

IMAGINE

A Hot Wife Story

Matthew Lee

Imagine

A Hotwife Story

By Matthew Lee

Chapter 1

"Imagine how that would feel," I said, keeping my voice low.

Adult stores are like that: everyone keeps their voice low. We're all slightly embarrassed to even be in the place. It's not like a library keep-your-voice-low, it's an I-hope-nobody-looks-at-me keep your voice low.

"I think that would feel amazing," Alina, said. "Before I married you I dated a man a little bigger and he felt great. Dumb as a bag of rocks but had a nice dick. That strap-on would feel magical. "

We stood before a large glass display case. Inside various sex toys lined the shelves. On the top shelf was a prosthetic device shaped like a perfectly formed penis designed for a man to slip over his erection, adding length and girth. The clear replica was strapped to a plastic dick to show how it was used. A tiny detachable bladder pump created a suction in the head, pulling the man's penis all the way in for a fixed, snug fit. A loop attached at the base and meant to loop behind the testicles held everything in place, allowing for strong back and forth thrusting without wobble. Even if the man lost his erection while wearing it, the loop and suction would let him continue. This one was transparent, but others came in flesh tones of white, black, and brown.

"That thing would double my girth," I said, estimating.

Alina gazed at the toy spellbound. I suppressed a chuckle.

"Not that size matters, right?" I continued. "That's what women say."

She faced me.

"Tom," she said. "The only women that say that are ones who don't know yet. None of my girlfriends say that. We'd never use dick size as the basis of a relationship, but, yeah, all things being equal, size is a big deal. A girl wants that box checked."

We returned our stare to the toy inside the glass case.

"Should I buy it?" I asked.

"It looks like fun," she said. "But get the Caucasian one. Makes it easier to imagine it's real."

I found the price tag. We already had a decent collection of bedroom toys at home. This would be the most expensive.

I studied the thing. It truly was a work of art. Whoever crafted the piece took their time and made it beautiful. The large faux penis rose in a gentle arc, the glans slightly larger than the widening shaft behind it. By the time I arrived at the base the beast was remarkably thick. Each raised vein had been handcrafted. If I wore it, my erection would rival any pornstar. I pictured looking down at the sight, a nice long, fat, impressive member jutting out from my hips.

"I'm buying it," I said.

"That makes me happy," Alina replied, smiling.

"I'll get it on the way out. I don't want to carry it with me now."

I left Alina standing there and approached the old guy at the register. I explained which toy I wanted and asked if he would set it aside.

"Pay now," he said. "I'll keep it at the register."

"All right."

He left the high stool at the counter without another word and grabbed a ring of keys, shambling off towards the case.

"Comes with the stand," he shouted without turning around.

"Why?" I asked. "Are you supposed to display it proudly in your bedroom?"

He gave me a scathing look.

"To keep it from getting damaged and to make applying the lube easier," he said, adding: "You'd be surprised what some folks display in their bedrooms."

"No doubt," I said.

He removed the toy and returned, punching keys on the register and scanning the tag. On impulse, I added a pack of padded restraints. He bagged everything and set my purchase under the counter. I paid with a card and thanked him, scanning the store for Alina. She'd wandered off. I went searching. We'd come here, this time, to buy a gag gift for a friend's fiftieth birthday party. We'd gotten distracted immediately.

The place, Wild Hearts, was huge. Shaped like a horseshoe and three stories high, the sprawling behemoth had every imaginable kink covered, and if you couldn't find what you needed on these shelves, a cryptic and handwritten sign pointed an arrow down a flight of dark stairs, inviting you to browse The Dungeon. I had no idea what was down there and had no desire to learn.

I finished the first and second floors and continued my sweep, climbing stairs to the third. I didn't mind. It was entertaining to meander through such a place, investigating all the different ways humans get themselves excited and get themselves off. I realized if Alina was also searching for me we might never find each other. The best plan would be to stop and wait. But then I wouldn't see all this place had to offer.

At the top of the stairs there was a small gate monitored by a bored young woman. She was cute but utterly disinterested in everything except her phone. I pushed on the gate but discovered it was locked.

Cutie mumbled: "Two bucks," without looking up.

I glanced around, wondering what the third floor held and if it was worth two bucks to find out. I saw a wall of DVDs on one side and heavier equipment, like straps for hanging from the rafters, at the back. On the left wall were two black doors and a burgundy curtain, evenly spaced.

"What's behind the doors and curtain?" I asked.

"Everything you ever desired," she mumbled, keeping her eyes glued to her phone.

I got annoyed.

"Did a woman my age come through here recently?" I asked.

The girl looked up. She studied my face trying to determine my age.

"Shoulder length dark hair?" I added. "Pretty?"

"A little overweight?"

"What? No. Maybe a few pounds."

"Yeah, she nosed around the floor, checked out the DVDs, and then entered the theater."

"What theater?"

Her gaze returned to her phone. A finger floated up to point across the floor.

"Curtain."

"You've been helpful," I said, sarcastically.

She caught my sarcasm but did not care. I aimed for the theater, stepping through the curtain, only to encounter another curtain five feet in. I stepped through that one too. Inside was a room about twenty-feet square. Dark and musty, rows of padded seats faced a large screen. In the glow, I saw several people scattered about, watching an enormous black penis pump in and out of a white woman's tight vagina. Their genitalia filled the screen. I paused to watch for a moment, then moved on.

"Ally?" I whispered, my voice a rasp.

Several faces turned to look at me.

"Sorry," I muttered.

I headed down the aisle, searching for my wife in the dim light. I would be surprised to find her in here but I wanted to be through. I came up empty, as expected. As I turned to leave I noticed three people near the front: A white husband and wife holding hands and a skinny black guy seated next to the wife. She had her head in the black man's lap, sucking his cock in full view. Her husband's eyes darted from screen to wife, back and forth. He jerked off watching both. I was struck by lightning! How could a husband simply sit and watch his wife do such a thing?

I froze mid-step, gawking. She licked the shiny black pole like the man was delicious, clearly trying to make him orgasm. Her hand pumped the dark penis, her wedding ring throwing stray sparkles in the low light. She was eager, hungry, working the dick like she was dying to taste his jizz. The black man closed his eyes and rested both hands on her head. I heard her softly moaned encouragement. The husband jacked faster, noticing me for the first time and grinning. The black guy convulsed and spasmed in his seat and the wife groaned, happy to have earned her reward. The man was ejaculating into her mouth and the married couple was thrilled. Seconds later the husband's penis spit semen into the air. He'd watched his wife suck off a stranger and that had made him orgasm.

I was stunned. I empathized with his psychic pain, I imagined his angst and jealousy. I watched the black guy shoot seed and saw her throat gulping and my penis stiffened. I don't know how I could find this situation exciting but I did. My mind leapt to Alina and me: what if it was us? I mentally traded places with that married couple. What if I watched her suck off a stranger? It mattered not at all that he was black. Race was incidental. What would it be like to be that husband and see your wife do this?

I adjusted my erection down my pant leg and got the hell out of there. I was shaken, partly by what I'd seen but mostly by my reaction to it. Alina would never do something like that and maybe that's why my mind leapt to picturing it. I trembled all over, but not from what I'd seen. My arousal came from my thoughts: I pictured Alina sucking someone's cock and adrenaline surged, my dick turned to glass. Bewildered, I staggered out of the theater into the bright third floor.

Alina stood nearby, comparison shopping two items she'd plucked from a shelf. She heard me stumble and turned, stunned to discover her husband exiting a porn theater.

"Tom?" she asked, distrusting her own eyes.

"Yup."

"What were you doing? What is that place? What's behind the curtain?"

I quickly explained, in a low voice, of course, what I'd encountered.

"Let's go back," she said, surprising me. "I want to see them."

"The black guy shot his load. It's over."

"I still want to get a look at them. Are they normal?"

I used an arm to draw the first curtain back. Alina stayed close in the darkness, hugging my arm. She still carried her two toys from the shelf. I looked ahead and realized a white guy had replaced the black guy. Even from several rows back I saw the wife's head bob.

"She's sucking some new guy," I mumbled.

"Oh my God."

Alina chose the same row but across the center aisle. We took the first two seats, Alina facing me and them. The husband smiled at us. The wife sucked cock, still holding her husband's hand.

This white penis was big. Not overly long but thick, with a large domed helmet head. Saliva coated the shaft and the wife's hand rose and fell in time with her vacuuming mouth.

"Wow," Alina breathed, body tense.

"Told you."

"Yes," she said. "But there's a big difference between hearing the story and the seeing it for yourself."

We watched the wife suck cock in the glow from the silver screen. I got a bonus thrill knowing Ally was probably becoming aroused. I'd try for a blowjob on the drive home.

"I love how bold she is," Alina murmured. "That woman loves being watched, especially by her husband. They look so normal, just like us. Can you imagine watching me do that? It's crazy. It's hot but it's crazy."

"Her husband gets off on it," I whispered. "He ejaculated when I was here the first time but he's already hard again."

"I bet she's drenched," Alina said. "I bet they go home and fuck like wild animals, ripping off clothes and breaking furniture."

I agreed but said nothing. Alina and I watched intently, studying husband and wife and big white cock. We were open in our voyeurism and they appreciated that. Others, mostly single men but a few couples, stared too.

The wife bobbed her head faster. Big White Cock moaned softly, and then rested a hand on the back of her head.

"Here it comes," he muttered.

Alina squeezed my hand. The wife was sucking so hard the dents in her cheeks made her cheekbones stick out.

"Look at her," Ally murmured. "She loves it. She loves sucking dick."

"Unngh!" Big White Cock grunted, lifting his hips off the padded seat.

He held her head in his lap and thrust his pelvis many times, each a blast of semen shot into a hungry mouth. The wife moaned with delight as she drained another dick, lips sealed tight around his rigid shaft.

"She's doing it," Alina mumbled, transfixed. "She's holding her husband's hand and sucking that guy off. She's swallowing. She has no idea who that man is. She and her husband are so into this. I bet she doesn't just suck guys off. I bet she fucks other men too and her husband watches that as well. Can you imagine?"

The wife massaged the man's balls to coax every drop. He finally had to push her away to make her stop. She pulled off giggling and wiping her mouth.

"Let's get out of here," I said.

I was horny now and wanted to take Alina home.

"Not yet," she whispered. "Let's see if she takes another man."

She did. Big White Dick buckled up, exiting up the main aisle. A man seated close took his spot and the wife got to work opening his pants.

"She just sucks them off one after the other," Ally muttered, amazed.

"You sound envious," I teased. "Maybe you'd like to take her place?"

"Don't tempt me," she joked. "It's nasty. It's raunchy. It's pure sex. They don't even speak to each other. Can you imagine how powerful she feels? All these men want her and she leaves them weak as kittens. She and her husband get turned on and then go home and fuck. Everybody gets what they want."

The new man helped the wife free his dick, white and perfectly average, and the woman swooped, sliding her lips down to the root.

"She's like a queen and these her subjects," Ally chuckled. "She's totally in charge. She has power over all of us, not just the man in her mouth."

I'd never looked at fellatio that way, always believing the man was dominant and the woman submissive. Alina believed the woman held all the authority. I thought about it a little and understood how a woman could feel in control. You get a man by the hard dick he'll do whatever you say.

Mister Average began pumping his hips wildly, almost comically, as he shot his load into the wife's sucking mouth. She held it there, pooling, then turned and kissed her husband, semen spilling between their lips. Their tongues swirled. I gagged a little.

"Wow," Alina breathed. "Just, wow. She's a Goddess. She fed her husband another man's sperm and he took it."

Mister Average abandoned his seat, replaced by yet another man. The new man opened his fly and jacked off, waiting for the wife to stop making out with her husband and pounce on another erection.

"It's like a gloryhole but out in the open," I said.

"What's a gloryhole?" my wife asked.

I briefly explained, suggesting a place like this probably had a real one somewhere. Alina considered my words for a moment.

"Guys will fuck anything," she said, shaking her head. "I love that about men. You guys fuck our mouths, our asses, our pussies. Hell, I've seen Internet porn for armpit sex. Anything will do. You'll stick your dick through an opening in the wall to get it sucked or stroked and not care who is doing the sucking or stroking. You just want your nuts emptied. It's wild. No woman would do that with her pussy."

The wife lowered her mouth to yet another lap. She scooped her hair behind an ear to give her husband a better view. We all watched this new cock slide into her hot wet slippery mouth.

"God damn," Alina breathed. "She'll leave with a full belly. That's hot."

"Ready to go home and fuck?" I asked.

"Yeah. We could be here all night. She's ravenous and new men keep entering through the curtain. I think word has got out about the hot and horny bitch in the theater."

We rose to leave and I tapped Alina's shoulder, drawing her attention to the fact the husband was already hard again. We exited the dark theater, blinking rapidly as we entered the harsh fluorescent light of the third floor.

"Pay for these," Alina said, handing me the packages she still held. "I'll meet you at the front. Did you notice the stairs down to a place called The Dungeon?"

"I saw them but did not go down."

"Me either. I am curious though."

"You're braver than me," I said. "Those stairs gave me the willies."

We kissed and I headed again for the register. A glance back showed me Alina standing before the wall of DVDs, checking out the hardcore covers. All those explicit photos would get to her. I was getting road head for sure.

I examined the packages she'd handed me and discovered elaborate remote-control pleasure devices. The pictures on the covers showed how the big bulb was inserted into the vagina and the smaller bulb inserted into the anus. The bulbs expanded and contracted, turned warm, and vibrated, the intensity controlled by cell phone.

"These look like fun," I muttered.

I worked my way to the first floor and joined the line at the register. Alina caught up to me minutes later. We kissed briefly and she jerked a chin towards the sign with the arrow pointing down.

"Should we have a quick look before leaving?" she asked.

I was eager to go but knew the more aroused she was the better.

"Sure," I said.

We left the line and angled for the stairs. We marched down a long flight of stairs until reaching a large door and a sign that carried warnings about a different, darker side of sex beyond. We were warned to take no pictures, that the area is intentionally poorly lit, and that by passing through we gave implicit consent. Alina looked anxious.

"Should we turn back?" I asked.

"No," she said. "No way. I'm scared but that's half the fun. We can always run away later. This place is awesome. I had no idea."

"Me either."

I pulled on the heavy door and we stepped through. The door closed with a thud behind us. We traveled a long dim hallway and I guessed we were no longer under the adult store above. We reached another large door with additional warnings and I gave Ally one last chance to turn back.

"Open the door," she whispered, frightened but excited.

We stepped into a large room containing a wide variety of bondage gear, like what they sold upstairs but heavy-duty. Straps and chains hung from rafters. Stocks sat close by with a woman trapped as a man ate her pussy. A naked man was manacled to the wall. There were a few people wandering about, almost all men, and my wife and I strolled around trying to guess how the more complex machines were used.

"I bet I could ask some of these guys to show us," I whispered. "Offer them you as the victim."

Alina shuddered but did not say no.

As we approached the back wall we discovered the room was L-shaped, with more elaborate instruments tucked away in the short arm. We turned the corner to find a large butcher-block table, rising four feet off the ground, holding a nude man fastened on his back. Evenly spaced black latex straps held legs, arms, and torso. A tight black latex hood entirely covered his head with a short tube for breathing in his mouth. His flabby body was covered with a sweaty sheen.

A vacuum chamber, much like a milking machine I'd seen in my youth, hung from the ceiling and enveloped his penis down to the root. A tight rubber ring encircled his balls with a band down the middle, separating them. The tube was alive, bouncing and vibrating, stroking his length over and over.

I don't know if he had a big dick when he started but he certainly had one now, filling the long clear tube with fat pink meat. His erect cock was an angry red cylinder of vein-covered beef big as my forearm. Inches of sperm pooled inside confirming the man had orgasmed many times already. A blue wire passed through a small plastic disk and disappeared up his spasming anus. I suspected another pleasure device lay hidden up there, pressing his prostate, pulsing and vibrating. The man had been forced to multiple orgasms like a woman.

