

A romantic couple embracing. The man is wearing a grey sweater and the woman is wearing a patterned scarf. They are both smiling and looking at each other. The background is filled with warm, out-of-focus bokeh lights in shades of orange, yellow, and green.

Dream Come True

A Hotwife Story
Matthew Lee

Dream Come True

A Hotwife Story

By Matthew Lee

Chapter 1

My eyes circled the windowless waiting room: gestation growth charts, pre-natal care posters, a table with stirrups and a wide strip of paper down the middle. One wall had a stainless-steel countertop covered with jars of tongue depressors, cotton balls, Band-Aids. Overhead, white cabinets clung to the wall. Another counter had a deep stainless-steel sink. A blood pressure sleeve hung on a wall. There was a small leather chair. There was a steel and plastic footstool.

I sat on the table with the strip of paper.

My wife had been here weeks before and all her tests checked out; she was fertile, plenty of eggs, great hormone levels.

Today was my turn. I waited for the doc to tell me my results, but I wasn't optimistic. If the problem wasn't my wife, who else could it be? We've been trying for months...years, if I go back to the first conversation Ariel and I had about kids. We dropped all birth control and jumped in with both feet.

Nothing happened for a long time and we blamed it on her hormones adjusting to the elimination of the pill. We kept at it, making love often. Again, after a long time nothing happened. This time we blamed it on stress; we both worked long hours under demanding conditions. She took a demotion and cut her hours. We kept trying and, again, nothing.

Next came an extensive battery of tests. Ariel visited one doctor's office after another, one specialist after another. Everyone thinks it's always the woman. Their plumbing has so much that can go wrong. But every test came back negative. I grew more nervous each time. Eventually it was my turn and our doctor noticed something right away. Now I was the one subjected to the tests and today I sit and wait to hear the results. I already know, but let's make it official, shall we?

The door opened and Nancy, a cute nurse, older, with big blue eyes and big boobs, stepped in. She held a clipboard. She closed the door behind her.

"Hello, Mister Hill," she said.

I gave her a nod.

"Call me Nate," I said.

"Doctor Pomeranz asked me to conduct a VGAS. Is that okay with you?"

I gave her a funny look.

"I don't know what that means," I said.

"I'm sorry. That stands for Visual Genitalia Anomaly Scan. Before he shares the test results he wants to make sure there's not a physical reason."

My heart sank. It was me. It had been me all along.

"Do what you must," I said.

"Thanks so much. I'll step out outside while you remove your pants and underwear. Knock on the door when you're ready for my return."

"You might as well stay in the room," I sighed. "Let's get this over with."

Her small, cool, professional smile told me to proceed. A minute later I stood in that chilly room naked from the waist down.

"If you'll have a seat," she said, gesturing towards the paper-strip table.

I sat.

She pulled the stool around to hold her clipboard and walked the chair closer. She leaned in and lifted my dick and balls, flattening the skin and examining the various tubes and arteries. Her warm hands felt good, despite the surgical gloves, and so did her warm breath. Her face was mere inches from my dick.

How many times have I looked down like that to a woman sucking my dick? A lot. I've never seen a woman face-first in my crotch who wasn't sucking my dick, or about to. My dick knows all this and, anticipating the attention he thought he was about to receive, started to grow.

"Oops," Nancy chuckled. "Isn't he a naughty boy."

"Sorry."

"No problem. Happens all the time."

Her words were empty of feeling. She continued her exam and I wondered how many hard dicks had gotten stuck in her face over her career. She was utterly unaffected by mine. Maybe I was feeling insecure because of the pregnancy thing and how that was now clearly my fault, but I decided I wanted her words to hold some feeling. I wanted some reaction from her. Don't treat my penis like it doesn't matter.

I relaxed. I was feeling exhibitionistic and enjoying her touch so I gazed down the front of her smock at her deep cleavage. My dick rose higher. I breathed deep and allowed him to rise as high and hard as he wished. Moments later my throbbing dick pointed directly at her nose. It was glorious. She had to work around it and I caught her numerous times gazing at the firm shaft and shapely head. I've been told by several women my dick is pretty. I'm nothing special when it comes to size but I have a great tapered and symmetrical shape. I curve straight up without twists or turns or funny bumps. Six-inches of photogenic man meat.

Yay me.

Nancy moved her chair slightly to examine my genitalia from a new angle. She gently tested with a fingertip, probing inside my scrotum. She leaned closer and I held my breath as the distance between my dick and her ear closed.

Bump.

Contact!

My penis has now and forever touched Miss Nancy's ear. I was delighted. She jumped and laughed and blushed, leaning back.

"Maybe I take this job too seriously," she joked.

"Take all the time you need," I teased.

Inappropriate, yes, especially nowadays. But to hell with that; she was touching with my penis. My comment made her uncomfortable but she put that behind her and returned to task. I was a red, pulsing, vibrant staff of life an inch from her mouth.

She had to be thinking what I was thinking. At least a little bit. I'm not a bad looking guy and I stay in shape. I had lots of girlfriends before I married Ariel. I've had lots of sex. I know plenty of women find me attractive. Even if Nancy did not, she still had an erect penis in her face, and I know she's not a lesbian. I thought about thumping her head with it but managed to control my immature impulses.

Soon she scribbled some comments on her clipboard, checked one last thing at the base of my scrotum, and sat up.

"All done," she announced, the consummate professional. "You can put that naughty boy away."

Now I heard the emotion in her voice I craved. She looked directly at my dick when she said it and stared for a half-second too long. I had her. I smiled and she smiled back warmly, looking straight at my erection again. She seemed about to say more but caught herself in time.

"I'll get Doctor Pomeranz," she said. "You may dress."

I felt good. Nancy was pleased she made me hard. I gave her a nod and waited for her to leave before tugging my pants on over my stiff dick.

"You have a lovely penis," she blurted, quickly opening the door and closing it behind her.

I took a long time to deflate.

Chapter 2

The news was bad.

I drove home in the rain, running the doctor's words through my head. Ariel and I had few options. There were programs available but each more expensive than the last. My sperm was good but much too few. Doc said there were hormonal reasons for my low count but that a wide variety of factors, and especially working too much, could be driving the depressed numbers. We have some money but nowhere near the figures he was tossing around and I told him so.

"You can keep trying the old-fashioned way," he'd said, "and hope. I've seen it happen. Be prepared for a marathon and not a sprint. If you masturbate, stop. If you wear briefs, switch to boxers. Don't get your hopes up for something quick. The odds are stacked against you but miracles happen, you never know. Be sure you let Ariel know the truth, so she understands too."

I was annoyed the reason turned out to be me.

My wife was on the treadmill when I got home and I watched from the doorway a minute before entering. She saw my face and stepped off. I told her what Doctor Pomeranz told me and we hugged. She cried a little but I stayed strong for her. We hardly spoke at all. Mostly Pomeranz had only confirmed what we, by now, suspected.

I thought she'd want to return to her workout but she took me by the hand and led me to the bedroom. No time like the present, I guess. After, she did complete her workout while I watched the last quarter of a football game, Chargers losing to the Raiders by twenty-one.

I wanted children badly but Ariel was desperate for them. She'd mentioned many times how she feels her body changing. She says the sands in the hourglass are running out. She fears if we don't have kids soon she won't be able to have them at all. I promised her I'd do everything in my power, everything the doctor recommended plus anything else we thought of, to make her dream come true.

Chapter 3

"It's a big pay increase," Paul said, staring down at me.

I was at my desk. My boss had informed me I was being transferred to San Diego, effective end of month.

"It's not the money, Paul, it's the upheaval. Ariel will be happy to leave her shitty job but we have friends here, not to mention we'll be starting from scratch with a new fertility specialist. Doctor Pomeranz knows everything about us."

Paul was dense.

"But, it's a lot more money," he insisted. "You'll be living in San Diego for fuck's sake. That place is beautiful."

"That place is expensive. Subtract the cost of living increase and the State taxes and I'll probably break-even. Home office knows that. This move is lateral."

He shrugged. The conversation was over as far as he was concerned. As predicted, Ariel was fine leaving her job.

"Maybe a fresh start is exactly what we need," she said. "Maybe a new office will reduce your stress, help you make more baby-batter."

I was feeling grim but had to smile. Ariel knew her crude comment would make me laugh.

"Baby-batter? Where'd you hear that?"

She was coy.

"Too crass?" she asked.

I pulled her close.

Four weeks later I parked my car in front of the SDC San Diego International Shipping building and stared up nineteen floors to my new office. The view would be spectacular. We have offices in Idaho, Wisconsin, Wyoming, and Montana, and I could have landed at any one of them, so I guess I should be grateful.

The older I get, the less I enjoy new beginnings.

The last month had been a whirlwind of details. We thought about selling our house but decided on renting it instead. We'd said goodbye to old friends and colleagues. Ariel flew out ahead of me, finding an apartment downtown. My math was right; after we deducted all the extra costs of living here we broke even, maybe even a little behind. One does not refuse The Company, however. Not if one wants to climb the corporate ladder.

The elevator doors opened and I introduced myself to the perky blonde behind the desk. She placed a call and a large man, all smiling teeth and massive shoulders, left an office across the bullpen and came to meet me, hand extended.

"I'm Bruce," he said.

We shook, small talked, went over logistics, and then he led me to my office. The west wall was all glass, facing the Pacific. Nice. I dropped my stuff and Bruce took me around for introductions. Nothing remarkable except Tina in sales and Alan in shipping.

Tina was stunning, a California blonde with sculptured cheek bones, long legs, and perfect tits. Her tight, thin blouse and skirt followed her curves and I forced my eyes away. Alan was a good old boy, quick-witted, funny as fuck, personable and charming. We'd be friends, I knew it. Everyone else shook my hand, mumbled a few things and got back to work.

I settled in and began to organize my office.

Over the next few weeks Ariel and I learned the lay of the land. We found restaurants we liked, fantastic outdoor theaters, incredible stretches of beaches and mountain hikes. My stress did come down but still no luck in the conception department. Doctor Pomeranz referred us to a colleague, a fertility specialist and friend named Doctor Watkins, close to my office. We liked him immediately.

Ariel got a part-time job working in a high school office. I began to show results at SDC but was careful to leave work at work. Ariel needed me present during this chaotic time so I kept her and work separate.

One month became two. We continued our visits to Doctor Watkins, trying new drugs and therapies, trying to find something that worked. We had small victories here and there as my count did climb, a little.

Many months later, I sat in his office reviewing our last failed attempt when he leaned back in his big chair. He was wrestling with something, something big. He appeared to size me up.

"Mister Hill," he began.

"Call me Nate," I said.

"Nate. You have an option I've never mentioned. I've kept it to myself due to its controversial nature. I see the distress you and Ariel suffer and I ask myself if perhaps I should share this option and let you decide for yourselves."

I was flabbergasted.

"What?" I said. "I thought we were already trying everything. Why would you hold something back?"

"Unorthodox doesn't begin to cover what I'm about to suggest. I've experienced some strong emotional reactions from couples, good and bad."

"To Hell with orthodox. Tell me. Is it something awful I need to drink? Will there be a series of painful injections? Surgery?"

"No."

"What then? What can be so terrible?"

He leaned forward, elbows on desk, fingers clasped.

"Use a surrogate."

My heart sank. Disappointment rose. This was not new. We'd considered the surrogate option years ago, back when we first thought Ariel was the problem. I shook my head sadly.

"We went over that with Doctor Pomeranz," I said. "Extracting my sperm is easy but removing, fertilizing, and re-implanting one of Ariel's eggs in her womb costs far too much. We aren't even close to that price range."

"Not a surrogate for Ariel," he said. "A surrogate for you."

I did not understand.

"A proxy male," he continued.

Nothing was getting through my thick skull.

"Another man engages in coitus with Ariel," he said, dropping his hands to his desk. "Another man inseminates her."

Gong. That got through. My jaw dropped.

"What?"

"It's more common than you think," he said. "In these specialized circumstances."

I stared blankly.

"Many couples use surrogate males," he continued. "We've a pool of men we use repeatedly. Each is frequently tested. Each has excellent DNA. No genetic defects or transmittable diseases whatsoever."

"He'd make love to Ariel?"

"No," Watkins gently corrected. "Only you can do that. His congress will be strictly professional. Couples select a surrogate whose looks match the husband. Each time insemination takes place the husband adds his as well. This way there's always a chance the baby is truly from the husband. We've found this provides great comfort. Couples simply do not question. They have the child they've always wanted. The surrogate is paid, disappears, and is never seen or heard from again."

"That's outrageous."

"Is it? Think for a moment, Nate. Set your possessive emotions aside. The child looks like you and in fact may actually be yours. The man is anonymous, spends time with her only briefly, and vanishes as if he never existed. He's no threat. Until science finds a way to boost sperm count, and considering your budget, this is your only option."

"Doctor Pomeranz would never make this suggestion."

Watkins cleared his throat.

"This suggestion comes from Doctor Pomeranz. I spoke with him days ago, stymied by your situation. I said you'd balk but he insisted I at least give you the choice."

I slumped in my chair. Let another man fuck Ariel? No way. I shook my head. His eyes were soft and kind as he watched me work through this difficult alternative.

"I appreciate the suggestion, Doctor," I said. "I do. When Ariel asks how my visit went I'll tell her about this possibility. I'll tell her what you've told me. But I expect she'll feel like I do. There must be another way."

"There is not. We've reached the end of the line."

I stared at the floor.

Chapter 4

"With me?" Ariel asked.

"Yes," I said.

"Sex? Like, in the bedroom? Sex?"

"Yes," I said again.

She pulled out a chair and sat at the dining table, dropping the last six inches as her legs gave out.

"Wild," she mumbled, smoothing the folds of her dress.

I waited, saying nothing, giving her time to process all I'd said. I knew she'd come around and feel the same as me. I waited some more, watching her face. Her mind raced. I know her and she was weighing every component, examining every facet, adding up the variables to produce one inescapable conclusion.

I waited some more.

She began chewing the inside of her cheek. She began rubbing her fingertips together, something she only does when lost in the deepest thought.

I waited some more.

"What if we tried it?" she said at last.

My jaw dropped. Again. What is it with these people?

"Honey," she explained. "This costs almost nothing compared to the other options. I wasn't a virgin when you married me. I've been with other men. We'd let him do his job and then leave and you and I spend the rest of the night making love. We can make love for days afterward, stacking your deposits on top of his. We'd try one man, just one, and if we hated it, never try again."

I was dumbfounded.

"This could give us a baby, Nate."

Her pleading face melted me. She wanted a child so, so much. I'd dragged her to a new city full of strangers and traded our house for an apartment. I'd turned our lives upside down. She'd willingly given up much so I could pursue something I wanted. Shouldn't I give her something she wanted?

"You could wait in the second bedroom," she continued. "You don't ever need to see him, or him with me. I'll call you in after he's gone. We can forget all about him and make love like we are creating life. It will be sweet."

My mind screamed no but my heart began to turn. Her imploring face held such hopefulness. This crazy plan had reignited her faith something good could happen for us. She'd given up but now optimism rose again.

"This is better than adoption," she said. "The baby will be mine for sure and there's a chance it will be yours, too. That would make it ours. Isn't that exciting? Can you imagine? We get fifty-percent no matter what with a chance for a hundred-percent."

My barriers crumbled. You can't see her sweet face. You can't hear the plea in her voice, the begging behind her eyes.

