

Her First Time

BY MATTHEW LEE

Some women do, some women don't. My wife doesn't.

I flipped my hair out of my eyes and sent a cascade of sweat droplets flying. I adjusted my knees. I'd been thrusting in and out of her forever, urged on by her loud gasps and groans. She seemed close. Kimberly loves sex, but this is how it always went. She says it feels amazing and she never wants it to end, but she just can't climax from a penis inside her.

As usual, I withdrew mine and dropped my mouth to her swollen labia. Kim's not taking birth control so I couldn't cum inside her anyway. Usually I'd take this opportunity to slip on a condom but tonight I was too turned on.

A minute later she cried out, arched her back and clawed my shoulders as she flooded my mouth with a hard orgasm. I kept licking and sucking softly until she forced my face away. I crawled up and lay next to her as she caught her breath. She was smiling broadly.

We talked for a few moments about sweet nothings but I saw her eyelids slowing with each blink. I kept my mouth shut for a minute and that was all it took; Kim drifted off to a deep sleep. I looked at her naked body and thought about waking her. I was still hard after all. With a mix of pride at knocking her ass out and frustration at wanting some myself, I watched her big tits rise and fall with her breathing. I eased out of bed.

Upstairs on the computer I searched porn videos and stumbled across a hot video of a long-haired brunette that looked like Kim. Fifteen minutes later I was close to shooting my sperm onto the office rug. The actress seemed to genuinely enjoy the large dick fucking her as her juices were literally dripping from it. The actor pulled it out and aimed it at her mouth and she wrapped her fingers around it as best she could and jerked him into her mouth. Her wedding ring rode up and down his shaft and I noticed it was similar in design to Kim's. I glanced at the actor's hand and he wore no ring and realized there was a very good chance this woman was actually married and fucking someone other than her husband.

My cum rushed up and exploded from me. I don't know why it turned me on more, it just did. When I came back to myself I bookmarked this page. I had stumbled onto a page where all the videos on it were wives having sex with men they were not married to, and this actress stared in a few others, but not with the same man she was fucking now.

As my erection dwindled, I surveyed the page and clicked a few others. I noticed one which featured the husband in the room with the lovers, watching his wife get fucked. My heart raced. Can you imagine? My dick tried to come back to life but couldn't quite. I'd never allow Kim to do it but it was exciting to watch others. The husbands were in anguish and the wives blissful. It disturbed me at the same time it aroused me.

As the excitement from my climax drained away my revulsion rose. I started to feel sick. Before I could stop myself I imagined Kim in another man's arms; her groans of pleasure as he penetrated her with a penis much larger than mine; them locked in a passionate kiss; his large hands roaming her, caressing her tone body, kneading her big boobs. I shook the thoughts from my head. They had passed through as a brief flicker but left me distraught. How could I have ever thought such an idea exciting? I turned everything off and joined Kim in bed.

“Patrick, have you seen my car keys?”

“Yes. Last night. On the bedroom floor under your jeans.”

Kim left the kitchen to go investigate the bedroom. Why is it that the prettier the girl, the messier she is? All my life I've encountered this, and I've dated a lot of pretty girls. Kim was drop-dead gorgeous and a total slob. She returned shortly, keys in hand.

“How do I look?”

“Delicious.”

“Good answer,” she laughed and threw herself at me. Minutes later she was driving to her second job serving drinks at Joe's Place. We both had excellent jobs but like everyone had incurred some extra debt over the last few years. We both took temporary second jobs to pay it down. Kim was serving drinks at Joe's, a little intimate bar near downtown, and I was writing software in the evenings. We'd be out of trouble soon.

Her work uniform consisted of a black mini skirt and white dress shirt but on Kim it looked sexy as hell. Her strong thighs and round ass set the skirt off perfectly and her big tits were dying to burst out of her top. Of course she wore it buttoned all the way up but that didn't matter, those buttons were stretched taut and gaped open all the way down, straining to contain her. Hints of her black bra showed through the white fabric. The skirt was short enough that when she'd first taken the job she tugged it down constantly but by now she was okay with it. I went to my office to get some writing done.

I'd been working about two hours and leaned back to stretch. Visions of Kim's ass headed out our front door floated through my mind. I'd been intimidated when we first started dating; she was so sexy and pretty she turned heads everywhere we went. Men hit on her constantly and the occasional woman did too. Kim accepted it all graciously, shy and reserved and a little embarrassed, always clinging to me or taking my hand, reassuring me I was the only man for her.

She believed none of what those people said. In spite of her ice-skater's body and Playboy model's face, insecurity had my wife by the throat. She'd gotten better lately but still had a long way to go.

I remembered her ass again and minimized my work screen. I opened another and clicked on the site I had saved almost two weeks ago and there she was again; my little Kimberly substitute. The pictures had moved around as new videos were loaded and I noticed the actress had a new video posted. Next to her smiling face was an erect penis about twice the size of mine. She held it upright with her left hand, her diamond ring gleaming against his red and purple veins. That familiar rush of excitement ran through me again. I clicked it.

For thirty minutes I watched my actress, named Lady Jessica, I learned, suck and swallow one penis after another, all while her small-dick husband licked her pussy from behind. My mind boggled. Everyone seemed happy with the arrangement so I didn't judge, I just couldn't understand.

I was very excited by the shattered taboo. I liked Jessica's face looking so much like Kim's, I liked how much she enjoyed the sex, and I really liked that every penis presented to her was long and thick. I wondered what her husband felt. He appeared intensely aroused and I believed him, but if I put myself in his place and tried to imagine it was actually Kim, I panicked and lost my erection.

The problem was, I couldn't stop myself from imagining it. In some twisted and perverted lump in my brain, every time I watched the video, sooner or later Jessica became Kim and I freaked. I could not keep it from happening. Kim wasn't a virgin when we met but she had only been with one other man, and from what little she's told me about him, he was even smaller than me. When I pictured my wife in these video's, surrounded by a forest of huge, hard cocks, it was too much, my mind recoiled.

I decided I needed to get out of the house so I shut everything down. I'd visited Kim at work several times, which was against the rules, but her boss had no idea who I was. I'd remove my wedding band and sit at the far end of the bar with my laptop while Kim brought me drinks. She'd treat me like every other customer. At least this way we were able to be around each other. She hated the idea of me at another bar with another waitress bringing me drinks and flirting with me.

I parked my car and took my spot at the bar and in less than a minute Kim had my Jack on ice in front of me. I ignored her and reopened the code I'd been working on earlier. The dim and smoky bar faded away. I don't know how much time passed but I suddenly became aware I needed to pee. Three empty tumblers crowded my work area but I had no memory of receiving or drinking them. My powers of concentration are legendary.

The bathroom has two stalls on one side and a trough running along the other. Classy, I know, but it is time-efficient. I was at the trough when a man I remembered seated at a table near the bar entered. We gave the customary dude-nod and then ignored each other. He wore a tight, long-sleeve black sweater and jeans and a heavy silver necklace. His upper body was muscled and broad-shouldered narrowing to a small waist. Thick thighs and muscular ass stretched his jeans.

Newspaper was pinned to the wall above the urinal so I read about the Las Vegas semi-pro ice hockey team winning a close one. From the corner of my eye I caught movement and looked without moving my head. Silver Necklace had pulled his penis out the zippered opening of his pants and dropped it and it reached almost half-way to his knees. Smooth and thick and light pink, it aimed straight down under its own impressive weight. I jerked my eyes back to my story.

I finished and tucked myself away and turned to the sink, stealing another long look as I passed him. His penis was way bigger than mine and it hurt my feelings. Lucky bastard. How I would love to have a dick like that hanging between my legs. I'd make more money, have more friends, and go to the gym more often if only I possessed a penis like his. Kim would love me more. I'd sleep better at night.

As I soaped my hands, Silver finished and joined me one sink over. I remembered he'd been glued to the wide-screen watching the basketball game and I asked if that's why he came to this bar.

“Kind of,” he replied, his voice carrying a tiny hint of Irish accent. “Mostly I come here for that waitress Kim. You’ve seen her? Long brown hair? World-class ass? Every bar has a big television. Only this bar has little Kimmie.”

I pretended to ponder and then lit up. “Oh yes. Gorgeous. Amazing tits, perfect body, angel's face. Yeah. I get into my work but no way would I miss her. She's married though, right? Thought I saw a ring.”

“No doubt but so what? That wouldn't stop me if I had a chance. She's crazy hot. I've been coming here for weeks just to see her.”

We dried our hands and left. I headed for my spot, he for his. My empty glasses were gone and Kim asked if I needed another.

“Yes, please.”

She left. I glanced at Silver and discovered he was leering at me. He raised a toast. I leered back and gave a thumbs-up. The bar was slow at the moment so Kim returned quickly. I dropped some cash; can't have a charge slip with the same last name as their best waitress.

From me she headed for Silver and checked on his drink. I saw him nod. I couldn't hear them so I tried to follow what was happening from facial expressions and body language. After a minute Kim left but she returned with another drink for him. She turned to leave but he started talking to her and she faced him. Each time she'd scan the bar, checking on the other customers, Silver ran his wolfish eyes up and down her, which pissed me off at the same time it made me proud.

Their exchange continued. Kim laughed. Silver poked her stomach and she laughed again, harder. Kim primped her hair and I knew she found Silver attractive.

My wife needs everyone to like her and will subconsciously try to make sure they do. If she thinks a man is handsome she'll try extra hard. I called her on it once and she had no idea what I was talking about.

They talked a few minutes and Kim turned her hips to accent her ass and legs for Silver, totally unaware she'd done it. I felt my face burn.

Silver squeezed her bicep and my wife squeezed his. Clearly they had a shared love of the gym. No thanks. Silver moved his chair back to punch his own quadriceps but this also revealed the turning and twisting lump of his penis running down his leg. It took Kim a second to notice but once she did she became nervous and flustered, collecting his empty glass and almost spilling it, fumbling his napkin and dropping it, bending over to retrieve it and realizing she was most likely flashing her panties at him, then over correcting to hide them and almost falling. She finally got out of there and headed behind the bar. I focused on my code because I knew she'd look at me to see if I caught her and I didn't want to add to her embarrassment.

Nothing else happened of note for an hour. The basketball game concluded and Silver asked to close out his tab. When Kim handed him the tray he allowed his fingers to graze hers. My wife looked quickly at the ground. Silver signed and said goodnight and then pulled a business card from his back pocket and added it to the tray.

"I'm John by the way," he said, handing back the small tray with his left hand and extending his right.

"Kimberly," my wife replied, taking his hand. Their eyes locked for a heartbeat and then my wife looked down again.

"You're very beautiful, Kimberly."

Kim let go his hand and took the tray. "Thank you. Have a nice night."

"You too."

Kim quickly walked away and behind the bar. John left with one last look at my wife from the door. I felt relief that he had only just introduced himself and given my wife his card. Clearly their relationship was only in the very earliest stages.

I worked another hour and then paid my tab too. Kim did not mention John as I handed her more cash so I left it alone too. I went home.

Back in the office I again tried to masturbate to the Jessica videos but suffered the same fate. I tried switching to a MILF page and then a Teen page but nothing. I went back to the Husbands Watching Wives page and grew hard almost instantly but every time I got into it my asshole imagination would show me Kim getting fucked and I'd wilt. I gave up for good.

Five hours later Kim's shift ended and she came home. I met her at the garage door as I always do and we kissed and exchanged hellos. I told her I was finishing up work and she said she needed a shower. I headed back upstairs and she headed for the master bedroom.

Two steps up I stopped. Something was off. I had nothing specific, but Kim seemed slightly distant. I crept back downstairs as I heard the shower come on. Her purse sat on the kitchen counter and I peered in. All the expected items; keys, wallet, phone, lipstick, sunglasses. Nothing unusual at all. I was about to head back upstairs when a small dot of white paper in a side-pocket caught my eye. I gripped with my fingernails and coaxed it out.

