

Matthew Lee
Heaven
On Earth

A Mike and Reba
Hotwife Story

Heaven On Earth

A Mike and Reba Hotwife Story

By Matthew Lee

Chapter 1

"Exhale," I said.

Reba lifted her hair and released her breath.

I struggled to close the bra clasp. "Nope," I said. "Try again."

"Goddamn it."

"The doctor warned this could be a side effect."

"Shut up. Don't try to console me. I know you love it."

She was right. After we got home from the US tour, Reba continued to occasionally fuck other men. We both loved it. Her favorite lover, a chiseled black guy named Luca, produced copious amounts of sperm. We began to worry so Reba visited the doctor to start birth control. The doctor measured her hormones and selected a specific brand but increased appetite and enlarged breasts were possible side-effects. Reba has been a dancer all her life so I knew controlling her diet would be easy. Her tits started to swell within days and on her fit and petite body, big tits looked even better. At least I thought so. She said the weight sometimes threw her off while dancing. They continued to grow but stayed firm like nectarines. I loved them. Most of her clothes no longer fit and last week she started wearing bras for the first time.

"Wipe that grin off your smug face," she said, staring at me in the bathroom mirror.

I made a face like I'd eaten something bitter.

"You're such a dick," she laughed.

She turned her attention to the mirror again, studying her new body.

"I look like Stormi Maya," she complained.

"That is absolutely not true. Stormi is significantly taller than you."

"Two inches. Maybe."

"Your hair is much longer."

She lifted her tits in the mirror and turned side to side, pondering.

"Looking like Stormi is a good thing, Baby," I said. "Trust me."

"I'm going to stop that birth control," she said. "I'll go back to the doctor and try a different brand. If my tits get bigger, I'll look weird."

"Define weird."

"Disproportionate. Top-heavy."

I started to disagree but kept my mouth shut. It's her body. The truth was she looked fantastic. Her dancer's ass and legs looked stronger and better than ever and big gorgeous tits are big gorgeous tits.

Reba exhaled again, this time forcing all her air out, and I slipped the plastic tab through the loop. Her bra was see-through white mesh and her breasts spilled out around the sides. She stood straight and let her hair fall. Jesus. What a sight. Sexual energy radiated from the woman. She oozed feminine sexuality like sweat.

Reba caught me looking.

"I know what you're thinking," she teased.

"Yeah, but I doubt you know the depths of depravity I go."

She turned in my arms to face me, slipping her arms around my neck. We kissed a few times. Her new big tits smashed my ribs.

"Too bad Luca will be the man slipping this bra off me," she teased. "After all your hard work getting it in place, an hour from now it will be on the floor."

I smothered a groan. Her with Luca was always a gut-check for me, a kick to the stomach. She knew it. Now I understood why she asked me for help with her bra in the first place. She could have worn a sports bra. Cock-tease.

"I thought you were going shopping with Bentley."

"I was," she said. "But then Luca texted he was horny."

I should know better than to taunt her. Our exchanges used to be playful but once she started having sex with other men, she comes equipped with a double-barreled shotgun. I tease her about gaining weight and she hits back with the dick she sucked last night. I say her hair is a mess and she mentions it's time she fucked a new cock. I guess the exchanges are still playful, in their way, and honestly, I do love the torment, but damn she hits hard these days.

I've watched her fuck many times. It's agonizing watching her with him. None of us can help who we're attracted to and Reba is attracted to Luca. I have a friend who loves Asian women. He's married to a tall blonde but Asian women push his deep buttons. My wife loves black guys. She only uses Luca for sex but she transforms into another woman under him. His rippling muscles power a formidable cock that stretches her open. He stuffs her small pussy. She becomes his pet. It's difficult to watch your woman give herself so completely to another man. It's difficult to watch what that man can do to her, how he makes her cum so hard and so easily.

Jealousy sank claws into me. If Reba saw Luca more than once a week, I suffered terribly. She asked if she should stop and I said no. I couldn't be that weak, could I? She started meeting him at a motel room instead of our flat.

I returned to the moment. Reba gazed up at me.

"Where'd you go?" she asked.

"You and Luca."

"Jealous?"

"All the way down to my bones."

She cupped my penis. I'd swollen some imagining them together.

"Speaking of bone," she said. "I'm fascinated how you love it and hate it."

"I'm mystified too." I wanted to pull her to the floor and fuck her on our rug. I didn't because I knew she'd stop me. The shower she just took was for him. She'd want to be fresh and untouched when he put his hands on her. This time I could not stop the groan that escaped. She giggled.

"My poor tortured Love," she said.

She pushed the elastic waistband of my shorts out of her way until her warm fingers curled around my dick. She stroked slow and soft.

"I'll adore you forever," she whispered. "But you know when he beckons, I must answer. His big black balls ache and I need to drain them."

I groaned again. Like Dr. Frankenstein, I'd created this monster. Her hand pumped faster.

"Did I ever mention I can feel his blasts of sperm hit my womb? It's true. That fat rod swells and then explodes. I feel him thump deep inside over and over. I almost always cum right then too. I get so excited."

I moved her shoulders back so I could see her big tits. She chuckled.

"Cum for me, Mike. Spray your load right here in the sink. Let me empty yours before I go empty his."

I was already there. It'd been a few days so I was ready but I have no defense against her hot talk anymore. We used to share fantasies. Now we speak realities and they are so much more powerful. Everything she says these days is just her sharing a true story. Our sex life is better than a fantasy. I groaned and pumped hot milk all over the porcelain while Reba giggled with delight. She tucked me away and washed her hands.

At the closet, she selected a light rose colored dress which showed off her olive skin perfectly. My penis twitched with a little life remaining.

"Impressive," she said. "You flatter a girl."

She dropped the dress over her head and pulled up panties. Hoop earrings decorated her lobes. Each delicate foot slipped into high-heeled clogs and she was ready. I was drooling.

"I won't be long," she said with a kiss on the cheek. "Promise to use that amazing tongue on me when I get home?"

My dick twitched again. "Yes."

We kissed with passion and she was out the door.

Chapter 2

I headed for my studio to get some work done. I've learned to stay busy while she's out. My creative mind almost kills me if I don't; Reba, in a million different moments, all lost to ecstasy under another man. In a truly bizarre twist, things that never made me jealous before Luca now did. I get jealous every time she sees someone. I feel my balls tighten if I catch her talking to our mailman. Like I mentioned, I find the anguish hot.

I left my phone in the studio while I put the bra on Reba and I was annoyed to see I'd missed a call. Voicemail said it was Trevor and he needed to talk to me right away. My heart skipped. His European tour had suffered one delay after another until I convinced myself the tour would never happen. Last I heard he was trying to secure new financing. I called him back.

An hour later we sat at the coffee shop around the corner. Trevor had a man with him, older, scruffy blonde hair and five o'clock shadow, three buttons undone on his silk shirt with chest hair showing.

"Mike," he said. "Meet Jason Henderson. He's my European connection and the guy to make all this happen."

I stuck my hand out. We shook. I was afraid to believe. I'd wanted a Euro tour forever. This would spread my name everywhere. I would be international.

"I've seen you spin," he said. "I caught your show in Boston last year. Good stuff. Trevor and I agree we need to export you."

"That sounds perfect."

"Trevor will draw up the proposal; which cities, how long, all that. I want to rock these fans."

"You love this music too?" I asked.

Jason scoffed. "Fuck no. It's all right. I prefer classical. I do this because I like the girls, mate. This kind of show draws the hottest babes on the planet. I fuck like a king for three months and get paid like one too." He laughed. "I've left a trail of cum-filled bitches across seven continents."

He and Trevor shared a laugh. I did not like him but his money was good.

"Trevor says you know stagehands that can travel?" Jason asked.

"I do."

"Good. We need people."

"No problem."

"Dancers, too," he said.

Why did I hear a tiny alarm?

"Like that one girl at your Boston show. Fit as fuck. Curly hair. Green eyes. Olive skin. Sexiest dancer I've ever seen. She flirted hard with the crowd."

"I know her. Reba."

"Yeah. Make sure you bring her. That's not negotiable so pay her what you must. I've been aching to bang that bitch since I first saw her."

"She gets that a lot."

He eyed me suspiciously. "You sound protective."

"She's a dear friend."

He watched my face and I buried my feelings. Losing the tour after getting so close would kill me.

"Just a friend?" he asked.

"Yeah, just a friend."

He was unsatisfied. "You two married?" he asked, trying to shock me and watching my reaction.

"Nope."

"Boyfriend-girlfriend? Fuck buddies?"

"Nope. Like I said; just friends. She's married to some guy."

"Be honest," he said. "I agree with Trevor. Relationship on tour are a huge problem. I hate being lied to and I hate people risking my money. I'll take it personally if you're dishonest to my face."

"Relax, Jason," Trevor said. "I've fucked her a bunch of times and right in front of Mike. Mike is cool. They're just friends. He looks out for her."

"I can respect that," Jason said. He took a sip of coffee and leaned closer. "I'll be honest with you. I'm going to fuck that babe. I'm going to fuck that babe long and hard. I'm going to make her my bitch. I don't want to find out later you got a thing for her."

"I understand," I said, hating myself a little. Did I need this tour so badly? I'd tell Reba everything so she could prepare for his advances. She can handle herself. Trevor brought out a notepad and we started talking numbers. He's a details guy and we sat there a long time, covering everything. He had equipment people on the European side but needed technical talent he could trust. Jason stared out the window and occasionally interjected with stories of girls he'd fucked and how much money he was worth. We'd listen to him brag and then get back to business. As Jason spoke I remembered hearing his name over the years. He'd been indirectly involved in the industry a long time. I had to admit the fucker was rich.

We finished hours later. Hands shook all around and promises were made. I'd walked to the coffee shop but it was cold now so I stuffed my hands in my pockets and hustled home. I unlocked the door and entered our apartment.

Reba was already home, which surprised me. Luca often keeps her for hours. They fuck, nap, eat, and fuck again. I'd sent her a text before I left to meet the guys so she'd know where I was and what I was doing.

She'd lit candles in the hallway. The bedroom door was ajar and there were more candles burning in there. I peeked through the crack.

She was on top of the covers, naked and glorious. She played with her new tits, cupping their round fullness and teasing the nipples. She loved those things as much as me. I watched for a minute and then nudged the door open. She lifted her head. We locked eyes for a moment and then she grinned, parting her knees and aiming her pussy right at me. My eyes went to it just like every man on Earth would. We can't not look. This view was especially exciting, not just because she keeps the girl hairless and smooth, but because I could see she'd been fucked. Her swollen lips flowered a bit, gleaming in the candlelight.

Her hands left her tits. One slid down her stomach to spread her pussy and the other beckoned me.

"I need you, Baby," she whimpered, playing up the sensuous acting. She was goofing around but the desire in her eyes was real.

I began to undress.

"I won't be seeing Luca anymore," she said. "He's got a serious relationship with some girl. Of course, he told me this after he fucked me."

"I don't blame him," I said. "I would fuck you first too. What if you got so upset you changed your mind and didn't want sex? First pussy, then truth."

She rolled her eyes in that men-are-pigs way, but her legs kept spreading. This had become a ritual for us. She'll meet some hot and hung stud who fucks her like a slut, then she'll come home to me for the tender stuff. She's so mentally wound up by what she just did that the touch of my tongue on her battered pussy sends waves of pleasure racing through her. I love to make her scream and nothing let's her know I still love her like licking her well-fucked pussy. For me, evidence of her infidelity is a huge turn on. I enjoy what my touch does to her but I love all that proof right in my face. Some guys might think I'm being humiliated. This isn't between me and her lover. This is between me and her. We get it even if others don't.

I crawled on the bed and kissed trails down her inner thighs. She sighed and her legs fell all the way apart. Her cunt was slippery and warm and flavorful and I had her moaning loudly in seconds. I slipped a finger in her slick pussy and my pinkie up her ass. She groaned and rolled her hips. I stared up her body to her big wobbling tits. God, I love those things. Her hand moved to my head, guiding my mouth and tongue, and I felt her holes clamp around my fingers. Half a second later she was cumming hard and gushing juice. I kept going, softly, until I made her cum again. My news would be a mix of good and bad so I wanted her compliant. We stared at the ceiling, holding hands and floating on clouds.

"How did your meeting with Trevor go?" she finally said.

"I got the European tour," I said, casually.

She sat up. "My God, Mike, that's huge! Why didn't you tell me sooner?"

"I told you; pussy comes first."

She rested her head on my chest and threw a leg over, hugging me hard.

"I'm so proud of you, Baby," she said, her voice a little sad. "How long will you be gone?"

"Around three months."

Her lips turned pouty.

"Don't fret, Little Dove," I said. "I need you to come with me."

She sat up again. "Really?"

"Yes. Trevor is recreating the American tour and his money-guy wants the same dancers."

She made a face. "That's odd, isn't it? Europe has plenty of talented artists. Why would he want American dancers?"

I cleared my throat. "Well, not all the dancers from the American tour."

"Which? Tina? Elena?"

"Actually he wants just one."

She tilted her head and stared at me.

"More specifically," I continued, "he wants you. And even more specifically, it's Jason, not Trevor, that wants you."

"Who's Jason?"

"The money guy."

She gave me a hard look. "Now I understand the second orgasm. I thought you were being generous. Are you pimping me out, Baby?"

I nodded. "Yes ma'am."

"What are you not telling me?" she asked. "You're being vague. Is Jason an asshole? Is he offering me a shit-wage?"

"No, not that. Jason has a hard-on for you. A raging hard-on, in fact. He let me know your participation is non-negotiable. If I can't get you, the deal is off. "

"What a dick. As far as those guys know we're just friends. He hangs the tour on your ability to recruit me? What if I already had a gig? What if I was injured and couldn't dance for anyone?"

"He'd move on to the next DJ and try to get some other girl he wants."

"He's an ass. This is just a game for him but for people like us it's our life."

