

Madison Loves To Ride

MATTHEW LEE

Madison Loves To Ride

By Matthew Lee

BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com

Chapter 1

I pressed the intercom button and let Abby, the receptionist, know I'd be ready for the next client in a minute. She said he was running late so that would be fine. As I refilled the lotions and lit the candles. My mind drifted. Last night I tried to talk to my husband, Robert, about some things I'd been feeling lately. I'm self-conscious about growing older and I went to him for a little reassurance.

In high school, I was a gymnast. Same for college. We married right after graduation and I got pregnant way too soon. Our plans for world travel quietly died and so did my plans for a career. I gained weight from the pregnancy and I still had plenty of it. That was eighteen years ago. Our daughter Jessica has but one year of high school remaining. I told Robert I felt out of shape, pensive, and lethargic.

"Well, at least your tits are bigger," he'd said cheerfully.

I wiped my hands on a paper towel and looked down. Yes, my boobs were bigger, but when I'm pouring my insecurities out to my husband, I'm not looking for a comment about body parts. Jessica will head for college in a year. Where will that leave me? My husband has a career. I'm a stay-at-home mother.

Back in high school and college I was wild. My girlfriends and I ran those schools like Queen Bees. I never paid for anything; drink, smoke, or pill, and I had the hottest guys chasing me. They chased my girlfriends too, but I was the one most likely to let them catch me. My friends always teased me for thinking like a man.

Robert knows I like sex. I can't keep that hidden. He sees how I act in the bedroom. But he has no idea how deep it runs in me. He's a kind and selfless lover and I'm crazy about him, but a party girl lives inside me and these days she's feeling restless. I feel like I'm on the threshold of a new chapter.

I threw the paper towel in the can and checked my pale green smock in the mirror; time for my next client. I admit I like my bigger boobs.

I'd graduated with a degree in physical therapy and then forgotten all about it, as my baby consumed all my time. Robert accepted a position with VuTech and over the years moved up the ranks. As Jessica grew, I saw my youth fade and reluctantly decided to lock that party girl away for good. I swore off my wild and irresponsible ways.

Maybe it was time to dust her off and have a little fun again?

As my child became more independent she took less of my time. That has been especially obvious this last year. I realized I needed something to keep myself busy and Robert suggested I drag out my degree and see what options I had. I soon landed this job as a Massage Therapist. I've been here for a few months and I love it. I work part time and scattered shifts, mostly late afternoon, which allows me to spend evenings with Robert. My co-workers are great, all of them younger than me except the owner, and full of goofy fun. We do an excellent job but have a great time.

Recently an interesting change occurred. The city budget was cut, which meant high schools and the university had to cut their budgets too. Athletes, male and female, turned to people like me for their sports injuries as the athletic departments no longer had such people on staff. I found myself rubbing the firm and muscular bodies of some fine young men, and that has helped awaken some deeply buried feelings.

Days ago, Robert and I sent Jessica to New York to study dance over the summer. We are alone for the first time in years.

I've never been so horny.

I stepped into the waiting room and shook hands with Derek, a basketball player from the university. The fingers of his huge black hand looked like they could wrap twice around mine. He smiled like a sunrise, perfect gleaming squares of pearly white lighting up the room. His light cologne tickled my nose.

I ushered him into the therapy room and gave him the nickel tour; music, lighting, lotions, and towels. This was not his first sprain. I showed him which basket to use for his clothing and which basket held the nylon shorts I provided for him to wear, if he so chose, and then I left the room. Three minutes later I was back. I knocked and entered and found Derek on his stomach already, face through the hole at the head of the table, towel across his firm, round, black ass. I asked what music he liked.

“Dirty South or Gangsta,” he rumbled.

“That’s terrific. Now, what kind of music do you like for a therapeutic massage?”

He laughed. “Oh, yeah. Duh. You decide, Doc.”

High school boys always call me Doc. I went with Shamanic Trance overlaid with soft waterfall sounds. I set the lotion warmer and closed the door. I marked my start time. I peeked to see if he wore the thin nylon shorts I’d provided. Most men don’t and Derek hadn’t either.

I started at the trapezius, spent time on the levator scapulae, and headed south down the rhomboid minor leading to the rhomboid major. His sexy musculature was distracting. I continued down his body until, thirty minutes later, I told him to turn over. He rolled innocently onto his side and then to his back, his hips inadvertently taking the white cotton towel with him. It slid off and there he was, nude, face up and eyes closed. Accidental? Hardly. Why do so many men assume I want to see what they have? Maybe because they subconsciously sense I always do.

Some of my girlfriends love nice round butts and some love strong muscular arms and some, like me, love that meat dangling between their legs. It’s the most obvious way our bodies are different. I like round butts and strong arms too, but if we’re talking about checking out naked men, and we are, my eyes are going straight to the object that matters most. I even like balls.

Derek packed some serious pipe, as my goofy daughter would say. I circled around to retrieve the fallen towel and draped it across his hips, but not before taking a good long look at his slab of soft black beef. He was uncircumcised, with big testicles and trimmed pubes, but with a lovely natural thickness. I covered him and headed for his pectorals. In this business, I often see men naked and virtually all of them are bigger than my husband. After twenty years of marriage Robert has altered my perception. I don’t mind. I like that they all seem big. It’s titillating.

Twenty minutes later my trembling legs matched my trembling arms. My arms were tired; the man was carved from stone and massaging the tension from his magnificent body took all my strength. My legs trembled because when I'd started on his thighs, his manhood had begun to swell. The closer my hands got, the bigger he grew. The towel lifted an inch off his body. He was cool about it; I'll give him that. He never opened his eyes or acted like anything was strange. He laid there letting me work.

He was cool, but I wasn't. I innocently let my fingers stray under the cloth, grazing the dark flesh and pulsing veins. The heat was incredible. I focused my attention on a knot buried in his quadricep but under the towel my pinkie rested firmly against his shaft. I felt each beat of his strong heart. My mouth watered. Literally. Thank God for the smock. I was sure my nipples strained at the thin fabric of my top. Derek was so sexy, so masculine.

I learned right away that Robert has a thing for performing oral sex and he learned right away I have a thing for making men orgasm. It gives me chills. I don't fully understand it but I've always been this way. From the very first penis I ever saw I wanted to make it ejaculate. Derek's cock in my face had me feeling that way again and I took a deep breath.

I had to move on and continued down his body, ending with his giant feet. I let him know we were finished and reached for the clipboard and he sat up and rolled his head, flexing his neck. He stood and dropped the towel on the table. He asked me to hand him his pants, which were as close to him as they were to me.

I looked again. I couldn't help it. He was a towering giant of manliness, all bulging muscles and flat abdominals. His partially inflated cock was an ebony python. He pulled his pants up and slipped on his shoes and shirt. We fist-bumped and I walked him to the lobby.

Abby, our nerdy receptionist, asked him for his policy number. I greeted the next patient; Thomas, a blonde-haired, green-eyed, quarterback type. Damn. Thomas was better looking than Derek. I told him I needed a few minutes to prepare the room, but what I truly needed was a few minutes to prepare myself.

These were my days now; one juicy hunk after another. The females were sexy too, but I never flirted with them. I got my share of chubby business men and flabby housewives too, but because of our parlor's location, their numbers were few. The business men always wanted something extra which I do not provide. Most of them moved on to Chinatown.

I gave Thomas the same speech I'd given Derek and then left him alone. Out front, I asked Abby how she was.

"Great! This is the best job ever. Hot guys and cat memes." She turned her monitor so I could see a cat knocking things off a table. I laughed. She clicked on the next meme and we laughed again. "That blonde guy back there is super cute," she said.

"Thomas? Yes, he is. Too young for me but just right for you."

"I'm not pretty enough for a guy like that. He checked you out though. He looked right at your ass as he followed you back."

"Really?"

"Yup."

"I'm embarrassed. I'm so out of shape these days. I used to be a little firecracker, Abby. You can't see it now but I was."

"I see it. You should go easier on yourself, Maddie. Guys today like more meat on the bones. You get checked out all the time."

I glanced at the wall clock. This topic made me uncomfortable. "Time for Thomas," I said.

"Hey," Abby whispered, leaning over the counter. "Do you ever see them naked back there? Like, totally naked?"

Wildly inappropriate. I like Abby but the girl has no sense of decorum. Thank God the waiting room was empty.

"Yes, sometimes."

She gave me an exaggerated thumbs-up. "Niiiiice."

I left to work on my client.

Thomas was face-up and adjusting the towel under his head. He wore the nylon shorts I'd provided. I played the same music as Derek and started on his pectoral majors and worked my way down his body. Abby was right; he was better looking than Derek. I admired his athletic physique and smooth skin. I reached his quads and really dug in. His legs were hairy and that always eats up the lotion so I stepped away and pumped extra in my palm. I cupped one hand under the other and turned to the table. Lotion dribbled between my fingers and across the nylon shorts, turning them almost transparent. I stopped. What are they feeding the boys these days? Tom had a nice fat snake too. With Robert's penis as my standard, every guy seemed large. I don't care that my husband has a small penis. I don't long for big cock. I don't need them. But back when I was dating and the rare one would come along, it sure was a delightful treat.

I dumped the lotion on Tom's thigh and focused on the knots buried there. Occasionally, my eyes drifted over to that lovely shank.

Robert would enjoy his evening, I knew that. Whenever work makes me horny, Robert benefits.

When it was time for more oil, I intentionally pumped way too much. I poured most on his legs but allowed some to dribble across his crotch again, revealing his hairy balls and plumb cock head. My pussy tingled. I'd never cheat on Robert but I was totally comfortable permitting other men to turn me on. Robert didn't care if I took it out on him. We often joked about a movie star or a musician turning us on. I think most couples do. The world is full of attractive people. Our rule is look but do not touch. Except for me. With my job, I also get to touch. But only in very specific and professional ways.

Yes, Robert was truly going to enjoy his evening.

I finished Tom's feet and moved up the other side. The oil had spread and the shorts were see-through. Half my brain rubbed his thigh and the other half wondered what his cock looked like hard. What kind of lover was he? Was he a good kisser already? His eyes were closed as I studied his face and I imagined him over me, gazing down into my eyes as he moved up between my legs. I bit my bottom lip and dug my fingertips into his vastus lateralis. He groaned in a lovely way so I rubbed hard again and he rewarded me with another.

I shook my head. Get a grip, woman.

I glanced at the clock. Out front we were officially closed. I finished the front of his body and told him to turn over. I heard a light tapping at the door and opened it to find Abby informing me the front door was locked and the lobby empty, so Thomas would be my last. She could have used the intercom. She wanted to see. I stepped aside to face her, revealing Thomas on the table behind me. Abby's eyes grew wide. I looked over my shoulder and saw Thomas on his feet and repositioning himself face down. His muscles coiled beneath his skin as he moved and his transparent shorts hid nothing and Abby loved what she saw. She gave me a look that said Oh my fucking God and then rolled her eyes and fanned her face with a hand. She obscenely grabbed her crotch while pushing her glasses back up her nose. I almost laughed. I should have shooed her out of there but I got an idea. She's such a lovable dork I thought it would be fun to mess with her.

“Hey, Thomas,” I said, watching Abby’s face. “I’ve been training Abby in massage. Can I go over a few things with her? Do you mind being my guinea pig?”

“Yeah, no sweat, Doc.” He settled in.

Her eyes almost popped out of her head. I grabbed a spare smock and, grinning like a fool, handed it to her. She pushed it away, silently and repeatedly mouthing no. Abby looked over my shoulder at his prone body.

“Here you go, Abby,” I said, handing her the smock. “Let’s go over what you learned about the trapezius.”

She scowled at me and then hurried to don the cover-up.

We started on his back and I narrated what we were doing and why as we worked our way down his body. I often took her hands and put them on Thomas and then enjoyed her tortured face as she rubbed this hunk of muscle. Her reaction was so pronounced I began to suspect she was a virgin.

After his feet, we worked our way up the other side until we finished at his shoulder. I was enjoying her discomfort immensely and that’s probably what led me to blurt, “Thomas, if you’re not in a hurry tonight, there are a few locations on the front I’d like to revisit with Abby. Do you mind?”

“Bonus minutes? I don’t mind at all, and call me Tommy.”

Abby’s scathing look was cut short when Thomas turned over. He closed his eyes and sighed. Abby gawked at his body from face to feet and back again. Her eyes lingered at his oil-soaked crotch and I suspected that might be the first penis she’d ever seen in real life.

I zeroed in on his upper thigh about an inch away from the shaft and then took her hands and showed her what to do. She was breathing through an open mouth. I talked nonstop about tendons and ligaments and muscle but in truth I was enjoying the moment through her eyes. She was enthralled, captivated. I took a half step back to see what she’d do on her own and her hands immediately drifted closer to his cock. She bumped her hands against him often but the look in her eyes told me she wanted to rip his shorts down and stuff him into her mouth. I’d wanted to get her flustered but my plan was beginning to backfire on me. I was the one becoming aroused.

I let her go a few minutes more and then resumed control, thanking her and directing her to the sink to wash the lotion from her hands. She seemed shell-shocked. I finished his leg and thanked Abby, informing her Thomas would be at the front desk momentarily. She shuffled out of the room mumbling. I silenced the music and told Thomas to join us up front once he'd dressed and thanked him for his patience.

As I turned the corner, Abby shook a fist at me. "You bitch," she said, smiling.

I laughed.

"Oh, my God. That was intense. How do you do it? My panties melted to my ass."

I laughed louder. "I don't wear panties."

Her eyes grew even bigger.

"I'm kidding," I said. "Guys like Thomas and Derek, they're too young for me. I'm an old lady. I sure enjoyed you trying to stay cool though. That was fun."

"Whatever. You can call me to help whenever you want. That was awesome."

We heard the door open down the hall so we switched the subject. Thomas paid the bill and thanked us for the extra time and said goodnight.

"Good night, Thomas," I said.

"Good night, Tommy," Abby gushed.

I unlocked the front door to let him out. Abby high-fived me coming around the counter. We finished cleaning up, balanced the till, and headed for home.

Chapter 2

Robert worked late and I fell asleep on the couch. He woke me with gentle kisses on my face and we ate dinner by the fire. He told me about his day and I shared mine and because I still felt horny, I was bolder than usual, describing the joke I played on Abby. He remembered her as the dorky girl that worked evenings and had me go over the details of her reaction twice.

"So, Thomas was handsome?"

"Some would say. He's too young so I don't see him that way but Abby did. You should have seen her face. Classic deer in the headlights."

"He had a nice body?"

“Great body.”

“The black guy you mentioned; handsome with a nice body too?”

“Derek? Yes, I suppose so.” I worried I’d made Robert jealous.

“How often do handsome young men visit you?”

“Pretty much every day. Schools eliminated physical therapist so I’m the only option. Does that bother you, Honey?”

He shook his head. “Nope. You want more dessert?”

Robert has always been hard to read and that was especially true now. I probed. “If that upsets you I can have the other girls take clients like that.”

He smiled. “Don’t worry, Maddie. It’s a nice fringe benefit. You deserve it.”

I looked at him puzzled. I deserved what? Handsome young clients? Why?

He rubbed his chubby belly. “So? More dessert?”

I gave up. He’ll come back around to it eventually. Robert is not the kind of man that expresses every feeling right when he has it. He ponders. He weighs. If he thinks it matters, I’ll hear about it again later.

