*"I'm afraid of men. I fear their tempers and their strength.
The only time I feel safe around them is when they moan.
Making men moan is the best thing ever."*

Chapter 1

My office door flew open. Ben, my boss and a complete emotional and physical mess, stepped inside and shut it quickly. He looked freaked out, sweating and panicked. I barely reacted as Ben has done similar things many times before.

"They're here!" he hissed.

I eased back from my computer.

"Who?" I asked.

"The cops! I shorted Barney and he threatened to turn me in if I didn't pay."

"Should have paid," I droned.

"Kane! Shut up and listen. For real. The cops are here."

He reached down the front of his pants and pulled out a large heavy grade plastic bag filled with white powder. My eyes went big.

"What the fuck, Ben? Is that coke?"

"Yeah."

My hands flew in the air.

"Are you insane?" I asked. "How much is that? Why do you have it with you at work? Never mind. Get out."

His eyes darted around my office, landing on the open briefcase next to my desk.

"They want to talk," he said. "I can't have this on me. Just hide it until later. I'll come get from you."

"No!"

"Do you like working here?" he threatened. "Do you like your job and all the money I pay you? Do me this favor."

He tossed the bag of coke into my briefcase and snapped the lid closed. He retreated, opening my door and exiting backward, bent over and waving.

"All right, Kane," he announced, cheerfully, for the benefit of the cops searching for him. "Get me the updated SOGS report and I'll give it a look."

There is no such thing as a SOGS report. I saw men in suits approach him, each taking an arm to lead him away. He backed out of my office and closed the door.

Fuck. Double fuck.

I stared at my locked briefcase. I'd been about to leave for the day so my car keys sat on my desk. I was tempted to leave the briefcase here but wondered if it would be truly safer with me.

My cell phone rang: Chelsea, my wife.

"Hi," I said, answering. "You will not believe what just happened to me."

"Papa Joe," she said, crying. "Is dead."

I stopped talking. My wife's parents died in a car crash when she was young and with no kin close, Chelsea landed in a local orphanage. Her uncle, Papa Joe, moved across country to Aberdeen to get her out of that place and raised her by himself. She loved the man with all her heart.

"Oh no, Baby," I said. "That is terrible, terrible news. I'm so sorry."

The flood gates opened. She was sobbing in an instant, a complete wreck. I listened and asked questions and reminded her what a wonderful man he'd been and how happy she'd made him; how proud he was of her. We talked a long time.

"Will you please stop for ice cream and wine on the way home?" she whimpered.

"Of course. I promise."

I quickly gathered my things and raced home.

We talked into the night, sitting in bed and eating ice cream and remembering the man. The funeral was in three days and she wanted us to go back for it. Time away from work would be no problem for either of us. She grew up in Aberdeen, Washington, and we now lived in Seattle, so it would only be about a two-hour drive.

We'd finished making all the arrangements when she got quiet.

"What's on your mind?" I asked.

She contemplated before answering.

"Going back will be difficult," she said. "I got the hell out of that sad, depressing place, but only after making a mess of my life. There are people who will remember me, people who do not like me and will not be pleased to see me. I have no desire to see them either but seeing some will be unavoidable."

"Pretty girl like you, I imagine a truckload of ex-boyfriends."

She gave me a weak smile.

"Just one. Buddy. I still can't believe I ever dated him."

"How long were you together?"

"He was my first boyfriend. We started in eighth grade and I stayed with him until I graduated from high school. On that day, I packed a suitcase, kissed Papa Joe goodbye, and grabbed a bus out of town."

"That's a long relationship for that age," I said. "I had seven girlfriends during my high school years."

"I thought it was love," she said. "Or I just desperately wanted someone to love me other than Papa. I'm an idiot. Even after I realized Buddy was cheating on me with every woman and girl in town, I stayed with him."

"Why?"

She shrugged.

"Why, Chelsea? That doesn't sound like you at all."

"He was my first boyfriend, my first love."

I studied her. I know her well and sensed she withheld something vital.

"Go on," I insisted.

She drew a deep, shaky breath.

"We fought all the time," she said. "Especially towards the end. I'd break up with him and we'd spend a few days apart but then he'd come around, all sad and pathetic and cute. By then I missed him. We'd have hot make-up sex and all was forgiven. He's an idiot but the boy was good in bed, I'll give him that. No man has ever gotten to me the way he did."

I made a face. She was quick to grab my hand and squeeze it.

"Until you, of course," she added.

"Of course."

It sounded more like damage control than sincerity but after the rough day she'd had, I let it go. We spooned ice cream down the hatch and talked about her childhood. Aberdeen sounded disheartening. Chelsea had confronted some women over Buddy, instead of confronting Buddy, and some husbands had found out what their wives were doing during the day while the men worked. Chelsea got real unpopular real fast.

"I stayed with him far too long," she said.

"I understand," I said. "I promise we'll slip in and out, unannounced, quiet as thieves. We'll pay Papa Joe our respects and come home."

She rested her head on my shoulder.

"You're wonderful," she murmured. "Thank you."

Chapter 2

We met with Nancy, a sweet neighbor across the street who had always been kind to Chelsea and a dear friend of Papa's, then drove downtown to Jon Gibson's law offices. Papa Joe left Chelsea everything.

The small town of Aberdeen was gloomy. Dark clouds and a constant mist made it seem like Earth herself wept for Joe. Chelsea told the attorney to draw up papers and hire the right people and sell everything.

"Perhaps you'd like to give some to charity?" Jon asked. "The orphanage?"

Chelsea scoffed.

"I'll keep some for me and Kane," she said. "But give the rest to Paws of Gray's Harbor animal shelter. They know the proper way to handle strays."

We exited and hit the sidewalk on North First Street. I glanced in both directions for a place to eat. To my right I saw the courthouse and police station.

"We could drop in and say hello to Buddy," Chelsea quipped.

"He's a cop?"

She laughed, shaking her head.

"No, but he probably spends more time in that building than most cops do. He gets arrested often but his brother's the police chief. They always let Buddy sleep it off and then send him home."

We put our backs to that place and headed south, angling towards Game Day Sports Bar and Grill, about a block away.

Inside was dark and smelled like beer. They'd split the place in two: large televisions and tables on one side and billiards on the other. A foosball table sat in the corner. An over-sized football helmet hung attached to the wall for patrons to stick their head inside and have their photo taken. A Modelo Beer logo graced the side of the helmet instead of an actual team logo. The ceiling was low and the lighting fluorescent, like a school room built in the Eighties. Sports paraphernalia covered the walls. The place was packed with people but few smiled or looked up when we entered.

"Cheery," I muttered.

"Get used to it," Chelsea replied.

One face did look up at us. A man, about our age, five o'clock shadow and plaid flannel shirt. He stood, slowly, disbelief all over his face.

"Chelsea fucking Meyers," he said.

A few turned to look at him, including Chelsea.

"Well, shit," she said.

The man left his table and approached, arms spread wide. He was about an inch taller than me and maybe twenty pounds heavier, most of that wrapped around his waist. He wore jeans and a wife beater. A tousle of greasy brown hair sat atop his head. He stank of beer.

"Chelsea fucking Meyers," he said again.

"It's Chelsea Jacobs now," she said, defiantly. "Kane, meet Buddy. Buddy, this is my husband, Kane."

I stuck my hand out. He looked at it, thought about refusing to shake, realized that would make him the asshole in this exchange, and took my hand.

"Husband," Buddy mumbled.

"That's right," Chelsea said. "Husband."

They glared at each other. I stepped between them, looking at her.

"I'm starving," I said, pulling her with me towards the counter.

We left Buddy standing there. I ordered a burger with fries and Chelsea got a salad. We took a table at the far corner away from him.

I had a hard time picturing this guy as a man about town, banging one of the hottest girls at his high school and then giving it to various married and unmarried ladies around Aberdeen too. He looked like his stud days were far behind him.

"I don't get it," I said at last.

Chelsea looked at me and then followed my gaze.

"I understand he's not fucking his way through Aberdeen now but by the look of him he's been a mess for a long time. What do women see in him?"

"Don't be fooled," Chelsea said. "He's still fucking his way through Aberdeen. True, he didn't always look like that. Years ago he was a starting quarterback with abs for days. He drank too much then too but controlled it better. His brother has done him no favors."

"He's a wreck."

"That's true but the women in this town know him and still want him. Trust me."

The front door opened and Chelsea looked across the room. A woman had entered and marched to Buddy, leaning over him, both hands on his table. She wore a tight red dress and heels and did not belong in this town, much less this burger joint.

"That's Hayley Winbond," Chelsea said. "Her husband's the town doctor. While he works long hours she plays tennis and works out at Timber Gym. All the men in Aberdeen want her but Buddy tamed that pussy years ago. He's been fucking her since he was a junior and by the looks of things, he still is."

Hayley, as they say, was a babe. The red dress was a thin layer of paint. Her tits, slightly too big for her petite frame, struggled to be free, stretching the tight fabric. Her ass was a firm bubble. Her legs were long, gobbling up most of her height. Husbands all around the restaurant stared at their food, resisting the urge to look at her. Wives appeared indifferent but watched their men closely.

"She looks upset," I said.

"Doesn't she?" Chelsea agreed, sarcastically. "Imagine that. Buddy making yet another woman angry."

We ate and watched the drama. We caught pieces of the conversation. Hayley wanted more sex but Buddy was disinterested. She raised her voice.

"I could fuck any of these men," she boasted, waving a hand.

"Then do that," Buddy snarled. "I could use the break."

I hid my laugh but Chelsea was not amused.

"Sorry," I said.

"I get it," she said. Her voice was barely contained outrage. "I see the human drama and absurdity. I see why you'd want to laugh. But I've been Hayley. I've battered my head bloody against that impenetrable wall. I hated how he could just drop a barrier between us and be done with me. I know what she's feeling right now. He makes love to you and you feel it all the way down to your bones and you believe he feels it too, but he doesn't. It's all just fucking to him."

I was in over my head. The only woman I ever loved with all my heart was Chelsea, and we got married. What would I have done if she'd decided to toy with me, to toy with my heart? Would I have put up with it?

"Yet," she continued. "I hate her too. He fucked her while he said he loved me. Three times I sucked his dick without knowing he'd come to me directly from fucking her. I was so young and stupid. I unknowingly sucked the taste of her off his cock. When I asked, he said he'd changed soaps and that's why his dick tasted different. I believed him, like an idiot."

I was beginning to understand her hatred of the man.

"Three times," Chelsea added. "Three. I was so stupid."

Hayley gave up. She shook fists in the air and strode out of the place. Buddy finished drinking and pushed away from his table, approaching ours, a scowl on his face. I stood, blocking his path to Chelsea.

"Keep walking," I said. "There's nothing you have to say that we want to hear."

I surprised him. He opened his mouth to speak and I glowered at him. He changed his mind, gave me a little nod, and walked out. I sat.

"That," my wife said, "was awesome."

Chelsea and I took our time finishing our meal. We left the restaurant and walked back to our car. We pulled out of the lawyer's parking lot and onto East Market and there they were: Buddy and Hayley. Buddy had his back against the dark vestibule entrance to an out of business medical building and Hayley crouched, head bobbing as she sucked his dick. They were across from the Aberdeen Police Department. Buddy saw us and raised a beer he'd smuggled out of the bar and grill. He took a drink.

"Oh for fuck's sake," Chelsea said, disgusted.

She reached across to my side and flipped Buddy off.

Hayley was too busy to notice.

Chapter 3

I thought perhaps we'd sleep at Papa Joe's place but my wife said that would be too painful. We got a room at the Olympic Inn. I had work to do online and several emails to write, so Chelsea said she'd take the car and drive around her hometown to see what's changed. I kissed her sweetly and said I'd keep my cell phone close in case she needed to talk.

Two hours later my stomach rumbled. The hotel had only vending machines so I grabbed my phone and the room key and headed up Heron Street looking for a bite. Two blocks later I saw a Denny's but that didn't appeal so I kept walking. Another two blocks brought me to a Starbucks. Known more for coffee than food I decided a kick of caffeine sounded good. I cut through the parking lot and noticed a large tow truck with Buddy's Towing hand painted on the door. I approached the building but quickly stepped behind a brick pillar.

Chelsea and Buddy sat at a table inside, talking.

Buddy had cleaned up some: Shower, clean hair and shirt. Shave. Chelsea spoke earnestly, trying hard to get Buddy to understand something. She reached across the table, resting her hand on his. My heart flipped. I recalled the sex life she'd described they shared and jealousy surged. I considered rushing in and disrupting their meeting but decided it would be better to wait for Chelsea to tell me about it. They have a history, after all. They could be discussing a million different things. She might be talking about Papa Joe. If I go busting in there I would only look pathetic. Besides, what were they doing, really? They were out in public, having a coffee, talking.

I skipped Starbucks and kept going, walking much faster than before. I ended up at Breakwater Seafood and bought some chowder, taking a seat on a little dock in back overlooking the Wishkah River. I replayed what I'd seen. I felt troubled, troubled out of proportion. Nothing happened. Two people sat and talked. In my mind, I reexamined their chat, trying to understand my upset. I took a while but eventually had it: Chelsea's body language and mannerisms, her expressions and eye contact, all told me she was flirting. Not flirting in the traditional way like a girl trying to catch a boy's eye for the first time, but flirting between two people that knew each other well. Subtle, comfortable, familiar flirting.

I tossed a seagull a piece of bread.

I'd discovered an uncomfortable truth: Chelsea still found Buddy attractive. Despite her words to the contrary, Chelsea still had feelings for the guy. Or, more accurately, a large dose of affection was mixed in with her frustration and disdain.

All right. That's fair. If I meet Tammy Pippin from high school I'd still have the hots for her. We can't help who we're attracted to.

I laughed at myself. Chelsea was home again after a long time. She was emotionally vulnerable, besieged by childhood memories and loss, trying to get through it all. I needed to calm down. Papa Joe's funeral was tomorrow. We'd soon be out of this place.

I finished my meal and headed back, eager to get the last of my work done. I circled wide around the Starbucks but had to look. Chelsea and left her seat to sit with him on his side of the table. They both stared at his phone, no doubt looking at pictures and reminiscing. His finger swiped the screen. Chelsea playfully punched his shoulder and they laughed. He swiped. My wife shook her hand like she'd touched something hot. He swiped. Chelsea leaned her face close, taking the phone from his hand to scrutinized whatever was on the screen. She swiped. My wife studied another photo.

I turned the corner and lost sight of them.

I got back to our hotel room and dug into work. Hours later I finished and watched a little television, waiting for her return. Eventually, I heard the car and then footsteps and then Chelsea entered, smiling. We hugged and kissed and she told me about her day, utterly failing to mention her time spent with Buddy but running her hands over my ass and slipping me her tongue while we kissed. Why did she skip Buddy? Maybe she was embarrassed or wanted to protect my feelings. I felt a little resentment at her omission but I let it go.

Dinner time rolled around and we ordered food from a Salvadorian restaurant on the north side which Chelsea loved. They don't deliver so, after waiting a bit, I jumped in the car to go pick it up. The restaurant was busy so I pulled into a gravel lot nearby. The line inside was long and time passes slower when you're hungry, so I reached for my phone to text Chelsea and let her know I was running late, only to discover I'd left it back at the hotel. Damn. At last I picked up our food and exited the place, heading back to our car, eager to eat.

Our car was gone.

After a jolt of panic, I began searching, circling the building, discovering a small sign which designated the gravel lot as parking for Bank of Pacifica customers only. At the bottom of the sign was a placard: To retrieve your vehicle, contact Buddy's Towing. A phone number followed.

Fuck. Goddamn fucking fuck.

