would appreciate all the effort, though I suspected he'd be oblivious to it all. After all, he didn't just think he was going to get his dick inside her, he knew it. She'd already spent hours worshipping his cock, including gobbling down two loads of his come. And given how worked up Kayla seemed to be, I was half-convinced they'd never make it even to dinner. They'd probably be fucking on the floor in the foyer.

Kayla, at least, didn't seem to be thinking that. She'd straightened up our bedroom while I was downstairs. Both night tables, usually cluttered with books and tissues and reading glasses, had been wiped clean. Our wedding picture was discreetly placed up high on a dresser in the corner, not hidden, but also not prominently displayed. Kayla had changed the bed as well, and I noticed with a start that she'd apparently procured silk sheets for the occasion. She was pulling out all the stops.

I knew better than to sit on the freshly made bed while I waited for her to emerge. So instead, I sat in the chair by the window. This would also probably be my perch from which to observe "round two" as Kayla had proposed. By then, the bed would be a mess and our bedroom would surely smell of arousal and come. The closer we got to the appointed time, the more lurid my fantasies became. We really were crossing a bridge this evening. Even though Kayla and Darren had already been quite intimate, it still felt a little unreal. The only thing I'd seen was her hand clutching at his massive cock; the other images in my mind were there due to her recounting. That would all change in a few hours, and I wondered how it would affect me to see it. I realized Kayla had been right to suggest that she spend some time alone with Darren. Having me in the room was likely to be fraught.

I heard her step out of the tub, and then the shower came on. She'd be soaping herself up, running her hands over her body, relishing how smooth she was all over. I was tempted to strip down, burst in, and ravish her. If the goal of embracing the hotwife lifestyle was to spice up our relationship, then mission accomplished. Of course, that only works if the wife is genuinely into the other man. Otherwise, it is just a transparent charade and risible. But if she really is into the other man, you can't just turn it off once the juices are flowing. I had no doubt Kayla was doing this to turn me on. I also had no doubt that she was eagerly anticipating feeling his huge cock plunging into her.

The shower turned off, and I could make out her merrily humming to herself until that was drowned out by the sound of the hairdryer. She took longer than usual, and I knew she was doing some more of that girl magic, adding waves or curls maybe, or, I didn't know. She was always able to surprise me.

She jolted when she saw me as she exited the bathroom, but quickly recovered her composure.

"You startled me," she said. "Wasn't expecting to see you lurking out here silently like a stalker."

But if she had recovered her equipoise, I was increasingly flummoxed. She'd come out of the bathroom with a robe draped loosely over her shoulders and open in the front.

"You shaved." She usually kept her vulva shaved, but for the first time she'd also shorn the triangle above.

She looked down as if confirming it for herself. She ran her hand over her lower abdomen. "I wanted to be perfect for him." As my head spun, she added, "You don't mind, do you?"

I could only shake my head mutely.

She sat down at her dressing table and set to work on her makeup. For their first date, she'd gone for that party girl look. For the second, it was girl-next-door. I watched for the next several minutes as she put on her face for the third date. Eyeliner and a touch of color on her eyelids, mascara, glossy pink lips. She had her hair back behind her ears, and except for one strand, expertly twisted and seemingly casual that framed the right side of her face. It was not quite subtle, but also not overwhelming, and undeniably sexy.

She turned toward me, batted her eyelashes and asked, "How do I look?"

"Amazing," I replied honestly.

"You're my husband. You have to say that."

"You asked. What were you looking for?"

She stood and slipped the robe off her shoulders. It fell to the floor. She stood before me, naked, bare, and sultry.

“Fuckable?”

I nodded. She was definitely that. But not by me. This was all for Darren and his huge prick. She picked up her favorite bottle of perfume. She gave herself a quick spritz on her wrists, throat, between her breasts, and, most provocatively, her inner thighs. Then she ducked into her closet and emerged with another cute sundress. It was red, floral print, mid-thigh length with spaghetti straps. She slipped it on and smoothed it out.

“Uh, did you forget something?” I asked.

She flicked it upward and flashed me her bare ass. “No, I don’t think I did.”

My emotions were roiling. I knew that my wife planned to fuck another man tonight. So why did it matter that her hair and makeup were perfect, that she’d shaved completely for the first time in our marriage, that she was planning to greet him in a short, sheer dress with nothing underneath? It shouldn’t matter, but somehow it did.

