

Matthew Lee

Hotwife Lost

A Hotwife Story

Contents

Chapter 1
Chapter 2
Chapter 3
Chapter 4
Chapter 5
Chapter 6
Chapter 7
Chapter 8
Chapter 9
Chapter 10
Chapter 11
Chapter 12
Chapter 13
Chapter 14

Hotwife Lost

A Hotwife Story

Copyright © Hotwife Lost (2023) Matthew Lee

All rights reserved.

No part of this book may be reproduced or used in any manner without the prior written permission of the copyright owner, except for the use of brief quotations in a book review.

This is a work of fiction and any similarity to persons living or dead is purely coincidental.

By Matthew Lee

Chapter 1

I finished my shower and dried, and then wrapped the towel loosely around my waist. I messed my hair, trying to look sexy, then gave up and combed it back. Brooke would see through my silly attempt and laugh. She'd mentioned earlier, while we were out hiking with Tish and Bobby, that she was horny. I hoped to capitalize on that sentiment.

I exited the bathroom looking for my wife. I found her with one eye pressed to a crack in the cabin wall. We'd rented a couples' unit for our stay in Ecuador, and, while rustic and charming, the construction standards were not great.

"What are you doing?" I asked.

She shushed me with a finger to her lips.

"Quiet, Tony. Come here. Tish is doing it again."

"What? How? With whom?"

"Some guy. Bobby took the rental jeep into town for supplies and Tish hit on one of the guys that runs the facility. Look."

My wife stepped away from the split beam and I took her place. I gazed through the small fracture into the other half of our big cabin. Their room was a mirror of ours, with a huge four-poster bed and quaint set of table and chairs for conversation. Brooke's best friend Tish stood in bra and panties, questioning the man about something. Her voice was too low to hear but her body language was clear. The man tried to appear casual, like nearly naked women confronted him every day, but his darting eyes gave him away. Tish was a knockout, a bombshell, a hot babe with a banging body. She and Brooke had been friends through college and stayed best friends after. Tish is as bold as my wife is shy.

"She's just scolding him," I muttered.

Brooke scoffed.

"That's her game," my wife said, replacing me at the fissure. "She gets the man off guard and then swoops for the kill."

"Why do you like to watch her so much?"

"She's sexy, and I know you agree. I love the way she loves sex, like her whole body and mind get overwhelmed. I live my fantasies through her."

"You want to cheat on me with the help?" I asked, teasing.

"Of course not, silly. Remember when we watched Top Gun and you said how cool it would be to fly jet fighters? You don't truly want to fly jets, you just like the idea of flying jets. I love how Tish chases what she wants. She's bold."

"How many times have you caught her cheating on her boyfriend?"

"That's a trick question. She goes through boyfriends quickly. Let's just say I've caught her cheating on almost every one of them."

"And you always stay to watch."

"Heck yes. Look at her. She's hot. She'd bring hot guys back to our dorm and I'd slip onto our balcony to through her window. I also wanted to learn about sex since I knew nothing at that time. Tish was a great instructor."

"Did you two ever?"

My wife quickly looked away. I'd embarrassed her.

"Once," she muttered. "We were both drunk. She'd brought a freshman back to our place but he prematurely ejaculated. Like, in his pants. He left in a hurry. Tish was sexually frustrated. I'd gotten back from a party where I drank too much and knocked on her door to talk to her. That lasted a minute and then she grabbed my shirt and kissed me. We went for it. It was nice but we both agreed something was missing."

"Penis."

"Yes, Tony. Penis. I didn't know that then but I do now. Thank you for introducing me to yours."

"My pleasure. Let me look again."

"Not yet. She's unzipping his pants."

"That was fast."

"Tish wastes no time."

My wife was glued to that wall. I'd need to wait to make my move. I watched Brooke study her friend and realized maybe now was the best time to try something. I stepped up behind her while she watched Tish in the other room and eased her sweatpants down to her knees. She jumped at my touch, confused at first, but then understood my intent and said nothing. I felt her body grow warmer.

"Is the connecting door locked?" she rasped.

I dropped my towel and hurried to check.

"Yes."

Brooke glanced at my naked body. I was half-hard already. She put her eye to the gap and I returned to my place behind her. I knelt first to eat her pussy from behind and discovered my spontaneous attack had turned her wet. I licked until she struggled to stay quiet and then stood, now fully erect, and guided my dick into her. She clamped her teeth over her lips and stared at Tish sucking a new hard cock. I fucked my mostly innocent wife from behind while she played the voyeur. I took her hand and placed it on her clit and then held her hips while I slowly pumped in and out. She masturbated while I fucked her and her moans grew louder. I worried we'd get caught and all this would end too soon so I covered her mouth with my hand. Her entire body shuddered to be so controlled. Her pussy gushed wetness. I saw glimpses of Tish through the crack. The man now fucked from behind against the wall just like I fucked Brooke. Tish has big tits and they bounced around wildly. I grabbed Brooke's tit and squeezed. I didn't know what went through my wife's mind at that moment but I didn't much care. I kept a hand clamped over her mouth and tried to reach as far up into her as I could on every thrust.

The first tingling of my orgasm started way too soon, so I withdrew and again ate Brooke's pussy from behind. She ground her ass on my face and I licked and sucked like crazy. I wanted her to climax first. I pushed several fingers in, shocked at how wet she was, and rubbed as I returned to eating. I got the orgasm I wanted from her and quickly slammed my erection in again.

The man in the other room was pounding Tish hard and she orgasmed, gasping and moaning. The man grunted and asked if he could cum in her and Tish growled yes. His hips were banging like he was slamming a car door. At last he jammed his cock deep one last time and spewed jizz in her. It was so hot. My load boiled up and I was spraying inside Brooke before I knew it. I pressed my face between her shoulder blades to silence my groans. We collapsed against the wall.

"That was so hot," Brooke muttered, over and over.

"I guess we both like watching."

"I guess we do. Let's shower again."

"Should we tell Bobby? Do we tell him Tish is cheating?"

Wrong thing to say. Brooke's face dropped into a frown.

"Not our business," she said. "We barely know Bobby. Tish has been my friends for almost two decades. We don't know what the rules are for their relationship. Maybe Tish fooling around is okay. Maybe Bobby gets to fuck other girls. Who knows? Let them work it out."

I took her hand as we headed for another shower.

Chapter 2

Bobby smoothed the folds in the map. He took a sip of beer.

"Paper," I said. "Old school."

"We are here," he said, stabbing a finger at the map. "Santo Domingo, Ecuador. Tomorrow we take a seaplane up and over the Andes to Manaus. That's a little over thirteen-hundred miles. We'll stop once, on the river Japura, to refuel at Cujuim, and then we're on our way again. It's a long day so dress comfortably."

"Is it dangerous crossing the Andes?" Tish asked.

"Little bit," Bobby said. "But don't worry, Baby. You have a big strong man to keep you safe."

"My hero," she laughed, grabbing his arm and squeezing his bicep.

They kissed passionately. I felt a little bad for the guy. But then, who am I to judge? Maybe Tish and Bobby have an agreement. Maybe they aren't exclusive. He had no idea what she'd done the day before. That employee avoided us now.

"How dangerous is a little?" Brooke asked, nervous.

"The mountain peaks are really high," he said. "Plus there are always clouds and storms. There's so much rain. The pilot assures me he has flown the course a million times, so we're good. The plane can land on water or ground so if he must, he can put us down almost anywhere."

"Don't worry, Baby," I said, imitating Bobby's deep voice. "Bobby is big and strong."

We laughed.

Our group of four sat in a bar overlooking a monument to the indigenous peoples of Ecuador. Cars and motorcycles and bicycles and foot traffic all blended together in a dull roar of modern civilization. Dust filled the air with a copper haze. Forested and snow-capped mountains blocked the horizon. Hard to believe that just on the other side was jungle so thick you couldn't walk. You'd need two hours to cover a mile. The heat and humidity in town drove everyone to wear as little as possible, including us. Bobby and I sported loose shorts and tank tops. Tish and Brooke wore short peasant skirts and flimsy tops.

"We wanted adventure," Bobby said, swatting away the ever-present flies. "We wanted difficult routes that tourists can't do. We've done that so far. From Manaus, we'll ride the Amazon River to the Atlantic Ocean. That will be smooth sailing. We'll hit a few Brazilian beaches and then fly home with stories cooler than any of our friends. Stories we'll never forget. Imagine the memories we'll be creating."

We'd already scaled several Andes peaks on the Pacific side, using our cabin as a base of operations. Bob was right. We already had incredible memories and we were less than halfway through our adventure.

"This will be great for my thesis," Brooke said. "Tish, did I tell you I'm going back to get my master's degree? I've got great notes and photos from this trip already. I'll compile everything when we get home and submit it all to my advisor, Professor Dugan."

"Dugan?" Tish asked, grinning. "I had him. I'm sure he'll approve of you."

"I hope so. I'm eager to get away from the city and onto the river. I'll be interviewing any tribespeople we meet."

I ordered another round of ice cold beers. We finished those and ordered dinner. A jeep taxi took us to the foot of the mountain and we walked to our cabin. We all showered the dust and grit away and met to finalize our plans before saying goodnight. Bobby and Tish returned to their side and I closed the connecting door. Brooke patted the corner of the bed. I sat. We talked about how good dinner was and then heard Bobby groan through the wall.

"Tish is fucking him," Brooke said. "I knew I saw a look in her eye."

"That woman is hornier than any guy I know."

"So?"

"Just an observation."

"No, it isn't. It smacks of judgmental gender roles. You only mention it because it violates male-female expectations."

"You're right. Allow me to rephrase. Tish is the horniest person I know."

Brooke laughed.

"Same. She's the horniest person I know too."

Bobby groaned again and Brooke left the bed to peek through the gap in the wall. I turned off the light and joined her. Bobby sat on the corner of the bed and Tish bobbed her head over his lap. It looked sexy but we could see no details.

"I want to see dick in mouth," I muttered. "I want hardcore."

"Me too. Will you lick me from behind while I watch? Please?"

"Show me your tits first."

"You've seen them a million times."

"Men never tire of tits, Brooke. Never. Even when it is the same titties over and over. Breasts are always a good gift idea."

"Hers are so big. Mine are small."

"Hers are big, yes, but yours aren't small, Baby. They fill my hand. Let me show you."

"I wish mine were bigger."

"Yours are perfect."

I unbuttoned the front of her pajamas and gorgeous teardrop breasts greeted me. I kissed each nipple, sending shivers through her, and then turned her to face the wall.

"Watch Tish suck cock," I said, kneeling until I had her ass in my face.

I lifted and spread her butt cheeks. She moved her feet farther apart and her labia parted, exposing a glistening slit. I tilted my head and planted my mouth and began to eat the most delicious pussy on Earth. Brooke leaned against the wall to watch the action next door. There were many gaps and one was at an angle favorable to me. I saw when Bobby stood and Tish climbed onto his lap, guiding his erection into her soaking wet cunt. She rode him, slowly at first but building speed, until her big tits wobbled and bounced. Brooke had to cover her mouth to silence her strong climax. She didn't want Tish sexually. They'd tried that and it hadn't done it for them. But she saw Tish as an erotic creature, an empowered female that chased what she wanted. Tish aroused had the power to turn Brooke on. Brooke had watched Tish all through college, man after man, and formed an erogenous attachment. Tish wasn't the only way Brooke got turned on, but she was the easiest way. For Brooke, Tish was living porn.

I was fine with that.

Chapter 3

The lightning flashed somewhere in the clouds around us, but the thunder landed directly on our heads. The women screamed. The pilot looked terrified. A gust blew the window open, filling the interior with driving rain and howling wind. I slammed the window shut and locked it. The plane dropped twenty feet and we all bounced around inside like Ping-Pong balls. Luckily, nobody was hurt.

"When are we through this?" I shouted at the pilot.

"Radar says it gets worse before it gets better," he barked.

I looked out the windshield for someplace to put the plane down and wait out this storm, but we were wrapped in a blanket of billowy fog, dark clouds in every direction.

"Can you fly over this shit?" Bobby yelled.

The pilot did not answer. He concentrated on the dials and gauges on the dashboard. I did not like the fearful look on his face. I checked the dashboard too and saw the dials spinning, the gauges swinging wildly.

"What the fuck is all that?" I shouted.

"Magnetism," the pilot shouted back. "The storm's electricity has confused everything. Stop talking to me and let me fly. Both of you."

Bobby and I exchanged nervous glances. The plane roared ahead, plowing through the bank of clouds. We had no idea which direction we headed and at this speed, we could be miles off course quickly. I remembered the compass in my backpack and grabbed it. The needle swung in every direction, pausing briefly before swinging again. Bobby noticed.

"We're fucked," he muttered.

Tish and Brooke heard him.

"Why are we fucked?" Tish demanded.

"Everyone sit down and buckle in," Brooke said.

That seemed wise. Bobby and I did what she said.

A bolt of lightning shredded the tip of the right wing, tearing through aluminum, titanium, and fiberglass with ease. The plane swung that direction sharply, pulled by the added drag. The pilot spent the next several minutes fighting for control. Brooke started to softly cry. I put my arms around her and we huddled.

"We got lucky," the pilot shouted. "Missed the fuel tank."

A second bolt of lightning demolished the engine on the left side in a loud explosion of fire and metal parts. The plane dropped a hundred feet or more in an instant. We broke free of the clouds, only to have the windshield hammered by driving rain.

"I must put the plane down," the pilot said.

He aimed the plane lower, searching wildly for any body of water. I spotted a horseshoe shaped lake to the far right and pointed. He throttled down and banked, fighting the unresponsive gear. We were barely clearing the treetops.

"We will hit the water hard," he said.

The trees vanished beneath us as we flew over water. He dropped lower and lower and then lifted the nose as we skimmed the surface. The pontoons caught and our speed dropped fast.

I'll give him credit; the pilot was good. He kept the nose from diving into the water. We had our teeth rattled loose but escaped any real injury. At last the plane stopped. The pilot checked his instruments.

"I have no idea where we are," he announced. "Hopefully my instruments come back after the storm passes. If not, we wait for the sun to emerge or a clear night sky. I switched on the mayday beacon but have little hope for it. The mountains around us are too high."

"So no one is coming to help us?" Bobby asked.

"That's correct. I will stay with my plane but I could be here a long, long time. Maybe a month. Maybe they never come. This happened to my friend also. He was seven weeks gone."

"Forget that plan," Tish said. "I say we hike out of here."

"Which direction?" I asked.

She climbed out of the plane to check for shadows. They were faint.

"I think south is that way," she said. "We hike until we hit a major river and then follow that downstream. All rivers on this side of the Andes head for the Atlantic."

"That's dense jungle," Bobby said.

"We brought the right gear," Tish said. "It's ten hours at least before the plane is even late. Days before they get organized enough to send someone looking, and when they do, where will they look? We were blown off course. There are thousands of square miles to search, all of it covered with rainforest. Nobody is coming for us. Let's save ourselves."

I looked at Brooke.

"What do you think?"

"I don't like it," she said. "But Tish is right. It's up to us to rescue us. We're no safer floating in this lake than we are on the trail. Let's get moving. At least we'll feel like we're trying."

Bobby and I looked at each other but said nothing.

"Okay," he said, at last. "We go."

We explained our plan to the pilot and assured him we'd send help back. He thanked us, apologized, and wished us well. We tied a rope to the inflatable raft the airplane had so he could pull it back once we reached the shore, which he did. We took another read on the sun's position, or tried to, and struck out for what we thought was most likely south.