I felt sure he'd driven by and recognized our car and the opportunity to fuck with me proved too great. I went back inside the restaurant and asked to use their phone. I called Buddy's Towing but no one answered, so I obtained directions to the tow yard and asked the restaurant to hold my food and keep it warm until I returned. They said they would. Buddy's tow yard was less than a mile away. I had the keys and felt sure I'd find my car there and with any luck I'd just start it up and leave. I set out, walking fast. I got turned around once but made good time, rounding the corner and spotting Buddy's truck parked in a large lot with several other cars. Mine was locked behind a fence. The light was on in the trailer office so I climbed the steps and knocked on the door. I heard movement and then Buddy answered, beer in hand. He already looked like shit again: messy hair and smelling like beer.

"Come in," he said. "I bet now I have things to say that you'd like to hear."

I entered the trashy trailer, stepping over stacks of papers and empty boxes. A man sat at a folding table, large hands clasped in front of him. He looked about the same age as Buddy but gray whiskers dotted his chubby face. He was big all around, thick and grizzled.

"That's Jerry," Buddy said.

"Give me back my car," I said.

Buddy looked hurt.

"That's no way to talk," he said. "I'd like to help you but not if you're going to be rude. I got a call for an illegally parked vehicle and performed my services. I had no idea the car belonged to you and Chelsea."

I calmed myself.

"How do I get it back?" I asked.

"Have a seat," Buddy insisted. "Let's get to know each other a little."

I sat. Buddy grabbed another beer. He joined us at the table, withdrawing his phone and thumbing through a few screens. He smiled and slid the phone in front of me. I looked down.

Chelsea, younger, with a long fat penis draped across her face. She was smiling into the camera. The dick was shiny with saliva half way down and I assumed it was Buddy's. I shoved the phone away and stood. Buddy didn't flinch.

"Sit," he said.

I remained standing.

"Sit," he said again. "I can keep your car seventy-two hours, legally."

I sat. He slid the phone over again and swiped the screen: Chelsea, grinning broadly, mischievously, sat atop a man's hips, holding his dick upright against her lower abdomen with a single fingertip. The head reached her belly button. His cock was three fingers wide. One fat vein ran along the top but otherwise smooth skin covered the shaft.

Until this moment I'd never thought a penis could be good looking but his was photogenic, I had to admit that. He had length and girth and a gentle curve, running straight from base to tip.

Chelsea's talk about their hot sex came crashing into my brain. In an instant I had an entirely new understanding. He'd fucked her unconscious with that thing for years and she'd always crawled back for more.

I realized I'd stopped breathing.

He swiped the screen: big red cock poised against her labia, ready to penetrate.

"Enough," I muttered and pushed the phone away.

He pushed the phone right back.

"No," he said. "I decide that."

He swiped again. Video opened. The camera bounced a lot but I saw him ease that hard fat cock into Chelsea, forcing her labia wide as he sank inches deep. Her deep moans of pure pleasure gouged my heart. The video ran thirty seconds of him building up speed until he was fucking her rough and deep.

"Don't stop!" she cried, ecstatic.

I caught just a few seconds of my younger wife crying out as she orgasmed before he dropped the phone on the bed and fucked her like a bulldozer plowing a mountain. The screen went black but we all heard the sounds. Buddy roared his climax and Chelsea, caught up in his excitement, came again with him. Jerry chuckled.

Buddy swiped the screen.

Chelsea had his soft cock in her mouth, cheeks bulging with dick as she gazed lovingly into the camera.

"I've got hours of this stuff," Buddy said. "That girl loves being recorded while fucking. At least, she did, with me. Do you have pictures and video of Chelsea on your phone?"

I shook my head.

"No."

He pursed his lips.

"Weird," he said. "Taking pictures and what not was often her idea. Strange she doesn't feel that way about fucking you. Maybe she outgrew it?"

I said nothing.

He swiped the screen: video again, this time of Chelsea, seated at the back of a small church, jerking Buddy as the preacher spoke.

He swiped that small screen over and over, each picture or video showing my wife pierced in some way by his large dick. Mixed in were nastier shots: Chelsea holding sperm in her open mouth, sperm leaking from her open pussy, ropes of sperm streaking her laughing face, too much to be from one man. I saw pictures of him six inches deep in her ass. Their passion was stratospheric and mutual. They were voracious, starving, could not get enough of each other.

For over an hour Buddy kept me there, watching videos, looking at pictures, describing to me all the lustful ways they had each other.

Then he hit me with the bomb.

"I showed her these pictures earlier today," he said. "She texted me, wanting to meet at our favorite Starbucks. We talked about old times and went through my phone. You'll probably get laid tonight."

I hadn't made the connection that these were the things he was showing her on his phone, but what truly upset me was the truth in his prediction. Chelsea had come on to me when she'd returned and I'd ignored it. She'd returned horny after spending time with Buddy.

"May I have my car keys now?" I asked. "You've had your fun."

He left his phone open and walked to the refrigerator, grabbing another beer. He sauntered back.

"No," he said.

"Why not? I've looked at all your stupid pictures."

"Because the law requires I keep it at least twenty-four hours to process the paperwork but also because I don't like you. I don't like that you think you're better than me and I sure as fuck don't like that you're banging Chelsea now."

"You should have treated her better," I snapped.

He walked over and opened the door, pointed into the night.

"Get out," he said. "You can have your car tomorrow after one."

We were finished here. I saw it in his eyes. I left his place and trudged back to the restaurant, then home. Chelsea was freaking out when I got there. She asked what happened and I told her everything. Well, almost everything. I told her about the photos and videos he'd made me watch but not that I'd seen him showing the same to her. She grew more upset with each word I spoke.

"I'm going to kick his ass," she snarled. "I'm going to tell him exactly what a piece of shit he is."

"If that's what you need to do," I said.

"You don't think so?"

I shrugged.

"I wouldn't give him the satisfaction of knowing he got to us. He obviously did it to make me angry. He knows I'd tell you and you'd get angry. I say act like it was no big deal. I think staying calm will piss him off."

She was smoldering but she heard me.

"Let's drink some wine," I said. "Eat our delicious dinner, crawl into bed, and watch a good movie."

"Or something," she mumbled.

I discovered what she meant an hour later. I was standing in front of the wide screen television, flipping through a vast array of channels, when the bathroom door opened and Chelsea emerged wearing a pink teddy.

"Put on some porn," she said.

I knew this mood well. Three or four times a year Chelsea feels a special kind of horny. I was surprised she felt it now, with the funeral and Buddy's bullshit behavior, but perhaps hot sex was what she needed to get right with the ugly world. I jumped to the pay channels and scanned. I flipped from move to movie, searching for something that looked at least half decent. I landed on a movie called Slut Club and noticed the lead male actor had a cock that was a perfect clone of Buddy's. I impulsively hit play. I don't know why I did it. I thought it might lighten the mood, give us something to laugh about as we made fun of the film.

Wow, did I ever get that wrong.

From the opening scene Chelsea's brow furrowed. She'd noted the similarity just like I had, but was deeply concerned for my feelings. I saw it in her eyes. Neither of us admitted what I'd done but we were both keenly aware of the moment. I'd inadvertently invited Buddy's spirit into the room with us. His presence hung in the air like bad cologne.

Chelsea's hand trembled slightly as she reached for my shoulder. I captured her hand, keeping her at arm's length, dragging my gaze over every inch of my wife in lingerie. She cringed for a moment and then stood taller, welcoming my stare.

"You're fucking sexy," I said.

A cock appeared on one side of the screen and a woman's open mouth, lips coated with crimson lipstick and approaching the head, appeared on the other. Chelsea and I turned to watch. The two moved closer as if floating in space. A tongue snaked out of the mouth and the tip landed smoothly in the cock's meatus, the pee hole at the end of the dick. The tongue wriggled. The red lips drew closer and then sealed around the head. The cheeks dented from suction.

"That's hot," Chelsea whispered.

We just stared. It wasn't Buddy's dick, we both knew that, but the resemblance was impossible to ignore. More penis slipped through the gleaming scarlet lips, shaft gliding smoothly deeper.

"I know you see it too," I finally admitted.

"Yes," she murmured.

"I thought it might be funny. Like we could laugh at how stupid he is."

"It's not funny."

"No."

We stared. Chelsea looked mesmerized, enthralled.

"It's not him," she muttered.

"But it kind of is."

"Yes."

Her eyes gave her away. Chelsea was spellbound, suddenly years removed, gazing at the cock that had taught her everything about fucking. This was no tiny screen viewed in a busy Starbucks. This was a life-sized cock, larger than life-sized cock, Buddy's large cock sliding into an anonymous mouth, a mouth that, in her mind, was her own. I saw in her eyes at that moment she remembered the joys of sucking his dick. She breathed slow and deep, lips pouty, eyes riveted.

I grabbed the front of her teddy and ripped. She jumped, startled, frightened. I was wearing pajama bottoms and I shoved the elastic waistband to my knees. My dick was already hard. She dropped and rammed my penis in her mouth. I grabbed her head and shoved, choking her, making her gag on my dick. She'd been through a lot the last forty-eight hours, a whipsaw of emotions, most of them painful. My lust was exactly the clarity she wanted and needed. This was easy to understand. This comforted her.

I leaned forward, bending her head back and forcing my dick deeper. She sucked frantically, holding me back with hands on my thighs. I fucked her mouth until saliva coated my dick and then tugged her to her feet.

"Yeah!" she whimpered, almost sobbing. "Fuck yeah."

I spun her away, bent her at the waist, and pushed my hard dick deep. I'd inadvertently turned her to face the television and the scene cut to that same large cock now penetrating a wet pussy. Her eyes were glued. I fucked her rough, hammering away at her tight slick hole. She came and I didn't care, didn't slow or even acknowledge her orgasm. That made her cum again. The last two days had been confusing and strange. This was easily understood. She welcomed my onslaught. She craved it. She needed the simplicity of lust. I got caught up in my own hunger, watching that cock on the screen fill that tiny pussy. I smacked her ass and fucked harder, grunting, gasping.

"God!" she cried "Fuck me!"

She was shoving her hips at me as hard as I was shoving mine at her. We went wild. I bent her over the bed so she'd have a clear line of sight to the porn playing in our faces.

"It's like we're watching Bud—" I said, trying to heighten the excitement.

"No!" she snarled, interrupting me. "Don't say his name!"

I felt reckless. I saw her wild arousal. If this much was good, more would be better. I ignored her demand and charged ahead.

"It's like we're watching Buddy fuck," I growled.

Chelsea twisted beneath me, writhing, clawing the comforter. She wasn't trying to get away, she was trying to get more dick in her.

"Buddy's big dick," I breathed in her ear. "Spreading that tight pussy."

My wife grunted in time to my thrusts.

"You know exactly what that pussy feels, don't you?"

Chelsea wailed as she climaxed. I erupted too, spilling my hot load in her. I spurted hot seed inside my climaxing wife. She was still cumming moments later while I was growing soft. I felt immediately guilty and wished I hadn't said his name like she asked, wished I hadn't used her history with him to turn us on. I felt dirty. I'd invited Buddy into our bed and I couldn't tell her why. I hope she never asked. I was soft enough to slip out but Chelsea still trembled from her earthshaking orgasm. We cuddled and stayed like that. I covered us with the bedspread and that's how we fell asleep.

Chapter 4

Morning lit the heavy curtains. Today was the funeral and Chelsea was already thoughtful and withdrawn. Any thought of discussing what happened last night was out. Chelsea took her coffee and went for a walk through the lumber yards and mills along the Chehalis River.

"I used to hang at Cow's Point," she'd said. "I did a lot of thinking there."

I gave her a kiss and opened my laptop to get to work.

She wasn't back by noon so I sent a text saying I was going to get our car and she should take her time. I got no reply. The tow yard was more than a mile away but I like to walk. I'd be there in twenty minutes. Buddy would want his ass kissed again but then we'd have our car back. The funeral was at sunset. We'd wrap up and be home tonight, sleeping in our own bed.

When I got to the yard Buddy wasn't there but Jerry was and he cut me a break, handing over the keys early.

"Must have been hard," he mumbled. "Seeing all those pictures."

"Yeah," I replied. "It sucked."

I avoided making him angry. These guys would fuck with me just because they could. I started our car and drove back to the hotel. Chelsea still had not returned. I sent another text, asking when she would, and heard her phone chime outside. I opened the door and there she was, walking towards our room. We showered and went for lunch, anxiety rising each minute as the funeral drew closer.

At last we dressed and headed to Fern Hill Funeral Home. They had a small special room off to the side for family but only Chelsea and I were in it. There was a good crowd and Chelsea held back a sob when she saw how many people had turned out. Papa Joe was good to everyone. The pastor spoke and many people wept and Chelsea held it together until she was asked to lay the first rose on the coffin. After that she came apart. I held her and let her cry.

The pastor directed everyone outside and we all gathered at the gravesite. The pastor said more words and Chelsea pressed the button to lower the casket and then stood there mute as the town filed by, each saying a few kind words or giving her a quick hug. Nancy, from across the street, held Chelsea tight until my wife started crying again. The older woman whispered sweet words that only made Chelsea cry harder but squeezed the woman with equal ferocity.

People drifted away to their cars. Chelsea looked around for someone but did not find them and slipped into my arms.

"We can go," she said, voice weak.

"Home?" I asked.

She shook her head.

"I need a drink first," she said.

"Game Day?"

She shook her head again.

"Mac's. I'll show you. Drive."

We left the foothills outside Aberdeen, driving through forested residential areas as we headed back to town. We crossed a bridge over the Wishkah River.

"People think Kurt Cobain lived under this bridge for a while," she muttered. "But he didn't. Buddy took me down there a few times and fucked me against a graffiti covered wall."

I had questions but I let them slide. Chelsea needed to vent.

"Jerry was always with us. Jerry's girlfriend too. Some cheerleader. I don't remember her name. Stacey something? They watched."

Her mind roamed.

"They blabbed about it at school and I acquired another nickname: Tarp."

"Tarp? I don't understand."

"Do you know the song Something in the Way, by Nirvana?"

"No."

"There's a line in it that they felt described me perfectly. So clever, those high school kids. I did like that nickname better than Orphan, though. Or Freak."

Ouch. But I still didn't understand.

"I'm sorry they treated you so poorly, Baby," I said. "But why Tarp?"

Chelsea waved my question away, staring out the passenger window. She told me when to turn left and right and before long we pulled into the parking lot at Mac's Tavern, yet another hole-in-the-wall place downtown. At least this one had better lighting. The old brick building sagged a little in the middle and the sign outside was faded. The ever-present mist had turned to rain so I parked close to the building. Chelsea and I ran inside. A long rectangle greeted us: bar down one side, booths down the other, pool tables in the middle. The bartender did a double-take when he saw Chelsea, moving swiftly for a man so heavy.

"Little Chelsea," he said, stepping out from behind the bar. "I am so sorry. I could find no one to cover the place. You know I would have been at the funeral. Was it nice?"

"I know, Mac," she said, embracing his hug. "Papa knows too. It was nice."

He shook my hand vigorously as Chelsea introduced me. They chatted for a moment about their current state of affairs and then Chelsea aimed for the far back booth.

"Bud?" Mac called out.

"Hell no," Chelsea said. "I'm not sixteen anymore, Mac. A bottle of Chardonnay or a Riesling, if you have them. If not, Fireball."

Mac walked to our table with a fresh bottle of Fireball whiskey and two glasses.

"On the house," he said, backing away.

