

STRANGER THAN FICTION

DELORES SWALLOWS

Stranger Than Fiction

An Author's Fanciful Mind

by Delores Swallows

Delores Swallows Publications

Web | Twitter | Amazon

Sign up for FREE stories and MORE from Delores Swallows

Join Delores' Mailing List

This book is a work of fiction. Names, characters, places, and incidents either are products of the author's imagination or are used fictitiously. Any resemblance to actual events or locales or persons, living or dead, is entirely coincidental.

Copyright © 2015 Delores Swallows

Kindle Edition, License Notes

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced in any form or by any electronic or mechanical means—except in the case of brief quotations embodied in articles or reviews—without written permission from its publisher.

Content Advisory: This book is intended for mature audiences and contains explicit sexual activity.

Stranger than Fiction

James writes erotic fiction.

His latest story describes the adventures of Ruby, a happily-married woman in an open relationship. When James writes a sex-scene which leaves Ruby unsatisfied, she turns up in his real life to demand more from her encounters.

Ruby's presence starts to impact on James's relationship with his wife, with embarrassing consequences.

But he comes to realise that Ruby isn't just there to help solve the problems with the plot in his story; his own marriage narrative is also in need of a little editing...

Contents

Stranger Than Fiction

Chapter One

Chapter Two

Chapter Three

Chapter Four

Chapter Five

Chapter Six

Chapter Seven

Chapter Eight

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

ALSO BY DELORES SWALLOWS

Chapter One

Ruby pushed the guy onto his back in the middle of the bed. She faced the window. Since they were only on the second floor, Ruby could distinguish the faces of shoppers in the busy plaza below. She wondered if anyone could see her standing over the bed wearing only a suspender belt and stockings.

The guy looked up at her, an expectant smile on his face. His name was Jason, but Ruby referred to him in her head as No.2. He'd been the second guy she'd slept with after she and Ed had agreed to an open marriage.

Ruby didn't particularly enjoy one-night stands. She liked to meet up with her 'friends' occasionally over a long period of time. This was the eighth time she'd slept with No.2 in eighteen months. She'd seen other guys since their first liaison—the latest was No.7—but No.2 held a special place because of the way she'd felt about him before they became lovers.

Ruby knelt on the bed and held up the condom. "I thought we'd try a ribbed one."

He smiled at her and bit his lip as Ruby gripped the base in one hand and slowly rolled the rubber down the length of his cock with the other.

She straddled him and slowly lowered herself onto his erection. She was already soaking after what he'd done with his tongue, and she wanted to savour the initial moment of being filled.

He pushed up into her and she groaned. He pushed up again and she frowned. What she wanted was to slowly gyrate and grind herself on him, but he seemed a little impatient. Maybe it was partly her fault for sucking and teasing him as soon as he'd arrived in the room. It was obvious all he wanted now was his release, and Ruby felt a little cheated. She climbed off him, knelt on all fours on the bed and held his gaze. He didn't need any more of an invitation. He stood up, gripped her hips and slammed into her from behind. The force of his thrust made her cry out, and his response was to slam into her again, even harder.

Ruby let out another cry as his fingers dug into her hips. His onslaught made her small breasts shake with each thrust. Again she wondered if the shoppers below could see into their room.

He started to murmur under his breath. Ruby knew he was a lot closer to orgasm than she was. She used her right hand to rub her clit in an attempt to bring herself off, but too soon he pulsed and shouted out. As his juices flooded the condom, Ruby knew her own release would have to wait.

James removed his hands from the keyboard and read back the last paragraph. He changed the word ‘juices’ to ‘cum’ and re-read it out loud. Not happy, he deleted ‘cum’ and typed ‘semen’.

He still wasn’t satisfied. He had the entire scene pictured in his head, but couldn’t think of the right words to get Ruby’s expression across. She loved being used and fucked hard—particularly from behind—but she’d have enjoyed it a whole lot more if No.2 had stayed still for a couple of minutes to allow her to reach his same level of excitement. She loved the fact he was coming. The rubber took away the intimacy of having his cum deep inside her, but condoms were Rule Number One in the arrangement she and her husband agreed to.

So, how best to describe her expression? James could see her face in his mind. Eyes closed, red lips drawn back over clenched teeth, but there was a tinge of disappointment he wanted to convey. He wasn’t sure how best to get that image described on the page.

James could easily change the entire mood of the scene by having Ruby climax, screaming out and clenching the sheet with her painted nails, but he refused to go down that route. He wanted to get it right, so he decided to leave it for now. He was tired, and the display on the lower corner of his screen showed it was well past midnight. He saved the document and closed down the computer.

Sally would be in bed by now. As he walked through the lounge he was startled to see a strange woman sitting on the settee, holding a glass of red wine. She had shoulder-length black hair and blue eyes. Although he'd never set eyes on her before, James knew exactly who she was.

"Hello, Ruby."

She smiled, but he could tell she wasn't happy. "Diggy."

James wrote erotic romance under the pen-name Diane Garside. He also had an e-mail in that name which he used for writing forums. His password contained the word Diggy and a number sequence. James had reasoned someone called Diane Garside might've been nicknamed Diggy at school.

"You're not really here." It was a statement of fact, but his voice didn't carry much authority.

Ruby smiled sweetly and raised her glass to him. "Of course I'm not. How could I be?"

James waited for her to say more, but she sipped her wine and examined the shoes she was wearing. The heels were ridiculously high.

"What's this about?" James felt stupid for asking, but decided that if his mind was playing games with him, he may as well play along.

Ruby looked him in the eye. She had intensely blue eyes—he hadn't appreciated they were such a vivid colour. Maybe he hadn't done her justice in his descriptions.

"Why didn't I come when I was with number two?"

James shook his head, confused. "Sorry?"

"You've had him fuck me and shoot his load, but denied me the pleasure of an orgasm. Why would you do that?"

James rubbed his hand down his face, scraping over the stubble on his cheeks and chin. He blinked his eyes a couple of times, but Ruby was still sitting on his couch.

She tipped her head to the side, clearly expecting an explanation.

"Ruby, you're not real. Neither is he. The sex you had wasn't real. I cannot believe I'm even bothering with this conversation." James walked out of the room, turning off the light before he closed the door.

When he walked into the bathroom Ruby was sitting on the toilet, her tights and knickers rolled down to her ankles.

James stopped in his tracks and stared at her. He wondered if this was the beginning of a breakdown. His editor had told him the deadline for the first draft had been brought forward, but James didn't feel under that much pressure.

Ruby lifted her skirt and parted her knees. She traced a finger along the slit of her sex while her eyes looked straight into his. "It may not be real to you, Diggy, but it's all I have."

James walked to the basin and turned on the tap. He squeezed toothpaste onto his brush and proceeded to clean his teeth, trying to ignore the squelching sounds Ruby's fingers were now making. When he'd finished, he walked out without acknowledging her. In the bedroom, he undressed with the lights off so as not to disturb his sleeping wife, and slid under the covers. As his eyes became accustomed to the dark, he could see in the faint green light from the digital alarm clock that Ruby was sitting on his chest of drawers by the wall closest to him.

Her hand was up her skirt. "If you're not going to let me come when I get fucked, I'm going to have to sort myself out."

James watched the figment of his imagination masturbate. Her breathing got heavy, ragged. She let out a guttural moan, followed by a sigh. James wondered if Sally would hear, but immediately dismissed the thought as ludicrous.

Ruby was now whispering, as if to a lover. "Ooh, yeah. Oh, god, that's it... Mmm, yeah..."

James was embarrassed when his manhood swelled. He reminded himself Ruby was a character he'd invented to turn readers on, so it was only natural she turned him on, too. He closed his eyes and eventually fell asleep.

* * * *

The following day, James went to work at the hi-fi store as usual. Although he already had four books published, the income from them was minimal, and nothing like enough to live on. It was a quiet morning, his only sale a set of ear-buds to a teenage girl and just two phone enquiries, both about home-cinema systems due to feature in the following week's sale.

He was reading some promotional information on iPod docking stations when the front door opened. He looked up and Ruby was standing in the shop wearing a long black coat, high-heeled black boots and a woolly hat.

She smiled sweetly, obviously pleased at his shocked expression. "Diggy."

"What are you doing here?" James was surprised how high his voice sounded.

"I thought I'd come in and order a threesome."

"What?" James's voice had shot up by an octave.

"I said I've come to order a threesome."

"A threesome?"

Ruby nodded. "It's where three people have sex together. In this specific case, it's where two guys partake of a very enthusiastic and persistently horny woman."

"I know what a fucking threesome is, but this is a hi-fi shop. We don't deal in threesomes."

Ruby stepped closer to the counter. "I understand that, Diggy. I don't want you to put the order through the accounts. I want you to spend the afternoon running the scene through your head, so by the time you sit down at your computer tonight you have two nice men eager to fuck me."

James shook his head. "Ruby, you can't tell me what to write."

"Of course not, you're the creative genius." The statement was thick with sarcasm. "But as your current muse, I'd like to request I get more than brief sex which leaves me unsatisfied."

"I only wrote one scene where you didn't come. That hardly entitles you to describe your sex as unsatisfying." James wondered if anybody walking past the shop would see the sales assistant talking to himself.

"Well, I've decided I want more of a say in what goes on. I don't want to meet up with men in hotel rooms every so often for a quick lust-fuck for you to make money from."

“What are you on about? You’re not fucking real. I made you up!”

“Well that doesn’t give you the right to act like my pimp.”

“What?” James had never heard his own voice this high. He could start a Michael Jackson tribute act by the end of the conversation.

“Pimp,” Ruby repeated. “You decide who takes me into the hotel, where he puts his dick, where he shoots his load. Now you seem to think it’s also acceptable for you to decide how much pleasure I get from it all.”

James was momentarily lost for words. He took a deep breath, and tried to get his thoughts straight. He looked through the window to make sure nobody was watching him. He was beginning to wonder if he should make an appointment with the doctor, maybe get something for the anxiety he didn’t realise he was suffering from.

“Ruby, I can’t believe I’m even talking to you.”

Ruby smiled and started to unbutton her coat.

James tried to ignore her fingers, but he already knew what was in store. This scenario had featured in one of Ruby’s meetings with No.1 in an earlier chapter.

When the final button was undone, Ruby held open the front of her coat. Sure enough, she was completely naked except for the boots. James’s eyes took in her erect nipples and thick black pubic hair.

She watched his face and spoke in a quiet, calm tone. “I want you to go home and write a scene where I’m picked up by two good looking men in a bar. They could even run the bar, and I can be their new barmaid. They both flirt with me as we’re all mixing cocktails and pouring drinks. They brush against me at every opportunity as we all rush around, serving the crowds. Later, when the bar closes, it’s only the three of us. We have a drink to wind down and the fun begins. See? I’ve even given you the plot.”

James stayed quiet.

“They stand either side of me and stroke me through my clothes. They undress me and lay me on a table. While one of them licks me, the other pushes his cock into my mouth. They swap places. Next they take turns fucking me, one after the other. They both shoot their load deep inside me.”

“What about Rule Number One?”

“Fuck condoms, I want to get splattered. I want to feel their stuff running down my thighs in the moments afterwards, while I’m getting my breath back.”

James shook his head. “That’s not who you are, Ruby. You’re a happily married woman with two teenage children. You wouldn’t risk doing anything to hurt your family. Fucking around is okay, your husband does the same. It’s what you agreed to as a way of keeping the spark in your marriage. But you never agreed to threesomes or unprotected sex with strangers. That’s not your story.”

Ruby’s eyes flashed with anger. “Well make it my fucking story.”

James sighed. “I have an outline for this story, and it’s been agreed with my editor and the publisher. You’re a happily married woman who enjoys an open marriage. You don’t fuck anyone and everyone because you’re responsible and caring. You need to feel some sort of spark with the men you sleep with. You form a relationship with them. Readers will admire you for being a believable character.”

“I want to get fucked by more than one man at a time. That bitch Chloe got fucked in every hole by anyone and everyone.”

Chloe was a character from another of James’s stories. “Chloe isn’t married with children.”

“I don’t give a toss. How come she gets whatever she wants while I have to put up with guys who can’t make me come?”

“That’s not the story and you know it.”

“Like fuck I do. All I see is me getting frustrated while Chloe gets banged left, right and centre. She had three men at once in a lorry.”

“Didn’t happen. It was a fantasy, and it wasn’t even Chloe’s fantasy. It was Damien’s fictitious girlfriend’s fantasy.”

“I don’t care – that’s the sort of thing I want. I want variety. How about some BDSM?”

James laughed humourlessly. “I’m not re-writing Fifty Shades of Shite just so you can get your jollies.”

“Well, I think you’ll find EL James doesn’t have to work in a crappy shop to pay the bills. How can you look down your nose at an author who’s made millions?”

James conceded Ruby had a valid point.

“I want my sex to be something special. How about you write me a scene where I’m abducted by aliens with big green members?”

He snorted. “Yeah, they could take you around the universe. The sex would be out of this world.” James made quote marks with his fingers for each pun.

Ruby glared at him for a few seconds before she turned and stepped away.

James was silent as Ruby wandered around the shop, her coat still hanging open to reveal her naked body.

She bent down to look at some mp3 players in a glass cabinet. “Do you sell all electrical items?”

“We don’t stock vibrators, if that’s what you mean.”

Ruby laughed. “Ah, you know me so well. But then, so you should.”

The front door opened and a man in his fifties came in, removing his gloves. When James looked towards the glass cabinet, Ruby had disappeared.

Chapter Two

By the time James and Sally had eaten dinner and caught up on each other's day, it was almost nine. Sally said she'd recorded an episode of Masterchef she wanted to watch, so James retreated to his study to carry on with his writing. He re-read the previous night's scene and decided to leave any corrections until he'd finished the chapter. James had the next part of the story fixed in his head, and it was nothing like what Ruby had requested in the shop earlier in the day.

