

HELL'S BELLE

A Hotwife Story

MATTHEW LEE

Hell's Belle

A Hotwife Story

By Matthew Lee

Chapter 1

"So much room, right?" enthusiastic salesman Bob said.

My wife, Glenda, shifted on the plastic-wrapped mattress next to him. The discomfort on her face was plain. Glenda was not one to enjoy time in bed, unless she was sleeping, which is why we were in this massive warehouse buying a new mattress.

Salesman Bob inched closer. His ankle innocently touched hers. Glenda is an attractive woman, with a pretty face and nice body. I couldn't blame Bob. In fact, I enjoyed his harmless flirting. I'd been trying to get Glenda to relax and have some fun for years. I've suggested she dress a little less restrictive, show some skin, enjoy the attention of men, but she's fought me every step of the way.

Bob turned on his side, facing her, talking fast and smiling. Glenda remained frozen, stiff with anxiety. God has a shitty sense of humor. He gives a woman everything that attracts a man's eye, then makes her hate the attention. Bastard. I noticed from Bob's point of view he had a nice shot down the front of my wife's top. Now I knew why he remained lying in that position. I let him enjoy himself while I enjoyed the pleasant and familiar feeling heating my balls. I love when Glenda hooks a man. I'd love to see her play with her sex appeal. Even this minor exchange was enough to get my blood pumping and my penis growing. I tried to mentally will Glenda to turn and show him more. Nope. Instead she caught on to what was happening and flashed me an angry scowl. She rose from the bed and stood several feet from us.

"That one is fine," she grumbled.

My penis began to wilt. I'd planned a joke about breaking in our purchase, but let that die in my throat.

"Okay," I conceded. "Wrap it up, Bob."

He was happy to make the sale but disappointed Glenda would now leave. She was probably the highlight of his working day. We set delivery day and time, paid the bill, and soon found ourselves zipping down the highway, headed home.

"You liked seeing me on the mattress with that man," Glenda said.

I considered lying. Our talks on the subject rarely go well. But lying has never been my style so I refused to do it now. Besides, a lie solves nothing. A lie just postpones the moment you must deal with it.

"Yes," I admitted. "You looked sexy and I know he agreed. You're an attractive woman, Glenda, and I didn't blame him for flirting with you."

She turned to stare out the passenger window.

"Gross," she mumbled. "I'm your wife."

Chapter 2

Two Kamikazes and a big glass of chardonnay was what it took, but I'd gotten her here. That, and hours of trying to convince her to at least give it a try. So much talking, in fact, it almost sucked all the fun out of the idea. Almost.

Glenda and I wandered the rooms and hallways of a popular sex club in town. She'd made me promise, no, swear, on my mother's life, that I would allow no other man to touch her. Only then would she consider granting me my birthday wish.

I swore.

She wore a lovely red dress; slightly low neckline and a hem a good two inches above her knees. Scandalous. She only agreed to wear something so revealing because I told her the club requires mandatory eye coverings. The masks were a delicate lace filigree which covers half the face from the eyes to the mouth. No one would recognize her.

We'd strolled past several rooms with people engaged in sex but Glenda seemed not to notice, her eyes fixed forward. My secret hope was that seeing others unashamedly enjoying their sexuality would open Glenda's eyes to the possibilities. So far, no luck. Perhaps another glass of chardonnay?

We wandered through a narrow archway into a darkened area. Although still masked, men and women walked around nude here. Glenda stiffened. I steered her towards a bar along the far wall, quickly ordering drinks for both. I turned to face the crowd. Glenda kept her back to the room but I caught her looking in the mirror above the bar. Nude bodies meandered everywhere. Some of the men must have taken a pill because they strolled the open area hard as steel. They'd stop to chat and their pulsing erections would not waver. My throat went dry imagining Glenda looking at their cocks. I desperately hoped she would want sex when we got home.

An older man walking across the room was greeted by two lovely naked ladies. They chatted briefly and then one of the women squatted to take the man's large erection in her mouth. The other woman chuckled. The man and woman continued their conversation while the man was orally serviced, then they all hugged and said goodbye. The man continued, his dick now half shiny with saliva in the dim light. I prayed Glenda had seen the encounter but I dared not face her. If I shamed her, we were done with this place. I saw her gulp wine from the corner of my eye, ordering another as she emptied the glass. I watched the man cross the room, noting something familiar about him as he drew closer.

Then it struck me. Despite our masks, I recognized him; this man was my boss, Paul. There was no mistaking his quick pace and short stride. I studied him to be certain and I was. My eyes then dropped to his penis. He was harder than ever, pointing across the room at a far wall, long and thick and capped with a dark mushroom head. He waved to a small group of people and for a moment I feared I'd see others from work, but no, these were associates of his I'd never seen before. They pointed at the bar and shouted some requests and Paul changed direction, aiming straight for Glenda and me. He took the open spot next to my wife while I struggled to control my breathing. She discreetly turned her head, barely an inch, scrutinizing the naked man but without appearing to care at all. I scarcely moved, worried she'd feel exposed and stop staring. I wanted her to look at him. I wanted her ogling his big hard cock.

My heart thumped beneath my ribs. Sweet Jesus, Glenda was checking out another man. Paul was older, but fit and trim and walking around with a hefty spear leading the way. My wife sipped wine often, stealing glances at the nude man.

"I need a bathroom break," I said, keeping my voice as innocent as possible.

She gave me a hard nod. I scurried away, looping around to watch from a dark corner. Paul spoke to her and I held my breath. Glenda storming out of the place was a real possibility. Instead, she leaned a hip against the bar and faced him. I moved to get a better view of both. I couldn't hear their conversation so I studied body language. Glenda was on edge but trying not to show it. This was almost more than she could bear. Paul was relaxed, rock hard cock pointed at a pretty woman. What a moment. I rubbed my crotch, burning every detail into my memory forever.

Paul pointed at a stack of napkins behind Glenda and when she turned, he quickly inched closer. Not enough to notice. She handed him the napkins and they continued talking. The bartender took Paul's drink order, which gave my boss another opportunity to move closer. The tip of his cock was now only inches from my lovely wife. She looked stressed but continued the conversation.

Drinks arrived. Paul moved close to take the hand-off and his erection brushed Glenda's thigh. I gasped. My wife froze, paralyzed with uncertainty. Paul shuffled his feet, innocently rubbing his cock back and forth, as he struggled to take all the drinks. The bartender finally waved him off, grabbing a tray. Glenda looked dazed. Paul was right next to her now. He chuckled, no doubt saying something about his fumbling efforts, and Glenda gave a weak smile. She dropped her hand to her side, which seemed awkward, and Paul shifted slightly, guiding his erection between her fingers.

Glenda closed her hand around his thick hard cock.

I almost fell over. Sexy! I was sure she felt his heart beating. I bet that tube of meat was hot against her hand.

She quickly released him but Paul moved closer still. Glenda gulped wine and ordered another. Paul dipped his hips and used his cock to lift the hem of her dress, exposing her thigh. He slid around behind her, his long cock slipping between her legs. He spooned my wife. Her dress hid his penis but he had to be pressed against her panties. Her legs looked rubbery, her face catatonic. I'd been gone too long and needed to return but hated to break up this erotic scene. Paul kissed the back of her neck and Glenda shivered.

The bartender slid the tray of drinks across the counter. Paul gripped the tray with both hands and stepped back from my wife, leaving her against the bar. He was harder than ever, straining like the prow of a ship, pointed directly at her. He invited Glenda to join his group but she weakly waved him away. He nodded, all smiles, and turned to join his friends. Glenda's face turned into a scowl.

I approached my wife.

"Where the fuck were you?" she barked.

"Why? What did I miss?"

"Don't play dumb, Shane. You were gone too long. Did you watch what happened? Your wife was attacked and you allowed it."

"I did hang back," I admitted. "That man reminded me of Paul, my boss. I was worried if it was him he'd recognize me."

"We're wearing masks, Shane. What's the point of masks if he can tell who you are? You just stood there and watched him crawl all over me?"

"You seemed okay with it," I countered.

She got mad.

"I knew I couldn't trust you," she growled. "You promised nothing would happen with other men. This isn't my thing, it's your thing. I've told you a million times this fantasy is not for me. Where's the love? Where's the romance?"

"That's between us," I said. "Other men are just for the excitement of someone new, to make you feel good."

She rolled her eyes, clearly disgusted with me.

"You want me with someone new?" she said. "Fine."

She set her glass on the bar and headed for the door.

Chapter 3

I watched her ring-up the customers ahead of me. She was twenty something, wavy dark hair to her elbows, dark eyeshadow and red lips, pale skin. She wore black every day but changed the button on her lapel often. Today it said Slipknot. Her corset top was all leather and lace, pushing lovely tits into our faces. Black fishnet gloves rose to her elbows. I stopped here every day to get a coffee and bagel but truthfully, it was to look at her. She's stunning.

At last it was my turn.

"What's Slipknot?" I asked.

She glanced down, then punched some buttons on the register.

"A band," she said. "I like them a lot."

"What kind of music do they play?"

She smiled, mischief dancing behind her green eyes.

"American heavy metal. They use naughty words."

"Is that why you like them?"

"Not necessarily," she shrugged. "I'm a drummer and they launch mad percussion. I do covers. They are my favorite."

She eyed me up and down.

"What's your name?" she asked.

"Shane."

"Mine's Saya."

"Nice to officially meet you, Saya."

She eyed me again, smirking. She put both hands on the sales counter. She leaned forward, tits squishing together as she got closer. Her big green eyes lit up.

"I'll say yes," she said. "I dig older guys."

I stared at those big green eyes.

"I feel like I missed something," I murmured.

"Ask me out, Shane. I'll say yes."

A faint, far-away roar rushed forward and circled my head. For half a second I was lost in time and space.

"You come in here every day," she continued. "You look at me like I'm an angel or something. Do I glow?"

I recovered quickly, refusing to go down without a fight.

"You do have a glow," I stated. "You are an angel."

She laughed and smiled, her face turning soft.

"You're the most beautiful thing I've ever seen," I continued, on a roll now. "You're the first thing I think of when I wake up. I look forward to my morning stop. The coffee is good and the bagel is nice but I'm here because of you. You steal my breath."

I finally heard all I was saying and clamped my mouth shut. I felt my face turning red, heat rising until my ears burned.

"Don't stop," she chuckled. "That was nice."

"I'm sorry. I've embarrassed us both."

"Not me," she said, meaning it. "If all that was the truth, then you shouldn't be embarrassed either."

I took a deep, calming breath.

"It is the truth," I continued. "There's something about you that astonishes me. You're gorgeous, kind, funny, and smart. My few minutes in this grimy little store is the highlight of my day."

Her eyes danced with delight.

"Keep that level of honest vulnerability," she said, "and I'll stick around. Are you married?"

"Divorced," I admitted. "My desires and curiosities were too much for my straight-laced wife."

"That sounds hot. Kids?"

"None."

She smiled, happy.

"Ask," she said again.

Suddenly, I could not get my tongue to form words.

She rested her hand on top of mine, waiting patiently. Her kindness moved me.

"Saya," I mumbled awkwardly. "Would you like to have drinks with me?"

"No. I don't drink alcohol. But I'd love for you to come watch me play. Are you busy Friday night? My band is at The Tavern. Nine. We can hang out afterward."

"Okay. How should I dress?"

She gave me a funny look.

"Be yourself," she said. "Always."

A customer entered the store so she rang me up. I paid. We were both smiling, hopeful and excited.

"See you tomorrow," I said as I left.

"Looking forward to it," she replied.

I floated through work. The divorce from Glenda had been messy and long and painful. I'd avoided dating for over a year. I'd first seen Saya a few days after I'd split from my wife, but since I was technically still married, I'd kept my mouth shut. How much time had I wasted? There was a lot I didn't know about the girl so I tried to keep myself from getting too excited, but wow, I had a date with a girl I was tremendously attracted to.

The fear and intimidation did not hit until I tried falling asleep that night. She was younger and that generation did things differently. I was sure to say and do stupid things. Would I offend her in some way? A hot girl like that must have a ton of hot guys chasing her. If I made it that far, could I match them sexually? Would I bore her in bed? I promised myself I'd never mention my kink. She'd think I was a freak. Look what it did to my relationship with Glenda. I should keep that fantasy a fantasy, masturbate to the idea a few times a week, and otherwise leave it alone.

The next morning, I got my coffee and bagel and waited to check out. We were all goofy smiles. She wore a black plaid skirt with white stripes and a black lace tank top over a sparkly silver bralette thingy. Spectacular. When it was my turn to check out, I complimented her outfit.

"Thanks," she said. "I wore it for you."

Friday could not get here fast enough.

Chapter 4

Her band is named Sledgehammer and she is a tornado. They play aggressive heavy metal and her drumming was non-stop high energy. She was drenched in sweat after twenty minutes, flying hair sticking to her face. I got so caught up I screamed myself hoarse. She saw me and grinned, yelling something I couldn't hear and playing even faster. The lead singer threw a bracelet into the crowd and several girls fought for it. Minutes later the lead guitarist did the same with similar results. Towards the end of their show, she left the drums to a bandmate and played electric guitar, filling the venue with soulful wailing. The song took off and she became a banshee, radiating energy that way too. Their set lasted over an hour and she jumped into my arms from the stage. We kissed wildly, lost in the crowd. She tugged me towards a side door and into an alley.

"Did you like the show?" she asked, pushing the long hair off her face.

"All I saw was you," I said. "I was alone in that huge room. You are a wonderful and delightful surprise. I watched you play and lost myself."

She kissed me hard, yanking my zipper down, forcing her hand inside. She fondled my dick while we made out and I got hard fast.

"Fuck me," she gushed, pulling me close as she backed against the alley wall.

I yanked her panties aside and lifted her leg, driving my dick into her hot steaming cunt. She was achingly beautiful, like a lightning storm. I pulled her top down to feast on her young tits and fucked her hard. She grabbed my head, raining kisses and working her hips.

"Oh!" she gasped. "Yeah! Fuck me!"

She came panting and grunting and I followed right after. Some people in the parking lot nearby clapped for us. We started laughing and ran farther into the alley, into the darkness. Back there we held each other, kissing sweetly and touching, murmuring soft words of adoration.

"Can I stay with you tonight?" she asked. "My roommates are having a party."

"Hell yes."

"Can we go there now? I'll grab my stuff. The crew breaks everything down. I don't need to be here. I just show up to play."

"Now is great," I said. "I'll wait here for you."

I watched her walk away. After a few steps, she reached under to adjust her panties, casting a sideways look at me. We both laughed.

Did we fuck all night? Yes. Yes, we fucked all night.

In the morning, I took her to a little bistro on the corner for breakfast. Images from the night before drifted through my mind. I'd undressed her slowly, spreading her hair across my pillow and standing on the bed to look down on her smooth pale skin, still in shocked she was in my bed. She'd giggled, embarrassed, but loved my adoration. Her breasts perfectly filled my hands and her pussy, adorned with a light pelt of thin black hair, gripped my dick. She had tiny crossed drumsticks over a small snare drum tattooed near her pussy. I shocked myself how quickly I always recovered, ready to have her again.

