Rediscovering Stephanie

When Ian takes Stephanie away for a week in the sun, he hopes she'll finally be able to relax after working long hours at the doctors' surgery during the pandemic.

Last time they'd visited these islands, his wife was the belle of the pool. Twenty years on, she'll barely take her sarong off. It takes several days of gentle walks, sangria and cocktails for both the stress and the self-consciousness to drain away.

When their holiday's nearly up, they meet Robert, a fellow Brit enjoying a fishing holiday. As Ian watches Steph chat to him, he notices her acting in a way he hasn't seen in years—she's laughing, dancing and even flirting.

Pleased to see the old Steph emerge, Ian wonders what would have happened if she'd met Robert while alone. Would she have allowed herself to be seduced?

Then another thought sideswipes him: What would she do if he gave her the go-ahead to have a little fun, even though he was there?

They're in a tropical paradise with a man they'll never meet again. Could their marriage survive if she slept with Robert?

Could Ian live with himself if he denied her the opportunity?

Chapter One

I'm trying to doze on the plane, but the woman in the seat next to Stephanie could talk for England.

"Have you been before?" she asks. I'm pretty sure she asked this about an hour earlier.

"No," Steph answers patiently. "Not to Menorca. We went to Ibiza a long time ago, before we had a family."

The lady nods, and I close my eyes and think about that holiday: Steph spending the days lying down in a bikini looking magnificent, then spending the nights lying down without the bikini and looking even more magnificent.

"We come every year," the woman continues. "Me and my sister." God, there's two of them.

"She lives in Dundee, so we take different flights. You say you have children?"

Steph smiles. "Two boys. They're both at university now and consider themselves far too cool to be seen on holiday with their parents."

The woman laughs. "We couldn't come last year because of the Covid thing. First year we've missed since my husband died."

She probably talked him to death.

"We didn't get away either," Steph says. "I'm in healthcare, so this will be the first break I've had in almost two years."

"Oh. Are you a nurse?"

"No, I work on reception. Doctor's surgery."

"Well, you'll be able to relax this week. Where are you staying?"

I'm relieved when the speaker crackles to life and the pilot interrupts to tell us we'll soon be starting our descent.

It takes thirty minutes to get through passport control and gather our luggage, then a friendly rep from the travel agency, who looks about fifteen years old, leads us across the hot tarmac to an air-conditioned coach. Thankfully, there's no sign of the woman from the plane.

Our hotel is the third stop the bus makes, and the rep announces she'll come to chat to us all in the bar later this evening. Check-in is straightforward, and a young porter leads us out back and down a winding path to a row of chalets overlooking the beach. He puts our bags on the steps and I hand him ten euros. As he makes his way back up the path, Steph unlocks the door and I carry our bags inside.

The chalet is bright and airy. The lounge has a wicker-framed suite with matching glass-topped coffee table, a large flatscreen TV and a small kitchenette at the back. French doors open onto a veranda with a wooden railing. Beyond that, thirty yards of white sand stretch down to the blue-green sea. The bathroom's small, but the bedroom is a good size, accommodating twin beds. On one is a bunch of flowers and on the other a small box of nougat.

Steph pops one of the sweets into her mouth, then smiles. "Oh Ian, they've given you flowers."

I give a sarcastic scowl and take them to the kitchenette. There's no vase so I put them in a jug probably intended for milk. Steph opens the French doors and I follow her out onto the veranda. We settle down on the two-seater swing chair and look out at the sea.

"It's a lot nicer than I expected," she says with a smile.

I push my leg against hers. "I hope it makes up for working all those extra hours."

"Let's unpack, then go for a walk to get our bearings."

It doesn't take me long to empty my case and dress in a short-sleeved shirt, shorts and Vans. While Steph's still hanging up dresses, I check the fridge in the kitchenette. There are four bottles of beer and a bottle of fizz. I grab one of the beers and take it back out to the swing chair.

Steph comes out a few minutes later wearing a summer dress, flat sandals and an embarrassed frown. "Does this look alright? There's a lot of pale skin on show."

"You look great." Holding up my beer, I smile. "Mr Fridge has supplies."

"I'm okay for now." She sits next to me, drops her head back and lets out a long sigh. We had an early start to get to the airport by five-thirty, and Steph looks as tired as I feel.

I finish my beer and help her up. “Come on, let’s go explore before we fall asleep.”

We walk hand-in-hand along flower-lined paths to the white, three-storey hotel building. On each of the small balconies on the rear, towels are draped over plastic chairs, drying in the sun. The chalet cost us quite a bit more than one of the rooms in the hotel but, comparing their view to ours, it feels like money well spent.

We weave our way around two kidney-shaped swimming pools and an outside bar. I try not to stare at the tanned, slender women on the loungers. Having strolled past several volleyball and tennis courts, we find a wrought iron gate which opens onto a path overlooking the sea. At a small area of bars and shops, Steph suggests we have a drink, which suits me fine. We choose an outside table and order a jug of sangria. After our first glass, we decide to have some tapas as well.