John's business card, torn into a dozen pieces, and then Scotch taped back together. I stared at it for several minutes. I plucked her phone and entered her password. No calls to John's number. I opened her texts; nothing from John either. I exhaled. I thought a moment and then went into her files folder, checking sent texts, and there it was; "Thank you for the generous tip. Nice to finally put a name to a face." She'd sent it almost an hour ago.

Fairly innocent. A little inappropriate, but I didn't see the tip he'd given her. I started to feel shitty. Kim has never done anything to deserve me spying on her. I backed out of that screen and then the next and then her phone chimed as it received a text from John; "My pleasure. You're the only reason I visit that place. When do you work next?"

I closed out all the screens completely, leaving that text unread. I dimmed the phone and put it back and returned the card too, exactly like it had been. I felt terrible. Kim gets hit on all the time. I needed to trust her. I never check up on her like this. Why was I so snoop this time? Because John has a huge cock, my helpful mind answered. I hustled upstairs to my office. I did my best to put all of this out of my mind and succeeded fairly well. Wrapped in an olive green bathrobe that matched her eyes, Kim joined me and surfed a bit until we were both ready for bed.

Under the covers, we lay quietly in the dark rubbing our toes together.

"Long day," I finally offered. "How was work?"

"Good. Great actually. Did you notice that guy in jeans and a black sweater? He tipped me a hundred dollars."

"Wow! Great service. He must really like you."

"I think he does but who knows? Maybe he just felt sorry for me."

I was about to comment but Kim's long fingernails raked across my scrotum. It felt so good I gasped. Kim giggled. Her other hand closed around my penis. She kissed a trail down my chest and her head disappeared under the blanket. Her hot mouth enveloped my penis and quickly moved lower until her lips met my balls. I arched my back and put both hands on the back of her head. I forced her deeper and she gagged but did not try to pull back. I felt my penis swelling rapidly.

I admit I was rough with her but I'm not sure why. I am never such a selfish lover. As soon as I was erect I fucked her sweet mouth until I came, using her for my own pleasure. I thought she'd be angry but she just snuggled me tighter like it was exactly what she'd been hoping for, and that's how we fell asleep.

I was at work the next day when I remembered John's text. I sent her one asking when she worked the bar next as I'd like for us to take a walk first if time allowed. An hour later she replied that a girl had quit and her boss had scheduled her every night for at least the next twelve days.

How would I keep track of John? I couldn't visit the bar every night. I could go once or twice in the next ten days without arousing suspicion but those were lousy odds. The bar had no windows. I got an idea and checked the basketball schedule but neither of the teams last night played on television again in the next ten days. Kim was on her own. Now I had to trust her.

The next few days passed on auto-pilot. We had our work-home-work-home routines and we stuck to them. Each night when Kim came home I scrutinized her, practically sniffing her for another scent. Of course I discovered nothing. She was happy and guilt-free as always. Two jobs will wear you out and by the weekend we were tired, but she displayed no signs of shame whatsoever. Other than fatigue, nothing in her behavior changed at all. After several days I relaxed and by day seven I'd actually forgotten all about Big John.

Until Saturday.

Both of us were off from our first jobs on the weekend and Kim and I slept in Saturday morning. I rose first and made coffee and cleaned up the kitchen and then returned to the bedroom to wake Kim. I crept down the hall and peered through the cracked door, expecting to see her sleeping, but instead caught her just as she was dimming her phone and returning it to the nightstand. I froze. She hadn't seen me and she snuggled back under the covers. I opened the door slowly and kissed her shoulder and she pretended to just be waking up.

"Did you get a text from work, Baby?" I asked. Her eyes widened.

"Oh. Yes. No."

She sighed. "Honey," she began, "I need to tell you something."

The blood in my veins turned to ice water. She sat up and took her coffee cup from my hand, her big, naked breasts swaying. She sipped it, composing her thoughts.

“Remember that night about a week ago when you visited me at work? Do you remember a guy in jeans and a black sweater? The big tipper?”

I nodded. “Of course; Silver Necklace.”

“Impressive. Well, that night he gave me his number and I text him thank you for the big tip. I debated sending it a long time. I know I shouldn't have, but he gave me a hundred dollars. I felt I needed to do something.”

I sipped and waited. She continued.

“He text back, so I text back and we've been exchanging them all week. Nothing major, just one or two a day. It seemed so innocent I felt there was no need to disclose it. You and I are always so cool with each other like that.”

I nodded again, encouraging her to go on. It was true, we were.

“Last night he came to the bar again about an hour before closing. I was busy so we couldn't talk. He was the last to leave so he walked me to my car. We stood there and talked for half an hour about everything. He says I'm very interesting. He asked me on a date.”

“Okay, Honey,” I said. “No big deal and you are very interesting. I don't blame him for being attracted to you. You get asked out all the time. Did you let him down easy?”

She put a hand on my knee and met my eyes.

“No, I accepted.”

Oddly, a world crashing down around you makes no sound.

“Before you get upset let me explain,” she quickly continued. “He's very persistent and over the weeks has also been my best customer. I don't want to make him angry. Remember that gorgeous woman your boss made you take to dinner because she really liked you and he wanted her account? I let you do it, right? Think of this like that.”

She sat up straighter, determined to stick to her guns. The comforter fell farther away from her breasts and I wondered if he'd seen them last night in the parking lot. Or perhaps even touched them. I sipped coffee. Impossible. Kim would never.

“I gave him a few conditions, which he accepted. First, I reminded him I am happily married and this will go nowhere. We are getting together as friends. Second, there will be no touching or kissing. I won't even hug him. He can't even kiss my cheek. Third, and this is the best part, I told him I wanted to bring a third party."

"Who?"

"You, silly. I thought you could be at the bar the night we go and I'll act like I'm just bringing you along to chaperon. You will be seated there as always and I'll ask if you'd like to join us at another bar. You act surprised but say sure, why not. Smart, right?"

Actually, it was. Relief flooded me.

"Can we pull this off?" I asked, my mind racing.

"Why not? He knows nothing. It will be fun acting like we don't know each other. Remember the trip to Denver? We had all those guys fooled. They couldn't believe it when I agreed to leave with you. They thought you were such a stud."

"Oh yeah. That was fun. Okay," I said. "When do we do this?"

"Tonight. After I close the bar."

"Good. Where are we going?"

"I don't know. He said he knows the perfect place. Friends with the owner or something."

The day passed slowly. I was nervous and excited and felt a little smug that I got to rain on his parade and he didn't even know it. Kim left for work around five and I left for the bar around eleven. He was already there, watching my wife with his eagle eyes. He saw me come in but I saw no hint of recognition. I was just another guy to him. I took my usual spot and opened my laptop.

I hadn't seen Kim leave for work but when she took my order I was surprised to see she wore a different bra than usual. It looked the same at first glance but this one was less than a half-cup. Her breasts bounced and giggled when she walked and when she leaned over at the table next to me to take a drink order, I discovered her areola were almost visible and if she wasn't careful, a nipple soon would be. Her skirt seemed shorter too but I couldn't be sure.

I started typing, the clacking of my keys lost in the noise of the bar. I forced myself to ignore Kim completely which proved especially difficult each time she visited John's table. At last things began to wind down and the crowd thinned until it was John, myself, and a scattered handful of others. She approached John's table and they chatted and laughed.

It was obvious to me she found him very attractive. I'm no dummy. I'm not bad looking but Kim picked me for my brains. My body is soft, my hair thinning, and if I'm honest, my penis is astonishingly average, maybe even a little under. I'd expect to see a woman as stunning as Kim with a man like John. She looked around the bar at the persons remaining and met my eyes.

"Excuse me," she said. I waited as she walked over. "Do you have plans for tonight? I'd like to go out with my friend after work but my husband is out of town and I'd like to be able to tell him another person accompanied us. I know it's strange but if you have no plans for the next couple hours, can you come with us?"

I weighed her request carefully.

"Sure," I answered. "I was just going to head home and watch television but this seems much more interesting. Count me in."

"Thank you so much!"

She returned to John and explained and John leered at me again and raised his glass to toast. This time I had a glass so I raised mine too.

Kim dimmed the lights further and turned off two television sets. Everyone got the hint. In minutes the last customer was rung up and gone. We locked the doors behind us and John walked us to his car, a massive black SUV with tinted windows and custom rims. It looked expensive. He opened the door for Kim and helped her step up and was rewarded when her skirt slid up her thighs, exposing broad swaths of tone smooth skin. I wondered if he got a panty-flash too.

John told us about a place on the edge of town called The Red Door, where he was friends with the owner. We agreed and off we went. As we rode along I noticed the front seats were close to each other. John's right hand rested on the console in between and his pinkie rested against Kim's bare thigh. She moved away, eventually, but only after he touched her for a long time. Five minutes later she shifted her leg back against his finger. I saw him trace a small circle on her skin. It made her uncomfortable and she turned to me.

"Thank you again so much for doing this. I know it's an odd request."

"No problem," I replied. "I see you both all the time. It's like I kind of know you."

"That's true," my wife said. She faced forward again.

John started a conversation which I couldn't hear from the back seat so I just gazed out the side window. Las Vegas is ugly during the day but beautiful at night. When I looked again John's pinkie was pressed against Kim's thigh firmly enough to dent her muscle. She had to feel that.

We arrived at the club and pulled in to the gravel parking lot. John parked on the outside edge away from all the other cars. Inside, Robert, the owner, escorted us to a back booth and told us a band would start soon. He ordered a bottle of Champagne and stayed to toast with us to new friends. We chatted a bit and discovered that John worked in marketing and knew most of the club owners in town. He was great friends with Kim's boss too.

After Robert left us alone the three of us really hit it off. John was charming and funny and entertained Kim and I with his stories. Kim hung on his every word. We drank too much and laughed way too loud. Once the band started more people showed up and the place got crowded. People started dancing. Conversation became more difficult. Kim started bouncing in her seat and I knew she wanted to dance but wondered if that violated her rules for the evening. She asked me to slide out so she could visit the ladies room.

As soon as she was gone John leaned over the table at me.

“Holy fucking hell is she hot or what?”

I agreed.

“Are you going to try anything with her or do I have a clear path?”

I stared at my Jack Daniels and tried to think of an answer. I did not want to give John a green-light to chase my wife but according to our charade I had no real reason to deny him. I thought about telling him, yes, I planned on chasing her too but honestly, in real life I know he would win. Besides, Kim would have no idea what I was doing and reject me just to keep our married secret safe. Her job paid way too well to try to replace it.

Fuck.

“No,” I heard myself saying. “I have no plans. Go ahead and good luck; I know she's married.”

John swirled his ice cubes. “Yeah, she seems really happy too. Lucky fucker. Her husband probably has no idea how hot his wife is. He's probably bored and chasing some secretary.”

So it began. Kim returned from the restroom and I watched as John became ever more charming and flirtatious. Their drinks never stopped or even slowed and soon they were occasionally touching as they spoke.

Finally John asked again if Kim wanted to dance and this time she said yes. I watched them leave our table and get swallowed by the crowd.

With every minute that passed, my anxiety grew. I couldn't wait for this night to end. They returned after several songs, sweating and laughing, and John ordered another round. Not long after they were back on the dance floor. The music changed to a slow song and the crowd thinned and I saw John gather Kim into his arms. She resisted at first, stiff and uncertain, but he tugged again and their bodies met. He held her tightly. My fucked up brain noted what a sexy couple they made.

Back at the table more alcohol flowed and when it came time to leave, neither was in any shape to drive. John offered to drop me off and take Kim back to her car but there was no way I'd allow that to happen.

"How about this instead?" I suggested. "My girlfriend doesn't live with me. You can both come crash at my place and we'll figure out car logistics in the morning. I have a big house with plenty of room so it'd be no problem at all."

Kim and John looked at each other and Kim shrugged.

"Fine with me," she murmured.

I took the keys from John and got everyone buckled in. On the drive home I tried to think what was out there that John could see that would expose our secret but drew a blank; Kim and I were not picture people. We had art on the walls but no pictures of ourselves. Unless John dug through a bedroom drawer or unlocked my files in the office, we were in the clear.

