

THE CRUSH
BEN BOSWELL

The Crush

Ben Boswell

The Crush All Right Reserved © 2017 by Ben Boswell

Cover image ©BigStockImage. Used under license.

First digital edition electronically published by Ben Boswell, March 2017

With the exception of quotes used in reviews, this book may not be reproduced or used in whole or in part by any means existing without explicit written permission of the copyright holder.

This book is a work of fiction and any resemblance to persons, living or dead, or places, events, or locales is purely coincidental. The characters are productions of the author's imagination and used fictitiously.

FOREWORD

This book is written in three parts, one each from the viewpoint of the three main characters. They are relating much the same story, but from their own perspectives with their own concerns. As a result, you'll find some subtle differences in chronology and particularly in the dialogue they remember or choose to emphasize. That's a feature, not a bug.

I know a lot of readers will want a more definitive conclusion than I provide – some punishment and retribution for sins both actual and imagined. I don't write books like that. In real life, not everything ends up neatly tied up in a bow. Karma is not instantaneous, and not certain in any case. I know this sort of warning will do nothing to deter the trolls who will read this book despite my cautions and feel obligated to write nasty comments, but nevertheless consider yourselves forewarned.

Each of these parts was composed separately, sometimes with a significant interval between their writing. I think the story holds together nicely, but I don't necessarily think it is required to read all three parts in immediate succession. Either way, I'll be interested to see what readers think of this book, and in particular whether the different perspectives flesh out the story as well as I think.

As always, I appreciate all feedback and comments. You can reach me at ben.boswell.author@gmail.com or visit my twitter @BenBoswellAut.

Ben Boswell
March 2017

Book One: Dave's Dilemma

CHAPTER ONE

What would you do if your wife told you she had a crush on another man and that she wanted to act on it? Annie didn't actually say the second half of that, but it was sort of implied. She's always been direct and practical, not the sort of woman to want to sit up for hours and talk about feelings. It is one of the things I most like about her. If she says something, it is because she wants something to happen.

Knowing that about her is what made her revelation so challenging. What's worse is that I should have seen it coming... but I am getting ahead of myself.

Annie is not actually her real name. Her parents named her Gloria. I met her at college. She was an eighteen-year-old freshman, and I was a twenty-three-year-old graduate student. We were both in the film club. We were screening that goofy old Elvis flick, Viva Las Vegas, when someone noticed that Gloria was the spitting image of a young Ann-Margret. People started calling her Ann, and it stuck because it worked.

We got to know each other, started dating, and by the end of her freshman year we were basically inseparable. The term "soul mate" is a cliché, but in this case it probably fits.

We laugh at the same jokes – the more obscure and nerdy the better. Share the same idea of a fun date – Chinese food and an old movie. But we also complete each other. She has drive and ambition for two, which is great because left to me own devices I tend to drift, lose focus. There is no way I'd have finished my dissertation in two years if I hadn't been dating her. And I brought out her softer, sillier side, piercing that protective shell she had built around her, letting her take an afternoon off to just sit and cuddle and watch TV.

We dated throughout her undergrad years. She was a hard-charger. She majored in mechanical engineering, and managed to complete her studies in three years. I was getting a Ph.D. in English and getting ready to start a post-doc. I knew she'd have lot of opportunities, and as practical as she was I knew she would not be willing to stick around with me unless I made a commitment to the future. So I started thinking about asking her to marry me. She was only twenty-one, but mature, and I was completely head-over-heels.

I mentioned my plans to my friend Barry. He congratulated me, but I could tell he had his doubts. After a half-dozen beers, he finally told me his concerns.

"Dude, you guys started dating when she was like eighteen. And, weren't you like her first?"

I laughed. It had never occurred to me that having found a pretty girl who happened not to have slept around was a bad thing.

"Yeah, so?"

"So, I mean, she's never been with another guy. Sooner or later, she's going to get curious."

At first, I tried to laugh it off, but the more I thought about it, the more I wondered if Barry might not have a point. After all, I was no big stud, but even I had been with half-dozen or so women over the years, and I would not have traded those experiences for the world. I decided to confront Ann with Barry's argument.

She laughed. "Has Barry ever been in a relationship that's lasted longer than three weeks?" I shook my head no. "So maybe he isn't the best person to go to for this sort of advice, eh?"

That broke the tension.

"Look," she continued analytically, "there are three ways to deal with this. First, you could just dump me because you're worried that at some point in the future, I'll get curious. Second, I guess I could go out and sleep with a bunch of guys. Heck, I could probably go to the frat house down the street and have like twenty of them pull a train on me. I'd consider that if you asked me to, but I'm not sure I'd want to be with a man who wants me to screw other guys no matter what the reason is. Third, you could just forget this nonsense and ask me what you've been thinking of asking me."

She smiled and her tone softened. "You know, I know I'm attractive. It's not like you were the first guy to come on to me... or the last... I'm not with you because I can't get anyone else. I'm with you because I love you. So yeah, I can't promise that I won't ever wonder what it would be like to be with another man, but we'll just have to cross that bridge when we get to it. So, what do you think?"

It was weird. The sun was shining into our apartment. Her red hair looked like it was on fire. All I could think was how beautiful she was. Even though the conversation wasn't the most romantic lead-in to popping the question, it was good enough. "Baby, will you marry me?" I asked.

She smiled, "you sure you don't want me to visit the frat house first?"

"Never."

"Then, yes, Dave, I will marry you."

That was ten years ago. She's now an associate VP at multi-national construction firm. And people still sometimes ask her if she's related to Ann-Margret. I teach at a prestigious private school. We live in Connecticut, outside of New York City. No kids yet, though we're thinking about it. Like many married couples, we've had a few ups and downs over money and career stuff, but most of our friends consider our relationship a rock of stability. I guess I'd have said the same thing until last week.

CHAPTER TWO

I'd noticed Annie had been a little distracted. She sometimes got that way when work was pressing in, and I knew they were putting together a multi-billion dollar proposal to build a bridge down in the Amazon basin. We were having a nice dinner, sharing a bottle of wine, when suddenly she came out with it.

"Dave? You know that guy Greg at my office?"

"I don't think I've met him. You've mentioned him though."

"I've been thinking a lot about him recently," she said tentatively.

"Is he giving you trouble?"

"Well, no. Actually, yes, but not in a bad way. Or maybe in a bad way."

I don't think I'd ever really seen her babbling before. I was thinking it was sort of cute and about to make a joke, but then she continued. She took a deep breath. "I've been thinking of him sexually. I guess I sort of have a crush on him. He's getting transferred to San Diego at the end of the quarter."

Now it was my turn to be flustered. It seemed pretty obvious where this was going. She was attracted to her co-worker, and he was going to be leaving town soon, which made him safe for a fling. If she had just been relieved he was leaving town so she would no longer be tempted, she wouldn't have brought the whole issue up.

"Have you?" I asked.

"Not yet," she replied.

That one word -- "yet" -- sent me reeling. She had already made up her mind, and my only choice was how. She was looking at me closely, seeing that I had understood and looking for my reaction.

"I need a little time to think," I said.

"I understand." She paused. "You know, we always knew this day might come."

I nodded.

"Well, I guess I should do the dishes," she said as she stood and walked the plates into the kitchen. I poured myself another big glass of wine.

I sat there for a long while.

There it was. The moment Barry had warned me about. The moment that Annie and I had discussed briefly before I'd proposed to her. The moment when my beautiful, confident, brilliant wife got curious about being with another man.

What does one say at a moment like that? Oh, sure, the easy answer is to just refuse. Or perhaps break something and then refuse. But then what?

Annie had come to me with this because she was serious. I knew her. Knew her too well to think this was just some creepy test of my character. Annie didn't play games. She wasn't looking to make me jealous. And she wasn't looking for me to control her either. A simple "no" wasn't an acceptable answer. Not to me, and not for her.

I needed a reason, an explanation, something more than just a kneejerk reaction. Something more than just the fact that the idea of her with another man made me feel queasy and heartbroken.

My dilemma was that thinking about saying no also made me anxious. How would she react? Would she meekly accept my word as the final answer? I couldn't see that. It would always be there. The fact that she'd told me her desires and that I'd refused them because of my own insecurities. It would be putting my needs above hers.

She'd been thinking about this for a long time. She wouldn't have asked if we were not serious about it.

I finished my wine and opened another bottle. I'm not a big drinker; I never have been, but for the first time in my life, I felt like I needed another drink.

She came back into the dining room, her expression a mix of anxiety and anticipation. What was she expecting from me?

"How did this happen?" I asked.

She let out a relieved sigh. I felt a moment of regret. I was now committed to being reasonable. But it hadn't occurred as a matter of calculation. I was off-balance, at sea, unsteady. There was this weird disconnect. My mind was reeling, my stomach churning, I could taste angry bile in my throat. And yet, it was like there was a wall, a moat between my emotions and my reaction. Whereas inside I felt like I was going to die, somehow to Annie, I was calm, understanding.

She approached me slowly, as if she could sense my turmoil, not quite believing my apparently placidness in the face of her, what, confusion? Provocation? Need?

“I wasn’t looking for this.”

I nodded. Again, my reactions were disconnected from my instincts. For the first time in my life, I felt the urge to strike her, hurt her. Still, my fists remained unclenched, my arms at my side, my shoulders slumped under the weight of her confession.

Fuck you. Fuck you. Fuck you. I screamed to myself. But my response was the opposite. Meek. Empathetic.

“I know.”

Her eyes watered. What was she feeling, sensing? Surely, she knew she was killing me, that my response didn’t reflect acceptance, but rather paralysis. Shock. Terror. I didn’t... I couldn’t know how to respond. Even though I’d thought about it; that we’d even discussed it; I was completely unprepared to deal with it. I knew, even then, how my flat affect might be interpreted. That she might see my quiescence as acceptance, my placidity as concurrence. And yet, I couldn’t act otherwise. I was locked-in, locked-out, locked-up. A wall rising up, cutting me off from my own passions.

“He’s... he’s beautiful... and meaningless... and I don’t even like him... but I want him.”

I could see her struggling as well. Annie... Gloria... she’d always been so in control. So mature. So... so fucking practical. Even at eighteen, she was all grown up. Fully-formed. She was just a kid when we met, and yet, not. A throwback to some earlier era when people grew up faster, somehow. A frontier wife, with three kids before she turned twenty, and an endless expanse of prairie, keeping a family together. A Rosie the Riveter, sweetheart in the Pacific, away from her family, never losing her spirit. We live in an infantilizing society. How many of us are subsidized by generous parents well into our twenties? But that was never Annie. She’d never been a kid. Her parents were crazy... or crazily insightful. It had never been clear to me which was closer to the truth. And now, for the first time, I saw, in her uncertainty, in her stumbling and mumbling, a kid, immature, searching, selfish, and yet honest, passionate. I couldn’t process it all. In the moment, it was a blur, a buzz. I was seeing my wife in a different light for the first time. Was she feeling different for the first time as well?

Her words, as if on a delay now cut through my haze.

"Want him?" I repeated.

She looked away, embarrassed, blushing, smiling.

"Oh God, Dave, I'm so sorry."

But she didn't seem sorry. There was now a glow about her as she thought about him. But what was she thinking? Surely to get to know this man, to peer into his soul, to understand his dreams and ambitions and fears. It couldn't just be that she wanted to fuck him... simply to feel his hands on her body, feel his cock inside her. She couldn't be tearing me apart just for that, could she?

She took my hands, squeezed them tight. Was it a gesture of reassurance or a way of demonstrated her intensity.

"I don't know what to say," I said honestly.

She nodded. "You don't have to say anything now."

She gave my hands another squeeze and then went back into the kitchen to finish up the dishes.

I remained rooted to the spot. I can't say that I ever really thought about saying no. People aren't possessions. If she was looking for me to be enthusiastic about it, I wasn't. The idea didn't turn me on; not even a little. In fact, it terrified me. Not because of the physical act, but the idea of losing her. And yet, it wasn't something I could easily enunciate, because what did it mean at the core? That the only way I could keep her was to deny her experiences? What kind of a relationship was that?

Ultimately, there was only one thing I really cared about. I walked into the kitchen and snuggled her from behind. "I don't want to lose you," I whispered in her ear.

She squeezed my hand. "Don't worry, you won't."

"Okay," I said. She smiled.

I didn't quite know where that left things. In the back of my mind, I was sort of hoping it was just a test, or perhaps just a passing temptation, even though Ann has never been the sort to play that kind of game. When nothing happened over the next few days, I almost forgot about it because in the end, trying to forget about it was easier than dwelling on it.

CHAPTER THREE

I was grading some papers Friday evening when the phone rang. It was almost 7:00pm and Annie was still at the office. I picked up expecting her to give me an ETA on when she'd be home for dinner. "We finished up the proposal," she said brightly.

"Great, come home and we'll celebrate!"

She giggled. "We had a little party at the office. Jack broke out champagne for a toast." Jack was her boss. "I've had a couple of glasses. Can you tell?" She giggled again.

"Just a couple, eh?"

"Well, more or less, give or take."

"You want me to pick you up?"

"No, I'll get a ride. We're heading out in a couple. I just wanted to give you a heads up." She paused. "I'm bringing a friend home." Another interminable pause. "It's Greg."

I swallowed hard, my heart suddenly racing wildly. But even though my heart was racing, my mind was hazy, dull. "Oh.... well, what, should I go out or something?"

"No, please don't do that. I'll see you soon."

"Um... okay... I'll... um... wait... for you..." I mumbled as she hung up.

I was thoroughly confused at this point. I poured myself a beer and waited.

I was in the den when I heard the door open. As I walked out to the living room, I saw Annie in the foyer. She looked radiant. A couple of drinks gives her a little glow and loosens her up, adding a sexy swivel to her walk. She was wearing a clingy red dress that looked a lot less conservative than it had this morning when she had it paired with a navy blazer. She walked over to me and gave me a big, wet kiss.

I heard footsteps and turned back toward the doorway.

"This, Dave, is Greg," she said.

He strode forward and gave me a firm handshake. I looked him over. He was a class A nightmare. He towered almost half a foot above me. He was about 6'3" with a narrow waist and a chiseled chin. Mediterranean complexion. Blue-grey eyes. Coal-black hair with just a hint of grey. His pinstripe suit was perfectly tailored, his shoes gleaming. 100% ladykiller.

"Greg, can I get you a drink?" Ann asked. Her tone was unfamiliar, domestic.

"Sure, scotch and water?" His voice was deep, smooth.

She nodded. "Back in a jiff."

If he felt as awkward as I did, he didn't show it. I gave him a wan smile as I ran my hands nervously through my thinning, mouse-brown hair.

"So, Dave, Annie says you teach at McConnell Academy? I spent a summer at Choate. Hated it." He said with a grin.

I stared at him, as one might a space alien. Who was this man? And what was he doing in my home? He was calm, confident, and I tried to choke out a response.

"Well, um, I guess it isn't for everyone. Some of our stu..."

I stopped as Ann reappeared. She handed Greg his drink and gave me a second beer. She had poured herself a big glass of white wine. She took a generous gulp, and staring right at him with gleaming eyes, she said, "so, shall we head upstairs?"

I remember thinking that it was happening so fast, so fast. Except, I realized, it wasn't. Annie, at least, had been thinking of this moment for a long time. She'd probably fantasized about it hundreds of time. But I'd been in denial, and so was unprepared. I didn't know what to think or do. I looked over at Greg who gave me a quick wink. It was disconcerting. I felt dizzy.

She led the way and I noticed that Greg seemed almost transfixed by the gentle sway of her behind. We followed her into the bedroom. She dimmed the lights as we entered. She pulled me aside and led me over to the armchair in the corner.

"Honey, I want you here to keep me safe. And I want you here because I don't want any secrets between us. And I want you here because I love you."

I gaped at her. Not just at the sentiment that I didn't really understand, but at the realization that she'd practiced this speech many times in her mind. She sat me down and turned off the reading lamp behind me, leaving me in the shadows.

Yet, as insane as it was, her words put me somewhat at ease. She wasn't off cheating on me. She was exploring her own desires with me as a partner in crime. Still, as she left me, I very much felt alone, a fourth wall rising up between them and me, as I became nothing more than a spectator.

She approached Greg who was standing near the foot of the bed. She circled him, running her perfectly manicured red fingernails over his chest and shoulders. This was another new thing. When had she started painting her nails? And how could I have missed it? She pulled off his suit jacket, and then moving to his front, she removed his tie. Slowly, she unbuttoned his shirt, pulling it open to expose his broad chest. She ran her hands through his thick chest hair, and then leaned forward to kiss his nipples in turn. Greg took a big swig of his drink.

She dropped to her knees. Greg slipped his shirt off completely, exposing his sculpted arms. She undid his belt, and then slowly pulled down his zipper and unbuttoned his pants. Looking up at him, she grasped his pants and slid them off his butt. They fell to the floor with a jangling of keys. As he stepped out of his pants, Ann ran her fingernails over the fabric of his silk boxers. Her fingertips tracing the outline of his bulge. He let out a little groan. With a delighted giggle she pulled down his shorts.

"Oh baby, no wonder all the girls are so upset to see you leave," she cooed in a voice I'd never quite heard before, expressing a sentiment it would never have occurred to me she'd have. Deep, throaty, and sultry, she sounded like a dame out of an old film noir.

Like my wife, my gaze was drawn to his crotch. He was still soft, but already huge. His cock looked like a thick dark sausage, and his balls were the size of plums. He was uncircumcised, and big veins ran up the side of his dick. Though Greg was elegant and trim, his prick was an ugly fat tool. At least it seemed that way to me. Not to her though.

Annie gently cupped his scrotum and ran her tongue up and down his shaft. Gripping his cock, she slowly stroked him, gradually pulling down his foreskin and exposing his thick, spongy glans, which she eagerly took into her mouth. As she sucked the head of his cock, she pumped his shaft up and down first with one hand and then with two as he got bigger and harder. In just a few minutes he was fully erect, his thick pole jutting out proudly. It was now the size of a tallboy beer can, maybe even a little thicker if that is possible. Annie seemed to be in awe, giggling as she struggled to handle his bulk. Finally, she seemed to give up. She stood up and ran her tongue up his chest, one hand still moving up and down on his shaft while the other massaged his arms and neck.

He ran his hands through her long, auburn hair, cupping the back of her head and pulling her into a passionate kiss. She seemed to melt into him, her hands roaming over his fit body. After a few minutes of these intimate caresses, she stepped back and just looked him up and down as if not quite believing that she was actually making out with this amazing specimen of manhood.

Now it was his turn. He bent down and picked up her hem with both hands. Slowly, he lifted the fabric, peeling the dress off her body. I gasped as the material slid off her ass and I saw she wasn't wearing any panties. She raised her arms above her head to allow him to remove her dress completely. She hadn't worn a bra either. She turned to toss the dress over a chair, and I noticed that instead of her usual neatly trimmed auburn bush, she was now completely bare. I realized that she had planned all this in advance, and I couldn't help but be jealous at the thought of her shaving for him and spending the day bare-assed in anticipation of seducing him. I wondered for how long she'd been thinking of him, maybe instead of me, even as we made love.

Greg definitely seemed to appreciate what he was being offered. He looked her up and down, admiring her lean legs, tight little butt, and those oh-so-perfect 34-c breasts. He cupped her boobs in his big hands, his thumbs gentle circling her long, hard, nipples.

"Magnificent, just magnificent," he intoned.

She blushed and giggled. He took her by the hand and sat her down on the bed. She scooted up and laid back, her legs spread invitingly. I could see her shaved snatch glistening with excitement.

He crawled up onto the bed and started to kiss her leg, first by the ankle, then along her calf, and finally trailing his tongue along her inner thigh. She squirmed excitedly at his touch. He began to lower his head to her pussy, but she reached down and taking a handful of his hair, she pulled him up.

"I want it inside me," she hissed urgently, as she reached down and rubbed his cock along her slit.

He lifted himself up on his muscular arms, and then with a quick thrust, the tip of his prick disappeared inside her. Annie threw her head back and gasped.

"Oh damn Red, you are so wet," he grunted and with two quick strokes he was completely inside her.

As she grabbed his ass cheeks and held him tight, her whole body jerked up a dozen times. "I'm coming. I'm coming already," she hissed, her eyes rolling back into her head and her eyelashes fluttering wildly.

He waited for her to finish, and watched her as she enjoyed the afterglow. She had her eyes closed and a big, silly smile on her lips. She was caressing her body absentmindedly, her fingers sliding over her still hard nipples as her hands gradually rose up and came together up above her head painting a tableau of sexual contentment.

With a big grin he started to move inside her.

"Oh, oh, slow, slow, go slow," she moaned, her big blue eyes now open and looking up at her lover anxiously. Annie's very sensitive after coming, sometimes so much so that she has to finish me with her hands. I could only imagine that she'd have an even harder time with Greg's oversized member.

He started gently pumping his cock in and out of her tight little pussy. Her labia were puffy, swollen, and they clung to his shaft as he slowly fucked her. She wrapped her legs around his waist, her arms encircling his neck. With each slow, deliberate thrust Annie let out a heartbreaking, sultry moan. She'd already finished once, and he might have chosen to simply pleasure himself, but instead Greg seemed determined to fully possess my wife.

"Is that okay?" he asked.

"Oh God yes," she gasped in reply. "More than okay. Much, much more than okay."

"You are so tight," he grunted.

"You're so big," she moaned.

He grabbed her around the waist and rolled over onto his back. She pulled her knees beneath her and rose up on top of him. Fully impaled on his shaft, she slowly ground her pelvis against his, as his hands reached up to cup and caress her full breasts. Her nipples were hard, plump raspberries, and when he tweaked them, she groaned excitedly and started fucking him harder, rising up on his big shaft and then roughly lowering herself until he was fully inside her again. He grabbed her firm ass and encouraged her, now spreading her butt cheeks, and giving me an unobstructed view as his finger teased her puckered anus.

Over and over she rose and fell, fucking him harder and harder, faster and faster. She was gasping and wheezing, completely lost in the moment, focused on nothing other than wringing the maximum pleasure from Greg's huge cock. And then suddenly she let out a lusty growl, her hips now thrashing back and forth as she climaxed a second time. I let out a pained sigh. She'd never had multiple orgasms with me. She collapsed lazily onto his chest.

He let her catch her breath, and then they rolled over again. Annie pulled her knees to her chest, opening herself completely for him. And Greg, after a few slow strokes, began fucking her hard and fast, his huge cock pistoning into her pussy brutally.

Ann was gasping and grunting, letting out high-pitched, almost pained, squeals on each stroke. For a moment, I was perversely pleased. I knew she didn't like it this rough, and certainly not after having come. I kept expecting her to ask him to stop, and the image flashed through my mind of him refusing, and me having to step in to save her.

But she didn't ask for help. Instead, when he slowed down momentarily to check on her, she grabbed his ass and grunted wildly, "No, don't stop, don't stop!"

He gave her a wet kiss and then resumed his remorseless assault on her pussy, his fat prick like a battering ram plunging over and over into my wife. My heart sank. I could never compete with him, with his looks and body and his cock. He was giving her the fuck of her life. There was no denying it. And she'd never be satisfied with me again.

I'd had enough. I got up and slunk out of the room unnoticed, Annie's cries of passion taunting me as I staggered down the hall and downstairs.

CHAPTER FOUR

I locked myself in my study. It was obviously over. I'd lost her. I tried to replay everything in mind. What could I have done differently? Should I have exploded when she'd first mentioned her crush? Issued an ultimatum? By then, of course, it was too late. Temptation would have surely won out, bolstered by resentment at my attitude. By the time she mentioned it to me, she'd already decided to fuck him, and when she fucked him she'd realize what she had been missing.

I realized I'd been in denial, and not just since she'd told me about Greg. She's always been out of my league, and it was only a matter of time before a Greg came into her life. How could I compete? He was... beautiful. That's the word she'd used. And I had to admit it was true. As gorgeous as she was, he was her equal. Her match. Handsome, trim, and tailored. He made more than me; his suit alone was easily two months of my take-home pay. And that prick. I'd thought it ugly, too big, and yet from the moment he'd entered her, she was lost, conquered.

I wanted to hate her, blame her. But I couldn't. Not easily at least. It occurred to me that I should be happy for her. She deserved it, and really, I should be grateful to have had her for a decade.

At some level I knew this was all self-pitying bullshit. Just my own emotional upheaval. And yet, and yet, and yet... I couldn't shake it. That's the thing about psychological turmoil. It's not like in the movies. There is no sudden moment of clarity and comprehension. It is possible to simultaneously realize one is in the thrall to delusion and depression and yet not be able to shake it.

I began to make plans. I'd have to move out. I could probably stay with my buddy Rich for a while, though even thinking of having to explain it all to him was painful. No, I'd stay in a hotel. Maybe apply for jobs elsewhere. Move away. Start over.

Then I paused. No, fuck that. That was the coward's way out. Anyone can just run away. It takes a man to fight. She was my fucking wife. Why should I let some two-bit gigolo take her away just because he had a big cock? Maybe that's what this was all about. We'd talked about starting a family, and maybe Ann was just subconsciously testing me, trying to see whether I'd fight to protect her and the kids. Well, if she wanted a fighter, I could fight. I got up and strode to the door.

Then I stopped. Did I even want to fight for her? I'd always thought she was different, a genuinely good girl, good person. Sweet, genuine, smart, driven, yet grounded. The last girl in the world to fall for a good head of hair and a big prick. But what if I was seeing the real her for the first time, a cheap whore, a slut who'd just been waiting for the opportunity to spread her legs for a big cock and a well-tailored suit. She wasn't even worth fighting for. She'd probably been doing this for years, fucking guys left and right, and the only difference now was that she wanted to add a little humiliation into the mix by making me watch.

