

Happy Anniversary Darling

The Adventures of Jennifer and Mark

MATTHEW LEE

Chapter One

I slipped the plastic card into the slot quickly, in-out, and the tiny red light turned green, and I pushed the door open and held it for my wife, Jennifer. As we entered the room the panorama came into view and she squealed with excitement. A spectacular sun was settling into a spectacular Pacific and filled the room with spectacular oranges and reds. We looked at each other and laughed with happiness. Our one year anniversary was off to an amazing start. I returned to the hallway to retrieve our other suitcases and discovered the occupant of the room next to ours struggling with his key lock. I hesitated to help him. Not because I couldn't be bothered, but because of the size of him.

He was intimidating. Easily six to eight inches taller than me and many, many pounds heavier, he was a formidable man. He filled the hallway. The tightly stretched fabric of his shirt struggled to contain his thick, massive arms and his khaki shorts were likewise strained around his immense thighs. He noticed me standing there and his imploring eyes met mine. I took the card from his hand and quickly opened his door for him. He hung his head, embarrassed and smiling. I nodded to my door.

"I had practice."

He laughed and extended his hand which I shook, my normal-sized hand getting a little lost in his.

"I'm Bryan," he said.

"Mark."

We exchanged small talk for a few minutes. He played for a farm NFL team and was on the island vacationing just like us. Jennifer heard us talking in the hall and poked her head around the corner and I introduced her to Bryan. He was easily twice the size of her, maybe more. I thought I noticed her eyes on his for half a heart-beat too long. She mentioned we were celebrating our one year anniversary and Bryan insisted the drinks tonight were on him. He also tossed in he owed me for getting his door open. We all shook hands again and retired to our rooms.

Jennifer announced she was taking a bath and I began unpacking all our belongings. An hour later we were seated at our table enjoying the most delicious steak and lobster we'd had in years. After dinner we moved to the bar for drinks and music and Bryan was there so he joined us. He told amazing stories of a life playing football and we talked about our corporate successes. Sometimes an instant friendship will pop up between people and this was one of those times. Hours flew by as did the drinks and it was late before we knew it. I guided a wobbly Jennifer back to our room and we all said our goodnights.

Jennifer was a voracious beast in bed, attacking my penis with her hands and mouth until she had me rock hard, then rolled me on my back and fucked me until she ripped my orgasm out of me, her pussy milking all I had. I returned the favor with my tongue and had her clawing the starched white sheets before she screamed her pleasure into a pillow. We both collapsed, sweaty and smiling and awoke the next morning right where we had fallen asleep.

I woke before she did and took a few moments to drink her in. Her long dark hair splayed across the pillow and the sheet only covered her from the knees down. The sharp angle of the early morning sun shaded and shadowed all the dents of her fit body. She looked gloriously sexy. As my eyes drifted up I came at last to her sweet face and hazel eyes and discovered they were open and watching me watch her. She laughed at my surprise and grabbed my face and kissed me. An intense make-out session pushed breakfast back an hour.

We spent the morning shopping and then, once the sun had risen high enough, made our way to the beach. Walking along the trail we saw a sign at a trail head warning bathing suits were optional beyond this point and I raised an eyebrow at her. She laughed again and told me maybe later and after a lot of wine and we took the other trail to the regular beach.

The water was perfect and the sun not too hot and after a couple hours I reached for the sunscreen only to discover it must have fallen out in the rental car. I told Jennifer I'd run to the car and get it and she kissed me and rolled onto her stomach. I stood there admiring her athletic body for the second time that day until she told me to stop gawking and go get the lotion. I walked away glancing back often.

From the beach I saw the trail curled around and realized cutting across would save me a lot of time, so I angled for the shortest route and off I went. Fifteen minutes later I discovered this route took me through a section of the nude beach and soon I was walking in-between naked people.

I steered towards our car and then thought I saw someone familiar. It was Bryan laying nude in the sun, his eyes closed, headphones on. His body was an extreme exaggeration of the male physique. He had a physical presence there on the sand. His dense frame radiated raw strength and power. I saw other men and women near him stealing glances, marveling at his solid oak build. He had a circle of open space around him as if nobody wanted to get too close. I tried not to look but I have to admit my eyes strayed to his penis and immediately regretted it as the wave of inadequacy that flooded me was no fun at all.

His dick almost made me angry and wiped away any sense of fairness I thought the universe had. This mountain of stacked boulders had a pillar of flesh attached to his body that shamed any porn-star. Lying on his back, the generous tan shaft stretched across his hips and the large head almost reached the sand. His balls were as plump as apples. How can this be fair? Brains, health, talent, money and muscles; somewhere on the planet there was someone living a miserable life to balance out all the favor Bryan received at birth. I had no real complaint; Jenifer and I lived a wonderful, passionate life, full of love and laughter. Still, owning a dick like that must be nice.

For a split-second I thought about saying hello, mostly so everyone present could witness that I knew him, but decided against it, allowing him his privacy. I imagined his life is usually fairly public and I wanted to avoid intruding on it. Let him have his alone time.

I made it to the car and on the way back noticed his fingers were tapping to the tune on his headphones. He never saw me.

Jennifer was dozing when I got back and I woke her to spread some lotion. We talked about our plans for the night, agreeing on dinner and dancing and beyond that our plans for this trip and the adventurous spirit we both wanted to have regarding it; para-sailing, cliff-diving...we wanted to try everything. Jennifer loves to flirt and has never tried to hide that fact from me. I wouldn't want her to. I love that other men want her. It boosts my ego and makes her even more desirable in my eyes. Some of our best sex has come after nights of drinking and dancing and watching her act wantonly.

When we finished our conversation our eyes were glowing. We share a bond and always know when the other feels a wave of love well up in them. I saw it in her eyes and we kissed deeply, telling each other of our intense love and devotion. I would say we'd never been happier but the truth is we spent most of our days so connected. We rarely fought, our morals and ethics were virtually the same, our sex was amazing, and our goals for life were almost a mirror. We were both fully aware of our great fortune. Jennifer commented once that for us, every day was Thanksgiving and I had to agree.

Hours later we returned to our suite and napped, drained by the sun, but not before I stepped into the shower with her and took her standing up, pressing her full tits against the Travertine facade.

Dinner was excellent, again, and the dance club was seething with gorgeous men and women and by the looks in their eyes, everyone had sex on their minds. The feel of the place really got to us and Jennifer was particularly affected by it. We stepped out into the cooler night air to catch our breath and share a drink. I found myself staring at her yet again and she noticed and loved it. A sudden thought occurred to me.

“Is Bryan handsome?” I asked.

Jennifer smiled and dug a toe in the sand.

“When did I give it away? I was trying to be so cool.”

“The moment you met him...you held his gaze just a half-second too long. Cute? Handsome? Gorgeous?”

Jennifer laughed again. “Is there an all-of-the-above box? I hope this news doesn’t upset you.”

“Not at all my love. I thought I saw you notice so I was just confirming.”

“You know all my little quirks, don’t you?”

“Yes. All of them. Like I know that crowd inside has you totally hot and ready.”

She laughed again and eyed me mischievously.

“What?” I questioned.

She bit her bottom lip.

“What?” I asked again.

“Well, we can leave now, go back to our room and fuck ourselves senseless, or...”

“What?”

“We can stay here dancing and drinking and in the spirit of adventure get really carried away until we are so over-sexed we can’t walk straight and then go back to our room and fuck like animals.”

Now it was my turn to laugh.

“I’ll take door number two, thank you.”

Jennifer beamed.

“I was hoping you would say that,” she said.

We finished our drink and headed back inside.

“Oh,” she began, stopping me at the door. “We need to talk about something. While you were in the bathroom three guys asked me to dance. I turned them all down because we hadn’t talked about that and I didn’t want you to come back and find me on the dance floor without you. How do you feel about it Baby? Would it bother you or are you cool? Either way is fine with me.”

I studied her face. Either way would be fine with her but I suspected dancing with handsome strangers would get her a little more worked up and since our plan was to fuck like animals once we got back to our room, I wanted her as excited as possible.

“Dance with them,” I said. “Dance their asses off. Run them into the ground. Anything you want Baby, let’s have some serious fun.”

She kissed me hard with a slippery tongue and twirled before opening the door, her skirt rising and showing plenty of toned thighs. She jammed a fist towards the sky and whooped. “Serious fun!” she bellowed.

She didn’t sit down for the next two hours. Once the guys saw she was available even though she was with me, they swarmed. I kept the drinks flowing and worked in my dances with her too, but her card was full. A few guys had roaming hands, which she quickly corrected, but I noticed as the night wore on she became less concerned with what they were getting away with. One tall blonde man even kissed her neck and earlobe and she didn’t stop him, mentioning him later and apologizing. I told her not to worry and just have fun. She looked at me a little askance but said nothing. The truth is none of it made me jealous. Maybe because I am so confident in her love for me, but what they were doing, her included, struck me as utterly harmless. It was just flirty fun.

I watched her walking towards me through the packed dance floor and saw the crowd parting before her. Finally she emerged and I realized she had Bryan in tow. Her face was lit up.

“Look who’s here!” She yelled over the music. Bryan gave me a hug and hugged Jennifer too, lifting her easily off her feet. I doubted she weighed as much as one of his legs. The three of us sat and screamed at each other for a while and I noticed all the other males held back from her now. Not one of them asked her to dance while Bryan was at our table. As I excused myself for a bathroom trip the next song started booming and Jennifer gave me a quick kiss and pulled Bryan onto the floor.

On my way I stopped to watch them dance. Jennifer had enough alcohol in her now that she was bumping and grinding and moving her hips and shoulders in sexy ways that a stripper would envy. Bryan was a conservative dancer and tried to keep a respectful distance, but Jen had fun with him, leaning against his body, turning her back to him and allowing their bodies to barely brush, flirting mercilessly with him until the discomfort was obvious on his face. She just laughed maniacally. I loved watching her have so much fun.

Jennifer leaned in and held Bryan's face as she said something into his ear. He showed surprise. She nodded and leaned in again, telling him more and again his face lit up. I wondered what she could be saying. Whatever she had told him, it worked magic. Bryan relaxed and smiled, rolled his shoulders and began to bust out some smooth dance moves. He moved well. Jen whooped for the second time that night, egging him on. I laughed. Jen watched him for a moment or two, clapping and cheering, and then held out her arms for a hug. Bryan was laughing now too and wrapped his arms around her. She almost disappeared completely. They held that pose for a while, unperturbed by the other dancers bouncing all around them. Their faces pulled back from each other and both were beaming with the joy and pure fun they were having.

Then Jen held his neck and kissed Bryan on the lips.

My jaw fell open. My blood turned icy.

Bryan kissed her back for one heartbeat, then two, and then pulled away, clearly conflicted. Jen's face was dreamy for a second and then she snapped out of it, panic rushing in. I saw her hold his face and she was clearly apologizing. He was too. They stood there in the middle of the dance floor talking fast. Finally they hugged and headed back for our table. I exhaled, only then realizing I had been holding my breath, and entered the restroom. I searched myself and again, no jealousy, which this time I thought was a little odd. I decided I must also really trust Bryan. I was a little hurt, feeling like she had gone too far, but it never rose to the level of anger.

When I returned to the table the mood was subdued. Jen and I danced a few more times, as did she and Bryan, but they kept their distance this time. By now the crowd had begun to thin and we settled our bill and left, Bryan walking with us back to the hotel. Jen was between us with each of her arms looped through one of ours. Conversation was light and topical and after a few minutes we were all laughing again. At our doors we all said good night.