"No argument from me. He's filthy rich and doesn't need this and will still make money regardless."

She got quiet. She folded her arms and her eyes were angry. He'd put it on me and now I'd put it on her.

"Fine," she said after a while.

I gave her tons of credit for not saying I owed her one.

"At least I'll get to see Europe," she said. "I went with my parents right after high school and never went back."

Chapter 3

Reba and I took separate flights to London and booked separate rooms at the Hilton Bankside. I'll say this for the man; Jason did not pinch pennies. The Bankside hotel was lavish and extravagant. Our suites were huge.

I'd met with him several times before we left the States and he gave me everything I asked for; London, Amsterdam, Berlin, Prague, Budapest, Athens, Rome, Madrid, Paris, and a closing show in London again, all at top venues and with five-star accommodations. I don't know where Jason gets his money but he sure gets a lot of it.

Reba arrived several hours before me and when I went to check on her I heard voices behind her door. I knocked and she answered, already wearing a thick, fluffy bathrobe. Her hair was wet. She showed me into her suite and I discovered Jason comfortably seated on the couch. I was relieved his hair was dry. My heart was pounding wildly but I kept my face calm. She'd been here only a few hours and he was already after her. This motherfucker moved fast. Reba wore a coy smile, sensing my torture.

"How was your flight?" I asked.

"Great," she said. "I slept the whole way."

I turned to Jason.

"I got here two days ago but yeah, my flight was good."

He was annoyed I showed up at her room. Reba had been sitting across from him and an empty wine glass held her spot. She circled around the furniture and dropped into her seat. I took the other end of the couch.

We talked about the upcoming shows. My angle was poor but as we talked I began to wonder if Reba occasionally flashed him. Her heavy robe parted each time she moved her legs and I wondered what his view was. I had to find out so when she was about to move again, I left my chair for the bathroom, looking back over his shoulder. She caught me but acted oblivious. Laughing at some comment Jason made while briefly showing him a perfect bald slit.

When I returned from the bathroom she'd moved to the couch, taking my end and forcing me to take her old seat. They faced each other, backs against the arm rests. Jason asked questions about her history; where she grew up, was she close to her parents, was she a good student? I knew where he headed and soon I heard it.

"So, you're married but your husband allows you to travel alone?"

She chuckled. "That's funny. He doesn't allow me anything. He pursues the things he loves and I do the same. We have an understanding."

"Open relationships are common in Europe," Jason said.

"It's not open," Reba answered.

"No? You must get lonely. With beauty like yours you receive many offers, do you not? You turn them all down? What makes you think your husband does the same while you're away?"

"I trust him," she said, avoiding my eyes. "He's fine with whatever I choose to do. He trusts me too."

Ask a man a yes or no question regarding sex, and you'll get a yes or no answer. Ask a woman and you'll get yes, no, or no, try harder. Reba was toying with Jason, setting a high-water mark, indirectly admitting that if he wanted her, he would need to jump some hurdles first. I saw him hide a smile. He understood. My wife sat at one end of the couch, occasionally flashing generous amounts of skin, while at the same time hinting she had no interest in Jason. She pushed with one hand and pulled with the other.

"Anyone hungry?" I asked.

Neither noticed me.

"I appreciate your arrangement," Jason said to Reba. "You can fool around but he cannot."

She laughed, leaning forward. "I suppose you're not far from the truth," she said. Her robe opened a little. Her smaller breasts would have remained hidden but her new larger breasts moved around. Reba exposed a lovely dark nipple and the gorgeous curve of a full tit. If I saw it from my seat Jason got a view point-blank. I watched him stare. Reba remained unaware, inadvertently covering up when she shifted her body again. Normally that kind of thing would excite me but I got the impression Jason is not the kind of guy one teases. I felt more nervous than aroused.

"Anyone hungry?" I asked again.

"Would you like a bump?" Jason said, ignoring me.

Reba looked confused. Jason reached inside his jacket and withdrew a small plastic baggie containing white powder. Oh boy. Reba and I don't do drugs but we know what they are. I waited for her to decline, watching his face closely, wondering if he'd get embarrassed for offering. She stared at the baggie a long time. What was she thinking?

"Maybe just a tiny taste," she said.

What the fuck? I sat up to look at her. "Really? In all the years we've worked together I've never seen you indulge, Reba. In fact, I remember you telling other dancers to stay away from such things."

She shrugged. "Our show's not for two days and I'll be fine by then. I've always wondered what it was like."

I was vexed. Bewildered. How hard could I insist before it looked weird?

None, I realized. She was supposed to be only a friend. Her husband was back in the States. She was free to do whatever she wanted.

Jason squeezed the baggie open and produced the tiniest spoon I'd ever seen. He took a small scoop and snorted it, showing her how it was done, and then held a scoop under her nostril. She wouldn't look at me.

Pow.

Her head snapped back and her eyes got big. She seemed to taste something bitter. She shook her head and gagged a little and took a sip of wine. She set the glass on the coffee table and looked at the back of her hands as if seeing them for the first time.

"That hit fast," she said.

"This is pure," Jason said, and I got a hint where all his money came from.

Reba squeezed her thighs together, causing her robe to part over her tits again. We both got a glorious view of firm swollen breasts before she closed her robe. "This feels amazing," she murmured.

I had no idea what to do. I wanted Jason out of her suite but had no leverage for making that happen. Why did Reba try the drug? I'd ask later but for now I was stumped. No way would I try some too. This tour was too important. I worried things would escalate but Jason put the baggie away and conversation continued as before. Reba talked a lot more and constantly touched her own skin. She dipped a finger into her wine as if tasting something new and amazing. She swirled her glass, watching closely, and then sniffed the liquid. She smiled.

That's when I realized Jason's game. Yes, he jumped on her the minute her plane touched down, but then he started slow. He controlled himself despite her flashing, gave her all the attention despite my efforts to distract him, got her to try something new which built trust between them, and then let it go, making her feel safe. This fucker was good.

An hour later he said it was getting late and he had a busy day tomorrow. He said goodnight and excused himself, wishing us both sweet dreams. I let him know I was headed to my suite too. The door shut behind him and I waited a heartbeat to ask Reba what she was doing.

"Playing the game right along with him."

"That includes snorting what he offers?"

"A speck. So? I'm in Europe and it felt right. I'll be fine for the show."

"You don't do drugs."

"I don't do them but I've done them. Some. Okay, weed. Relax, Mike. I'm fine. Let's have fun on this tour. You're the headliner and I'm just a dancer."

I took a breath and held it. She poked my belly and I exhaled, laughing.

"Lighten up, Baby," she murmured, opening her robe.

Goddamn she looked amazing.

"Come fuck me," she said. "I'm horny."

I considered her offer and even took a step towards the bedroom. I stopped.

"Honey," I said. "I'm nervous this is a test. What if he's watching the room? What if he comes back and catches us? I should go."

She shrugged her robe to the floor, standing there naked and gorgeous. She dipped a finger in her pussy and held it up to my face.

"I'm wet. That coke and all my flirting got me horny."

Fucking Hell.

"I can't, Love. I'm sorry. Put your robe on. Walk me to the door."

She was not happy. She pulled her robe up. We moved down the hall and I opened the door and stepped outside, planning to talk another minute before heading to my suite. I found Jason three steps from her room.

"My phone is missing," he said. "Must have fallen out of my pocket."

I moved aside and he sailed into the room headed for the couch.

"Found it," he said.

"Have a good night," Reba told me.

I opened my mouth to speak and she gave me a devilish grin and a gentle push on the chest. She shut the door. Jason was still in her room! I was paralyzed. I'm wet, bounced around inside my skull. I didn't move for at least four heartbeats, praying she'd open the door and kick Jason out. Then I realized if she did I'd look like a creep for still standing in the hallway outside her door. I headed for my room on legs of wood. I pulled my phone out, staring at the blank screen. Hallway, elevator, hallway, door; I sat on my bed, waiting. When my phone buzzed, I jumped.

Sweet dreams, Baby, her message read. Jason is taking me around London tomorrow. He says you'll be at the venue all day.

Yes, that was true, but what the fuck just happened? I assumed if she texted me he must have left her room, so I fired back a quick; did anything happen with him just now? Is he still there?

She didn't respond.

Eventually I fell asleep.

Chapter 4

Jason was right; I was at the venue all day. Our gig was set for Jubilee Gardens in the shadow of the London Eye. The show was going to be amazing. We'd wired the wheel with lights and sound all the way back to Belvedere Road. The trees would become part of my act. The plaza would be packed with people watching Three-D projections on the County Hall and losing their minds. I got so excited by all the preparations I almost forgot Reba was out with Jason.

Almost.

I'd texted her again first thing in the morning and she said he tried to kiss her after I left. It took me two minutes to get her to admit she'd let him and another two minutes to confess she slipped his hand inside her robe to caress her tit. After that she swears she kicked him out and masturbated before falling asleep. I did not ask what she fantasized about.

Trevor met me at the site and we went over details. That guy is a promotional wizard. We'd sold out and he warned me, given the public locale, that we'd have a huge spill-over crowd.

"They'll be packed in from The Queen's Walk to York Road!" he said. "Where's Reba?"

"Out with Jason," I replied.

"Uh oh."

I let Reba fuck other men and it never bothered me. In fact, the opposite was true; it turned me on. I never felt jealous with any of them. I'd seen Trevor fuck her senseless with the help of two other men. Pure hotness.

But then she fucked Luca, and while she was just another girl to him, he was something special to her. He slipped through her defenses. She loved submitting to him. He owned her and for the first time I felt threatened and that tore the lid off. After that, I got jealous every time Reba took a lover. I still watched whenever I could. I still got crazy horny. Reba and I still had amazing sex and our intimacy was higher than ever. But now her infidelities tore me up inside, and, strangely, that got me hotter than ever. She saw the change in me and asked if she should stop. I told her to keep going.

Now Reba was out with Jason and if Trevor was worried, I was worried.

"Is that a problem?" I asked.

"No, he won't hurt her. But he's talked about that woman constantly. He wants to steal her from her husband and put a baby in her."

"He doesn't even know her."

"What's that got to do with wanting to fuck her? I've seen plenty of girls I wanted to fuck at first sight. Jason never lets his ignorance get in his own way."

We both chuckled.

"We'll both keep an eye on her," he said. "Jason is into some heavy shit. None of that should find its way to us but just in case."

I debated mentioning the coke last night but didn't. I signed up for this when I accepted a gig that does not allow for couples, and especially not married couples. I've heard the same stories as everyone else; thousands of dollars wasted because some husband DJ got jealous and threw a fit and walked off the stage. Angry customers demand refunds. Reputations are destroyed. I get it. Reba and I are lying and I understand she's got to play the part.

I took a deep breath and let it out.

"You want to check my programs?" I asked. "See if I missed anything?"

"You never miss anything," Trevor said.

We walked through the show anyway.

Jason and Reba joined us hours later. She wore a gorgeous dress I'd never seen, tight, hugging her curves and displaying some cleavage. Trevor noticed her bigger tits and quickly looked away. They talked about their day, wandering London and shopping, and Reba gushed about what a delightful and generous host Jason was. I never got her alone to ask if anything happened so I had to study every move she made and try to guess. I concluded something happened; they had smaller personal space than the day before, but whether that was just growing familiarity or because they'd shared physical contact, I didn't know.

At dinner that night Trevor and I sat on one side of the table while Reba and Jason sat on the other. I think they may have held hands.

The next day it was Reba's turn to prowl the venue and organize her dancers. She spaced them around the event, each with their own small stage. Two extra dancers would fill the rotation so everyone got frequent breaks. The crowd would be close but that's how she likes it. She showed us the costumes each dancer would wear. The men wore suspenders and booty shorts combined with heavy black boots. The women also wore booty shorts but their top half was all body paint, red glitter with black chokers.

"Jason bribed somebody and got us an exception to the city ordinance," she said. "The crowd will go crazy when they realize they're looking at bare tits."

I pictured my wife perfectly and yes, the crowd will love it.

Chapter 5

They did.

Trevor hired an outside company to handle lasers and smoke and their product was stellar. I hit the crowd with everything and left them dazed and when they turned around to get their bearings, Reba had the hottest men and women on the planet right in their face. I saw people run their hands all over my wife. She'd drop to her knees to twerk and some girl would kiss her while some guy would maul her big tits. By the time the show ended, half her glitter was gone. Jason had an arrangement for the dancers to use shower facilities at a nearby gym so I started breaking things down, expecting Reba to show up again soon. She didn't. I still hadn't heard from her hours later when the trucks were loaded.

I told the last driver he could go and checked my phone again. Trevor crossed the street.

"Hungry?" he asked.

"Starved. Where is everyone?"

"Scattered. I'm meeting Jason at his penthouse later. You're welcome to come. We'll have a few drinks and discuss what worked and what didn't. I know he'd love your input."

"Sure."

Trevor took me to a greasy spoon place called Jackie's and I had amazing scrambled eggs. We talked about changes to the show. I checked my phone again when he used the restroom but nothing. We paid our bill.

Jason's penthouse was at the Shangri-La hotel atop The Shard. A butler let us in. We heard the shower running so we moved to a glass wall and gazed down on London Bridge. Half his suite was a pool that extended outside. The other half was a giant bed, two weird lounges shaped like potato chips, a Dali table, and tinted glass and stainless steel. Objects de art littered the room. Jason finished his shower and I heard his bare feet approaching in the tiled hallway. He entered the room, nude, drying his hair, and told the butler to open a bottle of champagne.

He was lean for an older guy, chest hair that covered his stomach too. I guessed he cycled since his thighs seemed more developed than the rest of him. His cock seemed a little small and for reasons I did not understand, that made me happy. What I could see was covered with veins and topped with a slightly too large head. He sat on a lounge and gestured for us to sit on the other, then draped the towel over his crotch. Business attire, I guess. The butler sat a tray with four flutes, spaced them around the table, and began to pour.

