

Matthew Lee

Jennifer Roams

Part Two

Jennifer Roams

Part 2

“Vegas, Baby!” Jen cried, jumping up and down. “I got the promotion!”

Four years had zipped by since Jennifer and I were married. I had climbed the corporate ladder and so had she. Jen had applied for a recent opening at Berman and Jackson, the investment company where she works, and she'd won it, but getting it meant we had to move to Las Vegas, Nevada. We'd been through that town once, years ago, and had some pretty exciting memories. I remembered her comment that the town oozed sex. Sex filled the air and vibrated through the sidewalks and walls.

I work for Wells Fargo and with well over a thousand branches and offices, I could transfer anywhere I wanted to, and it appeared I wanted to go to Vegas. I'd mentioned it to my boss weeks ago and she'd assured me I was free to relocate to any branch I wished Jen jumped up and down again causing our Boston Terrier, Domino, to bark wildly. Our cat, Groucho, could not care less. Jen and I hugged and kissed and danced in the kitchen, laughing with joy.

Jen abruptly stopped.

“Shit. Tina.”

Tina was her younger sister and started at the University of Wisconsin the year Jen left. We see her often. She lives on campus and apparently is a genius, but you wouldn't know it by looking at her. Her body puts Hooter's girls to shame and her face is right off a magazine cover; full lips and big eyes, smooth skin and perfect teeth.

We have some pretty exciting memories involving young Tina, too, but not much has happen since little sis started college. We are way too busy for those kinds of shenanigans. Her boyfriend, David, came with her. This is the last year for both of them and it seemed with this promotion Jen and I would not be here to share it with them. Tina was going to be upset.

“What can you do, Baby?” I asked. “She can't expect you to skip the job just to hang around and keep her company.”

“No, I'm sure she doesn't, but she won't like it.”

I bounced my head in agreement. Jen was thoughtful a moment and then announced, “I gotta hit the gym.”

The gym was her think-tank and she retreated to it whenever she needed to clear her head. We had both attended university on athletic scholarships and while I may have cut back a little after graduation, Jen still hit it. Not like she did. Not like the rigorous workouts of competition, but still hard enough to raise some eyebrows at the gym. She had put on a little weight but just like her little sister, any gain went straight to her tits. Jen still mostly had her gymnast's body but her breasts had doubled. Every time she put on an old bikini I sprouted wood as her tits peeked out on every side. Pretty much every guy around the pool did too.

My wife was an exhibitionist before her boobs grew. Now the reaction she gets from men and women makes her want to walk around in public naked. When we go out she'll dress to impress and always does. I've seen guys walk into walls while looking at her. I saw a guy rear-end another car while watching her walk down the sidewalk.

In college we discovered, purely by accident, that I love watching my wife enjoy sex with other men. She is a voracious woman who loves men even more than I love women, and I love women a lot. We explored our new discovery thoroughly, learning a great deal about ourselves and each other, and decided to make such escapades a regular part of our married life. That was the plan, anyway. Reality was a little different.

Once we were married and in pursuit of our career goals, all that extra-curricular stuff fell by the wayside. We had a few sexy nights where she dressed up and we went out and I watched as every man flirted and danced with her, but none of them really turned her on. We came to realize how lucky we'd been while in school.

Our last encounter had been roughly four years ago. We promised each other no outsiders while we honeymooned. We traveled to France and stayed at the Cap d'Agde, on the Balearic sea, which is part of the Mediterranean, for two weeks. Her parents, my dad, and our own bank account all chipped in to make that trip possible.

We flew into Beziers and then took a shuttle to Agde. We arrived late and the watchman checked us in and showed us to our room. The architecture of the town astonished; old brickwork combined with modern glass and steel. The people were charming but mostly kept to themselves.

On our way up to our room Jen complained of tight sore muscles and the watchman suggested we use the natural hot springs buried deep beneath our hotel. He swore the benefits were almost medicinal. We unpacked and donned swim suits, trunks for me and a modest bikini for Jen, and followed the signs down the winding stone stairs.

The deeper we went the warmer and wetter it became. The stairs turned into a tunnel that became a chamber. We rounded a corner and saw the pool. Deep and steaming hot, Jen couldn't wait to get in. There were two other couples, both of them much older, seated along the far side and in the water up to their chins.

We dropped our towels and slipped in, floating to a comfortable distance away from everyone else. Worn out, we didn't talk much. I asked Jen if she was hungry and she said no but she'd love a glass of wine when we got back to our room.

The water was really hot. Much hotter than typical. All the stress and tension of travel slowly cooked out of us. I heard small splashing and turned to see one of the older ladies rising from the water to cool on the ledge. She was wrinkled and chubby and completely nude. More splashing followed as her gentleman companion did the same. He was wrinkled and a little chubby too, bald but his body covered with hair. None of that mattered because he had a horse-cock hanging between his legs, long enough the head was underwater while he sat on the lip of the pool. Jen had not yet noticed so I waited.

"The water's so hot," she panted.

"Yeah, those two had to get out for a minute."

She turned to see who I meant and her head snapped back to me.

"Did you see?" She whispered.

"Oh yeah."

"Wow. With a cock like that I wouldn't care he has a belly."

I chuckled. "I guess his lady friend feels the same way."

Jen tried so hard not to look, I know she did, but a leopard and its spots, you know? She stole quick little glances as she floated this way or that. I couldn't blame her; that penis was impressive. The thickness matched the length. His big balls sat in a wrinkled bag on the deck. One fat vein traveled the length on top until vanishing just before the crown.

I lifted from the pool and sat on the ledge too. Jen did the same and as her body left the water, her suit vacuumed to her skin. All eight eyes watched. The women looked away after a moment but the two men kept staring at Jen's astounding body.

When the second couple moved to the ledge we discovered they were nude as well. They were not quite as chubby as the first couple but of equal age and while he didn't sport a monster like the first man, he was no slouch either. I guess if a man is going to go naked in public the odds that he's hung go up. If I was that first guy I'd never wear pants.

The first woman looked at Jen and pointed to a sign on the wall written in French. She and Jen exchanged a few words in French. When they finished Jen nodded her head.

"Take your suit off," she told me, standing. She pointed at the sign. "That says the pools are considered therapy first and social second. We're embarrassing them."

Jen untied the knot at her neck and back and tossed her top by our towels. Down came her bottoms. I joined her. The women enjoyed a naked Jen as much as the men and when her nipples stiffened I knew it was partially from the cool air and partially because she was the object of their rapt attention. All four of them wanted to devour her. Two French cocks began slowly to fill with blood. They did not become stand-up erect, but they sure grew longer and fatter. Of course Jen noticed but she played everything so cool.

When we first saw these four I instantly crossed the men off the list of potential lovers for her; too old, too out of shape, too hairy. I'm not even mentioning her honeymoon promise. I was just sure she'd never consider men like this. I should have known better. The longer we sat, the more aroused Jen became. I caught her stealing longer and longer glances at their heavy dicks.

Man number two left his calves in the water but laid his back on the cool stone. When he parted his knees his cock and balls fell, hanging down and resting on the rock. Like a snake, the slit at the end of his manhood seemed to stare right at my new bride, and she stared right back.

Man number one slid off the ledge and sank under water. When he rose again he took a slightly new position, closer to his woman but angled more at Jen. His ass hit the bricks and his heavy member landed with a thud between his legs. His cock was almost the same size as my hand and forearm if I made a fist. There was absolutely nothing else attractive about the man and yet Jen sat her squirming, getting wetter by the second.

In college every guy that wanted a piece of Jennifer was young and fit. Even Alex, her only older man to date, had an athlete's body and full head of hair. I'd never seen her presented with a choice so obviously narrowed to just penis. That she loved men and loved cock was never a question but I realized I'd always assumed the other pieces needed to be present as well. I was wrong. Strangely, this new understanding turned me on even more. My sweet wife was a slave to cock. Big cock, actually, and I found that thrilling.

The women looked like they had no intention on sharing, which was fine because it was our honeymoon, but Jen was now blatantly staring at the two massive slabs of beef presented to her.

She turned to me abruptly. "Can we go?"

I'm such a jerk.

"Pretty soon, Honey," I replied innocently. "This hot water feels so good." Jen was frustrated but stayed. After long minutes of silence Jen asked one of the women something in French. A conversation grew and the two of them began chatting. I don't speak French so I closed my eyes and floated for a while. I noticed the chamber continued beyond the pool, reforming back into a tunnel. While Jen and her new friend talked I rose from the water and donned my trunks and followed the path of around the corner. Tiny deep yellow bulbs lit my way.

The slant was barely noticeable but I was sure I moved deeper. I heard falling water ahead. I went longer than I intended but it always seemed the sounds were just around the next corner. At last the tunnel opened into another chamber, bigger than the first by a lot, and another grand pool, two or three times the size of the first. A thick layer of fog covered the surface undisturbed. No one was here. The faint yellow light was lost leaving the ceiling in blackness above me.

I crept to the water's edge and stuck a toe in, discovering this pool was warmer than the original. I wanted to jump in but I heard my mother's voice warning me about swimming alone. Reluctantly I headed back up the trail and to Jen.

When I arrived I was alone. My shirt, towel, and flip-flops sat where I'd left them but everyone was gone. Wet footprints led back up the tunnel but they dried quickly. I dressed and headed up the stairs.

I encountered no one. I reached the small room that was the starting point for the trip down to the pool but the hotel was quiet. I scanned the lobby as I passed on the way back to our suite but saw nothing and our room was empty. Jen was gone and I had no idea where. I called her phone and it went directly to voice mail. I left a message for her to call me and then sent a text too but nothing. I called down to the lobby but no messages awaited me there either. I was stuck.

To pass time I turned on my Kindle and read-up on the history of our honeymoon town and France in general. The writing fascinated and I actually lost myself in it. I thought forty-five minutes had elapsed and discovered it was almost two hours. I checked my phone and read a little more. Concern started to nibble on the edges of me.

A card scanned and the reader on the door beeped. In walked Jen, wearing her bikini.

She could not look me in the eye. My heart sank. The door swung shut behind her but she just stood there looking at the rug.

“Jen?”

“I'm so sorry, Paul.”

“Sorry for what?”

At last her eyes met mine. I knew instantly what she had done. I couldn't believe it. For the first time ever she had truly strayed outside our relationship. I grew increasingly hurt. My unwavering trust in her was shaken. I could not imagine what she might say to make everything better again. My lovely new bride had gone off with a man she simply had to have, on our honeymoon night and in spite of her promise to me. I felt sick.

“Sorry for what?” I asked again. I wanted to hear her say the words. I don't know why. I think part of me still hoped I had it all wrong. I needed to hear her confession word for word. I also knew hearing herself say what she'd done would hurt her as well as me and I wanted her to suffer like I suffered.

She drew a deep breath. Tears filled her eyes. She showed me her palms and shrugged as if she had no excuse.

“I fucked him.”

There it was.

“Why?”

The tears spilled over.

“Paul, Honey, I have no excuse. I was drawn to him physically and could not stop myself. The whole time my mind screamed at me how wrong it was, how hurt you would be. It didn't matter. I had to have him. I spread my legs and guided him in. You saw it yourself. That cock was magnificent. Have you ever seen anything like it? He wasn't bad looking but my God, that monster between his legs radiated raw masculine power.”

I took two steps back and dropped onto the bed. I wasn't upset she'd fucked someone else. We're way passed that. I was upset she broke her promise and left me wondering for two hours what happened. I felt like a fool. I hoped we never met those couples again.

“I can't believe this,” I murmured. “I can't believe you did this.”

“Oh, Baby, I know. I feel like shit. I'm so, so sorry. Part of me watched me do it. I felt possessed. It was a chance to own the Mona Lisa, to shake hands with the Pope. The whole experience was kind of out-of-body for me. A magic spell settled over me. I lost my independent will. That woman stood by and smirked like she knew exactly what would happen to me. I'm sure I'm not the first.”

“His woman?”

Jen acted embarrassed for a moment. “Yes. His wife, Claire. She knelt over my face while her husband fucked me and made me eat her pussy. His name is Ansell Cerf. He was a popular French porn star in the Eighties. He's still regarded as a national treasure, even if they don't talk about it openly.”

I filled my lungs with air and let it out slowly. Now what? Given our history this wasn't exactly grounds for divorce, especially since we had only been married a matter of hours. But I sure as fuck did not like it. I was hurt but worse than that, I felt like the few rules that kept this lifestyle working for us were in danger. If Jen was free to go off by herself and fuck whomever she wished with no thought for me or my feelings, then why did we get married?

“I came before he even had half of it inside me.”

She waited to see how I handled that little tidbit of information before proceeding.

“I swear he opened my hips from the inside. I felt every fucking inch of him. The deeper he went the better it felt and the more excited I became. He is so thick, so long, and gets so hard, I just surrendered and accepted what he did to me. My mind was numb when my body convulsed and an epic orgasm wracked me. He had maybe half of his cock in me. I had no choice about cumming. My climax just slammed into me. Before she sat on it, his wife watched my face and gloated. She has a thing for watching her husband with young girls.”

I stared at my hands on my lap. She tried to hide it but Jen could not keep her excitement out of her voice. She wanted more of him. Ouch. Would she go to him again if I forbid it? Would I frustrate her if I declared him off limits? Would she defy me to get what she wanted even after this talk?

She stepped closer and lifted my chin. Her soft warm lips pressed against mine. They say the way to a man's heart is through his stomach but people must have been starving at the time. Jen knew the way to my heart. She reached behind her and untied the knot at her neck. Her bikini top fell away exposing her full ripe tits and pink swollen nipples, still puffy from the mauling he'd given them. She crawled up my body, forcing me to fall back on the bed, kissing me ceaselessly.

My goddamn penis got hard. Why do women think that equals forgiveness? She pushed an inflated nipple into my mouth and my lips closed on it. I felt her hand free my erection from my trunks and stand me up and then I felt her hot slimy cunt envelope me. I sank into an ocean of his sperm inside her. My penetration pushed his seed deeper into my wife. She began riding me, grinding her pussy against my penis.

“I'm such a slut,” she loudly groaned. “I don't deserve a man as good as you. I can't be trusted. It felt so good to be so bad.”

She moaned and gasped between words and I saw now what she'd done also made her feel a new deep arousal. She'd discovered something dark about herself and it turned her on even as it tortured her.

“Baby,” she continued. “I'm so sorry. You have to believe me. I never wanted to hurt you. I may need professional help. In the moment, I wanted his cock more than anything else. I'm an animal.”

Her hips pumped me as she rubbed her clit on my pubic bone. Torn up and guilty as fuck, my sweet bride was about to climax again remembering the awful thing she'd done.

“Oh fuck! Oh, Paul! Oh fuck I loved his cock. I loved it! I want it! Oooooooooohhhhhh fuuuuuuuuuck!”

Just like that she came again. She grabbed both tits and lifted, sucking her own nipples. Her pelvis jerked back and forth. My penis swam in his jizz, stirring him, pushing him deeper. Jen came like a hurricane.

She utterly lost control. Her body writhed and convulsed above me, a rag doll shaken to death. Even distraught I noted how beautiful she looked. Her orgasm lasted a long time and then she collapsed in a heap on my chest, breathing hard and sweating. I left her there long enough for her to fall asleep. I was still hard and inside her.

The travel, the hot water, the emotional turmoil, and the wine, all contributed to Jen falling into a deep slumber. I braced my arms on the bed and began a slow in and out. Ansell had pumped a gallon of sperm into her so lubrication was no problem. Slow and steady I let the sensations build until I bit my lips and ejaculated inside my sleeping wife. The power of my orgasm surprised me.

I gently rolled her off and covered her with a sheet. She still wore her bikini bottoms. I stepped out of my trunks and out onto our balcony. The bright lights of the bay winked up at me and a warm breeze cooled my skin. I considered the fact that another man had claimed my wife on my wedding night. That fact would be true the rest of our lives. There was no undoing it, there were no second chances to have a honeymoon night. When Jen awoke, I'd forbid her from ever seeing Ansell again. I had to do something to reclaim my wife, something more than merely inseminating her. I needed her to see I had power too, what I wanted mattered too. I joined her in bed.

At breakfast the next morning she was terribly shy and withdrawn. She admitted guilt ate her alive. I did not let her off the hook, allowing her to suffer for a while before I warmed to her. When I did, I sat her down and spelled it out; never again. I explained how things had to work for us to maintain a life like this and trust was the foundation. She agreed with everything. At the end I hit her with the news; Ansell was banned. She nodded agreement but her eyes went hollow.

We showered and headed out into the town. Bright sunlight, shopping, and astonishing views salved us and after a few hours we had put the previous night away. We laughed and hugged and strolled, wildly in love again. Later, we stopped for lunch at a quaint bistro. Jen was half-way through her second glass of wine when she asked me how I felt. I knew what she really meant.

“Shaken but moving passed it. You?”

“About the same.”

That seemed to hang in the air to me. About the same is not exactly the same and I wondered what else was on her mind.

“So,” I began. “I explored farther down the tunnel and when I got back you were gone. What happened?”

She actually seemed eager to talk about it.

“Claire and I talked and after a minute the other couple said their goodbyes and left. Ansell leaned back to rest on the stone with his feet in the water and his cock draped over the lip and that fucking thing reached the water. I kept glancing at it and soon Claire asked if I would like to touch it. She moved closer to her husband and lifted his cock from the water with both hands and held it up for me to see. She asked me if I thought it was beautiful and I said yes and she held out a hand for me to come closer.”

Jen took a sip of wine and checked on the tables around us. She met my eyes briefly and I saw the remembered excitement there, and then she looked at the table cloth and continued.

“I moved around the pool. We had agreed no sex with strangers but I rationalized this wasn't sex, not really. Claire took my hand and steered it to his cock. It was like holding a hot soda can. His thickness took my breath away, Baby. I felt my pussy go wet just trying to imagine what something this big would feel like inside. She helped me stroke him and while he lay there ignoring us, his cock began to harden. It was fucking beautiful.”

She paused to search my face and then went on, lowering her voice.

“He didn't get a whole lot longer but he sure got thicker and harder. In minutes he curled up from his lap like an elephant tusk. I don't remember bending over but the next thing I know his head is in my mouth and I'm swirling my tongue around the crown. Claire slid down and started eating my pussy. I realize now they work as a team; get the target so hot she'll follow you back to the hotel room so he can fuck her. Claire ate my pussy like a pro but never let me cum. She got me close over and over again until my pussy screamed at me, needing to be filled. In minutes I was dying to be fucked. I wanted his cock so much I almost cried.”

Jen stopped as the waiter came to check on us and we ordered more wine. As soon as he left she continued.

“His cock drove me mad. My eyes were huge as I stared at it. I'd lick it all over, his balls too, and then suck on the head pulling out a small flow of sweet semen. He leaked like crazy and it tasted so good. Not salty at all, more like coffee creamer. I lapped it up like ice cream. Claire announced it was time to go and abruptly stopped licking me. I whimpered. They both stood and his proud cock arched up pointing at the cavern roof. They started to leave and I hesitated and Claire told me their room number and they both walked away. They were rolling the dice. I listen for you down the tunnel but heard nothing so I walked about twenty feet around the corner but you were gone. In the far distance I heard your footsteps headed away. I called your name but you must not have heard me and that was all I could take. My body was wracked with need and my mind on fire. I was not thinking straight. I had to have him. I'm so sorry, Honey. I was weak."

"You caught up to them?" I asked.

"Yes. They were in no hurry. They are in room one seventeen which is close to the entrance to the pool so we were there in no time. He was balls-deep in me when you came by minutes later. I tried to rush him so I could catch you before you went to our suite but he wouldn't have it. He fucked me for hours."

"I'm sure you came."

"You really want to hear that? Yes, I did. I came a lot. Paul, I came like crazy. His cock fits my pussy like they we cast at the same time. He relentlessly assaults every nerve ending I have. He could remain motionless and I'd still cum on him. It happened. You say he's off-limits and I get that. That's fair and really, considering what I did, pretty generous emotionally. That's a small punishment and I know I'm lucky."

"But you want to fuck him again."

"Yes."

"And you would if I said okay."

"In a split-second. I'm hoping they check-out and leave today. I won't lie; the temptation is strong."

I appreciated her honesty. Better to know what dangers lie ahead than be ignorant. It was unsettling though to hear my wife tell me that at least around this man, she could not be fully trusted. In all our years and all our adventures, I'd never found myself in this place. I chuckled. How strange it was over a fat, balding, old man.

He must have felt like he'd won the lottery. Smoking hot Jen, half his age if not more, decides she has to fuck him. What must have gone through his head looking down on a girl that hot. Life is weird.

For the rest of lunch, we talked about other things. The ocean was glassy and the day warm and we returned to our life as newlyweds, but not completely. In the back of both our minds was that looming truth; for this man, Jen would cheat.

Eventually we made our way back to the hotel. While Jen was in the shower I called the front desk to see if the Cerf party had checked out and learned they had not. Butterflies filled my stomach. I had to keep Jen away from them. I asked about entertainment in town and the clerk told me several discos lined the walk along the river Herault. I joined Jen and told dancing and drinking sounded like fun and she eagerly agreed. She wore a simple black dress covered in sequins that plunged in the back as well as the front. If she leaned forward she exposed both breasts which we both found thrilling.

It turned out even better than it sounded. The cab dropped us at Jinx, a swanky jazz club, but there were happening clubs all the way down the boulevard. We drank a bit, danced, and moved to the next club. The patrons were young and hot and the music incredible. We moved from genre to genre until we ended up at a dub-step slash trance club. By now we were pretty buzzed and feeling wild, which was perfect for this high-energy crowd. The floor was packed and moved like one giant organism to the heavy bass beat of the music. No way to talk in this place. Just drink and laugh and dance and have fun.

Jen and I were down on the floor in the thick of things when a guy came up behind her. She turned to face him and I moved up behind her and he stepped closer and we sandwiched her between us. She tossed her head back and laughed and we moved closer still. Now my body was pressed against her back and his against her front. Of course the alcohol helped but she looked at this guy like he was a slab of beef. She laughed as she unbuttoned the front of his shirt, exposing his chest and abs. He pressed forward.

I reached up under her arms and found her dress. I pulled back on each side and then there they were; two big firm tits. He pressed forward again and his bare chest rubbed against hers. Her head fell back on my chest. His arms circled her waist and my arms circled behind his neck and together we enveloped her. She moved her arms inside his and I saw her hands get busy. I was sure she rubbed his cock through his pants. Then she surprised me by kissing him. I started to get hard and she ground her butt back on it.