I felt a little sick to my stomach gazing at his predicament. Every man quickly learns the pain of post-orgasmic sensitivity. Once we cum, don't touch our dick. This man had no escape. I heard his muffled, mournful groans and pleading cries. I saw his straining efforts to be free. The tube bounced and pumped, relentlessly driving him towards yet another climax. I turned to Alina, worried how this terrible sight would affect her, worried all her previous excitement would drain away.

Wrong.

She gawked in obvious arousal. She had no empathy for the man. Her eyes travelled the length of him, lingering at his tortured, inflated penis. Her wide-eyed gaze left the suffering man and came up to meet mine.

"Fuck," she exhaled. "That's sooo hot."

I boggled. I guffawed, perplexed. I snorted, baffled.

"What?" I asked, incredulous. "What can you possibly find hot about this?"

She studied his prone sweaty body, loitering, again, at his bloated penis and strapped balls. He was at our mercy and her eyes held none.

"Listen to him," she whispered. "Really listen. Can't you hear how much he loves this? He suffers, yes, but intense pleasure is mixed with agony. Look at his body. He doesn't struggle to get away. He struggles to take more and more. I wonder how long they will leave him here. I wonder how long he's already been here."

Alina approached the table. He had no idea we were watching. The tight hood covered eyes and ears. He was trapped inside his own head, trapped in there with everything his body experienced. Alina pointed at a remote resting on the table and attached by wires to the vacuum tube. A dial went up to fifteen but had been set at nine. She turned to me and grinned.

"What do you think that controls?"

"Don't even think it," I rasped.

Her hand moved slowly.

"Ally—" I began.

Click-click-click.

"UNNGH!" the hooded man cried out.

His back arched as he pulled at the restraints. The bouncing tube sucked and pumped faster and an audible hum emanated from his asshole.

Whatever was lodged inside him at the end of that wire tortured his prostate.

Semen spurt from the tip of his bloated cock. A little fountain splashed the roof inside the tube and the Hooded Man groaned in a tangled mess of misery and ecstasy. The device allowed him no rest, sucking the semen from his balls against his will, draining his essence like some mechanical vampire. Alina looked delighted with herself.

"I made him cum!" she beamed, laughing. "I gave another man an orgasm, Tom. You jealous?"

My legs felt weak. How long had he endured this treatment? How much longer did he have until it ended? Why would anyone ever agree to such a procedure? I stared at his swollen dick and the pooled semen. He was huge and had enjoyed multiple orgasms.

Perhaps that was my answer.

Click.

"Ally!"

The man bellowed behind his latex mask. His penis turned a darker shade of red. The head flared. His sphincter spasmed.

"Stop it!" I hissed.

Alina yanked her hand away, giggling.

"We need to get one of these for our house," she giggled. "I'll strap you down whenever you get too annoying. Don't you wish that was you on the table?"

"No."

"You sure? Think about it. Look at his dick."

She giggled again, enjoying her playful taunts. No way would I ever agree to this. Alina tugged gently on the blue wire inserted in his anus. His sphincter bulged. Something long and thick was up there. Alina will often slip a dainty finger up my ass while she blows me and it feels so good I just about lose my mind. I tried to imagine what something the size of whatever it was he had up there felt like and shuddered. It had to be mind-melting. I'd be shocked if he came out of all this with his sanity intact. I doubted I would.

"Let's go," she said, gazing down at the helpless victim. "I'd love to stay and see how this ends but you need to take me home and fuck my brains out. This fucking place has me hot."

Alina reached out and slid a gentle fingertip down the hard, clear plastic tube that housed his dick. For an instant it looked like she touched his naked penis. I strangled a gasp. She continued down until she trailed over latex and reached bare skin, following the curve of his naked testicles. My wife was touching another man's genitals. I forced myself calm. The man felt her caress and groaned again, lifting his hips. Another spurt of semen splattered inside the tube. Alina turned to me, proud.

"I made him cum again," she rasped, excited.

We turned to leave. Several of the men wandering the dungeon when we first came down now stood off to the side, watching Alina with the Hooded Man. They had their dicks out, stroking. Alina's eyes went wide.

"You can block his air," one man rasped. "Just before he orgasms. Put a finger over his breathing tube. You'll make him cum a lot harder."

Alina stepped closer to me, taking my arm and holding my hand.

"He likes it," the man added.

"Good to know," I said, shielding my wife and angling towards the stairs.

We collected our items at the register, adding a last-minute pair of edible boxer briefs for our friend's birthday.

"I forgot that's what we came for," Alina murmured.

On the way out we passed the Dungeon sign with the arrow pointing down. Alina paused, biting a fingernail.

"What?" I asked.

"One quick detour."

Moments later we stood at the butcher-block table again. The man moaned and writhed, suffering mightily under Ally's new settings. We watched for a minute until I grew impatient.

"Why are we standing here?" I asked.

Ally shushed me, eyes blazing. The man climbed towards another climax and Alina was enthralled. She stretched a hand out to gently place a fingertip over the spout of his air tube. In seconds his back arched and he screeched in panic. She kept her finger in place as he rapidly ran out of air.

A gob of sperm blasted from his deep red male meat. He screamed behind the hood with what little air remained. His cock expanded and throbbed, pulsating inside the chamber and spitting semen. Alina looked almost evil, her face a mask of delight at the torment she caused. She held her finger until the man collapsed into a mass.

"That was fun," she tittered.

"Fucking Hell, Ally," I chastised. "You've left him half-dead."

She shrugged.

"Yes, I did," she admitted. "But did you see how hard he came?"

I collected our bags and nudged her towards the stairs and the way out of this place. At the last moment leaving the Dungeon, I looked up and spotted a camera lurking in the shadows.

Chapter 2

I aimed the hot spray of water at my crotch, moving the shower nozzle to soak everything. I grabbed the soap and worked a thick lather, running the trimmers through my pubic hair. Once I had them closely cropped, I swapped out the trimmers for my razor. The blade gilded smoothly across my skin, leaving a clean bare strip of flesh behind. I worked over around and under until my penis and testicles were as smooth as a baby's butt. I pulled the shower curtain back to see myself in the bathroom mirror, hairless, and marveled at how much bigger I looked.

I'd popped a Viagra half an hour earlier and handling my dick to remove my pubic hair, coupled with the anticipation of my scheme, caused my penis to rise. I used a soapy hand to stroke a few times, enjoying the extra sensitivity being bald gave me, and then rinsed clean and stepped out.

Our new toy awaited.

Alina had gone to bed an hour ago but stayed up reading. She'd worn the special pink teddy and I knew from experience that meant she wanted sex. She loves sex, she's just rarely the aggressor, leaving that duty to me, the man. I'd delayed, surfing online until she'd become absorbed in her book. Then I slipped into the bathroom.

I lifted the baby oil from the cabinet and dribbled some over my penis and balls. I rubbed it in, playing with myself until my dick throbbed. I lifted our new toy from the stand and settled the opening over the head of my dick and slid the tube down, pumping the bladder to draw my erection all the way in. I gave it a couple extra pumps to expand my head and shaft, filling the chamber and cylinder completely. I then looped the strap around and behind my nuts and locked it in place with a snap. I tightened everything, securing this new, bigger cock on top of mine. I tested the fit. Nothing budged. I'd be able to fuck Alina without worry.

I risked another two pumps. My expanded dick was rock-hard inside. I dribbled a few drops of baby oil on the silicone head and stroked to coat the shaft too.

She uses a Kindle with the bedroom lights off so I wrapped my bathrobe tightly, hiding me and my surprise, and hit the bathroom lights. I kept my back to the bed as I dropped my robe and slid my feet under the covers, drawing the sheet up. She rolled away, offering me an unspoken invitation to spoon. I lifted the covers slightly to gauge my aim and then eased my hips forward. She felt a penis nudge her from behind and sighed, assuming it was me. She dropped her book to the nightstand and closed her eyes. The adult store was months ago, our toy long forgotten.

I held her hip and pushed firmly, feeling the larger head find her hole and drop into the dip. I applied more pressure but my march forward stopped. The head was bigger than her opening. I'd need to force it. I pushed again, heard her gasp, and held tight as I pressed an inch inside. Her breath quickened, her body tensed. She was stretched around my new girth, opening before my invasion. I sank another inch, slipping easier as her walls quickly turned slick with arousal. Her body turned hot. Her mouth opened.

"Damn, Baby," she moaned. "You feel so big."

"Big feels good?" I whispered.

"Big feels amaaaaazing," she softly groaned. "Let's remember this position."

She was already drenched, and by drenched, I mean dripping. Her body was responding on top of her mental arousal, soaking every inch of her tunnel. I left the toy buried, giving her time to adjust, but she didn't need it.

I'd discovered something remarkable: she enjoyed our dildos but didn't respond to them like this. My wife was sopping because she thought this was a real cock. She attributed the size difference to our position but I doubted she'd thought much about it. All she cared about was I felt huge and huge turned her on. I continued my conquest, ploughing through her snug passageway.

She was breathing fast and shallow, panting, moaning softly. I'd never seen a reaction like this. She seemed to be racing towards climax but that wasn't possible. Ally never cums fast like that. I moved my hand to her waist and curled my hips forward, a gentle thump telling me I'd reached her cervix and could go no farther. I stopped, holding myself deep, letting her feel the long, thick pillar stuffing her. Her hips twitched, involuntary spasms at being so filled, so packed with cock.

Her reactions to this new toy would have been enough to keep me hard but I'd discovered a wonderful side effect: the vacuum around my penis created by the bladder, and especially around the head, provided a tugging stimulation that felt amazing. In time, I might even achieve orgasm.

"Oh, God," she suddenly sobbed.

Her body convulsed, jerked several times against mine, arching and then coiling. All the air left her lungs. Confused, I held myself perfectly still. I held that fat spear buried.

"Fuck!" she cried. "Aaaaarrrgh!"

Alina was having an orgasm like nothing I'd ever seen. Her impaled body writhed. Her pussy had become the center of her universe and she believed it was now packed with big cock. I pumped my hips gently and she spiked again, dropping her face to her pillow and giving herself over to the waves of blinding sensations.

"Don't stop," she whined, clawing at my leg.

I gripped her hard and pressed my fake cock deep, easing through some inner barrier. She groaned like she'd been stabbed but her body melted, another orgasm washing over her, inundating the first that had not quite finished yet. I sheathed the last inch, burying our toy balls-deep inside. She was ruined, helpless, overcome like her mind had short-circuited and her pussy was in control. I fucked tenderly and she kept her face down, savoring the electric shocks and tingles racing through her.

At last the pleasure ebbed. I waited, holding myself all the way in, withdrawing one slow inch at a time only after I saw she was coming back to herself. She shuddered, feeling me leave.

"Let me suck it," she mumbled, thinking it had been my penis which pleased her.

I pulled out and leaned back, hands behind me and presenting my erection. She turned, eager to return the favor, eager to suck me off, and her eyes landed on the soaked replica strap-on cock.

"Sweet Jesus," she muttered.

A range of emotions moved around her face: embarrassed that a toy made her lose control, concern I was hurt she'd loved it so much, disappointment she wouldn't be able to return the pleasure.

"Take it off," she said. "I really need to suck cock."

I grinned.

"No," I said.

I crawled over her, gently rolling her onto her back. I slipped between her legs and lifted her ankles, hooking her feet behind me. Her eyes got big again. Ally is a one-big-orgasm woman. She cums, then I cum, then we go to sleep. We'd already left that behind and I was driving us towards more.

I reached down to guide my big new cock in, surprised how large I felt in my hand but also how large I felt compared to her opening. How had she even taken the thing? I found her slit with a knuckle and set the head. I flexed my hips, sending that fat log gliding in. She moaned loudly. Her eyes glazed. Her mouth went slack. I sank all the way.

"I wish that thing could cum," she muttered.

"Why?"

"Something that big going off inside would feel amazing."

I worked my hips.

"Explain that later," I said. "How would that do anything for you?"

She nodded briefly, already carried away again by waves of sensation. I pumped slow and then fast, returning to slow as her pleasure spiked. I used that larger-than-life cock and drove my wife insane. She curled arms and legs around me, lifting her hips and sopping cunt to meet my thrusts.

I soon felt her stiffen and climax again, her face buried in my neck as she whimpered with bliss. I kept going, fucking her deep and deliberate and strong. She was a slave to her body, uncontrollably orgasming around the intruding phallus, moaning and gasping in surprise as each wave unexpectedly slammed her. I held her in my arms, pumping, filling her pussy over and over and marveling at her many climaxes.

This was an Alina I'd never met.

Finally, she'd had enough.

I didn't care.

She tried to nudge me away but I only fucked with greater urgency. She tried to protest but I held her tight, driving deep, continuing until I ripped one last earthshattering orgasm from her exhausted body.

Motionless at last, I left the replica buried, feeling, through our stomachs pressed together, her spasming cunt fluttering along my new length.

We rested for a time, allowing her to slowly return to Earth. I tried to withdraw but she opened her eyes and wordlessly pleaded to leave her pussy stuffed. I tenderly kissed her breasts and stroked her hair.

"Just stay in there forever," Alina murmured. "Never leave."

"I guess you like our new toy."

"I love it. We have nothing like it. All our toys are smaller, but to also have your body on top of mine, your hips pumping as you kiss and caress me; everything felt so real. It was like getting fucked by a man with a big cock. You blew my mind."

"Did you fantasize it was me or someone else?"

She turned shy, concerned, again, for my feelings.

"It's okay," I said, reassuring. "You can be honest."

She forged ahead.

"That's what made it so hot," she said. "Don't take this the wrong way, but because of the size I knew it wasn't you. That added an extra thrill, like I was being naughty with someone new. You were just some hung, faceless stranger fucking me. I hope that doesn't hurt your feelings."

"No," I said. "It was all in fun. I know you'd never cheat. Your thoughts belong to you. It was hot the way you let go."

She shook her head.

"I had no choice," she said. "That big thing took control."

I moved my hips a little and her eyelids flickered.

"Don't," she rasped. "I can't resist."

I kissed her deeply and pumped my hips slowly. Her head fell back, exposing her throat. I kissed her there and then pinned her wrists near her ears. I began to fuck with long, slow, deep strokes.

"Tom," she whispered. "Stop. Please don't. Please stop."

I lowered my mouth to a nipple and gently sucked. Her pussy had remained wet so I ignored her words. A moment later I was sawing in and out, pulling my hips farther back than I normally do. A cock like this was fun for me too.

She exhaled, resistance crumbling. Her nipples rose. Her face flushed. I got turned on watching her get turned on again and began to fuck her harder. I looked down at her stretched pussy, watching in wonder as that thick cannon turned her inside out, making a cone of her entrance. She was stretched tight around my girth. I held steady, pushing and pulling, owning her little hole like I was some faceless stranger. Her skin turned rosy and her eyes flew open.

"Fuck!" she cried, lifting her pelvis. "FUCK! Aaaaggghh!"

Unbelievable. In only a few short minutes I forced yet another orgasm from her weary body and tired mind. I continued to thrust until her climax faded away. I was ready to cum too. I couldn't do that wearing this device so I pulled out while she lay in a stupor and unsnapped the anchor strap, drawing the long tube off my erection. She aimed bleary eyes to see what I did and then rolled to a side, seeing my real and naked penis close.

I'd grown incredibly aroused watching her orgasm again and again but her words had excited me more and I wasn't sure why. To learn she'd fantasized about a faceless stranger gave her sexuality an extra depth and complexity, and fired my competitive juices. I watched as she leaned close and bent my dick to her mouth. I was enveloped in hot wet Heaven. I noticed the toy lying on the bed near her pussy and worked it inside her while she sucked. She groaned loudly and opened her legs a little wider. Filled with dick, I fucked her at both ends until quickly blasting her mouth full.

To my utter astonishment, my lovely wife orgasmed again.