"I fired the light and smoke guys," Jason said.

"Why?" I asked.

"I wanted more. I already hired a new company."

Something was nagging my tired brain.

Trevor chuckled. "Jason solves all his problems by throwing money at them," he said.

I laughed. "That makes them go away but doesn't actually solve them."

Before either of them could reply, I heard Reba say hello. All three of us looked up. She wore a towel on her wet hair and a sheer, white, short robe trimmed in satin. Her body was painfully obvious and every man there, including the butler, ate her up. She sat on the lounge next to Jason and lifted the fourth flute to her lips. Four flutes. Three men. Now I knew what nagged me.

"What did I miss?" she asked.

"Jason fired the smoke and light guys," Trevor said.

"Good. They underwhelmed."

"Thank you," Jason said.

They gave each other a comfortable and familiar peck on the lips. Like a couple. Like a married couple. Like a fucking married couple that's known each other for ten fucking years. Fuck. My heart caved in on itself. I fought to keep my face calm.

Had he already fucked her?

My mind staggered as if blinded. I groped for anything in the darkness. How had things jumped so far forward so fast? Reba leaned closer to him, resting her head on his shoulder and her hand on his thigh, listening intently to he and Trevor discuss Amsterdam.

Of course he had.

I heard nothing. I could barely breathe. I was dying to see her pussy but her legs were closed. I needed visual evidence. Her hand slipped under his towel. I gestured to the butler to give me more champagne. I knew I should be a part of this conversation but I couldn't focus. Her hand started to moved back and forth. I knew what happened next but I still almost died when it did. Reba lowered her head to his lap. Her face disappeared under his towel.

Jason tried to continue the conversation but couldn't.

"Sorry, guys," he said, giving us his best what-can-you-do-when-she's -got-to-have-it face.

I heard a slurp.

"No problem," Trevor said. "We'll wait on the balcony."

He took his flute and jerked his chin at me. I filled mine and followed. The view of London was spectacular but I took an angle that let me see the lounge. Reba's head moved leisurely up and down.

"She must like him," Trevor said. "That was quick."

"I thought so too."

"I guess we shouldn't be surprised. Her husband is thousands of miles away and apparently encourages her, and I hear it's hard to tell Jason no. I've known him years and he's always this way with a new woman. I've never seen him fail. Even women that don't like him end up fucking him."

I glanced back inside. The towel had fallen to the floor and Reba's head bobbed up and down, faster now. Jason looked down at his crotch with a satisfied grin.

"This is just the start," Trevor said. "I've seen him turn girls into complete whores. Once he has a firm grip, he'll share her. She's in for a wild three months."

I felt a chill. I turned my back on the action and gazed out over a sleeping London. Before too long Trevor nudged my arm.

"He came."

We ambled inside. Reba rested her head on his leg, the towel in place once more.

"Where were we?" Jason chuckled.

Conversation began and I stole occasional glances at Reba. Our eyes met a few times and I saw the delighted laughter. She was having fun. We were stuck in these roles so why not? We'd performed this charade many times but after our American tour some rules changed. She was still learning boundaries.

Trevor asked a tax question and he and Jason left to use the laptop in the bedroom. I waited until they were out of earshot.

"Enjoying yourself?"

"Heck yes. You?"

"Feeling left in the dark."

"Poor baby. He's always around so I can't text or call. My dance outfit lacked pockets."

Everything had fallen her way and I felt robbed. "He has an ugly dick," I said, just to be mean.

"It's big."

"Not really."

"You haven't seen it once I get him hard. He gets big. Really big. He's a grower like you. Starts small."

I had no retort for that so I said nothing. We spent a moment in silence.

"Did you fuck him?" I asked.

"No."

I was surprised by how much relief I felt.

"He fucks me," she said, laughing. "He's a ravenous animal. He tossed me all around the bedroom."

My stomach hit the floor. This man was under my skin and now he was fucking my wife too. She read my face.

"You put me here," she said. "You knew what he wanted and what kind of man he is and you handed me over anyway to further your career. I'm not mad. I'm having a blast. He's a nut. But remember this isn't being done to you. You put me here."

I heard them approaching. Jason had the towel around his waist. His ugly dick didn't even make a bump.

Chapter 6

I realized how much prep work had gone into this tour when we hit Amsterdam. Jason, with his new girlfriend Reba, her nails freshly painted bright pink, took me to see the site. Four barges connected to A Place Beyond Belief, an abandoned Soviet sub in the middle of the IJ, a huge channel which bisects the city. Surrounding the barges were more barges, loaded with lights and sound equipment. I worried our clients would leave deaf and blind.

We ran several tests and I was blown away. I've seen a lot of pyrotechnics at a lot of shows but never anything like this. Erupting pillars of water a hundred feet high suddenly exploding in flame. Lasers striking the water like disco balls and producing a billion dots of whirling multicolored lights. The dancers would be nude and caged, but the cages would rise and fall, giving the crowd face to face access for a few seconds. The list went on. I had a hard time paying attention because Jason and Reba were acting like a couple. Pink nail polish? Reba has never worn pink nail polish. The day lasted forever and by nightfall I was exhausted.

We all met for dinner and Reba never left his side. After we ate we strolled the city and I hung back, watching them hold hands. We walked until our feet hurt and then Jason said he wanted to check out a place he hadn't been in years. Trevor and the other dancers agreed so I went along.

The place was formerly a warehouse now converted to a bar with a Harley Davidson motif. Bikes adorned the walls and hung from the rafters. A ZZ Top cover band played at the back. Weird. As we passed through the door I saw the bouncer look at Jason like he recognized him but then his face went blank. I thought nothing of it. Jason spoke to the bartender who picked up a phone and then a man in a suit came down from an upstairs office. He and Jason shook hands and then we were ushered upstairs.

The office would have made an CPA proud. Stacks of files and bookcases crammed with binders. Suit led us to a small closet in the corner and entered, then knocked on the back wall, which swung open. He waved us through, closing the wall behind us. Cool. A secret club. Two men with automatic weapons stood guard on the other side.

I don't know guns, but I know a machine gun when I see one.

Beyond the closet was a fantastic scene of raw hedonism. We'd entered a private strip club. The walls were plastered with red velvet and three chandeliers hung down the center of the main room, positioned over stages about a foot high. Open booths lined the walls and assorted white powders and multi-colored pills lay scattered across the tables. Thick smoke hung in the air. Sexy trance music blanketed conversation. A bar sat at the far end but the bartender looked bored. When he saw Jason, he stood up straight and got busy.

The center stages were covered with naked people fucking. Some of the booths near the bar held older, well-dressed men accompanied by young, nearly naked women. I saw the bartender give Jason a nod. Trevor saw it too.

"You own this place?" Trevor asked.

"Partners with a guy," Jason said.

We moved farther in. Reba's eyes were as big as oranges. The room swung to the right at the end and in this section alcoves lined the walls like caves, the openings covered by strings of hanging glass beads. An armed bouncer parted some beads and ushered us in.

A bench ran around three walls and another low stage sat in the center. The bench had people scattered along the length. Everyone watched four luscious girls simultaneously suck a large black cock on stage. I suppose it was attached to a man buried under them but I couldn't see him. Jason steered us to an open area and sat, pulling Reba to his lap. She spread her frilly dress as she put her bare ass on his leg. Her eyes were glued to that black cock. Trevor sat next to Reba and before I could grab the next spot a dancer I didn't know took it. I ended up four people away from my wife. When she whispered in Jason's ear, I heard nothing.

Months later Reba and I would be home, snuggling on the couch and watching a movie and my mind would drift back to this night. This was the moment our European tour changed. This was the night rules went out the window.

I tried my best to ignore Reba and Jason. I truly did. I had plenty to draw my eye but there was something happening between them and I didn't like it. Our dancer friends got up to explore and Trevor headed for the bathroom. I slid closer and asked Jason and Reba if I could buy them a drink. Jason chuckled.

"No thanks," he said. "I have something better."

He moved Reba's arm and stood. He pulled a foil packet from a pocket.

"Suck my cock, Love," he told Reba.

My wife was on her knees without hesitation. Her fingers worked his zipper and then out came his cock. I was once again pleased to see how small he was. Trevor returned and sat down to watch.

"I love this part," he joked.

Reba kissed the head and then licked a long vein along the top, tugging on Jason's balls. He started to grow. For a minute, it was just her working his cock. My wife kept at him and slowly he gained length and thickness. No one in the room paid us any attention. There was so much sex happening around our group one blowjob was lost. I glanced over at the four girls working the black cock and one of them had mounted the man while the others slathered his big balls and shaft. How he didn't just explode I'll never know.

When I checked on Reba she had Jason about half-hard and my stomach sank. He was not small anymore. He walked backward to the bench and Reba followed, making sure to keep him in her mouth. Trevor chuckled.

"She likes it, Jason."

He grinned. "Let me show you what she really likes."

He opened the foil pack and popped his cock out of her mouth. She pouted a second until she saw what he was doing. He took a small, flat, purple pill from the packet and placed it on the wet tip of his cock.

"Get it, girl," he said.

Reba smiled broadly and bent her neck, opening wide and taking half his cock. Her throat muscles worked and her tongue rolled around inside her mouth and then she sealed her lips and sucked, pulling back slowly. Jason groaned.

"Yeah, just like that," he said.

The pill was gone, his cock was slick with spit, and he was now almost completely hard. Reba was right; he was big. Shit.

"Some for me?" Trevor asked.

Jason dropped a small baggie in his hand. Trevor tapped out white power and snorted a line. Reba stood and kissed Jason deeply and Trevor blasted a line up his other nostril. Jason fished the tiny spoon from his pocket and asked Trevor to give him a blast. Some dancers returned and helped themselves to a line each. Jason didn't care. Reba pulled her dress over her head, quickly shedding panties and sports bra. She began undressing Jason, whispered something in his ear, and then continued. Trevor came around behind my wife and cupped both tits.

"These are beautiful," he said. "I love them bigger."

She kissed him seductively over her shoulder.

Jason looked at the armed guard. "Go find Fenna," he said. "I don't care if she's with a client. Tell her I need a favor."

The guard nodded once and left.

Reba turned her back on Jason, rubbing his cock with her butt crack.

"Get out of these clothes," she told Trevor.

I thought Jason would try to fuck her from behind but he wanted her mouth. While Trevor stripped, Jason spun Reba and pushed her to her knees. His veiny cock waved in her face. It looked ugly to me but I may be biased. Reba sure loved the thing. She opened wide and forced him in, pausing as she adjusted her throat and then holding his thighs as she pushed her mouth down on him. She'd learned a new trick in the last few days.

When the pill hit her, it was obvious. She was working that dick and her eyes opened wide and she looked up at Jason.

"You feeling it?" he asked.

She nodded while she sucked. Trevor nudged her ass to get her to stand and then ate her pussy from behind. Reba moaned, rolling her hips and grinding her pussy on his face. Her eyebrows arched. She slipped Jason out long enough to tell Trevor to keep going and then stuck Jason's cock back in her mouth. She forced his inches to the back of her throat and down. She kept pushing, slowly working him deeper, until her stretched lips circled the base of his shaft. Her neck bulged. Her jugular throbbed.

"Hello, my dear," Jason said to someone behind me.

She was blonde-haired and blue-eyed and shockingly pretty. Her lips were full, her tits small and firm, and she wore nothing but red high heels. I watched her tight round ass sail by. She kissed Jason lightly.

"Her?" she asked, gesturing to Reba.

"No," he said. "Him." He gestured to me.

What?

She turned and met my eyes and smiled like a sunrise. Her bottom lip dipped way down like The Joker and I saw a flash of crazy behind her gorgeous eyes. I tried to look away but couldn't. She was mesmerizing.

"He's cute," she said, her lilting accent somehow making her sexier.

"I'm ma-married," I stammered.

She giggled and held up her ring. "So am I," she said.

She left Jason and put her arms around my neck. Instinct kicked in and I looked at Reba, fearful I was about to get in serious trouble. Reba was drifting on a sea of lust, sucking Jason like his cum would taste like honey once she got it out of him. Trevor had finished licking her and now held her hips, trying to ease his big cock in. Jason caught me watching Reba.

"Why do you care what she thinks?" he asked.

"I'm worried she'll say something to my wife," I said.

Jason shook his head. "I won't allow her to. She'll do what I say. Enjoy yourself, friend. This is Fenna. She'll make you forget your wife."

I don't want to forget my wife, I thought.

I did not like how he thought he had power over Reba. I considered saying several things, all which would get me in trouble, so I said nothing. Fenna kissed me. She smelled good and felt warm and her firm body against mine was intoxicating.

Reba looked over, finally.

"Don't they make a cute couple?" she said.

"Mike worries you'll tell his wife," Jason said.

"No," she said, shaking her head. Her pupils were huge. "What happens on tour stays on tour."

She gobbled Jason's cock again as Trevor gripped her hips and shoved his cock deep. Reba's loud groan of pleasure made heads turn.

Fenna kissed me and I kissed her back. Her warm wet tongue slipped into my mouth and my resistance crumbled. Christ, she was pretty. She started popping the buttons on my shirt and I helped after two. Soon I was naked like everyone else and dying for Fenna to suck my dick. She read my mind and bent at the waist and her scalding mouth enveloped me. I automatically looked to Reba again because I'm married and devoted and my wife, flying high as a cloud, winked at me and grinned around the cock in her mouth. Her nipples were stiff and swollen.

"Ewu shud fuk dat gurl," she said.

I wanted to, very much, but not like this. I was fine fucking her mouth though. I tangled my fingers in her long blonde hair and began to pump. She was astonishingly good and I would not last long.

"Let's move to the stage," Jason said, and everyone automatically complied. Fenna led me by the dick. Reba walked between Trevor and Jason, holding hands and staring again at that hard black cock. Four girls had dwindled to one and Jason told her to find someone else. She lifted off the man and scampered off.

"Get on," Jason said.

The man held his cock straight up.

