

Vacation at Hotel Eros Part One

BY MATTHEW LEE

Vacation at Hotel Eros Part One

“ Alright then, we agree.”

“ We do. This is so exciting Honey! Do you want a boy or girl first?”

I thought about my answer. “Boy. Our baby girl will need a big brother.”

Janie beamed with happiness. “Exactly!”

We both slipped out of bed and walked to the bathroom. From the medicine cabinet we withdrew her birth-control pills and began popping the plastic blisters, one by one, and tossing the pills into the toilet. She pulled the handle with a happy, satisfied look on her face. Janie was ready to start a family and I was too. When we finished she gripped the front of my robe and pulled me back to bed.

“ I don’t want to wait for our vacation to start building our family,” she breathed. “I want to start right now.”

I didn’t argue.

Janie and I arrived late last night and went straight to bed. The jet-lag was awful and we both slept poorly. Thankfully the hot tropical sun was burning away all that fog and that, combined with a Bloody Mary for breakfast, was making us both drowsy. I set my book down and told my wife I was going to try to nap.

I awoke a long time later and discovered my wife was no longer next to me. Her drink was empty and the tomato juice on the sides dry so it seemed she had been gone a while. Her phone sat next to it. I sat up and looked around but could not see her so I finished my drink too and began to wander. I slowly made my way to our room in case she had forgotten sunscreen or her book or perhaps just wanted to get in out of the strong sun, but she wasn't there either.

I headed back for our chairs to wait. On my way back I passed the swimsuit optional section of this resort. A high fence blocked my view but I knew I needn't be concerned; with her conservative personality, there was no way Janie was inside that section. I returned to our spot and decided to wait. Twenty minutes later Janie walked up and sat down, her copy of Daring Greatly, by Brené Brown, tucked under her arm.

"Hello sleepy head," she said.

"I woke a while ago...where did you go?"

"I forgot my book in our room and went back to get it..."

That should have taken about ten or fifteen minutes so I sat staring at her, waiting for her to continue. She realized I knew she was gone a long time and tried to act cool and all at once my interest was piqued; why did she need to act cool? I waited for her to go on and eventually she did.

"On the way back from the room the hot pavement burnt my feet so I took a short cut through that area over there." She indicated the nude section. "A gentleman asked me about the book under my arm and we chatted for a while. Then I came back to you."

I was surprised but didn't show it. If she was going to play it cool so was I. I turned to look at that section and although I knew what it was, I asked her anyway. She blushed before she answered.

"It's, you know, swimsuit optional...."

I studied her face and saw how uncomfortable she was. What had happened in there? Had the gentleman been naked? An image of Janie conversing with an anonymous naked man sprang up in my mind. I imagined him handsome enough to get her to stop and interesting enough to keep her there. Perversely, my imagination gave him a fit, muscular body and heavy, over-sized penis hanging across his thigh. Why it did that, I do not know.

"Was he nude?"

"Yes...yes he was. I was very embarrassed but he just acted like nothing was out of the ordinary. He spoke with an accent so I presumed wherever he was from nude sunbathing was common. I wasn't going to be the immature American, so I stayed and talked with him a while. It wasn't easy Honey."

"What did the two of you talk about?"

"We talked a lot about the book and how powerful it is. Then he let me know that the band that plays in the bar is actually quite good and that there are hiking trails and rock climbing nearby. Also the steak house at the end of the road is amazing... Barney's, I think he called it."

I was dying to ask her what he looked like but I was afraid it would sound insecure and a little bit homosexual, so I dropped it.

"Well," I said, trying to lighten the moment. "At least you are back now. How about another Bloody Mary?"

"That sounds perfect."

Eventually we decided we had enough sun and alcohol and after a very light lunch, played some tennis to sweat out the drinks. After the tennis we enjoyed a couple's massage and then a sauna.

While in the sauna the door opened and a young black-haired kid entered and climbed a few rows up. He unwound his towel to sit on it and plopped down. I glanced back at him to say hello and when I did I found myself looking up almost directly between his legs. His thick penis was lying across his towel and the head of it actually hung off the edge of the seat. It was so big! It was impossible not to notice.

I quickly looked up and knew he hadn't seen me so I said hello and told him my name and he told me his, Billy, and in the way that men do, we went back to minding our own business. When I heard him lie back a little while later I risked another look. I honestly can't tell you why. I have no interest or attraction to men at all. But I felt fascinated by it. I'd never seen one this close. I don't look at much porn. What must it feel like to have that hanging between your legs? I imagine my self-confidence would be sky-high all the time. A penis like that would change your life.

When I risked another look I was surprised again. Apparently the heat of the sauna was having an effect on Billy. He was on his back with his eyes closed and one knee raised. His penis hung to the side across his hip and the head rested on the wooden bench. He was thicker and longer than the first time I saw him and his virtually hairless balls were drawn up tight to his body.

I heard someone at the door and yanked my eyes away and to a random spot on the floor just as two obese gentlemen entered and took up seats. We all said hello except Billy, who seemed to have drifted off. They dropped their towels too but I didn't care.

I leaned back and closed my eyes too. I was awakened a little later by the door opening again. The obese men were gone and Billy was leaning with his back against the wall. A look at the door showed an older gentleman, very fit, with salt and pepper hair, looking around unsure of how to proceed. I introduced myself and extended a hand, which he shook, and, with a strong French accent, told me his name was André. He shook Billy's hand too. I remembered Janie's comment and wondered if this was the man she had chatted with.

André finally decided the third level of benches was best and removed his towel too, then sat. I struggled to keep control of my face. His dick was as big as Billy's! All at once I was feeling inadequate and out of place. What the hell was going on here? The next hundred guys to enter the sauna better be more like me.

André was very conversational and animated as he moved back and forth from Billy to me. At one point, during a particularly interesting story about a photo safari in Africa, André was telling Billy and I about a pack of lions killing a Cape buffalo. He stood while telling the story and as he spoke and gestured, his big cock swung about like a weighted pendulum. Billy seemed oblivious to it but I forced myself not to stare. All I could think about was Janie talking to this guy with that huge cock staring her in the face. Was that why she took so long to return? That thought burned a path through my brain. I imagined Janie staring at him from behind her sunglasses, eating up every fat inch of him. Instead of anger and jealousy I felt something else, something I didn't understand or recognize. I tried to put my finger on exactly what was going on inside me but could not. This was utterly new territory for me.

"Mark?" I heard him say.

I shook those thoughts out of my head. "Pardon?"

André asked his question again. "Do you eat meat? Do you like steak? There is an excellent steak house at the end of the road before you turn in to the resort. Barney's."

"I've heard of it," I offered, realizing at that moment this was indeed the man Janie had been talking to. "It's supposed to be wonderful."

"I can assure you it is."

"I'll take Janie to it tomorrow night."

"She'll love it... you both will... wait... Janie... Lovely brunette athlete with dazzling hazel eyes?"

"That would be her."

"Oh what fantastic luck! I met her earlier today. She is really a charming woman. You are a very lucky man."

"I couldn't agree more, thank you."

Billy told us that he had taken all the sweating that he could and it was time to shower and find a beer. We said our good byes. André and I talked a bit more about the resort and things to do as several more men joined us in the sauna. All of them had normal sized dicks, thank God.

I know that's a weird thing to say but getting hit with a double whammy like that was a little unnerving. André turned out to be quite a personable man. I liked him. He was self-deprecating and funny, educated and well-traveled. I saw why Janie spent so much time talking to him.

Against my will I kept stealing glances at his cock. I did not understand my own behavior. I think because Janie saw him earlier in the day I wanted to know more about him; what had she liked best? Did he make her laugh? Every time I remembered that Janie had seen his penis too I got a strange fluttering in my stomach and a knot in my chest. Again, I can't say it was jealousy or anger. I wasn't sure what it was exactly. I'd never felt an emotion like it.

Finally André and I agreed we'd had enough steam and shook hands and departed. I waited about fifteen more minutes for Janie to finish her sauna.

As we walked back to the room I considered what to tell her or should I just tell her everything. I decided on everything, including Billy and even my reaction to their over-sized equipment. She was silent as we walked and I talked. I was embarrassed but she's my wife. When I got to the part about Billy and André, she unconsciously bit her bottom lip. I stopped talking. We regarded each other for a heartbeat or two and then I spoke.

"I see your wheels turning. What are you feeling?"

She looked up at the sky and then down at the ground, pondering. "I'm not sure," she began. "I don't want to upset or hurt you and I sure don't want you to feel threatened. I love you. I'm in love with you. I never want to lose you."

I nodded to encourage her. I was growing more nervous the more she talked.

She hesitated seeking the right place to start. "Yesterday while you were sleeping and I went to get my book, I cut through the nude section and I couldn't believe what I saw. Honey, all these people were so comfortable with their bodies! They didn't care that they were naked, and they weren't dirty, nasty people like I expected them to be. They were laughing and talking and having fun. They were nice to me and to each other. The nudity was so incidental to them. As I walked I began to suspect that maybe I was the one with the problem, that maybe I was too uptight about these things.” She looked up from the ground and into my eyes.

“ Before I could think too much about that André got my attention and introduced himself. When I saw him my heart raced. I admit I was flattered. He is very sexy. He was charming and funny and he was obviously flirting with me but in a very respectful and shy way. I just melted.

“ Mark, trust me when I tell you I had no idea I would react like that. His penis was just out there but somehow he seemed oblivious to that fact. I’ve only seen yours naked, Mark. When I saw his I wanted to run away from it at the same time I wanted to stare. I was conflicted and confused. I looked at it a few more times. It seemed really big. I think it got even bigger the more we talked.

“ Then André stood up to shake my hand and his big thing just flopped down and swung back and forth and I couldn't take my eyes off it. Thank God I had my glasses on so he couldn't see where I was looking most of the time. It was all very confusing. I'm so sorry honey. I know I stayed there too long. I hope I haven't upset you."

We stood there sweating in the hot tropic sun. On my wife's face I saw her concern for me, her desire to be truthful, and her confusion about her own feelings. This was brand new for both of us. We had never discussed sex before, not like this. I mean we discussed our actual sex life but not fantasies, not things outside our bedroom. We both loved our sex life; we were both satisfied and happy. Our sex was spontaneous and organic and needed no additional spicing. Admittedly it was simple and straight forward but that was fine. We loved it.

I had no desire to watch Janie have sex with another man. I wasn't one of those guys. If she ever cheated on me I'd end it with her. My heart would be crushed and I doubt I'd ever again find a love like the one I have with her, but once trust is broken, it never again heals.

To hear her now describing what the sight of another man's penis had done to her stunned me, but once again filled me with a sensation I did not understand. We just stood there staring at each other. I knew I'd better say something soon. She'd poured herself out and I realized she was waiting, holding her breath; certain I would be deeply hurt, angry, and jealous. But I wasn't. If you'd asked me before this happened what my reaction would be I would have told you anger and upset. But here I was in the situation and that was not my reaction. I stepped forward and wrapped my loving arms around her. She was completely surprised and confused.

"What...?" she began.

I shushed her and just held on until I felt her body relax. Then I leaned back and kissed her deeply and with loving passion. When the kiss ended, I spoke.

"Honey, thank you for your honesty. I want you to know I am not angry or jealous in the least. I know that sounds weird and I'm as surprised as you are but the truth is, I'm not. I can feel a part of my brain trying to get me irritated, like I think I'm supposed to be angry and jealous, but I'm just not."

"Then what are you?"

"I'm not sure. Intrigued? Curious? Bizarrely, there might even be some excitement mixed in there. While I was talking to André in the sauna and I realized you had seen him naked just like I was at that moment, that you had seen his penis just like I was, I found myself wishing I could have seen your face and watched your reaction. I've always like it when I see men notice you. I like that you catch their eye. It's like I have bragging rights. But I've never really thought about you having a reaction to them. Now that you have, I think I like that too."

We continued to regard each other.

"You like it when men check me out?" she asked, a coy smile curling her lips.

"I do. I love that they want you and I have you."

She sighed and came into my arms for another kiss. "All this has my head spinning," she said, after.

"Mine too. Let's go back to our room." She looked up into my face and knew what I was thinking. I was surprised at the level of desire in her eyes and wondered what, exactly, put it there; was it our shared moments of truth and vulnerability or the hot sun or the massages and sauna or was it the memory of naked, sexy André? Her comments about his size really surprised me but I guess I had made it easier for her to say with my own confession. Regardless, I felt like something changed for us. I felt nervous and a little excited.

Back in the room we undressed to shower and Janie caught me checking her out in the mirror. She grinned and cupped her breasts, offering them to me. I grabbed a handful of her hair and drug her into the hot shower and she laughed and called me a caveman. I spun her around and pressed up against her, my soapy hands swirling her breasts. She whimpered and leaned her weight back against me. My penis began to rise immediately and I turned my hips a little so it came up right between her legs, which she helpfully parted. I was fully hard very fast and with just a flick of her fingertips, I slid all the way into her. She was drenched and it wasn't all from the shower.

I fucked her slow and deep standing up, her hands pressed against the shower wall. From behind I marveled, as I always do, at her fit body and toned muscles. The water and suds across her back were gorgeous and I drove my dick in deeper and harder because of it, which really brought a strong response from Janie, surprising me. I needed no more encouragement and did it again and again was rewarded with cries of pleasure and passion from my wife. I was rock hard now. I pushed her up against the wall and drove my dick into her like a spear but she only seemed to welcome my new found aggression, reaching back and grabbing my ass, pulling me forward into my thrusts.

Heated passion welled up in me and I grabbed her hips and started pounding her. She loved it. I was fucking her. We weren't making love now. It started out that way but now it was a man taking his animal desire out on a woman, and that woman hungry for more. I realized she loved being desired this much. I was rough with her, and I never had been before, following my passionate impulses, and we tapped into something primal.

I spun her around and grabbed both her wrists, forcing her to her knees. I stuffed my throbbing dick into her mouth and fucked her face, making her gag for the first time ever. She struggled and fought and for a second I wondered if I had gone too far but then the spirit of what I was doing reasserted itself and I drove my dick into her mouth. She kicked and squirmed for a second and then something lined up and I slipped past the back of her mouth and partly down her throat. Her eyes got big but I held myself there. It felt amazing. I looked down and her lips were pressing against my pubic bone. I couldn't believe I was all the way inside her mouth. I stroked her head and she relaxed a little and I began an in and out as she took every inch of my penis. This never happened. She groaned from deep in her chest and I knew she loved being used like this. I knew she loved that she had taken my entire penis. I picked up speed.

I'd never treated her this way. I was fucking her mouth like a slut, my balls slapping her chin. She was on her knees before a man who was dominating her and she was eagerly submitting. I held her head with my other hand and really sawed in and out.

When I'd had enough of that I pulled her to her feet and drug her out of the shower, bending her over the bathroom counter. We were surrounded by mirrors and still dripping wet from the shower. I pinned her torso flat and spread her legs at the ankles with my foot. I never let up or let her catch her breath. When I drove my dick back into her now dripping wet pussy, she sighed. I started fucking her again, ordering her to cum on my dick. She'd never seen me act like this and honestly, neither had I. I heard her getting close.

I leaned my chest across her back until my mouth was next to her ear and in a low growl I told her to close her eyes. She did. I fucked her harder for a minute as she drew ever closer to cumming and then, at the last moment, I told her to leave her eyes closed and remember handsome André out by the pool; picture his face and body. Remember his cock swinging side to side when he stood up.

That did it. Janie's whole body jumped and jerked and with a sob of pleasure she came all over my pumping penis. I kept going right through it all, driving her higher and higher until she was almost screaming and I perversely told her to call out his name. I have no idea where that thought came from. It flew out of my mouth before I could stop it. My instincts told me it would turn Janie on so I did it and once Janie started crying his name her second orgasm really hit. I had to hold on to her to keep her from hurting herself as her whole body thrashed and spasmed and her legs gave out. My buried dick pinned her to the counter until she slowly returned to earth, weeping. I withdrew my erection.

I carried her back to the big bed and laid her down, curling up next to her. She was wiped out and although I was dying for release, the timing seemed terrible. We both fell asleep.

I woke up first, a couple hours later, and ordered us big steaks and beer for dinner. She slept until room service arrived and when she smelled the food she beamed. Then I watched as the memory of what we had so recently done reasserted itself and her face slowly turned to dismay. She was searching my face for clues about how I was feeling. I sat next to her and put an arm around her naked shoulders, comforting her.

"Angel," I said. "If you are worried that I am hurt or upset, don't be; I'm not. Not at all. In fact, I think that was really sexy and hot. We've never done anything like that before."

"How can you not be upset, Mark? I called out another man's name while I was having an orgasm and it made me climax even harder. I'm a terrible person, a terrible wife. I have no excuse. I didn't even know I had that in me."

"Honey, I did that. I led us down that road. We went there together and if I'm not upset, why should you be? Today has been a real eye-opener for us both. Let's not judge ourselves too harshly, okay? Let's blame it on vacation. Let's blame it on lack of sleep and too much drink. Let's just sit for a while and think and have some food and some beer and then maybe talk about it all. That was some amazing sex."

She nodded her head vigorously. "That really was some amazing sex. You're right. We've never had sex like that before. It felt so... indecent...so naughty...almost dirty."

I grabbed a plate and set it before her. She smiled at me and kissed me soft and sweet. "I love you so much," she said.

"I love you right back," I breathed.

We dug into our meal. We were about five minutes in when she stopped chewing and turned to me.

"So, tell me about Billy."

Now it was my turn to stop chewing. I studied her face and saw that some of the excitement returned to her eyes. What was happening to her? In all our married years she had never asked about another man. Honestly, sometimes I felt like all other men were invisible to her. I considered for a moment what details I should include and decided to tell her everything about Billy; his face, his muscles, how tall he was, his youthful cockiness. When I described his long, thick penis staring me in the face, and how uncomfortable it made me, she asked questions about how big it was. She sat mesmerized, picturing everything I described. When I was finished she spoke.

"If you see him around, would you mind pointing him out to me?" I felt a little twinge of jealousy then and she must have seen it. "But you don't have to if you don't want to. I'll understand."

"No Baby, I don't mind. I do wonder why you want to know. Are you planning on talking to him?"

Janie looked alarmed. "Oh no my Love, not at all. I guess I just want to know too, like you. I expect you would have pointed him out to me anyway."

