

Gabriela Gets An Education

MATTHEW LEE

Gabriela Gets An Education

By Matthew Lee

BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com

Chapter 1

When I first opened the acceptance letter from Phillips Exeter Academy, I cried. Eight years of grade school and four years of high school had driven me to this one moment. Not only would I be attending the most prestigious and influential school in the country, I'd be doing so all expenses paid. I'd been one of three Rothschild's Grant winners and sixty-thousand dollars a year for four years is quite a sum.

That was when my parents cried too.

But my great good fortune did not stop there.

Gabriela Simpson, my girlfriend since seventh grade, was also accepted to the Academy and she was the sole winner of the Guggenheim Scholarship; seventy-five thousand dollars a year for four years.

You can imagine how happy her parents were.

Gabby and I first met when we were five and we've been close ever since. She's a nerd like me, more comfortable around books than people, and our friendship had grown into something more over time. In seventh grade, I'd asked her to go steady and our senior year in high school I'd asked her to marry me. She'd eagerly agreed. We were perfect for each other and our future was brighter than the sun.

Months later Gabby and I arrived at the Academy together, dropped off at the steps leading up to Jeremiah Smith Hall. We entered and stood in awe gazing up at the domed and painted ceiling and the Greek inscription there; στους ώμους των γιγάντων.

On The Shoulders Of Giants was the school motto and it had two meanings at Philip's; first, remember everything you have, others helped you obtain, so give them the respect they are due, and, second, respect the hierarchy of those above you.

Exeter operated under a strict caste system; sophomores lorded over freshmen, juniors lorded over sophomores, seniors lorded over juniors, and on up the chain all the way to Dean Truman. Only the Lord lorded over him.

The Academy was a harsh scholarly and religious environment. Take the Welton Academy from the movie Dead Poet's Society and tighten the thumbscrews by a thousand. Close to fifty-percent of an incoming freshman class would not see graduation day four years later. But for those that did, the world opened like an oyster and presented a glorious and perfect pearl.

Gabby and I intended to maximize our time here. We moved into our separate dorms, located the cafeteria and library and the most efficient routes to each, mapped out our class schedule, extra-curricular activities, and which clubs to join, and, within weeks, launch a massive email and Tweet campaign before the other freshmen students knew what hit them.

I won class president and Gabby won class treasurer. We were aimed at the stars. We were young, brilliant, driven, disciplined, and well financed.

Forget about the sky, the edge of the galaxy was our only limit.

Chapter 2

"Gabby will be here in fifteen minutes," I told my roommate, Martin. "Will you please remove your dirty clothes from our living room?"

The dorms at Exeter were spacious; two bedrooms, a Jack-and-Jill bathroom with shower, small reading area, and workable kitchenette. Martin was a bit of a slob but mathematically brilliant. His algorithm for resources versus votes is what put me over the top and handed me the freshman class presidency. The concept of a hamper for dirty clothes eluded him but he could explain calculus in simple terms, so I allowed one to cancel out the other.

"What will she be wearing?"

I sighed.

For all his brilliance, Martin had poor social skills. He stood too close to people when he spoke and then invariably said inappropriate things. I am aware of his secret crush on Gabby and I understand it; she's adorable. She's petite and soft and cute and kind to the point she often gives others the wrong impression, and Martin definitely got the wrong impression. He thinks she flirted with him. I try to explain Gabby's not that kind of girl but hope dies hard.

Gabby and I are still virgins and proud of it. As our relationship grew we promised to save that special moment. Even after I asked her to marry me we kept our vow. I have felt her big tits on top of her bra and she once squeezed my erection through my swim trunks, but that's as far as we've gone.

"It's sixty-four degrees outside, Martin. I suspect she'll be trying to keep warm and dressed in baggy sweatpants and sweatshirt."

"Too bad."

I shook my head. I'm flattered he likes my fiancée and thinks she's pretty, but dude, watch what you say about her. I helped him sweep through our dorm and straighten the place.

Fourteen minutes later our door buzzed and I admitted her. She entered our living room dressed in baggy gray sweatpants and black sweatshirt. Martin's disappointment was obvious. His gaze dashed from head to feet, lingering briefly where her large breasts pushed the cotton fabric out and around, and back to me to see if he'd been caught. I'd already looked away.

Gabby twirled her long hair into a ponytail, coiled the thing atop her head, shoved a pen through to hold everything in place, and flashed her big brown eyes at me.

"Ready to work?" she asked.

"I am," I said.

I gestured towards the couch and coffee table where I had my books on the economic impact of slave trade in the new world open and waiting. Martin took another look at the mounds that were Gabby's tits and said he'd be in his room studying.

I didn't blame him for looking. Every guy at Philips looked, including me. I've never seen her naked. Gabby, while she may be short and soft, still had hips and tits and all the others things boys liked. The academy may be the largest concentration of young brain cells on the east coast, but it was also a hotbed for youthful, horny energy.

The Academy did what it could to control us; housing was separated by gender, a constant and oppressive religious dogma filled the air, and, lastly but probably most effective, students were simply too buried in schoolwork to have time or energy for anything extra-curricular. There were no parties, no alcohol, and no drug use.

While there were no parties, each weekend the students were encouraged to attend what was euphemistically called a Social. These events were sanctioned by the school to foment communal skills and interaction between grades, but which always degenerated into gatherings for rampant gossip, divided by class.

Our school day was often sixteen hours or more so by the time the weekend arrived students were ready to explode, desperate to talk about anything else. Gabby and I attended a Social our first week and never went back, and that hurt us socially. In a place as competitive as this, our scholarships combined with our grades and winning the political positions we did left us with few friends. Even the popular kids wouldn't talk to us. We had Martin and each other and that was basically it. Lonely, sometimes, but Gabby and I had grown up lonely.

Martin closed his bedroom door and Gabby and I got to work.

Chapter 3

The troubles started, as they so often do, with Partial Differential Equations. This was the one class Gabby and I shared and perhaps that was distraction enough. We started slow and quickly fell behind. We hired tutors and even asked Martin for help, and in our own defense we were getting it, but not fast enough. Not fast enough at all. The professor set a quelling pace. One Friday evening Gabby and I sat in my dorm at the coffee table and she presented the awful truth.

"At this rate, we will not pass this class. We can withdraw and try again next semester, but that dominoes every other class we've arranged. We lose our promised internships because we graduate at least five months later, assuming we pass on our second try. We will also lose our political positions."

I thought she might start crying. I kind of felt like it myself.

"Our résumés will be smirched," she continued. "Our luster gone. Some other Golden Child will take our place. Everything will be ruined."

"One class can do that to us?" I asked.

"Yes. In this chariot race, if you stumble you get ground under the wheels of the many behind you. We must find a way to pass this class."

Martin had been listening from the kitchen. He stood in front of us and opened his Mountain Dew. He stared awkwardly, waiting.

"What?" I asked.

"I can help," he said. "But what I do can never leave the three of us. Ever."

He looked so serious I laughed. I've never seen his face like that. He just stared back at me.

"How can you help?" Gabby asked.

He gulped his Mountain Dew and jerked his chin towards his bedroom door.

"Follow me."

We did.

His room was a fucking disaster. Gabby shoved dirty clothes onto the floor so she had a place to sit and I stood nearby as Martin sat at his computer. He logged in and hit keys for about a minute straight.

I grew impatient. "What, Marty? What are you doing?"

"Chill. I'm almost there."

He hit a few more keys and pushed back. I gazed at the screen. Gabby understood before I did.

"Holy shit," she breathed. "That's the admin mainframe."

"Yup. I'm teacher's assistant to Miss Gambol and she assists Dean Truman and I discovered where she hides her copy of admin passwords. I figured out the answers to other security questions using their social media accounts and then reprogramed the formula for my test scores, adding a few undetectable points and rounding up. I've gotten at least a C on everything. The professors enter the scores and leave the rest to the computer. I can apply the same formula to your scores for Differential Equations and you'll squeak by. No need to repeat the class."

I was stunned. Academic cheating was anathema to everything I believed.

"Do it," Gabby said.

I aimed my stunned face at her.

Martin turned to his computer.

"Hold on," I growled. "Are you guys crazy? We risk everything. How can you do that so casually? Shouldn't we at least talk about this?"

"Why?" Gabby said. "We know the material, we're just not fast enough. I think I know what Marty means when he says undetectable and I believe him. We risk everything by not doing it." She swung her face around to him. "Their formula rounds up, right? You borrow a tenth a point from several and add them to yours. Everything rounds up and bingo, minimum grade."

"Yeah."

"Thought so." She tapped her lips with a fingertip. "Although just to be certain we should replace your formula with the old one as soon as the grades post. That way anyone checking will see the original. Not that there is anyone on staff with the background to do the checking."

Martin was nodding in agreement as she spoke.

"What about ethics?" I argued. "What about integrity?"

They laughed!

Martin went on about the whole system being unfair and mentioned Captain Kirk and the Kobayashi Maru test from Star Trek. Gabby added that leaders find a way to make things happen and do not merely accept their fate. By the time they finished, my argument was dead.

"Fine," I relented.

Martin started clicking keys.

A sense of dread soured my stomach.

For every action, there is an equal and opposite reaction. I wondered what the universe had in store for us.

Chapter 4

Gabby and I sat alone at our favorite table in the Exeter library. As always, the other students glared at us over the tops of their books.

Martin's grade adjustment was weeks behind us now and so far, my fears were utterly unfounded. Nobody suspected anything. We continued to study hard and take tests but gradually our scores inched up. We recalculated often but the graph showed we would now pass the class. We'd apply for credit-no-credit and our low score would disappear. We were in the clear.

The elevator doors opened across the room and I watched a young man and young woman approach our table. Their smug and cocky smiles unnerved me slightly. He was tall, blonde hair and blue eyes, and she was short, black hair and dark eyes. They acted like they knew us but I wracked my brain and felt certain we'd never met.

"Hi," the young man said, extending a hand. "You're Chuck Johnson and you're Gabriela Simpson."

"That's right," I answered. We all shook hands.

The dark-haired girl leaned over the table. "You done fucked up," she said, her voice low. "And it will cost you."

Gabby started to get defensive but I placed a hand on her arm.

"Explain yourselves," I told them.

They pulled out chairs opposite us and sat.

"Spencer is assistant to the dean of the IT department," the girl said.

"I'm Spencer," he waved at us.

"Tell them, Spence," she said.

He moved his chair closer to the table.

"Weeks ago, I noticed a sign-in after hours. It took me some time to figure out what happened but I did, two days ago. It took Norma those two days to discover who you were and then a few hours to track you to the library, but here we are."

"Here we are," Norma added.

Gabby looked like she might throw up or cry or both.

I skipped trying to deny anything. "What do you want?"

"I was going to go to the dean but Norma pointed out the balance on your school accounts. Nice."

"I want a thousand dollars," Norma blurted. "Money is tight and you have plenty. I can hide a grand and you can afford a grand."

"O-okay," Gabby stuttered.

"Meet me here tomorrow at noon with the cash, and I mean a grand each."

I nodded and Norma abruptly stood. "That's it for me. Now you deal with him."

She walked away.

Gabby and I sat stunned. It had come crashing down, like I knew it would, and it had come hard and fast and without warning. Spencer waited until Norma was gone.

"How much do you want?" I asked, sure his total would exceed Norma's and that's why he waited to speak.

"I don't want money," he chuckled. "My parents are rich." He smiled at Gabby, then he reached across the table and placed his hand on top of hers. "I want this pretty little girl to suck my cock."

A thunderbolt from Zeus would have less impact than his words. Gabby and I froze. A long moment of silence passed.

He continued: "We can't meet at my dorm because my roommate is always home so I'll come to you." He looked at me. "Should I go to her dorm or meet her at yours?"

"You cannot be serious," Gabby said. "I've never done that."

He ignored her, waiting for me to respond. Gabby turned her attention to me.

"Chuck, tell him to fuck off."

"Fuck off," I said. "Gabby and I are engaged and we aren't having sex. No way would she have sex with you. We'll pay you a grand like we agreed."

"That's what Norma wants because Norma needs money. I have money. I want to see my dick in this stuck-up bitch's mouth. You guys need to face the fact you're fucked. You'll not just get expelled from Philip's, cheating on grades will keep you out of every college. You'll go home and enroll at community. I'll give you tonight to talk it over, but I'll expect an answer tomorrow morning."

He turned his attention to Gabby.

"I see you every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday around nine. You enter the eight-hundred building as I'm leaving. I say hello and you ignore me every fucking time. I'm a sophomore and you're just some little arrogant freshman. I can't wait to see my dick in your mouth. You can give me your answer when I see you tomorrow."

"Hang on," I said. "Let's talk about this."

"Sure," he said, grinning. "Try to talk me out of it."

We spent the next two hours doing our best. We offered more money or threatened we'd dig up equal dirt on him and use it. We wondered if there was something he wanted more that we could get for him and promised we would. The longer we talked the more convinced we became he absolutely would not budge and the deeper into despair Gabby sank. Our begging only excited him more. Eventually, we ran out of things to say. He gave us a dazzling smile, said we were finished discussing the subject, and left us staring at his back. Gabby and I just watched him walk away. When our eyes met, hers filled with tears.

"Chuck?"

She was beseeching me, pleading with me to make things right. She had no idea how to handle this horrible, impossible situation. Aside from killing Spencer, I had no idea either.

"Fucking goddamn Martin," I said.

She shook her head slowly, tears now running down her cheeks.

"No, I pushed us into this. You didn't want to. Marty merely suggested it. I got us here and nobody else. Don't blame Marty. Blame me. Fuck."

We sat in silence a long time. We could tell no one, find help from no one. Short of confessing and suffering the consequences, we had no alternative.

I saw on her face the moment Gabby accepted her fate.

"He better shower first. I won't even know what I'm doing."

I felt someone jab a spear into my guts. As sure as the sun would rise tomorrow, my fiancée was going to suck another man's penis. I felt weak and dizzy.

“I want you there, Chuck. I know that’s selfish. I know it will be horrible for you. But no way can I go through this alone.”

I put my hand on top of hers. “I’ll be with you, Honey. Martin has class tomorrow evening. Spencer can come over then. Just do it and get it over with.”

Gabby started crying softly.

Chapter 5

The knock came at five-forty-five and Gabby and I almost jumped out of our skins. I opened the door and Spencer strode in like he owned my dorm.

"Can I get a coffee?" he asked. "Late study night."

I bit my tongue and headed for the kitchenette. Spence headed for Gabby.

She'd worn the same thing she always does; dark sweat pants and sweatshirt. She'd cried off and on all night, sending me texts at two and three in the morning telling me how sorry she was she got us into this, begging me to forgive her, pleading with me to stay engaged after. I assured her I'd stay. She cried during the day today too. We'd talked about it every free minute but we were stuck with only one clear path forward. She threw up after lunch.

"No fucking way am I going to look nice for that asshole," she snarled. "And I'm leaving right after to go home and shower and cry myself to sleep. How could I be so stupid?"