I couldn't tell her no.

"All right, Baby," I said. "I'll call Watkins in the morning and set everything up."

She leapt from the chair into my arms. Here at last was hope, a single ray but light in a dark and dreary place. Hope where there had been none for years. I hated the idea but I would man up for her.

Chapter 5

I called Doctor Watkins but he needed Ariel present too. He was willing to wait after hours and we now sat in his private office, a three-ring binder on the mahogany desk before us.

"These are the men," he said, squaring his chair to the desk. "I recommend you chose someone matching or nearly matching Nate's features; brown hair and eyes, same height and build. Take your time. We've used these men with great success."

"You have a catalog of men?" I asked. "People actually do this often enough that you can maintain a book?"

He gave me a stern look.

"Nate, healthcare in this country is a financial disaster. Doctors in my position have been encountering couples like you and Ariel for a long time. Years ago some of us formed a support group. Our rules have changed over time but the basic principle has remained the same. When we first offered this alternative, couples jumped at the opportunity to finally get the baby they'd wanted. You two have been trying for years and I have no desire to diminish your pain but some couples have tried for decades. For them, like you, this is the last solution."

He turned the binder to Ariel and slid the heavy book forward. My wife wiped her sweaty palms on her dress. Trembling hands floated up to turn the leather cover. An eight by ten glossy color portrait greeted us. Additional photos followed; face, face and body clothed, then face and body wearing only a black Speedo. Every race was represented, as well as height, weight, and body type. Well, not exactly. Even I could tell all the men were handsome.

The first man was thin but not skinny, with a pleasant smile and thick brown hair. The next man looked similar. The third was black and Ariel skipped over him quickly before landing on the fourth; a square-jawed cowboy-type with sparkling green eyes. I thought she'd linger but no. She moved through the binder rapidly, pausing rarely before moving on. By the end I was sure she'd found no one. She closed the book and eased it towards the doctor. He raised his eyebrows in a question.

"Numbers one, six, ten, or eleven," she said.

Doctor Watkins smiled, jotted down her numbers.

"All at the same time?" he joked.

Ariel laughed out loud.

"Good Lord, no," she said. "I'd have no idea what to do with myself."

My stomach was doing flips. My wife had just identified four men she was willing to have sex with, four men she wanted to have sex with. I only remembered the first guy. I wanted to ask for the binder so I could review which men she'd chosen but I was too embarrassed.

"I will make some calls," Doctor Watkins said. "There will be paperwork, waivers mostly, and a few consent forms. With a deposit, we can get started."

Ariel looked at me and for an instant I was confused.

"Oh!"

I reached for my wallet, handing over my debit card. How strange to be paying for a man to fuck my wife. It wouldn't be fucking, of course, not in any real sense. It would be nothing more than egg fertilization. They would deposit sperm and leave.

Watkins slid two clipboards across the table; forms for Ariel and me.

"Fill those out," he said. "I'll be right back."

Ariel got to work. I watched for an instant and dove into mine. After name, address, social security number, email and phone number, they hit me with this:

I acknowledge my wife will engage in coitus with another male with the intent of conception. I promise to raise any child conceived as my own. I confirm I will accept this union in the spirit in which it was formed and exhibit no hostilities towards any party involved.

There was a line for me to sign my name before I continued with medical questions. I flipped the sheet and read page two, a document granting all legal rights and privileges to the child as if they truly were my own, and a non-disclosure addendum swearing off any paternity test.

Back on page one I read that first disclaimer again and then again. Damn.

I acknowledge my wife will engage in coitus.

They tried to drain all emotion from the event but I still felt my heart freeze. I still pictured some man between her legs. I sighed and put pen to paper, signing my name.

We were committed to this path now.

Chapter 6

I had agreed to wait in the second bedroom, what would become the nursery, and only emerge when Ariel called me. She wanted me in the house in case anything went wrong and she needed help, and I agreed. I heard his knock on our front door, her voice as she greeted him, their voices from the living room, their steps down the hall to our bedroom. Ariel wore only a bathrobe around her naked body. I'd mentioned that seemed forward.

"I have no time to waste," she'd said. "I want to get this over with."

From the moment we left Doctor Watkins' office, she'd been all business. There was no talk of the man, who was identified as John One, other than logistics concerning his visit to our home. Ariel portrayed zero interest in him as a person. Her attention was focused solely on conception. She was interested in him for the one thing he could provide.

Our bedroom door squeaks when opened too wide and I heard it do that now. Maybe she needed to step out of his way but it struck me as a sign of eagerness, like she was throwing open the door just like she would soon throw open her legs. Jealousy flared and I calmed myself.

We'd wrestled with lighting the bedroom: too low and he trips over things, too high and he sees her body completely, including, as she put it, all her flaws. She decided on two lamps, turned low, one in each corner.

I risked a peek. The bedroom doors were directly across from each other and through my tiny crack I saw almost the entire master bedroom. I'd tested my view earlier and found two blind spots, then carefully maneuvered a basket of dirty clothes and my bike to fill them, which would force Ariel and John to stay in sight.

Ariel led the way. John glanced around, slightly nervous.

"You are much prettier in person," he said, checking out her ass. "And you were really pretty in your picture."

Ariel thanked him over her shoulder and walked to the edge of our bed.

Part of me still rebelled. Deep down I could not believe we were going through with this. That man was about to fuck my wife. I would do nothing to stop him.

Ariel stopped and turned to face our guest. She untied her robe and let it fall open. John gawked. My wife stays in shape. Her stomach is flat and her tits a little bigger than medium. They sag only a little, giving them a lovely curve and aiming her nipples at the sky. I was surprised to see she'd trimmed her bush for tonight. That was something she did for me on special occasions, like a date night.

"God damn," John murmured. "You're a lot prettier than your picture."

"You can toss your clothing over that chair," my wife told him.

She was still all business, but parting her robe like that had been a bit dramatic. I knew she'd done it for a reaction and been pleased.

He began to undress. She mostly ignored him but I saw her stealing little glances. His pants came down followed by his underwear. His back was to me. I had a bad angle but his dick wobbled as he stepped from his clothes and I saw a flash of partially engorged penis.

Ariel and I had a long talk a few days after we left Watkins' office. She wrestled with which man to pick but I totally left the choice up to her.

Hours later she announced she'd hit upon a plan; rather than pick one man, she'd pick all four, one each day until she finished her ovulation window. She felt multiple men further confused the conception, like the one blank handed out at a firing squad. We'd never know which man for sure or if it had been me. He didn't know it, but John was merely the first man. Ariel would have a new man each night four nights in a row.

He fondled his dick as he tugged off his socks. His eyes never left her. Ariel eased backward on our bed until her shoulders hit the pillow. She spread her legs and casually waved him forward.

"All right," she said, her voice soft.

He crawled forward on his knees. His hips, ass, and thighs blocked my view but I caught glimpses. In this absurd situation, my mind played tricks on me. He looked substantial but I couldn't be sure. Not huge, but probably bigger than me.

My breath caught in my throat. That suddenly mattered. A lot. The jealously churning my guts turned to acid. I don't know why. I hated that he might be bigger. I felt a blind panic, like he approached my wife with knife in hand. Adrenaline surged like battery acid and I fought the urge to interrupt, to throw him out of our home. He advanced on Ariel, running his eyes over her lovely body and playing with himself.

My wife was looking directly at his dick. She saw what I couldn't.

He moved between her legs. I held my breath. Why did she stare? This was business, right? Do women always stare? I tried to remember if she stared at mine too. Do women always check? I couldn't remember if previous lovers had looked at mine. They're about to allow that dick inside their bodies. Perhaps it was instinct? At least she wasn't gazing longingly at his face.

He drew closer. His knee brushed her ankle.

"Wait," she said, showing him a palm.

I exhaled. Had she changed her mind? Half of me hoped so.

Ariel turned over and rose to all fours. She looked up at his face. She moved her face inches from his cock. Was she inspecting it? She looked at my doorway and I froze. I knew from her angle my bedroom door looked closed, but I held my breath anyway. Why would she check to see if I was watching?

Satisfied I wasn't, she opened her mouth and slipped his cock in. Her cheeks dented as she pulled hard, creating a strong vacuum around the head. I was stunned. She wasn't doing this to wet him. We had lube on the nightstand. Her tongue slipped out, playfully whipping around his cock head. She sucked hard again and backed away.

"Sorry," she said, wiping her mouth with the back of her hand.
"Couldn't resist."

"Do that again," he gasped.

She'd rocked him but he recovered quickly. He gripped his dick at the base and offered it to her like an ice cream cone. She checked my doorway again and opened wide, forcing him deep this time, gagging before sucking hard and pulling off with a pop. For the hundredth time, I wished I had a better view.

"Don't stop," he begged.

"I'm not supposed to do that at all," she said, eyes smiling. "This was supposed to be all business. I can't get pregnant sucking your dick."

"I don't care. I love seeing my dick fuck your pretty face. Suck me again. I'll fuck you after."

Ariel hesitated. She wanted to, but oral sex had nothing to do with making a baby. My wife stared at his hard cock again.

"No," she said at last. "Let's finish this."

She eased onto her back and spread her legs.

"Put it in me," she said.

John moved closer, working the head around her opening until he found the sweet spot. Their eyes met as he leaned over and slipped an inch inside. Her lips parted. He eased another inch in. Her eyes widened. She licked her lips. He gave her another inch and she gasped. Her all-business attitude was crumbling by the second.

"You're thick," she moaned.

He held himself above her, slowly moving his hips, feeding her pussy more cock. She placed a hand behind his neck. We'd agreed kissing was off-limits, but she sure looked like she was about to. His cock was wet now and began a smooth and deep in and out. Her head fell back before she snapped it back up.

"That feels good," she said, breathing ragged. "Really good."

Her foot slid up his hamstring until resting on his ass. Her other hand joined the first behind his neck and her other leg circled his waist. She crossed ankles behind him.

John fucked my wife deeply, probing her wet tunnel, studying her reactions, learning what she liked. Now her breathing was shallow and fast. He dropped his head to lick her tits, nibbling her nipples. Ariel moaned.

"I'm gonna cum," she rasped.

I raised my hand to cover my mouth. What? How? Why?

I pressed my eye to the narrow gap, watching everything with burning intensity. Her hips started to rise to meet his firm thrusts.

"Just like that," she whispered. "You feel good."

John was pumping strong, his lithe body tangled in her arms and legs, his thick cock slicing in and out. I heard her wetness. I heard his dick stirring her pussy. She tightened her grip and he thrust harder and faster. Ariel buried her face in his neck and moaned loud. His piston-cock now slammed her mound again and again. He was driving her towards a hard orgasm and I couldn't believe it. She squeezed him tight and loudly squealed and there it was, boom, Ariel, my beloved wife, cumming on another man's cock. I felt dizzy. I felt hurt. I'd never considered this possibility. I'd never imagined the pleasure he'd give. My heart raced listening to Ariel's moans and gasps. His cock had driven her to the heights of bliss. Blood surged in my veins. Ariel's throaty cries pierced me. It was agony to hear what he did to her but my penis rose anyway.

John groaned and Ariel slapped both hands on his ass.

"Cum in me," she rasped. "I feel you swelling. Fill my pussy. Give me a baby."

My dick was cast iron.

John was thrusting wildly. His face was a frozen grimace. He gave a long drawn out groan and then slowed his plunging hips and I knew he'd begun to spray hot sperm inside her womb.

He unloaded a flood of semen. Ariel clutched at his body, trying to pull his spurting cock as deep as she could. The sight sent my mind tumbling. Why was I hard?

He fucked until his juice ran out and they lay there heaving. He tried to move but my wife tightened her grip so he stayed, only untangling long minutes later.

He slipped from our bed, soft cock drooling semen. He kissed her forehead and then dressed, showing himself out. I heard the front door click into place. I heard his feet on the walkway outside as he passed my bedroom window.

"Babe?" Ariel called softly. "Nathan?"

I threw my door wide, shedding clothes as I crossed the hall. I entered the room raging hard and Ariel giggled when she saw it, relief softening her face.

"Your turn," she said, spreading her legs. "Beloved husband."

I sank all the way without resistance. John had stretched and inundated her pussy. There was little friction but I was excited so it didn't matter. My wife's vagina was filled with another man's semen and that tickled my brain down at the root. It was maddening. I was equally anxious and aroused. I expected to be nervous but the arousal caught me totally by surprise. My penis swam in John's sperm, my mind set on fire. I gazed at her face beneath me, half expecting her to change into someone else. Ariel would never have sex with another man but Ariel had. I saw it myself. I struggled to grasp the fact that her womb now bathed in another man's sperm. I pumped my dick in her soaked cunt.

"Aaaaaaaaaggghhh!" I threw my head back and screamed my angst.

Ariel looked alarmed, worried for my pain. I fucked her hard and fast, slamming her mons. She encouraged me to fuck her harder. I tried my best to make her cum again but couldn't and soon released a deluge. My body shook with orgasm, possibly the best of my life. I dumped every drop into the same womb John had just claimed. I landed on top of her, out of breath and still horny.

"Wow," she chuckled. "Dang, Baby, I don't know what I expected from you but I'm sure it wasn't that. You came hard!"

I couldn't answer.

She coiled her legs around my legs and her arms around my neck, holding her husband close, reassuring me that all was well, we'd be fine. Tears rose but I blinked them away. I was torn by what we'd done. I understood the necessity but sex is powerful. I worried about the unknown forces we'd released, what unforeseen consequences we'd face. I swore a silent oath. I told myself when her belly began to swell, I'd claim that baby as my own. I'd make going through all this worth it.

At last I came around, realizing my weight made it hard for her to breathe. I rolled onto my back but she followed, tossing her leg over mine, her arm across my chest. She craved close intimate contact and I did too.

"We did it," she murmured.

I heard the glow in her voice. She practically purred. She felt now, finally, we were truly on the path to a child.

"You okay?" I rasped.

"Me? Yeah. I had the easy part. The question is are you okay? You just sat and listened. That had to be difficult. I'm amazed by you."

I almost mentioned I saw her suck his cock but let that sleeping dog sleep. What was the point of an insecure jealous protest? Ariel was no robot. There would need to be some human connection between her and the men from the clinic.

"Honestly," she continued. "I worried about you getting hard after I'd been with him. That's another reason I wanted you in another room. I need you in me each time. I must know the baby could be yours. I thought watching or participating might kill your erection but you went the other direction. I've never felt you so hard. Why?"

I felt her pussy leak semen against my thigh.

"I'm as mystified as you," I said. "Did you orgasm?"

The words were out of my mouth before I knew I was speaking them. I already knew the answer. I don't know why I asked the question. Maybe I was testing her honesty. Maybe I needed to know her truthfulness was intact after John.

"Yes."

Her voice was barely a whisper, full of worry and fear. She expected me to explode, possibly call this whole thing off. How can she explain that orgasm to her husband? I was relieved she told me the truth.

"Sorry," she added.

I was pondering why I'd asked that question when she spoke again.

"Can we cancel the other guys and stick with John?"

I silently gasped. Wow. What a punch to the gut.

"Why?" I asked, keeping my emotions in check.

"Everything went smoothly with him. I don't want to jinx it."

"What about mixing the parentage? We wanted more doubt than one man. Four men increase the odds."

She pursed her lips.

"Five men," she said.

