

San Francisco Nightmare part two

Matthew Lee

San Francisco Nightmare

Part Two

By Matthew Lee

BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com

Chapter 1

Monday morning Shelia was up and ready for work. I rise with her, although I work from home, and we share headlines and coffee before she's out the door. This particular Monday, we had extra spring in our step.

For the last six weeks, my body continued to feminize and over the past few days we'd noticed the final traces of my original masculinity had fallen away. Except for the hair on my head, which was thick and soft, I'd shed hair everywhere. I was covered with alabaster skin, tinged with a slight pinkish hue. My breasts were now big but firm, overflowing my hands, spilling out the sides. My small nipples rode high and pointed up, and my flesh was as soft as a baby otter's belly. My hips flared some, which ached while it was happening, but my waist narrowed, which only made my tits look even bigger.

Honestly, I got turned on every time I saw my reflection.

My sexuality was changing, too. I still saw sexy women and they still had the power to arouse me, but now I noticed men, too. Or, more accurately, I noticed male bodies. Even more specifically, I looked for cock.

I had zero interest in the men for being men. I had no desire to kiss them, like Shelia did. I had no desire to discover if they were kind or intelligent or funny, like Shelia did. I didn't care about them. I cared only for their cock. As strange as this may sound, I was submissive, not gay. I loved big hard dick. I desired to tease them and please them and get them inside me. I wanted to make them explode. I love cum. I love sucking dick. I love being fucked.

Shelia and I would go out on the weekend and find a mark and hunt him down. We'd dance close, making him hard, testing for size. We'd move on if he did not pass our test, working through the crowd until at last we had our victim. That man, we'd bring home.

On my knees before him, my wife would draw down his zipper. Two hot babes ready to go? The men thought they'd won the lottery. Shelia would free his big erection and hold him steady while feeding him to me. I suck his throbbing member knowing I not only got him hard for myself, but also so he could fuck my beautiful wife. Big, hard, throbbing cock makes us both so happy.

Shelia stopped me this morning as I stepped from the shower. All the various parts which had been advancing separately for a long time, overnight finally crossed some group threshold and clicked into place. She was stunned. She turned me to face the mirror. She took my towel from me and marveled at the sexy woman in front of her. All my curving lines flowed seamlessly around my feminine body. She dropped her towel too and we gazed at each other in the reflection. I was a little taller but also softer and smoother. Her years at the gym really showed; thinner skin, with the hint of bumps and dips of muscle just below. Her thighs looked strong. My breasts were bigger and she smacked my butt.

"Don't brag," was all she said.

She'd allowed a small thatch of pubic hair to grow but I was as bald as a billiard ball. I couldn't grow hair if I wanted to.

Our eyes roamed over our bodies, comparing, slowly working their way down. At last we arrived at the scene of the crime and I lifted my eyes to watch her face. Her husband no longer had a penis, and that may or may not be a pretty big deal. If she had any regrets, I did not see them. Her eyes held a kind of wild fire, a fascination with what had been done to me. I parted my legs to give her a better view and she leaned close.

"He does fantastic work," she said, referring to the man they call the Pharmacist. She reached a careful hand and gently parted my labia and I jumped a bit. Her touch felt so good. The man had saved every nerve my penis contained and drawn in more from surrounding tissue. My pussy was incredibly sensitive all the time. My wife moved closer and her pink tongue snaked out and I felt her lick between my lips. I almost fell. God!

I'll admit I worried in the days immediately following my procedure. Fear crept in that I'd done something terrible and irreversible and soul-crushing regret was headed my way any minute now. But an hour passed, and then another, and then the sun set and rose and a week went by and a month, and the anticipated horror and remorse never arrived.

What did arrive each day was a renewed and growing delight in my blossoming body. My skin was perfect, my ass and legs lovely, my tits were incredible and with my naturally narrow face and Shelia's help on make-up, I was stunning. I wore short skirts and lacy panties and plunging tops and flirted with everyone. My brain was still mostly male and the way I looked pushed all my buttons. I turned me on. I was hot and horny all the time.

Arming a gorgeous woman with a man's mind is dangerous. I knew exactly what men were thinking and disarmed women before they had a chance to get spiteful or jealous. Not every time, of course, but most of the time by far. I had a lot to learn about being a woman but I was having fun with it. I teased everyone.

Shelia and I had a lot of sex. I knew her fascination with my body would pass; the woman loves dick more than air. But for now, she was all over me. I'd developed a female body before but not like this. Not even close to this.

At the office, Shelia's new positive outlook on life led to professional success. Everyone noted her heightened optimistic attitude. She wasn't just happy, she was thriving. The one unfortunate turn regarding her professional life was her boss, whom everyone loved, retired and a new boss transferred in.

Oscar Rinmann was an old-school bastard. He forced extra work on every employee save himself and all without an increase in pay. He was making himself look good at the employee's expense. Two people that openly complained were terminated. Shelia loved her job and the people she worked with and hated to just give up and quit. She hoped with time Oscar would mellow or the home office would do something about him.

Halloween approached and we discussed our earlier plans to return to the San Francisco horror-house for the holiday and Shelia's desire to try to conceive with Gabriel. We agreed the timing felt wrong. We agreed we needed to focus on ourselves and learn what life was like now that my penis was gone and my body transforming.

My penis was removed.

Forever.

My penis was gone forever.

At this moment, I stood gazing through the sheers on the living room window, watching Shelia's red Volkswagen Beetle drive away as she headed for work. I wore a light house robe, which I untied and let fall from my shoulders.

Forever.

I ran my hands over my sensitive skin, flicking my fingers across my nipples in rapid succession. I cupped a large breast with my left hand and ran my right palm down between my legs and over my bald vulva. I pushed a fingertip in, enjoying the warm, wet, slippery tunnel.

Forever.

I pushed my finger deep. I was so tight I needed a little effort. I feel a particular kind of satisfaction when my pussy is filled and the beginnings of that sensation tingled my cunt now. I held my finger in place and squeezed my vagina tightly around it. To achieve the level of satisfaction I was starting to crave, I was going to need something a lot bigger.

I didn't miss my little penis at all. Not a bit. Good riddance. I was happy it was gone. I lived decades with that embarrassing appendage making me feel inferior, inadequate, and humiliated. I avoided the gym and sports and doctor's offices; anyplace I risked exposure. I'd felt like less of a man my whole life.

The universe had taken pity and handed me Shelia. She could have any man she wanted yet she wanted me and in the greatest stroke of luck ever, she was glad my penis was gone too. She loves me and my happiness is her happiness. She saw how relieved I was and honestly, my penis never did much for her anyway.

In our previous relationship, before our trip to San Francisco, sex played an insignificant role in our marriage. Now, our sex life is front and center. We're sex-fiends, and our mutual kink provides us all the eroticism we need.

I was getting hornier by the second. I needed to look at my body again. In the master bedroom, I used the full-length mirror across from the bed and ran my eyes over every sexy inch while I followed with my hands.

I was a sexy bitch. No doubt about it.

I returned to the living room and grabbed my phone. I sent Shelia a quick text; I need sex.

She would still be on the freeway so I didn't expect a reply. I just wanted her to know how horny I was. She surprised me minutes later with this reply; Funny, I was just thinking the same thing except about a nice hard cock. Let's go out Saturday night?

I fired back a yes and got online to find a hot new Vegas club.

