With the exception of quotes used in reviews, this book may not be reproduced or used in whole or in part by any means existing without explicit written permission of the copyright holder.

This book is a work of fiction and any resemblance to persons, living or dead, or places, events, or locales is purely coincidental. The characters are productions of the authors' imagination and used fictitiously.

Foreword

This is my second “short” in a planned trilogy of hotwife tropes. The first was Party Crasher , which had the wife walking in on her husband's bachelor party, chasing away the hired help, and taking things into her own, um, well, you get the idea. The story in this volume plays with the fantasy of the wife becoming an escort. I'll leave it at that for now, though I will have some additional thoughts about this fantasy in my author's commentary. The reason I placed the word “short” in quotes above is that this one was planned to be about 10k words, but came in at 25k. Basically a shortish novella rather than a short story. That happens. Stories and characters take on a life of their own.

I'm having fun with these stories. They bring me back to my roots, so to speak. When I first started reading/writing these stories, most of what was available online were shorts. I mean, really short shorts, as in 8-16k characters rather than words. At that length, the trope or the cliché, actually carries most of the narrative weight. You can't get into any character development -- the wife just is who she is -- and still have space for the actual, you know, sex. And the trope is the shortcut. She's addicted to big cocks, or black men, or the dominant boss, or whatever, and there is no explanation, development, or backstory.

I don't think I can quite write that sort of story anymore. It leaves me feeling unsatisfied. But by the same token, I think there is something about writing within a well-worn rut that is comforting. It reduces some of the narrative pressure, and allows me to just mess around at the margins. The trope forms the melody, and I get to add the riffs. It does require some suspension of disbelief on your part, dear reader, but I hope you'll indulge me.

Assuming people like this story... and I think they will... I may actually write more than three of these "shorts." To that end, I'd like to solicit feedback from you. If there is a "classic" hotwife setup that you'd like to see me explore, please let me know and I'll try to add it to my writing list. You can reach me, as always, at ben.boswell.author@gmail.com or on Twitter @BenBoswellAut.

As with Party Crasher, I have some author commentary after the main story and an old story that has only been edited for typos. It is barely 1200 words, and was the kind of story I wrote very, very early on. I hope you'll find that additional material entertaining as well.

I'd like to thank Kenny Wright for the cover design and comments on an earlier version. Also Gary S and Robert C provided copyediting assistance and additional comments. Thank you all.

Chapter One: Vegas Encounter

I was sitting on one of the leather sofas in the Lily Bar at the Bellagio. It was an oasis inside the casino. Surprisingly quiet, with cool Jazz, one of the rare spots in Vegas where it is actually possible to have a conversation.

Despite the elegant surroundings, the patrons were the usual Vegas mix. Off to my left, was a group of giggling twenty-somethings. No one was wearing a sash, so probably not a bachelorette party, but judging by the cleavage and short skirts, they were probably just having a few drinks before hitting a club. At 11:00pm, the evening was just getting started. To my right, a middle-aged couple, probably from Ohio or Wisconsin. She was in flowered pants and a loose white blouse. He was wearing plaid shorts and a golf shirt. Between the two of them, they probably weighed close to 500 pounds. By the piano was yet another Vegas cliché, an older man, maybe sixty, pale and pasty and sitting with a very attractive, Asian woman less than half his age. Despite his persistent pattering, she looked bored, though she managed to shoot him an occasional, encouraging smile.

And then there was her. She was sitting at the bar. Mid-thirties, pretty with chin-length chestnut hair framing a rounded face. Blue eyes I noticed even from across the room, full lips, and a cute button nose. She was wearing a slinky blue, mid-thigh dress. Matching heels dangled at the end of her long, shapely legs. When she twisted in her seat, the dress revealed an impressive amount of cleavage.

I'd been watching for a while. A couple of men had approached her. Things seemed to be going well, with her laughing and flicking her hair, and otherwise giving positive vibes, but then in each case, there was an abrupt end. Some conversational dead end. The first man scurried away, the second backed away reluctantly. I would have loved to have been able to listen in on those exchanges.

Then a third man joined her. He looked to be in his fifties. He was dressed casually in black pants and a thin, grey sweater pulled up to his forearms. He was trim and muscular. He offered her a drink and she accepted. She'd already had a few, so maybe she was loosened up, or maybe she was really into him. Her body language with the other men had made her seem available, but with this man, she seemed eager. She hung on his every word. They laughed together, and she brought her hand down and grazed his forearm. They locked eyes meaningfully. She licked her lips. He leaned in, his hand moving to her bare knee. I thought he might try to kiss her, and I wondered if she'd let him. To anyone watching he was obviously a stranger and they would know she'd let herself get picked up.

Instead of a kiss, he spoke into her ear. She flushed slightly, but gave him a smile when he pulled back. He grinned. His thumb traced circles on the inside of her knee, sliding higher up her thigh. She leaned forward in turn and spoke in his ear. His eyes widened, and his eyebrows rose. He seemed pensive for a moment. Then he nodded, and she now seemed surprised. She swallowed hard, and plastered a smile on her face. He spoke some more, and she nodded and nodded again, agreeing to something, though it was impossible to know what from my vantage. His hand had disappeared up under her dress, to her inner thigh, or even higher. He kissed her cheek, and placed his hand on hers. Then he rose, and I could see the bulge in his pants, and the card he'd placed in her palm.

She watched him leave and took a gulp of her wine. She looked around the bar guiltily, blushing, either embarrassed or excited or both. I decided to take my shot. I sat down in the now-open seat next to her. She gave me an amused, challenging smile.

"You seem to be popular tonight," I said.

"What's your name?" She asked.

"George."

"Nice to meet you, George. I'm Ally. So, what are you looking for tonight?"

"Um, nothing. I mean, I just --"

She put her hand on mine. "Sorry to rush things along, Baby, but I actually have a commitment coming up in a little more than an hour. Plenty of time to have a little fun, but you know, time is wasting."

"Um, okay."

She squeezed my hand and looked into my eyes. "Time is also money."

"Yeah, right. I mean, of course."

“Are you a cop?” she asked.

“No.... why?”

She chuckled. “I just like to ask that, even though, obviously, if you were a cop you could lie. So are you lying?”

“Doesn’t that cause the same problem as before?”

“I don’t think you’re a cop.” She looked at her watch. She leaned in close. “I have a little more than 45 minutes. Are you staying here?”

I nodded.

“So, consider this a clearance special. We go upstairs, have a little fun, but we need to go right now.”

“Okay.”

Whispering in my ears, she said, “$500.” Then she pulled back to look in my eyes.

I nodded.

“Yeah?” she asked.

“Yeah. Okay.”

I paid off her tab, and we walked out of the bar. There were a lot of eyes on us, well, mostly on her I presume. I let her lead the way, checking out her shapely ass. Once we got to the elevator, she waited for me.

“Floor?”

“Um, 22.”

“You’re not sure,” she teased.

“No, definitely 22.”

And then once off the elevator, she let me lead her to the room. Inside, she shut the door behind me. She nodded toward the bathroom “Please put the money on the sink.” Then she continued into the main room. I followed in after her, but she stopped me. “My gift?”

“Um, okay, sure.”

I reached into my wallet and pulled out five crisp hundreds. I offered them to her, but she nodded again toward the bathroom. I placed them down.

“You’re new at this.”

“Um yeah,” I admitted.

“Don’t worry I’ll take good care of you.” She turned. “Unzip me?”

I pulled down her zipper and she shimmied her shoulders out of her dress. She turned to face me and eased off her bodice. Her breasts looked delicious in a sleek, black satin strapless bra. She eased her dress down over her hips exposing a matching thong.

“Do you like what you see?” she asked.

I nodded.

“Worth the $500?”

I nodded again.

“You can feel free to tip after if you have fun. But now, let’s get you out of those clothes.”

She unbuttoned my shirt, keeping eye contact with me the whole time. She pulled my shirt open, and ran her fingers through the hair on my chest. As I slipped my arms out, she began working on my belt, and then my zipper. She tugged at my pants and they dropped to the floor. She rubbed my cock through my boxers.

“Hmmm, another gift for me? Looks like I’m a lucky girl, tonight.”

Ally reached behind her and unsnapped her bra. She tossed it aside. Her breasts were lovely. Large, natural, with a bit of hang, they were a woman's tits.

"Do you like them?"

"Yeah."

"Touch them."

I cupped them and felt their heft. My thumbs circled her plump, red nipples. As I did, she stroked me through my shorts, until my cock was rock hard and jutting outward.

"Do you want me to suck it?"

I nodded.

"You can do better than that, George. I'm not your wife. You can tell me what you want."

I swallowed hard, and then forced out the words. "I want you to suck my cock."

She grinned. "See, was that so hard?"

Ally dropped down to her knees. She pulled down my boxers and stroked my prick. "Now, this is hard," she said.

She reached behind her, grabbed her clutch, unzipped it, and fished out a condom.

"Do we really need to use that?" I asked.

"Safety first."

She unrolled the rubber onto my prick, which looked unfamiliar encased in latex. I hadn't had to wear one since college. But I soon forgot about that as she took me into her mouth. She bobbed up and down several times, taking me deeper with each swallow, until the rubber glistened with her saliva. She stroked me firmly and made eye contact. Then she kissed and licked up my shaft before swallowing me deeply again.

“Hmmm, that’s nice,” I sighed.

“You have a nice cock. Do you want me to finish you like this? Or....”

She returned to sucking my cock. It was tempting. I couldn’t remember the last time I’d gotten a blowjob to completion. And if not for the condom, I might have gone for it. I ran my hand through her hair, and let her go on for a while.

“Or...” I said.

She smiled and stroked me. “Go ahead, George, say it.”

It shouldn’t have been so hard, but the words stuck in my throat. Finally I choked it out. “I want to fuck you.”

She stood up, still jerking my shaft.

“I want to fuck you too. How do you want me?”

“Huh?”

She laughed. “Missionary? Doggy? Cowgirl? Reverse cowgirl?”

“I... um....”

“Do you want to bend me over that desk?” She paused, then added. “Your money, your choice.”

“I... ah... Doggy.... No. Reverse cow... ah... girl.”

She chuckled. “Ah yes, definitely a fan favorite.”

She led me over to the bed and pushed me onto my back. Standing close, she slowly wiggled out of her black thong. She had a closely trimmed triangle above her shaved slit. She licked her fingertips and slid them between her puffy labia.

“See how wet you made me?”

I stared mutely.

“Do you think this tight, little pussy will feel good around your big, hard cock?”

I nodded.

She grinned. “You’re not much of a talker. Are you sure you want this?”

I began to nod, but then forced myself to speak. “I’m just not used to... you know.”

She climbed onto the bed and straddled my thighs. I stared at her ass. She grabbed my prick and began rubbing it against her slit.

“Asking for what you want? Well, that’s the beauty of a girl like me. I’ve heard it all... and done it all.”

I groaned even before she slowly lowered herself onto my prick. She was so tight and hot that I almost lost it immediately. I looked away and forced myself to breathe, even as she began to rock slowly on my prick, but I managed to pull back from the edge.

She chuckled. “Go ahead and watch. That’s the best part, isn’t it?”

She winked at me over her shoulder and then leaned forward. I felt her nipples brush my shins, and I watched as she rode me. Seeing my cock sliding in and out of her wet pussy was electrifying. In that position, she was completely open, shameless. Her little, puckered rosebud beckoned me. I reached out and palmed her thrusting ass, teasing her anus with my thumb.

“Oooh, dirty boy,” she cooed. “You can touch that, but anything more will be extra.”

“Oh God,” I sighed at the thought of my dick going into her ass.

She bounced on me faster. I groaned again.

“That’s it, Baby, come for me. Come in my tight, little pussy.”

“Oh God.”

“Mmmm, Baby,” she cooed. “You’re making me come. Making me come so hard.”

My cock slurped, slurped, slurped into her snatch.

“Yeah, that’s it, that’s it,” she moaned. “Come for me. Come for me.”

“Oh God,” I moaned again as my balls tightened and I shot what felt like a gallon of come.

She chuckled and rose off me.

“Mmmm, was that good, Baby? Was that worth the money?”

“Oh, my God, you’re amazing.”

She got up. “Remember that when you tip.”

I laughed. She didn’t. “Um, okay.”

She went into the bathroom. I heard the water turn on, and she returned a moment later with a towel. She carefully removed the condom and wrapped it in a tissue. Then she wiped down my cock and balls.

I smiled at her, admiring her lovely body. She bent down and picked up her thong and began to slip it on.

“Uh, what are you doing?” I asked.

She smiled and continued to dress. “Sorry Baby, I’d love to stay, but I told you I have another appointment.”

“What?”

She picked up my pants and tossed them to me, nodding at the back pocket. Then she stepped into her heels.

I chuckled. The tip. I pulled out my wallet and peeled off another couple of hundreds.

She pocketed those.

“Thanks, Babe.”

Then she leaned over and wrote her number on the notepad beside the bed.

“If you’re ever back in town, give me a call.”

I watched in surprise as she turned, strode toward the door, opened it, and stepped out into the hallway.

I got up and stared at the door. Fuck that was hot. But... where had my wife just gone?

Chapter Two: Origins

We were 24, drunk, and playing Truth or Dare in my small bedroom in the apartment I shared with two other guys. Ally was in my small section in law school. I was immediately attracted to the smart, hot, brunette in tight jeans. She took a little longer to come around on me, though she did, at least enough to accept my invitation to a private study session. We were supposed to be studying Torts, but were instead studying each other.

“Your turn,” I said.

“Dare.”

She gave me a cute, slightly crooked, tipsy smile, and fixed me with a challenging gaze. Challenging me to give her a real dare, and not just to take another shot or a request for a handstand. I decided to roll the dice.

“Show me your breasts.”

She blushed and laughed. “Not my boobs? Or hooters? Or even tits?”

“You’re delaying.”

She pointed to herself and mouthed, me?

“Yes, you.”

“I don’t know if I can do that,” she said coyly.

But I was pretty sure I had her. “So you give up?”

“I didn’t say that.”

I smiled at her.

“I don’t know George. Do you promise never to tell anyone? I’d hate to be known as the girl who can be dared into taking off her top.”

“Pinky swear.”

She giggled. “Are you sure you want to see my breasts?”

“Show me your tits already.”

“Okay, but you have to promise you won’t try to touch them,” she said with a laugh.

“I can’t promise that.”

A smile. She crossed her arms and grabbed the hem of her sweatshirt, and in one motion pulled it over her head. She was wearing a cute, sleek, pink bra, with a little bow in the middle. I felt a rush of heat. It was the kind of bra girls wear when they’re planning on getting topless with a guy.

“You okay there?” she asked. “You’re breathing a little hard.”

I gazed at her heaving breasts. “So are you.”

In a rush of excitement, she reached behind her back and unsnapped her bra.

“Oh God,” I sighed.

I reached out. She flinched slightly, but didn’t pull away. With my fingertips, I traced a line from her throat into her cleavage. She shivered and locked eyes with me, her pupils widening. I leaned forward to kiss her.

She put her hand up to stop me. “Your turn.”

“Huh?”

She laughed. “Truth or Dare? Remember, we’re playing a game here?”

I suppressed a frustrated groan. She didn’t move to put her sweatshirt back on, so I knew she was just messing with me, dragging it out.

“Uh, dare.” I hoped she’d dare me to take off my pants.

She didn’t. Instead, she smirked and drew her fingers across her stiff nipples. “I dare you not to look at my tits for a full minute, but you’re not allowed to close your eyes or look away from me.”

“That’s easy,” I said. I locked eyes with her, but immediately felt the draw of her boobs. And that was before she began to tempt me.

“Have I ever told you how sensitive my nipples are?”

My dick was rock hard. I forced a chuckle. “Uh, no, you’ve never mentioned that. Not sure why it didn’t come up when we were studying for Evidence.”

She ignored my comment. “It’s true though. When I touch them like this.... Mmmm.... I get all tingly.”

I wanted to make a joke in response, but none came to mind. Nothing came to mind actually, except this overwhelming desire to look down and see what she was doing to herself.

