

Matthew Lee Hunted

A Hotwife Story

Hunted

A Hotwife Story

By Matthew Lee

Chapter 1

Maya, my wife, slid her hand under her heavy tit and teased the nipple with a thumb. Her other hand eased the thick dildo deep into her pussy. I was outside gazing through our bedroom window so I heard nothing, but I didn't need sound for this. I'd discovered my wife masturbating to porn and I was fine with that.

A man on screen lifted his enormous cock and offered it to the mouth of a lovely girl dressed like a nun. The scene jumped to close-up: lumpy veiny hose gliding between ruby lips, jaw wide, nostrils flared as she struggled for breath. My wife worked the dildo faster and I wondered if she wished that big cock was fucking her mouth.

I'd come home early without calling because I knew Maya was shopping with friends. I'd parked the Audi on the driveway instead of the garage because I planned on washing it tomorrow morning. I'd come around the back of the house instead of the front door because I needed to return the empty trash bins. These innocent acts had combined into this moment and for the first time since I'd met her years ago, I watched my wife masturbate.

She was propped against our headboard, pillows stacked behind her shoulders, pussy aimed at our bedroom widescreen. I'd purchased that dildo for her as a joke years ago, a birthday present to embarrass her in front of her friends when she opened the package. I'd gone extra big to maximize her shame and illustrate the point this was clearly intended as a prank. She'd blushed. Everyone laughed. She'd thrown a ball of wrapping paper at me and moved on to the next present. I never knew what became of my gag gift.

On screen, curly-haired guy held the nun's face in both hands and literally fucked her mouth. Saliva drooled from her slack jaw. His dick hit the back of her throat and bent in the middle, over and over. I noted my wife fucked herself in matching time. The man pulled his horse-cock free and slapped it on the nun's face, lowering his smooth balls into her waiting mouth. His cock reached to her white coif.

After he tired of that, he moved to eat her pussy, lifting her habit and burying his face. My wife hit fast-forward, zipping through scenes until the nun was bent at the waist and that enormous stiff cock approached from behind. Maya thumbed slow-motion and that tube of beef speared our chase heroine and began to vanish inside. A wave of pleasure rippled through the woman's body. This was not acting. This woman faked nothing. That fat cock spread her wide, forcing her back to arch. Every inch he buried brought greater pleasure.

My wife moaned loud enough for me to hear through the glass and then pumped her cunt fast. Suddenly her head snapped back, her mouth opened wide like the girl on screen, she pulled a nipple hard, eyes glued to that piston cock, and then orgasmed like thunder, hips rolling and stomach clenched. Her body tightened all over as waves ripped through her.

She slowly rolled facedown, breathing hard. The large dildo, forgotten, crept from her stretched pussy to drop to the bed. She lifted a trembling hand, searching for the remote to turn off the television.

I continued watching as she lay there, my eyes roaming her naked body, my head spinning. I felt a twinge of guilt, intruding on something so personal, but mostly I felt a burning lust.

My wife rose after a few minutes and headed for the shower. I returned to my car and backed out, opened the garage door, which I knew she'd hear even in the shower, and pulled in, killing the engine. I waited for as long as it would take me to replace the trash bins and then closed the big door, entering the house and announcing I was home. I heard her call hello from the bathroom. I set my keys and phone on the counter and she appeared wrapped in a green satin robe, her long dark hair piled on her head and trapped in a fluffy towel. We kissed and she asked what I wanted for dinner.

I decided to keep what I'd seen to myself.

Chapter 2

Asphalt. Endless asphalt. We sailed through a tunnel of headlights burrowing through black night. Yellow dashes flashed. The tires droned.

"Did you know Texas averages one-hundred thirty-nine tornadoes a year?" Maya asked.

"No, I did not."

"Me either."

She continued reading from her pamphlet.

We were on our way to visit her newly-engaged sister, Dolly, in Houston. A party was planned for the night we arrived. Dolly is a petite redhead with smallish tits and fantastic ass. Maya has caught me looking more than once. She got angry at first but lately concedes that every guy looks at Dolly. Funny thing is, Dolly says the same thing about Maya. Weird reverse sibling rivalry. I'd wanted to fly but Maya thought a road trip sounded awesome so here we were.

"Doctor Pepper was invented there," she said.

I stared out the windshield. I was ready to sleep after fourteen hours and three States, but all I got was mile after mile of dirt and tumbleweeds.

No street lights, no signs, no other travelers. Maya and I sailed down the road at eighty-five, surrounded by inky darkness.

Two more hours ticked off and now I was desperate to stop. I needed rest. I needed sleep.

Far ahead I saw a tiny red glow.

"What's that?" Maya asked.

The glow grew brighter. I slowed. Details were impossible until we were right up on it. A car had left the highway and rammed a boulder three hundred feet out in the desert. The headlights were out but twin crimson brake lights glimmered.

"We better check on them," Maya said.

I pulled the Audi onto the shoulder.

"Drive over," Maya suggested.

"That dirt looks soft," I said. "We'd get stuck. Let's leave the car and walk."

Maya checked her cell phone but, just like the last six hours, she found zero reception. She hurried to put sneakers on. We entered the desert together.

Three hundred feet never looked so long. The earth was loose grit, like beach sand, sliding out from under your foot with each step, spilling into your shoes, wedging between your toes. We tramped along, slowly drawing closer.

The vehicle was an old heavy Pontiac sedan. I wondered how fast he must have been going to make it this far. Deep tire tracks scarred the ground. The hood had popped and so had the trunk. The driver lay slumped over the steering wheel. Skinny, with shaggy black hair and bushy sideburns, torn jeans and plaid shirt. Except for the bloody barbed wire tattoo that circled his throat, he looked like a burned-out ex-cowboy. I was careful not to move him while I checked for a pulse but there was nothing. He already seemed cool to my touch. Maya looped around, passing the trunk. I turned to look at our car in the distance. No way could I carry this body alone over that loose footing. Even with her help we could not get him back to our car.

"We'll need to leave him here and call for help at the next town," I said. "Unless we get a cell signal sooner than that."

Maya did not answer. I glanced around but did not see her.

"Baby?" I called.

"I'm here," she said, softly. "Back here."

The trunk blocked my vision. I left the man and joined my wife. She stood staring into the open trunk.

Money. Bags of it. Big, clear, heavy gauge plastic bags of green. Nothing but fifties and hundreds, all neatly strapped in hundred bill bundles.

I turned to her. She was already staring at me, big eyes frightened.

"What the fuck, Sean?" she said. "What. The. Fuck."

I glanced at our car again, wishing I was someplace else.

"Is he dead?" she asked.

"Yeah."

Her bottom lips began to tremble. Death and mad cash. This was too much.

"Let's get out of here," she said.

"Good idea."

I started walking and did not look back. Five steps later I realized Maya wasn't with me. I turned. My wife had stopped. Her eyes were still big but the fear was gone, replaced by calculating opportunity.

"No," I said.

"But it's just sitting there!"

"It's not ours," I countered.

"It's not his anymore either," she said. "He's dead. Maybe he left it in a will to somebody, which I doubt, but it's going in the pocket of the next person to stop and check on the crash. Why can't that be us? Who needs to know?"

"Ripping off a dead man?" I said.

"Exactly, Sean: he's dead. His use for that money is gone. Over. Why waste this chance?"

"Maya, this is wrong. Incredibly, wildly, terribly wrong. Not to mention dangerous. This much money has a story. People come looking for this much money. People kill for this much money. No way. We need to get in our car and drive. This is a dreadful idea."

She shook her head. All that cash had dazzled her.

I drew a deep breath. Before I could stop myself I imagined all that money was ours, free and clear. I saw vacations and boats and cars. Then reality crashed my party. I felt the trouble radiating off that cash, the malevolence.

Maya was unconvinced. She turned and retraced her steps, hauling a bag out with both hands.

"Help me," she said, struggling.

"Fuck," I growled.

I know her. The conversation was over. She would haul all three bags by herself, then fight me to keep it. The better plan was to go along now and later, when her wits returned and the fear crept in, dump the loot and move on.

"We can never talk about this," I said.

"Agreed."

"I mean it," I said. "We must act like this never happened. Put it out of your mind. Do not allow this money to change the way we see things or act."

"Agreed."

I grabbed the other two bags and we trudged back to the Audi. I wanted to throw the bags in the trunk as-is but she said no, we'd hide the cash in the clothing in our suitcases and bury the plastic bags. I made a face.

"Have you done this before?" I asked.

She stuck her tongue at me.

"We'll tell the cops about the crash," she said, agreeing with my earlier comment. "When we get a signal or reach the next town. Whichever comes first."

"How much?" Maya asked about ten minutes and fifteen miles later.

"Cash?"

"Yeah."

I pondered. A hundred fifties equals five-thousand dollars. A hundred hundreds equals ten-thousand.

"I don't know," I said. "I'll take a wild guess and say around four to five hundred thousand dollars?"

"Like, half a million?" she gushed. "Dollars?"

"About."

"Jesus."

"Yeah, call on God. We're going to need his help. Although I doubt he'll get involved. We did steal it, and it's probably drug money. Nothing about this has God's stamp on it."

Maya looked nervous.

"We need to alter our route," she said. "There's too little traffic on this highway. Someone searching for that car would need only drive faster to catch us. Even if they didn't, they could investigate every motel and find where we stopped and what time we checked in. They'd know. We need a big city to get lost in. We need to switch to a main freeway with lots of off-ramps."

Her mind was cooking now.

"You're right about staying silent," she continued. "We must act like this never happened. Let's put it out of our minds. We must behave as if nothing has changed."

She turned to look out the back window. A pitch-black night greeted her.

"We need to head south," she said. "We can't just follow a straight line to San Antonio or Houston. "

"That will add time."

"We have a few days."

"That brings us closer to Mexico."

She caught my implication.

"Shit."

"Let's pull over and check the map," I said. "There's a rest stop in ten miles. We can decide on a new plan. We should assume someone is already after us."

She gulped. I drove.

"I'm not sorry," Maya said after a long period of silence. "Life rarely offers you moments like that. I would have kicked myself forever if I'd walked away."

"I hope you're right. We must be careful."

She nodded. We drove the remaining miles to the rest stop without speaking.

Two dark cars sat in the parking lot, facing the restrooms, separated by a dozen empty spots. A big rig had pulled in along the far side, taking up an entire row. A pale glow emanated from the windows.

"I need to pee," she said.

"Me too. I'll meet you back at the car."

"No. Wait for me outside the women's room. You always finish first."

She looked anxious. Behind us I heard the door open on the rig. I checked the side mirror. A skinny woman climbed out, adjusted her short skirt and tube top, and head for the women's room.

"Ready?" I asked.

Maya nodded.

We left our car and hurried to the cinderblock buildings. I stopped at the door as Maya entered, smiling to the skinny woman as she passed on her way out. After a minute, I began to worry about leaving all that money in our car. When Maya emerged, I said I'd walk her back and then use the men's room.

"That way we never leave our car unattended."

"You're going to leave me in the car alone?"

"Can you think of a way we can both take a piss and never leave each other alone? I'll be quick. Anything happens, blast the horn."

She wasn't thrilled but she sat.

The men's room stank and the lighting was an energy-saving dim. Three stalls lined one side and trough ran along the other. A guy from one of the cars in the lot stood at the trough, dick in hand.

"Sup?" he asked as I entered.

"Nothing," I said. "How you doing?"

He shrugged.

"Fighting with my fiancée," he admitted.

I took a spot not too antisocially far away but not too weirdly close either. I took out my dick, and, because it's almost impossible not to, glanced first at his face to make sure he wasn't looking at me and then at his dick.

What a bazooka. He was about eight inches soft, resting on his palm, steady stream spraying. I quickly looked away. All thought of a conversation died. I finished, he finished, we washed and departed.

Maya opened the lock and I sat. She had the map in her lap.

"Okay," I said. "We agree we must leave this highway, but I need sleep soon. What route can we take that's not too far out of the way but still has motels?"

We began our search. Without phones or the Internet, thumbing through that map was a pain. Outside we heard Mr. Eight Inches arguing with his girl, pleading with her to get back in the car. We stopped to watch and Maya had me crack my window so she could hear better. It was the usual; you don't care about my feelings; you don't listen to me when I share how I feel. They served up plenty of angry words to each other.

"She was in the bathroom same time as me," Maya said. "Crying."

"I talked to him, briefly. He says they've been fighting a lot."

I decided not to mention his big dick. After twenty minutes the girl demanded the keys and he handed them over. He took the passenger seat and away they went.

No matter how Maya and I tried to arrange it, there was no way we could leave this highway. Not yet.

"At Fort Stockton we head south," she said. "We take the Two-Eighty-Five to the Ninety and ride that all the way in."

I agreed. We pulled onto the road again, tiny red brake lights far ahead. At least we had another car on the highway with us. That might come in handy when trying to confuse the inevitable murderous cartel thugs that stalked our trail. I felt bad using those people without their knowledge and prayed all my worry and precautions proved unnecessary, but nobody gives up that much money. Maybe the dead guy stole it from someone that didn't know yet, or didn't know who had taken it, but better safe than sorry.

Chapter 3

We found a hole-in-the-wall motel, surrounded by dead weeds. She wanted a nice big room but I mentioned now was a bad time to throw money around and attract attention.

"We need people to forget us," I said.

We dragged our suitcases inside. I shot the deadbolt and closed the curtains. I hit the bed like dead weight.

"Get up," Maya said. "I need that space."

"I'm exhausted, Baby. I need sleep."

She kissed me and then pulled on my foot until I got off the bed. One by one, she circled the room emptying our suitcases of cash. A pile formed. My stomach flipped at the same rate my heart raced. Think of all the things we could buy. Think of all the places we could go. Think of all the help we could give friends and family. I sat in a nearby chair. Maya began forming stacks of the bundles. I watched her work but my eyelids grew heavy.

"Wake up," she said.

She looked exhausted too.

"How long was I out?" I asked.

"Thirty minutes," she said. "We have five hundred twenty-two thousand, four hundred ten dollars."

"Jesus."

"Yeah."

The money sat in stacks on the dresser. She'd formed bricks of matching denominations with hair ties. The top of the chest of drawers looked like a Manhattan skyline.

"I'll feel better in the daylight," she said. "I doubt I'll be able to sleep."

Turns out, she could.

We woke later than we intended, broke her bricks apart and hid the money in our clothing again, loaded the car and checked out.

"Breakfast here or drive through later?" I asked.

"Here. Money or not, I'm starving."

"Thank God, me too."

We pulled our car around to the small restaurant attached to the motel. I parked in front of the big front window so we could see our car from the table. The hostess seated us. The place was empty beside one man with his head down at the corner booth.

"We haven't called the police," Maya said. "About the wreck."

I shook my head.

"By this point," I said. "I'm inclined not to. The guy was dead. Let someone else call it in. I want to get to Houston as fast as possible with zero entanglements. Who knows if they can trace the call and know it was us?"

She shivered, creeped out by being that close to a dead man.

"Fine with me," she said.

The waitress took our order and poured coffee. I glanced at the man in the corner. Our food arrived remarkably fast.

"The cook was thrilled y'all came in," the waitress joked. "He was bored."

We dug in. Within minutes our full bellies had us feeling better. The bright sunlight, the blue sky, the fresh air all did their part and by the time we had the bill we were smiling.

At last, the guy in the corner lifted his head.

"That's the guy from the rest stop," I said.

"He's cute," Maya said. "Like, really cute."

I made a face at her. I examined his table and the single cup and saucer and then scanned the parking lot.

"He's alone," I said.

"Maybe she's getting gas?"

I studied his face. Pure misery.

"I think she dumped him and took the car," I said. "Look at the poor guy."

It was true. He had dark circles under his eyes and deep lines etched in his face. He needed a shower and a shave.

"Go talk to him," Maya said. "See if he needs help."

I took another sip of coffee and slipped out of the booth.

"Morning," I said as I approached his table. "We met at the rest stop."

He forced a smile.

"No offense," I said. "But you're looking a little down and out. Trouble?"

He rubbed his face with his hands.

"She took off," he said. "Bailed. I knew this fight was more serious than others but I never expected this. She drove off with my wallet, my phone...everything."

"You hungry?"

He looked up at me, wondering if I was a weirdo, a creep, or full of shit. He decided I was just a nice person.

"Starving."

"Join us," I said, "My wife, Maya, and I are having breakfast. Let me buy you something to eat."

