

Gabriela Gets An Education part four

The Stunning Conclusion

MATTHEW LEE

Gabriela Gets An Education

Part Four : The Conclusion

By Matthew Lee

Chapter 1

I knew as soon as we told our parents we were headed back to school early, Brandon would send Gabby a text. I could have started a countdown. I knew Gloria would panic and insist Brandon take another shot at destroying Gabby's relationship with me. Gabby and I were in my bedroom studying when her phone chimed.

"That will be Brandon," I said.

She gave me a funny look. I'd not shared my theory with her. She checked her phone and looked at me quizzically.

"How...?"

I enjoyed the moment, giving her nothing but a smug smile. A magician never reveals his secrets. She refused to play and flopped on my bed. She read Brandon's message. I pretended to study my textbook but watched from the corner of my eye. Her eyes softened and she slowly bit her bottom lip. Uh oh. She finished reading and dimmed her phone.

"Let's meet Brandon at the lake tomorrow," she said, staring at my ceiling.

That haunting dread I always get when Gabby meets Brandon crept through me.

The lake was a local hangout for high school kids. There were plenty of coves tucked beneath the trees where a couple could drop a blanket and enjoy some private time. I knew Gabby imagined herself looking across the blue waters and listening to the wind whisper through the pine needles, as she lowered herself onto Brandon's stiff cock. Her invitation meant she wanted me there too. Terrific.

"I'm surprised you want him after learning he fucked your mom," I said.

"Yeah, if he wasn't so good looking or his dick was a lot smaller, I'd never speak to him again. I try to avoid thinking about him and my mother. But that's why you mentioned it, right? To steer me away from him?"

I act like I hate it, and I do, but watching her with him thrills me too. The surge of emotions is intoxicating. There's no one on Earth I hate more than him, no one who made my life more difficult and painful. Even Gabby's mother, Gloria, so recently revealed as a major contributor to my early torment, cannot be classed in the same league as Brandon. He was on my scent from day one. Gloria just provided additional motivation.

Gabby rolled over to study my face.

"Eats you up inside, doesn't it?" she asked.

"Yes, it does."

"Tell me no and I'll drop the idea. I know you hate him. Deny me. Forbid me. If you tell me he's off-limits, I'll honor your demand."

She would. I know she meant it. But that would be placing my pleasure above hers. That would be admitting my insecurity must be coddled. That would mean admitting the guy gets to me, that he's somehow special and different from all the other men, that he's more powerful, in my eyes, and I fear him.

Not going to happen.

Gabby waited patiently, knowing I would never tell her no. Her laughing eyes seemed to say: Where's your smug smile now, Mister Smarty-Pants?

"What will you wear?" I asked.

She sat up. "I'm thinking that floral-print dress and white sandals. No makeup, nothing fancy. Just plain Gabriela. I'll see how he likes that."

Right. She dressed similarly on a trip to the mall a few days ago and got more compliments on her looks than ever. She radiated confidence these days, but not narcissism. Gabby knew her place in the world, perfectly comfortable in her own skin. Our experiences over the last few years had opened our eyes and tested our strength.

Brandon would be smitten. I was sure.

Of course, that meant Gabby was trying to look her very best for him. Let's just twist that dagger, shall we?

"I'm sure he'll approve," I said.

Sometimes Gabby spends the night at my parents' house, but not tonight. We finished studying, I gave her a kiss goodnight, and my mom drove her home.

The next day we met for lunch at Jason's Deli. Gabby wore a billowy white dress to just above the knee and white sandals. The dress buttoned all the way down the front and she had the top four buttons open, exposing a hint of cleavage. She looked fresh and lovely.

"My mom's annoyed we're headed back to school early," she said. "You have no idea the self-control required to keep my tone civil. I wanted to yell at her for meddling in my relationship, for not recognizing what a great catch you are."

"I'm sure she's frustrated her efforts to split us have failed."

Gabby stepped close and kissed me.

"Utterly," she added.

I told her to grab a table while I placed the order and collected our food. Soon we stared out the plate-glass window into the parking lot. We ate in silence a few minutes and then Gabby mentioned she wanted to do especially well her final year.

"I'm thinking I may quit dancing. Just concentrate on school and our next few steps after we graduate."

I kissed her hand. "You mean becoming Gabriela Johnson?"

"Yes, becoming Gabriela Johnson."

We talked about how we might maximize our study-time and begin the selection process for the university we wanted. We'd received acceptance letters from virtually everywhere we applied. After kicking ideas around, we looked at each other.

"Harvard?" I asked.

"Harvard."

"It's only an hour away from Philips. We should visit the campus."

She agreed and we made plans to spend a weekend once we were back at school. I watched her face as she spoke, aware now something had changed. Our connection had deepened and strengthened. Despite all we'd been through, or perhaps because of it, our bond was stronger than ever. We were in love, knew we were in love, and knew the other person felt the same. We weren't just making plans; we were planning our lives together.

The loud rumble of Brandon's Mustang rattled the window. He drove through the parking lot until he saw us and then pulled into the spot facing our table. My heart skipped several beats. We all knew why he was here. How strange to still bask in the warm glow of our loving moment yet watch Gabby's mouth curl into an excited smile for him. I know she loves me. I know she's in love with me. Yet his slumbering cock, softly curled beneath his jeans at this moment, would soon be stiff and throbbing and sliding inside her. Our life is surreal. Brandon returned her broad smile.

He joined us at the table. I listened as she discussed school and he an offer to play semipro football. We made small talk mostly, easing into that moment one of them said let's head for the lake. They delayed, enjoying the tension. Brandon finally broke and suggested we all get in his car and find a nice secluded spot.

I knew it was coming yet I struggled to breathe. I gulped Mountain Dew, trying to wet my dry throat. I despised this guy.

Gabby nodded eagerly, too eagerly, in my opinion, for a known liar and scoundrel. He'd had sex with her mother, for Christ's sake. I thought that would reduce his attractiveness and slow her down. Nope.

Brandon held the door for us and I climbed into the cramped backseat. He started the engine and backed us out. We rumbled down Flamingo Avenue headed for the lake and I watched everything they did, wondering if Gabby would reveal we knew of his plot with Gloria. Gabby revealed nothing. Brandon had no idea we were on to his game. When he reached to hold her hand, she let him.

I gasped but they did not hear. Funny how such a simple act can drive a sword through your heart. I stared at their laced fingers and felt my heart ache even as my balls heated. I'm a mess.

Gabby checked on me and saw where I was staring and grinned. She flexed her fingers in his, working them a little deeper, and he squeezed her hand meaningfully. She kept her eyes locked with mine and leaned over to tickle his ear with the tip of her tongue. She closed her lips on his lobe. Ruthless. Brandon stepped on the gas.

The parking lot was about three-quarters full so he drove to the far end. We had to walk about a mile along the shore to leave the crowd behind. I hung back and watched them walk, holding hands and rubbing shoulders. They made a hot couple, I had to admit that.

We left the trail and crunched needles for a time until we felt isolated. It was cooler here amongst the pine trees. Brandon had a blanket under his arm which he spread at the water's edge. The day was clear and bright. We laid on our backs and watched the puffy clouds sail by through the gaps in the trees. An all-together perfect and lovely day.

The conversation died and I looked over to see why. Gabby leaned on Brandon, kissing him hotly. Her dress fell away enough to expose spectacular cleavage. He raised a hand to her face.

I watched them make out for a minute or two and then Gabby looked at me.

"Come around and take off my panties," she said. "I need him in me."

Wow. No foreplay. No blowjob. Gabby was desperate to feel him filling her again. I did as she asked, lifting her frilly dress and discovering a snow-white thong. I slid her underwear over her rounded ass and off her legs while they continued to kiss. She gets an extra thrill when I unwrap her for him. I couldn't see but I heard her draw his zipper down. They worked together to free his already hard cock.

Gabby wasted no time. "Keep a lookout," she told me, and tossed a leg over his body. Her hand disappeared under her dress and she locked eyes with Brandon. Their eager faces told me when she was close and their euphoric faces told me when penetration began. The look of aching desire etched lines in both. Gabby's ass slowly sank until coming to rest on his lap. I knew he was balls deep inside my fiancée. She straightened her dress into a perfect white circle around their hips.

I checked our surroundings and Gabby reached for the buttons of her dress. Moments later her lace covered tits appeared and God, they looked amazing. Brandon agreed and reached for them with both hands as Gabby bent over to kiss him again. She began riding him smooth and slow.

"You want to see it?" Brandon asked. "Look under her skirt."

Gabby arched her back and gave me a flirtatious grin. I lifted the hem of her dress and there it was; Brandon's fat, hard cock, gleaming with Gabby's arousal, slipping and sliding in and out. She rode him with purpose, pressing herself down, savoring the full, stuffed feeling his thick cock gave.

"God, Brandon, I could fuck this cock all day and all night," she said.

"I've got no plans," he joked.

Gabby's pussy was forced into a bright pink ring around him. The veins covering his cock stood out dark and rigid.

Her bra fastened in front and she opened the clasp to free her big tits, which she then fed to him. His tongue played with the small silver hoops which pierced each nipple.

I dropped her dress and backed away a few steps. What a sight. Gabby fucked Brandon on the forest floor and as much as I hated the guy, they looked amazing. Gabby was a slutty angel. I took a seat on a stump nearby and just gawked at them; satyr and nymph, fucking in the forest.

Brandon turned his head. "You gonna jack off? I know you like doing that while you watch."

Gabby looked at me. "Do it, Baby," she insisted.

With both staring I felt compelled. I unzipped and pulled my penis through the opening. I spread my legs wide and began to stroke. Gabby glued her eyes to my dick and fucked Brandon faster and stronger. His big balls rested beneath her pussy and I remembered the massive load of sperm they carried. All of that would soon be inside her. She leaned back a little and cupped both tits while gazing into the bright blue sky. A warm breeze passed over us and Gabby chuckled with delight. She was having fun.

Soon she was slamming her cunt down his shaft, aggressively riding his cock. Her face was twisted with intense pleasure. Brandon holds a special place with Gabby. They have a long history of suppressed desire but more than that, she knows I hate him and that makes her love fucking him. Not as some screw-you to me, but instead as a gesture of undying love from me. Nothing on Earth shows her my love more than allowing them to mate.

She rode him for a while. Her loving smile would have melted iron. I watched her body writhe and her chest heave and she watched me watch her.

“Put me on my back,” she told him. “I want to be under you. Baby, come here and unbutton my dress all the way. I want Brandon’s eyes on me.”

I left my stump and knelt beside them, enduring Brandon’s gloating smirk. I finished unbuttoning her dress and threw the two halves open. Gabby was stunningly revealed. Brandon looked down at his prize. I let my gaze slowly travel from her beautiful face, over her rocking tits, across her flat stomach, down to his wide cock pumping her hole. Amazing. I noticed her lower abdomen, between her bellybutton and her vulva, lifted each time Brandon drove his cock home. He was pushing her up from the inside. Mesmerized, I gently placed my hand on her skin and experienced his stiff cock shoving her insides around beneath the surface. I was jolted by an erotic surge. I was feeling his cock moving inside her.

God,” I muttered. “That’s fucking hot.”

Gabby looked where I touched and grinned impishly.

“You feel him inside me, Baby?”

“I do.”

Her head fell to the blanket. “I fucking love my life,” she murmured.

I couldn’t pull away. Beneath my palm I felt Brandon thrusting deep inside my fiancée. The moment hit me hard. Here was all new proof of their coupling. Irrefutable evidence of his penetration. It set my mind spinning.

“Kiss me,” she said and I did.

We kissed soft and loving as he rammed her body. She played with my hair and gazing into my eyes and I felt her body jump each time he drove his cock home.

“I want to be looking into your eyes when he makes me cum,” she breathed.

I moved one hand to my penis and began stroking. Brandon moved over her, missionary but holding himself up with his arms, and worked his cock deep. I heard her wetness increase.

“I feel him moving inside you,” I whispered.

The moment was intense. She placed her hand atop mine. Her eyes grew steadily wider as he nudged her towards orgasm. He was here at Gloria’s request but there were deeper feelings in play. Brandon truly wanted Gabby and always had. Well before her mother recruited him for her nefarious plot, Brandon already had eyes on Gabby, and I don't mean for one of his throw-away fucks like all his other girls. He saw her as a treasure too.

I kissed her tenderly and pressed my hand more firmly against her lower belly. Brandon's steel rod slide across my palm.

"I want to feel him cum inside you," I murmured.

Gabby's eyes grew large. "Baby, that's so fucking hot!" she said.

She moved her gaze to Brandon, searching his face and watching his muscles work. She ran her palm down his rippled abs and let his cock slide through her fingers for a minute. She lifted her head.

"Look at those big balls," she said. She returned her gaze to me. "What if he gets me pregnant? What if I give him a baby?"

I knew she was just talking dirty, trying hard to make the situation even more exciting. She was pushing buttons and flipping switches, but I loved how that idea got to her like it got to me. Her eyelids fluttered at the thought. Gabby wasn't playing at being a bad girl, Gabby was a bad girl. I lowered my mouth to a pierced nipple and Brandon sucked the other. Gabby gasped. Her body tensed.

His hips moved faster. I was sure the idea of knocking Gabby up right in front of me was pure honey to him. Is there a better way to rub a man's nose in it? He growled with lust as he fucked her harder. Gabby slid her free hand to his round ass and began pulling him in on each thrust. Her other hand still rested on mine, feeling his large stiff rod moving under her skin.

"Cum in me, Brandon," she said, and the words sliced right through me. "Cum in me," she said again. "Fill my little pussy up. You were dripping out of me for days last time. I got a rush every time. Cum in me and let me carry you."

She was trying to drive him wild but it was working on all of us. Brandon fucked her harder and my penis throbbed, but Gabby was the most affected; her face was flush and her lips swollen. Her stiff nipples bounced in the forest air. I looked down at his huge balls and then back to her lovely face. Our eyes met. I pressed my hand more firmly on her stomach and she groaned. Her eyes narrowed. Her mouth slowly opened into a perfect O.

She held my gaze as her climax hit. I die a little when she cums on Brandon's cock. Her love for his monster is obvious. I saw the euphoric bliss he gave wash over her face and race through her body. I covered her mouth just in time, smothering a piercing wail of pleasure. Brandon pounded her, trying to get there while she was still cumming. He held his breath as the first explosion of sperm shot from his cock and began filling her womb. I felt it all. He swelled longer and thicker and drove Gabby insane. His spitting dick spewed potential babies everywhere and she welcomed his hot load. My penis leaked copious semen and at the last moment, I turned my hips aside and shot my seed all over the pine needle forest floor. Wasting my sperm while he filled her with his always carries a special, humiliating excitement for me. I shot long ropes of jizz, my jaw clenched, until the last drops fell.

Brandon had driven his fat rod balls deep and was still there. He held himself over her, breathing hard, but Gabby, eyes closed, grinned broadly.

I staggered back to my stump. Brandon kissed her and she returned them.

I tucked my deflated penis into my pants. With the sexual rush draining away, the sight of Brandon between her open legs killed me. I stood and scanned the area, wandering a short distance to make sure no hikers stumbled upon us. I hoped when I returned they'd be separated.

They weren't.

Brandon has this annoying habit of staying hard after an orgasm and he did this time too. Gabby, like most girls, wanted to believe she was the cause; Brandon wanted her so badly, thought her so beautiful and desirable, his penis simply refused to go down. In this case, that was probably the truth.

Gabby wrapped her legs around his waist and pulled his mouth down for kisses.

I thought they were going to fuck again but he'd pumped so much cum into her his penis, thick though it was, could not gain enough friction. After a while he pulled out and rolled onto his back. Gabby waved me over and I sat holding her hand. His hard cock proved too tempting and she grip the base and held him up. She gathered his balls and held those too.

“Look at this thing,” she gushed. “I still remember the first time I caught sight of it, in the mirror on your closet door. I pretended to read a book but watched you drop your towel and quickly pull on a pair of boxers and then gym shorts. I tested my pussy when I got home that night, slipping a finger all the way in. I couldn’t believe how tight I was. I Googled if girls can die during sex. You looked so big. Now I know you looked so big because you are.” She cracked up at her own joke.

He was still hard and I saw the mischievous idea creep into her mind.