I nodded. "Alright Love," I said. "When I see him I'll tell you."

XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX

Mark watched Janie shower. He never grew tired of it. Janie worked hard to keep her body tight and fit and Mark lusted after her as much today as the day he married her all those years ago. They had not talked much about the impassioned sex session between them. Mark wanted to but did not know where to begin and what Janie would think. Certain thoughts had been nagging at him which he wasn't prepared to face and needed more time to think about. Why was it exciting to me that Janie had spoken to a well hung, nude man? More importantly, maybe, why had I been so distracted by Billy and André's large penises? I'm not gay. I don't want sex with a man. The idea of a man kissing me is a little disgusting and unsettling. So why was it so difficult for me to avoid staring at the dicks? Janie was so much more excited during sex. Was she thinking about André? How do I feel about that? Why aren't I angry?

Mark bit his fingernails in frustration. He had no answers to these questions. He had never been in such situations before and so had never pondered them or had reason to. Janie returned from the pool with a wet bikini and Mark was surprised by how sheer the water turned it. He thought about saying something to her but decided not to at the last minute. Instead he followed her into the bathroom asking her what she wanted for dinner and was happy to hear her suggest they visit Barney's, the steak house down the road. André had told her about it and it gave him a secret thrill that she was acting on what André had said. It excited him that another man could influence his wife and the choices she might make.

Mark dropped his towel and entered the shower with Janie. They talked about the usual things as they soaped each other up, both admitting they were really looking forward to the restaurant and hoping it was excellent.

When Mark leaned back under the shower to rinse his hair, Janie dropped to her knees. Mark felt her hot mouth close on his penis and a groan escaped him. They already had more sex in the few days of this vacation than two weeks at home. Mark loved Janie's new increased desire but once again he wondered where it was coming from. He had his suspicions, but said nothing.

I should be angry, he thought for the hundredth time, but I'm not.

The restaurant was everything André promised it would be. While nestled in a high-backed booth, I gazed at Janie as she sipped her Cabernet. The black dress she wore had the deepest plunge of any neckline I'd ever seen on her and the occasional glimpse of her firm breasts was getting to me. The waiter removed the dishes and placed the dessert menu on the table and walked away.

I scanned the menu and asked Janie if she knew what she wanted for dessert. When she didn't answer I looked up. She was biting the tip of her index finger and smiling at me. I waited for her to answer but then felt her toes slide up my leg. I jumped but quickly recovered.

In one of the boldest moves of our marriage I put my hand on her bare thigh, just below the hem of her dress, and slid up just an inch or so. She tensed and jumped but made herself sit still. The silky material bunched. That we were behaving like this in public surprised and excited me. I slid my hand up another inch and heard Janie draw a ragged breath. I smiled at her and she weakly smiled back.

"Is this okay?" I asked, unsure.

Janie nodded her head. We both scanned the restaurant but nobody was paying any attention to us. I got bold continued up her legs until my fingertips disappeared beneath her dress. When I lightly brushed the lace of her panties, she drew in air loud enough for others to hear and I quickly withdrew my hand. Janie grabbed my wrist and stopped me, then kissed my lips and nudged my hand onward. I wasn't the only one determined to change the way we did things.

My heart was pounding. Janie had never done anything like this... and neither had I. I grazed the front of her panties again, heat pouring off of her, and then teased her clit through the material. Janie bit her lip to keep from groaning out loud. I moved closer in the booth and awkwardly slipped a finger past the elastic in the leg of her underwear.

Janie had shaved herself smooth!

She normally kept her pubic hair neatly trimmed but now it was completely gone. I was stunned. Janie laughed and broke the spell.

“ I wish you could see your face right now,” she chuckled.

I sheepishly met her eyes.

“ Let’s skip dessert and go back to the room,” she said. “I really need you to be my husband for the next hour or two.”

I caught the waiter’s eye and paid the bill. As we left the restaurant, I noticed all the men that watched Janie walk by. Women noticed her too. I felt so proud that she was with me. I felt lucky.

As we stood there waiting for valet to bring us our rental car I caught the attendant stealing glances at Janie. Of course I loved it. It made me think though; what are they seeing? I know she's a knock out but I love her and that influences me. I tried viewing her like I was seeing her for the first time. It took me a second, but then the air was knocked from my lungs. Janie was gorgeous. Sexy, fit, poised. There was nothing overtly sexual about her and somehow that just made her more attractive. She wasn't even trying and it all just worked for her. She noticed me staring and smiled then a second later asked me "what?" I told her it was like I was seeing her for the first time and she was stunning. She actually blushed.

"That is an incredibly sweet thing for a husband to say to his wife."

"It's true, Honey. You are sexier clothed than most women showing skin. Just imagine if you decided to show some skin too. You'd hurt men. You'd cause accidents."

Janie's eyes were laughing as I described her. She was really enjoying my praise. After a minute she said, "Well then maybe I should show more skin? Not all the time, of course, but on date nights like this. Would you like that? You said you like men looking at me." I eagerly nodded my head. "I'm starting to wonder if maybe we have been too conservative," she continued. "Maybe we can relax all that a little bit. Not professionally or around our friends, but on vacation like this or maybe we can go on dates out of town, away from anyone we know."

She was getting me so hot talking like this. It had never been a problem for me before but to hear her make these suggestions was very exciting. I pictured her out in something slinky and sexy and all the attention she'd get and I got aroused. Her ideas sounded wonderful.

"I love these ideas, Sweetie."

Our car pulled up. I waited for the valet guy to take his tip and leave. "In fact," I went on, "I think we should start right now. We passed a club on the way to the restaurant. Let's go back and listen to music, maybe dance a little." Her face lit up. "But let's do it right, starting with this." As I said that I undid the first two buttons of her top. When she didn't protest I undid one more. Her swelling cleavage was now on display. I noted her chest rising and falling in excitement. Mine was too. Neither of us knew where this would lead but we were approaching it together, and that made it even more exciting.

The club was mostly empty but it was early. We grabbed a table away from the stage and ordered drinks. I kept glancing over at Janie's partly exposed breasts. We chatted and our drinks arrived and we chatted some more. When she said she needed to use the restroom, on a whim I suggested she take the long way around, leading her past a group of men. I wanted to watch their reaction to her. I should have known better. She didn't make it past them. As she approached one of the men began speaking to her and soon she was drawn into a conversation with all four of them. She looked my way several times at first but I just smiled and tried to show her I loved it. She relaxed after a while and really engaged them. Whenever she was talking to one guy the other three would look her up and down. It made me so hot.

The place kept filling up and now all the tables were taken. After fifteen minutes or so Janie excused herself from their party and continued to the bathroom. When she returned to our table she was beaming.

"You made new friends," I smiled.

"I did. They were very flirtatious! They saw my wedding ring but that didn't faze them at all. One of them, Paul, even said it made me sexier. Men are such dogs."

"Yup."

"They asked about you and I told them my husband is very secure and confident and knows I love him with all my heart, so doesn't need to worry if I stop and talk to a group of handsome men. They loved that one."

"So do I."

We kissed. Drinks arrived that we hadn't ordered and the waitress said they were from my wife's fans. We raised our glasses to them to say thank you and they did the same. A few minutes later it was my turn to use the restroom. As I moved through the crowd I thought I saw someone familiar and looked again. Billy. Young, handsome, black-haired, bigdicked Billy. He was at the bar watching the football game without any sound. A few notes from the stage told me the band was about to start so I hurried. Once back at our table I pulled Janie closer and pointed Billy out through the crowd. Her eyes grew big.

"He's really handsome. You didn't mention he was really handsome."

"I wasn't sure. It's hard for me to tell if a man is good looking."

Janie cast me a sideways look like I was full of shit. I wasn't going to debate it with her. She realized she had been looking at him too long and pulled her eyes down to her drink. I let it go. Honestly, seeing her reaction to him turned me on a little. She knew how big he was. I wondered if that affected her opinion of his looks. Before this vacation I never would have thought so but now I wasn't so sure. I kind of hoped it did matter to her. If she cared about that it made her more sexual and a more sexual Janie was a very exciting idea.

We danced a few songs and drank some more. When Janie said it was time for another bathroom break I got an idea and told her to take a route right past Billy. I wanted to watch his reaction to her. She quickly agreed, a little too quickly in fact, and off she went. I looked over at Billy and he now had two attractive women talking to him as he watched the game. When Janie got close his eyebrows went up. He excused himself from the conversation with the women and said hello to Janie. She loved it, I loved it, the women weren't too happy about it.

Janie stepped closer so they could talk over the loud music and my heart jumped to my throat when it appeared her hip touched his knee. The two women took their drinks and left and Janie moved to fill their spot. From this new angle I saw his knee was definitely touching her hip as her dress was a little bunched up. She reached to set her empty glass on the bar and I saw her top open a little more, giving Billy a generous dose of cleavage. She looked at me, digested my non-reaction, and relaxed. I sipped my Gentleman Jim, barely breathing, waiting for a rush of jealousy that never came. My palms were sweaty, my breathing was shallow, my skin felt flush and my penis stirred a little, but I was not jealous.

Billy had made her laugh and she touched his arm in a familiar way. Time slowed down. For some reason the feminine lines of her really stood out to me; from her ear down her throat, from her breast to her hip, from her butt down the back of her leg. I was seeing her as an anonymous, gorgeous, sexy woman, and not my wife. I was objectifying her and it felt awesome. I'd have to tell her about it later. She'd love it.

Big Dick Billy flirted with my wife, and my wife flirted with Big Dick Billy, for almost thirty minutes. I was really shocked how long she stayed with him. I saw him touch her wedding ring but she shook her head and leaned in to explain something. Of course, I couldn't hear what she said to him but I did see his huge smile afterwards. I made a mental note to ask her what she had told him. Finally he looked at his watch and pulled out his phone. I saw Janie give him her number! He gulped the last of his drink, shook her hand and gave her a quick kiss on the cheek, and headed for the door. Janie did not look at me as she made her way to the restroom.

When she got back to our table she had such a guilty face. "You've got some explaining to do," I said.

She took a gulp of Chardonnay. "Wow, that guy is a total hunk."

My eyebrows shot up as she giggled.

She went on. "Honey, Billy is gorgeous. I'm sorry, but he is. Did you see him dump those two other women for me? Oh my God I loved that. I'm such a bitch. He's funny and smart and built and of course the whole time I'm talking to him I'm remembering what you said about him. Good God that was exciting. Thank you for sending me past his chair. If you want to take me back to the hotel room and make love to me, I'm so cool with that." She swallowed another big gulp of wine.

I tried to stay cool but she was making it difficult. I admit feeling conflicted about Billy turning her on and her taking it out on me, but I was only conflicted about a half second. If Janie wanted sex I don't care where she found her inspiration. She would be in bed with me. I didn't even care if she was thinking about someone else. I know she has a thing for Bradley Cooper and Hugh Jackman and have wondered sometimes in bed if she was thinking of them. I discovered I didn't give a shit. She can have all the fantasies she wants. I am so secure in her love for me I know no man could ever take her away. I've told her as much and she completely agreed. It was that certainty that was making all these recent events so exciting. They weren't threatening at all. I remembered and asked her about the ring and the number.

"He touched my ring and asked me if I was married, why I was flirting with him. I leaned in and said 'my husband likes it when I flirt with incredibly hot guys', which made him laugh. Towards the end of our conversation he mentioned he plays tennis and I said I do too, so he asked for my number to meet me and play a few games with me. I hope you're not upset. I won't answer when he calls. I just thought it was awesome he wanted my number."

I pondered my response before making it. On the one hand her happiness made me happy, and as I mentioned, I know I have nothing to fear from any man. On the other hand hearing her gush about how attractive he was, and for some reason knowing what he carried between his legs, made him intimidating to me. I forced myself to be a grown-up.

"Actually Honey, when he calls, you can go play." I heard myself say. "I admit I'm not a great opponent. If he's better than me, you'll get a much better practice out of it."

"Oh thank you Baby, that's very sweet. Why are you so good to me? I'm sure he won't call, but still, it's very nice of you."

I gazed at my lovely wife's face, drifted down to her full breasts, continued down to her hips and legs. I tried to see her as Billy would. I pictured her in tight tennis gear, her perfect ass obvious, and the muscles of her torso working. I felt my dick lift again. This whole vacation had been so sexually charged. Would she make Billy's big dick hard like mine? Would Billy masturbate tonight remembering my sexy wife? I hoped he would.

But for now this sexy woman wanted me to take her back to a hotel room and fuck her, so that is exactly what I did.

We were in town shopping two days later when Billy sent her a text. He had reserved a court for three o'clock, if she could make it. She tried to be so cool but I saw the signs. I'd known her too long to miss them. She was thrilled that the hot guy had actually followed up with her and she was excited to actually play tennis with him. I saw her hand tremble just a bit as she read his message. I wondered how I should handle this.

Janie had not been an attractive girl the first fifteen years of her life. She was kind of nerdy and over-weight and the other kids picked on her. Around sixteen she discovered tennis and began playing relentlessly. By seventeen she had shed the weight and her body had begun to change, developing breasts and hips. Too bad for the boys, they had already been mean enough to her that she had no time for them and had learned to focus on the serious tasks at hand. I met her in college where she was a serious student with no social life and few friends. We were both pretty nerdy and socially awkward.

So I understand her reaction when Billy text her. Billy was the popular guy, the quarterback on the championship team dating the cheerleader. Billy was the life of the party, everybody's friend, the guy all the girls wanted. Now Billy was smitten by my wife and my wife was eating it up. I didn't want to deny her this. I understood. I'm sure it felt fantastic for her. I wanted her to have her fun...but how far should I step out of the way? As soon as I asked myself that question, I knew the answer; all the way. Billy, as good looking and attractive as he was, simply could not steal Janie away from me. It had nothing to do with him and everything to do with her. She just wasn't emotionally wired that way. She'd have fun flirting. It would all be very exciting for her. But actually cheating is something she would never, ever do.

"Honey," I began. "There is a poker tournament beginning at two this afternoon. Since you will be playing tennis at three, I'd like to sign up. Depending on the number of participants, it could last a long time, so don't rush your sets."

"Thank you Baby. We should head back to the room now, so I can get ready."

That surprised me a little. How much prep time do you need to work out? Regardless, we wrapped things up and drove back to the hotel. As we passed through the lobby I put my name down for the tournament. I noticed my hand shaking a bit as I signed, and it wasn't because I was nervous about playing cards. I calmed myself and took a hard, absolutely honest look at myself and discovered I was ninety-nine point ninety-nine percent sure I had nothing to worry about, and yet that one one-hundredth percent chance that I was wrong about Janie was pumping adrenaline into my blood. What if I was wrong? I was helping my wife make arrangements to spend time with a guy she confessed was incredibly attractive, possessed an amazing body, and was hung like a horse, and she had admitted a fascination with that last fact. Was I acting naive? There was no way to know in advance. I trusted Janie and acted accordingly or I did not.

Back in our hotel room we freshened up. I showered quickly and put on some comfortable cotton pants and a T-shirt. Janie was in the bathroom for a while and eventually told me to go on ahead, which I did.

When I got to the tournament they said the first hour was for additional sign-ups so I headed back up to our room. As I approached the elevator I heard them ding and just before I turned the corner the elevator door opened and Janie stepped out. Wow. Holy shit wow.

She had her long dark hair pulled back into a pony tail and a short pleated tennis skirt around her hips. The skirt was short enough that it flipped when she walked fast, like now, and I saw she was wearing half-booty shorts underneath which left her firm butt cheek partly exposed. Her strong, tan legs flexed with each step and her skin shone like she had just shaved them really close. Her top was a white, one-size-too-small sports bra which was cut away at the front and under the arms so the swell of her breasts were visible from every side except below. She looked crazy hot.

Where had my conservative wife gone? I understood immediately that she was looking crazy hot for Billy and had remained hidden in the bathroom so she wouldn't have to face me. Now what do I do? Spy on my own wife? Given that she had hidden from me in the bathroom and that the tournament didn't start for almost an hour, that's exactly what I decided to do.

I found it surprisingly easy to stalk her without being seen by her or making it obvious to others. I used my phone, which I turned to silent, as a camera and acted like I was taking architectural and scenic tourist pictures. Nobody glanced at me twice. I followed her through the hotel and then the gardens until she finally arrived at the courts.

Billy was already there practicing his serve. When he saw Janie he actually missed the ball and they both laughed. He walked up and gave her a kiss on the cheek and I sat on a bench hidden by some shrubs. Billy was wearing loose shorts and a tight, stretch-nylon top, which showed off his muscles. They chatted for a bit and I saw Janie do a slow pirouette at Billy's request, blushing the whole time. As they talked there were frequent touches on arms or shoulders and lots of laughing. Billy could not take his eyes off of her, which I loved, and she really enjoyed that fact, which I also loved. Let the girl have her fun. This ugly duckling has blossomed.

There wasn't much more to see as they began to play. I waited and watch as the tournament start time drew closer. Just as I was about to leave they decided to take a break for water and to switch sides. They met on the far side of the court and Billy peeled off his sweaty shirt, immediately reaching for a dry one. Janie gawked at his flawless body. Even I decided it was time to head back to the gym.

Before she could stop herself, Janie reached a tentative hand out and touched his rock-hard pectoral. Her other hand slowly came up to her mouth. Billy watched her without moving. Janie's hand slid down his chest and across his bumpy abs, which seemed to break the spell for her.

All at once she covered her face with her hands and I could hear her profuse apologies from all the way across the court. She back away from him and turned her back, mortified. He reached a hand out and slowly turned her to face him and I couldn't hear what he said, but they both started laughing like crazy. Janie was so embarrassed. Billy put his new shirt on and they returned to the court and I left to join my tournament, my heart pounding.

In spite of the fact I had just seen my shy, conservative wife reach out and touch another man, I played well. I played very well, in fact, finishing third place about four hours later, just over a thousand dollars richer. My phone had been on silent the whole time and I expected voice and text messages waiting for me, but there were none. It was getting dark but I circled around past the tennis courts anyway before heading up to the room. They were empty.

As soon as I opened the hotel room door I heard the shower and felt the steam. I wandered into the bathroom and there was Janie, nude and sudsy, just the way I liked her, standing under the water and letting it pour all over her. Her sweaty tennis outfit lay in a pile on the floor. I just stood and admired her amazing body for several minutes until she opened her eyes and saw me and jumped.

