Chapter 1

Sadie flipped her long red hair over a shoulder and shook the ice in her drink. I closed my mouth. My jaw had dropped after her last sentence and I looked stupid now, so I closed it.

"You can't possibly believe that," I said. "That guy was lying to you."

"I don't think so."

"Trust me, he was. Your male patients do not need their balls massaged."

"Then why did I make him feel so much better? He said I helped him with the pain. A lot. I see their junk when I shave them. Who cares if I touch them again after?"

I slapped my palm to my forehead, knocking my glasses askew.

"How can you be this naïve? He felt better because you played with his balls. How long ago was his vasectomy?"

"Twelve weeks."

"Twelve? That's four months. Jesus, Babe. He was fully healed. He just wanted you to touch his dick."

She didn't believe me.

"Did Doctor Pomeranz tell you to do it?" I asked. "Did he give his okay?"

"No. The doctor examined the patient's scrotum and declared him healed. Then he left the room to check on the next patient."

"That's when this guy asked for the ball massage?"

"Yes."

I sighed and pushed my glasses up my nose.

"Sadie, my sweet wife, these men are using you. At least half a dozen guys have asked you to touch them in some inappropriate way, and you've only had that job two weeks."

"It's not sex, Gareth. It's medicine. It's patient care. The problem is you see what they ask me to do as sexual. You never get jealous over anything, so what is this truly about?"

I gave up. At least they weren't going after her money and trying to drain her bank account. Sadie is a sexy little redhead with great tits, great ass, a hot body, and a super cute face. She's got dimples and bright blue eyes and a smile that makes you feel special. Almost every guy hits on her. She can't see it though. To her, they're just being nice. The men at her doctor's office have avoided anything obviously sexual. It's not like they ask for a blowjob. I scanned the fast food restaurant and counted three men keeping an eye on her right now, on the off-chance they see something sexy, and she was dressed in baggy scrubs! The perils of marrying a babe. She checked the time on her phone.

"Lunch is over," she said, cheerfully. "Thanks for visiting me."

We finished our last bite of taco and drank our last sip of raspberry tea. I collected our trash and kissed my wife. The clinic was on the top floor of the massive building across the parking lot. I watched her firm ass all the way. She is far hotter than a programming geek like me could ever score, but for some reason she's crazy about me. I don't question it. I accept my great fortune and move on.

I'm in the Air Force and my skill set is in high demand. This has caused us to move many times. Every Air Force base in America needs their systems updated and brass has determined I'm the guy to do it all. Poor Sadie. She says she likes moving around all the time but I sometimes wonder if that's true.

I keep her away from my colleagues. Military men are hound dogs and they'd go wild over a girl like her and I don't need to hear it. I already get teased about her casual attractiveness from my few online friends. She's right about the jealousy, though. I never feel it. I love how all these guys want my wife but she comes home to me. She has her choice of men and picks me anew every day.

Chapter 2

Sadie grabbed a cucumber from the stack on display at the grocery store.

"The guy I shaved today," she said, holding the phallic vegetable like a microphone. "Was about this big."

"Do you mean his penis? Or was he a Lilliputian? Diminutive? You mean his penis, right?"

"Yes, Gar, his dick. He wasn't this short. He was tall, in fact, and had a dick this big."

"That's a big dick."

"I've seen hundreds. They're not as rare as you think. When I was studying for my certificate I read about two percent of the male population have dicks seven inches or longer. Think about that. Two percent seems low but in a world with roughly four-billion men, that means about eighty million men are hung. Eighty million, Gar. That's an eight followed by seven zeros. They're everywhere, Baby, all around us, all the time. Personally, I think that two-percent estimate is too low. I saw the data. Based on the criteria they used, and my experience since I took this career path, I think it could be as high as four percent. Maybe even five. That's two-hundred million big dicks."

The grocery store was located close to the base and packed with men. She started counting them off.

"Eighteen, nineteen, twenty. Boom. Guy with a big dick." She counted a new batch of service men. "Eighteen, nineteen, twenty. Boom. Big dick. He has one and he has one and he has one."

I laughed.

"Why do you care?"

"It's easier to do my job. So much easier. Cucumber Guy was there to prep for a hernia operation. I grabbed his big dick and maneuvered the razor around all the important bits with ease. I can pilot a dick like that, put him and his balls where I want them. Zip, zip: you're shaved, brother, get the fuck out of my chair."

"You shave them seated?"

"Figure of speech. I shave them lying down. Them, not me."

Her eyes laughed. Shaving was fun for her. She was skilled and we all like using our skills.

"You ever get turned on?" I asked.

"Fuck yes. Of course I do. Dumb question, Gar. Lots of handsome men come to that clinic. Big dicks are nice but a nice face and fit body are better. Too often a big dick means the guy is a jerk. With most hot guys, I take my time."

I wanted to ask if she ever did more than shave but, considering the recent scolding I'd given, I withheld my questions. I doubted that Sadie would ever do something she'd need to confess. She can't hide anything from me and she's a terrible liar. More likely she'd just spill her guts, like she was doing now, oblivious to any upset she'd cause.

Her phone rang so she put the cucumber back and answered. I waited while she wandered off a little, whining about something. Sounded more like her mom than work. I eyed the cucumber while I waited, impressed. She handled a dick that size? I think I'd like to see that. She ended her call with a whine.

"What's wrong?" I asked.

"I have to go to my mom's and sign some dumb papers in front of a notary. I told her to forge my name but she can't. I must sign in front of that guy. What a pain."

"What's it for?"

"I don't know. I was so annoyed I didn't listen much. I told her I'd drive up this weekend."

"Alone?"

"Yes. It's only a five or six-hour drive."

"One way," I said. "Plus you'll be driving at night. Then you'll need to drive home again, alone. No. No way. Let me call the Master Sergeant and tell him I'll be unavailable this weekend. We'll go to Mom's together. There's nothing important going on this weekend. It should be fine."

"That's not necessary, Gar. Thank you, though. I'll just zip up there, sign, and zip home. Don't worry about it."

"I'm not comfortable with that. I'm coming."

"My hometown is small and boring. I don't need you to do this."

"I'm doing it anyway. Stop trying to talk me out of it."

She looked annoyed but she dropped the subject. We finished our grocery shopping and drove home.

Chapter 3

Sadie's small town wasn't all that small. I left her at her mother's place and told them I'd sight-see. Sadie tried to make me stay but had no good reason, so I got out of there. I drove around. The city sat in a valley not far from the ocean. There was one good-sized mountain but I'd call the rest hills. There was some forest and two rivers, two high schools and several factories. There were five churches and three strip clubs, which I felt was a decent ratio. Since nobody knew me here and I was away from Sadie, I took the opportunity to visit Little Darlings, one of the strip clubs. I'm not normally a big fan of places like that but this seemed like the perfect chance to indulge. I found a booth with a great view of both stages and ordered a beer. They carded me, because I look young for my age. I added a cheeseburger to my bill and sat back to enjoy the hot Asian girl twirling around the pole. The lunchtime crowd was bigger than I expected.

The walls of the place were covered with framed photographs, some old but most new, of people having fun at the club. There were groups of guys for bachelor parties, birthday parties, job promotions, even divorce parties. All the pictures had strippers posed with the groups. I moved from one photo to the next. The sexy waitress returned with my burger and beer. I checked on the Asian girl and enjoyed the view of her shedding her top, then turned my attention to the next picture.

I saw a pretty redhead with an amazing body sitting on the lap of some lucky older guy. She wore booty shorts and no top and the man in the photo pretended he was about to bite a nipple. Her tits were spectacular. Everybody was caught in a moment of laughter. The table in the picture was covered with empty drink glasses. My eyes were drawn to her breasts again, because of course they were, and I ogled for several seconds before I moved on to her face.

It was Sadie.

I removed my glasses, rubbed my eyes, and placed my glasses on my face again. I leaned closer.

Sadie. Definitely Sadie. A few years younger, but Sadie. A stripper. In her hometown. Based on her beaming smile and the wad of cash on the table by her knee, a highly successful hometown stripper. Why had she never even hinted about this to me? Did her past shame her?

I searched the photographs around my booth and found Sadie in several, always with her perfect tits out. The guys loved her. She was smiling and laughing and, sometimes, grabbing guys by their crotch. Sometimes they grabbed a boob. The waitress returned and asked if the food tasted good and I said it did. I asked her about the pictures on the walls.

"Former and current employees," she answered.

"Employees? You mean dancers?"

"Mostly. I'm up there somewhere but I've never danced. Bobbie, from the kitchen, is up there too. But mostly it's the girls. Why? See someone you like?"

"I see my wife," I said, a little too loud. "Before I knew her."

"Oops. Surprise! Which girl is she?"

I pointed to Sadie.

"Oh, she went by Esmerelda. Not her real name, obviously. That's just her stage name. I think her real name was Sadie something? Is that right? We were friends. She was sweet and funny, never a bitch like so many of the other girls. She loved the attention from the men though. Could not get enough. Old guys, young guys. She didn't care. They'd fawn over her and she ate it up. A kitten with a bowl of milk. I hope that doesn't upset you."

"It doesn't upset me at all. We all have a past. I only care about what she does after we became boyfriend and girlfriend. How long ago did she quit?"

"Maybe eighteen months? Maybe two years. Time goes by so fast. But she didn't quit. She was fired."

"Fired? Why?"

The waitress looked around to make sure no one would hear.

"You sure you want to know?"

"Absolutely. Why not?"

She gave me a little shrug.

"Some husbands," she said.

I wasn't sure what she meant by that.

"You can tell me," I said.

"Prostitution."

"What?"

"Hustling. Not like a streetwalker. Nothing skanky. She'd take guys to the VIP room to make more money for herself and the house, like she was supposed to, but then with some she'd form a connection. She'd make plans to meet the ones she liked after her shift. She'd party with them and then sometimes do more than party, if you know what I mean."

"I do, but that's impossible. No way we're talking about the same girl. My Sadie is naïve and a little oblivious."

"Hm. Or a good actress."

I pointed to my wife's face on the wall.

"We're talking about this girl right here?"

"Yeah. Petite? Red hair? Blue eyes? Dazzling smile? Tits to die for and an incredible ass? Charming and likeable?"

"That's her."

"Well, maybe she decided to make big changes. Maybe she left this place and that life behind and buried it forever. Like you said, what matters is how she behaved after meeting you."

"I just can't imagine her having sex for money."

"Then don't. But what difference does it make? A man can take me to dinner and buy me diamond earrings and then I fuck him, or he can hand me the money for those things and I fuck him anyway. Too many people worry too much about too many other people. Making prostitution illegal is stupid. Anyway, the club manager found out and had to fire her or the cops said they would close the club. Everybody was sad to see her go. You want another beer?"

"Yes. Thank you."

She walked away. I looked at the last picture. Happy Sadie hugged some dude, firm full tits pressed against his chest. How can this be the same girl I married? I was shaken. Prostitute? No way. I know there's a huge difference between escort and streetwalker, but I couldn't picture Sadie escorting anyone.

"Hey," the waitress said, over her shoulder. "If you don't believe me, there's a man you can ask. Carl. He owns the tire store on McKinney Boulevard. He's an older dude. He was her favorite and she was his. He was in here all the time, gave all his money to her and only her. You can talk to him. He'll verify everything I've told you but don't let on like you know where she is. He was obsessed with Sadie. Wanted to marry her and travel the world. She almost left with him. We had to talk her out of it. Age difference too big."

"Thanks. I believe you. I'm just shocked."

"Everyone has a past, Honey."

"I don't. I'm boring as fuck."

She laughed.

"All right. Let me rephrase. Every hot girl has a past. It takes them a while to get their hotness under control. It's an intoxicating drug."

I smiled and waved. She went back to serving drinks. There was no need to find Carl and get his side of the story. The pictures on the wall in this place told me all I needed to know.

Chapter 4

"How was your day?" Sadie asked.

Was that nervousness I heard? Was she concerned? We sat in her mother's dining room at the same table where my wife had dinner every night growing up. We each had a bowl of ice cream.

"Good," I answered, casually. "Saw the sights. Visited your old high school. Grabbed a delicious cheeseburger."

Her face lit up.

"Cheeseburger? At Leopold's Joint?"

"No, I ate at a different place."

"Where?"

"Some place on the main street."

If I told her where, I'd need to admit I visited a strip club. She'd probably be fine with that under usual circumstances but I didn't trust myself completely. I was sure my expression would give me away. I'd talk to her about her time at Little Darlings but not at her mother's dining room table.

Her mom stuck her head in the room.

"Sadie," she said. "I hope you don't mind but I told Kim Grummet you were in town for a couple days. It's her birthday and friends are taking her out. Would you like to go? Kim is such a sweet girl. I got her number."

Mom held out a scrap of paper. Sadie took it.

"Thanks, Mom," my wife said, waiting for Mom to leave.

Once her mother was gone, Sadie leaned over the table to me.

"Kim is the biggest slut you'll ever meet. Mom has no idea. We nicknamed Kim Three-D in high school. Her favorite things were drink, drugs, and dick, but not in that order. We were best friends."

"I thought you were shy in high school."

"Terribly shy. But Kim is impossible to refuse. She's charming and cute. You'd like her. Everybody does."

"Are you going out with her tonight?"

"I should. We were best friends for a long time."

"I'm cool with that. I'll stay here and watch a movie."

"You don't mind?"

"No. Have fun."

I said have fun but my mind was racing. What other hometown secrets had Sadie kept from me? We were back at the scene of the crime. This was the place she fled to start a new life with me. What spiders would crawl out from the woodpile now that she was here again? She grabbed her phone and began to text.

In minutes, plans were made. She went to her old bedroom to get ready. I went to the den to hunt for streaming movie titles. She reappeared about an hour later and I had to control my face. She looked hot in her short skirt and loose top.

"I love hoop earrings," I said. "You look great."

She acted shy.

"Thanks, Baby, and thanks for letting me do this. No fun for you, sorry."