Chapter 3

That toy became the center of our sex life. We'd race home from work after teasing each other with texts all day, stripping in a flash and jumping into bed. I got so good at fucking her while wearing it we'd roll around changing positions and fucking like lunatics. We learned she had to be careful while on top or I could go too far in and hurt her. She quickly discovered if she placed herself correctly and relaxed inside, something opened and I slid all the way in. She'd lose her mind then, howling like a banshee as she orgasmed while skewered with big dick. She'd close her eyes and tilt her head back and I knew she was once again picturing her faceless stud beneath her, riding him like a slut. To see her orgasm like that was fantastic.

We'd started a new chapter in the bedroom and everything would have been fine if I'd never opened my mouth and tried to make things even better.

"I wish my dick was actually this big," I'd panted.

"Me too," she'd gasped, grinding.

"Imagine if it was real," I said. "A man under you."

Alina groaned from deep in her soul.

"I am," she whimpered.

I'd struck a nerve, something she'd already considered but dared not share with her husband. Her faceless stranger had gained a face. An epiphany lit my brain: the faceless stranger had been replaced with someone she knew. I'd tapped into the truth by suggesting she imagine the toy was someone real. I heard in her groan she was already doing this.

"Who?" I grunted without thinking. "Who is fucking you right now?"

She clamped her teeth over her bottom lip, lost in euphoria, filled with long hard cock. She wouldn't answer. I gripped her narrow waist with both hands to guide her up and down my big fake penis.

"Who is fucking you, Alina? Tell me."

She grabbed my wrists to steady herself.

"Tell me," I said again, insisting. "I won't get mad."

She squeezed her lips shut. Lost in erotica rapture, she still would not reveal her fantasy lover. I let it go, for now, turning all my attention to my naughty wife. Thinking of her mystery man had her close to orgasm.

"Tell me," I tried one last time. "Tell me who it is you want so badly."

Ally groaned from the bottom of her lungs. Pussy juice drenched my crotch as an orgasm hit her and knocked her dizzy. I steadied her body atop mine and watched, fascinated, mesmerized as her climax rushed from head to feet and back again. She wailed in pleasure, fingers and toes clenched, mouth wide open. She hit the peak and cried out, body trembling, legs shaking, cumming hard. Sex had climbed the ladder to become the most important thing we did these days. Work and social life were almost nonexistent. We raced back to the bedroom every chance we got, addicted to the pursuit of mind-boggling pleasures.

As her orgasm drained away she collapsed onto top of me. I hugged her hot body, holding her as she gasped for air. The moment passed. I knew now she wouldn't reveal his name.

I'd need to discover it on my own.

I released the anchoring strap behind my testicles but left the long thick phallus inside her, withdrawing my erection from the center chamber.

Usually I'd remove the toy after she orgasmed and fuck her wildly until I emptied my balls, but this time I offered my dick to her mouth. She was fighting off sleep but sucked me in, draining me quickly. After, we cuddled and talked about work, current events, and our friends, never going near the name of her dream lover. I knew better than to charge right at it.

Alina is a physician's assistant and often sees men naked. Whoever she was fantasizing about had to be hung like the toy, or she believed he was. I thought about that and rejected the idea: I know my wife. She would pick a man she knew was big. Her fantasy would need elements of reality to make her cum like that. I may have dropped the subject with her but was already planning how I would sneak into emails and cell phone. If she'd ever made a comment to one of her girlfriends, I'd find it and know his name.

Why did I care so much?

That was a good question. There are actresses and models and coworkers I fantasize about but I don't tell Alina. If I kept that information from her, she could keep it from me. Why did I need this man's name? What would I do once I knew? I thought about those questions as we talked and realized I wanted to know because I liked that she pictured another man. If I knew who it was, I could picture him too. I don't know why that made it hot, but it did. I'd learn his name and then speak it during sex. I'd make her say it. She'd lose her mind. I'd pour a river of dirty talk all over her until she exploded. Fun!

Drowsiness set in. Her eyelids drooped, her words slowed. I pulled the blanket up to cover her and, once I knew she slept deeply, slipped from bed to visit her office.

I scanned her emails using keywords like hung, inches, and big. I had my answer in minutes: Scott Hanes, the primary doctor she worked with. He was sixty-six years old and Alina had seen him changing at the facility after work almost two years ago. He'd believed the room empty but she'd been stocking supplies and watched him through some blinds. She'd told her friend, Dawn, how attractive the man was, how smart, how kind, and, surprise, how well-endowed.

I searched his name now that I had it but he was everywhere, on everything, involved in almost every email. On a hunch, I searched the word fuck, not expecting to find much because Ally rarely uses profanity at work. I found one email: I want to fuck him, she'd written Dawn. I won't, but I want to. This week we worked together on a project, leaning over the same books, our bodies so close I felt the heat coming off him, and now my crush is worse than ever.

Dawn had replied with sympathy and a warning. Alina had reassured her friend she would never cheat on me. I felt relief, sure, but also disappointment, which was bizarre. I didn't want Alina to cheat but I want her to want to. I loved thinking she was that lusty.

I pushed away from the desk. Now I knew. Introducing his name during sex would be easy since they worked together. He wasn't her boss. She worked for a service that provided physician's assistants and could find herself working somewhere else in town tomorrow. I could mention his name playfully and watch her reaction. If she reacted like I hoped she would, we'd be off and running. I'd describe him doing every nasty thing imaginable to her. We'd both love it.

I jumped to Facebook. I had to see pictures. I found him in seconds. He was sixty-six but in great shape with a short beard, thick mustache, and silver hair. I saw pictures of him kayaking and hiking, helping kids and some event, and raising money for cancer research. I saw him at functions, awards ceremonies, stuffy dinners, and parties. I saw him shirtless. His skin was wrinkled and starting to sag here and there but he was fit and lean. He was handsome, with light blue eyes to compliment his silver hair. He always had a different woman with him, sometimes young, sometimes older, but always attractive.

This was the man my wife wanted. This was Alina's fantasy. Alina and I are connected for life. We both feel it and know it to be true. But married for life is a long time. I did not fault her for letting her mind roam. My mind roams too.

I returned to our bedroom. My exhausted wife slept like the dead. I spied her phone on the dresser and checked recent texts and calls. She communicated with Doctor Hanes often, but every call was brief, every text pure business. She was on her best behavior despite her lust for the man. Good girl.

I faced our bed and gazed down on my slumbering wife. She was curled in a fetal pose, looking serene and peaceful. She'd kicked the covers partially off and I saw the toy still fully buried in her pussy, held there with both hands buried in her lap. Her arms forced her tits together. Her eyelids moved rapidly and I knew what she dreamed. We were headed into holiday season. There'd be lots of parties and get-togethers, lots of opportunities for me to see Scott and Alina interact. Now that I knew who she craved, I looked forward to watching her squirm.

Chapter 4

Halloween is my second-favorite holiday, just behind New Year's Day. Doctor Hanes and the other physicians had thrown a hell of a costume party, and turnout was impressive. They'd rented a large hall at the Marriott and I estimated over two hundred people, all of us dressed up. The costumes ranged from poor to amazing. I was Vision from the Marvel universe and Alina was Wanda, the Scarlet Witch. Her costume was sexier than the comic version, lower-cut in front to show more cleavage and higher on the hip to show more butt. I'd encouraged her to pick it.

My imagination had been electrified since I'd discovered her crush on Scott. Each time we made love, thoughts of them together flooded my head. Each time I sank our toy into her the sounds she made were for him. I told myself every gasp and moan she made was because Scott fucked her in that moment. I'd not yet built the courage to use his name during sex but I was close.

Alina had blossomed into a nymph. She wanted sex almost every day and she encouraged me to use the toy on her often, which was fortunate because I was too old for sex every day. I couldn't maintain that schedule. Even when I was younger I couldn't have sex every day. The toy was the perfect answer.

I'd kept my eyes open for Scott at the party. I wanted to see his face the moment he noticed Alina. She looked wildly sexy and I wanted to see him enjoy that. She looked so good I hoped it would alter their working relationship. More flirting would be fantastic. I was sure I could get Ally to share her day with me.

I told Alina I would get us fresh punch and she kissed my cheek and started talking to friends. I circled the great hall and side rooms, locating Doctor Hanes sharing conversation with a group of older men. He was dressed in a Viking costume, complete with horned helm and animal-hide skirt. His chest was bare, torso and face painted like Mel Gibson in Braveheart. Over his shoulder rested a large plastic axe. Under his helmet sat a wig of long straggly hair. I aimed for the punch bowl and filled two cups, carrying Alina's to her.

"Your boss makes a great Viking," I said.

She gave me a funny look. I waved in his general direction with my cup.

"He's in there," I said. "Viking costume."

I watched her face. She wanted to see him and his costume but not appear too eager. She gulped the last of her drink and took my nearly finished cup from me.

"I'll get this round," she said, casually.

I chuckled on the inside. Right. She wanted to get a look at him. That was okay since that's why I told her where he was. I waited a bit to give her distance and then followed her. I wanted to see their reaction when they laid eyes on each other. Scott had to be aware of my wife's desires. No way an intelligent man was that obtuse. He knew she had the hots for him. Any man would know. I paused for her to step into the other room and then followed again, looping around so I could watch them undetected. She cut across the room directly for him. He looked up and a bell rang inside his head. His face froze. His eyes roamed every inch of her. His friends realized he'd left their conversation and peeled away, chuckling, leaving him to face her alone. Her face was calm but her eyes scrutinized him the same as his did her.

I caught an electric thrill I could not explain. They visually devoured each other and I loved it. I wished her sexy costume revealed more. I wanted him drooling. She stopped close and they started talking, animated conversation as they complimented each other's outfits. The conversation shifted to those around them, enjoying the party, then shifted again to something more personal, judging by their body language. Alina moved closer and they leaned in. Personal conversation now, no doubt. Alina would look away from time to time and it took me a minute to realize she was doing it so Scott could gawk at her tits without fear, and did he ever. He stared like a drunk sailor.

I felt my penis swell inside my Vision costume watching him check her out. I changed positions to see her face better and discovered she did the same, ogling the man each time he looked away. He's fit but old and her interest in his body surprised me. She found the man so attractive she didn't need him to have a young stud physique. She already knew his body had something she wanted. Additionally, she was drawn to his kindness and intelligence, his blue eyes and easy laugh.

The punch was obviously spiked. Everyone here was a little tipsy. Would their flirting go farther if it could? The longer I watched them together the more excited I became. They were so obviously enthralled with each other I knew people would gossip at work come Monday, and that excited me too.

What would happen if I got them alone?

Scott touched her shoulder and said something, peeling himself away to head for the bathroom. I discretely followed. We'd never met. Unless he'd investigated her Facebook and studied the photos there, and even then, he couldn't see my face beneath the Vision makeup. He had no idea I was Ally's husband. He sat his drink on the counter and stepped to a wall urinal. I was one step behind, taking the urinal next to him as there were only two. We nodded but politely ignored each other. I pushed down the front of my tight green shorts. He lifted the front of his animal-hide skirt, revealing he wore no underwear beneath. His phone rang and he answered it, hoisting his fat shank and aiming a thick piss stream into the water. While he was distracted I took the opportunity to stare. He was soft but slightly swollen and I told myself that expansion was from talking to my sexy wife. His dick had a lot of loose skin with deep blue veins just beneath.

There it was. That was the cock Alina wanted. That was the penis she imagined while I fucked her with our toy. I looked away but my eyes were drawn to it again. My dick began to swell in my hand.

"I know the rule is don't shit where you eat," he said into the phone. "But you should see this woman. Her body is nice and she has a pretty face, but she exudes sex. She exhales it. You can see it behind her eyes. She wants to fuck me and I want to fuck her but she works with me. Not for me but with me."

He fell silent, listening while the person on the other end spoke.

"Yes," he continued. "She's happily married but that only makes her more desirable. There'll be no strings. She talks about her husband often and I know they're tight. I'm telling you she just wants to fuck me."

I finished and tucked my penis away. I pretended to fumble with my costume so I could get another long look at his dick. I caught a glimpse of his balls hanging below and they were big. His thick snake rested in his hand, large helmeted head and fat shaft.

Alina wanted that thing to fuck her.

I wanted that thing to fuck Alina.

The idea had taken root and I grew more excited by the minute. I grabbed my plastic cup on the way out. I stopped at the punch bowl for a refill and returned to my position overlooking Alina. Scott arrived a moment later and their conversation resumed. Alina had a determined look in her eye and I decided to throw gas on the fire. My phone was back at the coat-check room but she had hers with her. I left them and, once I had my phone in hand, tapped out a text.

I see how much you want each other, I wrote. It's okay. You can touch him.

Moments later she pulled her phone from a small pocket inside a red glove. She read my message coolly, sliding her phone away once finished. After another minute, she ended their talk and walked away. Scott watched her ass. She headed for the punch bowl and so did I.

"How much have you had?" she asked, seeing me emerge from the crowd. "You must be drunk."

"Nope," I replied. "I just see the way you and Scott look at each other and find it sexy. It's hot to see you lusting after someone."

"I'm not. He's my boss."

"You are and it's exciting, and he's not your boss. Not really."

We stared at each other. The idea had found an opening and wormed into her brain. I knew at that moment she was toying with the idea of sex with Scott. My heart thudded in my chest.

"He's wearing nothing under that animal-skin kilt," I said. "I followed him into the men's room. I suspect he's your fantasy man. Am I right?"

I knew I was because I'd cheated but I wanted to hear her say it. Better to have this in the open and discussed like tipsy horny adults.

"Yes," she admitted.

What a rush. I knew the truth but that simple word from her mouth was devastating. Now I was in on her fantasy too.

"He's naked under there?" she asked.

"Yup. His cock is big but somehow you already knew that."

She nodded.

"I accidentally saw him changing into cycling gear after work," she said. "He thought he was alone. I was in a stock room and watched through the blinds. I don't want him because he's hung. You know that, right?"

"Yes but I know it's a point in his favor. You don't want him because he's hung but you like that he is."

"Exactly."

I stepped closer, lifting the empty plastic cup from her hand. I scooped some punch and handed it back. She was watching me closely. I filled my cup too.

"I see what our toy does to you," I said. "I know if it were real, if it was warm and attached to a man, a man with hands running all over you, tongue and lips devouring you, you'd go insane. I'd like that."

"Yes, but I'd be fucking another man and I'm married to you."

"I'm aware of that."

"I married you."

"I'm aware of that, Baby. I'm as surprised by this as you. The idea's been growing a long time and I'm not telling you to run around fucking everyone, I'm suggesting maybe you should touch him and see how it feels."

"What if it feels fantastic?"

"Touch him again. Maybe do more than merely touch."

She scrutinized me. She tried to see into my heart. She gulped her punch and took the ladle from me to refill. She gulped that too.

"This is crazy, Tom."

"I know you want to," I said.

"I do."

I kissed her cheek.

"I want to watch you get fucked," I said.

Her eyes went wide. Part of her wanted to be upset with me for suggesting something so outrageous. Another part told that part to shut up. Here was her chance to have sex with another guilt-free, to have sex with Scott. She was worried what we'd do to our marriage, what damage we'd naively inflict, but eager and intrigued too.

"Tom, I'm scared."

"You want to do it."

"Yes. Very much. I'm terrified we'll hurt ourselves. It feels stupid."

"We never let fear stop us, Ally. Not when we do something together."

"We've never, ever contemplated something like this. No way do you get another woman. No way."

"I don't want one."

She wrestled. She was torn and conflicted.

"Let's swear it will be a onetime thing," I said. "I'll take full responsibility. We can agree it's all my idea. You are against it but going along with my wishes and bear no guilt. Does that help?"

She poured and gulped.

"Yes, it does." She looked around the ballroom. "This sounds like a huge mistake, Baby."

"Maybe," I admitted. "Probably. But then we won't repeat it and we'll allow it to slip into our past."

She was breathing fast. She glanced around the party like somehow others could hear our crazy talk. A battle raged inside her: fear versus lust.

"Okay," she conceded, lust winning.

My heart exploded. I gasped and took her hand. I kissed her lips.

"What now?" she rasped.