Chapter 2

I placed the bookmark in my copy of Beyond the Valley of the Dolls, and set it next to my coffee. I picked up my phone. Every day this week I'd received a text from Shelia expressing bitter disappointment. The message I'd just opened informed me that she and three others would be forced to work late again tonight. She added she was tired of Oscar's shit and, sadly, it was time to look for another job. I shot back I totally agreed and this weekend we'd polish her resume. That made her feel a little better.

She got home exhausted and furious. Oscar had made a pass at her, which is tacky but I didn't blame him, but he'd done it in front of everyone. Worse, when she declined, he'd gone down the row and made a pass at every woman working late. After he left the room they all just stared at each other in disbelief.

"What a pig," her friend Tracy had said. Disgust twisted faces as they nodded in agreement.

"None of us can afford to just walk out," Shelia complained to me. "He's got us, at least for a while, and he knows it. He says suggestive things all the time but it's getting worse. I know he'll try to force some of us to go out with him. He's gross. His hair is always dirty, he's soft and lumpy, and half the time he smells bad. Tracy's husband just got laid-off so she'll have to put up with whatever Oscar does. I hope Oscar doesn't find out or he might zero-in on her."

Back when I was Andy, I'd met Tracy and her husband, Donald, and they are good people. Not terribly bright or terribly complex, but good, giving, empathetic people. Tracy is a cute redhead with a nice figure and milky skin and Donald is a little chubby and a little insecure, but dotes on Tracy and I respect him for that. If he heard Oscar was trying to force himself on Tracy and she had to take it because Donald lost his job, shit would hit the fan.

“Maybe you and Tracy should have a night on the town?” I said. “See a Vegas show or hit a club? Have a few drinks, vent some steam.”

“What about you? Are you still as horny as me? We were going to go out.”

I shrugged. “I met Tracy and Donald as Andy. Tough to explain what’s happened if they saw your husband now.”

She thought for a moment. “What if I tell her Andy’s home sick and you bump into us as one of my girlfriends from the gym?”

“Clever. I like it. Look at this.” I showed her the list of new Vegas clubs. Her eyes scanned the page, returning to one in the middle.

“I like that one.” She pointed at the page.

Cynz was the latest club catering to the growing alternative Vegas crowd.

“Tracy is a little conservative, Shelia. I’m worried you’ll freak her out.”

“Smashing the routine is exactly what she needs. Also, she’d benefit from knowing there are lots of different paths for her. She doesn’t need to stick to the one she’s always known. That path has Oscar standing in the middle of it.”

“She’s so shy.”

“I’ll keep her safe. I just want her to see what a big world it is.”

“Alright. I’ll get ready and get there early to grab a table. Wander until you find me and I’ll invite you both to have a seat. This will be fun.”

“I need it. I’m going to dance to exhaustion.”

Chapter 3

Tracy surprised us by bringing Donald too. I’d left the house early, with no idea he’d join in, and I’d worn a slutty black mini-skirt and tight silver top. I had on heavy eye-shadow and black lipstick.

When I saw the three of them I called out to Shelia and she acted appropriately surprised to see me. I invited them to join me, explaining my friends had bailed at the last second and I had the whole big table to myself. Shelia introduced me as Tina, her friend from Spin class, and Donald shocked me with a carnivorous look and a hug. Tracy was staring at the dance floor and missed what he did. I was flattered but considered Donald off limits, not that I had any interest in him anyway.

Shelia was dressed only slightly less slutty than me in a body-hugging short white dress.

Drinks arrived and we all danced and had a great time. Shelia especially let go and sweat until her hair looked like shit. I was happy to see it. Tracy got a little wild and Donald could not keep up so he joined me back at the table. The music was far too loud to talk so we sat and smiled at each other.

We stayed until we ran out of energy and then followed them back to their place. Everyone took a quick shower to rinse the sweat and Tracy handed out shorts and T-shirts and Donald was clearly disappointed to see Shelia and I lose our provocative attire.

“That place was amazing!” Tracy said, flopping onto the couch next to her man. “Thanks for inviting us out, Shelia. There were so many crazy people there but they were all so beautiful, too. It was a people-watcher’s paradise.”

“I love clubs like that,” Shelia said. “Last year my husband and I went to San Francisco and found a club like nothing I’ve ever been to before. Some parts were genuinely insane.”

“Like what?” Tracy asked.

Shelia gave me a look from the corner of her eye. “Like people bound with leather straps and handcuffs. Some were blindfolded. All of them wanted to be touched by strangers. Some couples had sex back in the corners. Some people were forced to do other things.”

“I’ve heard of clubs like that,” Donald volunteered. “They’re invitation only and make you sign a waiver before you get in. A bay area reporter did a story last year about one club where several people have gone missing but the cops found nothing and the club had video of the people leaving around dawn.”

“That sounds scary,” I offered.

“Doesn’t it?” Shelia added. We shared a secret look.

Tracy changed the subject. “Shelly, what do you do at the gym? I’ve been trying to lose weight and get in shape and nothing works. Your body looked amazing in that dress tonight.”

“Great tailoring,” Shelia said.

“Bullshit,” Tracy countered. “Your body is sick. Can I see your abs?”

“In front of Donald?”

“I don’t worry about my man,” she chuckled. “He only has eyes for me.”

Unless you’re wearing a slutty mini-skirt, I thought.

“Okay,” Shelia said, standing. She pulled her T-shirt off over her head and her big round tits tumbled free. Maybe it was all the booze or maybe she just felt like showing off or maybe she was still horny like me, but Donald and Tracy’s eyes got huge. Donald looked away after a moment but Tracy grinned and without thinking reached a hand out and palmed a tit. The booze had her, too.

“Those aren’t abs,” Shelia giggled.

Tracy guffawed. “No, those are fucking amazing!” She squeezed, her fingertips denting my wife’s breast.

Shelia turned the other tit towards her. “This one’s jealous.”

Tracy added her other hand and all of us watched her caress my wife’s boobs. A strained silence filled the room and I wondered what would happen next. I found out seconds later when Tracy lowered her mouth to suckle a nipple. Shelia moaned and cradled Tracy’s head to her bosom. I checked on Donald. The tent at his crotch said he was excited but the look on his face said he was angry. Figures.

“That’s fucking sexy, ladies,” I said, trying to direct him away from being upset. “Don’t you think so, Donald?”

He looked like he’d snapped out of a trance. “Um, yeah, two very beautiful women.”

I waved a hand vaguely at his crotch. “I think it’s great that you’re excited and not jealous. I’m excited too.”

He looked down and quickly readjusted, flustered. Now successfully boxed-in, he turned his attention back to the girls.

Shelia said: “Fair is fair,” and lifted Tracy’s shirt off over her head. She had lovely breasts, smaller than either of us but pale and smooth with bright pink nipples and areola.

Not much happened beyond that. They talked for a moment and then Shelia stood so Tracy could examine her abs. They talked about a gym routine and how much work and dedication success demanded, and then the alcohol started to catch up to Tracy so Donald put her to bed. He invited us to spend the night and we accepted, telling him sharing a bed was no problem for us. We stripped and got into bed naked, staring at the ceiling in the dark.

“I need dick,” Shelia stated.

“Should I go get Donald?”

Shelia laughed a strangled snicker. “Um, no. Nice man but I serious doubt he’s the kind of man I need right now.”

“Gabriel, then?”