I parked in front of the house and gave them the quick tour. I showed John to the guest room upstairs and Kim to the room downstairs, separating them as much as possible. I knew John's schemes.

As I showed my wife her accommodations for the night she grabbed me and kissed me passionately. She squeezed my crotch. Alcohol always makes her horny. I knew she was way too gone to act on it so I was a little surprised when she dropped to her knees and pulled out my penis. Her hot mouth felt amazing. I hated to stop her but I hadn't checked on John yet and didn't want him walking in on us. I took my dick away from her and tossed her on the bed. She pouted.

"Get ready for bed, Kimberly," I said, sternly, pointing at the shower.

She pouted harder. I left her there to check on John.

Upstairs I approached his room and heard the shower already running. His bedroom door was ajar so I nudged it enough to see in and from the mirror over the vanity I saw him in the shower stall.

His body was ripped. His muscles were big but not overdone. His lumpy abs dropped down to that ridiculous dick. I saw his muscular ass flex when he turned to rinse shampoo and his broad back and shoulders were covered with bumpy muscles. Soap and shampoo streamed from his cock to the drain below. I stepped back out of the room. I moved to the office and finished up some documents I'd left open and then I shut everything down. When I passed John's room on the way back, he wasn't in it.

I didn't run, but it was close. When I got downstairs to Kim's room John stood at the cracked doorway peering in, hair slicked back, wrapped in just a towel. He heard me approach and held a finger to his lips but motioned me forward.

Kim lay on the bed on her back. She was wrapped in a towel too, or had been, but apparently had sat on the bed and then laid back for a moment and fallen asleep. Her towel had opened along one side, revealing her large breast and pointed nipple and a wide swath of bare flesh all the way down to her feet. I did not like that he was viewing my exposed wife.

"Too much to drink," John whispered. "What a shame. I wasn't ready for the night to end." Ours eyes roamed her flesh. I found myself looking at her as he would and realized she was even more beautiful than I thought; her bubble-butt lifted the small of her back off the mattress. A long dent ran down the side of her thigh. Although big, her firm breasts still curved up and away from her body and did not flatten out at all. John rubbed the front of his towel.

"Fucking Hell, she's so sexy. Oh well," he chuckled. "There's always next time. Have a good night, Buddy." He clapped me on the back and headed upstairs.

I breathed a huge sigh of relief. When I heard his bed squeak as it accepted his weight, I entered Kim's room. She did look sexy. I got her into bed and dimmed the light to a glow, then closed her door. I decided to head for bed myself and realized I'd left my phone in the office and went to retrieve it. As I passed John's room again the door still wasn't closed completely and I put my eye to the crack.

John lay on his bed on his back, a towel spread under him. He was masturbating. His eyes were closed and I was sure he was imagining my wife. He cupped his huge testicles with one hand and stroked with the other, long trips from base all the way to tip. He looked big in the bathroom that day but now he looked huge; all thick and covered with veins, the head a fat, red apple.

His hand moved faster and his breathing sped up and I saw his hips rise and fall in little jerky motions. His penis disturbed me. I wasn't bothered about invading his privacy or even watching a man masturbate, but the size of it and the fact I knew he was fantasizing about my wife upset me. I decided to just grab my phone and go to bed. I had to pass his room on the way back and in spite of myself I looked in again.

John's cock was now hard enough to split diamonds. His hand was a blur and he rolled his big nuts around inside their fleshy sack. He sucked in a big gulp of air and held it. He thrust his hips once, twice, and on the third time a gout of milk shot out and five feet into the air above the bed. Another followed that as he exhaled with a growl and pumped his fist. Rope after thick and creamy rope flew from the tip of his cock to land on his chest, his stomach, his legs, and, of course, the towel. He looked like a fountain of sperm. It ran down his knuckles and he worked it into froth. It pooled in his belly button. His body became spattered as he showered his semen everywhere. He let go his scrotum and cupped his hand over his slit to contain the blasts. I stayed to watch the whole thing, only creeping away when he rose on weak legs to take another shower.

I looked in on Kim but she was out for the night. I went to bed. I wanted to jerk off but when I closed my eyes all I saw was John spraying cum everywhere.

In the morning I made coffee and put out bagels and cream cheese. Kim and John joined me looking a little hung over, although Kim looked much worse than John. We small-talked and since we all got along so well John suggested we all swap phone numbers, and then they dressed in their guest rooms and John drove us back to our cars. To make it look real, Kim and I left the parking lot in opposite directions.

I got home before she did. When she got home she met me in the kitchen, dropped her purse on the counter and let out a loud, "Holy shit!" She slipped off her sandals. "That went way farther than I intended. I remember dancing with him and then slow dancing with him. I felt terrible until I remembered you took that woman dancing too. How much did I drink? I don't remember the drive home or taking a shower, but I did wake up during the night and wonder what I was doing in the guest room, but then it came back to me. What did I miss?

I gave her all the details. I told her what John said about pursuing her and why I backed off. I told her about falling asleep in her towel and John and I seeing her partially nude. She blushed profusely and hid her face in her hands.

“Oh my God, Honey! I can't go back to work at that bar. He's seen me naked. I can't believe this. I can't face him. I'm so embarrassed!”

“Relax, Baby. He doesn't know that you know. All you have to do is pretend it never happened. He has no idea you and I talked. Just act ignorant of the fact. I seriously doubt he'll bring it up just to embarrass you.”

She was watching my face and considering my words. “But I know he knows.”

“Yes, but all you have to do is act innocent.”

After a minute I saw her head start to bob.

“You're right,” she said. “It's humiliating but I don't have to make it worse. I hope I don't blush when I see him next.”

“If you do just apologize for drinking so much last night. That way the blushing makes sense.”

She bobbed her head some more. “So,” she intoned, stepping closer to me. “How did I look lying there? Was I gross? Did I snore?”

I told her. I told her how gorgeous she was and I told her how John rubbed the front of his towel. I told her how the sight of her made me want to touch myself before falling asleep.

“Did you, Honey? Did you fantasize about your naked, intoxicated wife?”

I cleared my throat. If I told her I didn't, maybe she'd want to finish me now.

“I tried.”

“Oh? You weren't able to complete the act? Why not, Lover?”

I hesitated. I'm sure she was thinking the answer was too much booze and I thought about allowing her to believe that. I did not want to mention John jacking off to her. But I don't lie to my wife.

“Because of something John did. He kind of ruined it for me.”

That caught her by surprise. “John? How so?”

So I told her that part too. She listened intently to every word I said and when I got to the scene where he was on his back stroking, she stopped me.

“Honey, slow down. You're skipping details. Does he have a nice body? He looks like he does.”

“Why do you care?”

“I don't want some gross guy fantasizing about me. John's handsome but I don't really know him. He could be covered in thick hair or hives for all I know. I can see he works out but that's no guarantee.”

I told her he did and described his body. She waited. I waited too.

“Honey?” she asked.

“What?”

“Don't be like that. You're leaving out some important details.”

I couldn't bring myself to say it. I don't know why. I looked at her like I didn't know what she was talking about. She exhaled an exasperated sighed.

“What's it look like? You know, his thing?”

I knew that's what she'd been hinting about but actually hearing her utter those words stung. My wife was curious about the size of another man's penis. I'm sure most of her question was fueled from all that alcohol the night before but it still upset me.

“He's big. Way bigger than me, actually. Probably half again longer and easily twice as thick.” Her eyes unfocused and knew she was imagining him and I got a little pissed off. I decided to rub it in. “He was hard as glass, Kim. The skin on his dick was stretched so tight I thought it might rip. His ball-sack completely filled his other hand and bounced as he jerked. He comes buckets. I'm serious, Honey; a garden-hose spraying sugary glaze. He shoots probably ten times more than me, but don't trust me, you should see it for yourself.”

As my words sank in she detected the hurt feelings in my tone. She blinked a few times and wet her lips with the tip of her tongue. She was back now and aware I was irritated.

“Sorry, Sweetheart. I was just curious. I didn't mean anything.”

I cooled off fast.

“No biggie. They're natural questions, I suppose. I just got a little jealous.”

She stepped closer, then right up to me. She pressed her big tits against my stomach.

“Don't be jealous,” she breathed, cupping my balls. “I only have eyes for you, Darling.”

She said 'Darling' with a heavy French accent and we both chuckled.

Three minutes later we were in bed fucking like newlyweds. She seemed extra enthusiastic but I figured she was still horny from last night's drinks. At one point while she was on top she stopped and slid off and moved her face right next to my hard condom-covered penis. She held me at the base, standing me straight up. She turned me side to side, examining me. I looked down my chest, trying to see what she was doing but the back of her head blocked my view. I was just about to ask her when she slipped the condom off and closed her warm mouth over my head and I forgot everything else.

We spent the rest of the day lounging by the pool until she zipped off to the gym like she does every day before she had to get ready for her shift at the bar. She returned home sweaty and running late.

I worked in my office while she showered. She called up to me when she was ready to leave and I came down to kiss her. She looked stunning; a little extra make-up, especially around her eyes, sheer black bra that covered her entire breast but was so thin it gave a hint of nipple right through her shirt, and a black mini skirt that was definitely shorter than any I'd ever seen her wear before. Her long brown hair was curled and falling around her face and shoulders instead of tied back in a pony-tail. I wanted to bend her over the couch.

“What's the occasion?” I asked.

“What do you mean?”

“You're more dressed up than usual. Is there an event at the bar tonight?”

“No. My tips have dropped off a little lately so I'm trying to bring them back up.” She kissed me and ran out the door. I went back to work in my office.

The next five nights were more of the same; sexy make-up, slightly revealing clothes, cascade of thick, shiny hair. On the sixth night, Friday, she wore a new white dress shirt, heavier fabric than the others, but by the way her tits moved I knew she sported no bra. I felt the back of my neck burn; it was exciting she would head out in public like that but so uncharacteristic of her. Jealousy and arousal battled in my brain. We kissed as usual at the kitchen door and I wrapped my arms around her, sliding them down her back. No bra strap.

I watched her car until it disappeared around the corner and then climbed the stairs to my office. I tried working and managed to produce some, but my mind was on my sexy wife.

After a few hours I opened the porn page and took out my penis. I found a new video of Lady Jessica. She lay by the pool with two men as they spread sunscreen all over her incredible and completely nude body. I started stroking. When the first man pulled down his swimsuit in front, revealing his erection, Jessica grabbed it and aimed it at her mouth. From this angle, in this lighting, she looked almost exactly like Kim. This time, I stayed hard.

I masturbated slowly, allowing the video to play out, waiting for the occasional scene where Jessica transformed into Kim. It slowly grew more difficult to take, imagining her with another man, and I ended up ignoring they were men at all and just imagined them as big hard penises. That worked for a while but ultimately jealousy crept in and my erection faded. As I closed the video I felt so guilty and conflicted.

What the fuck was wrong with me? I was moving down a totally unfamiliar road. I was excited by the vision of my wife as such a sexual creature but simultaneously disturbed by the idea. Flustered and frustrated, I moved to the den and began watching the Warriors pound the Pelicans. I poured half a tumbler of Jack and gulped it down. A few more hours ticked by. The Warriors won and I was about to head back upstairs when my phone rang. Kim was calling me, which had never happened while she was working. I answered right away, fearing something was wrong.

“Hi,” she quipped, her voice strained. “Is this Patrick? This is Kimberly, the girl from Joe's Place? You chaperoned me and my friend John the other night. We drank too much and you graciously allowed us to crash at your place and sleep it off.”

I realized John must be standing next to her.

“Yes, Kim, this is Patrick. Go on. What's up?”

“Well, John would like to spend some time with me again. I am not comfortable going to his place and my husband is out of town again so we can't go to mine. On top of that I feel a little scandalous being seen in public with him again so he suggested I call you. Are you doing anything? Would you like some company again?"

My mouth went dry so I gulped the last of my drink.

"Sure."

