

Delores Swallows

Dream Witch

THE HOTWIFE SPELL

Dream Witch

The Hotwife Spell

by Delores Swallows

Delores Swallows Publications

Web | Twitter | Amazon

Sign up for FREE stories and MORE from Delores Swallows

Join Delores' Mailing List

This book is a work of fiction. Names, characters, places, and incidents either are products of the author's imagination or are used fictitiously. Any resemblance to actual events or locales or persons, living or dead, is entirely coincidental.

Copyright © 2022 Delores Swallows

Kindle Edition, License Notes

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced in any form or by any electronic or mechanical means—except in the case of brief quotations embodied in articles or reviews—without written permission from its publisher.

Content Advisory: This book is intended for mature audiences and contains explicit sexual activity.

Dream Witch

When Ava moves in next door, neither Joe nor Chrissie expect the gorgeous brunette to have such an impact on their relationship. Ava's friendly and considerate. A perfect neighbour.

Then the dreams start.

Though not usually one who remembers his dreams, Joe begins to see Ava on a nightly basis. As her visits become more and more lascivious, he soon realises that Chrissie's also experiencing some serious nocturnal stimulation.

Just as they're reaping the benefits of their heightened libidos, Joe's dreams take on a disconcerting edge. He sees Chrissie with other men. If that wasn't unsettling enough, it seems she's having dreams that are uncannily similar to his own.

Chrissie dismisses his allegations that their neighbour's behind it all until she goes to Ava's for dinner while Joe's away on a work trip. His dream that night is the most realistic yet. What's more, what he's watching is no longer quite as disconcerting as he'd first thought...

Contents

Dream Witch

Chapter 1

Chapter 2

Chapter 3

Chapter 4

Chapter 5

Chapter 6

Chapter 7

Chapter 8

Chapter 9

Chapter 10

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

ALSO BY DELORES SWALLOWS

Chapter 1

“It’ll be strange not having Libby and Brian as neighbours anymore,” Chrissie said.

“Yeah.” Joe watched the huge removals van pull onto next door’s drive. “I guess the downside of being promoted is you have to be prepared to move to other branches.” The Pattersons had been there since Joe and Chrissie moved in as newlyweds. “Do you know who’s bought it?”

Chrissie shook her head. “Libby told me it was a lady who’s moving back from abroad. She chose it by looking at the photographs and videos on the estate agents’ website.”

Just then, the doorbell rang. Joe assumed it was another of Chrissie’s online purchases being delivered, but when he opened the door he was met by the friendly smile of a pretty woman with long brown hair pulled back into a ponytail, and the most unusual violet eyes.

“Hi,” she said, holding out her hand. “I’m Ava, your new neighbour.”

“Oh, hi.” Joe shook her hand and invited her in. “We were just watching the truck arrive.” He led the visitor into the lounge. “I’m Joe, and this is my wife, Chrissie.”

“Hi, I’m Ava. Nice to meet you.” The women shook hands.

“Can I get you a tea or coffee?” Joe asked.

Ava smiled and shook her head. “No, I need to go and show the guys which room to put my things in, but I just wanted to come and say that if the lorry’s blocking the road or anything, please come and tell me.”

Joe was impressed by her concern. “It’ll be fine, I’m sure.”

“Thanks.” Ava gave Chrissie a shrug. “I can’t actually remember what my stuff looks like. It’s been in storage for the whole three years I’ve been in Japan.”

“Well if you need anything,” Chrissie said, “or if you can’t find your kettle and the removal men need a coffee, you only have to ask.”

“Thank you, that’s very sweet.” Ava gave them both another smile and Joe escorted her to the front door.

When he returned to the lounge, Chrissie was sitting on the couch, beaming.

“What?” he asked, dropping onto the seat next to her.

“It’s such a relief that we’re going to have another nice neighbour. I was terrified that we’d end up with neighbours from Hell, like on the telly.” She shuddered. “I had visions of the driveway being covered with stripped-down cars up on bricks and barking Pit Bull terriers running and crapping all over our garden.”

Joe laughed. “You watch too much reality TV. She seemed really nice.”

“Hmm.” She narrowed her eyes at him. “Maybe a little too attractive, though.”

He tried for a nonchalant expression. “Really? I never noticed.”

“Bollocks. You noticed, and I noticed you noticing.”

He chuckled and pulled her close. “A bit of competition might keep you on your toes.”

“Cheeky bugger.”

Joe went to make them a coffee, and through the kitchen side window he watched Ava talking to two removal men holding a large case. As she walked up the drive, he noticed how good her bum looked in the tight-fitting jeans.

Ava never came to ask for anything, and the removal truck left in the middle of the afternoon. Chrissie asked if they should invite her over for dinner, but Joe said she’d probably be too tired. They agreed to let her settle in for a few days first.

Joe’s dream that night replayed meeting Ava at his door, but in this version, she wore a microskirt and high-heeled sandals, glossy lipstick, thick mascara and shiny gold eyeshadow that made her violet eyes glow.

She opened her mouth but didn’t speak. Instead, she stuck out her tongue and licked her fingers. Joe watched, spellbound, as she used the other hand to pull up the hem of her skirt, revealing her uncovered sex. Holding eye contact, Ava reached down and ran her fingers between her folds, then moaned as she pushed her three wet fingers inside.

Joe jerked awake.

Chrissie was sitting up in bed reading a magazine. She looked down at him. "Are you okay?"

Blinking, he sat up. "Yeah, I just..." He shook his head as if to suggest he couldn't remember what had woken him. Hiding his erection, he lay back down and turned away from her. Maybe Ava had made a bigger impression on him than he'd realised.

He rarely remembered any of his dreams.

* * * *

On Sunday afternoon while Joe was cutting his back lawn, he caught a glimpse of Ava inside one of her upstairs bedrooms. She waved to him, then opened the window. Joe switched off the engine and walked over to the dividing fence.

"Hi," she said. "Do you happen to know of any local people who do garden maintenance?"

"No, but a few advertise in the local free magazine we get every month. I'll pass you our copy if you'd like it."

"That'd be great, thanks."

"Not a gardening enthusiast, then?"

"I enjoy some aspects of it, but I'll pay someone to do the stuff I don't like. And since I don't have a lawnmower, they can take care of the grass, too."

Her lawn looked like it hadn't been cut for a month. "I can do yours after I've finished mine, if you like."

"I'd hate to be—"

"It's no problem, and it'll make it look a bit better until you've managed to sort out a gardener."

"Thank you, you're very kind."

He decided to be neighbourly. "And maybe when I've finished, you can come around for a drink with us?"

"That'd be lovely, thanks."

After finishing his lawn in fifteen minutes, Joe popped inside to tell Chrissie that he was going to cut Ava's, and that she'd be coming over for a drink after.

Her lawn took almost twice as long as theirs because he had to empty the grass box after every line. Joe was aware of Ava watching him through the patio doors as he moved up and down. Today she wore stretchy black leggings and a grey jumper, her hair loose but pulled over one shoulder.

Once he'd finished, he left Ava in the kitchen with Chrissie while he went to wash and change. When he returned, the women were deep in conversation on the couch, drinking wine. He got himself a beer and sat in an armchair.

Chrissie looked over at him. "Ava's just been describing Japan. It sounds lovely."

"It's definitely worth visiting. I'd recommend you go in the Spring when the cherry trees are in blossom. It's beautiful." Ava smiled. "So, how long have you two lived here?"

"Just under four years," Joe said.

"Do you have children?"

Chrissie shook her head. "Lots of time for that—neither of us are thirty yet." She smiled. "Don't worry, you won't be getting little pests knocking on your door to ask if they can have their ball back."

The three of them spent a very pleasant hour chatting before Ava said she needed to be getting home. Joe found her the magazine with gardeners' ads. She thanked Chrissie for the wine and Joe for cutting her grass, then left.

"She's lovely," Chrissie said, settling back onto the couch to finish her wine.

Joe nodded his agreement.

That night he dreamt about cutting Ava's lawn. In this version, she was on her knees, weeding the borders, wearing a tight Lycra dress which clung to her curves. Her hair hung loose over one shoulder.

As he moved in her direction with the mower, she hiked up her skirt and exposed her naked sex. Ava looked over her shoulder and, while holding his gaze, ran her hand between her legs and dipped a finger inside. Then she used the glistening finger to beckon him over.

Joe killed the engine and approached, tugging open his jeans on the way. He dropped to his knees and fed his cock inside her. Ava groaned, and the hot wet grip of her sex shook him awake.

Astonished by the clarity of his dream, Joe lay in the dark, shaking. His cock was painfully hard. He ran his hand down Chrissie's body, and she responded by letting out a quiet moan. He stroked her again, and she pulled him on top of her. In a single, fluid movement, she held the gusset of her panties to one side and fed him inside. Joe shuddered at her wetness. Her arms slipped around his waist and she writhed beneath him. She came almost immediately. With a grunt of exhilaration, he came with her. They clung to each other as they rode out the final throes, then Chrissie kissed his cheek.

"That was nice," she whispered as she eased him off and settled back to sleep.

Joe couldn't stop grinning. He wasn't sure if he ought to feel guilty about getting sex from his wife after being aroused by a dirty dream about his neighbour. He reasoned that so long as he kept his dream to himself, things would be fine.

* * * *

As usual on Monday morning, Joe dropped Chrissie at the local station in time for her to get the 8:05 into the city, then drove to his office at the local science park where he worked as a statistician. He didn't give any thought to his erotic dream, though he still had a residual glow from their lovemaking. He spent most of the day going through some figures with his colleague Alistair for a presentation to their clients in Oxford later in the week.

Chrissie was already waiting outside the station when he pulled onto the small car park that evening.

"Sorry," he said as she climbed in. "There's some roadworks on the dual carriageway and the queue—"

"No problem. I've only just got here."

"Have you remembered I'm going away on Thursday night?"

"Yep. I've arranged to work from home on Friday to save me paying the ridiculous fee to leave my car here for the day."

"Good idea."

"How about we go out for dinner?"

“Another good idea.” He smiled. “That’s probably a full week’s quota you’ve used up already.”

She slapped his arm playfully. “Do you want to go home and change, or shall we go out in our work clothes?”

Joe tended to wear jeans and an open-necked shirt at work, whereas Chrissie worked in the legal department of a brokerage firm where business attire was expected. She was currently in a smart skirt suit and blouse, black high heels and nylons with her hair pinned up. “We can call at home if you’d be more comfortable in your civvies.”

She shook her head. “I’m happy to go out like this. People can assume that you’re my sub.”

The pub was fairly busy, but they had no problem finding a table. After ordering their food, they chatted about their respective days. Joe wondered if Chrissie would mention their middle-of-the-night tryst, but the subject was never raised. They spent a pleasant couple of hours in the pub, then went home and watched TV for a while before going to bed, where they made love before Joe fell into a dreamless sleep.

He spent the following day going through the details of the upcoming presentation with Alistair. By the time he left the office, he was confident they’d got every possible question covered.

Back at home, Chrissie had some reading to do for work, so Joe offered to make dinner while she got started. As he was preparing the stir-fry in the kitchen, Ava’s red VW Golf GTI pulled onto her drive. He watched her get out of her car and walk to her house. She wore a smart black trouser suit and heels, her long brown hair hanging down her back in a French plait. Just as she got to the porch she stopped, turned, and looked directly at him. He froze like a rabbit caught in headlights, then raised his hand and waved. She gave him an amused smile then disappeared through the front door.

Joe left Chrissie to finish her work prep while he cleared up. He read the latest Lee Child novel in bed for a while before turning off the lamp and going to sleep.

He dreamt he was in a room full of Japanese businessmen, several of whom were standing in a circle. As he got closer, Joe saw a naked woman kneeling on a low table. She had her back to him, the light hitting the long French plait that hung down her back.

Several of the men had their trousers open and were jerking off. One shouted something and, as the girl leaned closer, he ejaculated onto her chest. A murmur of excitement rose from the surrounding crowd. Another of the men yelled out. When the girl turned to her left, Joe saw her face in profile. As he'd expected, it was Ava.

The second man dropped his head back and grunted. A thick rope of cum arced from him and landed on Ava's upturned face. She gasped and opened her mouth, and the buzz of the crowd grew louder still. The guy's next spurt splattered onto her chest, and the third fell short, sprinkling the tabletop where her knees rested.

The guy to Joe's immediate left was pumping his own cock, and he said something in Japanese to Ava. She smiled and shuffled around on her knees until directly in front of him. Her face and body were already covered—Joe estimated it must have taken about a dozen men to get her that messy. The latest guy fired his first shot into her hair, and the subsequent ones into her face.

Ava's eyelashes were caked, and she had to blink a few times before she could open her eyes fully. She licked the mess from around her lips, then shuffled around again until she was kneeling directly in front of Joe.

As she looked up into his face with her violet eyes, she gave him the same amused smile she'd given him from her driveway while he'd been making dinner. Joe was surprised to see he had his cock in his hand and was pumping it. Ava leaned closer and pouted, urging him to add his own cream to the mess covering her face and body. Joe pumped faster, and the buzz of the crowd got louder still. Ava parted her lips and took his dick into her mouth.

Joe shuddered and woke.

But the sensation didn't stop.

His dick was still being sucked, and the background buzz he could hear was louder than ever.

He opened his eyes and saw the familiar outline of the streetlights creeping around the edge of their bedroom curtains. As he pushed the quilt away, he saw his wife's head bobbing up and down. The buzzing sound was constantly changing, alternating between loud and subdued. It took several seconds to realise that Chrissie was sucking him off while pleasuring herself with her vibrator. The loud-quiet pattern accelerated as she pumped her hand faster, and then he felt the vibrations of her moaning around his cock.

Joe's lower body seemed to turn to hot caramel. He arched his back and came. Chrissie gulped and swallowed, her head bouncing faster to draw out more spurts as she cried and groaned. Her body shook as her own orgasm hit. He reached down and ran his hands over her hot, sweaty back. The buzzing sound got louder and then stopped as she eased the vibrator out and switched it off.

They finally stilled but lay in the same position for a while. Joe thought about the dream's setting. He'd known Ava had worked in Japan, so maybe the fantasy of her being a bukkake girl was already somewhere in his subconscious.

After a minute or so, Chrissie moved up to lie on his chest.

He held her close and kissed her forehead. "What the fuck just happened?"

"I should ask you the same. I was woken by your masturbating."

"Really?"

"Mm-hmm. I was fast asleep and felt you moving. I thought you were shaking to wake me, but when I looked, you were beating your meat in your sleep."

"Wow."

She kissed his cheek. "I decided that if you were going to play with yourself, I'd do the same."

"But you didn't just let me play with myself."

"No." She blew in his ear. "I thought you deserved more than a wank after making a lovely dinner."

He wondered if the course of the dream had been changed when Chrissie decided to give him oral sex as well. "Well, I'm glad you did."

"Me too." She ran her hand down his arm, then rolled onto her own side of the bed. "I don't know what's gotten into us lately. That's three nights running you've abused me."

He laughed. "I'm not sure who's doing the abusing, but I'm not complaining."

"Well at least I'll be guaranteed a full night's sleep tomorrow while you're in Oxford."

Joe reached down and pulled the vibrator from beneath the quilt.
“Maybe I should take the batteries out of this, just to make sure you sleep.”
“Don’t you dare!”

Chapter 2

Alistair insisted on driving to Oxford, claiming he got travelsick as a passenger, so Joe was able to relax during the journey. Since the budget hotel only served breakfast, guests were directed to the adjacent Beefeater establishment for anything else. Joe and Alistair decided to get a taxi into town and find a pub for dinner. After a huge plate of lasagne and three pints of Guinness each, the men headed back to their hotel and agreed to meet for breakfast at seven-thirty.

Just before turning his light off, Joe sent Chrissie a good night text. The beers and the journey caught up with him and he soon fell asleep.

In tonight's dream, he and Alistair were walking across an alien landscape. The sky was a subdued orange and a ground mist hung around them. The air was cold, their breaths condensing in front of their faces with each exhale. Above their heads, the bare trees bent and twisted like arthritic hands. The only sound was the occasional screech in the distance from some unidentified creature. They walked on, their steps silent on the purple moss.

Through the swirling mist, Ava came into view, completely naked except for a pair of heeled ankle boots. Her hair was tied up in a chignon, and her skin had a pale green tinge that somehow enhanced the colour of her violet eyes.

"Fucking Hell," Alistair whispered.

Ava smiled at them, turned, and led them to a flat rock covered with purple moss. She sat down and summoned them closer. Once they were standing in front of her, she quickly unfastened Alistair's trousers and released his erection. She parted her dark lips and took him into her mouth, making him groan.

Joe watched in silence as Ava moved her head back and forth on Alistair's cock. Her eyes were locked on Alistair's, and then she brought her right hand to just below his balls. She held up her forefinger, which seemed to glow from within. The fingertip shone and became the same shade of violet as her eyes.