We'd paid Norma and she promised we'd never hear from her again.

"Now y'all have dirt on me too," she said. "We're even." She had no idea what Spencer had asked for and didn't want to know.

"There's something wrong with that boy's head," she said. "He'll probably be a senator someday."

I came back with a cup of coffee and discovered Spencer had led Gabby into my bedroom. My heart sank and my palms turned sweaty. I stepped through the doorway and found Spence seated on the corner of my bed and Gabby kneeling on my pillow between his thighs.

"The nightstand would be great," he said, looking at his coffee. "Thanks."

He returned his attention to my fiancée.

"Open my pants and take it out," he casually instructed. "You know what to do."

Tears welled. I thought Gabby would cry again.

"No, I don't," she said, sniffing. "I've never done this."

He looked at her like she was joking and then at me. "Seriously?"

"Yes," I answered for her. "We don't do that. We're saving it for our wedding night." I hoped he'd reconsider.

He laughed once. "Fantastic. No problem, I'll teach you everything." He smiled at me. "You'll thank me later."

He stood and loosened his pants, sliding them off and tossing them farther up my bed. He wore black boxer briefs.

"Before you grab my waistband and pull my boxers down," he said, "take your sweatshirt off. I'm sure you have great tits and I want to see them. You wear loose clothing all the time but I still catch hints of how big they are."

Gabby sat motionless for a heartbeat but then gripped her sweatshirt and pulled it over her head. Beneath she wore a gray sports bra which her big tits filled. She tossed her top over his pants.

"Sweet," he said, genuinely impressed. "I knew it."

My girl sat motionless but then reached for his waistband.

"No," he said. "Bra too."

Gabby bit her lip to keep from crying. She pulled her bra off like she had her top and set it on the carpet next to her. Her big tits tumbled free, bouncing and swaying, nipples hard in the chill of my room. Spencer stared and stared.

"Goddamn," he muttered. "Better than I hoped. I'll never look at you the same."

Gabby's eyes narrowed. "Nor I, you."

I was speechless. I'd never seen Gabby topless and I could barely breathe. Her tits were Playboy gorgeous. Shaped like huge pears with nipples high and pointing up, I could not take my eyes off them. I hoped she didn't catch me staring. I felt guilty ogling her under these circumstances but her tits were spectacular. I couldn't help it. My stomach was churning with anxiety but her exposed breasts dumped a gallon of adrenaline into my guts. I'd seen her in a bikini top twice and a lacy bra once but nothing prepared me for this. I hated Spencer was there to see them too and no way would I let him know this was my first time, but, honestly, her tits were so distracting I could almost forget the circumstances.

“Okay,” he said at last. “Now my boxers.”

Gabby held her breath. She hooked her thumbs and pulled. His legs were hairy but his pubes were trimmed. The shorts came down quickly and then there it was right in front of her face; a pulsing, circumcised penis. He sat on the corner of my bed. His balls rested on my comforter.

Gabby tried not to look but nobody has that much discipline. Spencer spread his legs a little and Gabby took her first real look.

I’d not seen her naked and neither had she seen me. This was her first live penis. She’s admitted she’s looked at porn once but only for a minute, and that was because a girlfriend sent her a link. Gabby scrutinized Spencer’s cock, self-conscious eyes traveling the length, following the veins. She looked disgusted and curious simultaneously.

Spencer smiled a cocky little grin. “You like that? I like you looking at it.” He turned to me. “She’ll get wet, I promise you.”

I knew what he meant but not how he meant it. I know girls get wet when they get excited but he seemed to be saying Gabby would get wet from sucking his dick, and I knew that was false. I wanted to avoid an argument that would prolong his stay and the less he touched Gabby, the better. I kept my mouth shut. Eager as I was to get this over with, Gabby reached for his penis. He stopped her.

“No, slowly. Curl your finger just behind the head and cup my balls with your free hand. That’s right. Roll them around inside their bag. Softer, the balls are sensitive. Now kiss the tip of my cock.”

“No way,” she said. “You’re leaking something.”

Spencer laughed. “That’s cum and don’t be afraid of it. You’ll be swallowing a lot in about twenty minutes. Lick it, get used to the taste. I’m told it’s salty.”

Every instruction he gave her, she hesitated. Gabby fought this every step. She lifted his penis and pointed the head at her face. She stuck her tongue out and drew closer, making contact and swirling the clear droplet away. I saw her move the fluid around her mouth, analyzing the taste and feel.

“It’s slippery,” she admitted.

“How’s the flavor?” he wanted to know.

“I don’t taste salt. No flavor, not really. It leaves a slick coating. My teeth and tongue feel smooth.”

She closed her mouth and I saw her work her tongue around. She was swirling Spencer's sperm and simultaneously stabbing my heart.

"Put the head in your mouth and suck while you pump my dick with your hand. As I get hard take more of my cock. Hopefully you can take the whole thing."

Gabby held him upright, shocked.

"No way," she whined. "It's too big. No way a girl can take it."

His suggestion seemed ridiculous even to me.

Spencer laughed again. "Sweet, innocent girl, you say the nicest things. I'm not that big. It has been done. Put the head in your mouth. No teeth. Remember to suck constantly. Suction feels best."

Gabby did as she'd been ordered. Her trembling, pouty lips slithered around his head, rising as they enveloped the crown and falling as they formed a seal behind it. Her mouth began to slip and slurp up and down and he became shiny with her saliva. Her cheeks dented frequently but she'd forget after a minute or two. Spencer gave her more instructions but soon he leaned back and just let the girl work. He'd gotten his wish; the little bitch from second period was sucking his cock.

Gabby was terrible but as far as Spencer was concerned her pretty face and big tits more than made up for it. He stuffed a couple pillows under his head and just gazed down the length of his body at Gabby struggling. No matter how much he encouraged her or how hard she tried, she could take no more than half his length. She gagged often and made a mess of saliva and frequently jabbed his cock head too far back. He had her slather his balls and lick all over his shaft and the sight of her soft pink tongue painting his veiny inches made me gag too.

Gabby looked near tears many times but she'd brace herself and fight through it, accessing the same determined spirit that had gotten her this far.

I'd say he was a little bigger than me but unless we compared side by side I couldn't tell for sure, and there was no way I was getting my penis that close to his.

I must have been in shock. I was watching my fiancée blow another man and part of me wanted to vomit and part of me wanted to do him violence but part of me watched with an odd fascination. I don't view porn either but I've certainly seen more than Gabby and watching a real blowjob was a thousand times more intense, especially when, every few minutes, I remembered this was my fiancée sucking her first cock ever.

That it was not my cock in her mouth almost killed me.

Every moan, every sigh, every noise Spencer made crushed my heart. I felt like it went on for hours, and twice Gabby rubbed her tired jaw muscles, but eventually Spence said he was getting close and told her how to make him cum hard. Gabby had half his dick in her mouth, sucking and bobbing rapidly, when Spencer tensed and grunted he was there. He told Gabby to keep going no matter what and seconds later he roared a strangled cry as his ass lifted and he began to spurt in her mouth.

Gabby concentrated like he'd instructed and sucked each blast out of him, sucking and swallowing and sucking some more. Spencer clawed my bedspread as my fiancée vacuumed his sperm out. His taste didn't bother her at all. She kept going because she didn't know any better and he had to push her off his dick. She was unaware how sensitive we get after a climax and he had to shove her head away and roll onto his stomach to hide his penis from her.

Gabby moved away and started dressing immediately. She wiped her mouth with both hands, gave me a look of utter shame, and left my dorm without a kiss or a word goodbye.

I thought she was angry with me until I got a text saying how humiliated she was and if I wanted to break up she understood. She didn't want to kiss me with a mouth coated with his semen and just wanted to get home to shower and brush her teeth as soon as possible. I text back I understood and there was nothing to forgive.

Spencer finally rolled over and started to dress. I thought he would be mocking and cocky but he wasn't. The only thing he said was some congratulations for scoring such a hot girl and when the time came, I was going to love her blowjobs.

"So, we're square now? We won't ever hear from you again?"

He assured me we would not. He'd gotten what he wanted.

Chapter 6

Two days later, he found us in the library again and said he wanted more. Gabby and I tried to argue but he deflected everything we said with some version of: "What fucking choice do you guys have?"

He was right but we fought hard anyway. In the end, we relented and picked a time Martin would be out of the dorm again. Spencer left us and Gabby buried her face in her hands.

"When will this end?" she grumbled.

She tried to hold back the tears but they came anyway.

Hours later, she blew him again. I knew he'd never stop. He'd gotten away with it. We'd not gone to school authorities or upperclassmen so the only thing holding him back was his own sense of right and wrong. He met Gabby again at lunch time the next day and they used my room because I had class. He came over again around eight while we studied. She sucked his cock again at lunch the next day.

I'm ashamed to say it, but Gabby and I were almost ruined.

She turned inward and stopped talking. I felt neglected and insecure and got hurt. For several weeks, distance crept in and then we started spending more time apart. Entire days went by without us even speaking. My heart was broken but even those pieces shattered one day when I walked by her dorm and saw Spencer leaving, whistling a happy tune. Gabby and I were headed for a break-up unless I did something.

The next day I had a long talk with Martin because he was my only real friend. He felt terrible about what was going on and offered to help in any way he could, but then he told me to man up and go get my woman back. Gabby felt worthless right now, he surmised, and I needed to tell her I still loved her. I needed to tell her we'd get through this together. It took him over an hour but eventually he got through my thick skull and I ran out of the dorm all the way to Gabby's place. Her roommate Diana answered and let me wait, saying Gabriela would be home soon.

Ten minutes later, Gabby's came through the door. She burst into tears as soon as she saw me and I led her to her bedroom where I held her as she cried. I apologized for withdrawing but she said she understood. We laid on her bed hugging until we fell asleep.

When we woke, everything was fine between us again.

She told me she cut me out of the loop because it had to be a horrible thing for me to watch. She wanted to spare me the pain. Spencer made her suck his cock all the time and she had to talk to somebody, so she told her roommate Diana. She told me how she missed me so bad she thought she was going to die.

My story to her was about the same. I let her know I'd confided in Martin and he felt awful and offered any help he could give. Gabby cried a little more but then something clicked inside and she seemed to be done with it.

"Enough," she said, pushing back from me. "I'm not a little girl. I got us into this mess and I will get us out. I love you."

"I love you too, Gabby. With all my heart."

We kissed and hugged and went for dinner. Over big bowls of spaghetti and meatballs, Gabby told me Spencer said she was becoming a fantastic cock sucker. I swear I detected an undertone of pride. A few minutes later her phone buzzed and she checked the message.

"Shit," she said.

I lifted my eyebrows.

"Who else? Spencer says he's stressed and needs to relax." She checked the time on her phone. "Want to meet in the library afterward to study? I should be done with him around eight."

I nodded slowly. We finished our meal and I swallowed a bite of angst with every forkful. We kissed and walked part way across campus and then she veered off towards her dorm and Spencer while I aimed for my dorm and books.

I got no studying done until she showed up at eight-fifteen. We kissed and I tasted something vaguely like root beer but I didn't ask.

She was preoccupied for twenty minutes before she confessed Spencer had invited her to this weekend's Social.

"Invited?"

She got sheepish. "Yeah, I suppose it was more of a courteous demand."

"That's like a date."

She looked at me funny. "Oh, no, he wants you there too. I should have said he invited us to the Social."

I told myself I needed to man up and stand tall by her side.

"Why does he want me there?"

"Because he's an asshole. Whenever I'm with him all he talks about is how big a man he is or how he made someone look stupid that day. He's an insecure egomaniac. If I had to guess I'd say he wants to show us off like a trophy, like we hang out with him because he's so cool."

We turned our attention to our school books.

Chapter 7

I was nothing but nerves on Friday but on Saturday I was almost useless. I barely ate and every time I tried to hold a conversation with anyone I stopped randomly as my mind wandered off.

I picked up Gabby at eight and Spencer met us at the front door to Amen Hall.

“Act like you look up to me,” he instructed. “There are some people here I’m trying to impress. Gabby, stay by my side. The best way to get a pretty girl is with a pretty girl.”

We followed him around like stupid freshmen and laughed at all his jokes and said things to make him look good. I fetched him a fresh diet coke whenever he ran out.

Amen Hall is huge but broken up on the inside by low, half-walls that extend into the main room. Couches and loveseats fill the nooks created and students drape all over them. The idea behind these staged events is to force the student body to mingle but each clique, usually separated by class, stakes their own claim and congregates.

We walked by the freshmen faction and I saw a lot of familiar faces, including Martin, which was a surprise. I thought he’d despise a gathering like this. As class president, I’d met almost every freshman seated so when I didn’t stop to at least say hello, their shocked faces made sense. Several looked at me strangely, knowing Gabby and I were engaged but seeing she was clearly enamored with Spencer tonight. I avoided the embarrassing questions in their eyes.

I’d dressed nice since this was our first Social for months. Gabby dressed well too, for her; black combat boots and a lime, flower-print dress that was shorter in the front than the back by a foot. She’d tried a variety of things with her long hair but settled on a ponytail which looked a little severe with her boots.

Spencer dragged us along wherever he went, including crashing the junior and senior cliques. He was chased out of the junior’s after only fifteen minutes and I thought the same was about to happen at the senior's area, when a tall, blonde-haired guy looked at Gabby and invited Spencer to stay, kicking a chair around to face him. Spence motioned us to other chairs close by and the three of us relaxed, or we tried to, which was impossible being this close to the seniors. They all looked like adults to me.

Blonde guy introduced himself as Blake Monroe and shook our hands, lingering on Gabby. She got flustered and looked at the ground.

Blake ran the show. The senior area was a mix of mostly seniors but a few others from every grade hung out too. As my gaze bounced from face to face around the circle I realized virtually every cool kid was with us. All the popular students were here. Blake was charming and gregarious and paid attention to even the most shy and quiet freshmen.

He took a special interest in Gabby.

Spencer did not like it.

Normally that would mean I did but Blake was a frighteningly attractive man. I felt like a dumb clumsy kid around him. He was a frighteningly attractive man and he was showing my fiancée a ton of attention.

Spencer tried to move between Gabby and Blake and Blake left his seat to go take an open spot on the other side. The more Blake talked to Gabby, the more frustrated Spencer became.

Finally, Spencer announced it was time for the three of us to leave.

"So soon?" Blake asked. "Let me borrow Gabriela for a little longer. Spence, why don't you talk to Andy about lacrosse?"

Blake stood and held out his hand. Gabby took it.

"Will you walk with me?" he asked.

She gave a small nod and stood, stiff and awkward.

My heart sank as my fiancée walked away with a new man. I sipped my Coke and watched the crowd. Everyone was so intelligent and stylish. Spencer was arguing with Andy and nobody paid any attention to me. I tried to make myself as small as possible and slip away to follow Gabby and succeeded so well not a soul saw me leave.

Blake held the door open at the back of the Hall and Gabby floated through. I waited a minute then followed.