As soon as I closed and locked our door, Jen dropped to her knees and tugged out my sweaty penis. I wanted to talk to her about what had happened but she was excellent at distracting me. My emotions were muddled and I was hurt by what she had done, but surprisingly I was hard in record time and not just hard but hard as diamond hard.

She moaned and forced my dick to the back of her mouth and then down her throat, ravenously sucking and licking my shaft. She twisted my scrotum and pulled and before I even knew what hit me I saw stars and exploded in her mouth. I crumpled to the carpet right by the door and she crawled up my chest and snuggled me, purring like a cat. I wondered if I had just received a blowjob by guilt. Then it occurred to me that in her mind it may not have even been my dick she was sucking but Bryan's or any of the other men at the club tonight. I know better than to open my mouth when my brain is doing shit like this to me so I lay there silent but silence is also a message and she knew it. Normally I would have been raving about her skills or pushing her onto her back to return the favor.

"So you saw," she stated, after a minute.

Something warned me to proceed cautiously.

"Yes," I answered.

We lay there quietly for a few minutes before she spoke again.

"I won't do you the disrespect of saying it was meaningless. If you saw then you also saw it was meaningful. I'm just worried about what meaning you believe you saw."

"It looked like affection...adoration maybe...certainly powerful attraction...perhaps fueled by thoughts of infidelity."

She turned my eyes to hers.

"No," she emphatically stated. "No. Not even close."

I breathed a sigh of relief and she heard it.

"My poor baby," she cooed. "Never, ever, ever fear that. I am with you to the end of time. You are my whole world."

I stroked her head.

"We have been married for a year but together much longer than that. Tonight you gave me permission to act single but without the desperation of being single. It was pure cocaine, Honey. I flirted and danced and soaked up all that desire for me, knowing I would be sleeping next to the love of my life tonight. God Baby! All those men wanting me was so intoxicating! I was so turned on all night! Every time I looked over at you it appeared you were enjoying it almost as much as me. Then Bryan showed up and he is really something else. He is so masculine and manly. I felt invulnerable. With you and him within arm's reach I felt totally safe and secure. I saw in his eyes how much he wants me but I also knew he would never do anything. He knows I belong to you. He's a good man, just like you are. I got so carried away by it all I felt for a moment like I wanted it all. I kissed him because I knew he would never kiss me and knowing that just made me want to kiss him even more."

I moved up to my elbows to look into her eyes as she talked to me. She continued.

"So I kissed him. A real kiss, and I'm sorry."

I mulled over and rejected several lines of questioning before I finally spoke. The little voice again warned me to be cautious.

"On the dance floor, I saw you talking. What was said?"

"I told him to relax. He said he wanted to respect you. He said he is a good judge of character and he thinks highly of you. I told him you gave me permission to have all the fun I wanted and if he didn't lighten up he was going to ruin my night."

I nodded, debating my next question. I decided to ask it.

"I have a hard question to ask and I want you to be brutally honest."

She nodded her head. I swallowed hard before I went on.

"Just now, whose dick were you sucking?"

Her eyes got big and I saw the hurt there but she had kind of fucked-up tonight so she bravely took it. She knew she had it coming. I immediately regretted my question and wanted to wrap my arms around her and tell her everything was okay, but I resisted. I wanted the truth. She fought back her tears and won and took a deep breath. I saw her calculating and finally reach an output. I dreaded what I might hear but also felt like I was punishing her a little by making her say it. I know that sounds a little sick.

I nudged her again. "Whose?"

She looked at the carpet.

"Bryan's"

My whole body got hot enough to cook an egg. Fuck. My wife had just imagined she was sucking another man's dick, and not just sucking, but attacking it, hungry for his sperm, wildly turned on and hot for him.

I stood and walked to the bathroom, leaving her in a little forlorn, crumpled pile on the floor. I locked the door and showered alone, my mind doing cartwheels. I was upset, true, and angry, but not as angry as I thought I should be, which felt weird, and besides, isn't anger really just fear's bitch? So what was I afraid of? Well, of losing her to another man, obviously. But deep in my gut I knew that wasn't possible. Fear flamed again, warning me I was a sap to think that, but the fear had no teeth; I knew no man could ever fuck her away from me. She may leave me some day for someone else, but it won't be because he fucks better than me. She loves sex but that's just not her style. As each minute passed, more anger drained away. I didn't like what she had done, but I understood better now. I was less threatened by it. Feeling less threatened by it allowed me to examine it objectively and when I did that, surprise, I discovered seeing her act so sexual was actually a big turn on.

When I opened the bathroom door she was curled in a fetal position on the bed. As I approached her, really having no idea what to do next, my dick began to harden. By the time I crossed the room to the bed my towel was tented. I dropped it on the floor.

I rolled her on her back and kissed her. She was confused and unsure of what was happening but then she glanced down and saw me naked and saw me hard and throbbing and a question came into her eyes. I kissed her again, never allowing her the time to speak, and began peeling her sweaty clothes off. She tried to stop me, asking me to let her go shower too, but now I was driven; I wanted her dirty. I wanted her sweaty and tasting of alcohol and smelling of smoke. I slipped a finger in her mouth as I kissed my way down her body until I forced her legs apart and pushed a wriggling tongue up inside her and discovered she was a gushing, dripping mess. Our recent conflict had done nothing to cool the hot desire Bryan and all the dancing and drink had created.

I slid fingers into her and began pumping and then slipped another finger up her ass. I attacked her just as she had attacked me but not in revenge. I was desperate to have her. I saw her both as my wife and as a vibrant, aroused woman, full of earthly wants and desires. She had grown in my eyes. The truth is, she was more than just my wife. I hadn't thought it possible but she was now more attractive to me. I had seen a new part of her and I loved that part too.

In a testament to how turned on she was, in minutes she arched her back and moaned loudly and exploded in a body wide orgasm. But I was unrelenting and began immediately driving her towards her next one. The events of the night had left her more aroused than I could remember seeing her and over the next few hours I reduced her to a screaming mass of quivering flesh. By the time I pumped her full of cum, she was oblivious to the world around her.

I pulled the covers up and let her sleep. I had a lot to think about.

I walked out on our balcony and breathed in the ocean air. I guessed the time around three or four in the morning. All was still. A light mist lay on the beach below. Up and down the coast city lights twinkled. It was the same view we had enjoyed for days but now seemed different. It wasn't. I was.

Chapter Two

The next few days flew by. We did not see Bryan but there were times I heard him come back to his room very late. Jennifer and I were fine after the first day's awkwardness. I explained about the new way I saw her and let her know I embraced it, which she loved. I felt closer than before and so did she.

When we had sex that night it started off clumsy but soon we were into it. The longer we went, the hotter it got. On a hunch I started talking to her about all the men wanting to dance with her that night and she moaned and closed her eyes.

I moved her to all-fours and came up behind her, teasing her slit with the tip of my dick. I kept talking, reminding her of the roaming hands she had to stop. When I got to the man that boldly kissed her neck and earlobe she gasped, remembering his touch. Her pussy was saturated and dripping and she was shoving it back towards me, trying to get herself penetrated with penis. I was loving this game. I tried to figure how to describe her time with Bryan, or if I should even bring it up. What if it was too raw for her? What if she felt so bad it would kill the mood instead of enhance it? On a whim I decided to go for it, but from a different angle.

“Remember our first day at the beach?” I asked her, rubbing the head of my cock all over her pussy lips.

“Yes,” she moaned, drawing out the last s sound.

“On my walk back to the car I took a short-cut through the nude section. I saw Bryan lying out. Nude. I’ve seen his body naked, Baby.”

Jennifer moaned and then cut it off. She squeezed her eyes shut then opened them wide to stare at me over her shoulder.

“Is that true?”

I hesitated. Why did it suddenly feel like I had a bull tied to a leash? Her interest was very real.

“Yes, baby. I saw him. I saw everything. Everything.”

She bit her lip. Her eyes were now filled with conflict. She desperately wanted to know everything I’d seen but was afraid for me to see how badly she wanted to know. She wanted me to tell her everything but had to be patient or risk hurting me again. Strangely, her desire for Bryan once again made my dick jump. I felt a little jealousy and excitement at the same time. Her eyes silently pleaded with me to go on. I considered just fucking her and saving what I’d seen for another time but I perversely enjoyed her desire.

“He’s like three men crammed into one body,” I told her. “No fat at all; ripped up abs and arms, thighs like pillars, ass like marble.”

Jennifer moaned and buried her face in the pillows. Her right hand reached under to rub her clit. I lay across her back and moved my mouth down to her ear and continued in a hot whisper.

“You should see his cock Baby. It’s smooth like a python and thicker than your wrist. It lay across his thigh like a fallen tree branch. ”

Jennifer groaned into her pillow and thrust back against me. She was so wet my inches sank in easily. I let her pump her hips against me, fucking herself on my dick, her hand rubbing vigorously. I knew she was close to cumming and I knew it would be a good one.

A detached part of me watched all these proceedings with interest. I’d never seen Jennifer act like this. Talking about another man was new to us. I loved how excited she was but part of me was bugged her excitement was for someone else. But was it? Or was her excitement because she was sharing this with me and we were acting very naughty? Perhaps the intimacy and trust required for us to share this was driving her higher?

I looked down at her back and saw she had begun to sweat. I was suddenly wildly aroused but not sure why. I think it was because she was like an animal now, a jungle woman, lusty and craving fucking and cocks and balls and men. I wanted to see more of her like this.

I grabbed her hips and rammed it home. She cried out and told me to do it again, harder. I did. Then I did it again. Then I pounded her sweet pussy mercilessly, punishing her for wanting another man, driving her face into the headboard as I gripped a handful of hair and slapped her ass. She just screamed at me to fuck her harder. I slapped her ass again; a stinging blow that brought tears to her eyes. I reached under and pinched a nipple hard enough to make her gasp and drove my cock right up against her cervix. She moaned loud and long, loving the beating she was taking. I still wanted more.

“I love you like this,” I hissed. “My sweet slut; not just my wife, but a woman filled with her own wants and desires. You’re gorgeous and sexy. I see you more clearly now and you are even more beautiful than before.”

Jennifer hung on my every word. She could have cum by now but she was waiting, waiting and allowing the tension to build. I pounded her cunt with crazy force, each slam of my hips sending electric jolts up her spine and out through her body. I was fucking her. She was getting fucked and she loved it. I wasn’t her husband at that moment. I was a hard cock crushing her pussy. I was a faceless man taking what he urgently desired and only she could provide. She gave herself up to being used and was thrilled for it. I could have done anything I wanted to her at that moment. She would deny me nothing. She was mine.

“I should go next door and bring Bryan back here to fuck you,” I whispered. “You’d love his big fat cock.”

She sobbed a frenzied cry and exploded in a body wracking orgasm. I held on to her, driving my penis repeatedly deep, watching her losing her mind as her body jerked and convulsed in absolute surrender. Her climax was long and powerful. By the end she was weeping. I withdrew and cradled her in my arms until she came back to herself. When she noticed my throbbing penis she lowered her mouth and enveloped me, gently suckling until I gave her my seed, then weakly curling up in my arms and falling fast asleep.

I felt like the echoes of my last sentence were still bouncing around the room and now, with the excitement all drained away, I wanted them to leave. Why had I said that? I was nervous. I felt like I had gone too far. What would she say to me when she woke?

Chapter Three

At breakfast the next morning the waitress told us about a cove on the other side of the island. We rented a car again and made a whole day of it. The cove was more beautiful than she described and we were all alone. Jennifer was extra affectionate all day, always touching my arm or resting her head on my shoulder. I loved it. I felt extremely close to her and saw in her eyes she felt the same.