Ava opened her mouth, pulled back, then stuck out an impossibly long tongue, black and pointed, which reached beneath the full length of his cock. She touched her glowing fingertip against his balls, and he cried as a thick spurt of cum shot into her open mouth. The black tongue wrapped around his cock like a snake squeezing its prey. Alistair grunted again as more cum was coaxed out, the pearly white globs coating the shiny black surface.

Ava eventually released him and turned her violet eyes on Joe. He held his breath as she unzipped him and took his cock into her mouth. The hot warmth made him shudder but—unlike on previous occasions—he somehow managed to remain within the dream. He could feel her tongue gripping and pumping him inside her mouth. It was like being jerked off and sucked off at the same time.

Her eyes smiled up at him as she pulled her head back and uncurled her long alien tongue beneath his cock. The touch from her glowing forefinger was like an electric shock. He jolted as he came, his movement sending the first gush up onto her face. It left a thick, upside-down tick of cum over her nose and left cheek, like an inverted Nike logo. She got the tip of his cock in her mouth in time for the subsequent eruptions and, as she had for Alistair, used her tongue to squeeze out the last few drops.

Ava stood up and stepped close, running a finger through the mess on her cheek. She narrowed her eyes. “You dirty boy.” She held up the messy fingertip, then touched it to Joe’s lips. When he didn’t open his mouth, she applied a little pressure and pushed her cum-covered finger between his lips, which woke him up.

It took a couple of seconds to remember he was alone in a hotel room. He clicked on the light over the bed and stared at his body. The bedcovers were down by his knees and there was a splash of cum on his naked belly. He’d either been jerking off in his sleep again, or had just experienced his first-ever wet dream. As he stared at his tummy, he realised the pattern of cum was identical to that on Ava’s face. In his confused, half-awake state, this seemed... really odd.

He visited the bathroom to clean himself up, then settled back down in bed. He turned off the light and lay in the dark waiting for sleep to return, but it didn't. The dream had unnerved him. Then he heard his mobile give the muted tom-tom beat announcing an incoming text. He picked it up and checked the time: 02:16. The text was from Chrissie. He clicked on the message.

I hope you're getting more sleep than I am.

He frowned, worried that she somehow knew he'd been jerking off in his sleep again. He tapped out a quick reply.

If I was, I wouldn't have heard your text arrive.

Chrissie's follow-up text arrived immediately:

You have an excuse if you're worrying about your presentation. I don't have an excuse, but I'm glad you didn't remove the batteries.

She'd signed off with a blushing emoji and a smiley one. Joe laughed out loud, but the thought of his wife pleasuring herself also raised his heartbeat. He called her, and she picked up on the second ring.

"Hello, you," she said in a husky voice that made him ache for her.

"Hi."

"What can I do for you at this time of night?" Her voice was playful.

"There are a lot of things you could do for me if we weren't a hundred and fifty miles apart."

She giggled. "It's a shame, but I had a worthy stand-in to take your place."

"Oh did you?"

"Hmm."

"And how was he?"

"He was just as good as last night. What's more, he's still nice and hard."

Joe blinked in the dark. Chrissie usually refused to answer any of his questions regarding how often she used the sex toy he'd bought her for Valentine's Day a couple of years back. "So he's ready for more, but are you?"

"Maybe." She let out an exaggerated sigh. "But I know you have an important presentation to do tomorrow, so I should really let you sleep."

"The presentation's not that important."

Chrissie giggled. "I thought you'd been sent all that way to show them how brilliant you are at analysing their figures."

"It's only an update, not the final thing."

“So you’re not eager to rush off to sleep?”

“I’m eager for a lot of things right now, but sleep isn’t one of them.”

She laughed down the phone. “What are you suggesting?”

Joe pictured his wife lying in bed. “First of all, I’d like you to tell me what you’re wearing.”

“Oh, the usual. Peephole bra, crotchless panties, stockings and high heels.”

“Yeah, me too.”

Chrissie laughed. “Tell me what you’re really wearing.”

“I’m stark-bollock-naked.”

“Hmm, nice. I’m in panties and a tee.”

“I think you should take them both off.”

There was a rustle as she dropped the phone and moved in the bed, then she was back. “Okay, I’m now stark-bollock-naked too, if that term actually applies to someone without bollocks.”

“I don’t believe you. Send me a selfie.”

“Dream on. You could leave your phone on your desk and all your mates will see it.”

“Spoilsport.”

“I can hang up now if you like...?”

“No! Don’t do that. I want to hear what you do with your stand-in.”

She breathed into the phone. “And why would you want to do that?”

“It’ll make my night alone more bearable.”

“If I use him again, it’ll make my night alone more bearable, too.”

Joe’s heart thumped in his chest. “So what are you waiting for?”

There was another rustle, then a buzzing sound. “Are you sure you want me to do this?” she asked.

“God, yeah.”

“Okay.” The buzzing sound muted and Chrissie let out a sigh.

Joe closed his eyes and tried to visualise his wife’s face. “Are you imagining it’s me?”

“Of course not. Do you fantasise about me when you have a wank?”

Her words made his eyes snap open. “I... Yeah, of course.”

“Liar.” She gave another laugh. “Well, I’m not thinking about you now.”

“Who are you thinking about?”

“Some nameless guy who just picked me up in a bar.” She gave a quiet grunt. “I was out with a friend, and some guy came over to tell me how good he’d make me feel if I let him take me to the alley out back.”

Joe smiled. “I can’t see a chat-up line like that working on you.”

“Well, it worked tonight, because I let him.”

His throat was closing in, making it hard to talk. “And what happened when you got there?”

“He pushed me to my knees, opened his trousers and told me to suck his cock.”

Frowning, Joe wondered what had gotten into her. He knew that in the real world, she’d never have been picked up like this. Furthermore, any man who spoke to her in that way would have had his penis bitten off.

“What did you do?”

“I sucked his cock.”

“Did he like it?”

“Oh yeah.”

“And did he come?”

“No. As soon as he was fully hard he pulled me up and bent me over a dustbin.”

“Ooh, sexy.”

Chrissie laughed. “It’s a clean dustbin, but it’s a dirty fantasy.”

“Oh?”

“Hmm, because as soon as I was bent over the bin, he lifted my skirt, pulled my thong to one side, and slid his big hard cock inside me.”

Her breathing had become heavy. From the buzzing sounds, he could tell she was pumping her toy faster. “Did he make you come like that?”

“He will. I’m still bent over the bin, and he’s still fucking me.”

“What about your friend?”

“She knows what I’m up to.”

This was so unlike Chrissie, but Joe didn’t care. “She’ll think you’re easy.”

“I don’t care. She’s inside sipping white wine spritzers, I’m outside getting reamed by a huge cock. I know which of us is having the better night.”

Joe's cock was getting harder by the second. He pictured what Chrissie was describing, then a thought occurred. "You don't usually come when you're fucked from behind."

"Yeah, but I'm not usually fucked from behind by someone with a cock this big."

"Bitch."

She laughed.

"Maybe he'll reach around and rub your clit while he's fucking you."

Chrissie gave a quiet moan. "Maybe he will."

Joe lowered his voice to a whisper. "Are you rubbing your clit now?"

"Yeah."

"Are you going to come?"

"Mm hmm."

"Will he?"

"Oh yeah, he'll come with me."

"At the same time?"

"Mmm."

"Is he wearing a condom?"

"It's a fantasy, Joe. Do you wear a condom when you fuck your dream dates?"

The inclusion of the word 'dream' ripped him out of the moment. Could Chrissie know he'd been having dreams about their neighbour?

"Oh, I'm going to come."

Joe closed his eyes and tried to recapture the image of his wife bent over in an alley as some unknown man took her from behind. "I'm glad he's going to make you come."

"Hmm. Are you jacking off?"

"No." This wasn't exactly true. He was stroking his erection but with no intention of taking himself all the way.

"Why not?"

"Because when I come, I want to be inside you."

Her breathing got louder in the earpiece. "Joe, I'm close."

"Is he?"

"Yeah. He's fucking me hard and calling me dirty names."

“What sort of names?”

“Slut. Whore. Cum-bucket.”

“You’re none of those things.”

“I am tonight. I’m his slut, his whore, and soon I’ll be his cum-bucket.”

Chrissie never said things like this. Joe was about to ask if she usually fantasised about these sorts of liaisons when her moans made it obvious she was coming. He closed his eyes and listened, his cock now aching. He’d probably have to make himself come after this.

Chrissie eventually quietened down, then he heard the buzzing stop abruptly, without getting louder. Either she’d turned it off before withdrawing it, or she’d turned it off but left it inside. He hoped it was the latter.

“How was it for you?” he asked.

She gave a quiet, sated sigh. “It was very nice, thanks for asking.”

“I wish I was there with you.”

“Hmm. Maybe my man would bend you over the bin and give you the same.”

Joe laughed. “Thanks, but no thanks.”

“Did you come?” She sounded like she was smiling.

“No, but now I’m really horny.”

“Good. It’s fine if you want to make yourself come. I can guarantee I’ll be able to make you do it again tomorrow night.”

“Promise?”

“Oh yeah.” She sighed, and he heard her moving on the bed. “Right, I need to charge my phone and put my nightwear back on.”

“Okay, I’ll see you tomorrow.”

“Good luck with the presentation.”

“Thanks. Night, love.” Joe ended the call, closed his eyes and continued to stroke his cock.

Though still a little shocked, he replayed what she’d described. In his mind’s eye, he was watching Chrissie in the alley with the well-hung stranger through a gap in the curtains of the pub window. Her expression was a mixture of pain and pleasure as the guy plunged into her over and over again.

A head pushed against his own, peering through the curtains with him. “That’s so fucking hot,” a woman’s voice said.

Joe turned, surprised to not only see Ava sitting next to him, but also to hear her thoughts on his wife being fucked by a stranger. “What’s hot?”

She smiled at him. “Chrissie taking another man, and you jerking off watching her do it.”

As her voice echoed around his head, the warm splash of semen on his tummy confirmed her words. He closed his eyes and wondered how Ava had managed to gate-crash the phone call and fantasy. With a sigh, he got up and went to the bathroom to clean himself again.

As he slipped into bed, he saw another text from Chrissie.

Did you make yourself come?

He smiled, tapped out a quick ‘Yes’ followed by an emoji of a man with sweat beads on his head. She replied with a smile and kiss. He put his phone down and managed to get back to sleep almost immediately.

Chapter 3

Their presentation well-received, Joe and Alistair left Oxford mid-afternoon to avoid the worst of the traffic. Alistair dropped him off at their office, and he got in his own car and drove home.

Chrissie was in the kitchen making dinner, which was a nice surprise. She was also wearing a dress with heels, which was an even nicer surprise. He stared wide-eyed from the kitchen door, making her laugh.

“Welcome home,” she said with a smile.

As she kissed his cheek, he could smell the expensive perfume he’d bought her for Christmas. He dropped his holdall and stroked her blonde hair, which had obviously been washed then dried with curling tongs. “You look and smell great.”

“Well, I thought I should do my wifely duty and welcome you home from your business trip with a hot meal.”

“Thanks.” He slipped his hands onto her hips and pulled her close. “And what about the hair, the makeup, the dress and the sexy shoes?”

“I thought you deserved a hot wife, too.”

“I have the hottest wife in the street.”

“Hmm. And after dinner, she’s going to give you some hot sex to make up for last night’s flying solo mission.” She looked down at his suit and tie. “Do you want to get changed?”

He nodded, picked up his bag and went upstairs. Since she’d dressed up, he decided to do the same. He stripped and took a shower, splashed on some aftershave, then dressed in a smart pair of trousers, clean shirt and tie. He headed back downstairs to find her in the lounge with an open bottle of red and two of their posh glasses.

She looked up and smiled. “Ooh, you look handsome.”

“Well, I’m hoping to get lucky.”

She laughed and poured the wine. They ate in the dining room, which they only usually did when entertaining, and then returned to the lounge and cuddled on the couch in front of a cosy log fire.

“Can I ask you a question?” he whispered. “It’s about last night.”

Her eyes sparkled. “I thought it might be.”

“Do you always make up little fantasies like that?”

“No. Sometimes I just need to get off.” She shrugged. “I was horny. I needed a release.”

He watched her face, trying not to show how much he liked the idea of her being in a state where she had to make herself come. “But... you were quite detailed about the guy in the alley.”

She smiled. “Did you enjoy it?”

“Yeah. In a voyeuristic sort of way, it was really sexy.”

“What did you fantasise about when you wanked off later?”

“I used your fantasy.”

She looked deep into his eyes. “And who did you bend over the bin to fuck?”

The question surprised him. “Nobody. Literally, I used your fantasy—I was in the pub watching you through the window.”

“Really?” She blinked and shook her head. “Wow.”

He wondered if admitting it had been a mistake. Would him fantasising about her with another man make it seem like he didn’t care enough about her? “Would you rather I’d fantasised about me being with another woman?”

“I don’t think there’s any rules on what goes on inside our heads.”

“Yeah, but I wouldn’t want you to think I was pimping you out as a way to get off.”

She laughed and shook her hair back. “That’s fine with me. I’m flattered that you fantasise about me at all.”

They stared at each other for a few moments, and he felt his cock begin to grow. “So, I’ve had a hot dinner with my hot wife...” He scratched his chin, frowning. “What else did you say I was going to get?”

“I think it was hot sex.”

“Oh yeah, I remember now.” Joe gave a smile. “Are you going to drag me upstairs?”

“No, I’m going to have you on the rug in front of the fire.”

“Okay.”

“But first, you’re going to make use of that clever little tongue of yours.”

Joe liked that idea so much his cock was now straining against his trousers.

“And then—” she ran her hand over the bulge of his crotch “—you can lie on the rug, and I’ll do things that’ll take away this swelling.”

As Joe slid off the couch onto his knees, Chrissie hitched up her dress and opened her legs. She wasn’t wearing any panties. He glanced up at her face in surprise.

She shrugged. “Like the guy from my fantasy said, I’m a slut.”

Joe pulled her bum closer to the edge of the cushion, placed his hands on her inner thighs and gently pressed until she’d spread her legs as wide as possible. The high heels emphasised her calf muscles, making her legs look incredibly sexy. He lowered his face and inhaled her excitement. As he ran his tongue through her wet folds, she let out a hushed moan. He repeated the action before moving down to push his tongue inside her. Lapping at her juices, he focused on tongue-fucking her for a while before moving up to her clit.

Chrissie gasped as his tongue flicked over the engorged bud. She wrapped her fingers in his hair and pushed herself up against his mouth when he gently sucked it. She was soon grinding herself against his face, her moans getting louder and louder.

As she raised herself off the seat, he slipped his hands underneath and gripped her buttocks, pulling her onto his face. With a final scream, she came, rubbing against him for a few moments before pushing his head away and lowering herself back down, thighs trembling.

Joe sat back on his haunches and watched her face.

Her eyes were closed, and she looked calm and relaxed. Eventually she opened her eyes and smiled at him. “Thank you,” she whispered.

“My pleasure.”

“Lie on your back and push your trousers down to your knees.”

He did so.

Chrissie stood over him, a heeled shoe on either side of his waist. She looked down into his eyes and slowly pulled up her dress.

He moved his gaze from her face to between her legs. Her sex seemed to glisten in the firelight. Chrissie pulled the dress all the way off but left her bra on. Keeping her feet to the floor, she bent her knees until she was squatting over him. Joe was impressed by how supple her body was, thanking his lucky stars that she still did yoga twice a week.

She gripped his cock, stared into his eyes and lowered herself down. He let out a sigh, and she began to slowly move on him. He watched her face while she fucked him, wondering why he dreamt about Ava when he was married to someone as sexy as Chrissie. Their lovemaking went on for a long time. After a while she changed positions to kneel on the floor.

He could tell from her breathing and movements that she was going to come again soon. As she rocked faster, he knew he'd come with her. He gripped her hips, silently encouraging her to go a little faster, bounce a little harder, take him a little deeper. Chrissie's eyelids fluttered and her mouth dropped open.

The first clench of her orgasm tipped him over the edge and he exploded inside her. She cried out, jerking her hips. He grunted and groaned with her, then pulled her down and crushed her to him as the final spasms of his orgasm thrummed and faded, leaving him weak and sated.

She raised her head and looked down at him, their faces almost touching and enclosed in the curtain of her hanging hair. "How was that?"

"Better than any fantasy I've ever had."

She gently kissed his lips, climbed off and picked up her dress. Once she'd left the room, Joe got up and pulled his trousers up. Chrissie returned a couple of minutes later with her dress back on but her feet now bare. She refilled both their wine glasses, then came to sit next to him.

They sat in silence for a few moments, then she turned to him. "I dreamt that you fucked Ava."

Joe almost dropped his glass. He didn't know how to react and tried to make himself smile. "Did I enjoy it?"

