

Marooned on Taka Atoll

A Hot Wife Story

MATTHEW LEE

Marooned on Taka Atoll

A Hotwife Story

By Matthew Lee

Chapter 1

"What's happening?" I asked Mathilde, Healer and Spirit Mother for the people of Taka Atoll.

"They've lit the sacred fire," she said. "Next the maidens will dance. Soon after the warriors from Ailuk Atoll will sneak ashore and launch their raid, carrying away new brides. These days the ritual is merely symbolic, celebrating the old ways. Our daughters have many opportunities to meet the young men of Ailuk and chose the mate they wish. The young men of Ailuk Atoll return to steal women already pledged to them."

I pulled my broken body closer to the thatched wall, peeking through the gaps between woven palm leaves and reeds. Outside, in a large open area at the heart of the village, a huge fire roared. Beautiful young women danced and laughed around the flames. Some wore skimpy linen sashes wrapped around their nubile bodies but most wore nothing at all. In this tropical heat and humidity, clothing was an unnecessary burden, and the people of Taka Atoll had no interest in unnecessary burdens.

From the moment we arrived I saw the natives of Taka Atoll were gorgeous physical specimens; wide-eyed and full-lipped, long straight black hair and smooth golden skin. Their diet consists of fruits, vegetables, and all manner of seafood. With no modern conveniences, physical activity was a constant, producing lean, well-defined bodies well into old age. The women sported firm round butts and medium-sized breasts, topped with small dark areola. The men had very little body hair to go with their superior muscle tone, bubble butts like the women, and elongated, uncircumcised penises which always seemed to hang several inches down their thighs. Nothing freakish or monstrous but certainly eye-catching the first time one observes them. I've spent time in locker rooms and the difference was obvious.

I wondered about the science of an isolated island. Nature had only a small gene pool to work with and the amplification of selected characteristics was evident. Like a lioness and her preference for the largest mane possible, these people had been modifying their own code for generations.

Awkward movement around the fire drew my eye. Saya, my lovely wife, wearing what remained of her white linen pants and top, twirled and danced with the young women. She was not part of the ceremony but had gotten caught up just the same. They were happy to have her join, everyone laughing and dancing wildly. If I was not trapped in this low cot, bandaged and bruised, my leg bound in a long makeshift cast, I'd be out there dancing with her.

Almost a year ago we'd booked a holiday for New Zealand with our best friends, Kath and Darren, planning to island hop across the South Pacific. The small seaplane had engine trouble and we'd set down hard over open water. I guess technically it was a crash since most of our luggage ended up at the bottom of the ocean. I'd gotten a badly broken leg and other injuries and Darren a deeply bruised thigh. The girls, seated in back, were terrified but unscathed. The people of Taka Atoll had seen the crash and paddled out to help, caring for us as their own this past week.

Around the fire, Kath caught up to Saya and the women danced together, far closer than they would just a few days ago. This place had relaxed every inhibition we had. For the first few years of our marriage Saya and I had enjoyed a vigorous sex life. Those days were long gone. I'd gotten the idea for a sexy romantic getaway, perhaps a chance to rekindle the fading flames, and Darren had signed on, admitting he and Kath were in the same rut. We'd arranged New Zealand massages and candlelight dinners and long walks on the beach, only to end up here, thirty-five hundred miles away. But not all was lost. Languorous days of intense heat, salt air, delicious food, and a naked populace had obliterated most of our inhibitions. Our anxieties were falling fast. Last night Saya slipped into this hut to give me a blowjob while Mother Mathilde was out. I'd not gotten a spontaneous blowjob from Saya in years.

"All these hot young bodies have me soooo horny," she'd said.

"Which?" I joked, "The women or the men?"

"The men," she'd stated, surprising me with her honesty. "I'm trapped in a high school locker room, surrounded by young athletic hunks."

She'd yanked my blanket aside and sucked fast.

"What I need is a good hard fuck," she'd mumbled. "Last night Darren and Kath went at it. We share the same hut. They tried to stay quiet but there's only so much one can do. I heard Kath's muffled orgasm from ten feet away."

"Sorry, Love."

"Thanks, but there's just not much you can do for me right now. You didn't sign up for a shattered femur."

"No, I did not."

"This place is wild," she murmured. "The longer I'm on this island, the hornier I get."

"I wish I could help with that."

She'd shrugged and put my aching erection in her mouth again but we soon heard Mother returning. Saya had given me a quick kiss and tucked my throbbing penis back under the blanket.

Now she and Kath moved to the heavy drum beat, body against body. A young topless girl joined them, wedging herself in the middle and writhing with both women. A youthful man wearing a small loincloth followed the girl and danced around all three. My breath caught in my throat. His flawless physique and bouncing package pressed against my wife. Saya's eyes went wide. Several flicks of his hips slapped his barely contained cock between her legs. Saya burst out laughing, explaining to Kath what was happening. The young man continued around the women, treating Kath and the girl like he had Saya. All of them giggled with indecent delight. He returned to my wife and held her waist, smashing his swollen loincloth under her butt cheeks and against her mound. Saya leaned into him.

I knew my wife would finish my blowjob as soon as possible. I groaned and Mother assumed it was from the pain. She knelt beside my cot, offering a cup filled with liquid that smelled like mint.

"Drink this," she said, lifting my head. "For the pain and to sleep."

I drank, drowsy before I reached the bottom. So much for Saya continuing my blowjob tonight. I pressed my eye to the wall again as fingers of sleep crept up my body.

Kath and the young woman danced wildly with Darren standing close and clapping in time. Saya, ignoring the beat, slow danced with the nearly naked youth, his golden skin and athletic frame gleaming with sweat in the firelight. My wife ogled his beautiful body, her hand resting on a broad pec.

Normally I would have felt jealous but if that guy made Saya horny, I'd get my dick sucked again. In fact, I reasoned, I would benefit from anyone making Saya horny. I smiled as my head fell softly to my pillow. Do all I can to get Saya horny, I rationalized, because that will personally benefit me.

Darkness took me.

Chapter 2

The next day several young men carried me to the water's edge, depositing me on a fallen trunk in the shade. Saya and Kath and Darren waited there, sunbathing and playing in the sand. Most of our clothing had been ruined in the crash which made adopting the islander's ways even easier, since we had an excuse.

The day after we crashed they'd sent a crew of six strong men and the pilot to Enubirr Atoll, about two hundred miles away, in a reed boat slightly larger than a canoe. Who knows how long it would take for help to arrive?

Saya wore the tattered remnants of a blouse tied around her breasts and a skirt to cover her ass, but Kath had abandoned all modesty, playing in the surf in nothing but thin lace panties. Darren wore pants but no shirt. Saya saw me sitting and left our friends to join me.

"You can check that one off your list," she said, sinking her teeth into a ripe and juicy mango. Liquid ran down her chin.

"Check what off my list?"

"Kath's tits," she said, wiping her mouth with the back of her hand. She gestured towards the ocean. "I've caught you looking over the years. Now you know."

We swung our gaze to the water. Darren and Kath frolicked in the frothy waves. Kath's wet panties were transparent, her curvaceous body on full display.

"I guess you can check Kath off your list entirely," she joked.

I studied her face. Back home Saya had several times voiced mild jealousy regarding Kath. All that was gone now. In this place, with all these lovely creatures wandering around, each without a shred of self-consciousness or embarrassment, Saya had somehow moved past that insecurity.

A squeal brought our attention to the beach. Darren had wrestled Kath's panties off and held them triumphantly over his head and out of her reach, foiling her attempts to regain them. She gave up quickly, working on his fly instead, shoving his pants underwater. His shriveled penis bounced within his impressive mass of pubic hair. Saya looked away, making a face.

"I actually didn't have Darren on my list," she muttered.

I chuckled. She laughed too. Kath and Darren hugged.

A group of young men emerged from the tree line. They carried nets and small tridents and waved when they saw us, continuing towards the water. As they reached the wet sand they discarded their sashes, half a dozen nude male bodies bending and stretching in the hot sun.

"Now that I did have on my list," Saya muttered.

She was rapt. Her eyes jumped from one naked young man to the next, crawling every inch of their fit forms. The guys were oblivious to my wife's shameless stare, laughing and goofing-off. I thought I should probably say something, being her husband and sitting right there, but I didn't. Saya had not shown lust for many years and I was happy to see it again. That her lust wasn't directed at me was irrelevant. How could it be? I was injured and out of the picture. I was just glad to see she still had the capacity for such raw yearning.

The guys stopped to talk to Darren and Kath, pointing at the sky and the sun and the water. Kath ate those young men alive, devouring them with her eyes. A few returned the favor. Darren was unaware of his wife's actions, oblivious to Kath openly staring at six hot studs. Saya sighed. I wondered if I could get her horny enough to give me another blowjob.

"Why don't you go swim with them?" I asked.

"They look like they're having fun by themselves," she said. "It's sweet to see them acting like newlyweds."

"No," I replied. "Not Kath and Darren. The boys."

Her eyes went wide, mouth open.

"Seriously? Why would you suggest that? You want me to go talk to a gang of naked young men?"

"Yeah," I said. "Why not? Looks like fun. Nude spear fishing on the equator? That's a dream vacation."

She aimed her gaze at the group, eyes narrowing to slits.

"I have no swimsuit," she murmured.

"Neither do Kath or Darren. Leave your clothes with me. You and I are the last people on this island still dressed. Go for it, Saya. Strip and Darren can check you off his list too."

She stared at me, waiting for me to say I was only kidding. I didn't. The guys moved deeper into the waves, discussing strategy.

"All right," she said, reaching a decision. "I'll do it. But you must promise to never tell anyone back home. What happens on this island stays on this island."

"I promise."

Her blouse and skirt hit the sand. She was nervous but trying hard to disguise it. I was thrilled. The sunlight made her skin glow. The breeze hit her flesh and nipples rose. She resisted the urge to wrap her arms around her body and hide her nakedness.

"You're sure about this?" she asked.

"Have fun," I said, laying my head on the trunk. "I'll nap. Be safe."

I closed my eyes but opened them to slits as I heard her walk away. Darren almost had a heart attack and Kath playfully socked his shoulder.

"No fair, Saya," Kath called out. "I don't have a body like you."

Saya waved away the compliment.

"You should have seen Mike checking you out," she offered. "Our bodies are just different, not one better than the other."

A few of the boys noticed Saya's approach and waved. My wife trudged through the water, growing closer to them and farther from me, and then pointed at a trident, no doubt asking how to use it. The young men gathered around, smiling, eager for her participation. My wife was surrounded by gorgeous, naked young men and I had to fight back a chuckle. I was sure my plan would work.

The oldest was also the tallest and he showed her how to jab with the oversized fork. I couldn't hear their conversation but he was clearly giving instruction on island fishing. He gave her the trident and she stabbed the air a few times and then he moved behind and took her wrist in hand.

He moved closer, his wagging golden penis dangerously close to her bare ass.

This was more than I'd imagined and my breath caught in my throat. My plan had been to turn her on but, to my surprise, the unfolding situation was having the same effect on me.

He moved closer still, his soft dangling dick brushing her pale butt before disappearing between her cheeks. Saya froze. I saw her face flush crimson. The youth drew her arm back as if she was throwing a javelin and then ram the point forward. He smiled and congratulated her and then repeated the movement, easing closer still until his body spooned hers. Her chest was heaving. He moved her fingers, repositioning them along the spear, and showing her a new thrust, smiling and talking rapidly.

Another youth approached with a net. Tall Guy backed away and I saw he had swollen some while nestled between my wife's ass cheeks, his uncircumcised dick now longer and thicker. Saya turned her attention to the lesson of the net but I saw the tremble in her legs, her shaking hands.

Satisfied she knew enough, the boys led her into the waves. They broke off in pairs, swimming out and then turning, driving the fish towards my wife. She stood in waist deep water, the surge lifting her buoyant tits before retreating and allowing them to settle again. She took her job seriously, focusing her attention below the surface. She stabbed several times and then cried with joy when lifting a fish. She placed it in the net as she'd been taught and got back to work. As time passed she plucked one fish after another from the sea. I was proud and so was she.

The guys emerged from the surf, clapping, smiling, patting her on the head. She beamed. Tall Guy walked beside her as they left the water. She was excited. He listened to her stories of triumph as he ran his eyes over her naked form. She noticed he began to grow again, slapping off one thigh and then the other as they trudged through the water. I saw her looking down, staring at his heavy bouncing dick and tanned body.

The boys gathered their sashes and took the bag of fish from Saya, waving goodbye as they headed for the village. I lifted my head so my wife knew I was awake. Saya spoke to the tall boy and he separated from his friends, coming with my wife to join me in the shade under the palm. I watched them walk together, almost holding hands, two lovely bodies in the sunlight.

"Catch anything?" I asked.

Her smile grew to a wide grin and she almost made a joke but stopped herself.

"A lot," she offered. "This is Tannaka, Toby for short."

"Hi Toby," I said, lifting a hand. "Michael. Mike for short. I like Tannaka. I hope that's all right."

"No problem," he said.

He gave me a fist bump instead of a handshake.

I expected Saya to reach for her clothes but she didn't. Kath and Darren had wandered down the beach so we were mostly alone with our new friend. Saya and Tannaka dropped to the fine white sand, close to each other but facing me. Saya sat hunched, trying to hide her body without looking like she was trying to hide her body. Tannaka reclined on an elbow, body on full display, cock and balls resting comfortably on his inner thigh. She judged my non-reaction and relaxed, leaning back, hands behind her and legs crossed.

We chatted for a while. The people of Taka Atoll approach life so differently from life in the States, but a lot of what Tannaka said made sense. Culturally, they had little use for material possessions. War, greed, and a host of other modern blights were simply not present. Elders were revered, youth celebrated. Babies were a gift to the tribe and although responsibility fell to the parents, everyone helped raise them. The conversation was so good I almost forgot his cock was in my face. I probably would have, if Saya had stopped glancing at it. At last Tannaka said his goodbyes and we watched him walk away.

"Interesting philosophy," I said. "These people have their priorities right."

She waved my comment away.

"Forget about that," she said. "Have you ever seen such a gorgeous young man? Jesus Christ, what a body. His face is cute but Good Lord, his body is spectacular."

"This place leaves nothing to the imagination," I said.

"I don't know about that," she replied. "My imagination was plenty busy."

She watched him in the distance.

"I'm surprised how comfortable you were naked," I said.

"I almost died at first but then I thought why not? Everyone else is naked or very nearly. I started to feel like the weird one. When you told me to go ahead that was the last straw. I'm nervous, especially if Kath and Darren come back, but I must admit it's exhilarating. Liberating. I like it."

"I wish I could join you."

"Me too!"

She sent her eyes around, up and down the beach.

"Take it out," she hissed. "Let me suck it."

I leaned back.

"You do all the work," I teased. "I'm injured."

I was playing, but I also wanted to see what she'd do. Back home she would have said something rude and threatened to call the whole thing off but here, on this beach and in this moment, she leaned over and yanked my zipper down. My penis slipped into her hot wet mouth and I groaned. I wondered if in her mind she sucked my dick or Tannaka's.

Chapter 3

That day was the last time Saya wore conventional clothing. One of the ladies gave her a gauze sash but no matter how Saya wore it, we saw everything. Mostly she'd just wrap it around her hips at supper. Kath followed in my wife's footsteps, rejecting clothing too. Darren traded his torn pants for an island loin cloth. They all learned to hunt and fish. We lost track of time. Days blended together. Saya spent more time with the men of the tribe than the women and her horniness grew daily. One night she crept into Mother's hut and tried to ride me. No matter what position we tried, the pain killed my erection. Saya apologized profusely, kissing my face and holding me. I decided right then if there was any way for me to speed my healing, I'd take it. I began to struggle to my feet each morning just to take a few steps. Mother warned me I risked doing more damage.

"The bone could slip," she said. "The sharp end could slice a vein on the inside. You'd bleed to death fast on the inside. Be patient. Healing comes, healing comes."

The next night, when Mother went to bathe as usual, I tried to walk again. I felt stronger but used the walls to balance anyway. I moved in a small half-circle, peeking out the open window at the back of Mother's shelter. There was a small clearing there, lit by pale moonlight. I was about to continue my little orbit when I saw Kath enter the clearing acting suspiciously. She glanced around, anticipating something.

