

Matthew Lee

A Different Kind of Fast

A Hotwife Story

A Different Kind of Fast

By Matthew Lee

Chapter 1

"One-hundred-fifty hours community service," said Judge Dupree. Jane's pen dropped to the table. She glared at her attorney.

"You said a small fine, Kevin," she hissed.

"Yes, I did," her lawyer snapped back. "But that was before you opened your mouth and pissed off his Honor."

Jane leaned back in her chair, clearly upset. The judge noticed.

"Would the defendant care to comment before I make my verdict final?"

"No, your Honor," Jane said. She plucked her pen from the table.

"Wait," she said. "Yes, your Honor, I would. What kind of community service?"

"My bailiff will provide you a list. You may choose one of the four listed clinics and do your time there or visit all four and spread your talents around. I leave that to you. I've worked with each of the resident physicians. They'll have plenty for you to do."

"Your Honor, I'm a doctor. I'm needed elsewhere. You put patients at risk by removing me from my office, and may I just add that one-hundred-fifty hours of community service seems excessive?"

Jane's lawyer covered his head with both hands.

"You may not, Mrs. Roth," the judge snapped. "That attitude is precisely what landed you in my courtroom. This was your fourth speeding violation. You think some rules don't apply to you. Without intervention, you will inevitably harm someone, Mrs. Roth, possibly one of the very people on their way to see you. I'm not putting patients at risk. You are."

The judge sifted through loose papers.

"In the case notes I see you told one officer, and I quote: 'I'm a fast girl with things to do.' Is that correct?"

"Yes, your Honor, that's true."

"Well, enough. It matters not that you're a doctor, Mrs. Roth. More than you need to be somewhere, you need to slow down. I'm going to raise my original estimate and require two-hundred hours service. If I even hear of you in traffic court again, I promise you my penalty will be sever. Tell me you understand."

Jane hung her head. "I understand, your Honor."

The bailiff handed a sheet of paper to Jane's attorney and then instructed the room to rise. The gavel fell and the judge exited through a side door.

"Shit," Jane said.

"I told you to keep your mouth shut. Why hire me if you're going to do all the talking?"

Jane snatched the list away and scanned locations. "Three of these are on the bad side of town," she said. "What a pain in the ass. Vincent's going to laugh at me."

"Your husband will be happy someone finally got your attention. Stop driving so fast, Jane. Manage your time. Leave early."

"I'm too busy."

"Stop speeding or learn bus routes," her lawyer said. "I know this judge. He's not kidding. I'll call the clinic closest to your home and step up your visit."

"Thanks," Jane said.

Jane watched her lawyer pass through a low singing wooden gate. The courtroom was empty now so she sat and pulled her phone from her purse. She entered the clinic's address and searched the area on Google Maps: a better area of town but still not great. She pulled her Christian Dior purse closer.

"Ugh. No Starbucks either."

Robert Childs, a doctor she knew well and despised, ran the place. She opened her calendar app and began mentally filling dates and calculating time. Once she finished, she sighed.

Three months, give or take, and all under Bob's thumb. Terrific.

Chapter 2

"Sorry, Honey," Vincent said. "That sounds awful."

"It is," Jane whined. "Worst of all, Doctor Childs runs the place." She flopped into a dining room chair. "I can already see his smug face," she continued. "I'm sure the court will tell him why I'm there."

Vincent read the front of the sheet and then turned it over.

"Maybe he's softened in his old age."

"Ha. Doubtful."

Vincent slid the sheet across the table to his wife. "We might have a silver lining," he said. "Evan needs a doctor's approval to return to work. He could come see you at the clinic and save a ton of money. That sheet says most of the tests are free."

Jane pursed her lips the way she always does when she's thinking. "That's a great idea, Vinny. Money is tight right now for him. Call him. Let him know I'm happy to help."

Chapter 3

"Next," Jane called, bored.

Doctor Childs stepped into the examination room, shutting the door behind him. Jane controlled her face.

"Hello, Doctor Roth," he said.

"Doctor Childs."

"I understand you are only here because the court mandates your attendance, but at this facility we do not call out 'Next'. We are not sheering sheep. These are people with feelings."

"Of course, Robert. This is your clinic and I'll respect your rules. What would you like me to say?"

"May I see the next patient, please?"

Jane resisted the urge to roll her eyes. "Sure. No problem."

"Great."

After a moment of awkward silence Robert reached for the doorknob. "I'll send your next patient."

"Great," Jane said.

The next patient was an old indigent veteran. Jane ran her battery of tests, had a phlebotomist draw three vials, started a file on the man, and told him to come back in three weeks.

Her next patient was a homeless black woman and Jane went beyond the tests, calling local government services and getting the woman enrolled in a program and assigned a case worker.

One by one they came; old and young, every race, male and female. Everyone was poor. Jane examined each with an elevated level of care they would otherwise never receive. Late afternoon slowly became evening.

A knock at the door brought her head up from her notes. A nurse entered and told her this would be the last client of the day.

"Thank you, and thank you for all your help today. What's your name?"

"Ruby."

"You make Doctor Childs proud, Ruby."

The older Hispanic woman stood a little taller.

"Thank you, Doctor Jane. I'll get your patient and lock the front door behind him."

Jane returned to her notes. A soft knock made her look up.

The man was mid-thirties and Latino, taller than she and handsome. His hands and arms were dirty from a long day at work. There was a smudge of grease or oil on his cheek.

"Name?" she asked.

"Diego," he said, sizing up the small, white, sterile room and the woman in front of him. "Diego Garcia."

She searched his face to see if he was joking but saw he was not.

"Your parents have a sense of humor," she said. "That's a military base in the Indian Ocean."

"Okay."

He remained standing so she directed him to sit on the exam table.

"Remove your shoes and socks please," she said.

He quietly began untying his laces. Jane watched him while he was focused on his task. He had broad shoulder and thick arms from heavy labor. His dark eyes were big and kind and his hair black and slicked. His skin was darkened from the sun but looked smooth and warm. She wondered how his body looked.

"Quítate la camisa, por favor," she said. "Now your shirt."

She immediately wondered why she said it. She'd seen twenty other patients and never asked one to remove their shirt. She needed only two buttons undone for the stethoscope, took temperatures through the ear and blood pressure from an arm.

There is no reason for this man to take off his shirt, she reasoned, suppressing a grin. Except I want to see his body.

He undid the top three buttons and pulled the shirt over his head. He had little body hair but large pecs and lumpy abs.

I do love muscles.

Jane kept her reaction completely professional but felt her heart beat faster. She removed her surgical gloves. She warmed the stethoscope on her palm and then listened at his back, telling him to draw deep breaths. She took her time, her fingertips gliding across his smooth skin. Her breathing grew shallow. Her legs went weak.

"Stand please, and remove your pants."

I go too far, she thought.

Unsuspecting, Diego casually did as told, kicking the legs off and draping his pants across a nearby chair. He wore baggy boxers and Jane pretended to examine his knees.

"Any pain when you lift something heavy?" she asked.

He stuck out a bottom lip. "No. Not really."

Jane wiped her sweaty palms on her lab coat. The man was good-looking but there was something else about him, a vulnerability that slipped through her defenses. She stood and tested his pupil response but that was just an excuse to see his handsome face again. There was nothing wrong with him. He was as strong and healthy as a horse. After five seconds, she heard herself say: "All right, let's get those boxers off."

Diego did not hesitate. He pinched fabric in each hand and tugged.

Jane snorted. She tried not to but it slipped out. Diego had an immense penis, forced forward by large balls resting on his thick thighs. He was uncircumcised but the narrow foreskin left most of the head exposed. His cock was slightly darker than the rest of him, wide at the base and tapering to a pudgy head. Jane couldn't take her eyes away from all those inches of smooth skin.

Vincent is big, she thought, but this man is bigger.

Diego tossed his boxers on his pants and stood straight, staring ahead like ex-military. Jane's hands were trembling.

"I need to check for lumps," she lied.

Her training kicked in and her mind shouted to put on fresh surgical gloves but she didn't. She wanted to feel his smooth warm skin. She slipped one hand under his hanging shaft and lifted, cupping his large scrotum with the other. She lowered her head to see him up close.

This thing looks like it weighs three pounds, she thought. Maybe four.

His balls, like the rest of him, had little hair. She rolled them around, pretending to search for anything suspicious, marveling at the size of the damn things. She turned her attention to the shaft, pinching the tip and holding him vertical, pulling the loose skin down to expose the flared pink head. Life pulsed under the skin, life and power.

Her prolonged touch had a predictable effect and Diego began to swell slightly. Her heart raced. Veins rose along the shaft and the head expanded.

I am way across the line, she thought. I need to end this ridiculous violation of ethical behavior. What the Hell is wrong with me?

She continued her charade, adding a contemplative murmur before squeezing his spongy shaft several times and easing him back to pointing at the floor.

"Looks great," she said. "You can get dressed."

Diego reached for his boxers.

"I'll have some blood drawn and run a few additional tests."

"Okay."

Diego turned his back to pull on his pants and Jane watched him move, muscles bunching under chestnut skin. He had a physical presence beyond his physique and Jane could not understand why.

He's like a warrior, she thought. He has the confidence of a seasoned gladiator.

When he began on his shoes, Jane again watched his handsome face. He had kind eyes and a calm self-confidence. She felt strangely drawn to him. She felt the urge to reach out and touch him again. He finished dressing and she used the intercom to call Ruby's desk, asking for the phlebotomist. Ruby said she'd send them back.

"I'm going to go but someone will be right with you," she said. "I'll see you again in a few weeks."

He said nothing but nodded slowly and their eyes met briefly. Her stomach flipped and her body temperature shot skyward. He was unreadable but that only made her want to touch him more.

What the hell, girl? She thought. Stop.

She collected her personal items and left the room.

Chapter 4

Her days at the clinic were long. Jane started each morning at her own practice and then drove across town to complete her hours at Robert's. She got home late each night, bone-tired and hungry, but at least she obeyed speed limits now.

To cover what she'd done with Diego, she began examining more men the same way. Nobody had a body like his so she zipped through the process without fondling any penises. There were a couple of handsome guys and she enjoyed making them get naked, but never felt that same rush.

No one knows me here and I'll never see these people again. Why not make this at least a little fun?

She knew, in part, resentment at being forced to perform this task fueled her behavior. Ruby walked in on her once but Jane was scrutinizing a large mole on a man's back so she quickly apologized and backed out. The week ended without incident.

Saturday, Evan came to visit with his new girlfriend, Andrea, and her five-year-old son, Tommy. Jane and Vincent opened the backyard for a barbecue and, as usual, neighbors joined, allowing the kids to play on the connected yards.

Evan introduced Vincent and Jane to Andrea as Shooter and Patch.

"Why call them that?" Andrea asked.

"Vincent's a cop," Evan said. "And Jane's a doctor. I've been teasing them for years that Vinny puts holes in people that Jane must fix; Shooter and Patch."

"Cute," Andrea sneered.

"I like her," Jane said.

"You ever shot anyone, Vincent?" Andrea asked.

"I've never drawn my gun."

Jane and Andrea chuckled.

"Evan," Jane said. "Vinny says you need a doctor to sign off on a full physical to return to work. I'm volunteering at doctor Childs' clinic in the evenings. Come by and I'll give you the exam and sign off on your paperwork. Just don't mention we're friends."

Evan's face lit up. "That would be awesome," he said. "The insurance company is worried about my exposure to that chemical spill a few weeks back. I feel fine but they're taking no chances. I can see you Monday night. What time?"

"I'll text you the address. Make it around seven. We slow down then."

The party continued and Vincent took Andrea around to introduce her to friends and neighbors. Evan stayed with Jane.

"She's cute," Jane said, watching her husband walk away with Andrea.

"She's amazing," Evan replied. "Smart, funny, gorgeous, and has a thing for firemen."

"I'm happy for you."

"I'm happy for you," Evan said. "You and Vinny have it all; money, careers, marital bliss. How long have you guys been married now?"

"We celebrated eleven years last month."

"That's terrific. I hope I can find someone like that."

"Maybe Andrea?"

"Maybe," Evan said, watching his girlfriend shake hands with a neighbor. "She's got an asshole ex who still causes her problems. I'd be happy to end up with even half of what you and Vincent have."

Jane followed his gaze. Her husband stood by while Andrea talked to a neighbor and Jane felt a wave of love wash over her.

I am lucky. Vincent and I share everything. He's loving and kind and generous. I could probably tell him what I did with Diego and he wouldn't get mad. He's so confident he'd just talk to me about why I did it.

Lust for her husband rose suddenly and she looked away, watching kids play tag on the lawn.

I'm horny, she thought. Why is that happening so much lately?

Chapter 5

Jane watched the clock. She'd had a light day at her office but her time at the clinic made up for it. She'd been swamped from the moment she arrived. She finished with her current patient and checked in with Ruby.

"I put a gentleman in room three," Ruby said. "I think he's a fireman."

"Thanks."

Jane knocked on the door, waited, entered after a voice told her to. She shut the door behind her. Evan sat on the exam table, smiling.

"Stop smiling," Jane teased. "We're supposed to be strangers."

"Oh yeah."

Jane zipped through the insurance questionnaire and then took his blood pressure and temperature, noticing, for the first time, what great shape the man was in.

I am definitely ovulating, she thought. Every muscular guy is turning me on.

She noted the required tests and was calculating how many vials of blood she'd need drawn when she heard her mouth say: "Take off your shirt."

Certain this was all part of the normal routine, Evan stood and got to work on his buttons. Jane scribbled notes on her clipboard but watched him from the corner of her eye. He was muscular like Diego but Evan's chest was hairy. She noted a large burn scar on his left shoulder and remembered that terrifying day years ago when she and Vincent thought they might lose their best friend. Her eyes traveled his strong body.

"Is that the carpet warehouse fire?" she asked.

"Yeah."

Evan draped his shirt across the table and stood tall. Jane began examining his skin, starting with the scar. She scanned his back, scribbling notes on the form, pretending to check moles. Evan waited patiently.

I want a good look at his body, she thought. I'll leave him in his underwear and tease him about it later. We'll all get a good laugh at his expense.

"Shoes and pants, too," she said, trying to sound nonchalant.

Evan tensed for a moment but then turned his back to comply. Jane added notes to the sheet, acting as matter-of-fact as possible. She heard his belt buckle jangle softly like a windchime. His pants hit the table on top of his shirt and Jane turned to face him.

Evan was nude. He'd worn no underwear this day and his cock and balls were every bit as big as Diego's, although circumcised and much lighter skinned. Jane stared for a full two seconds, realizing, despite all the years of their friendship, she'd never so much as seen Evan with his shirt off.

That scar shames him, she realized.

His gorgeous cock was fat and veiny and looked like it might grow as thick as her wrist. His muscular body was hairy and manly. For the first time, she saw him as a man and not a family friend, helped, she knew, by her recent encounter with Diego.

Evan knew he must not speak to her with any familiarity so he offered no explanation for going commando today. Jane knew she must behave as if this happened with every examination she gave so she collected herself and moved on. The air was heavy with tension which neither person acknowledged. Jane wrestled with what to do next. She'd eagerly taken Diego into her hands because she wanted to feel the heat and weight of him. Evan was a different story.

If I put my hands on Evan, it may come up later and I'll need to say I do that routinely. Vinny may not like that.

It took her a second to decide. As before, she pinched the head and lifted the shaft. Evan jumped at her touch but maintained his composure. Jane lifted and examined the shaft, moving the skin around. Too late, she realized she'd forgotten to put gloves on. With one hand, she held his shaft against his lower belly and with the other hefted his scrotum and closely investigated his testicles.