Chelsea didn't argue, which surprised me. Perhaps this was what Mac could do for her instead of attending the funeral. I poured. I poured and Chelsea talked. She talked about growing up an orphan. She talked about how kids always seize on the things that make you different from them and hammer away mercilessly day after day. She talked about high school and the discovery of politics and betrayal, the loss of what little innocence she had left after her parents died. I kept her glass full. I noticed I'd left my phone in the car and ran out to get it.

The car was gone.

Again.

What an asshole.

I spotted the dingy sign affixed to the wall warning of a fire lane and realized in trying to avoid the rain, I'd violated the space by two inches.

What an Asshole.

I sighed and returned to Chelsea, explaining if I hurried I might catch the car before he locked it behind the gate.

"Or I can bribe Jerry," I said.

She pulled the bottle close. We kissed and I stepped outside, grateful the rain had become mist once more. I set a fast pace, arriving at the tow yard while Buddy was still unhooking our car. Jerry stood nearby.

"Good one," I said, resisting the urge to punch Buddy in the face. "You towed a woman's car only hours after she put her surrogate father in the ground. Slick move, genius."

"Rules are rules," he said.

"I'm taking the car," I said. "We were just about to drive home. Don't give me any shit about twenty-four hours."

He reached into the cab of his tow truck and pulled out a large heavy grade plastic bag filled with white powder. He held it before my face.

Holy fucking Christ! I'd hidden Ben's bag of cocaine under the driver's seat and then, with the whirlwind trip for the funeral and the roller coaster of emotions that came with it, forgotten all about it.

"You know my brother's the Chief of Police, right?" Buddy asked.

Fuck. FUCK.

"That's not mine," I said.

"We can check for fingerprints."

I fought back a rising panic. I never told Chelsea about the coke. This would hit her out of the blue on the worst possible day.

"Don't do this to Chelsea," I said. "I was holding that for a friend at work, my boss. I had to. That's not mine."

"I'm not positive," he said. "But I think using coke is one crime and possessing coke is another, different crime. It's terrific you don't use this shit but just having it in your car is a big problem. I'm required to report this."

Jerry chuckled at my dismay.

"How much money do you want?" I asked. "I'll pay you and you'll never see us again. I swear."

Buddy made an exaggerated pouty face. I really wanted to punch this guy.

"I don't want you to leave," he said. "I liked seeing Chelsea again. I liked it a lot. I liked going through those pictures and videos with her. She was so horny afterward. She would have fucked me again if she wasn't married now to you. You hear that? You are standing between me fucking Chelsea again. I don't like that. Did you get laid like I said you would? Never mind, I know you did. That pussy was wet for me, not you."

I bit my tongue. He looked me up and down. He had more to say.

"In fact," he continued. "I liked seeing Chelsea so much I think I want to see her again before you leave, and by see, I mean fuck. I want to fuck Chelsea one last time and you're going to let me or my brother gets a phone call and half a pound of evidence handed to him along with your name."

I had no words. My mind froze.

"Say the words," he said. "Tell me you'll give her to me."

I wanted to scream no way. I wanted to launch myself at him, disregarding his bigger size and the fact that Jerry would help him. I wanted to kill him rather than allow him to touch Chelsea. My mind started working again but each time I tried to find a path forward, I was met with one overriding fact: that goddamn bag of coke. He had me dead. Every road led to me having a conversation with Chelsea in which I explained she had to fuck Buddy. I stood silent and paralyzed.

"My phone is in the car," I croaked at last.

He pulled it from a pants pocket, holding it out to me.

"Say the words," he said again.

"You can fuck Chelsea," I mumbled.

Jerry grinned as widely as Buddy.

My hand trembled as I took the phone from him and dialed Chelsea's number. I had no idea what I would say, I just hoped the words would come. She answered.

"Something bad has happened," I said.

"What?" she asked. "Are you okay?"

"I'm fine but I need to tell you something. You won't like it. You'll hate it. You'll hate me and I'll deserve it."

"Goddamn it, Kane. You're scaring me. Tell me."

I started talking. I started with Ben entering my office. I told her about the cops and the bag of coke. I told her when Buddy towed my car again he found the bag.

"Does he want it for himself?" she asked. "Are we going to owe Ben money?"

"No," I said, cringing. "Buddy doesn't want the cocaine. Buddy wants you. He says you must fuck him one last time or he gives the bag to his brother and I'm arrested for possession."

Silence. Roaring silence filled my ear. I felt dizzy.

"That motherfucker," she growled.

"My feelings exactly."

More silence. I was dying inside. Terrified of a yes, terrified of a no.

"She's probably planning how to kill me," Buddy called out, laughing. "Tell her she can't. Tell her Jerry already knows. The secret wouldn't die with me."

I told Chelsea what Buddy had said. She didn't respond.

"Fuck," she said at last.

I heard the defeat in her voice. She'd run through every scenario and arrived the same place as me. She was going to do it. My wife was going to fuck Buddy. My legs turned weak. My mouth went dry. My hands shook so badly I had to press the phone to my head.

"Tell him I'll do it," she said.

I told Buddy. He grinned broadly.

"Ask him where and when," she said, biting off the words, seething. "And that asshole better not say Travelodge."

I asked Buddy.

"Travelodge," he said. "Nine tonight."

I told Chelsea.

"Fucking mother fucker," she growled. She paused a moment. "He used to take me there all the time. He knows I hate it. The place is a dive and in the middle of town. People will see our cars in the parking lot and know Chelsea and Buddy are back at the motel again. Fuck!"

She hung up. I felt like pure shit. What had I dragged her into? This was an unbearable turn, a savage twist to our plans.

"When will she come back to me?" I asked Buddy.

"She'll never leave your side," he said. "You'll be there with us."

That sounded like an awful, terrible, horrible idea. This demonic scenario kept getting worse.

"Why?" I asked.

"Because I said so," he replied. "Because you tried to shame me in front of my neighbors. Because I want you to see my dick in her and how much she loves it. I want to give you something to always remember."

I was ready to tell him fuck it, no way, call your brother, I don't care what happens to me. Then he held up the bag of coke and jiggled it, taunting me. I would spend many years in prison for that. I'd lose my freedom and probably Chelsea anyway.

"Give me the goddamn car keys," I barked.
He tossed them in a gentle arc.
"See you at nine," he chuckled.

Chapter 5

I picked Chelsea up from Mac's and we rode in silence. We had three hours to kill. She pulled the almost full bottle of whiskey from her purse and took a sip. I was surprised how much remained.

"Tell me again about the coke," she said.

I did. I explained in detail how Ben had burst into my office with the cops coming after him. I explained his ultimatum regarding my employment. I explained the timing of her call with the news of Papa Joe's death and how that news had swept everything else under the rug. The silence returned.

"I don't blame you," she said, after a while. "You know that, right?"

"I didn't know that. It's good to hear but I blame myself. I think I'm going to vomit. It's awful."

She shrugged, resigned.

"I know what to expect," she said. "It's not like he's a stranger. I'll just get it over with and we can go home to Seattle. Just promise you won't hate me."

My mind reeled.

"Hate you?" I blurted. "Baby, you're saving my life. You're keeping me from prison. I would never expect you to wait until I was released so you're also saving our marriage. Jesus, Chelsea, I'll owe you everything."

She took my hand and squeezed then drew a deep breath and sighed. What a day she'd had. We went back to our hotel and I informed the front desk we'd stay one more night. I doubted we'd get much sleep tonight but I wanted a place to crash if we needed one. I clicked on the television and discovered the screen was still paused on the porn we'd rented, the twin of Buddy's dick lay half buried in a soaked pussy. Chelsea and I stopped in our tracks. I said sorry and fumbled with the remote, trying to change the channel.

"I'm going to take a bath," Chelsea said.

In marriage, that's code for leave me alone, I need some me time. I found an old Tom Clancy movie and let myself forget the outside world. A long time passed. I began to realize just how long and got up to listen at the bathroom door. I heard an electric trimmer. I returned to the couch. Soon after, the bathroom door opened.

I turned.

I gasped.

Chelsea looked stunning. She'd done her hair and makeup but what took my breath away most was the dress she wore: pure white and slightly sheer. I saw the barest hint of areolas. Astonishingly short, hugging her round ass and glued to her body, the outfit screamed sexy.

"W-Why?" I stuttered, bewildered.

"Because to Hell with that man," she said. "Because he thinks I'll show up cowed, intimidated, and frightened. Because he thinks he's calling all the shots. And because fuck him. He thinks he knows me but he only knows the old me. Thanks to you and the love and support you've always given, I've grown up, become my own woman. He's going to meet her and she's not afraid of him."

I couldn't take my eyes off her and the longer I looked, the greater my desire to fuck her became. She looked at the digital clock atop the television.

"It's time," she said.

"I want you," I said.

"I'm barely keeping myself together, Kane."

"You're right, sorry."

She turned and I stared at her ass. Sweet Jesus. I grabbed the car keys. Men walking to the electric chair had more optimism about the future than me at that moment. Her butt lifted and rolled, one side and then the other, and with each step I knew she was drawing closer to Buddy. My breathing turned shallow. I was walking to my doom! I opened the car door for her and she slid in, all tight curves and long hair. I wanted to groan. I wanted to scream. She looked hot enough to make my eyes ache.

We drove in silence but the tension was thick. Her phone chimed and she checked the message but said nothing. I turned off the street into the Travelodge parking lot but she waved me farther down.

"To the end," she said. "Number fifteen."

I killed the headlights and pulled into the numbered space. Buddy's truck sat a parking spot away. The door to the motel room was open and so were the drapes. All the lights were on. Buddy stood in the doorway, shirtless, barefoot, wearing jeans and holding the neck of a beer bottle with two fingers. I wished him dead. I prayed for a bolt of lightning.

We sat a moment, staring at him through the windshield. He leaned against the motel room door. Chelsea faced me. There were a million things to say, but we said none of them. We opened our doors at the same time, leaving the car and approaching the room. Buddy stepped out of the way, allowing us to enter. He closed the door and hurriedly yanked the curtains, sloppily leaving them bent and only mostly closed.

"Beer?" he asked.

"No, thanks," I said.

Chelsea shook her head.

Tense silence settled on us. I thought Buddy was unsure what to do next but gradually came to understand he enjoyed our discomfort.

"It is a shame to undress you," he said at last. "You look incredible. Better than before even."

"Thanks," Chelsea replied.

"I did not expect you to get all gussied up for me. I gotta say, I'm pleased."

I wanted to explain to him that women often dress to please themselves and not the men on the planet but the lesson would be lost. I hated that he thought Chelsea had done anything to please him though. He pointed to a chair placed close to the bed.

"You can sit there," he told me.

Chelsea closed her eyes. I sat. He sat on the end of the bed.

"Strip," he told her. "You look better now than you did then, and you looked fantastic then."

His compliments surprised me. I expected this to be an ego trip for him and that he'd spew nothing but self-aggrandizements. I saw the way he looked at her and realized he still had feelings for my wife. Deep feelings. She'd left him. He'd never left her. He took a sip, eyes boring into my lovely bride.

Chelsea drew down the zipper on the side. From armpit over ribs to hip, she exposed pale, smooth, soft skin. Sex was in the air.

I found myself objectifying her. She was there for sex, like an unpaid whore, and I saw her through that lens. Her body changed before my eyes, becoming tits and ass. She transformed. I saw the lovely lines of her body, her womanly shape. I followed the flow of her nape to her shoulders down her spine to the dimples above her ass.

Good God, women are beautiful.

She narrowed her shoulders and hips and her dress fell in a ring around her feet. Her bralette and panties were a matching sheer white lace. For a moment frozen in time, she wasn't my wife. She was just a gorgeous, sexy woman about to get fucked. Then the fog lifted and there she was, Chelsea, my Beloved, but she was still about to get fucked and that made my heart hurt. My ribs seemed to close around me. I almost raised a hand and protested but Buddy had me by the balls and knew it.

"Leave off," he told her. "Keep the underwear on for now. Goddamn, girl, you got better with age."

He set his beer on the floor and reached for his zipper but Chelsea stopped him, crouching in front and smacking his hand.

"You don't do that," she said. "I do that."

She drew his zipper down and opened the front of his pants. She tugged the legs at the ankles and pulled them down and off. She blocked my view until she stood and stepped away.

Naked Buddy in pictures and video was not the same as naked Buddy in the flesh. He was hairy all over, a white shank of meat hanging from the bush at his crotch. His dick looked far more menacing in real life, a dangling threat, an intimidating cock ready to trample everything I held dear. Chelsea looked at the familiar piece of meat and grinned. She lifted the head delicately on her palm, sliding her hand down the shaft until she reached his hairy balls, causing the limp shaft to swing.

"You used to keep this mess trimmed," she said.

"I used to give a shit about who I was fucking," he said. "You want it trimmed? I brought a bag for overnight. I'll run out and get my electric razor."

She lifted an eyebrow.

"Do it," she challenged.

Buddy walked out the door nude. I heard the door on his truck squeak and slam. Before I had a chance to speak to Chelsea, he was back, small brown satchel in hand.

"Come with me," he told her, chuckling.

Chelsea took his hand. They had a familiar and comfortable way between them that tore me up inside. I saw their years as a couple. They left the bathroom door opened so I left my chair and peeked around the corner. Buddy stood in the bathtub and Chelsea held the electric razor. She flipped a switch and a loud buzzing echoed. They both laughed.

"Just like that weekend at the lake," he said.

My wife laughed again.

"Except you were drunk and had me shave you instead of just a trim. And you had a lot less hair then."

"Trim all you want," he said.

Chelsea affixed a protective guide on the trimmers and swooped down his chest. A clump fell to the bottom of the tub. Her hand moved right and left, pruning away excess hair over his stomach, then all over his body. She held a pinch of his pubic hair and pounced, guiding the clippers skillfully. Over and over her hand moved and hair fell away. His hanging cock seemed to grow larger by the minute. She'd gotten him down to a short pelt when she spoke.

"Too bad," she said, holding his balls in her hand. "I always liked this guy hairless."

"Check the bag," he said. "I have a straight razor too. Shave me clean."

Chelsea didn't balk or hesitate. They'd done this before. Her hand dove into the bag and emerged with a gleaming razor. She ran some hot water, washing his hair down the drain, and grabbed the soap, building a lather. She soaped his cock and balls as they gazed into each other's eyes. She rinsed her hands and brought the steely blade down against his balls.

"Trust me?" she giggled.

"Nope," he said.

But he did. Obviously, he did. That fact stung me in unexpected ways. She could castrate him in an instant. She could avoid the sex tonight with a flip of her wrist. What did it say that she did not wound him?

The blade slid along his skin, carrying away whiskers and stubble. She was skilled, gliding over veiny shaft and bumpy scrotum easily, leaving smooth pink skin behind. She washed the blade and then rinsed his crotch. His gleaming cock and balls hung pink and clean and huge.

"Can I suck it now?" Chelsea asked.

I stifled a gasp. This night was nothing like what I expected. I expected stubborn resistance and resentment. Chelsea was enjoying herself. Was this why she made me promise not to hate her?

"No," he said.

He stepped from the tub and I hurried to my chair. He reentered the living area and stood three feet in front of me. Chelsea had dutifully followed him.

"Nice haircut," I said.

"Now you can suck me," he told her.

My wife hurried to her knees. She placed the first kiss at the root, where the shaft connected to his body, and then trailed kisses down the length until she planted her puckered lips on the head. He was starting to rise. She gently stroked him with her fingers and then steered the swelling slab of meat into her mouth. She sighed louder than he did. She held the first few inches and swirled him with her tongue.

Buddy was the only one naked and that somehow made him the star of the show. Chelsea closed her eyes and took more dick in her mouth, sucking him with practiced ease. She lifted the shaft free and darted underneath to quickly lick his balls. He sucked a lungful of air.

"You remember," he exhaled.

