

THE CLINIC

A Hotwife Story

MATTHEW LEE

The Clinic

A Hotwife Story

By Matthew Lee

Chapter 1

I pulled the latex gloves to my elbows and released each with a snap. Mister Arnold Humphreys shifted in the customized dental chair and smiled nervously.

"Does it hurt, Hayley?" he asked.

"Not at all," I cooed. "Honestly. I've prepared thousands of men over the years and most have described the procedure as pleasurable."

"My friend, John, was one of them," he said. "That's why I'm here."

I grabbed two tubes of paste and held them where Arnie could see them.

"Excellent," I said, holding the red tube high. "First, I'll slather this stuff all over your crotch. I'll slap some on your balls and in your ass crack and probably some on your penis, too. After fifteen minutes, I'll wipe it away with a warm cloth and water and all the hair will disappear. This is to prepare you for placement in the Void. Will that be all right?"

Men are funny. I'm not the most beautiful woman in the world. I get my share of compliments but it's my boobs that win them over, not my face.

The first few years we all wore smocks at the Maynard Clinic. Then Stuart, the doc that owns the place, went business casual, telling us to dress comfortably as that would help the clients feel at ease. My breasts are bigger than my husband's open palm but I've been blessed with a firmness that defies gravity. My mom had it too. My sister, Kathy, got tits twice my size but even they only hang a little. Anyway, I haven't worn a bra in a very long time, opting for these cute long-sleeved tees I've come to be known for. Yes, in bright light one can see the raised outline of my puffy nipples, but the only bright light is here in the preparation room, and since we only have male clients, no one has ever complained. I think it helps.

"Yes," Arnold replied, licking his lips. That would be great."

I gave him a satisfactory nod, then lifted the green tube.

"This is lubricant," I said. "Once I've removed all your hair, I'll rub this gel over the affected area, further preparing you for insertion into the patented vacuum pump."

I set the tubes on the nearby stainless steel tray and lifted several rubber rings.

"I'll fasten these up and down your penis, positioning them to help guide your natural shape. They will hold you steady while the machine works."

I swung a heavy metal arm close, lifting a clear acrylic chamber connected to various hoses.

"We call this the Void."

Arnie's eyes got big.

"Did John tell you about this?" I asked.

"Yeah."

I smiled.

"Men say this is the best part," I said. "The Void creates a firm vacuum while vibrating and pulsing up and down your penis. The goal is to induce a full and powerful orgasm, so don't hold back. Just let her rip. This device is the genius of Doctor Maynard."

Arnie was paying close attention. I showed him the stimulating tabs and slick vibrating surfaces.

"I won't bore you with the details but Doctor Maynard discovered performing a vasectomy on a penis which has recently ejaculated is painless and far easier. He can rapidly differentiate between the many tubes and wires down there, locate the proper plumbing, performs his procedure, close the tiny incision, and send you on your way. You will walk out without discomfort only minutes after you ejaculate."

His eyes roamed the long plastic cylinder. He'd heard, like so many men, that time spent in the Void was time spent well. The sensations were fantastic. Many men have commented about the force of their ejaculation. Many men have also commented that the increased length and thickness the Void creates takes a long time to fade. Apparently, like women enjoy having bigger breasts, men enjoy carrying more in their pants.

In addition to vasectomies, the Maynard Clinic tests for low testosterone and dispenses injections to the men that need it. The increase in energy and vitality guarantees return customers. We run a busy shop.

"You need to undress," I said. "I can leave or stay, it's up to you."

"You can stay. I'm sure you've seen plenty of naked men."

"You have no idea," I said, smiling.

Never judge a book by the cover. Arnold Humphries stood and began to undress. He's a funny little man; stooped, balding, chubby. He has kind eyes and a crooked smile. I liked him. He's harmless. But when he dropped his pants he freed a beast. His penis was big. I stole a few glances while I covered the dentist chair with a pull-down disposable plastic sheet.

"That's impressive," I said, addressing the elephant in the room.

He beamed with pride, then turned shy.

"Thanks, Hayley. My wife likes it a lot."

"I bet. Get in the chair and put your feet in the stirrups."

He did, taking care to keep his big bouncing schlong in full view as much as possible. The sound of crinkling plastic filled our small examination room until he got comfortable again. I leaned closer and popped the cap on the red tube and squirted an ample amount onto my latex covered palm. Arnold held his breath as I lifted his shaft and draped it on his thigh.

My first year at the clinic had been a roller-coaster. I'd gotten the job because of my math skills and the fact complicated machinery did not intimidate me. Thanks, Dad. I admit I was awkward. The other women working here found me odd. In time, all that worked itself out. Now I've had this job about ten years and I still love it.

I've seen every kind of penis imaginable. Big ones are scarcer than the porn industry would have you believe. Sadly, small ones are not. Some are ugly and yes, some can be beautiful, but most, by far, are simple unremarkable.

Robert, my husband, was surprised to hear that I like dicks. He believes most women don't and he expected after so many years, I would have grown tired of them. I asked if he's grown tired of tits, since he'd seen so many. He laughed.

On my third day of employment I'd wiped hair removal cream from an especially nice penis. I'd been struck by the beauty of the thing; perfectly symmetrical, a little thick, a little long, topped by a lovely tapered head. The color was healthy and vibrant. I felt like I was truly seeing a dick for the first time. They are so male, so manly. Since that day I've grown to appreciate them more. The men they are attached to are sometimes hard to tolerate but I don't fault their dicks.

I smeared the cool paste around Arnold's testicles and dabbed more on his high inner thighs. I plastered the shaft where hair grew and slipped a finger between his ass cheeks. He squirmed, his penis growing a little before my eyes.

That happens a lot.

I continued until every follicle was coated.

"Back in a while," I said, dropping my gloves in the bio waste container.

Arnold had me horny.

That happens a lot too.

All the women that work at Maynard Clinic feel the same. I worked retail as a teen and good-looking, attractive guys came into the store all day long. There's a ton of them out there. All of us working here see these men naked, vulnerable, and in private. We sometimes tease each other about how wet we are by the end of the day. A colleague, Jill, coined the phrase, "Clitoral Erection," and it stuck. Now we use it as private code around the clinic, taunting each other about our CE customers. Arnold was not a typical CE client but these things cannot be anticipated nor prevented.

I sipped a Coke in the staff kitchen and flipped through an old People magazine before heading to Arnold again.

Several warm, wet cloths later his bald crotch winked at me, slick and pink. His substantial dick looked even better hairless. I squirted some lube from the green tube and smeared it around, spending more time stroking his cock and balls than I legitimately had reason. He grew in my hand and I tugged the standard rubber straps into place around his balls, up his shaft, and around the head. I attached the electrodes in all the right places and fastened the vibrating pads along his length. I admit I continued playing with him until finally slipping him into the Void. I checked all the seals and settings, hovering a finger over the start button.

"Ready?" I asked.

His face was flushed, his lips dry.

"Yeah," he croaked.

I started the pump. He licked his lips. On a whim, I pretended to study a gauge, leaning over his face which pulled my cotton top tightly across my tits. He got a great view. I heard him gasp and mutter something.

I let him get a good long look before checking on his penis. He was swelling bigger, turning red, veins rising and head expanding. He truly had a lovely cock. Robert would get lucky tonight. I flipped more switches and a low hum filled the room. Arnold sucked air.

"Feels good?" I asked, knowing it felt fantastic.

"Ye- Yes."

I turned a dial and engaged more vibration pads.

"Jesus!" Arnie hissed.

Yes, I love my job.

The man's dick looked delicious. Even inflated he still had a great shape. My pussy tingled as the machine began to massage his inches, oscillating faster every second.

"Ungh!" he grunted, launching the first blast of ejaculate way too soon as far as I was concerned. I enjoyed the sight of his penis in that tube. The head had flared and darkened. The first eruption was followed by many others as his balls drained into the vacuum. He began to writhe, the pleasure quickly rising to discomfort. I jabbed the button to cycle the machine down and waited. I detached the tube from a breathless Arnold and swung the big arm away, folding it against the main machine along the wall. His dick was slowly deflating but still pulsed. I wanted to touch it but controlled the impulse. I cleaned him up and detached the chamber for cleaning later.

"I'll get Doctor Maynard," I said. "You're almost finished."

Few people realize the guess work in a traditional vasectomy. Those tubes down there aren't color-coded like electrical wires. Doctor hit and miss, remove tubing, search for sperm or semen, stitch the tubing in place again when they are wrong and try again. The procedure is time consuming and each attempt adds to the man's discomfort after.

Arnold Humphreys walked out ten minutes later, virtually pain free, and safely sterile.

"My wife can't take birth control," he said, "and we both hate condoms."

"I'd guess your bedroom is about to get loud," I joked.

His eyes went wide. His hands shook as he signed the bill.

Chapter 2

Robert asks few question about my job and I offer few details. He knows I handle men all day but every nurse does the same. Either you trust your wife or you don't. He does. He works in the foreclosure arm of a major bank so I ask him little about his job too.

When he entered the house through the garage, he found me waiting for him. I'd wrestled with what to wear and decided on my Catholic Schoolgirl Halloween outfit, plucked from a box in the garage. Silly, yet effective. I was leaning against the sliding glass doors when he entered the living room. His happy smile faded quickly. I think maybe I looked pretty good.

"Jesus," he exhaled.

A heartbeat later we were kissing. I let that go on for a minute but I was horny. I pushed on his shoulders, our signal for oral, and Robert sank to his knees, lifting the front of my plaid skirt, seeking my cunt. I was dripping before he ever pushed his tongue in. My man loves eating pussy and when he found me already soaked, he groaned. He suspects I sometimes mentally bring my work home but he doesn't care. Wet and hot is how he wants me.

There was a night, many years ago, when he was supposed to meet me at a club after work. He was delayed. He finally arrived and found me dancing with any handsome man that wanted me. Robert swept in and scooped me up, practically carrying me to our car. He ate my drenched pussy in the parking lot, fucking me in the back seat. It was one of the five best nights of sex we've ever had.

Now, on his knees with tongue inside me, I watched him strip off his business suit as fast as he could. I hooked a leg behind his neck and pulled. I gushed arousal which made him ravenous and rough. His tongue treated my clit without mercy, ripping a standing orgasm from me in minutes. He continued to devour my little pussy, ferociously eating me to another powerful climax.

Before I caught my breath, he shoved my back to the wall and whipped his tie around my wrists, yanking my arms over my head and holding them there. He tore my costume open to feast on my tits and aching nipples. I usually help direct the action but not tonight. He'd been provoked. His erection poked my tummy. Our eyes locked.

"Fucking slut," he growled.

I smiled.

"You're soaking wet."

"I'm horny," I purred.

"You just got home," he said.

He wanted to know why I was so wet but hated to interrupt our moment with conversation. Better to run with it. He hooked an arm behind my knee and lifted, keeping my arms pinned above my head. Thank God for yoga. The motion pulled my pussy wide open. He aimed his dick and buried it, forcing loud groans from us both.

He never asked why but it bedeviled him. That was fine with me because such worry also aroused him. He fucked me three times that night, keeping me in my tattered schoolgirl uniform until the alarm sounded for work the next morning, all because he found me mysteriously wet when he got home.

I had a later shift so I kissed him goodbye and called Diana. She's my yoga partner and about my age. We always sit at the back of the class because she's shy.

When I first started at the Maynard Clinic, most of my girlfriends were uncomfortable with what I did. Not Diana. Men were dogs, they'd say. Women liked sex only with the man they loved. Over the last ten years that has complete turned around. Now most think my job is fascinating and pester me for details. A few have asked if the Maynard Clinic is hiring. I always tell them no. I like keeping my goose that lays the golden eggs to myself. No point in sharing it. That's asking for trouble. If friends worked there I'd always worry they'd judge the small liberties I take.

I fell asleep again, woke with minutes to spare, raced through the house and made it to yoga on time. Minutes later I joined my friend at the back of the room.

Diana lifted into a down-dog.

"So you oil them up and jerk them off?" she whispered.

"Yeah," I said. "Sort of. I mean it's part of the procedure, getting him ready, so it's necessary, but yes, in layman's terms, I jerk them off."

She shook her head in disbelief.

"I've only seen two penises my whole life," she said. "My dad's, accidentally, when I was a teenager, and Mitch, my husband. How many have you seen?"

"Thousands."

"Thousands. Wow."

We leaned forward into twin balasana positions, staring at the mat and stretching our arms in front. I watched her closely. Some girls are intrigued; some girls are disgusted. Diana seemed curious.

"Have you touched them all?"

"Oh yes," I offered cheerfully. "Some longer than I needed to."

I thought she would blush but she didn't.

"Does Robert know? Mitch would kill me."

"Robert suspects but leaves it alone. He loves when I come home horny, though. That man loves the taste of pussy."

Diana rolled her eyes. That got the blush I was expecting.

"You are too much," she giggled, nervously looking around.

There was no one close enough to hear. We stretched and controlled our breathing. After a minute, she spoke again, coy.

"Seen any big ones?"

Every. Single. Time. No matter the girlfriend, this question always, so to speak, arises. Some ask right away and some drag it out, saving their real curiosity for last, but sooner or later they all ask.

"I have," I said. "They are rare, rarer than people think, but I do see them. Yesterday most recently."

I circled my wrist with thumb and forefinger.

"He was a little thicker than this," I offered. "Pretty. Great shape. Big balls."

Diana was fully crimson by now.

"I lubed him and slid him into the suction tube. We call it the Void. After that we snipped him and sent him home."

"You cut off his testicles?" she asked, alarmed.

"No, silly. We make a tiny hole and snip the two tubes which provide sperm to his ejaculate. We tie them off with looped micro thread."

She shivered.

"I wait tables," she explained. "Last night a kid choked on bread."

"I'm lucky," I admitted. "The pay is great, the hours are easy, I like the staff and Doctor Maynard, and I get to play with dicks all day. It's funny, the men turn docile. Even the assholes go belly-up to me, turn all submissive."

"Because you've got them by the jewels," she chuckled. "They must trust you. Think of the damage you could do. They are at their most vulnerable."

"Good point."

We followed the teacher leading the class, moving through each position smoothly. I noted the gears turning behind Diana's eyes. Mitch was pleasant but boring. They never did anything as a couple. I imagine their sex is dull. I felt bad for her. She has a pretty face and a great ass but, like so many women, the girl is buried beneath insecurity and fear.

We shifted to a balancing-bear, legs in the air and spread wide, hands grasping toes. I pulled my feet, spreading myself wider, and straightened my legs, showing off. Diana struggled so I leaned my torso forward, mocking her.

"Bitch," she muttered.

I ignored the instructor for a moment and circled my thighs with my arms, pulling my face lower. My legs waved in the air like antenna. My mouth was inches from my leotard-covered crotch. I could easily have stretched farther. Everyone was in front of us so nobody saw my goofing off except Diana.

"Oh my God," she murmured. "You could eat your own pussy."

I giggled and unwound my arms, resuming the balancing-bear.

"I could," I admitted. "But that's why I have Robert."

"You're so lucky," she whined. "Mitch won't use his mouth on me. Of course, he's fine with me using mine on him."

"That's bullshit. No more pussy for him unless he comes around."

Her face turned sad so I dropped the conversation. Besides, I'd already moved on. Her comment about eating myself had pushed a button. How had I never considered this? How weird would it be? We paid attention and finished the class, sitting down for a smoothie on the way out.

"I'm lucky I have Mitch," Diana lamented. "Guys don't check me out. I'm not attractive like you, Hayley. I have no boobs. My face is okay but I have no body."

"Not true," I said. "I see guys look at you. You're pretty, with great skin and a nice ass. You're right about no boobs though. Guys love boobs."

She flicked her straw at me, speaking around a mouth full of smoothie.

"Bith."

"Get some tits," I said. "If that's what's holding you back, Honey, go buy some. The procedure is fast and relatively inexpensive now. Doctor Maynard can refer you to Doctor Jameson. That man is a wizard. I've thought about getting mine done."