If we weren't talking, she was sucking my dick, displaying an oral fetish like I'd never seen. Sucking made her feel safe and wanted. She'd curl on my lap and suckle like a baby, nursing like I offered a nipple instead of a penis. Towards dawn, she climbed on top and aimed me farther back, guiding me up her ass and then begging me to cum in there too. She'd already swallowed a load and carried another in her womb.

"I want you in me," she'd groaned. "Everywhere."

I happily shot up her ass too. She knew what she was doing. I felt closer and more connected each time I climaxed inside her. By morning we were woven so tightly together the idea of her leaving hurt.

We ate breakfast smiling and laughing. Our conversation roamed over everything and I always told her the truth, even when it made me look bad. After, we hurried back to my place so she could suck me off one last time before she started her work day. I dropped her at home in time to change for work. I had the day off and enjoyed a lovely Saturday morning by myself. Right. I lasted an hour before I texted, just to say hello.

She spent that night too. She spent every night. We fucked until our bodies wouldn't and then we stopped by an adult store and bought toys so I could continue making her cum. She was insatiable and so was I. She had two gigs during the week and I attended both, cheering and screaming as loud as the rest. She was at her most beautiful on stage, playing, pouring her heart out. A fire burned inside that illuminated the whole stage. Music possessed her. She was radiant.

Many night later we were in bed again, bodies too tired for sex. I went down on her but she couldn't get there.

"I need a dick in me," she said. "I need to feel something inside. The deeper the better. I love your tongue, Baby, but sometimes a girl needs to feel full."

I opened the drawer on the nightstand, holding up two dildos, grinning.

"Take your pick," I said.

She pointed at my right hand, the larger of the two.

"Bigger," she giggled. "Bigger feels better. Save the smaller for my ass."

Fifty-thousand volts hit me. She'd giggled, playfully, but her eyes said she was serious. Bigger feels better. My long-buried kink burst to the surface. I don't know what my face did but her expression turned to surprise.

"Ooooh, you like that, Shane?" she asked. "You like hearing your sweet little girlfriend say a bigger dick feels better?"

I swallowed hard, dropping the smaller dildo into the drawer and closing it.

"Yes," I admitted.

The air turned electric. We stared at each other.

"Why?" she purred.

"You're more sexual," I said. "Only a sexual creature would care about that. I find it exciting when women care about size."

She thought about that for a moment.

"We all do," she confessed. I guess some don't know yet, but those of us that do, care. It matters."

"That's hot," I croaked.

She studied my face a minute.

"Hand me the toy," she said. "Then sit and watch me use it. I'll fuck that big dick for you, Baby. Watch me cum on that fat cock."

I handed her the dildo and pulled a chair close to the bed. My heart raced but her easy acceptance and vulnerability left me breathless. She sucked the head to get it wet and then teased her opening for a long time. The lights were low so with just a little imagination it was easy to picture a hard dick close to her pussy. My eyes were glued to her and she loved the attention.

She worked the cock from every angle, teasing me as much as herself, before sliding the beast home and pumping hard. Her sexual energy was renewed, humping and grinding for both our benefit. The flesh colored shaft glittered wet. Her soaked cunt slurped. She thrust with one hand while teasing her clit with the other until her vaginal walls clamped around our toy and she came hard. My penis stood in my lap. She left the dildo buried inside and stretched her arms for me. We cuddled, falling asleep together, her tight pussy still filled.

Chapter 5

She complained about wanting a new job, so I got her one. Our company has several offices around town and although there was a hiring freeze, I made some calls and got it done, swearing myself and everyone involved to secrecy. No more grimy little retail store for my angel. She still wore black to work every day but now showed a lot less skin. The work was clerical and administrative, with set hours and days. The band loved her predictable availability, especially on weekends, which she now had off, and Saya loved the huge boost in income. My company pays well.

Days became weeks, weeks became months. I was falling in love, and so was she. The one year anniversary of our first date was approaching and I wanted to make it special. I thought a long time before reaching a decision, but once I did, I knew it was right. I felt a knot inside me relax.

I bought a ring.

We celebrated our first year with dinner at the best restaurant in town and a long walk around downtown. She pointed out clubs she'd played, warehouses and abandoned factories, theaters and small bars. We turned a corner and she stopped; her eyes filled and her face softened. She pointed to a bookstore across the street.

"That's used to be a pub," she murmured. "The first place I ever played. I was underage with a fake ID and I knew that night I'd found myself."

A falling star streaked overhead and we both gaped in amazement. We burst into joyful laughter. Now was the time. I knew it.

I bent a knee. I opened a box. I lifted a ring.

"Yes!" she squealed, before I uttered a word. "Yes! Yes! YES!"

We hugged and cried and I slipped the ring on her pale slender finger. We broke into passionate kissing. I lifted her chin and peppered her throat with hot kisses, fragrant perfume fanning my flames. Surrounded by high-rises, like we were at the bottom of a well, she gazed at the night sky far above.

"Fuck me on the roof, Shane," she said. "Let's ride the elevator so you can fuck me under an open sky."

I grabbed her hand. The first two skyscrapers we tried had no roof access but someone had propped a door open in the third. Minutes later we stepped onto the roof, gravel crunching under our feet. I walked her to the low wall running on all four sides and pressed her hips against it. I lifted her dress in back. Across the street and level with us I saw a couple standing on a balcony. They seemed to have the same idea. The man sandwiched his date between his arms and the girl lifted her skirt in back.

"Someone else has the same idea," I said, jerking my chin.

Saya followed my gaze. We saw them but they didn't see us. I freed my stiff dick and searched for her hole, resting the head at her opening.

"This is so sexy," Saya exhaled. "He's going to fuck her."

"Like I'm going to fuck you," I said.

Her body shuddered with arousal.

"Do it," Saya said.

I rammed my dick deep and she groaned. I fucked her like a slut, not like my newly engaged wife-to-be. I grabbed a fistful of hair and hammered her sweet little cunt because that's what we both wanted.

"No one's ever fucked me on a rooftop, Shane," she growled, getting into it.

I pumped harder. The mere mention of another fucking her fueled my excitement: Saya, bent over, fucked by a faceless man. My dick surged rock hard.

"Oh!" she gasped, feeling it. "That's good, Baby! Love that stiff dick."

She was dripping. I lifted her foot to the low retaining wall, making her pussy even tighter. I almost lost control but slowed. She clamped her cunt around me, clenching her pussy walls like a vise.

"Fuck, Baby" she moaned. "You feel so big in there."

I loved that she cared about that. I sawed in and out, expanding her passage as I burrowed deep. We were silent for several minutes, savoring the fantastic feelings of our blended bodies. Across the street, another woman joined our couple on the balcony.

"He's going to fuck them both," I hissed.

"Lucky girls," she gasped.

I started the crawl towards orgasm but wanted her to cum first. I set my fingers beside her clit, jiggling the surrounding skin. That did the trick. She started moaning and rolling her hips and then bit her wrist to smother the scream. I felt her pussy spasm up and down my dick, cumming hard. I joined her, spurting into her sopping pussy.

We married a month later. I invited Dale, my brother, to be my best man. I invited others but kept the gathering small. My first marriage had been huge. Saya's estranged from her family so she invited only friends, filling half the church with a rave crowd. The reception was a blast and I found myself liking her friends better than my own.

Saya was gorgeous, dancing in her flowing dress, long black hair and black lips contrasting against the brilliant white lace. She'd altered the gown, adding a long slit up the side to her hip. Flashes of leg revealed a black lace garter circling her thigh. Dale gave me raised eyebrows after he noticed and then took me aside, sharing how happy he was for me.

"This is the one," he said, raising his champagne.

I met his toast.

Chapter 6

The sand squished under our feet. We headed to the water but first we came upon a large florescent pink sign advertising a swimsuit contest later that evening. First prize was a thousand dollars.

"You would win," I said.

She scoffed.

"Look at the beach," she gestured. "Babes everywhere."

I looked and there were several beautiful women, but Saya topped them.

"I still say you'd win," I said. "You have a certain kind of look. With your dark hair, light skin, and big eyes, no judge could resist. If you'd rather skip it that's fine. It's your honeymoon too."

She read the sign again.

"Maybe," she said.

We marched to a spot and dropped our blanket. We'd gotten this honeymoon package through a deal offered at work, and saved a ton of money. Our company works with many others and offers reciprocal discount programs. I've financed several cars and the house I bought after Glenda. The deals, like this travel package, are fantastic.

Hours later we floated at the poolside bar. She drank a virgin Margarita, I had a Diet Coke. On a stage behind the bartender a man grabbed the microphone.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said. "Our contest is about to begin. If any of you would like a shot at a thousand big ones, now's your chance."

The gathered crowd applauded and a scattering of men and women stood, headed for the stage. Saya watched them, evaluating her competition. The announcer ran through some basic rules of the contest.

"Do it," I teased. "You're already in your swimsuit. Just walk up there."

"My suit is wet," she said.

"Even better. It'll clinging to that hot little body."

She pondered a minute and then swam for the steps.

"If you tell my friends I did this," she tossed over a shoulder, "I'll kill you."

I laughed. She emerged from the water, suit clinging like a coat of oil. She raised her hand as the announcer asked for more volunteers and he waved her in.

Once he had all the participants assembled, he broke them into two groups, men and women, and announced the judges would pick the top six and the audience would determine top finishers by applause. He had the groups form lines and a panel of three judges walked each line, casting their secret votes. Standing in the open air hardened Saya's nipples. She looked delicious.

The announcer performed some stand-up while the judges made their choices. He wasn't half bad. Soon he was handed a card and called out three men and three women. Saya made the cut, but I knew she would. She seemed surprised though. How could she not see how gorgeous she was? I admit I'm blinded by love but I can still see the truth. I was glad she entered this contest. Even if she didn't win she'd made top three. That had to feel good. I studied her face and saw how pleased she was.

The announcer stood behind each remaining participant and held a hand over their heads. Audience reaction narrowed the field, eliminating one woman and one man. Saya made the cut again.

I focused on the remaining men. Both tall and muscular, both with serious bulges. One wore the smallest thong I'd ever seen on a man. As the announcer passed a hand over the man's head, the contestant slowly turned, showing the audience his bare butt. The drunk crowd went wild. When the announcer got to Saya I went wild. I needn't have bothered. The crowd was louder than me. My new bride looked astonished that so many people could feel that way about her. She's confident in her brains and her talents but not her looks. Hopefully, this silly contest would be a first step towards changing that.

We had our winners: Thong and Saya. The crowd clapped and cheered and my new wife was stunned with disbelief. The announcer placed small crowns on their heads and then guided them to the dance floor. The band played something slow. Thong took my wife in his arms to dance. Saya went along with it, laughing, carried away by the moment. Her arms circled his waist, her tits mashed his ribs, his bulge pressed her tummy. Her body wrapped tightly against another man took my breath away. He was bigger than her in every way. She looked extra delicate and feminine. She laid her head on his massive chest as the song played and his ass flexed, pushing his crotch firmly against her body. He said something and Saya answered, but I had no idea what was said. She hugged him tighter.

I gulped some Diet Coke. Powerful feelings I'd not had since Glenda arose. I remembered Paul, my boss, slapping his long cock against Glenda's thighs. My heart began to race. Saya looked so comfortable, so content in the arms of another. I know it was just her big heart having fun but my fantasy-mind would not leave it alone. I squinted to better see his fat bulge touching her. I hoped she felt it. I told myself to get these feelings under control, Saya was not Glenda and I would fuck things up again, but it was too late. My mind swirled, already lost in an erotic stupor.

I could no longer watch. I swam to the steps and left the pool, ducking into the men's room, peeing at a wall urinal from a partially swollen dick. I calmed myself, talking myself down from the rush. I got my breathing under control and left the bathroom.

I saw a group of people I knew from work! I almost stumbled. This was terrible!

They shared a table, laughing and drinking and watching the show. My eyes darted to the dance floor where the song was just ending. I realized the repercussions if Saya and I were seen together. Nobody from work even knew we were dating. If they connected us, they'd discover I'd gotten her that job, circumventing the hiring freeze. We'd be fired along with everyone involved.

I thought Saya would return to our spot but when she saw I wasn't there, she stayed talking to Mr. Thong, knowing I'd come to her. I wove a crooked path through the tables, hiding from our work associates, until I reached Saya and her new friend. She started to show me the check for a thousand dollars but I held up a hand, quickly explaining to her what was going on. Mister Thong listened in.

"What do we do?" Saya asked, dismayed. "We can't get out of here without being seen. Their table is right by the exit."

"Maybe we can find another way out of this place?" I said.

"You are forbidden to marry?" Thong asked, with an accent I couldn't place.

"Not exactly," I said, quickly explaining what would happen.

"My name is Gordon," Thong stated. "I have a simple solution."

He moved a ring from his right hand to his left ring finger

"There," he said, looking at Saya. "Now you are married to me."

I understood and Saya did too. We shared a worried look but neither had a better answer. I removed my wedding ring and slipped it into the small pocket inside my trunks. Saya shuffled closer to him. We couldn't even kiss. It was too late for that.

"We can walk right by them," Gordon said. "If they say anything, I'll make shit up. Just follow my lead. This will be fun."

I wished I shared his confidence. He slipped an arm around her shoulders and I sucked air. Holy shit. I had many alarms going off in my head and for a variety of reasons, not all of them bad. I stared at the ground to regain my composure but that put his crotch in my field of view. I found myself staring at the shape of his cock through his swimsuit, the cock he had pressed against my wife minutes ago. I was light-headed.

"Let's go," Gordon said, sweeping Saya away from me.

I followed along one step behind.

We almost made it. The gang cheered when they saw the contest winners. Saya had worked for the company such a short time nobody knew her face. All that changed when they saw me. Surprised shouts echoed around the table. Several stood to shake my hand and say hello and we were invited to join their group but Gordon declined. They insisted so we gave in.

Gordon quickly explained he and I were old friends and I was the best man at his wedding to Saya yesterday. They congratulated the new couple profusely. I sat in agony, watching Saya take Gordon's hand and hold it, beaming with joy, playing her part. The few times our eyes met Saya seemed surprised by what she saw on my face. I tried to convey sympathetic understanding to her plight but she saw something else.

The guys from work could not take their eyes off my bikini-clad wife. The fabric had dried but she still showed a ton of skin. Gordon's bulge lay coiled in his lap. Saya was awkward at first, unsure what to do with Gordon with me sitting right there, but with each minute she relaxed until the absurdity of our situation had her laughing at every joke. She leaned in to kiss Gordon on the cheek, improvising, and he played it calm and cool. My balls lurched. This pushed buttons for me, buttons I was desperately trying to ignore. When Saya moved to kiss Gordon's cheek again a few minutes later, because that's what newlyweds do, Gordon turned, anticipating, and gave her a peck on the lips. Saya darted a glance at me but all I did was squirm, and that sent the wrong signal. Mischief crept into her eyes.

My wife moved her chair closer to Gordon. He rested his hand on her thigh, just above the knee, but over the next few minutes slowly worked it higher. Now he was inches from her pussy. Brad from accounting babbled about some new algorithm that increased profits while Gordon's fingertips drew small circles on Saya's bare skin.