"I'll be fine. I've got movies lined up. I'll probably fall asleep on the couch. Wake me when you get home."

"Knowing Kim, I'll be late."

"No worries."

There. I'd given her permission to stay out and do what she wanted. Now, aware of her naughty past, I wondered what that meant. We kissed and she took the car keys and we kissed again.

"Really late," she added, backing towards the door.

I waved goodbye.

Door closed, car started, sound faded away.

She was out into the night.

I waited an acceptable amount of time and then asked her mother if I could borrow her car since she was headed to bed soon. She assured me it would be no problem. Sadie had left the scrap of paper with Kim's number on the table and I slipped that into my pocket. I knew Kim's last name and that, combined with her number, led me to her social media pages.

In less than an hour I had her home address. I heard Mom snoring so I left the house. I parked where I could see Kim's place and waited. Other girls showed up, each dressed sexy, even the chubby ones, and then they all left in my car with Sadie driving. I left the lights off and followed. I never would have considered spying like this before learning of my wife's sordid past.

I thought they might stop for dinner and I'd be stuck waiting but not these girls. They drove directly to a club called Down Under. The sign next to the street said: All male review. I had to laugh. They were already dancing and singing as they got out of the car. At least I had a defense for visiting a strip club now. I heard the powerful beat of music through the walls. They handed the keys to the valet and stopped so the bouncer could check IDs. Then they vanished inside. I gave them a minute and followed, cautious and careful. I burned with curiosity. Sadie was far more layered and complex than I'd realized. I wanted to know more. I wanted to know everything. The bouncer thought about asking me why a guy would come to a place like this but I kind of smiled at him and let him suspect I was gay. He checked my age and waved me through.

I cut sideways, heading for a bar in the corner. The girls aimed for two tables next to the stage. A big man danced in a G-string, his hefty pouch bouncing. He wore white gloves and a policeman's hat and aviator sunglasses and he had muscles stacked on top of muscles. There was no pole here like at a man's strip club, but there was an empty chair on stage to place someone from the audience. As the birthday girl, Kim was destined for that chair. I took my drink and moved to a stack of speakers. Now I had a place to hide and watch with a great view of Sadie's group. I could see all of them but they couldn't see me. Sadie was right: Kim is cute.

All her friends were good looking. Sadie and Kim were the bombshells of the group but I saw no jealousy from the other women. They were out for a good time. Drinks arrived and a toast was made and the dancer flopped his pouch and shook his butt at them. They screamed with laughter. Dollar bills flew into his waistband and more drinks were ordered. Sadie shouted in the dancer's ear that tonight was Kim's birthday and the man left the stage to come stand over the girl, grinding sexy and pretending to kiss her.

The song ended and the dancer was forced to retreat, turning the stage over to the next man. This guy was cut from the same cloth: handsome, muscular, and sexy, and the girls went crazy again, laughing and screaming. This would be their whole night.

Until the next dancer brought Kim onstage.

Kim took her place in the chair and her friends went wild, throwing money at the man. He danced slowly around the birthday girl, moving ever closer to her face. Soon he stopped before her and used his bulging G-string to tease the woman. Kim pretended to bite at his dick. He plucked a towel from the rafters overhead and held it like a matador with his cape. He used the cloth to hide what transpired beneath. He rotated his hips suggestively and made sexy faces as if Kim sucked his hidden dick.

"Gobble that dick, Three-D!" Sadie called out.

The group laughed.

I watched closely.

Kim's hands disappeared under the towel and the dancer lurched, surprised. His fake sex faces turned real. Kim's head began to bob. Her friends saw the difference and their cheering changed to naughty taunts. Kim was sucking cock under there. We all knew it. After a few minutes the dancer realized he needed to start entertaining the rest of us again and slipped his cock into his G-string and danced away from Kim. His bulge was absurd. One wrong move and that cock head would make an appearance. He danced from one end of the long stage to the other and back again, surveying the group for his next victim.

He pointed at my wife.

I broke into a sweat.

Sadie jumped from her chair, making a big show of her eagerness to take a seat on stage. The man did the same routine as before, dancing in a slow circle around my wife. He teased her with his bulge and then shook his firm ass in her face. Sadie pretended to spank him. He spun around and covered her head with the towel and my wife immediately slipped her hands under. He held the towel to his hips, our view blocked again, but then, after a moment, acted like he intended to peel one side away. The group of girls went wild. The whole place went wild. He teased the audience again and then moved the towel away, just a few inches, just enough to show us his cock slipping in and out of Sadie's hungry mouth.

Kim and the girls went wild but I thought I would faint. I was dizzy, suddenly lightheaded. His cock was in her mouth. Only a few feet away I witnessed a plump cock pumping my wife's mouth. Sadie stroked with one hand and fondled his hairless balls with the other. She teased the head with a flicking tongue before guiding his spongy inches back in. She sucked hard, stretching him and causing his dick to stiffen. His head fell back as my wife sent waves of pleasure up his penis.

I gulped my drink and shuddered. This was not my wife. This could not be my wife. This was Dark Sadie, a version of my wife I'd never seen, never even suspected. The last twelve hours had revealed so much. No wonder she'd wanted me to stay home. No wonder she'd wanted to make this trip alone. What would she be doing right now if I was five-hundred miles away?

That was an important question.

The dancer placed one hand on her head to steady himself and exposed her more. Her friends cheered like drunk soccer-hoodlums, yelling for my wife to make the man cum and swallow his load. I felt like I was buffeted by high winds, everything coming at me from every direction.

At last the dancer pushed away. He was slightly more than half-hard and he was big, thick like a sausage. He whipped his G-string off and threw it downstage, and then stepped close again, using his penis to smack Sadie in the face over and over. She tried to catch the head in her mouth. Her friends laughed wildly. She leaned back in her chair and opened her legs, granting the man an unobstructed up-skirt view of her pretty pink panties. He smiled lustfully and Sadie tugged her loose top lower, exposing the tops and sides of her breasts. His dick surged.

"Meet me after," he said, and everyone heard. "I want to fuck your brains out."

"Okay," my wife laughed.

"Can I come?" Kim asked.

"Hell yes," he answered.

Laughter all around again. The man danced a few steps away, showing his rising cock to the whole bar. Tips arrived from everywhere, money launched through the air rained on stage. Sadie sat waiting, knees spread like an offering. The look in her eyes was pure self-confidence.

I suddenly realized she was not the naïve and oblivious girl I thought she was. She was fully aware balls don't need massages, dicks don't need rubdowns. She wasn't gullible at all. She acted that way for them to lower their guard. She wanted them to ask for special attention. She wanted to play with their cocks because she loves cocks and her job gave her an excuse.

My pounding heartbeat was chaotic. I desperately needed another drink but I could not get my legs to move. My sweet bride was on stage offering herself to another man and I saw on her face that she meant it. She wasn't joking.

The dancer traveled to the far end of the stage and returned, his cock now fully erect and pulsating. The beast was covered with angry veins but Sadie reached for it the moment he swung near. She stuffed the head in her mouth again to cheers. The man allowed her to orally worship his meat a minute and then finished his routine, escorting Sadie to the steps so she could return to her seat. Her friends all high-fived her. Kim kissed her lips.

I shook all over.

The next dancer took the stage. One by one, dancer after dancer, each man performed in a similar way. Sadie and Kim were invited to that chair several times, sucking a new cock whenever one was presented. One of her friends took the chair for a minute but chickened out and ran back to her seat. Alcohol flowed and the girls got lustier by the hour.

Eventually the show ended and it was time to go home. The waitresses sang happy birthday to Kim and her group gathered their belongings. One of the dancers, not the first dick she'd sucked but another man, approached and took Sadie aside. They spoke for a minute and she nodded vigorously. The girls left, dragging Sadie with them. I gave them all a moment to reach their car and then followed, staying hidden, although I probably didn't need to. Sadie was drunk enough she might not recognize me.

The girls had gathered by my car and formed a half circle. They all stared at something happening on the ground before them. I looped around until I had a view over the bed of a truck and I spied Sadie, squatting, sitting on her heels, admiring a dancer's cock in the parking lot. He wore street clothes now but his fly was open and his long thick dick hung free.

"Nice ring," he said. "You married?"

"Yes," Sadie said, after a guilty laugh.

"I love it when married women cheat with me."

"I bet you do," my wife said.

"Put my dick in your mouth."

My wife grinned but took her time. Her friends kept a lookout but they were tipsy. No one even looked my way.

"He's got a nice dick," one of her friends said.

"Show him what you can do," said another. "She's a cock-sucking expert."

Sadie lightly stroked his length with her fingertips, marveling at the pretty piece of meat dangling before her face. At last she opened wide and eased him in. She sucked softly for a heartbeat and then turned ravenous. She used both hands to pump his shaft while fixing her vacuuming mouth on the tip. She jerked him off into her mouth. She paused long enough to speak.

"Give it to me," she insisted. "Don't hold back. Cum as soon as you can. I want it. Let me taste you."

Her friends watched in silence, each wishing she were bold enough to do what Sadie did. My wife returned to the man's hard dick and worked hard for his load. When he didn't spurt instantly, she huffed and puffed and stood, reaching under her short skirt to yank her pink panties off. She leaned against my car and tugged her skirt over her ass, exposing her bald cunt.

"Just fuck me," she growled.

"That's hot, Sadie," Kim rasped.

"So fucking hot," another girl said. "I wish he was fucking me."

The man ignored everyone except my wife. He stepped behind her and took his cock in hand, probing beneath her butt cheeks until he found her steaming cunt.

"Push it in," my wife insisted. "Fuck me. Cum fast."

"In you?" the man croaked.

"Yes. I love feeling dicks explode."

He took her hips in his hands and shoved deep. Her soaked pussy welcomed his stiff fat inches. My wife groaned and two of the girls kissed passionately, overcome with lust after a night like this. The man withdrew half his cock and shoved it deep again. Sadie groaned.

"That's a big dick," she grunted.

He held tight and began to piston his cock, eager to cum after such a stimulating night. My wife met his thrusts with her pussy shoved back at him. She sent one hand between her legs to play with her clit and then bent over a little more, giving him easier access to her pussy. His hips built speed and soon he hammered her from behind. The girls watched, awestruck.

I realized I was merely watching too instead of barging in to end it.

I watched because Sadie looked hotter than the sun. The sight destroyed me but I couldn't look away, not even when my lovely bride tossed her head and wailed in orgasm. The guy kept fucking her hard and then turned his torrent loose, spraying hot sperm into her uterus. He flooded her sweet pussy, emptying his big nuts. Her orgasm was just dying when his finished. She came for a long time. His cock softened and then slipped out and Sadie turned, resting her back against my car and breathing fast. The man zipped up and mumbled it was time for him to go.

Kim left the circle of ladies and smoothed Sadie's skirt into place. The pink panties were lost under a car somewhere. Kim kissed my wife softly and Sadie turned it into something hot and lusty. A few of the girls turned away but most watched with keen interest.

"We better get home," one of them said. "I'm fine. I'll drive."

They were reluctant to shatter the mood. I took that as the best time to leave and slipped away, returning to Mom's car and hurrying home. I got into bed to wait for my wife, amazed and stunned by what I'd witnessed. My mind and my heart were a tumultuous cloud of confusing emotions. I was hurt that Sadie would do what she did but I could shake how goddamn hot it all was. My dick was iron under the covers. Nobody likes being lied to but something about the fact that she was lying to me about sex made her infinitely more exciting.

I heard the front door close. She was home. The house was quiet, her mother deep asleep. Sadie bumped into a few things on her way to me and then she was there, slipping through the bedroom doorway into the dark room. Her clothing hit the floor. I watched her strip in the faint light. I thought she might shower before bed but no. Maybe she worried the noise would wake me. My cheating wife lifted the covers and slid into bed next to me. She turned on her side and I spooned her from behind, pretending to be half-awake.

"Have fun?" I asked, pitching my voice with the appropriate level of groggy.

"We had a blast," she said, obviously drunk.

"Where'd you go?"

"There's this all-male review, like Chippendales but raunchier. We took Kim there and drank like fishes. We made her get on stage with the dancers."

"Did you get on stage with the dancers?"

"Yes. I probably touched them more than I should have. Sorry, Baby. I was drunk."

I'd planned this long series of questions, drawing out the details of her night, giving her an opportunity to tell me lie after lie. I don't know why it turned me on but it did. She hid her secret sexual self from me and every lie was a glimpse into her decadent true nature. I'd confront her, and soon, but right now every lie made her more complex, more devious and wicked.

"What do you mean you touched them?"

"They wore G-strings and wagged bulges in my face. I unngh—!"

She had to stop talking because I'd pushed my stiff dick into her from behind. I'd kept her ignorant of my engorged state, holding my hips back, but I could take no more. She was too sexy. I'd moved my hips closer and slid my erection into the slippery used tunnel that was her cheating cunt. God! I thought my brain would explode. His sperm was my lube and she took every stiff inch I had. All the air left her lungs in a rush.

"Gareth," she rasped. "What?"

I pulled back and slammed deep. I pushed her forward, almost face down, and fucked her into the mattress, pounding her sopping unfaithful slit with manic vigor. I covered her face with a pillow to keep her quiet and hammered her hole. His sperm coated my dick and her insides and ignited an inferno in my mind. He was still in her. His sperm swam freely in her married womb.

Bombs detonated between my ears and I pounded my wife before exploding with sperm of my own. I pumped every desperate drop I had into her. I thought I heard her cumming under that pillow but I wasn't concerned about that. I needed to add my semen. I kept my crazy hips pumping long after the last drop left my dick. I fell to the side, out of breath, sweaty and fearing a heart attack. Sadie didn't move for a long time but neither did I. When she did, she wordlessly scooted her body back to mine, resting her head on my outstretched arm, kissing my bicep before settling down for sleep. I was shocked. She demanded no explanation. She simply welcomed my explosion of lust.