As we lay in the sun we discussed plans for that night, and agreed more dancing was required. We finished talking and a calm silence settled on us. She was looking at me with a funny expression. I waited for her to speak and she did.

“So, I have to ask; what’s happening here Honey? At first you are angry I sucked your cock imagining it was Bryan’s then you come back from your shower and fuck my brains out. Next you talk to me about all those men wanting me which I admit got me really hot but I could tell also really turned you on too. Finally, you bring up Bryan, and not just the fact I impulsively kissed him, no, you bring up his hot body and big dick and suggest he fuck me. So, what is going on here? Don’t get me wrong, I love all this new and exciting stuff we are adding to our love life. I just want to know what the rules are. I had no idea you could be so kinky and frankly, it’s awesome.”

I contemplated before answering but could come up with nothing definite.

“Honestly Baby, I wish I could tell you. It is a mess inside my head. I am hurt and jealous but also excited by all that has happened.”

“Which one do you feel most strongly?”

“Excited.”

Jennifer smiled.

“That’s good to know,” she said, an odd look in her eyes. “Bryan is super fucking hot and I love the way he looks at me. I plan on flirting with him a lot.”

She surprised me by looking around and removing her top, making her breasts sway. She leaned over to kiss my lips then shouted “Spirit of adventure!” to an empty beach. I felt like I had admitted more than she had and I wanted to even things up. I went for shock value.

“So if I wasn’t around you’d fuck Bryan?”

She laughed once, hard.

“Jesus, Honey! No! I’ll never cheat on you.”

“I don’t mean like that. I mean if we had never met. I mean would Bryan make your ‘yes I would do him’ list?”

Jennifer leaned over and gave me a slow, sexy, lingering kiss.

“Bryan,” she whispered into my ear, “would be at the top of my list, and the only name on it...”

Sometimes, even when you know someone is fucking with you, they still get to you. This was one of those times. She was joking, but not entirely, and that grain of truth was exciting. I don’t know what my face did but Jen looked at me and chuckled. I was turned on by her overt sexuality and my penis twitched in my trunks. She saw it and gave it a squeeze, which turned into a pump, which then became a blowjob.

She stopped sucking long enough to ask me a question. “Why do you get so turned on when I act slutty?”

“Honestly, I can’t answer that directly. I’ve always loved watching you flirt and the way men look at you. You’re sexy and you’re sexual, and that turns me on.”

“I’m going to play with that on this vacation...unless you actually tell me not to. I’m going to push our safe little envelope. Cool?”

“What, exactly, am I agreeing to?”

“Your naughty wife acting slutty.” Her hand and mouth sped up on my dick. “I may even shock you. I trust if I go too far, you’ll forgive me and we’ll be fine....”

I came fast and she swallowed it all.

We both dozed an hour or so. I was awakened by Jennifer slipping her hot mouth around my penis again and soon we were making love in the sunlight. Two hours later we made love again. We’d already had more sex on this vacation than in a month at home, leading our busy lives. Once we returned the car and were back in our room, she once more took me into her mouth until I was hard, then rolled me onto my back and mounted me, riding me hard and fast until she came and then collapsing next to me on the bed with a promise to finish me off later. I didn’t mind. By my score I was way ahead. As we drifted off I was thinking about all the sex we were having on this trip and how much of it was initiated by Jen. It seemed we were both in a constant state of arousal. I loved it but a little part of me worried too. This behavior was different for us and felt unpredictable. I fell asleep telling myself to shut the fuck up and roll with it. We were on vacation.

When I woke up a little while later, she wasn't on the bed next to me. I checked the bathroom and the rest of the suite but found no sign of her. My phone was still on the nightstand but hers was gone. I stood in the middle of the room figuring my next move when I heard muffled voices through the wall. Was she with Bryan? My heart leapt into my throat. I took two hurried steps for the door and then made myself stop and calm down. Bryan could be trusted and Jennifer would never do something behind my back. I took a deep breath and changed into a T-shirt and khaki shorts.

I checked the mirror to make sure I didn't look like I had just woken up and run over in a panic and then I walked next door. Jennifer opened the door and smiled, then gave me a kiss and stepped back, allowing me in. She wore tight white shorts and a thin white tank top over her bikini and in the cool hotel room air, her nipples stood up. Bryan was in the far room watching a football game and taking notes.

"Sorry, Baby," Jennifer said. "I couldn't sleep and you were out of it. I heard Bryan come up to his room so I asked him to keep me company. He's teaching me football. I had no idea it was so complicated."

"Beer in the fridge!" Bryan yelled from the other room.

"Thanks!" I yelled back.

Jennifer's eyes danced with laughter. Not scornful derision, but playful excitement. She was in the same boat as me; neither of us knew what we were doing or where any of this would lead. What we did know was that it was exciting and new and made us feel alive. The adrenaline rushes were intense.

I realized this scenario was very different based on our gender. As a male I had to keep my woman away from other males who would try to steal her. Jen had no worry that Bryan would steal me from her. Her only worry was me and my feelings, me getting hurt if she flirted too much. My frequent and spontaneous erections had clearly given her the idea that deep-down, in spite of anything I might say to the contrary, I actually loved all this. I had to admit she may be right.

I grabbed a beer and Jen and I entered the room with Bryan. He was using the remote to study the game, running the play backward and forward. He was wearing a light white robe, tied at the waist, which had fallen open across a meaty thigh and was parted across his massive chest. He dwarfed the furniture. The remote looked like a black toothpick in his hand.

When I looked up at Jen she was staring at me and playfully biting her bottom lip. Bryan was oblivious to us, all his attention focused on the game film. We both looked at Bryan and then back to each other and she silently mouthed the words “Oh my god!” and tweaked her nipples. Her nipples were now straining against the fabric of her shirt, apparently trying to burst free. I felt the now familiar rush of warm excitement. We looked back at Bryan and I tried to see what she saw. He radiated raw strength and power. His voice was deep and rumbled when he spoke. Everything about him screamed male. Still looking at me, Jen moved around the couch behind him and leaned over his shoulder.

“Tell me what you are looking for in this play,” she asked, smirking at me. She could not care less about football. She just loved being that close to him.

Bryan gestured at the screen with the remote. “Jenkins, the half-back. He has a tell. What I mean is on passing plays he fakes with his hands and on running plays he doesn’t. I’m going to use that against him come August.”

Bryan jotted down a few notes and then went back to the game as if he was alone. On the screen a player made a hard-hitting tackle.

Bryan yelled “BOOM!” and punched the air, causing his robe to open more. I saw Jen look down the front of him into his lap and her eyes opened wider and her jaw slowly dropped. I moved to stand next to her and saw what she saw; Bryan’s thick, soft cock lay partially exposed and the head of it was hanging off the front of the couch. Jen blushed but did not look away. Finally I nudged her and jerked my head towards the door, mouthing the words “Let’s go” to her. She shook her head no and slowly licked her lips. I gave her a playful exaggerated stern look and mouthed “NOW” and this time she nodded in agreement but took one last lingering look at Bryan’s chest, thigh, and dick.

We moved to the door telling Bryan we would be at the club again tonight. He started to apologize about the kiss but I cut him off, telling him not to worry at all, blaming it on dancing and drink. Then, and I had no idea why I said it, I perversely added, “Actually it was pretty hot. You two make a sexy couple.”

I felt my face burn as soon as the words left my mouth and I rapidly closed the door behind us so I couldn’t see his reaction. I sure saw Jen’s though. She was staring at me, mouth agape, shock and amusement all over her face.

“What the hell was that?” she whispered hoarsely. “Are you trying to encourage him?”

I shrugged, embarrassed, eager to get out of the hall and back to our room. I took Jen by the arm and quickly steered her through the door.

This time she didn’t wait for the door to close. She was on her knees with my dick in her mouth almost instantly. I closed the door and leaned against it and let her do her work. She’s phenomenally talented. I told her to close her eyes and she did. I knew exactly what she was imagining but this time it didn’t bother me, at least not enough for me to give it any thought. Jen was on her knees sucking Big Bryan right now and I was happy to fuel her fantasy. I let her go for a few minutes before I spoke.

“I know what you are thinking...”

Jen moaned and reached for her clit, her head bobbing fast. I didn’t last long and neither did she.

Chapter Four

Later, as we dressed for dinner and dancing, it occurred to me that Bryan was certainly not the first man Jen had fantasized about. I knew she masturbated. Sometimes at work I would get a text telling me she had just rubbed one out and was now going grocery shopping. I’d never thought about it before, but what did she think about while she did it? Did I really want to know? Aren’t her private thoughts private? If I asked her, she would ask me, and did I want to tell her some of the crazy shit I imagined? I decided to leave it alone and grow up a little. If she imagined a movie star or the man next door, what’s the difference? This was all about my insecurities, not her unfaithful behavior.

I watched her at the bathroom mirror applying make-up. She used very little. She didn’t need any. She saw me watching and smiled, understanding the adoration in my face. More and more I was seeing her as an individual and not just someone in my life for me. This trip had brought her closer to me than ever before. I saw it in her face too; we were falling even deeper in love with each other. I resolved to show her how I felt about her more often; flowers, little gifts, doing those chores I know she hated. I wanted to court her the rest of my life.

She slipped her earrings in and buttoned her sheer blouse. Her black skirt came to mid-thigh. She looked delicious. She stopped and regarded me; put her hands on her hips.

“You look like a man in love.”

“I am. Deeply.”

“You also look like you want to eat me for dessert.”

“I do, and I will, later.”

She did that bottom lip biting thing again and paused, then reached up under her skirt and removed her panties, tossed them at my feet, and then smoothed her skirt back in place.

“I bet that makes you run a little warmer all night,” she teased.

“I bet that makes YOU run a little warmer all night,” I shot right back.

In fact, she ran hot.

We talked before we entered the club and I let her know the same rules applied this time as last time, but then I allowed her to take it even farther. She raised her eyebrows at that but I assured her it was okay. What happens on this vacation stays on this vacation. Her buttons matched my buttons in a potentially dangerous mix, but our relationship felt utterly secure.

“Mark, are you sure? That’s kind of kinky. I love it; I just can’t believe you’re okay with it.”

“I am. I promise.”

For the first hour we sat and mostly talked and drank, until a black-haired frat boy asked her to dance. After that she was once again the belle of the ball. When the roaming hands started again she did not smack them, or she only smacked the worst offenders. After a time she returned to our table breathless and sweating and downed her Gentleman Jack. She was glowing. I asked if she was having fun and she gushed she was and asked if I was still okay with what I was seeing. I assured her I was. We were both getting aroused by all the attention she was receiving.

She was out on the floor when a slow song played and her partner took her into his arms without asking, which I think she liked. After a moment his hand began to trail across her back and arms and he softly kissed her neck. She tilted her head to allow him easier access. Emboldened, he turned her face to his and gazed into her eyes. She did not flinch or look away. When he brought his lips against hers I saw her close her eyes and melt into the kiss.

Jealousy reared an ugly head, but only for a second, and was run over by hot, burning lust. I loved other men wanting my wife so much and I loved how much she wanted it too. I shifted in my seat as my erection grew.

Jen opened her eyes and checked on me and whatever she saw on my face told her she could continue. She held his face in her hands and kissed him again, deep and with passion. She looked so fucking sexy. I watched as he discretely brought his hand up and cupped her breast, teasing the nipple, and the kiss jumped up in intensity. I'm sure if I had been standing close enough I'd have heard Jennifer moan with desire. This was crazy hot.

Bryan never showed up that night but Jennifer and I weren't disappointed. I watched all night as Jen dance and played with a parade of men she found attractive until she couldn't stand it anymore and made me take her back to our room and fuck the remaining night away. We didn't wake up until almost noon the next day. That night I saw men secretly play with her breasts and rub her pussy under her skirt. I saw her making out with an older gentleman on the dance floor and then go back to his table with him to make out some more.