We hiked for hours. We had plenty of food and fresh water was everywhere. It rained constantly. Sometimes just a mist and sometimes like a bucket had been dumped. We had bug sprays and sticks but with so much water in the air we rarely needed repellent. I think most insects were waiting for the storm to end.

Once the sky started to darken we sought elevation. We found bald patch atop a hill where we set up both tents and ate a quiet meal. All of us were worried. This was no simple task we'd assigned ourselves. We said goodnight and quickly fell asleep, overcome by stress, exertion, and worry. There would be no sexual shenanigans tonight, not for any of us.

Chapter 4

We crawled, stumbled, struggled, and fought for every foot we covered the next three days. We crossed two mountain ridges, but towards civilization or into deeper jungle, we couldn't tell. We slept like the dead every night.

On the fourth day, we stumbled upon an old wrecked airplane. There were no signs of the pilot or passengers. We searched thoroughly and discovered some canned chili and peas with old labels and a magazine dated fifty years earlier. Brooke found a parachute and we laughed.

"Too late!" she quipped.

We decided to use the shelter of the plane for tonight's camp. Our mood was good. The days were hard but we'd adjusted to the routine. We kept our feet dry and our energy high. We knew what to expect and that alone drained away most of our stress. We were playful, joking and teasing for the first time in days. Tish and Bobby set up at the front of the plane and Brooke and I took the rear.

The sexual tension in the air was palpable.

We'd endured a lot and tonight was the first time we felt like we had a handle on things. We felt tremendous relief. A creek ran through the jungle nearby, one of about a billion creeks we'd crossed, and we all took the time to bathe, washing away the grit and sweat. By the time Brooke and I returned to the derelict plane, Bobby and Tish were already fucking. They'd hung a make-shift old blanket that hid nothing. Bobby had Tish on her back, legs spread wide, and slammed his hips with a vengeance. Tish urged him to fuck her harder.

We openly stared. Tish caught us and smiled coyly. Bobby looked over and I thought Brooke would turn away, embarrassed, but she didn't. She watched them fuck just like I did. They appreciated the audience.

"Fuck me, Tony," Brooke said, plucking at my sleeve.

"They can see us."

"I don't care. Let them watch. I hope they do. I need you to fuck me."

I wasn't sure how I felt about performing for them but the need in my wife's eyes got to me. I'd never seen a look like that. I sensed this might be some pivotal moment in her relationship with Tish. My wife needed her husband to step up so I did, unzipping on the spot. Bobby and Tish watched us strip and I think Brooke liked the way they looked at her.

My wife bent at the waist to suck me erect but she didn't need to. Their eyes on us and my eyes on them was enough to make my dick rise. I positioned Brooke facing them and got behind her, eating that delicious cunt from behind. Tish got off on Brooke's pleasure. I ate like a champion, eager to prove to our friends that I was a master. Brooke started to rise towards orgasm but she stopped me.

"Enough," she whimpered. "Do it."

I've watched reality-based survival shows on television and always laughed at how quickly everyone drops decorum. I always doubted that aspect and thought it was done for ratings. Nope. Just a few days of hard-living and we were ready to embrace the stone age.

Brooke lifted her ass slightly, imploring me to take her from behind. We both watched Tish and Bobby fuck while we fucked, just like they watched us while they did. I must admit, it was hot as hell. My reluctance to perform vanished, encouraged by the sounds my wife made. She's never loved my dick so much in her life. I could do no wrong. Every touch, every kiss, every thrust was exactly what she craved.

"I've never done anything like this," my wife gasped. "I can't believe we're doing it."

I couldn't either.

The ladies locked eyes. Brooke began to moan and Tish was making little gasps and Bobby and I recognized the signs. We drove our cocks deep, strong and smooth, until first Brooke and then Tish wailed as orgasms took them. We did not stop. In that moment, and maybe for the first time in our lives, we both felt like studs. At least, I did.

Bobby pulled out to flip Tish on hands and knees and I saw his full erection. A strange pride washed through me to see I beat him in length and girth. I'd never in my life worried about penis size or thought it mattered at all, but I surely did in that frozen instant. I withdrew from Brooke and pushed her on her belly, giving Tish and especially Bobby a nice long look at my bigger penis, and then plunged the thing into my wife again. Her cry of delight thrilled me.

Until this moment, Tish had always been the star and Brooke her fan. Maybe they'd go back to that dynamic after tonight, but for right now, Brooke and I held the spotlight. I fucked my wife like a demigod. Bobby lined up and filled Tish and we were off again, all grandstanding forgotten as we pounded our women and crept towards climaxes of our own.

Bobby came first, growling like a jungle animal, filling Tish with seed. I quickly followed, blasting away full-force inside my wife. My mind tumbled down a deep well. My hips thrust wildly as I poured hot liquid into Brooke. Bobby and I orgasmed within seconds of each other and then Brooke and Tish did the same, climaxing a second time. Each couple fell to their bed rolls, breathing hard and sweating. We lay a while recovering and then the women clutched towels and left to go rinse again in the creek. I told Bobby that sounded like a good idea and followed, scarcely covering myself. I caught him glancing at my penis. He joined me and we all bathed again, this time together and naked.

Our friendships had crossed a threshold.

Chapter 5

"It's a hard climb," I said, pointing. "But from that peak we'll see all the way to the horizon."

"I'm tired of hard climbs," Tish said.

"God, yes," Brooke added.

"We all want out of this place," I continued, swinging my hands to bat away insects. "We need to be sure we're headed in the right direction. From up there we'll get our bearings. Drink some water and rest your legs. We'll go when everyone is ready."

I got nods and little waves. They'd do it, but they did not like it. Our stop at the derelict plane was days ago. We were all ready to quit this jungle and enjoy a beer on a beach. We gathered our strength and then began the climb, switch-backing up the steep incline. At last we reached the top and I was right: we saw all the way to the horizon: a soul-crushing blanket of deep green jungle. Bobby groaned. Brooke took out her useless phone and attempted to send a text. She tried a call to no avail.

"Worth a shot," she shrugged.

I turned slowly, scanning the unbroken emerald carpet. My eye landed on a thin column of smoke rising through the mass of green.

"What's that?" I asked, pointing.

"A cooking fire?" Bobby suggested.

"People," Tish said. "Assistance."

I examined the valley on this side of the range: isolated and protected on all sides, with multiple waterfalls cascading from high valleys. A nice place to call home. I picked a path down from our vantage point.

"We should go talk to them," Brooke said. "Get directions. Ask for help."

"Great idea," I said. "Let's go."

I took the lead, winding a path down. We encountered a pool of clear water and decided to stop for a break. Tish shed her clothes and waded in and Brooke joined her. Bobby and I gawked at our naked women. I did not mind the way he stared at Brooke. She's lovely. Why wouldn't he? I certainly enjoyed looking at naked Tish. Brooke had been right about those big tits. Tish looked sexy as hell. I made sure Brooke never caught me looking. I was fine with sweat and hated the idea of untying and unbuckling every belt and strap, so I sat on a nearby log and waited. Bobby stripped and joined them. They tried to coax me in but I waved them off.

"I'll wash at the day's end. Too much of a hassle to get undressed and then dressed again."

Brooke made a face at me and dove under the water in such a way that the perfect little diamond of butt cheeks and thighs framing her sweet pussy flashed for an instant. My heart skipped.

"All right," I relented. "Give me a second."

I dropped all my gear and then tossed my clothes in a pile. I waded into the pool, surprised by the water's warmth. I wondered if there was a geothermal vent feeding water into this pond. Brooke asked me to scrub her back and she did the same for me. We cavorted, laughed, and relaxed.

"Oh!" Tish exclaimed.

I turned to see why.

Seven warriors stood along the far edge of our pool. They were tall and slender, with dark skin and large eyes and hair like afros. They were gorgeous, whatever race they were, and they were all completely nude. Each wore feathers of brilliant plumage twisted in their hair and bright colorful symbols painted on their skin. Their ears were adorned with glass beads of every hue. Necklaces dangled and bracelets clinked. They carried spears and knives and small shields. Seven naked men stood regarding us.

"Those guys are hung," Tish murmured.

She was correct, and bless her heart for noticing at a time like this. Every man shared that racial characteristic. But now was not the time to care about such things.

"Not the right time, Tish," Brooke murmured.

"Well, they are. It's impossible not to notice. They're beautiful. Look at those cheek bones. These men are hot."

"Jesus, Tish," Brooke whispered.

I waved hello. They had weapons and we did not. I carried a twenty-two pistol in my pack and we all carried knives of varying length, but all of that was with our gear and these men stood in the way.

"We're lost," I said. "We need help. Can you help us?"

"I doubt they speak English," Bobby said, raising his hands like they planned to rob him.

"It's more about the friendly tone, Bobby."

I raised my hands too and walked towards them. I expected them to raise their weapons at my approach but they were confident. I made various gestures as I described our situation, trying to convey the air flight, crash landing, and jungle trek. In the end their leader, a man about forty and strong, pointed at us and then our gear and then into the jungle.

"Grab your stuff, guys. I think we're supposed to follow them."

We left the water and collected our things. Bobby tried to step into his pants but a warrior stopped him, insisting we continue the way we were.

"So embarrassing," Brooke said.

"I'm fine with it," Tish said. "The water feels cool on my skin. Maybe I'll stay naked too, since that's the way they do things."

We crammed our clothing into our packs and fell in line, naked like they were. The leader went first and then we followed, six colorful warriors behind us. The trail through the jungle was narrow and easy to miss but these men moved fast, almost running. We cut along the valley wall, slowly losing elevation as we headed towards the bottom. Once the ground flattened they slowed and soon we entered a village. Natives came out to look at us and every one of them was naked too, every age, every gender. They all wore adornments: colorful macaw and hummingbird feathers by the look of them, and more necklaces and bracelets. The women's bodies were painted more than the men's.

The huts were frames of a springy bamboo-looking plant and then covered with broadleaves. Several community fires burned and the smell of cooking food filled the air, and it smelled fantastic. The kids inspected us but were easily bored and ran off after a minute. The adults waited for something and then I learned what. An ancient woman exited a large hut accompanied by two younger men. She was naked too but sported a small penis and testicles to go with her hanging breasts.

"A hermaphrodite," Brooke muttered. "I've heard of this before. They consider people born this way to be of two spirits. They are usually elevated to positions of council, a tribal elder, dispensing wisdom."

The young men helped her walk, guiding her until she stood before me. She couldn't straighten her spine so she twisted her head to examine me face, moving slowly from me to Brooke to Tish to Bobby. Finished, she spoke a few strange words and we were led to a hut near the edge of the clearing. We stepped inside.

"Welcome," a raspy voice said.

As our eyes adjusted to the dark we saw an old white man lying on a cot. He sat up. He had long gray hair to his elbows and was naked like the rest of the village.

"You speak English?" I asked.

"I do. Many in the village speak it. I taught them all."

"Who are you?" Bobby asked.

"I used to be called Richard a long time ago but for most of my life I've been Bana Todo. You can call me Bana."

"I have a million questions," I said.

"Get in line," Brooke joked.

"I'm sure you all do. Fire away."

He spoke with us for hours. Bana was a former pilot. We'd discovered his crashed plane in the jungle. He'd tried smuggling drugs to make money but wasn't very good at it. His plane crashed over fifty years earlier and these people, the Farare, he called them, were out hunting and heard the crash. They brought him back to the village and nursed him back to health and he loved them and the jungle so much he stayed. He taught them English and a few other modern skills and they fed him and taught him how to speak Farare.

"Why don't they wear clothes?" Brooke asked.

"The heat and humidity, mostly," Bana answered. "But they also wonder why someone would want to hide themselves. To them it is an inherently shifty act. They have a saying: Cala'mac'mordana, which loosely translates to, Clothing shields a lie. It's their way of saying it is better to be up front and open with everything. No way to hide a dagger, real or metaphorical."

"Will we be expected to remain naked?" Brooke asked.

"I haven't worn clothing in fifty-one years," Bana said, eyeing our women. "Don't worry, Honey, you look great."

"You've been out here fifty years?" Bobby said. "You've missed so much."

Bana chuckled.

"Have I? Let me guess. There were several wars. There were crazy fads. There were people in power shitting on those without. There were new discoveries in science and medicine which promised a brighter future, but the millionaires ruined them for everybody by taking possession and charging a fee."

We stared at the man. He wasn't wrong.

"Billionaires," Bobby muttered. "Not millionaires."

"Oh, the Earth has billionaires now? Fantastic. That's real progress."

"How can we get to the Amazon River and make our way to the Atlantic?" I asked. "We have plans."

Bana stood. His frame was wiry and his skin wrinkled.

"You're a long way from the river. You'll need a party to travel with you to show you the way. They'll do it because they're a loving people but the trip will carry some danger so they'll need to know you first. They'll need to know you're worth the effort and risk. I'd plan on staying for a while."

Bobby sagged with disappointment. Brooke perked up.

"This is perfect," she said. "My thesis just landed in my lap. I can study these people and report what I learn."

Bana pointed a bony finger at her.

"Everything except their location," he said. "This is an undiscovered tribe, except for me, and I won't have the modern world destroying theirs. They are happy. Do not describe how to get here. No landmarks. No instrument readings."

"I couldn't if I tried. The storm that wrecked our plane fried the instruments. We flew a long way blind. I have no idea where we are. None of us do."

"That's good, but should you learn, do not share. Promise me and I'll give a good report to the Queen Mother."

"I promise," my wife said.

We all chimed in, adding our promise to hers.

"Is that the lady with the penis that sent us to you?" Tish asked.

"Yes. She's the oldest and wisest of us. Nothing happens without her approval. I'll take you to your hut."

We exited and Bana led us across the open village. He walked fast but with a limp. Natives were just finishing a large hut built for four. Our gear had been placed inside. Four sleeping mats lay spaced around the center. There was a central fire pit and small water cistern.

"Be as kind and giving with them as they are with you and all will go well," Bana said. "They'll feed you and care for you and in time, help you."

Bobby and I shook his hand but Tish and Brooke hugged him.

"Someone will come by and show you around. There's a bathing pool close. If you have hunting skills, they'll welcome the help."

I dropped onto a mat. The others did too.

"What a day," Tish said.

"I'm hungry," Brooke said.

"I'll find us food," I offered. "I want to look around anyway. We'll be here a while. We have useful skills. I will find who handles task assignments and get us jobs."

"I need a nap," Bobby said.

I kissed Brooke and left to explore the village. Yes, I was naked, but so was everyone else, and it is strange how quickly the human mind adapts. What choice did we have? I discovered Bana had taught English to a great many Farare and I could communicate well. I offered my skills or my strong back and made plans to help later. These were a happy, kind, honest people. I was frequently surprised by how many beautiful women there were. I collected food at the main fire in the village center and returned to our hut. Bobby was asleep. Brooke was busy unpacking. I handed her a bowl of Farare stew.

"Where's Tish?" I asked.

Brooke glanced around the hut.

"I didn't see her leave. I have no idea. This smells great. Should I ask what's in it?"

"I didn't."

"Good thinking."

My wife plucked a spork from her utensils and began to eat.

"I brought Tish a bowl too," I said. "Maybe she's around."

"Let's finish eating and go find her."

We ate fast. Partly because we were famished but also because, in the back of our minds, we knew if there was any trouble around Tish would find it. I asked a few people if they'd seen our friend and got a general direction, so Brooke and I headed that way.

"Everyone is naked," My wife said, after a minute. "How can it feel so normal already?"

"Weird, isn't it? It's like if God had intended us to walk around naked, we would have been born that way."

"Clever."

Her head was on a pivot. She searched for Tish but she also absorbed every detail regarding the village.