I realized when it came to our married sex life, I'd been doing it all wrong.

Chapter 5

I did not tell her what I'd seen. I know most husbands would have demanded an explanation. Hell, most husbands would have divorced her on the spot. Many would have charged the stage and prevented her from doing any of it. But, where would that have left me? I'd never have seen the real her.

Now, days later, I still haven't told her. I liked it when I thought she was a sweet and naïve young woman but I love knowing she's actually a bad girl. I look at her now and I remember. Last night I watched her sleep for an hour, her pretty face serene and lovely. I had no problem picturing a big stripper cock in her mouth. I considered jacking off all over her but then I'd have some explaining of my own to do, and I wasn't ready for that.

Today, right now, we drive into the city to go shopping. When she woke up this morning I casually mentioned that she should dress sexier.

"You hide beneath your baggy clothes," I'd said. "You're gorgeous and your body is smoking hot. We'll never be this young again. Flaunt it while you got it. Unless you're trying to hide."

"No," she'd said. "Not hide. But I worried attracting the attention of other men would be a sign of disrespect for you."

"I get that, but I never feel disrespected. I like it when they want you. You belong to me. That gives me bragging rights."

"Belong?"

I laughed.

"Yes. If we men cum inside a girl, she's ours. We'll always be able to say we had her. Don't you know how the male brain works?"

"I wasn't sure they worked at all."

"Ha. Ha. But what I'm saying is true. It's buried deep. Men have been stealing women, as if they were property, for millennia."

"We aren't property."

"We're working on it."

I pulled into the mall and we hit all the stores. She started conservatively, feeling me out, testing the waters, but soon learned I truly did mean sexier. We left with bags of short skirts and tight tops, lacy undergarments and new makeup. She was delighted. She wore one new outfit out of the store. I stared along with others. She tried to act shy but I knew the truth.

On the way home I stopped at the base to check the new projects schedule. I keep her away from the military idiots I work with because most are infantile and crude. She's never been to the base or met anyone I work with. I had her stay in the car.

I hurried inside. I said hi to some friends and collected all the empty lunch containers I'd forgotten and returned to my car where Sadie waited. I discovered she was out of the car and standing under the shade of a birch tree, talking to the base commander, Colonel Thomas. I stopped to salute and then approached.

"This your woman?" he asked.

"Sir, yes, sir."

"How long?"

"Married a few years, sir."

Sadie chuckled at the change in my demeanor. My shoulders were square, my spine straight.

"She's a lovely woman," he said. "Young. Gorgeous."

"Yes, sir. I know I'm a lucky man, sir."

"You kids enjoy the rest of your day."

"Sir, yes, sir."

Colonel Thomas walked away, heading for his office. I turned to Sadie. She grinned broadly.

"I've never seen you do that," she said.

"Yeah, he caught me by surprise."

My wife saluted me.

"What were you talking about?" I asked.

"He wondered why I was on the base so I told him. I'd gotten out of the car to sit in the shade. In the short time you were gone he said I was cute, pretty, sexy, and gorgeous. He'd look away and then bring his eyes back to me. Maybe I shouldn't have worn this new outfit onto the base? I don't know. I was flattered though. I had him flustered and I bet that man never gets flustered."

"Ever. I'm sure he'll make me mop the bathrooms or something because you got to him. He's like that."

"An ass?"

"Overbearing," I said. "Totally in control always. That's probably why he walked away. Did not want me to see him rattled."

"Sweet. I liked it."

"Let's get you home."

I took one step towards the car and my phone rang. I answered. I listened.

"Yes, sir."

I hung up.

"Colonel Thomas would like to see me in his office."

"Now?"

"Right now."

She sat on the grass.

"Guess I'll hang in my shady place a while longer."

"Sorry, Baby," I said. "I'll be as quick as I can."

"This is the only time a woman wants to hear those words."

We laughed and we kissed and I ran to the offices of Colonel Thomas. This being the weekend there was no receptionist. I knocked on his door.

"Enter."

I stepped inside and shut the door behind me, standing tall.

"I want her," he said.

"I beg your pardon, sir?"

"Your young wife. I want her. In the Biblical sense."

I was stunned speechless. A million thoughts raced through my head. I flat-out refuse him and kiss my career goodbye. I say okay and he loses all respect for me. A million other possible scenarios raced through my skull. My jaw moved but no words came out.

"No one will know," he continued. "You'll tell no one. You won't be the first E-Four to hand over his wife. I enjoy my perks. Let her know. I'll text you my home address. You can bring her dressed in the same outfit she has on now. I'd like that. Dismissed."

My jaw was still working. If I defied him, I'd be defying the entire military hierarchy. I felt the weight of my decision weighing on my shoulders.

"Yes, sir," I muttered.

I left his office. I stumbled down the hall and stepped into the bright sunlight. Sadie saw me and waved and I managed a wave back. I aimed for her.

"What's wrong, Baby?" she asked.

I looked her up and down. Baby doll shoes and black stockings and a pleated skirt, topped by a white blouse, buttons straining to contain her tits.

"Colonel Thomas has instructed me to deliver you to him for sex. He'll text me his home address."

She laughed. Then she got serious, studying my face. Then she understood.

"What the fuck?"

"Exactly," I said. "He saw you and he wants you."

"Senior officers can do that? They can just take their pick of the women married to the men they outrank? Like the wives are a pile of apples at the grocery store or something?"

"Not officially, and I can refuse, but he could unleash holy hell on me."

She chewed a lip. She was annoyed and irritated, but not filled with towering outrage like I thought she should be, like almost any other woman in her shoes would be at this moment.

"What if I don't want him?" she asked, already moving on to pragmatism. "What about me? What about what I want or don't want?"

"If you don't want him, you refuse."

"But then what happens to you?"

"I get shitty job assignments for a while until he can figure out some rules violation I committed. He'll bust me down a few ranks and either send me to a base in Alaska or discharge me dishonorably. I end up as an assistant manager at a Best Buy or Walmart."

"Can't you tell on him? Go over his head?"

"Sure. I can break the chain of command and do that. There are steps I could take. But the men above him have probably done the same thing once or twice. He took a risk with that order. I could get him in trouble."

She studied my face.

"But he knows you won't," she said.

"He knows I won't."

We stood silent for a minute, hot sun on our skin.

"So, should I do it?" she asked.

The internal fire came roaring back. I knew in that moment Sadie had already considered fucking him and decided he was a guy that would make her yes-I-would list. She'd considered fucking him while the spoke in the shade, while I was still in the building. He'd made her list while I was still collecting empty lunch containers. He'd ogled my wife, showered her with compliments, looked her up and down and turned her on. She'd told me some of the things he'd said but did she tell me all the things he'd said? Doubtful. Omission is still a lie. You can speak a falsehood or withhold the truth and let someone believe something false. Both are lies.

My heart skipped a beat to think she wanted him, that perhaps she'd even encouraged him. What had she said to him while I wasn't there? What signal had she sent that lead him to make such a bold demand?

My dick began to fill. Sadie cannot be trusted. That would turn most men off. Most men would get angry and defensive. Not me. I held a tiger by her tail. She didn't know I knew.

"Should I do it?" she asked again.

"Do you want to?"

"Only if it helps you. I mean, the man's not ugly. It wouldn't be terrible. But I'd only be doing it because you say I should."

Right.

The trip to her hometown had ripped the lid off the casket. My Sadie was gone. New, Dark Sadie had risen from those ashes and wanted new cock, just like she did before knowing me. It's sweet she tried to recreate herself as something fresh and innocent, and It's a damn shame that's not what I prefer.

"All right," I heard myself say. "It may not boost my career, but it will keep me from getting skipped over for a promotion or even demoted."

"I'll do it," she said, excitement hidden in her voice. "But only for you."

"Are you sure? I don't know much about the man. He's a hard-ass. He does everything by the book."

"Except fuck his subordinate's wives."

"Yes. Well, there is that."

Chapter 6

I expected a text with Colonel Thomas's address, but nothing came. I drove us home in a quiet car, neither of us sharing our thoughts or feelings. I couldn't sort through mine. I was nervous about what might happen and scared for our relationship, but excited that Sadie might go through with it. We got home and showered, ate dinner and watched a movie. We spoke little. The movie ended and I locked our apartment and turned off the lights.

I got in bed and Sadie attacked. She didn't even kiss me first. She just ducked her head under the covers in the dark and found my penis with her mouth. She licked and sucked like a mad woman, shaking the bed in such a way that I realized she masturbated while blowing me. That got me hot. I was hard fast and she climbed on top, riding me until she orgasmed. I was close behind but just as I was about to, she jumped off and slapped my dick on her tongue. Her lips closed around the head and she bobbed fast, playing with my balls. Good God, I exploded. I sprayed like crazy as she sucked.

After she drained me she wiggled her body against mine.

"Good night, baby," she said.

I kissed her shoulder.

"Good night, Sadie."

In the morning, she was out the door before I was even out of bed.

"More shopping," she whispered, kissing my ear.

I rolled over for more sleep. I woke about an hour later and went about my day, cleaning the apartment and reading. Sadie got home with shopping bags and modeled some of her outfits for me. She's gone even sexier than the outfits we'd picked together. There were bags she didn't open and I asked what was in them.

"Surprises," she said.

The next day was Monday and we were both up early and off to our jobs. There was a new man assigned to the office, which happened all the time, and he was a shit programmer. Where do they find these guys? His name was Sebastian and he was a nice guy, but his code was garbage. I spent my day writing my code and fixing his. He left the office on time but

I got handed a problem late. I texted Sadie to let her know. She didn't answer but that happens sometimes. My phone did vibrate a few minutes later but it was Colonel Thomas telling me never mind and that I should go home when I finished work and wait there.

Cool, I thought. Off the hook.

Then my brain kicked in. I sent Sadie another text, updating her on this turn of events, but, again, got no response. I didn't need the Colonel's address. I work in IT. I looked up his address in our personnel files and added it to my phone.

A tenuous connection had formed in my mind, relating to Sadie alone outside with him that day, her lack of response right now, and him telling me to go home and wait. His use of the word wait being the critical element. He didn't just say go home. He didn't just say never mind. He'd told me to wait.

Wait for what? Wait for whom?

Sadie, of course. That was the only thing that made sense. Sadie was the only thing I could wait for.

In my heart, I knew she was already at his place, or close to it. The bags she hadn't opened yesterday because she said they contained surprises? Those surprises were for him, not me. My gut told me I was right.

I finished work late and drove directly to Colonel Thomas's home. He owned a large house. He lived close to the base in a private neighborhood, at the end of a cul-de-sac. I waved my badge at the guard and that, combined with my military uniform, was enough for him to open the gate to me. I followed the GPS directions until I saw the big house at the end of the lane. Lots of trees. Lots of sculpted landscaping. An American flag flew on a pole. A car, a truck, a boat, and an RV sat on the paved side of his house. His lawn was manicured, every blade of grass perfect.

What was my plan? I had no plan. My plan was to get close and see what I could see. Colonel Thomas had obtained Sadie's number while I had been in the building. He'd sent her his address. He'd invited her to his place without me. He'd probably sent men with a car to retrieve her. I parked my car down the street and walked back. I took my briefcase with me. I thought it made me look more like I should be there and less like I was sneaking around.

Two armed guards came out of the shadows to intercept me.

FUCK.

I was caught so easily. I identified myself and lied, saying I had some papers for Colonel Thomas to sign. They checked my ID and called into the house. I was fully expecting to get cuffed and placed in the back of an MP's car but they ended the call and returned my briefcase and walked me to the front door. They rang the bell.

Colonel Thomas answered.

He looked amused, which was a face I didn't recognize on him. He bid the guards return to their posts and ushered me inside with a warning.

"Not one word," he said. "These are important men."

He led me through the modest but nicely appointed home into a large sunken-in den. Heavy bookcases lined the wall. Older men, some wearing uniforms from other branches of service, sat around in comfortable chairs sipping brandy or something similar. Most had a gorgeous young woman with him.

Colonel Thomas had Sadie.

Shock and surprise flashed across her face but she maintained control. She sipped her drink casually. She wore an outfit I'd never seen, with short skirt, thigh-high black lace stockings, and a layered sheer top, deep red. She was breathtaking, but several of the women were. Colonel Thomas sat and Sadie held his hand. I took an open chair. Colonel Thomas introduced me as his valet, a man of no importance, who was there to collect his signatures on some documents. He bid the others to continue. One old man started again the story I'd interrupted.

Sadie would not look at me.

Another old man began to share a tale of his glory days. The group laughed when they were supposed to and looked shocked when they were supposed to and I began to understand this was a group of old warriors getting together to relive the good ole days when they were the shit. They stroked each other's egos like each of them wanted. Every man took his turn reliving the past.

At last the group broke up. Some headed for the bar, some for the dessert table. I hoped Sadie would find her way to me but she stayed glued to Colonel Thomas. I was merely some anonymous peon. Several of the men left the room with their dates but most of the single old men remained. On some unspoken cue, which I missed, Sadie turned to Colonel Thomas and offered her lips for a kiss.

That was the signal the others had been waiting for. Two old men dropped into chairs and their dates settled between their knees, drawing zippers down and freeing wrinkled dicks. Heads began to bob. My eyes went to Sadie, of course. Colonel Thomas leaned against the mantle and sipped his brandy. Sadie ended their kiss to kneel and free his large lumpy cock. She left the thing hanging while she worked on his pants, opening his fly for better access. I couldn't breathe. I fought back a choke. His dangling meat awaited her attention. The Colonel fixed his gaze on me, enjoying the power of his rank. This was my punishment for disobedience. Sadie opened her mouth below the head and rose, his soft, fleshy cock gliding halfway in. She sucked softly, bringing his flaccid penis to life.