"I have no idea."

I surveyed the large hall. Everyone laughed and talked. We'd taken a step off the edge and I now felt out of sync with these people, like I moved through time at a different rate. I spied a Viking across the room.

"There's Doctor Hanes," I said through a dry throat. "Go talk to him."

Ally stared back at me like she was lost.

"What do I say?" she wondered.

"Just talk. No need to rush anything. You two are so hot for each other I suspect you just need to let it happen. If not tonight, then some night soon."

"Good God," she muttered.

"Just remember what's under that skirt," I said.

She set her empty cup down and walked away. She did not look back. I watched until Scott gave a little wave of hello and then moved, circling around to find a new vantage point.

My mouth was desert-dry. What would Alina do with her new freedom? There was an excellent chance she'd do nothing at all. Given a get-out-of-jail-free card did not mean she'd use it. Her fear was real. Too many people here knew her. I could see all these wild possibilities ending in a whimper.

They chatted a few minutes, moving closer to each other to hear over the background noise. Doctor Hanes could tell right away something was different with Ally. They moved closer still. He was gazing down the front of her Scarlet Witch costume. She allowed the back of her hand to casually bump his crotch. His face showed surprise and then hunger. They spoke another minute and then he gestured, suggesting they leave together. Alina froze. This was the moment of truth. I felt the wave crest inside her and break.

She shook her head, losing courage, waving a hand, probably explaining her husband was lost somewhere in this large crowd and she needed to find him. Scott's expression turned to understanding. My shoulders sagged. She was already retreating, already backing away from our outrageous decision. Disappointment welled inside me. I couldn't blame her and I wouldn't try to force her. If she was against the idea, she was against the idea. She was probably right and I was probably being an idiot.

She moved away from Scott and vanished in the crowd. I searched the crowd for crimson but her petite frame kept her hidden behind others. I worried she was upset now so I angled for the exit. There were several around this large room so I aimed for the closest. I planted myself and waited but she never appeared. I still had my phone so I sent a text but got no reply. All I could do was wait. There was no point to guarding this one exit so I joined the crowd and wandered, refilling my punch and checking out the costumes. I knew no one. These were my wife's friends and colleagues. I received a few compliments on my Vision costume.

I left the big room to wander the halls. Different booths were set up to aid charities. There was a haunted house that looked like fun and a scream in the dark covered maze that meandered through several connected rooms. I decided to find Alina and bring her back. We love stuff like this. I headed again for the ballroom. As I drew close I saw Doctor Hanes emerge from the crowd, checking his phone and moving fast. I let him go by but intuition made me stop.

I turned to stare at his back. Many things could make a man hurry like that, including a request from a sexy woman to meet. I decided to follow, keeping plenty of people between us. He broke away from the crowd and headed down an empty hall. I had to wait or get caught. I hid in a small alcove and waited for him to get some distance but heard a door open far down the hallway. I peeked out. Near the end was a stairwell and Alina stood there holding the door open. She was smiling. He passed through and she let the heavy door close.

My blood surged. My heart became a jackhammer. She'd waved him off but that had been an act for the benefit of others, in case anyone was watching. Their conversation had been a plan to meet.

Every building this size has multiple stairwells so I raced away from them to find my own, climbed several floors to be above them, then raced down the long hall and carefully entered the same stairwell they had. I heard Alina laugh a few floors below. I crept to the edge, making no sound in my soft boots, and peered over the dusty railing at the spiraling stairs below. They'd climbed one flight to get some distance from the party. Alina sat on the concrete stairs, Doctor Hanes leaned against the wall, his plastic axe close by and leaning too. They small-talked about work, eyes locked.

Then something marvelous happened: the front of Scott's animal-hide skirt began to rise. Alina noticed and stopped talking.

"Sorry," Scott said, not sounding sorry at all. "I can't help it. I find you incredibly attractive. This also happens to me at work when we talk but I'm not wearing a fucking kilt then so you don't notice."

He did nothing to conceal his condition, nothing to display embarrassment. His skirt rose, exposing more and more of his legs, and Alina dropped her gaze to watch. At last the animal pelts folded and fell backward, his straining fat cock revealed. The thick meat spear aimed at the concrete stairs overhead. He throbbed, bouncing to the beating of his heart. His big balls hugged the base tight. Alina stared, enthralled, and that only made him grow harder.

"I find you attractive too," she said, speaking to his dick.

Neither moved. Scott's gaze roamed her face and body. Alina had gone with the costume from the original comics so plenty of tit showed. With her seated and him standing, he saw both breasts almost fully exposed. My wife glanced at his handsome face occasionally but mostly she stared at his impressive erection, so pleased she had done this to him. The head had swollen to a deep red, the veins were blue earthworms clinging to the thick shaft.

"That looks delicious," Alina said.

"Then I want you to feel free to have a taste," Scott replied, hopefully.

Alina nervously bit a fingernail. She struggled, unsure despite our earlier conversation. She desperately wanted to touch him but years of marital vows kept her frozen. Scott settled his hand around the base and bent his dick lower, aiming the head directly at my wife's face. I held my breath.

"I'd love it if you did," Scott said. "I think about you all the time. I know you're married and I shouldn't but I do."

"Just," Alina said, shaking her head. "Shut up."

The moment was so intense. My wife openly stared at another man's hard cock. My eyes darted all over the place, taking in her face, his cock, his face, her eyes. I etched every detail into stone. I'd helped this happen and it was every bit as exciting as I'd imagined it would be. I wanted to tell her to touch it but I dared not speak. If they knew I was watching the moment would end. Scott would flee. Too much was at risk.

Alina reached a dainty hand forward, fingers trembling as she extended her arm. Scott leaned slightly forward, unable to wait. Her fingertip gently touched the tip and rested there as her remaining fingers closed around the large bulbous head. He filled her palm. My mind tumbled cartwheels. My wife held another man's cock! Scott stepped closer now, believing he could proceed, and Alina lifted her other hand to cup his big hot balls. She rolled them gently. Scott got too eager and rested a hand on my wife's head, pulling her mouth to his cock. I thought she'd resist but instead she gave him what he wanted, parting her lips and sliding the head in. Her lips sealed tightly around the shaft and Scott moaned softly. She looked up to meet his eyes.

"You have no idea how many times I've fantasized about this moment," he said. "How many times I've dream of my cock in your mouth."

She stopped sucking long enough to reply.

"I promise it was fewer than the number of times I fantasized about this moment," she said. "I've wanted to suck you off forever."

She moved her hands to his thighs and forced her mouth down his shaft. He used both hands to help her take as much cock as possible, silently agreeing she needed as much dick in her mouth as possible. Drool slipped from her lip and dribbled to the floor. My wife struggled to take more of the man. She had half already and was adjusting her throat, determined to get all she could.

I was dying. The vein on her neck bulged. Her face flushed. My wife desperately struggled to get his cock into her throat. He was too big to take all of it so she backed off and began bobbing her head on what she could handle. Her cheeks dented as she sucked, using her mouth like a pussy, coaxing his orgasm, trying to make him cum.

"Let me fuck you," he growled.

"Not tonight," she gasped, stroking with both hands. "Let me drink it. I'll swallow everything you give me."

Scott gripped her head firmly and began fucking her mouth. My wife balanced with her hands on his thighs. He was rough, ramming his cock, but she only moaned with desire, eager to please, happy to be used for his pleasure. She looked whorish, like a pornstar, and hotter than I'd ever seen her. What husband ever pictures his wife like this? I never had, but now that it was right in front of my face, she looked stunning. My dick was cast iron.

Several floors up, we all heard someone enter the stairwell. Heels clacked as they began to descend.

"Shit," Scott rasped.

Alina looked up and listened. She made a face and then stood, wiping her mouth and straightening her costume. The same door opened again and more voices entered. A group was headed our way. Scott grabbed Alina's chin and kissed her deeply, dropping his skirt over his erection and hiding the bulge as best he could with his plastic axe.

"I'll exit first," my wife said. "Then you."

He gave a nod and Alina stepped through the door. Scott waited a moment to give her some distance and then he was gone too. I retraced my steps, exiting on my floor and hurrying across the building. I assumed Alina would look for me where she'd left me in the great hall. I grabbed two cups of punch and mingled, scanning the large room until I spotted crimson. I found her leaning casually against a column, composed and poised.

"I brought you punch," I said, smiling.

She surged forward and planted a long and deep kiss on my mouth. I held the drinks away until we parted. I tasted something briny and knew I tasted Scott, but I had mixed feelings about that. Hot to taste him in her mouth but not so hot to taste him in mine. Alina took the cup of punch from my hand and gulped.

"Thank you," she said, acting cavalier. "I needed to wash Scott down."

She was being playful, trying to shock me while revealing what she'd done. I searched her face, debating if I should tell her I saw everything. I realized my lack of reaction had already sent a message. Her face went blank. I offered my cup of punch.

"Have mine too," I said casually. "Too bad you didn't get to finish. I loved the way you were worshiping his cock."

Her eyes narrowed.

"There's no way you could know," she said.

"I was watching from one floor up," I countered. "I saw him racing to meet someone and assume it was you. I followed and saw you open the door. I used a different stairwell and watched you suck his cock."

She seemed to melt. Her shoulders sagged like guilt had kept them rigid and my words had set her free.

"You looked gorgeous," I continued. "Sexier than ever."

"You're not angry?"

"I'm horny."

"I want to fuck you so much right now."

We shared a vibe and it felt good. This was us acting crazy, together.

"I feel the same way," I said. "But let's continue the party. I'm sure Scott's still here. Maybe you can have another chance with him. Drain those big balls properly. Then I'll take you home and fuck you with his cock."

She could not believe the words coming out of my mouth. Her world was spinning. I took her hand.

"Did you see the scary maze?" I asked. "Let's go have fun."

She stayed close, breast snug against my arm. We moved through the crowd towards the maze.

"Everything's changed," she muttered. "I know you said I could but I thought you'd deeply regret it. I decided I'd just blow him and then tell you because I was sure once you realized I'd done it, you'd get upset and change your mind. That way I hadn't gone all the way and fucked him and we could stop before serious damage was done."

She squeezed my arm.

"But you're a far bigger pervert than I realized," she continued, teasing. "I see now this is real for you. You are sincere about wanting this. You've thought it through."

"I have."

She kissed my shoulder.

"I can't believe this is happening," she said. "But I'll take it. If you say you're still in, I'm willing to go farther."

"I'm all the way in," I said. "I'm dying to see it. I want to see a big cock fucking you and I don't care if it's Scott or someone else. I know you want him so okay, you can have him, but I'm imagining the sex, not the man."

"I understand."

We walked in silence a few minutes and then Alina slumped against me.

"I can't believe I may actually fuck Doctor Hanes," she said. "The idea is insane."

We left it at that, staying silent until we reached the line for the maze. I bought our tickets and we entered, Alina now having another reason to stick to my side. It was black as pitch inside the maze: walls, ceiling, and floors. Small rooms were filled with scenes of terror and mayhem. Alina would have climbed onto my head if she could. People worked the maze, dressed all in black. Invisible hands grabbed our wrists and ankles as we walked by. Ally screamed. I laughed nervously.

No matter how scary things got in there, I had the recent image of Scott's cock in her mouth foremost in my mind.

The maze ended out a door that led to a parking lot and a hayride. At the cost of five tickets, a horse-drawn wagon would take you around the block. Rectangular bales of hay had been used to build bleachers and people in costume sat around eating, drinking, and talking. The night had grown chilly. We each grabbed a corndog and took a seat near a propane heater.

"I'm not ready to go home," she said.

"What would you like to do?"

She stared at her corndog. Her eyes came up to mine. I saw in them exactly what she wanted but couldn't bring herself to say. I decided I wanted to hear it.

"What would you like to do?" I asked again, a grin creeping across my face.

She wrestled with it. All those years of faithful marriage had left a mark. To speak something is to bring it to life and she was concerned perhaps all this should remain a dream. I waited.

"Have sex," she said, finally.

"No," I stated. "Too vague. Say it. Say the whole thing."

"I want to fuck."

"No. Bland. Speak the truth. Use his name."

She met my eyes.

"Tom," she said, almost purring. "I want to fuck Scott. May I? I want him to use that big hard dick on me so long I can't walk after."

She scooted closer and covered my free hand with hers.

"I want Scott to fuck me, Baby. I want to send him a text right now. We could figure out a place to meet."

"Do it," I said.

She withdrew her phone.

"What do I say?" she asked. "Hi Scott, I want to fuck you and by the way can my husband watch? That's too much right out of the gate."

She had a point. I wracked my brain. We sat silently, each trying to form a plan that would give us what we wanted.

"What if," she said, carefully and cautiously. "What if, just for the first time only, I meet him at a nearby hotel alone? I can get a feel for how he would take the idea of a voyeuristic husband. Maybe he'd enjoy that."

A giant fist squeezed my body. Every bone ached. Let her go off alone with him? I would wait for her to come home? God! That sounded like blistering agony. Perhaps they'd make it a quickie: grab some motel room close and then return to the party after. I'd wait here, wandering and waiting and drinking a gallon of spiked punch.

"Never mind," she said, reading my face. "Bad idea. You'd die wondering what we were doing."

"I'd feel so left out."

"So what do we do?"

We looked at each other, each trying to discover a way for my wife to fuck another man. A surreal feeling settled over me.

"I got nothing," Alina said at last.

"Me either. We need time to plan. I guess tonight is not the night."

She chewed a lip.

"But I'm so horny," she whined.

I understood. I could take her home and fuck her, but that's what we always did. After sucking Scott's cock, she was worked up and needed something more, something wild. We couldn't just retreat from the edge after getting so close.

"What about that place downtown?" I asked. "I think it's called The Playground. They have sexy posters in the windows. It's a swingers' club. We wouldn't have to do anything with anyone but we could go walk around and watch people fuck. We could have sex with each other and let people watch."

"Dressed like this?"

I looked down. Oh, yeah.

"The idea sounds exciting," she said. "But Halloween is still a week away. No one will be in costumes but us. Can we go home to change and head back out again? I think once we're home we'll get comfortable and stay there."

Another great point. I was determined to keep this night going. We were in uncharted territory here and I liked it. Our sexual energy was high and I was unwilling to let it die.

"There's a Walmart a few blocks away," I said. "We run in and grab some cheap clothing: maybe a muumuu for you and sweats for me. Just something to get us out of costume and in the door."

"That works for me."

The excitement in her voice fueled my own. This was way outside anything we'd ever done. She chomped the last bite of corndog and we aimed for the parking lot.

Chapter 5

I was keyed up but Alina was wound tighter than piano wire. I'd never seen her so horny. We'd grabbed a change of clothes and driven to The Playground and paid the entrance fee and now wandered the dark hallways. They had Halloween decorations up but Alina was right, no one was in costume. There were big rooms and small rooms, private rooms and public rooms. People strolled around naked or nearly so or still in street clothes. People openly fucked or watched others. I'd worried Alina would be put off by the obscene displays but sucking Scott's cock had changed her, at least for tonight. She was ravenous for sex but savored waiting, allowing her desires to climb into the stratosphere.

"I'm nervous," she murmured.

"Me too," I agreed.

We stopped to watch a woman, fortyish, take on four men at the same time. She rode one while another fucked her ass. She took turns sucking another two. Alina stared with wide eyes.

"Do you wish that was you?" I teased.

She didn't answer. We have plenty of bedroom toys and we sometimes watch porn, so we'd seen it all before, but being in the same room only arms-length from a hard cock sliding into a wet pussy is a million miles away from watching the act on a small screen. We could feel the sexual tension in the air, smell wet pussy and spent semen, hear soft gasps and moans. We were soaking sex in through our skin.

We moved on. Soon we arrived at a steam sauna and Ally turned hopeful eyes to me. We'd got the chill of the night in our bones as we ate our corndogs and here was a way to get it out. Pegs along the wall held clothing from the people inside.

"You ready to be naked in front of strangers?" I asked.

"More than ready," she replied.