“Baby,” she said to me. “Lie on your back and take your dick out.”

I hesitated but who was I kidding? I almost never tell her no. Gabby moved into a sixty-nine position on top of me and then tugged Brandon to his knees. He walked his dick forward until he was aimed at her mouth. She started sucking his slippery cock. Her bare pussy was an inch above my face and I knew what she wanted and I confess, I wanted it too. I love eating her fucked cunt. I pulled her hips down and she lowered her messy slit to my mouth.

“Play with your dick,” she told me.

I heard slurping and knew she was sucking him right next to me. I got hard fast thinking about what she saw; our size difference is considerable. The slurping stopped and then I felt steaming hot breath on my dick head. His cock bumped mine. I knew she had us next to each other and aimed at her open mouth. I stopped licking long enough to gaze between our bodies and confirm my suspicions. The underside of his cock was almost touching the underside of mine. She’d suck him for a minute, relishing my busy tongue probing her drenched pussy, and then hold her teasing mouth over my glans, exhaling hot breath over my sensitive skin. I saw his big veiny rod alongside mine and I wanted to crawl away. My fiancée compared our dicks while sucking his and leaving mine untouched. I was sure I looked like a boy next to a man. My balls probably looked like pink beans.

I had that image in my mind yet grew harder and harder. Gabby giggled and I almost shot my load. I have no idea why she laughed. Perhaps Brandon made a funny face or maybe she was thrilled to have two penises staring at her. I don’t know. All I do know is the sound of her laughter made my dick throb and pulse.

Gravity was busy playing a dirty trick on me. Because her slit was right over my face, their combined liquids dripped into my busy mouth. I was mortified wondering what Brandon thought of me. I was sure he had zero respect. I felt her hot breath again and I started jacking off, imagining her open mouth hovering above my penis. I fought the urge to thrust my hips and slip inside. I concentrated my attention on her clit and got a deep moan from her so I reached around and pushed my finger up her ass. She gasped and ignored him while I finger-fucked her and sucked her pussy. I felt her walls beginning to clench around my tongue and I knew I'd have her cumming soon.

"Cum on my face," she told him. "I want your sperm to drip off my face onto his dick. Once he cums I'll mix you both together."

Jesus. That strip club gave Gabby a crash-course in kinky sex. I jacked faster and drove my tongue deeper. Brandon jacked faster too and she closed her mouth over the tip of his cock and held him while I got her off. She ground her sloppy pussy against my mouth and moaned, flooding me. I swallowed quickly to keep up.

Brandon watched my girl climax and got excited enough to cum again, pulled out and shot glops of jizz all over her pretty face. As predicted, his semen ran down and dribbled off her chin, showering my penis and testicles and providing lubrication to my stroking hand. Gabby laughed again and that sent me over the edge. My first blast startled her and she yelped as she pulled her face out of the way. I felt hot droplets raining down and heard Gabby giggling as she mixed our seed like she was finger-painting. It took me a moment to realize she used his cock to spread our semen all around. She was a kid playing with toys.

Finally, Brandon collapsed to the blanket and Gabby followed. I sat up to make sure we were all still alone and then joined them. A gentle breeze stirred the pine trees and made tiny waves across the lake. We laid there a minute and then Gabby said: "Kiss me, Baby."

I rolled over, not thinking, and kissed her lips, which were coated with a sticky liquid. Brandon leaned over to watch. Gabby made the kiss last a long time.

We stayed naked for a while but eventually dressed and headed back.

Chapter 2

Martin and Jerry had the volume so loud I couldn't concentrate. I couldn't tell which game they were playing. Gabby and I had arrived on campus almost two weeks ago and immediately started on schoolwork. I'd seen her perhaps twenty minutes total since then. I'd launched my class president campaign early, as always, and arranged my study schedule and syllabi. Within three days I knew this year would be much harder. My class credits would transfer to Harvard, but I was earning every one of them. I sighed and left my room to ask Martin to lower the volume.

When I got back to my phone, I had a text message from Dakota: Brother, help! My linguistics professor is breaking my balls. I know you're busy too but I am out of options. Can you call? Give Gabby a hug from me.

My chest puffed with pride. When the chips were down, big, strong, manly Dakota asked me for help. I hit dial. I was swamped but I cannot turn a deaf ear to a friend, and Dakota seemed like a good person to owe me a favor. We talked for thirty minutes and I agreed to help. I established a schedule. I warned him to stick to it; falling behind would be disastrous. He swore to work hard and I believed him. We talked a bit about school but I told him nothing of Brandon.

I thought I heard voices out in the living room. Gabby was coming over tonight for the first time this semester and I couldn't wait to see her.

I asked Dakota about Oklahoma and he went on for a while about football and the NFL and how several scouts had approached him and his mom was looking for an agent. I congratulated him and we ended the call.

I stepped into the living room but saw no one. Martin's door was open a crack so I went to ask if someone had come to our front door.

I stepped in and found Gabby, dressed in sweats, casually sucking Jerry's cock while he tried to play a video game. Martin kept glancing over so he had no real advantage. She'd suck hard and then lick from balls to tip and then suck again, sometimes leaning back to get a good look at that tower of beef. I cleared my throat. They all looked up.

"Oh," Gabby said. "You're off the phone. Great."

She kissed the hole at the tip and slid off the bed and left poor Jerry looking like someone had stolen his kitten. She sauntered past and our eyes met.

“What?” she asked. “He worships me and he’s got an impressive cock. What was I supposed to do while I waited for you?”

I shook my head.

In my room, I told her about Dakota and her face lit up to hear his name. The lust in her eyes was obvious and I knew her gears were turning for some way to see him again. I explained his call and gave her a hug like I promised.

Gabby and I had seen surprisingly little of each other since we returned to school. Like me, she vowed to kickass this year and her classes were exceptionally difficult as well. We’ve had no time for tomfoolery.

She sat on my bed and I took my chair and we talked for hours, catching up on professors and subjects, giving advice and encouragement. Curfew arrived and I walked her back to her dorm. Jerry came along and fawned over her, hanging on every word and endlessly complimenting her beauty and brains. She gave me a look that said let the kid have his fun, but I know she loved every second of it. On the return trip, he asked all kinds of questions about how to get a girlfriend.

“Gabby is the happiest girlfriend I’ve ever seen. You treat her like she’s your princess. I doubt I’ll let other guys touch my woman but I want to give her as much of what she wants as I can. I’m not judging you at all, I just think I lack your strength.”

I put my arm around his shoulder. “You don’t know what you’re capable of until you find yourself facing a choice. I’ve done things I never thought I would.”

We were almost home when the golf cart pulled up. I rolled my eyes.

“After curfew,” Officer Gupta stated.

No shit.

“Yes, we just walked Gabby home to ensure her safety and now return to my dorm. Have a great night. Keep up the good work.”

“Seniors still need to follow the rules,” he snapped. He was eyeballing Jerry like he looked familiar but couldn’t place him. “But that’s especially true for underclassmen.”

I pointed at my building. “We’ll be indoors in thirty seconds.”

I tugged Jerry’s sleeve and stepped around Gupta.

“Haven’t seen Gabby in weeks,” Gupta said to my back.

"She's buried in schoolwork. Senior year."

"I've warned her a few times. You might want to remind her what I can do."

Jerry looked at me concerned, not understanding.

"I'll be sure to let her know."

We kept walking. The last thing Gabby needed right now was a pencil-dick rent-a-cop bothering her. I slipped my phone out and sent her a quick text: Gupta says hello.

Her reply was fast: Tell that asshole to fuck off.

I did not.

Chapter 3

If our first few weeks were tough, the next several weeks were brutal. I was under constant stress which often spiked into nearly unbearable tension. One day I started laughing in class and couldn't stop. I had to excuse myself. Every professor behaved as if theirs was the only responsibility I had. Yes, I won class president for the fourth year in a row, but this time the meetings with faculty ate up time I did not have. After a month, I regretted winning.

Gabby danced a few Saturday nights but started missing more and more. She sent video when she took guys to the VIP room but I was too busy to watch until days later. She was so disappointed.

Inevitably, she decided to quit. We were in the laundry room when she told me.

"Girls come and go all the time. I doubt they'll even miss me. I'll stop by to clean out my locker and tell my girlfriends goodbye and that will be that. I had a blast in that place but it's time. I'm thinking end of semester. Will you be able to come with me?"

I contemplated my grueling calendar of upcoming events and assignments. Her dates put us just before the Christmas break and I had a ton of projects due. No way could I go home for Christmas this year. I hoped Gabby would decide to stay at Exeter with me.

"Sorry, Love," I said. "I'm booked. Maybe take Anna? Is she still dancing?"

“Not really. School matters more. Besides, she has so much money saved she needs to hide it from her parents. She’s a finance major and started investing from the beginning and now those assets are paying off too. Did you know she’s a majority shareholder in a California tech company? They just started working with Apple and their stock took off. She’s wealthy.”

“That’s fantastic.”

“Yeah. She helps all the girls at the club manage their money, although a lot don’t listen or just party their earnings away.”

I had mixed feelings about her decision to leave. That club had taught Gabby many life lessons. She grew up within those black walls. She learned sales, negotiation, discretion, discipline, and how to stand up for herself. She explored her sexual predilections in there and figured out what she liked. On the other hand, I always worried for her safety and I always worried some Prince Charming would come in and take her away from me. One almost did.

We returned our attention to our dirty clothes.

More weeks passed and my stress grew. Winning class president had been a mistake. I was so confident in my abilities I never sat down and calculated my real schedule. If I had, I would have noticed huge timing issues.

At least my tutoring with Dakota was working well. He was more than the big lumbering jock I thought him to be. He asked excellent questions and respected my time and effort. He was always prepared and organized.

Chapter 4

More time passed and as hard as this is for me to admit, I began to fall behind. I couldn’t believe it. Me. I reevaluated my routines, looking for advantage anywhere, and eliminated every wasted minute. Gabby and I went days without seeing each other. A good morning text followed by a good night sixteen hours later and that was it. I wasn’t sleeping well. I was eating poorly. I’d reduced my social contact to the barest minimum.

Four weeks later I found myself sitting outside the campus doctor’s office. I checked the time so often the nurse asked if I was all right.

"Just busy. I have a lot to get done. Will he be long?"

"You kids take on too much," she said, shaking her head and ignoring my question. "Life is more than constant work. Remember to play."

Yeah, right, whatever.

At last, the doctor ushered me in and had a long talk with me. He asked plenty of questions about my school workload. He insisted I slow down and add relaxation time to my schedule. I laughed in his face. I ended up walking out of there with a handful of trial-sized psych meds. That night I slept soundly with an Ambien in my belly.

The next morning Gabby and I met for a rare breakfast and she noticed the difference right away.

"Hello Mister Chipper," she laughed. "You look well rested."

"I feel it too."

I told her about my visit to the doctor and she grew fidgety halfway through my story. Too close to home, I suspect. At the end, she grinned mischievously and asked if the doctor was handsome. I flicked orange juice at her. We planned lunch on Friday.

"I'll dance for the last time at Club Aura on Saturday," she said. "The manager has called me a dozen times. He's begging for a farewell performance. He says clients have been asking about me, which is flattering, right? I told him I'd do it."

"After that you're finished with the place?"

"Yup. Are you going to eat those waffles?"

Chapter 5

"Okay," Dakota said. "I think I have the phonological rules down. I feel good about the test coming up."

"Glad to hear it," I replied. "You've put the work in. I believe you'll do fine."

He wrapped a massive arm around my shoulders and shook me.

"You're a good friend," he said. He looked around my bedroom. "Where's Gabby these days? I don't see any of her sweatshirts lying around your room. Are you guys all right? I thought she'd be hanging with you."

“Too busy. Besides, Officer Gupta demanded time with her or he’d go to Dean Austin. He already partially ratted her out to her mother. If Gabby doesn’t keep him happy, he’ll escalate his threats. She’s so close to graduating, she just caves in.”

Dakota gave me a stern look. “Danny Gupta extorts sex from Gabby? Danny, one of the school security guards?”

I nodded. “Yes. You know him? Tell no one but he blackmails several girls on campus. He’s an asshole.”

Dakota got thoughtful. “Are we finished here today?”

“We are. Take your test and we’ll meet again next week.”

We packed his books and he gave me a hug. I walked him to the door.

I don’t know the details, but two days later Officer Gupta knocked on my door. Gabby was with me when I answered and we both spotted his black eye.

“Miss Simpson,” he began. “Please accept my deepest apologies for any inconvenience or discomfort I caused you. You won’t be hearing from me again.”

He turned stiffly and climbed in his golf cart. I closed the door and Gabby burst into laughter.

“What the hell?’ she asked. “Where did that come from?”

I laughed with her before falling quiet. “Dakota,” I said. “I may have let it slip what Gupta was doing. Dakota said nothing but I guess he took matters into his own hands.”

“I wish I could have seen that,” Gabby giggled. “I bet Gupta pissed himself when Dakota confronted him. Big brothers are handy.”

Big brothers. Yeah, right.

Chapter 6

The week raced by. I got too little sleep but at least the hours I did get were more restful. Gabby and I hardly spoke. Lunch Friday was sweet but hurried. Saturday evening, I sent a text wishing her good luck and hoped she didn’t shed too many tears.

She did not reply.

Late Saturday night I sent another asking how her night was going.

She did not reply.

Early Sunday morning, I checked in again and again Sunday noon.

Nothing.

I was worried.

I called her roommate, Tina, and asked for an update but she had not heard from Gabby either. Gabby and I have few friends but I called those I knew. No one had heard from my fiancée. I checked the bus schedule. I had a mountain of work due but my gut told me to go check the club. I sent Jasmine a text: I haven't heard from Gabby. Last night was supposed to be her final performance. Can you give me any updates?

I waited two hours before she replied: Gabby danced her ass off. I saw her just before closing take Daddy to the VIP room.

A chilled pool of dread filled my gut. Daddy was harmless, right? Everyone said so. He picked a girl to fawn over her until she moved on and then picked another.

Right?

Then why was my stomach churning?

"Fuck it," I said to my empty bedroom.

I started to change clothes for the bus. Out in the living room, I heard a hard knock on my front door. Martin answered and I heard muffled voices and then Martin's familiar knock on my bedroom door. He opened it, his face an anxious mess, and began an apology. Before he finished the second word, Gloria, Gabby's mother, pushed him aside and barged into my room.

Holy Hell.

"Where is she?" she said, her voice stern. "I've been trying to reach her all week. Where is my daughter?"

I opened my mouth to speak a well-crafted lie but Gloria started in again.

"And don't tell me she's at Forever Twenty-One, Chuck. I know that's a lie. I got a very disturbing phone call from Officer Gupta on Monday and he said Gabby's been stripping. Stripping! Is that true?"

Well, shit. Officer Gupta fully ratted Gabby out to mom.

Do you know how to handle a furious mother? I don't. I've never even seen my mother angry. I fumbled for words while Gloria crossed her arms and burned a scathing look through my brain. She saw something in my expression which decided it for her.

"SON OF A BITCH!" she yelled. "This is why I did not want her dating you. You cannot keep her safe."

Martin slinked back to his room. Thanks, Bro.

"You are not man enough to control her," she continued. "The girl knows nothing of the world. She's innocent and naïve and she needs someone stronger than you to lead her to correct choices. I did not shelter her all these years so you can just let her run free."

The more she said, the angrier I grew. Her talk of controlling and leading fed my exasperation over her sick game with Brandon. I bit my tongue, I swear I did, but she went on and on, blaming me for failing to restrain and direct Gabby. Finally, I'd heard enough.

"Shut the fuck up, Gloria," I snapped.

Her mouth dropped open, but no sound came out. She could not comprehend what she'd just heard.

"Gabby is her own woman," I continued. "She knows exactly what she loves and what she wants. Despite your efforts to control and restrict her, she's forged ahead, bravely, and found out who she is and what she wants. If you're not careful over the next year, you'll lose her forever. We know about your plot with Brandon, you fucking bitch, and the only reason Gabby still speaks to you is because I told her not to burn that bridge."

Gloria was dumbfounded, speechless.

I was shaking. My legs trembled. I leaned casually against the wall to hide it.