"Goddamn it Mark!" she laughed. I laughed too. I waited and soon she emerged, her hair plastered to her head and little water droplets covering every inch of her skin. She made no attempt to cover her body, standing right in front of me dripping and gorgeous. That was when I noticed another reason it took her so long to get ready before tennis: her pussy was shaved smooth again. She had the hair on her head and she had eyebrows and the rest of her body was perfectly hairless. My mouth dropped open. She looked delicious. I don't know what my face was doing but she laughed again and ran into the bedroom yelling "Help! Help! He's going to eat me!" Turns out she was right.

Later we were lying in bed getting caught up on our time apart. She and Billy had played about three hours then gone their separate ways. She said he was really good and had run her ragged but she loved it. When I asked about her shaving she blushed and said she had purchased a new tennis outfit and didn't want it to chafe her. When I pressed she admitted that yes, she also did it to feel sexy, and because her tennis skirt was so short, and because the idea of spending all that time around Billy with a freshly shaved pussy titillated her.

"Too bad he had no idea what you'd done," I said before I could stop myself. "You should have shown him..."

An uncomfortable silence descended upon the room. I still heard my words ringing in my ears. Janie just stared at me with her mouth open. Neither of us spoke. I felt my face turn several shades of red. Why did I say that? How do I explain? I considered and discarded a hundred explanations. Nothing came out of my mouth. Janie finally closed hers and sat staring at me. I thought she would be angry over what I had said but she didn't seem to be. The silence continued until she broke it.

"Honey, why did you say that? Is that something you really want to have happen?"

I swallowed hard. I wanted to blurt no that was an accident, forget I said that, but something held me back. Janie took my silence as acquiescence and I didn't blame her.

"Oh my God Honey! Really?" her mouth dropped back open again. "You said you like it when men look at me but how much do you want me to show them? Would it turn you on if Billy saw me naked?"

It took all my courage. "Yes. Yes it would. I'm sorry."

Janie rolled her eyes. "I can't believe this crazy vacation. What is happening to us?"

We both sat there in silence. I know I needed to say something but I was still panicked by what I had done. Brave Janie spoke first.

"Honey, I've never seen this side of you. You've never talked about it. I don't what to think."

"Janie, I've never seen this side of myself. I've never been in a position where a hot, hung guy is flirting with my wife and we both know it. I've never seen that flirtatious side of you either, ever. You like that Billy is attracted to you and I like that you like it. We are both caught in this rip-tide and getting pulled along. I wish I could explain everything I am thinking and feeling but I can't. I'm figuring it all out as we go along. Until a few days ago I'd never seen a penis bigger than mine. Now I've seen two. Until a few days ago I had no idea what your opinion of them was. Now I know you are a little fascinated by them. You are so gorgeous, so fit, and so hot, I'd like them to see your body and know I'm your lover. It worries and intimidates me that you are attracted to Billy and André but I like it more than I'm scared of it. I think it turns me on but I have no idea why. I'm afraid to tell you all this because I'm sure you will think I'm a freak or a weirdo. I don't know what we should do next. I don't know where to take this."

We sat looking at each other again. This was already the longest conversation we had ever had about the workings of our sex life. Janie's eyes were bright and alert.

"Tell me you love me," she said.

"I love you."

"Tell me again..."

"Janie, I love you with all my heart. I love that you are my wife and I never want to lose you. I want us to grow old together. I want our life to be amazing."

"Me too Honey. When you made me say André's name that was hot but it was still just us playing around. When you suggested I reveal myself to Billy, that was different, that was involving someone else for real. To me that's a much bigger deal."

"I'm sorry...I didn't mean to make you uncomfortable. Can we forget I said it?"

Janie thought for a moment. "No... No, I want to acknowledge you did say it. It's scary but I'm glad you put it out there. If I am totally honest with you, the idea of Billy looking at me like that is very exciting. I also like that you want to show me off to other men. I plan on accommodating you in that way. Nothing slutty, but I'm definitely going to relax about my wardrobe a bit. I think I might have a small exhibitionist streak and since you want me to, I'm going to explore it. I think it could be fun and exciting for us both."

Another period of silence settled on us.

"So," I offered. "I won a thousand dollars at poker."

Janie screamed and jumped on me.

The next day I could tell Janie had something on her mind but was afraid to say it. I let her struggle for a while and then I came out and told her to tell me.

"Alright," she began. "I'm thinking maybe we try the swimsuit-optional section to tan today..."

I contemplated for a moment. I didn't want to say anything to discourage this new, bold direction we were taking as a couple. "That sounds great, Janie. Were you thinking full nude or just topless?"

"Play it by ear? Topless for sure. If I'm comfortable, full."

"I'm in."

We packed our stuff in silence and headed for the pool. Our room key opened the gate and just like that, we were surrounded by nude and semi-nude people. There were breasts everywhere. I wanted to respect Janie so I kept my eyes to myself but I needn't have worried. Her eyes went from man to man to man. Or, more accurately, from face to penis to face to penis to face to penis. I know it's odd but I really liked it every time she checked some guy out. We chose our chaise lounges quickly and settled in. As promised, Janie untied the bikini knot at her back and slipped her top off over her head. She acted so cool. The cabana boy took our drink order and jogged away, but not before first staring at Janie's perfect tits. I felt such a rush and I suspect she did too. After an hour we both got in the pool to cool off and I floated up behind her. An idea had occurred to me I wanted to share with her.

"Janie, did you bring your phone with you?"

"Out of habit, yes"

"Maybe you should text Billy and have him join you here at the pool."

Janie's eyes got big and then narrowed. A mischievous smile split her face. "You would be okay hanging out just the three of us? Me, naked, in front of both of you."

"Not exactly. I imagine him naked too, which means I'd also have to take off my shorts, so all three of us would be naked."

"Are you sure Billy will go for it with you here?"

"Well, if I had between my legs what he has between his, I'd put it on display every chance I got, especially in front of a sexy woman. Since he's already met me in the sauna I'm sure he'll have no problem getting naked in front of me again."

Janie looked down at her phone and began texting. He answered surprisingly fast.

He'll be here soon," she said. I heard the nervous excitement in her voice and I had to admit, I was excited too.

We sat quietly, lost in our own thoughts about what was happening to us.

Janie surprised me by putting her top back on. She saw the question on my face and told me old habits die hard and she wanted to be able to choose when, and if she would show Billy her boobs. I leaned over her and we kissed a deeply loving and long lasting intimate kiss. It didn't start that way. It began as that little peck couples give each other. But as soon as our lips touched we both felt a current pass through us and the longer we held the kiss, the stronger it became. That kiss had everything packed into it: trust, devotion, excitement, adventure... When we pulled back we were both dreamy-eyed and swooning. Once again I marveled at how sexy my wife was just lying there. That we were about to possibly show her off to another man heightened her allure and made my heart race and my penis swell.

Billy arrived ten minutes later with a towel under one arm and a smile plastered to his face. He remembered me from the sauna and shook my hand like we were old friends. I grabbed him a chaise lounge while he leaned over and kissed Janie on the cheek complimenting her on her tennis skills. When I had the chair in position he dropped into it. I had placed Janie in the middle. As we all got to know each other better I understood better why Janie was attracted to him. In spite of his amazing body and handsome face, he was humble and funny, quick-witted and well-read. We'd been talking about forty minutes and the sun had climbed into the sky, raising the temperature considerably. Janie used that as her excuse.

"Unless one of you gentlemen objects, I'm going to take my top off and get rid of these tan lines..."

Billy and I looked at each other and after I shook my head, he did too. Janie leaned forward and untied the knot at her back, then pulled the top up and over her head. She acted like she had already done this a million times. There was not an ounce of nervousness to be seen. Of course, I know her and I knew exactly what was going on inside her. Her eyes were a little too big, her cheeks a little too flush, and her nipples were standing straight up, straining and swollen. I knew she was incredibly turned on but no one else looking at her would be able to see it. My penis grew fat again.

My wife was stunning. Billy tried to seem cool but he struggled to take his eyes off her. I loved what she did to him. The three of us continued to chat but the conversation was a little strained. We forged ahead. After a time Billy said he was going to jump in the pool to cool off and then, unless one of us objected, he would tan the way he usually does. We both said no problem. I watched Janie's eyes follow him to the pool, swim, walk back to us, and then study every inch of his body as he shook the water from his hair and lowered his trunks. She blew her cool only once when she unconsciously bit her bottom lip.

I scanned the pool and discovered quite a few more people had arrived. Most of the chairs were taken by now. I felt a little more exposed to be playing our game in front of a crowd.

Billy stood there completely naked and my wife, from behind the safety of her sunglasses, devoured him with her eyes. Billy delayed a little to allow my wife to get a good look then lay on his back to tan. After a minute of staring Janie turned to me and silently mouthed the words, 'Oh My God' in a slow exaggerated manner. Billy had made the impression he was hoping for. Janie leaned in to kiss me and quickly whispered "You told the truth." into my ear. She returned her attention to him and I saw her stare and stare at his reclining body like she never wanted to forget the sight. The more she looked at him, the stiffer I became.

Then she totally surprised me and if you had asked me I would have told you not in a million years. Janie stood to readjust her towel on her lounge and moved her hip next to my face.

"Will you do the honors?" she said. It took me a second to figure out what she meant. When I did I reached up and untied the knot of her bikini bottoms. She turned and I did the same to the other.

In super slow motion I saw her bottoms fall away from her body and her glorious, freshly shaved pussy come into view. I was close enough that I saw her swollen and slightly protruding inner-lips too. I shot a lightning-fast glance at Billy and realized he was watching the whole thing too.

Billy's eyes were welded to Janie's sweet, hairless pussy. My wife lifted a leg, exposing herself just a little more, and plucked her bottoms from her ankle. She re-positioned herself to lie back down, opened her legs even more, and Billy and I gawked at her, all pretense at remaining cool gone. We were men and we were flat-out staring. Janie seemed not to notice though. She settled in and retrieved her book as if Billy and I weren't even there. I forced myself to lie back and control my breathing. I was ecstatic. That was easily the sexiest thing I'd ever witnessed.

After a minute or two a thought occurred to me and I grew more uncomfortable with each moment; I was the only one still clothed. Clearly I had something to hide. Look at the amazing gorgeous couple and their shy, inadequate friend. I didn't have anything to be ashamed of and in spite of superior dick Billy lying right there, I stood and as casually as I could muster said, "Good idea Honey," and dropped my shorts too. I didn't care that I was still half-hard.

If you've never sunbathed naked with your wife with a man whose penis is at least twice as big as yours and maybe even bigger, let me tell you, I was a mess. I glanced at his dick almost as much as my wife did. This was the public restroom comparison ritual in over-drive. Men care about these things and I had never in my life been in such a position but the surprising thing was my reaction. Although I was intimidated, embarrassed, mildly humiliated and shamed, my penis kept growing until I was completely and fully hard. Janie spotted it right away and looked at me questioningly but I just shrugged, unable to explain.

She looked back at Billy, seemingly asleep, and then back at me and a slow, devious smile stretched her mouth. I did not know what she was thinking but clearly she was enjoying the situation. Perhaps it answered for her any question she had about how I felt regarding our adventure.

"Honey," she said, just as sweetly as she could muster, "will you lotion my back for me?"

Bitch. Her smile had spread from ear to ear. Billy heard her speak and looked up, hoping to watch her turn over. I glanced around at all the people at the pool now. She had me.

"Certainly my Dear," I answered, determined to call her bluff. I lifted myself out of the chair and my erection wobbled in the breeze. I was on full display for anyone and everyone that looked our way. Billy looked right at it and then back at Janie, scanning her body like he was imagining me fucking her with that dick. I noticed the slightest sneer curl the far corner of his mouth. I stood there waiting for Janie to flip over, which she did, and I knelt beside her and began applying sunscreen to her back. Billy watched my hand caress every inch of her. She had her head turned towards me as she lay on her stomach and gave me a little teasing air-kiss. I gave her one back and told her to open her legs more. When she did I slipped my fingers between them, spreading the oil all over. I let my fingertips graze her labia and she gasped loudly. I whispered a 'gotcha back' and did it again.

After a few minutes I was almost finished and I looked over at Billy and discovered he was now in the same condition as me. Good Lord he was big. The shaft of his dick had to be as thick as my wrist. My heart was pounding and for some unknown reason I wanted to be sure Janie saw it. I acted like I dropped the cap to the sunscreen as I as leaned over to get it, I whispered, "don't be obvious but look at Billy." I replaced the cap and returned to my lounge.

A flying insect of some kind strafed Janie, or at least that's what it looked like, and Janie swatted at it, turning her head to the other side when she finished.

Billy saw her coming and dropped his head back so he didn't get caught looking at her but he was still hard as a rock and as big as a tree. I wish I could have seen Janie's reaction. As it rested across his hips and reached up well past his belly-button, Billy's cock bounced a little with each beat of his heart. It was a menacing python, a missile of flesh. From that day in the sauna I knew it was big but you never know until you see it hard. Billy was hard as diamond and bigger than I thought he would be. What a fucking weapon. Why couldn't I have been born with that attached to me?

I leaned back and from behind my sunglasses watched the others around the pool. Those closest to us were trying not to stare. What a picture we made; a gorgeous woman and her two erect men. The implication was obvious; both of us were fucking Janie. My position of husband was blurred. If you weren't close enough to see our matching wedding rings, you would assume Janie was getting it from Billy and me. That idea humiliated and excited me. I wanted the people there to know she belonged to me but I also paradoxically liked them thinking Billy was fucking her with that big cock. It was so confusing and such a jumble of opposing emotions. One thing was perfectly clear however; in spite of my tumultuous insides, I was just as hard as Billy.

I decided I needed to cool off and calm down so I rose and mumbled that I was going for a quick dip and walked briskly to the pool, my hard-on waving back and forth. I could not get under the water fast enough. I spent about fifteen minutes swimming the length of the pool, most of it under water, and the exertion and cool water brought my erection down. I stopped at the far end to catch my breath. I looked over at Billy and Janie and discovered they had used my absence to move their chairs closer so they could talk. I kept my eyes just above the edge of the pool so I could watch them without them seeing me.

Their chair backs were up now and they sat upright. Billy's legs were straight in front of him but crossed at the ankles but Janie had moved each leg to the outside of her chair so her legs were wide open. I was too far away to see the details but I was sure Billy was being treated to partially open outer and inner labia. Janie's pussy is small and tight and if you pull on one lip, her whole pussy moves. I was a little upset that she had waited for me to leave to do this with him but I felt myself getting hard again and just rolled my eyes at myself. Every time I thought I felt a certain way on things something would happen that showed me another and contradictory side to myself.

What a crazy vacation.

As I watched them, thoroughly enjoying my voyeur experiences, Billy must have asked for the sunscreen because I saw Janie hand it to him. He squirted some into the palm of his hand and began spreading it on his chest. Janie tried not to stare. He continued down across his abs then did his arms and face. Finally, he put lotion on his legs and lastly, his cock. He spoke casually to her as he did it, giving her a reason to look at him. Like every man before him, he spent a little too much time on his penis. Then I saw him hand Janie the bottle and say something to her and I don't know why but I ducked my head down, under the water, sure she was about to look for me. I stayed there for thirty seconds, long enough I was sure she would have given up, then slowly lifted up again.

She was standing and moving her chair, her glorious naked body glinting in the sun. She was positioning herself to spread lotion on Billy's back. Holy fuck! She was going to touch him! My first impulse was to fly out of the pool and return to keep an eye on them both. My experience told me that would be what Janie wanted and expected. That would be what a good husband would do. But I didn't. God help me, I didn't. Instead I drifted towards the other end of the pool, the end closer to them, trying to get a better view. Billy reached down between his legs and adjusted his penis, pointing it at his feet. He was on his stomach and even at this distance I saw the long pink tube between his thighs.

Naked Janie dropped a towel on the ground to kneel upon and squirted some lotion into her hand. She leaned forward and, starting at his shoulders, began to spread, massaging his muscles as she moved down his body. I was dying. This was so exciting and so scary to witness. My wife was touching another man; down his spine and across his lumbar, up his ribs and down his arms. She squirted more into her hands and started at his lower back and my breath caught as her hands rose and fell as they traveled over his firm ass. She continued moving down across his hamstrings and calves and then back up again, resting on his ass where they circled. I knew from her place on her knees her fingertips must have missed his dick by fractions of an inch... maybe they didn't miss at all, maybe she grazed the length of his shaft on the way down and back up again.

Regardless if she touched him or not, his majestic cock was only inches away from her face as she leaned over him and once again, instead of anger or jealousy, butterflies filled my lungs and stomach. She looked so insanely sexy. The whole situation was driving me crazy. I wrapped my fingers around my penis underwater and I was rock hard. Thank God he had already covered the front of him. At this point I wondered if Janie would have stopped. Her face was a frozen mask of concentration. She snapped the cap and moved back to her chair on unsteady legs and I ducked under the water and swam hard for several minutes to get rid of my hard on. By the time I walked back to them they had lay their chairs back as if nothing had happened.

"How was the water?" my wife asked.

"Perfect."

I couldn't see her eyes and she couldn't see mine but we kept our faces aimed at each other for several heart beats. I tried to read her mind but failed. Some twisted part of me asked her to put sunscreen on my back and she replied 'sure' like nothing at all was up. I decided to never play this woman poker. I tucked my penis just like Billy had and felt her follow the same pattern with me as she had with him, the only differences being she did not let her hands linger on my butt and the view she had of my average penis in no way came close to the view she had of his immense one.

After a few minutes we all started talking about work and various vacations we had taken and places around the globe we had visited and in no time everything was back to normal. Eventually we decided we'd had enough sun and dressed, said 'see you later' to Billy and he went his way and we went ours.

As soon as we were back in our hotel room Janie and I attacked each other, ripping off swimsuits, dropping towels and bottles. We were animals. I fucked her on the living room floor one step inside our room. I fucked her again in the shower. She sucked my dick on the bathroom counter and sucked it again as I ordered room service. She flashed me as I opened the door to receive the food and I fucked her on the bedroom floor before we finished our meal. We fell asleep, drained and exhausted, but she woke me up an hour later sucking my dick again and I fucked her one more time. We were going to make that baby sooner than we thought. We did not go out that night. I dialed up a pay-per-view movie, "Transcendence", and waited for Janie to come back from the kitchen. She snuggled up next to me and we watched the first ten minutes or so before she took the remote and hit pause. Our eyes met.