Despite all my mental efforts, I began to get hard. I crossed my legs and leaned forward to hide it but Saya suspected what was happening. She assumed it was my view of her in a bikini so the playful brat decided to tease me. She ran a finger under the string of her bikini top, loosening it a little, dropping the triangle of fabric lower, exposing more breast, especially on the sides. Gordon noticed too and leaned sideways, pretending to listen to Shelia from payroll but in truth spying my new bride's lovely pale tits. She was teasing me, but not for the reason she thought. She was teasing me through him. I soon realized his view was better than mine. There was a gap between her top and chest and I know he saw nipple. Gordon's dick started to grow. Saya had no idea what she showed him. Like two trains traveling towards each other on the same track, I watched helplessly as Gordon grew harder and Saya slowly showed more skin, believing she toyed with me. I shifted uncomfortably and she lowered her eyes, struggling not to laugh. Her gaze landed on Gordon's lap. Those lovely greens went wide. She stared at the lumps and bumps of his barely contained cock and did not look away. She recovered after a moment and announced the sun had made her sleepy and she wanted to nap.

"I need to write some emails," I lied. "I should go too."

We said our see-you-laters and departed, everyone promising we'd see each other around the resort. Brad made me promise to go snorkeling.

Saya aimed for our room with Gordon in tow. I let them walk ahead until we were out of sight, planning to join them once it was safe, but I ran into Margaret from shipping. I introduced Saya and Gordon as my newlywed friends and the four of us chatted, ending when Margaret invited me to meet her for drinks. I said I would.

We all hurried to our room, tumbling through the door and closing it behind us.

"Oh my goodness!" Gordon laughed, muscular chest bouncing. "That was so intense. I thought they would discover our trick with all their questions."

"You are too good at this," Saya praised. "They had no idea."

"You followed along perfectly," he said, his accent giving each word a small spin.

Saya hugged him, laughing, and he squeezed her too. She moved from him to me and we kissed before wrapping our arms around each other.

"We need to be careful," I said. "We're stuck here until our flight leaves. We can't be seen alone together, if you know what I mean. If we are, and then they see us together back home too, we're done. Our life gets turned upside-down."

"I will help," Gordon offered. "My friends have already returned to the mainland. I have all the free time. I will extend my stay. No problem."

"That's so kind," Saya said.

"This is an exciting adventure," he said. "We act out the drama."

I hated the next words to come out of my mouth, but they needed to be spoken. We couldn't risk discovery.

"Gordon," I said. "You should bring some clothes to our suite. In case you need to change or those people from work meet us here."

"That's a good idea," Saya added. "Let him borrow some sweat pants to go back to his room."

Minutes later he wore my track suit and sandals. He'd make a quick trip and return with clothing and other items he might need. Saya found the situation hilarious.

"We should offer to pay him when this is over," she said, after he left. "He's practically dedicating his vacation to help us. What a sweetheart."

"I need a shower," I said.

She stepped close and leaned against me.

"After you fuck me," she said. "I saw the way you were looking at me. I tried to give you a little show. Did you get hard? It seemed like you were getting hard. I bet Gordon acting like my husband threatened you."

"Of course."

"That's sweet. A little jealousy is good, I think."

"You gave him more of a show than me," I said. "He saw down your top."

She was genuinely surprised.

"Are you sure?" she asked. "How do you know?"

"His expression, for one, and then there's the fact you made him hard too."

Her face lit with delight.

"Is that why? That thong is ridiculous. I could see everything. It was impossible not to. But I didn't know he could see my tits."

"Yup. I'm sure that was it."

"Cool," she said. "I got to both of you."

She was truly pleased with herself. We kissed and I untied her top. We both gazed at her exposed tits; alabaster skin, slightly puffy soft pink nipples, perfectly smooth skin all the way around the twin globes.

"These were the babies that did it," I said.

"I turned you both on," she murmured. "That gets me hot."

I stripped her bikini and fucked her on the corner of the bed. We had to hurry. Gordon was coming back soon.

Chapter 7

Brad handed me the snorkel.

"You know how that works, right?"

I waved him off.

"Yes, of course."

We stood in ankle deep seawater, waves lapping at our legs. I pretended to study the underwater breathing device but in truth I watched Gordon and Saya on the beach. The big man smeared sunscreen over her back and down her legs and I wanted to scream. He wore the same small swimsuit and his barely contained cock constantly brushed against her.

My new bride had purchased a racy swimsuit this morning after learning our plans for the day. I'd promised Brad I'd go with him so Saya suggested she and Gordon take some tropical sun. The bikini was a combination of small, strategically placed fabric and see-through mesh which accentuated every lovely curve she had. I was salivating. Even dorky Brad had commented when he'd first seen her, saying what a lucky guy Gordon was. Brad also mentioned how everyone at the table last night talked about Saya after she'd left.

"She's got a look," he said. "Saya could model. She'd do well in Japan. They love Gothic. Everyone agreed, even Margaret, although that cock-hound wanted to jump your friend Gordon. She asked if we noticed his package. I said, 'Girl, I'm bi, of course I noticed his package.' That shut her up. Gordon is yummy, I'll grant her that."

Brad turned to watch Gordon and Saya on the beach.

"That's a lucky girl," he concluded. "I bet he hammers her like a nail."

Shut up, Brad.

I'm about to swim away and leave my wife with this stud?

Brad tugged my sleeve. He wore his goggles and snorkel.

"Leth go theth way," he slurred around the mouthpiece.

He shoved off. I did the same, blowing air to clear the pipe. In minutes, we were deep enough to see ocean life. The explosion of shapes and colors distracted me and for a time I mostly forgot about what might be happening on the beach. Brad led us farther and farther away, into deeper water and incredible wildlife.

I lost track of time, but always, at the back of my mind, acid sizzled. We stayed out longer than I expected and when we returned to the beach, Saya and Gordon were gone, along with their blankets and belongings.

"Probably upstairs doing what newlyweds do," Brad joked.

I almost groaned. What a punch to the gut. The average man would double over. But I am not your average man. I felt the same jealousy any man would but mixed in was a powerful, churning lust.

"Yeah," was all I could reply.

"See you at dinner," Brad said.

I waved goodbye and hurried to our suite, dreading what I might find but paradoxically excited. I punched the keycard and swept in.

Saya sat on the couch in her bikini, watching television, towel wrapped around her waist. The shower ran in the back bathroom. She jumped up, clapping her hands and throwing herself at me. I caught her in mid-air and she wrapped her legs around my waist and kissed me wildly.

"I missed you so much!" she squealed.

I said I'd missed her too and asked how her afternoon went.

"G and I soaked up sun and dozed. We had lunch on the blanket. It's kind of fun pretending I have a second husband. Like how I become a different person on stage when I'm drumming. It feels good to get out of your own skin. Gordon told me all about Slovenia, where he's from. Did you know almost all the beaches there are nude? He's from a wealthy family and just travels and parties."

"Nice life."

"Such a nice man. It's amazing he's doing all this for us."

Her voice dropped and she leaned in close.

"I saw him naked," she said.

"What?"

"We came back to the room to shower away the sunscreen and sand and I told him to go first. I went to our bedroom to grab fresh clothes but came out for a glass of iced tea. He stood in the bathroom with the door open, totally nude, running an electric shaver over his face."

My temperature hot shot up twenty degrees.

"What happened?" I asked.

"He saw me and smiled and asked if I had any lotion for the face. I said I did and we started talking about different moisturizers. He knows a lot for a guy."

"He was still naked?"

"The whole time! It was chill. We talked like it was no big deal."

"Was it?"

She caught my innuendo and chuckled.

"Yeah!" she hooted, laughing. "Bike like; what could a girl do with that?" She kissed me several times. "I'm just kidding. We'd all know what to do with it. Anyway, we talked about different skin care products while he finished shaving and then he hopped in the shower. I'm next. Care to join me?"

"That sounds great. I'm meeting Margaret for drinks soon."

"Aw," she pouted. "I guess Gordon and I will have dinner without you."

"Sad but true."

Gordon emerged from the bathroom wearing slacks and a dress shirt. We took his place, scrubbing and shampooing, and then moved to the bedroom to dress. I paid attention to Saya getting ready for her night out. She wore an ankle-length V-neck burgundy satin dress, with dual slits from her feet to her knees. Black fishnet gloves covered her hands to the elbows. She finished with dark eyeshadow and gunmetal lipstick. The dress glided over her body when she moved, revealing hints of the perky breasts and round ass beneath.

As she prepared, adrenaline dripped into my blood like from an IV. She looked delicious. I hated everyone would see my stunning wife out with Gordon, but a dirty, deeply buried part of me loved the ache. Sexual tension tightened every molecule in my body. I swore I'd fuck her senseless the minute she got back to our room.

"You look like you want to fuck me to death," she teased.

I backpedaled, caught.

"Um, honestly, I do."

She stepped close, staring into my eyes.

"I'll count on that," she murmured.

I walked her to the bedroom door. Gordon waited on the couch, standing when he saw her. His jaw dropped. Saya giggled.

"Men," she muttered, tossing in an exaggerated eye-roll.

"Saya," Gordon said. "You are beautiful. Like a swan. Like a sparkling gem."

"Like a raven?" she asked.

"If you prefer, yes, like a stunning onyx raven straight from Hades."

She laughed, smile flashing.

"Now that I love," she said.

He offered an elbow which she took.

"Don't wait up, husband-one," she teased. "Who knows when I'll get home."

We all chuckled. Ha fucking ha. My balls were two hundred degrees. I desperately wanted to pull her back, take her away from Gordon before he could speak a word of charm in her ear, but I equally wanted her to leave with him, dressed like that, looking that good. I knew the snake he carried in his pants and she knew it too. My tight bones felt ready to crack. It was a sweeter agony than anything I'd ever felt with Glenda. I thought about jerking off the minute the door closed behind them but she'd want sex tonight and I had to be ready. Gordon opened the door, they stepped through, the door closed, swallowing them.

I took long, deep breaths. Be careful what you wish for drifted through my mind, but I ignored it. This wasn't jealousy, exactly, but some bastard son of that emotion. It sliced deep but the pain mirrored the pleasure. No, the pleasure was greater but rose and fell with the pain, tacked to it so the more I agonized, the more I liked it. Utterly masochistic but it's not like I had a choice. These desires simply existed in me. I didn't place them there. Not that I would remove them if I could.

I was dizzy, weak, horny, and terrified, and if I so much as touched my dick I'd explode. The sensations were maddening but wonderful.

I dressed to meet Margaret.

Chapter 8

Margaret and I arranged our meeting through texts and I arrived at the bar first. She wore a simple black dress and we gossiped about work for ours. I went through the motions with her but my mind was elsewhere. Eventually we said goodnight and I returned to the room, expecting Gordon and Saya to be there, but found our suite empty. I changed into comfortable jeans and polo shirt and went hunting. They were possibly still eating but more likely had left the restaurant and wandered the gorgeous resort grounds, walking off a fine meal.

I found them at the same stage where the swimsuit contest had been held, empty now. Gordon sat with a handful of strangers, watching Saya play drums on the bands equipment. The girl can't help herself. Dressed like a million dollars, she nevertheless played with wild abandon. Hair stuck to her sweaty face as she rolled through one number after the next, flailing and pounding and pouring her life's energy out into the universe. I fell in love with her again. I hung back to watch, hiding behind a Roman column, proud and attracted and horny.

She finished, coming back to herself as a wave of bashfulness swept over her. She took a goofy bow and set the drumsticks down. Her small audience of passersby gave her a standing ovation. An employee from the resort entered the stage from the left to speak to her, shaking my wife's hand and congratulating her. Saya apologized to those gathered, sheepishly admitting she loses herself in music. They wouldn't hear it, praising her incredible skill.

Saya left the stage. Gordon again offered an elbow and my lovely bride and her counterfeit husband began climbing the steps.

I hid from them, but at first I wasn't sure why. Then I realized I wanted to follow in secret. I wanted to see them together when I wasn't around. I enjoyed watching her with him, watching her face, watching her body move. I sank deeper into shadow.

I made a decision. I was fine with Saya crossing the line from fantasy to reality. The thought made my blood boil. I was uncertain how far Saya would go tonight, but I had to admit I wanted her to do something. The realization left me breathless. I thought hard about what I was feeling. Could I lose her like I'd lost Glenda? Nothing was worth that risk. She was too loyal to do anything with Gordon. This was all flirtatious fun, a bending of the rules for a short time. She loved me with all her heart and would do nothing to harm that.

Her eyes were aglow as they passed. Wild energy crackled. She was glistening with sweat and flying high. I wanted to rip her clothes off and throw her down. Gordon slipped a muscular arm around her shoulders and she leaned into him, rambling about her love for music and what it did to her.

"Is the beach open at night?" I heard her ask. "I want to swim naked."

Gordon laughed.

"How can they close the sea?" he said. "I will find a way and join you."

My legs turned to rubber. I almost melted. They headed for the water and I stuck to the trees and umbrellas and surfboard rental stands. Gordon led her away from the hotel but only a little, remaining in the glaring lights aimed at the beach.

"I'm so sweaty," Saya said.

She stopped, unbuckling her high heels and dropping them to the sand. She turned her back to Gordon and he lowered her zipper, then started removing his pants. A moment later they stood nude. Saya giggled innocently, playfully, almost shy. Gordon turned to the water and my wife ran by him, diving into the black white-capped waves. He dove in too. She stood, sputtering, laughing, wet and gorgeous. He stood too, gazing down at her wet and naked body, bigger than he had been just moments ago. Saya noticed. Awkward silence engulfed them.

I'd not taken a breath in a long time.

My new bride studied his swelling cock, utterly unsure what to do, then ran her eyes over his muscular body. She's not into buff guys but she is a woman. A wet and naked stud standing in the ocean at night had to get to her at least a little. The water swelled and lifted his spongy cock, aiming the thing at her like an alligator. The water receded and his dick hung once more, dripping.

Saya faced the ocean and dove under again, flashing Gordon the diamond of her pussy from behind. I was dying. My ribs were caving in. My heart labored like I climbed Everest. She played like an otter, frolicking as the ocean washed her clean. Gordon swam nearby, watching, as smitten as me. He stayed low in the water and I noticed his arm moving. The man masturbated to my sexy wife.

I spotted a cluster of palm trees and quickly moved closer. Saya stood again, a little farther out, and Gordon did too. His cock was thicker and longer, pointing at the water in front of him. Saya walked towards the man and pointed at his dick.

"Did I do that?" she asked, knowing the answer.

"Yes. You are very beautiful. No man can resist."

She wiggled a pinkie in her ear to drain the water, keeping her eyes on his dick.

"We forgot towels," she said.

"There is a stand close. I'll bring some."

He walked away, muscles rolling, heavy cock swaying. Saya watched him go, desire plan on her face but also resolve. My loyal wife would not touch the man.

Chapter 9

I easily beat them to the room, even accounting for the care I took to make sure no one from work saw me. I was watching television in my pajamas when they came through the door, her wet hair wrapped in a towel. She came directly to me and sat on my lap, kissing me with passion. Gordon headed for the bathroom.