"Yes, Gabby sometimes stripped on weekends," I said. "She wanted to, so she did. Last night was her final performance but she hasn't returned and I'm worried. I was on my way to find her when you barged in."

I crossed my arms and filled my lungs.

"You can help or you can get out of my way."

I expected a fight. Gloria is no pushover. She'd gotten her feet back under her but her towering rage was gone. I'd knocked it out of her by giving her something to think about. She looked at me with new eyes. Her voice was calm when she spoke: "Where does she dance?"

Her self-control impressed me, I admit that.

"Club Aura, in Portland, Maine."

She was ready. "Let's go get my daughter."

She had a rental car, a red Jaguar, waiting in the school lot. Gloria had us there in forty-five minutes, but I left permanent fingermarks in the hand-crafted leather seats. Jesus, that woman can drive.

The club was open but Sunday afternoon is a shitty shift so only a handful of dancers worked the stages, doing their best to get money from precious few customers. I recognized no one.

Gloria's face was frozen in perpetual distaste. She could not believe I allowed Gabby in this place. I was ready to tell her off again but she kept her mouth shut and her opinion to herself.

The manager wasn't in and wouldn't be for hours. I was stumped.

"Dead end." Gloria said. "What now?"

I waved her to silence, thinking. I texted Jasmine and then Anna too, adding Gabby was last seen with Daddy. Anna replied fast: Four Seasons by the wharf. Daddy always reserved the palace suite for Gabby. Top floor.

I thanked her.

I had a new problem to face. Daddy's involvement meant exposing another secret Gabby had kept from her mother, and this was a big one. I could think of no way around it so I dove in to get it over with.

"Gloria," I began, "Gabby is a beautiful girl and had many fans, but one especially loved her. His name is Arnold, but everyone calls him Daddy. He's about seventy, wealthy, and odd but harmless. Gabby was last seen with him."

"Call him. Find out what's going on. Do you have his number?"

"No." I held my breath. "But I know where he probably took her."

She eyed me curiously. "Then let's go. What's the problem?"

"There's a chance Gabby is with him because she wants to be."

"With him?" Her eyes narrowed. "Do you mean sexually?"

"Yes."

"You're saying Gabby may have left the club with one of her customers. To have sex with him."

"Yes."

"You just said you probably know where she is. I'm guessing that means she's gone with him before and he always takes her to the same place."

“Yes.”

“He pays her for this?”

Shit. “Yes.”

“Goddamn it,” she growled. “My daughter has sex for money? What the fuck is wrong with you kids? How could you allow this?”

She crossed her arms and stared at the ground.

“What kind of fucking name is Daddy?”

“His full nickname is Daddy Long Legs. I think it’s more because he’s tall but his torso is normal.”

I stopped talking. She wasn’t listening.

Her right foot started tapping. She was steamed, but honestly, I’d expected a stronger reaction. I wondered if she was just in shock but that felt wrong. Something was off. Gloria had just discovered her daughter was a whore. Why wasn’t she wailing and crying and trying to scratch my eyes out? She opened her purse and started to dig.

Then it hit me: Gloria was acting guilty. She couldn’t be enraged because she’d done something similar while in college, maybe even prostitution like Gabby.

I watched her face while she searched for her car keys. I’ve mentioned she’s a good-looking woman and even under stress like this she still looked good. She had a touch of gray at the temples and small wrinkles around her eyes but those signs of age only made her more attractive. Her body was fit; tennis four times a week, swimming three, but, like Gabby, she’d held on to her big tits despite the low body fat. She wore a tight green business dress just past the knees and a small, light jacket which matched. Her round butt stretched the fabric nicely.

I tried to imagine what disreputable acts she’d performed and kept picturing her accepting money for sex. It perfectly matched her reaction to the news about Gabby, and if mom fucked her way through college, that explained Gabby’s sex drive.

Chapter 7

“All right Mister Big-Brain,” she said. “What’s your plan? We can’t call the police. Gabby would be ruined. The scandal would be too great. Gabriela could be the first female president but not if this gets out.”

We were on Commercial Street following the curve of the harbor. We'd ridden in silence for a while and I was more convinced than ever; Gloria had secrets, and not just her affair with Brandon. Mommy had a past.

I studied her face as she drove and tried to understand what would motivate a woman to hatch a plot like she did. I can give her the benefit of the doubt; she wants what's best for Gabby. But how fucked up does your thinking need to be to manipulate a young man using sex so he tries to fuck your daughter away from her fiancé? That's crazy. I suspect Gloria just wanted to fuck Brandon so the rational made more sense. She had no idea how rock-solid Gabby and I were. I decided she needed to.

"Mrs. Simpson," I said. "You need to understand something."

She glanced at me.

"Gabby and I are getting married."

"I know that already."

"No, you don't. You've grossly underestimated the situation. Gabby and I have been through a lot. We're golden. You know it as a fact but you haven't embraced it as an understanding. Short of killing one of us, the marriage is going to happen. I am your son in law. You need to change the way you see me."

Her shoulders sagged a little as she stared out the windshield. I decided to hit her with another one while her guard was down, almost certain I was right.

"I also know you turned tricks in college."

Her eyes got big. The moment of rebuttal came and went. Boom.

"How could you possibly know that?" she asked.

"I see it behind your eyes. I see it in the way you accepted what Gabby had done. Like your daughter doing something wild was inevitable."

Her old self came back for a moment and she looked ready to blast me with indignation. I held my ground, meeting her stare. She backed down.

"No one can ever know," she said.

I nodded with understanding but thought; I've got you, bitch.

"Gabby said you were smart."

That's all I got. She was finished with the conversation. I needed to formulate a strategy for the hotel, so I let it go.

“What do we do once we get there?” she said.

“The plan will take shape once I see the layout of the hotel. Most have just a few suites on the top floor so searching will be easier. Maybe we can snag a food cart and act like room service, or maybe we can steal a maid uniform and act like house cleaning. I don’t know. First we need to discover which room she’s in.”

Gloria gave the car to valet and we ambled for the elevator like we belonged. Security would have stopped a goofy kid on his own but no one was going to confront Mrs. Simpson. The woman projected power and authority. In Vegas, we would encounter another layer of security at the top floor but Portland, Maine, ain’t Vegas. The elevator opened and we faced one long hall with four doors evenly spaced. One had dishes sitting just outside the door. Gloria and I shared a look.

“I have an idea,” I said. “You stand between those two doors and I’ll stand between these two doors and I’ll call Gabby’s phone. With luck, we will hear her ring.”

She gave me a smile. I watched her bubble butt as she walked away.

Once I’d taken my position I turned off the volume on my phone and hit redial. For a long moment, I heard nothing. Then, faintly, from the door with the dishes I heard Sympathy for the Devil, by the Rolling Stones. Gloria heard it too and looked at me.

“Gabby loves that song,” she whispered.

My heart was racing. I had no idea how to get inside but beyond that, I had no idea what we might find. Would Gloria flip out if we caught them having sex? What awaited us on the other side of that door?

I knocked several times, slow and strong. After a moment, I did it again.

“What do you want?” a muffled voice asked.

“Room service,” I said, smiling at the eyehole. “There are dishes missing from this order. I’m wondering if you still have them. I hate to have to charge your room.”

Okay, it was a shitty lie. I expected him to tell me to fuck off and leave him alone. He was filthy rich so he might tell me fine, add the dishes to my bill. I was running a hundred better lies through my head when the door opened. Daddy looked right at me. He wore a red silk robe embroidered with a gold dragon and loosely tied at the waist. Gray chest hair poked out.

“What are you talking about?” he said. “That’s all of them.”

I set his eyes on Gloria. I saw my opening and I took it, lunging for the open door. I’m an idiot with a terrible plan.

I never saw the pistol in his hand. He shoved me back and aimed it at my face.

“Come inside,” he said. “You too, lady.”

Gloria looked terrified. I’m sure I did too. I can tell you barrels look much larger when you’re staring down them. This one was big enough to fit a bowling ball. He stepped aside and waved us in, closing the door and locking us in. A short hallway led to a large main room filled with art and beautiful white leather furniture. He motioned for us to keep walking and we left that room and trudged down another hallway.

Double doors opened onto a massive bedroom with a huge television at one end. More white leather furniture filled the empty spaces. An archway led to a sprawling bathroom with an enormous sunken Roman tub. Against the wall opposite the television was a gargantuan bed.

Gabby lay in the center, nude and apparently waking from a nap. Gloria’s eyes darted from her daughter’s bald pussy to her dual pierced nipples and back down to her bald pussy. I wondered what went through her mind. Gabby was too dazed to understand yet what was happening.

“I recognize you from the club,” he said. “Last year. You watched Gabby but tipped Jasmine.”

His eyes dropped to my engagement ring.

“So you’re the guy Gabby’s in love with.”

He waved the gun at me, thought about making a comment, changed his mind.

“Take a seat, both of you.”

He kept the gun on me.

Gloria and I seated ourselves. Gabby was coming around but her mind could not accept she was looking at her mother. She pulled a blanket to hide her nakedness.

“Mom? What are you doing here?”

Daddy whipped his head around to look at Gloria.

“Truly?” he beamed. “That’s unfortunate.”

He was a weird man. His expressions seemed too intense and changed too rapidly, his voice pitched too high, his body language too awkward. Everything about him said eccentric. He had a gun but somehow seemed unthreatening.

He was looking Gloria up and down, his mind working. Gabby sat up in bed.

“Put those blankets down,” Daddy told her. “I told you nude at all times.”

Gabby hesitated then did as he ordered. Her expression was a mix of irritation and exasperation, but precious little fear. I was forgotten. Daddy eyed mom and daughter and I saw his peculiar gears turning. Crazy fucker.

He moved the gun to mom.

“Stand and take off your clothes,” he ordered.

Gloria did not budge. He raised the gun to her face and said it again and weird voice or not, that was scary. Gloria looked terrified but slowly rose to her feet. She unbuckled her shoes and tossed them aside. She hung the small jacket on the back of the chair and drew down the zipper on the back of her dress. Her eyes jumped from Gabby to me to Daddy. Gabby couldn’t stand to see what was happening and looked down at her hands.

I kept my eyes on her mother.

“I know after last night you’ll never speak to me again,” Daddy said to Gabby. “That’s why I made certain our time together was something special.”

Gloria kept going. She stepped out of her dress. She wore matching emerald bra and panties and half her tits spilled out of the demicups. She stopped, reluctant to expose herself in front of us, and Daddy waved the gun at her again. She reached behind and flipped the clasp.

I held my face blank but my heart raced. How utterly humiliating for Gloria. I’m embarrassed to admit part of me was gleeful about her misery. She deserved it for her treatment of me. Also, I’m perverted enough I wanted to see her big tits and Goddamn, her tits were nice. That emerald bra slipped down her arms and I fastened my gaze to her lovely breasts.

Gabby still averted her eyes and now Gloria looked at the floor. I was free to stare. Her fingers found the elastic waistband of her panties and those slid down her legs and damned if mother wasn't as smooth and hairless as daughter.

Naked, she found her courage. She stood straight, looking Daddy in the eyes.

"Get on the bed," he commanded.

Where was he headed with all this?

Gloria climbed on the bed and I heard Gabby whisper how sorry she was. Gloria took her daughter's hand and held it.

Daddy turned to me. "You see this gun?" he asked, aiming it at me again.

"Yes."

"Good. Do nothing stupid."

He stepped to the foot of the bed.

"Open my robe, Gabby," he said.

"Daddy," my fiancée whined. "Don't do this. Not after last night. What more do you want?"

Her words fell on deaf ears. Daddy was hurt. He clearly felt betrayed and forgotten. His obsession with Gabby might be coming to an end but he would end it on his terms. I suspected he'd force my beloved to suck his cock in front of her mother, disgracing both.

Gabby moved slowly. She pinched the sash and tugged and his robe parted, revealing a fit older-man's body and that impressive cock. Gabby looked directly at it. She couldn't help herself. A quick glance showed mom looking too.

"I've had sisters suck it together," Daddy said. "But never mother and daughter."

Holy shit.

"Gabby, suck my cock with your mother. Do a good job and I'll let you all leave."

Defeated, ready for her nightmare to end, Gabby did not hesitate. What did he do to her last night? That cock had been in her mouth so many times in the last twenty-four hours, what's one more?

Gloria looked at the man and then her daughter and then, briefly, at me. I tried to convey the proper amount of compassion and empathy for this terrible situation, but the truth was I couldn't wait to see it. Call me a sick pervert if you must but I felt like Gloria only got what she deserved. A nice dose of humiliation would do her good, and even if it didn't, it would do me some good for her to get it.

Daddy had clearly done this sort of thing before. He didn't act angry or threatening, he didn't wave the gun around like a madman. He just gave orders and expected they'd be followed. He stood at the edge of the bed and thrust his semi erect cock forward, aiming between them. Gloria waited several heartbeats and then, slow and resistant, defiance burning in her eyes, lowered her face next to Gabby's.

"Swear," Gloria said. "Swear you'll let us go."

Daddy chuckled. "You can't make demands."

"I want to hear you say it," she insisted. "Look me in the eyes."

Daddy assessed Gloria and concede. "Please me and I'll let you all go."

Whatever she saw seemed to be enough. My fiancée already had his cock in her mouth so when mom got close, Gabby pushed him out with her tongue and passed his plump head over. Gloria gazed at the large pink head approaching.

The sight of Gabby aiming a fat cock at her mother's face will stay with me forever. Gloria slightly opened her mouth, then wider as she realized the thickness of the cock coming at her. Her eyes got big too. The head, already slick with Gabby's spit, slipped into mom's mouth. Daddy groaned and I bit my tongue. Gloria closed her perfect lips around the crown and sucked.

He issued no further instructions. These girls knew what to do. He leaned back for a better view and enjoyed the spectacle of related mouths worshipping his meat. He stiffened and thickened and rose to just above horizontal.

Now the girls truly got to work. Gabby swooped under and sucked his balls, leaving mom to suffer the fat cock pumping her mouth. She gagged often, struggling to handle the beast, and I noticed Gabby frequently glancing. It took me ten minutes or more to realize Gabby felt like me, only more so; fuck this bitch, let her learn a lesson. My betrothed was furious with her mother and this bizarre situation gave her the stage to act on it. Yes, sharing a man with your mother is weird, but Gabby saw this as an opportunity to disgrace her manipulative mom, and that mattered more. I saw the anger in her eyes.

Gabby wove her fingers into Gloria's hair and forced Daddy's cock down the woman's throat. Gloria panicked.

"Just let it happen," Gabby said.

Ever the pragmatist, Gloria bought in. Their eyes met and Gloria relaxed. Daddy's big dick sank another inch.

What a sight. I saw Gloria open her throat and Daddy's hefty shaft slide another inch. Gabby played with the man's balls, coaxing precum up for her mother to swallow. Gloria accepted her fate, and a surge of decadent joy raced through me.

I should have been rock hard, but I wasn't.

Daddy ran his hands over four fine breasts, lifting and kneading, pinching nipples and playing with silver hoops.

"She got those pierced for me," he told Gloria.

The older woman stared directly at her daughter's breasts. Daddy flipped Gloria on her back with her head hanging over the edge of the bed and then placed a knee on each side. He pulled Gabby on top of her mother, missionary, and waited for them to look at each other. He slipped his cock between their faces, rubbing the length next to their nose and across their mouths. Gloria licked the bottom while Gabby licked along the top. I had to fight back a groan. Holy shit, what a sight. Four big tits mashed and a double mother-daughter cock suck.

He pumped slowly, allowing the girls to worship each inch, but eventually pulled back enough to send it down Gloria's throat. His scrotum rested on her face, covering her nose. He withdrew the saliva covered spear and quickly inserted it into Gabby's waiting mouth, pushing almost balls deep there too.

Four firm orbs mashed and rolled, sliding and rubbing. Gabby's silver hoops caught Gloria's nipples and teased them until they stood erect, big as pencil erasers.

Daddy left them stacked and circled around. He crawled between both sets of legs and I tried to imagine what he saw; mother and daughter slits piled on top of each other, maybe just a few inches apart. He did next what every man would do and pushed his rigid cock into Gabby's pussy. He fucked her only a minute, then pulled out and pushed his slick cock, coated now with a daughter's excitement, into mom.

