

DESIGNING WOMAN

A Hot Wife Story

MATTHEW LEE

Designing Woman

A Hotwife Story

By Matthew Lee

“The only way to get rid of a temptation is to yield to it. Resist it, and your soul grows sick with longing for the things it has forbidden to itself, with desire for what its monstrous laws have made monstrous and unlawful.”

-Oscar Wilde

Chapter 1

My wife, Sofia, is not a devout Catholic, she's a practicing Catholic, and there's a world of difference. She goes to church on Sunday, routinely submits to confession and refuses birth control, which is fine because we've been trying to get pregnant for a long time, and prays almost daily. She loves wine, dancing, and sex, often enjoying all three on the same night. She dresses a little prudish, I'll grant you that, but beneath her conservative attire is a killer body. Somehow she made it all the way through high school and college with her virginity intact, which is a stupid yardstick to measure a woman yet I still found impressive given the avalanche of guys that chased her.

We started dating after graduation and soon married. She started an interior design business that was so successful I quit my job to join her. At first we presented as a husband and wife team but too many clients do not want a straight man giving them design advice. I lacked credibility. Or, and this infuriated her, if they did accept my advice, they treated her like she was my assistant. They assumed I must be in charge because I was the man. She'd built the business!

The answer, we quickly discovered, was to turn me homosexual.

At the introductory meeting, we'd establish her as the indisputable boss and I her effeminate partner. Clients expected a male in this industry to be gay so our ruse worked perfectly. I'm confident and secure enough not to worry what strangers think of me. Not too much anyway. The business took off again. We were doing well but Sofia yearned to go national. Sofia was ambitious. Sofia wanted a hundred employees and a huge building downtown with our name on it. According to her, our pace was too slow.

Which brings us to tonight. We are out celebrating the landing of our largest account to date: Rodrigo Martinez. Rodrigo heard of us through a former client. We'd spoken briefly over a Zoom call, where he told us to call him Rodeo because everybody does, and impressed him enough he set up a formal meeting for later. He transferred the money for a retainer while on the call. He'd also insulted Sofia's intelligence, saying women should be subservient to men and that men are generally smarter than women. He went on to assert that he was the smartest man he knew and he'd never met a woman even close to his intellect.

Rodeo is old money Mexico: lumber, mining, oil, and as that first call showed us, as arrogant as a man can be. Why do so many feel that wealth frees them from the burden of manners? If you took a hundred average people and gave each a fortune, how many would become assholes?

Too many. Rodeo was one such man. I'd felt the need to defend my wife but Sofia had brushed it aside.

"I've met plenty of men just like him," she'd said. "Let's go drink on his dime. Depositing his fat check will be the best form of retaliation."

So here we were, drinking, releasing the stresses of the day and turning our attention to far more delightful activities.

Sofia had spilled her wine and gone to let the bartender know. She asked for towels to clean it up and he'd given her several. As she'd turned to leave, three men seated in barstools had engaged her in conversation and I now sat watching them.

This kind of thing happened each time we went out. As usual, Sofia wore a conservative business skirt and blouse which showed little skin but to these men, like all men, that didn't matter. Our eyes get trained from youth to see what the clothing tries to hide. Her body was dynamite and her loose top and dark skirt couldn't hide that fact. The men were charming and affable, joking and laughing with my wife. One man, black hair and mustache, leaned close to whisper something in her ear. Sofia had reacted with stiff formality the first few times he did it but warmed quickly.

I loved watching her in these moments. I'm happy for her. She absolutely adores the attention, enjoying the benefits of her beauty. She's classy and elegant and men always react to her tastefully. She's sure to gesture towards me at some point, mentioning her husband and hiding nothing. Men don't care that she's married. They have a sexy woman in front of them. That's what matters. These situations arise each time we go out, sometimes more than once in an evening, and I sit back and sip my wine and smile.

All you bastards want her but she's mine.

Sofia sat the towels on an empty stool. The guys must be good conversationalists. Her hands joined her conversation and I knew she was now talking about interior design. Her passion always skyrockets when she talks about interior design. The conversation intensified and since I was unable to hear what they said, I let my eyes wander the bar.

By the time I returned to my wife they were all relaxed and laughing again. Sofia had caught herself after only a minute. I've seen her speak fervently about design for almost an hour. The conversation had turned light-hearted again.

While making a point, my wife distractedly placed her hand on top of Mustache's, patting for emphasis before coming to rest. Nobody said anything but everybody noticed. I felt the crackling wave of tension all the way across the room. She realized what she'd done and slowly drew her hand away, hoping nobody saw, and their conversation continued. Minutes later Mustache placed his hand over hers, also to casually make a point but really to test the waters, and Sofia did not pull her hand away.

They were small things, incidental, trivial, but they hit me hard. She flirts easy, with absolute nonchalance. She's so attractive she flirts even when she doesn't know she's flirting. She flirts, but touching was a line she'd never crossed.

Until this moment.

I wondered: was it accidental and meaningless or did she find Mustache attractive? Would she touch a man because she found him attractive? I was only thirty feet away. How much wine had she consumed? I knew she was tipsy by the spilled drink. I watched her closely. The stiffness in her body told me the moment had meant something to her. She wanted his attention. I sized him up and found no threat so I let her have her moment. She'd touched his hand. Big deal.

One of the other guys leaned in and whispered something in her ear. She instantly went rigid, leaned back, snatched her hand free, smacked his face and grabbed her towels, leaving them all in shock. The guys scrambled, offering apologies to my wife's back and yelling at their friend for whatever he said that made her so angry. Sofia continued her march to me without looking back. The men gave their friend a ton of shit, finishing their drinks and dropping money on the table. They pulled on jackets and headed for the door, night ruined.

Sofia, raised by strict parents to show as much respect to the janitor as the CEO, blotted the spilled drink with the towels. She made the mess. She'd clean it up. The bar staff were busy enough.

"What went wrong?" I asked.

"Oh, you saw?"

"Yeah. You all got along so well."

"Deacon, the man with the mustache, is an architect and we had a great conversation until his friend, Johnny, suggested I have sex with him for money. I'd already mentioned I was married. Asshole. This is why so many women ignore men."

I gazed at their now empty bar stools. Way to go, Johnny.

Sofia took a while to calm down. We ordered some appetizers and talked about what had happened, enjoying the food and drink and each other's company. Sofia gushed about Deacon. She'd felt a genuine connection to the man and his creative ideas. The unpleasantness faded and Sofia began having fun again.

Good times returned.

We were on our way home when I brought up Deacon.

"Did you find the architect attractive?" I asked.

"Oh yeah, very much so."

"I thought so. I noticed when he touched your hand you didn't pull away."

"Did that bother you?"

"Not at all."

"Does it bother you now, knowing I found him desirable?"

I pondered a moment.

"No. I like watching men trip over themselves for you. I like knowing my wife is attractive to others and I really like watching how much you enjoy the attention."

She giggled.

"That's sweet, Rick. I'm lucky you're not a jealous husband."

"If I was I would've punched Johnny for what he said."

"No need. I think my slap was enough."

"That was our Indecent Proposal moment."

Sofia laughed.

"Johnny is no Robert Redford."

I acted offended.

"Would that have changed your answer?"

She got thoughtful, pulling on her bottom lip and staring at the floorboards. I waited a few seconds.

"What the hell, Sofia?"

"Hang on," she teased, pretending to wrestle with a difficult choice.

"Screw you," I laughed.

"Come on," she pleaded. "Robert Redford? You'd deny me Robert Redford?"

We chuckled together and then Sofia took my hand, squeezing. We rode in silence, each of us lost in our own thoughts. The night's events ran on a loop through my head.

"Those poor girls," Sofia murmured, speaking, as she often does, the end of a conversation which she had the rest of in her head.

"Who?"

"I was thinking about what happened, how Johnny offered me money for sex. There are girls that live like that. How terrible to survive that way."

"For most," I agreed. "But some, like high-priced escorts, pick and choose who and when and how much. I've read stories. A lot of those girls live amazing lives. The more gorgeous a woman is the more she calls the shots."

Sofia squinted at me.

"Why do you know so much about prostitution?"

I laughed.

"I don't. But stories come through the news. Remember the Hollywood Madam? Remember that woman from Miami? She lived in a mansion. She drove a Lamborghini. Depending on your beauty, you can be a five-dollar crack whore or you can be a queen. The man is going to spend money chasing the woman anyway. Those are the rules. Why not cut to the chase and direct his cash straight into your pocket? Women are going to have sex with the men pursuing them. Maybe not this one or that one but one of them. It's inevitable."

Sofia tugged her lip again.

"So I should have taken Johnny's money?"

"Did you want him?"

My heart stopped. I asked the question on reflex and dreaded her answer.

"No," she admitted. "But I would have had intercourse with Deacon. If you and I had never met. You know, like if I wasn't married to you but was married to him instead."

My palms turned sweaty. What an astonishing admission.

"Hypothetically," I said.

"Hypothetically."

I could barely drive. My hands trembled. The silence returned. Only the hum of the tires on the road filled our car.

"Out of curiosity," I said. "How much did Johnny offer?"

"Three hundred dollars."

"Idiot."

Sofia giggled.

"Right? Thank you. I'm worth at least a thousand dollars. Anything less is an insult. Three hundred earned a slap in the face."

The tension in the car was thick. If I understood my wife correctly, Sofia didn't slap him because he offered to pay for sex with her. She instinctively slapped him because he offered to pay too little. I considered asking her to refine her statements but worried my distinction would prove insulting, possibly leading to a fight and hurt feelings. I left the entire thing alone.

"Take this off-ramp," she said.

I hit my signal and changed lanes.

"What's up?" I asked.

She said nothing. Off the freeway she guided me through more turns, taking side streets, searching for something. This was not the best part of town and I was glancing around, nervous.

"Up there," she said at last.

I looked. A woman wearing the shortest miniskirt possible waited at the corner, looking around for someone, looking around for anyone.

"Pull up," Sofia said. "I want to talk to her."

I pulled along the curb. Sofia rolled down her window.

"How much?" my wife asked.

The woman studied us.

"You? Him? Or you and him?"

Sofia looked shocked.

"You would have sex with me?" she asked.

"Hell yes, Darling. You're pretty."

Sofia was instantly flustered. This was not what she expected.

Somehow that idea had never occurred to her and now her mind raced to include girl-on-girl into her understanding of the prostitute's world.

"How much for my husband?" she said at last.

I started to protest but Sofia shushed me. The woman looked at my clothes. I'd already seen her evaluating our car and my watch.

"Two hundred for a blowjob," she said. "Four hundred for a fuck. Condom."

My wife squeezed my hand.

"How much for just me?" Sofia asked.

The woman smiled. She wasn't unattractive: olive skin and dark hair, big eyes and smooth skin.

"One hundred," she said, eyes sparkling. "No, scratch that. Fifty."

Sofia locked eyes with the woman and I held my breath.

"Are you on this corner often?" Sofia asked.

"Five nights a week, Darling."

"What's your name?"

"Esmerelda."

"Thank you," Sofia said. Then, to me: "Drive."

I drove, withholding my comments until we'd left the woman far behind.

"What the heck was all that about?" I asked.

Sofia gave me a shy innocent shrug.

"I wondered if a thousand dollars was outrageous," she said.

"And?"

She smiled broadly, victorious in her own mind.

"I could get it," she stated.

Chapter 2

There was no question about my wife turning tricks: she won't, she wouldn't, and I would not allow it. The point to her was one of pride. Sofia wanted to know where she would rank in the prostitute's world. In typical Sofia fashion, she took direct steps to find out. I teased her about her foray into the dark side for weeks. She protested but secretly loved to have played a bad girl for even a few minutes.

Today we sat outside the office of Rodrigo "Rodeo" Martinez. His company owned this entire floor, white marble and glass everywhere. His personal secretary, a gorgeous redhead with an amazing body, told us to have a seat and she'd inform Mister Martinez.

"If you look at her for more than two seconds," Sofia warned. "I will punch you in the balls."

"Fair enough," I replied.

I used the full two seconds allotted. We waited. Sofia watched the woman carefully, her eyes running from heels to crimson tresses to heels again.

"I was too harsh before," my wife admitted. "You can look. That woman is stunning. She deserves to be gawked at."

I resisted her offer. I'd seen enough. Her ass had been sent by God and her big tits were handcrafted by the Devil. The woman radiated sex out into the universe. If I looked at all, I'd stare, and that's not cool with my wife seated next to me, despite what she said. Besides that, it would blow my gay cover.

"Her pedicure is flawless," I said, getting into character.

Sofia smiled. The woman returned.

"I'm Rosemary," she said. "Mister Martinez will see you now."

She turned and we followed. Double doors opened and Rodeo aimed his ten-thousand watt smile at us. The man was tall but chunky. Dark eyes and dark hair, tousled, a faded yellow stain on his polo shirt. One of his fingernails looked dirty. His jeans were too tight.

I'd worn a frilly collar shirt with lace cuffs so he swung his grin over to Sofia. He shook my hand briefly and kissed her on each cheek, then ushered us into his inner-office.

Sofia's head was on a pivot, making observations as he spoke. She asked questions about any ideas he had and styles he enjoyed while I went around the large room snapping pictures and taking measurements. I left them alone. The man's taste was gauche. I snapped a picture of a velvet bullfight painting. I snapped a picture of New York from thirty thousand feet. He'd spent a lot of money but nothing worked. He wanted the entire room redone.

Eventually, I joined them at his desk. He ignored me and my gay shirt, talking with Sofia and answering her many questions. I listened patiently, corroborating her opinion when needed.

After an hour, we won him over. Sofia reached for her purse to find her phone and discovered she'd forgotten it in our car.

"I'll be right back," she said.

Rodeo and I made small talk for a minute and then he leaned forward in his chair. He laced his fingers.

"This Miss Sofia?" he began. "She is married?"

"Yes. Happily."

"You know her husband?"

"I do. Great guy."

He nodded thoughtfully.

"She's quite attractive," he said. "She has class. Sophistication. Elegance."

"I agree. She's a delight."

He leaned back.

"If your work on this office pleases me," he said. "I'll give you my penthouse downtown. That's four thousand square feet."

"Big job."

He eyed me suspiciously.

"You like to eat the taco or the hot dog?" he asked.

"Excuse me?"

He grinned. Rude shithead.

"You like women or men?" he clarified.

I cleared my throat, suddenly uncomfortable.

"I like associating with beautiful people," I dodged.

He nodded, seeming to understand. I doubted it.

"Maybe you can help me get a discount from her?" he asked. "I'll kick some of my saving back to you."

"Sofia is the best in the business," I said. "You're a successful businessman. I'm sure you understand you get what you pay for. I've been her assistant a long time and I can tell you she doesn't do discounts. She has no need and she's worth every penny."

He weighed my words carefully, sniffing for bullshit.

"You're a good bitch," he said. "I like loyalty from my subordinates."

I let it go.

The office door opened and Sofia entered and sat. We all finished our conversation and wrapped up, shaking hands again. He kissed her cheeks and we said goodbye. I waited until we were driving before telling her what he'd said about hot dogs. She made a face.

"Obnoxious much?"

"Thank God his money is good," I added.

"And he has so much of it. We'll bump our prices because he's a dick. Nobody talks to my assistant like that and gets away with it."

"Works for me. I know I'll need to stay on my toes around him. He doesn't much care for the gays. I make him nervous. He'll watch me closely."
"

"He doesn't know for sure."