They kissed for several minutes and the press of people around us grew more intense. We were packed in a seething wave of bodies. They separated just enough for her to spin in place and face me and then it was my turn to make-out with her. His hands came up under her arms and palmed her tits and teased her nipples. Jen was incredibly turned on. We kissed again and again and then leaned back to look at each other. I smiled.

She started to return my smile but then her eyes grew big and her mouth fell open. She reached out and pulled me tight and kissed me hard, forcing her tongue into my mouth. All of us bumped and moved, jostled by the crowd. He leaned close and kissed her neck as I kissed her mouth and I added my hand to his on her tit. She pulled her lips away from my mouth and whispered hotly into my ear.

“He's in me!”

For a full second I did not understand. Then I did. Jen got fucked at this very moment! Jen must have pulled his cock out to play with it and not merely rubbed it through his pants. When she turned to face me he lifted her short dress in back and pushed his cock into her. We were trapped in a sea of people and a perfect stranger had his cock inside her.

Her eyes told me everything. She wanted him fucking her. The crowd only made it more exciting. All she knew about him was how he looked and that she'd made him hard, and that was all she needed to know. I kissed her hard and pushed her back onto his cock. All the air left her lungs and filled my mouth.

“Squeeze him,” I ordered her. “Clamp your pussy around him.”

Her eyebrows got squiggly and I knew she did it. I heard him groan.

“I'm going to cum,” she croaked. “Hold me!”

I slipped an arm behind her neck and held her face with my other hand. I kissed her again and again.

“Harder,” I commanded. “Milk him. Trap him in your tight pussy.”

“But it's our honeymoon, Baby.”

“Too late for that. Somehow, sex always finds you.”

“It knows I love it.”

I kissed her again while gazing into her big brown eyes. They groaned together and her eyes closed. She bit her lips and leaned her weight on me and I knew she was caught in a silent orgasm. He moved his hands to her hips and with small discreet thrusts unloaded his seed inside my bride. He shook his head as if dancing and virtually none of the persons around us had any idea. Sex and Jennifer are inseparable. It chases her, it tracks her down and permeates everything she touches. It is woven through her DNA.

He rested a few second and put himself away. Her kissed her shoulder and drifted back, the crowd swirling around and swallowing him. Just like that he was gone forever. I slipped a hand down and ran a finger across her slit. Hot sperm dripped over my knuckles.

“When we get back to the hotel room,” I breathed into her ear, “I’m fucking your ass.”

We left the floor and found a spot against the wall. Every single chair and table was taken. She clung to me for support.

Once she got her breath back she started to apologize but I stopped her.

“Paul,” she protested. It’s our honeymoon. It wasn’t supposed to be like this.”

“No, it wasn’t, but it is.” I waved vaguely at the surging crowd. “That guy was as much my fault as yours. I’ve changed my mind. Round peg, square hole. Instead of trying to force our life to take a certain shape, we should embrace how things really are for us.”

“Meaning?”

“Easier to show you than to tell you.”

I took her hand and led her back out to dance. The crowd swallowed us and bodies pressed in from every angle. Men and women rubbed themselves all over my gorgeous bride, everyone wanting a piece of her. When I did not defend her they became bold, especially the men, and soon hands and hips and crotches touched her everywhere. She panicked a little, right at first, but then resigned and accepted. As always, the attention worked magic on her.

Just minutes later hands roamed her body under her dress. A pretty blonde girl slipped a finger into Jen’s pussy and Jennifer arched her back and stuck her tits in the girl’s face. From behind, a tall skinny guy who looked about twelve years old dropped a hand down and Jen’s eyes grew huge. I knew Baby Face had pushed a finger up Jen’s ass. I got hotter by the second but that was nothing compared to Jen. She grabbed the pretty blond and kissed her passionately. The crowd grew louder and more rambunctious. When the music spiked and the beat quickened, the mob roared.

More bodies pressed in. Jen disappeared but I caught glimpses of her running her hands all over those around her as they did the same. Easily a dozen hands felt her up simultaneously. I held back, watching and allowing it to happen. This was closer to the honeymoon we should have planned for. The blonde was joined by an equally pretty brunette as they freed Jen's tits and feasted on her nipples. Jen wrapped her arms around their necks and forced her nipples deeper. The guy fingering her ass discreetly pumped his digit in and out and Jen loved it.

I let her soak all the attention in. Hot girls kissing is always a crowd-pleaser and others were beginning to notice. Another blonde leaned in and French-kissed my wife. Jen obviously thought this girl was really pretty because she freed the other two girls to hold this one and kiss her deeply. After a minute they pulled back from each other and spoke. They had to yell next to each other's ear so there was no way I could hear them.

One by one Jen detached herself from her admirers. She worked through the crowd until she nestled under my arms and put her tits away.

"That was fun," she yelled. I nodded.

"How about some fresh air?" I yelled back. She led the way towards the exit.

Outside the air was brisk now that we were sweaty. Jen still had energy and wasn't ready to head back to the hotel so we just walked. A few times she stopped and spoke French to the locals and they aimed us in a new direction. At last we turned a corner and faced a long dimly-lit avenue. I don't speak or read French but for this street I didn't need to. The signs made it clear. Jen had steered us to the sex district.

We stopped at an outside bar and had a few quick strong drinks.

"What's your plan, Supergirl?"

She laughed. "Plan? Right. That sounds like me."

She took my hand and we started walking. Normally we are pretty care-free in our travels but right away my hackles came up. I knew instinctively this was a dangerous place. Jen sensed it too but kept walking. Either she was drawn to the peril or felt perfectly safe because I was there. Each person we passed standing in a shadowy doorway or alley added to the menace hanging in the air. After a few blocks, two guys started following us.

Up ahead a shop slightly brighter than the others beckoned. When we arrived we discovered a tattoo and piercing establishment which apparently was also the local biker hang-out. Four heavily-tattooed and bearded guys looked us over and we entered but then returned to their hushed conversation. They were mountainous men, easily three hundred pounds each. They wore leather pants and vests with a logo of a screaming eagle on the back. I must have studied them too long because all four men looked at me again. I quickly looked away.

All around the shop the mirrored walls were covered with tattoo ideas and images. In front were an assortment of body jewelry, most of it silver or stainless steel. Pictures accompanied the baubles showing their use and positioning on the body. Close-up photographs of nipples, male and female, with dangling silver tear-drops and dumbbells studs, testicle rings and tongue bars, adorned the walls from floor to ceiling. Gauges for the ears and bumps for under the skin proliferated. We worked our way ever deeper into the shop. On the way I noticed a case lined in black velvet. Inside were silver baubles too small for the body. I wondered what their use might be. Each of them had a hole through the center like they would be threaded on something. Some were smooth but many bore tiny spikes.

The back half of the store was all equipment and converted dentist chairs surrounded by curtains for privacy. The mirrored walls were covered less back here. Only one chair had the curtain drawn with a high-pitched buzzing coming from behind it.

“Want to get a honeymoon tattoo?” Jen teased. “To remember it by?”

“I think my new wife sneaking off to fuck someone else took care of that.”

I meant to tease her back but my tone sounded angry and bitter. She looked like I'd slapped her face. I quickly took her into my arms.

“I'm so sorry,” I blurted. “That sounded awful. I swear I was trying to be funny.”

She let me hug her but I felt the tension.

A door opened at the back of the store and a skinny white guy headed for us. His arms and neck were covered with tattoos and I assumed they covered the rest of his body too. He smiled.

Rapid-fire French flew out of his mouth so I turned to look at Jen. She responded and they carried on for several minutes. At last she turned to me.

“This is Andre and he says because we just got married he'll give us a great price; two for one. I asked for idea and he suggested a few but the one I liked best was half a heart on my inner thigh and the other half tattooed on yours. Together we make one heart. Cheesy, but I like it. What do you think, Honey?”

I still felt bad about my harsh words so I decided to consider the idea. Normally I'd reject it without a thought. Strange how Jen had essentially cheated on me but I am the one apologizing to her.

“Sounds interesting, Baby. Can I see it first?”

She turned to Andre and spoke and Andre gestured for us to follow. At the back of the store were binders filled with additional tattoo ideas and he flipped to a page which showed a three-dimensional and realistic human heart cut in half. Jen would get one and I'd get the other. I was fascinated by the detail. Feeling suddenly whimsical, I said okay. Jen beamed.

She spoke to Andre and he gave a little cheer. He passed through the door in the back wall and quickly emerged with three shot glasses, one for each of us. He toasted to us and Jen translated for me.

“Chaos over order!” she yelled and gulped her shot. I raised my glass and said the same before downing my drink. Andre moved me to a chair and Jen told me to remove my pants. She took another chair but because she wore a dress she only needed to wait. I tossed my pants over the arm of my chair and laid down. The warmth of the drink spread and I felt a little dizzy.

When I opened my eyes I was surrounded by curtain. I was disoriented for several moments until I realized my head was significantly lower than my feet. Like dentist chairs, these could rise and fall and be tilted in any direction. A dull ache brought my eyes to my leg and a deep red half-heart tattoo, covered in a sheen of Vaseline, stared back at me.

A deep feminine moan snapped my head up. I tried to sit up but I was so dizzy the task seemed impossible. My legs felt like rubber and my arms were as weak as a new-born puppy. Jen moaned again, louder, and I realized that's probably what woke me in the first place. Once more I tried to sit up and failed completely. I wiggled my body up using my elbows and knees and my big toe touched the curtain. I tried pulling it open but only got it to slid about a foot before it slipped away. That gap was enough. I used the mirrored wall to see into the chair next to me.

The curtain around Jen was only pulled half way. She was in a chair like mine and also inverted. Four huge biker guys crowded around her head. Her dress lay in a crumpled ball on the counter next to the rack of colored inks.

The guys were taking turns fucking her mouth. They had their cocks sticking out their zippers and leaned over her, each taking a few minutes to slip their cock in and fuck her sweet face. While one man had his cock lodged deep I heard her squeal from pain and the four men laugh and then she squealed even louder. She started choking on the cock in her mouth and the man who owned it said something in German, which I don't speak either. Jen seemed frozen for a moment and then started sucking his cock really hard.

He gave her encouragement and leaned closer. She worked his meat energetically while the others waited their turns again. At last the man pulled his dick out of her mouth and held her face with one hand. From six inches away he shot a bolt of sperm into her open mouth, followed quickly by another. He spat out words through grit teeth, firing one bolt of semen after another, most of them landing directly into my wife's open and eager mouth but plenty missing and covering her face in white ropes of hot cum.

As he began to run out he dropped his head back on her tongue and she almost made his legs buckle she sucked and licked so hard. His friends laughed at him.

I tried to sit yet again but my muscles refused to obey and so I watched as each man took his turn with her mouth. Jen was thrilled to service them all. I caught a brief flash from one mirror to another and saw Andre still working between her legs, no doubt finishing her half of the tattoo, but then that view closed when a biker stepped in front. Some pulled out and shot like the first guy and some pushed their cock deep and shot straight into her stomach. When they'd finished with her they stood back and admired her naked beauty.

"More," Jennifer groaned. "Come closer. At least let me suck them."

When none of them moved she said it again in French. Andre translated to German and the men laughed again. One of them stepped closer and flopped his spent penis into her vacuuming mouth. Jen was ravenous.

Another man saw the gap in my curtain and came to investigate. Words were exchanged and Andre came over to look at me and more words were exchanged and the men left again but first they moved my chair so the curtain was out of reach and then they drew it closed. I listened to my wife moaning and whimpering for more cock as I drifted unconscious again.

When I awoke I lay on a large couch in the manager's office. Jen lay sleeping on a love-seat close by. The room was a dirty and disorganized mess. Stacks of porn magazine and ashtrays, empty wine bottles and food containers, littered every flat surface.

I slid off the couch on shaky legs and moved to Jen. Dried cum splattered her face. I nudged her awake and she fought me but I insisted. I pulled back the blanket and found her nude but then I noticed her black dress hanging close.

“Wake up, Baby,” I said. We got to go.”

She grumbled a complaint and tried to sit up. Her hair was a tangled mess. As soon as her feet touched the floor she winced.

“What the hell?” she muttered. She pulled the blanket back and opened her legs and I saw her matching but opposite tattoo. Andre had spent some time between her thighs. She slid a hand down and tested her pussy for sperm.

“At least they didn't fuck me,” she mumbled. She attempted to check her ass when her face lit up. “What the fuck?” She spread her legs wider and, using gymnast flexibility, bent over to examine her pussy.

“What the serious fuck?” she exclaimed. “Honey, look at this.” She opened her legs and leaned back. I saw immediately what she meant. I knelt to examine her.

Andre had pierced her clitoral hood. Twice. Three silver interlocking loops now circled her clitoris and had tiny balls threaded on them. I touched the device and Jen jumped as the balls moved around the rings and over her clit.

“Holy shit! Do that again.”

I prodded them once more. The whole device was no bigger than a nickel but placed perfectly. The balls moved along the loops, kneading her inner lips as they circled around and rolling directly across her clitoris. Her legs flexed and she gasped.

“Fuck me, that's intense. What's going on?”

I poked it again and explained what Andre had done. Jen sucked air through her teeth.

“Leave it alone for now and let's get out of here. Where's my fucking dress?”

I lifted it off the hook and handed it to her. She stood and immediately hunched over, both hands clutching her crotch.

“Damn it!” She braced herself with a hand against the wall. She spread her labia and looked at the clitoral device again.

“Fuck, Paul, every move I make sets those things rolling back and forth. It feels incredible. We have to get it off of me. Where is that bastard?”

She drew her dress over her head carefully but the stimulation was merciless. Any movement from the waist down activated the device and titillated Jennifer.

We opened the office door and peered outside. All four tough guys were still there and now Andre sat with them playing cards. They all stood when we emerged from the office.

Andre spoke a greeting in French and Jen lit him up, spitting angry French. All the men chuckled. Andre grinned and took her attack until at last she began to calm down. In the end, Andre shrugged and returned to his card game. Jen turned to me.

“Fuck it, let's go. He says leave it two weeks until I heal. I call bullshit. He just doesn't want to take it off. We'll find someone else or cut it off ourselves.”

We collected our items and left. Within three blocks Jen clung to my arm.

“Oh my God, Paul, this thing is killing me. It feels so goooooood. Christ! I think even walking could make me cum.”

She experimented as we made our way out of the sex district. She'd try one pace and then another, crossing her legs with each step or rising on her toes. She settled on a short stride that gave her pleasure but not too much. As soon as we left this district we hailed a cab. She continued her trial and error on the ride to the hotel, bring herself to a powerful but muffled climax. I helped her from the taxi and tipped the man.

Upstairs we showered and Jen continued her explorations. She was carefully toweling off when she made her announcement.

“Never mind,” she stated. “I'm keeping it, at least for a while. I need cock. Fuck me.”

I tried but she was too tender from the piercings. We agreed to try again soon.

We spent the next day by the pool and all day I saw her squirm and shift in her chair, constantly adjusting her bikini bottoms and crossing and uncrossing her legs.

“I can't believe this happened to me.” she said. “This must be something like having a penis; all the continuous rubbing and touching. I'm accustomed to my junk all tucked away and protected.”

She tried sitting up in her chair but that pulled her bottoms tight and pressed the rings directly on her clitoris.

“Fuck!” she barked, exasperated. She opened her legs and straddled her lounge chair. I noted three raised bumps in the fabric covering her pussy. This position seemed to work for now so Jen picked up her magazine to read. I closed my eyes and leaned all the way back. Images of Jen with the bikers flashed in my mind.

“Honey,” I began. “You know; I saw through the curtain a little while Andre worked. You really went after those guys.... orally.”

She set her magazine on her lap.

“Paul, Andre gave you something to knock you out but he gave me something to make me disoriented and horny. Once you passed out he gave me two more shots. I wanted to suck every cock on earth. I was dizzy and horny as he worked on my tattoo. I got so wet a few drops leaked. He teased me about it and scooped them up with a finger and sucked them into his mouth. He's ugly but at that point I didn't care, I wanted sex so badly. He told those guys to distract me and they were happy to help. They distracted me so much I barely felt it when he punctured my lips. I'm sorry, Baby, but you married a Bad Girl. I thought you already knew that?”

I smiled. Indeed, I had.

We made our way upstairs and Jen shed her bikini and fell on the bed as soon as I closed the door.

“Try it,” she begged, spreading her legs wide. “I'm dying.”

I ignored her offered pussy, for now, and fed her my penis until I was hard. Once she had me standing straight up I moved between her thighs. The little silver apparatus gleamed at me and I ran my tongue over the loops, sliding the tiny balls all around. Jen stiffened and growled so I did it again. The hoops he used were as thin as needles and the silver balls slightly larger than grains of sand. The entire unit moved easily in tiny orbits all over and around her clit. The design was brilliant. Closer inspection showed the balls were dimpled like golf balls, adding to Jen's stimulation. Even the slightest movement sent waves of pleasure coursing through her.

I flipped her on her stomach and pulled her up to all fours and then entered from behind. I reasoned with nothing pressed against her piercing I'd get maximum movement and I was right. Each thrust sent the hoops and balls spinning and Jen clutching the bedspread and moaning into a pillow. I held her hips and moved my dick in and out really slow.

“Ugh, Jesus, Paul, that's intense. Keep going.”

I pushed all the way in until my balls rested on her cunt and pulled it back out, marveling at how wet she left me.

“You're a slut, Jen.”

“You have no idea,” she fired back.

I worked my penis faster and she braced herself. Occasionally my nuts slapped her clit and she yelped at the spike of stimulation. I had hoped her new contraption would make it possible for my dick to make her climax, but after a few minutes I sensed it would not. It did get her much closer. In fact, my penis was now able to bring her right up to the edge and keep her there, an orgasm just out of reach. It drove her crazy. Soon she begged me to make her cum. My new power thrilled me.

I spun her around and sat with my dick waving in the open air.

“Suck it, slut,” I commanded.

She dove on me. I reached between her legs and flicked her device, causing her to moan around my penis. I pushed down on the back of her head and flicked harder. She gagged but sucked like a whore. I kept flicking and seconds later Jen screamed a long and muffled orgasm around my dick. I tortured her through it and then backed off as she came down. It sounded like a strong one so I let her up. She fell back onto the bed holding her crotch with both hands.

“Oooooooooohhhhhhhh, Baby, that was gooooooooood.”

Unable to stop it, her body kept moving. I watched her writhe for a moment or two and then slapped her butt and pinned her down. I shoved my hard penis right back up her pussy and she cried out. I spent the next hour fucking her in every position. I know it was her new jewelry but I felt like my penis had magical powers. I'd never gotten sounds from her like this. No matter what I did with it, my dick drove her crazy. Only after I had her near tears from sensory over-load did I allow myself release. We slept like infants.

When we woke we rinsed and I suggested we return to the hot spring. She flashed a puzzled look.

“Ansell?” she inquired.

“I’ve been thinking about what I said earlier; instead of making this honeymoon memorable by excluding others, I think we should make it memorable what inviting others. I want to see the real Jennifer. Show me The Slut, my love.”

“Be careful what you ask for,” she cautioned.

“Too late. You don’t have that much self-control. Let’s stop trying and just turn the other way and embrace it. Seems more honest.”

“Won’t you get jealous and hurt again?”

“Maybe. But it won’t last. Feeling like I can’t trust you sucks. It’s the worst. I’d rather join you so we can do all this together.”

“You want to see the real me?”

“Yes.”

She moved to the desk and pulled out a notepad and pen. She handed them to me.

“Write that down,” she ordered.

I wrote, I, Paul Sanders, want to see the REAL Jennifer Sanders.

She glanced at it over my shoulder.

“Sign it,” she said.

I did.

In spite of my recent words, I felt nervous. I hadn’t expected this from her. She looked it over and gave a satisfied nod. She folded the paper and stuffed it in her purse.

“I’ll make you a deal,” she said. “I give you what you say you want but I won’t hold you to it after our honeymoon. When we get home I’ll check back in with you and you can change your mind at that time. Fair?”

I nodded but I wondered what I had done.

We dressed in swimsuits and cover-ups and headed downstairs. As we approached the pools she stopped at door one-seventeen and knocked. Claire answered and smiled at Jen but frowned at me. Jen spoke French and Claire lit up and opened the door, welcoming us in. Ansell rose from a reading chair and opened his arms. He wore a light blue hotel bathrobe tied loosely around his waist. They spoke briefly and he wrapped his arms around my wife. He surveyed me to determine if I was the enraged husband and then extended a hand.

“My English is badly,” he said.

“My French is worse,” I replied, shaking it.

He motioned with his head towards Jennifer. “She is Beauty,” he said.

“She is beauty,” I agreed. I thought we would invite them to the pool with us but Jen reached for his sash.

“You want more?” he asked her.

“Only for every second I've been away.”

His robe fell open and there it was; the serpent that owned my wife. His scrotum was two of my fists. The shaft was almost as thick as a soda can. The head was bigger than a plum. National Treasure indeed.

I checked on Claire and her robe was off too. She joined my wife and together they sank to their knees. They'd done this before. Jen wrapped her lips around the head and Claire lifted his balls with her face and tongued his ass. Ansell sighed and let the robe fall from his shoulders.

His skin was loose and he had no muscle at all but Jen did not care. She wrapped both hands around his shaft and started jacking him off into her mouth. I saw my mother's wedding ring go up and down that fleshy lance and it turned me on. Ansell grew harder.

Jen stopped sucking long enough to pull off her cover-up and swim suit. She was about to kneel again but Ansell stopped her and leaned over to see her jewelry. He said something to Claire and she examined it too. Jen was already trembling. I saw a drop of wetness leak from my wife and begin the trip down her inner thigh. She was already soaked for Ansell. He took his cock in his hand and again asked Jen if she wanted it.

“God, yes. I don't know what hold you have on me, but you do.”

Jen sat on the carpet and spread her legs. “Fuck me,” she breathed. “Please, I need it.” She reached down and played with her device, biting both lips and teasing her clit.

Ansell slapped his cock against his palm. He was deep in thought but I had no idea what about. There was a young, over-developed, bikini model gymnast lying on the floor looking up at him and begging for his cock and he just stood over her, thinking.

Claire spoke and Ansell answered and Jen's eyes got big. My wife looks at me with worry all over her face.

“What's happening?” I asked.

Jen did not want to tell me.

“Jen?” I insisted. Claire left the room and I heard her cell beeping.