"Oh my God, thank you so much. We'll be there in about an hour."

We said good bye and she hung up. I knew she'd given me so much extra time because evidence of her was everywhere, so I flew through the house removing it all. A guest would see a woman's presence but nothing specifically Kim. Twenty five minutes later my phone buzzed with a text. What now? I wondered.

It was from John; "FYI Dude, I'm gonna make a move on this goddess at your place. Be my wing-man? I'm best friends with her boss and he says she's really strait-laced and innocent but flirts with every guy cuz she's insecure. Perfect! If you don't have booze there go buy some and I'll pay you back. Wish me luck!"

I plopped my ass into my lounge chair. Shit. I couldn't stop myself and text back; "You sure about this? She's MARRIED for Christ's sake."

"So? She took the vows, not me. Besides, I know she wants me. I've been coming here almost every night and she flirts like crazy and wears sexier clothing now. Another waitress told me Kim asked to change tables so she could wait on me. I at least have to try."

The back of my neck burned, moving all the way up to my face. What could I do? I figured my best defense would be here at the house with both of them present.

I text back, "Okay then, you got it. Let's do this," and set my phone down. This was going to be a tight-rope walk across the Grand Canyon.

"Show us the backyard, Patrick," John said.

"Yeah, show us the backyard," Kim echoed, pretending like she'd never seen it. I had to admit, she was quite a natural actress. She was having tremendous fun playing her role and watching me struggle. We'd been at the dining table for over an hour and drinking pretty heavily.

I opened the French doors and led them outside. The Vegas night air was still hot. I pointed out the rose and vegetable gardens my girlfriend had built and Kim commented she seemed to be extraordinarily talented. I told her she had no idea. We wandered around and turned the corner and John spied our four-person hot tub.

“That's a great idea!” he exclaimed, peeling his T-shirt off over his head. “Can we?”

He tossed his shirt over the back of a near-by chair and kicked off his shoes. His upper torso was a rippling wave of muscles and taut, tan skin. I looked at Kim and her eyes were glued to him.

“Sure,” I stammered. “Of course. I have extra trunks and a spare one-piece inside.”

“Go grab them,” John commanded. “Where are the controls?”

I pointed at the box behind the rose bush and looked at Kim again. Her eyes were still boring holes through John. I headed upstairs three at a time.

By the time I got back, John was in the water and Kim sat on the edge dangling her feet in. I tossed John some trunks and handed Kim a one-piece and then laid our towels on a chair. Underwater John slipped off his white boxer briefs and slipped on the trunks. Kim shot a quick glance at the foamy water, trying to see through the suds.

John climbed out and dropped his wet boxers by his shoes and then sank back under the hot water. Kim rolled her eyes.

“Seriously? They'll be soaked when you go to put them back on. Here.”

She stood and John eyes flared wide. I knew he had seen up her skirt. She moved to his briefs and held them over the roses. Twisting in opposite directions, Kim squeezed the excess water onto the plants below but sent a spray in all directions too. She repeated the process several times before draping them over the back of the chair. She stood at the edge of the sunken-tub, the shimmering light illuminating her with a yellow-orange glow. Her white dress shirt was just wet enough to turn slightly transparent and cling to her tits and abs and I had to concentrate to control my face.

She looked insanely sexy. John's burning eyes consumed her but she seemed not to notice.

Kim excused herself to use the restroom and change. She gave us both a shy smile and left.

John looked at me with raw naked lust in his eyes.

“Tell me you saw that,” he said, his voice a hoarse whisper.

I nodded.

“She's the sexiest woman I've ever met. God-Damn!”

I nodded again. I noticed the drink in his hand was low and Kim's empty glass sat by the tub so I grabbed them both and excused myself. Inside I found Kim in our guest bathroom and tapped on the door and then opened it and quickly slipped inside.

"What are you doing?" she asked, panicked. "If he sees you in here with me he'll know!" Her work clothes were in a pile on the floor and her suit was half-way up her body. Her nipples were hard as stone. I stepped up and kissed her, hard, and left the bathroom to refill drinks. I was floating in the tub with John when she reappeared.

Upstairs I'd grabbed the first suits I saw and she now wore the one we purchased in Hawaii two years ago. Incredibly tight and covered with a tropical flower pattern, this thin, specialized material allowed her to tan through it. It adhered to her curves like paint, not only revealing her hard nipples in exquisite detail but even her raised areola. The fabric followed every curve and crease of her labia, offering absolute visual proof her mound was utterly devoid of hair and smooth as a baby's cheek. She may be my wife, but I gawked at her like I was seeing her for the first time.

She seemed oblivious to our ravenous stares as she descended the steps into the tub. The rising hot water sent goose bumps across her skin, tightening her nipples into diamonds. Her fit body flexed and tensed as her muscles took her shifting weight until she sank the last two feet and came to rest on the seat across from us both. I realized I'd been holding my breath and silently exhaled. I handed her a new drink. She smiled.

Conversation was halting and jerky for a few minutes but eventually we all relaxed. Alcohol worked its magic. Soon we were laughing and sharing stories. Kim had some of the best, regaling us with the many characters that frequented Joe's Place. I learned a lot about her time there.

Eventually the tub grew too warm and John lifted himself to the edge. He aimed his open legs directly at my wife. I joined him on the edge too. The hot Vegas air now felt cool against our skin. Kim rose from the water too, leaning her butt against the tile edge. Wet, her suit hugged every curve of her sexy body. It clung to her breasts including underneath. The perfect tear-drop shape was plainly revealed in glorious detail. The symmetrical bumps of her abs were obvious and her smooth labia were on full display, hidden behind only the thinnest of nylon. My penis swelled a bit just to look at her.

John's did too. He was wearing my trunks and he was a much bigger man than me in every way. His thighs filled my leg but the waist was loose. He adjusts them a few times and when he sat again a coiled python traced its way down his inner thigh. By the bulge it was apparent the head of his dick was fractions of an inch from the bottom of my trunks, threatening to rear its head in open air. I know Kim saw it. We all took a gulp from our drink.

Awkward silence drifted down on us. John and I repeatedly sent our eyes crawling every delicious inch of my wife. Kim kept her shy eyes down, stealing occasional furtive glances at John's bulge. She seemed to love our attention though. She watched the churning foam for long minutes until her eyes slowly rose. Starting at John's ankles, her gaze continued upward until she came to rest on his barely contained beast. Her lips parted slightly as she began breathing through her mouth. Anxiety began to rise in me.

John knew she was looking directly at his cock. John loved she was looking directly at his cock. John enjoyed it so much, John began to harden. His coils began to straighten. I had no idea what to do, how to stop this. Seconds later, the pink tip of John's cock exited the leg of my shorts. As the shaft behind it filled the head extended farther into open air. Kim stared right at it. Her mouth hung half open; her breasts rose and fell with her growing excitement.

"Maybe we should move inside for a movie?" I suggested. I may as well have not been there. They both ignored me completely.

John opened his legs wider and his cock pushed farther out. Even I had to admit it was a beauty, and I don't like men. He lifted his butt and adjusted the tight shorts, pulling them back and up, and fully half his throbbing cock came into view. Kim exhaled audibly and bit her bottom lip. She squeezed her legs shut.

John stood on the underwater bench, the water only up to his knees.

"These hurt," he said.

He hooked his thumbs in the waist band and pulled my trunks down and underwater, stepping out of them. His swollen manhood rose higher, freed now from the confines of those restrictive shorts. His large ball sack hung down several inches and his fat shaft arched down and away from his hips.

At long last, Kimberly looked at me. Desire filled her eyes and I suddenly realized her predicament. Her want was obvious to us both. If I wasn't her husband, we all knew exactly what she'd do. Since I wasn't her husband, why should she care what I think?

John sat back down and boldly wrapped his fingers around his cock at the base. He squeezed and pulled his fist towards the head. He stopped just behind the crown and seconds later a large clear drop of pre-cum form at the slit. Kim whimpered. He aimed it right at her.

It grew until it dangled; a drop of pure milk. The essence of John. His seed, his DNA. It seemed to hum a Siren's call to my wife. I stared at it too.

Kim mouthed, I'm so sorry, and sank into the water up to her chin. She drifted across the tub to John without another glance at me and her head rose up between his legs. They silently locked eyes for a heartbeat or two and then I saw my wife cave. With a hand on each of his thighs, Kim lowered her mouth to his engorged phallus. His cock head parted her red lips as they curled around and engulfed him. A deep satisfied groaned rumbled in her throat. He was too big for her to take much but that didn't stop her from trying to take it all. Her mouth stretched into a taut oval and her cheeks dented. I knew her tongue was swabbing every inch of him she'd stuffed into her mouth.

John leaned back on one hand and gently placed the other on my wife's head. Kim wrapped both hands around the shaft and began pumping and I was dismayed to see he still had plenty of exposed dick. He moved his hips to the edge so his large balls swung free and Kim took that as a request and dropped her tongue to bathe them in saliva. Maybe a minute had passed but it seemed like years. I'd been frozen with shock but felt myself coming out of my trance, but what to do? Jealousy mixed with anger and hurt. My mind raced as I struggled to think of what to say. I watched Kim force his cock as far into her mouth as possible. I heard John's long moan. I felt my penis twitch.

Kim's head started to bob as both her hands pumped his shaft and I felt blood flowing to my dick. I was stunned. Her wedding ring, the same one I'd slid onto that finger not so long ago, rode up and down along his meaty spear. My wife was sucking another man's cock.

A second later my penis pressed painfully against my trunks. I ignored it as millions of responses tumbled through my confused brain, but my discomfort grew. I was twisted in the fabric of my suit. With an exasperated grunt I stood and pulled my shorts down. My penis waved in the air as I sat back down.

John noticed and gave me a thumbs-up behind my wife's back. "I'm glad you decided to join the party but don't touch her. Tonight she's all mine. Cool?"

I jerked my head a quick nod and scowled at them. Kim sucked hard on the tip and rolled his big testicles around inside their pouch. Her tongue snaked out and slowly licked up the shaft from base to head. She did it again, this time tracing a winding vein with the tip of her tongue.

I reached for my penis and began stroking. My head and my heart were a confused hurricane of painful emotions but watching her made me hard. It excited me. It made me want to cum. Through watery eyes Kim gazed at me jerking as she sucked. Her eyes lit up. She sucked harder, stroking John faster, taking more of his massive penis on each trip. John inhaled and held his breath.

"I've wanted you from the moment I saw you," he murmured, petting her hair. "You are so beautiful, so sexy. Do you know I've actually dreamed of this moment? It's true. I've dreamed of touching you, kissing you, having you."

Kim's right hand disappeared underwater. She moaned as she sucked and licked. My wife was masturbating, in front of me, as she sucked another man's cock.

I'm embarrassed to say I came first. I shot way before I was ready. One moment I'm stroking myself and watching my wife and the next my hips jerk and a spurt of semen shoots out and splashes down.

Kim saw me climax and that was the last straw for her. She forced him so deep she gagged and her arm churned the water. John heard her orgasm and held her head steady with both hands, fucking her mouth. He growled and then growled again louder and then he exploded, his balls rising with each burst, Kim swallowing fast as she sucked his hot sperm out of him.

I could not believe what I was seeing. John came a long, long time and my wife sucked and swallowed every drop. Nothing leaked out or got away from her. She choked right at first but quickly recovered and her throat and hand moved rhythmically as she drained him. I've heard each man has his own taste and John must have tasted good. At the end Kim was squeezing him at the base and milking the last few drops onto her tongue.

Silence settled on us once more. John was wiped out. Kim had rocked his world and left him ruined. I was a mess inside, my mind racing a million miles an hour. Kim slowly came back to herself and as she did, I saw reality begin to reassert itself. Understanding crashed through the roof of her intoxicated brain and she began to crumble right before my eyes. I had to do something quick.

"I need a shower," I said. John raised his head off the deck and agreed. I told him to go first. He kissed Kim on top of the head and gathered his things and then headed indoors. I watched him through a window until the bathroom door closed behind him.