“But you know what I really love? I love sucking my own titties. Would you like to see me do that someday?”

It was a physical struggle to look her in the eyes. It felt the same as when you hang from a chin up bar, and after a while, you can feel your grip failing, and you know you’re going to fall.

“Or maybe you’d rather suck them yourself? Would you want to take my plump nipples into your mouth? Make me moan and squirm until I beg for you?”

I looked down at her perfect boobs and hard, dark red nipples. She laughed.

“What? That was at least a minute.”

“Thirty seconds at most.”

She laughed again. “We’ll use a stopwatch next time. So, my turn, I guess. Truth.”

I tore my eyes away from her breasts. “Okay... tell me your deepest, darkest, sexual fantasy.”

Bingo. She turned bright red, and I knew I was in for something good. She looked away and seemed to think it through, weighing options.

“And don’t lie. I’ll know.” I told her.

“How?”

“I just will. So, Ally, spill it.”

She looked back at me, her face still flushed. “I can’t do that.”

“Ha, you lose.”

“I guess I do.”

She lifted a heavy breast and sucked her nipple into her mouth. I gasped.

“So, George, looks like to the winner goes the spoils. What are you going to do with me?”

I wanted to tell her I was going to fuck the hell out of her, but I couldn't get the words out. Instead, I leaned in and kissed her hard, first on the mouth, then on her tits, and when I finally got her tight jeans off, right on her tight, wet pussy.

Chapter Three: Preparations

I stared at the door. Then sat on the bed. Then rose to stare at the door again. It was almost one in the morning. Where had she gone?

I tried to remember what had happened before she left. Had I crossed a line? Was it asking her for reverse cowgirl? Maybe it was when I teased her anus? Maybe I didn't hand over the tip fast enough? I wracked my brain. It didn't make sense. We'd played this game before. Many times. Not quite this realistically, but I thought I understood the rules.

I reflected back on our day and evening for clues.

I'd played cards while she had a spa treatment. Then we met back in the room to prepare for our night out.

As we had before, I helped her plan her outfit.

She modeled dresses for me. First a black, floral midi wrap.

“Sexy, but it doesn't say Vegas to me,” I said.

She grinned and yanked on the sash, letting her dress fall open and exposing her gorgeous naked body. “Easy off,” she said. “Could be convenient.” I thought of another sash dress she'd worn on a night out, and how easily it had come undone.

“I thought you were the kind of girl who took a guy back to his room, not offered up a quickie in a bathroom.”

She shrugged. “Why not both?”

She turned and walked back into the bathroom. When she returned, she was wearing a very short, black dress. Contoured to her body, it was textured and glittery, and the cowl neck dipped down into her cleavage.

“Fuck, that one is hot,” I said.

“Not too short?”

She turned. It hardly covered her ass. She bent at the waist, just a little, but it was enough for me to see the bottom of her bare cheeks. She reached back and gave them a little scoop. My dick screamed, yes, yes. My mind, though, had second thoughts.

“Maybe a little. Could you even sit without....”

“Flashing my cha cha? Probably not.”

“Seems inconvenient.”

She shook her ass at me. “Not for grinding up against a hot guy in a night club, but that’s not really the plan.”

I nodded. The fantasy was being a working girl, not just picking up a guy on the dance floor.

She subtly drew up her dress a little and headed back to the bathroom flashing me most of her naked ass as she did. I adjusted myself in my pants.

Next, she came out in that blue dress. Painted on, cut low, it went to mid-thigh, and matched her eyes. It made her look sexy and available, and would surely get men thinking about how much of their bankroll they might be willing to part with in order to peel it off her.

“Yeah,” I said.

“Yeah?”

She approached me slowly. “You think it will make men want to pay money to fuck me?”

I swallowed hard. “Yeah.”

She leaned in close, and I thought she might kiss me, but she held back, just inches from me. I wanted to grab her and flip her on her back, get her legs in the air, and ram into her balls deep. I flinched and she placed her hand on my chest.

“Not yet, Tiger.”

I nodded.

“Help me pick what goes underneath.”

She disappeared again into the bathroom. She was in there for a long while. I wondered what was taking so long, but when she reappeared, I could see why. She’d changed into an over-the-top, Frederick’s of Hollywood, full black lace, garter belt and stocking outfit.

“Oh God,” I sighed.

“You like?”

“Oh God,” I said again.

She laughed. “It’s wholly impractical with my dress. But I picked it up yesterday while you were playing cards, and I wanted to show it off. It’s not really for meeting a man, but rather once I have a regular, I could put it on, a trenchcoat over it, and go to his hotel room.”

“A regular?”

“It’s what all of us working girls strive towards.”

“Yeah?”

“Mmm, yeah. A handsome, successful guy, who wants something more than the missionary he gets at home.”

“And that’s you?”

“If he can afford it.”

She turned. I stared at the string bisecting her ass. She sashayed back to the bathroom, and returned a bit later in her blue dress.

“What happened to the show?”

“We’ll be late for dinner.”

“What are you wearing underneath?”

“You’ll find out later.” She smirked. “Unless someone makes me a better offer first.”

We moved toward the door. She stopped suddenly.

“Wait, I forgot something,” she said.

I followed her with my eyes as she crossed the room to her suitcase. She reached inside and palmed something.

“How many should I bring?” She opened her fist to show me three foils of condoms.

I shuddered. She held my gaze. I wanted to seem worldly. “All of them?”

“I like the way you think. Go ahead and put them in my clutch.”

So I did. I took the condoms out of my wife’s hand, and placed them in her purse so that she’d be ready in case she found a man to pay her for sex. My head swirled, and I was grateful to hold her hand to steady myself as we walked down the hallway.

We went to LAGO, and had an assortment of small plates, all of them a delight of sight and sense. Delicious and unexpected pairing of colors and flavors, an imaginative feast. We had champagne cocktails and shared a bottle of wine. We talked and laughed and commented on the other diners.

Then as we finished our meat course, Ally gave me a little grin. “So, do you think any of the diners looking at us think I’m your paid date?”

I thought about it. Especially dolled up, Ally was a little out of my league. And while she was in a stunning dress, I was in typical man attire, dark-slacks and a striped, button-down Oxford. I was in simple black loafers. She was wearing sexy stiletto lace-up heels. She was lovely and vivacious, earrings glittering, lips and fingernails a lusty, blood red. I had on a Fitbit and simple wedding band. I noticed that Ally had removed hers.

“Certainly possible,” I replied.

She looked around, seemingly enjoying the reproving glances she imagined she was now receiving.

“Happens a lot in Vegas,” she said.

“That’s what I hear.”

“I guess, we’ll see tonight. I’m actually going to name a price.”

I raised an eyebrow. “Oh?”

We’d never gone quite that far in the game. There had been the dressing up, and even Ally sitting at a bar alone getting approached by other men, but she’d never gone beyond vaguely hinting that she might be on the clock.

“How much do you think a man might be willing to pay to fuck me?”

“I... I don’t know.”

“You’re a man.”

“Yes, last I checked. But not one who has done any sort of market research on this.”

“Hmmm,” she said with a pensive nod.

We moved on to Amaretto and coffee with biscotti.

Ally returned to the theme. “I guess it depends on what exactly I am offering and for how long.”

I nodded. “And what are you offering?”

“Everything has a price.”

We’d been married for seven years, and I hadn’t experienced everything . Not by a long shot. I ran through my mental list. Threesome, bondage, anal....

“Everything?”

It felt like she was reading my mind. “Sure, for the right price.”

I shifted uneasily in my seat. She grinned approvingly. Then she said, “Come on, Honey, let’s finish up here, and see what kind of trouble we can get into.”

Chapter Four: Revelations

After law school, we moved in together in a small one-bedroom. We’d both landed jobs in BigLaw, and were making tons of money. That was great and welcome. Neither of our families had ever had much, and we both had huge loans to pay off. But it also meant we rarely saw each other.

For a young associate, in particular, BigLaw hours are brutal. It isn’t so much getting in, which was often around 9:30am, but rather the expectation to work late, late into the evening. Our firms covered dinner, and everyone stayed past 10:00pm every night, even if much of that late-night period was more about bullshitting and pranks than actual work. If we’d been at the same firm, it would have been bad in its own way, but since we weren’t, it often felt like we were at best roommates. Coming home around midnight most nights, after twelve hours at the office, is not conducive to an active sex life.

In retrospect, it is a miracle Ally and I survived as a couple. The hours kept us apart. We both also had a lot of travel. And I know that for me, at least, there was a lot... A LOT... of temptation. I was 28, making nearly 200k a year, often on the road, drinking with buddies, going to clubs, and there are many, many women out there eager to strike up a friendship, or more. There were some close calls, but I never cheated on Ally. In the end, my scruples got the better of me, or maybe I was just scared of losing her.

Then there was the pressure. The pressure to bill hours. The pressure to be the best of the associates and get the most interesting work. The pressure to justify those crazy salaries they were paying us.

I loved it though. The camaraderie, the intensity, the sense of being, you know, a hotshot, working big cases for big clients for big money. I worked in finance, with even higher stakes than most practice areas. Ally, however, didn't enjoy it.

The day we paid off our loans, about a year and a half after graduation, we had a party. We started at a bar, went to dinner, and ended up at a club with all our friends. It was a great time, and when we got home, Ally broke down.

It wasn't a full meltdown. No hysterics or sobs. I just came out of the bathroom and found her sitting on our barely used sofa, with tears running down her cheeks.

"Baby, are you okay?"

"I can't do this," she said.

"Uh... what?"

"I hate being a lawyer."

I sat down beside her and took her hand. "It's okay. You don't --"

"Two-hundred grand, down the drain."

"No. No. It's not... what difference does it make? Our debts are paid off. If you hate it --"

"The money is so good," she said.

I shrugged. "We don't need it. I --"

"We?"

"Yeah, we. I mean, I don't know, I guess we've never really talked about it in detail, but yeah, I always figured it would be we. Do you want me to get down on one knee and make it official?"

She waved me off but her smile told me she'd been waiting for me to ask. Then she shook her head.

"I don't want to mooch off you."

"You're being silly."

"I'm serious. It's not healthy for one person to make all the money, and --"

I eyed her up and down ostentatiously. "I'm sure we can find a way for you to earn your keep," I said.

She stiffened visibly.

"I'm just kid--"

"What would I have to do to earn my keep? "

"Ally, I --"

"Would I have to suck your big, fat cock?"

I shuddered and my prick hardened in an instant. It felt like she was launching into a sex game of some sort, but I held back, sensing a trap.

I shook my head. "I didn't mean it that way."

She leaned in toward me and palmed my crotch. "You sure, Baby? Because it feels like maybe that's what you'd want. And it would be only fair. If you're bringing home the bacon, the least I can do is take it out of your pants and slather it up with my tongue."

"Ally --"

She kissed me hard. She tasted of the rum and coke she'd been drinking, and she thrust her tongue into my mouth. She worked her hand into my pants and jerked my cock.

"Oh God," I sighed.

Ally unbuttoned my shirt and kissed her way down my chest. She paused to unbuckle my belt, and I lifted off the sofa to let her yank down my pants. She swallowed me deeply. Her mouth was hot and wet, her tongue swirling around my cock. I ran my hand through her hair as she began to bob up and down.

"Oh, Ally."

She rose up suddenly, and I was terrified I'd done something wrong. She assuaged my fears by quickly stripping off her tight jeans. She was wearing skimpy, white panties beneath, and my eyes were drawn to her crotch, where the fabric was damp and translucent with her arousal. She climbed into my lap and ground against me. She kissed me with a desperate hunger, gasping into my mouth. Then, reaching between us, she slipped her panties to the side, and impaled herself on me. She was drenched and so excited that it was a little loose, but her rolling hips and passionate moans made up for it. I yanked up her tee shirt, pulled down her bra, and sucked an overripe nipple into my mouth. She hissed and clutched my head. Her pussy throbbed on my cock.

“Oh fuck!” she gasped.

“You’re so hot.”

She bounced on me almost violently, like she was trying to break me.

“Yeah, Baby, fuck your hot little whore.”

“Oh God.”

I began spurting inside her. She sucked on my neck.

“Oh fuck, oh fuck, oh fuck,” she moaned. “That’s was fucking intense.”

I grabbed her head and kissed her hard. “That was amazing,” I agreed.

She leaned back, still impaled on my shrinking cock, our juices beginning to leak onto my balls. She fanned herself. Even though she seemed into it, there was a dark tinge to the sex.

“Are you okay, Ally?” I asked. “That was... crazy.”

She blushed, and I realized it wasn’t just from excitement. “Can I tell you something?”

“Uh... sure?”

“Do you remember our first time?”

I chuckled. “Yeah, you almost made me fail my Torts exam.”

“I’m pretty sure I did fail.”

“Well, it was worth it.”

“Do you remember what we were talking about right before we started, you know...?”

“We were playing a game... truth or dare. I think I asked you, like, a fantasy or something?”

“My deepest, darkest, sexual fantasy.”

I was breathing heavily, wondering where this might go. I nodded.

“Do you want to hear it?” she asked.

My cock, which had been trending toward flaccid immediately reversed course. “Uh... yeah.”

She leaned in and kissed my neck, which also allowed her to break eye contact.

“Promise you won’t think ill of me?”

“Of course.” I wasn’t sure that I could keep my promise, but I wasn’t really thinking it through. “I promise.”

She nibbled on my ear. “It’s wrong... and dirty.”

I was rock hard again. She slowly ground against me. We were so wet and messy that it made a lewd, squishing sound.

“I fantasize about being a whore,” she said so softly it was barely audible.

“Oh God,” I sighed. “Yeah?”

She kissed my neck again and ran her fingers through my hair. Her body moved up and down on my shaft.

“I fantasize about a man paying money, and then ordering me to....”

“To what?” I gasped.

She moaned as she rode me. “To strip for him. To... suck him. To... fuck him. Whatever he wants.”

“Did you... did you ever?”

She laughed. “God no. It’s just the idea of it.”

I didn’t know what to say, and she didn’t speak either for a while. She rose and fell on me slowly. I caressed her body.

“Do you hate me?” she asked.

“God no,” I said. “I think.... I think it is hot.”

“Yeah? You think it is hot that your fiancée... that is what I am now, right?”

I nodded.

“That you’re fiancée fantasizes about being a whore?”

“I do.”

She kissed me and then stood. I again wondered if I’d done something wrong. Instead, she reached out and took my hand.

“Come on, Baby. Come into the bedroom and let your little whore really give you your money’s worth.”

Chapter Five: New Shoes

2:00am. So, I had stopped staring at the door and instead took to pacing in between increasingly frantic phone calls and texts to Ally’s cell.

: Hey Babe, did I do something wrong? Where are you?

: So... I guess you’re pissed, but at least let me know you’re okay.

: Ally? Please.

By 3:00am, I was beside myself, and starting to practice the speech I’d make to... the hotel management? The police?

So, my wife and I play this game. This sex game. Where she, like, pretends to be a hooker, and you know, like picks up... well, not really picks up... I mean, she... anyway, I did something wrong, and I don't know where she is, and....

It was mortifying, and in any case, as anxiety-provoking as the situation was, I remained convinced that she was just messing with me, teaching me a lesson or something.

I thought about how the game had progressed.

She didn't quit law right away. That took another six months. She decided she wanted to be a teacher, so she began applying for a master's program to get her teaching certificate. In the meantime, she began substitute teaching.

We moved into a bigger place, and I supported us. Common expenses were not an issue -- rent, food, even vacations. But....

"I saw a new pair of shoes I'd like," she said one day.

I was sitting at the dining room table trying to make sense of a derivatives contract, so not really paying attention. "Go ahead."

She walked behind me and began rubbing my shoulders.

"They're $350."

"Wow. That's expensive."

"Hmmm. I know."

She leaned down, and I felt her breath against my ear. She slipped a hand inside my shirt. "Maybe I should get a second job."

"You don't need to do that," I said, still trying to focus on distinction in the contract between partner shares and distribution shares.

"Maybe I want to."

I chuckled. "Between school and teaching, aren't you a little tight already?"

She licked my ear. "That's what I'm counting on, actually."