“No, thanks,” I replied. “I’m thinking it might be time for me to start losing weight. I know I’ll never get back to my college body but I can do better. I have that bike in the garage. I’ll fix it up and start cycling.”

“That’s a great idea, Honey. When Jessica goes to college you’ll have lots of extra time.”

We chatted about life while I had two glasses of wine. I continued to drop hints that Robert should drag me to bed but he missed all of them. After dessert, he started yawning. We dumped the dishes in the sink and went to sleep.

In the morning, I was up with him and getting ready. I kissed him goodbye and opened the garage door, pulling boxes onto the driveway. I loaded my bike and drove to the shop downtown.

McGregor’s was a family owned shop I used twenty years ago when I cycled often. I’d heard the father had passed away but the son ran the place now. I tried and failed to remember his name. I struggled to unload the bike and a fit sixty-something ran out to help. He was tall and lean and bald with one of those full beards so popular now. He grabbed the back tire and helped lift as I maneuvered it around the back seats. He stuck his hand out when we finished.

“Josh McGregor,” he said. “I own the place.”

I met his icy blue eyes as I shook his hand. “Madison Rhoades. I knew your father. Sorry to hear of his passing.”

He thanked me and asked why I was there. I explained I used to ride before I had a kid and I felt like it was time to start riding again. He nodded, understanding.

“Kid’s about to move out.”

I smiled. “Right. You must get a dozen chubby housewives a day in here all planning the same comeback.”

He laughed, showing off a missing second molar. “I do get the occasional chubby housewife, as you put it, but one of them, you ain’t.” He leaned back and unabashedly appraised my body. “You carry muscle tone under the weight the kid gave you. I’d say you were probably gymnastics or swimming? Probably started in grade school and continued through college. Am I right?”

For half a second I thought about getting offended. His blatant stares were unnerving and inappropriate, but because he was kind of attractive I liked them more than I didn’t. “You have a trained eye, Josh. Gymnastics. Nine years.”

He rubbed his hands like he planned to rob a bank, or possibly kidnap some children for a stew. “That’s good. That will serve you. Muscles remember. You ride a hybrid. Fat tires. Extra weight. It will suck at first but you’ll come around fast.”

“Thanks.”

“No problem. Let’s get you squared away.”

He walked ahead of me and took the bike. My eyes dropped to his ass. For sixty, he was pretty sexy. He wore those stupid tight cycling shorts so many men wear, thinking it makes them look hot, but at least his oversized T-shirt hung low enough in front to cover him. I like bulges but those shorts are just too much of a good thing. His firm butt stuck out in back and the shirt kind of piled on top of his buns. Nice.

Inside, every square inch was packed with cycling posters, bikes, equipment, and clothing. He checked my chain, gears cassette, and tires, and then told me my derailleur pulley needed replacing. I left him to it and wandered the store looking at fashion. They had those tight shorts for women too and I added two pair, red and blue, to my bill, because women can wear that shit. The tops were Lycra and undersized.

His dressing room was a small alcove with a draw-curtain so I took three tops and told him I would see if I liked them. He waved vaguely towards the fitting room, already concentrating on my bike.

The curtain hung about two feet above the linoleum floor and sagged on a loose string. Not a lot of privacy. If I wasn't already horny from yesterday I probably would have skipped trying them on, but now the thought was tantalizing. I pulled the curtain closed and whipped off my shirt and bra. I had room to step into a corner and remain from his field of view so I played with it, stepping out and back as I tried on one top after the next, giving him flashes of skin if he looked this way. The tops made my tits look great, pushing them up and together. I don't know if he saw me or not but I still had fun. I kept two tops and returned the other to the rack.

I leaned on the counter to watch him work. If I'd flashed him while changing, I couldn't see it. He was cool and professional. We talked about riding trails around town and some parks on the outskirts and he mentioned on Saturday he and a few others would ride the Crosby trail. He showed me where it was on a wall map.

"We gather at the Apple Barrel parking lot around seven and finish about one. Just a bunch of friends. You're welcome to join us." He plucked a business card from the stand and wrote on the back. "This my cell. Text or call if you can make it."

"Will do."

He finished my bike and rang up my total and then walked me back to my car to help me load it. I walked a step behind him again. He had a narrow waist and wide shoulders too.

At home, I found Robert in his office and told him about my shopping trip. He was mildly interested. I mentioned the outfits and he barely heard me. I told him I was going riding with Josh Saturday morning and he perked right up.

"Just you and him?"

"No, silly, other riders too. Weren't you listening? I don't really know Josh. I knew his dad but Josh not so much. He said there's a handful of riders that run that route."

Robert nodded thoughtfully. His eyes seemed disappointed.

"Were you hoping it would be him only?"

"No. Of course not. Why would I want you out with another man?"

"Good question. You seemed let down."

“No, Honey. My mind is half on work. So, you’re going?”

“Yes.”

“That’s nice.”

I swear something was going on but as always he was impossible to read.

“Will you wear the shorts and top you bought today?”

“Probably. You want to see them on me?”

“I’d love to.”

I changed in the bedroom and showed him first the red shorts with a white top and then the blue with a pale blue top. He liked that combo best. The shorts came with a delicate liner and I discovered I had to go commando to feel comfortable. The thin fabric breathed and cool air circled between my legs. I felt a little naked. I caught Robert staring and back in the bedroom mirror I discovered why. In certain light, my small areolas showed through. Why had he said nothing? Oh well; If it didn’t bother my husband, why should I let it bother me?

Chapter 3

Saturday morning, I left Robert in bed and showered and dressed. I’d loaded the bike the night before so a kiss on his sleepy head and I was on the road.

Josh met me in the Apple Barrel parking lot, alone.

“Where are the others?” I asked.

“Danny’s baby is sick and Dylan has to study for finals. One by one they all called off. I understand if you’re uncomfortable. I can ride the trail alone.”

Usually, I would have headed for home. I don’t know Josh. But Robert’s odd reaction came back to me. I wondered how he’d take the news when I told him I’d gone with Josh.

“No worries. Just don’t axe-murder me and bury me under a pile of rocks and we’re cool.”

“Macabre. I like it.”

We saddled-up and I watched him to see how it was done. His practiced hands moved with precision and I tried to follow. He came to check on my bike before we left and made a couple of small adjustments.

“Excellent,” he said, and I blushed. He grinned. His eyes seemed extra blue this morning.

“Ready?”

I gave a nod and we swung our legs over. He slipped sunglasses in place.

We picked up the trail down the hill from the parking lot and soon began to circle the western end of Lake Mead. Josh took the lead and for two hours we sailed along. The road began to incline and I dropped gears but Josh stayed where he was. The road grew steep so I dropped a few more and again, Josh kept going. I looked at his thighs and strong arms. The man was studly. His legs pumped and flexed.

For the next hour, I stared at him as much as the scenic view. He wasn't muscular but he radiated strength. His stamina was astonishing. He reached a rest area and his breathing was normal, a light sweat dotted his forehead. I was breathing ragged and covered in sweat. We left the bikes and he showed me a gap between oaks that showed the sunlight on the lake below. Spectacular. He told me there was a good place to pee, if I needed to, down the bank a short distance behind a tree. He said he'd stand guard. I took him up on the offer.

Headed back uphill, I noticed the sweat had soaked my top and my nipples showed through as small dark circles. I casually watched his face for a reaction and despite the sunglasses I got one. He had to tear his eyes away. A tingle ran from my stomach to my brain.

He appeared ready to ride again but I wanted more. I stretched and walked around, allowing him to take as long a look as he wished.

“No bathroom break for you?” I called out.

He shrugged. “Maybe I should.”

He headed down the slope. I stayed put for a half minute and then caught movement from the corner of my eye. He'd not used the same spot as me, obviously. I moved forward two steps and saw him pull down the front of his shorts, freeing his penis. He looked substantial but distance made certainty difficult. Another tingle zipped through me and I looked away. I returned to our bikes to wait.

We faced a long, slow, zig-zagging incline until we rode into an open area that looked down on the lake far below.

“Time for another break,” he said. “After this it's all downhill. You did exceptionally well.”

I thanked him as we leaned our cycles against a tree. He took to a faint trail and I followed until we emerged on a flat, open ledge surrounded by oaks. The valley and lake lay below us in beautiful panorama. Deep blue sky arched overhead.

“Wow,” I exclaimed. “I wasn’t expecting this.”

“Gorgeous, right? I ride up here all the time. Few know of this spot. When I ride alone I spread a towel and catch some sunlight before heading down. Everything’s dry by the time I’m ready to roll.”

“Dry? You lay out naked?”

“Why not? I’m alone, and the elevation provides excellent sunlight.”

I admit my naughty mind started playing dangerous games.

“So if I wasn’t here today you’d sunbathe?”

“Yes. Try it when you ride up here alone.”

“Do you have two towels?”

He gave me a funny look. “I have one, but it’s pretty big. Why?”

“If you can keep secrets, I say let’s do it. My legs could use the time to recover and that way I’m not making you wait for me. Nudity doesn’t bother me. I’m a massage therapist. I see bodies all day long. If you don’t tell my husband, I won’t tell your wife.”

“I’m single.”

I chuckled. “I guess I’ll just be trusting you then. It’s cool if you don’t want to. I get it. But I need to rest a bit longer. My legs burn.”

My legs did burn, but everything else was bullshit. I wanted to see him naked. I saw him consider several comments but none left his mouth. He moved to the pack on his bike and returned with a large towel which was more like a small blanket. He spread it and anchored the corners with rocks.

“I usually hang my gear on that branch.”

He pointed at a dried tree near me. I won’t lie. My heart was hammering. No man other than Robert had seen me naked in twenty years. But my thumbs pinched my top and my big tits tumbled free and then my shorts went down and my trimmed pussy tingled in the breeze. I shook my long brown hair out of my tie. I’d let it grow for years and now it hung to my waist. Josh stared.

“Wow,” he muttered. “I’m sorry for staring. I knew you were gorgeous but I seriously underestimated how gorgeous. Sorry.”

“Please. I’m old and overweight.”

He turned his back and peeled off his shirt as I removed my shoes and socks. I was seated when he pushed his riding shorts down and exposed his tan ass. He hung his clothing and faced me. His plump penis was devoid of hair. In fact, his entire body was. He had zero bodyfat and looked amazing for any age.

“My turn to stare,” I giggled.

I lay on my back facing the sun and closed my eyes. He settled next to me. I waited a few minutes after he stopped moving to open my eye a slit and check him out. He faced the sun like me, his dick resting over a thigh, his stomach flat. I love men’s bodies. Muscles are wonderful. Robert was smooth all over like me but Josh was dozens of angles and facets. On the sly I lifted my head to get a better look. Scrumptious. I made time for another look at his cock and saw he was circumcised and wide at the base which tapered to a nicely shaped head. How many women had felt that thing inside them? This old stud probably had a busload of women down in the city waiting for him to call.

I lay down again and let the sun warm me. I dozed.

Movement woke me. Josh was turning over and when my eyes opened he suggested I do the same. I love how older men have such self-control. I felt totally safe with Josh although the look in his eyes said he wanted me. I took my time turning. My tits bounced around and I caught him looking twice, those icy blue eyes devouring my flesh. I felt a little shy but I loved his intense stare.

Once we were comfortable again he asked about gymnastics. I told him about my accomplishments and asked about cycling. We chatted like old friends. Naked, old friends. On our stomach, everything was hidden so we relaxed and soon were laughing over tales from our past.

Eventually we had to dress and finish our ride. When we stood, he’d swollen some. He hung heavy and puffed, a couple veins standing out. I looked away at the trees and then the sky.

“Lovely view you have here,” I said, as casually as I could manage. I faced him. He was staring hotly at my nakedness.

“Likewise,” he breathed.

A tense moment filled our area. If he had put his hands on me right then, I would have let him. I like to believe I’d have drawn the line at intercourse but I would have allowed him to touch me everywhere. We stayed frozen except for his penis which began to slowly rise. I had to breathe through my mouth. My heart raced.

High and far away, a black bird cawed and broke our spell.

He turned for his shorts and I did the same. God! We dressed in silence and returned to our bikes. We rode hard on the way down and made great time. Half an hour passed before he spoke, informing me of another hill ahead. We cleared it and sailed to the finish.

In the parking lot once more, we'd regained our composure. We laughed about the ride and how sore I would be tomorrow but neither mentioned our naked intermission. Bikes loaded, I kissed his cheek and gave him a brief hug before heading home.

Robert was in his office but stopped working when I came in. He made me lunch and I told him about the ride and the scenery and the strenuous effort required to push my butt up those hills. Every chance he got, my husband stole glances at my tight outfit. I did not understand. He's seen me naked a million times.

I showered and we watched a movie together before dinner and then bedtime. Once under the covers, Robert kissed a trail down my body until his expert tongue found my wet pussy. He electrified me, knowing exactly what I like and for how long I like it. I came hard. I expected he'd want some after that but no, he kissed all around my tingling cunt, nibbling my thighs and belly. He even went lower and tongued my asshole for long minutes which got me hot again. He then tongue-fucked me until I exploded screaming.

I tried to return the favor but he just held me tight. After a while he kissed down to my breasts, teasing my nipples and all that sensitive skin before going down on me a third time, something he's never done. I was so amazed and excited I climaxed sobbing and squeezing his heads with my thighs. After that I was wiped out and fell into a deep sleep.

Chapter 4

Sunday, he had guys coming over to watch football so I went shopping but not before I sucked him off in the shower. I would have fucked him but after logging all those miles, I was too tender down there. I rode each morning from Monday to Friday, working at the parlor late afternoons. Robert and I cuddled at night.

When we made love Wednesday night, something was different. Robert got hard, and I mean truly hard. Like, throbbing. He used his tongue much more than usual and when it was time to penetrate me, he barely lasted three minutes. Something had my sweet bear all wound up. I assumed it was the thought of me back in shape.

When we met in college I was a dynamo and he commented often how hot I was and how much he loved looking at me. I was eager to get as close to that again as I could. I know time cannot be reversed and I'd never again have a body like that, but now I had boobs and hips and a butt. I was more womanly. I felt sure if I got this womanly body fit again he'd love it.

Saturday morning, I met Josh again but this time we had six riders with us. He made introductions all around and I was pleased to see Thomas from the university among them.

Our group followed the same trail Josh and I had taken the week before and we shared a knowing smile at the summit. I was pleased to see he wasn't weird about what we'd done and I admit I felt surprisingly comfortable about it too. I couldn't help but picture him naked.

When I got home, Robert was all over me. I stepped out of the shower and he was there, lifting me onto the counter before burying his face between my thighs. His tongue is amazing. I came fast and he pulled me to the bed where he feasted on me to another climax and then mounted me for a quick fuck. He shuddered as he exploded.

Afterward, we lay naked and on our backs, and in the same position as Josh and I had that day. Robert was breathing deeply when I lifted for a better look. I compared his body to Josh, which I know sounds terrible, but I did so innocently. I love Robert with all my heart and the result of any comparison couldn't touch that. I was merely curious, almost scientifically so.