“She's calling...the others.”

“What others?”

“Their friends, from the business.”

I was confused for a moment and then I remembered. From that business. Ansell settled into a chair and spoke to Jen. My wife looked from him to me and back again and then her eyes dropped to his erection standing high above his lap. She moved between his legs and started sucking hard on the head. Ansell laced his fingers behind his head and closed his eyes. I felt my nuts contract.

Jen may have been busy but I saw the concern on her face. Every now and then she glanced nervously at the door. Claire returned and helped me to a chair. She started to unbuckle my pants but I stopped her and tried to convey Jen played with others but I did not. She understood, eventually, but instead of joining her husband and my wife she sat on the arm of my chair and stayed with me.

A knock on the door startled me. Jen worked the head of his cock like it was chocolate ice cream. Fully erect he was too thick for her to take more than a couple inches but what she could take she adored. I'd never seen her worship a cock like this.

Claire opened the door and the other couple from that day at the pool entered, followed by three older men. Claire had obviously explained everything on the phone because they wore hotel robes like Ansell and dropped them as soon as the door shut behind them. All four men were in various stages of arousal. Clearly they were all old friends and had taken this vacation as a group, staying at the same hotel for convenience. Four large cocks bounced and swayed as they gave Claire a double kiss on the cheeks.

Jen heard the noise and aimed her eyes around the room while keeping that huge cock in her mouth. Her lids fluttered and she moaned from way down deep. Big fat erections were all around and she rose to her hands and knees while she sucked. Without ceremony or introduction Jen offered her drenched cunt to the first man to take her, but it wasn't a man, it was Claire that left my chair and sank her tongue up Jen's asshole. Jen moaned loud and long as Claire ate her, moving freely back and forth between Jen's two holes, playing with her device and teasing her sphincter.

The men gathered round. Each man stroked himself harder, getting ready for the sweet sensation of a tight young cunt engulfing their meat. The man from the pool went first, kneeling behind Jen and easing his thick cock up her pussy. Claire slipped under and sucked the man's balls into her mouth and he groaned as he held Jen's hips and began to work himself in and out.

Ansell gestured to another man to take his place and they switched. Jen pouted for a second as her favorite cock was taken away but the one that replaced it was almost as massive so she delighted in the thrill of someone new. Thanks to her new jewelry, Jen rolled her back as a surprising orgasm raced through her. She pulled her mouth away from the new man long enough to gasp and look at me with concern, Ansell spoke to Claire and then left the room. I returned my attention to Jen. These men had done this before and probably many times. Each knew what to do and when. They worked together taking full advantage of Jen's holes and each of them spent time in her mouth and pussy, helping each other enjoy this delectable girl from the States.

While Jen had one man in her mouth and another in her pussy, a third removed everything from the coffee table and covered it with pillows. A few words of French and Jen was lifted from the floor and moved to the table. Man four laid on his back with his erection pointing at the ceiling and two men opened her legs and lowered Jen onto his veiny cock, her clit rings sparkling. His torpedo dwarfed her pussy but she was drenched and he slid right in, albeit slowly. As he bottomed out she leaned forward and kissed him and then lifted her tits to his mouth.

Another man moved by her face and Jen reached out her tongue to lick away his pre-cum and then closed her lips on him. Her asshole was aimed right at me. I undressed and bumped the guy in her mouth away to make her suck me and wet my dick. She seemed surprised I'd joined in but granted my request. Two cocks hung close to mine waiting their turn and I was a little embarrassed by the size differences.

Once I had a generous coating of saliva I stepped back and offered her mouth to another man and I moved around behind her. If she was surprised by my blowjob request, my dick head at her asshole shocked her. She tried to look back at me but those guys wouldn't let her and I applied gentle but constant pressure to her sphincter. She opened slowly around me and a deep moan grew in pitch and volume as I pushed my penis up her ass.

What a sight. I picked up on the rhythm the guys kept and soon we were all fucking my wife in every hole, hard dicks moving in time, filling her body with cock and then withdrawing, only to fill her with cock again. Each thrust activated her clit torture and dozens of mini orgasms wracked her.

Sounds I'd never heard poured from her. Jen was overwhelmed.

Off to one side I saw Ansell slowly circling with a video camera in hand. He captured every moan and every groan, every drop of sweat and whimper, every wet slap of a very aroused pussy. He moved close and filmed us from inches away. He pulled back and focused on Jen's gorgeous face sucking any cock presented to her like a greedy pig. A man spoke French and Jen opened her mouth and he took his cock in hand and began to shoot his copious load onto her waiting tongue.

I did not know it at the time but that was the only man that did not fill her pussy with sperm, unless I also count myself.

After he finished feeding her every last drop he backed away and another took his place. The man under her started thrusting harder and Jen bore down and then he pushed deep and held it there while cursing and pumping. I felt his fat cock pulse and swell through the thin wall that separated us and knew he inseminated my wife. I had to fight to hold back my own orgasm. Jen threw her head back and came again.

After a moment the man under her struggled to rise. I pulled out of her ass and she climbed off him and a cup of semen gushed from her pussy when she did. The next guy was ready and quickly took a position on his back. Jen held his erection straight up and lowered her pussy onto him, squealing as his hard shaft shoved her cunt out of shape and sent the tiny silver balls rolling. I saw the pink ring of her pussy stretch wide to accept him.

As soon as she settled into her position I moved up behind her again. This time she lifted her butt to make it easier for me and with the smeared semen all around as lube, I slid balls deep first try. Jen wailed around the new fat dick in her mouth and I started fucking her ass hard. All this debauchery was too much for her and she came hard with a dick in each hole and her jewelry rubbing on the man beneath her. He sucked hard on her nipples, sending her to new heights.

One by one each man fucked her and filled her. Ansell filmed it all. I held out as long as possible but feeling their huge cocks swell and spit while trapped right next to mine was too much. I erupted deep in her ass.

I found it difficult to distinguish Jen's orgasms from sex-sounds. This experience was far more than she could take but she was forced to take it anyway and her mind and body were overpowered. If not for the ever-present cock in her mouth the room would be filled with her screams. With a load in her stomach and another up her ass and three more deep in her pussy, we all stepped back to admire our handy-work. Jen was a sweaty, cum-filled whore too weak to move. Her hair was plastered to her sweaty back and face as she lay panting on the floor. Her bright pink and puffy nipples had survived five men and her equally pink and swollen labia told a similar story. A milky mix of sperm leaked from her cunt, from her sphincter a few drops of me escaped.

Ansell handed the camera to Claire and lifted Jen into his arms. He'd gone soft while filming but still carried an impressive slab of beef. He placed Jen on her back and moved around until his cock-head dangled inches above her mouth. I thought she'd had enough but I was so wrong. Young and strong, she wanted to be fucked all night. The planets had aligned and brought her five big dicks and mature men who knew how to use them. They were older but they were also gentle when they should be and rough when she wanted it. She saw beyond their less than perfect bodies; she wasn't looking for a partner, she looked for sex, and five cocks like these were rare and difficult to come by.

She raised her mouth to Ansell's cock. Claire knelt between Jen's open legs and filmed the juices that flowed. Unable to resist, Claire lapped at Jen, savoring the strong mix of many men. Jen parted her thighs a little to welcome Claire and reached both hands up to Ansell, one to stroke him and the other to cup his massive scrotum.

"They weigh two pounds," she breathed in admiration.

He grinned. Her attention had him hard fast and he moved around the table. Claire scurried away and sat on a gentleman's lap to watch and film.

Ansell looked like a Greek demigod of fornication and fertility. His cock curled up from his pelvis like a horn and Jen gazed between her legs at it, unconsciously squirming in anticipation. Her face told me exactly how she felt about his meat and I admit I felt the first pangs of jealousy in a long, long time.

"Fuck," she exhaled, her eyes riveted. "I remember you. I can't believe I get to have you again. Fuck fuck fuck."

Her head fell back for a moment but then she looked at his cock again and opened her legs wider.

“Did you follow my instructions after last time?” He asked in broken English.

Jen bit her bottom lip.

“Yes.”

Ansell grinned and his cock surged. “Ah, that's excellent.”

I wondered what he meant and tried to remember exactly what happened when Jen came home, but I only remembered she cried.

Jen spread her labia with both hands, giving him a delicious target and pulling the three rings tightly over her clit. Her body shivered from intense pleasure. She was wet all over from Claire's tongue and a small rivulet of semen flowed over her asshole.

Ansell said, “Maybe this time I will give you a baby, hm?”

His words detonated a bomb inside my wife. Her head fell back again and her pussy and asshole contracted as her entire body tensed. She groaned as her mouth opened wide. I was stunned. Did his God-cock trigger some primal female urge in her? I didn't know but her reaction was powerful. She urgently collects more skin under her hands and spread her cunt until it gaped. Ansell and I actually saw inside her. She desperately offered him everything.

“Please...” my beloved whimpered. “Put it in.”

Something happened between them that I did not understand. She'd been with him for hours the first time. They must have talked. What had they talked about? Somehow he cast a spell over her and given her youth and beauty, that seemed so backwards. He should be groveling for a chance with her.

The other men were starting to sit up and notice. Ansell owned this pretty girl even with her husband right in the room with her. As if she could read minds, Jen reached out a hand to me.

“Paul, come close. I need you close.”

I knelt by her side and held her hand. Together we returned our gaze to the monster cock approaching.

“I love you,” she murmured to me. “Always know that.”

Ansell touched the head of his cock to her clit and rubbed it in a circle. Jen's legs trembled from holding them open for so long so I rested my free hand on her thigh to support her.

“You're going to help him?” she asked, “That's hot, Baby. I love it. Hold my legs open for him. You want that big cock in me as much as I do. Am I your slut, Honey? Unnnnggghh!”

Ansell pushed in the head as Jen was talking and her eyes rolled back. I held her legs so my view was unobstructed and my breath was stolen by the way his cock dominated her. Her cunt lips parted wide to enfold the crown and sheathe him in hot wetness. Ansell grunted and eased another inch forward and my wife cried out and worked her hips back and forth and up and down. He looked too big for her. Already the three rings were stretched almost to their limit. Her clitoris was under attack.

He spoke French and Jen replied in French. Their words dripped with passion and desire and I felt a spike of excitement at my exclusion. Ansell gave her another inch and her little hole struggled to close itself around him and more words flew. I felt her body tighten more each second. She gripped the edges of the coffee table tightly to keep her body in place and Ansell pulled back for a second and then pushed two more inches in. All the air left Jen's lungs and she groaned as a mini orgasm raced through her. A little more French from Ansell and Jen replied, alternating between French and English.

“I do,” she admitted to him. “Try to get me pregnant. I'm such a fucking slut. Empty those big balls in my married pussy. Do it! Ungh! God, I love being fucked. I love it. You feel so good, Ansell, Baby. Aagh! I love it!”

The more Jen talked, the more excited she became. Ansell fucked her briefly with short strokes, spreading her wetness and the other men's semen all over him. Each time he pushed a little deeper. He drew a breath and flexed his ass and several inches in a row disappeared. Jen looked on the verge of panic. When he reached her cervix he pressed gently forward and stopped. Three thick inches of cock remained outside her body. Her pussy was stuffed beyond belief, the silver balls ground against her with electric intensity.

Jen closed her eyes and went utterly still. Her face showed me she savored his cock inside her. Her hips made small circles as her brow slowly furrowed. She moved her hands from the table to his legs and pulled hard. She craved more of his cock but she simply had no room. She pulled harder and he flexed again and he began to move forward with agonizing slowness. Somehow she opened up on the inside to take him. Her breathing escalated and her face flushed red. They done this before and knew what to do. His cannon cock moved deeper, driving Jen a little crazy. Under my hands I felt her body lock down.

“Yeah,” she murmured. “Oh, God, yeah. Here it comes. Oh, Baby, here it comes. I love it, I love it, I love it.”

One inch, two inches...my wife received him incrementally. I had no idea where she put him but the effect on her was profound. The flush had spread to her chest and stomach and she breathed shallow and fast. His huge balls approached her ass and her nails dug into his legs and then they touched and spread across her butt. She had all of him.

“No more,” he said in English and grinned. Claire aimed the camera at his face briefly and then back down at their merged bodies.

Jen moved her hands to hold him better and pulled him half an inch deeper. Her back arched. Her nipples stuck straight up, straining for the ceiling and begging to be sucked. Ansell withdrew half and pushed it back in and Jen clamped her jaw shut and whimpered. With small strokes he began to fuck her. Occasional grunts escaped him.

She let go of his legs and grabbed a pillow to cover her face. Ansell pumped strong and smooth and slow and her body jerked and then jerked again and she hugged the pillow to her head. Her hips bucked and her back arched and Ansell's God-cock ripped an unearthly climax from her. I'd never seen anything like it. She burst into smothered sobs as his size combined with her own whorish desires wrapped in a possible pregnancy drove her like an addict. Her spine snapped straight and all her muscles stood out and she sucked air and came again. I witnessed her pussy gush fluid all around him. When she'd fucked him the first time she'd worn no jewelry and he'd made a slave of her. I knew after tonight she'd deny him nothing.

Unlike her orgasms with me, this one seemed to be a continuous wave. Once she spiked at the beginning she seemed to ride along up there, held in the grip of a constant climax. No wonder she loved him. No wonder she loved what his cock did to her. Her passion was my agony. The reality of her orgasms with him crushed me.

He fucked her through it all. Eventually she came down and he held his erection buried. When she removed the pillow I saw her satisfied and tear-streaked face.

“More, Baby.” she told him. Her use of my pet name on him stabbed me.

She placed her hand over my hand on her leg and nodded to Ansell. With small strokes he began thrusting deeper again. Jen had spoken truth; her body could not resist him. Her climax left her primed for more, like guitar strings vibrating. Every nerve and muscle on alert, Ansell made her orgasm almost at will; big, powerful, body twisting orgasms. Not only did he own her physically but he had gotten into her head too. She believed this was the cock made to fuck her. It matched her carnal fantasies perfectly and she loved giving in to it.

I hooked her legs over his shoulders and moved around behind him. He had the entire monster inside her now and fucked her smoothly. Whenever he was fully buried, his enormous ball-sack covered her ass.

I surprised myself by lifting it. Earlier Jen said it weighed two pounds and I was curious. Not only was she right, she may have underestimated. Many of the other men were hard again but Claire took care of them. They all knew to leave Jen and Ansell alone. She belonged to him.

Ansell did not cum. Not this time. He fucked my wife until she was so exhausted she became unresponsive. I think he put on a show for us, his audience. Finally, he pulled out and carried her to the bedroom and we all followed.

Their bed was huge and the four of us; Ansell, Claire, Jen, and myself, all crawled up on it to rest. The other guys took couches and love seats. Someone clicked on the television with the volume off to watch soccer. I was anxious and wired but fell asleep right away.

A sound woke me and I looked around without moving my head. I lay on my side facing Jen with about three feet between us. She was on her side too, facing me. Claire now slept with one of the guys on the couch. Ansell prowled around naked in the dim blue light of the television, trying to be quiet. I continued pretending to sleep and watched as he moved around covering his friends with blankets.

His cock hung down heavy and thick and swung when he walked. I had mixed feelings looking at it. I loved watching him fuck Jen but her response to him troubled me. I wished she could just enjoy his big dick but it went beyond that for her. Human sexuality is complicated and we all have different buttons and usually do not get to choose them. Ansell fired Jen's erotic imagination. He pushed all her buttons and then some.

I thought about her years ago with her professor, Alex. He was an older man too and Jen's reaction to him was different as well. Some girls like black guys. Some girls like other girls. Some girls like older men. Some girls like big dicks. My girl was hooked on Ansell and that's all there was to it. Our honeymoon would end and we'd fly home and he'd become an ever distant memory, but for now he filled her world. She wouldn't leave me for him but she would do anything he wanted, and that troubled me. She had cheated with him, after all. The one and only time she had ever done something like that. I still found that hard to grasp. Mark the Stud and Handsome Alex would be every girl's dream, but not my Jen. Those men she could resist. My Jen was addicted to this wrinkled old man.

Ansell tidied up the room a little and then came back to bed. I felt the mattress move and then his body wedged into the gap between Jen and me. He adjusted until he was comfortable on his back and then put one arm around Jen and the other around me. My view was his body from the chest down to his feet. He was pudgy and hairy and sagged a little. I made myself relax and try to fall back asleep.

My eyelids had been closed less than a minute when I felt a strong hand grip my penis. I opened my eyes. Ansell's arm blocked my view except for his hand stroking my dick. I panicked a little, debating my reaction. Before I made a decision, he stopped and began softly stroking his own penis.

His cock was astonishing. About three times the size of mine, he played with the thick spongy tube and teased the crown. He lengthened and thickened. When he finished he draped it across his stomach. The head rolled off his hip and almost reached the bedspread. It was perfectly shaped, starting extra thick at the base and then tapering slightly to an over-sized symmetrical head. That monster had been inside Jen and she loved it. I tried to see what she saw.

The skin was loose and wrinkled now but I remembered how it looked hard. That skin would shine when erect. That skin would be stretched so thin blue veins and red arteries would show through. A million years of evolution had produced this ultimate impregnating beast. How many pussies had this thing conquered? I wondered if Ansell had children he knew nothing about. I was certain there were several husbands around the world raising kids they thought were their own.

His cock radiated power. What was this mystical energy? Why did so many women succumb to this hypnotic effect? My wife was one. Ansell had punched through every defense she had and swept her away. Without dimming her love for me, he planted himself in the center of her mind. Strong, intelligent, educated, and independent, Jennifer was a simple school girl around him, craving his attention, craving his touch. I would not have thought it possible.

I studied his penis again, trying to understand her mind. I admit his cock was beautiful. I never think of them in that way but his was. I loved what it could do to my wife. I hated what it could do to my wife.

I detected movement and Jen's little white hand slid across his tummy, her delicate fingers wrapped around the base. Ansell hummed his approval and Jen pulled the shaft around to face her and opened her mouth to suck on the head.

Across his chest, her drowsy eyes met mine. She gave me a coy smile and kissed the slit of his dick. Her tongue snaked out and the tip wiggled up his cum hole. Her lips closed on him like he was nothing more than a giant straw and my wife sucked. Ansell sighed.

She worked the head for a minute, her eyes always on mine. I watched her perform her oral magic and marveled how much she was able to take. She wanted to please him so she ignored any gag-reflex or tired muscle. A strange look entered her eyes as she watched me watch her. Was it strange sucking another man's cock in front of your husband? She continued another moment and then pulled him from her mouth and held him up for me to see.

Her other hand appeared and in the dark room it beckoned me with an index finger. She wanted a kiss? I'd have to lean my body over his. She had something to tell me? The room was silent except for the deep breathing of our sleeping friends. I gave her a perplexed look and her smile spread.

She aimed his cock directly at me.

She wanted me to join her!

I stared back, dumbfounded. I looked down at his penis and then back to her. Jen's smile grew. I glanced around the room but everyone slept soundly. I risked a quick look up at Ansell and he only looked back at me, utterly indifferent.

Jen stuffed the head back into her mouth and sucked hard enough to dent her cheeks. She swirled her tongue all around him again and then withdrew her favorite cock and once more aimed him at me. The television light glittered on her saliva. It grew and I wondered what caused it; her mouth or Ansell anticipating mine. I felt an unexpected excitement when I considered Ansell grew hard anticipating me. What an ego rush it must be to have a husband and wife suck your cock together.

I wiggled closer and opened my mouth. Jen guided his wet cock passed my lips and stuffed my mouth full of him. The large rubbery head plugged the back of my mouth. I felt the weight of it on my tongue. I sucked and felt the blood surging beneath his skin. I felt his pulsing heartbeat. I felt vibrant life throbbing inside this tube of flesh, threatening to explode.

I moved closer and so did Jen. We met over his chest and above his belly and my wife jacked his cock into my mouth. I sucked for a moment and then she took him away and sucked too. We took turns on him. While Jen sucked I dragged my tongue down the length of him until I reached his huge balls. I swabbed them in their fleshy sack, moving them around and feeling the heat they radiated. I considered for a moment the billion babies they carried and in my gut I knew he'd soon be pumping all of them into my wife, and I will have helped him do it.

He grew hard fast but so did I. We were careful to let the others sleep; I had no desire for an audience my first time. Jen was joyful as she sucked his cock with me, once pausing long enough to whisper, "I told you so." When she saw my puzzled expression she added, "David?"

Then I remembered. She'd been right. She'd won.

When we had him hard as iron, Jen crawled on top of him and I guided his cock into her soaking wet slit, first rubbing the head all over her rings and causing her body to jerk and jump. I needed both hands to guide him.

They fucked in virtual silence, aside from her sloshing pussy, and Jen fed Ansell her tits right in front of me. Her pussy was a tight ring around him, an air-tight seal.

As his orgasm approached they changed positions. Jen rolled onto her back and opened her legs and Ansell moved up between them. His huge cock slid back inside her and he covered her mouth. He began fucking her again. She came hard minutes later and he kept her mouth covered because she came again minutes later. I sensed she would go on like that as long as he continued fucking her and for fifteen straight minutes, he did. My wife was virtually incoherent by the time he stopped.

He buried his face in the crook of her neck and I knew it was time to turn loose his flood. He'd been fucking for hours without release and his dick was as hard as a diamond. Finally, he pushed it deep one last time and quietly exhaled. The moment had arrived. I was about to witness the insemination of my darling bride. I felt dread and elation. His ass flexed again and again and again as he pumped an ocean of sperm inside her. I was so excited I felt ready to burst. His back curved and his legs shook as he filled my wife up with sperm. I was astonished how much he pumped into her. When he finished he remained between her legs, blocking any semen from escape.

"You like?" he asked, looking over his shoulder at me.

I nodded.

"Now you fuck her too," he instructed, "and push my cum deeper. Just like first time."

I suddenly understood his words from earlier and remembered Jen fucking me right after she got back from him. This was Ansell's kink; he wanted the husband to push his semen farther up inside the wife. I should be upset Jen had done his bidding even after cheating on me, but I wasn't. I was aroused. I did as he instructed.

He pulled his soft penis from her guts and I was shocked at how long it took to get the whole thing out. I assumed his place between her open legs. Jen wore a wicked grin. I aimed my erection at her and shoved and I slipped in with virtually no resistance at all. I pushed a wave of him farther up inside her with each thrust and grew more excited doing it. Knowing I worked his cum deeper with each shove only heightened my pleasure.

"What if you get pregnant?" I asked between gasps.