Fronds parted across the way. A strong young man, naked and graceful, slipped from the brush. Kath approached quickly and they kissed. Her hand dropped to his flaccid dick. She jerked him as they made out, stroking the young uncircumcised cock to rapid stiffness. The foreskin withdrew exposing a shiny head. He mauled her shapely tits and squeezed her ass. She bent over.

"Hurry," she hissed, pulling a butt cheek aside.

The man steered his cock inside and Kath shivered. He held her shoulders, trapping her ass against his hips, and worked his dick in her pussy. Kath rolled her head, overcome by clandestine sensations. I was shocked by her behavior. I got angry for Darren. He treated her well. She had no right to cheat on him, no complaint which warranted this betrayal. This would break his heart but I had to tell him.

Across the clearing and away from Kath I saw palm leaves move. I waited, wondering who would next step from the jungle. I saw a face dappled in moonlight and discovered Darren knew fully what his wife did, because Darren watched in secret. He stood naked, mostly hidden in the foliage, stroking his dick as his wife fucked another.

Kath struggled to remain silent. The young man's cock was driving her crazy. She cupped both hands over her mouth and hung her head, smothering her cries of pleasure. The youth thrust slow and deep, inching Kath towards orgasm. I checked on Darren and saw he stroked even faster, striving to join his wife in climax.

They weren't simultaneous, but they were close; Kath stifled her moan as her impaled hips shook. Darren stared wide-eyed, yanking his penis fast, pushing his hips forward to spray hot jizz over the kava leaves. The youth groaned softly, pelvis jerking, muscular body convulsing, long black hair flying. He pumped Kath full of sperm and Darren and I did nothing but watch him do it.

He finished quickly and left in a hurry. Kath collapsed against the trunk of a palm. I expected Darren to go to his wife but he waited, sensing there was more to follow. Moments later I heard a soft whisper and then another youth entered the clearing. Kath shook her head and leaned back on a fallen tree, opening her legs invitingly. The young man hurried forward, happy at his good fortune. He sank his hard dick into my friend and fucked her hard, causing them both to slid from the trunk to the jungle floor. His inexperienced hips took over, hammering the sweet pussy enveloping him.

He groaned and ejaculated quickly, draining his balls. Like the first, he left in a hurry too.

Now Darren left his shadowy hiding place to embrace his wife. They kissed eagerly, Darren's hands roamed her body.

"Did I do good?" Kath gasped. "Did you see?"

"Everything," Darren rasped.

"I want more," she said. "Fuck me."

He shook his head.

"I got too excited," he said. "I shot on the plants."

She kissed him deeply.

"No matter," she said, smiling her forgiveness. "Maybe next time."

They passed through the jungle wall and disappeared.

I stood a moment, bewildered by what I'd witnessed. Eventually I returned to my cot, my leg throbbing from my exertions. I had so many questions running through my head. Do I tell Saya? Darren and Kath had tried to hide what they did. Did I have the right to overturn that?

The pain rose so I closed my eyes. Suddenly every nuance of Kath's naked body filled my imagination. She's a good-looking woman, but watching her get fucked was next level shit. She'd looked spectacularly sexy. Wildly sexy. I would be hard if I wasn't in agony. I thought about Darren hiding in the bushes to watch. How fucking kinky is that? Our friends were more complex than I realized.

Kath had allowed the men to ejaculate inside her. Darren was fine with that, possibly even turned on by it. Obviously there were no condoms on the island but still, what about pregnancy? I replayed the scene in my head and reached for my soft penis. The stimulation felt good. I stroked my deflated dick and pictured Kath with her lovers, Darren watching and masturbating.

I tried to imagine what that was like for my friend but found it difficult so instead I pictured Saya in place of Kath. I gasped. How did Darren survive? My heart threatened to explode. A massive gush of adrenaline surged through my body, leaving me trembling. The whole scene had been shocking. Social norms and expectations had been turned upside-down. I saw Saya pinned against a tree, an encroaching penis aimed at her vulnerable slit. I saw the young man grab her long hair and pull, drawing her back to his hard cock. I shook my head to be free of these insane thoughts but they raced on despite me. That throbbing cock sank into my wife and I groaned in mental anguish. If such a thing happened I'd be physically unable to stop them. I was helpless and powerless.

I played with my growing dick until the pain became too great, then closed my eyes to sleep.

Chapter 4

Saya brought fresh fruit in the morning, plopping her butt on a small footstool a few feet away. Mother made sure I was comfortable and then left to fill the water jugs from the natural spring. From my position on the low cot I saw Saya's sweet pussy staring at me. My wife followed my eyes and then laughed.

"Miss my girl?" she asked.

"Desperately."

"Well she feels the same. Get well soon so you can show her how much you love her. I'm so horny."

I nodded, calculating how long we had before Mother returned.

"Come here," I said, waving her closer. "Feed her to me."

Saya looked shocked for half a second and then quickly moved to place a knee on each side of my head. I gazed up at her lovely tits. Saya swept aside her thin gauze skirt and eased her pussy to my mouth. I began to lick.

"This won't take long," Saya moaned.

My wife was soaked in an instant. Life on Taka Atoll had her in a constant state of arousal. I nibbled her clit and she jumped, smacking my head playfully. I sucked her mound and whipped my tongue, teasing and probing. I fucked her tight hole with my wet dagger and curled inside to rub her G-spot. Faster than I can ever remember, Saya shook as tremors of climax raced through her. She rocked her hips on my face, groaning softly and savoring the delicious feel of my tongue.

When her wits returned she once more took her seat. She was practically purring, a wide grin twisting her lips that would not go away.

"What about you?" she asked.

"Later," I said, wiping wetness from my face. "I owed you a couple anyway."

We talked for a few minutes and then Saya mentioned she would be hiking to the other side of the island.

"There are some cliffs there," she said. "Along with a blowhole. The young men dive to show their bravery. I was invited to watch."

Mother entered the hut and stopped abruptly, sniffing the air. A sly smile curled the corners of her mouth. She refilled the jugs and sat with Saya, discussing life on the island until it was time for my wife to leave. Saya kissed me and waved goodbye. I told her to enjoy herself.

"She has strength," Mother Mathilde said, once my wife was gone.

"Yes," I agreed.

"Perhaps I should say loyalty."

"That too."

Mother smiled again.

"Never ask too much of her," she said. "Especially for the wrong reasons."

"Of course."

Confused, I felt I'd missed something in her meaning.

The morning passed slowly, shadows moving across the sandy floor. Saya reappeared around noon. She raved about the exploits of the brave young men as they climbed ever higher and performed ever more complicated dives.

"The blowhole shot us all into the air," she exclaimed. "It was fantastic. I so wished you could be there with me. You'd love it."

After a while Mother left again to make dinner plans.

"I need to share a secret," I said.

Saya was instantly serious.

"Sounds delicious," she said.

"Kath fucked two island guys. Darren watched and did nothing."

Her jaw fell.

"Seriously?" she asked.

"Yes. I watched out Mother's back window. Last night."

"Holy shit!"

Saya froze for an instant, staring at the ground, thinking.

"Which guys?" she asked.

"How should I know? I've been trapped in a hut. I've met almost no one."

"All right, all right. What did the guys look like?"

"Like all the young men here: lean, dark haired, golden skinned, athletic and naked. They were young, younger than Tannaka, our friend from the beach."

She relaxed a little, relieved.

"Will you say something to Kath?" I asked. "Try to find out what's going on?"

"I don't know. I'm still in shock."

I'd lost her. Saya was deep in thought, mind racing. She shook her head.

"I came to get you for a day at the beach," she said. "Back in the sixteenth century some Spanish navigator stopped at Taka Atoll for fresh water. Some of the horses they brought ashore escaped and became wild. A generation later a few were recaptured and bred. I've been invited to go horseback riding on the beach."

"With Tannaka?"

"No, a young man named Jasame. He handles all the horses. They say he shares a spirit with them. The horses love him. I can't wait. I haven't ridden since I was a teenager."

"I'd love to watch you."

"I'll have some kids carry you to the shore."

She left. Why was she relieved when I described the guys Kath fucked? I suspected she was she fond of Tannaka and hated the idea of Kath fucking him.

Soon a handful of teenagers, boys and girls, arrived and together fashioned a stretcher out of palm logs and blankets. I was carried through the jungle to the beach where Jasame and Saya waited behind their animals, tan palominos with gorgeous manes. The horses were shiny and magnificent, clearly well fed and cared for. They bore knitted blankets and braided pads for saddles. Jasame, hidden behind the stallion, was tall and lanky, with long black hair flipping in the breeze. It looked like he had a mane of his own.

"The larger animal is Basat," a boy said. "That's Takian for lightning. He's very fast. Jasame rides him like the wind. The smaller beast is Gwenove. She's sweet."

An older boy chuckled but said nothing.

Saya and Jasame waved and the kids settled me in the shade on a large fallen palm tree. Saya took the reins and led the smaller horse. Emerging from behind the animal I saw she wore her gauze scarf like a belt around her hips. She looked gorgeous, almost naked with the deep blue Pacific behind her. Her dark brown hair had developed lighter streaks in the sun. Still mostly hidden behind his mount, Jasame led Basat to the water. Both animals pawed at the foamy waves. Basat eyed Gwenove, maneuvering closer to the mare.

"Watch," an older girl said. "Basat wants to make babies with Gwenove. He does this each time they are taken out together."

The stallion, nostrils flared, moved even closer to Gwenove, nuzzling the beautiful beast's chin. Under his wide muscular carriage his pendulous horse cock began to lengthen and grow. The kids giggled. Saya noticed something was happening between the animals and faced the bigger horse, her eyes quickly arriving at the swelling phallus. She stared.

Jasame noticed Saya had stopped and emerged from behind his animal, for the first time providing me an unobstructed view of his body. His penis rebounded off his thighs as he pumped his legs through the knee-deep water. Saya turned her attention to her riding companion, also seeing his full nude body for the first time.

My wife's eyes went wide. She blushed. Jasame stopped dead, skewered by my wife's stare, surf washing around his legs. The young man's swinging cock flopped one last time and then hung aimed at the water, sparkling and gleaming with beads of seawater, dangling like a lure. Basat was far bigger, of course. There was no comparison between this man and the animal next to him. But compare Jasame to another man and he'd win virtually every time. Saya suddenly found herself confronted by two massive male symbols of power. I saw her gasp. Basat's penis continued to lengthen until the large flat head touched the surf.

Time slowed. If not for the rhythmic crashing of the waves, I'd say time stopped. Jasame remained motionless as Saya gawked. His long cock had captured her attention at first but now she ran her gaze over his lean athletic body, lingering at his handsome face. The wind whipped his long dark hair around his head.

"They like each other," one of the girls murmured behind me.

"Just like Basat and Gwenove," said an older girl, chuckling.

Jasame returned my wife's gaze, moving from her face to her tits and stomach, down to her pussy and legs. Like the stallion, his hanging dick thickened. The head swelled, peeking from the foreskin. His balls slowly lifted until they nestled at the base.

Saya now flushed crimson from the shoulders up.

"Jasame wants to make babies with Saya," the same older girl joked. A boy punched her in the shoulder, gesturing at me.

"Stupid," he said. "This is Mister Saya."

"Oh," the older girl said, realizing the insensitivity of her comment.

"I'm sorry."

I waved the apology away. My eyes were glued to the scene. Saya tried several times to peel her eyes away from this South Pacific stud. For his part Jasame looked helpless, his cock rising without his consent. He was embarrassed to be so obvious.

"I'm sorry," he told Saya.

"Don't be," she said.

He gestured towards the ocean.

"Perhaps some cold water will help?"

Saya was confused.

"The animals will not wander," he added.

Jasame turned his back and waded deeper. The water moved up his body until his partial erection disappeared beneath the ocean swells. Now she understood and left Gwenove to join the young man.

Saya and Jasame held hands and allowed the cool waters to calm them. Saya pinched her nose and dipped her head, wetting her hair and turning her body shiny. Her breasts gleamed in the bright sunlight, sexier than ever. The couple timed their jump over each swell. They talked but now too far away for me to hear.

Gwenove and Basat played in the shallows, pawing at the waves and nuzzling.

When an especially large wave approached, Jasame pulled My wife close, wrapping his arms, turning his back and spooning her to shield her from the blow. I involuntarily gasped. His dick had to be nestled between her legs. The wave slapped Jasame hard as it passed over them. Saya did nothing to end his embrace. Jasame pulled Saya closer, the front of his body molded to the back of hers. The kids behind me shuffled nervously, too young for such a display.

"We'll be back," an older boy said, leading the children away.

"Yes," said a girl. "I must help my mother."

I let them go. Out in the surf Jasame's arms circled her body, her tits resting on his forearms. They were laughing and dodging waves, playing in the water. I knew his long cock was wedged between her legs and probably gliding back and forth across her pussy. She kept her thighs tightly closed, trapping his dick. At first I thought she sought to limit his access, like this was playful sexy fun but it was only fun. But after a few minutes I realized I was wrong. By her expression the pleasure she felt was exquisite. His imprisoned cock pistoned her gap and drove them both crazy. She wasn't slowing them down; she was winding them up. Only her wedding vows stopped her from doing more. My pulse raced. Their playful romp would be sexy without knowing either of them. That the woman was my wife turned their racy display into a mind-boggling exhibition. Those were Saya's tits. That was Saya's ass. That thick hard cock was sliding back and forth over Saya's pussy. The spectacle had me gasping.

I craved more.

I shouted her name. Her head snapped around, suddenly remembering me. She broke from him and trudged up the beach, lovely tits wobbling, wet hair plastered to her head, glittering beads of seawater dotting her gorgeous flesh. She looked so, so sexy. Her face glowed. Her excited eyes danced.

"Yes, Darling?" she said.

Perhaps it was Kath's recent affair. Perhaps it was Darren's eager acceptance of it. Perhaps it was my imaging Saya in Kath's place. Or perhaps I had subconsciously solved Mother's confusing word puzzle.

"Do you want to fuck him?" I asked, my voice more growl than human speech.

Her happy face vanished.

"Baby," she said, instantly serious and compassionate. "I would never-"

I raised a hand to silence her.

"I know," I reassured. "I'm asking do you want to? Be honest."

Water dripped from her hair and the tip of her nose. The breeze had her puckered nipples hard like stones. She studied my face. She saw something there.

"Yes," she admitted, her voice clear and strong.

My heart, already beating wildly, jumped and crashed against my ribs. I felt the thing smashing around in there, breaking furniture. Recklessness seized me, an irresponsible desire to spit in the face of fate.

"Do it," I croaked too loud, astonished by my own words.

A million objections flashed behind her eyes.

"Do it," I repeated. "Follow your lust."

"All right," she breathed.

She turned and strode the sand away from me. Jasame waited in the water, his cock still partially erect and pointing at her like an accuser. Cool ocean water had failed to quench his desire. Saya aimed directly for the young man, saying nothing. She plowed through the knee-deep water, taking his handsome face in both hands. She kissed him, hooking a leg around his waist, dropping a hand to find his cock and lift it, searching for her tight hole and pulling him in. His arms circled her waist. He pulled her close. I saw his bronze inches disappear, her pussy lips clinging to the fat shaft as he sank deep.

I groaned. I was sure my wife did too.

The horses raised their heads, curious.

Doubts assailed me. Uncertainty attacked my mind. Reservations boiled up and I questioned my choice a hundred times in less than a second. Out in the surf Saya threw her other leg around his waist. He lifted her to his chest and settled her into place, fucking my wife standing. He moved both hands to her ass, spreading and lifting as he repeatedly drove his large erection deep. Her head fell back, her mouth opened. A loud moan floated from her throat. She clung to his neck with both hands, back arched to get him as deep as possible. He nibbled her throat before moving lower, sucking and licking each breast, each stiff nipple.

The sight was equally erotic and terrifying. I witnessed the loss of my beloved wife. Worse, I'd given her away. I couldn't even tell myself why, acting on some deeply buried impulse. Jasame drove his cock into her with a vengeance, powering that thick rod into her depths. Her married pussy was wrapped around him now, not me, milking his manly shank instead of mine.