An unspoken command forced me to remain silent. Entrenched authority hung in the air. These men held the power of life and death in their hands. These men could issue an order and a soldier would be sent to the far side of the world, stationed in some sweltering jungle camp or some frozen tundra, placed far away from his wife, who one of these men now enjoyed. I shuddered, warning myself to behave, to show nothing. Colonel Thomas would have Sadie any way he pleased, and I'd do nothing.

I should be home now, waiting, as I'd been ordered. I'd rolled the dice and gotten caught, and I could take my beating and keep my comfortable life or protest and be press-ganged onto a C-Seventeen Globemaster and shipped to Guam, leaving Sadie alone and unprotected. These wolves would eat her alive.

I sent my eyes around the room. Young wives eagerly ate cock all around me, doing what they must to protect their husbands. Sadie used both hands on the Colonel, slowly stroking from balls to crown, sucking on the head like she tried to pull his load out. His cock was large, filling her small hands, and coated with her spit.

I tore my eyes away. The room was filled with old men, Viagra-fueled old men, enjoying blowjobs from young, pretty women. How many of these girls were married to enlisted men? My position has kept me away from my fellow soldiers, kept me isolated in small rooms working on computers. A few of the women looked familiar but I could name none.

"Thomas," an army general said. "Have your varlet engage. Offer him some fine young pussy."

Colonel Thomas shook his head.

"Better that he watch and learn his place," the Colonel said.

He rested a hand on my wife's head and helped to guide her mouth up and down his cock. Sadie lavished attention on his fat hanging balls and veiny shaft. She did not understand the politics of what transpired. She cared nothing about the powers at play. She had a big cock in front of her and she was happy. She knew what to do with it. Best of all, her husband saw what she did and apparently approved, because he'd raised no protest at all. She pushed his cock so far in her mouth she choked and gagged but only tried to go deeper. Colonel Thomas sucked a bushel of air.

"Damn it, girl," he growled. "You'll force me before I'm ready. What a star you are. Such talent."

Sadie glowed, happy with his praise, eager to please. My wife doubled her efforts, attacking his hard meat. His head flared and the veins rose along the length.

"Enough," he soon grumbled.

He grabbed handfuls of her long red hair and pulled her to her feet. I hated his rough handling of my woman but kept my face passive. He turned her away and bent Sadie at the waist, nudging her feet farther apart. His cock curved upward like a tusk and wobbled as he positioned my wife for penetration. Sadie looked all too eager to feel him in her, whimpering softly as she became aware of his plan. She watched his dick over a shoulder, twisting her neck to see the encroaching beast, subconsciously lifting her ass slightly to assist in her own invasion. Her skirt was short enough there was no need to flip it out of the way. Colonel Thomas bent her forward and exposed her bare cunt. His throbbing cock seemed to strain to reach her.

I had a moment, a tiny window to raise my voice in protest, but I said nothing. I adjusted my glasses and watched as the large mushroom head kissed her labia before forcing them to flower and give way. Sadie gasped at the intrusion, gasped and arched her back as his cock burrowed. He pulled her hair and sank his inches, forcing her tunnel wide, until he reached her cervix and could sink no deeper. He held himself in there, savoring the sensations of a young tight cunt wrapped snugly around him. The sight rocked me. Forget the terrible abuse of authority this act was. The vision of my Sadie impaled on his cock shattered me. So great was my focus that when he spoke, I jumped.

"Come closer," he ordered. "This is something to witness up close."

The other old men chuckled. They had no idea she was my wife. They thought Colonel Thomas merely boasted.

"Show him how it's done," one called out.

Colonel Thomas gestured for me to leave my chair and approach. He pointed to a spot on the floor near Sadie's leg.

"Sit there," he said. "Spread her cheeks for me. I'd like to see this old log moving in and out better."

Punishment indeed. He was teaching me to never disobey him again. I rested my hands on her ass and pried her firm cheeks apart, my eyes slammed by the sight of his cock moving in her only inches away. Sadie was a whimpering, mewling mess, barely supporting herself with hands on knees. His thick rod dominated her tight hole. She was drenched with excitement, shamed by an audience of strangers and abased by the audience of me, abased, but aroused. My wife was thrilled to perform her slutty best for my entertainment.

"Keep her spread," he barked, when my thoughts wandered.

I quickly reopened my wife to him. His cock was a ram, plunging and withdrawing repeatedly. My wife had begun to moan and I knew the signs. This old bastard would bring her to orgasm right in my face. He pumped deep and strong and Sadie soon cried out, voicing the peak of pleasure he'd forced. She shook her head wildly, fucked like a breeding animal, stuffed with cock. I held her open to him and soon heard her screech again as another spike of pleasure wracked her body.

"Perhaps you should order her stripped," I heard myself say. "Her body looks incredible."

He liked that idea but Sadie loved it. My wife groaned deeply at the thought.

"Do it," he commanded, withdrawing his glossy cock and stepping back. "Strip this wench for me."

What a thrill for him. What a testament to his power. He watched her husband strip her for him. His cock surged harder, anticipating. Sadie turned on trembling legs to face me with uncertain eyes. I began to undress her without hesitation, revealing her hot body to the room and every man there. She shivered and not from a chill. Her gaze landed on his pulsating meat and she dropped to her knees, sucking hard on the large head. The room laughed at her instinctive submission. The Colonel allowed her to nurse for a minute and I saw a gleam enter his eye. I feared he'd order me to join her on his dick, orally worshipping my superior. Thankfully, he did not. Instead he ordered her to stand and me to kneel. He had her place her hands on my shoulders while he entered her from behind again. Her face was mere inches from mine as he fucked her again. I saw every expression, every wave of pleasure and gratitude. I felt every emotion she felt. I gazed into her eyes as he brought her to orgasm again and I was skewered through the heart. We resisted the urge to kiss, maintaining the façade, and I did nothing but watch as he deep-fucked my wife.

She soon orgasmed again and that was the catalyst for his. He held her hips and pummeled her from behind and exploded inside my wife as she moaned. He shot so much hot fluid that some splashed. Tiny droplets landed on my glasses.

I was rocked by my own reaction to it all. Her face was beautiful, her sounds the most erotic I'd ever heard. He filled her with his seed and I'd never seen her so aroused. Her eyes met mine and we both understood what was happening in those moments, we both knew his sperm flowed from him to her. I wanted to scream. She held me tight and never looked away, melding with my mind as burst after burst ejaculated from his cock into her womb. I was left weak, and so was she.

When the last drop left his dick, he eased her away. I steadied my wife.

"Help her dress," he ordered. "See to it she gets home safely,"

He pulled his pants on and moved to the bar, pouring himself a drink. I held her clothes for her as she slithered into them.

"My panties are in my purse," she mumbled.

I found them and knelt on one knee, holding them open for her to step in, keenly aware I was sealing her pussy closed with buckets of him inside. What choice did I have? Allow his semen to run down her legs until we reached our bathroom at home? No, I maintained the charade.

When she was dressed, I collected my briefcase and nudged Sadie towards the door. I did not touch her. I avoided any sign of familiarity. She was supposed to be a stranger to me and I acted that way. We said goodnight to the guards on our way to my car. Sadie said nothing. I opened her door for her and we buckled in. I started the car and drove. She said nothing but neither did I. We left his neighborhood and I plotted a course for home.

"Pull over," Sadie said, after several blocks.

I saw a park-and-ride and pulled in.

She was on me like a panther. She kissed me passionately and fumbled at my fly. She lifted her top and stuffed a stiff nipple in my mouth. I sucked, growing hard, and she yanked her panties aside and climbed onto my lap, lowering her smoldering cunt to my penis. She sank around me like an oven, a sweltering, dripping, scorching oven. My dick slipped through his semen easily, until her pubic bone met mine. She ground her hips on me and showered my mouth with hot kisses.

"I love you," she moaned. "I love you. I love you."

Emotions boiled up in us. We kissed with fervor, hungry for each other but also hungry to make things right, hungry to know everything would be okay. Despite his deluge of sperm, her pussy gripped me. I was shocked when she climaxed, hard, a minute later. She kept grinding and I knew she craved my load in with his so I held back nothing, blowing up like a volcano, spraying a hot gallon inside her. We sat entwined, panting, blinded by foggy windows.

"You went behind my back," I wheezed.

"Yes," she murmured.

"You gave him your number. On the base. While you waited for me."

"Yes."

She tilted my chin and kissed me with trembling lips. Her movements were so delicate, so tender and loving.

I had more to say, or I felt like I did, but no words came. I was afraid to dig too deep but also, and I believe this drove me more, I was reluctant to pull everything out into the light. I loathed to haul her lies into the glare of analysis. I'd never dated a bad girl. I was enjoying this one. She tore my insides up and crushed me but I craved it. I was shocked to realize I was more afraid she'd end it than I was she'd continue.

"Are you going to fuck him again?" I asked.

She kissed my chin and fixed me in her gaze.

"If that's what he commands."

"I hate that he holds this over us."

She shrugged indifferently.

"It's not terrible," she said. "'It's kind of erotic. I never expected to see you walk through the door but I would have told you what he ordered me to do. It's better that you know. Why did you come to his house?"

"He told me to go home but the way he said it made me think he'd gone around me to get to you. Turns out, I was right. You orgasmed with him."

"Sorry. You know there's nothing I desire more than desire. I love to be wanted."

Chapter 7

I was at my work desk when the call came. Colonel Thomas requested my audience. I signed off my computer and walked across the base to his command center. His receptionist ushered me in without delay.

The Colonel sat at his massive oak desk, staring at the monitor. I saluted smartly and stood at attention. He left me like that for almost a minute.

"At ease," he said.

I relaxed. Some.

"I'm sure there's no need for me to stress discretion," he said.

"None, sir."

"Excellent. The biggest difference between the rich and the poor is the effort the rich make to hide their secrets."

"Yes, sir."

"I'm rich, you're poor."

"Yes, sir."

"What was your plan, ensign? To steal her back?"

"I had no plan, sir. Steal her back? Sure, if the opportunity arose. Check to make sure she was safe? Yes. Recue her? If need be."

"She's safe with me. Know that."

"Yes, sir."

He studied me.

"She's something special," he said.

"Yes, sir."

"Bring her Saturday night. My home. Just me and a few friends."

"As you wish, sir."

"You will continue to perform as my personal valet. No one is to learn she's your wife. Ever. There would be dire consequences for you."

"Understood. Sir. How shall I dress her?"

"It hardly matters," he chuckled. "We'll have her naked in minutes."

I swallowed hard.

"Yes, sir."

"That is all."

I saluted and backed out of his office. I called Sadie on the way to my desk and explained what had just been said to me.

"Are they all going to fuck me?"

"That was the impression I got."

She was quiet for a moment.

"Oh, my God," she whispered, and I doubt she intended me to hear it.

There was no fear or worry. There was only naked, barely contained lust.

"Are you all right?" I asked.

"I'm fine, Baby," she said. "We'll be fine. Will he make you stay and watch?"

"I'm sure of it."

"All right. Love you."

"Love you too," I said.

I hate idea of hanging up on someone before they finish speaking. Because of this, I always wait and allow the other person to end the call first. Sadie, in her excitement, thought she did but failed. I heard her set her phone aside. I was about to call her name so she could disconnect when I heard a deep male voice.

"Important call?"

"Yes. Sorry," she said.

"Bad news?" the voice asked.

"No," she replied "Good news. Great news. I'm flustered but okay. Lie back."

There was a moment of silence and then a man groaned.

"Is this okay?" I heard her ask.

"No, that's fucking fantastic."

"Thanks," she told him. "I'm a little worked up. This will help."

"You can take it out on me," he said.

I heard a loud slurp. I heard sucking, sucking that grew louder and more energetic. His moans grew louder too.

"Can I cum in your mouth?" he asked.

"I'd love it," she said. "But not too soon. I need dick right now."

More slurping and sucking. My news about Saturday had lit a fire in her. I'd obviously caught her in the middle of shaving a client and she now took her angst and lust out on him. My dick began to swell.

"Let me fuck you," he said. "You said you need dick."

"I'm married."

"Yet you're sucking my cock."

Sadie laughed.

"Fair point," she giggled. "All right, but be quiet."

"I will."

More rustling. I pictured the faceless man bending my wife over the shaving table. My dick was hard, embarrassingly hard. I was near some standalone bathrooms so I cut across the grass and took an empty stall, my ear pressed to my phone. Sadie grunted.

"Wait!" she said, laughing. "Don't be so eager."

"Have you seen yourself, girl? Try looking in a mirror. Every man on Earth is eager to fuck you, including me. This is the best day of my life."

There was a heartbeat of silence and I swear over the phone I felt Sadie melt.

"Okay," she breathed, voice husky. "Go ahead. Fuck me."

He did. I heard everything. They stopped speaking English and switched to some guttural animal dialect. I heard moans and gasps and hips slapping. Sadie orgasmed first but someone quickly covered her mouth to silence her. He delayed his climax, which is what I would have done in his place, suddenly finding myself slamming one of the hottest women I'd ever seen, but Sadie slapped his flesh.

"You've gotta cum," she hissed. "I have more clients."

Their slapping flesh grew louder. Heartbeats later, he did, groaning from his powerful release. I assumed he shot every drop in her so there was nothing to clean up. I heard nothing for a long time. Then, movement as she dressed.

"Back on the table," my wife said. "I need to finish shaving you."

He moved himself into position on the table. I heard the phone rustle, like someone picked it up.

"Fuck!" Sadie said. "Was this on the whole ti-?"

Her phone went dead.

My cock was hard as steel! I needed to get back to my desk but I had to relieve myself first. I freed my erection and closed my eyes, picturing Sadie sucking cock, getting fucked, bent over for Colonel Thomas. I stood and aimed my dick at the toilet water, blasting my load into the small pool. My legs jerked and my hips pumped and I drained my balls.

I watched my little islands of semen float slowly around the bowl. Faceless man had filled my wife to the brim. The erotic tingle at the base of my spine made me wish I could get hard and jerk off again. He was in her, I was in the toilet. I flushed and watched my sperm flow down the drain.