"Have fun?" I innocently asked.

"Sooo much fun," she admitted. "Fantastic food, a long walk, and then a naked swim in the ocean. I even found a stage and played some drums."

I admired her honesty, even if she did wrap it inside other information. I did not take the bait.

"Drums? Really? Where?" I asked.

She kissed me long and hard.

"You're wonderful," she breathed, snuggling under my arm. "The band leaves their equipment on the stage. Gordon and I walked by after dinner and I couldn't resist. I played a while. I drew a crowd and they all applauded. Made me miss performing."

We chatted about her music and trying to play more gigs when we got home. Gordon emerged from the bathroom and we excused ourselves, giving him the couch if he wanted to sleep. He thanked us and spread a blanket. Saya and I moved to the bedroom. We cuddled under the covers when she mentioned swimming naked again.

"In front of Gordon?" I asked.

"Yeah. Guilty. Sorry."

"Did you guys touch? Did something happen?"

"We held hands to keep up the scam. I kissed his cheek whenever there were people around."

"To keep up the scam."

"Yes, of course."

"Good. Sorry you're forced to go through all that."

She smiled ruefully.

"I don't mind. Gordon is kind of charming."

"You are having a good time with two husbands," I said.

"I'm having fun with both but I consummate with only one."

Her sparkling smile melted me.

"Wanna consummate?" she asked.

The moment my hand touched her leg she was on me. Her head dove under the blanket and her hot mouth engulfed me. She was as sexually taut as me. She sucked fervently, tugged cum from my nuts, pulling blood into my shaft and getting me hard. Soon I was throbbing and rolled her over, burying my dick in her drenched pussy. We fucked hard and fast, driven by urgent needs. Her night with Gordon made her as horny as it did me. We were wild on each other, moving around, changing positions often.

"What's happening here?" she panted, breaking away and pushing hair out of her face. "Why are we so hot for sex? We're fucking instead of making love, which is fine, but I wonder why. What are you feeling?"

"What are you feeling?" I countered. "I think Gordon turned you on. I think swimming naked in front of him and seeing him naked got to you."

She thought about that.

I ran my eyes over her nubile body, seeing her through his eyes.

"All right," she said. "I'll be honest. Don't get mad because nothing happened but yeah, there was a lot of sexy shit tonight. He's gorgeous and he looks at me like I'm gorgeous and I won that stupid bikini contest and I played drums for everyone and they loved it, so, yeah, I'm sailing along sky-high, feeling good about my amazing life. What about you?"

I was about to gloss over everything and feed her some half-truths, but her vulnerable eyes stopped me. She'd been honest. It was my turn. I needed to share my honest feelings with her. She had a right to know who her husband truly was. I took a deep breath but remained mute. I tried again but said nothing. I was terrified! I feared even one step down this path would ruin us. This was how I'd lost Glenda. Losing Saya would kill me. Tears filled my eyes.

"Baby!" Saya cried, wrapping her arms around me. "What's happening my love? Tell me. I love you no matter what. Tell me, Baby. Tell your wife. I will not judge you."

I calmed myself, soaking her adoration through my skin. When I was ready, I began. I started with watching her prepare for her date and how tortured those minutes were but how excited they got me. I went on to how I watched her play, how I saw her strip for Gordon and how he looked at her and how she loved the way he looked at her, and how excited that had gotten me too. I concluded with my most damning revelation of all; that I'd hoped, even as I'd dreaded, that she'd do something naughty, something she knew was not allowed, but that lust and desire forced her to do anyway. I left Glenda and the failure of my first marriage out because I had no right to share Glenda's story, but also because I didn't need to. Enough had happened with Saya already. I shared my pure terror at losing her. I shared how completely in love with her I was. By the time I finished, her eyes were filled with tears too.

"You're amazing," she muttered. "I love you more in this moment than I ever have before, and I've loved you a lot this past year. Thank you for so much honesty."

"I shouldn't feel these things but I do."

She shushed me.

"No," she said. "To be who you truly are, in the face of a world that is trying to remake you, is the greatest act of courage. I love who you are. All of you."

I waited for a but that never came. She kissed my face, drifting to my mouth. Passion quickly flared again. I was hard so fast. I moved between her legs and held myself over her. She quickly reached down to guide me in. We made slow love, gazing into each other's eyes.

"I need to confess," she whispered, closing her eyes. "I got so close, Baby."

I lowered my head to hear her soft words better.

"I got so close," she said again. "I couldn't help it. So many exciting things have happened lately. My amazing relationship with you has opened my eyes. Then, suddenly, Gordon is standing in front of me naked and wet. I wanted him, but only because I so safely have you. Do you understand?"

Blood rushed to me dick. My heart threatened to explode. I slowed my thrust to avoid cumming too fast. I kissed her cheek.

"Yes," I whispered. "Tell me more."

She snaked her legs around my waist, her arms around my neck. She pulled my body close.

"He stood there like he was carved from stone. His physical presence cannot be ignored, Baby, no woman could ignore that man. The waves broke around him like he was anchored to the Earth. His cock and balls bobbed and floated like a lure, compelling, mesmerizing with the promise of pleasure. I could feel that heavy spear pushing me open, Shane. I dove beneath the waves to hide my moan. I almost gave in, Baby. I almost fucked him. I wanted to, I admit that, but my love for you was stronger."

I'd never been so hard. My dick pulsed and throbbed in her. She had to feel what she did to me.

"I do understand," I growled, pushing my hard dick deep and holding it there, showing her what her confession had done to me.

She opened her eyes and we kissed. She started grinding her hips against mine. I pumped faster and she nodded.

"You're so hard," she murmured, guilt leaving her eyes.

She held my face and kissed me. our eyes locked. We said nothing, but we recognized the moment. Our mutual confessions had us wildly aroused. Not insecure or jealous, but excited. Possibilities flourished.

I pumped faster.

"I want to cum for you, Shane," she said. "Don't stop."

I pumped faster. She gasped and clenched her pussy around my dick. Her eyes slammed shut and her mouth opened in a silent scream. She tossed her head, cumming hard, flooding the bed and releasing all the sexual tension she'd acquired. I held out as long as I could but then joined her, pumping hot cum into my new bride. We howled with a shared intimacy unlike any I'd known. We held secrets, trusting each other completely. Our orgasms left us weak and dizzy. I tried to untangle but she gripped me tight. We fell asleep like that, my soft penis still buried in her.

Chapter 10

The sound of Gordon taking a shower woke us. The sun was up, the day already warm. Saya looked at me in a new way, blissfully happy, like the honesty we'd shared the night before bonded and cemented us. We were on the inside with the truth and the rest of the world waited outside, unknowing. I kissed her forehead.

"He's taking a shower," she said. "Wanna bet the bathroom door's open?"

She slipped from the bed before I could answer, grabbing her robe from the back of a chair. She looked at me, looked at the robe in her hand, and dropped the garment on the chair, flitting towards the door on tippy toes, naked, grinning, and full of mischief. He'd seen her nude the night before. What would be the point now? She carefully opened the door, peering through the crack. She closed it again.

"I win," she laughed.

"We never bet," I replied, sliding free of the bed to join her.

A quick peek confirmed: Gordon, nude, brushed his teeth before the huge mirror and waited for the water to warm. His toned body looked strong. Thick arms gripped the toothbrush, tiny in his hand. A thick neck led to lumpy shoulders and broad back. A narrow waist flared again at his firm ass. I saw the reflection of his hanging tubular cock in the mirror, the head a shapely pink cap.

"We're trapped in here," I joked, making a frightened face. "A monster lurks outside our door."

"I'm not afraid of that monster," Saya said, opening the door and striding out.

I was frozen with stunned surprise.

"Good morning!" she spouted, clapping Gordon on his broad back.

He smiled around a mouthful of foam, taking in her nude form at a glance and jumping to my naked body in the mirror. His eyes darted to my penis then returned to her gorgeous face.

"Good morning to you both," he said. "Sleep well?"

He spat paste in the sink and wrapped his free arm around Saya in a hug. He gave me a brief hug too. We kept our hips and naked penises far away from each other. They began an in-depth conversation about what to have for breakfast, debating the pros and cons of waffles and pancakes. I felt awkward for the first minute, standing nude while having a casual conversation, but that gave way to watching Saya and Gordon talk. Neither made any move to cover up, like they utterly lacked a shred of self-consciousness. They scrutinized each other's bodies but only in the briefest jumps of their eyes. Otherwise they simply chatted like nothing was unusual.

"May I see your tattoo?" Gordon asked.

"Sure," Saya replied, pushing her pelvis forward.

I sucked air, controlling a gasp. Gordon squatted and placed his hands on her hips. He pulled her closer, examining the snare drum and crossed sticks. Her pussy was inches from his face, from his mouth. Saya met my eyes over the top of him, a sly grin curling her lips.

"I got that when I was fourteen," she told him. "Fake ID."

He took his time. My heart beat strong and I sensed if he didn't stand soon, my exposed dick would start to rise in front of everyone. He dabbed a finger over the ink and Saya bit her bottom lip.

"Very professional," he said.

His dick relaxed and elongated, stretching towards the floor. The head rested on the tile giving the shaft a slight kink behind the crown.

"By the time I was twelve," Saya said, sounding a little breathless. "I knew I wanted a career in music. I would have gotten the tat then but my boyfriend told me to wait. He was seventeen so I hung on every word he said. Two years later I went with my best girlfriend and had it done."

Gordon's nostrils flared. The motherfucker was breathing in the scent of my woman, detecting her arousal. He casually held her hips, teasing us all. I felt my dick stretch, engorging at the sight before me. I turned away, grabbing the phone.

"I'll order pancakes and waffles," I blurted. "We can share everything."

Stupid thing to say, Shane. Stupid, stupid, stupid. I sounded like I was conveying a double meaning. Both turned to me, waiting, anticipating.

"Honey?" I said, voice cracking a bit. "Should we take a quick shower before breakfast?"

I'm an idiot. That sentence was worse than the first. I was practically telling them to shower together. I needed to stop talking. My mind was my enemy. Freud may have been on to something after all. They looked at each other and Saya, a little surprised by my suggestion, shrugged.

"Okay," she said.

Gordon stood and stepped away from my wife. I breathed a sigh of relief. He grabbed extra towels from the rack and opened the sliding shower door, inviting Saya. Too late I realized what was happening. Saya took his offered hand and moved behind the frosted glass. Gordon rinsed his mouth and entered the shower too.

"Join us?" he asked me, looking back.

I showed him the phone in my hand.

"Right after I order breakfast," I said.

He nodded, entering the shower and sliding the door closed. I saw their pink and blurry shapes through the glass. He moved behind her, testing the water and then ducking under the spray. She did the same. They moved around the large stall, grabbing soap or shampoo. He began to lather her back. I dialed as my penis began to rise. I watched them soap each other, fumbling through the breakfast menu until I got the order right. I was half-hard when I hung up. I could wait for my dick to deflate, which it probably wouldn't while they were in there together, or I could join them as-is. The longer I waited, the higher the chance something happened which the frosted glass would prevent my seeing. I couldn't stand that. Missing out was worse than the embarrassment of a partially swollen penis. I slid the door back and entered.

Saya smiled a greeting but then my wobbly dick drew her eye. She glanced down and her smile grew wide. She pointed at Gordon, busy rinsing soap off his face. He was in the same state as me. Hot water ran off his semi-erect dick like a waterfall. Saya held up her hands with about eight inches between them, smirking and chuckling. I returned a pleasant grin. She socked my shoulder and pushed me towards the water.

"Watch out, Gordon," she said. "Here comes Shane."

The big guy moved aside and I jammed my face under the water.

For twenty minutes, we did nothing but shower. The air was filled with tension but we all played it cool, like showering with friends was something we did often. It couldn't last forever. Saya grabbed the bar of soap and lathered her hands and then, when Gordon and I were in the proper position, my new bride grabbed our dicks and began to wash us. Gordon put his back to the tile wall to watch. I stayed where I was, stunned by her bold action. Her hands moved from base to head and back again. She scooped his big balls and then mine. She circled his plump head and then mine. We got hard fast; me curled to aim at the ceiling, him, heavier and less curved, aimed at her tits.

She took her time, still pretending we were all just getting clean, waiting for one of us to crack. Gordon crumbled first. He grabbed the soap, lathered, and then massaged both her round tits, working the suds and making my wife close her eyes.

"Two husbands," she murmured, smirking. "Niiiiiice."

I was frozen with indecision, then slid a hand down her sudsy tummy to find her swollen pussy. She opened her eyes like slits to see which man held her cunt, then grinned again, stepping away from me and turning her back to Gordon. He moved his big body closer. His cock head emerged between her legs, spearing her gap and mashing her labia. Her head fell backward to his chest. He fondled her soap-covered tits and pumped his cock between her legs, rendering her pussy off-limits to me. I stepped close and kissed her lips. She opened her green eyes, filled with aching desire.

A hard knock on the door announced our breakfast was here.

Gordon didn't budge. Saya didn't budge. Her eyes implored so I stepped from the shower, wrapping a robe around my body and racing to the door.

Transaction complete, I set the huge tray stacked with dishes on the stand and raced to the shower again, dropping the robe as I hurried.

I slid the door open.

I stopped dead.

His back leaned against the shower wall, legs braced wide, her back against his chest and stomach. Her legs were wrapped outside his, spread even wider, gripping his thighs tightly, her feet off the ground. Her back bowed, her breasts thrust forward. A muscular arm circled her waist, another looped her under the arms. Her head was back and her mouth open in raw, unfettered ecstasy.

His fat and gleaming cock speared her cunt like a harpoon.

The spray from the shower ran down their bodies to drip from his wrinkled balls. His wide glistening shaft appeared and disappeared, slowly pumping into her ripe body.

I stood dumbly, transfixed. His plunging cock filled my mind, every detail burned into my memory forever; her vertical slit was stretched into an oval to accept the thickness of his hard shaft. I'd seen my dick in her pussy countless times. What he did to the shape of her stunned my imagination. I expected her to be overcome, swamped by sensation and she was.

She'd heard the shower door and her bleary eyes slowly opened. She watched me watch her, performing on an entirely different kind of stage. She needed no reassurance; my dick had risen to throb at the sight of her helpless impalement. She stared at my erection.

"Fuuuuck meeee, Gordon," she groaned.

I deeply regretted the timing of room service. I deeply regretted missing the moment of her penetration. I made up for that now by watching his fat cock repeatedly pump her hole. Less than a minute but a seeming eternity had passed since I opened the shower door. I gazed at Gordon's stiff cock fucking my wife and reached for my dick, masturbating to the sexiest sight I'd even seen.

"Argggghhhh!" she suddenly cried, eyes glued to my hand. "Fuck!" She was climaxing on him! I staggered back.

"Unnnghhh!" she moaned. "Dooooon't stoooooop!"