They sat on steps near a small monument, talking. I turned left as there was no place to hide and began a wide circle around them. They were so engrossed in the conversation neither noticed me. They laughed from time to time and seemed genuinely interested in each other. When I came back around to the Hall I went in again. Andy was gone and Spencer looked angry.

“Where’s Gabby?”

I jerked a thumb over my shoulder. “Outside with Blake.”

Spencer stormed off in that direction and opened the door, telling Gabby it was time to go. He held the door open while he waited and soon she came through. All three of us headed for the sophomore section, where most of Spencer’s friends sat, and found open seats. Spencer made Gabby sit next to him on a loveseat while I took a chair. Everything was fine until some guy I didn’t know wagged a finger back and forth between Gabby and me and said: “I thought you two were a couple.”

“We are,” I replied.

“Then why is Spencer all up on your girl?”

“We’re all just good friends,” I said, my face blushing bright red.

“Hm.”

Spencer overheard his friend and added: “They’re engaged but she’s my date.”

He was angry at Blake but taking it out on me. Gabby looked at me sadly but said nothing. I endured another ninety minutes of humiliation before Spencer had enough and said it was time to go. Our walk by the freshmen clique was torture. All of them knew Gabby was mine but asshole Spencer held her hand as we passed.

We left the Hall and followed the sidewalk until it came time to part but Spencer came with us.

“I think you need a reminder,” he told Gabby, and we all knew what he meant. “Don’t talk to Blake when you’re out with me.”

“What was I supposed to do?”

“Figure something out,” he said.

Gabby tossed her hands up in frustration but stayed quiet.

At my dorm, we crowded into my bedroom and I shut the door. Spencer told her to strip naked.

“Hang on,” I said. “That’s way more than looking at her boobs.”

“Relax, Chuck. I’ve already seen her naked.”

I looked at Gabby but she wouldn’t meet my eyes. My heart sank. On one of her visits to his place he’d made her undress completely. Maybe more than one visit. Spencer had seen and done more with my fiancée than I had. He saw my expression.

“Don’t worry, Chuck. I haven’t fucked her. Yet.”

My jaw dropped.

“I’m just messing with you, dude,” he laughed. “I don’t want to go to jail, or, even worse, end up with a kid I have to pay child support for. Fuck that.”

Gabby waited while Spencer and I talked but now his eyes came around to her. She untied her boots and kicked them off, peeling her socks down too, and then straightened and grabbed the hem of her dress. She bent and we saw her slightly chubby body and smooth, full tits. She wore black panties and bra.

“Go on,” Spencer said. “Everything. No honeymoon surprises for you guys.”

Half of me wanted to kill him and half wanted to watch Gabby undress. She reached behind and her bra jumped. She slid the garment down her arms and there were her big, firm tits. She hesitated briefly before she hooked her thumbs and pushed her panties down. I thought it would be a bigger deal to her. How many times had she done this for him?

Her pubic hair was neatly trimmed, close enough to the skin we saw outer labia separated by slightly distended inner labia.

Spencer studied her pussy and then said: “Perfect. Just like I told you.”

An icy chill ran down my spine. He’d given her instructions. What I was seeing now and for the first time was the result of how he wanted her to look. I made a fist before I realized what I was doing and slowly relaxed it.

My head was a hurricane of conflicting thoughts and emotions. She looked amazing, sexy, sooth, and feminine. I loved looking at her naked. Her pretty face became infinitely more beautiful once she was nude. She shook her ponytail free without being told and I gasped. She looked hot. She heard my gasp and her eyes flashed up to mine, surprised by what she saw.

“Gabby,” I began. “Gabby, you, you’re—”

Spencer laughed at my reaction.

Half of my mind wanted to beat Spencer with a baseball bat. If Gabby had displayed any fear or anger, I probably would have attacked him. She didn't and that's what held me back. Gabby stood there dutifully, almost enjoying our eyes on her. I was relieved she'd adapted to this horrible situation. I was glad she suffered less humiliation and shame at his hands. She was mortified but now to a tolerable level.

The sound of his belt buckle brought me around. Spencer undressed and tossed his clothes on my bed. As his underwear came down his penis snapped free and smacked his stomach. He was already hard anticipating my fiancée's mouth on him.

"You know what to do," he said to her, again. This time, she did.

She approached him and pulled a pillow from the bed for her knees. Spencer remained standing and Gabby knelt, taking his shaft in both hands and lovingly kissing under the tip and down to his balls. She lifted those and brought them to her lips, kissing each reverently.

This was not the same Gabby.

Her tongue snaked out and teased his scrotum before winding a squiggly path up the shaft to the head. A droplet of clear semen waited for her, perched at the tip like nectar, and she licked it away, rolling his fluid around inside her mouth.

"Root beer," she murmured, smiling.

Spencer smiled too, as if at some inside joke.

Her full lips parted as they encircled his turgid head and slipped around before sliding down the shaft behind. Spencer groaned. I could only imagine the pleasure he felt, only imagine what sweet Gabby's perfect mouth felt like wrapped around one's cock. Heavenly, judging by his expression.

My fiancée sucked hard, hard enough to pull another groan from the young man. Her head began a slow bob and this time her suction was complete. Spencer's cock slid in and out effortlessly, a little farther in each time. Gabby adjusted the angle of her throat and slightly lifted her head and Spencer's throbbing hard-on now sank only inches from his balls on each thrust. Her small pink tongue slipped out underneath to swab his balls.

His hands rose to her head. Gabby seemed to know what this meant and relaxed her neck and shoulders. Spencer held her in place and began to fuck her hot mouth like a pussy. They moved like dancers; practiced and familiar. Spencer fucked her mouth and soon Gabby moaned from deep pleasure. My heart broke. How was this pleasurable? She got enjoyment from sucking cock? What was in this for her? Spencer pumped his hips faster and held his breath.

“Gonna cum fast tonight,” he hissed. “Keep watching, Chuck.”

Gabby steadied herself with her hands on his thighs and Spencer fucked her mouth faster. She was ready, experienced, sure, knowing exactly what to expect. How many times had he forced himself on her? How did she know him so well? I saw the veins on his dick swell and Gabby moaned an encouragement and an instant later Spencer was coughing and jerking as sperm exploded from his nuts and flew into her mouth. Her cheeks dented deeply and Spencer almost fell. His groan filled my bedroom. I saw her throat work as she gulped him down.

He braced himself on her shoulders until it was over and then let his cock deflate in her mouth. Movement in her cheeks told me her tongue worked his shrinking shaft. Finally, he pulled his hips back and his soft cock slipped from her mouth with a slurp and hung in front of her face.

He sat on my bed.

“Holy fuck, you’ve gotten good at that.”

He held his head in his hands and then looked up at me.

“Why don’t you get some?” he asked, pointing at my fiancée.

Gabby looked like she was about to panic.

“Because we’re saving that for our wedding night,” I shot back.

“Still? What’s the point? I’ve had her, dude. She’s damaged goods.”

“Fuck you, Spencer,” I barked. “There are plenty of things we share that you cannot touch, Spencer, and our love and respect for each other are just a few. Play your stupid game. Enjoy your little extortion plot. This will end, sooner or later, and Gabby and I will still have respect for each other and the things we treasured together.”

Spencer looked stunned. Gabby looked ready to cry.

“You don’t decide our worth,” I said. “Or her worth to me. I do. And I think she’s fucking priceless regardless of if you’ve touched her or not.”

His stunned face became a smile. “Fucking well said,” he laughed. He clapped me on the back as he began to dress.

Gabby waited until he had gone and then threw her naked arms around me.

“Oh, my God, Baby. You’re amazing! I’m so happy to hear you say all that. Is it true? Is that what you believe? Is that how you feel?”

I nodded seriously and hugged her back until I became aware of her body heat and the feel of her warm nakedness pressed against me. My penis began to swell. She felt it but held on.

“That makes me feel wonderful, Chuck. Thank you.”

Her tits mashed my stomach and her hot pussy scorched my pantleg. My chin rested on top of her head. Each time she breathed I felt her firm globes move against me. My penis was stiff as bone.

“I guess you better get dressed,” I said. “I don’t want us to do something stupid.”

Gabby stepped back and my eyes traveled every inch of her. I’d always fantasized about her naked, masturbating my blue-balls away every night, but reality exceeded imagination. She was smooth but not fat. Standing straight, shoulders back, she wasn’t even chubby. She watched me gawk at her, soft and feminine. Her young tits reached for the ceiling. Her flat tummy led down to her trimmed pussy. She was cute and petite and demure and succulent and my penis strained at my jeans.

She took her time before reaching for her dress. She loved my eyes on her.

Chapter 8

Spencer's indignation lasted all week. He was so irritated, in fact, he ignored Gabby. How upset does one have to be to skip free blowjobs? I was relieved. Gabby had adapted to the situation and, of course, part of her took pride in what she did. Gabby does everything well. I knew Spencer was nothing to her, I knew it was her nature to do her best regardless of the task. I comforted myself with that knowledge; Spencer's penis was a chore, nothing more.

Aside from Spence, my life with Gabby was identical. We studied, politicked, ate, attended classes, slept, and studied some more. What was happening with Spencer got pushed to the background and Gabby and I stopped discussing it. What could we do? She'd disappear during the day or arrive at my place slightly late and we both knew why. In time, Spencer would meet some girl and he'd vanish and the whole ordeal would fade. Someday we might even look back and laugh. I hated that his dick was the first Gabby had ever sucked, but life goes on.

On Friday, Spencer said we would hit the Social again. He told Gabby to wear another dress and to lose the goddamn combat boots. She wore them anyway but at least her dress was black this time.

Spencer spent more time at the freshman and sophomore circles this time, working the crowd, and I got a lot of funny looks, but then we moved on to the junior's area. He lasted almost an hour before they taunted him into leaving.

Gabby seemed to perk up as we approached the senior's section and she smiled when her gaze landed on Blake. Spencer obnoxiously announced his arrival and nobody turned. We took an open couch with Gabby in the middle.

"Go buy me a diet Coke," Spencer said to me.

I asked Gabby what she wanted and headed for the machines in the corner, keeping one eye on my fiancée.

At last Blake noticed Spencer and his eyes quickly jumped to Gabby. He moved over and took my open seat. Spencer said something and Blake responded and a brief argument ensued but I was too far away to hear what was said. Spencer stood and spoke to Gabby who remained sitting and then Blake made a gesture like he was telling Spencer to hit the road and that's exactly what Spence did.

I came back and took Blake's old spot instead of Spencer's next to Gabby. I'm not sure why. Blake intimidated me, I guess. I tried to think of a way to introduce myself and let him and everyone else there know Gabby was my fiancée but I took too long. Blake said he and Gabby were going for some fresh air and they walked away. Gabby gave me a helpless look as she passed.

Now what?

I watched the door to the outside close behind them but I couldn't just tag along. These were seniors. No way did I want to look stupid or weak in front of them. I sat there hoping Blake and Gabby would return but as time ticked away, they did not.

When I could stand the wait no longer, I took a big swallow of Mountain Dew and followed. I hoped to find them in the same spot as last time but didn't. I wandered from one possibility to the next, widening my search, until I saw my dark dorm window. That gave me the idea to try Gabby's dorm and soon I saw the building and her window was dark too. I exhaled, relieved.

Her light came on.

I froze.

When I got moving again I glanced around and then moved to a clump of bushes close by. From there I moved to the tree outside her window.

Blake held Gabby's face and they kissed softly. She definitely kissed him back.

My stomach dropped!

Gabby looked limp, like just standing in the presence of such a man melted her. Her arms hung at her sides and her shoulders sagged. Her eyes were closed but her lips were responsive.

The passion in their kiss grew until her arms rose to circle his waist. His hands moved down her back to cup her ass. Her hands did the same and I saw her grab a handful of his butt and squeeze.

Their mouths opened and two pink tongues danced. His hand came up to caress the side of her breast and she turned slightly to make it easier for him. He took that as encouragement and caressed her entire tit and their kissing really took off.

I couldn't swallow and could barely breathe.

Gabby reached around to the front of his pants and gripped his penis!

I felt dizzy.

Blake broke the kissing long enough to untie the laces at her neck and open the top of her dress. Gabby helped, undoing the first few buttons beneath the laces. Blake then peeled back the two side and there were Gabby's big, pale, perfect tits encased in a black lace bra. Yes, she looked sexy as fuck but that's not the point. Blake's eyes devoured her bosom. Gabby's hand began to jerk his penis. They kissed feverishly for long minutes and then Blake began to knead her tits with both hands. Her head fell back for a moment and then she sank to her knees and scrabbled at his zipper. Once it was down her hand slipped inside and she searched around. Her eyes got big and she pulled his cock out through the opening.

Gabby laughed! I couldn't hear them but she appeared to say something about the size of his dick and then rolled her eyes.

Blake's penis was way bigger than mine. He was so thick! Gabby, a blowjob expert now, apparently, bent his rod down and stuffed her mouth with the fat head. She got to work sucking his cock with all the skills Spencer had taught her. I couldn't look away. Why did Gabby do this so easily? Did Blake know our terrible secret too? I doubted Spencer would tell him since they seemed to hate each other but what about Norma? Did she know Blake?

Gabby wrapped both hands around his rod and jerked as she sucked. Blake looked at the ceiling and blissfully closed his eyes. Whatever he was feeling had to be fantastic. I wish I knew. Gabby gobbled his cock like a slut.

From her efforts, she was clearly trying to make him cum as fast as she could and Blake obliged. Minutes later he took one last look at her spectacular cleavage and his hips started jumping. Gabby vacuumed on the tip and Blake went weak in the legs, pumping and shooting.

When he finished, he dropped into a wicker chair to catch his breath. Gabby remained on her knees, grinning mischievously. Blake came around and seemed to apologize for cumming so fast but Gabby looked proud. Blake patted the end of her bed like he intended to return the favor but Gabby looked frightened and shook her head. They chatted and laughed for a while and then Blake tucked his cock into his pants and left himself out. Gabby fell to her bed on her back and kicked her legs joyfully in the air over her head.

At least she wasn't crying, I guess.

Right away she reached for her phone. Blake sailed by my tree without noticing me and moments later my phone buzzed.

"Where are you?" she asked.

I hesitated only an instant. "Outside your bedroom window!"

"Holy fuck!" she yelled and I heard her through the glass.

She moved to the window and opened it, trying unsuccessfully to see out into the darkness. "Where?"

I stepped from the tree. "Here."

She jumped and yelped.

"Go around," she said, ending the call. "How much did you see, Baby?"

"Everything."

Moment later I was in her dorm with the door locked. This late on a Saturday night was probably okay but soon prefects would come around and shoo visitors away.

"I can explain," she began, sitting next to me on her bed, breasts still mostly exposed. She talked fast. "Blake thinks I'm with Spencer. He doesn't know about you. He can see I don't like Spencer and thinks he rescued me. He was super flirty and aggressive. I thought he was going to try to have sex with me and I panicked. I thought if I made him cum fast he'd leave, like I do to Spencer all the time. I'm sorry. I didn't know what to do. I'm no good at these situations."