We shed our matching sweat suits and hung them on the pegs. Men walked by and looked my wife up and down and I admit I loved it. At first Alina tried to make herself small, hiding from their burning gaze, but then she stood tall. We'd come a long way in a very short time and she refused to go back. We were in pursuit of something new and exciting. Our sex life was always good but this path was pure adrenaline.

I opened the glass door and we stepped into the fog.

The heat felt wonderful. We traveled the wood slats to the corner and Alina pointed where she wanted me to sit. I dropped and she sat beside me, close enough our thighs touched.

The mist was thick but I saw other people scattered around nearby, couples and singles. One row down and a few places over, a young woman sucked her man's dick. Across from us a man ate a woman's pussy. The fog parted briefly and next to them a man masturbated, stroking a large angry cock as he watched those around him. He was a bit chubby and bald but his dick was impressive. Alina had kept her eyes down but now they came up and, like me, she surveyed our surroundings, aiming a goofy grin my way when she saw what went on around us. We'd come a long way in a short time indeed. I thought she'd watch the woman having her pussy eaten but Alina was all about the blowjob. The couple was young and fit and my wife watched with fascination. My dick grew erect to see her so enthralled. She noticed and lowered her head to my lap, sucking me like I was hard candy. Fat Bald across the way noticed and stared.

Maybe it was the spiked punch.

Maybe I was just too horny and reckless.

I nudged Alina one step lower and she moved between my legs to attack my dick, putting her back to the room. This aimed her naked slit at Fat Bald, which was my intention. I wanted him to see my naughty wife. I wanted him to gawk at her slick cunt. At least, that's what I told myself. But when Fat Bald misunderstood and thought I was offering her pussy and not just a view, I did nothing. When he left his seat and descended the steps on his side to then climb ours, I did nothing. When he came up behind my unsuspecting wife, holding the root of his cock in one hand while licking the fingers of the other to wet the tip of his large cock, I did nothing. I kept my face blank. Would he go ahead without an obvious green light? Was Alina that hot and sexy?

Yes.

He placed the naked head at her swollen slit and pushed. Alina gasped loudly and tried to rise, shocked and surprised, but I held her head down, forcing my dick farther into her mouth. Fat Bald figured this was our game and he played along perfectly, grabbing handfuls of her ass and pushing his large cock all the way in. Our night had Ally so wet the man sank until he reached her cervix. I felt the bump. She struggled but there was no point. She was impaled at both ends, spit roasted between us, and there was nothing to do except take it or completely flip the fuck out.

She took it.

I'd just given my wife to another man. My dick surged iron hard. Ally gagged. I stared at her ass, watching as he withdrew his rigid inches before plunging deep again. My heart pounded. I sucked steam, burning my throat as I panted. My hands shook. His bare-naked cock was in her!

Her hips began undulating, fucking herself on this stranger's pole. I wished I could see the point of penetration. I wanted to see her pussy stretched tight around him. All I saw was the humps of her butt and his wet cock beneath his protruding belly, but even that had me more excited than ever. It was insane to offer her to a stranger, especially to allow his unprotected cock inside, but we were lost to lust. Too much had happened tonight.

Fat Bald moved his big hands to her waist and buried his cock all the way. My wife groaned from having her pussy filled, gasped from all the dick stuffed in her. He slipped a hand underneath to play with her swinging tits and Alina whimpered with excitement. She still did not know which man fucked her!

All at once my wife's whimper turned into a squeal. Her body tensed and her back arched. A spasm slammed her and I realized Alina was having an orgasm. I couldn't believe it! The man fucked her harder and she stopped sucking me, moaning as her powerful climax was driven higher. He pounded my wife, jarring her body against my lap.

Suddenly he stiffened and groaned. He drove his hips all the way forward and held himself there. He was ejaculating inside her! I groaned too and spurted semen, cumming spontaneously at that moment his sperm flowed into her. Alina capped my spewing dick and sucked, milking the semen from two men.

The man stayed buried until he'd shot his last drop and then withdrew. He kissed her ass and walked away, deflated penis dangling. Alina slumped to the bench. The enormity of what we'd just done landed on me like a pile of bricks. Guilt and regret flooded me. This was disastrous. I knew Alina was returning to Earth too and would feel the same crushing remorse. I stroked her hair tenderly, ready to handle her dismay. This was my fault. She looked up at me.

"Find another man," she croaked.

Blood boiled in my veins. Regret exploded and became exhilaration. Rampant, runaway lust filled her eyes. She felt no remorse, she felt need. I scanned the sauna and spotted a young black man watching us, slowly jacking off. He had rippled abs and a cock bigger than mine so I waved him over, allowing Alina's hunger to drive me. I wrapped my arms around her head and jerked my chin at her pussy. The young man hefted his dick and probed, seeking her hole. Alina gasped when she felt him back there, mumbling yes, yes, yes over and over. Our new friend slid in easily, pushing until he hit bottom.

"Fuck me," Alina growled.

He set his feet and held her butt and pounded her hole, young and clumsy. I rested her torso on the bench and slipped out from under her, circling around to see. The young stud's black cock filled her tight opening. My mind did backflips. Here was the penetration I was dying to see. Black and white looked stunning together, made surreal by the fact it was Alina's pussy. My wife was being fucked by a young black man. The sight staggered. He ignored me, grabbing her long hair and pounding her cunt. Alina urged him on, her pitch climbing as another orgasm approached.

Seconds later she shrieked, that fat black cock ripping a powerful climax from her. He'd been holding back, waiting for her to get there first, but now he turned his flood loose, inseminating Alina with a deluge of baby-making goo. My wife got off on him spraying her insides, orgasm spiking. He finished cumming before she did and pulled his dick out, allowing globs of mixed sperm to leak from her hole. He gave me an embarrassed look and hurried out of the sauna. Alina collapsed to the bench, reaching to feel the twin loads seep from her. She tried to lift her head but failed.

"That guy was black," I murmured.

"Oh my God," she groaned.

Her hand rose and a finger found her clit. She masturbated, pleasuring herself to the thoughts of what she'd just done.

We left our sweat suits hanging there, leaving the sauna behind to wander the club naked. We were like different people, a completely different couple, following our impulses and suspending judgment. There may be a bill come due in our future but we would deal with that then. Tonight, we were free.

Two rooms away we found a door with a sign: BBC Only, guarded by a bouncer. I had to ask what BBC meant. I was informed that stood for Big Black Cock and wondered aloud what the restriction could mean. The bouncer pointed to an open doorway farther down the wall.

"Step through there and find out," he said.

I took Alina's hand and we entered. On our right was a long wall with holes scattered along the length, each with a small footstool placed in front. Through most of these openings hung big, soft, black penises. Two of them had white women sucking while their husbands stood behind watching and masturbating. This idea of watching your wife clearly had broad appeal. I was beginning to suspect maybe there were a lot of men like me.

"All you know of the man is his dick," Alina said. "That's kind of hot. It's demeaning, being reduced to nothing but your sex organ, but it's a great way to focus purely on sex. At a club like this, it's sexy as hell."

We stood to the side and watched. A woman moved from the back of the room to take a seat on a stool and lean forward. She lifted a heavy black dick like it was a slice of pizza and closed her lips around the head.

"Yeah," Alina exhaled. "Fucking sexy."

I said nothing. I know my wife. I waited until the dam broke and Ally left my side to take a stool. I moved in behind her. She kissed the dark head and opened her mouth. I started jacking off. Standing behind, I could look down from above. That dark pulsating meat slid in and out of her mouth, growing harder by the second. She was into her new role now, dragging her tongue along his dark length, teasing the pee hole at the tip, lifting the trunk of meat to lick the hanging balls before sliding him into her mouth again. He'd risen to aim skyward and she used both hands and her mouth on him.

He came fast, blasting a huge load down her throat. She gagged and coughed but jumped to the next stool. Other women joined her, drawn from the crowd to satisfy the waiting dicks. Nothing but big black cocks come through those openings, proof the bouncer did his job. She'd get one guy off and then move to the newest cock, working on him until he spit seed.

Finally, she'd had enough. She stood and surprised me with a deep kiss. Her mouth was brackish from the loads she'd swallowed, and I didn't like the idea that now some of them were in me, but the evidence that she'd been so slutty turned me on like crazy.

We left that room and the feeding frenzy Alina had started. There were no single women in it. Every cock-sucking wench had a husband or boyfriend standing with her. I told myself I needed to investigate further once I was home. I wondered if an entire subculture of men who shared their wives existed. If so, I'd be able to get ideas about how to get Doctor Hanes and Alina together in a way that I could see it.

We meandered, wandering the club and taking in the scandalous sights. The Playground was fun but the sex we saw lacked emotional involvement. Anonymous connections feel good physically but can't compare to a connection that includes complex desires and attachments, intimate attractions and needs. Alina has a relationship with Scott that spans years. Their mutual longing has built over the countless hours spent together. As I witnessed with the blowjob she gave, those cravings have had the time to multiply a hundred-fold. Sex with Scott would be far more than a dick through the wall. Sex with Scott would transform my wife into a volcano, pressure building towards explosion. Just the thought was enough to make my dick rise, which, when you're walking around a club naked, everyone noticed, including my lovely wife. Alina stopped us in a hallway. She pushed me against the wall and held my dick on her soft, smooth palm. She kissed me.

"What brought this on?" she asked. "Watching me fuck or watching me suck?"

"Neither," I said. "I was imagining you with Scott."

"Too bad he's not here," she said. "I could fuck him in one of these rooms and you could watch like you were just part of the crowd. You guys have never met. He doesn't know your face."

We froze.

"That's it," she said. "That's how we make it happen."

"It's brilliant," I admitted.

My erection surged. She squeezed and tugged a few times.

"I don't know if I should get you off now or make you wait," she said. "You seem to love wallowing in the agony of an unfaithful wife."

"It's intoxicating. I'm so turned on. I know how much you want him. I love how much you want him, which is strange. I'll be on the verge of detonation the whole time he's in you. I can't wait."

She studied my face. Our eyes met. The moment froze in time: us, naked in a downtown sex club, discussing her inevitable infidelity. This was so far from anything I'd ever imagined for us, I had no idea what to do with it. She carried two anonymous loads in her pussy and several in her stomach. My wife was awash in other men's semen. I gripped her arms above the elbows and spun, pressing her shoulder blades against the wall. I kissed her lips passionately, sending my tongue into her mouth and tasting the black men in there, then dropped lower to kiss her throat. From there I suckled each nipple. I was drunk on sex and so was she. An urgent need came over me and I continued my journey south, pausing at her belly button before sinking to my knees. She realized what was coming.

"Oh, Jesus," she muttered. "Fuck."

I nudged her thighs apart with my shoulders. Her pussy lips were still swollen, her clit still engorged. She smelled of sweat and warm semen. I slithered my tongue all over her mons, sucking her vulva before driving my writhing tentacles into her hot, wet cunt. I nibbled her inner lips and then pushed my tongue far up inside her. Her legs went weak. I cupped her ass and ate her like tipping milk from a bowl. She groaned and braced herself, legs trembling, her breath ragged. I licked deeper and faster, dragging my tongue along her smooth inner walls. She clawed the wall behind her.

"Jesus, Tom," she groaned, "I'm gonna cum."

I wanted it. I wanted that unfaithful pussy and tainted womb to quiver and explode. She was soaked, dripping into my mouth and down my throat. People walked by and some stopped to watch and Alina grabbed her own tits, mauling them in lust. A woman reached out to help, pinching my wife's stiff nipple and calling her pretty.

"Fuck!" she cried, legs muscles clenching. "Fuck!"

Her body spasmed. I licked and sucked faster, driving her sky-high. Murmurs swept the gathering. Alina moaned and I kept going until I felt her melt and lean her weight on my shoulders.

"Stop," she whimpered. "Baby, please, no more."

I kissed a trail up her stomach, veered over to nibble each nipple, and then rose to kiss her mouth. I shared the flavor of her cheating cunt, my tongue dancing with hers. I realized we were out of control tonight but it felt so good. We'd always lived a proper life, obeying the rules, living to impress and please those around us. Tonight, we lived for ourselves, and I wasn't finished.

I took her hand and led her to one of the big rooms at the back. Dozens of people milled about, some engaged in sex, others just watching or talking. I scanned the room but did not find what I sought so I led us onward. Two rooms later I found the man I was looking for and marched my wife right up to him.

"Fuck her," I said.

I gave him her hand. He took it, a broad smile growing. Alina stared at me, shocked.

"Take her," I continued. "Return her when you're finished. I'll wait here."

It needed to be done. Ever since she mentioned meeting Scott alone in a hotel room, I'd fretted over the idea of Ally doing something sexual without me. Fear made me feel like I needed to be present for everything, to see everything, like I needed to keep tabs on her. If I can let Alina fuck another man, then she can fuck him without me standing over her.

Here was a way to test that, to confront my fear. Allow this stranger to take my wife away and do as he wants. Could I stand it? Would Alina be okay with it? There was no better time or place to test the idea than right here and right now.

My wife looked the man I'd chosen up and down. He wasn't handsome or fit, but his cock was long and uncircumcised, his length greater soft than I am hard. I saw plainly on her face that Alina had mixed feelings about me handing her over like I owned her: partly indignant, partly aroused. She wasn't mine to give away and yet, in some ways, she was, and she liked that. She leaned close to him and he circled her shoulders with a protective arm, signaling to me that she was his now and he'd care for her.

My throat constricted. I immediately regretted giving her up. I was about to change my mind and say something but I caught the look in Alina's eye. In some primal way, she liked being passed from man to man. If I tried to take her back, she'd refuse, following through on what I'd done. I struggled to breathe. She nestled under his arm and tenderly lifted his long penis in one hand.

"I'm Alina," she told him.

"David," he said.

He led her away, down a hall and out of sight. My world spun. What an idiot I was! What had I done? I wanted to take it back but couldn't. I glanced around and took an open seat, watching the hallway where she'd vanished, hoping she'd change her mind and come back to me. I stared hard down that hallway, rarely blinking. I desperately yearned for her to appear.

One minute became two and then fifteen and then I knew she wasn't coming back, not for a long time. My knotted stomach churned and twisted. I tasted acid at the back of my throat. We'd done everything together so far, every step down this path. Even when she sucked Scott at least I got to watch and we talked about it later.

This was all her and her lover. I was on the outside, ignorant, left to imagine what was happening between them, what he was doing to her, how she was reacting. It was pure agony. I grew an erection sitting there waiting and watched it fall minutes later, only to grow again when I pictured his big cock hard and plunging. I imagined my wife climaxing on his long cock and my dick turned hard and stayed hard. I stared down that darkened hallway and my upright penis throbbed.

An hour later I was still hard. My dick ached. I considered masturbating to relieve the pressure but what if Alina wanted sex when she returned? Worse, how big a loser did I appear to be, sending my wife off with another man in front of all these people, and then jacking off about it?

My pulsing dick won. I couldn't ignore it. I needed relief badly so I wrapped my fingers and began to stroke. It was humiliating. Others turned to watch, smiling like they knew it had been only a matter of time before I caved. I tried to shield my behavior but they all knew. I surprised myself by spurting quickly, powerful sexual tension causing me to cum much faster than usual.

The moment my orgasm ended, I regretted jacking off. Now Alina off in that room with him was torture. My whole body ached with remorse. I considered storming in and snatching her away but I'd handed her over. I'd look so weak and insecure. On top of that there was the good chance Alina would not come with me. If they weren't finished, she'd stay. She's told me many times that making the man cum is essential to her satisfaction. We've never ended sex without my orgasm. If I burst in on them and demanded she leave she'd tell me to wait, she'd leave when she was finished.

I groaned in frustration. I wrapped my arms around my stomach. I tried to think of something else but failed, imagining them locked in passionate embraces, kissing, fucking hot and heavy.

I may have just orgasmed but my penis did not deflate. Not all the way. My dick stuck out from my hips horizontally, pointed straight ahead. I stroked a few times and it responded, rising another inch.