Her hands and mouth were all over the man, stroking and licking and sucking all at the same time. She covered the head with her lips and began working him deeper, sliding his cock to the back of her mouth. She straightened her throat and took a deep breath through nose.

"Think you still can?" he asked, recognizing her intent.

"I don't know," she said, pulling him out for a moment. "I'm out of practice."

I gasped at her unintentional insult. She slipped him back in and inched her lips down the shaft. He was springy, spongy, not yet fully hard. She'd adjust her jaw here, straighten her throat there, always gaining another half inch or so. Gradually more of his big flexible dick slid into her mouth. She took another deep breath through her nose and opened her mouth wide, forcing his last inches down her throat. Buddy groaned. My wife did too.

"Fuck," he sighed. "You know I love that."

She bobbed her head slightly, slipping and sliding her tongue along the underside of his cock, adding to his pleasure. Her throat bulged and her eyes watered. There was no coercion here. She welcomed the challenge of his big penis. She was enjoying herself.

What a sight.

She gently tugged at his testicles with her fingertips, teasing his balls like hanging apples. He was stiffening and that had begun to force her retreat. His cock slid from her mouth a half inch at a time. Finally, she pulled off his spit covered cock and smiled. She wiped her mouth with the back of her hand.

"I knew I could," she chuckled. "I really wanted to."

She used both hands to stroke his slippery length while she sucked his balls. This was a display of oral skills I'd never seen. His cock rose hard and firm and my wife's eyes grew increasingly excited. Fully erect, his dick stuck out from his body like a spike. Every inch gleamed from her spit. His hairless balls were shiny. She had him throbbing. He was done gaining size but continued to turn a deeper red. Chelsea took pride in what she'd built, like his erection was the greatest compliment she'd ever received. Buddy helped her stand. Her tight white lingerie made every move sexier. Buddy jerked his chin towards a dresser in the corner with a mirror along the back. He grinned.

"Remember that dresser?" he asked.

"I remember this whole room," she said, glancing around. "You've fucked me on every piece of furniture in here."

She grabbed his face and kissed him deeply. She shoved her panties down and worked them off with her feet. Buddy suddenly hugged her around the waist and lifted her body off the ground. Chelsea circled him with her legs. She reached under, searching, then nudging his cock towards her hole. They moved together with practiced ease, each knowing what the other had planned, what the other wanted. Her eyes went big and she sucked air.

I knew in that instant he'd penetrated her.

"I almost forgot how good you feel in there," she whimpered. "That's a lot of dick."

She wrapped her arms around his neck and pulled herself higher, exposing his cock underneath. He'd skewered her pussy, several inches of hard dick inside. She relaxed her legs and her dripping cunt slid slowly down his pole.

There was not enough air in this room for me. There was not enough air in the world to fill my lungs. I gasped, choking, unable to breath yet unable to look away. Chelsea's thighs flexed and she lifted off him a few inches but then relaxed once more, sending his cock deep. He spun and sat her ass on the dresser. She giggled and leaned away from his body to open her legs, holding them in the air. He began to thrust. The dresser banged the wall but they didn't care.

"Looks like they fixed the mirror we broke," he grunted.

"They charged Papa's card," she gasped. "I had extra chores for weeks."

Buddy sank almost every inch he had into her. My wife seemed to lose herself for a moment, shaking her head, overcome. Her nipples rose.

"I always paid for everything with you," she mumbled. "I still do."

He held her tight and fucked her hard, pounding my wife, claiming that soaked cunt as his own. The mirror threatened to break again but they didn't care. He grabbed her around the throat with one hand, squeezing, raising a vein on her forehead and turning her face red.

I hated it!

I hated his casual domination of her. I hated how easily she became his pet. She welcomed his authority. She lightly held his wrist, not to stop him but to make sure he got it right. He'd taken ownership and they both knew it. I saw it. I knew it too.

"Yeah!" she wheezed, as he squeezed her throat. "Yeah. Harder!"

He lifted her leg with his free arm and plunged his hard cock deep. After a few moments, he lifted her with both arms under her legs and faced the bed, falling forward and burying his cock balls deep in my woman. Chelsea cried out, impaled, stuffed deeply with more cock than she'd had in years. He had to be in her womb.

Their passion grew. I saw her defiance, what little there was, melt away. He grabbed her throat again, this time with both hands, pinning her to the bed like he intended to strangle her. He rammed her cunt mercilessly. Her plump tits flew wildly. She held his wrists, a little frightened but a lot turned on. His pelvis was a jackhammer. He pounded her harder than I ever have.

Just as I began to worry for her safety, she groaned loudly and whipped her head side to side. My wife screamed as a powerful orgasm smashed her. I expected the man to continue his assault, and he did tighten his hands around her throat, but he slowed his thrusting until he pumped only inches, his intimate knowledge of my wife and what pleased her most sending her orgasm rocketing skyward. Chelsea went crazy. She screeched a strangled cry of lust, throwing her head back, gasping for air, and climaxing harder than I'd ever seen. Tears spilled and ran into her ears.

I know Chelsea the complicated woman, but in the ways of the bedroom, he knew her better than me. She was like a musical instrument in his hands. I understood why it had been so difficult for her to leave him.

He kept her pinned, sawed slowly in and out, and watched her intense orgasm with a mix of pride and affection. My wife sailed along, waves of climactic pleasure radiating outward from his piercing cock. Her screech dissolved into mindless murmuring until she slowly came back to Earth.

Buddy, not content to merely have her, or even have her in front of me, scooped her from the bed and laid her across my lap, fucking my wife right in my face. Her body was a thousand degrees.

"Play with her tits," he said. "Play with her tits while my dick's in her."

I did. She moaned from the added stimulation but also from the humiliation. She knew how she must look in my eyes but that only turned her on more. She kept her eyes squeezed shut, avoiding me, but clung to him like she wished him to never stop.

From my lap, he snatched her back to the bed. I was left breathless. Her legs wrapped around his big body so tightly that her butt cheeks spread and obscenely exposed her split pussy and spasming asshole. He rolled onto his back, Chelsea on top, whipping off her bralette to free her lovely tits. She slapped her hands to the pillows and dangled her breasts over his mouth, teasingly offering her nipples to him. She gazed at his face, a slight smile on her lips.

I was nowhere in her thoughts. She rocked her hips, stirring her insides with that big hard cock, and I realized she now fucked him. She dragged her pussy up and down his pole, teasing and coaxing the sperm slumbering in his balls. The transition was terrible to see. Chelsea undulated her pelvis, almost chuckling because she knew what her tight grip did to him. She fucked him and with one goal in mind: chase his orgasm until she freed the semen he carried.

At least, that was her intention. But her face slowly changed as the pleasure of his penetration overcame her. Her hips whipped back and forth as she headed towards another orgasm. The young Chelsea would have tended to him. The new Chelsea wanted to cum. Her hands were tight fists as she climaxed on his dick again, surprised by how much pleasure he gave her.

He pushed her off and quickly scrambled behind her, shoving her face into the bed. He grabbed her hips and lifted them, forcing her knees apart.

"Ass?" he rumbled.

"No!" she growled. "Not yet. Fuck me more first."

He grabbed handfuls of butt cheeks and pulled, aiming his weapon at her pussy. My wife was gushing juice, eagerly taking every fat inch he gave. He fucked her doggie for a long time, moving that big cock in and out until she sobbed into the pillows. She was just coming down from another climax when he waved me closer.

"Feed her your dick," he ordered. "I want her sucking while I'm fucking."

Chelsea groaned but wouldn't look at me. I hesitated and Buddy barked the same instructions. I unzipped and stepped closer, offering my wife my penis.

"Remember?" he asked. "Tyler? Robbie? Who else?"

"Shut up," she said.

"Under the bridge," he mumbled, closing his eyes, lost in sweet memory.

Chelsea avoided my gaze but gobbled my dick. He slapped her ass and started fucking faster.

"Cum again," he told her. "Cum with your husband's dick in your mouth. Cum hard like you did for me and Tyler and Robbie."

Chelsea looked humiliated but sucked faster. Buddy grabbed her ass and pounded her cunt and as if he knew she'd be unable to stop it, Chelsea orgasmed again. Buddy laughed triumphantly.

"I knew thinking about that shit would get you off," he said.

I surprised myself by getting hard. Chelsea still wouldn't meet my eyes so I held her head and chased my own pleasure. Buddy waited until I was hard as rock to order me back to the chair. I complied because I had to, dropping onto my seat with my dick sticking up from my lap, dripping saliva. Buddy pushed Chelsea face down on the bed.

"Ass," he said, not asking this time.

"Okay," Chelsea agreed, breathless. "I'm ready."

Buddy took his dick in hand and pulled out of her pussy. He spread her cheeks with his free hand and aimed the head at her messy sphincter. There was pressure for an instant and then his cock jumped forward, drilling her rectum. Chelsea growled with pleasure, rolling her hips to feel him in there better. He placed his hands on the small of her back and bore down, stuffing her ass with sliding cock. He held a steady rhythm for long minutes.

"Can you get there?" he asked "Too soon?"

"I can get there," she said. "You knew I could before you asked, bastard."

Buddy chuckled. He struck a smooth pace, fucking her ass easily, sliding in and out. Chelsea's body slowly tightened, arms and legs growing taut, muscles clenching. I don't know how he did it. Maybe his girth pulled skin from all around, stimulating her vagina and clitoris. Maybe the idea of a big fat cock in her ass turned her on enough. I don't know. What I do know is what my eyes showed me: Chelsea, pinned under him, ass stuffed with long hard penis, body locked down around his inches as her pleasure climbed.

"Keep—!" she spat. "Don't—!"

She couldn't make the words come out. Her whole body tensed and clenched.

"OH MY FUCKING GOD!" she screamed.

I'd never seen her cum so hard. Not like this. This was different. Her body turned to stone, her skin flushed pink. She climaxed over his cock fucking her ass harder than anything I'd ever witnessed. What was she thinking? Was she fantasizing about being under the bridge? My dick throbbed in my lap.

He drove her through the strongest and possibly longest orgasm of her life, turning my wife into a grunting, slaving animal. Eventually he slowed, allowing her to drift to Earth. Her body unwound, loosening, sinking into the bed.

"Buddy's magic cock," she murmured.

She barely moved. She barely breathed. He kissed her nape and waves of shivers ran the length of her. They stayed like that a long time, long enough I told myself it was over at last.

Finally, she touched his arm and he withdrew his meaty spear. She rolled off the bed, still avoiding my gaze, and took his hand, leading him to the bathroom again.

This time, they shut the door.

Chapter 6

The motel door flew open and Jerry stepped through, video camera held to his eye. He was filming, recording even as he entered the room.

"What the fuck are you doing?" I shouted.

"That," he bellowed, raising a fist. "Was unbelievable!"

My eyes jumped to the curtains. Buddy had not fully closed them intentionally. Jerry had stood outside in the darkness, filming everything.

"You recorded us? You son of a bitch! Why would you do that?"

He laughed like I was an idiot.

"Insurance, brother. Leverage. Once we snort all that coke we'll have nothing to hold over you and Buddy wants to fuck Chelsea a lot. I have you on film fucking her mouth while Buddy fucks her twat. You can't claim assault now! How sweet is that? I have him fucking her on your lap. You played with her tits. He choked her and fucked her ass and you sat in that chair and did nothing. You didn't even voice a protest. It was obvious she welcomed anything he wanted to do to her. She orgasmed from his dick up her ass. I'd love to show the judge that one. We own you guys."

I slumped in my chair. These guys were ruthless criminals. I couldn't begin to think like them. They'd always out maneuver me. I heard Chelsea moan through the bathroom door. Jerry heard it too and moved that direction. I stood.

"Sit your ass down," he said. "You've got nothing. There's nothing you can do. Sit down and take it. This will be a long night."

He headed for the bathroom door. I remained standing but he was right. All we could do was ride this out and pray they'd eventually get bored. Jerry opened the door and Chelsea's moans turned louder. He filmed whatever was going on in there. I heard Buddy's moans too.

"Eat that pussy," Jerry teased.

Chelsea stopped moaning and yelled at Jerry to get out. He just laughed.

"Always with the fucking camera, huh, Jerry?"

"You look so good on film, Tarp," he joked. "Stop getting so wet every time you fuck Buddy and maybe I'll stop recording you guys."

I looked over Jerry's shoulder. Chelsea and Buddy were in the shower, under the warm spray. Buddy knelt, his face between her legs. His cock still stuck straight out, squiggly veins proving how hard he'd gotten. He ate her sweet pussy and Jerry taped it all. Buddy pulled his face away and I saw that Chelsea was now shaved bare too. These two were having fun, playing sexy couple games. Their familiarity with each other was hard to take.

"Enough of that," Jerry said. "Come back to the bed. I want to record more hot sex and I can't see shit with your face buried in her crotch. Come back to bed where the lighting is better and let me film. Tarp still loves your big dick, Bud."

"She does," Buddy said. "She told me so in the shower."

Fucking OUCH. Pay the bill so I stay out of prison is one thing but there's no need to compliment the man or his big dick. Just fuck him and get it over with. I should have known something was up with Chelsea by the way she dressed for tonight. She wasn't just going to get through this. She was going to take something away from it. Something she wanted all for herself.

They climbed out of the shower and dried each other. Chelsea continued to avoid eye contact. I gave up. Better to just fade into the background and wait for all this to end. Jerry backed out of the bathroom, camera rolling. Buddy and Chelsea came next, kissing, turning slowly as if they waltzed. Her tits mashed against his freshly trimmed chest. They were laughing, having fun, happy. These three had done all kinds of stupid youthful antics together. If Chelsea was just playing the game she had everyone, including me, convinced her feelings were real. Maybe they were. She could love me with all her heart and still desire to fuck an ex-boyfriend. Our thoughts are our own. Our behavior is what we owe others.

Buddy and my wife stumbled toward the bed, falling down kissing. Buddy had gone mostly soft so Chelsea quickly took his long cock in her mouth again. Jerry subtly rounded the bed, making sure to get me hiding in the background and watching, in the shot. Buddy rolled onto his back and spread arms and legs, taking up the entire bed. Chelsea knelt obediently between his knees, tugging his soft cock with both hands, sucking hard, spherical tits bouncing, trying to bring him back to life. She succeeded. In minutes, he was rock hard again. There was plenty of room for her to pump him with both hands and she stared at the lion she held. Her eyes were wild, once again like an out-of-control youth that had nothing to lose.

No man has ever gotten to me the way he did, she'd said. I saw that now. I saw her reckless lust. I saw what she ran from. I saw her eager enslavement to this man and the slab of beef between his legs. She'd known back then to have a future she had to flee him and the spell he cast.

She threw a leg over him and lifted her hips high, looking down between her legs to guide him in. Jerry held the camera steady, moving closer to capture Chelsea's re-penetration. My wife held Buddy's cock upright in her palm. After so many years, they would be rejoined. Chelsea and Buddy locked eyes. My wife grinned coyishly, pretending to be shy.

"It's been a long time," she teased.

"Too long," he said.

"Too long," she echoed. "I want to make you cum."

I was freaking out. His penis poised like that outside her pussy was killing me. They prolonged the moment for their own pleasure but it was my agony. His cock looked too big for her small opening. My pounding heart cracked ribs. My lungs shrank, becoming two balloons incapable of drawing enough air. I'd held my eyes open so long without blinking, terrified I'd miss something, they burned like a saltwater wash.

Chelsea held his gaze and lowered her hips. They'd fucked so many times she knew exactly where his cock would be, dropping her soaked slit directly onto his crown. She tried to maintain her pleasant smile but her face softened and melted as he began to penetrate, transforming into a grimace of pure pleasure as his cock head traveled up her tunnel. Once the first few inches were buried she lifted her arms and ran them under her long hair, raising her tresses as her pussy descended the man's cock. Her hair cascaded down her back.