"Why did you even leave Amen Hall with him?"

"That's Blake Monroe," she answered, like how could I be so ignorant. "Captain of the lacrosse team and the tennis team? There is no bigger man on campus. Even some professors do what he says."

I looked at her dirty carpet. "I hate all this, Gabby; Spencer and Blake. They're using you for sex. We weren't going to do that. We were saving that."

Her eyes got watery. "I'm trapped, Chuck," she pleaded. "What fucking options do I have with these people? If I tell Blake I'm not with Spencer, then I must explain why I'm out with Spencer. I must explain who you are and why Spencer has power over us. There was probably a better choice but I couldn't think of it in the moment. I'm sorry."

I leaned over and gave her a hug. I was hurt and angry and frustrated but she was in a worse spot than me.

We sat silently for a few minutes and then I spoke. "Blake's dick is big."

Gabby rolled her eyes again. "Right? What the hell? I laughed when I pulled it out. I thought there was no way I could handle it but then I remembered I felt the same way about Spencer at first and now it's no big deal. I pity Blake's future wife. I can't even imagine some woman trying to have sex with that thing."

We grew quiet again and then Gabby said: "I can't believe we have conversations about other guy's dicks. What a crazy place we find ourselves."

"Converse? I'll see your conversation and raise you two observations. I've seen you suck two dicks. I don't know why I'm not insane. Most guys would either start a fight with the guy or hit the woman."

She snuggled close. "But you are not most guys, are you, Baby? You're a special man. You're brilliant and kind. Every day I wish I'd listened to you when you tried to talk me and Martin out of it."

Chapter 9

On Tuesday, Blake invited Gabby to the Social as his date.

I worried what Spencer's reaction would be but apparently, Blake had the power to ruin Spencer's academic and social life. We'd stumbled upon someone with more leverage over Spencer than Spencer had over us. I kept an eye and an ear open for the guy, but he seemed declawed.

All week I stressed about Saturday; Gabby was going on a date with Blake Monroe. Fuck my life. I knew come Sunday, I'd be fielding questions from people asking if Gabby and I were still engaged. I started working on a lie about Gabby turning to Blake for help with fundraising for a school event.

Gabby and I stuck to our routine but she seemed extra chatty all week. She laughed at everything and smiled all the time.

I hung out with her Saturday afternoon and was with her while she dressed for the Social. She stepped out of the bathroom wearing a fitted pale blue dress I didn't even know she owned, and high heels. Heels. I'd not seen her in heels since our eighth-grade graduation. The narrow waist of the dress accentuated her large breasts and round butt.

"Why are you getting dressed up?" I asked, feeling a little hurt.

She looked at me like I was dense. "Everyone will be there," she said. "All the popular kids plus all the ones that want to be popular. I can't embarrass Blake. We'll need a lot of these people before we graduate from this place. The connections we make at Philip's will serve us our entire lives."

Well. Wearing a sexy dress was just Gabby planning for our future. How astute.

"How late will you be out?" I asked.

"Midnight, I think. Curfew wants underclassmen in bed by then, whether you're out with upperclassmen or not."

Something about the way she said "Upperclassmen" caught my ear. She loved that she would be spending time with the popular kids. She loved that she got to say, "Upperclassmen." She loved that she'd be out tonight and everyone that saw her would see her with Blake. All our lives Gabby and I have been on the outside looking in. We considered it the price of brains and self-control. Blake was now her fast-track to the highest rung.

“You going to hang here for a while?” she asked.

“Yeah.” I turned on her computer and loaded Weapons of War, our favorite online game. “Martin has some guys over for Warcraft. They get loud. I’ll head home around ten and just see you tomorrow. Let Diana know on your way out, okay?”

“No problem.”

We hugged and kissed and she sweetly waved goodbye as she closed her bedroom door. I heard her speak to Diana and then the front door open and close. I loaded my AR-15 and began my assault on the German fortress. Time flew. I blew shit up and shot everything.

Voices in the front room, trying to be quiet and failing, woke me.

I had fallen asleep on Gabby’s bed with the controller in my hand. I glanced at the clock by her bed and saw twelve-thirty in the morning. I know Gabby’s voice and I know Diana’s voice and that deep one was neither of them. I quickly closed the game window and powered the computer down. The voices drew closer.

I slipped into Gabby’s messy closet.

Her bedroom door opened and I heard more whispering and then Gabby and Blake entered her bedroom. Gabby carefully shut the door and turned the deadbolt. She moved to the window and closed the blinds. I cautiously gathered her jackets around me and sank deeper into her closet. I saw the room through the open crack along the back of the door by the hinges.

Blake stepped to Gabby and they kissed tenderly. She lasted about twenty seconds and then her hands went to the buttons on his shirt. They stripped each other in a flurry of activity. Gabby had enhanced the grooming of her pussy and now perfectly bald pussy lips, clean and slick, winked at me.

Blake’s cock looked even bigger completely naked.

He was in great shape; lean and strong. His chest was covered with light, curly blonde hair. I wasn’t even growing chest hair yet. Maybe two.

“You are so sexy,” Blake said. “I love your curves.”

"So, you're saying I'm fat."

"No, I'm saying you're not skinny. Men generally don't like skinny. Models are skinny for other women. Trust me, they aren't doing it for men. I'm saying you have curves but you're not fat."

Gabby seemed to accept his words and I saw her relax. They tried kissing again but Gabby was distracted by his erection between them. She kept glancing down at it, running her fingers along the length and weighing his balls. Blake backed her towards the bed and when the edge hit her behind the knees she placed a hand on his chest. I was certain she was about to tell him she was engaged.

"I'm a virgin," she said.

Blake took a step back.

"Seriously?"

"Yes. Don't hate me."

He eyed her, debating. "Of course I don't hate you," he said. "But I'm not sure I want to be the guy that takes your virginity. Why are you still a virgin? You were with Spencer. That guy would never wait for a girl. You're way too pretty."

"I am not."

"I think so and plenty of others do too. Why are you still a virgin, Gabriela?"

Gabby sat on the edge of her bed, bringing his hard cock to eye-level.

"I'm saving it...for my wedding night."

Blake considered her words, nodding slowly.

"I can respect that." He pointed at her engagement ring. "Is that why you wear that ring? Are you engaged?"

"Yes."

He looked annoyed. "Anyone I know?"

Her it comes, I thought.

"No. No one you know."

My mouth opened. Why did she not take the opportunity when presented?

"I like you, Gabby. A lot. I thought you were dating Spencer."

"Spencer and I are...friends."

She scooted closer to him. His cock was an inch from her face.

“Don’t be mad at me, please, Blake. Let me take care of you.”

She reached for his cock, closing her warm mouth over the tip. Blake stood still, unsure of his next step, but no man has that much self-control. Gabby opened her jaw and slid several inches farther in. Blake closed his eyes. Gabby took that as a sign and moved her hands to his ass to pull him deeper.

Blake stopped resisting. He held her shoulders and moved his cock in and out and then let her pleasure him, groaning when she slipped under to lick his balls.

Gabby got to work. She worshipped his erection until she had him pulsing with desire. He was big and red and covered with angry veins. Gabby loved this masculine object and did everything she could to please him.

She was stroking him into her mouth with one hand when her other hand drifted down to her pussy. I’m so naïve. At first I wondered why. Then I saw my fiancée begin to masturbate as she sucked a big cock, too excited to sit still. I couldn’t believe it. Blake played with her tits and Gabby’s excitement grew.

“Fuck!” she gasped, coming up for air. Their eyes met and I was shocked by the mutual desire. Gabby leaned back on her bed!

“Just put it in,” she moaned. “For one minute. Let me see how it feels. Swear you won’t tell anyone?”

My mind screamed at me. My heart stopped beating and my eyes went momentarily blind. The room spun a little; she was going to let him inside her!

Blake’s eyes dropped to her offered slit. He nodded absentmindedly. Her hot little body and big tits looked amazing.

She held her knees and pulled her legs back and apart, giving Blake and me a perfect view of her pussy. I saw what Spencer meant by how wet Gabby would get. She had spent the last thirty minutes sucking Blake’s cock but she was drenched. Her swollen inner and outer labia sparkled.

I was paralyzed. Everything moved in slow motion. A silent scream started from way down in some hollow place within me. Gabby, my beloved, would not lose her virginity to me. I was devastated.

Blake plucked a condom from his pants on the floor and rolled it down the length of his dick. He moved over her and aimed his enormous cock at her tiny hole. I felt relief for half a second as my mind reasoned there was no way he'd fit. I could see that from here. He rubbed his cock head all around her opening and then he zeroed in on her pussy, like a ball looping down a funnel, finally coming to rest directly over her hole.

His ass flexed and Gabby yelped, quickly covering her mouth with both hands. He hesitated and she gave a little nod and he flexed again. An inch of thick cock sank in and Gabby moaned.

Gabby had another man inside her.

At about two inches, Blake's cock hit something and stopped. Gabby tensed and sucked in air like she was hurt.

"Easy," she said. "Go slow."

"I can't believe how tight you are," Blake growled.

Blake pressed forward. Gabby's eyes grew larger and larger as the pressure built until he suddenly slipped two inches deep and my fiancée gasped in pain. She slapped her hands on his chest to stop him.

"Wait," she breathed, calming herself. She looked like a butterfly in a display case, pinned to the bed by his long cock.

Blake held himself over her, looking down at her pretty face and mounds of tits.

"Okay," she whispered, after some time. "Slowly."

Inch by terrible inch, Blake's hardened shaft disappeared into my fiancée. She again covered her mouth with both hands. As their bodies drew closer Gabby's eyes narrowed and air left her lungs. A long, low moan slithered from her throat and found a way through her fingers. Blake kept constant forward pressure and more of him vanished inside her. When he was close enough, he kissed her mouth.

"You okay?" he asked.

Eyes bulging, Gabby could only nod.

"You want all of it?"

"That's not all? Jesus Christ." She nodded again, doubtful.

Blake flexed and gently curled his hips under and Gabby couldn't hold back any more, sleeping Diana or not. A deep groan floated free and drifted around her bedroom. Blake kept going until his cock head pressed firmly against her cervix.

Blake smiled. "I'll try to get through that one too, later, but that's enough dick for now. I don't want to scare you off."

He sent a surge of blood into his penis, expanding the shaft and pushing her walls back. Gabby's back arched. Intense sensations made her eyes roll back and her fingers hook into claws. Her toes curled. Blake held himself deep and then withdrew half before slowly sliding his cock deep again. Gabby covered her face with her hands.

"Oooohhhh myyyy goddddd," she babbled. "You feel so amazing in there."

"I cannot believe how tight you are, Gabriela. Your little pussy squeezes me like a vise. It takes effort to move in and out of you. It's crazy."

Blake began fucking my wife-to-be with short, smooth, strokes. He was patient and tender and gave Gabby all the time she needed to adjust. She moved her hands behind his head and pulled his face down and they kissed deeply and passionately while Blake fucked her.

I believe it lasted hours. It did not, but I believe it did. Every second was pure agony to me. My head swirled and my heart broke again and again.

I would not be her first. That honor was lost to me forever. My mind was rationalizing that technically he wasn't in her nor would he cum in her. A barrier separated them. She still had not experienced a naked penis in her vagina. I slapped that thought hard across the cheek. Condom or not, another man was fucking my fiancée and wrenching sounds of incredible pleasure from her.

Rise and fall, rise and fall; Blake's smooth ass was a piston driving a shaft into her guts. Gabby lay beneath him, her hands now around his narrow and athletic waist, guiding him in her pleasuring. She was sopping wet. Dripping. I heard her wetness from the closet.

"I'm getting close," he said.

"Let me drink you," she said immediately.

Acquired a taste for sperm, it seems.

He grinned and fucked her faster until he groaned and whipped his cock free, ripping the condom off. In an instant, he was up by her face, aiming the shaft down, holding the hole at the tip of his cock against her extended tongue. The first blasts shot out across her face, coating her with ropes of sticky cream, but every one after that fired directly into her mouth, covering her tongue with heavy milk. Blake grunted with each explosion, emptying his big balls. Gabby held her mouth open so he could see her take his sperm and then closed her lips around the head and sucked out the remaining drops. Blake twitched and jerked as my fiancée drained him.

He left his cock in her mouth, brushing the hair from her face and murmuring something sweet. Gabby's happy eyes sparkled. With a finger, she smeared the ropes of cum off her face and into her mouth, licking her fingers and then licking the last oozing dollops of ejaculate from his dick. He kissed her lips and moved off the bed, standing beside her, heavy veined cock pointed at her floor.

"You are fucking beautiful," he breathed, and meant it.

Gabby giggled. She reached a tentative finger down to test the soreness of her pussy and made a pouty face.

"Did I hurt you?" he asked.

"Yeah, but in a really great way."

"We can't tell anyone," he cautioned.

"No! God, no. We both have so much to lose."

They chatted for a few minutes while he dressed and then he said something about curfew and she walked him, naked, to the bedroom door.

"I'll let myself out from here," he said, indicating her nudity.

She watched him cross the living room and leave. As the front door closed, she headed for her Jack and Jill bathroom and started the shower. I waited until I heard her under the spray and then took the opportunity to slip out her window and walk home.

My mind was a mess. Our engagement was off; I was sure of that. Gabby was crazy about perfect Blake. What freshman girl doesn't want a senior guy? None. I felt betrayed, hurt, sad, alone, and angry.

I knew Martin was up by the light under his door but I did not want to deal with him or any of his friends right now. I slipped into my bedroom and closed the door. I flopped face-down on my bed, too distraught to cry, and fell asleep in my clothes.

Chapter 10

I was awakened by buzzing. I opened my eyes and pulled my phone from my shirt pocket, noting it was fifteen minutes after eleven in the morning. I'd slept through eight calls from Gabby. This one I answered.

"Where are you?" she blurted.

"Home."

"Why didn't you answer?"

"Sleeping."

"It's almost noon. I've been freaking out. You were supposed to meet me in the library at nine."

"You were supposed to save your virginity for me."

All sound and motion in the world stopped. The air in my room became perfectly still. I could scarcely believe those words had come out of my own mouth.

"Shit," Gabby muttered.

I wasn't going to help her at all. I said nothing.

"How did you find out? Did Blake tell someone and they told you?"

"I was in your closet."

"Oh, my God, Baby. I'm so sorry." She chewed on the fact that I'd seen and not that I'd heard, and realized the difference. "Fuck, Baby, you must be dying inside. I'm coming over right now."

I said no to dead air. She'd already disconnected. I said no but the truth was I wanted to see her more than anything. I wanted her to care about me and how I felt. I wanted her to feel badly that I felt badly. I desperately wanted things to go back the way they were. She's never crossed the campus faster.