She never looked at me.

Jasame arched away from her body, driving deep and hard. Saya clung to him, her cries of pleasure carried on the wind. The young man power-fucked my wife, repeatedly burying his oversized cock, slamming his pelvis under her ass. She moaned loud and long and then her piercing wail of orgasm stopped my heart. Before it stopped, Jasame nuzzled his face in the crook of her neck and howled, hips jerking and twitching sporadically. She'd met him only minutes ago, yet now he flooded her womb with hot sperm. Saya howled, her drawn out climactic screech carrying across the sands.

Spent, adrenaline draining, Jasame eased her away. My wife regained her feet. She stood in the ocean and held his hand.

At last she turned to look at me. Unsure the appropriate response for such a moment, I gave my wife a little wave. She waved back. Jasame did too. She splashed seawater at her crotch, washing away the semen running from her hole, then splashed his cock, cleaning him with both hands, tugging the loose skin and caressing his big balls. They held hands as they headed towards my little spot in the shade of a palm.

"Baby?" Saya said as she drew near. "Are you okay?"

I nodded, unable to speak. She sat by me on the fallen trunk. Jasame dropped to the sand. The horses wandered our way. I noticed cloudy milk leak between my wife's puffy labia and pool on the rough trunk. I swallowed a groan. A hundred million seeds dripped from Saya's insides. Jasame swam around inside her at that very moment. I felt light-headed and weak.

Nobody knew what to say so we said nothing. When the horses arrived, Basat nudged Jasame. Gwenove stopped a few steps away, staring at Saya with huge expressive eyes.

"Do you still want to ride?" Jasame asked my wife.

They'd never made it. Desire had flared so fast and so strong they'd never gone for their ride. What would happen if they went now? The boundary was smashed. I'd allowed her once. Why stop now?

"Is that all right?" she asked.

I cleared my throat but words failed to come. I managed only to nod.

She kissed my lips, her eyes soft and caring but also grateful.

Jasame helped her climb on Gwenove, then hopped on Basat. Saya gave me a long lingering look. She had a thousand questions but merely studied my face, saving them for a private time. Jasame led them away, down to the water and around the curve of the atoll. Saya turned to wave before vanishing from sight.

"Holy shit," I said to no one.

I fell back on my log, staring at the clear blue sky and waving palm leaves above. I'd given her away. I'd handed her over to a long-cocked, big-balled stud.

"Holy shit," I said again.

Chapter 5

I waited in gut-churning agony for an hour, my mind relentlessly replaying what I'd seen. Her sounds of pleasure haunted me. He'd satisfied my wife. His hands, his mouth, his big hard cock, all had driven her to the heights of gratification. Watching her experience those sensations at the hands of another man drove a hot nail into my brain. I couldn't pull it out.

Every few minutes I'd get kicked in the guts again, reminding myself he'd filled her womb with sperm. Like Kath, Saya had accepted the steaming, potent load of an islander. Both women still carried their lover's seed.

When was the last time I came in my wife?

I couldn't remember.

I closed my eyes and let my mind drift back. Saya and I rarely had sex anymore, both busy with work. Add to that a natural drop-off of desire. Nobody stays hot for the same lover forever. We'd gone a long time but now I was the only one in this marriage who hadn't had sex. To think of her that way made her more distant, like I was losing her, like maybe I'd lost her. I groaned, my stomach in knots.

I fell asleep. A horse's nicker woke me. Naked Saya and Jasame sauntered up the beach, leading the horses by the reins. Saya looked radiantly happy. Jasame looked guilty. His penis looked exhausted, slack and drained, hanging around six inches down his thigh. Their shoulders bumped from time to time; a casual comfort with personal space. That they were lovers would be obvious to everyone. I blushed. The whole village would know. Kath and Darren would know.

Saya leaned in to kiss me and Jasame gave me a casual fist bump. His tired cock hung level with my face. Twin egg-sized testicles, no doubt empty now, stretched the wrinkled skin of his large scrotum. Awkward silence filled the air.

"Did you nap?" Saya asked.

"A bit."

She smiled.

"If you're ready to return to the village," Jasame said. "I'll have the kids get you."

I nodded, glancing again at the weapon which slayed my wife.

Saya and I watched him go. Before the jungle swallowed him, my wife dropped to her knees, her hands feverishly working my belt. She opened my pants, freeing my penis. Her fingers lifted my dick and of course I compared her hands on him to her hands on me. Saya paused, turning my soft shaft side to side, and I knew she was doing the same. I wanted to ask her opinion but couldn't bring myself to say the words.

"Did you fuck him again?" I rasped.

She looked up at me.

"Yes," she admitted, her eyes focused on something dreamy and far away. "On Gwenove, while she stood in the breakers."

"Did you cum?" I asked. "Again?"

Her eyes focused on me.

"You sure you want to know, Mike?"

"Yes."

She sighed, dreamy again.

"Yeah, I came again," she admitted. "Much harder than the first time. The moment was out of a fantasy. He fucked me on horseback under a hot sun with waves crashing beneath us. It was amazing." She leaned back and opened her knees, spreading her labia with two fingers, showing me his sperm that seeped from her. "He came in me again, too. Other than you, no man has done that for years and years. I'd forgotten how much I love feeling a man explode inside me."

I stifled a groan. She wrapped her fingers around my dick and began to pull.

"I laid on my stomach, gripping Gwenove with my thighs. Jasame got behind me, lifting my butt cheek to slide his thick cock all the way in. I can't describe how good it felt, made even better by squeezing that horse with my legs and trying to stay balanced. I was drenched and he'd already shot a load in me, but I needed every bit of lubrication. The angle made his big dick feel even bigger. Once he got going his heavy balls smashed my clit black and blue. I came so hard. I hope you're okay with all this. Do you regret telling me to go ahead?"

"I'm not sure what I feel," I said.

Her eyes turned sad.

"No," I quickly added. "I'm not upset with you. At all. I was impulsive but I regret nothing. You looked so sexy, Saya."

She grinned, naughty.

"I know what will help," she said, opening her mouth and slipping my dick in.

She was right. It did help. A lot. She sucked with an eagerness I'd not seen in years, sliding her hand under my balls and drooling until I was soaked. She jerked her hand in time with her mouth. This island had done things to her. She attacked my dick. She swabbed my balls with her tongue. She shoved a pinkie up my ass. I gazed at my wife gone wild. I sensed she needed to balance the scales. She'd gotten what she'd wanted. Now it was my turn. She also wanted me to know she still loved me, and this blowjob left no doubt. I held her head when I shot, making sure she swallowed all I had to give. She carried Jasame in her womb and that fueled a monster climax. I pumped a gallon of cum down her throat, leaving her gasping and laughing. After we sat in silence watching the waves crash, lost in our own thoughts.

Soon the kids arrived and I was carried to Mother's hut. Saya hung out with me for a while but I saw the signs of impatience. She was eager to leave and I knew why.

"You want to fuck him again?" I asked, catching her by surprise.

"Yes," she admitted, sticking with the truth. "Is it that obvious?"

No point closing the barndoor now, her eyes said. The cow is gone.

She was right. I ran my eyes over her naked body, a body she was now ready to share with another man. She took a half-step towards the door, fishing for my protest. She grinned, shuffling closer to the exit. I said nothing. She blew me a kiss and stepped into daylight, briefly illuminating the inside of Mother's dark hut. She shut the door behind her.

I rolled over, watching through the gaps in the thatch wall. She cut across the village, saying hello to people she knew, then took a hard right, waving at someone and aiming straight for them. I strained my neck to see.

Tannaka leaned against a tree eating a mango.

Saya approached and they talked until the young man nodded cautiously. He threw a glance at Mother's hut and then took Saya's hand and headed for the beach.

I flopped onto my back. It made sense. Why stop at one man? The barrier had been shattered. Saya was unshackled.

Chapter 6

I laid there, again, for hours, wondering, torturing myself with visions of my wife and Tannaka. Mother returned and gave me lunch and then left again, saying she'd be back for dinner. I contemplated all that time to baste in my own angst and decided nope, I needed to move. I grabbed a stick to use as a cane and hobbled out the door, bracing myself on my makeshift crutch. I followed the path Saya had taken earlier curving around the village and headed for the beach. Each step was agony but I was slow and careful, placing my foot firmly before taking the next step.

I entered the trees and my pace slowed further. I placed my feet cautiously, avoiding vines and roots, working my way closer to Saya, wherever she was. Eventually I emerged from the jungle and stood on the white sands of the beach. Fifty feet to my right I saw people on a blanket at the tree line. I stepped into the jungle again and slowly worked my way towards them, cautious, making no sound.

As I drew near, the air fled my lungs. The sight almost struck me blind.

Jasame lay on his back. Saya straddled him, impaled, her pussy stretched wide by his girth. Tannaka stood over them, feeding Saya his dark tan cock, stroking his length from balls to my wife's tightly sealed lips. Saya rested her hands on Jasame's chest and rolled her hips, sliding her cunt up and down the man's pole. She sucked Tannaka's cock like it was hard candy.

The sight was too much to bear and at first my mind rejected it. The woman could not be Saya. I worked several steps closer, hidden by the dense foliage, and peered again. There was no doubt. That was my loving wife, passionately handling two young lovers. She eased Tannaka deeper, relaxing her jaw and sliding him towards the back of her mouth. As she withdrew she left his messy with saliva. My mind was stumbling, seeking something to cling to.

Saya maneuvered Tannaka out of her mouth, holding the throbbing erection inches from her face.

"I'm ready," she said, lifting an eyebrow.

The handsome youth moved behind her, pushing her torso onto Jasame's chest, bending my wife at the waist. Her butt cheeks naturally spread, revealing her stuffed pussy and winking asshole.

Winking asshole.

Winking asshole.

No man has ever probed those depths.

No man.

Ever.

Saya had denied my attempts several times over the years.

My mind could not fathom what I knew was coming.

Tannaka dropped his knees to the blanket and bent his throbbing cock down, aligning the head to her sphincter. I covered my mouth with a hand, my eyes wide. Tannaka eased his weight forward and that rigid cock forced her tight ring to flower. Saya gasped and then groaned, feeling two cocks moving within. Her sphincter slithered over the head, enveloped the crown, ring sealed tightly around the shaft. Trapped between two men, Saya struggled to arch her back anyway, finally crying out in mind-blowing pleasure. Jasame grabbed her tits and squeezed, gnawing on a nipple.

Saya sounded ready to lose her mind. Strange guttural sounds poured from her throat. The men followed their own rhythm, fucking her holes at their own pace. Their passionate grunts and groans told me the fantastic sensations my wife gave. Tannaka leaned more heavily on her, driving his probing cock farther up her ass. For a moment, their four fat balls lay piled atop each other, Saya stuffed with every inch they had. She screamed suddenly, sobbing with delight.

"I can feel you in there," Tannaka groaned, speaking to Jasame.

The older man did not reply, too busy feasting on Saya's tits.

My wife wailed like a banshee. She thrashed between them, pinned and impaled and trapped. Youth made them clumsy but my wife reveled in her dual penetration, two hard young cocks pulsating deep within. They fucked faster, working towards orgasm, breathing hard and sweating.

Tannaka detonated like a bomb. One minute he's pounding her virgin asshole and the next he sucks a bushel of air and yells. His ass turned to rigid muscle as he buried his rod and spewed hot semen. Saya screamed, feeling the swollen penis spraying hot sperm into her, and orgasmed again. The big relentless cocks ripped a shattering climax from her, leaving her body wracked with tremors. I sensed Jasame could have continued for hours but he grabbed fistfuls of her hair and drove his cock deep. With Tannaka still sheathed in her rectum, Jasame blew a hole through her guts, blasting yet another massive load in her womb.

They fell apart in a pile of arms and legs, laughing and sticky. They spoke in tones too low for me to hear, catching their breath and returning to Earth. Saya stared wide-eyed at the blue sky high overhead. The boys caressed her body with teasing fingertips, enjoying her womanly curves.

Rested, they walked to the water, rinsing in the warm Pacific. They returned to the blanket, Saya walking between the young men, holding hands with each. They sat close to each other and my wife took turns making out with both. Their hands went to her breasts. Her hands went to their soft dicks. After a while my wife leaned forward, leisurely sucking first one then the other. The guys spoke casually despite my wife's head in their laps.

Tannaka eventually announced he had to leave. My wife kissed him goodbye. She dropped her head into Jasame's lap and did not rise, sucking and licking his hanging meat as he gazed over the blue waters. He spread his legs wide, tenderly stroking her head, enjoying her attention and the pleasure she gave.

Saya suckled his cock and balls for almost an hour. He never got hard but neither cared. She'd drained those heavy balls three times already. She was just happiest with his dick stuffed in her mouth and he had no problem with that. They shared the moment of quiet intimacy on this beach in paradise.

I tore myself away, leaving my wife with her new lover. I hobbled to Mother's hut, discovering it was still empty, and sank to my cot. I felt feverish. In my gut, I knew my old marriage was dead. I had no idea what my new marriage would look like, but I knew it would have more lovers for Saya. No way would she close the door on this. I'd planned this vacation to reignite our love life and I'd gotten what I wanted.

Mother returned and we shared a delicious dinner. I did not see Saya again until the next day, just before lunch. She brought me pineapple and mango. We sat in awkward silence for a minute.

"What happened after you left here yesterday?" I asked, testing for honesty.

She drew a determined breath.

"I met Tannaka," she said. "And Jasame."

I didn't bother with fake surprise.

"I saw you," I said. "I followed. My leg almost killed me but I had to know."

Concern softened her face.

"I'm all right," I continued. "You fucked them both."

"I did."

"At the same time."

Her eyes turned a little wild.

"I did," she admitted, voice husky. She leaned closer, her mouth near my ear. "Tannaka fucked my ass," she growled. "I know you've wanted that and I've always said no. I was so afraid it would hurt. Yesterday I was so turned on I didn't care. I'm sure that's upsetting. The first time your wife experiences that is with another man. I'm sorry but I wanted it. It only hurts for a second and then oh my God. Wow. I came, Baby, so, so hard. I had both young men at the same time, Mike, and, before you ask, yes, they filled me with their loads. I lost my fucking mind, Baby! Sex is so much more than we've allowed ourselves to enjoy. When we get home, everything's going to be different."

She sat back again.

"I promise once we're home you can fuck my ass," she said.

Chapter 7

Days later Kath and Darren came to see me. The weather had turned even warmer and neither wore a shred of clothing. They were tan and had lost a layer of soft fat; toned arms and legs, flatter stomachs. Kath looked hot. Her hair was loose, falling around her face. She wore a confident smile. I hadn't seen her do it again, but I knew she'd fucked other men, just like Saya. Darren sat next to her, a goofy smile frozen on his face. All three of us chatted, catching up on the last several days.

"It's terrible you've spent the whole time in this hut," Kath said.

"Darren and I have really let our hair down. We've had so much fun. But we realized we'd lost track of you. Are you doing all right?"

"Yes."

"What about Saya?" Kath said. "Do you see much of her? Has she done anything fun? We've totally lost track of her too."

"She's been around. I see her almost every day. We went to the beach where she rode horses with a young man named Jasame."

"Horses!" Kath exclaimed. "Fun! I didn't know they had horses on this island."

"Only a few."

She turned to Darren.

"Find out for me, Baby. I'd love to ride horses in the surf."

Darren smiled like an idiot.

They stayed for a while and we had a good time. I watched her ass as they left. Saya came to visit just before sunset. Like Kath, eating well and lots of exercise had sculpted her body too. Her tanned tits dazzled me. I shared my conversation with Kath and Darren. I was dying to ask Saya what she'd been doing outside my four walls but I didn't and she didn't volunteer. She was in a great mood so I imagined what adventures she'd had. She loved the idea of riding horses with Kath and said she'd talk to Jasame and learn if that was all right.

"Next time I see him," she added.

"Oh?" I said, surprised. "You don't see him every day?"

She crawled closer, gazing into my eyes, her face an inch from mine.

"I see him every day," she purred. "We just don't talk much."

My balls clenched.

"In fact," she continued, playing up the seductive kitten. "There are two young men like Jasame, if you know what I mean, and I see them too."