"The women are gorgeous," she said. "Even the younger girls have big firm breasts already. The men are handsome and Tish is right: every man has a big dick. I lack her experience but I've seen pictures. This valley probably keeps the tribe from mixing with other peoples of the jungle. They are a small gene pool. I bet the penis trait is due to a female selection thing, like the lion's mane or peacock's plumage. It's usually the female that selects for male traits."

"You're saying these men have big cocks because that's what the women have chosen to mate with over the centuries?"

"Exactly. The bigger the lion's mane, the more likely he'll produce offspring."

A tall Farare man walked towards us. Brooke fixed her eyes on the man, studying, yes, but also enjoying. He was lean and strong and his thick soft cock slapped off his thighs.

"Easy there," I cautioned.

"Yeah," she laughed. "Guilty. You caught me. Damn, that man is fine."

We discovered the village had a barrier woven into the dense foliage all the way around, open at five different points. These were guarded by three warriors each. I asked if they'd seen Tish and one spoke enough English to let me know she'd passed through recently. I turned to explain to Brooke and discovered her trying to communicate with the two other young warriors. She repeatedly ran her eyes over every inch of their bodies. Each time one of those young men looked away she practically devoured them.

"I know which path Tish took," I said, interrupting.

"Oh. Okay. Good."

We'd been given light sandals made of hide and I noticed we made almost no sound as we slipped into the thick brush. We followed the trail until we heard rushing water. Soon we stepped into a clearing.

Tish straddled a young dark warrior, his thick cock plunging before reappearing. Around her stood three more young men, stroking as she took turns sucking their heavy tubes.

"Unreal," Brooke softly muttered. "She's amazing."

They'd not seen us, occupied with more important things, and I clutched Brooke's elbow and pulled her into the undergrowth. My wife was riveted, mesmerized, stunned to see her best friend handling four men at the same time. We watched in shocked silence as dark hands roamed every inch of her, lifting and kneading breasts, toying with nipples, caressing pale skin. The men took turns feeding Tish, holding her head and pumping her mouth.

One young man erupted with a fountain of sperm, aiming for her open mouth but plastering her face and tits as well. He spurted thick ropes of healthy pure white semen, drenching Tish with a flood of seed.

"That's a lot," my wife muttered. "That man came a lot."

Another man soon followed, only this time Tish clamped her lips to the tip of his cock and sucked. He groaned and blasted into her mouth, filling her cheeks. She swallowed and he filled her mouth again. Her eyes went wide in shock but she sucked harder, drawing every boiling drop from his shaft. He pulled his cock away with a pop. The man she rode arched his hips, lifting Tish off the ground. He dropped and rose again and then again.

"He's coming in her," Brooke rasped, voice strained with emotion.

She was right. White fluid leaked all around his shaft, seeping out to drip from his huge balls. He arched his hips again and again as he blasted her womb full of sperm. Tish was wild with lust. She ground her hips on the man while sucking any cock that came close, including the two soft ones she'd already drained.

Only one man remained erect. He pushed Tish off the man on the ground and grabbed her hips, pulling her into position. She was on elbows and knees, lifting her ass and offering pussy. The young warrior slid his cock deep. Tish moaned with meaning. These young warriors were big, both girthy and long. She had to feel that guy in her guts. I thought I'd make that comment to Brooke but I saw she was enthralled, hypnotized by the lusty scene before her. I took her hand and guided her to my dick and she squeezed.

"Eat my pussy," she croaked. "Let me watch them while you eat me. I promise I'll make it up to you."

I crouched behind her. Rivulets of pussy juice ran down her inner thighs. Tish twisted her head around to kiss the man while he fucked her. Brooke melted.

"God, she looks so sexy. Look at her, Tony. Jesus."

Brooke stopped talking because I buried my tongue in her. She gripped the branch she leaned on and watched Tish get fucked in the dappled sunlight. Sweat ran down the woman's face and dripped onto her big heaving breasts. My wife was right: the scene was sexy.

"Look at those tits," my wife growled, purely envious.

I shushed her. I pushed my tongue deep and licked around inside and then slithered up to suck and lick her clit. Brooke bit a knuckle to remain silent. I ate her gushing pussy until I worried her trembling legs would collapse. I slid a thumb up her tight asshole and that was all she could take. She bit her forearm and groaned, a powerful orgasm rattling her entire body. She never took her eyes off her best friend.

The young dark warrior pushed Tish away, grabbing her ankles and lifting, spreading her legs wide. My wife and I stared at her swollen, messy cunt. The man brought his hefty spear closer and then pushed the head between her labia, causing Tish to cry out. The man held her ankles but leaned far over her, his weight driving his cock deep. Tish twisted her body to find his big balls and cup them.

"Fucking stud," she hissed. "Fuck me. Fucking empty these big balls in me. Pound my ass into the grass."

I doubted he understood her words but he clearly understood her need. He kept her legs spread and began to saw his big cock in and out. Tish orgasmed again right away. His ass rose and fell and then he began to fuck her faster, building towards an orgasm.

At last he exploded, groaning and whimpering as his long dick sprayed her full of white lava. He quickly stood, sperm still oozing from his dick as he whipped it out. Tish collapsed in a sweaty pile. His friend clapped him on the back. A few helped Tish stand and brushed twigs away. She seemed dazed. One of the men spoke fractured English and we heard him explain she'd taken the last young man's virginity. They each hugged her and thanked her for the pleasure she'd given and then left her there. She sat on a fallen log and examined the semen dribbling from her pussy.

"Let's go back," Brooke whispered. "She'll return to the hut soon."

"How do you know that?"

"She's starving too."

I led Brooke back to the village. We'd finished a second bowl when Tish wandered in.

"Where you been, Babe?" Brooke asked, voice low because Bobby still slept.

"Out wandering. Seeing the sights."

A young man knocked softly on the opening to our hut. He carried bright feathers and beads in his hand, which he offered to Tish. She took them and the young man bowed and backed away, muttering something none of us understood.

"What was that about?" Brooke asked, knowing the answer.

"I guess I have a fan," she joked, glancing nervously at us. "Weird."

"He probably loves your big tits," Brooke teased.

"Tell him to come back with food," a sleepy Bobby mumbled. "I'm starving."

Chapter 6

"Get up," I said. "There's food ready."

Bobby got to his feet and slipped his sandals on.

"I like skipping clothes," he said. "So much easier. We should continue the policy once we get home."

He sent his eyes around our group, hesitating just a touch as he passed over Brooke. I know he found her attractive.

"I'll take you to the food," I said. "I learned how things work around here. You're either a warrior hunter or a tradesman."

"I'm a carpenter back home. Let's see if they can use any woodworking skills."

I guided Bobby to the central fire, leaving Brooke and Tish alone. After he ate I took him around the village, explaining the customs and expectations I'd discovered. We left the village to follow the trails around the valley, showing him where the closest river turned into a waterfall and emptied into a large crystal clear pool. There were Farare women bathing there and I admit we lingered. They were an exotic and gorgeous race. Skin tones ranged from a warm mocha to black coffee. Several men stopped by to bathe, shedding their weapons and adornments.

"Every man here sports a big dick," Bobby said. "It's intimidating."

"I hear you. Brooke said it is due to mating selection and a narrow gene pool. I don't fully understand what she meant. That's her field of expertise."

"She'll get a great paper out of all this. I bet she leaves out the part where we walked around naked too, just like the natives."

I laughed along with him.

"I bet she does."

We watched the people in the pool. I noticed how often the Farare touch and show physical affection. I did not see barriers between individuals, no sense of exclusivity or ownership. Males and females placed hands on each other without jealousy.

"You seeing this?" Bobby asked.

"I am. It's like they follow their impulses. They act on attraction in the moment."

"They better not try that shit with Tish. She'll slap them down. I'm the only man for her. Any of these guys try to touch her and she'll break their fingers."

Poor Bobby. Any thoughts I had about exposing the real Tish died. He'd never believe me. I'd spend all day trying to convince him and in the end, he'd hate me. His relationship with Tish was not my problem. They could work things out on their own.

I returned my attention to the Farare in the pool. The women initiated contact as frequently as the men. Maybe more. They'd help each other get clean but the touching often led to more. I saw two women scrub a warrior's back and when his cock rose, one of the women moved in front to guide his erection into her, while the other woman continued to scrub his back. Their attitude seemed to be: if it feels good, do it. Nothing wrong with the harmless pursuit of pleasure. The village would help raise any child which resulted. There was an abundance of food and resources, so more babies simply meant a stronger tribe.

I sent my gaze around the pool. I saw sexy people everywhere.

"You worried about Brooke?" Bobby asked.

"What do you mean?"

"I mean, I know I have Tish under control. Are you worried Brooke might stray? Are you worried one of these studs might put his hands on her?"

I recoiled. The thought had not occurred to me. I was so comfortable and trusting of Brooke I never even considered the possibility. Bobby laughed at me.

"Wow," he said. "You have a lot of trust in your woman."

"I guess I do."

The warrior held the woman's hips and slowly pumped his hard cock in and out. They seemed lost in ecstasy, oblivious to those around them. Their passion inspired others and soon several couples mated. Some merely used fingers and tongues to give pleasure. Some masturbated while they watched. Many simply went about their business, bathing or washing items for their hut.

"I can stay a month here," Bobby said. "No problem."

"Yeah," I agreed. "This will be easy."

I sounded flippant, but I wasn't as confident as I seemed. Bobby's question about Brooke had raised doubt in my mind. I wondered what Brooke was doing at that moment. Bobby and I had been gone for hours. What had our women done while we were away?

"Ready to head back?" Bobby asked.

"Yup."

We followed the winding trail through the jungle. We reached the village and a handful of laughing children scurried past. Bobby and I entered our hut.

Brooke and Tish had transformed the place. Our gear was unpacked and organized around the walls. Our sleeping mats were straightened and positioned out of the way. Pretty blankets hung here and there, adding color. Plucked orchids decorated the woven framework.

"Wow," I said. "Our place looks fantastic."

Brooke beamed. Tish was adorned in the beads and bracelets dropped off earlier. Brooke had two feathers in her hair, one red, the other blue.

"Everyone is so helpful and nice," Brooke said. "We found some women who spoke English and explained what we wanted to do. They loved our ideas. Word spread and other women came to see. We had almost twenty women and girls in our hut! Several did the same to their huts, decorating like us."

"You are making friends," I said.

"I am! A few invited me to some ceremony at sunset. I feel like we're really connecting with the village."

She and Tish walked Bobby and me around the hut explaining why they'd placed things where they had. I saw the logic. Bobby and I were impressed. Bobby and Tish went to find tasks for themselves to help the village. Brooke and I sat. I told her about my day and Bobby's comment regarding Tish's loyalty.

"Yikes."

"Yeah," I said. "The man has no clue who Tish truly is. He also mentioned you. You would never cheat on me, right?"

Brooke gasped. Her hurt expression gave me my answer.

"Never," she said.

"All these gorgeous men must get to you though. Don't they? Have you been attracted to any of the men here? They have no idea about personal space. Has any man tried to touch you?"

She took my hand. She looked me in the eye.

"I'm not attracted to any of the men here, Baby," she said. "I'm attracted to all the men here."

I laughed.

"Of course you are."

"Of course I am. How many sexy women have you seen? This entire village is filled with gorgeous people. Sex hangs in the air like perfume. The question is not: are there attractive men. Like that would be the condition that caused me to stray. There are. They're everywhere. If the lack of potential partners is the only thing keeping you faithful, then you're not actually being faithful. The question is: can you remain faithful despite a plethora of possible lovers."

"Okay. And?"

"I think so."

My laugh came out like a bark.

"You think so?"

She turned demure.

"I'm being honest, Tony. Jesus, look around. Not only are we surrounded by sex, I've got Tish sticking it right in my face. I'm simply admitting the temptation is there. I'm not saying I have plans to sneak and fuck some Farare man."

"You're saying you have thoughts about fucking one."

"Yes. I'm sure you've seen plenty of women here you'd love to get your hands on. Don't pretend otherwise."

"I have."

"Can you guarantee me you won't stumble and stray?"

"Yes."

"You're a liar. No human has that much self-control. Your words inspire less confidence, not more. I want us to talk about this like adults."

"Have you picked out a man? One more than the others?"

"Tony."

"Have you? Be honest."

"Are you asking me to name which man I'd fuck?"

"Yes. I want to know. Who's the biggest threat?"

She laced her fingers and stared at the ground. I'm so stupid. Because of me she was picturing each man she'd seen and weighing how much she wanted to fuck him. Why did I make her do that? I'd forced her to choose a favorite lover. Idiot.

"Never mind," I said.

"No, just give me a moment."

"So many men? Too difficult to narrow the field?"

I was trying to add levity but sounded petty. Brooke graciously ignored my jab.

"When we first encountered the Farare," she said. "Their group leader was a man about forty or so. He was tall and strong and quite breathtaking."

"I remember."

"Him."

"He's the man you want to fuck more than any other?"

"You happy now? You know who I'd fuck if I could. What about you? Does any one of these gorgeous women stand out from the rest?"

"No."

"Seriously? How is that possible?"

"Because there are too many."

"You want to fuck them all. You're such a male."

"Thank you."

"It wasn't a compliment."

We both laughed, tensions easing. I leaned forward and kissed her. I leaned farther forward and she rolled onto her back. She drew her legs up and my soft penis rested against her warm vulva.

"Being naked all the time has certain advantages," she said.

"Do we have time before Tish and Bobby return?"

"Who cares?" she said, opening her mouth to slide her tongue in. "They've watched us fuck before. I don't care anymore if they see us again."

Blood flowed and my penis engorged as we made out. The kisses were deep and sensuous. I held my weight on one arm and palmed her firm breasts. She reached between us, found my erection, and pulled me in. Searing heat wrapped around my inches. My wife groaning from penetration is the most beautiful sound on Earth. She put both hands on my neck and kissed me deeply. I fucked her on my sleeping mat. We lost track of the world, gasping and moaning.

"I told you I heard Brooke making sex sounds," Tish said.

Bodies landed on the sleeping mat ahead of us. Tish flopped on her back and Bobby dropped between her legs, eating pussy. If he knew how busy that pussy had been recently, I doubt he'd attack it with such relish. He probably thought she was soaked because he turned her on that much.

Tish and Brooke were on their backs and head to head, so I flipped Brooke over to all fours. Now she stared down into Tish's pretty face. Bobby stopped licking her pussy and moved over her in a missionary position, slipping his cock in. Our women made out while their men fucked them. Hot. Soon Brooke crawled farther forward, suckling Tish's nipples while offering her own. The women were in a sixty-nine position for licking and sucking each other's breasts.

"That's fucking hot," Bobby said.

"Searing," I agreed.

The women traded kissing passionately for hot oral breast worship for kissing passionately again. I worried Brooke might travel farther down Tish's body, eating her pussy while Bobby fucked her. I did not like that idea. While I would love to put my balls in Tish's face, I hated the idea of Brooke licking Bobby's cock. Brooke must have hated the idea too. She made no move toward Tish's pussy.

Bobby did not last long. Overcome with all the visual stimulation, his hips suddenly pumped fast and he groaned. Tish tried to slow him down but it was too late. He ejaculated inside her and collapsed. Tish rolled him aside and then scooted farther under my wife. I held my breath. This could go really well or really badly. Brooke might hate the idea of Tish that close to my dick.

Tish kissed Brooke's tummy as she moved down. I felt her nose graze my testicles and I gasped. Brooke tensed, ready to protest, but then groaned loudly when Tish swirled her tongue around my wife's clit. Brooke lowered her pussy and Tish feasted. I slowed my in and out, savoring those times Tish's dancing tongue unintentionally found my shaft. I quickly discovered angles that made contact more likely and stayed in that groove, resisting the urge to instantly orgasm to Brooke's tight pussy and Tish's slathering tongue. The sensations were intense. Brooke orgasmed loudly, her entire body shaking.