She collected over three dozen phone numbers and business cards. We were laughing like crazy people once we were back in our room. I had a few moments of jealousy, of course, but they passed quickly, or I guess it would be more accurate to say the jealousy got folded into the excitement and began part of the experience. We were using other men to enhance our sex and everybody was happy with the arrangement; nothing behind my back, nothing taken too far. We were exhausted by the time we fell asleep.

The next morning we had a light breakfast and headed for the beach but this time when we got to the nude beach warning sign, Jen hesitated. I made the decision for us and off to the nude beach we went, excited as little children.

Jen and I had never been to a nude beach but we don't live under a rock; we knew what to do. We acted cool, like we did it all the time, and spread out our blanket.

When Jennifer pulled off her bikini top, setting her breasts free for all to see, I felt a surge. When she stepped from her bottoms I felt light headed. She looked so sexy! She told me it was my turn and I didn't even care that I was partly erect. Off went my shorts and up went her eyebrows and we lay down to sweat out all the alcohol from the night before.

After a while I went down to the water to cool off. On the way back to our blanket I saw a middle-aged man talking to Jen, his dick hanging down between his legs. Jen was acting casual but I saw her stealing quick glances at it whenever the man looked away. In a minute he moved on.

"Make a new friend?" I asked as I approached.

"He asked where the closest restroom was. I tried to get his number or business card but he wasn't having any of that."

We both chuckled.

About an hour later I heard someone say "Oh my god..." and I looked up to see what they were talking about. It was Bryan. He was walking down the beach, nude, blanket and cooler over one shoulder. He was a tank, a golem, a mountain of walking flesh. Jen was still lying on her back, her gloriously fit body basking in the sun's rays. I thought for a moment I should warn her but how would we look scrambling to cover up so this man didn't see us? On top of that, Bryan was naked. How awkward would he feel if we suddenly got dressed while he was nude? No, the best path forward was to behave like adults and all of us to be okay with our own choices. He saw me and hesitated, but I waved him over.

The next few minutes are forever etched in my memory. I started talking with him and Jen's eyes snapped open. She sat up, shielding her eyes, and her face was less than a foot from Bryan's cock as he stood there. When she focused she was looking right at it. I held my breath. Time slowed way down.

Bryan was devouring Jen's body with his eyes, she was staring right at his cock, and I was taking it all in. She slowly lifted her gaze, crawling over every square inch of his body, and when their eyes finally met there was so much raw want and desire I thought they might both catch fire right there on the sand. She slipped on her mirrored sunglasses.

We were all painfully uncomfortable and talking way too fast. As a group we were mortified, embarrassed, amused, and aroused. What a mess.

I cleared a space for Bryan to place his blanket, sandwiching Jen between him and me, and reached over to shake his hand. Everyone on the beach was now wondering who the hell Jen and I were and honestly, I loved it. Bryan opened his cooler and pulled out miniature bottles of hard liquor and passed some over to us, remembering Jen drank Gentleman Jack and I preferred Petron.

By placing Jen between us I could study her while talking to him. Her tiny nostrils were flared and her nipples like rocks. I saw her ribs slowly rising and falling and I knew she was making herself take calming breaths. I don't know exactly why I get so excited when I see her excited, but Holy Fuck I do. We downed our little bottles quickly and he passed us another.

Behind my sunglasses I watched Jen ogling Bryan. I needed to watch her eyelashes to see where she was looking. She checked out his massive chest and arms, rippling abs and thighs. Jen was staring at him the way men stare at women. But no matter where she lingered, her eyes always came back to his cock.

Maybe the sun felt really good or maybe he knew Jen was gawking at his cock and he really liked it, but either way, Bryan began to grow. I finished off my second bottle and Jen finished her third. After a bit we all lay back to take in the sun and get a break from the manic sexual tension growing between us. Even so, every so often, Jen kept slightly raising her head to take a look at Bryan.

Sometime later all three of us sat up to talk some more. The tension had died down a bit so our conversation was going along smoothly until Jen mentioned she needed more sunscreen. Bryan and I glanced at each other as Jennifer popped the top, squirted some into her hands, and began to apply it starting at her arms. I think Bryan and I held our breath. Eventually she made it to her tummy and watching the sheen across her taut abs was very sexy, but utterly paled in comparison to the moment she began to spread the lotion across her breasts. Bryan and I were sitting cross-legged facing her and the more her hands traveled her incredible body, the more swollen I became. Then I noticed the same thing was happening to Bryan. I saw Jen shift her eyes from my very respectable but very average penis to Bryan's rapidly inflating monster. No contest, really. Her eyes fixated on it, then jumped to his eyes, then jumped back to his cock.

While I was able to somewhat hide my public erection in the shadowy confines of my lap, Bryan's rose ever higher into the air until the head actually emerged into the sunlight. If she hadn't noticed it already, there was no way Jen could avoid it now. Others laying nearby saw it too. Bryan's dick was standing straight up, fully inflated and bobbing, not quite as thick as a soda can and hard as concrete. I almost felt sorry for him but if you have to get an embarrassing public erection, then having a monster cock like his is the way to do it.

"Jennifer," Bryan rumbled, "You are breath-taking. What a woman." She casually thanked him, returning the compliment.

Jen's hands kept gliding the lotion all over her body but she only had eyes for Bryan. At one point she tweaked both her nipples and made both our cocks jump. When she finished she calmly rolled over onto her stomach and asked me to do her back. I moved into position and applied the cream.

My erection deflated and so did Bryan's but the tension in the air was thick. She was acting cool but I know Jen. I know even her little secret subconscious signals. She thought she appeared composed and unaffected and to anyone else looking at her, she did. But I know better. Curled toes, nervously digging at a cuticle, playing with her bangs; she was a smoldering volcano and when I got her back to the room, I was in for the fuck of my life.

She asked Bryan for another tiny bottle of booze and he had to scoot closer to get it to her. I was down working the lotion into her feet at the moment so I could not help her. She twisted her arm back awkwardly, reaching blindly and Bryan scooted closer one more time, taking her hand and placing the bottle in it. I told him to toss another over onto my blanket and when he rolled on his side to make the throw, his hefty cock fell across the back of Jen's thigh, slapping her like a side of beef. From my point of view I saw his dick head just an inch or so away from her perfect, engorged slit. Jen gasped. I sucked in a bushel of air and held it. Bryan said shit and tried to roll back but couldn't in the deep sand. We all froze.

Chapter Five

Earlier I mentioned how time sometimes slows way down. I think it depends on the intensity of the moment; the more intense, the slower time passes. I can tell you at this moment, time stopped. Then, one frame at a time, I saw Jen's delicate little hand reach back and try to determine what, exactly, had flopped across her skin and landed so close to her pussy. Then she slowly tried to wrap her fingers around the fleshy trunk of his shaft. She tugged his skin, once, twice, three times. Bryan and I were riveted to his cock in her hand. My wife had another man's cock in her hand! She may have just meant to move it but instinct was taking over and she was doing what she always does when she has a cock in her hand; she was stroking it.

Bryan looked at me for a reaction and again, whatever my face was doing told him to let it ride, see what happened next.

"Jen baby," he muttered, "that feels so, so good..."

Jennifer held her grip on his meat and turned over, moving up to her knees. She glanced once at me, probably looking for jealous rage, and when she didn't see it, she smiled and continued. With her free hand she pushed on Bryan's chest, getting him to lie on his back, and began to stroke his pole purposefully. Bryan once again swelled rapidly.

I glanced around at the beach crowd and discovered several were watching us. Strangers were watching my wife play with another man's cock. I felt my face and chest flush with embarrassment.

When I looked back Jen's hand was moving faster and Bryan was solid as an oak tree. His big balls were bouncing. Jen laid her face on his chest looking down his body at his big cock. Her free hand rubbed across his abs and thighs, then swooped down to cup his ball sac and roll his testicles around. Bryan closed his eyes and I saw his head fall back. Jen looked at me again and held my eyes for a second, then began to move her face towards his dick. I did nothing, which was all the encouragement she needed.

"Tell me to stop," Jen smirked.

I said nothing, mesmerized by the scene. The tiny part of my brain screaming at me, telling me to stop her and put her in her place, was completely overwhelmed by the intense rush of erotic excitement from what I was witnessing.

"Tell me to stop," she said again, flashing a wicked smile at me. Again, I said nothing.

Once close enough, Jen reached out her tongue and licked his hard shaft, following a fat vein with the tip of her tongue. I looked around to see how many people had just seen my wife lick another man's cock. There were a lot.

Jen once again locked eyes with me and once again waited for me to protest and when I didn't, she lifted her head up to the top of his shaft, closed her eyes, and with a moan born in the depths of her runaway desire, split her lips around his head and pushed his cock into her mouth and part way down her throat. Both of them groaned with intense desire. Jen moved her free hand down to her clit.

Jennifer began to suck him earnestly. The back of my neck and face burned from the shame of my wife pleasuring another man like this, and doing it in front of so many strangers, yet my goddamn penis still rose. I tried to feel rage and jealousy, and I did feel a little, but I felt raw excitement far more. A few of the men nearby moved over close to us and when they started jacking off to the spectacle, so did I.

My wife kept her eyes closed for a long time, stroking and pumping Bryan's dick. His moans were music to her. Her saliva covered him and dripped from his balls. When she finally opened her eyes she saw me jacking my dick to what she was doing. A loud, deep moan welled up from her guts and she cried out around the shaft in her mouth, cumming as she sucked. I almost came too.

She only gave herself a minute to recover, watching me jerk my dick the whole time, before she threw a leg over Bryan and straddled him, one knee in the blanket, her other leg holding her up. She looked so tiny against his huge body. His huge hands came up to her tits and I saw now his eyes were open. She tugged his big head and held him fully upright, a massive spear of enraged flesh aimed right at her soft open pussy.

"Baby," she said, her voice strained with lust. "Are you sure?"

I wanted it. I wanted to see it. I was so excited by the look in her eyes, how desperately she wanted him inside her. My wife looked insanely sexy, her wet, engorged cunt hovering less than an inch above the most manly cock I'd ever seen. My heart was pounding so hard it was breaking my ribs and I hadn't drawn a breath for over an hour. I tried to speak but my throat was as dry as dust. I could not believe we were here, now, doing what we were actually doing. I nodded to Jennifer.

Bryan and my wife gazed at each other as Jen lined him up, spread her cunt lips and lowered her tight, drenched pussy onto his shaft. His dickhead plowed into her slick tunnel aiming straight for her womb. Her head fell back and air hissed from her throat. When she bottomed out he still had about three inches outside her body.

I couldn't imagine what she must be feeling. We have a dildo at home bigger than me but still not as big as Bryan. This was uncharted waters. She has never in her life had something this big inside her. I watched my sweet wife lift and drop, lift and drop, coating his shaft with her juices, taking him a little deeper each time. He moved his hands from her tits to her hips and began taking control of her fucking. His muscles began to clench and flex, strong definition standing out in stark relief, as sweat broke across his skin. With his hands at her waist they more than wrapped around her and he began to lift her body effortlessly, using her pussy to fuck his dick. Jen came again.

Bryan took over. He lifted her like she weighed nothing and put my wife on all fours. Others had drawn up close now and were watching her public fucking along with me. Bryan buried his meat deep, stretching Jen in every direction. His big balls completely covered her labia. He held himself there, pressing deeper until Jen cried out, then pushed in deeper still. She sobbed her pleasure and growled at him to fuck her hard. Bryan gripped her thighs with each hand. With a show of strength, he lifted her body off the blanket an inch and pushed and pulled her hips on his dick, using her pussy like a sleeve to fuck his huge cock.