An hour or so later, we wander back to the hotel.

“How about we take our books over to the pool?” I suggest. “Maybe have a dip and a snooze before dinner.”

“You can do that. I’ll rest here.” When she sees my face, she adds, “Maybe I’ll join you later.”

I know it’s not worth me trying to persuade her. She used to spend hours lying on loungers by the pool, reading and soaking up the sun. Nowadays she’s reluctant to go anywhere in a bathing suit. Having changed into trunks, t-shirt and flip-flops, I pack a small bag with my wallet, book, phone and Bluetooth earbuds, slip on my sunglasses, and head over to the pool. I grab two towels from the kiosk and drape them over adjacent loungers in case Steph does turn up. After a couple of chapters of the latest Andy McNab novel, I lie back and listen to the entire Pixies’ Doolittle album while surreptitiously watching the women in scant bikinis. Eventually I close my eyes and doze.

A hand on my leg wakes me. Steph’s there in a swimsuit and sarong.

I smile and nod at the vacant lounge. “I got you a towel.”

She sits down and smiles her thanks.

“Fancy a swim?” I ask, though I already know the answer.

“You go ahead.”

I shower off the sun-cream and take a dip to cool off, then return to my lounge. Steph’s removed her sarong and is lying back with her eyes closed. As my shadow falls across her, she self-consciously puts her arm over the spare tyre running around her waist and uses her other hand to cover the mottled skin at the tops of her thighs.

I know she's not happy with her body but don't say anything. After towelling off, I apply more sun-cream and ask if she fancies a drink. In moments, I'm back from the bar with a beer for me and a G&T for Steph. We adjust the backs of our loungers so we can sit upright while we drink.

She casts her gaze over all the tanned women I'd been sneakily admiring earlier. "I feel like Moby Dick."

I look over at the bronzed young men with ripped abs and multiple tattoos. "Which one's Moby?"

She sniggers. "I mean the white whale, and you know it."

"We've just got here. A couple more days in the sun and we'll blend in."

She sips her drink and drapes her sarong over her legs.

"Stop worrying. And stop covering up."

With an embarrassed smile, she removes it again. I listen to more music and by the time Steph shakes me, the sun is lower in the sky. We walk back via the beach, paddling in the surf. It's a lot colder than the pool.

Back in the chalet, we take turns to shower, then enjoy our complimentary drinks while watching the sun set over the sea. Steph comes out wearing a long green dress and low-heeled sandals. She's pinned her hair up and applied a little makeup. I wolf-whistle.

She gives a shy smile. "I thought I should make an effort."

"You look lovely."

We hold hands as we make our way up to the hotel. The restaurant's packed, and we have to wait until a waitress has cleared us a table. I go and pour a couple of glasses of wine and join Steph at the buffet. All the food looks great. We eat in relative silence, listening to the chatter from the nearby tables. We hear French and German being spoken, but the majority of guests seem to be other Brits. After dinner, we decide to skip the chat from the travel agent rep and head over to the outside bar, where a guy is playing piano. He's good and some people are dancing, but we're too tired to join in, heading back to the chalet after just one cocktail each.

There's no question of us rearranging the twin beds. Although we share a bed at home, our sex life has dwindled to sporadic bouts of missionary in the dark. The heated nights of passion we once shared during holidays in the sun are long gone. I'm the first to get into bed, and Steph comes through from the bathroom wearing a baggy t-shirt and panties. Maybe one evening later in the week she'll visit my bed before going to her own, but tonight we're both shattered. Steph reads something on her phone, but I'm way too tired. I fall asleep within minutes.

Chapter Two

Early next morning, I take a coffee out to the swing chair and watch a guy in a wetsuit swim back and forth across the cove. Steph emerges an hour or so later, and we head up to the hotel for breakfast. We chill by the pool, have a light lunch, then return to the pool for a couple of hours after a siesta. In the evening, Steph puts on a nice dress, and we go for dinner. After a short walk along the cliff path, we call at the poolside bar to enjoy a few cocktails while listening to the guy on the piano. We wander back to the chalet around midnight.

The rest of the week follows a similar pattern. We don't sign up for any of the excursions; the whole point of this break is to relax. Steph's been working so many long hours at the surgery that the tension leaving her body is almost as noticeable as the tan spreading over it. On the fourth day, we share a wonderful lunch at a place overlooking the harbour, and on the fifth we revisit the bar from the first day for more sangria and tapas.

That evening, Steph wears a long, white dress that shows off her tanned shoulders and cleavage. I kiss her cheek and tell her how great she looks, hoping this might be the night she visits my bed before going off to sleep in her own. After dinner, we omit our usual walk up the cliff path because Steph's sandals have a three-inch heel. We go straight to the bar and start drinking cocktails earlier than usual. Everyone seems in a party mood. The guy on the piano plays a few Beatles songs and Steph drags me up to dance. When we're back at our table, a girl walks through the bar selling flowers and I buy Steph a white one. She threads it in her hair over her right ear and I take a few photos of her with my phone.