I shook my head. I was just talking crazy. I knew my wife better than that. No this was just what it appeared to be. An office crush, the big 3-0 leaving her feeling old, and the natural curiosity of a woman who'd only ever had one lover. But whatever the causes, it was what it was. And she'd now been fucked better than she'd ever been in her life and I'd been there to watch it. There was no going back. I slumped back down in my chair and just stared at the wall morosely for hours, my thoughts continuing to circle and churn even as I became more and more depressed.

At around 2:00am, I heard the front door open and then shut, and a moment later a car start up outside and drive away. I couldn't move, however, and stayed in my office until Annie came looking for me a half-hour later.

She had showered. She smelled of soap and was dressed in a cozy bathrobe, looking not at all like a woman who had just spend the last several hours being fucked silly by a well-hung stud in our marital bed.

She looked me and gave me a sympathetic nod.

"Do you want to talk about it now? Or tomorrow morning?" she asked.

"What is there to talk about?" I muttered glumly.

She walked over to me, and kneeled down beside me. She took my hand in her.

"I understand," she replied. "But at least let me say a few things. First, thank you. You're a brave, brave man, and I love you more than ever for letting me do that. It was something I, um, I guess I needed to do. Second, I'm sorry. I'm sorry that I was weak and so tempted. And I'm terribly, terribly sorry to have made you watch. That was cruel. But I felt like I needed you there to give me permission. Third, I know this won't be easy, can't be easy for you, but I want us to get past this, to work past it. I know that isn't fair. You did nothing wrong, but obviously I can't make it right by myself. You need to want to."

I half-snorted.

"What?" she asked, hurt.

"Oh please."

Her eyes watered up, and a single tear ran down her left cheek.

"What are you saying Dave?"

"It's over, isn't it?"

"You want a divorce?" she asked. Her voice was shaky with incredulity.

"Well, don't you?" I snapped.

"Me?" She looked shocked. "No, of course not."

"I saw you with him! Saw the way he... he... he... fucked you. You've never come like that with me. Never. Never let me fuck you that way." I was barely holding back tears.

She patted my hand. "Oh baby, I'm so sorry, but that was just sex. Good sex. Very good sex. But it was purely physical. I don't love you any less because another man gave me an orgasm."

"Admit it, it was the best sex of your life."

"No," she snapped. "It wasn't. You and I have been together for a long time. I love our sex life. It is tender, passionate. We know each other so well. I wouldn't trade it for the world."

I rolled my eyes. "How many times did you do it with him?"

She blushed. "Three times. He finished three times."

"And you?"

She sighed. "I don't know. I lost track. A lot." She paused. "Look, I enjoyed myself with Greg. He's a very good lover."

"And big," I exclaimed.

"Yes, Dave, and big. He has a huge, fat cock, and he knows how to use it. Happy?"

I grunted.

"But... I don't know how to explain this, so you'll just have to trust me. It was good sex, but sex with you is great because we have such a great connection. And one thing that makes our sex so good is that it isn't just physical. We have loving sex, and it doesn't need four hours and a half-dozen position changes to make it special. God, I wish I could explain better, but I just can't."

She looked at me sadly. "Are you worried that you won't satisfy me anymore?" she asked.

I half nodded. "I don't know. I don't know that you can even feel me anymore."

She smiled thinly. "Oh that?"

She bent down toward my hand and took my middle finger into her mouth. Then she stood up and pulled my hand inside her robe. She was naked beneath. She eased my hand between her legs, and pressed my finger against her slit.

"Go ahead," she encouraged.

It was insane. What was I doing? What was she doing? Both of us were navigating uncharted waters, and in a moment of surrealism, I pressed my finger into her pussy. It was damp, very warm, and much to my surprise still very tight.

"Do I feel different?"

"No," I admitted.

"Baby, come to bed. Please. We'll talk more tomorrow."

I withdrew my finger, and she took my hand and led me upstairs. She'd changed the sheets, even swapped out the comforter. We lay down in bed together. She curled up against me, and almost immediately dozed off. I couldn't sleep, couldn't get out of my head the image of her being fucked in this very bed. But I stayed there with her the rest of the night, lost in thought, still replaying those debates in my head, but now even more confused and unsure about what to do next.

CHAPTER FIVE

I must have finally drifted off because when I opened my eyes it was daylight. A bright, clear Saturday morning. I went downstairs to find Annie stretching and getting ready to go for a run. She jumped up, gave me a hug and kiss, and said, "I'll be back in a little while."

I had a cup of coffee, glanced over the newspaper, and then went back upstairs to shower. I was just coming out of the shower when I heard the phone ring. I wrapped the towel around my waist and managed to grab it just as the fourth ring began, but Annie had gotten it first and I heard her say "hello" as I picked up.

Greg answered. "Hey Red, sorry about calling at home. I tried your cell and you didn't pick up. I've been thinking about you."

"Me too. I had fun last night. Thank you."

He chuckled, "No, thank you. It was... amazing. You're amazing."

"Listen, Greg, we can't, you know, we can't see each other again. It was a one-time thing. Let's just leave it at that."

"Really?"

"Yeah, look, I'm happily married."

"You don't mean that," he replied. "You felt it last night. I felt it. We belong together."

"We can't." Was that a wistful note in her tone?

"Maybe, but at least admit it. Admit it was something special."

"It was special," she replied softly. "Look, I have to go. Have a good day."

And with that, she hung up.

The exchange left me uneasy. She'd said the right things, sort of. But it worried me that he seemed intent on still pursuing her. And there was something about her tone that sounded off, almost as if she were saying what she thought she had to say rather than what she really wanted to say. Did she know I was listening in?

God this was so complicated. Did I want her? Or should I just end it? Was it best to fight for her? Confront him? Give her an ultimatum? Or was the only way to win her back to set her free and see if she returned? I loved her. I had loved her from almost the first day I met her. I didn't want to lose her, but didn't know if I could ever forgive her, or trust her, or even if she really wanted to stay.

My mind tried to reassure me that it was just a physical thing. Meaningless. Stupid. But my heart refused to be swayed by logic.

I was in a funk. Ann kept her distance, realizing I was working things through. Every once in a while, she'd appear, give me a hug, and then back away, giving me space. Except for the emotional turmoil, it was a usual Saturday. I did some yard work, Ann went grocery shopping. I paid some bills, she answered work emails -- she's always tethered to her email. As the day progressed, I could see her getting more anxious, but I couldn't tell if it was regret, worry about me, or something else.

At a little after 3:00pm, she appeared in my den as I was filing some tax papers.

"I hate to do this, honey, but I need to go to the office for a bit. Jack wants us to add an appendix to the financing section, and I need to go review some of the text."

"Okay," I replied.

"I should be home for dinner. Want to order out?"

"Sure."

She gave me a kiss on the cheek and left. I finished my filing and went to the kitchen for a snack, but as I passed the foyer I realized she'd left her briefcase by the coat rack. That set off alarm bells. Or perhaps rather, it allowed me to hear the ringing that had been sounding since she first mentioned going into work. I grabbed her briefcase, hopped in the car, and drove to her office.

It was quiet, only a handful of cars in the parking lot. When I got to the front desk, the guard recognized me. I pointed at Annie's briefcase.

"She forgot this," I explained.

"She just went up," he noted.

He buzzed me in and unlocked the elevators. I went up to the 12th floor and crept around to her office. She wasn't there. Nobody was there. The office suite seemed completely empty. But I knew she must be there, somewhere.

As I walked down the hall, I heard voices coming from one of the back offices. Cautiously I approached. The name on the door read, "Greg Garza," and from inside I heard Annie's voice. The door was shut, but there was a transom above it. I grabbed a chair, quietly placed it by the door, and climbed up and peered in. They were sitting on his sofa, chatting, both of them dressed casually, he in khakis and a polo shirt, she in a flowered sundress. I pressed my ear to the glass and I could make out their words.

"I need you," he was saying, as he took her hands in his.

"Don't say that," she replied, but she didn't pull away. "You barely know me."

"That's not true. We've been working together for months. I think about you all the time."

She snorted. "Oh please Greg, you've been cutting quite a swathe." She sounded jealous.

Greg smirked momentarily, but then he recomposed his face into a mask of sincerity. "Is that what this is about? You think you're just another notch?"

"Well, aren't I?"

Oh God, she was looking for his approval.

"Oh, Red, no, no, no. I mean, yes, I've dated some of the girls in the office. I mean, I thought you were taken, married, unavailable."

"I am," she replied, but that was belied by the fact that she continued to let him hold and now caress her hands.

"I know you are. Which is why I am so sad about all of this. I finally find a girl... a woman, I really care for. She's beautiful, smart, funny. We have the most amazing sexual chemistry." Annie blushed. "And, of course, she's taken."

"I'm sorry," she replied.

She stood and made to leave. My heart raced, both from joy and from the realization that if I didn't move quickly, I'd be caught.

"Don't go," he said, grasping her hand lightly.

She stopped as if held firmly in place even though it was only his fingertips.

"We can't," she whispered.

"Just a kiss," he insisted, pulling her toward him.

She hesitated, swaying on her feet as if fighting a swirling windstorm, head shaking, fingers clenching. She let out a small grunt and slumped back toward him. As she did so, he leaned back on the sofa, pulling her toward him. Her momentum took her towards him, and she stumbled onto the sofa, now straddling his legs. She giggled and shook the hair from her face. They kissed. First a light brushing of their lips, but it quickly escalated into a passionate embrace. She wrapped her arms around his neck, his encircled her waist.

"Can you feel what you do to me?" he groaned.

"Yes," she gasped.

They kissed again, passionately, wetly. His hands went under her dress, under her panties, squeezing her ass cheeks firmly. She reached down between them and fumbled with his belt and zipper. It happened so fast. He lifted her up for a second, and when he settled her back into his lap, she was impaled on his cock.

"Oh my God," she moaned.

They fucked like that, hungrily, their mouths locked together, her hips pumping frantically. He pulled her dress off her shoulders and lifted up her bra. He took an erect nipple into his mouth and suckled it wetly. Annie gasped, threw her head back, and growled orgasmically before collapsing onto him.

Greg stood up, my wife still impaled on his shaft, and stumbled over to his desk. He laid her on her back. He stripped off his clothes and hers, and then stood a moment admiring her body as she seemed to gaze up at him. He stepped in closer and put her legs up over his shoulders. He thrust back into her. I could now see his cock, somehow looking even larger than before in the sunlight, pistoning vigorously into Annie's pussy. She was moaning and gasping, her head swinging from side to side and her body writhing in passion.

"Oh God," she moaned, "come inside me, I love it when you come inside me."

He pumped her hard, once, twice, a third time, then with his cock lodged deep inside her, he let out a satisfied grunt as he filled my wife with his seed.

She giggled. "God, I love that, I love feeling it swell in anticipation and pulse in release."

He pumped her slowly several more time, and then gently withdrew, his thick shaft wet and slimy with their combined juices. He dropped to his floor and sat with his back to the desk. She scooted down and sat down beside him.

For a while they didn't talk, only exchanging an occasional kiss. Her hand slid down into his lap and she absentmindedly stroked his cock while he casually fondled her breasts. Seeing them so comfortably intimate was somehow even more painful than witnessing them actually having sex.

There was a noise from behind me. The maintenance crew was coming through emptying the trash. I stepped down from the chair and replaced it. Then I took her briefcase and carefully snuck out of the office. At least I assume that is what I did. I don't actually have any clear memory of getting home.

Ann didn't return until after 9:00pm. I could only imagine what she and Greg had been up to in that time.

When she got home, I confronted her.

"Where were you?" I snapped.

"I told you I had to review some documents."

"You left your briefcase at home."

She paused. "Everything was on my office computer."

I sighed. "I know you were with him."

Her eyes narrowed. "Did you follow me? Are you spying on me?"

I hesitated.

"I can't believe this," she hissed. "How could you do that?"

The best defense is a good offense, and she had me back on heels. Before I could recover my bearings, she snapped, "I can't talk about this now." And she stormed off into the bathroom, slamming the door behind her.

I waited there for a while, but I could hear the water running in the shower, and it was obvious she would be in there for a while.

I went down to my study. Half in shock, I picked up the phone and dialed.

Barry answered.

"Hey man, long time no talk, what's up," he asked after he realized it was me.

"Well, you were right, it happened."

"Huh? What happened?"

"Annie. She cheated on me."

"Whoa dude, that's some heavy shit. You sure you want to drop it on me?" He asked. It was a reasonable point. Barry and I had been close in grad school, but now we spoke maybe once or twice a year.

"Well, yeah, you predicted it."

"I did?"

"Yeah, you said since I was her first, she'd someday be curious."

"Shit, I was a real tool, huh? Did I really say that?"

"Well, you were right. So, I figured you might know what to do now."

I laid out the whole story.

He let out a long whistle. "Dude, I don't know what to say. I'm really sorry about all of this. I wish I hadn't said anything back then, and well, I don't know what to say now."

"I should dump her, right? Just end it?" I suggested.

"Man, I dunno. Seems to me a marriage is like a building a house. You've been working on this fucking house for a decade now. It's your dream house. And now you discovered a crack in the foundation. Do you burn the fucker down? Or do you fix the crack?"

"So, I stay?"

"Maybe. Well, I mean part of it is up to her. You can't if she won't stop. But, you know, people do stupid shit sometimes. Guys fuck their office assistants, women fuck their tennis instructors, presidents fuck their interns. It happens."

There was not much left to say. I thanked Barry for lending me his ear and hung up.

I went back upstairs. Annie had left the shower and was now in bed, the lights off, asleep or at least pretending to be. I decided to sleep on the sofa downstairs.

I woke up the next morning with a sore back and a pit in my stomach. I needed to confront Annie, once and for all.

She came down late, in her bathrobe, her eyes red and puffy.

"Are you okay?" I asked.

"No," she sighed. "I feel awful. I'm a bad person."

I gave her a hug. She cried on my shoulder.

"Can you ever forgive me?" she whimpered.

"Yes, of course," I replied. "But I need to know what is going on."

"I don't know. I really don't. I'm so confused. I love you so much, so much. But Greg. He's just so exciting."

That hurt too, because I know I'm not that. Exciting that is. I like old movies and video games. I don't like parties or mob scenes. I'm a creature of routine. Although my assumptions about Annie had been shaken and my heart remained in doubt, I knew she wasn't so shallow as to fall for a buff physique and a fat tool. But excitement was a different issue.

Truth it, from the moment we met, Annie and I had trod a well-marked path. School, marriage, career... and onto in the future... children, a mountain cottage, family vacations, kids soccer.... A full, rich life, but no surprises. No excitement. And that was okay with me. Excitement was unpredictability. It was danger, betrayal, heartbreak, illness. I'd never wanted that. And I never thought she did either. Could I have been wrong?

"Okay," I muttered slowly. "So, what now?"

"I... I... guess... well, I know I can't see him anymore, right?" She replied tentatively, her eyes pleading. Despite her words, she was obviously asking permission to do exactly the opposite. To continue her affair.

"No, you can't," I said.

Her face sank. "I know," she muttered miserably. "I'll try."

I grunted involuntarily. "Try? You can do better than that."

"I know, I know," she snapped. Then she softened. "It's just hard, you know?"

I shook my head. "Actually, I guess I don't know. Either you're married, or you're not."

"I wish it were that simple," she said under her breath.

I stared at her uncomprehendingly. It seemed very simple to me. One plus one equals two simple. And it was that which paralyzed me as much as anything else. I just didn't understand what she was saying, what she was going through. We were both speaking English, and yet not communicating.

I finally choked out a response, “You need to figure out what you want.”

She nodded, but didn’t respond further.

The day went by slowly, the house filled with tension. At one point, Annie said she was going out to do errands. I invited myself along, though neither of us said much or acknowledged the absurdity of me feeling like I had to chaperone my wife around.

Still, we made it through the day without major incident. The problem, I knew, would come the following morning, Monday, when I went to teach and she went to work with Greg.

CHAPTER SIX

I couldn't follow her everywhere, but I wasn't ready to just trust her. I had an old-fashioned, voice-activated recorder that I used for some writing projects and before Annie went to work, I slipped it into her handbag. It was a sign of how weird things had gotten that I didn't have any qualms about such an appalling violation of her privacy. Truth is, it just didn't occur to me at the time.

The day at work was difficult. It was a slow week for me. My students were working on independent study projects, and I was mostly just catching up on paperwork, which left me plenty – too much really – of time on my hands to worry about my wife. I called her a couple of times to check in, but by mid-afternoon, I'd run out of plausible reasons to interrupt her work day, and anyway my occasional thirty second check-ins could do little to assure her fidelity.

That night, we had an early dinner, watched some TV and went to bed. Though we were back in the same bed, there was an obvious, palpable divide between us. It was painful. I could feel my marriage slipping away from me.

After a while, Ann drifted off to sleep, and when she did, I cautiously rose and recovered the recorder from her purse. I started at the beginning of the day and gradually scanned through the day.

Most of what the recorder caught was incidental noise – her office printer churning out a document, business phone calls, a few coworkers stopping by to discuss project matters. I'd been listening for fifteen minutes when suddenly upon releasing the fast-forward button, I was greeted with a heartbreaking sound.

"Oh yes, oh yes, I love it so much, love it so much," she was moaning passionately. I could hear him grunting as well, and their bodies slapping together, and even, I thought, if I listened closely, the sounds of his cock slurping into her wet snatch.

I rewound a few minutes until I found the beginning of this snippet. I checked the time stamp, 12:15pm, a nooner.

He'd apparently popped his head into her office, I could hear his muffled voice coming from across the room. He'd asked a question about work, and when she began to answer, I heard him shut her office door.

Her tone changed. "No, we can't do this. We need to stop," she said firmly.

"I need you," he said simply, his voice clear, obviously standing close now.

"You don't need me," she said softly.

"Okay, I want you. And you want me," he insisted.

"I don't. I can't. I'm married," she stammered.

"Shh, baby," he cooed. "Don't think about it, just follow your instincts."

She moaned softly. "Please don't make me do this."

"Your skin is so soft." I imagined him now standing behind her chair, running his hands down her neck and over her shoulders.

"This is a bad idea," she sighed.

"Your body doesn't think so," he replied. "Your nipples couldn't be harder... and here," she moaned sultrily, "you're so wet."

He was now probably fingering her, and she was moaning passionately. I heard a zipper open, and then a moment later, Greg gasped as the recorder captured wet, sucking sounds.

"Oh God, that's good," he moaned. "That's it, Red, lick me up and down."

This continued for a long while, him moaning, as she wetly sucked his cock. Every few moments she'd let out a muffled, gagging sound as she apparently tried to swallow his huge cock, but then she'd return to licking and slurping his rod.

"Okay, now it's your turn," he exclaimed finally.

There were some sounds of movement.

"No, not that," she barked. "I'm already too excited. Just put it in."

More movement. She gasped. She moaned. She cried out, "Oh yes, oh yes, I love it so much, love it so much." And then the sounds of vigorous fucking.

I shut off the recorder. I didn't need to hear any more.

I packed an overnight bag. Called in sick to work. I got in the car and drove south. I was thinking the city, but that was too close to home. I kept driving. I got on the Garden State Parkway and headed toward the shore. Maybe I'd stop in a beach town and take some time for myself, but then I decided to hit Atlantic City instead.

I got in at 3:30am and checked into an ocean view room at the Borgata. I had a scotch and soda and sat up, watching the sun rise over the ocean and thinking about life. The phone rang.

It was Annie. "Where are you? I was so worried," she exclaimed frantically.

"Don't worry about me. I'm fine. I just need to think."

"I told you I love you and don't want to lose you," she whined.

"You also told me you'd try not to fuck Greg anymore," I snapped. "How can I believe you when you can't even follow through on that?"

"What do you... how do you...?" she stammered. "Never mind. You're right."

We both stayed on the line silent for a while. Every once in a while, I could hear a muffled sob from her end.

Finally, she said, "He'll be gone at the end of the week."

"Uh huh," I replied non-committal. Was she telling me she planned to continue fucking him until then?

"He asked me to move to San Diego with him," she added. "I said no."

"Good for you."

"You're not make this easy," she whined.

"Good," I snapped. And I hung up.

She called back, but I turned off my phone. I dozed off as the sun rose high over the East Coast.

I woke up around noon, went downstairs, played some cards and had some drinks. I got a massage at the spa, took a nap. At around 7:00pm, before dinner, I decided to call Emily, Annie's best friend.

"Hi Em," I started genially.

"Hi Dave, what's up?" she asked cautiously.

"I need to talk. About Annie. Has she told you what's going on?"

She had. "Look Dave, Annie is my friend, you can't ask me to take sides."

"I don't want you to take sides. I just want you to help me understand things."

She sighed. "Well, for lack of a better word, Annie is being a cunt. She knows it, you know it, and I know it."

"So what do I do?"

"I can't answer that for you. I know Annie would be crushed to lose you over this. But she's infatuated with this guy, and he's taking advantage of it. I'd say it's just a phase, but I'm not sure I could get over it if Jerry did this to me."

"This sucks," I moaned.

"Yeah it does. Annie is rationalizing it as some sort of last fling. She never sowed her oats when she was in college like most of us do, so I think she thinks that should give her a free pass, even though, obviously she knows it's not fair. But then again, fairness has nothing to do with it."

It made sense, but didn't ease my pain.

"Alright Em, well, thanks, I guess."

"Dave. Annie loves you. Deeply. She's acting like a child right now. Well, not a child, but childish... you know what I mean. But she's still a good person deep inside. It's just, sometimes, well, our passions get the best of us."

"Have you ever cheated on Jerry?" I asked.

She paused. "Don't ask me that. That's not fair."

"Fairness has nothing to do with it."

She sighed. "Popular culture would have you think that mostly men cheat casually. When women stray, it is supposedly because they want out of the relationship or something. But the truth is, women are just as susceptible to that heat and desire that comes from a stranger. We just don't glory in it by saying, 'yeah, I'd hit that' about every hot guy we see."

"You didn't answer my question," I countered.

"No, I didn't, did I?" she replied as she hung up the phone.

I went down and had a lobster and a bottle of Pinot Grigio. It tastes like cardboard, my taste buds as numb as my heart.

I tried my luck at the craps table, but I just wasn't into it, so instead I went to one of the lounges and had a few more drinks. They had a duo playing, a pretty blonde singer and a dorky guy on keyboard. They were playing oldies, stuff from the 80s. I wondered if they were married, and if she cheated on him. I played that same game with every other couples I saw.

It was around 11:00pm when a woman sat down next to me. She was young, but wearing heavy make-up to look more mature and exotic than her conventional face would suggest. She had Shoulder-length brown hair. Almond-shaped brown eyes. She was maybe part-hispanic or part-Asian. She was overdressed and underdressed at the same time. She would have fit in better at a club than a casino lounge listening to Pat Benatar covers.

As I glanced at her peripherally, I saw her smile slightly. Then she turned toward me.

"Are you staying here?" she asked.

"Yes."

She put her hand on my knee. "Let's go to your room," she offered. Direct, if nothing else, and also leaving no doubt she was offering a business transaction.

"No, I don't think so," I replied.

I'd never been with a prostitute before. Never even seriously considered it. Oh, sure, like everyone else, I've had Julia Roberts in thigh-high boots fantasies. Who hasn't? And okay, I've glanced through backpage.com and Craig's List. Just a little harmless virtual titillation. But the idea of actually paying a woman for sex was... just weird. Gross at one level, but perhaps even more sad, desperate.

She didn't say anything. She seemed in no rush. Or maybe she could sense my turmoil. I didn't want to fuck a hooker. But there, in Atlantic City, alone, reeling from my wife's betrayal, I... I didn't want to be alone. I know that sounds like bullshit. But I didn't even really want sex. I just didn't want her to leave.

"You sure?"

I chuckled. "No."

She settled back into her seat. "Buy me a drink?"

"Yeah.... Yeah, sure."

She ordered a Chardonnay.

Glancing back toward the casino she asked, "Rough night?"

I laughed darkly. "You have no fucking idea."

She gave me a look that told me I was wrong. She'd been through worse. Whatever my story, she could top it.

I nodded. "Sorry."

She shrugged. "So, here we are."

It is hard to explain how I felt at that moment. I didn't know this woman at all. But there was a connection between us. I was broken, needy, suffering an unthinkable trauma, and she... well, who knew? There was a story of pain. Darkness. In a different mood I might have recoiled from what could be seen as taking advantage of her suffering. Maybe it is a rationalization on my part, but it didn't feel that way at the time. Just two wounded people making a connection.

"How do we do this?" I asked uncertainly.

She leaned in and whispered a number in my ear.

I nodded. "Okay."

We stopped at the ATM and then proceeded to my room. Inside, I gave her the money. She went into the bathroom and emerged a few minutes later in her bra and panties. She was cute. Small breasted, but nice legs, her tummy flat, though some barely visible stretch marks suggested she had a kid or two at home.

She helped me off with my pants and sat me on the edge of the bed. She stroked my cock up and down with a firm and practiced grip, and as I stiffened she rolled on a condom. She blew me expertly, her hands cupping my balls. God, it felt good. When I began to pump my hips, she drew back.

"How do you want to do it?" she asked.

"Reverse cowgirl," I replied.

She nodded. Apparently, it was a common request.

I slid back on the bed. She slipped out of her panties and mounted me. I let her do all the work. I just laid back and enjoyed the view and the feel of her pussy rising and falling on my cock. When my breathing quickened, she reached down and again massaged my balls. She then ran a moistened finger down over my taint and tickled my ass. I came. Hard.

"Was that good, baby?" She asked as she rose.

I nodded.

She got a washcloth from the bathroom, removed the used condom and gently cleaned me up.

"You want to go again?"

Both my balls and my wallet were drained. "No, baby, that was great. You can go," I replied.

She dressed quickly, and left.

I sat there for a long time, thinking. I had just fucked a whore. And enjoyed it. Had a satisfying orgasm. And yet, I didn't even know that girl's name. Had no interest in it. All that mattered was my dick, her mouth, and her cunt. Just sex.