"Huh?"

"No one is going to pay for loose." She pinched my nipple.

"I think we may be talking about different things," I said.

She straightened and walked around the table, trailing her hand on the surface. Her fingernails were long and dark red. She sat down across from me and leaned forward, giving me a peek down her scoop neck tee shirt into her cleavage.

"You look busy. Maybe I should go find someone else to buy me those shoes?"

"Do you have someone in mind?" I said, cottoning on to the game. "Or just as long as it is someone with a big... wallet?"

She smiled. "How about you, Big Boy?"

I shook my head. "I don't pay for sex."

"I'll do things your fiancée won't."

I gulped. "Like what?"

She slid from her chair under the table, and a moment later appeared between my legs. She caressed my thighs. She peered up at me and batted her eyelashes. She unbuckled my belt and pulled down my zipper. She fished out my hard prick.

"Does she suck your cock?" she asked, as she licked the head.

"Of course."

"Does she swallow?"

“Oh God,” I gasped as she took me deep into her mouth, so deep that I could feel the back of her throat. Her tongue flicked at my balls. She slowly pulled back, nibbling her way up my shaft.

“You didn’t answer.” She suckled tenderly on my glans. “I asked, does your prim, little school teacher fiancée swallow your come?”

“Oh God,” I said again.

She laughed. “I’ll take that as a no. Would that be worth it to you? Would you pay a whore $350 to suck your dick and swallow your load?”

I gasped. My mouth opened and closed like a fish out of water, but I couldn’t speak.

“This time,” she said. “I’ll take it as a yes.”

She devoured me again, gagging herself on my shaft. She bobbed up and down, giving me the sloppiest, dirtiest blowjob of my life. Her spit dripped onto my balls. She kissed, licked, and slurped me like my cock was the greatest prize in the world. Then she looked up, and holding my gaze, she took me almost to the root.

“Oh God, Ally, I’m close.”

She hummed on my shaft. I felt her throat throb.

“You don’t have to,” I said.

She took me even deeper. I gasped and felt myself going over the edge.

She rose up, and keeping the head of my cock in her mouth, began to stroke my shaft. I came, shuddering and gasping, and she swallowed every last drop.

“Oh God, Ally, that was amazing.”

She continued to stroke me, licking each additional drop of come as it appeared. And when I was done, she tucked me back into my pants.

“You probably shouldn’t tell your fiancée about this. Now, you should probably get back to work if you want to continue affording treats like that.”

I nodded.

“Don’t be a stranger,” she said with a wink. She backed up and a moment later reappeared across from me at the table. She didn’t say another word, although she did lick one last drop of come from her lip.

Chapter Six: Going Public

I jolted awake. My neck ached from sleeping in a chair. The alarm clock by the bed read 4:46. Was that AM or PM? I was disoriented, dizzy. Our bed was empty, disheveled. I peeled back the blackout curtains. The sky was still dark. So morning. Early morning, even if the Vegas neon tried to claim otherwise.

I remembered our game. Ally and I coming back to the room. Her riding me. Then leaving. And not returning. Nearly four hours now, from the middle of the night to the pre-dawn, a time when the only people still out were degenerate gamblers, tripping ravers, and... prostitutes.

The arrival of Becky interrupted Ally’s master’s degree, and Callie put a nail in it. We moved to a house in the suburbs. Ally still did some substitute teaching, but it was more to get to know the teachers at the local elementary school than to make money.

I was still at the firm, working long hours, though I’d gotten enough seniority to schedule at least some evenings off. Well... usually at least.

“Sorry, Babe, I need to work late.”

She didn’t answer. I imagined her tapping her foot in annoyance. Finally, she said, “Fine. Whatever. I’ve got a sitter. I’m going out anyway.”

I glanced at my watch. It was just past seven o'clock. "I can probably make it by 8:30," I said, knowing that would be tight.

"Don't worry about me. I'm sure I can find someone to talk to."

"Ally...."

"Yes?"

"Don't be angry. Please."

"I'm not angry. Just hungry and thirsty."

"Okay, so I'll see you at Andre's?"

"Unless a better offer comes up."

I sighed. "Okay, see you."

I hung up and got back to my work. If I hurried....

I arrived at 8:45pm, but it took me a while to park, so it was closer to 9:00pm when I finally got inside. Andre's was styled like an old speakeasy. The entrance was decorated like a living room, with crimson red sofas, walnut furniture, and gild-framed landscapes on the walls. The restaurant itself was accessible through a pair of heavy curtains, and was divided between a bar and the dining room. The lighting was dim, creating a mood of romance and mystery.

I approached the hostess desk. A young blonde woman in a slinky black dress awaited me.

"Hi, I'm George Waters. I had a reservation. I think my wife got here already."

She looked down at the register. "For 8:00?"

I nodded. "Sorry."

“You’re the first of your party. Let me see if I can still seat you.”

“Oh. Wait then. She might be at the bar. Let me check.”

The hostess shrugged and I turned away from the dining room. The bar area was even darker than the dining room. The bar itself was dark wood, and u-shaped, and ringed by high-backed booths that seemed designed for covert assignments. I circled around, my gaze sweeping between the bar and the booths, trying to respect the privacy of the patrons.

I heard Ally before I saw her, her laugh specifically, coming from behind me. I turned in her direction and realized why I’d missed her initially. She was huddled in close with a dark-haired man in a pinstripe suit. His shoes gleamed and he wore gold-rimmed glasses. He had feminine lips and a couple of days of stubble. It was an intriguing, vaguely European look, and he definitely had my wife’s full attention. She had her hair longer at the time, down past her shoulders in casual waves, and she was wearing a snug, black and white polka dot wrap dress. She was drinking a Cosmo and he a Martini.

Instead of going to her, I took a step backward, and slipped into an empty booth. A waitress came around, and I ordered an Old Fashioned. At the bar, Ally and her new friend were engaged in an animated conversation, punctuated with laughter, and a surprising degree of intimacy. She responded to one comment with a playful slap on the shoulder. His hand grazed her forearm as he leaned in to whisper in her ear. Sitting on the edge of their barstools, her bare knee pressed against his leg.

They finished their drinks and he ordered another round. She shook her head, but changed her mind after a quick one-liner that made her grin and nod happily. I wondered if that would be her second, in which case she’d be getting a little silly, or her third, in which case she’d be heading toward tipsy and who knows what else.

Their drinks arrived and they toasted. Hers spilled a little onto her hand, and she licked her fingers clean while gazing into his eyes. He placed his hand casually on her knee, and she didn’t swat it away.

I couldn't pretend this was just an innocent conversation. He was putting the moves on my wife, and she was responding. Whatever her initial intentions, now that booze and laughter were in the mix, this had the potential to turn into something that she and I had never discussed or agreed to. I should have been angry or jealous, but I wasn't. Instead, I was curious and more than a little aroused, and it was that excitement more than anything that got me moving. As much as I was intrigued about what she was up to, I was more interested in getting my hands on her myself.

Fortified with a big gulp of my drink, I rose and approached them. I cleared my throat.

The man looked at me with some annoyance at the interruption. Ally bit her lip to keep from laughing. She took a sip of her Cosmo.

"Hey, Honey," she said. "This is my new friend, Max." Then after a small pause, she added, "Max, this is my husband, George."

"Your husband?" From his accent, he wasn't European, but rather from the West Coast.

She shrugged and wiggled the fingers on her left hand. She wasn't wearing her wedding band. "I guess I forgot to put it back on after my shower."

"Forgot, eh?" I said.

She shrugged.

Max was nonplussed. "Um, hey, look, I'm all for married couples spicing things up, but I'm feeling a little used here."

Ally smiled at him and leaned forward. "How so?"

"Bought you some drinks. And, you know, wasting my time."

She laughed. "And what do you think I owe you for two drinks and your time?"

"It was three drinks," he corrected.

“Look, I’ll pay for the drinks,” I said.

“No, Honey,” she said to me, “this is my debt. And I’ll pay it off.” Then back to Max. “But sadly, I don’t have any money with me.”

Ally gave me a quick wink. I felt a surge of heat in my chest.

He raised an eyebrow and shot me a quick glance. I looked away in embarrassment. He took that as encouragement.

“What did you have in mind?” he asked her.

She shrugged. “Whatever it takes, I guess. I don’t want you to feel taken advantage of.”

He peeked at me. I was still mute. Mortified mostly, but also turned on.

“Maybe we should find someplace private to conclude our negotiations,” he suggested.

She gave him a small nod, and I could tell that despite the bravado, she was scared as well. He took her hand. She shivered slightly.

“I need to borrow your wife for a bit,” he said simply.

I blanched and he grinned. He pulled her past me toward a set of stairs leading to the lower level. I hesitated for a moment, and then followed after.

Below the restaurant and bar, Andre’s had a series of private dining rooms in different styles. I made it down the stairs, just in time to see the door close to the “wine cellar,” a smallish room decorated like a traditional wine cave with a stone, vaulted ceiling, lit by chandeliers designed to look like old gas lamps, with a long dining table running down the middle.

I approached on the pads of my feet and tried to listen at the door, but it was heavy wood, and effectively muffled all sounds from inside. I almost gave up, and retreated toward the stairs, but then stopped and returned to the door. I had to know what was going on. So, even at the risk of blowing everything up, I carefully, gingerly cracked the door open.

Luckily, they'd crossed to the other side of the room away from the entrance. He had his back to me, and she was facing him. I don't know what had happened before I got there, but I arrived just in time to see Ally reach down and pulled on the sash of her dress. It fell open, exposing a sexy black, lace, demi-cup bra that seemed to offer up her heaving bosom.

He reached out and traced the swell of her breasts. She thrust out her chest to meet his touch. His hands followed her bra strap upward, and with her smiling encouragement, he slipped the straps off her shoulders. Her cups loosened and then dropped down, baring her tits. Her nipples were dark and rock hard with the same arousal I could see on her face.

"Lovely," he said. "Can I touch them?"

She gulped and then nodded. Her eyes were bright with excitement. He palmed her breasts from below, his thumbs circling her nipples. She moaned softly.

"You like that?" he asked.

"Yes," she sighed.

"I want to fuck you, Baby."

She smirked. "That'll cost you more than three drinks."

He chuckled, enjoying the flirtation. He continued to fondle her breasts, her nipples looked about ready to burst. "How much?"

She only hesitated a moment. "Five hundred."

He laughed. She didn't.

"Are you serious?"

She nodded.

"What about your husband?"

“I don’t usually make him pay.”

He started to laugh, but it trailed off quickly. He was confused... and horny. But horny won out.

“Okay. I can do that.” He moved a hand downward, toward her belly, and lower.

She stopped him. “Cash first.”

“I don’t have it on me.”

Ally stepped away and slipped back into her bra. She pulled her dress tightly.

“Sorry, Babe, I’m not in the credit business.”

“You cunt,” he hissed, incredulously.

“The word you’re looking for is whore .”

He remained before her, fuming, as her grin turned to a broad smile. Then when he realized nothing else was going to happen, he turned on his heels and made a beeline for the exit. I barely managed to retreat down the hall before he burst through the door. I watched as he stomped up the stairs.

I went to the private dining room, and entered just as Ally reached the door. She startled. “I told.... Oh, it’s you.”

“Yeah, me. Your husband. Remember me?”

She chuckled. “Yeah, I seem to recall something about that.”

“Yeah? To have and to hold. Forsaking all others?”

“For better and for worse.” She grinned. “How long were you out there? I thought I saw the door crack open. Was that you?”

“Yes.”

“So you saw him play with my tits?”

I nodded, red-faced.

“And you didn’t stop it.” Her tone was flat, giving me no clue about how she felt about that.

I changed the subject. “What would you have done if he’d had five-hundred dollars on him?”

“I’d have fucked him.”

I groaned. “No.”

She loosened her sash, and her dress fell open again. She took my hand and pressed it down between her legs. Her panties were soaked.

“Yes.”

“You’re a whore,” I growled.

Her eyes flashed. “Yes.”

It was like an electric shock. I was rock hard and lightheaded. I grabbed her and kissed her hard. She didn’t so much melt into my arms as exploded against me. She was hungry, her tongue thrusting into my mouth. I pushed her backward until we bumped against the table. She hopped up and I moved between her spread legs. As we continued to kiss passionately, our hands fought an awkward, desperate battle to get my pants off. My prick was so hard it ached.

She pulled her panties aside, and I was inside her. She was as hot and wet as I’d ever felt her. I thrust into her violently. She wrapped her legs around my waist, locking ankles behind me, yanking me toward her. I pushed down her bra and mauled her tits, pinching the same nipples Max had so recently fondled. She seemed to have the same thought, and moaned loudly. I drove in balls deep. She hissed, and her pussy spasmed on my shaft. I gasped and came inside her.

“Oh fuck. Oh fuck.” I gasped. “That was fucking hot.”

She pushed me away, and I caught a glimpse of her hot, wet, freshly fucked cunt as she adjusted her panties. She slipped off the table.

“Should we get a bite to eat?”

Her sudden nonchalance was surprisingly exciting. As hot as our fuck had been, she was over it, businesslike, very much as I imagined a working girl might be.

“Uh, yeah,” I said.

“Good. And by the way, you owe me five hundred.”

“I thought you weren’t in the credit game.”

“I know where you live,” she replied.

Chapter Seven: Value for Money

She finally returned at 5:12am. I heard the door lock disengage, and there she was.

“Where’ve you been?” I asked.

She sashayed into the room, edging past me, her fingertips trailing across my shoulders. I noticed her hair was damp.

“Did you just shower?”

“It is customary to get cleaned up between clients.”

“Clients?”

Ally smiled at me sweetly. “Don’t worry, you’re my favorite client.”

“Ally, where were you?”

“I told you I had an appointment.”

“Yes, you did. And it was part of our game.”

“Sometimes games get real.”

She kicked off her pumps. “Ahhh. That feels better. I’ve never understood why men are so gung-ho on making us wear heels while having sex. Is a naked woman that much sexier if she’s got her stilettos on?”

“Yeah,” I said nodding before coming to my senses. “Ally, seriously, where were you?”

She approached me and placed her palms on my shoulders. She locked eyes with me. “I was in room 32119, with a man named Alec, whom you saw, with your very own eyes, down in the bar. He spent the hour I was with you getting cash out of the ATM and letting his Viagra kick in so that he was ready for my visit. And boy oh boy, did he make the most of his time.”

I shook my head. “You’re just teasing me.”

She rose up on her tiptoes and whispered in my ear. “Not this time.”

She spun away, her hand sliding across my chest and over my crotch. Then she crossed the room and leaned back against the writing desk, lifting a foot onto the chair. She traced a line along her inner thigh.

“Are you upset?” she asked.

I stared at her speechless. She chuckled.

“I see you’re a little unsettled. But that’s not necessarily the worst thing, is it?”

“I don’t know.”

“I’m not sure I’d have done it if he wasn’t so handsome. I guess that makes me a bad whore. I guess, we’re supposed to take all comers, aren’t we? I’ll need to work on that. But in this case, he was handsome, trim... and quite well hung.”

My mouth dropped open. She smirked.

“What? It’s the nature of the biz, isn’t it?” she said, clearly enjoying herself. “Big ones, small ones, fat guys, slender guys. It’s just my dumb luck that my first real client was good looking and had a big dick. Big and very hard, and I know the Viagra played a part, but impressively quick to recover. I hope your performance matches his in, like, twenty years.”

She raised her hand to her mouth and opened her eyes wide.

“Oh, I guess I should mention that we ran out of condoms. Also, and this is also a sign that I am not a great businesswoman, about half-way through, after my fourth orgasm, I decided to stop the clock. We didn’t stop fucking, but I decided that charging him while he was getting me off was a little unfair.” She smiled at me. “Honey? Aren’t you going to say anything?”

I didn’t know what to say. I was tired and excited, and punchy as a result. I was sure she was just messing with me, except I wasn’t completely sure. I’d seen the guy she was talking about. He was fit and distinguished, certainly the sort of man, she, or any woman for that matter, might find attractive. She’d been gone for over four hours. And she’d recently showered. I remembered the night at Andre’s, and how she’d let Max fondle her breasts. She’d made it seem like she’d only gone that far because I was watching, but what if she’d only gone that far because I was watching?

