

A woman with long, dark, wavy hair is lying on her back on a sandy surface. She is wearing a black, ribbed, strapless tube top. Her head is tilted back, and her eyes are closed. From the top of her head, a thick, dark, swirling plume of smoke or vapor rises into the air. The background is a soft, out-of-focus landscape with warm, golden-brown tones, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. The overall mood is mysterious and ethereal.

San Francisco Nightmare

By Matthew Lee

San Francisco Nightmare

Our Halloween vacation to San Francisco was still four weeks away when I gazed in the bathroom mirror and poked the roll of fat under my belly button. I really needed to get a handle on my sweet-tooth. Sheila, my wife, was still fit and lovely and I was starting to feel embarrassed standing next to her in public.

At the moment, she was at the doctor for a check-up. A few days ago we debated if it was time to start a family and agreed it was. We were both going to start eating healthy and exercising more, which mostly meant me, and I wanted to step up and do my part. It would be much easier on her if I was living a healthy lifestyle too.

I glanced at the three-year old photo on my nightstand; Andy and Shelia, newlyweds, standing on the beach in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, for their honeymoon, both smiling and looking fit in their swimsuits. Shelia's long brown hair was wet and stuck to her shoulders and arms. Water droplets glittered on her tone body. Best of all, her wet bikini top seemed vacuumed sealed to her big tits and her large nipples tented the fabric.

Shelia still cycled and jogged and attended Yoga classes. I ate desserts and surfed the Internet. I looked in the mirror and made a promise to check into gym memberships.

A week later I kissed Shelia at the front door and promised I'd be home soon.

"Take as long as you need, Honey," she teased. After a short drive I entered the gym and picked a locker. The place was busy and men of every size, shape, and color walked passed me. I was a little nervous but took a deep breath and stripped. I always hated places like this, ever since grade school. I'm insecure and painfully self-conscious about my body in general and my penis in particular. I know I'm small but my wife never seemed to care so over the years I'd stopped worrying about it. Now that I was back at the gym all those feelings returned.

As I was changing a guy took the locker next to me and started swapping his clothes too. He was muscular and hairless and gave the chin-jerk hello to several other guys. I was seated on the bench, digging my shoes out of my gym bag, when his pants went down right in front of my face and I found myself staring at a long and bulky circumcised penis.

I quickly looked away but I saw naked guys everywhere. I fumbled with my music player but could not stop myself from looking and slowly realizing virtually every man was bigger than me. Thank God for the short fat guy in the corner. If not for him, I'd have the smallest penis in the locker room. Not that it mattered, I reminded myself. I had Shelia and she was completely happy and satisfied.

The guy next to me asked if I was "Ready to do this!" and I asked ready to do what?

"Get pumped, Bra. Get swole. Get ripped."

I assured him I was in fact ready and he held out a fist. On a hunch I bumped his fist with my own and that seemed to work. He held his arm over his head and growled, "Hell yeah!", pumping his fist in the air which made his large cock flop and bounce right in front of my face.

I finished changing and hit the treadmill.

Three weeks later I felt much better. I still had way too much fat but I was feeling stronger. I discovered that I was indeed far down on the penis spectrum as by now I'd seen hundreds, but you get what life gives you.

I will admit I found them strangely fascinating. I had no desire to touch one but they are curious objects and to me, the bigger ones always looked better. I decided at some future date to discretely find out how Shelia felt about them, if she cared at all. I was the only lover she'd ever had so unless she watched porn, and I knew she didn't, she had nothing to compare me too. She may have no opinion at all on the subject.

I was only able to visit the gym one more time before our trip. We locked up the house and headed for the airport. Neither of us had ever been to San Francisco and we were terrifically excited to go. The flight was smooth as was the drive to the Bed and Breakfast and an hour later we dropped our luggage and closed the door on our temporary new home.

"Two weeks!" Shelia squealed, jumping on the huge four-poster bed. "I can't wait to get out there and see everything. I've wanted to visit here since I was a little girl and now I'm here with the man I love. I can't believe my perfect life!"

I smiled. When Shelly is happy, I'm happy.

We showered away the stickiness of travel and dressed for dinner; her in a light green belted dress and flats and me in jeans and sport coat. We hadn't planned much for this trip; Golden Gate, MOMA, Palace of Fine Arts...we wanted to hit the most popular spots before we left, but not at any specific time or in any specific order. This vacation was as spontaneous as possible.

We wandered the streets taking pictures and enjoying the views. We talked to people on the street and took our time. We got lost twice and had to double back, laughing all the way. At last we turned a corner and the aroma of Italian food wafted and we realized we were famished. After a small wait we were seated and dug in. The food was fantastic. We took a different route back to the hotel.

When I got out of the shower Shelly was channel surfing and stumbled across an adult movie. On the screen was a nude man taking a shower while a maid secretly watched and touched herself. As the man turned his penis came into view and the maid bit her bottom lip and squeezed a breast. Shelia was unaware I had entered the room and was watching her from behind. Here was my chance to see how she felt about penis size. I was relieved when her hand snapped out as she quickly reached for the remote and changed the channel.

Our love making that night was slow and tender. Shelly commented that my body felt a little firmer. I felt my orgasm approaching so I stopped and went down on her, thoughtfully giving her an orgasm before moving back up and reinserting my penis. Shelia has never climaxed from my penis inside her but I understand that is pretty common for women. Minutes later I enjoyed my orgasm and we both rolled over to sleep.

Although I did not know it then, that was the last time I would ejaculate inside my beautiful wife for a long, long time.

The next day we walked across the Golden Gate and back and then had lunch at Fisherman's Wharf. From there we visited the Palace of Fine Arts and played in the science museum. We returned to the bed and breakfast and napped, then rose and showered again and got dressed to go out. Shelly wanted to dance and drink and of course I want what Shelly wants. She wore a conservative little black dress and pumps but there was no hiding her incredible body. I went with jeans, polo, and tweed sports coat again.

We had no idea where we were heading when we walked out that door, we just knew that San Francisco had a wild reputation on a Saturday night, especially on Halloween weekend, and we wanted to find out for ourselves how wild it got. We hailed a cab and told him we were ready for some adult fun after acting like goofy tourists all day and he shrugged.

“As you wish,” he murmured.

“Nothing pedestrian,” Shelia added. “We're on vacation. I want excitement. I want daring and risqué. I want edgy and wild. Show us the freaks!”

The cabbie turned to the back seat and looked us both up and down; his eyes lingered on Shelia's beautiful face.

“You're a handsome couple,” he admitted. “I know a place I can take you. A man there will judge you and if he likes you he will give you directions to a special invitation-only mansion. But I have to warn you; this is the real thing. This is no flirt with the exotic. These people are serious. Are you interested?”

I knew it was Shelia earning us this opportunity and not me. I'll never understand why a woman as breathtaking as she is picked a guy like me but she did. Right now her face was lit with excitement and the thrill of adventure. She nodded her head vigorously.

The side trip was strange. The cab driver pulled up to a rundown bar in a shitty part of town and told us to wait while he went inside. Minutes later he emerged with a man dressed in seventeenth century garb and told Shelia to step out of the car. I tried to follow her but the cabbie put a hand out to stop me. Seventeenth Century looked my wife up and down and handed cabbie a card.

“We're in,” the cab driver mumbled. Seventeenth Century turned his back on us and returned to the bar. We got back in the car and sped away.

Thirty minutes later we pulled up in front of a huge Victorian mansion. The house sat up on a hill with a long flight of stairs leading up. Lights and music blared from every window and a crowd of wildly attired persons loitered about; bright pink Mohawks and pierced faces, leather skirts and Goth make-up. I was about to tell him to keep driving when Shelia chimed in.

“Wow! How exciting! I've never even seen people like this. Can we try it, Andy?”

I said of course but with a strange sense of foreboding. I've often wondered if I had known what our visit to this place would eventually cost me, would I still have entered. There is no sure answer but I must confess, while I did go through difficult times, I love where I ended up.

We stood on the curb as the cab pulled away. As we climbed the steps on either side I noticed faint tombstones in the darkness.

“Seriously?” I murmured. “The stairs cut through a graveyard?”

Shelia shivered and I put my arm around her shoulder.

“Do you think they're real?” She whispered.

The graveyard looked real and I said so.

We climbed and soon stood on the porch, the city lights far behind us.

The door was open so we walked in. We made our way through the crowd and while nobody was rude, nobody was friendly either. Everyone was dressed in some crazy way; Goth, Punk, Scene, Emo; you name it, it was represented. Even bondage and sado-masochistic elements were present. But no matter what outfit they wore, all of them showed lots and lots of flesh.

Inside the house had been converted to a dance club. The decor was daunting; deep reds and purples with heavy drapes and furniture. Heavy Doric columns had been blended with Art Deco and then the whole thing handed to Jean Paul Gautier while he was on acid to accent with dripping blood and black Sabbath trimmings. I was disturbed enough to want to leave but Shelia was wide-eyed with fascination. The floor-plan twisted and turned and within minutes we were hopelessly lost. When we stumbled into a bar we ordered three drinks each. Shelly downed two, one after the other.

“This is intense,” Shelly offered, her voice taut with excitement.

“I don't like it,” I replied. “I feel like leaving. Can we?”

“I admit it is unsettling, Honey, but we're on vacation and should try new things. Don't you want to go home with an awesome Halloween vacation story? This could be a blast. We wanted to discover San Francisco's wild side and I think maybe we have. Let's explore.”

I was worried and not having fun. Through a pitch-black archway came the deep thump thump thump of dance music and Shelia said she wanted to check it out.

The area we entered had vaulted ceilings and deep red lighting. I looked up and saw nude but bound male and female bodies hung from the rafters by their ankles. They looked like mannequins and I was about to point them out to Shelia when one of them moved and my heart jumped. They were alive. Those poor people. I wondered how long they had been suspended up there while the rest of us partied below. Did they hang there all night? How awful.

As my eyes adjusted to the deep darkness I realized the black walls in this area were lined with bound people. They were blindfolded, gagged, shackled, and their naked bodies painted black to match the walls. They were trapped there, anyone free to touch or molest them and several patrons did; nipples teased or penis stroked, pussy fondled and ass squeezed. I even watched a woman extinguish her cigarette on some poor man's scrotum as he writhed from the pain. I felt sick at first but then his painted penis began to rise.

“What is this horrible place?” I asked, turning to face Shelia. “Who are these crazy people?”

Her eyes glowed with excitement.

“Isn't it wild?” she gushed. “I've never seen anything like it. I had no idea people did things like this. It's like a nightmare but not as scary. Everyone is showing so much skin. I could never dress like that in public. This place is so naughty and decadent. Let's keep moving.”

She'd not yet noticed the persons affixed to the walls and as I led her from this area I did not bring the bodies to her attention.

We passed through a hallway crammed with hanging beads and the music fell away behind us. The ground became a ramp down and soon the beads swung softly over our heads. We approached a heavy black door so I suggested we turn back but Shelly came around me and pushed. It did not budge. We traded places and I pushed against it with my shoulder and it eased about a half inch so Shelly added her weight. It swung slowly away on silent hinges. I got the feeling we weren't supposed to be back in this area and said so. She agreed and then walked past me through the doorway. Just as slowly and quietly the door swung shut behind us leaving a smooth blank wall.

This area was made up of small rooms containing padded benches and beds, lit only by tiny blue lights high above. Halls ran off in every direction so we picked one at random and followed it. It was a dead-end and we had to double back and try again. In fact that happened to us several times and I began to suspect the halls actually ended in secret doors we couldn't see.

At the end of the next dead-end I stopped and ran my hands over the wall. Shelia asked me what I was doing and I told her and she joined my efforts. Soon she announced she'd found something. I realized it was a ring sunk into and flush with the wall so I lifted it and turned. A thin panel popped open and we stepped through. I used a business card to prop the panel open.

We were in a dining hall. Various men and women, all of them nude except for a metal collar around their neck, were setting the places and preparing the table for a feast. Tapestries covered most of the walls all of them covered with images of historic public executions. Shelia and I remained in the deep shadows against the wall, looking for another way to leave without being seen.

A door opened on the far wall and beyond we saw a kitchen. Two fat nude men pushed a large wheeled cart into our room. On top of the cart was a bound and naked woman. A ring around her throat was connected to the cart by a short chain and manacles circled her wrists and ankles. A ball gag filled her mouth. When she saw the table her eyes went wide and she uttered a muffled scream.

To our horror, the two men lifted the woman from the cart and placed her in the center of the banquet table on a large silver tray. She tried to fight them but was rendered helpless by her bindings.

She was laid on her back and her arms shackled to the table above her head and then her legs were pulled straight and stuffed down a hole in the table top. One of the men crawled under the table to shackle her legs there too. Lastly, a piece of iron bar curved like a U was used to encircle her waist and passed through the heavy wood of the table. The threaded ends went underneath and the same man that had shackled her legs again crawled under the table and spun big wing-nuts on the ends until the bar was snug against her belly. The woman started crying.

One of the serving girls with a pot and ladle walked up to the bound girl and began scooping broth across her breasts and stomach and legs. Another wench followed behind and sprinkled the broth with dried seasonings.

“Was she... Are they... Are they going to fucking eat her?” Shelia whispered, her voice thick with strain. I felt sick. We'd walked far enough around the room it was clear we could not exit without being seen so I nudged Shelia back the way we'd come. I found my card and returned it to my pocket and tugged on Shelia's arm. She could not take her eyes off the girl on the table. One of the wenches was actually dusting the victim with a white powder. The kitchen staff was making their final touches when the first guest entered and saw the trapped girl struggling to get away. His face curled into a vicious smile. We stepped back through the secret door and silently pressed it back into place.

We wander another hour but we had to admit we were hopelessly lost. In several rooms we saw dim shapes of men and women crawling over each other obviously engaged in sexual activity. Shelia was withdrawn after what we'd seen and I left her to her own thoughts.

Shelia complained her high-heels hurt so I had her sit while I searched. Of course, despite my best efforts I lost track of her too. I whispered her name where I thought she should be and then raised my voice a little but heard no response other than a distant man shush me. To my complete surprise I located the bench where I'd left her but she was no longer there. I kept looking and discovered a partially hidden doorway which led to another steep ramp down. Since I had no luck back the way I'd come, I took this new way. If nothing else I could find an exit and enter back at the front of the house again.

At the base of the ramp was a large circular room with doors along the wall and a dark arch across from my entrance. If not for the single tiny red bulb hanging in the center of the room, this area would be pitch-black. Each door had a small barred window at face height. My foot scraped the ground as I crossed to the far arch and a man's voice called to me from one of the doors.

"Hello? Is that you? Can I leave now you son of a bitch?"

I thought about gliding past and continuing my search for an exit but something in his voice made me stop. I approached his door. It was locked. I looked into the small window but it was black as the Devil's heart in there.

"Hello?" I hissed.

"Oh my God!" he yelled. "Get me out of here!" He shoved on the door but it did not budge. I pulled on my side but the handle was locked and bolted. The door was heavy wood and bound with iron. We had no chance.

"My name is Andy. What's going on? Why are you in here?"

He was enraged. "My name is David. My wife and I came to check out this crazy club our friends told us about. We ended up in some room and a bunch of nearly naked men started touching my wife. I wanted to leave but my wife didn't so I started a fight and they brought me down here to cool off."

He grabbed the bars of his small window and I saw a circular Celtic symbol tattooed on the back of his hand.

He continued. "Some big black guy told me when my wife was ready to leave they'd come get me but I've been here at least two hours. What the fuck is going on? Why are you down here?"

I explained my story and he told me to find Shelia and get out as fast as I could.

"These fuckers are crazy," he added. "Don't make any trouble and get the fuck out. They will twist your mind."

I thanked him and promised I'd try to find a way to free him.

"Keep an eye out for my wife too," he pleaded. "She about five foot two, blond hair and blue eyes, small boobs but a great ass. Her name is Karen. If you see her tell David wants to go home."

I promised him I would. As I entered the far hallway I heard him cussing and pounding on the door. I wandered in the dark for at least an hour before I finally found stairs up. At the top I opened a door and stepped into a large room filled with pillows. Tapestries of fox hunts covered the walls, but in each the fox devoured the hounds. Several hookahs sat on low tables tended to by men and women obviously too stoned to notice me.

A tall black woman entered wearing a see-through scarf wrapped around her incredible body. Her breasts were smallish but she had strong legs and high cheek bones. She smiled at me.

"Did you get lost?" She asked, her sweet voice soft.

"Yes," I answered.

"Follow me," she offered. I did. I was thrilled; here was my ticket back to Shelia and freedom.

She led me through several rooms and across a dance floor where wild men and women danced to loud trance music. She opened a door and gestured for me to step through, which I did, and then she closed the door behind me.

I was in a waiting room with four other men. Another door opened and a huge, muscular black man wearing a mask and carrying a serving tray stepped in. He was nude except for a sash coiled around his waist. The tray held five tumblers filled with whiskey. The man was clearly a body builder as his muscles were immense. His thighs were as thick as my waist.

"Drink this and follow me," he instructed. We each took a glass and downed it. It was warm and smooth and almost certainly not just whiskey. He exited through the same door he'd used to enter and one by one we all followed him to another small room containing seven lounge chairs.

“Get comfortable,” he ordered.

I sat in a nearby chair and leaned my head back. The not-whiskey had me feeling a little dizzy but also had my balls tingling. I gazed up at the high ceiling as the tingling in my testicles grew into a buzzing and then an ache. I felt my penis stiffen inside my pants and keep stiffening until I was hard as a rock. It felt good. No, it felt great. Amazing, in fact. A few heartbeats later and my dick was harder than it had ever been. All five of us looked at each other, smiling, and when Huge Black again ordered us to get naked, we began stripping.

I knew what I was doing was terribly inappropriate but somehow the drink made it the right thing to do. I now wanted to fuck more than I ever had before in my life. I could not keep my hands off myself and all five of us began to masturbate. I didn't care I had the smallest penis in the room.

Once we were all naked Huge Black ordered us to follow him again and led us down a hallway and through a curtain. I stepped into a room with a raised stone block in the center.

Chained on top at wrist and ankle was a blond woman with small breasts and blue eyes and a great ass. I knew this was Karen, David's wayward wife. She lay on her back and watched all of us enter; her wild blue eyes darted from man to man. At first I thought she was terrified but I soon realized she was writhing with lust and desire for more cock. Her nipples were swollen and her labia puffy and already wet and she had obviously been well-fucked before we arrived.

I tried to care about her feelings but just couldn't. Whatever it was I had consumed gave me one pressing and over-riding need; empty my balls. The man nearest her stepped up to her mouth and forced his cock down and Karen opened wide and sucked him in. A long satisfied moan rumbled in her throat and he pushed his cock deeper. The sight made me want to scream with desire. Half a second later we remaining four men fell on her, fighting each other for a turn in her mouth or her pussy.

Small viewing slits opened all around the room. We were being watched by other club patrons. Karen had been offered to five ravenous men as a sacrifice and others wanted to witness it. I heard muffled laughter as our observers enjoyed the five of us turned into animals.

I'd never felt anything like it. When her pussy enveloped my penis I moaned from a pleasure more intense than any I'd ever felt. Her hot cunt was pure heaven. I fucked her like a beast until another man pushed me away and took my place.

His cock was twice my size and she came quickly. Whatever drug they'd given her transformed her body into a live-wire. She was weeping from happiness as we fucked her like savages and she welcomed it, urging us on, driving us crazy. Karen was the ultimate slut, a simple-minded cock-hungry whore. I had no thought of Shelia at all.

No matter how hard we tried, not one of us could achieve orgasm. It was maddening. We fucked her mouth and pussy harder and harder, striving to reach climax, but whatever they'd given us to drink was an insidious brew; we were all more erect and hornier than we'd ever been in our lives, but release was denied us. Karen had clearly been given something quite different and as our efforts to climax increased, her pleasure grew. We couldn't get to her asshole or we'd have fucked that mercilessly too. Each penis she took drove her crazy with joy. Her entire body was a source of orgasmic pleasure and we brought her off time and time again. Before long she was a quivering mass of flesh lying on the slab.

Huge Black chased us all away from her and freed her from her chains. He scooped her into his arms and left the room, locking the door behind him.

Several more view slits opened.

Nearby I heard someone beyond the wall say, "This is the part I love most."

We five stood around, wide-eyed and panting with lust, maddening desire growing more intense by the second. Finally a big red-neck looking guy grabbed the smaller Asian man next to him and twisted his small arms, forcing him to his knees. Red-Neck shoved his hard dick at Asian man's mouth and soon drove his cock passed his lips. A hairy man moved behind Asian and bent him over, lined his dick up to his sphincter, and pushed deep until he was buried to his hairy balls. Both men spit-roasted the Asian man and a wave of nausea swept over me. He fought it for a minute but then slowly began to enjoy it until he too succumbed to the raw lust of the drug they'd given us and started sucking and thrusting his hips to better take the cock in his ass.

The room exploded into an orgy. Cocks twitching and assholes winking and mouths sucking; we all fell on each other like carnivorous rats, fucking and getting fucked, sucking and getting sucked. I dropped to my knees and sucked the hard cock closest to me and felt lips close around my dick. Eyes watched us from behind the walls but I didn't care. I had to have carnal stimulation. I craved it more than air.