And then I realized that is what Annie was trying to tell me. Just as me fucking a whore didn't make me love Annie any less, her fucking Greg didn't make her love me any less. I'd had a need. This random woman met it. It didn't mean I didn't have a right to be upset. I did. Just as Annie might be if she knew I'd banged a prostitute in Atlantic City. But her fucking Greg was an annoyance, just another stupid piece of bullshit that causes tension in a marriage. It didn't have to be more.

Was that an empty rationalization? Maybe. Was I looking for reasons to excuse her? Probably. Did that make me pathetic...? I don't know. I'm sure others would think so. I mean, if I were a third party, what would I think? But who cares? Fuck it. Every, any marriage... to make it work, to make it last, you need to turn your gaze away from a dozen, a hundred things. Being in a relationship doesn't require hard work, it requires a willful suspension of disbelief.

CHAPTER SEVEN

I slept well that night for the first time in days, either because of the sexual release or my epiphany or maybe because of both. I drove back the next morning.

Before going home, I went to Annie's office. But before seeing her, I had other business.

The receptionist waved me in, but instead of going left to my wife's office, I walked right into Greg's and shut the door behind me before his secretary could stop me.

He stood up, looking very handsome and very confident.

"I want you to stop seeing my wife," I said.

"Let me show you something," he said. He pulled out his phone and walked over to me. He pressed a few buttons then handed it over.

It was a video of him and Annie. Filmed from his point of view, he was fucking her from behind, his huge cock stretching her cunt out impressively, even as he pushed his thumb in and out of her asshole. She was undeniably enjoying it, moaning orgasmically and slinging her hips back to meet his powerful thrusts.

I watched for a few moments and then handed the phone back to him.

"I want you to stop seeing my wife," I repeated.

He laughed. Not a haughty laugh, but a surprised, defensive chuckle.

"You can't satisfy her the way I do," he asserted. "She deserves better."

And then I knew. I could see right through the motherfucker. I shook my head incredulously. "What's her favorite movie?"

He looked at me quizzically.

"What toppings does she like on her pizza? What's her sister's name? Is she a dog person or a cat person?"

He said nothing.

"What's her name? Her real name? You always call her Red. Do you even know her name? Her real name?"

"Ann, Annie, right?" He replied uncertainly.

"It's Gloria." I clapped him on the shoulder. "You've known her for months and the only thing you know about her is that she likes your cock. Yeah, she does deserve better."

I left him standing there, looking confused and went to Annie's office.

She was surprised to see me and cautious. It was a pivotal moment. I could see on her face that she had no idea what I was about to do. Would I slap her? Demand a divorce? Throw a fit? I liked the idea that I could surprise her, and it occurred to me, sadly, that I never had before. She'd never had reason to doubt me.

I'd always been there for her. Always reliable. Always predictable. Always boring. How oppressive must that be? How much was this just trying to get a fucking rise out of me? Okay, maybe that was too much. I hadn't pushed her into this because of my decency, but I had made it... so... fucking... easy. Do women want to be challenged? I don't know. But I did realize that I made it easy for another man to tempt her. Even aside from the good looks, the perfect suit, the fat prick, he was... different. Interesting. Exciting. All those things I wasn't, but that I needed to become.

I approached her. She flinched. I kissed her forehead.

"It's going to be okay, baby," I whispered.

She let out a sigh of relief.

"But you can't see him anymore," I said. "Not romantically."

"Okay," she replied. She wanted to say more, but she hesitated.

"Go ahead, say it," I prompted.

"Well, it is just that, the office is having a goodbye party for him after work at Paddy's. And it would be weird if I didn't go."

What was she saying? Asking permission to have sex with him again? Simply asserting her independence? Testing me? I didn't know. I couldn't know.

"Just don't fuck him," I replied.

"Okay, I'll..." she paused.

"Try?" I offered. "Yes, try."

She seemed shocked. I was as well. Was I really that confident? Or was it just an act? I gave her another quick peck and departed.

At home the hours went by slowly. 6:00pm came and went, and the party had almost certainly begun. At 6:15pm, I began to realize she was probably there with him, both of them drinking, the booze breaking down her fragile restraint. By 6:30pm, I could picture them. He'd probably dragged her off into a bathroom and was preparing to shove his big cock up her tight, little pussy yet again.

But before the image in my mind could resolve itself, I heard her key in the front door.

"Sorry I'm late baby, there was an accident on the road."

"What about the party?" I asked.

"I'm trying. I'm trying," she replied.

We kissed. At first cautiously and then more tenderly and then more passionately and then almost roughly. Whatever we'd been before, we no longer were.

I ran my hand under her skirt and tore off her panties. She gasped in surprise, and then groaned again as I pressed a finger into her tight, wet hole. She was so hot, and so wet. Was she thinking of me, or of Greg? Did it matter?

As I finger fucked her roughly, she attacked my pants, unbuckling my belt and yanking down my shorts. We fell onto the couch. She hiked up her skirt, I pressed between her legs and then with a hard thrust I entered her. She gasped again. I hammered her hard and fast, our moans coming faster and faster, and then in unison we came, a beautifully-timed simultaneous orgasm that left us both gasping for breath even as we resumed our passionate kissing.

I'm not naive. She went back to work Thursday and Friday while Greg was still in the office, and her travels on business often take her to California and his must bring him back out East on a regular basis. In fact, I'd be surprised if they hadn't continued to hook up, at least on occasion and at least until her infatuation faded if it ever did. And having tasted the forbidden fruit, I imagine she's going to be more easily tempted in the future. Or not. I really don't know. What I do know is that I love her, and she loves me, and another dick, no matter how big or skillfully wielded isn't going to change that any more than that hooker's cunt changed my feelings for her.

Book Two: Annie's Adventure

CHAPTER ONE

The first time I saw Greg, I thought, "This guy is a class A nightmare." He was painfully handsome. Movie star handsome. Tall, dark, and handsome. Just a lovely specimen of a man. His blue-grey eyes were intense, his handshake firm. He radiated confidence.

And the way he looked at me... from the very first moment... was unmistakably sexual. He wanted to fuck me. Not get to know me better. Not make love. He wanted to shove his prick in my pussy. Simple. Raw. Dirty. It should have been so easy to resist. I was just a piece of meat to him. A convenient hole. And yet....

He's the kind of man who can make marriage vows dissolve into nothingness unless you resist the temptation, every day, day in and day out. Gorgeous. Smart. Experienced. Relentless. I knew... knew from the moment I saw him that he could... would rock my world if I gave him half a chance.

And he was assigned to our office for the next six months.

But I'm getting ahead of myself. I'm Ann, married to Dave. Dave completes me. He's laid back where I am intense. He's romantic where I am practical. He's my soulmate. Fuck, I don't even know what that means, except that I love him. I love his kindness and generosity, his brains and his decency. We don't have kids, but I can't imagine anyone other than him as the father of my children.

We've been together since I was eighteen. He was my first; and until recently, my only. He makes me laugh, he challenges me, he makes me happy.

I wish I could say that what happened was somehow the consequence of some deep emptiness inside me, some sort of gnawing need that had been left unmet for too long. Something I had struggled with for years, and finally succumb to. Maybe it was, but certainly nothing I was conscious of. Truth is, I had nothing to complain about. I had a great job, a loving husband, a comfortable home and a great future. And in a moment of weakness I almost threw it all away.

I was a bit of nerd as a kid.... Okay, a full-blown nerd. My mother was a 1970s feminist, reared on Betty Friedan, Andrea Dworkin, and Catherine MacKinnon. She named me Gloria, after Steinem. And she raised me as something of a science experiment. I was good, but not great, in math as a kid, but she pushed me hard, brutally even, to prove that I could keep up with the guys. And it turned out, I could. I was top of my class, went full scholarship to a prestigious engineering program, finished in three years, and have been tearing up the corporate ladder ever since.

That was the good part. The bad part of my mom's philosophy was, well, a certain hostility to sex. I feel bad for my dad actually. I doubt he ever got a decent hummer out of that woman. But he never complained. He was always a pleasant, happy man who found ways to bring small bits of joy into my otherwise high-stress, high-pressure upbringing. He passed away last year, and I guess a therapist would point to that as at least part of the explanation for what happened recently, but that sort of psychobabble would have annoyed Dad to no end.

Through high school, my mom's worldview dominated my life. Starting in middle school, the other girls experimented with makeup, were concerned about clothes, and boys. I always suppressed that. When I'd get my hair cut, the stylist would say, "you'd be such a pretty girl, if you made a little effort." But I wasn't about to make that effort. I wanted people to see my "inner beauty." I wasn't about to give in to patriarchal notions of femininity. So, no makeup, frumpy clothes that became even frumpier by design as I sprouted what were an impressive and anxiety-provoking set of boobs on a skinny girl, bad hair cut, the works. I was a nerd as a conscious choice. It wasn't that I was socially awkward, but rather that I deliberately decided to reject what my mom had taught me was a demeaning role for a woman in being an object of desire.

I've actually been very lucky in life with men. My dad was never able to overcome my mom's convictions, but even still, I have fond memories of sitting with him in the park, sharing an ice cream, the two of us promising not to tell Mom who would have been upset that I wasn't in the library instead.

The second positive influence was Bobby Battle. I still love the name. Bobby Battle, senior, quarterback on the football team, square jawed, handsome, and popular. He appeared to be a stereotypical big-man-on-campus. And I fell in love. Or something. I didn't even know him. I just observed him from afar. I was a mousey sophomore. He really could not have been farther out of my league.

But my mom had filled my head with a lot of self-confidence, and a lot of bad advice about men. "You don't need to look pretty, honey. Any decent man will be able to recognize your inner beauty." That kind of stuff. So I approached Bobby, head up, shoulders back, and asked him out.

I still cringe when I think about that scene. It could have -- should have -- gone so badly wrong. In a movie, this would have been the moment where he laughs in my face, humiliating me, followed by him telling the story to all the other cool guys and popular girls, triggering endless torment. Or worse, where he takes advantage of me and then throws me away without a second thought.

But, bless him, Bobby didn't do either. He didn't agree to go out with me either. But he did sit me down and talk to me. He told me that I seemed like a "nice girl" but not really his type. He told me that he didn't really know me, but that I was always so serious that it seemed like I'd built a shell around myself. He brushed the hair out of my eyes, and asked me why I was so afraid to be pretty, or friendly, or fun.

I'd like to say it was an epiphany, but it wasn't. I took it hard, and for a while, I tried to convince myself that Bobby was just shallow. But it planted a seed. It made me think, and after a while I began to understand what he was saying and also what my dad had been trying to hint at while staying in my mom's good graces.

I guess I matured. It was a slow process, and in a lot of ways I was locked in to my high school persona - Gloria the Nerd. But by graduation, I'd already changed a lot. My clothes fit properly. I was running to stay fit. I bought a bikini for the pool. And, I was determined to have more fun.

When I went off to college, I was really ready to be someone new, and just in time for my new life, I got a new name. I'd always been a film buff, and I joined the film club. It was mostly guys, just a few girls. We'd screen a movie and then talk about it, or joke about it if it was bad. We screened the Elvis movie Viva Las Vegas, and some of guys decided I looked like Ann-Margret, so they started calling me Ann or Annie, and it stuck.

I'm sure Mom would have been appalled. And a few years earlier I'd have been horribly offended as well. But I was now at the point where being nicknamed after world-famous sex symbol, particularly one with a certain retro chic, was something I could embrace. I was tired of being Gloria, and happy to become Ann.

I met the third wonderful man of my life in film club. Dave. He was a grad student, and at first I wondered what he was doing hanging out with mostly undergrads. But he didn't give off the creep vibe at all. He was so shy. He'd sit next to me at screenings, but not even look at me. But I could tell he liked me. And I liked him. He was cute, very funny, and very, very smart. He could quote these long passages from his favorite novels, and he had an encyclopedic mind for movie screenplays.

I asked him out. It was funny. When I did it, he actually sighed in relief that I had saved him from having to do it. At least that is how I remember it. He insists that he made the first move.

Dave was the first boy I kissed. Well, at least the first since some stupid game of spin the bottle in like sixth grade. But he was my first real kiss, and of course, my first lover.

Our first time was, um, awkward. Dave was a fine lover. He had some experience before me, but he wasn't a real Casanova. And I was so nervous. But it worked. And the magical thing is that it got better and better every time. We've been married ten years now, and truly, our sex life has never been stronger. It is always satisfying, and I mean always. He knows just how to touch me, kiss me, hold me. We still have sex a couple of times a week, which I think is pretty good after this long.

But again, I'm getting ahead of myself. We became inseparable. And right before graduation, he asked me to marry him. It was a strange moment. He'd become insecure about the fact that I'd never been with another man, and he raised the issue. I don't even remember what I said. I think I offered to go get gangbanged or something. But I do remember trying to reassure him, while at the same time admitting that I'd thought about the issue as well.

I mean, look, when Dave raised the issue, it was already something I'd considered. My girlfriends thought I needed to experiment. My friend, Emily, insisted that I needed to "sample some more cocks." My former roommate, Becky, claimed I'd "always wonder what was out there." I dismissed their arguments out of hand.

We got married, and immediately Dave moved away. He had a post-doc in Boston, and I had a job at an engineering firm run by one of our professors at the University down in Atlanta. So, after living together in college, we began our married life by living apart.

It was hard. We missed each other. And it was particularly hard for me. I was 21, by all accounts very pretty, working in a field with six men for every woman. I was technically married, but practically single. We didn't have enough money to travel back and forth weekly, so we saw each other more like monthly. And like most young people, I'd go out to bars, to happy hours, to company softball games, the usual stuff. And everywhere, guys would hit on me, wedding band or not.

I ended up getting close to a guy from work, Robbie. He was a funny, nerdy guy. Just my type. He was my age, had moved down South from Michigan, knew no one and was very lonely. We were friends, just friends.

And then one night, we had a little too much to drink. He was walking me home. It was a chilly night, and like most Atlantans I was underdressed for the weather. He was holding me tight to keep me warm, and I liked the feel of his body.

When we got to my place, I invited him in. I was buzzed and vulnerable and lonely, and I didn't want to be by myself.

"Are you sure?" he asked.

I hadn't planned it... or maybe I had. I knew he wanted me. I'd seen it in his eyes, in the way he looked at me when he thought I wasn't paying attention. Drinking, laughing, walking home just the two of us.... I guess the most I can really say is that I hadn't consciously planned it.

"Yes," I replied blushing.

We went upstairs. I poured us some wholly unneeded glasses of wine. I'd told him the origins of my nickname, and he said he'd never seen Viva Las Vegas. So we sat on the sofa and put the DVD into the player. Truth is, it is an almost unwatchable movie, and certainly not entertaining enough to distract us from the attraction we were feeling.

I don't know if he kissed me first, or if I kissed him. But soon, we were embracing passionately, sucking each other's tongues. He cupped and massaged my breasts. I rubbed his penis through his pants. I lifted my shirt over my head, and he unsnapped my bra. I climbed into his lap, grinding into him as he suckled my rock-hard nipples. I could feel his cock beneath me, also rock hard and straining against his pants as if trying to tear through the fabric to seek its target.

And then I stopped. I thought of Dave. Really thought of him. About what I might lose if I didn't stop it now. I pulled back.

"I can't," I groaned, still sitting in his lap.

Robbie sighed and pushed me aside.

"Okay," he said quietly.

And like that, it was over.

In retrospect, I doubt I could have resisted had Robbie pushed the point. I was drunk, horny, and lonely. When he left, I masturbated frantically thinking of him, thinking about how much I would have liked to feel him inside me.

But I woke up the next morning hung over and tremendously grateful to him. I also realized, I think for the first time, that fidelity doesn't just happen. You need to work at it, at least to the point of not putting yourself in a position to let anything happen.

It is a lesson I applied diligently for the next decade. And I needed to because there were many, many offers.

A lot were easy to turn down. Loutish drunken frat boys offering me untold pleasures if I would just accompany them into the bar bathroom. An obese man with brutal body odor in business class who kept calling me "Dollface." A lackey for a Mideast despot who offered me a spot in a, for lack of a better word, harem (this actually happened!).

A lot were tougher. My first boss, a lovely, brilliant man who gave me my professional start, made a heartfelt pass at me one evening several months after his wife passed away. It was heartbreaking to say no. On a business trip to LA, a genuine A-list celebrity, a People Magazine's "Sexiest Man Alive" past winner approached me in a restaurant and told me I was the "most beautiful woman in the room" and asked me to come to his Malibu home for a nightcap. I almost said yes, and I'm not sure Dave would have blamed me if I had. I certainly would have understood if the cases were reversed and he'd fielded an offer from Scarlett Johansson. But of course, that is easy to claim in the abstract.

Anyway, I'd learned my lesson well, and knew the importance of working on fidelity. Which is why when I saw Greg, I saw trouble. Here was the kind of man who embodies temptation. He was obviously interested. And we'd be working at close quarters for the next several months. A class A nightmare.

CHAPTER TWO

Greg would look at me hungrily. Men do it all the time. In feminist theory they call it the "male gaze," a way of looking at a woman that inherently sexualizes her. Your reaction to it depends a lot on your personality and, of course, who is doing the gazing. Older men who do it often come off lecherous. Shy guys end up looking creepy. But when Greg does it, the only word to describe it is fiery. He'd sit there, looking me up and down, obviously undressing me with his eyes, a confident little grin on his face until I'd blush, and then he'd smile and look away.

He was always cool, so cool and collected, that it became almost a challenge to see if I could puncture his persona. He was pursuing me, but without ever quite acknowledging it. I longed for an opportunity to put him in his place, to parry an inappropriate comment with a well-timed barb, but he never gave me the chance. Flirting for him was a stand-off weapon, deployed with precision and deniability, and it was making me nuts.

It started with the way he referred to me. "Red."

"Heya, Red, have a good weekend?"

No one had ever called me that before. It was inappropriate, of course, but to point that out would have seemed shrill, especially when used casually like that. And anyway, I hate to admit it, but I sort of liked the attention. From him.

"Yeah, Greg, how about you?"

I couldn't help but notice his smirk. He knew he was getting away with something. And, fuck him, he'd known he'd get away with it. He was a man used to getting his way with women. Handsome, confident shit.

You know what the real warning sign was? Or at least should have been? I didn't mention him to Dave. No "we have a new guy in the office." No "you won't believe what Greg did." No. I kept Greg to myself. I should have seen that for what it was. I didn't. I never gave Dave a chance to save me from myself. I didn't want him to.

Double entendres. Or was it just me reading sex into every conversation, every passing comment?

"Do you have time to read the proposal, or all you all tied up?"

Flutters in my stomach as I thought of him producing a rope. A stupid, weird fantasy. I've always had it, never mentioned it even to Dave. Was Greg able to see into my dreams like that?

Him getting another cup of coffee. "I had a late night."

And immediately, I was picturing him, naked, gloriously naked, riding a slut hard. That was another thing. I was so jealous. If he even smiled at another woman, the words flooded my mind. Slut. Whore. Bitch. Cunt. So much for sisterly solidarity.

"I bet," sneering.

His grin. You should try it.

My own jibes always fell short. I tried to tease him about his hair. His perfectly coifed, thick, black hair, with streaks of grey that seemed almost calculated, vain. He lived in corporate housing. Boring. Antiseptic. When he mentioned it, I chimed in, "Greg spends all his housing allowance on his barber."

That smirk. Glad you noticed.

He could see the effect he had on me, but he never mentioned it, never acknowledged it. Was he just being a gentleman? No. The grins, the smirks, the smiles. The way his eyes lingered on my ass. How he made it a habit to always be in my line of sight. Small gestures. Getting me a cup of coffee. Dropping by my desk to deliver comments on my proposals rather than sending a markup through email.

I know in telling it, it doesn't make a lick of sense. Nothing there. All in my mind. Except it wasn't. I could feel it. I couldn't help but feel it. His sexual energy was the elephant in the room.

It is hard to explain what happened next. But the short version is that I escalated things. I couldn't just let him get me flustered, I had to do the same to him. I started dressing more provocatively. Finding excuses to lean over and let him look down my cleavage, cleavage that I'd made sure looked good as I dressed in the morning. Standing in front of the mirror, leaning forward, trying on different bras until I got just the look I wanted.

I'd walk into his office and sexily perch myself on his desk and talk business. I was trying to get a rise out of him. I think, I was hoping he'd lose his cool, make a pass at me that I could reject. That would break the tension. End it. Or maybe not. We don't always know exactly our own real motivations. But the most I got out of him was an invitation to a happy hour with his latest conquest, that chubby, little, slut Peggy from marketing.

In retrospect, what he did next was brilliant... and diabolical. As I escalated, he drew back. He stopped looking me over, stopping even the most casual flirting, and instead began to date around the office more widely. Now Tina from accounting. Then Elena the office manager. And it made me jealous, insanely, irrationally jealous. I knew... just knew he was doing it to make me crazy.

I was thinking about Greg all the time. Some days he had me so worked up that I had to go to the ladies' room and masturbate thinking about him just to release enough tension to get any work done. I still never admitted to myself that I wanted him. My plan, that I repeated to myself over and over, was always to lure him in, make him fall in love with me so I could dump him. Or at least that is how I rationalized it. Even though my fantasies were filled with raunchy sex with Greg, the goal was to gain the upper hand. In my mind, I was obsessed with him because I hated him, when in reality I was obsessed with him because he'd become this perfect, illusive, unattainable prize.

After all these years, I was still, in a way, little nerdy Gloria pining after Bobby Battle. So I was fully primed when, having flaunted his other dalliances in my face, he turned again his attention to me full-force.

He only had a few weeks left in the office, but all of a sudden he was omnipresent in my life, constantly dropping by my office to chat, asking me as a favor to help him on his projects that often required working late and dining together.

He was now more openly flirtatious, commenting on my clothes and shoes, talking about "how lucky" my husband was. And now that he was out in the open, instead of slapping him down, I relished it.

At the same time, his reputation as a cocksman, for lack of a better word, began to spread. Elena and Tina almost came to blows over him. Peggy was gushing to anyone who would listen about what an extraordinary lover he was.

I was officially infatuated. And my infatuation broke down my defenses. I constructed elaborate rationales for why I should be able to get what I wanted. I'd never been with another man. Wasn't it natural to be curious? I'd been so good for so long, even if I gave in this time, my batting average, so to speak, would still be very respectable. Sure, I wanted Greg, but think of how many men I'd hadn't wanted!

And most perversely, I convinced myself that what I was doing was best for Dave.

As my sexual obsession with Greg blossomed, I found myself resenting Dave. His kindness began to seem oppressive. I resented that he'd locked me up before I'd even had a chance to really know myself. I found myself getting snippy with him. I realized none of that was fair, but I had begun to blame Dave for my desires, and I reasoned that if I were to give in to them, I would really be doing him a favor by eliminating the reasons for my peevishness.

Now, in reality, I don't know that Dave ever noticed that I was getting snippy with him. I'm not even sure that I was, but I was horribly guilty about my feelings about Greg, and as a result probably perceived my attitude toward Dave as worse than it was. For all I know, he just thought I was a little tense because of work pressures rather than so horribly nasty that it would be worth letting me have an affair in order to relieve the tension.

But, the point is, the way I ultimately let myself give into temptation with Greg was by convincing myself it was in Dave's best interests that I do so. And since I was doing it for Dave, I decided he should be involved. I was doing him a favor after all, or so I convinced myself.

It will take me a long time to forgive myself for what I did, probably longer than it will take for Dave to forgive me. If I'd been strong, I would have rejected Greg outright. If I'd been brave, I might have just fucked him in secret. But I was neither.

One night, I told Dave I had a crush on Greg, and was sexually attracted to him. I didn't really give my husband much choice. I basically let him know I'd be cheating on him, and in informing him I was making him complicit.

He was hurt. Crushed even. I saw the blood drain from his face. And then he made me feel even worse. He didn't scream. He didn't slap me. He just, I guess, gave me permission. He loved me enough to let me break his heart.

If I'd been empathetic, I would have immediately apologized and assured him it was just a stupid infatuation, and that I would avoid Greg from here on out. If I'd been self-aware, I would have realized how selfish I was being. But, again, I was neither.

CHAPTER THREE

The night it happened we'd just finished a huge proposal at work. Our boss, Jack, put out word that we'd be having a little celebration in the late afternoon. Greg had only a week left in the office. It was now or never.

I was so worked up I could barely see straight. I went to the gym at lunchtime and did a brutal hour on the Stairmaster, until sweat stung my eyes and my thighs burned in pain. Then in the shower, I shaved my legs and then on impulse shaved my beaver as well. And then I masturbated. Twice. It barely took the edge off. I dressed again, leaving my bra and panties in my locker.

My skin felt raw, as if my whole body were sunburned. The fabric of my dress almost oppressive, rubbing over my sensitive skin and hard, erect nipples, teasing my shaved, swollen snatch. I just wanted to tear my clothes off, stride naked through the office, throw myself at Greg. I did nearly that.

At the party, I guzzled three glasses of champagne, the whole time my eyes were glued to Greg. Finally, he came over.

"You look like you're having fun," he said, raising his glass to me.

I drained yet another glass. "Too much fun," I giggled.

Our eyes met. I was ready to explode. I gasped out, "I'm going to need a ride home."

He gave me a wink. "I'd be delighted."

I went and called Dave and let him know I was bringing Greg home. I asked him to stay at the house. Because of how I'd constructed my rationales, it was important for him to be there.

We got in Greg's car. His elegant, perfect luxury sedan. I reveled in every detail. His cologne was intoxicating. His hands, perfectly manicured, handled the steering wheel expertly. Not a hair out of place. Even though I was almost too excited to speak, he made small talk, casual, funny, and light. He never asked about Dave; I guess he didn't want to jinx things and just figured he'd play it by ear.

I remember thinking I wouldn't be able to last until we made it home. I thought about leaning over and giving him road head. I fantasized about him reaching between my legs, feeling my wetness, and pulling over to take me right there in his car by the side of the road.