His face softened.

"That's generous," he said.

I shrugged.

"No big deal. Come on over. I'll introduce you."

Maya slid around to make room, placing her in the middle.

"I'm John," he said, shaking Maya's hand. "Everyone calls me Johnny."

"Maya," my wife replied. "That's my husband, Sean."

The waitress came and took his order and refilled our coffees. He was traveling to San Antonio to see his brother and hopefully borrow money.

"But Angela, my fiancée, wanted to go the other direction. Head for Hollywood and make money in the movies."

"She's really pretty," Maya chimed in. "I met her in the bathroom. She was crying and we talked. I'm sorry, I didn't know your situation. I told her to never give up on her dreams. I think I may have pushed her away from you."

"She is pretty," he admitted "She's gorgeous. But she's wild and impulsive. I love her but she drives me crazy."

Soon his food arrived and he stuffed his face. Maya met my eyes. I swear I knew what she was thinking.

"We're going to Houston," she said. "We pass through San Antonio. We can drop you at your brother's."

He stopped chewing.

"Thireothly?"

"Absolutely," I echoed. "Why not?"

I acted cavalier but honestly, I liked the idea of another guy around to help protect Maya. The danger had receded some but why not another pair of eyes looking out for things? We'd skip telling him about the money but pay his way. He swallowed a mouthful of scrambled eggs.

"That would be amazing," he said, beaming. "Twenty minutes ago my life was screwed. You guys are incredible."

An hour later we were rolling down the highway again.

John proved an excellent travel companion. He rode in the backseat, head stuck through the middle gap. We each talked about our childhoods, favorite movies and books, social issues and political stands. I'd learned John was ex-army. We didn't agree on everything but he was an intelligent guy who had solid reasons for feeling the way he did about things. We stopped for lunch and again paid for John.

"I can't keep doing this," he said.

"You're covered," Maya said. "We can't let you starve. Take our number and pay us back when you can if that makes you feel better."

Maya plucked pen and a business card from her purse and gave John her number. I felt an odd tightening in my nuts watching her do it. Maybe because my wife was giving her number to a guy she'd already called cute. The sensation wasn't exactly jealousy but felt a lot like it. John stuck her card in his pocket.

Not much happened for hours. I drove, we talked, we cruised through long periods of comfortable silence. We stopped for dinner and then drove some more. The sun set. We occasionally stopped to stretch our legs or use the restroom, or, twice, check out an amazing scenic view. High desert rock formations can be breathtaking.

At last we pulled in for the night. The place looked like a converted warehouse, with one old sign out by the highway, but it served our purposes. Nobody with a sudden windfall of cash would pick a place like this, right? Each unit had one bed, one bath, and a couch. John joked about having dibs on the couch.

Maya said she needed a shower and I volunteered to find us snacks. John began surfing channels. I inadvertently took the long way to the machine and cut across the parking lot on my way back. I saw the bathroom window for our room ahead. Then I saw the dark silhouette of a man's head.

My heart stopped. I was sure the cartel had somehow found us but quickly realized it was John. He'd stepped outside for smoke and spotted Maya showering. He scanned the area, blind to me, and moved closer. The cherry tip of his cigarette glowed. There were semis parked off the lot and I moved closer, using them to shield myself from his view. From there I scurried behind a cinderblock structure used to hold the dumpsters. I was close now, close enough to see beyond him into our bathroom, close enough to see the flesh tones of a naked Maya and know that John saw everything. She stood before the mirror, brushing her hair, full tits wobbling.

John took another look around and, satisfied he was hidden, unzipped and pulled out his cock. His hand began a slow slide. His long thick cock was floppy at first but expanding quickly. He dropped his cigarette and ground it into the dirt.

I did not fault him for looking. Who knows how long he'd gone without? Maya is attractive and has a hot little body. He didn't plan this, he'd stumbled upon it, and that was much less creepy. He continued to stroke and grow and, oddly enough, I felt a growing sense of pride. I liked that Maya turned him on. His cock was big and I liked that he jerked it for her. He stayed and watched and so did I. Maya got in the shower and soaped. The stall was cheap flat glass so he saw plenty. She rinsed, exited the shower and dried, dressed in a loose T-shirt and a pair of my boxers, and left the bathroom and John and I stayed rooted through it all. He rushed his masturbation towards the end and I heard soft grunts as he came. I waited for him to leave and then worked my way around. He was in front of our room smoking again when I walked up.

"Nice haul," he said.

I lifted the assorted chips, nuts, and candy.

"Score," I agreed.

Inside, it was his turn to shower. Maya opened the dry roasted peanuts and flipped channels. I had the sudden urge to make another snack run, leaving the two of them alone. Maya doesn't smoke so the odds were slight anything would happen.

What the fuck was I thinking?

Anything would happen?

Of course nothing would happen. Maya would never cheat on me and John, despite his recent voyeurism, was a good guy.

I shook my head.

"Everything okay?" Maya asked.

"Yeah."

"Wha'cha thinking? I saw you shake your head."

"Just trying to figure how much longer until we reach San Antonio," I lied.

Before she could say anything else, I stood.

"I forgot gum," I said, as my brain yelled at me. "Be right back."

She pursed her lips, awaiting a kiss, and I gave her a peck before closing the door behind me. I double-timed it to the convenience counter and bought gum and then triple-timed it back. I took up my spot same as before, spying on our room. My logical mind reminded me nothing would happen but my illogical mind hoped something would. I was surprised by my own desire. After a minute, I spied a closer hiding place beside the building and next to a soda machine. I moved and now had a view into the bathroom. I heard John signing an REM song, his head topped with suds.

The door opened and my wife's head slipped through the gap.

"Johnny?" Maya called out. "I'm so sorry. I left my phone in here. I'm just going to grab it real quick. Is that okay? I promise to keep my eyes closed."

"No problem," he said, chuckling.

Then he casually turned his body to face the glass, allowing her to see everything. He innocently continued to shampoo. Nice move, dude. Maya stepped into the room and stopped. She stared as her jaw dropped. John kept his eyes shut as the sudsy shampoo ran off his head.

"Find it?" he asked. "I hope I didn't put my clothes on top."

"Got it!" she said.

Maya took a long, lingering look at the man before plucking her phone from the counter and heading for the door.

He gave her a thumbs-up but kept scrubbing. My wife leaned in for another look, running her eyes from head to toes. She shut the door and I hurried around the building.

"Gum!" I announced, stepping through the front door.

She sat her phone on the television and pushed me against the wall. She kissed me. Hard.

"What's happening?" I stammered.

"Shush. We have no time. Johnny will be out soon."

Maya sank to one knee and unzipped my pants. She stuffed my soft dick into her steaming mouth. I clamped my jaw shut. She sucked ferociously, both hands holding my ass. I got hard fast. Much faster than usual. I got hard and I got ready to cum in record time. My balls were tight and my dick throbbing. Sexual tension had my body taut.

"Give it to me," Maya said, popping me out of her mouth for an instant. "Don't hold back. Just cum in my mouth."

She sucked me in again, bobbing, stroking my dick with one hand while gripping my ass with the other. I accepted her request and groaned, legs shaking as I blew a hot load in her mouth. She sucked until the last drop leaked and then moved to the chair in the corner. I heard water run in the bathroom sink and quickly zipped up. John entered the room a moment later wearing boxers and a wife beater. My wife casually followed his movements, running her gaze over his form.

"Have you talked to Angela, Johnny?" Maya asked.

He shook his head.

"No phone, no money," he replied.

Maya pointed at the phone by our bed.

"Call," she said.

He looked at me.

"I'm going to shower and shave," I said. "Call her. I'm sure she's worried."

He laughed but raised a palm.

"I doubt it but all right."

Both wore skimpy bedtime outfits. John walked to the phone. His cock made the front of his boxers dance and swing. It was obvious something heavy hung behind that fabric. I headed for the bathroom leaving my wife alone with him. I didn't look at Maya. I was sure she noticed.

I took my time in the shower. Sexual tension filled our room and I found myself enjoying it. Maya found Johnny attractive enough she felt the need to hide it from me, and that said a lot. I wondered how far she'd take it.

By the time I entered the main room John was asleep on the couch, his back to us. Maya watched TV with the sound off and the covers up to her hips.

"They fought again," she whispered, gesturing at John.

I crawled into bed. Maya snuggled me, kissed my cheek, then gave me the most mischievous look. I furrowed my brow. She placed a hand atop my head and pushed me under the covers. The last thing I saw before the blanket descended was Maya smiling. I trailed kisses along her smooth skin, across her tummy and down her thighs. Her legs spread as I drew near the prize. I teased with the tip of my tongue, discovering my wife was already soaked, and then stabbed deep. I lapped like a dog, enjoying her body going tense and then relaxing. I wondered if she gazed at John while I ate her sweet pussy.

Chapter 4

After that night, every minute the three of us were together was pure sexual torture. My balls ached all day. Maya and John flirted constantly, always pushing boundaries. Maya spoke in innuendo often, dropping suggestive double-meanings that left John and me gasping. She'd laugh at our shock, unaware her behavior now fueled my secret lust. A sting of jealousy was always followed by a rush of horny.

Maya decided John needed more than just the clothes he wore so they went shopping in the motel store. She bought him two Hawaiian shirts and a pair of cargo shorts. They had almost nothing in his size and all of it looked dated. Maya said she needed new clothes too and tried on a few bikinis and halter tops before deciding on a couple of bare-shoulder and V-neck crop-tops. She also bought some white short shorts, complaining that the desert was too hot. I did not remind her the Audi had air conditioning. John and I watched her model, giving thumbs up or down.

She sat beside me now, staring out the windshield, talking a hundred miles an hour and showing all kinds of skin. I wasn't complaining, I'm no prude, but John was enjoying the view too, and Maya knew it. She'd skipped a bra this morning and we'd gone almost two hundred miles before I realized John could see more through her arm hole than I could staring at her cleavage.

We passed our first sign that mentioned Fort Stockton and everyone cheered. We ate a late lunch at Dickey's Barbecue Pit before branching off to head south on the Two-Eighty-Five. In minutes, we'd left the town behind and traveled through flat, wide-open country. The only thing sharing this highway with us were big rigs and bikers. The sun takes a long time to set when you're surrounded by open plains, but once the light faded driving at night was swimming in pitch-black. John stayed awake but Maya dozed, jamming her purse against the door to rest her head. Her loose top had gaps everywhere, exposing pale skin in the glow from the dashboard.

She awoke an hour later.

"Bathroom break, next stop," she said, groggy.

The next stop turned out to be a liquor-store-motel-dive-bar combo called The Happy Pig. Gravel lots surrounded the building and semis and Harleys parked wherever they wished.

"Thank God the name isn't Titty-Twister," John said.

I snorted a laugh. Maya looked confused.

"From Dusk Till Dawn?" I asked. "You've never seen it?"

"No," she said.

About ten guys hung out in the parking lot along with three women. They all looked like unwashed outlaws.

"Want to try the next place?" I asked.

"No," she said. "I can't wait, and the next place is likely to look just like this one. You stay with the car."

I understood what she meant: You stay with the money.

"Okay," I said. "But put on a sweatshirt."

She looked at all the exposed skin and smiled bashfully, but put on the shirt.

"I'll go inside with her," John offered.

"Thanks," Maya and I said at the same time.

I watched them cross the lot together, closer than usual. She was frightened by this place but enjoyed bumping shoulders with him. He held the door open and they disappeared inside.

I turned my attention to the gang in the lot. They drank beer from forty-ounce bottles and smoked. The three girls were paired with their men leaving seven guys running stag. I watched the interactions and determined one man, a tall fat guy with enormous beard, was the unofficial boss of them all. Everyone laughed at his jokes or listened when he spoke. He focused his attention on one of the girls, a large breasted brunette wearing a tight Faith Hill T-shirt, and her guy, a tall and scrawny man wearing a cowboy hat, did not like it. He told Fat Beard to back off. Words were exchanged, voices raised, chests puffed. Idiots.

Maya and John left the building, hurrying to the car. They climbed in, watching the gang with me.

Fat Beard grabbed Faith Hill by the wrist and pulled her away, slapping her ass and pulling her close. She struggled and Tall Scrawny took a menacing and defiant step forward. Fat Beard swung a sledgehammer fist against his jaw and sent the skinny man sprawling, hat flying. Most of the group laughed. Fat Beard kicked the downed man hard in the ribs and then again in the face.

Maya looked like she was going to be sick.

"Shouldn't we help him?" she asked.

"I wish we could," I answered. "But we are vastly outnumbered."

Scrawny tried to lift his head but Fat Beard hit him hard on the jaw. He went down and did not move. Fat Beard stood over him and unzipped, flopping a long soft dick out of his pants. He urinated on Scrawny's head. The gang laughed.

"That's awful," Maya said. "Just because that fat pig wanted the other guy's woman? What a bastard. She should knee him in the balls."

She didn't.

Some unspoken code, some shared law of the jungle instead made her lean against the triumphant Fat Beard. He'd taken her. He owned her now and she knew it. She'd passed from one man to the next. We all saw it. I looked at John and he shook his head slowly. We'd hate to face Fat Beard. The man was a beast.

"She's rubbing against that asshole," Maya murmured, disbelieving. "What the hell is wrong with her? That's her man on the ground. Where's her loyalty?"

"Different rules," John said from the back seat.

We watched in silence for another minute. Scrawny rose from the ground to lean against the car, wiping pee off his face. He lit a cigarette with trembling hands and watched Fat Beard and Faith Hill start making out. Brutal. His tortured expression affected us all. His girl had been taken from him by force and he had to live with that. One of the girls tried to console Scrawny but got pushed away. Scrawny watched Fat Beard cup a plump tit and roll it around.

Eventually the gang, including Scrawny, got on their motorcycles and pulled out of the parking lot. Faith Hill rode on the back of Fat Beard's bike, tits mashed against his back.

"I bet he fucks her," Maya said. "He's probably taking her someplace now. What a harsh world they live in."

We watched the long line of bikes roar away.

"I feel bad for that tall guy," Maya continued. "One minute they are happy and in love and the next she's fucking another man. Damn."

"They're still in love," John said. "She's just getting some new dick."

"You're terrible," Maya said.

"You guys stay here," I said. "My turn for a bathroom break."

Inside the place was dark and smoky and stank of piss, sweat, and old spilled beer. Nobody looked at me as I walked in. I saw the red neon bathroom sign towards the back and headed that way.

Five steps later an icy chill swept through me. As I passed a booth on my right, seated at the table, talking with another man, was a burned-out cowboy with a crusty bandage around his forehead. I tried not to stare but wanted to be sure. Yup. Same pants, same shirt, same hair.

Same coiled bloody barbed wire throat tattoo.

Fuck.

The driver had survived.

Worse, his companion had the same tattoo.

I continued to the restroom and quickly took care of business, taking a different route to the Audi.

"What's wrong?" Maya said, the instant she saw my face.

"Met another asshole inside," I lied.

John knew nothing of the crash or the money in our suitcases and I wanted to keep things that way. That cash would bring us trouble. I knew it in my heart. I felt it in my bones. I wished there was some way I could Make Maya see what I saw, but there wasn't. In her mind, she was already spending it.

"Let's get out of here," I said.

They agreed and moments later I powered down the highway. Maya knew something was up but kept her mouth shut.

"We should have grabbed food to go," she said after a while. "I'm starving."

"Let me check the map," John offered. "I'll find a place."

I stepped on the gas. There was no police presence out here so speeding would not be a problem. I wanted a lot of miles between us and the Cowboy.

"Glenda's," John said. "About twenty minutes ahead. Breakfast twenty-four hours. It's a trucker place."

"Sounds good," Maya said. "We'll get it to go and eat in the car."

I drove faster.

Glenda's was a residential ranch house. They'd built an add-on to seat about fifteen people and the cook. Glenda worked the grill, serving up eggs, hash browns, and steak. I parked in front by a couple of big rigs and we hurried across the dirt lot. I held the door while John and Maya hustled in. I closed the door and joined them, discovering Fat Beard and his crew seated around two picnic tables, eating. The place had a backdoor. Fat Beard looked us over as we passed, eyes lingering on Maya and her loose top.

"Nice big titties," he muttered, staring. "Nice ass, too."

Faith Hill turned to look, giving Maya a contemptuous sneer. We stepped to the counter behind a trucker and when he finished we placed our order.

"To go," Maya added.