Jealousy must be the worst emotion. What is it, exactly? Take anger and resentment and longing and fear and bring them to a boil and then pour that mixture over your head so it runs, scalding, down to every corner of your body. I heard her knock on the front door once but then let herself in. We rarely lock it. She entered my room and shut the door and tried to run to me and give me a hug, which was what I wanted, but I pushed her away, because fucking hell you fucked someone else and now I don't know what I want.

Tears welled, as usual.

"Baby, I'm so sorry," she began.

Do I yell now or do I cry? "Why?" I croaked.

"Because I'm an idiot," she said, her voice rising. "Because I don't know what I'm doing and I don't know how to act around hot guys and sure don't know how to act around hot guys that want sex."

"Are you falling in love with Blake?"

Her face dropped. "What? No! What? Is that what you think, Baby? God, Honey."

"Fucking looked like your idea."

"I had to do something. All night Blake hinted about how much he likes me. He thinks he's stealing me away from Spencer. I tried to reassure him but he says he feels a connection between us and mentioned he would confront Spencer and steal me from him. I was terrified Spencer would spill our secret. It was awful. Blake kept asking questions and he's smart. I started to worry he'd find out what Spencer was doing to us and why. I needed to shut Blake up and keep him happy. If Blake's getting sex with me, then there's no need to confront Spencer."

She stepped close.

"I fucked up, Baby. It was a stupid thing to do. I love you and only you. I swear it. Blake only wants me because I'm new and he's probably had every other girl already. He'll get bored with me soon and disappear, I know it. I'm just buying us time."

I folded my arms across my chest.

"You don't know what it's like being the girl in all this, Honey. Worse, all this is my fault. I try to make things right but I keep making things worse. I don't know what to do."

She moved closer, bumping my arms with her shoulder, trying to get a hug.

"Don't hate me, Baby, please. I'd die if I lost you. You're the reason I'm willing to go through all this. I'm doing this to save my future with you."

Actual puppies don't have puppy-eyes as effective as hers. I couldn't stay mad. I wanted to. Pride and emotional self-preservation told me I should. But I simply could not. I opened my arms and wrapped them around her.

She spoke into my chest: "Spencer's mad at me because I left with Blake. Blake's mad at me because I waited so long to admit I'm engaged. You're mad at me because you feel like I've betrayed your trust. I'm doing a great job. The more I try to make everyone else happy, the more people I get unhappy with me. Even my mom and dad are upset because I haven't called as much as I usually do."

She covered her face with her hands. "Why did I ever suggest we cheat? I'm so stupid."

I had no answer. What's done is done. We remained standing and hugging until my legs got tired so I laid on my bed and Gabby laid on top of me.

"Do you still love me?" she asked.

"Of course."

She studied my eyes like she was trying to see inside to my gray matter.

"Should we have sex?" she asked.

"What?"

"To even things out, or so you can see how much I love you. I will if you want. We don't need to wait anymore. I hate that those guys are one up on you. I wish there had been another way. Sex is like no big deal to them. I'm in way over my head."

"No, I want to save it. I want our wedding night to be amazing."

Her eyes sparkled.

"You should at least show me your penis. You've seen me naked."

I didn't budge.

"Come on, Chuck. Fair is fair. I've seen two now and I think they're awesome. Tina and Sara got it all wrong. Dicks aren't gross at all. Show me. I'll show you my boobs again."

She slithered off the bed and unzipped the front of her gray sweatshirt. Beneath she wore a black lace demi-cup bra. Her tits were practically spilling out. She reached behind and flipped the clasp and her bra sprang free. Two glorious orbs capped with bright pink nipples stared at me.

“Forget what you saw,” she said. “Put those guys out of your head. Let’s just get through this, Baby. Blake’s a senior and in a few months, he will be out of our lives forever. We’ve probably already seen the last of Spencer because he won’t cross Blake. We’ll start fresh. Let me see the penis I will spend the rest of my life with.”

My goddamn dick got hard. Gabby looked succulent. She saw my bulge and giggled and dropped into my desk chair.

“Show me,” she ordered, pointing at a spot by the window.

“All right,” I relented.

I acted shy but part of me loved the idea of Gabby staring at my dick. I stood, unbuttoned my fly, and kicked off my shoes. My underwear came down with my pants.

When I straightened, I was fully erect. I leaned back a little, hoping to God I measured up, and watched Gabby’s face.

“I need to trim, like you,” I said, nervous.

Gabby smiled.

“I’m not as big as Spencer,” I added, foolishly thinking now was the perfect time for self-deprecation. “And not even close to Blake.”

“No,” Gabby admitted, continuing to smile. “I like him, Baby.”

She rolled closer on my desk chair, promising not to touch. She leaned in so her pretty face was inches from my dick. To see her face and tits in the same frame as my penis was intense. I squirmed. Her gaze traveled every inch of me and she stared at my scrotum too.

“I can’t wait for our honeymoon,” she said at last.

She rolled back to my desk and I pulled my pants up. Her phone chimed. She opened a text message and read silently and then tapped a message back. She set her phone on my desk.

“Blake wanted to meet to study,” she said. “But I told him I already had study plans.”

“Will you tell him you’re engaged to me?”

“Maybe. He thinks it’s someone back home and I didn’t correct him. I think it’s better this way. He knows how much I love my husband to be, I can tell you that. I talked about you often last night.”

“That must have been before you got to your bedroom.”

She gave me a stern look. “We need him compliant, Baby. Don’t you think?”

I shrugged. "I suppose. The less he knows the fewer questions he asks."

"Exactly."

"I don't know what to do either, Gabby. You say you're in over your head but so am I. These older guys intimidate me. Most of the time I feel like a dumb kid around them. We might be great with data but neither of us is good with people."

"No, we're not. You want breakfast?"

We moved on to other topics. I have an incredible skill for attacking the things I want but I have an equal skill for avoiding the things I don't want. It was easy to keep my mind busy with other things and I didn't think about any unpleasantness until late that night when I tried to masturbate about Gabby's eyes on my dick. I was close to cumming when I remembered Blake's cock spreading her hole and the moans she made under him. I was so close I just kept going and I shot my load picturing Gabby's bouncing tits and Blake's big cock pounding her.

Chapter 11

Blake asked Gabby to the movies Wednesday after school and she said yes. We argued about it Monday and Tuesday. She said she had to keep up the pretense to keep him happy and I called bullshit. There was more to it than that. After a long fight Wednesday afternoon, she also admitted she was loving the attention. All the kids, not just the cool ones, knew who she was now and said hello when she walked by. She got invited to a couple birthday parties and although we made fun of the people afterwards, I know she was thrilled to go.

"I don't want to give it up, Baby. Not yet, at least. They see me as Blake's girl now. Can't I just enjoy the small amount of popularity I'm getting? You know what I mean; we've been invisible our whole lives."

I did know what she meant and that's why, in the end, I gave in. She was right, Blake would be gone soon and all this would fade away.

You bet your ass I was hiding in my tree when she got back from her date though. They entered her bedroom and shut the door and Gabby started to close her blinds but then seemed to think of something and left them open. She probably suspected I was out there somewhere, watching.

They didn't do much. She'd gotten her period so I wasn't surprised. They kissed some and felt up bodies outside clothing and I laughed because it was so tame compared to what I'd seen, I wasn't even upset.

She texted me the moment he left and asked if I was outside her window.

"Of course," I shot back.

"You can see me right now? Texting you?"

"Yes."

She set her phone on her desk and whipped off her T-shirt, acting innocent. She popped her bra and rubbed her tits once they were free, making her nipples stand up.

"How about now?" she typed. "Can you see me now?"

I sent a grinning dog sticker and saw her laugh.

God, I love that girl.

Hard footsteps made me slink deeper into my tree. Spencer zipped by, walking fast and grumbling. Shit. He looked like he was headed for the door to Gabby's building so I shot a text to her as fast as I could type. She was reading it and pulling her shirt on when Diana stuck her head in to announce a visitor. Diana stepped back and Spencer entered her room and Gabby said something to Diana who closed the door.

Spencer didn't wait. He stood in front of my fiancée and ordered her to her knees. I couldn't hear him but he was obviously angry. I wondered if he saw Gabby on her date with Blake. Gabby was apologetic and reassuring and I was sure she fed him lines about how she had to see Blake so he didn't get suspicious. As she talked she drew down Spencer's zipper and freed his half-soft penis.

She knelt and wrapped her lips around the head, caressing him in warm and wet, and he calmed right down. Gabby sucked his cock, using her hands on the shaft, until she was gobbling his load minutes later. She worked him so well he ejaculated into her mouth before he got fully hard. She took every drop and then opened her mouth to show him before swallowing it.

"Good girl," he said, patting her head. Reading his lips was easy.

He zipped up and issued some warning about Blake and then left, whistling as he passed my spot.

The next day Gabby met Blake for dinner and Spencer for breakfast on Friday. I hated to think of the scene should those two ever meet while out with Gabby. I enjoyed breakfast with her on Saturday before she had to meet Blake again for lunch.

Each time she returned from her date with one of these guys she'd tell me all about it. She'd share the conversations and the jokes and the memories and opinions they shared. As her familiarity with them rose, so did my jealousy. I was less jealous of the sex she had with them and more jealous of the growing intimacy she shared.

Saturday evening before the Social with Blake, I took her to see Wonder Woman and then we walked around Clemson Pond. We held hands and kissed and spoke of the future. Nowadays we sent each other more 'I love you' texts than ever and we said the words far more frequently. There was no getting around how strange things were right now but we were holding on and riding the storm out.

Chapter 12

I dropped Gabby at her place so she could get ready and went home. Martin was in the kitchen and asked how things were going. I hit the high points without going into detail like swallowing and penis size. He was amazed.

"Shit has gotten complicated," he said. "Must be killing you to know she's banging them. I'd want to kill someone."

I gave him a hard stare. "Yeah." Like I said, no social skills.

"Oh," he said. "Sorry, dude. Hey, why don't you come to the Social with me? I'm meeting my Warcraft friends. You can hang out but also keep an eye on Gabby. Should be a small crowd tonight. Most kids have already gone home for the holiday."

Holiday. I'd forgotten all about it and way too busy to take a break anyway.

"Yeah, I need something different. Let me shower and change."

He waited and we were soon on our way.

The groups at Amen Hall were divided by grade just like always and from the freshman area I couldn't see Gabby in the senior area. I tried to think of other things. Martin introduced me around and I saw a couple of familiar faces. Martin was right about the smaller crowd. Usually filled with raucous conversation, now the place barely held a murmur. I waited almost an hour before I visited the soda machine. The real reason I went was to view the senior's area. As soon as I cleared the small wall I saw Gabby in a hug stuffed chair, lying on Blake, her back against his chest. He had his arms around her loosely, running just under her tits. They looked so comfortable. They looked like a couple. She did not see me.

I dropped the coin for my Mountain Dew and took a sip.

The front door opened.

Spencer stormed in, furious.

He saw me across the open area and stopped.

"Good," he snarled.

He continued until he entered the senior's area where he stopped abruptly and pointed at Gabby. "She's with me," he loudly asserted. His voice drew everyone's attention.

"Doesn't look like it," Blake calmly replied.

Everybody laughed except Gabby, who looked terrified.

"Yeah?" Spencer challenged. "I let you have your fun because I know how you go through girls, but enough. If you're going to make me show you, I will. Gabby, come."

Holy Mother of God. I looked at Martin who was as stunned as me.

Gabby's mind raced. I saw it in her eyes.

Spencer continued: "You know she's engaged, right Blake? She's only using you to hang out with the popular kids."

"I know she's engaged," he coolly replied.

Spencer took two steps closer. "She's engaged to him," he said, jabbing a finger at me. He grabbed his crotch. "But she comes to me for this." He took another step closer. "Gabby, I won't tell you again. Come here. We're leaving."

Blake slowly turned his head to look at her and then slowly turned to look at me. Anger rose in his eyes. Gabby wanted to shrink until she disappeared between the carpet fibers and I stood frozen with a stupid soda can in front of my face, still drinking.

Gabby rose to her feet.

"That's what I thought," Spencer sneered. He grabbed his crotch again and thrust his hips at Blake. "Obviously, she's not satisfied with what she's getting from you."

I thought Blake was going to punch Spencer. I believe only the mandatory and immediate expulsion rule stopped him.

"Gabby?" Blake said, trying to meet her eyes. "Are you still seeing Spencer?"

She covered her face with her hands.

Everyone looked at Gabby, then at Spencer, then at Blake, then at me, then back to Gabby, and so on. My face burned with shame. I sent my gaze around the room to the startled faces watching this drama unfold. Many there knew Gabby was my fiancée and they'd given me curious looks over the past few weeks. Now they knew; Gabriela was indeed still with me but Spencer and Blake had been fucking her too. I saw smirks and smiles and knowing grins. Our big secret was still safe, but this dirty one was out.

I wanted to die.

One of Spencer's sophomore buddies, short and red-haired, stepped quickly to his side and whispered something to him. Spence looked at me.

"Sure," he told his friend. "Why not?"

Eyes downcast, Gabby took a spot next to Spencer. She would not look at me or Blake. I avoided Blake's eyes too. Spencer turned to leave and Gabby followed, but so did Spencer's friend. As he left the senior's area he gestured to me.

"You're coming with me," he said. "Get your ass in gear."

Spencer marched us through the tennis courts and the baseball field all the way to the soccer stadium. We climbed the aluminum bleachers in the dark. A cool breeze circled and gave us all a chill.

"Sit," he ordered Gabby, and she dutifully did. He told his friend to stand on one side and then he took the other side. His friend looked nervous but excited.

"Just take it out, dude. She knows what to do."

Spencer unzipped and flopped his cock out. His buddy looked at me and then did the same. I thought Spence would command my fiancée to get busy but he waited, enjoying the fact she was trapped.

Gabby lifted each penis, one in each hand. She looked up at Spencer and then his friend and closed her mouth around the friend's cock. The guy looked shocked.

"Holy shit," he said. "I can't believe she's doing it. You rock, Spence."

They high-fived over my intended.

"You dropped a bomb on Blake Monroe," his friend continued. "Did you see his face? Holy shit it was awesome. For once that arrogant ass had nothing to say" He moved his hips back and forth as he fucked Gabby's mouth. "Why does she do it, Spence? Why does this cute girl suck our dicks in front of her fiancé?"

"Because she loves cock, Toby. She loves cock and her fiancé won't give her any. Isn't that right, Gabriela? You love dick, don't you?"

Gabby stopped sucking long enough to murmur, "Yes," and then put Toby's dick back in her mouth.

"And her fiancé just watches?"

"Yeah, Chuck's saving himself for their wedding night."

Toby laughed cruelly. "Chuck? His name is Chuck? Seriously? That's awesome. Don't call him Chuck. Call him Cuck."

Both boys laughed. Gabby was jerking and sucking fast, wanting to end this. Toby came first and pushed his dick deep to make her swallow but when Spencer came he pulled out so the last few blasts landed on her face, like shoelaces in the dark.

"Something for you, Cuck, the next time you kiss her."

The boys laughed again as they tucked their dicks away and zipped up.