“Are you... are you serious?”

She lifted her skirt and flashed me her bare coochie. At some point her panties had disappeared. And then reaching into her clutch, she pulled out a wad of hundreds.

“How do you think I earned this?”

She tossed the stack onto the floor. It scattered across the carpet. At least a dozen bills. Maybe more.

“Oh God.”

My wife chuckled. “Hmmm. I may have said that a few times over the last couple of hours. Especially when he had my legs over his shoulders and was just pounding the hell out of my little pussy with his big, hard cock.” She made small circles on her twat with her fingertips. “Honey, could you lick my sore pussy? It would be so soothing.”

My cheeks burned and my heart raced. “You want me to lick your pussy?”

“My sore, freshly fucked pussy. Yes.” She pressed her fingers into her damp folds. “Don’t worry Baby. I let him fuck me bareback, but I made sure he came on my stomach and ass and in my mouth.”

I stared at her juicy cunt. At the bills on the floor. At her smirking, humiliating grin. Clenched fists and hard cock I advanced on her, unsure whether I intended to rape her, beat her, or submit to her.

“You cunt,” I hissed.

She laughed. “Oh Baby, you’re so predictable. And anyway, I’m a whore, not a cunt, remember?”

I shuddered. She had an uncanny ability to get under my skin. She picked at my scabs. Exposed my weaknesses. She could see right through me. A human x-ray machine. I slowed as I approached her. She took my hand, placed it on her pussy. She was hot and wet.

“It is still yours, Baby. Even if I rent it out once in a while.”

“You didn’t,” I said, shaking my head.

She didn’t flinch. “I did. I emptied his balls and I emptied his wallet.”

“Ally, please tell me this is a joke.”

“You want me to lie to you? Okay, George, it is all a put on. I didn’t go to his room. I didn’t strip naked... except for my heels. I didn’t get on my knees and suck his cock. I didn’t get on my hands and knees and let him fuck me from behind. And I absolutely didn’t suck him hard again and let him fold me in half so he could pound my pussy again and again and again. There. Is everything all clear now?”

“I don’t know what to believe.”

Cupping my hand in hers, she encouraged me to massage her shaved snatch.

“That’s it Baby, rub my sore, whore cunt. Put your finger inside me so you can feel where his cock was.”

I did as she ordered. She moaned softly.

“Am I still loose from his big cock?”

“Yes,” I groaned as I probed her wet hole. “I can’t believe you....” I couldn’t finish my sentence.

She grabbed me around the neck and pulled me toward her. She kissed me hard, and I responded with more passion than I thought I was capable of. We gasped into each other’s mouth, our tongues fought for dominance, my finger probed her sex, and she clawed at my crotch.

“Are you going to fuck me? Or are you going to let another man keep his claim on my pussy?”

I was as hard as I’ve ever been. I got my pants off and they pooled at my heels. I stepped out of them and rammed into her. She gasped and kissed me again. She rose up off the desk, and into my arms. With her impaled on my prick, I staggered backward. She pumped her hips, and I held on for dear life, my hands palming her hard ass.

We spun, and I stepped toward the bed. I fell forward onto her. She gasped as I filled her completely. With my hands still under her ass, I fucked her as hard as I could, not like a wife, but like a whore.

“Oh fuck, oh fuck,” she cried out. Her pussy clenched at my cock. We kissed again. She looked into my eyes. “Am I worth it, Baby? Is my cunt worth $500 an hour?”

“Yes,” I gasped.

“How about a thousand?”

“Oh God, yes.”

She moaned. “That’s it, Baby, come in my thousand dollar twat.”

I grunted and shot inside her. Then sweaty and spent, I rolled off. We were both breathing heavily.

“Oh God, I needed that,” she sighed.

“I’d have thought you’d have gotten enough.”

She laughed. “I didn’t really fuck him, you know.”

“What?” I was somehow both relieved and disappointed. “Where were you?”

“Walked around the casinos, then the strip, then came back to the hotel and went to the fitness center. Sauna, hot tub, shower.”

“But the money?”

“Did you know that roulette pays 35-1 if you get lucky?”

I turned to face her. She was grinning. “Are you serious?”

She seemed to ponder that for a moment, and then laughed. “Well, George, I have told some lies tonight. But I’ll let you decide which is which.”

“Ally...”

She got up and stripped off her dress. She was naked beneath, and so sexy.

“I had a looong night, Baby. I’m going to take a quick shower and then go to bed.”

“But --”

She laughed and swished away. She was still giggling as the shower came on, drowning out her mirth.

Chapter Eight: A New Opportunity

Over the years, I found I was doing more and more work for Travis McLaw. Though he still carried around his native Texas twang, he was about as far from a cowboy as one can imagine. Smart and ambitious, he’d moved up the modern-day cursus honorum, without any hiccups: Harvard undergrad. A couple of years at Merrill Lynch. MBA from Stanford. Goldman then Carlyle. A golden resume. We were about the same age, had worked together for years, so I wasn’t surprised when he invited Ally and me out to dinner shortly after rumors began to swirl that he was planning on launching his own private equity firm.

“You think he wants to offer you a job?” Ally asked.

“I don’t know.”

We were in our bedroom getting ready. Ally had just come out of the shower. She had a towel wrapped around her body and another twisted around her hair. When she bent over to pull out her underwear, I caught a flash of ass.

“Would you take it if he did?” she asked. Then upon seeing my gaze added, “Stop staring at my ass, you pervert.”

I chuckled. “If you don’t want me to look at it, stop waving it at me.”

She dropped her towel completely and twerked in my direction. “How’s that for waving?”

“Very nice.” She straightened and turned to face me. Now my eyes were drawn to her perfect breasts. “You’re a distraction.”

“We were talking about the job....?”

I nodded. “Well, it would depend on the job and salary and perks. I mean, the usual.”

“But you’d like it?”

“I’d like to be offered, sure.”

She regarded me pensively, and then reached back into her drawer and pulled out a different set of underwear... the same lace and garter set she’d shown off to me in Vegas, but hadn’t gotten around to wearing then.

“Um, what’s the for?” I asked.

She grinned. “Well, if you want the job, then I just want to be ready in case I need to make an impression.”

“Ally....”

“Don’t worry, Honey. We’re in this together. And if there is anything I can do to help you land a good offer, you can count on me to go to whatever lengths are required.”

“I doubt that will be necessary,” I said.

She unrolled her stockings onto her legs and fastened them to the garter belt. “Well, maybe I’ll just fuck him for fun then,” she said, heading back into the bathroom.

I enjoyed her pretty ass, framed perfectly by her garter straps. She began blow-drying her hair and I got dressed as well. When she came downstairs, she was dressed in a vintage-style, emerald green swing dress, a perfect stylistic match to her underwear.

He arranged a car to pick us up, and we arrived at La Martinique, a new French-Caribbean fusion restaurant just before 8:00. Travis was waiting for us at the bar.

Six-foot-two and slender, with sandy blond hair and blue eyes, he was easy to spot. And as we approached, he had the bartender pour us each a glass of champagne.

“Hi Travis, this is my wife, Ally.”

“Good evening, Ally, you’re looking lovely tonight,” he said. He reached out his hand, but she slipped into a hug.

Ally smiled brightly. “Pleasure to meet you. George has told me so much about you.”

He chuckled. “Hopefully not too much. I’m hoping you’ll like me.”

“Just enough to make me intrigued,” she replied flirtatiously.

They toasted silently, and then seemed to remember me and clinked my glass as well, though it felt almost like an afterthought. She complimented him on his suit, which was indeed a perfectly tailored, silk/wool weave that produced a subtle herringbone effect. He admired her dress in return, and I almost wondered if she was going to give him a peek at what she wore beneath.

After finishing the champagne, we moved over to our table. Travis ordered a bottle of Sancerre. We ordered a selection of the appetizers, the highlight being conch prepared in the same style as escargot and a quail stuffed with foie gras. The main courses were equally inventive, a grey sole with a mango salsa, a seared tenderloin medallion with plantain frites, and seared lobster with a pepper crust. We had a second bottle of wine.

Ally seemed enthralled with Travis. She hung on his every word, leaning forward, cleavage on display, laughing and smiling. He told her about growing up in Texas. She regaled him with stories about her family. I noticed that although we’d begun the evening equidistant, by the time the waiter cleared away the main course, my wife and my potential new boss were tete-a-tete, while I was left to observe from across the table.

Over brandies, Travis turned toward me. He was beaming, a little tipsy. “So, George, you know why I wanted to chat?”

“Oh, poo,” Ally exclaimed, “not business, really?”

He chuckled. “No, not business. Partnership.” He turned toward Ally. “I want us all to be closer than just work colleagues.”

“Sound delightful,” she replied.

“What do you have in mind?” I asked.

“Why not just go with the flow?” she suggested, eyebrow raised.

He chuckled. “Well, of course, we’ll need to agree on terms, before we consummate anything.”

“Consummating is the best part,” she said.

He raised his glass. “To consummation.” We clinked glasses. Then to me. “So you’re agreeable in principle?”

I looked at Ally. She was glowing excitedly. “I am,” I replied.

“And you, Ally, are you?” he asked.

“I am. But I should warn you. I’m not much of a businesswoman.” She shot me a quick glance designed to remind me of our night in Vegas. “I hope you won’t take advantage of me... too much.”

He grinned. “I’ve already taken care of the bill. If you don’t mind, I’ll visit the men’s room, and we can meet up front. The cars should be waiting.”

“Do we need cars?” Ally asked, a stress on the “s.”

“Well,” he replied, “we can all pack into one, or, of course, split up however we choose.”

He rose and went toward the restrooms. Ally turned to me.

“Oh my God, he’s dreamy.”

I rose and pulled her chair out, and helped her to her feet. Leaning in close, I whispered in her ear. “You can’t be too eager to give it away. If we’re going to sell your ass, we should get the best price.”

We made our way outside and waited for Travis to join us.

Ally faced me. “This might be a case where he needs a little taste to whet his appetite. A partnership is a long-term commitment.” She traced a fingernail across my lapel. “What if part of the deal was that I had to fuck your boss wherever and whenever he wanted. Would you still want the job?”

“You’re a tease, but you don’t really have the guts to go through with it.”

She laughed. “You don’t really think I hit it big at roulette, do you?”

“Prove it. Fuck Travis tonight. Tell him it is down payment on what he gets if he hires me.”

“Deal,” she said. “And this time I won’t shower before I come home. I’m going to bring you a nice, runny creampie.”

“Erm...” Travis said as he approached.

Ally blushed, and I knew we were both wondering what, if anything, he’d heard of our discussion. She recovered quickly.

“Travis, I was trying to talk George into a nightcap, but the old fuddy-duddy isn’t interested.” I shrugged. She continued, “What about you?”

He grinned. “George, you wouldn’t mind if I took Ally out for a little fun?”

I glanced at Ally. She seemed by turns both aroused and nervous. I placed my hand on her lower back, and gently nudged her toward him.

“I don’t mind, though I may ask for something in return at some point.”

He nodded. “I wouldn’t expect anything less.” He took my wife’s hand. A slight shiver ran through her. He made small circles on the back of her hand with his thumb. She shifted excitedly.

“Ally, we’ll have plenty of opportunities to get to know each other better, much better, but sadly tonight I have a prior commitment. Raincheck?”

She gulped and nodded. “Raincheck.”

He gave me a firm handshake and then turned toward one of the two Towncars waiting for us. I led Ally into the back of ours. She seemed a little shaken. The partition was up, so I decided to take advantage of our privacy.

“So what would you have done if he’d taken you up on it?”

“Ha. You’re just going to have to use your imagination.”

“I don’t think so. Your performance could well determine my professional future. I think I need to do a little quality assurance before you go forward.”

“I’d think you have ten years worth of data.”

“I would hope you’d do better than married-people sex.”

“Oh, I didn’t know you had complaints,” she said.

“I don’t. But I’m not sure I’d pay for it either. So... Ally... what would you be doing right now if you were in the other Towncar?”

“I’d probably be --”

I put my finger to her lips. “You’re planning to talk him into submission, or....”

She smirked, and slid off the bench seat and onto the floor of the limo between my legs. She looked up at me and licked her lips.

“Travis, Baby, I want to play with you all night long.....” She reached out and loosened my belt, and then pulled down my zipper. “But first I’m going to suck your big cock until you come right in my mouth.”

She pulled out my erection, and licked up the base of the shaft.

“What will your husband say about this?” I asked.

She circled the head of my cock with her tongue and then looked up at me. “We’re a team. He’ll work hard to please you in the office, and I’ll work hard to please you... wherever you want. And we’ll count on you to be generous with us.”

I moaned as she slurped me deep into her mouth. Ally had given me head hundreds of times, but there was something about this game that provoked a greater passion, or maybe it was just that it made her less inhibited, or maybe it was all in my mind. But she seemed to take me deeper, her mouth felt hotter and wetter, her tonguing more vigorous, and she evinced a palpable hunger.

I wound my fingers into her hair, and enjoyed her attention as she bobbed up and down on my cock. She paused for a moment, and slid my pants and boxers down, and then pulled me halfway off the bench. She bent low, and while she stroked my shaft with her fist, she sucked my balls into her mouth.

“Oh fuck,” I sighed.

“Don’t come yet, Travis. I want it in my mouth.” She kissed my scrotum. “But first, I want to make sure you have a nice big load for me.”

“I do,” I moaned.

She chuckled, and then slowly nibbled her way up my shaft. “Are you sure, Baby? I want to make sure I drain all of that poison out of you. Get you all in a generous mood.”

“I am.”

She locked eyes with me, and slowly, tenderly licked the head of my cock.

“That’s good. That’s what I can do for you. And George doesn’t even mind. He’s probably in the other car, right now, fantasizing about what I’m doing to your big cock, and what you’re going to do to my tight pussy later on.”

“Oh God,” I cried out as I began to spurt.

She angled my prick so that I shot into her mouth. What she didn’t get dripped down my shaft, a gooey, creamy mess that Ally licked up eagerly.

“That was amazing,” I said.

She smiled as she finished cleaning me up with her tongue. “Yeah? I passed quality control? You ready for me to do that for real with Travis?”

I chuckled.

“What?”

“Honey, I’m sorry to break it to you, but I think if either of us is going to suck his cock, it would have to be me.” She looked at me confused. “Ally… he’s gay.”

Her eyes went wide. “No.”

“Yes.”

“Oh God… so… he was just messing with me?”

I pulled her up beside me. “I think he probably just thinks this is a game we play. He’s a good guy, and he was willing to play along. But I bet he’s going to say I owe him for getting you all worked up.”

She hopped up onto the seat and crossed her arms. “That’s not funny.”

“It is sort of funny. And hot.”

She shook her head. I laughed, and she sneered at me.

“You’re not really upset, are you?”

“I am.”

“I know how to make things better.”

I reached over and lowered the partition between us and the driver. He looked back at us through the rearview mirror. “Is everything okay?”

“Just fine,” I replied to him, and then I said to Ally, quietly but just loud enough that he could conceivably hear, “I bet your pussy is nice and juicy right about now.”

She glanced from me to the driver and back. I dropped down onto the floor, and popped my head under her dress. She half-heartedly tried to push me away, but I could tell it was all for show. Her legs spread, and I traced my fingers up her calves, across her inner thighs. I made slow circles on the bare skin above her stockings. I could smell her arousal through her sheer panties, and when I placed my mouth on her crotch, I felt her wetness and excitement. I pulled the fabric aside and tasted her wet pussy. She moaned softly.

“You can do better than that,” I said.

I licked between her folds, and flicked at her clit with my tongue. She moaned louder. I took her clit into my mouth, feeling it swell, the tip of my tongue working the hood. Another moan, louder still. Then I pressed a finger inside her.

“Oh God,” she hissed.

A second finger, twisting them side to side, as I slurped on her clit. She squirmed, her pussy gushing.

“Oh my fucking God,” she cried out. “Oh God, oh God, oh God!”