"No, but I'm on his radar. He's one of those men that find homosexuality a reason for distrust. We don't need the headache. I'll play the part. We'll finish his office and deposit his check. Then we'll move on to the penthouse job. Our relationship with him will prove lucrative and that's before he sends us referrals. We can make a lot off this useful idiot."

She patted my hand.

"I'm sorry you need to play this part so often," she said.

I shrugged.

"Every job has an element of role-playing," I said.

Chapter 3

Months later I sat outside Rodeo's office, waiting to be shown in. Rosemary bent to water a plant by her desk and her skirt pulled tight across her succulent ass. God damn. She shuffled her feet and swung to the next plant and I was treated to a view down her blouse. God damn. Everywhere my eyes landed on this woman was a visual treat. She paid zero attention to me so I was free to gawk. She was fit, with muscle tone in her arms, legs, and back, but on top of all that she carried a stripper's attitude. Every move she made was sexy. She enjoyed being a bombshell.

The intercom buzzed at her desk and she stepped to answer it.

"You can go in now," she said to me.

The big doors clicked and I shoved, closing the doors behind me. Rodeo, check in hand, sat at his desk surrounded by one of the most beautiful offices on Earth. Sofia had hit a homerun. I saw how much he loved what she'd done in his eyes. He gestured to the chairs and came from behind his desk to meet me there. We sat.

"Magnificent," he said, shaking his head. "Your Sofia, she is an artist."

"I fully agree."

He placed the check face down on a low table and slid it across to me. I resisted the urge to snatch it up and see the amount.

"I must know more about this woman," he said. "She is still married?"

"Yes."

"Still happy? Still loyal?"

"From what I can tell, being an outsider, yes."

He leaned back and tapped a finger against his lips.

"This will not do," he said. "I must have her."

I stared at his face.

"This was my thought when I first saw her but now, after also seeing her talent, I crave her even more. You must help me achieve this. I must have her."

I shook my head sadly.

"Mister Martinez, I understand your desires. I see how men look at her. But she is loyal to her husband. I have not met him but she speaks highly. She loves him. Her eyes glow when she talks of him. She is utterly faithful."

He grinned.

"This makes me want her more," he said. "You must help me, Rick. I'd love to offer you my penthouse contract. I will spend a fortune. You must help me plant a seed in her mind, convince her she should embrace my advances. Together we can wear her down. I must have her."

I got angry but hid it. I stared at the check on the table. He dangled the penthouse offer like a carrot. Sofia would tell me to agree and take the money. We'd put money down on a new office. We'd started interviewing for our much-needed first employee. She'd tell me she'd handle Rodeo like a bronco. Let him think he has a chance.

"All right," I relented. "I'll help you."

He beamed.

"Fantastic! It will be our secret. Do not worry. I will treat her well. I am an artist in the bedroom, a master painter. Trust me when I say I have no desire to end her marriage. I wish only to have her. She will love her time with me and come back begging for more."

He rose, lifting the check and handing it to me. Our meeting was over. I flipped the check. He'd added twenty-five percent to our inflated fees.

"A bonus for you both," he said, studying my face. "Tell her to meet me at my penthouse Friday evening. You too. We can iron out the details. Hint she should wear something sexy to entice me. See Rosemary on your way out for directions and gate codes. I will see you Friday."

He shook my hand from three feet away.

I was on the phone before I'd left the parking lot. I told Sofia everything and she laughed about it, calling him a pompous egomaniac.

"You did the right thing, Rick. We can play this game. The joke's on him because my wonderful husband will be sitting there with me. He is an idiot."

She went on to talk about her ideas for the penthouse but admitted she needed to see the place before making any decisions. We stayed on the phone until I pulled into our garage.

Two dozen long-stemmed red rose arrived at work the following day. They were from Rodeo and addressed to Sofia, thanking her for the wonderful job she'd done and mentioning how much he looked forward to Friday's meeting.

Chapter 4

The view from his penthouse was astonishing. Our city is ringed by mountains and from his balcony we could see it all spread out below. The city sparkled at night. Behind us his penthouse sat waiting.

It was a monstrous thing, sprawling, a mess of exercise equipment, unopened boxes, posters of soccer stars taped to walls, and a massive bed resting on the bedroom floor. He'd moved in over a year before but looked like he'd been there only a week. Behind his twenty-one-speed bicycle he'd set up a marble and onyx chessboard.

A light, nighttime breeze lifted Sofia's dress, exposing a long stretch of leg. She'd struggled with what to wear, flip-flopping between the business nature of our meeting and Rodeo's arrogant request she wear something sexy. Her first choice had been a masculine pantsuit to shut him down. She changed her mind about that, deciding antagonizing him was pointless, and settled on a lovely floral print knee-length summer dress, choosing to beat him at his own game. I wouldn't label her outfit sexy, but it did show more skin than my wife normally does, and the tied sash at her waist drew the fabric in and accentuated her breasts, making them prominent and tantalizing.

Rodeo watched the wind lift her dress and grinned, complimenting her appearance tonight. She accepted his comment gracefully.

"Do you play?" she asked.

His expression turned confused.

"Chess," she said. "I noticed the board. Do you play?"

His eyes turned predatory.

"I always win," he said.

"We'll see."

We moved inside and arranged table and chairs. They began their game but I slipped away, plucking my laser measuring device and starting on the first wall. Chess is not a spectator sport. Not for the uninitiated, anyway. They'd sit and make their moves, discussing various ideas for the penthouse, and then Sofia would return to me with a head full of notes.

"I'm going to do the whole place," I called out.

Rodeo hardly heard me, concentrating on the game. I moved from room to room, dictating comments into the voice recorder app on my phone. I checked off the living area and then the kitchen, entering the master bedroom next. I shook my head at his bed on the floor. All that money and he sleeps on the floor. A desk sat in the corner, holding his computer. A Bugs Bunny screen saver swirled.

I continued my measurements, bumping the desk as I passed. The screen cleared, reveal dozens of folders on the monitor. I scanned quickly. my eyes drawn to one called My Loves. I listened down the hall to make sure I was safe and then double-clicked to open the folder, greeted by hundreds of pictures of Rodeo with various beautiful women in various social settings. He partied at the club, the lake, the beach, or on a yacht. There were other pictures too: camping, swimming, weddings, but I had no time for those. In most of the pictures the people were clothed but in many they were not. In others, they engaged in sex. The naked women were a delight but my gaze was drawn to Rodeo. He was chubby and hairy, including his butt cheeks, with a gut hanging over his penis. I zeroed in on the sex pictures, of course, clicking several. I saw gorgeous women sucking his soft dick, exquisite women with legs spread, Rodeo impaled balls deep, stunning women taking his hard inches all the way up their ass. I never saw a clear picture of his cock as he was always fully buried. The women often looked self-conscious and uncomfortable.

Finally, my search opened a photograph of two women sucking his erection. They held it at the base, laughing, sucking his balls and looking into the camera. Rodeo's penis was as thick as my wrist and as straight as an icicle, no bumps or bulges at all. He rose like a tower of flesh from his scruffy pubic hair. He was broad and substantial and solid, almost as smooth as tea-colored glass. I stared at the picture twenty seconds before I realized one of the women was Rosemary, his secretary. I flipped back through the photos looking for her and found many instances. Her body was all I'd imagined that day I'd first seen her. She looked better naked than clothed and that's not true for a lot of women. This folder had another folder at the bottom. He labeled this one Sluts so I opened it.

The following pictures were scenes of hotter sex. These were graphic. He pulled hair. He choked delicate necks. He twisted arms. Nevertheless, in every picture, the often-sweaty ladies wore expression of radiant ecstasy. I gleaned these would be taken well into their marathon sex sessions. The women had been driven into a euphoric daze, now unconcerned that a camera was pointed at their most intimate regions, their most intimate acts of submission were being captured on film. Rodeo had made them forget everything except the robust cock plowing their bodies. Classy, elegant women now had their faces plastered with copious gobs of semen, now spread their legs to show the milky fluid leaking from inside. Rodeo had turned them all into whores.

That man now sat at the same table as my wife.

I closed the photos and the folder. I made sure the table looked undisturbed, measuring the room until the screen saver returned. I slipped out, peeking down the hall to where they played. They had no idea I was even gone. Both concentrated deeply. I viewed Rodeo in profile, knowing now what slumbered in his pants, knowing what kind of lover he was. They joked over the board, my wife smiling at something he said.

That man wanted my help seducing Sofia.

I hurried through the remaining rooms, measuring fast and taking notes, returning to his bedroom. They were lost in their game. I looked through drawers and closets, discovering a large unopened box of magnum condoms. I found lubricants and dildos and a ball gag. I found a photo album of more women getting their pussies hammered. Rodeo looked much younger in these. Lastly, I returned to the computer, uncovering dozens of sex videos in a separate folder. I'd tell Sofia about all this but I doubted she'd believe me. Then I got the idea to use my phone to take pictures of his pictures. I carefully replaced everything once I'd finished.

I rejoined Rodeo and Sofia in the living area. Their game was winding down so I stepped to the balcony, calming myself. Their laughter drifted out to me. I turned to see him place a hand over hers. She allowed it to remain. They enjoyed each other's company. They spoke easily, joking and talking. Sofia won three moves later and Rodeo slid from his chair to bow at her feet. Sofia laughed with delight. She rose and graciously curtsied, heading for the restroom. I entered the room. Rodeo waved me close. Together, we watched her ass leave the room.

"I know, I know," I said, beating him to the punch. "You must have her."

He shook his head.

"No," he said. "She is something rare, something exquisite. She is brains and beauty. To merely have her is not enough. I must put a baby in her."

My jaw dropped.

"She's married for God's sake," I barked. "You can't impregnate her!"

He was nodding slowly, looking determined.

"It is as you say: she loves her husband. She speaks with adoration for the man. My task will not be easy. I will need your help. Their relationship is healthy and they have sex often, she says. The husband will think the baby is his."

He faced me, searching for my obedience.

"She is the Mona Lisa," he continued. "I must make her mine. I must possess her, and there is no better way a man can own a woman then to put a baby in her."

My heart banged against my ribs. This son-of-a-bitch was thinking crazy shit. I'd tell Sofia everything the moment we left, the huge, non-refundable deposit we'd placed on our new office be damned. This man could not be trusted around my wife.

"She defeated me," he murmured admiringly. "I fought hard but my efforts did not matter. She was in my head. She knew my plans. She crushed me."

He gazed down the hall, impressed and awestruck. I struggled to get my jaw working, fighting to sound casual again.

"She's been playing since she was seven. I think she's rated over two thousand by the U.S. Chess Federation."

I swear I was watching him fall in love.

Sofia returned and we poured some wine, retiring by the fireplace. Our conversation moved away from business to personal life and the hours ticked away. When the time to leave arrived, Sofia was tipsy. We said our goodbyes. I noted their customary cheek kisses had a lot more lip pressed against skin. In the car, I waited until we were away from his building to speak.

"That was interesting," I said, starting the conversation.

"Oh, my Lord," she said, resting a hand at her throat. "What a man. He's so sexy. Those eyes, that face, that accent. Did you know he speaks five languages? He's so chauvinistic and arrogant, that's true, and I tried to dislike him but couldn't. He's so charming. He's so engaging. I may have a crush on him, Honey."

"I'm sitting right here."

She patted my hand.

"I'm just being honest," she said. "Don't take me too seriously."

"I always appreciate your honesty, Sofia, but the words stung."

"Sorry, Babe. I'm surprised myself. I don't normally go for men like that. He's vain. He's stuck on himself, but he's wildly attractive."

"He's a slut," I said, trying to get ahead of her. "I found pictures. He's having sex with everybody. He's having sex with Rosemary."

She scoffed.

"Of course he is," she said. "Can you blame him? You've seen her. What do you mean you found pictures?"

I explained all I'd done, leaving out the size of his penis. That detail wouldn't matter to her anyway. I emphasized how rough he was with his lovers, hoping to turn her off. Sofia likes tender lovemaking.

"Sounds like someone is overcompensating," she said, wagging a pinkie in the air. "The women, the penthouse, the yacht: he's clearly making up for deficiencies in other departments."

She went on with her theory, growing ever more certain she was right, slowly starting to feel sorry for the man. I shook my head, feeling a need to stop her from heading down that path.

"Nope," I confessed. "His penis is big. Ugly, but big."

That surprised her. She studied my serious face.

"How big? Like compared to you. Is he as big as you?"

"Oh yeah."

She pouted. She hates being wrong.

"You're exaggerating," she said.

"I knew you'd say something like that," I said, dragging out my phone and handing it to her. "Check the pictures."

We know each other's passwords so she zipped right to the gallery. Thank God the first few pictures were not the ones of Rosemary. Sofia flipped through them all, zooming on a few, until she reached the double blowjob photo.

"Holy shit," she whispered.

She zoomed closer and moved the photo around with a fingertip, examining the women's faces, especially Rose, and then spending time scanning up and down Rodeo's hard cock.

"That is big," she admitted. "It looks like it would hurt but the women in the pictures seem to like it a lot."

"I thought the same thing."

"They're probably faking to please his ego."

I glanced at her. She didn't believe her own words. I drove through the night and she kept my phone, continuing her examination of the photographs, lingering over certain shots. She finished, dimming the screen and staring out the windshield, holding my phone in her lap.

"He wants you as much as you want him," I said. "He told me."

Her head snapped around.

"Don't tease," she said.

"I'm not. He said you're the Mona Lisa and he must possess you. He wants to put a baby in you. That's a quote."

I waited on her outrage. It never came.

"He said that?" she asked, looking flustered.

"Yes. I reminded him you were married but he doesn't care. He said your husband would assume the baby was his."

She only half listened.

"A baby?" she asked. "Why impregnate someone you only feel lust for? Seems to add a lot of complications."

"He says it's the only way to truly possess the woman. It's the ultimate way a man can claim a woman, like it's the most she can possibly give him."

"No wonder he wants it."

She opened my phone and scanned the pictures again. I wondered what she was thinking but was too afraid to ask. I'd expected righteous indignation but she remained calm, even curious. She zoomed on some shots but I couldn't see the screen. Was she examining his dick or his face?

"We need to try harder to have a baby," she said, total changing subjects.

"Okay," I stammered.

"We've been trying for over a year. I want to be pregnant. I want to be a mother."

"I understand," I said. "Let's go home and try tonight."

She grinned. That idea made her happy. I didn't understand how happy until hours later, when we fell away from each other, bathed in sweat. Sofia had been a lioness in bed, aggressive, using my erection to pleasure herself. She kept her eyes closed for most of it, which was unusual for her.

Chapter 5

I was interviewing for our new receptionist when my phone chimed.

"Excuse me," I said.

Lunch with Rodeo, the text read. I'll be back in the office by four.

Four. That's a two-hour lunch. I continued the interview, adding the woman's application to the stack of maybes at the end. This was Sofia's third lunch with Rodrigo this week. She'd had dinner with him two nights ago. She said he kept coming up with new ideas for the penthouse and wanted to discuss them but he'd also made it clear her gay assistant need not attend. He wanted her alone. All right. Fine. You say it's business I believe you. But every time she spoke of him her crush was worse. He was charming my wife right under my nose and she welcomed it. He was arrogant and abrasive but always sweet to her. She admitted it was unusual for her to be attracted to a man like him.

"But I am," she confessed. "We have chemistry."

We had a dinner at his penthouse planned for the weekend, to formalize a few decisions, and I was eager to reassert myself into their burgeoning relationship. We desperately needed his money, not to mention his contacts, but if we hadn't I would have severed the growing connection between them. The week passed quickly but still not fast enough for me.