We moved to the end of the counter for pick-up. Glenda was fast and soon we headed for the door, John and I carrying bags of food. It smelled great. I was eight feet from the door when Maya yelped behind me. I turned.

Fat Beard had her on his lap. She struggled and squirmed, uselessly fighting against his thick arm. He was murmuring to her and laughing but she was furious. He held her with ease. With his free hand, he peeked down her top, pulling the material away from her body with a finger.

"Fucking asshole!" she yelled, pounding on his forearm.

He laughed louder. John and I spun and headed back.

"Let go," I snapped.

"Or what?" Fat Beard drawled.

Except for him, every one of his men stood. Even Scrawny. Idiot. I froze and so did John.

"Have a seat," Fat Beard said. "Take a load off. I might steal your woman but I won't steal your food."

His gang laughed. Maya continue to struggle and Fat Beard whispered in her ear. She froze.

"Sit," Fat Beard said, gesturing.

The guys made room for John and myself, separating us by two men. Maya looked at me with pleading eyes. The other patrons avoided us. Even Glenda. I suspected they all knew of Fat Beard and his gang and wanted no part of them.

"Move your ass back," Fat Beard told Maya, tugging her closer. "Yeah, right there. You feel me? That's all Liam, Baby. Your big titties got me excited."

Faith Hill scowled at her potatoes.

"Where y'all headed?" Liam asked.

"San Antonio," I said, telling a half-truth.

"May I get off your lap, please?" Maya asked, wriggling.

Liam ignored her. He shifted in his chair, clearly maneuvering his cock further between her legs. My wife gasped.

The man began a casual conversation with me. Everyone returned to their meal. He insisted we eat before our food got cold, so we ate, although my mind never stopped searching for a way out of this. Liam helped Maya eat and had her feed him too. Cute. We all calmed down. I began to think they might let us walk out of here once we finished. Maya shifted on his lap, getting comfortable.

"Oh," he said. "That feels nice. Do it again."

"I didn't do anything," Maya said.

"Move that ass, girl. My big cock likes that. You got an ass as nice as your tits. Rub on me a little bit."

Maya froze. Liam raised an eyebrow.

"Remember what I told you," he muttered.

Maya made a small circle with her butt.

"Yeah," he said. "Keep going."

He opened his mouth and Maya stuffed scrambled eggs in there, moving her ass on his crotch. He nodded encouragement, smiling as he chewed. Maya braced herself, one hand on his knee, and continued her bizarre lap dance.

"She making my dick hard," he told me. "You stay here. We'll be back."

I rose to my feet, making fists. Maya rose with me, alarmed.

"No!" she barked, showing me a palm. "I'm okay. Don't worry."

I saw in her eyes she feared for my safety. These bikers just needed a reason to beat on this city slicker. Liam chuckled and lifted her off his lap. His arm circled her waist as they headed for the backdoor.

"She'll enjoy this," Faith Hill scoffed. "I can tell she's that kind of girl."

I didn't ask what she meant. Her jealousy was obvious.

My blood boiled. Rage filled me. Acting on that rage would do nothing but get me and John beaten to bloody pulps. To goad me, Liam placed a hand on Maya's ass just before they left the building.

"Sit," one of his men told me.

I was burning with anger but powerless. The man that told me to sit had iron eyes. He wore a ring on every finger. I wondered if I could take him in a fight but quickly realized there was no way. I remained standing.

"Take him to watch," another biker said. "Let him keep an eye on his wife."

Rings stood and lifted his T-shirt, showing me a revolver in his waistband.

"That's a good idea, T-dog," he said. "He wants to make sure no harm comes to his little lady. I'll show him Liam knows how to treat a woman."

Laughter erupted from the table. Rings motioned towards the back door.

"Move," he said.

The door opened onto a dirt lot. On the far side stood a car cover made from sheets of rusted tin. Their bikes sat under, running the length of the structure. Liam was swinging a leg over his Harley while Maya stood by. He saw us and grinned.

"He was worried about his wife," Rings mocked.

"Bring him over," Liam suggested. "I'll show him she's in good hands. I'll show him she wants to be here with me."

Rings walked me over, lagging about three feet behind. My eyes were glued to Maya. I saw she was worried, anxious, and frightened. Liam straightened his legs and settled into his long seat. My heart stopped when he drew down his zipper. He reached inside, working to free a long, bulky erection. The thing had a bulbous helmet head, the shaft was covered with thick veins. Maya was unaware what happened behind her.

My blood froze. That thing was like a gun pointed at your face. Danger radiated. It sat there like a pulsing threat not only to Maya, but to me too.

"Come on, guys," I pleaded. "This is no joke. You are playing with fire. This is a felony. Let us go now and we'll say nothing."

Liam touched her shoulder to get her attention.

"Not a crime if she refuses to leave," Liam said. "Do you want to leave, Sweetheart? Do you remember what I told you?"

Maya turned. Her gaze fell to his exposed cock. Her eyes went wide, shocked by her discovery. Liam grinned like a fool.

"You want to leave, Baby?" he asked again. "You want to leave or you want to hang a while and maybe suck this big dick? Just lean over and put my cock in your mouth if you want to stay."

Liam eased back on his chopper, long dick sticking straight up in the night air. Rings chuckled. He'd seen this a million times and never tired of it. Liam raised his arms and locked his fingers behind his head, the picture of confidence. I knew Maya would walk to me. I was stunned when she reached for his penis, her fingers circling the root. She bent, lips parting. His head disappeared into her mouth, followed by several inches. Liam met my stare, gloating.

"Take your top off," Liam he told her. "I want to see those big titties."

She held his cock in her mouth while unbuttoning her shirt. She flipped the garment backward. Her breasts swayed as her mouth began a slow bob. She reached for his dick again but he swatted her hands away.

"Use just your mouth," Liam said. "Let me see my dick in there."

Maya placed her hands on her knees and moved her mouth up and down. The sight crushed my heart. Why was she so willing? What did he mean by Remember what I told you? Had he threatened her? Did he threaten me? We all remembered the beating he gave Scrawny. Did he warn her mine would be worse?

Her cheeks dented. She was sucking, working his cock like she'd worked mine so many times. Her head dipped faster and faster, her tongue a vacuuming whirlpool whipping the head.

"Goddamn," Liam exhaled, caught by surprise. "Bitch is gonna make me cum. I can't hold back."

Maya sucked faster and harder. Liam groaned, knees rising slightly.

"Shit!" he exclaimed. "Yeah!"

He grabbed her head like a vise, hips jerking as he blew his load. Maya gulped, trying to avoid gagging, drinking his hot spewing semen as he filled her mouth. Her eyes watered but she only sucked harder. He had to push her away, a final blast painting her face. She wiped her face with both hands, smearing his semen over her bare tits. Her eyes wild and animalistic. She suddenly came back to herself and looked at the ground, ashamed.

"Fucking hell, girl," he panted. "That was the best blowjob I've ever had."

"My turn," Rings said, unzipping.

My heart thumped. How many would use her? I pictured Liam offering her mouth to his crew. My stomach flipped.

"The fuck it is," Liam barked. "This bitch is mine. Take him and the other guy and saddle up. Meet me at Luther's."

I relaxed, breathing deep, grateful he was selfish. Liam's hands trembled as he tucked his softening penis into his pants. He started his bike and scooted forward.

"Climb on," he told my wife.

She hesitated.

"I gave you what you wanted," she said. "Release us."

"I will, but not yet, not now that I know. I need to sample the rest. Don't worry, your man is coming too. Grab your top but leave it off. Climb on."

She turned to me, caught like a fly in a sticky web. We were outnumbered and outgunned. My shoulders sagged.

She plucked her shirt from the dust. She threw a leg over the seat, tits smashed to the sides, arms circling his waist.

"Get the Audi," he told me. "Follow Benny and the others."

The roar of his engine rattled my brain.

Chapter 5

I wanted to leave immediately but Benny wanted another beer first. Then another. The guys chuckled at my growing discomfort, knowing Maya alone with Liam was driving me insane. They drank and watched me squirm.

"Liam got a big dick, huh?" Benny asked.

I said nothing.

"She looked eager to suck it," he added. "He didn't force her at all."

The guys guffawed, trying their best to goad me.

"You saw with your own eyes," he went on. "She gobbled him up. She worked him like a whore. Poor Liam couldn't hold back. She wanted that nut."

I clenched my teeth. They went on, planting barbs, each trying to top the other until the fun wore off and they gave us permission to follow them.

John jumped in the car and we trailed the gang down the highway. They exited at a gravel drive blocked by a long rusted metal arm, closed the gate behind us and then blasted along a long dirt road, winding into the low foothills and buttes. At last we made a final turn and pulled into an open area. On the far side sat an imposing three story house.

The place was a dump. Nice at one time, someone had long ago built a lovely mansion out on the Texas plains. The huge dwelling appeared over a hundred years old. Whoever lived here abandoned the place and disrepair set in. Liam and his band of idiots squatted on the forgotten estate and trashed the place with broken down cars, motorcycle parts, trash from food wrappers, and an almost infinite number of empty liquor bottles.

Liam's bike sat next to the porch.

I noticed Faith Hill drifting back to Scrawny. They argued for a minute. He was hurt, but he accepted her. The gang directed us inside and we took seats around a rundown living room, littered with mismatched furniture. I glanced around looking for Maya.

Benny, formerly Rings, told me to calm down.

"Where's my wife?" I demanded. "This is bullshit. You're holding her against her will. That's a serious crime."

"You a cop?" Benny asked.

"No."

"Then shut the fuck up. Nobody forced her onto that bike. She's here of her own free will. Nobody forced her to stick that dick in her mouth."

"Liam threatened her," I said, my voice rising.

His eyes jumped to the closed double doors at the back of the house. I assumed that would be the master bedroom. Benny stepped close and smacked me in the mouth.

"Shut your hole," he said. "She's with Liam. She chose that. It's done."

I slumped in my chair, defeated. Our only hope was luck and opportunity. Benny guarded me close for ten minutes but when I didn't move he got bored. I locked eyes with John and saw he understood.

"Hey, Benny," he said after a few minutes. "Where's the bathroom?"

"I'll take you," Benny said. Then, to me: "Stay put."

I waited for them to leave then casually moved towards the double doors. Everyone was engaged in their own thing; talking, laughing, drinking, and nobody gave a shit about me. I assumed the doors were locked so I cut through the kitchen, planning head outside and find a bedroom window.

"Where you going?" Faith Hill said.

She sat on the kitchen counter sipping a beer from a can.

"Fresh air," I said.

"Riiiiight."

I tried to walk around her.

"I wouldn't do that if I were you," she said. "Liam catches you, there's gonna be a severe beating."

"He has Maya," I said. "He has my wife."

She shrugged, unmoved.

"I've seen Liam take plenty of wives," she said. "Some fight like hellcats. Some need a punch in the mouth. Yours didn't fight much." She took a sip then pointed her can at me. "Hell, yours didn't fight at all."

"He threatened her."

"I'm sure he did. She gave in awful easy though, don't you think? Other wives need to test that threat to make sure it's real."

I didn't mention we'd already seen Liam kick the shit out of Scrawny when he stole her from him. We knew the threat was real.

"Truth is," she continued. "Liam understands the female mind. We want the biggest, baddest man to come for us, fighting or frightening the other men away. Nothing gets me wetter than two men brawling over me."

I gave her a second look. Would two men fight over her? She was pretty, I had to give her that. She needed a bath and her blonde hair washed and cut, but her tits were big and firm and her ass round. She had pretty eyes but she was obviously annoyed. Liam had chosen Maya and that stung, so this woman was taking it out on me. Taunting was revenge.

"What's your name?" I asked, deciding I needed another friend in this place.

"Brenda. Yours?"

"Sean. My friend is Johnny. My wife is Maya."

Benny stuck his head in the kitchen, pissed I'd left my chair but relieved when he saw me talking to Brenda. He jerked his chin at her.

"He's yours now," he said, leaving.

She smiled back.

"I think your wife Maya fucked your friend Johnny," she said. "I seen them back at The Happy Pig, before Glenda's. They were right up on each other."

"They like each other," I said, remembering the bathroom incident. Brenda shrugged again.

"Believe what you want," she said. "If Maya ain't fucked Johnny yet she will. I know her type. I seen it plenty. In fact, I'll bet you twenty bucks Maya is fucking Liam right now."

I winced like I'd been stabbed.

"If she is it's only because her forced her."

"Nah. Your wife is not the loyal virgin you think she is. Trust me. Women know. We can size up women in an instant. It's men we never get right. You all are a fucking mystery."

Her claim burned in my gut.

"How would we know?" I asked.

"If she's fucking him? Easy. Follow me, but shake on it first."

I shook her dainty hand. She took me out the kitchen door but looped around, entering the house again and following a narrow hallway. I stayed close as she made a few turns.

"Through here," she said. "There's two ways into the master bathroom."

We stepped into a large room with a huge tub and mosaic tile floor, spectacular in its day but now falling to ruin. She slowed as she approached another door, partially open, and peeked around the jamb. I was dying to know what she saw. After a few seconds, she faced me.

"Told you," she said smugly.

Ice water rushed through me. What was happening in the other room?

"Look," she whispered, moving aside. "See for yourself."

I held my breath and slowly peeked.

Maya sat astride Liam. Her white short shorts and panties dangled from one ankle. Her hands rested on his big belly and she lowered her tits to his mouth, dragging her nipples through his beard. Her hips ground against his. Her face was twisted with pleasure. She lifted her hips, exposing his thick pole, glistening and gleaming with her excitement.

If this was forced, why was she soaked?

She drew close to the head, labia swaddling the tip, then settled her hips again, encasing his cock in her hot, wet pussy. I needed air but I dared not breathe, fearful what might come out my mouth. His thick, pulsing cock in her was a dagger in my heart, but I couldn't look away.

"Twenty bucks," Brenda whispered. "Pay up."

I ignored her. Maya may have been coerced at the beginning but she fucked him freely now. Her body writhed atop his, savoring the sensations his dense cock sent rushing through her. He feasted on her tits, jumping from one nipple to the other, slathering her full orbs with a wet tongue.

"Don't feel bad," Brenda cautioned, joining me at the door, rubbernecking like me. "I told you: I've seen Liam take plenty of wives. He's scary at first but he turns into a big ole bear. He makes us feel like he's on our side. We feel safe right away. He's got a way about him that we end up wanting to fuck the man, belly or no. His tongue is talented and that dick, oh my Lord, that dick feels amazing. You can see your wife has discovered that for herself."

I just stared. Maya rode that hard fat pole like she was born to it.

How had we come so far so fast? Weren't we just ordering food? Didn't we stop for a bathroom break mere minutes ago? How did another man already have his cock inside her? This was insane, Twilight Zone stuff.

Her head slowly tilted backward as her mouth opened.

"She's gonna pop," Brenda said. "See her little asshole winking at us?"

I shook my head, confused. Pop?

A long, drawn-out moan floated from Maya's throat. Her fingers dug into his soft chest and her legs gripped his body. Her sphincter clenched and unclenched rapidly. Her toes curled.

"Here it comes," Brenda breathed, almost reverent.

Maya's body clamped down. My wife growled, grinding her hips harder than before. Suddenly she cried out, throwing her head back and pumping her hips with blinding speed.

"Oooooohhhhhh fuuucking Gaaaaawd!" she yelled, cumming hard.

A thunderbolt slammed me. An epic orgasm ripped through her as she rode his curved inches. I watched his cock send her soaring, her body awash in blinding pleasure. My ego had no retreat. I couldn't remember her cumming like that with me. Something had raised her higher than ever, lifted her into the sexual stratosphere.

"Ayeeeeeeee!" my wife cried, still cumming. "Nnnnggh! So deep!"

Brenda squeezed my arm and it's a good thing she did because I was about to storm in and start a fight. Liam would have kicked my ass and then let the other guys beat me too. Maya arched her back and clawed his skin, that deeply buried cock splitting her in two. Her gargantuan climax continued, peaking and draining away slowly. Strange moans poured from her throat.

"Look at her go," Brenda murmured, face aglow. "That would have been my dick tonight. Thief."

I stumbled against the door. My world tilted. My beautiful wife fucked him hard, pussy stretched tight around his meat. She was soaked, wracked with pleasure, lost and wheeling.

Did she refuse him when he brought her in here? Did she resist his advances?