I moved around to the front of her and offered her my dick and she instantly sucked it in. I fucked her mouth as Bryan conquered her pussy and from close up I got to watch as another man made my wife orgasm using just his dick. I have to admit it was wildly exciting.

Jen pulled my cock from her mouth gasping for air.

"Mark!" She cried, "Baby he's fucking intense! His cock is like nothing I've ever felt. He's so powerful! Do you love it too Honey?"

I didn't trust my voice so I just nodded again.

In between gasps and moans she went on; "Baby, please, can he cum inside me? I hate the idea of making him cum just so he can pull his dick out of me at the last second. Will you allow it?"

I nodded again.

“This is wild Baby!” she cried, pulling my head down and kissing me fiercely. “This is crazy. He fills my whole pussy. Oh Mark, Baby, he fills the whole insides of my body. It feels like my whole torso is wrapped around him and not just my pussy. Oh fuck me Bryan, I love it! Fucking Christ I love your cock!”

She looked back over her shoulder at Bryan fucking her; sweat poured from him and his muscles surged and pumped. Jen watched Bryan fuck her for a long minute then turned back to me.

“Fuck baby, he’s so sexy. What a fucking man. I’m being fucked by a man. Watch Mark, watch as Bryan makes your wife cum again!”

Jen threw her head back and her eyes rolled up and an animal, guttural, sound poured from her throat and I did indeed watch my wife orgasm from another man fucking her. Her arms gave out and the top half of her body collapsed to the blanket but Bryan held her hips up and kept fucking her, his muscular ass clenching with each piston stroke. When she lifted her tired head I forced my cock back into her mouth. Off to the side I saw a man shoot his load onto the sand and then another man did the same. I couldn’t take any more and spewed my hot cum down her throat.

This was insane! Behind her Bryan growled and his hips sped up and I pushed on Jen’s shoulders, forcing her pelvis back towards him. She looked at me confused for a second and then realized what I was doing and lost her mind; I was actually helping Bryan seed her. Her own husband was allowing another man to fill her with semen.

She threw her head from side to side in yet another orgasm as Bryan gripped her fiercely and plowed her deep and fired his hot sperm right up past her cervix and into her womb, his big balls flooding her with buckets of his hot jizz. I saw the base of his shaft clutching and pulsing as he roared. Another man was filling my wife with his cum and it was turning me on more than I had ever been turned on before.

We all dropped to the blanket, panting like dogs. Nobody spoke. My head was spinning with the million emotions all trying to get out the front door at the same time. Jen moved first, weakly, climbing on top and straddling me and holding my face in her hands. She kissed me all over my face and lips and I felt some of Bryan’s cum leak from her and drip onto my stomach. Then she started laughing. Just a low chuckle, at first, but it built rapidly. She looked around at our audience and her laughter grew louder. Soon she was laughing wildly, rolling off me onto her back, pulling up her knees to her chest, laughing from the pure delight of the wild and wicked deed we had just done. Soon Bryan and I caught her insane laughter and we laughed too.

“Holy shit,” Bryan rumbled. He rolled up on one elbow and looked at me, making sure we were cool. We were. Jen nuzzled my neck and in a whisper asked if I was okay. I whispered back I was and kissed her nose. Then I asked her if she was. She looked at Bryan then me again.

“I am,” she chuckled. “I can’t believe we did it...but we did. I’m surprised at how weird I don’t feel.”

Bryan rumbled again, “I am glad to hear you guys say that.”

After a little while, we all got dressed and headed back.

Chapter Six

We got back to the hotel and rode the elevator up; mostly quiet with Jen nuzzling my neck from time to time. Doors open and we walk down the hall to our rooms and Bryan started for his room but Jennifer took his hand and smiled, shaking her head no then turning a mischievous grin on me.

The warmth crawled up my back and chest and neck again as I realized she already wanted Bryan again. I hesitated. The beach had been so spontaneous and had been fueled by days of buildup and tension. If we did something now it would feel so deliberate. This wasn’t all of us getting carried away in the heat of the moment; this was Jennifer choosing to have sex with Bryan. This was my wife selecting another male to mate with over me. Jennifer saw my hesitation and moved up against my chest, wrapped her arms around my waist, squeezed me.

“Mark,” my blushing bride began, “I want more. I want Bryan to fuck me again. I didn’t get enough of him and I know he didn’t get enough of me. Have you seen the way he looks at me? He makes me wet. The beach was hot but I want clean sheets and privacy. I want to slow things down and take our time. Is that okay? We’ve already done it once. What’s the matter?”

I won’t lie; I was afraid. I looked down into her pleading eyes.

Bryan spoke. “Dude, if it’s not cool anymore, just say so. I don’t want to mess you guys up.”

His eyes were earnest, worried about me, but also hungry for my wife. I looked at Jennifer and saw concern there too. Then I let my eyes wander over her tan, athletic body. Her tiny white bikini was cut to emphasize all her glorious female attributes and succeeded admirably. She looked so sexy. In the cool air of the hotel, her nipples strained against the thin fabric.

My eyes moved over to Bryan. His clothing struggled to contain him. Everywhere I looked strength radiated from him. I brought my eyes back up to Jen's and I saw something there; she was hopeful but patient, loving but aroused. I asked myself if we were headed down a path that would end with Jennifer leaving me. I tried to find the answer in her eyes but of course, could not. I would need to proceed on faith. There would be no easy answer, no obvious path.

Lastly, I turned my eyes inward. I realized the fact that I hadn't already exploded in rage and possessiveness told me something about myself. For most men this would not be a choice they needed to contemplate. I was learning something new about myself here, and a little embarrassed that Bryan and Jennifer were learning something new about me too. I worried Jen's opinion of me would suffer. A thought tickled me and I turned to face it; would she want to do this again? Would there be other men after Bryan? Once we returned home and reestablished our busy lives, would we invite other men to join us in bed? I felt my face flush and my penis grow. Jen spotted the movement and smiled. She cupped my crotch and nuzzled my ear.

"I know what you are thinking," she teased, my dick swelling in her hand. What protest could I make now?

I took her hand and Bryan's hand and placed hers in his. A broad grin split his face. I used the card and opened the door to our suite and the three of us entered.

"Spirit of adventure," she whispered, smiling at me as Bryan led her to the shower.

Chapter Seven

I sat on the foot of our bed as I heard the water come on. I listened to Bryan mumble something which Jennifer laughed at it, and then he must have done something to her because her laugh turned into a whoop and I heard her playfully slap his skin and tell him he was a bad boy. Clothing hit the tile bathroom floor.

I tried to decide if I should join them or let Jennifer have her fun. I'd never been in this position and I wasn't sure what my next move should be. The shower door opened and closed and I knew they were both under the spray.

Part of me wanted to call the whole thing off. I'd apologize and tell them I'd made a mistake thinking I could handle it, but I actually couldn't. Part of me wanted to approach the bathroom door and spy on them. I wanted to see what Bryan was doing to my loving wife. Part of me wanted to strip off my clothes and join them, treating the event like the erotic affair it was.

The decision was made for me when, a few minutes later Jennifer moaned from deep in her belly. Bryan was doing something she really liked, and I had to see.

Bryan had Jen pinned against the Travertine and they were kissing like lovers reunited. Her hungry mouth pressed against his and their tongues snaked and danced. Somehow the kissing was harder for me to watch than their fucking had been just an hour ago. Bryan had his arms wrapped around her and held her off the ground. Jen had her arms around his neck and shoulders, pulling him in for the hot, passionate kisses she craved.

As I wondered if he was in her she dropped her head back and gasped and I knew I was witnessing the moment of her penetration. I saw his ass flex as he pushed his big cock deep. His hips made small back and forth motions as he fucked my wife against the wall. Jen was moaning and clawing at his broad shoulders as I realized some of her weight was pressing down and dragging her clit across his shaft as he held her up there. Jen lasted no time at all before she started humping her hips and crying out as a powerful orgasm took hold and shook her. Bryan kept his hips flexing, extending and intensifying her climax. There was no way I was strong enough to ever make her cum like that.

As Jen came back to earth, their kissing began again and soon she lifted herself off his rampant shaft and dropped to her knees. She held his cock at the base and began slowly licking every inch of it. It was obvious to me she revered it. I know something about Jennifer that she does not know about herself; when having sex, the harder a cock makes her orgasm, the more she appreciates and adores it, and she was pretty much worshipping Bryan's organ right now. He tangled his big fingers in her hair and guided her up and down. He pulled her head under and made her lick and suck his ball sac, then tipped her face back and speared her open and waiting mouth. He was too thick for her to take much of him but that wasn't the point. Far more pleasure was gained by her eager and willing submission to him. She was my woman but all her efforts were centered on pleasing him, which he allowed her to do for a long time.

Finally he stood her up and turned her away from him. Pushing her up against the wall again he grabbed a handful of her hair and bent her backwards. I watched his menacing spear slowly approach her from behind. She jumped when that enormous head made first contact with her labia. He pulled on her hair again and she moved back towards him and impaled herself on his throbbing cock. A long low groan escaped both their throats as he once again sheathed himself in my wife. This time he fucked her hard and rough, slapping her ass and pulling her hair and making her tell him how much she loved getting fucked by him, which she was all too happy to do. He ordered her to delay her climax until he gave her permission to cum and she loved the idea.

“Yes Bryan Baby, just keep fucking me you sexy stud. I'm a slave to that cock. I love that cock. You tell me when you want me to come all over it and I will. I can't wait to give you what you want!”

Bryan lowered his hips so he was driving right up into her G-spot and Jen just about lost her mind. When he had her gasping and sobbing, he pumped his hips hard, pulled her hair until I worried about her spine, and growled into her ear that it was time, time to prove to him how much she adored his cock by cumming all over it. Jennifer bawled and burst into tears of passion and her voice climbed into a howl as she drove her hips down onto him hard, again and again, He was a pillar of stone as she fucked herself on him and flooded his meat with squirting juices, cumming repeatedly for at least two minutes until her legs gave out and he had to hold her up, skewered, her legs too shaky to hold her own weight.

Chapter Eight

She sat on the shower tiles and he leaned in to kiss her and I realized my brain had been trying to tell me something for a while now but I was too overwhelmed to hear it. I quieted all the other voices in my head and tried to coax that one stray thought to speak. Like searching through several threads in the dark, I sensed and discarded until I fell upon the right trail and then I ran it to ground. Once I had it, I put it into words and my blood turned cold; they fucked with more familiarity than they should. He knew how deep was too deep and he had never hurt her. She knew how he liked to kiss a certain way and always approached his lips with her head turned the right direction. They never had those awkward moments' new lovers do. This was not the first time they'd fucked. Wait. What? True, they had fucked an hour ago on the beach, but that was animal lust, hard and fast. No, sometimes your mind puts clues together and everything falls into place and you know, you just fucking KNOW. They had fucked before. But when?

I had been staring at the floor the whole time my brain was connecting puzzle pieces and when I raised my eyes, Jen was staring right at me. As soon as our eyes met, she knew I knew. Her eyes grew big and panic flared behind them. She got to her feet and pushed open the shower door, almost running to wrap her arms around me. I was having trouble breathing and sank into a nearby chair. Bryan remained in the shower, hands on hips, giant, erect fleshy spear aimed at Jen and me.

"I'm sorry Baby, I'm sorry Baby, I'm sorry Baby," Jen kept saying over and over. She crawled up onto my lap and wrapped her arms around my head, trying to kiss my lips. I wouldn't let her, twisting my face away.