Robert's chubby tummy hid his penis from my gaze and I lifted higher to see it. He was circumcised like Josh but considerably shorter and not as thick. A bushel of dark pubic hair nested the base. His chest and arms were soft and smooth and I remembered how my husband always trembled holding himself over me. These may sound like shortcomings but I don't see them that way. To me, they are unique and endearing traits. We like people for their skills but we love them for their imperfections. My face softened. My heart gushed with love. I snuggled closer.

I was awakened by Robert's tongue exploring inside me. Talk about hot! Why hasn't such an alarm clock been invented yet? I moaned and spread my legs and he pushed deeper, tickling my walls and sucking my clit. I squirmed and held his head fast. I realized after a moment he was eating me after cumming in me and I groaned loudly. He'd never done this before and I was wildly turned on. He redoubled his efforts and a hard orgasm slammed me a heartbeat later. I clawed his back and trapped his shoulders with my legs. His lust for me had to be sky-high. What straight man would do such a thing? I've never felt so desired in my life. I got so worked up thinking about it I had another mini-climax.

I think the cultures which enjoy siestas might be onto something. We woke around seven and ate and cuddled while watching a movie. Robert asked me occasional questions about my morning ride which I answered absentmindedly.

Chapter 5

I tilted the box of cereal to better read the ingredients. I compared the nutritional information to another box still on the shelf. I made my informed choice and dropped the box into my grocery cart.

I moved on to pasta.

I was comparing the benefits of different whole wheats when a rumbling voice behind me said: "Jesus, Maddie, did you sell your soul to the Devil?"

I knew who it was before I turned around and I wanted to shrink down and crawl away. Tony Hahn, ex-boyfriend.

"Hi Tony," I said, dropping the pasta in my cart. "How have you been?"

I had to fight to keep my face passive when I saw him. Nineteen years had zipped by but Tony still looked incredibly handsome. Better, even, with a few lines and wrinkles. He'd gained a belly but his shoulders were still broad and of course he was still tall. He'd lost some hair but carried enough to work with. I looked into those big brown eyes and my mind flashed back to junior year and hot, hot sex. If he'd been smart enough to hold a conversation I might have married him instead. We ran out of things to say early in the relationship but kept seeing each other for furniture-smashing wall-shaking sex. Big eyes weren't the only over-sized thing he possessed.

"Great. Single, but that's how it goes. Tammy and I sold the house and I bought a condo at Alvina Townhomes. You look amazing. Don't you age?"

"Shut up your lying face. I got old and fat."

He spent the next fifteen minutes trying to talk me out of that opinion. I told him about Robert, who he remembered from college, and Jessica and her trip to New York. We caught up quickly, standing in that grocery store aisle. My life seemed like a well-orchestrated play compared to his mess; two divorces, two kids, four jobs. We had to cut the conversation short as he was meeting a bunch of guys to play pool, so we exchanged numbers and wished each other luck. He complemented me several more times on how good I looked, which I admit I loved, and then kissed my cheek and was gone. I watched him walk away, amazed by the twists and turns of life, my face stinging from his whiskers.

Chapter 6

The next two weeks followed my new routine; biking in the mornings followed by massages in the afternoon. Josh and company on Saturday. We heard from Jessica occasionally. Robert continued to work too many hours but when we got in bed, he was all over me.

My body began to change, as expected, but strangely Robert's interest did not correspondingly increase like I expected.

The following Saturday dawned hot and dry and I again found myself alone with Josh for the ride. I still tingled from Robert's oral talents the night before so I thought my sex drive would be satiated, but as we rode I watched Josh's body work and grew hotter each minute. He removed his shirt after the first hour and that made everything worse. I looked forward to our summit stop. I looked forward to seeing him nude again. I hate admitting that.

The scorching heat left the mountain empty save for we two idiots. Far below, speed boats sliced the lake and on the shore, dune buggies churned the sand. We parked our bikes and Josh withdrew the blanket without a word. My mouth went dry. We climbed down to our secret balcony and I seemed to float along, placing one foot before the next. He spread the blanket and turned his back and I waited and watched as his clothing slipped off and that sleek body without tan lines came into view. He turned. His cock was partially swollen in anticipation of his eyes on me and I melted. I fixed my gaze on his dick.

Off came my shoes and socks followed by my top and shorts. He grew, rising and lengthening, swelling to full firmness. His scrotum lifted until nestled beneath the shaft. He was beautiful but more so because he was hard for me.

We stood at opposing corners just staring. His dick got so hard the head turned almost purple. He seemed embarrassed and unsure what to do so he laid on the blanket to tan. I laid next to him but my heart was a jackhammer threatening to shatter ribs. No way could I close my eyes. We both just stared at the blue sky and oak branches far above.

I noticed movement and watched his hand creep down and circle his cock. He began to stroke. I almost died! This was so fucking hot. His breathing turned ragged and his hand stroked faster. His left hand slid down his ripped abs to fondle his balls.

I turned and moved my face closer to watch, careful not to touch him. He groaned and stroked faster. I slipped a hand between my legs to rub my pussy. He closed his eyes and I knew he fantasized about fucking me. I had no doubt. He was fucking me right here on the blanket under a crystal blue sky and I loved it. I wanted him so badly.

A glob of sperm oozed from the tip and my instincts took over. I knew he was seconds away from orgasm. I shoved myself forward and closed my hot mouth around the head just as the first spurt blasted my tongue. He cried out and jacked faster and a fountain of hot cum sprayed my teeth and tonsils. I sucked hard on his tangy load, craving every drop. I had him writhing on the blanket, almost screaming like a girl. I pushed my face down his length until the head bumped a tonsil and held him there for several squirts. All his repressed desire poured out his cock. Hard dicks do not lie. He was pumping his soul into me. I licked and sucked and swallowed until his plump balls had nothing more to give. His hands fell away and I held him in my mouth as he softened until I eased him out and draped him across his leg. I rolled onto my back.

Nobody spoke, and I was glad for that because with each passing minute guilt grew inside me. Why the fuck did I act so impulsively? How could I face Robert? How could I face my daughter? Why had I done that? I wasn't going to cry about it but that was stupid.

I remembered a girlfriend from a few years back that had too much to drink and blew a stripper at a friend's bachelorette party. She confessed to her husband the next day and he'd packed up and moved out. A decade of marriage wasted. They've been divorced for years. No way was I losing Robert over this. Can't a girl suck a dick and have it too? I chuckled at my stupid levity in the face of disaster and Josh rolled on his side to look at me.

"What's funny?" he asked.

Even soft and empty, his dick was big. It pointed now at the blanket. His fat balls hung in a pouch of loose skin. I made myself meet his eyes. "Nothing. That was a sardonic chortle. I fucked up and I'm unsure what to do about it."

"Will you tell your husband?"

"Yes. No. I don't know. I was the one that broke the rules and touched you. Dragging you into my mess seems unfair. I'll work this out without involving your name."

I know he wanted to say something but wrestled with what. His eyes were full of concern for me, not himself. His kindness made me hot again and since the deed was done, why stop now? I reached down and curled my fingers around his pretty cock. I raked his big smooth balls with my nails.

"Why shave everything?" I asked.

"Riding, tight shorts, hygiene, aesthetics."

"I bet you fuck a lot of women."

The corner of his mouth curled in a tiny smile.

His penis was warm and spongy. I hadn't held a new cock in so long I admit I kind of marveled at it. I'm not one for porn so the only ones I knew were the ones I met personally. Thank God he didn't get hard again. I honestly can't say what I would have done. I tugged a few times and felt the weight and warmth in my palm.

"You have a gorgeous penis."

"Thank you very much."

"Have other women told you that?" I knew they had by his reaction.

“A few. Always nice to hear again.”

I sighed. “Let’s get back on the road. We can’t linger here or I suspect more trouble will occur. Apparently, I can’t be trusted around you.”

Our ride back was quiet. By the time I got home, I still had no plan. Not that a plan would have helped. I parked the car and unloaded my bike and found Robert watching college football. I dreaded what was about to happen.

We talked and I expected any minute he’d ask what happened on my ride. Time passed and our conversation moved along smoothly, just like always. Eventually, I realized he couldn’t tell. I thought I’d walk through the door and he’d point and scream “Guilty!” at me and I’d fall to pieces, begging for forgiveness.

Nope.

I leaned over and kissed his cheek and he didn’t even smell the potent cum on my breath. The longer we talked, the more I understood for him to know, I’d have to tell him. I considered it for an instant but fear made me back away.

He shared an amazing touchdown catch he’d seen and I talked about how strong my legs were becoming. Eventually he asked if others rode or just me and Josh. I admitted we two only and saw him tense. I would have missed it if he’d not been so relaxed after a day on the couch. His eyes roamed my outfit, lingering on my breasts. I innocently leaned back to show them better, using them as a distraction.

“You’re getting tan,” he said.

I got flustered but hid it. Why’d he have to mention tanning?

“You look amazing, Maddie. Look at your legs. You’re sexy, Baby.”

I looked down at my legs and noticed a speck of bark from when Josh and I were naked on a blanket under a blue sky. I casually picked it off and dropped it behind the chair. Robert could not possibly know the significance of that speck but I felt like it was glaringly obvious.

Robert left the couch to stand over me.

“I want you,” he said.

What? Why? “I’m a sweaty mess.”

“So go shower. I want you.”

I kissed him and left the room, happy to be away. I started the water and peeled off my clothing. The crotch of my riding shorts was soaked. The hot water felt fantastic and I turned up the heat. The bathroom filled with steam. I heard the door open and close and then a naked Robert stepped into the shower with me. He was already hard. He put his hands on my waist and turned me away and shoved his penis into my pussy. Robert is a foreplay kind of guy so this was unusual but I felt so guilty I welcomed it. He fucked me from behind against the shower wall. I was too agitated by my earlier indiscretion to get close to orgasm so after a while he pulled out and knelt, lifted my leg over his shoulder, and wiggled his tongue into me. This time, despite my tension, his talent won out, and when I came, it carried all the stress of my cheating with it. I climaxed like a hurricane, screaming against the tile wall. In my mind, I saw Josh's rock hard cock standing straight up and throbbing with desire for me. I would have fallen if Robert hadn't taken my weight.

He led me to bed, both of us dripping water, and ate me to orgasm again before driving his penis in and quickly cumming. He left me like that, sprawled on the bed and panting, while he returned to his football.

Kinda sexy, in a way.

I joined him much later wrapped in my big white fluffy robe. I'd reached a decision, at least for now, to bury forever what I'd done. This life and this love were too good to risk. I'd acted impulsively and stupid but I gave myself a do-over. Lesson learned. Never again. I secretly hoped that on one of his million business trips some Midwest stripper had blown him and we were actually even.

Never underestimate the power of a good rationalization. Two hours later we were cuddling and Josh's cock in my mouth was a dim memory.

At work Monday, it all came rushing back. My forth client was an older man named Erik. Tall and wiry, his body was similar enough to Josh to send my pulse racing. I got so turned on remembering my tryst on the mountaintop I intentionally neglected to inform Erik about the nylon shorts. I wanted him naked under the towel. I spent extra time on his quadriceps and allowed my fingertips to brush his shaft and scrotum multiple times. His top lip broke into a sweat. His penis got nice and fat, rolling around and lifting the towel. I admit my behavior with him was definitely unprofessional and borderline criminal. He looked so flustered when he left Abby approached me and asked what happened. I thought a partial truth was best because Abby can be indiscreet.

"I wasn't paying attention and may have accidentally touched things I ought not to have touched. He got all excited."

Her eyes flared with excitement but she said nothing. Horn dog.

Our work day wore on as normal until we were the last two employees in the parlor. Right after Janet, the owner, said goodnight, Abby took me aside.

“There’s a guy coming in from my school. I told him about you and how knowledgeable you were and how many athletes come to you so he said he’d give you a try. He plays football and hurt his leg.”

“Thanks for the business, Abby. What’s his name?”

“Zach, but that’s not why I’m talking to you. I want you do that thing again like you did with Tommy. I want you to call me back to help give the massage.”

“Why?”

“He’s totally hot.”

“Abby, don’t get me in trouble.”

“Nothing like that, Maddie. Please? I just want to see him without his shirt on. All the girls at school want him and he doesn’t have a girlfriend. I just want to get on his radar. Please?”

Her big green eyes melted me. “All right. I’ll ask if he’s comfortable with it. If he says yes, I’ll call you back, but only if he says yes. Fair?”

“Thank you so much, Maddie. I’ll owe you big time.”

Zach arrived twenty minutes later and I saw the big deal. He really was cute. He was about six feet tall with a mess of scruffy blonde hair and green eyes. He and Abby would make beautiful babies. He wore loose sweat pants and a baggy sweat shirt so I couldn’t tell what kind of body he had but I knew I’d find out soon enough. We shook hands and I kept him in the waiting room while I interviewed him about his leg. I made a big deal about it, asking questions and using medical language, really pouring it on and trying to sound impressive. He wasn’t the sharpest tool in the shed but he was nice. Abby looked grateful. I led him back to my room and told him how things worked. At the end, I asked if he’d be comfortable if I used him to train an intern.

“Abby? Or someone else?”

“Abby, yes.”

“Sure. No problem.”

“Great. Thank you. I’ll be back in three minutes.”

I left and returned to the reception area to inform Abby she was in. She got so excited. I went back to the room, knocking before entering, and closed the door behind me quickly. He was still undressing. He slipped his boxers off and stood nude at the end of the table.

Oh. My. God.

He had muscles on top of his muscles. He had tight skin and well-defined striations and a light thatch of blonde chest hair and a long, fat cock hanging down and still swinging back and forth like a hypnotist's watch. He had an exploding star tattoo around his belly button.

If he wasn't looking down at his feet he would have seen my mouth drop open. I closed it and moved to the shelf with the lotion warmer, pretending I'd noticed nothing.

"Go ahead and lie on your back," I instructed. "You can cover yourself with the towel." I hit the play button and adjusted the music.

"Naw, I'm good. This room is hot and stuffy."

I turned and discovered he'd climbed on the table naked, the towel still folded off to the side. I was staring up between his feet. His shaft ran down and over his balls until the head rested on the tabletop. I folded the towel length-wise and placed it across his hips and at the base of his penis, which left most of his cock exposed. Abby wanted to see him with his shirt off? Let's see how she handled big naked dick.

I started my routine.

I asked questions and then spent a good fifteen minutes digging deep into his thigh. I told him I wanted the trainee to see this and buzzed the front desk for Abby to join me. I moved around the table so I could see her face when she entered.

Her expression was priceless; eyebrows up, weird, wide-mouthed grin, dissolving into a mouth that looked like she was silently singing the letter O. Awesome. I gestured at the smock hanging near the door and she put it on without taking her eyes off naked Zach. She mouthed Sweet Jesus to me and came around the table. Her eyes twinkled with magical fire. I pumped some lotion into her open hands and told her how and where to rub.

She followed my direction for about a minute and her hands began to drift closer to the towel. After another minute, she stuck her pinkie out and nudged the towel out of the way. I caught the towel as it fell and considered covering him again but Abby stepped in front so I couldn't. Zach gasped and I couldn't see what she did to cause it. I was about to step around and regain control of this massage when her head dropped over his lap and her strawberry blonde hair fell around his crotch. His gasp became a moan. She began a slow up and down and Zach exhaled a long, low, “Fuuuuuuck,” before placing a hand on the back of her head.

Goddamn it. I swear females get as much out of a dick in their mouth as the males do. Why do we love it so much?