He lifted her almost completely off his dick, only to shove her down on that meaty stake again and again. Over and over, as if her weight was nothing, his strong arms hoisted her body. The sight was far more than I'd ever imagined. I was astonished. Fear nibbled at the edges of my mind but a volcanic eruption of overwhelming lust took center stage. He repeatedly stabbed my new bride, forcing cries of pleasure from deep in her chest. His arms were a vise, trapping her. Her arms dangled useless at her sides. She was lost, speared, bayoneted. My tortured gaze crawled every inch of her, agonized to see my great love pierced, her most private place invaded by another. His cock inside her body turned my mind to jelly.

I stroked myself. Gordon fucked her deep and strong and my lovely wife cried out again, already cumming on him a second time. He growled and moved her body faster, like a rag doll, filling her tight cunt over and over. I felt as powerless as she, trapped in a web of my own lust, prisoner to my kink. Gordon manhandled my wife right in front of me and I wished was she would cum again, which she did, writhing on his lap.

He tightened his arms and forced her down, burying every inch, using his strength to drive his dick as deep as possible. He muttered something in a foreign language and then grunted loudly, injecting hot sperm far inside her, his balls the only part visible. Those fat nuts clenched and relaxed, clenched and relaxed, over and over, each time marking a dense batch of semen propelled into her womb. Their movements slowed, stopped, and then Saya slid off his lap to sit on the shower floor. His soft, fat cock drooled sperm. Her swollen labia gaped.

I was close to orgasm, but not close enough, and jerking now that they had finished felt strange. I released my erection, offering Saya a hand to help her stand. She rose and came into my arms, looking back at her lover. He pushed away from the wall and into the spray, rinsing the sweat and cum down the drain.

Saya left my side to join him.

My erection would not go away. I watched them wash, their eyes on me, fascinated by my wife with him. Her hands roamed his body, landing at his soft and hanging cock. She lifted it for me to see, stroking the man and studying my face. I reached for my dick again. She played with his balls, tugging his scrotum, watching my reactions. She squatted and aimed his soft dick into her mouth, her eyes never leaving mine. I jerked faster. We were learning in this moment, gaining an understanding that could only come in a situation like this. We needed no words. Our bodies spoke. I was as hard as I'd ever been.

She sucked hard, stretching his taffy dick, fondling his balls. She got something for her effort, opening her mouth to show me the puddle of sperm on her tongue. I groaned with erotic pleasure, my eyes blasted by the sight. She massaged his nuts and sucked harder, gaining another teaspoon. She showed me that, too, before closing her lips around his head and swallowing his seed.

My dick blasted semen. My hips jerked and my toes gripped the tile floor. I groaned, spewing, jacking my dick and spraying cum.

"Release it," Gordon encouraged. "Release your tribute to her."

You bastard, I thought, mine flows down the drain, yours enjoys her pussy.

But it didn't matter what he said. There was no stopping my climax. I convulsed and shot jet after jet, watching Saya gently suck his prodigious manhood. When my balls were empty, she returned to me, holding my face and kissing me gently.

"That was amazing," she whispered. "Are you okay?"

I nodded.

"Are you?" I rasped.

She hugged me tightly.

"I'm fantastic."

I saved the conversation we'd need to have for when he wasn't around.

She took our hands, leading us to breakfast before the food got cold. Turns out I was right; there's no appreciable difference between waffles and pancakes.

Chapter 11

"Leave the newlyweds alone," Margaret texted. "Take me shopping."

I showed my phone to Saya. Her eyebrows climbed her forehead.

"Better take her shopping," she teased. "I'll spend the day with my husband."

We were still in our hotel room. We'd dressed for our day but not left the room yet. Gordon had thoughtfully given us time alone, returning to his suite for more clothes.

"Which one?" I asked.

"What do you mean, Darling? I have only one, depending on where I am. At this resort, I'm married to Gordon. Back home, I'm married to you."

I studied her face. This was all so much fun. Her face turned serious.

"Do not fuck Margaret," she said.

"How is that fair?"

"I don't care about fair. My fake marriage to Gordon was never an option. Anything with you and Margaret totally is. I do not give permission."

I confess her jealousy felt good.

"A little jealousy is good, I think," I repeated, reminding her of her own words.

She chuckled.

"Good one, Baby, but don't fucking touch her."

"I won't."

She relaxed. I waited for her to start the conversation we needed to have but she didn't, instead checking her phone for local weather.

"Honey," I began. "Are we okay?"

Her eyes shot up to mine.

"Oh, Baby," she said. "I thought you understood that. I'm sorry. Yes, we're great. Fantastic. Better than we were. That was the wildest sex scene I've ever been a part of, and let me tell you, in the heavy metal scene, there is some wild sex."

That sent my mind tumbling down a hole but before I could respond, my phone buzzed again. Margaret.

"You better go," Saya said. "We do not want her suspicious and snooping."

I kissed my lovely wife and departed.

Margaret and I spent more than two hours browsing shops. She carried several designer shopping bags. We stopped at a seaside bar for a snack and a drink and I was taking my first sip of a Pina Colada when Maggie pointed out towards the ocean.

"Isn't that your friend?"

I followed her direction. Gordon and Saya walked hand in hand down the beach at the waterline. She wore a sarong and a bikini top, he wore shorts. No doubt Saya had talked him out of those ridiculous Slovakian Speedos.

"Yes," I said.

"Such a hot couple," Maggie continued. "Can you imagine them fucking? I can. What a hunk. What a babe. They'd make beautiful babies but that would be a tragic waste. Better for all of us if they just rented a stage and let us watch."

"Jesus, Margaret."

"It's true!" she laughed. "Look at them."

I did. They held hands as they strolled, in no hurry and with no worries. Saya leaned closer and took his arm, nudging him into ankle deep water.

"She's horny," Margaret said. "I bet she fucks him on the other side of the jetty. It's secluded there. You can't see it from the hotel. Lots of people sunbathe nude."

"Including you?"

"Hell yes, Honey."

My wife and Gordon reached the long finger of boulders reaching into the waves and began to climb. Maggie's comment had me curious. Was Saya ready for Gordon again already? Was my wife that hot for him? I'd assumed my presence was necessary, that this morning's escapade was something we'd done as a couple. Would Saya fuck Gordon on her own?

"Let's check it out," Maggie said.

"I don't want to watch my friend fuck his new bride."

"Sure you do," she insisted. "But even if you don't, do it for me. I'm a horny old lady. I've got to take my thrills where I find them. Did you see how that thong fit him yesterday? I need to know if that's all him."

I tried to protest but she wouldn't hear it. She tipped the girl at the bar to watch her bags and we trudged down to the sand, taking an angle to remain unseen. We followed the palm trees and then clambered up the rocks, entering a secluded area. Here and there blankets were spread and people sunbathed nude. We avoided them, heading for a sheltered spot closer to the water. Maggie put a finger to her lips and pointed up and over the stone barricade. We climbed higher, ducking our heads as we reached the top. Gordon sat on a boulder below us, cock in hand. Saya, nude, suckled that meat like he was made of candy, her bikini and sarong cast aside.

"She's gorgeous," Maggie whispered.

I nodded, distrusting my own voice.

My wife slobbered his dick, tugging and pulling to get him hard. His free hand guided her head. Too eager to wait, she turned and bent at the waist, showing him her pussy. He left the rock to bury his face in her crack, eating her. She whooped and then fell silent.

"God," Maggie moaned. "I can feel that from here."

Gordon was eager too. He ate my wife a short time before walking her to the rock and bending her at the waist. My wife braced herself with her arms.

"Here it comes," Margaret breathed.

Gordon steered his cock forward, closing the gap and sinking every inch his first attempt. She must be drenched. She already carried a huge batch of his semen but for him to slip in that easily she had to be soaked. He held her ass and began fucking her from behind. Her pleasurable cries floated to our ears above. He shoved his shorts down and stepped out of them.

"Look how she pushes her ass at him every time," Margaret said. "That little girl loves his big cock. I don't blame her. I'd love it too. Your friend's a lucky man."

I nodded again. My eyes were glued to Gordon fucking Saya. This was no spontaneous event. This was no experience we shared as husband and wife. She'd sent me to Margaret so she could fuck Gordon again, plain and simple.

Fuck Gordon. Dark and beautiful Saya simply wanted to fuck Gordon.

My dick began to grow. Maggie noticed my bulge.

"I won't tell if you don't" she said, opening her shorts to masturbate.

Fuck it. I was too uncomfortable. I opened my shorts and joined her.

"I'm happy to do that for you," she said.

"Don't shit where you eat, Margaret," I said. "We work together."

"All right," she said, a little hurt. But I've fucked a few guys from work."

We watch the lovers below. Gordon deep-dicked my wife, withdrawing to the head before smoothly gliding back in. Saya's back arched from intense pleasure. She clawed the stone. A few sunbathers took notice and moved closer, including a man I recognized from our company. I pointed him out to Margaret.

"Jason," she muttered. "From sales."

She ran her eyes over his naked body for a minute but the action below was far hotter. She leaned against my shoulder and focused.

Gordon moved his hands to Saya's narrow waist and shortened his strokes, jamming his stiff dick deep. My wife lifted a leg briefly then planted that foot in the sand, wailing as her climax crashed all around.

"Holy Christ," Maggie murmured. "She's cumming hard."

Yes, she was. My blushing new bride clung to the boulder in front of her and accepted his conquering dick. He pounded her tight little hole before releasing a gush of semen, flooding her cunt a second time in just a few hours. His back hunched as the sperm poured from his balls, filling her up and dripping to the sand. He stayed behind her until she needed to straighten, then they gathered their suits and walked to the water. I thought Saya would wash in the ocean but she rinsed only her feet, slipping the bikini on again and trapping all the sperm inside. Soon they held hands once more and continued their leisurely stroll down the beach.

"Fuck my life," Margaret said. "I want to be her. Let's head back. I need a cold shower and a stiff drink."

We climbed down and returned for her shopping bags. I went back to our suite to wait but Saya and Gordon did not return for hours. She met my eyes as she came through the door and I knew, I knew they'd fucked again.

"How many times?" I asked.

She sat next to me on the bed, thigh to thigh, and hooked her arms around my neck. We kissed.

"Twice," she said, glancing at a smiling Gordon. "He fucked me by the jetty and then a little later when we found a hidden spot between some catamarans. It was hot! Some people saw us but who gives a fuck? We're leaving this place in a few days."

I was ungodly horny.

Gordon headed for yet another shower but Saya stayed with me, kissing and nuzzling, tugging at my zipper. My insecurities evaporated. She freed my dick, finding it already hard, and sucked me long enough to wet it before holding me up and guiding me in. Her pussy was a smoldering furnace. Gordon lubed every inch of her insides and I fucked her through his jizz. I admit that only turned me on more. I came way too fast, well before she had a chance to get going. She didn't care. She'd had plenty, no need to be greedy. She snuggled next to me, kissing my cheek and murmuring how much she loved me.

Chapter 12

Each day was more of the same. I spent nights and mornings with my wife and her lover but the days were spent with the people from work. We'd catch glimpses of Saya and Gordon having fun around the resort and somebody would always comment about the happy sexy couple, or how striking Saya was. The men were especially lecherous regarding Saya. They envied Gordon. I got such a secret thrill from that.

I discovered I could torture myself and enjoy it. I'd head for the beach alone, allowing Saya and Gordon to plan their own day together, and lay there in agony, imaging him fucking her. I'd let the tension build, threatening to drive me insane, then take it out on her when we got together that night. Honeymoons are supposed to have a lot of sex but not like this. Saya was busy keeping two men happy. I worried we'd exhaust her but the more sex she had, the more she wanted.

The last days of our honeymoon were especially intense. Saya and Gordon joined my work group, creating elaborate tales of their married life together. They found it great fun. It killed me to see them across the table, holding hands, kissing, touching constantly the way highly new lovers do. Each time I met Saya's eyes they sparkled with delight. She'd never had fun like this.

Eventually our time at the resort came to an end. Gordon is not the kind of man to settle into one woman anyway so their parting was easy. We ended our time together with a hot threesome in our honeymoon bed. He was gone when we awoke the next morning.

"See?" she chirped, as happy as I'd ever seen her. "Easy come, easy go."

Chapter 13

Saya was right; Gordon disappeared over the horizon behind us and we never looked back. We brought with us amazing stories for our elder years. She clung to my arm the whole flight and I gradually relaxed, assured once more of her undying love. She doted on me for days.

We made love our first night home and I tried to keep it all about us, but that proved impossible. After a few minutes, I confessed Margaret and I had watched her by the jetty. Saya got extra horny, urging me to pound her pussy. She asked for every detail; how she looked being fucked, how Gordon looked fucking her. I spontaneous ignited, spilling every thought and emotion I had watching them together. Our unique honeymoon would be forever enshrined, personally and utterly ours. We came like twin explosions, crying out and holding each other tightly.

In the morning, I watched her get ready before work, not a single tan line on her.

"Sunscreen," she said. "Gobs of it. Gordon rubbed every inch of my body."

"Inside and out," I added.

She winked.

"Too bad all that had to end," I said.

She stopped applying lipstick.

"I was ready," she said. "Sun, waves, sand...it was fun but they're not really my thing. I'm not a beach girl. I'm not into bikinis and muscular guys. I'm a heavy metal girl, remember? Give me urban energy and sticky floors. Give me smoky drunken crowds and driving music."

She finished her lips and kissed my cheek.

"We're home now," she said. "Back in the city, back in my world. You better hold onto your seat."

I tilted my head.

"Why?" I asked.

She leaned in close.

"We've opened the gates of Hell," she teased. "I was ready to leave the beach behind but not the sex. You may be king of the corporate world but there's another world, an underground, nighttime world, that you know nothing about and I've barely dipped my toes in. The heavy metal scene is more hidden than most. With you by my side, and the honeymoon we just experienced, I'm ready to explore. I hope you are too, my awesome and loving husband."

She was making me a little nervous but I said I was.

"Good. I was invited to gig this Saturday night at the old industrial complex by the refinery. I've avoided shows like that because they can get a little scary. But now I have you, and I know we're forever, and I feel safe. We can live any life we want, knowing our partner is there no matter what. We've been tested and we passed, easily."

She kissed me and left for work. I did too about an hour later. I dropped my stuff at my desk and headed to the staff room for coffee. A few people were there huddled together including a couple guys we'd seen at the resort. I joined them. We swapped stories about the beaches and the nightlife until John, from the stockroom, mentioned the hot Goth girl and her buff husband.

"You knew that guy, right, Shane?" John asked.

"Yeah, he's an old buddy from grade school. We grew up together before his parents moved to Europe."

"Well," John smugly continued. "When you see him next tell him to keep a better eye on his wife."

He proudly touched a few buttons on his phone before handing it to me. I gazed at a beautiful color picture of Saya kneeling in the sand, John's cock in her mouth. Her eyes laughed into the camera's lens.

"I bumped into her after lunch one day and flirted because she's hot," he said. "She made up a story to send her husband back to their hotel room so she could take me aside and blow me. Crazy, right?"

I was too stunned to speak. Saya looked into the camera gleefully, her lips sealed around John's veiny cock.

"I mean, she's a newlywed," he continued. "She cheated on her husband on their honeymoon. How fucking hot is that?"