A group of English guys at the adjacent table gets quite raucous, and one of them apologises for the noise they're making. We smile and tell him it's not a problem. When I return from the bar a little while later with two more mojitos, Steph is in deep conversation with them. It turns out they're here on a fishing holiday, going on chartered boat outings every day. We spend a very pleasant hour chatting with them before they head off, explaining they have to be at the harbour before sunrise. One guy still has a full beer and tells them he'll catch up later.

Steph invites him over to our table and he moves to sit next to her. He introduces himself as Robert and shakes our hands. He's probably a little older than us, maybe fifty. He has a receding hairline and what hair remains is buzzed short. His face is deeply tanned, as are his arms and hands. I guess that's what you get from sitting on a boat in the Mediterranean for twelve hours a day. He has pale blue eyes, smiles often, and seems knowledgeable about the island. We admit to not having seen much more than the hotel grounds because this break was more about winding down than exploring. He nods his understanding.

Robert's a nice guy and I can see Steph's enjoying his company. He's glancing down at her boobs more often than is polite, but she doesn't seem to mind. By the time we finish our mojitos he's almost finished his beer, so I ask if he wants another drink.

He frowns at his watch. "I should really be getting back."

Steph places her hand over his watch. "It's still early, and you're on holiday. Can't you sleep on the boat while you're fishing?"

He laughs and shakes his head. "Not really." He gives an exaggerated sigh. "Okay, you've talked me into it. But not beer. What's that you're drinking?"

Steph pushes her glass in my direction. "That was a mojito, but next I'm going to have a Harvey Wallbanger."

Robert smirks at the name. "I'll try one of those."

I head off to the bar. While I'm waiting in the queue, I watch Steph and Robert talk. She's more animated than usual, flirting with him. I reason that her getting chatted up might improve the chances of her visiting my bed tonight but then feel a little guilty at the thought of benefitting from Robert's groundwork.

When I get back to the table, their conversation suddenly stops, Steph sucking her drink through the straw while holding eye contact with him. Then she looks at me and smiles.

As the piano guy starts his second set, Steph immediately gets up and holds out her hand to Robert. He laughs, shrugs at me and takes her to dance. It's good to see her enjoying herself. There's a sparkle in her eyes that hasn't been there for a long time, and I can hear her laughter above the sound of the music. My view of them is obscured by other dancers. By the time they come back in sight, Robert has the flower from her hair between his teeth and Steph is smiling up at him. They're dancing close, his hands resting on her hips while hers grip his upper arms. The music stops and they come back, both of them breathing hard.

Robert drops the flower on the table and downs what's left of his cocktail. "My round, I think."

Steph smiles. "Another Wallbanger, please."

I nod for the same, and he walks off to the bar.

I lean close. "I'm surprised you didn't ask him for a Sex on the Beach."

She laughs. "No, the sand gets everywhere. Maybe a Slow Comfortable Screw Against The Wall would be okay, though."

Her comment stuns me, and she giggles at my expression. She takes the straw between her lips and sucks while holding my gaze. I haven't seen her this playful in years. Robert returns with three drinks, and we talk some more. He's not wearing a wedding ring and the subject of his home life hasn't been brought up. The pair of them are sharing little looks and laughing. His gaze is dropping even more often to the tanned valley between her breasts. Every time she crosses her legs or leans forward, Robert's eyes follow her movements. He continually glances down at the only exposed skin below her waist, which is the ankle and foot of her hanging leg. For some reason, this ogling doesn't annoy me the way it usually would do. I realise I like that the guy fancies my wife, and it's obvious that Steph's enjoying his attention as well.

A random thought sideswipes me: What would happen if I weren't here?

If Steph had been on her own when she met Robert, how far would she go? I've never considered having an affair and am confident Steph hasn't cheated on me, either. But the chemistry between the two of them is undeniable. The thought of Steph being here alone and allowing herself to be seduced gives me mixed emotions. I suck on my drink as images of them dancing flit through my mind.

A modified question springs to mind: what would she do if I gave her the chance to sleep with Robert? Would she take me up on the offer? Could I cope with it if she did?

A gnawing in my gut makes me feel like it'd be selfish to deny her the chance. It's been a long time—probably too long—since she's laughed and had fun like this. It's been years since I've seen that look on her face. Would our marriage really suffer if she were to enjoy one night with a guy who's obviously enamoured with her?

I finish my drink first and stand up. "What's the order?" I wonder if Steph will repeat her Slow Comfortable Screw request, but instead she keeps the straw between her lips and points at her glass. Robert nods for the same, and I leave them together again.

From the bar, I watch them laugh and chat. Their heads move closer together and I hold my breath, half-expecting them to kiss. Instead, Steph bursts out laughing and falls back against her chair. Robert's whispering was probably a dirty joke.

When the barmaid gets to me, I order six drinks. Once they're fixed, I carry them back to the table on a tray.

Steph's eyes go wide. "Have you developed a drinking problem?"

"I thought maybe we could take them back to the chalet."

I see Robert look questioningly in Steph's direction, but her eyes are boring into mine.