A loud slurp filled the small room. Abby sucked and bobbed and Zach gulped air. I should have slammed a palm down on the table and kicked Abby out of the room. I should have reported her to the shop owner and gotten her fired. This reflected poorly on me and was an egregious violation of therapist-client trust.

Instead, I pulled her hair back to watch his firm, young cock slide in and out of her pretty mouth. Her eyes were closed and she had no idea what she was doing and I wondered if this was the first dick in her mouth ever. Zach, eyes squeezed shut, barely moved, no doubt afraid to break the spell. Abby gagged and her watery eyes opened, looking at me like she was choking. She pulled his cock out and smiled.

I tried to be stern. I tried to put on a scolding face. All I did was notice how cute she was behind her glasses and how much desire she felt for this boy. Whatever she saw on my face made her aim his cock at me.

“Help?” she murmured.

She caught me by surprise. Stunned, I stared down the barrel of that fleshy shotgun. His dick gleamed with saliva. Squiggly purple veins ran every direction under the thin skin. Her delicate fingers barely made it around his girth. His beautiful cock waved in the air and her eyes pleaded with me.

“Move closer to the table,” I said. “You have a bad angle. Bring your mouth directly over the shaft. Make the curve of your throat match the curve of his cock.”

She shuffled closer.

“And relax, Abby. Loosen your grip on him a little. Breathe through your nose and let him slip towards your tonsils. The more spit you use, the better.”

She enveloped him in her mouth again and I saw his toes curl. Good girl. What Abby lacked in experience she made up with enthusiasm. That girl was thrilled to have Zach’s dick in her mouth. She tried so hard to please him. It was sweet to watch, but he was simply too big for her to do much. She lacked knowledge. After struggling for some time, she turned imploring eyes to me.

“Show me,” she slurred, wiping her mouth on her sleeve. “I can’t handle him. I don’t know what to do.”

There should have been no question. I’m happily married, he’s a client, and this is just flat out wrong. But, God, his young, firm erection looked so good. She waved his meat enticingly in my face.

“Show me,” she repeated, her voice a murmur. “Don’t embarrass me in front of him. Show me what to do. I know you’re good at this. It’s obvious you want to.”

I couldn’t. I dared not. I wrestled with guilt. I considered all that I risked. I stared at Abby, her lips swollen from sucking, a strand of spit connecting her tongue to his cock. Was she the same age as my daughter? The scene was so lewd, so raunchy.

A tingle in my pussy became a rising surge and I licked my lips and closed my mouth over his throbbing prick head. God! My second new cock so soon after my first. I felt wicked. The ghost of my party girl howled and flashed her tits at the crowd.

I covered her hand with mine, my wedding ring sparkling, and stood him straight up. I licked a droplet of cum from the tip and swabbed the crown with my flat tongue. I engulfed the head, lowered my jaw, and slid his hard, sweet meat to the back of my throat. His meaningful groan sent chills down my body. I sucked hard, hard enough to pull a rush of blood up and thicken his dick, opening my jaw farther. I sucked even harder. I love cock.

“Fuck me,” he moaned. “I feel that all the way down in my balls.”

Now it was my turn to moan. I worried that my inner-slut, so long locked away, was breaking free. After that the pulsing in his dick made me forget everything except the pulsing in his dick.

Suddenly I was nineteen again with Bradley James behind the boathouse, feeling a penis in my mouth for the first time and knowing that my future would have many more in it. I loved it. I loved it, and not because it was Bradley’s dick but because it was a dick. My stupid girlfriends had it all wrong; cocks weren’t gross, cocks were awesome. Abby watched me with rapt attention.

I circled Zach’s scrotum with my hand and pulled his balls away from his body. I bobbed a few times and then pulled my mouth away and aimed him at Abby’s face. She was ready, eager, and vacuumed him down without hesitation. I dragged my tongue in wide swaths all around his ball sack and watched her suck his dick with fervor. She'd gotten better fast. For an instant, vanity took over and I believed my tutoring was the cause. Then she took him all the way deep without gagging or panic.

He had a hand on each of our heads, guiding us where he wanted, and Abby responded with perfect familiarity. She handled his large member with practiced ease.

Then it hit me.

Abby has done this before. Abby has done this before, with Zach. In fact, she was so comfortable I realized Abby had sucked this cock many, many times. I'd been played. I pushed his nuts out of my mouth.

"How long have you been blowing him?" I asked, and she gave me a wink and the most wicked smile I'd ever seen.

"A few months."

She aimed his cock back at me and I instinctively opened wide. I was in it now so why the fuck not? She moved down to his nuts and I concentrated on the shaft. Lucky bastard. He did not last much longer. What man could?

Abby and I repeatedly swapped places, pushing him ever closer, but he was in my mouth when he came. I unfaithfully gulped hot, salty sperm for the second time. I sucked harder, my tongue like a snake inside my mouth, trying to make this young man ejaculate his brains out. He came a lot. I left him near comatose.

I leaned back and wiped my lips. Abby's eyes danced with laughter.

Zach was wiped out so I led Abby from the room and closed the door. In the hallway, I asked why she created this complicated charade.

"Zach came to pick me up after work and saw you through the shop window. He said he wanted you. After you put my hands on Tommy, I came up with this idea."

"You tricked me. You're terrible."

She rubbed her tongue inside her cheek. "Was it really so bad?"

I had no defense. "You're an amazing actress," I said. "I had no idea Zach was your boyfriend. I had no idea you were dating anyone."

"I'm not, and he's not my boyfriend. He has a girlfriend. Some dumb cheerleader. Zach and I have the same study period so I'd see him every day in the library. I totally chased him and offered sex with no strings attached and he said hell yeah. Now he texts whenever he wants some and I take care of him. He cums a lot, doesn't he?"

“Buckets. I guess that answers if he can keep a secret. Can you?”

“Yeah. I need this job.”

We cleaned up and balanced the till and Zach joined us fully clothed once more.

“Let’s do this again tomorrow,” he said.

I froze. Abby and Zach started laughing.

I said, “Fuck you guys,” and threw a dirty towel at Abby’s head.

The spirit of Party Girl stayed with me and I was guilt-free until home rose in my headlights. Upstairs a light burned and I pictured Robert in his office, working diligently on our future. I started to cry. I continued past the house, pulling over in the parking lot of a small park nearby. What was wrong with me? Am I so afraid of getting older? That I’m selfish is a given but this level of immaturity and irresponsibility shocked me. I’d sucked off two men without hesitation. Robert has been nothing but faithful, loving, and kind. I’m a piece of shit.

I left the car running and found some sad music and sat sobbing, feeling awful and wavering between confessing everything and taking my lumps and burying what I’d done forever, never to repeat it. My friends say a woman cheats when she’s unhappy but I disagree. I order dessert even after a scrumptious meal. I visit Disneyland even though I’m already happy. I had zero problems with Robert. He meets my needs. What I’d done with these other men was extra. I have everything and still want more

Robert sent a text asking when I’d be home and I replied I was leaving work now and I’d be there soon. He said he had chicken pizza in the oven waiting for me which started a whole new wave of tears. When I finished crying, I realized I’d made my choice; bury it and never repeat.

I turned on my dome light and fixed my make-up in the rearview. I drove home.

Chapter 7

How could he not know? I felt guilty with every word I spoke, every breath I took. I felt so blatantly obviously horribly guilty. Why didn’t Robert see it? I shared the boring details of my day, avoiding my tryst with Abby and Zach, and Robert nodded along patiently. With each passing minute, my resolve to behave grew stronger. I promised myself no more. From this moment forward, I'd be the perfect wife.

I realized I should at least mention the game Abby was playing with Zach, in case it came up later. Robert was instantly interested.

"I've only met Abby twice," he said. "But I'm surprised she's fooling around with a guy who has a girlfriend. She seems so meek and introverted."

"I'm shocked too. I left them alone while I cleaned up."

He started asking questions about Zach, how tall and muscular and did I think he was handsome? I answered vaguely, played it off as a couple of crazy young kids having fun.

"But you did give him a massage?"

"Yes."

"Did you call Abby back to help you like you did with Thomas?"

Well, shit. I'd hoped to avoid revealing too much but piling lies on top of each other is a bad idea. I forced a casual chuckle.

"Yeah, last client. I handed him off to Abby and started closing up shop."

He was thoughtful for a moment, wrestling with a question. "These clients of yours; do you ever see them naked?"

"All the time, Baby, but only for an instant. There are rules. I'll see a flash of skin here and there as they undress or a towel slips. No biggie."

An inscrutable veil dropped over his face. I hate how hard he is to read. His body relaxed and he tried to sound utterly unconcerned when next he spoke: "Does rubbing any of these guys ever turn you on a little?"

We often comment when we find an actor or musician or athlete attractive. This should have been a routine question between us. The fact that Robert made sure he came across as disinterested told me this question meant more to him than he was showing. I assumed he was feeling a little jealous so I was about to water down my answer when some nagging sense tickled the base of my skull. I went fishing.

"Sometimes."

"Which ones? Who?"

"Why? Won't it bother you to know?"

I saw the curtain fall back into place.

"I was just curious. Never mind. How's the pizza?"

I let him go. I found it odd he would ask such questions yet not from jealousy, but the topic, given what I'd done with Zach, made me nervous enough I wanted to drop the whole thing. "The pizza is excellent. I love the spicy red sauce."

That was it. We moved on to mundane topics the rest of the night.

In bed, unable to sleep, we both tossed and turned for a while until Robert rolled over without a word and slipped under the covers. His tongue quickly found my slit. I heard: "You're soaked," muffled through the covers and then he flicked his tongue across my clit and sent a jolt of electricity through me. He ate me until I came and then joined me on the pillow to sleep. Selfless, like I said.

For the rest of the week, nothing happened. Abby and I closed most evenings and Robert and I enjoyed our time at home before bed. Life followed the normal routines. Then Saturday arrived. Before bed last night Robert asked if I was riding in the morning and I'd said yes, but now that I faced the reality I had second thoughts. I swore to myself I'd behave and loaded the bike.

There were five of us and all went well until we hit the summit. I said I was going to stretch a cramp and the others should go on without me and Josh, being the responsible gentleman he is, said he'd stay with me until I was ready to ride. The party left us alone. I waited until they were gone several full minutes and then backed Josh up to a tree. I couldn't wait to get at his pretty dick. I pulled down his tight shorts and had his cock in my mouth before it stopped bouncing around. He played with my tits and stroked my hair and said he wanted to fuck me but I told him no.

"That goes too far, Mr. McGregor. Just hurry and give me your cum, Josh, we need to catch the others."

He got hard fast. Faster than a sixty-something should. His erection had a graceful upward curve and healthy pink skin. Completely hairless took me a moment but I decided I loved it. He looked so virile

"Don't hold back," I said, "and don't worry about me. Just drain your balls."

I stared down the barrel and closed my mouth over the head. His moan of pleasure gave me goose bumps. I love cock. He fucked my mouth while I sucked hard and stroked with both hands. When I felt him twitch, I moved even faster. I ripped his sperm out of him, vacuuming his load up from his nuts. He braced himself against the tree and covered his mouth and hot, slick fluid began gushing all over my tongue.

That blowjob seemed like a great idea at the time but the inevitable guilt squeezed me and regret ruined my weekend. I began to doubt I had the necessary willpower to stop. I suspected I needed to discontinue my Saturday morning rides altogether.

I was still quiet at work Monday, struggling with my own shortcomings, when Abby pulled me aside.

“I need a huge favor,” she whispered. “I need to borrow your house for a few hours tomorrow afternoon.”

I got it right away. “For you and Zach.”

“Yeah. My parents are both home and so are his and his girlfriend is starting to suspect. We need someplace safe, someplace off our map. You have tomorrow off and you said Robert works weekdays so there you go.”

My brain said bad idea but my heart said young love and better my place than the back seat of a car where some cop catches them. Also, Zach and Abby had dirt on me now and while I knew Abby would never betray me, I also know better than to come between a young man and pussy.

“Fine. Noon.”

She clapped with joy and flashed that wicked smile. “See you then.”

The next morning, Robert kissed my head on the way out and mumbled something I didn’t quite catch. I fell back asleep. Sunlight through the blinds woke me around ten.

Shower, coffee, news.

A knock on the door at eleven-thirty. Abby and Zach, trying hard to avoid being seen. I usher them inside. I blush, a little, seeing Zach and remembering his penis in my mouth, but I recover and show them to Jessica’s room. I point out her bathroom and towels and inform them this is my daughter’s room so please don’t be disgusting.

Zach pulls his shirt off and yeah, I checked out his hard abs. Abby was fawning over me, thanking me for granting them this opportunity, when Zach kicked off his shoes and dropped his pants. No underwear, just a nice hefty cock. I took Abby by the arm and turned her to face him. She stopped talking.

“Get to work, girl,” I whispered.

She left me and they kissed passionately. She’s got this quirky cuteness to her and he’s handsome like Hollywood and they make an adorable couple. I watched them for a bit, stepping behind the door jamb. He undressed her and I found myself growing excited. I may have been wild in college but that did not include the ladies. I like dick. Girls hit on me and I was flattered but that spark never caught.

Abby, on the other hand, was a lovable dork. She's cute enough, but her attractiveness is mostly personality. I knew her well and watching him undress her made it personal and intimate. I was in voyeur mode before I knew it. When he slid the dress off her shoulder and exposed a breast, I got a little hot. Abby had nice tits. She's a little heavy but most of the weight is in her boobs and because of her age they were as firm as pineapples. Her nipples were puffy and looked incredibly sensitive. Zach closed his mouth over one and Abby melted, groaning and clinging to his neck for support. Her fingers wrapped around his dick.

I needed to walk away. This was private.

I stayed where I was.

Abby was so eager to get his cock in her mouth she still had panties tangled around one ankle. She opened wide and pushed him in and I sighed a little on the inside. Nice dick. Nice body. Sweet, handsome young man.

Soon she pushed him onto his back, rolled a condom down his length, and climbed up. She reached down to guide him in and her gasp of pleasure got to me. She rode him slowly at first but then ground her hips hard until an orgasm shook her. Her moans turned into laughter and she collapsed on top.

That was fast. Little Slut.

Zach allowed Abby to recover before he rolled her onto her back and spread her legs wide. Obscenely wide. Her panties dangled and her pussy flowered. I saw her engorged labia, open and hungry, with his throbbing erection aimed right at her. Hot young lust is sexy as fuck. I palmed my right tit and felt the hard nipple beneath my T-shirt. His dick looked delicious, even wrapped in latex. His ass flexed and half his length disappeared inside. Abby's sigh of contentment excited me. He fucked her a long time and then pushed deep and held it. They kissed.

His eyes came up to mine. I panicked.

"Sorry!" I turned to leave.

"Come here," Abby called. "I need to ask you something."

I stopped and peeked around the corner. "What?"

"Come here, silly. Zach won't bite you. Come here."

I approached the bed, furiously uncomfortable and feeling like a perverted intruder. My gaze jumped from his hot young body to hers. Zach saw my discomfort and pulled out, hard cock gleaming and waving. He tugged the condom off and palmed it.

“Who wants water?” he asked. “I’ll flush this and be right back.”

I said I did.

“Come closer,” Abby said.

I leaned over the bed. “What?”