Her pussy spasmed on my fingers. Her stomach rippled. She pulled me against her as she bucked off the seat. I licked and sucked on her pulsing snatch until finally she pushed me away. I dropped back, slipping out from beneath her dress, and looked up to see that she'd pulled down her bodice to expose her breasts. Her nipples were hard and red, and she was smiling. Smiling at me, but mostly at the driver, who I knew had a lovely view of her face and tits as I'd made her come.

I climbed back onto the seat beside her. She didn't cover herself up. Instead, she continued to smile at the driver, a handsome, bald African-American man.

She reached down and palmed my crotch. I was flaccid. She'd drained me as well as she'd promised.

My wife leaned over and in a stage whisper, perhaps just loud enough for our driver to hear, said, "Baby, you have sixty seconds to get this hard, otherwise I'm going to climb into the front seat and give him the tip of a lifetime."

I would have loved to see that, but there wasn't a chance. I was hard in 30. She climbed into my lap and we fucked the rest of the way home.

Chapter Nine: A Sudden Turn

Travis and I had a good laugh about our evening out when we next met, and he never held it over me, even after I accepted the job with him. And he also never made Ally feel weird about it. He was a good guy.

He was also a crook.

I found that out, a little less than a year later, when the FBI showed up on my doorstep at 6:00am one morning with a warrant that basically allowed them to confiscate every electronic device and piece of paper in our house. I drove to the office to find it swarming with agents as well.

According to the feds, our whole operation was a Madoff-style scheme. I was General Counsel, so obviously suspect. I was also innocent, but proving that requires good legal representation, and good lawyers cost money. The problem was that disentangling what was legally mine versus what might have come to me through fraudulent conveyance was difficult, and as a result most of my accounts had been seized or at least frozen. And two weeks after the criminal investigation started, I was named in a series of civil suits filed by allegedly defrauded investors, so I needed to hire attorneys for that as well. We also happened to be a little cash poor at the moment, since when I got the job with Travis, we decided to buy a new, bigger house. And since the lawyers, seeing all of this, were worried about being paid, what little cash we did have went to retainers.

After a few days of shock, Ally and I recovered our wits, and took comfort in the fact that I was innocent, and that this was going to be a blip in our lives. But by the same token, we knew we had to take action. So we sold the house and my Mercedes, and rented the top floor of a row house close enough to our old neighborhood to allow the kids to stay in the same elementary school. The girls were a little confused about why we were moving from a five-bedroom house to a two-bedroom apartment, but our landlords, who lived downstairs, had a cute Beagador that the girls were allowed to play with, so from their perspective it was a trade up.

Ally put in for as many substitute teaching days as possible, but that didn't add up to much. And no one was interested in hiring a lawyer who seemed likely to be disbarred and arrested any day now. So I started driving for Uber and Lyft, and on good days that meant we could stay one step ahead of our expenses.

The problem with living paycheck to paycheck is that any little glitch pushes you into crisis. So, when a kid, driving while texting, drifted into my lane, I swerved to avoid him, and in the process drove over a curb at 30 miles per hour. It could have been worse. Cracked a rim and trashed my fender. Insurance covered the repairs, but a week without earnings and the deductible on the repairs meant that we couldn't cover our rent for the month.

Jimmy and Jane, our landlords, were understanding. A retired couple, they relied on our rent payments to cover their own expenses, but they cut us some slack, basically converting that month's rent into a loan, at a reasonable 1% interest rate per month... well, sorta reasonable, but I really wasn't in much of a position to negotiate.

"If it wasn't for bad luck, you'd have no luck at all," Jimmy said.

We had just shaken hands on the loan, and he and I were sitting in his kitchen drinking beers. Jimmy was a ruddy-faced, retired Navy Chief, who'd spent a couple of decades as a steam engineer. Between his pension, occasional commercial jobs, social security, and rental income, he and Jane seemed to live a decent life. He drove a Caddy, and they took annual Caribbean cruises.

I chuckled. "For the last six months at least, that's for damn sure. But I got my health and family, so you know, can't complain too much."

"How's Ally dealing with it?"

"You know, she's a trooper. And anyway, for better or for worse, right?"

"Doesn't she have a law degree too?"

"Yeah," I said, nodding, "but she hasn't practiced since the kids were born, so, getting back into a legal job would be hard. It might yet come to that, but you know, we don't want to disrupt the kids' lives more than we need to, and everyone is used to mommy being home and daddy being out of the house working. I'm still thinking this will be over soon and we can get back to normal. But don't worry, if it comes to that, I'll get her out of the house and get her to work."

He gulped down the rest of his beer. "Yeah, Jane never really brought in any money either. Broads," he said, shaking his head, "am I right?"

I finished my beer as well and smiled. "Thanks, Jimmy. Sorry about the late rent. We'll get caught up."

I went back upstairs. Ally was sitting at the kitchen table, sorting a stack of bills.

"What did he say?"

“Turn this month’s rent into a loan.”

“Is he charging interest?”

“That’s the way a loan usually works.”

“Don’t talk down to me.”

I sat down across from her. “I didn’t mean to. I know this is stressful.”

“I just consolidated our credit cards. That should buy us another month. Think Luke will be able to get our accounts unfrozen by then?” Luke Bender was my criminal attorney.

I shook my head. “The feds think I’m holding out. They’re going to squeeze until I give them something on Travis, which I totally would if I had anything to give. But in the meantime, they have no incentive to expedite anything.”

She leaned back in her chair and sighed. “Baby, this is grim.”

“Yeah. It is. Wish we had rich family about now.”

She snorted. “It would be a start if any of them actually worked.”

Ally and I often joked that we were each the black sheep of our families, in that we were the only ones who’d managed to finish high school without getting pregnant or arrested.

I reached out and put my hand on hers. “It’ll be okay.” I had a way out. If worse came to worse Luke was confident that if I agreed to plead guilty on fraud charges, we could cut a deal that would get Ally and the kids access to our frozen accounts. It would mean a couple of years in jail for me, and of course, an end to my legal career. But it was an option if things got bad enough.

I rose and circled the table. I kissed my wife on the forehead. “I’m going to go to bed.” I was hoping she’d join me, but she had her notepad out and was going over the bills again. There is nothing like the threat of criminal prosecution and the imminence of bankruptcy to put a damper on one's sex life.

Chapter Ten: Near Miss

Driving ten to twelve hours a day gave me about a fifty-fifty chance to make enough to cover our daily expenses... assuming no one drove me off the road again.

A week later, Thursday morning, I got up early as usual and hit the road. The day started off well. A fare to the airport, and then a return into the city. I cruised downtown. Despite the traffic, it was worth it to pick up a few mid-morning short hops, professionals going to nearby meetings and such, spending the ride gossiping and talking smack about colleagues and clients. A year ago, I would have been one of those self-important twits in an expensive suit.

I stopped at a food truck for lunch, and ate my cheese-steak on a park bench rather than fill my car with a greasy smell that might affect potential tips. After eating, I headed west to see if I could snag any fares in the inner suburbs.

I was basically on autopilot as I entered the intersection at Grove and Wilson. I'm not quite sure why I looked to my left. My light was green, but something must have caught my eye. I slammed on the breaks. The car behind me squealed to a stop and hammered on the horn, and passing in front of me, close enough that my car swayed, a tractor-trailer blew through a red light and nearly clipped my front end. If I'd stopped even a fraction of a second later, or hit the brake with an ounce less pressure, he'd had t-boned me. Boom, smash... dead. I peeked in my rear-view mirror, and the guy behind me, who'd been so upset a moment ago looked like he'd seen a ghost. And he nearly had.

My hands were shaking, my heart pounding. I felt a trickle of cold sweat run down my chest. I managed to pull over and for a moment I felt like I might just lose it. It all seemed to come to a head, and it took me a good fifteen minutes of focused breathing just to feel like I was not about to go insane.

There was no way I could take any more fares today. I barely managed to get myself home. It was still early-afternoon, and the kids would be in school for another couple of hours. I hoped that a shower and maybe a quick nap would get me back to normal before they got home.

I was in something of a daze as I trooped up the stairs to the second floor. I opened the door and stepped into the small foyer. I slipped off my shoes.

I don't know if I could hear them quite yet, but if I did, it didn't register. And even once I crossed the threshold to the living room, it still took me a while to make sense of what I was seeing. Even once it did register, it took me a few more moments to process it.

Ally was naked and moaning loudly. Jimmy was kneeling behind her, pants pulled down, and short-sleeved shirt pulled open. His belly jiggled as he thrust into her. I noticed his tattooed arms, and his hands kneading her ass. His thick cock stuck out from a nest of graying pubes, slick with her juices, plunging into her again and again.

"Oh yeah," she moaned. "Oh yeah, fuck me with your big cock."

He grabbed a handful of her hair, arching her back, and raising her chest. Her tits swayed. He reached around with his other hand and mauled her breasts. It was a lurid scene, a lecherous older man having his way with a luscious, young wife.

Their bodies slapped together. His cock squished into her pussy. She moaned louder.

"Fuck me, Baby. Fuck me," she cried out.

He did. Hard, deep strokes that sent ripples through her body. And when he paused for a moment, she took up the challenge, rocking backward to impale herself on his fat prick.

I retreated down the hallway to our bedroom. I sat at the foot of the bed, my mind racing so fast that my thoughts turned into white noise, though not loud enough to drown out Ally and Jimmy fucking in the next room.

Her sounds got louder, higher pitched. I could hear him moaning as well. They fed off each other. And after he came with a throaty grunt, I heard them laughing and talking, until finally after what seemed like an eternity, I heard footsteps, and the front door open and shut.

Ally appeared a minute later, still naked, her inner thighs slick with sweat or come. She jolted as she entered the bedroom.

“Oh shit, what are you doing here?” she asked. When I didn’t answer right away, she continued, “This isn’t what it looks like.”

“I saw you fucking him. That’s what it looks like. What was it really?”

“Paying the rent.”

“What?”

“Jimmy came by Monday, and told me that instead of going deeper into debt, I could pay things off. Fifty for a hummer. A hundred for a fuck. I’ve worked off three hundred dollars so far this week.”

I shook my head. “Enough with the games.”

“No games, George. I’ve sucked his cock twice and fucked him twice.”

“Jesus.”

We stared at each other for a moment. Then she approached and dropped down on her knees so that we’d be face to face.

“I’m sorry, Baby, I shouldn’t have kept it a secret.”

“You... you think the secrecy is the problem, not the actual, you know, cheating on me?”

“Cheating? We’ve... this has been part of our sex life for years. I mean, we’ve played this game, and you’ve always been turned on, even... especially when you thought it was real.”

“But this isn’t the game, it’s --”

“It is the game,” she interrupted. “It’s not in a bar, and it’s not --”

“I wasn’t involved.”

“You are now.”

“This feels different. This... and it’s not even the sex,” I said, although I wasn’t sure that it wasn’t the sex. “This isn’t playing. This is you having to sell yourself because I’m such a fucking loser.”

She shook her head. “No. No. God no. Oh, Baby, I’m so sorry I didn’t... I didn’t plan it. It just happened. He came up, offered me money for sex, and... I couldn’t resist.”

“I didn’t know you were so hot for him.”

She laughed. “No. I’m not. That’s what’s so hot. That was what was so different. Those other guys, in Vegas, at Andre’s, they were fucking hot. And part of the reason I didn’t do anything was exactly that. It would have felt like cheating. But Jimmy... he’s old. He’s fat. He’s got grey pubes!”

“I noticed.”

“It.... Thinking about fucking him for money.... It just got me so hot. Remember when I joked about taking all comers? I can’t explain it. But suddenly the thought of fucking him for money felt like the most exciting thing in the world.”

“Why didn’t you tell me then?”

“I don’t know. I.... It.... I don’t know how to explain. You’re right. It is cheating. It....” She paused to compose herself. Then after a deep breath, she said, “I don’t know what’s wrong with me. But you have no idea how hot this all makes me.”

I tried to process all of this. There were so many issues: My own feelings of inadequacy that I could no longer pay our bills. Jealousy that another man was having sex with my wife. Anger that she'd lied to me. Resentment that she hadn't shared her excitement. And my own arousal, all the more shameful after mixing with those other emotions.

"You didn't share it with me."

"I kept it to myself," she admitted. She laughed to herself. "I was worried about how you'd react. But I also was greedy and I didn't want to share. And anyway, by the time you came home, I was... spent."

"Spent?"

She blushed and looked down. She spoke in a tone of embarrassed confession, "The first time, I just blew him. I think he was surprised I accepted the offer, but he got hard quickly, and came quickly. He mumbled something, and left. I closed the door behind him. I could still taste him, of course. I let him finish in my mouth. I leaned back against the door. And I knew I should feel ashamed or despondent. But instead, I felt exhilarated... and horny."

She looked up at me. Her eyes were shiny. She continued, "So, so horny. I slipped my hand down my shorts and into my panties. I was so wet and my clit was throbbing. I barely had to touch it before I came. It didn't even take the edge off. If anything, I was even more excited. I relived every moment. His offer. My acceptance. Dropping to my knees and looking up at him. The first time I saw his cock. Felt it. Smelled it. Tasted it. I remembered the way he ran his fingers through my hair. How hard he was when I took him deep. Feeling him spurt inside me, slimy, and hot, and salty. I had my shorts and panties down around my ankles." Her words were now coming out in an urgent torrent. "I kicked them off and threw myself on the sofa. I humped the cushion and came again. But even that wasn't enough. Lying there, with the ceiling fan blowing down onto my exposed pussy and asshole, I imagined him coming back. Using his key to come in. Seeing me like that. I had this searing image of him walking in, throwing a twenty at me, and shoving his prick inside me. I came again, fingering myself as I imagined Jimmy riding me hard, calling me a whore."

She stopped suddenly. She was breathing hard. So was I.

“That’s... intense,” I said.

She stood up. I was face-to-face with her swollen, juicy snatch.

“I have a hundred dollars worth of come in my pussy, and all I can think about is how much I want to sit on your dick.”

I looked up at her. Her nipples were hard, her tongue flashing between her pursed lips. Her hips swayed sensuously. I don’t think she’d ever been as sexy as she was that very moment.

I reached out and pulled her onto my lap. Her body was on fire. We devoured each other like hungry animals. She humped my crotch. I squeezed her hard ass. I sucked on her titties until she hissed and pushed me away. We kissed, deep, wet and very, very sloppy. There was a tinge... of something. Or maybe I was imagining it.

“Did you suck his cock today?”

She nodded. “Had to get it nice and hard for my cunt.”

“What about me?”

“You’re already hard,” she said as she rocked against me. “Get it out. I need you inside me. Right... fucking... now.”

There were a few moments of awkward struggle to get my pants off. She gripped my prick and with a contented sigh she impaled herself on me. Her pussy was loose and sloppy wet. She kissed me, and then our noses almost touching, she held my gaze.

“Can you feel his come inside me?”

“Yes,” I said. My head spun with competing emotions.

“He says I make him come harder than he’s come in years.”

“I bet.” Jane was a perfectly nice, older woman. But even in her prime, I doubted she held a candle to my wife.

“I sucked on his balls to make sure he had a big load for me.”

“I don’t think that’s how it works.”

“So maybe I do it just because I like it.”

She began to grind against me again. His come leaked out of her onto my balls. I played with her tits, rolling her hard nipples between my thumb and forefinger. She moaned softly.

“Would you fuck him if he didn’t pay you?”

“No. But I do want to make sure he thinks he got his money’s worth. I want him to be a satisfied customer.”

“You want him to come back for more?”

She pressed into me harder, rubbing her clit against my pelvis. “Yes.”

“And tell his friends all about you?”

“Oh God,” she sighed. Her eyes rolled back into her head.

“You want to be the neighborhood whore? A line of men waiting out the door?”

“Oh! God!” she cried out, her pussy pulsing on my shaft.

I grabbed beneath her ass, and flipped her onto her back. I dropped between her widely spread legs and thrust hard into her messy snatch.

“Ooof,” she gasped. “That’s it, Baby. Fuck me like a whore!”

I pressed her thighs to her chest and slammed into her again. My cock was streaked with his come. I could see clumps in my pubes.