Her jaw dropped.

"Your tits are perfect!" she said.

"Thanks. I know. I wanted to hear you say it."

We laughed like teenagers.

"You're so mean," she said.

We may have been goofing around but for the first time in a long time, I saw a glimmer of excitement in her eye.

"Talk to Mitch about it," I said. "See how he feels. You can get financing."

Chapter 3

"I promised myself I'd never ask," my husband said, driving us to dinner. "But it's making me crazy. Why were you so wet the other night? Why did you greet me in that schoolgirl costume?"

"You liked that?"

"I loved it, but I can't let it go. What happened? Was it something at work? Some man you met? I shouldn't ask but it's eating me alive."

His sweet face was twisted in anguish. Poor baby.

"His name is Arnold," I began. "He's tall, dark, and handsome."

Robert's shoulders sagged. His expression turned from torment to sadness. I couldn't go on.

"I'm kidding, Baby," I said. "His name is Arnold but he's shorter than me, dumpy and goofy. He's sweet though, loves his wife, but also loves showing off his big beautiful cock."

My husband looked confused.

"Dumpy?" he asked. "Goofy? I don't get what you're saying. This man turned you on?"

"Kind of. I don't fully understand. He's a pudgy older man and his dick was totally unexpected. He caught me by surprise and it knocked me out of the boring routine of work. Sometimes I forget the strangeness of what I do all day. Hard to believe but true. Anyway, he jolted me and got my juices flowing."

"His penis got to you?"

"You could say that, but that's not all of it. I've seen nice penises at work before. Something about that dick attached to him started my gears turning. I went home and took it out on you."

Robert stared out the windshield, relieved but thoughtful. He wanted to ask more questions but already felt too far over the line.

"If you're wondering did I want to fuck Arnold," I said. "No, I did not."

Robert sighed. We dropped that topic. Dinner was delicious.

Once we were home I turned my back to hang my purse. Robert grabbed me from behind and pressed his erection between my ass cheeks. I was gushing in an instant. One hand gripped my shoulder, the other circled my throat. His hot breath scorched my neck. His strong white teeth fastened to my shoulder. I gasped and lifted my skirt from behind, rapidly tugging panties out of the way. He thrust me against the wall and rammed his dick in.

There had been no hint of this at dinner.

He thrust hard, urgent, feeding some frantic desire. I shoved my ass at him, welcoming his unexpected lust with equal desire. Something burned in us, something desperate and irresistible. His hands dropped to my shirt and he ripped it open, buttons clattering to the kitchen floor. I groaned, his penis an iron bar inside me, an orgasm already building. He jerked his hips like he was rabbit punching me, short hard strokes, slamming his penis. He mauled my tits and pulled my nipples an inch away from my body, hurting me in the most delicious way. I moaned from the mix of pleasure and pain and clamped my pussy around his shaft. He sucked air.

That did it. I came riding his dick, the swollen underside rubbing along my clit. My moans and gasped set him off and his convulsing hips told me of the load he blasted inside.

Our legs turned to rubber as we sank to the floor. I had questions and he did too but for reasons unknown we did not speak. There was a fragile magic in the air, a spell of passionate spontaneous sex between people long married. Words would shatter the moment.

After a time, we rose and showered, relaxing in bed with HBO. He drifted off first and I soon followed, killing the television and snuggling my man.

Chapter 4

The client was already in the examination room when I entered, his shirt draped across a chair back. Holy Mother of God, what a man.

"You seem a little young for this," I said, my face giving away nothing.

He laughed, deep and rolling, perfect teeth framed in his jet-black face.

"I have no time for kids," he rumbled.

He looked at the chair behind him and I took that opportunity to run my eyes over his frame. Well over six feet, muscular, this man was pure sculpted onyx.

"You know how this works?" I asked.

"Yes, Ma'am. I visited your website and watched the videos."

Ma'am. I was only old enough to be his mother if I'd had him as a teen.

"Go ahead and undress and take a seat on this chair," I said, drawing the plastic sheet down. "I'll prepare you for the procedure."

"Yes, Ma'am."

I pretended my clipboard needed attention but watched him from the corner of my eye. His ebony body was a pillar wrapped in black coils of muscle. Not an ounce of fat clung to him. Beneath his pants he wore skimpy bikini style underwear. I raised an eyebrow and he laughed again.

"They're comfortable," he said.

"Those too," I said, indicating his briefs.

He nodded. I expected him to turn his back but not this confident young man. He pulled them down smoothly, revealing a soft and slumbering black beast. This would be pleasant.

"What's your name?" I asked, pen to paper.

"Jon Michael Thomas," he said.

"You're in great shape, Jon Michael Thomas," I said. "What do you do?"

"University, Ma'am. I run track there. One-hundred-meter sprint is my best event but I run many."

"Full scholarship?"

"Yes, Ma'am."

"Call me Hayley. We're pretty informal around here."

"Hayley."

I liked my name coming out of his mouth. He stood casually naked, unashamed, confident he had a right to be nude. I glanced at his lovely cock, hanging comfortably, the compression marks of tight underwear fading. Not the biggest cock I'd ever seen but definitely one of the prettiest. I was on a roll. A half-moon of scruffy pubes decorated the base. Even at rest his muscles stood out like chiseled stone. I sat my clipboard on the counter and placed my hands on my hips. This pulls my top tightly across my tits and highlights the size and shape of my nipples. Jon stole a quick look.

"Do you win a lot of races?" I asked.

"Most of them."

"I bet. Hop up on that chair for me, please."

When he turned, I studied him anew. God. Even the exposure of his puckered asshole was exciting. What an athletic specimen. I waited for him to get comfortable and then I held up both tubes and began my presentation.

Minutes later I was squeezing paste into my palm. I rolled my stool closer, lifting his dark meat and smearing the gunk all over his shaft, crotch, and balls. I held his testicles, feeling the heat and weight through my latex gloves.

"Plump," I said, rubbing the cream all over. "That's a lot of testosterone."

He chuckled.

"They get a workout," he said. "I have a lot of sex."

I gave him a crooked grin.

"I'm not bragging," he said. "It's true. Times have changed. Girls throw themselves at me, especially pretty white girls. I have a hard time saying no." He paused to laugh once. "Actually, that's a lie. I never say no."

I believed him. I sensed he wasn't bragging and it made him even sexier. I pictured all those horny coeds, eager to fuck this black stud.

"You better be careful," I cautioned.

"That's the problem," he admitted, turning genuinely timid. "I see my teammates having babies already. I've got a real shot at the Olympics. I could medal. I don't need a kid at home splitting my focus, you know? Girls come after guys like us. I hope that doesn't sound vain, but they do. I'm the only one without any brats. I'm not big on being a father anyway. I'm too selfish. No kids for me."

"Me either," I said, stroking cock and slipping fingers into butt crack.

Did I jack his cock more than necessary? You bet your ass I did.

I held his balls in one hand and pumped the shaft with the other. He was growing in my hands. I was getting wet.

"All right," I said, resting his gorgeous penis against his thigh. "I'll be back soon to remove that cream and prep you for the procedure. Any questions?"

"No, Ma'am. I mean, Hayley."

I left and visited the kitchen. Doris and Glenda sat in the corner, gossiping.

"Did you land Jon Michael Thomas?" Glenda called out.

"Yeah," I said.

"What's he like down south?" Doris asked, pointing at her lap.

I dropped coins into the vending machine.

"Magnificent," I said. "Full CE material. Screaming CE level hotness."

They laughed. I joined them. We chatted about life until I left to finish with my client. Jon had his fingers laced behind his head, arms raised, gazing at ceiling tiles when I entered the room. I explained what came next as I wiped away all the cream and his hair with it. His cock and balls gleamed like black marble. He looked down.

"That's nice," he said, surprised. "I think I'll keep it like that."

"Girls love it," I said, popping the cap on the lube. "Clean and fresh."

I began to oil him up.

"Let yourself get hard," I said. "If it happens. Makes everything easier."

"No problem with that," he said. "I'll look at you."

I swear two full seconds passed before I regained my composure. I met his eyes and he smiled. Those perfect teeth flashed. I noticed his heartbeat through his cock. I got flustered. I broke away from his eyes only to land on his muscular body. That was as exciting so I moved my gaze again, landing on his cock in my hands. The lubricant had infused his dark skin with a warm glow. His appendage throbbed against my palms, full of life and essence of male. My throat constricted. I unconsciously licked my lips.

I met his eyes again. He gave me a little nod, an almost imperceptible move of his head. That's it. I held his gorgeous ebony cock straight up and heard the soft sound of air leaving my lungs. I parted my lips. I lowered my head. I settled my mouth around the plump head.

Now he throbbed in my hands and my mouth. I caught a whiff of his cologne, triggered by his rise in body temperature. That subtle signal meant I was getting to him as much as he was getting to me, and that sent my heart pounding. I tenderly circled the sensitive crown with my tongue and he moaned and I was thrilled I pleased him. I sought the hole at the tip and worked my tongue in there, teasing, licking all around before wiggling my tongue into that hole again and again. I sought the sperm which lay hidden at the bottom of that thick shaft. I invited it to gush. I'd swallow every drop. I worked my hands in time with my mouth, sucking and stroking. From the corner of my eyes I saw his strong hands gripping the arms of the chair. I was thrilled I could do that to him. I sucked harder than I'd every sucked a dick in my life and he groaned with pleasure, lifting his ass a bit.

The chair creaked from the strain.

I snapped out of the spell.

I pulled my mouth off with a pop, apologies spilling as fast as I could utter them. He stroked my hair, reassuring me no harm done.

"We need to finish the procedure," I babbled.

"Go ahead," he said. "I'm ready."

His calm manor disarmed me. He didn't beg me to continue. Did impulsive females suck his cock often? Did he often soothe women who'd lost control?

He was diamond hard and lubed so I pulled the arm of the Void over and pressed the right buttons. In a daze, I fitted the rubber straps and guided him in. The gentle hiss told me the process had begun and I leaned back on my stool.

"That feels amazing," he said.

I told myself to ignore his cock but looked anyway. He was shiny and swollen and beautiful. I turned dials and pressed buttons. I hated that I'd stopped sucking him. I'd anticipated the taste of cum and would now get nothing. I was disappointed and agitated and horny, sorry that his load would blast into this plastic contraption instead of down my throat.

"I'm sorry," I said. "Please don't tell anyone. I should never have done that."

"Do you do that a lot?"

"No," I asserted. "You're the only one."

"Then I'm flattered."

I spun the dial. Bastard. So composed, so tranquil. A jolt of sensation shot through him and he grunted, vibration and suction and friction combining to send his mind reeling. I bumped the settings again, annoyed with myself but taking it out on him. His black knuckles turned white.

"Shit!" he growled, straining against the chair.

His cock had ballooned, stretched bigger than ever, iron hard and pulsing.

"Yeah, fuck!" he grunted, lifting his black ass higher.

Boom!

The first blast of scalding milk painted the inside of the chamber. I gaped at the amount. Boom! Boom! Boom! Jon was pumping buckets. Long ropes of sperm shot from the head, plastering the chamber before flying up the vacuum tube. He groaned and grunted and twisted in his seat. The Void milked him like a prized bull, forcefully draining his essence, emptying his big balls. He started to laugh, delirious with pleasure.

I dialed back the machine only after the bolts of hot lava began to weaken. His body twitched and jerked as he gasped for breath. I uncoupled the tube and swung the arm aside. His ebony cock, almost twice the size when soft, slowly lower to the plastic covered seat. Cum oozed from the tip.

Rashly, I leaned in and scooped the head in my mouth. His sperm tasted sweet. He whined, too sensitive for more stimulation, but he didn't push me away. I sucked, drawing out leaking semen, feeling him trickle down my throat. I sucked harder, running my tongue around the ridge and rubbing under the tip. I gave him pleasure bordering on pain but he let me do it, gazing at the white lady sucking his deflating dick. He shuddered every time I sucked or licked too hard so I did it often. He refused to stop me so I kept going.

At last his cock leaked no more and I let him slip from my mouth to rest on the seat again. He covered his face with his hands.

"Good Loooooord," he sighed.

"I'll let the doctor know you're ready," I said.

He nodded, spent.

I took a last look at his dick. Big, black, hairless, puffy, shiny with saliva but that could be lube; Doctor Maynard would notice nothing amiss.

Chapter 5

I was home hours before Robert. I lit scented candles, took a hot bath, shaved everywhere, and dried with my favorite fluffy white towel. I slipped into the frilliest teddy I owned, feeling sexy. I stood before the bathroom mirror admiring my own body, teasing my gorgeous tits. I was genetically lucky. I couldn't pretend otherwise.

I slipped a hand down and brought wetness to my mouth. My pussy tasted like fresh water. I lifted a leg, exposing my hairless pussy to my reflected gaze. I straightened the leg over my head, balancing with one hand on the bathroom counter. I pushed the teddy aside and sank a finger into my slit, jangling sensitive and tightly wound nerves. Jon Michael Thomas had me in knots. I rubbed my G-spot and closed my eyes.

It felt good, but wasn't enough. I hungered for more.

I left the bathroom with my fluffy towel and knelt on the bedroom floor. Robert would not be home for a long time. I stretched my body forward. The front of the teddy opened and I looked down at my lovely tits, nipples erect, anticipating. I rolled onto my back and stretched my legs wide. I curled an arm around each, gently pulling them wider. I leveraged my torso using my elbows and bent my body forward, slowly folding in half. I pulled my legs, bringing my mouth closer to my crotch. My little pussy was inches from my face. I walked my hands over my ass, then pulled my labia far apart. I glittered on the inside, graphic, obscene, wet and excited.

I've never been with a woman. I've never eaten pussy. Every guy thinks a woman would be better at it than a man but honestly, I was unsure how to begin. I stared, noting I'm constructed of delicate petals and soft pink flesh.

I looked inviting.

I slipped my tongue out and brushed lightly across my small inner lips, landing on my clitoris, which I harassed. Ten-thousand volts jolted my pelvis.

"Holy shit," I murmured.

I wiggled my tongue inside, tasting my arousal, experiencing this oral pleasure twice; once from my pussy and the sensation of a tongue buried in it, and the other from my tongue and the sensation of a hot wet pussy wrapped around it. I pushed the writhing muscle deeper, groaning because it feels so good. I swallowed my own wetness, experiencing a sense of perversion that only served to excite me more.

Robert tastes this each time he goes down on me, I thought.

I'm pleased. I taste good. I'm doubly pleased I now share this knowledge with my husband. We both know my flavor. The idea that Robert should taste his own sperm flits through my mind. I picture him eating this pussy right after cumming in it.

Odd, but sexy.

I probe all around, discovering what feels good and what feels amazing. I soon focus on my clit and the flesh around it, nibbling, sucking, licking myself into ecstasy. I dip a finger to wet it and work the digit up my ass, gasping in amplified pleasure. I add a finger in my cunt, my tongue working my slit. The sensations are euphoric. I'm going to cum hard. Muscles tighten, clenching around both fingers and my tongue. I'm carried away by the debauchery, the sheer depravity of what I do, but that turns me on more.

Something has changed. I attribute it first to Jon but quickly realize I need to go a little farther back: Arnold is to blame. Cute, little, unassuming Arnold. I don't know why, but it was him, and it wasn't merely his big dick. I've seen plenty of those. It was finding something so sexy in such an unexpected place. It shook me, awakened me to the erotic hidden always around me. The epiphany elevated my awareness, bumped my mind to a higher level, knocked the rust off forgotten gears, which began to turn again.

I push my fingers deep and clamp myself around them. My tongue attacks my clit. I remember Jon's fat cock head filling my mouth.

My asshole clinches around my finger and I whimper. My climax is building, already higher than most. I attack my holes, pumping my fingers, eager now to get there, hungry for release. I go faster, thrusting, a nasally whine ringing in my ears as the pressure contuse to build.