"How many times?" I whispered.

"I was going to tell you Honey but everything was happening so fast!"

"How many times?" I asked again, my voice a little stronger.

"We've been so busy I never found the right moment. Don't be mad, it--"

I cut her off. "How many times?" I demanded, my voice barely under control. I felt so stupid. I felt so betrayed. Jennifer was searching my eyes, trying to gauge my level of hurt and anger, hoping to see forgiveness. At first I wouldn't meet her gaze, too embarrassed to face her. She'd made a fool of me. But then I did, aiming my eyes right at her, pulling back the curtain and hitting her with the full blast of my aching heart. She gasped and her hand came up to her mouth, tears formed in her eyes.

"Oh sweet Baby," she said. "I am so, so very sorry. I was going to surprise you with it. I thought you'd think it was hot...after everything we've talked about...how did you figure it out?"

"How many times?" I croaked.

She had a knuckle in her mouth and I saw the calculations behind her eyes, trying to estimate how much damage what she was about to tell me would do. Finally she just forged ahead.

“Three times before today. If you count the beach this morning and the shower just now, five times total.”

Time stopped. My heart stopped. All the blood rushing around my body came to a halt. I stopped breathing. Every system I had shut down. I was a dust mote suspended in perfectly still air. My perfect life was over. My wife was a liar. My wife was a cheat. I made myself face my contribution to it; I had nudged her in this direction. I had given her vague permissions. I had admitted her flirting with infidelity aroused me. I couldn't lay all the blame at her feet. But still, why lie? Didn't all those permissions make it easier for her to come to me with thoughts and desires like this? Why would she go behind my back when I had already hinted she didn't need to?

My eyes drifted down her naked body curled on my lap. I glanced at Bryan, seated now on the shower bench, watching us, giving us space. His huge cock, now soft, hung between his legs and off the edge of the bench. That monster had been inside my wife five times already. I'm such an idiot. How did I miss this?

“When?” My voice was so low and flat I'm surprised Jen heard me, even seated as close as she was. Tears sprung up in her eyes at the desolation in my voice. She took a deep breath and wiped the tears off her cheeks.

“Does it matter, Baby? Won't the details just bring you more hurt?”

“When?”

She resolved herself to just give me what I needed.

“The first time was our first night here. Bryan joined us for drinks after dinner and we all got to know each other. You and I went back to our room and had sex and we both fell asleep but I woke a short time later when I heard Bryan return to his room. I carefully slipped out of bed, tossed on a negligee and tapped on his door. Don't blame him, I was very aggressive. After, I returned to our room and slept beside you like nothing had happened. Baby, we always talk about how it turns you on to see me sexual. You love to watch me flirt and you love how other men want me. We talked about how on this anniversary vacation we were going to push the limits and be daring. I was going to tell you at the right time, to make you wildly horny. It was just sex my love.”

She looked up at me from my lap; her eyes were pleading and hopeful.

“So when I was teasing you I’d seen Bryan’s naked cock at the beach, you’d already seen it too, and up real close...” I hung my head. “Continue,” I said. “Tell me everything.”

She calmed herself and went on.

“The day we napped. When you woke up you found me in Bryan’s room. I told you he was teaching me football. I had already been there two hours. Bryan was in a bathrobe because we had just showered.”

“You acted like you were seeing his dick for the first time.”

“No Baby, I was marveling at it and remembering what it had just done to me.”

That stung. Every piece of new information was a twist of the knife, but some twisted part of me enjoyed it, drew sexual energy from it. I was hungry to know more and afraid to know more. Curiosity won.

“You said you would never cheat on me.”

She winced.

“Baby, this wasn’t cheating. I swear I thought this would just be part of our Spirit of Adventure game. You virtually told me to fuck him, and not just him.”

“Did you orgasm?” I asked.

“Yes.”

“How many times?”

“Once that first time...five the next time.”

“Five!” What a kick in the balls. Jennifer had never climaxed that many times with me. Ever. Not even using toys on her.

“I’m sorry!”

I drew a shaky breath and calmed myself.

“Did he cum?”

Jen’s face was a twisted mask of agony. Her words were killing me but she did not dare keep another secret.

“Yes.” Her voice was so low I barely heard her.

“How many times?”

“Three.”

“Where?”

“Our first time, in my pussy. Our second time, once in my mouth and then later, in my pussy.”

“That’s why he was wearing a robe... You had both just showered...”

“Yes.”

I looked up at the ceiling and digested her news. I was crushed. My perfect bride was only human after all. What do I do? I’m a thinker; I always put thought before emotion. Jen often gets frustrated with me about this. In anger she has accused me of being robotic, disconnected, cold. Now in the middle of all this upheaval I once again find myself thinking instead of feeling. I’m sure another man would have slapped her, broken things, tried to fight Bryan. A big, ugly question formed and I couldn’t even look at it. It didn’t go away so I faced it, and then spoke it.

“Do you love him? Are you falling in love with him?” My mouth was as dry as the moon.

Jennifer’s eyes grew big and tears dripped.

“Oh my god Baby, NO! You are the only man I love. I will always love only you. Bryan is just sex. Ask him. We talked about it. We understand. Sometimes you meet people and you are attracted to them. Bryan and I share lust. That’s all. He was hot to fuck me and I was hot to fuck him. You’ve always pushed me towards other men, encouraged me to flirt...remember Emerald Beach? Travis? That was quite a bit more than flirting. Then we get here and you tell me to really push things if I wanted to. Well, once I met Bryan, I wanted to. So I did. But I did thinking you’d know it was safe and part of our game. I admit it was a big step forward, but what the hell, ‘Spirit of Adventure’, right? I love you. I always will. I’m not leaving you for Bryan. Bryan and I are just using each other for mind-blowing hot sex.”

I know her so well. I know her better than she knows herself. Her words were absolute truth. I believed her. I felt a knot in my gut relax a little. I looked at Bryan and he nodded an affirmation.

So once again I asked myself; now what do I do? Where do we go from here? I hadn’t discovered an affair, exactly. I had watched them fuck twice already today. All I had discovered was a deception, but, if I believed her, one she was trying to use to excite us both, like I had discovered her plans to throw me a surprise birthday party. Can I really get angry because she was keeping it a secret from me? This was complicated. One fact remained clear; she still loved me and I still loved her.

Chapter Nine

She slipped from my lap and stood, then leaned in to kiss me.

“Will you trust me?”

I studied her eyes and something I saw there convinced me I should. I nodded. She waved Bryan over and after a moment’s hesitation, he approached. Soon both of them were naked right in front of me.

“I have a Master’s degree in psychology,” Jennifer reminded me. “We all have our public face and our private face. Mark, I want you and I to always show each other our private face. I want the real you. Society and our parents do a lot of shaping, and that’s important, but parts of us are just born a certain way. We all have hard wiring. I have a theory about us and I’m so sure I’m right, I’m going to test it right now.”

She dropped to her knees and looked me in the eyes. She lifted Bryan’s plump dick and kissed the very tip of it.

“Jesus, Jen, not now. I’m still hurting Honey.”

She ignored me and teased the tip of his cock with the tip of her tongue. She pushed her tongue up the little hole at the end, then flattened her tongue against the shaft and lewdly licked a wide swath. In spite of everything that had just happened, my goddamned dick began to swell inside my trunks. Fucking Benedict Arnold. Jen saw it and smiled, triumphant. She opened her mouth wide and pulled his dick in. Above me I heard him sigh. She sucked hard as she slowly withdrew him until he was resting back in her palm again. He was inflating before my eyes.

“I’ve learned some things about you on this trip, Mark, or maybe instead I should say I’ve had suspicions confirmed. I’ve learned things about myself too. Going forward, as a happily married couple, I want us to admit and accept who we really are and what we really want. Life is too short. I want us to leave every façade we have created behind. Are you with me?”

I caught a glimpse of the world she was describing and my intuition told me she was right. I was floating above our previous life, looking down on it. I saw all the little ways we hid and pretended with each other. The new life she was offering was so attractive but also raw and scary. I wanted it but was fearful. Jen has always been more emotionally brave than I.

“I want it too...” My voice cracked.

Jen took another long, slow suck on Bryan’s cock and showed me her tongue swirling the tip when she got to the end. My dick jumped a little. She was so damned sexy. Her mouth on his manly dick was so erotic.

She stopped sucking long enough to tell me to get out of my clothes, which I hastily did, and then she pulled my head down to a nipple as she forced Bryan’s fat inches down her throat. After a moment or two she pulled my head up and kissed me deeply. I tasted his cock in her mouth and I was aroused at the same time I was repulsed, but I was aroused so much more. I was tasting evidence of my wife’s sexual improprieties and it turned me on. I can’t begin to tell you why or explain to you how it all worked. All I can do is admit to myself what I was feeling and then tell you the truth. Sounds simple, right? Try it.

She laughed once, clear and clean, and held his pillar up for examination.

“Can you see how beautiful this monster is?” She asked. “Can you see how I would be drawn to it, need to touch it, want it inside me?”

I gazed at Bryan’s meat, trying to see what she saw. It was impressive, I’ll admit. Any man would wish to own a cock like that. Jennifer pulled it down and moved it closer to my face. If I had stuck out my tongue I could have licked him. Bryan seemed completely unfazed having a man so close to his cock and I wondered if he has let men suck it. I looked up at him and he was smiling and looking down at us, the happily married couple, playing with his dick.

Jennifer went on.

“I can’t get enough of him Honey. Does that turn you on? Your sweet wife is actually a slut on the inside. Your sweet wife wants big, hunky Bryan to fuck her to death. She wants to feel herself wrapped around his throbbing shaft. She wants to feel him buried and throbbing up inside her body. She wants to please him so much he eventually can’t take anymore and his dick erupts inside her, filling her with his sperm. I’ve been repressing these thoughts and feelings all my life, even after I married a man that wanted me to share them, even to act on them. I realize now how fearful I’ve been. You want it and I want it. From now on, and especially on this anniversary vacation, I am acting on what I feel.”

A moan escaped me. Her words struck a deeply buried cord. I had not known this part of me ran so deep. She was right; it did turn me on. I couldn't explain it but watching her with other men, her lusty sexuality on display, aroused me more than anything else. That she was behaving that way purely for herself just made it more exciting and real.

"I can't resist him Baby. I toss and turn at night knowing he is right next door. He's so handsome and manly. His body is so strong. His cock is too big for my little pussy and I love how it feels when he forces it in. I love that he wants me so badly he makes it fit. He takes what he wants from me."

Less than an hour ago I was sure our perfect marriage was over. Now I was on my knees with my wife, an enormous cock an inch from our faces, watching and listening as she confessed her tremendous desire for it and the man it was attached to. She sucked on the head again and quickly leaned in and kissed me. Her tongue was slightly salty.

"Do you want to suck it?" She asked, as she moved the head towards my mouth.

"No."

"I think that would be so hot. Maybe you should lick him and suck him and get him hard as steel and dripping wet. Maybe you should prepare him to fuck your pretty wife. Would you like to see what that's like?"

"No," I said again, looking down at the thick shaft and bulbous head. The smooth skin was crisscrossed with veins and arteries. Jennifer's hand looked so small against it. Her wedding ring slid up and down the length as she absentmindedly stroked him. She searched my face, trying to guess what she could get away with or how far she could push it. She brought her other hand up and cupped Bryan's fat balls, rolling them around with her fingers.

"Bryan wouldn't give a shit, would you Bry?"

"Nope."