But Greg was unflappable. He pulled into our driveway and stepped out of the car. He began to come around to other side to let me out, but I was too quick, too eager, bounding out of the passenger seat and leading him by the hand to the front door.

I introduced them, Greg flashing his usual confident grin, Dave looking confused and somewhat forlorn. About what you'd expect from both given the circumstance. When I look back on it, I want to stab myself in the eye with a fork. What a cruel, cruel moment. Forcing my husband to greet his wife's imminent lover. But again, I'm taking myself out of the story, making excuses. At the time, I didn't recognize any of that. I was drunk, horny, and happy. I had the two men in my life with me together in the same place, the love of my life and the lust of the present. At that moment, they seemed to complement each other, though of course, that was only true in the sense that they each met one of my selfish needs.

I got us all drinks and then led my men upstairs. I walked Dave over to a chair in the bedroom and tried to enunciate my feelings, but I probably did nothing other than confuse him. Something about loving him, not having any secrets, and keeping me safe. He must have thought I had lost my mind.

And then I approached Greg and began to unwrap him like a Christmas present. He was as gorgeous naked as fully dressed. He had a broad, powerful torso. I ran my fingers through his thick chest hair, stopping to kiss his nipples. He let out a barely audible groan, the first time I'd punctured his cool. I felt giddy.

I dropped to my knees and unbuckled his belt and undid his pants, admiring his strong thighs. I then pulled down his boxers and was greeted by his gorgeous cock.

It was only beginning to stiffen, but it was already much larger than Dave's. Until that moment, I would have sworn up and down that this sort of thing made no different. How pathetic was it that I was impressed by his size? Pathetic, but undeniable. I felt my pussy flutter, my thighs becoming sticky with my excitement.

I locked eyes with Greg and began to massage his balls and stroke his shaft. Feeling his prick, growing and swelling in my hands, was delightful. I took him in my mouth with some difficulty. He was already so big. And as he swelled further I realized he was more than I could handle orally. I continued to stroke him for a few more minutes, relishing the feel of his powerful tool, knowing that soon it would be inside me.

I stood up and we kissed, passionately, wetly, my hand still stroking his cock, his hands now roaming over my body freely. Despite all the flirting and the sexual tension, this was the first time we'd touched, and it was electric.

He lifted my dress above my head and let out a low whistle, declaring me "magnificent." I blushed like a schoolgirl. He led me over to the bed, and I scoot up, on my back awaiting him. He started to go down on me, but I couldn't wait. I was too hot, too hungry.

"Put it in me," I begged.

He climbed up between my legs and rubbed the head of his cock against my very wet, very swollen slit. I almost came right then. And then he was inside me. Just the tip, but it was already almost too much. I could feel my vagina clinging to his cock head, feeling very stretched out. He thrust inside me, and I could feel every inch, every bump, ridge, and vein of his cock as he entered me. It was too much, I felt lightheaded, my body was convulsing. I grabbed onto his firm ass and held on for dear life. My orgasm left me dry-mouthed, dizzy, and drained.

And then he started thrusting inside me. Long, deliciously slow strokes that quickly rekindled my passion. He rolled us over and I rode him, taking pleasure as much from his strong hands as from his big cock as he rubbed my breasts and gripped my ass firmly. I came a second time, an almost unprecedented event for me, and then he was on top of me again.

All that had come before was obviously just a warm up for him because now he really got down to business, fucking me deep and fast. He was relentless and tireless. Dave is a wonderful lover. He's passionate, tender, and gentle. When he's close, he'll thrust fast and hard for a few moments before finishing. But Greg was a new experience for me. I'd always thought those pornos were an act. No one, I thought, fucks that hard and long in real life. And anyway, how could anyone, particularly a woman, enjoy it? But Greg proved me wrong.

I'd been making love to Dave for thirteen years, but this was the first time in my life I was truly being fucked. And I loved it. Loved every bit of it. I loved his strength and his power. Loved the way our bodies slapped together, the way his balls hit my asshole. I loved how athletic it was, both of us panting, our hearts racing.

I came again, hard, gasping for breath. I grabbed his ass and pulled him into me harder and faster still until finally with a grunt he buried himself inside me and filled me with his sperm. Even that was delicious. Dave says that when I come hard he can feel my pussy pulsing on his cock. Well, with Greg, I felt, for the first time, the reverse. I felt his cock swell, and then pulse rapidly as he spurted.

Greg pulled out gently and rolled over on his back. I lay next to him, both of us trying to catch our breath. My hand drifted down to my pussy, and I explored myself with my fingers, marveling at how wet I was, how puffy my lips were. I put a finger inside me and felt how stretched out I was. For a moment, I wondered if Greg had altered my anatomy forever. But like magic, my pussy soon recovered its elasticity and tightened around my finger.

I looked up and Dave was gone. And for the first time, I had a real pang of guilt. Not just that he'd fled, but that I hadn't noticed until now.

But denial is powerful, and I almost immediately pivoted to a rationalization that would haunt me and drive my behavior for the next several hours and days. If I'd fucked up, I'd already fucked up. Nothing I could do would make things worse, so I might as well enjoy it.

Looking over at Greg's long, lean, muscular body, his chiseled features, and his long, thick cock, I realized I wanted more. As good as the last hour had been, it wasn't enough to sate me after the months of flirting and fantasizing.

Greg apparently felt the same way because his hand slid between my legs and began playing with my pussy. He was unexpectedly gentle, just lightly caressing my swollen labia until he was sure I wasn't too sore. Then his finger found my clit and he teased the hood carefully, his finger circling it with just the right amount of pressure to get me excited again without overwhelming me. My hand slid down and seized his wet, slimy cock, and as I stroked him he rapidly hardened again.

When he was erect, and I was bucking my hip excitedly, he rolled me on top of him and filled me again. It was a delicious feeling. My pussy was tender, but not raw, and when he entered me, it was a perfect mix of soreness and pleasure. I can only liken it to that sore, satisfying feeling you get after a good run.

I don't want to make it seem like the sex was extraordinary. It was very, very good. But when Dave later worried that it was the best sex of my life, I could honestly assure him it wasn't. But then again, it wasn't not the best sex of my life either. I mean, I don't know about other people, but I can't rank order my orgasms. There is bad sex, good sex, and great sex. Beyond that, the distinctions seem meaningless. Greg gave me some great sex, but it wasn't any better or any greater than I'd had with Dave on numerous occasions.

Which isn't to say there weren't some things that I really liked. His cock, of course, was wonderful to experience. And I've already mentioned his body, his strength, and his stamina. But I also loved how and where he touched me. He was rougher than Dave, but in a good way. Dave is so in love with me that he sometimes treats me like a delicate flower. Greg was more willing to fondle me, roll me over, assert his control, take what he wanted. He was more dominant sexually, which was nice as a change though I am not sure it is what I'd want on an everyday basis.

I also liked the way he played with my butt. Whether out of respect or squeamishness Dave has never tried to initiate any ass play, and I never suggested it either. I never realized I'd like it. But the first time I rode Greg, he poked around back there, his fingertip tickling my anus. When I rode him the second time, he took it a step farther. Gravity and his big cock churning up inside me dislodged the copious amount of semen he'd already deposited, quickly turning our renewed love making into sloppy seconds. Greg took advantage of it by coating his finger with a generous amount of our mingled fluids and then confidently pressing his entire middle finger into my bottom.

It was a like a bolt of lightning. I came so hard I nearly blacked out. I collapsed onto his chest, unable to catch my breath as he hammered me hard from below, his thick cock stretching my cunt even as his finger pumped vigorously into my ass. God, it felt so raunchy and so hot.

After a while, he flipped us over again and pulled me to the edge of the mattress. He got to his feet beside the bed and reentered me. Gripping my thighs firmly, he pounded my pussy brutally. He was gasping and grunting, sweat now running down his face. If I hadn't been so sloppy wet,

I'm sure it would have been painful, but it was a little like being on a rollercoaster or a bumpy plane ride. All I could do was lie there and take it. After several more minutes of that he finished again, and once again treated me to that delicious feeling of his cock throbbing inside me. I'd definitely have to ask my girlfriends if they had ever experience that or if it was a Greg special.

We both ended up back on the bed, in a cuddle, exchanging little compliments and catching our breath.

"Red, that was really wonderful."

I giggled. Having been only with Dave, I was always a little insecure about my sexual skills. Being complimented by a man who'd obviously been around the block many times was a nice little ego boost.

"Yes, you made this evening very special for me," I replied.

"Your husband walked out."

"I know," I said sadly. "I'll need to make it up to him."

"I thought you guys had it worked out. It sure seemed that way."

"Please, let's not talk about it," I said with finality.

I rested my head on his chest for a few more minutes and then went to the bathroom to freshen up a bit before showing Greg to the door.

I observed myself in the mirror. God, I looked a mess, my hair disheveled, lipstick smeared, marks on my breasts and ass from Greg's rough handling. I looked, in short, like a freshly fucked, wanton slut.

Greg came into the bathroom and stood behind me.

"God, you're a sexy woman," he gushed.

He began to caress me. His hands touching my sides, and then running across my belly. He cupped my breasts and then slid his hand down between my legs.

"I'm sorry you're shaved," his whispered. "I would have loved to see if the carpet matches the drapes."

"It does," I giggled. He did that to me. Turned me into a giggling simpleton. And yet, in that moment, it didn't bother me. For the first time, I wondered whether I might not enjoy it, being his woman, not an ornament, per se, but perhaps, at least sometimes in his orbit. Trading independence for security, equality for passion. A betrayal of my mother to be sure, but maybe not the worst thing in to the world for it.

His hand found my clit, making me gasp. He leaned down and kissed my neck. And as good as all that felt, the sexiest part was watching it in the mirror, seeing the reflection of this hunk of a man caressing me and touching me all over.

He pressed up against me and I could feel his erection. "Oh God, you're hard again."

"That's what you do to me," he replied. Why did that please me so?

He pushed me forward so that my hands were on the sink, and then he rubbed his big tool up and down my slit. He entered me slowly. I grunted. He'd fucked me raw, and taking him inside me was actually uncomfortable. He sensed that, I guess, because he took it nice and slow. But even that was too much.

"Oh baby, we need to stop. You wore it out," I finally whined.

He stopped thrusting, but left his cock inside me for now.

"You sure?"

I wasn't. Still, I gulped, "yes."

"I could put it here," he suggested, his fingertip pressing into my ass.

For half a second the thought excited me, and then I thought better of it. His finger had already left me feeling full. His huge tool would certainly tear me apart. Still... I was tempted, as much by curiosity at how it would feel as by the desire to submit to him.

"Let me kiss it," I offered, and I spun around and dropped to my knees.

He was too big to take into my mouth, but I kissed and licked the head like an ice cream cone. With one hand I massaged his balls, with the other I stroked his shaft.

"Look up at me when you do that," he requested. I did.

"God, you are so sexy," he said again. "I want to finish in your mouth."

I'd never done that. I just didn't like the idea of it. Semen is disgusting, slimy, salty, warm. And it always seems demeaning. But it just felt right as a coda to the night, a once in a lifetime act to cap a once in a lifetime evening. Plus, he'd already finished twice. How much could he have left? I gave him a little nod and continued working on his cock.

"That's it, Red, milk it," he grunted, our eyes locked.

I felt his cock swell, this time in my hand. I opened my mouth. It pulsed and a thick stream of hot cum filled my mouth. Any thought of spitting it out disappeared as he spurted again. I swallowed just to keep up. Another spurt and another followed. I couldn't swallow fast enough. When he finished, my mouth was coated with his jism, it was in my throat, and dripping from my lips.

"Now that is a beautiful sight," he exclaimed.

I could only laugh. I wiped myself off.

"Now, you have to go, that's all you're getting," I said happily.

"It was more than I could have hoped for," he replied gallantly.

He dressed and I put on a bathrobe. I walked him to the front door. Greg gave me a last passionate kiss goodnight. I watched him drive away.

CHAPTER FOUR

I noticed that Dave was in his den, door shut. That was fine for now. I went back upstairs and stripped the bed and remade it. I opened the windows to air out the room, which probably smelled of sex and sweat, though I couldn't tell since it was my sweat and sex. Then I took a shower.

For a while I stood there, enjoying the feel of the water on my naked body, my hands slowly exploring myself, visualizing what Greg had done to me. As I touched my breasts, I thought of how Greg had pinched my nipples as I rode him. When my hand slid over my stomach it brought back the memory of him doing the same thing before the bathroom mirror. When I found my clit, I remembered him teasing me gently, renewing my excitement after the first fuck. I slid my finger down between my legs, feeling my tender pussy, recalling how he'd pulled me to the edge of the bed and hammered me like a machine. Then as I traced further back, I touched my anus, bringing back the searing memory of him shoving his finger up my butt even as he pounded my pussy. I came again, a shuddering, gasping orgasm as powerful as any I'd experienced earlier in the evening.

When I recovered, I washed every inch of my body, wiping away any traces of Greg. I douched. I brushed my teeth. Gargled mouthwash. I didn't want anything that would remind Dave of Greg when I went to him. I dried myself and wrapped myself in my bathrobe.

I knocked and entered his office. Dave looked at me sadly. He was crushed. I felt awful. Not so much for what I had done, which I had thoroughly enjoyed, but rather for having hurt him. But I decided to be strong. I'd already been so unfair to him that I couldn't bear to let my feelings through. Whining about how bad I felt would make it about me, and really what I needed to do was reassure my husband as best as I could.

I tried to explain to him that I loved him, that I was sorry for being so weak. He asked me if I wanted a divorce. I was shocked. The thought had never crossed my mind. There was so much I wanted to explain, so much I wanted to say. This was all about my insecurities, my regrets, my weaknesses, but I didn't want to go there. Not now. I'd been self-indulgent enough for one night, for a lifetime really. I just wanted to reassure him. I told Dave he was still the best lover I'd ever had. Weird as it seems, I even made him feel my vagina so he could see I wasn't "stretched out" permanently.

By the end of our talk, I thought I'd reached him. We'd be able to work it out, and from my perspective we were now at the point where instead of resenting Dave for keeping me from satisfying my crush, I could be nurturing him and working to meet his needs. He would need time to heal, of course, but he came to bed with me.

We cuddled together. I was, well, happy. Very happy. I'd landed my Bobby Battle, and the experience had exceeded all expectation, and here I was in bed with my husband whom I loved dearly. I felt well fucked, tired, and loved. I fell asleep.

I woke up the next morning refreshed and still happy. I let Dave sleep and went for a run. I just felt great. There is something about having your cake and eating it too.

But when I got home, the whole thing began to unravel. As it turns out, having your cake and eating it too violates the law of the conservation of matter.

When I got back, Dave was in a shower, which was a good thing because Greg called.

I've never been particularly empathetic, I guess. It isn't so much that I am selfish as much as I expect everyone to behave like me, practical and analytical. I know, I know, falling in lust with a co-worker isn't practical, but my point is, I guess I sort of expected everyone to play the roles I'd assigned them in my head. Dave would be the loving husband who sacrificed to allow me to indulge a mindless passion. And Greg would be a sex toy with a pulse. My interest in Greg was purely physical, or at most he was a stand-in for my repressed desires. But I had no interest in Greg, per se. I never fantasized about being married to him or even, honestly, having a conversation with the guy. When I thought about Greg, my fantasies went right to what had happened last night.

And certainly now that I had largely sated my lust, I thought I had no desire to further challenge my marriage with more encounters. And I always assumed that Greg would see me as nothing more than just another notch on his bedpost.

"Hey Red, sorry about calling you at home. I tried your cell and you didn't pick up. I've been thinking about you."

Alarm bells went off in my head. I checked my cell. Three calls from him. One message. Six texts, the first one at 3:30am.

I admitted I'd been thinking about him as well, but I also lowered the boom.

"Listen, Greg, we can't see each other again. It was a one-time thing. Let's just leave it at that."

"Really?" He asked, genuinely surprised.

"Yeah, look, I'm happily married."

"You don't mean that. You felt it last night. I felt it. We belong together."

That knocked me for a loop. "We can't," I muttered.

"At least admit it was something special," he insisted.

"It was special," I replied, somewhat shaken. I managed to end the conversation.

I sat back heavily on the sofa, suddenly drained. It occurred to me, for the first time really, that I had opened up a big can of worms, not just with Dave, but apparently with Greg as well.

It didn't help that when Dave got out of the shower, he seemed to have regressed emotionally. He was now just as dejected as when I'd first spoken to him after Greg left.

The day got worse and worse. Dave was a mess. And Greg kept texting. I found myself trying to balance the emotional needs of both men, doing a frankly lousy job all around.

By late afternoon, I'd had enough. Greg kept insisting I should meet him to talk it over, so I agreed to come into the office, planning to end it once and for all. I made some excuse to Dave about the proposal and headed in.

Greg was in his office working on some papers.

I cleared my throat. "Look, I'm sorry if I mislead you. You're a great guy and all, but I'm married. I love my husband."

He looked up and gave me an earnest look.

"Sit with me," he said softly.

He took my hand and led me over to his sofa.

I sat next to him, pulling my hands back primly into my lap, practicing in my head the lines that would communicate to Greg that it was over, indeed had never been.

But, God, he was a handsome devil. Every hair in place, fingernails manicured, shoes shined to perfection. Just sitting beside him weakened my resolve to end it. He looked me in the eyes, holding my gaze confidently.

"I can't stop thinking of you. Haven't been able to for weeks," he said earnestly. "You haunt my dreams."

That took my breath away. I gasped, speechless.

"I need you," he rasped, taking my hands in his.

"Don't say that," I muttered, almost pleading. "You barely know me."

With a hurt expression, he replied, "That's not true. We've been working together for months. I think about you all the time."

I thought of Elena. Of Peggy. Of Tina. I felt a wave of jealousy. He'd probably told them the same things when he was trying to bed them. "Oh please, Greg, you've been cutting quite a swathe."

He shook his head sadly, then gave me a small smile. "Do you think you're just another notch of my bedpost?"

"Well, aren't I," I replied.

"Oh Red, no! No. No!" he insisted forcefully. Then he softened. "Yes, I've dated other girls, but that was only because I thought you were taken, unavailable." He was now gently caressing my soft hands with his strong, manly fingers.

"I am," I replied, but I could feel my resolve slipping as I started to imagine those hands running over my body.

"That's why I am so sad about all of this. You're so beautiful, smart, and funny. And we have the most amazing sexual chemistry."

I could feel myself flush hotly, my heart pounding in excitement. It was now or never. I took a deep breath and forced myself to my feet.

"I'm sorry," I choked out hoarsely.

"Don't go," he breathed as he caught my hand with his fingertips.

My resolve melted. I wanted him so badly at that moment. It was almost a gravitational pull.

"We can't," I moaned, but I was already coming back toward him.

"Just a kiss," he pleaded.

My legs gave out. I fell into his lap. He gave me a feathery little kiss on the lips. It was almost chaste, and yet at the same time, I could feel him hardening beneath me, his big, beautiful cock straining to get at me. I wrapped my arms around his neck and we kissed wetly.

And suddenly, I was the aggressor, pressing my tongue deep into his mouth. I suddenly wanted him again, so much that I couldn't think straight. Couldn't think at all. It was like I was on fire, and all that could satisfy me was his hard cock inside me.

He grabbed my ass, pulled the cheeks apart, and the sudden feeling of his finger on my wet labia made my stomach do a flip. I reached down and torn open his trousers, clawing at his boxers until his fat cock popped out. I rose up on my knees, and felt him slide my panties to the side. With a desperate growl, I lunged back into his lap, impaling myself roughly on him.

I fucked him. There is no other word for it. I was in his lap, grinding my pussy against his pubic bone, relishing the amazing feeling of him inside me. He was moaning loudly, and his excitement fed mine. I rode him harder, my clit now almost painfully swollen, sliding up and down his thick cock. He pulled my dress off my shoulders, and freed my breasts. My nipples were dark red, fully engorged. He took one in his mouth. I grunted ecstatically.

And then it happened. I felt a plume of heat rising and spreading from between my legs then across my belly. My heart hammered so hard it seemed ready to burst through my chest. I got dizzy. There was a flash of light. And then nothing.

The French have a term for it, La Petite Mort, the little death, for an orgasm so strong you black out. I'd always imagined it was a metaphor, a lovely, little, poetic license. But it was real. For a while – I have no idea how long, whether a minute or a hour – I floated on waves of pleasure, swirls of color, a soft buzzing in my ear, and the amazing feeling of being penetrated, over and over, fully and completely possessed, helpless to prevent it, but desperate for it to continue forever.

I came to slowly, my vision blurry, to find myself on Greg's desk, naked, on my back, my legs wedged over his broad shoulders as he relentlessly drove his thick cock into me.

"Oh God," I moaned, "come inside me. I love it when you come inside me."

He pulled almost completely out, just the head of his cock between my swollen lips. Then with a rough thrust, he filled me. He did it again. And again. And then he shuddered. I felt his prick swell and then pulse, over and over.

"Oh God, I love that," I cooed.

We slowly disentangled and dropped to the floor, sitting side by side. I reached into his lap to caress his lovely member. He playfully tweaked my nipples. We kissed, softly, sharing our contentment, basking in the afterglow.

"I think I love you," I said suddenly, impulsively, staring off in the distance.

I looked up to see his handsome, smiling face. And when I did, it hit me, like a punch to the chest. I gasped. I couldn't breathe. And then after a few moments when I thought I'd never be able to breathe again, I fell apart.

First came the heaving sobs, then the tears, flowing hot and fast down my cheeks.

"I'm a bad, bad, bad person," I wailed, banging my head against Greg's desk.

"No, you're not," he reassured me. He took me in his strong arms. "You're beautiful and strong. You've done nothing wrong. There is nothing wrong with following your heart."

I shoved him away.

"Yes there is! I'm married! I love Dave! And I've hurt him! And betrayed him!" I shouted.

"It's not that simple," he insisted.

"Yes, it is!" I sobbed. "What the fuck is wrong with me?"

"It's not that simple," he repeated. "Loving a person is not mutually exclusive with loving another."

"No, but betrayal is."

"It's also a betrayal to deny pleasure to a loved one," he replied cryptically.

"What the hell does that mean?"

"It means, if Dave really loves you he'll want you to be happy. To find joy wherever you can find it."

"Could you do that? I mean, let your wife or girlfriend find happiness with another man?"

He regarded me thoughtfully. "I don't know. I am not sure I've ever loved someone enough for me to place her happiness above mine. But I think Dave does love you that much. He didn't stop us last night."

"All the more reason, I shouldn't betray him," I whined back, tears now starting down my face again.

"It's okay, Red, it's okay," he said softly. He leaned forward and kissed a tear off each of my cheeks.

He slid his arms beneath me and effortlessly lifted me off the ground. I wrapped my arms around his muscular neck. I needed his strength.

He carried me over to the sofa and laid me down. Then he slid up onto the cushions beside me. We laid there, side-by-side, naked, for a long while. He was kind, and gentle, and reassuring. Intellectually, I think I knew what he was saying was bullshit. Pure sophistry. But he was smooth, and most of all, I wanted to believe. I wanted to believe I was a good person, that I deserved this, that Dave would want me to be happy, and that if he didn't, it was him being selfish not me.

Greg caressed me gently, his hands assiduously avoiding my nipples or between my legs. Instead, he softly ran his fingertips everywhere else. He caressed my belly, traced the outline of my jaw, lightly brushed my sides. I could feel my desire for him growing again. He was smiling broadly, infectiously, obviously happy to be with me, to have my naked body beside his. And it made me happy too.

"Please make love to me," I asked finally.

"Are you sure?"

I swallowed and nodded.

Gently, he rolled on top of me, and cautiously he entered me. For the first time, we really made love. It was slow and tender. We kissed continuously. He was patient. So patient. Never rushing. Just those long, deep, slow thrusts. After a while, I reached a plateau, right on the verge of a crashing orgasm, but somehow better for not going over the edge. He kept me there for what seemed like an eternity, a beautiful, delightful eternity. And then when I thought I might burst from anticipation, he shifted his position slightly, pressing into me fully, and the wave toppled over, leaving me gasping and panting as I came again.

"Now it's your turn," I managed to choke out when I caught my breath.

But instead, he pulled out. "No, that was just about you, Red."

He lay back down beside me. I rested my head on his powerful chest, and suddenly exhausted, I dozed off.

When I awoke, it was dark outside. I glanced at the clock to see it was past 8:00. Greg roused when I did.

"You're so beautiful when you're sleeping," he offered.

I couldn't help but smile. I dressed quickly.

"Can I see you tomorrow?" He asked.

I wanted to say yes. But I knew I needed to fix things with Dave first.

"I don't know. We'll see," I muttered as I left.

In the car home, I rehearsed what I would say to Dave. There was so much I wanted to explain. Greg's argument about love not being mutually exclusive was the key one. I wanted so much to have it all. To have Dave and Greg. It felt so right. Surely Dave would understand that Greg made me happy, and making me happy would make Dave happy. If we could all just be grown up about it, it could all work out.

Rationalization is a powerful drug. I swear, all of this made sense to me at the time. I was sure it was just a matter of talking it out.

My little fantasy ran into a buzzsaw the moment I got home. Dave confronted me angrily, demanding to know where I'd been, waving the briefcase I'd left behind as evidence that I wasn't really working.

"I know you were with him," he hissed.

There was a weird certainty in his voice. He wasn't making an accusation. He was reporting a statement of fact.

"Were you following me? Are you spying on me?" I spit out.

I was genuinely angry. And embarrassed. Well, mostly, I guess I was angry because I was embarrassed, because Dave had blown up my planned effort to convince him to let me continue to see Greg.

My outburst left him speechless. I'm guessing he too had a carefully worked out script he was planning to follow, and my reaction threw him for a loop as well.

Suddenly, I felt sick to my stomach.

"I can't talk about this now," I snapped and ran upstairs.

I locked myself in the bathroom and turned on the shower and then puked my guts out in the toilet. Then came the tears. Again. I must have sat under the shower for an hour just crying hysterically.