"I have to tell you something," she said.

I hid my glee and waited, nodding for her to go on.

"At the pool today, which was unbelievably hot and sexy and I still can't believe we actually did, while you were swimming...I kind of touched Billy...I touched him before we played tennis too."

She was looking at me with her very best puppy eyes, which totally worked on me, and if I hadn't already known about both I would have melted and forgiven her anyway.

"Explain and define 'touched'," I said.

She proceed to give me a very exact and precise description of everything she did, sugar-coating nothing, even admitting her fingertips did accidentally graze the shaft of his cock once while she was applying the lotion between his thighs. I was so proud of her. I didn't blame her for getting carried away a little. The things we were doing on this vacation were nothing like anything we had ever done.

Neither of us had ever explored this part of ourselves. We weren't real comfortable talking about sexual things to begin with and since our sex life worked so well, there had never been a reason to. We had stumbled in to everything that was happening to us now. So she finds herself confronted with a demi-God of a man and all she does is touch his chest and put sunscreen on his back? I'm so Alright with that. In fact, based on the frequency of my spontaneous erections, I'm more than just okay with it. Some part of my brain really likes it and finds it exciting. We have discovered I have a voyeur streak and Janie has an exhibitionist streak. As long as we are honest and try to share our feelings about what is happening I'm not too worried. I was so relieved she didn't hide from me the things she'd done. This was a big moment for us.

"How did touching him make you feel?"

"Excited, in a sexual way. He's a perfect male specimen. I could never fall in love with him in case you were worried about that. I think he could with me but I don't have that kind of click with him. I wanted to say that to you because I'd be worried about that if the situation were reversed. But he's very attractive. I really liked touching him. His body is so hard."

"His whole body?" I teased.

She looked at the frozen television screen and seemed to drift away from me. "Yes, his whole body. While he was on his stomach and I was putting the lotion on him, I watched him grow hard between his legs. It was erotic Baby. This man could have any woman he wants and here he was spending time with me. Me. I'm married. He has no chance. Yet with me by the pool is how he chooses to spend his afternoon. Then I am spreading sunscreen on him and he gets an erection...in public...because I am touching him. Oh my God it was so intoxicating."

She moved her eyes to me.

"Why did you get an erection too, Honey? I thought you would be so shy. You said Billy was intimidating. I thought you'd remain dressed. You dropped your swimsuit just like us and then next thing I know you are hard. Don't get me wrong, I loved it. At that moment I knew you were having fun and totally alright with everything, I was just surprised you were that alright with everything. I felt so sexy surrounded by hard men. Every woman there today wished she was me."

"You looked so sexy Doll. Billy couldn't take his eyes off of you. It really got to me." I decided to leave off the other thoughts I had about people thinking both Billy and I were fucking her. I also left out how much I enjoyed the way she kept looking at Billy's penis.

"What a day," she said with a sigh. "What a vacation. I have to say, I've never felt this close to you Mark. I love that we are sharing this adventure."

I wrapped my arms around her and told her I felt the same way, which was true. I reached for the remote to start the movie but she stopped me, pushing me back and opening my robe. I couldn't get hard again but she didn't care. She just needed a penis in her mouth. She just needed to do something about the white-hot arousal which still flowed through her veins.

Her phone buzzed again, waking us both. I looked at the clock while she fumbled for her phone in the dark. It was one in the morning. She read the text message and turned to me.

"It's Billy," she stated.

"What does he want?"

"He wants me to meet him in the hotel bar downstairs."

"Why? What's up?"

"He just wants to see me again before he goes to bed."

I studied my wife's face. She had a lot going on in her mind at this moment. I saw the conflict there; wanting to see Billy, wanting to avoid hurting me, loving that he wanted to see her again, worried about meeting a man in a bar not her husband. I offered her no help at all. I wanted to see what she would do, what choice she would make if it was totally up to her. She asked me what I thought and I told her it was all her choice. Her brow furrowed and she chewed her lip. Finally she picked up the phone and sent him a text, then dropped the phone on the bed. I held my breath. Part of me was hurt by the idea she would leave me in the middle of the night to go spend time with him. Part of me was intensely aroused by the idea she would leave me in the middle of the night to go spend time with him. I may have mentioned many of these emotions were paradoxical and conflicting? She sat looking at her phone until I had to ask her what choice she made.

"I'm staying here with you Honey."

I exhaled quietly.

"I'm extremely flattered he text me. I know it's a booty call and I don't care. I'm extremely flattered he text me."

She sounded like she had more to say so I waited. I'm sure she was imagining what the encounter with him would have been like.

"Fuck," she stated.

The glow from her phone slowly faded. I heard her drop it to the floor.

"No," she went on, clearly having an internal conversation. "This was right; too much, too fast."

I felt the bed move and the covers get pulled back. Her hot mouth closed on my soft dick again.

"Wake up and fuck me Baby," she moaned. "I really need some dick."

For some reason I found her saying 'some dick' and not 'your dick' wildly exciting.

An hour later we were falling asleep again. Or, more accurately, she was. I laid there for a while thinking. How would I have felt if Janie had gone to the bar to meet Billy? Was she thinking of him while having sex with me? If she had gone to the bar, would anything have happened between them? If something did, how would I feel about it? Every question I had always resulted in a confused and imprecise answer. There were so many areas of grey. In almost every instance I would feel excitement, hurt, confusion, insecurity and arousal.

There simply was no clear path forward. To choose one path meant to exclude another and regrets and second guesses would abound. I slowly came around to the opinion that while on this vacation, all bets were off. There would be no finger pointing or accusations. We should do what we want to do in the moment knowing we leave it all behind once we head back home. In the morning, after her shower, I told Janie my thoughts. She listened closely, nodding occasionally, and summed it all up with a "That sounds perfect."

We pumped into André that afternoon as he was returning from rock-climbing. He had his shirt off, was caked in dust and sweat, and was exhausted and not at all talkative. We parted company after only a few minutes. Once out of ear-shot, Janie said,

"Fuck this fucking place." She was smiling. Confused, I looked her for an explanation.

She just patted the side of my face. About fifteen minutes later I figured it out.

"Oh. André looked good?"

"Very. Rugged. Handsome, athletic and virile and knowing certain things about his anatomy, thanks to you, makes just talking to these guys virtually impossible.

"I thought it was something a girl would want to know. Besides, they traumatized me. I needed to talk to someone about it and since you are my wife, you got the job."

Janie laughed and slipped her arm through mine. We spent the rest of the afternoon shopping and then stopped for a light dinner. Back at the hotel we went down to the Jacuzzi for an hour or two, drinking Chardonnay from plastic cups, until we were tipsy and loose. Everything became funny.

We met another couple from the States, Eric and Jenny, and really got along well with them. They were a little older than us and had been together forever, traveling the world, raising kids. We found them inspirational.

While all four of us laughed, relaxed, and drank, Janie's cell buzzed again. She got out of the tub to check it. I saw her brow furrow again. She looked up at me and said, "It's work again, same as last night. They are having the same problem." She waited for me to offer her an opinion but just like last night when he text, I left it all up to her. She wrestled with it for a minute and then started texting back. When she finished she returned to the tub and said to all of us, "Problems at work. Last night I left them to themselves but tonight I am going to handle it myself."

My heart stopped. I was soaking in water well over a hundred degrees but my blood was suddenly ice water. Janie was going to meet him. We stayed for another ten minutes and then we said our goodbyes, trading cell phone numbers and promising to stay in touch. I used that time to recover my wits and by the time we stepped out of the Jacuzzi, and into our robes, my penis was already getting fat. We rode the elevator and walked back to our room in silence.

Once inside the room Janie turned and hit me with the deepest, most passionate and lusty kiss of my life. She held my face in her hands and poured her heart into me. I responded and put everything I felt for her into a kiss. We were both left puffing for air.

"Obviously that text was from Billy," she said. I nodded. "He wants to see me again but this time he also invited you. He will be down in the bar in an hour. He says the band is great and we should hear them play and maybe if my husband doesn't mind too much, dance with him to a few of their songs. I told him we'd be there. If you really don't want to go, I've decided I'm going to go without you, I just won't have as much fun."

I studied her face. "Tell me something, and be totally truthful; do you want me to come, or would you prefer to be alone with him?"

She had no hesitation at all. "Oh, I want you there Honey. I may not be as comfortable with all this as you think I am. I need you there. We are doing this together."

"Then let's get ready," I said, kissing her cheek.

Forty-five minutes later Janie stepped into the living room where I was watching a football game and waiting for her to finish getting ready. My jaw fell into my lap. She wore a sheer white dress shirt on top of a black lace bra, two buttons undone so just a hint of her impressive cleavage showed. Her skirt was short and black and pleated and her fantastic legs were wrapped in black stocking which a quick twirl revealed to be thigh-highs. A glimpse of see-through black lace panties completed her entrance. I was stunned. I was speechless. Janie had never dressed so daring and provocative in her life and while she didn't actually show all that much skin, she was pure walking sexy. She must have enjoyed my reaction because she started laughing at me.

"Alright," she chuckled. "You answered my 'how do I look' question and I believe you."

"Fucking Christ, Janie! You look amazing!" I knew she had dressed up for Billy too and that thought warmed my chest. Every day she was becoming more and more a sexual creature. I loved it.

The club was already busy when we got there but Billy had saved us a table. The band was excellent, mixing in original music with popular covers and doing both exceptionally well. I caught Janie eyeing the lead singer for a moment too long and when she turned and realized she'd been caught she just blew me an air kiss and smiled.

Everybody shook hands and hugged and Billy and Janie kissed cheeks again. Drinks arrived and we all relaxed and tried to talk over the loud music. As the band launched into a song I recognized, Janie grabbed Billy's hand and led him to the dance floor. In seconds it was packed and I lost sight of them.

They did not return for three songs and when they did they were sweaty and out of breath. Janie looked even better than when we left the hotel room. She practically glowed.

A little later I danced with Janie and then Billy did again. The drinks kept flowing and the band kept playing and Janie really started to unwind. It was great to see. We all had a strong buzz going. Just after she returned from the bathroom Billy leaned over the table and asked me if he could ask me a question. I said sure, of course.

"Look at all these beautiful women here at the club... you don't even see them. Why? Your wife is flirting with a guy but you don't flirt with any women. I don't understand it. Forgive me if I'm out of line. I don't mean to be rude. I'm just curious. You did it at the pool too."

I put my hands on top of his. "I'm not offended," I said over the music. "The answer is simple; there is only one woman in the room. There was only one woman at the pool. Where else do I need to look?" I smiled broadly. "Janie fills my world. But let's turn the question around; why are you flirting with her? She's married. We are obviously happy. You can't steal her from me." I felt Janie tense and Billy too. Then he laughed out loud.

"I flirt with her for the same reason you do, my friend," he boomed. "With her here there are no other women in the room. There are no other women at the pool. She appears and she is all one can see." He raised his glass to me. "I like you. You are one lucky bastard." We clinked our glasses. I looked at Janie. She was thunderstruck. The words Billy and I had exchanged about her had a profound effect on her. Her eyes were watery. I asked her if she was okay.

She nodded once. "Oh my God you guys are too much. I'm the luckiest woman on earth. Those are the sweetest things any man ever said to a woman and you didn't even say them to me."

She leaned in and gave me one of her special 'I'm so deeply in love with you' kisses and I returned it.

Next she leaned over to give Billy a kiss too and I think she meant to kiss his cheek but something scrambled in her brain along the way and she came down with her lips right on his. The intended peck turned into a kiss and grew into something passionate and I saw their cheeks move as their tongues sought each other and played. It lasted an eternity of maybe five or ten seconds before Janie broke it off and covered her mouth with her hand.

She looked at me with big apologetic eyes and started to say something but I just covered her mouth with another passionate kiss until she started kissing me back. Then I broke our kiss and with my heart in my throat, turned her face towards Billy again and nudged her forward.

"Honey-" she began. Billy was a great wing-man. He did not miss a beat as he took Janie's chin in his hand and kissed her with passion. She was stiff for the first two seconds and then the alcohol and lust she felt for him loosened her up and I watched her melt into the kiss. I wasn't sure if what I was doing was smart, but it sure as fuck was sexy.

I let them kiss for a while, their tongues exploring each other's mouth. Janie brought her hands up to Billy's face and Billy held her shoulders. When I interrupted she had a glazed look until she saw me coming in for another and wrapped her arms around my neck and pulled me in. The three of us were lost in the moment, dizzy from the pounding music and the drink, on fire from the wanton lust and desire.

I moved around the table and stood behind Janie, shielding her from the rest of the room. I moved my mouth down and nibbled her ear and continued down her neck. Goose bumps rose on her arm. I stood back up and Billy moved in and kissed her lips again. She was so hungry for him. In some ways it was hard to see but in other ways it was astonishingly erotic. Janie had her eyes closed, taking it all in. I leaned in and said I needed a bathroom break and would be right back. Janie turned and kissed me.

Of course, I didn't go to the bathroom. I wandered towards it until the crowd hid me and then I circled back and took a spot where I could watch them. Billy turned her away and backed her into him, her back against his chest. He took over on her ears and neck where I had left off, both his hands on her shoulders. Her eyes were still closed. It was a while before I noticed it but Janie's right arm was making little up and down motions. At first I didn't understand but I soon realized she was stroking his cock through his pants. My wife had her fingers wrapped around another man's shaft and was slowly jacking him! A tiny surge of jealousy surged in me but was instantly swamped by a tidal wave of lust. The longer I watched, the hotter I got.

Finally I couldn't take anymore and actually went to the restroom. When I got back to the table they were in basically the same position, just turned more towards the wall for additional privacy. Janie had a strange far-away look in her eyes and I made a note to cut back on her alcohol consumption. As I got closer I came into her focus and she watched me closely for my reaction to what she was doing.

Then I got my second surprise. While I was at the restroom, Janie had slipped her hand inside his pants. No longer was she stroking him through cloth, she now had her fingers wrapped around his naked shaft. A groan escaped me and she heard me and smiled. Her skirt had ridden up from rubbing against the front of him and the tops of her stockings were visible. Three buttons were now undone instead of two. Billy had been busy and I'm sure his hands had gone everywhere they could in public during the short time I was gone.

Janie watched my face and eyes closely. She knew I was taking in all the details of her dalliance.

“Do you like what you see, Honey?” she purred.

I nodded once. “Fuck yes Baby. You are so hot I feel like I'm going to explode. Are you holding his naked penis? Is his bare cock in your hand?”

“Yes... Mark, it is, and he's so thick I can't reach all the way around him. He's so hard for me. I love it. I can't even squeeze him. He's like a rock. He's like diamond. A red-hot diamond and it's all because of me.”

I stepped closer and kissed her lips as Billy nibbled her neck and ear. Billy had an arm across her belly and I noticed his hand move up and cup the bottom of her breast. I tweaked the nipple of her other breast. Janie exhaled hard and her body shuddered.

A few people were starting to notice and Janie followed my eyes and saw them too. Like a spell was broken she withdrew her hand from his pants and adjusted her clothing, pushing her skirt back down over the top of her thigh-highs. She even re-buttoned two buttons of her top. Billy let her step away and when she finished she turned and gave him another ardent kiss. I saw his hand smoothly come up and cup a breast. Janie covered his with hers and he pinched a nipple through the bra. She moaned into his mouth.

Billy stood and Janie stepped back from him. Turning her attention back to me she walked up and slipped her arms around my neck.

“You're not mad?” she asked.

“No Lover, not at all.”

“You're not jealous?”

“A little, but it seems to add to my excitement. I like it. I like seeing you like this.”

“Have I gone too far?”

“Not at all...although I'm not sure where all of this is headed. Maybe you two should go dance a few songs and burning off some energy?”

I looked up at Billy and he was watching me closely, no doubt wondering if I was pissed at the liberties he'd taken and wondering if he could have gotten away with more. Janie turned to face him and asked if he wanted to dance. He did. I watched the two of them hold hands and head for the dance floor.

When the waitress came around again I ordered everyone another round. Billy and Janie were out there for a long time. Janie looked guilty when they returned and I knew they had been making out and maybe more than that. I let her rest and drink a little then when they played a slow song I took her hand and led her out. We held each other tight.

“Are you having fun?” I asked.

“Mark, Honey, this is beyond my wildest expectations. You’ve been amazing. I cannot believe we are actually doing this. I’ve had friends tell me about nights like this but I never in a million years thought it would happen to me. I love you so much.”

“Never forget that.”

“Oh, I won’t. You have my heart Honey. Billy is just wild naughty fun.”

We danced for a minute and then I asked her. “When you came back to the table you looked guilty. What happened?”

My wife swallowed and looked at the floor.

“I’m sorry Dearie. We started dancing pretty raunchy. We had worked our way over into a dark corner and we started kissing like crazy and when he slipped a finger inside my panties, I opened my legs a little. He pushed it right up into me. I’m sure you know I’m soaked. It felt amazing. He didn’t make me cum or anything but he probably could have. I regained my composure and made him stop and that’s when we came back.”

“Alright love. I understand. Have fun but don’t get too carried away and don’t get caught. We don’t want to get kicked out.”

“So you are cool with him pushing a finger inside me?”

“No, I’m cool with you wanting him to push a finger inside you. I am discovering I really like it when I see you excited. I love it when I can see you are turned on.”

She pursed her lips. “Hmm, that has possibilities...”

“Doesn’t it though? I actually like it when you look at him with desire. It makes you more sexual in my eyes.”

We all calmed down a bit and the rest of the night went smoothly. Billy and Janie made out a few more times and there was some light petting on top of clothing but nothing too wild. Finally the crowd began to thin and we said our good nights, Billy taking one more long, drawn-out, amorous kiss before shaking my hand and heading to bed. We did the same, making out in the elevator on the way to our room.

I expected Janie would be like a caged panther set loose when we finally got in bed but she wasn't. She was slow and romantic and loving and intimate. I was too until she started sucking my cock. Then for a while I was a fucking pirate pillaging her town. But we got passed that and made love for almost two hours. Dawn was just around the corner by the time we ultimately fell asleep.