Sofia dressed casually this time, jeans and a tight thin sweater, but still showed very little skin. We arrived on time but Rodeo was just finishing his time on the treadmill. He told us to make ourselves at home.

"I'll finish and freshen up and join you. Make yourselves a drink."

Sofia moved through his place like she lived there. She knew where everything was. She spread snacks on the table and poured us all a glass of Burgundy. She kicked her sneakers off, walking around his concrete floors barefoot. I was struck by the intimate familiarity of her act.

Rodeo finished his jog and headed to the shower. He called for me to follow, saying he had a few questions.

"What's up?" I called back, rounding the corner to his bedroom.

He'd already stripped. His hairy ass cheeks stared me in the face. He tossed his workout gear aside and turned. His heavy cock swung with the movement of his hips and of course I looked, but because he'd had lunch and dinner with my wife, not because I was gay and interested. He didn't know that, of course. His penis was lumpy, a bulge on the right near the root and a bulge on the left near the head. I thought it looked ugly but he was soft and I was aware all that changed once he turned hard. His dick flaccid was vastly different from his dick erect. I was sure Sofia, with her eye for detail, had noticed that quirk while looking through the pictures.

Rodeo caught me staring.

"Oh," he said. "You like that? You like my big Latino dick?"

I stepped back.

"It's okay," I stammered, fumbling for a gay-accurate response.

"You'd love it up your ass," he said, smirking. "But that's not why I called you back here. I called you back here to ask what you've been doing to help me bed Sofia. She was responsive the first few dates but she's cooled lately. Did you say something? Did you warn her about me?"

"No. Of course not. You're our best client."

He flipped a towel around his neck, heading for the large glass shower stall. He set the towel on the counter and started the water.

"Well, you're not doing enough. I'm dying inside. She's incredible and I've never had to wait this long or work this hard to bed a woman. Start planting ideas in her head. Tell her you imagine I'm a fantastic lover. Tell her you saw me naked just now and mention this." He grabbed his cock and balls, lifting to show them off. "Maybe a light threat? Perhaps you should mention I'm thinking of changing design teams? Will that motivate her?"

I was dying inside too.

"Maybe," I shrugged. I had no idea what to say to all this. "Act like you're unhappy. See if she tries to make you happy."

He pointed at me, his fingers shaped like a pistol.

"Good thinking."

He stepped into the shower, allowing the water to hit his chest and run down. He lifted his penis, scrotum and all, and let the hot water flow over them. I was terrified he'd ask me to wash his junk. He didn't, but he was sure to soap his cock and balls where I could see everything. The hot water made his big balls sag: two billiard balls hanging in a chicken-skin pouch. He thought he was doing the gay guy a favor.

"You can go," he said. "Remember: plant those ideas in her mind."

I turned to leave.

"One last thing," he said, squirting body wash onto a palm. "No matter what I say tonight, back me up. Just follow my lead and take my side. Got it?"

I nodded once, sharply, and left. Sofia wanted to know what happened so I told her what he'd said, word for word.

"You need to play along more," I added. "We can't afford to lose him."

She was thoughtful for a moment.

"This is kind of fun, don't you think?" she said. "Like a chess game, moving pieces around for position, trying to gain advantage."

"No," I stated flatly. "Not fun."

She stuck her tongue out at me. Then her eyes lit with an idea.

"I should take him his wine," she said. "I could say you told me to."

"You'd see him naked."

"I already have."

"Only in pictures. Not in the flesh."

She waved my concern away.

"No big deal," she said. "It's not like he's got this amazing body. He's flabby and furry. What if I was a nurse? I'd see naked clients all the time. We're all adults. It would make him think he's making progress and wearing me down. Nothing will happen but I'll go to confessional tomorrow anyway."

There was no use arguing. I gestured with a hand, sending her towards the hallway to the back bedroom. She giggled and took a long drink from her wine glass, then set her glass on the table and grabbed his, sauntering towards the bathroom. I exited to the balcony. The rainbow city lights twinkling below looked beautiful. As the jealous husband, I wanted to march back there and see what was going on. But I wasn't a jealous husband. I was a gay assistant patiently waiting for my boss to return. Five minutes stretched into ten and my anxiety grew. At twenty minutes, I decided even a gay assistant would be curious by now. I poured more wine and headed back.

Sofia sat on the bed, listening to Rodeo. He was describing his vision for the bedroom makeover, but he was doing so while standing naked, leaning against a glass block wall, a towel thrown over a shoulder. His legs were crossed at the ankles, his arm moving in wide swaths as he painted his picture. She was about ten feet away but his soft hanging cock and balls were at eye level. She stared at his equipment through the bottom of her wine glass each time she took a drink, believing I wouldn't notice, but I did.

"What'd I miss?" I asked.

I glanced at his dick. I had to. It's what a gay assistant would do. I let my eyes rest for a second too long and then looked away.

"Rodeo was just telling me his ideas for the bedroom," Sofia said.

"He's got a good one. I mean he has some good ones."

Rodeo and Sofia chuckled at her misstep. I joined in a bit late. Ha ha.

"Indeed he does," I added, continuing my performance.

Sofia's easy manner around naked Rodeo shocked me. I blamed the wine but there was something else at work here. No doubt she was having fun at my expense, enjoying the role I'd been forced into and playfully teasing me with it, but that still did not explain everything I saw. There was a naked man who was not her husband standing remarkably close. That should have sent her fleeing the room.

"This wall faces west," Rodeo said, sweeping a hand. "I say we knock a ten by fifteen-foot hole in it and make the thing all glass. I see the snow-capped mountains in the winter and beautiful sunsets in the summer."

"And everyone else sees into your penthouse bedroom," I said.

He shrugged.

"I got no problem with people seeing me naked," he said, gesturing at his naked body. "I mean, I'm working on the gut, okay?"

Sofia giggled. I laughed too.

Sofia tilted her drink for a long sip. I saw her study his cock through the glass. I watched her throat. She wasn't even swallowing. She just stared. Why Rodeo? In my opinion he wasn't much to look at.

Then a sudden insight hit me: this was only the second naked man she'd ever known. Other than me, she'd never been in the same room with a nude male. In fact, given the kind of shows we watch, this was the first penis other than mine she'd ever seen. I was instantly uncomfortable. I was in better shape than him but he had me beat on inches. Sofia was titillated but acting cool.

Rodeo continued sharing his bedroom design ideas but I stopped listening. All my attention was on my wife. Her glowing eyes were filled with excitement. Her gaze jumped all over, from face to penis to belly to penis to shoulders to penis, over and over. She'd be in that confessional a long time tomorrow, admitting her unclean thoughts.

Rodeo moved to the bathroom door and plucked a fluffy white robe from a hook on the back. Sofia watched every step he took. His plump dick swung hypnotically and her eyes followed. He slipped the robe around his shoulders and loosely tied it at the waist. His dick poked through the gap.

"To the living room?" I suggested, clearing my throat.

"Nervous you can't control yourself?" Rodeo teased.

"Exactly," I answered. "My boyfriend would be upset."

"Too bad," he said. "I was thinking I'd let you suck it. I know you want to, the way you keep staring."

Sofia watched me for my reaction. I was embarrassed and that made me mad. I bit my tongue on what I planned to say and said this instead: "Let her suck it then. She's been staring more than me."

I shouldn't have said it. I was angry and humiliated and I felt like it was them against me. Stupid. Sofia looked stunned such a thing could exit my mouth. Rodeo merely grinned.

"I've thought a lot about that," he said. "Trust me."

Sofia strode from the room without a word. I followed, Rodeo behind me. I'd need to explain that comment later. I was sure I'd made Sofia angry.

We took seats in the living area and began talking more design ideas, drinking wine, and making final decisions until it was time to leave. She hid her anger well. Rodeo flashed his dick each time he moved and his robe parted. Eventually we finished our meeting and said goodbye. Sofia was silent until we were ten minutes on the road.

"What if I did?" she asked.

My blood turned cold. I knew what she meant but feigned ignorance to buy time.

"Did what?"

"Sucked his penis."

Sucked. His. Penis.

Ever have time stop and all sound and motion cease? I have.

"What?"

"I know," she said. "I'm so sorry, Baby. I shouldn't be thinking these thoughts but I am and I want to be honest. I think you made that comment because you can see I want to suck on him. He's attractive. I've never met a man like him. I feel irresistibly drawn and it's getting worse. I know a wife should never say such things to her husband but I must. I think I'm hiding my feelings but you're picking up on something anyway and I feel shitty for even trying. You're my husband. I shouldn't hide things from you."

"Exactly," I snapped. "I'm your husband."

She turned a little defensive.

"I can't help who I desire, Rick, and neither can you. Nobody can. Don't be mad, Baby. I'm still your loving wife. I've just met a man that gets to me. Should a wife keep such secrets?"

I was gritting my teeth.

"No," I said. "You should be able to tell me anything."

"I agree. So, I am. I'm sure you had naughty thoughts about Rosemary."

"Nothing as specific as cunnilingus."

She laughed.

"A blowjob is not in the same league as eating pussy."

"Of course it is. Oral sex is oral sex."

She was shaking her head.

"No way. I could give you a blowjob on a bus. I could give you a blowjob on a Ferris wheel or in an elevator. I did give you a blowjob in the back of a theater once. It's a simple act, quick and easy. Eating pussy is complicated and emotional. You don't let strangers eat your pussy."

"You're drunk."

"Maybe. Probably. But that only makes me put all these feelings into words and speak them. I think these thoughts all day long, not just when I'm drunk."

She scooted across her seat, drawing closer. She looked up at me.

"I want to do it, Rick. It feels good to admit that to you, like I'm exorcising a deep dark secret. I want to suck that big lumpy dick."

"All right," I said. "You've told me. Now I know."

"No, Baby, you misunderstand. I want to suck it. I want you to tell me I can."

"Why the hell would I say that?" I barked.

She took my thigh in her hand and squeezed.

"Because you love me," she purred. "Because you know I really want to and you want to make me happy." She raised a hand as if swearing on a Bible. "But if helping me scratch an itch is not good enough for you, then tell me to because he sees himself as some Don Juan seducer and we need him thinking that until his last check clears the bank. Tell me to because our business needs me to. Tell me to because without him we can't reach the next level. Use whatever reason feels best for you but I'd prefer you tell me to because I want to."

She dropped her hand to my lap, dangerously close to my zipper.

"It's just a blowjob," she whispered. "It's not cheating because I told you in advance and I'm getting your permission. This is the best way to get him out of my system."

"What about me?" I asked. "I get nothing. He speaks to me like I'm a piece of shit, like he owns me because he hired us. His homophobia comes out in a hundred snide comments."

"He's very nice to me."

I was gripping the steering wheel so hard my knuckles ached. I relaxed some. She ran her hand up to cup my crotch.

"Come on," she said, wine on her breath. "Say yes. Afterward I can lead him on until the work is done, make him think he might get more. He's used so many women. Let's give him a taste of his own medicine."

"You will have a lot to confess on Sunday."

She moved away from me, pouting.

"All right," she said. "I'm sorry. I'll shut up. I'll be a good girl. I thought you'd be shocked but go along. Your comment made me think we were on the same page. I guess not. I guess you were just using me to hit at him. Cool."

The silence returned.

We got home, brushed our teeth and dressed for bed, slipped under the covers and lay there breathing in a tense dark room.

"Are you asleep?" she whispered after ten minutes.

"No."

"Good."

I felt the bed move, the covers tug. Her hot mouth enveloped my soft penis and I gasped. She pinched the flabby skin of my scrotum and pulled, sucking hard on the head of my dick. I groaned. She worked her tongue, guiding my penis deeper until her lips sealed around the root. Her tongue snaked out to lick my balls. I groaned again. It all felt so good. Was she buttering me up to try the same pitch from the car? No, she was just horny and needing a dick to suck. Was my sweet Sofia imagining the dick in her mouth belonged to Rodeo? Probably. Did I care at that moment? No.

Sometimes she's tidy and sometimes she's sloppy and tonight she was sloppy. My dick and balls were quickly coated in slippery saliva. Her hand joined her mouth and she worked my dick with one goal in mind: making me explode. Her free hand rubbed her pussy.

I could not resist her onslaught and soon erupted a fountain of semen. She gulped fast, drinking and moaning, climaxing too, rubbing her clit and groaning as she swallowed.

After, we cuddled but my mind roamed. The wine had loosened her tongue and tomorrow she'd blush, but she'd been honest. My wife wanted Rodeo and Rodeo wanted my wife. I wondered if I could negotiate a trade:

Sofia gets Rodeo and I get Rosemary. I instantly felt shame. Sofia wasn't suggesting we make a lifestyle change. She was merely unburdening herself to her loving husband and best and most trusted friend. I was mucking everything up with my insecurities.

Her head rested on my chest and I gazed down at her face. Dried semen sparkled on her lip. Could I stand those lips wrapped around Rodeo's stiff inches? Would I want to know or would ignorance be better? No, I'd need the truth. Imagination is far worse than reality. I wasn't giving in but if I did, she'd have to tell me everything. Even better, she'd perform in front of her gay assistant.

Rodeo would love that.

Chapter 6

She was in that confessional booth a long time. We went to church Sunday morning, as always, attended the service and said hello to old friends. Then I waited around while she laid everything at God's feet. I thought that might be the end of her wild request but she brought it up again on the ride home.

"Have you thought about what I said?" she asked.

I scoffed.

"I've thought about little else," I replied. "Those are hard words for a husband to hear."

She got thoughtful.

"Rodeo is Catholic too," she offered.

"That makes sense. He's Latino. The missionaries made serious inroads with that population. I'd guess most Latinos are Catholic."

"He invited me to attend Tuesday Mass with him."

"I'd enjoy that."

"Me. You can't come. You're not my husband. You're my assistant."

Oh. Right.

"That's a strange conversational jump," I said. "Asking if I've thought about your request and then leaping to Rodeo's faith."

She met my eyes. She waited.

Oh. Right.

"You're thinking you'll blow him Tuesday?" I asked.

She gave a slow nod.

"Tell me," I asked sarcastically. "Does sucking dick come before or after Mass?"

She did not miss a beat.

"Before," she stated. "Confession after. Duh."

She was not backing down. I should have known she wouldn't. Obsession affects every part of her life but that's what makes her so good at her job. She's passionate about every detail on everything she does. This desire had taken root and you know what Oscar Wilde says.

"Son of a bitch," I muttered. There was no way around this. I reassured myself it was just a blowjob and we had to have his business. "Fine. But not Tuesday. Monday, tomorrow, with me present, after work. We go by his penthouse or downtown office to go over plans again. I act gay and you scratch that itch. I know you won't let it go otherwise."

Her face lit up like a Christmas tree. She hugged my arm.

"Thank you, Baby," she said.

She pulled her phone from her purse and sent Rodeo a text, requesting a meeting Monday evening. He responded quickly: his office downtown, six-thirty.

Now that she'd gotten her way, Sofia's expression began to change. This was no longer her lobbying and trying to win. She'd made plans to suck a cock.

Her face slowly fell.

"What have we done?" she said after a few minutes.

"You backing out?"

She gazed out the windshield.

"We should bring things to discuss with him. In case I change my mind. I'm suddenly frightened of what might happen."

"I've never seen you so determined. It was like you had to win."

"I did. I'm sorry. The idea is sexy and wild. The reality is scary."

"He doesn't know your plan. You can keep the meeting professional."

That gave her comfort. She pushed those thoughts aside for the remainder of our ride home. We discussed landscaping around our side yard. Our evening together was fun. We went to bed feeling close and in love.