"Think about it," I said. "I like more men involved. I don't want to know it was either me or John. Fifty-fifty is too close to home. It's up to you, Ariel, and I'll abide by your decision, but I'd rather confuse things."

She snuggled close, squeezing my chest.

"You're wonderful, Nathan. I mean it."

Yeah, wonderful Nate, handling all the details on who fucks his wife. She moved a little and a trickle of cum left a trail down my leg. I was hornier now than right after we fucked and my penis tried to rise. Her cries of climax floated in my brain.

"Why did you orgasm?" I asked. "Is John that handsome?"

She tensed a moment then relaxed.

"Do we need to talk about this? I feel guilty."

"Then we definitely need to talk," I said. "You should feel no guilt at all. We are doing this together, as a happily married couple."

She softly sighed.

"Yes," she said. "John is good-looking, but that's not why I came. I got caught up in the moment. What we are doing is flippin crazy, Nate, you must admit that. His body is lean and well defined and he moves sexy. He has gorgeous eyes and they were staring down at me and his penis felt so different and good and then he was moving in and out and waves of intense pleasure rose and crashed all around. I couldn't believe it. I'm glad you weren't there to see it."

Her words ignited my blood.

"His penis felt good?" I asked.

I heard the strain in my voice. She missed it.

"It felt incredible," she said. "He's thick and long. He felt new and special."

She could only mean special compared to me. She caught herself saying too much and stopped talking. I stroked her hair.

"Go on," I said.

She looked up my chest at me, confused.

"Tell me more," I murmured. "Tell me how you fucked him."

For a second she was going to deny it was fucking but let the point go.

"Baby," she softly said. "Are you sure?"

I nodded. To make my point I took her hand and placed it over my growing penis.

"Tell me more," I repeated.

Confusion, uncertainty, trepidation, and puzzlement all flashed behind her eyes.

"Tell me how you fucked John," I whispered.

She swallowed, took a breath, relaxed.

"He leaked precum," she began. "A big drop of it hung at the tip of his dick. I couldn't look away. You know how much I love it when your penis does that; like I'm so sexy the man's body can't wait. Given what he was there to do, I found that globule mesmerizing. He moved closer and I had to do something about it. Oh!"

She felt my penis surge against her palm and lifted her hand to look. Amazed I was already regaining my erection, she continued.

"Don't get mad," she said, her voice turning sexy. "Promise?"

"I promise."

She settled in closer to me.

"My mouth watered for that drip of cum, Nate. I'm sorry. I crawled over to him and slipped his cock in my mouth."

"How did he taste?"

She couldn't believe my question. She thought I must be torturing myself. I answered her unspoken concern.

"It excites me," I said. "To hear you talk about it."

She studied my face, beginning to understand.

"How did he taste?" I repeated.

"Good, Baby. He tasted sweet. Your cum is bitter but his is sweet. I sucked out what already filled his tube and wanted more, but worried about making him orgasm before he put it in me."

Her words seared my mind.

"I took my mouth off him and leaned back. He hurried forward, which I loved, and found my pussy. He spread me wide, Nate. His big dick expanded my pussy."

I was stiff in her hand. She could wait no longer. She climbed on top, straddling my hips and aiming my dick at her hole. Semen dribbled from her slit to my head and then she sat on me, driving my penis all the way in. Her pussy was a furnace.

"God!" she cried.

She rocked her hips, the task of obtaining my sperm forgotten as she worked towards another orgasm.

"Tell me," I hissed.

"His cock felt fantastic," she whimpered. "Baby, he felt good in me. His stiff dick touched everywhere. I realized with a shock this was not my husband, some other man was in me. That truth crashed into my mind. I urged him faster, treasuring his fat firm dick. I was fucking someone else, someone not my husband."

She was breathing fast now.

"I felt wild, Honey," she said. "His body dragged my clit over and over and then it happened. My pussy grabbed his cock and squeezed. An orgasm ripped through me, just like this one!"

Her head snapped back and she groaned. I was there too, moaning deeply as I watched my wife climax. I shot hard blasts up into her. She felt what was happening and her orgasm shot skyward.

"Cum in meeee!" she cried, climaxing even harder.

We rode the wave together, cumming together for the first time in many years. Our cries bounced around our bedroom. His semen dripped from my balls. Our moment was an explosion of erotic sensation. She fell to my chest and stayed there until my deflated penis fell out.

"That," she exhaled. "That was amazing."

Chapter 7

We canceled the other guys. Why mess with success? John was everything we'd hoped for and since Ariel with him increased my libido, there was a better chance I'd produce the baby. It stung to imagine Ariel with him again and again, I admit that. It stung that she chose him so quickly as her sole lover.

He arrived the next night ten minutes early and Ariel greeted him in another robe, this one much shorter. I noticed she loosely tied the thing and had breasts spilling out as she walked to the door. They air-kissed cheeks and then she rushed him to the bedroom. I watched again from the nursery.

She dropped the robe and sat on the corner of our bed, watching him undress. They said almost nothing but when his boxers came down, Ariel raised a finger and gestured him forward. His cock rose higher with each step. She lifted the thing the last few inches and slipped him into her mouth, closing her eyes in pleasure. She sucked the head and licked the shaft. I hated that my view was obscured. This time she held his dick straight up and nuzzled his balls before licking them too.

"Twin orbs of magic baby syrup," she joked.

So much for all business.

He held her head and aimed his cock into her open mouth. I did not like the way he assumed he could direct my wife to do what he wanted, but at the same time it turned me on. Ariel was happy to obey, enjoying his assertiveness.

She tried to scoot farther up the bed and open her legs but he grabbed her upper arm and told her to turn around, arranging her on all fours. He stepped closer and bent his dick to her slit, grabbing big handfuls of her round ass as he pushed in. Ariel gasped as John's thick cock invaded. He pumped a few times to thoroughly wet his cock and then began smoothly fucking her tunnel. Ariel groaned.

"You feel bigger from behind," she moaned, biting a lip and allowing him to fuck her however he pleased.

"Bigger?" he said, grinning. "If you like bigger you should meet Francis."

"Who's...Francis...?" Ariel grunted between strokes.

"A guy from the clinic. All the women want him. Got a big dick and he's hot."

John leaned over her back, driving his cock deep. Ariel bowed her body to align with his. Her face told me how much she loved his cock.

"Can you cum again?" he asked after a while.

"Yesssss," she moaned. "I've been holding back."

"No girl. You let that shit rip. Give it to me."

John leaned away, moving his hands to her waist. He held her motionless while he drove his cock into her sopping split. Ariel blissfully took every inch. My dick had risen to hard long ago but I must ignore it, saving every tadpole I had for her womb.

It's quite something to watch your wife fucked by a breeding stud. My dick strained at my pants like a rabid junkyard dog pulling its chain. I couldn't wait. The harder and deeper he fucked my wife, the more I wanted her.

"Oooooohh nooooo," Ariel wailed, cumming hard, gushing dripping wetness.

John was free to ejaculate any time but he didn't, savoring the sensations of my wife's tight pussy wrapped around him. He fucked her strong, burying his cock in her velvety smoothness. Much later, and only when he was ready did he pump faster and release his massive load.

Like before, he left soon after. Ariel called me into the room and, like before, I fucked my wife with abandon, adding my load to John's. I fucked her again at bedtime.

"This is fantastic," she murmured, wiped out. "I love this, Baby." We both did.

John came back the next night but this time Ariel and I met him at the door together. I led her to the bedroom and Ariel and I enjoyed the first threesome of our lives. John was in charge, directing us both. We took turns in Ariel's mouth and pussy, delivering huge loads deep in her womb. After, we sat around and talked for an hour and then he fucked her again. I couldn't get hard despite her efforts.

He was back the next night and Ariel invited him to sleep over, which he accepted. We took turns on her all night but he was a far greater Cocksman. I managed twice before dawn but having me there watching him proved inspirational. He pumped four loads into my wife.

In the morning, we all had breakfast before I left for work. I was sick to my stomach backing the car from the garage, leaving him with her. They waved from the kitchen as I drove away. How many more times could he manage before I got home late tonight? John had certainly delivered what we paid him for.

Now we crossed our fingers and waited.

After a week Ariel began pregnancy tests. We waited in quiet anticipation as a single line slowly formed. Sperm can live for days inside a woman so we tried again four days in a row. Nothing. I thought Ariel would be crushed but I was wrong.

"Back to square one," she said optimistically. "Next month, around the fifteenth."

"John again?"

She gave a little shrug.

"John, maybe, but he kind of had his chance. One of the pictures was a guy named Francis. Maybe I'll try him."

She was unaware I'd heard John's comments.

"Francis?" I asked. "Which picture was he? I don't remember him."

"You'll remember when you see him," she said.

No, I won't, I thought. I just hope he looks like me.

Chapter 8

Two weeks later Ariel and I sat at Rumford's enjoying a delicious selection of imported English beers. Surrounding us were dark stained redwood tables and chairs accented with leather. Various coat-of-arms decorated the walls as well as football, what Americans call soccer, jerseys.

We'd had sex only once over those fourteen days but we were happier and closer than ever. We sensed we were on the right path and a child was inevitable. All the pressure was gone and I was shocked to discover how much stress and anxiety I'd carried around every day. Ariel too.

We'd just finished a lager when a shout across the bar made us turn; John One, out with friends. He waved and excused himself from his group. I expected a quick hello but conversation took off and soon he pulled up a chair. Outside the bedroom he was a sweet guy, real name Philip, and we discovered we liked him as a person and not just a surrogate. His buddies left after an hour and he waved them away, staying with us.

He'd just made a point about politics, slapping his hand on the table, when Ariel gently covered his hand with her own. Three sets of eyes darted around the table, each of us looking at each other before all bursting with laughter.

Ariel did not remove her hand.

In an instant sexual tension crackled the air. We'd been days without sex and this opportunity felt perfectly natural and exciting. Ariel looked at me, hopeful. This would not be about conception. The timing was all wrong. This would have nothing to do with trying to get pregnant.

My dick stiffened in my pants.

I gulped a stout to wet my suddenly parched throat. I gave one microscopic nod and Ariel slid her chair away from me, around the table to sit thigh to thigh with Philip. He was more than ready, turning her head and kissing her deeply and with real passion. I shifted in my chair, incredibly uncomfortable by the steely erection poking my jeans. Their attraction was animal and urgent.

Ariel broke the kiss to ask about my job.

I faltered, confused.

"Tell Phil and me about the kind of work you do," she said.

Now I understood. She was out with him, not me. She was Phil's date, not mine. Our night would continue as before but with Ariel play-acting for the crowd. This allowed her to fawn over the man and not appear slutty to the hometown crowd. I thought her idea brilliant. When we finished here Phil would come home with us and together we'd fuck Ariel's brains out, but for now we'd stay and play our little game, fanning the flames of lust. Genius, and intoxicating. It tormented and excited me but somehow Ariel had known this.

They became the couple and I was the outsider. They touched, they kissed, they laughed and snuggled. They shared an air of intimacy that had my penis throbbing. Why, I don't know, but I didn't need to know. It simply was. I couldn't wait to get Ariel home and undressed. She was visibly aroused. Cheeks flushed, pupils enlarged, wet lips swollen. Phil and I would ravage her.

Except Bruce, my new boss, slammed his beer on our table.

"Nate!" he shouted. "How are you?" He slung his beefy arm around my shoulder and gave me a bruising squeeze. "Introduce me to your love-bird friends."

Speechless.

Stunned.

Thank God Ariel instantly figured out what was happening and kept her mouth shut. Philip got it a second later. Those two turned to stone while I got my jaw working.

"Bruce!" I said. "Good to see you, buddy. Meet my friends, Philip and Ariel. Phil got a promotion and we are out celebrating."

Bruce extended a hand and Phil shook it. Bruce was clearly buzzed.

"Congrats, Phil," Bruce said. "Well done. I'm here with a gang from the office. Turn and wave, Nate. You don't know them yet but you'll recognize faces."

I turned. Bruce was right, I knew none of them well, but I knew their faces and they knew mine. I waved and smiled.

"Come join our group," Bruce said. "I insist. I'm buying and I insist."

Ariel looked at me for a way out but I saw none. Just get through this and get on our way. Make some small talk and call it a night.

"All right," I said, meeting Ariel's eyes. "For a while. I know Ariel and Phil are eager to get home."

Bruce stepped aside. We left our table to join the group from work.

All things considered, it wasn't too bad. Nobody discussed politics or abortion or religion and we all had fun talking and laughing. Phil and Ariel acted like a couple and it drove me nuts. Ariel realized what she was doing to me and playfully returned from the bathroom with another button opened on her top. My eyes popped and she almost laughed out loud. She was all over Phil, touching and kissing, hanging on his every word. She was turning him on for later but turning me on at the same time, and she knew it. The more attention she gave him the harder I got. It was maddening. I found myself yearning for him to fuck her, just so I could reclaim her.

Finally, we announced we needed to leave. Bruce asked me to stay but I said I had to drive them home. We all said our goodbyes. Ariel and Phil walked ahead of me arm in arm, Ariel giggling and Phil kissing her often. She climbed into the backseat with him and I drove, stealing glances as traffic allowed. She broke her kisses to lower her head to his lap. My wife's head bobbed, sucking his cock. We were close to home when I heard him say he'd cum if she didn't stop.

"Then cum," she said, matter-of-fact. "I love your sweet jizz. No baby making tonight so why not? Give me something to drink now and then fuck me once you're hard again, after Nate."

Her tone was casual but I heard the lust in her voice. Ariel has always loved sex but we'd opened the door to something different. This was raw fucking. This was sex run wild. She had her choice of hot new lovers, and all with my permission and encouragement. What had started as an unemotional calculation had blossomed into a ravenous hunger. Ariel was rapidly learning all that she could get away with.

I unzipped and freed my stiff dick. She was in the back seat giving a blowjob but I wasn't mad. My penis stuck up from my lap harder than ever.

I heard her slurping mouth gliding up and down his pole. Phil groaned and closed his eyes, his head fell back. Freed from all constraints and doubts, Ariel sucked his dick like a whore.

"Jesus," he grunted. "Here it comes."

Ariel sucked even faster. Phil growled. Phil groaned and covered his face.

"Almost," he gasped.

His body went rigid. His hips left the seat. Scalding semen erupted and my wife gulped fast, swallowing everything, sucking hard for more. Ariel finally got the tasty load she'd craved. I caught glimpses of her tongue snaking out to swirl the head and lick the shaft. She held his dick with both hands, gobbling every drop.

After his orgasm, we drove in silence. We all knew he'd be hard again in less than an hour. Regrets began to seep in. What were we doing? How could I allow this? This had nothing to do with making a baby and everything to do with Ariel enjoying a new partner. What about me? If she got someone new, shouldn't I?

I tilted the rearview mirror. A passing streetlight illuminated the backseat. They were kissing deeply, Ariel holding his soft heavy cock in her hands. His balls rested on our car seat. He'd opened her top and played with her lovely tits, thumbing her nipples. She'd get that cock hard again and then it would go inside her.

With a thump in my gut I realized something profound: I had zero interest in a new lover. I watched Ariel with Phil and it tore me up almost as much as it excited me, but I couldn't imagine myself touching another woman. Maybe, maybe we'd meet someone and I'd have the right to insist, but as I drove through the dark city with my wife and her lover, I already had all the excitement I needed.

Chapter 9

"Bruce is a handsome, handsome man," Ariel said.