While Brooke was distracted Tish used the opportunity to send her tongue everywhere, including a delightful drumming of my balls. That was it. I could hold back no longer. Boiling cum rose. Bobby watched with a pained expression. He wished now that he'd not cum so fast. He hated Tish down there, so close to my dick. There were too many arms and legs for him to see what happened but he did not like it anyway.

I pulled Brooke fully onto my cock and Tish attacked my nuts one last time and I spurt wildly inside my wife, groaning and grunting. Brooke egged me on, begging for every drop. Tish sucked my balls one after the other until I shot my last. She quickly slipped from under Brooke and joined Bobby. He whispered a question and Tish shook her head but I was pretty sure that whatever the question was that he had asked, she'd lied.

Chapter 7

We meandered around huts and racks of drying meat and racks of stored weapons and occasional tree trunks, moving ever closer to the village center. We passed people on the way and were passed by others.

"What is this ceremony supposed to be?" Tish asked.

"I'm not sure," Brooke answered. "The women who invited us spoke poor English."

"I hope it's a banquet," Bobby joked. "Like a feast to celebrate a new king or something. I'm hungry."

It seemed the entire village would attend. Everyone wore their best and brightest. Colorful baubles and jewelry adorned men and women alike. Brilliant feathers swished and dangled.

"I think you might be right about crowning a new king," I said. "Almost everyone is going."

Bobby and Tish took the lead with Brooke and I holding hands close behind. She'd asked if Tish had touched me while we fucked and I'd admitted the truth, describing how her tongue had found me often. She wasn't surprised, either by what Tish had done or my inability to stop.

"She better not make any moves on my man," she'd warned.

I felt pride. I liked Brooke defending what's hers.

"Let her try," I'd said. "They won't work."

We joined a group of people moving towards the center. When we arrived, we saw everyone had formed a huge circle around a low crude stage with steps up on all four sides. We found a spot near a large tree and got comfortable with our backs against the trunk. Torches spaced around the clearing and concentrated around the stage filled the area with a warm orange light.

A gorgeous woman entered the ring. She wore thin golden chains around her waist and a headdress of white feathers. She wore dozens of colorful bracelets and dangling earrings. She proceeded up the steps and stood on a small woven grass platform.

From somewhere behind the huts, drums began a low beat.

"What's happening?" Brooke asked. "Is all this just for her?"

"Birthday party, maybe?" Bobby suggested.

The drums grew louder.

The woman started small with a simple swaying of her hips. Her movements quickly grew more complex, rolling and twisting in sexy, sensuous way. Her smile spread and her gaze narrowed. I watched her strong arms and legs clench and relax, building sexual tension with all eyes on her.

"She's hot," Brooke muttered.

The woman lifted a leg and carefully planted her toes. She shifted her weight, pulling her hips aside and causing her labia to part, displaying the path to her womb for us all. A glittery sheen dotted her skin as she began to lightly sweat. Her nipples rose until they beckoned the night sky to come down and suckle them.

She trailed her fingertips over her flesh, teasing us and herself. She opened her pussy with two fingers, showing the crowd.

"So," Bobby said. "Not a birthday party."

The torches cast her in a vibrant glow. The woman tweaked her upright nipples. She wet a finger and slid it down her lithe body. We all stared, mesmerized. The woman eased that finger into her pussy and seductively fucked herself with it. She looked incredibly sexy. Around the ring of people watching, several men began to engorge and rise.

"No children," I murmured.

"What do you mean?" Brooke asked.

"Look at the audience. Adults only. No kids. You can't walk anywhere in this village without tripping over a kid. Tonight, they are all home in bed. Someone is watching over them while this display takes place."

"What do you think is happening here?"

"Look at the men, Baby," I said. "She's making a lot of them hard."

"Why?"

"Who cares?" Tish muttered.

The woman continued to perform. Her delectable ebony body was a treat. She was stunning and I prayed my dick would stay down. I did not want to defend an erection to Brooke. Men can hide nothing.

The woman on stage smiled at the men she'd made erect and one by one turned her hips to offer her pussy. One man left the ring to climb the stairs, his big throbbing erection leading him.

"It's a fertility ritual," Brooke said, breathlessly. "Holy shit. I've read about these. She wants a baby but her current lover hasn't gotten her pregnant. She appeals to the men of the tribe. She's getting older and the pregnancy needs to happen now. Every man that mates with her is committing to help with any baby conceived, since there's a chance he might be the father."

Our eyes went to the man. His big dark cock was pulsing. The woman coiled and turned to sensuously tease and entice. The man removed one of her bracelets and slipped it over his wrist. She placed her head on the woven grass platform but left her ass in the air. She moved her knees farther apart.

"That's sexy as hell," Tish rasped. "Sweet Jesus. Any man that wants her can have her and she suffers no judgement? Nobody demeans or labels her a slut? Fucking hell. That sounds great."

"Seriously?" Bobby asked. "What? You wish that was you up there? You want to offer your pussy to any man at all? You want to get fucked like an animal in front of everybody?"

"I love sex. I always have. You think I discovered sex with you? Come on, Bobby. I've loved fucking since I was a teen."

Bobby turned sullen. He crossed his arms across his chest and watched the stage. Tish rolled her eyes. Brooke was standing in front of me watching the action and she slowly moved her hands behind her. Her fingers brushed my penis. She was checking to see what effect all this had on me but she'd unintentionally provided me a reason to stop doing math equations and welcome the glorious erotic beauty of what happened on stage, and get hard. Her light touch triggered my erection. She curled her fingers around my flaccid shaft and felt me fill her hand. I crossed my arms in front of her, passively using my elbows to squeeze her tits together. I kissed the top of her head.

On stage the man took his erection in hand and aimed for the woman's pussy. He found her hole and gently pushed in. Brooke exhaled and Tish visibly squirmed, crossing her legs at the knees.

"This is bullshit," Bobby muttered. "We're going home. Come on, Tish. We don't need to watch the savages."

"I want to see what happens," she said.

"You know what's going to happen. Let's go."

"No. You go ahead. I'll join you at home later."

She caught him by surprise. He stood in disbelief and then realized how foolish he looked. No way to take it back so he walked off in a huff, cutting through the ring of people. Tish turned to us.

"Am I wrong?" she asked.

"No," Brooke answered. "The scene up there is scorching. I'd think of joining her if I wasn't married. What woman wouldn't? You did nothing wrong."

I let her comments go. I had no desire to end up in the same category as Bobby. Tish looked over the heads of those near us.

"That asshole actually went back to the hut. He left me alone."

"You're not alone, Babe," Brooke said. "You're with us."

My wife squeezed my growing cock hard. She held me with one hand and slipped the other around Tish's shoulders. My wife pulled her close. The man on stage had continued to fuck all this time and now roared like a lion, throwing his head back and filling the woman's womb with jizz. The ring of people showed erections everywhere. Men all around had sprouted pulsating cocks. More men approached and accepted a bracelet. The woman rolled onto her back and spread her legs, ready to receive what every man gave.

"What a dream," Tish said. "I can't take it. I need dick."

"You going back to your hut?" Brooke asked. "Back to Bobby?"

"Hell no. He left me."

She searched the crowd around us. Funny how easy it is for women to find a new lover. She made eye contact with a handsome young warrior and held his gaze for just a heartbeat. That's all it took. He shuffled through the crowd until he joined us. Tish looked down at his big dark cock hanging and then looked him in the eyes with a question. He gestured towards his cock, inviting. Tish bent at the waist, her hands landing on his hips. Her mouth enveloped the head and her lips glided halfway down the shaft. The man groaned. Brooke and I stared. Tish sucked hard, desperately hard, and the man's knees almost buckled. Tish popped him out of her mouth.

"Please don't tell Bobby," she moaned.

"We won't," Brooke said.

A grateful Tish sucked the man back in. On stage the woman fucked one man while another pumped his long cock in her mouth. The audience was powerfully affected, with lots of touching and kissing going on. A man nearby, not understanding our rules were different than his, palmed

Brooke's tit. Brooke and I froze, unsure of the proper etiquette, wishing to avoid insult. The man gently rolled her nipple and Brooke gasped, staring at his hand on her.

"What do I do?" she squeaked.

"I don't know."

Brooke still held my erection and now she guided me between her butt cheeks, searching for her opening. I thought she was crazy to fuck me now in the middle of all this, but then I understood her logic. If I was already in her, no one else could be. I moved my hands to her hips and pushed deep. She sighed, pleased I understood.

All around us people began to breed. An orgy erupted at our feet. Some leaned against trees, some lay on the ground. The smell of sex filled the air. Moans and groans and gasps came at us from every direction.

"Jesus, Tony," Brooke whimpered. "It's everywhere."

Tish was gently pulled away by many dark hands, vanishing in the press of hot chocolate bodies.

Another man planted his mouth over Brooke's nipple and began to suck. My wife groaned. He sucked firmly, drawing his mouth away and pulling her breast into a pointed cone. I felt Brooke shudder.

"Don't leave me," she begged. "Oh, God. Don't let go."

"Never," I replied, pushing my hard cock all the way in.

Someone kissed my shoulder. I tried to see who but my penis buried in Brooke prevented me from turning. The crowd pressed closer and male hands sprouted, caressing Brooke all over. A few tried to ease her away from me but I held fast. Faces emerged, mouths attached to her throat and arms. She was trembling all over.

"Tony," she whined. "Baby— Don't— Jesus!"

Men held her arms, kissing. She was nibbled and sucked and caressed over every inch of skin. I held her hips with both hands, unable to deflect anyone. A second man began to suck her free nipple and Brooke swooned. She moaned and muttered, tossed her head, flung her hair. She squirmed and writhed. Overwhelming sensations poured in. She was impaled on me. A man gently held her face and kissed her lips. She was a honeybee trapped in a spider's web, unable to get away. The men sucked and teased and stroked until Brooke lost her mind. I could not remain still, feeling her tight pussy spasm around me, and slowly pumped my cock.

She finally embraced the mob. Her head fell back against my chest. Her jaw opened and her wide eyes stared at the canopy of leaves overhead. One long moan floated from her throat. Goosebumps spread across her body. Men took turns suckling her breasts, offering her tits to each other. Fingers reached under to feel my cock sliding in and out. They teased her clit. Other men crouched and kissed her legs, licking from ankle to hips. I looked away briefly to find Tish. Our friend had vanished in the press of swarthy bodies.

I felt a tug on Brooke and looked to my wife. A man had hooked his hand behind her head and now pulled her mouth towards his large dark erection. I grabbed at her, trying to pull her against me again, but my hands slid down her sweaty back. Men tried to pull her off my cock so I quickly grabbed her hips again. She was bent at the waist, her head slowly lowered towards his cock. Her eyes got big as he drew near. She resisted their pull but there were too many.

"Tony!" she called. "Tony! Baby! What—?"

I dared not release Brooke to push him away. There was a forest of hard dicks surrounding us. Another man would claim her pussy the instant I withdrew. I clawed at her back to pull her upright but the man guided her head lower. Brooke welded her gaze to the approaching penis.

"Tony!" she whimpered. "Please. Baby. Ton—"

She never finished my name. The man's swollen cock slipped between her lips and into her mouth. The men shifted around us. Ebony hands roamed all over her exposed skin. They tangled their fingers in her long hair and pumped her head up and down, forcing her to suck the cock in her mouth. All I could do was hold my coveted place, the husband's rightful place, inside her pussy. The rest of her was vulnerable to their lusts.

The man held her head and thrust his cock. The two other men steered her hands to their erections. Her fingers instinctively wrapped around their stiff meat and they helped her stroke.

More men pressed forward. Here was a chance to sample the new white woman. Panic seized me. Men tried to push me away, push me out of her, but I held her hips tight and kept myself buried.

The men released her hands and my wife stroked them on her own. The man fucking her mouth sank his inches through her lips over and over. His hips pumped faster and his face contorted. The muscles across his chestnut body suddenly tensed and he grimaced. My mind went blank when

I realized he was filling my wife's mouth with hot cream. With no options and a mouth full of cock, Brooke groaned and swallowed and then swallowed again. He pumped out a bucket of sperm and my wife gulped him down, draining him.

At last his long dark cock slipped from her mouth, followed by the last gulp she never swallowed. Milky drool dripped to the soft grass. A man took his place, lifting his curved cock to her mouth. Once more Brooke serviced four men at the same time.

I'd continued my slow fuck, but more to keep possession of her pussy than to enjoy the sex. I was surrounded by a bewildering amount of carnal activity, distracted and dazed. I gave little thought to the pleasure I provided my wife, so I was shocked when she suddenly orgasmed. How was that possible in such a stressful situation? She moaned around the penis riding her tongue and then uttered a muffled shriek. The sweet sounds of her orgasm shook me. I felt a surge of adrenaline. I felt my heart skip and then race. My nuts tightened. Brooke rocked before me, pulled in many directions, desired by a circle of strong men. She whimpered and moaned and gasped continuously, overwhelmed.

Everything had happened so fast. We went from observers to participants in the blink of an eye. Men tugged at her and almost succeeded in pulling her away. I gripped her hips and pulled her backward, sliding her pussy to the root of my dick. Her cunt was a smoldering tunnel of dripping post-orgasmic arousal. Her head bounced on the cock in her mouth without direction from others. Her hands stroked the length of the penises they held without direction from others. Even her pussy now rode up and down my length, milking and coaxing me. I was flooded with pleasure but mostly my mind was overwhelmed. I saw signs everywhere that Brooke welcomed this onslaught.

My testicles tightened. I fought the orgasm I felt rising, but I fought and lost. A sudden spurt left my dick to blast into her pussy. I tried to stop. I tried to regain control. Another jet spewed. I tried everything to prevent my climax but failed.

An explosion of sensations swept over me. I cried out as I pumped sperm into her. She moaned loudly, grinding her hips at me and milking my load. She wasn't thinking clearly. Coaxing my load was pure instinct. She loves me and wishes to please me and coaxing my load is what she always does.

I emptied my balls and immediately began to soften. I held her hips tightly against mine, trying to prevent the inevitable.

My penis softened and slipped out of her. They all knew I was done. Many hands pushed me away, playfully, joyfully. Of course I wished to share the wealth, they assumed. That was how things were done in this place.

I was in a daze. Men grabbed her hips and turned her. My gaze drifted over the crowd. My mind still reeled. Sounds reached me from far away. I heard the deep rhythm of the drums through a fog. The woman on stage had three lovers now, all taking turns with the pussy she offered. She'd get the child she desired. Closer, I saw mating couples at my feet. I was knee-deep in gorgeous writhing bodies. I saw flashes of white skin and knew Tish was under there, stuffed with multiple cocks.

My wandering observations slowly led me back to Brooke.

My wife was still bent at the waist. She stood on the balls of her feet. An ebony warrior held her head and pumped his cock in her mouth. She held a strong dark erection in each hand and stroked them without hesitation. Two men, looking like they'd already sampled her pussy and wanted to share, held her hips in place while a third man, a powerful warrior more heavily muscled than the others, sought her opening, hard cock in hand. He found it and eased his wide girth deep. Brooke groaned loudly. Her body sagged for an instant at this thick intrusion and then she straightened and pushed her hips back at the man. She shuddered, her pussy stretched wide, and pulled herself down his cock a few inches before forcing herself onto him again. She stumbled but all the men caught her. They forced nothing. They steadied my wife so she could work her hips to milk the cock embedded in her.