She faced me. “No. That’s more man than I need right now.”

We giggled.

“I know you want dick,” I said. “But I guess a tongue will have to do.”

I slid under the covers and spread her thighs. Her hands landed on the back of my head. She was wet and I added to it, ripping a deep groan from her several long minutes later. She returned the favor and we drifted off.

Chapter 4

Oscar read the email from the home office and grinned. Now some of the office women had to come out with him. This was perfect.

Next month the CEO was sending each district manager and two employees of their choosing to San Jose for a mandatory efficiently conference.

Shelia and Macy?

He rolled that combination around for a minute.

Shelia and Regina?

He imagined Regina’s dark skin spread out on white sheets, full black lips wrapped around his cock head.

Nice.

He rubbed his whisker-covered chin.

Shelia and Tracy?

A grin spread his lips.

Those two always act like I'm disgusting. I'm going to love forcing them to leave their husbands behind and come with me for a week. Ha! I can already see their faces. Maybe I can get both drunk and score a threesome.

Chapter 5

Shelia came through the door red-faced.

"Mother fucker!"

She slammed her purse and keys down on the kitchen counter.

"Cock-sucking asshole!"

I waited.

"I fucking hate that man. Do you know what he did?"

"No, Honey. Tell me."

"Home office is sending him to training and told him to bring along two employees. He picked me and Tracy. We'll be gone a week. A week! We have to spend a week with that pig!"

I grabbed a bottle of Chardonnay and a glass and poured. She took the glass absentmindedly and drank.

"Donald is livid," she continued. "Tracy called on my drive home. He wants her to quit but of course she can't because Don is still looking for work. If Oscar lays a hand on me, I'll gut him."

I refilled her glass. It took two more glasses and two hours before she'd calmed down enough for bed.

The next five weeks sucked. Shelly came home from work upset every day. Another employee got fired and Oscar had ramped up his lecherous rhetoric threefold. Our sex life took a back seat as I became her best friend and confidant. Once, while we were out for coffee, a handsome man flirted with her. She turned her back.

"Wow," I said.

"Shut up."

"You know it's serious when—"

“I said shut up. I’m not in the mood for his flirting. Button your trap.”

I laughed and then she did too, but she never took another look at that man. Her stress and tension had grown each day. The closer she was to the conference, the worse her mood.

We shared our last weekend together, curled up Saturday night watching Good Will Hunting for the fifth time when it hit me. I pushed pause.

“Duh. Spouses aren’t allowed to go but girlfriends can. I take a separate flight and book a room at the same hotel. You don’t have to go this alone, Baby. Tracy would probably enjoy a friendly face too and if I do bump into the jerk, you introduce me as a friend from Vegas and I flirt a little, trying to draw some of his attention away from you two. He’ll probably think he has a shot at a foursome and welcome me.”

She chewed her bottom lip, thinking. “You’d do that for me? This is my job. There’s nothing in it for you.”

“There’s making you happy, or at least happier, and I can take BART into San Francisco and cruise around during the day; MOMA, parks, Union Square. I’ll have a ton of stuff to occupy me.”

Her eyes teared up. “You’re the most wonderful man ever.” She looked up and kissed me. I returned it and tightened my arms around her, squishing my big boobs into her back. “Perhaps I should say husband instead.”

“Yeah.”

We both chuckled.

After the movie, I got on line and bought a plane ticket. My flight left before hers but I did get the same hotel, two floors lower. She and Tracy shared a room next to The Beast.

Seven o’clock Sunday night, I flew out of McCarran airport. Shelly, Tracy, and Oscar were forty minutes behind me. We decided to keep my presence hidden from Tracy too since we were supposed to have met by accident that night at the club. Too suspicious if I keep popping up all over the place. Makes Andy’s absence more conspicuous.

I checked into my room and unpacked, changing my clothes to jeans and a baggy sweatshirt. I pulled my hair back with a pink scrunchy. Shelia text an hour later she and Tracy were in their room. Oscar made Tracy cry on the plane by asking her not to dress so ugly. She'd worn jeans and a baggy sweatshirt. I was really starting to hate this guy.

In the morning, Shelly and I met for a quick breakfast before she had to meet the others and then again later for a long lunch. Dinner she spent with Oscar and Tracy and Oscar offered to give a raise to whichever of them gave him a blowjob. They didn't even dignify him by responding, which made him angry. He stormed off leaving them to pay the bill. He has a company credit card.

Shelly roomed with Tracy and they watched a movie so she called from the bathroom to tell me goodnight. Three hours later my phone rang again.

"Baby," Shelia said. "This is awful. Oscar called our room and spoke to Tracy. I heard him raise his voice but could not hear what he said, but she cried for twenty minutes and then left to go next door. What should I do? I think he demanded sex from her."

What could we do? Pound on his door? Set off the fire alarm? I considered finding some kid and giving him twenty bucks to call Oscar's room every five minutes all night, but every solution was temporary. Tracy needed to say no and mean it and damn the consequences. Get fired and file a lawsuit.

This sucked. Shelia and I traded ideas but reached no conclusions. About an hour later Tracy came back to the room and crawled under the covers. She wouldn't talk about what happened.

At the conference the next day Shelia said Tracy looked tired and sad. They all went to lunch together and my wife texted me the name of the restaurant so I took a chance to walk by. I wanted to see what this piece of shit looked like. Shelly's description was perfect. I fixed his face in my mind. Try this same shit with my wife and you'll pay.

Oscar invited them to dinner and both declined and when he tried to force it Shelia gave him a flat no. He must have heard something in her voice because he let it go, but I knew starting tomorrow, Shelia would draw his attention. I've known too many men exactly like him.

Oscar chased her for three days. I saw Shelly here and there but mostly enjoyed the city. By Friday he was furious. When the training ended, he insisted they all go out for drinks. Both women said no even after he threatened to write them up for insubordination. They returned to their room to wait for the flight home. Oscar returned to his room and started calling theirs so both girls left the television on and slipped out and left the hotel. Shelia text me they were going to get buzzed at a local pub called Finnegan's. I told her to be safe, have fun, and get Tracy drunk.

I tried to hang out alone but I was curious. I dressed down again and in the lobby bought a baseball cap for the San Jose Sharks and made my way to the pub. Friday evening around nine I expected them to be busy and they were. The crowd was thirty-something urban. I mingled and saw Tracy and Shelly at the bar already surrounded by guys. Good for them.

One guy, stock-broker with slicked-back hair, was hot for Tracy, flirting, laughing at her jokes, touching her each time she made a point. She ate it up. This guy gave Tracy all his attention. After a while she excused herself and I saw the young man follow her towards the restroom. As soon as they stepped off the main floor and into the bathroom hallway, Tracy slammed him against a wall and kissed him like a wild woman. I laughed out loud as he returned her passion. At the end of the hallway was a door that opened to an alley. Tracy took his hand and led him through it.

Follow to see what happens or keep an eye on Shelia?

I backtracked to find my wife. She had two guys flirting with her; tall, blonde executive, and short, brown mop-haired artist. I knew which one she preferred. When her phone buzzed a few minutes later I knew it wasn't me calling. She yelled into the phone for a minute and then shook hands with blonde executive. She led mop-hair down the same hallway and out back. I couldn't follow without being seen but maybe I could circle around.

The alley ran in two directions; out towards the street and farther back culminating in a small city park. It was dark back here with only one street light so I stuck to the sidewalk until I angled across the street to the park.