In twenty-four hours I had turned into a complete ninny, my days spent either fucking or crying. I'd always been in control. My whole fucking life was about self-control. I've never tried drugs. I barely drink. I was raised to be stoic, a sort of Vulcan or something, and now suddenly my whole life was being consumed by lust, remorse, anger, jealousy, and a half-dozen other emotions I could barely categorize.

I hated Greg. Hated Dave too, for making me feel this way. And then more tears. It wasn't their fault. I was the one being selfish and stupid. But, fuck, being with Greg was just amazing. He was a great lover, a wonderful prize. But I couldn't imagine being without Dave either. I was like a three year old having a tantrum: I want, I want, I want.

That moment of clarity did little to resolve my dilemma. Of course, I knew what I should do, what the right thing to do was. Stop seeing Greg. But what if it was too late? What if I had already destroyed things with Dave? Why should I throw away the one thing I still had that made me happy? And anyway, why couldn't I have it all? If Dave found a woman who excited him the way Greg excited me, wouldn't I let him explore it? No! I knew, I wouldn't, couldn't accept it. So how could Dave? But hadn't he already? If this was so fucking important, why didn't he put his foot down beforehand? It was his fault for letting it happen. More tears. Of course, it wasn't his fault. I was blaming the victim.

I dragged myself out of the shower when the hot water ran out, and buried myself under the covers. Dave checked in on me at one point, and I pretended to be asleep. He must have decided to sleep downstairs. I barely slept.

Indeed, the only reason I know I slept at all is that I had a dream about Greg at one point. We were making love outside. It was amazing, in that weird surreal way. Then I suddenly realized we were in our back yard, and that Dave was watching us through a window. He was obviously angry, banging on the glass, yelling – like Ben at the end of The Graduate. I mentioned it to Greg, and he just laughed. I tried to get Greg to stop fucking me, but he wouldn't, and then he pointed back at the window, and Dave was gone. Except he wasn't, and now Greg was Dave, and he was inside me, but not even looking at me, just screwing me without acknowledging me.

CHAPTER FIVE

I woke up, excited, disturbed, and disoriented. I slowly recognized my surroundings and played out the events of the past few days. God, I was an awful person. I mean, intellectually, I knew that. And yet, I couldn't shake the pull of the affair. I felt like an addict. For the moment, I just wanted to stay under the covers and hide from the situation I had created.

It was late when I finally roused myself from bed. I went downstairs to find Dave sitting sullenly alone in the living room. I went to him, and bless him, the first thing he asked me was "Are you okay?"

"No, I'm a bad person," I moaned.

He took me in his arms and hugged me. It felt so good, so right. This was where I belonged.

We talked for a while. I tried to apologize. Tried to explain what was going on. But it was so hard. I couldn't pretend Greg meant nothing to me. I tried to explain that while I loved Dave, Greg was so exciting. How Greg was bringing out in me something I didn't even know I had inside. But Dave wouldn't, couldn't understand.

"It's just hard, you know?" I finally exclaimed.

Dave looked at me coldly. "Actually, I guess I don't. Either you're married or you're not."

"I wish it were that simple," I replied, trying to convince myself as much as anyone else.

A real tragedy of having an affair is the way the situation becomes self-reinforcing. Dave was understandably angry, hurt, and suspicious. And while he tried to hide it, I could feel it in every moment we were together. When I went out to do some errands, Dave tagged along, keeping an eye on me. He was brusque and cold. At the same time, there was this other man in my life, exciting, enthusiastic, amorous, and eager to see me. Spending the day with Dave was work. It was work that I knew I needed to put into the marriage to save it, and yet it was draining. As the day wore on, the lure of play with Greg tugged ever more insistently.

Dave and I had a quiet dinner. We watched some TV and then retired to bed with barely a word spoken between us. I couldn't sleep for a long while. The tension between us was too palpable. I think Dave felt the same way, though I couldn't be sure. He was curled up with a pillow on the opposite side of the bed from me, seemingly as far away as he could get.

I thought of Greg. Of how we'd fucked and then made love in the office. I thought of his body, his cock. I slid my hand down under my panties and lightly rubbed my shaved mound. I could feel myself getting excited. Dave stirred, and I stopped, panicked. But then he just shifted around slightly and began to breath deeply, either asleep or pretending to be. I was embarrassed for a moment, but then convinced myself it was okay. It was okay to fantasize. I started to touch myself again. My clit was swollen, my nipples hard and pressing almost painfully against the fabric of my nightie. I came quickly, biting my lip to keep from gasping. The release was just what I needed to get to sleep, finally.

I'd like to pretend I played hard to get. But the reality is that from the moment I got into the office the next morning, after yet another nearly wordless breakfast with Dave, I was primed for Greg's attention. He was running from meeting to meeting in the morning, working on closing out his duties as he prepared to move on at the end of the week, but he stopped by a few times just to flash me a quick smile. I was between projects, just cleaning up some admin work and with plenty of time to think. And the more I thought, the more I thought about Greg, and his imminent departure. That became my escape hatch. I didn't have the strength to turn him down, but he was leaving anyway. I could continue to see him, discreetly, for the rest of the week and then he'd be gone, and I'd have a lifetime worth of delicious memories as I tried to rebuild my relationship with Dave.

Greg finally came for me at lunchtime. I half-heartedly try to resist. But it was all a show, and Greg knew it. He pulled down his zipper and took out his prick, and I took him in my mouth, worshipping his cock, so big, beautiful, and hard. I slurped at him thinking about how good he would feel inside my slick, swollen pussy.

He bent me over my desk, lifted up my skirt and took me from behind. I would never have imagined I might tolerate that, much less enjoy it. Impersonal, disrespectful, as if I were just a convenient hole. And yet, so hot.

"Oh yes, oh yes, I love it so much, love it so much," I gasped as he fucked me with deep, hard thrusts.

"Come to my place tonight, Red, and I'll show you something new," he offered.

His moistened thumb gently circling my anus.

"Show me what?" I asked, but I knew.

And he confirmed my thoughts... or fears... or desires... by firmly pressing his thumb into my butt.

"Oh God," I moaned, overwhelmed by the sensation of being fully filled, but also at the realization of how raunchy and slutty I was being. I was cheating on my husband, at work, bent over my desk, in broad daylight, penetrated by vaginally and anally. It was all too much. I came hard. And Greg was right behind me, filling me yet again with his seed.

He pulled out and sat in my chair, breathing hard. Without thinking, I squatted before him and took him back in my mouth, eagerly cleaning his cock of our mixed juices. He never fully softened, and soon I could feel him stiffening again in my mouth. I swallowed him deeply. I was getting better at that after three days of practice with him. He moaned.

"Play with yourself while you do that," he commanded.

I did. My pussy was soaked and swollen and very tender. I thought, "oh, God, if my mother could see me now."

And then it hit me. This wasn't about Dave, wasn't about Greg. This was about me, for the first time really pushing my boundaries, letting go, and losing control. I was, for the first time in my life, actually being submissive, allowing a man to dominate me. And it scared me how much I enjoyed it. I know it sounds crazy to have this sort of existential realization in the middle of performing oral sex, and it probably sounds like yet another rationalization. But the insight just rocked me. It made me question who I was, who I'd been raised to be.

Greg coming in my mouth brought me back to the present. I swallowed his jism like a good little whore, suddenly wondering if I could ever get back to who I'd been, and whether I'd even want to.

We straightened ourselves up, and Greg again invited me to his apartment that evening. I demurred. I knew I needed time to think.

"Red, we have so little time left together," he said softly. "Let's not waste any of it. Unless, unless, you want to come out and stay with me in San Diego?"

I felt my insides twist. Blood rushed to my head.

"You know... I can't do that," I replied.

"Can't? Or won't?"

"What difference does it make?"

"It makes all the difference in the world, Red."

"I can't see you tonight," I said firmly, side-stepping the deeper issue.

"Okay." He kissed me on the forehead, and disappeared back into the hallway.

At home, Dave and I had another morose and tense evening. Dinner in silence. TV in silence. Bed together with a wall of tension pushing us apart. I fell asleep finally, but awoke with a start around 1:00am.

Dave wasn't in bed. I got up and looked for him. He wasn't in the house. His car was gone. He was gone.

I called his cell. No answer.

I needed to speak to someone, so I called Emily. She's one of my oldest friends. She's a real estate agent and sleeps with her phone by her bed, so I knew I'd reach her.

"Hullo?" she answered groggily.

"I think Dave left me," I began.

"What did you do?"

"What do you mean? Why do you think I did anything?"

"Because, Sweetie, Dave is hopelessly, desperately committed to you. He'd never leave until you provoked it. So, what did you do?"

That cut me to the quick. I burst into hysterical sobs again. And then it all came out. Greg, my mother, Bobby Battle, how terrible I felt about hurting Dave, how I'd always been in control, always perfect, all in a long, rambling monologue punctuated with jags of crying. It was an embarrassing confection of self-pity, self-loathing, rationalizations, and maybe a few glimmers of insight. The kind of thing only an old and dear friend can handle.

"So what are you going to do now?" Emily asked after a long while.

"I don't know. What should I do?"

"Go back and time and not fuck Greg," she answered curtly. "But since you can't do that, I don't know. But I can tell you what not to do. Don't go to Dave until you're sure that's what you want. I don't know that he'll take you back. But I do know that you've hurt him enough already."

"Okay," I said softly.

"Good luck, Honey, good luck," she said finally as she hung up.

It was after 3:00am now, and I called Dave again. This time he picked up.

I told him I was worried about him. He told me not to be. I told him I didn't want to lose him.

"You also told me you'd try not to fuck Greg anymore," he replied coldly. "How can I believe you when you can't even follow through on that?"

I gasped. His tone made clear that he knew, that my "discreet" nooner had been anything but. I wondered if he had dropped by to see me, only to see Greg enter my office and close the door. Or had my secretary tipped him off? It didn't matter.

I tried to reassure him, "He asked me to move to San Diego with him. I said no."

"Good for you."

"You're not making this easy," I pleaded.

"Good," he said with a finality that sent chills up my spine. And then he hung up.

For a long while I just stared at the phone. I had made an insane hash of my life. I had been selfish and stupid, and I was paying the price. But before I could even begin to fix things, I had to finish the journey I'd begun.

CHAPTER SIX

I called in sick the next morning, and sent Greg a text.

[Ann]: I need to see you.

[Greg]: I'm in my office, drop on by.

[Ann]: No, in private.

[Greg]: Okay, I have a lunch appt. Come by my place after. I should be home by 2.

At 2:01pm I rang his doorbell. He was in his suit, but had loosened his tie, giving him a slightly rakish look.

He let me in.

"So, is this big breakup?" He asked.

"I don't know."

He looked me over. I was wearing a light sundress and heels and nothing else. My nipples were pressing through the fabric.

"You're not dressed for a breakup," he noted. "Or is this a last fling?"

"Don't make this hard," I whined.

"Then tell me what you want," he snapped.

I blushed. I had practiced what I was going to say, but actually saying it was harder than I expected.

"You can do whatever you want to me," I said in a whisper.

Being with Greg would mean changing who I was. He was too strong, too confident for it ever to be equal. He had never even considered staying with me, instead he had asked me to move to San Diego to be with him. And I realized that was the real question. Did I continue to want a relationship of equality with Dave, or did I, contrary to what my mom had always tried to indoctrinate want a man to take care of me, to possess me? And so, I had to see what it would be like to give in completely, to submit to him unconditionally.

"What?" he asked.

I could tell he'd heard. His grin got just a touch cockier. He just wanted to make me repeat it louder.

I looked up, fixed his gaze. "You can do whatever you want to me."

He raised an eyebrow.

"Anything?"

"Anything."

"So, is this instead of coming with me to San Diego, or part of your way of deciding?"

"I don't know."

"So, if I want to bring another girl over and watch you make love to her, you'd do it?"

I shuddered. I had never done that... and yet, the idea was oddly thrilling.

"Yes."

"And if I wanted to invite a bunch of my buddies over and have them take turns with you, you'd do that too?"

My stomach did a flip. A wave of terror washed over me. But also a dark excitement.

"Yes."

He observed me curiously.

"No, I think I'll keep you for myself... for now."

After a pause he continued, "Take off your clothes... except your heels... and come to my bedroom."

He turned around and disappeared up the stairs.

I took a deep breath and obeyed. I'd never been to his place. It was a typical corporate townhouse, nicely but blandly furnished. Most of his belongings were already packed. It felt weird walking around this strange house naked. I peeked into several empty rooms before I found his.

He was sitting on the bed, a collection of sex toys arrayed beside him like tools at a dentist's office. As I approached, he stood, and took me by the shoulder. Firmly he spun me around and pushed me back onto the bed.

He was on me in an instant, roughly spreading my legs and attacking my pussy with his mouth. I gasped. Dave had performed oral sex on me often, of course, but never like this. Greg ate my snatch like a man possessed, licking me deeply with broad tongue strokes, sucking my clit into his mouth almost painfully, ramming two fingers into me. I was thrashing about. It was too much, too much, but then suddenly it was just right. I came hard.

I was still dazed as he flipped me onto my hands and knees. I heard him pull down his zipper. He grabbed a handful of my hair and pulled back hard.

My pained whimper turned into a loud gasp as he entered me fully, hammering my pussy from behind. I was already so wet that squishing sounds filled the room. My breasts were bouncing wildly. Beads of sweat ran down my cheeks. He fucked me harder, harder. He was so big and so rough that it hurt, but in a good way. The pain fed the intensity of it.

“Ah, ah, ah, ah,” I yelped.

“That’s it, Red, let go.”

Instead of doing that, though, I bit my lip. I was fighting through conflicting instincts. On one hand the temptation to give in, completely and fully. To scream in passion. To acknowledge that I couldn’t resist him. On the other, the need to remain in control. To refuse his demands. To remain my own person.

He paused, his cock still fully pressed inside me. I thrust back against him instinctively. He chuckled.

“Why are you fighting it?” he asked.

I started to lie. “I don’t know... ugh--”

Another hard thrust cut me off.

“Don’t know what?” he asked, amused.

He paused again.

I began to answer. “What you’re talking... ugh—“

He pounded into me. It felt sooo good. Overwhelming. And I knew it wasn’t just the physical sensation, but that sense of being in his power.

“Ugh... ugh... ugh... ugh....”

Another respite. My chest heaved.

“What were you saying?” he asked.

“Just fuck me, you asshole.”

“Tell me you need me, Red.”

Not want. Not love. Need.

“No... ugh... I... ugh... don’t... Ugh God!!”

Without warning he buried his thumb into my butt, which he proceeded to churn in and out even as he continued to batter my pussy with his huge cock.

“Yes, you do. You just don’t know it yet,” he taunted. “But you will.”

He took another break, but I knew he wasn’t done with me. I shivered as I thought of his desire to break me. The way it left me both eager and scared.

While keeping his prick inside me, he pulled out his thumb. I looked over my shoulder to see him squeeze a small dollop of lube onto my anus. I felt a surge of terror as I imagined him trying to force his huge prick into my virgin ass... and a corresponding wave of excitement.

“What are you doing?”

No answer. Just a smirk. I shuddered.

He reached down to grab a slim, metallic dildo. I whimpered softly as he pressed it into my ass. It was only a little larger than his thumb, but it was harder, unyielding, and much longer. Painful, yet delicious. Dirty. Slutty. That wasn’t who I was.... Or was it?

I felt a rush of panic as he began to sodomize me with it, but he went slowly, giving me plenty of time to adjust until I could take several inches into my bottom. He was obviously experienced, and it showed. He kept me right on the edge where my excitement overwhelmed my discomfort, but just barely.

Slowly, he began thrusting his penis into me again. There were points when both his cock and the dildo were deep inside me, when I felt so full I might burst.

"Do you like this?" he asked.

"Yes," I grunted. And I did. I imagined myself as one of those porn chicks – and yes, I occasionally watch it – double-penetrated by two hung studs, helpless to resist, completely in their power. My feelings frightened me, but it was like my body was on automatic pilot, my nipples almost painfully swollen, my clit as well, my hips thrusting back against those two invading phalluses.

Then Greg decided it was time for the next step. I gasped as he showed me what he planned to use on me next, a thick butt plug the size of a plum.

"I can't take that," I whined, though I hoped he’d prove me wrong.

"Just relax."

He withdrew his cock and then slowly pulled out the dildo.

"Rub your clit," he commanded.

I wanted the release. As I did what he asked, he pressed his middle finger deep into my ass. Having adjusted to the dildo, this was actually more comfortable, pleasant actually. He pumped his finger in and out of my butt, and I found myself actually enjoying the physical sensation rather than just being turned on by the situation.

"Make yourself cum," he ordered.

I rubbed my clit faster, and he finger fucked my ass in time. I came with a series of soft mewls and as I did, he pressed a second finger into me.

"It's too much, too much," I whined.

But he was insistent, pumping his two fingers in and out, and then twisting them side-to-side. And then without warning, he pulled out his digits, and I could feel the well-lubed butt plug pressing insistently at my anus, stretching me more than I thought possible, to the point that I was sure I was about to tear.

I squealed in pain, and as I did, the plug slipped inside me and my ass closed on the slimmer stem.

I was sweating and gasping, my whole body shaking. The feeling was like nothing I'd ever experienced. It wasn't pleasant, but not really unpleasant either. But it was different, very different, and there was something about pushing my boundaries that was a real turn-on.

I looked up to see Greg standing now naked before me, his hard slimy dick in my face. He grabbed a handful of my hair and pressed my mouth to his prick. And now I was in another until recently unthinkable scene, naked, on my hands and knees, a huge butt plug up my ass, slobbering on a massive tool. As I sucked him off, he roughly kneaded my dangling breasts, pinching my nipples between his thumb and forefinger.

"Fuck, that's good," he moaned.

I knew he was close, so I swallowed him deep. I had worked up to taking half his cock into my mouth, and when I did, I felt the now familiar swell and pulse as he filled my mouth and throat with jism.

When he came, some of the frantic energy of the session dissipated. He pressed me down flat on my belly and straddled me on the bed. He started rubbing my neck, his strong hands squeezing the tension out of my muscles. It was frightening how well he seemed to know my body. I couldn't help but wonder what he could do with me when he really got to know me. He massaged me up and down, relaxing me as much as possible given that my ass was still being stretched out by the butt plug.

Then after several minutes, he shifted downward. He rubbed my ass cheeks, squeezing them, complimenting their firmness. He slid a hand between my legs, and gently fingered my pussy until I was moaning with delight. Then I felt him begin to play with the plug, pulling back on it until I whimpered and then letting it slide back in. Over and over he did that, each time, pulling it a little further out, each time opening my ass up a little wider.

Then suddenly, the plug slipped out with an audible plop, and before I could respond he pressed it back in. He fucked my ass with the butt plug like that for several minutes. Then I felt him shift slightly, and the next time the plug slipped out, he quickly replaced it with the tip of his prick.

I gasped. His cock was no larger than the plug, and it was softer, warmer, more pleasant, but it also didn't have that slimmer stem, so as he entered me there was no moment of relaxation, of relief. Instead, I was stretched, fully stretched open, continuously stretched open as he slowly began pumping back and forth. It was... amazing.

"I knew you could do it," he moaned. "Do you like it?"

"I don't know," I moaned hoarsely, honestly.

"Well, I do," he continued. "God, you have a beautiful ass. I could do this forever."

He sodomized me carefully, gently, slowly filling me ever deeper. I could tell he loved it, and his pleasure was undeniably exciting.

The sensation was completely overwhelming. After a few minutes, when he almost fully inside me, it was all I could think about. My entire consciousness was focused on the feel of his hard, thick member stretching my ass, filling me more completely than anything I'd ever experienced. It was that which scared me more than anything. His ability to drive everything but him... and his prick... from my mind.

I don't know how long it went on. A long time. He came inside me, a sudden hot rush in an unexpected place. When he finally pulled out, I was able to take stock of my condition. I was shaking and drenched with sweat. Even though he'd pulled out, I could still feel him inside me, my butt throbbing.

He pulled a blanket over me and snuggled up close. He kissed my neck tenderly.

"You did beautifully," he complimented me.

"Thank you," I groaned softly, pleased that I had pleased him, and closed my eyes.

He woke me after a short while.

"Come on, Red, let's get cleaned up."

He led me into the bathroom. I was shaky, dazed, almost in shock. Greg made the shower real hot, and we stepped in together. He washed me gently, the water coursing over body, and the steam filling my lungs. We kissed, passionately, just slowly exploring each other's bodies. After a while, he broke the embrace and stepped out of the shower, leaving me to continue relaxing in peace.

When I stepped out, I noticed he'd left me a warm, fluffy towel and bathrobe, and also thoughtfully left me a hair dryer.

I dried myself off and fixed my hair and then stepped out in the cool of his bedroom.

Greg was waiting for me. Before I could say anything he reached up and placed a blindfold over my eyes. He then slid the robe off my shoulders and onto the floor. He took my wrists and wrapped them with some sort of fur-lined cuffs. Then he walked me over toward a corner of the room, and lifted my arms in the air. There was a soft clicking sound, and before I knew it, I was bound with my hands above my head. I tugged on the cuffs, but despite their softness, they were sturdy. There was another clicking sound, and I felt my arms pulled upward, until I was standing perfectly straight, my feet just barely on the ground.

"What are you doing?" I asked, sort of amused.

He didn't answer. Instead, when I next tried to speak, he quickly pressed a ball gag into my mouth, which he fastened firmly around my neck.

"Greg, stop!" I tried to say. But what came out was more like, Mrrhhmm, muhmm.

He chuckled softly. Then I felt something hard poking at my leg.

"Do you know what that is?" He asked.

I shook my head no.

"It's a riding crop." He paused to let that sink in.

I felt him slide the hard leather over my belly and across my nipples. I gasped, or would have if I could with the ball gag in my mouth. My stomach did a flip.

"Have you ever been disciplined?" He asked rapping my butt cheek gently with the crop.

My heart pounded in my chest. I shook my head no.

"I didn't think so. With that creamy white skin, the marks would be there forever."

He pressed the crop between my legs, up between my labia and slide it back and forth against my clit.

"Maybe we'll play with this a little later."

And then he was gone. I heard him walk away and go down the stairs. From below, I heard him turn on some music, though I couldn't make it out through the floor, feeling as much as hearing the bass line only.

I began to panic a little. What did I really know about Greg? And now, here I was, trapped in his house, strung up. He'd already sodomized me, consensually yes, but still an extreme act. He'd hinted at sharing me with a bunch of strangers. Suggested he would whip with me a riding crop. We didn't even have a safe word, not that it would have mattered since I was thoroughly gagged.

For not the first time, I had the opportunity to think about the past several days, my choices and my life.

And then it hit me. The notion that I had to submit to Greg to find out if I wanted to be with him was bullshit. I knew I didn't want to be with him. I knew I wanted to be back with Dave.

I was here, in this position, not because I wanted to make a choice, but simply because I wanted the experience, the experience of being well and thoroughly fucked with no limits and no boundaries. Just pure selfish pursuit of pleasure.

Whether it was due to the somewhat confused view of sex I inherited from my mother or my own lack of sexual experience, I'd been having trouble making sense of my feelings. I was looking for an existential crisis to justify myself, but really, I was just horny and curious, and for the first time really exploring my sexual horizons. And oddly enough, that final realization, as pathetic and immoral as it was, set me free from all the angst that had been tearing at me for weeks.

I was being selfish and cruel. Yeah, my background primed me for this moment. But it was what it was. And I just had to own it, try ultimately to make amends, and accept the consequences of my actions.

I shook my head, and would have laughed if I hadn't been gagged. And then I waited.

I heard some movement from downstairs. Voices maybe? Then footsteps coming up the stairs and down the hall. From behind me I could hear someone breathing.

"Greg, is that you?" Mrhruf ruf ra ru?

No answer. I could sense the person approaching. The hair on the back of my neck stood up, I shivered involuntarily. I heard clothes being shed, fabric shifting, a zipper opening.

Though I was expecting it, I was still startled when he touched me, reaching around me and fondling my breasts. They were a man's hands. Strong, like Greg's, but rougher maybe? I couldn't be sure. My senses were heightened, but different.

While one hand pinched my nipples, the other slid down over my belly and down between my legs. His finger probed insistently at my sex, spreading my labia, seeking the warmth and dampness inside. And I was damp. More than that. Wet. My thighs sticky.

The man was pressed up against me from behind. He didn't feel as tall as Greg, but then again I was stretched out to the ceiling. I felt a rapidly hardening cock begin to rub against my ass.

He was now fondling between my legs with both hands, one from the front the other from the back. A finger slid into my pussy from behind, while another pressed against my clit. I was squirming side-to-side, back and forth, at least as far as I could strung up as I was. It felt good, naughty and exciting.

The man sighed, and there was something in the tone that struck me a wholly unfamiliar. I gasped and a wave of panic rushed through me. This was the beginning of the gangbang Greg had suggested. Were there more voices downstairs now? How many men had he brought? Was I hoping it was more or fewer.

I tried to free myself from the cuffs, but it was no use.

"No stop!" I shouted. Ro rhrup.

But to no avail. And anyway, I didn't want it to stop; I was perversely grateful that the gag prevented me from objecting effectively. The man stepped in close and grabbed me around the waist, pulling me back into him. His cock was now between my legs, pumping to get inside me. There was no escape, and then with a rough thrust and a satisfied gasp he penetrated my willing cunt.

His dick felt huge, like Greg's, but with my legs together any cock would likely feel big. As he thrust inside me, it didn't feel as long as Greg's, but then again we'd never had sex standing straight up either.

My analytical mind tried to take over. What were my options? How could I get out of this? But working against that was the insistent thrusting inside me. I know some women get bored during sex, their minds wanders, they make grocery lists, think about work, plan their next manicures. I can't do that. When there is a dick sawing inside me, it soon becomes all I can think of. And this was the case now as well.