Monday morning was another story. She fretted over what to wear to work, knowing that's what Rodeo would see that night. She changed her outfit a hundred times. She finally decided on a rust-colored dress that buttoned up the front and flats, simple and comfortable.

Her conversational skills turned to shit. She was so distracted she could barely remember what we talked about twenty-seconds ago. Lucky for us we had no client meeting scheduled today. We worked on various projects, watching the clock and growing ever more nervous. By the time five-thirty arrived I was ready for her to do the deed and just get it over with. She was pacing and rubbing her hands together and chewing inside her lips.

We drove to his office without speaking. Rosemary showed us in and shut the door. Rodeo joined us minutes later from a side door. He was dressed in sweats, on his way to the gym.

"Working on the gut?" Sofia teased.

"Yes Ma'am," he said.

"Sorry to interrupt your plans," Sofia said. "This is important."

I watched her closely. She had no idea what she was going to say or do from one second to the next. Her mouth was dry and her lips kept sticking when she tried to speak. Nothing in her life had prepared her for a moment like this. She looked to me for help but no way: this was her fantasy. I may have given in but no way was I helping. Fall flat on your face, I don't care.

"No worries," Rodeo said. "What's up? Did the city refuse some of our architectural diagrams?"

Sofia had no words. Her eyes locked on his and she stiffened. Her jaw moved but she said nothing. She froze. Nobody moved. One heartbeat. Two heartbeats. Her mind raced in a million directions. I saw her struggle.

She slipped a strap off a shoulder. Her dress dipped in front, exposing half of one breast. Rodeo raised his eyebrows but kept his mouth shut. He was not close enough to see how badly her hands trembled but I was. My wife was suddenly in grade school: inexperienced and terrified of rejection. I wasn't much better. The moment reminded me of the first black lace bra I ever saw. I can see it still. This was far beyond anything we knew how to handle.

Rodeo turned cocky.

"Now the other strap," he said, waving a finger. "I've pictured those beauties many, many times. Let me see them."

Sofia needed both hands. Her fingers shook and her hands quivered. I quietly turned the office deadbolt. Her dress crumpled around her waist, exposing her white lace bra with tit spilling out on every side. She reached behind to undo the clasp but couldn't get her fingers to cooperate. She turned to me for help.

"Really?" I asked, disbelieving.

"Please," she begged. "I can't do it."

This was an awful predicament. I could make a scene or fall in line. Was I her husband or her assistant? A husband had a right to decline. An assistant, not so much. Her eyes implored me.

I stepped behind and popped the clasp. She wasn't holding the front so her bra jumped free and fell, two gorgeous round melons exposed to the office air. Rodeo stared, a slow smile spreading. He ogled for a long moment. Sofia waited to see what he did, her breath deep and slow as she searched for calm.

Rodeo leaned over his desk and pressed a button.

"Go home, Rose," he said. "Lock the front door behind you."

"See you tomorrow," she said, unquestioningly.

This was not the first time she'd left him alone with people.

"Come," Rodeo said, gesturing to the floor before him.

My wife was a robot, stiff legs and faltering steps.

"Remove everything," he said. "I would see your splendor."

Cheesy, but effective. Sofia was powerless to resist his commands, dropping her clothes in a pile to the side. I fought to control my breathing and my emotions, telling myself this was necessary to ensure his business. I told myself that lie over and over. She finished, naked now, and knelt without being told. That made him grin.

"Take it out," he said.

Sofia gripped the draw-string waistband of his sweatpants and pulled the soft fabric down, taking his jockstrap too. His puffy, ugly cock bobbed, bouncing up and down next to her face. She pushed his pants to his ankles while he tugged his sweatshirt off, tossing it to the chair behind his desk.

"I am so very pleased you feel about me the same way I feel about you," he said. "I think we began our longing for each other from the moment we met. Is that true?"

"Yes," Sofia croaked.

"Open wide," he said.

My wife opened her mouth. Rodeo pinched the tip of his cock and lifted his appendage, resting it across her waiting tongue, looking her in the eyes and telling her to stay like that so he could see his cock and her pretty face together. She remained motionless, an obedient dog with a bone. He rested his hands on his hips, gazing down at my wife holding his cock.

"Gorgeous," he smirked. "Keep your mouth open."

He started jacking off like he intended to shoot into her open maw. She started playing with her tits, embarrassed at first, but with a growing lust.

It was happening, and right in front of me.

I wasn't angry. I thought I would be but I wasn't. I'd had a lot of time to think about this, to emotionally prepare, even if I didn't know I was preparing. There was no shock. There was no surprise. From the day Sofia admitted she wanted him, we'd moved inexorably towards this moment. I'd already pictured this scene, minus the current details, a thousand times. This granted me just enough emotional distance to observe quietly, to view the scene with enough detachment to see how intensely sexy the moment was. I saw them first as a man and woman engaging in a sex act and then my mind gradually eased the fact it was Sofia into the mix. By the time I fully grasped it was my wife waiting with an open mouth, my heart was racing, my penis rising.

Sofia wrapped both hands around his swelling shaft. Soft whimpering floated from her throat. She was more excited to finally have his dick in her mouth than he was to be there. I made a mental note to ask her about that. She's never expressed a love for cock sucking before and I wondered what it meant to her to be down there on her knees. I was shocked when her hand slipped between her legs and she began to masturbate. Sofia does not masturbate. I couldn't imagine how aroused she'd need to be to do that in front of me and another man.

A soft moan escaped her. She was ready to climax!

"No," he commanded. "I've not given you approval yet."

Her body shuddered with excitement. His self-control and power of command held her enthralled. She pushed a finger up her pussy, pumping in and out. He withdrew his dick and inched forward, sliding his cock up her face until his balls hung over her waiting mouth. She held her mouth open and he lowered his nut sack in there.

"Close," he said.

Her eyelids fluttered and her lips sealed around his balls. They filled her mouth completely, cheeks bulging, tongue swirling as she moved them around. His spongy cock lay on her face, reaching to cross her forehead. He allowed her to play with his nuts a while and then climbed even higher on her face, bringing his hairy asshole to her mouth. This was so far beyond anything we'd done in our bedroom I gasped. I expected her to explode in anger. Sofia groaned, moving her hands to spread his ass. Her pink pointed tongue found his sphincter and pushed and it was his turn to moan. She burrowed her face deep, driving her stiff tongue up his ass. His balls covered her eyes, his swelling cock tangled in her hair.

I'll never forget the sight. Sofia was utterly submissive, totally subservient. I had no idea why she felt that way about this man but I could not ignore the evidence of my own eyes. She was married to me but obedient to him.

A strange tingling excitement stirred my heart, like a toxic and forbidden drug. Muffled gasps filled the office as Sofia struggled for air and to please him. He closed his eyes, savoring this slutty married woman on her knees.

"Enough," he growled, finally. "Open wide."

Sofia hurried to comply, folding her hands in her lap and tilting her head back. Her jaw fell loose, her tongue extended. He grinned and drew his hips back, aiming his mostly stiff cock at her waiting mouth. He slid in, pushing until she gagged.

"Close your lips around me," he said. "Hold me in there without moving."

Sofia's eyes watered, tears streaking her cheeks. Her throat bulged like she had an Adam's Apple. My stomach churned when I realized that was his cock head. Her lips sealed tightly around his smooth shaft and her cheeks dented from suction.

I waited but he did nothing. We all waited. Sofia held his cock in her mouth and he just let her saliva soak in. It was bizarrely erotic. They were connected by a fleshy bridge, a fat tube hidden in her mouth. I suppose he was showing her how he was in charge but the contrast with an eager and active blowjob hit me hard. This man was just resting his cock in my wife's mouth, like he stood at a urinal. That she was desperate to suck him was obvious in her face and the coiled tenseness of her body. My wife was dying to suck his cock. My rising penis turned to iron. This was the hottest blowjob I'd ever witnessed. I'd barely moved since all this started, forgotten by both, and I badly needed to masturbate. They gazed into each other's eyes, locked in like scandalous sculptures. His cock throbbed in there, growing still harder by the minute. I'd never seen Sofia so turned on.

"It's coming," he murmured.

I didn't understand but Sofia did, moaning deep and long, a sound filled with yearning. His balls drew up to the base of his fat cock. A new wave of tears spilled down her cheeks.

"Yeah," he growled, body tensing. "Yeah!"

His cock expanded, blue veins rising along the smooth skin, and quivered. Sofia groaned loudly, the muscles in her throat working. Rodeo grunted and his cock expanded further. Another shudder and Sofia groaned again. What the fuck was happening? Rodeo lifted his hands to his head, back arching. His cock expanded yet again, a thick trunk of flesh forcing her jaw down. The fat tube shook.

"Ungh!" he exclaimed.

He ejaculated!

"Ungh! Grungh!"

He grunted with each new blast. Sofia's throat hurried to keep up. My wife swallowed again and again, gulping his hot frothy seed. He was flooding her stomach, spewing his huge load without moving a muscle. How badly he must have wanted her! He poured his sperm down her throat and my wife, hands still dutifully folded in her lap, eagerly drank his essence.

I was dizzy. I could not look away. What control, what mastery. He'd orgasmed from the mere sight of his cock in her face. Sofia was wildly aroused. He pushed out another spurt and another. My dick throbbed in my pants.

Finally, his legs began to tremble. His hands came down and his gaze landed on her pretty face. Her tongue worked inside her mouth, cleaning his cock and lapping any remaining drops. They were still in that position when she pushed his squishy dick from her mouth and grinned. His cock hung against her chin. He bent at the waist and kissed my wife on the lips.

He helped her stand, her big heavy tits swinging slowly. He moved around the desk, sitting in the chair after tossing the sweatshirt aside and guiding her to her knees again. His cock flopped against his thigh.

"More," he said.

I was still reeling from his stationary orgasm down my wife's throat when Sofia lifted him in both hands and guided him back into her mouth. She bobbed her head slowly, slowly pumping him in and out like she savored the feel of his pulsing member in there. He stroked her soft hair. She rested her cheek against his leg and nursed on his member like a baby with a nipple. He tilted his head back and closed his eyes.

Sofia had the look of a woman who had finally achieved her greatest desire. She moved slowly, exploring, learning every inch of this new cock. His loose skin slid like a sheath up and down the shaft. She played with his balls, licking each and rolling them around in her mouth. She studied his shaft, holding him upright and gazing with longing, tracing the faint veins with a gentle fingertip. She wiggled the tip of her pinkie into his pee hole, giggling when he squirmed, pulling him vertical to examine his meat. She was enthralled. He let her do whatever she wished, watching her closely, a sly smile on his lips. What an ego booster. He did nothing, allowing his cock to do all the talking for him. My wife was fascinated with this new penis, captivated by it. I was sure she compared his to mine, the only other penis she'd ever known.

He began to swell.

"Already?" Sofia purred, flattered and delighted.

She continued playing with it until he was firm enough to stroke and then wrapped both hands around the shaft. She sucked the head into her mouth while jerking with double fists. He stiffened further and she jerked faster, intent on draining his balls down her throat again. The blowjob grew sloppy, her hands gliding easily, and I watched and waited. Minutes passed, the only sounds her slurping on his cock.

Rodeo sucked a little gulp of air. The sign she'd been waiting for, Sofia pounced, doubling her efforts, ravenous for his sperm. He sat still, marveling at her subservience, mesmerized by the pleasure she gave. He reached over his head to grip the back of his chair with both hands. His belly jiggled as her head bounced. Sofia began to moan and whimper. Her need to please him held me spellbound. His eyes slowly closed. He bit his bottom lip.

"Dios mío," he mumbled. "This woman."

My wife whimpered as she sucked. His cock owned her! She'd described the chemistry she felt with him but this display was pure sex. I knew her pussy was drenched. Rodeo sucked air again.

"Fumph!" he grunted, blasting her mouth full of sperm. "Mungh!"

Sofia was a fiend, sucking hard and pumping fast. More bolts of hot sperm followed the first and my wife was gulping him down, vacuuming the semen from his balls. Rodeo held fast, his chair shaking as his orgasm exploded in her mouth.

"Argh!" he shouted, hips rising.

Sofia sucked and whipped her tongue all around his head, determined to get every delicious drop he had. His body twisted in the chair but she kept sucking, continuing her assault even after he'd shot the last blast of sperm. I thought he'd shove her away but he endured it, writhing on his expensive leather chair as my wife worshipped his cock. At last he deflated enough she could no longer hold him. She let his flaccid cock drop to the chair cushion and wiped her mouth with both hands. He was ruined, wiped out, barely awake. Sofia gloated for a minute and then reached for her dress. She slipped into it, buttoning the front, and collected her purse. She met my eyes at the door and I shot the deadbolt.

We left him like that.

On the drive home I was searching for what to say when Sofia wordlessly lowered her head to my lap. I expected lovemaking when we got home but she couldn't wait. She lowered my zipper and stuffed my soft penis in her mouth. I got hard fast, ready to orgasm in about a minute. I'd left his office with so much sexual tension I was ready fast. She pulled her mouth off my dick and gazed at it. I was rock hard, pulsing, deep red. My condition meant something to her but I don't know what. She looked smug. She slid me into her mouth again.

She was still sucking when I pulled into our garage. I shut the big door and we idled in the dark. Her mouth was perfect hot silk, wet and smooth and I ejaculated now without fear of crashing. She gulped me like she'd gulped him, though I had not as much to give, adding my load to the two she carried in her stomach.

Chapter 7

The next day we were at the office working when she spoke: "I'm meeting Rodeo for lunch," she said, grabbing her purse and phone.

I looked across my desk. She'd worn a dress today and we both knew why.

"Again?" I asked. "Already?"

"Yes."

"Even after last night?"

"Because of last night," she said.

"Aren't you meeting him tonight for dinner and Mass?"

"Yes."

I had no more questions. She planned on sucking his cock at lunch and would suck his cock again tonight at church. I had too much work to do and would still be seated at this desk through it all. I'd sit here, dutifully responsible, while my wife was out there, feasting on forbidden jizz.

This was a painful lesson about putting toothpaste back into the tube, about closing the barn door after the horse is already gone. I'd had my moment to protest, to put my foot down and deny all of this, but I'd done nothing. Now was too late. The train was racing down the track. We'd started a sexual relationship with Rodeo. There were expectations. Now that Sofia had done it, there were no reasons not to do it again. Again, and again. My wife had no interest in putting the toothpaste back in the tube. She'd only just started. Rodeo and his heavy cock were free for the taking, as often as she wished.

She came around my desk and kissed me: a quick peck, at first, then melting into a loving, lingering kiss that gave me goose bumps. I felt good at her effort to reassure me of her love, but that vanished an instant later when I recalled she was on her way to suck another man's cock. She stopped at our new receptionist's desk to add a few things to her calendar and then said goodnight. I watched the door close. She was gone.

I stayed busy. I mean busy. It didn't matter. An internal clock started in my head, thoughtfully and silently counting down every event: Sofia arrives at the restaurant, Sofia finishes lunch and leaves with Rodeo. Sofia arrives at his penthouse. Sofia pounces on his cock like a jaguar. I felt in my bones the exact moment she began swallowing.

She had a meeting scheduled with the Manger brothers after lunch and would drive there directly from his penthouse. That meeting would occupy her until dinner. She'd grab a quick bite and head for Rodeo's church. She'd blow him before the service, probably in his car, join the other parishioners for the sermon, stay after and confess, then, unless she felt too guilty, possibly blow him again before heading home. I wouldn't see her again until sometime later tonight. When, exactly, depended on how many times Rodeo could get it up.