She straightened up her dressing table and then did the same in the bathroom. With a head nod she summoned me to follow her back downstairs. She didn’t want me messing up her staging upstairs.

Back in the kitchen, she began to work on her mise en place, slicing the hot peppers thin, mincing garlic, and washing her beans.

“Oh fuck,” she said suddenly.

“What?”

“I forgot something.” She winced. “Could you run a quick errand for me?”

“Um, sure.”

“I forgot to buy lube.”

I cringed.

“He’s sooo big,” she explained. “I don’t think I’ll need it for straight sex, but you never know, and, of course, if we do any butt stuff....” She trailed off. “Do you mind?”

“Of course not,” I said, forcing a smile.

So, there I was, roaming the aisles of our local drug store to buy lube while my wife was back home prepping a gourmet meal for her lover. I picked up a large tube; I wasn’t sure how much they’d need. And I also grabbed a pack of condoms, just in case.

By the time I returned, she had all the meal prep done, and had poured herself a glass of wine – though not the good stuff she was saving for Darren and touching up her fingernails. She'd removed the acrylics she'd worn on their first date, and she was now sporting her natural nails, shorter and with a subtle pink polish. I showed her what I'd bought.

She nodded at the lube and chuckled at the condoms. "We won't need those. But go ahead and put it all in my nightstand, okay?"

I went upstairs and did as she'd asked. In her drawer I found a couple of articles she'd printed out from the Web with titles like, "How to Fearlessly Navigate a Giant Penis" and "What to Do if He's Huge." I placed the lube and condoms and came back downstairs.

She was ready for me to get out of her hair.

"So where are you going?"

I shrugged. "Probably Harry's."

"Good choice. Just keep your eyes on your phone. When I text you to come home, I can't promise we'll wait to start round two if you dawdle too much."

"I won't."

"But that won't be for a while, okay? I'm guessing not much before ten or so."

I nodded.

Kayla looked at the clock on the microwave. 5:26pm. "Well, you should probably go. I want a few minutes to myself before he arrives."

She looked at me expectantly until I rose. "Um, I guess I'll be going."

"Have fun," she said.

"You too," I replied, completely unnecessarily.

I don't know why I picked Harry's. Yes, it was close by, but it was also a quiet neighborhood bar, and honestly, I could have used a little more distraction around me, not to mention less attention from Alex, the bartender. He seemed like a nice enough guy and obviously he thought he was doing me a favor by chit-chatting with me. Normally he'd have been right. But tonight, was anything but normal, and it was difficult trying to engage in small talk knowing that my wife was back at home awaiting the arrival of her horse-dicked lover.

I knew, intellectually, that I was putting too much emphasis on his dick size. Realistically, it would more likely be an impediment to a good time than anything else. But, of course, that's not how the male mind works. I couldn't shake the feeling that this wouldn't be just a sexy and meaningless fling. That it would instead be eye-opening and life changing. That he was going to take my wife with his massive tool, and she'd remain his in body if not in soul thereafter.

Kayla wasn't helping.

<Kayla>: OMG, he just arrived. I am NOT going to need that lube. I'm already soaked.

I checked the time. 6:00pm. He was exactly on time, which likely meant he'd arrived early and cruised the neighborhood for a bit until it was time to knock on the door. I wondered if he'd arrived early enough to see me leave. I buried that thought as quickly as I could. It was hard enough seeing Kayla so smitten. I absolutely did not need to get inside the head of the man who was cuckolding me.

<Jeremy>: Have fun!

I replied lamely. She left me on read, and it was hard to shake the suspicion that they'd just gotten right down to business. She certainly was (un)dressed for it, and knowing Kayla she'd probably given him a tease right away. How long then between a flash of her bare and juicy cunt and him burying his oversized pole inside her. Seconds or minutes?

It was 6:03pm and he was surely already turning her inside out. That's the flip side of time flying as the date approached. Now that they were together, every minute felt like an hour.

I had promised myself I wouldn't drink much. I had to drive and I also wanted to keep my wits about me. My empty pint glass mocked my intentions. I ordered a second promising myself it would be my last. I also ordered a burger, more to pass the time than anything. I didn't really have much appetite.

It was funny that Kayla had told me to keep an eye on my phone. In reality, I couldn't take my eyes off it. She finally texted me back after half an hour.