"Fuuuck," she giggled. "God, I missed that feeling."

She brought her feet under her ass and began small movements to pump her pussy up and down. Her eyes were closed, her head tipped back, her face content. Buddy pawed at her firm tits, watching this woman fuck herself.

After a while, Chelsea opened her eyes and gazed at Buddy.

"I have my answer now," she said.

"To what?" Buddy asked.

"The question you asked earlier, idiot," she said.

"Oh, yeah. Where?"

She leaned over him.

"In my pussy," she purred. "Deep, deep in my pussy."

I figured out what his question must have been.

"That's beautiful, Babe," Buddy said. "Just like old times."

Jerry stood by Buddy's head, filming the length of his body and between Chelsea's legs. My wife turned playful, opening her knees to give Jerry a good view. The man leaned forward, zooming on her stretched pussy gliding up and down the length of Buddy's dick.

I remembered seeing a similar scene in the videos on Buddy's phone.

"That's a million-dollar shot," Jerry said.

"Pervert," she called him.

"All the way down to my bones," he admitted.

"Speaking of all the way down on bones," she said, exhaling as she sank.

Buddy's cock disappeared inch by inch, collecting skin around her tight pussy as it traveled deeper. She moved slowly, allowing her opening time to adjust to his girth. His erection gradually vanished, her freshly shaved pussy meeting his freshly shaved root. She held herself fully impaled and caressed his cheek.

"Do you mind if I fuck myself on you?" she asked.

He chuckled at some private joke, like she'd asked that question a thousand times before until it became a shared understanding.

"Go fuck yourself," he replied.

They wanted to chuckle but pleasure overwhelmed them, surprised at how good being reunited felt. Chelsea lifted her pussy several inches and sat on him again, looking directly into the camera. She paused, savoring her filled pussy, and then lifted again, repeating the move, gaining speed and losing herself.

Soon they were both lost to it, moaning with pleasure, savoring the fantastic sensations. His penis gleamed more on each pass, her sweet cunt gushing wetness.

"Faster," Buddy groaned.

Chelsea closed her eyes and arched her back, thrusting her tits at the camera, slamming her hot cunt down his length. Her mission had been Buddy's orgasm but she forgot that now, seeking another for herself.

"Here it comes, Babe," he snorted. "Fuck!"

Chelsea seemed to come out of a fog. She placed a hand on Buddy's stomach for balance and began to fuck the man harder and faster, pussy rising and falling. She was milked him, coaxed his load up that long shaft. He grabbed handfuls of titties and clenched his teeth, grunting, spraying spit before gasping loudly and arching his back off the bed.

"Fuuuuuck!" he cried.

Chelsea continued her ride but I knew sperm gushed from his pulsating buried cock, spurting and spewing potent semen deep inside my wife. She looked crazed, fevered, thrilled to accept his load.

"Fuck!" Buddy cried again, lifting his hips and Chelsea too.

His face contorted with pleasure, still blasting away inside her. Chelsea laughed, proud of herself and what she'd done to him. Eventually his orgasm slowed and stopped. She kept his softening cock buried deep.

I again thought my night was done but I was once more proved wrong. They rested, Chelsea atop Buddy, his fat cock plugging her hole, and chatted in low voices. She knew him well. She knew how long he needed before growing hard again. She flirted and laughed and sometimes kissed him passionately.

Buddy fucked Chelsea for hours.

She never made a move to leave. Even when he seemed sated, she stayed, snuggling, toying with his limp penis like she was saying hello, killing time until he recovered and was ready for more.

We got back to our hotel room around four in the morning. I thought we'd drop into bed but Chelsea turned as soon as I closed the door. She grabbed my face and kissed me fervently, her tongue sliding over my tongue. Blood surged to my dick. I never expected more sex. I figured that would be the last thing she wanted. She had to be exhausted and sore.

Sweet Jesus was I ever wrong.

She'd put on her white dress without bra or panties as we left Buddy and Jerry, and she whipped it off now. She tried to kneel to suck my dick but a kind of sexual rage rushed through me. I wrapped my arms around her and carried her to the bed. She was frantic, clawing at my butt, reaching for my erection and guiding me enthusiastically into her.

I sank into a steaming soup of pussy juice and semen. Her tightness was gone and the abundance of sperm made friction difficult but I was so turned on it hardly mattered. My hard dick throbbed inside her. She rocked her hips against me wildly, grinding her clit until she cried out like a sob, cumming fast. I pounded her mercilessly and a massive explosion rocked my body and my mind. Images of her with him flashed like a strobe in my head. Cum shot from me into her as we desperately tore at each other. We both wailed like lost souls.

We awoke hours later, naked, sticky, stiff, and sore. We showered, speaking few words.

"I must go into town," she said, fatigued. "I need to run a few errands."

"Like what?"

She gave me a look. I didn't get it.

"Like what?" I repeated.

She rolled her eyes.

"I need to visit the pharmacy."

I was tired and out of sorts and not thinking clearly at all, so it took me a moment. She waited patiently. Eventually it clicked.

"Oh," I said.

"Yes," she said. "Oh. There's a chance he got me pregnant."

I was instantly horny again. I had no idea why. I was standing naked in the small bathroom as we talked, brushing my teeth, and my penis began to rise. We both looked down. Chelsea watched me go from utterly flaccid to stiff and pulsating in less than a minute.

"That might be the sexiest thing I've ever seen," she teased. "I've never seen the whole show. You know, from start to finish. What a marvel of engineering."

"I don't know why that got me hard," I said.

"Don't sweat it. Last night was insane. This whole trip has been insane. We are wiped out. We are not ourselves."

"No, we're not."

"While we're on the subject," she said. "Do you ever see us having kids?"

"I do," I said. "Maybe three or four."

"Three or four sounds nice," she agreed. "But just not too soon."

Baby-talk had turned her on. I saw it in her eyes and on her face. She moved closer, plucked the toothbrush from my hand, kissed me. I faced her away and loosened her towel, which fell to the tile floor. I bent her at the waist. We gazed at each other in the steamy bathroom mirror. I bent my dick down, finding her tender hole from behind, and shoved. She winced but pushed her hips at me. I held her ass and she braced herself against the sink. I thrust a few times to wet my dick in her sopping hole and then slammed my penis deep.

"Do it," she growled. "Fuck me."

"I can't fuck you like he does," I admitted. "I want to, I just can't."

"I know," she said. "I don't need another Buddy. Fuck me your way."

I fucked her hard and fast, remembering how hot she'd looked in that motel room with him. I quickly climbed to another orgasm. Chelsea got wildly aroused but she was done cumming for a while. I unloaded in her, dizzy, stunned by the sudden rush of excitement.

We showered again.

"I'll be back," she said, dressing, keeping one eye on my naughty dick.

The door closed behind her and I dropped onto the bed, naked. I laid there, allowing the night and morning to run through my mind. We'd done what we had to do but I felt strangely calm about it. Perhaps I was in shock. Perhaps my reaction would come later. What confused me the most was my arousal from it all.

I expected Chelsea to return quickly and when she didn't, my dick began to rise again. I'd seen her with him now. I'd seen their strong connection. Just the hint that she may have gone back for more sent my heart racing and blood surging. Jealousy seized me but instead of anger it turned me on.

We needed to get the fuck out of this town. We needed to get the fuck away from that man. Chelsea has a gap in her armor where's he's concerned, a weakness for him and the history they share. She should hate him but clearly does not.

At last the key turned in the lock. Chelsea stepped into the room and locked the door behind her. She approached, digging in her purse.

She dropped a large heavy grade plastic bag filled with white powder on the bed.

"Let's go home," she said.

Chapter 7

My office door opened. Ben, back from vacation, stepped inside, closing the door behind him. He looked sleep deprived.

"Do you have it?" he asked.

"Good to see you too, Ben. Yeah, the funeral was touching. A lot of people from town showed up. Papa Joe was much loved. How was your vacation?"

"Sorry for your loss," he quipped. "Do you have it?"

I opened my briefcase and sat the half pound of cocaine on the desk before him. His eyes brightened.

"I owe you," he said, stuffing the bag in his pants. "Big time."

"Get help," I answered.

He left my office. I finished work hours later and drove home. Chelsea was in the shower so I poked my head in.

"How was the workout?" I asked.

"Exhausting but I feel good," she answered. "I'll be out soon. I need to wash my hair."

"All right."

I backed out but her phone on the counter caught my eye. Ten days had passed since the funeral. Ten days since Chelsea had returned to our hotel room with the bag of coke. I never asked her how she got it away from Buddy and she never volunteered that information.

I was curious, though.

I quickly grabbed her phone. We know each other's passwords and seconds later I opened her messages. Nothing from Buddy.

A strange wave passed over me. Was that relief or disappointment? I was about to return the phone but something nagged me. I had a hunch and flipped to her photo gallery. The first two pictures were of different shampoo bottles.

The next picture was Buddy's cock in her pussy.

She wore the same clothes as the morning she left to go to the pharmacy. Her jeans and underwear were around her ankles and her T-shirt pushed up over her tits. Buddy fucked Chelsea from behind. He'd taken the

More pictures followed, all of them some version of his thick hard cock stuffed into her body. Her expression was the same in all: absolute bliss. Intense pleasure, physical and emotional, lit her face.

She loved fucking him.

Next was a short video so I turned the sound off and hit play. She was cumming around his fat shaft, pussy clutching and clenching, and then his dick began to spurt. He emptied his balls and pulled out but she grabbed his cock in a panic, pulling him back in. The screen went crazy like he'd dropped the phone before a giant hand appeared and the screen went dark.

That was how she'd gotten the bag of cock away from Buddy. After spending a long night fucking him, she'd gone back hours later to fuck him again. Retrieving the bag of coke was incidental.

I tapped on my favorite photo again to take one last look at his big cock stretching her wet pussy and then closed every window, replacing the phone before quietly closing the bathroom door. It occurred to me he'd used her phone to take the pictures so she could look at them whenever she wished. Maybe the idea to use her phone had come from her.

I pictured her in the shower on the other side of this door, masturbating, remembering the hot fuck Buddy had served. I'd masturbated many times over the last ten days to those same thoughts. She had no desire for a life with him. She'd fled that. But she had tons of desire for sex with him. She wanted him but her loyalty to me had forced her to go ten days without.

I reached inside and grabbed her phone again. A quick search showed Buddy's number in her contacts. I opened a text and typed.

Can you come fuck me tonight?

My hands shook. What the fuck was I doing? I hit send before I thought too much about it. He replied instantly.

Address and time?

I answered and deleted everything. I put the phone back, listening to Chelsea hum a happy shower tune, oblivious.

We ate dinner and watched a movie and got ready for bed, just like we did every night. I was twisted in knots on the inside, knowing what was coming. We sat in bed, reading, when the doorbell rang.

"What the hell?" Chelsea asked.

"Probably a neighbor," I said quickly. "Remember when the sprinkler head blew out and sprayed water on the street? I'll run down and find out."

"Thanks, Baby."

I exited our bedroom and calmed myself. I hurried to the front door and stepped outside. Buddy looked confused and then defensive. I spoke before he could.

"I sent the text," I croaked. "She doesn't know. I can't believe I'm doing this but I want to watch you fuck her again. Are you in?"

"Hell yes."

"Good. Let me go up first. I'll tell her it was a neighbor at the door with some of our mail. Wait long enough for us to get comfortable and then enter our bedroom. She'll freak."

"I like it," he said.

"Let's go," I said, opening our front door.

He followed me to the bedroom, waiting in the hall.

I explained to Chelsea when she asked who was at our door, lying through my teeth, and crawled back into bed. My dick was already rising. She returned to reading. I waited for Buddy and then waited so more. I got nervous, wondering if he'd changed his mind and gone home. So much time passed I was concocting a story to get out of bed again and go check on the man.

Then the bedroom door swung slowly open. He stood there, naked, hard and throbbing. Now I understood the delay. Chelsea's eyes caught the movement and came up slowly. Her mind refused to accept what she saw.

"What—?" she muttered.

She would either get angry or get caught up in the madness and roll with it. She spun on me, shocked, stunned, but not unwilling. I saw no refusal in her eyes. I was ready for her, smiling.

Buddy had his own ideas, approaching the bed, stroking his big cock. He grabbed her hair and pulled her mouth to the tip. I could never get away with a move like that but he could. Chelsea obediently opened wide to accept his dick. Whatever questions and confusions she had, and I'm sure there were plenty, gave way to the urgency of Buddy's cock in her mouth. That was most important. Partly to please herself because she loved sucking cock, but mostly to please Buddy, because satisfying him satisfied her.

He was too hard to do her deepthroat trick so she just sucked as hard as she could on the head and first few inches, forcing a groan from the man. She chuckled around the dick in her mouth, pleased with herself. Chelsea loves to make a man moan.

My gaze dropped to his balls. They were big like hard-boiled eggs and carried tens of millions of sperm. All those little seeds would soon be in her. I shuddered with erotic delight. How perverse. What a kink I'd discovered. What man feels arousal at another man ejaculating into his wife? Me. Just the thought fanned the flames in my mind. I wanted him to inseminate her.

Buddy had kept his pubic hair trimmed close since the night Chelsea shaved him but so had she. I pulled the covers off her. I unbuttoned her pajama tops and tugged off her bottoms. She wore no underwear to bed. I stripped her for him, an unwrapping of a gift like no other. It's not in his nature to do so anyway, but Buddy asked no questions. A naked and willing Chelsea was all he desired.

Buddy hard was all she desired.

I stepped away from the bed, leaving their circle, easing myself out of the heat and light to merge with the shadows, a wife-watching voyeur. I sat on the ground near our bed and found myself behind him, again facing his large balls but this time from behind. He leaned over my wife, sliding his cock into her hot mouth. His ass cheeks spread. His scrotum was a pink softball, mashing against Chelsea's chin. He rested his cock on her tongue knowing that was all he need do, that was the only effort he need expend. Chelsea's natural desires would take over and he was right. Her tongue swooped and swirled, slipping out of her mouth each time she slobbered over his fat head, a flash of pink before her lips closed once more. Pleasing this penis was automatic for her. She lifted a hand to hold him steady and the sight of her wedding ring, the ring I'd placed on that finger now pressed against his penis, sent an electric jolt through me.

He removed his dick and told her to lie back.

"I want to eat you," he said.

My wife laughed.

"Can you just not, Buddy?" she chuckled. "Being a giving lover is not your style. Just use this big dick on any woman you find yourself in bed with, including me, and everything will be fine. She'll be happy, just like me."

Annoyed, he grabbed her head and stuffed his dick in her mouth, pushing deep enough to gag her. She did not resist. She nodded and choked, trying to get as much cock as possible, welcoming his aggression. He banged the back of her throat, trying to force his cock deeper. He was too big for that but it turned Chelsea on anyway. His hips moved faster as he fucked her mouth and her arousal grew.

Finally, my wife could wait no longer. She rolled onto her stomach and raised her ass, aiming her pussy at his face and spreading her butt with both hands. Her slit was delicious pink and already soaked. His power over her thrilled me. He climbed onto the bed and bent his cock to her pussy, holding her ass with one hand and then easing his length deep, sheathing his thick member in her pussy. The groan that left her throat crushed my soul but made me hard.