"Why is that hot?" I said, to an empty room.

I returned to my desk but my mind was still in that little room with Sadie. We'd spoken little about what happened that night at Colonel Thomas's home. We'd discussed she would continue to perform sexual favors for him. She'd keep him happy and off my back. Complicating all this, for me anyway, was the intense adrenaline rush I got whenever she lied or cheated. I craved her bad-girl behavior. I'd told her nothing about my kinky fetish. I did not want her to be bad to please me. The rush came from her inability to control herself, her runaway desire to please herself. I had a wife that craved sex more than she cherished her wedding vows, and it was awesome.

I finished my last tasks and headed out. Sadie will have been home for over an hour by the time I got there. I was sure she would have showered away most of the evidence from her tryst. That disappointed me.

I walked into our bedroom and found her dressed like a whore. She was trying on outfits for Saturday night already, eager for the moment to arrive. I told her Colonel Thomas made no wardrobe request but she was determined. She wanted to rock their world. She wanted to walk in and have older, jaded men stop and stare.

I gradually grew hard watching her dress and undress and eventually she noticed. She stood close and I slid a hand up her leg. Her pussy was bare so I naturally slid a finger in and immediately discovered she'd not showered at all. Her sweet cunt was awash in Faceless Man jizz. She watched my expression to see if I noticed she carried sperm in her and when I did not react, she told me a wicked lie, which only turned me on more.

"See how wet I am for you?" she teased.

I ran with it.

"You get turned on playing dress-up?" I asked.

"I like seeing a hard dick in your pants when I play dress-up."

I pushed my finger all the way in. She gasped. She slid by me to lie on the bed and spread her legs, opening herself at my face.

"Hungry?" she asked, with a little curl of a smile. "I'm horny."

Her inner lips sparkled with wetness. I pushed all thought from my mind and fell face-first into her crotch. She covered my head with her short pleated skirt and I split her bald labia with my hot wiggling tongue. She held my head in place and I attacked her clit, her outer lips, her inner lips, and her slick tunnel. I electrified her body, causing her to twist and contort. She was fueled by the naughty deed she'd committed and then tricking me into feasting on her used pussy, but the joke was on her. Her duplicity only turned me on more. I moved my fingers inside her and marveled at her cheating cunt.

Her faithlessness was not a sign she hated or disrespected me. I knew she loved me with all her heart. Her faithlessness was a testament to the power of new cock, her love of fucking, her wild desires. Her cheating wasn't a statement about me, or us. It was a declaration about her. My wife loved hot sex and I loved that she did.

I added another finger. She squirmed and I added a third. He was dripping out of her but her natural arousal had her drenched. I swear she possessed the most sensitive pussy I'd ever encountered. I licked and sucked and pumped my digits until I had her at the edge of the cliff. She whimpered with need. I slowed, teasing. She whined and kicked her legs in frustration.

"Make me cum," she pleaded.

"I'm sorry about Colonel Thomas," I muttered.

"It's all right," she gasped.

"I had no idea that kind of thing went on."

"Men are always like that."

I dragged my bumpy tongue across her clitoris. She sucked a lungful of air.

"I can take the dishonorable discharge. We don't have to go."

"No," she rasped. "I'll do it."

"There might be three or four men this time."

She groaned deep and loud. Her whole body tensed. Her pussy gushed and squeezed my fingers.

"I'm ready," she whimpered.

I fastened my mouth to her pussy and began a sweet torture. She was imagining four hard cocks requiring her attention. She was responsible for draining them all and her body told me she couldn't wait. I brought her to the edge of climax again and held her there a while, then pushed her over the edge, licking fast and soft, pumping strong and smooth. Her orgasm shook our apartment. I made it last as long as possible and then, just as she was starting to come down, I pounced, driving my dick all the way in. She kissed me with hot passion and slapped her hands on my ass and I thrust hard and fast, hungry for my own climax. Faceless Man was in her. I felt my cock sliding through him like lube. I was her second lover within hours and that made me crazy horny. I blasted my load into my wife, mixing mine with his.

She's never looked sexier.

Chapter 8

Sebastian checked to make sure we were alone in our little programming room, but we were almost always alone. Nobody likes IT geeks.

"You've been to the Colonel's home?" he asked.

"How would you know that?" I answered. "Why would you know that?"

He scanned for eavesdroppers again.

"I'm not a programmer."

"No shit. Your code sucks ass."

"I'm an investigator with OSI, Office of Special Investigations."

I made a face.

"What are you doing here?" I asked.

He studied me a moment, then reached some internal conclusion.

"What I'm about to tell you can be shared with no one, not even your wife. At least not until we've got him under arrest."

"Then don't tell me."

"I wish I had that option but the situation has evolved. The situation has become dire. I must tell you and you must remain silent. I'll court-martial you if you fail."

I was suddenly serious.

"What's going on?"

"We believe Colonel Thomas has abused his power and his position. We believe he's soliciting sex from the wives of the enlisted men, including you. True?"

I froze. In about thirty seconds, this man had managed to threaten every aspect of my life.

"Yes," I rasped.

"I'm sorry. He's a bastard. For some men, the power they are given goes to their head. You're not the first E-Four he's abused. I'd like to make sure you are the last."

"Why are you telling me this?"

He rubbed his chin, assessing me.

"The next time Thomas calls you and your wife to his home, I need you to wear a wire. You'll also be fitted with a button camera, maybe two. I need hard evidence. Thomas is connected. My case must be so solid his colleagues turn on him. I'm talking airtight. For that, I need audio and video."

"He has armed MPs at the house."

"You'll be in no danger. Those men will not obey an illegal order."

"Says you."

He scoffed at me.

"Who do you think first alerted us that something might be wrong?"

Chapter 9

Colonel Thomas was right about Sadie's wardrobe. Nobody cared.

I acted as Sadie's chauffeur, placing her in the backseat and driving her to the Colonel's home. The guards at the gate knew to expect us. I parked at the curb and ran around to open her door.

"Milady," I said, with a flourish.

We both chuckled, high spirits considering what we were about to do. She wore her sexiest outfit yet, all lace and thigh high stockings. I wore a hidden microphone and two cameras, one in a button on my shirt and the other hidden in the frame of my glasses. I walked one step ahead of her like an anonymous bodyguard. I rang the bell and we waited.

"I'm nervous," I said.

"I'm wet."

"You look fantastic."

"Thank you, Baby. I don't know what's in store for us tonight but I wanted to look sexy and alluring."

"You succeeded."

Her eyes turned soft and compassionate.

"This must be torture for you," she said. "I'm so sorry. The Colonel is an asshole."

I thought about revealing the truth but changed my mind. I liked things the way they were. If she thinks I want her to behave, and then misbehaves anyway, I get more turned on than ever.

"It's agonizing," I said, delivering a half-truth.

It was agonizing, but in a way I liked.

"I'll try to make it quick," she said.

The door opened. The Colonel stood before us in a burgundy bathrobe. His eyes started with me but instantly jumped to my wife. He looked her up and down like a ravenous wolf. Sadie shivered.

"Enter," he said, stepping aside.

He closed the door behind us.

"Strip," he told her.

Sadie looked disappointed only he and I would see her outfit, but then gave a little shrug and began to undress.

"Those waiting are already nude," he said.

He untied the sash and slipped his robe off. He wore nothing underneath and his dick was already starting to swell. Sadie fixed her gaze on it as she shed clothing. Once they were naked, he led us to the same large, sunken-in den with the bookcases. Two old men waited, wrinkled and almost bald but with drug-induced erections. I recognized neither. The chairs had been arranged around a large square floor pillow. One man licked his lips eagerly.

"Is she the one?" he asked.

I did not like that creepy man. He looked at Sadie like she was raw meat. I'll embrace Sadie getting fucked but if any one of these men is into pain, and thinks he's going to hurt my wife for his amusement, I'll snap his ancient neck. I was glad I might bring some of these fuckers down.

Colonel Thomas told me to wait and then led Sadie to the pillow. His cock was rising in anticipation. He spoke to her in quiet tones and she nodded often. My wife knelt on the pillow. The men moved in front of her, shoulder to shoulder. They leaned their hips forward, offering Sadie her choice of hard dicks. The Colonel was cool but the other two men jostled, struggling for position.

"Gentlemen," the Colonel chastised. "She will service each of us. Be patient."

Lip-Licker reached for her head to pull her mouth to his cock. Sadie smacked his hand, shocking us all.

"The Colonel is right," she scolded. "I'm flattered you desire me so much but let's not act childish. I'll take care of you all."

She curled fingers around Colonel Thomas and bent his cock to her mouth. Lip-Licker looked ready to pop.

"Oh my," he mumbled. "Oh my."

What was the year when this old codger last got a blowjob? Sadie licked Thomas's head and jammed her wiggling tongue in the hole at the end. She cupped his balls and slipped the head into her mouth, moaning softly as she welcomed him. Her hands drifted to the other men and she began to stroke them in time to her mouth on Thomas. Soon she pulled off the Colonel and enveloped another man, making the man that tried to pull her down to his cock the last to receive her attention.

She was having fun. She had three hard dicks waving in her face and total control over how she handled them. Only Thomas had size. The other men were average, like me. She sucked the heads and licked up and down the veiny shafts and teased the men until she had them coated in saliva and throbbing. My cameras captured everything. How humiliating. All the guys back at OSI will watch the video of my wife. They see she's no reluctant victim. She's an eager participant.

She rolled onto her back and gracefully opened her legs at the old men.

"You first," she said, indicating Lip-Licker.

I believe she picked him first because she expected him to last the shortest amount of time, and she was right. Licker worked his cock into my wife and rapidly built speed, moaning and groaning as his abrupt orgasm shook him. Sadie grabbed his flabby butt and pulled him all the way in. He struggled to withdraw but she was stronger, curling her legs around him too. He spasmed and jerked and lay still. The other old man pulled him off my wife.

"Wait a moment," Colonel Thomas said. "I'd like to reward my valet. Gareth, undress and take a position at her head. No need for you to go without. You may use her mouth while we enjoy ourselves."

I waved him off.

"Thank you, sir, but I'm happily married."

"I wasn't suggesting you do it," Colonel Thomas said. "I was telling you to."

"Yes, sir."

Sadie eyed me with mischief. I circled the large pillow to stand over her head and unzipped, slipping my soft penis into her open and waiting mouth. She closed her lips around me, suppressing a chuckle. The next old man took his place between her legs and inserted his raging erection. Sadie moaned and the vibration stimulated my dick. The man began to fuck her. He grunted and groaned like the exertions might kill him. He suckled her tits like he needed milk to live. He pawed at her and slobbered on her and fucked her like a rutting buck, and she welcomed it all. He was an animal, crazed with lust, and yet he turned her on.

He ejaculated and I swear his soul shot out of his dick and into her. Sadie softly urged him to give her everything and the man did. Colonel Thomas allowed the man to collapse on my wife and then tugged him off her, taking his place. Their semen acted as lube to his thick and veiny cannon. He placed the large head at her entrance and pushed, flowering her labia. He sank deep. Sadie groaned with delight, spitting me out.

"Yes," she purred. "This is what I need."

The Colonel wasted no time on intimacies, burying his big hard cock far inside my woman. He grabbed a breast and squeezed as he pumped his hips to drive his impressive meat. Sadie closed her eyes. Her arms circled the Colonel's waist. I slipped my penis into her mouth again but my dick was forgotten in the rush of sensations his cock delivered. He held his weight on his arms and slammed his cock home over and over. Sadie grunted with delight. What the Colonel did was wrong but Sadie sure welcomed it. We'd get no conviction from her testimony. I was glad my dick did not get hard. She paid me no attention but the cameras killed my erection anyway. I was too nervous, too anxious about what I did. The Colonel pounded my wife and her face slowly scrunched. Her orgasm was coming. I know that face. He held his rhythm steady and soon my wife spit me out again to cry out loud. She wailed and I recorded everything. Were the OSI guys jerking off? Probably.

Whatever drug gave him this relentless hard on also made it difficult to reach climax. He pummeled Sadie until she was delirious but he couldn't cum. Eventually she could take no more and pushed him away, pushed him off her. He stood and I broadcast the sweaty old fucker with a raging hard on to everyone watching.

I thought we might be finished for the night but I was wrong.

"I love being fucked," Sadie murmured.

She was only half-conscious. My limp dick hung in the open and I stuffed it in my pants and zipped up.

"You wait out here," the Colonel told me. "I'll bring her back."

He took her hand and helped her stand. The public show was over. The old guys went in search of their clothes while Colonel Thomas led my wife to his bedroom. I sat in a large chair, suddenly alone. I heard a door close back in the house somewhere and soon after Sadie whooped with laughter. Soon after that I heard her groan. He was fucking my wife and taking his time. The display of power was over. Now he was enjoying her in a personal way. I needed to wait because he couldn't be inconvenienced in providing her a ride home when he finished. I knew when I got her back she'd be thoroughly fucked and pumped full of cum.

Now my penis started to rise.

I shook my head. I could hear my hot wife getting fucked but I couldn't even jerk off about it. I was still broadcasting. I sat in my chair and listened for almost an hour. Sadie shrieked in orgasm a few times until Colonel Thomas bellowed like a bull. He was blasting her full of sperm at that moment and all I could do was wait for him to give her back. She was a dazed and disheveled mess when I finally got her dressed in her risqué outfit and into our car. I drove. She lowered her head to my lap but I told her to save it for home. She seemed relieved.

We walked in the house and I shed microphone and cameras in the kitchen while she stripped in our bedroom. I found her waiting for me naked in our bed. She looked exhausted but driven by guilt to take care of me.

"Your balls must be ready to explode," she said. "Poor baby."

"That's an accurate assessment."

"Nerd. He's a bastard for making you watch. He could have sent you out to the car to wait. It was pure cruelty to involve you."

"It was, but I'd prefer to stay in the room with you. I found it far worse when he took you to the back bedroom and I couldn't see anything."