All the males on this small, isolated, genetic pool had won the lottery, over the centuries breeding into their line eye-catching traits universally desired by the females.

Saya leaned closer still, her lips brushing mine.

"Since you can't join me," she whispered. "Would you like to watch me?"

My penis woke. I was flustered. Her cheek grazed mine and her lips stopped at my ear. Hot breath sent shivers.

"I'm a very popular woman," she exhaled.

She flicked my ear with the tip of her tongue.

"If Mother wasn't due back soon, I'd suck a meal right out of you," she said.

She gripped my dick through my pants, squeezed hard and tugged. She barely resembled the woman I'd boarded the plane with. My heart raced. She was a sexual lioness. I'd gotten my wish, but far more than I'd expected.

She stood and looked down on me, pondering something.

"Or perhaps I should go the other direction," she teased. "Withhold blowjobs until you can give me what I want. Let those balls fill until they're ready to burst and then, once you can fuck again, drain you and leave you for dead."

She surprised herself, laughing at her wickedness as she finished the last word.

"Good Lord, Honey," she chuckled. "What has this place done to me?"

"I like it," I blurted.

Her eyes narrowed.

"Me too," she grinned.

She cupped her breasts and lifted, looking at her flat stomach and toned legs.

"I love this place," she said.

She was showing off for me and we both knew it but it worked anyway. I ran my eyes over her delicious body, groaning softly with need.

"Poor hubby," she murmured.

We'd never had the conversation or reached any kind of agreement, but the rules of our marriage had quite obviously changed. Saya stepped close and patted my balls, discovering my erection though my baggy jeans. She grinned again, nodding.

"Yes," she said. "Let's leave those cute testicles alone for a while. I want you ready to explode when the time comes. Get well soon."

She moved to the door, turning to blow me a kiss before leaving. I fell backward on my cot, staring at the thatched ceiling. A spider had built a home there, tiny bundled insects hanging like windchimes.

"I feel your pain," I told them.

I spent the long day in that one room shed, wondering what audacious life my wife and friends enjoyed out in the real world. Morning became afternoon became evening. I'd reached my limit. No way could I let this continue. Pain or not, I needed to get back on my feet and rejoin humanity.

I rose, determined to ignore my agony. I stopped to peek out the window in back, scanning the clearing where Kath first broke her vows, then continued my task, completing four full circuits before flopping on my bed.

Light flared. Through the gaps in the wall I saw they'd lit a bonfire, dark silhouettes dancing and cavorting around the flames. Someone started beating a drum and others began to chant. This place pulsed with life, vibrant and free. Many would deem them uncivilized but I believed they followed a better human path. So many of society's ills were absent.

Familiar movement drew my eye and I pressed my face closer. Saya and Kath held hands, jumping and prancing as they circled the flames. Both women were nude and bore painted symbols on their backs, bellies, breasts, and faces. They laughed wildly, freed from every constraint and inhibition. They came together briefly to kiss and then returned to frolicking. As they passed others dancing around the fire more kisses were exchanged. Hands roamed naked bodies.

Without warning a large group of nude males burst from the jungle. The party erupted in chaos, women screaming and running. Darker skinned and taller, these men rushed the crowd, searching for specific females. The Takian men held back, only pretending to mount a defense. The invading party swept through, gathering the chosen mates. Shrieks combined with raucous laughter echoed around the camp.

A large dark male confronted Saya and Kath, pausing only an instant before throwing my wife over his shoulder. I shouted, alarmed. Saya should be no part of this ceremony. Another male rushed through the jungle wall and scooped Kath in his muscular arms. Both women barely put up a fight. I yelled through the wall to leave them alone. I shoved at the ground, trying to get to my feet, struggling to rise even as the invading warriors vanished into the jungle with our women.

"No!" I shouted.

I grabbed my cane, pushing and pulling, one leg straight and the other bent in an awkward attempt to gain my footing. Mother hissed at me to behave but I ignored her.

"I didn't save you to watch you die," she snapped. "Sit down!"

"They took my wife!"

She pressed an eye to the wall.

"Too late," she said, grinning. "The Ailuk have her. Your wife is beautiful and will make an Ailuk male happy. You should be proud."

I gaped at her.

"What?"

"Your pretty wife is with them now. This is the way."

"No," I yelled. "This is not the way. She's my wife!"

Mathilde shrugged.

"Then you should not have allowed other men to have her."

Boom. A hammer to the head. My wife was eligible for this ritual because of course she was, why wouldn't she be? The whole village knew. I stared at the spot on the jungle wall where she'd vanished.

My stomach became a boiling pit of anxiety.

"Do you know where my friend Darren is?" I asked. "I need him to go after them."

"No," she said. "But I'll have one of the children find him."

I watched her leave the hut. I was on my feet in an instant. Pain shot through my thigh but I ignored it and kept going. I grabbed my makeshift cane and stumbled through the door, aiming for the jungle wall where Saya had disappeared.

Chapter 8

I stopped to rest against a palm. I had to. My leg was killing me. I'd been moving through the jungle, using every tree and shrub for balance, as quietly and quickly as possible, but the cost was high.

Every few yards I found young couples fucking on the forest floor, too impatient to wait until they got to Ailuk Atoll. Horny youths, freed at last to act on primitive impulses. When I'd first discovered them, my heart had leapt, thinking I'd found Saya, but no, my wife was still ahead. My leg was killing me.

I shoved off and continued my pursuit, soon encountering yet another couple. I did not stop to watch. Ahead I heard crashing waves and knew the beach was close. Through the leaves and branches I saw moonlight glittering on the ocean. Dark shapes raced over the sand. Hoots and hollers echoed.

I eased my head through the tree line. Saya stood on the white sand surrounded by four laughing Ailukian youths, their dark bodies painted with white streaks and swirls. The young men taunted my wife, slapping her ass or grabbing her tits and leaping away when she tried to slap their hands. They looked like a pack of hyenas attacking a doe, only playfully, everyone smiling and laughing. Saya's tits bounced and her ass quivered and four pairs of cocks and balls bounced and flopped. In the moonlight, their dark skin was a gorgeous contrast to her light. Two more young men came running up the beach, drawn by the men's laughter and Saya's squeals.

The circle drew tighter. Saya's eyes darted from one boy to the next. Grabbing hands were everywhere, far more than she could defend. One young man grabbed her wrist and before she could move almost a dozen hands descended on her, jammed between her legs, mauling her tits, caressing her ass. She shuddered as her other wrist was captured, eyes fluttered as escape faded. Young mouths descended and Saya disappeared beneath an avalanche of eager males. They sucked and licked and nibbled every exposed inch of her. My wife's face floated above their bent heads, eyes rolling in her sockets, deep moans pouring from her throat. One young man knelt and jabbed his tongue into her cunt. She groaned deeply. Her body was lifted from the ground, hovering above the sand while they caressed and feasted on breast and nipple, ass and pussy. Someone nibbled her ear. Another kissed her face.

Someone crashed through the brush behind me. Darren rushed to my side, gasping for air. His gaze captured Saya's fate in an instant.

"Fucking hell," he said. "I bet they all bang her."

Thoughtful as always.

"Where's Kath?" I asked.

He shook his head.

"Lost her. Followed your trail. Do we rescue Saya?"

For a moment we watched my wife get devoured. Inexperience made them rough but Saya did not care. Fantastic pleasure overwhelmed her. Somewhere under the press of bodies a young man finger-fucked her wet pussy. Saya had surrendered, giving herself up to the sensual assault.

"I don't think she wants us to," he muttered, transfixed.

Some of the men were erect. The guy fingering her pussy stood and steadied her hips. Saya had no idea what was coming. Like every damn male on this atoll the man looked larger than average. He aligned his cock and pressed, my wife crying out as his cock penetrated.

"Dude," Darren exhaled. "Your wife is getting fucked."

The dark meat sank deep. Details were lost in the moonlight but, guided by Saya's moans, my imagination filled in the blanks.

"That guy has a big dick," Darren added, stating the obvious.

I said nothing.

The relentless men consumed my sweet bride. There was little homophobia between them; one young man licked her clit while the other fucked her. Another ate her ass from below. My wife was squirming, all control lost. In that way men have, they all teamed up to help the man in her pussy. They moved my wife on his dick, pushing and pulling her pussy up and down his shaft.

Someone spoke in a language I did not understand and the man fucking her moved to lay on his back. A dark cock was quickly offered to her mouth which she inhaled as another man moved behind her. Many hands pinned her in place, preventing her escape as a black tube penetrated her ass. She wailed around the dick stuffing her mouth but shoved her ass back at the invader. They played with her tits and took turns fucking her mouth. She welcomed them all, moaning loud. I heard her orgasm under all that male flesh but they did not hesitate, enthusiastically pumping every hole she had.

They took turns, trading places and laughing, enjoying her complete submission. One by one they went off like bombs, pumping hot jizz, filling my wife with cream. She orgasmed again, trapped and forced to take their youthful loads.

At last they were spent. They rolled Saya onto the sand and left her there, jogging to the ocean to wash the sand away.

"Now!" Darren hissed, bolting from our hiding place.

I had barely gotten my leg around when he returned leading Saya. We hid in the dense brush, waiting for the boys to come back for more. They did, only to find their victim had escaped. They didn't care. Most returned to their boats but a few aimed for the village, ready to capture another possible bride. Saya was coming around so I covered her mouth. Her eyes got big when she saw me. She quickly realized the situation and nodded understanding so I moved my hand away. She grabbed my face with both hands and kissed me with a burning passion, forcing her tongue into my mouth. I tasted the flavorful mix of several young men, whoever had poured his balls down her throat. Discovering such a spicy blend in my wife's mouth was intoxicating, a physical reminder, proof of her whorish encounter. I curled my tongue around hers, returning her hot kiss.

"My hero," she murmured. "You came after me, broken leg and all."

We kissed again. I held her face this time and poured my heart and soul into it. Tasting other men in her sent my heart racing. How slutty. How sexual. She responded, moaning softly and kissing me with equal passion.

"Guys?" Darren said. "They're gone. We can move. What do I do about Kath?"

Saya sat up. Darren looked directly at her tits.

"You can search for her in the dark and maybe get lucky," Saya said. "By morning someone will know if she's been taken to Ailuk Atoll. If she has, you'll need to visit that island and negotiate for her release."

"All right," Darren said. "Let's get you two back to the village. I'll prowl around and try to find her."

With both helping me, I was back in my cot before too long. Mother checked my leg and then smacked me on the head, lecturing me about what I'd done. Once she was satisfied I'd be okay, she left to go help clean up after the raid.

Saya opened her mouth to speak but I pushed her backward, dragging myself between her legs. The earlier taste of her salty mouth had been just the beginning. I lowered my head to her pussy.

"Are you sure?" she began to say, before my probing tongue silenced her.

The rush I felt tasting men in her mouth was nothing compared to the flavor of men in her pussy. That was my pussy but they had filled it and that fact turned me on like nothing else I'd ever known. I groaned as my tongue made first contact. I cared nothing about the fluid itself, but tasting her infidelity, recognizing the essence of other men, their presence inside her, rattled my brain and ignited my heart.

Saya fucked them all.

My heart ached like it was crushed in a vise. My balls glowed white hot.

Saya fucked them all.

I desired my wife more in that moment than I'd ever wanted her before. I had to have her. I couldn't, prevented by injury, but my brain and heart screamed I must. My entire body ached with need.

My tongue was a hot iron on her skin. I licked and she shuddered, moaning with pleasure. I probed deep, sending shivers racing up her body. My act of desire overwhelmed her. She started weeping, soft whimpers in the dark. I licked her tender flesh, delicately parting her inner lips to find her pearl. She groaned. I settled my mouth over her mound and got to work. Her hole dripped, excitement mixed with adultery, and I teased and taunted until she writhed. Her hands held my head, keeping me there in case I thought of stopping. There was no danger of that. I had my wife twisting, building towards orgasm. I wanted her to cum with all that seed swimming around inside, stirring the pot of her womb.

I dipped a finger in the leaking fluid and eased it up her ass. She gasped and rocked her hips. Off-limits no more, just another hole to be fucked, I pumped my digit and pushed her higher. Other men walking the Earth, and I had no idea who, had fucked my wife in ways I had not. That stung. They knew her in ways I didn't. They had memories of her, the way her sphincter felt wrapped tightly around their cocks, that I didn't. I hated that fact but God, it turned me on so much. A day would come that I took her ass but for now that was an intimacy she shared with them, not me.

My dick was hard. I licked and sucked, pushing her higher still. She was close and it would be a monster. I sought her clit and teased the little nub, drawing another loud gasp. Her body tensed. Her hands pulled my head tight. I licked faster and then there it was; a glorious, back-breaking, toe-curling climax to end all others. My wife clenched her jaw and orgasmed into my mouth, her tight ring clutching my finger. I was merciless, antagonizing the unfaithful wench, even as I worshipped my beloved lusty wife. Her climax lasted a long time, leaving her wiped out.

I opened my pants. My hard penis throbbed. My balls were large eggs, hot to the touch and ready to explode. I started to stroke, desperate to relieve the pressure, but Saya smacked my hand.

"No," she muttered, half asleep. "I told you to save it."

I didn't understand. She lifted her head, gazing at me with half-opened eyes.

"I said let them fill until they're ready to burst. No orgasm for you. Not until you can fuck me like a proper husband."

I stopped. I don't know why I listened to her but I did. I was so hot to cum I could scream. Need made my body ache. She shook her head slowly and I stuffed my pulsing erection into my pants. I zipped up, incredibly uncomfortable. She grinned.

"Wait," she said. "It will be worth it."

We laid like that in the dark until my leg started aching. The night's adventures were catching up to me. I straightened myself on my cot.

"Leg hurt?" she asked, rolling on her side.

"Yeah."

"I'll go find Mother."

She kissed me and left the hut. She never returned. Sex flowed through her veins now. I found out later she stumbled across another group of young males and drained each of them.

Darren took two days to bring Kath home. They came to visit and brought Saya with them and we all showed our cards, admitting to the extra-marital sex. Well, we admitted our wives were having sex with others but, like me, Darren had not taken a lover. Nothing wrong with his femur, he just discovered he loved watching Kath fuck and had no interest in one of the islands many female beauties.

"I'm the same," I admitted.

"I told Kath about Saya and the six Ailukians on the beach," Darren said.

Saya looked embarrassed. Kath looked proud.

"I love when Darren watches me," Kath said. "I'm his porn star."

We were quiet for a moment and then Saya asked if we thought we'd continue this way once we were finally got home. That brought another moment of silence.

"I'm going to," Kath said, turning to Darren. "I hope you're okay with that."

He gave her that goofy Darren grin. Saya turned to me. Our eyes locked.

"Me too," Saya said, daring me to protest.

I never got a chance to answer. Mother threw the door open, face beaming.

"They reached Enubirr!" she exclaimed. "Your rescue plane just landed."

Disappointment flashed across Saya's face. She quickly erased it and cheered, joining Kath and Darren in a group hug.

Chapter 9

By sunset we were on the plane flying south. From there we flew to Brisbane and then doubled back to the States. Accommodations were made for my leg. Twenty-two exhausting hours later, we landed in Las Vegas. We had no luggage so we said our goodbyes to Kath and Darren and took Ubers in different directions. I wanted to sleep for a week.

I had a ton more vacation time so I used some, helping my leg to heal. Saya chose to return to work. Our old routine, with one delightful exception, quickly returned. The exception? Saya always stripped the minute she got home and walked around the house naked.

Within two days, fingers of dread had tightened around our throats. How could we so easily discard everything the island had taught us? Office politics and screaming news stories and all the crap of modern society came raining down and we fell right back into our old ways again.

One night we sat in bed watching the news. Saya turned to me.

"I want to fuck around," she said.

Bang! Hammer to the skull.

"What?" I stammered.

"On the island I told you I would once we got home, but then I chickened out. Let me fuck around. We both love it. Let's transplant what happened on the island to our life here. We've been home two days and we're already mired in boring repetition. Let me fuck around. I promise I'll bring all my lust home to you."

I struggled to catch up.