I almost stepped on Tracy. Stock-Broker had her on her back on the grass under a tree and shielded by shrubs. He was fucking her like a bull in heat. She was giving back as hard as she got.

Is no one faithful?

Her arms circled his neck and her legs were wrapped tightly around his waist, her pants hanging from one ankle. He'd pushed her top up to expose her milky tits and feasted on the nipples as he drove his cock deep. Her whimpers and grunts of pleasure sent a thrill up my spine.

I scanned the park for Shelia. Bingo. Artist had her bent over the merry-go-round. Her pants were down to her knees and she clung to the metal bars and he gripped her hips and fucked her tight hole from behind. The park was nestled behind a bunch of businesses, closed now after-hours. I stood in the dark and listened to throaty male moans and feminine whimpers. I'm a visually aroused kind of person but with the sounds I was hearing, I was soaked in an instant.

I wanted to join in but had to remain hidden from Tracy. I stayed in the shadows as these animals acted on their urges. Tracy surprised me by cumming first and hard. I expected she'd too nervous cheat and in such a public way. I thought Shelia, with her experience, would beat all of them but no. She came next and then both men thoughtfully turned loose their flood.

After, they all gathered at the merry-go-round. The guys were in a hurry to leave and the conversation lagged until my wife thanked them for the servicing and wished them goodnight.

As soon as they'd gone, Tracy started talking rapidly. "Oh, my God, Shelly, what the fuck did we just do?"

Shelia laughed quietly. "Got animal-fucked by two hot guys, that's what."

"What will you tell Andy? How will you face your husband? I can't imagine getting this past Donald. He's going to look at my face and know."

"No, he won't. Relax. We both needed that."

Tracy was quiet for a moment and then: "My guy didn't wear a condom. Did yours?"

"Nope."

"What if we get pregnant? Fuck, Shelly, I've ruined my life."

"Calm down, Tracy. We can get pills when we get back to Vegas. No one needs to know anything. I'll keep your dirty secrets."

"You seem so calm. Have you done this before?"

"Yes...a few times."

"Andy seemed so nice. You guys seem so happy."

"We are. We're ridiculously happy. I didn't do this because I'm unhappy with Andy. I did this because I needed to get fucked. Andy knows what I do."

I heard a sudden rustle of clothing, Tracy standing to stare at Shelia.

"What!"

“Yup. I hide nothing from him.”

“He knows? He’s okay with it? Donald would kill me.”

“Then don’t tell him. Andy wants me to have the things I want. He’s incredibly secure.”

I heard the amazement in Tracy’s voice. “That’s wild. Does he get to have sex with other women if he wants?”

“Hell no. This ain’t a democracy. But lucky for me, he doesn’t want to. Other women do nothing for him. He likes when I fuck other men.”

“Oh my God, Shell, you are so lucky.”

“I am. I know.”

They fell quiet until Shelia spoke: “Tracy, what happened with you and Oscar the other night? Did he try something?”

“Yes.”

“Tell me.”

“It’s my fault. I should be strong like you. I should say no and stick to it.”

“What happened?”

“Swear you won’t tell anyone, not even Andy?”

“I swear.”

“He first insisted I come have a drink with him in his room. When I refused, he threatened my job. I made him promise just one drink but when I got there he’d just gotten out of the shower. All he had on was a towel around his waist. His hairy stomach hung out over it. I almost started crying right then.”

“Go on.”

“He had some porn playing on his big-screen. He made me a screwdriver, strong, and we talked. I think he took a Viagra before I got there because as the people on the screen did stuff, his dick rose out from under his towel.”

Shelia moved closer and put an arm around Tracy’s shoulders.

“I’ve only ever seen Donald’s. Oscar’s was a lot bigger. He saw me looking and pulled his towel off and tossed it aside. He asked if I liked what I saw.”

Shelia resisted the urge to ask if she did. I think every woman in that situation would resist that urge. A chunk of my male brain was wondering, though. I wanted to ask.

“I told him no, of course not, I have a husband.”

“Exactly.”

“No. No, Shelia. That’s just it; I lied. I hate that man but his penis did look good to me. So good. When he patted the bed next to him I refused and he ordered me. I refused anyway so he walked over where I was and took my drink. He set it on the end table. He held my head with two hands and rose on his tippy-toes to lift his dick to my mouth. He pushed it at my lips. I started crying like a dumb little girl. I wanted to run but I didn’t. I wanted to hit him but I didn’t. I wanted to yell at him but I couldn’t even do that. Those were all things I thought I was supposed to do. He mashed his dick against my lips and I did what I really wanted to do. I opened my goddamn mouth.”

Okay, I’m a horrible person. Tracy was getting me wet.

“He pulled my hair hard so I cried out and pushed his big penis into my open mouth. I started crying harder but I also started sucking. What the fuck is wrong with me? He moved me to my knees so he could take my chair and sat like a king with me between his thighs. I hate that man. How did he get me to do that? I cried the whole time but still tried to do a good job, still tried to please him. I got excited every time I made him moan. He swelled really big when he was about to cum and I pushed him deeper and started gagging and swallowing as his sperm blasted out. I don’t even swallow Donald’s cum but I swallowed this pig’s. I sucked it out.”

Tracy was shedding tears now, remembering.

“I hate him but I hate myself more. Why did I do that? Worst of all, it left me so fucking horny. I just fucked that stranger because I was still so turned on by Oscar forcing me to suck his nasty dick. Am I mental? I mean seriously, what’s wrong with me, Shelly?”

My wife tipped Tracy’s head to lay on her comforting shoulder. She stroked the distraught girl’s hair. They sat in silence for a while and then Tracy asked: “Do you think I’m disgusting now. Do you hate me?”

“No, Baby-girl. These womanly mysteries run deep.”

“I agreed to leave the hotel with you because I was afraid I’d go to his room again. I liked being used. I hate myself.”

“Men are rotten dirty pigs, but we can’t live without them, especially the strong, aggressive ones. I hate that they carry the penis on them. I wish there was a third gender equipped like men. I’d fuck them all day every day and never look back. But there isn’t. We get men.”

Tracy sighed forlornly. Shelia went on.

“They treat us like shit and we come back for more. They have the cock and they have the sperm and I desperately crave both. I love cock; I love to feel them swell and pulse and stiffen and shoot. I love hot cum spurting into my mouth or my pussy. I’m driven by a primal urge. I must empty balls. I must acquire semen. I’ve met so many wonderful cocks and so few good men.”

“Andy seems like a good man.”

“Andy is the very best man. I scored, and I’ll never, ever let him get away. But I watch my sisters and I see the spell men cast on us. Their spells work on me, too. I’m lucky I have an understanding husband. More than understanding, I’m lucky I have a husband that wants me to cheat on him. Andy loves it when I’m a slut. I’ll tell him about tonight and we’ll have super-hot sex.”

“So what do I do?”

Shelia faced her dear friend.

“Not for me to say, Sugar. My gut tells me say nothing. Donald can’t handle the truth, as Jack says. Ignore Oscar and try to be a good wife. With time, what you did with Oscar and this guy in the park will recede. Guilt will fade. You’ll rationalize you made a mistake, forgive yourself, and move on.”

“And if I can’t ignore Oscar?”

“Things get messy.”

Tracy folded her legs under her.