We strolled the vegetable section of our Ralph's. Ariel had collected several cucumbers, bagged them, and placed them in our cart. I raised my eyebrows and gave her a look, my gaze bouncing from her face to the vegetables and back again. She laughed out loud.

"No," she chuckled. "One has nothing to do with the other. I'm just saying."

I studied her. Over the last week she'd mentioned every attractive man she saw. I knew what was happening for her: we'd opened the door to all the possibilities. She looked at every man differently now. Every man was a potential lover.

"He's my boss," I said. "That would be a complicated, tangled mess."

She was quiet for the pasta, kitchen utensils, and cereal aisles, but jams and jellies loosened her tongue.

"He thinks I'm with Phil," she said. "I appreciate what you're saying but for the sake of argument, I'd be cheating on Philip, not you."

I took a different slant.

"You are too close to ovulation time, Ariel. We do not want Bruce to father our child. He doesn't look like me."

Just another insane conversation like many we've had lately.

"True," she admitted.

Minutes later we were in the coffee aisle.

"He could wear a condom," she said.

I don't know what my face did but Ariel started laughing.

"I'm fucking with you," she admitted. "You should have seen your expression. That was mean, I'm sorry."

"It was funny though."

She nodded.

"It was."

I knew what she was doing and her little game worked; now as we browsed for groceries all I could see was Bruce between her legs, his big hulking body sweating as he fucked my wife. Was she picturing the same thing? Pandora had nothing on me.

The goddess, not the music streaming service.

I surveyed the landscape; If we were allowing other men to fuck her, why only once a month? Women's bodies do not follow a strict timetable. She could ovulate at any time. The more sex she had, the greater our odds. Moreover, while pregnancy was still the goal, why stop there? John who is Philip showed us sex for the sake of sex was hot and exciting. Ariel and I loved it. We always had our best sex was after her lover left.

Why pay for the men from the clinic at all?

The Rabbit Hole beckoned, a dark, gaping maw growing wide, threatening to swallow our lives whole.

Jesus.

"You okay?" Ariel asked.

I looked at the bottles of dressing in her hands, sensing she'd asked my preference. I pointed at the ranch. She put the Caesars back on the shelf, reading the label on the ranch. I eyed her from the side. My wife was sexy and pretty, with a nice body, smooth skin, and great hair. Men smiled at her all the time.

She had started to smile back.

Chapter 10

"That sounds satisfactory," Doctor Watkins said.

"Very much," Ariel offered.

"Nathan?" he asked.

"What she said."

Our check-up had gone well. Ariel was in great shape and my sperm count had surprisingly increased. Dr. Watkins called it "Sperm Competition" and said he'd been expecting this. The news thrilled Ariel.

Dr. Watkins referenced his clipboard.

"You ovulate again soon?"

"Yes," Ariel said, practically glowing.

"John One?"

She fidgeted in her seat.

"Um, is Francis available?" she asked.

I turned warm. I knew what she was doing but she didn't know I knew. Her lust excited me. Francis was a ripped, handsome, well-hung stud all the ladies loved and my wife wanted a taste. Watkins turned to his computer, clicked a few times, scrolled.

"Yes," he said.

His expression was controlled surprise, confirming, to me, Francis had not been one of the photos he'd originally shown us and wondering how Ariel had learned of him. Doctor Watkins is a smart man and quickly pieced things together, but made no comment.

"Thursday, the fourteenth?" he asked.

"Perfect," Ariel said. "Tell him eight o'clock, like Philip."

Doctor Watkins caught her slipup. He looked to me for how he should react and when I didn't, he didn't either. He'd seen it all.

"I'll make sure he knows," was all he said.

Today was Tuesday. Francis would knock on our door Thursday. In two days, some big swinging dick would enter our lives and enter my wife. My stomach flipped several times but I felt my balls manufacturing extra semen. Sperm competition indeed.

Work got crazy and for the next forty-eight ours I was absorbed solving problems and putting out fires. I hated to neglect Ariel like that, especially with what was coming down the road, but there was little I could do. I was at my desk Wednesday around six when my cell rang. Ariel asked how I was and how work was going and then she asked if Philip could take her to dinner. My skin froze.

"Why?" I asked.

"I'm hungry, I'm lonely, and he called to invite us both. Since you're stuck at work, I thought I'd go with him anyway. It's just Olive Garden."

I had no good argument against it.

"Say no if that's how you feel," Ariel added.

"Go ahead, Babe. Why not? It's only dinner, right?"

She hesitated.

"Maybe some dessert, too," she said.

I heard the playful strain in her voice, the hopeful anticipation. She hoped more would happen. If it did, this would be the first time I wasn't around for it. She'd be fucking another man all on her own. My icy skin began to crawl. My stomach turned sour. Anxiety ate me alive but some perverse masochistic urge dared me to do it.

"Have fun, Baby," I said.

"Really? You're amazing, Nathan."

We disconnected. I stared at the phone in my hand a long time. I was alone at the office, thank God, and I rubbed my crotch. Now that the call was over I thought of a million questions to ask; what time? How long? Drive separately or together? Will you come back to our home after? On and on.

I set my phone at arm's length but continued to stare at it. Angst churned my guts but I strangely enjoyed the sensation. The wall clock said six-thirty-five. I added all the steps needed and figured they be at the restaurant by seven-fifteen, seven-thirty if Ariel needed to change her clothes first. I tried to work best I could. At seven-twenty I received a picture of pasta marinara and bread sticks, along with a big smiley face.

Two hours of silence had me going crazy. Dinner was over, I was sure of that. What was she doing? I'd be at my desk at least until eleven, possibly midnight.

I couldn't stand it. I sent a text asking what she was going on. I got no reply.

At ten minutes after midnight I turned off my office lights and closed the door. The drive home took forever. I was pleased when I turned into our neighborhood and found no car in our parking spot. The lights were off in our apartment. I undressed in the living room like always and shuffled to the dark bedroom. Ariel slept and I listened a moment to her deep breathing. Everything seemed normal. I pulled back the covers and joined her in bed. She stirred, rolling to face me and kissing my cheek.

"How was work?" she murmured.

"Hard," I admitted. "How was Philip?"

"Hard," she whispered.

She took my hand and guided it between her legs. Warm sticky syrup greeted my fingertips. Phil had deposited multiple load in her. I'd need to wait until morning to learn how many. For now, I rolled her on her back. She was half-asleep, more than half, but I didn't care and neither did she. My suddenly penis slipped straight in and my barely contained lust made me cum far more than the sensation of her well-used pussy.

She'd fucked him without me present. What was next? Spending the night at his place? I knew I had to draw the line somewhere but her scandalous and unpredictable actions turned me on.

Chapter 11

We were back to square one. Ariel greeted Francis at the door wearing only a short robe while I waited in the nursery.

"You're hot," I heard him say from the living room. His voice was a deep rumble.

"Thanks," Ariel giggled, nervous but trying to cover it. "So are you."

Their voices dropped too low for me to hear so I waited. I heard the stress in her voice. Francis, despite his girly name, was all man. Ariel was smitten, I knew it. I was dying to see this guy.

When a dining chair scraped across the kitchen floor, I knew they'd never made it to the bedroom. They hadn't left the kitchen. The dining table creaked and Ariel moaned and I cursed under my breath. Leaving this room would be a risk but I had to see what was happening. I could travel the hall all the way to the living room but that would be all. Whatever I could see from there would have to do.

I carefully opened the door, pulling it to behind me. I may need to reenter fast. I wore socks so the carpet absorbed any noise. A deep male voice moaned. I peeked around the corner, hiding behind the hanging pothos plant.

Ariel's short robe lay abandoned on the kitchen floor. Nude, she knelt at his feet, his soft fat cock draped across her face while she sucked his big balls. Her arched back made her tits look spectacular. Even from here I saw her erect nipples.

All at once Philip didn't look so big. He was above average, bigger than me to be sure, but Francis had a man's cock, a powerful scepter of masculine strength. The large head carried the shaft an inch or two down this side of her face. He was thick like an anchor rope, thick like my wrist, veined and pulsing. His shirt was open displaying large pecs and washboard abs. He wore his jet-black hair long, past his shoulders. She'd shoved his pants down to his knees and that's where his belt kept them. His big hands rested tenderly atop her head.

Ariel looked up into his eyes. She opened her mouth wide, allowing him to see his testicles fall onto her tongue. Her cheeks puffed from the hefty flesh bag her mouth tried to capture. She tired of that quickly, eager to get the head and shaft in her mouth. I wondered what his precum tasted like. I wondered if my wife liked his flavor.

He tried to lift her to her feet but she resisted, eager to suck more cock. He was growing longer and thicker and my wife was lost in lust. Not until he stuck out horizontal did she comply, rising to her feet and helping him lose the rest of his clothing. She pressed her naked body against his naked body and my heart stopped. She looked gorgeous, hungry for sex, ready to eat this man alive.

"Take me to your bedroom," he rumbled. "I want to fuck you in your bed."

Ariel took his cock in hand and I darted for my hiding place in the nursery. Francis gave my door a hard look while passing but I was sure he didn't see me. His erect cock was like a ship's figurehead, a weapon aimed at my wife. His cock was a massive pink fang, a curved incisor topped with by a red helmet. My wife tugged him along, her fingers small against his girth. She let go as she reached the bed, bending at the waist and offering her wet pussy from behind. He lifted her by the ass, turning and tossing her like she weighed nothing.

"On your back," he demanded. "You're gorgeous. I want to fuck you face to face."

Ariel closed her eyes briefly, like his words struck deep. She hurried to obey, spreading her legs far but not too far, trying to avoid appearing too slutty.

"Grab behind your knees," he said. "Open yourself. I want to taste you."

This guy was hitting all the right buttons. Ariel closed her eyes again and opened her legs, pulling and lifting, lewdly offering him her juicy cunt. He lay face down on our bed and lowered his mouth to her slit. Ariel gasped as his tongue made contact then began an endless stream of moans and groans as his tongue tortured her sensitive pussy. I saw him fuck her hole with it. I saw him slather that wide muscle across her clitoris, ripping loud groans of pleasure from my wife. Not until he'd got the orgasm he required did he move up the bed and position his body between her legs. His cock was inches from her swollen slit. He kissed her lips and nibbled her tits, allowing the head to brush her labia repeatedly. She lifted her hips, searching for him, trying to capture that magnificent beast, but he wouldn't have it. He was in charge.

"Pleeeeeease fuuuuck meeee," Ariel begged.

He took his time, kissing around her breasts and neck. My wife's chest heaved, her arms trembled. She held herself open, willing and eager. He gazed into her eyes.

"Tell me to put it in you," he said.

"Give me your cock," Ariel quickly replied. "Bury it. Jesus, I ache to feel that thing. My empty pussy shakes. Fuck me, Francis. Hurry."

"Call me Beckham," the man said. "That's my real name. I never share that on clinic jobs but I want you to say it."

"Fuck me, Beckham," Ariel begged.

"Again."

"Fuck me, Beckham. I'm dying for you."

Beckham kissed her on the mouth and lowered his hips, his curved cock slicing into her like a knife. Ariel moaned into his mouth, her pitch and volume rising with each inch. Her labia flowered, puckering around his hard shaft before being drawn inward. He drove her surrounding skin in with his erection and Ariel's shocked eyes went wide.

"Ohmp ymg ggad!" she cried, her lips smashed against his.

He pinned her arms, trapping her torso and climbing over her to drive his cock even deeper. He stopped with several inches to go, encountering some barrier, but tilted his hips and pressed on, sinking the last inches as my wife wailed and tossed her head wildly. Her expression was intense pleasure mixed with disbelief. Beckham withdrew half his dick and eased it in again. Ariel's back arched and she let loose a gurgling scream of climax.

My jaw fell open. What was he doing to her? She'd already orgasmed and he wasn't even fucking her yet. Not really. Just working his cock, wetting himself before beginning. How was that enough to make her climax?

He laughed tenderly.

"You are fresh and wonderful," he muttered. "I'm going to love this."

Ariel was trying to regain her senses. Unfocused eyes swam in her head, circling our bedroom before landing on his handsome face. That helped bring her back to the moment. He held her pinned so she lifted her legs high, crossing her ankles behind his head. It was singularly the lewdest act I've ever seen her do. She was practically skewering her pussy on his dick, thrusting her cunt at his invading cock. She was getting herself penetrated, without a shred of uncertainty or hesitation. I was worried he'd hurt her with that monster totem but she was busy groveling at its feet.

Beckham inched his knees closer and my wife gave him a wicked look. He laughed again and began to slow fuck her, cock pressed all the way in where he'd hold it deep and make her squirm, then a slow withdrawal before doing it again. Ariel was going crazy, grunting and snorting, blowing tiny flecks of spit.

"God dammit!" she cried, grinding her hole on his shaft. "Fuck that's good."

Her eyes closed as she savored the feeling. Beckham was buried in her, a large iron bar expanding her pussy, pure steel buried in the heart of her. Eventually he began to pump in and out. Ariel kept her eyes closed and her head back. Beckham built speed and rhythm and Ariel opened her mouth, building towards another huge explosion. As before, it arrived way too soon, catching her by surprise again, rocking her body-wide. Her toes curled into little fists.

"Is your husband around?" Beckham panted. "Wives always want their husbands around. Is he?"

I welcomed a threesome. Faster than we'd gotten there with Philip, and Beckham's body and his effect on my wife was utterly intimidating, but I'd still rather be there with them than hiding here by myself.

"No," Ariel gasped. "No. Nathan is still at work. I'm all yours."

If I'd had any doubts about what Ariel wanted, that dispelled them. He grinned and fucked her faster. Her tight pussy became a cone and then a depression, clinging to his thick shaft, over and over with each thrust of his dick. She unlocked her ankles and let her legs drift wide, pointing her toes to the corners of our bedroom.

"I'm gonna fucking cum again," she growled. "I don't believe it."

Neither did I. I was still reeling from her obvious exclusion of me. Her comment was intended to keep me in the nursery. She wanted the two of them together. If I entered the picture, we were back to the business of baby-making. This was hot sex, pure and simple, and she wanted to fuck Beckham alone as long as she could. I already knew she'd hit me with an excuse to put off the threesome thing like we'd done with Philip. When it came to Beckham, I was being moved to the side, out of the picture.

My dick was hard like glass.

It's quiet something to see your wife with another man. It tears at your soul. Her expressions of pleasure, at his hands, her sounds of pure bliss, are almost more than one can take. That he was bigger daunted me on a gut level. That he made my wife cum, so hard, so easily, overwhelmed me. Seeing her in his arms crushed me but watching him bring her to the peak of pleasure nearly destroyed me.

Yet, here I stood, watching, building towards orgasm with even touching myself.

I wanted desperately to masturbate. I worried she'd call me in after he left and I'd be unable to perform because I'd already shot my load. What a disaster. Yet I was strangely drawn to that outcome; Beckham's load in my wife's pussy, swimming, seeking her egg. I groaned with desire before I could stop myself. Such a thought flew in the face of all we were trying to accomplish. Why would I think it?

Ariel moaned from the bottom of her soul.

Beckham laid atop her now, their faces an inch apart. He'd scooped one hand under her ass and his hips worked furiously. She'd given everything to him, offering herself for him to use, accepting the blinding pleasure he brought. I knew he was chasing his own climax, eager to pump this hot married woman full. His muscular ass clenched and he grunted. Ariel met his eyes.

"Yesssss," she whined.