"It's just a thought. If you'd rather stay here, that's fine."

Holding my gaze, she slowly stands, then grabs two of the glasses. "It's a great idea." Smiling at Robert, she adds, "unless it's too late for our early riser?"

He shakes his head. "Like you said, I can always sleep on the boat."

We all laugh and head off down the flower-lined path, carrying two glasses each. My stomach's in knots, and I don't really know what my preferred outcome would be. Maybe there'll be more laughing and flirting, then Robert will head back to his own room while Steph and I share a bed. Or maybe there'll be more flirting, then more-than-flirting...

Robert is impressed with the chalet. I open the French doors and we carry one glass each out to the veranda. Steph and Robert take the swing chair and I lean against the wooden rail. It's a beautiful night with a thin sliver of crescent moon and a billion stars. We're far enough away from the hotel that the only sound is the quiet lapping of the waves on the beach. We drink and chat for a few minutes, then I have to head inside for the loo. On my way back I can hear them whispering through the open doors. I don't catch what Robert asks, but I hear Steph say, "I don't know."

He whispers something else, and she answers, "No, never."

I give it a few seconds before rejoining them. A few minutes later Robert excuses himself, explaining he needs the bathroom as well.

The moment he's gone inside, Steph leans forward on the swing and looks at me. "What's going on?"

"I thought we were having a drink and a nice time."

She narrows her eyes and nods slowly. "We were doing that in the bar, so why did you suggest we come back here?"

I shrug. "You seemed to be having such a good time, I thought you'd prefer to continue your enjoyment here."

She glances at the door to make sure Robert isn't about to walk out, then tips her head to one side. "And just how far is my enjoyment allowed to go?"

A tightness grips my stomach. "As far as you want it to."

She shakes her head and frowns. "You don't mean that."

"Yes, I do." I bend until our faces are close and look deep into her eyes. "It's a long time since I've seen you this happy and carefree. I like seeing the old you."

"And what about tomorrow?"

"Tomorrow we'll have another relaxing day by the pool and enjoy the rest of our holiday."

Before she can respond, Robert's shadow falls over the veranda. He's clutching the final three cocktails.

Chapter Three

Steph gets up and takes her drink from him. As we all stand facing each other, she raises her glass. “To Mediterranean nights.”

Robert and I repeat her toast and sip our drinks.

Steph looks up at us. I get the impression she’s waiting to see if I’ve changed my mind. To show her I haven’t, I take a step back and lean against the railing. This time I’m not facing the sea, but I’m watching my wife to see if she can work up the courage to go further than flirting. There’s a hesitancy that I find reassuring, but something inside tells me I’ll be disappointed if she backs out now.

She’s looking up into Robert’s eyes, and I see her bite her lip. She glances at me for a split second, then steps close and reaches up to kiss him gently on the mouth.

As he hesitates, glancing at me, I offer a reassuring smile. I don’t really care how he feels about it—I just want my wife to have a good time. She kisses him again, and this time he kisses her back. His tanned arms wrap around her waist, and he pulls her close. I watch her body writhe against his and hear a small moan deep in her throat.

They break the kiss and Robert stares down at her with a hungry gaze. Neither of them glance in my direction. I wonder if I ought to go for a walk along the beach to give them some privacy, but I don’t want to miss this. So I stay where I am, watching them in profile as they stare into each other’s eyes.

As Steph leans in for another kiss, her hands slip up the back of his shirt. I watch them as she strokes up and down his broad back. She lets out a groan and my eyes shift to Robert’s hands. He’s slipped one down the front of her dress and is caressing her boob. He squeezes and releases a couple of times, then his fingers trace circles around the nipple area. Moaning, Steph pulls back and starts unbuttoning her dress.

Robert and I both watch. The five buttons go down as far as the waistband. Once the final one is undone, he slips a hand back through the gap and caresses a boob still cupped in her white bra. He lets out a murmur of approval, then walks her backwards to the swing chair. She sits, looking up at him with big eyes. Robert drops to his knees between her feet and leans in to kiss her again. She places one hand on his shoulder and the other on the back of his head. They kiss passionately before he lowers his face to her chest. Steph eases his head back and reaches down to the clasp between the cups to open her bra.

Robert immediately takes a nipple into his mouth. Steph's eyes close and her head drops back. He sucks greedily for a few moments before switching his attention. As he sucks one breast, his hand caresses the other, my wife's erect nipple standing out between his splayed fingers. Her eyes remain closed, but her mouth is open, releasing small whispers and sighs as he alternates his attention from one breast to the other.

As Robert's feasting on her tits, I see his hands start to lift the hem of her dress. Steph moves her legs a little farther apart. I watch as more tanned skin is exposed: calves, bent knees, and thighs. He pushes the front to reveal the gusset of her panties. Robert releases her nipple and pulls his head back. Steph's looking him in the eye, and I realise there's none of the self-conscious awkwardness she shows whenever I look at her naked thighs. His palms drift up to her hips and Steph raises her bum enough for him to grip the waistband of her panties and ease them away.