Her response was a deeply emotional groan and a lift of her hips. She helped me fuck her deeply. She assisted in her own complete insemination. My wife was not a good girl playing at being bad, my wife was a bad girl masquerading as good. She slapped both hands on my butt and pulled me deep.

“I can feel you filling my womb with him,” she grunted. “Give me your load, Paul. Add it to his. I carry so many men inside me right now it's scandalous. It's shameful. I looooooove it. Fuck your sweet girl like a whore, Honey. That's what I want.”

I honored her request. As quietly as possible I pumped in and out until my climax was upon me. My last thought before release was the agony I would feel if Jen conceived with another man and that idea made me cum like a thunderbolt and almost pass out.

With Ansell on one side I rolled to the other, placing Jen between us. All three of us fell fast asleep.

I awakened only once before morning. Jen faced me on her side again and Ansell spooned her. She was close enough to me I saw only the curve of his shoulder and his hands on her hip. He fucked her again, from behind, and Jen had her mouth stuffed with pillow. Her face was pure bliss. She seemed to be at the end of another orgasm and I listened intently as Ansell emptied his balls inside her yet again. He wrapped his arms around her, cupped a large breast, and pulled her back against his body, his huge cock still firmly sheathed inside her. We all returned to sleep.

When we awoke it was well passed dawn. Claire and the men were gone leaving the three of us alone. Ansell started coffee and Jen and I headed for the shower. Ansell brought a tray holding a pot and three cups.

In the shower we all lathered and washed. Jen shivered with pleasure as Ansell and I tenderly washed her together. I considered going down on her but remembered how much semen she carried and worried I'd swallow some. I may have sucked dick the night before but that was a far cry from drinking another man's cum. Instead I dropped down and kissed her clit and lips and moved the little balls around with the tip of my tongue. Her legs almost buckled and she forcing my mouth away.

She moved Ansell and me close and knelt, lovingly licking each of us. She'd done something similar with Mark and I was astonished how much bigger Ansell was. He made Mark's dick seem average. We dried and dressed and Ansell suggested we spend the day together and I was surprised when Jen declined.

“I need some time with my new husband,” she replied. Ansell said he understood and informed her they were here for three more days.

Back in our room Jen said she needed me to make love to her. I took her into my arms and we kissed and I felt her tense body relax.

“I was so nervous,” she admitted. “Not during, of course, but after. All morning I've had this growing fear I went too far. You told me to turn the Slut loose, and I did, but I began to worry I hurt you or us.”

I was pleased she cared but reassured her I was fine and we were fantastic.

“The pregnancy twist threw me at first but I admit it excited me too. I imagine as a woman it was pure adrenaline.”

“Cocaine. Crack cocaine.”

“As I thought. You don't really want his baby, do you?”

“No, not really. I'm not even ready for yours. But it makes everything so fucking intense. It's crazy. Little Miss Independent is just a breeder at heart. I feel some primal urge.”

I placed my hand on her lower belly.

“Six men,” I taunted.

“Seven,” she corrected. “Dance floor.”

She was right but that seemed so long ago. I was again amazed at what a magnet Jen was for sex. What invisible message did she send out to the universe? She dropped her cover-up and began untying her bikini. I drank her in as her body was revealed. I looked at her as a stranger might and was stunned by what I saw. She is ripe and bursting with life and vitality. Sex oozed from every pore. Her eyes enchanted and drew one in. Her posture told you to try, she'd most likely say okay. In a million subtle ways Jen informed the world she was interested in more than casual conversation. Her pretty face smiled at me.

“You haven't looked at me like that for a long time,” she said.

We moved to the bed.

Later that evening we went out for dinner but hurried back to the room for more love-making. Afterwards we dozed. The clock read three when I awakened and discovered the bed was empty. I listened for Jen in our suite but heard nothing. Something told me to wait. Two hours later I heard the front door close and soon Jen slipped into bed with me. I didn't need to ask. I moved closer to her and sent a finger to explore and after passing over the bumps of her pussy jewelry, I discovered a sea of warm fluid flowing from her.

“Ansell?” I asked.

“Ansell.”

I was irritated but grew hard. At this rate it would be his baby she had. We lay motionless for a moment and then she cupped me. Erection means forgiveness so she sighed and cuddled up to me. I needed to have a talk with my penis. There was no argument I could make if it was going to get hard every time she acted slutty. It's like trying to apologize while laughing; nobody believes a word that comes out of your mouth.

She moved down my body and her hot mouth enveloped me. After the last few days I had almost no sperm left in my nuts and honestly, I was a little surprised I even got hard. She worked me up to rigid and I attempted to roll on top of her but she stopped me. I tried again but she stopped me again. I looked down my stomach at her.

"He came in me twice," she taunted and blood surged into my penis. "My pussy belongs to him at the moment and I really like that."

I thought that would be something I hated but blood surged again and a thin bolt of cum shot from me. Jen laughed.

"I guess you like that too," she said before sucking hard and milking my weak load into her mouth.

We drifted off together but all I thought about was Ansell swimming freely inside her.

The next two days we spent exploring the city, swimming in the Mediterranean, eating, sleeping, making love, and listening to music. The town was beautiful and so were the people. We slept when tired and ate when hungry and followed no schedule at all. Neither of us mentioned Ansell or Claire. I know he was on her mind but apparently she'd scratched that itch enough for now.

The next morning Jen reminded me the Cerf's left that day. I asked her what she wanted to do about that and she answered, "Stay in bed with Ansell all day until they have to leave tonight to catch their flight."

A heavy silence filled the air.

I knew by the way she said it she meant in bed with Ansell alone. No retired porn guys. No Claire. No me. Jen and I had ten more days before we left for the States. That would be ten days of No Ansell, no Claire, no retired porn guys. My eyes drifted around the room and landed on her purse. Inside that purse was a note I'd written and signed telling my wife to truly reveal the slutty side of herself.

"Okay," I agreed. Her face sagged with disbelief.

"Really?"

I saw growing excitement in her eyes and it hurt.

“Yes. See you tonight.” I kissed her cheek.

She leaned back and studied my eyes for a moment and then slid from the bed. She found her cell and punched numbers and after a few rings the French began. She hung up. She came to the bed and kissed me.

“I’ll be back around nine tonight. How will you spend the day?”

“Tanning, kayaking, swimming, eating. Lots of drinking.”

“You’re amazing,” she said.

I grinned. She stepped to the closet and withdrew a light gauzy white dress and laid it on the bed. In the bathroom I heard the shower and sink and then thirty minutes later she emerged naked. She stepped to the bed and pulled the dress over her head with nothing on underneath. It fell into place on her juicy body and accented her round ass and big boobs. A hint of nipple showed through. She unbuttoned two buttons, exposing more cleavage, checked, changed her mind and buttoned one. She pulled a clasp from her long brown hair and it spilled around her face and shoulders.

“How do I look?”

“Heart-breaking,” I replied.

Her eyes flared and she stepped towards me but caught herself.

“Don’t tempt me,” she said. “I want to be clean and fresh for him.”

She returned to the bathroom for a few last minutes’ touch-ups and then came around the bed to me.

“Enjoy your day,” she said, playfully.

“Enjoy yours,” I responded.

She kissed me and I detected faint perfume. Blood surged but I ignored it. She spun and grabbed her phone and left the room. I heard the front door close. I entered the bathroom. All around were the signs of her preparation to see him and they stung; shaving cream, razor, bottle of perfume, lipstick, wet towel on the floor, light eye shadow, toothpaste. She’d gone all out to inflame and please him. The evidence of her efforts turned me on and I had no idea why. She could have gone to his room caked in mud and he’d have been thrilled. Why had she made this extra effort? I didn’t understand but it got to me.

I laid back down and gazed at the ceiling. By now she was at his room. They might be naked although if I were him I’d draw that moment out. I might even take her to breakfast first, just to be seen in public with her. She’d looked breath-taking.

Thoughts of breakfast reminded me I was hungry so I showered and dressed and headed for the restaurant downstairs. The hostess greeted me and showed me to a booth and I had just begun to peruse the menu when I heard Ansell's voice followed by Jennifer's laugh. I cautiously peered around the corner and there they were; the happy couple, out on a date. She looked flushed and vibrant and made my heart ache. He sipped coffee and she told a story in French. Occasionally he touched her hand or she touched his arm.

Blood surged again and once again I ignored it. I did not understand my connection between pain and pleasure. If I weighed it honestly, the entire time she was with another man was a form of pain. Every time I'd watched her it had hurt but in a good way. I got excited by it more than anything else by far, but it stung. I lowered the volume on my cell in case she text or called me.

I lost their voices for a moment and risked a look around my booth. They were kissing, tender and heart-felt, and holding hands. A stiletto slipped between my ribs and pierced my heart and more blood surged. I pushed my erection down my pant leg and leaned back. Why was this so intoxicating?

I stole glances at them through their meal. They ate sparingly and quickly. Their mutual lust was evident to everyone at the bistro that morning. Waitresses chuckled at the older man with the pretty young flower and how deeply enamored she seemed of him. Jen withdrew her phone and typed and seconds later my phone buzzed. I'm soaked, she said. About to give him everything. You won't hear from me again but don't worry, I'm happy.

She set her phone down and they kissed again. Her hand drifted down to his lap under the table and he held her face while he kissed her. Ansell dropped money on the table and stood and his enormous bulge was obvious for all to see. They left in a hurry and everyone in the restaurant knew it was to hurry back to their hotel room. I was so hard it hurt.

"This was your wife, no?"

I looked up. An older waitress that had served Jen and I a few times over the last couple days stood over my table. Her hand pointed at their now empty booth. I felt my face blush. I thought about denying everything but she already knew the truth.

"Yes."

“That man, he is Ansell, no?”

“Yes.”

She rolled her eyes and smiled. “How can you allow? You know what he will do?”

I met her gaze. “Yes, I know.”

My dick was harder than ever.

She held up both hands about a foot apart and rolled her eyes again. I took one of her hands and moved it about an inch farther away. She laughed, delighted.

“Lucky girl,” she said

“Lucky girl,” I agreed.

I finished eating and headed out to rent a kayak. In ten minutes the entire hotel staff would know what happened in room one-seventeen and with whom. I stayed busy but the day dragged. My phone remained silent so my imagination ran wild. I explored the bay and snorkeled. I swam and worked-out. I went into town and shopped for a new shirt and considered buying Jen a necklace.

As I browsed the silver on display, something tickled my memory. I took a moment to retrieve it, but I did. Outside I hailed a cab and headed for the tattoo parlor we visited several nights ago. Forty minutes later, I found it.

I entered and the same guy came from the back. The bikers were gone and the shop empty of customers. He smiled and then recognized me and frowned.

“No trouble,” he said.

“None. Questions.”

His smile returned.

“You are happy with the tattoos?”

“Yes.” I approached the case with the odd silver objects.

“And the lady enjoys her jewelry?”

“That's funny. That's the same thing we call it. Yes, she enjoys it very much. She loves it. You're a genius. How many times have you done that to someone?”

He was still wary but I was obviously a foreigner so he had the upper-hand.

“Many. Mostly American girls. They come back for more.”

“More? Like this stuff?” I pointed at the silver baubles in the case.

“Yes.”

“Show me.”

For the next hour he went one item at a time, explaining how to attach each and what effect it produced. He asked lots of questions about Jen and mentioned he was surprised she sucked everyone off that night. It was important to him I knew that was her idea. I assured him he could relax. At the end I selected three new ornaments for Jen, excited to use them on her. If Andre was right, these would drive her crazy.

In the daylight the sex district was not foreboding at all and I walked the streets in comfort. I stopped for a sandwich and then hailed a cab back to the hotel. I was on the beach reading as the sun set, surrounded by gorgeous women. A glorious day, really, if not for the fact my wife spent it fucking another man. Blood surged again and I quickly occupied my mind with other thoughts. If I contemplated what might be happening to her at that moment, even for a second, my dick began to grow.

I had an early dinner and the same waitress smiled knowingly at me. Thank god I did not sit in her section. Afterwards I went back to our room and ordered a movie.

With an hour to go, I started watching the clock. I tried not to but my eyes betrayed me. Pressure built every second. My penis rose uninvited but I dared not play with it. When Jen came home I wanted to be able to ravaged her. Every fucking minute was agony and getting worse. With thirty minutes to go I got up to pace. With fifteen to go my phone buzzed and I jumped at it.

On my way home.

I was dying!

I ripped off my clothing and moved a chair in front of the door. I'd considered playing it cool but fuck that. I wanted her to see what I really felt. I dropped into the chair and spread my legs. My deep red erection jutted up from my lap.

Beep.

The handle turned and the door opened.

The sight of my wife hit me like a freight train.

Jen still wore her white dress but it was unbuttoned all the way down to her belly button. Her nipples, darker now, clearly showed through the loose gauze. Her hair was a mess, her skin radiant, her smiling lips full. Her cheeks glowed and her eyes danced wildly. Around her neck was a thin dog collar. Her breasts and neck were covered with pink bite marks. Her tone legs trembled. My dick throbbed.

Her eyes met mine and then drifted down my chest to my penis. She left the doorway and fell to her knees and sucked the length of me down her scalding throat. She sucked and bobbed hard and fast, vacuuming the cum from my dick, stroking me with one hand while teasing her clit with the other. She was ravenous, starving, attacking me with a desperate need. I did not hold back or delay. Her moans and groans matched mine as I fucked up into her mouth. We were crazy for each other.

I pushed the dress over her shoulders and she shrugged it off, tossing it away. Every square inch of her bore the signs of her intense fucking. She was beautiful! I cupped her tits and rubbed her nipples and she groaned.

“Harder,” she croaked.

I pinched them.

“Harder!”

I squeezed and pulled until they slipped from my fingers and snapped back.

She whined in pain but sucked my dick harder and faster. I slapped her breast hard and her body convulsed as she came, wailing around my penis in her mouth. I was too wound up. My hips jerked once and I exploded across her tongue and down her throat. She inhaled my semen, gulping and swallowing as her tongue swirled and teased. She forced her mouth down to my balls and I felt my head slip down her throat. I kept shooting a long time and she missed none of it.

I collapsed into the chair, shaking. She held my wilting penis in her mouth as I leaked the last few drops and then let me slip. She climbed into my lap and nuzzled my neck and I wrapped my arms around her. She looked up at me and we kissed. I tasted him.

Long minutes later I told her to stand. She reluctantly complied. Her body looked like she'd fucked six men. Raw and tender labia, swollen nipples, red hand-prints all over her firm round ass, red finger marks around her neck under her collar. Part of me felt concern but most of me loved every mark on her. Hot. Fucking. Slut.

She leaned over and put her mouth next to my ear.

“Baby, he fucked my ass. He got that huge cock balls deep in your wife and emptied his big balls there.”

I saw it in my mind and freaked out. I stood and grabbed a handful of her hair and dragged her to the bed. I threw her on it. I don't know why but I dove on her pussy and buried my tongue inside her. I was instantly greeted by a sea of salty fluid but I didn't care. I stirred her insides with my tongue. She cried, overcome by my runaway desire. I pushed a finger up her ass and felt his slippery presence there too. Ansell was everywhere.

Inside she was a pungent mix of flavors, him and her, and I reveled in it. He'd fucked my wife! Every new scrap of evidence fueled my lust. I actually loved tasting him inside her. Fucking whore! I devoured her cunt and drove through her fatigue and energized her with my rampant carnal need. I found her three rings and pillaged them, consuming everything in my path. I ripped a screaming orgasm from her before she knew it was coming and continued to feast long after she started wailing and trying to push my mouth away. I fought her and continued my assault until she came again, filling our room with screams. She was way too sensitive but I was relentless and her body betrayed her. She came a fourth time, crying and sobbing, fighting hard to push me away. Unmoved, I continued my attack. Suddenly she shrieked and every muscle of her body clamped down. Only when she lost consciousness did I slow and eventually stop. I rose over her body like a killer.

My mind was filled with madness. Ansell fucking her ass spoke of a level of collaboration and mutual lust that set my brain on fire. How long did it take him to work his monster up her ass? I easily imagined how badly my wife wanted it. She must have encouraged him for a long time. I bet he was hard as diamonds watching her crave him like that. What an ego trip. Now he'd had her every way a man can take a woman. She'd given him everything. He and I were equals.

Her round butt held my eye. God! Her body! Her big firm tits dominated her chest. Her flat stomach and rounded hips inflamed me. Her cunt was a sloppy mess, a playground for men, a tortured red slit leaking sperm.

I noticed I was still hard and backed away to jack off. My gaze roamed her exquisite female form and filled me with an aching want. After a few minutes her eyes slowly opened.

"I was born to fuck," she murmured, and it was true.

I moved to the bed and drew her close. She rested her head on my chest. I felt the utter fatigue in her. I still burned with desire but just enough selflessness remained I let her rest. I continued playing with my erection and Jen said, "Cum for me. I want to watch you shoot." I stroked faster and closed my eyes. I imagined her day with him and it drove me mad.

Jen said nothing, intently watching her husband pleasure himself while she was only a foot away. Our lives had become one long porn video. Sex was the sun we orbited around. She moved her face close enough I felt her hot breath on my penis. I was almost there.

"Empty it," she breathed.

There were so many connotations and possible meanings woven into her words I lost it. Hot jizz spurted out of me and rained down on my tummy. There was very little but it felt amazing. We lay like that a long time and she may have dozed. I stared at the ceiling.

I realized I had no questions for her. Just looking at her told me everything I needed to know. Perhaps I had a question or two about the dog collar but not knowing was already as exciting as knowing would be. I chose to leave it alone. Eventually I fell asleep too.

We awoke in the middle of the night and kissed like love-starved teens. There was nothing sexual about our passion and our kisses burned with deep love. Soon we rose and showered and returned to bed to sleep until noon.

Days passed. We ate, slept, laid in the hot sun, and just generally relaxed. We had no sex. We did not discuss it but we both knew; Jennifer brimmed with Ansell. Her womb was awash in him. In the most intensely erotic day of our lives, a man had ejaculated inside her again and again and the sweet agony of that was drawn out each day I waited to reclaim her. We knew the risks but that only heightened the excitement. He swam inside, undiluted, seeking her egg, hunting with singular purpose. It thrilled me to know it. It thrilled her to feel it. Many times I placed my hand on her lower belly and we gazed into each other's eyes. The air around us turned electric. Look at what we'd done!

Somehow her day with Ansell drove us closer than ever before. Maybe for her it was a husband confident enough and selfless enough to grant her such a desire, and maybe for me it was witnessing this truth; Jennifer could have any man she wanted and she chose me. Over and over again, every day, she chooses me. Regardless, we were more in love than we'd ever been. Everywhere we went, holding hands and kissing, people smiled and wished us well.

Eventually we talked about that day and I told her about seeing them in the restaurant and the waitress discovering our secret. Jen giggled and mentioned how she'd noticed the male hotel staff had been so helpful and friendly lately. Now she knew why.

For her the day was magical. They'd started with a light meal and then raced back to bed. Without an audience or even Claire, Ansell was a completely different lover. He'd touched her with such tenderness and reverence he'd taken her breath away. They'd made love for the first half, but the second half of their day together had been an earthquake of ferocious fucking. Ansell was a supreme stud. She had no idea how many times they climaxed, but several of them were together. She said he cums so hard she can feel his bolt of semen punch her on the inside.

Claiming her ass was exactly as I'd pictured it. It was her idea and he jumped at the chance. They moved slowly and it took a while but she said once he was balls-deep she came and never stopped. Anal penetration worked perfectly with her clit jewelry and left her wrecked.

The dog collar happened towards the end. He introduced her to a wide variety of humiliations and while she did not describe each one, I knew a door had been opened for her. Jen had a previously unknown appetite for kinky sex and I wondered when and how I'd witness it.

I showed her the silver ornaments I'd purchased and she loved them. I attached the first; a small balled-hook that curled under and fit inside her vagina with a gap in the neck that I pushed her clitoris through. A small ridge lifted her clitoral hood out of the way so her stimulation was intense and constant. At first she could barely walk. I suggested a day of shopping in town and she agreed but had to sit often. By lunchtime she begged me to fuck her to relieve her tension, but I didn't. I took her onto clothing stores with handsome salesmen and handed her over to them. They dressed her up in one outfit after another, happy to work with such a gorgeous girl. Each time the salesman started conservative and progressed towards ever more revealing until they had her without a bra, showing lots of leg and cleavage.

One guy followed her into the dressing room to help with a zipper. After we left the store she told me he saw her completely naked and spotted her device and asked what it was. She showed him up close and he quickly licked her. He wanted to make her cum but they had no time. When she exited the dressing room she looked ready to explode.

Back at the hotel we ventured to the nude beach and Jen turned heads everywhere. Those closest to us saw her contraption too and all the attention had Jen squirming with lust and me half hard.

We'd been laying out about an hour when I saw a black guy walking towards us. He looked familiar but I could place him. He had a nice body and his dick was pretty big so I mentioned him to Jen and she turned to look.

"Shit," she muttered. "He works at the front desk. He saw me with Ansell."

He spread his towel fairly close and rubbed lotion all over and Jen watched him.

"You getting ideas?" I teased.

"Always."

"You've never been with a black man."

"I know. A girl wonders."

We soaked up rays for a time as the sun moved towards the horizon. Most everyone had folded up and headed back but we still had scattered beach-goers around us here and there.

He kept looking over at us as if deciding something and then he rose from his towel and introduced himself as Clark. He joined us and we all acted as if hanging out naked together was totally normal. He was lean, tending towards skinny, and his voice was a little high-pitched. He was also funny as fuck, with a quick sharp wit. He told us stories about clients over the years that had us dying with laughter. He was an especially dark black. His skin was just a shade lighter than coal and he seemed to have not an ounce of fat on him anywhere.

He moved from sitting to lying on his side facing us and his black cock and balls flopped down to our blanket. Jen was already so worked up I thought she would scream. She sat up a little and moved her legs and now her pussy was aimed at Clark. As they talked she slowly parted her knees. I know he saw her silver. His cock started to swell, his balls to lift.

I drank the moment in. I loved it so much. My wife was a pot of honey and drew bees in from all around the world. She noted his reaction and in her present state stared right at his penis, which only made it swell faster. He grew embarrassed and looked out to sea, unsure what the rules were. Jen could stand no more.

"Clark?" Her voice was soft.

He faced her. She opened her legs wider. His eyes got big and then he looked at me. I grinned, loving how I had tied Jennifer in a sexually frustrated knot.