Beckham groaned and the flood gates burst. His ankles spread as he tried to bury his cock deeper on each thrust and then a massive blast of cum rocked him and he pushed his spear deep and held it there while his river of sperm flowed. Ariel clawed at his back, squirming beneath him and urging him on. His muscles rippled and his head did a slow roll from one side to the other. One hot pulse after another shot his seed deep. Ariel kissed his face, begged for all of it, pressed her hips against his.

Finally, he crumbled, chest heaving, back covered in a sheen of sweat. Ariel smiled contentedly, tracing small circles with fingertips.

Philip, back when he was John, was always eager to dress and leave. Not Beckham. Ariel knew I waited one room away but said nothing, curling up beside her lover and making small talk. Her hand idling played with his soft cock like she'd never seen one before. The thing fascinated her. They were in no hurry and the minutes began to accumulate. Half an hour, an hour, ninety minutes.

I was impatiently shifting from foot to foot when Ariel moved down his stomach and started sucking. He grew hard and she held him up like a trophy, beaming with delight. Her tongue traced the path of every vein as she polished the helmet head. She flattened her tongue and lifted each testicle in turn, hoisting the weight and smiling.

"Philip told me you were a stud," she said.

"Philip?"

"Sorry; John, from the clinic. His real name is Phil."

Beckham grinned.

"Oh yeah, John and I have had some good times."

"He said all the wives want you."

Beckham shook his head, brushing off the compliment.

"John does fine for himself. He's a good friend."

A comfortable silence descended on them and Ariel continued to play with his hard dick. She studied the thing like there was a test later. She moved her hands up and down, licked from balls to head, squeezed out precum and sucked it away, and took the head in her mouth to hold it, feeling the throbbing power on her tongue. She loved the organ. When she wasn't busy giving Beckham pleasure, she held his cock aloft, gazing in open admiration and naked lust.

"You're easily the biggest I've ever had," she said.

"I was born lucky."

"I was born lucky," Ariel teased. "I get a loving husband and this."

"How big is your husband? Is he close?"

Ariel slid a finger from base to a little more than halfway up the shaft.

"I'd guess he reaches to about here," she said. "But you're way thicker. Like maybe double or almost. He feels wonderful but you fry my brain. You electrify my body. I love him and will forever but holy shit you make me feel things I've never felt."

My wife returned her attention to his meaty pillar. She squeezed hard around the base and all the veins rose, pulsing ridges like vines around a temple column. Her eyes held longing.

Beckham grinned.

"The couples I meet like this are amazing," he said. "I hope I meet a girl that can love and trust the way you guys do."

"Seriously?"

"Hell yes. Look how you two solved the problem together. I'd like to meet your husband someday, shake his hand. My last two girlfriends were petty jealous shrews. You guys hit a wall but jumped over it. Most give up, accept defeat."

"I've never imagined it that way," she said.

For a moment, I thought she might ask me to join and I think she thought the same thing, but the moment passed. Instead, she wiggled up the bed to kiss his mouth and slid a leg over his torso. She slithered a hand between their bodies until she found his cock and then aimed it at her hole, tilting her hips to guide him in and then slowly sinking to the root. I saw every thick inch disappear inside her. Her stretched hole clenched and tightened as she began to move on him, drawing herself to the tip before sliding to the base.

"That's...the...most...wonderful...feeling..." she panted.

"Fuck yourself," he encouraged. "I want to watch your face to see what my cock does to you."

Ariel lifted higher, pushing off his chest and using her arms to squeeze her tits together. Beckham ran his gaze all over her face and body. She rode him faster but couldn't fuck him the way he'd fucked her. A wordless understanding passed between them and Beckham scooped her up and flipped her over, once more pumping that fat dick in and out. My wife arched her back and took it until she clutched the sheets and cried out. Beckham was close behind, shooting her womb full.

They cuddled again.

An hour later they began kissing.

Only after he'd drowned her uterus a third time did he finally dress and leave. I waited to hear his car start and shortly after Ariel's soft voice called my name. I entered our bedroom, the stench of raw sex and sperm slammed my nostrils.

She looked wiped out.

"Your turn," she mumbled.

She locked her eyes to mine, rolled onto her tummy, and raised her lovely ass. Her labia were covered with creamy semen. The sight astounded me and I curled my fingers around my penis. She looked sinful and slutty, decadent and sexy. I stared and stroked and stared some more.

She was confused for a moment, wondering why I hesitated, but worked with me, lifting her ass higher and reached both hands to pull her butt cheeks apart. I stroked faster. Sperm dripped from her clit. Sperm streaked her thighs. She was a glorious mess of inseminated unfaithfulness. She knew she'd taken some huge liberties. I saw the guilt in her eyes. She'd apologize later, once we finished here. I ran my eyes over her smooth pale body, remembering what I'd seen.

My hand moved faster. Her cries of orgasm echoed in my head. Beckham's cock had done that to her. His cock and his handsome face and hot body and Ariel had fucked him for hours out of pure lust and want, leaving me in the bedroom. I knew she'd fuck him again. She may drop Philip completely after this. Beckham would flood her fertile womb over and over and she couldn't wait.

Concern grew on her face. She watched me jack off, sexy fun at first but as my breathing grew ragged she began to worry. I stared and jerked faster. She was full of him, topped-off, flooded and leaking precious seeds.

I stared and jerked faster.

"Baby," she said, cautiously. "What are you doing? You need to-"

I growled as the first hot blast arced from my dick. I beat my meat faster, spraying sperm towards the bed, towards my gorgeous adulterous wife. The knowledge she'd be Beckham's alone tonight sent my head spinning, my heart pounding. I came and came and came until my legs wobbled and I sank to my knees. I kept stroking until the flow dropped to a dribble and then to a drip, my face covered with sweat. I looked up, expecting to find an angry wife but her eyes were huge with arousal.

"I can't believe you did that," she rasped. "Holy fuck, Nate."

She jammed a finger between her labia and inspected it, staring wide-eyed at the semen running over her knuckles. She showed me the glob of Beckham's jizz.

"I'm all his, Baby," she said, voice cracking. "It's just me and him."

She faltered. She couldn't articulate what she felt. The same wild reckless urge that had taken me now had her. She wiggled around to reach me and we kissed, hot and passionate. I grabbed her tit and squeezed. She shoved her tongue into my mouth.

It's just me and him.

It's just me and him.

It's just me and him.

My mind hammered that message home. Beckham alone owned her pussy tonight. That truth turned me on hotter than I'd ever been. My skin was on fire. My mind ate itself. I desperately wished I could jack off again. I wanted another orgasm as powerful as my last. Ariel must have craved the same release because she broke the kiss and pulled my head to her pussy. I instinctively swooped on her clit, gluing my mouth to her little bump, whipping my tongue until she ground her teeth and wrapped her thighs around my head. She was messy but who gives a fuck at a time like that? My wife was wrapped in flames, horny as fuck and ready to cum. I licked and sucked and drove her insane until she threw her head back and howled. Then I licked faster. I made her claw the sheets and scream.

After that, we were spent. I got hard an hour later but fucked her mouth until I pulled out to spray all over her face and pillow. My deliberate self-denial inflamed her, inflamed us both. I ate her pussy like a fiend until she orgasmed again, fighting unsuccessfully to push my head away. I left her a limp rag, too tired to move.

Chapter 12

My alarm woke me. We were a tangled, sticky mess lying atop the bedspread. I pulled the covers over my wife and jumped in the shower. Before I left I scrawled a quick note for Ariel to call once she was up and grabbed a protein bar and a cup of coffee. I hit the road. What a night.

Hours went by. Concentrating on work was virtually impossible. Each time I tried to apply my mind to the task at hand, sounds and images flashed like grenades. Ariel had been in awe of him, his body, his sexual prowess. He was handsome and fit but in a lover, she'd had those things before. One thing separated Beckham from all the other men she'd known, including me. One thing made him unique. Ariel was ravenous, insatiable. I suspected the novelty would wear off, eventually. But, like my first blowjob as a young man, once I knew how good it could be, it was all I wanted.

I visualized her head resting on his lumpy abs. She'd held his cock straight up, staring, memorizing the size and shape, learning the pattern of the veins, the color of his skin. No man wants his wife to look at another man like that ...yet I did. Her lust was open and honest and hot.

I closed my eyes and heard her piercing cries of pleasure. She orgasmed like a hurricane, an earthquake, an avalanche carrying everything down the mountain with it. I was eager for more, and so was Ariel. I wondered if she planned on more Beckham tonight. I picked up my phone to text her but suddenly worried if that was too strange. We'd agreed already to try for conception the four prime days of her ovulation. Beckham would be there tonight. I had no need to ask. I'd only come across as pushy, like I was trying to force things. Tonight, like every night we invited a man over, was up to Ariel. She needed to make her wishes known. I decided on a vanilla text. Something to let her know I was thinking of her without coming across as manipulative.

How's your day? I wrote, pleased with myself.

Forty minutes later I received a reply: Beckham has been here since ten o'clock this morning.

I stared, dumbfounded.

Did he call her? Did she call him?

Ten o'clock meant half a day spent in our bedroom, in our bed, with my wife. God, he must be gushing out of her by now.

My body caught fire. My hands trembled, my legs shook. My mouth went dry. A desperate need to go home filled me but I was stuck here until the job was done. Beckham would have Ariel to himself all day.

Sweet Jesus.

I was useless the rest of the day. I did what I could and focused on the simple tasks that still needed doing but I put off the big stuff until tomorrow. I was packing my briefcase when Bruce knocked on my door.

"Office get-together this Saturday night," he drawled. "Roadhouse on Madden. Eight. You need to be there. Bring your wife."

"My wife is visiting her parents," I lied. "We can't make it."

"No problem. Bring Philip and Ariel. Big boss Tannehill wants a lot of people for his special event. It's his son's birthday. Invite everyone you know. Don't let me down."

I panicked.

"Ariel and Phil split. I don't talk to him anymore."

"Then bring Ariel and her latest guy. No way a hottie like that stayed single. Tell them to invite friends too. We want a big turnout."

He wandered away, headed to the next office.

I already knew what would happen; Ariel and Beckham, sitting together at my table, holding hands, kissing, sharing cute secrets, while I watched, tortured but stiff.

I explained the situation to Ariel when I got home but I could tell something was wrong. I thought she hated the idea of going out as a couple with Beckham but that wasn't it. She handed me a used pregnancy test: negative. I held her and told her everything would be okay. I assured her we were on the right path now, be patient.

She promised she would.

Chapter 13

All the wives and a few of the girlfriends gravitated to Beckham. He ignored them, playing to Ariel the whole night. She ate it up, flirting as much as public decorum allowed. I knew they touched a lot under the table. Everyone in my office saw my wife with Beckham. I had no idea how I'd dig out of this one. No way would they ever forget that gorgeous couple. This meant Ariel would never attend a company event with me.

Hours later I sat at our table, watching Beckham and Ariel slow dance. Bruce pulled up a chair next to me.

"So what's the skinny on Ariel?" he asked. "She a friend of your wife? I've caught her looking at me a few times tonight and wonder if I should take a shot at it. The ladies from the office tell me that guy she's with is pretty good looking."

"Go for it, Bruce," I joked, knowing Ariel would never trade down. "She mentioned you were handsome that first night you met. I'd say you have a fighting chance."

Pride puffed his chest.

"Did she really?"

"Oh yeah."

I thought Ariel would love the extra attention and Lord knows Beckham could use the competition. Bruce had no chance, for a variety of reasons, but the game would still be fun. Bruce looked across the room where Beckham held Ariel in his arms, slowly turning to the music.

"I'm going to love taking her from that guy," he said.

I laughed on the inside.

"May the best man win," I said.

Bruce leered at me.

"Fuck that," he said. "I cheat. In this life, there are no points for second place."

Wow. I almost laughed but saw how serious he was. He truly expected to win Ariel away from Beckham. Good fucking luck, brother.

The party rolled along. Everyone stayed longer than normal because Big Boss Tannehill expected them to. All that meant was everybody drank more, many drank too much. What could Tannehill's son possibly be getting from a room full of employees and their friends? Sounds like a shitty party to me. Maybe the ego rush of gathering and keeping people together because you command it? Maybe he was training his son how to be a dictator.

Bruce did manage to steal a few dances with Ariel, who looked to be getting tipsy. Bruce's secretary, Doris, would distract Beckham and Bruce would slip in. Ariel was clearly horny, allowing Bruce to put his hands on her ass and pull her close. He tried to kiss her and almost succeeded before Ariel turn away at the last second.

I lost track of everyone while engaged in an interesting conversation with Alan. By the time it ended, well after one in the morning, the crowd had thinned. The dance floor was almost empty. Tannehill and his son were gone.

Bruce approached and stood by my shoulder.

"Don't say a word," he murmured. "Come with me."

He walked. I followed. He led me through a swinging door and down a hallway, into a dark room. I heard someone moving in the darkness.

"Hello, Mister Nathan," Ariel slurred.

Bruce had snuck my drink wife away from the party.

"Grab her legs," Bruce said, pointing. "Let's put her in my car."

"What are you doing, Bruce?"

"I'm taking her home. She said she wanted to spend the night with me."

Whoa. This guy was creepy.

"She's drunk," I said. "You can't have sex with her like this."

He shook his head.

"Sure I can. I'm kind of drunk too. People get high and fuck all the time."

"Where's Beckham?"

"I had Doris take him back to her place. She was happy to help."

I caught his implication; Why aren't you?

"Grab her legs," he said again. "Help me get her to my car. She wants to fuck me. Ask her if you don't believe me."

I lifted her chin and met her eyes.

"Ariel?" I said. "Do you want to go home or do you want to go with Bruce?"

"I want to go home," she mumbled.

Relief flooded me.

"With Bruce," she finished.

"See?" he said. His voice turned hard. "Now shut up and help me."

My job was on the line. Ariel patted my shoulder and leaned close to my ear.

"It's okay, Baby," she drawled. "He looks like you."

He didn't. Not at all. He was tall and broad and black-haired. Other than we were both males, there was little about us the same. The implications of her comment froze my blood.

"He's handsome," she added.

"Stop saying that," I snapped.

"Last warning," Bruce said. "I'll find someone else to help me."

His implied threat was obvious. I gripped her ankles.

"Ariel," Bruce said. "We're going to carry you to my car, Sweet Baby. You relax and enjoy the ride."

Ariel grinned and waved a hand towards the door. Bruce hooked his hands under her arms and gave me a nod. We lifted together.

"Weeeee!" Ariel squealed.

Bruce led us farther down the hallway and knocked open the crash doors at the end. His Mercedes was already there, doors open, idling.

"Her, front seat," he growled. "You, in back."

I helped him load my wife in his car. I clicked her seatbelt and stood back.

"Backseat," he repeated. "I'll need your help on the other end."

This was not the first woman he'd taken. I climbed in the car. We said nothing as he drove, sticking to back streets at first and then cutting through neighborhoods as we left downtown. His garage door rose as we approached the single-story house, closing behind us as he killed the engine. Minutes later we entered his bedroom, Ariel suspended between us, her arms around our waists.

"Such a beautiful room," Ariel gushed.