<Kayla>: Wow. Okay, so this is super intense. Hello turned into a mini-makeout session. He gave my ass a squeeze, so I think he knows I'm not wearing panties. He's in the bathroom right now readjusting himself, and we're going out onto the patio to drink some bubbs. I'll try not to fuck him out back, but you could cut the sexual tension with a knife.

I read and re-read the text. That line, "I'll try not to fuck him..." burrowed into me. It communicated how out of control Kayla felt, how in thrall to her desires she was at the moment.

<Jeremy>: Sounds hot!

She responded with a devil emoji.

I ordered a third beer. I'd have to walk home. It was two miles, so doable, but it also meant I wouldn't be able to get home quickly when she texted that round two was about to start. But, of course, I could preempt that by heading back sooner. On foot, I could lurk close by, or maybe even creep up and spy on them a bit before my summons came. That would be a bit creepy, perhaps, but then again, it wasn't clear to me that this game had firm rules anymore.

I nursed my beer a bit and finished off my burger. It wasn't half bad and having a little something in my stomach did serve to take the edge off some. I closed my tab and began walking home. My phone buzzed in my pocket when I was barely out the door.

<Kayla>: Sitting down to dinner. I was a bad girl. Couldn't resist running my tongue up and down his fat cock for a few minutes. Didn't let him come. I want all of that in my pussy. But that bulge in his pants is sooo fucking tempting. You have no idea.

I considered returning to my car but decided against it. I wasn't hammered, but between three pints and being lightheaded from excitement, I'd be a hazard on the road. I picked up my pace.

As it turned out, my math was a little wrong. It's closer to two-and-a-half miles from Harry's to home. I tried to pick up the pace, but it was still almost 50 minutes before I turned onto our street. My phone buzzed again just when our house appeared in view. Another text came in.

<Kayla>: Dinner done. Dessert time. We're going upstairs.

Then a few moments later.

<Kayla>: Oh God, this is so fucking hot. Thank you for having the bestest fantasies!

I broke into a near jog, step, step, skip, to hurry myself along. As I approached our house, I peered up at the second floor. I half expected to see them framed in our bedroom window, making out or more. But instead found that the shades were drawn. I crept to the front door and quietly let myself in. I carefully shut the door behind me and listened for any sounds. Nothing.

I stumbled as I took a step forward and looked down to see I'd stepped on a pair of men's shoes. Loafers. Size 13. I removed my shoes as well to quiet my footsteps. I peered into the kitchen and saw two flutes on the counter with a few drops of prosecco in the bottom, and one with a smudge of Kayla's lip gloss. I crossed the kitchen and peeked into the dining room. Their plates and glasses remained on the table. Dessert had been too pressing to clean up.

Wheeling, I retraced my steps and approached the stairs. I took a deep breath. I didn't know what awaited me upstairs. Or, more accurately, I did know. I just didn't know how I'd react to it.

I paused before cresting the final steps and cautiously peered down the hallway toward the master bedroom. The door was shut. That was both a relief and a disappointment. It meant I could approach close enough to hear, but I wouldn't be able to see in. I found myself wishing we lived in an old Victorian with keyholes to peak through instead of a 1980s-era colonial.

Even from the end of the hallway I could hear music playing, something sultry and bassy, though I couldn't make out the melody. I took a few tentative steps and began to make out voices. Well, one voice at least, Kayla's. Another few steps. I entered the guest room that shared a wall with the master bedroom. But if I thought I could listen through the drywall, I was mistaken. All I heard was heavily muffled sounds. Keeping the door ajar, I returned to the hallway and pressed my ear against the door to our bedroom. It was still muffled, but clearer than I'd expected.

I recognized the song playing. Macy Gray, "I Try," and I realized that Kayla was probably playing her romance playlist. We'd made love to it many times, and I was surprised and a little hurt that she was playing it with another man. But then again, she was entertaining him in our bedroom, in our bed, so this was a minor transgression to add to the piles of contraventions of marital norms already at play.

There were no voices for a time. Just the music. I imagined them, in the dimly lit room, dancing slowly, their bodies pressed together. Then they began kissing. I heard their lips smacking, the soft breaths and gasps as their ardor increased. I pictured Kayla rising on her tiptoes to kiss him, her hands on the back of his head. I imagined him encircling her narrow waist, then his hands sliding lower, over her hips, cupping her perfect ass through her sheer dress, and then slowly lifting up the hem and massaging her firm cheeks.

“Oooooohhhh,” she moaned softly.