I continued to study the picture. I fell into Saya's laughing eyes. She knew John was part of my work group. I'd mentioned his name in conversation. She knew a picture like this would make the rounds with us guys. She knew I'd see it. I saw it in her eyes. She was sucking John's cock but looking straight into me.

John snatched the phone and flipped to the next picture. Saya's lips were many inches farther down his shaft. The perfect clarity of the photo told me he'd ordered her to stop so he could snap the picture, and she had.

"You should probably warn your friend, Shane. Tell him his new bride is a slut."

The guys laughed. A suit from upper-management approached and John quickly dimmed the screen, sliding his phone in a pocket. I waited for the person to pass.

"Is that all you got?" I asked. "A blowjob?"

I held my breath, awaiting his answer.

"Yes, her man returned right away. I saw her the next day and she blew me again. She said she felt bad about leaving me hanging. I didn't get pictures that time. We moved fast. She swallowed though."

"Pictures or it didn't happen," one of the other guys said.

"Fuck you," John retorted. "It did. She sucked me off and ran back to her man."

Which man? I wondered. Me or Gordon? I was so aroused my hands trembled. We broke apart after that and I carried my coffee with two hands to my desk. Saya had planned that. I knew it in my heart.

I got out my phone and sent her a one-word text: Minx.

She replied less than a minute later: Hahahahah! That was fast! I thought at least two days! John must be bursting with pride.

Which you graciously swallowed, I typed.

Yes, I did. Do you wish I'd fucked him? Be honest.

I pondered a moment, searching my feelings.

Yes, I admitted. To work with him every day and know he'd had you...

I thought so, she replied. Maybe someday soon...
I'm going to fuck your brains out tonight, I sent. You have been warned.

That's what I'm counting on, she answered.

Chapter 14

Jet black wig to her butt. Dark eyeshadow. Black lipstick. Black lace lingerie with black fishnet gloves to her elbows and black leather boots to mid-thigh. Her tits spilled out in front, her ass in back. In bright light, the small pinkish circles of her areolas were obvious. She was a vision, a wet dream, a sexy succubus every man and most women would be willing to die for the chance to fuck.

Saturday night. She'd left the house several hours before me, arriving early to help set up. I paced our home anxiously awaiting my time to leave.

Our band has a tradition, she'd told me. The guys pick girls from the crowd to fuck. Security informs them and guides them backstage after the show. They always come, married or not. I've never done that but I've wanted to. Can I? There are always hot guys at the show.

I'd said yes, but now I was nervous.

This was a big venue, about four thousand people. Sledgehammer was one of the opening bands so I needed to get there early. I suspected I'd be the oldest person attending. I dusted off a black leather jacket and found some old black motorcycle boots in the back of the closet. I checked the mirror. No way would I pass for one of them.

At last it was time to leave. I parked in a dirt lot with a mess of other cars and trucks. The stage had been set up between massive tanks and miles of coiled piping. Spotlights, fog machines, and towering walls of speakers blended into the machinery. I paid at the gate and worked my way closer, surprised by the number of hot Goth girls in the crowd. I found a good spot under a thick overhead pipe and got comfortable.

The show started with a blue spotlight hitting one of the far tanks. Saya's band mate stood up there, playing slow and mournful guitar until a red spot zapped Saya on drums, exploding with percussion and energy. We were off and running. The crowd screamed. Saya noticed me after a while, smiling huge and shrieking.

Fifteen minutes in the lead electric guitarist tossed a golden bracelet to some girl in the front row. She jumped up and down with joy. Security talked to her and I watched her nod an enthusiastic yes.

The show went on but other band members did the same. The bassist gave his bracelet to another guy. Forty-five minutes into their show Saya stood and threw her drumsticks into the crowd. The spotlights pierced her lingerie, showing all of us her pretty tits. She followed the drumsticks with a golden bracelet, cast to a tall and ponytailed guy about ten feet from me. The crowd screamed wildly. My heart surged, pounding under my ribs. My wife had made her choice. I studied the man as Saya continued playing. This guy. My wife wanted to fuck this guy. Security came and he agreed too.

The concert rolled on. Sledgehammer finished to a howling ovation and the next band quickly took the stage. Ponytail worked his way through the crowd. I stood my ground as I'd not been invited, feeling the blood pump to my dick. What a delicious agony. I tried to watch the next band. I tried to ignore the man moving through the crowd, headed to his date with my wife. I failed at both. He had a head start but I made up ground, closing as he reached the backstage barricade. Security checked his bracelet and ushered him through.

I studied the pipes and framework overhead.

Away from the venue the abandoned complex got dark fast. I zipped up my jacket and began hunting a path around the stage, seeking some angle to get a view. I had to climb a venting stack and crawl along piping, but I did. I eased myself to the ground, ducking behind a cluster of storage drums. I was filthy now, covered in dirt and dust and a film of old grimy oil. I continued my quest, slowly and carefully finding a way to view the closed-off backstage section. At last I reached a wall of hanging tarp and peeked beyond. Musicians from many bands gathered in groups, talking and smoking.

Saya stood with her new man about twenty feet away. Her eyes were wide, running on pure adrenaline, and hung on each word he spoke. She was more nervous than me. He looked composed but nervously twitched a chain running from his belt to his back pocket. I never would have imagined this guy for Saya.

Their lead singer stopped to give Saya a kiss on the cheek and let her know he was leaving. He took several people with him and Saya and Ponytail found themselves mostly alone. Ponytail lifted her left hand, commenting on her wedding ring. My wife nodded, admitting everything, then rose on her toes and offered her lips.

His composure disintegrated. Here was proof. She'd told him he could still have her, ring or not, and now she proved it was true. She meant what she'd said. His long fingers landed on her shoulders and he held her, kissing her fiercely. He was coming on strong and I didn't like it but Saya's eyelids fluttered and closed. She returned his kisses with passion. His hands slid to her breasts and he mauled them, his mouth moving to her neck. Saya helped, opening the clasps of her lingerie, exposing herself all the way down to her see-through lace booty shorts. His mouth continued south, sucking her offered nipples.

Her hands frantically worked the front of his pants, tugging his dick through the opening. She shoved his head away long enough to bend over and vacuum his cock into her mouth. I thought he might die. He reached both hands towards the sky like he beseeched God, then dropped them to her hair, holding her head and fucking her mouth. She looked wildly excited, caught in her own lusty hurricane, surprised by her own level of desire. He allowed her to suck only a few minutes before forcing her to stand and pushing her against a stack of amplifiers.

Both slapped at her underwear, frantically tugging and pulling. Her sweet pussy came into view and he began to kneel, eager to taste her.

"No!" she screeched. "Fuck me!"

He shoved his pants to his knees and lifted her leg, aiming his cock at her slit. Saya pulled his hips closer. His stiff dick found her opening and sank deep, my wife groaning with salacious satisfaction. He hooked her leg over his shoulder and bent at the knees, thrusting upward to bury his cock over and over.

"Like that" she gasped, uncontrollably turned on. "Right there. Like that!"

Ponytail rammed deep again and again, eager to fill this hot married bitch with cum. Saya dug her fingers into his butt cheeks and growled like an animal.

"Fuuuuuuuuck!" she groaned. "It's coming! Just like that!"

He was desperate, pumping eagerly, losing his balance and righting himself, pounding her tight little hole unable to believe his dumb luck.

"NOW!" Saya wailed. "Yeaaaaaaaah!"

Her face scrunched and her mouth opened wide. That stranger's cock was making my wife orgasm, and making her orgasm hard. He sucked an exposed nipple and hammered away, fueled by her cries, groaning on his way up just as she was starting to come down. He spurted deep inside her slit, inseminating my bride.

For the first time, I noticed two guys from security watching them. They hung back, letting her do her thing, well versed in how all this was supposed to go.

Ponytail drove his cock deep one last time and seemed to peak again, shuddering as he blasted several fresh goutts of semen in her.

Finally, Saya pushed him away, his stiff dick wobbling as he reached for his pants. She stepped forward and held his face as she kissed him on the mouth, then signaled security to help him dress and leave. Alone, she buttoned her lingerie again, a smug and satisfied smile curling her black lips.

A tradition had started tonight. I felt it in my bones.

Chapter 15

She got home a little after two in the morning, stinking of cigarettes. She felt she owed me an explanation but I never gave her time. I was ripping at her clothes the instant she stepped through the door.

"At least let me shower," she muttered. "I've been bad, Shane."

"I like you bad. I like you dirty."

I pushed her against a wall, opening her teddy.

"Baby, wait," she said. "Hang on. We can't something happened."

I stepped back. My erection tented my pants.

"A man is on his way," she said. "He's on the phone in his car right now. He'll knock on our door any second."

"Who?" I asked.

"Richmond Ellis. He's a promoter. Big. Janich, our lead singer, asked me to talk to him. This guy makes or breaks bands. I owe it to my bandmates."

I didn't like where this was headed. I sensed dread.

"You owe them what, exactly?" I asked.

"Rich wants me, Baby. If I fuck him, he'll promote us, he's made that clear. He does this to all the bands with girls he likes. He's been after me a long time."

"You never fucked him before we were married, even to help the band, but now you will?"

"Do you remember our honeymoon, Baby? Do you remember telling me I could fuck a fan tonight? A lot has changed since I was single. If I'd fucked Rich back then I'd have felt like a cheap whore. Now I'd feel like a sexy naughty wife."

"So I'm supposed to sit and watch?"

She turned coy.

"Actually," she teased. "He thinks I'm still single. I was thinking you'd take your ring off and be my brother, or maybe my roommate."

I glanced around the house. We had pictures up of us doing things together.

"Brother," I said, pointing.

She understood.

"You should hide in the second bedroom," she said. "I'll tell him you're here but you won't bother us."

"Fine," I replied. "But if you take him to our bedroom, I insist you crack the door."

She turned giddy.

"Shouldn't you clean up?" I asked, waving a hand at her used pussy.

"No. He loves dirty girls, like you, apparently. He's a nasty freak. Girls from other bands have talked to me about him."

Someone tapped on our front door. Saya put a finger to her lips and I kissed it, then shuffled for the second bedroom. I'd wanted this life for so long and now it was fully upon me. Fear and trepidation churned my guts but I knew once I saw my wife in action, all that would give way to raw naked lust. My kink had become an obsession. I was willing to risk a lot, possibly everything, to feed the beast. I quietly closed the bedroom door as I heard voices from the living room. Saya explained she lived with her older brother but I was cool and wouldn't bother them.

"Invite him if you want," Rich said. "I'm happy to fuck his hot sister in front of him. Hell, you can fuck him too if you want. That would be hot."

"No, thank you," Saya said.

Holy shit! This pervert was fine with incest.

"Can I get you some water or a soda?" Saya asked.

"You can strip for me and then get on your knees."

The living room fell silent. I then heard the rustle of clothes.

"I knew it," Rich said. "You're fucking stunning, Saya. You Goth girls are really something. I've always had a soft spot for you but you made me wait."

My wife was already naked. Jesus.

"Security says you fucked a fan tonight," he continued. "True?"

"Yes," Saya admitted.

"Use a condom? We set out baskets of them. Free."

"No."

Her voice was turning soft.

"His gunk is in you right now?"

"Yes."

The admission was embarrassing enough but Saya knew I could hear them and thought I was learning all this for the first time. Each answer revealed what she'd done. She didn't know I'd watched the whole thing.

"Good," Rich said. "I like fucking a pussy that's been fucked already. There's nothing like it. Take my dick out."

I held myself still, searched for every sound, pieced together what happened out there. A low zzzzzzip told me she'd opened his pants.

"How's that?" he said.

"Big."

"That's right. Lay it on your face while you take my balls in your mouth."

I pictured Saya on her knees, possibly sitting on her calves, hands in her lap and mouth open.

"I can't," she said. "They're too big."

Rich snickered.

"That's right," he said. "They're too fucking big. If anybody asks, you tell them Richmond Ellis has got big balls."

"Okay."

"Now do it anyway. Take all you can. Stuff my ball sack in your pretty mouth."

Low shuffling followed by silence, broken suddenly by a loud slurp. I wondered if I should risk a trip down the hall.

"You know," Rich the obnoxious loudmouth continued, "Goth girls are something special. You all have whorish minds but you don't charge anything. Guys are stupid. If they knew what they could get away with, they'd be fucking Goth girls all over the city. I learned early; you sluts love dick."

Saya said nothing, but her mouth was most likely stuffed with scrotum.

Curiosity won. I had to see. I crept down the carpeted hallway and peeked around the corner. Saya sat on her heels, hands behind her back. Rich stood over her, his balls in her mouth, his thick cock plastered on her face. He had long grungy hair and wore a ton of bracelets and necklaces. Although he was now inside our home, he still wore sunglasses and a floppy hat. Rings dotted every finger. His cock and balls hung out the front of his jeans like a sea slug, covering my wife's face. His equipment reminded me of porn star Shane Diesel, only white, and much older. There was an element of humiliation to what he did, and Saya loved it.

"I'm glad you finally came around," Rich said. "Your band is good. We'll make a lot of money but you'll be draining these balls often. You made me wait a long time. I've had ever girl on the circuit but you. I don't know what finally changed your mind, but you're going to pay for making me wait."

My wife groaned with excitement!

"Yeah," Rich mumbled. "That's what I thought. Standup and turn around."

Saya jumped to her feet, quickly spinning to aim her ass at him. She looked at his cock over her shoulder but that put me in her line of sight. Her face froze but she stayed cool. Rich lifted one firm butt cheeks and aimed his cock, searching for her pussy. I saw on her face when he found it. He held her hip and shoved and her eyes grew bigger with every inch.

"Jesus!" she yelped.

Rich chuckled.

"That's what you all say," he gloated. "I bet you're thankful you already fucked someone tonight, or else Richmond's thick dick might hurt you."

Saya nodded.

"Where you want it?" he asked, grabbing her hair and pulling her head back. "You on birth control? I can't have you getting pregnant and fucking up the band. You want it down your throat, up your ass, or in your pussy?"

Saya couldn't speak for a minute, overcome by the sensations of a pussy stuffed to bursting. Rich pumped her slow and deep, relishing her tight wet tunnel gliding over his inches. He let her enjoy the cock moving inside and then pulled her hair again.

"Answer me," he growled. "I'd take all night with you but I gotta meet some people. Tell me where you want it. Are you on birth control?"

"N-no," my wife stammered. "But cum in my pussy anyway. God! Please. Don't worry, I'll handle any problems."

Blood surged to my dick. Holy Hell.

"Good girl," he said, obviously pleased.

He released her hair to hold her ass, picking up speed. His thick cock churned, sloshing sounds reaching even me. Saya braced her hands on her knees, legs trembling, then suddenly screamed at our carpet.

"Oh my fucking God!" she wailed, cumming on this shithead's cock.

Her legs shook wildly and I thought she would fall but his impaling dick kept her upright. He banged her from behind, slamming his old cock into this hot young nubile, watching with glee as the young lady orgasmed all over his wrinkled prick.

"Now me," he grunted. "Take it. Take it!"

His hips spasmed and then he slammed it deep, spurting his ancient seed far up inside her. His balls still glistened with her spit as they contracted and released. He stayed buried long enough to empty every drop, then rudely pushed her forward, off his cock. Saya crumpled to our floor and Rich tucked his deflating penis into his pants.