Abby grabbed the front of my shirt and pulled my lips down to hers. Her tongue pushed into my mouth. Her free hand grabbed my tit. I tried to retreat but she was surprisingly strong. I found myself returning the kiss. I cupped her breast. Jessica’s Wonder Woman poster looked down on me disapprovingly.

Zach returned with water and watched us making out, and I made sure we put on a sexy show. When Abby tangled her fingers in my hair and pushed my face towards her young pussy, I tensed. I’ve never tasted pussy in my life. Did I want to start now?

Unsure, I debated too long. Abby lifted her hips to my mouth. Her little hairless slit came into focus. Her face was pure expectant glee and in many ways, I saw she wanted my mouth on her more than she wanted Zach.

How long had she had a girl-crush on me? I’d missed it entirely and now I was about to slide my tongue into her tight, teenage cunt.

When I did, Abby squealed. If she wanted me so much, I was going to make her happy. I dove in, licking and sucking her small pussy as only a woman could. I pushed a finger in. Then another. Zach leaned against the bedroom wall and stroked his thick dick. I slurped and nibbled and licked and teased until Abby was almost sobbing. I secretly waved Zach closer and continued my feast until Abby arched her back and screamed, gushing pussy juice into my mouth. My tongue was a whip on her clit.

Before she could come down I pulled Zach by his dick and in one move aimed him into Abby’s pussy. Her eyes flew open. I got out of the way so Zach could fuck her but now my pussy tingled. I moved up the bed and straddled her face, lowering my opening to her mouth.

The girl had clearly eaten a lot of pussy because Goddamn, she was amazing. I ripped off my shirt and now we were all naked. I reached behind to play with her tits and she squeezed my butt cheeks. The next instant her finger pushed up my ass. Dirty girl. I must admit it made me crazy hot. I groaned and ground my slit on her tongue. She finger-fucked my little backdoor hole.

“Kiss me,” she groaned and I walked my knees back and bent over to comply.

That’s when Zach pulled out of her pussy and buried himself in mine. I freaked! This was way more than a blowjob! In my mind, I was truly cheating on Robert and I had to get away. I tried to struggle but Zach pulled my arms behind me and Abby kept my mouth busy with kisses. His thick, hard cock began a back and forth along with her finger-fucking my ass, and my argument just died. It all felt so fucking good. Abby laughed triumphantly and I wondered if this was another one of their conspiracies. He twisted my arms behind me, exposing my vulnerable cunt, and fucked this housewife and mother of one.

He had no real technique. He was too young and inexperienced. He just jackhammered my hole, trusting his big cock to please me like it had all the other girls he’d fucked. Never underestimate the power of a big hard dick. I love it. Abby pushed my head down and a moment later I was eating young pussy at one end and get young dick at the other.

God, I was so fucking turned on!

I stopped fighting. I didn’t care that they’d captured me. This was too much. Zach sensed my shift and released my arms and I wrapped them around Abby’s thighs and ate her sweet little pussy. He gripped my hips and hammered away.

The Party Girl howled in my brain.

After a while we changed positions and Zach fucked Abby missionary while I licked his balls from behind. After that it was my turn missionary and Zach cupped my butt to send his cock deep. We changed positions again. I came, Abby came, I came, Abby came. It was madness.

I was on all fours again with Zach behind me and Abby in a sixty-nine beneath, when slight movement outside the room caught my eye. My eyes darted but I continued eating Abby. Through the small vertical gap between door and wall, I saw Robert, my sweet husband, staring.

My heart sank. I was busted!

A flood of regret and guilt washed over me. I never wanted him to find out this way. Not like this. I should have told him sooner. I pretended I hadn’t seen him as my mind raced for my next step and my heart hammered. I thought about jumping up and running to him, begging forgiveness. I thought about quietly slipping off the bed, leaving Abby and Zach to each other, and going to my husband to explain. I thought of a hundred excuses and rationalizations.

Before I could do anything, additional movement drew my eye again. Robert was watching through that narrow gap and his arm moved rhythmically. For a moment, I was baffled. Then I understood. My husband was masturbating! I saw colors bounce in and out of the light and realized he held a bouquet of flowers. I dimly remembered him saying something to me as he left this morning. Was today the half-day he'd mentioned weeks ago? He moved closer to the door and light fell on his hand pumping his small penis. He jacked-off watching hot young Zach pound me and nerdy Abby eat me. This was insane. He was watching me get fucked and doing nothing!

My heart restarted but what next? I waited for him to do something, but he just continued spying. In the shock of discovery, I'd become almost motionless, but, lost in sexual abandon, neither of them had noticed.

I risked eye-contact with my husband and hoped he did not freak out. Our eyes met and now we knew the other knew. He stared blankly, unreadable as always, gazing at his bride fucked like a dog, stroking his petite penis as he witnessed me bred on our daughter's bed. Zach was an unskilled lover but God his cock felt good. I held my husband's gaze but the urgency of Zach rocked me. My hips began to move on their own. I couldn't resist that penetrating piece of meat. With Robert's eyes still locked to mine, I began to slowly thrust back at Zach.

Robert's hand jerked faster! Amazing. I lowered my mouth to Abby and lifted my pussy higher, offering my married cunt to the young man behind me. Zach knew what that meant and began pounding my hips, driving his teen cock deep.

I lasted a short time. I assumed there was no way I'd orgasm but this was overwhelming. Zach felt so good and the salacious rush of my husband's eyes on me pushed me over the limit. What a whore I am. Fucked like an animal with my husband as witness. Guilt and shame combined into a toxic cocktail of sin. I climaxed howling into a pillow and jerking and convulsing on that stiff young rod. Robert made no sound but I saw a spurt of white jizz splash through the opening. My husband climaxed watching me climax.

Robert's single eyeball gleamed. Zach hammered my cunt faster and announced he was going to cum and where did I want it and I knew I needed to tell him to pull out. How could I drive the dagger so deep into my poor husband? Surely seeing such a thing would kill him. I cried out, torn between desire and loyalty. I sobbed, but my mind would not send the words. I told Zach nothing. Swooning with overwhelming lust, I let him do as he will. Robert and I kept our gaze riveted to each other.

Zach's strong hands squeezed my butt. He sucked a lungful of air and held it. I knew what was about to happen and did nothing to prevent it.

"Fuck!" Zach cried. "Oh, Fuck! Yeah!"

He slammed his hips to my ass and I felt his hard cock twitching, spurting and jerking as he shot his hot load inside me. Abby moved from under to kiss the young man and I kept my eyes open, giving my husband at least the small gesture of maintaining our connection. Robert shifted position again and I saw his spent penis drooling cum. He wiped himself clean and tucked it away, zipped up and silently moved down the hall away from us. Abby and Zach were oblivious Robert was home.

Zach blew his massive load rapidly. Abby flopped onto the bed gleefully, kicking her feet with delight. Zach forced every goddamn drop of sperm out and then fell to lie next to Abby. They cuddled.

"Fucking without a condom is awesome," Zach beamed, still breathing hard.

"You're lucky, Mrs. Rhoades," Abby said. "I can't take the pill."

Lucky me. I remained with my young friends for a while, small talking, but then they said they needed to leave. Abby had to get home and Zach was headed to his retail job. I helped them dress and waited in bed while they showed themselves out. My head and my heart were a tumultuous mess but I knew I had to face Robert.

I did not cover up.

Once they were gone I straightened Jessica's room and headed for the master bedroom where Robert waited, sitting on our bed and staring at the floor. A bouquet of flowers lay at the foot of the bed. He's not an expressive man. His emotions pass through an intellectual filter before they see the light of day. He shows little but I know him and I know he feels a great deal.

I stood in the doorway, naked, a droplet of Zach running far down my inner thigh. Our eyes met and I waited for him to speak but he didn't.

There was so much to say but I had no idea where to begin. To be near him, I crawled onto our bed. His eyes churned with emotion but he said nothing. He placed a hand on my bare knee.

When he kissed my thigh, I was surprised. Relief flooded me. He trailed soft kisses up my leg, moving dangerously close to my cheating pussy. I wondered if I smelled like sex.

When he gently nudged my legs wider, I was astonished. I felt his eyes burning into my little slit. I must have looked a mess.

When he lowered his mouth to my just-fucked cunt, I was stunned. He buried his head between my legs and his tongue split my messy labia like a bolt of lightning.

I wanted to stop him. I needed him to talk to me. I desperately wanted to hear what he was feeling, what he thought of me, if we were okay. But this was Robert.

He lapped at my tender pussy until I could no longer resist him. It felt so good in so many ways. My arousal shot through the roof. Robert grew more aggressive until he was licking and sucking, rooting in me like a pig in a trough. It was nasty and disgusting and sexual and raw. We were animals. I felt a surge of reckless abandon.

This surpassed even my most wanton Party Girl memories. I grabbed his head and aimed his tongue where I wanted it. I soon realized I was going to climax yet again and I let it happen, flooding my husband with a mix of juices.

I was utterly wiped out. I rolled face down on the bed. He lay next to my body, kissing my shoulder and holding me, and I waited for him to say something, anything. He'd caught his wife cheating. He'd seen her lover fill her with sperm. Surely he had some protest, some angry objection? Even if he wasn't angry, certainly something needed to be said? I was ready for it. I deserved it. In the big picture, I had no idea what his voyeur routine at the door meant, but I knew it had to mean something. I knew we could not simply sweep it under the rug. I desperately hoped what I'd done did not mean the end of us. I loved him. I was in love with my husband. I wanted to stay with him always. I began preparing my I'm-sorry-and-it-will-never-happen-again speech.

We lay in silence for many minutes.

"Are you hungry?" he asked at last.

I was flabbergasted.

“Thirsty?”

I couldn't believe it. Fucking unbelievable. I met his cavalier with cavalier.

“I know it's early but I'd love a cranberry martini.”

He got out of bed to make it. I was dumbstruck. My sweet man went to make his no-good cheating-wife slut-whore a martini. I rolled on my back to stare at the ceiling. What a fucking day. Zach in my pussy and the taste of Abby in my mouth. I'd eaten my first pussy ever. I'd cheated and gotten caught. The room seemed to spin a little.

Robert returned with a beautiful red drink. I sat up to sip and met his eyes but the veil was impenetrable. I sipped my drink in silence. He sat on the edge of the bed.

I couldn't handle it. I had to say something. “What are you feeling, Robert? Can you tell me? Will you share just that?”

He struggled to articulate. “I'm not sure,” he murmured. He seemed embarrassed.

“Are you hurt? Are you angry?”

He chewed his inside bottom lip. “Not hurt or angry. I guess I'm supposed to feel those things, but I don't. No doubt other men in my position would.”

“Are you uncomfortable you don't? Are you worried you'll explode later?”

“I am embarrassed. I can see how odd I appear. I won't explode later. I'm not angry. Honest.”

“Robert, Baby, I cheated on you. I'm the one to feel embarrassment, not you. You have every right to be angry, furious, in fact. Lay into me. Blast me to pieces.”

He stared at the carpet. “I'm just weird, I guess.”

I did not understand, but his pained expression told me I was making it worse.

“No, my love,” I said. “If that's how you feel, that's how you feel. I'm not criticizing you, I'm just surprised.”

Sperm dripped from my pussy and I dabbed it away, wiping my finger on our sheets. He watched my hand, his gaze intense.

“Was this the first time?” he asked. “Have you...enjoyed...Josh or any of the guys at the parlor?”

Enjoyed. The vagueness of that word perfectly captured Robert. His question also gave me a golden opportunity, a perfect chance to confess and get out from under. My voice dripped with guilt: “Yes, I have.”

“How?”

“Blowjobs. Three. Josh twice. Thomas and Zach, once, with Abby, before today.” I looked at the floor, cheeks burning. “Today was the first time intercourse happened and it wasn’t my fault. They tricked me.”

I explained the events leading up to my fall from grace. I described their ruse at the massage parlor and then the deception in Jessica’s bedroom, which I believed was premeditated. I gave him all the details he’d missed.

I stopped talking because my words sounded lame even to me, but also because Robert squirmed and turned his body slightly away. He laid his arms awkwardly across his lap. I’m so dense. I had no idea why.

“I’ll never do it again, Honey. I swear it. I promise. I love you.”

“I love you too, Maddie. Let me get you a refill.”

He took my glass and headed for the kitchen but not before I saw the bump in his pants. He wasn’t hard, but he was on his way. I hadn’t made him uncomfortable, I’d gotten him excited. I was at a loss.

Robert returned and sat my drink on the nightstand. He kissed me softly, on the lips, and sat next to me again. His hand floated down to my thigh.

We shared several awkward moments, neither knowing what to say.

Finally, he kissed me and then, unbelievably, lowered his face to my crotch again. I was too tired and confused to stop him. If this was what he needed, then I would give it to him. I didn’t need to understand first.

I leaned against the headboard and spread my legs, showing him my slippery hole. God, his soft tongue felt amazing. I expected him to fuck me but he jacked-off as he licked and sucked, shooting all over my foot about fifteen minutes later. I wanted him but in a way, I was grateful. My poor pussy was exhausted.

I knew that was all the conversation I was going to get from him. He’ll digest what happened here today and I’d hear something about it two weeks from now. I had to be patient and understanding. This was Robert’s way.

Chapter 8

Robert spoke four words of importance the rest of the day. Hours later I tried to shower but he pulled me down to the floor and ate my pussy again. This time I came like a fucking volcano. He came up to kiss me and I tasted Zach on his tongue and napalm exploded in my mind. This was madness.

I finally did get that shower and we were lying in bed staring at a show on the television when he spoke the four words I mentioned earlier: “Zach’s dick is big.”

I wondered what that meant to him. Why would a man say such a thing? Robert nuzzled my neck and slipped an arm around me. Would he like to know Josh is kind of hefty too? Robert is aware of his below-average size. He’s joked about it a few times over the years and seems perfectly comfortable. He knows I don’t care and I’m happy with our sex. He satisfies me. So why mention Zach? Was he fishing for my reaction?

“He really is,” I agreed. “But he’s not just big, he also gets hard as marble. Youth, I suppose. I felt him way up here.” I placed a finger at my belly button.

For an instant I thought Robert might say something, but no.

We spent the remainder of the day just hanging out. His boss had forced him to take a half day but we’d made no plans so we just watched movies and enjoyed each other’s company. Every few hours I’d get a flood of images from my morning and my temperature would shoot up, but I’d resolved Robert needed to start any conversation about what I’d done. I wasn’t going to nag him. I’d given him opportunity already.

He went down on me again just before bedtime. I tried to pull him on top because despite my unfaithful adventure and his seeming acceptance of it, I still needed reassurance. I needed his loving touch. He resisted, masturbating as his tongue whipped me into a screaming mass of flesh, jacking off until he spit his load into his own palm which he then carried to the bathroom and washed down the sink.

Of course, he never admitted anything to me, but I think he loved that Zach was inside me and he wasn’t. I swear he wanted to keep me marked by another male. I know that sounds preposterous but with each passing hour I felt more confident I was onto the truth.

In the morning, our routine was exactly the same, but mentally, everything was different. The sunlight seemed brighter, breakfast tasted better, my coffee had an extra kick. Robert whistled as he dressed and kissed me passionately at the front door.