I'm slathering my cunt when an orgasm grabs hold and my body begins to shake. Jesus! I'm licking and sucking faster than ever, waiting to crest and plummet down the other side, but I keep building, drawing more and more of my frazzled nerves into the moment. My spine tightens, my toes curl, my hands cramp, my forehead furrows. My face is a dripping mess. The pleasure continues to spike until I am desperate for relief. I keep licking.

At last, I crest. I cross a threshold and plummet. The explosion rocks me. Like a bolt of lightning, one instant I am still climbing and the next my mind fills with bursting white light, my body clenches and pleasure detonates through every vibrating molecule. My nerves burn, my flesh sizzles. The room spins. I howl into my pussy, vibrating my skin and adding to my pleasure. Darkness creeps in at the corners of my vision but my tongue never slows. My pussy is gushing and I'm lapping it up. I feel so slutty, so whorish.

Pussy juice tastes good.

Finally, I can take no more. Pleasure crosses into a strange kind of pain and I stop my attack and slowly unfold, falling onto my back, breathing hard. Our bedroom is a carousel, spinning, tilting. I brace my palms to the floor and smile, which builds into a laugh.

I've had the greatest orgasm of my life and I'd given it to myself.

Everything tingled. The after-effects were delightful. I teased my clit with a fingertip but found it too intense so I bothered the nearby flesh and found it fantastic. My climax still drained but I extended the feeling a long, long time.

Chapter 6

"Anything interesting happen at work today?" Robert casually asked.

"Yes," I admitted, loading dirty dishes in the dishwasher. "'One of my clients was the sexiest black man I'd ever seen.'"

My honesty caught him by surprise.

"Is that right?"

"Yup."

"Is it true what they say?"

My husband knows better than to ask this question. We both know the black cock thing is a myth. So why was he asking? Insecurity is a huge turn-off but if my man is feeling insecure I need to do something about that.

"It was true about him," I said.

Robert laughed.

"Don't hold anything back."

"You asked," I said. "I'm sure you want honesty. I love you with all my heart. I could never lie to you. But you're responsible for the questions you ask."

"Fair enough."

I felt him squirming on the inside, wanting to know more but with no idea what path to take.

"Just ask," I said, softly. "My job would be hard for a lot of men to take. You've been amazing but everyone has limits. If you need answers, ask."

I prayed he'd never ask if I put a client in my mouth.

"You touched him?"

"I touch them all, Baby. With gloves on, of course."

"He turned you on?"

"Very much."

"Why?"

"Tall, well-spoken and well-educated. Confident. Amazing body. Handsome face. Gorgeous smile. Great sense of humor."

"Big black dick."

"That too, yes."

He ran his eyes over me.

"Do you plan on fucking me tonight?"

"The second we get in bed," I said.

I didn't mention my earlier date with my tongue.

"You hoping he comes to visit again?"

I laughed.

"We don't get repeat customers, Honey. Snip-snip and you're done. To undo it takes a surgeon, an operating room, and several attendants. They get repeat clients over on the testosterone side but he couldn't do that. That would be cheating and a drug test would catch him."

My husband gazed at me strangely, eyes lingering on my face and tits.

"You want me?" I asked.

"Badly," his voice rasped.

What was happening here? Did Robert sense my recent changes? Was I saying or doing things differently? Had something changed for Robert? I knew exactly which women in his office he found attractive by the pitch of his voice when he said their names. Was I guilty of that? I met his eyes. Lust filled his heart. I playfully undid my top button and waited, teasing.

That worked.

One step and he was on me. We shed our clothes and fucked on the kitchen floor, but not before he ate me like a pro. He commented how wet I was but probably assumed it was from work again, and I didn't set him straight. Honestly, he eats pussy so well I couldn't form the words anyway. After I came the first time he tugged me to all fours and fucked me from behind, bellowing like a bull as he unloaded and triggering a second climax. What a great day. Guilt over Jon lingered but that would fade. Considering what I do and how long I've done it, I was allowed one tiny mistake.

We were brushing our teeth for bed when I stopped and faced him.

"You want me a lot more lately," I said. "Why?"

He spat paste.

"You've turned on," he said. "Like a switch has flipped. These days your skin glows, your eyes are full of light. You walk around the house with stiff nipples. You dress more revealing. Something's going on with you. You radiate sex. You've always been sexy but this is more active and pronounced. Given what you do, I wondered if it was connected to work."

"Connected?"

He set his brush on the sink, faced me, turned serious.

"I wondered if you fucked somebody," he said. "There's been times you were so wet I thought you had."

My jaw dropped. At first I was hurt but I had no right. I could still feel Jon's cock in my mouth. Then another thought occurred.

"Wait," I said. "You assumed I cheated but went down on me anyway?"

He chuckled, embarrassed.

Wow.

"No screaming?" I asked. "No tears? No rage? Just eat her pussy and move on?"

He laughed.

"Yeah."

I wasn't sure how I felt about that.

"Understand," he continued. "I wasn't convinced you'd cheated. I speculated. That's different. Wondering caused all these other emotions to rise. I'd be terribly hurt if I learned, without a doubt, you'd actually done it."

That made more sense. Still.

"It turned you on," I said.

"No," he corrected. "You turned me on. My assumption you'd done naughty things turned me on. Most guys enjoy the pleasures they feel. I'm excited more by the pleasures you feel. The more aroused you are, the more aroused I am."

"And I'd need to be incredibly aroused to cheat."

"Something like that," he concluded.

He stepped close and kissed me.

"Have you ever wanted to fuck a client?" he asked.

My first impulse was to throw it back at him, asking him the same question about the girls in his office. I didn't do that.

"Yes," I admitted. "I meet a lot of men every day. Some are attractive."

"Did you want to fuck that black guy?"

"Jon? Yes."

"Do you want to fuck that black guy?"

I paused. The question sounded simple but I felt the weight of it. Deflect and perpetuate or tell the truth and forge a new path?

"Yes," I said, choosing truth again. "Very much."

"I thought so."

"In my defense, I've never been with a black man. That makes the idea extra spicy."

He studied me for a moment.

"That turns me on," he said. "I like this new you, Hayley. I like that you're thinking such sexual thoughts. I especially like your honesty in sharing them."

I considered confessing the brief blowjob but that seemed too far, too soon. Baby steps for right now.

"I'll share such thoughts more often then," I said. "I'll let you know when something interesting happens at work and what's on my mind."

"I'd enjoy that."

The air had filled with sexual tension. I opened my robe. His eyes went directly to my pussy.

"Hungry?" I teased.

"Famished."

"What if I accidentally think about Jon while I'm with you?"

His eyes narrowed. It stung, for an instant, then transformed into lust. A thrill raced through me.

"Even better," he growled. "Whatever makes you wet."

He grabbed my robe and dragged me into the bedroom. He shoved me face down on the bed and flipped my robe over my ass, eating me from behind. Jesus, the man had talent. His was the second tongue in my pussy today and I gushed at the thought.

"Baby," I groaned. "You eat pussy so well. I love your mouth."

He moved faster. I moaned.

"How about I use Jon for his body and you for your tongue?"

I was shocked to hear myself say the words. I'd spoken without thinking. Crap. What if Robert got mad?

But he didn't. My husband groaned and drove his tongue all the way in.

Since he liked what I said, I decided to give him more.

"His thighs were as thick as my waist, Baby. He was so sleek, so strong. His strong body was utterly male. I couldn't help but respond. Being in the same room with a man like that made me wet."

Robert rubbed my walls. My pussy tightened around him, climbing towards an orgasm. What a great day. Should I continue to test the waters? Yes.

"I wanted to suck him, Robert. I wanted that black cock in my mouth."

I held my breath. That was a big jump. Robert groaned again, mumbling around my pussy to tell him more.

"I wanted to climb on top of that chair and sit on his dick. I wanted to fuck my first black guy. I wanted to feel all those hard muscles moving beneath me. I wanted to make him moan and shoot, those big black balls spewing a hot load. You know I love feeling dick explode inside me."

I reigned myself in. I'd gotten a full head of steam and run with it, and I waited now for Robert's reaction. The bed was shaking and I realized my husband jacked off as he ate me. I rose on my elbows to see between my legs. His robe was open too. His arm pumped fast. My husband masturbated to my black man fantasy. We'd never done anything remotely like this. I was as thrilled by our new shared intimacy as by my made-up story.

Mostly made up story.

"I want to show him my tits," I continued. "I saw him nude. I'd love for him to see me that way. I'd love to see him grow hard from looking at me. I want him to want me."

"Tell me about his cock," my husband muttered.

I was startled Robert wanted to hear about another man's penis, but I kept the moment going. My climax was creeping closer.

"It's big. It's thick and smooth. I'm used to yours and his would feel so different. He'd stretch me and I hungered to feel it. His balls are big too."

Robert moaned again, a desperate and excited sound. His arm pumped fast. My husband would ejaculate listening to me talk about Jon. My heart hammered. I had sweat on my back and arms. I'd been forestalling my climax to talk more, to keep us in this moment, and I sensed Robert delayed his orgasm too, waiting for me.

"I wish I'd fucked him," I said. "Would you like me to? You want to hear that story? You want me to come home and say, Baby, I put Jon's big black cock inside me? He came in there. Eat my soaking pussy."

I saw it perfectly in my mind and I guess Robert did too. My muscles clenched and my pleasure spiked. I came hard, mewling like a slut, imaging the wild, impossible scene. Robert growled, releasing his load against the side of the bed, eating me ferociously as I fantasized about a new lover.

It was the hottest sex of our marriage.

Chapter 7

I hadn't seen Diana for a while. Both too busy, I'd assumed. I got to yoga before her and staked our place at the back of the class. I was eager to share everything that had happened recently.

That would need to wait. As she rounded the corner I saw her through the huge window. Gone was the shapeless baggy T-shirt six sizes too big. Gone were the loose sweat pants and boring ponytail. Her tits were now bigger than mine, bouncing lightly under her thin top, lovely upturned globes filling her tight sports bra, straining at the fabric, showing a hint of soft nipples. Her leotard looked painted on, showcasing her fine ass. She looked fucking hot. My face was still frozen when she entered the room. She saw me and laughed gleefully, hurrying past the two guys gawking. She sat.

"Wow," I said. "WOW."

"Isn't it amazing?" she gushed. "They've changed everything. Everything. Nobody treats me the same. Not coworkers or neighbors or strangers. I had no idea good looks helped so much at life. It's bullshit but it's real and I'm going to enjoy it."

"You look incredible," I said. "I'm so proud of you for making a change."

"I was terrified but Mitch liked the idea," she said. "It took a week but you should see the outfits he suggests for me now. I think he wants me to walk around the city naked. We've had sex almost every night since."

She looked at her phone to check the time.

"We're early," she said. "We have time. You want to see them?"

"Yes."

We found a corner in the locker room.

They were perfect. Better than mine. She had every reason to beam. Doctor Jameson was an artist. Gorgeous globes of smooth flesh, slightly big for her body but not too big, topped with perfect upturned nipples. Diana ran her palms over them again and again.

"Touch them," she said, and I did.

Soft yet firm, warm and completely natural. Too often women go for size and they look fake or bolted on. Not these. These looked infinitely suckable.

"Mitch likes me to show them off," she said. "He shops after work and comes home with new tops. I felt terribly conspicuous at first but quickly realized everyone likes boobs, even other women. I've had so much fun."

Light and happiness poured from her. I was so proud.

She dressed and we returned to class, moving through the poses the instructor gave. Diana never stopped smiling. The joy and excitement would fade but her new-found confidence and self-esteem would remain. Imagine what increasing the size of their penis would do for most men.

Thoughts of penis turned my mind to Jon and Robert. My husband and I had a lot of sex since our talk. I'd discovered a gift for sexual gab, narrating wild fantasy tales to get us hot. I'd note all the clients that got me horny during the day then share what I wanted to do with them with Robert that night.

"Same with my husband," I said without thinking. "Robert suddenly wants to hear stories from work. I always kept them to myself, out of respect, but it turns out he wants to know."

"That's sexy," Diana said. "Security and self-confidence are two of my favorite things in a man."

I hadn't considered that and took a minute to ponder. She made a great point. Nothing I told Robert made him worry. It all turned us on.

"I often wonder how far I can go," I said. "If I sucked a dick, would Robert like that too? Or does he like the fantasy and reality would freak him out."

"Try it and find out," she said.

We both burst out laughing. The instructor waited for us before continuing.

We finished the class and hugged goodbye and I enjoyed the feel of her new big tits against mine. I watched her ass as she walked to her car. A man drove by and craned his neck to keep his eyes on her. She laughed and waved and the bewildered man waved back. For an instant I saw her the way he did and imagined eating her pussy. I tingled all over. I'd never looked at Diana like that and the thought excited me.

Chapter 8

For the next few days nothing happened. Work was routine. No overly sexy men. I had stories for Robert but more fantasy than reality.

On Thursday, after a short shift, I ran errands and unexpectedly found myself at a stop light near the university. I drummed my fingers on the steering wheel, debating. I turned off the main road and entered the campus, weaving my way along twisting roads. I rounded the corner and saw the track, huge bleachers on each side. Scattered athletes worked out on the grass and jogged around the oval.

I entered the parking lot and slowed to get a better look. There was Jon, practicing his explosion out of the starter blocks. I cruised along, admiring the strong swing of his muscular arms and his piston legs. The man was fast. He stopped to talk to a teammate and I pictured him nude, remembering that fit form beneath his track gear. I noticed several young women sitting in the bleachers, like me, watching him and his teammates. He'd probably had sex with all of them.

As I neared the end of the parking lot, I searched for a driveway out, glancing one last time at my ebony demigod. He waved in my direction. I was so sure he wasn't waving to me that I kept driving. I made the turn and doubled back on the other side and jumped when he appeared suddenly between two parked cars. He waved again. I rolled down my window.

"Hi," he said, cheerfully.

"Hello."

His tight athletic clothing was soaked with sweat. He wiped his face with both hands and rubbed them on his shorts. He waited for me to say something and when, after an uncomfortable moment I did not, he asked what I was doing there.

"Not sure, exactly," I said. "I dropped off dry cleaning down the street and realized how close I was to the school."

He waited. That didn't explain why I was now at the school.

"I wanted to see you again," I admitted.

A tiny smile curled a corner of his mouth. He crossed his thick black arms.

"Let me grab my stuff," he said, walking away, not waiting for an answer.

I opened my mouth to protest but nothing came out. I watched his ass jog to his gym bag and collect his things. He jerked a thumb over a shoulder and his friends looked over at me. One smiled. I wanted to disappear. I told myself to step on the gas and go, but my foot didn't do that. I sat frozen, waiting for whatever came next, feeling terribly out of place, an older woman cruising a younger man. I checked on the coeds in the bleachers and they checked on me. They were not happy. I'd literally swooped in and snatched Jon from under their noses. They wore cute tight clothes and sat there with their young hard bodies and Jon at this moment jogged towards me. That felt good. He circled to the passenger side and climbed in. I resisted the immature urge to wave at them, flaunting my victory.

"My apartment is a few blocks away," Jon said. "Do you mind driving? I really need a hot shower. "

"No problem."

I'm dropping him off, right? No harm in that and I have a tantalizing story for Robert. Jon is tired and sweaty. He needs help. I'll drive him home, drop him off, and leave. I have more errands to run.

Minutes later I pulled into the parking lot at his apartment. He directed me to the numbered parking spot and I stopped the car. He climbed out, pulling his gym bag with him.

"Come up for a minute," he invited.

I floated out of the car like a critical piece of my mind had stopped working, like I'd somehow been sucked into his vortex. I walked beside him, climbing the concrete stairs, caught in a loop of right-now, mentally processing nothing beyond the immediate. Each foot landed on solid ground but I seemed to glide, hovering above the steps, drifting towards his front door, drawing closer and closer. I felt lightheaded, tingly. I may have been hyperventilating but was too detached from everything to know for sure.

His apartment was small and cheaply furnished. I could barely breathe. What was I doing here? He offered a drink which I declined, sitting on the coffee table before my weak legs gave out. He disappeared into the back bedroom. I heard the door close.