I spun on her. "What the fuck!" I hissed, straining to keep my voice under control. Kim's lips trembled. She looked about to cry.

"I'm so sorry, Honey!" She buried her face in her hands.

"What happened? Why did you do that?"

Her tear-streaked face came up. "I don't know! I got carried away. I drank way too much and then this fucking bathing suit made me feel so sexy and the way you guys were looking at me got me so turned on. I lost my head. I didn't know what to do when he got hard in front of me. What the hell does a girl do in that position? I don't know. He's so hot I figured he was used to getting a blow job at that point. When you dropped your shorts I thought you were in on it with me. I'm sorry!"

"God damn it! You cheated on me!"

Her face twisted in agony. "NO! No I didn't, Baby! You were right here too. You watched the whole thing. You got hard. You even came for Christ's sake! That's not cheating. I don't know what it is but it's not cheating. You take that back!"

I chewed my tongue. I was angry and hurt but also confused. I had gotten hard. I had climaxed. She had a point. On top of that, no job is worth allowing your wife to blow another man. If I'd really wanted to stop it, I could have by revealing the truth. My anger diminished and I felt bad for saying she'd cheated.

"I'm sorry, Kim. You're right. I shouldn't have said that. I can't put all the blame on you. I'm just upset. I could have stopped it too."

I glanced into the house and the door was still closed. I wrapped my arms around her and she hugged me back.

“This is crazy,” I whispered.

“Insane,” she agreed. “Never in a million years would I ever imagine myself capable of doing... that... to another man, and especially not right in front of you.”

She wiped the tears off her cheeks and splashed some water on her face.

“So you think he's hot?” I asked. She got shy.

“Maybe.”

“A little late for coy. Tell me.”

“Are you sure you want to know what I think? A second ago you were crazy jealous.”

“Yes, I do. I think part of why I'm so freaked out is because I didn't see this coming. It was such a leap forward it scared me that there's been things going on you haven't told me about. Tell me the truth about you and him. He said he's been stopping at Joe's almost every night to see you.”

She looked guilty. “I'm sorry, you're right. Yes, he has. Honey, he's so incredibly good looking. All the waitresses at work say so. They throw themselves at him and two of them are married. I couldn't believe it when he started flirting with me and only me. He can have any girl he wants. He's rich and brilliant too. I started flirting back. I changed my make-up and the way I dressed and he noticed right away. I have his attention and I love it. I like teasing him. When I'm around him I feel so sexy, and I love that he has eyes only for me. Some of the other girls are really pretty.”

My sweet Kimmie. As I gazed at her gorgeous face my anger evaporated. I know the insecurities that drive her. In a way I should have seen this coming.

I kissed the top of her head and then remembered that was the same place John had kissed her minutes earlier. She floated back from me to sit on the step. The water was several inches below her perfect tits and the wet cloth clung to them like cellophane. She looked amazing. Her lips were slightly swollen from her recent oral sex and had a full and pouty look to them. She still looked guilty.

Images flashed through my mind; various snapshots of John's hard cock fucking her mouth. I felt revulsion and arousal each time.

John came out and we all took separate turns washing the chlorine off. Kim went last and when she finally exited the bathroom, she let us know that she had decided to call it a night. She asked if I would drive her back to her car. John looked disappointed but heard the finality in her voice and didn't push it.

Less than an hour later Kim and I were slipping into bed. She seemed tense and a little distant and I knew she was still ashamed and remorseful. I spooned her and discovered her whole body was hot. On a hunch I slipped a gentle finger between her legs and found her soaked. She softly moaned and nudged her hips back at me. I pushed my finger deep. Her arm came up behind my head and she pulled my lips to hers. I rolled her over and quickly kissed my way down her body and buried my tongue in her hole. She wasn't just soaked, she was dripping, she was gushing. I ate her for only a few minutes before she arched her back and came hard on my tongue. Really hard.

I snuggled up to her again. Neither of us spoke for a long time. When her gentle rhythmic breathing told me she was asleep, I joined her. My last thought before sleep took me was this; marriages fail more for the things couples don't say to each other than the things they do say.

The next day after she left to work at the bar jealousy burrowed icy fingers into my heart and refused to let go. I actually paced the house wondering what was happening with her and John. I reminded myself it was a very public place but that only helped a little. I tried watching basketball, I tried working in the yard, and I tried cleaning out the garage. All I could think of was Kim and Hot John within arm's reach of each other. Rich and brilliant? Fuck this guy.

When Kim got home I asked how her night was and then quickly and awkwardly worked into the conversation a question if John had come by.

He hadn't.

She looked at me with a mix of sympathy, curiosity, and surprise. The next two nights were more of the same and on the fourth night I just asked her to text me if he showed up. We argued a little about it because cell phones are not allowed at work but she ultimately said she'd find a way to slip me a message. I had to promise I wouldn't drive down there and make a scene, which I had no intention of doing anyway. I just needed to know when he was around her.

Three hours later my phone buzzed. He was there. I debated what to do. I even considered a disguise. Ultimately I did nothing. I stayed home and drank too many beers and fell asleep watching television. Kim took me to bed when she got home.

At last she got two days off and we made the most of them; we hiked, went out for dinner, saw a movie, and, of course made a lot of love. By the time Sunday afternoon rolled around I felt close to her again. The Vegas sun beat down on us as we lay in our lounge chairs soaking it in. Our backyard is high-walled and we always lay out naked and as I took a sip from my iced-tea, I passed my eyes up and down my wife's spectacular body. I smiled and settled back. I'm a lucky man.

Too soon I reminded her that we needed to clean up so she could get to work. She sighed. We were making great progress against our debt and in just a few months we'd cut back down to just one job. I couldn't wait. Kim felt the same if not more so.

She had continued to dress sexy for the bar after our hot tub encounter because she liked the extra attention and her tips had increased. She never wore a bra anymore and one night a few days ago she had even gone with a lighter weight shirt. If her arms pulled it tightly across her chest a dark hint of nipple became obvious. She assured me John was acting the perfect gentleman.

She'd been gone six hours when I walked into the master bathroom and spotted her cell phone on the vanity, mixed in with all the other clutter. I want her to keep it with her always so I showered quickly and grabbed my laptop. I hadn't been to the bar for a long time and this seemed the perfect reason to visit. Joe's Place opens the same time every day but closing varies depending on business. This was Sunday, which is always pretty slow, and I wouldn't know when she was headed home if she didn't have her cell to tell me.

I entered and took my usual seat at the end of the bar and sure enough, the place was almost empty. I opened my laptop and set her phone beside it. I knew when she brought me my first drink she'd see it and casually take it back, and that's exactly what happened.

John entered about thirty minutes later. He saw me and came over to chat and check out my laptop. We both watched Kim walk by several times and ogled the shit out of her, which she loved. When she saw John her face lit up and a pang of jealousy punched me in the gut but I got it under control. Seeing him and her together again took me back to that night and once again images of my wife loving him orally flipped through my imagination. She had swallowed every drop he gave her. I'd seen him cum, I knew how much she drank.

John and I chat a bit more and he takes his own table. I pretended to ignore them as Kim took his drink order but actually I watched like a hawk. They had a familiarity now, a shared intimacy. Her confidence with him was high as she laughed at his jokes and looked him in the eyes. Her body language was one long continuous flirt. Without realizing it, she often turned and posed, accented ass, flashed cleavage, or jutted breasts exposing nipples. Someone else watching would guess they'd known each other a long time but I knew the real source of their affection.

Time ticked by. Joe's was almost empty so Kim had lots of extra time to spend with customers and she spent the lion's share on John. She stopped by once or twice to refill my drink and exchange a few words about groceries and her car needing gas. Finally she rang up the last customer and it was just John and I. Now that pretenses could be dropped, Kim leaned on John's table and gave him her full and undivided attention. She stood too close. She touched his hand to make a point. They gazed into each other's eyes. They smiled frequently. I wasn't her husband and she was playing the part.

She excused herself to lock the front door and turn off the sign. She stopped by to check on me before heading back to John. John pushed his chair back to better look up at her as they talked. She was close enough her knee bumped his. Then again. Then she rested it against his. I heard her make a comment about shaving her legs and John boldly rang a hand down her thigh, telling her nothing but smooth skin as far as I can feel. They both laughed, although Kim's had a slightly nervous undertone.

I closed my laptop and moved to John's table. Both their faces froze a little as they welcomed me. I know Kim was worried I'd have a jealous melt down and ruin everything.

But I didn't.

Instead I opened my laptop and asked Kim to take a look at a funny cat video. When she did, she aimed her ass right at John. I gave him a knowing look and he gave me thumbs up. When my wife bent over to view the screen I saw down the front of her blouse; perfect orbs topped with perfect nipples. John was devouring her from the back. Her mini skirt had risen up the back of her hamstrings, completely exposing her tone legs.

Kim is no idiot. Within seconds she knew what I was doing but played along with the harmless fun. She felt safe with me there in a way John knew nothing about and as long as it was coming from me; she knew she couldn't be blamed later for crossing a line.

The video finished and Kim was laughing.

"They're so cute!"

"Show John," I said.

She turned and sat the computer by John. I saw his eyes dart down her top, just like mine had, and knew he was viewing her bare naked tits. Kim suspected but didn't react. Of course, her ass now faced me and I surveyed it as expected. Kim caught John looking down her top and their eyes locked. She did not stand up and he took a good, long look. She hit play and John glanced at the video a few times but mostly he looked at her beautiful face and incredible tits. The video ended.

"I know it's after hours," I joked. "But can I still get a refill?" I held up my empty tumbler. Kim said of course and took John's glass too. Once she was behind the bar I looked at John.

"Wing-man? I'll show you Wing-man."

He looked confused. I searched for another video.

Kim returned and handed us our drinks. Nobody seemed in a hurry to leave. I queued up another video, a long one, and hit play. After a few minutes of all three of us laughing I suggested Kim sit on John lap so she could watch more comfortably. She hesitated just a second and I know her well enough to see what was running through her brain; what are you up to husband? She sat. John adjusted a little under her and we all turned our attention to the family of kittens chasing the butterfly. Delightful.

It was his chair that gave her away. Almost imperceptibly Kim was grinding her ass against his crotch. I had no doubt he had stiffened there and she felt it through his pants and her short skirt. Then his chair creaked. We all looked at each other.

"You must be getting fat," I said, and we all laughed. Kim punched my shoulder. John slipped an arm around her waist and rested his hand on her hip. She tensed a moment and then relaxed. Two heartbeats later John's hand began a slow climb. He caressed her waist and floated across her ribs. His thumb grazed the underside of her breast. She sucked in air. He did it again. She remained still and he took that as acceptance. He brought his hand higher and cupped the bottom, gently fondling her, feeling the firmness, feeling the heat. I sipped my Jack, noting I felt less jealousy when it unfolded right in front of me.

His hand came around and his palm brushed her nipple through her blouse. My wife gasped and squirmed, her eyes darting from his hand to my face to his hand. He hefted the weight of her full tit.

“Patrick?” she breathed. “Is this, um, okay? I don't want to make you uncomfortable.”

I looked her in the eyes.

“I'm good,” I replied.

John's hand came all the way around to the front and began to undo buttons. Kim rested her fingers lightly on his and looked at me but made no move to stop him. He opened them all down to where her shirt disappeared under her skirt and then reached back up and nudged her top off her right shoulder. He tugged softly on the fabric and there it was; Kim's large and perfect tear-drop breast exposed for all of us to see, and all three of us stared at it. My wife was breathing heavy now.

John's big hand came back to caress her again but this time it was bare skin on bare skin. Kim moaned. John tweaked her nipple and teased her flesh with his light touch. Her nipple hardened into a dark pink pencil eraser and I admitted to myself how gorgeous this erotic moment was. She was under his spell completely. This was a lion stalking his prey. Yes, it was my wife on his lap, but the intense sexuality of the moment over-shadowed that for now. Kim covered his hand with hers and moaned again. Her eyelids fluttered. Her cheeks held a pink flush.