Her effect on him was swift and profound. Diego had swollen only partially. Evan grew rapidly. Veins and arteries rose and the large head expanded. Soon he lifted out of her palm on his own. He curled until pointing towards the overhead lights and darkened, his fat head purple.

"I'm so sorry," Evan said.

"Happens all the time," Jane said, trying to cover.

Evan stared straight ahead and Jane continued her exam.

That, she thought, is a beautiful cock. Lucky Andrea.

She gripped him around the base and squeezed, and then moved towards the head an inch and did it again. She repeated her bogus test until she reached the crown.

"Excellent," she murmured, scratching notes on her clipboard.

A large, cloudy dollop oozed from the tip and rested there a moment before sliding off and moving down the shaft. Jane stared, fascinated. Another formed behind the first and followed the silver trail until merging. The new, larger glob headed for his balls. Evan's fireman training kept him under control, eyes rigidly forward. Another globule leaked and followed the others. His impressive erection pulsed.

That is so hot, Jane thought. I am going to fuck Vincent unconscious tonight. I had no idea I affected Evan this way. Does he secretly have the hots for me? He's never even flirted.

She moved behind him and gawked at his firm ass and broad back.

"All right," she chirped. "I think I have all I need to complete this paperwork. Get dressed and wait here. I'll send someone to draw blood for our final tests."

"Thank you," Evan muttered.

Jane took one last lingering look at Evan's drooling erection and then stepped outside the room and headed for Ruby's desk. Ruby told her she had a final patient in room seven.

Chapter 6

"How well do you know Evan?" Jane asked.

Vincent stuck his toes above water and slid his butt around the curve of the hot tub. When his leg bumped Jane, he sat.

"We were both five years old. We went through grade school and high school and college together. I know him better than my brother. Why?"

"Ever seen him naked?"

Vincent stared at the swirling suds, searching his memory. "No, now that you ask. Why? Have you?"

"Yes."

Vincent laughed out loud. "Because of his physical? That's hilarious. I'm going to give him so much shit."

"Please don't. I'm telling you because you're my husband but he is my patient and that confidentiality must be maintained. I'd prefer he never know I violated it."

Vincent chuckled again. "All right, fair enough. Did you see that nasty scar?"

"I did. I saw the scar and a lot more."

Vincent looked up from the foaming waters. "Oh."

"Yeah. He has a nice muscular body like you but he's hairy and bulky. He has a large penis too but even bigger."

"No shit?"

"No shit."

Vincent arched his back so his hips floated to the surface. His large cock bobbed in front of Jane.

"How much bigger?" he asked.

Jane playfully grabbed her husband's dick and stretched him vertical. Vincent winced and laughed. Jane held her free hand about an inch above her husband's penis.

"He's maybe only an inch longer but he was thick. I mean thick." She made the letter C with her hand, an inch and a half gap between her fingertips. "Like that big around."

"Damn," Vincent said, gazing at her hand. "My boy's a bull."

"Yes, he is."

Vincent sensed Jane was holding something back. "Was that soft or did he get hard?"

Jane met her husband's eyes. "He got hard, Honey. Really hard. Embarrassed the shit out of himself."

Vincent slipped a hand under the water to cup Jane's full breast. "Can't say I blame him."

"You're not mad?"

"No. Why should I be? It was just an exam, right? I trust you both. In fact, I more than trust you. I'm sure he's mortified by his reaction."

I more than trust you? She wondered. What does that mean?

"Another reason to keep this between us," she said.

She leaned into Vincent's hand fondling her tit.

"I admit I wondered what sex was like for Andrea," she continued. "Maybe I'll coax that from her when we see them at your parents'."

"Why are we going to my parents'?"

"Thanksgiving, ding-dong."

"Holy shit time flies." He thought for a moment. "Evan will be here tomorrow for the game. You can ask then."

"He's coming alone."

"Riiiiight. You want to talk to Andrea."

"Exactly. Never ask a man how things are for a woman. You guys always exaggerate."

Vincent chuckled. "No argument from me. Every ten-sixteen I get the male has some fucked up version of events."

He moved his hand to Jane's other breast and continued his caresses. He was beginning to stiffen and she noticed.

"That's it? I tell you about Evan and you don't care? I'm pleasantly surprised you are handling this so well but I was sure you'd get upset. Most men would get angry if their wife saw another man's penis, especially if she touched it."

Vincent grinned. "I love Evan and I love you. You're a sexy, intelligent woman with a rockin bod. It'd be weird if Evan didn't get turned on when you played with his dick."

Jane splashed water at her husband. "I wasn't playing with it. I was checking for testicular cancer growth."

Vincent floated closer and kissed her cheek.

"Why ask Andrea?" he said. "You wonder about sex with a big dick?"

"No, I already know what that's like. I get that with you. I suspect Evan hurts Andrea. This is woman to woman."

Jane felt Vinny inflate a little. She lifted his swelling penis above the water.

"What's this about, mister?"

Vincent smiled broadly. "I love it when you do sexy shit."

"Talking to Andrea about Evan is sexy?"

"Yeah."

She had questions but he was growing and that took priority. She pulled him closer and steered his dick into her mouth. Vincent rested the back of his head on the edge of the tub and lifted his hips. He held Jane's face in his hands to guide her hot mouth. Her lips closed around the head and she sucked hard on her husband's cock, surprisingly horny.

"Jesus," he groaned.

The sensation was intense and he got hard fast, forcing Jane to take less and less. He liked that his wife and best friend had shared a moment like that. He imagined Jane staring at Evan's erection and blood rushed to his dick. Jane moaned. He slow-fucked his wife's mouth a while before speaking.

"What if Andrea says it's amazing? What if she says it's the most fantastic sex she's ever had?"

Jane let him slip out momentarily. "I'll congratulate her."

She started sucking again but Vincent wasn't ready to let it go.

"You like mine because it's big," he said. "You've said so many times over the years."

"Big is nice," she admitted.

"So Evan's probably feels better than mine."

"Maybe. Or maybe it's incredibly uncomfortable. I'll talk to Andrea and find out. Now shut up and let me suck."

He let her go for a minute but his curiosity vexed him. An idea had taken root. He pulled his dick from her mouth and turned her chin to face him.

"Maybe you should find out for yourself?" he suggested.

She told herself this was just sex talk but Vincent had a serious look in his eyes. She waited for him to break into laughter but he didn't.

"Did you just imply I fuck Evan?"

"No," he said, guiding her mouth back to work. "I suggested you fuck a cock bigger than mine. It doesn't have to be attached to Evan, although now that we know what he has, he's awfully convenient."

Jane couldn't tell how much was bullshit and how much he meant so she ignored him and finished the job she started. Several times that night she considered asking Vincent to clarify his comments but shied away each time. Not because she worried he was joking but because she worried he was not.

Chapter 7

"You look stressed," Alice said.

Jane looked up from her desk. "I so am. I haven't worked this many hours since my internship. Tonight is my first night off and I'm thinking of driving straight home and going to bed."

Alice circled behind Jane and began rubbing her shoulders.

"I'll tell you what my ninety-five-year-old Korean grandmother always told me: 'You wake up with what you took to bed.' It sounds better in Korean. Basically, she says handle the problem or it will sit and wait for you. She took care of business."

"How did she accomplish that?"

"Whiskey and a pistol, usually."

Both women chuckled.

"But she said it was also a warning that the men I took home at night would still be there in the morning, so make sure they were all cute. That advice got me through college."

Jane chuckled again. "You ever think about going back? Turning your nursing degree into a doctorate?"

"No, I'm happy where I am. I see all the bullshit you deal with. I'll remain your head nurse, run your office, make sure our team is the best it can be, and then go home and sleep soundly every night."

"That sounds delightful."

Alice stopped rubbing for a moment. "We should go out for a drink. I know a fun little club nearby. No husbands. Just me and you."

Jane surveyed all the loose paperwork across her desk and then realized a break in her hectic routine sounded great.

"I'll call Vincent and let him know. Thanks, Alice."

"You're welcome."

Jane watched Alice head for the front desk and spotted a flash of her tramp-stamp tattoo just below her smock.

Our public face never matches our private face, Jane thought.
Everyone carries secrets.

She grabbed her phone and called Vincent. They set the thermostat, killed the lights, set the alarm, and locked the doors.

The club was small but swanky and modern. Alice knew the bouncer, the bartender, the waitress, and even the owner. She introduced Jane all around. They placed their drink orders and Alice added several shots.

"You're going to sleep well tonight," she teased.

They talked nonstop for an hour and the waitress kept the drinks flowing.

"I'm surprised your husband lets you come out like this," Jane said.

"Why? Because I'm Korean?"

"Partially, yes. You're always so conservative around the office. I naturally thought that extended to every part of your life."

"That makes sense but yeah, no, not at all."

"I guess that explains the tattoo."

Alice laughed, feeling the alcohol. She leaned closer. "I got that tat after a threesome in Hawaii."

"Seriously? Some college boyfriend and another girl?"

Alice leaned back shaking her head. "Just before I came to work for you."

"You were already married then."

"Yes, I was. It was me and two men, neither of them my husband."

Jane was shocked. "Alice!" she giggled. "Jezebel!"

"You have no idea, Jane." She leaned close again. "I know you can keep secrets so I'll tell you the truth, something very few people know about me: my husband and I swing. He was there and it was glorious."

"He was in Hawaii with you?"

"He was in the room with me."

Jane looked aghast.

Alice nodded. "It was hot. Do you know what a DP is?"

"I do."

"I had one man in my pussy and one up my ass when I climaxed. I died from pleasure. Have you ever done that?"

"No," Jane admitted. "Nothing like that. I've never been with two men at the same time. I've never tried anal sex. Vincent is too big. I'm afraid he'd hurt me."

"If the man doesn't know what he's doing, you're right to be afraid. These guys did. They orgasmed right after me. Once they left our hotel room I gave my husband a blowjob and we fell asleep. I was exhausted."

"I can't believe you're telling me this. I never would have guessed this about you. The way you keep the girls in line I thought you were no fun at all."

"That's how I like it. No one suspects a thing. A few close friends know but that's all. Now you know too."

"You can trust me."

They fell quiet for a time, contemplating, and then Jane's curiosity flared.

"How does that work? What kind of rules do you have with your husband? Did he find the men for you?"

"No, I did."

"wouldn't that make him jealous? I thought if he picked them out he could at least have some say in the matter. He leaves it up to you?"

"Yes." Alice scanned the bar which was considerably busier than when they arrived. "See that man in the corner? In the blue suit?"

"Yeah."

"If I wanted him and he wanted me, I could fuck him and tell my husband about it later. My husband lets me do anything I want. All I must do is tell him everything. Once I get home I share the details while we fuck."

"Wow." Jane sized-up Blue Suit. "Do you want him?"

Alice studied the man until he caught her looking. She smiled and did not look away. "I think I might."

Jane felt her heart skip a beat. "This is wild," she said. "If you want, I'd love to see how it's done."

Alice sprouted a wicked grin and downed the last of her vodka. She loosened the top two buttons of her silky blouse. "How do I look?"

"Cute," Jane said. "Sexy and cute."

"Good enough," Alice chuckled. "Men are so easy."

Alice turned to look for the waitress but when her eyes met the man again, she let them linger. That was all it took. She rose to walk to the restroom and the man followed.

Jane was amazed. She appraised Alice in a new light: petite, small-breasted but great ass and pretty face. Jane saw Alice as a man might.

She's sexy, Jane realized. Small breasts but a nice body. I never noticed.

The man intercepted Alice and they leaned near a sculpture, talking. After a minute, the man kissed Alice.

Jane felt her body temperature soar, her eyes bulge. Alice returned the kiss and soon slipped a discrete hand down to tap the man's bulge.

So easy! Jane was dumbfounded.

A moment later Alice waved Jane over.

"I want to take him into the ladies' room," Alice said. "Will you stand guard?"

"Sure," Jane stammered.

Alice led the man down a short hallway and told him to wait outside. After a quick scan of the restroom, she waved both forward. In the bathroom, Alice and the man kissed again and then Alice shoved him into a stall. Before the door closed, Jane saw Alice pull the man's dick out and start sucking.

Unbelievable. Jane put her back to the stall door but no one came in. Loud slurps and moans, followed by soft gasps, filled the tiled room. Jane stole a glance between the metal walls and saw a hairy penis thrusting between Alice's pretty lips.

Will she fuck him? A powerful surge of lusty excitement washed over Jane. This is so animal, so urgent and primal. People live like this?

Before too long, a deep male groan followed by several throaty grunts and a gag told Jane that Alice was busy swallowing a hot load. Her head spun. She never imagined her lead nurse capable of such immodest behavior.

But I recently held Diego's cock in my hand, so who am I to judge? Apparently, everyone lives a secret life.

The man grunted again and then sighed deeply. Alice giggled, muffled like she had something in her mouth.

Jane shook her head. It's too bad we can't be who we are and let others make choices based on truth.

The stall door opened and the man quickly exited, avoiding eye contact. Jane let him pass and then stepped in the stall. Alice wiped sperm from her face while stuffing her small tits into her bra. The two women froze for an instant and then burst out laughing.

"What the hell?" Jane laughed. "I can't believe you did that!"

"I always get too excited," Alice confessed. "I was going to make out with him to shock you but got carried away. I love dick."

They laughed loudly, and then laughed again. Back at their table they ordered drinks and composed themselves. Blue suit was long gone. Their waitress knew something was up but let it slide.

"You are wild," Jane said. "I haven't laughed that hard in a long time."

Their conversation slowly returned to married life and work but at the back of Jane's mind lurked a thought.

Alice has been honest. Maybe I should tell her about Diego and Evan.

Another round came and the topics shifted to college and relationships. Time passed. Drinks disappeared. Jane felt the stress leaving her body.

"Listen," she heard herself say. She placed her hand on top of Alice's. "You've been open with me so I'll be open with you. I need someone to talk to and I think you're the perfect person. I told you about the community service the court is forcing me to perform but I didn't tell you the things I've done there."

Alice was instantly interested.

Jane narrated her experiences, starting with Diego and concluding with Evan. Then she told Alice everything her husband had said that night in the hot tub. When Jane finished, Alice raised a toast to sharing truths and both ladies threw down some vodka.

"You should fuck him," Alice said. "Evan, I mean. You should have a threesome with him and your husband. What's the harm? Your hubby practically told you he likes the idea and if it turns out you both hate it, simply never do it again. Your friendship with Evan is solid. Guys are so practical about these things. Show Vincent he's your man no matter what and the guys will abide by your decision. They handle hierarchy so much better than us. You can fuck Evan and then cuddle Vincent and all will be well. They leave the choice to us."

Jane imagined herself in bed with Vincent and Evan; manly muscles everywhere, penises flopping and swinging, handsome faces for kissing, firm asses for grabbing. A shiver ran up her back. Alice saw it.

"Pretty great idea, huh?"

Jane gulped more vodka. "It is. I'd lose my mind." She got quiet for a minute. "I think I must be going through something. Like a crisis of some kind. I've never done anything like I did with Diego. I'm horny all the time lately."

"You're of that age," Alice said.

"What age?"

"Your sexual peak. Guys hit theirs around eighteen. We hit ours between thirty and forty. Trust me. I'm older and I know what I'm talking about."

Jane stared at her gleaming wedding ring. "Two men at the same time?"

"Try it," Alice said. "Trust me on that one too. Let me know how it goes."

Chapter 8

"Weren't you just here a week ago?" Jane asked.

Clive Raymond Jones the Third gave her an impish grin. "Yeah."
"Then why are you back already?"

Clive's face turned hopeful and he began removing his clothes. "I wanted another exam like you gave me last time."

Oh boy, thought Jane. What have I done?

The man was at least sixty, black, wrinkled, and short. A circle of hair remained around the back of his head, long ago turned gray.