“You are a whore.”

I fucked her still harder. She grunted beneath me.

“Yes. A cheap, dirty whore.”

“All it takes is a few bucks to spread your legs.”

“Yes,” she cried out. “Yes! Fuck me. Fuck your dirty whore!”

“You don’t even shower between tricks. You’re going to have to lick me clean.”

She nodded. “Yes. Yes. It’s the least I can do. Oh God!”

Her body shuddered again. I’d never seen her sexier or more excited. If she’d been any tighter, I’d have come already, but that’s one of the benefits of a well-used cunt. I was hammering her roughly, churning my dick into her wet hole. She gasped and squealed. She pinched her nipples and licked her lips.

“Come inside me,” she gasped. “I want to feel what it’s like to have two men come inside me.”

She reached around and grabbed my ass, urging me on. I felt her pull my cheeks apart. Her finger found my anus. She locked eyes with me, and thrust a finger inside.

“Oh fuck,” I gasped, my orgasm arriving suddenly and violently.

Lightheaded, I collapsed onto her. She was giggling.

“Old whore’s trick. Time’s up, Loverboy.”

I rolled off her, and we both stared at the ceiling, panting. She took my hand and squeezed it.

“You okay with this Baby?”

I returned the squeeze.

“Hell no!”

She looked over at me in concern.

“You can’t keep doing this.”

She nodded. A bit sadly, a bit resigned.

“Not unless you raise your rates.”

Her face broke into a smile.

“No, I’m serious, Honey. You’re an epic lay, but a terrible businesswoman.”

She laughed. “You sure?”

I nodded. “Didn’t you promise to clean me up?”

She gave me a wicked grin, and then slowly kissed her way down my cheek to my messy crotch.

“Anything you say, my pimp.”

Chapter Eleven: Negotiating a Deal

Getting the rent problem off the table was a major relief. We wouldn’t be homeless anytime soon. Even after I raised the price, Jimmy kept coming around almost daily, though I had a sneaking suspicion that Ally was giving him twofers on the sly. I might have said something about it had it cut into my sexytime, but whatever she was doing with him, I’d made her promise not to relieve herself without me. It made for a long day. Ten to twelve hours of driving, followed by a few hours of parenting, and ending with a couple of hours of tawdry sex reviewing her adventures for the day. It left me tired enough that I took to occasionally napping in the car between fares, which was particularly interesting when I periodically imagined what Ally might be up to as I dozed in the car. She was paying for my naps with her ass.

I tried to swat those thoughts away. They opened up too many cans of worms, or maybe just one big can with lots of worms. I liked to pretend that this was all Ally's fantasy, and I was just along for the ride. But the truth was, the thought of her turning tricks was super steamy.

When I wasn't napping or driving, I tried to manage my legal woes. This mostly meant calling Luke, my criminal defense attorney, for updates.

"Not much to report," he said once I finally got through to him.

I sighed. "Dude, I'm not paying you to --"

"Actually George," he interrupted. "About that, your retainer is about gone. So we need to fix that."

"We, huh?"

"Look, George, you're a lawyer too. You know how expensive this sort of defense is. At this point, time is on their side, and they know it. So, our only play is to build an affirmative case for innocence that will compel a judge to dismiss or at least unfreeze your assets. We could wait it out, until trial, and I think we'll win. But, with a case this complex, the judge isn't going to rush the prosecution."

I shook my head, but not because I disagreed with his assessment. It was more in frustration at the situation. So much for my Constitutional guarantee of a "speedy trial."

"What about Travis?"

Luke chuckled. "Yeah, what about him? He's playing it cool. Nothing to gain by rushing the process. His only hope is that the state fucks up the case against him. So he's keeping quiet, and not giving them anything. No way he'll help us out by exonerating you. Anything he says helps the case against him."

I stared out the car window. It was a lovely spring day, blue skies and wispy clouds. But I was stuck in limbo.

"Nothing else on a plea deal?"

“Not unless you can put Travis away.”

“I wish.”

Luke clicked his tongue. “Sorry man. We’ll keep working it, both on building an exculpatory case and pushing for negotiations. But, it’ll take time.”

“And money,” I noted.

He sighed. “Ayup.”

“Okay. I’ll see what we can do.”

“Uhhh, uhhh, uhhh,” Ally cried out.

I had her face down on our bed, hands pinned above her head, and I was pounding into her sloppy cunt from above.

“Ugh, God, you’re fucking me so hard,” she said between grunts. “Does it turn you on that he was fucking me in our bed?”

I had come home early after the conversation with Luke. And yes, maybe I had, in the back of my head, the hope that I might be able to walk in on her with Jimmy. But I hadn’t expected her to be in my bedroom, in my bed, naked, riding him, leaning forward to dip her breasts into his mouth. I watched her hips rock back and forth as she worked his thick rod with her tight pussy. Saw her reach back and fondle his balls. Listened as she told him how good he was, how she loved his big cock, how much she wanted his come. And I was there when he pulled her into a clinch and pounded upward into her, until his scrotum tightened, and he filled her with his come. Another two hundred dollars off the rent, but with a dose of humiliation to boot.

“It’s not the first time, Baby,” she taunted. “You’ve slept in his sweat and come.”

I groaned and thrust in harder. In this position, she was tighter than usual, but with his come still inside her, nice and wet. She gasped enthusiastically, enjoying the angry arousal she'd goaded out of me. She lifted her ass off the bed to give me a better angle. I plunged in deeper.

"That's it, you're almost as deep as he gets. Now come inside your dirty whore!"

She pressed back against me and squeezed my cock with her vagina. I gasped and came inside her.

"Oh God," I sighed collapsing on her.

She giggled. "Get off me, you big oaf."

I flopped onto my back. "Do you say that to Jimmy?"

"He's paying. So he gets to do whatever he wants."

Despite having just come, I felt my cock twitch.

"I'm not sure you're supposed to be taunting me like you do."

She rolled onto her side and smiled at me. "But what if it's fun?"

"I thought the fun was being a whore."

"That is fun. But for some reason, messing with you is fun too. I like how frisky it gets you. Don't pretend you don't like it."

I shrugged, which is what I do when there is something I don't want to admit to, but also can't bring myself to deny.

"Also," she continued, "someone has to say something."

I chuckled. "Am I too quiet for you?"

She shrugged. "I like being told what to do. It's sorta hot, you know? I think it is part of the whole whore fantasy. A man has paid his money, and now I have to do whatever he wants.”

We’d never actually had this discussion. “That’s... hard for me. Even though I know you like it, I can’t always do it.”

“Unless I get you all worked up.”

I nodded.

“Even though you know I’d do whatever you asked.”

I nodded again.

She rolled again onto her back and stared at the ceiling. I turned toward her, and just admired her for a moment. Her flat stomach and full breasts. Those delicious raspberry nipples. Her slender neck and full lips.

“God, you’re beautiful.”

She blushed. “Stop it. You already got me naked and in bed.”

“And I didn’t even have to pay.” I chuckled. “Actually today, I think you even earned more than I did.”

She looked over at me. “This is just temporary, don’t... you know... get down.”

“I don’t know. It doesn’t feel temporary. It feels like this is never going to end.” I sighed. “Luke’s retainer is used up. The DA isn’t budging. And the civil suit hasn’t even started up yet.”

She rolled back onto her side. “Luke, huh?”

“What?”

She ran a fingernail down my chest. “He’s been married a long time, hasn’t he?”

“I guess.... I.... what are you suggesting?”

Her hand continued down over my belly, and then she traced her nail gently over my shaft.

“Well, I’ve taken care of our rent problem. Maybe I could work out an installment plan to pay for our legal bills.”

“At $750 an hour, you’d be working full time just to keep up.”

She grabbed my stiffening cock and began to stroke it slowly. “That is a problem.” She paused. “Well, not for me, but I doubt Luke would be able to fuck eight hours a day, and anyway, that wouldn’t leave any time for him to work on your case. Quite a dilemma if you think about it.” I sighed as she pumped my now hard prick in her fist. “But I bet we could work out a discount at the very least. Do you think I should do that, Baby? Sit on Luke’s big cock to pay off our legal bills?”

My prick was slick with precome and squishing delightfully in her palm. “Ahhhh. How do you know it is big?”

She threw her leg over me and chuckled. “Wishful thinking, I guess.” Then she took me inside her. With my come added to Jimmy’s she was messy wet, but so, so hot. “Judging by your reaction, I think you’re wishing the same thing.”

I swallowed hard as she began to ride me. It was bad enough to be turned on that my wife was turning tricks, did I also have to hope that her johns were well hung? She had her palms on my chest, pressing down as she rose up, digging in as she dropped down, and her boobs swayed deliciously as she moved.

“Do you want to be there the first time I suck his dick? Maybe the next time you meet with him to discuss your case?”

“That might be a little distracting,” I replied.

“You’re right. Need to separate business from pleasure.”

“You’re not very good at doing that.”

She rocked back and forth, grinding her clit against my abdomen. “It’s not my fault I love my work.”

“Great that you’ve finally found a passion in life.”

She smirked at my gentle sarcasm. “Oh Baby, are you upset? You thought you’d wedded a lawyer. Then it turned out you thought you were married to a respectable school teacher. But now it turns out that your wife is a whore.”

Her pussy seemed to flutter as she said it. Just saying that word seemed to kick up her excitement level. I grabbed her tits, and used them to guide her as she rode me.

She reached behind her and began fondling my balls. “You getting another load ready for me? As much as I like dick, what I really love is the come.” She licked her lips. “In my mouth. In my sloppy cunt,” she added, grinding against me as she leaked onto my crotch. She cupped her hands over mine and pressed her breasts together. “On my big titties.”

I groaned.

“Oooh, you like that, Baby? You want me to jerk Luke’s big dick all over my tits? First, I’m going to suck him... then I’m going to fuck him... and then --”

“Oh God,” I gasped as I came inside her.

She rode me for another few seconds, but I quickly deflated. As my cock slipped out of her, another gush of come came out of her.

“I’m sorry,” I said, mindful that she hadn’t come again.

She kissed my cheek. “Don’t worry. I’m sure Jimmy and Luke will get me off plenty.”

“Wish me luck,” Ally said.

I forced a smile. Yes, all of this was hot. But it was also embarrassing. Parked in front of the law firm offices, I was acutely conscious that what had been a compartmentalized part of our lives was likely to go public in the near future. It was one thing to mess around with some stranger in a bar or even for Ally to be having sex with our retired landlord. Once we got back on our feet and moved out, we'd likely never have the opportunity to see Jimmy again unless we sought him out. But Luke was a different situation. I knew many of the lawyers at his firm. If I ever got back to practicing law, we'd be moving in similar circles.

"Wish me luck," she insisted.

Luck would have nothing to do with it. Her stretch jeans seemed painted on. She had on cute, high heeled cork sandals that showed off her shiny, red toenails. She was wearing an olive, surplice blouse, with a plunging V neck, and criss-cross straps that could be either stylish or slutty depending on your perspective.

Ally held my gaze. She didn't need my reassurance. She just liked the idea of making me an affirmative accomplice, as if my driving her to my lawyer's office so she could fuck him wasn't enough.

I broke down. "Good luck."

She smiled and kissed my cheek. "I'll try not to take too long. After all, this is just to give him a taste, right?"

I nodded.

"Hopefully he'll give me a taste too," she said with a wink. She opened the door and got out. I followed her ass as she walked into the building.

I drove into the parking lot and waited. I wasn't sure how long she'd be, and it didn't seem to be worth it to drive home only to just drive right back. I had some documents to review, so I got those out, and tried to work through the most recent court filings. It was hopeless. The dense legalese and the difficulty of my situation sapped my will to continue, and of course, it was hard to work given Ally's current mission.

I checked my watch. It had been almost fifteen minutes since she went upstairs. She had an appointment with Luke, so I knew she'd be able to get in to see him. The only question was whether he'd toss her out or indulge in what she was offering. Now was the tipping point. Up until now, they might be exchanging pleasantries, then he might listen to her proposal, and then perhaps some discussion. But as the minutes passed, it seemed increasingly likely that something was going on, although I still found it hard to believe.

Would Luke really be so reckless as to fuck Ally with only an office door as privacy? Didn't he worry about what people might think seeing him alone with a client's wife? How could he avoid fretting about the sounds they might make? It all seemed crazy.

But then as more time elapsed, the reality of the situation became ever clearer. I still went back and forth in my mind. One moment, I imagined him doing his best to calm her down, and explain the nuances of my case. I could see him reassuring her and arguing for patience. Then the next moment, all of that was out the window, and I pictured him, after perhaps a brief display of reluctance, availing himself of my wife's charms. Her full lips engulfing his rigid cock. His smile as he peeled off her jeans. Their synchronized moans as he entered her juicy pussy.

Thirty minutes... then forty. I knew Luke billed time in fifteen-minute increments. I had a dark thought of him billing me for the time he was fucking my wife... if he was actually fucking her, that is. But either way, this was already a significant middle of the workday commitment for him. Fifty minutes. I remembered her finger in my ass, the "old whore's trick," to make a man come. She wasn't using that on Luke for some reason. No, she was giving him a long, luxurious screw. And why? Because, I thought somewhat bitterly, for all the talk about her whore fantasy, what she really seemed to enjoy was actually having another man's dick inside her.

There was a rap on the window. I jolted. Ally. I fumbled with the door lock until it clicked open. She climbed into the passenger seat.

"Oh my God, oh my God!" she gasped out before bursting into giggles.

"Jesus, Ally, what?"

She looked at me in surprise, and then succumbed to another fit of tittering.

“Wow, you’re a Gloomy Gus,” she said. Then composing herself. “I’m sorry, I’m sorry. That was just... crazy.”

I softened and even chuckled slightly as she continued to grin. “What happened? Did you...?”

“Does a bear....” she paused and seemed to think better of it. “Does a bear screw in... a law firm conference room?”

“A bear? What? No.”

She nodded and smirked. “Yes. Yes he does. Three times even.”

“Three times? You fucked Luke three times?”

She shrugged. “What can I say? Once a man gets a taste of this,” she leaned over and slapped her ass, “he can’t get enough.”

“Jesus.”

She nodded toward the steering column. “Let’s get out of here. I’ll tell you as we drive.”

I went into autopilot mode. I started the car and pulled out of the garage, and then turned into traffic. As I did, Ally reached into my lap and unzipped my pants.

“What are you doing?”

“Getting your cock out,” she answered, as she did just that.

“Jesus, Ally, this is dange--”

“Did you know that Luke has always wanted to fuck me?”

I looked over at her, the car swerving.

“Eyes on the road, Stud,” she cautioned. At the same time, she gave my cock a firm tug. “That’s it, Baby, you just drive. I’ll take care of everything else.” It occurred to me that after each adventure, she became a little more confident. She stroked me firmly, and I stiffened in her grip.

She resumed, “He brought me into a conference room and left the door open. I guess he was worried I might make a scene. So I got up, and closed it, and told him that we’d need some privacy for what I had in mind. He got all nervous. It was so cute. Then I told him I’d do anything. Anything ... if he’d agree to continue working on your matter without asking for us to add to the retainer. He started to tell me some lame story...software... billing manager... blah blah... so I showed him my tits.”

My cock twitched in her hand. She laughed.

“Shut him right up,” she said. “Then I walked over and straddled his lap and pulled his head to my chest. He started sucking on my nips. Nice and hard. Just like I like it. I could feel his cock growing. I told him he could have me. All of me as long as he stayed on the case. And then I slipped between his legs and started working on getting his pants open.”

“Was he big?” I asked automatically, blushing hotly.

Ally laughed. “Do you want him to be? Do you like fantasizing about me sucking on great, big cocks? Mmmm, one so big I can barely get it into my mouth?”

My throat felt like it was closing up, and I couldn’t speak. But I was rock hard. She gave me a slow stroke, and spread my precome across my glans with her thumb.

“I wish,” she said after a moment. “He was fine, normal. I swallowed him while making eye contact. And before I knew, his eyes rolled back into his head, and he came. I was so surprised that I couldn’t get it all, and it got all over my lips, and chin, and onto my tits. He got all embarrassed and apologized, and that’s when he told me he couldn’t help himself, that he’d been thinking about me ever since we first met. What do you think about that, Honey? Think a lot of people you know want to fuck your wife?”