The treacherous bastards who had drugged us were no doubt enjoying their handiwork as we fucked like animals but, once again, failed to climax. I felt myself slipping into insanity; I needed to cum so badly. Hands lifted my butt and a fat cock filled my ass and I loved it, pushing back on every thrust, reveling in the sensation of balls slapping my balls and a cock-head buried in my guts. The satisfaction was like nothing I'd ever experienced and I was ready to scream from orgasmic frustration.

Asian man did scream. None of us could orgasm and the burning desire to was driving us mad. Hairy Man held him by the hips and fucked him like a bitch. Asian Man's penis was bright red and as hard as diamonds and looked ready to explode but didn't. Asian Man stroked his dick while being fucked but other than providing himself even more stimulation, nothing happened. He screamed again, rapidly tugging his dick frantically, desperately.

Two dicks were shoved in my face and I took turns sucking them. I teased the rubbery flesh and forced each as far down my throat as I could. That I had never even imagined doing such a thing was irrelevant. I bobbed and sucked and stroked my own penis in time, frenetically seeking release, slamming my hips down on the meat in my ass, all to no avail.

The worst and most devilish aspect of that goddamn drug was the sensation one was about to orgasm any second and with just a little more stimulation you'd get there. Chasing it drove one mad. I and all my drugged companions were on the edge for an hour, probably longer. I was so desperate I actually wanted the cocks I was sucking to cum. I craved the flow of sperm into my mouth. I needed someone, anyone, to achieve climax, and I recognized those thoughts as twisted and bizarre even as I thought them but that didn't matter.

Abruptly, sprinklers overhead erupted and sprayed cold water over us all. We ignored it at first, so intent on reaching orgasm, but the water was cold as ice. The two men fucking my mouth stepped back and I felt the fat tube of flesh buried in my ass withdraw. I rose to my feet like the others, wondering what was about to happen next. Five men, soaking wet, breathing hard, and with raging erections stood around gazing at each other.

The shower stopped and the door opened. Huge Black waved us over. We gathered around him, all of us dripping and shivering and hard as rock.

“You all read the disclaimer,” he boomed, “and signed it. We have now reached that point in the evening where the terms you agreed to will be applied. Please face away from me and place your hands behind your backs.”

Of course I had no idea what he was talking about but blended in with the others and shortly felt thick bands cuff my wrists and click into place. When the last of us were secured he ordered us to turn and face him again. He made his way down the line of us, examining each man's genitalia as he went. When he reached the end of the line he came back and stood before me. I noted all the other men smiling.

From the sash around his waist he withdrew a small black case.

“It falls to you, my friend,” he concluded.

Inside the case were a handkerchief and a vial of blue liquid. He opened the vial and poured the solution on the cloth. He stepped closer and placed a massive black arm across my chest, pinning me to the wall. He clamped the cloth over my nose and mouth and at last my drug addled brain realized what was being done to me. I struggled about two seconds, sucking the fumes from the cloth deep into my lungs and sinuses before everything darkened around me and I felt his huge arm circle my waist and catch me.

Often when I sleep I sense the passage of time but this was not one of those times. I had no idea how long I'd been out. It felt like days. I returned to consciousness slowly, becoming vaguely aware I was strapped to a dentist's chair. It wasn't, exactly, but it was similar. I was under a sheet. Leather bands held my ankles, waist, wrists, and chest. An IV dripped slowly into a vein on the back of my hand and my testicles ached badly.

The room was softly lit, like a massage parlor, and a man sat at a laptop with his back to me. I cleared my dry throat and he turned. He approached my chair and checked my bindings and then checked the IV bag. In one hand he held two syringes filled with a green liquid. His brown hair was a mess and his thick glasses crooked on his big nose.

“One more bag after this one,” he squeaked, his voice as high as a mouse. His face was thin and gaunt, his eyes sunken.

“Who are you? What are you doing?” I croaked.

“You can call me the Pharmacist. Everyone does. You read the Agreement and then you signed it,” he explained. “I am applying the Terms, as was explained to you.”

“I never signed anything,” I protested, desperate for water.

He sighed. “Why do you all say the same thing? No one thinks it will happen to them and then when it does they feign ignorance. Of course you signed. There is no other way to get into the Arena. You signed and you lost and now I will do exactly what the contract said I would do. Every man wants the dinner but doesn't want the bill. Well, it's time to pay. Now be still.”

He moved around and replaced the now empty bag with a fresh one, although in this one the fluid had a reddish tint.

I tugged at my straps. These guys were really good at restraining people. “What is that?” I asked.

“Mostly a specially crafted and highly illegal mix of spironolactone and aldactone,” he stated. “But I have tweaked it into a unique house blend containing other key chemicals and hormones which I will not disclose to you for proprietary reasons. Just believe me when I say they do their work unbelievably well, as you will soon discover.”

“What work?”

He leaned close to my face and I smelled his bad breath. “Maybe better I show you than tell you? No men ever believe me when I tell them. They need to see it for themselves.” He moved around the bed, plucking at the sheet. He pulled it back, revealing me from the waist down. I felt the cool air of the room on my skin. He lifted a mirror from a nearby table and held it at an angle for me to see.

My mind froze.

My penis had shrunk drastically and was now perhaps an inch or two long and as thin as my thumb. It was a child's penis. My scrotum was almost gone; smooth soft skin dropped from the base of my shaft to my ass. Two tiny bumps were all that remained of my testicles. It looked like I'd never even had an adult ball sack.

“What the fuck!” I yelled and I swear he shivered with pleasure.

“Yes, beautiful, isn't it?”

I pulled at my straps for nothing. “What the fuck did you do? I'll kill you!”

He chuckled quietly. “No doubt you would if I gave you the chance, which is why this last intravenous bag has drugs to also pacify you. Their effect won't last forever but by the time they wear off, other hormones and chemicals will have kicked in and you will be much more passive. You will accept your fate and be content. In a short time, you will love your new body.”

New body?

I felt like crying.

He adjusted the drip mechanism and I suddenly felt drowsy.

“I've also injected you with massive doses of this potent oil.” He held up the two vials. “The oil breaks down incredibly slowly so you'll continue to feminize for a while but don't worry, eventually your body will absorb everything and you'll revert to your old self. Your penis may even be a little bigger for a while as your hormones swing back the other way. Every man is different.”

I was swallowed by dismay. My manhood was already much smaller and I had not started with much. How could it have happened so fast? I caught another glimpse of my infantile genitalia in the hand mirror and whimpered. I wanted to sob but I was so sleepy.

The Pharmacist continued talking as he tinkered with my tubes. “They found a pretty brunette wandering the club alone. Is she your wife? She's really quite stunning. Before you fall asleep you should know that Gabriel himself took an interest in her.”

He chuckled again when he saw concern flare in my eyes. I tried to speak but could not. My jaw moved side to side but words seemed so difficult and exhausting.

“Ah, yes, she is your beloved. Rest easy, my friend, Gabriel treats all his ladies with the utmost intimacy. Your wife is being well tended, even as we speak.” He chuckled.

Focus faded and darkness closed in again.

I awoke in a small dark room. For half a second I remembered nothing and then it all came back. I kicked the sheet aside and looked at my groin and the horrible truth stared back at me; this was real. The Pharmacist was real. My penis looked like it now belonged on a child. My balls were gone. Virtually all trace of my scrotum was gone. I ran my hand over the smooth skin, searching, and about an inch under the surface felt two firm lumps about the size and shape of Lima beans. At first I thought they were my shrunken testicles but they felt alien. I concluded this was the substance he'd injected into me; two deposits of paste or thick oil, something that would take a long time to break down inside me. When I noticed the Band-Aid on the back of my hand I ripped it off and threw it on the floor. I rubbed my face and felt a five o'clock shadow and knew at least a day had passed, possibly two.

I pulled my penis to examine the new size of it and discovered while I was much smaller, I was also much more sensitive. I tugged a few more times and the intense sensation sent blood surging and I rapidly sprouted a miniature erection. I placed my thumb next to it to compare and discovered that although fully erect, I was now smaller than my thumb.

I waited for the expected rush of sadness and dismay again but it never came. I felt no anger either. Was this the hormones working? I rose and searched the room and discovered the only clothing available to me was a Roman pteruges; a skirt of hanging fabric straps attached all around my waist. I buckled it on and scanned the wall. Across from me was a doorway covered by a heavy drape. I pulled the drape aside and peeked down the hall and slipped out. Apparently they were finished with me. I needed to find Shelia and get the hell out of this nightmare palace.

As I walked the straps rubbed my penis. It felt great but I forced myself to ignore it and concentrate on finding Shelia. I felt dread about her fate. Who the fuck was Gabriel? The absence of testicles between my legs was pronounced. My legs swung freely and it occurred to me this is what women must feel when they walk.

I searched rooms and hallways, choosing to head upward every chance I got. Soon I heard faint thumping music and knew I must be getting close to the dance club. I walked in front of a hallway and felt moist air so I turn to investigate and soon approached a shower area. From the dark I watched men and women soap each other.

The women are beautiful and I wonder if they are the performance artists I saw hanging inverted from the rafters. They touch each other with familiarity, laughing and joking. When my eyes move over to the men, I feel strange and unfamiliar emotions rise in me.

The men are incredibly fit and well defined and the soap running off their bodies accentuated their muscles. One of the pretty girls teases a man and then cups his cock and balls and everyone laughs. I hold my breath. His cock is as gorgeous as his body and I can't take my eyes off it. She slaps it and soap flies everywhere and they all laugh again and go back to washing. I watch them intently and I find myself as aroused by his body as I am by hers.

No, I correct myself, not his body, his cock.

It is beautiful. It's thick and long and hangs down under its own weight. It wobbles as he showers. It seems to have a physical presence all its own.

Under my pteruges my penis tingles. I shake my head and back away and I am left wondering why I care about that man's genitalia.

After another hour of searching at last I see tiny blue lights overhead and come to a large heavy door. I open it and see the beads hanging above me and remember the bar and dance floor are ahead. I hurry. I pass the bodies hanging from the rafters and strapped to the walls and at last arrive back at the club. As I move along the wall a young couple sees what I am wearing and they chuckle. The woman squeezes my butt as I walk by. I search all the faces present. No one looks familiar and I realize enough time has passed this could be an entirely new night-time crowd. I circle the room looking for anything to go on. A man notices my outfit and smiles and rubs the front of his black leather pants. A twisted thrill races through me before I can stop it so I quickly turn my back and head in a new direction.

I have no idea why I thought I might find Shelia here. Perhaps it was just the last place I didn't feel completely lost. Regardless I move through the crowd looking for anything, any clue at all. I notice another man wearing a Roman skirt identical to mine and I approach him. He sees me coming and raises his drink to toast.

"To the wages of sin," he croaks. He is much older than me. His face is wrinkled and his body weak. He gulps his drink. I have no idea what he means.

"I need help," I state. "My wife is missing. I lost her somewhere in this madhouse and I can't find her." He's smiling. "I was told Gabriel has her."

He stops smiling. "Then she is lost to you and you're best served learning to live without her. Women do not leave Gabriel."

"I have to find her and get out of here. There's been a terrible mistake. We need to go home."

I see sympathy in his eyes but he only shrugs.

“I can't help you,” he says. “Gabriel could be anywhere. He prefers the Throne Room but he could be anywhere.”

“Where is the Throne Room?”

He finishes his drink. “Do you know the room with the bodies strapped to the wall?”

“Yes.”

“One of them hides a secret door. On the left wall when you first enter. About the third or fourth person in; pull on them and the door swings open. If Gabriel has your woman, I have to warn you, you may not like what you find.”

I barely heard his warning. I was already retracing my steps.

I made my way back until I once more pushed on the heavy door under the beads and stepped into the bound-bodies room. This time I felt along the left wall, in the darkness running my hands over tits and pussies.

At the third body I stopped and began to search. It was male and my heart sped up a little as I touched him. He was tied to the wall in a crucifix position and blindfolded and I detected straps holding him at the wrists, throat, waist and ankles. I ran my hands down his chest and stomach and then around behind along the wall, searching for the knob. I did the same on the other side.

My bare thigh brushed against his penis and electricity ran up my leg and jolted me. I froze. Our bodies were so close I felt the heat coming off of him. My touch had excited him and his chest rose and fell. His rising penis lifted the front of my skirt as his hot breath warmed my neck. Goose bumps rose on my arms and back.

His body was virtually invisible to me. Did he volunteer to be bound like this? Why would someone do that? Perhaps this was his fetish. Perhaps he was being well paid to play the part.

The darkness combined with the black body paint had me staring into empty space. I lowered my hand to his cock. I tried to lift my skirt off his dick but somehow instead my fingers encircled his rapidly swelling shaft. I felt life pulsing beneath the thin skin; life and power. He was big; bigger than I had been anyway. His cock throbbed in time with his heartbeat and I tried to let go but couldn't. This was so different from my first experience with another man's penis just yesterday, or however many days ago that was. That was a drug-fueled rage, a mindless assault of lust. My brain had been so drug-addled I barely remembered what happened. This was desire. This was want. My mind was focused on every exciting detail. This penis was heavy and warm and I knew what my touch felt like for him.

A small, rational, calculating part of my brain suggested I was a victim of the female hormones and other chemicals now racing through my veins and I actually had no interest in this penis at all. It didn't matter. It all felt genuine. This penis held me spell-bound.

I slowly knelt. I wanted to see it up close. In the low light his dick curved up and his balls had drawn up to his body. Strange and unfamiliar emotions rose up in me as I examined him. The longer I gazed at his erection the stronger those emotions became. I felt compelled to act but had no idea what to do. Without a powerful drug driving me into a sexual frenzy I was confused. I wrapped my other hand around him too.

"Please....please..." His soft voice was strained with want as he leaned into his straps. "I've been waiting here sooooo long..."

I moved my hands up and down the length of him and he gasped. His hips began a restricted and involuntary thrusting. I leaned in and breathed hot air on his cock head. I stopped stroking and just squeezed the shaft hard in my fists. He groaned but his cock surged. I moved his loose skin back and forth and ran my hand down and under his balls. From experience I knew what pleasure he was receiving but for the first time I also experienced this as a giver, and I wanted more.

I slipped my tongue out and carefully licked the tip of his dick and was surprised when a slippery glob of sperm slid down my tongue to the back of my throat. I swallowed it.

Like a magic potion, the knowledge I had taken a man's seed into my body set my heart pounding. My little penis twitched and jumped and although it remained soft, I felt a growing arousal like nothing I'd ever known. Taking his sperm made sense. I needed to please him.

I opened my mouth wider and engulfed his large head, pushing him deeper as my lips traveled down his shaft. I felt every vein and artery beneath my tongue. Above me he moaned loudly and that triggered others bound to the walls around us. They knew one of their own was getting some. In seconds I was surrounded by moaning and writhing bodies yearning to be touched. I could do nothing for them. This cock had my full attention.

I forced his cock as far into my mouth as I could and held him there, working the length with the muscles of my throat. Like I was born to it, I bobbed my head and coaxed his cock, teasing the sensitive skin underneath with my rough tongue. I started my hands stroking him again. I yearned to please this complete stranger. His cock needed to be taken care of.

I have no idea how long he'd waited there, trapped against that wall, deprived of almost all sensory input, but only minutes after I started I felt him grow inside my mouth, swelling and throbbing. Above me I heard him groan with gratification.

He erupted like a volcano, surprising me, spewing red-hot lava inside my mouth, across my tongue, splashing inside my cheeks, dripping from my teeth. I almost choked. When my cheeks filled I swallowed and he groaned and I sucked harder and he shot more. His cum was salty and tangy and a small part of my brain was screaming at me to stop but it was a very small part. Over and over he emptied his fat balls into my sucking maw. He must have been saving his cum for a month. My head moved as his hips arched trying to drive his cock deeper. It was my first taste of male essence and I loved it. I kept sucking, enticing more and more from him until he was spent.

But I didn't stop. He may have been finished, but I wasn't. That tube of flesh felt so good and natural in my mouth I couldn't stop.

My attention now caused him a special kind of intense agony, a mind-rending blend of pleasure and pain. Years ago Shelia had continued sucking on my penis after my orgasm and I knew I was making him suffer but I didn't care. As he softened it allowed me to take more of his cock so I pushed my lips down and sealed them around the thick base. I bobbed my head and worked him with my tongue until he was begging me to stop but I didn't. I couldn't. I kept sucking and his cries drove the others crazy which only spurred me on. I loved the weight of his cock on my tongue. My mouth was stuffed with dick and I loved it. This was a feeling I'd never had before. I desperately craved more.

Despite his constant struggling and pleading, I kept sucking on him. Soon I felt a slight swelling. Encouraged, I sucked his cock harder and faster. He was angry now. Like a trapped animal he snarled and jerked his hips around, trying to get away. I held his pelvis and face-fucked him until miraculously he threw his head back against the wall and roared as another orgasm wracked him. He lost control; his body jerked and convulsed as his cock sprayed another hot batch of sperm into my torturing mouth.

“Pleeeeeeeaseeee!” he cried, a mix of agony and ecstasy. I was a cum vampire draining him of his life essence; I wanted to leave a withered husk attached to this wall. I pushed his cock deeper the last inch and felt the head slip into my throat as he spurt another blast of hot man juice straight into my stomach. I exhaled through my nose and sucked with all my might and was rewarded with one last spurt and a cry of agony from above.

I held him in my mouth as he shrank. I thought about doing it to him all over again. I held all the power and he was helpless to stop me. I was terribly excited and in a way totally new to me. I began sucking him again and a pleasure so intense it was agony lanced through him. He sobbed and tried unsuccessfully to pull his penis from my mouth. I twirled my tongue around the ultra-sensitive crown and he begged me to stop. I remembered Shelia.

My little penis was still soft but my heart raced. Once he had deflated completely I let him slip out and stood on weak legs. I sought the knob behind him, found it, gave it a turn and he swung away from me, limp and exhausted and only held in place by the straps that bound him. I had sucked a man off and swallowed his load for the first time ever. I trembled with my arousal and although I wasn't hard, I felt sexual tension in every fiber of my body.

I stepped into a hallway and shut the door behind me, the helpless bound man thumped against the wood. At the far end drapes covered the exit and I parted them and gazed into a large circular room, the ceiling in shadows. The room was big with various diabolical restraining devices scattered around and every one of them held a moaning and groaning bound man or woman. Ropes or leather straps trapped arms and legs. Clamps pulled nipples or separated labia. Bodies were twisted and contorted painfully, held upside down, bent forwards or backwards.

Next to me a naked man on his back was strapped over a barrel and affixed to the floor at wrist and ankles. He had a large belly and a small penis and was sweating profusely as two girls beat him with leather whips. Welts covered his skin and only a ball-gag kept his screams from filling the room. I noted they callously flogged his balls more than any other part of him.

Beyond him a woman was on the carpet on all fours with her head actually under the floor. A small trap-door with a padded cut-away section for her neck allowed the doors to shut around her throat, trapping her head beneath. Nothing else held her in place; her hands and feet were free. Little good it did her though as a circle of men took their turns in her pussy and ass. She'd struggle and pull herself away but another man awaited her no matter where she turned. The men laughed as she spun one direction and then another trying to get away from them. They'd drive their cocks into her and use her own struggles to fuck her.

Next to her was a woman crucified upside down. Ultra-thin needles pierced her nipples and a vibrating shell covered her clitoris, held in place by suction. Her face was at waist height and a chubby man slowly pumped his half erect penis in and out of her mouth. She screamed around his shaft but a metal ring kept her from biting down.

To my left a nude man sat in a fiendishly designed chair; the base of the chair held a woman placed so her mouth was held open at the front of the seat. Anyone sitting down would have to place the genitalia into the woman's mouth. Her arms hugged the legs of the chair and her legs were strapped under. Underneath was another woman suffering a fate worse

All around the room other men and women were trapped within fiendish contraptions. Most had their genitalia or breasts lewdly displayed. Some were positioned as an offering to anyone who wished to help themselves. Two women, suspended above the floor on a single chain, were placed in such a way as to force their faces into each other's pussy and then tightly bound together.

One man was suspended upside-down with a large vibrating penis in his ass and vibrating rings around his cock and balls. He'd cum endless times until his sperm ran down his stomach and chest and coated his face. His hands were strapped to his waist and he struggled to free himself to no avail. In a chamber full of moans, groans, weeping, and laughing, his cries of anguish were loudest. He was given no respite; forced to orgasm again and again until his testicles were utterly empty, and then forced to orgasm again and again on top of that. I wondered what crime he had committed to deserve such a terrible punishment. I wondered how long he'd been like that. His eyes looked insane. Nobody had any intention of freeing him.

On the far side of the room small steps led up to a dais and a huge black oak chair, centered in a giant crimson pentagram. A large, heavy-set man with a massive chest sat on the chair wearing only a dragon-head mask and black boots and gloves. He spoke to a young girl with enormous breasts and her chest rose and fell with excitement. She appeared to be several months pregnant. The girl stepped aside to carry out whatever task he had just assigned her and I saw his penis resting on his chair.