Reba stepped delicately around spectators and straddled the ebony stranger. She reached down to hold him and let her eyes drift around the circle. They sparkled when they got to me. Her hips had been dropping and I saw her pink lips swaddle the man before taking the head. She put her hands on his muscular chest and eased her weight down. Her hungry pussy enveloped him.

"Sexy," Fenna breathed. She started playing with my dick, a little surprised to find me so hard. She looked down at me, up at my face, over at Reba fucking a huge black guy, and then back at my face. "I think you like her," she said.

I nodded once. Fenna leaned over and swallowed my dick again, wrapping me in a hot wet vacuum as I watched my wife fuck. I would not last.

Trevor and Jason stood to either side and Reba took turns sucking them. I still thought Jason's dick was ugly but Reba was right; he was big. Yes, really big. Fucker. A woman none of us knew moved behind my wife and began licking her asshole. She moved down to those large black balls and then up again, pulling moans from both lovers. A few customers came to watch and my face burned a little. My slutty wife was gathering an audience.

The effect from the pill continued to grow. Soon Reba was writhing on the cock that stirred her guts and sucking hard on her men. Trevor came first and my wife drank every drop he shot. I almost lost my load. Jason had enough sucking and moved around behind Reba and I thought he planned to fuck her ass but I was wrong. He shoed the woman away and slapped his meat right on top of that black slab. When Reba pushed down next, Jason told her to wait. He worked his stiff dick around and then shoved his cock into her pussy too.

My wife almost came out of her skin. She cried out and tried to move away but Jason bent her forward and pushed. I saw both thick cocks stretch her pussy. Jesus. Reba jumped and jerked like a trapped animal but never truly tried to get away. Her pussy expanded and she quickly learned what felt best and in less than a minute she was fucking both men with abandon, grunting and snorting and drooling, her milky tits pressed hard against that onyx chest.

Fenna stopped sucking to watch.

Reba was breathing hard and moaning and when she climaxed moments later both men had to hold her up. She was screaming and convulsing and seemed to faint. The black guy said he was close.

"Inside her," Jason commanded.

They moved together, her sloppy wetness drenching them, until the black guy said he couldn't hold back.

"One second," Jason said, pumping his hips faster.

He leaned on her and then two men were spurting cum into my wife at the same time. A murmur swept the crowd as the men grunted and spewed. Reba barely understood what was being done but enough to collapse onto that broad black chest and cum again. Milk flowed around their twin shafts, dribbling from black balls. Jason pumped again and again, flooding her. They emptied their balls and nobody moved. I was hard as steel. I pushed Fenna's head down and made her start sucking again.

Jason rested a minute and then withdrew his veiny cock. The sight of his sperm oozing from the tip and leaking from her pussy was too much for me. I grunted and filled Fenna's mouth. She giggled and sucked hard, pulling out more, which I eagerly gave.

The black man rolled Reba to the side and pulled his cock free. My wife laid there, her world spinning, sperm flowing from her slit. Slowly, the room returned to its previous state; business men seduced lovely young ladies, people fucked and sucked all around us. I wanted to go hold Reba but dared not.

Our group took over the stage. Jason had drinks brought and we all laid about like a box of puppies. Fenna stayed with me which I found surprising. Reba sat up, pupils as big as nickels, and crawled to Jason's deflated cock. She slipped the ugly noodle into her mouth and nursed on him like a baby. She licked his hanging balls, gently rolling them around her mouth. She draped his meat across her neck to tongue his asshole. I saw the pill's effect in every movement. Her skin seemed alive, her nerves on fire. Jason let her worship his dick while he casually chatted with others.

I had to admit his cock wasn't ugly. I just hated the man. In a moment of clarity, I faced the fact that he intimidated me terribly. His hold on Reba seemed to extend beyond the game we played. She was his willing mistress. His hold on her kept us from talking so I had no idea what she was feeling. Forced to draw my own conclusions from what I witnessed, I saw Reba as utterly infatuated with him. Was it the drugs? Had he made promises? Worse, did she find him so attractive? That sent an icicle of dread through me. Reba admitted Luca had intangible qualities that pulled her away from me. My eyes told me Jason had them too but in greater quantity. Jealously began eating my stomach lining.

Jason recognized one of the business men watching from a booth and waved him closer. They exchanged a greeting and then Jason offered Reba's mouth. "She's a remarkable talent," he said.

The man unzipped his pants and pulled his penis out from beneath a large belly. The moment Reba saw his dick she vacuumed him in and eagerly sucked. Any cock thrilled her and I again saw the pill's effect. She craved cum.

"May I invite my friends?" the man asked.

Jason nodded and the man waved others from the booth. Soon Reba serviced them all. Jason stroked her hair tenderly as one by one each man erupted and filled her mouth.

"Don't spill," Jason instructed. "Show them you love what they give."

My wife sucked hard, gulping hot sperm directly from the source. Drained and content, the men thanked Jason and returned to their table. Reba curled up on Jason's lap, her wide eyes moving around the room, watching all the bodies. When she got to Fenna she reached for her and the women embraced, kissing and caressing before slipping into a sixty-nine. Soon both enjoyed powerful orgasms.

When we'd all regained our senses, we dressed, although Jason told Reba to forgo her bra and panties, and he led us into the night again. Fenna came along, leaning on my shoulder and smiling. We made our way to the hotel and said goodnight. Fenna and I left the elevator first and I caught a gleam of jealousy in Reba's eye. Fair enough. She was clinging to Jason's arm and rubbing her body against his so I know she saw a similar gleam in mine. They were headed to the top floor where I knew my wife would fuck him again, and there was nothing I could do about it.

After we showered, Fenna wanted to fuck but I reminded her I was married. We cuddled and fell asleep. In the morning, I left for the venue.

The show exceeded my imagination. Jason had tugboats spray the crowd with colored water as the music blasted and people danced. Isolated and unpoliced, clothing flew. A sea of naked and nearly naked beautiful young bodies writhed beneath the smoke and lights, all moving to the rhythms I set.

Fenna danced in front of my booth and never left. Her beauty daunted the mob, at first, but once they saw she was there for the fun too, the crowd closed, everyone dancing and touching and kissing. I saw a man eat her pussy while she made out with a sexy brunette.

Reba danced with wild recklessness, inspiring the crowd, but her eyes never left Jason. He watched from a suspended platform high above, grinning at the organized chaos he and Trevor had created. After the show, crews raced in and began breaking everything down for shipping. We were headed for Berlin and I was ready.

Chapter 7

Out of the fire, right back into the frying pan.

Germany was cold and overcast but at least Reba and I found a moment to talk going through customs. Jason got a phone call and wandered away.

"What the fuck?" I blurted. "Do you love this guy or what?"

She made a face. "I am playing the role you assigned me, remember? If you're jealous blame yourself."

"Why don't you call or text? I'm totally in the dark. I hate it. This is not how we play this game."

"We're not playing a game this time, Baby. You need reassurances? I still love you. I'm still happily married to you. Jason has a huge personality and controls everyone around him. He took my phone. He loves fucking married women and has joked about how my husband back in the States must be going crazy."

"I'm going crazy right here."

"You seem to be enjoying Fenna," she said. "Did you fuck her?"

"No."

"Bullshit. She's gorgeous."

"I haven't. Why did Jason give her to me? He knows I'm married."

"He didn't. I did. Now I wish I hadn't."

I looked at her like she was crazy.

"Shut your face up," she said. "I was high. It seemed hot at the time."

"Speaking of high," I countered. "You're having fun with those drugs."

She looked at her feet. "Actually," she admitted. "They're awesome. You should try some. I've given friends so much shit for using them but now I get it. I'll stop back in the States."

A door closed down the hall and steps approached.

"That's Jason," she said. "I love you."

"I love you, too."

Everyone retrieved their luggage. Jason led us outside to hail a cab. I rode with him and my wife. She sat close, holding his hand. Fucking fuck.

"Fenna will join us tomorrow," he said. "There's a gig tonight I'd like us to go see. Surprise an old friend."

We unloaded at The Ritz-Carlton and elevatored to the top floor. This time I was only a few doors down from Jason and his new girlfriend. We waited for Reba to shower and then aimed for a small club on the other side of town.

"One stop first," Jason said.

We drove through ever more depressed areas and turned on a dirty and littered street. We passed the burned husk of a Mercedes, children's broken toys, and a mattress. We left the residential and approached some warehouses with shattered windows. Jason told the driver to wait and then threw money in his lap.

Inside, Jason knew where to go.

"You ever watch internet porn?" he asked.

"Sure," I said. "Sometimes. Who doesn't?"

We went down some stairs into a basement.

"You heard of the production company German Goo Girls?"

"Yeah. Not my kind of porn."

"Mine either, but I'm friends with Steffen Heinrich. You've seen his cock. He likes latex and rubber and masks and drowning girls in his flood of cum."

"Yeah, I've seen him."

"I haven't," Reba chipped in.

Jason chuckled. "He's not for you, Love." He patted her hand. "I'm using him to teach someone a lesson. His dick is literally the size of a baby's leg."

"Good Lord," Reba said.

Jason stopped at a steel beam pillar and rang a small bell hanging there. A door opened in the darkness ahead, framing a rectangle of bright light. A large man in a butcher's apron came out to greet us and hugged Jason. We were led through the door.

An uncovered mattress filled the center of the room and three girls lay with their heads together, laughing. A ring of naked men jacked off over them while two men armed with video cameras circled and captured the action. Men who'd already ejaculated leaned against the walls outside the ring. The girls were covered with a glaze of sperm from head to toes. More men added to the mess.

A tall muscular man noticed Jason and came around the group. He wore rubber gloves and rubber boots but nothing else and his swinging cock was enormous. I mean enormous. My arm from elbow to fist is a fair comparison. Reba saw the thing and then shrank against Jason for protection.

"Reba. Mike. Meet Steffen."

I gave a nod because his glove was covered in goo but Reba reached out and quickly shook his hand. She examined the slime after. Jason pointed at Steffen's thick hanging cock.

"I told you I needed you tonight. Will you be ready to go again?"

The large man laughed. "I came forty minutes ago," he said, his German accent heavy. "I'm already horny. Give me this one and I'll prove it to you."

"This one is mine," Jason said, slipping a protective arm around Reba. "Get dressed. I can't take you around Berlin like that."

The man grunted and gave Reba a crooked smile. She returned it.

"Don't toy with that one," Jason said once Steffen was far enough away. "He's a relentless fucking machine."

"That sounds intriguing," Reba said.

Jason eyed her. "Maybe I'll let you try him out. You won't walk right for two days but there's some fun in that, right?"

While we waited, we watched men squirt cum over the women while other men filmed. There was an impressive amount of jizz. Reba seemed oddly fascinated and I tried to view sperm from a woman's perspective. Most men recoil from another man's jizz like it's contact poison. What was it to her? Potent seed? Baby elixir? Essence of man? I watched the women in the circle and they were delighted each time a man showered them, like they took personal satisfaction from their ability to make him cum. Like that somehow made them worthy or was proof of their desirably.

Steffen reappeared wearing overalls and heavy black boots. We got in the cab and Jason gave an address in German. We chatted about Berlin on the ride and eventually pulled up outside a small nightclub with dirty windows and a broken neon sign.

A blonde DJ spun House while sandwiched between two pretty dancers, one redhead and one brunette. He looked about thirty. We ordered drinks and talked, sipping and waiting. The club was intimate and more people conversed than listened to the music. Soft applause when the DJ thanked them and said goodnight. After his set, the DJ joined us.

He was tall and thin and Jason said his name was Paul.

"Invite the brunette dancer to join us, Paul," Jason said. "She's a friend?"

"Yeah. Okay." Paul waved the woman over.

Jason ordered another round and we all talked about the music business. Paul had been spinning for a year, traveling and trying to score bigger gigs. I liked him right away. The dancer was pretty with a great body but shy. You'd be surprised how many dancers are shy. Get them on stage and they come alive but face to face they shrink.

"You have a room close?" Jason asked.

Paul said he did so we paid our bill and moved outside. Two blocks later we climbed stairs to a small flat. Mixing equipment covered the floor and clothing covered the few pieces of furniture. The dancer, Cindy, asked where the bathroom was and left. Paul got out a bong and packed the bowl. Jason directed Steffen, Reba, and me where to sit. The bong made a round and Reba hit it hard. When Cindy returned, the only spot open was next to Steffen.

The bong came around again and Cindy emptied the thing. The cloud of smoke she released blocked our view. We all laughed that someone so small could suck so much smoke. Soon everyone was laughing. Jason mentioned the equipment lying around looked expensive.

"Every penny I have," Paul said.

"I know the feeling," I added.

"You must trust your neighbors," Jason said.

"Never seen them. Everybody in this building keeps to themselves."

Jason nodded and pulled a baggie of colored pills from a pocket. He handed one to Reba and Steffen and then Cindy and Paul. I noticed Cindy's was orange but Steffen's blue. Paul and Reba got red. I shook my head.

"No thanks," I said. "Gotta be sharp for the show."

"Where you gigging?" Paul asked.

"Panorama Club. Tomorrow night."

Paul's jaw dropped. "No shit?"

"No shit."

Jason raised his beer and everyone downed their pills.

Side conversations started; Reba talked to Cindy about dancing, I talked to Paul about spinning, and Jason and Steffen spoke German so I don't know what they discussed. After fifteen minutes, Cindy opened her top two buttons and fanned her shirt.

"The grass makes us warm," Steffen said with a lecherous grin.

Cindy fanned her shirt again.

"It is warm in here," Reba said. She fanned her dress and because she no longer wore anything beneath she flashed plenty of skin at Cindy. I saw the girl fight to keep control of her face.

"Another bowl?" Jason asked, handing Paul the bong.

Paul stuffed and packed and then passed it around. Reba and Cindy pulled hard as did Steffen. Paul and Jason went easy. After a few minutes, Steffen stood and unhooked the straps of his overalls.