Fucking intense. I shivered.

Gloria groaned in pleasure at the enormous penetration.

My brain, being the analytical annoyance that it is, considered this was technically the second cock these two females had shared.

Too bad Brandon wasn't here.

Daddy worked his fat schlong in and out of mom before burying the monster in Gabby once more. This went on for a while. I noted Gloria tried to resist making sounds of pleasure, but failed. She grew increasingly wet, to her undying shame, and we all heard it. When Gabby got close to an orgasm Daddy kept pumping to get her there. Gloria fought hard, I'll give her credit, but the body responds, and this macabre scene played havoc with her mind. Daddy's fat prick could not be denied and Gloria climaxed right in her smirking daughter's face. Wild.

After that, things got messy. Daddy moved the girls where he wanted them, arranging their bodies to suit his pleasure, and fucked whichever girl he desired. His cock slipped in and out of them with ease. Breasts got smashed against faces, pussies got dangerously close to mouths. I can't say with certainty that nothing happened between them because I couldn't see that far into the tangle of arms and legs and long hair, but I heard sudden, inexplicable moans and gasps that seemed oddly timed.

I never felt so dirty and so turned on.

He was fucking Gloria while eating Gabby when Gloria had her next orgasm, and it was monumental. Her voice climbed as this beautiful, long, drawn out note before breaking. The sound affected us all. Daddy slowed while Gloria recovered but then he was hammering her hole again. His fat cock soon made her cum again and this time she held his hips and assisted him in her fucking.

Sorry, Mister Simpson, your wife can't be trusted.

Their bodies writhed and churned, a sweaty, glistening mess. They had opportunity to snatch the gun from him but never tried. I'm sure just the presence of the thing had an impact but honestly, they seemed so caught up in the big-cock sex they forgot this was all coerced. They seemed to forget their relationship too. They could have been two friends out partying with a hung stud.

Gabby made sure her mom took the brunt of his lust and even forced her to deep throat him, holding her head firmly. When he was ready to cum, Gabby pulled mom onto all fours and tugged Daddy by his dick, aiming him at her mother's dripping slit. She and Daddy made eye-contact and she mouthed the words, fuck like a dog. He held Gloria's hips and pushed his cock deep, pounding her until he spewed hot jizz into her married womb. Gloria looked deeply satisfied but I say Gabby won that round.

The girls at the club had described him as a hot stud and that night I saw why. No doubt he'd already taken Gabby the night before but as I sat in that chair I watched him take both ladies again. Towards the end it was Gloria who initiated the sex, enticing him to mount her, sucking his soft cock to get him hard. The sky was beginning to lighten when he finally ran out of gas. The three of them lay sprawled across the bed. Gabby, exhausted, could not keep her eyes open. Gloria faded too. Daddy fought hard to stay awake but the girls had worn him out. Ultimately, my youth triumphed over his age. His eyes closed and his hand relaxed and I leaned over and slipped the gun away, pointing it at him as I stood.

I've fired guns with my dad and knew something was wrong immediately. I held the pistol up in the light and discovered the word "replica" stamped in the barrel.

The motherfucker bluffed us.

I gathered clothing and carefully shook the girls awake. I didn't mention the gun. I let them assume he still had it and waking him would be a bad thing. I helped them silently dress and then held the door as we stepped into the hallway.

Unbelievable.

We spoke little as we made our way to the lobby and then valet. Minutes later we were headed down the coast to Philips Exeter. The awkward tension in car was thick. I had to force the smile from my face. What a crazy night.

Chapter 8

Gabby broke the tense silence: "What the ever-loving fuck, Mom?"

Gloria held the steering wheel with both hands, knuckles white. She stared out the windshield with an intensity that seemed an effort to erase the last few hours through force of will.

Her car had two seats only so Gabby sat on my lap, her long hair in my face. I studied Gloria and I can tell you, I saw her in a whole new light. Now I knew what was under that clothing and Goddamn, it was nice. I felt a little pervy for enjoying the mother-daughter thing but that was for them to work out. For me it was pure voyeuristic bliss. Those images would fuel my masturbation fantasies for years. I'd never tell Gabby but that's the truth.

"Why are you here, Mother?" Gabby asked.

"Officer Gupta told me—"

"Gupta?" Gabby interrupted. "Great! Yet another predator you sent after me, just like Brandon. Did you know Gupta threatened to go to the dean? Did you know that piece of shit has been using me? What the fuck's wrong with you, Mom? Why can't you just be normal?"

"Gabriela, my intuition told me you were headed down the wrong path."

"It's my path!" Gabby yelled. "I can do whatever the fuck I want. Get that through your thick skull."

Icy silence settled on us for many long miles.

"Look," Gabby said at last. "I am marrying Chuck. Get on board with that or get the fuck out of my life. We have something magical. You don't need to understand or approve. This is me, these are my choices. You raised me to an adult and I am. I'll take it from here."

I watched Gloria wrestle with Gabby's words stacked on top of recent events. For a moment, I thought she might start to cry. She chewed her lip just like Gabby and I remembered those lips wrapped around Arnold's purple knob. What a night.

Gloria did not like it one bit.

Eventually, the ice melted. Gloria argued it's natural for a mother to worry about her child and Gabby told her it was time to let her go. They agreed to talk about Brandon and how wrong that was, and I knew they meant when I wasn't around. I wondered if that talk would include anything about tonight or if these two would just bury the memory and try to forget.

Gloria looked at me.

"I must admit, Honey, my opinion of Chuck has risen in the last few hours. He's a lion disguised as a mouse."

I wasn't sure how to take that so I just said thanks.

We picked up Chinese on the way to my dorm. Through all of this they'd avoided speaking of what happened with Daddy, which I found impressive. Denial might be the most powerful human emotion. It is certainly the most frequently used. We sat at my dining table and talked like regular human beings. Later, Gloria and Gabby slept in my bed and I slept on the couch.

They went shopping without me on Sunday and I figured they needed some private time so I popped a Xanax and an Adderall and got to work, trying to make up for all the time lost. Scenes from last night drifted through my mind every few minutes; Gabby pumping her mother's mouth on Daddy's cock, Daddy fucking Gabby while Gloria sucked his balls. The list went on and on.

If I didn't have such a mountain of work in front of me, I'd jack off.

But I did have too much to do, so I dug in and got it done. When Gabby got home she said her mother was on a plane for home.

"Now give me a kiss, my knight in shining armor."

We made out for a while.

"I never thought Daddy was capable of something like that," she said later, sitting on my lap. "He was the reason the club manager begged me to do one more night. Daddy paid him a ton to get me back. As soon as I emptied my locker and said my goodbyes, Daddy followed me outside and pulled the gun. I did not see that coming."

I retrieved the gun from my desk drawer and placed it on the table. Her eyes went straight to the barrel.

"It was a fucking fake?"

"Yup."

She shook her head. Then she laughed. "Actually, that makes way more sense. He has a twisted sense of humor. It was one of the things I loved about him."

"Are we free of him? Won't he just come after you again once he wakes?"

"He knows little of my private life. I spent a lot of time with him but I was sure to keep my two worlds separate. He's knows I'm a student but that's all. He has vast resources and would find me in time, but by then we'll have graduated and moved on. If I must, I can threaten him with that cocaine video Jasmine sent you. That would scare him off. I don't believe that will be necessary, though. He always moves on to the next girl. I think once he collects himself, he will again."

Gabby had feelings for the guy. I remembered she said he once proposed. Then I remembered he once got her pregnant. My penis stayed soft but Gabby felt my temperature rise.

"I'm guessing last night was quite a show?" she said. "Were you disgusted?"

"God, no. I'm more perverse than I believed. Mother and daughter sex? Sign me up. I noticed you punished her with Daddy's dick. Did you guys talk today?"

"Some. My mom wants him arrested and put in jail but admits that would make what happened public. I can imagine the headlines. We agreed to forget it, put it behind us, and move on. Mostly we shopped and talked about my future. She promised to include you."

I got the sense much more was discussed but they wanted that conversation kept private, and that was fine with me.

"We'll be getting married in just a few months," I said.

She smiled broadly. Her eyes got watery.

"Baby," she said. "I can't wait. My mom begged to help plan the wedding so I told her go ahead. One less thing for us to do. Give me the names of those you want to invite and I'll add it to my list and send the whole thing to her."

She left my lap and sat on my bed.

"Where should we honeymoon?"

An idea popped into my head. "Hawaii? Quick, easy, beautiful."

"I like that. I'll tell mom to add that to her plans."

What a relief. The last thing I needed was more work.

Chapter 9

School remained brutal right up to Christmas break. As the end of the first semester approached, I began to realize that Gabby would head home without me. I wanted her to stay on campus but why? I'd be too busy to spend time with her and our friends will have flown home. She'd sit around and wait for me.

I had one special reason to keep her here and that was to keep her away from Brandon. Given our history with him, that reason was weak. When the moment arrived for me to ask her to stay, I said nothing.

Gabby called an Uber and left for the airport. We hugged and kissed like crazy before her departure and swore we'd miss each other terribly. I knew I'd miss her more than she missed me. I heard Brandon laughing somewhere in my mind. Perhaps it was my insecurities flaring, but I swear I saw a look of anticipation in her eyes.

At least Martin stayed on campus. I hung out with him in the late evenings, studying and playing the occasional game to give my brain a rest.

Gabby called when her plane landed and then again before bed that first night. I asked what her plans were for tomorrow.

"Mom's taking me shopping all day. Probably hangout with friends at night."

"Friends?" I asked, dreading the response. "Like whom?"

She was ready, knowing I was silently dying inside: "Carmen. Jackie. Brandon."

Fuck fuck fuck fuck fuck.

"Brandon?"

"Oh yeah."

Awkward silence. Never have so few words communicated so much; Oh yeah. I knew, and she knew I knew. She waited for my protest and when none came, she moved on to the next subject.

Why does that guy still get to me so much? Gabby and I had agreed she never again does something behind my back, yet she'd said made no mention of amorous intent with him. That means she either plans on meeting him as just a friend, or plans on waiting until moments before something happens and informing me then.

"Will something happen?" I heard myself ask.

"Oh," her sweet voice chirped. "I thought with him that was a given."

All my dread confirmed. My heart thumped. My breathing tightened.

"You plan on sex?"

She was quiet for a heartbeat and then hit me with those big brown eyes.

“Yes, Baby.”

I detected a strain of hopeful expectation in her voice. She was hoping I’d give a green light. In fact, now that I thought about it, her voice carried a vibration of excitement for tomorrow. She was already thinking about fucking him, and fucking him without me there. I’m sure the sex is different when I’m present. More theater, more show, less intimacy. With me three thousand miles away, they’d have the bed all to themselves. No hurry, no timetable, no audience.

Them fucking I can handle. Them making love freaked me out.

So, I told her no, right?

Nope. This kink does not work like that.

Through a constricted throat I heard myself say: “No problem.”

I felt her excitement through the phone.

“I’ll send pictures...video. Like we agreed. Okay?”

I was dying inside. Terrified yet growing more aroused by the second. Fear and excitement. The nature of my fetish inflames both. They feed off each other. The more emotionally intense the situation, the more risk, the greater my exhilaration.

“Let’s do something different this time,” I said, trying to sound cool. “Leave me totally out of the picture the whole time you’re with him.”

There’s a maturity in the delay before you reach for something you want. I know she wanted to leap at that offer but to her credit, she maintained her poise. Her voice was calm.

“Are you sure, Chuck?”

No! I’m not! Don’t listen to me!

“Sounds hot, don’t you think?” I asked.

What the fuck was I doing?

“It sounds incredible,” she exhaled. “Honestly, I can’t believe I’m hearing this.”

Then, quickly, before I could change my mind.

“All right, Baby. I’ll leave you out. This will be intense for us both.”

We talked a bit more about everyday stuff and then ended our call. It was late on the east coast. I crawled into bed and turned out the light. After a few minutes of fretfulness nervousness, I reached for my penis.

I pictured Gabby and Brandon in bed. He’d take him sweet time, fucking her slow and deep. He had her for two weeks. She was his. How many times would he fill her with cum before she came back to me? I remembered his massive, dripping loads. Gabby was mere months from becoming my wife yet Brandon would be flooding her with sperm.

I jerked my dick a long time but never got fully hard. Too much stress from school, I figured. I managed to cum anyway but weakly. Still, something is better than nothing. The image of Brandon blasting away inside my wife-to-be finally put me over the edge.

The next day I was useless. Gabby and I spoke in the morning and she sent a text around seven my time, sharing her day. At eight she texted again, informing me Brandon was on his way and she'd be silent until they parted company.

I fired off half a dozen in rapid succession, asking for details like where they were going, what she was wearing, and where she'd be spending the night, but all went unanswered.

I could only assume Brandon had arrived.

I was in a living Hell. I paced my dorm room. I tried to watch a movie. I tried to get work done. Pure, bone-twisting agony. Nothing helped. Within an hour I knew they were fucking. God, I hate that guy. He's had Gabby before but this time felt completely different. I retired to my bedroom and locked the door and stripped. I jerked my cock continuously for two hours. I never managed a firm erection but the molten angst I suffered was all I needed to orgasm. My balls burned and ached. I held a pillow over my face, tortured by the relentless fantasies of my fiancée and my rival rolling around the bed, coupling like newlyweds, breeding like rabbits. How much of him did she already carry?

I glanced at the clock. Three hours. With his little trick of the first orgasm leaving him hard, he'd probably fucked her four times by now. I bet his cock was in her mouth at that very moment. She was probably working on it, doing her best to make him erect because she wanted more.

What had I done? Why did I agree to this? Idiot.

I took a hot shower and checked my phone. Nothing.

My balls felt ready to explode again. I longed for her to send me something, anything. I wanted her to see past my ego. I wanted her to understand I was being foolish and save me from myself. She had to believe I was desperate to know what was happening.

But, she sent nothing.

I masturbated three more times. Nothing came out for my last climax. My balls were empty but I still burned with desire. I fell asleep at two in the morning lying on top of my covers. I woke at eight in the same spot and immediately checked my phone.

Nothing.

She'd warned me no message until she left his company, which meant she was still with him. I died a thousand deaths. I had to get out of my dorm. I forced a bowl of Raisin Bran down my throat and hit the shower. I stuffed my backpack and headed for the library. I'd been reading about two hours when my phone chimed. I snatched it up and punched the keys.

WOW, was all she'd typed.

I fired off one text after another, demanding details, craving information. This was day two of the fourteen she'd be gone and I was already broken.

At breakfast with mom and dad, she replied. More later.

Goddamn it!

I sat fuming until I realized there was nothing to do and I'd best get back to work. Hours later, around nine, I got a call. After we exchanged pleasantries I got down to it.

"You fucked him?" I asked.

"No," she giggled.

My heart jumped for joy. How was this possible? She'd been fucking with me because she knew I'd go crazy.

"I didn't fuck him," she said. "He fucked me. God! He was an animal. We had a hotel room all to ourselves. Zero distractions, zero interruptions. He was savage. He came in me five times and you should have seen his face when I aimed him at my asshole and lifted my legs. He came in there too. He was a monster, Baby."

I had been walking across the quad and dropped to the grass right there.

"I lost track of my orgasms," she continued, dreamy. "Some carried over into another. What a night. We got less than an hour sleep. I'm seeing him again later. Let's see what he does for an encore. Remind me to pick up a morning after pill. I'm so horny I think I might be ovulating."

Knife to the gut. Horse kick to the head.

"I'm at my parents now," she went on. "Sorry I can't talk longer. How are you? How was your night? Any regrets letting me do this without you? How do you feel?"

I took a deep breath. "Frightened. Intimidated."

"That makes sense."

I admit I was hoping for more reassurance than that, but Gabby wasn't having it. If I was going to tell her she can do things, she was going to do them. My emotions were a hurricane so I decided to avoid the whole mess.

"What are you doing tonight?"

"We have a dinner date at Posy's, that fancy restaurant on the west side. After that I'm dragging him back to the same hotel room for more."

The groan slipped out before I could stop it. I reminded myself she still sought to break me. A chance existed none of this was true. This could be part of her vow to drive me so insane I forget my promise and have sex with her before our wedding night. She's that competitive.