They lay in the afterglow of their sex for twenty minutes, both silent. With her head resting on his shoulder, Ruby wondered why she hadn't come. Her mouth was suddenly dry, so she sat up and took a sip from the glass of wine resting on the small table by the bed. His hand started to stroke her back and her hand instinctively moved over his stomach and down.

It took No.2 a little longer to recover than on their previous trysts. Ruby had been pleasantly surprised by how quickly he'd managed to get another erection after coming when they'd first slept together. He kept himself fit by running, cycling and frequent trips to the gym, but on this occasion Ruby had to manipulate and knead his spent appendage for several minutes before it started to show any sign of swelling. She reasoned it was probably her own frustration that made it seem like it took him longer to be ready to go again. Once he was hard enough, Ruby rolled another condom in place and pulled him on top of her.

"Fuck me slowly," she whispered into his ear. "Fuck me slowly for a long time. Don't talk, don't speed up, and don't touch me anywhere else. Fuck me slowly and push your cock as deep as it'll go."

No.2 was either not very good at taking instructions or hadn't been listening. He fucked her slowly for no more than two minutes before he sped up his movements. Ruby tried to slow him down by placing her hands on his lower back, but instead he banged her harder. His bony hips dug into her flesh with each thrust, which annoyed her. She wrapped her legs around his in an effort to restrain the jack-hammer action he was now employing. He evidently registered this as the next phase in their love-making because he arched his back, took his weight on his elbows and squeezed her breasts painfully with his hands. In a desperate attempt to come, Ruby pushed her crotch upwards to get the necessary friction on her clit to tip her over the edge, but this only brought him to climax immediately.

He let out a pained cry and uttered a line of clichéd phrases used only in low-budget porn films. When he rolled off there was a damp ‘plopping’ noise as he exited her. Ruby closed her eyes and decided to recite the alphabet backwards in her head before speaking. She knew if he asked if it had been ‘good for her’ she would insert the stem of her wine glass in his urethra.

James read his words back. He knew Ruby wouldn’t be happy, but this was how he wanted the scene to play out. In previous chapters Ruby had enjoyed all of the trysts with No.2. Indeed, she’d enjoyed one of their early sessions so much she’d got carried away and allowed him to come in her mouth. Rule Number One had been tossed away in the heat of the moment, and she’d had several sleepless nights worrying about how easily her resolve had been brushed aside. Even the indignity of going to the hospital to get herself tested to ensure she hadn’t swallowed more than she’d bargained for didn’t make her regret doing it.

This was the first occasion Ruby had failed to achieve orgasm with No.2. In fact so far she’d managed to come with all of her extramarital arrangements—although No.4 had suffered stage-fright on a couple of occasions.

James wanted this chapter to be a seminal moment in Ruby’s love-life. He could envisage Ruby using this evening as a springboard to demand more from her lovers. He wondered briefly if Ruby also knew it, since she was inside his head with all his other thoughts.

“Jesus, you’re wearing me out. How about we get dressed and go and grab some supper?”

Ruby forced a smile onto her face. “Yes, that would be lovely. But I’ll need to shower off all your charisma so I don’t glow in the dark.”

No.2 frowned as Ruby got up from the bed and stripped off her suspender belt and stockings. Ten minutes later she came out of the bathroom wearing the jeans and black t-shirt she’d travelled to the hotel in. The silk dress she’d worn over her stockings was still lying in a pool by the bed where she’d allowed it to slip sensuously from her shoulders a couple of hours earlier.

She pulled on her flat black boots and looked at him expectantly.

“Is that it?” he asked. “Aren’t you going to bother drying your hair? Or even brushing it?”

Ruby looked at her reflection in the window, as it was now relatively dark outside. Her hair had been towelled dry and combed with her fingers, and she had washed off all her make-up.

She stood silently by the door and waited while he quickly dressed.

James didn’t know whether to include any of their conversation over supper. He couldn’t get it straight in his head. Ruby would have to carry on as if she were happy. She still liked this guy—he was as funny and charming as he’d always been. But James wanted to show there was actually something missing that had been there on all their other liaisons. What was it? Could it be they were now so familiar they didn’t bother to try and impress each other anymore? Was it some kind of bedroom boredom? Did No.2 feel all he had to do was to phone for a date, and he’d be guaranteed to get sucked and fucked all night long? Had James made Ruby too easy?

He couldn’t concentrate on where he wanted the story to go, so he read a few e-mails, then read and critiqued another writer’s post in the forum he was a member of. Over an hour later he went back to his story, re-read what he’d written and decided he wouldn’t bother trying to add any more to it yet. He closed down his computer and made his way out of the study.

As he’d half-expected, Ruby was again sitting in his living room. This time she wore a black knee-length dress, no nylons and black high-heeled sandals with an ankle strap. She didn't look up at him, but sipped her wine and read the magazine resting on her lap.

James stopped on the rug in front of the couch.

Finally, she looked up at him, puzzled. "What did Chloe do to you?"

James frowned, shook his head. "Sorry?"

She tipped her head to one side, her straight black hair hanging to her shoulder like a silk curtain. "What favours did Chloe have to perform to get the best sex you've ever written?"

James laughed at the absurdity. "Ruby, Chloe isn't real either. She's like you, nothing more than a character in one of my stories."

Ruby didn't give any indication she'd heard. "Did she suck you off? I know she likes that. I remember her doing six guys one after the other, all of them shooting their load on her face."

James remembered the scene from his earlier story, but refused to go into why this particular character had done such a thing.

She shook her hair back. "You can come on my face, here and now."

"Ruby, you're not real. I can't believe I'm actually talking to you again."

Ruby slowly stood and took a step closer to him. James could smell her perfume, which made him wonder if his psychosis was getting worse. She leaned toward him and kissed him tenderly on the mouth. He stayed very still. Ruby raised her eyebrows slightly, leaned in again and kissed him a little harder. Her tongue ventured into his mouth. He could taste lipstick on her lips and the wine on her tongue. Ruby pushed herself against him, her soft breasts crushed against his chest. Her crotch pressed against his. She smiled knowingly, took a step back. She handed him her wine glass, which he took.

Ruby nodded at the glass. "Try it."

James sipped the wine. It was full-bodied and fruity—very nice. He nodded his approval and handed the glass back. She held the glass momentarily in her hand, and tipped it upside down, pouring the red liquid all over the cream rug. James jumped back in shock and stared at her with wide eyes. She smiled sweetly and looked down at the rug. James's eyes followed hers, and to his amazement the rug was completely clean.

“I’m not fucking real, Diggy. Neither is the wine.” Ruby stepped closer again, the heat of her breath on James’s cheek. “But the kiss felt real, didn’t it? Imagine what a blow-job would feel like. Or a nice, slow fuck...”

James was trembling. He needed to get away from her. He also needed a little time on his doctor’s couch. He turned and left the room. Without bothering to brush his teeth, he went straight into the bedroom. The lights were off and Sally was in bed. James faced the wall as he undressed but when he turned around, in the faint glow from the clock, he could make out Ruby kneeling on all fours on the bed. She was naked except for her shoes, running one hand over her backside.

“Want to do me doggy, Diggy?”

James worried Sally would hear if he replied, so said nothing. Ruby wiggled her arse a little, and James lifted his hand towards her. She wiggled again, and James’s hand touched her cool, smooth skin. He let his hand move slowly over the swell of her bum cheek, down the outside of her thigh. Ruby moaned quietly as his hand slid around the back of her leg and upwards along the inside of her other thigh. As his hand reached higher he could feel the slickness of her juices. He slid two fingers easily inside her wet sex. Ruby groaned and James finger-fucked her slowly. He inserted his thumb into her anus and Ruby offered vocal encouragement and rocked herself back to meet his hand.

“James?”

Suddenly the light came on, and Sally looked up at him, puzzled. Hair flattened on one side, eyes getting used to the light, she stared at him.

James looked at himself. He stood with his hand held out, two fingers and thumb protruding like a child with a pretend gun. Sally’s gaze wandered down his body, then James saw—with horror—that he had an erection.

“What are you doing?” She was understandably curious.

“Er, sorry. I started to get a bit of cramp in my arm, so I was stretching it a bit before I got in bed.” James knew how lame his excuse sounded. “Probably a keyboard-related thing.” He tried to laugh, but it wouldn’t come out. “The pains we writers put ourselves through.” James shrugged, embarrassed at his own inability to be creative.

Sally looked down at his quickly-wilting manhood. “Looks like whatever dirty story you wrote worked for you, anyway. Shame about the cramp, I could’ve done with a quickie.” She turned the light off and settled down with her back to him.

James climbed into bed. His heart raced.

“If that bitch hadn’t disturbed us, I could have come on your fingers.”

James opened his eyes and saw Ruby sitting on his side of the bed. She was back in her black dress.

“No way is she getting a quickie while I’m frustrated as fuck. You’re going to have to sort me out tomorrow, Diggy. Either you write me a gang-bang, or you’re going to have to fuck me yourself.”

James couldn’t reply because Sally would hear. He closed his eyes for a moment. When he opened them again, Ruby had disappeared. He lay awake for a long time. Because he hadn’t brushed his teeth, he could still taste the wine and lipstick. He smelt his fingers. They had the distinct musk of a woman’s sex. He decided not to bother checking the smell on his thumb.

$$\Psi$$

Chapter Three

The following day's shift at the hi-fi store went as normal, with no visit from the latest creation of his own dirty mind. But his thought processes worked on something Ruby had said yesterday. James arrived home before Sally, so he put some chicken in the microwave to defrost for dinner and fired up his computer. When he had an idea for a scene, he usually wrote a very brief description with bullet-points. His mind was dwelling on Ruby's suggestion for the alien abduction. Obviously it wasn't going to be real—James had no interest in sci-fi. But an idea had germinated, and he opened a new Word.doc and typed.

- Ruby and her husband Ed see a competition on an adult website for best amateur video. Prize is a week in Las Vegas
- Web-site focuses on ejaculations and facials
- Video has to be based on this, with large amounts of fluids
- They discuss their video ideas. They want to have Ruby being fucked by a man who will produce loads of ejaculate. Ruby suggests a priest who has never come before. Or a man recently released from prison who's been saving it up for years.
- Ed says he wants to direct, and suggests Ruby use one of her regular men for the male lead. Ruby is happy with this—Ed has never actually seen her with another man, but thinks this would be the prelude to them inviting another man to join them for a threesome
- Ed has the idea of an alien. He points out the man could be dressed in a rubber suit, or painted green, and he could even use a dildo. That way they could drill a hole in the centre and connect it to a bottle full of false semen. They could use shampoo or liquid soap or hair conditioner – many of these look like cum.
- Ruby points out it doesn't actually have to be the same colour as real semen, as alien jiz could be red, green or blue. She also points out that if the film is going to involve her getting fucked by the alien, followed by him 'coming' all over her face, she'd prefer it not to be detergent-based as it would probably end up going in her mouth and eyes. They agree to look into the range of kids' brightly-coloured 'slushy-type' drinks available.

James heard the microwave ding. He left his computer and went to start dinner. Fifteen minutes later the stir-fry was ready, and Sally had arrived home. They sat in the kitchen and chatted as they ate. James was worried she might bring up his antics from last night, but she made no mention of it.

“Have you remembered I’m out with the girls tonight?” she asked.

James nodded. “Probably best. United are on telly so I’ll be watching that.”

He was glad Sally was having a night out with her mates. She’d been under a lot of stress at work lately, and he hoped a relaxing night of catching up with all their news and gossip would help her unwind.

An hour later, Sally kissed him on the cheek and left while he settled down with a bottle of beer to watch the match. He knew he had to do some writing, but also accepted he wouldn’t be able to concentrate while the football was going on. It wasn’t until the second half had kicked off that he became aware of Ruby sitting on the settee opposite him. She wore a dark red dress which showed a lot of cleavage. A slit in the side showed a large expanse of leg, with a hint of lace stocking tops. Her face was sombre.

“Do you really think a rubber suit, dildo and bucket full of goo are going to satisfy a woman like me?”

James shrugged. “I thought you’d be happy to let your husband see you writhing around with another guy. It could lead to other things in a believable way.”

“What makes you think I want to wait for it to lead anywhere? Why can’t you give me what I want straight away?”

“Because there’s a plot I have to follow. It’s been agreed with the publishers. They want it to be this way.”

“You should have agreed it with me first.”

James laughed out loud. “Ruby, I don’t have to agree anything with you. You’re actually part of me, remember?”

Ruby smiled at this and uncrossed her legs. She placed her feet together and slowly parted her knees. James wasn’t surprised she wasn’t wearing underwear. She ran her hand slowly up her leg, pulling briefly at the lace top of her hold-ups before continuing to her sex. She cupped her entire hand over her pubic mound, rubbing up and down a little. She inserted the second and third fingers into her slit.

James watched her face as her eyes closed and her lips parted. Ruby moved her fingers in and out of herself faster, and James’s erection grew inside his jeans. She slid herself forward a little on the seat and started fingering herself much harder. James could hear the squelching over the football commentary on television.

Ruby opened her eyes and looked directly at James. She removed her hand and slowly brought it up to her face. Holding eye-contact, she slipped both fingers into her mouth. She opened her legs wider and raised an eye-brow. James dropped to his knees, crawled the few paces to her. He unzipped his jeans and gripped his cock, which by now was so hard it was painful. He positioned the tip at the opening of Ruby’s sex, which was slick and warm. Ruby raised her legs and rested them on his shoulders. She smiled, victorious, as he rubbed the tip against her clit.