I nodded mutely.

“And now they’ll all get the chance if they just have the right amount or something I want.” She squeezed my shaft. “I love how hard all of this gets you.”

A horn sounded behind me, and I looked up to see I had missed seeing the light turn green. Ally chuckled. I began moving.

“I told him not to worry about it. That this was just a warmup. I used my fingers to scoop up his jism and then licked them clean. And then I took off my jeans.” She paused for a moment, and then added, “I’m not wearing anything underneath.”

The thought of my wife, sticky with his come, showing off her bare pussy was too much. I grunted, and began to spurt into her hands.

“Oopsy daisy,” she said with a giggle. “I seem to be provoking that reaction a lot today. You men are such messy creatures.”

Ally jerked me slowly, perfectly given that I was sensitive from my climax. Her hand was hot and wet with my load, and the sloppy handjob she gave me got me hard again quickly, especially when she continued her story.

“I asked him if he liked my pussy. He just nodded. I started playing with myself. I was already so wet. He licked his lips while I fingered myself, so I asked him if he wanted a taste.” She gave my rigid shaft a firm squeeze. “I don’t know how good a lawyer he is, but he’s a very good pussy eater. He grabbed my ass hard and sucked on my clit. I put my foot on his armrest to give him a better angle. Next time you shake his hand, remember that those fingers were inside me.”

I glanced over at her. She was grinning excitedly, enjoying both the retelling and its effect on me.

“Eyes on the road,” she chided. “But as much as I like my pussy eaten, I had a job to do. So I started begging for his cock.”

I moaned as my hard cock squished in her hand.

“Oh Baby, you’re not going to come again, are you? If you can’t get it up when we get home, I guess I can find Jimmy, or someone else, I guess. But you know how bad I am at negotiating when I’m all sexed up. I might end up just giving it away to the first man I run into.”

I swallowed and tried to slow my racing heart. She giggled at the effort it took me to avoid coming a second time in her hand. It was hard.

She mimicked her pleading, “ Oh, yeah Luke, I need your big, hard cock. Please Baby, put it inside me. You should have seen him. He was, like, shivering with excitement.” She chuckled, “Sort of like what you’re doing. But he couldn’t seem to get enough of my pussy, so I finally had to just push him away. Then I bent over the conference table, and dramatically waved away a stack of notepads and pens. I spread my legs, and looked back at him over my shoulder.” She giggled. “So, I know I shouldn’t say this, and it breaks character and all, but I almost laughed. He looked more than a little ridiculous still in his suit, with his red cock jutting out from his zipper.”

I laughed at the picture she painted.

“Then he stood and got behind me and rammed his cock into me.”

My laughter stopped. She smirked. Her tone turned serious. “He fucked me hard, Baby. So hard. On that conference room table. You’ve probably sat there yourself. You probably will again. Will it be hard concentrating on the boring legal documents knowing that right there, another man had your wife? His hard cock tearing up her tight, little pussy? His hands mauling her ass, spreading her cheeks? Does it bother you that your lawyer has seen your wife’s asshole?”

I slammed on the brakes. We were home. We scampered into the house and up the stairs. We didn’t make it past the entryway. Once in our apartment, I tackled Ally to the floor. We struggled out of our pants, and I was inside her. I fucked her hard and she egged me on, her tongue licking my ear, and telling me that Luke had fucked harder.

I came inside her, but didn't lose my erection. We gradually shed the rest of our clothes, and ended up in the bedroom. She rode me sensuously, her perfect boobs swaying rhythmically. Each time she came, it felt like a gusher of jism dripping onto my balls. I finally flipped her onto her back and pressed her thighs to her chest. I pounded into her and my sweat dripped onto her chest. I came one last time, grunting, and then collapsed beside her.

As I caught my breath, I turned toward her. "So, wait, I thought you said he came three times."

"Mmmm. Well, maybe I was rushing things." She looked at her watch, and grinned. "You have just enough time to straighten this place up and change the sheets. I'll freshen up."

I stared at her in confusion as she rose, naked, and walked to the bathroom. She looked back over her shoulder. "Come on, George. He'll be here in like 15 minutes. Oh, and this time, you can watch."

He was there in twelve. But it was enough time for me to pick up the clothes and make the bed. She opened the door for him in a loosely knotted bathrobe, naked underneath, with a generous amount of cleavage on display. I hid in the kitchen as she led him into the bedroom.

As promised, she left the door cracked open. I watched as she undressed him. She slipped off his suit jacket, and then removed his tie. She slowly unbuttoned his dress shirt, keeping eye contact with him the whole time. She eased off his tee shirt and ran her hands through his fine chest hair. She kissed his nipples and palmed his flat stomach. He was in surprisingly good shape. I'd always thought he was a little soft, but there was nothing soft about him, especially not his dick tenting his pants absurdly.

She dropped to her knees, eyes still locked on his. She removed his belt and draped it provocatively around her neck. Then she unbuttoned and unzipped his pants. She pulled them down along with his boxers, and as he stepped out of his trousers, she removed his socks as well. Then she stood, and with a shrug, shed her bathrobe.

Naked before him, and barefoot, she seemed smaller and more vulnerable. He cupped her breasts and teased her hard nipples. She stroked his cock firmly.

“God, you’re gorgeous,” he croaked.

Her eyes flicked in my direction momentary, then Ally rose up on her tiptoes. Pressing in close, she kissed him. He seemed surprised. She cupped his nape and kissed him again, harder this time, and he reciprocated. They made out for a while, her hand sliding up and down his shaft. He fondled her breasts and then reached down to squeeze her ass. She finally broke the embrace.

“I’ll give you the full girlfriend experience, or,” she ran a hand over her juicy slit, “you can just fuck me if you want.” She raised her hand to her mouth and tasted his precome, then gripping his prick again, she said, “I know what this one wants.”

“I want to fuck you,” he said.

Her eyes shone excitedly. Dirty talk always got her off, even if I was often too uncomfortable to give her that. I knew it was part of what she liked so much about playing the whore. She backed up and slid up onto the bed -- our bed -- preparing to have sex with yet another man there. Propping her head up onto a pillow, hands behind her knees, she slowly spread herself open for him. Her pussy glistened pink and inviting. Her nipples seemed ready to burst. And even her cute, little asshole seemed to throb with excitement.

“I want your dick inside me... again.” At the last word, she gave a quick glance at the cracked open door.

He climbed up onto the bed, between her legs. He reached out and slid his thumb between her juicy pussy lips. She moaned enthusiastically. He pressed inside her. She let out a soft, excited hiss. And when he rubbed her pussy with the pad of his thumb, she threw back her head and hissed softly.

“You’re so wet.”

“I couldn’t stop thinking about you.”

“Yeah?”

“Yeah, Baby. I played with myself the whole time. But I didn’t let myself come. I wanted to wait for that until your hard dick was inside me.”

His chest puffed out and his cock twitched. None of that was true, but she was playing him perfectly.

“Does George know you’re doing this?”

It was hard to believe he much cared about me as he was molesting my naked wife at the moment.

“I’d do anything for him,” she replied. “Especially if it involves fucking other men.”

“Men, eh?”

His thumb churned inside her more aggressively.

“Don’t worry about that, Baby. Give me your cock.”

“I love hearing you beg for it.”

She squirmed sensuously. “Come on, Baby. I need it. I need you deep inside me. Please fuck me with your big dick.”

Luke edged forward and began rubbing his prick up and down her slit. She mewled in pleased.

“Give it to me.”

“You want it?” he asked.

“Please, Baby, fuck meeee,” she cried out as he sank deep inside. “Oh yeah, fuck me good.”

He began giving her rapid strokes. His cock plunged into her wet pussy again and again.

“You like it?”

She pulled further back on her knees. “Mmmm, yeah. That’s it. Nice and hard. You’re going to make me come.”

“You’re such a slut.”

“Mmmm, yeah. That’s it. Oh God. That’s it!” She threw her head back and her tongue flicked in her mouth. “Oh fuck, oh God.”

He dropped forward onto her, pounded hard into her from above. She pulled him into another kiss, a deep passionate embrace that seemed to encourage him to bang her even harder.

“Oh, that’s it, Baby,” she cooed. “I want your come. Come inside me, and then I’ll get you hard again.”

“You can’t get enough, can you?”

“No, I can’t get enough of your cock, Baby.”

Another deep kiss. His thrusts slowed, as he enjoyed being deep inside her. His ass clenched, and his balls tightened, and I realized he was coming inside my wife. True to her promise, when he was done, she rolled them over and went down on him. As she noisily licked him clean, she aimed her ass in my direction, giving me an obscene view of her gaping gash leaking his creamy load.

She managed to get him hard again quickly. Now on her hands and knees, she encouraged him to slide in behind her. He thrust in hard. “Oh God, you’re so big,” she cried out exuberantly, knowing that men don’t really care if it is true or not; they just like to hear it. As he fucked her, she looked back over her shoulder, first at him, and then at me. I watched as she palmed her ass, and then spread her cheeks apart so he could watch his cock entering her sweet pussy and admire her tight, little asshole.

He teased her anus. “How much for this?”

“Oooh, dirty boy,” she cooed. “You want to fuck me up the ass?”

He groaned. “Fuck yeah.”

She reached back and palmed his hand. Then to my shock, she pressed his thumb into her ass. They moaned simultaneously.

“Oh fuck, that feels so good,” Ally moaned.

“You want it there? You want it there Baby?”

She rocked back against him, rolling her hips, pumping her ass, moaning. “Yeah stud? You gonna fuck me up the ass?”

His thumb churned in and out of her butthole. His cock thrust into her pussy roughly. She had him riled up, just like she wanted him.

“Yeah, Slut, I’m going to fuck your ass.”

She grabbed his wrist and eased him back out of her butt. “Not yet, Baby, not until I get what I want.”

He groaned in frustration as her asshole gaped and winked at him. His squeezed her ass hard and pounded into her.

My Fitbit vibrated. I checked it. 3:15. Time to pick up the kids. I looked back into the bedroom. Her arms had given out, and she was face down, ass up on the bed, looking sexier than ever. He dripped a strand of spit onto her pulsing anus. She moaned and reached between her legs and fondled his balls. My watch buzzed again.

Fuck fuck fuck. I backed away, moans, gasps, groans, and sighs filling my ears. Flesh slapping against flesh. I backed away and went down the hallway, out the door, which I closed silently behind me, and down the stairs. As I left, Jerry watched me through the window. He knew. He knew my wife was fucking yet another man upstairs.

I knew I couldn't come home until I cleared it with Ally. But she didn't answer my calls. The kids had a great afternoon. We got frogurt, and then went to the playground, then McDonald's, and then the mall. Becky had me buy an FPS and Callie an American Girl doll.

Kids are great. Completely self-absorbed. It literally did not occur to them that there was anything at all weird about Daddy suddenly giving them, without debate, everything they usually have to fruitlessly beg for. Not that I would have explained it to them had they asked. Even as discombobulated as I was, I wouldn't have shared the fact that Mommy was currently in bed fucking Daddy's lawyer. That's just not the sort of thing you tell children.

I periodically texted Ally to see if it was safe for me to come home. She didn't respond. Not at 4:00pm. Not at 5:00pm. Not at 6:00pm. Finally a bit after 7, she texted that it was safe to come back.

Walking in my front door was surreal. There was Ally in jeans and a tee shirt. Her hair smelled freshly washed, but nothing was out of place. She'd be a natural for having an affair and keeping it secret, which made me wonder, perhaps really for the first time whether I'd really been along for this entire journey, or whether, maybe she'd taken some of the steps on her own. Had she been having an affair with Luke all along?

She welcomed us home, and then proceeded to scowl at me theatrically as the kids related their afternoon and early evening. Then she kiss me on the cheek.

"I'll get them off to bed. You deserve a break." Her grin was warm, and the little squeeze she gave my hands reassuring.

I fixed myself a drink.

I was on my third when she came back into the living room to join me. She sat down in my lap and took a gulp from my glass. She coughed.

"Jesus, cough medicine," she said.

“Philistine. Highland Park 18. Last of my old collection.”

As we downsized I’d sold off some of my bottles, and hadn’t replaced any that were drunk.

“Don’t worry, Honey, we’ll get out of this soon. Luke had an idea.”

I felt bile in my throat. I didn’t think this would ever end, and I hated to think of Luke and Ally conspiring together without me.

“Yeah? Did it involved his dick and your asshole?”

She laughed. “Oh, Baby, pimps aren’t supposed to get jealous.”

“I’m serious, I saw --”

“You saw what I invited you to see. And what you saw was me doing what I could to get us what we want.”

“ We, huh? Because a lot of this feels about what you --”

“Oh, for fuck’s sake, this is called making lemons out of lemonade. If we’d never met Travis, we’d probably have never crossed the line from play to reality. But there you go, circumstance, contingency, fate, whatever.”

“More like karma. I can’t believe I fucked everything up, and --”

She put her finger to my lips. “So first you want to blame me, and now you want to blame yourself? Shit happens Ducky. Question is, are we tough enough to overcome it?”

“Ally, I don’t know....”

“He had an idea.”

I looked at her skeptically.

“And no,” she said, “it didn’t involve my asshole.” She paused. “Well, that’s not quite true. He had plenty of ideas about that, but that’s not what I am talking about. Ideas about legal strategy.”

My mind raced. I wanted to hear his ideas... it’s just... I wasn’t completely sure if it was his anal or his legal strategy that most interested me.

Chapter Twelve: Breaking the Stalemate

I stared at the ceiling, trying to catch my breath. Ally lay beside me.

“God, Honey,” she said. “Who’d have thought that you’d get so turned on about hearing about my first assgasm? Oh, wait, I’d have thought it.”

I closed my eyes. She’d pinned my hands above my head and with my cock in her pussy, she’d provided, a long, detailed, narrative of how he’d used his come to lube her ass. First one finger inside her, then a second in her anus. His other hand flicking her bean. She painted a graphic image on her writhing at his touch, sweaty, and dry mouthing, humping his hands, and then coming hard enough to leave her lightheaded. But not so dizzy as to let him fuck her ass.

“ He only gets that when your case is over. He gets off when you get off.”

That’s when I came.

“Okay, Baby, now that you’re in a less fevered state, want to discuss legal strategy?” she asked.

“Um, yeah,” I said... though my mind seemed determined to conjured up lurid images of Luke sodomizing my wife, which is sort of redundant. Can visions of anal sex be anything other than lurid?

“The big problem,” she said, “is the DA.”

I chuckled. “We may be overpaying Luke if that’s his best insight.”

She plowed ahead, “So, according to Luke, rumor is... District Attorney Lewis is... a little kinky.”

“Hmmm. Well, as our current problems suggest, my legal ethics are a little rusty, but not so rusty that I don’t remember that trying to blackmail a government official is a no-no.”

“Blackmail is such an ugly word. I think of it more as expanding the issues under negotiation.”

“Ally, this is --”

“Hear me out. I thought it sounded stupid too, but then while Luke was pounding away I got to thinking.”

I looked over at her.

She shrugged. “What? He’d already come three times, so it went on a while, and a girl gets bored, and it started to make sense.”

“What’s his kink?”

“See, that’s the thing. It is a riddle, wrapped in a mystery, inside an enigma. So, when Luke worked at Blackmon, the managing partner, Brad Maxwell, was a law school classmate of Lewis’s. And Maxwell would always joke that he knew things about Lewis that would ensure he could get any client off, but he was waiting to use it for a real payoff.”

“That’s thin.”

“Yeah, but then Luke mentioned that the Lewis divorce was... odd. A friend of his worked on that. When Lewis and his wife split, there was all this weird drama because it was right before an election. His wife took him to the cleaners, and the story was she’d timed it so that any revelations would be particularly, um, damaging.”

“This is all rumor,” I said. “And vague rumor. Baby, don’t take this the wrong way, but maybe Luke is just playing you for... you know....”