I knew those questions were unfair even as my mind formed them. I had no idea what she'd been through, what he'd said to her. I just hated how easy this appeared, how quickly we got to this point. Worst of all, I heard happiness in the sounds she made, joy at his cock sliding in and out. She slowed as her climax faded. Liam chuckled, softly stroking her face, playing with strands of hair. I wanted his hands off her. Brenda pulled me away from the door and held out her hand.

"Twenty," she said.

I fumbled for my wallet, stunned, placing two tens in her hand.

"Told you," she said again. "You saw it yourself. Maybe he threatened her, at first, although I doubt that, but you saw the way she fucked him. She was into it. I bet she offered to suck it first. Be glad you didn't see that. I bet she gobbled him like steak."

"Just stop," I muttered. I couldn't take anymore. Worst of all, a thread of truth ran through everything she said.

"Help us get out of here, Brenda." I murmured. "I can't stand it."

Her face softened.

"Yeah," she said, pity in her voice. "All right. After Liam nuts he'll sleep and nothing wakes that man after a good nut. Once he's asleep we can hustle her out the back door and around to your car."

After Liam nuts...

Good God. What a fucking brutal night. How had I never considered that? That man was going to ejaculate inside Maya. He would inseminate my wife. This stranger would empty his balls, fill her womb.

I groaned. Brenda steadied me.

"Let's go back to the kitchen," she said. "You don't want to see what happens next."

I let her lead the way, one foot dropping in front of the next. She opened a can of beer and handed it to me, watching my face closely. She opened another for herself and checked on the living room before returning and leaning against the kitchen counter.

"You look miserable, dude," she said.

I couldn't speak. In my head Liam's fat cock stabbed Maya over and over, stuffing her dripping pussy. Brenda set her beer on the counter and checked the living room again briefly, then stood before me.

"This will take your mind off Liam banging your wife," she said, shoving pants and underwear to her knees. She pushed my shoulders down and I let her, knees weak. Her bushy pussy smelled like sweat but when she yanked my head forward, instinct took over. I was strangely aroused and eager to please, licking her cunt wildly, desperate to make her cum. I grabbed handfuls of ass, pulling into my mouth. I needed to know I could please her.

I did, and she came hard, rocking her hips on my face. After, she pulled her pants up and hopped on the kitchen counter. She stretched out, knocking empty beer bottles and burrito wrappers aside.

"I need a nap," she joked.

She closed her eyes.

Dazed, I wandered to the living room. John sat talking to a cute brunette but most everyone else was gone or passed out. I dropped into a chair.

"Where you been?" John asked.

"Jesus," I muttered.

"You all right? Where's Maya?"

I waved towards the back of the house.

"Who's she with?" he asked. "What's she doing? Is she okay? Sean, snap out of it. We've got to get her and go before it's too late."

A loud, deep groan bounced up the hallway, clearly Liam's voice. John made a face.

"What the fuck is happening, Sean?"

Liam roared with satisfaction. At that instant, he was shooting sperm into Maya with incredible force. He roared again and again. I covered my head with my arms. Weaving in and out of Liam's guttural moans I heard Maya's shrill voice urging him on. John stared aghast, mouth open. We stared at the carpet a long time, listening to the big man orgasm.

After, the house fell silent. John and I sat speechless, lost in thought.

Finally, Brenda entered the living room. She put a finger to her lips and motioned for us to follow to the kitchen.

"You have everything?" she asked, once we arrived. "Wallet? Car keys? You're leaving nothing behind?"

"Just my pride," I said. "We're ready."

We followed her out the back door and around to the double bathroom again. She peeked in.

"Liam's asleep. Get the girl and I'll lead you out but I need something too."

"What?" I asked.

"Take me with you. I'll catch a bus in San Antonio, maybe head to my sister's house. I've had it with this place and these losers."

"All right," I said, instantly. "Get us away and you can come along."

It was all much easier than it seemed. I know in the movies the villain always wakes but not this asshole. Liam was dead to the world. Drugs, alcohol, and, apparently, a monster, earthshaking orgasm courtesy of my wife, left him wiped out. Maya was drowsy but quickly understood, grabbing her clothes and running out the door naked. We hurried to the front of the house, I started the car and we all got the hell out of there.

Chapter 6

Maya dressed as I drove: panties and then short shorts, socks and shoes, top, buttoned up the front. John stared from the back seat, his eyes eating her alive. Brenda wouldn't shut up, talking fast about all the things she was going to do now that she was free of that gang.

I stared out the windshield. Those panties she just put on were holding her pussy closed, trapping all that jizz inside.

"What the fuck happened back there?" I growled.

Maya faced me.

"He gave me choices," she said. "Watch them beat you with baseball bats or watch them blast your knees with a shotgun."

Her throat constricted remembering that moment.

"Or decide that sex with Liam wasn't such a bad idea."

"Ha!" Brenda laughed from the backseat. "He was bluffing. He'd never do that."

"How was I to know?" Maya asked.

I saw Brenda shrug in the rearview mirror.

"I guess you couldn't," Brenda said. "He's a good fuck though, right? I mean, you were in a bad situation but once you got rolling, he's a good fuck."

Maya looked out the passenger window as the night raced by.

"Right?" Brenda insisted.

"Yeah," Maya said, her voice a harsh whisper.

"He was gonna fuck me tonight but you got that dick instead."

"Lucky me," my wife mumbled.

She could say she had to but I saw her passion.

"I've fucked him a few times," Brenda said. "He waits until my boyfriend, Chet, gets really into me, like all loving and affectionate and shit. That's when Liam makes his move. He likes taking women from their men. It's a power trip. I think that big schlong makes him do it. I'd probably do the same if I was a guy with a dick like that. I'd fuck all the bitches."

I stepped on the gas. I wanted Liam as many miles behind us as I could get. Brenda wouldn't let it go. She stuck her head between the front seats.

"He leaves your pussy tingling, don't he?" she said. "Chet gets mad when I talk about it but it's true. Can you still feel him in there, Maya?"

"Yes," my wife mumbled, her voice so low I barely heard it above the rumble of the Audi's engine.

"Yeah," Brenda admitted, falling into the back seat. "I feel him for a few days after. It's nice."

My heart pounded inside my chest. We all fell silent and I checked John in the mirror. His eyes drifted again and again to Maya. He'd seen her nude twice now and by the look on his face, she'd cast a spell on him.

"Check the map," I said to no one. "Find us someplace to crash tonight."

"That's easy," Brenda volunteered. "Once we hit the Ninety we can stop in Sanderson or Dryden. Dryden is a better place to hide, but Sanderson is nicer, if y'all have the money."

Maya and I exchanged glances. Yeah, we had the money.

Our eyes locked for an instant. She was worried and I was angry but in that moment, something flashed between us, something hot and sexy, something dark and wicked. A fire burned behind her eyes, something almost evil. I was frightened by it, for an instant, but then my heart skipped a beat. My blood raced.

I concentrated on driving. Miles flew by. I was speeding but there was no cop out here to cite me. Something nibbled at my mind and it took almost an hour to bring it into the light.

"Brenda," I said. "What did you mean about Dryden being a better place to hide? Hide from what?"

"Liam," she said.

"Why would Liam come after us?"

She jerked a thumb at Maya.

"Because of her."

"He already had her," I blurted. "Maya is my wife."

"So? Liam takes women from men. He does not tolerate men taking women from him. You ain't the first hubby to grab his wife and run."

"Maya is mine," I said, emphasizing each word.

"Maya is Liam's," Brenda said, stating fact. "Until he gives her back. He'll come for her, once he wakes up. I promise."

I stepped on the gas a little more.

"You should have mentioned that before we ran," I said.

"Why?" she said. "Would you have left her there? No. You saw how she fucked him. You think you could have seen that a second time and not flipped out? I don't."

Maya slowly turned her head towards me.

"You...saw us...fucking?" she asked.

"Yes," I said, avoiding her gaze.

Brenda's unfiltered honesty was going to be a problem. Maya stared at me but I wouldn't look at her. How did this get turned around on me?

"We stop at Dryden," I said.

"We can stop at Sanderson," Brenda said. "I remembered a hiding place."

The car rolled along in silence.

Brenda directed us to Granny's Guest House, a single-family residence on the edge of town that rents rooms to travelers. Granny looked about a hundred years old but spoke with a clear, strong voice. She showed us around the place before handing over our room keys and heading to her office.

"Me and Chet hid here from Liam," Brenda said. "After he made it clear he was coming for me. Chet hates it when Liam fucks me so he threw me on his bike and took off. We stayed, waiting for Liam to cool down, but he fucked me anyway the minute we got back to the mansion. He tied Chet to a chair and made him watch but we never did give up our secret hideaway place."

Towering buttes and flat-topped mesas loomed as we drove down Fourth Avenue. A fence ran along their property. Wild country started on the other side and ran to the horizon. We were many miles from anyplace else. Their front yard was dirt. A windmill turned in the backyard. Broad steps ran up to the front door.

I paid for everyone but the rate was cheap. Brenda volunteered to share a room with John, to save money, but I got them separate rooms. We dropped our stuff and grabbed dinner in the big dining hall, then all of us retired to the suite I got for Maya and me. John started a fire in the big rock fireplace.

Brenda started sharing stories from her time with the gang and we listened dumbfounded. What a crazy life. Liam was both charming and dangerous. I learned some women like that combination. We all swapped stories, drank wine, and got sleepy. John said goodnight and Brenda left soon after, hinting she was going to seduce John, if she could. We wished her luck. The door closed and Maya and I were alone for the first time in a long time. She got up and shot the deadbolt. She still wore the button top and short shorts combo from yesterday. She put her back to the door. She looked at everything in the room except me. A long silence followed.

"Say something," she said at last.

"You did it to protect me. Right?"

"Yes."

"Then why are you acting guilty?"

She shrugged. I waited to see if she'd go on but she didn't.

"You orgasmed," I said. "I saw it. I saw everything."

She winced.

"Yeah," she said. "Sorry about that,"

"Why? If your reason for fucking him was to protect me, how in the world did you get excited enough to cum?"

"It just happened."

"It wasn't all about keeping me safe," I said. "Admit it. This conversation will go nowhere unless you start acknowledging some truths."

At last her eyes rose to meet mine.

"The sex was hot, Sean," she said. "He's kind of gross but the man knows how to fuck. His cock is so big and hard. I tried to stay passive but I couldn't, my body responded."

She was hedging.

"Did you suck his dick?" I asked.

"Jesus, Sean."

"Yes or no?"

"Why would you even ask that?"

"I need to know everything that happened. I can't have blind spots. They'll drive me crazy. I need to know everything and I need you to stop hiding. The more you hide the more he knows about what happened and I don't. I'm your husband. I should know more than him."

"I'm afraid I'll hurt you."

"You probably will. That's no reason to remain silent. We were in an impossible situation, Maya. I understand that. Anything you say will be viewed through that lens. It's not like you cheated on me."

She left the door to come sit beside me.

"I do feel guilty," she said.

"I understand but tell me everything. I need to know what I missed while you were with him."

She took my hands.

"You know I sucked his cock. You saw me do it behind the restaurant."

"Yes, I mean after. Did you again? Voluntarily."

She took a deep breath. Her barriers crumbled.

"Yeah," she admitted. "We got to the mansion way ahead of you guys. There were people there but Liam shooed them out of the bedroom. He asked if I'd decided and I told him yes. He unzipped and hung his dick out of his pants, telling me to show him rather than tell him. I backed him to the bed until he sat and then I got between his legs."

She stopped talking and stared at the ceiling, exasperated.

"Why do you want to hear this, Baby?" she whined. "I feel shitty talking about this. I feel shitty remembering what I did."

"No wife should have secrets with a man not her husband."
She sighed.

"I started sucking. He got hard fast and I guess I got into it. I was flattered. He's a mountain of a man, fat but strong, solid, dangerous, ruthless, and unafraid of anyone. I was terrified of him until I got his cock in my mouth. He started moaning. He turned tender and gentle. He melted. Now instead of terrified and powerless I felt some control. I teased him with my tongue. He encouraged me, closing his eyes and describing how good I felt. The more he talked, the more I wanted to please him. He got on the bed and told me to get to work. I got turned on. I'm sorry, Sean, but I did. I tugged my top off and my shorts and panties out of the way. I mounted him, guiding him in. I shouldn't have but I figured he would force me anyway so why not do it myself?"

"You fucked him?"

"Yes, at first. Then he flipped me over and pounded me for a while. I almost came. Then he flipped me on top again. I guess that's where you came in."

"Yeah."

"You watched?"

"Yes."

"Why the fuck would you do that?" she asked. "If I ever saw you with someone else I'd storm off. Why did you stay? Did it make you feel awful?"

I thought back to that moment.

"Yes and no," I said. "I was relieved you were safe but stunned you were so aggressive. You fucked him hard. You were wild, like you loved it."

"I did love it," she said. "I orgasmed."

"Yeah, I was there for that."

"I'm so sorry, Sean."

I waved it away.

"It was an impossible situation," I said.

The same wicked light from earlier flickered behind her eyes. She squeezed my hand gently. We sat in silence, lost in our memories of that event. Time passed and the sexual tension grew. The air became thick with it.

I don't know how I knew, but I knew. I felt it. I grabbed a handful of her hair and shoved her backward on the couch. She threw a leg around my waist. With my free hand, I ripped her top open, buttons flying. My dick ballooned.

"Fuck me!" she hissed.

I tore my clothes off, keeping her pinned. She shoved her shorts and panties down, her milky, creamy slit staring at me. That was Liam right there, in her. My mind cartwheeled. I yanked her leg free and shoved it backward, stretching her gash and opening her labia. My dick was aimed at the prize so I rammed into her cunt. Liam lubricated me, permitting me to sink all the way in.

"Fuck me!" Maya hissed again. "Fuck me, Goddamn it! Pound me, Baby! Punish your little slut wife!"

I bent her legs over her body. Her spread slit oozed sperm and I powered right through the heart of it, hammering her little opening until semen droplets splattered and Maya groaned. I didn't hold back at all. I pummeled her, penalizing my wife for her faithless orgasm with Liam. I was desperate to ejaculate. She clawed at my thighs.

"Shoot it in me," she groaned. "I need you in me. He made me cum so hard, Baby. I couldn't hold back. I'm sorry! That man felt soooo goood..."

Sweet Jesus my mind exploded. My balls heaved and spewed. I groaned like I was brain damaged and unleashed a volcano, boiling lava spraying and white light filling my skull. On and on my climax gushed. It wasn't sperm leaving my balls, it was my life force. Eventually my strength gave out and I crumbled.

For a long time, we didn't move. Maya finally touched my shoulder and I realized I was crushing her. I rolled to the floor with a thud. She lay with one leg along the back of the couch and the other hanging in space. Her shorts and panties hung from her ankle. I pointed at them and chuckled.

"They were hanging just like that when you fucked Liam," I said.

She knew exactly what I meant.

She slid off the couch with a moan, landing face-down on me. She held my face and kissed me deep and with passion, staring into my eyes, gaining my full attention.

"When...I...fucked...Liam," she repeated, her voice a harsh whisper.

We kissed again; hot, passionate, desperate kisses. She moved into a sixty-nine and sucked me clean, licking all our combined fluids. I slapped my tongue against her steaming cunt and devoured her, tasting the three of us just like she did. I couldn't cum again so soon but she could, and I made sure she did. She tasted like betrayal and I licked every inch of her pussy, inside and out, with an aroused and aching heart.

She came so hard she cried.

Chapter 7

Breakfast, never tasted so good. The food, the orange juice, the toast; even the coffee was especially delicious. Maya and I giggled a few times.

"What the fuck is going on?" Brenda demanded, laughing. "What did you guys do last night?"

"Wouldn't you like to know?" Maya teased.

"Yes!" Brenda said, throwing a piece of toast across the table. "What happened last night? Last night we were running for our lives but this morning y'all are dreamy like newlyweds. Why?"

Maya and I locked eyes. Truth be told, I couldn't tell Brenda what happened exactly. Yes, Maya and I had sex, but we've had sex a million times. Last night was different, last night was something new. We'd uncovered a connection where there should be none. I knew Maya felt the same way. My wife fucked Liam and somehow that turned us on. I'd never heard of such a thing. We gazed at each other across the table, wildly excited by this new possibility.

I drank the last of my coffee. Maya lifted the chrome pot sitting on our table and hovered over my cup.

"More?" she asked, eyebrow raised, her word drenched with meaning.

I knew exactly what she meant.