"Wish I could stay," he said.

He turned to look over a shoulder and I barely got my head back in time.

"Next time, you're going to fuck me and your brother at the same time. You know Darcy from that band Redfist? I fucked her ass while her brother fucked her pussy. I made him cum in there." Rich started chuckling. "Fucking Goth girls. They do whatever I say. Most don't even try to complain, they just obey."

He pat Saya on the head and let himself out. She rolled onto her back and began laughing, folding her arms over her tummy. I heard a car start outside so I left my spot to join her on the floor.

"What a freak," she giggled. "I'd heard rumors but holy shit."

I stared at her engorged labia. Sperm from two men oozed. Her cunt looked pink and raw. She followed my eyes and stopped laughing.

"You want to add yours, Baby?" she purred, parting her legs and reaching for me. "I've never fucked three different men with hours of each other. Get your dick in there, Love."

My body moved without me. Deeply buried desires had me naked in seconds. I crawled between her inviting legs. I was fascinated by the semen leaking from her and my dick hardened and then hardened again. She was overflowing with other men. My mind reeled, tumbling with that one thought repeating. I delicately kissed her slippery slit and she stiffened, gasping and caught by surprise.

Could I make her orgasm? Not like she had on Rich. I spread her swollen labia with two fingers and carefully teased her slippery clit with my tongue. She groaned loud, opening her legs wider. I sank a finger into her smoldering messy hole and sucked her clitoris. Her sopping cunt gripped me and I pumped my finger, sucking and licking. She moaned in disbelief, wildly aroused by my willingness to please.

Perhaps by going down on her I eliminated any guilt she felt. Perhaps I proved my love. Whatever the reason, my oral attention had her racing to climax. I finger-fucked her through the shattering moment and then slammed my dick home before she stopped cumming.

I lasted only a short time, far too aroused by all the evening's erotic tension. My mind danced with images of Saya penetrated and fucked and my boiling semen shot quickly, mixing with the batter already inside her.

Chapter 16

Richmond Ellis is a busy man. He's yet to visit our home and make good on his treat of forcing Saya to fuck her brother. He insists she suck his cock before she takes the stage and Saya has discovered that fuels a manic explosion of energy. She says the taste of cock in her mouth drives her, filling her with reckless abandon.

Rich will find some other young thing soon enough, but until then Saya is his bitch. She does what he says and when he says it.

She plays only on the weekends for now but the money is getting better and she may soon quit her job at the company. That would please me. I worry constantly that she and John will somehow cross paths and our secret will be discovered. I know John. He wouldn't expose us. He'd force Saya to do anything he said or he'd tell. Saya would probably like that.

Over the next few weeks we fell into a rhythm; Saya would cast a golden ring when she saw a pretty boy in the crowd, Rich would use her mouth to drain his balls, and I'd fuck her brains out when she got home, driven wild by my scandalous bride. We were wonderfully blissfully happy.

We'd married fast and moved in together faster. Saya had her clothes hanging in the closets but most of her stuff was still in boxes in the third bedroom. One Saturday morning while she was out shopping I decided to be a sweet husband and unpack her junk, placing her mementos and knick-knacks around our home.

That was how I found the jump-drive.

I plugged it in to see how important it was and discovered a trove of pictures, videos, and emails, all saved from a relationship two men before me. His name was Lucas, and he was exactly the kind of guy you'd expect to see with a hot girl like Saya. I watched their sex videos and loved them, I studied their sex pictures and loved them, and I read their moving love letters, which was a mistake.

Saya had been deeply in love with the man. I found her diary and browsed her inner-most thoughts. She was utterly smitten, head-over-heels, but he wasn't fully honest, not with himself and not with her. Lucas was handsome but darkly mysterious. He was a writer, a poet, and a painter, but his keen eye always aimed at subjects other than himself. Her longing for vulnerable truth grew until, still in love, she ended it. He was crushed, distraught, and for a long time she hated herself for hurting him so much.

Involving him in our escapades carried a different kind of threat.

I skimmed through the pictures and videos. He was tall, thin, covered with a smattering of tattoos, and, no surprise, endowed with a long, thick, and slightly curving tusk of a cock. Even soft it had some length and girth. Hard, it was impressive. That thing had been inside my wife countless times. She held it in her hands or her mouth or at various depths in her pussy. Whenever her face was visible, she wore an expression of ecstasy. Lucas had taken pictures of my wife in orgasm and she look gorgeous.

I took my dick out. I'd grown uncomfortable in my pants and Saya would not be home for hours. I moved from one picture or video to the next and felt my dick harden. To look at them, my wife and her former lover, playfully snapping intimate pictures, recording their love and their lust, set my heart racing, my blood surging.

Since I'd known her, she'd never mentioned his name. That told me Saya had sealed all these emotions behind a vault door, and opening that door would be dangerous. My gut told me to stay away, leave it alone, this fire would burn us all, but my dick stood straight up, throbbing, demanding. I would feed Saya to her own lusts, rip off the bandage and let her bleed, all to satisfy my own dirty wants. I shouldn't, but I knew I would.

I returned the drive to the box where I'd found it, adding it to other items that would make it appear I'd overlooked that box. I had enough information to find the man, if I truly wished to embark on this perilous quest. The more I thought about it the more convinced I became I must leave it alone, and the harder my dick grew.

I strolled around our home, placing items she treasured, already anticipating her glee. She'd love my gesture of love. If she checked on the drive, she'd conclude I missed it.

I got on my computer, searching local artists and combining his name. Twenty minutes later I knew way too much about the man. He worked out of a small studio downtown, in the warehouse district, and had an opening coming up. He called the show Essentials; Man Meets Nature, and posted several samples. He was talented. The opening ran from seven in the evening to nine, with a Champagne reception until midnight. A restaurant Saya and I enjoyed was six blocks away in the business district. We could eat, walk off dinner as we often did, and I could innocently steer us to his studio. Who knows what would happen after that?

Chapter 17

Our meal was fantastic and our conversation even better. The weather had turned hot so Saya wore a black short skirt and cotton top which tied at the throat but of course she left it open. I caught the waiter enjoying the view several times during our dinner. I expected a few pangs of regret while we ate but felt no such thing. Lust had her claws in me. We paid the bill and Saya suggested a walk before I could, obscuring my plan perfectly. I offered an elbow and away we went, the warm breezes playing with the hem of her skirt, offering flashes of leg here and there. Saya did nothing to hide. I slid an arm around her waist and let my hand slide to her ass; No panties.

"I bet that wind feels great," I teased.

She bounced her eyebrows.

"You have no idea," she said, grinning.

I know her and I know that face. She was expecting hot sex when we got home.

We turned yet another corner and warm light spilled onto the sidewalk ahead. A small crowd milled about, some seated at small tables, some standing, all dressed in earthy fashion, peasant skirts and sandals. I carefully watched Saya's face as we drew closer. Her brow furrowed at the first piece of art, standing on a tripod near the street. She recognized the style, or thought she did.

"Cool," I murmured, utterly innocent. "An art exhibit. Let's take a look."

She hesitated, concerned, tugging slightly on my hand. She relented, unsure, and entered the studio with me. I worked from one piece to the next, commenting on aspects I liked or found clever. She grew quiet. I moved to the next piece but she stayed rooted. I was about to speak when she beat me to it.

"Fuck me," she whispered. "I knew it."

I looked at her. She stood frozen, gazing to the back of the room. Lucas stood there, gazing at her. I was about to ask her what was wrong but the look on her face stopped me. She had tunnel vision. There were but two people in the world at that moment; her, and Lucas. He wore linen pants and a loose shirt, unbuttoned to his navel. Four women and a man surrounded him but he heard nothing they said. Like Saya, his eyes saw only one thing. He smiled, only a slight curl of the lips, and my wife left her spot and moved towards him. They embraced and he kissed her cheek. She looked conflicted; torn between old feelings rising and the joy of surprise.

I hung back, allowing them their moment and time to exchange pleasantries. Her face was flush, her stiff nipples tented her top. Lucas was stunned by how good she looked, how happy. After a moment, she called me over and introduced me as her husband. I shook the man's hand, remembering him naked. Saya, talking fast and nervous, explained who he was and how long it had been since she'd seen him. I listened, asked a few questions, then suggested I'd wander and look at the art while they caught up. She looked a little panicked by that idea but her jaw froze. Like I said; conflicted. I kissed her cheek, shook his hand again, and wandered off, looping around so I could see them but they couldn't see me.

Husband? his lips formed. You got married?

I chuckled.

Of course, she replied. What did you expect?

After that my lip-reading skills faltered. They were talking fast now, interrupting each other, laughing, but pointing fingers too. I floated about, always keeping my eye on them. When Lucas jerked a thumb at a door over his shoulder, I saw Saya hesitate. What was he asking her to do? He offered reassurance because Saya took a step forward. Lucas clasp her hand and led her towards a back door.

My heart leaped. Was something happening already? I'd expected perhaps a few meetings. My goal tonight was primarily to establish a connection. But Saya was a lusty girl, and I'd shown her she could act impulsively. Once the door closed behind them I headed for the front, hoping to loop around and find them.

Once outside I trotted down an alley, winding my way between buildings but always trying to curl towards the show. Soon I found an asphalt path that led to a patio, and there they were, standing close in the dim light, talking.

"You look amazing," he said.

"So do you," she admitted.

"Happy?" he asked.

Bastard. Every ex on Earth tries the same thing. An innocent question, but what's he's truly asking is was she happy with me? Was she happy in her relationship? Did he have a chance of stealing her because I wasn't making her happy.

"Delirious," she said. "Shane is a dream."

Ha! That deflated him some. Better find a new angle, brother.

"I saw a flyer for Sledgehammer," he said. "Rich is promoting you?"

"Yes."

"Does he still charge the same rate?"

We all knew what that meant. Saya locked eyes with Lucas.

"Yes," she said. "I'm happy to pay."

"Better hope Shane doesn't find out."

"Fuck you," she laughed. "Shane knows. Shane thinks it's hot. Shane encourages me to live the life I want. Shane's the bravest, most selfless and giving man I've ever met. He'd do anything for me and I for him. He's a grown-up."

Lucas felt the conversation slipping away. The big rush from seeing her again was draining. He'd taken the wrong approach and Saya wasn't having it. Impulsively, desperate, he grabbed her face and held it, leaning down to plant a hot and passionate kiss. I held my breath, worried she may explode in anger.

She melted.

He gathered her in his arms and rained fervent kisses. She grabbed the front of his shirt in one hand and pulled him closer.

"I want you," he panted. "The instant I saw you. You're more beautiful than ever."

He pawed her tits through her top. Saya was breathing hard, legs wobbly. He slipped a hand under and caressed her breast, bare palm against smooth pale skin.

"Fuck me," he said. "Feel how hard I am. You love this cock."

He took her hand and guided it to the front of his pants. Saya moaned from naked lust. She shook her head, battling her desires.

"Take it out," he whispered. "You can never resist it. Take it out. Remember. Look at it. Hold it in your hand."

Saya swooned. She grabbed his pants and yanked the zipper, tugging his cock into the hot night air. He was covered with spidery veins. The head was huge. Pictures and videos had not captured the power of this virile weapon. Saya lowered her head, eager mouth open and willing. Then she pushed him away.

"No," she groaned. "Not you. I can't. Not you."

She stood tall.

"I need to leave," she said. "Now."

She was straightening her top and collecting her purse before he could react. She slipped by, yanking the door open. I spun on a heel, triple-timing it back to the show, staring at a painted sunset when she snuggled up to take my arm.

"Ready to go?" I asked.

"So ready," she said.

I looked around but no Lucas.

"What about your friend?" I said.

"Let's go," she insisted.

The walk to the car was quiet and I began to doubt what I'd done. My actions were inherently dishonest and that's not how Saya and I operate. I'd decided to tell on myself once we were in the car but never got the chance. Her head dropped to my lap before we left the parking space. She freed my dick, stuffing each inch in her hot mouth.

"That's my cock," I chuckled. "But are you sucking Lucas?"

She sucked harder, nodding around my dick, whimpering with need.

That's enough for now, I thought. The seed has been planted. Desire will build until it overcomes trepidation and then I'll watch her fuck a man she loves; I'll watch her fuck with real emotion.

My heart caught in my throat. This was so stupid, so risky, but my penis throbbed against her writhing tongue and I knew I'd do it anyway.

"If you want to fuck him," I asked, putting the car in reverse. "Why don't you just fuck him? You know I won't deny you."

She lifted her head from my lap, pondering how much she should admit.

"I still have feelings for him," she said. "I love our games but Lucas is different. If we fucked we'd be making love. I'm married now, Shane. You're my beloved husband. I can't do that with him."

She felt my dick stiffen in her hand and glanced down, confused. She met my eyes and shook her head.

"You still want me to fuck him, knowing all that?"

"I do," I admitted. "If it makes you wet, it makes me hard. The stronger your reaction, the harder I get. I like that you still have feelings for him. That adds dangerous excitement. Your feelings for me are stronger so we're safe."

"I can't do it, Baby," she said.

"Why?"

She shook her head slowly, staring at my dick in her hand but not seeing it.

"I'd love it too much," she said. "There's an ocean trapped behind a dam. If we remove that barrier, the flood will come."

"So will you," I said. "Imagine how hard you'd orgasm on his dick."

Her eyes almost closed. She struggled with all of this.

"I bet his cock is nice," I continued. "Is it?"

"Yes," she whispered.

"Big?"

I already knew the answer.

"Yes."

"You want to fuck him. You want it badly. You're just afraid."

"Yes. Baby, I'll love it too much. Trust me when I tell you."

"Put my dick in your mouth," I said. "I'm turning around."

Her eyes flashed up at me. I saw worry and fear. I saw excitement and lust. This was the moment. If she was going to refuse, if she was going to truly say no, now was the time. Our eyes locked. Her mouth opened. Filled with trepidation and uncertainty, she found my dick with her tongue and closed her lips around it.

But we were too late. An older woman ran the show now, explaining that something had upset Lucas and he'd left. Sales were good, she mentioned, so she knew it wasn't that.

Chapter 18

The silky black ribbon matched her black lace camisole and black panties that tied at the hip. I'd mentioned the sex club without also mentioning my history with it. Saya did not need to know about Glenda and I didn't need a reminder of the disaster I'd experienced with my ex-wife here. The silky ribbon would provide an extra layer of security, buying me time.

I'd tried for weeks to introduce Lucas to our sex life. She wouldn't hear of it. After that night, she'd regained her footing and now insisted we leave him alone. He was far too dangerous, in her opinion.

That's exactly why I wanted to include him. I was obsessed. After so many failed attempts, I took a direct line, inviting him to secretly join us at this club.

Saya had no idea what I'd done.

We'd wandered the club hidden behind our lace filigree masks and Saya grew ever more aroused. Each room we entered had people fucking in every way humans can fuck. She especially liked to see a young woman surrounded by many men.

"There's an animalistic side to men that women lack," she'd said. "I like it."