He reached around and played with my clit, two fingers making hard circles. Normally it would be too much, too rough, but with this man, whoever he really was, it felt just right. I groaned into the gag. Spit ran down my chin. And then I came explosively.

Before long the man finished inside me with a series of shivers and grunts. And then he was gone. I expected another visitor immediately. But none came at first. Instead, I was there alone, straining to make out sounds from downstairs, feeling cum dripping from my pussy and down my leg, even as my hands began to tingle and my muscles begin to ache.

I have no idea how long I hung there. A half hour? An hour? More? It wasn't quite sensory deprivation. My aching muscles, throbbing butt, the feel of sticky and cold jism on my inner thighs, drool dripping off my chin, served as a constant reminder of what I had been doing and probably what I still had ahead of me.

Then there were footsteps coming down the hall and into the room. I tensed, expecting another set of rough hands on my body, being penetrated by another strange cock. It was scary. I had no control at all over my situation. I was completely at the mercy of whatever would come next. It was frightening and... well... oddly exciting.

The man... or was it a woman this time... seemed to be able to read my mind, and let the moment linger. I thought about the riding crop. Was that what was coming next? I shivered, my stomach doing a flip.

Then, just as I was about to burst from anticipation, I felt the tension on my arms diminish. The cuffs were unhooked from over my head, and then snapped together behind my back. Strong hands pushed me firmly down to my knees, and then as one hand grabbed a handful of my hair, the other removed the ball gag.

"Greg is that you?" I asked desperately.

But the only answer I received was a turgid cock pressing insistently against my lips. It was big. It had to be Greg, unless he somehow had access to an endless supply of abnormally well-hung men. He pulled me forward, off-balance, and with my hands bound behind me, I was helpless to prevent him from thrusting deep into mouth. He fucked my face roughly, pushing his cock into my mouth deep until I gagged, over and over. I must have been a mess, gasping for breath, slobber dripping from my mouth, my eyes tearing up. But I took it, forcing myself to relax as best as I could, allowing him to thrust deeper than I'd thought possible. Deeper than I'd ever been able to take Greg before. I could hear him moaning softly, obviously relishing the feel of it.

Then, again without warning, he lifted me by my hair to my feet and roughly pushed me forward until I collided with the bed and fell face down onto the mattress. He replaced the ball gag in my mouth, and then entered me from behind, roughly hammering my pussy with deep, hard strokes that quickly kindled my excitement. Being gagged, I had no need for restraint. I screamed in pleasure, the emotional release just overwhelming.

I heard him chuckle. It sounded like Greg, and as relief flooded through me, all the built up tension from the past hours burst out of me. I came hard, spasming uncontrollably, bucking like a bronco, screeching into the ball gag. It went on and on, wave after wave of excitement wracking my body. And when I finally finished, my entire body felt sore, tired, drained.

But he wasn't done, and as he enjoyed me, he moaned softly, and again suddenly I was struck with the sensation that this was a stranger after all. It is not like I was so experienced with Greg that I could recognize his every sound. I just couldn't be sure.

The man continued to screw my pussy for a while, and then he pulled out and pressed his slimy cock against my anus. A quick thrust and he was inside me. I squealed again into the ball gag. I felt stretched to the limit, but this time I knew I could take it. He seemed to know it as well. He sodomized me roughly, a long, hard relentless buttfucking. After a few minutes, he began adding to the experience by slapping my ass, gently at first, then increasingly firmly, until my butt cheeks felt like they were aflame.

Then he came, filling my ass with another load of jism.

The man left me there, still bound and gagged face down on the bed, every orifice aching. My mouth was sore from his cock and the gag, my pussy raw from being fucked so hard, and my ass, throbbing and leaking come.

It was another couple of minutes before I heard another set of footsteps, and felt another man touching me. He was gentle and tender. He removed the ball gag and kissed my cheek. He removed the cuffs and massaged the soreness out of my arms and shoulders. He got a warm washcloth and cleaned me up. And then finally, he removed the blindfold, and kissed me gently.

He looked at me expectantly.

"That was amazing Greg," I gushed. It had been a real once-in-a-lifetime experience. And then I continued, "Now, please drive me home."

For a moment he was surprised. Then maybe a touch crestfallen. And then he recomposed his handsome face into a serene smile.

"Anything you say, Red."

He drove my car home and then took a cab back to his place. It was nearly midnight when I got back. I'd been at Greg's for nearly ten hours altogether. I barely had the strength to climb into bed, and once there I collapsed in a dead sleep for the next ten hours.

CHAPTER SEVEN

I woke up the next morning feeling placid for the first time in months. There was something about having let myself go, completely and fully, that apparently liberated me from the emotional turmoil that had been roiling inside me ever since I had first met Greg.

And there was also clarity. I wasn't cut out for pursuing mindless passion. It left me anxious and drained. I was tired of hurting Dave. Tired of letting my animal instincts drive my behavior. Tired of the guilt.

Many addicts come to this point in their disease where they realize, finally, what they are throwing away by continuing. I was at a crossroads. Allow myself to be a sex-addicted junkie, or get healthy. And like an addict, I knew that getting straight would be difficult. I'd hurt Dave so badly that I wasn't sure I could fix things. But I knew I wanted to try.

I called Dave, but he didn't pick up. So I slowly made my way to my office. Greg dropped by. Still handsome, still charming, still obviously interested. And yet, there was nothing there. Well, not quite nothing. I couldn't deny that he had given me some very, very pleasurable and different experiences. But I'd stepped back across some sort of boundary.

He apparently sensed it right away.

"What's the matter, Red? Did I do something wrong?"

For a moment, my emotions flared. I wanted to shout back, Yes, you asshole. You took advantage of me, of my vulnerabilities. You knew I was married, but you couldn't resist turning me into your fuck slut.

But that was wrong too. It was my choice to let him into my life. To transgress. He used me, yes. But I used him too.

"No," I said softly. "We had fun. Now it's over."

"Oh come on Red. It can be like last night all the time."

I shook my head slightly.

"I don't mean the cuffs and that shit," he continued. "Though you did enjoy that." I smiled in confirmation. "I mean the passion. The excitement. You can't put the toothpaste back in the tube. You know you want this."

"Greg, God, I don't know how to explain this. Yeah. It was good. I'll be, um, thinking about it for a long, long time. Great memories. But it has to be just that. That isn't me, or, well, not the whole me. It isn't that I don't want the crazy, it's just that I am not willing to give up what I would need to give up in order to have it."

"Oh, so this is about your husband?"

"Yes."

He sighed. "Red, I can give you everything he can. And more."

"No, actually, you can't. You just can't. And really I doubt you'd want to. Look, maybe we both got carried away. But now, you need to go back to your life. You're constantly on the road, and you know you like the chase. You're too good at it not to. And I need to go back to being, well, normal. A good wife, maybe a good mother."

"You're wrong. I could settle down," he countered. I shook my head. "And anyway, what makes you think you can go back? Where is your husband anyway? Did you tell him you were with me again last night?"

"No, and I'd appreciate it if we kept that between us. You need to let me try to fix things with him. And if I can't," I choked back a sob, "then I'll cross that bridge."

"I'll be waiting."

I smiled. I knew he wouldn't. Realistically, a week after landing in San Diego he'd already be working his way into another woman's pants. That is, if he didn't end up screwing a stewardess on the flight across the country.

"I'll keep that in mind."

He turned to leave.

"And Greg?" He turned back. "One thing. Was that you last night? The whole time?"

He grinned and paused. After a long while, he replied, "I think that will be my little secret."

I kept trying Dave's cell. I emailed him. I realized there was good chance he'd never want to see me or speak to me again. I couldn't blame him really. But I wanted at least the chance to explain, to plead my case. I knew that sooner or later he'd have to return at least to get his stuff and I'd have the chance to talk to him then, but I was hoping it would be sooner rather than later.

And then there he was. Just before lunch he appeared in my office. I've always been able to read Dave pretty well. But not this time. His face was blank. He approached me. I tensed, thinking for a moment that he might strike me. But he didn't.

He kissed me on the forehead. "It's going to be okay."

A warm feeling spread across my chest.

"But you can't see him anymore."

"I know," I replied. But that wasn't quite right. I would see him again. I'd see him in the office. I'd see him on business trips. Heck, there was a going away party planned for him that evening that I really should attend. The situation could not be resolved by simply avoiding Greg. The issue was being able to be around him for business without letting things get personal. In other words, back to normal.

Dave saw me hesitate. "Say it," he said.

I explained about the party that evening. Dave eyed me suspiciously.

"Just don't fuck him," he replied.

That took me aback. "I'll, I'll..."

"Try?" he cut me off. "Yes, try."

He kissed me again and turned and left.

I worked through the afternoon.

Just before 5:00 my email tickler buzzed and reminded me of the party. I figured I'd drop by just to make an appearance. But it's funny. The closer I got to the conference room, the less I wanted to go in. When I got there and saw people already gathered, drinking wine, I realized that wasn't where I wanted to be. I walked past the party and to the elevators, down to the garage, and started to go home. Traffic was a nightmare, as usual. But I got home at a reasonable time.

Dave was waiting for me. When I walked in, I saw relief flash across his face. I went to him. We kissed. Hard. God it felt so good to be back in his arms. So good to feel that he still wanted me.

I'd been dreading how hard it would be to rebuild my marriage. The work it would take. The pain we'd go through. I'd been thinking of how distant and resentful Dave had been over the weekend. And while I was committed to trying to make things right, I was daunted by the prospect. But right then, kissing Dave, feeling his passion made me realize it would all work out. It would be okay, just like he said.

Dave brought me out of my introspection by tearing my panties off me. I gasped in pain and surprise. Then I gasped again as he roughly shoved a finger into my pussy. He'd never treated me like this. And I liked it.

He must have felt my excitement because he roughly shoved me down onto the sofa. We fumbled with his belt, and then suddenly he lunged forward and shoved his prick inside me. We didn't make love. We fucked. Hard and fast. I could feel him getting close, and that was enough to push me over the edge. We came together, gasping, kissing, moaning.

There are a lot of people who, I'm sure, would hate me for what happened if they knew about it. Who think women who cheat should be permanently branded with a scarlet letter. Who think I got off easy. And yeah, I did. Dave took me back. I'm not sure I could have done the same.

Does that make him weak, a doormat who lets his wife get fucked like a slut and do nothing about it? Or does it make him strong, a man confident enough to forgive his wife's terrible mistake? I don't know, and I don't care. All I know is that being with him is what I want, and I'm grateful that he made it possible.

But it's not as if bygones are simply bygones. We're rebuilding our marriage, but we won't ever have what we had. I know that, and I know it is my fault. The worst is when I have to travel for business or work late, and despite his reassuring words, I can see it in his eyes that Dave suspects I may be cheating again. It makes me want to cry and take him and hold him. But I don't. Neither of us acknowledge it. I think we just don't want to reopen old wounds. And in a way, while I wish I could heal Dave fully, his pain, and my pain at his pain, is also a reminder, a warning of how close I came to losing it all.

I'm off the pill now, and Dave and I are trying to start a family, and when that happens I'm sure this episode will recede even further into the hazy past.

But I do still think of Greg. He kept in touch for a while. And we even had dinner – with two other people – when I was in California for business. But I'm not tempted. I still think of him, though. Sometimes in my dreams. And sometimes when I am awake as well. I'll touch myself thinking of his body and the things he did to me. In the shower, I'll soap myself up and press a finger into my butt, and rub my clit until I get lightheaded thinking of being tied up, sodomized, of being given to strange men.

Is that something good wives do? I suspect they do more often than anyone thinks or wants to admit.

Book Three: Greg's Gamble

CHAPTER ONE

Look, I know I am not a sympathetic person. No one is going to feel sorry for me. I'm a genetic lottery winner. My parents were loaded. I have brains and a look that women seem to love. I'm also hung. It shouldn't matter. It doesn't really. Except it does.

I've always had it easy with girls. I was still a teen when I was seduced by my English teacher, Mrs. Boyer. I guess she abused me. I didn't mind. She was blond, with thick glasses, a soft body, and great tits. I knew better than to brag about it. Instead, I just enjoyed months of after-school "tutoring." She was, as they say, very giving, a wonderful teacher.

It gave me a boost of confidence that, truth be told, I probably didn't need. I cut a swath through high school after that. Girls say a big cock doesn't make a difference, but even still, every girl seems to want to confirm it for herself. It was an early pattern. I'd hook up with a girl. She'd blab, and before long I was fielding offers from all her girlfriends. Lots of drama. Worth every minute of it.

I don't know how many women I've had. A few hundred at least. And again, I'm not looking for sympathy, but the truth is, none of them have meant anything to me, nor me to them. Just sport fucking.

A lot of people consider that sad. I guess in a way it is. A forty-one-year-old man living fling to fling.

I've never made long-term plans with a woman. I've never really pictured any of them being around in six months, much less a lifetime. Friends and family kept telling me to grow up, or alternatively assured me that at some point, whether I realized it or not, I would want to "settle down."

Maybe. Or maybe I'm one of those "sex addicts." I'm not sure what that really means. It's not like I get the shakes if I'm without pussy for a few weeks... not that that happens very often. But if it does, I'm fine with it. I don't need sex with a new woman every fortnight. I just really enjoy it.

There is nothing, nothing, like the sensation of going balls deep into a new piece of ass. I know that sounds crude, but it is a crude sentiment. I could sanitize it. I could say that I really love falling in love, the allure of a getting to know a new, lively, exciting woman. But that wouldn't really capture the sensation for me. For me, the thrill is physical. Tactile.

It is one of those few things in life where the realization lives up to the hype. Sure, I do also enjoy the chase. Subtle gazes. Flirty conversations. The way a woman will lick her lips and play with her hair. Excuses to be together. Planned assignations. Feeling her tremble as my hand grazes her thigh. The taste of her lips. The aroma of her perfume. Her sounds, those delicate moans, soft gasps, as clothes come off, as we explore each other's bodies. All a buildup to that moment.

But what it always comes down to is that crowning glory, the sensation of a new woman's pussy stretching around my prick as I enter her. Feeling her shudder. Hearing her moans.

Of course, it isn't all physical. Novelty matters. After a few months her pussy might still feel equally delightful, but it just isn't the same. It isn't new.

I also – I hate to admit – like that sensation of getting away with something. Maybe that's a legacy of Mrs. Boyer, her lasting imprint on me. I mean, I knew what we were doing was wrong. Somehow that made it all the better. I have a bad habit of seeking out inappropriate relationships. I've dipping my pen in the company ink all too often. I can't help myself. It is just sooo delicious. And while I'm pretty good about the "bro code," I have to admit I tend to apply a narrow interpretation. If she's actively dating a close friend, she's off limits. But the day they break up... or even, sometimes, when they're just thinking about it... well, then it is good to go. Why? Because I know that we'll have to keep it secret, and that will make it all the more exciting.

I guess it probably goes without saying that I've never considered married women to be off-limits. That would be true even if three of the hottest relationships I've had weren't with married women, but they were. The first was Mrs. Boyer, of course. The second was a wild ride, a crazy night that is still my go-to memory in my spank bank... well, after my teacher. The third.... The third was hard. I won't say she broke my heart. We weren't together long enough for that. But she was the only woman I really regret losing. She's the "one that got away," and the one who came closest to changing who I am. And maybe, now that I think about it, she did.

CHAPTER TWO

Cassidy Sinclair. I only knew her name because it was printed in rich, dark script on the placard beside the ballroom at the Four Seasons. I had peeked inside at the glitzy, black tie wedding, a whole expanse of white tables, oversized floral arrangements, and probably three hundred people dancing and drinking to an impressively rocking swing band.

Had I brought my tux, I might have tried to crash the party. Weddings are always fun, and a target-rich environment. But, of course, I hadn't thought to bring formal attire since I was attending a conference on the tax consequence of public-private infrastructure initiatives. With the main sessions finished, I was meeting up with a few former colleagues at the hotel bar, which sadly turned out to be a target-poor environment. Worse, my colleagues seemed to feel that the best use of their time was to talk business. I drank to drown them out.

When they finally decided to call it a night, I was pretty buzzed. Buzzed enough that it seemed like a good idea to have just one more before bed. I ordered a top-shelf single malt and slowly swirled it in my glass to relish the spicy, sweet aroma. I took a sip, feeling the heat on the throat, the finish, smoky and lush. Before I could down it, there was a commotion in the bar as the oversized bridal party, nearly two-dozen young, beautiful, and very drunk people staggered in.

At the center of the group was the gorgeous Cassidy Sinclair, well now, Cassidy Morgan. No longer in her wedding gown, but still dressed in white, a lacy, flouncy, ball gown, showing off a generous expanse of creamy cleavage. Three sheets to the wind, she was glorious, her full lips glistening with dark red lip gloss, her cheeks rosy, pale blue eyes smiling under long, luxurious eyelashes.

They commandeered a corner of the bar and ordered bottles of champagne. Loud and raucous they largely cleared the place out. I stuck around. Although I'd have loved to nail Cassidy, my thoughts were going more to the several bridesmaids, all hot in their own way, although none of them close in allure to the bride.

Cassidy's husband was looking a little worse for the wear. He was a good looking kid, blond, broad shouldered and preppy, but he was teetering on the edge of bombed when he walked in, and I had the feeling, looking at his ruddy complexion and glassy eyes, that he was more likely to spend the night praying to the porcelain god than giving his hot, new bride the fucking she so richly deserved.

Was I thinking already about taking his place? Not thinking about it, really, but I have to admit I didn't stop myself from fantasizing about how nice the new Mrs. Morgan would look on her knees sucking my crank. But it was just that, a little fantasy, not anything I'd act on.

But then sometimes fate lobs you a softball, and you can't help but take a swing at it.

After a few more drinks, hubby was beginning to look even more peaked, at which point, Cassidy seemed to realize her wedding night bliss was in jeopardy if she didn't act quickly. Accompanied by a lot of hoots, she tugged at her husband.

"Come on, big boy," she cooed.

"She can't wait for it!" cried one of the bridesmaids.

"Little slut," teased another.

Hubby gave what I think he thought was a cocky grin, though with a droopy eyelid and disheveled hair, he was far from debonair at the moment. He gulped down his glass of champagne and rose uneasily. The two of them made their goodbyes and staggered from the bar.

Much to my chagrin, when the happy couple departed, so did, soon after, most of the rest of the party, including, as far as I could tell, all of the unattached girls. Groaning, I finished up my drink and headed upstairs.

I exited the elevator and turned toward my room. As I entered the long hallways, I saw them. Hubby on the floor, moaning pitifully, and Cassidy tugging at his arm and trying to help him to his feet. That last glass of bubbly was obviously the final straw that put him on his ass.

"Here, let me help you," I offered, reaching for his other arm.

She looked vaguely mortified.

"It's okay," I reassured her. "It's a tradition for the groom to get bombed."

She giggled. "I thought there was a different wedding night tradition." She blushed deeply as she realized that might seem like a come on. She tried to recover. "I... I didn't." Another tipsy giggle.

I laughed. “Don’t worry. You’re both young. All he needs is a little splash of water on his face and he’ll perk right up.”

“He better.” Another giggle.

I gave her smile and lifted him from the floor. He was still moaning, head lolling, eyes completely unfocused. A little water wasn’t going to be enough. Heck, a fire hose wouldn’t have been enough.

We more or less carried him the rest of the hallway and into the bridal suite. There were flowers everywhere, a bottle of champagne on ice, and a gorgeous view of the city through a wall of windows. It would have been perfect had he been carrying her across the threshold, instead of us dragging him.

“Um, where do you want him?”

“I guess on the bed,” she sighed.

We deposited him face first, and as she took off his shoes, I turned his head to the side to make sure he didn’t drown in a pool of his own puke. By the time that was done, he was snoring like a racehorse.

I turned back toward Cassidy. She rolled her eyes at me.

I shrugged. “You have your whole lives ahead of you,” I suggested reassuringly as I followed her back into the living room, my eyes inevitably drawn to her tight, little ass.

She laughed ruefully. “Not exactly the way I expected my wedding night to go.”

“I think he just needs a little time to sleep it off. Want to go back downstairs and I’ll buy you a drink?”

She hesitated a moment. “Or we could just pop open that bottle over there,” she replied, nodding toward the chilled champagne.

I held her gaze long enough to gauge her intention. She didn’t back down. I felt my cock twitch.

“Sure,” I replied.

I walked over to the ice bucket. Our eyes still locked, I removed the foil and popped off the cork. She jolted at the sounds and looked over her shoulder toward the bedroom.

“I doubt that will be enough to wake him up,” I said.

She looked back at me, her smile now conspiratorial. “No, I don’t think anything we could do would rouse him.”

I guess this is the point where most men would feel a twinge of conscience. No matter how hot a woman is, there is surely something sleazy about thinking about banging a man's new bride, on their wedding night, with him passed out just a few feet away. But then again, that was his problem, not mine. She was tipsy, but not hammered. She'd tried to get her hubby upstairs in time for some fun, but he hadn't known his limits.

I poured two glasses and approached her. Her eyes sparkled. She brushed a loose strand of hair off her face. We clinked glasses and drank deeply.

"Well, at least you get to wear white for one more day," I teased.

She smirked. "But I was so looking forward to becoming a woman."

I chuckled knowingly. There was no way she was a virgin. No. I could see it in her gaze. She knew her way around a cock. She had experienced more than a few.

"Well, maybe I could help you with that."

Her eyes went wide. Scandalized. But her lips remained curled in a saucy smile.

"But my husband is in the next room!"

Dirty girl. The thought turned her on, too. Or maybe she just liked the idea of getting in a little revenge on him for passing out.

I edged in closer, though remaining just outside her personal space. She sucked in her breath.

I reached out toward her. She shivered, her cheeks reddening. But I didn't seize her. Not yet. I took her glass, letting my hand graze against hers as I did. She flinched, but didn't back away. Instead, she lifted her chin and thrust out her chest. I let my gaze drift into her cleavage and then back up again. She watched me frankly.

I slowly placed the flutes on the table, and then turned again toward her. I'd given her ample opportunity to back out, but she was still eyeing me eagerly. I stepped in close again, this time crossing that invisible boundary of decorum. I felt her body move toward me as well, as if under the effect of gravity, though there was still no contact, just a thin gap of charged air between us.

I always love that moment. Just before first contact. That sense of excitement, anticipation. It only lasts a second.

Our bodies came together. Her big tits mashed against my chest. I wrapped my arms around her and pressed my lips to hers. Her body seemed to melt into me, her mouth opened, her tongue flicked out to tease mine. I could taste the champagne on her breath, but also her excitement, hot and wet as she gasped into my open mouth.

I wanted to savor her, enjoy every last inch of her lusciousness, but that would have to come later. She'd worked herself up to this. She'd been thinking about it from the moment I approach them in the hallways. There'd be time for exploration later. But for now, she just wanted to get fucked, hard and fast.

As if to confirm my assessment, her hand slid between us and roughly clawed at my crotch. She stroked me through my pants, moaning enthusiastically as she did.

I took her shoulders and spun her around, bending her over the back of the sofa. She reached down and lifted up her dress, exposing her long, creamy, stocking-clad legs. She was wearing a white lace garter belt and sexy, matching, thong panties that glistened wetly, becoming translucent, exposing her shaved, pink pussy. I unzipped my pants. She pulled her thong aside, sliding a manicured finger into her wet twat.

I stepped in close and thrust inside her. Her hot, wet, velvety snatch swallowed me whole.

She threw her head back and gasped in passion. I grabbed her hips and pounded into her hard. She didn't just take it like a pro, she gave as good as she got, her ass thrusting back against me to meet me on each stroke. Just raw, animal passion. The slap, slap, slap of our bodies, the sound of my prick squishing deep into her soaked cunt, her increasingly high-pitched squeals, getting louder and louder, until with a sudden, shuddering gasp, I felt her tight, little hole squeezing my prick rhythmically.

"Oh God, oh fuck!" she hissed.

She pulled away from me, and I felt my prick slide from her warm embrace. But before I could complain, she quickly and gracefully spun and dropped to her knees, taking my slimy cock deep into her mouth. And then deeper still. I felt her throat open up to admit my prick. She looked up at me and I almost lost it. Those pale blue eyes, those plump lips stretched around the base of my cock.

"You've done this before," I deadpanned.

She slowly, slowly lifted off my prick. Her tongue swirling around the head.

“Fuck, you have a nice cock,” she cooed. “Go ahead and come in my mouth.”

“Don’t worry Doll, I will. But I’m not done with you. Not even close.”

“Oh?”

She swallowed me again and bobbed up and down on my shaft. She pulled off again.

“Is that so?” she asked.

“Yeah. How about you lose the dress.”

“What if I say no?”

“You won’t.”

She laughed. “You’re right.”

She stood and confidently peeled her gown off her shoulders. With a shrug, it slid down, revealing a matching, demi-cup, strapless bra that was barely up to the task of containing her big tits.

“Fuck, you’re a piece of ass,” I groaned.

“You’re a real charmer,” she snarked. But I could tell she liked my approach.

“Show me your tits.”

She didn’t even try to fake indignation this time. She wanted me to see them.

The moment her bra came off I could see why. They were perfect. Big, natural teardrops, crowned by stiff, little raspberry nubs. I reached out and cupped them, relishing their weight, circling her areolas with my thumbs. For several long moments, I couldn’t tear my eyes away, and when I finally looked up, she was grinning proudly. She was hot shit and she knew it, and she liked the effect she had on men. With those blue eyes and angelic face, she’d probably had men wrapped around her finger from the time she was a toddler. Giving her a body like that was almost unfair. Impossible to resist. I had a feeling that even if hubby woke up to see me fucking her, he’d just shrug and accept it rather than let her go.

I reached down and grabbed hold of her panties. With a firm yank, I tore them off her. She yelped, but excitement flashed in her eyes. I looked down at her pretty, little pink pussy, wet and swollen, pulsing with excitement.

“Play with your twat,” I ordered.