"Honey his balls are so big and full and hot. That first night I was shocked at how much cum he pumped into me. I had to let my pussy drain before I got back in bed with you. I was afraid you'd notice. I masturbated next to you in bed that first night. I had to have more. I'm drawn to this cock. I would get so turned on if you were too. Suck it. Make it hard so he can fuck me with it. "

As she described her infidelity my temperature rose. I wanted to feel hurt and angry but all I felt was excitement. As she revealed each sordid detail my dick grew harder. I just loved imagining her slutty, I loved knowing my wife was such a sexual creature.

“The next time baby, when I went to his room while you were sleeping, I crawled up on his bed on all fours and offered him my married pussy. Face down, ass up. He attacked me and I loved it. Honey, this man right here fucks like a God. I love his big dick baby. I love his powerful muscles. He radiates fuck.”

She slipped him back into her mouth and sucked him deep. I watched for several minutes as my wife tried to make him cum using her mouth and hands. She stopped a few times to kiss me and I noticed each time she did her mouth was closer and closer to his dick so I had to lean closer and closer. The last time we kissed Bryan’s shaft was resting against my cheek. I knew what she was doing and she knew I knew it. She was waiting for me to react, to chicken out, to blow up, angry, telling her she’d finally gone too far. As long as I didn’t she would keep pushing the envelope. Bryan had no problems whatsoever. His dick was getting sucked by the hottest woman he’d seen in a long time, maybe the hottest woman he’d ever had. His desire for her was obvious from the moment these two saw each other.

He also seemed oblivious to me. There was nothing remotely gay or even bi about Bryan. He was so supremely confident in his heterosexuality that my face that close to him didn’t bother him in the least. I’m sure lots of gay or bi men hit on him on a daily basis. He’s a handsome stud. He seemed to take everything in stride. Could I say the same about my confidence in my sexuality? Jennifer had made it clear she wanted me to suck his cock, preparing it to fuck her. Could I do that? Did I want to or would I just be doing it for her?

Jen locked eyes with me as her mouth traveled up and down Bryan’s dick and I saw that her eyes were laughing. Not a derisive or mocking laughter, but laughter of abandon, laughter of adventurous, capricious joy.

She stood and led Bryan and I by our dicks over to the couch. She seated him on the sofa and placed herself and me between his huge thighs on the floor. His balls hung down the front and his shaft arced gracefully up from his lap; a thick, smooth tube of sensitive flesh. She returned to sucking him then turned to me for a kiss. She used her trick from before again and each time I kissed her my face was a little closer to Bryan's dick. I found myself studying it. I was envious. I wished I had a dick like his; one that women would fall in love with and masturbate themselves to sleep thinking about.

Closer and closer she drew me in. I knew if I didn't back off, soon my lips would touch his shaft.

Jen told me to close my eyes and I did. I felt her shift and then her warm, wet mouth enveloped my dick, sliding all the way down to the base. It felt fantastic. She sucked me for a moment then pulled off and asked if that felt good. I opened my mouth to tell her yes but when I did she guided Bryan's dick past my lips. Before I could protest she slipped my penis back into her mouth and moaned intensely. I froze where I was as she worked my shaft over using fingers and tongue. Then Bryan reached down and gently put his giant hand on the back of my head and encouraged me to take more of him. After hesitating just a moment, I did.

Jen must have had her eyes open watching me because I heard her moan again, this one more intense than the last, and her hand wrapped around Bryan's shaft and she began pumping him into my mouth.

Let me just admit this right here and now: I liked it. No, I loved it. My cheeks and back were blushing furiously. My heart was a jack-hammer under my ribs. Bryan's cock was full and smooth and hot and alive. It pulsed and throbbed. When he moaned it took me a second to realize he was moaning because of me and once I did, a thrill of power shot through me. I swirled the big rubbery head with my tongue. I pushed my mouth as far down the shaft as I could until the head nudged the opening of my throat. Bryan moaned again. I opened my eyes and met Jen's and we shared as intense a connection as we have ever shared. Behind her eyes I saw triumph and excitement and passion and love.

I immediately remembered every blowjob I had ever received in my life and tried to recreate on Bryan every trick or sensation I had learned. I know this sounds bizarre but when his head fell back and his second hand landed on my head, I felt proud. Life is so twisted! I used my tongue again and fluttered along the shaft feeling a surge of blood under the skin, telling me I had done well. I bobbed my mouth, sucking and slathering and slurping, trying to please him, and judging by the sounds pouring out of his mouth, I was. He held my head steady and fucked my mouth.

Jen pulled her mouth off my dick and together we assaulted Bryan's magnificent monster. He rested a hand on each of our heads. I held his dickhead in my mouth and Jen sucked on a testicle and looking down his shaft into Jen's wild eyes was the most reckless and wildly sexual moment of our lives. We were sucking a cock together! We met half-way on the shaft and kissed like we hadn't seen each other in ages. Bryan pumped his hips driving his dick back and forth between our open mouths.

When Jennifer could not take any more, she kissed me quickly and climbed Bryan like a mountain. She straddled his lap and they kissed and she looked back at me.

"Put Bryan's cock into your wife, Honey," she said with a lascivious grin. "Your wife wants to fuck another man. Spread her lips with your fingers and help her do it. I can't believe all the wild shit we're doing on this trip."

I brought his cock up to her engorged pussy lips and helped her settle her hips down and capture him. At the last minute I fanned my fingers across her labia and opened her up for him. As his huge bulbous head made contact, my wife's pussy lips stretched wide to accommodate his girth. I pushed down on her hips and drove him deeper.

As my wife fucked him, I dropped down and licked his big balls with the flat of my tongue. Up above I heard him exclaim "Jesus Christ!" We really had him going now. His balls drew up tight to the base.

Jen kept saying something over and over but I couldn't quite make it out. I stood and leaned in to kiss her and then I heard it; "I love his cock Baby, I love his big cock Baby, I love his cock Baby..."

I wasn't interested in the rest of his body like Jen was. His chest and arms and thighs held no sex appeal for me at all. Jen loved them and his handsome face too. I have to admit I found his dick fascinating and I loved watching it disappear inside my wife. I compared his to mine, like all men do, and understood Jennifer was feeling things with him she would never feel with me. I'm not feeling sorry for myself. Like I mentioned earlier, my penis is average, maybe even a little more than average, and Jen climaxes on it easily. I knew my dick was adequate and acceptable and after Bryan was gone, Jen would be perfectly satisfied by it. But for right now a godly organ was plowing into her and Jen was experiencing things she had never experienced before.

After Jennifer came yet again, she caught her breath, climbed off him and joined me between his legs again. She gripped him with both hands and stood him straight up, waiting for me.

The most exciting thing about having his dick in my mouth was the knowledge that I knew exactly what I was making him feel. When I lick a woman's pussy I have no idea what she is feeling. I must read her sounds and body language to determine if I am doing it well or not. If I happened to be in bed with a deceptive woman, I'd never know what she was really feeling. But I have a penis. I know what feels good and what doesn't. When I held him in my mouth and sucked hard on the head and he moaned, I knew exactly what he was experiencing. When I loosened my jaw and relaxed my throat and forced him deeper and he gasped with pleasure, my dick got harder from the pleasure I knew I was giving him.

I bobbed slow and smooth, using my mouth and throat like a pussy. I did such a great job. I teased his big balls, tugging on the skin and dragging my nails across his ball sac. My saliva dripped from his shaft and my hand moved up and down him in time with my mouth. Moans and groans poured from him and I knew he loved what I was doing. There was no faking here. I had felt everything I was now doing to him and I knew he loved it.

I found myself wanting to make him cum. Strange as it sounds, I was eager to please him to the point he lost control and exploded. Would I take it in my mouth? Could I swallow his sperm? Part of me was disgusted by the thought, but a big part of me was excited by the idea. I may never do this again so I resolved I would and I centered all my attention there; licking and teasing and sucking.

Bryan realized what I was trying to do and leaned forward, looking me in the eyes and smiling.

"No you don't," he chuckled. "The only place this cum is going is deep inside your wife."

Chapter Ten

He held out his hand to Jennifer and she took it, rising to her feet. Bryan picked her up and tossed her over a shoulder, carrying her to the bedroom. I wiped my face and followed.

Bryan and I fucked Jen all night. Just as soon as one of us recovered enough to go again we would push her on her back or stomach while the other kissed her or suckled her breasts. Her most powerful orgasm of the night occurred when Bryan was fucking her from behind while I was licking her clit. My tongue swabbed them both on each thrust and it drove them crazy. When she climaxed she blacked out for several minutes. For a split-second I was afraid we had fucked her to death. When Bryan came inside my wife, my tongue was pressed against his shaft and I felt the blasts of sperm traveling up his hard cock.

The next day Jennifer woke Bryan and me with a blowjob. My dick needed rest but Bryan was a machine. I watched as he filled my wife with his sperm again and again throughout the day.

That afternoon we all showered and Jen and I got on our knees and washed his fat hanging cock and balls together, which seemed to thrill Jennifer to no end. She stood and whispered something to Bryan. He shook his head no but then she whispered something else and he shrugged and nodded okay. She returned to washing his cock and then she rinsed away the suds and aimed him at my mouth.

Sucking him soft was different than sucking him hard. I found I could do more with it, and I was excited knowing he was getting hard because of me. His big dick affected me. It had a commanding presence.

Bryan the man I could take or leave, but his big beautiful cock demanded my attention, and I was thrilled to give it.

My mouth was travelling fast now; up, down, up, down. Inside, my tongue was swirling and licking. My cheeks were dented from the hard suction I had on him; I was literally trying to pull his cum up from his big, heavy balls. My hands wrapped around him and kept pace with my mouth, pumping, stroking, sucking. Jen reached under and fondled his balls and after a while I heard him warn he was going to cum. I just sucked harder and faster.

A minute later I heard him draw a sharp intake of breath and his cock swelled even bigger and he roared, bracing himself against the shower walls. A hot blast of sperm hit the back of my throat and I swallowed it down...then another and another.

I heard Jen cry out near me and understood she must have been rubbing herself as she watched me suck him and was now coming at the same time he was. She wanted to watch me do this and now that it was actually happening, she was cumming like crazy. My own stiff cock was bouncing in the spray of the shower and Bryan shot another hot bolt of salty jizz into my vacuuming mouth. I sucked and sucked and he pumped another bolt and yet another. I was gulping every drop of his semen and pulling and pumping him trying to get more. A few weaker blasts sprayed inside my mouth and over my teeth and tongue and I gulped those down too. I had expected him to taste bad but he didn't. He wasn't shooting vanilla ice cream but it wasn't battery acid either. He was a little salty and a little tangy and a little slippery. Truth of the matter is he tasted familiar. I was confused until I realized I had already tasted him those few times Jen fucked him without me and then brought her full pussy home and hours later had sex with me. I thought she had just been extra wet.

I felt him begin to soften a bit and Jen reached down with her fingers and formed a ring around the base of his shaft, pulling up as he pulled back, milking every drop of his cum into my mouth. I swallowed the last of him. Bryan collapsed onto the shower bench and Jen reached up and kissed me deeply, her tongue snaking into my mouth where we shared Bryan's salty fluid.

Jen suggested a group nap before dinner and we all agreed, piling into our huge bed and drifting off into an exhausted and satisfying sleep.

Dinner went well until Jennifer made the observation that all three of us carried Bryan's seed inside of them. I blush bright red and hoped to god the two business men at the table near us did not hear her. I asked her to keep her voice down and she grinned at my discomfort. "But baby," she said. "You did such a fantastic job sucking that cock. You should be proud. By the time you shoved him into me he was harder than he had ever been before. That was the best his cock had ever felt."