At last we entered a chamber with a fountain in the middle. This had been my secret rendezvous spot for Lucas and I saw him clinging to the shadows, nervous and unsure. His soft cock hung like a baby's arm between his legs. My plan was to reveal him after he was already in her. No way could she stop. She'd be angry at my trickery but I knew in my heart she'd want more. If I could just get her to try it, she'd see what a hot addition Lucas would make to our sex life.

I backed Saya against a wall and told her to look at the fountain. I lifted the black ribbon overhead and lowered it to cover her eyes, looping several times before tying a bow. That was the sign Lucas waited for. I took her hands and led her forward.

Lucas had been watching from a dark corner and moved to intercept us. Several other hopeful men moved to join us but I waved them back. I sat on the edge of the fountain, a dolphin caught mid-leap, and told Saya to bend at the waist and suck me. She giggled.

"This is so sexy, Honey," she said. "Though I don't know why you need the blindfold since we're all wearing masks."

"You won't know who's in you," I said.

Her hands moved to my shoulders and then to my knees. Her open mouth searched until her lips found my naked penis waving in the air, then closed and sucked. Lucas was ten feet behind her, painfully erect and approaching like a guided missile. This was not his first choice. He'd made that clear to me the day I called with my proposal. But this was take it or leave it, and I reminded him he had no idea where it might lead.

"Do you wish for one more time with her?" I'd asked.

"More than anything."

"Then help me with my surprise and see where it goes."

His cock strained to reach my wife. There was so much desire on his face he looked tortured. I was putting them both through a lot to satisfy my own needs. He knelt behind her and Saya jumped when his hands landed on her ass, but she moaned and continued sucking me. Lucas untied the little strings at her hips, dropping her panties and the only barrier between them to the floor. He parted her butt cheeks and eased his face in there. She groaned when his tongue hit. I was eager for him to fuck her but kept my cool, savoring this moment, anticipating her penetration. She sucked harder as her excitement grew.

At last he could wait no longer, standing behind her and taking cock in hand. I linked my fingers behind her head, holding her mouth down on me, and he gripped her hips, aiming his cock for her pink slit. She groaned again as the plump head opened her up, growling as he fed her fat inches, squirming as more and more cock sank into her guts and then ripping her mouth off my dick to gasp, tossing her head side to side.

"Fucking Christ!" she moaned. "Is that a man or a horse?"

She attacked my dick, sucking and licking from balls to tip. Lucas worked more cock deep, wetting the shaft and giving her time to adjust. He began a slow rhythm and Saya moved her hips in time. I wanted to reveal her mystery lover but needed to wait, wait until he had her screaming and begging for orgasm.

Lucas knew exactly what to do. He pushed balls deep and held himself in there for a heartbeat before withdrawing and doing it again. Saya became distracted, sometimes forgetting my dick in her mouth. Her breathing deepened, her body tensed. I moved my hands to her shoulders, bracing her against his weight, and she soon abandoned my dick to hang her head and savor the steely cock probing her.

"Fuck that's good," she muttered.

She moved her hands to my knees and then my shoulders, arching her back and offering her hole. Lucas sawed in and out, hating the deception but thrilled to be inside her once again. His excitement rose too. Now his hands squeezed tightly, holding her in place to take his dick. His smooth rhythm gave way to a more energetic pace, which quickly evolved into him pounding my wife's cunt. She rose with him every step of the way, crying out on each thrust, her nails biting into my skin. A small crowd had gathered. I knew Saya would love to know that. I reached up and plucked the bow, drawing the ribbon away from her eyes. She blinked several times and smiled sweetly at me, taking in the crowd watching. Then she turned to look over her shoulder. Her head snapped back, panicked eyes huge. His mask hid nothing from her knowing eyes.

"Oh my God!" she wailed. "Noooooooo!"

She said no, but she made no move to get away. Lucas bore down, punishing her with his cock, fucking her exactly the ways she loved. Her face contorted into conflict and lust, her eyes filled with tears.

"Baby," she whimpered to me. "What have you done?"

Lucas grabbed a handful of hair and pulled her away from me, standing her up and biting her shoulder. Her arms arched high and back, finding his head and pulling him close. She turned his face, kissing his lips over her shoulder.

Lucas lost all fear of rejection.

One hand slid up her stomach to cup a breast. Saya ripped her camisole over her head, granting him access to both. He mauled her tits, biting across her back and neck. Saya met my eyes briefly before fading away, losing herself to his touch, losing herself to his hammering cock. His hands and mouth were everywhere he could reach. Sweat dripped from his face to her ass. Saya gave herself away, giving everything to the man. I'd punched through defenses she'd spent years building, and the flood of emotions rocked her. He was inside, where she'd truly wanted him all along. Her eyes closed and her mouth opened and a high piercing moan bubbled from her throat. She was cumming! Tears fell but her open mouth stretched into a wide smile. Lucas pounded her tight cunt, her tits jiggling, and gasped for air, working hard.

Saya let his hands roam but leaned forward again, looking me in the eyes. Mascara streaked her face, black lipstick slightly smeared. She said nothing, but the veil had been lifted. I saw in those twin green orbs all the rampant desire and attraction she held for this man. He reached places I never would, and not just his oversized cock. She had a soft spot for the man, a weakness, an obsession and I'd just rekindled the fire. She looked into my eyes and let me see it all. It landed like an anvil, crushing me. I'd made a terrible, terrible mistake, and any other man in any other relationship would pay a heavy price.

I leaned back over the water and began to masturbate, watching Lucas claim my wife. Saya gave a wicked grin.

"Remember," she groaned, "You asked for this."

She stood and pulled herself off his pulsating cock. She laid on the edge of the fountain, resting her head on my thigh and waving Lucas between her legs. The man stuck one foot in the water and moved close, aiming his thick cock at her hole. She held his head in both hands, pulling his mouth down to hers. They were face to face now and so much changed. Their rampant desire for each other climbed higher but tenderness entered their sex. They stopped fucking and, as she'd warned me, began making hot passionate love. In my lap. My heart shattered to see it. She hooked a leg behind his ass to keep him from pulling too far out, and their kisses turned to fire. They gazed into each other's eyes like they were the last man and woman on Earth. Her moans carried so much meaning, so much happiness and satisfaction.

My dick was harder than ever but my heart was breaking.

I cupped a breast but she barely noticed. Their bodies moved in time, the practiced rhythm of many years in bed together. I caught a glimpse of their former love life and realized they had enjoyed sex far more often than Saya and me. I imagined him walking around their apartment naked and that cock acting like bait. Saya would naturally crave sex with him more than she did with me. The more I watched them make love the more epiphanies I had. I saw through a window into their life together. It hurt. I ached. But in my kinky perversion I used it all as fuel. I welcomed the hurt. I welcomed the ache.

"I want you to cum in her," I croaked, and Lucas met my gaze.

My one condition had been he would not, but now that was gone, now I wanted to see it happen. He looked down at her gorgeous face.

"Is that what you want, Baby?" he asked. "You want me in there?"

"God, yes," she purred.

She took my hand from her breast and held it, showing me love but signaling her body was all his. I watched them move in perfect harmony. Soon he withdrew and sat up. Saya rose to her feet and approached, lowering herself to his lap. His cock glided in. She wrapped her legs around his waist and her arms around his neck and they began kissing in earnest, heated tender kisses that melted everyone watching. Her hips rocked slightly, in no hurry, relishing the feel of him in there.

"Let's take this home," she purred.

He nodded. Gathering the clothing and other items was left to me. I threw on pants and wrapped a shirt around them. Lucas walked out of the place with Saya still clinging to him. They climbed in the back seat of our car and I drove us home, bending the rearview mirror to watch. Saya was so into him, welcoming him back after a long time away. Their tender kisses and gentle nuzzling killed me, a sword right through my heart, but my damned erection never wavered.

I took the long way home.

I pulled into our garage and shut the big door behind us and then they were out of the car and walking naked through our home. My breath caught when Saya led him to our bedroom and onto our bed, spreading her legs invitingly. Lucas moved between them and sank his hard inches again. I stood in the doorway, gazing at a scene I never could have imagined. Richmond had made it to our home but never to our bed. Only Lucas deserved that honor. My wife looped arms and legs around her long-lost lover, smiling, giggling, intimate with sexual familiarity. I was suddenly intruding, a stranger in my own house.

I backed out of the room, closing the door. I heard nothing for a moment but then it began; a soft thumping of the headboard against the wall, a deep and meaningful moan flowing from my wife's lovely throat, a famished growl boiling up from the belly of her lover. Lucas would take his time in her husband's home, fucking her in our marital bed, spending the night buried balls deep. Their hot, sexy, passionate reunion filled my head with agony. Saya's whimpers of pleasure were pure torture.

They made love in our bed. That truth had its claws in me.

I held the door closed, debating the wisdom of listening. This was excruciating. Yes, this fanned the flames of my kink, but like a blast furnace heats iron. I was overwhelmed. My penis pulsed in my pants, cramped and distressed.

I shed my pants, standing naked outside our bedroom door, yearning penis red and straining. Part of me had hoped Saya would stop when she noticed my absence. I imagined my wife needing me there with her to go through with this. That was foolish. I'd done this to her. She was free to immerse herself, to soak up every drop, to let this night saturate her, seeping in through her skin to her heart.

A loud slap, soon followed by others, told me he smacked her ass whenever he wished, something I'd never done and a painful window into their former love life. She sometimes yelped, sometimes whimpered, sometimes whined. Her sudden gasp followed by rapid moans told me his cock had worked its magic and my wife was cumming. Her soft cries lacerated me; I swear they sounded more meaningful than her cries with me. I pressed my ear to the door and heard her soft urgings, heard her intimate confessions, heard how badly she wanted his load shot deep inside her. She spoke with the voice of the Devil's own daughter, her marriage vows left far behind. They could be found in a crumpled heap at the sex club, on the floor near the fountain. I perversely found myself hoping to hear his climax as well, bizarrely wishing he'd ejaculate inside her and bring all this to an early end. Instead I listened to my wife slowly return to Earth and begin the climb once more. The man was a machine.

After a minute our bed squeaked and I imagined them changing positions. They knew each other's favorites. They were together for years. How would they fuck now that I'd left them alone? Curiosity grew too strong and I carefully opened the door, rejoining them.

Saya was on all fours like a dog, her torso pressed firmly to our mattress, her hips and ass arched gracefully high above our bed. Lucas kept her pinned there with one hand behind her head and the other on her butt. He held his body over hers, legs bent, carving her sopping cunt with his hard cock. He fucked her like an animal, growling, drooling, like his wild desire for her had driven his humanity off the map. She offered her hole obscenely, lifting her pussy as high as she could. His big balls collided with her battered labia over and over. As I watched, he shifted his hand and pushed a thumb through her tight sphincter, wiggling the digit and coaxing a groan from my wife. I moved against the wall, one arm on the dresser, the other stroking my throbbing prick.

Lucas would make up for all the lost time. He'd make up for losing her to me, for not being the man she'd needed years ago. He might have only this night to show her what he felt and he was going to make sure she understood.

I watched for over an hour. Lucas put her where he wanted her and fucked her as he saw fit. Saya was eager to comply, giving herself completely to him. She was thrilled to have him again.

She became aware I'd returned when he rolled on his back and pulled her on top. She tossed her black hair and pierced me with those mascara-streaked eyes. Her skin was dotted with bite marks and handprints, her nipples red, puffy, and raw. She rolled her hips, driving him deep and grinding her clit against his abs, fucking him in my face. Her eyes were wicked but not hateful, sinful but not cruel. I'd maneuvered this without her. There was a price to pay. She fucked him in front of me and made sure I saw how much she loved it. I suffered but did not look away. Saya grinned fiendishly.

"Lucas," she murmured, eyes glued to mine. "Are you close?"

"Yeah," he gasped. "I've been holding back."

She worked her hips faster.

"Turn it loose," she purred. "Shoot me full. Pump everything you have into me."

Lucas growled, thrusting his pelvis to meet her hips. My wife stared right into my eyes, truly the Devil's Daughter now, milking the fat cock in her to give up its load. Lucas threw his head onto my pillow and his back arched.

"Saya!" he shouted. "On, Baby, Love, take it!"

His balls snapped to the base of his dick and did not leave, pulsing as he fired the first powerful blast of many. Sperm shot backward out of her hole and around his shaft. Saya turned faint but kept her eyes on mine, connected to me as another man filled her womb. His bursting cock was too much and I watched as my wife was seized by a short but powerful orgasm. She never looked away as they came together. I started stroking faster, overcome by what I'd witnessed, but her hard voice stopped me.

"Don't," she murmured. "You're in trouble."

This would be my punishment; watching the most intense sex ever, between my wife and her ex love, but unable to find any release of my own. I knew in that instant I would not be invited to join them. There would be no break where she left him to take care of me. I would watch them together and wait, more frustrated by the second, tortured and tormented. My dick ached. My balls were on fire.

Saya rode him until his fat cock had nothing more to give. She left him in there, leaning forward to kiss his handsome face. She whispered something I couldn't hear and he turned to look at me, running his eyes from my face to my throbbing erection and back to my face. He whispered his reply and she rested her head on his chest, both now watching me and my awkward erection. She reached back to keep him stuffed inside, fondling his balls for me.

I knew what was coming, but they seemed to share a secret, an unspoken understanding. I suspected they'd snuggle until he got hard again and then resume fucking. What I didn't know, but they did, was his recovery time was brief. In fact, he never fully deflated. They kissed and cuddled and after a remarkably short time, his hips began a sensuous up and down again. This only caused blood to flow once more and his thick cock to expand. Saya looked delighted, and I was about to learn one reason why she wanted to avoid the man; he literally could go all night. I witnessed him give my wife one orgasm after another. Sometimes they'd rest, but the man was eager. After so many years of pining for my woman, here at last was what he craved. He fucked Saya into exhaustion.

He left the next day, catching an Uber back to his place. I reached for my wife, finally able to touch her again. She caught my hands and scooted higher on our bed.

"I was going to make you jack off," she said. "You don't deserve a reward for tricking me. But I'm horny still and craving you, so I'll suck your dick, but my pussy belongs to Lucas until I say so."

I quickly agreed of course. I was dying to cum. She sucked me hard, stroking and pumping my sperm out. She greedily swallowed every drop.

It wasn't until later I learned what she meant by Lucas owning her pussy. He'd return that night, and the next, and almost every night for a week. I worried Saya would fall out of love with me and into love with him, but she didn't. He was still the man she'd left, despite how badly he missed her.

Epilogue

Saya pounded the drums like a woman possessed. The crowd cheered as she went wild. A golden bracelet dangled from her wrist and I scanned the crowd, wondering which lucky fool would score tonight. In the wings, I saw Mister Richmond Ellis, licking his lips. At this moment Saya carried his load in her pussy, fucked delirious before her show. Our two-year anniversary approached and I'd booked a return trip to the resort. Lucas may have left the picture, but I had Gordon's number in my phone. Perhaps he'd like to join us there?

We'd run into others from my work, and need Gordon to continue the game.

End.

Join My Mailing List
Get a FREE Hotwife Story!

Follow My Twitter

Find me on: GoodReads

Talk to Me

BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com