She laughed. "You both seemed to be having a good time."

He wasn't about to admit he'd dreamt about Ava several times. Not yet. "When did you dream that?"

"Last night, after I finally got to sleep."

"Where did it happen?"

"In her garden."

A coldness gripped his stomach. "Really?"

She nodded. "You'd gone round to cut her grass, and I had to go upstairs to get something from our bedroom. When I looked out of the window, Ava was on all fours in the garden with you pushing her harder than you've ever pushed your lawnmower."

"Did you bang on the window and shout at me?"

Chrissie frowned and shook her head. "No, I didn't seem to think of that."

"So what did you do?"

"I just watched. Once you'd finished, you went back to cutting the grass, Ava resumed weeding the border, and I carried on with whatever I'd been doing."

He shook his head, partly surprised by her reaction to the dream but mostly freaked out by its similarity to his own—except he'd woken up the second he'd entered Ava from behind. Chrissie seemed to have witnessed the whole thing. "It seems strange that your dream was so close to your fantasy from earlier."

"Was it?"

Joe nodded. "They both involved one of us having sex with somebody else in the same position."

"Yeah, I suppose they did." She gave a smile, then picked up the TV remote. "Shall we see what's on telly?"

"If you like."

She chose an episode of some US crime drama. Joe hardly paid any attention. Over the past week, he'd had four dreams about Ava—her fingering herself on the doorstep, him fucking her in her garden, wanking over her in the bukkake club, and Alien Ava sucking him and Alistair off. In each of the first three, her hair had matched the style she'd worn the last time he'd seen her—in a ponytail, loose and pulled forward over one shoulder, and then in a French plait. In the fourth, she'd had it tied up in a chignon.

Then he realised that he'd only actually seen Ava in person three times.

Chrissie shook his arm, and he realised she'd been talking to him. "I'm sorry, what?"

She smiled. "I asked if you want to watch anything else, but it seems you're already falling asleep."

"Yeah, some strange woman kept me awake all night with dirty phone calls and texts."

“Come on, let’s go to bed.”

Joe put up the fireguard and turned off all the lights, then followed his wife upstairs. In bed they held each other close, and Joe soon fell into a dreamless sleep.

Ψ

—E—

Chapter 4

The following morning, Joe drove into town to drop off Chrissie's dry cleaning and pick up a few groceries. He also bought a selection of pastries for a late breakfast. When he got home an hour later, Chrissie and Ava were chatting in the front garden. He felt a weird tingle when he saw their neighbour. Her hair was tied up in a chignon, exactly like in his alien dream. He got out of his car and smiled at the women.

"Hi Joe," Ava said, smiling.

"Morning."

"How about a coffee?" Chrissie asked.

Ava checked their faces. "Don't let me slow you guys down if you have plans."

Chrissie shook her head. "We don't have plans."

Joe held up the bag from the patisserie. "And I have nibbles."

Chrissie led them into the kitchen and placed the pastries on a plate. "Want to turn the coffee maker on, babe?"

He nodded, then frowned. "Last time I used it there was a problem with the milk frothing thing."

“It worked okay yesterday.” She turned to Ava and directed her to a stool at the kitchen island. “So, how are you settling in?”

“Fine, thanks. It’s lovely and quiet down this road, isn’t it?”

“Yeah. We love it here.”

Joe added coffee beans and milk to the machine, then sat on a stool and picked up a vanilla Danish. “Do you work locally?”

“I’m home based but need to travel to visit clients two or three times a week.”

“What is it you do?” Chrissie asked.

“I work for an artists’ agency. We’re responsible for all aspects such as guidance, promotion, PR and marketing.”

Joe had never met anyone who did this for a living. “You mean artists like musicians and such?”

“No, we’re visual arts only. Painters, sculptors, photographers.”

“And what do your client visits involve?” Chrissie asked, obviously intrigued.

“Anything from liaising with galleries for exhibitions, approving promotional material and negotiating advertising costs.” Ava laughed. “It sounds more exciting than it is. Sometimes it’s as mundane as asking galleries how many pictures can be exhibited at once, or what sort of lighting they have.”

The coffee machine started to make a weird noise and Joe went to look at it. Milk was leaking out from the side. Ava came to stand next to him, placing an empty cup under the spout while Chrissie reached for the kitchen towel roll.

Suddenly, milk froth squirted out of the front of the machine and hit Ava in the face. Joe turned—about to ask if she was alright—but he could only stare, his mouth open in shock. On Ava’s face was a thick dollop of milk froth. It had landed on her nose and across her left cheek, forming an upside tick.

She ran her finger through it, narrowed her eyes and looked at Joe. “You dirty boy.”

He was speechless. This was exactly like the dream. As Ava pointed her frothy finger at his face, he parted his lips and let her slip it into his mouth.

Chrissie stepped forward and passed Ava some kitchen towel, and Joe snapped out of his trance.

“Thanks,” Ava said, laughing as she wiped the mess from her face.

“Were you burnt?” Chrissie sounded concerned.

“No. I’m fine, really.”

Without anyone touching it, the machine made a gurgling sound and dispensed a perfect latte into the waiting mug. Joe placed another mug under the spout and pressed the button. Another latte was dispensed.

Chrissie picked up the two mugs and carried them back to the island for Ava and herself. Joe placed a third cup under the spout but only got two-thirds of a cupful before the machine clicked off.

He joined the women and tried to join in with their conversation but found himself too freaked out. He was aware of Chrissie watching him but didn’t know how to make himself feel more relaxed. Ava was wearing that amused smile, yet again.

Once the pastries were finished and the coffees had been drunk, Ava made her excuses and left. Chrissie tidied the cups and plates into the dishwasher before she stood and looked questioningly at her husband.

“What?” he asked, trying to look more assured than he felt.

“What was all that ‘dirty boy’ and finger sucking about?”

“I think she was trying to make light of the fact our dodgy kitchen appliance nearly scalded her.”

“Hmm.” She frowned. “Did you make a suggestive expression at her?”

“No. I just stared in total surprise because the coffee maker’s never done that before.”

She didn’t look convinced but walked to the coffee machine and began to dismantle it. “I’ll give everything a good clean and try it again later. We’ve had it ages, so maybe it’s time to invest in a new one.”

Joe nodded. “Did Ava say anything about finding a gardener?”

“Yeah, she’s sorted. Thanked us for the mag and offered to return it, but I told her to keep it in case she needs any other services before she gets her own copy next month.”

They spent a little time doing small chores around the house, then made the most of the weather with a walk around a nature reserve in the Derbyshire Peak District.

It was just going dark when they arrived home after dinner. There were no lights on next door. Maybe Ava had gone out on a date.

After turning the light out, he lay awake for a long time thinking about what had happened with Ava and the coffee machine, and how closely it mirrored what had happened in his dream. He was almost afraid to go to sleep. As it was, he slept peacefully. Whatever dreams he may have had, he couldn't remember them when he woke up the following morning.

* * * *

Sunday was another sunny day, and over breakfast Chrissie mentioned that she'd seen an advert for a summer fete in a nearby village. "Fancy going along for an hour?"

Joe shrugged. "Yeah, we can if you like." He was tired, and a little disappointed that he hadn't had another X-rated dream.

"It's just a suggestion. If you don't want to go, we—"

"Yeah, it'll be nice." He smiled, feeling a little guilty for his less than enthusiastic response.

After breakfast, Joe showered and dressed first. He waited on the patio in a pair of combat shorts and t-shirt, and Chrissie came down fifteen minutes later in a pale blue summer dress and flat sandals. As they walked down their drive towards Joe's car, Ava came out of her front door.

"Good morning." Their neighbour also wore a summer dress—a red one with matching high heeled shoes and Alice band.

"Hiya," Chrissie said. "Ooh, I love your outfit."

"Thank you." Ava flashed a friendly smile. "I'm meeting friends for lunch so thought I should make an effort."

"Nice. We're off to the village fete in Branten."

The two cars were adjacent on their driveways. When Ava stopped next to her GTI, she was close enough for Joe to smell her perfume. She had on more makeup and was showing more skin than he'd yet seen outside of his dreams.

"Well, have a great time." Ava opened her car door.

"Thanks. You too."

As Chrissie got into the passenger seat, Joe glanced at Ava. She gave him a knowing smile, slipped on her sunglasses and climbed into her car.

He waited until she'd reversed off her drive and driven down the road before he did the same. By the time he'd got to the first junction, Ava's car was out of sight.

The village fair was busier than he'd expected, with a hog roast and licensed bar. There was a tug of war competition for the ladies, which Chrissie joined, and a Morris dancing display that men were invited to join, which Joe flatly refused. They got home in the middle of the afternoon and Ava's car wasn't on her drive. When Joe took the wheelie bin down to the kerb on Sunday evening, Ava still hadn't returned.

As he settled down in bed that night, he had an inkling that he'd dream about Ava again. He wasn't wrong.

This time Joe dreamt he was in a crowded nightclub with strobe lights and loud grunge music. He was buffeted by hundreds of people as he made his way across the crowded dancefloor. He saw Ava standing a few feet away, talking with two tall men in black suits and bowties. Probably bouncers. Ava was all in red, but she only had on silk underwear, high heels and an Alice band. As he approached, she turned to look at him and the bouncers retreated to stand either side of an archway that led into another part of the club.

Beyond the archway, people were dancing close and kissing, most of them having discarded their clothes. All the men seemed to have bulging muscles and ripped abs, and the women were beautiful with great bodies. He looked around and saw Ava now talking to a guy wearing a fitted black t-shirt and leather trousers. He was wide across the shoulders and narrow at the waist. Ava looked up into his face and smiled as she ran her hand over his crotch. She turned to the bouncers and nodded, and the guy sauntered between them to the half-naked zone.

Then Ava was standing next to Joe. She offered him one of her enigmatic smiles, so he nodded toward the archway.

Ava put her mouth to his ear so that he'd hear her over the music. "I'll need to check ID before you can get into the VIP area."

He frowned and checked his pockets. They were empty.

She laughed and ran her hand over the front of his pants. "This is what I mean." With that, she dropped to her knees and unzipped his trousers.

Joe looked around in panic, but nobody seemed to be paying them any attention.

Ava was studying his cock. She gripped it in her hand and pumped it a few times, then took it into her mouth and sucked him until he was fully hard. Then she released him, frowning. She reached out and cupped his balls, and only then did he see she had the markings of a ruler tattooed on her inner forearm. She held his cock flat to measure it, and he saw the tip reaching about halfway between the 7 and 8.

Ava stood up and shook her head. "I'm sorry."

In his confusion he felt self-conscious. He tucked his cock back into his trousers, struggling to zip them up over his erection. "What do you—?"

"I'm afraid you don't meet the requirements." She placed a hand on his chest and nodded towards the people behind him in the club. "There are a lot of women out there for you to go at, but I'm afraid our VIP ladies demand certain qualities in the men we allow to join them."

Joe wasn't sure how to respond.

Ava gave him an apologetic pat on the chest. "I'm sorry, but you're almost two inches shorter than the minimum."

The bouncers sneered at Joe from behind her. He glanced through the archway at the gyrating people on the dancefloor. A tall, muscular guy was dancing with a blonde woman, their naked chests crushed together. As the guy turned her around, Joe saw the woman was Chrissie.

The shock jarred him from his dream.

He lay in the dark, heart crashing in his chest. His cock was still hard from Dream Ava's blowjob, but the sight of his wife dancing naked with a guy had been unsettling. Another thing that bothered him was that he knew the guy she'd been dancing with had a cock that was at least nine inches long.

As this thought was filtering through his brain, Chrissie let out a low moan in her sleep. Suddenly Joe was back in reality, his dream forgotten. He remembered Chrissie sucking him off when he'd been having a dirty dream, and the thought of returning the favour turned him on.

He reached down and traced a finger down her thigh. Chrissie sighed and wriggled, rolling flat onto her back. He repeated the action and she let out another moan. Joe slid his head beneath the quilt and gently eased her thighs apart. Chrissie moaned and spread her legs wide.

Positioning himself between her knees, he pushed his tongue against the gusset of her panties. It was already soaked with her juices, and Chrissie immediately started to rock her hips. He could smell her arousal. Chrissie ground herself against his face, holding him in position with her hand on the back of his head.

Easing the gusset to one side, he was shocked at how wet she was. As soon as he touched his tongue to her clit, she arched up off the bed and grunted. He pushed two fingers inside her, and the clenching of her muscles confirmed she was coming. He sucked her clit and pumped his fingers. Chrissie bucked beneath him.

“Cock,” she rasped. “Give me your cock.”

He moved up her body and entered her.

Chrissie moaned and wrapped her legs around his. “Fuck me,” she whispered.

Joe drove into her with long, slow strokes.

She moaned and writhed beneath him, her fingernails digging into his buttocks as she urged him deeper. “Yeah, that’s it.”

His head was next to hers. Her breath was hot in his ear, her voice an intimate whisper. He wasn’t going to last long.

“Mmm, fuck me slowly while he watches.”

Joe’s eyes snapped open. Chrissie was grinding herself against him, her breathing coming in short gasps. He raised his head to look into her face, but the room was too dark to see if her eyes were open. He didn’t know if this was a conscious fantasy or still part of her dream. Was she reliving his take on her own fantasy of getting fucked in the alley while he watched?

Chrissie rocked beneath him, grinding her clit against his pelvic bone. She pulled his head down until her mouth was next to his ear again. “Yeah, that’s it. Show him how good you can make me feel. Let him see you make me... Oh!”

The grip of her orgasm brought Joe off at the same time. He banged into her with force and erupted inside her. They both grunted and moaned as their bodies spasmed and jerked. Eventually they stilled and lay panting on the bed, the sheets sticking to their sweating bodies.

“Ava’s right,” Chrissie whispered in the dark. “You are a dirty boy.”

Mention of their neighbour immediately put him on the defensive. Trying to keep his voice casual, he said, "It wasn't me who was having dirty dreams tonight."

Chrissie giggled. "No, but you started fucking me while I was asleep."

"No I didn't. I went down on you while you were asleep, then you woke up and told me to fuck you."

"Did I?" She shrugged. "The first thing I was aware of was you pounding me hard and us coming together."

"Really?"

She nodded, eased him off her and snuggled into him, her arm around his waist. "But I'm not complaining." She kissed his chest.

"That was your second orgasm. You had the first while I was going down on you."

"Yeah?" She sounded pleasantly surprised. "I didn't know I could come while sleeping."

"And you were talking to me, too."

"Oh?"

"Well... you were talking to someone. Were you back in the alleyway with Mr Cum-bucket?"

"No, I dreamt we were in a club."

His stomach chilled. "A club?"

"Yeah. I was in a room with other couples. Everyone was dancing and you were watching us through the doorway."

Joe's mind raced. Tumbled. "And what happened?"

"Some hunky guy asked me to dance, but then I noticed all the other couples were naked."

"What did you do?"

"I took off my dress and kept dancing."

This was spooky. "You just danced?"

"No. After a while we went over to a couch, and..."

"And what?"

"He stroked my body while you watched."

Joe's felt as if he was being strangled. "Did he fuck you?" he managed to whisper.

“He probably would have done if you hadn’t woken me up and taken his place.”

He forced himself to laugh, trying desperately to sound matter-of-fact. “Should I be sorry?”

“No, I still got to come.” She kissed him again, then turned over. “Now, stop abusing me and let me sleep.”

Joe did as she asked, but he stayed awake for a long time.

Chapter 5

Joe couldn't concentrate at work. Something weird was happening, and he had no idea what to do about it. He and Chrissie had now shared two completely different dreams—him fucking Ava in the garden, and Chrissie taking some guy in a club while he watched. And then there was the coffee maker incident. No way could all these things be coincidental.

Years earlier, he'd read something about women who controlled dreams in the Middle Ages being persecuted as witches. He didn't think Ava was a witch, but how on earth could she be doing—?

"Seen the email from the guys in Oxford?"

Joe looked up, startled. "Sorry?" He hadn't noticed Alistair standing by his desk.

"They've sent us some extrapolated figures to look at. We could be making another visit in the next couple of weeks."

"Okay, I'll have a look. Shall we catch up later to discuss?"

"Sounds good." Alistair wandered back to his own office.

Joe shook his head and opened the email, determined to get his mind back on things he could understand.

That evening, after Chrissie had gone to her yoga class, he saw Ava out in her front garden. Without really thinking what he was going to say, he went out under the pretence of getting something from his garage.

"Hi, Joe," she called as he walked down his drive.

"Oh, hello." His attempt to sound surprised to see her sounded hollow, even to him.

Ava wandered over. "How was the village fete?"

"It was fun if you ignored the Morris dancing."

She laughed.

"How was your lunch?"

"That was fun as well. It ended up including dinner and breakfast." Her eyes twinkled with mischief.

"That sounds like a lot more fun than Morris dancing."