“Maybe Oscar will be nice to me now that I sucked his dick. If he’s nice to me I can tell him no. If he bosses me around, I’ll cave.”

They were quiet for a long time and I sensed the conversation had ended. That proved correct when they got to their feet minutes later, murmuring about heading back. I had to stay hidden until they were gone. As they passed my hiding place, I heard Tracy tell Shelia what a great friend she was.

They may have left the park before me but I beat them back to the hotel. My phone buzzed as I was walking through the lobby and I read Shelia’s confession of what she and Tracy had done. I admitted spying and following and watching and hearing and she laughed her ass off. When she finished, she said they were stopping for a strong drink before bed. I noted this time she left off the name of the pub. I went upstairs and went to bed. I got a “Home safe, goodnight” text almost an hour later.

Chapter 6

Back in Vegas, Oscar turned tyrant. I seriously considered paying guys to have him beaten. The girls had snubbed him at the training and he was furious about it. Worse, Tracy discovered enough backbone to refuse his blowjob demands, even when he threatened her job. He took his rage out on everyone at the office. One of the guys, Thomas, quit on a Friday by pouring hot coffee on Oscar's head and then all over his desk. Another woman just never came back to work. No phone call or email could reach her.

Shelia did not throw herself into finding another job and when I asked her why she said she hated leaving Tracy alone and undefended. She toughed it out, along with many others.

The holidays came and went and spring arrived. An uneasy truce developed between Oscar and his employees but he took every opportunity to humiliate and demean them.

The weather warmed. I started wearing skimpy clothing again, and that's when the dreams started.

I awoke one night after feeling my penis slide along the bedspread and my balls flop down. My eyes flew open and I lay frozen.

Slowly, cautiously, I slipped a hand down between my legs, terrified what I might find. My fingertips slid over my soft mound and into my slit. I sighed and fell back asleep.

Two days later I was clothes shopping at Forever Twenty-One and my balls started aching, like someone had kicked me. I found the restroom and sat in a stall and whipped my panties down but there was nothing. Just my perfect little pussy.

The next night I awoke, hard as steel. I shoved the blankets down and stared but no erect penis greeted my confused eyes. Shelia woke, somewhat, and murmured she loved me before falling back asleep. I was sweating.

In the morning, I got Shelly off to work and poured some coffee. Rationally, I understood why I would have sensations like this. I was in possession of that peanut for my whole life. I've read about amputees experiencing phantom pain or tingling. What concerned me more were the thoughts that went along with the sensations; why was I imagining I had my penis back? Was some repressed inner-male fighting to get free? Was I caught in a denial so powerful I was blind to it? Deep down, did I regret having it removed?

We all have things buried too deep or woven too tightly to touch them on our own. I wondered if I should see someone professionally. I took a sip of coffee and an idea occurred; should I go see the Pharmacist? He'd talk to me. I was his greatest creation. He'd removed dozens over the years and many of those converts had chosen to remain in the cult. He would have heard everything. Better than any professional therapist, the Pharmacist had insights and experiences that related directly to my situation. I moved this idea to a back-burner to chew on. Let me sleep on it a few times.

That evening, Shelia came home distraught. Oscar had been assigned another training session in San Jose. Apparently, this was the company's idea of handling the complaints they received; throw more training at him. Bottom line was whenever he assumed control of an office, that office increased profits. Details about how he achieved it were mostly overlooked. That he produced more by breaking the backs of his employees was not something the main office was interested in hearing. They assigned him additional training and washed their hands of it.

"If I have to go, you have to go," he bellowed from his chair. He picked Tracy and Shelia to accompany him again, just to annoy them.

"Tracy just submitted to it right away," Shelia said, "but I told him no. I was going to tell him to pick someone else but then that means someone else would go and how can I do that to them? I handle him better than anyone. What would poor Tracy do if I wasn't there to protect her? God, I hate this man!"

I comforted her and listened to her vent, but the gears in the back of my mind were already turning. I'd go with her again and use the opportunity to slip away to the Hell House. I'd have a long talk with the Pharmacist and get some answers about my dreams.

That night I dreamed I stood at a wall urinal and urinated standing up. I looked down at the twig in my hand and yelled; it was just as small and useless as it had always been but was somehow reattached to me. Shelia slept through my outburst.

I got out of bed and stepped into the bathroom, closed the door and turned on the light. There in the mirror was my gorgeous, sexy body. I exhaled.

In the weeks leading up to the class, Oscar was unbearable. My infrequent dreams and waking sensations continued, sometimes so real and intense I broke into a sweat and felt dizzy. By the time the day of departure arrived, I was eager to go.

Like before, we took separate flights and like before I booked a room at the same hotel. This time I got a floor above hers. She mentioned I seemed preoccupied but I blamed the story I was working on and she accepted that.

I realize now I should have confided in her, trusting she'd understand and listen, but the things I experienced now came at me from an angle that left me embarrassed and vulnerable. I withdrew and tried to handle all of it on my own. I should have trusted my wife.

We met for breakfast the next morning and she told me about her night. They'd arrived on the same flight and checked into their room and Oscar knocked on the door before they'd finished unpacking. He came in like he owned the place and wandered around, glancing out the window to check the view and making a crude comment about one bed and two women.

"I held the front door open for him to leave," Shelia said. "But he just laughed. He took Tracy by the wrist and announced flying stresses him out. He led her to the bathroom and started to undress, ordering Tracy to do the same. I told him he had to leave but he ignored me. What could I do? Call hotel security? Tracy wouldn't turn on him. I saw it on her face."

"What happened?"

"They stripped and took a shower together with the door open. I saw his dick and Tracy was right, but his body is gross. He's soft and hairy, and, of course, he's Oscar."

"Big though?"

"Yes. When Tracy first described it to me on the playground I listened with two grains of salt; she's an inexperienced, naïve girl, really. She's only known Donald. Virtually every girl thinks penises are big and ugly, at first. But she got this one right. It is."

I raised my eyebrows. She punched my shoulder.

"No way! Never! Seriously, I'd shoot myself after."

I chuckled and she called me a pig.

She continued: "He forced her to her knees under the water and face-fucked her. The rougher he was, the more she liked it. He was bumping the back of her throat when I saw her reach between her legs to masturbate. She orgasmed with his cock blocking her esophagus."

She sipped her morning coffee, her inner vision back in that bathroom.

"They both saw me watching. Tracy looked miserable but powerless. Oscar looked gleeful. He stood her up and bent her at the waist. She knew what to do. That was when I realized she'd fucked him before. They moved too well together. She knew what he wanted and how to please him. He's been fucking her for weeks and she hid it from me."

"Maybe she feels something for him?"

"No. She hates him. She's just powerless to stop him. Some people just have your number and you can't refuse, but it's her, not him. I need to rescue her. I saw it in her eyes. She was pleading for help, unable to save herself from herself."

"He fucked her?"

"Yup. Standing up, right there in the shower. His cock curved up like a rhinoceros horn and Oscar was looking right at me as he pushed it into Tracy. I should have left the room but I was mesmerized. The new awareness she'd been fucking him changed everything. I was watching a slow-motion train wreck. Her face and body language screamed at revulsion but she pushed her pussy down on his cock. She desperately wanted him to fuck her. She came so hard it left me shaking. I know Oscar thinks I watched because I want some too."

"So what happens now?"