I surveyed the room, slowly returning to myself. I was in Jon's apartment, alone, with him. My mind finally engaged and I mentally screamed at myself to leave, but I didn't. That part of my mind had no influence right now.

I stared at the lime shag carpeting. I stared at the framed poster of Usain Bolt. I placed my hands on my knees, steadying myself. I heard the bedroom door open down the hall.

I heard footsteps on the carpet.

I heard the rustle of a towel hitting the floor.

I heard more footsteps.

They stopped.

I looked up.

He was gloriously nude, caught in the sunlight, pumped from his workout, veins lacing his forearms and shoulders. I love men, and he represented them perfectly, like a Michelangelo David but sculpted in black. My eyes performed a slow crawl over every inch of him and he stood there and let me.

His heavy black cock literally trembled with each heartbeat.

My lips were parched. I wet them, my dry tongue sticking for an instant.

He held out a hand and I rose to take it. Robert will love this story, I told myself. Ha ha and then I went into the bathroom with him while he showered and gosh those white suds against his dark skin were so sexy and yes I helped him scrub the hard to reach places why else was I there and ha ha Robert is this turning you on? Yes? Then wait until you hear what I did next.

Indeed.

I may as well have been a lamb being led to slaughter.

Jon's ass hypnotized as he led me down the hall. The rolling muscles across his back held me spell-bound. We passed a crumpled towel on the ground and I understood he'd chosen to leave it behind, to present himself fully naked. Bold. Confident. Sexy. We reached the small bathroom and he faced me, my gaze dropping to his penis sandwiched between us. He unfastened my pants and I peeled my thin shirt over my head. His eyes went to my beautiful tits and I studied his face, watching him drink them in, pleased by the hungry look in his eyes. His big black man lips descended and I watched my nipple enter his steaming mouth.

I groaned all the way down to my feet.

He sucked, pulling blood into the little nub, engorging it and making me extra sensitive. I tingled all over, my clit literally vibrating. He pushed my pants and underwear down and I dutifully stepped free. I don't know when my shoes and socks had come off. I don't know when he'd started the water. I don't know when we stepped in and I don't know when he started soaping me. I don't know how my hair got wet.

I do know when I reached for his gorgeous black cock, that hot slab of beef sizzling on my palm. I tugged the loose skin, watching the head vanish and reappear, and felt him thicken. I cupped his heavy black balls.

"You kept them bald," I said.

"I told you I would."

He rested his hands on my shoulders in the universal male appeal for oral sex. I squatted in an instant, opening wide and taking that cock for the second time.

"Time to finish what you started," he teased.

Like I needed direction. I was so happy to have that dick in front of me again I would have fought him to suck it. I licked all around the head before closing my married lips around the shaft. I rolled his balls around my palm. I forced as much as I could take, making myself gag. I felt raunchy and wild. I sucked hard, like I was trying to leave a hickey, and he groaned.

"Fucking white women," he mumbled.

Yeah, fucking white women, so easily placed under his spell, so eager to get his dick in our mouths. What number was I? How many white women had eagerly gobbled this beast? He grew harder and I had to give ground, sacrificing inches so I could continue to work on him. I licked and sucked until he throbbed, determined to do my race of cock-sucking white women proud.

I don't know when I stood. I don't know when I turned my back to him. I do know the instant he penetrated because my own piercing cry seared my memory forever. He was thick, far more girth than Robert, and I felt every inch lodged between my hips. I groaned, wonderfully full and for the first time impaled on a black man's meat.

"Your pussy is tight," he said. "Tight! You've got a fucking dick guillotine."

I almost laughed but his cock was too much. He thrust hardly at all but every bump and vein rubbed my insides. The crown stretched me wide as it worked closer to my cervix. He moved his hands to my shoulders to hold me in place and then flexed his ass and drove his black inches into my married cunt.

The fact I fucked a man other than my husband hit me like a sledgehammer. I gasped, suddenly focused and keenly aware of the bare cock moving inside me. I'd gone too far. I needed to end this. Each time he withdrew until only the head remained I resolved to pull off him and flee this place.

But I didn't. I couldn't.

He'd slide his gorgeous black dick inside me again, muttering something about how amazing I felt and how he'd wanted me from the moment he saw me, and I'd melt, gushing juice all over his invading prick.

Something like love welled up inside me. It wasn't love. I'm not sixteen. But I am a woman and sex is different for us. I felt myself emotionally and mentally falling for this man. I heard in his gasps and moans the pleasure I gave him, I heard his desire for me. I overpowered him as much as he did me. His dick was so hard.

Tears filled my eyes. This was beautiful. This was pure. Our desire was spontaneous and natural. We were right to act on it. I felt so much more than physically connected to this man.

He moved his hands to my hips and slowly drove his cock deep, savoring every inch of me. Air hissed through his teeth. All the way in, he nudged something solid inside. He paused and I expected him to withdraw but he kept pushing, steady, gentle pressure until he forced a groan from my throat. His invasion hurt but felt good too. I felt things moving far up inside, shifting, sliding. I reached for his hips, pulling him forward, encouraging his deep penetration and he leaned his weight, flexing his strength, clenching his fine firm ass.

Some inner barrier slowly gave way, expanding to envelope and swaddle the probing head. His shaft crept deeper still and I moaned, more stuffed with cock than ever. He yanked the shower curtain aside and I saw myself in the large bathroom mirror, welded to this gorgeous man, impaled, penetrated, conquered. I watched his sensuous hips pump, working the cock that probed me, working the cock that reached so far up inside.

Suddenly, it was all too much: the sights, the sounds, the sensations, the truth of what we did. My body tightened and locked, my pussy clenched around him, my insides compressed into a hot wet fist and I orgasmed like an explosion. I howled. I screamed and his neighbors heard, but I didn't care. I was another woman he'd brought home to fuck and that excited me too. I was happy to join his long list. His cock was a torturous piston working my sopping hole and I came like a freak all over him. The tears spilled from my eyes and my breath was ragged and fast. My body lit up like a Christmas tree, sparks flying and nerves dancing. I was so lost in my climax I was only vaguely aware when Jon tightened his grip and drove all the way in, pumping buckets of hot white gunk so far up in me it would never leak out. I'd absorb him, he'd become a part of me, and that excited me too. His shaft expanded again and again, each swell another searing blast of sperm.

"All of it!" I hissed.

His huge body was molded to mine, muscles working, cock spewing. I closed my eyes to feel him in there, spraying hot jizz everywhere. I clamped my pussy tight, coaxing all he could give. I wanted those black balls drained.

At last he braced himself against the shower walls and curled away from me. His cock exited my hole with a slurp. Our legs turned weak and we separated. A flood of semen gushed from me and down the shower drain. We sank to the shower floor. I watched the milky stream mix with water and knew a hundred times that amount remained inside, filling my womb. The spray of the hot shower soaked us both. His black weapon, mission complete, slowly deflated to rest on the fiberglass floor.

In my mind, guilt already scratched at the door like a wolf.

Chapter 9

I wish I could say I jumped up, dressed, and fled that place. I wish I could say I ran away, back to my Robert and my comfortable, faithful life.

But I didn't.

I crawled across the shower floor and slipped his soft cock into my mouth. I suckled his wonderful meat, savoring the seeping ooze, licking the fat hot balls. I toyed with his dick using my mouth, tongue, and hands, until I had him hard again.

He killed the shower and led me to his bed, tenderly drying my skin with a thick towel before easing me onto my back and crawling between my open legs. I reached down to guide him in, a more than willing participant. The sperm already in me lubed his invasion and I gasped as he filled me in one firm stroke.

This time was different. We were face to face. We smiled, we kissed, we laughed. He was fascinated with my tits. He never stopped touching and kissing them, which I loved. But no matter what else he did to me, his cock never stopped moving, his strong, rhythmic ass was relentless.

I came again; an easy rolling tremor that left me tingling all over. Then, almost an hour later, I came again; a howling hurricane of cock-clutching ecstasy. My nails dug into my palms and my toes became fists. My pussy gripped his black cock like a vise.

He orgasmed again too and I closed my eyes as the sperm flowed. I felt his pipe swell and the hot lava spew and I wrapped arms and legs around his unyielding muscular body to receive it, murmuring sweet encouragement into his ear.

At last, I dressed and left for home.

Chapter 10

The wolf at the door growled all the way home. I'd crossed a line. I'd smashed a boundary. I'd broken my vows in the worst possible way and guilt threatened to crush me. The only thing that held it at bay, was the nagging suspicion that my husband would love what I'd done. I held onto that with both hands.

I was shocked to see the time. I'd spent a long afternoon with my ebony lover and now must hurry to start dinner, as it was my turn. I glanced at my phone and discovered three unread messages from Robert

He was leaving work early.

Of course he was. The universe always has a good laugh at our expense. I stepped on the gas.

I flew about the kitchen but barely had pots on the stove when I heard the outside garage door begin to open. I froze for an instant, then rapidly threw the pots back in the cupboards. There was no explaining my dinner failure without admitting how I spent my afternoon. I needed to distract him. I whipped my clothes off and set my feet shoulder-width apart, presenting my pussy for his viewing pleasure. I squared my shoulders and stood naked and ready in our kitchen. The connecting door opened and Robert entered from the garage. His eyes darted to my tits and then he dropped his briefcase and reached for his fly.

I beat him to it.

When I stripped, I had no plan other than fucking him. Now I realized if I made him cum in me, I would hide my earlier infidelity. I tugged his dick out and slurped it into my mouth. He got hard fast and I backed away to sit on the kitchen counter, spreading my knees, inviting my husband to fuck me.

My husband had other plans.

He sank to his knees, shoved each thigh, and buried his face in my crotch. I fought panic. His dick was hard! Why didn't he step forward and fuck me?

Robert's tongue invaded my hole and twirled my labia and I held my breath, waiting for the inevitable explosion of jealousy and confrontation. Robert pushed a finger into my cunt and then, slippery with a mix of juices, propelled the same finger up my ass, wildly licking my clit the whole time. I curled my toes in pleasure and forgot all about getting caught. He sent a finger burrowing up my pussy and I groaned, both holes invaded and teased. Fluids dripped but not all of them mine. He ate me ravenously, lapping my juices and pumping my holes.

Conflict raged in me. I loved what he was doing but I was so wrong to let him do it. Jon and I flowed from my opening and into Robert's mouth. My husband seemed not to notice but attacked my little pussy with fervor. I could imagine no way to tell him the truth so I gave up, handing myself over to the delicious sensations his tongue gave me. Jolts of electricity jangled my tired nerves. The decadence, the sheer evil of what I was allowing, excited me even more. I grabbed Robert's head and forced his face into my cunt.

"Lick it," I commanded. "Eat my pussy."

He groaned, anticipating another Fantasy Tale. He lapped at me like a puppy with ice cream. His response fueled my reckless fever. A jumbled mix of powerful emotions surged.

"Eat that cheating cunt," I growled. "Do I taste different? I fucked a client on the chair today, Baby. I rode his big hard cock until I came all over it."

Robert moaned. His body began to shake which I recognized as him masturbating. I pictured him down on his knees, dick in hand, mouth worshipping my unfaithful pussy.

"Then he fucked me," I groaned, already rising towards climax, wildly aroused by the horrible truth of what I'd done, what Robert now did. I was a terrible, no good wife and that turned me on so much. "He pinned me down and hammered my wet hole until I came again and he exploded inside, filling me up."

Robert's loud groan shook our kitchen. My husband was spurting all over the cabinets, the tile floor. He imagined another man pumping me full of jizz and that excited him so much he shot uncontrollably. It was all too much. This day, the past week, every day since Arnold Humphrey took a seat and started an avalanche.

I shrieked as an orgasm convulsed my body and tore through my mind. Robert slurped and gulped, trying to keep up, and I came harder, pulling his hair and babbling about cock. His fingers worked my tender flesh and I shrieked again, my entire body pulsating, overloaded and exhausted.

I slid off the counter, eventually, and we staggered to the bedroom. Robert continued to eat me, tender and gentle, until I climaxed again. He'd grown hard from the sounds I made but respected my fatigue and jacked off while gazing at my sweaty body. I smiled languorously, fully aware my man had wasted two loads, unaware of the two loads I carried from Jon.

Terrible wife indeed.

We drifted off. It was dark when we awoke, hungry and sore. Robert rolled over and gently licked my swollen labia. I let him go for a while before suggesting we head for the kitchen.

"I know it's true," he murmured.

I froze.

His tongue teased my pussy again and I cautiously opened my legs. I was unsure what his cryptic words meant so I waited for more but he had nothing to add, softly and tenderly licking my faithless cunt. I figured we'd talk about it later and relaxed, enjoying his sweet attention. I took over an hour but came yet again, pleasing him greatly. He still wore his smug grin while we sat in the semi dark, illuminated by a single candle, eating strawberries at the dining table. I wanted to ask him to explain his comment but realized that was me trying to alleviate guilt. I forced myself to leave it alone. If that was all he ever said, I was off the hook. He'd admitted he'd known and he'd done nothing. If I could manage to keep my mouth shut, I was in the clear.

What a fucking day.

Chapter 11

I was filing paperwork when I heard the door open and the next client enter. I finished, closed the drawer, slapped a friendly smile on my face, and turned.

Jon Michael Thomas.

Wait. What?

He chuckled.

My temperature shot up. God, he looked so good.

I'd not gone by the university again. I planned to never go by the university again. Now he was here, loose black tank top and gray track pants, grinning like his little surprise had worked perfectly. I wondered what my expression was.

"Hi," he said.

I shook myself.

"Hello," I said. "What are you doing? Are you here for testosterone?"

He chuckled again.

"No, Hayley. I'm here for the procedure. After you left the room last time I got a text and had to leave. I rescheduled with the doctor, so here I am."

Understanding crashed down upon my head in layers, one conclusion at a time. All that sperm he'd pumped into me had been live. It was only days ago this black stud filled me twice. Some of that sperm still swam in me. I carried his seed right now, looking over the counter at his handsome face. My pussy clenched. I gasped softly. Worse, Robert had feasted on me for hours. Not merely seminal fluid, but true extract of Jon, pure essence of Jon. Robert would be mortified.

"Oh, shit," I mumbled.

My temperature shot up again.

I realized I'd subconsciously believed myself safe. True, it was still cheating, but the sharpest edge had been dulled. In the back of my mind I'd set aside that eternal female worry. No more. Truth came rushing in and with it a surge of lust. In a real and beautiful sense, I had been truly Jon's woman. In a primal and primitive way, Jon had taken me from Robert and made me his. We'd mated. I was his mate. He'd inseminated me, fertilized me.

My self-esteem skyrocketed. That may not seem logical, since that meant I was also a loathsome cheater, but Jon was a top-of-the-line kind of man. He had hopeful women waiting for him in the bleachers but he'd chosen me. My lower abdomen turned warm. I swear I could feel him cooking in there.

Perhaps two seconds had ticked off but I felt like I'd been standing still for an hour. Jon met my eyes, watching me work through the ramifications. I checked the calendar; yup. Today, room five. I grabbed my clipboard and came around the counter, instructing this cocky bastard to follow me. We enter the small room and I shut the door behind us. I faced him, at a loss for words.

He pulled his tank over his head and kicked off his sandals. I watched, fascinated, as his muscles rolled and flexed. His pants slid down his legs and his gorgeous black cock bobbed before my eyes. It was like meeting an old friend after a long time apart. We had no need for words. I carefully and silently turned the lock on the doorknob, squatting before him, cock at face level. I lifted the cylinder of dark beef and closed my eyes. I opened my mouth and steered him in, the weight of his cock pressing my tongue. I closed my lips around his warm, pulsing, fat goodness.

I'd fuck him whenever he wished. We both knew it.

He allowed me to get him hard then stepped back. I admired his throbbing rod. God, I loved the thing. My pussy ached with an emptiness I'd never known.

"Do we need to use the Void?" he asked. "Will it work if you make me cum? I want you to keep going."

I shook my head.