Jesus.

I plowed through work like a bulldozer, forcing such thoughts from my mind. I almost succeeded. Hours later the new receptionist, Tammy, said goodnight and I glanced at the clock after she left. Big mistake. Mass would start in forty-five minutes. That meant Sofia had a cock in her mouth right now. My mind seized on the image and ran, racing through every memory I had from Sofia sucking his dick last night. My concentration shattered. I obsessed over the visions in my head, knowing she repeated them in the flesh right now. I remembered what a Rodeo moan sounds like.

I grew stiff. I was alone so I unzipped and freed my dick, grateful for the relief. The cool air felt good and soon I found myself stroking slowly, eyes closed, picturing everything Sofia did. I felt guilty and disgusting but the images were wildly erotic. I'd never seen my wife in this way. She's enjoyed sex as long as I've known her but I never knew how deep her river ran. I never imagined she had so much lust in her. The images were frightening and daunting and intimidating but also exciting. I saw his fat cock gliding smoothly in and out of her mouth.

The click of a door brought me fully back to the moment. My eyes snapped open. Someone had opened my office door and seen me. I tucked my penis away and hurried, pressing my ear to listen to the outer office. I heard movement and then the outer door clicked too. I opened my door, following the sound, and carefully opened the door to the outer hallway. Tammy scurried away, jacket over one arm. She'd come back for it and seen me masturbating. I wondered how long she'd stood there. Conflicts arose: I was strangely aroused that cute Tammy had seen me jacking off. I was mortified my new employee had seen me jacking off. I was humiliated my new employee had seen me jacking off to fantasies about my unfaithful wife. With any luck Tammy would never mention what she'd seen.

I returned to my chair, locking the office door. Tammy was a problem for tomorrow. Right now, my problem was Rodeo slamming my wife's mouth. I freed my dick and closed my eyes again. The images were so vivid. I stroked but held off on cumming. Sofia would want sex tonight and I needed to be ready. I let the video play in my head. I was remembering her tongue dancing along his length when a sudden certainty seized me. I knew, without doubt, at that moment my wife gulped his sweet load. I glanced at the wall clock and knew It was true. I pulled my hand away from my dick. I was too close already and knowing he was shooting his load straight into her stomach almost put me over the edge.

Finally, it was time for Mass. They'd straighten their clothes and go through the ancient ritual. She might blow him again after but I doubted that. She'd want to confess and hurry home.

Chapter 8

She met him for lunch every day this week. She stopped by his penthouse twice, that I knew of, Tuesday and Thursday. When I casually mentioned she was sucking his cock far more than mine she said his cum tasted good.

"Like Dr. Pepper," she said. "Without the bubbles."

I had a hard time believing that.

"Besides," she continued. "Your cum needs to get me pregnant. That can't happen if you blast it down my throat. I'm flattered you love my oral skills so much but my uterus is the only place for you from now on."

She wasn't kidding. After that conversation her blowjobs changed drastically. One minute to get me nice and hard and then she'd slide me balls deep in her pussy. This was our routine for weeks.

We were shopping for groceries, in the cereal aisle, when she dropped the bomb.

"He wants to make love," she said. "He's mentioned it several times lately."

"You can't do that," I snapped.

"I know, I know."

"Sofia," I said. "You're Catholic. We practice no birth control. We've been trying for over a year to get pregnant. Playing with his dick is one thing but making love is serious. That's a whole different thing. What did you tell him?"

"I had to think about it."

"No, you don't. I already warned you he wants to put a baby in you. This is where the fun and games ends. You need to stay on guard."

She grabbed some Wheat Chex. I grabbed some Pop Tarts.

"Say something," I barked.

"I want to do it," she murmured, nervously glancing up and down the aisle. "You're right: I am Catholic, and that means I've lived this tiny life trapped inside a box of rules. I've not done anything wild or adventurous. The things we're doing now blow my mind. I had no idea life could be this exciting. I can't go back. I won't. I want more. I want to feel him in me."

I took a step back, shocked at her boldness. Her eyes were pleading.

"I do," she continued. "You're not a woman. You couldn't possibly understand. I need to feel him in me."

I dropped the Pop Tarts in the cart.

"I have feelings for him," she went on. "Not love, our marriage is safe, but yearning, longing. I want him to feel me wrapped tightly around him. He'd love it. I want to give him pleasure like that. I want him to have me. I'm so sorry. I know it's about the worst thing I can say, the worst thing a wife can say to a husband. "

"It's pretty bad."

She closed the gap between us, taking my hands in hers.

"It's not cheating," she said. "I'm breaking no vows. If you say I can have sex with him then it's something we're doing as a married couple. But you must say it's all right. I could never do it behind your back."

"No," I croaked. "I do not give you permission. Fucking him is too far."

"I hate that word."

"All right then: making love, having sex, sleeping with him. Whatever you wish to call it I'm still saying no. You admitted your desire for the man and I let you suck his cock all you wished. Having intercourse is too much. What do you think he'd do? Pull out? Even if he did there's a chance you could conceive. Sofia, he's made his ultimate intention clear. If you let him inside, he won't pull out. He'll ejaculate every drop in you. He fantasizes about fertilizing you. He wants you pregnant."

She shivered against my body. I was not helping my case. Each word from my mouth seemed to fan her flames of want. I realized my mistake: she had Rodeo on such a lofty pedestal, she held him in such high regard, that a man like that wanting her to have his baby fueled her lust. She was flattered. I was saying all the wrong things.

"Tell me I can," she said. "Tell me he can have me."

"No."

"Don't make me cheat."

That stopped me. She was going ahead no matter what. She saw the hurt on my face and hurried to explain.

"It's animal," she said. "What I feel is animal. It's primal and base and disgusting and shameful and embarrassing. I want him so badly. I've dreamed about him, inside me, moving in and out. I've held him in my mouth and felt the gentle throbbing, the palpitating life in that thing that hangs between his legs. My body aches to take him. I'm no better than Jezebel herself. I know that, Rick. I'm so terribly sorry."

But not sorry enough to stay faithful, I thought. Fuck you, Oscar Wilde.

I studied her face. She was torn up inside, just as torn up as me. This thing had sunk claws deep, gripping places she'd never explored, never even knew existed before him. I was the only man she'd ever known. She had no idea what she liked sexually. She only knew what we liked. Blowing him had torn the lid off. Now all kinds of thoughts and desires were whirling inside her. She was feeling these strong emotions about Rodeo and had no idea what to do except act on them. Should I hate her for that? Should I condemn her? She'd already made it clear she was going to sleep with the man. I could divorce her or hang around. I'd already allowed her to suck his cock as much as she wanted. Why not take the next step? Was I ready to leave her? If I were, would I ever have let her blow him in the first place? No.

I sighed. She waited.

"No way am I waiting at home alone," I said, relenting. "You figure out a story, a reason why I need to be there. I won't join in but I will not leave you alone with him."

She started to cry. I pulled her close and held her face against my chest. She squeezed me hard.

"I swear," she mumbled. "I love you. I don't love him. I don't want to marry him. I don't even want to be his girlfriend. I don't even like hanging out with him that much. But he's under my skin. I'm obsessed. Am I piling all my naiveté and inexperience on him? Possibly. Probably. But that doesn't matter. I must have him."

Feel that rumble rising from your feet? You are standing on the tracks and that's an oncoming train. These two were on a collision course and I was just in the way. All the rationalizations and justifications were empty words now. All logic and common sense lay broken on the ground like children's toys.

I returned her squeeze.

"Okay," I murmured.

Her arms tightened around me.

"I think there's only one path that removes him from the equation," I admitted.

She tilted her head back to look at me.

"Murder?" she joked.

"Okay, two paths," I said.

"I want him alive," she said. "Well, at least certain parts of him."

"You'll need to sleep with him," I concluded. "But please, please, please be careful. Catholic girls are fertile."

She squeezed me again and lifted on her toes to give me a smoldering kiss. What a kiss it was. I felt the churning emotions raging inside her through her trembling lips. My penis woke and stirred to life.

"You're amazing," she mumbled.

I put another box of Pop Tarts in the cart.

Chapter 9

A double date. I had to go on a double date. I hired an amateur gay actor, Rodney, off Craig's list, told him my wife and I were playing a joke on Rodeo, explained he was to play my gay boyfriend but without any gay sex, and negotiated a price. He saw right through me and my bullshit and insisted on knowing the truth. I told him most of it, leaving out how badly Sofia wanted Rodeo and emphasizing we were doing this to keep our business afloat and Tammy employed. That was something he could support so he agreed.

We started with dinner and introductions. Rodeo had no idea tonight would be different, but I noticed the subtle differences in Sofia. She was anxious and impatient, going through the motions so she didn't look like a slut. She wanted to drag him straight to bed.

She'd spent the last few days staying close to me, rubbing her body on mine, holding hands, touching often. In bed, she was all over me but when I tried for intercourse she deflected me to something else, sucking my penis or pushing my face between her legs. She was saving her pussy for him and that hurt. She's my wife. I have privileges. I outrank him. It never happened. She kept that tight pussy fresh and unsoiled. All her talk about my load was meant for her uterus went out the window. I reminded her what she'd said and she assured me I'd have her again soon.

"I just want him to love what he finds down there," she explained.

The final dagger to the heart was tonight while we dressed for our date. I was brushing my teeth when she got out the trimmer, clipping her pubic hair down to a close, soft pelt. Her pussy lips became visible, juicy and succulent. My mouth watered but I knew better than to try anything. She'd refuse, saving herself.

We went for a long walk around the lake after dinner and Rodney insisted on holding my hand. Dork. He was having fun playing his part. Sofia and Rodeo stayed about ten feet ahead of us so I doubt they noticed. Sofia's flowing red dress looked lovely.

We returned to the parking lot and Rodeo drove us to his penthouse. Sofia sat up front with him and Rodney sat in back with me. Sofia took Rodeo's hand as he drove and I almost gasped.

Upstairs Rodney and I stood on the balcony and admired the view. We waited for Sofia and Rodeo to join us but as the minutes ticked off it dawned on me they would not.

"Uh oh," Rod whispered.

Sofia and Rodeo had made it as far as the kitchen. He leaned in a corner by the sink, pants shoved down to his knees. Sofia crouched in front of him sucking his hanging balls like a whore. I spun on a heel and grabbed Rodney's elbow, trying to drag him away. He resisted.

"Found them," I said. "Let's leave them alone."

Stumbling across them already engaged was more than I could take. The sight was too sudden. I needed a moment to collect myself and get back in character.

"Hang on," Rodeo barked. "You gay guys could learn something. Look at your boss, Rick. She sucks cock like a pro. She could teach you a trick or two."

Rodney freed his elbow and turned to watch. Sofia is good-looking and she was sucking dick and what guy wants to miss that, gay or not? He leaned against the refrigerator and folded his arms over his chest. I reluctantly turned and took a spot beside him.

"That's a beautiful cock," Rod said.

Apparently, Sofia no longer needed oxygen to live. She'd spent hours sucking his cock and her new skills were impressive. He was soft, but he was thick, yet Sofia could open wide and work his inches to the back of her throat. She grabbed his hips to steady herself and force his cock deeper. Her eyes watered. Her throat bulged. She forced another inch deep and now her nose was only an inch from his pubic bush.

"Wow," Rodney muttered.

I felt the same. My wife was much improved at sucking cock. Her tongue was a pink cobra coiling around his scrotum and up the shaft, flicking in and out. Her hand pumped and squeezed, fondling his balls, dragging fingernails across the sensitive head. Her lips wrapped the crown like two tiny blankets and began traveling down the smooth pillar of meat. She was masterful, whorish, playful, and lusty, her eyes glued to his. She took more and more of his cock until the tip of her nose brushed his pubic hair. She serviced his dick as he swelled and expanded until she had him jutting out like an iron rod. But they'd been to this moment many times. Rodeo enjoyed the blowjob, believing there was nothing more in his future. I wondered how Sofia would take things up a notch.

My wife stood and turned, showing him her back, then bent at the waist, pulling her red dress up over her ass. We all learned at the same time she'd skipped panties tonight. She aimed her sopping cunt right at his face. He looked on in disbelief. She bent further, grabbing her ankles and causing her labia to part. Her slit glistened, beckoning. Her face was twisted with desire and need. She'd made an obscene offering of her cunt.

"Put it in me," she pleaded.

He stepped forward and took her hips in his hands, gazing down. His cock was a pulsating tube of meat closing in on her pussy. I gulped air, frozen. Rodney rested a hand on my shoulder, leaned close to my ear.

"That's your wife, man," he whispered.

I did not need the reminder. Sofia shook her ass, impatient.

"Come on," she begged.

She bent her neck to see what Rodeo was doing. He shuffled his feet closer, now just behind hers, and guided her pelvis backward. His large cock head bumped her hole and Sofia gasped. The head looked too big for her tight slit. Rodeo's face was alight, glowing with sweet triumph. He squeezed her waist and flexed his ass, mashing her labia. Her entire body tensed like an electrocution. He shoved, punching the head through her tight opening and forcing a strangled scream from her throat. He shoved again, driving several steely inches into her.

"God!" she wailed. Then: "All of it!"

He rammed every inch of his hard cock into my wife. She cried out, stunned, astounded and amazed. He felt far different from me and she loved it, a broad joyful smile curling her mouth. He held on tight and began working his cock: an iron piston turning her hole inside out. His stiff inches gleamed.

"Don't cum in me," she whimpered, getting the obligatory disclaimer out of the way. I heard the hollowness of her words. "Promise," she added.

Rodeo didn't promise. As I'd expected, Rodeo said nothing. Rodeo stared down at his solid inches working her pussy, his bare and unprotected cock pumping through her wetness, and fucked faster. Sofia hung her head, gripping her ankles like a vise, pretty dress swishing with each hard thrust. They'd both wanted this moment for so long and now that it was happening both wanted to live in the moment. Rodeo pounded my sweet woman. The sound of hips slapping ass filled the kitchen.

"Wait," Sofia muttered. Then, louder: "Wait. Wait, wait!"

I staggered, legs suddenly weak. I saw on her face what was happening.

"Uunngh!" she cried. "AAaaaahhhhh!"

I stumbled against the kitchen cabinet. Rodney braced me. Sofia was climaxing, cumming on Rodeo's thrusting cock. Her orgasm clutched her body. Every muscle clenched. In minutes my wife had reached the pinnacle of pleasure impaled on his cock. She was locked in that position: bent all the way over and holding both ankles, and she was cumming like a hurricane. Her face was pure joyful bliss. Pleasure washed over every inch of her. Rodeo pounded her pussy and she must have felt him swelling inside because he next words snatched my breath and crushed my heart.

"In me," she growled. "In me!"

Rodeo's mouth slowly opened and his hips pumped faster. I stared dumbly, trapped between my charade and my disbelieving eyes.

"Dude," Rodney whispered. "Duuuuuude . . ."

Rodeo roared like an avalanche of giant boulders. He threw his head back and pumped twice, pausing as he pushed all the way in, and then holding himself buried, balls jumping, back arching, eyes rolling in his skull. He was disgorge an epic surge of seed, swamping my wife's fertile womb. My world tilted and swayed. This was what she'd wanted all along. More than just the act of intercourse, she'd always wanted to be his completely.

Her moans suggested she came again when he did. She held that position, legs trembling and arms shaking. His body was draped over her ass, utterly spent but still buried in her married pussy. He stirred, thinking she needed to move, but she quickly stopped him.

"No, stay like that," she said. "I can feel your heart beating through your cock. It's racing. I love it."