He gripped her hips and plunged into her as hard as he could. Ruby cried out, bending her knees and pulling him into her. James fucked her hard because he knew she liked it like that. He groped her breasts roughly through her dress. He scratched her thighs above her stocking tops. She dug her fingers into his backside, pulled him further into her. His hands laddered her stockings. He ripped her dress open and cupped her breasts roughly in his hands, thrusting himself in deep, pushing his feet against the floor for leverage.

Ruby started to moan and cry out. She pulled his hair and her contraction gripped him. There were throaty, guttural grunts and James wasn’t sure if it was Ruby or himself making them. Her eyes snapped opened in surprise and she threw her head back.

“Oh, I’m going to come again,” she whispered breathlessly.

James felt another contraction, and the pit of his stomach started to melt and boil. Ruby placed a hand on either side of his face and watched his eyes.

“Come inside me,” she encouraged. “No condoms. I want to feel your stuff flooding into me.”

James pushed into her once more, knew he was over the final hurdle. He held his breath and stopped moving. He watched her face as he fired everything he had into her. She made an ‘ooh’ shape with her mouth and rocked her hips, milking him. He pushed into her again and released another spurt.

“What the fuck...?”

James looked towards the voice, startled.

Sally stood in the doorway, one hand still on the handle. Her eyes moved over to the splatter of semen across the settee. “What is wrong with you?”

He couldn’t think of an answer.

Sally looked towards the television. A goal had just been scored. “Don’t tell me you’ve got the hots for Wayne fucking Rooney.”

He looked at the television, at the semen on the couch, then at Sally. “I’m sorry,” was all he could manage.

Sally dropped her handbag on the chair and removed her coat. She shrugged, obviously lost for words. “Is there any beer left in the fridge?”

James nodded.

As Sally headed for the kitchen, she passed him the box of tissues from the coffee table without speaking. James wiped his semen from the leather settee and zipped up his jeans. As he turned around, Ruby stood next to him. She wore a tiny, see-through baby-doll nightdress.

She smiled sweetly. “God, that’s better. I think this is the start of something special.”

James stared, open-mouthed.

She moved a little closer to him. “You should write about this, you know.” “Yeah, I could call it ‘Stranger than Fiction’.”

Ruby laughed playfully. “With all the rubbing off you’re doing, you should call it Stranger than Friction!”

James smiled at the pun.

Ruby leaned over, kissed him on the cheek. “See you in bed,” she whispered as she headed towards the stairs.

James closed his eyes and took a deep breath.

Sally sat at the kitchen table checking e-mails and Facebook on her phone while she drank the beer. James stayed in the lounge and pretended to watch the rest of the football match, though his mind was anywhere but on the game. He was extremely embarrassed. A few minutes later Sally walked through the living room and went upstairs without a word. James grabbed himself a second beer and stayed in the lounge for another hour. When he finally went up, the bedroom was in darkness. James slid into bed. Sally was facing away from him and he whispered her name. She didn’t respond, but he wasn’t sure if she was actually asleep or pretending to be. As he lay on his back staring into the darkness, Ruby appeared in the bed beside him. She snuggled into him, kissing him on the cheek.

“Night, lover,” she whispered.

James closed his eyes and fell asleep with Ruby stroking his stomach.

Chapter Four

When James woke, he could hear Sally in the shower. He wasn't due at work until later, so he dressed in jogging bottoms and sweat-shirt. He'd go for a run before his shower, have some breakfast and do a little more work on his story. He went downstairs and made Sally a cup of tea and some toast. By the time she came downstairs to the kitchen she was dressed for work and already had her makeup and coat on. She quickly drank her tea and wrapped the toast in kitchen roll. Offering a half-smile by way of thanks for her breakfast, she mumbled "see you later," and left through the back door.

James heard her car pull off the drive, and the house was silent. Though he wasn't particularly happy about Sally's cool manner, he was grateful at least she hadn't mentioned sofagate.

After a quite unremarkable performance of four miles in twenty-nine minutes, James showered and fired up his computer. He'd been thinking about how best to end the scene he was in the middle of writing. Ruby's hotel booking included breakfast, but James had already decided she would get up and leave without giving No.2 another chance to disappoint her.

Ruby was showered and dressed in jeans and a clean top when No.2 woke up. He seemed surprised to see she wasn't naked, but she didn't care.

"Got an early appointment this morning, so gotta dash," she informed him as she pushed her sexy underwear and silk dress into her holdall. She picked up her 'fuck me' shoes and dangled them from her fingers by the ankle straps as she walked round the room checking for any other articles she may have left, then put them in the top of the bag and zipped it up.

“I’ll call you,” he said as she opened the door.

Ruby waved her fingers over her shoulder as she left the room. She didn’t think she’d be able to fake a smile if she turned round.

It was almost nine o’clock when Ruby arrived home, and she was surprised to see her husband’s car parked in the drive. Ed usually dropped the kids at school on his way to work, and Ruby’s immediate thought was one of them was ill. When she got in the house there were no children home, but Ed met her in the hall.

“No meetings ’til lunchtime,” he explained when he saw her questioning look. “Thought I’d go in a bit later so I could see you before I left.”

Ruby smiled, dropped her holdall on the floor and approached him. It was always strange when one of them had spent the night ‘out’—each seemed to need a little reassurance afterwards.

Ed slid his arms around her waist and pulled her close. “So, how did it go?”

Ruby shrugged while she held him, but didn’t speak.

He pulled back to look at her face. “Was everything okay?”

Ruby hesitated, but eventually nodded. She didn’t want to get into a discussion about what hadn’t worked for her last night. She knew Ed was always horny when she returned from one of her liaisons, and this morning she intended making use of that. She decided to speed things along a little. “I was the perfect slut.”

Ed laughed. “I hope he appreciated it.”

Ruby ran her hands down his stomach, feeling the cool cotton of his shirt sliding under her fingers. She started to undo his belt. “Well, I think he appreciated it...”

Ed slipped his fingers through her hair then started to undo her jeans. By now she’d undone his trousers and pushed them down his thighs. Her right hand was gripping his cock and her left hand steadying her against the doorjamb while she kicked off her boots. Ed pushed her jeans and knickers down to her ankles and she stepped out of them.

“What makes you think he appreciated it?” His voice was an intimate whisper in her ear, a little breathless.

Ruby was running her thumb over the wet tip. She looked into his eyes. “Well, he kept fucking me.”

Ed pushed her against the wall, bent his knees and guided himself between her slick outer lips. As he straightened his legs he pushed all the way into her, making her moan.

“And how did you like it?”

Ruby put her arms around his back and gripped her hands on the top of his shoulders while he fucked her. “You know me—I like getting fucked.”

Ed was smiling at her. She could tell he was already close.

“And what about him? Did he like it?”

Ruby was on the brink of the orgasm that had eluded her all night. She delayed her answer until the building wave started to finally break.

“Well, he kept coming...”

As the orgasm shook through her, Ruby cried out and dug her fingers into his shoulders. Ed grunted and stopped his thrusts. She knew he was erupting inside her, flooding her. No condoms were ever used when they fucked. They held each other close while riding their own emotions, but finally had to move when their legs started to shake. Ed pulled his trousers up and Ruby pulled on her panties before making her way into the living room. She flopped onto the couch and let out a long sigh. God, she’d needed that.

James lifted his hands off the keyboard and scratched his chin. This scene had not been in his plans, and he wondered if he’d introduced it as a result of what had happened on the sofa the previous evening. He wondered if a quickie with her husband would pacify Ruby enough to get her out of his life. Checking his watch, James decided to leave a bit earlier and walk to the shop. Parking this late could be a pain, and it was only a couple of miles. Maybe he was still disappointed with his performance on the run this morning. He saved the document and closed down his computer.

* * * *

One thing James hadn't considered when he'd decided to walk to work was that it'd take him considerably longer to get home. It was almost six-thirty when he finally arrived, and as he walked into the kitchen he found Sally kneeling over the vacuum cleaner. There were parts scattered about the floor, and James's toolbox was lying open by her knees. Sally didn't bother looking up or acknowledging him, and James was about to say something when he noticed Ruby lying on the work surface wearing nothing but thigh-length leather boots and a dog collar. She was pleasuring herself with a vibrator. James stared open-mouthed, the spell only broken when the spanner in Sally's hand slipped off the nut holding the roller in place.

"Ow. Fuck it!" Sally threw the spanner back into the toolbox, stood up and glared at him. Her hair was pulled back in a ponytail and she had a smudge of grease on her cheek.

"You said you'd fix this months ago," she reminded him before storming out of the room.

James was about to go after her when Ruby started to have a very vocal orgasm. He turned round and watched. Her legs were slightly bent, the four-inch stiletto heels resting on the counter top. Her head was pushed back, eyes closed and red-painted mouth a perfect O. Her hand worked the sex-toy in short, quick thrusts for another few seconds before she stopped the movement but left it inside her. Finally, she opened her eyes and slowly turned her head to face him.

She let out a contented sigh and smiled sweetly. "Well, at least I'm glad to see you, babe."

James closed his eyes, shook his head and went to find Sally. When he got upstairs he found the bathroom door closed and could hear the taps running. Sally's usual way of dealing with stress was to sit in a piping-hot bath for an hour. Maybe he should try the same thing—see if he could cleanse himself of Ruby.

When James went back to the kitchen to find a peace-offering, Ruby had vanished. He chose a Chilean Rioja, grabbed a wine glass and also prepared a pint of orange squash and added ice cubes to it. He left the drinks on the landing and knocked on the bathroom door before returning back to the kitchen. Once there, he opened himself a beer and started to prepare dinner. As he was chopping up an onion he sensed someone move up behind him, felt hands sliding round his waist.

He turned, smiling, ready to make up. James pulled his head back when he saw it was Ruby, now dressed in a red silk blouse and black mini-skirt. Black fish-net tights and high-heeled ankle boots completed her ensemble. Her hair was pinned up, and red dangly earrings hung almost to her shoulders.

“Is her ladyship taking her bath?”

James frowned. “Don’t talk about her like that.” His voice came out angrier than he’d intended.

Ruby held up her hands in self-defence. “Ooh, sorry. I wasn’t aware you got a thrill from being treated like a whipping boy. Maybe I could use that to my advantage...”

James turned back around and continued preparing dinner. The next time he looked up Ruby was sitting on the counter by the cooker, sipping a glass of red wine. She was holding her legs straight out, admiring her boots.

“Thanks for the quickie, Diggy. We both know what it’s like when we don’t get to come as often as we’d like.”

James looked into her face. This was the first time Ruby had made reference to his current predicament with Sally. They’d not been particularly close lately, with Sally seeming to be forever too tired, too stressed or too distant for them to have sex. James was aware of his mind working on so many levels at the moment. Was Ruby’s presence here actually to let his subconscious play good cop/bad cop over what was happening to his relationship with Sally? Maybe he should seek medical advice rather than try and work it out for himself.

“Well?” Ruby had the teasing smile she wore so often.

“You got your fun, so what’s the problem?”

“I don’t consider a two-minute knee-trembler fun, Diggy. It was a pleasant ‘scratch’ for the itch you manufactured during my night with number two.”

James smiled at the way she’d termed things. He’d forgotten the phrase he used to use as a teenager when he’d had sex against a wall behind the youth club. He was still smiling at the memory of Vicki Russell when Ruby interrupted his thoughts.

“Maybe I should get myself a one-way ticket to Carnal.”

“You should what?”

“You heard. I know what goes on there, and I think Huck knows how to give the ladies a whole lot more fun than you do.”

James shook his head, unable to believe her latest suggestion. Huck Pilgrim was another author who used the same forum. The majority of his stories were based in the fictitious town of Carnal. Huck’s tales were dark and dirty, where threesomes and gangbangs were regular events. James could see why they appealed to Ruby.

“What makes you think you’d enjoy what goes on in Carnal?”

Ruby slid off the counter and moved closer. “We both know what happens in Carnal. There’s hardly a woman there who only gets one cock a night. And Huck always makes them come. Not like you, Diggy.”

James didn’t take the bait. “The women in Huck’s stories are eighteen years old. You’re twice that age. What makes you think the guys there would find you attractive?”

Ruby’s eyes flashed with anger like they had before. “The guys in Carnal would all want me, Diggy. I’m a woman, and I can out-fuck any eighteen year-old girl. I could take all the men there, one after the other. They could come wherever they wanted, and there’d be no fucking rubbers to restrict my pleasure. I’d let six men fire their loads into me, and produce a cream pie even Huck would be shocked at.”

“I remember one girl got pissed on in a Carnal story.”

“Don’t knock it ’til you’ve tried it, that’s what I say.”

“Well, if you like I can let Huck know you’re up for a cameo appearance. I can see the books lined up on the shelf now—Jennifer Needs a Job, Marley Needs a Meal, and then Ruby Needs a Reality-Check to complete the trilogy.”

“Very funny, Diggy. I don’t know why you don’t branch out into writing comedy. I mean let’s face it, what’s the point of erotic fiction without including anything erotic to help the readers get off?”

The oven beeped to let James know it had reached the pre-set temperature. He added the onion to the slow-roast lemon chicken casserole and placed the dish in the oven. He set the timer for an hour, and when he turned around he was alone in the kitchen. He took his beer to the living room and switched on the television. He didn’t feel inspired enough to write.

Sally joined him later, and they sat in relative silence all evening. When they went to bed, Sally read her phone for a while and James fell asleep without any interruption from Ruby.

Chapter Five

Ruby didn't show up again until the following evening. James was in his den thinking about how to progress his story. He wanted it to show how Ruby used the experience of a frustrating night with No.2 to get exactly what she wanted from her next encounter. No.4 had texted to say he'd been offered the use of a friend's holiday cottage by the coast, and if she could get away for a couple of nights it would be great to see her.

James knew it'd be easy to put that in a block of narrative, but also knew his editor, Clare, would send it back with her usual 'show not tell' comment. Sometimes he wanted to shove her tracked changes up her arse! But she was usually right, so he couldn't complain about her too much.