“Yeah, it was.” She held his gaze and began to twirl her hair around a finger in a slow, sensuous way. “Well, I guess I’d better let you go look in your garage for whatever it is you don’t really need to find.”

He stared at her, agape.

She smiled, still playing with her hair. “I’ll see you later.” With that, she turned and headed back into her house.

Joe stood rooted to the spot, glanced towards his garage door, then went back into his house without following through on his charade. She’d seen right through him, and he felt like he was on the ropes. Unsettled, he made himself a coffee and went to sit in the lounge.

He heard Chrissie’s car pull onto the drive forty minutes later, and when she came in through the front door, she was talking to someone. Joe stood up, his heart crashing in his chest in case she’d met Ava on the drive and invited her in.

The lounge door opened. Chrissie walked in wearing her yoga gear and holding her phone to her ear. “I’ll check with Joe and get back to you, okay?” She rolled her eyes at him. “Yes, will do. Bye Mum.” She ended the call and sighed. “Her central heating boiler’s stopped working again.”

Joe glanced at his watch. It was a little after eight and Chrissie mum lived twenty miles away. “The last time this happened, it was simply a case of pressurising the system.”

“Could my mum do that?”

“The boiler’s in her loft.” He sighed. “I’ll drive over there now.”

“Are you sure you don’t mind?”

He smiled. “It’s fine. I know she doesn’t need the heating on, but she’ll still need hot water to bathe.”

“Want me to come with you?” She glanced down at her yoga gear, then sniffed at her armpit.

Joe laughed. “No, it’s okay. You have a shower. If it’s not what I think it is, I’ll find the number of a local heating engineer while I’m there and arrange for them to come out tomorrow.”

“Okay.” She stepped close and kissed his cheek. “Thank you.”

Joe grabbed a torch and radiator key from the kitchen drawer before leaving. There was no sign of Ava as he walked to his car. The traffic was light, and it took less than half an hour to complete the journey.

His mother-in-law greeted him with an apologetic expression. "I'm sorry for being a pest."

"It's not a problem, Bev." He gave her a hug before opening the loft hatch and pulling down the ladder. As he'd suspected, the pressure gauge on the boiler read zero. It took him less than five minutes to re-pressurise the system, then he went back down and bled all the radiators in the bungalow before re-pressurising the boiler again. Once the ladder was back in place and the loft hatch closed, he accepted a cup of tea. Fifteen minutes later, he was back in his car.

During the drive home, Joe replayed the conversation he'd had with Ava earlier. She'd seen straight through his ruse and also seemed to enjoy letting him know she'd spent her day and night with her lunch date. Something about her look of amusement suggested she knew about his dreams.

What if she did? What if she was sending him a message by playing with her hair? And were her parting words a hint that he'd dream about her again that night?

He pulled in at home, still shaken, then found Chrissie on the sofa wearing a bathrobe, her hair still slightly damp. She got up to greet him, giving him a tight squeeze.

"Mum phoned and told me you'd fixed it."

"It was the same thing as before. She may have a slow leak somewhere, but I couldn't find any sign of wetness around the pipes in the loft."

"Well, I'm really grateful."

He bounced his eyebrows. "How grateful?"

"Leave me alone, you pervert." Slapping his arm playfully, she looked up into his eyes. "I don't know what's gotten into us lately."

He shrugged. "Me neither, but it's kind of nice."

She pointed to a bottle of white on the coffee table. "Want one?"

"No thanks. I'm a bit itchy from the insulation in the loft, so I'll have a quick shower before bed."

"Okay, I'll be up as soon as I finish my wine."

Joe headed upstairs, stripped and stepped into the shower. Ten minutes later, he settled into bed and picked up his book to see how Jack Reacher was going to get out of his latest fix. By the time Chrissie came upstairs, Reacher had beaten up three bad guys and Joe's eyelids were getting heavy. He turned off his bedside lamp and settled down to sleep.

In tonight's dream, he was sitting on the sofa in their own lounge. He had an erection and Ava was kneeling on the floor by his feet, completely naked. She was gripping his fully erect cock in one hand and twirling it in her hair, just as she'd been doing with her finger during their conversation on the drive.

"How are you doing this?" he asked in the dream.

"Does it matter?"

He didn't know, so he asked another question. "Why are you doing it?"

"I'm helping you to see what you want."

He glanced down at his entangled cock and the trails of precum clinging to strands of her hair, then looked back into her eyes. "Is this what I want?"

She laughed and shook her head, then glanced over her shoulder. Suddenly Chrissie stood there, naked except for a pair of black high heels and pink strap-on. "Maybe you'd like to see a bit of girl-on-girl...?"

Without looking at her husband, Chrissie dropped to her knees and slid the dildo into Ava from behind. Ava let out a low moan, then looked up into Joe's eyes as she lowered her head to suck his cock, which was still wrapped in her hair.

He shuddered at the contact but stayed within the dream.

Chrissie placed her hands on Ava's hips and started to fuck her harder. Ava was being pushed further into Joe's lap, taking his cock deeper into her throat. After a minute or so, Chrissie withdrew and stood up, approaching Joe with the glistening strap-on.

Ava released his cock and smiled at him. "Do you want to taste my juices on your wife's cock?"

He shook his head, but Chrissie pushed the slick dildo into his face anyway. His lips parted and, before he'd had a chance to think about it, Chrissie pushed in and filled his mouth with wet plastic. He sucked the juices off.

"Maybe it's not my juices you're interested in."

Joe looked up. Now Ava was the one standing over him with the strap-on, and Chrissie was kneeling between his feet.

Ava positioned herself behind his wife and entered her. Chrissie's eyes and mouth opened wide as the big plastic phallus slid home. He watched as the other woman fucked her from behind. Chrissie reached up and squeezed Joe's cock, then started to pump her hand.

Ava bent forward over Chrissie's back and looked at him. "I'm going to make her come so that you can taste that."

Joe was breathing too heavily to answer.

"Are you going to come for me, Chrissie?" Ava asked.

Chrissie's eyes were locked on Joe's, but she nodded her head for Ava to see.

"Good girl." Ava stroked Chrissie's hair. "Will you come before he does?"

Chrissie nodded again, then her eyes fluttered, and her mouth opened wide as she screamed her release. Ava fucked her for a few more seconds and then stood up and presented Joe with the drenched dildo. He took it into his mouth and sucked greedily this time. Chrissie's hand kept pumping, then Joe shuddered and came.

He blinked in the darkness of their bedroom as the spasms ran through him. He was mid-orgasm. Reaching down, he squeezed his erection through his boxers. Another spasm racked him and more cum gushed into his soaked boxers. His breathing was ragged, but he lay as still as he could so as not to alert Chrissie.

She mumbled beside him. Reaching over to touch her, he found she was lying on her front and thrusting her hips. He lay still and didn't interfere. Her mumbles got louder and her thrusts quicker until her breath caught. She stayed perfectly still for a couple of seconds then let out a long sigh, rolled onto her side and settled into steady breathing.

Joe had to get up. In the bathroom he wiped himself down and dropped his boxers into the laundry basket, then pulled on a clean pair from the drawer and got back into bed. Whatever was going on with his dreaming was definitely happening to Chrissie as well.

They should talk about it, but he wasn't sure how to raise the subject without giving the impression he was losing his mind. Maybe he should try talking to Ava when he was awake, but he had no idea how to start that conversation, either.

Chapter 6

Joe woke up alone in bed the next morning. Stepping onto the landing, he heard Chrissie in the shower, so he went downstairs to make coffee. She joined him a few minutes later.

“Morning,” she said with a smile. She was wrapped in her fluffy robe and her hair was still wet.

“Hiya. How’d you sleep?”

“Like a log.” She poured herself a coffee and sat opposite him. “You?”

He decided that now wasn’t the time to discuss whatever they’d been dreaming about. “Fine. So, what’s on at work today?”

“Same old, same old. What about you?”

“More work for the Oxford guys. Al thinks we’ll need to make another visit.”

“Oh well, I guess it’s good for business.”

“Yeah, I suppose so.” Joe went to shower as Chrissie dried her hair and got dressed, then he dropped her off at the station and drove to work.

He and Alistair spent most of the day going over the new figures and coming up with a modified presentation. Their boss suggested only one of them should go to Oxford, and it was agreed that Joe would go on his own. The company PA booked him into the same hotel for the following Monday. He told Chrissie about the planned visit over dinner.

“How come they didn’t send Alistair instead?”

“I’m the one who’s been on the project longest. Al only started helping out a few months back, and he’s still involved with another project he can be working on while I’m sitting in my car on the motorway.”

“Will you be okay on your own?”

He smiled. “It’s really not a big deal. I’ll just explain how I reached the figures from their extrapolation, but also point out how any small deviation in the actual figure would show up in my calculations.”

“Are you trying to seduce me with statistics?”

He took the opportunity to mention what she was doing in her sleep last night. "You don't seem to need seduction, nowadays."

She looked puzzled. "What d'you mean by that?"

He tried to keep his voice casual. "Just that you're pretty spontaneous in bed lately."

"Is this a complaint?"

"Oh no." He ran his foot up her calf beneath the table. "I love the way we're acting, it's just that..." He shrugged.

"Just that what?"

"Did you have another dirty dream last night?"

Chrissie looked surprised. "Not that I remember. Why?"

He didn't want to make her feel self-conscious. "You were making noises in your sleep again."

"What sort of noises?"

He shook his head, deciding this wasn't the time to tell her she'd humped the mattress, and that he suspected she'd reached orgasm doing so. "I don't know, I was half-asleep, too."

"Have you had more dirty dreams?"

He certainly wasn't ready to admit he'd ejaculated in his sleep while dreaming about sucking the strap-on their neighbour had fucked her with. "I don't think so."

When dinner was finished, they went to sit in the lounge to drink their coffee. Chrissie said her mum had phoned earlier to thank him again for fixing the heating. Then she turned on the TV and Joe spent the rest of the evening half-watching it.

When they went to bed that night, Chrissie settled down to sleep immediately, but Joe read for a while before turning off the light.

His dream took him back to the living room, where he sat naked on the couch with Chrissie kneeling on the floor, her head resting against his thigh. Also naked, Ava knelt on the rug behind her. Chrissie was letting out little whimpers each time Ava thrust the strap-on into her.

"I think she likes the extra length and girth, don't you?"

Joe snapped his head to his left. Ava was now sitting beside him on the couch, wearing a grey silk dress and matching heeled shoes. He swung his gaze back to Chrissie. The person now kneeling behind her was the guy she'd been dancing with in the club's VIP room. He had a broad, hairless chest and muscular shoulders. His big hands held on to her hips as he fucked her slowly from behind.

Chrissie's eyes were closed and she breathed through clenched teeth. Her expression suggested more discomfort than pleasure, but then her jaw dropped as she let out a long sigh.

Ava reached over and gripped Joe's rigid cock. As she squeezed it, a pearl of precum oozed out of the slit. Using her thumb, she smeared the viscous liquid over his cockhead.

"What d'you think, Zac?" she asked the other guy.

"She's a hot piece of ass."

He had an American accent, which somehow made the scene even more surreal.

"Hear that, Joe? Your wife's a hot piece of ass, and Zac should know. He's quite the ladies' man."

Joe stared at Ava, then turned back to look at the man pleasuring his wife. Zac was no longer fucking Chrissie but was now standing in front of Ava with his massive cock pointing at her face. She parted her lips, and he fed his length into her mouth. Zac's balls rose in their sack and Ava moaned and gulped, her hand still gripping Joe's erection. She released the cock from her mouth, looked up and nodded. Zac shuffled to his left and pushed his still-dripping cock towards Joe's mouth.

Joe recoiled, waking with his head pushed deep into his pillow.

Chrissie was sound asleep at his side. His heart still racing, he lay still for a few moments then slipped his hand inside his boxers. Not having come in his dream, he wasn't surprised to discover his cock was dry and still fully erect.

Chrissie let out a low moan in her sleep. The decent thing would be to leave her alone and let her enjoy whatever dream she was having, but he had a hard-on, and she might like being woken up by it...

He reached over. As soon as his hand touched her arm, Chrissie started to pump her hips. She was lying on her tummy again, and Joe scooted over and lay on his side, stroking her backside.

"Hmm..." she mumbled, obviously still asleep.

He felt guilty, but he also felt horny. He slipped his hand down the back of her panties and let his finger run through the soaked crease of her labia. Chrissie mumbled encouragement, and he slid two fingers inside her. As she parted her legs, Joe's horniness rode roughshod over his guilt.

Chrissie was breathing heavily and still thrusting her hips in slow, sensual movements. Joe manoeuvred himself above her, placing his knees between her spread legs while holding his upper body above hers with his elbows. He pulled her panties aside and slid into her from behind.

"Oh yeah," she breathed. "Give it to me. Give me that cock."

Joe fucked her slowly, sinking his nose into her hair and inhaling the scent of her shampoo.

Chrissie writhed beneath him, mumbling into her pillow. As her breathing became more laboured, her voice became quieter, the words less distinguishable. Sensing she was getting close, he sped up his thrusts so they'd come at the same time.

She began pushing back to meet him and turned her head to one side. "I'm going to come..."

He fucked her harder.

"I'm going to... Oh! Come with me, Zac."

Joe froze mid-thrust. Chrissie didn't seem to notice and kept pushing back onto his cock. As the orgasm hit, her muscles gripped Joe's cock and he exploded inside her. Through the euphoria of his climax, he struggled to understand how the same man could be appearing in both their dreams.

She grunted and reached her hand down. He felt the movement of her fingers rubbing her clit while he was still buried inside her, then another contraction told him she'd managed to bring herself off again.

She let out another moan, then finally stilled.

Joe eased himself off her and lay on his own side, waiting to see if she acknowledged what had just happened. He waited well over a minute, then realised Chrissie was sound asleep.

He spent over forty minutes trying to get back to sleep but eventually gave up and got out of bed. Pulling on his robe, he glanced back to make sure Chrissie was still asleep, then went downstairs to the kitchen. He took a bottle of sparkling water from the fridge and sat at the island. After a few minutes, the hairs on the back of his neck started to tingle. He got the feeling he was being watched. Maybe Chrissie had awakened, found the bed empty and come to find him.

He turned to see if she was standing in the doorway, but there was nobody there. As he turned back to the island, he caught a glimpse of movement through the side window facing Ava's house. He stood up and turned the kitchen light off, then walked to the window and looked out. He couldn't see anybody. A glance at the clock told him it was almost one in the morning.

A shiver ran down his back. He left the light off while he finished his drink before heading up to bed.

* * * *

The rest of Joe's week passed without him seeing Ava in her garden or in his dreams. Chrissie seemed a little distracted on Friday morning. When he asked her if she was okay, she'd smiled and nodded, then went to take a shower while he made their breakfast.

On Saturday they drove over to see Chrissie's mum, and while they were there, Joe went up into the loft to check on the boiler. It hadn't lost any pressure since his visit earlier in the week. While the women caught up on gossip about distant family members they'd hardly seen in the four years since their wedding, Joe tidied the small back garden, which was littered with twigs after recent high winds. They left for home in the late afternoon.

"Fancy calling in a pub for dinner?" he asked.

Chrissie shook her head. "I'm not really dressed for it. Maybe when we get back to town we can pick up a takeaway?"

"That's fine by me. Why not order online now? That way, it'll be ready when we get back."

Chrissie opened the menu on her phone and read out a list of options. Joe picked a beef dish, and she chose a vegetarian one. After she'd put in the order, they travelled in relative silence. He kept glancing at her and got the feeling she was preoccupied.

"Are you okay?"

"Yeah." She smiled, and they completed the journey without talking again. As they pulled onto their drive, Joe noted that Ava's car wasn't there. Maybe she was out on a date with whoever she'd seen last Sunday.

They ate their food while watching TV, then chilled out for a couple of hours before heading up to bed. Joe read his book, and Chrissie played Wordle on her phone.

He decided to try and broach the subject of dreams. “Are you going to be visiting the nude club again?”

She laughed. “If I do, don’t wake me up.”

“Why not?”

“Because the last time you did that, we both missed out.”

He frowned, puzzled. The last time he’d woken her they’d fucked like rabbits and climaxed together. “How did we miss out?”

“I didn’t get his huge cock, and you didn’t get to watch me take it.”

Joe stared at her. “I thought he just stroked you in your dream?”

“He did.”

“And I watched?”

She nodded. “You were standing with a group of people watching us through a doorway.”

“A lot of people were watching you?”

She nodded.

“Didn’t you feel weird, being watched?”

“I didn’t seem to think about it. All I was thinking about was getting his big dick inside me.”

“What?” This was so unlike Chrissie.

She laughed and shook her head. “Stop making it into such a big deal—it was only a dream.”

“How did you know he had a big dick?”

She looked surprised by the question. “I thought I’d explained that we were dancing naked.”

“Yeah, but I thought...” He forced a smile. “It’s not easy to dance with a stiffie.”