She seemed to snap out of a trance and looked at me again.

“Patrick?” she asked again, this time with a voice straining with tension. Before I could answer John did.

“Don't worry about Patrick,” he soothed. “Patrick's a big boy. If Patrick gets uncomfortable, Patrick doesn't have to watch. Is that right Patrick?”

I cleared my throat. “Yes, that's right.” I looked Kim in the eyes. “And don't worry; I promise not to tell. Your secret's safe with me. I would never do something that would get you fired.”

Kim rolled her head back and let it fall on John's shoulder. I knew my answer was vague but what could I say and maintain our charade? John tugged her shirt back and off her shoulders, exposing both breasts. His other hand came up and captured her left tit. He eased more of her weight back against his chest and kneaded them both. She looked spectacular.

For a while, John explored her upper body with his hands. Then he told her to stand and face him. She did, holding herself up on shaky legs. From behind I surprised her by holding her sleeve and pulling her arms free of her white shirt. It hung from her waist where it was tucked in along the back. She was nude from the skirt up and breathing hard. She reached up and pulled her fingers through her long brown hair. John just drank her in.

“Turn around,” he said at last. “Slowly.”

Kim complied, dying of shame to be placed on display like this but loving it at the same time. When her eyes came around to me they held a thousand questions but I just smiled. I definitely felt the Jack Daniels coursing through my veins but there was more than that. An extra giddiness, almost a kind of recklessness left me feeling horny and carefree.

While Kim was facing me, John unzipped and pulled out his enormous erection. I'd forgotten how big he is. She continued turning and as it came into her view she moaned.

“Patrick,” she whined. “Tell me what's okay and what isn't.”

John looked at me, unsure why Kim would care so much about my opinion.

“Kiss him,” I instructed. My wife froze. I couldn't believe those words had come out of my mouth either. If you think watching your wife suck another man's cock would be difficult, try watching her kiss him.

Kim leaned slowly forward at the waist. Her hands went to the arms of his chair. Her heavy tits swayed forward and then her lips touched his and the dam burst for both of them. I had worried all those night about what was happening between them but what I saw in that kiss told me everything; these two people were dying to touch each other. Nothing had happened. Desire had grown night after night until both were ready to explode. My wife had been utterly faithful, ignoring her own powerful wants and needs.

She held his face in her hands as he held hers and they kissed with passionate abandon. I'd watched her devour his cock but that was nothing compared to this. That had been driving sexual desire. This was a forest fire. This was a fervent adoration, a romantic hurricane. This was two people insanely attracted to each other yet long imprisoned, now set free with no idea how long their freedom would last. Their mutual hunger was terrifying and gorgeous. Pure intimacy radiated from them. Pure longing filled the air around them and made my eyes ache. Her white shirt fell to the floor behind her.

I rose from my chair and stepped close to my wife. I slid my hands up her short skirt and hooked her panties and then smoothly pulled them down. She lifted a high-heel but I know she had no idea she'd done so; just an automatic response. With my hands softly on her hips, I walked her forward, my palms sweating and my legs trembling. Their mouth continued to consume, tongues twisting and lips sealed tight. Just two small steps is all she needed to straddle him, her unprotected pussy directly above his massive spear.

I pressed her hips down. Her arms snaked around his neck as her tits mashed against his shirt, her sensitive nipples dragging along the fabric as she descended. I dropped to my knees. Her mini skirt had ridden up her thighs and now gathered around her waist. From below now I looked up at her small hairless slit. Her inner lips were engorged and much darker than usual, protruding slightly. I placed a hand on each butt cheek and a thumb on each labium and spread her open. She was drenched. Her wet lips clung to each other as I pried them apart. I lined her opening up with the huge head atop his cock. A white drop of milk already sat perched and the sight caught my breath.

For an instant what I was doing became intensely real and I intensely aware of the possible consequences.

Above me, Kim felt my hands and enough awareness finally returned that she understood what was happening. She broke her kiss and gasped for air.

“Patrick!”

“I'm here, Kim”

“Are you drunk? Do you know what you're doing?”

The drop of cum swelled.

“We all want this, Kimmie.”

I heard a conflicted moan rise from her throat. No way could she stop this. She wanted it too badly. She was counting on me.

“Fuuuuuuck...” Her voice trailed away. I began pulling her hips down again. Her bright pink insides were perfectly aligned. I spread her lips and wrapped them around his plump crown. I sealed the head of his cock inside the folds of her labia, watching as that swirling milky dewdrop moved passed her entrance and disappeared inside her. John felt the heat of her hot embrace as she enveloped him and he moaned too. With his shaft standing straight up I saw the obvious size difference between these two. There was no way his enormous penis would fit inside my petite wife.

Kim rocked her hips and I saw her labia bulging.

I stood behind her and placed my hands on her shoulders. She looked straight up and into my eyes.

"I shouldn't," she whimpered. "We mustn't. It's wrong. I should stop now, before I go too far."

I gently pressed down.

"Oh my god!" she growled. I pressed harder. "Oh my GOD!"

Involuntarily, her hips began to rotate. She planted her high-heels closer to his chair and put her hands on his chest. They locked eyes again and I pressed harder.

"UUUuuunhhhh! Fuck! No, no, no, you're too big. I can't take it." e brought his hands to both tits and pinched her nipples. She squealed.

"Try again," he rumbled. "Rest your weight on me. Trust me, it will fit. A baby can come out of there and I'm big but I'm not that big. I need to be inside you."

"Okay, okay," Kim panted. "I want you inside me too, John."

Her use of his name crushed me.

Kim relaxed the muscles in her thighs. I added more pressure too and the head moved inside like he was pushing into honey. I thought about that dangerous drop of semen working its way deeper into my wife. I was sure by now he had added several more. I chuckled a hollow, fatalistic laugh. I was feeling utterly reckless.

I knelt again. I perversely wanted to witness my wife's penetration. John's penis was laced with veins and hard as steel. The shaft was clearly thicker than Kim's pussy could accept and forcing it in was drawing in all surrounding skin as well. He wasn't as big as my fist and forearm, but he was close. Rivulets of Kim's arousal ran down his tower of flesh and dripped from his balls. She flexed her legs and lifted an inch and then settled down on him again and another wide inch disappeared.

My wife moaned in seeming agony.

"Fuuuuck, you're SO big, John. I've wanted to fuck you from the moment I saw you and now here is my chance and I can't get you inside me.

It's maddening!”

“Take your time, Baby. We have all night. I've wanted you too and now that I have you I won't let you go.”

Kim grabbed his face and passionately kissed him again. I reached up and put my hands on her hips and pulled her down and she broke the kiss to gasp. Watching his huge cock spread her and force her open was hauntingly erotic. I was mesmerized. Jealousy hovered just outside my excitement, threatening to punch through and freak me out, so I ignored it and kept my attention on the pure sexual intensity of what was happening right before my eyes. Kim rotated her hips again and slowly swallowed another inch.

“OOOOOOOhhhhhhhh, John, you feel so perfect and amazing. I had no idea you would feel this good. If I'd known I'd have fuck you immediately. Christ! Your cock is like an iron bar!”

John brought his hands down from her tits to her hips and absentmindedly covered mine. Together we pushed my wife farther down on him. His touch made me feel awkward and invisible, like a child at a party for adults.

Kim's labia were gone. All the flesh around her pussy was pushed up inside her; an upside-down funnel of skin. His cock was the center pole of a circus tent. Kim lifted again and I saw her inner and outer lips stretched into a tight seal around his shaft. Every vein and artery stood out on him, ridged and pulsing. The inch of his cock she had exposed was covered with her welcoming wetness. I'd fucked her a thousand times and never seen her get this wet.

John and I simultaneously pulled her back down and she traveled another new inch. She hunched her shoulders and expelled all the air from her lungs. I pictured his large head inside her, opening her up, pushing ever deeper. It occurred to me he may already be deeper than I'd ever gone. I looked up at Kim's face to see if her expression was any different and caught her just as the new threshold was crossed. Her forehead wrinkled and her eyebrows rose. Confusion washed over her. She seized her own tits and squeezed, then rolled her nipples between thumb and forefinger. She took several quick breaths.

“OoooOOooooohhhh Myyyy Godddddd!” Her high-pitched wail sounded on the verge of tears. “What's happening? What's happening?”

Several rivulets of pussy juice ran down John and then a burst of liquid streamed under the seal at many points. With the added lubrication Kim sank another two inches. Of course, John was much wider at the base than at the tip and Kim had expanded considerably, straining and elongated, with several inches still to go.

“Baby!” she cried, forgetting our ruse. “Oh fuck! Oh FUCK!” her voice was climbing to a howl. She grabbed his shoulders and arched her back and sank down to his balls, her pussy now stuffed with hard cock. “OOOOOHH FUUUUCCCKKKK!” She screamed, grinding her hips and twisting her spine. He distorted her insides in every direction. Impaled, she growled like an animal. “AAAAAAAAAAAA! Baby! Baby I’m CUMMMMMMMING! AAAAAAAAAAAAA!”

My wife's body was pierced by a thousand arrows. Venom flowed through her veins, contorting her into a gorgeous writhing snake. Convulsions wracked her from her curled toes up to her eyes squeezed shut as she clung to John.

My heart stopped beating. Perched atop another man, my wife was experiencing not just the most powerful orgasm of her life but the first one ever from a man inside her. It was beautiful and I can't deny it. But I realized I only make her climax with her body. John gave her that but also with her heart and soul, and there was no comparison. Her orgasm with him was an emotional event, and it continued still; her rounded hips and bubble butt bouncing slightly, his meaty spear buried in her guts, pressed against her womb. Her words were gibberish; simple animal grunts and groans, her brain electrified and overwhelmed. Finally, she began to descend from her plateau. Only his testicles remained outside her body. Hot pussy juice dripped from below.

Kim began to weep. She wrapped her arms around his neck as she kissed him from the bottom of her heart, gasping between kisses. Their tongue wrestled and her body slowly and sensuously moved like a dancer, exploring the sensation of being completely filled.

I noticed my erection for the first time.

Kim rode him for long, pleasure filled minutes. I stepped back to my chair and dropped into it. Her leg muscles flexed as she pushed and pulled herself up and down his cock. Her grip on him was intense. I would have lasted ten seconds. Kim stopped and leaned back to see his face.

“There's a couch in the office,” she murmured. John smiled.

He lifted her as if she weighed nothing and her strong legs snaked around his waist. She looked at a door across the room and John carried her to it. I scurried along after them. Inside a big desk and chair filled half the room while a couch and two bookcases filled the other half. John pulled her off his cock and set her on her feet. He undressed as she stepped out of her skirt but left on her high-heels.

My wife turned her back on him and leaned over the arm of the couch, aiming her slit at his cock. Nude and standing, his erection looked like a cannon. He moved behind her and took an ass cheek in each hand. He spread my wife open until she gaped. He dipped his hips to line up the head and I saw him slowly bury his cock inside her, pushing and adjusting until once again only his enormous balls remained. My wife groaned louder with each inch.

He let go her ass cheeks and tangled one hand in her hair and the other resting on the small of her back. He withdrew his cock, pulling a cone of pussy back with it, and then flexed his ass and smoothly pushed it back in. My wife was absolutely drenched. Slow and steady and in complete control, John smoothly fucked my wife.

She reached a hand back to feel his bumpy abs and turned to look at them, a broad smile splitting her face, a smile that faded when she saw me sitting behind him. Her happy expression turned to guilt.

There was indeed a conversation in our future about this night's events, but we weren't going to have it now. To reassure her I dropped my zipper and freed my erection. Kim's gaze landed on it and she shut her eyes. By her expression I knew she was contemplating something weighty.

"Fuck me, John," she said. She opened her eyes and spoke to him but looked directly at me. "Fuck me with your giant cock. Fuck me and make me cum again."