James heard someone moving behind him. He stood up from his desk and turned round. Ruby stood by the bookshelf, pretending to look at the titles. She ignored him for a few more seconds before speaking without taking her eyes from the book spines on the shelf at head height.

"I don't want a weekend away with number four, Diggy. I'm not sure if you recall, but you made him impotent at the start of Chapter Three."

James couldn't help smiling. "He wasn't impotent, he was suffering from nerves. It happens to the best of us."

Ruby turned and gave him a smile of familiarity. "Not with me it doesn't."

For some strange reason, he was uneasy about Ruby knowing she turned him on. He tried to get back to explaining his idea. "I was thinking you and number four could—"

"I know exactly what you were thinking, Diggy—I'm in your head, after all. But I've been doing some thinking of my own. I want you to write a scene where I go to a bar with one of my dates who gets in a confrontation with some muscle-clad bully. I manage to calm the situation by giving said bully the best blowjob of his life."

James didn't bother saying 'no'.

Ruby smiled knowingly. “Let me tell you anyway. I’m with number five at some bar where there’s live music being performed. Maybe a heavy-metal band, where the audience is all leather jackets and mean stares. You can use your creative flare to give it more ambience Diggy, describing the peeling paint on the walls, the stickiness of the carpet, the smell of sweat and leather in the air.”

James waited.

“So, as number five is heading to the bar to replenish our glasses, he accidentally bumps into a really big guy, spilling his drink. The big guy grabs number five by the throat and starts to walk him towards the wall where there are fewer people. My date looks terrified, but I’m aroused by the explosion of testosterone. I step forward and place my hand on the big guy’s arm. He’s rock solid, and I can sense the power within him. It turns me on.”

Ruby nodded at James’s chair. “Sit down, Diggy. You’re making the place look untidy.”

James dropped back into his office chair. Ruby took a couple of steps towards him and perched her bum on the edge of his desk.

“The guy’s still snarling at number five, but when he feels my hand he looks at me. I tell him it had been an accident and ask what he’d been drinking. I say my friend will go to the bar and buy him another. He pushes number five away like he’s a toy and gives him the drink order. I look down at where the spillage has wet his white t-shirt. I rub it gently with my hand. I can feel all his abs, individual bands of rock-hard muscle. I’m getting more turned on. I suggest that while my friend is at the bar, I could help him to relax.”

A twitch inside James’s trousers confirmed that the thought of it was turning him on.

Ruby raised her eyebrows, a half-smile on her face. “You seem to be showing a positive reaction, Diggy.”

“Look, Ruby, the thing is—”

“Oh I know, I know. It’s not my story.” Ruby used finger quotes. “But let’s pretend—for a minute—you were going to try and write an erotic story containing something slightly erotic. Can you pretend to do that for me, Diggy?”

James crossed his arms and exhaled loudly, letting go of the breath he was going to use to voice his reasons for not using the scene. He waited patiently.

Ruby stared into his eyes and he saw the flame of anger there slowly dissipate. She let out a breath of her own, pushing her hair back behind one ear.

“Thank you. Now, where was I? Number five has gone to the bar, and I’m standing next to the big guy with the rest of his crowd. There’s maybe half a dozen of them, all men in tight shirts and bulging muscles. But the big guy’s obviously their leader—the alpha male. You could put that term in your keywords, Diggy. Maybe increase your sales.”

“Yeah, why don’t we make him your billionaire stepbrother who’s also a were-giraffe as well? That way we can tick a few more boxes.”

Ruby frowned. “Be sarcastic if you want, Diggy, but your books aren’t exactly flying off the shelves. And it’s werewolves or werebears—they’re the shifters the ladies like to read about, not weregiraffes.”

James smiled mischievously. “Ever seen the tongue on a giraffe?”

Ruby gave him a flat stare and went on with her story. “Even in my four-inch heels, the guy still towers above me. He asks how I think I’d be able to help him relax. My hand is still gently stroking his six-pack through his shirt. A sneer crosses his face. He lifts one of his giant hands and fondles my breast, giving it a squeeze. He leaves his hand there, and I see all his underlings share a smirk. I look at his hand, but let my own move a little lower. I find another hard bulge, but this one’s nicer than muscle. I trace the outline with my fingers while I watch his eyes. I tell him that if he wants to play with my tits I don’t mind, but I think he’d have a lot more fun shooting his load down my throat. I’m happy to see the surprise on his face and note the underlings are all wide eyes and open mouths. I’m probably old enough to be their mother, but there isn’t a single one of them who won’t be fantasising about fucking me while they jerk themselves off later.”

Ruby paused, and James knew another idea had occurred to her. A wicked smile crossed her face.

“However, I don’t think they’d need to wait until later. The big guy leads me over to a wall near the back of the room. There are still lots of people around, but most are facing away from us. They’re either waiting at the bar or watching the band. He stands right in front of me and raises his eyebrows, challenging me as if I were some schoolgirl. But I was sucking guys off while this punk was still sucking his thumb, so I show him what I can do. I hold his gaze while I slowly drop to my knees by his feet. I start to undo his buttons. All the underlings have gathered round, partially screening me, but anyone who looked in our direction would be able to tell exactly what was going on. I take it out of his pants, and it’s big. He’s got a big fat cock, and as I grip it in my hand it gets bigger and fatter. He’s now got a full hard-on, and it’s very impressive. The alpha gives his followers a smug smile. I’m tempted to bite it to show him he’s not top dog when I’m around, but there’s a reason I don’t.”

“Let me guess. You’d get punched in the face?” James knew he was being snide, but he was trying to break the spell he was being drawn into.

“No, Diggy, that’s not the reason and you know it. I don’t bite it because I’m really turned on, and I want it in my mouth. If I’m honest, I want it in every hole I’ve got. He’s got a great body, and I would happily let him tie me to a bench and do a hundred push-ups with his cock buried wherever he wanted to put it.

“But that’s not on the menu tonight. I look up at his face and watch his eyes as I open my lips and take him in. There’s a murmur from the underlings—maybe they didn’t think I’d actually do it. I move my head back, hold it in my hand and wank him slowly with a twisting motion. I spit onto the bulbous head and rub it in with my thumb. I look into his face again and take him back in my mouth. I take him into my throat and keep moving my head forwards until my nose touches his pubic hair. All the underlings are completely silent now. They probably can’t believe anyone could deep-throat something that big. I start to move my tongue along the lower side of his shaft, and I stroke his balls with my hand. In less than thirty seconds I feel him start to shake. I pull my head back and hold his dick in my hand again, smiling at him. I say I hope he’s not going to spoil my night and come too soon.

“I push myself forward again, but before he’s all the way in he starts pumping his load into my mouth. I grip his backside and pull him into me, making him fuck my throat. He’s groaning and mumbling and shaking, but I keep him bollock-deep in my face until he can’t stand the contact anymore. He pulls back and stares at me, unable to believe what he’s experienced. His face is pale, eyes all big. I smile up at him, wipe a finger round my mouth to check for any cum. But there isn’t any—I swallowed all he had.

“I sit back onto my heels and look up at the underlings. They’re wide-eyed, too, and I’m pleased to see they all have uncomfortable bulges in their pants. I shake my hair back and tilt my head up. I ask if any of them has ever watched a bukkake film. I’m met with six blank faces. I explain what it means and tell them it’s a fantasy of mine. They still don’t seem to get it—maybe pumping iron all day stops your brain cells talking to each other. So I spell it out. I tell them to take out their cocks and wank themselves off, and when they’re ready to come they have to fire it all over my face. That’s what happens, and I get splattered. Exactly like Chloe did.”

James didn’t respond. His erection was now painful.

Ruby stood up, obviously resigned to the fact this scene wouldn’t be getting written any time soon. She walked past him and paused with her hand on the door handle. “Don’t be too long.” She looked down at his groin. “It’d be a shame to waste that.”

James let out a sigh and closed his eyes. He touched his mouse to remove the screensaver, and stared at the words he’d written. There was no chance he’d get anything else added tonight, so he closed down his pc and made his way upstairs. He brushed his teeth, and when he tried to pee he had to sit on the loo because he was still sporting an erection. When he got in bed the light was off and Sally was breathing evenly. Whether or not she was actually asleep he wasn’t sure.

Ruby appeared at his side almost immediately. As her lips started to gently kiss his ear, she wrapped her hand around his shaft. Within less than ten seconds he was as hard as he could ever remember.

Ruby’s voice was teasing in his ear. “Ooh, Diggy, this feels ready to rock.”

He swallowed, trying to keep his breathing under control so as not to disturb Sally.

“If you’re not going to let me have any fun in my book, at least we can pretend it’s happening tonight.”

James closed his eyes and bit his lip.

“So, where were we...? Oh yes, I’d sucked off the leader of the pack. Did I explain how I did that well enough?”

James turned his head towards her. He could barely make out her face, even in the light from the alarm display.

Ruby kissed his lips very gently. “Let me show you anyway.”

With that she slipped beneath the quilt. James opened his eyes wide, unsure of what to do. He was tempted to get out of bed, but suddenly his cock was enveloped in a warm wet mouth, and all he could manage was a long exhale. Ruby’s tongue caressed his shaft, and he was going deeper and deeper. He could feel the walls of her throat around his knob-end. He was so far in her mouth her tongue was licking the front of his scrotum. James started to recite the Greek alphabet; he’d got as far as kappa when Ruby let him out of her mouth and slid up the bed again. With her head resting on his pillow, she traced a fingernail up and down his stomach.

“Well done, Diggy. But I think we both know you wouldn’t have got to omega without spilling your goodies. Anyway, that’s what I did to defuse the big guy’s cannon. But now there are six others guns all cocked and loaded, and I want to be in their firing line. Can you picture me, Diggy? We’d gone to see a heavy metal band, so I was wearing black ankle boots with a four-inch heel, black tights, black leather mini-skirt and black vest top. Baby’s in Black—isn’t that a song? Anyway, I look up at the underlings and tell them I want them to shoot their wads all over me...”

Ruby’s hand moved lower and started to wank him again. Her tongue licked his earlobe and probed into his ear, raising goosebumps all down the backs of his legs.

“The first one comes almost immediately, hitting me on the cheek and in my hair. I growl my approval, and he sends another spurt which falls short and dribbles onto my leg. My head is pulled in the opposite direction in time to catch the second guy unloading onto my forehead.”

Ruby increased the speed of her hand slightly, and her tongue flicked into James's ear again.

"The second guy's follow-up spurts all land on my black vest. Suddenly two of the other guys are both shouting for me to turn my face to them. I try, but only the first manages to hit the target, splattering his cum all around my mouth. I stick my tongue out to taste it, but the fourth's load hits me on the side of my head, leaving a thick white cord of his spunk in my hair. Both of those two also send their subsequent shots onto my arms and vest. The fifth guy takes a step forward and orders me to open my dirty mouth. I happily do so, using my fingers to rub the previous guy's cum all around my lips. His aim is good, and from about a foot away he comes straight into my open mouth."

Ruby sighed into James's ear as if what she was describing was actually happening to her now. She was using her other hand to masturbate herself. She gripped him tighter, and the speed of her movements increased a little more.

"That one made it six, including the leader. But there's still one more guy. He's pulling and twisting at his cock, but he can't let loose. Maybe it's stage fright, or maybe he's one of those guys we women appreciate—the ones who make us work for a long time before we hit payday. Whatever the reason, I know I've got to make him come. I have to make it seven—something even Chloe hasn't managed."

James was suddenly aware of the tingling at the base of his stomach. He tried to clear his mind, make Ruby disappear.

"I can tell he's close, but he doesn't seem to be able to get over the final hurdle. I know what I have to do, Diggy. I look up at him through my cum-covered eyes, and I crawl closer to him. I kneel up and put my tongue out. Can you picture me, Diggy? My hair and face are covered in jiz, my black vest and skirt covered in sticky-white stains. I notice a couple of people are filming it all on their phones. I don't mind. I put my face next to his hand, which is busily beating his meat nineteen to the dozen. I hold the flat of my tongue against the velvety head, and I smile at him with my eyes. He comes hard, his load hitting my mouth and splashing back so it lands on his own shirt. But that's okay, there's soon more of his stuff spurting out, and I make sure it all lands right on my face."

Ruby slipped beneath the quilt again and her hand-speed increased even more. As soon as her warm soft tongue caressed his tip, James let out a groan. His orgasm was so intense his legs locked. Another eruption left him as he tried to catch his breath.

Suddenly the quilt was thrown back, and the light came on. Sally was looking down at her hip. It was covered in semen. James was in shock. He put his hand out to try and wipe off the mess, but Sally jumped out of bed.

“What the fuck do you think you’re doing?” She was livid, her eyes showing a fierceness he’d never seen before.

“I... I... er—”

“James, you’ve got a fucking problem.” Sally stomped round to his chest of drawers and picked one of James’s t-shirts out. She used it to wipe the mess off herself.

James tried to apologise, but she turned on him with such fury he was speechless.

“You’re a sick bastard, and I don’t know what you’re thinking of. How dare you lie in bed and fucking-well do that when I’m right next to you?” Sally threw his dirty t-shirt on the floor, picked another one from the drawer and slipped it over her head. “I’m going to sleep in the spare room.” She stormed out, banging the door hard behind her.

James dropped his head back on the pillow and sighed. Ruby was nowhere to be seen, and for the second time in the last few days he’d managed to completely embarrass himself in front of his wife.

He jumped when the door banged open.

Sally came back in, visibly shaking. “James, you really need to sort yourself out, because I don’t know how much more of this I can take. I don’t know what the fuck you’re getting up to when you lock yourself in your little room, but it cannot be healthy.”

He opened his mouth to defend himself, but Sally continued her rant.