I scooted closer, angling my head to see up under his ass. Her pussy stretched to accommodate his girth, a tight pink ring sealed around him. He wasn't just fucking her, he was owning her, conquering her, driving her spirit out of her mouth. His cock was a spear, impaling her over and over. He always looked too big for her tight slit and occasionally he did hurt her, but she welcomed it! When he sometimes dove too deep and rammed something he shouldn't, she merely winced, licked her lips and drew a deep breath, and threw her hips at him even harder. He knew how to fuck her better than anyone on Earth. She'd grown up fucking him. He was sex to her.

He muttered a question I couldn't hear but I caught her answer: "In my pussy, Baby, always. In my ass or down my throat if you want, but always in my pussy. I love walking around and carrying you in there."

My dick throbbed. She was killing me. I shed my pajamas, naked now just like them. It was humiliating but turned me on. I masturbated to this man fucking my wife and they both saw me do it. Buddy looked away, uninterested, but Chelsea stared. My excitement gave her options. If I was hurt, she'd stop. If I was indifferent, she'd take only for herself. But I was turned on, and that presented opportunities. She watched me jack off to Buddy fucking her and then moved the pillows away from her face so I could hear her clearly.

"Lick my pussy," she said. "While he fucks me. I want to feel your tongue and his cock at the same time."

I was already under him so I looked up at the point where his cock vanished inside her. She was drenched. He was rock solid, veins near bursting.

"I want both my men," she continued. "Pleasing me at the same time."

What the hell, I thought. We've already thrown so many rules out the window.

I crawled closer using my elbows, maneuvering my face around his nut sack and slick shaft. I planted my lips on her clit. Her gasp echoed in my ears. I licked, teasing her clitoris, sucking the sensitive skin. I tilted my head to get at her better and his testicles hit my ear. He started fucking her deep, long stroking that big cock.

"Make her cum," he ordered, grunting through clenched teeth.

I licked and sucked faster. Her pussy gushed and tightened around him.

"Fuck that's good," he said. "Keep going. She's going to make me cum."

My tongue swirled and slapped. Chelsea cried out, sopping cunt convulsing around his shaft. I was helping her orgasm on him. I slathered her labia, driving her insane, and he suddenly roared his release, cock swelling fat and hot sperm coursing through the shaft in pulses. I felt his blasts through my sliding lips. My wife screamed from pleasure.

They collapsed and her thighs closed around my head, dragging me down with them, my incredibly stiff dick snagged on our blankets and dragged them along too. I waited until she stopped moving and then disengaged, lifting her leg and bending my neck. My face hovered above his softening cock, still embedded, only inches away. He still unconsciously flexed it occasionally, balls softly lifting, as he forced out every drop.

I left them there, tangled in our sheets, and headed for the kitchen, erect penis leading the way. I was dying to orgasm but the denial was its own kind of pleasure. My balls ached in a strangely pleasurable way. I'd stroke my dick occasionally, walking down the hall, smiling at the insanity of it all.

I brewed a pot of coffee. I sensed our evening wasn't finished. I leaned my butt against our kitchen counter and stared down at my pulsing dick.

"That smells great," Buddy said, entering our kitchen, nude like me.

His deflated cock was still big, swinging and slapping as he strode through our home. I was struck by his nude presence around the familiar objects of our house: that was naked Buddy next to our refrigerator. There's naked Buddy leaning over our kitchen sink to look out the window at our neighborhood. There's naked Buddy leaning against the kitchen counter. We were two naked men just hanging around.

"Must be hard to take," he said, opening the refrigerator, searching for something but not finding it, and closing the door again.

"What's that?" I asked.

"Me and Chelsea. The way she is. How she fucks me. I'm sure the sex you have with her is different from the sex I have with her. Am I right?"

There was no denying it. My expression gave me away.

"Yes."

"Thought so," he said. "She loves this cock."

To emphasize his point, he grabbed a handful of cock and balls and lifted everything, showing off. He held his equipment up like that, bulging skin bag and thick, arching shaft, and I stared. Who wouldn't?

"She's always been like that," he continued. "From day one. I don't know what happened when she was young, like at the orphanage and shit, but I remember the first time we had sex. She was shy and afraid until she got my pants open. Then her face lit up when she saw all this. We fucked that night until we couldn't move and pretty much every day after. She can't stand me, not for very long anyway. But she can't get enough of this big dick."

He wiggled his package playfully, watching my face.

"She on birth control?" he asked. "I meant to ask earlier. Might be super awkward if she had my kid instead of yours. You guys doing anything to prevent me impregnating her?"

I desperately wished my dick would go down but it throbbed harder than ever. His words cut me, slicing to the bone. I'd avoided thinking about how irresponsible we'd been and any possible ramifications, but I couldn't do that now, with him firing one shot after the other at me.

"Wait," he said. "Is that what all this is about? You can't get her pregnant so you're having me do it? Sneaky. I like it. I'm down. I'll keep that in mind every time I fuck her. I'll shoot her so full of jizz there'll be no way she doesn't get knocked up."

He was fucking with me, and I thought about revealing our trip to the pharmacy, but my dick throbbed harder than ever. The thought of Buddy's seed implanting inside my wife made me shudder with perverse pleasure and sent my blood surging, my heart pounding. My dick strained to get harder. Buddy looked right at it.

He released his genitalia and let the heavy organ swing between his legs. He'd swollen a bit, narrating his plans of fertilization.

"So?" he asked. "Is it?"

"Is what?"

"Is it hard to take? Does it tear you up to watch your wife crawl all over my cock like a well-paid whore?"

There was no answer in which I didn't somehow lose.

"Yes," I said. "It's torture."

"Your dick says that's a lie."

I looked down. Precum had leaked and spilled, a long silver strand hanging to the kitchen tile.

"It's a good torture," was all I could think to say.

"You want me to go back in there and fuck her again?"

My mouth was parched.

"Yes."

"I'll put this in her mouth," he said, lifting his cock by the plump head. "She sucks on it, making me hard again, and then I'll bury it in her pussy. You want that?"

He had me. I was as fucked as Chelsea.

"Yes."

"You want me to shoot cum in her?"

Buddy was the Devil.

"Yes."

My balls were hard and tight. I could orgasm with two strokes.

He dropped his dick again.

"All right," he said. "But you've got to stand behind her and hold her legs open to me. I want her to see it. I want her to see you give her to me. Make sense?"

I nodded.

"You got any beer?" he asked, opening the refrigerator again.

The light from inside the fridge made his balls look huge.

Chapter 8

My office door opened and Ben stepped inside, closing the door.

"Stop doing that," I said.

"Shut up. Listen. Who's the babe?"

I made a face at him.

"Why are you so strange?" I asked.

"Tell me," he insisted. "She says she's here to see you. I quizzed her but she won't budge. I can't even get her name. Since when do you hang out with smoking hot mystery women? Chelsea is hot but she's sweet. There's no mystery. This woman has mystery."

I couldn't shut him up so I left my desk and opened the door. Five steps took me to our lobby.

Hayley Winbond.

The tight red dress was gone, replaced by a tennis skirt and tank top. She revealed less skin in this outfit but then again, she wasn't trying to lure Buddy into bed. Ben followed me so close he bumped my butt when I stopped.

"Hayley?" I asked. "Right? Hayley Winbond?"

She wasn't at all surprised I knew her. She was the kind of woman accustomed to other people learning her name. She expected to be talked about and she was right, she often was. If not for the whispered rumors that she was cheating on her doctor husband then because she was stunning, breathtaking, and sexy.

"You are Kane?"

"I am. My office is right over here."

I aimed a scathing look at Ben and he stepped away. I showed Hayley to my office and shut the door behind us. She spoke before I could ask any questions.

"Your wife," she said, "keeps fucking Buddy."

I ran through multiple scenarios in an instant: Denial, surprise, anger. I went with feigned boredom.

"So?" I asked.

"Make her stop."

I saw where this was going.

"No."

She stomped her foot, tired of encountering men that would not give in.

"She has you," she insisted, speaking of Chelsea. "I need Buddy."

"You're married too," I said. "Does your husband know you have a lover?"

She hesitated.

"Yes," she said. "He's like you. He gets off on it. He's like you and I'm like your wife. She and I both need to fuck Buddy."

"You're not like Chelsea," I said. "You need Buddy because you love what he does to you. Chelsea needs Buddy because she loves what she does to him. You should see his eyes while they're fucking. She rocks his world."

Too harsh, perhaps, but I don't like being bossed and I felt like Hayley needed to be taken down a peg. God, she was gorgeous though, standing there in my office looking like a sultry angel.

"I'll suck your dick," she said. "Right now. Whip it out. I'll suck you off and then you go home and tell Chelsea to stop, tell her to break it off with Buddy."

"You'll suck my dick for the pleasure of sucking his?"

"Yes. You're handsome. I won't mind."

"Wow."

She turned it on. I mean, her face softened and her eyes deepened and her features shifted into this prettier version of her pretty self. She squared her shoulders which subtly thrust her breasts forward and she sat one butt cheek on the corner of my desk. My dick rose. I'm not going to lie. She was a ten-thousand-watt bulb in a small space, radiating heat and light.

I'll be honest. I'm faithful, but I was tempted. She looked good.

"You're gorgeous, Hayley, and I'd love to see my dick in your mouth."

She brightened.

"But there's no stopping Chelsea and Buddy, not until they're ready, and if I remember correctly from the dinner, Buddy was already finished with you. Chelsea and Buddy always had the sex part down but couldn't manage the relationship part. Well, now Chelsea's with me. She's got the relationship part covered. Now the sex with Buddy is free and clear. They won't stop."

She stood, turned serious and nasty in an instant.

"They better," she snarled. "I snatched Buddy's phone a few days ago and sent myself all those videos and pictures. I know Jerry has more and he's easily bought. You refuse a blowjob from me? Fine. Tell Chelsea if she doesn't end it with Buddy right fucking now, all this shit gets dripped on the Internet. I'll make sure everyone in your zip code, hell, everyone in your city sees that slut in action."

She was furious. Declining her blowjob was the last straw. She was angry and hurt and completely serious.

"All right," I said, backing down. "I'll talk to Chelsea. She won't like it and neither will Buddy. You might convince them to call it off but Buddy will probably take it personally and blame you for the loss of Chelsea. He may never see you again."

She scoffed.

"For a week, maybe. Two weeks, tops. You should have accepted my offer. Buddy will be upset but soon he'll get horny and nobody is as good in bed as me. Nobody. He'll come sniffing around and all will be forgiven. In time, he'll forget her and think only of me."

I had my doubts but those videos and photos had to remain hidden. Hayley was right: their release would ruin all of us.

Chapter 9

I was in our home office writing an email when Chelsea walked in and slapped a check on my desk.

"That's a big number," I said, looking at the check.

"That's from Papa to me," she replied. "Jon took his cut, I gave twenty-percent to Paws of Gray's Harbor, and that's what was left over."

I looked at it again.

"We should celebrate," she said. "On me."

"Every celebration for the next ten years should be on you."

She looked embarrassed.

"Papa owned land by the railyard that I knew nothing about," she said. "He owned a second house, too."

She stopped talking. I looked up. She lifted the check as if to say something about it but stopped, her eyes locked to mine.

We were four weeks removed from Hayley's visit, four weeks removed from the last time Buddy came over. They'd stopped cold turkey that day. Buddy was furious and Chelsea was terrified, begging him to placate Hayley. He begrudgingly agreed. Since that day Chelsea and I made passionate love more often but who survives on dessert? She was hornier than ever, but I'm her loving husband. She yearned for something more. She said nothing about the loss she felt but I sensed her need. The unspoken question hung in the air between us: Since Buddy is unavailable, would someone be allowed to take his place? We held each other's gaze.

"Who do you have in mind?" I asked.

This was one of those rare times in a marriage when the two people know they are meant for each other. My intuition led me to make the jump and ask the question. In that instant, she recognized that I understood her, all the way down, that I saw into her heart and accepted her needs. She almost burst into tears.

"I love you," she croaked.

"I know."

If life was a movie, the next scene would have been me taking her into my arms and making love to her. But life isn't a movie, and I still waited on her answer to my question.

"Who?" I asked again.

"You won't like it," she said, voice quivering.

I waited.

"Jack," she said.

My mind turned cartwheels.

"My brother?" I exclaimed, dumbfounded.

"No!" she said, shocked that I thought she could go there. "Jack, my employer and boss."

I felt relief she did not desire my brother, but for only an instant.

Her boss? The complications were many and severe.

"I've always wanted him," she added, voice soft. "From the first day he interviewed me."

"I had no idea."

"That should tell you how badly I've wanted him. I kept it to myself. I've told you about other men I've found hot but not Jack. He's something special."

"What's special about Jack?" I asked. "Is he super handsome?"

"Jack is handsome," she continued. "But that would never be enough to get me this hot for a man. He's nailed a few of the women in our building and they've gossiped to me about what he's like in bed. I saw him naked my first year with the company. Remember that going-away party for Charles? I got lost in that big house and stumbled into a bedroom where Nancy and Jack were having sex. They had no idea I was there. I stayed a minute to watch and saw some of the hottest sex ever. Jack's a man. His body is incredible but he mind-fucked her too, taking his time, teasing until she begged for his cock. He turned her world upside-down. I'd like him to do the same to my world."

My wife leaned both hands on my desk, her arms squishing her tits until they looked like they might spill out of her house dress. Her eyes danced. She licked her lips.

"Weeks later," she went on. "I was chatting with Janet and could tell she was dying to talk to someone. She'd started an affair with Jack and needed to confess. I played the good friend, asking lots of intimate questions, but I was feeding my own lust. She described everything in vivid detail. Each word out of her mouth made me want the man more. Each word made me feel like I knew him better. My infatuation grew into raw desire. It got so bad I'd blush if I passed him in the halls. I started avoiding him and he noticed so of course he started flirting with me. I get soaked every time."

"I'm sure you are wet right now," I said.

"I'm sure I am. In all my fantasies about him, I never thought there was a chance. I couldn't picture a scenario where something might happen in real life. I am loyal. I'd never cheat. But now I know I can fuck a man in front of you and you'll like it."

"Depends on how I feel about the man," I said, trying to claim a square of ground for myself.

"No," she said. "Depends on how I feel about the man. I've frightened you by voicing my true feelings for Jack but if you can survive watching me fuck Buddy, you can survive watching me fuck any man on Earth."

I kicked myself. How had I not seen this coming? I'd settled into the comfort of a known lover for her. Buddy was not a real threat. In the back of my mind I'd imagined she'd run her course with the unsophisticated dolt, grow bored and annoyed, and stop. We'd move on, Buddy nothing more than a wild and capricious chapter added to the mix of our lives. We'd look back at the crazy things we'd done but never repeated. Why would we? The planets would never align like that again. I'd never be discovered transporting a bag of coke and have that used to coerce sex from my wife with an ex-boyfriend. It's absurd. I'd not thought it through but instinctively knew it couldn't go on. In my gut, I knew it was a freak event.

"He asks me out all the time," she continued. "I never told you that. He knows I'm married but doesn't care. I always reject his offers but maybe next time I should say yes. What do you think? I could tell him you work too much and I'm lonely but have no intention of losing my marriage. He'd jump at that. Hot sex with no strings attached?"

"What man wouldn't?" I chimed in, my stomach a churning ball of angst.

She sensed my dismay and gently pet my hair.

"You're upset," she said. "You're worried, fearful Jack means more than Buddy. He doesn't. I swear. It's just a school-girl crush and I'm acting on it because I can. Thank you for that, by the way. Wives don't get to make love to anyone but their husbands. I know how lucky I am."

I tried to swallow but couldn't. I tried to speak but my lips were glued shut. This felt so different than what she'd done with Buddy.

"How will you make it happen?" I croaked.

"Easy," she chirped. "I'll wear my green dress, the one with the lace neckline. He'll get a glimpse of my cleavage and come hunting. He loves that dress. Men are so easy. He'll make suggestions and drop a few innuendos, waiting for me to tell him to be quiet and behave, only this time I'll ask when and where."