Her expression changed from bewilderment to determination. All this changed from something done to her, to something she did to them. Her hands rose and fell, stroking the long lengths she held. Her cheeks dented as she sucked hard on the meat in her mouth. She pumped her hips on the penis inside her until the warrior joined in, holding her around the waist and deep-stroking his stiff penis. I staggered backward, falling against a tree, my legs unable to support me. I gazed at the fantastic, unbelievable, and terrible sight of my sweet wife eagerly and willfully fucking four dark and strong men.

Brooke orgasmed again, a loud, body-shaking earthquake that left her dazed. She wailed deep in her throat. The man in her mouth erupted and she gulped his seed. The man in her pussy took control, moving her legs with a nudge to her ankles. He spread her wide and lowered his hips and began to pump his dark meat deep. I knew he chased a climax and I knew he'd spray all the sperm inside her. I could protest, but I'd protest for nothing. All these men would not allow me to stop this event and, unless my eyes lied to me, Brooke did not want this moment to end.

She rose to her toes as another climax ravaged her. She could barely support her own weight. The men in her hands spurt, fountains of hot jizz flowing over her knuckles. Those men backed away and the man in her pussy pumped faster. Brooke turned to watch him over her shoulder and spied me braced against a tree. She was possessed. She was submerged in lust, saturated by it. She held my gaze briefly and then turned to her lover, watching his strong body and sleek muscles clench in the torchlight. He drove his cock deep and held it for a heartbeat and then did it again, and then bellowed, his meaty spear fully sheathed. Brooke drove her ass at him, spiking his pleasure and keeping him balls-deep. I saw his big testicles lift and lift and lift again, each time a gush of scalding semen injected. He held tight until every salty drop was in her.

At last he let go and Brooke slowly drew herself down his length. She dropped to the soft mossy ground and rolled onto her back, breathing hard. Her many men stumbled away, in search of sleep or perhaps another woman. The spontaneous orgy had run its course. Passions drained. People snuggled and cuddled or wandered back to their huts. I left my tree to join Brooke on the ground, looking down at her.

"Kiss me," she whispered.

I did. Her mouth was salty. A bolt of electricity flashed through me. Our soft lips pressed together again. I tasted them on her tongue and a jolt of lust rocked me.

"That was crazy," she muttered.

"It all happened so fast."

"There was no way to prevent it."

"None."

"Not and still receive the help we need from then."

"Exactly."

I don't know why we felt the need to justify what we'd just done, but we did. She grabbed my face and kissed me again. She knew the flavor her mouth held and wanted it shared with me. This was not something she'd done alone. I was responsible too.

"Where's Tish?"

"Over there," I said, pointing. "She's under a pile of bodies. Tonight was Heaven for her. She welcomed any man that wanted her."

"That makes two of us."

Brooke looked down at her body. She looked at her hands. She tested the liquid oozing from her pussy. There were dried streaks everywhere, seminal evidence of men not her husband. My rational mind reasoned no one was to blame. We were ignorant of Farare customs and got caught unprepared. Anger and jealousy had no place with us right now. We were innocent.

All that conflicted with what my eyes showed me. Brooke was bathed in semen. Her breath smelled of it. Her mouth tasted of it. Her hands were coated and her vagina flooded. She basted in sperm. Some of it was mine, yes, but that made me a participant, not a victim. I thought I should be angry and jealous, but, again, those emotions simply had no right. I even tried to feel them and maybe, buried deep, there was a tickle. Mostly I felt like we'd just come down from being high. Like we'd smoked and drank and gone to a crazy concert and now sat dazed, wondering what the hell just happened.

"How many fucked me?" she asked.

"Hard to say. You were made available to many and I think several enjoyed you. You provided a long of orgasms but only two men came inside you, I think."

"Who?"

"Me, and some big muscular warrior."

She cleared her throat.

"It all seemed to last forever," she said, surveying the clearing. "I felt swarmed by men. There were hard penises all around me, everywhere."

"I was knee-deep in bodies."

"Did you touch anyone else?"

"No," I said.

She seemed relieved.

"I guess we chalk this up to experience. No way we knew what was coming. Next time we'll stay in our hut. Let's get Tish and head home. Bobby's probably worried."

"Bob's going to be a problem. He'll be furious with Tish."

"He'll need to get over it. We're stuck here. We are at the mercy of these people. If he aims that anger at our hosts he might find himself outside the wall. How long would he last? We'd be forced to leave with him and hope we made it to civilization."

We got to our feet. There were clumps of sleeping bodies and we shuffled forward until we saw white skin. Tish lay with her head resting on a dark thigh, long soft penis still in her mouth. She toyed with the thing, for the joy of enjoying a dick. She saw us and spit the man out.

"I gotta go," she told him.

He dropped his head to the ground, ready for sleep. I helped Tish stand. She was covered with streaks of wet and dried cum, more than Brooke.

"What do I tell Bobby?" she asked. "The truth gets me in trouble. A lie gets me in trouble."

"I'll talk to him," I said. "He needs to understand our situation. I'll convince him you did what you had to do to get us home."

We stepped over sleeping men and women, headed back to our hut. Bobby waited for us at the doorway. I went ahead while the girls stayed back and talked, no doubt comparing notes on the night they experienced.

I asked Bobby to follow me and he did. He argued. He was hurt. He felt betrayed. He understood that these natives did things different from what he was used to and that was fine. It was Tish's eagerness to embrace their ways that upset him. He asked if Tish had fucked other men and I told him yes. Before he got too angry, I shared that Brooke had too, so he and I were in the same boat. He felt better having someone to commiserate with.

We headed back. There was awkward silence for a minute and Tish did a great job trying to look guilty. She took his hand and led him to her sleeping mat, lifting his penis and sucking him in. She knew the man well. He was hard within minutes and revenge-fucked her until he felt better. That was fine with Tish. Despite the night we had, she was ready for more. So was Brooke.

Chapter 8

The lake was not on our map. This lake wasn't on any map. Brooke and I stood along the shore watching the colorfully decorated Farare fish from thatched canoes. A soft mist fell and water dripped from everything. Rain was a constant. We'd been in the village a while now and we'd grown accustomed to the perpetual rain. We welcomed it. Sometimes a fine mist and sometimes a blinding downpour, but always a relief from the heat and humidity.

Also on the lake were men floating on square rafts. These men set traps for strange, bright red freshwater crabs. The crabs were wily. The traps needed to be disguised. Set them wrong and go hungry. Brooke said she wanted to document the tribes hunting practices but I couldn't help but notice one of the trappers was J'Fal, her forty-something favorite from our first encounter. My wife took innocent notes but there were many times I caught her eyes darting at the handsome older stud. His body was well proportioned, with broad shoulders and a narrow waist. He was strong without being overly muscular. His ass was round and firm and his dark and sleepy cock hung like a thick snake.

I'd casually made inquiries around the village. J'Fal was easily the best tracker and hunter amongst them. He was well respected by the men and desired by most of the women, including my beloved wife.

All the conflict I didn't feel after the spontaneous tribal orgy came back double regarding this man. Maybe it was the way Brooke looked at him. Maybe it was his confidence and chiseled body. Maybe it was the intimidation of that oversized penis hanging black and ready.

Maybe, it was all those things combined.

I was eager for us to leave the village and get on the trail again. We'd proven our worth and earned the respect of the villagers. Bobby acted aloof to everyone but Tish, Brooke, and I were considered family. We could stay indefinitely. The offer had some appeal. Bana talked to me at great length regarding the abandonment of modern civilization and a return to nature.

A canoe paddled onto the sandy shore. The men jumped out, carrying strings of fish. I'd learned a little Fararian and practiced with the men. They were helpful and patient. I caught Brooke staring at J'Fal when she thought I wasn't looking. I questioned myself why I cared so much about this one man. Hadn't Brooke already sucked and fucked many others? That barrier had been smashed. Why was I trying to reestablish it?

I needed to give it some thought. I sensed other things moved within me, emotions beneath the surface I did not understand. I'm not simple minded. I understand that on some level I rationalized what happened, maybe even found it a little exciting. I wanted to know myself before blindly racing ahead.

Unfortunately, in this life, some decisions are taken from you.

A man from the canoe had some questions about English so I spent time with him. J'Fal had paddled to shore, traps set, and started talking to Brooke. I watched them with my side-eye. Each time I thought we'd finished and tried to join my wife, the man had another question about the funny language English. The sun was setting so men gathered nets and paddles and boats and we all headed back to the village. I was finally able to join my wife but just as J'Fal was leaving. He gave me a big smile and a wave. Brooke and I stayed to watch the blazing orange sun sink into the lake. We held each other and kissed and I fought the urge to pry. I fought my insecurities and fears and did not question her conversation with J'Fal. I'd never questioned any of her other conversations with native men. It would stand out as strange to do so now.

We returned to the village and enjoyed a community dinner. There was laughter and conversation and we all got a little tipsy on rumberry wine. The crowd thinned gradually, with Brooke and I one of the last to leave. Tish and Bobby were already asleep when we got to our hut so we slipped quietly into bed. The wine knocked me out in less than a minute.

Our extended stay in the village had also taught us that nights in the jungle are black as pitch. Doubly so inside our hut. I was awakened by a gentle bumping and opened my eyes slowly. The moon had risen but it took me a while to see anything. Brooke crept from our hut as quietly as she could.

"Your trust just slipped out the door," Bobby murmured.

"What do you mean?"

He scoffed. Tish mumbled, deep asleep.

"I mean you think Brooke just left to meet a man. I see your expression despite the dark. Earlier you said you trust her completely. I can see that's no longer true. I see it on your face. You're worried, but you're right to be. This village, and the men in it, have stolen our women from us."

"She probably needs to pee."

"Right. You don't believe that."

I looked out the opening at the dark canopy and quiet huts.

"Let's follow to keep her safe," he said. "If she goes pee, I'll look away."

Bobby carefully rose to his feet. He pulled the cover over Tish and gestured towards the doorway. He was calling me out and I didn't like it but I was curious about Brooke. He'd gotten that part right.

We quietly exited the hut together.

We took several minutes to locate Brooke. The ground was soft and loamy and the moonlight faint. We finally heard soft voices ahead and slowed, approaching the empty village square silently. Brooke, and a beautifully adorned J'Fal, sat at a center table, talking.

"See?" I whispered. "Innocent."

"Let's stay and watch a minute or two."

"They're just talking."

He looked at me like I couldn't possibly be that dumb.

They sat on opposite sides of the crude table but Brooke soon moved around to his side. Their conversation turned intimate when they leaned their faces close. Brooke scooted closer and then turned her body to face his, lifting her leg and straddling the bench, which aimed her bare pussy directly at the man. J'Fal dropped his gaze to look at her open slit.

"Told you," Bobby whispered. "She just made him an offer."

"They're just talking," I said, again.

He swung his leg over the bench too. Now they faced each other. He scooted forward until their knees touched. Brooke reached a hand to palm his broad chest. She followed the curve of his muscles. His cock rested on the bench like a club but Brooke studiously ignored it, choosing instead to run her hands over his strong arms and rippled stomach. He did nothing to stop her, smiling at her fascination. His cock began to lift from the bench like a cobra, wide head flaring, thick shaft slowly elevating to point at my wife. She ignored it still.

"Tish fucked some random guy," Bobby softly said. "I hated it, but I could write it off. Brooke looks enthralled. I've seen her check that dude out before. She looks at him all the time. I think you might have a problem on your hands."

He was right. Brooke looked at J'Fal with sweet, loving, mischievous eyes. His cock continued to rise until it curved up from his lap, topped with a wide helmet head. My wife avoided his cock, even when she leaned forward to kiss him. J'Fal took to the act instantly. Brooke kissed the man with growing passion, soon slipping her tongue into his mouth. He looked surprised but pleased. They kissed with deep feelings.

"Sorry, my friend," Bobby said. "You've lost her to him."

My guts knotted. My throat constricted. A rivulet of nervous sweat trickled down my naked back. I watched Brooke with the man she lusted for and knew, knew she wanted to fuck him. Bobby knew it too. He saw every move she made. He saw her tender touch and her meaningful kisses.

I felt him smirking in the dark.

J'Fal stood, bringing his solid erection level with Brooke's face. She still hadn't looked at the thing but I saw she wanted to. She was avoiding it. It was like a Christmas present she delayed unwrapping, simply to enjoy the knowledge she had a present to unwrap. He spoke to her and she nodded enthusiastically. He waited, forcing nothing. The choice was hers.

At last Brooke lowered her eyes. She ran her gaze up and down the length of him, keeping her hands to herself. She stared at the bulbous head and marveled at the pulsing veins decorating every inch of the thick shaft. I swear she had strong feelings separate from the man. She put her hands behind her back and bent her head forward like a dutiful choir boy. Her lips kissed the head and then flowered, gliding over the tip and then expanding around the glans. She held the head in her mouth and I heard J'Fal suck air. Whatever she was doing to him with her tongue almost took his legs out. She paused a moment and then began to move her lips down the shaft. J'Fal looked to the sky. My wife struggled with his meat, stopping about halfway. Her cheeks fluttered as she teased the head. She worked her way slowly to the tip again and then stood and braced her hands against the table, bending slightly, offering him her pussy from behind.

"Jesus, Tony," Bobby said. "That's painful. Watching the end of your marriage right in front of your face. I'm sorry."

He said sorry, but there was satisfaction in his voice. He was happy my wife strayed too. He was pleased, happier to be proved right than sad at what he believed was the end of a friend's marriage. It was a shitty thing to do. He was being an asshole.

"Stop right there," I called out, abandoning our hiding place.

J'Fal stopped and watched me approach. In his world, he'd done no wrong. He waited patiently to hear what I had to say. Brooke cowered. She tried to cover herself with her arms and, failing that, tried to turn her body away. The table blocked her. She wanted to shrink and vanish.

"Tony," she pleaded. "Baby. I can explain."

I walked right up to them.

"I love you, Tony," she said.

"I know you do."

I grabbed J'Fal's thick cock around the base. My fingers almost met, but couldn't, and that knocked the wind out of me. His cock felt strange in my hand, familiar but different. He was rigid like steel, hot, unyielding, pulsing with his strong heartbeat. I felt his runaway desire for my wife. I squeezed his throbbing meat. Brooke was going to feel this.

I pushed her shoulder to turn her and tugged his cock closer. Bobby was watching. Brooke was watching. J'Fal was watching as I searched for her opening and then pulled him forward, sinking several inches of him into her. My wife groaned, disbelief twisting her expression. I tugged again, pushing more stiff inches into her dripping cunt. I pushed his fleshy iron rod farther inside her, causing her to moan loudly. I released J'Fal and stepped back.

Let Bobby think about what he'd just seen me do.

The powerful warrior grabbed Brooke's wrists and pulled her arms backward. He sank more of his cock, driving the front of her thighs against the table. She was pinned in this position which was his intent. His ass began to flex, clenching as he drove his hips forward and pumped his cock. Brooke hung her head, gasping for air. She slapped her palms on the tabletop and braced her arms and J'Fal began to saw in and out. My wife arched her back, jaw dropping, eyes opening wide.

"Oh my God!" she cried.

The man grabbed a breast and pushed his cock even deeper. His large balls swung back and forth as he pumped her pussy. My wife turned to see his face. She studied his flexing abs. She watched his body move in time with hers and she swooned a little. How long and how badly had she craved this man? Now, not only was he fucking her, but her husband had guided the man's cock in. I asked myself why I did it but had no good answer. Partly because Bobby was smug and partly because to escape this place we'd need this man's help and partly because Brooke wanted this man inside her, and I live to make her happy.