When we woke we knew it was late in the morning by the slant of the sun beams. Janie and I were in no hurry to get out of bed and lay there talking about what we wanted to do to the backyard of our house. After a while it seemed obvious were avoiding any talk about last night. I wanted to know what she thought and felt now, in the hard light of day. I waited for a natural pause in our conversation and then brought it up.

"Janie, I have to ask, how do you feel about last night? What did you like? What do you regret? Is it okay if we talk about it a little bit?"

She seemed ready. "Baby, I loved every bit of it. I regret nothing we did. I was worried you would be upset. I thought perhaps you liked the idea of some things happening but seeing and experiencing the reality would be too much, and I was prepared for that. But your reaction was perfect. We've been talking about a lot of things normally outside our comfort zone and honestly, I don't know what to think about them. I'm now thinking it may be better to check things off your list by actually doing them and seeing if we like them. If we don't, then we avoid them. Does that make sense? Instead of trying to figure out in advance if we're Alright with something, and worrying about guessing wrong, let's just do those things. Then we'll know for sure. But last night was perfect. God I felt so sexy! When we came back to the room I was more in love with you than I had ever been. I think you were feeling it too. We made love sweeter than even our honeymoon."

By now I had a smile from one ear to the other. She continued.

“Someone watching us would have thought I was acting slutty and in the past that would have stopped me completely. Last night I knew what the two men touching me thought of me. I knew how much they wanted me. What other people thought they knew didn't matter to me as much. I knew you and Billy respected me. It was all about passion and desire and longing.”

The memory of last night was getting to me and my penis started to rise. Janie saw it and re-positioned herself on the bed, holding it up like a microphone. She kissed the head.

“I can't believe how much sex we are having.” She kissed the head again. “Billy's flirting with me is drastically increasing our chances of getting pregnant. We should thank him. If it's a boy maybe we should name him William.”

I know she was just goofing off, saying whatever popped into her head. I know her. I know she didn't mean anything by it. But somehow what she was saying was really getting to me. My penis started to pulse and throb.

She went on, licking my shaft as she talked.

“Because of you and Billy I'm wet all the time. I think about sex constantly Honey. I look at men differently now. You're all just big hunks of meat to me.”

She was speaking casually, letting her mind wander, unaware so was turning me on so much.

“I can't even remember the last penis I held in my hand other than yours. High school? Probably. But Billy's is so big! It's massive Honey. He's so much bigger than you.”

I shot a bolt of cum across the room! It surprised us both. She had been lazily kissing and licking my shaft, not really engaged in sex at all, but her words were really getting to me. I was lying there with my eyes closed becoming more and more aroused, picturing everything she was saying. I saw her arm again down the front of Billy's pants, knowing she held his dick in her hand, the same hand she was using on me right now. But for some reason her last statement did it for me. I can't tell you why. When she compared mine to his and he won, for some reason that did me in. I came really hard, blasting several more bolts of semen after that first one.

“Mark! Baby, what happened?”

I couldn't answer her. I had no real explanation. I let my head fall back onto the pillow and just laughed.

We had lunch on the veranda overlooking the beach. So far our day had been mostly small talk. She tried to ask me again about what excited me that much but I told her I'd have to think about it. I didn't have an answer. She waved a celery stick in the air and said, "You know, I've noticed something; every time I say something that I worry is going to hurt your feelings or upset you, it turns you on instead. What do you think of that?"

"I think there are lots of things you could say that would hurt and upset me and I'd rather you not say them."

"No Honey, I'm not talking about those things. I'm not talking about everyday things. I'm talking about sex things specifically... like Billy things and André things... comments within the borders of our new adventure. Think about it."

I did and I saw her point but I was reluctant to give her carte blanche to say whatever she felt like saying. She saw the worry on my face.

"Silly, I'm not suggesting I say anything and everything. I'm wondering if I can relax and treat you more like a grown-up. I always worry too much. I keep my mouth shut way more than you know. I also see you second-guessing yourself and remaining silent. Wouldn't it be nice to speak more freely to each other?"

I admitted it would.

"Then let's try it. Deal?"

I shook her hand across the table and spoke before I let go.

"But I still can't tell you why I got so turned-on. It's not that I know and I'm not saying, it's that I don't know."

"I get that. No worries."

We finished our lunch with small talk and enjoying the spectacular view. So much had happened to us on this trip. We felt so much more evolved to me. There was a little fear of the unknown but mostly I felt really good about where we were and where we were headed.

Janie said she wanted to nap because of our late night but I wasn't tired. Back in the States there was a football game I was curious about so I told her I'd watch it in the bar and she should just come down when she woke up from her nap. We kissed in the lobby and went our separate ways.

As I sipped my beer and watched the San Diego Chargers beat up the Seattle Seahawks, My mind drifted over the events of last night. A beautiful brunette woman entered the bar and selected a bar stool four down from me. She fished a lap-top out of her purse and started pecking out an email to someone. I looked her up and down, considering what Billy had said to me. She must have felt my eyes on her because she turned after just a minutes or two and looked right at me with big brown eyes.

“Hawks or Bolts?” she asked.

“Bolts.”

“Good man.”

She asked if I was from San Diego and I said I was and we began to talk about everything. She was smart and funny and sexy and I realized if I wanted her, I could have her, and I confess, part of me really wanted her.

But something had changed for me. The part of me that wanted her was smaller and farther away and I realized that chasing and conquering new pussy had now taken a back seat to watching Janie.

I don't mean to make it sound like I ever cheated on Janie. I haven't. But like every man I know, I'd always felt there is nothing like new pussy. At least that's what I felt until this vacation. This new path to excitement we'd discovered was shoving every other consideration out of the way. I wrapped up my conversation with her gently and went back to the game. She went back to her email.

My mind drifted back to the pool yesterday and Janie's hand gliding across Billy's body. I remembered her hands coating his ass with sunscreen. I shifted in my seat, suddenly uncomfortable. I remembered her hand dipping between his thighs and finding out later that yes, she had touched his penis. My sweet Janie touched another man's penis.

I decided to go for a walk and dropped money on the bar and waved to the bartender. Gardens or beach? Beach. As I strolled along with my shoes in my hand and my pants rolled up, I saw gorgeous women everywhere. I no longer cared. They were nice to look at but no longer a source of arousal. Janie was now my source of arousal. She gets to look at men but I no longer will look at women. The thought was unfair and unreasonable and totally turned me on. More than gets to look at men, I decided I was going to encourage her to look at men. Just look? Why stop at Billy? I want Janie to look at any man she wants to, every man she wants to. More than look, I want Janie to touch any man she wants.

I had to stop and catch my breath. My heart was racing. I had worked myself up to the point I was walking really fast through the white sand and water and had splashed my pants and shirt. I tried to formulate all my thoughts into something precise; Janie is encouraged to explore any man that catches her eye but I must remain true and devoted to only her. Fuck, that was such a hot idea. I remembered I told Janie to meet me at the bar after her nap so I turned around and headed back.

I reclaimed my bar stool and said hello to Gorgeous Brunette. The Seahawks had pulled within six but the Chargers had the ball with only eight minutes left in the game. Janie entered the bar about ten minutes later and wow, she looked amazing.

She was wearing one of the new floral-print sundresses she'd purchased and by the way her breasts swayed, I knew she wasn't wearing a bra. The dress was a little sheer and the sunlight from outside illuminated her body beneath. Even Gorgeous Brunette did a double take before returning to her lap-top. The bartender watched her cross the floor to me. Janie's small sandals slapped the tiles as she walked. She carried a tiny floral clutch.

Janie looked at the back of Gorgeous Brunette and then at me, raising her eyebrows. I shrugged. I took my drink, gave the bartender the high sign, and Janie and I moved to a booth to finish the game. I explained the lady at the bar had made a couple passes at me but I wasn't interested. She scoffed. I explained it was true and told her my newly discovered personal epiphany. She searched my eyes and I saw understanding form. She took my arm and squeezed tight. I slipped a hand down to test my no-bra theory and discovered I was right. Instead of slapping my hand, like I expected, Janie kissed my mouth.

“ You like?” she asked.

“ Very much. Panties.?”

“ Yes, of course.”

“ No. Go in the ladies room and take them off and bring them back to me.”

She gawked at me until she realized I was serious. I saw her consider several retorts but her mind was racing and she said nothing. Finally she said “Okay, mister...” and slid from the booth. Five minutes later her black lace panties, which were a lovely choice for a sundress by the way, were in my pants pocket and her eyes were big with excitement.

I ordered her a beer to go with mine and we finished watching the Charger defense rise to the task and win the game. Most excellent.

I put my hand on her bare knee and she didn't flinch. I slid it up and she parted her legs just slightly. How different this was from the last time I did this. I was amazed at how far we'd come. I checked the empty bar and moved my hand higher, searching for her labia.

When I found them she was drenched. I leaned in and whispered hoarsely into her ear, "Just like Billy did," and pushed my finger way up in her. She squeezed my arm even harder and ground her hips back at me, smothering a whimper into my shoulder. I pumped slowly in and out and she spread her legs wide enough to pull her sundress taut across her thighs. If someone had been sitting opposite us they would have seen her pussy. But no one was, so I was free to do as I wished and Janie made no move to stop me. Within minutes I had her cumming hard on my hand, her face buried against my chest.

I acted like nothing at all had happened while she slowly came back around and regained her composure.

"Jesus Christ that was hot," she finally said.

"I could not agree more. You are the sexiest woman alive."

"Me? What about you? I loved the way you ordered me to remove my panties. That was so hot. I might have a submissive side we never knew about."

The bartender came to check on us and I ordered an appetizer; tomatoes stuffed with real crab and a variety of dips. We ate and talked for several hours. We didn't discuss it but both of us felt more in-love than ever before. We recognized it in each other's eyes and doubly enjoyed it because we knew and didn't need to talk about it. I was falling in love with her every day.

Her clutch vibrated on the table top. She withdrew her phone and read the message there and laughed out loud as she stuff crab into her mouth.

"I miss you," she read. "Where are you? Would you and your husband like to take a walk on the beach with me? Billy. What do you think Honey? Want to take a walk with Billy?"

"Actually, I do, but right now, dressed the way we are."

Janie looked down at her dress and looked up with a sly smile.

“ Alright Mister, I accept.” She began replying, talking as she typed. “That sounds great to us. Meet us at the jetty. We are ready and walking there now.”

The response was fast. “Perfect! Me too.”

I paid the tab and took her arm and never even glanced back at Gorgeous Brunette.

We had about two hours of sunlight left in the day. The three of us put the sun to our backs and began a slow stroll along the wet sand and an occasional wave would reach our feet. I carried mine and Janie's shoes. Billy wore knee length green shorts and a tan cotton T-shirt. All three of us had a comfortable, relaxed mood about us. Any awkwardness was gone. We chatted as we walked, talking about every subject under the sun. Janie naturally fell into place between the two men. After we had left the hotel far behind we were the only ones on the beach. I stopped to examine a bizarre sea creature which had washed up on the shore and Janie and Billy kept walking. By the time I looked up they were far enough ahead the breeze swallowed what they were saying. I watched them walk together. Janie glanced back to make sure I was finished and coming to join them.

Janie was so insanely sexy. The wind played with her long brown hair and dress, giving me tantalizing glimpses of her bare thighs and once, her firm naked butt. She made no move to keep her dress in place. She was carefree.

I saw her reach and take Billy's hand. Blood surged to my dick once more. I held back as they walked hand in hand, matching my pace to theirs, marveling at the pure eroticism of that view. To anyone else they were just another couple holding hands and strolling along the beach, but not to me.

Billy tugged her close enough their shoulders touched as they walked. After a few minutes he let go of her hand and slipped his muscular arm across her shoulder. My wife melted into him, moving up against his chest, both her arms slipping around his torso and her hands clasping on the other side. My breath caught in my throat. The view was exquisitely agonizing and erotic. I was hard as a rock watching my wife engage in such small, intimate acts with another man.

After another minute they stopped and faced each other and for a heartbeat just gazed into each other's eyes. Then Janie lifted on her toes and Billy lowered his mouth and they kissed with slow and tender intimacy. I stopped to watch. My heart was a jack-hammer under my ribs and my stomach was doing flips.

Even this far down the beach the hotel still had chaise lounges out for patrons to sit on, although no one was around us for miles. I approached slowly, wanting to avoid disrupting them. When I got arm's length away I waited for a break in their kissing and took both their hands, leading them to a nearby lounge. I nudged Billy to sit, which he did, curiosity on his face. I sat next to him. We both gazed at Janie.

"Strip," I instructed Janie. Her eyes grew big and she hesitated, but to her credit it was only for a split-second. Billy and I sat and watched as she removed first one sandal and then the other. She turned her back to us and undid the clasp at her neck, then slowly lowered the zipper down her back. She slipped the dress first off one shoulder, then looked at us both by twisting her head around, then slipped the dress off her other shoulder, holding it up with her arms. As she lowered her arms the dress came with them and the curve of her spine and gorgeous muscles of her back were exposed.

"Stop," Billy ordered, and she did. "Don't move." Billy tugged me up and pulled the chair right up to her. "Continue," he said as we re-seated ourselves. Janie took a deep breath and began lowering the dress past her hips... the dimples above her ass... the crease of her butt cheeks... the lower curve of her tight ass... When the diamond of her bald pussy became visible, Billy and I both simultaneously moaned, which made Janie arch her back with pleasure. She dropped the dress and stepped out of it.

Movement from the corner of my eye made me look and Billy had dropped his shorts and was stroking his semi-erect cock. It flopped back and forth against his fist. It was a pink sea-serpent, longer and thicker than a can of air-freshener, topped with an apple of a head. Perfectly proportioned and perfectly smooth except for one thick vein running along the top until it reached just below the head, where it curved out of sight. I tried to speak but my throat was too dry. I tried again and managed to croak, "Janie, turn around."

It was hard for her to face us. I could see that. But she did it. Her nipples were swollen and pointing at the sun and her inner labia were already starting to grow. When she saw Billy stroking his big, gorgeous cock it knocked the wind out of her. All of us held our positions for a moment and then Billy stood and kicked away his shorts and stripped off his shirt. Now completely nude, he leaned forward and ever so slowly kissed Janie's left nipple. Her groan filled my ears and if she wouldn't have wrapped her hands around his neck she may have fallen. She pulled him in and fed him her breast. I followed Billy's lead and dropped my pants and shirt too. If someone came by we'd have a difficult time getting dressed in time but at this point, who gave a fuck?

With my dick in my and I started circling them, looking for every sexy angle I could. What an amazing sight. Billy soon moved to the other breast and Janie cupped them both for his pleasure. He teased them mercilessly. At one point he moved both hands to them, covering hers, and his mammoth cock trailed along her thigh, leaving a trail of shiny precum. Janie felt it and searched for his dick and continued the hand-job she had started the other night only this time nothing was in the way.

The two of them made out like crazy, hands roaming everywhere, Billy's mouth devoured Janie from the waist up. When he'd had enough of that he hugged Janie, wrapping his powerful arms around her, and lifted her off the ground. My heart stopped beating when his big erect cock swung up between her legs and mashed her pussy lips. The head of the beast extended past her ass cheeks on the other side. Janie felt it there, I know she did, but she just kissed him even more passionately than before. It wasn't there long but it felt like an eternity to me. Billy spun her around with him and laid her on her back on the chaise lounge, then dropped to his knees and began kissing her inner thighs. My wife was losing her mind.

“Mark! Mark! Where are you Baby?”

I moved to her side quickly and took her hand, gazing into her eyes.

“Mark, do you want this too? Tell me Honey! Oh! Oh my God! Baby, I need to know. I need to ohhhh fuuuuck!”

I knew the moment Billy's tongue found her clit. She squeezed my hand hard enough to almost break it and her whole body clenched. Her eyes rolled back and a long, low moan poured from her throat. He was mauling a tit with one hand while his other hand was using fingers on her. I gazed down at my beautiful wife, her sweaty body writhing from the attentions of another man and I could never remember being more turned on. This was another universe of arousal, a universe with different rules and different laws.

Bastard Billy had his own agenda though. He brought her close to a mind-shattering orgasm and then backed away. Then he did it again. Then he began kissing his way up her body, across her firm abs to her tits, his hips forcing her legs wider apart. Janie was whining and mewling and begging him to finish her, pleading with him how close she was. He spent some time licking and sucking her breasts then moved even farther up, to kiss her, and I looked down at his huge, rock hard cock poised in perfect alignment with her blossoming lips. The head dwarfed her little pussy. I looked where her stomach became her ribs, just below her sternum, gauging where the length of him would reach if he ever pushed that beast into her. It made my head dizzy.

Janie broke away from kissing Billy and squeezed my hand again. "Lover! Oh my God hurry, answer me!" Her breath came in ragged gasps, unknown to her, her hips had begun a circular undulation, seeking the penis they knew was close and desperate to capture it.

I remained silent. I wanted to know this was all her, that she was doing nothing to please me and everything to please herself. That knowledge made everything that was happening real and that everything that was happening was real made it all hotter than the sun.

Our eyes met. I locked eyes with my beautiful, loving wife, my soul's mate, the woman I had forever pledged my heart to, and held her gaze as she slowly brought her legs up and wrapped them around Billy's narrow hips and then curled her back and lifted her pussy up to his throbbing shaft. I didn't see the actual penetration but she cried out like she'd been stabbed, and in a way she had, and Billy growled like an animal and flexed his ass muscles and pushed his enormous phallus deeper into my woman. Janie cried out again and with the hand that wasn't holding mine she slapped his ass and tried to pull him even deeper, which he obliged. I moved to see her pussy lips were stretched into an obscene circle trying to accommodate Billy's incredible girth. He caught me looking at the point where their bodies joined and he pulled his heavy spear out so I could see my wife's copious juices running down the length of him. She wanted him so badly her pussy was gushing. He quickly lined himself up again and sank back into her, then did it again, each time a little farther in.

Janie would not let go of my hand. Billy started fucking her strong and smooth and with my free hand I began stroking my dick. I lasted about a minute before I shot my load onto the sand. When Billy would arch his back I would lean over her and we would kiss like we had never kissed before. The emotional intensity was mind-blowing. His cock filled my wife completely, stretching her insides to accept him.