"I'm not saying let me fuck around or else," she continued. "Nothing like that. But wasn't our time on the island extraordinary? Wasn't life so much sweeter? We made our own rules. Just think about it."

I patted the long cast housing my leg.

"I can't join in yet," I said. "I thought we'd do it together."

"Why wait? she asked. "You were forced to watch on Taka Atoll. You can keep watching here. I could bring someone home. Who would you have me fuck if I said I'd fuck whomever you picked? Paul? Your boss?"

"What? No."

"Who?"

"Jesus, Saya, this is a lot to hit me with all at once."

"Haven't you been thinking about it since we got on that plane? I have. Did you turn a page and put that island behind you? Did you flip a switch in your head and erase everything that happened? Not me. I want more."

"We can't recreate that place here. Attempting that life at home will get complicated fast. We have friends, connections, reputations."

"Fuck reputations," she said. "I've made too many poor choices in my life trying to protect my fragile reputation. It's time to say fuck it."

"You had an island full of hung, handsome studs," I said. "Two islands. We don't know anyone like that here."

She got mad. Then she pouted. Then she turned playful.

"Close your eyes," she teased. "Imagine me fucking someone from here. Who is it? I'm curious. You said no to Paul but then who? Max? Your asshole friend Curtis is hot but don't pick him. How about Jeremy?"

I couldn't help it. Every time she said a name I saw them fucking her. Max was my trainer from the gym, six-foot-six and all muscle. Curtis was my good friend from work, a womanizer Saya couldn't stand. Jeremy was the kid across the street who just graduated high school. Saya was all over the place. In my mind, they all stood around our bed, waiting their turn with her.

"Stop," I said.

I sighed. She was right in a way; there was no way to just turn this off. We'd stumbled upon something at Taka Atoll and there was no undoing it. Saya waited expectantly, eyes hopeful.

"Don't ask me to pick," she cautioned. "That's not what I'm looking for here. I want to fuck a man for you. I want you to choose my lover. I like the idea that I must fuck whoever you say. My daddy gave me away at our wedding and now that man, you, is giving me to another man to use. That's hot."

She was killing me and she knew it. By insisting I choose I had to consider all the men in our lives. She knew I'd picture each one. She was daring me to pick someone non-threatening, knowing I'd never do that because I want her well-fucked. She was forcing me to be the hand that moved the pieces. This would all be my fault.

I leaned my head against the bedroom wall, weighing each man and his merits. I could select a stranger but that brought a host of issues with it, some serious. Choosing someone we knew had issues too but those would be far easier to handle. One by one I went through the men in our life. I reached the end without a decision. I just couldn't bring myself to hand her over to a friend. I pictured one of those guys touching her and ice water froze my veins. I'd never live it down. The lucky bastard would be one up on me for the rest of my life. I'd never hear the end of it. What could I do?

"I can't," I said. "This is too hard."

She wouldn't budge.

"I know you know, Mike. You're just afraid to face the truth. Close your eyes and look within. Someone is there staring back at you. Tell me who."

I stared for a moment before realizing she was serious. This was huge fun to her. I sighed again, exaggerated, and closed my eyes, waiting. After a minute, I gasped.

"Who?" she asked, intrigued.

Curtis. Oh, God, why Curtis? I'd have to look at his face five days a week and know he'd been inside her. I tried rolling the dice again but his name came up just like the first time. Some buried perversion wanted to see Saya added to the long list of the man's conquests. Shit.

"Curtis," I admitted.

I anticipated protest. I waited for complaint. I expected her to think I chose him knowing she'd refuse.

"Interesting," she said.

A smile spread across her pretty face.

"All right," she added. "Challenge accepted. I don't know if you were hoping I'd change my mind but at least he's good looking. Nice body. He's so confident he's cocky and I bet that means he's got a nice cock. You make the arrangements."

She kissed me, happy again. She flopped on her side and pulled up the covers. I powered off the television and snuggled behind her as best I could, one leg stuck straight. She nestled her ass against my crotch.

"Don't get any ideas," she teased. "I want those balls full. I can't wait to feel you pump all that saved up cum into me. Don't even masturbate."

I went along with her little game. I was curious how powerful my orgasm would be that day. She was right about that. I held so much sexual tension in my body I ached all over. My scrotum felt big, as big as a softball. My testicles were tight and swollen and tender, ready to burst.

Chapter 10

Today would be my first day back at work. The doctors had examined Mother Mathilde's cast when I arrived in the States and, impressed by her effective yet primitive remedy, declared it sound. I wore it still. The pain in my thigh had gradually dwindled until now, with the aid of crutches, I could get around on my own.

I was seated at my desk only a few minutes when Curtis knocked on my door. He asked how I was feeling, quickly moved on to his latest exploits, bragging about a foursome last weekend, him and three girls, and described the wicked sensations of three mouths simultaneously sucking one's dick. I watched him as he spoke, seeing him in an entirely new way. He had no idea what came down the road but I did, and that made me study him through Saya's eyes. I've known the man for years and heard all his stories. He'd slept with a few coworkers and I heard the stories from their side too. None complained and all they'd fuck him again. Too bad Curtis doesn't work that way.

"Nothing's more exciting than new pussy," he'd always say.

He was in his mid-thirties and handsome, with a great body and plenty of cash. His brains gave him a quick wit and remarkable sense of humor and he rarely failed to bed an intended target. The women I've seen him with were hot. I imagined Saya as one of those women and felt my heartbeat quicken. What would work be like after he's fucked my wife?

"We should meet for drinks," he said, swinging his attention back to me. "To celebrate your rescue. What a fucked-up adventure you guys had. Let me take you and Saya out someplace nice."

Alcohol was a great idea. So much easier to make something happen and after, if things turned out poorly, we could blame it on too much booze. I told him drinks sounded great and to set it up for this Saturday night.

"You could bring a date or just meet me and Saya," I added, trying to subtly influence the outcome.

"That works," he said. "I have a special lady coming to my house later that night so I'll meet you guys first and her after."

"Perfect."

He returned to his office and I pretended to work but it's an intoxicating experience to secretly arrange a lover for your wife. My hands trembled as I typed. My mouth was dry and a small muscle near my eye began to twitch. This was insane on so many levels but I had to admit our marriage was no longer stuck in a rut. Saya was filled with energy and life. No matter how I tried to fight it, images of Curt fucking Saya drifted through my mind.

He knew she didn't much care for him and his ways. They'd exchanged words about him taking advantage of lonely women. He'd responded by saying adult women are responsible for their own choices, and trying to protect them only patronized them. They'd snapped at each a few times over the years. Tensions remained.

When I got home I told Saya Saturday at nine and she knew exactly what I was talking about. We went about our lives like nothing had changed, that we weren't approaching a pre-arranged fuck-session for her, but the air was thick with anticipation. All week I'd kept my eyes on Curt, watching every move he made. I'd studied his interactions with women at the office. Even if they didn't find him particularly attractive I felt like most would still sleep with him. Even the happily married ones.

Saturday night my wife started getting ready around six. I usually needed about ten minutes so that was way too early for me. I sat on the bed and watched her go about her mystic rituals, all the mysterious things women do when they want to make themselves as attractive as possible. Tonight, she did them for Curt.

I did not anticipate the powerful upwelling of raw emotion I got.

Saya debated wardrobe; dresses, skirts, tops, shoes. I studied her closely as she weighed each option, trying on outfits and checking for how much skin she showed, what happened, front and back, when she bent over. It was agonizing observing my wife plot the seduction of another man. She made careful, calculated choices at each stage, always with an eye towards sexy. She aimed to lure Curtis, playing to his male desires. Hair, makeup, jewelry; her attention to detail squeezed my heart and heated my balls. Ultimately, she chose a miniskirt and plunging V-neck top, concluding it's best to hit a man like Curtis over the head with her intent. When he unwrapped this gorgeous package later tonight he'd find a tiny matching bra and panty set that made my dick hard. They would make his dick hard too.

I squirmed on the bed. Saya looked incredible, and all for him.

At last she presented herself. I could not pull my eyes away. The skirt barely covered her ass and the thin bra did not disguise the twin bumps of her soft nipples. She looked like a five-thousand dollar a night escort. She grabbed her clutch and car keys and paused at the bedroom door.

"Ready?" she asked.

I couldn't speak. I just stared.

As Saya drove us to the restaurant, Curtis texted he'd be late. He texted again after we'd pulled into the parking lot, saying he'd be even later.

"Fuck him," Saya said. "I'm not letting all this go to waste. Let's go in separately, like we don't know each other. I can get a few drinks in me and you can watch me flirt."

We kissed and I watched her ass cross the parking lot. We agreed to ten minutes but I stayed in the car longer, counting as time ticked off; Fifteen. Twenty. Thirty. She was feeling naughty and I wanted to give her plenty of time to get in trouble.

I left the car to join her.

Saya sat at a booth in the corner, two well-dressed men to either side. All four men, understanding the path to a woman's heart, listened intently to every word she said, laughing and joking and flirting with her like crazy. I made sure she noticed me and then took a stool at the bar. Each man vied for her attention. They competed to take her to the cheap motel across the street. Saya had played them into a frothy state of lust, each sure he'd be the one. I had to smile. Saya was eating this up. I'd never known she even had this in her. They all brought their A-game, turning on the charm, bragging of their successes, trying to sound smart. Too bad none of them knew she belonged to me and Curtis tonight.

My phone buzzed: a text from Curtis apologizing profusely, but informing us he'd be unable to make it at all. I watched Saya in the booth, playing her game, turning herself on. Now, all for nothing. I debated sending her a text or just walking over and crashing their party, telling Saya we had to head home. Those guys would hate me. Saya would be disappointed.

I finished my drink and ordered another, working on what I'd say. Saya was comfortable in the eye of a hurricane, laughing, talking, enjoying their unbridled attention. I needed to end her charade before things went too far.

Or did I?

I read Curtis's messages again. Thoughtless jerk. Saya was right; fuck him. I gulped my drink, dropped my wedding band into a pocket, grabbed my crutches and angled across the bar.

"Saya?" I said, interrupting them.

Everyone froze for the disabled guy. Even Saya.

"It's me," I continued. "Michael. From the first floor. We had coffee that one time."

"Hi Michael," she said, instantly playing along.

"I was waiting for my friend Curtis," I said. "But he just canceled so I was headed home. I saw you from over there." I jerked a thumb over my shoulder.

"Don't leave yet," Saya said. "Guys, pull a chair over for my disabled friend."

The men on the ends hurried to comply. I took the first tall chair and sat with my back to the bar. Now I was in the hunt too but none of these guys saw the handicapped dude as a threat. Ha! I was going to enjoy hobbling out with Saya on my arm. I decided to get comfortable and watch the show.

Saya had these guys groveling in no time. The flirtation had risen to the point they openly touched her; hands, arms, knees, whatever was within reach. She smiled, acting coy. Emboldened, the guys pushed the envelope.

Soon Saya had a leg in each lap and her arms running along the back of the booth. Her lowcut top lifted, exposing midriff and deep cleavage. If she was waiting for me to slow her down she was going to be disappointed.

The man to her right said something about an upcoming birthday and asked for a kiss on the cheek. Saya turned to give it and at the last second he turned, her lips landing on his. She opened her eyes but held the kiss. The man on her left took that as a green light and slipped his hand inside her top, cupping her breast, teasing the nipple through the gauzy bra. My wife maintained her kiss, unflinching. The guys exchanged knowing looks. Someone was fucking her tonight.

"Lift that short skirt," I said. "Let's see if the panties match the bra."

I expected one of the guys to do it but Saya was quicker, grabbing the hem and slowly drawing the fabric back. Boom. Lovely labia beneath see-through mesh.

"Fuck me that's a pretty pussy," someone muttered.

The guy on her right dropped his hand to her lap and slipped a finger under the elastic. Saya moaned softly, resisting the urge to look at me, her husband. The man ran his finger up and down her slit, gently parting her inner lips, before pushing two-knuckles deep. He started a slow in and out.

I heard a chair move at the table behind me.

"Can anyone join this party?" Curtis said.

Curtis?

My head whipped around. Her eyes closed, Saya either did not hear him or did not recognize the voice. My wife smoothly rocked her hips, enjoying the stiff digit.

"Table's full," someone said. "Move on."

"No," Curtis said. "I don't think so."

My eyes were locked to his. How the fuck do I get out of this? He looked at me like I he'd caught me picking a pocket, wallet in hand. Saya opened her eyes.

"Let him join," she said, recovering faster than me. "He's cute."

Curtis took the empty tall chair, grinning at me before sending his smiling face around the table. He'd figured out what was happening and decided he wanted in. He looked every man in the eye before returning to Saya.

"What's your name, gorgeous?" he asked.

"Saya," she said. "What's yours?"

"Curtis."

"Nice to meet you," she said.

They played the game flawlessly.

"I think you were about to lift that skirt higher?" Curtis said.

Saya folded the hem, revealing the man on her right still had a finger buried in her pussy. Curtis glanced around the empty bar and then returned his gaze to my wife's pussy. She blushed. She began breathing through her mouth. Spread before someone she knew was far more exciting than spread before strangers.

"We should take this someplace private," Curt said, showing these men how it was done. "I'll get us a room across the street."

"All right," Saya exhaled, growing more aroused by the second.

That was fast. All eyes turned to Curtis.

The man's a legend.

"A bed big enough for all of us?" he asked. "Or just me?"

He was giving her an out.

"All of you," she said.

I was as shocked as everyone. Every man at that table smiled but me. Curtis jumped up to book the room. Conversation resumed but honestly, I didn't hear it. Sex with Curtis was one thing but fucking all these guys including Curt was something altogether different. I worked with the man. He'd always think of her as a slut. Our plan had been to pretend we had a few too many drinks and shit happened, just a spontaneous threesome, with me watching from the sidelines because my leg forced me to. There was no way to spin this. Saya wanted every cock at the table. She was clearly not intoxicated. She was fully present and under control.

My days working with Curtis were about to be drastically altered forever.

Saya avoided my eyes but not from shame. She felt no guilt. No, she avoided my eyes to tease me, to leave my status as just another man at the table. We both knew she wouldn't fuck me. My time had not yet come. My balls were already filled to bursting but until my leg healed enough to throw her around the bedroom and reclaim her, I would wait, and watch, and grow hornier.

Curtis returned and dropped a room key on the table. Everyone stared at it.

"All right," the man on the far left said. "This just got too serious for me. I have a wife and kids. I'm going to bail."

"Me too," said the man on the far right. He looked at Saya. "You're hotter than Hell. Too hot for me, if I'm honest. I got a girl and I don't want to cheat on her. You all have a good night."

We watched them leave.

"Anyone else?" Saya asked.

No one spoke so she grabbed the key. The guys slid from the booth and headed for the exit, me trailing behind and trying to keep up. Curtis continued the act, walking next to Saya and plying her with sweet talk. I enjoyed those two playing their parts. Curtis was having a blast with Saya trapped in this role. She displayed none of her usual bitchiness towards him. She was in his world now.

Curt had paid for a room with one king-sized bed. The place was cheap; plastic coated curtains and linoleum floors, loose knobs on the cabinets and a bathroom door that stuck. I took a chair by the window where I could straighten my leg. Saya sat on the squeaky bed. They guys surrounded her, Curtis in front. I had no idea what to say or do but Curtis had clearly been in a similar situation before. He boldly leaned in and kissed my wife on the lips. My heart skipped a beat. She tried to hide her surprise but I saw it. Curt savored the moment, feeling like he had Saya at a disadvantage, her distaste for the man reluctantly set aside. His fingertips lightly caressed her arms, working higher to her shoulders and then confidently moving to the buttons of her top. His grin held her captive as he began to open her shirt, spreading both sides wide, exposing her mesh bra. Every man in the room stared at the dark circles of her areola.

"Strip for us," he said, encouraging her with a small nod.

Saya shuffled from the bed and moved to a corner, her eyes darting from one man to the next. She lingered on mine, flipping the clasp at the front and releasing her bra, freeing her spectacular tits. She tugged the zipper at her hip and shimmied out of her skirt. Her panties joined the growing pile of clothing. Our eyes roamed her flesh sending shivers up her body. We waited as a group, following her every move, gawking at her luscious feminine form. Once she was nude, we just stared and stared.