She was right. His bedroom was about the size of our apartment. There was a giant four-poster canopy bed, thick Persian rugs, original wall art, and custom furniture. The place looked expensive and was. Ariel floated away from our arms, untying her dress as she went. She turned to face us, walking backward towards the massive bed. She opened her dress to reveal the matching bra and panties. Those had been chosen much earlier in the evening with Beckham in mind. They were tiny things, see-through and pretty, barely containing her tits or covering her pussy. Beckham would have loved them. Her arm snaked behind her back and her bra popped free. She straightened her arms and the thing slid down. My boss feasted his eyes on my wife's gorgeous breasts. Her panties joined her bra on the floor. A small triangle of closely cropped pubic hair pointed the way to her clit.

Bruce began ripping off his clothes. Shoes and socks flew, tie and shirt hit the ground. His pants and underwear came down at the same time. His body was huge, bulky like an offensive lineman, but he was solid. Nothing jiggled as he stripped. His dick was already hard and fairly substantial. Bigger than me for sure. He was uncircumcised, a crown of foreskin circling the head, leaving only the tip and his piss hole exposed.

"You too," Bruce rumbled.

I knew he meant for me to get undressed as well. I would be his cover story that this was consensual. He had no idea she was my wife. He wanted any tests to find my semen too. I was his insurance policy. What he didn't know is I'd already decided I would fuck Ariel with him, but for entirely different reasons. I need my sperm in her too, for the chance the baby would be mine and not his. I had to counteract his semen.

I could barely breathe. These thoughts left me dizzy. My boss was about to fuck my wife. My boss would ejaculate inside her, possibly getting her pregnant. He might give her a baby. I'd continue to work beside the man for many years, knowing that terrible secret. I'd transfer away as soon as I could, taking Ariel and our child with us. Bruce would never know, but I would. My perverted dick rose in anticipation of the debauchery facing us. I shook my head and took off my clothes.

Ariel solely had eyes for Bruce. He was the new lover, the strange and unknown. He was so different from me. Ariel crossed the rug and disappeared into his meaty arms. They kissed, Bruce a furnace of desire. He'd not played fair, but he'd gotten what he wanted. They kissed a while and then Ariel knelt to take his cock in her mouth. He wasn't interested in that. He lifted my wife by the waist and backed her to the wall. His raw strength turned her on terribly. He pinned her and moved between her legs, his curving cock aimed at her pussy. He allowed her to slid down the wall and his dick parted her labia. Her eyes were huge at his strength and control.

"I've never been fucked against a wall," she gasped.

He lowered my wife and his penis pierced her, mushrooming her pussy lips. She gasped again, her hands squeezing his enormous biceps. He let her slid to the root of his cock, watching her face, grinning at the sounds she made. He fucked her like that for a few minutes, tree trunk legs flexing, back straining.

"Enough," he grumbled. "Time for bed."

He lifted her off his cock and gathered her in his massive arms. He carried her to the bed, lowering her to her back and shoving his way between her legs. Once again his dick aimed at her pussy.

There would be no foreplay. Ariel was caught by surprise. He leaned over her body to suck a nipple and his cock moved forward, splitting her labia and dipping into her hole. She gasped, drunk but astonished by the quick penetration. He was thicker than her opening and she exhaled everything as he heaved that missile and buried half his length. His hips began a regular slamming, crudely pounding her cunt.

Years of secrecy and covert maneuvering were now guaranteed. He must never learn who she truly is. Ever. He must never meet my wife.

He moved his mouth to her other tit and then shoved the rest of his cock in. Ariel grunted with discomfort but lifted her breast to his savage maw. He was a brute, a hulking bull smashing furniture. Philip and Beckham had been lovers. This man simply fucked her.

But Ariel responded. My wife lifted her ass to accept the battering. She groaned in pleasure at his barbarism arching her back as his ramrod plumbed her depths. I heard the squishing of her excited wetness.

Bruce gripped her throat with one hand, cutting off her air. With the other he pinched her nipple. Ariel choked and gasped, struggling to breathe yet grinding her pussy on his intruding member. She grabbed his wrist with both hands and squeezed.

"You're hurting her," I murmured.

"So?" he barked. "Watch how hard the bitch cums."

Hard doesn't begin to describe it. In moments, Ariel's eyes rolled back into her skull and her mouth opened. She would have screamed if her throat wasn't constricted. Her body lifted and twisted as an epic, bone-breaking, mind-rending, orgasm swept through her. Her pussy gushed around his shaft. Her groans were loud gurgles, helpless sounds of overpowering pleasure. Her eyes wept and her chest heaved.

"Give her air," I pleaded.

He laughed.

"Not yet. I know what I'm doing."

Her climax wouldn't end. Convulsions wracked her. Her nipples stiffened and rose like I'd never seen; glass-cutting nubs reaching for the ceiling. His hips never slowed, pounding through her climax like a machine. My wife was trying to sob, overcome by pleasure.

"My turn," he snarled.

His free hand gripped her waist and pulled her close. He pounded her tight hole, roaring like a gorilla when his load exploded from his cock, pulling her body against his and burying his dick balls deep.

"Fuck yeah!" he yelled, ass clenched.

He held himself there, taut muscles across his hairy back as he unloaded, balls tight to the base of his trunk and pumping hot batter. Each time his asshole clenched I knew he shot Ariel another blast.

Finally, he stopped, stepping back and withdrawing his still-stiff cock with a slurp. A rivulet of milky jizz dripped from her.

"Now you," he said, gesturing towards my wife's gapping pussy.

I was staring at his dick. Despite blowing a gallon of sperm inside my wife, he was mostly hard. He took his leaking dick to a dresser where he opened a bottle of small blue pills and chewed one before washing it down with a nearby bottle of water.

"Go one," he said. "Your dick's hard. Use it."

Ariel was reeling, unsure where she was or what the fuck just happened to her. She tried to lift her head. Bruce yanked his dick a few times and squeezed hard around the base. He forced blood into the thing until it ballooned and stiffened.

"Not finished with her," he smiled. "Not by a long shot."

I gave Ariel no time to collect herself. I rolled her over and smacked her ass. I stepped close and sank my dick into her used pussy. Bruce's semen surrounded me like warm gravy and I began to move back and forth. Ariel turned to look at me over her shoulder.

"Bet you add yours this time," Ariel teased.

Bruce was paying no attention to us, busy gulping water.

"Bruce looks nothing like me," I scolded.

She lifted her butt an inch.

"So dangerous and exciting," she said, regaining some wits. "I can't believe we play this game. Such a huge risk."

She checked to make sure Bruce was busy. He'd moved to the bathroom off the bedroom. We both heard him begin to pee.

"I dare you to pullout," she taunted. "Can you let Bruce have this pussy all to himself? Must drive you crazy. He's your boss. I bet the office is intense from now on."

Enough of her smart mouth. I grabbed big handfuls of ass and spread her cheeks. Her crack was a cream-filled mess. I rubbed my dick in there and then lifted, seeking her sphincter. She reached back to stop me but too slow. I eased my erection through her tight puckered ring, both of us groaning at surprising pleasure. I sank into her ass.

"What are you doing?" she whined.

I pushed. I had all the lube I needed. She clamped her asshole but it was too late and all she did was make it feel better. I leaned over, my mouth close to her ear.

"How's this for pulling out?"

I fucked her asshole. God, she was tight. She resisted at first because that was something we never did but many rules had been broken recently, what's one more? With each thrust our excitement grew. No, I wasn't pulling out or jacking off like I had with Beckham, but the result would be the same. Bruce swam in her and mine wouldn't. The erotic thrill intoxicated us, had us moaning in seconds.

Bruce returned, saw what I was doing, and circled around to walk his knees across the bed. He fed Ariel his slippery dick and my wife sucked hard. The man was fully erect already, thanks to that pill he took. I knew when I emptied my nuts up her ass he'd flip her over and pump another load into her pussy. Ariel knew that too and sucked with abandon.

"Hurry up," she hissed at me.

We both knew why. The risk, as my wife put it, was the greatest aphrodisiac we'd ever confronted. When we started all this sex was a byproduct, a mere tool to achieve the baby we desperately wanted. But we had stumbled into something else, something wildly wicked. The sex had moved to the forefront and then become all-consuming. We were obsessed. We'd discovered Ariel was a ravenous slut. Making a baby became the incidental byproduct to enjoying new lovers.

I gazed down, watching my dick plunge repeatedly into her tight sphincter. She gripped me like a fist. I fucked my loving wife like a tramp and slowly began to regret it. This was no way to treat the woman I love. I slowed and then pulled out.

Ariel's flipped the instant she was free. She flopped on her back, swinging her hips to aim her pussy at Bruce. She spread her legs. She gripped behind each knee and drew her legs wide, obscenely wide, offering Bruce her lewd cunt.

"Sexy bitch," he chuckled. "Goddamn that's a gorgeous sight."

"Glad you like it," she said.

"I know a few guys that would love to meet you. Can you sneak away from Beckham next week? We'll all meet for drinks."

Ariel did not hesitate.

"Absolutely," she said.

He closed the distance and stabbed his fat cock deep. Ariel's grabbed his face and pulled his mouth to hers. They kissed again and again. I took a step back. This was too much. I felt dizzy and confused. Half of me wanted to take her in my arms and protect her and the other half wanted to ram my dick up her ass again.

I never got the chance to do either.

Bruce dug his thick arms under her and pulled her close and Ariel hooked her heels behind his knees and her arms around his neck. They ugly-fucked for long minutes, grunting and gasping, determined to get there. I watched her claw at him, arms and legs working to get him as deep as possible, and my balls began that familiar tingle. His body mashed her tits. He was sweating but so was she. Her tangled hair covered her face. Her breathing was labored.

She looked so, so sexy.

I started to masturbate. After a short time, Ariel noticed and her efforts to fuck Bruce grew wilder. She loved whenever I broke this taboo. She loved fucking another man with me watching, knowing his cum alone would fill her. She moaned wildly, tossing her head, glancing at me occasionally, fucking Bruce like her life depended on it. In a few minutes my climax hit. I aimed my load at her face, knowing I'd never cross the distance. My sperm landed on the plush carpet and Ariel's eye went wide with lust. I thought she might be too drunk to cum again but I was wrong. Bruce's cock had vanished inside, only his hairy balls visible, when my wife curled into a knot and groaned deeply. He grabbed her throat and squeezed. He fucked her with short, hard strokes and she bit his shoulder. She struggled for air as she came on his cock again, weird animal moans boiling from her constricted throat. He had a difficult time achieving another orgasm but eventually he did too, draining his balls into her womb.

They lay in a clump a while and then he withdrew, still rock hard.

Ariel, exhausted, rolled onto her stomach.

"You blew your load," Bruce murmured. "That's too bad. Her pussy is Heaven."

He turned on his side, head propped in a hand.

"Grab one of those blue pills on the dresser," he said. "Chew it so it's in your blood faster. You'll sprout wood in no time and then you can fuck her."

I turned to look at the dresser. Behind me Bruce asked Ariel if she'd like me to fuck her too.

"Yeah," she mumbled, without lifting her head. "I want every dick in me."

I know Bruce thought she meant every dick in the bedroom but I understood Ariel's larger message; she wanted all the dicks. In her present mood, my wife wanted to fuck everybody. I plucked a pill and munched, ignoring the bitter taste.

"Bring her your dick to suck," Bruce instructed. "Watch how fast that pill works."

Ariel obediently rolled her head to the edge of the bed. Fucking sex-kitten. She opened her mouth and glared at me, daring me to treat her the way Bruce did. I moved close, unceremoniously sticking my dick all the way in. She closed her lips and created a strong vacuum and I gasped, startled by how good her hot, wet cavity felt. Her eyes never left mine.

We were using her like some slut we'd picked up at a dive bar and she welcomed it. She reveled in it. We'd never talked about sexual fantasies and I wondered if she'd always dreamed of an unfettered sexual life. Did she secretly desire the men she saw every day? Were there guys, now that we seemed to be fucking everyone, that she wanted to get into bed? Such thoughts floated around inside my head as Ariel toyed with my dick.

Bruce was right: I hardened quickly. My wife had a mischievous gleam in her eye as she pulled her mouth off me and swung her pussy around.

I took a while, but eventually I added my load too.

Chapter 14

We got home the following afternoon. I was tired but Ariel was exhausted. Bruce and I had taken turns on her, fucking whatever hole we wished whenever we got hard. Ariel was gluttonous, giving herself completely to any erection presented. We weren't men, we were hard dicks. This went far beyond fertilization. This was obsession. Her personality retreated, replaced by an overwhelming desire to please, to satisfy, to drain any cock waved in front of her.

Bruce was a far greater stud than me. I say that without shame because my performance was nothing to be ashamed of. I fucked Ariel often, more than I ever had in such a short time, but Bruce was a beast, and it wasn't all those little blue pills. He was crazy for Ariel, starving, voraciously feasting on her body, almost angry in the way he pounded his cock into her. She urged him to fuck her harder and he took things right to the edge, occasionally crossing over and bruising her, which she seemed to enjoy.

Bruce took us to our car and offered to drive Ariel but she said she wanted me to do it. Bruce left without a glance back. Ariel and I were silent on the drive home. We showered together and fell into bed.

I was awakened hours later by something warm and wet encircling my weary dick. Ariel worked the shaft while I was soft and sucked my dick and both balls into her mouth, whirling all of me with her tongue. She labored with an aching need. Thanks to those pills I got hard again. She sucked my dick like she wanted to absorb my masculine essence. I filled her mouth and she swallowed all but a dollop, climbing my chest to give me a salty, slippery kiss before falling asleep again.

We rose before dinner and I ordered a pizza. She showered again, a long one, and then joined me in front of the TV. She was wrapped in her favorite fluffy robe.

"Worried?" I asked.

She knew exactly what I meant but ignored my question for now.

"Baby," she said. "Did you have any inkling I was such a slut?"

"None."

"Me either. Jesus. I thought I wanted a baby. It appears I only wanted to fuck."

"I think you want both."

She took my hand and held it in her lap.

"What does all this do to you?" she asked. "I thought in the sexual arena male brains were wired to hate other males."

"I thought that too but it's more complex. I don't get angry, I get turned on."

"I fucked your boss," she said, squeezing my hands. "Your boss."

"You did."

She slowly shook her head, staring at the rug, absentmindedly spinning her wedding ring around her finger, deep in thought.

"Bruce wants me to meet some of his friends for drinks," she mumbled.

"I heard," I said. "You agreed."

She stared at her wedding ring, rotating the diamond on top.

"Can you imagine?" I asked.

She looked up at me. Her eyes were frightened, intrigued, exhilarated.

"Yes," she said. "I can."

"Are you going to?" I asked.

Mind racing, she held my gaze but didn't answer.

"Maybe we should ease off the gas," she sighed, finally. "Hard to explain a child with black hair. I'd prefer the baby be ours."

"Me too."

"Why is the risk so exciting?"

"Maybe because it smashes a taboo? Or maybe the risk highlights what you're doing? Like it really drives home the fact you're fucking someone else."

"Maybe. Lots of maybes. All I know for sure is I'm addicted."

I reached a reluctant conclusion.

"Slowing down is a good idea," I said.

We ate our pizza and watched a few old episodes of Breaking Bad. Walter White was addicted to the thrill too. Why is being bad so much fun?

"I'm amazed you can handle me with another man," she said out of nowhere. "I pictured you a raging homicidal jealous husband."

I shrugged.