"Really?"

"Yes."

"You're an interesting man, Gareth. I hope you're not angry with me. I did what I had to do. For us."

"Were those orgasms for us?"

"I can't help it if something feels good. His cock is big. He gets really hard. I had to let him fuck me. I might as well get something out of it too if I can, right?"

"Right."

I was dying to confess all I knew, to admit I knew she stripped, turned tricks, fucked a dancer at Kim's party. I even wanted to admit I was a spy for another government agency. But I said nothing. She laid in our bed oozing Colonel Thomas sperm and all I could do was get horny. I must have had a look in my eye.

"I'm a little tender downstairs," she said. "But I'd love to finish the blowjob I started at his place. Would you like that?"

"Yes."

"Come here, sweet man."

She patted the bed near her thigh. I took a step but she halted me with an upturned palm.

"Naked," she said.

I dropped my gaze to her used pussy. She has almost no pubic hair to begin with, but lately has kept her vulva cue-ball smooth. I saw her swollen labia and inner lips and blood surged to my dick. I began to undress, remembering three men had been in her recently, not merely the Colonel. I dropped my shirt and kicked my shoes and shed my pants and underwear. My penis stood out half-erect already. She stared at it, which only made me grow faster.

"I've taken a lot of cock tonight," she said, watching me pulse in time to my heartbeat. "My little pussy is tender."

I sat on the bed near her leg. She wrapped loose fingers around my growing erection and began a slow stroke, up and down.

"Was it difficult to see, Gar?"

"Was what difficult to see?"

"Me, with those men, being fucked."

"Yes."

She looked unconvinced. She squeezed my dick.

"You're getting hard."

"Your hand feels good."

"My mouth would feel better."

"I want your pussy."

"I told you, other men had my pussy already."

Holy shit. Her words fanned my internal fire.

"That only makes me want it more."

"I feel how badly you want it. Your dick is super hard now. If this is going to be your reacting, I'm going to start fucking every guy."

She was teasing but had no idea how hot her words made me. Maybe she only half-teased. She leaned forward and engulfed my erection. Her mouth was blazing. She made small bobbing motions, whipping her tongue around the crown. The pleasure was intense and I groaned. She pulled off and cool air circled my dick.

"Did you like watching them fuck me? It seemed to me you liked it. I saw it in your eyes. You were tormented, but in a good way. Am I right?"

I thought about lying and telling her no, but the truth is she did look hot. The truth is I was tormented but it did turn me on.

"I liked it," I confessed. "You're always so sweet and naïve. I love the contrast between that Sadie and this one. What I like best is how much you love dick. You love being fucked. I can't see that when we're making love. I only see that reckless side when you fuck someone else, and it's hot."

Her eyes lit up. Her lips curled into a coy smile.

"You like watching me fuck?"

"I admit I do. You're sexy."

My admission had opened a door for her. Here was a way back to her former life but with me by her side. She could have the best of both worlds. I saw the gears turning behind her eyes: if she played her cards right, she could feed her sex addiction and keep her loving husband.

"Would you like me to put on a show? I can fuck someone for you, Baby. I was blackmailed into sex with Colonel Thomas. If you want I can find a lover and fuck him for you."

The excitement in her voice was obvious. She fought to control herself. Suddenly the road ahead was littered with new cock and she was thrilled.

"Who?" I croaked. "Do you already have a candidate?"

She nodded eagerly but then slowed, calming herself, trying not to be too obvious. She worried about scaring me off this new idea.

"Tell me," I said.

"Cucumber," she said.

"What does that mean?"

She slipped my dick in her mouth and sucked for a minute. I waited.

"Remember that day at the grocery store?" she said. "I showed you a cucumber and told you I had a client about the same size that day? Well, him. I want to get fucked by him. I have his contact information in the database at the clinic."

"What if he's married? How do you know he'll go along with your idea?"

She gave me a look.

"He'll jump at the chance."

"How do you know that?" I asked.

She put me in her mouth again. I realized she was manipulating me through a blowjob.

"Because I sucked him a little that day," she admitted. "He got rock hard. He wanted more right then but I told him no."

"You cheated on me."

"I did. Just a little, but yeah. Sorry. It was pure spontaneous impulse."

Sadie wasn't a terrible liar. Sadie had never been a terrible liar. I'd had it wrong from day one. Sadie was an expert liar. In fact, Sadie was such a talented liar, she had been able to convince me she was a bad liar. That's how good she was.

"Why?" I asked. "Why him?"

"He's hot. He's crazy sexy."

"You wanted to fuck him on your shaving table."

"I really did. Haven't you seen women you want?"

"Yes, but not two-hundred million."

She laughed.

"I do like that his dick is big. I'll admit it."

"Let's get back to the cheating," I said.

"It was no big deal," she countered. "Besides, we now know you don't mind so much, so who cares?"

I'd heard enough. My penis throbbed. Her pussy was off limits for now but only to my dick, not to my tongue. I swung my legs at the same time I rolled her on top. We ended in a sixty-nine position and I jammed my tongue into her slippery cunt. Her moan rattled our bedroom.

I feasted. I ate that cheating cunt like tomorrow I faced a firing squad. Her pussy was too tender to take a pounding but she had no problems with a licking, wiggling tongue. I made her orgasm fast and then slowed and licked softer, bringing her to another climax soon. I tasted the difference between her pussy fresh from the bath and her pussy after three men. Her used condition turned me on more.

At last I was ready. I rolled us over to brace her head against the mattress and began to fuck her mouth. She got so turned on. I pinned her arms with my legs and her body with mine and fucked her mouth like a pussy. She gagged and choked as I inched closer to orgasm. When it hit, I howled. I drove my dick all the way in, my balls on her face, my pubes on her chin. My cock twitched and spit in there, blasting her tongue and teeth, spraying hot sperm down her throat. She chugged my load.

I tried to withdraw after the last drop left but she wasn't having it. Her face followed my hips as I rolled to my side. She kept my dick in her mouth, even as the jolts of pleasure turned to a weird overly sensitive form of pain. She kept a tight vacuum around my shaft and I felt the tug of her need in my nuts. I flexed, trying to squeeze out another drop. Her moaning drove me crazy. Finally, the sensations became too intense and I pushed her head away.

We laid there panting until she grabbed her phone from the nightstand. She signed in to the clinic's website and soon had Cucumber's information. I watched with growing amazement as she sent Cucumber a text.

"If I'm right about him," she rasped. "He'll answer soon."

Her phone chimed. She chuckled. She read his message and chuckled again. She typed a message and hit send.

"I told him our situation. I said you want to watch your wife fuck. He said he was cool with that but not on our first time. I told him that was a deal-breaker, my husband had to be in the room. We'll see what he says."

My heart clobbered my ribs. I couldn't breathe. Her casual and cavalier approach to arranging a new lover staggered me. Who was this woman? Her phone buzzed. She read his response.

"Not for our first time," she said. "He seems adamant. Do I drop him or give in to his demand?"

"You're leaving the decision up to me? You'd meet him somewhere for sex without me? Like, I'd wait at home for you or something?"

"That sounds right. Or I can skip the dude. I have another man in mind."

"Who?"

She snuggled close.

"A man from my past. His name is Carl. He's older."

That name landed with a thud. Lust. Obsession. Running away together. Sadie had been crazy about the dude and he had been crazy about her. I felt the smoldering heat in the way she said his name.

"You can meet Cucumber," I said. "I'll wait at home. I don't like it but I'll deal with it. I'll need to know where you are with him, just so I know you're safe, but go ahead and make the arrangements. Make sure he knows me at home is one time only."

Her face lit up. She could not believe the turn her life had taken.

"Are you serious, Gareth? You're going to let him fuck me?"

I nodded. I tried to say yes but my throat was too constricted.

Chapter 10

Cucumber's name is Dennis and that fucker turned their night into a date. Sadie told him she was married but he wanted to wine and dine her. She told me which restaurant but I was more worried about what they'd do after, but I got it wrong. They met at a motel before their dinner date to work up an appetite, her idea, and then went for food. I waited at home for hours, pacing, chewing fingernails and playing with my erection. I withheld my orgasm because Sadie would most likely want to fuck when she got home and I needed to be ready.

I was wholly unprepared for the psychic assault. I was keenly aware that each minute which passed was a minute he spent buried in her. Imagination is far worse than reality and it follows you wherever you go. There's no escape. Make a cup of coffee, take a piss, watch the game: your imagination is with you, torturing you, showing you images and even providing sounds, every step of the way. I couldn't escape my own mind. I was ready to burst, turned on but filled with angst and dread.

I decided I'd risk a text. I'd promised to bow out of her night but one text to make sure she was safe seemed acceptable. I sent my inquiry and waited. My phone chimed minutes later. A photo, obviously taken by him, showing Sadie's head in his lap and his thick cock in her mouth. His appendage was dark red and laced with veins and my wife's expression was pure lust, a desire to wedge that beef tube into her throat if she could. I'd already suffered for an hour and they'd not even fucked yet. Sadie looked so enthralled I wondered if she was aware he'd used her phone to take a picture.

I couldn't wait. It was all too much. I glued my eyes to that photo and studied every pixel, stroking my erection and absorbing the sight. What were they doing right now? I was sure that meat cannon was balls-deep in her. My balls tightened. I couldn't hold back. I needed relief now.

My orgasm boiled and spat, white globs launched into the air. Sperm ran down my knuckles, lubricating my fist. I groaned from my powerful climax, believing Dennis fucked my wife at that very moment. I would do this once and never again. If Sadie ever fucked another man, I had to be there.

If Sadie ever fucked another man.

The thought burned through my gray matter. I was talking about my sexy wife. I was contemplating sharing her yet again. Even as I debated the prospect, I knew I would. Her rabid pursuit of sex thrilled me. Her slutty desires left me exhilarated.

My phone chimed again. Sadie, on her stomach, ass raised. Dennis had his cock half buried in her tight pussy and, again, she had no idea he'd snapped a pic. Her cunt struggled to hold his girth, stretched into a tight white ring around his meat. God! The sight was maddening. I'd just released a powerful orgasm but my eyes screamed at my mind to make my dick hard again.

Those were the only pictures I received. Sadie was gone for hours. When she got home I learned they never left the motel, never made their dinner reservation. She was famished and exhausted so I took her to IHOP and we feasted on pancakes, and the entire time I sat in that booth across from her, I tortured myself with the knowledge her womb was flooded with his seed. We talked about what she'd done and how I'd suffered and she felt bad for me but she begged to fuck him again. I showed her the photos he'd sent and she was shocked. She'd been completely unaware. She laughed with embarrassment then leaned in for a better look, studying the pictures like I had.

"That's hot," she said. "Did you jack off?"

"Yes. I tried hard not to but I couldn't stand the wait. My imagination fucked me."

Her toes found my crotch under the table.

"You masturbated to pictures of me?"

She was delighted. Her eyes sparkled, her smile beamed.

"Yes."

"What husband masturbates thinking about his wife? You all jerk off to thoughts of Emilia Clarke or some other starlet. Husbands don't fantasize about wives. But mine did and I love it. I'm going to give you more reasons to do it."

What could I say? I was thrilled, yet apprehensive. We seemed to be gaining speed as we headed down this road and I wasn't one-hundred percent sure this was a good idea. I was being led by lust, just like Sadie.

Chapter 11

Sadie ended the call and tossed her phone on the couch.

"Fuck!"

"What's wrong, Baby?" I asked.

"My mom needs me to come back and sign more documents. This is bullshit. My dad left me stuff when he died, stuff I gave to her, and now she wants to sell it all and can't. What a pain."

"We'll go after work on Friday," I said. "No biggie. We'll hang out with her, watch a movie or two, have some fun and come home. It's one weekend."

"You don't need to go. I'll drive down and come right back."

Now I knew why she wanted me to stay. There was evidence of her prior life she wanted to keep from me. Too bad for her, I already knew.

She mentioned I could stay home three more times during the week. I deflected each. Friday night after work we were on the road, arriving at her mom's place just after midnight. Mom was asleep but Sadie had a key so we headed for her old bedroom.

In the morning Sadie sat with the notary and signed everything. We had the weekend ahead of us free and clear. We visited a McDonalds for lunch because Sadie craved French fries and on the way, we passed the tire store on McKinney Boulevard. I watched Sadie from the corner of my eye. She was casual and nonchalant, but her eyes landed and did not let go. Her head turned as we went by. I knew what she was thinking but my gut told me to keep her and Carl apart. Hot and lusty sex is one thing but feelings for your first love are dangerous. It would not be a hot and fast fuck with Carl. They had a connection, a deep emotional connection. They wouldn't fuck at all. They'd make love. I felt that should be avoided.

After lunch Sadie said she had some old friends to see and the little hairs stood up on the back of my neck. Alarm bells sounded.

"Who?" I asked.

She laughed.

"You wouldn't know their names," she said. "People I used to work with. People from high school. Old friends."

"Old flames?"

Her smile faded.

"No," she lied, and I knew she was lying. "No ex-boyfriends."

She lied right to my face. She lied looking me in the eye. My balls began to tingle. She was trying to build a bridge to Carl and hide it from me and my Goddamn back-stabbing dick started to stiffen.

"All right," I said. "Have fun."

"What will you do?"

"Stay at Mom's place and read. I have a technical journal to get through."

"Fun."

"Nope. Not fun."

She kissed my lips and headed for her bedroom to get ready. I figured if I watched she'd dress more conservatively so I stayed downstairs, giving her free rein. I cracked my big book and stared at it but my mind was upstairs with her. What would she do? I soon found out. Sadie came downstairs wearing a short skirt and halter top, leaving the sides of her breasts exposed. She saw me notice and quickly mentioned how hot the day was already. We kissed again and away she went.

I was so sure of her plan that I waited long enough for her to vanish. Then I borrowed mom's car again and drove directly to the tire shop. My car sat in the parking lot. All four bays were busy and the small glass office had people waiting. I was staring at the place wondering where she'd gone when a large four-wheel drive truck pulled out from the back. The truck merged into traffic and as it went by I saw streaming red hair flying out the passenger window.