Her cries of pleasure rocked my world. The ecstasy on her face from his cock pumping her drove me insane with desire. When she squeezed my hand harder I knew she was getting close. She let go of my hand and grabbed the back of my neck and pulled me down for a wildly passionate kiss and right in the middle of it she broke away and sobbed her powerful climax. She let go of me and grabbed Billy in the same way but with both hands and pulled him down and kissed him with all her desire as he drove his cock right into the heart of her body and pushed her orgasm even higher. She held on to him and thrust her hips up to meet his and fucked him with everything she had. He returned it, fucking her with all the want built up since he'd first laid eyes on my wife.

I stepped back and let them have each other. As I watched, I started playing with my limp dick, desperate for another erection. Billy ravaged her breasts with his teeth and tongue and soon had her on the verge of another orgasm. He slowed way down and lifted her legs over his shoulders, which allowed him to go even deeper inside her, and he began to saw back and forth. Janie was moaning and groaning and clawing the sides of the chair and when she came this time she threw her head back and screamed.

From my new angle I watched as Billy's scrotum swung back and forth like a punching bag. His testicles were proportionate to the rest of him and I flashed back to the day in the sauna when his cock was so close to my face. Now here it was driving Janie to higher levels of pleasure than she'd ever known.

I moved back to her face and kissed her sweetly. Her lips were trembling.

“Darling,” she muttered, as Billy kept fucking her. “Baby, there's uhh nothing like it. I've never felt anything like it. Oh! I love it. Thank you.”

As she spoke to me her body rocked rhythmically from Billy sliding his cock in and out of her. It was surreal. Billy sped up and increased the power of his thrusts.

“How far do you want to go?” I asked, thrilled and terrified by what she might say.

She held my eyes. “All the way Baby. I want it. God help me but I want him, all of him.”

I stopped breathing. I wanted it so badly too! This was insane! Janie wanted Billy to cum inside her and I loved that she did. My erection slowly returned and I stood over Janie and stroked it, showing her how I felt. She turned her total attention to Billy, tangling her fingers in his black hair. I watched her legs circle his waist and pull him in as she brought his mouth down to hers. He never missed a beat, pounding my wife with his God-cock, sucking in air and increasing his thrusts again. I knew I was about to watch him fill Janie with his sperm and I knew she wanted it.

I jacked myself faster as I watched him fuck her and then he grunted and growled and drove his hips faster and kissed her and held her hips in his hands and thrust hard once, and again, and again, and then the dam broke and his hips were a blur as he cried out and released his flood. His big balls rose and fell more times than I could count as he pumped a massive wave of semen into my wife. I reached the peak of excitement and cried out too and arched my back as I shot my load onto the sand again, one thought running through my head over and over; he's cumming inside Janie, he's cumming inside Janie, he's cumming inside Janie. My mind was aflame.

He collapsed onto her and I dropped to my knees in the sand. We all caught our breath, sweating and pulling for air. Nobody moved.

Eventually I heard kissing and turn my head. They were exchanging soft, warm, wet, loving kisses. It was beautiful.

Billy started to get up but I told him to wait and crawled over to watch. Janie's pussy lips clung to him like he was going to turn her inside out. He slowly withdrew every fat inch. When the head finally appeared it was covered with her juice and his cum. He had fired a gallon far up inside her. When his cock finally slipped free it swung down heavy between his legs. He stood. I moved to Janie's side and asked how she was doing and she kissed me and played with my hair.

“Unbelievably fantastic, how are you?”

“My mind is blown, but other than that, more turned on than ever before in my life. There was a little twinge of jealousy but nothing unmanageable. What now?”

Billy spoke up. “How about we all take a naked dip in the ocean and go back to your room to eat?”

Janie and I looked at each other suddenly realizing we were starving. I helped her to her feet expecting a flood of cum but only a few drops leaked out. How deep had he shot it? Laughing like wild children we all ran naked into the ocean and played, splashing and washing off the sweat and sand. We left minutes later and dressed and walked back to the hotel, Janie in the middle holding both our hands. Every time I'd glance over at her I'd remember she was carrying Billy's seed and get a rush of erotic heat throughout my body.

Back at the hotel lobby I told the two of them to go ahead and I'd order food to be delivered. It took about ten or fifteen minutes and then I went upstairs too.

As soon as I opened the door I heard Janie's throaty moan. I closed the door quietly and crept to the bedroom and there she was, on all fours in the center of the bed, head down and ass up, her dress up around her waist and her tits swinging free. Billy was behind her with both his hands on her hips holding her in place while he worked his big cock into her. She was already gasping with pleasure. What must that cock feel like for her? Each thrust took him a little deeper and pushed an even louder gasp from Janie. I watched until only his big balls remained outside her body.

As I climbed onto the bed with them I moved up to her face. She lifted her head and gazed at me with intense pleasure behind her eyes. I lifted her chin and kissed her.

"I'm sorry Beloved," she began. I shushed her. She dropped her head back down to the pillow and I cupped her breasts, softly pinching both nipples. She groaned. I stood and slipped out of my clothes, throwing them on top of hers, and moved back up to the headboard, spreading my legs and offering my penis to her mouth. She sucked it in but didn't do much with it because Billy's cock was way too distracting for her. I have no idea what that massive cock felt like, I just know it made my wife forget about me, and that's not an easy thing to do. I had already cum twice so I doubted I would have anything to contribute for a while, so I just took it all in.

Billy handled her body like he had already fucked her a million times in his mind and knew exactly what he wanted to do to her. Janie obviously loved the way he manhandled her because she rewarded him by cumming on his cock again. He slowed way down and let her rest but then as soon as she was ready started building his rhythm once more.

A knock at the door reminded me room-service was bringing food up to us. I thought about asking Billy and Janie to be quiet but somehow that seemed unnatural and wrong, so instead I just threw on a robe and went and opened the door and took the food from the bellboy in the hall while propping the door open with my foot. The obvious sounds of sex behind me made me blush. This guy had been to our room several times before. He knew Janie and I were married and on vacation. We both heard Janie's moans and cries of pleasure. If I'm at the door, then who's fucking my wife? I signed the bill quickly and thanked him and scurried back inside.

I shuffled down to the foot of the bed to see what Billy was doing and the sight tore my heart in half. My wife's pussy was literally milking his cock. I witnessed her stretched little opening clutching and clamping and trying so hard to hold that big dick inside like she never wanted to let it get away.

Billy described to me what she was doing to him and added you probably needed a big dick to feel the effect because her pussy would need to be completely full. I was inches away and could testify Janie's pussy was completely full. It looked raw and obscene and gloriously sexual.

Janie knew I was down there watching her get fucked and it must have done something for her because she climaxed again right away, this one even harder than the one before it. Billy announced that he was getting close and I said "Baby?" and over her shoulder Janie said, "As deep as you can you fucking stud".

Billy held her hips in a vise-grip and pounded her tight cunt until his pulsing cock once again erupted in a fountain of white hot sperm which he shot as deeply into her as he could get it. The two of them flopped on the bed and I retrieved the food, which we tore into like animals.

After eating, the three of us showered together and Janie stroked my penis with her hand until Billy pushed her to her knees and shoved his cock into her mouth, at least, as much as he could, which wasn't a lot. That was an amazing sight. I still couldn't get hard yet but Billy did after a few minutes and Janie spent almost the whole shower with Billy's cock in her mouth. I put some soap in my hand and played with myself watching her. She looked stunning down there and she really loved the way he told her what to do. He never did cum but he had my lovely wife lick and suck his big balls and every inch of his shaft.

We were all tired. In the bedroom I opened the sliding glass doors and a gentle tropic breeze wafted through our room. Janie pulled the cover off the bed and the three of us lay down, nude and fresh and clean. She took the middle spot of course and Billy pulled her over so she laid her head on his chest. I spooned her and the three of us fell asleep.

When I woke up the room was dark. All the lights were off and only the light from the moon provided any illumination. I heard distant crashing waves through the open sliding glass doors. I wondered what woke me until I felt the bed move again and heard Janie whisper to Billy, "It's so big, Billy. I just love it."

Billy softly chuckled and said "Scoot closer, Janie but don't wake him."

"I shouldn't be doing this Billy."

"Why? We've already done it twice. I'm so hot for you...feel it."

I heard Janie softly gasp.

"You're an animal. Here, let me move my hips...fuuuuuck yessss."

Billy was inside my wife again. The bed slowly made tiny little rocking motions, not enough to wake me if I wasn't already awake and I knew Billy was moving his mammoth spear in and out of her. Janie must have had her face buried in a pillow because I heard nothing more from her until she drew a sharp intake of air and the whole bed quivered with her orgasm. She loved his cock. Would she take yet another load from him? I had my answer moments later when Billy moved a little faster and jerked once, twice, three times as he filled my wife's womb yet again. I heard them kiss for a few minutes and then fall into an exhausted sleep.

Several hours later I woke again. The room was still dark and dawn felt like it was still a long way off. I lay quietly seeking what had awakened me. Then I heard something; tiny pants, like a dog, off the side of the bed. As silent as a puff of air I brought my eyes to the edge of the bed.

Billy was between Janie's legs on the floor. She was on her back and even in the dim light I saw his ass rising and falling, his big balls swinging. Their feet were towards me and Janie had her legs spread as wide as she could get them, her arms wrapped around them like vines. She was giving Billy her pussy completely. It was such a position of supplication and submission it took my breath away. Billy was honoring her gift. No more hammering away at her body. On every down stroke Billy was gently gliding the entire length of his fleshy pillar into the depths of her body, kissing her mouth sweetly and tenderly as he gave her every inch he had. Janie was trying desperately to control her breathing and the noise she made.

Jealousy washed over me. Twice now she had given herself to him in secret. This was not something we were sharing as a couple. This was Janie taking for herself something she desperately wanted and not asking me permission for fear I would say no. I hated it. I fucking loved it. That sounds contradictory because it is. Such is the dilemma I faced. I wanted her to do these things because she wanted to do them. It was absolutely vital to me that nothing she did was just because she thought I wanted her to do it.

There on the floor right now and earlier in the bed next to me was the best proof possible that Janie was doing what Janie wanted. But it still stung. I would have worried more about it if I wasn't rock hard watching them make love and my conviction that when we were next alone, Janie would confess and apologize. There would be nothing to forgive. I didn't like it, yet at the same time, I loved it. When I got her alone again I would fuck her brains out.

Down on the floor I heard Billy make my wife climax again. She was tossing her head side to side whispering oh my God oh my God oh my God as quietly as she could. Billy kept long-stroking her all through her orgasm and it seemed to really extend and heighten it for her. She was gorgeous.

Then he slipped his hands under my wife's ass and lifted her just a little and with strong, sure, powerful strokes, Billy filled my wife with his sperm again. They lay there panting. I moved back from the edge and returned to lying on my back and soon they both slipped smoothly and quietly into bed, Janie snuggling up so Billy could spoon her. From narrow slits I saw his big arms wrap around her as they kissed a few times before sleep.

Once the sun came up and light filled our bedroom, all three of us awoke together. Janie had moved over to me during the night and we woke up tangled in each other's arms and legs, except her left hand was curled around Billy's enormous slumbering phallus. The moment I saw her, the sight and sounds from last night tumbled through my brain and I kissed her and rolled her onto her back. I was hard before I could get between her legs. She welcomed me with heart-felt passion and eagerly wrapped her legs around my hips. As I sank into her I felt Billy's cum slide past my penis and instead of disgust it excited me. She was so well lubricated from certain angles I hardly felt any friction at all. Neither of us cared. I began to pump my hard dick in and out of my wife, eager to add my cum to his. Janie seemed just as excited by the prospect as me. I glanced over at Billy and noticed Janie still had one hand firmly gripping his giant tool and the sight thrilled me, pushing me over the edge before I was really ready. My hips bucked as I emptied my nuts inside her.

She chuckled. "I was going to ask you how you felt about last night but I think you just answered that question."

I was still trying to catch my breath so I only nodded. When I rolled off her she rolled over to Billy and gave him an affectionate kiss, then leaned down and took his fat cock head into her mouth. She played with it, rolling it around with her tongue, while Billy caressed her big firm breasts and tight ass.

"You are so fucking sexy," he said, smacking her ass playfully. His cock started to grow again and I just leaned back into the pillows. Janie worked it with her mouth and tongue as long as she could but eventually he got so hard she could only take the first few inches. That seemed to disappoint no one except me and using her lips, mouth, tongue and hands, Billy quickly announced she was getting him close.

"Then I know what to do with you," Janie stated and swung a leg over him and straddled his hips. She held his big dick straight up for me to see, giving me her best, can you believe the crazy shit we are doing look before she eased her pussy down onto his meaty stake. She ground her hips on him until she had taken the very last inch inside her and then she whipped her hips back and forth, rubbing her pubic bone against his until she croaked that she was cumming again and really bore down. Her orgasm slammed into her and she flailed a little crazy until Billy steadied her and drove up into her repeatedly, releasing his flood of semen once more.

Once they calmed down Janie started chuckling and her infectious laugh caught me and I joined her and Billy was unable to resist and he joined in too. We were out of control and all we could do was laugh at what we had done. Billy excused himself to use the restroom and as soon as he was out of earshot Janie bounced over and kissed me.

"I have to tell you something," she said, glancing at the bathroom door trying to measure how much time she had. "Billy and I fucked during the night, while you were sleeping, twice. I'm not sure if that was wrong or not. We don't exactly have black and white rules. If it was, I'm sorry, but I really wanted to fuck him, so I did."

I moved a loose strand of hair from her face. "It's okay."

"Are you sure Angel?"

"Yes, I'm sure, because I already knew about it and was hoping you'd tell on yourself and you did. God I love you. Will you marry me?"

"Hell yes! Every time you ask. You watched us?"

"You woke me both times. Yes I watched you. It stung a little bit but Holy Christ are you ever sexy. I didn't want to interrupt. I didn't want you to stop. I just hoped you confessed and you did."

She was happy. She flopped hard onto her back and stared at the ceiling. "This is all so unbelievable. You hungry?"

"I'm starving and I bet you are too but I bet Billy is ravenous. That man burned a lot of calories last night."

"Yes he did. He's probably dehydrated too from fluid loss. Mark, there's something else we need to talk about."

"What's that Sugar?"

Billy exited the bathroom at that moment so Janie saved her answer for later.

"My turn!" she chimed and danced past Billy and I as we reached for her naked body, trying to cop a feel.

"Boys!" she yelled, in fake exasperation.

Billy sat next to me on the bed, fist-bumped my shoulder.

"Dude," he grunted. "You're the man. Janie is the hottest woman on the planet. I cannot get enough of her, and it's not just her looks man. She's the total package; brains, heart, humor...you fucking scored."

I thanked him and reached for the phone. Janie came out of the bathroom and I asked them both what they wanted. It was scrambled eggs, pancakes, hash browns and orange juice for all of us. After I ordered, it was my turn to use the bathroom and I wondered if anything would happen in the short time I left them alone. Of course it did, but I admit I stayed in there a few minutes extra, just to tip the scales.

I couldn't see them when I opened the door so I wandered just a bit. They were out on the balcony, nude, in the cool morning air. Janie's skin was covered with goose bumps and her nipples were little rocks. Billy seemed unfazed. Like me, he runs warm. They were sharing an intimate moment, kissing and touching each other's hair and face, arms and shoulders. When I stepped out there with them Janie moved to my side and wrapped her arms around me for warmth. Billy stepped closer to shield her from the breeze. Janie looked down at his huge, thick, smooth hanging penis and lifted it by the head. She hefted it in her palm, feeling the weight.

She then surprised me by asking me to stand next to Billy, which I did. With her other hand she hefted my penis, comparing the two of them. Are you fucking kidding me? I could not help but look down. The difference was striking. I'm not small, but Billy was Godly. His shape was perfect. Janie gently pumped us both as she examined each. Billy was the picture of self-confidence, I was a little nervous. Then she asked us to move closer together. I hesitated but Billy covered the distance so our dicks were almost touching. We were pointed at each other but past each other. His head almost touched my hip while my head was a good distance away from his hip.

"Goddamn, that's fucking hot." Janie said, offering no explanation to what she was referring to, exactly.

What was fucking hot? Two naked dicks? One being average and one being huge? Or perhaps she was referring to Billy's cock singularly and the comparison really drove that point home, so to speak? I couldn't tell and was afraid to ask. Billy wasn't afraid.

"What Janie? What's so fucking hot?"

"Your big, beautiful dick, that's what," she said, confirming my fears. "Look at it next to Mark's. It makes him look like a little boy and he's not. His penis feels amazing and totally satisfies me. But you, Sir, I can't believe I actually got to have you. My husband is a wonderful man."

"I was just telling him the same thing," Billy offered, "while you were in the restroom." He put a big hand on my shoulder and gave me a sincere shake. I looked out over the resort and the tennis courts and the beach.

A few people were starting to go about their day. On the balcony Billy and I just looked shirtless but Janie could possibly flash someone her tits. Janie tugged on us both a little and Billy began to swell. His desire for my wife was insatiable. She tugged faster and while I gained a little length and girth, Billy rose to almost full erection, arcing with a graceful curve away from his body.

Janie dropped my dick and pulled Billy by his back into our suite, leading him to the couch. She turned and sat then slid her ass to the edge and then opened her legs, offering her sweet pussy to Billy once again. He kissed up her legs and belly until he slipped a nipple into his mouth. By now he was fully hard again. He held his shaft at the base with one hand and rubbed the head around my wife's labia to wet it. I couldn't believe how much dick extended past his fist.

Janie reached up for his face and pulled him down to her mouth and soon they were locked in another deep kiss. Billy forced her leg to the side to give me a better view and once he was sure I was watching, he eased his enormous shaft into her again, flexing hips muscular hips to seat it fully in the depths of her womb. Janie's labia seemingly stretched to the point of tearing before they popped over the head and enveloped him. The seal she made against his tube of meat was airtight. Her lips clung to him. A little late to the party, my penis began to rise.

A knock at the door once again reminded me we had ordered room-service. Fuck. What do I do? There was no way to hide them now. One cannot see the bedroom from the front door but one can most certainly see the couch. It's a sharp angle but two bodies fucking would be obvious. The knock came again. I looked down at my erect penis and shouted at the door to hold on a minute, grabbed a robe from the bathroom floor because it was closest, and cracked the door.

"Hello?"

"Room service sir. Your breakfast orders?"