I stood. I dropped my napkin on the table and without a word headed back to our room. Maya laughed and tossed her napkin at Brenda.

"Bitches!" Brenda yelled at our backs.

Today Maya had on a denim skirt and white dress shirt, tied in a knot at her waist. I left her top alone as I pushed her cheek against the bedroom wall and lifted her skirt over her ass. I discovered she'd skipped underwear.

"No panties?" I taunted. "Is that for Liam?"

Maya groaned from the bottom of her heart. I pressed my body against hers, pinning her to the wall, and guided my erection between her ass cheeks. I found her sopping wet slit and buried my dick.

"Did Liam fuck you like this?" I growled, mouth close to her ear. She shook her head.

"No time," she moaned. "I had to get his dick in me."

Her words enflamed me. My penis turned to diamond. Her words excited as much as they infuriated. I'd stood by and watched his cock plunge over and over. I'd heard her cries of pleasure. I was driven mad at the same time I was aroused. It was an impossible, vexatious riddle.

Her cunt was extra slippery from all the ejaculate she had in there. I jammed her shoulders to the wall and pounded her pussy. Her excited narrow tunnel squeezed me, milking the shaft, clinging tightly to every inch despite the flood of semen she carried. I wouldn't last long but I didn't need to. Maya's excitement surpassed mine.

"Are you imagining Liam fucking you?" I snarled.

"I know it's not," she sneered, playing along. "Liam's much bigger."

I smacked her ass and gripped her waist, hammering her hard enough to bounce the portrait of Washington hanging near her head. Her pussy clenched me.

"It drives you crazy," she gasped. "We fucked and it drives you crazy."

"It does!"

I pounded harder, slamming my hips against her ass.

"Me too," she moaned. "I'd fuck him again. I want to."

She slapped her palms on the wall. Her back arched and she came, spraying spit and struggling to remain on her feet. I drilled her hole like a piston, releasing my steaming load in a rush once her climax peaked. We leaned against that wall, panting, sweating, dizzy with lust.

We didn't talk about it. We instinctively knew that taboo subject was only allowed during sex. We didn't talk about what was happening because if we did, there were serious matters we'd need to confront, and exposing those issues would kill what we were feeling. We wanted to avoid that because whatever this was, it was intoxicating.

She adjusted her shirt and smoothed her skirt. I zipped up and ran my fingers through my hair. Satisfied, we opened the door to return to breakfast. John and Brenda were finishing up when we entered the mess hall. A small group of truckers in the corner began to applaud when they saw us.

"Could you hear us?" Maya asked Brenda.

"Not too bad," Brenda said. "Nobody in Oklahoma or New Mexico heard you but the rest of us did."

Maya didn't even blush. We took our seats and finished our cold eggs and toast. I drank about a gallon of strong coffee. We finished, returned to our rooms to grab our stuff, stopped to buy all four of us a Granny's Guest House T-shirt, and then loaded the car and piled in.

"San Antonio," John said, pointing out the windshield.

We drove through the small town until pulling onto Highway Ninety again, beginning one of the longest stretches of boring road you'll ever meet. For almost five hours we sang, played mind games, told stories, or napped. John offered to drive and I let him, despite his stolen license. I was drowsy and the desert heat made it worse. I leaned my head against the seat and closed my eyes.

"Put that away," I heard Maya whisper.

I opened my eyes to slits. Brenda napped at the other end of the backseat, head tilted at a weird angle. Maya rode shotgun. She glanced at me but my closed eyes fooled her.

"Just touch it," John said. "Let me see your hand on it."

I swung my gaze his way. Through the gap between the front seats I saw his dick sticking up from his lap. Maya stared at it then jerked a thumb at me.

"Husband," she muttered.

"You fucked Liam," John said.

Maya stiffened.

"So now it's open season on Maya?"

"I thought it would be okay," John stammered. "Sorry."

He stuffed his penis in his cargo shorts and fumbled to zip up. Maya studied his face. She placed a hand on his driving arm.

"It's all right, Johnny. You just surprised me. I'm flattered but-" she jerked a thumb at me again.

"I understand."

"You got a nice dick, though," Maya teased.

We rolled along, the sun reaching a high point in the big sky and then slowly sinking behind us. I pretended to wake and replaced John behind the wheel. Maya rested her head in my lap. The car fell silent as I plowed through mile after mile of ranchlands.

I caught a glimmer of reflected sunlight in the rearview mirror. Someone was coming up behind us, and coming fast. I nudged Maya's shoulder and she sat up. She checked my expression and turned to look out the back window.

"Trouble?" she murmured.

"Might be," I whispered. "We've avoided it a long time. Can't avoid it forever."

She checked to make sure Brenda and John slept.

"Liam?" she asked.

I stepped on the gas but there was no way to avoid the inevitable. Whoever it was simply had a faster machine, or was willing to drive like a maniac.

"Maybe. Or maybe it's about the money we stole."

She made a face.

"How could that be possible, Sean?"

I plowed ahead. Time for truth.

"The driver from that crash wasn't dead. I saw him at The Happy Pig, on my way to the bathroom. He looked beat up but very much alive."

"You're telling me now?" her low voice was strained.

I looked at her in astonishment.

"A lot has happened since then, Em," I said. "We've not had a quiet moment alone at all."

She thought hard for a minute.

"How could he have found us? There was no one to see what we did. We left no clues behind."

I shrugged.

"Have you seen another black Audi S8?" I whispered. "If a person did nothing but crisscross the highways and ask the right questions, they could track us down. Let's say he came to while we loaded the money. He stumbles to the road as we're pulling away and sees what kind of car we drive. He hitches a ride or maybe someone misses him, like when he fails to deliver the cash. If they started searching, especially if there are more than one of them, they could have picked up our trail. On a road like this one, heading in a certain direction, we have few options. Highways in the middle of nowhere only run from one location to the next."

"Let's leave the highway," she murmured, scared. "Pull down some dirt road. Hide and let them pass."

"That only buys a little time."

She wrung her hands.

"Shit, Sean, what do we do?"

Ahead I saw a gravel drive and an open gate.

"We try your plan. At least we'll get a look at them."

I slowed and left the shoulder. The bouncing car woke Brenda and John.

"Flat tire?" John asked.

"Pee break," Maya said. "Emergency."

"I got napkins," Brenda offered, yawning.

I turned onto a dirt road and slowly rolled forward. I resisted the urge to drive faster because that would raise dust and there was still enough light in the sky to show it. I aimed behind a small hill of white rock and stopped.

"I gotta pee too," Brenda said. "I'll go with you."

The girls stepped out and Maya led them to a large bush. I walked to the back of the car, keeping an eye on the highway.

"You know," John said, joining me and pointing south. "Mexico is only about five-hundred feet that way. That river is the Rio Grande."

I looked where he pointed. Behind us, I heard the rising crescendo of multiple motorcycles. We all turned as they passed.

"That's Liam," Brenda said, afraid.

I watched Maya from the corner of my eye.

Maya was not afraid.

Chapter 8

"We should follow," Maya said. "Keep them in front so we always know where they are."

"We should continue ahead to Comstock," John said. "Then take the One-Sixty-Three north to Ten again. That freeway is busy with lots of off-ramps, too many for them to track us."

"I'm hungry," Brenda said.

I grabbed a granola bar from our snack bag and opened it. I handed the bar to Brenda. She smiled. They all turned to me.

"At least for now," I said. "We do both. The One-Sixty-Three connector is farther south so we must drive that way anyway. That means we will be following Liam and the gang. We need to stay alert. We cannot allow ourselves to stumble into them. They'll ask about us at gas stations and convenience stores and assume we're still ahead and haven't stopped yet, but eventually they'll realize they missed us and circle back. Hopefully by then we'll have reached our connection and be gone."

John and Maya nodded agreement.

I pulled onto the highway again. Our car was deathly quiet. I drove about an hour and passed a road sign promising gas and snacks ahead. I mumbled into the silence that I'd fill up the tank but nobody said anything, each of us lost in our own thoughts.

The store was a beacon of white florescent light in the darkness. I approached slowly, scanning the lot and surrounding desert for motorcycles. I drove past the place and then loop around, pulling to the pump facing west.

"Wait here," I told everyone.

I ran my card and started the fill, then entered the store for more snacks. Soon I found myself at the register.

"Audi S8?" the dopey kid ringing sales asked.

My heart sank.

"Yeah. So?"

"Nothing. I've had a couple guys asking if I'd seen one headed east but y'all are headed west."

"What do you mean 'a couple guys?' Like were they two guys together or one guy at a time?"

"One at a time. One man with a gnarly neck tat and then about an hour ago some biker dude. I doubt they knew each other. They seemed real different."

"What'd they want?"

The kid shrugged.

"Don't know. They each gave me a hundred and a phone number. Told me to call if I saw anything and they'd give me a hundred more. Good thing you guys are headed the wrong way."

I studied his face. He truly hadn't made the connection.

"Good thing," I agreed.

I returned to the car and disconnected the hose. I climbed in, started the engine, and sat staring out the windshield.

"What's up?" John asked.

I could tell him about Liam but not about the other man hunting us. Maya gave me a serious look.

"Check the map," I said. "Is there a road that connects Ninety and Ten? Something close to us right now?"

"The Ten-Twenty-Four," John said. "A strip of asphalt that takes us up to Pandale, then Pandale Road to Ten. But you're adding a lot of time. These are basically narrow roads in the middle of nowhere."

"Liam is spreading money around," I said. "Somebody will call him."

Fifteen minutes later I merged onto the Ten-Twenty-Four. Thank God for the incredible Audi suspension. The road was old dried blacktop and tar. Sagebrush and chaparral lined both sides, dotted with cactus. We had a hundred miles to go, all of it ass-vibrating rough road. I heard Brenda making humming noises from the backseat, pitching her voice to match the tone from the tires.

Two hours later I saw the headlight in my rearview.

Fuck.

Dopey Kid must have called anyway, hoping for the second hundred.

I checked often and one headlight became three. Liam must have split the gang to cover more ground. The lights grew closer fast and then the ear-splitting roar of huge engines screamed by. Two bikes pulled in front, one remained behind. They slowed so I slowed. They stopped so I stopped. Illuminated by my headlights, Liam and a man I'd never seen approached our car, guns in hand.

"Shit," Brenda said. "He's pissed."

Liam pointed through the windshield at Maya.

"Get your ass out here," he commanded.

"I guess I better go," she said.

I wished I heard more fear or reluctance in her voice.

"Yeah," Brenda said.

Maya climbed out. My mind raced. Liam pointed to his motorcycle and told her to get on. He pointed to Brenda in the backseat.

"You ride with Clive," he said.

Brenda left the Audi. Liam looked directly at me but I was watching Maya walk to his Harley. I swear she had a bounce in her step.

"Follow me," he said.

Maya swung a leg and settled in. Liam climbed in front and started the bike. My wife's arms circled his waist and she laid her head on his shoulder. He roared into the night with us closely behind.

We stuck to the road but after a while he pulled off and followed a dirt path. Sage scrapped the bottom of my car. Eventually this took us between some hills and into an open area. They parked the bikes and motioned for me to park the car. Clive and the other man began throwing down bedrolls and starting a small fire.

"We'll camp here," Liam said. "Head back to the mansion in the morning."

I shook my head.

"We have places to be."

"Then in the morning you can go," he said. "But Maya stays with me."

I took a menacing step forward and he plucked his pistol from his waistband.

"You got something to say?" he asked.

I stopped.

"Cuff em, G-Man," Liam said.

G-Man, the man who'd been riding behind us, pulled fat zip-ties off his motorcycle. He pulled my wrists behind me and ran the tie in a loop, pulling it taut. He did the same to John.

"Sit," he barked, shoving us to the open sand.

Liam approached his bike where Maya sat waiting, looking nervous. He grabbed her hair in a fist and bent her head backward, planting a hard kiss on her mouth. She remained frozen for several seconds but then her hands drifted up to hold his face. His free hand grabbed her tit and squeezed, mauling the large orb. They made out for a minute then he stepped back. He grinned.

"I thought I told you to stay naked in my presence," he said.

Maya looked surprised but then her expression turned to playful joy.

"I was riding in a car with my husband," she said. "You weren't around."

"So?" he asked. "I am now ain't I?"

"All right," she said, unzipping her skirt and unbuttoning her top. In seconds, she'd dropped her clothing at Liam's feet, wearing only her sandals. John gawked, staring hard at my naked wife.

"Clive and G-Man, y'all punish Brenda for me. I'll take care of little Maya."

I tested my ties and felt John do the same.

"Leave her alone," John growled.

The protectiveness in his voice surprised me. Liam ignored him and pulled naked Maya close for another kiss. His hand snaked around to squeeze her ass, her tits smashed against his chest. She ran her hand up his leg to rub his crotch through his jeans.

I checked on Brenda. She waited on all fours, pants and underwear around her knees, shirt open, breasts hanging free. She met my eyes.

"Told you he'd make you watch," she said.

Clive got behind her with his dick sticking out of his pants. Brenda grunted as he shoved it in.

I swung my attention to Maya again. Liam had kicked his pants in the dirt and now settled onto the seat of his Harley. He faced backward, leaning on the handle bars, cock sticking straight up, and Maya used the peg to throw a leg over and straddle his lap, eager to hide that fat cock inside her. The switch in her head flipped so easily regarding him. They both looked down at his hard cock.

"Did he miss me?" she asked.

"Did you miss him?" Liam countered.

"Hell yeah," Maya murmured.

She gripped his erection around the base and held him steady. She lowered her pussy, aiming carefully until the head spilt her lips. She relaxed her legs, engulfing his inches.

"Ohhh," she groaned. "Fuuck yeaaaah, that's good."

She hooked a hand behind his neck and slapped another on the bike seat and began to pump her pelvis up and down his cock. She lifted a tit to his mouth, her hips never slowing. She hauled her cunt up and down his pole, moaning with delight. My wife was happy to have him inside her again.

"Jesus," she hissed. "You turn me inside out."

We watched my wife. John looked hurt but she was turning me on. Her big tits wobbled across her ribs, her back arched over the seat, her thighs flexed, and her moans carried across our little campsite. Liam had wasted no time taking her from me, this time making sure I was there to see it. He turned to meet my eyes as my wife rode him.

Why rescue her? he seemed to be thinking. She's impaled and loving it. Look at her. Watch.

I did look. I did watch. I had no choice. I couldn't look away.

Maya fell forward, big tits smothering Liam's face. He grabbed handfuls, licking and sucking until pulling her mouth down for more kisses.

They were kissing when her orgasm hit. Her body clenched and Liam wrapped his meaty arms around her torso, helping her legs, ramming her up and down his strong dick. My wife howled into his bull neck as her body shook. Moments later, Liam threw his head back and shouted.

"Take it!" he cried, thrusting upward.

Maya ground her hips against his, eager for every drop he'd give.

Across the circle I heard Brenda's muffled climax. Clive was balls-deep in her mouth now as G-Man pounded her hole. She hated both men but her body betrayed her. They laughed as she trembled and climaxed, sandwiched between them. Minutes later they dumped their loads too, filling her from both ends almost simultaneously.

The guys got dressed but insisted the women stay naked. The men tended camp, spreading bedrolls on the soft dirt and stacking wood by the small fire. Liam passed a bottle of whiskey. Maya and Brenda drank with them, Maya getting comfortable on Liam's lap.

After a while John said he needed a bathroom break and G-Man loosened his pistol and walked him out into the dark desert night. Clive pulled Brenda close, fondling her big tits. I was too far away to hear their conversations but the women seemed remarkably comfortable. Maya especially enjoyed her role as camp harlot, maintaining constant bodily contact with Liam.

"Nobody fucking move," John announced, appearing suddenly and pointing G-Man's gun at Liam. Plastic ties hung from his wrist. His clothes were dirty, his lip bleeding.

"Holy Shit!" I yelled.

John helped me stand. He gave me a small knife to cut my binding.

"Maya and Brenda," he ordered. "Get in the car. Liam and Clive, throw your phones and put your hands on your head. Stand up."

Neither man moved, sizing John up. The gun roared as he shot the dirt as Liam's feet, kicking up sand and scaring the shit out of all of us.

"Goddamn G-Man," Liam cursed, rising.

Both men tossed their phones and placed hands on heads.

"Sean, start the car."

John walked over to the bikers.

"Your friend is out there, bleeding," he said. "He needs help. Move away from your bikes and keep your hands on your head. Clive, lay face down in the dirt."