She didn’t hesitate. She spread herself open with one hand and flicked at her clit with the other. I unbuttoned and removed my shirt, and then dropped and stepped out of my pants. I liked the way she looked me over, her gaze returning again and again to my hard cock, still glistening with her spit.

I like playing with women, messing with their expectations, putting them off balance. They like it too. No matter what women say, the worst thing you can be in bed is boring or predictable. But at that moment, I was willing to risk it because I wanted nothing more than to again bury my prick deep into her juicy cunt.

I grabbed her around her tiny waist and lifted her off the ground. She growled enthusiastically and wrapped her legs around my torso, her arms around my neck. Roughly I impaled her wet snatch on my prick and immediately began bouncing her up and down on my shaft. My hands slid down under her hard ass and I pulled apart her cheeks. I wished I had a camera so I could film it.

She was grunting and wheezing in my ear.

“Does your husband fuck you like this?”

“No,” she gasped. “God, no. I wish.”

I wondered if I could make her leave him. If I could fuck away her still-new commitment to her man. It was an unaccountably exciting thought. Wrong, horrible. And yet, what greater victory could there be?

It was just a passing thought, gone in an instant, washed away by her writhing, gasping, exuberance. She was an animal, thrusting against me even as I bounced her up and down.

“Tell me you love it.”

“Oh fuck yeah! Fuck yeah. I love your big cock,” she enthused.

“Fuck, I’m coming again.”

Her pussy gushed wetly as it again clenched rhythmically on my prick. Damn, she was a juicy thing.

Her second orgasm slowed her down a little. She clung desperately to my neck, gasping in my ear.

“Oh fuck, Baby, give it to me. Come inside me.”

I definitely planned to, but not yet. I wasn't done wearing out her tight, little twat yet. With her still jammed on my prick, I carried her across the room.

"Where are we going?" she asked.

"I thought we should check on your hubby."

She looked back over her shoulder and gasped as she saw I was carrying her into the bedroom.

"No! Are you crazy?"

"You know it turns you on."

She shook her head, but I could feel her pussy fluttering against my shaft.

"No, please."

But we were already in the bedroom, her husband snoring loudly on the bed. She looked over at him anxiously, but she didn't resist as I laid her back down on the bed and pressed her knees to her big tits. Her pussy was drenched, swollen, and already well-fucked, but I was just getting started.

I dropped heavily onto her, folding her in half. I pinned her hands above her head and pounded deep into her. I didn't hold anything back. I just slammed into her again and again. The bed was shaking violently, but still he didn't wake up. She tried to contain herself, but she couldn't and soon her high-pitched squeals filled the room.

Her climax was earth shaking, her eyes wild, her body quivering from head to toe, spittle flying from her lips as she cried out in passion. Seeing her like that, completely overwhelmed, lying next to her passed-out husband was more than I could take.

I pulled out and as she unfolded, I straddled across her waist. She opened her mouth, but I was too crazed to aim. I shot a thick rope across her gorgeous face, another on her throat, and the rest on and between her heaving breasts. Only then did I lean forward and dip my prick into her waiting, willing mouth.

She sucked me with surprising tenderness. I was already thinking about the next round, putting her on her hands and knees, taking her from behind, one hand gripping her long, blond locks, the other pressing down on her lower back, my thumb deep in her ass.

But then he stirred. He didn't quite wake up, but his grunts interrupted his snores, and he ran his hands sleepily through his hair. She stiffened, and suddenly she was in a different place. She let my cock slip from her mouth, and with surprising strength she shoved me off her.

“You have to go.”

It was a little hard taking her seriously. She was naked except for her stockings and garters, her cunt still gaping from the pounding I’d given her, and her chest was covered with my jism.

“Give me your number,” she added conciliatorily.

I did. But even as I was hurriedly dressing I knew she’d never call me.

She was a great fuck. But like all the others, a sport fuck. I can’t say I felt used. Not because I didn’t, but because, saying it would make me an asshole. I’d knocked off a piece of grade-A, newly married ass. It was one of the hottest fucks of my life. But ten minutes after I was done, all I had was the memory.

CHAPTER THREE

It's funny, but Red didn't knock me on my ass when I first saw her. She was all-business. In a power suit, with that long red hair in a bun, and her no nonsense attitude, she didn't seem fun. Not that I didn't notice her. A classically beautiful face, and even in staid business attire she had these amazing curves. But my first thought wasn't, I want to get some of that. It was instead, what a waste.

Still, there was something between us. I kept catching her looking at me, but based on the way she kept her distance, I couldn't be sure whether it was attraction or contempt. I guess I should note that my reputation often precedes me. It's always been a mixed blessing, Women looking for a fling seek me out, those who frown on that sort of thing regard me suspiciously.

I was supposed to be in the New York office for six months. Mostly I was supposed to be retooling their "capture process." That's my job. I go from office to office advising my colleagues on how to best structure their project pitches. Living my life in three to six month increments isn't conducive to relationships, but it does make flings easier, I guess.

I hooked up with Peggy on my second day in the office. She was in marketing, and came on to me shamelessly. A cute little brunette, with a short bob, and big eyes, and a body that would surely turn soft once she got out of her twenties, but for now was deliciously curvy. All tits and ass on a barely five foot package.

"I really want to do what you do," she cooed. "Can I come show you some of my copy?"

"Sure, but I'm in meetings all day."

"I don't mind working late."

That evening, she came into my office and shut the door. She had a folder of printouts, but with three buttons open on her blouse and a ridiculous amount of cleavage on display, she wasn't leaving any room for ambiguity.

I beckoned her over.

"So what do you want to show me?"

She blushed, but didn't back down. She dropped the file folder on my desk, deliberately out of reach. She had a playful smirk on her face, and she was breathing hard, making her big tits swell delightfully. She was wearing a tight, short, plaid skirt. I reached out and brushed the inside of her knee with the back of my hand. She shivered.

"Is there anything you want to show me?" she asked as she licked her lips.

I chuckled. "You seem to have something in mind."

She nodded. "They say you have a great, big cock."

"Who's they?" I asked as I palmed her inner thigh.

"A little birdie told me. So... do you?"

"What would you do if I did?"

She undid another button on her blouse and then reached in and peeled her bra straps off her shoulders. Her tits seemed ready to spill out.

"Does this give you any ideas?"

"Yeah, Baby, it sure does."

Still seated in my desk chair, I slowly unzipped my pants, enjoying her look of anticipation. As I fished out my cock, she licked her lips again. She dropped to her knees and without hesitation sucked me deep into her mouth. I reached into her blouse and unsnapped her bra, freeing those massive tits, pinching her hard nipples as her tongue swirled around my prick.

She was giving and enthusiastic. A good time, especially when she sat in my lap with her heavy tits bouncing in my face as I fucked her wet hole. And best of all, she was always happy to finish me between her big boobs, eagerly drinking down my come.

Peggy was, for lack of a better word, a maintenance fuck. Just a way to keep the plumbing from backing up. She saw me the same way. But I've had enough women that, as fun as Peggy was, she wasn't enough to satisfy my craving for excitement. Happily, Peggy understood.

She was in my bed, having just swallowed another load of my come.

"So who are you going to fuck next?" she asked.

I laughed. "I don't know what you're talking about."

"Fuck you," she chimed. "I see you looking around. So who's it going to be?"

I hesitated.

"Believe me, Greg, I don't have any illusions about you."

I sighed. "Okay. How about... Red."

"Red?"

"Ann... Annie? She's the design lead on that big hydro project."

Peggy laughed. "I doubt you could fit it in with that stick wedged so firmly up her ass."

"Meow."

She shrugged. "She's a bitch."

"Driven."

"Uptight."

"She just needs the right man to loosen her up."

"She's married."

Now it was my turn to shrug.

Peggy laughed. "Right. That's not the sort of thing that would stop you."

She paused and reached under the covers to grip my cock.

"Actually, it probably turns you on. You sick fuck."

She stroked me hard.

"Are you going to cockblock me?"

"Fuck no, Baby. I'd love for you to crack her open. Hell, I'll even give you a hand."

"Oh, how so?"

She just smiled as she threw a leg over me and impaled wet twat on my stiffening prick.

"Trust me."

I'd seen some of this before. I think it is safe to say that women, among themselves, are much more detailed in their description of men than we are of women. And part of that is that women, on the whole, are more generous about sharing with their friends. I've known guys who brag about how hot their girlfriend is in bed, but I haven't come across many who encourage you to knock off a piece to see for yourself. Whereas women, if they see a guy as just a fling, sometimes do. At least that's been my experience.

I'm not quite sure what Peggy was saying about me and to whom, but I noticed the change right away. Hurried glances, giggling, whispered comments. If I were more insecure, it might have made me anxious, but whatever. That's the thing of my job. In a couple of months, I move on.

I'd been spending a lot of time with Red. She was putting together a huge bid, and while I was supposed to be assisting on several projects, this one was obviously the prize. Even if I hadn't had ulterior motives, I'd have spent most of my time working on it.

She was hard to read. I assumed that a woman that pretty must have a lot of experience with men. But she was a real enigma. Blushing when I caught her looking at me, seemingly flustered at even the most chaste flirting. But, by the same token, she never actually shot me down or even discouraged me.

It intrigued me. I'd never seen a woman keep up the blushing schoolgirl number for so long. I put plenty of bait in the water, but she didn't bite. On the other hand, I couldn't miss the way she seemed to want my attention. Dropping by my office when an email would do. The surprising flash of a lace brassiere beneath her oh-so-conservative blue suit. And most of all, the way her eyes seemed to flash at the mention of Peggy.

"Hey, Red, Peg and I are going to meet some folks for drinks. Come on by?"

And it was, oh wow, green-eyed monster time. She did not like Peggy.

"I can't," she said coldly, yet hotly.

I didn't have much of a chance to reflect on it. Red didn't show, but Tina did. The stereotype of accountants is that they're boring. I'd have assumed the same of Tina, a little Vietnamese-American girl from Southern California. The way she downed that first tequila shot caught my attention. The way she grabbed my crotch when she downed the second sealed it.

"Have fun," Peggy chimed as Tina and I headed to the bathroom together.

It was cramped and not very clean, and she didn't mind. Bent over the sink, her skirt pulled up to show off her lower back, tribal tattoo, white panties stretched across her thighs, she held her head up so I could see her pretty face in the mirror as I rammed her tight, little cunt.

Peggy was waiting for us with another round of shots that we downed before heading back to my place. It wasn't my first threesome or, to tell the truth, even my best. Tina and Peggy were both mostly into me, which was nice, but not as hot as when the girls are really worked up for each other. Still, between Peggy's glorious tits and Tina's tight little ass, I had more than enough to keep me occupied.

CHAPTER FOUR

Again, I'm aware of how much of an asshole I sound like when I say this, but dealing with Peggy and Tina was a bit of a chore. I like to think of myself as a pretty virile guy, but getting my work done while finding time for workday quickies with two slutty women wasn't easy. On the other hand, how was I supposed to turn it down?

The "problem" got worse with Elena, our office manager. I can't say I saw that coming. She was blond, tall, and busty, but married and closing on forty. Not really my type. Her chin was a bit squarish, sort of Jennifer Aniston-style, and her body a little soft, sort of what Kate Upton is going to look like in a few years. Now those are two beautiful women, but, well, to be honest, I'm a shallow douche in many ways, although I like to give myself credit for admitting it.

Here's the thing. Men are visual creatures... to a point, because, look, a hot, wet pussy is a hot, wet pussy. And you close your eyes, and the truth is, a lot of stuff that looks good doesn't feel as good, and conversely some things that don't catch your eye are... amazing.

So I had that in mind when she started to get a little flirty with me. I had in mind also the fact that she was married, and as I've mentioned that's a weird turn-on for me. With Cassidy, it was just a bonus. She was hot enough that I'd have happily fucked her even if she were single. But with Tina and Peggy already sucking me dry, I probably wouldn't have gone for Elena if she hadn't unwittingly appealed to my dissolute nature.

Tina had just left my office after enthusiastically twerking on my prick, when Elena came in to see me.

"Haven't you ever heard that you shouldn't shit where you eat?" she asked.

"I don't know what you're talking about," I replied blandly.

"It's not like you and your whores are particularly discreet, even if they weren't going around bragging about it non-stop."

I shrugged. "We're consenting adults."

She snorted. "They're both young enough to be your daughters."

"Only if I'd fathered them when I was in my teens."

“I’m guessing that wasn’t out of the question.”

I laughed. “We’ll be more careful.”

“No you won’t,” she replied. “You like everyone knowing.”

“Why would I?”

Now she shrugged. “Probably because you’re an insecure narcissist.”

That got my attention. I watched her closely. Definitely not a bad looking woman. A bit of that Mrs. Boyer vibe. My prick, still sticky from coming in Tina’s tight cunt, twitched.

“I think you’re jealous.”

She forced a laugh and I noticed her cheeks flush.

“You really think you’re God’s gift, don’t you?”

“I’m willing to let you find out.”

“You’re so generous,” she snarked.

She was trying to convey contempt, but she also wasn’t leaving.

“You’re married,” I noted.

“What’s that have to do with anything?”

“It means you probably shouldn’t be so eager to fuck me.”

“I’m not.” Softer. Less angry. Trying to convince herself.

It would have been easy enough now to seduce her. First let her off the hook. Then come back around and woo her a bit. Help her convince herself that she wasn’t really cheating. Women are guilty creatures. But find a way to ease that guilt and they’re just as horny as men. But I wasn’t interested in a feel-good seduction. I was coming around to the idea of having her, but if I did, I wanted it to be dark and dirty.

“Close the door,” I ordered firmly.

She startled.

“Do it!”

She did and then looked at me, surprise at her actions written on her face.

“I don’t know what you think –“

“I think you want to suck my cock.”

She looked shocked, but she didn’t run. Instead, she took a half-step toward me before she caught herself. But I knew I had her.

I don’t claim to be able to read a woman’s mind. Not always at least. But a woman is like a lock, you just need to find the right key.

Cassidy was just looking for a quick fuck to spite her hubby for ruining their wedding night. Peggy liked the idea of being my co-conspirator. Tina was just looking for a little fun. Elena wanted to be taken. What did Red want? I'd need to focus more on that later.

"Get over here."

"You're a pig," she hissed.

"And that's why you want it."

"No."

"It would probably be better if I was a sweaty construction worker or a stranger in an alley, but this'll have to do."

"I don't know what you mean."

I laughed. "My dick still smells of Tina's cunt. Come lick it clean."

Her knees buckled and she took a half-step forward.

"I'm going to fuck you like your husband never has. Like a dirty whore."

Panic, shock, excitement written on her face. A wordless question: How do you know?

"That's your fantasy, isn't it?"

"No," she replied, though she nodded her head instead of shaking it as she did.

"You're running out of time." This is just a pity fuck.

She got my meaning. "Fuck you," she snarled. But she was walking toward me.

I spun my chair to face her and spread my legs. "On your knees."

She hesitated again, but I knew she wouldn't be able to resist. She was flushed, licking her lips unconsciously. I unzipped my pants. She stared open-mouthed and gasped satisfyingly as I pulled out my prick.

"Don't," she groaned.

"Do a good job with it, and I'll consider fucking you."

"I don't know why...."

"Because you know I'll do things to you that no one else will."

She swallowed loudly.

"But you need to earn it first," I added.

She nodded but still hesitated.

"On your knees, Whore," I growled.

It's a thrill to say shit like that, even if you're pretty sure it's welcome. I've never been one of those dudes who feels the need to humiliate women to get even for some transgression or insult, imagined or real. But, on the other hand, there is something undeniably sexy about fucking a woman after you've degraded her. I can't explain it. But, fuck, do I have to? Why else is porn so full of come shots to the face and rough anal? And it's not just a male fantasy. Chicks dig it too. At least some do. Elena, I suspected, would.

Her knees buckled and she didn't catch herself. I reached out and snaked my hand into her thick, blond hair. I grabbed a handful and yanked her forward. She groaned, but her mouth opened just the same. I pressed her head into my lap, forcing my prick deep into her mouth. Is there anything sexier than the sound of a woman gagging on your cock? I didn't throat fuck her. Not yet. Just forced her head up and down deep enough to trigger that gag reflex before letting her back up.

I let her up to catch her breath, spittle dripping down her chin, her eyes red-rimmed, yet flashing with excitement.

"You like tasting Tina's cunt."

She recoiled slightly, but she wasn't going anywhere. At this point she was committed. And anyway, even though she probably didn't fully realize it herself, it was what she wanted.

"You haven't earned anything yet," I added.

I pushed her head back into my lap and she began slobbering again all over my cock. I leaned back in my leather desk chair and guided her up and down.

"Show me your tits."

She rocked back on her heels, a string of saliva joining her lips to my prick. She twirled one of the buttons on her blouse flirtatiously.

"Forget the show, Elena, just whip them out."

She hesitated a second. I reached out and grabbed her expensive, sheer, silk blouse.

"Or do you want me to do it?"

I tightened my grip.

"No, don't," she whined.

I nodded. Then obey.

Her fingers flew now, unbuttoning her blouse and yanking it open. She had an impressive rack. A creamy expanse of meaty tit. I reached out and yanked her bra up so that they spilled out. She cupped her breasts and pressed them upward, offering them to me. I could tell she was proud of her chest. Her tits were sexy. Very full and topped with dark red, erect nipples, silver dollar areolas, puffy with excitement. But I wasn't going to give her the satisfaction.

"Nice cow udders," I snapped.

She flinched as if stung.

I laughed and grabbed a long nipple between each thumb and forefinger and gave a firm pinch. She whined in pain.

"What's the matter, Slut, having second thoughts?"

"You're an asshole."

I smirked. "Now there's a thought."

She seemed puzzled for a moment, but then it dawned on her. "Oh no, no way."

"What's the matter, Whore? I'm sure you've taken it up the ass more than a few times in your life."

She shook her head.

I nodded mine. "Get up on the desk."

She was still shaking her head as she stood. She backed up and leaned back against the desk. I grabbed her legs and lifted them up, levering her ass up onto the surface, and bunching up her skirt. Without asking permission, I reached between her thighs and tore off her panties. She gasped.

She wasn't shaved or even really trimmed. Luckily she had a blond muff, and I've always had a thing for that. Also, she was so revved up that her wet, swollen cunt was on prominent display. I shoved two fingers inside her, and twisted them from side to side. She groaned sensuously and her juices coated my digits.

"Beg for it," I commanded.

"Fuck me," she gasped.

"Where?"

"My pussy."

"You have to earn that," I taunted. "So, where do you want it?"

She looked up at me. Her eyes filled with both hatred and lust. It was a potent combo.

“My ass,” she groaned.

“Say it together.”

She resisted, but my fingers squishing into her pussy broke her resolve. She finally spit it out, “Fuck my ass.”

I withdrew my finger from her snatch and trailed it down to her anus. I could feel her sphincter quivering, which matched the anxious look in her eyes.

“Beg,” I ordered.

She closed her eyes and grunted in frustration.

“Do it, or I’ll never fuck you.”

She didn’t last long. She fixed me with a murderous gaze. “Please fuck my ass, Stud. Please!”

I chuckled and pressed my finger into her tight, hot rectum making her hiss and buck on the desk. I sawed my digit into her bottom. She was tense, but after a few minutes she’d relaxed enough that I knew I could get my cock up inside of her. She hadn’t taken it up the ass recently, but I was pretty sure I wouldn’t be her first. I edged up closer, until my cockhead was just about at her anus, and then with a quick movement, I withdrew my finger and replaced it with my prick. It was just the head, but even still it made her gasp.

“I can’t. I can’t,” she whimpered.

But she didn’t try to squirm away or even stop me with her hands. I pressed down on her thighs and went in deeper. Another hiss. The tight ring of her ass spasming wildly, at once trying to expel my invading cock but at the same time feeling so good that I wanted nothing more than to thrust in deeper. Which I did. Her eyes rolled back in her head.

“Tell me you love it.”

Staring at me with red-rimmed eyes and through clenched teeth, she hissed, “I love it. I love your dick in my ass.”

Deeper still.

“I love it. Fuck my ass. Fuck it.”

I almost came right then. The fact that I’d broken her was even hotter than the sensation of her tight hole.

I pulled out slowly and peered down at my prick. Nothing untoward, so I cupped the back of her neck and yanked her upright.

“Suck it, and I’ll fuck you,” I offered.

I could see her mind spinning, and I could imagine her thoughts. In for a penny, in for a pound.

“You’re disgusting,” she snarled as she slid off the desk and down onto her knees.

She gripped my cock firmly and sucked it deep into her wet mouth. I let her service me for a couple of minutes, before lifting her back to her feet. Roughly, I spun her around and bent her over my desk. I gave her soft ass a firm spank and then without any more games, shoved my prick balls deep into her eager cunt.

I fucked her hard, like a whore, and she loved it. Her whole body shuddering in pleasure. And when she came, she slammed her palms down on the desk exuberantly. When it was time for me to come, I pulled out and shot it all over her ass, dripping it down between her cheeks so it coated her battered anus.

I pulled up my pants. I was up to three office sluts, which was a lot even for me, and I hadn’t even nailed the one I really wanted to get my hands on. I know, I know. Boo-fucking-hoo.

CHAPTER FIVE

The next couple of weeks were a blur. We were all crunching on Red's big proposal. And I was fucking Peggy, Tina, and Elena whenever I could fit them in, but with a tight schedule and three women to satisfy, it became a bit of scheduling challenge.

I could often get Peggy and Tina together, but Elena wasn't down with that. I could have probably given her an ultimatum, and she might have given in, but she wouldn't be into it, and even I have lines I won't cross. The upshot, though, was that there was a lot of tension, and Tina and Elena particularly squabbled with each other.

It all came to a head one day when the three of us were in the office kitchen together, and the two of them got into it. I had to separate them after Tina started taunting Elena.

If I remember correctly, Tina said something like, "how does my ass taste?" I'm not sure if she was channeling Shaq or if she meant it literally. In any case, Elena responded by heaving a metal napkin dispenser at her head. She missed, and I broke them up, but needless to say it quickly became office gossip.

I figured that would be the final stake in my hopes of nailing Ann. A serious girl like Red would definitely stay away from me now. But then it turned out she didn't. She was looking at the calendar like I was. With just a couple of weeks left in the office, I think she was beginning to think, "now or never." I was thinking the same, and luckily with the bid coming down the wire, I had plenty of excuses to spend time with her.

Is there a secret to seducing women? Well, yes and no. I mean there is a technique, but it is so simple as to belie the label "secret." Anyway, here it is. Listen to them. Figure out what they want, what they really want, and give it to them. The trick, such as it is, is that many women don't know what they want, or if they do they're often too embarrassed to admit it.

Peggy wanted to be my partner. She probably was a bit of a closet lesbian, and she got to experience the excitement of picking up a new girl viscerally through me. Tina was just looking for a good time. She'd have run for the hill had I even once hinted that I was falling for her. Luckily, I wasn't. Elena had self-esteem issues, and it turned her on to be degraded. Those are all shorthand versions, of course, but they get the gist of things.

I finally got Red's number one day when we were chatting in her office. It was a little thing. A small, unguarded moment. We were talking about the bid, at least ostensibly so. We'd just finished drafting the narrative.

"Okay, so now let's send it down to finance to crunch the bond issues," I suggested.

"Oh no. I'm not letting this thing out of my sight. I've already given them the parameters. They'll send us proposals and we'll vet."

"Um, Red, that's not our job. This is a team. You have to trust your people."

She shook her head. "I do trust them. But it's my responsibility." I could tell she was thinking as well – It's always my responsibility.

I don't know why, but in that moment, I got it. She wasn't a hardass because she was a bitch. And it wasn't that she was obsessively driven. She didn't think she had a choice. At some point, someone had placed the burden of their happiness in her hands. Her father? Her mother? Her husband? All of them?

And all she wanted was someone else to take control.

"Look, you've been working like a dog. I'll take care of it, okay? You go home, spend some time with your husband. I'll get the bond issue nailed down."

She held out her hand to stop me, and I took her palm in mine. She seemed surprised, but she didn't pull away.

"It's your project, but it's my job to help. Let me help."

She nodded. I held onto her hand and looked into her beautiful eyes. I had the sense that if I pushed it, I might be able to nail her right then and there. It would have been fiery and glorious, but I knew she'd immediately regret it. I didn't want that. She was a prize, and if I was going to have her, I was going to really enjoy every bit of her.

I smiled and released her hand. Then taking the draft deal book, I left her office.

I didn't have to woo her much after that. I made sure we had plenty of opportunities to be together, but I never made an overt pass at her. I could tell she felt embarrassed about her feelings for me, and I didn't want to give her the opportunity to vent her guilt on me. Instead, I wanted her to internalize it and rationalize it away.

The last couple of days on the proposal were the hardest. An endless series of last-minute fires that we had to put out, side-by-side, working long, late hours. It was a crucible that could easily spawn an office romance, even if there hadn't been a pre-existing connection.

I have to admit, it was hard to resist. There were any number of times when I was sure she'd melt into my arms at the drop of a hat. But I was determined to make her come to me.

Now, that said, part of what gave me the necessary patience was my other women. Most mornings I would start off the day by throat-fucking Elena. She'd come back around lunch to get bent over my desk and screwed while I told her what a pig she was. I mostly saw Tina and Peggy together, the two of them seeming to discover that they liked girls more than they realized. But I have to admit, Red was beginning to fill up my imagination.

Even when I was coming on Elena's tongue, I was wondering if Red would do the same for me. As I slid my dick into Tina's tight little pussy from behind, I imagined how good Red's would feel. And when Peggy bounced up and down on me, big tits bouncing, I mauled her breasts thinking about how much I'd like to do the same to Annie.

The minute I saw her in that tight, red dress the night we finished the proposal, I knew she was mine. It was less the dress itself than the fact that she looked for me the moment she entered the room. She wanted to see how I'd react. I gave her a nod and smile. She blushed and went to get a glass of champagne.