"The difference would be obvious. Doctor Maynard would know. Let's finish this the right way now and then we can plan to meet later. That way we can take our time."

I kissed the swollen black helmet and stood, reluctantly allowing his cock to swing free. I unlocked the door. Jon climbed into the chair.

He was already hairless so I went straight for the lube. His cock is fucking beautiful. I stroked until he gleamed, big, hard, and shiny, then snapped the straps on him and swung the Void over, setting the dials and positioning him inside. I flipped the switch and the familiar hiss of air being pumped filled the room. That lovely black scepter began to expand and we both stared at it.

"Damn," he said, with longing.

How big would guys go if the size was up to them? Huge. The vibration started and the pads began milking and his eyes slowly closed. I watched every muscle, every twitch, every grimace and contraction. The man was a pleasure.

He came fast.

"Stay put," I said, removing the Void and wagging a finger at him. "I'll get Doctor Maynard."

He looked too wiped out to move.

Maynard was still consulting with another patient so I slipped him a note about Thomas in room five. I went to the staff room and grabbed a soda, leaving the two men to talk. Doc and his intern would finish up quick.

When doc stuck his head in the staff room, I was surprised. Then I understood.

"He didn't," I said.

Doc shrugged.

"He did," Maynard said. "I think he visits for the Void. He wouldn't be the first. Hopefully he'll reschedule before he gets some girl pregnant."

I stepped past the doctor and walked the hall to room five. Jon's belongings were gone. He'd done it again.

"Charge him another cancelation fee and move on to the next patient, Hayley. We have a long list today."

I nodded and straightened the room. Jon had dodged us again. At the front computer and flipped through the clients, calling the next name for Doris in room four. I smiled as the man walked by.

At the top of the page I noticed a tab named Past Clients. I clicked, scrolling through a long list of names accompanied by Driver's License pictures. I'd done this before, times when I'd emailed and asked for referrals or to request they like our Facebook page. One face after another rolled up my screen. I paused on some, remembering snippets of conversation or men I'd found attractive at the time. I'd gone back two years when I saw Edgar Reece, a man that worked with my husband. Usually I'd hand off someone personally connected but Ed hadn't mentioned Robert until it was all over. I'd panicked at the time because I'd flirted with Ed and worried he'd tell Robert. My how things had changed.

I dug deeper, flipping through additional pages of information, remembering Ed had a nice body and handsome face. I tried to recall what I'd said and done with him. I know I'd handled his cock too long and he'd teased me about it. I got my revenge once he was in the Void. He'd grimaced as if in pain, cumming hard. I remember he'd had a lovely cock. Did he ever talk to Robert, I wonder? Had Robert known for the last two years that I sometimes take liberties? Has Robert been wondering and fantasizing about my professional duties all this time?

I noticed a comment in red on the last page of Ed's profile. He had an appointment over on the testosterone side in three days.

I made a mental note to say hello when he came to visit.

Chapter 12

"His blessing?" I yelled. I had to shout over the blaring music. "I thought we were doing this behind his back."

"Nope," Diana grinned. "Mitch wanted me to go out. He even told me to tease guys and come home horny."

"This will be awesome," I said, and meant it.

"I have no idea what to do," my friend replied, laughing. "I can remember sixteen drink orders but I don't understand men."

I laughed.

"Nobody understands men," I said. "Men don't even understand themselves. They move based on impulse, wants and don't wants. But you can guide them fairly easily. I'll show you. Tell me which guy you like best."

She literally stuck the tip of her tongue out of the corner of her mouth. Adorable. She surveyed the room; watching people dancing and talking all around the club. I'd picked a classy new hotspot called Poetry. I'd asked Robert to go a few times but he's always too busy so now Diana and I would have all the fun. Her eyes roamed the place until they landed on a handsome Persian man standing with friends. He smiled at her. She smiled back but continued her survey of the room. I was so proud.

"I see a few," she said. "There's a Middle-Eastern guy standing in a group, a blonde surfer guy by the bathrooms with a friend, and the FBI agent guy at the bar by himself. He looks exciting."

I glanced at her choices, fixing them in my mind.

"I'm going to walk to the bar for some napkins," I said. I want you to watch your guys. If they turn to watch me, we know they're on the prowl. That's a start. Since we're not looking to get laid tonight and want to have some flirty fun, we don't care if they've got a wife and kids at home. We want to know if they think we're hot. Ready?"

She took a drink and nodded.

"Okay. Here I go."

I did my lap, completely ignoring our targets. I dropped the napkins on the table and sat.

"What happened?" I asked.

"Surfer guy kissed his boyfriend, so he's out. Middle Eastern and FBI watched every move you made."

"Good. Which man do you want to give you attention?"

Her jaw dropped.

"Just like that?" she asked.

"Yup," I said. "I told you guiding them is easy. They live by their eyes."

"FBI."

"Perfect."

I looked her over. She wore a conservative button-up long-sleeved top and knee-length skirt. Cute, but not sexy.

"I'm going to loosen you up," I told her. "You're a well-dressed buzz kill."

Her face fell. She looked down at her outfit. I laughed.

"Women chose men based on qualities," I said. "Is he smart? Is he kind? Does he have a sense of humor and can he make me laugh? Men chose women based on attributes; Pretty face, pretty eyes, nice ass, great tits. They are looking to empty their balls. We're looking for a relationship."

She smiled, understanding. I reached across the table and unbuttoned the top three buttons of her shirt, revealing a throat-high camisole underneath. I saw the lace edge of another under that. I sighed and sat back.

"I'm sorry," I said, gesturing at her three layers. "Was I not clear? Did you think we were going to church tonight?"

"No."

"Then what the hell?"

"My nipples," she hissed, embarrassed. "They're stiff all the time now. I had to hide the bumps."

I suddenly realized how far we were outside her comfort zone.

"Diana, Honey, remember when we watched the Oscars and how impressed you were with the bold clothing the women wore? You talked about all the cleavage on display. You envied their courage. There's nothing shameful about you or your body except what someone else wants to lay on you. Let's tell them to fuck off, okay? We are inside a club so you're surrounded by adults. They checked IDs at the door. Look around. See what the women are wearing? Some of them make move wrong and flash their tits. I'll bet half skipped panties to avoid panty lines. It's okay. You're allowed to have fun. You're allowed to be attractive."

She searched the room, stopping here and there to scrutinized a hot babe. I saw her expression change to determination.

"What do I do?" she asked.

I fished in my purse and handed her a tube of Cherry Bomb.

"Go to the restroom," I said. "Take your purse. Remove both those camisoles and maybe your bra too. Mess your hair a little and put on some of my lipstick. We're having a little fun. We're two housewives pretending to be single and available. We're actresses tonight, Diana, playing a part."

I watched her cross the room. Only FBI gave her a look.

I sipped my drink and waited.

She was better at this than I realized. When she emerged, her big tits swayed beneath the thin fabric of her shirt, nipples obvious. She must have had safety pins in her purse because her skirt was folded under and many inches shorter. She'd loosened her hair and her lips were brilliant red. Devastating. She stopped at the bar to order another round and then chatted with a few people there. Every head turned for her return trip to our booth. A goofy looking guy took her hand and kissed it.

"Well done," I said, as she settled in.

She was glowing.

"Oh my God," she murmured, almost too low for me to hear over the music. "Everyone is looking at me. Even the gay guys are looking at me."

"The gay guys want to be you."

I stared directly at her new tits, making her squirm. Just enough showed through her top to confirm how beautiful they were.

"Damn girl, you got your money's worth. You look spectacular and honestly, you don't need a bra."

"Everyone was nice to me," she said. "Is this what life is like for you? People opening doors, kissing your hand, smiling all the time?"

"Kind of, yeah."

"Weird. Teach me makeup and how to dress sexy."

"My pleasure."

Our drink arrived.

"To acting classes," I said, raising my martini.

"To acting classes," she echoed.

We downed our drinks.

After a moment, I suggested we dance with each other near FBI.

"To tease him?"

"Yes," I said. "To give his eyes a chance to see something he likes. If he tries to flirt with me, I'll be a little rude."

"Okay."

Her eyes were full of glee. We were in grade school, passing notes and spying on boys. Diana checked on her cleavage, stopped herself from hiding most of it, and then took my hand to pulled me from the booth. We danced, slowly maneuvering closer to our target. He was handsome, I decided. Broad, thick shoulders and big eyes. He glanced at me but watched Diana closely. She was sexy, dancing full of joy and abandon. I made sure we sank the hook deep and then led her back to our booth. From the corner of my eye I saw him collect his drink and head our way.

"Hello ladies," he began.

"Have a seat," Diana said cheerfully, not at all understanding how it works between men and women. "Let's talk."

"All right," he chuckled.

His name was Raymond and he was a vice cop. He was investigating complaints about underage drinking at Poetry. He even showed us his badge and gun. He was funny and a good conversationalist and he seemed truly interested in Diana. We admitted we were married, and I worried that would kill our moment, but he sailed right on by the fact, talking us up and flirting anyway. I found myself becoming attracted to him too. We had to shout over the music and it was getting old.

"There's a lounge on the top floor of this building," he said, reading my expression. "How about we move our party there?"

Ten minutes later we settled into a plush leather booth overlooking the city. The view was fantastic. A balcony ran around all four sides of the bar and after a moment Ray offered to accompany Diana if she wanted to see the view. I caught the subtle disinvitation and said I wanted to rest my feet right here. They left together and he took her hand after a few steps. Her heart had to be pounding.

I sent Robert a text that we were having fun and all was well and he responded with a stay if you'd like. I turned to watch Diana through the smoky tinted glass, bodies were blurred and distorted. They'd circled around to the far side to be alone. She stood against the railing, Ray behind her, an arm to each side. His head tilted as kissed the nape of her neck. Diana must be going crazy. Their fuzzy outline merged into one dark shape. Her arm separated to circle behind his neck. I wondered if his hands had slipped under her arms and now cupped her breasts. Would she go that far? Would she let Ray touch her like that?

I smiled.

The outline of their bodies moved again and I decided to sneak a peek. I stayed inside but moved to the far corner where a single pane of clear glass ran from floor to ceiling. I pretended to check out the view but by leaning a bit I could see a few feet down the balcony.

Diana's top was open in front, her naked breasts bared to the city below. A warm breeze stirred her hair. Her eyes were huge and her bare chest heaved as she gazed at the nighttime cityscape, head resting on Ray's chest, lips parted.

Diana's skirt rested atop her ass.

Ray's hips moved rhythmically in small, slow, irresistible strokes. He nibbled her neck. His rough strong hands gripped the rail, steadying her.

In the bathroom, my girl had removed her panties along with her camisoles.

Ray was fucking her from behind where they stood.

It was one of the sexiest things I'd ever seen.

Diana rested her hands on Ray's and closed her eyes. Her face scrunched. Her back bowed but Ray's arms acted like guiderails, keeping her standing. Her muffled cries reached me, drifting on the wind. Diana was cumming, fucked behind by a stranger. Ray held a steady pace, face frozen, body stiff. Diana was turning to rubber, trapped between him and the railing. He spooned her even closer, thrusting faster now that she was coming down. He buried his face in her neck and his hips jerked and the man pumped cum into my friend. Months ago I would have felt protective and outraged. Now it made me horny. I absorbed every detail in slow motion. What would Mitch do? Would Diana keep this secret from him? Ray slowed as his balls emptied. Diana carried his load now. Ray he given it to her. Their raw and spontaneous passion turned me on.

Ray regained his composure and realized how exposed they were. He tucked his dick away with one hand while supporting Diana with the other. She took longer to calm herself. He smoothed her skirt and spooned her again, kissing her ear and shoulder. She turned inside his arms, facing him, boldly holding his head and kissing his mouth. My girl was on fire. I glanced around the dim lounge. Nobody had noticed a thing. I grabbed my drink and wandered onto the balcony.

They stood side by side when I turned the corner, bumping shoulders like lovers. Diana boldly maintained the touch when she saw me.

Our eyes met and I grinned. I took the open spot beside Ray and grinned at him too.

"It's late," I said.

Their face sagged, disappointed.

"Maybe we should all get a room here?" I finished.

Ray looked quickly at Diana who gave a single nod.

"Wait here," he said.

He left.

"I saw what you did," I told Diana.

"Do you hate me?" she whined, ready for my judgement.

"Of course not."

"It just happened," she emphasized, talking fast. "He was behind me and I felt something hard poking my butt so I reached around and it was his penis. Hayley, his dick was already hard! I didn't need to do anything. Mitch always takes time to get hard. I wonder sometimes if I turn him on at all. Ray's penis was carved from glass. I squeezed it but couldn't dent the thing. I got excited because he was so stiff. I felt so desired. He said he would slid between my legs but I warned him to be careful because I'd removed my panties. He flipped my skirt up and eased between my thighs."

She scanned the balcony quickly.

"He sawed back and forth a little but then his dick caught my opening and slipped in. I let it happen. Hayley, he fucked me and I came!"

"I saw."

Her body turned to rubber for an instant and then she straightened.

"This is insane," she rasped. "He came too. Inside me!"

"I saw that."

She got suddenly thoughtful.

"Are we going to a hotel room with him?"

"Yes," I answered.

"Are you going to do sex stuff to me?"

I laughed out loud.

"No," I assured her. "That would change our friendship. But I'll help you do sex stuff with Ray."

"Ray already came," she said, looking sad.

"Baby," I said. "Men can go more than once a night. Let's get him in bed and play with his cock. Every man wants two women at the same time. A guy like Ray, with a little time to recover, can probably cum three or four times in a night. If he returns with a hotel key, you're going to have a lot more sex with that man."

She got thoughtful again.

"Have you ever cheated on Robert?" she asked.

"Yes," I admitted. "But only recently."

She relaxed.

"Thanks for being honest," she said. "We'll make this our little secret, right? Slutty best friends?"

"That's right."

"Who did you cheat with?"

I watched her face. She was curious but not judgmental.

"A client from the clinic," I said. "A few days ago. Maybe a week. A gorgeous young black man named Jon."

Her eyes turned into dinner plates.

"Holy shit!" she rasped. "Black?"

"Yeah. You should see him, Diana. You'd melt. It was hot and intense and lasted hours. He's so beautiful."

She imagined sex with a black man. I saw it on her face. Curiosity turned to desire which became wicked hunger. I made a mental note to introduce Jon.

"Does Robert know?" she asked.

"Not exactly. I kind of danced around the truth. Robert likes it when I talk nasty in bed. He wants to hear sexy made-up stories. That story happened to be mostly truth."

"Should I tell Mitch?"

"I seriously doubt it," I said. "Mitch has encouraged you to play the flirting game so I say stick with that a while. Keep pushing the envelope to see how Mitch feels. If you get him to tell you to do more, you can make him think it was all his idea."

Footsteps made us turn. Ray. He wiggled a room key, beaming.

"Text Mitch," I told Diana. "Tell him you're spending the night with me."

"Okay," she said, fumbling for her phone.

I sent Robert a text telling him if anyone asks, especially Mitch, Diana spent the night with us after drinking too much. He fired back a quick, "Understood," followed with "I expect a story."

"You'll get one," I promised.

Chapter 13

I gripped Ray's cock at the hairy base, holding him up between my face and Diana's. She was right, he was big. Mostly he was thick, thicker even than Jon. He was only a little longer than Robert.

"How does that compare to Mitch?" I asked.

She rolled her eyes.

"No comparison," she giggled. "I love him but Mitch is not very big."

I looked at Ray.

"You're bigger than our husbands," I said, watching a proud smile spread. "Diana has little experience. May I use you to teach her things?"

What man would say no?

"Please," he chuckled. "Take all the time you need."

He propped a pillow under his head, watching us.

The room was spacious and lovely, the bathroom huge. We'd showered together and then climbed into bed naked.

Yoga had worked wonders on Diana; her legs were long and strong, her arms toned. Her ass looked fantastic and her tits were perfect. I'd directed Ray to get comfortable and then laid with my face near his crotch. Diana joined me down there, grinning like a goofy kid.