She let go of her ankles and rose enough to place her hands on her knees. Not a drop of semen had escaped her tight seal around his dick. He was softening, slowly. She looked at him over a shoulder.

"Your boss has lovely tits," Rodney said.

Soon Rodeo softened enough he threatened to slide out. Sofia spun around and took him into her mouth. He was covered with her pussy juice and semen and I remembered what she'd said about his flavor. I wondered how he tasted now. Delicious, apparently, as she licked and sucked every inch until he was clean.

At least it was over. Time to head home and reclaim what's mine.

"I won't forget this night anytime soon," I said, forcing a smile.

She wasn't finished with the man. Sofia took Rodeo by the penis and pulled, stepping towards the hallway that led to the master bedroom. She met my eyes for the briefest of moments, sharing a knowing glance.

"You guys join us," Rodeo said. "But stay to yourselves, if you know what I mean. I like the way you both look at my dick but I want no monkey business."

"Yes, join us," Sofia added, sweetly.

Rodney gestured towards the bedroom. No way would I have any kind of sex with the man. None. But it appeared we'd need to fake it. At least for a few minutes. Sofia would soon have Rodeo so distracted he'd never look at us.

I gazed at her retreating back. She lifted her dress, adjusting the fabric, and my eyes dropped to her exposed ass.

Twin streaks of hot semen trickled down her inner thighs.

Chapter 10

Rodeo and Sofia were out of their clothes in a flash. Rodney too. I felt weird as the only person dressed so I undressed as well. Sofia carefully watched my every move. She stared a long time at my naked penis before turning to stare at Rodeo's. She pushed her new lover onto the huge bed and covered his lap with her hair, spreading her tresses over his thighs and stomach. His soft moan told me when she'd sucked him in. Rodney moved in front of me to block the view that we were doing nothing.

"I'll turn around in a minute," he said. "Let them think we're changing positions."

I only half listened. I was watching my wife over his shoulder. Sofia's head bobbed slowly and Rodeo had laced his fingers behind his head and closed his eyes. Sofia walked her knees around the bed to get a better angle on his dick and her pussy swung into my view. I snorted. Her tiny vertical slit was plastered with pure white semen. Rodeo had filled her until she overflowed. I ran my eyes down her legs and up her back. Her big tits were smashed around his knees. She flipped her hair away and I saw his smooth cock gliding in and out of her mouth.

In a short time he was nearly hard enough to fuck and I understood why: the woman he'd hunted was eager and open. This night might never repeat. Fuck her as much as you can.

I groaned with understanding.

"Sofie," I heard Rodeo say, his voice sweet. "I want pictures."

Sofie? Fucking Sofie? When did he start calling her that?

"Yo," Rodeo called out to me and Rodney. "Drop your dicks and grab those cameras off the shelf by the window. I need pictures of this night."

Rodney obeyed instantly. I hesitated, not thrilled by the idea that I would record Sofia's adventure into infidelity but grateful to no longer fake gay sex with Rod. Sofia swung her gaze around at the two men with cameras in their hands and grinned sheepishly.

"I don't know about this," she said, rising to her knees.

"Don't worry," Rodeo said. "I'll add them to my private collection. They're only for me to look at later."

"You have a collection? Like all the women you've had intercourse with?"

"That's right."

"I'll be just another woman you've had?"

He laughed sarcastically.

"Yup."

My wife shivered with arousal. Being one of his nameless babes turned her on. She released his long fat penis and it flopped against his chubby belly. He pulled her arms forward, bringing her mouth up to kiss. This also brought her pussy over his stiff dick. He kissed my wife fiercely, covertly maneuvering her into position. To balance, she shifted her stance, one leg bent with a knee on the bed and the other with a foot planted by his hip. She leaned to kiss him again and her labia slid several inches along the underside of his cock. The head flared. Sofia lifted a breast to his mouth. He was the King of the World. I noticed she'd moved far enough forward the tip of his cock rested between her labia, the hole at the tip touching her pink insides. I looked away, overcome. Rodney sensed something and distracted everyone.

"You have a pretty cock, Rodeo," he said. "But Sofia is prettier."

Rodeo laughed and suckled the nipple.

I regained my composure.

A spoonful of semen leaked from her vagina and flowed over the head. Her pussy was filled with him. Each minute brought us closer to danger. Every passing second could result in conception. My mind was screaming at me to do something, to prevent a pregnancy at any cost.

My dick began to rise.

I was horrified!

What twisted thinking was this? What was going on in my brain? I tried to hide it, turning my hips and using the camera, occupying my mind with something to do. My efforts failed. My penis swelled and grew, curving up, balls lifting and tightening. When Sofia moved, Rodeo saw my erection.

"Looks like everybody loves my big cock," he boasted.

Sofia turned to see what he meant, and I was defeated. My wife saw my erection, hard even as she was poised over another man. She stared at my throbbing meat, her face an unreadable enigma. I felt exposed and undone, my stiff dick an implied consent. What argument could I make now? In truth, I'd conveyed more than mere consent. My erection showed appreciation, enthusiasm, fervent eagerness. Sofia fucking Rodeo excited me. My mind had not caught up to my body. I held my breath waiting for Sofia's reaction to this moment. I waited only a heartbeat.

She reached under and stood his dick upright. She moved her hips a little, sliding her hole around the tip until she'd zeroed-in on him, and then eased her bodyweight down, sliding his length, exhaling a heartfelt groan as he filled her again. I was inches from the crime. She sank until the ring of her cunt almost touched his scrotum. His cock had vanished inside her. She lifted, revealing several dripping inches, and sat down on him again.

"He's going to make me cum," she chuckled, amazed. "His cock is fantastic. It's like he inhabits my whole body. He takes over and I let go."

She repeated her movements, fucking herself on his stick and moaning. He laid there, allowing his cock to be massaged by the walls of her tight pussy.

Rodney started snapping pictures and I did too. I noticed his penis had risen to fully erect just like mine. We scurried around, capturing every angle and every unforgettable moment. The scene was mind-boggling. Rodney and I stayed hard, our dicks waving in the breeze like red flags.

Sofia laid her head on his chest and slammed her cunt down his length over and over. Her soft moans grew into wild cries and I witnessed my wife orgasming again on his meat. He waited until her tremors subsided and then flipped her on her back, holding her legs at the ankles and spreading her wide. Only a husband should ever spread a wife like that but here he was doing it like he owned her. He hammered her tight hole, using her for his own pleasure.

When the familiar moans started, I held my breath: he was going to ejaculate inside her again. Again. I wanted to scream. He slowed his thrusts, over and over pushing the head all the way in and holding himself there for a heartbeat, groaning. At last he thrust once and held his cock buried deep. He groaned loud and clear, barely moving his hips as he ejaculated again, pumping a massive load inside my wife. I imagined his thick shaft swaddled by her tight cunt, squirting sperm again and again. Her stretched walls must grip him like a vise. My heart almost burst but my hands kept recording the event. He growled like a lion with each expulsion of heady semen. Sofia clutched at his body, wrapping arms and legs and holding him tight. Spasms wracked him as his seed forcefully left his balls. Soon only the clicks of the cameras could be heard. My wife held him a long time.

At last he flopped to the side, his heavy cock traveling out of her pussy with a slurp. Her cunt stayed open, a gaping hole in her body, leaking a trickle of seed. I perversely moved close for the most intimate of photos, an inch from her pussy and his seeping sperm.

Rodney and I stepped back to survey the scene, looking at each other in amazement, our dicks rock hard. As usual, dutifully obedient Sofia rolled over and took his messy cock in her mouth. She licked his deflating shaft and hanging balls until he was clean, then snuggled under his arm.

"If you boys want to watch some television out in the living room," Rodeo said. "I'll call you when I need you again."

"I work for Sofia," I stated.

Her face turned soft.

"I'll call you when I need you again," she repeated. Then, to Rodeo: "It's so hot making a man come more than once. I want to make you cum a lot."

I blushed. My wife had dismissed me in front of her lover. It was all playful and keeping with our charade, but it stung. Rodney and I left the room, our hard dicks leading the way like ice breakers. It never occurred to me to get dressed. I was probably in a state of shock. My mind couldn't meld these two truths: Sofia is your loving bride and Sofia is full of another man's sperm. Worse, she's about to get more. Since I could not reconcile those facts, I retreated into partial catatonia, moving like a robot, following basic directions. Rodney and I plopped on the couch, hard penises pointed at the ceiling. He kept glancing at mine, hungry.

"Do you want some help with that?" he asked.

I looked at my lap. My hard penis was red, tight skin shiny. A drop of precum had crawled up the shaft to sit like a tiny clear egg on the tip. My balls had drawn up so close they'd disappeared, my scrotum flush and smooth against my body. I looked castrated. I felt a coiled tightness through my pelvis, like I'd ejaculate if I so much as touched my dick. Rodney raised his camera and snapped a picture of my erection.

"No," I said. "Sorry. No gay sex for me."

"Suit yourself, but that thing looks ready to pop."

I looked down again. I was leaking semen, a thin rivulet running down the straining shaft. Veins I didn't know I had stood out along the sides. The flared head bounced to my heartbeat. My wife Sofia was with another man in the bedroom at the end of the hall and my penis was on the edge of an explosion. I had no explanation other than in some deeply buried way, I wanted her fucked by another. That seemed preposterous when I considered it but hard dicks do not lie.

Rodney took another picture of me.

"This is pure gold," he teased. "You have no idea what to do. Big Daddy is about to give it to your wife a third time and you're sitting here with a hard on, bewildered. I'll show these pictures to Sofia later as proof. You should go join them in there and suck his nuts while he fucks her."

"Shut up."

"Seriously. Do you think either of them plan on calling us? He got all the pictures he needs. Now he's going to make slow deep love to that woman without outside interference. You watch and see. They won't call us. They are into each other now. He's probably inside her already. That man's dick loves to get hard. If you sucked his nuts you'd at least speed things up. That would make him cum faster. How long do we need to sit out here?"

I stared at the floor.

"You might as well jack off," Rodney said.

"No."

"Come on, Rick, why are you waiting? Are you saving it because you think you're fucking her next? That ain't gonna happen, my friend. Trust me, I know what guys like that do to a person. She's not leaving that bed until morning and then she'll be way too sore for you. Better you just empty your nuts now."

A throaty, feminine moan floated down the hall to us.

"I told you so," Rodney said.

I stayed seated for a moment but the suspense was too much. I rose, taking the camera with me so I had an excuse, and crept down the hall. Rodney hurried to my side.

My dick was harder than ever. How strange it was to walk and have it stay hard. How strange it was to remain erect without stimulation. I'd ignored the thing but that didn't matter when Sofia was in bed with another. My dick was suddenly twelve again and hard all the time.

We peeked around the corner. Sofia stood on the bed facing the wall. She had each foot on a pillow and her knees braced against the headboard. Her arms climbed the wall reaching for the ceiling. Rodeo stood behind her, his gut pressed against her back, pinning her. He held a breast in each hand and fucked her pussy standing up. Sofia had pulled her hair around and stuffed it in her mouth. Her muffled moans and groans told me at this angle the man felt even bigger. She was almost sobbing. His fat cock expanded her narrow tunnel, forcing her wide open. I realized her effort to remain silent was so I wouldn't hear, so I wouldn't know they were fucking again. She wanted him all to herself, without me. Rodeo was slow grinding her cunt, pulling almost all the way out before slowly sinking back in. Sofia squirmed on his meat.

I turned, headed back for the couch. If Sofia wanted him alone, she could have him alone. My shoulders slumped. Rodney came with me and we reclaimed our seats on the couch. He wanted to be consoling but had no idea what to say to a cuckold husband. Making me feel even worse, my erection still throbbed.

When Rodney scooted closer I said nothing.

"This will help," he said.

He took my hand and placed it around his penis. He took my penis in his hand and stroked a few times. I was so keyed up it felt fantastic.

"We'll just use our hands," he said. "That's not too gay. We could jack ourselves but someone else feels better. No one will know."

I had no more energy to fight. His hand on my dick did feel good but at that moment anything on my dick would have. A feminine and soulful moan floated down the hallway and into the living room. My sweet wife was cumming again.

I lasted maybe a minute. Maybe. His hand was rough and calloused and far stronger than Sofia's hand on me, but the sensations were great and I needed relief. My dick turned into a fountain of semen, shooting long strings of boiling cum. I shot and shot and shot until I couldn't hold back a loud moan and then I shot some more, astonished at my colossal load. I came so hard I stopped jerking him and then after I was too wiped out to move. He finished himself off, launching cum onto Rodeo's expensive carpet.

My God damn dick still did not turn soft. It was no longer the throbbing, murderous iron rod it had been, but it was yet stiff and unyielding.

"Did you take a Viagra?" Rodney joked.

"No. I don't understand."

"I do. Your wife is a sex fiend and that excites you. You enjoy seeing her fucked by a big dick. I like watching guys suck my boyfriend's big dick."

Big dicks are cool."

Before I could respond a deep voice boomed.

"Yo!" Rodeo shouted. "You guys can come back now."

"Guess I was wrong," Rod smirked.

We walked that long hall together. My penis grew firmer with every step. What was I about to see? Rodney thought it would be funny to grab my dick at the last minute so Rodeo and Sofia saw him holding my penis as we turned the corner. Sofia's eyes got huge. Rodeo laughed.

"Sorry for interrupting," he chuckled.

I yanked my hips away. Sofia continued to stare at my hard on in amazement. Her questioning eyes rose to mine.

"You interrupted nothing," I said. "Nothing was happening."

Rodeo laughed again.

"Except that," he said, gesturing at my undying erection.

"What do you want?" I asked, annoyed.

They laid naked atop the duvet, Rodeo on his back with his long soft cock draped over a hip. Sofia was on her stomach, arms folded under her. Her long hair was a tousled mess. Aside from her constant glances at my hard dick, she was relaxed and serene, satisfied and content. I fretted over how much sperm she held inside.

"We're going to nap to recharge our batteries," Rodeo said. "You guys can sleep in the guestroom or head home. I'll make sure Sofia gets home safely. She says her husband is out of town and she wants to spend the night with me."

Massive fist to the gut. All the air left my lungs. I turned my spontaneous gasp into a cough. All that fucking and yet my wife wanted more. Unbelievable.

"We'll sleep here," I said, deciding for Rodney too.

No way was I leaving Sofia alone with Rodeo.

"All right," Rodeo said. "Goodnight."

I didn't budge. I didn't budge because after he said goodnight Sofia wiggled closer and nestled under his arm, her big tit sliding up his body. She slithered her leg over his, pulling herself in tight. Hooking her leg over his exposed her pussy and I saw the mess Rodeo had left. Semen dribbled from her slit. Multiple streaks of semen ran down both inner thighs. Globbs of semen clung to her inner labia. She was inundated with sperm.

I glanced at her face and discovered she studied me and I recognized in that moment that the move with her leg had been intentional. Sofia wanted me to see her used pussy. Strange as it seemed, Sofia was being honest. My wife was showing me what had happened so far, keeping no secrets from me.

She snuggled closer to him. She kissed his chest. Every move she made towards him was packed with intimacy. My shredded heart limped along inside my chest. She wasn't acting. She wasn't toying with me. She held his seed and that enamored her to him. She was smitten. He was her lover and she showed him loyalty. He tilted her chin and kissed her lips and she poured herself into the moment, poured herself into him. Her hand drifted over to find his wilted dick and hold it, just to feel the warmth and life in the thing.

"Come on," Rodney said, nudging my shoulder.