"Don't ignore my texts next time," Spencer snarled, waving a finger in Gabby's face. "I already told you once."

They carefully descended the metal bleachers while I sat next to Gabby. I put my arm around her shoulders and she buried her face in my neck. I felt Spencer's sperm, already cool, slide against my skin.

Just get through this, I told myself. Just ride it out. Get all this behind you.

I expected she'd cry but she did not. I had no idea what to say at a time like this so I just held her. After many long minutes, she tilted her head up. I saw pain and anger in her eyes but also a terrible need for compassion and understanding. Her lips parted slightly and, without thinking, I kissed her softly. Our lips slid a bit in the salty lubrication but I did not allow myself to think about that. Gabby needed me. That's what mattered.

One soft kiss became many soft kisses and soon we were passionately making out. She stopped after a minute to wipe her face on her sleeve. We started kissing again and then Gabby surprised me by grabbing my crotch and squeezing my half-hard penis. She surprised me again when she slipped my hand under her sweatshirt. I felt her big, hot, lace-covered tit and my penis jumped. She played with my dick a little.

"That's reassuring," she muttered. "I always expect you'll hate me."

"No way, Gabby. We'll get through this."

We sat like that for a while. Her boob felt awesome.

“What do you think Blake will do?” I asked.

“I have no idea. He already thinks Spencer is an asshole so I’m sure he’ll humiliate him but I bet he’s angry with me for lying. He might never speak to me or he might have some hard words. I’ll have to wait and see.”

“What do we do now?”

She was thoughtful, staring out over the deserted soccer field.

“I should go back to the Social,” she said. “I was Blake’s date. I should leave with him. If he hates me it’s better to find out sooner than later.”

“I’ll go see him with you.”

She shook her head. “No, give me a minute before you come in and then go sit with Martin. Tell him and his friends nothing, please. If Spencer and Toby keep their mouths shut, we can keep the rumors from spreading. Those boys could get in a lot of trouble for what they just did to me.”

We kissed again and she climbed the steps down.

I followed soon after and discovered Martin and some of the freshmen were still there, along with handfuls of every grade. I dared not check on Gabby. Several freshmen gave me strange looks when I took my seat.

Toby had returned to Amen Hall but not Spencer and when Toby left a few minutes later he waved to me and said in a loud voice: “Have a great night, Cuck! It was a pleasure meeting you and Gabby.”

A bunch of his friends laughed. I prayed the nick-name would not stick. I asked Martin to go buy a soda a check on Gabby and Blake but he said: “She’s not here, dude. She came back a little before you and immediately left with Blake.”

Dread filled my chest. “Why didn’t you tell me, Marty?”

He raised both hands. “How do I know what you want to know?”

I left the hall wondering where to search but the answer popped into my head. I cut across campus for Gabby’s dorm.

The light was on and the blinds drawn, but hastily; if I leaned close to the glass I could see through.

They stood together in the center of the room, dressed, foreheads touching. Blake was talking and Gabby either nodded or shook her head.

The cool breeze had picked up some so I wrapped my jacket tighter and stepped deeper into the pine needle branches. One of the blinds was slightly bent and gave a better view of her room. I was worried for her. He looked annoyed and hurt and I again had that sick feeling I get when my girl is with another, but I was glad to be keeping an eye on things.

I thought about Gabby's comments regarding the popular kids. I've known from an early age I wasn't one of them. I've always known I'm different. From the beginning, I turned my back on them and let myself take a less-traveled road, but loneliness was the price. I was fine with it but I know Gabby felt differently. Loneliness hurts her more. She wants those kids to like her while I say to Hell with all of them.

Blake began undressing her. Gabby closed her eyes and I read a mixture of relief and nervousness. My stomach soured for what I was about to witness. For a girl saving herself for marriage, Gabby was having more sex than any girl on campus.

He quickly had her naked and made her turn a slow circle. I know she hated being revealed like this, all her glaring flaws put on display, she'd say, but I also know she loved his eyes on her. When she came around he spoke and Gabby began to undress him. She tugged his pants around his erection and a moment later he stood naked too.

I wanted to scream and pound on the glass. He knew she was with me and not some faceless guy back home. Is that why he was making her do this? Was he testing her boundaries? Maybe Gabby told him I didn't know about their sex? That made sense. Why would he stop if she was hiding it from me?

Gabriela tried to kneel but he stopped her and backed her towards the bed. When she hit the edge, she scrambled backward onto it, leaving her eyes glued to his. Her head landed on her pillows, her legs stretched out before her.

She spread them.

Blake's gaze fell between her legs. He crawled on his knees to kiss her and his naked spear hovered over her little pussy. Her labia were already puffy and rosy, swollen with excitement. His mouth lowered to her pink nipples and I heard her moan even through the glass. He positioned his cock in line with her tiny slit.

His meat dwarfed her opening. His head was twice the size of her split. His hot mouth slathered first one nipple and then the other, with Gabby squirming under him, and then he moved up to kiss her again. That brought his cock forward and I saw the tip split her hairless labia. He held himself there, and I held my breath.

He lacked a condom.

Perhaps he merely teased her, getting her back for running out on him back at Amen Hall. Gabby spoke and although Blake smiled, but the tension between them was clear. His unprotected cock was so close. I forgot to start breathing again. The long, helmeted tube was aimed like a cannon. Her hairless pussy looked so small, so hopelessly inadequate to handle such a monster.

Gabby reached down and tugged his cock, spreading her labia with the tip. He held himself there, savoring the agonizing desire growing in her eyes. She hit the bed in frustration and lifted her hips to capture him and his cock sank an inch deep.

Her mouth opened and she moved her hand to his muscular shoulder. He muttered something and Gabby nodded twice quickly and Blake kissed her and then his bare-naked cock descended into my fiancée.

Fuuuuuuuuck.

I had no rationalizations to protect me this time. He was inside her because Gabby had put him there. She'd guided him in. My bride-to-be had pulled another man's bare cock inside her virgin pussy. How could she do this to me?

I wanted to scream. I wanted to pound on the window. I wanted to burst into the room and demand they stop, confess our scholastic crimes and take whatever punishment the Academy gave us.

But I did nothing. The punishment would not be mine alone. I would destroy Martin's life too, and he had only been trying to help.

Maybe I should anyway. Plenty of other guys would.

I did not.

I fogged the glass, watching.

Her fingers dug into his butt cheeks. He placed a hand over her mouth to prevent Diana hearing and he worked his hips like a machine. Gabby had snaked her legs around his and lifted her hips to meet each thrust. Her shocked and ecstatic face tore at me. I wondered how good sex felt. The sensations had to be euphoric. They say sex makes the world go round and from Gabby's exhilarated expressions, that made sense. I couldn't wait to experience it too. I tried to calm the searing psychic pain of Blake inside her, skin against skin, by telling myself don't make a big deal about it.

That sentiment failed completely.

My fiancée was fucking someone else right now.

My eyes narrowed. I ground my teeth. My hands curled into fists.

Blake hooked an arm under Gabby's leg and lifted, spreading her wide open. I saw her little pussy, stretched wide and stuffed with cock, and then I saw her petite asshole, so personal and intimate, pulsing and puckering as his cock sawed in and out. I was stunned. I could not look away. The view was so lewd, so obscene. Nothing I'd so far seen drove the stake through my heart like that. He owned all of her. He could do whatever he wanted with her and Gabby, my beloved, would welcome it. She was giving him everything. Her pussy gripped his inches like she hated for even one to leave. Her little sphincter repeatedly clenched with pleasure. His dick was soaked with her excitement. Each of these moments hammered at my intellect.

Just when I thought I would die, something flipped in my brain.

A veil was torn from my eyes. I saw Gabby in a new light. True, the woman I love was getting royally fucked right in front of me. It was lusty and vulgar and coarse, but in an instant, she went from scandalous to sexy. She looked sensual and erotic.

Time slowed. Her big tits bounced and swayed in slow-motion. I saw her writhing body, overwhelmed with pleasures of the flesh, in an entirely new way. Circumstances may have contrived to bring us to this moment, but now that we were here, I saw how much Gabby loved sex. She loved dick. She loved that hard cock moving in and out. She loved feeling hot inches plunge deep.

My dick started to grow.

She was beautiful. She was captivating. She was sexy and stunning and gorgeous. She was a young woman learning for the first time what the rest of the world already knew.

I was crushed it was not by me, but wildly excited by the sight anyway.

Blake pumped faster. His hand had Gabby pinned to the bed. Her eyes bulged like he was suffocating her but that's not it. Something else was happening. I had no idea what but Blake was driving her insane with pleasure. Her hands were claws. Her toes were tiny fists. A thick vein stood out along her neck and smaller veins marked her forehead. Her face went from flushed to bright red and then Gabby screamed behind his hand. Blake kept fucking but she scared the shit out of me. He seemed to be murmuring encouragement like he expected this to happen. Gabby thrashed under his weight, slapping the bed, driving her hips, tossing her head. Water streamed from her eyes. Her hands landed with a slap loud enough to hear through the window and she worked his ass, encouraging him to keep fucking her. He lowered his mouth and suckled a nipple and Gabby lost her mind. She screamed into his hand again and lifted her ass as far off the bed as she could. Blake vigorously fucked her hole and Gabby went stiff all over, rigid from head to toes. He might as well be electrocuting her.

All at once she collapsed.

Blake slowed until he barely moved his hips at all, just a slight and gentle in and out, less than an inch. He uncovered her mouth but Gabby was gone. Her thighs twitched and her toes curled, but she was simply gone, unresponsive in every way.

Blake grinned broadly but said nothing.

They stayed like that for many long minutes and then Gabby slowly opened her eyes. Blake spoke softly and Gabby shook her head slightly and then kissed him.

He pushed his cock balls deep and left it there while they shared pillow talk. I reached down to adjust my erection, curious why seeing Gabby excited, excited me. After five minutes or so, Gabby pulled his mouth down to her nipple. Blake spoke and Gabby nodded.

He began fucking her again.

She folded her arms behind his head and lifted her legs high to offer her pussy without reservation. Blake brought his knees close and began long, smooth strokes.

I've taken three IQ tests in my lifetime, not that I place much faith in them, but each came back with a score falling in the genius level. Yet, watching Blake fuck my woman, it did not dawn on me for far too long that not only had he given my woman an orgasm, he was now moving towards one himself.

Genius? Idiot, more like.

If you think my erection faded because of this new knowledge, you'd be wrong. The opposite happened. My hard-on grew so solid my penis hurt me.

My mouth went dry and my hands began to shake. I was utterly intimidated. Would I ever learn to please Gabby like this? Could I bear to watch Blake shoot his sperm inside her?

I watched Gabby urge him on, her excitement rising in step with his and driving mine right along with her. She was kissing his face and neck, squeezing his biceps, French kissing him with tongues in plain view. It was erotic and nasty and explicit and heartbreaking, and I unzipped my pants for relief. As Blake fucked Gabby, inching ever closer to ejaculation, I, too, moved closer to it. A distant part of my mind assumed he'd pull out at the last second but I didn't think too much about that. I didn't think too much about anything, honestly. I just gazed, mesmerized, riveted to the sordid spectacle before me, their animal need trampling every rule and social construct we put up to stop it. Blake fucked Gabby deep and hard and my bride-to-be begged him to fuck her even harder. Blake's head slowly curled backward and Gabby grabbed her feet and spread her legs far and wide. My vision was welded to where their bodies joined, hypnotized by her sopping, straining pussy and her tiny, winking asshole.

Blake said something and her eyes grew huge. She told him yes repeatedly and did not stop saying it. Blake reached under and cupped her ass in both hands and spread her cheeks apart, stretching her holes like pink rubber. He hammered her fast until he rammed his big cock deep and his body went into convulsions.

My mind staggered and lurched. He was inseminating her at that moment. Blake was ejaculating inside my girl!

She clawed his back and pulled him deeper, keeping her legs high in the air above them. Blake used his strong arms to lift her hips to meet his spurting cock.

The scene was simply too much. My balls tightened and I shot too. My heart was a jackhammer and my dry lips were stuck together. I felt a deep ache throughout my body at Blake's conquering of Gabriela but my mind screamed excitement and my penis spat cum. I kept my gaze glued to the man; he was pumping Gabby full and there was no undoing it, there was no erasing this moment from our shared life together.

My knowledge of biology told me a man like Blake would give her almost a billion sperm and they'd be in her, alive, swimming and seeking, for several days.

She was marked, branded. She was still mine but in some primal way I only understood instinctually, she was his, too.

My penis would not go down. My load was running down the wall of her building but my penis was as erect as ever, throbbing and bouncing in the cool night air.

Inside, Blake and Gabby were kissing and cuddling and touching each other intimately, brushing hair aside and caressing.

I considered going home. The loving familiarity they showed did nothing but make me feel like shit. I didn't want to see it. Curiosity, as has always been the case with me, won. I stayed to watch the drama reach a conclusion.

Within minutes Blake tilted his hips and pulled his long and sloppy cock out of her tunnel. A wash of semen followed the head and Gabby laughed, embarrassed. He stood and I marveled at his dick. What must life be like owning such a weapon? He must feel confident in every situation. Gabby stared at his dick as much as I did. A few drops of cum dripped to her floor and he stepped into his boxer-briefs and began to dress. Gabby stayed in bed, watching his body move. He must have said something about letting himself out again because she leaned against the headboard and just watched him. He came over to kiss her and then left. She tilted her head, listening for the front door, and when she heard it she pounced on her phone. I silenced mine in the nick of time as I received her message as Blake walked by my hiding spot.

"I need you NOW!" she'd typed. "My dorm. HURRY!"

I put my phone away and tapped on her window.

Chapter 13

Gabby flew out of bed. She yanked the cord and the blinds shot up and there she was, naked and disheveled. She spoke through the glass: "Were you here? Did you see?" and pointed at the ground outside.

I slowly nodded. Her hand drifted up to cover her mouth.

"Just open the window," I murmured. "I'll climb in that way."

Seconds later I closed the blinds behind me. She was a mess. Several milky streams ran down her inner thighs and her hair stuck to her sweat. Her nipples were stiff and pink and her labia looked like someone beat on them with a flyswatter for hours.

She started to hug me, stopped, started to kiss me, stopped, stood still, and then kissed me after all.

"How much did you see?" she asked when the kiss ended.

I made a big sweeping gesture with one hand, starting on my left and ending on my right. "Evvvvveryyyythingggg."

She clasped her hands in front of her pussy and stood straight, ready, I realized, for whatever proclamation I was about to make. She was sure I was about to say something huge. I wasn't. What was there to say? Or maybe there was so much to say I had no idea where to begin.

"How do you feel?" she squeaked.

My eyes crawled every inch of her young, girlish body. Part of her liked my gaze and wanted to act the slut, part of her didn't and wanted to crawl away and die of shame. I knew my reaction in that moment would have far-reaching and long-lasting consequences. Reverberations would echo throughout our relationship. She searched my face but stood her ground.