"I love torturing you, Baby," she said. "Not sending pictures is worse than sending them. How many times did you jack off last night?"

"A couple. Three. Maybe four."

"Four? Wow. Will you try again tonight or do you need more recovery time?"

"You know I'll jerk again tonight. It drives me crazy when you fuck Brandon."

"It drives me crazy when I fuck Brandon. I feel myself falling in love with his cock. Oops! I hear him at the door, Baby. I should go. I'll send a text when I'm alone again."

We said I love you and hung up.

Fuck.

FUCK.

Tonight would be far worse than last night. A date first? They were going out to dinner? Fucking candle light? Fucking white linen tablecloths? I bet Gabby looked spectacular. I was sure she dressed up for him. Probably a long, beautiful dress, hair, makeup. I was sure she looked breathtaking.

Sweet Jesus, my heart couldn't take it. I hurried home. Martin said hello as I zipped past him on the way to my room. I locked the door and grabbed my pillow and screamed into it. I saw Brandon's huge erection in my mind, curving up like a massive, fleshy thorn, ready and waiting to ravage my bride-to-be.

Once again my penis never got hard but that didn't stop me. I jacked off so many times I was quickly out of semen but kept trying anyway. All night I was tormented and tortured. I stroked myself into oblivion.

Chapter 10

Every.

Fucking.

Day.

Sometimes Gabby met him for a quick blowjob. Sometimes Gabby met him for lunch or dinner and no sex at all. Sometimes Gabby met him and disappeared all night and I knew his big cannon was firing round after round deep into her womb.

I couldn't keep up. I masturbated multiple times every day but I still had projects due and meetings to attend with school staff. No matter where I was or what I was doing, at least half my mind was on Gabby and Brandon. Her words from days ago haunted me: I might be ovulating.

Daddy was bad enough but I would fucking die if Brandon got her pregnant. That would be the worst. From her point of view, this was all great fun. She never suffers the angst or soul-eating doubts I do.

Finishing my work at an acceptable high standard took all my resolve. Each day I climbed Mount Everest and each night I jerked off to scant details of her time with him. The days passed painfully slow, but they did pass. When we spoke during the day she usually had family or friends near and said nothing of Brandon. Only at night, when she knew I would be headed to bed, would she call and whisper her sordid details.

At last, the date of her return arrived. I met her at the airport and she looked devastating. I have no idea what my face did when I saw her but she bubbled with laughter and kissed me wildly, as happy as I can remember seeing her. She wore a thin silky blouse which clung to the curves of her tits and black leather pants. Her hair and makeup looked professionally done and honestly, she could have been a model visiting from California. She was Hollywood Hot.

“Want to take me to bed?” she breathed hotly. “And fuck my brains out? I’ve been an exceedingly naughty girl.”

I admit I considered it. Strongly. Why the fuck was I still waiting?

Because I’m a stubborn motherfucker, that’s why. A man is only as good as his word and besides, I loathed the idea of Gabby winning. When we finished kissing we drove to Lowry’s for steak dinner. Gabby turned heads wherever we went. I mentioned it to her and she grinned.

“I’ve noticed and others have too. It started recently. Mom says I exude confidence now and everyone sees it. She added I’m sexy now too, although she was less happy about that.”

“I see it. Your mom’s right.”

She leaned over the table, suddenly thoughtful.

“You know, it’s funny; with only a slightly different upbringing, I would have been a porn star. I love sex more than most. I’ve talked to all my stripper friends at Aura and a few feel like I do. It only takes a nudge for a girl to land on that pole. If not for my protective parents and my decent brain, I’d be living in Los Angeles and making a quarter of a million a year taking dick.”

“It’s not too late,” I teased.

“Don’t tempt me,” she playfully shot back.

Within hours it was like she’d never left. Our connection is transcendent. I don’t believe in soul mates or that there’s one person out there for everyone. There are many. We’re just lucky in that we found each other. We talked and talked until my eyes started to droop. She was three hours behind me but agreed it was time to head home. I dropped her at her dorm, said hello to Tina, and walked across campus. I saw Officer Gupta coming towards me but he veered away. Whatever Dakota said to him, Gupta was convinced.

I got home and Martin said I looked happy.

“I am, my friend. Life is good.”

Chapter 11

With Gabby home, I could concentrate. With Officer Gupta avoiding her, Gabby could concentrate. We plotted our final semester and race to the finish line. We took a weekend to visit the Harvard campus, spending time with a few professors and our future counselors. Home again and seated at my dining table, we finished calculating all the expenses. We looked at each other, dismayed.

“We will still need Mommy and Daddy,” Gabby said.

“I’m afraid so.”

We looked at our spreadsheets again.

“Dammit,” she said. “I was hoping to be free of that woman.”

“Not for two more years, at least. Unless you start dancing at Harvard too.”

She gave me a wicked grin.

“I shouldn’t complain,” she continued. “Mom was an angel over Christmas break. Whatever you said to her made a big impression.”

“I was a dick. I told her how it was and how it was going to be.”

I wanted to ask how they handled that night with Daddy, but my instinct told me to leave it alone. I felt sure they’d discussed it at length but what an awkward family memory. I was curious.

Monday morning, first day of our final semester, we got to work.

Gabby had no current lovers and none on the horizon and I wondered how she would survive the next sixteen weeks without sex. She seemed focused and determined and I speculated if she planned to deprive herself.

I should have known better.

I headed for home after a class president’s meeting with Dean Ryan. Gabby was meeting me there and we had a three-hour block of study time ahead of us. I knew Martin would welcome her.

I opened the door and aimed for the kitchen, grabbed Gabby a diet Coke and myself a Mountain Dew, and nudged open my bedroom door. My greeting died in my throat. Gabby was not in my room.

I remembered Martin’s door ajar so I slowly approached and peered inside. Martin, as expected, sat in his favorite chair playing a game online. Jerry sat at the foot of the bed. Gabby was on her knees between his thighs.

His impressive cock stood like a redwood over his lap. Gabby casually slurped the deep red head and licked away a glob of precum.

Jerry's eyes were riveted to the pretty girl servicing his cock. Truthfully, none of them noticed my approach.

Martin played his game with occasional glances at the oral action so close. Jerry and Gabby were alone in the world. Over the explosions and special effects pouring out of the screen, I heard Jerry praise Gabby's beauty, telling her how amazing she was, ranting about how good her mouth felt, how incredibly sexy she was, any accolade his little sophomore mind could think of. He believed every word. Gabby had a permanent grin. She loved his adoration. She savored his cock, in no hurry to make him cum. She'd stop to admire the monster and then return to sucking and licking. He had a beautiful cock, I had to give him that.

At last she noticed me.

"Ready?" she asked.

"Waiting on you," I said.

"Give me a few minutes to finish."

I said nothing as Gabby got serious. She began dragging painted nails down his ball sack and rolling his nuts around. She sucked faster and harder, adding a hand to work his shaft.

"Give it to me, Jerry," she implored.

He barely moved. He did not put his hands on her head, he did not play with those big tits under her sweatshirt, he made no requests of her. He let her suck his cock, afraid any move would shatter the bubble and wake him from this dream.

Gabby gets what she wants and Jerry's sperm is no exception. Her free hand teased his shaft and she stroked as she sucked and poor Jerry had no chance. His shocked expression turned to panic.

"Oh shit!" he cried. His balls exploded.

Gabby growled with satisfaction. Her cheeks plumped, bulging with his hefty load, and then she was swallowing as he blasted her tonsils with steaming hot semen. She gulped him down. His upper half fell to the bed as Gabby sucked the life from him.

I didn't know it at the time, but this moment launched what was to become an almost daily occurrence. Jerry became Gabby's plaything. She knew he'd never say no. She also loved the way he gushed nonstop, pouring adulation every time he saw her. In the middle of a study session at the dining table, she'd rise to stretch her legs and wander into Martin's room. Sometimes I'd get home and find her already there, casually playing with Jerry's heavy slab of beef while Martin blasted away at aliens on the monitor. Sometimes she'd join them in a game, and sometimes she'd kneel at Jerry's feet and suck him while he played. The kid's self-esteem went through the roof.

Gabby took her time and taught him how to be with a woman. She used him to scratch her itch and in exchange helped him become a man. Somewhere out there is a girl who will be Jerry's first girlfriend and she has no idea what's headed her way.

Perhaps because he knew me, he never developed romantic feelings for her, or if he did he kept them to himself. He knew she used him but he was thrilled with that. He loved her, and the things she did to him, but he knew she was mine.

After a few weeks, Gabby threw Martin into the mix. I came home several times to candlelit threesomes in Martin's bed. I'd watch as the guys worshipped my woman, working hard to please her. When she turned her attention to their cocks, they could only stare in disbelief at their great good fortune.

As the end of year approached, Gabby became our shared Princess. Those guys would have taken a bullet for her.

Chapter 12

I put my pencil down and leaned back in my chair. I drew a deep breath, held it, turned it loose.

Seventeen pages, complete. I sighed as the truth hit me; the race was over.

I ambled to the professor's desk and handed her my final exam. She smiled and patted the back of my hand.

"I have faith in you, Chuck. I expected you'll change the world."

I was moved. Unsure what to say, I said thank you and shuffled back to my desk. I collected my belongings and exited the room.

I was free.

Gabby had one more test late afternoon and then she was too.

Crazy.

The four years had gone by so fast. I easily remembered the Chuck from those first freshman days: intimidated, anxious, worried. Determined to succeed but unsure how to achieve it. One false move and we found ourselves sucked down the rabbit hole and Spencer's cock in Gabby's mouth. What an avalanche of events that singular act had caused. Life waits for no one.

Now I'm a senior, respected by students and staff: a Foxman, class president, straight-A student. Few know our dirty little secret. When it first started, I worried the whole sordid affair would balloon out of control. It did, briefly, but graduation slowly shrank the number of people that knew until now only our best and dearest friends were in on it.

Not counting Brandon, of course.

If I had grown up, Gabby had positively blossomed. My shy, nerdy, wallflower girlfriend from high school was in full bloom. Confident and intelligent, she now knew who she was and what she wanted. The journey had been difficult, but we'd both gotten from Philips Exeter what we wanted.

At eight that night, Martin and I waited for Gabby to come through our front door. When she did, we all exploded in cheer. We'd done it.

Over the next few days we submitted our final paperwork and paid any outstanding fees. I was charged for a library book I found under my bed when I moved and Gabby owed them for a bent screen on her dorm room window.

Seven days later, surrounded by friends and family, and on the same soccer field where Gabby blew Spencer and his friend Toby three years earlier, Martin, Gabby, and I walked down the center row, shook Dean Austin's hand, flipped our tassel, and graduated from Philips Exeter.

Our parents paid for dinner at an expensive steak house where we met Martin's slightly odd mother and where Gloria, after several glasses of wine, mentioned the waiter had a great ass. Gabby laughed into the uncomfortable silence and I did too.

Like mother, like daughter.

Towards the end of dinner my dad asked what came next and we filled in the detail on our jump to Harvard University. Based on our classes at Exeter and our grades, we'd technically enter as juniors and with four heavy-load semesters, graduate. We'd live on campus together.

Gloria took that as her cue to let us know the wedding she'd planned and I admit, she did an amazing job. I chalk up her generosity to the mountain of blame she shoulders, treating Gabby and I shitty for so many years. Let her spend the money; we'll have a blast and she'll placate some guilt.

With a three-month gap, we'd fly home with our parents and live under their roof until school started. In a private moment, I mentioned to Gabby that Brandon awaited us back home and she bit her bottom lip and made her eyebrows bounce.

"I know. Isn't it exciting? Jerry's a sweetheart but come on. He's still a kid. Brandon's a man."

Chapter 13

Except she didn't see Brandon. Not once. We were busy with last minute decisions but there were days we had nothing to do and she could have. She chose to stay with me, exclusively, instead.

I did not challenge her on it. I was surprised but not complaining. Despite all her extra-relationship lovers, I never got accustomed to Brandon. That guy is a scar on my heart. My own lengthy history with him coupled with all those hours watching him and Gabby together, finally compounded by her most recent trip home, left me hating and fearing him more than ever. Thank God Gabby did not get pregnant from her visit.

I don't know what happened on that trip because I tried to act like a tough guy and once you act like a tough guy to your fiancée, you can't take it back. Since I told Gabby she did not need to share the details, she didn't, and I wasn't about to grovel. Something happened and I believe it contributed greatly to her avoiding him now.

Two months after we arrived home, we got married. Our wedding ceremony was small but lavish. Martin flew out. Dakota showed up. Anna looked gorgeous. Brandon came too and sat next to Gloria. I saw the way Gabby looked at her poor father, oblivious to his slutty wife.

Gabby and I had few friends in our youth but Gabby's parents are well connected so there were plenty of people we'd never met. Even the mayor showed up. We had it on a roof-top villa looking down on the city.

Gabby wore white.

I was speaking to Carmen when Gloria excused herself and took me aside.

"I want to thank you for the way you love my daughter."

"You're welcome, Gloria. We love each other pretty much unconditionally."

"She's incredibly happy," Gloria admitted.

I was almost willing to forgive fifteen years of mental and emotional abuse.

Her animosity towards me had dwindled. Maybe it was because she'd seen the better side of me or maybe Gabby had torn her a new one over Christmas break or maybe she felt vulnerable because I'd been witness to her scandalous interlude with Daddy. His gun did not fully explain her wanton behavior that night. There were plenty of moments her or Gabby could have taken that pistol from the old man. I knew Gabby wouldn't but what was Gloria's excuse? Because she was busy loving his thick, forbidden cock, that's why.

A helicopter took us from the rooftop wedding to the airport and we flew to Hawaii. We landed at Hilo Airport and took a shuttle to Hilo Bay Bed and Breakfast. Gloria spent a fortune on our bridal suite, arranging for a room right on the water. We checked in, unpacked, and shared the remarkable view from the balcony. Gabby mentioned she was hungry and I agreed. We scanned the menu and ordered room service.

"It's time," she said.

I knew precisely what she meant. She kissed me deeply. My blood began to race. I was nervous but eager. Gabby has so much more experience than me, I worried I'd disappoint her.

"I'm going to take a shower and change into something sexy," she said. "Why don't you wait for room service and let him in when he gets here? I'll be right out. Light some candles."

I watched her grab a small suitcase and close the bathroom door behind her. I stood on the balcony overlooking the Pacific until I heard room service knock on the door. I took the cart from him and set out the spread for after. Something told me Gabby wanted sex before food. I heard the shower running so I lit all the candles and then flipped through a pamphlet on Island activities. Soon, I heard her moving around the bathroom.

The door opened.

I couldn't believe it was the same girl. How she'd transformed from an angel in white to this sultry temptress of the night in so little time baffled me. She wore black lace lingerie which accented her best feminine features and dazzled my eyes. Tiny black panties beneath a daring see-through mesh which teased the eye. Her hair was long and curly and her makeup, especially her eyes, amazed.

The sun was low over the water and, combined with the candlelight, gave her skin a healthy orange glow. I sat stunned. How did I score such a gorgeous woman? I tried to open my mouth to say something but my dry lips stuck. Gabby giggled.

I started to rise from my seat.

"No," she said. "Wait there."

I settled into the chair to gawk at my beautiful new bride. I saw the hint of labia through the lace and the dark points of her nipples. Her tits rose and fell as I ran my eyes over her. She drank it in.

"I want you," I said.

"Not yet," she smiled.

She remained stationary, the object of my rapidly growing lust, and savored the want in my eyes. I scrutinized every lovely inch of her. Her teasing game had me ready to explode. A knock on the door startled me.

"Get the door," she murmured.

I lifted an inch and then froze.

Get the door, she'd said. Not; see who it is.

I faced her slowly. Her dancing, laughing eyes froze my heart. Her wicked smile crushed me. I ran my eyes over her delicious form again.

I opened the door without using the peephole.

Brandon.

I literally couldn't breathe.

"No," I said, shaking my head.

He entered the room and took the door from me, closing and bolting it. His eyes moved to Gabby in her lingerie covered splendor.

He began to remove his shirt.

No. No, no, no, no. Fuck me, NO.

Gabby read my face.

"It's perfect, right?" she asked. "A memory to torture you through all our married life; and not just another man our wedding night, but Brandon Skye. Of all the men on Earth, Brandon."