"That seems fast."

"This has built for years," she said. "I never expected opportunity to arrive but then the thing with Buddy shattered our rules. If Buddy can fuck me, why can't another man fuck me? Why can't any man fuck me?"

She waited like I could somehow answer. When I didn't, she continued.

"Yes," she agreed. "It is fast, but why wait? I can fuck him after work tomorrow."

Her eyes were a little wild. She had already moved on with her plans. I was shaken. I saw how she already imagined Jack between her legs, Jack looming over her, Jack, hard cock straining to reach her, throbbing, eager to get buried in her cunt.

I shook my head. I was losing it. All at once the road ahead shot to the horizon and it was littered with lovers for Chelsea. After Buddy, was Jack. After Jack, why not anyone else? I saw a line of naked faceless men standing with dicks hard, waiting their turn. I was frightened and anxious but worst of all was the twisted part of me that wanted her to do it.

She studied my face.

"Is this more difficult than Buddy?" she asked. "Given my history with that man, my passion and deep emotional connection, I'd think Jack would be easy."

Deep emotional connection? This was getting worse by the minute.

"I didn't realize you had a deep emotional connection to Buddy. I thought he was annoying."

"Completely," she admitted. "But you saw what he does to me. I think I may have imprinted on him in my youth, like a duckling. I get wet if I see him. Hell, I get wet if I think about him. I'm probably wetter right now just from saying his name. Buddy has power over me. You know that. You saw it with your own eyes. Jack is just fun. Don't worry about Jack. If you need to know which man has the potential to disrupt our marriage and cause problems, it's Buddy, not Jack."

Had I read her wrong? Was Buddy a threat and I'd missed it completely? Or was she only saying these things to reassure me about Jack? She was hot to fuck the man. Maybe she was trying to soothe my fears and increase her chances that it would actually happen.

She came around my side of the desk. She slid her hand over my shoulder and down my chest, reaching for my crotch. She slid inside my shorts and found my penis and testicles, fondling both.

"Should I bring Jack back here, so you can watch? Or should I go somewhere with him and bring stories back to you?"

This was really happening.

"I should just ask him if he'd mind. Maybe we can have a threesome, although something tells me Jack's not like that. He's alpha. He'll want me all to himself. Might be an ego trip for him if you're watching. I'll ask tomorrow."

Chelsea dropped my genitalia and kissed the top of my head. She moved around to the front of my desk. Our eyes met. If he came over, Jack would be the second male to enter our home with the intention of fucking my wife. I knew Chelsea's mind already raced, sorting through details and making plans.

She works with him every day. I'll wonder if something happened each time she returns home. I'd never be allowed to relax. Every time she didn't answer her phone. Every time she was late getting home. Every business trip she took, shopping trip she went on, or visit to the gym: I'd wonder what was happening every time she was away from me.

"I'll text him now," she said, withdrawing her phone.

My nonreaction was consent to her. She tapped keys on her phone, chuckling at one point. She hit send and dropped it into a pocket. She smiled.

"What sounds good for dinner?" she asked.

"What message did you send?"

"I'm thinking we have spaghetti delivered from Cascade Pizza."

"What message did you send?"

Her phone chimed. That fast.

"Oh, look," she said, eyes turning bright. "It's Jack."

Her face beamed. His rapid response thrilled and pleased her. She read silently, grin spreading slowly.

"Tonight," she said, looking up. "He says you can watch but don't touch him."

"What? Wait. Tonight? Why would I want to touch him?"

She wasn't listening, moving out the door.

"I need to shower," she mumbled. "He'll be here soon."

I found myself alone in my office. I stared down at the check. What the hell just happened? Jack was on his way over to fuck my wife? I was caught in a tornado, a riptide, fighting to regain my footing. I sat bewildered. Chelsea was in the shower, preparing, primping and preening for a new man to bury his cock in her.

But that's not what happened.

Chapter 10

Chelsea answered the door wearing lingerie. The thin blue lace flowed over and around her body like a sheen of sweat, accenting her curves, revealing a hint of nipple and the small vertical slit of her bald pussy. Her perfume floated in the air, teasing, suggesting the passion we all knew was coming. She'd gone all out, preparing herself like an offering to the gods. I'd watched her do it, seated on our bed, staring into the bathroom. My dick had risen as I'd observed my wife's careful attention to details, knowing every move she made was meant to tantalize and arouse a man, and that man was not me.

That made everything hotter.

Lust fueled her. The tightness of her teddy, the color she chose, the way she did her makeup, the scent with which she adorned her skin. The man was seduced already. She had no need to catch his eye or convince him. He was driving here to fuck her and we all knew it. Her selections were not to lure, they were to heighten his arousal and by doing so, heighten her own, because the more excited he became, the more excited she would become.

They'd wanted each other for years. Chelsea had held back an ocean of yearning with pure willpower. The cravings had built in them both and now, at last, the monster would be set free.

The doorbell sounded far too soon. I floated as in a dream, following Chelsea; her, marching to delight, me, marching to the gallows. She faced me just before opening the door, nervous, hopeful, and hot.

"How do I look?" she asked.

I couldn't answer. My heart ached to see her displayed like this. She watched me devour her and gasped at the carnivore lurking in my eyes. Nothing more need be said. She turned the knob, stepping away to display herself. Jack, wearing a double-breasted suit, his lime green Lamborghini Huracán parked in front of our home. He was cocky, confident, and grinning. He saw my wife, his eyes darting to all the tastefully exposed important parts, and froze. His face fell.

"Chelsea—" he began, stopping to send his eyes roaming over her again. "Chel. Jesus Christ. I knew you were hot under those boring work clothes but wow, not like this. You're stunning."

I desperately wished she'd close the front door before a neighbor saw her standing there in front of him like that. She took a step back, silently inviting him in. He glanced at me over her shoulder and just as quickly ignored me again, stepping into our home and taking the door from her, assertively closing it.

The moment hummed. The air around them was filled with tension. He met her eyes but then sent his gaze crawling every inch of her flesh. This was Thursday. Tomorrow morning he'd see her in the office and he wanted to burn the image of what she looked like under her clothes into his brain. We'd already changed her working life forever. Jack reached for his tie, ready to undress and get to it. Chelsea stopped him.

"Let me," she purred.

My wife started with his belt buckle. Her trembling hands moved carefully, enjoying the moment as much as he. He kicked his shoes off and she loosened the knot of his tie.

"You can begin with my shoulder straps," she said.

"No," he replied. "I'm leaving you dressed like that. Snaps at the crotch?"

Chelsea nodded once.

"Good. You look spectacular."

Snaps at the crotch?

She'd never worn this teddy for me. I imagined she'd purchased it not too long ago, waiting for the right night with me which never arrived. Then Buddy happened and now Jack and suddenly tonight was the perfect night. This delightful blue surprise was intended for me but served to him.

My mind drifted, fantasizing about the night we could have had. When I came back to myself Chelsea squatted before Jack, tugging boxer briefs down his fit legs, exposing his cock and balls. He was hairy but kept everything trimmed close to the skin. He was partially swollen already, dangling a penis only slightly bigger than mine.

"At last," Chelsea murmured.

She tried to slip him into her mouth but he made her stand, lifting under her arms. They kissed softly but the passion swiftly grew. His hands roamed her body, lingering over her lace covered mounds, kneading her lovely tits and teasing the nipples. He was getting hard fast. He faced her away and circled her shoulders with his arms, his cock rising between her legs.

"I can't wait much longer," my wife moaned.

"You'll wait," he said.

He gently pumped his hips, sliding his penis over her clit and labia, teasing a soft groan from her.

"Put it in," Chelsea whined.

"Not yet," he said. "I've chased you for years but you thought it would be fun to dance just out of my reach. I've fantasized about this moment so many times. No way will I allow it to pass in an instant. I don't know why you changed your mind and I don't care. I'm going to fuck you all night."

Chelsea's body shuddered. She melted a bit. Jack looked at me.

"You going to say anything?" he asked.

"Nope," I replied.

That was good enough for him. He slid his palms over her breasts and down her stomach until they rested around her waist. He curled his hips under, thrusting his penis through her gap and two inches out the front.

"Tell your husband to get on the floor and suck my dick."

Chelsea's eyes darted to mine. I prayed she knew better than to ask that of me. I wouldn't do it. My wife held my gaze, reading me. I was shocked she even contemplated the idea. Would that turn her on? She understood my look.

"Wouldn't you rather have me do that?" she asked. "I've wanted to suck your dick from the minute I met you. I'm sure I'm better than my husband."

"I'll let you soon enough," he said. "You're not the first wife I've banged. Some husbands like sucking the cock that's going to fuck their woman. It's a turn on for everyone. He should try it."

Chelsea turned in his hands to face him, guiding his chin with a knuckle for a kiss, a deflecting move that worked. Distracted, he forgot about my mouth on his dick and pulled my wife firmly against his body. Chelsea slipped a hand between them and nudged his dick up at the tip, trying to capture his cock. She almost succeeded. Jack stepped away.

"Let's take this to the bedroom," I said quickly, disbelieving my own words.

Chelsea took his hand and Jack allowed himself to be led. I watched them vanish down the hallway but I was reluctant to follow. I did not like the man or his attitude. I could not see what Chelsea saw or understand her desires for him. To me he was cocky and arrogant. Maybe she found that level of confidence attractive but I thought it just made him a douche.

I dropped onto our sofa and stared at the floor. I felt torn and conflicted. Suddenly all of this had gone too far. Chelsea was my loving bride. She shouldn't be fucking another man. It was unnatural. I couldn't bear seeing her with Jack but I hated leaving her alone with him. I sat in our living room, vexed and troubled, when her soft and heartfelt moan floated down the hall. Whatever he was doing to her, she liked it, and a lot. Images flashed through my mind: Jack fucking Chelsea from behind, Jack between her legs, sliding in and out. The scales tipped and I rose from the couch. Better to be present, to face it like a man, than to hide out here with my anxiety. I stood. I took one step. I heard a noise outside.

The front door flew open and Buddy barged in. My jaw dropped.

"Who's that guy?" he growled. "Why's she dressed like that for him?"

Jealous rage contorted his face. Buddy had been watching our house. She's married to me but he still felt he owned her. Fucking a woman does that to men. Once we pump our sperm into her, she's ours. He did not wait for me to recover from my shock, stomping towards the hall in search of Chelsea.

My instinct was to intercept him, to block his path and deny him entrance. But then I considered I'd be protecting Jack's right to fuck my wife, and, given how I felt about the man, why would I do that?

I stepped aside, allowing Buddy to pass and then smiling as the shouting erupted. Everyone yelled over each other and I wondered what he'd walked in on. Soon Chelsea's voice rose above theirs and then a strained quiet descended. She was talking now, but too low for me to hear. I waited, allowing this drama to play out. The silence continued and curiosity finally moved my feet.

Jack sat with his back to the headboard. Chelsea, naked and on all fours, her lingerie scattered around the bedroom floor, had her head in his lap, bobbing, sucking his dick. She'd aimed her wet pussy at Buddy standing at the foot of the bed. He was nearly undressed. Jack watched him strip over the top of Chelsea's raised ass. As Buddy's underwear came down, Jack eyed the man's long cock.

"You took her virginity with that?" he asked.

Buddy nodded, tossing his boxers onto the pile of his clothes.

"Yeah. She took to it right away."

"You've got a beautiful cock," Jack admitted. "I'm not gay or anything but that's the truth."

"Thanks."

Buddy took his dick in hand and began stroking. Chelsea had saved the situation by offering herself to both men. She worked Jack's cock and lifted her hips higher, wiggling her butt to entice Buddy. It worked. Buddy climbed on the bed and buried his face in her pussy. Chelsea moaned softly, allowing him to lick for a moment, then pulled her mouth off Jack.

"Get that cock in me," Chelsea said. "You don't need to get me wet."

Buddy had grown stiff enough for penetration and rose to stand over her. He took his dick in hand again and bent his knees, rubbing the head around her sopping hole. He found the little dip and pushed. Jack rested a hand on the back of her head and nudged her lower, guiding his erection into her mouth again. Buddy sank his cock in her pussy as Jack pushed deeper in her mouth. Chelsea moaned with so much feeling I felt my dick jump and begin to swell. Jack forced her head down and Buddy held her hips and pushed all the way in. My wife's moan turned into a groan, stuffed with hard cock. The men kept her like that as they pumped their dicks. Jack stopped first, pulling his dick free.

"I want a taste," he said, rolling onto his back and moving into a sixty-nine with Chelsea. She dove on his dick waving in the air and he planted his hot mouth on her clit, dangerously close to Buddy's sliding cock. He must have had more talent than Buddy because Chelsea gasped and ground her hips against his face. She was taking his cock to the root each time her lips traveled the length of his shaft.

They hit a rhythm like that, moving as one tangled ball of bodies. Chelsea forced Jack to the back of her throat and held him there, groaning and convulsing as she orgasmed around the dicks inside her. Buddy lengthened his stroke, plowing her hole from labia to cervix. Her orgasm spiked. Her groan became a smothered scream.

Buddy's cock slipped out on a backstroke and drove downward into Jack's mouth.

I held my breath, waiting for the explosion of righteous indignation. One or both of those men would surely blow up with rage.

Nope.

Buddy looked startled and almost embarrassed but Jack dented his cheeks and sucked hard. He reached up to fondle Buddy's hanging ball sack and then took more of the man's inches, sucking hard on all he could get. Chelsea, feeling empty, went looking for the cock she missed, lifting her ass to look under and between her body and Jack's. She saw Buddy's cock in Jack's mouth.

"Oh fuck yeah," she said. "Everybody loves that man's dick."

Her expression said she understood Jack's desire all too well. She quickly spun around to add her mouth, lying atop Jack to help him suck and lick. Buddy looked slightly uncomfortable but the pleasure was too great. He'd worry about gay shit later. Knowing Buddy, he'd never think about it at all. Chelsea and Jack worshiped the big cock, now fully erect and throbbing, running tongues over raised veins and slathering hanging balls. Buddy just closed his eyes and took it but Jack and Chelsea looked at each other with glee.

"Help him fuck me," Chelsea said.

"All right," Jack responded.

Just like that, Buddy was the winner. In the male versus male competition for the right to mate, Jack had realized Buddy was the better man. Maybe he caught a glimpse of the connection they shared just like I had, or maybe he just deferred to the superior male. I don't know.

Chelsea rolled onto her back and spread her legs. Jack knelt beside her, guiding Buddy closer while sucking the head. He took Chelsea's legs and opened them, gripping Buddy's erection and pulling him forward. He spread her pussy with one hand and steered Buddy closer with the other. Buddy was the last to understand his own victory but he got it now, looking prideful as he conquered my wife. Jack had wanted me to suck his dick but instead had fallen victim to Buddy, just like Chelsea. I was a mere spectator to it all.

With me as an audience and Jack as an avid fan, Buddy began to fuck Chelsea like he believed he could break our marriage and make her his. His hips became battering rams, dropping his weight on her and sending his cock into her womb. Chelsea cried out each time, a mixture of pleasure and pain, but clawed at his thighs and begged him to fuck harder and faster. Buddy lost his mind. He grabbed her throat with both hands and pinned her to the bed. He pounded my wife, growling like an animal when she climaxed around his driving cock. Jack watched with maniac eyes, enthralled. He stroked Chelsea's heaving tits and teased her nipples. I was left dumbfounded. He'd wanted my wife for years but easily gave her up. Had I subconsciously done the same? Is that how it worked on a primitive primate level? Are we just animals underneath it all?