John's hips moved a little faster but he was in no hurry. He'd wanted Kim for months and now he was having her and no way he was going to rush that. He pulled her hair back and straightened her head. She groaned. He licked his fingers and gave my wife a stinging slap on the ass. She yelped. He fucked her faster. I was amazed she could take him. If she'd been any less excited she couldn't but my wife wanted him so badly her pussy was sopping.

He stood her up and moved to the front of the couch. She sat and he knelt and she spread her legs for him. He walked forward on his knees, that monstrous member getting a little closer every second until he rubbed the head up and down her slit and eased it back in. Kim's jaw fell open.

He lifted her legs over his shoulders. Kim was totally vulnerable and helpless in this position. He held her hips and leaned his weight forward and his cock began that slow push into honey again as Kim's cry of pleasure grew louder. Her eyes opened wide and her fists gripped the edge of the couch with white knuckles. This intimate position allowed John to penetrate her fully on every thrust and he did. Her tight pussy was driving him crazy and I wondered what being inside her must feel like for him. Kim is tight on me. She must be crushing him like a fist.

He leaned farther over her and they kissed, soft and tender. He rested his knees on the edge of the couch and bent her legs farther back, spreading her little pussy wide open as he filled her with his cock. I noticed her lower abs rose on each thrust, swollen and bloated as he made her take every inch he had. Her tiny puckered asshole clenched and contracted. Inside, she was squeezing him.

They kissed again and it seemed different than the others; intimacy had grown between them. A connection had formed and was rapidly strengthening. John began feeding her his cock faster and harder. Her toes curled.

"Ahhhh....mmmmm.....AAHHHH...." Kim whimpered. My wife's response to John was something I never expected. She had levels of sexuality I never dreamed of. John moved faster still.

"UUUuunnnhhhh, fuck me I love it. Do you love it too, Patrick? I know you do, I see how hard you get. I love getting fucked by this big stud."

John did not seem to catch what Kim was saying. His eyes were glued to the place where their bodies merged. Kim's big tits bounced around on every powerful thrust.

"Don't be mad, Baby," Kim implored. "Don't hate me."

I didn't respond. She brought her hands up and held John's face.

"Don't pull out," she demanded. "I want it all. Take everything from me. I want you to have it. I'm giving you myself."

John's hips were pounding now, filling the room with slapping flesh.

"Oh. OH! Oh, fuck, I don't believe it! Don't stop, John. Oh, God, please don't stop. OH My God! OH MY FUCKING GOD I'M GOING TO CUM AGAIN! OOOOOOOOAAAAAHHHHH! FUCK! Here it is! Here it is! HERE IT IS! AAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!"

I reached for my penis and started stroking. I couldn't take any more. My wife getting fucked was the hottest and sexiest thing I'd ever seen and I jerked my penis hard and fast. Her orgasm slammed into her and John just hammered her harder. She tossed her head side to side and screamed. She dug her nails into the couch hard enough to puncture the faux leather fabric. She tried to pump her hips up to meet John's downward thrusts but he kept her pinned and drove into her with powerful lunging stabs. Her back arched painfully, pushing her nipples within reach and John sucked one into his mouth and swirled it. Kim lost her mind. He bore down on her even harder and pulled in a barrel full of air, filling each lung to bursting.

"Here. It. Comes." growled John, his hips now a blur. Kim was still riding her climax, constant moans and groans pouring from her throat. John must have swelled inside because Kim's eyes flew open and her hands went to his shoulders.

"Every drop! Oh fuck yes! Take it! Take me you gorgeous bastard! Take it!"

John's head snapped back. His hips thrust deep once, twice, three times and then he howled like a wolf and pressed his cock head far into my wife's womb and turned loose a massive blast of white-hot sperm. He pumped twice fast and seeded her again with another thick gout of semen. His howl rose to a bellow as he opened the flood gates. His cock engorged even bigger as he pumped and sprayed and pumped and sprayed and all I could think about was that night I saw him on our guest bed. I knew exactly how many babies he was pouring into my wife. Kim's eyes were as big as baseballs and her face a mask of shock and surprise.

"OH MY GOD!" she yelled. "Don't stop! I'm cumming again! OH MY GOD! Pleeceeease! AAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!"

My load shot up and out, coating my knuckles in a slippery, slimy mess. I continued to jerk a long time.

John fucked Kim through her orgasm until I thought he'd kill her. She was a lunatic. He released her legs and she quickly wrapped them around his waist and pulled him deep as they both kept cumming. My wife burst into tears again and John laughed like a maniac until he saw it, then he leaned over and kissed her face over and over and over until she started giggling through her tears.

They collapsed on the couch. I was trembling all over and staring at the rug. My erection wouldn't go down. I was in shock.

The sound of kissing brought me back. The lovers were a tangle of arms and legs. John was still balls deep inside her. They slid up to lay length-wise on the couch and continued kissing and touching each other's face and hair. I saw it and knew it should upset me but it didn't. I was numb. Their kisses turned sexy and through their cheeks I saw tongues exploring each other's mouth. John leaned back a little and kneaded a breast.

Kim turned her sweet face to me.

"Patrick," she began, unsure of my reaction. "I'm not ready for this night to end. Can we use your place again?"

I nodded slowly.

"We'll take my car, all together. I can pull into the garage. I don't want neighbors to talk."

"You're the best, man." John said.

"You really are," Kim added, her eyes sparkling.

John raised himself to his knees and withdrew his long snake from the clinging folds of Kim's pussy. I expected a flood of semen to follow him but nothing did. Kim spun her legs off the couch and placed her feet on the floor. John's mostly deflated cock was a foot from her face and she leaned over and kissed the slick and slimy head.

We all dressed in silence. I kept stealing glances as Kim pulled clothes on and everything I saw turned me on. I still had my erection. My wife had a hand-print on her firm ass and her nipples were pink and puffy. Her bald cunt lips were swollen. Best of all, I knew she carried hundreds of millions of John's sperm inside her and although the knowledge made me a little sick to my stomach, it also kept my heart racing and my penis hard. I know Kim saw it and she flashed me a quizzical look but we couldn't talk with John still around.

Kim closed the bar and an hour later our garage door lowered behind us and I killed the engine. We entered the house through the kitchen but that's as far as we got. John came up behind Kim and nuzzled her neck. Her arms went up around his head. His hands pulled her skirt up over her round ass and down went her panties. He fumbled with his zipper several seconds and freed his rampant cock and then dipped his hips and my wife exhaled a long and meaningful moan as he slowly sank into her, lubricated, no doubt, by all that cum he'd deposited earlier there. He rapidly unbuttoned her blouse and forced her against the kitchen counter, fucking her before she was balanced. Her big tits bounced each time he pounded her and her eyes slowly came around until they found mine.

Amazing what the eyes reveal. I saw a sexual need in my wife I'd never seen before. I saw guilt and a hope for forgiveness. I saw humility as she accepted this newly discovered sexual truth about herself. We'd known she loved sex but we'd underestimated how much. John was showing us how much.

John was in a hurry. He bent her head down onto the counter but her eyes stayed with me. He pounded her roughly, with urgency. After wanting her all those months he now had permission to take her whenever he wanted and he was a sexual beast. He didn't care if she came. This time he only wanted his own and surprisingly Kim loved that. Her dreamy eyes were smiling when John announced his imminent orgasm.

"Fuck yes!" My wife suddenly cried, pushing her hips back to take it. "Fucking fill me up, John."

He pounded her hard, holding her hips in place with a vise-like grip, grimacing as his balls churned a huge batch of semen and sent it rocketing up his shaft. His first few blasts got injected far up inside her, adding to the enormous load already there. On his next few he withdrew too far and the head of his cock came free into the open air, sliding up her ass crack like a ski-jumper. One, two, three thick ropes of hot pearly jizz landed on the back of Kim's blouse and skirt. Kim cried out when John's cock left her. Panicked, she reached down between her legs searching for it. As John aimed it home Kim found it and wrapped fingers around it tightly, guiding him back between her welcoming folds. John continued pounding and cumming, filling my wife with his seed. Seconds later I learned why Kim had been so eager to have him back as a powerful orgasm shook her and set her strong thighs trembling. John kept her pinned to the marble counter-top until he had squeezed his last few drops into her, then he withdrew and casually walked to the bathroom. My wife remained bent over at the waist, trying to catch her breath.

I was hard again. I'd never, ever treated my wife so callously, so sexually selfishly, so I was surprised to see she actually liked it.

I dropped my zipper and stepped up to her over-flowing pussy. No foreplay, no affection, no respect; I held her hips where he had and drove my penis into the pussy he had just vacated. I pounded her like he did, or I tried to; she was stretched and dripping. I sank my dick in but made contact with nothing except a sea of sperm. I encountered almost no friction at all. I pumped my penis back and forth, stirring his seed, basting myself in his batter. I worried I'd lose my erection before I could cum but then the thought occurred to me that I was without a doubt pushing more and more of his semen deeper into my wife. The head of my penis was a plunger, collect and driving his seed before me, pushing it directly into her fertile womb. I can't tell you why, but that thought triggered me; I felt my cum boil up.

On impulse I pulled out and finished with my hand. As my first blast flew, I aimed it down at the floor to mix with the hundred droplets of his leaking jizz already there. Kim didn't budge, reveling in her purely submissive role as a plaything for horny men. I shot the last spurt, zipped up and leaned back against the far kitchen counter, and that's how John found us when he returned from the bathroom less than a minute later.

"Patrick," he boomed, clapping me on the back. "I have a huge favor to ask and I hope you'll grant it. It's your house, so I'll understand if you say no and I mean that, but can Kim and I have the master bedroom tonight? Would you mind taking a guest bed?"

I was stunned. I looked at Kim. She lifted her head, holding her breath with anticipation of my answer. Her eyes glittered with excited expectancy and glee. I struggled to think of a reason why they shouldn't but discovered none. I sighed.

"Sure, John," I relented. "You guys enjoy yourselves. Give me a minute to put on fresh sheets."

Kim stood up and John stepped between her arms. They were kissing as I left the kitchen. In the bedroom I raced through and hid everything specifically linking me and Kim. There wasn't much. Evidence of a woman was everywhere but aside from a few pictures and bills her name was absent. I finished making the bed and considered what I had just done; I had prepared a clean place for another man to spend the night fucking my woman. I was humiliated but it didn't make me angry. I wasn't sure what I felt.

Back in the kitchen they were still kissing but Kim's clothing lay in a pile around her ankles. She looked so small and vulnerable next to his big body. John was still dressed. He shook my hand and thanked me again and led Kim to the bedroom. She stopped and rose up on her toes; her nude body pressed to mine briefly, and kissed me thankfully on the cheek.

“You're amazing,” she breathed. I smiled weakly.

John took her hand and led her into the room. He closed the door behind her.

I waited a minute or two, which was all I could stand, and then moved to the door, pressing my ear against it. I could not hear individual words but the tone sounded happy and light. I heard Kim's magical laugh, the laugh she uses when surprised and filled with joy. Everything went quiet for a while and I was about to leave when Kim's voice rang clear. They must have moved closer to the door and I remembered my reading chair near it. No doubt John sat in my place, my wife on her knees between his thighs.

“Jesus, John,” she purred. “It's so big. It's so heavy. What's it like walking around all day with this stuffed in your pants? It must be uncomfortable.”

“Actually it feels great,” he replied. “I get rubbed all day every day. I love my big dick. It's changed my life. Best of all, having this cock led me to this moment with you. If I was small or even average, I wouldn't be here right now, would I? I may be handsome and wealthy but without this cock, I'm still at the bar watching the game.”

Kim chuckled. “I hate to confess that this was the big fat straw that broke the camel's back, but it's true. I'm such a slut! I didn't even know it but I am.”

Things went silent for a while and then I heard slurping and John groan. I couldn't take it and went upstairs to the office. To my absolute shock, I was able to get some work done. My legendary powers of concentration kicked in and I produced pages of great code. Time flew. Always in the back of my mind was the reality of what was happening downstairs, but for reasons I do not understand that knowledge focused instead of distracted me.