"Watch me suck Ray's dick," I said. "Then you can try."

"Okay."

I started at his hairy balls, painting my tongue all over them, working up his shaft to the head. I engulfed the helmet and eased my lips down the shaft, slowly consuming inch after inch. Ray moaned. I had to stop an inch or two shy of taking the whole thing. He was too thick. I sucked hard and raked his balls with my nails.

Diana, too excited to wait, abruptly leaned in and sucked his sack into her mouth.

So much for my teaching lesson.

She rolled his testicles around. I tried to force the rest of him in. I got half.

"Jesus Christ!" he gasped.

I decided Diana was on her own. I wanted to suck cock. I slurped and nibbled, whipping my tongue around that column of meat while Diana slathered his balls. The hair matted with saliva but we didn't care. We were there to be nasty. I held her head and pushed his cock into her mouth with my tongue. She tried to swallow all his shaft like I had, and I was pleased to see she took less than me. I licked his balls, dragging my fingernails as I went. We had his dick throbbing and hard as iron. Ray watched in amazement.

"Do you eat pussy, Ray?" I asked.

"Hell yeah."

I met Diana's stare. She turned frightened.

"Diana's never had her pussy eaten, Ray. You want to do the honors?"

"I'd give my right arm," he said, holding out his hands.

Diana trembled all over.

"Put your knees by my ears," he instructed. "Kneel over my face and then lower your pretty cunt to my mouth."

Ray's use of the C word hit her hard but she liked it. She took his hands and moved over him, straddling his face and moving into position. She kept her slit bald for Mitch so I saw the moment Ray's tongue touched her labia. Diana sucked a bushel of air and held it.

"Ohhhhhh myyyyyy Gawddddd," she whined.

"Nice, right?" I asked.

Her face scrunched in that classic Diana way. This was going to be fun. Now that she was far enough forward, I tossed a leg over Ray and held his cock. I aimed him at my cheating pussy and sank onto his barrel thickness. Right away I discovered why Diana had cum so fast on the balcony. Girth is a gift from God. Or the Devil. I don't know which but I do know that thick shaft rubbed me in all the right places, including my clit all the way down.

I'd suspected Ray would turn out to be a stud but he exceeded my expectations. We spent hours having sex. Either Diana naturally came easily or the woman had years of stored sexual frustration, or both, because that girl became an orgasm factory. Her cries of pleasure awakened us all. Ray withheld his load and it had to be tough. He stayed hard the entire time we used him.

He was fucking Diana in a reverse-cowgirl, their knees wide, his pink cock sliding in and out, when I wiggled between their legs and licked Diana's pussy. I'd told her I wouldn't but I did. I tasted Ray's sperm from earlier and it excited me. Her eyes went wide and even Ray stopped for a moment.

I licked again, taking care to start far down his cock. He got the hint and began fucking her as my tongue reached her clitoris. What could she do? Either you freak out and jump out of bed or you roll with it.

She rolled with it.

The orgasm we gave her convinced the woman she'd made the right choice. After that we were all over each other like we were all over Ray. The night turned into a free-for-all. Diana and I sixty-nined and Ray moved from woman to woman, fucking us both. I gobbled her perfect tits and she devoured mine. We kissed as a group. Diana's sexual education had turned out to be a crash-course.

She wanted him to cum in her again but I argued that wasn't fair. Ray settled it by announcing he'd have one more in him after this. I pulled him deep when he started shooting and held him there.

Two hours later he pumped another load into Diana.

Chapter 14

We crept in on bare feet, shoes in hand. I put exhausted Diana in the spare bedroom and slipped naked in bed next to Robert. I wasn't careful. I hoped to wake him. He wasn't sleeping. He rolled over, hand sliding up my tummy to cup my breast. He gently squeezed. He softly kissed my shoulder and then trailed kisses down my arm. I gasped as his head disappeared under the covers. I moaned as his tongue found my slick cunt.

Nothing makes a wife feel loved more than a husband willing and eager to eat her faithless pussy.

I wondered if we'd ever have a talk that established, in stark terms, exactly what I was doing with other men. Did his suspicion add a heightened eroticism for Robert? Maybe we'd never talk about it. Maybe he enjoyed the mix of fantasy and fact, happy to never shine a bright light on this part of our marriage. Fine with me.

His hot tongue was a snake coiling around my clit. I was raw and tender from hours with Diana and Ray, but I parted my legs to give him access. I know what he found down there and sweet Jesus did his hunger turn me on. He eats me best after I've fucked someone else. I think finding the evidence of my infidelity heated him from the inside. I pawed a tit with one hand and gripped the back of his head with the other, holding him and his wonderful tongue right where I wanted them. My man can eat pussy. I was going to cum again.

Robert stopped licking, throwing the bedspread off his head.

"Tell me," he rasped.

I did not hesitate.

"His name is Ray," I said. "He fucked Diana first, then me, then Diana again. His cock was thick, Baby, thick like a beer can, anchored by big balls."

Robert groaned, licking slowly now, drawing out the moment.

"I ate her pussy while he fucked her and she came soooo hard. Mitch doesn't eat pussy. Ray was her first. It was beautiful."

"Did he cum in you?" he whispered, voice strained, fearing the truth but craving it anyway. He already knew but wanted to hear me say it.

"A fucking gallon," I moaned. "Those weighty balls were heavy with syrup."

This bizarre ritual we'd stumbled upon drove us both crazy. Robert wasn't certain what was real and what was made up but all of it turned him on. My messy pussy told him something had happened. Anything I said could be true.

Robert zeroed in on my clit and I gasped and grabbed handfuls of sheet. My pussy nerves were taut and rattled and every sensation was amplified. I lifted my hips to help him feast, marveling at his decadent appetite. All those years of marriage and I never knew this about my man; he's a sexual freak. I gazed down at his face between my legs and watched him eagerly lap my mingled juices. He met my eyes and opened his mouth to show me the tongue that tortured me. His arm began to move in that distinctive way that told me he was jacking off. Someday I'll figure out why it turns me on so much when he does that but for now it was all I could take. I clamped my thighs around his head and fatigued muscles clenched and trembled. I orgasmed slow but hard, forcing spurts of liquid down his throat. He ate until my nerves turned raw and pleasure began to shift towards pain. I pushed his mouth away.

He emerged from the bedspread, stiff, masturbating fiercely. He moved closer and then began shooting cum all over the outside of my pussy and inner thighs. He must have been saving that load for days, maybe playing with himself while I was out with Diana, fantasizing about his slutty wife. Gobs rained down, hot where they landed, spraying all over my crotch.

I remembered a recent idea.

"Lick it up," I murmured. "Clean your load off my cheating pussy."

He did!

Tentative, at first, like I'd taken us somewhere he'd never imagined, then faster, getting into it, tongue-bathing me until my skin gleamed. I was exhausted but in that moment desperately wanted to fuck him.

"I wish you were hard," I mumbled. "I want another dick inside me."

He spooned me. We snuggled and fell asleep.

Chapter 15

I was distracted at work all day. I'd worried sex with Diana would change our relationship, and I was right, but not in the way I expected. She texted after I signed in, suggesting we go out to a club again. I told her that sounded great.

She said Mitch had asked a few gently probing questions when she got home, growing more excited with each answer. Finally, he led her to his home office. She said he opened a folder of porn he'd saved, revealing megabytes of cheating wife fantasy material. He kept stories and videos and pictures of Hotwife, Vixen-Stag, and Cuckold situations, explaining what each was. Diana browsed, asking questions and gaining confidence. After that she'd confessed every detail about Ray and the sex she had, including the sex she had with me. I was upset she'd done that without talking to me first, but as the day wore on I got hot. Mitch, like Robert, must be dying on the inside, and that turned me on.

I was so distracted, in fact, after I put a client into the Void I forgot about him. I sat in the staff room sipping a soda and reminiscing about the last few weeks. By the time I remembered the poor man, his inflated cock was about three inches longer and two inches thicker. He was thrilled. I never mentioned my error but I checked him out thoroughly, even having him use the bathroom to make sure he could pee. Everything worked fine. He left happy.

After that I took lunch and sat in my car. An idea had formed and I wanted to consider every angle. I left my car and went to Doctor Maynard's office and knocked on his door. He told me to come in. Twenty minutes later I left with a raise and a promotion and a directive to explore my idea further.

If men are willing to return every four to six weeks for a shot of testosterone, they would be willing to come back for a session in the Void. We can make their dicks longer and fuller and all they need to do is keep coming back. I was to explore the medical ramifications and make recommendations on how often they can enjoy the service, but I'd tapped into a new revenue stream for our office. Doctor Maynard had placed me in charge. I'd requested and received Doris as my assistant.

I dropped in front of the main computer and selected the Past Clients tab. What a goldmine. I started a rough draft for the first email campaign and imagined all those men parading through our office. My pussy tingled. Doris peeked over my shoulder.

"That's a lot of dicks," she muttered.

We giggled. I saw the name Edgar Reece scroll by and shivered a little. He was good-looking with a nice body. Give him a few sessions in the machine and he'd be a god. The fact he worked with Robert would provide fertile ground for sexy torment. I pictured Robert sitting in a meeting with Edgar, knowing I'd handled the man's penis. Robert would ache, but in a good way.

I spent hours polishing the first batch of emails before hitting send. It was exciting to create something telling men their dicks could be bigger, and knowing it was true. I expected a good response.

At home, I told Robert about my idea. He was intrigued. I mentioned Edgar's name appeared on the email list and he got quiet for a minute.

"That's intense," he muttered. "Unsettling, but intense."

I saw uncertainty in his eyes but he offered no resistance. The idea crippled him but turned him on. That was the mind-bending part. Robert wasn't passively allowing me to run wild. He was actively hoping I would. It tore him up inside but his yearning to see what I'd do was stronger. I couldn't hope to understand the male brain but did I need to?

"So this procedure?" he croaked. "Does it work?"

"Yes."

"You'll make Edgar bigger?"

"Yes. Significantly."

"You've...handled...him. How do I compare?"

"He's bigger than you."

"Now? Before the procedure?"

"Yes."

Robert groaned. My husband felt I belonged to him. If Edgar fucked me, I'd belong to Edgar. Men are funny like that.

"Should I test his new dick, Baby?" I purred. "Should I confirm everything works?"

My husband imagined Edgar fucking me. I saw it in his eyes. The conflict tore him apart. Robert loved the idea of me and a big cock, but hated the cock attached to a man he knew and worked with daily. Robert would continue working with the man fully aware that man had fucked me. Robert whimpered and I knew what it meant.

"Stand up," I said. "Undress."

He hesitated, worried, but did as I asked. Moments later his naked body stood before me.

"You like my sexual aggression," I said. He nodded. "But in a way, that means I'm doing this to you and not with you. You get to hide behind your wild wife and never share the guilt. I know that you like me doing this to you, but that's not fair to me. I'll do it, because I'm loving all this, but it's not fair. I want to make sure you understand that."

He swallowed hard.

I knelt, his penis inches from my face. He felt my hot breath.

"I'll lock the door when I get Edgar alone and show him my tits. He looks at them every Christmas party and company barbeque we attend. He thinks he's sly but I catch him every time. When I get him alone I'll pull my top off and let him stare, like this."

I tugged my shirt over my head. Robert gawked at my breasts, eyes big.

"He'll be nervous, because you're my husband, so I'll lean over and let him suck. That will make his cock grow."

Robert's penis twitched and rolled slowly to the side. The head began to expand. I was getting to him.

"I'll feed him both nipples," I said. "I'd like to see his handsome face feeding on me. I'll caress his dick, showing him this session will be far different from our first. Do you think he'll resist out of respect for you? I don't. Men take every opportunity. Hard dick has no conscience. He'll fuck me and worry about repercussions later."

Robert groaned again. He knew it was true. I felt powerful and free. I never could have imagined all this weeks ago. How did we get here? Perhaps Robert's comfort with my job should have made me suspicious, but it didn't. Could I have started this nefarious life months ago? Years?

I watched Robert's penis fill with blood and had a sudden flash of insight.

"You've been jacking off," I accused. "You've been fantasizing about what I do for work. How long? When did you start?"

He looked caught.

"Since your first day," he said, his voice strained with excitement. "You came home and shared everything and I couldn't believe it. Every word you spoke excited me. I told no one, none of the guys from the bank and especially not you."

"I'm your wife. You should have told me."

"No way. No wife would want to hear that. I felt like a freak."

That made sense. He was right. At that time, I wouldn't have been ready to hear him. How alone he must have felt, how isolated. We'd lost years of playful sexual intimacy but there was no point in remorse. At least we were here now. I was going to make the most of it.

"I'll get Edgar hard," I continued. "I'll guide his erection into the vacuum machine but I won't let him orgasm in there like the others. No sir. I'll pump him nice and fat and long and then I'll take him out and slip him into my pussy. Should I let him cum inside me? Should I stop by your office after, Baby? Should I show you my smiling face and let you see the truth in my eyes?"

Jesus. Robert's penis had risen to stand upright. His dick strained to grow harder than ever. Nothing he said could convince me he wanted me to cheat as much as that pulsating dick. He could order me to fuck Edgar and still I'd have doubts but that throbbing dick convinced me.

I allowed my mind to wander, narrating fantasies of what I would do to Edgar but never touching my husband. Precum bubbled up and drooled from the tip like a leaky faucet. A long strand of silver fluid hung to the floor, dotted with little globs of escaped semen. His balls were swollen and tight. If I touched him he'd spurt but that would end our moment and this was too much fun. He obviously loved the torment.

Just for fun, I decided to leave him like that.

"Ready for bed?" I asked, to his dismay. I pointed at his erection. "I want to watch you take care of that. You've been jerking off for years behind my back, fantasizing about me and the men that come to my office. Tonight, you'll put on a show, jerking off as I watch."

He nodded. He wanted to say more but didn't, retreating to the bedroom with me. He watched me get comfortable and then found his voice at last.

"Don't get pregnant," he murmured.

I laughed.

"Baby, Edgar's been through our vasectomy program, remember? He's snipped. No worries there. The man shoots blanks."

Robert looked relieved but also strangely disappointed. I pointed to the bed.

"On your back," I said. "Start stroking."

He was still hard from the kitchen. I think he was looking forward to masturbating for me. He climbed on the bed and closed his eyes, wrapping his fingers and licking his lips. His dick head rested atop his fist. He opened his eyes to slits to ensure I was watching and then began to jack off.

Chapter 16

I expected great things from our email campaign, but I got buried. Almost every man responded, wanting to know if it was true. Doctor Maynard's reputation made them take my email seriously. I explained the results would be technically temporary but well-timed follow-up visits would prevent the tissue from returning to normal. The gains would seem permanent.

Our webpage got so busy it crashed.

Each morning I checked the list to see who signed up. I subtracted their name from the main list and continued to drip emails on the rest.

Ten days later, Edgar made an appointment. I shivered with delight. I was the Wizard, hidden behind a curtain, pulling levers and flipping switches, making things happen. I'd drawn Edgar into my web and he had no idea. I felt like a she-panther stalking my next victim. After Edgar, who knew? I was free to hunt any man I wanted.

"Are you okay?" Doris asked.

I laughed and shook myself.

"Yes," I said. "Just imagining all the work we'll need to do."

Doris looked skeptical.

"Bullshit," she said. "I saw your face. You were imagining all those naked men." She looked at my monitor, running her eyes over the list. "Do you know any of the sign-ups? You seemed to freeze looking at one of the names."

I pointed at Edgar.

"Him," I admitted. "Handsome. Smart. Hot body."

She grinned, leaning in to see his appointment day and time.

"I'm working that shift," she said. "I'll cover for you so take your time. I'll let you know when you can return the favor."

"Deal."

We grinned stupidly at each other. Kids in a candy store. Two horny women suddenly presented with an unlimited supply of unsuspecting men.

"This is going to be fun," Doris said. "But our husbands can never find out."