Shelia sighed. "I don't know. We go to class, take notes, eat and sleep. I need time to plan my next step. The only thing I know for certain is Tracy is counting on me to save her."

A germ of an idea formed in my mind. I leaned back and stared into the distance above Shelia's head. She waited patiently for a minute or two and then snapped: "What?"

I leaned over the table and lowered my voice. "Class runs Tuesday through Friday, right?"

"Yeah."

"But we don't fly back until Sunday evening?"

“Also true.”

I began to nervously drum my fingers on the tabletop. “What if we take Oscar to the Hell House Saturday night?”

Shelia’s mouth formed into a long O. She sat back in her chair. She stared at me, disbelieving.

“Oh God,” she murmured. “Can you imagine him in that place? His attitude will get him kicked out.”

“Maybe. Or maybe his attitude will get him imprisoned. Can we get him there without leaving a trail back to us?”

Shelia’s face went blank. I worried I’d gone too far and she was seeing me in a whole new light.

“That’s evil,” she said after a long pause.

I owned it. “Yup. I admit that. I’m possibly more evil than Oscar. But ask yourself this; will Oscar stop at Tracy? If you need to tip the scales against him, consider if he’s done this before we met him. How many people have suffered? How many more will if we don’t stop him?”

She was quiet for another long pause. “Baby, I’m getting hot thinking about his misery, and that’s horrible. That place changed me. It changed us both.”

“No argument from me.”

She lightly bit her pinky fingernail. “Let’s do it.”

“Give me your room key, Shelia. I’ll use it to cement your alibi.”

She slid the small white plastic card across the table.

Chapter 7

The most difficult part for her was acting like she didn’t despise him. All week Shelia softened her interactions with Oscar. She let him believe that seeing him naked and in action had gotten to her. When he teased her about being another big-dick convert, she did not correct him. His inflated ego filled in the blanks.

Each night after class he’d visit the girl’s room and force Tracy in some lewd way. He loved leaving a wet spot he knew Shelia would sleep in. My wife turned aside his attempts to force her, which only made him want her more, but that was exactly why she did it. She was not immune to the spectacle. She confessed to me that sometimes watching Oscar dominate Tracy turned her on and she felt terrible about that.

“I’m such a shitty friend.”

At last, Friday arrived and they completed the final class. Oscar suggested they go out Saturday night to celebrate, but Shelia knew he schemed to get them both drunk and take advantage. With sudden insight, she realized Oscar probably had drugs on him to help attain that goal. When he went to shower after forcing Tracy to suck and swallow a huge load, Shelia raced through his belongings. She found small packets of white powder in his sports coat pocket.

“Son of a bitch.”

That was the last straw. Every shred of her guilt evaporated. She told herself that while we might be taking him to that club without his knowledge, we weren’t paying the inhabitants to do anything to Oscar. All he had to do was act like a decent human being. Show your hosts some manners and you’d leave without incident, tired and sweaty from a long night of dancing. That’s what the clear majority of patrons did. Jerks were punished and assholes were penalized severely. We knew Oscar would be unable to behave. He’d determine his own level of punishment.

Shelia moved quickly to the dinette. She poured the powder into a sandwich bag and replaced it with dry coffee creamer. She returned the packets to his pocket.

The weather report called for sprinkles tomorrow night so her plan was to visit a restaurant close to the Hell House and then walk the rest of the way. With everyone using raincoats and umbrellas, CCTV and traffic cameras would have a difficult if not impossible time following the movements of specific individuals.

“We’ll all look the same on shitty, black and white monitors,” she said. I found no weakness with her plan.

Saturday, they spent acting like tourists. They hit all the popular spots but always with Shelia innocuously steering them towards the club. We’d discussed what to do about Tracy but never reached a conclusion. She’d see me. She’d know something was up between Shelia, Andy, and Tina. She wouldn’t know what, and that’s where we’d needed to be careful. I knew we could trust her because of who she was and her terrible secret we all shared, but I had no idea about Donald.

By sunset they'd reached a nearby restaurant. Shelia waited until Oscar paid the bill and then text me from the restroom. Before I left our hotel, I swiped her card through their door slot. Now we had an electronic record of Shelia being in her hotel room around the same time Oscar disappeared from the restaurant. I found a bar just a block away to sit and keep an eye on things.

At dinner, Oscar had stopped acting like a cunt. He was pleasant and engaging. When he went to wash his hands, Shelia commented that if only Oscar could act nice all the time. Tracy scolded her.

"It's all bullshit, Shelly. He's planning something. He's only being decent because he wants to fuck us both tonight."

"You're right. I should have seen through it. After dinner let's delay going back to the hotel by visiting a club I know of. It's close. Maybe we can get him drunk enough he'll pass out and leave us alone."

"That's a good plan," Tracy said. "That club you mentioned a while back?"

Shelia nodded. They finished an after-dinner coffee and chatted and right on time, Shelia text me; here we go.

I watched the front of the restaurant and soon the three of them emerged and popped their umbrellas and turned up their collars. Perfect. I followed behind in my ankle-length trench coat. The streets were busy despite the rain but everyone kept their heads down.

Shelia left the bright lights and bustle and took them through twisting streets and narrow alleys. I noticed she looped around a few times, walking the same streets again from a different direction, and I worried she'd gotten lost. Then I realized she was confusing the path so they'd never find the house on their own. It was really dark now as we were far away from the main streets. One more turn and we'd be there. I found a doorway and waited, watching. She emerged from the alley and pointed at the huge Victorian mansion.

I shivered. I couldn't help it. That place transformed me. I was re-made inside those walls. I'd been broken and twisted and reshaped into something altogether different. I was happy about that now but at that time, I'd suffered. I curled my shoulders forward and felt my big breasts rub together, reassuring me.

The house sat on a hill and the entrance was reached only by a long flight of stairs. Lights flashed behind the curtains and music thumped, vibrating the ground and the air. Last time there'd been a large and wild crowd of Gothic and Alternative edge-dwellers covering the yard and sidewalk, but not this time. A line of raincoat and poncho wearing people waited to get in with one tall man at the front door taking money. I waited for Tracy and Oscar to notice the stairs zig-zagged through a slanted graveyard.

After our first visit, I'd read about the place once we finally escaped and made our way back to Vegas and yes, the graveyard is real. The house used to be a church and locals were buried. When the church sold, the graveyard went with it and the city insisted it remain. Considering what the new owner had in mind, the graveyard worked perfectly.

Tracy suddenly jumped and hugged Shelia. She'd spotted the tombstones.

I let them get in line and waited for others to fill in behind them. When we were separated by ten patrons or so, I joined the line too. Inside, everyone checked their coats. Oscar wore a black polo shirt and jeans and Tracy wore a dark blue calf-length dress. Shelia wore a slightly too short denim skirt and white tank-top. I waited for them to leave the area. Under my coat I wore a tight with cotton stretch dress and flats. Heaters worked overtime and the ground floor was stifling. All around men and women responded by removing clothing. It was easy to tell who had been here a few hours and who just arrived by the amount of clothing they wore. Oscar looked around at the women like a carnivore.

The owners had changed the floorplan a lot. Walls and corridors had been added, making the place even more convoluted and confusing. The main dance floor was a quarter the former size but they'd added two more spaced around the first floor. The décor now was darker than before. Blood red wallpaper with a black velour jacquard gobbled up all the light. Tiny orange lights high overhead provided dim illumination. At every turn, there were statues of naked men and women wrestling or fucking or killing each other. Huge oil paintings adorned the walls depicting orgies and satanic rituals. Everywhere people ended life and tried to create more.