His shirt hit the chair, exposing a shriveled chest covered with scruffy white hair. Belt buckle, jeans, underwear; Jane did nothing to stop him. She carefully pressed the center button on the doorknob, locking others out.

Clive stood tall, shrunken black penis resting atop withered balls.

Jane remembered the man and his exam. He'd been one she'd added just to make her extracurricular exams common. He'd gotten a little excited so she'd cut the exam short but apparently, she'd given him enough of a thrill he was back for more. She met his gaze and saw how badly he needed this. She sat her clipboard on the chair.

"Don't hold back," she said, curling her thumb and two fingers around his small penis. "Do you understand? When it gets here let it fly." She stretched him and stroked and stretched him again. His eye grew large and he nodded rapidly.

"Yes ma'am."

"Move over here," she instructed, tugging him towards the sink.

He shuffled a few steps until his penis hung over the edge. Jane stroked faster and once he grew some, curled another finger around his cock. She jerked him fast, black balls bouncing, amazed at herself. Clive could not hold back. His gaze was riveted to the delicate white hand holding him; perfect manicure, perfect pastel pink nails. Her wedding ring sparkled as she yanked his cock and the sight was too much for him to bear. Clive clamped his jaw. The first blast of pure white milk hit the metal sink with a clunk. His next jet was even more powerful and added a tablespoon of sperm to the batch running down the stainless-steel wall. Between spurts he poured over Jane's knuckles, splashed across her diamond, dripped from her fingers. She marveled at the deluge of cum boiling out of the man, wondering how long since his last orgasm. She kept stroking as he kept shooting. A puddle of cloudy semen formed at the bottom of the sink before trickling down the drain.

Finally, Clive's legs began to give out.

"Ain't so young no more," he snickered.

He squeezed out the last drops and Jane milked those too. When his black penis wilted, she draped him on the edge and turned on the hot water. She took a paper towel for herself and handed him one too.

"Time to go," she said, smiling.

He understood and dressed quickly. She finished the paperwork and carefully opened the door, taking care to avoid popping the lock. She called Ruby and said she was ready for the next client. Three more times that night she emptied balls down the clinic's sink, trusting only those she knew would keep their mouth shut or no one would believe anyway.

When she got home that night, she attacked Vincent, fucking him on the couch where he lay watching Sportscenter. He paused the television as she came through the door and never got back to it, but he did not mind.

From the couch, they moved to the bed and shared the details of their day.

"Why were you so horny?" Vincent asked.

Jane was ready. "The clinic gets a lot of good looking guys...ethnic guys...workers with nice bodies. Plus, we've been too busy and haven't had sex for a while. It was all right I jumped you, wasn't it?"

"Always."

They lay in silence in the dark, Jane guilty for her lies, Vincent, anxious for the questions he truly wanted to ask. Since the day she'd mentioned it, he could not get over the image of Jane touching Evan's dick. He knew about cuckold husbands and had shared a good laugh with other officers whenever a love-triangle gone wrong revealed one. He'd never imagined the label might someday apply to him. He considered himself far too A-type personality to hand his wife to another man, but Evan was far more than just some other man. Because it was Evan, Vincent's protective instinct never kicked in. Evan was the only other man she would be perfectly safe around, and that allowed the idea to slip through natural defenses.

"I can hear your brain racing a million miles an hour," Jane said. "I think I might even smell smoke."

Vincent sighed.

"Tell me, Baby," Jane said. "You can tell me anything. What's wrong? Did you see something horrible at work?"

Vincent chewed on the thought a long time, unsure how to say what he felt, or if he even should. "No, nothing bad from work. Not this time."

"What then, Baby?"

Vincent rolled on his side to face her. "How would you feel about trying new things?"

Jane instantly knew where he was headed.

"You're thinking about Evan."

Vincent's mouth went dry. "Yes."

Jane took her husband's hand. This had to be a difficult conversation and she wanted him to feel supported. If he'd said this a month ago she'd have been shocked and flatly refused, but a lot had changed. She pictured herself, again, in bed with both men. From the eighth grade her life had been too busy to allow such daydreams. Schooling and, later, career building had occupied every minute. Unlike her friends, she'd never ventured outside conventional norms.

Suddenly aware she'd taken too long to answer, she squeezed Vincent's hand. There were so many things to say, so many questions to ask. She sifted through, gauging her feelings and even remembering what Alice had advised.

"I'm not against the idea," she said and felt him relax a little. "It could be a huge complication or it could be nothing at all. We don't get to know in advance. We only gain that understanding by doing first and then reflecting."

"Agreed."

"I don't want to be the rain on the parade but why? Why would we make such a change? Are you bored with me?"

"No! Not at all. I don't need to be sad before I visit Disneyland. I'm blissfully happy but of course I still want more. Some places you go because of what they add on top of your amazing life."

That's true, she thought.

She was conflicted but curious too. She wrestled with her thoughts for several moments, trying to gain a perspective she knew was out of reach. At last she accepted she could not solve this puzzle with her brain.

"Would he wear a condom?" she asked.

Vincent's body went rigid. To him, she was already saying yes.

"I'd prefer he didn't," Vincent said. "We know him. He's tested at the department twice a year. He's slept with three women his whole life. Did your exam find anything? Other than an impressive penis?"

Jane giggled and the tension drained.

"No," she said. "He is drug and disease free."

"As I suspected."

"All I found was that impressive penis."

"I got it."

"And huge pecs and a perfect ass."

"All right, that's enough."

"And six-pack abs."

Vincent rolled on top of his wife, kissing her softly. She returned his kisses. Neither spoke, minds whirling with the path before them.

"You set everything up," she said. "If there are rules I should know, make sure you tell me what they are, otherwise I'm just going to follow my gut. I hope we don't regret this."

Vincent kissed her again and she felt him rising along her thigh.

"That's interesting," she teased. "Didn't you just orgasm, Mr. Roth?"

"Yes, I did, Mrs. Roth."

"Fascinating. It's like you find this idea terribly exciting."

"Isn't it? I guess my true feelings are revealed."

She reached down to guide him in, trying to remember the last time they went twice in one night.

Chapter 9

"Please pass the gravy," Jane said.

Andrea lifted the boat and moved it down the line.

Everyone was there: all Vincent's brothers and sister and their wives and husbands. Kids and grandkids sat at a nearby table. Along with family, neighborhood friends like Evan and work friends were present too. The Annual Roth Family Thanksgiving Feast was not to be missed.

Vincent's parents, Claudia and Ron, traditionally held the dinner in the family room, and this year was no exception. The table seated twenty. Festive decorations covered the walls and the grandkids holiday art projects lined the center of the table. Popsicle turkeys and pilgrim dolls colored with crayon stared back at the seated guests. A hearth large enough to stand in had a massive fire blazing, a check on the winter storm outside.

Vincent watched Jane's face as the gravy arrived. Claudia had decided on seating with husbands and wives or boyfriends and girlfriends across from each other. Evan sat next to Jane and Vincent saw the tension in her body. Now that they knew his secret, Evan was a constant source of fantasy for them. Nothing had happened with him but he had worked his way into the hot-talk Vincent and Jane shared when the sex got hot and heavy. Vincent had discovered his wife could be brought to towering orgasms with the right mix of fantasy and reality.

Evan took the dish and passed it to Jane and for a brief moment their fingers touched. Hardly noted by Evan but Vincent saw his wife flush red across her throat.

"Thanks, Evan," she said, trying to sound casual.

She wants him, Vincent thought. Badly.

He felt a special kind of excitement to conduct such a tawdry affair under his parents' roof. Jane glanced to see if he'd noticed and the flush returned. She gave him a look that said take me to bed but that would have to wait. Vincent smiled knowingly.

Dinner conversation flowed smoothly; Vincent shared stories about life as a cop and Jane offered the occasional medical anecdote too. Evan talked about life as a fireman and Andrea bragged about her son, Tommy, and how well he did in school. Everyone shared the spotlight and everyone genuinely cared about the success of family and friends. They had much to be thankful for and knew it. The entire time they talked Vincent caught Jane glancing sideways at Evan, often down to his lap, and every time a zap of electricity got him.

Andrea asked Evan to keep an eye on Tommy while she stepped outside for a cigarette. Jane said she'd go with her for some fresh mountain air. They left the porch and wandered down a gravel road, away from the house and the lights. The night was clear and crisp and cold. They walked around the bend until the redwoods blocked the view of the house.

"What a lovely place," Andrea said.

"No argument from me," Jane said. "Aren't Claudia and Ron wonderful? Two of the loveliest people you'll ever meet. They hardly know you but you're with Evan so you're cared for no questions asked. "

"I'm learning everyone loves Evan."

"That's true. Especially my husband. They were five years old when they first became friends. They're tighter than brothers."

"Which is funny because cops and firemen have this ancient rivalry."

"Men."

Both women nodded their heads as they walked.

"Tommy is a handsome boy," Jane said.

"He is. Did not get that from his father, though. Tommy just completed a commercial for Whole Foods and they told me to get him an agent. He's like the one good thing I've done with my life."

"That's a great good thing," Jane said.

"No kids for you and Vincent?"

"Maybe, but probably not. Careers."

They continued along the road, boots crunching.

"Any more kids for you?" Jane asked.

Andrea stopped briefly to glance back at the house, or where it would be if they could see it. "You mean with Evan?"

"I think that would be wonderful."

"Yeah, I think you're right. He's great with Tommy." She paused in the road and lowered her voice. "If I'm going to have a kid with Evan I better get used to that freight train of his."

"What do you mean?"

Andrea lowered her voice a little more. "He's packin'."

Jane gave her a blank stare.

"He's hung," Andrea explained. "I figured you knew with him and Vincent being best friends."

"Vinny never mentioned it."

"Then let me educate you; Evan's big. Like, really big. Biggest I've had and there have been enough to make me blush."

Jane held up her hands. "My husband's about like that," she said. "Is Evan bigger?"

Andrea took Jane's hands and pulled them another two inches apart. "Your man's above average, I'll give you that, but Evan's bigger, and thick too." She reached into a shirt pocket for her cigarettes, lit one. "Aren't we lucky girls?" Andrea joked.

"It's a good problem to have."

They giggled.

"I've attracted one loser after another," Andrea said. "Then comes Evan and everything changes. I know part of the reason he's here is because he likes rescuing people who need it. I pushed him away at first, prideful. Then I took a hard look at my life and realized I wanted him and I needed him and if he was going to pick me, then I was going to shut my mouth and be thankful."

"Good for you. I'm happy to hear that. Sounds like all you need to figure out is his freight train."

Andrea laughed.

"Does it hurt?"

Andrea pulled on her cigarette and exhaled. "At first. Then things start to happen down there. The man gets me hot. I know it's not supposed to matter and for some women it doesn't, but I ain't some women. A small dick feels better than a finger and a big dick feels better than a small one. Yeah, it takes me a minute to adjust but then, Jesus, fireworks. I love how they look, too, you know? Manly."

"I love how they look too. They just hang there. I can't ignore it. We scored."

"About damn time," Andrea said.

Boots crunched gravel around the bend towards them. Vincent, walking Louie, one of the black Labs, saw them and waved. "I was sent to check on the city girls," he said. "I heard you laughing. What was so funny?"

"Girl stuff," Jane said.

Vincent eyed them suspiciously. "Forget I asked. If you're okay, I'll see you back at the ranch house."

"We're fine, Baby," Jane said.

The women watched Vincent return to the house.

"That's a good man," Andrea said.

"Yes, he is," Jane agreed.

Andrea finished her cigarette and they meandered back to the house. Jane's mind whirled; she heard passion behind Andrea's words. Andrea loved sex with Evan and that made the man even more attractive. Jane knew she had no business imagining sex with her husband's best friend but that taboo made her want him more. Despite the cold mountain air, her pussy felt warm.

"I have a personal question, if that's all right," Andrea said.

"Sure."

"Why did your parents name you Jane? You're not old enough for that name. Why did your parents give you an old lady's name?"

Jane laughed loudly. "My mother was an avid reader. I'm named for Jane Austen, her favorite."

"Gotcha. I don't read much. I'm afraid I have no idea who Jane Austen is."

They returned to the ranch house, walking a little closer than they had on the way out.

Eventually the late hour combined with beer and wine got everyone drowsy. The kids had fallen asleep scattered like dirty laundry around the living room. The adults pitched in to get them all to bed. Claudia showed everyone to their rooms.

"Last room for you guys," Claudia said. "Sorry you all need to share it but everyone showed up this year."

She pushed the door open. A king-size bed rested against the far wall.

"Hey," Vincent said. "This used to be my room."

"I'll take the side by the door," Andrea said, looking at the huge bed. "I get up to pee four times a night."

"I hope sleeping together is okay," Claudia said, throwing a log on the fire.

"Sharing a bed with two hunky guys and a beautiful woman?" Andrea said. "Where do I sign?"

Everyone chuckled.

"We'll be fine, Mom," Vincent said. "Thanks for having all of us."

He shut the door behind his mother and flipped the latch.

They took turns in the attached bathroom and when Andrea and Evan were brushing their teeth, Jane approached Vincent.

"I guess we go: Andrea, Evan, you, me?"

Vincent shook his head. "I'm thinking Andrea, Evan, you, me."

"You want me to sleep between the men?"

"I do."

"Baby, nothing's going to happen. We're in your parents' home and more than that, Andrea will be sleeping right next to us."

"I know, but it still feels kind of sexy."

"It is that. I know you caught me looking at him all night. Isn't it crazy? Now that I know, I see him as a totally different man. It's like he's someone else."

"I feel that way too. Like we discovered he is secretly a bank robber and has been for years."

"Exactly."

Vincent took off his clothes, leaving only his boxers, and then knocked on the bathroom door. Evan answered.

"Turn that red valve to number three when you're finished with the hot water," Vincent said. "Saves the pipes during a freeze."

"Got it."

Evan closed the door. Jane grinned.

"You did that so they'd know what to wear for bed."

"Yup."

"Crafty."

"Yup."

Jane held up a sweat suit in one hand and an oversized T-shirt in the other.

"T," Vincent said.

Jane shrugged and quickly stripped, throwing the T-shirt over her head. She acted casual but her heart thumped. The bathroom door opened as she smoothed the shirt into place. Andrea wore a T like her and Evan went with boxers like Vincent. Everyone did their best to seem nonchalant. Vincent dawdled, pretending to check his phone. Evan climbed in first and then Andrea took the edge. Jane hesitated a moment and then entered from the other side. Vincent quickly hit the light and joined them. The moon was up and the small high windows allowed plenty of light.

They talked for a while, growing sleepy, and soon said goodnight.

Chapter 10

Vincent felt a finger poke him. He opened his eyes. He lay on his side facing Jane who laid on her side too, facing him. Her eyes were wide open.

Oh my God, she mouthed.

Confused, Vincent only stared back.

"Honey," Jane whispered, her voice strained and so low Vincent almost didn't hear her. "He's between my legs."

Vincent furrowed his brow, more deeply confused now than before.

"What?" he mouthed.

"Evan is spooning me," she murmured.

"So?"

"So his dick slipped out and is now resting in my thigh gap!"

Jane carefully lifted the comforter to show her husband. In the moonlight, Vincent saw a plump flared head poking past the bottom of his wife's T-shirt. He slowly moved a hand to lift her shirt and she rolled her eyes at him.

"Seriously?"

She kept her pubic hair closely trimmed so he saw how Evan parted her pussy lips. Evan rested firmly against her inner labia, mashing those delicate petals to either side. It was the single most erotic thing Vincent had ever seen and he just stared.

"Honey!" Jane snipped. "Go use the bathroom or something. Make some noise so he wakes up a little and moves away."