“When we danced he was only half-hard, but on the couch he had a full-blown erection.”

“From stroking you?”

“Do you think I’d let a guy stroke me without returning the favour?”

“You touched his dick?”

“Of course I did.” She shook her head. “Joe, it was just a dream.”

“What would you say if I told you I’d had the same dream?”

“What d’you mean?”

He took the plunge. “The dream you’re describing, I had exactly the same one.”

Chrissie gave a disbelieving laugh. “And who were you stroking? Was it our gorgeous new neighbour, by any chance?”

“What? No. I wasn’t stroking anyone. I was watching you with the guy.”

“You dreamt about watching me with another man?”

“Yeah.” When he saw her frown, he backtracked. “Not in a pervy Peeping Tom way, but I saw the things as you did. The guy, the arched doorway, the dancing naked—”

“And did you dream about me looking at you while I played with his dick?”

“No, as soon as I realised it was you dancing, I woke up.”

“I don’t believe you for a second.”

“It’s true, I swear. I also had the same dream about me fucking Ava in her garden.”

“Now that I can believe, you dirty sod.”

“No, seriously. It was exactly the same as yours, but I woke up before we... I’m telling you, there’s something weird about Ava.”

“Joe, stop it. You’re being ridiculous.” She placed her hand on his leg. “It’s all just a coincidence, and I’m sure a therapist would be able to explain it. We get a sexy neighbour. You fancy her, and I feel threatened. It’s probably normal that we both have dreams about her.”

“It’s not just—”

“Well, if you’re not going to let me get to sleep and dream about my well-hung stud, maybe I’ll have to make do with my averagely hung husband.”

Joe stopped talking. He’d been about to ask if her dream included an American man called Zac, but faced with a choice of trying to convince her of something he didn’t understand or having sex, there was only ever going to be one winner. “Shall we dance naked first?”

She smiled. “We could do some naked horizontal dancing.”

“I like the sound of that.” He reached over and stroked her face. “Maybe we could start with a waltz, then switch to jiving.”

Chrissie quickly stripped off her top and panties and pushed the quilt down. “Come on then.”

Joe shrugged off his boxers and ran his hand down her body. “Aren’t you going to stroke my cock like you did his?”

“It’s not worth it. I know yours doesn’t get any bigger.”

“Bitch.”

She smiled. “I know. Now shut up and fuck me.”

Chapter 7

Joe woke early on Sunday morning and left Chrissie sleeping while he made coffee. Ava's car still wasn't back in her drive. He wondered who she was with.

Joe sipped his coffee and read the news on his phone. Though still warmed by a blanket of contentment following last night's lovemaking, he couldn't get his mind off their conversation. Chrissie had refused to see any significance in the fact that they'd both had almost identical dreams on at least two occasions. Obviously he wasn't going to follow up by asking if she'd also dreamt about Ava sucking him off while Chrissie fucked her from behind using a strap-on.

"Morning." Chrissie stood in the doorway wearing her robe.

"Hiya. Fancy a coffee?"

"Hmm. And maybe some toast."

Joe went to make her breakfast while she sat at the table. "Sleep okay?" he asked with a smug smile.

"Eventually."

"Any other sleepy trysts you want to tell me about?"

"No, not last night. You?"

Joe shook his head. "Not that I can remember."

"Do you need to do any preparation for your Oxford trip?"

"Nope. I'll be in the office tomorrow morning, so I can do whatever's needed before driving down."

"In that case, how about we go out somewhere for the day and make the most of the weather?"

"Sounds good."

An hour later they left for the Peak District again. This time they chose a longer route and spent over three hours walking while chatting about nothing in particular. Neither of them mentioned dreams, Ava or the upturn in their sex life. After a late pub lunch, they drove home and rested their weary legs.

Chrissie announced she was going to have a bath before turning in, so Joe took the bin down to the kerb, packed himself an overnight bag for his Oxford trip, then sat in bed with his book. Before he'd read a single chapter, he realised he was too tired. As soon as his head hit the pillow, he fell fast asleep.

The sound of birdsong woke him. He glanced around the bedroom, then pinched himself to make sure he was really awake. Chrissie was fast asleep at his side. It was just before six. Closing his eyes again, he tried to remember any dreams from the previous night. Nothing came to mind, nor was there any evidence of nocturnal emissions inside his boxers. Apparently he'd slept soundly and chastely. He lay there for another twenty minutes before taking a shower.

Chrissie joined him for breakfast half an hour later. "Ready for your trip?" she asked, pouring herself a glass of orange juice.

"Yep. Bag's packed and my brain's in statistician mode."

"God, poor them."

He chuckled. "What about you regarding getting to the station and back?"

"Didn't I mention? I've arranged to work from home today and tomorrow."

"Cool. If you mentioned it, I obviously wasn't listening."

"As usual."

Joe pulled on his jacket, gave her a kiss then picked up his overnight bag and laptop. "Right, I'll phone to let you know when I get to Oxford."

"Okay. Drive safe, and don't bore them to death with stats-speak."

He laughed and headed outside, past Ava's car.

At the office, he checked the slides he'd prepared and added a couple of other details that had occurred to him over the weekend. There were a few other small tasks he needed to do on his other projects, and they took longer than anticipated. He ended up leaving the science park later than he'd intended, which meant he got caught up in the school traffic in town.

The motorway roadworks ground the traffic to a halt several times, queues stretching back for hundreds of yards. He was grouchy by the time he finally reached the hotel. Too tired to go any further than the Beefeater for dinner, he checked in, went up to his room and took out his phone to call Chrissie. She'd already sent him a text.

Hi – hope the journey was okay. I met Ava in the garden earlier. When I told her you were away on business she invited me round for dinner :-) She has a friend over, apparently. My phone's almost out of battery so I'll leave it here to charge. If you get no answer, that's why. I'll text when I get back. Xxx

He called her mobile anyway, figuring she might not have left yet, but it rang several times and then went to voicemail. Not bothering to leave a message, he texted back:

Journey was a nightmare — only just arrived. Hope you have a nice evening. Speak later. xx

Without bothering to change his shirt, Joe headed out to the restaurant across the car park. He ordered a beer and found a table near the back. The place seemed to be popular with families, so the constant background hubbub was occasionally pierced by a screaming toddler. His first beer didn't last long. When the waitress came over he ordered a second along with cod and chips. Most of the families had left by the time he'd finished his dinner, so he stayed for another two drinks and walked back to the hotel just before ten.

Joe had been checking his phone all evening and hadn't received a text from Chrissie. He felt a weird sense of foreboding, knowing she was with Ava.

He'd forgotten to bring his book with him, but after the long drive, big meal and four beers, he probably wouldn't be able to stay awake long enough to read anyway. After visiting the bathroom, he climbed into bed, put his phone on charge and turned off the lights. He was asleep in a matter of minutes.

Joe found himself in a familiar room. It took him a few moments to recognise it—mainly because of the unfamiliar furniture—but he'd visited often enough when Libby and Brian lived there. It was Ava's living room. He could hear voices approaching from the hall.

The door opened and Ava came in wearing the same grey silk dress and shoes she'd worn in his last dream. Chrissie followed, dressed up in a blue sleeveless dress and white high-heeled sandals. They paid Joe no attention at all, then another person brought up the rear. Joe stared. It was Zac.

“What’s he doing here?” Joe asked.

They all ignored him and sat down, the women side by side on the Chesterfield couch and Zac in a matching armchair opposite. Each had a glass of red wine and they chatted freely as Joe approached them. It was dark outside. Glancing at the patio door, he could see the reflection of the room clearly. The three of them were in it, but not him.

“So, what do you think?” Ava asked.

Joe turned around, expecting to see her right beside him again, but she was still on the couch, speaking to Zac.

“She’s a hot piece of ass.”

Chrissie giggled and Ava smiled at her.

“Hear that, Chrissie? You’re a hot piece of ass, and Zac should know. He’s quite the ladies’ man.”

Joe breathed a little faster.

“Hmm,” Chrissie purred, smiling at the American over the rim of her wine glass. “I can imagine that he is.”

“And what do you think of him?” Ava asked, stroking a hand down Chrissie’s bare arm.

Chrissie held Zac’s eye for a second, and then looked at Ava. “He’s fucking gorgeous.”

They both laughed at her answer, but Joe stared in disbelief at his wife, wondering how much she’d had to drink.

“So,” Ava whispered in Chrissie’s ear. “What are you going to do about that, knowing what you know now?”

“What do you know now?” Joe asked. Unsurprisingly, nobody heard his question.

He saw his wife bite her lower lip. “I’m not sure what I should do...”

“I don’t believe you.” Ava glanced at Zac, then shuffled closer to Chrissie. “I know what you fantasise about, and now you also know what your husband fantasises about.”

Chrissie looked at Ava and shook her head.

“I know how much you want this,” Ava said. “And I know how much Joe wants it as well.”

“I can’t... I mean, it wouldn’t be right.”

Ava’s only response was a smile.

Chrissie glanced over at Zac. “Don’t get me wrong, it’s not that I’m not attracted to you. I am...” She looked back at Ava and nodded. “I really am. But it’s not something I can just—”

Ava kissed Chrissie on the lips. It was only a brief kiss, and when she pulled away, Chrissie looked shocked.

“You’re so incredibly sexy,” Ava whispered.

Chrissie looked as confused as Joe felt.

Ava ran her hand back down Chrissie’s arm, then kissed her again. This time, Chrissie closed her eyes and returned the kiss. When Ava brought her hand up and caressed Chrissie’s breast, Joe heard his wife let out a moan.

Ava broke the kiss but kept stroking Chrissie’s breasts. “Zac, get over here.”

The American slid from his chair and crawled across the rug to kneel by the couch. Ava put her other hand behind Chrissie’s head and pulled her into another, deeper lip lock. While the women kissed, Zac ran his fingers down the outsides of Chrissie’s legs. He’d started at hip height and moved slowly down her thighs, getting to bare skin just above the knees. He continued down her toned calves and ran his fingers around her ankles before moving back up her calves. Reaching the hem of her dress, he slipped his hands beneath the soft material and stroked up the outsides of her thighs. His arms dragged the hem of the dress up with them, exposing Chrissie’s legs completely.

When the women broke their kiss, Ava eased Chrissie’s head forward toward Zac. Joe stared wide-eyed as his wife kissed the other man. Her eyes were closed, and her jaw moved in unison with his. Their tongues were probably sliding together where their lips met.

Ava reached behind and pulled down the zip of Chrissie’s dress. It took just seconds to pull it down and off his wife’s arms. Zac pulled his head back and gripped the material bunched up around her waist. Chrissie raised her bum enough to allow him to pull her dress all the way down her legs. She lifted one foot at a time to allow him to remove it completely. She was now sitting on the couch wearing just a white lacy bra, matching panties and heeled sandals.

Ava ran her hand down Chrissie's toned stomach. "You look fabulous."

"Thank you, but I seem to be the only one without clothes."

"That doesn't seem fair, does it?" Ava turned to her friend. "Zac, don't keep the lady waiting."

With a confident smile, he stripped off. As he pushed his boxers down, the familiar thick cock sprang out of Zac's shorts. Joe noticed how intently Chrissie was staring at it.

Zac had to twist round to kick off his shoes, then drop onto his backside to remove his trousers and boxers over his feet.

An awareness seeped into Joe's brain. He was rationalising as if awake and felt totally lucid. Tonight's 'dream' was different from the others. In those, the characters had simply morphed from one part of the room to another, and from fully dressed to completely naked like fragments from a patchwork scene. Tonight, Ava had needed to cajole and persuade Chrissie, and Zac had to crawl across the room and shrug off awkward garments.

Dread chilled Joe's stomach. He didn't believe this was a dream. He suspected he was somehow seeing what was happening in Ava's living room at that very moment.

He was witnessing his wife being seduced.

"Is that better?" Ava asked.

Chrissie's gaze was fixed on Zac's naked body, and Joe could see the hunger in her eyes. "Yeah, that's much better."

Ava reached out and ran her finger along Zac's cock, which twitched at her touch. "And now Zac seems to have less clothing than you do."

Chrissie sat forward and reached behind to unclip her bra. She removed it, revealing her pert breasts with dark pink nipples, which Joe noted were already erect. Zac slipped his fingers into the waistband of her panties, and Chrissie raised her bum up again to let him roll them down her legs.

"That's better," Ava said with a smile.

"Shall I take my shoes off?" Chrissie offered.

"No, not yet. They seem to be having an effect on Zac."

Chrissie tugged at Ava's dress. "Now you seem to be overdressed."

“And I’m going to stay this way for a little while longer. This isn’t about me.”

“What is it about?”

Ava met Chrissie’s eyes with her hypnotic gaze. “It’s about fulfilling fantasies. It’s about you doing something you and Joe have been dreaming about.”

Chrissie frowned and turned to look at Zac, recognition registering on her face. Joe prayed she’d remember what he’d said about Ava manipulating their dreams, then snap out of her trance.

“I did dream about a guy who looked a bit like you.”

“Really?” Zac ran his hands down Chrissie’s legs. “I’ll probably be dreaming about how good you look for years.”

Chrissie grinned. “I bet you say that to all the naked women you meet.”

He placed his hands behind her knees and pulled her forward. Chrissie slid down the couch to the edge of the cushion, her shoulders and head propped up against the back. Zac placed his hands on the inside of her thighs and eased them open. Chrissie kept her feet together but let her knees fall apart.

Joe could see her slit glistening in the lamplight. He willed himself to wake up but couldn’t. He wanted to leave but was unable to move. Zac lowered his head and kissed Chrissie’s right knee. He trailed his kisses slowly up her inner thigh, and Joe held his breath.

Ava sat back on the couch and watched while Zac’s head moved higher still. As his tongue slipped through Chrissie’s folds and centred on her clit, she let out a long breath.

“Zac’s got great technique,” Ava said.

The lovers seemed too involved to respond.

“He’ll make her come with his tongue first.”

Joe realised that Ava was looking directly at him now, her violet eyes twinkling with merriment. “Can you see me?” he asked, incredulous.

“Of course I can see you. I invited you into my head.”

He nodded toward Chrissie and Zac. “Can they?”

“No. They only have eyes for each other. And they can’t hear us, either.”

Chrissie let out a low groan and began to thrust her hips.

“How are you doing this?”

“I don’t know. It’s something I’ve always been able to do.” She shrugged. “When I was a kid, I used to make my brother have nightmares. Now I only give people nice dreams.”

“Why are you doing it?”

“I’m giving you what you want.”

“How do you know what I want?”

“As well as being able to affect your dreams, I can also see what you usually dream about.”

Joe nodded towards his wife with Zac. “I never dream about—”

“It’s not just you I’ve been monitoring, Joe.”

“Oh fuck.” Chrissie raised one of her legs and rested it on Zac’s shoulders.

Ava smiled. “It looks like your wife’s getting what she wants, and I’m pretty sure you are too.”

Joe shook his head, but then followed Ava’s gaze down his own body. Dressed only in the boxers he had on when he got into bed, he saw his erection tenting the soft cotton. As he shook his head in denial, Chrissie screamed and raised her backside off the couch, grinding her crotch against Zac’s face with both her legs locked straight over his wide, muscular shoulders.

Chapter 8

Joe stood motionless as his wife jerked and shuddered through her orgasm. He could hear the ragged gasps of her breathing and see the tremors in her legs. She lowered herself back to the couch, then lifted both legs off Zac's shoulders and spread them as wide as possible.

Ava winked at Joe. "We both know what happens next, right?"

Though he shook his head, he knew exactly what was about to happen as Zac knelt up and manoeuvred himself closer, positioning the fat dome of his cockhead between Chrissie's wet, puffy folds.

Joe watched his wife's face, but her eyes were fixed on Zac's as he started to push in. Joe saw the cock spread her wider and wider before the tip slipped inside. Chrissie's eyes grew big, her mouth a perfect O.

Zac slid in deeper and Chrissie let out a long, wailing moan. Her hands pressed flat on the cushion of the leather couch on either side of her hips, fingers spread wide, the rings on her wedding finger sparkling in the lamplight.

Ava was watching the lovers again and Joe was back to being ignored. Zac fucked Chrissie slowly, his huge cock sliding smoothly in and out, coated with her juices.

Ava knelt on the cushion and bent over Chrissie. "Do you like the extra length and girth?"

Chrissie was breathing too heavily to speak, so answered with a nod.

"Have you ever had a cock that big?"

Chrissie shook her head.

"You deserve more cocks like this one." Ava took one of Chrissie's nipples into her mouth as Zac increased the force of his thrusts.

Ava alternated her attention between Chrissie's tits, sucking one for a few moments before moving over to the other. Zac was pumping his hips in a relentless rhythm, his thick cock gliding easily in and out of Chrissie's drenched, stretched-out cunt.

"Oh..."