We circled the first floor looking for the way down but could not find it. I guessed after the controversy they restricted access to the lower parts of the club. I was worried Oscar and Tracy would back out. I saw Shelia lean over the bar and talk to the bartender, no doubt explaining she'd been here twice before. He sized her up and apparently believed her because he explained something while pointing at a large pillar near the back of the room. Shelia took both their hands and led them over. She tugged a lamp hanging on the wall and a secret door opened smoothly and then closed again. She explained something to them, shouting over the booming music, pulled the lamp again and the three of them slipped through before the door closed. I waited a few minutes and then did the same.

The corridor on the other side was black as pitch and only led in one direction, so I followed it. It opened soon into a large room with vaulted ceiling. Nude men and women hung six inches above the floor by their wrists every square yard. Ankle chains secured them in place. They were blindfolded and gagged and reacted to every sound and touch.

Seeing them made the hairs on the back of my neck stand up. Entering this house again was harder than I thought it would be. Across the room Tracy and Shelia waited under a stone arch for Oscar. He'd stopped to grope a bound woman and pinch her nipples. She whimpered and he pinched harder, then ran his hand over her large tit. He closed his fingers around her throat.

"So, what? We can do whatever we want to these idiots?"

"I doubt it," Shelia responded. "You don't know who placed them here or why. Don't disrespect them."

"Don't tell me what to do."

Shelia sighed and Tracy looked at the ground, embarrassed. Soon they moved on. The next room had people sitting around drinking and talking while being served by nude wenches. Oscar wanted to stay and drink but Sheila suggested perhaps there were better things to see and they return once the club had been explored. Oscar reluctantly agreed.

The next room changed everything.

Wooden frames circled the room and dangling chains hung from the ceiling. Attached to each wooden frame was a nude man, arms bound by their sides, legs closed and strapped at the ankles, mouth filled with black ball-gags. Facing them were nude women, arms overhead and attached to the dangling chains by leather straps, legs free and kicking. I noticed right away that everyone seemed to be paired up and looked at one another with familiarity and distress. I scanned their left hands and noted they all wore wedding rings. This room was filled with married couples and based on the husband's reactions, they had no idea what they'd gotten themselves into.

Each husband had a broad steel ring circling his penis and a small metal helmet encasing the head. I heard the crackle of electricity from all around the room. The metal apparatus was voice activated. Each time one of their wives moaned or groaned or gasped, a small jolt would zap her husband's genitalia.

Four muscular men prowled the room. They carried small whips but what really caused the husbands concern were their freely swinging cocks. They walked amongst the women, lashing out here and there, eliciting small cries and the corresponding crackle. Occasionally they'd gather around one wife and all four men would grope her. Her husband would throw himself at his restraints as mouths closed on nipples and finger worked deep. Her inevitable moans of pleasure would cause him pain. It was diabolical.

Tracy and Shelia and Oscar stood frozen, unable to rip their eyes away. The nude men circled like sharks, falling on one victim here, another there. As time passed, all four of the men engorged, fueled by their power over the women and the helplessness of the husbands. Soon they stalked their prey with towering erections to accompany their whips. Now the husbands truly lost control.

Shelia tried to lead the others away but Oscar shrugged her off.

The whip-men wandered away separately, tormenting a wife and moving on to the next, until they all gathered at a black-haired and large-breasted woman in the corner. Her husband bellowed a threat around his gag, shocking himself.

A whip-man took a leg and lifted, aiming the woman's pussy directly at her betrothed. From behind, a third whip-man moved close until he spooned her, his throbbing erection curling up between her labia. He slid the pulsing shaft back and forth, wetting it, but also tormenting her beloved. This foreign cock was sliding flesh to flesh along her sacred slit. A look of pleading entered the husband's eyes. His face begged for mercy. The powerless wife looked down between her legs, trying to see her danger.

Shelia said something again and took a step away. Tracy started to follow. Oscar barked a refusal and both women stopped.

The whip-men holding the legs lifted the wife higher. The curving cock slid between her pussy lips. She squirmed, trying desperately to get away, but her vertical arms held her in place. They lowered her onto the third whip-man's large cock. The husband yelled, watching each inch vanish inside his bride. The wife wriggled and writhed but there was no getting away from the cock directly beneath her. All her struggles helped work the hard phallus deep.

The whip-men released her legs and her cunt swallowed the last inches. Her head snapped back and she groaned loudly, sending high voltage blasting through her husband's penis. He jerked in agony. The whip-man thrust his pelvis and from where I stood I saw nothing but balls remained outside her body. Her toes barely reached the ground and her dance as she struggled for balance stirred his dick inside her. The whip-man withdrew half his penis and thrust it home again, sending her thrashing on a new dance. He did it again and then again and I watched in amazement as a slow transformation took place.

His cock was large and extremely hard. Angry or not, it had to feel good to her. Her mind might be outraged but her body was beginning to respond and her cries and whimpers of protest slowly shifted. Soon the sounds of him fucking her turned wet. The scent of her arousal filled the room and if the husband had been dismayed before, he was crushed now. Before long the whip-man fucked her dripping pussy firmly and she wailed and cried with pleasure, electrocuting her husband along the way. I shook my head. Her climax would not kill her husband but it might make him wish he was dead. Her howl of orgasmic pleasure at the hands of a stranger would be torture enough without fifty-thousand volts frying his penis, but he'd get that too.

The three remaining whip-men wandered the room, eventually finding wives to fuck. The torturous process was repeated again and again and again. I knew they'd continue until every hanging wife was fucked.

I was soaked. I felt awful about my excitement, but I was soaked.

Oscar was aroused like me but he had a much different reaction. He ripped off his shirt and kicked off his pants and approached the nearest chained wife. One of the whip-men pointed at him and barked a commanding "No!" but of course Oscar ignored him. When he got to the wife he stuffed a nipple in his mouth and a finger up her pussy. Her husband surged at his restraints.

The whip-man double-timed it across the room and struck Oscar across the face, sending him sprawling. He jumped to his feet. The man he faced was taller and more heavily muscled. I would have backed down. Oscar should have. But he didn't. For a moment, I thought he was bravely going to fight an obviously superior opponent, but I was wrong. Instead, like a school-yard adolescent, he grabbed the nearest wife and squeezed her breasts, taunting the whip-man.

From a hidden door on a blank wall, four men poured. They wore black T-shirts and black jeans and black Zorro masks and they laid hands on Oscar, quickly subduing him. Oscar was carried back through the door, which closed behind him with a solid thump. I heard the rasp of a dead bolt.

Hell House had him.

Our plan had reached fruition. Tracy was stunned and blurted they had to go after those men and get Oscar back. Shelia hesitated, wondering how much to reveal. Indecision kept them rooted.

I quickly weighed our options; deeper into this den of terror without Oscar? Retreat and go home, leaving him here? Or quickly locate him and exit the house together?

Regardless of what direction the girls took, I needed to be part of their plan moving forward. I decided now was the time to reveal myself.