Vincent looked at that long cock again. He slowly shook his head.

"No," he whispered.

My boy has a veiny python, Vincent thought, marveling at the girth lodged between her thighs. His bare cock is touching Jane's naked pussy.

"Slide your pussy," Vincent whispered. His heart was racing now.

Jane gawked at her husband. She tried to drop the comforter but Vincent caught it. The sight amazed him. Men go at their lust directly where women come at it from the side. Vincent could not take his eyes off that impressive beast and despite her feelings of near panic, Jane involuntarily began rubbing her moist slit against the shaft. The heat from the thing drove her crazy.

"Fuuuuuck," Vincent whimpered.

Jane bit her bottom lip. This was insane.

Why didn't I wear panties to bed? She wondered. You know exactly why you didn't, she chastised herself. You wanted something to happen.

Subtle tingles ran through her pelvis. Her clitoris occasionally dragged along the length of him. Evan felt good. He might wake any second and turn away but for now the excitement was unbearable. She risked squeezing her thighs tighter while she rubbed.

"Come forward more," Vincent breathed. "Let me see you envelope the tip. You're soaked, Baby."

Jane closed her eyes, ashamed, but did as her husband suggested. The firm head brushed across her clitoris and she had to hold back a gasp. She did it again, astonished. His much-larger head smothered her hole.

"Again," Vincent whispered.

Jane closed her eyes and gently rocked her hips. Evan was so close on every pass. The sensation was fantastic. She traveled half an inch too far and her labia engulfed the tip and then Evan's fat head pierced her opening, pushing through the tight ring. He was inside her. The head expanded on the other side and he filled her tight tunnel.

More of him pushed deeper without her moving.

Holy fuck! Her eyes flew open and she instantly understood. Vincent had reached down and pushed him in.

My husband shoved another man into me!

Her normally brilliant mind turned cartwheels, utterly unable to focus.

"Move your hips," Vincent rasped.

Jane considered pulling off but her body refused. Dumbfounded, she felt her pelvis tilt, her hips move. Evan slid deeper and Jane loved how he felt. She was drenched, she had to admit that. Her heart raced and her pussy gushed. He stuffed her small tunnel with cock and all she wanted was more. Her traitorous hips moved in rhythm. Evan felt wonderful inside her.

She felt the bed move and risked a look down. Vincent reached between her legs to grip something. Behind her, Evan stirred and mumbled, coming awake. Jane panicked, looking to Vincent for what to do. Vincent tugged and now Jane understood; her husband had Evan by the balls. Vincent pulled Evan several inches deep, forcing Jane to bite the back of her hand to remain silent. The man's cock was an ocean liner, forcing everything from its path.

Evan's face rose above her shoulder to glare at Vincent, who put a finger to his lips, silencing both.

"Again," he ordered.

Jane couldn't resist if she tried, but she didn't try. She avoided looking at either man but her pussy would not be denied. She worked her hips in small thrusts to keep Andrea sleeping. Evan was dazed but had no desire to make a scene, especially not in this house. Jane's grip on him was intoxicating and he moved instinctively. Her tiny movements drove him crazy. His balls tightened. Vincent still held him but that did not matter. All that mattered was that tight steaming pussy milking his inches. He buried his face in the nape of her neck, shocked by how quickly she got him there.

Vincent felt the first spurt race through the tubing inside Evan's testicles and then roar up the long pipe before blasting far inside Jane. She felt it too and drove her face into her pillow. Vincent again felt his best friend blast a hefty load into his wife. Then again. The balls in his hand turned hot and Vincent was amazed to feel his wife's insemination this way. His mind did somersaults. One after another Evan was pumping hot semen deep and Vincent felt every pulse. He tugged Evan deeper and both softly moaned from shared ecstasy. Hot jizz dripped on his wrist and to the bed. Evan came in silence for a long time. Vincent kept him deep, a plug against leakage. Jane squeezed her pussy around the massive intrusion and imagined that cock turned loose, set free to pound her into submission. She longed to spread her legs and offer the beast everything.

At last Evan began to deflate. He kept his eyes averted, staring first at the bed and then the ceiling. Jane shuffled closer to Vincent, pulling herself off that meaty stake. Vincent drew the blanket to cover them all. Andrea snored and turned on her side.

Chapter 11

Bacon, thought Vincent, sniffing. Country style potatoes, Mom's special pepper scrambled eggs, whole wheat toast with real butter.

He rolled over and opened his eyes. Jane still slept but Andrea and Evan were gone. A little boy about six stared at him.

"Grandma says breakfast is ready," the boy said. "Grandma says get your lazy butt up. Grandma says come and get it."

"Thank you," Vincent said. "Tell Grandma we're on our way."

The boy darted from the room. Vincent nudged Jane awake.

As her eyes opened, she smiled to see her husband's handsome face over her. Then she remembered. She spun abruptly to scan the bed, relief flooding her face. She punched Vincent with a balled fist.

"I can't believe you," she hissed. "Jesus. What did we do?"

"Say what you want; that was fucking hot."

"In your parents' house!"

"Even better. It felt like high school again, sneaking around to smoke weed."

Jane slipped a hand under the covers to find a sticky flow of cum from her pussy. She showed Vincent her fingers.

"That's Evan," she said. "Lots of little baby Evans. Won't they look cute with my eyes and his hair?"

"Yes, actually."

"Shut up!" she said. She punched his chest. "Vincent! Evan fucked me. That really happened. He's inside me right now."

"I know, I was there. It was fucking hot."

She studied her husband's smiling face; eyes bright and joyful. "Aren't you the least bit freaked out?"

"Not at all."

"You're fine with this. Evan fucked me. You're fine with that?"

"I am."

Jane sighed and stared at the sheets. Her pussy still tingled. Images from the night before bounced around inside her head.

"It was pretty hot," she admitted. "You're right about feeling like a teenager. I hope he's okay."

"He's so big," Vincent said. "Watching him spread you open was crazy."

"This isn't some ploy so you can fuck Andrea, right?"

"Please. If I wanted to fuck Andrea, I'd sit you down and tell you so."

She touched his face tenderly. "Yes, you would."

"I'm not sure what this is all about but it is definitely not about me fucking other women. Me and the guys would all joke when some wife would cheat on her husband. We'd laugh about how fucked up that shit is. Most husbands lose their shit and that's when we get a call. Now here I am, one of those husbands, and it's fucking cool. I don't understand what's happening but that shit was hot. I hope Evan's all right. We need to go downstairs and check on them."

"Damn, Vinny, you're more concerned with his feelings than mine. You didn't ask how I was doing."

"I watched you last night, Baby. You loved it. You might be upset for an hour this morning but that will pass. He's a sensitive guy. I need to tell him everything's okay. I say we try again back in the city. Maybe Sunday when Evan comes over for the game without Andrea. Let's get some breakfast. I'm starving."

Jane sniffed the air and suddenly realized her own hunger. "God, so am I."

"I bet."

She punched him a third time. They dressed quickly and headed downstairs. Andrea and Claudia had taken Tommy for a walk around the lake and wouldn't be back for an hour. Evan sat in a circle of boys telling firefighting stories to a mesmerized audience. He looked at Jane and Vincent as they came down the stairs, watching their faces, wondering how things stood. He continued his tale of daring rescue. Jane and Vincent headed for the kitchen and loaded their plates. Evan joined them a short time later, pouring himself a cup of coffee and sitting at the far end of the table. Nobody spoke for long minutes until Vincent said: "How'd you sleep?"

"Like a rock," Evan said. "So deep I missed what was going on until it was too late. What the heck was that?"

Vincent smiled. "Spontaneous."

Evan turned his attention to Jane.

"Don't look at me," she said, pointing at Vincent with a piece of bacon. "Mister life-of-the-party surprised us both. You poked through your boxers and between my legs and I panicked. I woke my husband to save the day and let everyone save some face but no, he had other ideas."

"That's a hell of a practical joke, Vinny," Evan said.

Several kids came in to join them, shutting down the conversation. The children had a million questions about cops and firemen so Jane concentrated on eating. One by one the children would wander off, only to return later. When the adults were finally free to speak, the moment had passed.

Andrea returned with Tommy and Evan joined them to hang out. Left alone in the kitchen, Jane watched her husband carefully.

"I need to know," she said. "Why did you do that? Give me a real answer, not the smoke you blew up Evan's butt."

"I wish I had a solid answer for you, Honey. I don't. The moment presented itself and that's the direction I took. His fat cock looked sexy mushing your pussy around. He was so close to your opening it was natural he'd go in. When you started fucking yourself on him I went along."

"I did not fuck myself on him."

Vincent chuckled. "You need to have a heart-to-heart with your pussy then, because she started riding my boy Evan. I don't blame you. It was super sexy."

"He came in me, Vincent. I'm carrying your best friend inside me right now. Doesn't that bother you?"

"Nah. If it was anyone but Evan, maybe, but I know he's clean and you're on birth control, right?"

"Not exactly."

Vincent snorted. "What does not exactly mean, exactly?"

"My pills ran out and I've been too busy to refill the script."

"I bet you will now."

"That's not funny, Vinny."

"It's a little funny."

She didn't budge.

Last night was new and exciting and Jane wanted to laugh from sheer joy but part of her worried if she didn't act upset he'd feel betrayed. They finished their meal and washed all the dishes stacked in the sink. Afterwards they took all four dogs for a walk. Jane felt Evan's warm seed trickle and little erotic tingles played with her all day.

When they got back to the ranch house Claudia and Ron had set-up the game table and laid out Monopoly. The kids had movies and coloring books. Vincent noticed Jane sat across from Evan and peeked at the man frequently. On a trip to refill the chip bowl, Vincent joined Jane.

"I see you watching everything he does," Vincent whispered. "You can't stop thinking about him."

"Not him," she corrected. "How he felt moving inside. I need to you to fuck my brains out when we get home."

"Count on it. You don't know this but he looks at you just as much. Every time you look away he runs his eyes over you."

"Jesus."

"Yeah," Vincent chuckled. "A couple of high school kids."

Chapter 12

Jane saw most of the adults clustered on the gravel driveway. She left the house and joined them.

"What's going on?" she asked her husband.

"Andrea got a call from Tommy's father and she needs to leave for a few days. She'll be back but without Tommy."

"That sucks. Poor thing."

"Yeah. Evan wants to drive her to the airport but Andrea wants to go alone. I suspect her ex is a douche."

Vincent watched his wife from the corner of his eye. Andrea leaving meant three to a bed. He started a countdown on when Jane would make the realization. Her gaze came around to Evan and stopped. As Vincent watched, Jane's eyes slowly grew large. She turned to look at her husband only to discover he already watched her.

"That means..." Jane said.

Vincent smiled. "Yup. Extra room in our bed tonight."

"Shit."

Jane was nervous the rest of the day and all the evening. Once the children were in bed the family gathered in the den to watch a movie and she fidgeted through the whole thing. Someone paused the movie for a bathroom break and the room emptied except for Jane and Vincent.

"What do you have planned?" she asked. "I'm so nervous."

"Nothing," he said. "We're at my parents' house. What could possibly happen?"

Jane pinched his leg but that was all. The others returned.

Eventually the movie ended and people began saying goodnight. Evan turned to the happy couple and offered to sleep on the floor in the family room so they could have the bed to themselves but Vincent told him no.

"That bed is huge and without Andrea we've more room. Thanks, but don't worry about it."

Evan and Jane looked at the floor.

Jane excused herself to use the bathroom. She locked the door behind her and pulled down her pants. She dabbed between her lips, confirming what she felt out in the family room.

I'm drenched. What a slut. Evan went from friend to lover in a split-second and I know why. I wish Alice were here. She'd have some pearl of wisdom.

Jane took care of business and rejoined the others, but only for a few minutes as almost everyone had gone to bed while she was away.

"Let's get some sleep," Vincent said. "Big hiking day tomorrow."

Goodnights were made among the remaining adults and everyone headed for their bedrooms. Jane could hardly breathe. Vincent cut ahead to use the bathroom and exited wearing only boxers again. He then blocked Jane so Evan could enter. The door closed and locked.

"What are you up to, Roth?" Jane murmured.

Vincent said nothing. Evan came out wearing boxers too and Jane slipped around him and shut the door.

"I have no idea where things stand," Evan told Vincent. "I've always found Jane attractive. What man wouldn't? But I'm dating Andrea and what happened last night feels like cheating."

"I get that," Vincent said. "There are no expectations. I don't fully understand all this myself but you're my best friend and there is simply no one better to experience this with. Just follow your gut and so will I."

Behind the door, Jane sat on the edge of the tub. She could not deny her excitement but she doubted the wisdom of this. She wrestled with her thoughts for several minutes and then undressed.

I'm not going to announce the boys must keep their hands to themselves but I'm initiating anything either. Anything that happens will be all their fault.

She laid out her baggy T-shirt and panties, saddened a bit by how frumpy they were. A glance at her suitcase showed a sleeveless T and a pair of panties smaller and sheer. She held the shirt at eye-level, examining the holes for her arms.

Lots of side-boob with this one, she thought. Guess I won't be completely innocent.

She slipped the shirt over her head and pulled the panties up. The triangle of see-through fabric barely covered her pubic hair. She tightened the bows on each hip, realizing how easily she could become bottomless. She pushed the thought from her mind and put toothpaste on bristles.

Scrub.

She saw the lights go out under the bathroom door.

Rinse.

She looked at her pretty face in the mirror.

All right, she admitted. I want Evan to fuck me. But I'm still not going to initiate anything. Whatever happens, Vinny or Evan will make the move.

She killed the light and exited the bathroom, her eyes adjusting quickly to the moonlit room. Evan stared at the ceiling but Vincent watched everything she did. She had to slide over her husband to get to the middle of the bed and wondered if agreeing to take that spot made her guilty. She pushed that thought out of her mind too, lifting the comforter to slid her legs under, only then realizing Vincent had untied one of her bows as she moved over him. He plucked the other bow and pulled her panties as her legs disappeared under the blanket. He tossed them at her suitcase.

Bottomless between two hunky men was intoxicating but Jane tried to stay in her own space. Vincent rolled over to kiss her goodnight and now all three stared at the ceiling. The air was thick with tension. They lay in the dim moonlight, unmoving. Jane was shocked when, only minutes later, Vincent began breathing deeply, eventually snoring softly.

"I did not see that coming," Evan whispered.

"Me either," Jane murmured. She waited a moment and then: "Are you as tense as me?"

"Worse. I feel guilty for cheating on Andrea."

Jane nodded in the dark. "Let's behave and blame everything on Vinny."

"Everything is Shooter's fault. Good plan. Sweet dreams."

"Same to you."

Jane rolled on her side facing her husband and watched his chest slowly rise and fall. She felt a twinge of disappointment, which surprised her, but also relief. This arrangement was far too complicated. Too much was at stake.

Better if Evan was a total stranger, she thought. She imagined the three of them thrown together due to a thunder storm or some twist of fate. So much easier letting Evan fuck me if I didn't know him, she thought. She bit her bottom lip, realizing she was fantasizing about sex with another man. She wondered if she should share that sentiment with her husband just before falling asleep.

Chapter 13

The chest was hairy and tickled her nose. She opened her eyes to slits, confused for a moment before remembering where she was. She'd turned in the night and now snuggled Evan, her face on his chest, her leg thrown over his. She laid motionless, searching the room with her senses, concluding both men still slept. Evan was on his back and by the sound of his breathing, Vincent on his side facing away. Her left hand rested low on Evan's stomach, her pinkie and ring finger on his boxers. In the perfect stillness of a mountain night, she felt the gentle throb of a penis beneath the thin cotton.

Shit.