Carl had my wife.

Blood surged. I started mom's car and followed, driving with one hand while freeing my growing penis. Holy shit, my heart was pounding. Carl was in a class by himself. Maybe they'd grab a beer and talk about old times, but I doubted it. I especially doubted it after I gave Sadie the green light for Dennis. If any spark remained between Carl and Sadie, my wife would jump on it.

The truck sailed by all the bars and restaurants as it headed for the edge of town. So much for grabbing a beer. The road Carl took began to climb the foothills and I had to hang farther back. So far back I worried I'd lose them if they did take a turnoff. Were they headed to Carl's place? I had no idea where the man lived. The road twisted and turned as we gained altitude.

I stumbled upon them as I rounded a hairpin corner. The road widened into a viewpoint that looked down onto the town and across the valley. I kept driving. They'd backed the truck in and lowered the tailgate and sat facing the cliff and the town. Sadie was not looking my way as I drove by. I soon found a fire road and pulled mom's car in, locked the doors and climbed the hill. I circled back to where they were, above them now and looking down into the bed of the truck.

Carl was much older, but lean and strong. Handling tires all day had prevented the years from sapping his strength. His hair was silver and pulled into a short ponytail resting on the back of his neck. I couldn't see the details of his face but he moved with calm confidence.

He lowered the tailgate and spread a thick blanket. They sat close. Sadie kicked her feet. Carl slipped an arm around her shoulder and she leaned her head on his chest. They were only talking, for now, but I could feel the sexual tension from here.

I spied an outcropping of rock and moved, granting myself a much better view. I was close now. Not close enough to hear their words but close enough to see their bodies. Sadie took his hand and placed it on her bare knee. Their eyes met. They spoke and Sadie abruptly leaned in to kiss the man. His hand went to her large firm breast. Their kissing turned hot in an instant and hands roamed. Sadie grabbed his crotch. He broke their kiss and leaned back and my wife hurried to free his cock.

Two-hundred million hung men, indeed.

She drew his meaty tube out through his open fly and flopped the thing on his leg. She curled fingers around the base and began to stroke the man while kissing him passionately. He worked the big black buttons of her halter top and opened it down the front, freeing her spectacular tits in his face. His mouth went to her nipples. Hers went to his cock. He laid back and she moved into a sixty-nine over him and I wondered if that would be all they had time for today. The spot they picked was not exactly private. I heard the occasional car drive by on the roadway but nobody pulled into the viewpoint.

I learned how long they planned on staying when Sadie abruptly stood and ripped her clothes off. Carl did the same. They kissed while naked and standing and then Carl pulled her down to the bed of the truck again, pushing her legs apart at the knees so he could bury his tongue in her soaked twat. Sadie grabbed his head.

I'd witnessed her infidelity a few times and the difference between those men and Carl was obvious. They were fun to her. Carl held her heart. I realized Carl was probably the reason she fled this town and started a new life.

Was Carl married?

Did my wife flee what she couldn't have?

Sadie's head slowly arched backward and then a piercing cry escaped her throat. She came on his tongue, grinding her hips and writing. I thought she might be wiped out by that powerful climax but she was only warming up. She pulled his head higher and I saw his stiff cock pointed at her slit. She clawed at his back to bring his body up between her legs and soon he was over her. My wife reached for his throbbing erection and her dainty hand curled around his meat showed me his true girth. She was going to feel this. Her left hand guided him into her cunt with her right hand slapped hard on his butt. Her heels hooked under his ass and she pulled with everything, driving his fat cock deep. Her free arm circled his neck. She held him trapped but he made no move to get away. He fucked her slow and deep, trying to get every solid inch he possessed buried in her. Their passion for each other was clear. She clawed at him with desperation, like she craved his cock even deeper. He placed his body weight on her and began to thrust with power.

Once the man hit a rhythm, Sadie opened her legs wide, resting a foot on each wall of the truck bed. He was smashing her like a breeding bull, pummeling her cunt with his mighty prick. My wife orgasmed again, wailing, but he continued his pace, driving both higher. She grabbed his face to kiss him and he curled an arm around her waist, lifting her as he rolled over, bringing her on top. She got her feet under her and slammed her pelvis down again and again, capturing almost his entire length and desperate for the last inch or so. She could not take it all. He mauled her bouncing breasts and played with her clit.

They looked sexy.

She looked sexy as fuck.

My fly was still open so I pulled my dick through and began to jerk off, watching my hot wife get plowed in the back of a pickup. Their sex was raw and lusty and connected. They were ravenous for each other, frantic, wild. It was the hottest sex I'd ever seen and that includes the sex I'd had with her. It was pure passion. It was intense.

It was personal.

I wanted to gouge my eyes out but couldn't look away. My dick got hard fast and I had to slow my strokes or cum too quickly. It was that hot. After a while she pulled herself off his cock and fell to all fours. He quickly got behind her and eased his rigid meat home again. She hung her head, defeated, overcome, slave to him and his dick. He held her hips and thrust slow and smooth and she rolled her head around like the pleasure was almost too much to take. She sank to her elbows but kept her ass high, fully granting him her pussy. He slowed his strokes even more, now moving inside my wife with agonizing leisure. He dragged out the sensations of their flesh gliding, of her sung tunnel filled with throbbing heat. Slower and slower he went until he stopped, cock buried almost to the balls. He held himself like that, owning her pussy, reminding her of how she felt when filled by him. Sadie squirmed on the end of his beef, squirmed, and then climaxed again, a sobbing, heartfelt, rending emotional burst. He drew gentle fingertips along her skin and murmured sweet loving things I could not hear. I almost felt embarrassed, like I had no right to see intimacy like this between two lovers.

Then I reminded myself she was my wife.

Once her climax ended he withdrew his cock and leaned back. Sadie began a display of oral worship that brought me close to orgasm. I don't know how he held off. She drew her tongue from balls to head and then sucked him in, torturing his sensitive flesh until he was hard as diamond. She used her tongue and lips and fingers until the man pulsed with unreleased pressure. The guy was ready to explode and so was I. Satisfied, she laid on her back once more, opening her legs to him, giving him anything he wanted to take. Forget her wedding vows to me. In this moment, her pussy belonged to him. He walked his knees forward and slid his fat cock deep.

I understood what I witnessed. I knew what would happen next. They were building towards his ejaculation and my wife had done everything to get him there. His heavy balls swung back and forth, fluid-filled and ready. He would flood her pussy, soak her womb, fill her with sperm. She'd come home to me and not say a word about it. I watched his ass rise and fall, slowly moving faster, and jerked my dick in time. This man would soon inseminate my wife and all of us there wanted him to.

My orgasm caught me by surprise. The scene was too erotic, the knowledge too much to contain. Sadie and Carl fucked with pure passion and the sight of his body against hers was too much to take. The sight of his cock stuffed in her cunt was too much to take. My dick convulsed and spat, hot sperm flying free and coating the bushes and shrubs in front of me. I held a branch for balance and stroked my hot load out to the sight of his plunging meat.

The last spurt left and the walls caved in. My orgasm robbed me of all objectivity. Now the sight of Sadie writhing on his cock was agonizing, torturous. Her passion for the man was soul-wrenching. I desperately wished my dick hard again. I'd inadvertently pushed myself outside the circle, no longer sharing this intense moment with my wife, but becoming nothing more than a forlorn observer. I thought my heart might explode. Her cries of pleasure drifted up the hillside to me and twisted my guts into knots.

I had to get out of there. I had to flee.

Sadie almost screamed as he made her cum and I pushed away from the outcropping, hurrying back to the car. I drove with the windows down and the music blaring, trying to wipe away the sound of her passion with him.

Chapter 12

"I'm in the kitchen," I called out in response to Sadie yelling my name.

I was at Mom's house once again, pretending to read but in truth playing an erotic video over and over in my mind. My wife came through the arched doorway and smiled at me, beaming, cheeks rosy.

"You look great," I said. "Have fun?"

"I had a great time. Saw some old friends, caught up on life."

"That sounds great."

"It was! I had so much fun. Thanks for allowing me the freedom to do my own thing. You're an awesome husband."

Her smooth and calculated duplicity set my blood boiling and not in a bad way. She leaned in for a quick kiss hello but I drew it out. She responded, hot and horny for me in a flash.

"Wow, Gar. What was that about?"

"I missed you, and you look great. Sexy. I want to fuck."

"I must remember this outfit," she chuckled. "Where's Mom?"

"Glenda's. Wheel Of Fortune."

Sadie took two seconds to do the math. Boom. She was on her knees opening my pants.

"Here?" I asked.

"Here."

Her mouth closed around me and I gasped. I knew it was coming but I still gasped. She sucked hard, and I mean hickey-on-the-end-of-your-dick hard. I groaned but swelled rapidly. I was hard enough to ride in a minute.

"That makes a girl feel special," she said.

She threw her leg over my lap and I caught a glimpse of bare flesh. Her panties had stayed behind with Carl. She probably presented them as a trophy. Her slit grazed the tip of my erection and I felt the enhanced slipperiness of Carl already in there. I think she worried some of him might drip out onto me so she bent her knees and sank her slick tunnel around my shaft. All the air left my lungs. Sweet Jesus! Her drenched cunt was a blacksmith's furnace, cooking me, enveloping me in boiling wet flesh.

"That feels amazing," I blurted. "Why are you so wet?"

I knew why. Of course I did. I'd borne witness to her infidelity. But I wanted to hear her lie again. I wanted her to look me in the eyes and hide her faithlessness. I craved it, I craved the proof of her lust.

"Just happy to see you," she said. "That, and I loved the look in your eyes when I came through the door. Turned me on."

Good girl. Lie through your teeth. Hide your slutty, lusty, cock-craving ways.

She began to ride me and I went silent. Her moans and gasps thrilled me. Carl's semen was the perfect lube for my whore of a wife and I decided to put the man to good use. I grabbed handfuls of her ass and lifted her off my cock, quickly sliding an inch farther back and pulling her asshole down onto my slippery dick. Her eyes went wide.

"Baby," she gasped. "What are you—?"

My head pushed through her tight ring and I was in. She was a slick mess down there and glad for it. I pushed her hips lower, sending my dick far up her ass. She groaned and hugged my neck.

"Gareth," she gasped. "I don't— We didn't— Fuck that feels good."

"Grind on me. I want you to cum with my cock up your ass."

Her expression said she couldn't believe I'd spoken those words but her hips began a hard back-and-forth. She was shocked, shocked by how good it felt and everything else that had happened in the last two minutes. I smacked her butt cheek.

"Fuck me," I demanded. "Fuck me with your tight asshole."

She groaned. Her eyes closed, lost to pleasure. No way this was the greeting she expected. I hadn't fucked her ass in years, not since we were dating and drunk at the lake. She gripped the back of the dining room chair and thrust back and forth. The chair creaked. The table rattled. Mom would flip to see her sweet daughter now. Sadie lost herself to the moment and a towering orgasm shook her. She drooled a little. Her sphincter was a clenching, spasming ring around the root of my dick, squeezing like a fist. I pumped my hips while she ground her cunt and seconds later I was spewing hot sperm up her rectum. I came hard, amazed by my new boldness. She sagged against me and I held her until I was dizzy no more.

"That was crazy," she mumbled.

I held her a few moments more and then she began to lift off me. Our eyes went to my softening penis and her empty pussy and we both saw the small puddle of semen in my pubic hair at the same time. She controlled her panic but I controlled the situation.

"Look how wet you got," I said, feigning ignorance. "I need to fuck your ass more often. You're soaked."

She picked up my lead.

"That was hot," she said. "I came so hard. You surprised me."

She left my lap and returned with a handful of paper towels. She dabbed me clean, blotting Carl's sperm off me, and then jumped up for a quick shower.

She'd changed into boring sweat pants and T-shirt for when Mom got home.

Chapter 13

Sebastian waited until we were alone in our tiny computer lab again.

"Has he called you?"

I knew what he asked.

"Yes," I said. "The Colonel has ordered me to his home Saturday night again. There's a British minister he wants to impress and he'll use Sadie to do it. She knows."

He shook his head.

"Thomas is a piece of shit," he growled. "I'm sorry you must go through this."

"Thanks, but you're going to wire me again, aren't you?"

"Sorry. Yes. We need more evidence. We need to prove a pattern of abuse. We don't merely want him dishonorably discharged, we want him imprisoned. You are easily our best chance to do that."

I gave him a little wave.

"All right," I said. "I still have the cameras and audio equipment. I can hook it up myself. I'll have more for you on Monday."

"Thank you, Gareth," he said. "Let's nail this bastard."

We got back to work.

Saturday arrived much too soon. Sadie didn't say so, but her mood told me she looked forward to another session imposed on her. Colonel Thomas and his big ugly dick always made her cum. I wondered which British minister he was entertaining.

Sadie exited the bedroom in a terrycloth bathrobe.

"That's what you're wearing?" I asked.

She opened it. Beneath, she wore a black lace garter belts, thigh-high stockings, and nothing more.

"What's the point?" she asked. "He strips me the second I come through the door. This way's easier."

I stared. Jesus. My young wife can look sexy as fuck when she chooses.

"Does it bother you that he shows me off to other men as if I was his?" she asked. "They compliment him, like I'm his property, like he bought a Rembrandt or something. Not that I'm a masterpiece."

"It does bother me, yes. But you are a masterpiece so even when he takes credit, I know the praise belongs to me, because you belong to me."

She watched my face closely.

"Sometimes I think you like watching me get fucked more than I like getting fucked."

"I've seen you fuck," I said. "You love it more than I like watching."

She laughed.

"That's true."

She closed her robe and I opened the front door. Minutes later, we pulled up outside the Colonel's home.