Joe watched Chrissie's eyelids flutter. She wrapped her legs around Zac's waist, pushed her head back into the couch and shrieked as she came. Ava retreated as Zac kept pumping his hips. All Joe could do was watch in silence while his wife's body twitched and trembled in ecstasy.

"Okay, let's switch it up," Ava said. She helped Chrissie to her feet, then stood her at the side of the Chesterfield before reclaiming her seat and reaching across to pull on Chrissie's hands until she was bent at the waist, her taut stomach against the high arm of the couch.

Zac stepped around Chrissie and entered her from behind, making her groan again. He gripped her hips and fucked her hard, setting her hair swinging in time with his thrusts. Chrissie's eyes were glazed, her breathing coming in short grunts with each slap of Zac's groin against her arse.

Ava stroked her face. "Chrissie, I want to ask you something."

Joe saw his wife struggle to open her eyes open long enough to meet Ava's gaze.

"Are you on birth control?"

Chrissie nodded.

"I'm asking you this because Zac's getting close. I know he wants to come inside you, but he's not going to do it unless you say he can."

Joe didn't think his wife was in any condition to make a decision one way or the other.

Ava stroked Chrissie's face again. "If you don't want him to come inside you, he'll pull out and I'll have him come in my mouth."

Chrissie took a deep breath. "Inside," she rasped. "I want him to come inside me."

"Good. I know that's what Joe wants, but he insisted I let you make the decision."

Chrissie screwed her eyes shut as Zac pounded her.

Ava got up off the couch and stood next to Joe. "He's going to empty himself inside your wife."

Joe kept his gaze fixed on Chrissie as Zac slammed into her again and again.

"She'll be getting flooded with his cum any second now, and I think you're looking forward to it almost as much as she is." She returned his puzzled stare with another knowing smile. "You like the idea of another man's cum leaking out and coating her thighs so she's nice and slippery when you reclaim her."

Joe shook his head, disgusted by the filthy things she was saying.

"And she's the perfect slut. She'll let all her bulls come inside her for you. She deserves your gratitude."

Chrissie and Zac were now both grunting with each thrust. Zac seemed close to his release, and from the noises his wife was making, Joe was sure she was about to come again.

"Show her your gratitude," Ava said, pushing Joe toward the couch.

He shook his head and tried to step back, but Ava kept pushing him until his shins were against the cushion.

"Show her how thrilled you are that she's your slut. Thank her for taking a bull while you watch."

Chrissie's moans got louder just as Zac growled and threw his head back, the tendons on his neck standing out like taut cables.

"He's coming in her, Joe, sending spurt after spurt, deeper than you'll ever reach. So show her your gratitude and come on her face."

He turned to Ava in shock.

"It's what you want to do, Joe. And she wants it, too. Jerk off and show her how much you love her for taking her bull's cum."

Joe shook his head again, but he already had his cock in his hand and was pumping it as fast as he could.

"Give it to her. Hose her down."

Joe held his breath and, as a thick rope of white flew from him, he shuddered and woke up.

Cum landed on his neck. Disoriented and in a frenzy, he kept pumping his hand and he kept coming, spurt after spurt drenching his chest until the spasms eventually faded and his muscles stilled.

He took a breath and tried to calm himself. His heart crashed and raced, and he forced himself to count to sixty before turning the light on. Glancing down, he saw his body was splattered with cum—more than he could ever remember producing before. He went to clean up in the bathroom, noticing in the mirror that there was even a glob on his left shoulder. After wiping off most of it with toilet tissue, he turned on the shower and stepped under the hot jets. Once clean, he dried himself and sat on the bed. He picked up his phone and saw the time was half-past midnight. Still no text from Chrissie. He tried phoning her anyway but hung up when it went to voicemail.

There was nothing he could do about what had happened tonight. Although he'd never understand how he'd witnessed it, Joe was certain it had all taken place. His wife had given herself to another man, and he'd been so aroused by the spectacle that he'd jerked himself off.

Was Ava right? Was this what he really wanted? He cast his mind back to his life before Ava—before Chrissie, even. Had he always been the type of guy who dreamed about sharing his other half?

He remembered being at a school Christmas dance when he was only fifteen or sixteen, and their group had all been passing around a sprig of mistletoe and kissing each other. Joe had watched his girlfriend kissing several of his friends, and he'd experienced a strange tingle because he knew most of them secretly fancied her.

Then at university, the girl he'd been seeing during his second year admitted she'd slept with an old boyfriend during a weekend visit to her hometown. When she'd confessed, Joe had thrown her on the bed and fucked her with an intensity he'd never known before. Was this related to what he'd felt watching Chrissie earlier?

Compulsively, he checked his phone yet again. It was now after one, but he doubted he'd be able to sleep. He was also worried about what he'd see in his dreams when he did finally manage to drop off. He lay awake for a long time, checking the time at 2:17 and 3:06, but must have dropped off eventually because he was woken by his phone ringing at 05:46. It was Chrissie.

“Hello?”

“Hi, did I wake you?”

“Yeah, but that's fine. Are you okay?”

There was a pause.

“I'm n-not sure.” Her voice had gone very quiet.

“What's wrong?”

“Joe, we need to talk, but now's not the time. I know you have to give the presentation and—”

“The presentation doesn't matter. We can talk now if—”

“No, not now. Not over the phone. I need to tell you something, but I want to see your face when I do, because...”

“Because what?” All he could hear was her shaky breathing.
“Chrissie?”

“We’ll talk when you get back, okay?”

“Did something happen at Ava’s house last night?”

There was a brief silence, then her exhale. “Yes.”

He closed his eyes and his heart ached.

“Joe, I don’t want to do this over the phone. Please, concentrate on your presentation and then come home and we’ll talk then.”

“Okay.” He was just about to tell her he loved her when she ended the call.

He got out of bed and went for yet another shower, with scenes from last night’s vision flitting through his mind as the water pounded down. Then he dressed and read through the slides on his laptop, trying to fill his mind with something else as he waited for the breakfast buffet to open.

Through a fog, Joe managed to present his slides, explain the consequences of any positive or negative deviation from the expected outcome, and answer every question thrown at him. He declined the offer of a free lunch and left Oxford as soon as he could. Traffic was light on his journey north, and he pulled in just before two-thirty.

He walked quickly to his front door and let himself inside. When he walked into the living room, Chrissie stood up from the couch but didn’t approach. Barefoot, and dressed in a loose t-shirt and cut-offs, she looked nervous and vulnerable.

“Hi,” he said, bending to put his bag and laptop on the floor.

Chrissie’s smile didn’t quite reach her eyes, her expression confirming what he already knew.

He closed the gap between them and wrapped her in his arms. As he pulled her close, she sobbed.

“Joe, I need—”

He silenced her with a kiss, crushing her body to his. His cock swelled against her belly.

She pulled her head back and looked up into his eyes. She seemed confused. “We need to talk.”

He nodded, then placed his hand over her breast.

“Joe, there’s something—”

He tweaked her nipple, stopping her words. Her eyes opened wide in surprise. A desperate need to possess her overwhelmed him. She started to shake her head, but he gripped her t-shirt, yanked it over her head and pulled her close, his mouth finding hers. When he pushed his tongue into her mouth, she groaned. Suddenly their hands were all over each other. She pulled his shirt out of his trousers and fumbled with his belt buckle. He unclipped her bra, then started on the buttons of her cut-offs. She released his cock from his boxers and pumped it urgently with her hand. He was painfully hard. Chrissie looked up into his eyes and pulled him back to the couch. She dropped onto the seat and pushed the soft denim down her legs, taking her panties with it. Now totally naked, Chrissie spread her legs and looked up at him. Still fully dressed, his cock poking out from his unfastened trousers, Joe dropped to his knees and entered her without any preamble.

She cried out and buried her fingers in his hair. Joe fucked her hard, and she yelped and bucked her hips up to meet each thrust. His hands raked over her body, reminding him how good she felt. He mauled her breasts, dug his fingers into her buttocks and scratched her thighs. Joe came after just a couple of minutes, and Chrissie screamed as her orgasm arrived a few seconds later. He continued to thrust his hips and she kept rolling her body until they finally stilled, both gulping in air. Eventually they opened their eyes and looked at each other, and Chrissie eased him out of her.

After a long sigh, her eyes filled with tears. “I slept with another man.”

The lump growing in Joe’s throat made it impossible to answer, so he simply nodded in reply.

“I’m sorry.”

He managed to find his voice. “Don’t be sorry.”

She bit her lip. “Why didn’t you tell me it was what you wanted? Why tell Ava, but not me?”

“I didn’t...” What could he say? How could he say—without seeming crazy—that he hadn’t told Ava anything? And he could hardly claim that the idea of Chrissie sleeping with another man had never occurred to him after the way he’d just reacted. He sighed and shook his head. “I didn’t know how to bring up the subject without you thinking I was weird.”

“Ava told me this would happen.”

“What would?”

“That you’d come home and reclaim me.”

Joe frowned, angry that his neighbour had foreseen things so accurately. “Is that what I just did?”

Chrissie shook her head. “You have no need to reclaim me. I’ve always been yours, and I always will be.”

“And last night?”

“Last night I allowed someone else to use what’s always going to be yours.”

Joe smiled at the way she’d phrased it. “And did you enjoy allowing someone else to use what’s mine?”

She held his gaze. “Yes. I enjoyed it a lot.”

A knot developed deep in his gut. “Are you going to tell me about it?”

“Ava also said you’d want the details.”

“I guess she knows me better than I do.”

Chrissie smiled and nodded. “Let’s go and talk about it in bed.”

Chapter 9

Chrissie walked naked to the bedroom. Joe followed, undoing his shirt as he walked up the stairs. He kicked off his shoes, socks and trousers before climbing naked into bed with his wife. They assumed their familiar position; his arm around her shoulders and Chrissie's arm lying over his stomach, her head on his chest.

"So," Joe began, "you went to Ava's for dinner."

"She had a friend staying. I think it was someone she'd met through work, an American guy called Zac. During dinner, the conversation got a little risqué. Ava brought up the subject of fantasies. She said she liked the idea of group sex, and Zac said he'd been obsessed with older women as a teenager." Chrissie looked up into Joe's eyes. "That's when Ava revealed that you'd told her about my fantasy with the guy in the alley, and that you'd wanked yourself off imagining watching me with him."

"I never..." He sighed and shook his head. Chrissie would never believe that Ava had invaded his head and read his thoughts. She'd struggled enough with the idea that they'd had matching dreams.

"She said that had been a watershed moment, and you'd admitted most of your fantasies were based around different scenarios of me with other men." She smiled. "She also told me that that's the biggest compliment a woman can get. Most husbands fantasise about their own pleasure, but you fantasise about mine."

He remembered Ava saying something about not just monitoring his dreams. "How many of your fantasies involve you having sex with another man?"

"Most of them, but I think that's true for most women."

He had no idea if that was true or not, but right now, he needed to know how close his vision from last night was to what had really happened. "Go on with your story—during dinner you'd started discussing fantasies?"

Chrissie nodded. "Ava revealed that you wanted to share me with other men. That you wanted me to become a hotwife."

“And you just believed her?”

“She was pretty convincing. She knew about you pleasuring yourself thinking about me with the guy in the alley, and she also knew about my dream with the guy in the club.”

Joe didn’t have an answer. “So what happened next?”

“We went through to the living room and talked some more, then...” She blinked and took a breath. “I can’t remember how it started, but we were talking and then Ava kissed me, then they were both touching me. Before I knew it, I was naked on the couch and Zac was kneeling between my legs.”

“Was Ava naked?”

“No, not then. But Zac was. Then he...” She closed her eyes, took a breath and then looked up into Joe’s eyes. “He went down on me and made me come.”

Joe couldn’t ask if Zac’s technique was as wonderful as Ava had claimed. “While Ava watched?”

She nodded.

“And then?”

“He fucked me. He started off with me sitting where I was. Then he bent me over the side of the couch and fucked me from behind.”

“And he came inside you like that.” It wasn’t a question. What she’d just described was exactly as he’d seen it in his dream.

“Yes, he came inside me.”

Joe’s heart ached, but his balls tingled at the memory of watching it happen. “Did you come again when he fucked you?”

“Does it matter?”

“I’m curious.”

“Yes, twice. Once while he was fucking me on the seat, and again when he came.”

That had been when Ava had convinced him to jerk off in her face. Chrissie’s total honesty eased some of the tension inside him. “And after that?”

“We sat and finished our drinks, then went upstairs.”

Joe’s heartbeat kicked up a notch. “You went to bed?”

Chrissie nodded.

“And what happened there?”

“It started with just touching and kissing.”

“You and Zac?”

“No. Ava was there, too. All three of us were in bed together.”

“Naked?” He felt cheated that Ava hadn’t involved him for this scene.

She laughed and play-slapped his chest. “Of course we were all naked.”

“And did you and Ava touch each other?”

“God, does it matter?”

Joe shrugged. “I’m just... If the two of you touched each other, I’d probably find it mildly interesting.”

She giggled. “I suppose considering what I got up to, you wanting to know about Ava is fair enough. Yes, there was touching. We kissed, and we stroked each other’s boobs.”

“How was it?”

“It was nice, and it was sexy.”

Intrigued, he narrowed his eyes. “Had you ever stroked another woman’s boobs before?”

She smiled. “Never you mind.”

“I was just—”

“Well don’t. I’ll tell you about last night, but not about my entire life.”

“Fair enough. So, you were all kissing and touching. Was there any oral?”

“Yes. Ava and I both performed on Zac to get him hard again.”

Joe couldn’t help envying the American. “You took turns sucking him?”

“We licked and kissed up and down his cock, then when one took it into her mouth, the other licked or sucked his balls.”

“Did he come like that?”

She shook her head. “Like I said, we only did it to get him hard. Then Ava told me about one of your other fantasies.”

Another pang of dread seeped into his stomach. “And... what’s that?”

“She produced a strap-on and told me that one of your top fantasies is for me to be taken by two men at once.”

“Two men at—?”

“She said you have a big thing about me being spit-roasted by two men with big cocks.”

So, ‘monitoring’ his reaction to the strap-on dreams had been Ava’s way of making Chrissie believe that he wanted her to take two men at once. He shook his head at their neighbour’s gall.

“I know you told her you wanted to see me on all fours between two men. You also told her it was the scenario that turned you on the most, seeing me being used by two men in that way.”

“So what happened in bed?”

“Ava wore the strap-on. I lay in the middle of the bed, and she pleased me with it. Then Zac took over for a while. They swapped places several times and—”

“Did you come?”

“Yes, twice I think, but I’m not sure. But then Ava told me that you’d be disappointed if we didn’t do the spit-roast thing, so that’s what we did. I went on all fours, Ava fucked me from behind and Zac went in my mouth.”

“Did you come like that?”

“No, but Zac did.”

“He came in your mouth?”

“Mm-hmm.” She looked up at him and smiled. “And I can see you like the idea.”

“What?”

Chrissie reached down and gripped his cock, which had become fully erect without him realising it.

“I... That’s not—”

She lowered her head and took him deep into her mouth, making him groan. After bobbing her head several times, she manoeuvred herself into a kneeling position between his legs without releasing him from her mouth. She cupped his balls and began to twist her neck, pushing him deeper and deeper into her throat with each movement.

When she released his cock from her mouth, she pumped it with her hand. She leaned over him, looking into his eyes. “And now you’re going to have to reclaim that too.”

He was breathless and shook his head. He wanted to tell her this wasn't necessary, but she already had him back in her mouth. What she was doing felt too good to stop. He lay still and imagined his wife on her hands and knees between Ava and Zac, remembering his dream where Zac had come in Ava's mouth. He remembered seeing the big balls jump inside the sack and also Ava's gulps as she'd swallowed his load. But that had been just a dream. In reality, Zac's balls had discharged their load into his wife's mouth. It had been Chrissie who'd gulped and swallowed, and—“Ahh!” He arched off the bed and exploded into her mouth.

Chrissie moaned and gulped and kept bobbing her head. A second gush left him, then a third. Chrissie kept moving her head and kept swallowing. He eventually became too sensitive and eased her off him, his body twitching and his lungs taking in shuddering breaths.

Chrissie crawled up the bed to lie on top of him, then pressed her mouth to his and kissed him passionately. He slid his tongue against hers, trying to ignore the taste.

Finally, she broke the kiss and looked down into his eyes. “Are you mad at me for having sex with another man?”

“No.”

“Are you disappointed at my lack of morals?”

He smiled and shook his head.

“How do you feel about it?”

Joe took a breath and tried to gather his thoughts. He felt like he'd been manipulated by Ava; they probably both had. But he couldn't deny being turned on by Chrissie's fantasies about having sex with other men. He'd come with her twice just hearing her confession.

“Joe?” Chrissie looked at him, the corners of her mouth twitching into a half-smile. She knew better than he did how he felt about it.

“I'm glad you did it.”