“I’m assuming you have to read other filth or watch porn films to get inspired, but whatever it is you’re doing, you have to see it’s not normal for a man of your age.”

“I don’t watch—”

“You’re behaving like a pubescent teenager, but you’re a fucking grown-up. And you’re married as well, in case you’d forgotten. How do you think it makes me feel, knowing you’d rather throw it over your thumb than actually make love to me?”

“Sal—”

“Shut up! I think you should seriously consider writing in a different genre, because if you carry on like this—I swear—I will put bromide in your fucking tea.”

Sally left the room again, slamming the door even harder than the previous time. James lay in silence with his eyes closed. His heart was still racing, presumably from Sally’s rant rather than his orgasm. He counted to ten before he opened his eyes.

Ruby was sitting on the chest of drawers where he’d watched her masturbate the first night she’d visited. She was wearing a schoolgirl’s uniform, complete with white knee-socks, striped tie and blazer. But her shoes were red sequined ones a-la Dorothy’s in The Wizard of Oz—except the heels were ridiculously high.

She took the cherry lollipop from her mouth and nodded towards the door through which Sally had made her grand exit. “She was a bit emotional, don’t you think?”

James shook his head, exasperated.

Ruby gave her lollipop another quick suck and looked down to admire her shoes. “I really don’t understand all the fuss. Maybe she’s on her period.”

Chapter Six

The following morning, James was still in bed when he heard Sally's car pull out of the drive. Glancing at the alarm clock, he saw it was a little after seven—an hour earlier than she usually left the house. James got out of bed, showered and dressed. He didn't have to be at the shop until ten, but left the house immediately after breakfast. Though ashamed to admit it to himself, James knew he'd left early because he didn't want to stay at home and risk facing Ruby alone. She had a power over him which he couldn't deny—even to himself. Ruby knew all his buttons, and lately she'd started to press them at will.

James parked as usual in the free long-stay car park on the outskirts of town, deciding to wander round the centre before going to the shop. He bought a latte and ambled aimlessly along the main street, looking in shop windows without really seeing anything. He was too busy thinking about his deteriorating relationship with Sally, and wondering how to put it right. They'd been so happy, and it wasn't actually so long ago when their sex life had been fantastic. But Sally was under a lot of pressure at work. Her immediate supervisor had been transferred—ironically to cover for another manager who'd been signed-off with stress. This meant Sally was now under unreasonable duress, trying to do her own job and oversee the other members of their team. Sally was always professional, and had told James she was determined to prove she could cope with the supervisor's role, which would be the next logical step in her career progression.

James had never been the major bread-winner in their relationship, and in fairness to Sally, this had never been an issue. However, with the way things had been going lately, he was sure it would only be a matter of time before Sally pointed out the recompense in financial terms versus time spent locked in his room didn't make his writing worthwhile.

On the opposite side of the road a set of stone steps ran down from the higher ground that bordered the local park. On either side of the steps were wrought-iron railings with an ornate handrail. A man and woman held their two young children, supporting them as they slid down the rail, laughing and giggling. James smiled as he watched them, until he saw what was happening on the other side of the steps. Ruby, wearing skin-tight jeans tucked into black calf-length boots and a pink angora sweater, sat astride the ornate bar. Rather than sliding down it, she rocked herself forwards and back, grinding her sex against the iron in an obscene way. As James watched, she slowly turned her head to look at him over her shoulder, her eyelids fluttering and her mouth wide open as she sighed with pleasure. James dropped his cup in a litterbin and walked away.

Before he got to the hi-fi shop, he happened to glance into a travel agent's window. The offer of the day was a last-minute deal for a week in the Canaries. Without hesitation, James went in and booked it using his credit card. He knew full well that the interest charged by the time he'd be able to pay it off made it anything but a cheap deal, but a break like this was an important step in making things up with Sally. When he got to work, he informed the shop owner he would soon be taking some of the holiday he was owed.

When he told Sally about his impulsive purchase later that evening she was angry, explaining she couldn't simply drop everything at a moment's notice while she was covering two people's work. But James could tell the idea appealed to her. It'd been a couple of years since they'd had a complete break where there was nothing to do except sit by the pool and chill out. She spent an hour on her laptop, firing off e-mails and rearranging her schedule, then announced she'd managed to move a couple of meetings forward and a couple of deadlines back, so she'd be able to take time off after all. James smiled, relieved. He was hopeful the time together would allow Sally to de-stress and for them to get back to how they used to be. Maybe his own anxiety would benefit, too, and he would finally be rid of Ruby.

* * * *

A couple of days later, James and Sally were sitting in the departure lounge in silence—Sally checking her phone for messages before they took off and James reading a trashy novel he'd bought in the airport shop. A group of men at the far end made a lot of noise, laughing and singing. From the snippets of banter he'd heard, James gathered they were heading for a stag weekend in Prague. He noticed Sally give them a disapproving glance every so often. When James looked in their direction he saw Ruby walking between them in a red and white cheerleader's uniform, complete with pom-poms. She was performing stretching exercises and touching her toes, the ridiculously-short skirt and skimpy thong leaving her backside in full view. She looked over in James's direction and smiled. Obviously, nobody else in the airport could see her.

James went back to his novel, but less than ten seconds later sensed Ruby sitting down in the chair opposite. He looked up and there she was, pulling her knee up to her chin in a pre-dance stretch.

"I could have the time of my life if you'd write me a chapter where I accompany that lot," she said, nodding in the direction of the stag party.

James stared at her, keeping his face blank in case Sally looked up from her phone.

Ruby held her leg straight out in front of her while pulling her toes upwards to stretch her calf muscle. "I bet those guys could stretch me in a lot of ways. Some of them are really good looking. Why not write me a scene where I get to choose which three can take turns?"

She looked at James as if waiting for an answer, but when he refused to talk to her she frowned at Sally, shook her head, exhaled and stood up. As she walked back towards the stag crowd, Ruby lifted her skirt to adjust her thong, which had all but disappeared between her bum cheeks.

A few minutes later, James and Sally were called to their gate. The flight was uneventful. As they stepped off the plane, the air was hot and dry. The coach trip to the hotel took almost an hour, with many stops at various apartments on the way. When they finally got into their own room, Sally announced she needed a rest before she'd be ready to go out and eat. James changed into shorts and a t-shirt and left her to take a nap while he went for a wander around the complex.

He walked through the hotel reception and out towards the pool at the rear of the building. It was relatively quiet, with maybe a dozen or so people in the pool, and as many sitting on the loungers. James noticed an absence of screaming and shouting, and only then remembered the travel agent mentioning the hotel wasn't aimed at families. He noticed a bar set against the far wall, and made his way over. He ordered a beer from a very pretty barmaid and took it to a table to sit and drink. As he gazed around, James noticed most of the other people were young, tanned and fit. All the women were topless, and the vast majority of them very attractive. James felt slightly out of place with his pale skin and his t-shirt and shorts, but knew from experience that after a few hours in the sun he'd feel right at home.

He had another beer then wandered around the rest of the complex. There were tennis courts, out-door table-tennis tables and numerous facilities for other activities he instinctively knew Sally wouldn't be interested in. He could see the beach beyond a low white-painted wall and there was a volleyball court pegged out on the sand, although nobody was using it. He checked his watch and made his way back to their room, where he found Sally freshly showered and dressed in a long pale blue cotton skirt, white blouse and flip-flops. They had a drink in the hotel bar and wandered into town to find somewhere to eat.

Throughout the evening, James couldn't help but feel Sally was still acting fairly guarded. They'd made small-talk and chatted about their respective jobs, but there wasn't the familiarity they usually shared. He knew it would take her a while to get over the events of the last few nights.

When they got back to the hotel, James checked his watch. It was only a little after ten, local time.

"Fancy a drink on the terrace at the back?"

Sally scrunched up her nose. "I didn't really get any rest this afternoon, so I'm going to go to bed. Why don't you go and have one?"

James nodded, and watched her walk towards the lifts. He headed to the bar and ordered himself a cocktail he'd never heard of before. It contained two different types of rum and coconut milk, and he thought it sounded exactly the type of thing he needed. He took the drink out onto the terrace and wasn't surprised to see Ruby sitting at a table with a collection of empty glasses in front of her. She was wearing a pale blue mini-dress and white high-heeled sandals. Her toe-nails were painted a bright electric-blue.

She smiled as he approached. “All alone, are we?”

Her voice was a little slurred, and James was once more amazed at how weirdly his imagination was working nowadays. He wondered how many other people’s imaginary friends had a drink problem. He looked around, checking nobody was close enough to wonder why the English guy was talking to himself.

“How can I be alone when I’ve got you stuck in my head?”

She smiled, slipping the straw of her cocktail between her bright red lips. “You didn’t seem to mind being in my head the other night.”

James ignored her, and studied some of the other patrons on the terrace. There were a lot of good looking women, all wearing short skirts and high heels. He couldn’t remember seeing so many sets of tanned, shapely legs in the same place before.

“Stop lusting after the women and study some of the men to use for inspiration when you write my next love-scene. Take a look at that table by the door—you can make those three guys numbers nine, ten and eleven.”

James smiled. He had to admit, Ruby was nothing if not persistent. “You’re only up to number seven. So you can’t jump to numbers nine, ten and eleven.”

Ruby moved her leg under the table, rubbing her calf against his. “You were my number eight, Diggy. Don’t tell me you’re not going to include me getting fucked on the settee. That was a sexy scene.”

“It may have seemed sexy at the time—but the bottom line is, you’re not real. The night on the sofa was actually nothing more than a frustrated guy having a wank, and I don’t think the inclusion of that scenario is going to sell many copies.”

Ruby smiled as if James had finally solved the most obvious puzzle. “It’s about fucking time you admitted it to yourself, Diggy.”

James furrowed his brow. “What, that you’re not real?”

“No, you prat. That you’re frustrated. I wasn’t sure if you were actually aware of it. You need to get yourself into some flesh, and, judging by the way your cock was twitching in your pants when you were looking round a couple of minutes ago, this could be your week.”

“This holiday is to try and help me and Sally get back to how we used to be. It’s a chance for her to unwind from all the stress she’s under at work. She needs the rest.”

Ruby shrugged her shoulders. “What she needs is an aphrodisiac. Or some date-rape drug like Rohypnol, the frigid bitch.”

James was suddenly angry. “What the fuck do you know? When have you ever been under that sort of stress?”

“Never, Diggy—you’re not that creative a writer. You didn’t bother giving me a career, just a lousy sex-life. I suppose Sally could say the same...”

James gulped down the rest of his cocktail and walked off towards the beach. Once he’d got away from the lights on the terrace, he saw the stars in all their glory, like diamonds thrown onto a blue-black velvet blanket. The fact there was no moon seemed to enhance all the other heavenly bodies. He continued down to the shore, and walked along at the water’s edge for fifty yards or so, relishing the sound and smell of the sea. He turned back and headed for the terrace, cutting diagonally across the beach rather than retracing his steps along the shore and up. As he approached the volleyball court, he heard the moans of a woman in the throes of ecstasy. At first he thought it was Ruby, but then he saw a couple on one of the loungers underneath the trees near the hotel garden perimeter wall. The guy was lying on his back, his shorts pushed down his hairy legs. The girl straddled him. She was wearing a white dress which was pushed up around her waist, and still had her shoes on. She fucked the guy with gusto, grinding her pelvis hard and grunting with each of her thrusts. As James tried to make a hasty retreat towards the sea, the couple both achieved orgasm. The girl dropped her head back and screamed; the guy grunted and growled.

James couldn’t remember the last time he and Sally had shown so much feeling and passion during sex. His dick was getting hard as a result of watching. He turned round and walked back towards the shore, intending to retrace his earlier steps when he heard the couple burst into fits of giggles. Evidently they knew someone had seen them, and found it funny.

James had gotten a pretty good look at them and wondered if they'd be able to recognise him if they met in the hotel. When he got back to the terrace there was a couple sitting at the table he'd used earlier, and Ruby was nowhere to be seen. Back in their room, Sally was sound asleep so James crept in beside her as quietly as he could. Within a few minutes, he fell into a dreamless sleep.

Chapter Seven

The following morning they had breakfast in the restaurant, followed by a coffee on the terrace, sitting at exactly the same table as James and Ruby had used the previous night.

Sally was checking e-mails on her phone, and James stroked her arm to get her attention.

“What do you want to do today?”

Sally looked up and smiled. “Absolutely nothing except sit by the pool and relax.”

James smiled back and squeezed her arm gently. It was the first time he’d seen her smile in quite a while—certainly since the incident with the sofa. When they’d finished their coffee they returned to their room and changed into their swimming gear. Sally wrapped a sarong round her lower half, slipped a white cotton blouse over her bikini top and stepped into a pair of flip-flops. James pulled on a white t-shirt and grabbed a couple of towels from the bathroom. He put his iPod and the sun-cream in a bag with the towels, picked up his sunglasses and held the door open for Sally.

Minutes later they were relaxing on loungers beside the pool. James listened to music and read his book, occasionally checking around to see if Ruby was anywhere to be seen—which she wasn’t.

Sally went for a brief swim after an hour or so, then returned to the lounge and asked James to re-apply sun-cream to her back. James also went for regular dips in the pool to cool off. A little later he wandered down to the beach and watched a few Germans as they played mixed volleyball. As James walked past, one of the guys asked if he wanted to join in, and he accepted. During the game he noticed most of the girls were wearing only a t-shirt and bikini bottoms. He struggled to keep his eyes off their boobs moving freely beneath the cotton as they jumped around the court. They played for maybe twenty minutes before they declared it too hot to continue. One of the girls had been particularly friendly towards James, giving hand-slaps after each point played. She was very pretty with short dark hair, big brown eyes and a great pair of legs. She gave James a very nice smile as he waved and headed back toward the pool. He wondered why he'd never taken holidays in places like this when he was single.