"Will he get in trouble for all this?" Sadie asked. "I'm not the first wife he's demanded sex from. What about when guys leave the military? Somebody must have placed some calls after Thomas could no longer hurt their career."

"You're probably right," I admitted, telling white lies of my own. "Maybe they're investigating the man right now. Maybe there are MPs in the bushes, watching us walk in, wondering what you have on beneath your robe."

She turned toward the shrubs and opened her robe, flashing anyone hidden there. I laughed and she did too.

"That should hold them a while," she said.

I knocked on the door. Colonel Thomas answered, already nude and already hard. He had a cigar in his mouth. Sadie's eyes immediately dropped to his erection. Her smile faded. His big hard cock seemed to mesmerize her and I got annoyed.

"Is that for me?" she asked.

He laughed, once, like a bark.

"Hell yes!" he guffawed.

A moment of awkward silence descended. Thomas throbbed in her face and I stood rooted, unsure what my role was tonight. Sadie let her robe fall open and the Colonel eyed her, slowly down and then up.

"Girl," he said, exhaling smoke. "You are God's gift to men."

She stared at his erection.

"I love what I do to men," she muttered. "I started turning men on from an early age. I wouldn't try to, it just happened. They'd open doors for me or buy me things. Then I saw my first penis and I was hooked. They're so cool. I can cum more than once but men get to shoot stuff out of their body. It's amazing. Men explode. I like making men explode. I drive a penis crazy until it can't take it anymore and then boom."

She bent at the waist and sucked his head into her mouth. He looked at me, his eyes arrogant, defiant. He was a bully and I was glad my cameras were aimed directly at him. Sadie polished his crown with lips and tongue. We still occupied his doorway and that felt risky.

"Should we go inside?" I asked.

He was watching my wife slurp all around his cock head.

"Yeah," he grunted.

He glanced around the neighborhood and I did too, noting a black van parked down the street. He waved us inside. I resumed my role as chauffeur and followed two paces behind. Colonel Thomas slipped his arm around her shoulder and escorted my wife into the den. An old man waited there, nude and hard like the Colonel.

"Oh, yes," he exclaimed with a British accent. "Delightful. She truly is something special. I love the garters."

He eyed my wife like she was a juicy filet mignon cooked to perfection. I believe his mouth actually watered. His penis was average in every way except for the diamond hardness. These old fucks sat around gobbling dick-pills all day and waiting for Sadie. They'd be hard for days. My wife didn't care if they took pills or not. All she saw were erections dancing before her eyes.

"Tell me, my dear," he continued. "Do you shave or wax? You're so smooth, like a baby's bottom. It's lovely."

Sadie lowered her gaze to her bald vulva. She rubbed her smooth labia, softly and gently. Both men were hypnotized.

"I pluck," she said. "I've never really had hair there, not yet anyway. When I see one starting, I pluck it out. I like how my pussy looks."

The men were practically drooling. My wife reached for their erections and squeezed. Her fingers circled the Brit but did not meet around the Colonel.

"You Americans," the older Brit said. "It's always bigger is better with you."

The men laughed but Sadie was occupied. She tugged the loose skin up and down their stiff shafts, as fascinated by penis now as she was the day she saw her first. The Brit oozed a clear drop of precum and Sadie bent to lick it away.

"Oh, my!" he exclaimed.

The old man gasped. His body went rigid. Sadie straightened and resumed her slow stroke.

"I'm here to fuck you both, right?" she asked.

"That's right," Colonel Thomas said.

My wife left them standing and circled the room to the large pillow. She lay on her back and opened her legs at the Colonel's visitor.

"Guests go first," she said.

The old British man moved quickly. His eyes devoured my sexy wife. I had ceased to exist for him and even the Colonel was a dim memory. I expected him to ram his cock into her but he sank to his knees and planted his mouth over her bare mound. Sadie grinned and closed her eyes. He licked her with true enthusiasm, scarcely believing his fantastic luck. When would he ever enjoy a young female American beauty again? He savored the taste of my wife on his tongue. She opened her eyes and lifted his head.

"When you fuck me," she said. "Cum inside. I want it. I love making dicks explode. Don't pull out."

"Yes," he quickly answered. "Yes, yes. As you wish. Of course."

He thought about eating her again but she'd just invited him to fuck. He licked her for half a minute but was distracted now. He rose to take his place between her legs, his hand shaking as he lifted his cock to penetrate. She met his eyes and watched his face as he sank his meat into her body. My dick twitched. Colonel Thomas gave me a knowing look the others couldn't see. He took his cock in hand knowing my gaze would follow. He stroked slowly, showing me what we both knew would penetrate Sadie next. I looked away but quickly looked back. His dick was formidable and I'd seen how much Sadie loved it. Colonel Thomas was showing me his cock and giving me time to think about what was coming.

The Brit groaned and shot, too excited. Sadie stroked his back and curled her legs around the man but she had to be a little disappointed. The man caught his breath and lifted himself clear. He staggered to the nearby liquor cart. The Colonel took his place between my wife's knees. Sadie lifted her head to smile at him and then dropped her gaze to his erection.

"The real reason I'm here," she muttered.

The Colonel grinned. He stepped closer and dipped the tip of his cock in the Brit's oozing semen. He drew circles around her opening, teasing her. My wife lifted her hips, trying to capture his wandering penis.

"Do it," she murmured.

Colonel Thomas thought about teasing her more but then remembered how fantastic it felt to be in her. He bent his stiff dick to her hole and eased the fat log in. Her head fell backward. He groaned loudly. He flexed his old ass and pushed more inches deep and Sadie moaned and grabbed his arms.

"Fuck me," she said.

He scooped his hands under her small butt and shoved the rest of his cock deep. My wife gasped but lifted her hips to meet his. He withdrew and shoved his cock in again and they were off and running. He leaned over her body and thrust hard and fast and her moans and gasps excited him further.

"Fuck me!" she hissed. "Fuck me to death!"

He gathered her legs on his arms and bent her body backward. Her poor exposed pussy took a pounding. His large nuts smashed her asshole again and again until she screeched in orgasm. He laughed but kept going, like making her cum had never been his goal. His hips hammered my wife and she soon climaxed again. The Brit sipped his brandy and studied how it was done. Colonel Thomas pinned my wife beneath his large body and pounded her. Sadie was lost to lust, whimpering and gasping and begging him to continue. He gave her the fucking of her lifetime, soon ripping another piecing cry from her lips. His meaty log owned her cunt. I got the sense he could keep this up all night. By morning she'd have dozens of orgasms behind her. Judging by her expression, that's exactly what she wanted.

The front door blew open in a shower of splinters. Uniformed men charged through, shouting instructions to raise our hands and remain motionless. The Colonel didn't even notice them. He kept pounding my wife into submission. The men grabbed him and pulled him away, pulled him out of her, his large throbbing cock flailing. Sadie finally understood what was happening and curled into a fetal position, hiding her body in shame. The Brit looked shocked, frozen. Men swarmed in from the backdoor too, fanning out, sweeping through the home.

In minutes, they had us all zip-tied and seated. They'd covered Sadie in a blanket. The Brit got hustled out the front door and probably back to England. Paramedics arrived and Sadie was led outside. Sebastian walked in and confronted Colonel Thomas.

"You've got nothing," the Colonel snarled.

Sebastian gestured towards me, held out his hand. I removed both cameras and the tiny microphone and handed them over. The Colonel's eyes grew large as he remembered all the things he'd said and done to me.

"You little prick," he sneered.

"Your dick's still hard," I retorted. "You're sitting in a chair and under arrest and you have a hard on. You look like a fool, sir."

The uniformed men around me laughed.

"They're going to love that hard dick in prison," I added.

The Colonel growled and stared at the rug.

Chapter 14

Sadie was late. She'd sent a text informing me she would be, so I didn't worry, but I suspected I knew why. Days earlier she'd casually mentioned Dennis was scheduled for a follow-up visit. She was vague about day and time and I'd just concluded that meant today. She had Dennis on her shaving table and she was late getting home. I knew what that meant.

They'd only shared that first night together. He'd never made it to our house. I never got the chance to watch her with him. He'd promised he would if I let them have a night alone first, which I'd done, and then he started dodging her.

Sadie was late and I was sure she fucked him at this very moment. I wandered around our beautiful apartment. I opened the photos I'd captured from the OSI recordings I'd made. I'd funneled their feed through a device I'd kept in my pocket, copying everything. IT guys get shit done. No way would I let them have video of Sadie that I did not have. I studied the clips of my wife with other men, my wife with Colonel Thomas. In this clip, his cock was half-buried in her pussy. He was fucking her because she's a beauty. He fucked her because she was married and he could. She wanted to get fucked by him, and she wanted to get fucked by him because he had a cock like that. Hot. I was pleased. My penis grew as I watched the short videos.

My wife could divorce me and chase all the men she wanted. She'd get them, too. She could leave me and find another man, or men, but she has no desire for that. She's wildly in love with me and wants to stay my wife. When she lies, she lies to spare my feelings. She lies to continue fucking hot men. She doesn't lie because there's a problem with us, or our marriage. She lies because there's a weakness in her. She simply loves to fuck. She craves new lovers. She's always hungry for more and she wants to be my loving wife. It's complicated, but I get it. I understand her.

I took my pants off. I sat in our easy chair and watched the next clip. I stroked my cock lightly, afraid of cumming too fast. I examined every frame of those videos. I examined every vein on his cock. I studied her skin, her hands, her hair. Sadie fucking is the most erotic thing I've ever seen. The memories filled my mind.

Which is why I did not hear the front door open or Sadie enter the living room.

"Are you jerking off?" she asked, amused. "What are you looking at?"

Fuck.

"Don't try to hide it. Show me. I won't be upset, I promise."

She crossed the room in double-time, faster than I could close the screen with one hand. She snatched the phone from me, amused, and I watched her smile slowly fade.

"That's— That's me. Who took these? You?"

She lifted her eyes to me, confused and questioning.

"Baby," I confessed. I've known who you were since my visit to Little Darlings."

"What?"

"It's a strip club."

"I know what it is, Gareth. Why did you go there? Never mind, stupid question. I was stuck with my mother and you took advantage of that fact to go see some titties."

"Yes. Guilty. But I saw a whole lot more."

"What did you see?"

"I saw pictures on the walls. I saw you. I spoke to a waitress there. She told me everything."

Sadie's mind engaged. I saw the wheels turning fast. I spared her the fear and doubt and remorse.

"I know everything," I said. "Stripping. Dancing. Hooking. Carl. All of it."

"Oh my God."

"I've known all along. I heard you on the phone with Dennis. I saw you at the strip club for Kim's party, and then I saw you fucked outside in the parking lot."

"You saw that?"

"I did. I got close."

"I am so sorry, Baby." Her lips began to tremble. That she might have truly hurt me almost destroyed her. "I'm so sorry."

"Don't be."

"Why?" she wailed. "I was a shit."

Tears began to fill her eyes. A dam threatened to burst.

"No, not a shit. You were a liar, but I don't mind. No, it's more than not minding. I like it, Sadie. I love it."

"How can you?"

I took the phone from her and placed her warm hand on my erection.

"Because I can see your love. You do these things because you crave new lovers. I find that hot. Maybe I'm wrong but I believe you want to stay my wife. You're in love with me, but you also love fucking more than one man. I've heard the things you've said, to me, and to other men."

"You know about Carl?"

"Honey, I watched you with Carl. I was on the hillside above the viewpoint. I was there and I saw all you did. I saw your desire for the man. It hurt, but, God, it made me hard. I'm not your typical man."

"You never have been. This is why you handled the Colonel so well."

"Yes. Think back. Remember our sex afterward. Every time."

"It was incredible."

"Insane," I agreed. "Out of this world."

She squeezed my hard penis.

"Did you fuck Dennis tonight?"

Her jaw dropped.

"Yes."

"He's in you, right now?"

She searched my expression for rage and jealousy.

"He is. I was going to shower in case you tried something tonight."

I shook my head.

"Never do that. Never hide the truth. Now that you know I know, show me what you can do. Guilt free."

She couldn't believe my words.

"Maybe I should take my pants off and fuck you with his pussy?"

A shudder ran through me.

"I think you should," I said.

She was out of her scrubs fast. She climbed onto the chair and straddled me, her hot pussy poised over my dick. She held herself like that and I began to think she waited for me to do something but no. I soon learned why. A runny glob of his semen oozed between her bald labia to land on the head of my dick. She lowered her pussy enough to smear it around, lubricating my erection with his sperm. She stopped abruptly and sank onto me. I gasped. Her cunt was an inferno.

"I'll want to fuck Carl if I'm allowed. Am I allowed?"

"You are," I said, nervously.

"Oh my Gaaaawd," she groaned.

She grabbed her purse and found her phone. She slowed her hips on me as she texted. She moved her dripping pussy up and down, dragging her slippery cunt along my length, milking me, coaxing me.

"Are you texting Carl?" I asked.

She nodded slowly.

"He's texted me every day since our time in his truck. He's sent me pictures of his erect cock. He keeps asking when he can fuck me again."

"You failed to mention any of that."

She pushed her pussy all the way down, swallowing my cock in hot, tight, wetness. She clenched her cunt around me and I groaned.

"Should I tell you about it?" she asked. "What would you like to know?"

"Lie," I said. "I love it when you lie."

She lifted her hips until only my cock head remained inside.

"Fucking Carl might be dangerous," she purred. "For our marriage. If you talked to the waitresses at Little Darlings, you know. You know what he does to me."

She lowered her pussy around me again. We moaned together. She placed her mouth close to my ear, hot breath tickling.

"I can go see my mom without you. Fuck Carl all night. Could you handle that? Should I fuck him and not tell you? Should I make Carl my dirty little secret?"

My soul was on fire.

"You're going to make me cum," I said.

She began to rise and fall with purpose. She was chasing my climax now.

"Then there's something you should know," she whispered, squeezing her pussy around me again. "There are lies you haven't discovered yet."

My roar filled our apartment.