“Bring it to me,” she finished. Clark swallowed hard and looked at me again. His eyes went to Jen and traveled from toes to hair and back down again. His dick got hard fast but he hadn't budged from his spot.

“I have a girlfriend,” he squeaked.

“I have a husband,” she replied.

“Oh man. You're so hot. Okay, fuck it.”

He crawled on his belly between her legs and fastened his mouth to the pussy. His cheeks moved and Jen groaned and settled back into the sand under her towel. Clark ate her soft and slow and Jen put both hands on his head and by the movement in his cheeks I knew he fucked her with his tongue. She let him go for a while but this girl needed cock.

She checked on mine and when she saw I was stiff she gave a satisfied nod. She lifted Clark's chin and pulled his face up her body and between her legs. His body followed and seconds later he lay atop her, his dark skin a sexy contrast against hers. Her legs hooked around his waist, her arms circled his neck. I thought they would kiss but instead he looked down between their bodies at his cock an inch from her pussy.

Jen gave him no time to think. She slipped a pale hand between their stomachs and found his shaft and searched for her hole using his dick. When she found it she pulled him forward. Clark grunted in pleasure as my wife's hot pussy enveloped him. His black cock looked amazing sliding in. She moved her hands to his ass and pulled him deep until she'd captured all he had.

They rested like that a moment, enjoying the sensation of someone new, and then Clark started to fuck her. He lowered his mouth and sucked her nipples and Jen was ready to explode in record time. Clark probably thought he was an amazing lover.

“Faster,” she urged.

Clark worked his hips and Jen's pussy began to make sloshing sounds.

“I'm there,” she breathed. “I'm there, I'm there, oh my God don't stop! Ahhgghhhh!”

Jen went off like a bomb. This was her first time cumming while wearing her new trinket and it did a number on her G-spot. She flailed and moaned loudly. Her legs fell open and landed with a thud on the towel and her arms slid off him too. Clark fucked her limp and thrashing body, oblivious to the powerful orgasm that shook her. He watched her big tits bounce and his cock slid in and out of the gorgeous white girl. She was still in the midst of her orgasm when he threw his head back and drove his dick all the way in and began spurting his hot seed into her. He came a lot.

When they'd finished Jen wrapped her arms and legs around him again and held him close as he wilted. Finally, he pulled out and rolled on his side. Jen gazed up at the evening sky, happy. In a sign of how young he was, Clark said he needed to get going as he had the night shift. His cock still drooled semen as he stood and shook my hand. As he collected his things, Jen lifted her head and spoke.

“Clark, come by our room after work. I've never sucked a black cock before and I want to suck yours.”

He said he would and headed for the hotel. I scanned the beach and we had a couple admirers but no one approached us. Most of them, inspired by what they'd just seen, were busy kissing each other. Jen let her head fall back onto the towel and began to chuckle.

“Holy Hell, our life is a fantasy, Baby. I fucked a black guy on a beach!”

I kissed her hand and laid next to her, staring up at the sky like she did. Our comfortable silence grew and for a long time we just laid there lost in our own thoughts. She was right; our life was a fantasy.

“I wonder what Claire will do with the videos?” she said.

That night Clark did visit our room but he only had thirty minutes to spare and wanted tell Jen to her face. She dropped to her knees and sucked him off in fifteen and sent him on his way. I have to admit, a hard black cock sure looks good sliding in and out of her pretty face. I loved the way her lips looked sealed around his dark chocolate shaft.

For the rest of our honeymoon we were merely tourists. We saw all the sights and explored the town thoroughly. We enjoyed the history and the culture and by the time our flight home rolled around, we were ready.

On the plane an older woman commented about what love-birds we seemed to be, always touching and speaking so lovingly and respectfully to each other. When she heard we had come to France for our honeymoon she swooned. She told us we were sweet and represented everything right and good in the world and we lightened her heart to see true love still existed. We thanked her for her kind words.

Our new place in Vegas was a simple one-bedroom apartment at the southern end of The Strip. The complex was vast, a mix of one, two, three, and four bedroom apartments, and had three pools, two weight rooms, a tennis court and a basketball court. Across the street was a dog-park for Domino.

Our first few weeks we had the new job jitters and worked extra hours to learn all we needed. Jen hit the weight room after work while I walked the dog and then we both studied until bedtime. I made some friends around the complex and started playing basketball twice a week. Jen stopped by once after the gym and the guys just about had heart attacks. After that they all nick-named me Romeo.

Life, was perfect.

Jen and I made love almost every day. She had the note I'd written and signed framed and hung over our bed. In one way it reminded us to always be honest and true but in another it reminded us of our wild honeymoon and that always got us horny.

Jen and I used weekends to vent some steam. Vegas has an insane night-life and no matter how crazy you are, there is a party for you. Some of them are private and if you know the right people you can get that kinky itch scratched. We didn't know anybody, yet, so we stuck to drinking and dancing and having fun.

A month flew by, then another.

As summer approached the temperature began to climb. Everyone started wearing less and using much lighter fabrics. Some mornings Jen left showing a generous amount of cleavage and leg.

On Friday, my boss, Patrick Mann, announced the company picnic would be held in three weeks at Sunset park with an after party at his home in Red Rock Country Club. At the park the company would pay for all the food and soda and water but not alcohol. "Bring your own if you want it," he told us. Patrick was graying now but I suspected younger he had blonde hair to go with his blue eyes. I informed Jen and she agreed to attend but had a massage appointment earlier that day.

"I'll just meet you there, Honey," she suggested. "I'll be all relaxed and mellow when you take me around and introduce me to your co-workers."

The next three weeks were more of our usual routine.

The day of the barbecue dawned hot and dry and hinted at the brutal Las Vegas summer. I wore swimming trunks and flip-flops and a white tank-top. I got there right on time and helped set everything up; volleyball on the grass and horse-shoes in the dirt. There was a pool and tennis courts and a baseball diamond. I hoped later I'd get a chance to show off my baseball prowess.

After all the benches were covered and the food and drinks laid out I was invited to join a volleyball game. Jen wouldn't arrive for around an hour so why not?

Almost two hours later our game ended and we emerged victorious. I was a little surprised I'd not seen Jen yet but this happened fairly often with her. Actually it happened with every woman I'd ever known including my mother so I thought nothing of it. I grabbed a couple hot-dogs and a soda and found a shady spot under a tree. The sun was high in the sky now and heat built. Many of the girls from work wore shorts and T-shirts but a few of the younger ones had on bikini tops. I was shocked how many females I worked with had nice bodies.

Amy, a petite babe with red hair to her waist and deep blue eyes, wore tight Lycra shorts and a sports bra and just about killed every man there. At work she always dressed in boring, baggy, utterly forgettable outfits and wore her hair in a bun. Who knew?

“May I join you?”

I looked up into the sun's glare. Patrick stood over me with paper plate in hand.

“Of course,” I gushed nervously.

My boss plopped down on the grass next to me. On his plate was a hamburger and potato chips and a scoop of coleslaw. He was just a guy like me. We started off talking about work but I sensed he wanted something more real so I told him about my baseball scholarship and he smiled.

“I went to college on a baseball scholarship too.”

That was it. I was in with the boss. I noticed others leering at me with jealousy. Pat was really just a good old boy at heart. I caught him checking out the ladies and so I made a veiled comment complimenting Amy. He wrestled with his response, scrutinizing me to see if I was trustworthy. He must have liked what he saw.

“Those shorts just about stopped my heart.”

I smiled as he studied my face again. He leaned closer and whispered in co-conspiratorial tones, “And I'm pretty sure she's not wearing a bra.”

My head snapped around. I watched her move around for a minute. As luck would have it, at that moment she reached across a picnic table and her shirt pulled tight. Nope, no bra. I looked back at Patrick and grinned.

“Our little secret,” he chuckled. I liked this guy.

Together we watched Amy walk and sit and talk. She was fucking delicious. After a bit Pat sighed and looked at me.

“Aren't you married?” he asked, jerking his chin at the ring on my finger.

“Yes. She had a morning appointment so we came separately. Actually, I should start looking for her. She's a little late.”

“Okay, let's do that. I'd love to meet her.”

Dear lord, thank you for connecting me to my boss. This was great. Everyone took notice. I knew come Monday, my stock would be sky-high.

Patrick and I wandered the park looking for Jen. We made our way towards the empty baseball diamond, swapping tales of athletic prowess and conquest. I was surprised to learn he was actually drafted by the Dodgers out of college and played triple-A ball for them, for a year before making it to the big leagues for five months. Injury sent him back down to triple-A and then eventually sent him home. He had no regrets.

“You get what life gives you,” he wistfully replied.

We walked on and then he nudged my shoulder.

“Forget about Amy, look at her.”

In the dugout, away from the prying eyes of the party, a brunette rode the lap of a muscular, crew-cut guy. They were both still dressed. He sat the bench with his pants around his knees and she sat atop him, her denim skirt pushed up, her panties shoved to the side, her flower print top lifted over her big tits. The muscles of her back worked and her firm round ass rose and fell. That her body was almost flawless was easy to see in spite of the distance and clothing. I could not see how big he was. She flipped her hair and turned her head.

Jen.

“And she's very pretty too,” Patrick noted. “I know that young man. He drives an armored car for us. Let's leave them alone.”

Jen saw me and froze. I'll never know how I pulled it off but I did. My face was an impassive mask of indifference as I turned to Pat and agreed. She picked up on what I was doing and ignored me in return, flashing me a quick look begging forgiveness as Pat turned away. My hands shook. I pretended to search for my wife until I got the bright idea to look at my cell and fake a message from Jen.

“That explains it,” I announced. “She can't make it. Guess I'm stag today.”

“Women,” was all Pat said. We chatted a bit more and then shook hands and parted company. I circled back around to the dugout just as Jen finished. I hid behind a tree as they quickly adjusted their clothing and shared a goodbye kiss. After a brief verbal exchange, Jen went one way and Crew-cut went the other.

I zipped around and came up next to her.

“Boo.”

“Holy shit! Goddamn it, Paul, don't do that.”

I scanned the park in every direction. We were alone.

“You fucked someone?”

She looked abashed, for a second, and then stood tall.

“Hell yes. Did you see him? What a hunk. I arrived an hour ago, maybe longer, and looked all over for you. He noticed and offered to help and then next thing I know he's kissing me in the dugout and mauling my tits. One thing led to another. I have some pictures on my phone for you.”

“Thoughtful. That guy I was with is my boss and a huge big-shot with the bank. He saw your face. We can never be seen together now.”

“Oops.”

My eyes had started wandering her outfit. Her skirt was knee-length and her top tight. She wore no bra but the busy floral print hid that fact. White Keds completed her ensemble. For her this was conservative and I appreciated her efforts.

“But you fucked someone at my company barbecue,” I stated again.

“I'm allowed to, remember? I've been such a good girl lately. I'm sure you miss the Slut as much as I do.”

I did but that wasn't the point.

“You might as well go home,” I said.

She twisted a shoe in the grass. I raised both eyebrows.

“What?” I asked.

She crossed her arms across her chest.

“He didn't cum,” she admitted. “After you another couple walked by. Then a kid. Then a girl. Then a guy. We stopped and got dressed.”

“So?”

“So since I can't be seen with you I might as well be seen with him. His name is Chaz and all your friends saw us walking around together already. I told him I looked for a friend so he has no idea I'm with you or connected to the barbecue. Nobody knows who I am or that you and I are married. This could be fun.”

“Or you could just go home.” I surveyed the surrounding area again to be safe. Her logic was sound but I still felt like I was gambling my career. I hesitated and Jen chuckled.

“Okay, Paul, I'll make it easy on you.”

I breathed a sigh of relief.

“What's your name again?” she asked.

Confused, I tilted my head like a dog.

“See you later, my mommy told me never talk to strangers.”

She turned her back on me and headed for the party.

Bitch! I thought of nothing to say so just watched her get smaller.

Across the park she approached a crowd and Chaz stepped out from it. I watched them talk and then his arm went around her shoulder. They kissed and my stomach turned sour. I had a bad feeling about all this but what could I do? I considered heading home but then Jen would have a green light. Besides, I wanted to cement my new relationship with Patrick.

“Shit,” I muttered. I headed back to the party.

Jen had a blast with it. Every time I looked her way she and Chaz were all over each other. Nobody cared but me. Patrick and I spoke a few more times and I noted other persons that had never spoken a word to me at work now laughed at my jokes and listened to what I had to say. Sycophants. Lickspittles.

I was deep in a conversation with a guy from Investing when I noted Jen walking away from the party with Chaz. They held hands and rubbed shoulders and I knew what her plans were. My penis swelled and I had to focus on the conversation. When it ended about fifteen minutes later I casually searched for Jen but could not find her. They reappeared about an hour later and I knew in my heart she carried his seed.

We'd not played around for a long time and I felt old familiar feelings coming to life. Too busy and too stressed, we'd put this aspect of our life in storage. Jen had unpacked it. The wind stirred her long brown hair and she turned her face to the sun. God she was a beauty. I ran my eyes down her body, a body Chaz had no doubt just thoroughly enjoyed, and my heart quickened. We were coming up on our ninth anniversary and I loved her more today than ever, and she had just finished fucking another man.

I couldn't take my eyes off her and she knew it. She and Chaz never stopped touching. He was a big-shouldered guy with bulky arms and thick legs. He wore shorts so long they hung passed his knees and an old blue dress shirt. All his friends accepted Jen as his date for the party. I watched for as long as I could and then went for more soda. She tried to drive me crazy and succeeded.

I stuck my hand into the ice water and pulled out a can. As I turned, Patrick made an announcement to the group.

“Alright, everyone, our rental of this space is about to expire. I know many of you have kids at the sitter but I wanted to remind everyone we will continue the day at my home at Red Rock. The flyer had a map or you can text me for the address. Thanks again for coming out and I'll see many of you soon.”

We applauded him for throwing an excellent event and then wandered off to do our own thing. Many people started collecting their belongings. I wondered if Chaz would head to Patrick's place. If I was him I'd forget about that and take this hot babe home and fuck her. I was suddenly anxious about Jen and her plans. I found her in the crowd and tracked her, hoping to get a minute alone to ask. When she stepped to the ice chest I threw my new soda away and went for another. Chaz spoke to her as I got close.

“He has a pool and a Jacuzzi and a sauna. He has a huge home theater and a game room. The guy is loaded. I want to take you home but I really should at least let him see my face there. What do you think? Will you go with me?”

I held my breath. Jen caught me eavesdropping.

“Oh hell yes, Chaz. Your dick is much bigger than my husband's. I'm going to need it again before I go back to him.”

Chaz smiled like a fool. He opened a Diet Coke for her and handed it over and then a Coke for himself. She took his free hand in hers and led him away, tossing one devious smile over her shoulder at me when she knew she wouldn't get caught. Three steps later, still holding hands, Jen turned him to face her and kissed him deeply. I had to look away.

At the house it was much harder to keep track of her. I got pulled into one conversation after another and there were so many rooms and hallways doors. His front yard was huge but his back yard was gigantic. In fact, it never officially ended. With no back wall it just started climbing until it became a mountain.

Only about fifteen people made it from the park to the house. Many had kids but the Vegas heat had wiped out most of them. I prowled the grounds looking for my wife but after three passes still had not found her. I stopped in the kitchen for a tumbler of whiskey and then started out again. As I walked through the game room I looked out the French door to the Jacuzzi just in time to see Amy drop her towel and stick a toe in. She wore a white one-piece cut high over her hips and low in front and back. Three persons sat in the tub waiting for her to get in and a quick scan showed me Jen, Chaz, and another guy I did not recognize. Jen was seated between the men.

Amy stepped in but only to her knees and wrung her hands at how hot the water was. I couldn't hear them through the door but the three laughed as Amy wrestled with the temperature. Amy's nipples slowly transformed into iron pebbles exposing just how thin her swimsuit was. She stepped down and bent her legs until the water rose to her chin but remained submerged only ten or twenty seconds. Everyone laughed, including Amy, when she moved back up to the bench and the water was once again only to her knees.

I would say she might as well be nude but she looked better than nude. The sheer suit gave a delightful tease of transparency and clung to her like film. Although covered, her body was revealed. We saw every curve, every dip and dent, every long feminine line. She looked delicious. Nobody laughed now.

She lowered her gaze to her own body and then to each of her companions. A wry smile curled her mouth and she seemed to shrug and say, "Oops," before settling back underwater again.

When it comes to sports, Jen is the most competitive woman I know. Unlike other women, however, she will not compete with women socially or for attention. So, when she rose from the water minutes later to cool off, I knew it was truly because she was just too warm. I did not recognize the suit she wore and suspected she and Chaz must have stopped for it on the drive over. A small triangle covered each nipple, larger triangles covered her pussy and ass. Thin silver chains connected them, displaying even more skin. The two guys gawked but Amy practically drooled. I noted Jen's pussy jewelry raised tiny lumps in the fabric and wondered if anyone else noticed too.

I realized I'd been standing in a dark room spying on girls in bathing suits so I abruptly moved on. I felt like a genius for wearing swimming trunks.

I worked my way through the rooms leading out back, picking up a bath towel along the way, and then innocently joined the foursome. All of them were once again up to their chins. I took a spot between the two guys. Introductions were made. We had room for one more, but just barely. As it was arms and legs touched from time to time.

I pretended to ignore them all and just soak my aching body. Bobby, the one guy I did not recognize, told me I played volleyball very well. I thanked him. Amy turned to me.

“I thought your wife was coming today?”

“She was but last minute complications kept her home. Something is always coming up with her but she handles it.”

Amy nodded. “I don't have that problem; I broke up with my boyfriend eight weeks ago. At first I was sad but now I kind of like it.”

Jen chimed in. “I get that, Amy. Lucky for me my husband is very open-minded.”

“Husband? I thought you were here with Chaz.”

“I am.”

“Oh. OH.” Understanding bloomed.

Bobby asked Amy something and they turned to face each other. Chaz kissed Jen and I noted his arm moving underwater. He appeared to be rubbing her tits. Bobby and Amy kept talking and I tilted my head back again and narrowed my eyes to slits. A moment later Amy jumped, startled, but said nothing. I noticed Jen shoulder moving slightly and realized my wife ran her hand over Amy, who made no move to stop her. Amy tried to carry on her conversation with Bobby but now her words were jerky and disconnected. Jen felt up Amy and Bobby had no idea.

A few minutes later Bobby said he wanted a dip in the pool and Chaz said he'd go with him. Both men left our little pond. I was shocked how big Chaz was. He had to be a power-lifter or something. Amy watched them leave and then looked at me. Satisfied my eyes were closed, she floated the few feet separating them and kissed Jen deeply.

“You are so gorgeous,” she gushed.

“You're the sexy one,” Jen countered. “Let's ditch these boys for a little while and go find an empty room?”

This was clearly way out of Amy's league but she nervously nodded her head many times. Jen smiled and lifted from the water, holding Amy's hand.

“Hey,” she croaked at me and I opened my eyes. “Tell those guys to wait. Amy and I need to discuss girl stuff. Cool?”

Her performance was flawless. No one watching would have any idea Jen knew me or had ever spoken to me before that moment. Our eyes met and I gave a quick nod.

“Thanks.”

Both girls rose to the deck and wrapped towels around their waist. Jen led them away. After a while the guys returned and my story satisfied them. Bobby talked about Amy and how hot she was and Chaz bragged about Jen. I listened and made occasional comments but mostly enjoyed hearing all the high praise for Jen. Apparently others at the party had congratulated Chaz on his date and he felt pretty good about himself.

Almost an hour later, the girls returned. Amy looked dreamy and Jen looked carnivorous. Amy's suit was a little stretched out around the plunging collar but I was the only one that spotted that. I was sure Jen had feasted on this sexy beauty and Amy had eaten her first pussy.

Once more underwater, Jen floated to Chaz and settled on his lap. This raised her up enough her tits were above water and all of us; Bobby, Amy, and myself, ogled them. My wife draped her arms around his neck and they kissed sweetly.

After a minute I heard Bobby mumble an apology to Amy but for what I couldn't tell. A minute later he said it again but Amy drifted closer to him.

“It's okay,” she breathed. I saw her arms working.

Chaz worked his arms too and soon Jen gasped. Water sloshed even more than the jets caused it to. Jen's mouth opened and her eyelids fluttered and I swear I saw her sink down onto his cock.

Bobby laid his head on the deck as Amy jacked him off underwater. I was sure one of his hands caressed her tits. I felt out of place but no way was I leaving. Bobby tensed after a minute and I presume shot his load into the swirling water.

Chaz and Jen were on a different pace. These two successfully shut out the rest of the world and lost themselves in each other. Bobby said goodnight and rose from the tub but Amy and I ignored him. Chaz and Jen drew our full attention now.

They were a sexy, sensuous couple. Chaz kissed her throat and clavicle, her shoulders and chin. He lifted her hand from the water and kissed the back of it. Amy drank it all in. I got the impression her boyfriend had been a poor lover and Amy learned a lot tonight.

Jen abruptly moved away from Chaz and stood.

“We need a room,” she said, breathing heavy.

“I can take you to one,” Amy squeaked, hopeful.

Chaz and Jen eyed each other and Jen grinned.

"I'd love that," my wife offered. This time Chaz smiled.

He stood and stepped out of the tub. His erection was back in his shorts, of course, but the wet fabric clung and we all saw a fat ten-inch tube running down his leg. Amy gawked openly and Jen gave it a gentle squeeze.

"Goodnight," she said to me.

"Goodnight," I replied.

They all wrapped themselves in towels and headed into the house.

I stayed in the water until the timer ran out and then moved to the home theater to watch the Avengers movie. Five others were in there already, all male, two of whom were sleeping. Two hours later Amy joined me. I raised a questioning eyebrow and she shook her head and glanced around to make sure it was safe to speak.

"Chaz is a God," she began. "I probably shouldn't tell you this but I have to tell someone and you seem sweet. I can trust you, right?"

"Absolutely."

She leaned in and lowered her voice further. "I had my first threesome, ever!" Barely contained excitement strained her voice. "Jen is soooo gorgeous, I couldn't believe I was touching her. Girls like that always see right through me. My hands are still trembling. Her pussy lips are pierced and she wears jewelry down there! She's a fucking rock-star. Chaz took turns fucking us. I've only ever been with my ex-boyfriend and he was this big."

She held a thumb up.

"Chaz is huge. Jen is still with him but I couldn't take anymore."