"Warm," he said.

He rolled the denim to his waist, exposing his massive upper body. Cindy glanced but Reba stared. The man was a mountain. He sat again continuing his conversation with Jason.

I expected Reba to make the next move but Steffen beat her to it. After a while he said something in German and kicked his shoes off. He stood again, popped the buttons at his hip, and slid his overalls to the floor. He wore nothing underneath. Sweet God in Heaven. His immense cock swung like a wrecking ball, back and forth, slow bouncing off his colossal thighs. He stepped out of his clothes and stared at us all, his heavy cock pointing at the ground. Everyone gawked except Jason who was busy watching Paul. Steffen tugged a few times to loosen things up and Cindy bit her lip.

"Fuck yes," I heard my wife breathe. Her dress came off over her head.

Paul looked at Cindy.

"It's good you can trust your neighbors," Jason said. "Trust is important."

I thought now was a strange time to make that comment. Cindy looked ready to cry. She squirmed a bit, seated on the floor, and stuffed a hand in her crotch. Steffen dropped to the couch, allowing his legs to fall open. His mammoth shaft rested on the cushion, the head aimed at Cindy like a missile. I recalled his videos. In them he never grew fully hard and he never gained a curve to his cock like the rest of us. His dick grew thicker and denser, always pointing down but as wide as my wrist. His biggest claim to fame was the size of his loads. Sperm dribbled for minutes before he finally exploded, bathing some poor girl's face in cream. He'd sometimes shoot enough to overflow an open mouth.

"Come," Steffen said.

He beckoned Cindy with a small wave. Her lips parted. Her eyes looked confused. His cock was freakish but well proportioned. He wasn't ugly or gnarled. She couldn't look away

"No, no," Paul said. "That's all right. I'm sure Cindy must be tired after dancing. We should all probably call it a night."

"Come, Little Bird," Steffen said. "Come touch. Come feel the power."

Steffen's efforts at English seemed so odd to me.

"She doesn't want to," Paul stated.

Steffen ignored him. The large German extended his hand. Cindy stared at that hanging flesh and then ran her eyes over the massive man behind it. When she arrived at his cock again she squirmed once more. She fought something more than the effects of the pill and the weed. Some primitive desire drove her too.

"I paid you well, Paul," Jason said. "I have few rules but they must be followed. You swore to me. You promised me. You lied."

Paul glanced at Jason but his eyes quickly darted back to Cindy.

My wife leaned closer and kissed the girl's earlobe. "Get naked like me," Reba told her. "Feel the warm air on your skin."

Steffen left the couch to stand over Cindy. His cock almost grazed her forehead. She stared into his eyes and then focused on his hanging dick.

"You married Cindy years ago," Jason told Paul.

Steffen bent his legs, brushing his penis against Cindy's lips. The woman groaned. Her eyes closed. Steffen draped himself across her mouth and dragged his shaft. He rose and tickled her lips with the head. Reba cupped Cindy's breast and gently tweaked a nipple.

Her defenses crumbled. Cindy opened her mouth and let him slip inside. She opened wider and then closed her lips behind the ridge.

"Baby...don't," Paul muttered.

"She's beyond resisting," Jason said. "Steffen's dick and my little pills see to that. We can add her name to the list of women Steffen has conquered."

Paul's expression slowly turned to anguish.

"Betrayal is deeply hurtful to me, Paul," Jason continued. "I'd like you to experience some of my pain."

Steffen offered Cindy a hand and helped the girl rise. He and Reba quickly undressed her. Paul surged to his feet. His hands curled into fists. Frustration and pain twisted his face. He eyed Steffen, sizing him up for a fight, quickly realizing there would be no fight. Steffen was much taller and many pounds heavier and could hold skinny Paul at bay with little effort.

"Don't, Baby," he pleaded. "Please. Please."

Steffen ran his giant hands over her tight body. Her tits were smallish but her ass and legs almost as nice as Reba's. He turned her slowly, admiring his prize. I saw her leg tremble. He palmed her firm ass and slipped a finger between her legs. Paul heard his wife moan with desire for another man and I knew exactly the agony flowing through him. I was sure he'd never heard that sound before and the jagged torment of it shredded his mind and gouged his heart. He'd never forget this moment.

Steffen sat and opened his legs again. His cock twitched in anticipation.

Reba looked to Jason for permission but he shook his head.

"Patience," he told her. "Paul is learning a valuable lesson."

The veins on Steffen's cock had swollen and now pulsed in anticipation. Sometimes the sight of pussy is enough to make me feel a little crazy and Cindy seemed to experience the female version of that. She turned ravenous. She gave her husband a helpless look and then lifted the tube of meat with both hands. She stuffed the head in her mouth and her cheeks dented as she sucked powerfully. Paul groaned as his heart broke. Cindy worked the shaft, drooling saliva so her hands slid easily, pumping his meaty cock into her sloppy mouth. She moaned as if his dick reached all the way down and rubbed her clit.

Now it was Reba's turn to squirm. Cindy gagged repeatedly, forcing more cock into her mouth than she could handle. She was starving for this stranger's cum, overpowered by his raw masculine presence.

What the fuck was in that pill?

Paul wanted to die. I thought he might cry. Cindy sucked and licked until Steffen was long and stiff and then she excitedly climbed onto his lap and held him vertical. Her pussy had already swollen enough we saw her pink slit gape. She rubbed the enormous head around and then sat on it. Paul groaned like he'd been stabbed. I knew the feeling well.

Steffen forced little Cindy wide. Her cunt stretched around his pole like a rubber band, pink turning white. She shivered and moaned and lifted her knees, driving his cock slowly deeper. With her tits in his face he chewed her hard nipples until she squealed. He grabbed her hair in both hands and pulled her petite body down. His cock hit the depth of her with half still to go. She cried out at the pressure on her cervix, letting her arms fall to the side as she surrendered. He slipped an arm around her waist and worked her body on his dick.

Paul covered his face with both hands. Reba stared in amazement. She studied Paul's horrible torture and Cindy's agonizing ecstasy. Her eyes darted back and forth, thrilled by each. Desire was obvious in her eyes; she wanted to join Cindy and experience that man-beast for herself, but Jason had told her no and she was obedient.

"Please pull out," Paul muttered, miserable. "She's not on birth control. We haven't had sex in months."

I saw all their sacrifices pass across his face. All their struggles and compromises. They'd given up so much in pursuit of this dream and now Cindy rode a monster cock like she was born to it. I wondered if their marriage would survive.

"She wants that cum, Paul," Reba murmured. "Trust me, as a woman, a cock like that makes demands of us."

I wasn't sure what my wife meant but I could tell she meant it. Paul heard truth in her words and winced. He looked back at Cindy slowly rising and falling. Her moans were increasing in volume and pitch.

"She's going to orgasm," Reba said.

Paul's lip trembled. His eyes turned watery. This was killing him and making me hard. How horrible this must be for him. Nothing so painfully strikes at the heart of a man. Steffen wasn't just fucking Cindy; Cindy was fucking him back. Even worse, she was doing it because of his big cock. Ouch. What could Paul do about that? Make more money next year? I knew what they faced. There was no undoing this. Starting tomorrow and going forward, every time they tried to have sex, both would picture these moments. Forever. Paul would always wonder if Cindy was thinking of Steffen, if she would always love to have that cock one more time. Trust a man who's been there; tomorrow was going to hurt.

I couldn't stand it anymore. I unzipped and fished my dick out. I had to jack off watching the destruction of Cindy and Paul.

Jason gave Reba a small nod and I wondered how much of this my wife had known in advance. Had Jason shared his diabolical plan? Reba moved her naked body next to Paul. She rested a hand on his thigh.

"Look how wet your wife is," she muttered. "That's good, right? You wouldn't want that huge cock to hurt her. If this had to happen, you'd want her to love it. Right?"

Paul looked at my wife like she was crazy.

"No," he croaked. "I hate this."

"Sure," she said. "Of course you do. But now that he's got all that meat in her, you're glad she's enjoying it so much. You love her and want her happy, right? You'd hate it if she was miserable up there."

His face contorted as he tried to grasp her logic. He was too far gone to understand my wife fucked with his head.

"Look," she noted. "She's dripping from his balls. I guess you shouldn't have made her go so long without sex."

Paul nodded absentmindedly, his gaze glued to the merging of their bodies. Cindy moaned and wrapped her arms around Steffen's head.

"Here she comes," Reba said. She cautiously slipped her hand down to Paul's crotch and rubbed softly. She found his zipper and gently tugged. "Let me help," she whispered.

Paul paid attention only barely. His wife was nearing orgasm with another man. Reba worked the zipper down and then eased Paul into open air.

"He's much bigger," she said. "Can you imagine what Cindy feels?"

She pulled more of him free and began gently stroking his soft penis. The pleasure of her touch mixed somewhere deep in his mind with the agony of what he saw and he began to rise.

"You can't," Reba said. "No man can imagine what a woman feels. Not just the sensations, but the intimacy. We take a man in us. We drop our defenses and allow him inside our bodies. We open ourselves and grip him, an anchor in a chaotic world, and he makes us feel safe and loved and desired. Right now, Steffen is filling your wife with more than she's ever had. There's nothing like it. She'll miss him once he's gone, always suffering that nagging sensation of emptiness."

Jesus Christ. Reba was killing me and I wasn't the one watching my world crumble. Paul was anguished.

Cindy started moaning little gasps of building pleasure, small whines of joy from Steffen rubbing every nerve she had. He glided, reaching far into her.

"Soooooooo good," she whimpered.

Reba jacked Paul faster and his penis responded. His eyes were glued and I suspected he was mostly unaware my wife worked his dick. Cindy's head fell back. She held herself on Steffen's lap with fingers laced behind his neck and savored his cock plunging deep. Paul was almost hard.

"Do you want to stop?" Reba asked Cindy.

"Nooooo," she moaned.

"Do you want him to pull out?"

"Noooooooooooo."

Reba stroked faster. Paul breathed hard and looked trapped. Steffen grinned, amused by the damage he caused.

"I'm close," Cindy whimpered. "So close." Her hips added a slight roll each trip down. "Close...close...oh fuck! Yeah! FUCK!" All the muscles in her dancer's body tensed. Her face scrunched and she squeezed Steffen's thick neck. "OH FUCK!" she yelled.

Reba pumped Paul fast. I doubted she'd get him to cum. This was all way too painful. She might get his mind to associate pleasure with this scene but there was no way she'd make him shoot.

I was wrong.

Paul looked absolutely bewildered. He watched his wife climax on a huge cock and then began spitting his load and his mind could not connect the two. Wide-eyed and shocked, he looked at his spurting penis and back at his orgasmic wife.

That did it for me. I started blasting robes of sperm too. Jason was diabolical and manipulative and controlling but my defenses against him were no better than Reba's. He looked so pleased with himself.

Steffen let her ride until her strength faded. He'd been holding back so he hugged her tightly to his massive chest and thrust into her body. Paul groaned with dread, accepting the inevitable. There was no stopping this. Steffen's big balls lifted from the upholstery and then he was grunting like a bull as he pumped a river of hot sperm into Cindy. His first blasts were so powerful semen shot backward around his shaft. Cindy begged for all of it. I watched those balls lift again and again and again. Sperm trickled all around the shaft. He was inseminating Cindy with a fucking firehose. I remembered a porn scene where he plastered a woman's face, shooting until cum puddled in her eye sockets. He held Cindy's hips firm against his own and injected her.

Jason waved Reba away. He'd freed his dick and my wife eagerly swooped on it. She sucked and licked to get him wet and then wrapped both hands, sucking hard and bobbing fast. She was as horny as the rest of us. Jason came fast, blasting her tonsils and coating her tongue.

For a long time, the loft was filled only with the sounds of people catching their breath. Steffen went soft and slumped out of Cindy's gaping cunt, followed by a rush of creamy soup. He would be all we needed to repopulate the planet. Jason had Reba to put his cock away while he laid there doing nothing. We all got dressed.

"I'll give you one more chance, Paul," Jason said. "Wives and girlfriends are not allowed. Do you understand how important this rule is to me?"

Paul nodded. "Yes, I do now," he said.

Cindy rested on the couch, breathing deeply. Steffen leaked each time she filled her lungs.

"Good," Jason said. "Then our contract remains in force. I trust you'll find new dancers. If Cindy needs work, I have something else for her."

Paul swallowed hard. I'm sure he wondered what Jason had for Cindy.

It was time to go and leave the happy couple alone to discuss their future.

Chapter 8

I stared at the ceiling. After we left Cindy and Paul we went to dinner. After that, Jason dropped me at the hotel and he, Steffen, and Reba continued to enjoy Berlin's nightlife. Jason promised to show them things they'd never seen. I had a drink in the hotel bar and stared at my phone. If Jason had Reba's phone like she said, I should expect no messages. I could send no messages. I had no options at all. I went to my room.

Like I said; out of the fire and into the frying pan.

The lesson Paul learned affected me and Reba too. We both knew if Jason figured out our lie, the punishment would be severe. I wondered if Jason suspected and that was his motivation for keeping Reba so close. Did he want to watch my reactions around her? I pondered and decided he might suspect, but I saw the way he looked at Reba. He was smitten. He lusted after my wife and was willing to finance my tour if it brought her closer.

What were they doing right now?

I've seen her with other men but this arrangement came at me from another angle. I felt powerless and she was so willing. In previous situations, I felt a little control, like it was something Reba and I did as a couple. I could draw a line and Reba would respect it. That was gone now. Thanks to me, Reba was his willing pawn.

I thought about texting Jason but did not trust myself. I'd ask about something and he'd make the connection and we'd be discovered. I flopped onto my back and pushed the covers below my waist. An orgasm would help me sleep. I held my penis and began stroking, closing my eyes and fantasizing about my wife. Predictably, Steffen entered my vision. I'd seen the way Reba stared at him. She'd fuck him just for the novelty of it but I know she also wanted that cock in her. I let my imagination roam where it wanted. There was no sense in trying to fight it. Twenty minutes later Steffen emptied his enormous balls in Reba's pussy and I shot my load on the bedspread.