"This is insane," I muttered.

Another fifteen minutes and I couldn't take it. I left my seat and headed down the dim hallway. I had no idea what awaited. The hall turned left and ended in a door guarded by another bouncer. A large white sign with black letters stated: COUPLES ONLY. NO EXCEPTIONS. The bouncer held out a hand.

"Sorry, Bro," he said.

He jerked a thumb behind him at the sign.

"Read it and weep," he said.

"My wife's in there," I protested. "Petite. Brunette."

"If that's true," he said. "Then she's in there with another man."

"Yes. She entered with another man. A man she'd just met."

The bouncer looked me up and down.

"That's something you two will need to sort," he said, amused. "It happens a lot in this place. Everybody walking around naked, showing off what they got. Someone sees something they like and off they go. Don't worry, if your marriage is tight, she'll come back to you. If not, time to move on."

The door opened behind him as an older couple left and I caught a quick glance beyond. A large room was lit with a thousand candles, a warm, mystical, magical place, filled with beautiful naked people walking around or engaged in sex. Alina sat in a chair of gilded leather straps that hung from the ceiling, resting comfortably four feet off the ground. Her new lover had her ankles resting on his shoulders, his thick pipe of a cock formed a bridge connecting their bodies. Her face glowed with pleasure as he gently swung the hanging chair back and forth, fucking my wife.

Her blissful expression crushed me. His fat cock clearly brought her so much pleasure and satisfaction. She gave no thought to her husband locked outside, waiting, wondering. I'd given her away. I deserved whatever I got. This wasn't even like Scott in the stairwell. This was pure guilt-free sensuality. A new man moved deeply inside her and she savored the indulgent decadence.

The door swung shut. My dick was pointing at the ceiling. My heart beat wildly. I'd seen open beds in there and I knew he'd lead her to one soon. She would not come back to me for a long, long time.

My hard on and I stood outside that door for over an hour. I hoped to catch another view inside that room but no one emerged. Eventually the bouncer gave me a stern look and I wandered away, drifting around the club.

Normally I would feel incredibly self-conscious roaming with an erection but this place, and the crazy turn my life had taken with Alina, squashed all that. I found an open room where three women sucked one big cock and sat to watch.

My forlorn bones ached inside my body. Each time something distracted me for a moment, my mind raced back to slam against the fact that Alina was still busy with her new man. I was sure this technique was used as a method of torture throughout history. Take a man's wife away with the understanding that when she was returned, she will have spent time with a new lover. The husband's mind would torment him more than any inquisitor's rack.

My dick remained upright and I again resisted the urge to jack off, but once again time overcame my patience. I had to. Endless imaginings of Alina stuck on the spit of David's big cock assailed me. My erection would not go away. My balls burned and my shaft throbbed. I closed my eyes and stroked, picturing my wife and what she did, what was being done to her, and her happy, glowing face. Hot jizz spurted almost instantly.

As before, the moment my orgasm ended, regret settled in. This time, I fought back. I pictured Alina slurping on the large cock head. I imagined him fucking her from behind, thumb up her ass, cries of pleasure tumbling from her mouth. In my mind, I saw him make her climax and the regret in my head retreated.

I smiled, once again my own master. The trick was imagining Alina having sex. Those emotions trampled all others.

My dick had risen again by the time the door opened and my disheveled and exhausted wife shuffled out and into my arms. She noticed my erection and smiled weakly. Mister Big Dick David had his arm around her shoulder but peeled away as they drew close. His dick was limp, utterly drained, and gleaming with her pussy juice.

"Take me home," Alina muttered.

Chapter 6

Our strap-on, the toy responsible for so many recent changes, sits alone now, unused and forgotten in the closet. Why use a large replica penis when a large real one is freely available? We'd returned to The Playground many times over the last few weeks, learning the unwritten rules of swinger life. We weren't true swingers: I still had not had sex with anyone other than Alina. I'd had plenty of opportunity and my wife would most likely consent, but I lacked desire. I wasn't interested in fucking other women. I was interested in Alina fucking other men.

We were out to dinner at Roscoe's when I asked her about Doctor Hanes. She lusted after the man. She'd had his cock in her mouth but never finished him off and I knew she found that fact was utterly unacceptable. Each day when she dressed for work I saw the elevated care she gave her appearance, the increased attention to hair and makeup, the subtle, sexy changes to her wardrobe. She said they flirted more but always out of sight of the others. I asked why she'd made no plans to fuck him after all this time. She said she loved their heightened tension at work and wanted to make it last as long as she could.

"Also," she continued, "and I hope this doesn't hurt your feelings, but I have real feelings for him. I've known him so long. We've been through a lot together in our years at the facility, triumphs and tragedies. A strong connection has formed that goes deeper than mere friendship. We trust each other. When I fuck hot anonymous strangers it's just sex. If I fucked him, it would mean more. It would be dangerous, emotionally. I worry I'd develop a strong attachment, stronger than what I already feel."

"If you fucked him you might fall in love?" I teased.

She sat her fork on the table, suddenly serious.

"Yes," she said. "Sex works differently on women than it does on men. In a way, I already love him. I know him. I admire him. I see every day what kind of man he is and my respect grows. Now we're going to make love too? Unwise."

God, what a rush. This whole kink is a perversion so of course I was instantly drawn to her fucking him right away. The risk sounded so hot. I did not want to lose her but I very much wanted her tempted, tempted to the point of almost breaking. I wanted his blue eyes and big cock to almost steal my woman. Almost. Maybe steal her for a day or so until she remembered how much she loved me and came running home, came home leaking semen.

"You're imagining him fucking me right now," she teased.

"Guilty."

She chuckled.

"Trust me when I say it's too dangerous," she said.

Dinner continued. I dropped the topic conversationally but my true obsession with Scott Hanes had only just begun. Alina's words burned into my mind. I wanted to flirt with danger, I wanted to bring them together, give her what she truly wanted. Foolish, yes, but I couldn't let it go. I formed and rejected several plans but by dessert, I had it. I said nothing to Alina because she would simply refuse and my plan did not need her participation. Not at first anyway. The padded restraints I'd purchased the same night as the strap-on sat at home in the original packing, unopened and unused. I would change that.

Chapter 7

"Tighter," my wife insisted. "I want pitch black."

I tucked the blindfold around her eye sockets and pulled the loose ends snug. I whipped the ends around, forming a knot. I tightened that too.

"Now ankles and wrists," I said.

I left the bed, moving from corner to corner, securing her limbs but using a bowline knot, which Google told me was the easiest to untie. The last time we visited The Playground I'd paid a woman twenty dollars to mention bondage to Alina and then rave about it, planting the seed. As expected, after a few days my wife wanted to try it.

Tonight, was the night. Before covering her eyes with the blindfold I'd slipped on our toy.

"When you feel this cock enter you," I'd said, waving the oversized replica in her face. "Imagine it's actually Scott."

She eagerly awaited penetration. We'd not used the toy in a long time and she was excited to feel it again.

She'd get the penetration she desired. Oh, yes, she would.

Scott waited out in the living room.

Days ago, I'd explained my plan to him and gotten him to agree. I'd fuck her first, getting her wet and worked up. Then, pretending to change positions, I'd step aside and motion Scott forward. Once he was balls deep, I'd release her blindfold and then release her limbs.

I'd stand back and watch the fireworks explode.

My conversation with Scott had started off poorly. He'd taken some convincing. He had feelings for Alina and hated my idea. Not until I'd confessed to being in the stairwell that night and describing what I'd seen, quickly followed by an admission of my kink, did he relent and listen to what I had to say. He didn't understand my fetish but he was dying to fuck Alina so I pursued that angle, dangling her like a carrot. Eventually, he agreed to my outrageous plan.

I leaned down to fondle her breasts and suckle a nipple. I offered the head of the strap-on to her mouth and she licked all over, coating it with saliva, knowing it would soon invade her cunt. I was sure her Scott fantasies had already begun and it was his cock she licked.

Movement caught my eye. Scott entered the bedroom naked and with hard cock in hand. The idea of Alina available and bound to our marriage bed had captured his imagination and proven too hard to resist. He'd broken from the plan and entered too soon. It didn't matter. She was secured, blind, and utterly unaware. I moved my mouth to her other nipple.

"What's my name?" I mumbled, for his benefit.

She hesitated and then understood.

"Scott Hanes," she said.

"What am I here to do?" I asked.

She moaned softly.

"God," she rasped. "Fuck my brains out."

I glanced at Scott to see the impact her words had and discovered he was recording us on his phone. This was something we'd never discussed but I wasn't about to stop what we were doing and call him out on it. I'd deal with his bootleg video later.

"Do you like my big cock?" I asked. "Use my name."

"Scott," she whimpered. "I've loved your big cock from the moment I first saw it, hiding in the storeroom while you changed clothes."

That made his eyebrows rise. He had no idea she'd been there. He continued to record but began slow-stroking his long cock.

"I wanted to drop to my knees and suck it right then," she continued. "I wanted to flip my dress up in back and bend over. I've wanted you for so long, Scott. Let me suck your cock right now."

I played along. I stood and moved closer, again lowering the head of our toy to her mouth. Her tongue was a snake, coiling and licking every inch.

"Tell me to fuck you," I said.

"Fuck me," she exhaled.

"No. Use my name."

She drew a deep breath, totally into the fantasy now.

"Fuck me, Scott Hanes. Sink that big cock all the way in. Suck my tits and pound my little hole. I want you to cum in me. I'm going to make my husband eat my pussy after you cum in me."

I avoided Scott's eyes. Alina had added that little tidbit on her own and I was uncomfortable with Scott knowing I devour her cunt after she fucks.

"Fuck me, Scott," she said again, pleading.

I moved to the foot of the bed, intending to crawl up between her legs and sink my faux dick, but he met me there, silently handing me the phone. His erection stuck out: red, angry, and ready, and close enough to the strap-on I wore for me to compare. His real cock was nearly the same size and shape as my store-bought version. The main difference, and it mattered a lot, was his real cock had fat balls filled with sperm hanging beneath. Soon that sperm would be inside my wife. I suppressed a shiver of delighted anticipation. Husbands are not allowed to desire such things.

Oh, but I did. I do.

My dick stiffened inside our toy. I'd never get a drop inside her wearing this device and that brutal denial thrilled me. He'd flood her womb over and over. He'd release gobs of jizz inside my wife and she prayed that he would. She craved it.

My dick turned harder than ever.

I took the cell phone and assumed filming. He lowered his mouth to her slit and I heard her suck a bushel of air. He then licked up her body to her tits. As he climbed higher, his hard cock drew closer to her unsuspecting slit, closer until the tip nudged her labia. That caused her to suck air again.

He was desperate to be inside my wife. I'd heard his desire in his words and seen it in his body language. I saw it in the throbbing of his penis. Yet, with the moment of victory upon him, he teased them both. He prodded her outer lips, causing her inner-lips to flower. I knelt and zoomed, in awe how her pussy seemed to be reaching for him. She lifted her hips as far as the restraints allowed, dying to capture his cock.

What I had arranged here was wrong. I was wrong to do it. Even if everything went perfectly and Alina was delighted with my plan, I was still in the wrong. But none of that mattered to me. The only thing that mattered, the only thing that felt right and true, was getting his cock inside my wife's cunt. My universe demanded it. My pulsating dick ruled me. Her hips writhed. In her mind, her fantasy told her Scott brushed her pussy. Her squirms and twists expressed her longings to capture him, not me. He let her feel how close he was a few more times and then crumbled, unable to hold himself back any longer. He planted his mouth over hers and sank the hefty shaft deep, drawing in skin from all around her opening.

Alina groaned from exploding pleasure, pulling on her bonds, trying to wrap arms and legs around what she thought was me but imagined was Scott. She was forced to lie there like the sacrificial lamb. Scott adjusted his knees and sank another few inches, bottoming out, bumping against her cervix. He lifted his torso to feast on her tits while beginning a slow rhythm.

I dutifully recorded the man's fat dick sliding in and out of my wife, but I was stunned speechless. He dominated her hole. She was caught in a storm. I zoomed again, capturing her tight inner labia clinging to his inches. After craving each other for years, here, at last, their moment had arrived. Scott knew it but Alina did not and he fucked like he wanted to drive the soul from her body, using his cock like a weapon, hips slammed forcefully, every inch of solid meat buried inside her. He paused briefly, reveling as he felt her tight walls clutch him.

He returned to kissing her, hot passionate kisses that released years of want. Alina began to sense something was different, this was too much desire from her husband. Given time she would have figured it out but his plunging cock gave her no respite. He still had his mouth pressed to hers when an orgasm ripped through her. I almost spurted, trapped inside my device. His cock worked wonders on her. Unaware it was Scott, he still turned her world upside down.

I'd planned on leaving Alina unaware but this was too good to miss.

I circled the bed, loosening her ties. I saved the blindfold for last. Scott was aware what I did and worked with me, driving deep and holding himself motionless for a heartbeat while Alina writhed, and then withdrawing before doing it again. She was barely cognizant of her growing freedom.

At last the blindfold slid to the floor. She blinked, eyesight adjusting, and then gazed into the face of her lover.

"Oh," she squeaked. "Oh, no."

Awareness swept through her. She stiffened, struggling briefly to get away, overcome with emotion, but then melted, throwing legs and arms around him, kissing deeply and forcing her tongue into his mouth. He sank balls-deep and returned the kiss. They stayed like that, bodies blended as one, passionately making out, for a long time, long enough I began to feel like an intruder in my own bedroom, watching my own wife.

When the kiss broke Alina smiled broad and bright. Scott chuckled. They were delighted to finally be with each other. I saw the depth of my wife's desire for the man, his incredible attractiveness. They were friends and lovers, co-workers and colleagues. They had history. Alina had warned me about this and I saw it now, I saw the deep connection. Scott was a threat. Not just because my wife wanted him, but because she knew he wanted her. After her one misstep in the stairwell, she'd kept him at arm's length, staying true to me and our marriage. I'd destroyed that barrier. I'd brought him into our bedroom and introduced him between her legs.

Before my eyes their hot fucking evolved into slow lovemaking. Part of me wanted to interrupt, to stop them in their tracks. Part of me wanted to run from the room, to scrub from my eyes the sight of their intimacy. A growing panic had my mind screaming but I kept filming. I told myself when this night was over I'd talk to Alina and we'd agree she could not fuck him again.

What I saw over the next few minutes told me that plan would fail. My wife was lost in him. The wall had been breached. If I insisted she not see him she'd tell me no and fuck him anyway. I'd opened the door. There was no stopping this. The smartest thing I could do would be allow Alina to fuck him all she wanted, hoping that once the novelty wore off she'd remember our marriage. I'd need to trust our love. That was a frightening prospect but I told myself to have faith in the woman I loved.

He murmured something and Alina pulled herself off his long gleaming cock to flip onto her elbows and knees. She lifted her ass high, a devilish sparkle in her eye. Scott aimed his cock at her offered pussy and pushed, spreading her labia and burrowing several inches deep. Alina gasped.

"Jesus, that's thick."

"Did I hurt you?" he asked.

"A little," she said. "But in a good way."

She rested her cheek on our bed.

"Push more in," she said. "I want all of you."

Scott held her hips and sank the shaft until he bumped her cervix.

"Wait," she groaned, holding her stomach. "Fuck."

He held himself still, allowing my woman to adjust to his size. How delightful that must be for him. I wished I had the cock he did, just so I could do to Alina what he did to Alina. If I had a dick like his I'd whip it out all over the place, making sure every guy saw it at the urinal or the gym. I'd wear tight pants and Speedos.

"Okay," Ally gasped. "More."

Scott leaned his weight, drove another inch deep.

"You're so tight," he said.

"Every woman is tight on you."

He chuckled.

"I've wanted you for so long," he said. "I'm so happy this is happening."

"Me too."

My wife dropped lower, mashed her tits against our bed. Scott pulled almost all the way out, his strong cock gleaming. I aimed the camera and captured every inch as he sheathed the glorious member inside her again. He started a smooth in and out, both savoring the sensations.