For me, guilt had taken a back seat to giddy. I felt elated. My body vibrated. I'd had my first new lover in twenty years and nothing compares to a new lover. Nothing. My husband knew what I'd done yet we felt closer than ever. I felt light and airy.

We got home from work about the same time. He asked about my day but lost interest when I described standard boring clients. I mentioned Josh had text me and we'd be riding alone on Saturday, a jolt of electricity raced through him. As impossible as it sounds, I think my husband wanted me to fool around. For reasons I could not fathom, he secretly wanted me to stray.

I thought back to our last year in college. Robert and I had met only recently and I dated him along with other men. I remembered feeling surprised how comfortable he was with that arrangement. The other men hated it. I often lost one after he found out. Robert was so comfortable with it he even asked about the other men. I'd always assumed it was self-confidence, which made him considerably more attractive, and it played a huge part in my appraisal of him, possibly even the main reason I married him. He was brilliant and kind too, but I loved how my dating other men did not faze him. He seemed so secure, so mature. I never dreamed he found it exciting. Now I saw all that in a much different light.

I wondered what the rules might be.

Saturday morning Robert got out of bed when I did. We had a light breakfast and coffee and then I showered before changing into my riding gear. When Robert asked if I wanted more coffee, I called out from the shower that I did and asked him to bring me the pot. I did want more coffee, but I wanted him to see I'd shaven myself bare. His hand trembled when I gave him my cup. He couldn't pull his eyes away. He's never seen me completely shaved.

He walked me to my car and helped me load my bike, ogling my body wrapped in tight Spandex. He offered no opinions other than he hoped I had a lovely ride.

Josh was in a great mood and as my exertions no longer left me gasping for air, we chatted all the way up the mountain. There was no pretense when we reached the summit. He held my face and rained fierce kisses on my lips. I rubbed the front of his shorts and pushed them down, feeling his hot cock flop onto my waiting palm. I felt the pulsing surge of life in that heavy tube and tugged firmly.

After a minute, he stepped back and sank to his knees. My shorts came down and he smiled broadly and my smooth, pink pussy.

“Riding, hygiene, aesthetics,” I murmured.

He buried his face in my crotch and his tongue in my pussy. I loved how often my pussy was getting eaten lately. I imagined our bald genitalia slowly merging and knew in that instant I would fuck him today. We were minutes away from it.

His tongue was amazing but I craved loftier pleasures. I made him stand and returned the oral favor and then turned my back while shoving my shorts farther down my legs. I rested a shoulder against a tree trunk and stuck out my ass, pushing my little cunt in his face. Few men can resist that, I’ve learned. Josh misunderstood and leaned over as if to continue eating me.

“No,” I growled. “Put your cock in me.”

“Holy shit!”

I felt his strong hands take my hips and then blunt pressure against my labia and then an explosion of pleasurable sensations as his old, hard cock opened me up. Zach was a little bigger, but Josh was a man. There was no comparison. Josh moved his cock like a magic wand, pressing all my buttons, thrusting hard and fast when that was the perfect thing to do and drawing himself out with agonizing slowness when that was the perfect thing to do. He’d hold himself at my opening until he had me feeling empty and craving his cock.

“Put it back in,” I whined, and he did, forcing the air out of my lungs.

The whirr of bike gears told us we were not alone. Josh, half buried and throbbing, froze and I did too. We heard a mix of voices; some group enjoying the view and catching their breath. Josh held my hips firmly and fed my tunnel one gradual inch at a time, working his cock deep with excruciating slowness. My tormented walls fluttered around him. My already drenched cunt turned on the faucet. His cock head nudged my cervix and I had to bite my hand to remain silent. He pressed forward, buried deep, and sent a surge of blood to thicken his penis. I shoved knuckles into my mouth. He was masterful. With an older man's self-control, he dragged exquisite waves of pleasure from my pussy. Hot lips pressed my shoulder, the nape of my neck.

The voices moved closer, leaving their bikes by ours and walking into the small open area. I was as still as a tombstone. He froze too, but sent another surge of blood, expanding inside my already tight tunnel. I squeezed my eyes closed and savored his cock in me, exhaling softly through my nose.

They did not see us and after a minute or two, returned to their ride. Josh grabbed a handful of hair and sawed his stiff cock in and out. I was so wet I sloshed.

He growled "Birth control?" and I tried to answer but only grunts and gasps escaped my constricted throat. With his free hand, he shoved my top towards my chin and freed my big tits from underneath. His touch felt so good. My nipples screamed when he handled them and I felt the first tingle of imminent climax. I wanted to cum on his dick so badly. With wonderful timing and strong thrusts, he moved me closer to orgasm every second. Up and up and up my tension built until my cunt locked around him like a clamp.

"Unnngh, Christ, you're tight. I'm gonna blow soon."

Those words were all I needed. I clawed bark off the tree as my pussy spasmed and my orgasm slammed me. My head rolled back and a strangled gurgle rattled my throat. I came so hard! His big cock filled me end to end and pinned me to the tree. I felt the front of his legs against the back of mine, my tunnel stretched into his shape, his fingers in my hair. He was taking me, taking me away from my husband, my daughter, my cozy life. His cock pulsed with urgent want. This was pure male-female mating.

An instant later he swelled and growled hotly in my ear. He pushed deep and held it there, spitting and squirting. Delicious heat spread within as he flooding my tubes, sending his seed searching. I ground my ass against his hips trying to coax every drop. He shot cum a long time.

We remained standing and after some time he quipped about waiting long enough to do it again. I waited for my standard wave of guilt that never came. Only when his cock deflated enough he was about to slide out did he withdraw and help me stand. A light sweat covered his forehead. A strand of semen hung from his dick. He had his shorts around his ankles like me. I straightened my top, covering my tits. We pulled our shorts up.

“You okay?” he asked.

I did a quick search inside. “I’m good,” I said. “Surprisingly guilt free.”

He studied my face. “In that case, I say next time needs to be in a big bed.”

“Next time?”

“Fuck yes. I want you as often as I can have you.”

“I’m happily married, Josh.”

“I get that. Not looking to bring down a marriage.”

“Oh, you just want to use me for sex.”

He stepped close. “Yes. That’s right. Wild, hot, passionate sex.”

I checked my outfit and smoothed some wrinkles. “We’ll see.”

He stepped closer to give me a peck on the lips and then headed for the bikes. Minutes later we were flying down the mountain.

I made a mental note to check on birth control.

Chapter 9

Robert was on me as I stepped through the kitchen door. He asked all the usual questions but there was a nervous energy about him. He hovered. I said I wanted to shower and he followed me and sat on our bed. I saw his eyes roam my naked body, searching for clues, seeking answers. I don’t know why he didn’t come right out and ask the questions. He seemed to prefer the mystery, the possibility.

I felt the pressure building in him and when I left the bathroom I stood naked before him, looking down at my sweet husband. I towed dry slowly. His gaze crawled my skin. I suspected what was coming next and I was right. He slid from the bed to his knees and covered my vulva with his open mouth. Want to feel like a master of the universe? Have your husband eat your cheating pussy. You’ll either burst into tears or feel like a God. I held his head with both hands and rested a hamstring on his shoulder. His probing tongue was reverent, almost worshipful. I closed my eyes in bliss and let the man show me how much he loved me.

Just over an hour later Jessica called and we caught up on New York and her trip. She was having the time of her life and asked if we missed her. We did and I told her so.

“Your voice sounds so calm, mom,” she chuckled. “So relaxed. Is it because I’m not around?”

I laughed too but assured her that wasn’t so. I blamed it on fatigue from all the exercise. Robert spoke to her for a few minutes and then we signed off. I set my phone down. Robert’s eyes burned into me. He was eaten alive by curiosity. All he had to do was ask. The man needs to learn how to express himself. I can’t always do all the communicating for us.

Did I fuck Josh to force Robert to talk? No. I fucked Josh because I love hot sex and that man was sexy. I fucked Josh because I suspected I had my husband’s approval, even encouragement. I fucked Josh because he has an incredible body and a lovely penis and he’s an attractive man.

I gave Robert a coy smile and a kiss on the cheek. “Come with me.”

I took his hand and led him to the bedroom. I slipped out of my bathrobe and, naked, took my place against the headboard. I spread my legs wide open. Robert’s gaze fell to my pussy, as any man’s would.

“Do you like her hairless?” I asked.

“Very much. She’s a pretty girl.”

“Glad to hear it.” I opened my labia with two fingers. “Did I taste okay...earlier?”

Robert swallowed hard. I was getting to him.

“Delicious. Extra wet. Slippery. I loved it. Do you want me to do that again?”

I shook my head. “No. I want you to strip and then get on the bed. I want to watch you jack off, Robert. I want you to look at my pussy while you do it. I want to see you cum in your free hand and then wash your sperm down the sink.”

He swallowed hard again, mouth suddenly dry, but began removing clothes. He was already hard when his pants came down. My instincts were right. I patted the bed.

“Kneel right here, facing me, and let me watch.”

“All right.”

His penis looked extra small in his hand since I had just come from Josh. He started stroking.

“Like this?”

“Perfect,” I said.

His eyes left mine to fasten on my pussy. I let him stare for a minute.

“Zach is still in there,” I said.

He sucked a quick gasp of air. He stroked faster. I didn’t understand why it was working on him but it clearly was.

Robert’s no wimp. He’s no pushover. He’s not weak or emasculated. But I believed I’d discovered a fetish. He loved knowing another had fucked me. I don’t judge. Every one of us is nuts.

I let him masturbate for a minute and then opened my legs wider. My outer labia parted, revealing my puffy inner lips. I tilted my hips to give him a better view. The tension in the air was thick and growing.

“Since you mentioned Zach, I think you’d like to know Josh is big too.”

My husband started breathing through an open mouth. One hand flew up and down his penis and the other tugged on his scrotum. His face was flush. I was driving him crazy. I had his full attention.

I opened my labia. “Zach is still in there,” I repeated. “And he’s not alone.”

Robert’s eyes narrowed. He took a second to connect why I had mentioned Josh and then the circuit closed. His eyes grew big.

“Oh, dear God,” he breathed.

“You have a bad, bad wife, Baby.”

His hand was a blur.

“Remember us back in college, Honey? Back when we first started dating? I was seeing you along with other men. I realize now you liked that. I should have spotted it sooner. I’m thinking it might be fun to pretend we are doing that again. Would you like to watch me get ready for a date, Honey? Is that what my bike rides have been to you?”

He moved the hand from his balls to create a little cup at the tip of his penis. I knew he was already close. I’d guessed correctly.

“Josh says he wants to fuck me in a nice big bed.”

Robert moaned. His breathing was ragged. I looked around at our mattress.

“I think this one will do nicely.”

He groaned and his back hunched.

“Can you imagine another man fucking me in this bed?”

His dick started spitting milk. His hips made small thrusting movements, as if he was inside a woman, and jets of cum filled his palm with sperm. He moaned and I watched waves of pleasure cross his face. He was caught in an erotic heat, so different from our love-making. I had his mind dancing, sizzling and popping like grease in a frying pan.

“Do you want to watch us?”

That really got him. I was startled by his powerful reaction. He groaned from deep in his chest and his eyes rolled back. His ass clenched and he thrust his hips forward as far as he could. This climax was different from any other.

When he finished, his body trembled. Milky fluid filled his hand. Our eyes met. He looked exhausted, drained, embarrassed, and slightly humiliated. I wanted him to know his secret was safe with me.

“That was hot, Honey. I loved it. That was sexy.”

My words helped. He swung a leg off the bed and moved to the bathroom sink, careful not to spill. He started the water and then passed his hand under the stream. I watched him wash his precious seed down the drain, powerfully aware that inside me, that liquid could possibly have created another Jessica or even a son, but now, symbolically, marked our first step down a new path. My mind raced with erotic possibilities. I felt I explored a vast cave complex in pitch darkness. I had to proceed slowly, feeling my way forward.

He climbed on the bed to hold me and I was shocked by how hot he was. Feverish. Little tremors shook him as he recovered from the intense orgasm brushing against his fetish had produced. I was on to something here, something deep and powerful.

Chapter 10

Sunday, I told Robert I needed to go shopping for new pants but mostly I just needed to get out of the house to think. I wandered the mall, trying on clothes and reflecting on all that had happened. I stopped for lunch and a handsome waiter brought me salad and a glass of wine. We flirted harmlessly and as I watched his firm ass walk away I realized if I wanted more, I had only to take it. I gasped and sent my gaze around the restaurant; half a dozen attractive men sat within fifty feet of me, any one of them a potential lover. The world, as they say, was my oyster. My body warmed.

A man in the corner caught me looking and smiled. Wouldn't strangers be a better choice than men I knew? They were certainly less complicated. I should leave clients alone. I'd gotten lucky so far but that could end in an instant. One wrong guess or someone walking into my room when they shouldn't and I was out of a job and publicly shamed. I'd lose my license. Strangers, on the other hand, would be perfect. A little more dangerous but that only made them more exciting. This was better than college.

I dug my phone out of my purse and sent Robert a text: Love you, Honey. Grabbing a bite and flirting with my handsome waiter.

I hit send and waited. I had no idea how he'd respond or if he even would. I had just finished my salad when my phone buzzed.

Touching?

God bless him. At least I got him talking, sort of.

Not yet.

My waiter returned with the bill and since the restaurant was slow I chatted him up. He was recently single, working while he tried to get his music produced, and intelligent. He looked directly at my diamond wedding ring and then asked for my number. I gave it to him and then signed my bill leaving a nice tip. After he walked away, I text Robert again.

I just gave him my number.

Best to take things slow. I was having a blast. I hadn't felt so adventurous in decades and I was loving it.

I left the restaurant and continued browsing but I found myself looking at every man I passed in a new way. My world was full of possible lovers again. Rusty gears started to turn in my brain. Portions of my imagination woke and shook off the dust of years. I bought a small cup of ice cream and sat on a bench by a fountain to eat it and noticed a sexy mannequin in the store window. She wore a short skirt and frilly top and after my last bite I went in and tried the outfit on. I was uncomfortable in front of the mirror because I showed a lot of skin but I took several deep breathes and calmed myself. Everyone said I looked better than I thought I did. I needed to believe them and not my own fucked up sense of body image.

I told the salesgirl I'd take it and wear it out. My heart raced as I continued shopping. My short skirt and deep cleavage turned heads wherever I went and I ate it up, growing hornier by the minute.

I left the mall and for the first ten minutes I thought I was heading for home. Sure, I was taking a slightly different route than I usually drive, but that was just me mixing things up. Right? I thought so until I turned a corner and entered the parking lot of Alvina Townhomes. I drove to the back and parked. I opened my phone and scrolled through the names.

Tony Hahn.

I drummed my fingers on my thigh. Why was I here?

Stupid question. The real question was; how far will I go?

I selected his name and typed a text; Busy?

I sat and waited. Sunday meant football for Tony so he might be out at a pub or he may be home with friends over. I watched some kids play with a black puppy in a grassy courtyard, running and squealing for joy. My phone chimed.

Never too busy for you. What's up?

I panicked. Honestly, I lifted my key towards the ignition, ready to get the hell out of there. Mixed emotions swirled inside me. I inserted the key and stopped, frozen. A battle raged. I withdrew the key and typed.

You home? Alone?

Chime.

Yup and yup. Everything okay?