She watched him undress.

"Once it's done," she purred. "There's no undoing it. It will have been Brandon on our wedding night forever."

My shoulders sagged. My body ached. Gabby is the Devil.

"I have another surprise," she added, "but you'll encounter that a little later. Something I know but you don't."

Brandon kicked off his shoes. His pants followed. Arrogantly confident, he drew down his boxer briefs to expose the cock Gabby loved so well. He stood naked in our bridal suite, triumphantly erect.

Gabby spoke to me but kept her eyes on him. "I offered to swear off all other men after we married. Remember? But you rightly made me take it back. Ours will be an uncommon arrangement. This will be the ideal start to our special married life."

Her words fell on my head like bricks. She stepped close and put her arms around my neck. I met her smoky eyes and saw the naked lust and excitement in them. Brandon stepped up behind her, erect cock swaying with each step. He moved his hips, sliding his penis through her gap, and Gabby exhaled. She reached down and unsnapped the lingerie over her pussy. She pressed her body against mine, big, firm tits hot against my chest. She licked my lips.

"Reach down," she murmured. "Find his cock between my legs. Find it and take it in your hand and squeeze. I want you to feel how hard he gets for me."

Either backward out the door or forward into our future. I held my breath.

His steely cock was blazing hot on my palm. I felt the power of it, the masculine strength in the man.

"Now, push him into your wife," she gasped. "Put Brandon in me, Baby."

Words can devastate, and hers were a kick to the gut.

With a trembling hand, I rubbed his cock head at her opening. Her legs already shook. With my bride's eyes locked onto mine, I pulled Brandon's cock into her warm, wet, enveloping pussy.

On our wedding night, after so many years, I gave her to my enemy.

The air left her lungs in a hiss. She groaned and fell into me a little and I held her up for him to fuck, gazing into her beautiful big brown eyes as one inch followed by another penetrated her. We all heard her slurping, sucking wetness. She held my head and kissed me, pouring her passionate love into it. I returned her kiss and Brandon buried several inches at once, causing Gabby to pull her lips away and moan in pleasure from the deep satisfaction.

“Get your clothes off,” she whimpered.

I did as she requested. My penis hung limp and useless but pure adrenaline coursed through my veins. I hated every second of this. I hated the gleam of superiority in his eyes. I hated that Brandon was fucking my wife on our wedding night. I hated his big hands on her waist and I hated the deep and meaningful moans she made at having him inside her body. I hated all of it.

But there was no denying my twisted, tortured pleasure at the angst that was eating me alive.

Gabby took my wilted penis in her hand for the first time ever, and the sensation was electric.

“Here’s the other surprise, Baby,” she whispered. “I know why you’re soft. It’s your meds. I knew when you mentioned it months ago. Brandon and I will fuck for days before they wear off, and that’s if you stop taking them right now. You can join us, but your penis will be useless.”

Fear seized my heart. She was right! I suddenly remembered all those times I jacked off with a partial erection. It made complete sense. How did I miss it? This was disastrous. Brandon and Gabby would fuck for days without me.

“What better honeymoon for a couple like us?” she teased. “It’s perfect.”

She pushed down on my shoulders. I was confused for a moment but then understood. I got down on my knees and there it was right before my face; Brandon’s heavy shaft, slowly, rhythmically, pumping in and out of my wife. He looked like a well-oiled boa constrictor. She grabbed my hair and pulled my face forward.

I knew what to do.

My tongue split her labia and found her clit. His invading cock pushed her mound farther into my mouth on each thrust. My tongue was all over her, driving her wild, and if I occasionally contacted him in the mix, I didn't care. You should have heard the sounds pouring from her throat. Gabby had everything she wanted. Her scheme had succeeded flawlessly. She may have failed in her battle to break my promise, but she won in the larger war of this game we played. This night would sear into our memory forever.

Brandon moved one hand to her hip and the other covered her lace-wrapped tit. I pulled back for a moment to witness the sight before me and saw his huge ball sack swinging between her legs. Was my new bride ovulating? That thought sent a powerful erotic jolt through my head. I moaned and buried my face again between her legs. All of this was so deliciously wrong, so wildly taboo. Our egregious sins carried a special charge all their own. Hammering at my brain was the relentless knowledge that tonight Brandon would be consummating this marriage, not me. We all felt the erotic charge.

Gabby climaxed in a rush. One moment she was moaning with deep satisfaction and the next reality overwhelmed her. Brandon steadied her from the back and I braced her from the front and my wife gushed pussy juice all over his big shaft. He relentlessly pumped her spasming cunt, turning her moans to screams.

"Hold my balls," he told me. "I'm getting close. You should feel it."

The idea repulsed me but I did it anyway. There was something thrilling about my obedience. I kept my tongue lashing her sweet pussy and reached far under. I followed his thigh up to his scrotum and cupped his hot sack, feeling the hefty weight of his bulging nuts. He filled my palm. High school never truly ended. Brandon's humiliation of me was eternal. After tonight, he'd be one-up on me forever and in a way I could never get back to equal.

His testicles tightened and lifted as his pumping quickened. His breath was ragged. He leaned close to Gabby and she pushed her hips back to meet his thrusts. My wife helped him fuck her. Her screams of pleasure had diminished to whimpers but his cock still delighted. I was insanely aroused but my deflated penis hung soft and small, adding a special agony to my woes.

He pumped faster and then Brandon threw his head back and yowled a cry of pure pleasure. What was this moment like for him? I felt his balls contract and quiver as the first salvo raced up his shaft and blasted Gabby's womb. Again, and again his nuts spasmed, launching each time another frothy jet of sperm. He was flooding her, filling her tubes, inundating her ovaries. His semen leaked and dripped from my knuckles. I continued to hold his balls even after he finished.

Gabby pushed my tongue away from her sensitive flesh. Brandon kept his cock buried, aided by that quirk of his for remaining hard after his first orgasm, and slowed his hips to a crawl. They kissed passionately over her shoulder as I gazed up at his hands mauling her tits. She looped a hand behind his head to keep their lips together.

Brandon started thrusting faster.

Gabby broke the kiss. "Can you cum again?" she asked, incredulous.

"Feels like it," he grunted. "You look so fucking hot you're driving me crazy. And it is your wedding night."

His fat cock churned her drenched cunt and Gabby started moving her hips to match his timing. What a fucking stud. He bent her at the waist and she placed her hands on my shoulders. Her hair fell all around me. She grinned.

"He's going to cum in me again, Baby."

I couldn't speak. All this was too overwhelming. I nodded and tried to smile back.

"Do you hate me?" she asked, teasing.

"Far from it," I croaked.

She reached lower, startling me by tugging my soft penis.

"Caress my tits," she whispered.

Her eyes were closing as Brandon built up speed and strength.

"You have no idea what it's like," she continued, speaking low and far away. "To have a man inside you, moving inside you. You take him inside your body. You wrap yourself around him. You give yourself to him. It's the ultimate intimacy."

Her head slowly rolled side to side. She savored Brandon's big dick in her, relishing how stiff she made him, how excited he was to fuck her. He held her hips with both hands, jarring her body with each impact. I started to go under to eat her again but she stopped me.

“No, stay with me. Tell me you love me as I cum on his cock.”

I brushed the hair from her face. She never looked as beautiful as she did in this moment. My heart caved in. I watched her brow slowly furrow as her climax crept up. Her body slowly tensed. Brandon worked his magic cock deep, probing and rubbing places I never would, and Gabby savored every hard inch he gave her.

“Here it comes, Baby,” she breathed. “I’m gonna cum again. I love his cock, Chuck. I love it. Put your dick in my mouth, Baby.”

A firebomb exploded in my brain. I stood and Gabby balanced herself on my hips. She stretched her neck and I felt the most amazing sensation of my life. Hot, wet, vacuuming pleasure surrounded my penis. My head snapped back and I groaned like I was dying. Gabby sucked hard and I felt it in my nuts. I stayed soft, but holy fuck that felt good. I looked down at her pretty face and my dick in her mouth. Why the fuck did I postpone this for so long? Gabby looked up at me and Brandon grabbed her long hair and pulled, driving his long cock balls deep and causing my wife to groan. She started nodding her head and talking around my dick.

“Don’t stop,” she slurred. “Fuck me, Brandon. Fill my pussy again. Cum inside meeeee...”

Gabby’s words became a shriek of pleasure. Her pussy clamped around his cock like a fist and convulsions twisted her womb. I saw on her face how much she loved a big strong man inside her, how much satisfaction a rock-hard cock gave her.

I remembered just in time: “I love you, Gabby,” I whimpered. She was fucking gorgeous, a stunning slutty angel.

Her orgasm rocked her entire body, racing up and down like waves. Brandon kept hammering away at my lovely bride until his abs flexed and he held his breath. One loud grunt, two, three, four; he was pumping sperm into her like a firehose. Coming down from her own climax, she urged him to spray every drop he carried, demanded every drop he carried.

When his legs began to give, he aimed them both for a nearby chair and collapsed. I moved over her and slipped my floppy penis into her mouth again. Hard or soft, that shit felt amazing. Gabby nursed on me like a baby with a nipple. After a while she slipped away from Brandon and led me to the bed.

“Lie on your back,” she said.

She moved over me in a sixty-nine position. Her dripping pussy fell towards my face and my mouth actually watered. How long had it been? Like Pavlov's dogs the sight of her well-fucked pussy drove me crazy. I buried my face and moaned loudly when her hot mouth enveloped my dick. We feasted on each other. She was a slippery mess, dripping and sliding. Her hot mouth made me want to scream. I never got hard but my tongue did rip another orgasm from her.

We took a break to eat. The three of us sat there, two naked men and one lingerie clad woman, passing food and making conversation. We talked about school and work like old friends and I saw the comfortable familiarity between them. I was sure they'd spent every day together while she was out on Christmas break.

Gabby had flown Brandon out to the island the day before we arrived, knowing mom's wedding plans in exacting detail. She'd known of my impending impotence and took advantage. She'd also paid for his room. It had been their little secret.

From the bed, we all moved to the shower and Brandon and I undressed Gabby together. We soaped and shampooed and returned to the bed, clearing dishes and pulling back the covers. We all knew what was coming. Gabby climbed on the bed and parted her legs in welcome, reaching out for Brandon.

He stroked his penis and lowered his face to her pussy.

"You too," she said, looking at me. "I want my men to eat me together."

I hesitated but then why the fuck not? We pushed her legs over her body and ate her ass and pussy. We turned her into a crazy woman. There was an unspoken understanding in the air that whoever got hard got to fuck her and Brandon won, but we'd all known that going in. He moved up to make out with my wife and she reached down to guide him in. I sat on the edge of the bed and played with my penis, watching.

Brandon fucked Gabby roughly, tossing her around the bed, moving her into awkward positions, fucking her from every angle like he owned her. She gladly took it all. He was fucking her from behind when she came like an earthquake and he dumped another load in her womb.

We put Gabby in the middle and she played with our penises until we all drifted off. I awoke to movement. Brandon had her legs bent all the way over her tits and eased in and out of her. I left the bed to pull up a chair and masturbate while I watched. Gabby looked outrageously sexy.

This was my wife. This was my life. This was what I married. This life may not be easy, but she was blissfully happy, and that made me happy.

On the other hand, I couldn't wait for this motherfucker to leave.

Chapter 14

In the morning, we grabbed a light breakfast and rented a car. Gabby mentioned Brandon would only be with us the first few days of our two-week stay. It drove me crazy with jealousy to see how intimate they were. They moved like a couple. She'd go for a bottle of water and he already had one for her. He'd look for his favorite hoodie and she'd already draped it over the chair by the front door, ready to go.

We turned a lot of heads once we got into town and spent some time shopping. If not for our wedding rings, no one would be able to tell which man was Gabby's husband, and in some ways, the rings added to the confusion. Clearly, both of us were her lover. It burned me to the core watching strangers trying to figure things out. I wanted to yell at them that the beautiful woman was all mine.

After lunch, where the waiter called Gabby "Mrs. Johnson" and both of us "Mr. Johnson," Gabby mentioned there was a black-sand nude beach she wanted to visit.

"I've never done anything like that," she gushed. "Can you imagine? Naked in front of God and everybody?"

"I've done it before," Brandon said. "A few times. It's a blast."

Of course he has. What hot-body big-cock frat boy hasn't? I cringed. Gabby and Brandon are stunning. No wonder he's perfectly fine walking around naked.

I started to fret. I was beyond ready for him to leave.

We were walking through a touristy section of town when Gabby held both out hands. We sauntered past tables of clothing, fruits and vegetables, flip-flops, and driftwood carvings, all the while under the scrutinizing eyes of others.

We stopped for an early lunch and then headed for the beach. Parking was just a turn-out along the road. We grabbed our packs and began the short but steep descent to the beach. We emerged from the trees and stepped into paradise. Waves crashed against massive black rocks. Palm trees towered over the fine black sand. Naked people of all shapes and sizes stretched to the far end of the beach. A black Labrador chased a tennis ball into the water.

Was I bothered we had a tag-along on our honeymoon? Fuck yes. His sole purpose for being here was sexual surrogate, plain and simple. At least, that's what I kept telling myself. The truth was deeper and more complex.

"This will do," Gabby said, removing her pack.

She began to undress. She wore a white bikini under her top and shorts but that landed in her backpack too. Her glorious body, so recently fucked into oblivion, was available for the viewing pleasure of everyone.

Brandon stripped in remarkably short time. I removed my clothing too, dreading every moment. I'd taken no meds since Gabby drew my attention to their side-effects, but I was still under their spell. My penis was a pink mushroom nestled in short pubic hair. Brandon sported a fleshy banana, dangling free and swinging with each movement. He too packed his clothing away and both turned to me, waiting. Before long I was ready. We worked our way to the water and followed the curve of the shore. Gabby turned every head that noticed her, male and female, and Brandon captured the hearts of the ladies and a few gay guys.

I got the sympathy vote.

Gabby again took the spot between us, holding our hands as we walked. A pattern repeated itself all the way down the beach; every time someone spotted us, their gaze went first to Gabby, her face and then her remarkable body, then their eyes jumped to Brandon, his body and then his noteworthy cock, and then they looked at me, skipped my body entirely, glanced at my stubby penis, and then returned to whatever they had been doing before we walked by.

Mortifying, yes, but strangely titillating.

Brandon loved it so much he swelled slightly, giving his heavy cock a flopping motion as his cock and balls bounced off each thigh. Gabby noticed and chuckled.

At last she picked a spot in the middle of a cluster of men and we spread our blanket. I was quick to lay on my stomach but Gabby and Brandon headed for a swim.

I ignored them as long as I could but curiosity got the better of me and I sat up and faced the water. They were about hip deep, hugging, kissing, jumping over each wave as it approached. I kept watching and they moved deeper. Soon her hands were underwater, obviously playing with his cock. I glanced around and saw a few faces watching them and then watching me and then watching them again. They kissed sweetly and I didn't want to see it. It tore me up to see her with him and it always will. I laid on my back and closed my eyes. The sun felt amazing and the gentle sound of the waves relaxed me.

After a while, I heard Gabby laughing as they left the water. I shielded my eyes and watched them approach. Brandon was half-hard and swinging wildly and Gabby was giggling at him. Her gorgeous tits bounced and swayed. When she reached the blanket, she bent down and gave me a long, deep, and meaningful kiss. I know she wanted to reassure me but she also wanted to let everyone watching know that yes, the situation is exactly what you suspect it is.

They laid on their backs and Gabby asked me to spray her with sunscreen. I sprayed and rubbed, enjoying the sexy woman beneath my hands. Brandon joked it was his turn and even held his dick straight up but I sardonically told him to fuck off.

"I'll do it," Gabby said.

I handed her the lotion and watched as she rubbed every inch of Brandon's muscular body, including his dick. By the time she finished, we had quite an audience.

For the next few hours we just hung out. We'd eat some fruit or go to the water or close our eyes and nap.

After that much schooling for that long, doing nothing felt wonderful.