"When you get there," she muttered. "Don't pull out. I want you to cum inside me. I want to know you are in there. I want you in me for days. I want to know you're still inside standing next to me at work."

Don't pull out. Words every man loves to hear. Scott set his jaw and began working his cock like a piston. Alina stopped talking, floating away as waves of pleasure saturated her brain. His fat cock stretched her in every direction, filled her, turned her sopping wet. He fucked her from behind like she was meant for breeding. His cock slammed home over and over, his expression serious, like he wanted to impregnate her.

"I'm close," she said at last. "You're gonna make me cum."

Scott gripped her flesh and plowed her cunt. A light sheen of sweat broke out across his face. He banged the shit out of my wife, pouring years of lust and want into powerful thrusts, driving his hard cock deep again and again. Alina groaned and quivered as an orgasm seized her and squeezed. Scott never broke stride, sawing that big dick over her clit, filling her tunnel. She peaked and began to fall but his relentless pounding sent her soaring again, another climax stumbling over the heels of the first. Alina whimpered and moaned, overcome.

Scott gradually slowed to a stop. His meat was buried, his large balls hanging low enough to cover her pussy and clitoris. I waited for what he'd do next. My wife and I both did. He seemed to remember I was there, recording. He looked over his shoulder at me and withdrew his long cock, showing me how Ally had soaked him. The thick, crowned weapon arched up slightly.

He let me see it. That was his intention. He showed me his hard cock so I would understand. He held himself outside her opening, making sure I grasped the enormous seriousness of the moment. He would penetrate my wife again whenever he wished. We all knew it. This was merely their first time but there would be many, many more. He wanted me to memorize the penis that would claim her over and over. He held it there so long I worried he was waiting for me to suck it. Underneath, my wife waited to be filled. Alina rocked her hips and lifted her ass, missing him.

"More," she whined. "Put it back in."

She pouted. She whimpered impatiently.

"Scott," she implored. "Fuck me, Baby."

She was a different woman with him.

He did as she asked, turning away from me to hold her hips steady and slid his length in again. Now he fucked her with slow, deliberate strokes, feeling every inch of her tunnel wrapped around him. Alina's face scrunched, like she very much felt every inch of his invading phallus too.

He fucked her like that for a while and then withdrew, sitting at the foot of the bed and helping her maneuver so she straddled his lap facing away from him. He guided her hips down, skewering her pussy, and then pulled her to lean against his chest. He spread her legs with his own, obscenely opening both. His pulsing cock forced her pussy wide but my wife was drenched for this man.

I zoomed in. The scene was purely pornographic, all close-up genitalia, shiny and throbbing, but extra intense because that was him inside her. Doubt crept in. I no longer wanted to see him cum in her. Every move she made hammered home the truth she belonged to him now, willingly, and his sperm in her would carve that truth into stone.

I again found myself wishing I had a cock like that. He'd moved her into this position for the camera and to humiliate me and his efforts were successful. His dick reached far up into her. My wife rested atop him, joyfully accepting every inch of his pumping penis. He raised his head to look over her shoulder and check my expression and whatever he saw satisfied him.

"Get on your back," he told her. "Spread your legs wide."

Alina struggled briefly to climb off the man but once she did she quickly complied, rolling onto her back and opening her legs. She pointed her toes at our ceiling and reached for him with both hands. He'd flipped around and now knelt between her legs, his cock a spear aimed at her pussy. He crawled over, locking his lips to hers, and I filmed her hand searching for him and guiding him in.

It was too much. I'd made a terrible mistake. I ended the recording and tossed the phone on the bed. They were lost in each other already, unaware of my actions. I left our bedroom, closing the door behind me, sealing them inside our most sacred and intimate chamber. I unsnapped the strap and freed my straining and throbbing dick. I was so hard!

I stroked a few times and felt my orgasm ready to blow. I stopped, allowing the waves to recede. I tortured myself like that, getting close to an explosion and then backing away, teasing myself until my whole body ached with need. Scott made love to my wife just beyond our bedroom door and I stood outside, hard dick in hand, masturbating. Pitiful, but strangely arousing. This shit was complicated.

Chapter 8

Many hours later I worked up the nerve to enter the bedroom again. I'd hear sex-sounds and then sleeping-sounds and then sex-sounds again. Now I heard soft snoring and assumed they'd drifted off once more. I carefully opened the door.

Alina lay curled between his legs, one hand cupping his sagging balls and the other holding his thick, soft cock. Her tongue licked away semen drooling from the tip. He was asleep but she was not, and her drowsy eyes met mine as I cleared the door. She raised a finger to her lips, silencing me. She had one leg thrown over the other, exposing her cunt, and white fluid seeped from her to run down a shapely butt cheek. Scott had cum inside her. Scott had cum inside her so many times his seed spilled from her overflowing womb. My heart seized.

Her hair was tousled, her abused nipples swollen and raw, her labia engorged, and her face rosy. He'd fucked her with everything he had and, after a brief snooze, he'd fucked her with everything he had again. She was ready for more.

Our eyes locked. I wanted to see where she was emotionally, what finally having sex with Scott had done to her. I needed only an instant. She was bonded, enthralled, deeply connected. I saw it all in her eyes. I can't exactly describe what I saw but her light for me had dimmed and her light for him shined bright. She'd warned me, well in advance, and I'd ignored her, charging ahead with my own needs. Now the bill was due.

"I'll sleep in the guest room tonight," I suggested, my voice low.

"Thank you," she whispered.

She kept her eyes on mine but lifted his python to slip the head in her mouth. His light snoring changed slightly but he remained asleep. She held him there, giving me time to burn the sight into my memories, which I did. His limp noodle drooped from his body before rising and disappearing through her lips. She wasn't trying to give him pleasure or get him excited, she was offering herself, submitting to his cock, elevating the nurturing of the thing which had given her so much pleasure. Her cheeks moved slightly and I realized inside her mouth her tongue slithered all over and around the plump head. I also realized she was waiting for me to leave once I'd seen enough and could take no more.

Well, well, well, if it isn't the consequences of my actions coming back around. I'd done this. I did it to myself and to her. I'd done this to us.

She gently sucked and soft inches slipped into her mouth. His cock was a fat spaghetti noodle and this was an obscene Lady and the Tramp moment. She adjusted her lips around the shaft and settled in, planning, it appeared, to fall asleep with his dick in her mouth. How loving. I backed out of the room before her eyes closed.

Chapter 9

I'm spending the night at Scott's place, her text read.

I read it again, heart heavy.

She'd hinted all day Monday, in call and text, that working next to the man that had claimed her all weekend was too much to resist. Now, quitting time, I get the formal declaration. She would be going straight to his place from work.

Tonight, I was single. I had no wife.

I logged off my computer and drove home.

What a night. This was far worse than waiting outside a couples only room at a sex club. That man had been a stranger. Alina knew Scott. Alina had wanted more than sex from Scott for years. The idea that they spent their time cuddling and watching a movie together was equally torturous to the idea that they spent the night fucking. To imagine them softly kissing fucked me up more than imagining his dick in her mouth. I paced, I drank, I fidgeted. I checked her closet and saw clothes missing but could not determine which or how many items.

I tried to sleep but only managed occasional snippets of dreamless slumber. The alarm went off and I showered in a haze, driving to work on autopilot. I got little done, most of it wrong, and checked my phone obsessively.

Two hours before quitting time, I got another message from her: I'm spending the night at Scott's place again.

"Goddamn it!" I yelled.

People around the office turned to look at me but I didn't care. She was staying with him again. I resisted despair with all my might but two nights in a row landed like a sledgehammer. My imagination took off on me again. One imagined scene flowed into the next. I was eaten alive by crippling angst, which was suddenly compounded by a terrible, terrible epiphany, something I'd somehow avoided thinking about at all. I was struck by a bolt of lightning that turned the blood in my veins to acid: If Ally continued to have sex with him every day, she'd come home pregnant. Caught up in the heat of what we did, I'd given no thought to possible repercussions.

I imagined Alina pregnant with Scott's baby.

"God damn it," I said again, a deep, heart-felt groan.

Faces around the office turned to look again, clearly concerned about me. I growled from deep, crushing frustration and churning anxiety. I saw her round belly. I saw her heathy, glowing face. I strangled a scream before it left my throat but the burning taste was still there.

There was nothing to be done. I could not order her home. I could not demand she behave as I wished. I had sent her into his arms. She'd come home, if only for a change of clothes, and I'd have my chance to say my piece. What would I say? When the moment arrived, how would I entice her to remain with me? Had I already lost her for good? I wasn't thinking clearly and I knew I wasn't thinking clearly but that didn't stop me from thinking.

I needed to do something. Anything was better than this. I needed to act so I at least felt I had some power. I conjured and rejected one plan after another. Then, one hit and stuck. A crazy plan. An insane plan. A drastic, dangerous plan for a desperate man. I had to do something. I could not allow my own idiocy to ruin my life. I'd pay a hefty price but it might just be what was needed to win Alina back. I had to get her attention back on me.

I told my boss I felt sick and needed to leave early. He sent me home, but I didn't go home. I drove across town.

Chapter 10

The butcher-block table was cold and hard, the latex straps tight and pinching. The old man told me the black hood would go on last so I could see everything he did to me until the last minute. He ran The Dungeon and I'd placed myself at his mercy. Now, looking him in the eyes, I suspected he had none. I saw something else in there too but couldn't name it. A menacing gleam had arrived as he'd tightened the last restraint. He reached high overhead, drawing down the apparatus which held the vacuum tube and control dials.

"I remember you," he grumbled. "You and your wife. Especially your wife."

I considered asking questions but honestly, the man creeped me out. I'd spoken to another man, far more charming, when negotiating my time on the table. He'd smiled and given me a blue pill, to ensure an erection, and assured me that while the change wouldn't be permanent, it would be impressive and last a long time.

"Many men return for multiple sessions," he'd said. "Some want the size gains. Others like to be at the mercy of strangers."

I promised I was here for the size.

Now, Creepy steered the clear plastic tube down my lubricated erection. The cylinder glided smoothly, the base a snug, airtight fit around the root of my penis. He squirted lube on the anal bulb and rubbed it all around until coated, then lifted my testicles out of his way. I felt pressure at my anus and then the small slick globe entered my ass. Creepy led the wire away and plugged the connection into the main control. I was sweating from anxiety, seriously doubting my choices. Would this even work? Alina was attracted to Scott and I for different reasons but he did have something I did not. By tomorrow morning we'd be equal in that way too.

Through the wall by my head, I heard a pump start. Blood was drawn to my erection as air left the clear chamber. I expanded, rapidly, stretching the skin. A tingle of mild electricity teased my prostate. I grew harder. The tingle grew into a prickling. The tube began a soft up and down, pumping, milking my rock-hard penis. The pleasurable sensations were escalating fast. I sucked air.

"This is already intense," I said, more to comfort myself than engage Creepy.

I was only minutes into the torture and felt an orgasm growing. This would be a long, long night. Ally would spend it with Scott, I'd spend it strapped to a table at Wild Hearts. My size gain would last long enough to pound the shit out of Alina and take back my pride. She may still choose to be with Scott but in my mind, I would have evened the score. She wouldn't have left me for that reason, at least.

The tube began to bounce: small bumps, stroking and coaxing. It felt fantastic. The current flowing up my ass increased too, causing me to moan.

"That's right," the old man rasped. "Don't hold back. Best to enjoy it while you can. Soon that will change."

A jolt of current stiffened my spine and I groaned. The tube sucked much harder. I felt semen rise from my balls. I felt my penis expanding, growing to fill the clear chamber. Hours from now, I'd be hung too, a long fat donkey dick hanging between my legs. When Ally came home to get more clothing I'd take her, fucking my wife where she stood. Adrenaline flowed, anticipating the act.

"Good night," the creep said, approaching with black latex hood in hand.

"Wait," I countered, suddenly apprehensive.

He pushed a short fat straw into my mouth and slipped the hood over my face, pulling in down to cover nose, eyes, ears, and, after he threaded the tube, mouth. I held the tube with my teeth, attempting to talk around it. He tugged the hood tighter, blinding me, cutting off sight, sound, and air. If not for the small pipe, I'd suffocate. I fought a rising panic.

The vacuum cylinder around my dick jumped up another level. Sharp electricity zapped my rectum. Searing pleasure exploded through my body and my already hard penis throbbed. An orgasm approached and nothing I did could stop it. I knew it would be the first of many. I'd signed multiple waivers to get a spot on this table but figured it would be worth it in the end.

The old man turned the dial two clicks and I tried to scream through the straw but made only a sad kazoo sound. My dick strained, pulsating, bigger than I'd ever been. He turned another dial and the bulb up my ass vibrated wildly, blasting a powerful electric charge directly into my quivering prostate.

That was it. I spewed semen like a Texas oil well. I groaned feeling the fluid ripped from me and the old man turned both dials higher. I howled, another orgasm impossibly following on the heels of the first. Semen pooled inside the chamber around the base of my dick.

I was only in the first hour of an all-night ordeal.

"I was waiting for you to come back," the creepy old man wheezed into my ear. "I saw what your wife did to my friend. We have cameras everywhere. I saw her enjoyment at his suffering. Now you will experience what he experienced. His anguish will be your anguish. I watched that video over and over, learning your face, learning your wife's face. I waited for you to return. I knew you would. All our customers return. I only wish she was here too. I have another table for women, hidden behind closed doors. She'd love it until she hated it before she learned to love it again."

My blood froze. The man turned two more clicks. I screamed as my too-sensitive dick was forced to endure searing pleasure. I tried to speak through my muffled mouth, tried to beg him to stop.

I threw my strength at the latex straps but nothing budged. He'd taken extra care when fastening me, planning on revenge from the beginning. I knew exactly what he referred to: Alina had upped the dial on the man we'd discovered trapped down here on our first visit to this store. She'd found it exciting. She'd enjoyed his sexual torment.

I screamed again. I struggled, I fought with all my strength.

He spun the dials to zero, all sensation ceasing. I was breath hard, sweating, heart pounding.

"Sweet dreams," I heard through the hood.

He cranked the dials.

The milking tube sucked and jumped, the rectal bulb blasted and vibrated. My balls contracted and frothing blasts of sperm erupted. I screamed. The pleasure wracked my body and my mind, every inch of my being twisted and tortured. In the back of my mind, no matter how bad this felt right now, I knew I'd be here for hours and hours, suction and electric jolts escalating until they finally set me free. I'd be forced to cum over and over and over.

Chapter 11

I stumbled into our home. My phone chimed, meaning someone had sent me a text, but I ignored it. I was shattered, demolished, ruined. I'd spent the night trapped in that machine and strapped to that table and customers, encouraged by the old man, had added to my torment for hours. He'd made me pay dearly for what Alina did.

On the bright side, now my dick flopped back and forth inside my sweat suit as I walked. I'd pulled out of that clear chamber a new man. Yeah, a large cock dangling between your legs is fucking cool.

I needed sleep and fluids. I downed a large glass of water, stripped my clothes off, and aimed for my bed to tumble face first into dreams. Before that, however, I needed to look in a mirror. I walked naked into our bathroom. A gorgeous pornstar cock, soft and thick and hanging, greeted my eyes. I hefted it on a palm and smiled. I lifted by the head to view it lengthwise. I held it against my belly to see from balls to tip. I had a cannon, a fleshy trunk, a gorgeous slab of beef the envy of any man. I was thrilled to look at it. I was now a member, so to speak, of an exclusive club. I'd paid a high price, much higher than I'd agreed to, but now that was behind me and this big dick was mine.

I hit the light and fell into bed.

I awoke to what felt like a hot mouth gobbling my penis. I lifted my head, aiming bleary eyes down my body, and discovered a hot mouth gobbling my penis. Alina's hungry eyes looked up at me. She held my large cock with both hands, joyful eyes gleaming with delight.

"What the fuck?" she asked, jiggling my new behemoth like a pool noodle. "How is this possible? You're as big as Scott."