His hands had probably dipped lower still, reaching around, his fingertips finding her wetness. She moaned again, lower, longer, her passion apparent. Their kisses became louder, wetter, more fervent. Her moans increased in intensity, increasingly hungry, desperate.

She gasped loudly, and then spoke clearly. “Easy Stud, I don’t want to come until you’re inside me. But first I want to suck on your big hard cock.”

He groaned something in response, and I realized he must have had his back to the door.

“Is that okay?” she asked. “I want to lick it and kiss it and get it all nice and wet to slide into my juicy, little box.”

I heard what might have been a zipper, but I couldn’t be sure. What came next, though, was unmistakable. Kayla went to work on his big tool. Kissing, slurping, licking, a classic wet, messy, blowjob punctuated by choking coughs as she gagged herself on his cock. Next came the sounds of her hands squishing up and down his shaft, as I imagined she dipped low to suckle his balls.

She cooed and fawned over him. “Oh God, this is the most beautiful, perfect cock I’ve ever seen.” More sodden and sloppy sucking followed. “Oh, Baby, Baby, I can’t believe I get to fuck this gorgeous prick.” Still more licks and kisses. “Will you fuck me with this big thing? Will you fuck my tight pussy? Will you make me come on your huge cock?”

He was admirably restrained, or just not the talkative type. All I heard from him were low, rumbling moans and groans. Kayla was talking for the both of them, though.

I heard the bed sigh as someone climbed on the mattress. I was desperate to see, and considered cracking open the door. They were surely too engrossed to notice. I put my hand on the knob and tried to turn it, but it was locked. Of course, being parents we always locked the bedroom door before getting frisky, and Kayla must have done so out of instinct. I suppressed a disappointed groan.

There was more movement on the bed and then some footsteps.

“Do you like my pussy? Is it juicy and fuckable enough for you?”

I pieced together the most likely scenario. Kayla naked on the bed, on her hands and knees, peering back over her shoulder while slowly sliding two fingers in and out of her succulent cunt. I imagined him stripped down, fit, muscular, with that massive prick jutting out like a club, his hands kneading her ass, delighting in the sight of her ready and willing pussy and her sexy, tight, virgin asshole. I wondered if he knew that was also on the agenda for tonight, whether Kayla had already enticed him with the possibility of fucking her up the ass. Her moans became louder, and I imagined that he was rubbing that plum-sized cock head up and down her slit.

“Oh God, oh God, oh God!” She cried out suddenly. He was inside her. At least partially. “Go slow, go slow, go slow. Oh fuck, you’re so big. Oh fuck.”

He gave her a few moments to adjust to his girth, then he began thrusting.

“Ah, ah, ah, ah,” she called out. “Oh my God, I’ve never felt anything like this. I’ve never been full like this. Oh God.”

There was another pause. I pictured her rolling her hips, slowly impaling herself deeper and deeper on his massive cock.

“Fuck me,” she growled.

It was like hitting a switch. Darren began pounding my wife. Their obscene sounds filled the hallway. I could make out the sounds of his cock driving into her wet hole. Her screams became louder, higher pitched, almost unrecognizable. And he began to grunt and groan as well. Either Kayla’s pussy swelled to accommodate him, or she didn’t care and was happy to have her cunt shredded.

They fucked like animals, rough and loud. Even in those pauses where they caught their breath, her moans made clear that he was still inside her, churning his fat cock in her increasingly battered pussy. Kayla feels tight to me; I couldn't even imagine how snug she felt for him. But he had the stamina and discipline of a champion. He was just fucking the hell out of her, wringing from her several screaming orgasms. Even if he hadn't been so well hung, my wife would surely fall in love with him just for his technique.

Finally, Kayla, exhausted and worn down, was reduced to begging for him to come. "Oh please, Baby, come inside me. Please, give me your come. I want it so bad, so bad. I need your come in my pussy. Please, I need it."

Her pleading finally seemed to trigger something in him. Maybe it was just time. Maybe he relished having broken her. Maybe he sensed that he now fully possessed this slutty, little married woman he'd met in a bar just two weeks earlier.

There was a final, frantic burst of activity. Her squeals, his grunts, the sound of flesh on flesh commingled obscenely. Even the bed, normally solid, squeaked menacingly. Then suddenly he roared and pulsed inside her.

Kayla narrated those final moments: "Oh God, I can feel you coming. I can feel you coming inside me. Oh my God, oh my God, that was fucking amazing!"

Then finally quiet.