Eventually Gabby wanted to walk and we asked our neighbor to watch our stuff and headed down the beach, Gabby, as always, sandwiched between her men and holding our hands. She watched the faces of the people we passed and I realized she enjoyed showing us off. She liked the scandal of it. She also liked my squirming discomfort at the inevitable comparison between Brandon's cock and mine. Not purely to humiliate me, but because she knew I also found it exciting. Additionally, she wanted them to know yes, that big cock goes in me all the time.

Several times she had Brandon and I go to the water's edge so she could take a picture of a cliff or waves crashing on rocks with us in it. Brandon would play with his dick a little so he hung thick and long but I had no such option. Gabby snapped away, capturing forever the differences between her husband and her lover. Everyone on the beach noticed. One old guy even offered to take a picture so Gabby could be in it too. She palmed our dicks and smiled at the camera.

Our walk ate a lot of time. Gabby made sure virtually everyone on the beach understood our dynamic. We returned to our spot, dressed, thanked our new friends, who mentioned a nudist colony farther inland, and we headed to the car. Gabby wanted to at least stop by the colony and pick up a brochure.

After a wildly scenic thirty-five-minute drive, we turned onto unpaved gravel. The ride got bumpy. Soon we pulled up to a living bamboo wall covered in vines and parked. We slipped through a narrow gap and entered an adult playground. Cottages dotted the overgrown landscape and naked people of all ages walked everywhere, friendly and unashamed. A couple in their forties approaches us as we crossed a small wooden bridge and Gabby drew my attention to the stainless steel cage the man wore around his testicles and penis. He could urinate, but that's it. Brandon laughed. I got quiet.

"That looks like fun, don't you think, Baby?" Gabby asked.

I couldn't stop staring, which the man seemed to very much enjoy.

The older woman heard Gabby and leaned in saying: "It is fun, Darling. Why should men have all the power?"

Gabby giggled and the women high-fived as we passed them on the bridge.

My new wife steered us towards a low building marked Management Office. Inside a couple in their sixties or seventies were happy to explain everything about their resort. They showed us lockers where we could stow our clothing if we wanted to walk the grounds. Gabby said yes so we stripped again and headed out.

At the beach, people checked us out far more discretely than the guests here. Men and women boldly looked us up and down, sizing up potential sex partners. We passed two more men wearing cages. Twice, well-hung men, including one guy bigger than Brandon, initiated conversation with Gabby. I held back and watched her get flustered as Big Guy asked where she was from and what she was doing on the island. Brandon got jealous and I fucking loved it.

Eventually we returned to the office and dressed and got back on the road. Gabby said she'd like to return someday and stay a week.

"And we need to try one of those cages, Chuck. Can you imagine? You'd go crazy trapped like that. Stainless steel is way better than pink lace."

I grumbled no thanks but I'll admit the idea held some intrigue. I'm type-A aggressive in life and I don't consider myself submissive, but perhaps that's not entirely true when it comes to sex. I remembered the panties. Gabby would become a total slut if my penis was under lock-and-key. The idea had merit.

We made it back to the hotel, arriving after dark.

We showered, ate, and watched the Avengers movie, all three of us naked, sharing a couch. As the credits rolled, Gabby turned to me.

"I have a hot idea," she said.

Alarms went off in my head. What was that undertone I heard?

"How about you sleep in the guest room tonight, alone? Brandon and I will take the master bedroom."

Thunderbolt to the face. I couldn't move. I stared blankly.

She quickly went on. "Don't worry, you'll be able to hear everything. Your door is directly across from ours."

I was stunned.

I knew why; Brandon leaves day after tomorrow and by tomorrow night I can probably get hard. The meds will have worn off. Tonight is the only night we can be sure my penis is still useless. This is the only night she can have private time with him.

As I gazed into her eyes I made a second discovery; inside, the imp was laughing. Gabby was trying to drive me crazy. When my erection returned in the next day or two, she wanted me on the sexual warpath, ready to ravage my new bride. She was fanning the flames of desire, torturing me in that special way she has which we both love.

"Okay," I croaked. It felt like my nuts were in a vise.

Her eyes flared with wicked intent.

Brandon stood.

"I'm ready for bed now," he said.

Gabby placed a hand over her heart, overly flattered.

"All right," she said.

She leaned over to kiss me and packed all the love she could into it. She gazed into my eyes and grinned.

"See you in the morning," she breathed.

I watched them walk to the master suite and close the door. The bolt shot.

Fuck. Me. He could not leave soon enough. Hatred was a pressure behind my ribs, a sour taste in my mouth. His presence infuriated me. I winced each time he touched her, each time they kissed. I loathed the way she looked at him, the way she ran her eyes over his body and his face. Sorry Jasper, so long Dakota, sayonara Daddy; you've all been replaced. Gabby wants Brandon.

I've been in the room with them while they've fucked and I've been three thousand miles away while they fucked, and the torment was very different. In many ways, this was worse. I saw nothing, like when she was gone on Christmas break, but I heard everything, and my imagination filled in what I could not see, and my imagination is a bastard. In my mind, Brandon nearly fucked Gabby to death and she loved it.

I don't know how I survived.

I heard every slurp, every moan, every sigh, and every growl. I heard the bed squeaking and thumping the wall. I heard my new wife urging him to fuck her harder and I heard my rival shout at Gabby to take his seed. I heard my new bride screaming his name and I heard him roar as he pumped his potent load into my wife. I heard them orgasm far too many times. I stroked my lifeless dick furiously, so excited I managed to cum on their door.

They rested a long time, possibly even slept. I didn't. I waited like a dog, listening for every clue. When they started up again, I did too, stroking fast. Gabby's piercing cry of climax gave me my release too, this time spraying semen droplets all over the shag carpeting.

What a night.

I woke early, lying on the carpet, and moved to my queen bed. I was awakened hours later by Gabby's mouth engulfing my penis. She sucked a long time, just giving me pleasure since I couldn't get hard.

Hunger drove us to breakfast.

I started to dress and Gabby suggested we go nude and I soon discovered Brandon, naked, watching ESPN and eating a donut off a breakfast cart.

We spent the first half of the day nude, hanging out in the suite, talking, napping, and eating. Gabby loved Brandon and me on display. I'd catch her eyes stealing glances from his penis to mine. She compared us often and marveled at her good fortune. I'm such a lucky girl, her expression seemed to say.

After lunch we dressed lightly and rented bikes to cruise the island. We packed fruit and water and covered a lot of ground.

Hours later we stopped for a rest and found a spot on the slopes of Mauna Kea. What started as a quick blowjob morphed into Gabby and Brandon made love looking down on a canopy of green immersed in a sea of white clouds.

The scene was surreal. I watched her closely, trying to dissect the moment. What was it I enjoyed so much about watching Gabby fuck? I never isolated a reason. She was beautiful. She was sexy. She sounded incredible and looked amazing. I hated that it was with him. I hated that he brought that out in her better than anyone else. She'd known him a long time and they had many shared memories. How many hours had they spent together as she tutored him? She forged a stronger connection to him than any of her other lovers and I saw he was special to her.

I rubbed my soft penis as Brandon moved deep within my wife. The love making is harder to watch but carries a more intense emotional thrill. The hurt feels so good. Gabby came hard and I smiled broadly. Brandon came soon after, inseminating my new bride yet again, and watching his ass flex as he pumped sperm into her pushed me over the edge. I shot my load on the dusty rocks.

We hit the trail and covered as much ground as possible before we had to catch Brandon's flight. I thought there might be tears or sadness but I was wrong. They joked and laughed and had fun. With his departure time approaching, I thought they'd be more subdued. Only later did it dawn on me why; this was the end of nothing. Gabby knew she'd continue to see him.

We accompanied him in the Lyft to the airport and Gabby hugged him goodbye, adding a subtle see you later at the end. Cute. He fist-bumped me and we regarded each other. He had one-upped me in a way that would last forever and we both knew it. His slight, condescending smile ate at me. I wanted to smack his face. He kissed Gabby's cheek, walked through the gate, and was gone.

Chapter 15

Gabby and I were quiet all the way to the hotel. We held hands and gazed out the windows at the incredible scenery, watching the locals just living their lives.

In the hotel room, Gabby suggested a dip in the hot tub to loosen sore muscles. I watched her change into her white bikini and marveled; how did I rate such a breath-taking woman?

Afterwards I ordered room service again and then we took a shower to wash away the chlorine. I finished first and put on a robe to collect the food. I set the table and heard Gabby behind me. I turned, ready to announce dinner was served.

Gabby wore pure white lingerie which flowed around every curve of her body. Her nipples were circular hints of pink sitting high on her large breasts. Her flat stomach lay covered in lace. Her long hair framed her beautiful face.

The words died in my throat.

She crossed the room and I gathered her into my arms and we kissed and the room tilted. Neither spoke as she led me to the bedroom.

She tugged my robe off and stepped back and I sent my eyes over her, devouring every inch of my radiant bride. My chest felt tight. She turned slowly, offering herself completely.

My penis began to rise.

A huge smile split Gabby's face.

"Good boy," she murmured.

A thin white satin ribbon tied the material between her breasts and she pulled one end. The see-through fabric parted and her incredible tits pushed through, free at last. I wanted to hurry and touch her but I also wanted this moment to last forever. Gabby look stunning. She was mine and she was spectacular.

My dick continued to rise and now pulsed in time with my heartbeat, bobbing in the open air. She glanced at it and then back to my eyes and I closed the gap between us and took my wife in my loving arms.

I resolved to be only myself. Gabby had a long history of skilled and well-hung lovers, but I wasn't any of those and I dared not try to compete. I instinctively knew that's not what she wanted anyway.

She wanted me.

We kissed as I undressed her and I did get a little ahead of myself, so eager to have her naked. I tore her bodice in my haste to remove it. She laughed. Even that was the right thing to do. Once I had her naked I backed her onto the bed, kissing, kissing, kissing. I kissed her lips. I kissed her face. I kissed her throat. She fell back and I crawled between her legs. We were both in a hurry now. I kissed her again and she reached down and guided me in.

Oh.

In an instant, I understood.

I grasped why sex is such a big deal. I learned why sex makes the world go round. I comprehended the connection, the interlacing importance, and the profound bond to life and love.

I sank into Gabby and my universe exploded.

I felt her warm, wet pussy envelope my penis, swaddling me in the intimate folds of her tight tunnel, all while gazing deeply into my eyes. I tripped over the edge of the abyss and felt myself falling, falling, falling, lost in the pools of her eyes. With our physical connection came a spiritual connection. I'd never imagined this truth. My eyes grew large and Gabby laughed with joy, watching my face as she gave herself to her husband, seeing the miracle play-out behind my eyes, thrilled that is was she I shared this moment with. I was deeply happy I'd waited and she was too.

In that instant, I understood.

I understood devotion and loyalty and intimacy and faith. I understood love. I understood trust. Tears sprang to my eyes and spilled down my cheeks and Gabby melted, touching my face.

"Oh, my sweet, sweet man," she murmured.

She began to cry too.

I moved inside her slowly, smitten, touched by God. My lips trembled. I was inside my wife. The sensations went far beyond physical. We kissed softly, tenderly, like love was made from butterfly wings, damaged by the lightest touch. I could not comprehend how she could give me so much mind-bending, overwhelming pleasure. I moved in and out, savoring the tight feel of her sliding against me, teasing me, coaxing me to give her seed.

Our kisses built until we passionately tried to devour each other. My hips drove my dick and Gabby's legs encircled my waist. I never wanted to leave her body. I wanted sex every day, five times a day, ten times a day. I dropped my mouth to her nipples and she gasped and now I was pounding her, growling and arching my back. She devastated my senses. The outside world fell away and there was only Gabby beneath me, guiding my ass with her hands, murmuring sweet words of eternal love and devotion in my ear.

Far too soon, my climax rose in me like lava boiling to the surface. My back arched hard enough to break it. My toes curled like little fists and a groan escaped me I had no control over. Like an island volcano, I exploded, driving my penis deep and convulsing as spasms wracked me and semen spewed.

Tears flowed for us. We professed our undying love a thousand times. I forced as much sperm from my balls as I possibly could and kept trying to shoot more. My head spun. This was nothing like the orgasms I give myself. This transcended everything I thought I knew. I understood why sex stands at the center of the human experience. The bed tilted. The floor lifted. The walls spun.

I collapsed on Gabby in a writhing, tingling, incoherent heap.

She purred, trailing her fingertips along my skin, infinitely happy and satisfied. Later she'd confess she'd orgasmed too. Lost in my own flight through the cosmos, I missed it entirely.

Ideas and insights were pouring into my mind faster than I could organize or label. I caught glimpses of understandings. My world trembled with the knowledge of what Gabby had shared with other men. I knew their emotional connection paled before ours but I was deeply aroused that they'd even scratched the surface. Every moan, every gasp, every cry of orgasmic pleasure I've ever heard her make suddenly carried so much weight. I was shaken. I knew I had to revisit every memory I had of her and examine it with my new awareness.

We lay together in blissful silence, basking in our afterglow. We kissed gently and often. Sooner than I thought possible I swelled again and lost myself in the sweet oblivion of my lovely bride.

I took her again soon after and again just a few hours later. I was insatiable and Gabby welcomed my desire.

We spent the next three days in our suite, making love as soon as we were able. I couldn't get enough of her. She taught me things; when to go fast, when to go slow, how to control myself. I was ravenous.

We laughed and laughed and fell in love over and over again.

Chapter 16

Day four found us back at the nude beach, recovering. The sunlight heated my body down to my bones. I had a full belly from breakfast and Gabby by my side.

Life was good.

We held hands while we baked in the tropical sun, surrounded by nude bodies and the smell of saltwater and sunscreen. Behind my sunglasses I watched men walk by and check out Gabby's body. They especially loved staring at her bald pussy. I loved that behind those closed labia was a lake of my sperm. Mine. Just mine.

I'd not considered Gabby with another man for the last three days, but here on the beach, under the watchful eyes of lusty men, thoughts crept into my head once more. She'd made no mention, but I wondered if Gabby was thinking the same things. Would we return to the same way of life? I knew now that we were official, I'd feel very different about someone fucking her. I knew my reactions would intensify. I knew the sight would hit me much harder. Now we risked much more. Marriage was much more than a certificate to us. We took vows and meant them.

I conceded my excitement would be off the chart and I suspected Gabby's would too. I worried it might be too much. With so much at stake, was it worth it? Should we take that chance?

My thoughts combined with the warm sun sent blood to my penis. I felt myself swell. I liked the idea of others walking by and noticing. It must be great to have a big cock like some of Gabby's lovers. I thought about that a moment, remembering how she was with each man. I squeezed her hand.

When Spencer first started us down this path, every penis freaked Gabby out. As time passed and she gained experience, she developed preferences. Now that I'd been inside her and felt that impossibly tight grip, I understood why.

Chapter 17

Our first semester at Harvard began like an explosion. Professors threw so much material at us that if not for the superior training of Philips Exeter, Gabby and I would have drowned. As it was, we watched others drown around us.

At Exeter, Gabby and I were notable intellectuals. Here, we blended in. In a way, it was a relief. I no longer needed to pad my curriculum vitae. We played no sports, ran for no class positions, joined no clubs. We simply had no time. After meeting a few fellow students, we realized we'd not graduate summa or magna cum laude. Graduating with honors would simply have to do. The only thing anyone would care about anyway from this point is the word Harvard printed across the top of our diplomas.

Our dorm was quaint; a main room with couch and reading chair, bedroom and bathroom. The campus was sprawling and we made a pact to try every restaurant within five blocks and keep a list on our refrigerator of the best.

No time for extracurricular activities also meant no time for extra marital escapades. Days became weeks and a routine formed and the truth began to dawn on us. Neither of us said anything. I think we both wanted anything that happened to be spontaneous and organic, but in this environment, that seemed increasingly impossible. Besides, Gabby and I were having sex all the time. Now that I knew, I couldn't get enough.

We might be fucking like rabbits but the desire in us continued to grow. After a few months, Gabby had a wild look in her eyes. We were closer, more intimate and more in love than ever, but her ravenous appetite was neglected.

I love her more than I love myself.

The next day, during a break between classes, I texted Brandon.

I'll admit I held my fingers over the buttons a long time before typing that first letter. I couldn't get myself to do it. I would be inviting him into our house but far worse, in my mind, was that Gabby is no longer my fiancée, she's my wife. I was arranging for hated Brandon to fuck my wife.