"I pictured myself that way too," I said. "Until we discovered our lack of children was my fault. We've been trying for so long. I hate that I was the roadblock. Granting you lovers is the least I can do. You've been through emotional hell for years, always worrying you were at fault. I needed to step out of the way, but I did not know stepping out of the way would prove so erotic. You look sexy as fuck under other men. You ignite my mind and my body. It's not like you're cheating behind my back."

She moved closer on the couch, pulling my arm around her shoulders.

"I must confess," she said. "When you watch me I get an extra jolt of excitement. I feel terribly wicked and wild. I let go."

"I've noticed."

We snuggled closer still. On screen Skyler was about to cheat on Walter with Ted. Ariel, grinning, turned to look at me.

"Looks like every wife is doing it," she murmured.

I held her in my arms. Yes, wives have cheated on husbands since the beginning of time. I wondered about other husbands in my position, other couples from the clinic. Doctor Watkins knew them all. Might there be a group of us? A society of husbands who share wives? My gut said yes, and not just to produce children.

"Next time you're with Beckham," I said. "Ask about other couples. I wonder how many house calls he makes. I'm curious about other husbands, like me, watching their wives. I know this program is supposed to be super-secret but maybe some of them get together socially. I'm sure everyone would be discreet."

"You want to make sexy friends?"

"Yeah. Sounds hot."

We finished that episode and started the next.

"You know," Ariel said, opening her robe to show her lower abdomen. "If another man does put a baby in me, you'd make a fantastic father. I have no doubt. You wouldn't care. That would be our baby, no matter what."

She was right. Sadly, all the pregnancy tests she took over the next week came back negative. Ariel stayed optimistic, knowing that it was only a matter of time.

Chapter 15

"My office," Bruce said, sailing by my desk. "Now."
I saved my Excel sheet, silenced my phone, and headed for his office.

"Shut the door," he said as I arrived. "Have a seat."

I did both and waited.

"Ariel won't call me back," he said.

"She's seeing someone, Bruce. Maybe she feels guilty."

"I don't give a shit. I told her I had guys I wanted her to meet."

"Maybe she's afraid you'll try something?"

He laughed.

"You're Goddamn right I'll try something. All my boys will. She's not calling because she knows she'll fuck us all. She doesn't trust herself. I'm surprised she hasn't jumped at the chance to see me again. Did you say some shit to change her mind?"

I shook my head.

"Then talk to her," he said. "Straighten her out. I told my friends about her and she's making me look bad. Convince her she needs to come to my place again."

"How do I do that?"

"Fuck if I know," he said. "She's your friend. Get her drunk. Remind her she promised. Make her feel shitty for backing out. If that doesn't work, tell her your job is on the line."

He sounded serious. I leaned back.

"My job?"

"Hell yes. Nobody tells me no. I want to fuck her again and she wants it too. You get her to my place or suffer the consequences."

What bullshit. He had more to say but I only half-listened. The message was simple: I hand over Ariel or he'd fuck with my career.

"Make it happen," he concluded.

He spun to face his computer monitor. Our conversation was over.

I returned to my desk, staring at nothing. Alan wheeled his chair over.

"What was that about?" he asked.

I stared across the room at Bruce's office.

"He fucked a friend of mine and wants to fuck her again. She's not returning his calls and he's pissed about it."

"Ariel?"

"Yes," I said. "You know her?"

"I meet her at the party. Nice girl."

"Wonderful girl. My best friend. I'm in a bad spot."

"That's bad, dude," he said. "I've heard rumors. Bruce has messed with a lot of people here. Tina almost got him fired after she told him no and he groped her anyway. She notified HR and they reprimanded him. He leaves her alone now. That's probably why he's going outside the company with Ariel. That's a bummer, dude. I hope your friendship with her survives this."

I covered my face with my hands.

"You could always call HR too," he continued. "But if they don't take your side, and they might not because she's not an employee, you'd be fucked."

"My thoughts exactly."

I stared at my desktop and he did too.

"Oh well," he said abruptly. "I got nothing. Good luck."

He patted my shoulder and returned to his desk. I resumed work but accomplished little. My mind was elsewhere.

I told Ariel when I got home. I expected dismay. I expected frustration. What I got was a coy smile.

"Fine," she said.

She grabbed her phone and checked her calendar. I watched her like a hawk.

"What?" she asked.

"You better not plan something for your ovulation window."

"I'm looking to avoid it, Nate. Who knows who Bruce will invite?"

"So. You've decided?"

"What choice do we have? You could confess I'm actually your wife but honestly, with a man like Bruce, I think he'd fuck me harder. He'd love knowing we're married. That would spice things up for him."

She returned her attention to her phone.

"Friday night," she said.

My stomach did a slow turn.

"So soon?"

"Better to get this over with," she said.

Chapter 16

My stomach still churned two days later. My imagination wreaked havoc, ripping me to pieces the last forty-eight hours. So much could go wrong. So much about this situation was already wrong. The man had too much power over me.

Bruce had insisted I attend his little party, but not because he liked me. Like before, he wanted insurance. If I participate, I'm guilty too. I can't turn him in.

I don't know what was going through Ariel's head but she dressed to impress. For two days she spoke about getting through this, getting this behind us. But now, night of, she wore thigh-high fishnet stockings and high heels, short pleated skirt and loose collared top. She'd spent time on hair and makeup too. She smelled great. I'd watched with growing angst as she carefully prepared. She made herself look stunning.

We barely spoke on the drive over. She fidgeted in her seat, rubbing fingertips together and changing the music often.

"Do I look okay?" she asked as we turned into Bruce's neighborhood.

"You look spectacular. You look like you want this, not like you want to get all this behind you."

Ariel smoothed her stockings.

"I have no choice," she said. "I might as well make it bearable."

"What do you think will happen?"

She buttoned, unbuttoned, and buttoned again the top button of her top, checking for cleavage. She unbuttoned it again and, happy with all that skin exposed, leaned back.

"I'm guessing after a drink or two Bruce and his friends will take turns fucking me. They think I'm a cheater, that Beckham is my guy but I fuck around behind his back. Men don't respect women like that but they'll still have sex with them. Pussy must do amazing things to dicks."

I parked in front of his house. One car sat at the curb with three others in the half-moon driveway. All the lights were on and people moved around inside behind the sheer curtains. Ariel scanned herself, deciding she looked good enough.

"Lead the way," she said.

I did. I forgot our roles and tried to hold her hand but she smacked me away.

"Friends," she hissed.

I opened the door and we stepped through. Five men and three women stood around talking. Bruce must have been watching the front door for us. The second Ariel appeared he shouted from across the room.

"Hello my friends! Glad you made it!"

He cut a diagonal and gave Ariel a bearhug, then turned to shake my hand.

"Tommy is bartending in the kitchen," he said. "Nate, why don't you grab Ariel and yourself something to drink?"

Arguing was pointless. I looked at my wife.

"Margarita," she said.

I gave a quick nod and left. There was no line at the makeshift bar and I quickly returned with our drinks, but Bruce and Ariel were already gone. I knew the way to his bedroom so I aimed for it. The doors were closed. I sat the drinks on a small table holding photos of Bruce's parents and opened the bedroom door.

Ariel sat on the floor, legs tucked under so her butt rested on her calves. Her hands rested in her lap. Four men surrounded my wife, each with his penis sticking through his fly, each hard as diamond. She looked a little overwhelmed but smiled anyway. One man looked like me, brown hair with medium build, but there was also a tall skinny blonde, a short fat balding, and a chubby black guy.

Bruce stood to one side, watching. He waved me over.

"Can you believe it?" he asked, voice low. "I took her to meet these guys and she flirted like crazy. Things escalated quickly."

The men were so hard I suspected Bruce's little blue pills were at work. Maybe not. Ariel looked hot. Dicks throbbed in her face and her gaze moved from one to the next. Balding stepped closer, rushing things. He bowed his hips, brushing her cheek with his dick. She turned to stare at it. Chubby Black moved in, aligning his cock with Balding's. Together they moved closer to her mouth.

"She's a slut," Bruce whispered. "Look how she ogles that meat. She doesn't care about the man; she loves the dick."

Tall Blonde joined his friends, laughing, aiming a third dick at her face. Ariel laughed too, staring up the barrels of all three. Brown Hair moved behind her, crouching and reaching under her arms, unbuttoning her top so it fell open, exposing her breasts. Ariel shrugged her shoulders, allowing her top to slide free. She slipped her arms out and reached for the cocks bobbing in her face, closing fingers around the two outside and kissing the tip of the cock in the middle.

"She's going to fuck them all," Bruce said.

My heart sank. I'd expected something like this but that made the reality no easier to take.

"She doesn't care if they're fat or ugly," he continued, chuckling.

Ariel began to pump her hands. Her mouth moved from dick to dick, teasing, licking, sucking, before moving on to the next man. Behind her, Brown Hair stood and stripped. He was rock hard too and moved to join his friends. Ariel added him to the rotation and the four men jostled for her attention, bumping each other out of the way. She giggled, flattered how badly they wanted her.

"Enough of this," Chubby Black said. "Stand her up. Get those panties off but leave the skirt and stockings. She's sexy as fuck."

Hands reached and Ariel rose to her feet. Panties flew across the bedroom to laughter. Tall Blonde hooked an arm from behind and bent her over. Brown Hair offered his dick and Ariel sucked him while Tall Blonde flipped her skirt onto her ass and searched for her hole with his dick. Her loud moan told me when he found it. He grabbed her hips and pushed his cock in, Ariel rising on her toes and groaning. Brown Hair kept her mouth full and prevented her from moving. Chubby Black took up position next to Tall Blonde, awaiting his turn in her pussy.

"They won't last long," Bruce advised. "Those guys have terrible luck with the ladies. I doubt they've been laid in months. Ariel is the hottest bitch they've ever had. She's loving this but they won't last."

He was right. Ariel was lost in bliss. A cock in her mouth and another in her pussy had her body writhing between them. She knew two more waited and that fueled her. She'd ignored me completely but not to stay in character; she was truly engrossed in this erotic moment. Bruce nudged my shoulder.

"Strip," he said. "You gotta get yours in there too. You know how this works."

He dropped a pill in my hand.

"Chew it," he said.

There was no way out. I tossed the pill in my mouth and ground the bitter thing into dust. I swallowed and began undressing.

"What about you?" I asked.

"Later," he said. "I couldn't wait for tonight so I fucked her yesterday."

I froze, paralyzed. Yesterday?

Bruce had disappeared for two hours around lunch time. My blood curdled. Dizziness swept through me. I braced myself against the wall. Bruce misread my expression and laughed.

"You and Ariel not best friends like you thought? No worries, buddy. I made her promise to tell no one. It's a little trick I do to groom my bitches. I start with small secrets, making them feel special and trusted. They feel important, like they're in on it with me. Soon they'll start sharing their secrets with me like I do with them. Isn't great to have someone you can tell anything? Blah, blah, blah. Once I know all their dirt they can't cross me. They'll keep their mouths shut no matter what. They can be totally in love with their husbands. Most of them are. It still works. I don't want her buff boyfriend coming after me and I want no chatter from you either. You're protective, I get that, you care for her, but she's a grown woman and can make her own choices."

The room was spinning. I felt sick.

"She a slut," he said again. "Most women are, deep down. She was all over my dick, insisting I fuck her again and again. She sucked me even when I could no longer get hard."

I wanted to punch him. I wanted to smack his smug face. I want to kick him in the balls, the same balls that had filled my wife yesterday. This was horrible, awful news. I'd noticed nothing. Ariel had fooled me completely.

"Do not tell her I told you," he said.

I gave a weak nod.

"Say it," he said.

"I won't tell her I know," I mumbled.

"Good, because if you do, she'll tell me you did, and that ends badly for you."

Bruce was good at this. No doubt he has a list of ready women. Ariel was on it now. Give in one time and he had you forever. Sudden intuition made a leap and I searched his bedroom for hidden cameras, spotting three tiny red lights in the air vents. He'd want to capture the events for later, as evidence of consent or to jack off.

The guys had moved Ariel to the bed. She was on her back, legs spread wide, Chubby Black sawing his dark cock deep. She still wore her heels, stockings, and skirt and looked incredibly sexy. Balding knelt over her head, facing us, lowering his hairy balls to her teasing tongue. She slathered his nuts, moaning while being fucked. Tall blonde leaned against the headboard, still hard but covered in cream. He'd cum in her while Bruce's revelation had turned my world upside-down and I'd missed it. Chubby Black grabbed her ankles and bent her legs back.

"Aw shit!" he cried. "Aw shit...yeah!"

He pushed his dick deep and unloaded. Ariel clawed at him like she did every man that filled her, trying to pull him deeper. My wife loved pleasing men, feeling them explode inside. She had no idea she was making movies.

"You look ready," Bruce said.

I met his gaze and then followed it to my dick. I was hard. Despite everything, I was hard. I blamed the pill but could I, really? Had enough time passed? Was it in my bloodstream? Or was I just excited by my slutty wife?

Bruce pushed me towards the bed.

"Move your ass, Alfred," he told the black man. "Give Nathan a shot."

Ariel lifted her head at my name. I approached like one of the guys, hard and pointed right at her. She held my eyes and opened her legs. Milky fluid ran from her slit. I crawled onto the bed and pushed her skirt out of the way before plunging my dick into her steaming cunt and falling over her body. She felt different, loose and soaked. Her head fell back and Balding fed her his scrotum again. I watched her suck those balls inches from my face and my arousal skyrocketed.

She was so nasty, so dirty, so slutty, but the part that excited me most was the ease with which she accepted her new role, like she'd secretly fantasized about this anyway. I fucked her like the others, pounding her little hole, pushing myself to cum. Her legs snaked around my waist, treating me like she'd treated them, encouraging me to add my load to theirs. I couldn't hold back. She was too damn erotic. I whipped my hips in a frenzy and then groaned as the first spurt blew. I lost control, jerking with convulsions, drooling like an idiot. Balding got caught up in my excitement and he came too, blasting ropes over her tits, nailing me on the shoulder and chest. I struggled to lift myself higher to avoid his spray, listening to Bruce chuckle in the background.

Brown Hair pushed me out of the way. My dick was barely clear of her hole before he jammed his in and started fucking. Ariel easily moved on to the next man, curling her legs around this new lover. I sat on the edge of the bed, listening to the grunts and gasps behind me until Brown Hair sucked air and exploded.

Bruce waited a minute and then sent the four on their way. He sat against the headboard and freed his dick, offering the head to Ariel. My wife curled against his body and suckled his meat. I got hard watching but that may have been the pill I ate.

"Bring her your dick," Bruce said, waving me forward. "Let her clean you. She likes it. She loves everything male, don't you Buttercup?"

Ariel met his eyes, nodding. Bruce knew my wife in ways I didn't. He shared intimate knowledge with her I did not. I remembered his words and wondered if Ariel would one day confess to him she was my wife. My gut said yes.

I crawled up the bed and lay beside my wife, forming a sandwich with her in the middle. Bruce turned her head away from his penis and guided her to my dick. She sucked me like an addict. He allowed her to casually service both.

"Leave her here," he said. "She'll sleep. We can come back after my party and enjoy her again. I need to talk to some people."

He kissed her forehead.

"We'll be back later, okay Sweetheart?" he murmured. "You stay and rest. Nate and I are going to fuck you again in a little while."

Ariel nodded softly and pulled a pillow under her head.

She wouldn't look at me.