"I jacked off," was all I could say.

My emotions were strong but hopelessly confused. Deeds speak louder than words anyway and aside from staring dumbly through her window, the only thing I'd actually done in the last hour was masturbate to her unspeakably beautiful sexual blossoming.

She held my gaze but her head tilted forward until her chin rested on her chest.

“What?”

“Against the wall,” I added.

“You watched Blake fuck me and that made you jack off?”

I gave her a little shrug. “Yup.”

She was expecting every possible reaction except that one.

“What?” she said again.

“I got turned on, watching you. Gabby, you’re so incredibly sexy. Your excitement got me excited. When Blake gave you an orgasm I almost lost my mind but when he started to cum and you went crazy, I did too.”

Her face lit up at the mention of her orgasm.

“Can you believe that?” she cried. “I’m so happy you saw it. You know that was my first, right? Chuck, this is insanity. Our life is fucking crazy right now.”

Ouch.

“No, I didn’t know that. I thought you sometimes masturbated.”

“I do and I thought I was making myself climax but now I know; I was making myself feel really good but that was an orgasm. I almost died!”

She stepped closer and I took her into my arms. She looked up at me.

“You think I’m sexy?” she asked.

“Mind-blowing sexy. Earth-shattering sexy.”

I said the words, and they were true, but my mind was elsewhere. Gabby had her first orgasm. Blake had given Gabby her first orgasm. Another milestone that we can never get back. He will always be the guy that gave her the first. Everything we were supposed to discover together she was discovering with him.

We’d been hugging a long time when I heard her murmur: “I can’t believe you masturbated watching him fuck me.”

Chapter 14

Word got out.

Not like a wildfire rumor sweeping the campus, but a slow, crawling, whispered snippet of gossip moving from one close friend to the next.

Gabriela loves to fuck and her fiancé lets her.

We never heard the rumor ourselves but we did experience it.

After the holiday, we had five days of school work crammed into four days. By the weekend we were stressed and fatigued. Several times during the week I had passing strangers call me Cuck and wave hello.

The day after he fucked her, Blake told Gabby he'd pick her up at eight on Saturday. She gave him my building and room number and said to pick her up there.

All day Saturday Gabby and I made-out like crazy, petting and kissing. His inevitable arrival fueled our lust. Inexorable pressure built all day. I was haunted by the feeling a man was coming for my woman but aroused by the knowledge she wanted him to. Gabby and I grew more excited and horny as each hour passed but it was only exciting because I knew deep down, no matter what happened between them, she was mine. Otherwise his arrival would be bone-crushing heartache and sadness. I know I sound confused but I'm not. Only our mutual belief in the love we shared allowed us to embrace her with another. Our love and commitment was the anchor.

Not that I'm saying any of this was easy. It most definitely was not. My faith in our bond got me through the rough moments and there were plenty of rough moments.

Just before eight came the knock on the door. Gabby's eyes blazed with anticipation. She'd purchased a matching set of hot-pink lace bra and panties and wore them now under her sweat suit.

Blake had two seniors with him, tennis teammates, tall and athletic like him, and they kissed Gabby's cheek as he introduced them. So sophisticated. Chaz and Brock hardly acknowledged me so Gabby made them shake my hand. I had mixed feelings about them like I had mixed feelings about every part of this.

All five of us headed for Amen Hall and I admit I felt special sitting in the senior's section. I understood the allure for Gabby. Most of the students there had no idea what was happening but the few that did had eyes that blazed with intensity. They knew what they watched unfold. Whether or not they knew, everyone treated Gabby and me like we were important. They listened when we spoke. They considered our ideas and comments. We felt important.

After a few hours Brock said he was ready to head back.

"Back where?" Gabby asked.

"Your place," Chaz answered.

"No," Blake corrected. "His place." He pointed at me.

Gabby looked confused.

Blake, Chaz, and Brock stood.

Now I understood.

Gabby's confusion lifted, replaced by comprehension. I expected anger followed by refusal and retreat. I did see indignation, for about two seconds, and then some dark wicked spirit rose behind her eyes.

"All right," she breathed.

We left as a group and all around heads clustered in whispered gossip. Gabby took my hand as we followed the three tall seniors.

Martin's light was on under his door but I heard Warcraft explosions and knew he'd be oblivious to the world around him. I guided the older boys, young men, really, into my room and all three sat on the end of my bed. I closed the door.

"Show them that dynamite body I've been raving about," Blake said. "Show my friends I was telling the truth about you."

Gabby glanced apprehensively at me but reached for the zipper of her sweatshirt. She drew it down and her big tits, wrapped in a hot-pink lace brassiere, expanded through the opening like rising bread dough. Eight male eyes gawked.

"Christ," Chaz muttered. Then, to me: "You scored, Cuck."

Encouraged by their reactions, Gabby opened her shirt and dropped it on the floor. She needed no prodding to slip out of her sweatpants, revealing matching pink lace panties.

Blake waved a casual hand at her. "Go take her bra off," he told me.

I hesitated but Gabby gave me an almost imperceptible nod. Her eyes were filled with trepidation but a hopeful excitement glittered there too. I moved behind her and fumbled with the clasp for a moment and then the two ends parted. I let them fall and Gabby rolled her shoulders and the looped straps slid down her arms. I expected her to look at the floor but she wanted to see their faces when her tits came into view. She was not disappointed. Each of them gazed at her with raw and naked lust.

"We are wearing too much clothing," Brock said, beginning to undress. Chaz and Blake joined him.

"Get her panties off and bring her to the bed," Blake instructed.

Gabby turned to face me, showing them her butt. She laced her fingers behind my neck as I worked the elastic band down her thighs. My face passed inches from her smooth, bald pussy and I realized she must have shaved just a few hours ago. Did she know this would happen? She leaned her hips forward and her mons brushed my cheek. I smelled her excitement. I felt the radiating heat.

She stepped out of her panties and I turned her to face the guys again. I took her hand and led her to my bed, lying her on her back across the middle of it. God, she looked breathtaking. Her long hair swished around her hips and her big firm tits wobbled as she crawled back half a foot. Only her feet hung off the edge. The guys stared down at her like she was a rain barrel filled with diamonds.

They shed their underwear, exposing their erections. Blake was bigger than both but they were still impressive. Bigger than me. Chaz had a sharp upward curve to his penis, like an antler, and Brock was especially thick and covered with veins. He also had bigger balls than Blake. Gabby's inspection passed from one penis to the next to the next. She came back to Blake's.

He moved to the side of the bed and climbed between her legs. Chaz and Brock took positions on either side of her head. Gabby giggled nervously as all these dicks waved like branches over her. Chaz aimed his cock down and turned her face towards it. He nudged her lips and my fiancée opened her mouth, aiming his head far to the back before closing her lips in a seal around the shaft. Chaz sighed from deep in his chest.

Blake rubbed his cock around her opening and Gabby tried to angle her hips to capture him. They found the right alignment and Blake sank half his turgid cock into my woman. Gabby mouthed a muffled groan.

I took two steps back. The sight was mind-bending. I was understandably flustered and disturbed but the erotic power of the vision could not be denied; one woman and three men is an astonishing sight. The fact that it was Gabby at the bottom of the heap only made everything infinitely hotter.

The guys took turns on her mouth and she used her hands to stroke them. Blake and Gabby shared an awareness of how to move together and, once he had every inch hidden inside, my betrothed crossed her ankles behind his ass, lifting her hips to meet his thrusts and maximize the pleasure for both. Blake watched her suck cock with as much focus as me. He lowered his mouth to her tits.

The four of them moved awkwardly but nobody cared. Soft moans and sighs of pleasure filled my room.

After a while Blake pulled out and Chaz took his place. Gabby groaned as the unfamiliar curve of a new cock pushed deep. Blake settled his scrotum onto her waiting tongue. She held her mouth especially wide open while he did it.

They savored every inch of her, playing with her tits and sucking her sensitive nipples. They nibbled her tummy and neck. They licked up her legs and arms. Gabby devoured the attention from these senior boys, reveling in the physical sensations they gave her, rejoicing in the awareness of what she did. They had experience in these matters and used that knowledge to provide Gabby relentless ecstatic pleasure.

Brock replaced Chaz and Gabby loved his extra thick and bumpy cock. Her back arched higher off the bed with each inch and she stunned the room by crying out minutes later as a powerful climax seize her. The guys were all smiles. Blake took Brock's spot and fucked her deep and hard, eventually ripping another orgasm from far inside her.

Brock slipped inside her again while the other guys stood back to watch and Gabby, so obviously the center of attention and loving it, orgasmed again on his veiny dick. Blake told me to get in there and kiss my girl so I climbed on the bed and knelt over her. Our eyes met. She was mildly concerned for me but otherwise lost in a haze of sexual euphoria. I felt the bed move behind me and I was watching her pretty face as Blake pushed his cock into her again. Her expression of pure pleasure made my penis rise and she pulled me down to a kiss while Blake fucked her.

My bedroom door opened.

I twisted inside her arms to see who was there and Martin's shocked face greeted me. His eyes were as big as golf balls.

Blake glanced over a shoulder and, seeing Martin's expression, withdrew from Gabby and moved away.

Chaz presented Gabby's pussy with an open hand and said: "Get some, brother."

I thought my best friend would decline but the sight of Gabby's wide-open and soaking wet pussy was too much for him. He stripped from his sweatpants and flannel shirt and hurried between her legs, avoiding my eyes.

Gabby recognized something was happening and lifted her head to look down her body. Between raised knees she saw Martin and his rock-hard erection and a playful smile curled her lips, thinking, it seemed to me, at this point, why not? She reached for him and he placed his erection into her searching hand. She pulled him forward and in and Martin's face lit up like a firework. The guys laughed.

"Pretty fucking amazing, no?" Brock asked.

Martin pushed every inch into my fiancée and began fucking her fast, gazing down at her incredible body in disbelief. How many times had he secretly wanted her? How many times had he secretly eyeballed her curvaceous figure and gone to his room to masturbate? Now she was beneath him, eagerly accepting him inside her.

He lasted only a short time. Not the experienced stud the older guys were, Martin fucked hard and fast and drove his dick deep to shoot his load far up her tunnel.

Chaz pulled him away and sank deep, fucking Gabby hard until he too shot her full. Brock sank into her next, fucking her slick cunt smooth and strong and holding a rhythm until Gabby orgasmed again and only then releasing his massive load of hot sperm, adding a flood to the flood already in her.

Blake made her lick every inch of his dick and then moved between her legs. The guys pulled her arms to each side and Martin took one leg while Blake hooked an arm under the other. Helpless and immobile, Gabby moaned as Blake fucked my girl until he had her screaming with pleasure, begging him to cum in her. Moments later he did, bellowing like a bull and then grunting in time with each hard blast.

Before too long he pulled his soft cock out of her and left the bed. The guys all took seats around the room, staring at Gabby writhing on the bed. She ran her hands over her tits and pulled her nipples. She ran her hands over her body and dabbed at the slick fluid leaking from her. Everything was a new experience.

“You should fuck her too,” Blake told me.

I shook my head. My erection shrank. No way was I getting naked in front of these guys, and especially not in front of Martin.

“All of us did,” Chaz argued. “What’s the point of holding out now?”

I sat on the edge of my desk. “What’s precious between me and Gabby is independent of you guys. We still haven’t done it. That’s all that matters.”

Brock and Chaz didn’t understand but Blake seemed to.

“Can I go again?” Martin asked.

We all turned to look at him. He was already hard again. The guys laughed hard.

“Sure,” Blake said.

Gabby lifted her feet and spread them by way of invitation, but Martin grabbed her ankle and turned her onto her stomach.

“Show me that spectacular ass,” he said. “I love your ass.”

He climbed behind her and pushed his dick into her sopping pussy, again fucking Gabby furiously and again cumming within minutes, rumbling like an earthquake when his load exploded. He left her face-down as he stumbled off my bed, hastily collected his clothing, avoided my eyes as he gave an embarrassed wave, and headed for his room, closing the door behind him.

The guys small-talked until Blake said it was time to go. They dressed and he kissed Gabby on the back of her head and filed out of my room. This time I bolted the door. I brushed Gabby’s hair off her face and rolled her onto her back. Her face was relaxed and her eyes dreamy. She didn’t ask if I was upset. We were beyond that now.

“I hope you don’t get pregnant,” I murmured.

"I'll take steps," she mumbled.

Chapter 15

Three days later we were in the library, studying.

The previous seventy-two hours had been the strangest of my life. Each day, random people said hello or good morning or what's up and called me Cuck as if that were my name now. Guys I'd never spoken to initiated conversation and even suggested we should hang out. Two juniors invited me to their dorm to play Warcraft. Even a few girls talked to me.

I am naïve and inexperienced, but I'm not usually stupid. I knew every one of them was using me to get to Gabby, or at least discover if the stories they'd heard were true. When I told Gabby, she blushed but when I mentioned the girls she sat right up.

"Who?" she asked.

I told her and watched her face turn dreamy. Was she imagining sex with females? Jesus, how did we get in such deep waters so fast?

I finished the chapter on the Cold War and shut the book, pushing it away from me. A huge, muscular guy dropped into the seat at the end of our table.

He wore a tight pastel-green T-shirt and his arms were bigger than my legs. We ignored him for a second but he just sat there smiling at us.

"What?" Gabby finally asked.

"Are you Gabriela Johnson?"

"Yes."

"I'm Dakota Johns."

"Congratulations," Gabby said, grinning. I chuckled.

"I play middle-linebacker for Big Red. All American."

We stared at him.

"I'm a senior."

"Do I know you?" Gabby asked.

"I'm a good friend of Blake Monroe."

"Oh," Gabby said.

Fifty-thousand volts flowed from my heart to my fingers and toes. Was this our fate? Was this our new reality? Would bold guys just approach Gabby with obvious intentions? I stayed calm on the outside but inside a powerful rush churned my guts.

The man was a giant. He made the chair and table look small.

"Unfortunately, my dorm is all the way across school," he said.

Gabby studied his face and then her eyes ran down his massive chest to his huge arms. He smiled and she turned shy.

"Is this how it's going to be now?" I asked. "Just anyone?"

He looked insulted. "I'm not just anyone," he said. "I'm Dakota—"

"Johns, I know. We don't know you. Gabby doesn't know you. Why do you think you can just walk up here and assume she'll go with you?"

Dakota leaned over the table. "I don't, but look at her; you can't blame a guy for trying. She's sexy as fuck."

Wow, did he say the right things. Gabby's face softened.

He eyed me suspiciously. "You're the one they call Cuck, right? Her fiancé?"

"Yes, I'm her fiancé, but no, my name is Chuck, not Cuck."

"They say you like to watch. Is that true? Because if it is, trust me, you'll like watching me with her."

My face turned crimson.

Gabby placed a gentle hand on my arm. "It's okay, Baby," she said.

She examined Dakota again, spending extra time ogling his huge biceps and triceps. His shoulders looked as big as bowling balls.