"Our turn," Curtis said.

I heard the power of command in his voice. The rest of us hesitated or began undressing slowly. Not Curtis. His clothing hit the floor fast. Last went his underwear and now I understood his eagerness to get naked. Even soft his ample cock hung long and thick. He knew he had us all beat. His scrotum was bigger than my fist. His shaft looked like a flesh-colored Billy club topped with a sleek nose cone. His body hair was immaculately trimmed close to the skin. Saya eyed him up and down.

"Come on guys," he laughed. "Don't hang me out to dry."

Fuck you, Curtis. I didn't budge. The others stopped undressing, feeling the same way I did. Saya could not rip her eyes away, crawling his body until landing on his cock and staying there. He grinned. My wife stared and with each passing second the revelation grew inside me; this would be completely different than Saya with strangers. Curtis, my dear friend and coworker, was about to fuck my wife.

Alarm bells sounded. Panic rose. On the island Saya could fuck anyone she wished and the next day the complications would be the same as the day before; none. That was gone now. We'd already crossed several important thresholds and we were about to cross more. Come tomorrow, Curtis will have known my wife, and I mean that in the harshest biblical sense of the word. Everything would be different.

The other men stared at Curt's dick too. The thing was intimidating, an impossible act to follow. What satisfaction would a woman get out of their dick after she'd had his? She'd feel such an obvious difference. What was the point?

This had been his plan all along. He'd been in similar situations before and knew how to play them. He'd known the other men would back off, allowing him to claim Saya as his own. He'd known it from the very beginning.

I stared at his cock too. It hung heavy, pulled down by its own weight, following the curve of his massive ball sack, ending in a pudgy helmet. I swear it pulsed. I'm not saying it was the biggest cock I'd ever seen. It wasn't. I'd seen bigger in porn. But it was daunting, threatening, and only three feet away. The thing looked powerful and manly, like I was suddenly eight years old and in the locker room with grown men. Worst of all, it was attached to a man I knew.

Saya would not stop staring. Curtis stepped closer and Saya grinned.

"Yeah," she said, drawing him closer with a finger. "Come here."

Curtis ignored his own dick. He didn't stroke or play with it, he didn't hold it up for Saya to see. Experience had taught him he need only wait. I saw a long history of women struggling to play demure, resisting the urge to grab the beast. Curtis loved this part: women, even the shy ones, unable to resist. He tenderly lifted her chin and kissed her, playing the romantic. Saya surrendered just like all the women before her. She palmed his shaft, hoisting the dense tube of beef to get a feel for the weight.

"That's lovely," she murmured. "That's a grown man's cock."

He started increasing in girth and length, crawling across her hand.

"I hear you're supposed to be some kind of stud," she said.

"That's what they say," he replied.

Her eyes flickered for an instant, darting to mine and then back again.

"Show me," she said. "But don't pretend you have feelings for me. I know your game. I don't need to think you love me or something might happen between us."

Curtis hesitated like she'd hit the nail on the head. Then, laughing, he scooped her in his arms and tossed her onto the bed. Saya whooped. He dove after her, grabbing fistfuls of hair and pinning her face down to the mattress. He climbed over her body, hot mouth near her ear, dangling cock slapping against her ass and thighs. I gasped quietly. His dick was so close to her pink slit. The fat head nudged the inner labia, shoving her pussy lips around.

"Tell me to fuck you, Saya," he hissed. "Use my name."

Saya groaned, resisting, hating herself. She would be just another girl on his list. She'd given him so much shit over the years but now, when faced with it herself, she'd abandoned her principles for the promise of hot sex.

"Say my name," he urged.

She battled herself, hating he could do this to her.

"Curtis," she growled.

"Now tell me to fuck you, Saya."

She bit the bedspread, fighting her needs. They would do this his way and she hated that. His hot shaft rubbed all around. It was too much.

"Fuck me, Curtis," she said, meaning it.

A wide grin curled his lips. He had her.

"Say it again," he growled.

His semi erect penis poked about between her legs, teasing her with penetration. She wanted that badly and they both knew it. The head pressed against her inner lips and she snarled.

"Fuck me, Curtis," she grumbled, but her rolling hips betrayed her true desire.

Curtis dropped his pelvis, maneuvering the fat head like a plug over Saya's cunt. She gasped. He was at her sacred entrance, about to pierce her body. Her eyes came around to me and I saw how helpless she was to refuse. She'd become a slave to her own pussy.

"Fuck me, Curtis," she said again, voice packed with longing.

It dawned on me they'd shared a secret desire over the years, hidden behind a curtain of conflict. What if Saya's words of rebuke had disguised jealousy? What if each time Curtis had seduced another woman Saya had deep down wished it was her? That Curtis desired Saya was a given. She was sexy and I'd seen the way he looked at her many times. But in this moment, I caught a glimpse of something more, something in my wife's eyes. She'd lied to herself and to me. She'd wanted to fuck the man all along.

"Fuck me, Curtis," she groaned, frustrated by his self-control. "Fuck me, you bastard. Just push it in."

"No," he said. "You guide me in. In front of Mike. In front of everybody. I want us to know it was you and not me. Next week when we're sitting around enjoying a beer, I want all of us to remember it was you and not me."

Saya whimpered. Curtis was ruthless. She worked a hand under her belly, searching until her fingers found his stiff rod. She tried to tug him forward but he resisted, forcing her to heave, displaying to everyone her desperation to have this man inside her. This story would not change over the years. We'd all remember it was her, not him. Saya gripped his cock tight and yanked, driving the first inches through her opening. My wife groaned loudly, thrilled to be filled. Curtis flexed his ass and more inches traveled deep, passing through tightly stretched pussy lips. Saya hid her face in shame. Curtis sighed with satisfaction.

The other men were down to their boxers but that's where they stopped. They'd heard the dialog and understood the three of us had a relationship. No one wished to get involved in that. The scene on the bed had every dick hard. There was an electricity in the air, a sexual vibration filling the small room and probably spilling out into the parking lot. One of the men pulled his dick through his underwear, content to watch this hung stud fuck the hot bitch. Saya's pussy clung to the thick shaft on each slow stroke.

Curtis pinned Saya under more of his weight, pressing her face into the soft mattress. His hips began a sharp up and down, ramming his solid girth deep. My wife moaned with pleasure on each blow. Curt's big balls covered her clit, slapping her wet lips. He pulled her hair hard, bending her neck as he pumped his hips faster. Saya was his helpless plaything.

Curtis released her hair to look at me. His grin spread across his face. He withdrew his cock all the way to the head, showing me the gleaming shaft. Saya had soaked his inches with excitement and he wanted me to see that.

"Tonight is just the beginning," he said. "Trust me. I know the signs."

I knew what he meant; tonight, we broke all the rules. We were all witness to Saya's transformation. My wife's complete collapse meant Curtis would be coming to our home, fucking Saya in our bed. Curtis would fuck Saya in every room of our house and then take her home to fuck her at his place. All pretense of conflict between them was over. He plunged his strong cock into my wife and Saya's cry of pleasure told me this was all true.

The second man joined the first in masturbating to the show. Curtis suggested I do the same but I dared not. I'd not cum in so long, saving my precious semen for my big night with Saya, that if I even touched my dick I'd explode.

Curtis pulled her hair and drove his cock balls deep. Saya whined. The man pumped his hips hard, slamming into her over and over until she screamed into the bedspread, howling gibberish as an orgasm destroyed her. Curtis pounded her hole, waving one of the guys towards her face. When the man got in position, Curt pulled Saya's hair again, lifting her head, showing her the stiff cock inches from her mouth. My wife opened wide, sucking eagerly. Curtis moved his hands to her ass, kneading her round cheeks and forcing a thumb up her butt. In minutes Saya came again, exciting the man in her mouth so that he lost control and spewed down her throat. Curt waved the next man over and Saya fastened her slutty mouth to another new cock. The poor man lasted no time at all, prematurely ejaculating into my wife's mouth. Curtis continued his assault on her pussy as the men hurriedly dressed and left.

Now it was just we three. Curtis withdrew his sopping cock and left the bed, claiming the empty chair next to me. His dick towered above his legs, a pillar of veiny pulsing flesh. I looked down at it because how could I not? The thing had just been inside my wife.

"What happened out there?" he asked, waving at something over the horizon. "I never imagined you guys capable of this and I can read people well. What did that island do to you?"

I hung my head. What could I say?

"Come here, Saya," he said.

My wife raised her head from the covers. Her bleary eyes found us sitting and waiting. Saya rolled over and slithered from the bed, instinctively crawling between his legs. Curt chuckled.

"Women love sucking cock," he said. "I've never done it, so I can't say, but every one of them just loves a hard dick in her mouth. Even enlightened ones like this."

He pointed at his lap. We watched as Saya settled her mouth over the head. She sucked, worked a few inches deeper, sucked again, and took a few inches more.

"It's baffling," he continued, holding casual conversation with me while my wife suckled his schlong. "They can be militant gender warriors, practically man-haters, yet jam a dick down their throats and they turn into slutty sorority girls. Most will gag themselves trying to work the thing as deep as they can get it."

Saya polished his tower of flesh with both hands. She paused long enough to flip him off, which made him chuckle, but then she resumed her oral assault, opening wide and pushing the head back to her tonsils.

"Seriously," he continued. "I thought you guys were straight-laced all the way. You've been different since you returned from that island. Did something happen out there? I've always wanted to fuck her but I thought she hated me. Who knows, maybe she does."

Saya dropped her face under to lick and suck his big balls. I watched them roll around inside their wrinkled pouch. She sucked one and then the other, curling her tongue under to lick his asshole.

"Why don't you join us?" he grunted. "At least take your dick out and jack it. All this has got to be getting to you."

"I can't," I said, tapping my cast with a knuckle. "Saya asked me to save my load until I can fuck her proper."

"But she gets to fuck? Brutal, dude. Why'd you agree to that?"

I shrugged. I'd not thought a lot about it, just following my impulses. Now that he'd framed the question, I had no answer.

"It just feels right," I said.

It was his turn to shrug.

"Whatever," he said. "All I know is it gave me Saya on her knees with my dick in her mouth. I don't care what your reasons are."

Curtis groaned from time to time when Saya did something especially sensational, but mostly he just chatted with me while my wife sucked his cock.

After a long time, he moved her to the bed again. He directed Saya to her back, sliding between her legs and instructing her to guide him in again. My wife eagerly did that. They fucked face-to-face, kissing and murmuring sweetly, building passion gradually until Saya orgasmed again. After that Curtis bore down, intent on leaving a huge load inside her. She was equally enthusiastic, clawing at his ass to pull him deep. When he exploded, she groaned as loudly as him.

Chapter 11

I was right about his meaning. After that night Curtis visited our house often. I thought he'd grow bored quickly but instead his visits soon increased. Saya took only two days to propose she spend a night at his place. I told her to go ahead but quickly learned I'd made a terrible mistake.

I couldn't even pace our home. I laid in bed, staring at our ceiling. Nightmare visions twisted my imagination. In front of me the sex was raw and physical. Away, my mind's eye added gentle intimacy, tender kisses, love. Fear that I'd lose her to him became painfully real. I'd watched them fuck half a dozen times but I was sure, alone at his place, their hot sex transformed into lovemaking, and that thought was pure anguish. I swore I'd never do it again but she came home so blissfully happy and exhausted, endlessly thanking me for something so amazing, I caved and said nothing.

Work became intolerable. I'd arrive before Curtis and watch his smug face enter the office. He'd say good morning to everyone, practically skipping with joy, my wife at his place and still in his bed. All day he'd beam with happiness. Saya would call around noon, sharing her plans for the day but avoiding any mention of her night with him. The mystery drove me insane.

A few coworkers asked if everything was all right. They saw a change in my friendship with Curt. I assured them we were fine, just too busy to hang out much. I couldn't tell them Curt was inseminating my wife nightly.

In ten days, I'd reached my limit. Something had to give.

Fortunately, the doctor said it was time to remove my cast. Saya drove me to the facility and hours later I walked out a free man.

"Home," I said, climbing into her car. "I'm going to fuck your brains out."

Saya looked thrilled and I was relieved to see it.

"Oh my God," she said. "Let's do it." She stepped on the gas. "I haven't had you in so long, Baby. Just thinking about it makes me ache. We haven't made love since way before the plane crash. I can't wait."

Her words warmed me. We'd been through a lot of radical changes over the last few weeks. Normalcy had evaporated. I'd worried her interest in me had diminished. I was pleased to hear her desire. We held hands as she drove, racing home to jump into bed. After she'd been driving a while I realized the route would take us near Curt's home. An idea rose, despite all my recent fears and misgivings, and I caught a glimpse how deeply my new perversion ran. I was shocked I'd even contemplate such a thought. Saya concentrated on speeding, utterly unaware. I watched the side streets fly by, bringing us ever closer to his home.

I picture them together. I imagined the raw lust and passion. I pictured Curt's thick throbbing cock twitching with eagerness to get inside her. I remembered Saya's desperate need for him to fill her. I was dying to reclaim her, after Jasame, all the men from Taka Atoll, and Curtis, but God damn my soul, I also wanted to see her ravaged. I couldn't take her back if that meant excluding all the other men. I wanted her fucked. I wanted her fucked to within an inch of her life. I was as addicted to all this as she.

I squeezed her hand and she squeezed back.

"Turn right," I said. "Up here on Apple Lane. Hang a right."

She was confused.

"We can't get home that way, Baby," she said.

I met her gaze and held it. Understanding dawned.

"Mike," she said, surprised. "Really? You've gone so long without. You want to share me with him? I thought you'd want me all to yourself."

My balls ached like fire. What was I doing?

"I do," I said. "But we're beyond that now. I can't pretend you belong only to me."

She slowed the car, uncertainty all over her face. She chewed a lip.

"Do you want him?" I asked. "Right now?"

"Yes. God yes."

"Can you handle a threesome with your lover and husband?"

She shuddered. I'd struck a nerve.

"Fucking Christ," she muttered, shifting in her seat.

"Answer me," I insisted.

"Yes," she croaked, picturing us fucking her. "That's incredibly exciting."

"Text him we're close," I said.

She shook her head. "You do it. I'm driving."

That made sense. I plucked her phone from her purse.

"No," she said. "From your phone. He should know this comes from you."

I opened messaging and tapped keys. Saya squirmed in the driver's seat. She was hot and getting hotter by the second. I'd caught her by surprise.

Get your dick hard, I wrote. We're around the corner.

I read it out loud and then hit send. She drove faster.

"I can't believe you're doing this," she rasped.

She'd worn a dress today so I dropped my hand low and under, curling between her legs to tease her inner thighs. I moved my fingers higher, tickling near her pussy before brushing over her panties. She gasped, gripping the steering wheel tight. My phone chimed so I had to stop. Curtis had sent a picture; his beefy cock, fully engorged, hot for my wife. I held the phone so Saya saw it.

"Jesus," she breathed. "Fuck you guys."

Her legs clenched. She was remembering that fat snake, imaging the sensation of his inches. I had her tied in knots. This was supposed to be our time, our grand reunion. She'd waited so long to make love to her husband again. Then I go and add Curtis to the moment. Her eyebrows twisted, forehead furrowed, torn between loyalty and lust.

"You can't wait to fuck him again," I said. "It's all over your face."

"You did this," she fired back. "I was looking forward to us in bed again. Now you've changed that. Are you having any second thoughts?"

"None. I like this new Saya."

She darted her eyes at me then back to the road.

"Same Saya," she said. "I've always had thoughts like this, I just buried them, pushing them down so deep they almost disappeared."

Her eyes burned with intensity. We were headed to a guilt-free threesome, husband, wife, and lover. The thought was impossible just a few short weeks ago.

"Fucking island," she giggled.

"Curt and I are going to fuck you hard," I said. "I've got a gallon of cum stored up. I'm going to make your pussy mine again."

Her eyelids fluttered. A shiver raced up her body. Her lover and her husband, banging away, swapping holes, forcing inches into her. She fidgeted on her seat.