Sally was propped up on her lounge reading a magazine. As he looked around, James realised she was now the only woman wearing a bikini top. She smiled when James sat next to her, put down the magazine and headed off for another dip in the pool.

James watched her lower herself into the water and saw Ruby walking towards him. She was completely naked, her body gleaming with suntan oil. She wore wrap-around sunglasses and carried a brightly-coloured cocktail in one hand, a bottle of tanning oil in the other. As she got closer, James saw her pubic hair had been trimmed very short and shaved into the shape of a lightning bolt, the tip finishing at the lips of her sex.

She sat in Sally's lounge and sipped her drink through the straw. "I see the Ice Queen's still keeping herself under wraps in her M&S passion-killer."

James chose to ignore her, hoping she'd disappear. He considered putting his iPod on to see if he could drown out her voice.

Ruby pushed her sunglasses up into her hair and stared across the pool. "It's a shame, she's got a nice pair of tits." She put her drink on the ground, poured a good helping of the oil onto her body and placed the bottle next to her drink. James watched as she started to massage it into her boobs. She turned and looked at him as she moved her hands down, rubbing the oil into her stomach. Further down, she rubbed the oil onto her thighs before cupping her right hand over her sex, rubbing slowly while smiling at him. She let out a little sigh and picked up her drink again.

Ruby lay back and dropped her sunglasses into place over her eyes. "Diggy, how many of the other people do you reckon haven't had sex since they've been here?"

He thought about how to answer. It was an obvious question for Ruby to ask, because he'd actually been thinking a similar thing that morning on the terrace after breakfast. All the other couples had seemed to be having intimate conversations and sharing secret smiles.

“We’ve only just got here.”

Ruby ignored his answer. “See that woman over there, the blonde with big pink nipples?”

James followed Ruby’s gaze, and saw a couple lying on the opposite side of the pool.

“That’s the girl you saw fucking on the beach last night.”

James looked at Ruby, then back at the girl. She was right—it was the same girl. Obviously he must have known this subconsciously, because that was the only place Ruby existed. James looked at the guy next to the blonde and frowned.

Ruby smiled knowingly. “It wasn’t him she was fucking though, was it?”

Before James could answer, Ruby pointed her hand towards the bar. “See the waiter in the baseball cap and shorts, collecting glasses? The one with the hairy legs and nice smile?”

When James looked over at the waiter, he recognised him immediately from the previous night. He’d definitely been the one having sex with the blonde on the beach.

“Everyone’s doing it, Diggy. That girl’s wearing a wedding ring, but it wasn’t her husband’s cock she was bouncing on when you caught her on the beach. It wasn’t her husband’s cum being fired deep inside her while you were sneaking away, trying to hide your hard-on.”

James didn’t respond, knowing it was impossible to hide his embarrassment from Ruby.

She took another sip of her drink. “She probably went back to her husband and fucked him as well. That’s the sort of effect a place like this has on normal people, Diggy. Sitting around in the sun all day, surrounded by good-looking people, they get turned on.”

“Yeah, right. You’d know all about being normal, I suppose.”

“You made me what I am, Diggy, don’t forget that. We have the exact same outlook, so don’t bother pretending you haven’t thought about how nice it'd be to get between those sexy brown legs from the volleyball court."

James turned quickly to look at Ruby and she laughed out loud. "I know exactly what you were thinking when she flashed you that smile. You wondered what it'd feel like to be inside her soft mouth with those big doe-eyes looking up at you. You imagined her spreading those lithe, tanned legs so you could slip inside her hot little hole. I know you fantasised about the expression on her pretty face when she comes, and the satisfied little moans she'd give when you pumped all your goodies inside her."

Ruby looked across at James and smiled triumphantly. "You could fuck her, Diggy, and the Ice Queen would never know."

Without saying a word, James stood up and dived into the pool. He swam over towards Sally. When he got close to her he slipped his arms around her and pulled her close. They kissed gently, her body smooth and wet against his.

"What was that for?" Sally was smiling.

James shrugged. "I wanted to kiss you." His arms were still around her back, and he undid the fastener of her bikini top and pulled it away from her. "And if I have to look at all the other women here—with their saggy tits and over-sized nipples, then at least I want to see some nice ones, too."

Sally laughed and floated on her back, her perfect mounds breaking the surface. "Well, I suppose if I'm going to avoid white strap lines I should do it for the entire week."

They frolicked and splashed for a few more minutes before going back to their loungers. As James had expected, Ruby was nowhere to be seen. They ordered more drinks and some club sandwiches from the amorous waiter, and James saw the guy's eyes wander over Sally's body as he brought their lunch over a few minutes later.

* * * *

The rest of the day was spent in a similar, relaxing fashion. During the hottest time of day, Sally and James went and sat in the shade for a couple of hours. They returned to their room shortly after five, showered and changed, then walked into town to find a nice place to eat. They chatted freely, and James could see Sally was finally beginning to get back to her old self. He knew how much strain she was under at work, and wished he could earn more. His job in the shop was mundane and boring, and at the end of each day when he walked out of the door, he left everything in the shop. Sally, on the other hand, had to work at a much higher level, and when she left her office at the end of the day she could never turn off. She was forever working at home, answering e-mails or phone queries, and the only time she actually stopped thinking about her job seemed to be when she slept. She deserved this holiday, and all the things he'd put her through in the previous couple of weeks were the last thing she'd needed.

They ate in a small taverna overlooking the sea, and they laughed and joked more than they'd done in a long time.

James sipped a cool beer after the meal, and he looked at Sally. The sun had brought out the freckles on her nose, and he thought her hair seemed to be a few shades lighter. She was wearing a pale blue dress with a halter-neck, and her tanned shoulders and upper arms were nicely toned.

"So, be honest," he teased. "Are you fretting about whether they can manage without you at work?"

Sally took another sip of her cocktail and shook her head. "Nope. Fuck 'em, that's what I say."

James laughed. "Don't give me that—I saw you checking your e-mails when I was in the shower."

"I didn't answer any of them, though. I only wanted to see where they're up to with the deadlines."

Reaching across, he held her hand. "Thanks for taking the time off. I know you've got a lot on at the moment, but I think you needed the rest to recharge your batteries." He paused, unsure of how to broach the subject. "And my recent behaviour can't have helped much."

Sally squeezed his hand. "So, how's the latest story coming along?"

This question surprised him. It had been a long time since Sally had shown any interest in the stories he wrote. "Er, I'm at a bit of an impasse."

"Writer's block?" There was a hint of teasing sarcasm there.

“I suppose you could say that. I’m trying to find a way for my MC to get more out of her liaisons.” James looked around the room, dreading Ruby’s presence. She wasn’t there.

Sally was watching him. “Why? What isn’t she getting out of her liaisons so far?”

James thought about his story, and about Ruby accusing him of being her pimp. “She’s a mother of two in a very happy marriage, but as a way of spicing up their love-lives, both she and her husband see other people for sex.”

“Like an open marriage?”

“Exactly.” He was a little surprised she’d even heard of that type of relationship.

“So why do you need to give her more? What isn’t she getting?”

“On her last night with one of her men, she failed to achieve an orgasm.”

Sally scrunched up her nose. “Doesn’t sound like your story offers much in the way of ‘erotic’ or ‘romance’ if you ask me.”

This conversation was more than a little like the ones he’d had with Ruby lately.

“It’s only one part of the story—she has many other encounters where she comes. But I want to show her moving on from just meeting up with men in a hotel for casual sex.”

“Meeting men in a hotel for no-strings fucking sounds like a good deal to me. Why would she need to move on from that?”

Her comment made him twitch inside his trousers, and all thoughts of discussing the way he hoped his plot would develop suddenly seemed less important. “Are you saying no-strings fucking in a hotel is something that appeals to you?”

Sally shrugged, a smile playing at the corners of her mouth. “Maybe.”

He waited for her to say more, but she smiled sweetly and took another sip of her drink. “Go on,” he urged.

“I think most women like the idea of meeting a man in a hotel room with the sole intention of having no-strings sex. It’s a romantic scenario. Even better if he’s a complete stranger—maybe someone she’d only seen in a bar. She could walk up to him and hand over the key to her room, then go upstairs and wait for him to come up and do the business.”

James laughed at the way she’d phrased it. “Do the business?”

Sally leaned over the table until her face was a few inches from his. “Yes, that’s all I’d want from him. No pretence at being charming, or feigning interest in what I do for a living, or asking my concerns about the economy. I’d want him to ignore my mind, and use my body for his pleasure.”

His throat was dry, and a swelling was starting inside his trousers. It had been a long time since Sally had talked about sex at all, but he couldn’t actually recall her ever being this candid before. He was about to ask a follow-up question when a guy with a guitar stepped up to the side of the table and started serenading them, killing the mood completely. James would happily have punched him in the face, but instead gave him some money and asked the waitress for the bill.

The walk back to the hotel was pleasant, but James couldn’t find an opportunity to revisit their discussion about no-strings sex with strangers. When they reached the hotel they decided to have a drink on the terrace, which turned into several drinks. The cocktails were strong, and when they got back to their room they fell into bed and were both fast asleep within minutes.

Chapter Eight

Breakfast was a rather subdued affair, with both Sally and James drinking copious amounts of fruit juice to alleviate their hangovers. On their way to the pool a little later, they noticed a flyer advertising a barbecue on the terrace that night. They spent the morning relaxing by the pool. After lunch, Sally announced she was going to have to go for a siesta back in their room. James knew she needed the rest, so he went for another walk along the beach. He was a little disappointed there was no action on the volleyball court, but it was unsurprising at the hottest part of the day. He'd come straight from the pool and was wearing only his trunks, t-shirt and sunglasses. He walked down to the shore and waded into the sea until it was up to his knees and turned north. He walked for about ten minutes, the sea-breeze pleasantly cooling.

A lot of the people in the sea were completely naked, a custom which he knew was usual among holidaying Germans. He briefly wondered if he'd see the girl from the volleyball court, and imagined her naked. He berated himself for thinking that way, knowing full well Ruby would use it against him at some point. As he got further away from the hotel, the number of people tailed off until eventually he was alone. Up ahead, he saw a solitary woman lying on a towel on the beach. It was Ruby, completely naked and massaging her own crotch. James made his way over to her.

She was smiling, her sunglasses again pushed up into her hair. "No sign of the sexy Fräulein, Diggy?"

James couldn't help glancing at her hand as she touched herself.

Ruby smiled and slipped a couple of fingers into her sex. Her breath caught momentarily, she let out a sigh and removed her hand. She raised her eyebrows. “D’you want me to relieve some of the pressure in your balls?”

James didn’t bother to answer.

Ruby pushed her boobs together and pouted. “Wouldn’t you like a nice oily tit-fuck?”

James turned away and started walking back towards the hotel.

“You’ve got to do something, Diggy,” she called after him. “Your lousy sex-life is having a negative effect on your writing, and I’m suffering as a consequence.”

* * * *

That night they decided to remain at the hotel and attend the barbecue they’d seen advertised. Sally dressed in a pink summer dress and white sandals. She didn’t bother wearing a bra—as she put it, everyone had probably seen her topless in the pool, anyway. She pinned her hair up, leaving a couple of strands hanging down on either side of her face. Her skin was now nicely tanned, and she didn’t bother with foundation or blusher, but just added mascara and lipstick.

As they made their way towards the elevator, James slipped his arm around her slim waist. “You look really nice.”

She leaned into him as they walked. “Thanks.”

The terrace was already crowded when they arrived, with many people James hadn’t seen around the hotel before. He reckoned there were over three hundred people, and everyone seemed really friendly. Within the first few minutes James found himself chatting to a group from Scotland, a couple from London, and some Germans. He saw Sally chatting to a couple of blond guys, and a little later she was with some of the Germans he’d played volleyball with. The amorous waiter was in attendance, but only seemed to be offering drinks to the female clientele. When James eventually caught up with Sally, her eyes were shining and she looked happy and relaxed.

“You okay?” he asked.

She nodded, taking another drink from the waiter as he passed with a tray. “It’s really nice here, I’m glad we came along. Met a girl who went to the same university as me. We’d never met, but she mentioned people I remember. Small world, huh?”

Sally wandered off towards a plate of charcoaled crabmeat and James went to get another beer.

The night continued in a similar fashion, everyone seeming to talk to everyone else. He saw the pretty German girl from the volleyball court. She smiled sweetly from across the terrace but never came to speak to him. A little later, James saw Sally with the two blond guys she’d been talking to earlier. He watched her body language, and there was no doubt she was flirting with them. The guys were making jokes and pulling faces, and she was looking up at them with her big eyes, occasionally feigning shock at what they’d said, slapping their arms playfully. James tried to get a little closer without actually interfering. Although he couldn’t hear what they were saying, he heard enough of their accent to tell they were Australian.

He noticed how tiny she seemed between the two guys. Both were over a foot taller than Sally, their broad shoulders and toned arms suggesting they spent a lot of time in the gym.

James heard raised voices and turned in time to see the husband of the blonde who’d fucked the waiter stomping off towards the hotel. The blonde looked embarrassed and walked in the opposite direction. No doubt the waiter would find a way of consoling her on the beach later.

James spent a while making small talk with a few more people. He was half-expecting to be confronted by visions of Ruby deep-throating sausages from the barbecue, but she never showed up. A little later Sally joined him and suggested they go in search of dessert. They spent another half hour or so at the barbecue, before heading up to their room around half-eleven. As they exited the lift, James could tell Sally was a little drunk. She wasn’t slurring her words or having trouble walking in a straight line, but he could tell from her glazed eyes she’d had more than she was used to. Once inside their room, he slid his arms around her waist and pulled her close.