I got loose and started rounding up the girls. I started the car, watching through the window as John took the pistols from Liam and Clive. He told them to start walking and came back for the knife. With it, he sliced the stems on the motorcycle's tires. Loud hissing filled our small camp. He waited until Liam and Clive were swallowed by darkness and then jumped in the car.

"Go," he said. "I didn't frisk them. They might have more guns."

"Liam doesn't," Maya said. "I would have felt it."

Her meaning slithered into my brain: Because I was all over him.

"Yeah," said Brenda. "Same with Clive. Ugh, I can't believe G-Man fucked me. Disgusting. I hate that low-life."

I hit the gas. We were free. Holy shit.

"That was amazing, John," I said. "I had no idea you are such a badass."

"I cut my tie on a rock while we sat and watched Maya and Liam," he said. "Once I was out there with G-Man I pretended I couldn't raise my zipper. He got close and I landed a haymaker. He dropped the gun and almost went down so I grabbed a rock and bashed his head."

"You saved our asses," Brenda said.

She held his face and kissed him. I noted neither girl had made any move to get dressed. Maya was beaming, happy and excited. Maybe it was the adrenaline of our escape but Maya naked in front of all of us was turning me on. I waited until Brenda and John were speaking to ask Maya a question, keeping my voice low.

"You plan on staying naked?"

She looked at her nude body in the passenger seat.

"Does it bother you?"

"No," I answered.

Her eyes darted towards Johnny in the backseat.

"I thought you liked it," she said. "I wish you could have seen your face while Liam fucked me. You liked that too."

She dropped her voice even lower.

"You want me to fuck Johnny?"

I tried to swallow in a dry throat.

"Do you want to fuck Johnny?"

She placed her hand high up on my thigh, a fingertip lightly grazing my jeans along my penis.

"Yes," she murmured.

Her eyes were huge in the darkness. We both knew what she was saying. This wasn't coerced. This time there was no implied threat. This would be me stepping aside willingly, allowing Maya to fuck another man simply because she wanted to. The idea sent my blood rushing through my veins. My mind raced a million miles an hour. Distracted, I missed the turn to get back on the road. Everyone yelled at once and then burst into laughter. Brenda and John started making out. Maya watched for a second then turned to me. She eased her thighs apart and slipped a finger inside, then showed it to me, shiny and gleaming.

"I guess we didn't leave Liam completely behind," she teased. "A lot of him came with us."

I silently gasped. She was killing me.

"You wasted no time," I said. "You couldn't wait to fuck him."

"Guilty. But come on; hot sex with an outlaw on the back of a motorcycle? That's like romance novel hot. That's like Hollywood movie scene hot. How many women get to do that in their lifetime? I know Liam won't hurt me. Not really."

"How do you know that?"

She raised her shoulders an inch.

"A girl knows. If I pulled a knife on him, sure, he'd hit me, but he'd never hit me just to do it. He wants me so badly he tracked me down, chased me to the ends of the Earth. Once he caught us, he cared nothing about punishing you. He hardly gave you and John a thought. He came for me. That's exciting."

"Will he come after us again?"

"Yes," said, shivering with anticipation. "I can see it in his eyes. He loves the hunt. He'll never give up. I'm all he wants."

She loved that a villain pursued us. She slipped her messy finger in her mouth and sucked.

"I need more dick," she said, lowering her head to my lap.

I pulled onto the highway as my penis hit the back of her throat.

Chapter 9

We hit freeway Ten and made some serious time. We passed two State troopers in the first ten minutes, so I couldn't speed much, but after the narrow bands of asphalt we'd been forced to endure five wide lanes felt great. We reached San Antonio in three hours. The girls got dressed, reluctantly, and I drove until I saw a Motel Six near a gas station and restaurant. I fueled the car, got us a room, a double with two queen beds, and made reservations at the restaurant, where we ate like pigs and drank too much wine.

We stopped at the motel lobby and bought swimsuits for Brenda and John and then sank into the motel jacuzzi with a gaggle of families. Our soak didn't last long before we headed to the room for sleep, each of us surprisingly exhausted and more than a little buzzed.

I showered with Maya and John showered with Brenda.

"They're getting intimate," Maya said as we listened to them laughing.

"Angela who?" I joked.

I turned on the television and killed the lights. John exited the bathroom wearing only boxers and Brenda only a big T-shirt. They dropped onto their bed like we'd dropped onto ours. Brenda nudged John's shoulder.

"Make the call," she said.

John grunted.

"Do it," she insisted. "Don't be a baby."

John turned to us.

"Brenda says I should call Angela and patch things up," he said.

"Do it," Maya echoed.

John rolled his eyes.

"We've heard from the women," he said. "Sean?"

"Yeah," I said after a minute. "You guys are still engaged, John. You can't leave that thread hanging. Work it out or tie it off but either way you need to make the call."

He nodded thoughtfully.

"Can I borrow your cell?" he asked. "For privacy."

I tossed him my phone and he walked outside. We watched television until he returned thirty minutes later.

"We'll meet in Houston," he said. "If that's cool with you all."

Maya answered for us all.

"Hell yeah!"

John spoke into the phone and then ended the call.

"Thanks," he said, returning my phone.

"No worries," I said. "You all right?"

He nodded.

"Better. Thanks, guys."

Brenda reached out her arms and John slipped into the hug. Maya killed the light and rolled on top of me.

"That was sweet," she mumbled, kissing me.

We fumbled in the dark, trying to stay quiet as we explored each other's bodies. My hands went for her tits, remembering how delicious they looked wobbling as she fucked. I quietly tongued her nipples in the dark, Maya biting her lip to smother any noise. We heard kissing from the bed next to us and then the rustle of clothing. A small feminine gasp drifted over.

"You're so big," Brenda whispered. "I thought big dicks always turned guys into assholes."

John did not respond.

"Jesus," Brenda murmured. "You're about as thick as my wrist."

Maya and I stopped to listen.

"Do they make you buy a separate ticket for this guy when you travel?" Brenda joked. "Do you wear underwire boxers?"

Maya giggled.

"Seriously," Brenda said into the dark room. "His dick is like a fire hydrant."

"I wanna see," Maya griped.

"Behave yourself," I demanded, half-joking.

Brenda turned on the light between the beds. John was on his back, Brenda's fingers circled the base of his erection. At least they tried to. She had him pointed at the stucco ceiling. She gazed at Maya with a knowing expression.

"Told you," she said.

Maya gawked for a moment and then turned hopeful eyes to me, catching me by surprise. What did she think could happen in front of our friends? Brenda knew exactly what Maya wanted.

"You've already seen her fuck Liam," Brenda said, tactful as always. "Let her fuck John."

My wife grinned playfully before swinging her attention back to that cock. He was already hard but with Maya's eyes on him, he surged even bigger. Veins stood out along the shaft. The head ballooned. Brenda chuckled.

"Johnny likes it when Maya looks at him," she crooned, without a shred of jealousy. "You like that pretty girl, John?"

"I do," he admitted.

Brenda began stroking his dick. John kept his eyes on Maya.

"Let them fuck," Brenda said, nudging me again.

All eyes turned to me.

"Look at this thing, Sean," Brenda continued. "Trust me, she'd love it. But you already know that. You watched her ride Liam."

I was torn. I couldn't just hand her over, could I? What husband does that?

"At the Happy Pig I thought they made a sexy couple," Brenda said. "I knew they had great sex just by watching how they moved together."

"We haven't had sex," Maya said.

The air was thick with sensual tension.

"Well that's a Goddamn shame," Brenda said.

Maya lay her head on my stomach studying my face.

"Yes or no?" she asked me, slowly sliding off our bed. Her shirt rolled up her body, revealing more and more skin.

"Yes or no, Baby?" she said again, giggling.

She moved closer to John every second. I became curious if she'd wait for my okay or if her desire was too strong. How far would she go? Her foot hit the carpet and she rested a palm on their mattress. She inched closer to their bed.

John's cock throbbed. He grew more excited the closer she got. Brenda too. Would I give in? The air boiled with seduction. Maya peeled her T-shirt over her head. Her big tits dropped like melons. Her nipples were rocks.

How far would she go? Would she fuck him without my consent? Liam had smashed an invisible and unspoken barrier. What had been unconceivable was now optional. The vows were shattered. What was one more cock?

Brenda continue to stroke the man but grabbed my wife's hand and pulled her up the bed, placing her hand around his dick too. They pumped him in unison, laughing like high school girls.

"Take my place," Brenda said, guiding Maya onto the bed while she slid off.

My wife maintained the rhythm, gliding past Brenda to assume her position next to John. Brenda came to my bed, laying in front so I spooned her. Together we watched Maya jerk John. Her familiar hand around his shaft excited me. My wife studied his thick dick, stroking slowly, making it last. He turned and they kissed deeply.

"He's gonna fuck her," Brenda concluded.

"I haven't said so," I murmured.

"This is about more than you," she said. "This is the power of nature. The universe wants these kids to fuck. The universe arranged for them to be here at this moment. You don't want to mess with that."

John caressed Maya's breast. Their eyes locked.

"We've been through a lot," Brenda whispered. "Let her have this."

My jaw moved but no words came. My throat was constricted by the sight before me. Finally, I forced words out but not the ones Brenda expected.

"I want her to do it without my approval," I rasped, voice barely above a whisper. "I want her to want it so much she does it anyway."

"Why?"

"I know her. I know right now she wars within herself, right and wrong, good versus evil. She's acting assertive but she's torn. She needs my consent."

"Then give it to her," Brenda murmured.

"No," I stated. "I want evil to win."

"Why?"

"Because I like seeing her this way. I love that she can't resist. Her sexual appetite has grown so strong. Liam did something to her. The beast is free."

Brenda squeezed my hand.

"This is intense," she whimpered.

"It totally is," I agreed.

We held our breath. Maya's hand glided from balls to head as she admired John's gorgeous weapon. She'd occasionally lift his balls to play with them, delighted by the weight and size. She heard us whispering and John did too but neither cared. They were lost in their own seductive, adulterous, faithless world.

"You kids go on with your little secrets," Maya said, smiling. "I've got everything I need right here."

She wagged John's stiff prick like a tail, holding the root and making the tower wobble. We all stared, so engaged with what might happen next nobody heard the click from the lock on the front door.

The door flew open and three men burst into our room, guns drawn. They spread out swiftly, shutting the door behind them. All three bore barbed wire throat tattoos. Brenda jumped to her feet but the rest of us remained frozen, too shocked to move. One man, with H-A-T-E tattooed down his knuckles, closed the small gap in the curtains. The man in the middle, around forty with a braided ponytail reaching to his belt, raised the gun to my face.

"Get our money," he said, with a strong Spanish accent.

Brenda looked at me, confused.

"You guys got the wrong room," she said.

Maya tried to slip out of the bed but Knuckles raised his gun. He leered at her naked body. She covered herself with her arms. John stayed where he was, eyes huge, dick hard.

"Grab everything," Ponytail said.

The third man, shortest of the three and standing close to Brenda, gestured at all of us.

"What about them?" he asked.

"Did I say grab everything?" Ponytail said, voice packed with scorn.

Knuckles and Shorty moved through the room loading what we owned, even Maya's hairdryer and Brenda's makeup. Ponytail kept his gun leveled.

"Get dressed," he told us. "No talking. Wear good shoes."

Maya looked terrified. John looked worried. Brenda looked bored.

"We don't have any money," Brenda said.

Ponytail stepped close to her.

"Not you," he said, pointing. "Them."

Brenda and John looked at us in wonder. The other men carried our belongings out the front door. Once we were dressed, Ponytail marched us out the door and across the desert floor to where a black Escalade sat hidden behind a small dune. Ponytail told Knuckles to follow in the Audi. They loaded us and our belongings and we drove away.

Ten minutes later John asked how far we were going and Ponytail backhanded him across the mouth. We stayed silent after that. Shorty drove cautiously, obeying all the speed limit laws and using his turn signals.

Minutes turned into hours. I watched road signs and soon realized we were headed for the Mexican border. A trickle of sweat crawled down my back. We passed a sign that said: Piedras Negras - twenty miles, and that's when Shorty left the freeway. He stuck to backroads and dark alleys, inching ever closer to the border.

Finally, he turned into a cul-de-sac with large warehouses at the end.

On one of the warehouses a garage door lifted and we pulled in. The door closed behind us and another opened in front. We drove for a while through a downward slanting tunnel and I deduced we'd gone under the Rio Grande. We'd left our United States. The little hope I had evaporated.

The tunnel ran for miles before we hit a ramp up. We entered another large garage and more men came. Each of them had the same neck tattoo. I heard heavy metal music through the walls. We were led to an office, our luggage placed on a nearby desk. Ponytail entered and sat on the corner of the desk. His gaze moved from me to Brenda to John and then to Maya, where it lingered.

"I think you are with him," he said in broken English, pointing first at her and then at me. "But we found you with him." His finger swung over to John. He shook his head sadly. "Americans."

"Why the fuck are we here?" Brenda asked.

Ponytail looked her over.

"Your friends stole from me," he said. "They leave my man for dead. But he wasn't dead, he's strong, and he saw the car of the people that robbed him."

He pointed at Maya then me.

"These people," he finished.

"Well these people ain't me," Brenda said. "So you can drop my ass on the other side of the fence."

Ponytail shook his head.

"No. I must learn if they were merely stupid and lucky or if they work for our enemies, the Pandilla de Siete."

"They work for no one," Brenda insisted. "John and I have been with them for days. It's just them. They don't even have this money you're looking for."

Ponytail gave her a hard stare. Wordlessly, he moved to the desk and opened our luggage. He began going through pockets, socks, hoodies, anyplace money could be concealed. He found one bundle of cash after another, stacking them neatly inside a large briefcase on the table.

"That explains a few things," John muttered.

Brenda's eye went wide.

"Holy shit," she said.

Ponytail loaded the cash, then secured the latches and slid the briefcase under his desk. He drew his gun.

"Out," he said, gesturing towards the door.

We marched in front, following his orders to turn left or right. The music grew louder and soon we passed through a bustling kitchen. When the doors swung wide on the far side, I saw a garish strip club beyond, flashing colored lights and brass poles. A wide variety of naked girls gyrated there, tits bouncing and pussies bare. Soon we entered an all marble shower area, wide open, with battered green lockers running down one side. Low benches faced the lockers, hooks adorned the walls.

Ponytail led John and I to a bench with a long chain attached. He ordered us to strip to our underwear and we did. He fastened manacles to wrist and ankle. He attached the long chain to the ankle manacles and then did the same to me.

"Water," he said, pointing to the sinks. "Shitter," he added, pointing to bathroom stalls nearby. "We'll bring you food. There is twenty-thousand dollars missing, but no problem, your women will work it off. In a few days, we'll let you go. To kill an American is to strike the hornets' nest. On the other hand, if you are Pandilla de Siete, I'll turn the dogs on you before I put a bullet in your head."

"We spent none of that money," I said, voice choking.

"I don't care. Maybe you are right. Maybe my man stole it. No matter. The money is still missing. Your women are muy caliente. They will make a lot of money very fast. You'll be headed home soon."

"How soon?" John asked. "I have to meet my fiancée. She'll think something terrible if I'm not there."

"Then your ladies better work the crowd real good."

Chapter 10

We may have been on the Mexican side but there were a lot of Americans at that strip club. The first night was terrible, I never saw Maya or Brenda. The next night the club was so busy, Ponytail put John and I to work as bar backs. We hustled all night.

I watched Maya on stage whenever I got the chance. She's no dancer but that face and body got the crowd going. I found out later her first two nights were horrible. She cried herself to sleep. I hated how powerless I was. Brenda gave her pointers on how to handle herself and that helped.

The American men were far worse than the Mexican. The Mexicans seemed to respect a woman's beauty. Some were grabby but the Americans acted like they owned the girls, as if once they gave money, they could do whatever they wanted. Maya and Brenda were pawed constantly, keeping the bouncers busy. I remembered some of my youthful trips to Tijuana and the obnoxious things I did. Ugly American.

Maya made it worse by encouraging the men. I think that was her form of rebellion, like: You may have me here but I'm going to give you a headache.

We were filling buckets with ice when John leaned close.

"We're never leaving," John muttered. "Our girls are a huge hit. No way these villains cut us loose."

He was right; Maya and Brenda drew a lot of attention. There were two additional American females working at the club but Maya and Brenda were far more popular. Joyce, a blonde from Montana, hated Maya.