One last turn and she pulled up to the curb. Curtis stood in the doorway, shirtless, shoeless, bluejeaned, holding a tall glass of iced tea. The large bulge showed he'd obviously stuffed his erection into his pants. Saya softly moaned. Being led like a lamb to the slaughter was almost too much for her. I got out of the car and waited on the sidewalk. We held hands up the walkway. A neighbor, watering their lawn, watched us and shook his head knowingly. I wondered how many fine women he'd seen walk this same path. I glanced around at the houses on this street. How many wives had Curtis fucked, husbands utterly unaware? Now here I was leading yet another wife into Curt's house. I grinned at the disapproving neighbor.

At the door, I let her enter first, nodding to Curtis as I passed. He returned the nod, beaming.

"He's got his legs back," he said, shutting the door behind us.

Saya floated into his arms. He slipped his free hand around the small of her back and they kissed. Her hands went immediately to his button fly, popping them open with practiced ease. She shoved his pants down his thighs and his puffy cock bobbed free. She palmed his heavy balls, shaved now, the way she preferred. She pulled the back of his neck to bring his mouth close, kissing him fiercely.

I took his drink and set it aside, then turned to watch them. Pure animal lust. Pure unchained passion. All the sex they'd had only made them ravenous for more. My dick inflated. This was infinitely better than any porn movie. His pants limited his movement so I impulsively knelt to tug them down. I didn't think about what I was doing. I worked them lower, his swelling cock dangerously close to my face. Once I hit the floor he stepped free.

Saya noticed I undressed him for her and groaned. His dick was so close. I saw every vein, every ridge and wrinkle. He must have felt my hot breath because he sent a surge racing up the shaft, flaring the crown. A drop of clear cum oozed from his piss hole, hanging there, growing bigger. Every drop his bulky nuts held would soon be shot inside Saya. This time a shiver ran up my spine. I admired him. He'd won. My wife had detested the man until he fucked her into submission, and this was the weapon that did it. He'd converted a fiercely independent woman into a kitten eager to please. She broke the kiss and looked down on me.

"Now my dress," she said.

I stood and drew the long zipper down. She shimmied, slipping her arms and legs free. I popped the clasp of her bra and then pinched her panties and slid them down, undressing my wife for her lover. His cock had risen higher, now poking her in the belly. She slid her palm away from his balls and up the shaft, rubbing her fingers around the head, using the drop of precum as lube.

"I love this thing," she chuckled, admitting the truth. She looked over her shoulder at me. "Lick my pussy, Baby."

I started to crouch but she stopped me.

"No," she said. "From the front."

She turned her hips enough to give me room. I leaned between their bodies. I pulled her hips forward, slicing my tongue along her slit. She gasped, her body going tense. They kissed again, sandwiching my head. Curt's cock slid over my shoulder to poke her stomach. His hot shaft pressed my ear. I was there to please Saya so I ignored it, even when my wife wrapped her fingers and guided him through her gap. Now his firm cock rubbed under my chin. I licked her clit softly, smelling her arousal while avoiding licking his cock. His dick pumped slowly back and forth, rubbing across her labia.

"God..." Saya whimpered. "That feels sooooo goooood." Then, a moment later: "Put him in me, Baby. I'm ready. I want you to guide him in."

I hesitated. He'd made her do it their first mating, now she had me do it. I felt like we'd come full circle in some way. I spread her pussy with two fingers and used a knuckle under the tip to lift him. He pulled her hips close, pinching me in the middle, and his wide head split her inner lips and began to disappear. I watched as long as I could before I had to wiggle my head free.

He jerked her forward, shoving his remaining inches into her soaked tunnel. Saya gasped loudly, suddenly filled. My strong, liberated wife melted. I peeked underneath. Only his large testicles remained. Her little opening was a bright pink O, a tight ring forced to accept his girth. I marveled what his erection did to her. Her tender flesh was stretched and twisted to accept his solid shaft, forced out of shape. It looked painful but the sounds pouring from my wife assured me it was not.

Curtis scooped her legs and wrapped them around his waist, her added weight driving his big cock into her guts. Saya groaned like she'd been stabbed. He thrust for several minutes, forcing cries of intense pleasure at the deep penetration. He moved to the sofa and lay her on her back, lifting her ankles to each shoulder. His gleaming cock became a battering-ram, plunging to the base before withdrawing to the head. Over and over he speared her guts. She clawed the upholstery and growled, losing all self-control before a massive orgasm seized her. His mastery was complete. No wonder my wife loved fucking this man. He never allowed her to catch her breath before he started again, their eyes locked in heated lust.

I stripped. My dick ached badly, my balls blazing hot. I had weeks of stored semen dying to be set free. Saya waved me close. She grabbed my penis and pulled it to her mouth. I fought the urge to ejaculate, determined to make this moment last. Her tongue raced along my inches, teasing and coaxing, tickling my balls until I was ready to burst. She devoured my dick mercilessly, stopping only long enough to cum on Curt's cock again, then I was back in her vacuuming mouth. Curtis pounded her dripping hole ruthlessly.

We lost ourselves in a passionate rhythm, a man at each end, bodies sweating, gasps and groans filling his home. Saya eagerly took our lust, moaning encouragement, urging us on. She orgasmed again. His cock cast a spell on her. I'd never seen such a powerful reaction. I'd never imagined she could respond to sex like this. He mentally and physically touched places in her I'd never reached. The realization almost made me cum. His body rose and fell with steady purpose. Her pussy sloshed with enthusiastic wetness. She was getting to him too. Veins rose along the wide length, expanding him. Saya held his face, gazing into his eyes with my dick in her mouth.

"I'm ready," he rumbled through clenched teeth. "I'm gonna cum."

Saya pushed me out of her mouth.

"Shoot it in me, Baby," she groaned. "I want to be filled by you."

My hand took over where her mouth left off. I gaped wide-eyed at their fervent mating. Curtis scrunched his eyes and arched his back and then his body went wild, jerking with convulsions. Saya ran her hands and legs all over him, sending his climax higher and milking every drop. His body flexed with each blast of sperm. Her womb caught every drop and I was glad it did.

Once his lengthy orgasm finished he rolled off to sit at her feet. His soft cock snaked across the carpet like and S. I stepped over and moved between her legs, dipping the head of my prick in his trickling spunk. She smiled softly, expecting I would fuck her too.

I had other ideas.

I lifted her ankles to my shoulders like he had, only I aimed for her asshole.

Other men had taken her this way but I had not, and that needed to change. I'm her husband, Goddamn it. This meant Curtis would own her pussy alone, but I liked that idea. She felt my dick head probe her sphincter and smiled wickedly.

"I knew that bothered you," she teased.

I had no time for words. I eased forward, forcing her ring to expand, sinking inch by inch into her ass. Her tight little circle gripped me like a vise.

To be honest, her pussy felt better, but it was the knowledge, the conquering of this forbidden hole that made it so exciting. I straightened her legs and held her thighs and began to pump that little sphincter. I opened her legs to see myself in there, pushing in as deep as I could, staring down at the puckered flesh locked around me. In the weeks since her anal virginity had been taken, my wife had become an expert, trained on the cocks of other men until she knew exactly how to please us both. The sensation was fantastic.

"Fuck my ass, Mike," she teased. "Sorry I let all those men fuck me there before you. I bet that pissed you off."

I growled. My dick hardened.

"You must be ready to explode," she said, provoking me. "Curtis just filled me. If you cum in my ass, my pussy belongs to him, right. Weren't you supposed to reclaim me tonight? I'll be his."

Her taunts drove me crazy. A surge of blood made my dick diamond.

"I feel it, Baby," she said. "You're so hard. Fuck my ass. Join the list of men."

My mushroom head flared. My tender blue balls hurt with every thrust. Her tits heaved as I slammed her repeatedly but my eyes were riveted to the tight ring circling my stiff dick. Curt's sperm leaked so I pinched her puffy labia to keep him trapped.

"Fuuuuuuuck," she groaned. "You sealed him in me? That's so hot."

She slid a hand down her belly and began rubbing her clit. She was going to cum too. I hammered faster, feeling the first surge of sperm rising. I'd not cum in so long my dick had forgotten how. The central tube felt collapsed. The growing mass of boiling jizz expanded my dick as it came, hurting me every step of the way. I groaned.

Saya orgasmed, screeching. She howled in pleasure and I joined her, cumming so hard stabbing pain lanced through me. A massive bolt of semen blew out the end, spraying wildly, painting her bowels white. My dick spit and spit and spit, blasting out huge gouts of sperm. The room spun. Vertigo seized me. My hips spasmed and my strength gave out. I collapsed on her, penis still twitching with each discharge. I shot again and again, totally out of control. We climaxed until we lay like drooling idiots.

When my dick softened, her tight ass forced me out.

For ten or fifteen minutes, nobody moved. Then Saya rose on shaky legs and held out her hands. Curtis took one and I took the other and she led us into his bedroom.

It turned me on she knew the way.

Chapter 12

I admit the night was magical. Curtis and I took turns with Saya or shared her simultaneously. Nothing gay happened between us but we weren't weird about it either. Bodies were just bodies. I sucked her clit while he fucked her and he did the same. Saya was the prey so that's where we focused our attention. We were already friends so three of us in bed climbing and writhing all over each other was no big deal. I came in her ass a second time, allowing him to possess her pussy.

I'd take it back soon enough.

He stayed at our place the next night and that's when things took a turn, that's when I saw the true depth of Saya's needs.

The man owned her.

My strong-minded, independent wife was a pure slut for him. Around the house she listened to everything he had to say. In bed, she touched him constantly. Emptying his balls was her highest priority. Pleasuring his cock was all she thought about. My earlier fears of losing her to him gained ground. Something was happening.

He spent the night after that too but I was sexually exhausted. Curtis was tired but she sucked his soft dick almost an hour, playing with the floppy thing, toying with his big balls, licking all around the crown, coaxing him until she turned him on and got him hard. He pushed her face into the mattress and stabbed her pussy from behind, fucking her hard and fast. The man is a stud. I caught glimpses of her face surrounded by bedspread and she was smiling with satisfaction. His thickness made her cum easily. She needed only minutes to get off. I think she liked that she'd caved to him, that she'd abandoned her firm stance and now served him and his throbbing cock. She liked that she was one of those women, all talk until the right man comes along.

There's who we think we are, who others think we are, and who we truly are. Saya liked that she'd been shown who she truly was. It felt truer.

The problem was, she was still married to me. I tested the waters a few days later, suggesting maybe Curtis should spend the night alone at his place.

"Why?" she asked.

"So we can have a night together, just the two of us."

"Why?" she asked again. "You have something special planned?"

"No, but it will give us a chance to be a couple again."

She finally realized what I was saying and agreed to do it, but I could tell it wasn't what she wanted. We had a nice evening but something was missing. We laughed and drank and watched a movie but how do you go back to caffeine after you've grown accustomed to cocaine?

I thought a long time after that night. I realized any attempt to stop this would cause more problems than it fixed. Things needed to run their course. She had to come back to me on her own. I couldn't force her return. Curtis occupied center stage. He filled her field of vision.

I needed a distraction.

Two weeks later, one found me. The hotel in New Zealand had learned of our story and emailed us a coupon: one week, on them, all expenses paid. Here was a chance to fly Saya away and wedge half a planet between her and Curtis. Surely we could find a new lover for her there. I believed one or two nights with another man and the spell would be broken; Saya would remember the joy of variety. She could have any man, not just Curt.

The lure of another vacation proved sufficient and she agreed to go. Darren called, a recipient of the same email, and asked if we were going. I said yes and invited them along. We'd hardly spoken since we got back but from our conversations I learned Kath was fucking other men too. They were experimenting with the swinger scene and loving it. Darren was especially enthusiastic.

"If you've never sucked a big hard cock," Darren had said. "You should try it. Absolutely incredible. I get why so many women love it."

I let him know that wasn't my style but he shushed me.

"Kath has me suck the cocks that are going to fuck her," he said. "Do you have any idea how hot it is to get hard a man that's going to bang your wife? I love it. Love it. She picks the guy she wants and I gobble his dick until he's hard. I've been trying to find the courage to take one in the ass. Kath says she wants me to. She wants me to eat her pussy while some stud fucks me. We've gone bananas with this stuff, Mike."

I said I was happy for him and would give it some thought. After that we made all the arrangements for our trip, taking time off from work and booking rooms. We were determined to make the trip successfully this time.

A week later we stuffed luggage into the plane's hold and climbed aboard.

Chapter 13

Jackson, the pilot, pointed to the east. "You know," he shouted over the roar of the engines, "Bikini Atoll is only three hundred miles that way."

"Let's go visit," Darren yelled.

We laughed. Even Jackson.

"I'd rather not glow in the dark," he said.

We stared out the windows at the vast Pacific below. Deep blue water ran to the horizon in every direction. The propeller engines filled the cabin with noise and shook the fuselage enough to rattle your teeth. We'd spent several days jumping from one island to the next, enjoying a lunch or champagne brunch, crossing the ocean on our way to New Zealand. I'd been following the aerial charts and knew Taka Atoll was close, but said nothing. The closer we got, the more pensive Saya and Kath became. We had no plans to stop there. Kath and Saya gazed out the windows at the waters far below.

I shouted at the pilot: "You ever heard of Taka Atoll?"

I must learn impulse control. He nodded vigorously.

"Gorgeous. Remote. Not much by way of luxuries, like you can't get a massage on the beach or a daiquiri handed to you but everyone walks around naked."

"I've heard the same," I said.

"There's an abandoned airstrip on nearby Utrik Island. I could put us down there if you wanted to grab lunch or stretch your legs. Taka Atoll is about fifteen miles away. You could take the dinghy and be there in an hour. Spend some time, see the place, motor back and we're airborne again before sunset. Up to you."

I watched the back of Saya's head. She'd tensed when Jackson mentioned Taka Atoll. Now she pretended not to listen to my reply. I made another snap decision.

"Do it," I said. I turned around to face the ladies. "We're going for lunch on Taka. Sounds like it might be fun."

They played along, acting ignorant of the place. Jackson spiraled downward, bringing the seaplane skimming across the ripples. In minutes, he'd pulled the cord and inflated the boat. He affixed a small outboard and handed me a two-way satellite handset. He showed me the boat had a built-in compass.

"East," he said, pointing towards the horizon. "When you're ready to return point the prow west. The atolls line up. You can't miss. I'll wait here with my plane."

We shook hands.

We climbed in and hit the gas. Kath and Saya were wide-eyed with anticipation. We saw land on the horizon after twenty minutes and Darren gave me a knowing grin, adding a little nod like I'd made the right call.

"There was a fucking airport on the island next door," he said.

"Airstrip," I corrected. "An abandoned one. Which did us no good without reaching Enubirr first."

He thought about that. "You're right."

Ocean spray soaked our clothes. Kath looked at Saya.

"Fuck civilization," she laughed, stripping as fast as she could. Saya joined in. Four great tits wobbled and bounced as I skimmed across the sea. Darren joined them, adding his clothes to the pile at my feet and revealing he'd shaved everything from the neck down. He wore a small stainless steel cage around his cock and balls. Saya giggled but I ignored it, wondering what they were into these days.

The small craft skipped across the water and with each bounce stress and worry evaporated. Joy replaced tension. Happiness replaced anxiety. Saya turned to look at me, her eyes glowing with delight.

"I can't wait," she squeaked.

"I thought you'd enjoy a quick side-trip," I said.

Chapter 14

The days flew by in a hedonistic blur. We contributed to the tribe; fishing, washing, hunting, everything necessary to carry our own weight. I did a lot extra to make up for my convalescence. But none of it seemed like work. They were delighted to have their friends back and we were thrilled to join in. There was plenty of time left over for self-indulgence.

One night I saw Saya and Mother engrossed in conversation. Very serious stuff. I asked about it but Saya told me to be patient, I'd learn soon enough. A few days later Saya lay nude on the brilliant white sand. A handful of kneeling young girls circled her, giggling as they painted curlicue symbols and sigils all over her lovely body. They dipped brushes into little pots of honey and then sprinkled raw sugar on the sticky glyphs. The older girls took the task seriously, knowing the meaning behind the signs they used. I had no idea what they meant but there was a playful tension in the air, like those moments at a surprise birthday party before the victim walks in.