Time to sleep.

Chapter 9

As I told Paul, the Berlin venue was a place called the Panorama Bar. On the outside it looked like an old government building and it probably was. Graffiti artists had covered as high as they could reach all around the building. The inside was as rectangular as the outside filled with three stages. I was center stage, some girl I'd never seen with a pink mohawk set up on the left stage and Tiesta, my old rival, set up on the right stage. Terrific.

Tiesta is around fifty and cut and he's so proud of that. His shirt is open every show, which is cool I guess, but the people he's spinning for are less than half his age. He had a receding hairline but now shaves his head to hide it. I battled him for gigs in the early years and he still sees me as the up-and-coming competition.

Last year a cruel twist of fate put Reba in his bed towards the end of our American tour and he revealed himself to be a dominant lover. I expected her to punch him but instead she did as he commanded. I didn't like it but it made me hard because who the fuck understands this kink I have anyway?

He saw me across the hall and raised a set of headphones like he made a toast. I gave him a weak smile and waved back.

The crew had my gear up and running so I ran my checks. Minutes later Jason entered with Fenna and Reba. Tiesta's face lit up. He left his stage to give her a hug which she returned, but then she went back to Jason's arm. I could tell those two men had never met and Tiesta did not like Reba with Jason.

Trevor saw what was happening and quickly joined the group. He explained who Jason was and Tiesta backed down. Jason and the girls headed for me and Tiesta went back to his stage. Ha. I got some perverse pleasure out of that snub.

Fenna left Jason and came to me, kissing me before grabbing my arm. I got flustered. The crews were checking out the girls and I did not want Reba to get jealous. Jason inspected the sets with Trevor, examining the work done while leaving both girls with me. I asked about their day.

"Amazing," Fenna said. "Jason took us sightseeing."

"It's true," Reba added. "With his connections we were given special tours. It was awesome."

They seemed to get along so I relaxed. We chatted about what they'd seen and then I excused myself to get back to work. The show was only hours away. I didn't notice when Jason left with the girls.

When I'd done all I could, I went back to the hotel and showered. I dressed in my best shiny DJ shirt and black pants and used product to spike my hair. I grabbed my laptop and headed to the Panorama club.

What the show lacked in special effects it more than made up for with crowd energy. Three stages gave them no respite. This German mob had an element of aggression I'd not seen before. There were no actual fights but plenty of close calls. That aggression went the other way too and I saw people making out and even fucking standing up on the dance floor. Cool.

I admit I forgot about Reba for a while. There were only two dancers per stage and late in the show I noticed she was none of them. I'd not seen Jason or Fenna either. My imagination flared but I put that shit down. Keeping up with the other DJs was work.

At last the show finished. I was scheduled to close and poured on the effects. By now everyone was high as fucking satellites so I cranked the volume, flipped all the lights and smoke, and blew their collective minds. I had them screaming. It was beautiful.

I supervised the equipment breakdown but only to get it started. These guys knew what they were doing. Tiesta suggested we grab a drink down the street and although I don't care for the guy much, I thought why not. It was cold outside and not the best area of town. He knew a bar two blocks away so we walked fast. Halfway there, my phone buzzed.

"Jason says to come to his club. Let's hail a cab."

"Let's get that drink first," Tiesta said. "I'm freezing and Jason doesn't own me. You see how he orders everyone around? Asshole."

I was more interested in finding Reba than a shot of whiskey but what the hell. We found the bar and had a drink. Tiesta wanted to stay for another but I said no.

"You can, I'm going."

"Fine."

I called an Uber from the warmth of the bar. He came with me. The driver knew Jason's club and we were there in twenty minutes. The place was called Tresor and used to be a heating plant and was a massive use of space; like so much of the city the outside was industrial and gritty. Inside was an open warehouse with sandwich shops, art galleries, dance floors, and bars. Every kind of person mixed here. Jason's message said they were upstairs so we climbed.

I found them in an area lit by green lasers and a Tesla coil, sitting under a million shards of suspended glass. Jason and Reba and Fenna and two other men occupied a small booth, Trevor and a collection of others sat at a long table in front of it. Everyone talked a million miles an hour and I suspected cocaine had already made the rounds a few times. Reba and Fenna wore black lingerie with nothing underneath. All the sophisticated Europeans took it in stride. Not me. I gawked. Fuck those women are sexy.

Jason call out a hello and waved us over. We grabbed chairs and joined the group on the outside. Minutes later a mirror came around and Tiesta sucked a line up his nose. I skipped it. I wanted sleep. More people joined our group.

I stole glances at Reba every chance I got. She'd done her hair and makeup differently and looked stunning. Her body looked fantastic under all that lace and I admit I secretly loved how everyone there could see her almost naked. When the mirror got to her she helped herself and I could tell that was not her first line. Fenna held the mirror and then Reba did the same for her.

Did I mention how ridiculously hot those two women were?

After Fenna finished her blast, they French kissed slowly. About half our group saw noticed and appreciated the sexy display. Reba lifted Fenna's tit and tenderly suckled the nipple through the lace. Damn.

"All right," the man next to Fenna said to Jason. "How much?"

"One-hundred seventy-five euro," Jason answered.

I watched as the man withdrew his wallet and handed Jason bills.

"Take your pick," Jason said.

The man jerked his chin at Reba. "The American."

Wait.

What?

Reba leaned in to kiss the man while her hand drifted to his crotch. Soon she freed his uncircumcised dick and lowered her face to his lap.

What the fuck was happening here?

Fenna placed her dainty hand on the back of my wife's head and gently rode along as Reba bobbed. Jason slipped the bills in his shirt.

Some guy next to me wanted to talk about Metal Trance, whatever the fuck that is, but I was too distracted. I had to watch without watching. My wife slurped his dick like a pro, laughing along with Fenna, and then tossed a leg over his lap once he was hard. Fenna lifted the bottom of the negligee and held the man up while Reba aimed her pussy and sat on his dick.

Just like that, my wife was a whore.

A whore.

My ears filled with white noise.

Reba put her hands on his shoulders and began fucking him hard. The group had seen this kind of thing before. Some were interested, some were not. Nobody was shocked.

"This has possibilities," Tiesta said.

My head whipped around. I'd forgotten all about him.

"I've been wanting to fuck her again. Now I just need to pay the man."

I wanted to punch his smiling face. He reached inside his jacket for his wallet. The man opened the front of her lingerie and pushed it off her shoulders. Her big, perfect, brand new tits bounced in his face. He sucked one nipple then the other and laughed with delight. Reba fed him the first one again and held his head, biting her lips and riding his erection. She was shameless. She came after a minute and I was stunned. He got so excited at making the whore orgasm he grunted and his hips began to jerk and I knew he was filling my sweet wife.

Tiesta left his seat. "My turn," he said, handing Jason money.

Reba climbed off her customer and turned. Her face lit up when she saw Tiesta, happy to fuck him again. Jason took the cash and gave Reba a nod. My wife flipped on her back and spread her legs.

"I missed that big dick," she said, grabbing her ankles and pulling her legs wide open. She stared at his crotch.

"Not so fast," Tiesta teased. "Get up here and suck me first. Let me see my cock fucking your pretty mouth."

Reba switched to her knees and opened up. Tiesta pulled his soft cock out of his pants and flopped it in. Fenna laughed and dug in her purse, moving closer with a tube of lipstick. Reba worked Tiesta's cock, sucking softly and relaxing her neck. His soft inches slipped further back. He began to thicken.

"All of it," Fenna said. "Like I showed you. Relax."

Like I showed you?

Reba rotated her head gently and more of his dick slid deeper. Her lips almost reached his pubic hair. She breathed through her nose and then pushed the last inch. Her neck bulged.

"Perfect," Fenna said. "Don't move."

She climbed over the first man and popped the lid of the lipstick. She careful applied a film of cherry red to my wife's lips, deftly maneuvering around the shaft in her mouth. When she finished, she gently pressed the back of Reba's head and counted. Once she let go, Reba tried to pull back but couldn't. Her lips were welded around the base like a kid's tongue stuck to a pole in the dead of winter. She tried again and her lips stretched and her eyes grew big. I worried she would panic.

"Easy," Fenna said. "Be calm. Breathe. Don't panic. Feel that softly pulsing cock in your throat. It's good to hold a man in this way, yes?"

Reba sucked air through her nose.

"Good girl," Fenna continued. "He's no small man. He must rest in your throat. It is good to feel him there, yes? Feel the life in it, Reba. Feel his heartbeat on your tongue. Feel his manhood heat your throat. Imagine what he will give you to drink. Can you picture his hot seed spilling down your throat?"

Reba tried to nod but her glued lips prevented her. Tiesta wore a shocked expression through all this but now that he understood, he loved what had been done. Reba was welded to him. He stood passively, allowing Reba to massage his dick with her neck muscles, shivering with pleasure each time she swallowed.

I still wanted to punch his smiling face.

He looked around at our crowd as if to say: Check me out, I have a girl stuck on my cock.

I saw my wife calm herself. The bulge in her neck moved lower and her breathing evened out. She held Tiesta by the hips and by the movement of her cheeks I knew she swabbed him with her tongue.

"That bond will dissolve in a few minutes," Fenna said. "All my girls must pass this test." She knelt beside Reba. "When you finish, you'll be a certified Amsterdam whore. Maybe you come work for me?"

She kissed my wife on the cheek.

Under control again, Reba nursed on Tiesta until his legs trembled. The sticky bond slowly dissolved and she pulled back, revealing his long gleaming cock. He'd been several inches down her throat. Freed, he stiffened fast.

"Now get on your back," he said.

Reba eagerly fell backward. Her legs parted and she reached for him, guiding him into her hot little hole. They both moaned.

"I missed you," she said.

I felt stabbed through the heart. I hated he was fucking her again. I hated when he fucked her the first time. He roughly grabbed her hair and pinned her head against the booth. He rammed his cock deep into her guts. She winced and yelped and then groaned.

"Hurt my girl," Jason said calmly, "and they'll never find your body."

That turned a few heads. Everyone heard the menace in his tone. I was conflicted; glad for her protection, dismayed he called her, "My girl."

Tiesta considered saying something combative but the look in Jason's eyes stopped him. He held Reba by the ankles and began pounding her exposed cunt. A man seated at the far end of our group left his seat and handed Jason money. He shed his sports coat and opened his pants, plopping his cock across Reba's face. My wife sucked him in. Fenna moved to my side.

"One woman can please so many men," she murmured. "You should pay Jason and sample this beauty."

I tried to swallow around a lump in my throat. "I'm married," I croaked.

Her laughter was light and musical. "So am I," she teased again.

Tiesta was annoyed with Jason and took it out on my wife's pussy. Reba didn't mind. She would have welcomed it on any day but tonight a host of illicit substances flowed through her veins and set her nerves on fire. She orgasmed under him and minutes later did so again. The man in her mouth laughed. Tiesta did not hold back and shouted when he blasted her cunt full of sperm. The man in her mouth moved to take his position and add to the loads she already carried.

One by one they had her. A few more from our group but also from the club. They used her pussy and her mouth until she was splattered with semen. My goddamn dick got hard to see her debased like this. She loved it. She welcomed it. She wanted to fuck herself unconscious.

"All right," I barked, unable to resist anymore.

Jason laughed. "My star. I'll give you a discount. One hundred euro."

I dug in my wallet and slapped down money to fuck my own wife. I shed my jacket but left my shirt on. I kicked my pants off. I was already hard.

"Give me a taste," Fenna said.

She dropped to her knees and bent my dick to her mouth. Fuck she's pretty. I held her head and let her work on me.

"Enough," I said.

When the man between Reba's legs emptied his balls, I pushed him aside and took his place. I walked my dick forward. Reba lifted her head to see who was next and her eyes grew wide.

"I've always wanted to fuck you," she said. Only I understood her deeper meaning.

"I think about fucking you all the time," I said.

I eased my dick forward and entered a scalding cauldron. Her pussy was slick and sopping and I felt my inches sliding into the men there before me. She was drenched as well as flooded and the sensation of all that cum inside my wife almost made me spurt on the spot. I pushed and pulled with heart-felt agony to see her like this. How many would have her before the night ended? My load would be nothing but drops in the ocean.

I watched her suck a black cock and almost came again. The man withdrew and shot all over her face and open mouth. Reba licked him clean and then sucked the hole at the tip, causing his legs to buckle. She turned her attention to me again as he wandered off. More men approached Jason with money in hand. Reba smiled a dreamy smile. A new man stepped up to fuck her mouth. I felt men crowd me from behind.

"Is her ass available?" I heard a deep voice ask.

"Two hundred euro," Jason replied.

I groaned. My gorgeous wife would be dripping sperm from every hole by sunrise. My balls tightened and I was already there. I held my breath, blasting away inside. She hooked her heels behind my butt and pulled me deep.

"Just one of the guys," she chuckled.

Once I was spent, I withdrew and turned to leave. After two steps Fenna was there, crouching. She lifted my dick and with her eyes locked on mine, slipped my sloppy, cum-covered penis into her hot mouth. Good God Almighty. Her tongue bath was thorough. I barely remained standing.

"Move Reba to the table," Fenna said.

Half our crowd removed candles and dishes and jackets and purses and the other half lifted my wife and carried her. A man hurried ahead and climbed up to lie on his back. Reba was settled onto his cock. Two men moved to her mouth and another climbed on the table and crouched over her, his hard dick aimed at her asshole. She was splattered with jizz and he rubbed his head around to lube it. His inches slid easily into her butt.

My pretty wife grunted with satisfaction as she now had a hard cock in every hole. Each man fucked her with his own rhythm and she just held on. I witnessed one cock drained after the next. So many men wanted a piece of the gorgeous, exotic, green-eyed beauty that lines formed. Her big tits bounced as men hot for her exquisiteness took what they wanted. She welcomed each man with a grin and open legs.