I turned. Sofia nuzzled Rodeo, turning her head to stare at my erection again, checking one last time to see if I remained hard. I did, but what did that mean to her? A profound sense of dread bubbled up in me. My erection told her things I never intended.

Rodney and I left our clothes on the bedroom floor. What was the point of getting dressed? The guest room had a king-sized bed and Rodney flopped onto it, ready to sleep. Not me. I paced, nervously wondering what transpired in the bedroom down the hall. All the marching back and forth finally brought my dick down to half-mast. I thanked God Rodeo's penis had finally gone soft. She probably nursed on his flaccid dick but at least he could no longer inseminate her. My stomach was a hard knot imagining all the sperm she carried.

I ran my fingers through my hair. Sofia and I had been trying to conceive without luck for a long time. What if she conceived with Rodeo? My gut lurched at the thought. My wife carrying another man's baby? I felt dizzy and sick. My body tightened and my mind tumbled off a cliff.

Also, my penis began to rise.

"God damn it!" I yelled.

Rodney laughed. I turned to the bed and yanked the covers, climbing in.

"Turn off the light," I barked.

Thoughtfully, Rodney did.

Chapter 11

"The construction is almost finished," I said. "After we get the last payment, you can't see him anymore."

Sofia bit one of her French fries and wagged the rest at me.

"No."

We sat at Denny's, grabbing a quick lunch and strategizing. Three months had passed since that cum-fueled bacchanal at Rodeo's place. We'd employed Rodney many times to continue our charade. Sofia was late last month and the month before and we had quite a scare. I suppose it would be more accurate to say I had the scare. Sofia was surprisingly comfortable with the idea of Rodeo impregnating her. We'd fought about it twice.

"You are married to me," I stressed.

She smiled.

"Yes. I am. I am happily, joyfully, blissfully married to the most wonderful and amazing man in the world. You're one in a million and I know it. I'm incredibly lucky and I know that, too."

"But you won't do as I ask? You won't stop seeing him?"

She finished her fry, turning serious.

"Rick, we've wanted a baby for a long, long time."

"Yes, we have. But ours, not his."

"You and I have sex often. Way more than we used to and more often than I have sex with him. If I get pregnant, odds are the baby will be yours."

"True, but what if? Why even roll the dice?"

She waved my concerns away.

"Life is filled with what-ifs. What if I get hit by a bus? Rodeo in our lives has inspired us to make love more often. In a way, no matter what, the baby would already be because of him. We can skip the paternity test. Who cares? We would have the child we desire so much."

I stared at my hands. Her words had a seductive mix of truth.

"This is easier for you," I said. "You're happy with either as the father. It's different for men. I'd see Rodeo like a thief in the night."

"Stealing something you own?"

"In a way."

She leaned forward.

"I'm your wife and I love that," she said. "But you don't own me, no matter what the Bible says. I'm not livestock."

I saw what she meant. Pregnancy means something different for men. I felt my lizard brain struggle with expanding my understanding. I didn't want to. I felt a powerful primitive need to know the child was mine. I remembered anthropology courses from college, communities where sex was free and the village raised any children conceived together. Could I shift that much?

"I have an exciting idea," Sofia said, mischief in her eyes. "How about you both have me as often as you can get it up? That sounds fantastic to me. We'll make a race of it. Mano a mano. Wouldn't it feel good to beat him? My womb is the prize. I get all the sex I can handle and we get the baby we want. We'll call it the Sofia Sweepstakes."

My palms were slick with sweat. My tongue felt swollen. This was madness.

"You've changed," I rasped.

"God, I hope so. You didn't grow up in a strict Catholic household with dour parents and two sets of rules: one for your brother and one for you. I was handed from my father over to you. Freedom is intoxicating."

Her eyes were alive and dancing, almost manic. She thought this was a fantastic idea. She welcomed it, imagining herself as the target of our mutual lust. Rodeo and I would compete for her. What girl doesn't like that? She'd tell him and the battle would be on. I had to admit the idea of clashing with him stirred my blood, so long as I didn't think too much about the battlefield. Inside, I held an ocean of resentment for the guy. I hated him for the sounds he made my wife make, the pleasures he made her feel. I hated him for pumping so much cum into her over the preceding months. Each time she slept with him those feelings of ownership had arisen. She was his on those days and for several days after, until she'd absorbed all he'd given her and turned empty again. Filled with me, she was mine. Filled with him, she was his.

"This is insane," I muttered.

"Then let's go crazy," she giggled.

Chapter 12

You can imagine how long she was in that confessional. She'd switched to Rodeo's church, feeling like she needed to be anonymous to say the things she did. Everyone knew her at our church. For confession, she went to his.

I was just starting to wonder about how long she'd been in there when the door opened and she hastily emerged. She hurried to my side, collected her purse and jacket, gripped my arm and shoved me towards the door. Once outside, she burst into laughter. Before I could ask why she was laughing, her amusement turned to tears.

"Honey?" I asked. "What's going on?"

She pulled me to the car, imploring me to start the engine. I started the car and we pulled out of the parking lot.

"I sucked his cock!" she exclaimed, hardly believing her own words. "I just sucked a priest's cock. I confessed all I'd done and all I was still doing. He was silent a long time and I asked if he was okay. He admitted my words were difficult to hear without becoming emotionally involved. It took me a minute to get from him what he meant by that. He said my words had affected him strongly and he'd become inappropriately aroused. He asked my forgiveness and offered to summon another priest but I said no, show me your erection. The words just flew out of my mouth. The two wooden screens which separated us had holes cut like fleur-de-lis. One of the holes in my screen matched up with one of his, forming a good-sized hole. He thrust his erection through the opening. His cock looked young and hard and I bowed my head and slipped it into my mouth. He throbbed on my tongue and I started sucking. We had to be so quiet. He came fast and I sucked out every drop, leaving him clean. He left his penis hanging on my side, probably thinking about the terrible thing we'd just done. I don't even know which priest it was!"

She looked up at me.

"That's when I ran," she finished. "I can never go back there."

It was my turn to laugh. She waited, sullen, arms folded across her chest.

"It's not funny," she scolded. "I have a problem."

I held her hand.

"You like sex," I said.

She scoffed.

"I love dick," She retorted. "I love making dicks pop."

She stared thoughtfully out the passenger window.

"He did say one thing that hit me hard," she admitted. "He said I should trust God. He said Jesus has a plan for me and everything happens for a reason. Do you think that's true?"

"Not especially. I think we all have free will. If God is manipulating our lives for us, all our choices are moot."

"Your position removes God from my daily life," she retorted. "I don't like that. It's comforting to think everything happens for a reason."

"It's comforting because it absolves you from any responsibility. What part of God's plan was you sucking that priest's dick?"

She waved my comment aside, annoyed. I wanted to keep the mood light so I shifted gears.

"I'll give you credit," I said. "That gloryhole action was truly glorious. Sucking cock in a church is a new high point."

"What's a gloryhole?"

I laughed again.

"Oh boy," I said.

I explained. She asked if I'd ever used one.

"Never," I said. "You're one up on me."

"How do you know about them and I don't?"

"I doubt we surf the same sites on the Internet," I said.

"I want to see one," she said. "They sound decadent."

"I knew you would. Decadence is the attraction, right? Strip sex down to component parts: genitalia and orgasm. No emotional involvements, no feelings. You don't know if he's a decent person or even good -looking. You know nothing about your partner. You meet only his penis."

"Sounds hot. Sounds simple and uncluttered. Nothing but pleasing someone."

"Nothing but pleasing a man," I corrected. "Just dicks and cum, your two favorite things."

"I'm horny now. Let's go."

I made a face.

"I don't know where to find one," I said. "They aren't advertised."

"Where are they usually found?"

"Adult book stores. Sex shops."

Her expression turned to amazement.

"There are shops where you can buy sex?" she asked.

"No, Darling. You buy dildos and vibrators and lingerie and skin potions. You buy porn movies and books. You buy things for sex, not sex itself. That would be prostitution."

"Like Esmerelda."

"Right."

She got out her phone and started tapping. She flipped through screens, doggedly pursuing her new interest in typical Sofia fashion.

"There's an adult store two miles away and where someone mentions in the Google comments that there are gloryholes in the video booths. Let's go."

I nodded. It was a Sunday morning clear and bright and I expected the parking lot to be empty but no. The building was big and square and painted neon pink, in case you needed help finding it, I guess. The air inside was musty and damp like it was the same air they'd trapped when they built the place thirty years ago. About forty people milled about, almost all men, with a smattering of couples and a few single women.

"Do you have gloryholes?" Sofia asked the greasy long-haired man behind the counter.

Most of the faces in the store swung our way. I cringed and gripped her elbow, steering her down an aisle.

"You can't ask that," I hissed. "All this should be done in secrecy. Now everyone knows why we're here and it's kind of illegal."

She smirked.

"That makes it even more exciting," she chuckled.

Her head was on a pivot as we walked through the place. As we passed the wall of DVDs, cocks and pussies and tits and ass abounded. Her astonishment grew at the people having intercourse on the covers and she stopped several times to gawk. She plucked a movie off the wall and held it up, pointing at the cover.

"Look at this guy's body," she gushed. "He's flawless."

I glanced at the picture. The naked man was ripped like an Olympic athlete and had a ten-inch dick hanging down.

"Lovely," I said.

I got her moving again, entering the theater portion of the place. Rows of video booths lined the walk to the ticket booth. I poked my head in a few until I found one with small openings on each side, amateurish holes cut by visiting perverts like us. A sign on the wall read: All Booth Inhabitants Must Pay For Video Viewing.

"In here," I said, maneuvering us into the cramped space.

I shut the door and locked it, dropping quarters in the slot to start the video. A screen came up with six choices and Sofia punched the button for Heavy Hitters: Big Dick Gangbangs. The movie started with a naked girl led to an ottoman surrounded by eight naked men.

"They get right to it, don't they?" Sofia asked.

I nodded and leaned back. She was nervous but trying to act cavalier. On screen they lifted the girl onto the ottoman, placing her on her back. The men moved closer, offering their soft cocks. The girl eagerly reached for a man with each hand. She opened her mouth and spread her legs. I was anticipating Sofia's arousal and looking forward to a blowjob. She might act appalled regarding the confessional and probably felt terrible about what she'd done, but she also felt aroused and I wanted to be the beneficiary of that.

Across the booth a small penis, half-erect, pushed through the opening. Sofia turned her attention from the screen to study the thing, her expression more curious than turned on. She wrapped her fingers around it and lifted.

"This could be any of the men we saw on the way in," she said.

"I'm sure it is."

"Men don't give a shit," she continued. "Just spread the seed as far and wide as you can. Don't get me wrong: I like that men are dogs. I envy their attitude and freedom. I've learned sex is wonderful even without emotional entanglements."

She tugged the penis in her hand and watched it grow.

"Like this guy," she said, jerking her thumb towards the hole in the wall. "He doesn't care who jacks him off. He doesn't care if I'm pretty or dressed nice, if I smell good or I'm intelligent. He doesn't even care if it's you in here playing with his dick. Just empty the nuts: launch the semen. How great it must be to have such a simple, singular view of sex. Take Rodeo for example. He sees me, he wants me, he chases me, he gets me. Perfectly linear. How relaxing. What a relief."

The penis in her hand was fully erect now and about half the size of mine. Sofia turned it side to side, wrapped her fingers to measure the thickness. Her thumb covered her index finger beyond the first knuckle.

The head flared. The man on the other side of that wall knew my wife was currently sizing him up and the humiliation excited him.

"Am I small?" a muffled voice asked.

Sofia opened her mouth to answer but the man spoke again.

"It's okay," he said. "You can be honest."

His dick was trembling.

"You have the smallest penis I've ever held," she said, truthfully.

Blood surged. The head flared and the entire organ turned a deeper shade of red. The man was loving this. Sofia turned away from him and faced me.

"You know," she said. "I've been meaning to ask: why did you get so hard that night? Rodeo and I were making love for the first time and you were throbbing. I never expected that. I thought you might be morose or withdrawn. I thought you might sulk and watch television, too upset to get involved. But you got harder than I've ever seen. Your penis looked so sexy. It made me wish you could join us. Too bad we put some much effort into convincing Rodeo you're gay. Making love to you and him at the same time would be mind-blowing."

"I don't know why I got hard," I admitted. "Rodney gave me a lot of shit over my erection. He said something about my desire to reclaim you but he also suggested I must like watching you have sex and maybe he's right."

A penis floated through the other hole. About the same size as me, this one was uncircumcised, dusky skinned and covered in raised veins. The foreskin reached almost to the end, leaving just the tip and the pee hole exposed. I thought it looked ugly and disgusting but Sofia's eyes lit up.

"Oh!" she exclaimed. "I've never seen one like this. Why does this one have skin all the way down?"

"That's a foreskin," I said. "They are all born that way but some parents have the skin removed."

She examined the darker penis closely and then filled her hand with it, slowly jacking both. I made my move.

"Don't let go," I said. "Keep your hands on them."

I unbuttoned her shirt and spread the two sides. I tugged her bra down, freeing her tits. She closed her eyes. I sucked a soft nipple into my mouth. We stayed like that a few minutes until she changed position.

"I want to suck it," she murmured, voice husky.

She leaned to the small penis and sucked him in, her lips slithering down the length to encircle the base. She sucked hard. Her eyes were slits, her breathing deep and fast. These days a cock in her mouth was a source of intense excitement. The man rapped a knuckle on the wall but Sofia and I did not know what that meant. We found out seconds later when he groaned and began spewing hot sperm into Sofia's mouth.

"Mumph!" Sofia choked.

You never can tell. The man's dick was smallish but his load was huge!

"Gurph!" Sofia exclaimed.

I watched her throat. She was swallowing fast. The man grunted over and over, spurting semen like he'd been saving it for a year. He filled her mouth and some escaped the seal of her lips, dripping to the dirty floor. Her eyes were big as he released a torrent. She was a good girl, struggling to keep up but determined to give him the most pleasure possible. She was unwavering in her efforts to do a good job. She gulped his massive load, sucking and bobbing as best she could. More seeped from around his shaft, dribbling. His groans of intense pleasure penetrated the wall.

"Good thing you didn't use your pussy," I teased. "That's a gigantic load."

Her eyes flared. My wife groaned like the idea hadn't occurred to her at all, like one was not allowed to fornicate with dicks through walls, one was only allowed to suck them. She let go and reached under her skirt, shoving her panties to her knees. I was ready to eat pussy but she had a different plan, turning her ass to Mister Uncircumcised. She held her grip on him as she whipped a leg over and backed towards the wall. From below I saw her guide him into her pussy. I was thunderstruck. Her mouth returned to a rapidly deflating Mr. Small.

"You're fucking—" I stammered. "Baby—"

I stopped. Sofia was lost to me. An anonymous stranger filled her at each end. This was an experience beyond even her imagination. Her eyes were closed as she rocked between the two walls, savoring every inch of unfamiliar dick inside her. The man at her mouth, far too sensitive to continue after climax, backed away, soon replaced by a good sized dark black cock, a little bigger than me. Sofia groaned from a wholly new arousal. She stared hard at her first black dick before lifting the appendage with a thumb and slurping him in. She returned to her rocking motion, feeling the hard dicks gliding in and out at both ends.

How had we gotten to this point so fast? We were just at church. Sofia rocked back and forth, her body shuddering with delight. I knew two men at the same time would fill her head with ideas.

Mr. Uncircumcised tapped on the wall, giving us fair warning and a wave of dismay washed over me.