She leaned so close her forehead touched my shoulder. "I had an orgasm! That's never happened to me before. I'm so embarrassed but it was awesome! I get the feeling there's a lot more to sex that I don't know about."

Sweet girl. I wanted to give her a hug. Her enthusiasm was contagious.

"You should get his number so he can do it again," I suggested, admittedly trying to distract Chaz away from Jen. I worked with him, after all.

"Oh, I did. We all exchanged numbers. It was Jen's idea. She's so confident. She sees what she wants and she goes after it. Her husband must be hung like a horse because she is in love with big dicks. I want to be like her. I'm going to call her so we can hang out."

Well, shit. While I loved the idea of hot Amy hanging out at our apartment and Jen teaching her a thing or two, it sure complicated my life. I wanted nobody at work to find out but especially not Patrick. Was Amy trustworthy? I sensed she was but if you truly want to keep a secret, tell no one.

Amy wore her swimsuit, now dry, and sitting forward caused the front to gap. Two tempting globes topped by small pink cones stared back at me. I needed to fuck Jen right now. Amy went on a little longer about how amazing her night, Chaz, and Jen were before deciding it was time to go home. I walked her to the door and gave her a hug. Yeah, I wanted to fuck her. She had a nerdy side that really got to me.

After she left I searched for a bathroom and proceeded to get completely lost in Patrick's huge home. As I walked down a dark hallway I noticed a figure peeking intently through a slightly open door. I stepped back into an alcove to watch.

From the room I heard a lovely feminine moan and the figure at the door nudged it open another half inch. He checked the hallway but did not see me and then pulled his zipper down to fish out his penis. In the quiet I heard a man speak from inside the room.

“Clamp your pussy down on me. Yeah, like that. Fuck you're tight.”

“Fuck you're thick,” I heard my wife reply.

“Squeeze him when I pinch your nipple,” I heard Chaz say.

What the hell was going on?

Voices came down the hallway towards us and the figure at the door hurried away before he was caught. Two guys that looked vaguely familiar and I'm sure worked for the bank in some way approached the door. They knocked once and opened it wide.

Inside the room I saw Jen stretched out across a king-sized bed. Patrick was between her legs, which she had up and wrapped around his waist, and I could barely make out half of his beefy cock buried in her. Chaz stood by her head, nude and soft and hanging down around eight inches, holding her hand and torturing a nipple. Another man I only somewhat recognized stood down by her feet, watching Pat's thick cock saw in and out of my wife. He was about the same size as me, hard as rock and clearly waiting his turn with her. Jen had her hands on Patrick's shoulders and they gazed into each other's eyes as he smoothly pumped her.

“You want my cum?” he asked.

“I do.”

“Same place where Chaz dumped his?”

“God yes. I love feeling men cum inside me.”

“You're a very naughty girl. That ring says you're married.”

“I am.”

“Does your husband know how bad you are?”

“Unngh, not really. He knows I love it but he doesn't know how much. Words can't express. I fucking love cock. Now shut up and fuck me.”

Pat did as instructed. For an older guy he was pretty studly. He seemed so nice and conservative I was shocked he had this going on in a back bedroom of his house. Clearly they'd all done something like this before.

The late arrivals closed the door and that was it for me. I stood there listening to muffled voices for about a minute. Inside that room my wife got gang-fucked. Not only did I not participate, I couldn't even watch. Other than the sounds coming through the wall there was no part of this for me. I hated it. I was reminded of her day spent alone with Ansell and how hard that was, but this was much worse; Ansell was a stranger to me who I'd never see again. I worked with these guys. Every day I'd see them and know they'd had Jen right under my nose. It was torture.

I returned to the theater room. Only one person remained and he slept soundly on a couch. I dropped in Guardians of the Galaxy and hit play. I sank into the cushions to sulk. I was well passed halfway when the first guy came downstairs and left. One by one they trickled down, collected their belongings and departed. Chaz joined a man on the pool deck smoking a cigar. At last Patrick entered the room and looked around and, seeing me, joined me on the couch.

“Have fun?” I asked.

He smiled briefly. “Oh yes, she's a tigress. I trust I can count on your discretion? I expected you would join in but I suppose you are happily married?”

I gave a quick nod.

“Understood. Come see me in my office on Monday. There is a project I want you involved with.”

He shook my hand and wandered off. I accepted he had just purchased my silence with a possible promotion, and it left me feeling a little dirty, but in the end, who gives a fuck.

I saw Pat step out onto the deck and settle into a conversation with Chaz and the other gentleman. I made my way upstairs to Jen.

She tied her bikini into place as I opened the door. Her gaze met mine and her face relaxed. She was tired but gorgeous. Her dreamy, well-fucked eyes melted my heart. Her legs trembled and her hair was all over the place but to me she was an erotic vision of loveliness.

“Hi,” I said.

“Hi yourself. I’m wiped out.”

“Let’s get out of here.”

“Can’t, Stranger. Chaz is giving me a ride back to my car. I’ll see you at home. You might as well take off now. I’ll be there in about thirty to forty-five. I’ll make sure he doesn’t follow me.”

Fucking Chaz again. I was starting to hate that guy. I had to laugh, though. I bet this barbecue turned out nothing like he’d expected. I risked a quick kiss and she tasted like six kinds of cum, and it turned me on. Jen noted my expression and giggled.

“How do I taste?”

“Decadent.”

“Wait until you taste my pussy,” she teased, her voice low and sexy.

I found Chaz and Patrick out on the deck and said my good-nights. Patrick reminded me about Monday and I thanked him for an excellent party. I played with my dick all the way home. I had just pulled into the garage when my phone buzzed. I checked and Jen had sent the pictures she’d taken for me. When Chaz is fully erect veins stand out like earthworms all over him. I knew Jen would love that.

Inside I opened a beer and waited. My phone buzzed again and I opened a video of Jen sucking his big cock one last time. She was exhausted but determined. Chaz held the camera but his hand bounced all around. I heard him encourage her until his voice peaked and he shot her mouth full. The screen went black.

I’d over-heard Jen say her husband did not understand the true depth of her cock-fetish, but this last sight helped me understand better. She was obsessed. I felt a warm glow spread throughout my body as I realized we still had lots to explore.

I heard the garage door open and close and then she stepped inside the house. Clunk as her keys hit the bowl and thump as her purse hit the counter-top. Click click click of heels and then there she was, a vision of lascivious delight.

She loved these moments as much as I. She'd driven home in her bikini top and denim skirt, and both went flying. As always the signs of her wanton behavior thrilled me. I approached and we kissed tenderly as she removed my pajamas. My penis sprang up but she ignored it. She pressed on my shoulders and I realized she wanted me to eat her. I considered for a moment what she must carry inside but gave in. My tongue sank into a morass of tangy, slippery, viscous cum. She moaned deeply and sank into the love-seat.

Partly I ate to make her cum again and partly I ate to fully enjoy my slutty wife. The presence of other men fueled my lust. I ignored what, exactly, I tasted and focused on what it meant. This was their essence and they'd pumped her full of it. With so much fluid pregnancy was always a risk and that, too, fueled me. I swirled my tongue faster and Jen tensed, getting closer to climax. Her hands slipped down to my head to hold my mouth in place.

"I'm not seeing Chaz again," she murmured and I was surprisingly disappointed. "But I am seeing Patrick. Tomorrow, for lunch, while you're at work."

I moaned and licked faster.

"Aaahh, I already know what I'm going to wear. Unnngh, shit, Baby. Chaz is nice to look at but not too bright. Patrick is dreamy. He's old-fashioned with a kinky twist. His cock is so thick!"

She ground her pussy against my mouth, chasing her orgasm. I backed off, hoping for more details.

"Baby, I'm going to fuck him again, tomorrow, in his car!"

Her voice spiked on the last word as her orgasm hit her. Just the idea of a scandalous rendezvous was enough to set her off. Her pussy clenched and gushed and I gulped her wet excitement along with everything else. She squealed and gripped my hair and came in her husband's mouth. I softly teased her clit until she could no longer stand it. She was utterly exhausted and had nothing more to give but I didn't care. I walked my knees up to the cushion and pushed my penis into her swampy dripping cunt. In minutes I added my load to theirs. I carried her to our bed.

I visited Pat first thing Monday morning and he introduced me to Grant Thomas, Project Director. I knew beyond any doubt my career was off and running. I spent the rest of the day with my eyes glued to Patrick's door and when he left for lunch, my stomach flipped and flopped. Minutes ticked by like hours until, two hours later, Jen sent me a text.

“Wow.”

I shot back one text after the other asking for details but received nothing. Not until I got home that night. As soon as I walked in the door Jennifer was a fountain of details. Patrick alone was not at all like Patrick in a group.

“Baby! He was so rough with me! He pulled my hair and slapped my ass hard. I fought back and he loved it. We wrestled in the backseat until he called a halt and drove us to the Four Seasons. He fucked my brains out! What a stud.”

I dragged her to the bedroom and she went on as she undressed.

“I was right about him being kinky. He asked if I took birth control and when I said I couldn't he got really excited. He loves trying to knock-up pretty girls. He asked if I would be open to that and if I did become pregnant just let my husband believe it was his own. Can you imagine, Honey? He offered to pay for anything and everything, if I wanted to keep it or not. He was so hot to impregnate me I got incredibly turned on. Isn't that sexy, Baby? A man wants me to have his baby? Every guy I've fucked up to him just wanted sex with me. Patrick wants to conceive with me. He has two girls around town he sends money to and I got the impression he sends them a lot.”

Now nude, she stepped closer and looked up into my eyes.

“Would that turn you on, Paul? Can you imagine another man's baby in my tummy?”

I could and although I hated admitting it, I was getting more turned on by the second. Talk about breaking taboos. Is there one greater? Isn't that the ultimate? Your wife carrying another man's child? I shoved her onto the bed and forced her legs apart. She looked down at my stiff erection.

“I thought that would be your reaction, Baby. Of course, I seriously doubt he can do it but I'm telling him yes, fuck me like you're trying to get me pregnant. He's going to ravage me. Oh my God that's so hot!”

I was moving up her body when my dick started spurting! I wasn't inside her yet and my nuts contracted and a blast of hot cum shot up her body and landed on her tits. Her face was shocked and I'm sure mine was too. She started laughing.

“Oh hell yes, Baby! You like that idea too?” She reached down and milked me with her hand. “I’m going to take every drop, lover. Your boss is going to empty his balls inside me every day. What will you do? I see you at your desk going insane on the inside.”

My penis stayed hard. Her hand felt amazing but the idea had seized hold of my mind. She slid me inside and then began rubbing her clit.

“I love his fat cock. I love the way he just takes me. He’s such a man. Fuck, Baby, I’m gonna cum too aaaaaaarrrrggh!”

We lay in a tangle, panting and dazed. Jen moved first, turning her head to face me.

“I never got a chance to tell you. He still has that hotel room. I’m meeting him there tonight at eight. Now that I know how his desires affect you, I’m sending him a text right now. Hand me my purse.”

I didn’t move. Was this a bad idea? Were we allowing our sex drive to get ahead of us?

Jen reached over me to the nightstand and found her phone. I listened silently as her finger tapped out the little beeps of her message. My head spun; my wife was telling another man to put a baby in her. She was right; he was old and no doubt would have a difficult time, but the idea was exhilarating, euphoric. My penis, still a semi, started to fill again.

Jen hit send. She looked at me with madness in her eyes. Ansell had first introduced this idea to us but it was all incidental; if something happened, then it did. Patrick was deliberate. Patrick was intentionally dangerous. She noticed I was hard again and slid down my chest to take me in her mouth. After sucking for a minute she looked up at me.

“I have a very naughty idea.”

“What?” I asked, nervous.

She sucked another minute and then popped me out of her mouth.

“How about for the next few weeks you wear a condom?”

I was stunned.

She continued. “Can you imagine the agony? Only he is free to cum inside your wife? I know that would tie you in knots. I know you would love it. Never mind; I’m doing it. Paul, Honey, until the end of the month I’m afraid my pussy belongs to your boss. Cum in my mouth, love. My pussy is off limits.”

Why did I get so excited? She sucked hard and I thought about what she’d said and again I came way too fast. She swallowed and crawled up my body to rest her head on my shoulder.

“Fuck this is crazy hot,” she exhaled.

I was in shock, I think, because I said nothing.

Her phone buzzed with Patrick's reply.

“He's thrilled,” she read. “He can't wait to see me tonight. I'm going to tell him what I've done. I'll say I told my husband I'm having woman issues and my pussy is out of commission; no sperm, he has to wear protection. Patrick will love knowing that he alone is filling me. Oh, Paul, this is insane. I'm so excited I'm shaking.”

We lay together for twenty minutes or so, each lost in their own thoughts. A voice in my head told me I should protest but I didn't. She was right; this was crazy hot. I did not understand why, at all, but it was.

Eventually she leaned over to see the clock and rose from our bed.

“I have to get ready. I'd love for you to buy some condoms while I'm with him and send me a picture. I want to show him while he's fucking me.”

Good Lord, she's devious. Her mind works like an Inquisitor.

I watched her walk to our shower.

An hour later she was ready to leave and she looked stunning. Black high heels matched her black lace thigh-high stockings, which matched her tight little black dress. The hem stopped about an inch above the stocking top so a band of pale flesh circled each thigh. The dress had laces at the throat which she had undone all the way down between her big tits. The sleeves came to her elbows. She rarely wears make-up so what she had on made her eyes pop. Her hair was curled all around her face. No longer a hot college co-ed, I faced an experienced woman. She seemed determined to give Patrick a heart-attack. I knew better than to try to touch her.

She held my face and gave me a kiss on the lips.

“Remember the condoms,” she said as she left.

I waited twenty minutes and then angst drove me out the door. Why did this time feel so different? We'd done this or something similar many times but my heart raced, my palms sweat, and I could not fully fill my lungs with air. My whole body ached with longing and tension.

I walked to the drugstore instead of driving. I needed the physical activity. The Vegas night was hot and I broke a sweat within the first fifty feet but I knew that was also because my heart raced. I stepped into the cool refrigerated air and shivered. By now he fucked her. I tried to picture his face when he opened the door and saw what she wore and I actually smiled. Lucky fucker.

At the pharmacy I purchased a box of twenty-four condoms. Probably too much but I wanted to send a message to them both. Outside I set it atop a trashcan and snapped several pictures with my phone. Why the fuck was I playing along? I selected the best two and sent them to Jennifer. I stuffed everything back into the plastic bag and headed for home. I'm sure she told him her husband promised to buy condoms and was just showing her he had.

She got home around midnight. Her stockings were torn as was her dress. Her ass was covered with red hand prints. I had to see her pussy close up, which turned her on, and she showed me a hole flooded with milky cream. I wanted to fuck her ass but she insisted I fuck her pussy wearing protection. She wanted to see me do it.

I did it but I felt almost nothing. Patrick dumped so much cum into her over four hours I just slipped all around. The latex cut my sensitivity and if not for the fact the sight of her cum infused cunt drove me bat-shit crazy, I most likely would not have been able to stay hard. It took me a long time but eventually I filled the rubber reservoir and my orgasm was surprisingly powerful. Jen pulled my penis out slowly and snapped a picture. I remembered Alex and she doing something similar but my condom tip held a tablespoon of sperm. His had filled the prophylactic more than an inch.

Jen saw him after work again the next day. I worried as the excitement wore off I'd just end up hurt and angry but that's not what happened. Each day was like a roll of the dice, another spin of Russian Roulette, and as the conception-odds went up, so did my dick. After a week Jennifer was in a constant state of extreme arousal. Patrick always made time for her and his desire increased after each time they did it. His home was on the outskirts of town so the first few times they met at a high-rise luxury hotel but that was way too visible. Patrick suggested a sex club, The Green Door, which was strategically located an almost equal distance from home and work. Inside was dark and private and Patrick knew Jen would love the audience, and she did.

The sex she described with him was intense. He was a dominant, aggressive man and used his weight and strength against her all the time. She said Pat did some things similar to Ansell but always more assertive and forceful. She admitted she was surprised by how much she loved submitting to him. When I suggested next time she wear her dog collar from our honeymoon. She clapped her hands and went looking for it. After she told me Patrick loved it.

As we entered the second week of my torture and torment, on Monday Patrick left work an hour early. Minutes later I got a text from Jen that she'd be a little later getting home tonight. I replied I understood and asked why but she did not respond.

I pulled into our garage and hit the close button and entered our home and a blur of pink smashed into and wrapped me in her arms.

“Surprise!”

I twisted around and found myself face to face with Tina, Jen's younger sister. She had deep red hair now and wore a pink wife-beater and red panties. I saw the opened bottle of Tequila on the kitchen counter top behind her and a single shot glass next to it. She hugged me fiercely.

“Hi brother in law! Did you miss me? Don't answer, I know you did.”

She laid her head on my chest and squeezed hard. We hadn't seen her since Jen and I left Madison and moved to Vegas. I was happy to see here but her timing sucked.

“Where's Jenny?” she asked, looking around.

“Working late. I see you found the alcohol.”

“Hell yes.” She let go and poured herself another shot. One gulp and it was gone. She didn't even flinch. College education indeed. She wiped her lips with a finger.

“Is someone fucking Jenny right now?”

Boom. Right to the heart.

“Yes.”

“Who? Her boss?”

“Mine.”

She downed another shot. “That's hot. Show me your cock.”

This girl made Jennifer look like a nun.

“No.”

“Fine.” She stepped towards me and began unbuckling my belt. Maybe it was retribution for the condom thing or maybe it was her amazing body and gorgeous face, but I let her. She pushed my pants and underwear to my knees. I was filling with blood already and her eyes on me hastened the process. She gave me a wicked smile.

“That's a pretty cock. I've always loved it from the moment I first saw it. You ready to cheat on my sister with me?”

“No.” Good Lord things with Tina always escalated rapidly.

“Just makes me want you more.”

She held her hands behind her back and watched me harden. I took the opportunity to examine every fucking inch of her. She was hotter than ever and now also possessed confidence and aggression. The thin wife-beater followed every curve as it stretched around her big tits and hugged her torso. Her sheer panties reveal a hint of vulva if one stared and I did. College athletics had firmed her body but she was still softer and smoother than Jennifer. Tina belonged in Playboy. The longer I gazed at her the harder I got. I rose up until throbbed, thick and hard and rigid. She licked her lips.

“My sis is a lucky girl. Let me know the second you change your mind.”

“Will do.”

Normally I would now put my dick away but I left it out. We couldn't touch but I liked her eyes on me.

“What's your bosses name? Will Jenny share him with me?”

“Where's David?”

She sighed. “David stayed at home. He couldn't get away. I needed a break. This year has been tough. I'm not as smart as Jenny.”

“None of us are.”

She scoffed. “Whatever. Even Jenny says you're smarter than her. You're smarter than any of my friends. Professor Evan might be smarter than you.”

I did not know Professor Evan so I said nothing.

“Bosses name?”

“Patrick. Forty something, graying, okay body. Jen says he's really thick but mostly she likes him because he's really rough.”

Her eyes flashed interest. “Oh, that sounds intriguing. Why aren't you there watching?”

“He doesn't know Jen is my wife. They met separately and she fucked him and now I have to stay away. As long as he thinks I have dirt on him he will move me up the corporate ladder. The second he learns Jen is my wife, I lose.”

She laughed. “I bet Jenny loves that.”

“She does indeed.”

She did another shot. From the back her body looked just as delicious. The red panties were low-rise booty style so a thin band of lace curled over the top of each firm butt cheek. For the millionth time I questioned my loyalty to Jennifer. Nobody got to me like her little sister. And as the years pass Tina just gets hotter. She downed her shot and turned around, catching me ogling her. She smiled.

“I love it when you do that.” She peeled her tank top off and set her tits wobbling. My penis surged red and hard. “Can I suck it?”

I sighed. Fuck. I wanted her badly, but touching her would change everything and I did not want those changes.

“Sadly, no.”

She pouted and pushed her panties down and off. Her small vulva was hairless. She knelt before my erection and began playing with herself so I took my dick in hand and stroked. She bit her bottom lip and lifted a tit with her free hand. She came quickly and easily. When I did a minute later I aimed my jizz away from her. My gut told me we had already crossed a line so I wasn't going to make it worse by blasting her face with semen.

As casually as pouring a glass of water, she stepped back into her panties and pulled on her top. I put my deflating penis away.

“Do a shot with me?”

I did. We settled in and talked about our life in Vegas and her last year of college.

Jennifer got home three hours later, walking in on weak legs. Tina pounced on her and they both screamed with laughter. They have a way of talking that leaves me bewildered; fast, chaotic, and layered. They'll jump around and somehow each know which question is being answered or what that laugh is supposed to go with. No thanks.

I left them alone and took a shower. When I came back they had moved to the living room couch and the bottle was between them. Tina still wore the wife-beater and panties and Jen had stripped to loose white camisole and panties too. At the moment Jen was on her back and almost swallowed by cushions. Her legs were wide open and her panties dangled from an ankle and Tina was on her knees between Jen's legs. My heart skipped a beat as it looked like Tina ate her sister's pussy but then I heard her speak.

“It's so delicate and pretty! Does it feel good?”

“It feels amazing,” Jen replied. “I got it on our honeymoon and it drives me crazy all day. Paul bought some attachments and each of them do something different to me. My favorite is this little hook ornament that goes inside my hole and rubs my G-spot at the same time it exposes my clit. I usually can't wear it for more than a few hours. It's fucking intense.”

I left them alone to catch up and got on the computer in our office. The comfort level of those sisters astonished. Tina was inches from her sister's genitalia and it was like she examined a new earring or nose piercing. No big deal.

I signed on and visited Tina's Facebook page to see what she'd been up to. There was David, her boyfriend, smiling as they barbecued at Lake Mendota. David was like me and loved to watch Tina fuck but they took things to a much higher level. She often made him suck the dicks before she fucked them. After this much time he was probably accustomed to it. He sure looked happy in all his pictures. Of course, I couldn't give him too much shit because I had once done the same for Jen.

I was sure Jen and Tina discussed Patrick. No doubt Tina would want some too and I was sure Jen would share. Patrick was about to fuck two hot young babes and didn't even know it. Lucky fucker. I left Facebook and signed into my blog. I updated my online journal when Jen slipped her arms around my neck.

“Tina is going to bed. You want to say goodnight?”

“Yes, thank you. How was tonight, with Patrick?”

She squeezed my neck a little tighter.