"Yes, thank you." I reached through and signed to bill but there was no way that cart was coming through unless I opened the door wider. So I did. Just enough to squeeze the food cart through but that was enough.

When I looked up at his face the room service boy was grinning ear to ear as he looked over my shoulder. I jerked the cart through and thanked him and shut the door in his face and then turned around to see what he had seen. Wow.

Billy had both Janie's legs pushed way back over her shoulders, his fists wrapped around each of her ankles, the muscles of his back and arms straining and twisting. Her hands guided his hips as he pounded her sweet cunt. Her big boobs spilled off to each side and bounced with every thrust of his ass. Their mouths were locked together in an ardent kiss. They looked spectacular. Billy increased his pounding and soon roared his release, pumping hundreds of millions more sperm into my wife.

Billy dropped to his back on the floor and Janie's legs came down and rested on the ottoman. Billy's chest was heaving as he struggled for air and Janie's eyes were closed and her face was the perfect picture of satisfaction and contentment. The fingers of her left hand toyed lightly with a nipple and with the fingers of her other hand she dabbed at Billy's semen leaking from her married pussy, swirling it gently across her pussy lips. A light smile played across her lips.

Later, after we had devoured every scrap of food they brought us and showered and dressed, Janie and I stood at the door to our suite saying our goodbyes to Billy. He said his plans were to return to his suite and sleep for three days. I shook his hand and Janie gave him a kiss he'll never forget and we closed and locked the door. I began to collect dirty dishes.

"Honey?"

I looked up and Janie had her arms folded across her chest. She was wearing another floral print sundress, her hair pulled back in a simple ponytail. No shoes and since I watched her get dressed, I also knew no panties and no bra.

"Honey," she said again. "We have to talk."

I stopped what I was doing and went to stand by her. She seemed suddenly serious. Was she having regrets? Had I done something wrong?

She held both my hands in hers. She looked into my eyes pleadingly. "Mark, my true love, I think in all the excitement you may have forgotten something. Something we did before we left for vacation."

I thought back over the days leading up to our trip.

"Nope. Tell me."

Instead she took my hand and placed it on her lower belly in the universal gesture of pregnancy. My eyes got big.

"Oh shit! The birth-control! You went off birth-control and you had all that sex with Billy!" I felt so stupid. How did I miss that? I had been so caught up in the wild action that I hadn't thought past the moment. Typical man.

"Well, we went off birth-control and we had all that sex with Billy but yes, that's my point. We need to talk about what we do now. I was thinking we'd just drive into town and buy the morning-after pill but you and I had a mad amount of sex before last night with Billy. What if we have already conceived? That pill would wipe out our baby. But if I don't take the pill then there is a chance I could conceive with Billy's baby, and nobody wants that."

I seriously need to get my head examined. As we stood there discussing one of the most serious subjects of our life, hearing those words come out of Janie's mouth turned me on like crazy. What the hell was wrong with me? I was excited by the prospect of another man impregnating my wife? Seriously deranged. In seconds my penis had tented the front of my pants. Janie rolled her eyes and stomped her foot.

"Mark! Be serious!"

I couldn't help it. I mentioned earlier how the more real this felt the more exciting it was for me. Billy impregnating Janie was as real as it could get. Everything we had done in the last twenty-four hours came flooding back into my mind and made me hard as concrete.

"Janie, I am being serious. I take none of this lightly. Ignore my hard-on. Talking about this just reminded me of everything and how exciting it all was. I'm not turned on by Billy actually making you pregnant. I'm excited by the idea that he may have made you pregnant. If fantasy became reality all the arousal would disappear instantly."

She smiled and touched my face. "It was exciting, wasn't it? I have to admit I'm relieved to hear you say that Baby. I was so worried. I really let myself go with him. I said and did things without thinking and only afterwards considered they might hurt your feelings."

"Some things did sting, but even they added to my excitement. I cannot believe we did all that. I love that we did. I have an idea about the pregnancy thing; let's go into town and buy some pregnancy tests. No need for the morning-after pill if you aren't pregnant. After we take the test we'll know if we should be worried or not and then can discuss the morning-after pill. No sense worrying about it if we don't actually need it."

Janie had a strange look on her face which I did not recognize. I waited for her to respond to my ideas but she just looked at me and then down at the carpet. She bit her bottom lip. She sat on the ottoman and began to open my pants. Once she had my penis free, she forced her mouth down on it as far as she could get it, making herself gag. I was dumbfounded. Where was this coming from? What was she thinking about? She used her hand along with her vacuuming mouth and that, combined with the night I had got me there fast. She pushed my penis deep and held it there as I released my cum down her throat.

At the pharmacy she selected a pregnancy test and turned to walk to the sales counter. I scoffed. She raised an eyebrow as I grabbed seven more tests to add to hers. She looked confused until understanding flashed in her eyes and she smiled.

“ You are a bad man. We aren’t finished with Billy, are we?”

“ You are a sexy woman. No we are not.”

She slipped her arm through mine and rested her head on my shoulder as we walked to the check-out.

Back at the hotel she came out of the bathroom and set the test on the bed. Negative. We both breathed deeply.

“ Should I invite Billy back to try again?” she asked, flirtatiously.

I gaped at her until I realized she was teasing me. She fell over on the bed laughing. I lay down with her chuckling at what I’m sure had been a very funny face. We were both silent for a time and then I remembered something.

“ Janie, earlier, when we were first talking about the pill and the tests; you had a strange expression on your face. I couldn’t tell what you were thinking at all. Then you decided I needed an amazing blowjob, thank you very much. What was going on?”

Janie sat up and gave me a serious look. She took a deep breath and I got the impression she was telling herself to be brave.

“ Alright, in the spirit of this vacation, I’ll tell you. You are not alone in thinking that Billy made me pregnant was hot. I felt it too. While we were talking about the details everything really came into sharp focus. I felt the realness of it all. At that moment, while talking to my amazing husband, I carried another man’s seed inside me and I could almost feel it moving around. I’m sure it’s a woman thing but Goddamn, I sure felt womanly and feminine. I also felt wild and naughty. All these are really powerful emotions. I didn’t want to tell you because I’m sure no husband wants to hear how his wife loves having another man’s sperm inside her.”

She seemed calm but I could tell she was waiting for me to explode. I didn’t.

“ We are seriously deranged,” I said.

“ We are seriously deranged,” she echoed.

We sat in silence for a minute or two thinking about the implications of that statement.

Janie spoke. “So, here’s what I’m thinking; we had our fun, we went a little crazy. Do we stop now and write it all off to temporary insanity, or do we go forward and continue pushing the envelope?”

I knew my answer right away: “I’m not finished with this yet. I want to hear what you think but all this started a fire for me, it didn’t put one out. Remember, I grabbed extra tests at the pharmacy.”

“ Yes, I remember. Okay, here’s what I’m feeling; I’m not finished with all this yet either. Maybe we don’t take it home with us but while we’re here, on vacation, with all the planets aligned like this, I say we run with it. Oh my God Honey this is so exciting!”

We were both like little kids, our faces full of glee. I thought seriously for a minute, allowing my mind to roam, asking myself what I wanted free of any judgments or fears. What would I want to happen if anything could happen? While my mind kicked that one around I posed the same question to Janie. She looked at me with guilty eyes.

“ What?”

“ You won’t like it,” she answered.

My heart skipped a beat but I forged ahead.

“ Try me.”

She took a deep breath. “Alright. I want to go on a date with Billy.”

I laughed. “That’s no problem Honey. You worry too much. Where should we go?”

She hit me with those guilty eyes again.

“ No Mark. Just me. You won’t go with us. I will go on a date with Billy.”

My bones froze. Wait, what?

“ If you say no I’ll understand but you asked for the truth. I would send you texts to keep you involved but otherwise it would just be me and Billy.”

I was still trying to catch my breath and get my mouth working. Janie went on.

“ He’d pick me up here and you’d hand me over to him. You would not know where we were going or how long I’d be gone. God! I’d feel so decadent out with him. I’m married and my husband is waiting for me back home. It's a fantasy, I know, but it turns me on so much. For once I'd get to be like those girls at the clubs or my girlfriends from work. They all get to do such naughty things. Do you realize that other than last night, I have no naughty stories? I've always done the right thing, my whole life."

She stopped and searched my face. At first I had been hurt but then I listened to her and understood. I didn't know if I'd be able to do it but I understood her desire. Of course I felt rejected but that was the wrong way for me to view it. Of course she was right; having me there with them changed everything. A threesome is way more about sex than a twosome... and that's what scared me. A twosome is intimate. I thought back to all those little intimate gestures Billy and Janie shared and my chest ached. They stung but I was there to share them too. They would still happen when I wasn't there but where would they lead. I had to say something. She looked crestfallen; like she was sure I was going to say no.

"Janie, Baby, let me just say first that I want to be able to give this to you."

She perked right up.

"I have to tell you though Honey, it scares the shit out of me. What happened to 'us' doing these wild things? This is 'you' doing something wild while I agonize back at home wondering where my wife is and what she's doing. You and Billy obviously have a connection. I've seen you two together. Your date would be so much more intimate without me there."

"I know. You're right. I'm a woman, so I crave that intimacy. For a man, the more beautiful the woman, the hotter the sex. For a woman, the more intimate the sex, the hotter the sex. Billy and I would be intimate. We might even make love. Of course I want that."

My jaw dropped.

"You admit it? I'd be an idiot to say okay. I don't want to lose you to him."

She sat up and crossed her legs on the bed.

"You will never lose me to him Sweetie. Ever. Never. You have my heart forever. I can make love to Billy and not fall in love with him." She scooted closer to me and touched my face. "Just imagine the sex you and I will have when I get back. Will you need to reclaim me Baby? I'll have evidence of Billy all over me... inside me... I think you'll love it, eventually."

I had to give it to her, she was very convincing. I saw it in her eyes and heard it in her voice. In spite of my fears and in spite of my insecurities, I couldn't help but imagine Janie out with Billy. What a sexy couple they made. Fuck. My head and heart were a jumble but it really turned me on that she wanted him like this. I wondered how much of her desire for him was because of that big cock he had. I hoped that was the reason; Billy and his big swinging cock, fucking my wife into submission. The idea actually got me hot. I felt myself coming out of my emotional crisis and decided to fuck with her.

"Alright Janie, you can do it." Her eyes lit up like fireworks! "I have one condition; Billy has to wear a condom." Boom! Her shoulders sagged and her eyes dimmed. I saw her mind racing. She was going to try to talk me out of it! Why? Did she want nothing to come between them? Did she want it to be as real as possible? Or maybe the condom would be a reminder of me, like I was still influencing their time together. That one sounded the most correct. Regardless, I hadn't expected this reaction. It made her seem a little slutty to me and I liked it a lot.

"Mark, Baby," she began. "We bought those test kits, let's use them instead. You know I hate the feel of condoms and besides, we've already done it without them."

I saw her fishing for more to support her position but I'd had enough fun. I decided to let her off the hook.

"Okay Janie, never mind. You're right. If you're going to have sex with someone it should be all the way and if I'm honest, I like the idea of him actually being inside you. You can go on a date with Billy all by yourself. But listen because this is very important; try to text as much as you can because I'll be losing my mind. You said it would feel naughty because you're married and out with another man. Alright. Remember you are married and those texts will be my life line."

I expected her to throw her arms around my neck and give me a great big thank-you kiss, but she didn't. Graphically illustrating for me just exactly how far we'd come as a couple, Janie leaned back against the headboard and slowly lifted the hem of her sundress. My eyes darted from her thighs to her face and back again a hundred times. We men are funny. I've seen her nude a million times but still her little strip-tease worked. I couldn't look away. As her labia came into view I was hypnotized. But she wasn't finished. She tucked the dress under her ass and spread her legs, then used her fingers to open herself up. Glorious. She nimbly pulled the inner lips away too and now I was looking right up inside her. It was fucking hot.

Then I saw what she was really trying to show me. A milky white droplet of sperm trickled down and leaked out of her onto our bed. Her smile was devastating.

“He’s been slowly dripping out of me all day Mark. I’ve had a constant reminder every minute that another man fucked me. I’m full of his cum. Is any of it yours? Maybe. A little. Didn’t most of your semen land in the sand or go down my throat? Billy has four or five times as much sperm inside me as you do. Does that excite you?”

Goddamn. Who knew Janie had this in her? I ripped my eyes away from Janie’s cum filled pussy and looked into her eyes. They were laughing. All at once I realized she had figured out I had been fucking with her about the condom thing and she was paying me back, ten times worse than I had given her. I made a mental note not to fuck with her again. Now she started laughing out loud. I had to join her.

“I got you good!”

“Jesus Christ Janie, you almost killed me.”

We both had a good laugh but she didn’t cover herself back up and when the laughter died down, my eyes went right back to her pussy. I heard her exhale slowly. I leaned in and gently dabbed the milky fluid seeping from her and swirled it around my fingertips. It was tacky and viscous and slippery. My penis rose fast. I pushed back on her shoulders to move between her legs but she put a hand on my chest and stopped me.

“No Mark. I have a date tonight. Billy will get a fresh pussy. I can’t have you already in there when he puts his hands on me.”

“But you can bring him home to me?”

“Of course. He’s the guest. He gets special treatment.”

For at least a minute my brain refused to accept what she was telling me but then I had to. I knelt there with my erection sticking straight up, ignored and passed over. I looked at Janie in a whole new way. At this moment she was his. Her breasts were his, her mouth was his, her pussy was his and her ass was his. She was saving herself for him. It was excruciating.

“I don’t want to leave you like that, Mark.”

My hope rose a little.

She spread her legs wider and started playing with Billy's cum inside her.

"Jack off for me. I want to watch you. Shoot you cum on the bedspread thinking about what Billy is going to do to me and me to him."

I hesitated for a second. Was she serious?

"Come on my Love. Look at my pussy. What do you see? Remember last night? Can you picture your sweet wife? Remember the shower when Billy made me suck his huge cock? You know I'll be doing that again tonight, right?"

I couldn't take it. I wrapped my fingers around my penis and began pulling.

"That's right Baby, that's what I want to see. Empty those balls. Look at my pussy and imagine. Stroke it again while I am with him. Think about what's happening. I want you to jerk it off every time it gets hard tonight. Just think what your loving wife will be doing..."

That was it. It had to be a record. Just like that I shot a jet of cum and my hips bucked and I shot another. Janie applauded and told me to give it all to her. I did.

Two hours later and everything was set. She had text him from the bed right after I jerked off for her. He had responded like lightning saying hell yes, he'd pick her up at eight.

I tried watching her get ready but it was brutal. In the shower she re-shaved herself perfectly smooth. Her pussy looked mouth-watering. She curled her hair and pulled most of it back but a few strands surrounded her face. She looked devastating. A few touches of perfume strategically placed and she was ready for clothes. A little black dress cut low under the arms showed off tantalizing glimpse of side-boob, and a hem a just above mid-thigh showing off her strong, tone legs. She finished the outfit with a new pair of black thigh-high stockings and black three-inch pumps. No panties, no bra.

It killed me to know it was all for him but I'm such a pervert that it also turned me on immensely. Janie looked fucking hot.

My dick got hard watching her just like she said it would and as she moved from bathroom to bedroom getting ready I jacked it just like she asked me to. She was a dream, a walking hard-on. My wife had never looked sexier and it wasn't even for me. It was deliciously agonizing. I longed to touch her, to throw her on the bed and fuck her, to tell her I'd changed my mind, this was stupid, she couldn't go, I wouldn't allow it. But I did.

There came a knock at the door a little before eight and I showed Billy into our suite. He wore a black blazer over a slate shirt and black pants. The jacket was obviously tailored to accentuate his broad shoulders and athletic frame. I offered to make him something to drink but he declined. I knew better than to ask where they were headed. When Janie entered the room Billy and I were stunned speechless. She was flawless. Her face was glowing with excitement and her eyes danced. I wanted so badly to take her into my arms and hold her. But I couldn't. She had chosen. I walked them both to the door and shook Billy's hand. Janie gave me a light peck on the lips, looked deep into my eyes and I thought for a moment she was going to tell me she loved me, but she didn't. Perhaps she felt it was obvious and she didn't need to, or perhaps she felt withholding it would heighten my sexual tension for the evening. Either way she was right. There was no glib phrase, no cliché, no safe words, and no dramatic parting declarations. My wife pecked me on the lips and left on a date with another man.

I haven't the words to describe the torture I endured.

I could not get my head around the fact that this was actually happening.

One second I was sure this was a grand test; they were down in the lobby, talking, having a good laugh, about to come back up and tell me the joke was on me.

The next second I'd think about the look in my wife's eyes whenever she looked at Billy. She wanted him so badly I'm sure they went straight back to his suite and started fucking the moment they closed the door.

Was our relationship in danger? Did I drive her into the arms of another man forever?

As each moment passed, the sinking realization that this was real and they were not playing a joke grew. I checked my phone often, at first, but frustration built and I tried hard to ignore it. Television was no distraction, even a football game replay. It all seemed so irrelevant to the fact my wife was out with someone else.

So I switched to not caring. Fuck that two-timing bitch. That lasted about four seconds. I loved her with all my heart and no matter how upset I got, underneath it all was a deep erotic thrill at what we were doing. Janie was out with another man because she wanted him and I loved that she did.

Fine then, I'll fuck someone else too. That one I didn't even make all the way to the end of the thought before I knew I was bullshitting myself. I don't want anyone else. More than that, I want her to be able to have someone else and me be denied the same right. I don't fully understand why this is such a turn on for me but it is. It is exquisitely agonizing and exciting.

Finally I resigned myself to my fate. All I had at this moment was trust and faith. This was a test. I had to believe in Janie. I had to believe in the strength of our love.

My phone buzzed. They had been gone almost an hour and Janie was giving me my first update. But it wasn't an update. It was a picture with accompanying text. Janie's left hand, wedding ring prominent and sparkling, wrapped around the long thick shaft of Billy's semi-hard cock. By the background it was obvious they were still dressed and had taken it in the hotel elevator, just down the hall from this room, on their way out.

The text read, "I wanted you to see it and have something to look at to remember how big it is. Doesn't my ring look beautiful in this picture?"

The picture was an hour old already. What had happened in the meantime? Her ring did look really pretty.

So the fantasy that they were just playing an elaborate joke on me died a painful death. Each passing minute confirmed it. They were somewhere in this tropical resort town probably having the best date of their lives.