Chapter 17

Weeks passed. Ariel was Bruce's plaything. He always fucked her rough, choking, slapping her ass, tying her up. He routinely fucked her asshole, something I never tried again. She let him take whatever he wanted. He knew how to get from her things I couldn't. I asked her about it but she couldn't explain.

"I just like pleasing him," she'd said.

He had a way with her I could never duplicate.

Ariel and I were in the dining room when Doctor Watkins called, wondering why we'd stopped after two men when we'd originally arranged for four.

"Did something go wrong?" he asked.

"No," I said. "This strategy proved more emotionally involved than we expected. We're taking our time, calculating her best fertility windows, doing things right."

That satisfied him.

Last weekend Ariel spent Saturday night with Bruce while I stayed home.

Pure torture.

She told me everything they did, and even admitted to the lunchtime-liaison. I warned her what Bruce's game was and how he'd pry her secrets from her.

"Not that one," she'd assured me. "He can never learn we're married." She hesitated a moment before continuing. "All this is exciting but I need a reason to tell him no the next time he calls. My fertile time is close. He can't be in me when I ovulate."

"Leave town," I said. "Tell him your mother is sick and you must go care for her. You don't even need to actually leave, just hide at home."

"He knows I work part-time at the high school. What if he checks?"

"Why would he? He thinks he has you under control."

She bobbed her head, thinking.

"That's a good idea," she said.

She grabbed her phone and punched out a text. His reply came swiftly: That's fine. She read it and smiled at me.

"I'm all yours, Baby," she said, grinning. "No John who is Philip, no Francis who is Beckham, no Bruce. What will you do with me?"

I thought candlelight dinner. I thought head out to see a movie. I thought a million romantic things until the calm voice of reality stopped me. My delight dwindled. She read my eyes. Her smile faded.

"What?" she asked.

I held her hands.

"We shouldn't waste an ovulation," I said. "We've been so much for this baby."

She touched my lips, kissed the back of my hand.

"My poor love," she said. "I think all this has been harder on you than me."

"Psychologically? Yeah. But emotionally? Also, yeah."

She chuckled.

"What do we do?" she asked. "Give Philip another chance? Call Beckham?"

I shook my head and drew my phone.

"Let's have Doctor Watkins give us the name of the next man," I said. "Hopefully he's available."

I tapped out a text and hit send. The answer came quickly, Watkins informing us he was pleased we'd resumed our plan and he'd have Jordan, Ariel's next choice, call. I sat my phone on our table. Ariel looked at me playfully.

"What?" I asked.

"I still cannot believe what we've done. This is crazy. We're waiting for your phone to ring so some hot stud can come over and fuck me."

"Yes, we are."

She giggled.

"I'm glad we did this," she said.

We stared at my phone. Ariel wiggled her fingers at it like she was casting a spell and then jumped when it rang.

"It worked!" she laughed.

I answered. Jordan said he'd heard about us from Beckham, which was a rules violation, but understood our situation and could come right over. Ariel gave me a blank stare and I told Jordan to hold.

"I need at least an hour," she said. "I've got to shower, shave, pluck, and a million other womanly things before I meet a new man."

I gave Jordan a time two hours away and our address. I ended the call.

"Here we go again," Ariel said, leaning in to kiss me, hard.

She radiated true joy. She glowed with happiness. You'd never know by watching her what we'd just arranged. She sat at that table with me wearing her favorite robe and slippers, looking as fresh-faced and innocent as a new dawn.

Ninety minutes later she took my breath away. Gone was the fluffy bathrobe, replaced by the white lingerie from our wedding night.

"For luck," she said.

"Jesus fucking Christ," I replied.

She wore the same garter belt on her thigh as I'd removed with my teeth that night. Her breasts looked fantastic trapped behind that lace, slightly darker circles of areola shining through. The mesh covering her pussy showed a thin landing strip. She wasn't merely trying to get pregnant, she wanted to turn him on. She wanted to turn me on too. When the knock on the front door sounded, she pointed to the second bedroom. Neither spoke. We knew what came next. I took one last longing look at her, a male-fantasy brought to life, and shuffled to my hiding spot to await her call.

As before, I heard her open the front door.

"Goddamn!" a deep voice growled.

Ariel giggled, pleased by his reaction. I could only imagine what his face did when she opened the door. I pictured her standing there, welcoming his fiery gaze. Suddenly I heard another door open and voices laughing.

"I'm sorry," a different male voice rumbled. "Ignore me. Sorry to intrude."

Footsteps trailed away. I knew what happened. Our neighbor in the next apartment had opened his door and seen my wife in all her glory. My dick swelled at the embarrassment. I'd seen him around but never learned his name. Now he'd seen my wife in lingerie seducing a man clearly not me.

"That made an impression," Jordan teased. "On both of us."

"Come in," my wife said.

I heard the door close.

"Your husband home?"

"No. I'll call him after you leave."

"So I have you all to myself?"

"I'm all yours."

My dick throbbed. Their voices dripped with sexual tension and attraction. From the moment she opened the door, she loved what she saw. Him too. I was eager to see what he looked like. Ariel wanted him. Badly. I heard it in her voice. They fell silent but the air turned electric. They were making out, I knew it. He held Ariel in his arms, running his hands over her body, holding her tight, tits pressed against his chest. Ariel grew wetter by the second. A soft gasp told me my wife had broken the kiss.

"Take this to the bedroom?" he asked.

"Fuck yes," Ariel panted.

They passed my door holding hands. Jordan was taller than me with cropped brown hair and wide shoulders. He wore blue jeans and a white polo that hung loose, indicating a flat stomach. His big brown eyes watched Ariel's ass as she entered the bedroom. He glanced towards my door.

"What's in there?" Jordan asked.

"The second bedroom," Ariel said. "We'll call it the nursery, if you do your job."

He chuckled and grabbed her hand, spinning her in place and kissing her. Her arms circled his neck and she rose on tip-toes to meet his lips. She looked sexy.

"Take my panties off," she said, breaking the kiss.

He knelt and pinched the delicate fabric, drawing the lacy thong down her legs. Her pussy was inches from his face.

"Shall I leave the rest on?" she asked.

He stood and deftly popped the clasp on her bra, freeing her tits. She giggled.

"Now we leave the rest on," he said.

She took a step back, reveling in his gaze. She lifted her arms over her head.

"You're fucking stunning," he said. "Beckham told me but I wasn't convinced. I am now. I'm going to love this."

She soaked up his attention, turning slightly to show every side. She put her back to him and he stared at her ass. Finally, she faced him again.

"My turn," she said. "Strip."

Shoes, socks, shirt and belt; Jordan had done this before. He slowed on the pants, delaying the moment, and Ariel impatiently stomped her foot.

"Get to it," she said, giggling. "Show me."

Jordan unbuttoned his fly and pushed his pants to his knees. He wore no underwear and when he stood tall his semi-erect cock rose with him, bobbing about half-mast. He was thick.

"Nice cock," my wife said.

She knelt, helping him slide his pants off his legs, and I held my breath as his dick swung close by her face several times. She tugged the last pantleg free, turning him towards me, and I saw his testicles for the first time; a large, wrinkled, hairless purse hanging from the root of his dick, big enough it filled the space behind his cock, forcing the shaft forward. His dense balls pulled the skin low, like a speed bag from a boxing gym. My wife lifted his nuts in her hand, eyebrows rising. I expected the animal look of his scrotum would turn her off but it had the opposite effect.

"Heavy," she said, looking up at him and smiling. "I want what's in them."

"Lots of babies," he chuckled.

Ariel shivered. This guy was saying all the right things.

"I want you to empty these in me."

"So do I," he said.

Ariel opened her mouth and, still looking up at him, rested his cock head on her tongue. She let him see himself in there a good five seconds before closing her lips and gently sucking. Underneath, she rolled his big balls around in her hand, the loose skin of his scrotum escaping between her fingers. She hefted his weighty balls again, imagining how much sperm they held. She groaned softly around the dick in her mouth.

I groaned softly too.

Jordan rose higher, filling and expanding, growing in length and girth. Their cocks were shaped differently but I'd guess him about the same basic size as Beckham.

Now, whenever I watch her with another man I want him to be big. Not just bigger than me. I'm average so that's easily accomplished. I want Ariel fucked by a dick she can really feel, a dick she'll remember the rest of her life. No way will she forget Phil or Beckham or Jordan. I love watching some slab of beef making her climax. It tears me up inside, but I love it.

Ariel moved her lips down his shaft. She closed her eyes, savoring the warm throbbing against her tongue, and eased another inch in. Her nose was several inches from his trim pubes and already her cheeks and throat bulged. She wanted all she could take before he got too stiff. Her eyelids fluttered. She loved his cock filling her mouth.

"That's enough," he said.

He held her face and withdrew his shiny dick. She resisted but he was ready. His hand took over, sliding up and down his slippery pole. He pushed her towards our bed. He made her turn and then bent her at the waist, feet on the carpet, tits on the bed. He gazed at her naked slit. His dick rose higher, pulsing with anticipation. This hot married bitch waited breathlessly for his cock, eager for his sperm. He enjoyed the moment, running his eyes over Ariel, soaking up every detail.

My wife grew impatient for penetration.

"Do it," she whimpered, lifting her hips invitingly.

She moved her feet farther apart, opening her labia and exposing the pink inner lips. My dick was ready to explode and he'd not even entered her yet. She slipped a hand under and began rubbing her clit.

"Put it in me," she pleaded.

He could take his time as far as I was concerned. I loved Ariel like this. She was yearning for his cock, begging another man to fuck her. He and his dick had snake-charmed her.

Jordan stepped closer. He held his dick in his right hand and spread her labia with his left. Another step and the tip closed the gap. She jumped a little when his cock first touched her.

"Fuck yes," she breathed. "God, I love this part."

Jordan flexed his ass and the cylinder of his beefy tool slid in, a freight train entering a mountain tunnel. Ariel gasped and Jordan drove more inches deep.

"You're thick," she groaned. "I love it."

His dick grabbed her lips on the way in, dragging them along. He moved his hands to her small waist and pushed harder, burying the shaft. His brawny balls hung low, covering her pussy. He thrust hard, hard enough to make his nuts slap her clit.

"Oh!" she exclaimed. "Holy shit!"

He gripped her firmly and withdrew his cock all the way to the head. With a flick of his hips he slammed the shaft deep again, slapping her clitoris. Ariel jumped, gathering bedspread in her fists.

"Harder," she hissed.

Jordan needed no encouraging. He pinned my wife to the mattress and began an onslaught of her cunt. She gushed juice, slurping and sloshing around his cock as he pounded her tight hole. She came like a man, exploding all at once, howling like that stabbing cock hurt her.

"Don't stop!" she shouted. "Ungh! God!"

She moved her feet as wide as she could get them, sacrificing her pussy to pleasure. Relentless Jordan hammered her hole, inching closer to climax himself but driving my wife insane first. He leaned far over her body, practically climbing up her back. His muscles stood taut, his hips a blur.

Ariel orgasmed again, almost weeping. She hid her face in our bed, ass lifted to receive him, pussy stretched tightly around his cock. Her body trembled. Loud but muffled moans filled our room. Jordan's face was frozen in a grin, loving this sexy wife.

It was too much. I couldn't resist. I unzipped and freed my dick, watching his cock plunge into her, listening to the delirious sounds of pleasure his cock brought. He fucked her better than me. I can admit that. He fucked her better and I welcomed it.

I thought he was close but he was holding back, relishing his power. Ariel covered her head with her arms.

"I'm gonna cum again," she whimpered. "God, help meeeee!"

Her back bowed and her hips lifted higher. Her cries of pleasure turned guttural and she pulled her own hair. Her body flushed crimson, something I'd never seen before, and her voice turned deep as she growled.

Before I could stop it, my nuts convulsed and I spit hot sperm against the bedroom door. I jerked faster, draining my dick.

Jordan filled his lungs and held it, pounding hard before burying his dick as deep as possible and blasting the first deep jet of semen. Ariel went wild, thrashing under him, thrusting her hips to milk his cock. Over and over Jordan spewed his hot lava, eager, potent seed seeking her egg. I shot hot loads until my fluids ran down the nursery door. Tonight, Jordan alone would own her pussy and that erotic truth fired my imagination. I squeezed more and more out of my balls, draining my nuts as my prolonged climax shook me to my core. Even as my tanks ran dry I continued trying to spit. My head spun. My body trembled. Waves of pleasure made me weak and dizzy.

I tore my eyes away from my wife and her lover, put my back to the wall, and sank to the floor, spent. I toppled over, sliding down the wall to lay on my side. From the other room, I heard Jordan grunting, pumping his last drops into Ariel.

Chapter 18

We knew. By the time Jordan left the next morning, we knew.

I spent the night hiding in the second bedroom, watching and listening to the repeated insemination of my wife. I jerked off as they fucked, wasting my seed on the carpet or against the door. Jordan was there to do a job, let him do it. In the meantime, I can feed my new fetish, stroking my dick as my wife is flooded, savoring the sounds of her pleasure, the sounds of her orgasm.

Around three in the morning Jordan came again, face to face with Ariel and buried deep. Her eyes grew wide. I felt the event the same time she did. We shared a strange psychic connection. In that instant we knew, and we knew that we knew. Her eyes filled with tears and she threw her arms around the man. There was no reasonable or logical way for us to be certain, but we were.

A pregnancy test five days later confirmed it: Ariel, my lovely and loving wife, had a baby growing in her. There was no mystery despite our efforts to confuse the issue. Jordan had impregnated her and we were fine with that. I fucked her all day to celebrate. She was insatiable.

We called Doctor Watkins with the news and he congratulated us, and then referred us to an obstetrician. He promised to discreetly make her aware of our special circumstances.

Ariel would carry the baby she and Jordan created, her belly swelling a little more every day, and I would grow more aroused by the minute. Every day would be a constant reminder of her infidelity and lust. My dick was perpetually half hard, ready in an instant for sex. I expected my wife to call on Philip, Beckham, or Jordan, or even all three, but that's not what happened. Now that she had conceived, she was done with those men. I was disappointed. She said there was no point in fucking them anymore. They'd done what we paid them to do.

Epilogue

A week later Ariel and I were having dinner at home. She took a bite of broccoli and set her fork on her plate.

"I need cock," she said.

I stopped chewing.

"I was wrong. I was right about the clinic guys but wrong about fucking. My tits are swelling, my nipples are more sensitive than ever, my skin is electrified. For two night in a row I've had the most erotic dreams. I'm horny as fuck. I need cock."

I raised an eyebrow.

"No," she said, teasing. "Not yours. I can have yours any time I want. I need something more. This pregnancy has me feeling more feminine than ever. I want to get fucked."

"Who?"

She grinned.

"Arrange something with Bruce," she said.

My eyebrows climbed higher.

"Just Bruce," she continued. "Not Bruce and his friends. Not Bruce and you. Just me, Bruce, and that fat cock of his."

"He's so rough," I said. "I worry he'll hurt you."

"He does hurt me, sometimes, but in ways I like."

I remembered his hand around her throat.

"I could never fuck you like that," I admitted. "I love you too much to treat you that way. I respect you too much."

She laid her hand atop mine.

"That's one reason I like it," she said. "There's zero love, zero romance. Bruce wants me, badly, and fucks my brains out because of it."

She leaned over the table, gazing into my eyes.

"I love being fucked," she said.

End.

Join My Mailing List
Get a FREE Hotwife Story!

Follow My Twitter

Find me on: GoodReads

Talk to Me

BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com