In our new home.

In our marital bed.

I shuddered, but started punching keys.

He responded right away. Taking the time off was no problem but he needed financial help with the ticket. I told him not to worry and covered the cost.

Yes, I paid for another man to fuck my beautiful wife.

I kept his visit secret from Gabby.

Brandon arrived Saturday before noon while Gabby was working with her project management group. Watching him walk around our dorm, nude, big weapon swinging, was like a knife in my heart. We were hours away from that monster disappearing inside her. Brandon acted like he owned the place, opening the fridge for a Coke, sitting on the couch to watch ESPN, opening the blinds to gaze across campus. His nudity was a statement. He was rubbing it in my face. He knew I'd never tell him to leave because my wife wanted him too much.

"Gabby says your nickname at Exeter was Cuck."

I winced. "For a time, yes."

He laughed. To make a point he settled into our sofa and lifted his heavy dick out of his lap and dropped it across his thigh. It landed with a meaty thwack. He caught me looking at his member for the hundredth time.

"You stare at my dick a lot," he said. "You bisexual?"

"What? No. Of course not."

"I don't care if you are. I've met a few guys like you."

"I'm not."

"Whatever. We'll see. You know, I love fucking Gabby in front of you because I see how much you hate it. I'd laugh if she ever made you suck my dick too. What a burn. Can you picture it? My cock in your mouth and me looking down at you and laughing? You'd want to kill me but instead you'd just aim my dick at Gabby's pussy. It must drive you crazy how much she loves fucking me."

I deeply regretted inviting him out.

"I know I'll never steal her from you. I've tried, believe me. When she was out for Christmas break, I pulled out all the stops. She wouldn't budge. I don't understand you guys but if I still get to fuck her, I guess I don't need to."

Without meaning too, Brandon made me feel great.

"What time does she get home?" he asked. "My balls are overflowing. I haven't cum for days." He gave me a knowing smile. "You know every time I fuck that woman I try to knock her up? Did you know that? I was hoping to do it on your honeymoon because Jesus Christ, what a burn that would be, but in your bed would be great too. I want you to know what I'm trying to do when you sit there and watch."

I told him I had to study and left him to Sportscenter. I entered our bedroom and closed the door, staring at the bed and imagining what was coming. His words disturbed me greatly but I felt my penis swell and no way did I want him to notice. I opened my books and got to work.

Ninety minutes later Gabby called to say she was headed home. I played it cool, told her I loved her and looked forward to seeing her. We disconnected. She had no idea. Out in the living room Brandon watched football.

"She's on her way," I said. "She'll come through the door in about fifteen minutes."

He grinned and reached for the remote. Television off, he ambled past me, heavy dick dangling. I couldn't help but look at it again.

He climbed into our bed and leaned against the headboard. He pulled the covers up to just over his penis, leaving his bumpy abs and hairy broad chest exposed. He smoothed the covers and folded his hands on his tummy.

I pulled the door to and sat in the living room, nervously chewing a lip. I assumed Gabby would want this. What if she didn't?

A key jangled the doorknob.

The front door opened.

Beautiful Gabby smiled and dropped her purse on the counter and her keys in a bowl. We met halfway and kissed and hugged. If she stayed true to habit, she'd head for the bedroom to kick off her shoes and strip. She started talking about the project she's working on with the others and aimed for the bedroom door and I hung back, watching and waiting. She pushed the door open and stepped through.

She froze.

"Hello, Gabriela," Brandon rumbled.

I froze.

She flew to the bed, holding his face with both hands and kissing him fervently. His hands worked her clothing until she joined him in nakedness, maintaining their hot kisses. One tit came free and he ducked his head to suck her nipple.

It's like I wasn't there.

Gabby was so thrilled to see him and so instantly hot and horny, she forgot her husband. Her clothes flew until her panties came off and then she ripped back the comforter to see his cock. Brandon gave me a nasty smile. Gabby held him up and settled her hot mouth over the head, moaning loudly. She sounded like that dick released every ounce of stress and tension in her body. She whimpered as she forced her head farther into his lap, easing his swelling penis into her throat. She was desperate to get him inside her body.

Brandon put a hand on the back of her neck, enjoying the gentle rise and fall of her head. The way she just dove on him was a kick to the gut. My girl was a she-wolf craving fresh meat. His other hand went to a fat tit, which he mauled, drawing another heartfelt moan from my wife. He was growing hard fast.

I was confronted with a question for the first time; do I join them?

I was dumbfounded. I had not considered this moment at all. The seal was broken; there was no reason not to join them. I'd kept my promise to Gabby and myself.

But a threesome with my wife has a very different feel than watching her in a twosome. Oddly, the idea felt lewd. I wrestled with my thoughts, trying to understand. We were married. We had sex often. Why would I hold back?

Gabby pulled Brandon's cock out of her mouth long enough to growl at me to strip before sliding that long fat tube back in. I did as she asked, tossing my clothes on a chair nearby, but then I stood and watched. She glanced at me and confusion clouded her eyes for a moment, but then she smirked.

She kissed Brandon and straddled him facing me, reverse-cowgirl. His cock reached up her stomach to just beyond her belly button. Her hand held him against her warm flesh and I noticed he was three or four of her fingers wide. His weighty balls sat on our sheets, no doubt brimming with steaming sperm.

I was relieved I could no longer see his arrogant sneer.

"You just going to watch?" Gabby asked.

I nodded slightly. "I think so," I said. "At least for now."

She absentmindedly tugged his loose skin up and down his shaft.

"We both know what we like," she said. She was comfortable with my choice.

Her eyes danced. She was so happy. The connection she had with Brandon was independent of us. I'd prefer she fuck faceless men once and then move on, but that's not what she liked. She liked Brandon. She liked their long history of flirting. She liked his handsome face, strong body, and superior cock. Best of all, she loved how it tortured me. Forbidden fruit simply tastes sweeter. That I hated him but still handed her over made her feel cherished. Many husbands say they'd do anything for their wives. I actually do it.

"Make Cuck put it in," I heard Brandon say. Ouch.

Gabby extended a hand and helped me crawl onto the bed between his legs. She placed her hands behind on his chest and leaned back, opening her legs. She lifted her hips six inches or so. The fat head of his cock slid down to cover her clit.

"Take his cock, Baby" she said, and I thought she better not tell me to suck it. "Spread me open and slide Brandon's cock into your lovely bride."

My heart raced and my palms sweat. This was so deliberate, so symbolic. I looked at his massive balls and veiny shaft, the pink, healthy head so close to her opening. People into bondage think that shit's exciting? Fifty Shades of Gray? Really? If you are looking for real excitement, try sharing your wife.

Every atom of my body rebelled, every instinct I had, honed by a million years of evolution, told me what I considered was madness. My breathing was shallow. My head spun. Gabby's pretty face waited hopeful and expectant. She gave me a little encouraging nod. I took a deep breath.

His cock throbbed in my hand, stiff and rubbery. I felt the pulse of life in it. Gabby licked her lips, eager. She sat up to see me touching him. She reached down and found his balls, lifting them, rolling them around, showing them to me, taunting me with the unspoken message. His earlier words about impregnating Gabby came back to haunt me, made more poignant because she didn't know he'd spoken them. She was playing into his hands.

I held his cock up, gazing in disbelief at my own hands. My thumb and index finger just met, barely touching. He'd stretch my pretty new bride wide open. With two fingers, I spread her labia, surprised at the glistening wetness which already greeted me. Her inner lips were engorged and ready. My wife wanted him.

I pulled on his cock and Gabby lowered her hips, opening her mouth as she drew near. Her eyes were big, her face, delighted.

"I can't believe it," she murmured. "You're doing it."

I placed the head at her slick hole.

God help me, I pushed him into my wife.

Gabby's satisfied moan crushed me. I moved my hand to her hips and gently pulled her onto his meaty stake. Brandon gasped and Gabby squirmed. She lifted half an inch, leaving his cock gleaming, and sank onto him again. She repeated her move, each time engulfing more of his unyielding shaft.

"I love this cock," she whimpered.

Brandon impatiently gripped her waist and forced her down. Gabby groaned at the sudden invasion but my penis began to grow. It was all too much. Gabby grabbed her tits and roughly lifted and pulled. She twisted her nipples and bit her bottom lip. He did things to her no one else did. She craved him. She loved Brandon in her pussy.

She began pumping up and down and her face twisted with beautiful agony. His size forced her far open. She leaned back again and worked her pelvis, fucking herself while he did nothing. He soaked it up. She was already moving towards orgasm and that drove me crazy. I reached for my dick and began stroking. I had a front-row seat, watching his meat appear and disappear.

His balls lifted and my breath caught in my throat.

"Do you want me while he's fucking me?" Gabby gasped. "I'll suck you."

I shook my head.

"You want to get off watching?"

"Yes," I rasped.

"You like it when your wife fucks your adversary?"

I crawled closer, stroking my dick an inch from their merging flesh. His cock was a fat piston which filled her tunnel completely, forcing her opening into a tight seal around him.

"I hate it," I answered. I jerked faster.

Gabby, breathing through an open mouth, her arousal climbing, watching my hand traveling the length of my penis, licked her lips. I saw in her eyes how much she loved doing this to me.

"You hate it? Tell me again."

"I hate it. I hate that you fuck Brandon."

She gasped. Her eyelids fluttered. This was the pinnacle of wicked.

"Tell me to stop," she breathed. "Forbid me. Demand I end this so you can see me ignore you because I can't refuse him."

Her excitement continued to climb.

"Gabby," I said. "I've changed my mind. Please stop this."

She groaned deeply and forced her pussy all the way down his rampant erection. Brandon muttered something about how good she felt.

"I mean it Gabriela," I said. "Stop. You go too far. We're married now."

She gasped loudly. Her hips moved faster and her eyes closed. She was wet enough her pussy slurped as it moved up and down.

"Brandon hates me and the feeling is mutual," I continued. "What kind of wife fucks her husband's enemy? I command you to stop."

A low growl started in her throat. This was as bad as she's ever been and her orgasm was fast approaching.

"I order you off him. Don't you dare cum on his cock, Gabriela."

Her juice ran down his shaft. Her hips pumped hard and fast. He was moaning too and looked harder than moments before, thicker, with rigid veins. His balls had drawn up tight to the base of his cock. I saw them as a silent threat.

“His cock is bare, Gabby,” I warned. “Your pussy, unprotected.”

Her sharp intake of breath told me I’d hit upon something.

“He could get you pregnant.”

Brandon growled and Gabby whimpered. She was close.

“My ultimate humiliation,” I murmured. “My wife pregnant with my rival’s baby.”

Gabby cried out. Her orgasm smashed into her and ripped a heaving sob from her throat. Her cry rose into a shriek as her climax shot through the roof and her body convulsed. Brandon joined in, excited by my words and Gabby’s reaction to them. His huge balls flexed and he yelled with pleasure and began pumping raw sperm into her. Gabby slammed her hips down repeatedly, prolonging her climax and milking his cock. Semen leaked down his shaft until dripping from his balls. He’d told the truth about saving up his load. I was astonished by how much he shot. Gabby felt his throbbing dick spitting jizz and lost her mind. His cock flared again and again.

Gabby looked at me with wild eyes.

“Do it,” she begged.

I leaned forward and fastened my mouth to her clit. She shrieked and held my head in place. Brandon was still pumping cum into her when I started swirling my tongue around her clit. I felt the underside of his fat cock pulsing against my chin. Gabby watched me and by her moans I guessed another orgasm was coming. I wanted to make her cum hard so softened my attack until I heard those familiar gasps again. Brandon pushed his cock deep and held it there, creating a plug, trapping all his potent and risky sperm in my wife. I pinched her nipples as I sucked her clit.

I maneuvered around his shaft to push a finger up her ass. Double penetrated while a tongue bedeviled your clitoris is more than any girl can take and Gabby almost cried as she came around his stiff dick again. Fluids leaked and my heart sang to hear her sweet voice lifted in orgasm. I stroked faster. Through my chin I felt him still occasionally shooting into Gabby. I was astonished by how much this motherfucker gave her, astonished and wildly aroused. My penis pulsed and my nuts contracted. Brandon flooding my beloved's insides while I ate her was more than I could take. I could no longer hold back.

"I'm cumming," I hissed.

My words rocked Gabby. She realized Brandon alone would have her tonight and a burning passion set her body writhing. Wicked decadence rose in her. She grabbed her tits roughly and her laughter sounded a little crazy. My sperm would land on the comforter, wasted, while my nemesis would inseminate my wife in our own bed. She was thrilled beyond measure.

I grunted and aimed my ejaculation at the bed and watched my unnecessary cream spurt, strangely thrilled at my squandered seed. Brandon might be impregnating Gabby this instant, yet my sperm soaked our comforter. My spitting penis throbbed in my hand. Gabby heard me and filled her lungs with air, yelling something unintelligible as she climaxed yet again. Her pussy clenched around his cock, milking him.

We all collapsed in a heap.

In time, we began again.

Epilog

“I want to be on time,” Gabby said. “Josh will be there tonight.”

I finished tying my shoelace.

“Relax,” I said, intentionally annoying her. “That boy will wait hours for you.”

I helped her with her coat. Josh was a favorite among all the wives but he had a fondness for Gabby.

Harvard was four years in our rearview mirror. I owned two businesses, one a tech company with Martin as the CTO and Anna a major stockholder. The other was a hotel downtown where Justin ran valet. He did a surprisingly good job. Gabby took a position with Goldman Sachs right out of school and was a rising star there. We’d moved back to Vegas and purchased a large house on the west side.

We were on our way to the Bradley’s.

Tom and Donna are swingers and we occasionally attend their frequent parties. Gabby and I are not swingers, not by any definition I’ve ever heard. Donna has twice given me a blowjob while Tom fucked Gabby, and I’ve received many offers from other wives too, but that’s not what works for us. What we do isn’t a lifestyle. I don’t want other women; I want Gabby to want other men. She feels the same way. Swingers are some of the best people we’ve ever met but how they work doesn’t quite work for us.

Several husbands at those parties wore steel cages around their cock and balls and Gabby always hints that my time is coming. I’ve resisted so far but I admit I am intrigued. I’ve learned a dose of humiliation every now and then is quite stimulating but I’m not sure how I’d feel to have all choice taken away. I’ve learned there is a vast universe of sexual excitement and we have much to explore. We’re young and just getting started. We have time.

Our friendship with Tom and Donna has taught us many things. We’ve learned there are far greater numbers of couples like us than we ever suspected. We’ve expanded our understanding of the sweet pleasures of psychological torture and torment. We've learned what a Bull is and how to behave around him.

We made Brandon our Bull.

He visits our home when he wants to fuck Gabby and I accept it. I'm a tough but fair boss and an aggressive and assertive business man, but I turn docile in the face of Gabby's desires for Brandon. Four years later and I've still never properly joined them in a threesome. When Brandon visits, Gabby is his. I make sure she cums as hard as possible, but Brandon is the alpha.

We do not share Brandon with our friends at the Bradley's.

A few days ago, Gabby and I discussed having children and agreed we'd be ready in four or five years. Then she dropped a bombshell on me, suggesting once we try to get pregnant, we add Brandon to the mix and let the chips fall where they may. My temperature soared over two-hundred degrees, I'm sure of it.

"We'll raise the baby as our own," Gabby said. "But never know for sure. Can you imagine the sex we'll have trying to get me pregnant? You'll turn into a maniac, Baby, I'm sure of it."

I know she's right and I confess, the idea turns me on.

Ten years ago, we stood at the bottom of the steps leading up to Jeremiah Smith Hall. We had no idea that what we thought was about to happen was wildly inaccurate. Never in a million years could I have predicted the path we took. We've gotten our ass kicked but had more than our fair share of victories. I wouldn't trade that decade for anything. Gabby is my wife and we are closer than ever, and far closer than any other couple we know, and that includes my parents. There are many reasons and plenty of intangibles, but I sincerely believe the main reason we have been so successful is because we stay true.

It works for us beautifully.

End.

BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com

Follow My Tumblr blog; MyEroticBunny.tumblr.com

Follow My Twitter; twitter.com/MyEroticBunny.

Get a FREE Hotwife Story!

Join My Mailing List

<http://eepurl.com/cTvA7P>