She pressed her fingers into the spongy tube, realizing he'd sprouted one of those night-time erections Vincent always got. She moved her index finger the other direction, sliding off the waistband and touching bare skin, confirming a newly formed theory; because of his length, several inches extended above his boxers. Her fingertip traveled over veiny warm skin. Her breath caught in her throat.

I'm touching Evan's naked cock.

Her mind danced with excitement and her pussy tingled enough to make her wince. She debated a few seconds and then, shocked by her shitty lack of willpower, lowered her head under the blanket. Her hand drew his underwear down several inches and her mouth scooped his cock head, hesitating only long enough to adjust for his girth before sucking in another inch. Her lips closed around hot pulsing flesh and she gently slurped, relishing the fullness. Vincent was big so she knew what to do, but Evan dominated her in new ways she found terribly exciting. Her jaw soon ached and she loved it. She was forced to breathe through her nose because her mouth was completely blocked and she loved that too. She kept her tongue still, fearful of waking him, instead enjoying a mouth stuffed with cock. She held him there, savoring the slab of beef, softly suckling like holding an ice cube while it melted.

After a minute, Evan's strong hand slid across her hair. His hips lifted slightly, pushing more meat into her orifice, and Jane resisted the urge to moan. She wanted to tell him to fuck her mouth but remained silent as he withdrew a bit and then slid back in. Careful to avoid moving the bed, they combined small movements to tease and milk his hefty cock. He guided her head, covering his mouth with a pillow. She began moving her hand in time with her mouth and felt him grow rigid. Now that he was awake, she sucked hard.

Evan let it happen. When his cum began to rise, he risked a peek at Jane's pretty face stuffed with cock. His balls tightened at his approaching orgasm, knowing she'd swallow everything he gave her. Vincent may be his best friend but he'd started all this and now his lovely wife was about to drink a hot load directly from the source. Evan wanted to moan, even shout his roaring passion, but he buried it all and held his breath. The first blast of boiling sperm exploded all over her teeth and tongue and then he was pumping out jizz by the gallon.

Jane felt him swell and knew he was almost there and sucked harder. She wanted to please this sweet man she'd known for so long.

She blamed Vincent for everything and imagined herself telling her husband in the morning what he'd missed. She already knew he wouldn't be angry. Disappointed, yes, but not angry. They'd sort things out when they got home.

The fat cock head in her mouth expanded and she whimpered softly, craving the sperm she knew would soon arrive. When it did, she sucked and gulped, pulling the slippery liquid out by strong vacuum, lapping at the spewing hole, rendering a powerful man weaker than a kitten.

His hips bucked but only slightly. He kept the bed as still as possible, allowing Jane to milk him like she was drawing his sap. He stroked her head as she gulped him down, loving he was now in her two different ways. She held him in her mouth as he jerked and spit until gradually deflating. Only when he could give her no more did she allow him to slip free. She replaced the waistband and kissed his stomach and rolled to face her husband, a belly full of cum. Evan was asleep soon after.

Chapter 14

"Good morning, sleepy-head," Vincent said, looking down on his pretty wife.

"You're more correct than you know," she replied, pushing hair off her face.

Vincent gave her a puzzled look. She sat up, checked the room to make sure they were alone.

"I sucked his cock last night while you slept," she said, watching his expression change with surprise. "Sleepy-head is exactly what it was. You should make that my new nickname."

"Holy shit," he said. "What happened? I can't believe I fell asleep so fast and slept so hard. Goddamn it. Tell me everything."

Jane did, sparing nothing and ending with: "Want to kiss me?"

Vincent laughed. "No, but it's more because of your morning breath than because you swallowed his load. He got right out of bed, dressed quickly, and took off this morning. Now I know why. He's out on the lake with Ron."

Jane watched her husband's face but saw no sign of hurt.

"I knew you wouldn't mind," she said, spreading her legs. "Now lock the door and take care of your wife. I've made Evan cum twice and that selfish bastard's done nothing for me. I need it."

Vincent flipped the latch, crossed the room in a bound, and dove on the bed. He kissed up her legs until she squirmed and then aimed his tongue at her pussy.

"Jesus, Babe, you're soaked."

Jane pulled his face close with both hands.

"It's sexy and exciting, Baby," she said. "Of course I'm wet. I'm still bewildered that all this is okay with you but whatever. I admit I'm having fun. It's Evan so I know everything is okay. Last night I imagined he was a stranger and that got me turned on in a whole new way."

"You pictured yourself sucking a stranger's cock?"

"Yes. No. Actually, I imagined myself fucking him and how hot that would be if I didn't know him. More risk but also more excitement."

Vincent grinned like the devil. "Maybe we should find you a stranger?"

Jane gawked at her husband. "Are you serious?"

"Yeah. It sounds kinky. Evan is safe but comes with complications. I don't want to fuck up our friendship and I don't want to fuck up his relationship with Andrea. A stranger in our bed would be pure sex."

Jane could not believe what she was hearing. She tried to end the topic: "It's all fantasy anyway," she said. "I'd want him bigger than you and that's too rare to actually happen. Evan was a pleasant surprise."

"Size matters that much?"

"Not in real life but for this, yeah. Can you imagine? We're trying something all wild and sexy and he drops his pants and shows me a peanut? What a letdown. I don't want someone to fall in love with, Baby, I already have the love of my life with you. We're talking raw sex so, yes, if I have my choice, I want him big. Bigger than you."

Vincent stared at her pussy, his mind a million miles away.

"Have I upset you?" she asked.

"Not at all. I'm picturing you with a hung stranger. It sounds sexy."

"This conversation is so weird," she chuckled.

"Could you ever?"

Jane studied her husband. "You're serious."

"I am."

Jane took a deep breath. "Hell, Baby, we've done a million other things together so why not. This isn't parachuting or climbing Mount Hood but it might be just as exciting. Maybe more. I will if you will."

"Let me think about it but I'm leaning yes."

Jane felt a quiver in her clit. "Enough talk," she said. "Shut up and put that mouth to work."

Vincent did.

They emerged from the bedroom later and discovered the house was empty. The adults had split the kids amongst them, some hiking, some boating, some headed into town for groceries. Jane and Vincent hiked to a nearby mountain peak and took pictures of the surrounding snow-capped tops and the huge valleys. By the time they got back the house was full again.

This would be the last dinner before people started heading back and Claudia cooked everyone's favorite. Andrea returned at sunset without Tommy and she and Evan disappeared. Barnie and Shelia, friends of Claudia and Ron, announced they needed to leave a little early so Claudia gave Evan and Andrea their room. Jane saw the disappointment on her husband's face.

"I know," she murmured. "I'm a little bummed too. Who knows what may have happened tonight?"

Vincent was crestfallen and Jane caught a glimpse into how much this kinky fantasy turned him on.

"You want me to fuck him, don't you?"

Vincent pondered for a moment. "It's not Evan," he said. "And it's not you fucking him, if that makes any sense. It's his dick. I want to watch you get fucked by a big dick."

Jane was about to tease her husband but the look of disappointment in his eyes stopped her. This idea had taken root.

That night they all played Risk and Andrea won. In the morning, everyone packed and said their goodbyes, making arrangements to get to the airport or the appropriate freeways.

Just after nine that night, Jane and Vincent stepped through their front door and dropped their luggage. Exhausted and happy to be home, the moment their eyes met they were racing for the bedroom.

Chapter 15

"So you kind of did but you kind of didn't," Alice said.

Jane let her eyes drift around the pub. "You could say that."

"I just did," Alice teased. "As far as first steps go, it was great, but you can't stop there. Destiny beckons."

Both women laughed.

"Is Destiny some stripper friend of yours?" Jane asked.

Alice got suddenly serious. "Holy shit, I do have a stripper friend named Destiny."

The women laughed hard. Conversation turned to work and the mundane until a handsome young man walked by their table. Both women fell silent and then burst into giggles after he passed.

"What are you doing to me?" Jane asked. "I check out every guy now."

"Good. You're a gorgeous, intelligent woman. Men find you attractive. You should enjoy that while you can and based on what your husband has said, take it as far as you feel. Vincent would be fine with whatever you did."

Jane watched the young man take a seat at the bar facing the widescreen. He ordered a beer. His blonde hair hung beyond his collar and he wore a red string bracelet but no wedding band. Alice read Jane's expression.

"Time to make your move, girl," she said.

Jane met her friend's gaze. "Should I?"

"I say yes. I regret none of the thing I've done but I do regret some of the things I didn't do. You won't know until you're down in it. Just flirt, for now, and see what happens."

The man had a habit of scanning the bar on every commercial so Jane made eye contact the next time he did it. He stayed with her a long moment before looking away.

"Great start," Alice said. "I'm going to spend a few minutes in the restroom just to leave you alone. Good luck."

"Good luck? I don't know what I'm doing."

Alice gave her a hard but humorous look. "Yes, you do."

Jane watched her friend leave. She sipped her beer and stared at her wedding ring and then risked a look at the man. He was staring right at her. Jane smiled, placed a napkin over her drink, smiled at him again, and then meandered for the exit. In the parking lot, she found her black BMW M2 and leaned against the fender to wait. The man was right on her heels.

Alice is right, she realized. Men are easy targets.

He hesitated when he saw her waiting but then changed his mind and boldly approached. His eyes ate her alive and she loved it.

I'm at least ten years older, she realized. Why aren't I freaking out with insecurity?

"Hi," he said, offering a hand. "I'm Terry."

"Jane."

They shook.

He had no idea what to do next and she found his inexperience charming.

"So, you having a good night?" he asked.

Jane stepped close and tilted her face up to his, offering her lips. He kissed her and she took his hand and led it to her breast. She worried for an instant that her aggression might scare him off but rejected the thought.

Let him run, she thought. I want men.

He squeezed her plump tit and returned the kiss, cupping her other breast. Jane reached for the front of his pants. His zipper fell and she withdrew his penis. He was smaller than Vincent by a lot but he was handsome and tall so she stroked his cock to get him hard. A moment later she crouched and stuffed his penis into her mouth.

"Fuck yeah," the man said, walking forward.

He pinned her against her car and began fucking her mouth. It was exciting and Jane loved the spontaneity, but something was missing. She pulled his balls free and played with them while sucking hard, but she knew this was as far as things would go. She had no desire for this man to fuck her. She wrapped her fingers and stroked in time with her bobbing mouth and when she felt him swell she stroked faster. A minute later she was gulping his salty load as he fought to remain standing. After the last spurt, she let him back away and lean on Alice's car.

"This is crazy," he exhaled. "Stuff like this never happens to me."

"Me either," Jane laughed.

She wiped her face clean and straightened her hair.

"I must get back to my friend," she said. "I'm sorry to eat and run."

"No worries. My friends will never believe me. Can I get your number?"

"That's flattering, Terry, but not what I was looking for. I'm sure I'll see you around. Have a great night."

"You too," Terry said, breathless.

Alice looked surprised when Jane opened the front door. "That was fast."

Jane shrugged. "It wasn't as hot as I'd hoped, if you know what I mean."

Alice nodded knowingly. "It's going to be tough for you because Vincent is hot and hung. These guys don't know what they're competing against. I love my husband but every man is a treat for me."

Jane gulped some beer to wash her mouth and ordered another.

"Will you tell Vincent about this?" Alice asked.

"Yes. I told him about Evan right away but I've kept Diego to myself and I'm not sure why. Vinny would probably love to hear that story."

"That's an excellent question you should ask yourself. Any other secrets?"

Jane gulped more beer. "Yeah. I've jacked off a few patients too."

"In our office?"

"No, only at the clinic. I'm not sure why I did that either."

"You're hitting your peak, girl. Discovering new pieces of yourself."

The ladies finished their drinks and soon headed for home. Jane told Vincent about Terry and he shared her disappointment.

"I'm glad to hear you're trying new things," he added. "I think that's hot."

Jane leaned back in her chair and unbuttoned her blouse.

"How hot?" she teased.

Chapter 16

Ruby met Jane in the hallway. "Your next patient is in room five but heads up, he's a little weird."

"Weird how?"

Ruby crossed her arms. "Like maybe he's high or something? He's super friendly. Won't stop smiling."

"All right, Ruby. Thank you. I'll let him know who's boss."

She checked to make sure her nametag was visible and tugged the hem of her skirt down. She buttoned her white smock all the way up and headed for room five.

The man wore sweat pants and a sleeveless T-shirt that said Manchester United in faded red and yellow. He was skinny and tall. His spiky hair was orange and his pinkie fingernails, black. He had several tattoos on his neck and a teardrop tattoo next to his left eye.

"Hello," Jane said, setting her clipboard by the sink as she washed her hands. "I'm Doctor Roth. My nurse, Ruby, says your name is Nigel and you're here for some blood work?"

"That's right, Doctor Roth."

Jane looked up at the man. "That accent...you're from England?"

"Stretford, Love."

"How long in the States?"

"Too long. I miss my gaffe. I miss my team."

Ruby was right; there was something off about the man but Jane could not decide what. She reached for her clipboard and he moved to the door. She heard the button lock click. She spun. His eyes held laughter but no menace. He pushed his sweatpants down, revealing a long fat cock.

"I hear you give special exams," he snickered.

Jane stared a second too long and knew it. She turned her back on him, reaching for surgical gloves. "Well, I don't know what you've heard but you're mistaken. Please pull your pants up."

Nigel moved behind her. One hand clamped her mouth, the other grabbed a big tit. He may be skinny but she felt his wiry strength. His penis swung between her legs, bouncing against her thighs. Her rush of panic was accompanied by a rush of electricity. She squirmed against his embrace and was answered with a hard thrust of his hips, pinning her against the cupboards.

"Mmph!" she yelled.

He pushed her feet farther apart with his legs.

"Reach down and grab that swinging Billy, Love. I know you want him. I saw it in your eyes."

Jane held herself still so Nigel began swinging his heavy cock like a pendulum, smacking her panty-covered pussy on each up-swing, jolting Jane with a slap on her clit.

"Don't be like this, Love. Just having some fun and games. Grab my dong and give him a tug."

His breath was hot in her ear. She wasn't afraid of the man. He was more court jester than assassin. He held her trapped against the cupboards while the thump...thump...thump of his meat teased her. She slipped a hand down and spread her fingers, ready, and when his cock slapped her palm she closed her fingers on it.

"That's a girl," he said.

He was thick and warm and squishy and she gripped his tube of flesh, thrilled by the feel of it in her hand. She was in high school again, in the backseat of Donny Milton's Plymouth with the first penis she'd ever seen resting on her palm. She'd marveled at the size then, unaware there was nothing special about Donny at all. Girlfriends had told her about penises going into vaginas and she'd pushed a finger deep in the bath and swooned at the pleasure, and Donny was much bigger than her finger. She'd wondered what that would feel like. She never found out. Too afraid to try, she'd jacked Donny a few minutes until his dick spit all over the seat. She'd run her fingers through the slick fluid, fascinated, fully aware of the millions and millions of possible babies swimming on the leather. She felt drawn to the danger, as if she played with mercury.

She stopped squirming and added her other hand to Nigel's shaft.

"That's a nice cock," she said into his hand.

He felt all resistance leave and uncovered her mouth. "I know you're not on birth control," he whispered. "So I'll pull out. But wouldn't you love to feel ole Nigel in ya?"

Other than Vincent, only one person knew that. Her mind leapt to a conclusion. "Alice," she said.

"Aye, but that's not an answer."

He was growing in her hands, thick enough her fingers didn't meet. Alice had sent Nigel and that changed everything. It took her half a second to decide.

"Then how about this for an answer?" she said. "Yeah, I'd love to feel ole Nigel in me."

"That's a girl. Get your knickers out the way."