He drops them on the wooden boards of the veranda. Neither of them speak. As he looks into her face, she slowly opens her legs much wider. I hold my breath and watch a guy we met less than two hours ago lower his face to my wife's crotch.

Steph lets out a moan at the first contact, then another louder one as his head pushes deeper between her thighs. I still occasionally do that to her, but only to get her lubricated enough for penetration. She places her hand on the back of his buzzed head and starts to ride his face. Robert moves his hands up to resume playing with her tits as he eats her.

Her eyes open. For the first time since before their initial kiss, she looks directly at me. I hold her gaze, unsure how I'm supposed to react. The entire situation feels surreal. I'm watching a stranger perform oral sex on my wife, and all I can think about is how proud I am of her. The slurping noises he's making compete with the lapping of the waves against the shore, but Steph's breathing's getting louder than both. She's staring in my direction, but now there's a dreamy, unfocussed look in her eyes. Her teeth clench and her nostrils flare, then I see her chest swell as she takes a huge breath. Her eyes flutter. Suddenly she pushes down on her feet and half-raises herself off the seat. She lets out a sob, a grunt, and then a long, low moan as she grinds her sex against Robert's face.

He releases one of her tits and brings his hand to between her thighs. Steph cries out, and I guess he's sucking her clit while pumping his fingers in and out of her. My wife's beautiful face melts as the orgasm finally breaks. Her entire body ripples in a slow, sensual rhythm until she eventually rests back in the chair, her eyes still closed, her hands stroking Robert's head. He pulls back and looks up at her. I'm a few feet behind him so I can't see his expression, but I see Steph give him a sated smile.

A woman's loud laugh from the direction of the hotel path makes us all turn around. People must have started to head back to their rooms. I suggest carrying on indoors.

Robert stands and helps Steph up off the chair. The skirt part of her dress falls back to cover her legs, but she makes no attempt to hide her exposed breasts. I pick up her discarded panties before following them. The gusset is soaked. The thought of her being turned on all evening gives me a thrill. Once inside, I close the French doors and draw the curtains.

When I turn around, Steph is working her way down the buttons of Robert's shirt. I'd assumed they'd want to go into the bedroom, but that doesn't seem to be the case. She exposes a broad, tanned chest with a smattering of dark, greying hair. She leans in and kisses his nipple, then pushes him back toward the couch. As he sits, Steph removes her shoes, shimmies out of her dress, and finally lets the straps of her open bra slide back off her arms, standing completely naked in front of another man. He can't take his eyes off her. She pulls the coffee table back to make more room, then drops to her knees by his feet.

Their eyes are fixed on each other's and I'm back to being ignored as I lower myself into an armchair. We're all watching Steph's fingers as she deftly unbuckles Robert's belt, pops the button of his trousers and slowly tugs down the zip. My throat constricts when she slips her hand inside his shorts. As she massages his cock, Robert lets out a sigh.

Steph uses her other hand to ease down his shorts and release his cock, which is long and thick. Her hand looks tiny as it slides up and down his shaft. I see her lick her lips. I know what she's going to do, and the first thing that occurs to me is that she hasn't sucked my cock in years.

I push back this thought and try to stay in the moment as she lowers her head. Keeping her eyes locked on his, she opens her mouth and the fat, wet tip disappears between her lips. He lets out another sigh, but I can't seem to breathe.

Steph closes her eyes and moves her head slowly up and down. I can see her saliva coating his shaft on her upstrokes. My own cock is starting to swell. I find myself clenching and releasing my buttocks to the rhythm, as if she were sucking me.

I'm fully hard when she releases his cock from her mouth and grips it in her hand.

"Can I sit on it?" she whispers.

He gives an enthusiastic nod.

Steph pulls his trousers and boxers down his legs. Kneeling, she straddles him. Their faces are almost touching, and she kisses him again. She grips his cock and swipes it through her folds, leaving the head slick with her juices, then holds it still and slowly eases herself down onto it. I watch, transfixed, as the big cock slips all the way inside her. She moans, pausing for a long beat before rising up to expose several inches of thick, shiny shaft. As she drops back down to take it all into her body again, my emotions are all over the place. I feel simultaneously indignant yet indulgent and I'm repulsed by my own arousal. She's the woman I love, and there's no way I should be allowing this to happen. But it's happening right in front of me, and I'm enjoying it almost as much as Stephanie obviously is. I'm mesmerized by the spectacle and thrilled at the way she's gratifying another man's desire.

With eyes closed and mouth open, she's letting out moans of delight and riding Robert's cock. His hands are exploring her body, lovingly caressing the plentiful flesh of her backside, hips and waist. It's like he's worshipping her curves. I haven't touched her body like that for a long time. It makes me feel ashamed.

Steph lets out another long groan, and I'm both thrilled and appalled. She's going to come again. I can't remember the last time I made her come twice. If I'm honest, I'm pretty sure there have been quite a few occasions with me when she hasn't come at all.