I'd sent Captain Jackson on his way, freeing him to make money off other travelers hopping around these South Pacific islands. We'd stay here enjoying ourselves until I called him on the satellite phone. Meanwhile he could fill the empty time with new junkets.

A sharp intake of breath brought me back. One of the older girls had begun tracing a loop near Saya's pussy. The bristles had scratched across my wife's sensitive clitoris, sending shivers around her body and stiffening her nipples in the hot sun. The younger girls giggled but several of the older exchanged an understanding. The girl with the brush, a beauty with dark hair to her ass, dabbed my wife's clit, jolting Saya with pleasure. The girl said something in Takian, bending the bristles to illustrate how stiff they were and making a sad face. Saya chuckled. The girl got a gleam in her eye and bent at the waist, covering Saya's mound with her mouth.

My wife moaned, parting her legs to give the girl better access. Many of the young women surrounding her set brushes aside and lowered their mouths to gorge on my wife, careful to avoid any symbol already painted. Saya groaned as they nibbled and teased her flesh. The first girl carefully eased a finger into Saya's pussy.

"Sweet Jesus," she groaned, savoring the feeding horde. "I love this place."

I watched for a moment but as the only man, my male presence now felt out of place. I turned to the waves, shedding my trunks to swim naked.

The warm waters felt great and there's something inherently fun about one's penis bobbing around unholstered. I swam out beyond the breakers and then turned, following the shore.

Ahead I saw a group of young men fishing and talking. I joined them, boldly standing naked as well, the slightly chubby white guy with the shriveled penis. I couldn't help it. The air felt cold on my wet skin. They handed me a net and I cast a few times, adding to the catch they already had.

After a while I said goodbye, walking along the beach away from Saya. Soon I spotted Darren and Kath naked on the beach. I stayed with my friends, sharing what had befallen Saya and getting a jealous whine from Kath.

"We saw something like that earlier," Darren said. "We cut through the jungle and stumbled upon a handful of girls painting a group of guys. They painted right on the foreskin. I wanted to watch but Kath said we were intruding."

"We were," Kath murmured, keeping her eyes closed and soaking up the sun. "Did they invite us? No. Move on."

"Another one of their many rituals," Darren suggested. "Probably a spring festival or some Mother Nature gratitude thing. Whatever. Join us. Catch some rays."

I shrugged. With nothing better to do I took the open spot next to Kath, stretching out and spreading my arms and legs. The hot sun felt fantastic.

We all dozed.

I was awakened by a palm frond thrashing in the breeze. The wind had kicked up, threatening a storm. Piled clouds crowded the horizon. The sun sat like a big orange balloon on the water. Darren and Kath were awakened too.

"Let's head back," I said. "It will be dark soon."

I looked down the beach where Saya had been but saw empty sand. I helped them gather their things and we cut a path through the jungle, hustling the last thirty minutes as the sky turned black.

"What's that?" Darren asked.

We peered through the foliage. Torches burned in a circle at the heart of the village. We slowed, quietly picking our way forward. The scene became clear as we drew close.

A smooth block of polished wood, perhaps three feet square, sat in the center of the circle. My nude wife lay stretched across it on her back, gazing up at the stars, dozens of small, sparkling symbols dotting her skin. Around the circle and standing by each torch was a young man, also nude, with similar symbols painted on the foreskin of his cock. Some were already erect. Saya's fingers worked nervously in the open air, like she desperately wanted to touch herself but feared ruining the glyphs.

Mother Mathilde approached Saya, bending to peer into her upside-down eyes. The old woman carried a small sheep's bladder filled with a sloshing liquid.

"Do you want it?" Mother asked.

"Yes," Saya purred.

I saw Jasame standing close, watching the ceremony like us. I tapped Darren and Kath on the shoulder and moved towards the man, weaving through the branches. He heard us coming and smiled.

"What's happening?" I whispered.

"Your wife has offered herself for Pala Fortis, a ceremony for our virgin males."

I glanced at the circle of young men. "All of those guys are virgins?"

"Yes. Their first knowledge of the woman will be Saya. They will always remember her embrace. No man forgets his first. Normally a woman from our tribe offers herself but Saya insisted."

"There must be twenty men around her," I said.

"Twenty-two," he murmured.

My throat went dry. I tried to swallow but my Adam's apple got stuck. I drew a deep breath, clearing the passage.

"What's in the bag?" I croaked.

"Floange. Fermented mango with juice from the Topo mushroom added. Powerful. Saya will experience intense pleasure. Very great."

With her back arched over the block, Saya opened her mouth. Mother aimed the spout and Saya sucked like a baby, swallowing extra gulps, even as Mother tried to pull the nipple away. Several people giggled.

"Saya is well loved," Jasame said.

I knew why. Someone darted from the crowd to take the bladder from Mother and quickly rejoin the group. The old woman began walking a slow circle around my wife, singing a low song and waving her hand. We saw the liquor take affect; Saya's fingers and toes wiggling, hips writhing, mouth dropping open. Her nipples rose to stiff points, straining towards the night sky. A warm breeze flickered the torches. Saya moaned and the crowd grew tense.

Mother pointed to the first young man. He eagerly left his friends, walking to Saya's face. My wife saw him and a huge grin spilt her lips. The youth lowered his penis to her mouth, her pink tongue reaching out to sample the sugar granules. Then the honey and sugar symbol passed her lips, which closed over the foreskin and just behind the head. His shocked expression drew chuckles from the crowd. Upside-down Saya grabbed his firm ass and pulled, forcing his cock farther into her mouth.

He inflated incredibly fast, as you might expect a virgin to do, and then nature took over and he began a smooth thrusting motion, closing his eyes and fucking her mouth. Before too long he withdrew his dick, moving around between her legs. His young dick strained against tight skin. Saya looked down her body at the youthful warrior, his spear arching from his hips. Her eyes rolled in their sockets. She opened her legs wider.

The young man stepped forward and drove his cock deep, searching her body for a certain honey-glyph and fastening his mouth when he found it. He pumped his hips fast and strong, ripping an uncontrolled groan from my wife. She lifted her heels to the block, offering her cunt completely.

The man lasted longer than I thought a virgin would. My wife did not orgasm but I knew eventually she'd get there. There were too many men waiting their turn, too many rock-hard cocks striving to get at her. Other dicks around the circle had risen too but they would not be part of this ceremony. The young man lost track of his rhythm as his climax took hold. His hands landed on the block beside her, his hips jerking wildly. A loud groan filled the clearing as his balls blasted their hot load inside.

Mother allowed no pause, pointing to the next young man and waving the first aside. The ritual was repeated: first the young cock and sigil were offered to her mouth where Saya sucked the honey and sugar away, absorbing the power of the glyph and bringing the man erect. After that he quickly took his place between her open legs, finding the symbol assigned to him and sucking fiercely as he fucked her. After he'd emptied his nuts he withdrew, Saya's smooth skin blank where the symbol had been, the power of her glyph now residing in him.

I sent my eyes around the circle. Two down, twenty to go. Hard cocks circled my wife, each eager for his turn. I imagined how much sperm she'd carry when this ended.

Her piercing cry of orgasm set the air on fire. All around the circle people watched and fondled each other. My dick rose watching the third initiate approach. His cock was long and fat, big enough for two symbols painted on the foreskin. Saya groaned as her jaw was forced wide and she sucked with enthusiasm, eager to make this thick cock rigid. Soon he took his place between her legs. His symbol was painted directly across her nipple and she whimpered with pleasure as his hot mouth engulfed it, building into a cry of astonishing pleasure when his girthy shaft penetrated her tight hole. She fought the urge to wrap arms and legs around the young man. He fucked her hard, burying his formidable cock over and over. Saya came again, almost weeping.

My dick, naked and exposed, throbbed at the spectacle.

"I bet you can get one of these pretty girls to help you with that," Kath said, gesturing at my hard on.

"No," I said, watching the young man pump a gallon of sperm into my wife. "I'm fine like this."

I wrapped my fingers and began to stroke. I left Kath and Darren, separating from them and moving to the edge of the clearing for the best possible view, but they followed. The Floange was doing a number on Saya, leaving her a writhing mass of orgasmic flesh even while she awaited the next young man. Clearly she'd been instructed to not touch herself or risk wiping away the little symbols but the sensations from the liquor flowing through her veins drove her crazy.

"Fuck me," she moaned. "Someone fuck me."

The next young man lasted only a minute but the youth after him was a big cocked stud. No way this young man was a virgin. The girls watching from the circle all moved closer, hungry eyes locked on his every move. He performed like those before him but lasted an eternity, leaving Saya a quaking mess. She came three times on his cock, in heat, screaming the last climax all the way out to the waves.

That was too much for Kath and she directed Darren to his knees, pulling his mouth close and ordering him to eat her while she watched the relentless assault on my wife. I brought myself to the edge of climax and then backed away over and over. Each new man and his pulsing erection electrified my libido and kept my heart racing. Saya was an utter slut, hungry for all she could get.

Kath tapped the shoulder of a strong Takian and smiled. The man faced her and she kissed him, turning his shoulders so his soft cock brushed Darren's face. Her husband did not hesitate, moving his mouth from her pussy to that golden rod. The young man was startled but allowed Darren to continue, knowing once he was hard he'd get to fuck this sexy white woman.

With every climax Saya craved more. She would have taken them all at the same time if Mother had allowed it. One by one each man fucked my wife until injecting a huge load of virgin cum. I listened to her utter a constant stream of moaning and groaning, gasping and cumming.

Finally, the last young man blew his wad deep in her pussy. The crowd drifted away, pairing up or in threesomes and foursome. Kath had her tits pressed against a palm tree while her stud fucked her from behind. Darren sat beneath them, the young stud's balls hanging directly into his mouth. He rolled them around with his tongue, causing the young man to gasp with enhanced pleasure. Suddenly the stud grunted and thrust deep. Darren whipped those nuts around, coaxing every drop into his wife.

I returned my attention to Saya. Every symbol was gone, licked and sucked away by horny boys. The liquor still coursed through her veins, setting her skin on fire, filling her sopping pussy with an empty ache. She turned begging eyes on Mother.

"Please," she whimpered.

Mother softened with compassion. She searched the circle and found Jasame. Their eyes met and understanding passed. Jasame untied the sash around his hips and strode into the light, that magnificent piece of meat revealed once more. Saya glued her eyes to his fat swaying pipe. This was more her style. Playing X-rated den-mother to twenty young men was an experience she'd never forget, but my wife loved men. She started to rise from the block but Jasame showed her a palm.

"Stay," he murmured, and my wife obeyed. "Let us finish the ritual."

He held her chin and kissed her deeply before gently turning her to all fours. Saya's head whipped around, staring over her shoulder, eyes riveted to his tumescent organ. He waved one of the few young girls remaining and she quickly painted two glyphs across his broad foreskin before scampering back to the safety of the circle. Jasame stepped to my wife's face, lifting his beefy schlong and aiming at her mouth. He spoke in Takian, formal and slow. He nudged her chin with a knuckle and Saya opened wide. He eased the head in and then stroked her hair, murmuring encouragement as my wife began to nurse. Unlike the younger men, Jasame filled slowly. Neither was in any hurry. Saya suckled the cock she loved and her horse-whisperer lover gazed lovingly into her eyes.

"Fuck that's hot," Kath mumbled.

I started pulling on my dick again. I'd stayed hard through it all, primed and ready, living on the edge of a titanic explosion. Saya kept her tongue busy and Jasame engorged. When he was fully erect he stepped back, showing my wife what she'd done, displaying the proof of his intense desire. She ran her eyes slowly from balls to head and back again, a coy smile playing with her lips.

He took slow steps as he circled behind her. Saya bit her lip, on the verge of screaming her need. Jasame rested his hands on her round ass and brought the tip to her soaking, dripping slit. My wife understood what he wanted, reaching under and between her legs, finding his throbbing cock and drawing him inside her body.

"That's the most beautiful thing I've ever seen," Kath muttered.

"I love this place," Darren added. "Let's stay marooned on Taka Atoll forever."

I couldn't speak. I had no clever witticism. I was struck dumb by that most incredible sight, a sight I'd come to crave, the sight of a well-hung man filling her pussy.

Curtis was gone, wiped from the slate. Jasame, too, could be removed, replaced by some other hot, hung stud. That's what Saya wanted. That's what I wanted too.

Jasame closed his eyes. My wife's pussy enveloped his rigid inches, wrapping him snugly in folds of hot wet flesh. He slid in, withdrew, and slid deeper, his face pure pleasure. Saya looked as if she were tortured, his thick cock jangling her frayed nerves. The spiced liquor had her body supercharged, on edge for every sensation. He fucked her slow and deep, with meaning, until his heavy balls met her labia. He held himself there, flexing, forcing more blood and expanding his girth. Over and over he forced himself thicker until Saya began to pant and moan.

"Don't stop," she whispered, enthralled.

He didn't. The jungle fell still. Again and again he expanded inside her until her hips began to rock uncontrollably. He added the slightest in and out and Saya hung her head. Her breathing became shallow. Her body trembled.

"Oh God! She suddenly cried. "OH GOD!"

Jasame held her atop the block or she would have tumbled. Impaled like an insect, Saya writhed on the end of his spit, cumming like an avalanche. He barely moved, just the presence of his pulsating dick enough to make her orgasm. Her swollen clit probably rested directly on his shaft. His tiny thrusts sent excruciating waves of pleasure coursing through her.

"Arrgh!" she screamed.

He began to rock his hips sending her soaring again. He'd drag his long cock almost out and then gently but firmly bury it to the balls. Now he was building towards his own, and his hands gripped her hard. He lifted a foot to the block, changing the angle and ripping loud moans from Saya. Faster and faster he pumped her, inching ever closer. My hand had kept time, jerking my dick as I watched. Kath split her attention between Saya getting fucked and watching me jack off over Saya getting fucked. I came first, too turned on to hold back any more. I spit the first massive blast of sperm onto the broad green leaves before me, following that ejaculation with many more, spraying my husband-seed all over the long grass.

Jasame roared like the conquering lion he is and released a deluge of sperm into my wife. I shot stars from my dick and tried to remain standing.

He held himself in there a long time, adding to the bucket of cum she already carried, then tilted his hips and withdrew his still hard cock. He scooped Saya into his arms as she clung to his neck and left the circle of light as rain began to fall. Lightning flashed and thunder pealed. He and his erection marched across the clearing and vanished through the wall of jungle, bearing Saya home.

Chapter 15

All four of us lay on the beach and soaked up the equatorial sun. A warm breeze danced across our skin. Naked and tanned, with nothing to be ashamed of, we floated on a cloud of relaxation. Waves crashed at the shoreline. Birds cawed high overhead. Distant laughter drifted through the jungle.

"Can we stay here?" Darren mumbled. "Marooned on Taka Atoll forever?"

Saya sighed. "I wondered the same thing," she said. "I've been thinking about it a lot. This place is special but mostly because of where we come from. I'd hate to stay so long we found it boring."

"That would suck," Kath agreed.

I sat up on an elbow, looking down the row of their nude bodies. "So we come back once a year," I said.

"Twice a year," Saya corrected.

We mulled that over.

"Twice a year," Kath agreed.

I laid down again. The sun felt fantastic.

Saya stayed with Jasame for two days after the ritual, fucking and eating and sleeping and almost nothing else. A few of the older boys stopped by, including the hung lads she requested, and they all fucked to exhaustion. She learned the symbol ritual had given each of those young men eternal access to her. She'd become their symbolic wife. They could fuck her whenever they wished for the rest of their lives, which meant every time we returned to the atoll Saya would disappear for the first several days.

Just the thought turned me on. It had the same effect on her. We'd made love every day since. Her pussy was wet each time I reached for her, but I suppose some of that may have been a young man who got there before me that day. Like Jasame had said, Saya was well-loved.

"Twice a year," Darren mumbled, adjusting the cage around his dick.

"Twice a year," I said, making it unanimous.

We fell silent for a time, coming to grips with the idea it was time to go.

"Make the call," Saya said. "The sooner we go, the sooner we can return."

End.

Join My Mailing List
Get a FREE Hotwife Story!

Follow My Twitter

Find me on: GoodReads

Talk to Me

BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com