At last she drained the final balls and Fenna moved in for some sexy kisses. For a moment, I thought my dick might get hard again. Fenna used a towel to wipe my wife clean and then Reba sat up. When she did, a flood of sperm leaked from her pussy to puddle on the table. A few laughed but I saw the sight as intensely erotic. I was mixed in there somewhere with all those men.

Her eyes darted to be sure I watched and then Reba slid her wedding rings off her finger and dropped them into the pool of semen. I felt blood rush to my penis and my face flush. She stirred the golden symbols of our union with a finger, baptizing them in a stew of cum. She lifted her hips and let sperm drip from her slit onto the rings I gave her.

"Can you imagine if your husband knew?" Jason chuckled.

"I'll make sure he does," she muttered. "I imagine this would make him want to fuck my brains out."

Her eyes darted at me again. Her smile spread. She easily slipped the dripping rings onto her finger again.

"When we finally talk about all the things I've done, I know he'll get hard as steel and spend the whole night fucking me."

Chapter 10

Prague, Budapest, and Athens are foggy memories of moving, music, taking, and eating. I hated I never got to speak with Reba. We slept little as the days were scheduled close together and packed with tasks and on each of those days I thought about all the sperm she carried. I masturbated two or three times daily. I desperately needed to talk to her. I felt like that gangbang drove a wedge between us. Like it somehow knocked me off my privileged position as her husband. Was I really just one of the guys?

I got my legs back under me once we reached Rome.

Jason and Reba were closer than ever. My wife touched him constantly and with agonizing affection that looked real. I visited his suite to discuss plans and she gently suckled his big soft cock the whole time.

I was beginning to hate this tour.

Trevor sensed something was up and tried his best to console me. I told him I was tired and a little homesick.

Rome was amazing. I don't know who Jason bribed but our show was held in the Basilica di Santo Stefano. I swear I'd seen the place before in a Dan Brown movie. There were no scantily-clad dancers this time, no dancers at all in fact, but the special effects shook the mortar and rattled the roof. I had the crowd going wild. No dancers meant Reba clung to Jason all night.

We broke our gear down quickly and packed for the flight to Madrid.

I discovered after landing that we were there in time for Halloween and that would carry over to All Saints Day. Spaniards know how to party. An undercurrent of death and terror seasoned every costume and event. Nothing makes you celebrate life by remembering we will all soon be dead.

Jason took us around to the homes of several friends and in one I got to watch Reba dance nude but painted jet black with stark white bones. She makes anything sexy. I wondered if Jason still had her turning tricks and received my answer when a handful of men paid Jason right in front of me. That black body paint excited everyone. She looked so exotic and mysterious. The room was dark and the men looked like they were fucking a shadow.

Reba got especially aroused each time she saw money change hands. I'm not sure why and I never got the chance to ask, but I'd guess it was the taboo nastiness of it all. She wasn't playing a whore; she was a whore. Fantasies are exciting but realities can beat them, when that reality is better than the fantasy.

The next night found us at a gargantuan chalet overlooking the city. The floors were hardwood mosaic inlay and marble, the walls covered in rare art. Each room was furnished with handcrafted individual pieces seated on Persian rugs. The party was costume optional but everybody wore one. Trevor came as Iron Man and I went as a pirate. I kept my eyes open for Reba and found her in a common room where most of the guests had gathered. An enormously fat Asian man dressed as Jabba the Hut sat on a divan of pillows and Reba, dressed as Princess Leia, lay at his feet. She wore a collar of gold and a golden chain ran to his hand. Her Leia costume was too small and showed way more skin than the movie. She looked hot as fuck.

"That's Koji Yanai," Trevor said, pointing at Jabba. "His dad is one of the richest men in the world. Top five in Asia, for sure. I wonder how much Reba cost. I bet she's made Jason a ton of money."

I wondered the same thing. We watched for a few minutes and then Jabba tugged the chain and Reba crawled over to suck on his small stubby cock.

"She doesn't seem to mind," Trevor said.

"No, she doesn't."

"That girl loves sex."

"And an audience," I added.

Trevor and I continued our wandering. We found Jason dressed as a sheik in another room. Fenna was with him as Barbarella, complete with clear plastic breast plate. She caught me staring and left her group to join me.

"You like?"

"You look sexy," I admitted. "Most beautiful Barbarella ever."

That made her happy.

"Take me away from these people," she said.

I offered her my arm and we went to prowl the house. She spoke of the people she'd meet in her line of work and I talked of music. We wandered and let time pass. It grew increasingly difficult to avoid staring at her. In brighter light, I discovered her bodysuit was sheer. We entered a fountain room with pillows lining the walls and found Tiesta, dressed as Julius Caesar, entertaining two black girls. They were lovely but not like Fenna or Reba. I said hello but steered us away from him when he fixed his gaze on Fenna. I still had a bitter taste in my mouth from him paying to fuck my wife.

We'd explored one wing of the mansion and started on the next when we crossed a courtyard and heard an angry voice muttering low. I stayed close to a stand of bamboo and peeked around a corner.

Tiesta argued with Reba. Fenna and I strained to hear. She shrugged and so did I. Tiesta grabbed Reba's arm and hissed something nasty and she slapped him and stormed off. Tiesta watched her go.

"I like her," Fenna whispered.

"Me too."

We wandered a bit more and then entered a room with a waterfall at one end and a forest at the other, pockets of ornate chairs and loveseats nestled amongst the trees. A glass ceiling provided sunlight during the day. A gold-plated river ran the length of the room from the waterfall to disappear between the tree trunks. We sat at the edge of the waterfall pool and took our shoes off. The water was heated. After a few minutes of conversation, Fenna arched her back and lifted her chest plate over her head. She stood and rolled her body suit down. Naked, she eased into the warm water.

I watched her swim, enthralled by her gorgeous body. The pool was small and after a few trips down and back she aimed between my thighs, resting her elbows on my knees and her chin on her hands. We said nothing. She reached for my pirate breeches.

Soon I was naked and in the water with her. We frolicked a bit but then she moved into my arms. Blood surged to my dick. I felt guilty but unable to resist. She was fucking beautiful. Beads of water dotted her skin, following her lithe curves and stiff nipples. She lifted her lips and we kissed and her delicate fingers circled my dick.

I imagine fucking a prostitute is a lot like fucking an actress. How do you know what's real? Did Jason give her this assignment? The desire in her eyes seemed true but how would I ever know? Why did I even care?

Her labia folded around my penis as she pulled me forward and into her.

God.

Tight, steaming, smooth, and slippery, I knew I would last only a short time. I stared into those big gorgeous eyes and felt her envelope my shaft. My hips started moving without me, fearful I was about to come to my senses and pull out. Guilt reared its head but I could ignore it almost completely. Reba's rules are much different than mine and no, they're not fair. I'm okay with that. Me with another woman was a clear violation but I rationalized it by reminding myself it was Reba that first sent Fenna after me in the first place. She may not like it, but what could she say?

Fenna looped her legs around my waist and her arms around my neck and kissed me deeply. I got dizzy. I fucked her for a minute but grew frustrated with the water around us so pulled her out of the pool and headed for the forest. I eased her onto a loveseat and put her ankles by my ears. Her perfect hairless slit gleamed at me. I held my dick in one hand and watched myself disappear between her pink folds. I moved my hands to her thighs and fucked her, slow at first but soon pounding her hole. She massaged her firm tits and urged me to fuck her harder. She came, or at least acted like she came so convincingly I couldn't tell the difference.

I heard Reba cry out.

My brain instantly connected events I was not present to witness; I knew Tiesta had followed her. I knew he'd pressed whatever argument he'd made when we first saw them. I knew Reba had rejected him again and I knew he was, at that moment, forcing himself on her.

I whipped my dick clear of Fenna in an instant. I was two steps towards the door before I knew it. Out in the hall I heard Reba raise her voice, telling him no, and I was a freight train headed for that doorway. I saw nothing but Tiesta pinning Reba to a bed, her costume torn and pushed aside, a drop of blood on her lip, and Tiesta over her, bearing down, hard dick straining for her pussy. In that moment, my furious brain reminded me that Reba said she would quit the birth control and I had no idea if she'd ever started something new. She could be unprotected with Tiesta, bare and only inches away.

I smashed into him and we both went flying. My fist caught his jaw and his caught my ear. White light flashed in my head but I swung again and then again, connecting the second time with something solid. He went to his back and I was on him, raining fists at his face.

Hands slid under my armpits, lifting me from him. I kicked hard several times and felt a satisfying thud. I was spun around and came face to face with Jason and two other men, accompanied by three frightened women. Fenna stood naked at the doorway. Reba looked at me, amazed. My knuckles hurt and I looked down to see torn skin and blood.

"Get him off property," Jason said, looking at Tiesta.

The men with him grabbed my rival and hustled him, none too gently, from the room. Jason eyed me suspiciously and for the first time I realized how I may have blown our cover. Reba saw Fenna, glanced at me and then back at her, and the light of understanding turned on. Shit.

"Thank you for coming to her rescue," Jason said.

"Of course," I replied, trying to sound noble. "Women need protecting from guys like that."

Jason studied my face. I couldn't look at Reba. I dared not. He nodded slowly.

"I've got it from here," he said when I didn't move.

"Right."

Fenna held out a hand and I took it. I glanced back. Reba watched me leave. Fenna took us back to the pool room and eased us into the warm water.

"That was brave," she said.

"Not really."

"No, I know men far better than you do."

"Maybe you know too many of the wrong kind of men."

She laughed. "I can't argue with that." She checked my hands and face and dribbled water over my knuckles. She met my eyes. "The mood is gone?"

"The mood is gone."

She watched me closely.

"Reba is your wife," she said. "At first I thought you loved her but were married to another. Now I see it; she is your wife."

I got my denials ready but nothing came out. Her eyes told me everything. She knew. She'd suspected for a while and now she knew. I changed gears and tried to think of a way to convince her to remain silent but before I could, she spoke.

"Your secret is safe. I'll do you no harm. You are an interesting couple. Jason is intelligent and may suspect as I did. This would explain why he's made your wife his own. Testing how far you go before breaking."

"He's diabolical."

"At times."

We drifted around the pool just enjoying each other's company. Now that she knew Reba was my wife, I sensed a fundamental shift in her.

"You're finished with me," I said.

"No. You are married and I like your wife. You are in love. I won't intrude on that. You can chase me and I'd welcome it because I think you're musically brilliant. I find you attractive. But the intention must come from you. I will not pursue you."

I considered it. My balls ached and she was willing and lovely. But no, the mood was gone. After a long time, we dressed again and rejoined the party. I saw Jabba but he had a new girl. I never saw Jason and Reba again that night.

Chapter 11

The Madrid show will forever be seared into my brain. Thousands of beautiful people wearing elaborate costumes danced until dawn, but there are other, darker reasons I'll always remember that show.

I'd arrived just after noon to supervise all the final touches. Trevor ran around like crazy and I heard him order a stage taken apart and the space filled with six banks off lights.

"What happened to the stage?" I asked.

"You haven't heard?" he said. "After he was kicked from the party Tiesta walked back to his hotel. Some guys jumped him and beat him badly. He might lose an eye. He's in the hospital so he obviously won't be spinning with you tonight."

I watched the crew disassemble his equipment and remembered Jason's warning about hurting Reba and them never finding Tiesta's body.

"Who did it?"

"Cops called it a mugging. His wallet and Rolex were stolen."

Okay. Yeah, maybe. I dropped the topic and got ready for the show.

Chapter 12

Our Paris venue was open air and rained out. We waited while trying to find a new place but the window slowly closed and we were forced to refund the tickets and move on to our final show back in London again. This time we'd be playing at Saint James Park, staring right down the barrel of Buckingham Palace. Fucking A. To a boy from the colonies the sight was amazing. Jason said he wanted London to be talking about this show years later so he opened his wallet and dumped it out. Trevor went nuts spending all his money.

There would be four stages, me in the lead again, followed by three local DJs, all women. A massive metal framework surrounded the stages and hundreds of crew members installed the effects machines. Reba oversaw the dancers again as they would each have their own podiums. She wanted to go with body paint but law enforcement was onto us from last time and said no. Reba met with them and provided samples of the costumes her dancers would wear and they signed off and then Reba said fuck it and hired body painters again anyway.

"Let them fine us," she said. "Jason is swimming in cash. Let them arrest us. He'll bail everyone out and pay the penalties. We'll make more on subsequent ticket sales than the total fines."

We finally found a moment to talk when I stumbled across her in a makeshift dressing room. We hadn't exchanged even a word for days and not held a complete conversation for weeks. I missed her.

"Did you fuck her?" was the first thing out of her mouth.

I didn't shy away. "Yes."

She half-punched me in the stomach. "Bastard."

I pointed a finger at her face, ready to reply, and she grabbed it and bit the tip then stole a quick kiss.

"I don't blame you," she said. "Fenna is stunning. If I had a dick I'd fuck her every day. How was it? How many times?"

"Once, the night Tiesta attacked you, and I never finished. I had to come save you."

Her eyebrows shot up. "You stopped fucking Fenna to rescue me?"

"Yes."

She squealed. Loudly. She jumped on me, wrapping her arms and legs. She kissed my face like an idiot.

"I was so worried," she said. "Jason has me under lock and key. At first I thought he had fallen in love with me but no, he just likes the control. When this tour is over he won't remember my name."

"Shut up. Nobody forgets your name."

Her eyes flashed. "I would so fuck your brains out right now."

"Hold that thought until we're home."

"Deal."

She risked a kiss on the lips and damn, it felt good. I grabbed my clipboard to leave.

"Wait," she said. "Before you go. Check this shit out."

She held up a blue crystalline bottle about the size of a salt shaker. She unscrewed the cap and withdrew an eyedropper. gently squeezing a bright green drop back into the bottle.

"What's that?"