I glanced around nervously as Bryan and Jen just sat there smiling. Under the table my dick began to swell. How can such conflicting emotions co-exist inside one person? Jennifer was twisting the knife ever so sweetly and loving it. Now that she had discovered how deep this kinky side of me ran, she could not resist playing with it. Under the table she reached for my lap and squeezed my erection. "That's what I thought," she said. "You enjoy this as much as I do. Bryan leaves tomorrow morning...maybe we should skip dinner and go to our room and fuck all night?"

Bryan laughed out loud at Jennifer comments.

"I think that's hot," he growled. "Fucked up thing for a wife to say, but still hot. I have to admit it makes me feel pretty kingly. I kind of own you two love birds. Me and my big dick conquered you both. Jen's right. Let finish dinner and go back to the room."

Jen beamed. "I'll show you how to suck dick Baby. You can watch me and learn a few tricks."

I was surprised Jennifer was playing with me like this. My discomfort was clearly visible. It was hard to argue with the fact my dick was hard again but I didn't like that she was basing all her decisions about what was okay and not okay on whether or not I got an erection. On the other hand the idea of watching Bryan fuck her again was very exciting. If you had asked me a week ago if that idea aroused me I'd have told you definitely not. Some things you just don't know about yourself until you are actually in the situation. We quickly finished the rest of our meal, paid and left.

In the elevator I let them both know I wasn't comfortable performing oral sex on Bryan again. Chalk it all up to a crazy vacation thing, but now that we have all settled down I know I don't want to do it again. Bryan shrugged and Jen studied me.

"Baby, are you actually upset? You know this is all fun and games, right? In a few days we'll be back home to our complicated lives and everything will be back to normal."

I admit I felt huge relief to hear her say that. She had been leaning up against Bryan, his huge muscular arm across her shoulders, but now she crossed the elevator to me. She softly kissed me cheek.

"Honey, did I go too far? I apologize if I did. We don't have to do this. Bryan can go back to his room. Is that what you want?"

Now I felt childish. Look at the grownups all comfortable with this insane situation and the little boy with his hurt feelings.

"No Baby," I said. "Let's keep going...I just don't want anything more to go on between me and Bryan. Cool?"

My last word was said looking at Bryan.

"I'm great either way, brother." He responded. "I got as caught up in all of it as you guys did. I don't make a habit of letting guys suck my dick..."

although you were pretty good at it.”

His grin ran from ear to ear. I blushed again.

“I understand Baby,” Jen whispered, nuzzling my ear. “I just want more of his cock. I love his cock, Honey. You are the only man for me and I love making love with you. Bryan fucks me. Bryan’s cock was made to dominate women. I love the way it feels inside me...”

As she spoke she caressed the front of my pants, feeling my erection swelling there. She knew now where my new buttons lay and she was having a blast pushing them. As she expressed her feelings about Bryan and his organ, mental pictures from the last few days floated into my head. I simply had no defenses against the erotic charge they carried. Watching my wife get fucked, watching her turn into a cock-craving slut, hungry for cum, turned my libido on full blast. I was powerless against it.

The elevator stopped and we all walked in silence towards our room. About half way down the hall Jen let go of my hand and took two quick steps to catch up to Bryan. She took hand looking over her shoulder back at me. My heart sank at the same time it hammered. Fuck. What was I to do? I loved it and hated it. It scared me. I was so afraid of losing her because of sex but even as I thought that I knew it was impossible. Jen simple doesn’t choose a man like that. This shit was deep and primal. We were playing with forces of nature.

I opened the lock as Jen reached up and kissed Bryan right in front of me.

An hour later they were still going at it. I had fucked her for a while too and came in her mouth. Bryan had filled her pussy with his massive load and she had spent fifteen minutes using her mouth and hands to worship his mighty cock and balls after and the son of a bitch got hard again.

I stared at his dick; it really was very pretty. I have a pretty penis too, just not nearly as big as his. His smooth skin and perfect taper to a plump head had Michelangelo proportions. Jen caught me staring and smiled, aimed it at me and raised an eyebrow, offering me another chance, in case I changed my mind. I thought about it but stayed put.

When Bryan lifted her up and laid her on her back, I felt my dick stir. Jen looked at him with such feeling. I understand sex for women is different; they almost always have feelings for the man. The three of us had all spent enough time and intimacy together that a close bond had formed. I felt closer to Bryan. I know he did too. Sex changes everything. The crazy thing is, when Jen looked at him with such adoration, desire, lust and affection, I liked it. No, I loved it. It excited me. My dick twitched again and began to grow. I shook my head. How twisted is this shit? I felt pain and fear and jealousy when she gazed at him in that way and I enjoyed it. I shook my head again and resigned myself to it. I couldn't explain any of it. We had discovered a new way to turn me on, and turn me on a thousand times more powerfully than anything else. Jen too. She loves feeling desired. She loves attention from other men. We had stumbled into a perfect match of fetishes and I wondered what the future held for us. There was no going back after this.

Chapter Eleven

As Bryan moved between her legs, she spread them for him, inviting him in to her. Her left hand reached for his face and she kissed him and her right hand reached for his immense spear and guided him home. I reached for my hard dick.

Bryan rose on his massive arms and eased himself into the depths of my wife. It was beautiful. It was erotic. His muscles moved like snakes under his tan skin as he pumped his thick shaft in and out of her.

Jen's hands gripped his arms and her legs slid up his thighs until her heels rested beneath his marble ass, helping him slide in deeper, raising her hips to take his slow and sure thrusts. Their moans filled the room and filled my head.

I moved by his feet. The view was obscene. His great organ stretched her pussy lips far aside. His massive, cum-filled testicles blocked my view, covering her sweet cunt completely, as his last inch sank home.

Slowly, his hips gained speed. Jen moved her hands down to his rock-hard ass and clutched there. She came, hard, but he did not break rhythm or stride, continuing to piston strong and deep inside her. They kissed fiercely. With sure hands he took both her wrists and pinned them above her head, accentuating her full breasts, which he devoured. Her head snapped back and after a minute or two, my wife climaxed again.

I moved around to the side to continue watching, slowly stroking myself. Neither of them noticed I was there but I didn't expect them to. They kissed again, tenderly. Bryan whispered something and Jennifer laughed softly, nodding her head. She said something back and Bryan smiled and lowered his lips to a nipple. Jen closed her eyes, taking all the sensations he was giving her in.

They were making love and it was killing me but I'd never been harder in my life. I looked down at my dick in my hand and the angry red skin, so taut it gleamed and wondered for the millionth time what possessed me to enjoy this so. No answer appeared. No answer would ever appear. It simple was. I resigned myself to it and decided to embrace it.

When I looked up from my penis I saw Bryan had rolled over onto his back and Jen sat astride him. God, she was gorgeous. Her full breasts bounced with each thrust, her skin was flush and glowing, her long dark hairs in disarray around her face like a halo; she was the Goddess of Lust. Bryan had a giant hand massaging each breast as she ground her hips down on his shaft. I moved to the headboard and marveled at her. When she opened her eyes and saw me she smiled. Our eyes connected and any fear of losing her to him vanished. She was my woman. I saw that in her eyes. She loved sex and loved being fucked and she absolutely loved what Bryan did to her, but she was mine. I moved to the side of the bed and spoke to Bryan.

"You are going to owe me one," I said.

He looked at me confused for a second until he saw me pick up his phone and push a few buttons. In moments I was recording Jen as she fucked him. He bellowed and Jen acted shy. I circled them, capturing every angle. I zoomed in for lewd close-ups and pulled back for breathtaking panoramas. They really did look amazing together. After ten minutes or so I sat the phone down and climbed onto the bed. Enough contemplation. My dick was hard and needed some tending to. I stepped up to Jen and she voraciously sucked me into her hot mouth. I tangled my fingers in her hair and fucked her face.

"There is one more thing I need to take from you," Bryan said to Jen.

He lifted her off of him and my dick popped out of her mouth. Placing her on all fours, he lifted her hips up high, and then spread her ass cheeks. I understood and expected Jen to laugh and tell him no way, and especially no way with a dick that big. But she didn't. Instead, she moaned. She moaned like she had been hoping he would try. I stood there dumbfounded. I had tried several times over the years to conquer her little rosebud hole each time she had either flatly told me no, or we had tried and failed because she couldn't relax enough.

"Get her wet," Bryan said. I looked at him. He said it again. Still not comprehending he spelled it out for me.

"Lick her asshole. Get her lubed."

I started to defend her. I knew she must not realize what he was planning. Just as I was about to speak, she touched my leg. Our eyes met and she slowly nodded, one delicate finger in her mouth, playing with a lip. My mouth opened. I closed it. Jen reached back with both hands and spread her vulgar ass, offering him her last unconquered frontier. I was hurt and excited. I felt slighted and at the same time the same excitement I felt at eighteen when I visited my first all-nude strip club with my best friend John and we saw a stripper spread her legs wide open and stick her pussy in my face. I was tremendously turned on. Jen was a total slut. Not acting like one. No, this was proof positive. Bryan, this trip, possibly even the sight of a cock shooting cum into my mouth, everything combined had shattered the chains of our upbringing and our adult life; Jen was a slut. It was glorious.

I buried my tongue an inch up her anus. She squealed and stuffed her face into the pillow. I licked and sucked and mopped until her sphincter was dripping. Bryan surprised me by nudging my mouth with his erection. I didn't hesitate. I slurped his fat dickhead into my mouth and swirled it with my tongue until a nice, slippery coat of saliva covered it and part of the shaft behind it. When I let it slip from my mouth, I lifted it and aimed it at Jen's little eye. I slipped in a finger and Jen moaned, then withdrew it and guided Bryan in, licking them both repeatedly.

To help her relax and take him, I dropped my tongue down and teased her clit. That did the trick. Bryan and Jennifer both groaned at the intense pleasure of their rapidly merging bodies. I left a hand playing with her clitoris and returned my attention to Bryan's thick, hard shaft, keeping him wet and well lubed.

Bryan's hands gripped her hips in a steel vise, slowly pulling her back as he fed her his rampant inches. Jen was moaning and groaning into the pillow, repeating over and over "Oh My God, Oh My God, Oh My God!"

When I returned my tongue to her engorged clit, it was more than she could take. Her orgasm rocked the bed and Bryan and I both and lasted an astonishing amount of time. If her face hadn't been buried in the pillows her screams would have brought hotel security. As it was, all they brought was some serious pounding from Bryan. I gave her a minute to recover then got back to work on her pussy. By the time Bryan finally shot his massive load of cum deep into her tunnel, she had cum twice more and was a whimpering mass of beautiful flesh. I still hadn't climaxed again but I decided I would save that for tomorrow, once Bryan was gone and I had my lovely wife all to myself once again.

Epilog

In the morning Bryan was gone. He left us each a brief note. To Jennifer he wrote telling her he found her extraordinarily beautiful, inside and out, and he intended to collect on what she owed him. To me he said he envied my breathtaking wife and that if he couldn't have her, he was happy she was with me. He acknowledged he and I crossed some lines but if I was cool with it, then he was too.

I asked Jen what debt she owed him and she told me that in the shower, when she wanted to watch me swallow Bryan's seed and he didn't want to do that, she promised him a date the next time he came to Vegas; just her, no husband. I felt the familiar warmth rise in me, half excitement and half shame, and she chuckled at my discomfort then assured me that no matter what she did with another man, her and I were solid gold and always would be.

We had room service deliver breakfast and talked a hundred miles an hour about everything we had done this trip. I still could not believe I had sucked a man's dick and swallowed his cum, she could not believe she had fucked a man in front of her husband and even given him her ass. We both agreed our lives would never be the same and the thought was exhilarating. Freedom and fearlessness were our new creeds. We felt closer than ever before and ready to face the future together.