She laughed, putting her hands on his arms. “I had a really nice time tonight.”

He nuzzled his nose in her hair, kissed the top of her head. “So I noticed.”

She pulled her head back to look into his face, a confused expression forming. “What do you mean, ‘you noticed’?”

James shrugged, already regretting saying anything. “Nothing.”

“Tell me what you meant.”

James tried to calm her down by stroking her arms, but she pushed him away. “What have I done now?”

“You’ve not done anything, okay?”

But James knew it was already too late—the mood had been killed.

Sally stood there, obviously waiting for James to explain.

“I noticed you happened to spend more time chatting to the two Aussie guys than you chatted to anyone else.”

“Oh, you noticed that did you? Good!” Sally stepped back and glared at him. “Did it occur to you maybe I was flattered when the two best-looking guys there wanted to flirt with me.”

James tried to stay calm, reasonable. “Why wouldn’t they? You look fabulous tonight.”

“Do I? Well, maybe I don’t feel fabulous because my husband would rather toss himself off than pay me any attention.”

James had been expecting this subject to surface again. “Sally, that’s not—”

“Oh really? So why did I catch you, not once, but twice, chucking your stuff over your thumb when you haven’t even bothered spending any time with—”

“That’s not true.”

“Yes it fucking is!”

Sally was now shouting, and James was worried about disturbing the guests in the neighbouring rooms.

“Okay, let’s tone it down because—”

“Because what? Because you don’t want other people to know you write porn and jerk yourself off while you do it?”

“No, I don’t think people pay all their money to come on holiday and listen to people arguing in the middle of the night.”

“Well I’ve paid my money too, and if I want to shout, I fucking-well will do.”

James didn’t bother correcting her as to who had paid for the holiday. They both knew that Sally paid more than her fair share for everything else. “I don’t think we should disturb them, that’s all.”

“Why not? Maybe Bryan and Don will hear and come pay me a little more attention.”

James paused, confused, and Sally cleared it up for him.

“Bryan and Don are the fit guys from the barbecue. They’re not Aussies, they’re from New Zealand. They’re staying further down the hall.”

“How do you know that?”

Sally stepped towards him and pushed him hard in his chest. James was taken by surprise and, as he tried to take a step back to keep his balance, his foot banged against the couch and he fell backwards, sitting with a thump. Sally dropped onto his lap, straddling him with a knee either side of his thighs. She pushed on his chest until he was pinned to the backrest.

“I know they’re in a room down the hall because I’ve noticed them before. Same as you notice the other women around the place.”

James tried to look innocent, wondering if she’d seen him smiling at the pretty, dark-haired German girl earlier.

Sally didn’t seem to care either way. “Maybe Bryan and Don will knock on the door and ask me to keep it down, and I’ll play hard ball with them. What will you do then, James?”

James thought about trying to stand up against the two guys and knew they wouldn’t be intimidated by him.

Sally leaned forward and spoke into his ear, her voice quieter and a little husky. “Maybe I’ll tell them I’m in the mood to be vocal, and see if they can suggest anything to shove into my mouth to shut me up.”

James stared at her, lost for words.

Sally ground herself down in his lap, her crotch rubbing against his. “What do you think they’d do to me? Didn’t you see the way they were looking at me earlier? They couldn’t keep their eyes off my tits or my legs. Do you think they’d be able to shut me up, or do you think they’d make me scream even louder?”

Sally was still grinding herself against him, and James was getting harder. A knowing smile crossed her face, telling him she was aware of it, too.

“Let’s try and imagine the scene. They push me face down on this sofa, right next to you. They order you to stay still and quiet if you know what’s good for you. You lose your bottle and do exactly as they say. They’re both really built, and you wouldn’t stand a chance.”

James was breathing heavily as Sally reached down and roughly pulled his trousers open. She gripped his cock in her hand and squeezed it, hard. She dug her nails into his shaft, and he groaned.

“My face is pushed into the cushion to stifle my shouts, one of them easily holding my head down on the seat. They pull off my dress. It’s stretchy cotton and they pull it down my body. My tits pop out, then the dress slides over my hips and down to my feet. I’m left on my hands and knees, my face pressed into the cushion next to you. All I’m wearing is a thong and my shoes.”

James was struggling to breathe. Sally’s hand was still gripping his shaft, and it was starting to get painful. He could sense her anger—it was a little scary.

“One of them peels the thong down my thighs, and all three of you see how wet I am. My pussy’s glistening with juices because I’m so turned on. I’m turned on from having two fit guys treating me this way while my useless husband sits right next to me, afraid to move.”

Sally used the nails of her other hand to scratch James’s scrotum, which upped his discomfort even more. But he was still incredibly turned on. This was a side of Sally he’d never seen before.

“They both drop to their knees and start to run their hands all over my body. I feel hands rubbing my back, groping my arse, reaching underneath to cup my tits and roll my nipples. I feel hands running up and down the inside of my wet thighs.”

Sally bit James’s ear hard, and he jumped.

“I feel my knees kicked apart, and one of them moves closer. I can’t see a thing, my face is pushed down in the cushion. But I feel his presence between my legs, and I feel the tip as it nudges at the entrance of my pussy.”

James raised his hands and pinched her nipples hard through her dress and she let out a guttural moan. Sally dug her nails deeper into his shaft.

“He eases it inside me. I don’t actually know which guy is fucking me, but you do. You probably watch his face as he enters me. Or maybe you’re watching his cock as it pushes into me, spreading my lips, stretching me to accommodate his thick girth, and sliding in until I’ve taken the full length.”

Sally took a breath and pulled back to look into his face. He noticed she was sweating a little. Her pupils were dilated, her nostrils flared.

She gave him a little smile. “But you know something? I don’t care which one is fucking me. I’m happy because it feels so good. He’s big, and he pushes it into me over and over again, and all the time his friend is still groping my tits, pinching my nipples.”

James pulled her dress down to expose her breasts and pinched her nipples once more. Sally groaned again, and started to move the hand on his cock with a twisting motion.

“There’s another reason I don’t care if it’s Bryan or Don who’s fucking me. Can you guess what it is?”

James tried to talk, but his mouth was too dry. He licked his lips, swallowed, and tried again. “It doesn’t matter which it is because you’ll be having the other one next.”

Sally smiled. “Exactly. As soon as the first one’s finished with me, I’ll be taken by the second. But the first guy’s in no rush, and he enjoys me for a long time. It’s a good job my face is in the cushion, because when he makes me come I scream. Then I feel him coming inside me, and I scream again. I get the second guy, and he uses me in the same way and my screaming goes on all night.”

Suddenly Sally stood up and pushed her dress all the way down her body, slipping off her thong. As she stood in front of James, he couldn’t believe how sexy she looked. But her eyes were now full of tears, and her bottom lip shook a little.

“You know the sad thing about my fantasy?”

Her voice was close to cracking, and James wanted to reach out and hold her, comfort her. He shook his head, unable to speak.

“The sad thing is, all the time those two fit guys were flirting with me downstairs, I kept thinking: ‘Why doesn’t James look at me like that?’ Because the sad thing is, James, you’re the man I want to push me down into a chair, you’re the man I want to slip inside me, and you’re the man I want to fuck me until I scream.”

James reached up, pulled her down onto him. He guided himself inside her and she let out a cry. He felt her contract around him. He gripped her waist in his hands, lifted her up and down on him roughly, coming inside her almost immediately. She raked her fingers down his back and ground herself against him until she came. Her teeth sank into his neck as she let out muffled cries while her orgasm shook her. James held her tight against him, his cock still hard inside her. Sally started to move on him again. He knew she was trying to achieve a second orgasm. He slid his hand down her back to between her bum cheeks. Sally thrust forward and back with more force, and James slipped a finger into her anus. Sally grunted in surprise, but bore down on it until his finger had pushed in past the second knuckle. When her second orgasm hit, James was aware of their juices seeping down onto his lap. They stared into each other’s eyes for several seconds, both seemingly shocked by the intensity of what they’d shared. They rested their foreheads together, breathless.

Sally gave a little chuckle in her throat. “There, wasn’t that more fun than playing with yourself?”

James smiled and kissed her nose. “I love you.”

“I love you, too. I’m sorry if I seem distant and preoccupied all the time.”

“No, you’re not. I appreciate how stressed you’ve been. We need to remember to make time for each other, that’s all.”

Sally smiled and kissed him again. “Come on, let’s go to bed.”

James pushed her up to her feet, and as he stood, picked her up and carried her to the bedroom like a man carrying his bride over the threshold. She draped her arms around his neck and laughed as he did it. He lay her down, and she stretched out on top of the sheet, bending one leg up with her foot on the bed.

She looked down at her own body, her smile sultry. “Would you like me to keep my shoes on?”

James smiled. Sally knew he had a thing about shoes. “Maybe you could keep them on for a little while...”

* * * *

James woke surprisingly early, considering they’d kissed, cuddled and then made love again before finally falling asleep around two o’clock. He lay and listened to Sally’s peaceful breathing. He leaned over and kissed her gently on the forehead. She didn’t stir.

James slipped out of bed and into a pair of shorts and t-shirt. He’d had an idea about how to get round the stalemate in his plot. Although he hadn’t brought his laptop, he wanted to get started on the next chapter while the idea was fresh in his head. He didn’t want to disturb Sally, so wrote her a quick note and took his iPad downstairs in search of coffee and a quiet spot.

He’d just settled under a palm tree on the terrace when he sensed someone by the table. He looked up. Ruby took the chair opposite, and smiled. Her smile seemed warmer, more genuine than her usual ones. He noticed she was also dressed differently—more conservative. She wore a plain cotton dress and flip-flops, no makeup.

“You’re up bright and early, Diggy, considering the night you had.”

He smiled, took a sip of his coffee but didn’t reply.

“I’m glad your creative genius has finally come up with a solution.”

He grinned. "So, are you happy with it?"

Ruby tilted her head to one side, her expression suggesting it was a silly question. "You know I am."

James nodded. "So, what now?"

Ruby looked around the terrace, down to the pool which was still empty at this early hour. "I think I'm done here, don't you? Now the ice has finally melted, things are going to start hotting up for me, too."

James was surprised. "What? That's it?"

Ruby smiled at him.

He narrowed his eyes. "Why were you really here, Ruby? Why did I conjure you up in my mind?"

She leaned back and looked up to the sky. She smiled, probably the prettiest smile James had seen her give. Her eyes twinkled with delight. "Who cares? We're both going to have a better sex life now. Isn't that explanation enough?"

James laughed and shrugged. He couldn't get his head around it. By playing devil's advocate, Ruby had helped him see the bigger picture as far as he and Sally were concerned.

Ruby smiled, and slowly stood up. "So, are you going to miss me?"

"What do you think?"

She bent down, kissed him chastely on the cheek. "I think the same as you, Diggy. I'm in your head. Remember?"

"How can I forget?"

Ruby straightened up, glanced around the terrace once more. When she looked back at James there were tears in her eyes, which shocked him. "I still think you should use our night on the sofa in my story."

James shook his head. "That wasn't your story, Ruby." He smiled and leaned forward. "That was real."

Ruby laughed, nodded and turned.

James watched her walk from the terrace and out of his life. He turned on his iPad and started to type.

Ruby made Ed sit on the hard-back chair in the hotel room they'd booked. She produced three sets of handcuffs from her bag. Two sets were used to secure his ankles to the legs of the chair, the final set used to secure his arms behind the chair.

She leaned forwards and kissed him on the mouth. "See you in a little while. Don't go away..."

"Wait, no. Ruby. Ruby..."

It was almost thirty minutes later when Ruby returned to the room. She walked over to Ed and dropped down to her knees in front of him. She kissed him tenderly, ran her finger over his crotch.

"Ed, you know I love you, right?"

"Yeah, of course I do."

"And even though we have this arrangement, we both know it's only there to help our marriage, right?"

Ed nodded and smiled. "Yeah. We talked about it for a long time before we embarked on it. I know you enjoy it when you sleep with other men, and you know I enjoy it when I sleep with other women."

Ruby smiled and stood up. "Good. Now it's time to move our arrangement along a little, and I've thought of a fun way to do it."

Ed looked intrigued. "Now that sounds interesting."

Ruby made her way back across the room. "I'm glad you think so."

When she opened the door, two huge guys with fair hair walked into the room. They were both tall, tanned and well-toned.

Ruby walked round to stand in front of Ed. "I'd like to introduce you to a couple of friends of mine. Guys, this is my very understanding husband, Ed. Honey, say hello to Bryan and Don."

Ed watched from his chair, his eyes darting between the two men and his wife.

Ruby stood between the two men. Even in her four-inch heels they still towered above her. She ran a hand down a huge muscled arm on each man and looked at her husband.

"Babe, these two gorgeous hunks are going to lay me on this bed, and they're both going to fuck me. I've told them what I like, and I've told them they can do pretty well anything they want to me, as long as they do it wearing a condom. They're happy with that, and I'm really happy with it."

Ruby paused to see if Ed wanted to say anything, and when he remained silent she continued. "After they're satiated, they're going to go and enjoy the rest of their evening, and I'm going to leave you tied in the chair and fuck your brains out. Afterwards, I'll let you join me in the bed."

She started to undo the buttons at the front of her dress, but kept talking to her husband. "The next time I'm in bed with two men, you're going to be one of them."

The dress slipped from her shoulders and dropped to the floor. She stepped out of it and kicked it away, now wearing a lilac camisole, hold-up stockings and high-heeled shoes. All three men were looking at her, and each of them had an erection straining to get out.

Ruby's fingers toyed with the straps of her camisole, keeping her eyes on Ed's face. "And you're also going to be in bed with two women, and I'll be one of them."

Ruby's fingers pushed the straps off her shoulders and the camisole slid down her body, leaving her in only stockings and shoes. She held eye contact with Ed for another couple of seconds, and looked up at first Bryan, then Don.