"Baby—" I attempted again.

There was no stopping this. The black cock filling her mouth was pulsing with life and she would not abandon it. Mr. Uncircumcised hammered his hips against the hole, his cock buried in her tight pussy. No way any of them would stop because I asked them to. The cock plunging into her pussy stopped suddenly and deep groaning sounded behind the wall. He was ejaculating inside my wife and I could do nothing about it. I didn't have room to yank her off his cock and out of the way. Our booth was too small. At least when he finished filling her and withdrew she had the sense to crouch, moving her dripping pussy away from the opening.

Another hard dick quickly poked through but Sofia was all about sucking the black cock now. That man lasted only a few minutes before the tapping came and the hot sperm shot. Sofia gulped him down too, adding his thick load to the massive one already filling her belly.

I unzipped. Sofia turned and sucked me in. A new erection replaced the black guy. Two cocks waved in open air as my wife worshipped my stiff dick, sucking and licking until I shot down her throat. She quickly adjusted her bra and shirt.

"Let's get out of here," she giggled, glancing at the two cocks awaiting her attention but abandoning them. "I could stay in this tiny room all day."

She tugged her panties up and I tucked my penis away. We ran for the exit, noting the small crowd gathered outside the video booths. We jumped in our car and I raced from the parking lot. My wife looked high, eyes and pupils big, expression wild.

"That was crazy!" she exclaimed.

I said nothing, checking the rearview mirror and aiming for home. Once she returned to Earth, Sofia freaked out.

"I let a stranger cum inside me!" she wailed. "I'm an idiot!"

She was inconsolable on the drive home. What she'd done at the church followed by what she'd done in that booth had her questioning her own sanity. We moved to the bedroom to change out of our Sunday church clothes and the moment she saw my naked penis she was on her knees sucking. I couldn't get hard again so soon but she sucked my dick and played with her pussy until she came.

"What's wrong with me?" she moaned, flopping onto our bed.

After that she shut down, engaging on no sex of any kind with anyone for three weeks. She took multiple pregnancy tests and constantly admonished herself for being so stupid and reckless. My upstanding proper Catholic wife was fine with Rodeo putting a baby in her but not some random stranger.

Chapter 13

Rodrigo "Rodeo" Martinez was not amused. Apparently, he'd never had to wait three weeks for anything. He called often, pushing Sofia to have sex again, angry when she refused. He threatened to withhold payment, he dangled a downtown hotel renovation worth twenty million, he threatened to involve his dad, a big-shot in Mexico City with political connections here in the States. Sofia didn't budge. I expected she'd be annoyed by his insistence but she wasn't. She was flattered. By the second week she got turned on each time he called and begged. It became a game. She was truly upset by what she'd done and fretfully waiting for her period, but she loved his relentless pursuit.

After the third week, her cycle arrived. Relieved and incredibly horny, when Rodeo called, she answered. On Saturday, I watched her prepare for her date, trimming pubic hair close, shaving legs, straightening her hair and dabbing dots of perfume around her body, including one on each inner thigh. It was hard to see the care she took, the anticipation she felt. She put a lot of thought into making herself as desirable as possible. She kissed my lips softly at the door and she was gone.

I knew what they were doing. I doubt they even went to dinner first. Most likely she drove directly to his penthouse. When I subtracted the time to get there, exchange a few pleasantries and perhaps drink a glass of wine, I could safely wager Rodeo was sliding his penis into her waiting mouth right about now. My dick tingled imagining it. I'd come a long way from our first days with Rodeo. I still felt the anguish and angst of her with another but now excitement filled me too. Sofia, my lovely bride, was a different woman, sexual and adventurous. Each hour I waited was pure mental anguish but my penis rose to erect and stayed there. I walked from the living room to the kitchen and back to the living room and my dick led the way like the prow of a ship. It felt good to be so hard. It felt good to hold an erection like that, like some young strapping stud. I'd play with it often as I moved around our house, teasing myself, building the tension, anticipating Sofia's return and my reclaiming of her.

By midnight I'd heard nothing. By two in the morning I was nervous. By four I was tired, my balls aching for release. He'd kept my wife all night. How many times had he filled her? I shivered and reached for my dick. Sofia would need rest when she got home, whenever that was, not another hard dick. I closed my eyes and stroked, blasting gobs of semen after only a few minutes.

I went to bed, my phone on the nightstand near my head.

Sofia got home at three the next afternoon.

I was furious, calling and texting. She explained she'd tucked her phone inside a pocket of her purse, worried Rodeo might see my number and wonder why a mere assistant was calling and texting so much. I demanded to know what happened. Her face softened, her eyes turned dreamy. She lifted her dress to show me her ass cheeks, still red from multiple handprints. I noted her clothing was ripped here and there.

"He ravaged me," she confessed. "I know that sounds like a cheap romance novel but there's no better explanation. From his doorstep, he grabbed my hair and pulled me inside. He wore only a robe, open, exposing his deep red erection. He looked like he'd been hard for hours, maybe days. My legs turned to rubber. He held my hair and tore my clothes off. I was a little scared but mostly excited. He wanted me so badly! He twisted my arm and forced me around, bending me over furniture or dragging me to the floor. He fucked me and you know I hate to use that word. He fucked me all over the penthouse. He fucked me on his balcony where neighbors could see and some did."

Her eyes were far-away, remembering.

"There's no man like him. There's no cock like his. I hate that I loved it so much but I can't lie, I did. Sometimes he was mean. At other times he was even cruel. I didn't care, Rick. He'd bury his dick in me and tug my hair until it hurt but all I could do was moan. His cock took control of my body. His cock took control of my mind."

She began removing her clothes. I noted the ruptured seams and ripped fabric. The man had literally torn her clothes from her body.

"You must be dying," she purred. "I'm sorry you had to go through that. I'm sorry I was gone for so long. We don't have rules about this stuff but I know that was wrong."

As her body came into view I saw the damage he'd done: bite marks covered her nape and back. Pink handprints covered her ass. Pink fingers circled her throat and would most likely bruise. I examined her like a bloodhound examines the ground chasing a convict. Her labia were red and swollen. Pearly semen leaked from her used cunt. Her nipples were still stiff from the night they'd had. Ravaged was exactly the right word. She followed my eyes as I scrutinized her, shame fanning the fires of her lust. She'd been a bad girl and loved that she'd been a bad girl. She reached trembling hands for my zipper.

"I never even sucked his cock," she murmured. "I tried, because I love sucking his cock, but he insisted that every drop got pumped into my pussy."

My pants slid down my legs. She shoved my underwear down too, freeing my rapidly growing penis. I was angry, hurt, scared, but she seemed about to suck me so all that got set aside.

"I bet you'd love to blend your stuff with his," she said, licking away a drop of precum from the tip of my dick. "He kept fucking me even after I was too sore. I had to take it though. I couldn't refuse his lust."

Her lips swaddled my head. She sucked gently, coaxing another drop.

"My thoughtful husband is another matter, though," she murmured. "He understands I'm too sore, too tender from Rodeo's big hard cock. My sweet husband will shoot his precious fluid down my throat and spare my aching pussy."

She was taunting, playfully, pushing the envelope. Would I be the loving husband or would I be the lusty bastard, fucking her raw cunt despite her pain? Rodeo had filled her womb. He'd had her all night and almost all day. Would I concede her womb to him? This was the dilemma my wife posed. Would my love for her overrule my lust? If I shot down her throat, the baby, if any, could only be his.

I groaned in frustrated agony. Sofia sank my first inches into her mouth, adding to my torture. I desperately wanted to pull out and ram my length into her uterus but I didn't, her mouth was too sweet and if I'm completely honest, a perverted part of me liked that she carried only his seed. I groaned again, torn apart. I needed to add mine to his. I had to! But I didn't. I allowed Sofia to suck my throbbing dick while she soaked in his juices. My wife was going to conceive with another man and I found myself powerless to stop it.

"I knew it," she murmured, withdrawing my penis for a moment. "That first night he had me and you ran around rock hard, I knew the idea thrilled you even if you couldn't admit it to yourself."

Her mouth was a furnace as she engulfed me again. I dared not release my load here. No! She twiddled my balls with her fingertips and sucked hard, daring me to cum. With a surge of pure willpower, I pulled my erection from her mouth. She looked impressed. My shiny penis waved in the open air. She grinned, rising to her feet and turning away from me. She bent at the waist, offering her well-fucked slit.

"It's okay, Baby," she purred. "I'll suffer for you. By the look in your eye and the throb of your dick, you'll only last seconds anyway. Cum where Rodeo came. Mix yours with his."

I stared at her vacant cunt. Rodeo seeped between her labia, milky drops clinging to her inner lips. All I had to do was step forward and push my dick in. There'd be no resistance. She was stretched and lubed. I'd fuck her through his semen and ejaculate inside just like he'd done over and over and over all night. Sofia thoughtful reached under and spread her pussy lips with two fingers. Her raw insides were bright pink.

"Oh God," I groaned.

Her cunt looked magnificent. Her cunt looked stunningly erotic. My wife had transformed in such a remarkably short time. Once conservative and demure, she now travels across the city in need of cock. She'd eagerly taken this cheating cunt to his place and handed it over. Shouldn't I hate her? Why did that make me want her more?

A dollop of semen oozed out of her hole.

"Do you want to fuck me?" she asked, her hatred of that word gone. "Or do you want to leave my messy pussy awash in his fluid for a whole night? Do you feel lucky, Baby? Will you roll those dice?"

"Turn around," I rasped, barely able to speak. "Turn around and open your mouth. Look me in the eyes."

My wife spun, delighted by my choice. Not that she wanted to have Rodeo's baby and not mine, but that this twisted, perverted situation we now lived thrilled her with its debauchery. A good girl couldn't get any worse. I stuffed my dick deep down her throat and held on as the powerful vacuum snapped into place around me. I moaned at my wife's hot, wet, sucking mouth. She pulled extra hard, given what my ejaculation would mean. Then she stunned me. She inserted a finger to her slippery pussy, coating it with Rodeo's semen, and pushed that digit up my ass! The dual sensations of her mouth and her finger rocked my world. Who knew my asshole could be so pleasurable? I tried to hold back but couldn't. Rodeo was dripping from my wife's fertile cunt and I was going to pump my seed into her stomach. Her tongue slithered along the underside of my dick and that was the last ounce of stimulation I could take. I exploded in orgasm, my mind filled with roaring colors and my penis spitting boiling lava. Her tongue whipped me and her finger pumped.

I yelled, bellowing like a skewered bull, crying out as my head filled with blinding white light. Sofia held me all the way in, milking my balls and forcing every drop to spurt.

I crashed against the back of the couch, barely remaining upright as she sucked fluid from deep in my balls. She was swallowing my load, keeping Rodeo's seed safe from my contamination. That fueled my climax, sending me soaring. Once she drained me like a succubus, Sofia pushed me to fall into a comfy chair. I was spent, destroyed, empty. My eyes closed and the world spun, my mind filled with a swirling white noise.

Chapter 14

The rougher he was, the more she liked it. His last payment cleared and she still drove to his place for hot sex. She continued seeing him and I continued playing gay, even hiring Rodney for a night again on a double date. Everything stayed all fun and games until one fateful night weeks later. We were showering together and Sofia needed to pee. She got out of the shower and thought why waste it and grabbed a pregnancy test from the countertop, releasing her stream. She set it aside and finished her business.

She stood, preparing to rejoin me in the shower, and glanced at the test. She stumbled, dropping both hands to the counter and leaning close.

"Holy shit," she muttered.

She held the test for me to see, her face already glowing, her smile already spreading. Positive. She was pregnant. By her expression I knew her first thought was a joyous: I'm a mother.

My first thought was: Mine or Rodeo's?

I kept that thought to myself here in our jubilant moment.

A week later we sat in the doctor's office.

"You're not having a baby," Doctor Jacobs said.

Sofia looked crestfallen.

"You're having two," he continued. "Fraternal twins. A boy and a girl."

He stood to shake my hand.

"Congratulations," he told me. "This is extremely rare. Sofia released two eggs and they were fertilized by two different sperm. Pardon my blunt language, but you must ejaculate in quarts. It's incredibly difficult for one sperm to survive in that hostile environment let alone two. You must release a lot of semen."

Sofia and I looked at each other. The same question was on both our minds. Fraternal twins. Maybe both were his. Maybe both were mine. Surprisingly, my mind shifted comfortably into one baby for each of us. That meant my wife carried another man's child but I wasn't despondent or mortified. I was strangely calm.

We stayed quiet until we reached the car but I watched her closely. Her reaction to the news told me a lot. Of course, she wanted me to be the father but what she wanted most was to be a mother.

"You got what you wanted," I said.

"I wanted a baby," she admitted.

"This was always your plan, your grand design."

"No," she said. "This was one of several possible outcomes. We wanted a baby. I wanted a baby. When I first started with Rodeo I thought you'd put your foot down and forbid it. I thought you'd take me to bed every night until you put a baby in me, just to keep me away from him. But that's not what happened. You retreated, gave him an opening, allowed me to go ahead. I was shocked but thrilled. Our routine life was suddenly wild and exciting. Best of all, you started fucking me more often. A lot more."

She looked at her lap, dropping a hand to rub her lower belly.

"That priest said I should trust God, that everything happens for a reason. I accepted that on faith. If God wanted us to have a baby, he'd give us a baby."

She turned her loving eyes to me.

"Rick, he gave us two. After so long. I know these babies are a gift from God. I'll tell myself you are the father because I believe God would grant us that. These babies are our babies."

She was so impassioned, happy and relieved. My heart warmed to see her this way. She glowed with joy.

"Will you tell him?"

"Of course."

"What if he wants rights? What if he wants a paternity test?"

My wife was shaking her head.

"No chance. Rodeo and I do talk you know, between lovemaking. It's not all bang-bang-bang when I go see him. He'll give me money if I need it but he wants nothing to do with raising children. He just likes making women pregnant. It gets him off. He says his dad is the same way with the women in Mexico. Rodeo has twenty-one half brothers and sisters. He said the Martinez men love to fuck beautiful women."

"You've changed your mind regarding that word."

She shrugged.

"Sometimes it's just the right word. Sometimes no other word will do. Like when I say fuck me, Rodeo, fuck me hard."

She giggled at my expression.

Chapter 15

Nine months. That's how long it took Sofia to get back in shape after the twins. She worked out hard, ate well, nursed the babes like crazy, and held herself to strict standards.

Now she waved goodbye to me as I stood on our doorstep holding the twins. She was on her way to the penthouse for the first time in a long time and she couldn't wait. I couldn't either. Our sex was much better when she was fucking Rodeo and we both missed that extra zing.

Last night she asked if I thought it was Rodeo or just her having sex with other men and after pondering a bit I said sex with any man would send my heart racing.

"Good," she'd said. "I'm going to fuck Rodeo one last time tomorrow night and after that I'm going to open my eyes to all the possibilities. We took this thing with Rodeo all the way to its conclusion and learned we are both fine with it. You're an amazing father. You don't care that one or both may not be yours. That was my last big concern and it turned out to be nothing."

She'd snuggled close then.

"I think you like the idea that he may have impregnated me," she finished.

I couldn't argue. A strange thing happened once we got the twins home and settled into a routine: the sight of them always reminds me of my secretly wild wife. My heart raced and my palms sweat. Rodeo may have cuckolded me in the truest sense of the word, but I wasn't mad about it. I was turned on.

End.

Join My Mailing List
Get a FREE Hotwife Story!

Follow My Twitter

Find me on: GoodReads

Talk to Me

BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com