Easily the longest and thickest penis I'd ever seen, various surgeries had altered its appearance; silver metal studs circled the head and a series of bumps ran along the top to double rings at the base. Thin steel chains hung from the tip to the double rings and I guessed this allowed him to loop chain around someone's neck and shackle them to his cock. I shivered. That idea disgusted me and tantalized me simultaneously. I pictured him sitting there conducting business as usual with some poor soul kneeling before him, locked in place and unable to move, a thick pipe of dick down their throat.

On either side of his chair stood two nude women each with her head trapped inside a small wooden box. They used the chairs to brace themselves and did not dare move. They were completely blinded by the enveloping box.

As I drew closer my eyes scanned the two women; one, several months pregnant, the other, large tits with small nipples, flat, tone stomach, strong legs. The mole next to her belly button confirmed it. My wife was the woman on his right! I scrutinized her and other than her predicament she seemed untouched and unharmed. A wave of protectiveness swept over me. If Gabriel had impregnated these other females I clearly needed to get Shelia away from him. In a few steps I was at the foot of the stairs and spoke.

"You have my wife and I want her back," I stated, trying to sound confident. I saw her box come up at the sound of my voice and her muffled whimper reached my ears. Dragon Mask heard it and turned to look at Shelia. He turned back to me.

His voice was a deep bass. "This angel is your beloved? How long have you worn the pteruges? Does she know what's been done to you? Will she still want you?"

"Yes. She won't care."

He nodded his head slowly. "What is your name?"

"Andy." I hated how hollow and small I sounded in that large room.

"Be thankful you did not give me an order, Andrew. I appreciate you want her back; she's a rare and gorgeous beauty. But I can't return her to you, not yet. I have plans for her. If you want her prior to completion of my plans, you'll have to reclaim her by force. Can you do that?"

He stood and assumed his full height, easily six and a half feet. He was massive. He radiated raw strength. His body was smooth but thick and powerful. My eyes fixed on his studded cock; the rings and chains swayed to the weight of it. His penis was level with my eyes. Because he was no longer sitting I saw it more clearly now and revised my estimation on the size upward. He was almost as thick and long as my forearm. I remembered seeing a side of beef hanging at the butcher shop when I was young. His cock reminded me of that meat, swinging slowly side to side. His hairy scrotum was as big as a coconut.

Before I could look away he caught me looking and hefted his phallus in his right gloved hand and slapped it on the gloved palm of his left.

“Your wife had the same reaction,” he said. “Her look of desire was inspiring, which is why I claimed her. Tonight I'll have her prepared and then I'll put a baby in her womb like I've done to so many others.”

My jaw fell open. I could not allow that but how could I stop him?

Shelia blindly felt her way forward until her hands found his shoulder and then she pushed away from him. I hated that box around her head. It dehumanized her, which was the point, and made her totally dependent.

“No, you won't,” I responded, a colossal rage building. “You can fuck with me but do not fuck with my wife. You will hand her back to me right now. Take that fucking box off her head and give me back her clothes, now.”

I had not heard them come up behind me but two men grabbed my arms. I struggled as hard as I could but they were much bigger and stronger than me. Cuffs clicked around my wrists.

“Dunk him,” Dragon Mask said and one of the men nodded. “And then strap him to The Horse.”

I opened my mouth to protest and the man behind me slapped a ball-gag on my tongue and lightning-quick tugged the Velcro strap in place. I tried to yell to Shelia but she didn't hear me. As they led me away the last thing I saw was her box frantically turning side to side as Dragon Mask spoke to her and held her hands.

I was taken down a long hallway into a room with a pulley over a large open tank of water. Ice cubes floated in it. Suspended over the tank was a bound naked man, hanging head down, chest deep in the water, struggling furiously to lift his head. Two guards passively watched his suffering. Dread filled my heart. I began to panic. At the last moment they pulled the chains and lifted him from the water, gasping and gulping air, his face and shoulders a brilliant red.

Remorselessly my two guards laid me on a bench and attached shackles to my feet. Seconds later I was lifted high above the tank, also head down, my short skirt falling away and exposing my shrunken penis and missing balls. They began to lower me. The other victim and I locked terrified eyes. He was lowered too. As the water came closer, fear overtook me. I tried to scream and they chuckled. I was trapped in a nightmare.

The water was frigid and I tried to keep my face out but it was impossible. I took a deep breath through my nose as my head went under. These bastards had done this many times before. They knew exactly how much air I had in my lungs and left me under a few seconds too long each time. I thought my heart would explode. Cruel and vicious, these two henchmen delighted in the suffering and pain they caused. I emerged coughing and sputtering and spraying water. My companion was left submerged several seconds longer than me and seemed close to a heart attack when he was finally removed.

They took their time. Over and over they submerged us both, withdrawing me only after I began to panic. They did not stop until I was mentally, emotionally, and physically exhausted. For over an hour they tortured me and it only ended when I stopped screaming and struggling.

They pulled me from the tank and removed my skirt and tossed my body over a short padded saw-horse face down. Each ankle and wrist was attached to a leg. A strap buckled around my waist and another around my neck. The saw-horse was short so my penis and ass hung off in space at one end as did my head at the other. I felt warm grease poured on my butt and slathered around. Several times a well-lubed finger slipped up my ass followed by a second and a third. I was stretched open and held open until I relaxed.

The horse was on wheels and they moved me back up the corridor. As we left the room I saw the other victim heading back down into the water again. I never discovered what became of him. The trauma of the dunking was beginning to fade and I was coming around with a growing panic built in my chest. I wondered why they had lubed my ass but deep down I knew. I tested my bonds but no luck.

Back in the Throne Room I noticed most of the torture devices were now empty. A small group of five men remained, milling about, waiting for something. I recognized some faces and realized this was the group I was with when we all gang-fucked Karen.

On a low bench on her back was my wife. The box was gone from her head but she was strapped down. The henchmen wheeled me into place over her and adjusted a few levers; she and I were in a sixty-nine position. Her mouth was inches from my penis and mine inches from her pussy, but neither of us could reach the other.

Her pussy had been shaved as smooth as glass and I was shocked to see her clitoral hood was now pierced with a shiny gold double barbell. The balls at each end lifted her labia up and away, exposing her clit to open air.

“Oh Baby,” I heard her mutter below me. “Oh my God, Andy... Baby, what have they done to you?”

I tried to hide my penis and missing scrotum but I was too securely tied. I knew my lovely bride was staring right at my tiny dick and missing testicles. Behind me I heard a door open and footsteps clomp on the stone floor. I tried to twist and see what was happening but failed. Excited whispers filled the room as the clomping drew closer and I heard Shelia gasp.

“No! No, this isn't happening... no, no... Oh my God, please no...” she murmured.

As the steps came around in front of me I saw what was causing them; a centaur, half-man, half horse, stood before me. Of course, it was a man wearing a very convincing centaur costume, or, more likely, two men, but in the low light he looked real. The most frightening aspect of his outfit was the horse-cock that dangled from underneath; jet black and uncircumcised, swinging menacingly back and forth, this animal phallus pulsed with real life.

He slowly circled me again.

“Why is that beast here?” Shelia asked. “What's he going to do?”

I tried to reassure her around the ball-gag but of course she did not understand. I heard her tell herself she must be dreaming, this must be a nightmare.

When he got behind me, the clomping stopped.

Front horse legs climbed up and over me, moving forward until they rested in my armpits. My hamstring felt the slap of that slab of beef and then it moved up my leg, bumping and slapping until the shaft rested between my butt cheeks. I tried to think of something, anything, to do or try. I pulled at my restraints again but they didn't budge. I heard Shelly whimper. That huge cock was directly over her face.

Centaur rubbed his shaft up and down my ass crack and I felt him thicken and engorge. He was looking forward to this. I struggled again but that really excited him so I stopped, but too late. He was getting hard fast. He pulled his hips back and the head rose up inside my thigh. He curled his haunches and the head slipped up until my sphincter caught it. He nudged my hole repeatedly as he sought to align to my anal opening. At last he found the perfect position.

I felt pressure at my asshole.

I froze. This was really happening.

The pressure increased and I tried keeping him out by clamping my asshole closed but the grease worked too well. As the tip of the cock pushed in, my sphincter flowered to accept it. I was expecting a blast of pain that never came. Instead, I felt my tight ring expand and squeeze the large head until I opened wide and then closed behind the crown. I gasped. The pleasure was out of this world. His plump bulbous head throbbed inside me and I involuntarily arched my back and rolled my hips. The sensation was insanely pleasing.

The large head traveled deeper and a breathtaking wave of fullness and delight swept through me. I heard myself moan and I knew Shelia saw me push back my hips in an effort to take as much of that cock as possible. I was as shocked by my reaction as she was. It had to be the injection of hormones they'd given me. Surely I would never welcome a cock in my ass otherwise.

He shoved deeper and my mind exploded. Within seconds I was craving that big cock and loving the sensation of it working deep into my guts and withdrawing again. After several testing thrusts, Centaur's balls came to rest where mine used to be and I was full. I clenched my anus around his inches as hard as I could and let the astonishing pleasure wash over me.

Incredibly, for the first time in a long time, I felt my penis swell and harden and understood at once. This was the new Andy; penetration made me hard.

“I don't believe it,” I heard Shelia whisper. “Baby, why are you erect? Did you agree to all this? What happened to your penis? What's going on? Is this exciting for you? Do you like it? You must like it, right?”

I pushed my hips down in an effort to reach her mouth.

She raised her head and closed her lips around my tiny mushroom and the wet heat felt better than it ever had.

Centaur withdrew from my ass almost completely and strongly pushed his length back in. I groaned loudly. I loved it. God help me, I loved it. I was getting fucked like a bitch and that's exactly what I craved.

I didn't care others were watching. When he began a smooth and steady rhythm of in and out I felt a bizarre new intense tingling throughout my pelvis and rectum. That cock in my ass felt so good and natural I had to wonder how much were the injected drugs and hormones influencing me and how much was my own latent and hidden desires. I've never known something that felt so amazing. I was full and satisfied but beyond that, I was thrilled to have a cock inside me.

But there was more; rising in perfect step with my own desire was a new womanly need to please another. My male selfishness had evaporated. I longed to please him so much he would gift me his seed. Emotions combined with physical sensations. Sex became a weaving together of the two. I understood better how women felt during sex. I was taking him inside my body and the intimacy of that act staggered and satisfied me.

I arched my back as much as I could, lifting my butt, offering him my hole completely, utterly submitting to his lust. Regrettably, this pulled me from Shelia's mouth, but I desperately needed him to cum inside me. His driving shaft felt like Heaven. He swelled larger and grew more slippery and I knew he must be leaking pre-cum and that thought electrified my brain. I became so excited I started whimpering. If I wasn't gagged I would have begged him to fill my ass with his sperm.

The tingling spread to my hips and legs. He pressed his weight on me and the head of my penis slipped back inside Shelia's mouth. She sucked me hesitatingly, unsure about what I wanted or needed. Centaur was pounding me and my tight ass squeezed his shaft on every thrust. He was grunting like the animal he was and I loved it. He swelled even thicker and I cried out joyfully. I heard my wife whimper below me.

Centaur threw his head back and roared and I felt a white-hot blast of sperm smash into my inner-walls. He shot again and again and I felt my spastic ass clench around his thick meat and milk him.

Trembling convulsions rose and an orgasm I did not at first recognize seized me. This was so different. My old way to climax was lost.

Radiant waves of electric sensation raced through me, starting deep inside my rectum and spreading outward. I was climaxing around his invading cock but at the same time my mind and heart were emotionally climaxing as well. Happiness flooded me as his sperm did too. My new female orgasm was more deeply satisfying than my old male one had ever been. I was cumming with my whole being. One small spurt of seminal fluid shot from my penis into Shelia's mouth but that was merely mechanical.

Centaur shot again and again and each time he did another wave slammed into me and sent me skyward. The experience was mind-altering. I screamed with pleasure around the gag and tears flowed down my cheeks. He took a long time to empty those big balls and I savored every surge.

At last he rested his full weight on my back and I felt him begin to deflate. It saddened me to feel him go. I was still hard as a rock and ready for more and sudden insight told me I could cum again. With a thrilling rush of intuition I knew I could achieve multiple orgasms.

Centaur backed away, his slithering fat snake withdrawing, my new man-pussy empty of cock but full of cum. Moments later one of my former comrades took his place and a new hard cock nudged my slick sphincter.

"Do it!" I yelled into the gag and it came out sounding like a cough, but my intention was clear. A heartbeat later a new cock shoved deep into my bowels and I was on my way again. He wasn't as big as Centaur and in many ways that made it better; I was able to take him completely and without pain.

Those bastards showed me no mercy but that was fine with me. One by one they all fucked my ass, reveling in the turn of events that had placed one of their own bound before them. They fucked me extra hard because of the history we shared. This was their way of letting me know they were the dominant and I was the submissive. I was no longer part of their gang. They snickered and laughed and said degrading things about me but I didn't care. I was happy I was no longer one of them. I was my own creature and those hard cocks were pure gold. Not one of them tried to touch Shelia and I knew in the back of my brain Dragon Mask had ordered her off-limits. Given my fate, none of them risked crossing him.

One of them came around and removed my gag and forced his cock into my mouth. I sucked him like I needed semen to survive. It took a long time but I emptied every one of them and some of them twice. My man-pussy was filled with semen as was my stomach. I achieved more orgasms than I could keep track of, each one utterly unlike my climaxes as a man, each one like my body was crushed by an invisible fist and squeezed until unfamiliar muscles convulsed and quivered and light exploded in my brain.

At last I'd exhausted them. My small penis throbbed stiff as iron and ready for more. I heard movement around me and muttering and then the shuffling of feet. I lifted my head as much as I could and caught a glimpse of Dragon Mask standing in front of me. He stepped forward and laid his enormous member on Shelia's flat tummy, the head reached way past her belly button. Instinctively she tried to close her legs and protect herself but her bindings prevented her.

My heart stopped. Shelia is my wife and Dragon Mask was between her legs. His earlier words came back to me and I wondered if I was about to witness the insemination and impregnation of my wife right before my eyes.

"Leave her alone," I said. Because of the strap around my neck I was unable to lift my head and look into his eyes. I heard a click above me and a large syringe entered my field of view. The needle was about three inches long and bigger around than other needles I'd seen and filled with a yellow liquid. He placed the syringe atop his wide cock. After some movement, he sat the dragon mask on the ground. With his strong hands he gripped the massive head of his cock and straightened out his meat. He placed the needle tip against his penis and pushed. I cringed. That had to hurt. I wondered about Gabriel's sanity.

The needle slid smoothly under the skin. He pressed gently on the plunger, injecting a little fluid, and then withdrew and repeated the process. He injected himself with that serum all over his cock. Over half his shots went into his huge scrotum.

Shelia had no idea what was happening, but I had a ring-side seat.

"I'm Gabriel," he rumbled. "I am Lord in this place. My will is absolute law."

His cock was inches from my face as the serum began to take effect. First veins and arteries swelled as blood flow doubled and then quadrupled. Wrinkled flesh stretched and grew taut. The metal studs rose slightly above the skin and from this close I saw each was a tiny human skull. His cock was growing erect but not from some natural process. This was a drug-induced hard-on. His cock was terrifying, a vision of horror.

His cock was swelling like it had been stung by a thousand bees. Flesh twisted and expanded. Distended tissue inflated and the whole member elongated, the head inched up Shelia's belly. The shaft began to rise and Gabriel stepped back until the head of his obscene member lifted towards my mouth.

It is a damning testament to my new role that I obediently opened my mouth. I knew I was preparing this man to mate with my wife and that filled me with revulsion. I tried to summon the rage I needed to resist him, but that rage never materialized. Instead I felt only an eagerness to please. I could not refuse his masculine and powerful manhood.

He waved a hand and two men rolled Shelia back until her face was beneath us; my eyes above, looking down into hers, her below, looking up into mine, and this massive phallus between us. I closed my mouth over the tip and sucked and saw resignation in her eyes. She did not understand what transformation had seized her husband but she understood now was not the time to ask questions. She studied my face for a moment and then turned her attention to Gabriel's cock. I saw her gaze travel the long length of him. Gabriel had told the truth; I saw her obvious lust for this meaty spear. By now I had engulfed the head and was working my lips down behind the crown.

She rose up and planted her lips against mine, kissing his shaft where our lips met. I slipped the head out and forced it into her mouth with my tongue and she sucked it in. Together we worked this massive cock and Gabriel groaned and leaned back, enjoying his domination of this married couple. She teased the length of him from below and I handled the top and Gabriel savored our complete surrender. He grew and grew, thickening and firming, until like a rhinoceros horn jutting out from his body, his majestic erection was fully engorged.

I knew I was getting him ready to fuck my wife and that tore me up inside but I simply could not stop myself. I knew it would happen regardless of my empty protests; Shelia had caught Gabriel's eye and here in his domain that was the ultimate truth. If I refused, I'd be punished again and my wife would be fucked anyway, probably more severely. They may even subject her to the Dunking and force me to watch. I was able to rationalize a half-dozen ways why Gabriel fucking Shelia was actually a good thing.

But that was my wife beneath us; the future mother of my children. I loved her and wanted to protect and care for her. Primal rage swirled within me. The drive to advance my genes over any other man demanded to be heard. I was torn.

Gabriel shoved Shelia's bench back under me so my face was once more directly over her pussy. He stepped back and displayed his enormous cock to me. Shelia was breathing hard beneath him. He stepped forward so his thighs bumped her legs. She tried to squirm away from the contact.

"What's going on, Honey?" she asked, her voice trembling with uncertainty. "Is that him I feel between my legs? Baby, I'm scared. I don't want him to. Is that why you sucked his cock, Honey? Do you want him to? Baby, I'm your wife, I can't have sex with other men. We made vows, Andy. What's happening? What's he doing?"

My mind raced, searching for the right thing to say, but I had nothing to draw on. No life experience had ever prepared me for something like this. This was insanity, a twisted erotic vision straight from Hell. I looked down as Gabriel slid his cock up and down her labia and his metal studs vibrated her metal piercing. My wife gasped. I considered ordering him to stop but remembered my treatment in the dunk-tank and I knew he would ignore me, possibly even draw excitement from my protests. I was trapped in every way.

His huge head came to rest at her opening. Her pussy lips were smashed by the weight of him. His cock gleamed from our combined saliva and he applied just a little weight and pressure.

Shelia jumped. "No!" She squealed. "NO! I'm married! This is wrong! Don't do this. You can't do this!"

Gabriel leaned forward. Shelia's bench creaked. She tried to move her hips away.

"Andy! Stop him! I can feel him entering me! Oh God Baby, please do something!"

She pulled hard on her straps. She kicked her legs. Gabriel rested his gloved hands on her thighs and pulled her towards him. The tip of his rampant cock split her labia wide open.

"NOOOOOO!" Shelia wailed. The metal studs around his crown made contact with her piercing and I heard her shriek. Gabriel sank an inch into her. I saw her pussy open like a flower, welcoming him. Like flowing honey, her lips curled around the head and closed behind the crown.

“GODDAMN YOU! NO!” Shelia yelled. “Stop! Please God stop. I'm begging you. This is wrong. This is WRONG. I'm begging you, oh God, oh God, oh God, Oooooooooohhhh, AAAAAaaaaa!”

His head moved inside my wife and he pushed firmly, burying several inches. Her little pussy was forced incredibly wide. He shoved again and Shelia gasped. He withdrew and the studs rattled her piercing and I heard her moan. Contrary to her protests, her cunt clung to him like it hated him to leave.

“Ooooooh Fuuuuck,” she drawled and I thought I detected an undertone of surrender which she quickly hid. “Please, I'm begging you, please stop. Please don't do this.”

Gabriel pushed twice as deep as before and Shelia's back lifted off the bench.

“Jesus Christ!” she exclaimed. Gabriel gave her no chance to recover and withdrew almost completely again and shoved it back home. She was wet inside and his gleaming cock proved it. A storm of emotions raged in me. I wanted him to stop but her obvious excitement confused and inflamed me.

“God help me,” my wife panted. “Please...someone...help me...how...can.... you.... men.... just stand there...and watch?”

I am ashamed to admit the degradation of my wife turned me on. Something fundamental had changed deep inside me. My protests had been an act, a mindless response drilled into my head by society. The truth was I did want to see my wife fucked.

Gabriel pumped his huge cock in and out a few times and Shelia moaned. The studs along the top of his cock vibrated her barbell on each stroke, rattling her clit and G-spot, and she seemed defenseless against it. He forced more inches deep and my wife groaned. He withdrew and pushed it back in and Shelia whimpered. I heard Gabriel chuckle.

“That's my Good Girl,” he soothed. He drew a deep breath and began to smoothly stroke in and out of her. I noted his cock was now sparkling with her reluctant wetness. He slowly worked it deeper until at last she was taking the full length of him on every thrust.