Buddy choked Chelsea but she only urged him on. He released her, flipping my wife onto her stomach and driving his cock into her cunt again. He fucked her hard from behind, slapping her butt and pulling her hair like a horse's reins. He shoved a thumb up her ass and hammered her hole and Chelsea orgasmed again. She was a ragdoll under him, fuck meat, a whore that fucked for free. Buddy pounded her until she forgot everything in life except the dick filling her insides.

My wife came again.

She screeched and clawed, pussy stuffed and pinned. Jack held his dick to her mouth and she greedily sucked, eager for more cock. I wondered if Hayley was having Buddy followed and knew he was here. Would pictures and video of Buddy and Chelsea hit the Internet in hours? If Chelsea had wondered the same she'd clearly made her choice when she offered herself to both men.

Jack got too aroused and grabbed her head with both hands, grunting and mumbling and thrusting his hips. He filled her mouth with jizz, hips jerking as he unloaded. Chelsea gulped eagerly, worried some might spill, but Buddy looked triumphant. Jack was finished. Buddy knew his seed alone would occupy her womb. We all knew mine would not invade her until sometime later. These two men would fuck Chelsea all night, and that's what they did. Jack got hard again but the line had been drawn: Chelsea's pussy belonged to Buddy. We all knew it and we all knew that's what Chelsea wanted. She sucked Jack off again hours later and just before dawn she gave him her ass, but these were scraps, these were consolation prizes. Jack had sucked Buddy's cock and Chelsea had relegated the man to second place.

To the victor went the spoils and her womb belonged to Buddy.

Chapter 11

Not too long ago, as we stood naked in the kitchen, Buddy had warned me that from that moment on each time he fucked Chelsea he'd try to put a baby in her. That thought had clung to me like cobwebs.

Tonight, every thrust, every grunt, every drop of leaked precum had sent a shiver through me. Chelsea kept her legs spread wide to the man. Each time he repositioned her body she moved quickly to comply. Jack left after claiming her ass, defeated but happy.

Now Buddy and Chelsea were once again face to face, the lusty, hungry couple. Chelsea had her legs folded casually around his waist, her hips rising gently each time he sank his erection deep. They gazed at each other, connected in many ways. Buddy murmured something and Chelsea pretended to slap his face. He spoke again and she seemed doubtful.

"No way," she said. "No way possible."

Buddy muttered something else and Chelsea turned to me.

"Did you give Buddy permission to get me pregnant?" she asked.

I hesitated.

"No," I answered. "Not exactly."

She smiled.

"There's no in-between, Darling," she said. "Yes or no?"

I tried to remember the conversation word-for-word. I hadn't agreed to a pregnancy but I had admitted I wanted him to inseminate her, knowing a baby might result. Those seemed like different things to me but maybe they weren't. My balls suddenly tingled. Chelsea's face glowed, her eyes danced with a little madness. We were way off the edge of the map now.

"I guess I did," I confessed. "Indirectly. Yes."

"Oh my God," she exhaled, head falling back to the pillow. "Oh. My. God."

She gazed up at Buddy with a new light in her eyes. For her, this was the best of two worlds: scorching passion with the man that thrilled her like no other, and emotional and financial stability with a man she trusted like no other. I had her heart, Buddy had her body. She started rocking her hips against him, fucking herself on his cock. She lifted her legs higher on his back, offering her pussy, coaxing him deeper.

"You want to put a baby in me?" she teased.

"Hell yeah," he said. "I always have."

"You'd make a shit husband," she teased. "A shit father too."

"No doubt," he agreed, pumping faster. "I'm glad we got that out of the way."

They stopped talking. Chelsea's lips parted as her arousal shot skyward. This was fucking with a purpose. I saw the change come over them. On each thrust he'd plant his cock head against her cervix and push, holding it there for a heartbeat. Her pussy turned sopping wet. Her heels dug into his back as she forced him all the way in, eyes wide, mouth open.

They were fucking to conceive.

My dick turned hard in my pants.

A connection grew between them like electricity. Sparks flew. Their bodies moved in rhythm, undulating, chasing pleasures and working towards creation. It was beautiful and terrifying. My mind repeated the same nightmare refrain as I watched: Buddy will impregnate her, Buddy will impregnate her, Buddy will impregnate her. Over and over my brain recited the same mantra. I perfectly understood the seriousness of what I witnessed but allowed it to happen anyway.

It was too much. I stripped. I stripped and took my pulsating penis in hand, stroking to their tempo. Their bodies writhed. Chelsea's look of absolute pleasure squeezed my heart painfully. His cock tortured her even as it pleased, stretching, reaching deep, probing, touching places far inside. His scrotum was tight to his body, testicles holding a deluge of sperm, stored and primed, ready.

Chelsea gripped his shoulders, slapping her cunt against his pelvis, meeting his thrusts and not shirking.

"Shoot it," she hissed. "Empty those fat balls. We've fucked a million times, Baby, but never like this. Always worried, always avoiding. Never trying."

Sweet Jesus, she was killing me. In youth, they'd taken steps to prevent pregnancy. Now, in our bed, they chased it.

Buddy fucked faster. His shiny cock looked hard as glass. Chelsea reached behind and grabbed his ass, a hand on each butt cheek. She helped drive his cock deep on every thrust and then hold him there for half a second, his penis head mashed against her cervix. He'd ejaculate directly into her uterus. He grabbed her tits, mauling the firm orbs, and then leaned down for a passionate kiss.

"Give it to me," she said.

Her pussy was too much to resist. He'd lasted as long as possible but the wet walls wrapped around his length coaxed a mighty orgasm at last.

I whimpered as he threw his head back, thrust several times quickly, bowed his back to push his cock all the way in and shouted as he exploded. Chelsea whispered rapidly, urging him to shoot and keep shooting, begging him to give her every drop. Her arms and legs coiled around his body and held him close, her hips pushed her pussy as far down his length as possible and held him in there as he spurted, and he spurt over and over and over.

Cum leaked around his shaft, dripping from her flooded cunt. I'd timed my strokes to theirs and when Buddy began ejaculating into Chelsea, I began spraying sperm into the air, white frosting running down my knuckles. My eyes were riveted to the white drippings, to her tight hole stretched almost white, to his bulging veins and throbbing cock, injecting her womb full.

Chapter 12

Buddy stayed the night. Chelsea was wildly horny, giving Buddy only short recovery times before luring him into sex again. I give the man credit. I see why the women of Aberdeen pursued him. He wasn't much to look at these days but, when inspired, he swung a mean cock, and Chelsea inspired him. They fucked for hours. They fucked to exhaustion. Only when Chelsea was sure she'd drained every drop from his balls did she relent and allow him to leave. He collected his car keys and staggered away, shoeless, shirtless, driving from our home and into the night.

Chelsea was unrepentant and unashamed, tossing the covers back and inviting me into the bed she'd just desecrated. I presumed she wanted me to add my load to his, at least providing a chance the baby was mine. Multiple wet spots made maneuvering around them impossible so I gave up and planted my knees in their juices. Chelsea and I made out for a long time but then she placed a hand on my head and nudged me lower. For now it was my tongue she was most interested in, not my penis.

"What?" I asked. "Now? You just got royally fucked."

"That's why now," she said. "I was so obsessed with making him cum I haven't orgasmed in over an hour. I need it, Baby. Your soft magical tongue will be perfect. Come on, you've done it before."

I never sucked his dick but I still ended up tasting his dick. Her pussy was a sopping hole. I licked tentatively at first but the sounds she makes always get to me. Soon I was charging ahead, tongue probing four inches up her slippery hole, tickling her inner walls, making her moan, inching her closer to orgasm, which I delayed for the pleasure of eating her. I'd feel her cunt tighten around my tongue and so I'd back away, slow down, draw squeals of frustration from her. I slipped down and tongued her asshole, pushing a finger in and discovering Jack had left behind a lake of semen. My wife carried sperm in every opening, none of it mine, yet. I pondered which hole to use when my dick got hard again.

At last her body could take no more. I had her on the edge, dancing along the cliff, over-stimulated to the point anything more would set her off. I returned to her sweet pussy and used my tongue like a squirming penis, fucking her while nibbling her clit. She sucked a lungful of air and held it, sucked air and held it, sucked air and let loose a howl of orgasmic ecstasy that shook our bedroom walls. She squirted a gush of mixed juice into my mouth, which I swallowed.

All at once insight clicked and I understood her nickname: Tarp.

Sprung a leak indeed. Chelsea is always ready for sex, wet in an instant and soon sopping. Clever Jerry noticed and coined the name.

Her climax lasted a long time. I continued teasing and licking until she writhed and fought me, shoving my face away. She lay still, chest heaving, legs quivering.

After that she was all loving and cuddles, nuzzling me, snuggling. She was happy and content. She wormed her body as close to mine as she could.

"What if?" she mumbled, her head resting on my chest.

"What if what?" I asked.

"What if I'm pregnant? What if Buddy got me pregnant?"

There was no fear in her voice, no regret. She was utterly unashamed. She'd checked with me first. She'd done nothing wrong. More than that, she was at peace with Buddy and the idea.

"What if its already started?" she asked. "Hours have passed. What if I'm already making a baby right now?"

I heard a funny vibration in her tone, like just saying the words excited her. She marveled at the prospect, amazed at her own womanly powers, thrilled by the possibility.

"You'd like that?" I asked. "A baby from either of us? Husband or ex?"

She hesitated, worried for me, weighing her answer, proceeding cautiously.

"Well," she began. "Yeah. Other than Papa Joe, you two have been the most important men in my life. I'm not in love with him like I am with you but, yeah, I'd be fine with a Buddy baby. We wouldn't need to know which of you fathered the child. It wouldn't matter. I'm not hoping it would be his and not yours. I'm saying either would be good. We'd just raise it as our own, right?"

"Of course."

She hugged me hard.

"You should fuck me," she said. "Right now. I should have both of you in me. Who will win? God that's hot. Just saying those words is crazy. I never imagined we'd be in a place like this. You and Buddy both fucking me? Christ."

"I'll need more time," I said, displaying my limp penis.

She closed her eyes, lost in a ménage à trois fantasy where the hot stud impregnates her and the dutiful good husband helps her raise the child. A slow smile curled her lips. She slipped a hand down to tease her clit.

"I want more sex," she said.

"You need sleep."

"I do, but you guys have awakened the slut. I feel it in my bones. Too bad Jack left. I bet he's ready to go again."

"He sucked Buddy's cock," I said. "I did not see that one coming."

"Me either. Talk about hot. I want Buddy more than ever now. Even other men defer to him. You should suck Buddy's cock too but I know you never will. I think it'd be hot. I picture you getting Buddy hard so he can fuck me with it. Will you think about it? Jack was so submissive, like Buddy was a king and Jack knew he needed to bow before him."

"That makes Buddy more attractive to you?"

"Much. Women want the man that everybody wants."

She rolled onto her back, staring down her body. She rested a hand on her tummy above her womb. I knew what she was thinking. She turned to me.

"One more time?" she asked.

I kissed her shoulder and trailed kisses headed south. Her pussy was slick and slippery but tasted good. This time I ate slowly. I didn't allow her to orgasm for an hour.

Chapter 13

Ben opened my office door and stepped quickly inside. He closed it behind him.

"Stop doing that," I grumbled.

"Congrats, man," he blurted, sweating.

"Are you high on coke?" I asked. "At work?"

"No. Maybe. Yeah. You want some?"

"No, Ben. Congrats for what?"

"I just saw Chelsea in the parking lot. She's got a baby bump. I didn't know."

"Yes," I said. "I had lunch with my wife. She does have a baby bump. She's four months pregnant now and you've seen that bump several times."

"Shit, man. Sorry. I only just noticed."

"I told you three months ago."

"I forgot."

I waved his stupidity away. How was this goofball my boss?

"What do you want?" I asked.

"There's some guy in the lobby asking for you. Says his name is Buddy."

"I'll meet him," I said.

I left my desk and Ben followed. I told him this was private and he veered away but kept an eye on me. I opened the frosted glass door and said hello to Buddy.

He'd cleaned up: new clothes, shave and a haircut, maybe even lost a few pounds. I invited him back and closed my office door behind us. I gestured to the chair in front of my desk.

"Have a seat," I said.

"Is it mine?" he asked, before his butt hit the cushion.

I did not flinch.

"Probably," I said "You fucked her a lot more often than I did."

He stared at the carpet, shaken.

"A baby," he murmured. "A child. Jesus. What should I do?"

I shook my head.

"There's nothing for you to do," I said. "Chelsea and I have it handled. We'll raise the child as our own. You won't be involved. Don't worry about anything. You'll have no responsibilities."

I seemed calm but my heart raced. Every time I wondered if it was Buddy that got Chelsea pregnant, I became intensely horny. I controlled myself in front of him but I already knew Chelsea would be sucking my dick a long time tonight. Not that she'd mind. She carried a child not knowing if it was mine or Buddy's. This left her titillated and lustful every waking minute. She said she felt raunchy and slutty and at the same time womanly and feminine. Our sex life had never been so good.

"It changes you," Buddy said. "It's like: whoa! You know?"

"Yes, I do. It's very serious."

Bless his heart. Never eloquent, trying to understand these deep feelings and put them into words left him bewildered. He got points for trying though.

"It is serious," he said. "I thought about it and decided I needed to get my shit together. I needed to grow up. I'm sorry I towed your car twice. I love Chelsea but she chooses you. That's what she wants. You are much better for her, I know that, but I gotta tell you, I get so happy when I think it was me that put a baby in her. Like I know there'll be this mix of me and her out in the world, walking around, living their life. That's awesome. I feel real good about that."

He was killing me but I kept my face bland. The more he talked about it the more memories there were of him fucking her passing through my mind. I saw his cock pumping sperm into her with crystal clarity.

"Anyway," he said, standing. "I'll keep it short. I'm sorry I was such an asshole to you and I hope you and Chelsea have a great life. I won't interfere. If there's ever anything you need, call me. I'm only two hours away."

He reached into a pants pocket and withdrew a sandwich bag of broken electrical parts. He dropped it on my desk.

"What's that?" I asked.

"Hayley's phone," he replied. "Also, I deleted everything Jerry had. I cleaned my phone too but I'm keeping that stuff. Chelsea is too hot to wipe away."

"That's generous. Thank you."

He nodded slowly.

"I made sure Hayley hadn't sent anything off her phone," he continued. "I double checked Jerry to make sure what I asked was done. You're good."

"Thank you."

We shook hands and I walked him to the lobby. We said goodbye and I returned to my office and closed the door. My penis was a steel rod in my pants. I found it impossible to hate the guy. He didn't know it, but Chelsea and I had discussed Buddy at lunch. I'd admitted that after giving birth and when she was ready, she could drive to Aberdeen to spend time with the man. Her face had lit up. I'd caught her by surprise.

"I thought the pregnancy would break you," she'd said. "It was an exciting fantasy before I conceived but after, when reality hit, I expected you to say no more Buddy."

I'd kissed the back of her hand.

"I went the other way with it," I said. "In fact, I'm thinking we should start on baby number two soon. You said you wanted three or four kids. Imagine if Buddy knows from the start that he and I are trying to impregnate you again. The man will be a beast."

She'd shivered as a wave of pleasure jangled her nerves.

"Holy shit," she'd said.

"He and I can fuck you together or separately. Now that I understand how things are, I'll let you spend the night with him while I stay home to take care of our child. I'll send you to his place for the weekend knowing the crazy sex we'll have when you get home. It will be just like old times for you and him without the annoyance and irritation. When you get sick of him, you can just drive home to me. How's that sound?"

Chelsea was rocked. She looked dizzy.

"Heavenly," she'd said.

End.