Her moans rise in pitch and volume. I'm astounded that Robert's lasted so long. I watch his tanned hands grip her hips, his fingers denting the flesh as he bounces her on his cock. He whispers something in her ear, and she moves faster. Are they both trying to come together? The thought of her trying to bring on his climax excites me.

Steph cries out, jerking her hips back and forth, mumbling incoherently as she rides out the storm. Her meaty thighs tremble with the exertion. Eventually her moans stop and she leans back, her breasts heaving as she takes deep breaths. I don't think I've ever seen her nipples stick out so far.

Robert's staring at her face, and when she opens her eyes they share a smile. I wonder if he managed to come at the same time, but then he pushes up into her again. She gives an exasperated laugh and tells him her legs won't work anymore. He helps her off him and I get another glimpse of his cock. It's still fully hard and now gleaming with her juices.

Steph turns around and kneels on the floor, resting her elbows on the coffee table. Robert slides down from the couch and kneels between her calves. He runs a hand over her backside, then feeds his cock back inside her. She lets out a sigh and soon starts to push back to meet his thrusts.

I watch them from the side, the slap of flesh and grunts of pleasure filling my ears. The air is thick with the scent of her juices, and I'm nostalgic about the times when I could get her this worked up.

Robert bangs hard, setting her breasts swinging beneath her. She's being pushed into the coffee table and adjusts her position so her upper body presses down, her boobs spreading on the glass top like twin pillows. I see his fingers digging onto her hips, pulling her back to meet each thrust. He's breathing heavily, his forehead beaded with sweat.

Steph looks over her shoulder and urges him to come.

Another rush of conflicting thoughts tumbles through me. I'm being ridiculous and childish, but this suddenly feels like a big step. He's had his hands and mouth all over her body, and he's had his cock in her mouth and her cunt. I've watched him bring her to orgasm twice and loved every minute of it. But now she wants him to—

“Ahhh!”

With a pained expression, Robert holds still. I know he's emptying his big balls inside my wife. She knows it too, wiggling her arse from side to side and offering more words of encouragement. He inhales through clenched teeth and resumes his thrusts, sending shockwaves through her ample arse and hips. She grunts and lowers her head to the coffee tabletop, and I visualise him depositing more and more cream into her shaking body.

Steph opens her eyes and looks up at me, but I'm too involved in the moment to offer a smile. I wonder if she can feel his big cock shudder with each spurt, if she can feel the heat of his load as it sprays her insides.

Robert eventually stills and lets out a long sigh. He closes his eyes and shakes his head, then looks over at me. "Jeez, Ian, you're a lucky guy."

I glance down at Steph, who's now looking a little shellshocked. "Yes I am." I smile at her, then look back at Robert. "And tonight, I think you got lucky too."

He laughs. "I don't think lucky does it justice. Tonight I was blessed."

He pulls out and I get a final peek at his cock before he tugs up his shorts. Steph picks up the panties I'd dropped by the curtains and slips them on, then goes into the bedroom. She returns seconds later in her robe.

Robert puts on his shirt and Steph helps him with the buttons. Once he's dressed, she takes both his hands in hers and, now barefoot, needs to go on tiptoe to kiss him. "I hope you're not going to be too sleepy tomorrow."

He smiles and shakes his head. "Who cares about fish?"

I see her bite her lip. I get the impression she wants to say more, but in the end she walks to the door and opens it.

Robert shakes my hand. "Ian, thank you." He glances over at Steph, then looks me in the eye. "Like I said, you're a very lucky man."

I nod my agreement, and he leaves.

Chapter Four

Steph closes and locks the door but stays facing it for a few seconds. I worry that she's already having regrets. I'm just about to go to comfort her when she turns round.

Her eyes are wide, but she looks happy. "I can't believe you let me do something like that."

I shrug. If I'm honest, I can't believe it either. "I got the impression it was what you wanted."

She laughs. "Oh, I wanted it, alright."

"Yeah, that's what I thought. I also thought it was what you deserved."

She looks puzzled. "Deserved?"

"It's been a long time since I've seen you laugh and dance and have fun like you did tonight, and for that I'm sorry."

"It's not your fault." She steps close and looks up at me. Her eyes are still a little unfocused, and I'm wondering if it's the drink or from being fucked senseless. Maybe a combination of both. Whatever it is, I feel my hard-on return.

"Why didn't you join in?"

Her question surprises me. "Sorry?"

"I thought you might have wanted to join the fun."

"That never occurred to me. I just wanted you to have a good time, and Robert seemed to be giving you that without any help from me."

She starts to undo my shirt buttons, just as she'd undone Robert's earlier. "Did you enjoy the show?"

My mouth's dry, and I have to swallow before I can answer. "Yeah, I enjoyed it a lot." I give another shrug. "It was a double-edged sword sort of thing, though. I experienced a lot of mixed feelings."

"Horny yet hurt?"

I laugh and nod. "That sums it up perfectly."

"And how do you feel now?" She leans in and kisses my neck.

A shiver runs down my spine. "Well I'm not hurt at the moment."

She takes my hand and leads me to the bedroom. I can't believe she's up for more and worry she feels an obligation.