She'd stopped protesting and now seemed to be resisting the urge to enjoy it. I had a new understanding of the intimate violation for her; an uninvited man was inside her body. Rage festered at the invasion. But Gabriel was masterful. With smooth, confident, powerful strokes he seduced her. He held the ground he'd conquered and waited for her to accept her new fate. Slow and strong he filled her and then left her empty, waiting for nature to take over and break her will. Moments later I heard a familiar sigh, the sigh she always makes when passion and lust begin to overtake her.

He knew it too. How many women had he broken over the years? He moved closer and held her breasts in his hands. His hips worked a steady rhythm.

When I heard her make that little gasp she always makes before orgasm, I was stunned at how quickly he'd gotten her there. Worse, he'd lifted her to that height using his penis only. Never in all my years with her had my penis brought her to that point. I was hurt deeply. There was no blunting the pain of this truth. I had wondered if my wife had a preference for size and now here was indisputable proof she very much did.

She snatched several quick and excited breaths. I know she was fighting him and the effect he was having on her. I knew she was trying not to cum. She knew I was observing all the signs of her slow submission. He was relentless and her hips began making small circles, drawing out the exquisite pleasure of his enormous cock.

A whimper rose from her throat and turned into words.

“Ooooooooooh Baby, I'm so sorry. I'm so sorry. I can't fight it, Love. I'm so ashamed. Fuuuuuuuck, I can't hold it back. I'm going to cum. I'm sorry, Honey! Oooooooooohhhhhh fuuuuuuuck! Uuuuunnnnnnnhhhhhhh...”

Gabriel laughed a booming laugh as my wife climaxed around his cock. He never broke stride, fucking her with sure purpose and deliberate intent. Shelia screamed as his massive meat sawed in and out of her tight hole as for the first time in her life she climaxed purely from a man fucking her. I was hurt, crushed, buried under my inadequacies. He had so easily led her someplace I could not and she had been determined to resist him. She was powerless against his thick hard member just as he'd known she would be. He knew her body better than I did. She came powerfully and for a long time.

Gabriel slowed down but did not stop. My wife was trying to catch her breath as waves of climactic glee wracked her body but he gave her no chance. Before she knew what was being done to her, he sped up and lengthened the depth of his strokes and her body responded instantly as in minutes another massive orgasm boiled up in her and she screamed from the bottom of her lungs as her hips thrashed and flopped.

Gabriel was merciless. He used his cock to drive my wife to one earth-shaking orgasm after another. She was utterly unprepared for what he was able to do to her; first fast and shallow and then slow and deep, climax followed climax. Her orgasms were not up to her; he forced her to have them. She had no choice. His demonic cock ripped each new one from her. I watched in stunned amazement. How was this the same woman? Not until he had reduced her to a quivering mass of boneless flesh did he finally turn his attention to his own release. His own release. My mouth went suddenly dry. How had I missed this? Too caught up in what he was doing to her, I had not considered what was coming. Of course he was building to this. Gabriel would soon ejaculate inside my wife and I was powerless to stop it.

“Beg me not to,” he rumbled, reading my mind. “While you were having your procedure your wife and I had a most intimate conversation. She told me no man other than you has ever inseminated her or even been inside her. I knew then I had to have her. Beg me to pull out. Would you swallow it all to protect her? Don't answer. Although I think you might, I wouldn't want you to. She's an unearthly beauty and I want to seed her and I'm going to.”

He moved his hips faster. I threw myself against my straps. This was too much.

“Then she told me you two were trying to start a family and had come to my city with that intent. Coincidence? No. That ended any other consideration. Now I had to have her. You took this vacation to get pregnant? Congratulations. You're about to.”

I strained with all my might, grunting and groaning. Her penetration was so close. I looked down at her petite pussy stretched wide to accommodate his girth. Her lips strained to contain him.

He pinned her torso to the bench and really began fucking her hard and fast. I was astonished when she responded and began lifting her hips to meet his as far as her straps allowed.

He drew in a bushel of air and held it. The inevitable arrived.

“Watch, Andy! Watch me breed your wife! Here it comes! Oh, by the Dark Father.... Yes..... Oh FUCK YES!”

He rammed his giant cock far into my beloved and fired the first jet of white-hot sperm deep inside her. I was dumbfounded when I heard her climax beneath him because of it. He thundered his pleasure and shook the walls as an insane flood of semen spewed from his cock. That injected serum worked magic on his big testicles. As he fucked my wife he unloaded a deluge. Seemingly as hot as lava, he roared his pleasure as he shot over and over. Cum sloshed around his shaft and dripped to the floor. He filled her womb, her tubes, and her vagina to overflowing. He clenched his huge balls and shot my wife full of seed. His sperm was so potent it almost glowed; stark white and perfectly pure. Again and again his big balls rose and fell; his tube of beef flexed and pulsed.

His complete domination of her crushed me. In a primal way I felt possession of her pass from me to him. He left his cock buried inside her a long time, burning the moment into my mind forever, squeezing the last drops out. When he withdrew he was a creamy mess. Shelia shivered and I sensed she felt her ownership change hands as well.

Gabriel waved a hand and henchmen appeared and untied us both. I was handed my pteruges which I put on. Gabriel took both our hands and led us through a hidden door which a henchman held open. Beyond was a huge bedroom, one half filled by a massive bed. Gabriel steered us onto the bed and then joined us, leaning back against the headboard.

Shelia and I looked at each other and we understood. I saw in her eyes she did not understand what had happened to my body and why I was now okay with sucking cock or allowing men to fuck me, but this was clearly not the time or place to discuss her confusion.

Simultaneously we lowered our mouths to his monstrous cock and began to please him. I savored the mix of his juice blended with hers. My wife gazed at me over his balls and we returned to our task. With each passing minute our actions became more natural to us. Soon we helped each other tease and please him. Instinctively we both understood we were not there to make him orgasm. That would come later. For now he was training us, acclimating us to the idea that we were a married couple whose purpose was to provide him pleasure whenever he wished it. My wife and I passed his giant schlong back and forth, flopping it across our faces or rolling his big balls with our tongue.

He had us pause in our efforts and curl up like dogs at his feet. An hour later he told us to begin again.

Our night passed slowly. Sometimes Shelia and I listened as Gabriel told stories about this madhouse and the persons who had visited over the years; celebrities and politicians, mafia bosses and famous athletes.

An hour or so later, on her own initiative, Shelia lowered her face to his cock and began suckling him. I watched amazed as my demure wife brought him erect. Apparently this was something he'd been waiting for. His face glowed with success. Of her own free will and lusty desire my wife approached this man for sex. She wanted him again without prompting. For the first time in her life she chose a man other than me for sex. Her seduction was complete.

I watched as she brought him to full hardness and then pushed him back and mounted him, her large breasts swaying as she rode his member until he once more shot her full of copious and snow-white sperm.

We all slept.

I was awakened by strong hands on my ass and immediately offered him my man-pussy. His cock was difficult to take but I did not give up and before long I was the one coaxing yet another hot load from our host. Those injections into his scrotum caused him to produce an unbelievable amount of sperm. My insides were slick and slippery. I was awash in him.

We settled back into a comfortable sleep.

We spent days there. Gabriel used us as whimsy struck him, but he fucked Shelia much more often than me. She excited him. Me he just enjoyed dominating. Her womb was always kept fully drenched in his potent jizz. I watched in pure fascination as my wife examined his cock in her small hands, studying the only other cock she'd ever seen. She hefted his huge balls and stroked the long shaft, captivated. She seemed to memorize every inch of it. I saw love and adoration on her face.

She initiated their sex more often than he. During our stay in his bedchamber she touched him constantly, seeking intimate contact with the man at all times. When they fucked, her arms and legs curled around and held him close. She'd touch his face sweetly or brush his ass with her fingertips. She'd pull his face down and kiss him passionately as he penetrated her. She'd climb up on his huge body like a child and bite his neck or tease a nipple. He was rarely out of reach and her desire for him was insatiable.

He felt the same about her, in his way. I saw the way he kissed her and caressed her. My wife's stunning beauty had swayed him. He was accustomed to callously taking what he wanted and coldly using people as he saw fit, but something about Shelia made that impossible. He tried not to care for her, but deep down, he did.

Out of the blue, one day Gabriel sat us before him and said it was time for us to go. Shelia's face fell and her shoulders slumped. We knew it would not last forever but the end arrived suddenly and we weren't prepared. He wasn't tired of us. This felt more like part of some complicated plan he had.

We were blindfolded and dressed in our old clothes and driven back and dropped around the corner from our hotel. Before we were let go the chauffeur warned us, reminding us many prominent and powerful men and women were club members. Any attempt to go to the police or get news agencies involved would fail.

We'd been gone eight days. We spent our first day back sleeping almost an entire day, waking only to order room service. The night was chilly and we snuggled before the fireplace. We both wanted to talk about everything that had happened but had no idea where to start. I decided to start where I'd seen her last.

"Honey," I began, "after you gulped those three drinks you were feeling dizzy so I sat you down to search for an exit. When I came back you were gone and I didn't see you again until the Throne Room. What happened?"

She closed her eyes and let her mind drift back. "I heard people approaching and thought it was you coming back with help. A man entered the room leading several men and women on dog leashes, crawling on all fours, all of them naked. He was tall and powerful and wore a dragon mask. He was naked too except for black boots and gloves. I was immediately afraid of him. Right away I noticed his penis was pierced and adorned with steel chains. I couldn't believe the size of it. I thought it was a prop, like a prosthetic, part of some bizarre Halloween costume, but I soon realized by the way it swung back and forth it was real."

I felt her shiver and move closer to me.

"I guess it was the three drinks, mostly, or maybe something they put in them, but I could not take my eyes off his enormous cock. It made me horny but also frightened me. Because I was seated it was right at eye level. I felt myself get wet. He approached and asked who I was and what I was doing here. As I told him the truth, my eyes drifted down to his dick over and over again. He liked that I looked at him like that because he began to engorge. We talked some more and he continued to get bigger. He put a boot on the bench next to me and his heavy meat slowly swung back and forth.”

She snuggled closer still. Her memories were fresh and powerful. “Andy, Baby, I'd never cheat on you. I need you to believe me. But honestly, I was dying to reach out and touch his cock. It had metal studs and rings and it was scary and intriguing and mesmerizing. I'd never even imagined such a thing existed. He'd enhanced his cock through surgery and then adorned it with jewelry and then displayed it for all to see, like a fabulous necklace. I realized I'd never really thought about male genitalia before and I realized I loved them. I felt drawn to their power, like they have a life all their own.”

We both watched the flames flicker and lick and dance. After a minute or so, she continued.

“We talked for a while I became aware the persons on leashes were crouching and awaiting instructions. I wondered how he had so much power over them. He told me his name was Gabriel, like the Guardian Angel, and if I went with him he'd help me find my lost husband. I stood up and took his hand and the touch was electric. I trembled.

“He took me to a room that looked like a bar combined with a lab; colorful bottles lined the shelves. Glass and stainless steel equipment lined the walls. He gave me something to drink which he said would calm my nerves. I'm so stupid. I drank it and my body began to tingle immediately. Within a minute I was dying to be fucked. My whole body craved sex. It took all my willpower to keep my hands to myself and not reach for his massive cock. That drink also made it impossible for me to lie and as he began a series of ever more intimate questions, I told him everything he wanted to know. Listening to my answers made him grow rock hard and I almost started crying I wanted him so badly. He asked where I was from, who I was there with and why we came to his city. I told him everything. He asked about my sexual history; how many lovers I'd had and what sex meant to me. When I said only one he grinned like the devil.”

She stopped her narration to check on me. We kissed and I assured her I was okay hearing all this and to please continue. She took a deep breath.

“He started asking me about my fantasies. Baby, I'm so sorry, I told him things I've never even told you. He exposed every hidden and secret part of me, every dirty thought or desire I've ever entertained, but he didn't stop there. He began suggesting things to find out what I liked. He said things I'd never imagined and while some of them were disgusting or terrifying, some really turned me on. By the time he told me to take off my dress, I was more than ready to. I stripped for him and squirmed as his eyes traveled every inch of my flesh. No man other than you has seen me naked and I felt terrible for cheating on you but I couldn't stop myself. I'm so sorry. He knew I craved other lovers even before I knew it.”

She took a moment to calm herself and then continued.

“We talked a while longer and then he had me show him my body. I complied. He urged me to more lewdly display myself and soon I was opening my legs to him and spreading my asshole. He humiliated me and I loved it. I was soaked. Guards led me to a chair. Straps tightened around my wrists and ankles and a needle pierced my forearm. Drugs enter my bloodstream and my sex drive, already running at full speed, jumped off the charts. I gasped for air. It was torture. I couldn't touch myself. I had to just take it. When I finally felt someone touch my pussy I was so happy. I looked down and watched them pierce my clitoral hood, unafraid.”

She paused, deeply ashamed. I waited.

“Andy, the drugs they gave me turned me into a Nympho. Once they set me free the cool air across my clit had me ready to climax any second. I asked about you and they said you'd been found wandering in a private area, but that was okay because you'd been selected for a special honor. I asked what but they wouldn't tell me.

He handed me a small box with a cut-out for my neck and told me he wanted me to put it on. He could have done it to me but wanted me to do it to myself. I did. They left that box on my head, making me helpless, and put me in a room in the middle of an orgy. My hands were cuffed behind me. I thought I'd go crazy hearing all those moans and bumping into all those bodies. I made myself cum by humping someone's leg, then again when some anonymous woman licked my pussy. Nobody fucked me, like they knew I was off limits, but, Baby, I have to confess, I desperately wanted some man to throw me down and pound me. I would have eagerly accepted any cock at all.”

I brushed a strand of hair out of her face and told her everything was okay. She asked about my story and I brought her all the way up to when I met her again in the Throne Room. We sat lost in thought for a long time. I saw her head come up and she gave me a serious look. I waited.

“What?” I asked.

Shelia moved closer and pulled the blanket away from my groin.

“Sorry,” she murmured, obviously curious. “I just want to see what happened here.”

I blushed but opened my legs. She held my penis in her hands and studied it, lifting and turning. She ran her palm down and under where my balls used to be, testing the soft skin, exploring.

“Smooth,” she said. I nodded. “I don't see a cut. I thought they removed them?”

“No, they shrank them, chemically.”

“Is it permanent? Will they come back?”

I directed her hand to the two lumps under my skin. “Not until those are gone.”

She laid my small shaft across her palm. I didn't make it from one side to the other.

“It's very small now, Honey,” she said, staring at it. “How do you feel about that?”

I shrugged. “Strangely, I'm not upset. I love my new body. When he shrank them he pumped a whole bunch of other things into me too. I don't miss them and I like that it's small, but I worry about satisfying you.”

She laughed. “Satisfying me? I've had enough sex to hold me for a while!”

Our eyes met and she lowered hers. I knew she wanted to say something about how small I was now. Before she could her eyes grew big.

“Honey,” she exclaimed, “look at your arm.”

I looked down. My arm was smooth and hairless. I ran a hand down my leg and all my leg hair came out.

“What's happening?” She questioned.

I stood and shrugged the blanket off. My body was utterly hairless from the neck down. More than that, my skin was smoother, soft and glowing.

“You're turning into a woman.”

I stepped to a mirror. She was right. She was exaggerating, but she had a point; my hips looked slightly broader, my shoulders more narrow. I ran my hands over my chest and felt budding breasts deep under the skin.

“Should we go to a doctor?” she asked.

I was conflicted. I liked my new body but I wondered if the drugs were forcing me to like it. Shouldn't I be freaking out? Far back in my mind I remembered something the Pharmacist had said about eventually returning to normal and possibly bigger. I told Shelia.

“So we wait and see?” She asked.

“I think so,” I added. “Too much going on in my body now anyway. I'm worried about dumping something else into the mix. Let's give it time and see what happens, okay? Wait until things calm down.”

She eyed me head to toe. “Okay. But what about sex? Girls don't turn me on.”

I knew what she was really saying; You're now too small to fuck me.

That hurt. It was true, and that's why it hurt. My intuition told me no dildo or vibrator would do. New nympho-Shelia needed real sex. I pictured myself fucking her and winced. No way. I pictured Gabriel fucking her and felt excitement. I picture a faceless hung stud fucking her and my heart raced. An idea occurred to me. I chewed on it a minute and then decided I could do it. I shared my plan with Shelia and as I spoke, her eyes grew bigger and bigger.

“Holy shit,” she said after I finished.

“Yeah.”

We gazed at each other again.

I had confessed to her my excitement at watching her with another man and she had admitted she'd loved it too. Gabriel had ripped the lid off Pandora's box.

“Why do you think he let us go?” she asked.

“With that man there's no telling.”

She nodded absentmindedly.

“What if I'm pregnant?”

Boom. I was not prepared for that one. Fire flared in my belly. Those words burned me. I also found them arousing and the sparkle in her eyes told me she felt the same.

We were not the same couple we once were. I didn't answer. I pulled the blanket back to look at her groin the way she'd looked at mine and noted she still wore the double-ball piercing. Her labia were pulled back exposing her clitoris. She looked wet and I wondered if it was all her or if Gabriel still leaked. A shiver of glee ran up my spine. I touched my finger to her and tasted it; pussy and sperm. Gabriel still owned this pussy. She threw her arms around my neck and pushed me backwards. We fell back kissing.

“This is madness!” she laughed.

I nodded in agreement. Some sperm leaked from her pussy and dripped onto my penis.

“I was angry and frightened, at first, when he threatened to impregnate you. Now I see your pussy full of his cum and it turns me on. Where are we headed?”

She sat up, still on top of me, and placed both hands on her lower belly, looking down at them as if she carried a child in her.

“I don't know what I'd do but it turns me on too. I don't think I'm pregnant. I don't feel pregnant. My mom always said she knew each time she was. But we are playing with fire. I feel so scandalous and dangerous and out of control. We must still be high from everything they gave us.”

“Yeah, that must be it.”

The next day we acted like tourists, sightseeing and shopping, but in the evening Shelia said she wanted to go out. We went back to the hotel. I was ready quickly but she spent a long time in the bathroom. When she emerged I hardly recognized her; dark eye-shadow and ruby lipstick, her long hair teased and wild, her blouse open in front and her tits poured into a push-up bra. A wildly short skirt and wickedly high heels completed her outfit. My jaw hung open.

“What happened to having enough sex to hold you for a while?” I asked.

She laughed. “That was before we talked about it and you said you liked watching me get fucked. I feel slutty, Baby. I want to act like a total whore. I'm leaving my wedding ring on but I want you to take yours off. Tonight you're out with your married friend.”

My heart skipped a beat. This was different than having it done to us. We were choosing to go out and do this. It was exhilarating. I nodded and slipped off my ring.

We gave our taxi instructions and landed at a hot new dance club. Shelia went in ahead of me. Our story was I am her gay friend meeting her for a fun night out. I was supposed to wait ten minutes but on a whim I waited thirty instead. By the time I found her she was at a table with three business men. Our eyes met as I strolled by but she didn't say anything so neither did I. I ordered a drink and sat where I could see her and the dance floor. The men were twice her age but well dressed and groomed.

They took turns dancing with her and she was clearly having a blast. Each guy held her hand as she entered or left the dance floor and for reasons I still didn't understand, it turned me on.

A fast song was playing when the tallest man pulled her close. They danced slowly while everyone around them was going wild. I noticed his hands sliding down her back and when she didn't stop him his fingers came to rest on the top of her ass. She looked wildly sexy. She pulled him closer and I saw her take his hand away.

Old habits die hard, I thought.

Then she brought his hand around to the front and up under her skirt. I coughed into my drink. Holy shit! In seconds he struck pay-dirt as Shelia's eyes grew big and she bit her bottom lip. She mashed her tits against his chest and allowed him to play with her pussy while in a sea of people. She kissed him passionately.

Finally they went back to the table. She excused herself and took the long way around to my seat at the bar.

I had a drink waiting for her and she downed it.

"What's the plan?" I asked. "Thought I was supposed to join you?"

"This is better," she replied. "What am I allowed to do? How far can I go?" I studied her. My wife was terribly aroused; all those men and all that attention, the music, the alcohol, the dancing, and most of all the slutty and exhibitionistic display of her body had her in heat.

"Are you wearing panties?"

"Yes."

"Go to the bathroom and take them off. Hand them to me on your way back to your new friends. I brought both hotel keys." I subtly handed her one under the table. "Give me a twenty minute head start and if you want you can take the man of your choice back to our hotel. I'll get there ahead of you and hide....and watch."

She licked her lips without thinking about it.

"Fuck, that's hot."

"Yes it is," I agreed.

She turned and headed for the restroom. Minutes later she breezed passed me and a pair of damp panties landed in my lap. Back with her friends I watched her down another drink and then head out for the dance floor. Thirty minutes later she caught my eye and gave a quick nod. I paid my tab and bolted.

The bed and breakfast had a large armoire near the bed which only held a few of her things. One side was for dresses and the other side had shelves. I quickly stepped in and experimented. It locked but I could open it from the inside. If I stood tall I could see out the slats at the top and view the whole room and bed.

I swept through the room and hid anything obviously mine and then, feeling capricious, I stripped and hid my clothing. I would watch her while nude. I stepped into the small closet and drew the door closed.

Outside our room I heard deep voices.