“Well, sure, and I did think about that while he was fucking me.” I winced and she giggled. “But that’s the point. By the time he started talking about that, I'd already sucked him off twice, fucked him once, let him finger my ass, and offered him my anal cherry if he got you off."

"He was trying to impress you."

"Well, sure, but that does not make it untrue."

"I don't understand the plan," I said.

"Well, I get close to him and learn his kink... and then we negotiate. "

"Sounds desperate."

She laughed. "More desperate than fucking our landlord and lawyer?"

"Touché."

Darren Lewis was something of an institution. He'd been the District Attorney for over a decade, and his family had been prominent in town for generations. None of the research I did managed to confirm any of Luke's hints. Yes, he'd gone to Chicago at the same time as Maxwell, and yes his divorce had occurred in an election year. But if anything, the limited press coverage only seemed to note that the divorce had been surprisingly amicable, albeit unexpected.

He was an older white man, in his mid-60s, a bit portly, with dyed black hair, that might actually have been a toupee, though I doubted that was the deep, dark secret that Brad Maxwell supposedly held over him.

We had to play this very carefully, because while Lewis was not directly involved in my case, he was involved in the investigation against Travis. I was just one of many possible witnesses, so he'd surely seen my name, but he probably wouldn't have any particular knowledge about Ally.

The Lewises supported a lot of local institutions, and in the course of my research, I noticed he was scheduled to speak at a fundraiser for the symphony next week. It was $1000 to attend, which was a little steep given our current financial situation. But in the time since Luke had raised the issue, Ally had fucked Jerry four times, and Luke twice more, so desperate times called for desperate measures.

Ally bought a ticket, and we agreed on the same classy, yet sexy outfit she'd worn that night at Bellagio. Green dress, lots of boobage, high heels.

"So what is the plan?" I asked.

We'd discussed it a hundred times, but it had never quite come together in my mind.

"I sidle up to him and give him that mix of tits and polite disinterest that seems to get men going."

"And what if he doesn't?"

"Then I follow him into the men's room and suck his cock?"

"Ally?"

"What? It could work."

"Seriously."

She smirked at me. "You worry too much."

"You worry too little."

She kissed my cheek. "Don't worry, Baby. If he has a secret, then my lack of panties will ferret it out."

"You're not wearing panties?"

She smiled. "Wish me luck."

"Good luck."

She turned and walked out the door.

It was a long night. I got the kids to bed early, and then I waited. And waited. And waited.

The event began at 7:00pm with a cocktail reception. Then dinner at 8:00pm. A performance by some, apparently, renowned Jazz band at 9:00pm. Dessert and silent auction results at 10:00pm.

So I began to think something might have happened when I didn't hear from Ally at 11:00pm. And I started to worry about her at midnight. And then with no news or a call from the cops by 1:00am, I knew that her "no panties" strategy had probably paid off.

The past six months swirled in my head. I thought of her with Jerry and then with Luke. I wondered about Lewis's kink. Was my wife, at the moment, gagged and chained by her wrists, getting her pussy flogged with a cat o' nine tails? Was she in a shower stall, on her knees, getting peed on? Was she on her back, legs spread, getting fucked by an impossibly hung black man as Lewis watched and jerked off?

She finally returned after three in the morning.

I rushed to the door. "Are you okay?" I asked.

She looked at me and started to laugh.

"What?" I asked.

She covered her mouth, not wanting to wake the kids.

"Ally?"

She took a deep breath and composed herself enough to let out two words. "Adult baby."

"Adult baby?"

She nodded, red-faced.

“What? I don’t understand.”

She couldn’t speak, and I finally had to look it up. And look, it’s not my cup of tea, but we all have our kinks. And if yours is to wear a diaper and have a pretty woman change you and baby powder your ass, while cooing about how cute your “little weenie” is, well, is that really any worse than getting wet thinking about fucking for money or getting turned on by the idea of your wife being a whore?

But the public are a bunch of moralizing pricks. And whatever we all do behind closed doors, we’re all more than happy to judge others.

Things went quickly. Luke arranged a major status conference on the case. The government, with Lewis observing, redoubled their insistence that Travis would have to admit guilt and pay restitution, and that they were not going to cut deals with anyone until they had Travis dead to rights. My name barely came up. It didn’t need to. Ally attended as Luke’s assistant. She took notes, and at just the right moment, winked at Darren Lewis.

My case was severed the next day, and Luke began negotiating a plea deal.

“I can’t, Baby,” Ally sighed. “I promised.”

She was bent over the bathroom sink, skirt raised over her ass. I had a tube of lube in my hand, and was greasing up her asshole. She was so tight, her buttohole clenching on my fingers as I lubed and stretched her. I was hard as a rock. I so desperately wanted to taste what had always been the forbidden fruit.

“Please, Ally, why should he --”

“I promised he’d get my virgin ass, Baby. What kind of a professional would I be if I cheated him on that?”

Her tight little anus winked at me invitingly. My cock throbbed. All I wanted to do was jam my prick inside her, but instead I was getting her ready for another man.

“Now put the butt plug in.”

I grabbed the sex toy from the counter and covered it in lube. It seemed huge. I couldn't believe it would fit inside her. But it did. She shivered and gasped as it spread her ass wider and wider, and then she sighed as it settled inside her, and her anus closed in on the narrower stem.

She stood and straightened herself up.

“Wish me luck.”

“Good luck,” I said.

She grinned as she glanced down at my raging erection, which tenting my shorts. She kissed my cheek and left to surrender her anal cherry to my lawyer. I jerked off again and again to the image of her tight, little butthole, which I had so lovingly prepared for another man.

By the time she returned the next morning her asshole was swollen, red, and very obviously popped. None of which stopped me from fucking her up her gooey ass.

Epilogue: A New Life

The plea deal unfroze our assets, but penalties and fines ate away most of them. I was also disbarred. We were free and clear, but largely starting from scratch, and my ability to earn a living was shot.

Luckily, Ally's was soaring. There is a surprisingly vibrant market for MILFy escorts. And Ally argued that she had to strike while the iron was hot.

At my best I was charging $750 an hour and seeing maybe $250 per hour in salary. Great fucking money. But Ally was able to charge $1000 an hour and keep it all.

She continued to change Darren Lewis. Luke made enough to see her on occasion. And even Jerry scraped together his pennies to see her about once a month. But there were other clients. All kinds of men. Young men, old men, white men, black men. And there were the couples. Not so shocking is the number of men who want to see their wife make it with another girl. More surprising is the number of women who want to watch their husband really railing the shit out of a dirty whore. And the kinksters. And the groups, bachelor parties, frat boys on break....

You haven't really lived until you've fucked your wife, strangers' come leaking out of all her holes, on a bed strewn with hundred dollar bills she's just earned.

And me? I'm at home, taking care of the kids and writing a novel. I bet it'll be a bestseller.

AFTERWORD

The first thing I suspect most of you will say, having read the story, is that it ends abruptly. It does. After finishing the first draft, I let it sit for a week or two, and then I intended to go back and expand the last couple of chapters. In the end, I didn't. There are two reasons.

First and most importantly, the narrative arc, such as it is, is complete. Ally has gone from having an escort fantasy to essentially becoming an escort. The McGuffin about George's legal woes is resolved. What else is there to say? Now, that is not quite true. In my original formulation, the transition from Ally fucking specific people -- the landlord, the lawyer, the DA -- to becoming the family's main breadwinner had another section where she meets up with a real pimp, he breaks her in, and then adds her to his stable. There were some sexy scenes I had in mind, but they had a bit of a darker side, and would not have matched the tone of the story otherwise. And anyway, I decided it really wasn't particularly useful.

Second, by writing in the first person, I constrained myself somewhat. If I wanted to expand on the story, I'd have had to invent ever more convoluted explanations for how George is witnessing events, or alternatively go back to the well, again and again, of Ally relaying events to her husband. That gets old, unless there is a new twist or revelation that makes a difference. I was able to make it work in the Terri Trilogy, which remains, I think, one of my most fully realized stories, but that was in part because Terri's stories and the way she phrased them were purposeful. She was trying to provoke a reaction. Here, all Ally is really doing is having fun and getting her husband hot. Okay, but how many times does a reader want to hear that?

That does raise a bigger issue of POV. Most of my stories are first-person, male POV. Despite the limitations of that approach, I like the intimacy of it. You're inside someone's head. Now, it is possible to do that with a third person, omniscient narrator, of course, but I find that problematic. See, once you admit that the narrator has insights into people's state of mind, I find it difficult to draw boundaries. I don't feel like I can create any ambiguity, since, in principle, the narrator knows all. And I also feel this pressure to explain what everyone is thinking at all times. This may reflect that fact that I am an amateur as a fiction writer. I took one creative writing class back in college, but I am otherwise an autodidact as a writer. When I do use third person, I usually still keep a single character's POV -- as in Annual Leave -- and I do that mostly when I am writing from a female POV. That's another personal idiosyncrasy, I guess. I feel a little uncomfortable writing a female character in first person. I am not quite sure why, though part of it is certainly a concern over the whole issue of "appropriation." Otherwise, I'll sometimes write third person with a very limited narrator, who basically only sees actions, and not thoughts. I'm pushing myself on these issues, but, well, there it is.

Okay, now about the bonus story. It's not a story. It is just a scene. I was amused re-reading it. The story came out of somewhat misogynist musings of a 20-something, young man. I had a very sexy (platonic) friend who was having trouble landing a full-time job, and this was the scenario that came to mind. At the time, I couldn't resist the final, vaguely moralistic and somewhat cringy, twist. The writing is cleaner and crisper than most of the stuff I wrote at the time, though still has its share of howlers. I picked it because it has just enough parallels with the main story in this volume to make it work as a companion.

But these stories speak to one of my weird... obsessions? No that's not quite right. Interests? Curiosity maybe? Anyway, here goes. I'm always curious about how very attractive women think about the whole issue of "monetizing" their looks. See, here is the thing. I am pretty lazy on the whole. And I suspect that if I were a beautiful woman, I'd be very, very tempted to try to capitalize on my looks. I'm not talking porn or escorting, necessarily, but just the myriad other ways in which a woman can use looks to get what she wants. Now, I fully understand the tradeoff, and I find it heartbreaking when a woman who has worked to become an accomplished professional finds that men are judging her by her appearance. I'm not trying to excuse that at all. But my curiosity is about the thought process. You're 24 and gorgeous, and you know it. How does that affect how you look at the world? Is it all just dread at not being taken seriously? Or is there some thought like, "fuck, I'm hot, and here is how it can work for me?" Is that a creepy thought? Probably. I dunno. I'm happy to be educated.

In any case, enjoy the short.

BONUS STORY

The Interview

"I can't believe I'd be worried about money after going to law school," Dana said to herself as she looked over her bills. But now, over a year after graduation, she still didn't have a permanent job, and her law school debts were becoming crushing. It was a relatively good day though, a law firm she had interviewed with last week had invited her for a call-back the next day.

She got a good night's sleep, woke up early, and started to get ready. The first interview had not gone that well and she was determined to impress them this time. She knew that men found her attractive, and she decided to take advantage of that.

Instead of a conservative business suit, Dana chose a relatively short, clingy, black skirt which showed off her shapely legs and hard round ass. She also selected a sheer silk matching blouse which she knew sometimes hung open slightly and exposed the swells of her pert breasts. Looking at the clothes she had laid out on the bed, she decided to go all out. She reached into her drawer and pulled out her sexiest black lace panties and bra, and to top it off she decided to wear her garter belt and stockings rather than plain pantyhose.

She teased her hair out rather than pulling it back, and made sure her makeup accented her big green eyes and full red lips. She looked at herself in the mirror. She was pleased with the outcome. Not slutty, but definitely sexy enough to give her a small edge with the all-male interviewers.

She arrived right on time and was soon ushered into the hiring partner's office. Dennis White was nearly fifty, average height, with a pot belly, with grey hair around the edges of his bald head. His corner office was luxuriously decorated. And Dana was immediately intimidated at being alone with him.

He watched her as she sauntered in. Sexier than he remembered. But despite the clothes, he could see she was nervous. Dennis had her file in front of him. He had been ready to recommend her to the hiring committee, but he had a few more questions.

Dana sat down in front of him. She could feel herself getting nervous. "Why am I meeting with him alone?" she thought to herself, "They are going to reject me. I know it. I need this job," her mind reeled. She could feel tears forming in the back of her eyes.

"So, how are you doing?" he asked amiably, his eyes darting momentarily to the hem of her skirt.

"Um," she hesitated, distracted. She felt the overpowering urge to get away. "Would you mind if I went to the ladies room," she asked suddenly.

"Oh, sure," he answered in surprise.

In the bathroom, she looked at herself in the mirror. "Calm down, calm down," she muttered. But she was still overwhelmingly nervous. She forced herself to breathe regularly, and finally she was ready to return to Dennis' office. She reached for the bathroom door, but with a sudden resolve, she stepped back in, quickly removed her panties, smoothed her skirt, and went back outside.

She sat back down in front of Dennis' desk, her legs crossed, and her skirt riding up her thigh. Dennis questioned her about her interests, and she grew more confident as she noticed him looking at her legs. She uncrossed and recrossed her legs, allowing the fabric of her skirt to ride higher and higher. Out of the corner of her eye she spotted the clasp of her garter belt coming into view, and she smiled slightly as she realized Dennis had noticed.

Finally, the interview was done. "Do you have anything to add?" he asked as he closed the file folder in front of him.

Dana did not hesitate. She stood up, and walked over to Dennis. He seemed puzzled as she stood in front of him, her legs spread slightly, her skirt pulled up exposing her thighs and the tops of her stockings. She ran a hand lazily over her thigh, against her hip, and then across her stomach and up between her breasts.

"I have lots of skills," she rasped.

"What do you mean?" he said, obviously excited.

She raised her hands over her head and stretched forcing her skirt still higher until the edge of her trimmed bush came into view.

"Well, let me show you," she said as she deftly slid to her knees. Before he could even react, she leaned forward and unzipped his pants. She quickly reached in and through the opening in his boxers she grasped his cock. It was already more than a little hard, and he gasped softly as her dainty hand stroked his rod.

She eased his hardening cock out of his pants and continued stroking it. With a bright smile she leaned forward and licked the length of his shaft. He moaned softly, and encouraged, Dana took the head into her mouth. She swished her tongue around the tip, and after a while she slowly took him deeper and deeper into her mouth. Soon she'd taken his medium-sized cock completely inside her, and she started bobbing up and down.

He rested his hand on the back of her head, encouraging her to suck him faster and faster. Dana made sure his cock was nice and wet as she bobbed up and down, a loud slurping sound filling the room. He was moaning loudly now, and Dana could taste his pre-cum beginning to ooze. Suddenly she stopped and pulled away.

He looked at her disappointed, but his frustration disappeared when she bent over her desk. She pulled her skirt completely over her round ass, spread her legs, and reaching behind her she shamelessly fingered her slit. Dennis sat not more than three feet from her, as she spread her pretty pink pussy, and a moment later she pushed a finger and then two into her obviously excited cunt. She finger-fucked her pussy for a couple of minutes, and then slipping her wet finger out of her cunt, she slowly pushed it into her ass.

She could see Dennis staring at her enthralled. "Fuck me," she whispered.

Dennis rose quickly, his chair flying out from under him. He grabbed her hips, and violently jammed his cock completely into her hot cunt. She fell forward onto the desk, and gasped at his rough pounding. Over and over he reared back and slammed himself into her. He grabbed her ass, fondling her and squeezing her cheeks hard.

"Oh yes, oh yes, you little slut," he growled. He was fucking her so hard that his big mahogany desk was rocking back and forth. Finally, he rocked back and jammed himself fully into her. She felt his body shiver as he shot his load deep inside her. For a few moments he stayed inside, but then he pulled out. Still he stood behind her, his hands rubbing between her legs, probing her slit, and fondling her clit and anus.

"I like your other skills," he said as he pressed a finger into her pussy. She turned and smiled at him. "I guess we'll offer you a job," he said. Dana smiled broadly, even as he pushed a finger into her ass. "Of course," he continued, "we were going to offer you the job anyway."