"Okay boys, let's see what you're hiding in your pants..."

THE END

Delores Swallows

United Kingdom (2015)

About the Author

Delores Swallows has many dirty thoughts, and during his free time he writes them down in the form of stories. Born and bred in the northwest of England, he has a commoner's accent and a bit of a crush on his future queen (Kate, not Camilla!).

His stories often feature petite brunettes, high-heeled shoes and voyeurism. He claims he didn't realise these were obsessions until someone pointed out how often they appear in his work.

Find out more about Delores on his web site, chat on Twitter, or follow his new stories on Amazon. And don't forget to sign up to his mailing list for a free story.

Don't forget your dirty story exclusively available to members of Delores' mailing list.

Also by Delores Swallows

The Pillow Talk Collection

Amy lay on her side to look at him. “I think maybe I should take a trip on a train, and flash at other passengers to see what sort of response I get.”

Ian faced her. “That’d be interesting. Would you tell me what sort of response you got?”

“Of course. Better still, you could come with me and sit further down the carriage. Then you could see for yourself.”

“Yeah, I could do that. What would you wear?”

“Stockings and suspenders seem to do the trick with you. Or maybe I could have just bare legs, and no knickers.”

Ian smiled. “How about stockings and suspenders with no knickers?”

Amy nodded. “Yes, I think that would work well. And obviously I’ll have to wear high heels.”

“Obviously. How would you flash?”

Amy stroked Ian’s flaccid cock and looked thoughtful. “I’d sit somewhere so that there was a guy in a position to get a good view. Maybe the train has the same set-up as yours with tables, or it could be one of those with bench seats facing each other with no tables. Or it could be on the tube, where there are seats facing each other from either side of the carriage. A tube would be sexier, actually. Underground, false lighting, crowded carriages... ”

Ian nodded. “Yeah, a tube would be better.”

“Then when I’m in position, you can sit on the same side of the carriage so you can see my legs, but also see the guy’s face as he watches me. I’ll get a magazine and pretend to read it. While I’m reading I’ll cross my legs and raise my knees up a little. Then I’ll rub my calves together, taking the top knee up so that my skirt rides up my thighs.”

Ian’s cock began to swell in her hand, but it was nothing like a full erection. She pulled him on top of her and rubbed his cock against her outer lips. “Feed it inside me.”

Ian obliged. “I won’t be able to come again this soon.”

Amy smiled. “I know, but I will.”

Ian pushed his pelvic bone against her clit.

“After I’ve given him a few flashes of my stocking-tops, I uncross my legs and put both feet on the floor next to each other. Then I let my knees part, very slowly. I know he’s looking, and I raise one leg up and pretend to scratch the side of my calf. He now has a perfect view of my cunt.”

Ian pulled his head back, a little surprised. “I can’t remember you using that word before.”

Amy’s eyes were closed, and she was rocking herself against him. “He can see my cunt, and he can see that I’m really wet. My lips are glistening from my excitement. He can’t tear his eyes away. Slowly I put my leg back down and look up from my magazine. When he looks at my face I smile at him. He takes out a pen and scribbles something onto his newspaper. Then he rips the corner off and stands up. Before he heads for the end of the carriage he drops the note onto my lap.”

Ian moved against her with a slow rocking motion. “What does the note say?”

“I read it, then stand up and walk down the carriage, dropping the note on your knee. It says ‘I’ll be in the toilet. Join me.’”

“Are you asking my permission to join him?”

“Of course not. By the time you’ve finished reading the note I’ll be out of the carriage.”

“Doing what, exactly?”

“Having a lust-fuck with a stranger on a train. We don’t speak to each other. He pushes me against the wall and lifts my skirt. I put one foot onto the side of the pan. He opens his trousers and takes his dick out. He’s already rock hard and he rams it straight into me. I moan and grit my teeth. I push back to meet each thrust. He’s rough, and he bangs me hard. I come very quickly. I scratch his neck and pull his hair. By now I’m grunting. I tell him to come. I urge him to shoot his cum inside me. I tell him to flood my cunt. And he does. I can feel him pulsing time and again, and I know he’s firing more and more of his spunk into me.”

Ian stared open-mouthed, but didn’t interrupt.

“I come again. I’m screaming, pulling him into me, getting as much of his cock as I can... ”

Amy was suddenly bucking wildly beneath him, and Ian reached down and pushed a finger up her backside. Amy screamed out and scratched his back as she came. Ian banged into her, but although his cock was now relatively hard he couldn’t orgasm.

Amy finally grew silent, but she kept moving herself against him slowly. After a few more seconds she opened her eyes and smiled at him.

Ian was almost lost for words. “Wow.”

Amy eased him off her and they lay in silence for over a minute.

He was the first to speak. “Was he good looking?”

Amy scrunched up her face a little. “Not particularly. But I don’t mind. I won’t ever see him again.”

“You won’t be catching that train again?”

“No. But there are a lot of other trains.”

Taking a fleeting glimpse inside eight private bedrooms, we eavesdrop on couples having intimate conversations. Their discussions, which involve confessions about their pasts or revelations about their fantasies, inevitably lead to them having hot sex.

Who'd have guessed what Shona got up to when she was in high school, or that Alison would go so far with a total stranger? And will Tom ever really know for sure if Eleanor's fantasy about the young stud was just a fantasy?

By spying into these bedrooms, voyeurs such as us get to learn all their sordid secrets, and we also get to enjoy their reactions to the dirty disclosures.

*Sometimes, just talking about sex can be as much fun as having sex.
But talking about sex while having sex is so much better...*

The Pillow Talk Collection is available from Amazon

Web of Deceit

I'm in Germany on business, attending a conference. While in the hotel spa, during a free afternoon, I meet a German couple who are on holiday. They're mid-thirties and both attractive—particularly the woman, who has a great figure. We chat while in the hot tub, and when they discover I'm staying on my own they invite me to join them for dinner that evening.

After a very pleasant meal we adjourn to the bar for a few drinks, and then we all go back to their room. I know I'm about to have a threesome, as the conversation throughout the meal had been filled with innuendo. Once in their room the lights are turned down low and we all stand by the bed. There's a lot of touching – mainly them touching me, but I also touch them. They slowly undress me, and I help them to lose their clothes, too. When we're all naked we move onto the bed. I'm lying on my side in the middle, with the guy behind me, almost lying 'spoons'. His wife lies on her side facing me, and she kisses me on the mouth and then strokes and kisses my boobs. Her husband is stroking me down my side, across my hip and down my legs. I'm pushed back a little so I'm almost on my back, with the guy beneath me. His hands are running all over my boobs and stomach, and his wife is kissing all around my bush and inner thighs.

As I look down, I see her head is moving backwards and forwards. I move my leg to get a better view and see she's sucking her husband's cock. I briefly feel like I'm surplus to requirements, but then she takes it out of her mouth and puts it at the opening of my slit. I realise she was just getting him hard enough to enter me, which he does. He slides all the way inside me from behind, pulling my hips down with his hands. Then his wife starts to lick and suck my clit, and he starts to fuck me slowly. I come almost straight away. I'm practically screaming, and he keeps fucking me and she keeps licking me. I come again. I'm pulling her hair and scratching his legs and panting like a dog.

I'm lying very still in the afterglow, waiting for my heart to stop racing and my breathing to get back to normal, and I feel him move slightly inside me. I realise I'm the only participant that's had an orgasm—well, two. I somehow manage to lift myself off him, and tell her to lie where I'd been. I want her to feel what I'd just felt. So as she lies back onto her husband, I guide his wet, slippery cock into her cunt. Then I bend forward and taste another woman for the first time ever. I lick and suck her clit as he starts to fuck her, and then I feel his dick bang against my chin. He'd obviously pulled it too far out. I hold his dick in my hand and take it as far into my mouth as I can manage. I run my tongue around the tip and I hear him moan. I slip it back inside his wife and get back to licking her and she's pulling my head against her. I can tell she's about to come. I rub his balls and then rest my fingers against the shaft of his dick. With each thrust my fingers are going inside her, and she's screaming almost as loud as I did. I decide I should help her husband along, so I drop my mouth from her clit onto his balls. I take one onto my mouth and suck it, and then do the same to the other. I can hear him grunting. Finally I press my tongue against the base of his shaft, and as he comes I can feel each spurt that he pumps into his wife.

What starts as a light-hearted flirtation with a stranger in a chatroom soon becomes an obsession for Chloe. Her on-line discussions quickly progress from innocuous revelations about previous partners to her most intimate fantasies. As she's becoming fixated with exploring different ways of giving and receiving pleasure, her partner Damien gets caught in the cross-fire. Meanwhile, Damien finds himself being used to satisfy her sexual appetite, so why does he feel so guilty?

In the anonymous world of cyber-sex and cheating, it's hard to tell exactly who is being deceived.

And what happens when the fantasy isn't enough?

Web of Deceit is available from Amazon

Midnight Mirror

For the next few nights Natalie avoided any chance of a recurrence of the visions in the mirror by making sure she was in bed well before midnight. She was constantly on edge—barely sleeping—but finally decided she couldn't allow a piece of furniture to implement a curfew in her own home. She convinced herself she had to confront the mirror again.

She faced the mirror at midnight in her pyjamas.

As expected, the room temperature dropped suddenly, and her reflection's blinking began. The reflected-image fell away and this version of herself had long, straight blonde hair and a fringe, her make-up bold—red lipstick, thick eye-liner and mascara. She wore a white mini-dress and white, shiny, plastic knee-length boots. The room was fairly small, furnished with hard-backed chairs facing wall-mounted mirrors. A lot of guitars leant up against those walls.

Natalie's heart raced along with the girl's as she connected with her reflection's train of thought and feelings. The blonde was a groupie from the 60's who'd managed to get backstage and access to the band's dressing room. Suddenly, the door opened and two men walked in. One was about six feet tall, the other a little shorter but broader across the chest. They were wearing the dark grey suits which the band wore on stage, but they were also wearing clown masks. Natalie stared at the surreal image and though a little disturbed, she was simultaneously excited. Her rock-chick counterpart saw the masks as an added piece of intrigue. She was going to have sex with two members of her favourite band, but she'd never know which ones they were.

The men approached.

Natalie saw the reflected girl smiling shyly, fluttering her heavily-mascaraed lashes.

The taller man put his hand on her shoulders and encouraged her to get down on her knees, which she did. He undid the buttons of his trousers, presenting her with his semi-erect cock.

Natalie watched her sixties-self look up into his face and open her mouth. As the guy pushed in, Natalie felt a chill slide over her tongue. A tap on the side of her head drew her eyes to the second man, who'd got his cock out, touching it against the groupie's face. She watched as her other self released the first cock and greedily took in the second. This cock was much harder, and as the stocky man pushed his hips forward, Natalie gagged as a phantom cock hit the back of her throat.

The taller guy walked round behind the girl, pushing her down until she was on all-fours and rolling her knickers down her thighs. The shorter man dropped to his knees so she could still reach his cock with her mouth. Natalie could still feel the presence of the hard cock in her mouth when the sensation of being entered hit her. She watched as the girl pushed herself back onto the first man, all the while using her mouth on the second. The two men swapped places and again Natalie shared the feeling of being entered and fucked.

She could taste her own juices when the other cock pushed into her mouth. Her panties became wet as the girl was fucked hard by the stockier man. Then the mirror trio changed positions. The taller guy lay on his back on the floor, and 60's Natalie lay on top, using her hand to guide his cock inside her. The other man lowered himself into position and entered her anally.

Natalie let out a yelp as the second cock pushed in, giving her a sensation of fullness she'd never had before. As the mirror figures writhed on the floor, Natalie was in some discomfort, but also experiencing a lot of pleasure. She found herself moving her body in time with them, in shock, but unable to stop herself from responding to the cool, hard double-penetration. She breathed heavily, moaning with every push of their hips. The men increased the force of their thrusts—one above, one below—and a surge washed through Natalie as she and the girl in the mirror both came. Natalie cried out loud, and the lack of sound did nothing to diminish the ecstasy of the girl on the other side of the mirror. Natalie watched as the men banged harder and then held still. Iciness flooded her insides, both front and back.

She closed her eyes, focussing her feelings, knowing she was going to come again. Holding on to the mantelpiece for support, she contracted and relaxed her muscles around the phantom cocks still invading her and tumbled into a second wave of pleasure. Her breath was ragged when she finally opened her eyes and looked back into the mirror.

She'd expected to see her own reflection, so was a little surprised to look back up at the dressing room scene. The men stood up, their backs turned to Natalie, and looked down at the groupie who was still sitting on the floor, smiling up at them as their juices ran out of her. Natalie could feel the cold seep in her crotch and inner thighs. As the men removed their clown masks, the smile on the girl's face turned to shock, then distress. She held her hand over her mouth and let out a scream that Natalie felt like a slap inside her head.

The men turned round and looked at Natalie, making her gasp and take a step back. Never before had the people in the mirror shown any indication that they knew they were being watched. The men weren't band members, but imposters who'd bought similar suits. Their badly disfigured faces couldn't conceal that, beneath the scars, they were a lot older than the girl or the band members—perhaps in their forties or fifties. As they looked directly at Natalie, they smiled without a trace of humour. When their eyes started the high-speed blink, she turned and ran into her bedroom.

She got very little sleep that night.

To brighten her dreary flat, Natalie buys an old mirror, soon finding that it isn't what it seems. At the witching hour, her reflection takes on a life of its own. Natalie finds herself physically sharing the sex scenes taking place inside the glass.

Her mirror is her hot little secret until the scenes on the other side become disturbing, making her frightened to stay in her own home.

She knows she needs to overcome the force behind the glass, but the only thing she can think of is to use herself as bait...

Midnight Mirror is available from Amazon