Chapter 17

Doris put Edgar in the procedure room, closed the door, and told me he was waiting. My palms were sweaty but my mouth dry. This man worked with my husband. What would happen to their relationship? What was I about to do to both their lives?

I plucked surgical gloves from the box and headed down the hall, but stopped outside his door. Skip gloves this time? Unprofessional, but so what?

I stuffed them in my pocket and entered his room.

Edgar sat on the modified dentist chair, reading a poster about testosterone treatment. He stood when I entered and offered a hand, which I shook. His eyes skillfully darted to my breasts and back.

"Great to see you again, Hayley," he gushed. "Beautiful as always."

I'm not beautiful, at least I don't think so, but my epic boobs make a lot of men think I am.

"You too, Edgar," I said, smiling.

"You can call me Eddie, if you'd like," he said.

"All right, Eddie." I waved a hand towards the seat. "Please disrobe and get comfortable on the chair."

He took a heartbeat to realize I meant strip in front of me but then he started on his buttons. He hurried. I enjoyed our power disparity; me, fully clothed and watching, him, rushing to comply with my command. He'd been working out since I saw him last and was now leaner and cut.

"Tennis?" I asked.

"Hiking," he replied, understanding my question.

At last his socks and underwear joined the pile. He kept his pubes trimmed close. His balls hung way low, like hard-boiled eggs in a sock, looking plump and substantial. He quickly climbed onto the chair and placed his heels in the stirrups.

I was cool and aloof on the outside but my hands trembled. The man was so attractive! I swung the stirrups wide, acting nonchalant, and asked him about work and where he goes hiking, making small talk while I relished my power over him. Do men feel like this when they finally get a woman in bed?

I lifted the two tubes and rattled off my spiel about how things would go. He only half listened. I'd intentionally selected a thin, pale blue top and dark blue skirt for work today and his eyes kept gliding over my body. My nipples were soft but he could see the hint of twin bumps.

I drew the gloves on for the high-powered Nair we used and smeared the paste all over his crotch. We chatted like I was merely filing his nails.

"This cream will need to sit for a while," I reminded him. "I'll be back soon."

I left his room and found Doris at the computer. She asked how it was going the instant she saw me.

"He's even more attractive than I remember," I said. "He's been working out and looks great."

We chatted while we waited and then I returned to Edgar, casually but quietly locking the door behind me. I tested a small area above the base of his shaft and the hair came away cleanly.

"We're ready," I said, grabbing a clean white cloth, wetting it, and wiping away wide swaths of lotion. He's not a hairy man so the ointment left his skin smooth and glowing. I wiped every drop and stood back to admire my work. He shifted uncomfortably as I stared at his naked cock and balls. I let him squirm. I stripped my gloves and dropped them in the bio-trash.

"How's Robert?" he asked awkwardly.

"Wonderful," I said, lifting his scrotum with my bare palm. "We celebrate twelve years next week."

"Congratulations."

His mouth was dry too. I turned his bald ball sack left and right, pretending to examine him. I leaned close, close enough he felt my hot breath. He gasped a little. I moved his shaft out of my way, flopping the thing up against his stomach. He exhaled slowly. I continued my pretend exam then froze, spotting two small scars at the bottom of his scrotum. I spread the skin.

"That feels good," he mumbled.

I examined the scars closely and quickly.

"Edgar?" I asked. "Did you have our procedure reversed?"

"Yeah," he admitted. "I dated a girl and we talked about having kids. I had the doctors reconnect me but then the girl and I started to argue all the time. We broke up but I never came back to have your procedure again. I need to do that."

Good God. Edgar was virile and reproductive again. Suddenly his harmless dick had an aura of menace, like merely handling the thing could get me pregnant. I'd never felt that way about other clients. Edgar was a threat. His connection to Robert gave him the power to introduce chaos into our orderly lives. I'll never see Ray again. Sex with Edgar now had huge complications. A heartbeat later I realized that made him even more exciting. The risk sent my blood pumping.

I plucked the lubricant from the tray and oiled my bare palms. I gripped his shaft with one hand and his scrotum with the other. I moved in opposing circles, spreading the lube and making him moan. He began to swell, closing his eyes and resting his head on the cushion.

The penis is a marvel of nature. I'm fascinated by them. His was especially pretty so I took my time, enjoying the effect I had on him. The mushroom cap expanded and flared, the hanging balls lifted almost to the base. Veins rose along the length, giving the whole thing a pulsing vitality.

I sighed and settled my mouth over the head. He jumped, instantly recognizing the sensation. His eyes fixed on mine and he groaned. I sucked gently, circled the crown with my tongue. I had his dick at last. He gripped the arms of the chair so hard they creaked. I placed the tip of my tongue at his pee hole and wiggled in as far as I could, a classic Hayley dick-sucking move.

"Fuck," he softly grunted. "Jesus."

I scooped his balls in my palm and gently pulled, drawing the entire sack away from his body. I stretched his skin, reached the end of the elasticity, and kept pulling. I moved the circle of my sealed lips farther down his shaft, tickling the back of my throat.

I was in total control.

He engorged quickly, blood pumping past my tight lips. I felt him expand inside my mouth and I loved it. I sucked and tugged until I'd made him hard as steel. His gasps and moans turned my pussy wet. I forced my mouth lower, taking as many inches as I could, and then held him there, the heat from my mouth cooking him. I savored the strong throb against my tongue, the pulse of blood through his veins.

He'd never forget this blowjob.

I inhaled deeply through my nose and then forced myself lower still, nudging tonsils, straightening my neck to guide him into my throat. His body went rigid. Maybe an inch of shaft remained. I held myself still, allowing him time to memorize his cock in my mouth. Honestly, the soft beating of his heart through his cock drenched me. I wanted to fuck him right then but he'd paid for a service and I was determined he would leave our offices satisfied. I relaxed my throat to swaddle his inches, then swallowed, massaging his cock with all the hot wet flesh surrounding him.

"God DAMN," he rumbled. "That's incredible."

I stayed long enough to memorize the sensation of him lodged in my throat. I enjoy blowjobs as much as the man receiving one. I drew air again and then I slowly worked my mouth backward, sucking as I went, leaving his firm saliva-covered erection waving in the open air. He sparkled like glass.

"Holy shit," he breathed. "Hayley, that was amazing."

"There's more," I said, brash. "Just lie there and enjoy it."

I pulled the swinging arm of the Void over his lap and lowered the chamber. I positioned the straps up and down his stiff cock, circling his balls and accentuating the head, and then punched the right buttons and turned the right dials. I nestled the vacuum chamber into place around his throbbing cock. The seal took with a strong snap, clamping around his shaft. He'd be in there longer than a vasectomy patient so I did not activate the vibration feature.

"I'll be back," I said.

He collapsed onto the chair.

Doris studied me like a hawk as I entered the computer room. I wiped my lips with a finger. Her eyes got big.

"Did you swallow him?" she asked.

"No, he's getting treatment. I'll go back in thirty and swallow him then."

We both laughed. Nasty bitches.

When I returned, Edgar writhed on the chair. His arched back lifted his ass off the plastic sheet. The machine's tight vacuum had him twice his usual size and covered with dark prominent veins. Most of the size would fade but not for a long time. His pants and underwear would fit snugly. He'd feel extra thick as he held his dick to pee. He'd shower at the gym, showing off. He'd shop for clothes and expose his bulge to the salesgirl. He'd wear tighter pants to work. One by one all the women in his life would notice. Robert would see his bulge too.

Edgar saw me and smiled weakly.

"This thing is fantastic," he muttered.

"Just think," I said. "You'll be back in three weeks."

His head fell to the side as he groaned. I started the unwind process, gradually relieving the vacuum and preparing to remove his cock from the device. The cylinder came off with a soft pop. His bloated cock swayed in the open air like a cobra, the head now slightly too big for the shaft. His taut skin gleamed. I swung the arm wide. He tentatively reached for his new organ, amazed and thrilled. His fingers circled the shaft and he stroked once, disbelieving. He stroked again and looked at me.

"Wow," he said, grinning.

I kicked my stool closer, climbing onto the chair and lifting my skirt, aiming that ludicrous pillar of red meat at my pussy.

"Fuck yesss," he hissed.

The wide head smothered my hole, covering my labia. I sat, my body weight plunging half his obscene cock up my tunnel. We both groaned loudly. His bloated penis stretched my pussy in every direction, dragging over every nerve ending I had. I covered my mouth with one hand and steadied myself with the other. Thank God I'd remembered to lock the door on my way in. His head fell back. The Void left his skin wildly sensitive and my tight pussy drove him insane. His expression was pure shock and amazement. I was thrilled to have Edgar inside me but I was also enthralled by this oversized dick. My brain knew he was artificially inflated, but that didn't matter. All I saw was rampant masculinity. This spire screamed manliness, this red and throbbing stake was the ultimate symbol of manhood.

I felt stuffed with cock. He reached far up inside me. I worked my hips slowly, biting my lip and squeezing my eyes shut. The pleasure was intense. Edgar was paralyzed, lightly resting his hands on my hips and staring wide-eyed. I pulled my top off, revealing my lovely tits.

"Oh dear God," he moaned.

I pushed him deeper and he sucked air. My pussy ballooned. He was as big as a store-bought dildo but this was real, hot, pulsing penis. I worked my hips, riding him up and down. Excruciating pleasure ripped through me in waves. Thank god I was soaked.

"It's too much," he pleaded. "I can't hold back."

"Then cum in me," I said.

"Seriously?" he gasped. "Ohmygod..."

I pumped faster, eager now that he was close. I wanted it. I wanted to feel that massive beef tube explode. I love feeling a man cum inside me. Nothing makes me feel as womanly. I rode him hard, playing with my tits, clenching my walls around his inches. He groaned like he was dying.

His entire body snapped rigid and that fleshy horn buried in my guys spewed forth steaming magma, flooding my juicy cunt with sperm. Edgar groaned again, hips bucking, balls pumping. He was gushing semen and I captured it all. The chair groaned along with us and I covered his mouth with my hand, pushing him all the way in and rotating my cunt around the base. His muffled groan thrilled me. His cock shot again and again and again and I hissed at him to fill me, to give me all he had.

Finally, he collapsed. I stayed atop the man, waiting for his spent penis to deflate, but because of his time in the Void he only softened a little. I pulled myself off his spongy shaft and swung my legs free. Sperm ran down both inner thighs. I dabbed myself and wiped him down too, sucking the last drops from his twitching cock.

"Dress whenever you'd like," I said. "See you in three weeks."

He couldn't even wave and I loved that. I would text my husband the moment Edgar left, telling him what I'd done. Knowing I carried Edgar inside me would drive him insane. Robert's work day was shot. When he finally got home, I'd induce him to throw me down and eat me, taking me back the best he knew how. I mean seriously, what would be the point of Robert fucking me after I'd had a cock like Edgar's?

Chapter 18

"Repaired?" Robert asked, skeptical.

"Yes," I said, slowly spreading my legs.

I leaned against our headboard, languidly stretched out atop the duvet. I used two fingers to further open myself, showing my husband my glittering inner lips. Semen leaked from my hole.

"I noticed scars on his scrotum and asked. I was wrong when I told you Edgar was safe because he been snipped. He'd got himself repaired."

Robert stared at my pussy. I watched the conflict play across his face. He was desperate to eat me but this was no stranger's cum, this was no faceless patient of mine. He'd be eating Edgar hot from my cheating slit. What would work be like for them tomorrow? How could Robert face Edgar? Bad enough the man had fucked his wife, but to lick her cheating pussy after? Yes, only Robert and I would know of this additional humiliation, but that reduced the sting only a little.

I spread my legs wider.

I don't pretend to understand what fucking a woman means to a man. Between men, I think it conveys ownership. At this moment, I was Edgar's. How maddening that must be for Robert. I spread my legs wider and slipped a finger inside, then showed it to my husband, displaying the shiny, slippery coating.

"He shot me full," I teased. "He came so much."

Robert groaned in anguish and fell onto our bed. He crawled closer and covered my pussy with his mouth. I sighed. Such a lucky girl.

Edgar had been one of the hottest things I've ever done but I hadn't climaxed and I was dying. My hips, my pelvis, my entire body, ached with need.

"Take your dick out," I panted, rolling my hips against his probing tongue. "Jerk off. Masturbate for me. I want to see your hard dick."

Robert shuffled around, shedding his clothes without pulling his tongue out. I held his head firmly and watched him take his erection in hand.

"I was going to blow him," I said. "But he came out of the machine so big and beautiful I was fucking him before I realized it. I was drawn to him, Robert. I needed him inside. I milked his cock."

My husband stroked faster.

"Do you want to add your sperm to his?" I asked.

I knew he'd refuse before I asked. We both enjoyed the knowledge another man filled me alone. He grunted no.

Robert's face showed so much torment. We were so far down the rabbit hole. Was I permitted to do anything I wished? My poor hubby looked tortured but we'd learned by now the greater his suffering, the greater his arousal. I sat up on my elbows to watch him jack off.

Robert attacked my cunt, whipping his tongue around, licking my tender inner labia and sucking my clit. He rose to his knees, showing me his stroking hand. He cupped his free hand at the tip, preparing to shoot, saving our expensive bedspread from stain. He looked so erotic, eating my used pussy, ready to catch his sperm so it touched nothing.

If men own the women they've fucked, Edgar was about to dominate my husband in the biggest and most primal way possible. Should I tell Eddie the next time I saw him? Should I let him know how complete his victory was?

I stared at my husband, his hand pumping fast. I watched Robert masturbate and felt the first tingling of climax. I would remain Edgar's alone tonight. Robert's sperm would be wasted to memorialize that decadent truth.

I moaned, thrilled I belonged to another man while remaining married to this one. What a slut. I heard Robert groan and knew he was blasting jets of hot semen into his open palm. That was the last straw. I let my climax roar through me, washing me with waves of pleasure. Robert grunted with each contraction, spilling more jizz, emptying his balls in his hand, as lost in this new fantasy life as me.

My climax subsided and I lay flat and dizzy, smiling, eyes closed. Robert moved and I opened them. He stood beside the bed, gazing upon his nasty wife, holding one hand under the other to prevent spilling his wasted seed. I gently pulled his wrists lower, lapping at the pooled sperm like a kitten. He kissed me fiercely, driving his tongue into my mouth, swirling it. We tasted Edgar and Robert mixed. I wondered how my husband felt about that.

Chapter 19

Diana looked stunning. Her dress was a shapeless sparkly bell, hanging from her shoulders by two silvery threads, but it was incredibly short, displaying her legs all the way up and flashing ass cheek if she moved too fast. The individual sequins were stitched together and in bright light the body beneath shined through. The loose fabric clung to her tits and ass, revealing her womanly shape. We'd only been at the party an hour but I'd seen several men do double-takes. She caught the eye. Her hair and makeup were perfect.

Jon was her date, as Edgar was mine. Our husbands, Mitch and Robert, were with us, but hanging back, moving through the crowd in our wake, close, but not close enough to hold our hands. That honor went to Jon and Edgar. What a way for our husbands to meet. Mitch looked proud. Robert looked flustered.

Robert had freaked when I'd first explained Jon's invite. I made clear this was no frat house bacchanal, but a collection of top student athletes, male and female, along with various recruiters, scouts, and sponsors. Jon thought having an older woman as his date would lend stability and maturity to his image. I suggested two older women would be better than one.

I enjoyed watching confusion dance across the faces of so many. When they saw Diana and me with Jon and Edgar they thought nothing of it. Then they noticed our husbands. Their eyes would dart to wedding rings and they'd quickly do the math.

I've never seen so many attractive young men in one place before. Women too. The bodies surrounding us were gorgeous. The athletes wore tight, form-fitting Spandex. If you want to win a contract with Nike or Adidas or Gatorade, you better show what you have. They'll be investing a lot of money in your promotion.

Diana kept turning to look at Jon, clinging to his arm like a smitten girlfriend. She hung on every word the handsome stud said. Earlier in the evening Mitch had erroneously assumed Jon, being my patient, had been snipped. I corrected him of that conclusion.