“Amazing.” She took my hand and placed it on her lower belly, my pinkie resting on the elastic of her white panties. We both knew what she did; under my hand a hundred million sperm swam and hunted, none of them mine. I shifted in my seat as heat grew in my penis. Her times with Patrick were so different from all our other escapades. I was all the way outside this time. I was aroused by it but in very different, purely psychological ways. Since only a condom awaited me, most of my lust ended up directed inwards where it churned. It was a slower, deeper burn but lasted for weeks. This was our most dangerous game.

I lifted the elastic band and slipped my hand inside, and then a finger inside her pussy. She was a slippery mess. I pulled my hand out and circled my thumb against my finger. Patrick, from his big balls to her pussy to my finger. She stuck my finger in her mouth.

“That's mine,” she teased.

Jen went to our bedroom while I said goodnight to Tina. She had changed from the red top and panties into just a sheer white top and since she sat atop her bed, I saw everything. God-damn. I said good night and she returned it. I kissed her cheek and head for the bedroom.

Jen waited for me. She'd stripped and stacked the pillows against the headboard and now leaned against them naked, her legs opened partially. On her nightstand a condom awaited. She waved me over to the edge of the bed and pushed my pajama bottoms down. Her mouth swooped and I groaned. I was hard in seconds. I couldn't stop it. She rolled the rubber down my shaft with a wicked smile and opened her legs wider. Her swollen labia greeted me. I will never get tired of that sight. Ever.

Patrick leaked from my wife and my heart ached. I wanted her so badly. I wanted to pump my sperm far up inside her and let it do battle with his. But that was not my fate at the moment. For now, she gave herself exclusively to him.

Our love-making was slow and tender and gentle and when I finally released it left me weak and dizzy. I rolled off her and Jen removed the condom with glee.

“This weekend will be my last time with Patrick. I take the pregnancy test on Monday.”

I opened my eyes and stared at the ceiling. Holy shit. This was really happening. My heart beat faster. I knew felt the same thing when she slid a hand down her stomach and started masturbating.

“I love our life, Paul. I love my life with you. I love all the things I get to do and explore. Can you imagine if I'm carrying his baby? Will it fill you with rage or excitement? Will you want to divorce me or fuck me really hard? I have to admit the timing is perfect. This has to be the most exciting and outrageous caper we've ever undertaken, but I'm ready for it to end. At least for a while. It's too intense. Baby, I cum so hard under him. I'm being such a bad girl.”

I watched her hand gently massage her clit.

“Did you tell Tina?”

“Yes.”

“What was her reaction?”

“She wants to meet him, of course.”

“You going to allow it?”

“I don't think so. Patrick is mine.”

I winced. Her words had so much meaning and emotion behind them. I felt all the hours they'd spent together, all the shared passion and desire, all the incredible satisfaction they'd given each other. She was right; it was time to step back from this. The fact that she wouldn't share him told me volumes.

The next few days were work and then home to hang out with Tina. We watched movies and played games but mostly drank and talked. She was still happy with David and yes, she still fucked guys in front of him, but school had her so busy their sex-life had fallen off to almost nothing. As always, Tina wore outrageously skimpy outfits around our apartment and Jen noticed not at all. Tina was forever her goofy little sister and while Jen could compliment Tina's hot body, she never saw it as something sexual. I did and I loved every night watching Tina parade around almost nude.

Jen skipped Patrick four days in a row to hang out with us but I felt the pressure building. By Friday night Jen needed cock and Tina and I got a text during the day that Jen would be home late. Tina kept my car some days and picked me up from work and Friday was one of them. She wore a sheer sundress as she pulled up to the curb outside my office.

“The bitch dumped us,” she joked. “What do you want to do tonight?”

Tina was not yet legal to drink so a bar or nightclub was out but honestly, I knew I needed to avoid any alone time with Tina. I had the feeling she would try something with me again and I felt vulnerable. This was Jen's last weekend with Patrick and I felt extra justified crossing the line again with Tina, so I knew I had to stay away. Then an idea occurred to me.

“How about PT's Pub?” I suggested. She asked what it was like and after I explained was a little disappointed. I reminded her she wasn't old enough to take advantage of Vegas and she reluctantly agreed.

“The reason I say PT's is so I can watch you in action. I've seen your sister plenty of times but not you. I think it would be hot to watch you flirt with some guy.”

I saw the idea take root.

“Okay,” she agreed.

On the drive there I explained she should go in first and then I'd follow as if I didn't know her. I'd watch the guys in the bar and what she did to them and let her know after. I felt a little strange doing this with her instead of Jen but it was still hot. I checked Google on my phone and directed her to a location away from our place.

I have to give her credit; she was good. She sized up the guys in five minutes and flirted with a tall blonde preppy type. They shot some pool and he only took three minutes to notice whenever she leaned over for her shot he saw down the front of her dress. After that he was all over her. They kissed several times and then left together for twenty minutes. She came back smiling and I found out on our ride home she'd sucked him off in his car. She showed me the pictures he'd taken with her phone. She'd told him she wanted them for herself but actually she sent them to David back home.

“Rules are rules,” she said. Indeed, they are, and I used her words to remind me to behave. Back in the apartment I kept busy and away from Tina. I signed into my blog as she showered and wrote like crazy burning off excess energy.

“What if she gets pregnant?” Tina asked. I hadn't heard her enter my office. I turned to face her and exhaled. She wore one of my blue dress shirts, unbuttoned all the way down, and nothing else. She leaned against the door jab which made half the shirt fall away and expose her ridiculous curves. In one hand she held the Tequila bottle. Her inner lips peeked out between her outer lips in a subtle sign she was already aroused. Her nipple looked a little swollen too. I suspected she'd touched herself in the shower

“We cross that bridge when we get to it.”

“You guys are insane. This is a whole new level of fucking. I have to admit, there's been times I've been with a guy and David watched us and I wondered about conception. It gets a girl pretty hot. Letting a total stranger knock you up is the epitome of slutty. Leave it to Jen to take it and run with it though.”

She moved from the doorway to an over-stuffed reading chair under the window and fell into it. She threw one leg over the arm and her shirt fell completely open. Her perfect tits stared at me. Her pussy was aimed directly at my face and her leg up like that actually parted her labia so I saw inside her. My blood began to boiling my veins. She noticed where my gaze fell and looked down. When she looked up again she was dead serious.

“Fuck me.”

“Holy shit, Tina, I want to so badly. I can't.”

“Fuck your crazy rules. Right now my sister is trying to conceive with another man. Doesn't that give you some rights? At least some flexibility?”

She opened her legs all the way, moving to the edge of the chair cushion. Her tiny hairless cunt beckoned me. She looked so sexy! I chewed my lips and drank in every square inch of her. Fuck! My body and mind screamed at me. This was hot and ready young pussy.

“Goddamn it!” I yelled.

She lifted her legs and bent them back onto her chest. Her big tits spilled to the side. The movement pulled her butt cheeks tight and that opened her pussy like an orchid right at me.

“Fuck me!”

“I can't! I love your sister. I know it's crazy but it would be wrong. I can't”

She put her feet on the floor and sat up. My shirt naturally fell from her shoulders and she made no move to catch it. Now she was completely nude and gloriously firm and fresh. Her red hair flowed over and around her big tits. Neither of us moved for a minute, then two, then three. She looked so good my skeleton ached inside my skin. My dick was cast iron in my pants. Every male hormone I had screamed at me to take her.

But I didn't.

She sighed.

“He's a keeper alright,” she muttered, and then, louder. “No guy has ever resisted me. Fucker. I'm horny now. Show me your big cock. Jack off like the other night.”

“Behave,” I chastised.

She acted hurt. “Relax. You love my big sister, I get it. I'll behave. I just love watching men jack off, especially when they're looking at me.”

I was dying to orgasm so I untied my draw string and pushed down my sweat pants. I began to stroke my erection. She leaned back into the chair and played with herself until we both came just a few minutes later. She put on the shirt, grabbed the bottle of Tequila, and kissed my cheek on the way out. I went back to writing but my whole body trembled and my hands shook. Typing was a bitch.

Jen got home four hours later. I heard her come in and Tina greet her and then their voices fell too low to understand. Laughter erupted here and there so I knew everything was okay. I hurried to finish my paragraph to go out and join them but I heard movement behind me. I turned and there was Jen.

She still wore the lingerie she'd worn for him and she looked stunning. They'd obviously spent the last hours fucking and she wanted me to see everything. She turned slightly side to side, showing off.

"I've always loved it when you look at me in that way," she glowed.

She moved to my arms and we kissed. I was seated so she knelt between my knees and wrapped her arms around me. I kissed the top of her head as we said nothing. After a minute I felt her hands on me and then her warm mouth envelope my penis. I knew she drained me because she was too tired to fuck and also to keep her pussy exclusively for Patrick, but I didn't mind. I was still so worked up from Tina I came quickly, filling my wife's mouth with cum. She went back to holding me.

I was disturbed she refused to share Patrick with Tina. That told me a lot. Clearly, Patrick wasn't merely sex. He was more than that. Jen had formed emotion connections to my boss and felt protective of her relationship with him, and I didn't like that. I pictured her with Patrick, as if they were a couple, and breathing became difficult. Anxiety filled me from the feet up. I'm sure it was some knee-jerk ego defense thing but for revenge I pictured myself with Tina. I enjoyed about two seconds of guilty pleasure and then, imagining Tina as my partner, an idea occurred to me. I chewed on it to be sure and fell asleep sure it would work.

The next morning Jen was bubbly and animated. Tina joined in and I enjoyed a home filled with scantily clad Goddesses dancing and flitting about as they got ready for their day. Jen planned to meet Patrick just after sundown and wanted a new sexy dress to drive him crazy. Both girls walked around completely naked in front of me like it was perfectly normal. They moved through their bathroom routine like professionals, no doubt remembering how they did it as kids under their parent's roof.

At one point Jen needed help with her mascara and Tina stepped close to help. Their big tits touched and then mashed as they concentrated on getting the make-up right and I just about squirted watching those gorgeous sisterly globes rub all over each other. Pervert.

We left the house to run errands and shop and hang-out and did not return until almost dusk. Jen raced around getting ready to see Patrick the last time and Tina helped her. Her dress was white and skin-tight and somewhat sheer but the cut of it made her ass and tits look phenomenal. Tina went on and on about how sexy Jen looked and it was true. At last Jen kissed us both and flew out the door.

Tina looked at me.

“Now what? Dominoes? Chess? Dinner and a movie?” Her face made it plain she'd given up trying to seduce me every time we found ourselves alone. I moved to the garage to be sure Jen was gone. Tina watched me with a quizzical expression until I once more stood before her.

“I have an idea,” I said.

She listened closely, asking few questions. When I finished she stood back and looked me up and down.

“You're pretty smart.”

“Thanks.”

“Sounds hot. I'll do it. Jen's gonna be pissed.”

“No doubt.”

An hour later we headed for the Green Door. My hair was slicked back and Tina had used make-up to give me a heavy five o'clock shadow. I wore a suit I'd had buried in my closet that Jen hadn't seen in years and Tina wore a long black gown I'd purchased for her while the girls shopped for Jen's new dress. Her red hair was now blonde. Not much as far as disguises go but I counted on several factors to help; darkness, distance, and distraction. I expected the club would be extremely dim as patrons wished to avoid detection, Tina and I would hang towards the back of any audience our lovers had, and Jen and Patrick would be thoroughly engaged in mating and trying to reproduce and way too busy to notice two more faces in the crowd.

I parked at the far end of the lot. Tina stepped out of the car, looked around to make sure we had privacy, and dug around up under her dress. Down came her panties, tossed into the back seat. Her bra followed.

“That's better,” she joked, wiggling her ass.

The clingy black satin followed the lines of her ripe body and the extra movement from free swinging tits was a visual treat. As always, she caught me looking at her.

“Any time, any place,” she teased.

“Holy Hell, Tina, you're just a masterpiece.”

Her face softened and I knew my comment hit home. I offered her an arm and she took it. The club was nicer than I expected. Security was tight and the decor well maintained if a bit garish. I think Liberace may have helped with the furnishings. We wandered around learning the floor plan. I was nervous and excited and so was Tina. The front of her dress had loops instead of buttons and she undid several more once we were safely inside.

We moved into a main room and stopped. At least a hundred persons milled about, all of them in various states of attire, including many who were completely naked. We were searching for Jen and Patrick but no way could you tell it. Tina and I took our time. The place had two stories and tons of square footage. Single rooms, orgy rooms, a hot-tub, mirrored rooms, a dungeon; Our eyes grew bigger each time we turned a corner.

Tina stopped at a private room with a window and I had to go back for her. Inside a woman entertained six men at once and they all shared one qualification; a big, fat, heavy slab of beef hanging between their legs. The woman's husband sat tied to a chair in the corner. Tina's mouth watered and she joked about me throwing her inside. I reminded her we were on a mission and she reluctantly left with me.

Upstairs we discovered a couples-only section guarded by huge bouncers. They moved the rope and allowed us through and I was so glad I'd invited Tina on my quest. The area had many separate alcoves and booths, circular beds and viewing benches. At the back of one extra-large room we saw a massive bed with two people on it. My gut instantly knew it was my wife with Patrick. Tina saw it too and her eyes flashed to mine.

We circled around through the darkness, taking our time, drawing no attention. Padded benches lined the walls facing the bed and I started to slide into one when Tina kicked my ankle.

“Closer!” she hissed.

I wanted to avoid detection but she had a point. Spotlights flooded the bed and I knew that would make looking out into the audience difficult so I crept closer and picked a leather couch only a couple rows away from my wife and her lover. We settled in. My heart hammered in my chest and my palms were slick with sweat. My plan seemed to be working.

Patrick wore black leather pants and no shoes and Jen wore bra and panties. Her new dress lay in a pile on the floor and I wondered if Patrick had appreciated her efforts at pleasing him. I smiled. My wife was in the process of fucking another man and I still worried about her feelings getting hurt.

Patrick came up behind Jen and kissed her neck and shoulders. Jen's nipples tried to pierce the material of her bra. He gently ran his fingertips down her arms and nibbled an earlobe. Jen's left leg trembled a moment before she got it under control. How many times had they fucked since that night of the barbecue and still my wife quivered at his touch? Her thing for older men, started by Professor Alex, had blossomed into a full-blown fetish.

Tina leaned over, placing her mouth next to my ear. "Patrick is handsome," she whispered. "Did you know that? You've never mentioned it. I mean like really, really, handsome."

I hadn't known that. I've always been terrible at guessing a man's looks. I filed it away but I had the feeling his looks had little to do with Jen's attraction to him. Of course, I couldn't actually name the reasons for her attraction to him, I just suspected that wasn't it. I did know she loved how thick his cock was.

Patrick turned Jen's head over a shoulder and kissed her deeply. Behind her his arms moved and her bra loosened and traveled an inch away from her body. She lowered her arms and allowed it to slide down and drop to the floor.

Tina was riveted. She absentmindedly whispered, "Get those panties off, Jenny," while squirming in her seat. More people had trickled in to watch the show and all of them took the seats right in front of the bed. Patrick held the waistband of Jen's underwear and lowered them until my wife stepped out, now wearing only white high-heels.

Jen stood tall and a murmur of appreciation ran through the crowd. Under the lights her body looked fantastic; firm and fit and built for sex, rock-hard nipples pointing at the ceiling. Her round tits cast shadows on her abs.

"Holy fuck my sister's hot," Tina muttered.

Jen turned to Patrick and they kissed a while. She slowly began kissing a trail down his hairy chest and stomach until she knelt before him. He wore no belt so Jen unbuttoned his pants and drew down the zipper. The tip of her tongue protruded from her mouth as she concentrated. I know her and I know her body-language and she strained with anticipation. She knew what was coming and was so eager for it her hands shook.

She tugged once on his pants around the knees and they dropped. Patrick was directly at face level and already growing. This was my first real look at him and I was shocked how fat his cock is. Not even half-way hard and already at least three of my fingers wide. One long thick vein ran down the top of it, disappearing as it approached the bulbous head. He was thicker than Ansell. Ansell was longer, by a little, but Patrick was fuller, heavier, dense.

“That's a beautiful cock,” Tina said.

His balls hung behind the shaft and they were over-sized too. Not freakish, but proportional and balanced, plump and swollen. They matched his stout manhood and conveyed a sense of masculine power.

“That's a beautiful cock,” Tina said again.

My wife kissed the large head and opened her mouth, scooping under and fastening her lips around the shaft. Her cheeks sunk in as she sucked and I swear every man in the crowd felt it. Patrick looked up at the ceiling and just accepted the gift of her devotion. He placed one hand on his hip and the other atop her head, enjoying the smooth rhythm as she began to bob. Two seats over I noticed a woman lower her head to her dates lap.

Patrick's voice startled me.

“This is not my wife,” he told the crowd. “Although I do love her. Her husband waits at home while his woman mates with me over and over again, and our mating is real; nothing prevents conception. It's the ultimate rush for us, the supreme thrill. His agony must be exquisite.” Patrick leaned back to display the eagerness with which Jen sucked his growing cock. His words stoked the fire in her. He grew and stiffened and she was able to take less and less. Finally, she had him solidly erect. His cock had a slight curve up. The head was fat and deep red and his balls had drawn up tight at the base.

He grabbed a handful of her hair and forced several inches down her throat. She choked and he forced more. She gagged and Tina placed her hand on my arm in worry. Jen braced herself with her hands on his thighs and a full inch moved down her bulging throat. Her mouth was distorted and stretched. Drool streamed to the floor. A tear ran down her cheek. He held his cock buried in her gullet and let her struggle and suffer. She did not back away. That was the only thought that kept me in my seat; she did not back away.

At last he pulled his shaft from her throat and Jen gasped for air. He twisted her hair and forced her face under his ball-sack. Movement from her jaw told me she licked him all around down there. With her head wedged between his legs his cock was forced straight up and we all saw what a beast it was. He pulled harder and her face pushed deeper and I gasped when I realized she licked his asshole and so did Tina. He savored her worship for long minutes.

He stepped off of her and back towards the bed. He sat. He leaned all the way back and pulled a pillow under his head and with one hand aimed his rigid shaft straight up. Jen fell on it licking the veins and sucking the head. He spoke to her but too low for us to hear. Only after she'd painted every square centimeter of him with saliva did she move up and join him on the bed. She set her left knee along his right leg and planted her right foot next to his left hip, lifting her butt cheeks and revealing her soaked cunt to us. Her hand came down and found him and steered him towards her hole. He seemed too wide to fit, but of course he would. They'd been fucking for weeks. Patrick had called it mating and that really was a better word. My wife wanted this man so much so risked a pregnancy with him. Some deep desire made her fuck him without protection of any kind. She wanted him pure and unobstructed.

Her heel lowered and her labia rubbed over his head. She pushed her hips down and they spread wider, struggling to reach the edges of him. Like a cap they smothered the tip and gradually enveloped more and more of the head until they encircled the ridge and sealed around the shaft. His hands came up to her hips to steady her but he allowed her to fuck him. That was a fist in my gut. My wife wanted, needed, his cock inside her. I saw it all over her. Her face yearned and her back arched and her legs trembled and all of it was rampant and run-away desire to once again feel him filling her. It hurt to see my wife want another man so badly. It seared. It scorched my mind and twisted my guts and crushed my lungs but it also made my penis throb.

Tina whimpered, "Fuck, that's hot," and opened three more buttons. She reached inside her dress to play with a tit and tease a nipple.

I took my penis out. I was uncomfortably hard and my pants cut into me. Tina saw what I did and looked at me with such a longing to suck me I almost gave in. At the last second I wrapped my fingers around it and began a slow and steady stroke.

The shaft behind the head was too hard and thick and Jen sat perched on it. They had encountered this before and knew what to do. Jen lifted her legs and her body weight forced her down as his shaft slowly disappeared up inside her. Several women in the audience moaned imagining what that intrusion must feel like. Patrick's ball rolled around in their skin bag and Jen reached back to cup them. Another inch slid home. Jen closed her eyes and let her head fall back. My wife felt herself slowly filling with him and relished every new inch. A long low moan crept from her throat. I scanned the crowd and women everywhere were enjoying it with her, vicariously feeling his rock-hard and monstrous shaft penetrate them.

“I bet you feel that too, hm?”

Tina didn't answer. I turned and she was gone.

A figure joined Patrick and Jen on the bed. Tina lowered her face between her sister's legs and licked Jen's stretched labia. Surprised, Jen's eyes flew open and she stared down into the eyes of this young girl. For an instant, confusion reigned. Then Jen saw passed the blonde hair.

“Tina? Tina! What are you doing? You're my sister!”

In the front seats they heard. Tina fastened her mouth to Jen's clit and drug her tongue across it. Jen yelped. Tina did it again and Jen jumped and grabbed Tina's blonde hair.

“What the fuck? Aaaaahhh! Honey! What are you doing? Fuuuuuck....”

Word spread rapidly. The audience now knew these two were siblings. I expected disgust but instead the sexual tension in the room exploded. Some left their seats to get a closer look. Many turned on each other, kissing, sucking, fucking right where they sat.

Tina would not be denied. She had Jen's clitoris in her mouth and worked it furiously, allowing her tongue to slide down and all over Patrick's cock too. Jen was impaled and could not get away as long as Tina held her there. Patrick looked up to see who licked him and heard Jen's pronouncement and pushed Tina's head farther in, holding it there.

Tina stood and shimmied out of her dress and climbed up onto Patrick in a sixty-nine position. In the brief moment her tongue was off Jen's clit, Jen tried to stand but Tina pushed on her shoulders and drove Patrick's meaty stake deep. Tina lowered her mouth back between Jen's thighs and licked every inch of her sister's pussy. Tina lowered her dripping pussy to Patrick's mouth.

When Jen regained her balance and composure she ordered Patrick and Tina to stop. They ignored her. She scanned the crowd for me and I stood and through the glare of the spotlights our eyes met. Jen seemed defiant, almost angry Tina and I had intruded on her sexual world. I moved through the furniture until I was closer. Tina stopped her assault long enough to register what was happening and then quickly curled her tongue around her sister's clit again. Jen's eyelids fluttered.

"She's my little sister," she whimpered.

"All the more reason," Patrick growled, grabbing Jen by the hair and throwing her onto her back. Tina moved from a sixty-nine of Patrick to a sixty-nine of Jen and all of us froze. After a moment of reluctance and uncertainty, Jen buried her wet tongue deep into her little sister's cunt. Their hands roamed each other's bodies and Tina pushed a finger up Jen's asshole, making her moan with pleasure. They orally attacked each other's pussies, licking and slurping and gulping and sucking.