“Does it turn you on?”

He found it hard to admit but after a few seconds' hesitation, he nodded.

“Do you want me to do it again?”

Joe hadn't thought that far ahead. “I'm not sure.” He tried to think clearly, but his heart was racing in his chest. He looked up into her eyes.

“Do you want to do it again?”

“Do I want fabulous sex with a well-hung stud?” She placed her finger on her chin and looked up at the ceiling. “Let me think...”

He laughed. “Okay, silly question.”

Her expression turned serious. “I’d only do it if we’re both in favour. It has to be what we both want.”

He nodded, chewing his lip as he tried to weigh the pros and cons. “I worry that you’ll get used to fabulous sex with well-hung studs and no longer be satisfied with me.”

She stroked his cheek. “That’ll never happen, you know that.”

He shrugged, suddenly feeling vulnerable. “You might meet someone who’s more—”

“Joe! You’re my husband, and the love of my life. These men are nothing more than playthings to me, and I’ll be nothing more than a plaything to them.”

“A plaything?”

“Hmm. Something for them to use and abuse. And I’ll let them do it for both our pleasure.”

“And you won’t get fed up with me?”

She shook her head, smiling. “While it’s nice to drive fast in a racing car once in a while, most of the time all I want a family saloon.”

“I’m not sure how I feel about that analogy.”

She grinned. “I was going to call you a dinky little hatchback.”

He smiled, but his heart was thumping. Things seemed to be going faster than they should. They’d moved from her confession about a single night of passion to a new lifestyle in the blink of an eye.

“Ava thinks you should watch the next time.”

“She said that?”

Chrissie nodded. “She thinks you might not be ready to watch me take two guys yet, so recommended I just take Zac again.”

“Is that what you want?”

Chrissie held his gaze.

“It sounds like you’ve already agreed to do it.”

She shook her head. “Nothing’s been agreed, but Zac’s leaving tomorrow.”

“You want to do it tonight?”

“Not if you’re not ready.”

“Are you ready? I mean you spent most of last night having sex, and we’ve just...” He stroked her cheek.

“I’m ready for more if that’s what you want to happen.”

Joe sighed. If someone had asked him a month ago to watch another man fuck his wife, he’d have either laughed in their face or punched them. Now, having seen her with another man on several occasions in his dreams, he knew how much pleasure he’d get from it. “If it’s what you want, we can do it.”

Chrissie gave a beautiful smile. “I’ll text Ava, then I’ll have a bath. Want to join me?”

After his restless night, early start and the drive home from Oxford, Joe was suddenly tired. “I may just stay here and doze for a while.”

“Okay.” Chrissie got out of bed and walked into the bathroom.

He heard the tap running, then heard her go downstairs, presumably to retrieve her phone. Two minutes later, Chrissie returned to the bedroom, grinning.

“We’re to be at Ava’s for eight. She insists that you decide what I wear, and that you watch me put on my makeup and get ready for him.”

Joe stared at her, and underneath the quilt his cock stirred at the thought of choosing how to gift-wrap his wife for another man.

$$\Psi$$

Chapter 10

Joe knocked on Ava's door at exactly eight o'clock. Chrissie stood at his side wearing a knee-length black dress, black hold-up stockings and patent leather shoes with four-inch heels. He'd convinced her to forgo bra and panties. Her hair was pinned up with tendrils of blonde hanging on either side of her face, which was fully made up with kohl around her blue eyes, heavy mascara on her lashes and scarlet lip-gloss.

Ava opened the door wearing a floor-length gypsy skirt, lace blouse and bare feet. She smiled warmly, hugging Chrissie first, then Joe. "I'm so glad you could make it," she whispered, ushering them inside.

Joe was no longer angry with her. As they walked into the living room, a tall guy got up from the couch. It wasn't the man from his dreams. Joe turned to Ava with a questioning look. Chrissie slipped an arm around Zac's narrow waist and did the introductions.

"Zac, I'd like you to meet my husband. Joe, this is Zac." She gave a playful smile. "I'm pretty sure I've told you about him."

Joe shook the proffered hand. "Yeah. Hi Zac, it's good to meet you."

Ava stroked Joe's arm. "Could you come and help me fix some drinks?"

He looked towards Chrissie to see if that was okay with her, but she'd already started a conversation with Zac. Joe followed Ava into the kitchen.

She turned to him. "I'm glad you've embraced things the way you have."

"He's not the Zac I saw."

"The guy you saw was from your own imagination, not mine." Ava looked up into his face. She was almost a foot shorter than him without her heels. "While I can direct what goes on, the rest has to come from your mind. People and places you know are usually easily seen—the Zac you saw is probably someone you've seen at some point without remembering him, maybe in a bar, on a train or something like that. You may even have seen him on TV. That's how it seems to work."

"So Chrissie saw a different guy in her dream?"

Ava nodded. "All I can do is set up the situation, not the details of the characters." She tilted her head to one side. "You didn't respond to my comment about embracing things."

Joe wasn't sure how to respond. He looked into her incredible eyes. "What would you have done if we hadn't embraced them?"

Ava eased the cork from a chilled bottle of champagne. "I wouldn't have let things go as far as they did last night."

"How could you have stopped it?"

"You saw what happened. I talked her into it, but I only did that because I could feel you both wanted it." She started to pour into four flutes.

"And if we hadn't?"

"Chrissie would have gone home before Zac and I went to bed together."

Joe narrowed his eyes, not convinced. "Does he know what you do?"

"Enough questions." Ava passed him two glasses of bubbly and picked two up herself. "Come on, let's go have a drink and relax before we watch your wife and her bull."

Joe followed her back into the living room. On the couch, Chrissie and Zac seemed relaxed in each other's company. After Ava handed them their drinks, he saw Chrissie and Zac chink their glasses together before sipping.

Ava directed Joe to the armchair opposite the couch, then sat on the rug by his feet. She looked over at Chrissie and smiled. "So, did you catch up on your sleep when you got home?"

Chrissie nodded. "I slept until about ten, then had to log on to my work account to give them the impression I was doing something useful."

Ava tilted her head back towards Joe. "And what time did he get home?"

“Early afternoon.” Chrissie raised her brows at him. “Two-ish?”

He nodded.

“And did he do what I said he would?”

Chrissie smiled at Joe. “Yes, he did exactly as you’d predicted. He fucked me roughly in the living room, then took me to bed and asked for the details before reclaiming my mouth.”

Ava patted Joe’s knee like she might do to a dog who’d retrieved a stick. “It sounds like you’ve both had quite a busy twenty-four hours.”

“Hmm.” Chrissie rubbed her stockinged calves together. “And the night is still young.”

Ava laughed and looked up at the American. “That sounds like a challenge, Zac. Do you think you’ll be able to rise to it?”

A confident grin creased his face. “I could rise to anything that looks as good as she does.”

“And what about you, Joe?” Ava asked, smiling at him. “Do you want to see Zac rise to the challenge?”

Joe’s stomach cramped with nervous energy, but his cock was already starting to thicken. He glanced over at his wife, then looked back into Ava’s eyes. “Yeah, that’s what we came here for.”

Ava gave him a look like a proud mother at a school concert. Then she turned toward the couch. “Chrissie, stand up.”

Joe watched his wife put down her drink on a side table and stroke her bull’s leg before standing on the rug. Ava stood up and slowly circled her, running her hand over the soft material of Chrissie’s dress. She stopped behind and pulled down the zip. The dress slid down Chrissie’s body, and Joe heard both Zac and Ava let out a muted gasp at the lack of underwear.

“Oh, you naughty girl,” Ava whispered.

“It was him.” Chrissie smiled at Joe. “He insisted I wouldn’t need any.”

Ava looked over Chrissie’s shoulder at him. “You’re better at this than I realised.”

Joe held her gaze but didn’t reply.

“Zac,” Ava said. “Come and stand in front of this beautiful hotwife.”

The word made Joe's balls tingle. As Zac obeyed, Chrissie looked up into his eyes, a playful smile on her face. She looked fabulous and everyone in the room knew it. She was oozing a self-confidence she rarely showed.

"And you..." Ava ran her hand down Chrissie's back and cupped a bum cheek. "I suggest you show your husband how big your bull's cock can grow when you suck it."

Without another word, Chrissie slowly lowered herself to her knees and reached up to Zac's belt. Ava sat on the arm of Joe's armchair, placing her bare feet on his thigh.

From the side, Joe watched as his wife released Zac's cock. It was still only semi-hard, but it was big. Chrissie's tongue appeared between her shiny red lips and touched the tip, pushing into the slit. A thin silver strand of precum stretched between tongue and cock as she pulled her head back and looked up into Zac's eyes. Then her lips parted and she moved her head forward. Zac's cock disappeared into her mouth. Chrissie closed her eyes and began to move her head on him in a slow, lazy rhythm. As Zac's erection grew, Joe saw more and more of the thick shaft coated in his wife's saliva. Once he was fully hard, she was unable to take it all in.

"Is that how she sucked you earlier, Joe?" Ava whispered.

Without taking his eyes off his wife, he nodded.

"Want to see him fuck her?"

He nodded again.

"Okay you two," Ava said in a louder voice. "Time for a change." She got up and dragged the coffee table directly in front of the armchair. She helped Chrissie to her feet and stood her next to the table, facing Joe. "Put one foot up."

Chrissie did as asked, balancing on her straight right leg with her left bent at ninety degrees. Her high-heeled shoe rested on the surface of the low table. Joe thought she looked incredibly sexy, her makeup and hair like the cover of Vogue, her body in just stockings and heels like the centrefold of a... different kind of magazine.

"Zac, strip off and stand behind her."

As the American swiftly removed his clothes, Joe couldn't take his eyes off his body. He was solid and muscular yet moved gracefully. His skin was tanned all over. Maybe one of his parents or grandparents was of mixed race. His arms and thighs were thick and rippled with muscle as he moved, but the thing that held Joe's gaze was his cock. It was huge. Much bigger than the one in his dreams. Maybe his imagination was limited by the size of the cocks he'd seen in real life, but Zac's looked unreal. It was easily a couple of inches longer than Joe's, and much thicker.

"Okay Zac, step behind her and give her what she wants." Ava reached over and stroked her fingers through Joe's hair. "Give her what we all want."

In position, Zac swiped his cock through Chrissie's folds, then bent his knees slightly and positioned his tip. As he straightened his legs, Joe watched the huge cock stretching her further and further open until Chrissie let out a groan and the cockhead breached her entrance. Once half of his thick cock had slid inside, Zac stopped pushing and allowed Chrissie to get used to him. In his mind's eye, Joe could see her inner walls clinging tight to the thick bar of flesh. She could probably feel Zac's pulse as his cock throbbed inside her.

Zac pulled out slightly, then pushed again, going deeper this time. Chrissie whimpered. As Joe tore his gaze away from Zac's cock, opening Chrissie wider than he'd ever seen, he saw her looking into his eyes. He tried to smile but his face muscles seemed to be paralysed.

The American pushed in further and Chrissie's eyebrows almost reached her hairline. Joe found it hard to believe she wasn't used to it after last night's session.

He watched from just feet away as the man fucking his wife ran his hands all over her body. Her eyes were now closed and her mouth hung open. Zac cupped her pert breasts, trapping her pebbled nipples between his splayed fingers. He slid one hand down over her taut stomach, gliding his fingers through her pubic hair and settling them either side of her clit. As he rubbed gently in time with his thrusts, Chrissie rocked her body, using her foot on the coffee table to bounce herself up and down on his cock.

Having settled back on the armrest of Joe's chair, Ava moved one of her feet up his thigh and rested it over his cock. She pressed down on his erection and smiled. Joe placed his hand on her calf and ran it up her leg under the tent of the gypsy skirt. Ava didn't take her eyes off Chrissie and Zac, but she parted her thighs. Joe took advantage of the easier access. As he reached her inner thigh, he adjusted his hand to the shape of a child's play gun, his first two fingers making the barrel with the other two folded into his palm. He cocked his thumb like the gun's hammer and slid his forefingers past her lace panties, all the way inside her. Ava pressed down with her foot on his cock, and Joe used his thumb to rub her clit.

"Oh fuck," Chrissie breathed.

Joe's focused on his wife being fucked while his fingers filled their neighbour's cunt. Zac's fingers continued to work Chrissie's clit and his cock kept sliding in and out. Joe could tell from her face that she was going to come any second, and he hoped to get Ava off at the same time.

As Chrissie's moans rose in pitch, Joe straightened his third finger, reached behind Ava's slick lips and slipped it into her backside. She gave a little cry, rubbing her foot faster on his cock.

Chrissie dropped her head back onto Zac's shoulder and came with a shuddering sigh. Joe pushed his hand deeper, sinking his first two fingers completely in Ava's cunt and his third finger to the second knuckle in her arse. Ava writhed on the chair arm, and he felt her muscles contract in orgasm.

Zac started to fuck Chrissie harder, almost lifting her off the floor with each thrust, and then he came. Joe saw his balls rise and imagined he could hear the guy's cum surging up the length of his cock and see it gushing into Chrissie, countless spurts splattering against her cervix and turning her pink inner walls pearly-white.

Everyone was breathing heavily—even Joe, the only one in the room not to have had an orgasm.

"Don't move," Ava ordered the standing lovers. "Stay exactly where you are. I want Joe to see what happens when Zac's dick loses some of its girth."

Joe frowned, unable to fathom what Ava was talking about. He looked up into Chrissie's eyes, and she smiled. Evidently she knew what Ava was getting at.

“There.” Ava pointed between Chrissie’s legs, and Joe finally understood. A trickle of white was running down over Zac’s balls. A second trickle ran down her inner thigh, then Chrissie must have sped things along with a squeeze of her pelvic floor because Zac’s semi-flaccid dick was forced out and a deluge of cum ran down both her thighs.

Ava slid into Joe’s lap and leaned back against his chest, her head resting beside his as they both stared at Chrissie’s spread legs. “Did you see how much jizz he blew into her?” she whispered. “God, it looks like there’s a bucket full.”

Joe didn’t know how to respond, but he couldn’t tear his eyes away from the mess oozing down his wife’s tanned skin. It seemed like an unfeasibly large amount to be produced by one man. When he glanced up at Chrissie’s face, she was watching his reaction to it. He felt guilty for showing so much interest but shook his head and looked down again. Ava reached over for her phone and took two or three photos of Chrissie’s centre. The cum had now passed the lacy tops of her stockings and was clogging the nylon. Chrissie took her foot off the coffee table and excused herself, saying she needed to clean up.

After Chrissie had left the room, Ava motioned for Zac to come stand in front of the armchair. He seemed completely comfortable walking around naked, and Joe guessed that with a body like that, he had every right to be.

“Did you enjoy that?” Ava asked.

Zac gave a little chuckle and nodded. “She’s a dream.”

Joe gave a wry smile at Zac’s choice of description.

Ava reached up and cupped his balls. “There’s probably nothing left in these now.”

“Oh I’m sure I could manufacture more if she wants it.”

“Could you?” Ava leaned forward and took Zac’s cock into her mouth. Joe couldn’t see her technique, but Zac’s face gave the impression that he liked it.

Ava released his cock and started to pump her hand. “Could you get another hard-on and fuck her again? This is Joe’s first night as a cuck, and I'm sure he'd love to see his wife getting nailed once more." She turned her head to look at him. "Right, Joe?"

He nodded mutely.

"See?" she said, looking back at Zac. "He wants to see his wife get the fucking of her life, and this—" she pointed Zac's now fully engorged cock towards the ceiling in triumph "—is exactly what she needs."

"What who needs?" Chrissie asked, walking back into the room.

"You. You need this cock, and this time you have to describe how it feels and how much you like it."

Chrissie glanced at Joe, then smiled at Zac. "You're hard again already?"

He shrugged. "I didn't want you getting cold or drying out."

"I don't think there's much chance of either of those happening, do you?"

Ava got up and pulled the coffee table to one side. "Chrissie, stand there and bend over so your face is almost touching your husband's. I want him to see every wince and hear every yelp when Zac gives you the fucking of your life."

Over Chrissie's shoulder, Joe saw Ava drop to her knees and then Chrissie let out a surprised moan, her eyes going wide. The thought of Ava licking his wife's cum-drenched cunt re-ignited Joe's hard on.

"Oh..." His wife's blue eyes opened wide and she gave a beautiful smile. "Oh, that feels so nice," she whispered.

"Make her come like that," Zac said. "Make her come with your tongue, and then I'll take over."

Joe watched Chrissie's beautiful face as Ava pleased her. Her mouth dropped open and she gasped in a series of short breaths, then her eyes fluttered and her cheeks flushed. Ava's hands appeared on the front of Chrissie's thighs and her chin came into view as she moved her head lower to suck her clit.

Chrissie closed her eyes and let out a single grunt.

Ava moved back and pushed Zac forward. "Now, while she's still clenching."