"Afraid not," I'd whispered. "The man won't sit still long enough. Jon's balls are jam-packed with semen. Diana will get it all."

Mitch had shuddered, aroused.

We all floated from room to room around the big house, shaking hands and socializing. I caught Robert scrutinizing Edgar and smiled. How difficult must this be for him? I'd said I wanted to go as Edgar's date. I'd said I couldn't wait three weeks to fuck him again. I'd asked Robert to imagine all of us at the party and he'd admitted the idea was hot. To look at his face now, I wasn't sure he still felt that way.

I'd fawned over Edgar from the moment we entered the mansion. Robert knew I'd fuck the man tonight. I doted on Edgar, glued to his side, returning his kisses with passionate kisses of my own, holding his hand, touching, rubbing, holding his gaze and adoring him. The sex would be easier for Robert to witness than all the little intimacies Edgar and I shared. That's what I wanted. Robert loved the torment. I saw it each time we made love. Nothing fueled my husband like the mind games I played.

But I wasn't pretending. Edgar was charming and handsome and attractive. I'd had him inside me. Some of him was still there. I felt connected and I was hungry for more. I wasn't merely flirting; I was actively seducing. Like men since the beginning of time, I was pursuing what I wanted. I craved Edgar and I wanted Robert to see that. The more truth Robert saw, the more turned on he'd become, and I wanted to transform my husband into a beast.

To stoke the fire, I nudged Edgar into a dark corner and kissed him deeply, surprising everyone in our little group. I held his face and slipped my tongue in his mouth, making out for several long minutes. Diana took the hint and began kissing Jon too. Before long I broke with Edgar and stood before Robert, discreetly squeezing the front of my husband's pants. As expected, Robert had grown erect.

Soon it was time for Jon to step away and meet with various industry leaders. Diana said she'd wait as she wasn't properly dressed but Jon insisted she go with him.

"It's a party," Jon said. "Not a board meeting. I want them to see me with you. I look better with you by my side."

Diana beamed. Jon's compliment made her glow. Mitch looked ready to die. He watched his lovely wife walk away with the tall and gorgeous black man, her slinky dress swaying, and swallowed hard. When Jon's muscular black arm snaked around her waist, he whimpered. She was burgeoning sexually, with a lot of years to make up. Mitch was in for a hell of a ride.

I was horny.

"They could be gone over an hour," I said. "Let's find someplace private."

Mitch looked dismayed.

"Diana will text when they're finished," I said. "We don't need to wait here."

Mitch eyed Edgar by my side and then exchanged a knowing look with Robert. I grinned, and Edgar did too. Nobody moved.

"You guys go ahead and wait," Edgar told them. "Hayley and I are going to explore the house."

"No," Robert blurted. "I'm coming with you."

"Then so am I," Mitch added.

Edgar grinned. Fucking me in front of them would be beautiful. He took my hand and led me away, Robert and Mitch followed dutifully behind.

Up until now, all Robert knew were the stories I'd told him. He's tasted my infidelity but never seen it. I've described in vivid detail but that's nothing compared to witnessing firsthand. I resolved to cross the last threshold.

My husband would see for himself.

My heart began to race. Smashing this last barrier was a big deal. This had all been fantasy to Robert so far; thoughts and visions in his head. I'd unintentionally kept a wall between my married life and my unfaithful life, and that allowed me to continue with both. What would Robert do? When confronted with such a stark reality, what would my husband do? He'd see Edgar's thick, pulsing penis enter me. He'd see my tight pussy stretched to accept the invading cock. Would he flip out? Would he explode in anger or collapse in tears? There was no predicting the outcome; we had to go through it to know. The mystery of the unknown had me breathing fast and feeling dizzy. My panties were soaked.

Our entourage of four glided through a large billiards room, the far wall a series of folding glass doors. Beyond, a sprawling golf course extended away from the house and out of sight. Full moonlight illuminated the tall trees and sculptured grass. A triangle flag waved on the green. It was a warm night. Hot, even. We'd blasted the A/C in the car driving over. I suddenly saw myself standing naked under the pale moon. I tugged Edgar's hand.

"Outside," I said, nodding toward the wall of glass doors.

He took my drink and set both on the counter, steering us across the room. Mitch and Robert followed. Hot air greeted us as we stepped from the house, closing the doors behind us. The heat kept everyone inside so we were alone as we crossed the wide porch and stepped onto the grass. We wandered away, heading for a line of trees across the fairway.

"What are we doing?" Robert asked.

"Taking a walk," I replied.

"It's hot," Mitch whined.

"You're right," I said, as the house disappeared behind a stand of trees.

I stopped and grabbed my dress at the hips, pulling the clingy garment over my head. I wore only panties underneath and I stepped out of those and handed them to my husband, leaving my high heels in place. Edgar smiled broadly. Robert stood with his mouth open. Mitch gawked, seeing me naked for the first time, jaw slack and eyes bugging. I chuckled. Robert squeezed the underwear he held, noting the dampness.

"You're going to fuck him," Robert said.

"I am."

"Do I get a vote?" Edgar joked.

"Of course," I said, resting my hands on my naked hips.

I stood tall, straightening my back and accentuating my breasts. I parted my legs, feet slightly more than shoulder width apart. I plucked the ivory chop-stick I'd used to keep my hair up, allowing my tresses to fall around my face and neck. All three men stared at me. I chuckled. I'd trimmed my pubes close to the skin earlier and they could see my slit under the light of this full moon.

"What's your vote?" I asked.

"Hell yes," Edgar growled, removing his clothes. "Sorry, Robert."

Mitch and Robert looked at each other, wondering what husbands are supposed to do in such situations. Robert glanced nervously in the direction of the mansion but we were alone. Besides, who cares if we got caught?

"Has she always been like this?" Mitch asked.

"This is new," Robert said. "I'm not sure when it happened."

Edgar was almost naked, only tight white boxer briefs remained. The banana bulge of his enhanced dick was obvious to all. Mitch actually pointed at it, amazed. Robert closed his eyes.

"You do the rest," Edgar told me.

I was going to kneel and pull his underwear down, placing his cock right in front of my face, but then I got a better idea. I moved behind Edgar and worked his briefs lower, slowly revealing his meat to the other men. I inched the elastic down, teasing my husband and friend. Edgar was already mostly erect so the head popped free first, flaring like a balloon. Both men looked mesmerized. The Void had done wonderful things for Edgar. His latest session was only yesterday so he retained exaggerated girth and length. I swallowed a giggle. Robert and Mitch were more than astonished; they were envious. Once the waistband cleared his balls I dropped his briefs to his ankles. He stepped free. I reached around with my left hand, gripping his fat shaft, showing Robert my wedding ring touching a rival's cock. I tugged the loose skin up to the head, then dropped to cup his balls.

"Did your clinic do all that?" Mitch asked.

"Not all," I purred. "Edgar was already gifted when he first walked through our door. We enhanced what God gave him."

Mitch turned to Robert.

"You work with this man," he said. "Isn't all this terribly awkward?"

Robert clenched his jaw and ground his teeth.

"That's the point, Mitch," my husband said.

I'd planned to put on a big show, sucking Edgar, licking his shaft wildly for Mitch and Robert. His heavy cock in my hand changed all that. I muttered for him to lie on his back and he did, spreading his shirt on the short grass. I gripped his cock at the base, keeping that meaty rocket pointed at the stars, and placed my feet on either side of his hips. A glance at his cock was like staring down the barrel of a shotgun.

I suddenly had no more theatrics in me, bending my knees and sinking low, I guided that delicious pillar of man between my labia and several inches into my body.

The penetration was delicious.

I'll never tell Robert how he vanished from all thought in that moment. He loves to be teased, mercilessly, but that truth would cut too deep. But truth it was. Edgar shoved every other thought from my mind, including the game I played with my husband. I wasn't trying to tease Robert. I wasn't doing this for us. I was fucking Edgar because he was the only man I cared about. The feelings lasted only a moment or two but showed me the danger in the game.

I promised myself to never cross that line again.

Edgar burrowed deep as my body sank. The air left my lungs at the same speed he penetrated. He reached for my lovely tits but I barely felt his hands maul me. That wide shaft forced me open, stretched and strained me. A heavy iron stump moved slowly towards my heart, shoving out of the way everything in its path. The sensations boggled my mind. I could focus on nothing else.

At last he reached my cervix and the pressure began to build. Jon had taught me what happens next. I groaned loudly, surrendering to the spectacular invasion. My pussy gripped him like a fist, enlarged around his barrel shaft. He overwhelmed my little cunt. His hips began a gentle up and down and I leaned backward, my hands on his thighs. I closed my eyes and savored the delicious feel of his enhanced cock moving inside me. The sensations were too strong.

Strangely, my orgasm seemed to start in my asshole. I gasped, feeling the little ring repeatedly clench and squeeze. Waves began to radiate, igniting my clit and making my vagina quiver. My legs shook. My fingernails dug his chest, my toes curled.

"Fuck!" I grunted, not ready to cum so soon.

Edgar saw my signs and got too excited. He thrust too deep, the firm head ramming my cervix. I lifted to get away as he withdrew, but I reached the peak and descended again, just as he thrust. For a moment, I sat perched atop his cock. Then something opened inside, enveloping the large head and slithering around his intruding shaft. I sobbed, overwhelmed by a strong mix of pleasure and pain but loving the full feeling washing over me. My climax retreated. He felt incredibly far inside my body, like he was between my lungs. He wasn't, but dear God he seemed to be.

"Cum in there," I slurred, barely capable of speech. "Empty your balls in me."

He thrust in firm short strokes, reluctant to leave now that he'd penetrated my womb. I couldn't imagine what he must be experiencing. He cupped my ass, helping me fuck, and the tingling of a returning orgasm excited me. I found a sweet spot, grinding my pelvis on his, where his rod stirred me deep within. I held myself there, working us both closer and closer.

Mine hit first.

Like I was smashed by the fist of God, my body convulsed and contorted. Spasms shook me and I howled into the hot night air. My poor pussy gripped his steely shaft and shuddered, contracting around his inches, seizing his meat as I came in wave after wave. He lasted a little longer before pumping the first hot bolt of semen, splattering my uterus with millions of wiggly tadpoles. I howled again, knowing the snip had been undone and this man's seed was potent and virile. That made my insemination all the hotter. I knew in this moment Robert thought the same thing. I quickly found him, standing close and watching, amazed. Our gaze locked.

A fantastic spike of pleasure ripped through me. Edgar grunted over and over, each sound another blast of cream. Robert was witnessing the fertilization of his beloved wife. Edgar shot thick bolts of cream again and again. I wanted this perfect moment to last forever.

Edgar ran out of sauce before my climax ended, but his augmented cock remained firm enough for me to ride. I squeezed out another mini-climax before all strength drained. I crumpled to his chest.

"Good Lord," Mitch said, the words rushing from his mouth.

I cracked one eye. Mitch and Robert were even closer. Mitch was stunned, astonished, but Robert looked more aroused than I'd ever seen him. He pushed on my back, bending me forward, spreading my ass to reveal Edgar's still buried cock. Sperm dribbled around the shaft. I felt it leaking. What was going through my sweet hubby's mind? He stared and stared.

Inside my purse, lying several feet away on the grass, my phone buzzed. No doubt Jon and Diana were finished with his meetings.

"Better get dressed," I muttered.

We separated, Edgar's long dick dripping fluids. Mitch cast his gaze back and forth between me and Edgar's cock but Robert stared at the penis that had fucked me and looked nowhere else. Edgar pulled on his briefs. I stepped into my panties, drawing them up my legs. Robert swung his gaze to watch me, pained when the soft cloth settled over my slit, pinching my labia closed and sealing all that sperm inside. My husband looked haunted.

"Later," I whispered.

We dressed and I texted Diana where to meet.

Robert. Was. Dying.

I heard his soft whimpers behind me. Edgar and I walked hand in hand through the house, heading for our rendezvous with Diana and Jon, and Robert stayed right on my heels. My full uterus was killing him. Did he want to fuck me or eat me?

As soon as we turned the corner and saw Diana, we all knew Jon had fucked her. She was glowing and disheveled, her dress crooked and her pointy nipples hard. She was grinning with wild mischief. I left Edgar to take her aside, allowing the men to chat. I was sorry I was missing that conversation. I took Diana's hand and pulled her into a corner. She started gushing details the second we had privacy.

"Big black cock," she croaked. "Oh my God, Hayley. He's such a man. We met all the people we needed to and then he led me into a huge upstairs bathroom. He fucked me on the counter in front of the mirror! I saw that black penis moving in and out of my body and I couldn't believe it. Me! Shy little wallflower Diana! I was getting fucked by a stunning black man at a party on a bathroom counter in front of a mirror. I came so hard. I love black cock. They're gorgeous. They're beautiful."

I couldn't argue so I didn't.

"What have you guys been doing?" she asked.

"I fucked Edgar under the stars on the golf course and in front of Mitch and Robert. It was fantastic."

She covered her open mouth with both hands.

"We're out of control!" she squealed.

I nodded agreement.

Chapter 20

I closed the door to the supply room. We began changing from our yoga clothes to dressing for work. Diana plucked an old smock from the pile and held it to the light.

"You had to wear these?" she said.

"Yeah, not flattering, right?"

"Ugly as a mud fence."

She tossed the old garment on the stack and lifted her floral print shirt over her head. I handed her one of my thin cotton pullovers, watching, fascinated, as she worked the top over her gorgeous tits. A hint of nipples pleased the eyes. I grinned.

It was her first day at the clinic. I'd gotten her a job on my side, the fun side, placing men in the Void to make their dicks bigger. No medical experience was required to work over here. I told Doctor Maynard one of my friends needed a job and he told me to hire her, simple as that.

"They will love you," I said. "One thing you need to know; we have a code around here, and we always share the truly hot guys. When you have a client that turns you on, call him a CE patient and make up a reason for one of us to enter your room. If one of us goes home horny, we all go home horny."

"Why CE?"

"It stands for Clitoral Erection. We get hard like the boys."

We knew we were going to have huge fun and we did. Her first day sailed by. Hours felt like minutes. Our first week felt like two days.

Ninety-five percent of the men we see each day are your average Joes; nice guys, wife and kids, career. But that five percent, when the door opens and some handsome stud steps through, those are the men that make the job delightful. Doris agrees. She joined in our naughty escapades, sucking off an older gentleman she found attractive. She couldn't believe she'd done it. We all took a vow of silence, as her husband is not as accepting as ours, but we all knew she'd do it again, and she did, this time sucking her first black dick.

There's something extra erotic about them.

I got home Friday night mentally and physically tired, but still determined to treat Robert to something special. He was the force behind all the wonderful changes and I needed to thank him properly. I dug through the box in the garage until I found my Supergirl outfit from Halloween years ago. The top comes in two layer; a lining and a thin blue see-through pullover with the S on it. The red cape clasped at my throat and the short red skirt showed a lot of leg. I laid everything out on our bed, showered, then got to work on the blonde wig. In an hour, I was ready.

Tonight, Robert would fuck Kara Zor-El, from the planet Krypton. I thought the blonde hair would be a nice variation for him.

My thing with Edgar burned out quickly. I had his number and we often flirted via text, which I always shared with Robert, but too many men were coming through the door at the clinic. No way would I get comfortable with one man. Variety is the spice of life. Robert and I shared values and goals. We didn't marry for sex and we'd certain never divorce because of sex. We operated many levels deeper than that. Our recent discoveries only highlighted that truth.

I'd asked a lot from my husband. True, he'd enjoyed most of it, but still, none of this would be possible without his consent and encouragement. My life was magnitudes better now and I owed most of that to him. Tonight would be a kind of reward. I wanted him to know I knew. I've worn this costume a few times and he always comments how sexy I look. Supergirl turns him on. In less than an hour Supergirl would be sucking his dick. I'm sure he's going to love that.

End.

Join My Mailing List
Get a FREE Hotwife Story!

Follow My Twitter

Find me on: GoodReads

Talk to Me

BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com