Finally sleepy I shut down and moved to the guest room. I stopped at the head of the stairs and listened but heard nothing. Pajamas on and teeth brushed, I pulled up the covers and turned off the light. Sleep reached up and swallowed me. I was exhausted and didn't know it.

Three hours later I opened my eyes, starving. In all the excitement I'd forgotten to eat. I stuck my feet in my slippers and went downstairs. In the refrigerator I found cold pizza and ate it in the dark over the sink. Down the hallway I heard the bedroom door open and close and footsteps come up the hall. Kim turned the corner, her hand on the wall searching for the dimmer switch. She found it and flooded the kitchen with brilliant light before turning it way down.

In the brief moment of illumination I saw she wore the same white lingerie she'd worn for me on a vacation trip we'd made to the Bahamas; see-through lace top that tied in a bow between her breasts and tiny lace panties that tied at each hip. Her feet were bare. Her skin was flushed and her lips slightly swollen and her cheeks rosy and her hair a mess. She looked dazzling and sexy. She saw me and jumped, then chuckled as she turns the light down. She walked over and took my hand, guiding the pizza to her mouth. She took a huge bite.

"Thank you," she mumbled around a mouthful of food.

"Don't mention it. I'm sure you worked up an appetite."

She checked to see if I was playing or actually angry. "Actually, John did all the work," she teased. "Most of it anyway. Maybe half. Actually I'm starving."

I smacked her ass and she gave a quiet yelp.

"What's happening here," I asked. I couldn't help it.

"I don't know," she offered earnestly. "The dominoes all fell so fast."

I salaciously looked her up and down. "He's sleeping?"

"Like a baby," she answered, proudly.

I slipped my hand down the front of her panties and a finger passed her lips. She was a mess of hot slippery fluid. She looked me in the eye and didn't flinch as I explored her well used pussy. She seemed more confident than I could ever remember.

"What are you feeling?" I wondered.

"A million emotions at once, Honey. I feel liberated and enlightened; some of the things I've discovered about myself shock me but feel really good and right. I know I'm more in-love with you than I've ever been. I don't know how you are allowing me to do all this but I'll love you forever for it. That's not a bribe, it's just fact."

I pulled my finger out and stepped back.

She went on. "At the bar, when you guided me down onto him. I thought you'd freak out after a minute, but you didn't, you just kept pushing things farther. I told myself if you want this then I'm not going to fight you; I wanted it too, and badly. He's so sexy. Taking his cock is like nothing I've ever even imagined. I can't believe a man inside me can feel so good. Are you sure you want to hear all this, Honey?"

My face must have done something. It was hard to hear but I did want to hear it.

"Are you going to leave me for him?"

She didn't hesitate. "No. No way. Never. It's so not like that, Baby."

"You want more? You want to keep going?"

"Patrick, I will take every second you allow me. You're in charge here. It may not look like that to you but that what's going on inside my head; my loving husband wants to watch me get fucked. I'll fuck John as much and as long I can."

"Birth control?"

"Yeah, of course I've thought about that. A lot. I don't have an answer for you at this point. I can tell you every time he fills me I get so excited I want to scream. It's so wrong and so taboo. I feel like a complete slut and I love it. You seem to like it too."

I nodded. "Yes, I do, I love all the rules we're breaking. Can you imagine what our friends and families would say? They'd lose their minds, or think we had."

She laughed and we both fell silent.

"You know, I have to admit watching you two is intensely erotic. It's live porn. But not all of it looked like mere sex. You have feelings for him. I see some emotional connection too."

She got shy. "Yes," she murmured. "It's no threat to you. Women are built differently than men, Honey, that's all. You see a pretty girl and you want her. I see a pretty man and I want him to want me. I get excited when he does. I feel John's want in his kisses and his touch and I'm thrilled. I see his desire in his eyes and I get wet. Sex for me is an emotional experience, Baby, every time."

She looked stunning standing there in her see-through intimates. We'd never had such a frank and open discussion and I hoped this signaled a new path for us. Outside her panties, I covered her pussy with my hand.

"You're full of him."

Her face softened. "I am. Earlier, why did you pull out? I thought you'd need to add yours. I wanted some of you inside me too."

“It's hard to explain. I actually like that only he's in you. It multiplies how bad we've been. I've never colored this far outside the lines before.”

“No, me either.”

“My gut tells me we can't go back to the life we had before this.”

“I feel the same way but would you want to? Now that you've gotten a taste of your new slutty wife, would the old Kim work for you?”

We both knew I didn't need to answer. I rubbed the front of my pajamas. “Now I do want to add mine to his,” I said. She stepped away, putting the island between us, a coy, teasing smile played with her lips.

“No, Pat, for now I belong to him. Let that drive you crazy with want. He'll leave, eventually, and then you can take me back, but for right now I'm his.”

She was bluffing, mostly. I saw in her eyes if I pushed it, she'd relent, but she was hoping I'd back down. She loved how naughty she felt. She loved wearing lingerie for another man while standing in her own kitchen. I played her game.

“So you belong to him?”

“For now, yes.”

I chose my next words carefully. “When you go back to the bedroom, our bedroom, will you make love with him?”

I saw shivers run up her spine. I'd chosen my words carefully. Make love is not fuck. We both understood I was asking something much bigger, something important. She wanted to make love with John, sweet, tender, guilt-free love making. Up to now she'd always been my wife fucking another man. She'd held something back from him out of loyalty to me.

“Yes,” she exhaled as a sigh. “If you tell me I can.”

Her eyelids moved slowly. Her lips parted. Her eyes were glazing. Her body may be in the kitchen with me but her heart and mind were already drifting back to the bedroom and John.

“Before I give you complete and total permission to give yourself to John and hold nothing back, nothing you keep just for your husband, I have a request.”

“Anything.”

“Leave the door open a few inches. If he asks why tell him you like it when I watch. Tell him it's my house and you feel rude shutting me out. Tell him whatever you need to, but leave the door open.”

“I'll do it. You understand what you're allowing me to do?”

I nodded.

She needed more reassurance than that.

“You know you're telling me to make love with him? Make love with him and hold nothing back; lose myself in his arms. Forget my vows, just for a night, and be his completely, give myself to him completely. When I go in there, you and I will no longer be married. Are you strong enough to do that?”

My throat was dry but I didn't care. We'd come so far. I knew she really wanted this.

“Yes.”

Kim shivered but it wasn't from cold.

“Say it again, please. I need to be absolutely sure.”

“Yes. Yes, Kim, I want you to do it.”

She floated around the island and rose up on dainty toes. Her soft lips brushed mine, just a fleeting glance. She was already returning to him. It hurt, I won't lie. The naked desire rising in her eyes was for him. She craved his touch, this time unfiltered and unadulterated by guilt or responsibility or remorse of any kind. She had my complete permission. She was a free woman.

What the fuck had I just done?

I waited the longest five minutes of my life before creeping to the door. She had thoughtfully left the bathroom light on for me. She had awakened him orally and now held him in her mouth, getting him hard. He stroked her long hair. She caught me spying and moved up to kiss him, straddling his muscular body. His large firm penis rested in the crack of her bubble butt. The head reached to her tail bone.

From this kiss I saw how much she'd held back, how much she'd remained true to me in spite of all she'd done with John, because that reservation was gone now. She poured her heart and soul into this kiss.

He immediately sensed the difference without knowing why and returned the kiss equally. He sensed her fully present, fully available to him. Their passion flared and the comforter went flying. Moments later when my wife lifted her hips and lined him up to her opening, she gave me one last look goodbye, and then turned her full attention to John.

It proved to be more than I could take. Kim climaxed so easily with him. It wasn't just the size difference, although that had a lot to do with it.

That superior cock was attached to a superior man. John stimulated Kim on deep emotional levels as well; he touched her in a primal way.

I made it almost an hour. My wife was falling in love with another man right before my eyes. I had to trust when he was gone she would once again be mine. We like people for their qualities but we love them for their defects. What they shared stripped away everything else and left me with a tenuous thread, a thread I clung to with all my might. I had to believe. I had to have faith and trust. Watching the way they made love made that impossible so I left, returning to my temporary spot in the guest room.

As soon as I lay down I grew hard and then harder still. My penis ached. Deep arousal forced my erection to grow even harder. I rolled onto my back and stared at the ceiling. I pictured John and Kim making love just a few feet below me and a knife slipped into my heart and more blood tried to fill my diamond-hard and throbbing dick. This was the most excruciating moment of my life and I was harder than I'd ever been. I reached for my penis and began to stroke, taking small sips of my agony, and soon experienced one of my best orgasms ever.

Kim and I were both late to work the next day. John didn't leave until dawn. I drove them both back to their cars and once again Kim and I took separate paths home. We napped forty-five minutes and then quietly dressed for work. Our conversation was purely function and logistics. I was at work two hours when I sent her a text; "Everything okay?"

"Way better than okay," she fired right back. "Busy though. We'll talk tonight?"

"Perfect."

The day would not die but eventually we met back at the house. Instead of meeting her at the garage door, I waited for her on our bed. She was late. The room smelled of sweat and sperm and clothing and blankets lay everywhere. Large wet spots dotted the fitted sheet.

Kim entered and froze. She scrutinized me but I kept a slight smile on my face and in my eyes. She looked around the room and blushed.

"After a while I looked up and you were gone," she said. "You okay?"

I went with the truth. "It was too much to take. I went to bed and masturbated."

My candor surprised her but she recovered quickly. "Pretty crazy night, huh?"

“Pretty crazy night.”

She stepped over the crumpled lingerie and sat next to me on the bed, slightly farther away than usual. She opened her purse.

“I was a little late getting home because I stopped for these.” She dropped a pack of RU486 on the bed between us. I was instantly turned on but hid it.

“Good thinking.”

“Are we okay?” she asked.

“As far as I'm concerned, yes, but let me ask you the same question.”

She moved the pills and scooted closer. She played with my hair.

“Absolutely, Sweetheart. You're the most amazing husband ever. When I noticed you were no longer watching us, I worried you gave me too much. I worried you harmed yourself.”

“But you didn't come looking for me.”

“No. Is that what you wanted?”

“No, I wanted you to enjoy yourself.”

“Well, I did.”

“You were worried about me but stayed with him. Why?”

She pondered before answering, trying to feel her way through my bruised psyche. Ultimately she just went with the truth, although I was clearly stressing her out.

“Because I wanted to be with him.”

I felt my penis grow.

“How long was it after you noticed I'd left before you forgot all about me and lost yourself in him again?”

She chewed on her bottom lip, worrying. Again she went with the truth.

“Two, maybe three minutes.”

“Thank you for your honesty.”

“Of course, Honey. I love you.”

I smiled. “I love you too, Kim.”

I put her hand on top of my erection. She squeezed the head through my pants and looked at me perplexed.

“I don't understand. I thought you were hurt?”

“I don't understand either. You tell me you desired him so much you stayed rather than check on me and I got hard. Fuck it. Let's stop worrying so much and just do the things we want to do. Life's too short.”

“I'm so relieved to hear you say that, Patrick, because I told him, I told him the truth about us. He suspected anyway. I hope you're not angry. He knows we're married and this is our home. He's not upset. He said it is more exciting to take me in front of my husband. He wants me again tonight, which makes me very happy, so unless you say no, I'll text him to come over.”

My penis surged. I nodded.

Kim smiled ear to ear. “Oh my God, Patrick, you're amazing!” She held up the morning-after pills. “If he's coming over again, I guess I should wait on these.”

I groaned softly. How many of his sperm sought her egg at this very moment?

EPILOGUE

Two months later I sat in my office and clicked on the porn page. Jessica, who looked so much like my wife, had posted a new video. I smiled. I no longer needed to watch her videos and hadn't for months. Reality was better than fantasy.

John came by the house about once a week or Kim went by his place after work. My wife and I had never been this happy. I'd joined them twice but we all agreed that didn't feel quite right; watching them was best.

Their one night of love-making shook Kim and me enough that we haven't flirted with crossing that line again.