"Shut up and suck it," I barked, too tired for words and eager to get started on my quest for redemption.

To my surprise, Ally did as she was told. Her mouth descended and I was swaddled in hot, wet, vacuuming flesh. She sucked and the suction tugged at my tender nuts.

"Use your hands too," I ordered. "Suck mine like you suck his."

She redoubled her efforts. I'd expected some backlash talking to her that way but no, this version of Alina was different. The changes in her were obvious. Had Scott and his big dick taught her the joy of obedience? Had she learned the pleasures of submission, the easy happiness of capitulation and surrender? Not true for every woman but obviously now true for my wife. She wanted a big-dick man taking charge in the bedroom. Strangely, she seemed more feminine, more playful and sexy, more womanly.

She stuffed as much of my soft fat dick in her mouth as she could get, sucking hard and playing with my balls. She had to know I'd enlarged my dick for her and that probably thrilled her too.

There was no way I had another orgasm in me after the night I'd had but it was wonderful to see my unfaithful wife sucking my cock like an eager whore. In a way, she now cheated on Scott.

She was so much better at fellatio she left me speechless. In her short time as Scott's pet she'd learned to open her throat, relax her muscles, take more of my big cock than she ever did of my average one, and all while maintaining a strong suction. She teased my asshole before easing a finger past my tender sphincter and found my prostate, rubbing the small organ, coaxing a load I was sure I didn't have. I tightened my puckered ring around her digit and squeezed. The pleasure was astonishing. Maybe I did have another climax in me.

"How'd you do it?" she asked.

"Wild Hearts."

She took only a few seconds to understand.

"That man on the table," she said. "You took a turn on the table."

"Yes," I said.

She shivered with excitement, picturing me on that butcher-block. I was sure she would have cranked that dial all the way. I wondered if there was a female version. If I got her on that table, what would be done to her? The idea that strangers could abuse her as she lay trapped turned me on.

"Was it as difficult as it looked?" she asked.

"Worse," I said. "You'd fucked with a friend of the guy in charge when you played with that dial and he made sure to take it out on me. He tortured me for eight straight hours. I came so many times. There's no way I can again now."

"Okay."

She jammed my fat dick back in and sucked hard, slow pumping her finger and massaging my little grape.

"How's Scott?" I rasped, trying to goad her.

"Masterful," she admitted adoringly. "We've had so much sex I can barely walk. He has big plans for me. We even fuck at work. He leaks out of me all day, soaking my panties. It turns me on. Everyone just goes about their day, talking to me about their kids or husband or whatever, and the whole time I'm listening I have a man's sperm dribbling out, a man who is not my husband. It's thrilling. I feel so naughty. He's leaking out of me right now, Tom, as I blow you."

I groaned from psychic anguish. I still wanted her fucked. I'd put myself through hell to try to win her back with my big new penis but the truth was I still wanted her fucked by other men. I was a mess. I had a beast between my legs, one she clearly admired, but that didn't matter. I still wanted her fucked. I still wanted hung men taking a turn between her legs. I still wanted her to want them, to crave big new cock but not mine. That's where I'd gone wrong. She was the heart and soul of me, and losing her would be my death, but, God help me, it was her lust for men other than me that fueled my fevered brain.

"He's coming over tonight," she said. "Here. To our home. I sent you a text but you never answered. I wanted a threesome with him and his friend but now that I see what you've done to yourself, I want you too. A foursome sounds even better. Three men at the same time. Three big dicks swinging in my face. Sweet Jesus. How did we arrive at this life?"

The more she talked the harder I got. My cock was cast iron listening to her talk about sex. She was not the same woman I'd married years ago. She was not the same woman of a few weeks ago. Or maybe she was the same woman but now stood truly revealed.

She orally worshipped my dick in silence for a while, showing off her new talents, and then decided it was time to make me cum. She sucked harder, pumped faster, and rubbed my prostate like a djinn's lamp. I'd spent the whole night squeezing out every drop yet I felt semen rising. Not much, and my exhausted cock tingled like mad, but she was incredible. Time spent with Scott's big dick had taught her skills. I couldn't resist.

Finally, muscles clenched and an explosion rocked me. My sphincter gripped her finger. My dick head swelled to fill her mouth and lodge in her throat. A massive orgasm shook me but only a few drops spit past her tonsils. She was laughing with delight as she made me do the impossible.

Chapter 12

Alina sat with her legs folded under. She was naked like the rest of us. Scott, his friend, Carlos, and I stood over my wife with our big, dangling cocks hanging in her face. She giggled, delighted. I was as big as these men, worthy of standing with them before an eager girl, but it didn't matter. Not truly. I'd endured so much for the right to reclaim my woman, but now, towering over my submissive wife, I found myself wanting to sit back and watch. Her eyes danced with glee. For her, it was Christmas morning. But my heart skipped a beat only when her gaze fell on Carlos or Scott. She was happy with my new size but I didn't care. I wanted her to want them. That look in her eyes for me did nothing. That delighted and hungry look in her eyes when she gazed at them drove me crazy. I gave up trying to understand. Over time my dick would return to the average size I was born with and I'd let it.

If Alina left me for Scott, then that was my fate and I'd accept it.

If you love someone, set them free, right?

I took a step back. I'd live true to myself. Alina pouted for a moment and met my eyes to see what was happening for me. Her expression turned serious and then playful. A kind of understanding dawned. She was free to do as she wished, and so was I. We wanted different things.

She turned her attention to Carlos and his dark-skinned dick and swooped underneath to suck his hairy balls. His long fat cock rested on her face like a sea slug. Scott palmed her tits, one after the other, and then moved behind her, lying on his back and sliding under her pussy like a mechanic sliding under a car. She lifted slightly to give him room and he began a feast of her cunt.

I sat on our bed. These men would fuck her, not me.

I am her husband.

I would watch.

Carlos drew back, dragging his slug across her face. Ally opened wide. A man she met only minutes ago slid his cock over her nose and lips until the head dropped into her open maw. He eased forward, aiming his cock at the back of her throat. My wife smiled, closing her lips tightly around his meat. He stood motionless, allowing this voracious slut to suckle his appendage while he did nothing but allow her to do so. Underneath, Scott devoured her pussy, slurping her dripping juices. Ally moaned, his soft tongue teasing and slithering. She was exactly where she wanted to be.

Carlos grew hard in there, teased by her fluttering tongue. He grabbed handfuls of hair and fucked her mouth roughly, laughing as she eagerly took it. After a while he pulled out of her mouth and circled around behind, pushing her forward to hands and knees. He aimed his stiff dick at her sopping pussy and slid half the shaft deep with ease. My wife groaned at the thick penetration, passively accepting his manhandling.

His penis was inches from Scott's mouth but the good doctor was unfazed. A large cock gliding close to his flickering tongue caused him no worry. I had a hunch these guys had fucked many women together.

Carlos remained buried as held her hips and tugged her backward, both walking their knees in reverse. She hated to leave Scott's mouth but obeyed. Carlos brought her pussy into position over Scott's cock. The man must love eating pussy because he was already hard. Carlos reached under and wrapped his dark fingers around the base of Scott's dick, holding the man vertical. Alina leaned down to kiss Scott, unaware what Carlos had planned.

I admit I did not see this coming either.

Carlos pressed the tip of Scott's cock to Ally's already occupied pussy and then forced her hips lower. My wife gasped loudly, feeling the pressure of a second large dick trying to enter her tight pussy. She struggled to free herself but she was sandwiched between the two men. Her pussy stretched over the tip and then Carlos forced her even lower, expanding her hole and impaling her on a second fat dick. I gawked in disbelief. Two fat cocks rubbed against each other, sliding and slipping, enveloped by her gushing cunt. I'd not have believed it possible but there it was.

Alina lit up. Her expression turned from alarm to incredulity to amazement, then to wild lust. Her eyes turned wicked. She held two men inside her. The depraved act turned her face fiendish.

I circled for a better view and witnessed her misshapen lips stretched, sealed in a white-ring around their invading shafts. Ally groaned continuously, rolling her hips, grunting as Scott and Carlos slid along each other. Scott wrapped his arms tightly around my wife to hold her in place. The men gave her little time to prepare, sliding deeper as one massive cock. Alina's head snapped up and her eyes rolled back in her head. Her jaw fell open and she tried to speak but only a strangled gargle came out. The men continued their advance, filling my wife to bursting.

Once both were balls-deep they struck rhythms of their own, gently thrusting in and out as they fucked her, wet cocks gliding against her wet walls and each other.

At last, Alina found her voice.

"Fuck!" she cried. "It's fantastic!"

Two cocks moved inside her and her face showed pure staggering astonishment. Her pussy gushed juice. They shared her straining tunnel with practiced ease, fucking her body, owning her. She no longer struggled to free herself but instead worked on taking their inches as deep as possible. She gasped for air like a fish out of water. Her spine began a slow twist. I knew the signs. My wife was about to orgasm.

"Aaargh!" she cried.

The men laughed. Her hands curled into claws. She ground her teeth. She exhaled everything and Carlos took the opportunity to squeeze her throat and deny her fresh air. She went rigid and then whined, a high-pitched keening as a staggering climax ripped through her body. I waited to hear bones snap as her writhing body twisted.

"Noooooooo!" she howled.

Her body contorted and froze, her crowded, spasming pussy overpowering every other thought or feeling. I'd never forget this moment. I thought the men might show some kindness and allow her a moment but that was not to be.

Carlos withdrew and placed his soaked cock head at her winking sphincter. Time stopped. He pushed, staring down as her sphincter blossomed around his head. Ally's eyes went big, at last realizing what he did to her. She squirmed, trying to push away from Scott, but he held tight. Carlos released her throat to reach under and pinch her nipple, hard. Ally squealed into Scott's mouth. The distraction proved sufficient and her asshole spread. Her rectum swallowed several inches of hard cock.

I'd never heard a groan like the one she made now. Carlos chuckled.

"They always fight it and then they always love it," he said.

"That's the truth," Scott added.

Alina groaned again, her voice drifting off into gibberish. The men moved with practiced ease, sliding in and out of my wife's holes. I marveled at how hard their dicks were, veins raised and shaft pulsing. Alina was losing her mind, writhing between them, eyes squeezed shut, tits swaying, face a grimace. She looked obscenely erotic. I'd watched scenes like this in porn but now it was my wife's face contorted with mind-melting pleasure, it was my wife taking two men at the same time. Ally was right: there was no comparison. I closed my fingers around my big new dick and started stroking.

Alina orgasmed again, sobbing. Scott stroked her hair and kissed her lips, tender and kind, but the two men never slowed or stopped. Scott pulled her closer to suckle at her breasts and Alina just accepted the waves of sensation washing over her. Both men pushed all the way in, four balls mashed together, and my wife groaned long and loud. I was rock-hard. Jesus.

When she came again a moment later I came with her, launching long robes of jizz to the sight of my woman twice impaled. She planted her hands on the bed and pushed back hard against the men, driving every possible inch they had into herself. Her clutching cunt and asshole must have felt fantastic because Carlos lost control and joined us. He grabbed her shoulders and held his length buried, spewing hot sperm deep in her bowels. He bellowed like a stud bull. She thrashed her head, tossing her hair wildly and crying out, her body a clenched fist. I pictured Carlos injecting all that semen into my wife and my dick stayed hard after the last blast of jizz fired.

Carlos slowly withdrew his long spear. Alina shivered with pleasure. Carlos headed for the bathroom and Scott filled his fists with her hair and rolled her onto her back. He brought her legs to the bed and closed them, keeping his cock buried. He clamped his legs outside hers and began sawing, his thick dick dragging over her clit in and out.

"Oh my God," she whimpered. "Yeah, like that. You're so thick."

He was as stiff as an iron bar. Alina closed her eyes and he trailed kisses all over her exposed throat, sweeping lower to tease her breasts and nipples. Goose bumps rose over her body.

Was she in love with him? Maybe. Probably.

Was he in love with her? No. Deep affection and caring, yes, but I saw in the way he shared her with Carlos that his connection ran in a different direction. He wasn't like me. He could not share a woman he was head over heels in love with. The only women he could share were ones he did not love like that.

I fought back a smile.

"Here it comes," she told him. "I feel you growing thicker."

Scott changed his stroke, driving deeper and faster. He pulled her hair from underneath, bowing her neck. Her pussy gushed and slurped.

"Cum in me," she whispered.

"You first," he grunted.

"I'm spent," she said. "You guys ruined me."

"If you want my cum," he said. "You need to show me."

Alina closed her eyes. His dick was a piston. Her lips parted as her mouth slowly opened. She was losing herself in the moment, focusing on his cock moving in and out.

"Your husband jacks off watching you get fucked," he said.

"Yes," she moaned. "He does."

"Cum for him, too."

Suddenly her arms wrapped around his neck.

"Fuuuuuuck!" she groaned, turning her head to watch me stroke.

"Fuck!"

I'll never tire of the sight. This handsome, attractive, big-cocked stud was making my wife cum. She was beautiful. She orgasmed hard wrapped around his dick and then he drew a deep breath, slowed way down, and pushed all the way in to groan too. His balls rose and fell over and over. He was filling her and making my dick hard again. I jerked faster, trying to join them, and shot the few drops of jizz I had.

Chapter 13

She didn't leave me. Actually, that's not entirely accurate. I should say we did not file for divorce. She did leave me, for about a week, spending every night at his place, fucking him and any friend or friends he invited to join, fucking every day and multiple times a day. Scott thoughtfully had her send pictures to my phone. Video too. I jacked off like an obsessed madman.

She was insatiable, until, suddenly, she wasn't. She missed me. She gathered her things and left his place, raced home and jumped into my arms. We made love, sweet, sweet, tender love, which lasted about twenty minutes until I started asking questions. I asked how many men and who. I asked about position and scenes. She was happy to share, relieved, almost, to unburden her terrible secrets to her loving husband. The more she shared, the harder I fucked. She'd feared I'd be furious but I was wildly horny.

Our sex over the next two weeks was intense. She talked about how our experiment was behind her and she never should have crossed that bridge with Scott. I reminded her it was me that put her in that situation.

"Strangers," she said. "It was hot at first because of who I thought Scott was, but as I got to know him, truly know him, the attraction wore off. Let's not involve people we know. Strangers are better."

"So you want to keep playing with other men?"

"Hell yes," she scoffed. "What married woman wouldn't?"

I studied her.

"I get what you're saying," I said. "Strangers do sound emotionally safer. I think we should adopt that rule soon."

"Soon?"

I withdrew my phone and opened a picture. I'd learned my boss had a profile on an adult dating site and I'd captured a few pictures of him. I handed Alina my phone. Her eyes narrowed, then narrowed again.

"God damn," she said. "Handsome. What a body. Nice cock."

I waited for her to flip to the next picture because I knew she would. She recoiled and then brought the phone closer. For the second picture, I'd selected his erection with a side-shot of his ass and rippled abs.

"That's your boss?" she asked. "That's Sam?"

"Yes," I said.

"Wow. I've always considered him handsome but I had no idea he had a body like that, and his cock is gorgeous. Is he why you say 'Soon?' Are you suggesting I fuck your boss?"

My mouth was dry. This was dangerous, more dangerous than Scott. Alina fucking her boss was one thing but I didn't know that man and would see him rarely. My boss I see every day. He'd hold sex with my wife over me like he already held position and power. I was putting myself in a bad spot but that only turned me on more. Alina stared at the pictures on my phone, wrestling with the idea, wanting the man but aware of the complications. I could keep my mouth shut and probably dodge the whole thing or open it and give her a nudge.

"Just imagine," I said, keeping my voice low.

"I am," she replied, smiling.

End.

Did You Enjoy My Work?
It would mean a lot if you left a quick review.
A sentence or two is fine.
Thank you for supporting an Independent Author!

Visit My Website:
AuthorMatthewLee.com

Join My Mailing List
Get a FREE Hotwife Story!

Follow My Twitter

Find me on: GoodReads

Talk to Me

BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com