"Unfortunately," Gabby grinned, "my dorm is all the way across campus too." She turned to me. "Can we use your room?"

She'd already decided.

We packed our books and left the library. They were two steps ahead of me and I was shocked by the size difference. Gabby's head was only as high as his elbow. After a bit, she took his arm and ran her hands over his muscles. She seemed fascinated. He scooped her up and lifted her over his head as if she weighed nothing. Back on the ground, she hugged his arm and walked leaning into his colossal frame.

Martin was out but I bolted my door anyway. I'd not seen him since that unforgettable Saturday night and I assumed he was avoiding me.

Gabby took a seat on the end of my bed.

"You undress first," she told him. "I'm still deciding."

I knew that wasn't true but Dakota seemed happy to undress, stripping down to tight black bikini-briefs and showing off his heavily muscled and carved up physique. Gabby clapped joyfully at the sight of him.

"Now the underwear," she said, acting like she had a ringside seat for the show.

Dakota turned his back and I was again shocked by the sheer size of the man. He was lumpy and broad and his enormous shoulders narrowed to a small waist. He was a gross exaggeration of male characteristics but Gabby was mesmerized. Dakota hooked his thumbs and the briefs shot down to his ankles.

Even his ass was well defined. He flexed his back, legs, and then his ass and Gabby clapped again. She looked at me.

"He's such a man," she gushed. "He has such a physical presence. Look how big and strong he is."

Like I would care about such things.

Dakota flared his back muscles and then flexed his arms. Gabby was enthralled.

"Turn around," she said. "Face me. Let's see if you're equally manly all over."

I cringed. If this guy had a small dick, the situation would become instantly comical. I hoped for all our sakes he was at least normal-sized and then realized exactly what I'd just hoped for.

Dakota turned around and Gabby and I gasped simultaneously. His dick was long, like Blake, but thick and veiny, like Brock. His body was completely hairless and that may have made him look bigger. It certainly made him look incredibly clean. He hung heavy and plump, aggressive without doing a thing.

"Closer," Gabby whispered.

Her wide eyes tried to take in all of him at once.

The man was a mountain. He took two steps and his soft cock slapped off each thigh as he walked. He stopped in front of her and she lifted his cock on an open palm.

"His dick must weigh five pounds," she said, looking at me with surprise.

She exaggerated, obviously, but gazing at that substantial slab of beef resting on her hand sure made her claim believable.

I shifted my attention to her face; gone forever was the teary-eyed child. New Gabby was confident and under control. She knew what she liked and allowed herself to enjoy it. Why shouldn't she? Sex alone is no basis for a meaningful relationship but she had a meaningful relationship with me and here I was, next to her, clearly tolerant of her illicit liaisons. Our future was secure. She'd get a lifetime of emotional intimacy with me so why not enjoy spectacular sex in the moment?

She curled her fingers around the hefty shaft and looked at me.

"I want him to fuck me," she said. "Is that all right?"

I knew what she was saying; Dakota had no dirt on us like Spencer and nothing to offer socially or politically like Blake. She had no reason to fuck him. Dakota was pure physical attraction. She just wanted him and wanted me to be okay with that. It may not look so different from the outside but we both knew this was a pivotal moment. If I let Dakota fuck her, there was no reason to deny anyone she wanted, ever. In a flash, I saw our possible future unfold; Gabby and I, happily married, achieving one success after another, and all the while a constant march of men parading through our bedroom. Was I ready for that?

The desire in her eyes was intoxicating. The cock on her palm was spellbinding. Dakota waited, enjoying the struggle we faced because of him. He enjoyed the pain he caused. I wrestled with my fiancée's desire for him and he savored the conflict he created. I wondered what Gabby would do if I said nothing. Would she just go ahead and take what she wanted? At this point, why shouldn't she? I was unwilling to lose that much control. Better to give in than appear impotent.

"Put his cock in your mouth," I said.

Gabby's eyes flared in surprise. Her lips curled in a wicked smile and she bent her head to obey. Dakota's expression was smug and arrogant. He'd never doubted the outcome. He'd allowed us to act our parts but he'd known all along.

Gabby lifted the tip of his cock with her tongue and wiggled him into her mouth. Dakota rested a huge hand on her head. She kept her mouth wide open so I could see him in there and my penis twitched. Why did I love her scandalous behavior so much? Her tongue slithered along the underside of him and her hand slipped down to fondle his hairless balls. Her eyes came up to meet mine and I was stunned by the sight. She closed her lips around him and her eyelids fluttered. She loved these moments. I loved that she loved these moments. She was in no hurry. His thick cock grew slowly and she cherished the sensation of such a masculine piece of meat gliding in and out. She adored his cock.

“Undress her for me,” he said.

I started on her zipper because I wanted him to see her tits. She helped by moving her arms or legs or lifting her butt and after a few minutes I had her naked.

He asked me if he needed to use a condom and Gabby shot a sideways glance at me, curious for my answer.

“No,” I said.

Gabby groaned. I’d just given another man permission, directly, to cum inside her. Her excitement was too much to bear and she grabbed a tit and lifted hard, pulling on the nipple when she reached it. He continued to rise and now the angle was too difficult for her. She took to licking his firm inches and sucking his balls.

“You love cock,” he rumbled.

His cock was magnificent. I had to admit that. He stuck almost straight out from his hips, deep red and laced with thick veins, so ugly it was beautiful. Gabby’s fingers stroked him lightly as her tongue and lips teased and nibbled.

“Enough,” he growled. “Turn around. Get on your hands and knees. Aim that little cunt right at my face.”

Gabby paused long enough to give me a quick kiss and then did as he’d commanded. She looked over a shoulder at his towering presence.

He took a step forward and this brought his cock less than an inch from her hole. He spread her slit with two fingers of one hand and inserted a finger from the other. Gabby drew a sharp breath. He raised the finger to his mouth and tasted her juice.

He did it again and then lowered his mouth to her pussy.

Nobody had ever licked Gabby’s pussy.

Gabby’s back bowed and her head snapped back.

“What the fuck?” she cried.

Dakota took a butt cheek in each massive hand and pulled them apart. Her slit opened into a gorgeous pink gash and her anus opened too. I saw inside her body. Dakota alternated between licking her pussy and licking her sphincter. Gabby whimpered as he nibbled her tight asshole and softly sobbed when his strong tongue probed her inner vaginal walls. Her hips twisted in small circles and her breathing became ragged. She grabbed my pillow and hugged it tightly. Dakota pushed a finger one knuckle deep up her ass and brought his mouth to her clitoris and his writhing tongue deep in her pussy. Gabby cried into my bed, squeezing the pillow harder until her body stiffened and her hips locked into place.

A fast orgasm ripped the length of her and left her softly sniveling.

Dakota stood and wiped his face with the back of a hand. He aimed his impressive cock for her hole and held her hips tightly. Inch by inch I saw him travel farther into her.

"I...love...feeling...how I...make it...wet..." my lovely fiancée grunted.

With each inch Gabby clawed the bed more excitedly. Finally, she could stand no more and pulled the pillow from her face. "God!" she cried. "Jesus!"

She struggled to breathe. She pushed on the bed in front of her to hold herself in place and force more of his dick into her pussy.

Dakota was relentless. His strong hands dented her ass as he one stiff inch after the next. I watched his big, hairless balls draw ever closer to her opening. With three inches to go, he encountered a barrier inside.

"Not your hymen," he chuckled. "Blake told me he broke that for me already."

He adjusted his grip on her hips and leaned his pelvis forward. Gabby began to groan from deep in her chest.

"It hurts," she said, her discomfort clear. "Stop."

"Give it a minute," Dakota responded, although he did back off slightly. He adjusted his grip again and eased his dick deeper. Gabby's ragged breathing increased and her brow furrowed.

"Dakota—" she began.

Something inside gave way. The remaining two inches of cock slithered inside and Gabby's face lit up with newly discovered pleasure.

"Oooooohhh, God," she groaned. "Oooooohhh my God. I feel him. I feel him."

I had no idea what she meant, exactly, but the suddenly heightened pleasure was obvious. Dakota carefully withdrew an inch and eased his cock deep again.

Gabby flipped out.

"Fuck!" she shouted. "I feel him everywhere, Baby. I feel him everywhere!"

Dakota started a gentle in and out and Gabby buried her face in my bed. Whatever he was doing to her was more than she could bear. Her wails of pleasure were constant, smothered by my comforter.

She orgasmed just like that; ass high in the air and head and tits flat on my bed. This might have been her strongest ever. For such a recent discovery, Gabby was mastering her orgasms quite well.

Her body was a blob of quivering Jell-O as Dakota explored her insides. He pushed in every inch he had and held himself there and Gabby's groan built into a yell and then became crazy laughter.

She climaxed again.

He wasn't even moving.

She just orgasmed around his fat, invading cock.

"Your pussy is so tight," he said. "I've never felt a pussy so snug."

Dakota is a stud in every sense of the word. I knew there was no way I'd ever match this sexual experience for Gabby. I'd need to find other ways to sexually satisfy my woman. I'd need to excite her mind and her heart.

He licked his pinkie finger and partially inserted the digit in her ass. He began to fuck her butt with it. Gabby went nuts. He started pushing and pulling his cock in opposite time with his finger and my fiancée tumbled over the edge of insanity. Her pussy juices dribbled onto my bed and she came screaming again.

The sounds of her intense pleasure coupled with the strangle-hold her vagina had around his dick finally began to get to him. He'd held back as long as possible, drawing this intense mating out as far as he could, but his own orgasm had built to the point he craved release. He pulled his cock all the way out. He was coated with liquids and shiny. He looked so hard, like marble.

"On your back," he said. "I want to see your face when I cum."

Gabby flipped over and locked her gaze on his dick. He climbed over and aimed his cock and sank in again. The size of his body made her look tiny.

This time when he reached the internal barrier, Gabby was ready and able to relax. He kissed her face and stroked her hair and something blossomed inside. Gabby's eyes rolled back when he sank the last few inches into her.

"That's amazing," she murmured. "I love it...I love it."

Dakota began thrusting smoothly and I knew he was preparing to fill my girl with cum. He wanted it, Gabby wanted it, and buried in some dank dungeon in my mind, I wanted it too. He had her close her legs and moved his outside and continued pumping. Gabby's eyes lit up.

"More friction on your clit, right?"

Gabby did not reply. Her hands moved to his broad shoulders and they gazed into each other's eyes. After a few minutes, he said he was close.

Gabby looked down to watch his muscular body move. Her eyes traveled his wide straining chest and rolling abs. She studied his muscular arms. She wanted to absorb every detail of Dakota fucking her.

"I feel you swelling," she said.

He pumped faster.

She slipped his nipple into her mouth and sucked hard.

That was the last straw. Dakota bit his lip and drove his cock all the way in and turned loose a torrent of hot sperm. Gabby sucked harder and jerked her hips in time with his and Dakota shouted for her to take his load and Gabby just sucked his little nipple harder. His powerful body jerked, rocked by spasms as each jet of semen flew out of his cock and into her. He'd pump his hips to help empty every searing drop.

His orgasm lasted a long time. I worried he'd collapse on top of her and she'd be crushed but when he finally finished ejaculating, he straightened an arm and rolled to the side. His cock slithered out of her clinging tunnel with a slurp. I waited for a flood of cum but nothing came. Wherever he'd deposited that huge load, it was somewhere so far up in her it could not run out. Her hole remained about the size of a dime, gradually closing. Gabby curled up under his arm, head on his chest. She closed her eyes like she was about to nap.

I suddenly felt awkward.

She must have remembered me because she opened her eyes again.

“Take your clothes off, Baby” she said, turning her body to face his. “Spoon me.”

Grateful for something to do, I was soon behind her. She reached between her legs and found my partially swollen penis and straightened me to run between her hot and sopping labia. For the first time ever, my penis was touching her pussy. You can imagine the effect. I hardened quickly and she seemed pleased.

“Don’t worry,” she whispered. “I’ll be careful.”

She pressed my dick deeper into her folds and closed her legs on me. I was still outside her body but enveloped in hot, wet flesh. A few heartbeats later I was stiff as iron. She left me like that and I used every ounce of willpower I possessed to keep from tilting my hips and pushing my penis inside her.

Many minutes later, the first trickle of Dakota’s cum leaked out of her and ran down my shaft to my balls. I again resisted the urge to claim her. Drop after drop trickled from her opening and soaked my hard dick. A wet spot grew beneath my balls. I was basting in Dakota sperm.

Chapter 16

The remaining school year was more of the same.

Spencer came around whenever school pressures became too much and he needed a quick release. Her lies had ruined Blake's growing love for her but he still came around for hot sex and sometimes brought a close friend or two. Gabby would lose herself to carnal desires those nights. I'd taken to masturbating while I watched her in glorious action and afterward we'd cuddle as if we'd been the lovers.

Martin finally approached us both with an apology. As we suspected he'd pined for Gabby from the moment he'd met her and that night's offering had been too delicious to refuse. He knew he'd done wrong and felt terrible about it. Gabby took him to his bedroom and shut the door, returning hours later and explaining Martin understood how things worked much better now. I asked her not to fuck him again.

Dakota fucked Gabby more than anyone. The man's sex drive was impressive, surpassed only by Gabby. She even fucked him a few times while I was in class. She fucked a couple of other guys that way too. Afterward she'd tell me everything and watch while I jacked off. We were learning our own sexuality as we went.

People calling me Cuck became so common I stopped noticing.

Graduation arrived as scheduled and we watched as many of our new senior friends accepted their diplomas, shook the dean's hand, and stepped off the stage, never to be seen again.

Our first day of summer vacation Gabby and I sat reading in my parent's den. Never too early to get a jump on next year. My folks were watching a movie in their bedroom. I stuck a finger to mark my place and closed my book.

"Next year will be different," I said.

She stopped reading.

"Blake, Chaz, Brock, Dakota...all gone. Only Spencer will be back."

"He visits less and less," she shrugged. "Guys get bored."

"Is it weird he's never tried to fuck you?"

"I wondered about that. I think this was more about power and control for him, less about sexual gratification. He loved forcing me to blow him. That's the domination in his mind. Intercourse is intimate and shared."

"Good theory. I know he worried about paternity suits and child support too."

She studied my face for a while.

"Do you think we'll stop?" she asked.

I knew she meant next year and beyond. Could we go back to the innocent nerd couple we used to be?

"Doubtful," I said.

"I feel the same. Too exciting to just quit." She leaned back and examined my body. "You have the build for lacrosse, you know."

"So?"

"Great place to meet hot guys," she smiled. "Get a good look in the locker room, while everyone showers, see who's in shape, who's got what."

"You're a very smart girl," I said.

"Hey," she replied. "I came to Philips Exeter Academy to get an education and we have three years to go. I still have gaps to fill."

End.

Follow My Tumblr blog; MyEroticBunny.tumblr.com

Follow My Twitter; twitter.com/MyEroticBunny.

Get a FREE Hotwife Story!

Join My Mailing List

<http://eepurl.com/cTvA7P>