When our hotel room door opened, Shelia walked in with all three men.

Not the same girl I married at all.

Tall guy headed for the bar and poured drinks for everyone while a broad-shouldered man hugged my wife from behind and a thin man used the restroom. Tall next turned on some music and Broad turned Shelia to face him and slow danced. I know her and noted all the signs of nervousness. She was acting cool but she wasn't. After a few minutes she excused herself to use the restroom and all three men sat on the bed; they all silently high-fived each other.

"I thought she'd pick you," Broad said to Tall.

"Me too!" Tall responded.

Skinny snorted. "This is better," he said. "She's a tigress. She's going to devour all three of us."

I smiled. Just two weeks ago she was a frightened pussy-cat. Now she's a tigress. I made a note to tell her later what Skinny had said.

The next second four male jaws dropped. Shelia stepped from the bathroom wearing a white see-through lace dress that hugged her curves. Her hair framed her face and her small erect nipples tented the fabric. All three men stood and she walked before Tall and leaned up to kiss him.

"You two have a seat," she instructed. "I'll get to you." They did as they were told. My wife sank to her knees and unbuckled his pants. In moments she'd freed his nicely shaped but very average sized penis. She kissed up and down the length of it until he was hard and bouncing and then she moved over to Broad. Tall undressed. Broad was longer but thinner than Tall as she kissed his cock to full erection too. When she moved over to Skinny, Broad undressed as well.

I found myself gazing at both erections. My asshole started to tingle. I knew I could not leave my hiding place but I felt drawn to that hard meat. I wanted to touch it. I wanted to suck it.

When Shelia lowered Skinny's pants the other two men laughed. His cock was bigger than both of theirs by a lot and he was already hard. Shelia moaned and closed her mouth over the crown. Skinny put both hand on her head to guide her.

“Fuck that's hot,” he exhaled.

Tall said, “Jesus, Jesse, I had no idea.”

Broad nodded in agreement.

“Now you know,” Jesse replied. “Get off the bed; I'm gonna fuck this hot bitch.”

Shelia moaned again and shoved his cock deep. Jesse grabbed a handful of hair and forced her farther down his cock until she gagged. He didn't let up. I worried for a second until her hand drifted down to her clit. She liked his rough treatment. He face-fucked her and she took it.

The other guys stood and Jesse pulled my wife off his cock. He was fully erect now and his sturdy cock stuck way up. He pulled her around by her hair and bent her at the waist over the end of the bed. Without ceremony he moved behind her and buried his fat cock in my wife's drenched pussy. Shelia cried out as he opened her up and sank into the depths of her.

The plan I had described to her yesterday was pretty simple; until my body returns to normal, we find other men to satisfy her. We make no connection to them and I prefer if they were strangers she only saw once or maybe twice if she really liked them. Essentially, they were living dildos she used to masturbate. She was very excited by the idea.

Gabriel had opened a door and she understood herself better. We'd married young and only known each other and she now knew there was a big wide world of new and exciting lovers out there. We were both totally committed to our marriage but there was no reason to limit our sex life. The procedure that was done to me forced this solution but after our experience with Gabriel we agreed this probably would have happened anyway, or something very much like it. I loved watching my wife fuck and she loved fucking new men. our passion and desire had been awakened and we understood now it was not as conventional as we'd believed. We could never go back to our old ways. Her hands traveled over their skin, feeling their male bodies. She cupped theirs asses or squeezed their muscles.

Broad crawled onto the bed and fed my wife his cock. I watched sweet Shelia fucked at both ends and envied her; the more I watched, the more I craved it too. I noticed some of her tops next to me and a few folded panties next to them and an idea popped into my head; I ran my hand over my face and although I'd not shaved my face for two days, I had no stubble.

Outside the men were passing Shelia around. Tall pushed a finger up her ass while fucking her from behind and she groaned but tried to swat his hand away.

“Oh, I think we have a virgin ass here guys.”

He pulled his dripping wet cock out of her and firmly held her hips. Jesse was busy fucking her mouth so he held her tightly at that end. Broad grabbed her hips, trapping her where she was. Tall lined his cock up to her sphincter and began to penetrate her. She struggled, of course, but three men against one petite woman was hardly a fair fight. I watched Tall's face and knew exactly what was happening. As each new inch disappeared up my wife's ass, his excitement grew.

Shelia moaned long and loud around the fat cock in her mouth but she had to take it. Tall kept a slow and steady pressure until his cock was balls-deep inside my woman. My hips and asshole tingled with remembered pleasure.

Jesse fell onto his back and told Tall to move her forward. Shelia protested and tried to resist them but did not even slow them down. As soon as her pussy was over Jesse's cock he pushed her hips down on him. I watched his fat dick part her lips and penetrate her cunt. In less than a minute my wife was double penetrated for the first time in her life and while it seemed to hurt right at first, in seconds her cries turned to groans of deep enjoyment.

“What the fuuuuuck?” she moaned, twisting and turning her head as she experienced new heights and new sensations. Both men laughed and began to work together. Hips pumped and my wife cried out. All her muscles clenched and her back arched. She was almost sobbing, filled with cock. Broad saw his opening and knelt in front of her face.

“Open wide, slut, you're about to be stuffed with dick. She feels like a virgin but acts like a whore.” He laughed. “She's the perfect woman!”

My wife obediently opened her mouth and Broad eased his cock deep. I gazed in pure amazement as my wife serviced three men at once and pleased them all. Each man concentrated on his way of taking her, watching his cock sliding in and out of this sexy little tart. Jesse came first and that made Shelia orgasm. She'd mentioned that her favorite moment is when a man explodes inside her and I bashfully admitted I loved that moment too. When Broad heard her climax he grunted and called her a whore again, which she seemed to enjoy deeply, and pulled her hair until it hurt her while shooting her mouth full of her sperm. She gulped him down. Tall came last, driving his dick balls deep as he emptied them into her bowels.

When they'd finished they released her and she fell exhausted onto the duvet. They high-fived each other again, looking down at their conquered prey. They left the bed heading for the bathroom and Shelia turned her face towards the armoire, giving me a sly and secret grin.

The men returned from showering and made small talk for a while. Jesse made Shelia suck his big cock while they all sat there but after a while they said they had to catch a flight and left. I waited until I was sure they were gone and then unlocked the cabinet door.

Shelia's face held a look of guilt and defiance and glee all rolled into one.

“Jealous?” she teased.

I shook my head. “More like aroused.”

She glanced at my soft penis and then quickly looked away but I knew she was disappointed. I sat next to her and stroked her hair and wiped a light sheen of sweat from her forehead. I sighed.

I realized she needed more information. I'd withheld it because it was embarrassing but without it she'd never understand. I took a deep breath and explained that as a side effect of what was done to me I now only seemed to get hard from anal penetration. She listened respectfully, realizing how difficult this was for me to admit, and then furrowed her brow in concentration after I finished. I waited a heartbeat or two before sharing the idea I had while watching her. At first she didn't like it but I reminded her most likely none of this was permanent and saw her relax. The more we talked about it the more excited she became.

“Wait here,” she exclaimed, jumping up from our bed and heading for the bathroom. She returned with her make-up bag, dropped it on the bed, and then stepped to the armoire.

“You have high cheek bones,” she said. “I bet I can make you pretty.”

From the cabinet she pulled panties, a white sports bra, a black crop-top, and a mini-skirt. An hour later I stood before the mirror and did not recognize me.

“My shoes won't fit you but you have small feet so finding some will be easy. To keep guys away from your penis just tell them you're on your period and offer your ass. Every man on earth will jump at the chance to fuck a girl's ass.”

I wondered how my sheltered wife knew this but I let it go. She's so pretty I'm sure guys have been saying shit to her since she was very young.

As I gazed into the mirror my excitement grew; I was pretty. The hotel had black towels and we'd used that to mimic the wig Shelia said she'd buy me. My crop-top showed off my soft belly and the short skirt showed off my legs. She'd added a pair of black thigh-high stockings at the last minute and I felt so sexy. I actually looked like I had small breasts. She'd done my make-up heavy and accented my eyes and lips and as I stood there gawking at my transformation I picture my lips sliding up and down a nice hard cock. Shelia was looking at me with an expression I did not recognize.

“You okay with this?” I asked.

“It takes a little getting used to but yes, I'm okay with it. We can have fun with it. You look great.” She chuckled. “I'll never get this image out of my brain.”

“I'm still your husband. Never forget that.”

“I won't.”

I undressed and we both showered and got ready for bed. We made plans to shop the next day for more items for me. We'd been quiet for a long time, each lost in thought, when I spoke.

“Three men at the same time.”

She squeezed my hand.

“Yes,” she murmured. “I still can't believe it. Right in the middle of it all a wave of guilt and shame swept over me. The old me would have stopped and retreated but the new me said 'fuck it' and kept on going. That was so hot, Honey. Did you like it?”

“I did, Shelia, and I don't believe it's the hormones making me feel this way. You look so sexy when you're fucking. It turns my mind inside-out. I love it.” I paused for a moment and then remembered something.

“You know, Skinny, I mean Jesse, called you a Tigress when you went to the bathroom. He said you'd devour all three of them, and you did.”

A wide grin slowly spread across her face.

“I like that.”

“I thought you might. They all talked about how gorgeous and sexy you are. They could not believe their amazing luck.”

She snuggled me and that's how we fell asleep.

In the morning we showered and ate. I was about to pull on jeans and a T-shirt to go shopping but she stopped me.

“No,” she said. “Wear this.” She tossed a dress on the bed. “Much easier to shop for a woman if she looks like one and the more practice you get the better. You'll wear my wide-brimmed hat and sunglasses. I'll do your make-up. You can wear your sandals because the dress is long enough to hide your feet and you kind of have small girly feet anyway.”

I tried to swallow but my throat was dry. This was actually happening. I was about to go out in public as a woman. My palms were sweaty and my hands trembled. Shelia saw it.

“Oh, you poor baby! Don't worry, Honey. You'll do fine.”

Her words calmed me. I took a deep breath and we left our room and stepped out into the world. A cool breeze wafted up my legs

Six hours later I was back in front of the hotel mirror and feeling thrilled. Shelia was a sorceress. Long black hair hung to my waist. My eyes popped and my lips looked succulent. A better bra made my breasts more pronounced and a skirt that fit me made my ass look great. Stockings covered my legs up to the hem of my short skirt and high-heels made my thighs look sexy and strong. Shelia had spent an hour teaching me how to walk and sit and talk. I was ready and turned-on. Tonight, and for who knows how long, my name was Tina.

We went back to the same club where she'd found those three men and grabbed a booth. Guys started hitting on us immediately. We danced with a few that she said were cute and then invited a group of four back to our booth. I was nervous and not much of a conversationalist. Shelia carried the ball. Half an hour into our conversation Shelia dropped a bomb.

“To be honest with you guys, my friend here is just out of a long-term relationship. The guy was a tiny-dick asshole and she just needs to suck a big cock. I promised her I’d find one tonight. Any takers?”

Four jaws dropped.

Terry laughed. “Unfortunately I’m pretty average or I’d jump at the chance.”

Danny and Stuart stared at her blankly.

Bill turned his attention from Shelia to me.

“I’m happy to help,” he stated. Shelia and Terry laughed. He smiled. I took a big drink, which made them all laugh again. A moment of uncomfortable silence followed and all eyes turned to me.

“Okay,” I squeaked.

The guys gulped their drinks preparing to depart.

“I’m not ready to leave,” Shelia said.

“Then trade me seats,” Billy shot back. Shelia rose and they swapped places. I was way behind the curve and had no idea what was happening until Billy, now next to me in the booth with the table in front of us, unzipped his pants and fished out his half hard cock. He flopped it across his lap. Shelia and I looked down at it and then at each other. A sly grin spread her lips.

“That’s a nice cock,” she said. “You weren’t lying.”

I looked at it again. He was thick with a tapered head. The skin was smooth and light. I reached for it and felt the heat through my palm. It felt like it weighed six pounds.

“Go for it,” my wife urged. “We’ll keep watch. If anyone comes back here we’ll warn you.”

Honestly, her eyes held a little madness. We were way outside our area of expertise.

“Suck it,” she urged again. I scanned the room but we had taken a booth way in the back and nobody was paying us any attention. I licked my lips even as I felt Billy growing harder and hotter in my hand.

“Do it,” Terry suggested and Stuart and Danny nodded.

I looked at his cock again. It was beautiful. How exciting it was to have a penis hard for you. I made him hard. Me. His dick was hard because he wanted to fuck me.

He was pretty long and wide but mostly I was enthralled by how pretty it was. I took one last scan of the room and lowered my face to his lap. I closed my lips around the head and felt the rubbery skin slid along my tongue. I sucked as hard as I could and heard him grunt, "Holy shit..." and that pleased me greatly. Blood surged and his head grew bigger in my mouth. I forced him as deep as I could and he groaned. I started bobbing up and down.

"That's hot," Danny said and Shelia agreed.

"Makes me want some," she added. I stopped long enough to look up at her. Every guy at the table turned to face her. "Sorry, boys," she continued. "I like them big. You want to come back to our hotel room, Billy? Fuck both our brains out? We'll catch up to the rest of you later."

"Well shit," Terry chuckled. "There goes the party."

Billy met my eyes and then Shelia's. "I'd love to," he replied.

The men paid the tab and we parted company. I was nervous in the car back to our hotel room but Shelia seemed excited and confident. The hotel staff politely ignored us when we brought yet another man back to our room. As soon as we closed the door Billy came up behind me and kissed my neck. I felt so strange and out of control. I felt like prey, or maybe a prize to be won, but I liked it. He put his hands on my hips and eased my ass back against the front of his pants where I felt his erection through my skirt. My heart was racing.

Shelia watched us for a minute and then slid the zipper down on her skirt. She removed her top and unsnapped her bra, setting her gorgeous tits free. She stood in panties and shoes and looked at Billy.

"The panties you get to take off," she stated.

"Good God, you're gorgeous," he breathed. He left me and went to my wife. He hooked his thumbs and slowly pulled her panties down, dropping to his knees. Her golden piercing twinkled in the low light. He leaned in and kissed her pussy and she held his head there while looking at me.

"Tina's pussy is off-limits tonight," she murmured. "Girl stuff. But if you're extra nice, I bet she'll let you have some of that sweet ass. Is that right, Tina?"

I could barely breathe. My nipples ached and my asshole tingled.

"Yes," I whimpered.

"Let's undress Billy together," she suggested. My eyes jumped from her naked body to his clothed one. Together we pulled off his shirt and boots, pants and undershirt. His boxer briefs bulged like they held a trapped lion. I felt dizzy.

“You do the honors, Tina,” Shelia offered.

“Okay, Honey,” I replied without thinking. Billy missed it.

I knelt before him and tugged on his underwear. I wasn't smooth about it and had to stop and calm myself. I took a deep breath and Shelia told me to relax. When I was ready I pulled his shorts down slowly and then over his now rock hard cock. It took my breath away. He was big around and beautifully shaped, just like I had noticed in the club, but now that I saw him clearly I was even more enthralled. My mouth watered. I rushed to get him back in my mouth and Shelia giggled.

“That girl knows what she likes,” she said.

My wife came up behind me and began taking off my clothes. I kept my mouth vacuuming Billy's rod as she removed my skirt and slid my top down over my feet. She left me in my stockings, shoes, and panties, and then pushed on the back of my head, guiding me up and down his dick. After a minute she knelt and joined me at Billy's cock by licking his balls. He groaned loudly and opened his legs. We worked over every tender inch like a couple of sorority sisters. Our eyes met several times as we fellatiated this handsome man and she seemed to love that we were doing this together.

“Best friends forever,” she teased, kissing my bulging cheek.

Before too long he nudged us over to the bed and had Shelia lie on her back and then put me on top of her. I kissed my wife. He moved behind us between our legs and first pushed his cock into my wife's pussy and then pulled my panties to the side and inched his extra slippery cock up my ass. I was exhilarated knowing his cock was lubed with my wife's excitement. I got hard again for the first time in days but my panties hid it. He never figured it out.

We made him cum four times before we finally let him leave. I swallowed the first and Shelia took two, both in her pussy. It gives us both a special thrill when another man ejaculates inside her womb. His last climax, just before he left in the morning, was fired deep up my rectum. I climaxed hard just before he did and my world twisted and turned. Everything was so different now. My panties caught my customary spurt but that was incidental; I now climaxed body, soul, and mind. I felt deep satisfaction that I carried him inside me.

After he was gone Shelia and I lay in bed purring like kittens. We nuzzled and kissed and talked rapid-fire about the night we'd just had. Each of us shared our memories and observations and feelings. Bizarre as it seemed, we were closer and more connected than ever.

For the next few days we played wide-eyed tourists and happily married husband and wife. I reverted to my male persona and she wore conservative wife outfits. San Francisco is a beautiful city and we explored every inch of it. Soon it would be time to head home and return to our regular life and neither of us wanted this vacation to end.

The chemicals inside me continued to do their work and I became less manly and more womanly every day. My penis was now about the size of my pinkie finger and so sensitive I was in a constant state of sexual tension. My breasts were always warm and tender and I had grown to about a B-cup with puffy nipples. Shelia shocked me one day in the shower by exploring my body with soap and hot water and paying special attention to my tits. She got so excited I had to go down on her and make her cum. Of course, I got no relief, even when she tried fingering my ass. I craved a cock. I needed a real man fucking me. Nothing else would do.

Our last night in town we went out as girls again and flirted and danced with all the single guys there. I had no interest in them except for the penis they had attached to their bodies and I loved it when I'd make them hard and they pressed it against my crotch or ass. I wore a white tank-top so thin it partially revealed my nipples and black mini skirt and Shelia wore a wrap-around dress that tied at the waist. We were flirtatious and vampy and all the guys loved us but the other girls there, not so much. I sucked three different cocks that night, all in the back seats of cars.

We flew home exhausted and happy.

Back home it was easy to hide my body. Men don't wear tight clothes and since I also wore a sports coat at work nobody even noticed.

I was afraid to go out with Shelia fearing someone we know would see us so she went out without me. It was pure mental anguish. I waited at home while she danced and partied and, eventually, found a man and went back to his place alone with him. I got texts and pictures sent to my phone for hours and it drove me insane. She loved it but I hated it. In many ways she liked it better, telling me she felt more able to let go with him when I wasn't there. She did it again three weeks later and I thought I would die. When she returned home I told her no more, not like that. She reluctantly agreed and instead we would leave town Friday nights, sometimes driving and sometimes flying, and spend the weekend finding and seducing handsome well-hung men. I didn't always join them but at least I was in the room watching.

I learned to take a cock in my ass without flinching. My ass truly became my man-pussy. I also learned to deep-throat really big dicks and hold them all the way in while the man climaxed. I can't tell you how many men gave me their phone number.

My body continued to change. A month later my penis was nothing more than a pink mushroom. My skin was as smooth as butter and my breasts had swollen to a small C-cup. Shelia was fascinated with them and we'd take turns on each other with a big strap-on I purchased. She'd suck on my tits for hours if I let her but I completely understood. I loved them too. Incredibly sensitive and perfectly shaped, I could not leave my tits alone.

The strap-on gave me some relief but nothing would make me orgasm except a big-cocked man pounding away in my ass, and the bigger the cock the better. My orgasms got so strong I routinely passed out from the mind crushing pleasure. My penis stopped spurting but my capacity for multiple orgasms went through the roof. I was hot and horny all the time. Best of all, the more I wanted sex the more Shelia wanted it too.

Back home Shelia found a boyfriend; Ricky, an ex-college linebacker in possession of a serious horse-dick and an insatiable sex drive. He'd come over and fuck her four or five nights a week. Soon he was okay with me there and soon after that he invited me to join them. The three of us fucked ourselves stupid. I came on his thick thrusting cock many times and so did my wife. I never got tired of watching her with another man.

Many months passed. We were in Heaven. Everything was perfect.

Then one morning I awoke to a whisker.

It was a thin little thing, barely noticeable. I plucked it. Two days later there was another. I showed Shelia and she seemed alarmed. I felt under my skin for the two deposits injected in me almost a year ago and they were gone.

Over the next several weeks my body began to shift. I felt a growing ache at the base of my tiny penis and my breasts began to shrink. I watched her boyfriend fuck her but kept my clothes on. In the shower one morning I felt a small pouch of skin under my dick.

I withdrew from Shelia and Ricky. I'd hide in the living room and listen to him pound my wife to tears. He tried to bring me into the bedroom but I refused.

Time passed.

Hair returned all over my body. My pouch developed into a small scrotum and my shaft began to extend. My beasts disappeared. In about two months my penis was back to where it had been before all this started.

But it didn't stop there.

A week later I woke in the middle of the night with aching balls. I quietly left the bed. In the bathroom I discovered my ball-sack was hot and inflated and now about the size of an orange. My shaft was an inch longer and the head plump. Which each passing day my voice deepened and my cock and balls grew, oftentimes painfully.

I showed Shelia what was happening and her eyes went wide.

"Holy shit!" she exclaimed. She dropped to her knees to examine me close up and after a few seconds slipped my head into her hot mouth. The pleasure was intense. I saw stars and began growing erect at once. Fully hard, I was easily several inches longer and thicker than previously, but also much harder than I'd ever gotten before. She kept sucking until I made her stop because it was too intense.