Her hands trembled as she found the edge and pulled her underwear aside. Nigel rubbed his fat cock around her opening and a thousand facts about transmitted diseases and pregnancy raced through her mind. She ignored them all. All she cared about was the increasing pressure on her labia. Nigel flexed his scrawny ass and the head pushed inside. Jane gasped at the intrusion, stifling a groan. He flexed again and Jane felt her insides open. He buried his cock deep.

"Alice loves this cock," he rasped, biting her earlobe. "Nice of her to share."

He held her waist and fucked her, shoving her skirt over her ass. She was tight and soaked and he loved fucking a high-class lady.

Jane could barely breathe. His fat cock was a tank plowing through her pussy. When the tip of his cock brushed her cervix the first time she almost climaxed, feeling stretched and stuffed with hard dick. She took his hand and covered her mouth, fearful her moans would give them away. She braced her body and shoved her hips at him.

"That's right," he murmured. "That's it, Baby. Come get Nigel's shank."

She tossed her head. Waves of pleasure rolled up her spine, making her dizzy. This was an act of pure insanity; patients and clinic staff were right outside the door. The wild spontaneity and risk added a hefty jolt of excitement. She was going to cum on him any minute. Her pussy tightened around his pulsing shaft.

"Already?" he scoffed. "All right then, do it, Baby. Cum on Nigel. Show me love."

With his free hand, he mauled her tit, finding the nipple and twisting.

"I ever get you in bed proper," he hissed into her ear. "I'll fuck you to death."

Her legs trembled and her body shook. She wished they were in bed now. She wanted this uncouth bastard to fuck her senseless. To just let go of everything and give it all up to him. She didn't care if he left that monster buried and shot her full of jizz.

Tingling started around her clit and radiated outward. Her back hunched and her muscles clenched.

This fucker is going to make me cum already!

It hit like a kick in the guts, bending her over. His hard cock, long and fat, felt so good buried deep. She rode him hard, clamping her pussy around his inches. He had her mouth and nose covered and she fought for air but that only made her cum harder. He worked her hole as she came.

Once she slowed, he sped up, eager to get there too. She felt him expand and wondered if he'd cum inside after all but at the last second he whipped his cock free and spewed hot seed all over her skirt and ass. He made no sound, clamping his jaw shut. She was amazed by the shower of sperm.

He grabbed her hair and spun her around, forcing her to squat.

"Open wide," he said, twisting his hand.

Jane stared at the dripping missile approaching her face and opened her mouth and extended her tongue. He slid half his cock in and she closed her lips, sucking out the last tangy drops. He fucked her mouth slowly, relishing his cock moving in and out of such a cultured and well educated woman.

"Hold it," he said.

He withdrew his phone and raised it to his eye. He snapped a few pictures of Jane looking into the lens, her lips a perfect O as they encircled his softening cock.

"Those are for later," he joked.

She knew she should be alarmed but her orgasm had left her drifting and uncaring. He said he'd pull out and he did, she thought.

Nigel grabbed some paper towels and wiped his cum and Jane smoothed her skirt into place. He pulled up his sweat pants and sat on the exam table.

"So," he said, grinning. "Blah, blah, blah, bloodwork?"

Jane nodded weakly. "I'll send Ruby in to finish."

She staggered towards the door.

Chapter 17

"Sit down," Jane told Vincent. "I've done some bad things."
He pulled a chair from the dining table and dropped into it.

Jane paced the kitchen floor. Nigel had been the final straw. Too much had happened behind her husband's back and she needed to correct that. She took the chair across from him.

"I need to confess," she said.

She spoke of her original conversation with Alice, admitted to jacking off patients at the clinic, and concluded with Nigel. She did not mention Diego.

"Wow."

"How did I know you'd be fine with all this?"

Vincent smiled. "I think I've given enough hints."

Jane made a face. "Should I feel good about how much you trust me or bad about how little you worry about losing me?"

Vincent took her hand and kissed it. "I'd die if I lost you, Jane. If I thought any of these guys had a chance of stealing you away, I'd be a rampaging monster about all this. But I know you. I know what matters to you. You'd never leave me because some guy is great in bed."

"That's true."

"Our relationship gives us opportunities other couples don't get. We're more evolved. I'm as surprised as you by all this but I'm eager to follow the thread and see where it leads. We can stop at any time but so far it's hot."

Vincent was so earnest, Jane felt her last reservations fall away. If Vincent wants me to, why do I stop myself?

"All right then," she said. "Let me tell you about Diego."

Jane shared what she did in the exam room that day and Vincent hung on every word. He loved how bold his wife was.

"When does Diego come back for his test results?"

"Could be any day now. You want me to try something with him?"

"No. I want you to act on whatever you feel."

They regarded each other in silence for a minute.

"Are you as horny as me right now?" Jane asked.

"Maybe more."

She came around the table and knelt between her husband's knees. Moments later she'd freed his cock and held his balls in her palm. She felt thankful for what her husband was allowing and a strange and unfamiliar sense of submissiveness filled her. She wanted to show her gratitude. She wondered what the rules were to this crazy experiment but hesitated to ask.

Forgiveness is easier to get than permission, she thought.

Her heart beat stronger, wondering what the future held. She remembered Diego's fat cock hanging in her face and sucked Vincent's testicle into her hot mouth. Her husband's moan was satisfying. Before long she was gulping his load and found that more satisfying.

At the office the next day, Alice waited until they were alone in the lunch room and then asked if anything happened at the clinic the night before.

"No," Jane said with a tiny shrug. "Business as usual."

Alice waited. Jane crumbled.

"All right," she admitted. "He's a strange man but that cock is heavenly."

"You let him fuck you?"

"I had little choice. What did you tell him about me? He shoved me against the sink and covered my mouth and lifted my skirt. He's so thick! Other than that, he was a gentleman."

Alice giggled. "That's sounds like Nigel. I told him to pull out."

"He did."

Alice studied her face. "You want to fuck him again."

"I do. Last night I told Vincent everything. I worried he might be hurt by things I'd done but nope. He thinks what I'm doing is exciting."

"Green light, Baby."

"So it seems."

Another nurse entered the room so they abandoned the conversation, prevented by their busy day from ever returning to it. They closed the office and Jane drove across town to the clinic. She dropped her purse and cell phone in her temporary office and asked Ruby for the files on her patients over the last few weeks. She flipped through them, remembering some but forgetting most, until she arrived at Diego.

He'd come by three days earlier to get his results.

I missed his visit completely, Jane realized. He won't be back.

Deep disappointment furrowed her brow. She continued scanning his file noting his excellent health. Her curiosity piqued, she turned the page; no sexually transmitted infections. No diseases at all.

Her heart skipped a beat. Green light indeed.

She returned to page one, running her eyes over his information: Unmarried. Home residence. Place of employment.

Her heart beat faster. I haven't chased a boy since sixth-grade.

This was way outside the lines. She knew what she risked but that only made the adventure more exciting. What would she say? What would she do? He lived on the other side of town. There was no reason for her to go near him.

No, she thought. One reason.

She took out her phone and photographed each page. She then locked the files away and put on her smock. She grabbed her clipboard and left the office, meeting Ruby at the front desk.

"Your first patient waits in room two," the older woman said.

Jane thanked her and headed down the hall. She knocked once, waited for a response, and entered the room.

Clive Raymond Jones the Third smiled broadly. Jane froze for a moment, smiled back, and pressed the button to lock the door. Clive had his pants halfway down before Jane crossed the room.

She cupped the old man's black balls in one hand while gently stroking his knobby black penis with the other.

"I spoil you," she murmured.

"Yes ma'am, you surely do."

He stiffened quickly and Jane wondered if some of her older patients took Viagra before their exams with her. She decided to believe they did not. She liked to think she made them so hard. She crouched so his penis was even with her eyes and studied the rapidly inflating tube, marveling.

I'm as bad as Alice. I love dick too.

He smelled freshly showered and he'd trimmed everything nicely so she impulsively slipped his penis into her mouth, looking up at his shocked face. She held his hips and fucked her mouth on his dick.

I have lost my mind, she mused.

She pulled his scrotum towards the floor, stretching the wrinkled black skin. His owl-eyes registered utter disbelief so she briefly opened her mouth to show him his penis in there before closing her lips around him again. She stopped sucking long enough to tell him to unload whenever he was ready.

I've seen all their records. I know who's clean and whom to avoid. She laughed on the inside. I am literally the wolf guarding the hen house.

A strange feeling of power and control rose. She sucked harder, twisting the skin of his ball sack. Clive Raymond Jones the Third moaned softly and leaned against the counter behind him.

"Mercy," Jane heard him mutter. "Mercy."

She drew a deep breath and forced her lips down his shaft until they nestled in his pubic hair, her nose pressed into his lower abdomen. The head of his dick tickled the back of his throat. She was never one to deep-throat but his smaller size made it possible. She moved her head half an inch back and forth, swallowing constantly, teasing his cock with her throat. He drew a huge breath and she knew he was already there.

"Um hm," she hummed, encouraging him to blast away.

His body shook.

"Shit!" he grunted.

His steaming blast of jizz shot straight down her gullet. She tasted nothing. She sucked hard and he fed her more but she kept him balls deep and let him fill her belly. His old body trembled and she pictured his ancient black cock in her mouth, bucking and spurting. When he softened, she backed off him, suckling the last few drops. He looked stunned.

"Take your time, Mister Jones. Come see me again in two weeks."

He nodded dumbly and reached for his pants.

Her night was more of the same. She made several trips to her temporary office, reviewing the files of each patient before deciding whether they could be trusted and how to handle them. She moved quickly and efficiently, reveling in her new power. By the time Ruby locked the door she'd sucked off two more men and jacked off three.

Vincent, she knew, would be thrilled.

Her drive home was an exercise in restraint. She wanted to speed. She wanted to rip off her clothing as she came through the front door and narrate her slutty evening as Vincent fucked her unconscious. She followed the posted limits and soon pulled into her garage, shedding clothes as she entered the house.

"If you're not in the mood," she shouted, "you better get there fast."

Her bra landed in the kitchen sink, her wet panties caught on the barstool.

Evan and Vincent, with Thursday night football playing on the television behind them, stood amazed.

Chapter 18

Jane made no move to cover up. "Well, shit."

"Does she do this a lot?" Evan asked.

"Not often enough," Vincent replied, grinning.

Jane loved their eyes on her. She shivered, nipples stiffening.

Vincent looked at her lovingly like always, but Evan ate her alive.

"Why am I still the only one naked?" she asked. Her voice cracked.

Vincent began removing his shirt but Evan remained frozen.

"You said Andrea is in New York with Tommy," Vincent said.

Evan swallowed.

"Get undressed, bro," Vincent said.

"Jesus, Shooter."

Jane shivered again. Vincent approached his wife and tenderly held her face while he kissed her. Still unsure, Evan hesitated and then turned off the television. He dropped the remote on the couch and circled around behind Jane, leaning his body against hers, cupping both breasts.

"I want this," Vincent whispered to Jane.

"I want this too," she said.

The men undressed as they kissed and nibbled Jane's sensitive skin. Evan trailed kisses down her back and Vincent feasted as her nipples hardened. When Evan reached her ass, he spread her cheeks, licking first her soaked pussy and then higher, her puckered asshole. She groaned and her legs went weak. Vincent held her up, kissing all around her breasts and teasing her nipples.

They drove Jane crazy. Even when she begged for one of them to give her cock they continued using tongues and lips and fingers to please her. Vincent got hard right away but Evan took longer. Once Vincent saw his best friend fully erect, he turned his wife to face him. Jane kissed Evan awkwardly and then reached for his large cock. Vincent braced her body against his own, nestling his erection between her butt cheeks.

"I can't believe this is really happening," she murmured.

"Neither can I," Evan admitted.

Vincent pulled his wife's arms back, displaying her womanly gifts. Evan ran his eyes over her, shaking his head.

"Patch," he said. "You're fucking beautiful."

Her lips parted. "Say that again," she said.

He leaned back a few inches to take in all of her. "You're fucking beautiful, Jane."

Her eyelids fluttered and then she lowered her gaze to his huge throbbing cock. The sight of his excitement and desire sent adrenaline surging through her veins. She stared right down the barrel of him and marveled at his thickness.

"Let go of my arms, Honey," she said.

Vincent freed her. Jane bent at the waist, swallowing the head and an inch of Evan's dick. Her cheeks suddenly dented as she sucked hard. Evan groaned. Vincent's eyes grew big. He stepped away and she didn't notice. He moved farther back and bumped the ottoman but his wife and best friend were already lost in each other. Jane had her mouth welded to Evan like she tried to rip the sperm from his balls. Vincent sank into the loveseat.

Evan backed Jane towards Vincent. She laid her back on his chest and Vincent opened her legs wide. Evan stared at the pussy his best friend offered and lowered his mouth to her married slit. Jane wrapped her legs around Evan's neck and twisted to kiss her husband over a shoulder. Evan was skilled and she loved what he did but licking was not what she wanted from him. She let him go for a while and then lifted his chin.

"Take me to bed," she told him.

Evan scooped her off Vincent. She clung to his neck, glancing at her husband to see if this bothered him and was pleased to discover it did. She saw jealousy in his eyes but, to her surprise, Evan stealing her away only made Vincent harder.

"I am not falling asleep this time," Vincent said, closing the bedroom door.

They started together, Vincent and Evan, kissing and caressing Jane until she squirmed. They denied her cock, not allowing her to even touch them. They moved to every part of her body until she writhed beneath their touch.

Several times Vincent found himself face to face with Evan's cock and Jane was right; it was a beast. He'd gotten only a glimpse at his parents' ranch house but now here it was inches away. He wanted to see Jane split open by it. Jane obviously wanted that too and her reaction thrilled Vincent. She was more eager to fuck Evan than her husband and Vincent loved that she was.

At one point Evan's cock dangled over her face so Vincent moved his dick close too, allowing Jane to see them side by side, making Evan superior size obvious. Jane's eyes grew big.

"That's the sexiest thing I've ever seen," she said. "Baby, he's so much bigger than you."

Vincent's guts twisted. It was true. All his life he'd been the biggest cock in the locker room and now here he was clearly toppled from his throne. He broke into a sweat but he loved it. He loved the way his wife gawked at Evan with eyes wide open. She reached for Evan but he smoothly pulled out of her reach.

"Enough," she gasped. "No more teasing. Evan, I want you to fuck me."

Vincent kissed Jane deeply as Evan moved between her legs. Together, the married couple looked down her body at the pulsing, helmeted horn between her thighs. Evan still had doubts but a hard cock wins. Jane was wet and open and willing, her eyes begging for penetration. Vincent's lusty grin clinched it.

"Look at it, Baby," Vincent said. "That's a cock. I'm big but that's a cock."

Jane whimpered, remembering how Evan felt inside. She lifted her hips, trying to reach him, trying to capture that taunting piece of meat.

"Fuck her, Evan," Vincent said. "We can sort it all out later if we need to. Look at her. Look how badly she wants it. Give my poor wife what she craves."

Vincent kept talking and his deep voice was like a hypnotic chant. Jane could not look away from the powerful erection about to claim her. Her gaze traveled from the fat, dripping tip to the heavy, cum-filled balls and back again.

"Put it in me," she rasped, rocking her hips in frustration. "Tell him to fuck me, Baby. Make him push it in."

Vincent reached between her legs and spread her labia with two fingers. She was soaked and bright pink, clutching and grasping on empty air. Evan had never seen her like this. He'd imagined fucking her but in his occasional fantasies he had to convince her, seduce her with sweet words. Now she was pleading with him, staring at his hard cock and begging. Her husband even held her open. This was better than any fantasy he could ever conceive.