"We are heading for trouble," John added. "We've got to get out of here."

We lifted the buckets of ice and returned to the bar. A backward glance showed Joyce whispering in some big dude's ear and then gesturing to Maya on stage. Dread filled my gut.

John and I worked our asses off. The place got busier as the night wore on. I took a different path out of the kitchen, hoping for a shortcut, but found myself in a hallway with arched openings lining the walls. The doors had been removed and strings of beads blocked each entrance. A thick-armed bouncer stood by. I gave him a head jerk.

"Camarero?" I asked.

He pointed back the way I came, then waved at the doorways, answering the unspoken question in my eyes.

"Putas," he said.

Whores.

Oh.

Before I left, one of the dancers from the main stage walked a man through the archway. She led him by the hand towards an open room, then pushed him in and followed, separating the rows of swinging beads like she was diving into a pool of water. The bouncer pointed for me to retreat so I did, dread turning my stomach to acid.

Had Maya been brought back here already? Is that why she cried?

My whole body went cold.

Now I watched the stage like a hawk. Every chance I got I spied on Maya.

When they weren't dancing, the girls were expected to move through the crowd and ask for drinks, boosting alcohol sales. I watched her closely then too. Ponytail insisted the girls wore lingerie while not on stage and Maya got felt up everywhere she went.

I was dumping trash when I saw the man Joyce had spoken to earlier approach Maya. He was a big guy, dark skinned but not black, with oily black hair and mustache. He wore jeans and a red and black flannel shirt, despite the heat in this place. I checked to see if he had the same neck tattoo that so many guys had but he didn't.

"Who's that?" I asked Rico, another bar back that knew some English.

He laughed.

"That's Secoya," he chuckled.

"Secoya? Like, the tree?"

"Yeah," he said, laughing. "Like the tree."

"He's not that tall," I said. "He's broad shouldered but maybe only an inch taller than me."

Rico chuckled.

"I bet he's taller than you lying down," he laughed. "None of the whores will fuck him a second time. The mean whores use him to break the new pretty dancers. The ones they don't like."

Secoya had Maya by the wrist. She seemed uncertain, pulling away, frightened. It took all my willpower to stay where I was.

The man cupped his big hand to her ear and whispered. He gestured around the club, pointing to other girls and nodding, grinning. Whatever he'd said, Maya was unconvinced. He turned serious, pulling a wad of money from his pocket. Maya eyed the stash, biting her lip and thinking.

A glance at Joyce showed her smiling broadly and talking in hushed tones with a couple other girls. They all watched Secoya and my wife, enjoying the joke they played. I'd seen enough. I knew what would happen next. I decided to head over and interrupt.

"No," a stern voice behind me said.

I turned.

Ponytail stood with fists on hips.

"Back to work," he said. "Bar three needs ice."

I hesitated and he scowled.

"Do as I command," he barked.

I slunk away. My last glance at Maya revealed she was headed to the back rooms. I knew what that meant. I double timed it, jogging to get ice for bar three and then returning to the hallway with the arched openings. I waited in a connecting hall and soon saw Maya and Secoya enter, directed to a room by the bouncer. I stayed out of sight, maneuvering closer, watching my wife through the beaded curtain.

Maya began to strip without being told. Secoya watched in appreciation until she finished, then he closed his fingers around her delicate throat. The hairs on my neck stood up as he pressed her against the wall. He straightened his arm, pinning her there, standing back to admire her beauty, rubbing the front of his jeans. He said something and she shook her head. He spoke again and she smiled.

He let go and my wife dutifully got down on her knees, lifting his flannel shirt to work on his belt buckle. He unbuttoned his shirt and tossed it in the corner. His torso was mostly fat with some muscle underneath. He had small random tattoos on his chest and a star around his bellybutton. He grinned in anticipation, looking forward to his favorite moment, one he'd lived a thousand times, one he enjoyed immensely. He rested his hands on his hips, waiting for the moment my wife met his cock. Strangely, I sensed the same feelings from Maya. He'd obviously bragged about his penis, like most guys do, but Maya seemed genuinely eager, like she hoped his boasts were true. She opened his pants and tugged them down. His thick cock rose before her, proving every boast he'd made was fact.

His cock was long but lumpy, thick but bent. I thought his penis looked ugly but there was no denying his size. He was uncut and untrimmed; a dark brown boa emerging from dense brush. Maya lifted the shaft and pulled the loose skin, drawing back the flesh to expose the large helmet head. His massive balls hung low in a hairy leathery bag. Maya sat on her heels, admiring the soft, repulsive meat. At least I thought he looked repulsive. If I was a woman I'd have nothing to do with him. My wife, however, was enthralled. Trapped in a Mexican whore house, forced to dance for the pleasure of men, separated from her husband and now, about to endure her first client, my wife slipped a hand between her legs to masturbate while she examined his unwieldy dick.

I've learned a lot about my wife over the last few weeks. I flashed back to that day, now seemingly so long ago, when I watched through our bedroom window as my wife touched herself. A long fat cock was involved that day too.

Maya ran her hands up his pudgy stomach and leaned forward to kiss his shaft. He impatiently grabbed her hair to force her head back and told her to open her mouth, which she did. He lifted his limp dick and slid it inside, easing all the inches she could take without closing her mouth. He held himself like that, savoring the sight of his long cock resting on my pretty wife's tongue. He grinned down at her, enjoying his dick stuck in the face of this gorgeous American woman. Maya put her hands on her thighs to balance.

He held the back of her head and pushed, creeping his spongy cock towards the back of her mouth. Maya adjusted her neck and he continued, murmuring encouragement. My wife needed no encouragement. Wild fire burned in her eyes. She was thrilled to be on her knees in this dirty backroom, heavy dick weighing her tongue down. He fed more cock, waited, fed some more. She was breathing through her nose. He spoke something gentle and she nodded and he flexed his ass and fed her more.

Now he reached the drop-off, the open space where her tongue turned south down her throat. He pressed deeper and my wife gagged but he did not relent, cooing soft words of praise. She struggled for a moment and he gripped her head firmly, pressing deeper. Inch by inch that fat slithering snake disappeared between her lips. Her eyes watered. Her throat bulged. His hanging balls slowly approached her chin. He paused to let her collect herself, waiting until her breathing calmed, then returned to his inexorable invasion. Her cheeks protruded. His pubic hair brushed her nose. My wife closed her eyes. Secoya grinned like the Devil, stuffing the mouth of this pretty American wife, conquering yet another sexy married woman.

He bent his pelvis towards her face and the last inch slid down her throat. He bounced his hips slightly, rocking the length back and forth through her mouth and past her tonsils, tickling her esophagus. She drooled buckets around the shaft. Just as I began to worry for her, my wife grabbed his ass and pulled hard, burying everything he had. Her nose plowed through his pubic hair. I saw the lump of his partially engorged head several inches down her neck. He grunted, his entire length buried in her throat.

Maya groaned deep and satisfied. Water leaked from her eyes and ran down her cheeks and she swallowed around his intruding dick. He spoke soothing words and my wife pulled even harder, gulping the last quarter inch. She had all of him. He moaned softly, stroking her hair. He tried to withdraw but my wife held him fast, savoring the sensation of a man filling her throat so completely.

Secoya left himself in there a long time, growing slowly. Maya adored his long cock, playing with his heavy balls and fingering his asshole. Once he grew too big to remain, he moved to the bench attached to the wall. He sat and spread his legs, waving Maya between them, then leaned back. He flopped his growing cock on his belly.

"Chupa mis bolas," he said.

Maya waited, confused.

"Suck my balls," he repeated.

He lifted them, offering the wrinkled sack. Maya slapped her tongue against his hairy skin, leaving a shiny path of saliva.

This was taking far too long. I needed to get back. I took another glance and saw his scrotum resting on her face. She had a hand on his thighs, forcing his legs farther apart. Neither was in any hurry.

I ran up the hallway, checking with bar one and returning with a load of ice and clean glasses. For the next fifty minutes I made quick side trips, watching Maya move from a blowjob to getting fucked from behind on all fours. She was face down on that dirty floor but did not care. She pulled hard on her tits as he sawed that sturdy pole in and out. Erect, he had few of the lumps he had soft. Even the bend was gone. The foreskin had drawn back enough to keep the head exposed. He fucked her rough, pounding her little body and stuffing her little hole.

I wasn't there for her orgasm but caught the end of his, arriving in time to see her back pinned to the wall, her arms around his neck, her legs around his waist. His strong cock pumped her hole from below, and then suddenly there was hot sperm blasting into her. Steaming semen dribbled around his thick shaft to the concrete floor.

I had to leave. My lingering look backward showed Maya kissing his face wildly.

Joyce was displeased.

Secoya had another wad of cash for Maya the next night. Joyce tried to seduce him, flirting and teasing, but the big man wanted my wife. Realizing her plan had backfired, Joyce confronted Maya and told her to back off. My wife refused.

"I'll fuck him right now for free!" she laughed, giving Joyce the finger.

I hustled to the main floor to watch. Maya marched between tables, found Secoya and grabbed his shirt with both hands, heaving him to his feet. She led him away from his friends, leaving them laughing wildly at her bravado. My wife led him to the puta rooms. I couldn't get away to see what happened next but I know what happened next.

Secoya was back the next night too. Maya looked captivated. Her eyes lit up when she saw him and she cut through the crowd to take his arm. He beamed with delight. Even Ponytail was happy. Secoya spent a ton of money. Maya clung to Secoya like he truly was a tree. She'd try to spend time but had little interest in conversation or intimacy, eager to free his cock and get it inside.

Later that night our paths crossed. We'd been in this hellhole almost a week and spoken rarely, just a few words here and there, and I was tongue-tied. She looked so sexy in her lingerie. She wore her hair loose and flowing now and her makeup heavy. We'd been so cut off from each other she felt like a stranger in many ways. She'd evolved independently, going through her own experiences, forming her own relationships, friendships, and memories.

"Still love me?" I blurted, trying to be light and funny but sounding desperate.

"With all my heart," she said. "Do you enjoy watching me fuck?"
My jaw dropped.

"I always watch you watch me," she said. "You look so turned on. I'd say I was doing it for you but that would be a lie."

She glanced around nervously, scared we'd get caught talking.

"I'm dying to kiss you," she said. "To feel your arms around me. I'm dying to return to our happy suburban life."

I wanted to challenge that. Her exuberance and enthusiasm looked real. She had no reluctance when it came to Secoya. Zero. Maybe she was just playing the game but she also took everything she wanted for herself. She fucked the man with a raw sexuality. My gut said now was not the time to argue the point so I let it go. We had no time.

"You changed your hair," I said, running my eyes over her. "You look amazing. Sexy."

"Thank you," she smiled. "Walking around naked is liberating. Being told who to fuck and who to suck removes all guilt. In a lot of ways, I have freedoms while trapped in this place I've never had before."

"I'll expect to see you walking around nude all the time," I said.
"Once we get home."

"Count on it," she teased, bouncing her eyebrows. "Even when your friends are over for beer and football, or the landscaper is trimming the hedges, or when Oscar comes over every Thursday to clean the pool."

"You've thought about this," I said.

"I've thought about a lot of things," she replied.

She discreetly touched my hand and continued on her way. I finished loading the clean glasses behind the bar, watching her ass sway. Truth be told, I did have some friends who'd like to see her naked. When we got out of this place, I'd arrange it so they accidentally got a look.

Chapter 11

John and I hauled a load of dirty laundry to the big wash room. I shoved a dozen towels into a large front-load army green washing machine.

"We're getting out of here," John hissed. "All of us. Me, you, Brenda, and Maya."

He moved some towels. Two guns sat at the bottom of his basket.

"They don't even know the guns are missing," he said. "These guys are sloppy. Tonight, when everyone sleeps, we grab a truck and run. I've got a plan."

I was in. The last few days had been especially tough.

Secoya shocked everyone when he offered to buy Maya. He wanted to marry her. I was in the room serving lunch and heard his generous proposal. Ponytail, whose name I still had not learned, refused, suggesting that perhaps he'd consider the offer later once Maya's popularity had worn off. Secoya insisted Ponytail hand her over now.

My blood ran cold. If she went out that door I'd never see her again. She'd spend her days fucking Secoya until he tired of her and sold her to a lesser whore house. From there she'd get used by every man with a dollar until she was used up. I became frantic in my efforts to find a way out of this place.

"Tell me your plan," I said. "Tell me everything."

He did.

Hours later I pretended to sleep; palms sweaty, mouth dry like dust. John lay nearby on his bedroll, cool as the underside of a pillow.

We both had a gun hidden and food packed. We already wore our shoes under the covers. John had stolen a wire which we bent to form a key for our shackles. We'd already tested it and knew it worked. We suspected we'd been trapped here just over a week but because of the twenty-four-hour nature of the place, that was hard to tell.

Before they told us to sleep tonight I heard Maya called to Ponytail's office. I worried Ponytail had changed his mind and would accept Secoya's offer. John had a knife hidden to cut the stems on their vehicles, just like he had Liam's motorcycles.

The place was about as quiet as it ever gets.

"Ready?" John asked.

"No," I said. "But we've got to try."

Maya's fate weighed heavy.

We quickly picked out locks and put our plan into motion. The one person that did see us, a bartender, had gotten used to seeing us running around and didn't care, assuming we were just working another task. We stopped on the underground ramp to deflate some tires and then raced for Ponytail's office.

We burst through the door with guns out. Ponytail sat at his desk, nude Maya sat on his lap. Secoya sat in a chair facing the desk. The men looked shocked as hell. Maya hopped off his lap and yanked his gun from the holster before he could react. The thing was way too heavy for her but she aimed it at Ponytail anyway.

"He's the one been fucking you," Ponytail said. "Aim that cannon at him."

Maya looked at John and pointed to a desk drawer.

"I've seen zip ties in that bottom drawer," she said.

John secured both men to their chairs and smashed their cell phones. Maya came around to me. We kissed and hugged and my heart swelled, filled with love and relief. I noticed lingerie sitting on the desk, the outfit Maya's had on when she came in here.

"You want to get dressed?" I asked.

She shook her head.

"No," she said.

We gagged the men and prepared to leave but John stopped us. He walked around the desk and Ponytail tried to kick him. Maya raised the big gun with both hands, pointing at his chest using both hands. Ponytail was enraged. John hoisted a large briefcase on the desk where he popped the latches. Neat bundles of money stared back at us.

"This is yours," John said to me.

"That's ours," Maya corrected. "All of ours. Let's find Brenda and get out of here. I think she's serving drinks."

"Better put this on and go get her," I said, tossing the lingerie to my wife.

She pulled on her lace bikini.

"I'll leave the gun," she said. "Be right back."

John and I waited five tense minutes. Every sound was an alarm. Most employees were gone or sleeping so no one bothered Ponytail in his office. I thought about punching him.

Maya soon returned with Brenda, who took in the situation instantly and strode across the room to slap Ponytail across the face. I grabbed the suitcase and Brenda took Maya's gun.

As we left the room, Maya hesitated. She leaned close and kissed Secoya on the lips, giving him the most seductive look of her life. She gently squeezed his crotch. The man was genuinely sad.

We all headed for the garage.

I expected a mad dash for freedom but that didn't happen. John was right: Ponytail's guys were sloppy. We moved carefully through the complex, avoiding men and hiding whenever we could, until we reached the dusty Audi. I threw the briefcase in the trunk.

Security on the American end was even more lax. I guess you can't have a building crawling with armed men and not attract attention. One man in the garage thought for a second he'd be the hero but John aimed a gun at his face and he backed down. Moments later we were driving the streets of Texas.

"We'll split the money in Houston," I said.

"For real?" Brenda asked.

"Yup," Maya said. "Four even ways."

Chapter 12

It was a lovely Saturday morning as we sat on her sister's porch in Houston. We'd missed the party but couldn't tell them the real reasons why, blaming it on car trouble coming through the vast desert. We had roughly one hundred and thirty thousand dollars in the trunk of the Audi and there was no way we could let Dolly find out.

"What the fuck?" Maya said.

She turned her phone to face me. I glanced at the screen; a long list of contacts, friends and family.

"What?"

"Second from the bottom."

I sent my eyes down the list.

Liam.

"What the fuck?" I echoed.

"Right? He must have entered his number one of the times he held us."

"Ballsy fucker."

"He is that," she agreed.

I returned my gaze to the newspaper I'd been reading but watched Maya from the corner of my eye. She studied that little number in her phone for long, long minutes. As before, I said nothing, watching and waiting, wanting her to choose evil.