The human mind is a funny thing. If I translate that it comes out; wow, people are really fucked up. My mind might be one of the worst. As time passed I calmed down enough to actually start thinking. Our night with Billy, starting on the beach, scrolled through my mind like my very own porn tape, starring my wife. Just as Janie predicted, my penis rose and stiffened. I rolled onto my back to stroke it. I didn't know how much cum I could possibly have left in me. At this point it was more about the pleasure and the stress relief than getting my seed out into the world. I saw Janie on her knees sucking, on her back getting fucked.

Soon my mind switched from things I had seen to imagining what was probably happening at that very moment. My dick went up and stayed up and the more I jacked it, the better I felt about everything. I lost track of time pleasuring myself and fantasizing about Billy and my wife.

When my phone buzzed next it surprised me. Now they had been gone four hours.

I guess tonight I had been hoping and expecting a series of pictures and text that would make me feel like I was still a part of what was going on, even if she didn't want me there. I was wrong. I didn't get that. Janie truly wanted Billy to herself without me present in anyway.

This time there was no text, just a picture of Janie on all fours, her sweet pussy up in the air, and a single drop of pearly translucent semen clinging to her clitoris. I stared and stared at it. It was like a dagger through my heart. She had done it with him. Her pussy was now his and would remain his until I could reclaim it. The phone in my hand buzzed again and this time it was all text with no picture.

“How sexy is that picture? It even got me hot... hot enough to fuck him again. Use it to empty your balls as much as you can before I get home. Please do this for me.”

I closed my eyes and pictured Billy cumming inside my wife again and Janie loving it and that was all it took, I shot a few meager drops up and out, my jizz running down my shaft and across my knuckles onto my belly.

I showered and went down to the lobby bar just to get out of the suite. I picked a booth against the back wall and hid my phone behind the little menu on the table and half-paid attention to Sports Center. To my surprise, thirty minutes later they walked in and took another booth. They did not see me.

Janie's hair was all pulled back now and she wore a simple T-shirt and denim skirt. The shirt looked like his and the skirt she must have hidden in her purse. Her swaying breasts and hard, pronounced nipples made it clear she still wore no bra. Billy was in shorts and a T-shirt too. They looked tired and relaxed and had obviously showered. I would have thought them married ten years by the familiarity and intimacy between them. My eyes ached watching them laugh and touch and play with each other. They ordered a couple drinks and an appetizer and I leaned back and switched my phone to silent, just in case she text me.

Billy nuzzled her neck and nibbled her ear and I saw Janie's hand disappear under the table. In seconds her shoulder made rhythmic circles and she leaned in to kiss him and I saw their tongue slip out just before their mouths closed. Janie was behaving more indiscreetly with Billy than she ever had with me. Nothing obvious; if I hadn't been watching their every move I'd never have noticed. But displaying affection in public had always been off-limits before. It crushed me, but it was hot. Next Billy's hand went under and Janie leaned her back against the booth and closed her eyes. This went on for a few minutes. She sure loved it.

Before too long their drinks were getting low and their food was almost gone. The bartender cleared away their plate and I saw them refuse a refill on their drinks. They put their foreheads together and spoke softly and lovingly kissing and caressing. They were newlyweds.

Billy dropped some cash on the table and they left. I wanted to follow them but I'd have to be exceptionally careful. There was a good chance I'd lose them. If they went back to his place I was out of luck.

Instead, they went for a late-night stroll along the beach. Billy put his arm around her shoulders. There was no place for me to hide and away from the hotel it got really dark really fast so I stopped in the garden and watched them leave. Once I was sure they were gone I headed back to my room.

On the way back I bumped into André.

I was absolutely not in the mood for small talk but André is loquacious. I bantered with him as long as I could stand until he suddenly seemed to realize something was up.

"My friend, where is your lovely bride?"

"Um, asleep upstairs, headache."

"Hmm. Yes, well okay, give her my best. I'm here for a night-cap and some light reading."

I was about to wish him good night when I heard Janie's voice say, as she and Billy stepped into the lobby from the beach, "No, I love the ocean, but it's just too chilly. Take me back to your suite and warm me up."

I saw them. They saw me. André saw them. They saw André. All eyes turned to me. Frozen faces all around. Fuck. Janie was burrowed under Billy's massive arm with a degree of familiarity that could not be faked, her arms wrapped around his narrow waist. Their comfort and confidence with each other screamed obvious sexual closeness. They made no move to separate. André's eyebrows went up and he smiled. He turned to Janie.

"I am so pleased to see you again Miss Janie, and I am doubly pleased your headache has abated. I've not seen Billy since the sauna but good to see you again too, young man." He was smirking, thoroughly enjoying the moment. André turned back to me. "There is an all-night pharmacy just down that hallway," he said, pointing over my shoulder. "I mention it as I suspect the next person with a headache will be you." He shook my hand and left.

The two of them studied me. I was desperately hoping Janie would leave his side and come to me, but she didn't. I saw her tighten her grip on him and appeared to me that somehow this slightly humiliating encounter, for me anyway, had given her a mild sexual charge. She turned her face to Billy and whispered something and he leaned in and kissed her lustfully on the mouth. I know Janie. I saw her face and I read her eyes. She wasn't being mean or spiteful or hateful. She was being sexy. The tension of the moment really illuminated for her, and me, exactly what we were doing at that moment. I felt it too. It hurt, I won't lie, but lord, it was so sexy too.

Then, just like the moment upstairs now so seemingly long ago, Janie and Billy left without fanfare. I watched her shapely ass and flowing hair until the last possible second. I stood rooted to the ground. I now understood Janie had a naughty side she had kept deeply buried, even to herself, probably her whole life. On this vacation the planets had aligned, to use her expression, and everything necessary to allow it to come to the surface had occurred, and now here it was in full force.

I wanted to use the elevator back to my room but they had just headed to it so I needed to wait and give them time. I couldn't ride in it with them. That would be too excruciating. Unsure of what to do with myself I moved to examine a huge Abstract painting on the lobby wall of a nude woman reclining across a horse's back. When sufficient time had passed, I turn to walk to the elevators. André was watching me from the archway to the bar.

For the first time ever he said nothing, but the look in his hawkish eyes said it all. He understood exactly what was happening. I'm sure he remembered Billy's big cock too. I grew a little uneasy under his piercing gaze but waved once and scurried to my room.

Once there I could not get out of my clothes fast enough. I dropped to my knees on the carpet just inside the door and I grabbed my penis and began pulling hard and fast. My mind was filled with images in rapid succession; Billy manhandling Janie, burying his big cock far into her womb, blasting her with his prodigious loads.

A paltry bead of jizz soon shot out, followed by another, smaller droplet, but the pleasure of the orgasm was intense. My whole body and especially my legs and pelvis were electrified and tingling. I had nothing left to give. I had experienced so many orgasms since we arrived my balls couldn't keep up. They were empty. So why didn't my dick get soft after I came? Who the fuck knows? The whole encounter in the lobby had me so excited I didn't know what to do with myself.

I hated that André now knew but also loved it. I was ashamed, embarrassed, humbled and flustered. Someone else outside our private circle now knew our dirty secret and had seen the proof first-hand. Had he also seen Janie kiss Billy? I bet he had. I bet right now he was thinking that he had a chance with her too. I remembered how he spoke of her so glowingly in the sauna. I know he'd love to get his hands on her.

I rolled onto my back again and although I was sure there was no way I could muster another one, I played with my penis anyway. To my utter shock and amazement I soon felt the familiar tightening at the base of my dick and a spasm gripped me as I came yet again, arching my back and growling. One drop leaked out of the tip. I collapsed where I lay and drifted off to a deep sleep.

Someone called me Baby from far, far away.

I opened my bleary eyes. I was naked on my back on the living room rug. Janie knelt next to me, her warm palm against my face. I smiled and closed my eyes again.

“Baby?”

I opened my eyes. She was home. I sat up and stretched my stiff back. She was home!

She looked amazing. Her hair was a disheveled mess, her lipstick gone, her mascara smudged. The T-shirt had been replaced with a pale-blue bikini top, another item smuggled out under my nose, and the denim skirt, which was pushed so far up her strong thighs I caught a glimpse of pussy lips. She was smiling at me a soft, understanding smile, and her face was relaxed and satisfied. I saw fatigue behind her eyes.

I scanned her body and her breasts had red marks on them, her throat was red and irritated, her lips were slightly swollen. She looked well and thoroughly fucked.

I didn't know what to say. I'd never, ever been in this position before, or even one remotely like it. If he's not enraged, what does a husband say to a wife that just returned from her lover?

She did not rush me, allowing me to examine her with my eyes. In fact she seemed to enjoy it, like her markings were medals won. My wandering gaze brought goose bumps to her skin and made her shiver. Our eyes met.

"Take me to bed," she rasped.

On the way there, walking just ahead of me, she dropped the bikini top and stepped out of her skirt. Her perfect ass had multiple pink hand prints on both cheeks.

She lay down on her back in the middle of the bed and partly opened her legs.

"I've been very naughty," she breathed, and I knew it thrilled her to say it.

I moved to my knees next to her and continued my examination. Her labia were puffy and red, as were her nipples. Dried white droplets dotted her skin, especially around her hips, like someone had splattered her with a paintbrush. She said nothing as I investigated her body. Her upper-body lay propped up on two pillows as she lightly bit the tip of her index finger. Her eyes were big and excited.

I moved between her legs and bent them both back at the knees, towards the headboard. Her sweet cunt blossomed before me and there it was; a huge pool of glimmering milk. Essence of Billy filled her womb to overflowing. I dabbed a finger in it and Janie moaned with wanton delight. I pushed the finger in, causing some of the fluid to ooze out and drip down, and she gasped and reached to rub her clit. I worked my finger around, toying with her G-spot, softly rubbing her cheating walls. She cried out and came quickly.

That was when I noticed her virgin rosebud sphincter. Semen was oozing out of that opening too and my mind exploded with understanding. He had fucked her ass! I hadn't ever been allowed that privilege and she had given it to Billy. Billy had taken her anal virginity! I slipped a pinkie up her little hole and instead of pushing my hand away like usual, my loving wife just moaned again, louder, and arched her back to help me. With one finger in her pussy and one in her ass I began pumping her and she clutched the sheet with one hand while furiously rubbing her clit with the other.

She came again! What had Billy done to her? Here was a woman now so comfortable and in-tune with her body and her sexuality I barely recognized her. My wife had transformed into a sex-loving creature, ready and hungry for more. Billy was all over my hand and I didn't care. This was pure, unfiltered sex. I wished so desperately for an erection. I wanted to fuck Janie like a whore. Fuck her hard and blast my cum into her married pussy.

But now I understood the deviousness of her plan. She had planned on this. Not these exact chain of events but she had wanted me drained and unable to perform. She knew the fact that Billy was inside her would drive me crazy and I would need to add mine to his in an effort to reclaim her. She wanted to deny me this. For now, she was Billy's woman, possibly carrying Billy's child. That idea excited her as much as me. She had heightened the entire experience for us both.

It was maddening. I tried to will my penis hard. I tried to pull and jerk my penis hard. I stuffed it into Janie's mouth and made her suck it, which she loved. Nothing worked and that she really loved. I kept pulling on it. She got on her knees behind me and spoke softly into my ear.

"Husband, Billy pumped so much cum into me. Without you there he was free. He fucked me like he owned me. His desire was unchained. As you discovered he took my ass. Won't that knowledge drive you crazy for the rest of our lives? I love it. I feel so wicked."

"He's in my tummy too, Mark. Twice I swallowed every drop he had to give me. He would recover so fast, hungry to get his hands on me again. Can you imagine what that's like for a woman?"

She moved behind me to the other ear.

"But my womb is where he did his best work. If I told you how many times he filled me with his sperm, you might not believe me. He was a conquering warlord trying to impregnate his captive, trying to father a child on his arch-rival. God! It was so decadent!"

I still pulled on my penis to no avail. I felt Janie shift.

"Here, try this, maybe it will help."

She smeared a slippery fluid on my soft penis and I knew it was Billy's semen from her pussy. I didn't care and used it as lube. It made my penis more sensitive and my stroking hand feel better, but did not help me get hard.

“ I have had exactly the wrong approach to sex,” she continued. “I had it backwards. Now I know I can do anything we want, wrapped within your love for me. How kinky do you want to be Darling? The only limit is our imagination. I know now you trust me to the ends of the earth. I’ve never felt so in-love with you.”

She moved back around to the front of where I knelt, stroking desperately. She spread her legs and labia, showing me again her cum-filled pussy.

“ Give it up Mark. Tonight, this is Billy’s pussy. You can take it back as soon as you can get hard again.” Her eyes were devious and her smile sly.

In the morning I tried again and she playfully teased me about not being unable to get it up. We both knew it was her evil handiwork to blame so her comments only fueled my desperate fire. I finally gave up with a roar of frustration. She giggled and walked to the bathroom.

When she came out a few minutes later she plopped down next to me on the bed. We small talked about friends back home until there was a knock at the door.

“ Did you order room service while I was in the restroom?”

I shook my head.

“ Oh, wait, that’s right, I did.” She said with a huge grin and opened the door.

Billy.

She reached out and grabbed his wrist and pulled him inside and swung the door shut behind him. My heart sank. They kissed and she peeled off his T-shirt and unbuckled his shorts. She dropped to her knees right there by the front door and began sucking him using skills she had never learned on me. She was now able to take more than half of him into her mouth. Based in the length of his cock I knew the head had to be slipping part way down her throat.

When she had him nice and hard she turned and faced me on all fours, raising her pussy to Billy for the taking. He didn’t hesitate, grabbing her hips and sliding that monster home with a sigh that told me exactly how he felt about my wife. He fucked her hard and fast, making her orgasm easily, until he dumped yet another huge load of hot semen inside her. He rested on her back, breathing hard. Janie's head came up.

"There it is," she said. "I knew that would do the trick."

I looked down and my penis was stiff as a nail, bouncing in time with my heartbeat. She turned to Billy and said thank you and they kissed some more and then he tossed his clothes back on and left. Janie walked to me and sank to her knees between my legs.

"So now we know how to get you hard when you just can't get hard," she teased.

She lowered her mouth and enveloped my dick and kept traveling downward until her lips met my pubic bone. She'd never done it so smoothly or easily and I realized her time with Billy had improved her skills immensely. But she didn't stop. The heat and vacuum of her mouth, combined with the eroticism of the last twenty-four hours, was driving me to climax too soon. I wanted to shoot my sperm, meager load that it may be, inside her. She had other plans, once again extending the moment I would reclaim her. I tried to pull her off of me to move between her legs but she only worked harder and faster. I couldn't hold back. My body jerked and convulsed as I came into her sucking mouth. Billy would own her for a while longer.

We showered and cleaned up and made our way downstairs for brunch. I had a million questions about last night but Janie kept deflecting them or answering vaguely. The restaurant was too busy for us to have a serious conversation about my wife fucking another man so it wasn't until sometime later, when we finally settled in to our spot by the pool, that I was able to really face Janie and ask her questions. She remained vague. Her point was the night belonged to her and Billy. She wanted it to remain hers. Every woman has her secrets and now I finally have mine. A part of me liked not knowing. It definitely revs up the imagination.

She admitted they had enjoyed a light dinner first and a short walk along the beach after, but both were eager to get their hands on the other so they went back to his room right away. She mentioned the break for food but I didn't mention I'd seen them. I told her I was going to the bar for a stiff drink when I bumped into André and then they had walked in too. She confessed seeing André while in Billy's arms had lit a fire in her that Billy took several hours to put out. I admitted the soft humiliation I felt seemed to fuel my excitement as well. She knew I was dying to know where things stood between her and Billy and so she answered my question before I could ask it.

“ Billy is gone. He flew out this morning, heading back to Boston. When I text him from our bathroom and told him to come fuck me in front of you one last time, I knew he would be in a race to make his flight. That’s why we got right to business. Also, I wanted to deny you my pussy one last time by sucking you off. How’s that going by the way? Feel like you can get it up to reclaim your wife yet?”

She had a bawdy side now and I have to admit, I really liked it. We had been so formal before. Before this vacation our marriage had elements of a business relationship to it. Now, after everything we had gone through in the last few days, we were so much closer, so much more in love. I know that sounds backwards but nevertheless, that’s just how it was.

“ I’m thinking any minute now, yes.” I looked down at my limp penis warming in the sun. She looked at it too, and then turned her attention to her smooth pussy, still slightly puffy and pink. She reached down and lightly pinched her lips closed, making sure nothing was hanging out.

“ You know,” she said. “It’s interesting to me how this one very important thing keeps slipping your mind. I wonder if deep down on some subconscious level you actually want it.”

“ Want what Honey?”

She stared at me waiting for me to get it. My mind raced. Then it hit me. Again. Fuck!

“ What the hell’s wrong with me?” I asked.

She laughed.

“ Maybe you’re just a pervert?”

I stood up. “Maybe. Come on, let’s go upstairs and use another test. You could be making Billy’s baby as you lie there.”

She smiled warmly, patting my chair with her palm.

“ Hmm... now isn’t that a sexy thought? Sit down sweetie. We have plenty of time. Lay here next to your wife and try to enjoy the sun and the air. Try not to think about what may be going on inside my body. Try not to imagine all those hundreds of millions of sperm Billy gave me before he left and how right now at this very moment they are all frantically searching for my egg. God do I ever feel womanly. You have no idea.”

Her naughty talk had the desired effect. I remained standing and as she spoke my penis began to fill and rise. Clearly Janie was smarter than me and had figured out the intricacies of our new temporary lifestyle. She knew where my new buttons were and was having a blast pushing them. It was time for me to take her back to our room and fuck her brains out, reminding her she belonged to me.

“Hello my two great friends!” André said from behind me. I couldn’t believe his timing. I wanted Janie so badly. I needed Janie so badly. I had to take her back to the room. I needed to make her mine again.

Janie stood and took a few steps to meet him, her big breasts smashing against his firm chest, his swinging cock accidentally slapping against her thigh. My penis wilted rapidly.

“Please join us,” Janie said, smirking. “We were just enjoying the sun and fresh air after an adventurous night. I’m so glad to be able to spend some time with you.”

“Pretty Janie, the pleasure is all mine,” André assured her.

XXXXXXXXX END PART ONE XXXXXXXXX