A few nights later I had a wet-dream and exploded, crying out and spraying sperm all over the bedspread and waking Shelia. She turned the light on and we were amazed at the volume of cum I'd produced. She wouldn't leave me alone until she'd gotten me hard again. I had to be around eight inches. She was fascinated, and I have to admit, having a cock like that hanging between your legs feels amazing.

But it didn't stop there.

Every morning I'd wake up and be a little bigger. I'd check first thing. At nine inches I returned to the gym after work and walked around nude after showering. I loved it every time I caught a guy looking. One of my favorite things to do was stuff my genitalia into my pants before tucking in my shirt.

All day I'd catch girls checking out my bulge and smile. Guys did too.

When I rejoined Ricky and Shelia in bed he was shocked and put off by it until Shelia calmed him down. Before the night was over he was sucking my cock at the same time Shelia was sucking his. She swallowed his load and then shoved him aside to also swallow mine. I came so hard I thought I was going to die.

A month later I broke the ten-inch barrier and was as thick as my wrist. My growth had slowed but not stopped. My balls were huge and produced copious amounts of sperm. Shelia wanted to fuck me or suck me every night.

One thing did not change; I still loved watching her get fucked.

I had no desire to fuck other women, a concern of hers she mentioned one day. I promised her that was not something I wanted. I did have some fun with it though; I asked for and received permission to show it off. We'd go to the mall and I'd let sales girls see me changing as I tried on clothing. I loved their reactions. Size matters. I also visited a few spas and let the towel slip in front of the masseuse. I showed it off every chance I got.

I touched it constantly. As soon as I opened my eyes in the morning I sent a hand down to feel my long cock and lift my fat balls. I loved the way my pants fit. I loved walking and the feel of that beast down my pant leg.

I had a routine check-up at the doctor and his pretty assistant had me drop my pants for a shot of B vitamins in my ass. I let them fall to my knees and when she saw my big dick she blushed. Her hands shook as she gave me the shot. I was about to pull my pants up but something told me to wait half a second and when I did she spontaneously shot a hand out and lifted my dick. Her mouth closed around the head. I let her suck a little as I stroked her soft hair but she regained her composure and apologized profusely. I assured her it was no problem. Weeks later she did it again. I let her go as long as she liked. She'd gotten engaged a few days earlier so guilt made her stop before I came but that was fine with me. It was our little secret. She took a picture of my cock with her phone.

One day I was in the shower at home, soaping my body and I rubbed my hands over my chest and I remembered my breasts, now faded and gone. I missed them. For a split second I wondered which I liked better; my boy-body or my girl-body. I realized technically never really had a girl-body, just a boy-body with breasts and a tiny penis. I wondered if I would love having a pussy more than a penis. I shoved that thought down and out of my mind. It was too disturbing to contemplate. Why would I even consider such an idea?

For several weeks Ricky and I really worked Shelia over. Poor girl could barely walk. I was no longer multiply orgasmic but I was happy with my one huge climax and the amount of cream I sprayed was fantastic.

Finally, I stopped growing, or it slowed down so much I could no longer tell. I'd been hitting the gym the whole time and my body was strong and cut. I'd shed my soft fatty outer layer and muscles appeared. Women at work started flirting with me. Shelia couldn't keep her hands off me. When Ricky announced it was time for him to move on Shelia gave him a kiss on the cheek and said, "See you and thanks for everything." I think he was a little hurt she stuck with me. Silly boy.

Although I was still open to it and so was she, our sex with other men dwindled. Before we knew it we hadn't played with another man for a few months and neither of us really missed it. I still pictured her fucking other men and she did too, we just didn't make something happen.

One day we were out for breakfast and Shelia sat her coffee cup on the table and stared at me.

"Should we visit again?"

I was confused for a moment and then I understood.

"Wow."

"Yeah," she admitted. "Pretty wild, huh? I can think of no good reason to go and lots of reasons not to."

"And yet you wonder if we should."

"And yet I wonder. That place is so macabre and twisted. Did we see everything? Did we take the worst it can throw at us? I know, I'm a pervert, but I am strangely fascinated with it still. Spending time there is like entering another world."

I thought for a moment. "If I went, it would be to pin Gabriel down and fuck his ass with my new fat cock. I'd want to dominate that motherfucker."

Shelia's eyes got big. "That's sexy, Honey. That's hot. Your new big dick makes you so aggressive and assertive. I kind of like it."

The waitress came and cleared away our dishes and we were quiet for a while, even after she left.

"We have three weeks of vacation coming up next month," I suggested. Shelia looked up from her coffee and smiled.

Forty-two days later we dropped our bags on the hotel bed and opened the drapes. We'd picked a newer hotel this time so our nefarious late-night comings and goings would be less noticeable. We had a hot tub in our room so we used it to melt the travel kinks and then showered and dressed for dinner; her in a long black dress and me in a suit, no tie.

We talked and ate and afterwards caught a cable car towards the Embarcadero and walked the rest. We had dessert at a small pastries shop and I grabbed a local paper. We made small talk, avoiding that subject which was on both our minds. I finished the newspaper and folded it in fourths, setting it along the edge of the table. I was almost finished with my chocolate brownie cake when my eyes spotted a small article on page twelve;

Husband and wife still missing; David and Karen Matting disappeared just over a year ago...

I showed the article to Shelia. "I met David at the club that night. He'd started a fight and they'd taken his wife and locked him up. Can you imagine if they are still at that club? They've been there a year. What a horrific thought. That place is an insane asylum."

Her face fell. "Oh, those poor people. What happened?"

I told her the story of David starting a fight because men were touching his wife. I left out that I'd fucked her just a little while later, along with a pack of drug-fueled rampant and ravenous men. My blood turned to ice water thinking they might still be prisoners there. We finished our desserts in silence.

In the cab ride back to the hotel she turned to me.

"Let's do it," she said.

I leaned forward. "Why?"

"Last time everything was done to us. We were victimized. We came out of it all okay... actually much better than okay... but that's more a credit to us than a nod to them. They used us and I don't like that fact regardless of what we took away from the experience. They bullied us and I hate bullies. I want to go in on my own terms. Think about how many people were there last time just standing around and watching. They knew what was going on and what to expect. That place preys on the innocent, the uninitiated, and the freshmen who have no idea what's coming. I want to go back as an upperclassman and take it in as someone with experience."

I nodded. I understood how she felt. I loved my new big dick but that end did not give them the right.

“Okay,” I agreed. I began describing the place to the driver. At first he acted like he had no idea what I was talking about and then he switched to trying to change my mind. He said it was a bad place where people got hurt. I assured him we'd already visited and knew our way around and at last he relented. He dropped us around the corner and sped away. We walked to the front of the house.

We stared up that long flight of steps.

“After you,” I said. Shelia squared her shoulders and started up.

“I'm nervous,” she breathed.

“Me too,” I answered. “Our experiences in this place turned our world upside down. They intimidated us and stole our bike. We need to get our bike back.”

We took a few steps and I stopped us again and added one last thing. “Also, if we can, last time I promised David I'd help him. I'd like to fulfill that promise. I...owe him.”

She looked at me with questioning eyes but said nothing. I took a step forward but she remained planted.

“We can go home, Shelia, if you want. Even now.”

She took my arm in hers.

“I'm just nervous,” she said. “Excited and nervous and scared and nervous and intrigued and nervous and curious and nervous.”

I smiled. “I'm nervous too,” I added.

We entered the house and just as before made our way through the many rooms and twisting hallways to the bar. When our drinks arrived we toasted to asserting ourselves and downed them. Neither of us felt like dancing so we sat and people-watched and had a few more drinks. A young man hurried past wearing a Roman pteruges and I smiled. Our eyes met and I raised my glass to him.

“It gets better,” I said. “Much.”

He looked confused and continued on his way. I had an idea and told Shelia to finish her drink and follow me. She did. I kept Young Roman in sight as he worked his way across the room and out a door. We followed at a discrete distance. He took us to an unfamiliar area and we had to slow down because of the twists and turns but this time I held Shelia's hand.

I lost him.

We tried retracing our steps but soon realized we were turned around so we stopped. We both laughed.

“Here we go again,” she said, slightly nervous.

“Yes, but this time we stick together no matter what.”

She squeezed my hand and we began exploring.

What little light there was faded and soon we were feeling our way forward. In the distance I heard moaning and aimed for it as best I could. Our eyes adjusted and I saw a dim naked red bulb at the end of the hall. We came to a large door and it swung open to a large square room. Silk pillows covered the floor three feet thick. There were four doors leading out of this room and Shelia and I discussed which to take, settling on the one farthest away from us. We opened it to stairs leading down.

“Great,” she breathed.

We wandered for at least an hour before we sat on a narrow ledge.

“This fucking place,” Shelia exhaled.

I started chuckling. After a minute, she joined in. Together we laughed pretty hard for several minutes. When we finished, she collected herself.

“Should we just go back to the hotel?”

“Probably. Yes. Let's just give it another twenty minutes. If I can't find David by then I can at least feel like I tried.”

“Okay.”

Five minutes later everything changed.

We felt moisture in the air and soon turned a corner into a large bathing area. The bathers were served by female attendants and if a bather wanted a little extra attention, the girls complied. I noticed one girl at a nearby tub and looked more closely. She stood and faced me. For several seconds, my mind refused to grasp what I was seeing. A pretty girl stood in front of me. Her breasts were large and her blond hair long. She stood with her legs parted and I gazed at one of the smallest and prettiest pussies I'd ever seen. Half way between her tiny cunt and her belly button was a small symbol for woman; a circle atop a cross. She'd been branded with it.

On the back of her hand was a circular Celtic tattoo.

My heart sank.

“Andy?” The pretty girl said. Shelia looked at her and at me.

“You know her?” Shelia asked.

I tried to swallow. Walking up and standing next to the pretty girl was another blond, about eight months pregnant. Karen. “No,” I answered, my voice low and my dry lips smacking. "Not her; him. We've found David. Or what David has become."

I took a step forward.

"David?" I asked. My legs were trembling.

She hung her head. "Not any more. Becky now." Her hand drifted down and she lightly stroked the branding scar below her belly-button.

I barely heard her but understood at once; he'd remained aggressive and abusive and they'd finally had enough. He'd gotten the same drug and hormone treatment I had except in his case they'd taken it a maniacal step farther. His penis had been surgically removed and a beautiful tight vagina constructed to replace it. Her body had transformed like mine only more fully and more completely. There was no reversing his. David was now Becky forever.

As I gazed at them; husband and wife, I knew beyond a doubt Karen had been bred with another man's baby.

The fat client in the tub at their feet said something and Becky moved to comply. She stepped down into the bath as the client seated himself along the edge. Becky lowered her mouth to his penis and began to suck at the same time she stroked him. This exposed her back to me and I saw streaks from old whippings. Things had not gone well for David and they'd broken him at last. The enthusiasm with which he now sucked that cock could not be faked. He'd converted. He was now a willing and eager sex slave.

"I came back to rescue you," I muttered.

Karen watched her husband and then faced me.

"From what?" she smiled. "We're happy here."

Behind her Becky faced her chubby lover and mounted him, straddling his lap and guiding his hard dick into her brand new pussy. Bliss twisted both their faces.

I turned to Shelia. "We have to go," I stated. "Right now. This was a mistake. We should not have come back. We can't beat them. They are amoral. They are monsters. We don't know how to fight like they do. We need to leave before something horrible happens."

She nodded but her attention was on David. My wife had pieced together what had happened and a macabre fascination now held her face. She stared at his little pussy, watching the fat man's cock plunging in and out. I took her arm and steered her back the way we'd come.

“Amazing,” she murmured. “That was David, right? The husband? They turned him into a pretty girl. How can they do that?”

“They cut off his dick.”

Shelia murmured, “That... That's insane.”

“Yep.”

“He seemed so happy to be a girl. I don't understand. Wouldn't you lose your mind? Why wasn't he filled with rage? He seemed... I don't know... relieved. His wife did too. What a mind-fuck. These people are diabolical. Gabriel is the Devil.”

We hustled through doors and hallways. I did not know where we were heading I just knew if we tried enough options we'd discover something.

I was right. Ten minutes later we stepped into the Throne Room from a door I hadn't noticed last time.

The throne was empty and most of the bondage devices were too. In the center of the room three women hung from their ankles, all facing in towards each other and all dressed like they'd just come from a bachelorette party. They were blindfolded with their wrists bound behind their backs. Each had their mouth stuffed with a replica latex cock which connected to a center pole. One of them had wet herself. I thought Shelia would stop to free them but she sailed by, determined to leave this place.

I stopped. She took three more steps before she noticed and then faced me.

“No.” She stated, knowing what I was thinking. “We aren't even sure of the way out. You want three women holding us back? Do you know for sure they don't want to be here? They might have paid to be treated like this. Let's go.”

I didn't budge.

“Honey,” she pleaded. “If they catch you in here again they'll cut off your penis and turn you into a girl for real, and then they'll find a man to impregnate me. Are you okay with that?”

That did the trick. I was ready to go. I looked back at the three girls. They'd heard us discussing them and were now struggling to free themselves, plaintive moans and begging cries escaping around the latex cocks stuffed into their mouths. I set my back to them and did not look again. If I ended up in Hell, I knew it would be for this moment right here.

We double-timed it down the hall, passing doors here and there, and that was where we made our mistake. In my hurry, I got ahead of Shelia and took a right without her, and then another. At one of them she took a left and just like that we were separated. I felt cold dread sink fingers into my heart. Of course I retraced my steps at once but no doubt she thought I'd raced ahead and she was hurrying to catch up to me, not knowing I was no longer ahead of her.

Fuck. FUCK.

I called her name out softly and then louder but I wanted no attention from anyone in any of these surrounding rooms. I ran up and down the halls and even tested doorknobs but no luck.

This place had my wife. Again.

Panic rose in me and for about ten minutes I lost my mind. I was frantic.

Finally I calmed down. I retraced my steps back to the point I lost her and went forward from there. After several intersections I encountered long hallways and I knew she would not have gone down those because they were long enough for her to know I hadn't; she would have seen me if I had. Logic told me she would have gone the other way. I used the same logic and followed what I was sure her choices would have been. Soon I came to a door. I opened it.

I entered a room and there she was. Two muscular men stood over her as she sat handcuffed to a chair, but relief flooded me anyway. I'd found my wife again. She looked as happy as I'm sure I did. I started to her side but one of the big guys stopped me. I explained we'd been dancing and got lost looking for the bathroom and we'd be happy to leave if they'd just show us the door. I convinced him, but the other guy had doubts. He said we'd have to wait until his boss gave the okay. I tried reasoning with him not to waste his boss's time but he didn't budge.

Five minutes later his boss entered and I was overjoyed to see it wasn't Gabriel, but worried because it was the same huge black guy that had taken me to the Pharmacist. Huge Black spoke to the guards and then came to examine us. He scanned Shelia pretty quickly but stopped at me. Over a year had passed and I'd lost a lot of baby fat so I hoped he wouldn't recognize me and he didn't, not completely.

"You look familiar," he questioned.

"I get that a lot," I quipped.

He grunted. His body was a ridiculous mass of coiled jet black pythons. He wore tight silk shorts to his knees but nothing else. His cock was impressive, snaking a bulge down his inner thigh. He regarded us, deciding what to do. He pointed at Shelia.

“Whip her until he tells us the truth.”

My heart stopped. Immediately the two guards moved on Shelia. She was stunned and they had her standing before she could react. I launched myself at them but Huge Black grabbed my hair with an iron fist and forced me to the floor.

One made her face the wall and secured her cuffs to an overhead chain and the other collected a small black leather whip from a nearby table.

“Wait,” I said.

Shelia finally snapped out of it and tried to struggle but it was too late. Guard one lifted her dress all the way up and the whip whistled and crack. Shelia's scream pierced my heart and a welt formed instantly.

I told them our cover story again and twice more he brought the whip down. I yelled at him to stop, insisting our story was the truth and three more slashes crossed her back.

“Tell them the truth!” Shelia begged, but I knew as soon as I did we were done. Whistle and crack, whistle and crack; my wife was crying hysterically now. My gut told me they were testing us and at some threshold they'd let us go.

I repeated our cover story.

Crack. Crack.

I repeated our cover story.

Crack, again, but this time around her thigh and across her pussy. Her shriek tore at me and shook the walls.

Crack, across the backs of her legs.

“Stop,” Huge Black commanded. The torture had aroused him and the front of his shorts bulged massive and obscene. Guard two stepped away from my wife and licked his lips. He knew what was coming next. Huge Black turned my wife to face us and released enough chain that she could crumble to the floor. He stepped up to her.

“I'll give you a choice; suck my cock in front of your husband or I let that guard whip your nipples and clit.”

Shelia was furious. She rose to her knees and pulled the front of his shorts down with her cuffed hands. His heavy black cock bounced and swayed and curved gently upwards. She tugged his shorts lower and his balls swung free. She held the shaft and licked his sack all over and then bent the shaft down and sucked the head in. She hated what she was doing but did it to avoid that whip.

Huge Black looked at me. "Really? Still nothing? Will you remain silent when I start to fuck her pussy?"

I repeated, emphatically, our cover story.

"I do not know what the truth is," he rumbled, "but I know with certainty that is not it. How about when I begin to fuck her ass? Will you tell your lies then?"

Shelia was sucking his dick like a whore and while I knew she was trying to please him to spare herself a return to the whip, I also saw veiled elation; she loved, at least in some small way, that she was being forced to do it. She was still enraged at him, me, the two guards, and everyone else on earth, but a hard cock cast a special spell over my wife now.

Huge Black saw it too and grinned at me. Shelia forced those dark inches down her throat until she gagged and then forced a little more. She was trying to make him cum. She pulled off him and slathered his big nuts with her tongue before once again bobbing on his fat inches. He motioned for the two guards to join him.

"She seeks to drain me and thereby win my favor, and she's probably right. Give her your poles to shine so I am free from her sorceress powers."

Both men dropped their robes and stepped up. Their penises were average but Shelia did not hesitate and soon both dicks took turns fucking her mouth. Guard one lasted no time at all. Shelia clamped her lips about half way down his shaft and sucked as his body jerked and his balls rose and fell. I watched her throat roll as she swallowed him down. Guard two lasted longer but soon he also fired his load into my wife's mouth which she held open for all of us to see, then clamped her mouth shut and swallowed him as well.

I knew she was trying to get us out of this mess but I also detected a hidden thrill in everything she was being forced to do. Huge Black stepped up again, contemplating us.

“I cannot force you using her; you'll allow her to suffer. I wonder if I can force her using you? Let's find out.” He waved and the two guards lifted me out of my chair and cuffed my hands above my head.

From all around us a deep bass thump vibrated the air. Huge Black and the two guards stopped working on my hands and looked at each other with concern. Another deep thump sent reverberations through the air and walls. Like when a neighbor has their bass turned all the way up; you feel the beat as much as hear it.

Two women entered our room and raced across it, not so much as glancing in our direction.

“We can't leave them,” began guard two.

“No, of course not,” exhaled Huge Black. “Bring them.”

Shelia and I were stripped completely nude and a dog collar wrapped around our necks. A chain connected us and then led off as a leash. My hands were cuffed behind me and I guessed hers were as well. They blindfolded us before we were led from the room. Within minutes I had no idea where we were. I know we descended several stairs, always moving ever deeper under the mansion above, until I figured we had to be below BART and the subways. The sound of dripping water soon surrounded us and I wondered if we were now under the bay. Echoes let me know we were still inside tunnels and hallways but that changed when we stepped out into a huge room. I had no idea how big but all the sounds around me were swallowed by it. I heard a murmuring crowd that stretched far away.

We were shuffled through the crowd until we were forced to our knees. My blindfold was removed.

Shelia and I and six others, three men and three women, all knelt nude before a massive stone chair carved of twisted human bodies. I expected Gabriel to fill that chair but I was wrong. Instead, that seat was occupied by a giant muscular man wearing a very convincing devil mask. His massive arms were as thick as legs and his legs were like tree trunks. Black horns curled back from his forehead. His feet were cloven hoofs. His hairless body was as red as lipstick and a grotesque exaggeration of masculine physique; his muscles piled up on themselves, his shoulders broad, and his waist narrow. He was manacled to his throne wrist and ankle; heavy black iron links clinked as he shifted in his seat.

His big hanging cock was a nightmare. No doubt the Pharmacist had treated this man for years to produce a cock like that. Of all his manly excesses this was the worst. Long enough to reach the front of his seat and hang off several inches; this slab of bright red beef filled me with fear and revulsion. Thick bumpy veins ran the length of it. It looked about as big around as a wine bottle.

I knew he must be wearing a costume because the alternative was too horrible to contemplate. Lucifer or Beelzebub or Satan, name him as you will, but an extremely convincing Dark Prince sat eyeing the crowd not fifteen feet from us.