It's complicated.

I took another step back and Bobby left the hiding place to join me. Brooke saw him and a wave of shame washed over her but she did not stop. She didn't even slow. She thrust her hips at the man, ensuring she captured every inch on every thrust. Her eyes closed as she savored the exquisite pleasure of a new lover and one so strongly desired.

"She's going to cum fast," Bobby muttered.

It was obvious to him just as it was obvious to me. J'Fal moved his hands to her hips and stared at that place where his cock passed into her. Her tight ring was a seal around his girth, driving them both crazy. Brooke made fists.

"Jesus!" she growled. "Fuck! Here it comes! Jesus!"

Her back arched until I feared it would snap. She made animal sounds as she climaxed all over his fat inches. He slowed to heighten her pleasure and then built speed again, thrusting deep, mashing her cervix, chasing an orgasm of his own. She was still in the stratosphere when he pressed the head of his cock against her vagina barrier and spewed hot jizz into her womb. Brooke lost her mind, sobbing with lust, spasming pussy milking every drop from his shaft. He released her hips and she fell forward, resting her torso on the table, breathing deep and fast.

"Now everyone knows," Bobby said, nudging my elbow.

I glanced around the clearing. Several people watched from doorways. By noon tomorrow the whole village would know. J'Fal continued to thrust. Brooke's body rocked back and forth as the warrior pumped his hips and filled her cunt, inseminating my wife before my eyes, before many eyes.

I waited for him to pull out, his long snake drooling semen. I waited for her to turn and see me. I waited for my wife to come into my arms, but she didn't. She hugged him as he slipped an arm around her shoulders.

"Go home," she told me, smiling. "I'll come back tomorrow. J'Fal and I aren't finished with each other yet." She lifted his hefty meat and weighed it on her palm. "I think this beast still has some life in it."

I was dumbstruck. I'd assumed after granting her this enormous favor she'd come home with me. Now I stood there stupidly, waiting, only to be dismissed. My eyes went to the dark cock resting in her hand. His balls were massive. I imagined how much sperm he'd pump into her before he gave her back, how much he'd add to what she carried already. A red-hot spike pierced my heart. I kept my expression blank. I wouldn't beg her to leave with me.

Bobby rested his hand on my shoulder.

"Sorry, brother," he said. "She's made her choice. Let's go."

I had ice water running through my veins. J'Fal was innocent. He stood there unassuming, waiting patiently. Brooke had raw lust in her eyes. Her fingers slowly curled around his shaft like she subconsciously feared he'd get away.

"See you tomorrow," I muttered.

I let Bobby guide me back to our hut.

Chapter 9

I ate breakfast with Tish and Bobby. As expected, Tish wanted every detail. She was so annoyed she'd slept through it all. She remembered J'Fal from our first encounter and I know she wanted to rave about how hot and sexy he was, but she graciously stopped herself for my sake. She questioned me extensively about Brooke's encounter last night. Were the lovers sexy in the pale moonlight? Did J'Fal get hard or really hard, which I guess is a distinction women make. I had no idea. Tish wanted to know if Brooke orgasmed. She asked if J'Fal did, and then carefully inquired if he was inside Brooke when he did. When I answered he was, she sighed and melted a little. Every word out of my mouth turned her on. She finally asked me to step outside so she could fuck Bobby to death.

Brooke still was not home by lunch. The village went about the same daily routines the village always went about. Nothing had changed for any of them. Everything had changed for me.

A few hours after lunch, I began sprouting spontaneous erections. I'd be clearing land or thrashing flax or digging trenches and my penis would begin to swell. One of the Farare women noticed and thoughtfully came over to help but I thanked her and shooed her away. I had every right to enjoy her company but my heart wasn't into it. My heart was with J'Fal and Brooke, no doubt fucking again and I knew that down deep in my subconscious. I might be working on a task but my mind was picturing Brooke. I tried to think of other things.

By dinner, my blue-balls ached like they'd been hit with a hammer. I swear I could feel my testicles churning out extra semen. My body believed we were in competition with J'Fal and wanted to be ready.

Brooke walked into our hut about an hour after the evening meal. She looked exhausted but peaceful and serene. She hugged Tish and Bobby and then came to me, stepping into my arms and delivering a kiss that would have melted steel.

"Miss me?" she asked.

Tish grabbed Bobby's elbow and steered them both out the door. Thoughtful.

"Very much," I said, suddenly filled with doubt and anxiety.

I ran my eyes over her body. That she had spent hours fucking and being fucked was obvious. Like J'Fal, she felt she'd done nothing wrong. Hadn't I guided his hard cock into her? Was any greater consent possible?

My gaze roamed every inch of her flesh but I lingered at her pussy. She was a mess, returning to me directly, without bathing. Fresh semen ran down her inner thighs. Dried streaks reached her knees. Her cunt was awash with sperm. She had streaks around her mouth too.

My dick rose like magic.

She wrapped fingers around me and delivered another kiss that left me weak. She moved to the sleeping mats, tugging me down by my penis. She placed her forehead on the mat and lifted her ass, displaying her used cunt for me to see. Her free hand spread her labia for me, a raunchy invitation and I admit, I felt a powerful lust. She tried to guide my erection into her but I had other, stronger desires. Like I had so many times before, I ate that pussy from behind until she wailed in orgasm. Then I stood and sank my dick deep, sliding through a lake of him. I lasted only minutes, spraying wildly inside her.

"Perfect," she muttered, before crumpling to the mat.

She slid into a deep sleep. I covered her with a blanket and joined Bobby and Tish at the village's central fire. Tish immediately started with the questions again but not of the session just completed, but of the night before, Brooke and J'Fal. Bobby told her to leave me alone but she didn't.

"You ask for every detail about the man," Bobby complained. "It's like you wish J'Fal was fucking you instead of Brooke."

He stomped away.

"I'm sorry if I made you feel shitty," she said. "I'm just so curious. Brooke has never done something like this. Ever. I've known her longer than you. I was with her during her early crazy college years. She partied but men frightened her. She was so insecure. The men of this village have changed all that."

"Especially J'Fal. I hate the way she looks at him."

"I understand. I've seen it too. She wants to fuck that man to death."

I gave her a hard stare.

"Oh. Sorry," she said. "I'm a klutz. You don't need to hear that."

We talked about everything other than Brooke. After a while I asked if she intended to break up with Bobby.

"The second we reach civilization," she said. "He thinks he owns me. I talk but he doesn't listen. After all this time, he has no idea who I am. Can you imagine a boyfriend of mine not understanding how I feel about new dick? Jesus. I swear he has selective hearing. I've tried to tell him exactly how I feel but he hears something else. Lately I just hide everything from him. I'm sure you've seen me lie to the man but seriously, who needs the headache? We've started arguing a lot."

A large shape emerged from the shadows of a nearby hut. J'Fal, smiling, looking happy, draped in feathers and bracelets and beads. Fucker. He approached me.

"I will take you tomorrow," he said.

"Take us where?" I asked.

"To the green river. Cu'Tan and D'Sala will join me. We will get you there."

"The green river? Do you mean tomorrow we leave the village? Tomorrow we set out for the Amazon? We're leaving? For good?"

"Yes," he said. "It is time."

Tish threw her arms around the man's neck from behind. He laughed, happy she was happy. I couldn't help but notice his swinging cock, bouncing around as Tish clung to him. That thing had spent the night inside my wife. That thing had filled her, sent her home dripping and exhausted. I was thrilled we were leaving but I wondered, staring at his meat, if Brooke would feel the same.

Chapter 10

J'Fal raised two fingers. We knew that meant be still, make no sound. Cu'Tan was the youngest and he raced up a nearby tree, generating no more noise than a soft breeze. His keen eyes surveyed the jungle and then he signaled to J'Fal. We got moving again but Cu'Tan drew his bow and notched an arrow.

"Jaguar," J'Fal murmured.

We walked in single-file, lined up behind J'Fal like school children. His tribesmen followed at the end. We were three days out from the village and had already faced a gang of angry black spider monkeys and two big cats. We never saw the cats but the men from the village assured us they were there, watching, stalking. We continued our trek and soon heard rushing water. We broke through the dense foliage to discover a rocky pool of clear water fed by a small waterfall. Cu'Tan and D'Sala stood guard while we filled canteens. Tish and Bobby entered the water to wash away the sweat. They waded deep enough to go under, crossing the clear pool with two kicks.

"Hag om!" Cu'Tan shouted, pointing.

J'Fal was standing in an instant. A long flint knife had appeared in his hand. Without hesitation, he dove into the water, swimming towards our friends. I noticed sleek ripples from the far side, ripples heading towards Bobby. Then I saw it, dark against the darker bottom of the pool. An Amazonian crocodile known as a black caiman slithered under the surface. Bobby kicked unaware, playfully swimming with Tish. The creature's jaws opened, prepared to sink teeth into soft flesh.

J'Fal's blade bit deep, penetrating the beast's throat behind the jaw. He drove the weapon all the way in. Water churned as the monster thrashed and at last Bobby understood his danger. Brooke screamed. D'Sala joined J'Fal in the water, stabbing the reptile, turning the frothing water bright red. Bobby surfaced and swam to protect Tish. We all watched as the tribesmen battled for Bobby's life. When the water finally settled, J'Fal and D'Sala were triumphant. J'Fal swam to the shallows dragging the carcass behind him. He dropped the body on the rocky shore. D'Sala joined him followed by our friends. We all stared at the dead caiman.

"Thank you," Bobby said, offering his hand.

J'Fal stared at it and then remembered what he was supposed to do. They shook. Bobby shook D'Sala's hand too. Cu'Tan dropped from his perch in the tree and set to work dressing the beast. We'd have fresh meat for lunch. I watched Cu'Tan work with practiced and efficient hands, realizing no part of the animal would go to waste. Meat was food, hide was armor, guts would become thread. Brooke asked if we should worry there were more and J'Fal explained these creatures were territorial, only one inhabited each area.

"You're safe," he told my wife, kissing her on the forehead.

Brooke had said little about her night and day she'd spent with the warrior. I gleaned he'd fucked her frequently. Their sex had been passionate and immensely satisfying and Brooke had returned to our group reluctantly. Now she and J'Fal shared an intimacy that stabbed right through me. They touched tenderly from time to time, like the little forehead kiss, or fingertips drawn across an arm or along the back. They were lovers and welcomed the change in their relationship. She was still every bit as attached to me as she had been, but she was also now attached to him.

The tribesmen got to work cooking and cleaning. We feasted on fresh crocodile and berries and washed it all down with crystal clear water from the stream. After, we sat around talking about the attack and the tribesmen shared stories of great hunts. D'Sala showed us scars he'd acquired during battle so Cu'Tan tried to top him. The young men were eager to show off.

"What about you?" I asked J'Fal.

D'Sala laughed.

"J'Fal has no scars," he said. "J'Fal never loses. Nothing touches him."

The older warrior sat on a rock and ate a handful of berries. Brooke left my side to take a seat next to him, sharing beef jerky from her pack. He said something to make her giggle and she playfully smacked his thigh. She left her hand there. He brushed some hair off her face, looping the strand behind her ear. He left his hand on her shoulder. She slid to the spongy ground at his feet, resting her chin on his bare knee, breast pressed against his calf. She smiled sweetly up at him. To watch her with him was agonizing.

Without a word, she lowered her face to his lap.

His penis rested atop his scrotum, following the curve of the sack until it pointed towards the ground. Her first kiss landed on the large head. He leaned back a little and opened his knees and allowed Brooke to proceed. She trailed kisses along the shaft until she reached his flat stomach, where she reversed and kissed down to the head again. If she was trying to awaken the beast, she succeeded, as J'Fal seemed to have a constant desire for my wife. His thick cock began to engorge, filling and expanding and beginning to rise. My lovely bride moaned gratefully and Tish and Bobby cast me a quick and worried look. I was beyond that now. Way beyond.

J'Fal's large cock rose until it pointed away from his body and Brooke sat on her legs so she could slip the pulsing head into her mouth. Most times she sucks cock like she wants to make it explode but she did not do that this time. This time was all about the pleasure of J'Fal's fat cock in her mouth, this time was languid, leisurely, relaxed and unhurried. She savored the throbbing feel of him resting on her tongue. She enjoyed the spongy head filling her mouth. She sucked and licked and slobbered all over, coaxing him bigger and harder, before nibbling a path down the shaft to his balls. J'Fal leaned back on his elbows, watching her masterful worshipping of his dick. We all watched my wife worship his cock. I took a moment to realize she partially did it for us, her viewing audience. She was trying to get to us, and she did.

Tish whispered something to Bobby and he spoke an emphatic refusal. She earnestly implored and he refused again.

"But he saved your life," she murmured.

They turned to watch Brooke suck cock. J'Fal was stiffer now, filling out. His shaft had a slight upward curve. The head was dark red.

"Fine," Bobby relented.

Tish left his side instantly, joining my wife between J'Fal's open knees. Brooke giggled and aimed the big cock at Tish's mouth. Bobby whimpered a little to see Tish tongue the pee hole before sucking him in. I considered taunting the man the way he had me but declined.

Our women attacked that hard dick. Brooke sucked each testicle into her mouth and rolled them around while Tish bobbed. She then left those balls to lick up the shaft, meeting Tish at the head in a lip sandwich. Cu'Tan and D'Sala were amazed. Tish noticed and waved them over, adding two cocks to the ladies' efforts.

"Figures," Bobby muttered.

Brooke and Tish looked high, like they were drunk on dick. They had three hard cocks and lavished attention on each, moving from one to the next, licking and sucking and drooling with delight over the offered man-meat. Sometimes they'd work together and sometimes they'd focus their attention alone. Sometimes they'd suck with abandon and sometimes they'd slow, savoring each pulsating inch of veined manhood.

D'Sala was the first to take a chance at more, grabbing Tish by her hips and moving into position behind her. Bobby began to rise to his feet in protest but D'Sala sank his cock into her sopping pussy and Tish's cry of pleasure sat Bobby down again. He was dumbfounded. D'Sala began a slow pump of his big dark cock and all Bobby could do was stare.

J'Fal stood and lifted Brooke, holding her under her arms like a child and bringing her face to face. My wife giggled and hooked her legs around his waist. He lowered her a little, just enough to align with her pussy, and then he settled her into place, penetrating her from below. I watched his thick veiny member spread her open as he penetrated.

Cu'Tan found himself the odd-man out and moved in front of Tish, lifting his cock to her mouth. Tish eagerly bent over, sucking him in, pleasuring two men at the same time. To the tribesmen it was an enjoyable way for her to say thanks. To Bobby it was a supremely painful display. Tish revealed her true self in this moment: the ease with which she gave herself, the delight she felt in being desired. She had no hesitations, no second thoughts. She was completely comfortable handling two men at the same time.

Every worry or concern or suspicion Bobby ever had about his girlfriend came flooding back, confirmed. Eventually he turned his eyes on me, wondering if I was as shocked as he or if, somehow, I'd known this about Tish all along. He got his answer.

"You could have said something," he growled.

"Not my place to police your relationship."

Tish held Cu'Tan's hips and helped him fuck her face, pulling him forward, ramming his cock down her own throat. Brooke circled J'Fal's neck with her arms and pulled his mouth close for a kiss. He held her weight effortlessly, returning her kisses while slowly pumping her. Over and over I saw his wet and gleaming shaft appear and then vanish, leaving only his big black balls hanging beneath her.

"I hope he cums in her," Bobby said, in a pathetic attempt to upset me.

I refused to take the bait. I get that Bobby's feelings were hurt and he felt betrayed by Tish and me, but his mean-streak has got to go.