"Are you sure you—?"

She kisses my lips, then pulls back and frowns. "Sorry, I've just remembered what I had in my mouth less than an hour ago."

I don't care if she tastes of Robert's cock. I cup her cheeks and hold her head still while I lick around her lips then push my tongue into her mouth. She sucks it, bites it a little, then she's pulling frantically at my trousers. She slips her hand inside my boxers and pushes me down onto my bed. I'm still trying to kick off my shoes when her hot mouth envelops my cock.

I groan at the intense feeling. There's a lot of pent-up energy running through me—I'm worried I'll push too deep and make her gag. I reluctantly ease her head away and pull it up to kiss her again. "That's not what I want," I whisper.

She frowns and nods toward the bathroom. "There's no bath here, and..." She gives an embarrassed shrug. "I can't..."

I feel awful. I should have realised she'd be sore. "It's okay if you don't want—"

"I do. I really want to." She looks pained. "I'm gagging for you, but there's..." She takes a deep breath and lets out a sigh. "I'm full of his stuff."

I laugh out loud when I finally see what she's been worrying about. I grip her hair and push her back onto the bed, then pull her robe open and manhandle her boobs. "I don't care."

She looks doubtful. "Are you sure?"

Peeling off her panties, I realise that I do care. The thought of fucking her with another man's cum in there gives me a perverse thrill I can't explain. She opens her legs and I see the gloopy mess between her folds. Her outer lips are puffy, the dark hairs on either side of her slit sodden and matted.

I stare for a few seconds then look into her eyes. "I might not last very long."

"Just fuck me for as long as you can last."

I guide myself inside her and we both sigh. It's hot and wet and wonderful, and rather than lying impassively, as has become our norm, she undulates beneath me. The soft fullness of her body is a luxuriant delight I'd never appreciated until now, and I can't keep my hands off it. I remember Robert caressing each and every part of her, and I do my own exploring. I massage her waist and hips. Run my hands lower to grip the flesh of her legs. As my hands slip around to the back of her thighs, my fingers touch the slippery wetness coating her skin. Another shiver runs through me as I imagine my cock forcing out the fluids of her previous encounter. I know some of it will be her own juices, but it's mostly Robert's cum.

I slide my hands higher and palm her buttocks. Her arse is as slippery as her thighs. I slide a finger between her cheeks and feel the trickle of warm juices running through the valley. My finger slips into her arse without resistance. Steph lets out a groan and scratches my back, which I take as encouragement. I pump my finger and my hips, fingering one hole and fucking the other.

Feeling the grip of her orgasm, I explode inside her. She pulls my hair and wraps her arms and legs around me. For a moment I'm lost in a dreamlike state of euphoria and exhaustion. My entire body thrums with the aftershocks of my eruption, but I'm too tired to move my hips. But Steph's rolling beneath me; I don't need to move a muscle. She's fucking me from below, milking me dry. A shudder runs down my back with each spasm. I can't remember ever coming so hard, and it's not until she slows down that I realise I'm making a noise—a low groan in my throat that sounds like a purr.

When she stops moving, I withdraw and roll off her. We're both bathed in sweat, and I lick it off her neck. We lie in silence for a minute or so.

She strokes my arm. "I still can't believe what I did."

"I can't believe it took somebody else to make me see what I have."

She turns her head and frowns. "What do you mean by that?"

"When we first met, I couldn't get enough of you. Wherever we went, you were the best-looking woman there and I knew I was the luckiest guy." I give her an apologetic look. "I think I've let the years dull that feeling."

“I’m ashamed of how I’ve let myself—”

“Neither of us are the same shape we were twenty years ago. Robert could see how beautiful you are.”

“He didn’t see me twenty years ago.”

“It doesn’t matter. He saw you tonight, and he liked what he saw.” I snort. “He more than liked it. He was all over you like a rash.”

She gives me a shy smile. “It’s been years since anyone’s paid me that sort of attention, and—”

“What sort of attention?”

“He was flirting and staring at my body. Then on the dance floor his hands were on my backside or brushing against my boobs.”

“I carried your panties in from the veranda—they showed exactly how much you were enjoying yourself.”

She looks a little guilty. “When we danced close, I could feel his hard-on pushing into my tummy.”

“I get slapped when I do that at the office party.”

She laughs, then shakes her head again. “I still can’t believe you let me do it.”

“I’m glad I did.”

She turns to lie on her side and stares into my eyes. “Will you still feel the same tomorrow and the day after?”

I think about it for all of a second, then nod. “I’ll probably pester you for sex more.”

“That’ll be fine with me.”

I smile at the thought of repeating what we’d just shared. When I close my eyes, a collage of images from earlier flit across my eyelids. I enjoy the show for a while before opening my eyes and stroking her hair. “Did my presence make it awkward?”

“At first it felt weird, but that was probably down to the fact I was with someone who wasn’t you. Once things got going, my body took over. I stopped thinking and just let it all happen.”

“How did it feel, being with another man?”

“I thought I’d made that obvious.” She grins. “You saw my reaction.”