I checked on Shelia to see if she was afraid and was surprised to discover her lips slightly parted and her breathing shallow. She looked aroused. The other women were the same but the men looked more like the way I felt; terrified, disgusted, nauseated, and repulsed. Something about this creature drove men away but drew women in. I guessed he was doused with a variety of gender-specific pheromones.

He lifted a hand and gently waved the women forward. Light metallic clinks filled the chamber as each of the ladies rose to their feet and almost hypnotically stepped forward. I hissed at Shelia to sit back down but she ignored me. Utterly mesmerized, the four women knelt between his legs and turned their collective attention to his cock; kissing and licking and tasting, each of them worshipping his hefty shank.

Jealousy flared in me as my wife closed her eyes in adoration, which shocked me given all we'd been through. It was the look on her face I couldn't take. I wondered briefly if the pheromones also contain something to agitate men because jealousy from me at this point was laughable. Nevertheless, here it was. Her face told me there was no other male in the world for her. She was in love with this monster. After everything we'd been through, I was forgotten.

As her tongue slipped from her mouth and she licked his crimson flesh, I felt compelled to rise to my feet and protest. A surge of rage rose in me. A gut instinct warned me away from doing it, but I was fighting to overcome it and make my stand anyway. Just as I was about to, the husband next to me beat me to it.

He jerked to his feet. "Candice!" He barked. "Get back here. Stop that! Leave him alone." When she ignored him, he turned his attention to Lucifer. "Fuck off, asshole! That's my wife!"

I cringed and looked down. The room went absolutely silent except for the wet kissing and licking sounds from the women. A dangerous vibration moved through the room. I sensed the husband had just made a colossal mistake and would pay dearly for it. Everyone knew it but him and the mesmerized women.

Candice ignored her husband but Lucifer did not, rising to his cloven feet. His cock swung down and smacked my wife on the cheek. For the first time I saw the true size of his member; the head was as large as an apple and his heavy balls pulled the skin of his sack down until it sagged. He could fuck no human woman with that penis. His size was absurd.

Lucifer jerked a hand forward, chains jumping, and pointed at the husband. Guards moved through the crowd and grabbed him and then led the husband onto the stage.

With all eyes averted, I quickly scanned the crowd behind and to the side. Three rows over, I was shocked to see Gabriel likewise kneeling before the Dark Lord.

We were in a huge audience room; stone floors and high ceiling. Massive statues of angels and devils locked in battle lined the side and back walls, but the wall around the stage was lined with nude men and women hanging by chains around their throats. Each head was trapped inside a box. Their ankles were mostly pulled back from under them so their bodies were sharply angled. Their hands were bound behind them. Beneath each was a brazier of hot coals; not hot enough to damage the skin but certainly hot enough to make them all writhe in pain. They had been injected with something because every man sported a steely erection and every woman gushed shiny wetness down her inner-thighs.

They were being fiendishly slow-cooked and forced to feel aroused by it. I shuddered.

The guards worked on the rebellious husband. He quickly received a penis gag in his mouth which was strapped to his head. His hands were painfully twisted up behind his back and attached by short chains to a steel ring around his neck. He was pudgy and pale and his frightened penis had shrunk to an inch and I felt terrible for him. I just knew some horrible fate awaited him.

The wives continually licked Lucifer's hanging cock and balls. They looked like nursing puppies. He seemed indifferent to their attention as he towered over them.

Lucifer held out his clawed hand and a guard placed something in it. He looked down at Candice until she met his eyes and then she stood and he handed her the object. She gazed at it a moment and understanding dawned. A wicked grin spread across her face.

Candice stepped over to her husband and I saw she held a small iron cock-cage; a tube of metal bars capped with a tiny dome, pierced with a small hole for urine at one end and a larger cage at the other end to contain the testicles. It ended in an iron ring around the base as thick as my finger. Spikes lined the inside of the contraption so if her husband began to engorge his shaft would very quickly become perforated.

As his fate became evident he tried to get away but the guards held him. His eyes pleaded with her not to do this. The latex cock in his mouth muffled his pleas.

“Don't fight it, Paul,” she purred. “We haven't had hot sex for a long, long time. This is exactly the spice our marriage needs.”

Candice scooped her husband's genitalia and shuffled them into the cage, working the bars forward until he was completely contained. She brought the iron ring up around behind his balls. With a snap loud enough those all the way in the back heard it, his wife locked him away. A series of loud clicks, like handcuffs closing, signaled she had tightened the heavy ring around the base. He was imprisoned.

There was no visible lock, no keyhole, and no release lever. The bars were welded to the ring and appeared to be permanent. Once attached, only cutting it off could remove it. Paul whimpered behind his gag. This poor soul was doomed.

A guard approached with a glowing brand shaped like the symbol for woman and a wave of excitement swept through the crowd. Paul knew what it was and what it meant. He had clearly seen what had become of the other men that bore that scar. His struggles increased by magnitudes. He threw all his strength at the guards holding him.

He feared more than just the pain of the brand. He knew what was coming. Like me, he'd seen other subjected to this ritual. He knew he'd spend a long time trapped in that cage while various drugs and hormones were injected into him daily and at some point he'd get so small that cage would just fall off. Then, like David, his dick would be surgically removed and a pretty little pussy built in its place. His fate was to become a plaything for men, a receptacle for sperm as they fucked his ass, his mouth, and his beautiful new pussy, and worst of all, he'd love it. The same drug cocktail that transformed him physically would also work mental and emotional magic. Soon cocks would become his favorite obsession and pleasing them would please him.

I thanked God he had protested before me. I thanked God he had taken my place. Another second longer and I'd now be the one on stage awaiting that terrible fate.

Paul threw all his weight into freeing himself but the guards were too numerous and much too strong. They'd done this many times and knew what to expect.

Lucifer approached with the red-hot poker and chuckled with a sound of boulders grinding. His arm came slowly forward and red hot iron met pale sweaty flesh and wisps of smoke rose and Paul screamed around the latex cock in his mouth.

Another guard jammed a syringe in Paul's ass and pressed the plunger. We all held our breath. The vial was big. Lucifer handed the poker to a guard and we all watched the chemical cocktail slowly take effect. Paul was weeping but Candice had madness in her eyes. Paul became more subdued and complacent with each minute. Soon they began removing the gag and collar.

When the guards eventually removed everything and set Paul free, he dropped to his knees, breathing hard. His wife pets his head a few times and returned to her place at Lucifer's feet. Paul fought it, I'll give him credit, but he'd already lost and didn't know it. I knew exactly what those drugs were doing to him.

Soon his eyes lifted from the floor and traveled the circle of our faces. He looked so sad. When they came around and affixed to that huge red dick, his wife smiled. He stared and licked his lips. He swallowed hard in a dry throat. I saw him fighting. His eyes crawled over every square inch, studying the veins, His mouth opened slightly and his breathing increased.

Paul crawled forward and, now utterly fascinated by it, kissed the large bloated head. Lucifer chuckled and four women and one soon to be woman settled in around his feet and helped each other pleasure that large cock.

I shivered with dread but kept my mouth shut.

Behind the throne the hanging others writhed and twisted as the waves of heat from the coals baked them. Two of the men had begun to leak cum and it sizzled and steamed as it dripped onto the coals below. The females tried to reach their pussy to rub their clit. Rivulets of pussy juice ran down their inner thighs.

Lucifer looked to the guards and nodded, signaling that the audience was over. The crowd rose. Gabriel hadn't noticed Shelia or me and he strode away with the crowd following behind him. I breathed a sigh of relief.

Guards took up positions around the walls. Lucifer braced his shoulders against the throne and then opened his legs wide. We all knew what was expected and Shelia and I didn't hesitate. After that display of raw power we wanted to fly low and make our escape. I licked one big testicle and my wife licked the other.

Whoever applied his make-up did a wonderful job. No red rubbed off and no seams at his claws or hooves were visible. Even his horns looked absolutely real. The others joined us at his cock and soon he was hard; a towering pillar of scarlet flesh rising up between six submissive faces. He was fully engorged now. His slick and shiny cock, laced with veins and trails of saliva, throbbed and bounced. The head tapered back and the ridge of the crown was thick and rounded. Behind it, the shaft was a fleshy missile, an over-sized weapon used to impregnate and dominate and overwhelm.

One by one our women took turns trying to fuck him. They eased their tight pussies down onto him, taking as much as each could, and fucked themselves. Each experienced intense frustration by how badly they craved him but how little they could handle.

He watched their frantic display with a slight grin, rarely displaying any passion or pleasure. Mostly he seemed to enjoy the faces of the husbands that suffered by their wife's infidelity. The more the husband hated it, the longer he kept that wife on his cock. The pheromones were still in full force but every husband there, including me, kept his mouth shut and allowed his wife to fuck him.

None of the women took more than several inches. He stretched and filled them to bursting and their excitement ran down the length of him and dripped from his balls. Over and over again they all took turns using his cock.

They would have gone all night and fucked themselves unconscious if he'd let them. They seemed driven and desperate. I watched Shelia impale herself, her little pussy opened wide and stuffed. One husband got hard but the rest did not. Shelia came several times before he pulled her off and forced Candice down his cock yet again. Her husband winced but now stayed silent. Lucifer gripped him by the neck and forced his face down between their legs. I saw Paul licking and sucking where Lucifer merged with Candice.

Candice rode with reckless abandon until he flooded her with his seed. Her husband looked like he wanted to die. Lucifer released a deluge of sperm into Candice, pumping his hips until his huge nuts were empty. I knew in the coming weeks Lucifer would continue to take her until she carried his child. Candice beamed with pride at being the woman chosen to receive his seed.

After Lucifer came he lost interest in us and seemed to turn inward. A guard gave us back our clothes and showed us to the door, all of us except Candice and Paul. Like David and Karen and who knows how many countless others, those two would remain here a long, long time. I looked back as the door closed and Paul looked pathetic. He gazed down at his trapped penis knowing it would soon be taken from him and he was powerless to stop it. Worst of all, the drugs in his blood would make him want his genitalia removed.

Over the next few days he'd begin to crave cock and long for a vagina. I wondered what would happen if he ever returned to his previous life. His penis would be gone forever. I hoped they'd be merciful and keep him a happy woman. I viewed everyone in the club in a whole new light. How many were here by coercion? How many were held here by some sinister dependency or need?

Shelia and I dressed and made our way back to the dance club area. We got lost twice, stumbling across the Pharmacists lab briefly before running out of there. The Pharmacist wasn't there at the moment and Shelia gawked in wide-eyed wonder at all the equipment, wandering around and examining everything. That room freaked me out so I stared at the floor until I grabbed her arm and led us back to the club.

We flew past the bar and dance floor. The route out was almost familiar to me now and in no time I had us out on the street and double-timing it away from that place.

An hour later we staggered into our hotel room and collapsed on the bed.

Exhaustion claimed us and we awoke in the same positions many hours later as the morning sun glared through our window. Even after a full night's sleep we felt drained; emotionally, physically, psychically... We spent several hours quiet and introspective until Shelia spoke.

"That poor man. I still see his face. They're going to cut off his dick, aren't they?"

"Yes. They'll wait for the drugs they gave him to take full effect and then they'll emasculate him. I had those same drugs in me. The worst part is over the next few days he'll begin to want them to do it."

She shivered. "And what about those poor souls being roasted? Fuck. I felt sick but also incredibly relieved it wasn't me. Why were they all so turned on? Didn't it hurt?"

"I'm sure it did. Some people just like pain with their sex. I'm sure they'd been given something too."

"To see them like that; bound and aroused... it turned me on, Honey. Is that sick? What's wrong with me?"

"Nothing. Sex has a lot to do with domination and submission. All of us at that moment had power over them. I admit it got to me too."

"We can never go back there," she murmured.

I nodded agreement.

"How about that big red devil penis?" I asked, casually, watching her from the corner of my eye. I wasn't sure why, but I worried she may be dishonest about her feelings.

Shelia's nipples hardened under her T-shirt. She shrugged as if indifferent but I felt a surge of excitement fill the air around us. I waited. She calmed herself.

"That thing was amazing," she admitted at last. "The sight of it tickled some primal lobe in my brain. I needed it so badly I wanted to scream. Looking at it made my pussy feel so empty and I yearned to have it filled. I was angry when he gave Candice his load. I felt cheated. Yet another reason we can never return to that house. I'll leave you for that cock, Andy. I hate to admit that but you need to know. It casts a spell. I have no defense. I'm wet right now just remembering it."

I understood what she was telling me.

For the next few months we led a calm and quiet life. Our last adventure spooked us, more dangerous and sinister than exciting and fun, and I think we were both frightened a little by the depth and power of our desires, so we pulled way back. We worked during the day and watched movies together at night and made love a few times a week. She still loved my bigger penis but not like before and I knew something had changed for her.

After about six months it began to shrink again and I got depressed. She reassured me it didn't matter but there was no cheering me up; one does not give up a large penis easily.

I lost size every day until four months later I was back to my original well below-average size. I stopped going to the gym and started putting the baby fat back on. I was cranky and moody and Shelia cut me some slack but I knew it was starting to wear on her. After three more weeks she sat me down at our kitchen table.

"Enough," She stated. I said nothing because there was nothing to say. In her hands she held a small rolled towel. "I was never going to show this to you but now I think maybe I should."

She unrolled the towel and revealed six vials filled with a thick green liquid. My eyes opened wide.

"Yes," she said. "You can do it again, if you wish; one year it shrinks, the next it grows. Can you spend a year as a woman again?"

My mind was racing. This was impossible. "How?"

"When we stumbled across the lab I grabbed a handful. I knew what it was from your description of what happened to you. I probably have much more on this towel than he originally gave you. Can you go through all that again?"

I could not get my mind to focus. She'd had these since we got home. Why hadn't she told me? She was studying my face.

"I had to think about it," she offered, reading my mind. "I had to know if your shrinkage would stop or keep going. I had to decide if I wanted to take new lovers again. I wondered if it was something you'd be interested in. I almost threw them away several times."

I again looked down at the glittering green tubes. My first year I would shrink to almost nothing. I'd crave sex with cocks. My wife would take one lover after another and I'd almost certainly join her. But then, twelve months from now, I'd start to grow again and with this many vials who knows how big I'd get.

I smiled. She didn't. I stopped smiling.

"I'm worried," she said.

"I'm not. What are you worried about?"

She agonized before answering. "I'm worried about how badly I want to fuck someone else. I really miss it. I love you but there's nothing like a new man."

Ouch.

She followed up quickly. "We went down the rabbit hole, Honey, but then made it out alive. For months when we first got home I was so frightened by what we'd done I wanted to keep our world small, just me and you, and put that madness behind us. But time passed and I started remembering, I started missing that rush of a new lover. Earlier you didn't ask what I wanted so I'll just tell you; I want you to do this again," she pointed down at the vials. "I want you to become my girlfriend again and watch as I get my brains fucked out by some hot hung stud. I miss new cock, Andy. There's nothing like it. I want it so badly now but only if you are okay with it too. If you're not, we'll have to figure something else out."

I studied her face. She was distraught. My wife loved me but had acquired a fetish. We'd accidentally tapped into hidden desires and now that we knew what turned her on most, there was no going back.

I examined the vials on the towel. I swear I felt electricity radiating off of them. That potent brew had the power to change our lives drastically. I closed my eyes and opened my mind and memories of small warm breasts drifted in. I remembered the sensation of cumming from a stiff cock in my ass, felling wonderfully filled and then that cock expanding and exploding and dumping all that sperm inside me. I missed it.

I reached for a vial. She raised both eyebrows.

"You absolutely sure?" She asked.

I nodded.

From her purse she pulled a syringe, no doubt purchased on the way home from work some night recently. She flipped it around and held out her hand.

"Stand up, turn around, and drop your pants," she said. Her voice was full of excited tension. I did as she instructed. I heard clinking behind me and then her hand gripped my balls and pulled them down. Her hand was trembling. I felt her hot breath on my ass. She wanted this badly and was wasting no time.

The needle bit and I understood why the Pharmacist had put me under for this part. It was excruciating. Shelia eagerly pushed the needle deeper and began injecting the fluid. It burned but I took it. Shelia's earlier words about her desire for new lovers hurt but excited me. I pictured her fucking another man and my penis swelled a little in spite of the pain. Glass clinked behind me and I knew she had emptied one tube and was attaching the next. More pain. My shaft began to tingle. She finished that one and moved the needle to start the next.

“How much?” she asked. “Three now and three next year? All six now? Four now and a booster of two in eight months? What do you think?”

I chewed a lip. “Four and two. If I remember right he only used two on me the first time. Six is probably too much. Four now doubles the dose he gave me.”

“Okay.” The arousal in her voice was plain. My wife was intentionally shrinking my penis and that turned her on. She was taking me out of the picture, opening the door to new lovers, and it thrilled her. The burning spread from my balls up my shaft. She finished the fourth vial and withdrew the needle. She massaged the two large lumps of thick pasty oil.

“How long?”

“A day. Maybe two.” I felt light headed. The burning spread outward, down my legs and up my torso. “I’m going to lie down.”

She walked me to our bed. I felt drowsier with each step. When my head touched the pillow, I was out.

When I awoke, the house was dark. I moved and sharp pain lanced through my testicles and I cautiously reached a hand down to feel what was happening.

I was already smaller by almost half. My balls were shrunk. Apparently my body knew what to do. The wrinkled skin of my scrotum was almost smooth.

I searched the house but I was alone. A note sat on the kitchen table;

Andy, my love, I'm so sorry, I couldn't wait. I tried waking you but you were dead to the world so I left you this note. I'll come home but don't worry if it is very late. I need this. Badly. Our experiences in San Francisco have forever altered us both. For weeks now I've been craving a new man but didn't know how to tell you. I'm happy you took the injections. If I'm not home when you find this, text me, and I'll try to send you pictures. I know how you hate it when I go out without you.

Your slutty cock-loving wife, Shelia. :-)

I read it again. My penis twitched but did not grow. I wondered how long she'd been gone. I wondered what she was doing at that exact moment. I found my phone and tapped out this text;

I'm awake. Where are you and what are you doing?

I set the phone down and poured a whiskey. I sipped. A minute later my phone chimed and I opened the message. Shelia's left hand, wedding ring gleaming, wrapped around a fat and hard dark-skinned cock. By the background she seemed to be in a booth at a restaurant and her Hispanic stud took the picture. I wondered how much he knew. Clearly, he at least knew she was married and most likely sending her husband the picture. Her band of gold was pressed against a deep blue vein. The diamond rested against his shaft. It snatched my breath away.

I rubbed my penis and a wave of pleasure made my knees weak. It was happening again; soon I'd lose my ability to get hard but I'd gain the ability to have multiple orgasms when my ass was fucked. My penis was already incredibly more sensitive. My heart raced.

Another picture arrived and he was definitely holding the camera; my wife had her head in his lap, both hands around him, and half his cock down her throat. Too impatient to wait, she was sucking him right in the booth.

I received no other messages. This was the part I hated. I waited for hours, pacing our home and wondering what was being done to her, until I heard the thump of a car door outside. She kissed me deeply at the door and I tasted sperm in her mouth and then she pushed me to my knees and lifted her short black skirt. Her pussy was a mess of her juice and his semen. I buried my face and licked them both and felt my asshole twitch.

"Fuck yes," she growled. "I thought about this all the way home. Eat your slutty wife, Baby. Lick her dirty pussy. Make her cunt cum again just like he did."

I cupped her bubble ass and licked her salty clit as she forced my face into her crotch. She dropped her skirt down over my head to brace herself against our kitchen cupboards. I buried my tongue far up into her and their combined juices trickled into my mouth until her leg snaked behind my head.

"Oooooooooo yeah, Oh yes, Baby. Eat my naughty pussy. Here it comes. Eat that pussy. Another man just fucked that pussy, Baby. I just fucked someone eeeeeeeee OOOOoohhh fuuuuuccckkk!"

I held her tight and did not let her get away.

In three days my scrotum was gone, absorbed by my own body, and my penis was that of a boy. The larger dose had additional side effects; my shrinkage was much more rapid this time and my sensitivity greater. My body muscles melted away. I already felt breasts beginning to form and I was surprised at how excited I was to have them again. I sensed my rapid change would last longer too, much longer, and when we gave me that two-vial booster in eight months my change might take a very, very long time to reverse.

The man Shelia had met was someone she worked with. She confessed she'd always wanted him, even before we ever left for San Francisco the first time. They'd worked together for years and a seething lust had existed between them from the day they met.

She'd told him her husband was out of town and a girlfriend was staying over to keep her company. He was coming over to see her again on Saturday and Shelia suggested we all drink and try a threesome, which I agreed to.

By Saturday morning I had small breasts and all my body hair had fallen out again. My pelvis was changing too. My hips were widening. My wife dressed me in a short red skirt and wife beater and my puffy nipples tented my top. I stood before our full length bedroom mirror and ran my hands all over my body. I couldn't wait for tonight. I pictured his hard dick in front of me and my mouth watered, my ass tingled. I was dying to get fucked.

Shelia experimented and discovered how to tape my penis out of the way. It was small now anyway but this way he had no chance of seeing it. We had all our stories straight but honestly, men don't care; any story will do; I'm on my period, I'm married and I only allow men to fuck my ass and save my pussy for my husband... Nobody cares. Men will fuck a pretty girl's ass and not ask too many questions.