Patrick moved behind Tina and pushed his heavy cock in.

"Oooooohhhh, fuck yes," she cried. "Oh, Jen, Honey, I see what love about him." Patrick held her hips and worked his cock back and forth. His balls rested on Jen's face for a second every stroke and my wife slathered them with her tongue. Patrick moaned. After he had sampled Tina's hot young pussy long enough he pulled his hard cock out and circled around to Jen, shoving her legs wider and forcing his cock-head into Tina's mouth before burying it inside my wife's smoldering cunt.

"Yessssss," she hissed. "Fuck me, Patrick. Fuck me while my little sister eats my pussy. Oh my God this is so wrong, so wrong, but it feels so good."

The audience had matched up in pairs or more and fed off the sister's sexual charge. A chubby man tried to join the threesome and Patrick gave him a withering look and he faded away. I realized Patrick had looked right at me and not recognized me so I stepped back with the chubby man.

Patrick fucked Jen and then pulled out and offered his gleaming cock to Tina to suck, which she eagerly did. He pulled his dick away from her and then shoved it back inside my wife to fuck her some more as Tina feasted on Jen's clit and lips. When he was ready for something new, Patrick withdrew from Jen and crawled back behind Tina to once again fuck her tight cunt. This went on for a while until Patrick rolled onto his back and ordered both girls to suck his cock. They quickly did, French kissing often, passing his head and balls back and forth.

Patrick made them face each other in a missionary position and from behind take turns fucking their sweet little pussies. This was the best angle yet for me and I was astonished at how his thick cock forced their holes to stretch and twist.

Tina came first, while Patrick fucked her and Jen ate her pussy, and it was earth-shaking. Jen reminded Patrick his sperm was for her alone and although he teased her about it first, he relented and agreed. Jen's first orgasm was riding Patrick reverse-cowgirl while Tina licked her clit and her second, soon after, was while Patrick watched Tina finger-fuck Jen's asshole as she ate her pussy again. Jen kept looking down at her baby sister with dismay at what this night had brought but she came like a volcano anyway.

When Patrick said he was close, Tina pushed Jen onto her back and straddled her face, looking down the length of her body. She took Jen's ankles and pulled them back and apart and offered her sister's cunt to Patrick.

"Fill this bitch up," she taunted. "Send her home to her husband with a baby in her."

That really got to me. I jacked off as Patrick fucked my wife and her sister helped. Tina came again riding Jen's face and I was surprised when Jen came from making her sister cum. Patrick slowly built up speed until he banged my wife like a whore. He'd pulled almost all the way out before slamming it back in, sending chills through my wife's body and making his big balls bounce. I climaxed listening to shrieks of pleasure pour from my wife. When he came he released an incredible flood of semen inside her before falling onto the bed between them.

They weren't finished but I was. I stepped out of the light and pulled a chair into shadow. I stayed to watch all of it but my orgasm had drained me, emotionally and physically. I wanted to see everything and commit it all to memory for later but I was spent.

I watched Tina gorge on her sister's flesh. Jen couldn't resist. Tina worked her tongue into every hole, licked every inch of her soft skin, kissed her lips soft and lovingly before pushing fingers deep into cunt and ass simultaneously and fucking Jen mercilessly until she came again.

Like me, Patrick watched. He got hard again about an hour later and fucked them both thoroughly before shooting his sperm once more into my wife, but then he was truly finished.

Tina was insatiable; she must have desired her sister for years. She loved an audience as much as Jen and an appetite for being bad helped, but Tina was voracious. Reluctant at first, ultimately Jen met her little sister step for step. Tina licked and slurped the semen leaking from Jen and then shared it with her in a tender kiss. That evening with the two of them was something I'll remember my whole life.

Tina did not visit us again for three years. She finished school and toured Europe and landed a job at a doctor's office as his assistant. I shot up the company ladder as did Jen and two years after that night we bought out first home together. We have three kids now to go with Domino and Groucho; a boy, three years old with blonde hair and blue eyes, and two little girls, one and two, with brown hair and eyes like their mommy and daddy.

When Tina did come visit we got a sitter but nothing happened other than drinks and dancing. She and I never touched and that irritates the shit out of her, but Jen loves me all the more for it.

After Tina returned home Jen and I settled down into the married life. Years sailed by. Somewhere in there Jen removed her pussy jewelry. I left the bank and started my own fund and I manage it well. Jen continued to climb the ladder eventually becoming a full partner. Our kids went to private schools and we may have actually turned a little snobbish. I hate to admit that, but it's true. Generosity is easier when you have nothing. When you have something, you have something to lose. We trusted people less and kept more to ourselves. We brought a bigger house behind a guard-gate and bigger cars we didn't actually need. Our circle of friends changed and those we did have we saw less of and had less of a connection to. We had no sexual encounters of any kind with any one and Jen stopped mentioning it altogether. Even the sex between us became infrequent and less passionate.

Then my father died and we traveled back home for the funeral. I gave his eulogy and we buried him next to my mother. Jen and I stayed at a nice hotel while the kids stayed with friends back home and for the first time in a long time we were a couple again.

On the roof the hotel had a combination hot-tub and Jacuzzi and it felt fantastic easing my exhausted body down into the swirling scalding water. Jen wore a black bikini I'd never seen before. The top was cut deeply across her tits and tied at the neck and back, the bottoms low in front and tied at both hips. A phone on the wall called the front desk and I ordered drinks. As this was the middle of the week, we were alone.

Drinks arrived and we drank and floated and relaxed. Jen complimented my speech at the funeral and I thanked her and we talked about projects around the house and plans for the kids. The heat worked on the alcohol in our bloodstream and within minutes we were both pretty buzzed.

The door to the roof opened and an older gentleman, bald but sporting a Van Dyke, approached the tub. He wore white Speedos and flip-flops and carried a huge towel. Jen looked away. He apologized for intruding and I welcomed him to join us. He spoke with an accent that sounded mostly French but had a dialect twist and introduced himself as Ricky. I introduced myself and Jen as Ricky slid under the water to his slightly hairy chest.

We all chatted about what business brought us to the city. I offered him some of my whiskey or Jen's red wine and he accepted the wine. He offered condolences when I told him our business. Our conversation combined with the hot water and alcohol relaxed us. After a few minutes Jen excused herself for a dip in the pool. She rose from the suds foam and Ricky and I stopped speaking. Jen fought back a smile. She looked wonderful and the weight of the water pulled down the front of her top and bottoms, coming dangerously close to exposing areola or labia. I felt an old familiar tingle at the idea and while Ricky kept his eyes glued to my wife, hoping, I examined him examining her. My decision was made in an instant. It had been so long.

When Jen returned Ricky had a renewed interest in his conversation with her and I mostly held back. I would interject occasionally, especially if I was able to add an innuendo, but for the most part allowed Ricky to flirt with Jen. Either it was the wine or she was just out of practice but she missed his intentions completely. He picked up on what I did right away and we shared an understanding. Not details, of course, but he knew I was fine with his playful overtures.

When I got up to cool off in the pool Ricky moved closer to Jen. The pool was close enough to the tub I was able to keep an eye on them even when it looked like I wasn't. I was gone less than a minute when Ricky rose from the water to sit on the edge. His Speedo bulge was obviously bigger. I lingered in the pool giving Jen ample time to notice. When I returned her face was unreadable but she stayed in her new spot closer to Ricky. We hadn't done anything for years and I was nervous and jittery. We used to be so cool about all this. I felt clumsy and inexperienced.

When Jen left for the pool again Ricky commented on her beauty. I agreed. He invited us back to his suite for some weed and to continue the conversation and I accepted for both of us. Jen returned and Ricky announced it was his turn to cool off and while he was gone I told Jen about his invitation.

“Why did you say yes?” she asked.

“Sounds like fun, doesn't it?”

“Hm.” she gave me a penetrating stare as if she could read minds and then spoke as if she had.

“You think Ricky wants to fuck me. Honey, I'm much older now and this body has spit-out three kids. I have wrinkles. I have soft abs. Let the younger girls act crazy. I'm passed my prime. I'm a mother and a wife and those crazy days are long gone.”

This was the first she'd spoken of her feelings and I was surprised. Women are so hard on themselves. The truth was Jen could pose for Playboy right now and they'd jump at the chance; MILFs of Vegas, with our centerfold, Jennifer Sanders! I knew better that to argue with her about her looks so I took a different tack.

“Ricky does want to fuck you. I've seen enough men look at you in that certain way. I recognize it. He wants to and I want him to. I know you checked on his bulge so don't try to say you didn't.

She smiled and looked down at the water. Bingo.

“Let's just smoke the weed and talk. Is he handsome?” I asked.

She scoffed. “Hell yes, and his accent reminds me of Ansell. I got goose-bumps twice already tonight. But none of that matters. I'm too old now. I outgrew that life.”

Ricky came back from the pool and asked if we were ready. I said yes and Jen discreetly rolled her eyes at me. We collected our things and drinks and headed for the elevator.

“Faster this way,” Ricky called, pointing at the staircase. “I’m only one floor down.”

I was impressed and I know Jen was too. Ricky had a penthouse, of which there were four on the entire top floor, and was probably paying three-thousand dollars a night.

The floor-plan was wide open and two of the four walls all glass. The view was spectacular. Jen and I wandered along and I pointed out landmarks as Ricky went back to change. He returned dressed in a light green bathrobe and carrying two more which he handed to us. Jen and I moved to the restroom to change while Ricky turned on some Spanish guitar music. Jen locked the bathroom door.

“Nothing is going to happen,” she warned.

“Okay.”

“I mean it, Paul. You are seeing things. Ricky is a lovely wealthy man and probably dates twenty year-olds. He’s European so he’s charming and socially skilled but there is nothing sexual about all this. You’re going to disappoint yourself and embarrass me.”

“Okay,” I said again. “I promise not to push anything. I’m just saying I’m interested. We haven’t done anything in a long, long, long time and I kind of have butterflies remembering how we used to be.”

“Those were good times,” she agreed. I sensed she wanted to say more but held back.

We changed out of our wet swimsuits and stuffed them into a plastic bag. The robe was soft and smelled good but the fabric was thin and only came to several inches above our knees.

“Short,” Jen observed. I shrugged and we left to join Ricky.

We talked about our lives and travels and swapped funny stories. After a while Ricky fired up a joint and passed it to me. I hit it hard, once, and passed it to Jen. She hit it twice before passing it to Ricky. Our conversation meandered all over. Ricky was surprised to learn Jen had given birth three times and admiration was clear on his face. Jen shot me a look as if to say, “This changes nothing,” but I could tell she liked his reaction. The truth was she remained a stunner. She was a little smoother all over but that only made her boobs and ass bigger. Not big, bigger. Her body was firm and taut.

The music changed slightly and then the weed hit like a truck. Before I knew it I was hypnotized by the city lights twinkling through the glass walls. I heard a voice but ignored it, staring, staring, staring and drifting through my own mind. I heard the voice again and slowly turned. Jen stood over me with a hand out. She spoke a third time.

“Dance with me, Paul. I love this music. I need to move.”

Music? I looked at her like she was crazy and then listened really hard. Yes, there was music playing and it was quite romantic. Okay, my wife was not insane. I took her hand and tried to stand but the electric blue lights over the bar needed all my attention so I walked to them and looked up. They were so beautiful. Jen called my name and I walked to her again, taking her into my arms. We took charge and we slowly turned to the smooth beat and sensuous guitar.

We danced, little more than swaying, actually, and before too long I remembered Ricky. I checked on him and he sat in a large chair watching us. His legs were wide open but he'd tucked his robe into his lap.

Jen said something and I met her eyes. Her eyelids drooped and she leaned most of her body weight on me for support.

“I feel bad,” I murmured.

“Why, Baby, why you feel bad?”

“Ricky. Look. He just sits. Dance with him too.”

We both looked at Ricky and he smiled a goofy little smile.

“He's so pretty,” Jen breathed.

I waved Ricky over to join us and he held Jen from behind. We all slowly spun in tiny circles, my arms around her from the front and his from behind. Our robes had opened a little and I felt the searing heat of her chest on mine. I looked down. Jen showed barely any cleavage at all but it was still terribly exciting. I tilted her chin up and kissed her deeply and Ricky had to keep us all balanced.

I slipped one hand down and found her pussy. My wife was drenched. I didn't penetrate her; instead just sliding my finger across her labia. Hot, wet, slippery, slick; I slipped the finger into my mouth and she looked away, unexpectedly shy.

I sent the finger back down for more and then had an idea. Instead of rubbing her pussy again, I reached farther back, searching for Rick. I kissed Jen as I sought him. I bumped something on a pass and came back to it and closed my fingers around his shaft. He was thick and heavy and partially full and he radiated heat into the palm of my hand.

“Paul,” Jen warned, breaking the kiss. “What are you doing?”

I ignored her. I pulled gently on Ricky's cock until I had him resting between her legs. She closed her thighs on his shaft as I let it go. We continued our circular routine only now Ricky was firmly lodged up against my wife's labia, splitting them with his pulsing tube.

I kissed my wife again and wrapped my arms around both of them.

I spied the joint resting in the ashtray on the arm of the chair and reached for it. I held it to her lips. She hesitated a split-second and then the cherry glowed deep red. I took a small puff as did Ricky and then I carefully stepped to the chair to place the joint back in the tray. Why was everything so difficult?

“Paul?” Jen murmured. “This can't happen. I can't do this.”

I faced her. My face felt waxen.

“I have no boundaries,” she implored. “I go too far.” She lowered her voice to a strained whisper. “Tina is my little sister for God's sake. We did things. I felt things I shouldn't.”

She leaned more of her body weight back on Ricky. Her eyes held mine.

“We both know what else happened,” she continued, her voice tight. “We never speak of it, and I know we're both grateful, but I go too far. Always.”

I did indeed know exactly what she meant but for me that was a source of intense eroticism. Every day of my life I was reminded and thrilled. Warm waves of love and devotion flowed through me. Our reminder was permanent and beautiful and remembering filled me with love. My eyes watered. Jen saw and her eyes watered too. Waves of euphoria ran over and through me and the weed was only a small part of it. My body tingled all over. My legs felt suddenly weak so I eased into the chair.

Ricky sensed her vulnerability and tightened his arms around her and she let him, grateful for his thoughtful humanity. She looked breathtaking in her short bathrobe while wrapped in another man's arms. The front of her robe had parted slightly and a breast rested on his forearm, pushed up and trying to escape. Her firm thighs held her steady as she eased her hips back against him and a bump formed in her robe at her crotch; his cock, still between her thighs and poking through.

He held her from behind and together they swayed gently with the slow Spanish rhythm. My wife and I regarded each other. I understood now what had really plagued her all these years. Only part of her reluctance was because she felt too old. A much bigger part was fear. That night with Tina freaked her out and shut her down. Then, of course, the seriousness of what happened next compounded it. No wonder she backed away from that life. She'd learned her own limitations. My efforts tonight had raised that specter for her. Even as her pussy gushed wet, she was afraid, terrified of who she still was on the inside, frightened of that cock-loving woman who lived inside her and fought to be free.

Love for my precious woman welled up in me. She saw it and knew and her whole face softened. She understood I would love her forever, through anything and everything. I was with her until the day we died. I stole her breath and she gasped in his arms and looked down at them around her waist, and then back at me. We smiled together.

She turned to face him and rested her forehead against his and closed her eyes; a sexy, handsome, older man hugged her and she could at least allow herself to enjoy that. They continued their slight dance, moving almost imperceptibly. Jen slipped her arms up around his neck and he put his hands on her hips. They moved together and I loved the way he looked at her. With her eyes closed and my tacit approval, he was free to gaze wherever he wanted and for as long as he wished. Ricky did not understand the details but sensed the depth of the exchange between husband and wife and patiently waited. In the meantime, his eyes roamed her with an aching and a longing that only a man can have while looking at a woman as beautiful as she.

Jen opened her eyes once, just to check, but closed them quickly. A spell wove and she did not want to interrupt it. She knew he was visually devouring her and she wanted it. She craved it. She feared her desire for it but did nothing to stop him.

Still swaying, she slowly and tentatively lowered her hands to the sash. He did nothing. Jen loosened the bow holding his robe and it fell open, exposing his chest, his stomach, and his semi-erect penis. He was incredibly veiny all along the shaft and he had no idea how lucky he was, but I did; Jen loves veiny cocks. Now it was her turn to stare, and Ricky soaked it up.

The skin was darker than the rest of his body and his large scrotum snuggled tight at the base of his shaft and was covered lightly with blonde pubic hair. His cock was big and growing bigger. Jen nudged his robe off his shoulders and it landed at his feet and then she slipped her arms around his neck but kept her gaze down and her eyes fixed on him.

He checked on me but I stayed put and watched. They continued their swaying-dance and he instinctively knew to leave her robe in place. She wasn't ready for that yet. I left my chair and staggered to the glass walls. I needed fresh air. They were heavy but I opened them all the way and cool breezes passed through the room. Jen's nipples stiffened.

Ricky loved Jen's eyes on him and he engorged fully. His cock got so hard it gleamed and Jen kept her eyes riveted to it. The more she looked, the harder he got. I knew she battled herself; younger Jen would already be in the bedroom. Older, wiser Jen had learned the costs of her runaway lusts.

Thank God Ricky was an older man with an older man's patience because he did nothing but wait. A younger man would have forced things and probably ruined his chances. Jen struggled with her desires and Ricky and I let her. She turned to face me.

"Paul?" she implored. She was paralyzed, unable to choose. She had the Demoness trapped and agonized over freeing her, but those turgid veins and that throbbing shaft called to her like a Siren.

I approached and they stopped dancing. Jen leaned her back against his chest. He loosely encircled her with his arms. I held her face with both hands while I kissed her until I felt her body relax a little. Step by step the tension left her with each warm loving kiss. I let one hand drift down and slip between her thighs as I searched for his cock. I found it. I wrapped my finger tightly around his thick hot shaft and moved my hand up to the head. With my knuckles I felt my way around her cunt until I found the dip I knew was her pussy entrance. With my fingertips firmly under the head, I rubbed him on her small hole and then pushed his cock an inch into her pussy.

Jen whimpered. For the first time in years a new man was inside her.

I held her face and kissed her again and gazed into her troubled eyes. I reached farther back on his shaft and pulled him forward and three more inches moved up inside. Jen exhaled heavily. I moved my hand farther back until I held his balls in my palm and then pulled his entire cock forward. Jen whined as his remaining inches shoved into her welcoming wetness. She enveloped his unfamiliar penis, taking him inside her body and conforming to his length and width. She felt his heat.

“Squeeze him,” I ordered. Ricky moaned softly and I knew at that moment her pussy gripped him. I pushed his balls away a few inches and then pulled him back. I used his cock to fuck my wife. Jen and Ricky groaned together as their genitalia slid past each other.

“Squeeze him again.” She did and her brow knotted with pleasure. He was bigger and harder than me and the newness of him intoxicated her.

I untied the knot at her waist, freed her arms and pulled her robe off and away. I kissed her again and then backed one step and opened my robe and slowly pulled her mouth down to my cock, bending her at the waist. She paused briefly to kiss my half-heart tattoo. Ricky moved his hands to her hips and pushed all the way in and when Jen gasped I filled her open mouth with my dick. We fucked her from both ends. She braced her hands on my thighs and Ricky worked his cock in and out. His face was pure joy. The gorgeous woman he'd only recently met and instantly wanted was now bent over in front of him and taking his cock. I fucked her mouth and lusted after my slutty wife. I'd missed this so much! I held her pendulous tits and absorbed the constant thud of his pounding hips. She gasped and groaned around my penis.

I wanted to watch him fuck her. I asked where the master bedroom was and he told me and I told him to take her there. She pulled my dick out of her mouth and looked at me questioningly.

“I need to see this,” I said. “And I know you are dying to give yourself to him.”

I held her hand and followed Ricky down the hall. This felt new and awkward and I soaked it up. Ricky opened the bedroom door and aimed for the bed and we joined him on it.

I got into a sixty-nine with Jen on top and Ricky moved up behind her and from inches away I saw a fat new cock penetrate my wife. Her pussy seemed to lovingly wrap around and embrace him. His hard cock shoved a moan or a gasp or a groan from her on every thrust. It was so exciting. It had been so long. She was more alive with every cry. She let my dick fall from her mouth to rant about how much she loved being filled by him.

I opened wide and took as much of his scrotum into my mouth as I could hold. He kept fucking her and I swear I felt his cum churning in his balls. I sucked his nuts as he fucked my wife.

Jen and I should never have ceased this life. This is our truest selves. I promised myself when we returned home I'd talk to Jen and get beyond our fears and hesitations.

With her cries of absolute pleasure ringing in my ears, I sucked his nuts again and ran my tongue over them. I felt his hot pulsing blood through the thin skin and knew he was already close. He bore down and fucked her harder, his testicles bouncing in my mouth. I felt his balls tighten and fluid surge. His balls jumped and expanded and cum raced through tubes like soda through a straw. I felt him pass along my tongue before ejaculating into my wife's pussy. Each new blast traveled along my tongue first before finding release in her.

His spurting cock drove her over the edge. She looked up at the ceiling and howled with glee at her own insemination. The Slut was released and Jen came hard enough to cry.

"Fuck, yes! Ungh! Fucking fill me up! Oh Paul, I love it, I do. His cock feels so good."

I smiled and sucked his balls, slathering them as he spewed hot semen inside her. Ricky groaned again and again as he pumped my hot wife full. The night was young and I knew with a little rest he and I would soon fuck Jennifer again. She knew it too.

Days later we were home from our trip. Groucho and Domino had been fed, the kids bathed and tucked in, the doors locked and the lights off. Jen stepped from a quick shower and reached for her towel. I gawked at her incredible female form. She stopped.

"What?" she asked, smiling.

"You're beautiful."

She opened the top drawer on her jewelry box and withdrew three interlocking rings and a handful of small silver ornaments.

"I think it's time I started wearing this again. Okay by you?"

I nodded slowly. "Okay by me. You have anyone special in mind"

"Nope," she replied. "But I'll keep my eyes open, meet men, see what happens."

"You'll roam?"

She chuckled. "Yes, I'll roam."

My eyes left her naked body and floated around our bedroom. I was suddenly thrilled for our future. I landed on the framed note I'd written and signed all those years before. Jen followed my gaze. We smiled together.