"You still down to meet Angela tonight?" she asked. "Johnny is looking forward to it. He picked a nice restaurant in Deer Park. Flamingo's."

"I am."

I could almost hear her gears turning.

The rest of the day passed smoothly. We grocery shopped and shoe shopped and eat lunch at some vegan place. Maya grew more anxious as the dinner time drew near. I asked about it and she said she was nervous about meeting Angela.

"She's so pretty," she said.

That evening we were ready to leave when Maya exited the guest bathroom. She looked stunning. Women compete in the strangest ways, or at least it seems to my feeble male brain. How can you try to be prettier than someone else? Anyway, her tight black skirt and sparkly top dazzled my eyes. We climbed into the Audi and aimed for Flamingo's.

We arrived in the parking lot the same time as John and Angela, exiting our vehicles almost in sync. Angela had similar looks to actress Aubrey Plaza, except with more ass and bigger tits. Good God, the woman was gorgeous. I looked away just before Maya caught me and thank goodness I did. I took my wife's hand as we walked to meet them.

"What do you think of her?" Maya murmured.

"She's all right," I said. "I guess some would say she's cute."

"You're a good man, Sean MacDonald," she whispered.

I squeezed her hand. Truth was, I found it hard not to stare. Angela was captivating, enthralling. She'd worn a light ankle-length dress and the breeze wrapped it against her body. Holy Christ. I shook John's hand as Maya gave Angela a hug. We traded, Maya hugging John and me Angela and the warmth of her firm body was intoxicating.

"Let's eat," I said, gesturing towards the restaurant.

We were halfway through our salads when Angela thanked us for rescuing John after she abandoned him.

"I feel awful," she purred. "I went back as soon as I cooled off but he was gone and I had his phone. I fretted terribly. I'm a passionate person and I overreacted. What good is success in Hollywood if I've lost the man I love?"

"I feel awful too," Maya said. "I told you to chase your dreams without realizing your situation. I feel like I helped push you into leaving him there."

"No," John said. "Angie was right. We're headed to California so she can make something happen. I've been secretly saving money so we'll be okay for a while."

"I had no idea," Angela said, amazed by her wonderful man.

Maya and Angela dove into a deep conversation about feelings and pursuing your dreams while John and I exchanged knowing looks across the table. Much easier to make a run at things with a hundred and thirty thousand backing you up.

"I think you guys will do great out there," I said.

Conversation flowed. Angela turned out to be smart, funny, and self-deprecating. She and Maya left for the bathroom before the entrees were served.

"That makes me a little nervous," John said, watching them together.

"Why?"

"Maya and I had a moment on the bed, before Ponytail and his men interrupted. Don't take this the wrong way, but I'm sure we would have fucked."

"I'm sure you would have."

"You're okay with that?"

"No," I said. "I'm not, but it turns me on anyway. Maya and I fuck like wild animals after she's with another man. I try not to think about it too much."

"Angela has no idea. I told her your car broke down and it took days to get it towed and fixed."

"That's like our lie to Dolly, Maya's sister."

"Maya had my dick in her hand. She won't say anything?"

"Absolutely not."

The girls returned and dinner continued. We exchanged phone numbers and promised to keep in touch. Out in the parking lot, Maya spotted a bar down the street bathed in blue and purple light.

"Let's grab a quick drink before we say goodnight," my wife suggested.

"Perfect," Angela agreed.

"I'll drive," I said. "Then drop you guys back here."

We all piled in and I pulled out of the parking lot.

I'd gone about a hundred feet when motorcycles blasted out of the darkness, surrounding the car. Liam was right outside my driver's window. He pointed farther down the road and waved for us to follow.

"What is this?" Angela asked, frightened.

"Shit," John grumbled.

"How...?" I began, but then I knew.

Before I could make up my mind to follow, Liam raised his jean jacket to show me the gun at his hip.

"What the fuck?" Angela said, alarmed. "Are we being robbed?"

Maya's silence in this situation spoke volumes. I threw a sideways glance at my wife. She knew I knew. I fell in line behind Liam and his men and followed for many miles.

They led us to a different bar, a bar along the Buffalo Bayou waterway. Dozens of parked motorcycles surrounded the place, the smell of brackish water hung in the air. An illuminated green neon sign read: "The Swamp" and I believed it. I pulled the car onto a small raised grassy area.

"He looks mad," John said.

"Who are these people?" Angie asked. "You know them?"

None of us answered her. I tried to open my door but Liam pulled his gun. He pointed at Maya.

"Her," he barked. "You, sit."

Maya started to get out but I grabbed her arm.

"What the fuck, Baby? This isn't a game."

She met my eyes.

"What choice do I have?" she asked.

I heard strange tones woven into her voice, fear and excitement combined into an intoxicating adrenaline rush.

"What choice do we have?" she said, softer.

She slipped her arm free and stepped out, shutting the door. Liam had moved to the front of my car and the white headlights turned him pale and ghostly. He holstered his gun. Angela cowered against John's chest.

"What's happening?" she whispered to no one.

Liam grabbed a fistful of hair and bent Maya's head back.

"This is for slicing our tires in the desert," he snarled, glaring through the windshield at me.

He kissed her throat first, then her lips. He backed her onto the warm hood of the Audi. Four men from his gang each took an arm and a leg and heaved. Through the windshield I saw my wife drawn-and-quartered, spread-eagled across our car. Liam shoved her sparkly top over her tits and then her short skirt up to her hips.

"Do something!" Angela cried. "This is horrible!"

Although her movements were severely restricted by the four men, Maya lifted her hips, rotating her pelvis at Liam and exposing her perfectly hairless mound in the glare of the headlights. She'd shaved herself bare for him. Liam yanked his zipper down and freed his large, straining cock, his eyes riveted to my wife's prepared slit. Maya lifted her head to see his impressive erection and let her head fall back with a bang, laughing with delight.

Angela froze, staring at Liam's beast. She turned her attention to John and me.

"What the fuck is going on?" she growled. "Why are you both just watching?"

Liam rested his hands on Maya's hips and grinned. He aimed his grin through the windshield at me.

"She missed me," he shouted. "She's wet. She got herself ready."

A couple of his guys hooted loudly, raising fists.

"Knock the bitch up, Liam!" one yelled.

Knock the bitch up?

The threat of pregnancy had never occurred to me until this moment. On pure instinct, I tried opening my door again but a man pushed back, drawing his gun.

"You sit and watch," he commanded. "Liam said so."

Liam dropped his gaze to his dick. He moved his hips, grinning, lining up his cock to her hole. He pressed forward. My wife groaned deep and loud.

Liam's big cock was in her.

"He's fucking her," Angela said, her voice soft with disbelief. "He's fucking her right out in the open, in front of all these people. Where are the cops?"

No police would visit this outlaws' haven. Not unless they showed up in force. Several men outside the gang wandered over to watch, laughing.

"I'm calling them," Angela said, searching her purse for her phone.

Maya arched her back, trying to capture more dick.

"Fuck me!" she yelled.

Angela stopped searching. She looked first at John and then me.

"She wants this?" the beautiful woman muttered.

Liam held Maya tight and buried his fat cock deep.

"Yeaaaaah," my wife exhaled.

The Audi rocked as Liam began fucking her. Men grabbed her tits and ran their hands over her smooth body. A few asked if they could get some but Liam snarled to fuck off. They stepped back.

Liam fucked Maya with a vengeance, stuffing her tight hole with far too much dick. My wife moaned in pleasure, struggling against the men that held her. Suddenly an orgasm rocked her body and she cried out into the humid Texas air.

"Ohhh gaaaaaawd," she yelled. "Fuck meeeee!"

Her inability to move heightened her climax. She was on display, strapped across our hood in full view. She knew John and Angela and a host of strange men all witnessed her slutty behavior. Her orgasm stunned her mind.

"Did Maya just cum?" Angela asked.

Rampant disbelief dripped from every word. Angela was astonished, thunderstruck. Her new friend was ravaged in front of her husband but liked it so much she came. Angie leaned between the seats, watching with burning intensity. Her wide eyes crawled over every person there, searing this moment into her mind forever.

Liam slowed, beginning an easy in and out. Maya was soon whimpering. A dozen men pawed at her tits. A redhaired woman stepped from the gathering and leaned between them, her tongue slathering Liam's cock and Maya's pussy. Liam grunted from the added sensation but Maya wailed. The woman licked faster, focused on my wife's clit, head bobbing like a pigeon. Maya soon arched her back again and howled as the woman nibbled her clit. Seconds later she exploded again, screeching in pleasure. Liam withdrew his dick, allowing the redhaired woman to eat Maya as much as she desired. My poor wife tried to get away but couldn't. Liam stepped into the headlights, pulsing dick aimed at us. He glistened with my wife's excitement. He spoke to the men but too low for us to hear. Several men came forward.

Liam pointed inside the car at Angela.

"Get her," the fat man said.

John jumped to slam the lock but too slow. A man yanked the door open and heaved John on the ground. Several men grabbed him while others pulled Angela screaming from the car. They grabbed arms and legs, carrying her around to Liam. They stood her before him, bright highlights cutting through her thin dress, revealing she wore panties but no bra. Liam stepped forward, his throbbing prick inches from this gorgeous woman. I glanced at John's face. His expression was pure torture. He'd seen Liam with Maya and wondered how I survived it. Now the man threatened Angela and John felt everything I'd felt. John stared at Liam's encroaching cock, wincing as the head prodded Angela in the belly. She tried to back away from it but the men held her. Liam held her delicate chin in his huge paw

"Eat," he told her, pointing at Maya's dripping cunt.

My wife was unaware. Still reeling from her intense climax, she lay panting on the hood. Angela searched the faces around her, desperate and afraid, but saw no path to freedom. She looked at Liam.

"Please," she began.

Someone twisted John's arm and he groaned. Angela darted a glance that way then slowly swung her eyes to the side, gazing directly at Maya's soaked pussy.

"You'll let us go?" she whimpered. "After?"

"Of course, Sweetie," Liam said. "This isn't about you. This is about the bastard sitting behind the wheel."

I knew that wasn't true. Brenda had masterminded our first escape and John our second. I knew Liam lied but I said nothing.

Angela knelt before Maya. My wife lifted her head, trying to see what transpired, but from her limited angle saw only Liam. She rolled her hips invitingly, hungry for that cock again. Angela's tongue hit her like ten-thousand volts. Her head snapped up, gazing the length of her body and spotting Angela's face at her pussy. She groaned, muttered an apology, and rubbed her cunt against the woman's mouth.

Liam waved the redhead closer.

"Get her out of that dress," he ordered, removing his pants.

The woman crouched behind Angela and worked the garment up from the ankles until slipping it over Angie's head. Liam handed the woman a knife. Without a word, the woman sliced Angela's thin panties. We watched them drop to the dirt. Angie rested her palms on Maya's inner thighs. I got the impression she was not eating her first pussy. Liam stepped close and lifted his cock over Angela's head, coming in from a high angle and aiming for my wife's pussy. He sank deep before forcing Angie's face into his balls from behind. Avoiding Liam's thick shaft was impossible so Angela licked them both. Liam grunted with satisfaction. Without being told, Angie dropped her head backward and opened her mouth, nestling Liam's large ball sack onto her tongue. Her lips closed around his scrotum.

Liam looked at John.

"Tell yourself she's doing it for you," he sneered. "The women always say they're doing it for their men."

To keep his balls in Angela's mouth he fucked Maya with short strokes. Angela buried her nose between his butt cheeks and whipped her tongue around his nuts. Liam snorted, pushing his dick all the way in. Angela worked her lips higher until she had his scrotum all the way to the shaft.

Liam had to stop. The pleasure was too great. He savored the moment and I thought John might die. His face was pure twisted agony, watching his gorgeous fiancée do her best to please this barbarian. My partially swollen dick grew firmer, tasting John's pain and relishing it, understanding exactly the torment he suffered and feeding off it. I'd never tell him but watching the fall of Angela made me hard. Yet another woman taken from her man. Liam was a cold-hearted bastard but his love of conquest aroused me.

Liam shook his head. He found Clive watching from the ring of people.

"Get everybody's phone," he ordered. "Load the girls on the bikes. We're going to Milt's where I can finish these ladies right."

John groaned. Liam would fuck them both and probably keep them all night. I knew John saw visions of Angela impaled on Liam's cock.

Clive stuck a gun in my face and demanded my phone. He did the same to John. He snatched the purses from the car and threw John in the passenger seat then slammed the door. Other men moved around the gathering, placing Maya, naked, on Liam's motorcycle and Angela, also nude, with Benny. Angela hid her face in her hands. Clive came around to the driver's window.

"Stay," he said. "I'll bring them back when Liam is finished with them."

He backed away keeping the gun level until he reached his bike. A roar of engines filled the night. The gang thundered away in a cloud of kicked up dirt and grass. John stared at his hands, thinking.

"How did he find us?" he asked. "Nothing makes sense. Maybe he hid a tracking device on your car?"

I remembered Maya showing me Liam's number in her phone. I suspected my wife had exchanged a text or two with her favorite gang leader, enjoying the thrill of dancing with the Devil. If she let even one clue slip about our plans, Liam would have found her.

John stared out the windshield, eyes full of pain. His imagination was killing him, picturing Angela placed in every sexual position, imagining Liam's plunging cock violating his bride-to-be all while ripping sounds of ecstasy from her lovely throat.

"Angie gave in fast," he said, sounding sad. "I mean, maybe she did it to keep me from harm but she barely hesitated."

I patted his shoulder.

"Liam does something to women. Remember what Brenda told us? I wouldn't have believed her but now I've seen it happen twice. I know it's true. It's not you, it's him. Some men just have a way."

"We had this coming," he said. "The universe had to balance all that money we got. Karma gave my fiancée to Liam."

I wanted to argue, but couldn't.

I sent Dolly a text we'd been drinking and would be home late if at all.

Chapter 13

The anguish on John's face turned me on. I know that's a terrible thing to say but it's true. I knew what he was going through. I knew his imagination had Angie strapped to a bed fucked by a horny motorcycle gang, or, worse, Angie willingly and wildly fucking each of them, lost in a euphoric haze of lust.

He was right: she'd given in fast.

I remembered the look on Maya's face. She'd been shocked when Liam appeared but deeply pleased. Getting fucked on the hood of our car in front of a rowdy crowd had thrilled her. She'd bring that fantasy into our bedroom for years to come. John and I sat in that car for hours, knowing our women were being shared, passed around to the next hard dick.

"This is not worth a hundred and thirty grand," he muttered.

We sat in silence for hours.

Maya and Angela were returned to us around three in the morning. The girls were naked, exhausted, sticky, covered in bite marks, their asses covered in pink raised handprints. Our worst fears were true. They'd been fucked by a platoon

John and I dressed the girls in their dirty clothes and loaded them in the Audi. Liam gave us a final warning.

"Angie had her fill," he said, standing tall, proud of what he and his men had done. "But sweet little Maya will want more. Y'all better keep my number. When she craves more outlaw cock, give me a call. I'll come visit."

John raised his head to look at me. Our dirty secret was out. He quickly connected the dots and realized Liam found us because Maya had his number. Liam started his bike and the gang roared away.

"It was you," he said.

I met his gaze but said nothing. What was there to say? My wife wanted Liam and your wife got swept up? There was no undoing what was done; Liam had fucked her. Angela was filled with biker cum. John looked angry but held his tongue. Angela snuggled against his chest, content and satisfied. A tiny smile curled her lips.

I suspected Liam was wrong; Angela would want more too.

Maya laid her head in my lap. I'd rent a motel room and tell Dolly we were too drunk to drive. I'd get Maya in bed and fuck her tender pussy raw, adding my spunk to Liam's and anyone else he shared her with. I checked her phone to make sure she still had Liam's number and put the car in drive.

"You might hate us," I said to John. "But remember how quickly Angie gave in. Liam said she had enough, but does your gut agree?"

He gazed down at his beautiful bride-to-be, sleeping comfortably against his chest. He looked at Maya and sighed.

Deep down, he knew I was right.

"Thank God we're leaving for California," he said. "I doubt Liam will drive that far for pussy."

"No," I agreed. "But I'm pretty sure Maya will drive that far for cock."

End.

Join My Mailing List
Get a FREE Hotwife Story!

Follow My Twitter

Find me on: GoodReads

Talk to Me

BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com