My wife spent hours getting ready and went a little slutty with her outfit. She wore a skirt like mine but a long sleeved top and no bra. She also skipped panties completely. His name was Caesario and he arrived right on time. I left them alone to kiss and say their hello's and then she led him to our home theater where I sat watching The Matrix.

Introductions were made and I sensed Caesario wanted to get Shelia right into bed so I "accidentally" let him see down my top. I wanted him to see me as a lover too.

Shelia pulled him down to a couch and they started making out in front of me. I let her free his cock and begin a hand job and then I carefully moved to the floor and lowered my mouth over his hard dick while my wife kissed him. He groaned and put a hand on the back of my head.

He freed her tits and she pulled his mouth down to them and we were off and running.

His cock was pretty long and pretty thick, definitely above average, but the best thing about it was how incredibly hard he got. He was stiff like steel. I gagged several times trying to take as much as I could. It felt so good to have a hard dick in my mouth again. I sucked on him reverently, adoring every pulsing inch.

I unbuckled his belt and tugged his pants down and off. Shelia removed his shirt. He had a nice body, a little hairy, but I didn't care about that. I couldn't even tell you if he was handsome, although I know he was by the way my face looked at him. All I cared about was that glorious hard cock and those plump balls.

Shelia kissed her way down his body and joined me and we passed his cock back and forth, which he seemed to enjoy very much. She swooped down to give his balls a tongue bath and I sucked hard on the head and received the first drops of pre-cum. I rolled them around and savored them and had to admit this felt totally natural.

My wife climbed up on his lap and I held his cock with one hand and spread her labia with the other. She lowered her hips. I was inches away when his head mashed her lips and began to penetrate her and shivers of pleasure raced up and down my spine.

“Oh!” Shelia cried. “Oh, fuck yes. God I've wanted you for so long, Caesario. How many times have we flirted at work? Your cock feels soooooooooo gooooooooood.”

Caesario grunted and began thrusting up into her. My wife did not last long before she dropped her head back and gushed orgasm juice all over him. I licked her asshole as she climaxed and he feasted on her tits.

After she caught her breath she pulled off his cock and invited me to sit on it. I had no desire to kiss him so I faced away and held his cock up, lowering my tight man-pussy down onto his erection. I underestimated my sexual tension because as soon as he began to penetrate me, fantastic waves of stimulation washed through my body. I'd forgotten how intense it was to take a man into your body and feel him fucking deep inside you and I gasped and moaned. Shelia giggled.

“Fuck her good, Caesario,” she urged. “Fuck her tight little ass like you own her.”

Caesario responded with harder and deeper thrusts which sent my mind reeling. I heard a high-pitched cry from far away and slowly realized it was coming from me. This was far more intense than the first time I played a woman. That massive dose had scrambled my circuits and turned me upside down. I held my ass over his lap and took his pounding like a good little slut and moments later a gargantuan orgasm well up inside me and I howled as a thunderous explosion shook me to my core. I screamed again and again as each wave of bliss smashed everything before it and turned my brain to jelly. My ass clenched his shaft like I was trying to crush him.

He rolled me onto my knees and kept hammering and I sobbed and climaxed again. I loved that pummeling cock in my ass more than words can describe. I wanted him to fuck me forever. I buried my face in the couch and screamed and cried and lifted my hips to urge him on and a third massive explosion rocked me. I was sobbing with pleasure when I felt his cock jump and jerk and spurt jet after searing jet of sperm deep into me. Grunting and gasping he pinned me down with his weight and emptied his balls.

After some time I felt him lean back and withdraw and with bleary eyes I saw Shelia lead him away to the master bedroom. As I lost consciousness I heard the shower running and my wife's lilting and magical laughter.

When I came-to the house was silent. I moved to the bedroom and stood in the doorway and watched Caesario make sweet and beautiful love to my wife on our bed. They'd lit all our candles and their skin glowed and they ways they touched left me breathless.

They'd known each other for years and worked together closely and the way they caressed each other told me how powerful their mutual attraction was. Because my wife was expressing such strong feelings for another man, it was hard to watch, but I had to admit it was glorious. This was no lusty act of hot sex with a total stranger. These two cared deeply for each other. In an act of pure love, I did not interrupt, I did not join in, I just let her have it all to herself.

Hours later Shelia found me in the den watching football. She stood nude in the doorway, her long hair tangled around her shoulders, her breasts and nipples swollen from his fierce attention. She walked around the armchair and took my hand and led me back to the bedroom. The three of us spent the remainder of the night and half the next day driving each other insane. By the time he left we were all exhausted.

In the shower Shelia washed me clean, paying special attention to my budding breasts, and asked me how it felt to be the girl again. I didn't even consider lying. I told her I loved it. She smiled.

"I always feel so connected to you after we do this," she said.

"I feel it too, Baby. It bonds us. It's an act of tremendous trust and intimacy. Most would never understand."

She leaned up under my arm. We hugged. The warm spray drenched us as we shared our moment.

Her hand drifted down to my tiny penis. She lifted it by the small head. "How long do you think the effects will last this time?" she inquired, letting my baby dick drop.

"I can't be sure but it feels like it will last a lot longer this time. My instinct tells me over a year for sure but maybe two, maybe more, and if we go ahead with that booster at eight months there's no telling how long."

She was studying my face.

"And then your big dick comes back, probably bigger than last time."

"Yeah, most likely. How do you feel about that? Are you looking forward to it?"

She hesitated to answer.

"Honey?" I prodded, surprised.

"Andy, darling, please don't take this the wrong way, and of course that big penis felt really good, but I never adjusted to you with a big dick. It never felt right. You had a small penis when I married you. I didn't marry you for sex reasons, I married you because you're brilliant and kind and loving and funny as hell. I married you because I see how much you love me in your eyes. I fell in love with you and your small penis didn't matter."

She took my face in her hands.

"But when your dick got big it just never felt like I was making love to my husband. Big cocks are for strangers and lovers; that's what I use them for. I liked your big cock at first; it looked good, it was fun and sexy, it felt amazing, but somehow the connection was never there for me. I always felt like it wasn't really you I was in bed with."

She stopped to judge my reaction. I kept a poker face. I wanted to know exactly how she really felt. "What are you saying, Shelia? Spell it out for me. I need to hear you say it."

She took a deep breath. "I like you better like this than when you get big. I prefer you small like this even more than when you are your normal size. The smaller you are, the more I like it. I know that's the opposite of what a wife is supposed to say."

I digested what my loving wife had just revealed. She wanted me to stay like this. Did I want that too? If deep down I didn't want that, then why was my heart suddenly racing with excitement?

She went on. "Everybody has different things that turn them on the most. I've discovered, thanks to San Francisco, that nothing thrills me more than a new cock. I love fucking a man for the first time. I'm addicted to it. Lucky for me, my wonderful husband loves watching get fucked as much as I love it. We're perfect for each other."

"We are."

"So what do you think about what I said? You okay with staying a girl for a long time? We know it will last at least a year. That's about what happened when that scientist shot you up and I gave you twice as much."

I was thrilled. I felt a burden lift. "Yes, Baby, I am, and I'm more than okay watching my sexy wife fucked by strangers. It drives me wild. But more than that, now I can relax. I've always worried so much about getting it up and pleasing you. You have no idea how difficult it is to have a small penis and a gorgeous wife every man wants. The anxiety and insecurities eat at you every minute of the day. As a woman I am free from that. We still get white-hot sex with each other; I just don't supply the penis."

She hugged me tightly and I returned it.

Over the months that followed my body continued to change. My breasts returned and Shelia and I drove men crazy when we'd go out. My penis again shrank to a small pink mushroom but my body and mind became so sexually tense and high-strung that whenever Shelia and I found a man, I'd cum like fireworks as soon as he pushed his cock up my ass. We quickly collected a stable of hot and horny well-hung studs. I wanted sex all the time and so did my wife.

I learned to walk in high-heels and discovered all the sexy ways a woman can dress; short skirts and plunging neck-lines. I knew the ways men think so seducing them was easy. Shelia and I had a blast.

When it was time, Shelia felt around under my skin until she located the exact spot and then gave me two more injections. My body's response was fantastic. My firm tits grew until they more than filled my hands and were so sensitive I could almost cum when a guy played with them.

I knew I would be a ravenous, cock-loving woman for a long, long time.

Time passed.

I was nervous on the flight over and nervous in the cab to the house and nervous as the Pharmacist put the face mask in place and I slowly faded to black. The last thing I remembered was my wife squeezing my hand.

A year had passed since my boosters. In the weeks after my body continued to change and my mind did too. Feelings mattered to me more than thoughts. I spent more time building better relationships. Shelly and I continued to go out and find men but the need to always hide my dick became tiresome. In fact, I began to resent my penis. I mentioned it casually one night while we were out having dinner and Shelia stopped chewing and raised an eyebrow at me.

“Better than being branded and having it removed against your will,” she said around a mouth full of food.

We actually laughed. I imagined David, who is now Becky, and the other husband still trapped in that haunted mansion. What a life. I thought of Pinocchio and how he began to transform into a donkey. I shuddered. Shelia was watching me with a funny look in her eye.

“What?” I asked.

She said nothing.

“What?” I asked again. She took my hand under the table and guided me to her pussy; she was drenched. I did not understand. I sank a finger deeper and she softly gasped. I pumped a few times and she squeezed her tight pussy around my digit.

“Can you imagine,” she whispered, “someone doing that to you?”

I looked at her confused.

“What you are right now doing to me; can you imagine how it feels?”

I did not understand what she meant. She clenched her pussy around my finger again.

Then I understood.

A thunder bolt blasted my mind. I felt dizzy. The room spun and I couldn't breathe.

"Are you okay?" my wife asked.

I nodded at the waitress and ordered a whiskey. Shelia's eyes danced. At last I knew what she meant. All the pieces fell into place. As usual, my wife was two steps ahead of me. I had to think about this one a long time.

For the first few days I imagined life without a penis and it was frightening; I'd always had one and if I had it removed then who would I be? I may be spending time as a girl but that didn't make me one. But this would. I thought about that distant date when my injected hormones finally wore off and my penis began to return. There was a good chance it would come back bigger than ever. Did I want to miss out on that? It had been such fun. But, honestly, what would I do with it? I wasn't interested in fucking other women and Shelia had already stated her preferences as far as my body was concerned.

Days passed and I wrestled with this choice. It occurred to me that if keeping my penis wasn't a blatantly obvious desire to me, then that actually said a lot about how I really felt deep down.

Then one day instead of life without a penis I imagined life with a pussy.

That did the trick. I got so excited. I remembered how pretty David's pussy had been. I pictured spreading my legs as some well-hung stranger crawled up between them, his already stiff cock pointed right at my pretty cunt. I pictured myself out in a short skirt and no panties and flashing some guy and giving him the whole view. The freedom of not hiding was exhilarating. I knew what my answer was.

We went out for drinks that night and after we had settled in to the bar I gazed at my gorgeous wife.

"Yes," was all I said. She knew instantly and her face lit up and her eyes grew huge.

"Tina, that is so incredibly hot!" She kept her voice low but the strain of excitement was obvious. "Just imagine what we can do together! My panties are soaked right now."

“Don't get too excited, yet,” I cautioned. “They still have to say yes and there are a million reasons why they wouldn't.”

But they did.

We visited San Francisco and made all the arrangements over a three-day weekend and were home again on Monday. They did not want money; they wanted ownership of Shelia. Gabriel had a special attraction to her. She pushed his buttons. She agreed quickly, no doubt anticipating Gabriel's huge cock fucking her again. We returned home and made all the arrangements. Finally the big day arrived.

Yesterday we made the short flight to San Francisco. This morning the Pharmacist put a gas mask on my face.

Which brings us back to the present.

I briefly awoke a long time later and Shelia was not in the room with me, but I couldn't stay awake. I felt a dull ache in my pelvis. The next time I awoke she was back. Time was a dim and distant rumbling, a subway train passing far beneath my feet. I drifted off again. Much later I awoke for good. Shelia was absent but the Pharmacist was there, watching over me.

“First time I ever worked on someone where it was voluntary,” he chuckled. “It was nice to be allowed to really take my time, do it right. Best work I've ever done.”

He handed me the mirror.

He was right; she was perfect.

I gently parted my new hairless pink lips to reveal soft and exquisite inner petals. As delicate as tiny butterfly wings, my little pussy was an intricate and dainty orchid. He'd created a tiny bud of sensitive skin for a clitoris and discreetly hidden it under a hood of softly folded girlish flesh. I touch it and shivered with pleasure.

I spread my labia open and pushed a finger in, shocked at the tightness.

The Pharmacist saw my face and chuckled. “Yes, you'll drive them crazy. I redirected both seminal fluid tubes so when you becomes aroused, you'll get wet and slippery. No man will notice a difference and all of them will be amazed at how tight you are. Your little purse will grip them like a hot, wet, silky fist.”

I glanced around the room.

“She's with Gabriel,” the Pharmacist offered, “and Lucifer.”

Lucifer had not been part of the deal but what could I do about it now? I'd hoped Gabriel would wait to collect his fee but I should have known better. He wanted Shelia more than any other. Something about her beauty inflamed him.

I tilted the mirror and marveled at the new me. I opened my robe all the way down the front; perfect firm tits, perfect flat stomach, perfect little pink pussy. Perfect tight asshole. I was turning myself on. He'd also bleached my skin so my little asshole was a lovely pink and puckered dot.

"You're an artist," I croaked. "How long?"

"Before you can enjoy your new pussy? A week. Maybe ten days. Depends how big the man is. She turned out better than I'd hoped. I used interior stitches with a melding thread and over-lapped the tissue using a split and tuck technique I invented, so you'll have no discomfort whatsoever, provided you wait at least a week. All the sutures are on the inside so you'll show no scars and heal much faster too, and I added a powder epoxy which dissolves as you heal..."

I ignored him.

"You don't care, do you?" he asked.

"Not really, no."

He smiled.

I turned the mirror side to side and underneath. I owned the most beautiful pussy I'd ever seen. I pushed my finger back in. I was wet and smoother than glass inside. Warm soft tissue enveloped my finger, gripping me with a gentle vacuum and I imagined a hard cock entering my cunt. It was breath-taking. I'd rolled the dice and it had turned out absolutely flawless. I stared and stared.

"When can I see Shelia?" I muttered. "Is she coming back to see me soon?"

The Pharmacist stopped organizing his tray of implements and aimed worried eyes at me. I realized I was still playing with my new pussy and made myself stop.

"Yes, she'll be back soon. She's been stopping by every hour or so to check on you. She is almost as excited about your transformation as you." He hesitated, wanting to speak but afraid.

"Say it," I prodded.

"You do know Gabriel has already had her many times?"

"Yes. There was a price to pay for what I wanted you to do to me."

“Do you know how high a price?”

I smiled. Such a fiendish and diabolical man and yet he worried about me. Borderline insane and still he was concerned for my feelings.

“Yes,” I answered. I returned the mirror to my lap and opened both pairs of lips. I looked up into my vagina. “Shelia and I stay as his guests until Shelia conceives for him. We both understand. We're excited about it. I could never get her pregnant. I doubt powerful and virile Gabriel will have any problem.”

He relaxed and exhaled.

Over the next two weeks I recuperated in Gabriel's master chambers. Anything I desired was brought to me without delay or question. I had my own bed close to theirs and watched as a very determined Gabriel pumped my wife full of sperm again and again. She was kept nude at all times and he pinned her down often and forced himself on her. That was just the way he took someone. She fought him, a little, but I know that only made it more pleasurable for them both.

Ten days later the pregnancy test was positive. My wife was now officially carrying another man's child.

Gabriel had no interest in raising children; he just loved impregnating married women. He'd send them back to their lives so she and her cuckold husband could bring up the child as if it were theirs. I'd read once that Genghis Kahn had done the same thing, as had many other conquerors. They spread their seed as far as possible into as many lines as they could, forcing a husband to choose between his love for his wife and humiliation. The vast majority chose humiliation.

We said we understood and promised to do our best.

I ran into David who-was-now-Becky and his wife Karen and also Candice and her husband Paul who-was-now-Andrea. Gabriel liked to keep them around to gloat. David and Paul were total sluts and would fuck any penis they could get a hold of. Candice and Karen had already given birth and were both pregnant again. I watched Paul ride some tourist that had stumbled upon our little gateway to Hell and noticed a small vial attached to a chain around her neck. I looked more closely and realized her former cock and balls had been freeze-dried and stuffed into the vial for her to wear at all times. No way would she ever forget the lesson of this place. I watched that chain swing to the rhythm of her fucking and wondered if she ever missed her penis.

Back at home I switched jobs, interviewing as a woman. We'd never been especially social so there weren't a lot of friends to avoid. Before we left San Francisco the Pharmacist handed me a small jar containing two withered black peas and a small piece of beef jerky. Nobody said a word; we all knew what was in that bottle.

We'd been home for six weeks when Shelia lost the baby.

She was pretty upset by it and in a funk for two weeks. I doted on her, which came more naturally to me now, and gradually she came back around. We hid in our home for two more weeks and then she surprised me by suggesting we go out on Saturday night.

We helped each other dress, going with our most sexy outfits, short skirts and small tops, and then headed for a club by the university. I was dying to try out my new pussy, but I was also nervous as hell.

We'd been dancing and drinking about an hour when I noticed a guy that looked familiar. It took me a minute but I finally figured out who he was. Long ago, in a different life, I'd changed clothes next to him at the gym. He was hot and I knew he was hung and I pointed him out to Shelia and told her the story.

After she finished checking him out she faced me. "I think you should have him alone. I think you should seduce him, take him back to our place. I'll stumble upon you on my way to the kitchen or something innocent like that. I'll wear that blue nightie you love that shows off everything and we can both enjoy his reaction and then when we have his big cock hard as a rock, I will guide your first penis into you."

The more she talked the hotter I got and by the time she finished I was nodding eagerly, and that's exactly how it went.

It was nothing I'd ever experienced. I found myself watching his face as he experienced my tight pussy envelope him. I was so pleased to give him so much pleasure I felt the first deep stirrings of orgasm. The more passion and pleasure I saw on his face the more excited I became.

I wrapped my arms and legs around him and pulled him even deeper. He filled me. His wide cock spread me open inside. I swear my hips almost popped out of socket. I experienced a sense of complete fullness I'd never known before. As he started drawing his inches in and out I buried my face in his neck and whimpered. I had him hard as stone. His cock was like an iron bar in my guts. He began to pound me.

He was longer than I was deep and many times I felt him drive into my guts. It hurt a little but I didn't care. My excitement was high and my pain threshold was off the chart. I slapped both hands on his ass and urged him faster and deeper. I heard him suck in air and I knew I was going to take my first load of sperm into my brand new pussy!

That idea was more than I could handle and I started to orgasm. He sucked my sensitive puffy nipples and drove his hips faster, urging me to cum on his cock, telling me how much guys love it when girls cum on their cock, and I cried out as I climaxed, arching my back and squeezing my eyes shut. My rectum convulsed and a spasm wracked my body and the massive cock fucking me bucked and jumped and shot a fount of hot jizz deep into me.

“Oooooooooo my God!” I screamed as I thrust back against him. He hammered away and I felt him swell and spurt over and over. My pussy was virgin no longer. I was having my first man. I loved everything about it. There is something wonderful about being fucked. I'd never been comfortable being the aggressor sexually and this passivity, this lying there and taking what he wanted to give me, made me feel wildly sexy and desired. As I submitted to him and his runaway lust I realized I was deeply and truly happy.

Shelia and I spent the night fucking him. I got so turned on watching my wife take him too. I felt so connected to her over this shared experience. After he left we held each other and she dipped a finger into my cum-filled pussy and tasted it and then touched his cum inside her and fed it to me. She eased me back onto the pillows and began to suckle at my breasts and I glanced over at my night stand. A small jar rested there containing two small dried peas and a piece of beef jerky.

“Hold on,” I murmured and she looked up confused. I rose from the bed and she looked at me quizzically. I stood over the toilet and unscrewed the cap, up-ending the bottle. The content fell into the water below. I pressed the lever, watched my former penis and balls circle the toilet and swirl down the pipe. She smiled.

“Most people leave their heart in San Francisco,” she teased. “But I guess you always were a little different from most people. You know this makes it official.”

I ran my hand down my belly and between my legs. My little pussy dribbled semen still.

“Yes, it does,” I breathed.

“When shall we go back to him? I'm dying to give myself to that monster. What do you think, Honey, should I try to have a baby with Gabriel again?”

I winched. That will always be difficult to hear and Shelia knew it. In my mind I saw his huge cock swell and ejaculate a flood of sperm inside her and then realized that next time he'd be able to properly fuck me too. Would he want me? I hoped so. I envisioned myself pinned beneath his big body, my legs forced open by his muscular thighs, his massive skull-studded cock probing my opening, seeking perfect alignment, driving forward and filling me. I gasped out loud. Shelia gave me a wicked smile.

“I'll take that as a yes?”

“Next vacation?” I suggested. “Halloween is only a few months away.”

“Next vacation,” she echoed.

END