He walked his knees forward and bent his hard cock, aiming the head at her beckoning hole. He rubbed the drop of precum around the head to wet it and then leaned in. His cock dwarfed her opening. Vincent pulled his fingers away and Jane's labia folded around Evan like tiny soft blankets.

Evan leaned over Jane, easing his weight onto her, and then lowered his mouth to hers. Vincent slid off the bed, smoothing handing off possession of the girl, moving to the side to watch the penetration. Jane flowered before the stiff battering ram of flesh, blossoming, forced wide by his fat shaft. All the air left her lungs as Evan filled her tunnel. Vincent leaned closer and the bedspread rubbed his dick. Jolts of pleasure raced inside him. He flexed his hips, gently fucking the soft fabric, amazed at his sensitivity. He fondled with his hot balls.

Jane had eyes only for Evan but that was fine with Vincent; he wanted to watch. He wanted to see everything. A large cock sinking into his wife was far more exciting then he'd imagined, and he'd imagined a lot. That it was Evan between her legs mattered not at all. Her stretched cunt, her soft moans, her sharp gasps all combined to blast his mind with bolts of lightning.

He briefly regretted discovering this new thrill so late, but maybe the timing was right. Maybe Jane could consider such a thing only now. In the back of his mind he knew they had to be careful; each had a career scandal would ruin. But if he'd known, Jane would have been fucking other men for years.

Hung men. Men with long, fat, nasty cocks and big balls. Men my sweet, brilliant wife cannot resist.

Jane closed her eyes and moved her hands to Evan's arms. A long, deep, satisfied sighed rattled her throat. Evan eased the last inches deep and then they were bound, connected to each other, merged as lovers. Vincent knew her pussy was stuffed. Evan had inches to give but Jane couldn't take them.

"More," Vincent muttered. "Push your cock deeper."

"I've bottomed out, Shooter. She can't take any more."

Vincent studied his wife's body. "Try," he said. "I think she can."

Jane opened her eyes. "Obey my husband," she said, tenderly touching Evan's face. "I want it. Stuff it in. Fill me with dick."

Evan lifted his weight and curled his hips under. Jane gasped and then braced herself. She gave Evan a nod and his hips curled again. She gasped as another half inch pushed into her body.

"Oooooohhh, fuck yesssss," she mumbled.

She laced her fingers behind his head. "More."

Evan slowly eased his weight on her again. Jane flowered inside, gushing juice as her tight warren gave way. Her hot pussy stretched to accommodate the intrusion. Evan was in uncharted waters, touching things never touched. Her eyes were big, amazed at how much cock she held.

"Is he hurting you, Baby?" Vincent asked.

"Yeah," Jane gasped. "But in a good way. Andrea was right."

More shaft disappeared and Jane let out a long groan. Far up inside her, Evan slid across virgin tissue and pressed against a spongy barrier. The obstacle slowly gave way and then both felt him unexpectedly penetrate another inch.

"Oh, fuck!" Jane cried. She grabbed her tits and pulled hard. She twisted her nipples and clamped her pussy around the shaft which filled her. The sensation was far more than she expected.

"Oh fuuuuuck!" she yelled.

An orgasm ripped through her. She coughed, choking on her saliva, and then sucked air hard. Her vagina was clamped around Evan and wouldn't let go. A second wave of intense pleasure slammed her head back. She rolled her hips, babbling how good he felt. Vincent jacked off.

Evan hammered short ins and outs but her pussy gripped him so firmly he knew he wouldn't last long, so he didn't even try. No reason to hold back when he knew they'd be fucking all night.

"Turn it loose," Vincent growled. "Don't save it. Fill her again."

Jane heard her husband and something snapped. No shred of reservation remained. She longed to have her womb filled, flooded, and not just Evan. She wanted Vincent too and any other man in the room with them. She turned ravenous, hungry for men and hard cocks and hot cum.

"Fuck me!" she growled. "Fuck my cunt! Cum in me!"

Vincent whimpered with lust. Jane had never said such things, never acted with such abandon. She was reckless and he loved it. That big cock had smashed through every wall and turned her into a complete slut. Vincent watched Evan's ass move and began planning Jane's next adventure. He was a million miles away, watching Jane fuck four men simultaneously, when Evan began to shoot and Jane orgasmed again.

Vincent fixed his eyes to the spot where their bodies merged. Evan had swollen even thicker and Jane had her legs pointed at the bedroom ceiling. His large balls pulsed as he blasted away inside her, filling her with hot, baby-making sap. She smashed her hips against his, trying to capture every dangerous drop.

Vincent felt his cum rising fast. He climbed onto the bed and aimed his cock at Jane mouth. She grabbed him and stuffed his dick deep and then cum flowed into her from both ends. Just the thought that two men pumped sperm into her at the same time almost sparked another climax. When Evan shot his last, he laid on Jane, pinning her to the bed and plugging her opening. Vincent slipped off the bed to slump on the floor. Jane kissed Evan softly again and again.

"That's a huge cock," she said. "I love it. I love it. I love it."

Nobody moved. Jane had never looked sexier, Vincent thought.

"Can you go again?" he asked.

"Yes," Jane replied. "Hell yes. All night."

"I was talking to Evan," Vincent said, chuckling.

"Oh."

All three laughed.

"I already knew you'd want more," Vincent said. "I saw it in your eyes. I heard it in your moans. Don't worry, Baby, Evan and I will fuck you until the sun comes up."

Jane spread her legs and Evan's soft penis slipped out, followed by a rush of milky semen. "What I want right now," she said. "Are two tongues making me cum. I nearly did when you both dumped in me and I want it. I got so close."

Evan and Vincent looked at each other.

"Fine with me," Evan said.

He tugged her hip, pushing her on her side facing her husband. Vincent moved to the bed and lifted her leg straight up. Evan sucked his mouth over her asshole, wiggling his tongue against her tight little ring. She jumped. Vincent covered her pussy, slopping his tongue around her clit and labia.

Jane groaned loudly. "Sweet Jesus that's intense."

Her eyebrows danced as the men attacked her on both sides. Soon she was grinding her hips on their faces. She'd never felt anything like it. Evan pushed the tip of his tongue up her ass at the same time Vincent buried his tongue in her soaked and steaming cunt. She cried out in pleasure, riding both men, aiming her leg high to give them her holes. She came screaming, flooding the men with a mix of hot juices.

Chapter 19

"All night," Jane said, making sure the staffroom was still empty.

"That story was fucking hot," Alice answered.

"I was lost in a dream, Alice. Two hot men who love me and each other. There was no rivalry or jealousy. Nothing gay but both were so eager to please me. I have no idea how many times I came but by dawn I couldn't move my arms or legs. We all slept in. They missed their football games so you can imagine how special I felt."

"Little Miss Orgasm Princess."

"Exactly."

"Wasn't Evan seeing someone?"

"Andrea. Turns out Andrea left New York with her son but didn't tell her ex. He has visitation rights so she had to go back. Evan is thinking about transferring to a New York fire department to be with her and Tommy but he'll lose a ton of seniority."

"There goes your big cock."

"Sadly, yes." She played with her wedding ring. "Unless I chase Diego."

Alice made a face. "I forgot about him. Patients come with risk."

"That's true but Evan is so comfortable, you know? We've all been friends forever. Those two men would die for each other. If I introduce someone else none of that applies. What if Vincent gets jealous?"

"That can happen," Alice said. "Believe me, but keep in mind the comfort you feel with Evan also dulls the edge. Sex with a stranger is thrilling. Chances are, you would have grown bored with Evan quickly and that's no knock against him. That's just hardwired sex drive shit. Nature wants us fucking all the time."

"You think?"

"Why else is someone new so exciting? You've been touched before. You've been kissed before. Why does our heart hammer when someone new does it?"

"That's a good point."

"What about Nigel?"

Jane laughed. "He's a loveable dork but he doesn't get me going."

Both women laughed. They finished their lunch and Alice headed for the front desk. Jane sat a while longer, remembering her night with the boys. Alice raised some very good points. She imagined Diego unbuttoning her blouse and was immediately flustered. She finished her Diet Coke and cleaned her table.

She had few remaining patients so she mostly spent the afternoon in her office. She texted Vincent that she loved him and he sent the same back. With her phone in her hand, she flipped to the gallery and enlarged the pictures of Diego's files. She reread the information there, noticing by the end her hand trembled. She remembered meeting him and the effect he'd had. He'd done nothing but strip and follow her directions and within minutes she'd built a furious desire for the man.

Maybe it was the way he utterly trusted me, she wondered. His guard was down. He'd have done anything I said. My heart went out to him.

She smiled and leaned back in her chair.

But all those muscles and that long, fat dong sure helped.

She decided. She had one appointment remaining and no clinic work tonight. She pressed the intercom button and asked Alice to join her.

"Close the door," Jane said.

Alice did and took a seat.

"I'm thinking of driving by Diego's work," Jane said. "But I'd want you to come with me."

"Alice lit up. "Hell yes but why?"

Jane lowered her voice. "I have no idea what I'm doing. You're kind of an expert. You let yourself feel things that I intellectualize away. I'm trying to connect to my inner-animal but I feel lost. Sex with Evan is easy. Fooling around with strangers at the clinic, men I'll never see again, is easy. If I go see Diego, we both know why. I'd love it if you were with me."

Alice folded her hands in her lap. "I'd be honored. Let me text my husband and tell him we're going hunting. We had dinner plans but he'll be as thrilled as me that I'm going out with you."

The rest of the day passed slowly. Jane changed her mind a hundred times but because Alice was going with her, she always changed it back again. She called Vincent and shared her plans and he was anxious but excited.

"I'd love pictures," he said.

Jane promised to try.

"I'm not sure anything will happen," she said. "I'm just sticking a toe in to test the water."

"Doesn't matter," Vincent replied. "I'm feeling a little protective but incredibly turned on. I love that you're going out on your own. I'll keep my phone close and come running if you need me. I love you."

"I love you too. Baby, I'm so nervous!"

At last the women turned off the lights and locked the doors. They took Jane's BMW and on the drive Alice had Jane describe her first encounter with Diego.

"He sounds sweet," Alice said.

"There was just something about him," Jane admitted. "I was attracted with no idea what to do about it. I've learned a lot since then."

"Are you sure he's at work today?"

"No, but it's still good reconnaissance."

"What kind of place is it?"

"An industrial nursey. I checked Google Earth; wide open yard with rows and rows of plants and gravel and fountains and sculptures... everything for landscaping. Street View made it obvious I'd have a good chance of spotting him."

"If you do, then what?"

Jane looked at Alice. "How should I know? Probably pee myself and run away."

Both women laughed.

The posh office buildings and high-rises gave way to residential and then warehouses. Jane slowed.

"This is so exciting," Alice said. "I'm getting wet and I'm not the one hunting sex."

Jane was drenched but said nothing, still uncomfortable with her new role.

"Are you thinking about backing out?" Alice asked.

"No. I always finish what I start." She checked the clock on the dash. "Our timing is great. The nursery will close a few minutes after we arrive."

They rode in silence for a while and then Jane started asking questions about the swinging lifestyle Alice and her husband shared. The more she learned, the more fascinated she became.

"You and Vincent are welcome to join us the next time we go out. I'll probably shock you when you see me in action with my husband. I can get pretty dominating."

"That sounds intriguing but I was already shocked by the little bit you displayed. I've never stood guard while a friend sucked dick before."

Jane's GPS told her to make a right and then there it was; Sammy's Nursery.

"Is that him with the wheelbarrow?"

"No."

"Is that him with the shovel?"

"No."

"Is that him talking to that blonde woman?"

Jane stared at Alice.

"Sorry," Alice said. "I get excited."

Jane made a left, followed a small gravel road that ran along the back of the yard. Ahead, two men shoveled bright red sand. Neither wore a shirt and muscles bunched as they strained. Alice hummed with appreciation.

"I sure hope he's one of those guys."

"He is," Jane said. "Cowboy hat."

Alice looked the man from top to bottom. He was everything Jane had described. "I like looking at him knowing what he's packing but without him knowing I know," Alice said.

Jane pulled her car onto the dirt shoulder.

"Now what?" Alice asked.

Jane watched the men work. Diego eventually saw the two women and stopped to return the stare. His coworker joined in.

Jane impulsively stepped from her car. The wind caught her skirt a little and flashed some leg before she held it. She shut her door and leaned on the fender. The men studied her, curious, and then Diego straightened. Jane knew she'd been recognized. Diego said something to his friend and then jammed his shovel into the ground. He wiped his face and neck with a rag and strolled towards the car. Alice stepped out, shutting her door.

"You have news for me?" Diego asked, accent twanging, while running his gaze over her womanly body.

Jane tensed, feeling her nipples hardening under her bra. Whatever it was about this man, she was powerless against it. She tried to speak but her mouth was too dry. Her eyes moved from his large pecs to his thick arms and six-pack abs. When she got to his beltline she remembered what slept behind those blue jeans. She tried to speak again.

"Yes," Alice answered for her. "Is there someplace we can go?"

Diego turned his attention to Alice and she felt the impact of his stare. He lifted a dirty hand to point at a silver trailer parked across an open lot. A single powerline ran from the telephone pole. Two butane tanks sat beside the front door. A flower box filled with vibrant red roses hid the tires.

"That's my place," he said.

"We'll meet you there," Alice blurted. "Let's go, Jane."

Jane's legs were made of wood. She awkwardly turned to her car door and fumbled a bit before climbing inside. Alice fell into her seat too and the women watched Diego walk back to his friend. Large muscles across his back rippled with each step.

"If my panties were plastic," Alice said. "They'd be melted to my ass."

"You see what I mean?"

"Yes. Check the dictionary under hunk and you'll see that man's picture. I need to text my husband right now. Start driving."

Jane started the car as Alice fished her phone from her purse.

Chapter 20

"Cerveza?"

"No, thank you," Alice said.

Jane shook her head.

Inside the trailer was small but tidy; couch, table, kitchen. Bedroom at the back. Diego had set up a small studio for painting and a half-finished landscape of El Capitan awaited his brush.

"That's quite good," Jane said. "Did you go to school?"

Diego opened his beer and sat. "Self-taught," he said. He remained shirtless, allowing the breeze through the windows to cool him after his hard day. "You have news for me?" he asked again.

Jane's jaw moved but no words came. Diego watched them, slightly amused. Alice sensed they were not the first Anglo women to see the inside of Diego's trailer. Diego sat patiently.

"Beer in the fridge," he said after a while. "Help yourself. I need to shower. We can talk when I get back."

The ploy was obvious but neither woman protested. Alice nodded and Diego walked to his bedroom, leaving the door open as he stepped around the corner.

Jane turned to Alice. "I want him," she whined. "My whole body aches. He fucking paints? Are you serious? I bet he loves his Mother. I'm worried I'll leave a wet spot on this couch when I stand."

They heard water spray.

"And now he's naked back there," Jane whimpered. "Naked and wet and clean."

Alice stood and stuck out her hand. "Give me your clothes," she said.

Jane stared at the open hand for moment.

"I'm your friend," Alice continued. "and I'm making a choice for you that you cannot make for yourself. Give me your clothes."

Jane stood and slipped off her shoes. Watch, earrings, skirt, blouse; Alice admired her pretty friend standing now in only bra and panties.

"Don't think," Alice said. "Just go."

Jane reached behind to remove her bra.

"No, leave it. Give the boy a present to unwrap."

Jane swayed down the narrow hallway, glancing out a tiny window at her black BMW M2 parked outside. How strange the sight, she thought. She recognized the car as her own but couldn't connect why such an expensive and beautiful vehicle would be parked next to a run-down trailer. What kind of woman goes to see such a man? What could that man offer? A rush of adrenaline sprouted goose bumps down her arms.

I'm here to fuck a man, she thought, feeling her freedom.