"I'm sure he will," I said. "Right about the same time D'Sala and Cu'Tan fill Tish at both ends.

Bobby threw a punch at my face but I was ready for it, easily side-stepping and landing a hard shot to his jaw. He dropped to the squishy ground, shaking his head, rattled. Tish saw me hit Bobby and her eyes flared. Her expression turned wicked and she shoved her pussy down on the dick in her. Bobby shook his head to clear it and struggled to rise and Tish orgasmed like a tornado as she watched, displaying a mean-streak of her own. I wondered what conversations had passed between them recently to make her get off on seeing Bobby humbled. She was clearly done with the man.

Bobby sat and rubbed his jaw, all thought of attacking me gone. I was glad. I understood his pain and his need to lash out, but I wouldn't allow him to direct his hurt and anger at me or those I care about. Also, my hand hurt like hell. Punching someone on the jaw sucks.

Tish groaned and Bobby turned his sullen attention on her. She looked sexy as fuck. It occurred to me that if Tish looked amazing right now, then Brooke did too, only I couldn't see it because all I saw was my wife getting fucked by another man. I shifted gears in my head, forgetting I was married to Brooke and trying to see her as just another woman taking dick, like Tish.

Boom. That worked. All at once I saw her in a new way and yes, she looked stunning. J'Fal's muscles flexed and contracted as he moved her up and down on his dick. Brooke writhed up there, long hair flowing, thighs and arms struggling to keep herself centered. She was shiny with sweat, groaning and gasping from penetration, working with animal desperation as she rode his big cock. She orgasmed and looked breathtaking. She was the sexiest thing I'd ever seen. She was overwhelmed with lust and desire.

My dick began to rise.

Bobby noticed. He rolled his eyes, understanding only that I was getting hard from watching my wife get fucked. He abruptly stood and wandered into the jungle, unable to watch any of us anymore. I considered joining J'Fal and Brooke in a threesome, conquering her little asshole while he took her pussy, but I hesitated. I realized I'd feel strangely like an intruder into their domain. What they shared was theirs. What she shared with me was ours. I would stay back and watch, deriving my pleasure and excitement from the sight of her and how she looked in these moments. In a way, Brooke was now a sexual creature like Tish. I watched her in the same way we'd watched Tish so many times. Brooke had evolved. She'd changed out here in the jungle, and I liked it.

I took my erection in hand and slowly stroked.

J'Fal used Brooke's body. He lifted her repeatedly, allowing her weight to carry her down his length again. She was mesmerized by his strength and the feel of his iron rod in her guts. She clung to him, taking his inches and building towards another climax. She was gorgeous. She was radiant. She took my breath and when she glanced over and saw me watching, saw me jerking my dick to the sight of her infidelity, she orgasmed again, just like she had when I'd guided his cock into her. She almost sobbed, gasping for air and struggling to cling to the man.

Tish cried out as another powerful orgasm shook her and D'Sala and Cu'Tan grunted almost simultaneously, pumping their dicks and emptying their balls. I watched for a moment or two and then swung my attention to Brooke once more. She had gone limp, drained, and only J'Fal's tremendous strength kept her in place. He carried her to the loamy soil and pinned her to a bed of lichen, close enough to the pool's edge they were hit by a fine spray. He thrust harder now, ramming his cock deep with an urgent need to inseminate. Brooke slapped her hands on his dark ass and pulled him in each time. He wasn't driven merely by the pursuit of pleasure; he wasn't driven towards the pursuit of an orgasm's pleasure. He was driven by the need to breed. He wanted to claim Brooke, to put a baby in her. To conceive and create a new human person with this woman he desired so badly.

That awareness detonated in my mind and my semen launched in an explosive climax. I grunted and blew my load, spraying the ground near them both. J'Fal, with his back to me, had no idea. Brooke saw me blasting semen everywhere and urged her lover to fill her, even as her eyes were glued to my spitting dick.

An instant later he roared like the jungle cats that hunted us, roared and released a flood of boiling sperm deep inside her. I wished I could continue to ejaculate each time he did. I wished I could match him, blasting a long rope of semen timed with his expulsions, but I couldn't. I finished and then watched as he launched jet after hot jet of potent seed into her.

He finished, finally, and rolled aside, long dark snake slithering from her hole followed by a rush of pure white fluid. The five of them lay on the soft ground, gasping for air, chuckling, bodies tingling, awash with jangled and frayed nerves still firing. D'Sala quipped something too low for me to hear and they all laughed. Breathing returned to normal and they rose to enter the pool and wash. The men bathed the women, sticking with the partners they just had. The women returned the favor. I gasped as Brooke lifted J'Fal's heavy cock and gently and lovingly washed the beast.

Soon we were on the trail again. Bobby rejoined us but had nothing to say. Tish let him sulk. He moved to the end of our group, with only D'Sala and Cu'Tan behind him. We logged many miles this way, refreshed by our spontaneous tryst.

Brooke cuddled me when we camped at night but deflected any attempt at sex. She was tender and tired and craving sleep.

The tribesmen rotated the night watch. I offered but they declined and I got the sense they did not trust a man from civilization to detect the silent beasts of the jungle. Tish and Bobby slept apart. They were done as a couple.

I was awakened by Brooke's mouth enveloping my soft penis. I lay silent, allowing her to work. She was crazy horny. My intuition told me I would get her mouth only, for now, and I accepted that. I was so horny I'd take whatever I could get. I enjoyed a perverse delight knowing J'Fal routinely flooded her womb and yet I would claim only her mouth. Brooke attacked my cock like she starved and I let cum launch as soon as I could. She sucked hard, drawing every drop before snuggling me in sleep again.

This became our routine for days: at some point during our hike we'd break for a meal or water and Brooke would fuck J'Fal while Tish serviced D'Sala or Cu'Tan. At night, Brooke would slip her head under our blanket and suck me dry. It was an erotic torture we both enjoyed. We had an unspoken understanding that J'Fal held an elevated position over me. We pretended, without discussing it, that we did so because he led us home, that he provided protection and safety, that we needed his help. Brooke's attention paid for these services.

But we understood that wasn't the truth.

The truth was it titillated her as much as it tortured me. We'd discovered a new game. J'Fal was given the privilege of her pussy while I was relegated to her mouth and we both received an enormous erotic charge from my denial. I knew that once we left this jungle and returned to our urban life, this charade would cease. She knew it too. We let ourselves enjoy this drama of Brooke, the captured Jungle Bride, and Tony, her long-suffering husband. My dick had never been so hard. I would sprout an erection at bedtime, anticipating what night would bring. Brooke delighted in finding me already hard, tacit approval of her lusty day-time ways.

Oddly, Bobby approved of Brooke's behavior too. He began to watch J'Fal claim my woman. Soon he began masturbating as he watched, enthralled by their animal passions and the shattering of civilized taboos.

For Tish, he had nothing.

Chapter 11

"Home," J'Fal said, pointing through some trees.

I walked forward, parting vines and branches. A wide green river flowed, a small settlement on the banks. Men fished. Women sewed nets. Children played.

"They will take you to Anori," he continued. "From there to Manaus. You will reach Macapa in days, maybe a week."

"Are you entering the settlement with us?" Brooke asked.

He shook his head.

"Few know of the Farare. We believe that is best."

My wife threw her arms around the man, hugging him fiercely. Tears ran down her cheeks. He returned the hug, as enamored of her as she of him. I waited. When she left his side, I shook his hand.

The four of us dressed in our hiking clothes, so long unused. We exchanged hugs with the tribesmen, all of us except Bobby, who trudged ahead through the undergrowth, ready to be done with this jungle.

We thanked them for everything. I felt awkward, given their intimacies with Brooke, but we all got past that. My wife kissed each man, lingering a while with J'Fal, and then we hit the trail. Bobby was well ahead. After a while Brook and I looked back and discovered the tribesmen watched us, caring for our welfare even now.

"You hate leaving him," I said.

Brooke's lip trembled.

"I do. That man and I shared a lot of intense moments. I feel strongly connected to him. Sex is different for women. I knew this day was coming but avoided thinking about it. I hate it now that it's here. I'm leaving this jungle a different person than when I entered. How much did this trip change our lives?"

"Hard to say. Time will tell."

I opened my arms to her and she stepped inside. We stopped on the trail to just hold each other and be. She began to cry. Tish stopped with us and soon wrapped her arms around Brooke too. Group hug. Brooke let the tears flow and then returned to herself, smiling thankfully. She took my hand as we hit the trail towards the small town.

J'Fal was right. Those townspeople saw us emerge from the trees and marveled at our condition. We did not mention the Farare, explaining instead how we'd crossed the jungle on our own. The American dollar held sway here and we hired a fisherman to take us down river.

Manaus was more of the same. We rented a room at a small tavern and enjoyed a hot bath and steak. We bought new clothing and found a bar with outside seating. Bobby joined us after a while and we talked about our crazy trip.

"How many men have you fucked?" Bobby asked Tish, bluntly. "Since we've been together, as a couple, and not counting the men in the jungle? How many behind my back?"

Tish did not shrink.

"I have no idea, Bobby. A lot."

"Why?"

"I love fucking," she said, sipping a cold beer. "I love sex, and men's bodies. I love whiskers between my shoulder blades and my legs in the air. I like muscles and hard cocks and being desired by hot men. I tried to tell you so many times. When we first started dating I was open and honest about things. You wouldn't hear me. You joked and tuned me out. I went ahead and lived my true life."

He slumped, defeated. He knew her words were true and he was partly to blame.

"You can accept me for who I am," Tish continued. "Or you can move on. I'm tired of hiding. I'm tired of lying. I'm sorry I hid things from you but I really liked you. I thought I could love you. I hoped I could stop and let that part of me go, but I couldn't."

He stared at his beer.

"All right," he said, at last. "If Brooke and Tony can do it, and make it work, I can try. I might just be postponing our breakup, but we'll see."

Brooke and I looked at each other, thinking the same thoughts: Can we make it work? Or was our jungle adventure the beginning and the end of it?

Tish leaned over and kissed Bobby on the cheek.

"Want to take me back to the hotel room and hate-fuck me?" she asked. "I cheated on you. Want to have your revenge?"

"Hell yes, I do," he said.

Tish dropped some money on the table and they hurried off. Brooke leaned over to kiss me.

"Is Bobby right?" she asked. "Is this something we can make work?"

"Meaning can you continue to fuck hot and hung men in front of me?"

"Meaning exactly that, yes. Can I continue to fuck hot and hung men?"

She was hopeful. Man, was she hopeful. I posed myself the question: I could easily convince myself what happened in the jungle was a fluke, never to repeat. Brooke would go along with me. We could return to our comfortable marriage.

"Let me think about it," I answered, trying to sound cavalier.

Here's the problem with trying to sound cavalier to that question: if it's not an emphatic NO, then, by default, it's a yes. I hate to simplify something so complex but that's the truth. Any husband that doesn't immediately answer no has opened the door to yes. You're either for it and know it or for it and don't know it yet but will soon learn you are. Brooke aimed a big goofy smile at me. She was already thinking about the men in her life. She pictured college professors and personal trainers at her gym. She contemplated the guy from the grocery store that always flirted with her and the man that made her chai tea at the coffee shop. By not digging in and refusing, I'd allowed for the possibility, and that was the only edge Brooke needed. She'd pick a man and wear me down. That big goofy grin told me she understood that truth.

Chapter 12

Tish wore white. Not to show those present she was a virgin, but because she liked the way it looked. Tish always did what she wanted. Back in the States and back to our routines, Bobby and Tish discovered that he could tolerate her infidelities. In fact, he grew to enjoy them. As your love for someone grows, selfishness diminishes. At some point a threshold is crossed and their happiness becomes more important than your own.

But Bobby didn't suffer. Bobby didn't martyr himself so Tish could act the slut. Bobby found he enjoyed watching her. Once he let his guard down, Bobby discovered he enjoyed many things he'd previously denied. In less than two months Tish had Bobby sucking dick, getting men hard in anticipation of them fucking her. He asked her to marry him soon after.

People are complicated.

Their wedding was held on a promontory overlooking the Pacific Ocean and Brooke was the bridesmaid. Bobby named me best man. The wedding was beautiful, with tears and hugs all around. The reception was at a nearby Spanish mission with a hotel behind it.

I drew Brooke's attention to Tish slipping away with one of the waiters.

"Should we go spy on her?" I asked. "You always love watching her fuck."

Brooke shook her head.

"I'm that girl now," my wife said. "I don't need to live hot and wild sex through Tish. I have my own fantasies. I'm living most of them."

She kissed me deeply.

"But she's wearing a wedding gown," I said. "You've got to admit that's extra sexy. Maybe just a peek?"

"You're right. Good point. Let's sneak away and watch."

We did. Bobby stayed at the main table, greeting well-wishers and shaking hands. He knew exactly what his lovely bride did in those moments. We followed Tish to the mission basement and found her in the pantry. Long folds of white lace rested on her upturned ass. The waiter pounded her from behind and we watched without being noticed. I felt Brooke growing warmer. She was a new woman, no longer needing Tish to lead the way, but she still loved to watch.

"Do you want to join them?" I whispered.

"No," my wife said, surprising me. "I want to be her. I want to get fucked like that."

The waiter was savage. He slammed Tish, fueled by the wickedness of her upturned wedding gown. He would give her a memory she'd never forget. His lust was a seething display.

"You still have your wedding gown," I whispered.

We rejoined the wedding party and Tish did too soon after. She sat next to her new husband and they kissed and then she whispered something in his ear. His face flushed pink. He held her hand.

"What do you think she said to him?" I asked.

Brooke leaned close to my ear.

"I have a pussy full of cum and it's not yours," she whispered. "On our wedding day. Imagine our honeymoon tonight. Imagine the pussy I have waiting for you to unwrap."

I stared at her.

"You are too good at this," I said.

"That's just what I'd say to you if it was me."

"Then thank God we're already married. Jesus. That's going to be some honeymoon night."

Tish pulled Bobby's hand under the table. We couldn't see what happened next but judging by Bobby's face, Tish slipped his fingers into warm and slippery goo.

"This is making me horny," Brooke muttered.

"Should I take you to our hotel room or find you a waiter?" I joked.

Brooke flashed me a mischievous smirk.

"You've already found yourself a waiter?"

She jerked her chin at a tall man across the banquet hall.

"That one," she said.

The man was blond, skinny, and young. He worked his tables quickly, clearing dishes and refilling drinks. I watched him for a moment and then turned to Brooke.

"Can you imagine if that was J'Fal working this wedding?" I asked. "Starched white shirt and black bowtie. Tight black pants. I'd need to keep my eye on you constantly or you'd slip away and fuck him like Tish."

Brooke sipped Champagne and shook her head.

"I'd still do it. Doesn't matter if you kept your eye on me. I'd find a way. I'd have Tish distract you or ask another girl here to throw herself at you. No way would you keep me from sneaking off with that waiter."

I laughed.

"Don't hold back, Brooke. Tell me how you really feel."

"All right. You changed me, Tony. When you placed your hand on another man's erection and pushed that man into me, I was undone. You can't know what that means to a woman, to a devoted and loving wife. I wasn't yours to give. You don't own me. You drove J'Fal into me without asking and my mind was blown. In that moment, I realized I was yours to give. I felt the gift of that heavy black cock crawling up my insides and the old me shattered. Too bad this isn't our wedding, Tony. I'd love for us to have met this me all the way back then. Think where we'd be now? You're right; I do still own my wedding gown and it still fits. I think I should wear it while I fuck some other man. What do you think about all that?"

Her words landed hard but I recovered quickly.