Now my heart was bouncing around like crazy. My sweaty hands were slick on my phone. I stopped thinking and just hit the keys.

Want company?

Long pause. Doubt crept in and I again reached for the ignition.

Chime.

Yes. #1100

I took a huge breath, held it, exhaled slowly. I grabbed my purse and locked my car. As I passed the kids playing I noted the unit numbers and corrected my course, heading for eleven-hundred. I rounded the corner and there he was, standing with the door open, waiting, smiling, T-shirt and sweatpants. His smile faded as his big brown eyes scanned me from head to toes.

“Jesus, Maddie,” he mumbled. “Great outfit.”

I sailed past him and into the dark of his condo. Widescreen, football, packing boxes against the bare walls. Just enough furniture to sit and eat and watch television. He closed the door.

“Can I get you a dri—“

I was on my toes, reaching up and kissing him. He needed a shave and he’d just eaten Fritos. I grabbed the front of his white T-shirt in my fists and pressed my tits against him. He grabbed my ass and pulled my hips hard to his. He slipped a hand under my too-short skirt and squeezed a butt cheek.

“Take it out,” I whined, hardly believing the voice was mine. He fumbled at the drawstring of his sweats and then pushed his pants down. I felt his cock bump the skirt between my legs. My sudden urgency to see it overwhelmed me and I took a step back. He was thick and hairy and manly and I cupped his furry balls.

“Remember how you used to fuck me?” I asked. Nod. “Think you can fuck me like that again?”

His eyebrows shot up but then he grinned. He pulled his shirt off over his head and started removing his sweatpants. “Get those clothes off,” he ordered.

I threw my purse at the couch and kicked my heels off. I ripped my blouse over my head and stepped out of my skirt. I left my pretty panties on just long enough for him to notice because they were cute and lacy and expensive and I wanted him to have a memory of me standing there in them, and then I dropped to my knees and put his cock right in my face.

“I remember you,” I murmured, and he laughed.

“He sure as fuck remembers you, too.”

I kissed the big head and licked up the back of it. He needed to shower but that’s what I get for just showing up. In a way, his musky scent made him sexier. I was in the mood for a man, and Tony was a man. I opened wide and settled the head of his dick squarely on my tongue. I closed my lips around him and gently sucked.

“Oh my fucking Christ,” he exhaled. “Oh Christ. Oh, Maddie.”

I rolled him around and suckled like a baby. I relaxed my throat and let him slide towards the back, making Tony gasp louder with every inch I took. I remembered what he liked from school and slipped my tongue out under his balls and teased. He groaned. I looked up at his scruffy face.

To the side was the coffee table and I dipped my middle finger in a glass of water and then pushed that digit right up his asshole. He whimpered. I laughed around his cock. I began finger-fucking his rectum at the same time I mouth-fucked his dick. He put his hands on my shoulders to balance himself. I learned some tricks since college.

“Maddie, fuck, Maddie, what are you... fucking hell, Maddie.”

I loved it. I hunted for his prostate and rubbed it. His balls twitched.

“Unnngh! Fucking A!”

He pushed his ass back at my finger and I pumped in and out. I had him hard as stone in record time. With my right hand, I pinched the loose skin of his scrotum, avoiding his nuts, and tugged hard. He moaned and groaned, rambling about how amazing I was. I think he worried all he’d get today was a blowjob.

Once I had his dick throbbing hard I slurped on the head and stood. I turned and bent at the waist, placing my hands on the arm of the couch.

“Fuck that cunt,” I told him.

“You always loved that word,” he said.

“It’s a good word.”

He moved up behind me. “Yeah, but you use it more than anyone.”

I was looking at him over my shoulder. His cock was thicker than I remembered and I remembered plenty. That girth had given me some of the best orgasms of my life.

“Shut up and fuck me, Tony.”

He smacked my ass and obscenely pulled my cheeks apart.

“Yeah,” I hissed. “That’s what I need. Treat me dirty.”

His cock entered me like an ocean liner. He felt like a fist moving inside me. I groaned and told him to bury it and that’s exactly what he did.

“AAAagghhhh! Fuck! Yeah, pound me.”

Both hands slapped down on my butt and he squeezed my cheeks. He shoved his wide inches deep. The point of his chin landed between my shoulder blades and whiskers scratched me. I knew I’d have a mark there to show Robert. Tony’s arm circled my waist and his free hand grabbed my bouncing tit. He rolled my nipple around enough to make me yelp. He didn’t apologize. Instead, he withdrew half his cock and slammed it home again.

I clenched my pussy around him and savored the firm fullness. I always loved fucking Tony. He was rough and raw and animalistic; pure blue-collar dock-worker. But, God, that fat fucking pipe. I relished the sensation of him sliding deep and a sudden mild orgasm shook me with a hint of more to come. His cock felt fantastic.

My brain decided now was the perfect time to remind me about birth control but I told that bitch to shut the fuck up. Tony was driving me towards another orgasm and I wanted it badly.

“Jesus, Maddie,” he grunted. “You’re soaked.”

I heard what he was talking about. My pussy sloshed and splashed. Warm droplets splattered my inner thighs as he hammered me from behind. His hairy balls slapped my clitoris. I closed my eyes. This was exactly what I needed. My toes curled into the shag carpet as my cry of climax filled his condo. Knowing Tony, the neighbors hear that a lot. His cock was like a tusk, shoving things around, probing far inside.

“I love fucking you,” he growled.

I held myself still and savored his efforts; bam, bam, bam. I had a man inside me. Bam, bam, bam. I was getting fucked like an animal. I could have stayed in that moment for hours. Every nerve felt like it danced on hot coals.

“How long you staying?” he rumbled. “Should I cum or save it?”

“Cum,” I grunted. “I need to get home.”

I could smell my wet, aroused pussy from here.

He started panting and thrusting harder. He was bruising my guts but in my current mood I loved it. I’d be sore tomorrow and I couldn’t wait. He exhaled through his clenched teeth and I remembered that was the sign he was close.

“Give it to me, Tony. Fill me up. Shoot it all in there. Your cock is so fucking fat. I love it. I love your cock, Tony.”

Just like old times.

Bam, bam, bam. He groaned and stopped moving and just held himself deep. I felt his cock spurting, blasting all that jizz right into my womb. I reached down between my legs and rolled his balls around inside their furry sack, teasing every drop out. At last, he finished and leaned heavily on my back. I waited for him to soften and slip out and then flopped my ass on the couch. He sat on the floor. We just regarded each other for a while.

“Fuck, Maddie, what the hell? Where did this come from?”

“Surprise,” I giggled.

His dick was covered with our combined juices so I slithered off the couch and licked him clean. He opened his legs wide to help. I swabbed his scrotum too, which made him say I was as nasty as ever.

“Worse, if given a chance,” I corrected.

“I’m probably an idiot for asking this but are you and Robert all right?”

“Better than ever. I’ll tell him about this.”

His eyes widened. “No shit?”

“Yeah. I think it gets him hot.”

“God, when you tell him it was me, he’ll flip. We both chased you hard in college. He won by marrying you, but this will drive him crazy.”

“You think?”

“Trust me, this is how men work. Robert’s a smart guy but deep down we’re all still gorillas. I bet the first thing he asks is where I came. When you tell him I came inside you, he’ll freak.”

“The first thing he’ll ask is how big you are.”

“Ha!” Tony leaned back and flopped his soft cock side to side.

“What will you tell him about that?”

I leaned over and kissed his cheek. “The truth. I’ll say Tony is a longer than you, Honey, but he’s also much thicker. I’ll say Tony’s cock makes me cum hard. I’ll say I wanted to stay and fuck him all night.”

“You’ll actually say all that to him?”

“Yes.”

He shook his head. “Ouch. He’ll hate that it was me.”

“Because he knows you?”

“Yes. Definitely. We competed for you in school. It will kill him that we fucked.”

Intriguing. I tapped my front tooth with a long fingernail.

“Want to fuck me again?”

Tony looked at me like I was crazy.

“Of course,” he said. “Why would you even ask that? I’ll need a few more minutes though. Not so young anymore.”

“I don’t mean now. Would you still say yes if Robert was there to watch?”

A huge grin split his face. “Even better. You mean your bedroom?”

“Yeah.”

“Double ouch. Nothing gay, right?”

I laughed. “Not at all. Let me think about the details. I have your number.”

“Always have.”

I was looking at Tony’s deflated cock when I got another idea. I reached for my phone. “Can I take a picture of your dick?”

“Sure, but not small like this. Let me play with it a little.”

I wondered what Robert would think to hear what Tony considers small. Men have an unspoken understanding about penises. It’s like a secret society women do not understand. Yes, size matters, but there are additional meanings for men. Mysterious.

Tony played with his dick for a minute until I pushed his hand away and sucked him into my mouth. It was too soon for him to get hard again but he did gain some length and thickness. His balls still hung low though. I snapped a handful of pictures, not sure yet how I’d use them.

We kissed and dressed and talked about work and life. Our conversation was so comfortable. Dating him had been fun and superficial. I finished dressing but skipped panties, stuffing them into my purse. I gave his lips a peck.

The kids still played with the puppy in the courtyard but the oldest girl watched me walk to my car. She’d heard my cries and was mature enough to understand what just happened, even if she was too young to fully understand the situation. I started the engine and sat, thumbing through the photos of Tony’s cock. Not photogenic at all. Smaller than Zach and uglier than Josh, hairy, with some belly showing in every picture. Yet, not my husband’s penis, and that made all the difference in the world. Infidelity was exciting, amplified because I’m a loving wife and mother.

I selected one of the pictures to send to Robert and added the caption; Guess how I’m spending my afternoon. Look familiar?

It wouldn’t look familiar, of course, but Robert would know I meant it was someone he knew. I worried a little it was too far but my instincts told me he’d love it. I hit send before I thought too much about it and changed my mind.

I headed for home.

Chapter 11

I surprised Robert. He didn't hear me through the bedroom door. I found him face-up on our bed, phone in hand, belly covered in cum. He tried to cover himself with a pillow but I pulled it away.

"Don't be shy, Baby. Show me. You got the text and jacked off?"

"Yes. I didn't know you were coming home. This is so embarrassing."

"It's just me, Love. That's a lot of cum."

"I jacked off twice. Whose penis is that?"

His eyes burned with curiosity. This was killing him, but in a good way.

"Tony Hahn."

He looked at the phone again. His eyes narrowed. He started breathing through his mouth. "You...you fucked Tony Hahn?"

I moved to the side of the bed, took his free hand and ran his fingers under my skirt and up my slit. They came away wet and slippery.

He groaned. His voice was strangled: "Tony Hahn..."

He looked tortured. Robert stared at another man's cock, knowing it was so very recently inside me. He absentmindedly rubbed the viscous fluid around his fingers.

"I took that picture after."

Robert hunched as if punched in the gut. His gaze was riveted to Tony. He studied my lover's cock with excruciating intensity.

"He looks big," he whimpered. "Is he big?"

"He is."

My husband bit his bottom lip. His free hand went to his penis, which he fondled, inadvertently smearing Tony around his dick. I loved that he needed to masturbate, although I seriously doubted anything would happen there, not after two orgasms. That he wanted to told me I'd hit the bullseye.

"Did you cum?" he asked.

"A couple times."

"Where did he cum?"

He knew that already but either wanted to hear me say it or wanted to dispel any doubt. I put a knee on the bed and leaned my mouth close to his ear. "Inside me."

Robert groaned deeply and rubbed his dick faster. Maybe I was wrong about nothing more happening there.

"Baby, he's longer than you and much thicker than you. I came so hard, Honey. I wanted to stay and fuck him all night."

Robert was stroking again. This was awesome. I wondered if I could get him so excited he came a third time. I wanted him to. He probably hasn't done that since high school. I tried to think of things to say, thing to further arouse him. I looked around our bedroom. An idea came to me.

"We need to move things around in the closet," I whispered. "I want you to hide in there when I bring Tony home and fuck him on this bed. You can watch and jack off like you're doing now. It will be just like old times; I'll fuck Tony at the same time I'm seeing you. Remember that time I canceled our dinner date at the Charthouse? I called you from Tony's bed. I wasn't sick. He'd just finished throwing me around his bedroom. I was too sore and tired to see you."

I glanced down and saw his penis getting stiff. Unbelievable.

"I'll text Tony and tell him you're out of town on business. You'll hide and watch him put his hands on me. Can you imagine me cumming on his cock right in front of you? Won't you just die? If I've gone too far, just say so."

Robert only moaned. His breathing was short and rapid. He stroked fast now.

I wanted it. I wanted to see my husband ejaculate. I wanted to make him cum with my words.

"My body instantly remembered his thick dick. He felt amazing. I'm full of him right now, Robert. I carry Tony in my womb. I thought about fucking you to add yours to his but instead I want to see you shoot all over your stomach again. Empty your balls, Honey. Let's just say Tony owns my pussy for tonight."

Maybe I was going too far too fast but Robert seemed to love it. I got proof of that a moment later when he grunted and his dick spurt what little semen he had left on his tummy. He sucked air and his toes curled. I left him there to find a towel. I waited patiently for him to come around again and then I pulled out my phone and began typing. I hit send. We stared at each other in silence until my phone chimed minutes later. I read the message.

“Tony will be here tomorrow night at seven. Can you get the closet arranged by then?”

He gave me a slow nod. His eyes looked expectant. I undressed and climbed on the bed to lay next to him. I opened my legs a few inches, acting demure and innocent.

“Make me cum, Baby?”

He knew exactly what I asked for. He got the cutest little grin and began kissing down my body. I opened my legs wider and offered him my cheating cunt. A second later his tongue slipped inside me. I propped a pillow under my head. I wanted to watch his face. He’s always loved going down on me but he especially loves it when I’ve been with another man. I can feel the difference. He takes his time, licking and sucking every inch of me, inside and out. I expected most men would find this act disgusting but Robert loved it, and I loved that he loved it.

I studied him. I believe since the idea I cheated turns him on, evidence that I cheated drives him wild. I know Robert is not gay. He loves women. He might be bisexual but I think the fault lies in the way we define such things. I think human sexuality falls on a spectrum. We are not completely one thing or we are completely the other. I love that he does it. I watched him doing it now and gently stroked his hair. His mouth felt fantastic. He was unafraid, eager to please, unapologetic, and sexier than I’d ever seen him. Submissive, yes, but submissive to me.

I took a long time but when I got there, my orgasm was fantastic. Once I’d recovered, I started laundry and Robert pulled everything out of the closet.

I left him to it.

Chapter 12

Tony canceled. Some work emergency bullshit. Fuck. He apologized like crazy, trying hard to stay off my black-list. I made him grovel for a while and then forgave him.

Robert showed me the space he’d created in the closet and I was impressed. He’d be comfortable in here for hours. I stood inside, shut the door, turned off the light, and had him go lay on the bed. He was so close; I saw everything perfectly. I imagined him in here and me out there and I got horny again.

With each hour that passed, I realized how many possibilities were open to us. I could resurrect my Party Girl, and this time I didn't need to keep her under control. I could be a bigger slut than I ever was in college and Robert would love it. I'm sure there were limits and I had no desire to demean my sweet husband, but he sure seemed to appreciate when I behave like a whore. Of course, I wanted to talk to him about all this in advance, but Robert does not work that way. I just do what I want and we'll figure it out as we go along.