I was lightheaded and sweaty. I stumbled into the guest room and slouched against a wall.

My phone vibrated in my pockets. Hands shaking, I retrieved it. A text from Kayla.

<Kayla>: Did you come yet?

I stared at the screen in confusion.

"Did you come yet?" she said.

With comic slowness the gears of my mind churned. I turned and looked up.

"Kayla?"

She was nude, looked ravishing, and surprisingly none the worse for the pounding she'd just taken. She held out her hand and I took it. She encouraged me to my feet and led me toward the master bedroom. I resisted.

"I'm not sure I'm ready," I said.

I needed time to compose myself before being ushered into a room to meet the man who had just so thoroughly wrecked my wife. Time to fortify my resilience before seeing in person the horse cock that had fucked my wife better than I ever had or could.

“Come on, Silly,” she insisted.

I staggered into the bedroom, expecting to be overwhelmed by the sights, the smells, the reality of it. But, there was, nothing? I peered toward the darkened bathroom.

“Is he in...”

Kayla laughed.

“I heard him, Kayla. I was right outside the door.”

“I know.” She nodded toward her laptop, open on her dressing table, a window open with a webcam stream of the hallway outside our door.

“I heard...”

She picked up the TV remote and clicked play. I turned to see the TV come to life showing a large, Black man stroking his cock as he came into the mouth of a heavily tattooed blonde.

“I don’t....” I said. Then it did click. “He... he wasn’t here tonight?”

She shook her head.

Then it really clicked.

“Is there even a Darren?”

She shrugged. “Yes. But I blocked him after that first text.”

I blinked dumbly.

“Are you disappointed or relieved?” she asked.

I chuckled, my senses returning slowly. “Yes.”

TEN: Saturday Night

I'd like to say that I took my wife to bed and gave her the kind of fucking she'd never forget, but that'd be a lie. I didn't last ninety seconds. She was so hot and wet, and my extended arousal had me more than a little primed.

After, we lay on the silk sheets, cuddling face-to-face.

"You made it all up?" I asked.

"You must have had some inkling, no? I mean, I dunno. I thought you were sort of playing along just for fun."

I chuckled. "Oh, yes, Honey. I knew it all along. I was just stringing you along. Absolutely."

She kissed my nose. "Idiot."

"You were very convincing."

"Ha! Do you have any idea how much went into it? Compiling all those websites and videos. And finding the right soundtrack for tonight was a nightmare. You have no idea how hard it is to find a porn video where the girl doesn't sound like she's either twelve or being murdered, and the guy isn't screaming like a Neanderthal."

"Yes, I can imagine the hardship of spending hours watching porn."

"Well, you have more practice at it than I do."

"Probably," I admitted. I contemplated the scheme, and some questions arose. "So, wait, how did you know I'd come home early to listen?"

"Didn't matter if you did. If you had been a good boy and followed the rules, I'd have just moved the goalposts. I'd have told you that you'd have to wait for round three to watch, but you could listen to round two."

"And where did you go on your dates?"

"The first night I actually went to a party over at Ally and Jack's."

"Jack is an asshole," I grumbled.

"Which is why I originally declined the invitation. But anyway, that's where I was. Then the second night I actually just went out and got some sushi by myself."

"Where did the shoes come from?"

“Goodwill.”

I laughed. “I can’t believe you did this. The magazine articles in the nightstand were a great touch. Oh, what about the picture?”

“Found it on the Internet and then picked up a matching bracelet at the mall.”

“Damn, you’re good at this.”

She chuckled. “I can’t believe you believed it.”

“Well, call me gullible.”

“What surprises me is that, well, you really would be interested in something like this happening. It is such a weird fantasy to have. Your wife with another man, especially with some sort of superhumanly endowed alpha.”

I shrugged. “I don’t know what to tell you.”

“And now, do you feel like your fantasy was fulfilled? Like you’re not interested anymore?”

I chuckled. “Uh, no. If anything, I think it will be stronger than ever.”

She nodded thoughtfully. “Okay. Okay. Because you know, watching and reading all that cuckold stuff? It got me thinking.”

“Oh?”

“It got me thinking that, well, maybe it would be fun to....”

“To?”

She reached down and grabbed my cock. I was already hard.

“To, maybe, you know....”

She rolled on top of me.

“You know...” I echoed.

“Next time I give a guy my number, maybe I won’t block him...”

She sank down on my cock. Her pussy was hot, wet, and perfect.