"Liquid Ecstasy," she said. "Pure shit. High octane Molly."

"You're quite the expert now."

"You have no idea. Those days we were apart? I have stories to tell, stories to warm my husband's heart and stiffen his cock. Our bedroom talk will never be the same. I've been a bad girl, Baby."

We heard people in the hall so parted company before getting caught, but her words stuck with me. My imagination got up and got moving. Why do I love it so much?

Chapter 13

The second London show was the best of the tour.

People climbed the fences to be a part of it. Word had spread after our first show and by the time we got back there was a huge buzz about us. I ran an errand during the day and saw a flyer on a lamppost that had my name and picture on it. Someone had handwritten a comment about how awesome the first show was. They'd scrawled, This DJ Rocks! Across the photograph and planted a lipstick kiss on my cheek. Yeah, I loved it. I felt a huge swell of pride. I'd made it big time, like I'd always wanted. I was known internationally.

I tore the flyer down and took it with me.

Back at Saint James I ran my final checks and got ready. Spiked hair? Check. Shiny DJ shirt? Check. Everything was perfect.

I entered the stage to a blast of fireworks and thunderous music, and we were off. Reba had the podium near me and started dancing and flirting right away. The body painters had given all the dancers extravagant bikini's but those close to the podium saw she was actually naked. Hard nipples and smooth labia free in the open English air. She looked hot.

Soon a brave soul reached out to touch her and when the gathered mob saw her welcoming reaction, hands came from everywhere. Reba's body disappeared under dozens of desperate people all touching, probing, exploring...her face was wild. I imagined some had already penetrated her pussy, some possibly even her ass. She was being finger-fucked by a mob and loved it.

That's when I realized she'd already taken the Molly. Three British girls mauled her tits and one stuffed a nipple in her mouth and Reba threw her head back and laughed like she was demonically possessed. I think she came a moment later.

Encouraged, more from the crowd joined in. Reba no longer danced but writhed under their penetrating attention, holding them close to balance. Her mouth dropped open and through a brief gap in the crowd I saw multiple hands banging her from below and yes, one guy was finger-fucking her puckered asshole. She looked ready to cum again. A pretty blonde grabbed her face and kissed her hard while my wife orgasmed on anonymous digits.

"Jesus Christ," I muttered. That shit was hot.

I concentrated on my tasks. We had a synchronized system with the other DJs so occasionally I'd go completely dark at the same instant the stage across the park lit up like an explosion. Judging by the crowd's reaction, I thought perhaps I should try some drugs after all. They were blown away. The four of us bounced the show all around the park, dazzling them until they could barely stand. Every time I checked on Reba she was waist deep in flesh. Girls wanted her as much as guys.

The show raged for hours. I wanted to leave Europe with a bang. Like Jason, I wanted them talking about this show for years. We hit that mark and then blew right through it. The air was thick and electrified. Strangers made out all over the grounds. I knew babies would be conceived tonight and I laughed wildly to think I had a part in it. I felt a cosmic connection with all living things, a rightness with the universe.

To grand-finale the show we pumped music through all four stages at once. I did a remastered Pink Floyd mix and blasted it out from everywhere. People literally wept. Lights flared and fireworks detonated directly overhead and reflected off the lake and that was it; their minds could take no more.

This time we were in no hurry to break down the equipment.

The after-party was in Jason's penthouse back at the Bankside and we were wild animals, screaming and jumping on furniture and popping champagne. Jason could not stop smiling. All the dancers came with Reba but so did several people they'd invited from the crowd. My wife had everyone kneel and then went around one by one and dabbed a single green drop onto waiting tongues. She finished with two drops on her own.

Within minutes the place was a throbbing mass of dancing bodies. Soon clothing began to fly. This music attracts the most beautiful people with the most beautiful bodies and I drank it all in.

I lost Reba in the press of people. Her petite mighty-mite body was swallowed by appreciative fans and fellow dancers. My last view of her was French kissing a lean black man. He pressed his naked body against her clothed one and their tongues played in the open air. The mob closed and Reba was lost to me. I found her again twenty minutes later, standing on the balcony with Jason. She'd changed into hot pants and a tube top like some seventies roller-skater chick. She was a little sweaty and her pupils were huge.

Jason gave me a hug and thanked me for the incredible job I'd done. I pulled the flyer from my pocket and showed them. We all had a good laugh.

"Big time," he said. "We should cash in while you're hot. Your name is trending on social media. I know a huge venue in Greece where students spend their semester break. We could spread your name around the world."

I loved the sound of it.

Behind me, a deep, rumbling voice spoke German. I turned to find Steffen towered over me, a virtual grizzly bear, hairless and grinning. We shook and his hand covered mine to the wrist. He wore an Adidas track suit one size too small. Pornstar classy. The fabric stretched around huge biceps and thick thighs but nowhere more tightly than around his crotch where strained polyester outlined a massive tube of meat many inches long.

"Now that's a bulge," Reba laughed.

We all stared and Steffen laughed.

"They don't make my size things," he said.

"Nobody has your thing's size," Reba blurted.

We all laughed again. She stepped away from Jason to slid a palm down Steffen's snake.

"You just go through life with this monster half swollen. It never gets small, does it?"

"No," he said. "That is small right now. My mother took me to a doctor and he said I have a condition."

"Lucky us."

Reba pulled his elastic waistband open and slipped her hand inside. The outline of her fingers wrapping around him showed through the shiny material. She let her fingers explore, weighing him, measuring him, tracing his thick veins.

"Let's take this inside," she said. "I need to see a man about a horse."

Jason and I smiled at each other behind her back. She'd gotten the expression wrong but who gave a shit? She was cute as fuck. I knew the Molly was hitting her full force by the stiff nipples stretching her top.

The party had become a mass of hot bodies. Music blared and everyone rubbed against each other as they danced. A glance around the room showed cocks getting sucked and pussies licked, tits fondled and balls teased.

"May I have your attention, please," Reba joked as they entered the living room. "I'd like to introduce my friend, Steffen."

She opened Steffen's jacket by ripping the snaps from bottom to top. She pushed his pants to his ankles and everyone saw his absurd member swing free.

"I know that dick," I heard a guy in the crowd say. "That's Steffen Heinrich. He's a big-time German porn star."

Several people gathered to watch. Reba pushed Steffen onto an easy chair and tugged his pants off. She used them to tie his ankles to the chair legs and the crowd chuckled, wondering what was coming next.

"Get it, girl," someone said.

Reba moved behind the chair and used his jacket to tie his wrists to the legs. Her body was half the size of his and I was reminded of Gulliver's Travels. My Lilliputian wife had captured a giant. She came back around and knelt between his thighs, lifting his monster cock to show the crowd. A murmur swept around which became laughter of disbelief. Reba turned to a nearby man and untied his combat boot, whipping the long black shoelace free. She held that up too and a few people cheered. Reba grabbed Steffen's fat cock and looped the lace around his cock and balls, drawing the string tight enough to pinch skin. He winced but said nothing, staring defiantly at her, curious how far this little girl might go. She yanked the string tighter and his dick stiffened. She anchored the lace around his thigh, pulling his cock straight up.

"Give me the other one," she told combat-boots guy.

He did. This one she wrapped painfully around Steffen's balls, separating them with coils of string before tying off to his other thigh. He seemed to like it. She slapped one huge testicle and he grunted. She bit the head of his cock.

I would have gone limp under those conditions but Steffen grew harder. His dick turned darker. The laces acted like a cock ring, trapping the blood and we all saw him get truly hard for the first time. A vein as thick as a pencil ran from the base to the head. Other veins, like red and blue spaghetti, twisted and turned beneath the thin skin. Reba closed her mouth around the head and sucked, sending blood surging. Steffen groaned.

"You like that, you fucking beast?" Reba asked.

"I do," some girl said.

"Me too," an effeminate male said and everyone laughed. Even Steffen.

Reba slapped the other testicle and then licked from balls to slit. The crowd fell silent. She licked faster, like he was melting ice cream, until she had his enormous cock painfully rigid. He throbbed, deep red. The head was almost purple. She gripped him in both hands and squeezed and a cloudy bead oozed from the shaft to perch atop the slit. Reba asked for her purse. She withdrew the stopper bottle and dribbled the bright green fluid to mix with his leakage, turning the dewdrop mint green. She stretched the tip of her tongue before a silent crowd. Only the music continued to play. The rest of us watched, hypnotized. She lifted the globule like a tab of frosting and pulled her tongue in. She showed us her throat as she swallowed.

"Jesus Christ," someone murmured.

"Who wants some?" Reba announced, placing a fresh drop atop his cock.

A black girl circled the chair and leaned in. Her tongue swirled as she licked the drop away and sucked briefly on Steffen. She moved on and Reba placed the next drop. A wiry dancer named Tommy fell to his knees and sucked the Molly off Steffen like he was in church. The big man grinned.

The crowd closed in. Reba fed them all off Steffen's cock. He looked hard enough to burst. At the end, Reba put three drops for herself and slid two inches of his dick into her mouth. Her cheeks fluttered as she swirled her tongue around his crown. When she stepped back the room was silent.

"Get this beast wet," she said. "I'm going to fuck it."

Several people left the crowd, eager to lick Steffen from balls to head. Reba let them go for a few moments but then grew impatient. I saw the drug coursing through her by the wildness in her eyes. She pulled her tube top over her head and kicked off her shorts and her big tits looked incredible. The crowd cheered as she climbed onto the chair and centered her pussy over his tower of flesh. I held my breath. I'd seen something like this many times now but I never get used to it. Reba, my sweet bride, was about to fuck another man. His large and pulsing cock was inches from her hole. She was fucking him and the drugs in her system had nothing to do with it. All those did was make the physical sensations more powerful and mind-bending.

I remembered her face back in the warehouse when she'd first met Steffen and the way she looked at him then was the way she was looking at him now. My wife craved this man. She grabbed his nipple and pinched hard, squeezing until she got him to wince and then pressing her slit against his head and taking him several inches inside. She moaned as his face contorted with a blend of pleasure and pain. She had to let go to use both hands to pull her butt cheeks apart, spreading herself to take his girth. He dripped with saliva but that wasn't good enough. He was too thick. I saw her cunt eat him one slow inch at a time. She reached lower and pulled a testicle. He groaned again.

When his cock head bumped her cervix, she exhaled all the air in her lungs and seemed to swoon. After a moment, she lifted and began the trip down once more, a long, deep groan pouring from her. She couldn't fuck him fast. Jason sat as mesmerized as me. Reba's raw lust was hypnotic.

She hit a limited rhythm. Her feet on his knees and her hands on his chest, she rode him as hard and fast as she could. She may have been on top but his cock owned her pussy. I felt a blade twist in my heart when I heard her sounds of imminent orgasm and realized they were different from the sounds she made with me or anyone else. Either because of his size or the wild adventure this European tour had been, Reba was a changed woman. Her head slowly leaned back until she stared at the ceiling. All the women in the group watched her like a hawk. Her cries of pleasure grew louder and then her mouth fell open and a long loud cry called out.

"Oooooohhhh fuuuuuck," she said, dragging her clit up and down his length and cumming hard. Her orgasm lasted a long time and some women watching turned to those next to them and began kissing, hungry for their own release. Reba slowed like the pleasure was too intense and worked her hips in small motions, continuing to climax all over his huge cock. Her juice ran down, dripping from his tethered balls to the floor.

"Untie him," Jason told me. "His turn now."

I hesitated a second but realized Reba was in no state to do it and I was in no position to refuse. I crouched and tugged the strings, unraveling the bindings. Blood rushed throughout his genitalia and he groaned deeply. I thought he'd flip her over and fuck her but she'd gotten him close. Only the ties kept his orgasm from hitting. With those removed he swelled massively only inches from my face.

"Seems only right her husband should set that cock free," I heard Jason say behind me. "Her husband should be responsible for releasing that torrent of cum into her."

It took a moment for his words to sink in. Then I knew he knew.

Steffen arched his back, straining against the clothing which bound him wrist and ankle and lifting my wife on his hips as if she weighed nothing. I thought about Cindy and Paul and understood this was my sentence. This was my punishment. My mind flashed to birth control again and I prayed she'd started.

Steffen growled and began to pump Reba full of sperm. His huge balls clenched and relaxed over and over as he forced a deluge of semen up her cunt. His milk ran from around her seal and dribbled to the floor. Reba shoved her hips down to capture all she could before collapsing onto his broad chest and holding herself there, gifting him her insides, welcoming his massive release.

Chapter 14

Jason said he'd known since the night I fought Tiesta. What man leaves Fenna's embrace to stop another man? Fenna had kept her word but Jason figured it out anyway. Reba never said a thing.

He was hurt. He hated that I lied to him. He would have been angrier but since he'd spent the entire tour with Reba and I'd performed flawlessly, he figured how mad should he be?

Reba and I collected big fat checks, including a bonus, shipped our gear in crates and flew back to the States.

Chapter 15

We moved out of our old flat and into a townhome, which Reba decorated in Minimalist style and we both loved. Tonight, we reclined on our new sofa and watched The Lion King.

My mind drifted back to that night at Jason's hidden sex club, the night I met Fenna, the night we met Steffen. So much changed after that incredible evening.

Reba's phone buzzed.

"It's Luca," she said, reading the message. "His fiancée is out of town and he's horny. He wants me to come over and fuck him."

I watched her expression and waited.

"Nah," she said after a moment, tossing her phone to the far end of the couch. "He's involved with a girl. Besides, why would I leave my wonderful husband to go fuck some other guy? We have Disney and Pop Chips and a big warm comforter. This is Heaven on Earth."

I had to agree, but I knew it would not last. She may be satisfied for the moment but there was a world of men out there, and I knew sooner or later she'd want to meet a few more of them.

End.

Visit My Tumblr

Follow My Twitter

Find me on GoodReads

Get a FREE Hotwife Story!

Join My Mailing List Here

Talk To Me:
BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com