"I think this party is winding down," I said. "I think you've just made me terribly horny. I think we should go back to our room. I think you should leave your bridesmaid dress on."

"I was hoping you'd say that," Brooke said.

I felt mild relief. I worried for a moment she'd suggest I invite the waiter.

Bobby may have accepted his role completely but I don't know if I ever will. Not completely. I'll always feel this stinging angst. I'm uncertain about sharing Brooke and always will be. I pictured her bent over, lacy white wedding dress piled around her waist, bare hips and ass presented for the taking to some new hot hung lover. I gulped, or tried to. My mouth was too dry.

We stopped at the betrothed's table to say goodbye to our friends and then hurried to our room.

Brooke left the bridesmaid dress on like I asked.

Chapter 13

"Professor Dugan wants to meet me in his office tomorrow," Brooke said, chewing her lip.

"Nervous?"

"Heck yes. He's the advisor on my thesis. I need his approval to start the real writing. He's had my documentation and proposal for almost two weeks. Now he wants to talk to me? Fuck. What if he rejects my idea?"

"Then you'll take his recommendations and reformulate. You have fantastic data. There's a great thesis in all that. Most likely he wants to confer on context. Did you hold anything back? Maybe he just has simple questions."

"I gave him everything. I even gave him my personal journal. I debated that. There's a lot of extra stuff in there he didn't need to know."

I leaned back in my chair. I prepared our taxes at the dining table but Brooke's last comment seemed the bigger issue.

"Why? Why your personal journal? That had things in it about all of us."

"Context. We all had very different reactions to the Farare. I want to show how a diverse slice of outsiders reacted."

I wondered what Brooke had said about me.

"I guess you'll find out tomorrow."

"I'm going to the gym. I need to work off this anxiety."

We kissed and she headed for the bedroom to change into gym gear and then kissed again as she passed on her way to the garage. Despite our scandalous adventure, she still dressed conservatively. Her clothes were tight but most skin was covered. I returned to my task.

The next morning Brooke tore our bedroom apart trying to find exactly the right outfit to wear to the interview. She wanted to be charming yet intelligent, attractive without sending the wrong signals. She desired professionalism without appearing dull. There were clothes spread all over our bedroom.

"Why Saturday?" I asked.

"Because it's just another day to Professor Dugan. He never leaves campus. The man is married to his work."

"Is he married?"

She stopped.

"I have no idea."

She continued applying makeup and wiping it away, trying on pants and switching to skirts. Chaos.

In the end, she went with a knee-length plaid wool skirt and white shirt. Under her shirt was a white camisole. Sensible yet feminine, without being sexy.

"Can you drive me?" she asked.

"And wait in the parking lot? I have work to do."

"Please? I want to review my notes on the drive over and I'd feel better knowing you were close. You can come into the building, There's a lounge. You can read while you wait. There will be hot girls at the school."

"Again: on a Saturday? Doubtful."

"Please, Tony? It will mean a lot to me."

I gave in. Saturday or not, there was always a chance hot girls would be around. I drove and Brooke flipped through her notes, preparing her arguments for why the thesis was a good one. I parked and walked with her to the faculty building, all the way to Dugan's office door.

"The lounge is down that hallway," she said, pointing. "There's a door that leads to the patio if you want to read outside in the courtyard. I'll keep this as brief as I can."

"Take your time, Baby. I know how important this is. Don't worry about me, too. I'll be fine."

We kissed and she knocked on the office door.

"Come in," I heard a deep voice say.

I wandered off. I aimed for the lounge but took my time, surveying the many display cases filled with scientific trophies and awards. This university was a good one. I heard footsteps and lifted my gaze and was rewarded by a young pretty woman wearing tennis gear hurrying from one place to another place. She saw me and smiled and looked down at her outfit, embarrassed at the hint of hard nipples. Lovely. I continued perusing the displays after she'd passed. I turned the corner and heard muffled voices through the wall. The inner offices were all formed from modular partitions so sound traveled easily. I paused, realizing I heard Brooke and Professor Dugan. I'd circled around so that I was behind his office now. I pressed my ear to the wall to hear them better.

"—journal I found most interesting," I heard Dugan say.

"In what regard?" Brooke asked.

"The Farare men. You mention their robust genitalia several times. I'm wondering why you deem that relevant."

"It's a genetic anomaly. I believe the trait is a chromosomal marker worthy of greater exploration."

"Indeed. Any personal interest?"

"What do you mean?"

"Well, you mention the trait many times."

"Yes?"

I pressed my ear to the spacer. I was intrigued. Where would Dugan take this?

"I'm asking did the Farare trait matter to you, personally?"

I saw Brooke's vexed expression in my mind. I believed I now knew where he was taking this. I think Brooke knew too.

"Yes, Professor Dugan," she said. "The trait mattered to me personally."

"Did you form relationships with Farare men based on this trait?"

"Not really. One man, perhaps."

"Interesting."

"The relationship in no way influenced my data."

"Of course not. Your relationship with this Farare man was purely physical?"

"Yes."

"I see."

His voice sounded strained. They were silent a long time and I wondered if the conversation was over.

"Be honest now," Dugan continued. "Did the man's size have anything to do with you choosing him?"

"I don't see how that relates to my thesis."

"Indulge me, please."

Brooke cleared her throat, sounding stressed too now. I scanned the hallways to make sure I wouldn't get caught eavesdropping.

"Yes," my wife admitted. "He was breathtaking. He was handsome and tall and possessed a marvelous physique, and, yes, I was also attracted to his oversized genitalia. Everything about the man screamed sexy."

"I appreciate your candor. I recommend you keep such bias from your paper. I welcome such preferences in your personal life but never your scientific one."

"I understand."

"Fantastic. Then I'd like to give my approval for you to proceed."

"Thank you so much, Professor Dugan."

I heard Brooke gather her books and notes. She stopped.

"What's wrong?" Dugan asked.

"I'm trying to understand what you meant. You said you welcome such preferences in my personal life. What do you mean, you welcome?"

"Your life with your husband. Your life with other students. Your life, say, with professors at this university."

"How can you welcome my preferences with professors?"

"You're a beautiful woman, Brooke."

I backed away and stared at the wall. What? I was confused. What was this old man trying to say? I put my ear to listen again.

"I think I'm beginning to understand you, Professor Dugan. You would welcome my preferences. Is that your indirect way of telling me you're hung? Is that what you're getting at? Without coming right out and saying so, because that could get you in trouble, you're taking the long way around to learn if I'd care to know if any of my professors sported a large penis?"

It was Dugan's turn to clear his throat.

"A succinct analysis, Brooke. Yes. Would such information matter to you?"

"You're hung?"

"As you say, indeed."

Strained silence came through the wall. I imagined Brooke in there, arms folded, Dugan at his desk, both staring the other down, waiting.

Brooke blinked first.

"Let me see it," she said, confidently.

This was too crazy. Listening wasn't good enough. I checked the hallway and hurried around the corner to the door leading out to the patio. The courtyard was a mass of trees and shrubs and sculptures and fountains. I gauged which office window belonged to Dugan and concluded I could get an excellent view without being seen, but at the cost of hearing what they said. The choice was easy. Besides, there was an excellent chance they'd both stop talking any second.

I eased through the door and entered the foliage, working closer to the professor's window. I arrived in time to see Dugan leave his chair and put his back against his office door. He was shorter than me, maybe shorter than her. He sported a beard and glasses, pants, a dress shirt and tie. He unbuckled and unzipped and lowered his slacks. He pinched the elastic waistband and pushed his white briefs down. A little belly overhang protruded from the bottom of his shirt. His legs were pale and lacked muscle tone.

But his cock was a work of art.

Brooke had her back to me so I saw what she saw. Dugan possessed a long, fat cock, already a bit puffed from his conversation with my wife. Smooth as pink glass and ending in a tapered helmet, the shaft was wider than the head, growing even thicker as my gaze moved towards the base. He kept his pubic hair trimmed close, almost bald, and his large balls hung in a loose sack. The man pushed pants and underwear lower, studying Brooke for her reaction.

Brooke set her hands on her hips, admiring. I couldn't hear her, but I imagined she said, That's a gorgeous cock, Professor Dugan. I must have been close because the old fucker beamed with joy. He lifted the shaft with both hands and tugged, stretching the loose skin and pulling his dick away from his body. Brooke sat on the arm of a reading chair, bringing her face almost level with the pendulous meat. She reached for him but he stopped her, issuing instructions for her to spin in the chair and hang her head off the edge. He wanted to lower his dick into her open mouth. Brooke hurried to comply, unaware that the moment she turned her back, Dugan quickly removed his tie.

Brooke got in position, head hanging over the padded arm, legs hanging over the other arm, and Dugan brought the tie down across her throat. Brooke panicked a little, slapping at his hands and scolding the man. He silenced her efforts with a word. He slipped his silk tie around her throat and tightened the loop until her face turned pink. He spoke and she obediently opened her mouth, ready to receive. Holding one end of the tie in each hand, he pulled the loop tighter as he lowered his cock to her waiting tongue.

Her eyelids fluttered. She was wildly aroused.

I was worried about her safety but my wife was passionately turned on. I remembered her reaction that day against the cabin wall when I'd covered her mouth to keep her quiet. Her pussy had gushed. I realized I'd missed the signs. Brooke loved being manhandled. Brooke loved being controlled. I made a mental note to start showing her who's boss in the bedroom.

His knees bent and the head slipped deeper in her mouth. She closed her lips on him when he told her to and she sucked exactly the way he wished. Thesis approval or not, I suspected my wife would have been just as compliant even if she didn't need the man.

He began to pump his cock in and out. He'd tighten or loosen the tie on his whim, never warning my wife. He'd push his thick cock as deep as she could stand and then cut off all air and blood. A dangerous game but one Brooke was unwilling to back away from. More than that, my wife relished his commanding ways.

He withdrew and stepped closer, dropping his hanging balls into her mouth and smothering her face with his ass. She soon began to struggle. I considered racing to her rescue but that would make me the villain. I would be the cause of her failed degree. I resolved to watch and only intervene if she absolutely needed it.

He held one end of the tie in his mouth and began digging under her skirt and through her panties with his free hand. The tightening of her legs told me when he'd found her pussy. He worked his hand and her legs opened wider and then she went stiff, orgasming hard without air, mouth stuffed with testicles, face buried. She grabbed his soft ass and screamed loud enough I heard her through the glass. His cock had risen above her breasts, breasts he now freed, unbuttoning her shirt and shoving her camisole aside.

He stepped back, leaving Brooke gasping for air. He barked a few commands and my wife stood, stripping quickly. Dugan took her place in the chair and Brooke straddled him, holding onto the back while lowering her soaked pussy to his rigid prick. He flared the head and she grabbed the shaft, aiming him, guiding his fat prick between her labia and into her body. He palmed her tits while she rode him, fucking herself while he did little else. What an ego trip. How many students had this fucker banged? My wife dragged herself up and down his stiff pole until she was about to cry out with a second climax. He pulled the loop of silk tight around her throat and cut off all air and my wife struggled to stay above him. He steadied her and then her second orgasm crashed into her, making her flail as she fought for air. He was a bastard, a sadist, but Brooke came harder than I'd ever seen. She hugged his head with one arm, drawing his face to her tits, and gushed pussy juice all over his dick. He tongued her nipple before biting it, slapping her ass and goading her to cum even harder, which she did. Amazing.

This funny old man was a master. He had a big cock and knew how to use it but he was much more than that. He knew psychology. He knew power and control, dominance and submission. When her climax tapered away he pulled her off his lap, bending her over the chair and cinching the silk loop tight. He grabbed her ass and pounded her cunt from behind, his heavy balls smashing her clit and labia. He whipped the long end of the tie around her wrists and pushed her face into the cushioned back. Her own struggles cut off her air while he held tight and hammered her hole. She came again, helpless before his onslaught.

He withdrew his slick and slippery cock and placed the head at her asshole. Brooke was too dazed to understand until it was too late. He eased through her sphincter and sank the head into her body and then pushed, filling her ass with hard dick. My wife arched her back and wailed but he'd reached under and now mercilessly teased her clit. Any discomfort she felt quickly turned into heightened pleasure. He fucked her, that tight ring squeezing his shaft, clinging to him desperately, coaxing and milking his load up from his balls.

He blew his copious load up there, grunting and snarling. Tremors raced through his body as he pumped hot sperm into her ass. He dropped the tie and let my wife breathe. Brooke gulped air, looking more satisfied than I'd seen in a long time. The old man smacked her ass and kept her in place until his cock had fully drained. He pulled out, wiping the tip on her butt. He opened the window for fresh air.

"That was crazy," she rasped, pushing fallen hair from her sweaty face. "Never in a million years would I have expected that."

"They never do," Dugan said.

"Right. I am not the first coed to visit your office, am I?"

"Not at all, but you'll be the one returning all semester."

She slipped a hand back to check on her asshole and came away with dripping sperm.

"You have big loads," she said.

He chuckled.

"I'll be fucking your ass a lot. No need for little Professors running around. I hope you like sucking cock."

"I love sucking cock. Is it safe to presume you'll approve my thesis?"

"Approve and promote. I think you can obtain a grant for this work. The tribe is virtually undiscovered. You'll have a river named after you. A mountain."

Brooke began to dress.

"I'd like to thank you separately. One for the hot fuck I never saw coming and the other for the approval of my work."

"My pleasure. See you Monday. Stop wearing panties to school."

My wife chuckled.

"You are not what I expected," she said.

I carefully slipped from my hiding spot in the bushes. I entered the hallway and sat in the lounge, opening my book just in time. I casually looked up as she approached.

"How did it go?" I asked, heart racing.

"Take me home," she growled, smile beaming. "Take me home and fuck my brains out. I have a lot to tell you."

Chapter 14

Brooke entered the living room and approached my chair. I hit pause on the television.

"Do you still have that GPS map thingy we take backpacking?"

"I'm sure I do," I said. "Probably in my pack. Why?"

She turned her phone to face me. She opened the info pop-up on the text she tried to send from the mountaintop in the Andes.

"What am I looking at?" I asked.

"Coordinates, Tony. Latitude and longitude. Minutes and seconds. The message didn't go out but our location came in."

"So?"

"So it was right after this we saw the smoke rising from the village. Don't you get it? We can go back and find the Farare if we want. We can find their secret valley."

"Holy shit."

"Yes! Holy shit! This is a really big deal. We can go back if we wish. Also, we can triangulate from Santa Domingo and send a team to rescue that pilot."

"Let's definitely help the pilot but we promised never to reveal the village."

"I know, and I won't, but there is much more to learn."

I studied her carefully.

"You're eager to fuck J'Fal again."

"Who wouldn't be? We'll find you a nice side chick. I could win a Sterling award. I could win a Viking! Jesus, my career would be made."

Her hands were shaking.

"We'd leave Tish and Bobby home this time," I suggested. "Just me and you. We map a route and take the Amazon upriver. This could be your doctorate."

She set her phone on the arm of my chair.

"You'd go with me? Just like that? No hesitation or second thoughts?"

"You're my wife and I love you. Of course I'd go."

"You know I'll spend half my nights in J'Fal's hut."

"Let me just negotiate that down right now to a third, maybe a quarter."

"A return to the jungle," she said, her mind already a million miles away.

"At least this time we won't be lost."

End.

Join My Mailing List
Get a FREE Hotwife Story!

Visit My Website:
AuthorMatthewLee.com

Follow My Twitter

Find me on GoodReads

Email Me

BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com

Did You Enjoy My Work?
It would mean a lot if you left a quick review.
A sentence or two is fine.
Thank you for supporting an Independent Author!