Zac stepped in, steadied her waist, and thrust forward. Chrissie's eyes snapped open and she screamed. Gripping her hips, Zac fucked her with a ferocity that made Joe worry for his wife. Her forehead banged against his with each thrust, her eyes wide and unfocused, her breathing coming out in short, pained grunts.

"Fuck her harder," Ava ordered.

Zac slammed into her like a jackhammer. Chrissie gripped Joe's thighs, her arms straight, her fingers digging painfully into his quads. It was as if Zac was trying his best to knock her over with his onslaught.

Ava knelt at the side of the chair, her head next to Joe and Chrissie's. "Tell him what it feels like, Chrissie."

Chrissie opened her eyes but was too breathless to speak.

"Tell him how good it feels to be Zac's fuck-toy."

"It's..." Chrissie's voice was a hoarse rasp. Her pupils were fully dilated and Joe doubted she could focus on his face.

"Do you like being his fuck-toy?"

Chrissie nodded.

"And what about his cock?"

Chrissie took a shuddering breath. "It's so... fucking... big."

"Yes it is." Ava cupped one of Chrissie's breasts. "It fills you completely, doesn't it?"

Chrissie nodded.

"Tell Joe how much you like having Zac's cock splitting you open."

"I love it."

"You love his cock or you love being split open?"

Chrissie's arms were trembling under the strain of Zac's thrusts. "Both."

Precum dripped freely from Joe's cock, soaking his shorts as he watched his wife receive the fucking of her life.

Ava blew in Chrissie's ear. "And we all know what Zac's going to do soon, don't we?"

"Come." Chrissie's voice was barely audible.

“Hmm.” Ava’s voice was like a cat’s purr. “He’s going to come inside you, isn’t he?”

Chrissie nodded.

“Do you want him to come there?”

“Y-yes.”

“Tell Joe how much you like having another man come in your married cunt.”

Chrissie frowned and looked into Joe’s eyes, focusing for the first time in minutes. “I’m sorry.”

Joe shook his head and smiled.

“Don’t be sorry,” Ava whispered. “Joe wants it, too. Tell her, Joe.”

As Chrissie looked into his eyes, he nodded. “I want Zac to come inside you.”

Ava smiled. “See Chrissie? Joe wants you to feel Zac shooting his load in you, and he’ll want you to tell him about it later.”

Zac’s ragged breaths got noticeably louder and Ava pushed Joe and Chrissie’s heads together. As Joe opened his mouth and kissed his wife, he knew the other man was firing his cum into her depths. Chrissie moaned and groaned as she slid her tongue against Joe’s. Zac eventually stopped pumping his hips, but Joe and Chrissie continued their kiss.

Finally they separated and smiled at each other. Zac had withdrawn and was pulling on his shorts.

Ava glanced over at Zac, then back at Chrissie. “Well, it looks like you’ve left my man completely depleted.”

Chrissie gave a beautiful smile. “Sorry, not sorry.”

Ava laughed.

“You can use Joe if you like,” Chrissie offered, much to his surprise.

Ava winked. “Although I’d like that, I’m pretty sure he only has eyes for you.”

As his wife looked at him, Joe realised Ava was right. He had no desire for Ava, or any other woman.

“Although—” Ava said, running her hand over the bulge in Joe’s trousers “—I do think he may need something now.”

Chrissie looked into his eyes.

“Get on your knees,” Ava commanded, and Chrissie dropped to the floor in front of the armchair. Ava looked at Joe. “You, stand up.”

Joe got to his feet and Ava deftly undid his trouser buttons and released his cock. She wrapped her fingers around his drenched, aching hard-on and smiled. “It looks like watching your wife get serviced had quite an effect on you.” With that, she started to pump her hand on his cock.

Ava smiled down at Chrissie. “Is it okay with you if I give your husband some relief?”

Chrissie smiled. “I’ve already told you it’s okay with me if you fuck him.”

“He doesn’t want that. But I’m pretty sure he needs to empty his balls.”

“And will you help him do that?” Chrissie asked.

“Mm-hmm.” Ava smiled at Joe. “I think that’s the least I can do, given how much I’ve teased him over the last few weeks.”

“And where are you going to make him come?”

“I know for a fact he’s been fantasising about coming over naked breasts.”

“Oh, has he?” Chrissie knelt up and pushed her tits together with her hands. “Maybe we should let him fulfil that fantasy.”

Ava pumped faster. “What do you think, Joe? D’you want to come over your sexy hotwife?”

Breathing heavily through his mouth, Joe could only mumble incoherently. His balls felt heavy and fit to burst.

Chrissie stared up into his eyes and smiled. “Come for me.”

Ava gripped his buttock with her left hand and pumped his cock faster with her right. Joe held his breath and a jolt like an electric shock coursed through his body as a thick rope of cum flew from him and hit Chrissie full in the face. She yelped with surprise then opened her mouth ready for the next one, but Ava had angled his cock downwards. The second spurt landed on her chest. Ava kept pumping, directing Joe’s last splashes onto his wife’s breasts.

With a long exhale, Joe felt all the pent-up energy leave his body. He sucked in a lungful of air and looked down at his wife. She was smiling up at him as she used a finger to wipe his cum from her cheek and nose.

Ava still gripped his spent, shrinking cock. "Better now?"

He laughed and nodded. "Much."

Chrissie stood up and excused herself again. Zac was on the couch in his boxers and shirt, and Ava walked over to sit next to him.

Joe tucked his cock back into his trousers and dropped exhausted into the armchair. "So, what happens now?"

Ava shrugged. "I expect you'll go home and, as soon as you can get it up again, reclaim your wife."

He laughed. "That's not what I meant."

Chrissie returned, still wearing just her stockings and shoes, but now with her chest and face wiped clean. She picked up her dress and slipped it on.

Ava looked at them both. "I guess what happens next is up to you. Do you wish to go back to being Mr and Mrs Monogamous?"

Joe and Chrissie shared a look. They'd already talked this through. "No, I think we'll carry on playing for a while."

"Good." Ava looked at Chrissie. "I'll send you some phone numbers."

"Thanks."

"And make sure you have that threesome we talked about."

"I will."

"And you?" Joe asked.

Ava glanced at Zac. "Well, he's leaving tomorrow, but he'd better find some energy for me before then."

"What about the dreams?"

Ava smiled at him. "I think my work with you two is done. Besides, I've started a couple of new projects."

"Oh?" Joe sat forward, intrigued.

Ava smiled. "In one of the local bakeries there's a lady in her mid-fifties who fantasises about a threesome with two men half her age. And one of the gallery managers I visit is a happily married man who's desperate for a homosexual encounter."

Joe shook his head in disbelief. "Really?"

Ava nodded.

"And will you arrange that?"

"I may know two young men who'd be happy to make the lady's dreams become a reality. She's already pleasuring herself with two vibrators at the same time in preparation for a DP."

"And the gallery manager?"

"I suspect he'll probably just do a little mutual masturbation with a male prostitute then get cold feet and go back to being unhappily straight."

"So you don't always win?"

Ava laughed and shook her head. "I don't see it as winning or losing, and I certainly don't decide the outcome. All I can do is open up possibilities for people to achieve their fantasies."

Joe looked at his wife. "I had no idea what our fantasy was."

Chrissie smiled. "I knew what mine was—I just wouldn't have guessed yours was the same."

The evening had obviously come to an end. When Joe and Chrissie stood, so did Ava and Zac. The men shook hands, Chrissie kissed Zac for a final time, and then the women hugged.

"Come round for coffee whenever you get the chance," Chrissie said. "And don't worry, we've ordered a new machine."

Ava pulled Joe close and looked up into his face, her violet eyes boring into his. "I'm so glad you two embraced your dream. I know you have some wonderful, sexy times ahead." As she pushed herself against him, he realised he was getting another hard-on. "And it looks like your evening's not finished yet."

Chrissie laughed. "In that case, I'd better get him home."

As soon as they got back to their own house, they went straight to bed. Their love-making was slow and gentle, and afterwards they fell asleep in each other's arms.

Joe slept peacefully. As soon as he woke up, he made love to his wife again.

THE END

Delores Swallows

United Kingdom (2022)

About the Author

Delores Swallows has many dirty thoughts, and during his free time he writes them down in the form of stories. Born and bred in the northwest of England, he has a commoner's accent and a bit of a crush on his future queen (Kate, not Camilla!).

His stories often feature petite brunettes, high-heeled shoes and voyeurism. He claims he didn't realise these were obsessions until someone pointed out how often they appear in his work.

Find out more about Delores on his web site, chat on Twitter, or follow his new stories on Amazon. And don't forget to sign up to his mailing list for a free story.

Delores Swallows is proud to be a member of #ACHE

(Authors of Cuckolding/Hotwife Erotica)

Check out the other authors in the group for more sexy reads.

Don't forget your dirty story exclusively available to members of Delores' mailing list.

Also by Delores Swallows

Rediscovering Stephanie

I head off to the bar. While I'm waiting in the queue, I watch Steph and Robert talk. She's more animated than usual, flirting with him. I reason that her getting chatted up might improve the chances of her visiting my bed tonight but then feel a little guilty at the thought of benefitting from Robert's groundwork.

When I get back to the table, their conversation suddenly stops, Steph sucking her drink through the straw while holding eye contact with him. Then she looks at me and smiles.

As the piano guy starts his second set, Steph immediately gets up and holds out her hand to Robert. He laughs, shrugs at me and takes her to dance. It's good to see her enjoying herself. There's a sparkle in her eyes that hasn't been there for a long time, and I can hear her laughter above the sound of the music. My view of them is obscured by other dancers. By the time they come back in sight, Robert has the flower from her hair between his teeth and Steph is smiling up at him. They're dancing close, his hands resting on her hips while hers grip his upper arms. The music stops and they come back, both of them breathing hard.

Robert drops the flower on the table and downs what's left of his cocktail. "My round, I think."

Steph smiles. "Another Wallbanger, please."

I nod for the same, and he walks off to the bar.

I lean close. “I’m surprised you didn’t ask him for a Sex on the Beach.”

She laughs. “No, the sand gets everywhere. Maybe a Slow Comfortable Screw Against The Wall would be okay, though.”

Her comment stuns me, and she giggles at my expression. She takes the straw between her lips and sucks while holding my gaze. I haven’t seen her this playful in years. Robert returns with three drinks, and we talk some more. He’s not wearing a wedding ring and the subject of his home life hasn’t been brought up. The pair of them are sharing little looks and laughing. His gaze is dropping even more often to the tanned valley between her breasts. Every time she crosses her legs or leans forward, Robert’s eyes follow her movements. He continually glances down at the only exposed skin below her waist, which is the ankle and foot of her hanging leg. For some reason, this ogling doesn’t annoy me the way it usually would do. I realise I like that the guy fancies my wife, and it’s obvious that Steph’s enjoying his attention as well.

A random thought sideswipes me: What would happen if I weren’t here?

If Steph had been on her own when she met Robert, how far would she go? I’ve never considered having an affair and am confident Steph hasn’t cheated on me, either. But the chemistry between the two of them is undeniable. The thought of Steph being here alone and allowing herself to be seduced gives me mixed emotions. I suck on my drink as images of them dancing flit through my mind.

A modified question springs to mind: what would she do if I gave her the chance to sleep with Robert? Would she take me up on the offer? Could I cope with it if she did?

A gnawing in my gut makes me feel like it’d be selfish to deny her the chance. It’s been a long time—probably too long—since she’s laughed and had fun like this. It’s been years since I’ve seen that look on her face. Would our marriage really suffer if she were to enjoy one night with a guy who’s obviously enamoured with her?

I finish my drink first and stand up. “What’s the order?” I wonder if Steph will repeat her Slow Comfortable Screw request, but instead she keeps the straw between her lips and points at her glass. Robert nods for the same, and I leave them together again.

From the bar, I watch them laugh and chat. Their heads move closer together and I hold my breath, half-expecting them to kiss. Instead, Steph bursts out laughing and falls back against her chair. Robert's whispering was probably a dirty joke.

When the barmaid gets to me, I order six drinks. Once they're fixed, I carry them back to the table on a tray.

Steph's eyes go wide. "Have you developed a drinking problem?"

"I thought maybe we could take them back to the chalet."

I see Robert look questioningly in Steph's direction, but her eyes are boring into mine.

"It's just a thought. If you'd rather stay here, that's fine."

Holding my gaze, she slowly stands, then grabs two of the glasses. "It's a great idea." Smiling at Robert, she adds, "unless it's too late for our early riser?"

He shakes his head. "Like you said, I can always sleep on the boat."

We all laugh and head off down the flower-lined path, carrying two glasses each. My stomach's in knots, and I don't really know what my preferred outcome would be. Maybe there'll be more laughing and flirting, then Robert will head back to his own room while Steph and I share a bed. Or maybe there'll be more flirting, then more-than-flirting...

When Ian takes Stephanie away for a week in the sun, he hopes she'll finally be able to relax after working long hours at the doctors' surgery during the pandemic.

Last time they'd visited these islands, his wife was the belle of the pool. Twenty years on, she'll barely take her sarong off. It takes several days of gentle walks, sangria and cocktails for both the stress and the self-consciousness to drain away.

When their holiday's nearly up, they meet Robert, a fellow Brit enjoying a fishing holiday. As Ian watches Steph chat to him, he notices her acting in a way he hasn't seen in years—she's laughing, dancing and even flirting.

Pleased to see the old Steph emerge, Ian wonders what would have happened if she'd met Robert while alone. Would she have allowed herself to be seduced?

Then another thought sideswipes him: What would she do if he gave her the go-ahead to have a little fun, even though he was there?

They're in a tropical paradise with a man they'll never meet again. Could their marriage survive if she slept with Robert?

Could Ian live with himself if he denied her the opportunity?

Rediscovering Stephanie is available from Amazon

Hired Help

Steven had been waiting all evening for Alicia to get home, the last hour spent sitting on the edge of the armchair with his stomach tightly knotted. He saw the headlights through the curtains as she pulled into the driveway and stood up when he heard the backdoor open. Alicia stepped into the living room. Her hair and makeup didn't seem too much in disarray. Maybe she hadn't actually—

“I've been fucked,” she said.

A sudden lump in his throat prevented him from replying. He swallowed, then nodded.

“Are you glad I’ve been fucked, Steve?”

He studied her face, trying to determine her mood. Was this playful teasing or intentionally confrontational? “What do you—?”

“Simple question. I went to a bar and let a man take me back to his place, where I went to bed with him. Does that make you happy?”

He tried desperately to read her expression but failed. As a last resort, he decided to be completely honest. “Yes, it makes me happy.”

“Why?”

His chest tightened. He was reminded of being summoned to the headmaster’s office after misbehaving at school. He took a steadying breath. “I’m happy because the thought of you...”

“Fucking?”

Steven nodded, smiling a little. “Yeah. Fucking. The thought of you fucking turns me on.”

“Is it the thought of me fucking in general, or the thought of me fucking someone else?”

He blinked, puzzled. He thought they’d established this. Or maybe this was her way of getting him to talk dirty. “Both. I get turned on thinking about you fucking me, and I get turned on thinking about you fucking someone else.” It was getting easier to speak as he became more relaxed. He grinned. “I even get turned on by the thought of you fucking yourself.”

Alicia stepped closer and stared into his eyes. Her perfume was overpowering, but there was another smell there. The musky smell of sex. It made his cock swell.

“Lots of cute guys hit on me,” she continued, “and yet I chose someone who wasn’t very cute.”

“Why?”

“I felt sorry for him. Nobody was paying him any attention. He was standing on his own and being ignored.”

“But you didn’t ignore him.”

“No, I didn’t.”

Steven never imagined that his momentary lapse with a beautiful stripper while on a stag weekend in Prague would completely change the sexual landscape of his marriage...

Since Steven and Alicia often discuss what they'd done with previous partners as a way ramping up their foreplay, Steven's certain that Alicia won't hold his erotic tryst against him. After all, the stripper was nothing more than hired help, like a cleaner or a gardener. However, his attempts to kickstart their sex life by sharing the details of his adventure with Saskia don't quite go to plan.

After an initial outburst he hadn't expected, Alicia treats him to a night of passion reminiscent of the exhilarating early days of their relationship. The spark has been truly rekindled. Until Alicia one-ups him with a long, sexy night with a hunky gigolo.

Though the inequality of her retaliation leaves Steven reeling, he's knocked sideways by a difficult truth — the idea of his stunning wife in the arms of another man is far more appealing than he's imagined. In fact, he can't believe how much he fantasises about sharing her.

While Steve seeks out further thrills in the friendly arms of local sex worker Jo-Jo, who's happy to tell him stories about all the other men she's been with, Alicia wonders how she can replicate the dirty thrill he gets from his hired helpers. What do they have that she doesn't?

Maybe if she could learn to scratch his itch, their burning desire could become even hotter...

Hired Help is available from Amazon