I still needed to handle the birth control issue. I asked myself why I kept procrastinating. I may be older but I am still ovulating and that means I've rolled the dice with every lover. How much humiliation could Robert stand? I didn't know but surely another man impregnating me would cross the line.

The problem is, for me, there is no better turn on in life than my lover cumming inside me. It's the best part of sex. In my mind, all of sex leads to that moment. Romance and intimacy are awesome but I'm talking about the act. We are designed to take a man inside our bodies and pleasure him until he leaves something there. I purr like a kitten after I've been inseminated. Most of my girlfriends feel the same way. We don't talk about it much, or ever, because women must be the smart ones, but we all agree it's buried there in the heart of our sexuality. I don't even have to orgasm every time but if the man doesn't, I am unhappy and unsatisfied.

Maybe I procrastinate because I'm getting older and feel my reproductive years are running out and subconsciously I hate it. Maybe I'm in denial. Maybe I feel Robert and I should have had a second child or maybe I just find the scandal too exciting. Maybe it just feels fantastic to be rebellious again.

Maybe all of that is true.

Maybe there are reasons I haven't thought of yet.

The ultimate truth is, I love cum inside me. I love making men orgasm. I love exciting them to the point they ejaculate. I love feeling them explode and I love walking around for days knowing I carry male seed. I feel intensely feminine.

I love pleasing men. When I was younger I never questioned myself about such things. I loved sex and that was enough. But now I'm more honest and more contemplative. The thrill I get when a man fills me is pure heroin. I loved it back then, I doubly love it now. Which means I doubted I'd get off my ass and handle the birth control issue. The excitement was simply too great. I'd do it if Robert told me to but until then, bury your cocks and fill me, big boys.

Jessica would kick my ass. We've had some great mother-daughter talks about sex and protection and being a smart woman, and right now I wasn't being that at all.

So, Jessica can never know.

I stepped out of the closet and kissed Robert. He looked at me differently these days. Now that he knew with certainty, I saw more adoration and affection in his eyes. His touch was different too; softer, more loving, more devoted and caring. He is a complex man and I don't understand how my betrayals engender this response in him, but they do. I'm happier and so is he.

"I think I'll open a Facebook page," I said. He gave me a questioning look. "Look up ex-boyfriends. Reconnect. See what they're up to. Maybe meet for drinks."

He knew exactly what I was saying.

"That sounds great, Honey. It would be good to see old friends."

Chapter 13

My Saturday ride was intense. Three other riders joined us and when we stopped at the summit, they did too. The sexual tension was thick. By the time we returned to Apple Barrel, Josh and I were ready to fuck on the asphalt like animals. I sent Robert a quick text asking if the closet overhaul was finished and he shot back a fast hell yes.

I had a decision to make and I made it quickly.

You'll see us soon, I sent. I felt dizzy and weak. I waited until we'd said goodbye to the other riders and then asked Josh how he'd feel about helping me with some plumbing back at my house. Cheesy, I know. I added my husband was out of town for business. He gave me one long look.

"I'll follow you. Can I shower there?"

"We'll save water and shower together." That made him smile.

I was extra loud coming in through the garage and then opened the front door to Josh. I took his hand and led him to the master bedroom.

My heart was jumping all over! I was really doing this! This was our house; me, Robert, and Jessica. This was our home. I was leading a man down our hallway. This was the bedroom I shared with my husband. This was the bed I shared with him. Robert sat a few feet away, watching us, watching me. I floated along on a cloud of madness. This was truly happening. The most intense reality I faced was I wouldn't be doing this halfway across the city in a strange apartment, I would be doing this right in front of him. My palms were sweaty. I couldn't breathe. My hands trembled. My legs felt weak.

Josh sensed something was different and seemed to understand most of it. He squeezed my hand firmly and stopped us at the foot of our bed. When he leaned in to kiss my neck, I glanced at the closet where Robert hid. I was so fucking nervous!

"Salty," Josh murmured.

"What?"

"Your throat. Sweat from our ride."

I lifted my chin higher and he licked all the way up.

"You are the sexiest woman I've ever known."

I kissed his lips briefly and pulled my sports bra over my head. I was too anxious to delay or draw this out. I needed to get to the sex. My big tits tumbled free. Robert was less than three feet away and I swear I heard a tiny gasp. Josh undressed too and as luck would have it, he came out of his shorts half-hard and only a foot away from my husband. His beautiful cock bobbed and waved in my husband's face. I imagined Robert with his eye pressed to the slats, ogling Josh's manhood, knowing he was moments away from watching every inch disappear inside his wife. I shoved my shorts down and kicked them away. Josh admired me. He focused on my pussy.

"You've kept her hairless for me?"

"Of course. All for you."

For a moment, I worried I might say or do something wrong and hurt Robert. I had no idea how all this worked for him. The moment passed. We'd figure it out on the other side and if Robert had a complaint, he needed to tell me. It was not for me to try and guess. How would I even know when I was right?

"I keep her wet for you too."

I stepped closer and cupped his balls. “Don’t you keep him hard for me?”

Josh grinned. We kissed again and I wondered if Robert felt pain from it. I slid my hand up to the shaft and Josh’s heartbeat thrummed against my palm. I looked down. My wedding ring gleamed and glittered and I turned it towards the closet. Robert saw the symbol of our vows sliding up and down a hard dick. Dicks can be pretty and Josh’s was. I wanted to make sure Robert knew that.

“Josh, you have the most photogenic penis I’ve ever seen.”

He was fully erect, pulsing and throbbing with male power. I realized I might have a dick fetish. I reached for my phone and opened the camera. “May I?”

“You want pictures of my dick?”

“I do. He’s so handsome.”

“Then of course. Not my face, though.”

“Understood.”

I knelt and snapped pictures. I wrapped my free hand around him and snapped several more. I handed Josh the camera. “Now you take some, and I definitely want my face in them.”

I bent his hard dick down and closed my hot mouth around the head. He was salty too. I closed my eyes and saw a flash of light through my eyelids. I started sucking his cock, worshipping his cock, really, as Josh took more pictures. They were on my phone so why not? I also knew I was driving Robert crazy fawning over Josh like this.

I imagined him behind the closet door, stroking his small penis and holding back his orgasm and the thought excited me. I was the center of attention for both men. Josh wanted to fuck me, and my sweet husband wanted to watch me get fucked. This was way out of bounds and I couldn’t believe how quickly we’d arrived at this place or that we’d arrived here at all. Months ago, this idea would have been impossible to imagine.

I released my grip, ready to push his dick far down my throat, but Josh lifted me under the arms.

“Let’s shower first,” he said. “How long do we have?”

I wanted to say all night but I couldn’t leave Robert in the closet indefinitely.

“A couple hours,” I lied. “I have to call Robert and my daughter before five.”

“Plenty of time.”

He led me to the shower. Robert couldn't see us in here and I doubted he'd hear us either over the spray of the shower. I took my time and lathered Josh's lean body thoroughly, soaping every inch of him, rolling his fat balls around, tugging on his dick, and even pushing a finger up his ass. He got real still when I did that, closing his eyes and bracing himself against the wall. Men have a clitoris too, but it's hidden up their butt. God has a sense of humor, I guess. His skin was wrinkled and leathery but his stomach was flat and his butt round. He'd taken great care of himself.

“How old are you?”

“Sixty-two.”

“You're fucking hot.”

His hands had been exploring my body too and at that moment he pushed a thick, soapy digit up my ass. Generally off-limits, only one man ever fucked me there, back in college, and he had a small dick, but today I would let Josh do whatever he wanted. I'd hated it then but today it felt great. Too bad Robert couldn't see it. We stood under the hot water anally finger-fucking each other. It felt strangely intimate.

Soon our hands returned to roaming and then we rinsed. We were kissing the entire time, touching, learning, exploring each other now that we had the privacy of a bedroom. We left the shower but I discreetly maneuvered us in front of the closet. I dried Josh and he dried me.

“Now, where was I?”

I knelt again, eager to get him hard once more. He was thick and spongy and warm and clean and I nuzzled his hanging balls and kissed him all over. To have Robert only a few feet away was insanely hot and deviant. I turned him to face the bathroom mirror but actually I angled him better for Robert. I circled his shaft with both hands and sucked hard on the head. He grew quickly.

“I want you hard, Josh. I want you rock hard so you can fuck me.”

“I want that too. Should we use a condom?”

I aimed my eyes at the closet door. “No. I want you to cum in me.”

I grabbed my phone and handed it to him again and moved to the nearby foot of the bed. I lay on my back, angling my hips for Robert's viewing pleasure. If he hadn't come storming out of the closet by now, he wasn't going to.

“Put it in slowly,” I said. “And I want lots of pictures.”

“You’re wild, Madison. I wanted to fuck you the moment I saw you out in the parking lot struggling with your bike.”

“Well now you have me.”

I pulled my legs back from behind the knees and spread my thighs open. He stepped closer. By looking down my body I was staring at the closet. Robert’s view was better than a Hustler centerfold. He would see Josh’s cock spread my pussy wide. Josh raised the camera and began snapping, slowly inching his dick forward. I felt pressure and then I flowered and he sank an inch deep. I dropped my head back and sighed.

“Fuck me, Josh. Take my cunt and make it yours.”

I was grandstanding a little, but my excitement and desire were real. Josh took pictures until he had half his dick in me and then he tossed the phone up by my head. He held my face and kissed me and pushed the remaining inches deep. Fuck! His lovely cock felt divine. Honestly, over the next few minutes I forgot all about Robert. Josh fucked me strong and deep and I gave myself to him. I got terribly wet again and I had to admit I preferred adulterous cock. I loved the forbidden. I still had never received Robert’s permission yet here I was, spread open and cheating.

For the next hour or so Josh moved me all over the bed, positioning me where he wanted and fucking me hard. Every time I felt an orgasm start, Josh slowed and changed positions. Frustrating, but I loved his self-control and the masterful way he handled me. I was with a man. When he had me on all fours he pushed his thumb up my ass. I groaned.

“Maybe that should be another cock?” he whispered. “You ever fucked two men at once?”

I shook my head. “Unngh, no, but that sounds hot.”

I said it to tease Robert but as soon as the words left my mouth, I knew they were true. I knew I’d do it.

“I know just the guy.”

I groaned deeply. I heard the seriousness in his voice. Josh made things happen. If he knew a guy, he knew a guy, and I was going to get fucked by two men. It was only a question of time. Josh pumped his thumb in my ass and his cock in my pussy and I let the idea wash over me. God! How fucking hot would that be? I was sure Robert was stroking fast.

“Does he have a big dick?” I croaked. Robert would want to know.

“Bigger than mine.”

I groaned again. I knew it was true. I heard it in Josh's voice. I knew it was true and I wanted it badly.

"Take me dancing first, both of you. Pass me back and forth. Buy me drinks and flirt with me and we'll show the crowd I'll be fucking you both."

Josh swelled inside me. He pushed deep and stopped moving.

"I want to act slutty," I said. "I want to be your married whore."

"That sounds hot," he grunted. "What about your husband finding out?"

"I think he might like the idea. Give me a week to wear him down. He's made comments about other men. He wants me to flirt. I suspect he wants more than that. I'll tell him I want it. I think he might come with us."

"Wow!"

He started moving inside me again.

"God, I'd love to fuck you in front of your husband."

He pushed his cock all the way in and pulled it almost all the way out. Shivers ran up my back. He did it again. I held still and focused all my attention on the sensations of his cock inside me. He smacked my ass.

We stopped talking. Josh held my hips and bore down, fucking my tight hole mercilessly, fed by the ego rush of taking me in front of Robert. I felt an orgasm coming and told him. He kept doing exactly what he was doing and my climax crept closer. I was going to explode. All that delayed orgasmic frustration was boiling to the surface.

"I'm almost there."

"Me too."

His words lit my mind on fire. I love making men cum. His heavy penis throbbed within and I clamped my pussy around him.

"Cum in me," I groaned. "Cum with me."

He fucked me faster and the tingling in my clit grew to a radiant sensation, spreading out through my hips.

"Josh, Baby, here it cums. I love your cock, I love your cock."

He growled and swelled thicker. My climax caught and my pussy exploded with a burst of juice. His hips slapped my ass and I felt his first spurt of sperm thump my cervix, followed instantly by another. He was cumming inside me and happiness made me sob. My arms went weak and my shoulders crashed on the bed but he held my hips and continued to fill my uterus. I reached under to play with his balls, coaxing every drop from him. His grunts and groans and gasps of pleasure were music to me.

I heard a plaintive squeak from behind the closet door but Josh was too loud to hear it himself. I knew Robert was spraying semen, jacking off furiously as he witnessed Josh fill me. A second wave of orgasm, milder than the first but still wonderful, raced through me as I imagined my husband shooting. My head was spinning from all the surging erotic energy bouncing around.

Chapter 14

Josh stayed around for a while but we mostly talked. I played with his soft penis for Robert's benefit but Josh was spent. The older man drawback.

After he'd gone Robert emerged from hiding and wrestled me to the bed. His tongue was inside my sopping cunt before I could stop him. He fought me until he had me pinned. I only resisted for fun. This was our ritual. I was a queen and Robert my serf. I took strong lovers and then Robert soothed my aching and tender pussy with his magical tongue. Any thought of disgust or humiliation was gone for me, and I doubted Robert ever felt it. Maybe a little humiliation, but that only spiced things up for him. I wasn't going to talk him out of it.

The guy Josh knew was out of town so we put those plans on a back burner. Robert and I tried to discuss if he would accompany me on my threesome date, but I never got anything conclusive from him. He wanted to, but worried that was perhaps a little too submissive in front of other men. He asked if we could stick to the closet for now. I agreed.

Zach broke up with his cheerleader girlfriend and shocked the school by dating the nerd Abby, who took a higher-paying job at Target. We still meet at Starbucks occasionally. Abby says her popularity at school has soared.

Jessica came home from New York thinner and full of stories. I could tell something was different and we had a long girl-to-girl over a glass of wine. She admitted she'd had sex in New York with a slightly older dancer named Giorgio from Brazil. She had pictures of him on her phone. He was gorgeous. I asked a ton of questions designed to embarrass her because I'm her mother, including if she used protection.

"Of course I did, mom. I'm not stupid. Could you imagine if I'd come home pregnant? You'd kill me for being so stupid. You'd never let me take another trip, and I already have one planned. Giorgio is visiting the States again in two months, in Miami, and I want to fly there and take the same classes as him."

Ready to chase the dick. Like mother, like daughter, I guess. She certainly didn't get her sex drive from her father. I told her nothing of my dalliances.

Jessica home put a huge crimp in my extra-marital affairs and for weeks I did nothing. I barely kept my horny under control. Even Robert started hinting too much time had passed and he was eager for me to cheat again. I waited until he was at work and sent him one of the pictures from my time with Josh and when he got home that night he suggested I send Tony a text. I know he's horny if he wants me to see Tony again.

Robert and I agreed Jessy could go to Miami. You can only shelter your children for so long. We knew as soon as that plane lifted off the tarmac, I'd be on my back and spreading my legs. That's five weeks away. I'm not sure I can wait that long.

End.

Visit my blog; MyEroticBunny.tumblr.com

Get a FREE Cuckold/Vixen Story!

Join My Mailing List

<http://eepurl.com/cTvA7P>