The sound of water grew louder and she stepped through the bedroom door. Diego had a glass enclosed shower, no tub, and white soapsuds trailed down his dusky skin. Jane stopped to stare. Diego noticed and calmly turned his body to face her. His heavy cock wobbled and Jane's gaze went to it. Diego let her gape for a moment and then opened the shower door. Without the glass between them she saw his cock clearly. He had incredible self-control and she loved it and hated it. What woman doesn't want the man to lose control? Yet, his calm self-confidence and easy manner left her wanting to run to him. He said nothing. He didn't lift his dick and point it at her, he didn't say something crude or obvious. He waited, allowing her to choose the path, and that only made her want him more.

She unsnapped her bra and stepped from her panties.

Diego's eyes narrowed to slits. A thrill of danger sent her blood surging. Here was the animal she sought. His cock started to rise as his gaze ate her alive. He ducked his head under the water, rinsing the suds away, revealing his powerful body. Jane watched as his cock rose beyond horizontal and pointed at the wood-panel ceiling. His balls were huge.

He stepped from the shower without toweling, dripping water all over the bedroom carpet.

"Okay," he murmured. "Okay."

He twisted his fingers in her long hair and bent her head backward, exposing her throat. He raked her soft skin with his teeth and ran his heavily callused hand up her stomach to cup a breast. Jane quivered.

"I am not the first married woman to follow you home, am I?" she asked, her voice husky.

Diego grinned. "No," he said. "But you are the most beautiful of them."

Jane wanted to believe him.

His grip on her breast tightened. He pinched her nipple, then he pinched it harder. Jane winced. He pinched it harder and she gasped.

"That's better," he said. "Show me what I make you feel."

He turned her body slightly and a loud smack rang out. Jane yelped. A red handprint formed on her ass. He pinched her nipple hard and she groaned and then he smacked her ass again. Jane squealed but did not try to get away.

"Now you get it," he said.

He bit a mouthful of skin next to her nipple and sucked hard. When he pulled away he left a hickey.

"Does your old man know you're here?"

"Yes."

He placed his mouth over the hickey and sucked again, making it worse. Diego left his fingers in her hair and ran his hand over her body. He looked at her like she was gorgeous meat and Jane liked it. No lover ever treated her like this. Assertive and in charge her entire life, the men she dated respected her or never got a second date. Diego cupped her round ass and teased her wet slit with a fingertip, chuckling. Jane was ashamed of how wet she was. Diego aimed his slippery finger at her asshole and pushed, expanding the tight ring around his digit. Jane grit her teeth but let him do what he wanted. He played with her sphincter until she started relaxing, reading her, seeing the exact moment the discomfort turned to pleasure. He finger-fucked her buttole for a minute and then withdrew.

"Get on your knees," he said.

Jane obeyed. Diego draped his cock, now soft again, across her face.

"Call your friend," he said. "I want her to see this too."

Jane did and soon Alice appeared in the doorway.

"You can fuck her too, if you want," Jane offered.

Alice did not protest. Her eyes were glued to the shank lying across the bridge of Jane's nose. She'd warned Alice he was big, and Alice had plenty of experience with hefty cocks, but Jane had not done his thickness justice. He looked like a four-pound chuck roast and Alice wanted him in her mouth.

"Maybe later," Diego said. "She's cute. I liked Asians. Mostly I want her to watch you get fucked. Take my balls in your mouth."

Jane lowered her chin and opened wide. His fat balls slid down her face and tumbled into her maw and she closed her lips around his fleshy bag. He moved farther over her, bending her neck backwards uncomfortably, and then stood still, a thigh on each side of her head, her nose buried between his cheeks. He started stroking his thick shaft while looking at Alice.

"Get undressed," he told Alice.

She began to strip. He stared without flinching as her small breasts came into view. He chuckled at her tramp-stamp. Her pubes were a small landing strip.

"Can I take a picture to send my husband?" Alice asked. "He'd love to see Jane like this. He's had a crush on her for years."

"Okay."

Alice grabbed her phone and knelt next to them. She smelled Jane's excitement, a mix of sweet and spicy arousal wafting up from her cunt. She looked down and saw Jane's inner lips swollen and protruding. Alice got excited to see her boss in such a condition, open and exposed. A woman's right of refusal is a kind of armor and Alice loved seeing Jane's stripped away. She'd seen this a million times from a million wives. Her experience told her Diego could do anything he wanted and Jane would welcome it.

"What should I do next?" Diego asked.

"Fuck her mouth," Alice said. "Make her look at me while she sucks your dick."

Jane moaned. Diego freed his balls and aimed his shaft into her mouth. Jane opened wider, surprised by his thickness. Alice began snapping pictures. Diego held Jane's head with both hands and began rolling his hips, pumping his cock to the sounds of her slurping. Saliva dripped all over her tits and ran down her stomach. He stiffened and soon had to tilt his hips to stay in her mouth. When he got too hard to reach her mouth comfortably, he grabbed a handful of hair and lifted Jane towards the bed. Jane winced. He gave her round ass another stinging blow and she squeaked.

"She's not on birth control," Alice said. "Do what you want but I thought you should know."

Diego gave a little shrug. "I don't care."

Jane was suddenly thrilled with the idea of this man's sperm swimming freely about her womb. The captivating effect he had on her was more pronounced now that she found herself naked and in his bedroom. She wanted a womb sloshing with semen by the time she left here. She wanted to take it home to Vincent, maybe have him eat her to another orgasm.

"On your belly," Diego said. "Lift your butt. Spread your ass. Show me that slit."

Jane obeyed as soon as the words left his mouth.

"Lift your ass higher," he said.

Jane whimpered in shame at her obscene pose. Diego and Alice stared at the dripping pink gash. Jane's fingers spread herself wide, pulling skin and opening her pussy. Both gazed into her dark tunnel.

"That's beautiful," he said. "I love that sight to the day I die. Her husband allows her to give it to me? Coño. I take it."

Alice hurried the photos as Diego approached the bed. His cock was level so he aimed the shaft and stepped closer. He placed the large head on her lips. He shoved a butt cheek aside so Alice had a clear view. She leaned forward, focusing.

"Fuck me, that's sexy," she said.

Diego let her take pictures as he slowly sank his cock in. She captured Jane's lips expanding and contorting, pushed out of the way by his conquering head, and then wrapping tightly around the invading shaft. Diego was in charge and under control but still he could not hold back the deep groan that escaped. Jane was dripping wet yet tight enough Diego had to force his cock in.

"What the fuck?" Jane moaned. "God! Keep going..."

"You like that?" he asked.

She did not answer. Jane grabbed the sheets and bit down on them. She felt her hips expand from the inside and clenched her pussy around him like she had with Evan only this time the sensation was more intense. Bent over like this made his cock feel like a massive spike. She filled her lungs and bellowed into his bed. Diego chuckled. Alice held the camera with one hand and played with herself using the other.

"Jane, Honey," she said. "I love watching you get fucked."

She silently switched to video mode. Diego began a deep in and out and Jane's only replies were grunts and groans. He went easy until she'd coated him in slippery pussy juice and then he started to fuck her hard. He slapped her upturned ass and bit her back. Driving his cock like a piston, he sucked hard on her neck, leaving another hickey for Vincent to find. He slapped her ass again and again until each cheek was cherry red and then he bit her back hard enough to leave teeth marks.

No man had ever fucked Jane so rough and she felt dizzy and wild. Her moans flowed continuously. Diego rammed his chunky cock balls deep and held it while biting her repeatedly. Pain mixed with pleasure and Jane's overwhelmed body climaxed in a euphoric explosion. She screamed into his sheets. He barely moved his cock back and forth but to Jane it felt like a truck. She screamed again as another orgasm smashed her and burst into tears, rolling her hips around his unyielding dick. She'd never cum like this, her body clenched like a fist, amplifying her already wild climax.

Diego watched her on his cock and smiled. He loved fucking married women best. He'd gotten into a few fights with jealous husband but he always won and that only added to his pleasure, especially when the wife came crawling back. Jane was pretty and he remembered her from that first day.

At last her climax ebbed and he let her slide off his cock. She lay on her stomach without moving. She was already one of his favorites; high-class, pretty, educated, married, and, best of all, she liked it when he fucked her rough.

"You have got to fuck me with that thing," Alice said.

She climbed on the bed next to Jane and spread her leg. Jane stirred a bit and rested a hand on Alice's stomach. A weak and feeble attempt to share the moment with her friend.

"I get his cum," Jane mumbled. "Fuck him, but his cum is mine."

Diego pushed Alice's legs over her body and licked the length of her pussy. She let her head fall back but quickly lifted it to take more pictures. Diego crouched over her and fed his cock into her slit until Alice couldn't take pictures any more. She felt his wide shaft fill her empty space and sighed deeply.

While Diego fucked Alice, Jane slowly came around. Alice's small tits jerked with every thrust so Jane tenderly sucked one nipple and then the other. She slipped a hand down to rub Alice's clit and they soon had her close to orgasm.

"I want you to cum on his cock," Jane said. "First Nigel and now Diego. We've started a collection of men we've both experienced."

"All right," Alice breathed. "Keep doing that."

Jane and Diego focused on Alice and soon the woman came hard, writhing under Diego's muscular body. Jane took several pictures of Diego sliding in and out. They spread across the bed and Jane held Diego straight up. Both women teased him using fingers, lips, and tongues. He grew harder and Jane giggled while tracing a squiggly vein around the column with the tip of her tongue. Alice got video of that.

"Vincent is going to jack off like a fourteen-year-old boy," she said.

Jane stopped, looking guilty. "Oh my God, I completely forgot about Vinny."

Diego grinned and laced his fingers behind his head before Jane opened her mouth and started sucking cock once more.

They changed positions often and the girls interacted, but never with true passion. Their lust was for hard muscles and throbbing cock. They all lost themselves in the pure pleasure of sex, the ladies cumming again and again. They napped for a while and then woke Diego with a blowjob. When they had him hard, Alice found the camera.

"I want to record Diego filling you with sperm," she said, climbing out of bed. "This is your thing and I want you to have it. Trust me when I say Vincent will love watching this."

Jane wondered if that was true but Diego's heavy hand on her hip made her worries evaporate. The handsome Latino turned her to kiss and her legs naturally parted, offering him her womb. On her back, she reached up to pull him on top. Alice started filming.

Diego hooked one leg behind her knee and bent it over her body. His fat, dark cock naturally aligned with her puffy slit and he eased it deep. Jane hooked her other leg around his waist and her arms around his neck and pulled him close like she loved him. Diego moved inside her slow and strong.

They kissed constantly and Alice wondered if Vincent would like that part too. Her husband hated when she kissed other men. She did it anyway because it got him hard and ensured he threw her around the bedroom when they got home. She suspected Vincent, so new to the game, would suffer a wonderful mix of anguish and excitement. Alice did not understand the male mind in this area but quickly realized she didn't need to; fuck whomever you wish, her husband seemed to say, just make sure I get all the details.

She would make sure Vincent got all the details.

Diego may have started slow and strong but the longer they fucked, the more excited he became. Jane looked amazing under him and the sight of this accomplished white woman under him fueled his fire. He leaned back and then slapped her nipples hard. Jane gasped and looked down at them, watching as they rose to stiff points. Diego sucked several more hickies on her tits before placing another on her exposed throat. He fucked her harder, slamming his hips against her ass, driving his ramrod into her most sensitive places, ripping gasps and moans from her. Jane gave herself up to the barrage. Alice captured it all.

Diego whipped his cock free and flipped Jane on her stomach. He ordered her to spread her ass like she'd done before and Alice zoomed in to see Jane's pretty slit part, ready to be filled. Diego buried his cock and began hammering, sweat glistening on his face and back. Alice kept filming but one hand slipped down to tease her clit.

Jane orgasmed with her ass high off the bed, yelling animal sounds into the sheets. Diego didn't slow, pounding her, intensifying her climax in pursuit of his own pleasure. Alice moved around behind, wanting Vincent to see the big dark testicles swinging before they exploded and filled Jane with semen. A sexual cruelty guided her hand, seeking those shots that would most lance through Vinny's heart. She'd learned from her husband what was the worst was also often the best so she got close enough for Vincent to see the pulsing veins and hear his wife's sopping cunt. She knew Vincent would never be the same.

"Almost there," Diego grunted.

Diego punched a thumb up Jane's ass. She cried out but took it, her mind obliterated by the dual sensations.

"Now!" he shouted.

Diego slowed his thrusts but went balls deep each time and Alice was in perfect position when that fat dusky cock expanded and began to spew. Jane came again with the first blast and Diego shuddered and injected Jane with pints of sperm, inseminating her fertile, married womb.

Jane loved feeling Diego cum. Her pussy fluttered all around the hard shaft, teasing and coaxing and milking every drop of semen she could get, and she got a lot. The man gushed cum like a racehorse. Jane was a quivering wreck when Diego finally finished and Alice moved aside to catch the obscene sight of all that meat withdrawing, coated in a milky film and dripping jizz. Alice aimed the camera into her friend's hole, capturing the sea of white fluid before the pussy lips closed, sealing that huge, hot load inside. Jane remained where she was, ass high. Alice knew that ocean of sperm was flowing deeper, flooding fallopian tubes, tiny tadpoles manically seeking an egg.

Diego was lost in a fog. He still had his thumb up Jane's ass and he used her body to balance. Slowly, he returned to Earth.

"Jesus Christ," he muttered. "I never cum so hard."

Alice turned the camera off and set her phone on the dresser. She sat next to Diego on the bed and began rubbing her pussy. This was all too much to see and just walk away. She need to cum again. She played with her small Asian breasts and moments later gasped and bucked her hips, cumming hard while staring at Diego's hanging, sloppy meat.

Chapter 21

The drive back was loud. Jane kept hollering about how crazy that experience was and Alice joined her every time, howling with glee.

"Fucking Hell!" Jane screeched. "I cannot believe I just went there and did that. Fuck!"

Alice held her friend's hand. "Neither can I!" she screamed.

They laughed like grade-school friends. Traffic was light, the sun had set hours ago. Jane was talking fast, describing how everything felt, spilling her guts.

By the time they arrived back at the office, Jane was more herself. She thanked Alice for everything.

"The pleasure was all mine," Alice said. "I feel like that was your coming out party. I was thrilled to be there to see it."

"I think you're right," Jane said. " Good God, that man can fuck. Jesus, I already want him again."

"Your husband must do for now, Sweetie. I sent him the pictures and video. By the time you drive home, he'll be tied in knots. You'll get no sleep until morning."

They talked a while longer and then hugged and drove in different directions.

Jane knew Alice was right.

Chapter 22

"Mrs. Roth," the judge said. "Good to see you again. My clerk has handed me paperwork which says you've completed your community service."

"Yes, your Honor, that's correct."

"Excellent. Was the experience educational?"

"Yes. Very much so, your Honor."

The judge leaned back and regarded Jane carefully. "Why do I get the sense there is more to what you're saying?"

"Because his Honor is astute."

The judge tapped a pencil against his chin. "When last you were before me, I called you a fast girl. Is that no longer true?"

"Your Honor, I'm afraid in a new way, I still am."

"But no more speeding citations?"

"None, your Honor."

Judge Dupree studied the woman. "Is this new way likely to result in citations?"

Jane smiled and turned to Vincent sitting in the gallery. Vincent smiled back.

"No, your Honor," Jane said. "These days, it's a different kind of fast."

End.

BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com

Visit my blog; <https://MyEroticBunny.tumblr.com>

Follow My Twitter; twitter.com/MyEroticBunny

Find me on: GoodReads

Get a FREE Cuckold/Vixen Story!

Join My Mailing List

<http://eepurl.com/cTvA7P>