It was just senior staff, so conveniently none of the other women I was involved with were there. Red and I didn't talk though. We just each circled the room, keeping our distance, but continuing to eye each other. I could see she was fortifying herself, and by the third glass of champagne, she was a little giggly, not at all the Red any of us were used to seeing.

I noticed she'd stopped circulating and was just standing in the middle of the room, watching me. It was time. I walked over.

"You look like you're having fun."

She giggled. "Too much fun."

She was twisting a strand of hair around her finger. Her eyes were glassy with excitement. Chest thrust out to call attention to her cleavage, nostrils flaring. I didn't need to feel between her legs to know she was wet and ready.

I was debated taking her back to my office for a quickie to take the edge off. I knew I wanted more than that from her, but thought maybe that would be a good icebreaker.

Instead, she surprised me by saying in a breathy voice, "I'm going to need a ride home."

"I'd be delighted," I said, though I wasn't sure what that implied. I didn't think I'd misread things, but at the same time, I knew she was married.

She addressed my concern without resolving it. "I need to call my husband, okay?"

Now that was interesting. Was she going to give him some bullshit story about having to work late? That didn't seem her style. And anyway, there was something about the way she said it that made it seem like she going to ask his permission. But that didn't make sense. Unless they were swingers, there was no way a quick phone call was going to make going off with another man possible, and while I knew there was more to Annie than met the eye, I also would have bet my life they weren't swingers. Which meant... that she'd already spoken to him about me.

My prick stiffened instantly. I wasn't quite sure why, but there was something about the idea that she wanted me enough to risk her marriage that got me going, but it was also that this guy, I think she'd mentioned his name was Dave at some point, was apparently willing to let me fuck his wife. I'd fucked a lot of married women, but I'd never been a bull in some sort of cuckold scene. I wasn't sure how I felt about it, but watching her ass sway in that tight, red dress, I realized I didn't care. Anyway, she was probably just telling him to get lost.

I took a deep breath, adjusted myself, and hoped I could keep my cool.

She came back and she was blushing like a schoolgirl.

"Would you like to get going?" I asked.

She just nodded. She didn't seem able to speak. I took her by the hand, led her to the garage, and installed her in the passenger seat of my car. As we drove, she kept glancing at me furtively, as if I wouldn't notice how excited she was. She was breathing in quick, shallow, gasps. Her heart was probably going at 120 beats per minute. I thought about making a joke about her staining my seat with her juices, but she was so serious I was worried it would break the mood.

When we got to her place, she jumped out of the car almost before I could put it in park. She ran around to my side of the car and took my hand and walked me into their house.

I thought maybe her hubby would have cleared out, so I was surprised when he greeted us in their living room. I looked him over, trying to see if he was likely to get violent, but it was obvious he was in some sort of shock. The poor guy was pale, stricken. I had a twinge of guilt, but I didn't even consider backing out. The truth is, shaking hands with the guy, knowing I'd soon be fucking his wife tickled my worst instincts.

She got us drinks. Being in her own home seemed to give her a jolt of confidence. Before I knew it, she was leading us upstairs, all three of us. She sat Dave, who looked forlorn and miserable, in an armchair in their bedroom. I wondered if he'd done something to deserve this, whether this was a punishment for some transgression. But once she approached me, she had only eyes for me, and I realized that she didn't really know what she was doing. She wasn't trying to humiliate him, and she wasn't thinking about how he might feel. Her brain wasn't in charge. Her pussy was making all the decisions.

She walked right up to me and started unbuttoning my shirt. She kissed her way down my chest and ended up on her knees. Normally, I like to be more in control, but she was doing just fine on her own. On her knees is exactly where I wanted her, though I'd have preferred naked. I knew that would come soon enough.

She pulled down my pants and my boxers. When she saw my cock, her mouth dropped open and she looked up at me in... well, hard to describe it unless you've experienced it. Women pretend size doesn't matter, but all I can say is that I've seen that same look enough times to know that it does. Admiration, a little fear, and a whole lot of lust. I knew that as wet as she was to begin with, she was surely drenched now.

She fondled and sucked me for a couple of minutes, but I could tell she was already thinking about what would happen next. She stood and we kissed. It was like she was folding into me. I ran my hands over her body and then lifted her dress over her head.

She was naked and completely shaved. Her tits were full and firm, her nipples swollen, dark red raspberries. She had a flat stomach and her slit glistened with excitement. As beautiful as her face was, her body was even better. Just perfect, and I had to have her.

I eased her over to the bed. She hopped up on it enthusiastically. She lay back, resting on her elbows and looked at me. Her legs were parted invitingly, her pussy cleaving open to expose the wet, pink flesh within. I wanted to taste her, but she was too desperate. She clawed at my back, pulling me upward. My cock found her slit, so hot and wet, and the head popped inside. She was insanely tight, but also so obviously ready that I knew she could take it. And anyway, my own self-control was gone. I thrust inside her hard.

She veritably exploded. She bucked so wildly that I'd have thought she was trying to get me off her, except that she was grabbing my ass so hard that it almost hurt.

"I'm coming," she gasped, completely unnecessarily.

Her pussy, so hot and wet, began spasming wildly. A thousand fingers squeezing up and down my cock. Her body was on fire, a layer of sweat forming between us.

"Slow, slow," she groaned as I began churning inside her, but I could feel her hunger. The way her pussy sucked at my cock, the way her hands clawed at my back and ass, the way she threw her head back, baring her throat to me, as soft little mewls of pleasure passed between her full lips.

And then when I fucked her hard, the way her nipples dug into chest, the gasps of "Oh God," in my ear, and most of all the way she looked at me. What did I see in her eyes? Discovery. Gratitude. Love? I wasn't sure. All I knew was that even after all my experiences with women, that evening with Red was a surprise. Sex had always been sport. But with her it felt... almost spiritual.

By the end, after I'd fucked her hard and soft, after I'd sucked on her tits and put a finger in her ass, after her pussy was too sore to keep fucking and she sucked me dry, after all of that I had this sense both of being perfectly matched and also that I had only just scratched the surface with her. That with just a little more time, I could unlock something completely magical.

CHAPTER SIX

I couldn't sleep when I got home. Normally, a couple of hours of hot sex and dropping three loads would have left me satisfied and sleepy, but not in this case. I just kept reliving each and every moment I'd spent with her.

Many men dream of taking a woman's virginity. The appeal, I guess, is introducing a woman to an unforgettable experience. Opening her eyes to a brand new world. Seeing her horizons expand, and knowing that she will never, ever forget the man who did it to her. Now, having popped a lot of cherries, I know that it is almost never like that. Most girls are scared and at least a little in pain, and too self-conscious to really enjoy it. Red wasn't a virgin, of course, but she reacted to me in just that fantasy way. Or did she?

I needed to see if she'd felt it too. I called and texted, and she didn't reply. I wondered if something had gone wrong between her and her husband. At one point, while I was fucking her, he just walked out, which didn't make sense. If he was having a problem with it, I figured he'd put an end to it. What kind of man would let it go on otherwise? Then I worried about the possibility that the guy had snapped, and I just had to reach her and make sure. The next morning, I tracked down her home number and called.

She tried to make it seem like it had just been a one-off. She told me she was "happily married."

I bit my tongue. She wasn't that type of girl. She was too serious, too self-assured to just go in for a fling. She may not have realized it herself, but fucking me was a cry for help, even if she wouldn't admit to herself. I managed to get her to acknowledge it had been special, and then, I think afraid of her own emotions, she cut our conversation short with an abrupt, "I have to go."

I knew things would be different face-to-face. I tried to call her back on her cell, and then I texted her a few times saying we should talk. She agreed to meet me at the office.

From the moment she walked in, I knew I'd been right about her. She was wearing a cute little sundress, sheer enough to cling to all her curves. Her hair was brushed out and silky, and she'd put on some makeup, subtle, but at odds with her ostensible mission of letting me down easy.

We sat on my sofa, and the truth soon came out. She was jealous of the other women I'd been with at the office. Of course, it all made sense. She couldn't let herself face her own feelings until she was sure that I didn't just see her as just another lay.

It didn't take much. A little reassurance, a gentle pressure on her fingertips pulling her toward me, and she was in my lap, kissing me like she wanted to swallow my face. Even though my pants, I could feel her heat, her excitement, her wetness. I slid my hands under her dress and squeezed her hard ass. I eased a finger into her soaked panties, and she nearly exploded when I touched her dripping snatch. She clawed at my pants, desperate for my hard cock. We worked like a well-oiled machine. She pulled out my prick. I slid her panties to the side. She dropped down on me with a desperate passion and started fucking me furiously. I freed her tits and sucked on her rock hard nips.

She came. It was sudden and explosive. Her eyes rolled back and her head drooped forward, barely conscious. I lifted her up and walked her over to my desk. I peeled off her dress and panties, and took off my own clothes. As she began to stir, I lifted her legs up onto my shoulder. She was amazing. That smooth, milky skin, those perfect round orbs, that absolutely gorgeous, tight, wet slit. I rubbed my cockhead against her pussy, and her lips seemed to reach out and try to swallow it in. I thrust inside her gently. She gasped and her eyes fluttered open.

"Oh God, I love it," she enthused.

She rolled her head from side to side as if not quite believing how good it felt. She begged me to come inside her. I was happy to oblige.

We rolled off the desk and sat side-by-side. She grabbed my cock and gently stroked it. I circled her nips with my finger and kissed her gently.

Her guard down, her true feelings came out. "I think I love you."

She immediately melted down. Tears. Self-recrimination. I was expecting her to turn on me momentarily. Tell me what a fucking bastard I was for taking advantage of her, the whole usual denial/deflection bullshit to avoid facing her real issue, which was that, for lack of a better phrase, I'd fucked her like no one else ever had, and opened her eyes to what real passion was. But I was wrong. She never did blame me.

So I consoled her. Told her she had a right to be happy. We moved over my sofa. I spooned her and whispered sweet nothings into her ear. Her body softened, and pressed against mine. I knew she wanted me desperately. And finally she gave in, asking me to make love to her.

I took my time with her. Her freshly fucked pussy was soaking wet, and so hot, but still wonderfully tight. I fucked her long and slow, deep soul kisses, relishing the sensation of her body as it molded to mine, merging together. She had her eyes closed and she was making these delicious, little sounds of pleasure, soft, desperate gasps. Her breathing quickened and her body shivered. I thrust in hard and she cried out in passion, bucking and writhing, completely overwhelmed.

I pulled out without coming. As much as I wanted to drop another load in her sweet cunt, I knew there was a bigger game out there. Always leave them wanting more.

CHAPTER SEVEN

I didn't call or text her Sunday. Part of it was giving her some space. But part of it was that I was busy.

Peggy rang on my doorbell Sunday morning. Still in my bathrobe, I let her in.

"So, did you fuck her?" she asked without preamble.

I laughed. "What did you hear?"

"That she was guzzling champers and that you two left together."

Poor Red. I knew she wouldn't like knowing she'd become grist for the rumor mill.

"I just gave her a ride home."

Peggy rolled her eyes. "I bet you gave her a ride alright. So, was she as lame as I predicted?"

I shrugged noncommittally.

"Oh, what, you're not talking now?"

I chuckled. "Maybe I just need a little encouragement."

Now she laughed. "Uh huh, just what I thought. Little Miss Stick-in-her-Ass couldn't get the job done, so I have to take care of it."

I sat down on my sofa, and spread my thighs. Peggy smirked. She whipped off her tee shirt and removed her bra before dropping to her knees between my legs.

"So, Stud, what happened?" she said as she pulled open my robe and ran her tongue up my shaft.

"Her husband was there," I said.

Peggy paused from tonguing my glans. "Poor Baby. Cockblocked, huh?"

"Not quite. He watched."

She gasped in surprise. "No! Fucking! Way! She's what, one of those slut wives?"

I cupped her head and forced her mouth down on my prick. "No, I don't think so. Seemed more like a one time thing."

Peggy shook loose from my grip and spit out my cock. She laughed. "Oh, please you think you're the first one to —"

I shoved her back down on my prick. She eyed me furious, but her tongue swirled around my shaft.

“I think she asked him for a hall pass or something,” I explained. “Believe me, she was nervous as shit, shaking like a leaf. And when I started fucking her, she just totally lost it. It was nothing she was expecting. Now, I know I’m good...” Peggy rolled her eyes at me as she took me into her throat, “but I’m not that good. It was definitely something new and unexpected for her.”

Peggy let my cock slide out of her mouth. She stroked my shaft up and down with both hands.

“Maybe she’s never had to handle anything this big.”

I chuckled. “Probably, but it was definitely more than that.”

She rose and yanked off her shorts. She was naked beneath and freshly shaved. Her cunt glistened with excitement. She climbed into my lap and rubbed my cock head up and down her slit. As it slid between her lips, she impaled herself on me with a sigh.

“So, is she better than me?”

“Can’t compare,” I replied. “You’re a dirty, experienced whore.” She took it for the compliment it was and smiled. “She’s, like, a unicorn. Hot bodied, insanely sexual, but almost totally naive.”

“You’re a sucker. She’s playing you.”

I grabbed her butt and slid a finger between her cheeks, lubing it on our combined juices. She didn’t even flinch when I shoved it up her hot, tight ass.

“When I did that to her, it was like flipping a switch. I don’t think she’d ever even had a finger in her ass.”

Peggy threw back her head and squealed. “Oh my God, oh my God, Stud, you fuck me so good.” She looked back at me and smiled.

I laughed. “You’re a terrible actress.”

“Maybe she’s better.”

“Or maybe she’s the real deal.”

“You gonna fuck her again?” she asked.

“Already have. She came to my office yesterday and fucked me.”

“Fucked you? Or you fucked her?”

“Both,” I replied.

She folded her knees beneath her and sat up a little higher.

“Suck my tits,” she demanded.

I swallowed a pepperoni-sized areola into my mouth and sucked on it until she squeaked. I repeated with the other breast as she bounced on me more forcefully.

“She’s a whore,” Peggy snapped.

“I think you’re jealous,” I teased.

She rose up on her knees and my cock popped out of her wet snatch. I was going to protest, but before I could, she grabbed my cock, pushed my finger out of the way, and took my dick halfway up her ass.

“Will she do this for you?” she said, mouth tight, eyes squinting. “Will she take your big dick in her ass for you?” She bounced on me, taking me in deeper, her tight sphincter riding up and down my shaft. “Will she swallow your come and ask for more? Will she fuck other girls for you?”

I realized she was hurt. “Peggy, I—”

“Shut up, asshole,” she hissed. “I don’t want your fucking pity.”

“I wasn’t —”

She slapped my face to shut me up and dropped down hard so that I was balls deep in her ass. She kissed me wetly and ground against me.

“That’s it, Greg, come in my asshole and then kick me out so you can focus on your new, special whore.”

I didn’t respond. I knew there was no point. Instead I mauled her soft tits and thrust up into her tight ass. She squealed and fucked me back aggressively. I grunted and shot my load inside her.

She got off me and quickly, wordlessly, dressed. Without a glance over her shoulder she walked out, slamming the door behind her.

CHAPTER EIGHT

Red wanted it. I could see it in her eyes as I smiled at her in the corridor. She'd been thinking about me, had probably spent all day Sunday rubbing her pretty, little pussy raw fantasizing about getting fucked again. No matter what Peggy thought, I hadn't misread the signs. I'd awakened something in her.

And I also knew I'd only scratched the surface. If she'd just let go, we could explore it all together. A journey of sexual discovery. Annie held out the prospect of a relationship that wouldn't get old. She was beautiful and brilliant and driven, needy and desperate and hungry, a great lay and also so inexperienced that she barely knew how to handle a cock.

I didn't know we could be happy in the long-run, but she was the first woman I'd met who I could even imagine not being bored with in a matter of weeks.

I went to her office at lunchtime. I locked the door behind me.

"What are you doing?" she asked.

I smiled and approached her.

"We can't," she insisted. She was licking her lips and staring at my crotch.

I stepped in closer, unzipped my pants and pulled out my cock.

She didn't hesitate. She leaned forward and took me into her mouth. She got the head in and bobbed up and down on my prick. Each time we'd been together, she'd gotten a little bit better at it, and I imagine how nice it would be to fuck her throat, to see my prick disappear completely into her luscious mouth. She wasn't ready for that yet, so instead, she began to kiss up and down my shaft, her tongue trailing up the underside, her hands squishing wetly on my girth. It was like she wanted to taste and rub every inch of me, all at once.

As she worked on my dick, I peered down her blouse, seeing her gorgeous tits jiggling beneath a sexy, lace bra. I knew she'd picked it out just for me. That she'd probably stood naked in front of her mirror that morning, maybe even rubbing her own nipples, as she chose a pair of sexy, matching underwear for me.

I stood her up and bent her over her own desk. I lifted up her skirt and slid her matching panties to the side. Her pussy beckoned to me, pink and wet. I started to bend down to take a bite when she stopped me.

“Just put it in,” she hissed.

I did. It was like she was on fire. Her pussy was as hot and wet as any I’d ever had.

“Oh yes, I love it so much,” she gasped.

In that position, with her legs spread, her ass cheeks cleaved apart to give me a perfect view of her cunt lips clinging to my cock and of her tight, little asshole pulsing with each stroke. It’s not like anal is the be all and end all of sex, but Peggy had been right. It’s a symbolic threshold. Especially for a type-A, control freak like Red, taking it up the ass would require a level of trust and submission that would shake her and open her up to the possibility of whole new pleasures.

"Come to my place tonight, Red, and I'll show you something new," I said as I pressed my thumb against her butthole.

“Show me what?” she asked, begging for it.

I buried my thumb in her ass and pounded her pussy with my cock. She was gasping and hissing, her hips thrusting back against me. I pulled out my cell phone and shot a quick video of it. I thought about fucking her ass then and there, but I didn’t get the chance. She came suddenly, violently. Her pussy spasmed against my cock. Her ass clenched on my thumb. I couldn’t help myself. I filled her with my come.

I pulled out of both holes and took a moment to admire my handiwork. Both her cunt and ass gaped open for a moment before closing back up. I sat back down in my chair.

To my surprised she wheeled and squatted before me. Her legs were spread and my jism leaked out of her red twat. She sucked my semi-flaccid prick into her mouth and licked it clean.

I ordered her to play with herself while she sucked me. She obeyed without question, fingers sliding up and down her wet slit as her mouth worked on my prick. She couldn’t take it all, but she took more than before, letting my cock deep enough into her mouth to tease the back of her throat, making little, submissive choking sounds each time.

In just a couple of days I’d turned her from a prim, buttoned-up, professional into a dirty whore who gagged herself on a cock while fingering her own pussy. If she gave me another few hours, I knew I could break her completely, make her my own, perfect, little slut.

There was so much I wanted to do with her, to her. Just thinking of the possibilities was exhilarating. She swallowed me deeper. Her fingers slipped into her snatch. Her other hand fondled my balls. Even though I'd just come, I couldn't resist. I came hard and she swallowed it all, eagerly, hungrily.

CHAPTER NINE

I'm not quite sure what I was thinking when I asked her to move out to San Diego with me. Part of it, of course, was that I was feeling lovey-dovey after having busted a nut in her mouth. Part of it, though, was that I wanted her to start thinking of this as more than just a fling. My proposal seemed to rock her, but when I told her I wanted her to come to my place tonight, she said no.

Even still, as I sat at home that night, I kept waiting for my phone to buzz or my doorbell to ring, but she didn't show.

I streamed that video I'd shot of her onto my TV. It was hard to believe she was the same woman I'd initially deemed "no fun," the kind of woman Peggy would describe, accurately, as having a stick up her ass. On my TV was a wild slut. A married woman, bent over her own desk, in broad daylight, thrusting back against another man's cock in her pussy and thumb in her ass. I wondered if she even recognized herself anymore.

I was hoping not. I wanted her to cross the Rubicon. To realize there was no going back, only forward in a world of more passion, more depravity, more exploration. And I wanted to be her guide.

I clicked off the TV. But not tonight.

Whatever resolve had kept her away from me last night, broke the next morning. She texted me early asking to see me. I told her to come to my place in the afternoon.

She was dressed to fuck. She was wearing, four inch, fuck-me pumps, a sheer sundress and no bra. I could see her hard nips poking through. I suspected she didn't have any panties on either.

"Tell me what you want," I demanded.

"You can do whatever you want to me," she replied softly.

I made her repeat it, louder. She blushed and obeyed.

"Would you fuck another girl for me?"

She hesitated and then answered, "yes."

“How about if I invited some buddies over to take turns with you, you’d do that too?”

She reddened. Her eyes flashed. “Yes,” she replied.

That wasn’t actually the answer I wanted. What Red needed was to lose control. To surrender to me. But she wouldn’t. In telling me she’d do anything I asked, she was paradoxically claiming control for herself. I wanted to push her boundaries. She was telling me there were none.

I did my best to test her convictions. I fucked her hard and soft. I introduced her to anal sex and bondage. I worked on her anticipation and fears. I made her come again and again.

Fucking her ass was spectacular. Anal sex feels good, but it is the visual that really sells it. The sight of her tiny, little asshole stretched around my prick was amazing. So too was the sight of her naked body, her slender waist, her full breasts peeking out from beneath her torso.

Every thrust into her ass elicited a delightful little mewl.

“Do you like it?” I asked.

“I don’t know,” she gasped.

But I could tell she did. She was this hot piece of ass. Barely thirty, so still young enough to experience life, and yet there was something sad about the fact that she was only now trying something as basic as anal.

Nevertheless, I didn’t break through her defenses. She took everything I threw at her with equanimity, and even before I was done I realized that she was just testing herself. She’d already decided she didn’t want what I could offer.

Or maybe, I just didn’t try hard enough. How would she have reacted had I followed through on my darkest impulses? Would it have been different if I had made her eat Peggy’s pussy while I fucked her in the ass? How about if I got a couple of buddies to come over so we could fill all her holes at once? What if I’d striped her back with the riding crop? Or taken her out and fucked her in public?

I couldn’t bring myself to do that to her. At the end, after hours of sweaty sex she calmly thanked me and asked me to drive her home. I was disappointed, but I did.

CHAPTER TEN

Dave showed up at my office the next day. He was smaller than I'd remembered, diminished somehow. And yet, he didn't back down.

"I want you to stop seeing my wife," he said.

He didn't even know what he was doing. How he was really cheating her with his blandness.

"Let me show you something," I replied.

I showed him the video I'd shot of his wife slinging her cunt against my cock, moaning at my thumb in her ass. He watched it impassively.

"I want you to stop seeing my wife," he repeated.

I forced a laugh. How could he not get it? It turned out she was devoted to him, but he should have had the decency to set her free.

I thought of the way she'd come when I first fucked her. The time she almost passed out from coming so hard. The way she'd gratefully licked my dick clean after I fucked her bent over her desk. Her soft mewls of pleasure when I first fucked her ass, and the way she screamed into her gag when I pounded her ass the second time. All the times she'd eagerly slurped up my come. In a week, I'd given her more sexual excitement than he had in a decade. I was sure of it.

"You can't satisfy her the way I do. She deserves better."

He shook his head cluelessly.

"What's her favorite movie?" he asked.

I held out my hands. What was he talking about?

"What toppings does she like on her pizza? What's her sister's name? Is she a dog person or a cat person?"

He continued his rant.

"What's her name? Her real name? You always call her Red. Do you even know her name? Her real name?"

"Ann, Annie, right?" I replied, suddenly uncertain.

"It's Gloria." He clapped me on the shoulder. "You've known her for months and the only thing you know about her is that she likes your cock. Yeah, she does deserve better."

He left. I just shook my head. Poor, deluded guy. I wondered how he'd feel when she returned to me, begging for more. But... then again... I knew that she wouldn't.

I kept hoping to see her at my going-away party. She didn't show. I went looking for her in her office, but the lights were out and she'd left without saying goodbye.

"Looking for your girlfriend?"

Peggy was standing behind me, hand on her hip. I turned to face her.

"Hey Babe," I said.

She rolled her eyes.

I sidled up to her. "How are you doing?" I asked.

She shrugged.

I thought of my conversation with Dave.

"Peggy... is that a nickname?"

"Margaret."

"How so?"

"Meg... Meggy... Peggy. Could be worse. Could have gone Mog, Molly, Polly."

I smiled. "Polly want a cracker?"

"Exactly. My family likes those kinds of names. Old-fashioned that devolve into unpredictable diminutives. My sister went from Elizabeth to Bethany."

"Is she younger or older?" I asked.

"Why, you want to fuck her too?"

I laughed, but I did wonder if her tits were as big as Peggy's. "You wouldn't be the first set of sisters I've had."

"I bet."

I didn't want to go back to the party.

"You want to grab a bite to eat?" I asked.

"Is that code for inviting me back to your office so I can suck your dick?"

Ouch. That hurt. But I had to admit, it was fair. I was a shallow douche.

“No, I was thinking a real meal. The dick sucking can be dessert.”

She laughed and shook her head. “I don’t put out on the first date.”

I chuckled.

“You want me to ask Tina to come along?” she asked.

I hesitated. A nice, long night with the two of them might be just the thing to make me forget Red.

“No, just you.”

She looked at me surprised. Then nodded. “Okay.”

I took her hand and we walked down the corridor.

“So,” I asked, “what’s your favorite movie?”

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

I am your typical family man with a wife and kids and an overactive imagination. I am a longtime reader and author of erotic fiction. I write in genres that I find exciting and arousing. Most of my stories are in the naughty wife, wife-watching genre, though occasionally I venture into other subject matter.

I have written several pieces of longer-form fiction.

Two Sides of Terri

Tempting Terri

Taming Terri

Whatever it Takes

Honeymoon Hazards

The Surrogate Master

Dark Tide: An Interracial Adventure on the High Seas

Seven Dates: A Different Kind of Hotwife

Annual Leave

For more information on future projects, visit <http://www.benboswell.com> and my author page at Amazon. You can send me email at ben.boswell.author@gmail.com.