“I considered going for a walk on the beach and leaving you to it, but the selfish part of me wanted to see it with my own eyes.”

“I’m glad you stayed.”

“Me too.”

She leans in and kisses my chest, then frowns. “I’m leaking all over the sheet.”

“That’s okay, I’ll sleep in your bed.”

She punches my arm. “We’ll both sleep in my bed, but first we need a shower.”

All clean, we go back into the lounge, Steph in her robe and me in just shorts. There are more beers in the fridge, and she opens two of them, passing one to me. We drop onto the couch and drink in silence.

She’s the first to speak. “Have I been unfaithful?”

I shake my head. “I don’t think so because I was here.”

“Have you?”

“What, by watching?”

“No, you prat.” She tuts like I’m being stupid. “I mean before.”

“No.”

“If you have, now’s the time to tell me. I couldn’t really complain after what—”

“Of course you could. If I’d seen somebody behind your back, you’d have every right to kick me out and divorce me.”

“But tonight—”

“Tonight you did something we both wanted.” I shrug as she gives me a puzzled look. “I watched the two of you flirting and... I liked the idea of you being seduced.”

“Wow.”

I decide to ask the question that’s been on my mind since Robert left the chalet. “What if he’s in the bar again tomorrow night?”

She laughs. “I’ve already thought about that. Tomorrow’s our last night, so I think we should go into town and have a nice dinner on our own.” She takes my hand in hers. “Then come back here and make love on our own.”

I smile, relieved. “I’d like that a lot.”

“We’ll never meet Robert again, and tonight can be our secret.”

“I thought it’d give you something to tell the lady from the plane during our flight home.”

She giggles, then kisses me gently. “I loved what you allowed to happen, but I think it’ll be even more special if we make it a once in a lifetime experience.”

She doesn’t need anybody else to make her happy, and neither do I. I just needed to be reminded how special she still is, and what a lucky guy I am.

Hired Help

Steven had been waiting all evening for Alicia to get home, the last hour spent sitting on the edge of the armchair with his stomach tightly knotted. He saw the headlights through the curtains as she pulled into the driveway and stood up when he heard the backdoor open. Alicia stepped into the living room. Her hair and makeup didn't seem too much in disarray. Maybe she hadn't actually—

“I've been fucked,” she said.

A sudden lump in his throat prevented him from replying. He swallowed, then nodded.

“Are you glad I've been fucked, Steve?”

He studied her face, trying to determine her mood. Was this playful teasing or intentionally confrontational? “What do you—?”

“Simple question. I went to a bar and let a man take me back to his place, where I went to bed with him. Does that make you happy?”

He tried desperately to read her expression but failed. As a last resort, he decided to be completely honest. “Yes, it makes me happy.”

“Why?”

His chest tightened. He was reminded of being summoned to the headmaster's office after misbehaving at school. He took a steadying breath. “I'm happy because the thought of you...”

“Fucking?”

Steven nodded, smiling a little. “Yeah. Fucking. The thought of you fucking turns me on.”

“Is it the thought of me fucking in general, or the thought of me fucking someone else?”

He blinked, puzzled. He thought they’d established this. Or maybe this was her way of getting him to talk dirty. “Both. I get turned on thinking about you fucking me, and I get turned on thinking about you fucking someone else.” It was getting easier to speak as he became more relaxed. He grinned. “I even get turned on by the thought of you fucking yourself.”

Alicia stepped closer and stared into his eyes. Her perfume was overpowering, but there was another smell there. The musky smell of sex. It made his cock swell.

“Lots of cute guys hit on me,” she continued, “and yet I chose someone who wasn’t very cute.”

“Why?”

“I felt sorry for him. Nobody was paying him any attention. He was standing on his own and being ignored.”

“But you didn’t ignore him.”

“No, I didn’t.”

Steven never imagined that his momentary lapse with a beautiful stripper while on a stag weekend in Prague would completely change the sexual landscape of his marriage...

Since Steven and Alicia often discuss what they'd done with previous partners as a way ramping up their foreplay, Steven's certain that Alicia won't hold his erotic tryst against him. After all, the stripper was nothing more than hired help, like a cleaner or a gardener. However, his attempts to kickstart their sex life by sharing the details of his adventure with Saskia don't quite go to plan.

After an initial outburst he hadn't expected, Alicia treats him to a night of passion reminiscent of the exhilarating early days of their relationship. The spark has been truly rekindled. Until Alicia one-ups him with a long, sexy night with a hunky gigolo.

Though the inequality of her retaliation leaves Steven reeling, he's knocked sideways by a difficult truth — the idea of his stunning wife in the arms of another man is far more appealing than he's imagined. In fact, he can't believe how much he fantasises about sharing her.

While Steve seeks out further thrills in the friendly arms of local sex worker Jo-Jo, who's happy to tell him stories about all the other men she's been with, Alicia wonders how she can replicate the dirty thrill he gets from his hired helpers. What do they have that she doesn't?

Maybe if she could learn to scratch his itch, their burning desire could become even hotter...