Shelia hugged me as soon as I stepped from the shadows but Tracy's face did a strange twisting dance. She recognized me and started to smile but then wondered how I could possibly be here. She turned to look at Shelia but came back to me before completing it. She raised a finger, pointing at my stomach, and seemed ready to speak but said nothing. An idea occurred to me, a lie, actually, and I spoke: "I'm Shelly's best friend. She told me about the asshole at work so I told her about this place. I followed you to make sure justice was done."

That seemed to answer most questions for her. Shelia and I shared a knowing smile. I waited while Tracy waded through the jumble in her head.

"What happens to Oscar now?" she said, finally.

"Hard to say. If he apologizes, behaves himself, treats his jailors with courtesy and respect, they'll most likely let him go in the morning."

Shelia rolled her eyes.

"I doubt Oscar can do any of those things," Tracy said, her eyes wide.

"Then things get complicated."

"I need a drink," Shelia stated.

I took both their hands and led them deeper into the house.

Chapter 8

We hurried through one room where an enormous woman whipped a man tied to the wall, and stepped carefully over a wall-to-wall orgy which filled the next. The floor looked like a basket of pink snakes, all writhing and twisting over each other. Tracy stopped to watch, her mouth hanging open slightly. Fingers and tongues and penises slipped easily into any hole presented. Gender was irrelevant.

We cut through a room that was littered with bondage devices. Each held a man or woman twisted and contorted into tremendously uncomfortable positions. Most of the men had sprouted erections. Some of the frames were insidious; two men had been bound in a sixty-nine position, inches from each other. Large metal rings kept their jaws open. Each time one of them moved at all a loud clicked echoed and they moved closer to each other. I was sure the two men were perfectly straight and deeply regretted visiting that wild club in San Francisco some friend told them about. They were minutes away from a dick in their mouth. It was inevitable. I wondered if they knew each other.

We moved through the far door and entered a room filled with tanks of water and pools set into the floor. All around people were threatened with drowning. Hung upside-down and slowly lowered head-first or stuffed into a vat with bars across the top while water poured in, the room was filled with cries of terror and rage. A small audience sat and observed and masturbated to the fears of the tortured. One woman, trapped in a tank, sucked a cock fervently, trying to induce orgasm before the tub filled and drowned her. A man I believed to be her husband calmly observed her frantic efforts.

We passed through additional rooms, each designed to torment the victims and thrill the voyeurs. I kept my eyes on the floor when we passed through the room with rats.

“What is this place?” Tracy breathed.

We walked a long corridor with many branching rooms but ignored them all, even the ones filled with cries of pleasure.

At last we found a small, dimly lit gathering area with padded stools and low tables and I sat the girls down and found them alcohol. While I was collecting the drinks, I took a chance, asking the bartender if the Pharmacist was available to speak to an old client and friend.

“Tell him it’s Tina, from Las Vegas. I’m having dreams and phantom sensations.”

As I left with the tray of drinks he reached for the house phone.

We sat and sipped in silence and then Tracy asked again: “What the fuck is this place?”

Shelia’s face turned to me, which was her way of telling me to answer.

I searched for an accurate answer. Gateway to Hell? I went with something much more vanilla. “Pretty wild, hm?”

Before Tracy could respond, Shelia spoke up, her voice hard: “I want to find Oscar. I want to know what’s happened to him. I want to see him punished.”

I finished my drink. “Then we’ll need to work our way deeper, down to the holding cells.” I broke into a sweat. Remembered fears rose in me.

The women finished their drinks too and stood. I returned the tray to the bartender and told him I’d be back. He said he’d heard nothing yet.

We left the bar and followed a curving corridor until it ended in an intersection. Left, rooms filled with low, flickering red lights. Right, a ramp down.

“Down,” I said.

The occasional orange overhead lights became more broadly spaced. We soon found ourselves walking in almost complete darkness. We held hands.

“I’m scared,” Tracy whispered, her voice strained. I squeezed her hand but said nothing. We came to an iron gate and stepped through, leaving it open behind us. The path forward split again, left and right, and we agreed on left. The floor angled down slightly and the darkness deepened. I was feeling our way forward with a hand along the wall and my toes tapping the ground in front of me. My heart raced and I was sure theirs did too.

The deeper we went, the hotter it became.

After a long time, I thought I heard music thumping. We traveled some distance and I saw a faint glimmer of firelight. We moved faster. The corridor curled to the right and opened into a vast circular area. In the center was a small flame, more blue than orange, surrounded by a circular raised stone dais. Dancing atop it and around the flame was an Asian woman so beautiful she made my heart ache. We stopped to watch.

The room was filled with men and women wearing gossamer fabric draped over torsos and tied around hips. Some wore less. Some were nude. All lounged on pillows or low padded mats. The temperature, which had continued to rise as we descended, was now stifling.

The dancing woman had black hair to her ass and large breasts, high cheek bones and full lips. She wore a sequined bikini top and a black sari made from many scarves. A golden tiara held her hair off her face. Her large, luminous eyes went from one voyeur to the next, stabbing each of us.

“She’s unbelievable,” Tracy said.

Shelia agreed. “I’ve never seen anything like her. She’s exotic. She’s stunning. I feel like she’s making me fall in love with her.”

I felt the same way. Her perfect skin was pale and smooth and she moved sensuously around the ring. I noticed more black scarves scattered around the stone dais.

“She’s doing a strip-tease,” I murmured, jerking a chin towards the fallen scarves.

“Awesome,” Shelia said, no longer interested in Oscar’s fate. “Let’s find seats.” She rounded the corner and carefully walked along the inner wall. We took spots near the front and settled in.

With each passing minute, the woman became more sensual, erotic, alluring. She radiated sex and desire, filling everyone present with want. One by one her scarves came loose and hit the ground. Soon we saw flashes of calf and thigh. More scarves, more dancing, more rising desire. I groaned and Shelia held my hand, muttering: “I feel it too, Baby.”

The Dancer stopped. Her gaze traveled the crowd, locking eyes briefly with each of us. She changed direction, facing back the way she’d come, and began to dance again. Her dance became more assertive, bolder, more confident.

She stopped to arch her back, bending backward over the small flame, her long black hair touching the ground on the other side. Her taut stomach muscles writhed from her efforts. Her hands curled up behind her back and I hoped she was removing her bra. Her tits looked amazing already but I wanted to see them freed, and that’s exactly what she did. Her top landed on the far side of the fire ring and she slowly pulled her torso vertical. At the last moment, she whipped her head and her long gorgeous hair cascaded all around her shoulders, framing her face and huge tits. A murmur circled the crowd. Full, heavy, firm, capped by pointed nipples and pink areola and now hanging free, they were magnificent.

“Goddamn,” Shelia breathed. “Wish I had a dick.”

Mesmerized Tracy nodded silent agreement.

I discretely slid a hand down to my clit.

The Dancer continued. Now her movements came faster, each blending smoothly into the last. She whipped her hair around and her breasts heaved and swayed. Another scarf launched into the air and minutes later another. She put her back to us and we saw her firm, round ass revealed; like two halves of a volleyball and slightly dented on the side, my eyes were drawn to the perfect diamond formed by the downward curve of her butt cheeks and the upward curves of her inner thighs. Chest heaving from her efforts, she slowly turned to face the audience, the last remaining scarf hanging like a tease between her strong thighs. With both hands, she pinched the fabric and began to lower it.

Shelia saw it first, perhaps because she already suspected. I certainly didn't. Tracy's jaw slowly dropped open.

Inch by inch the Dancer slowly revealed a long, thick, veiny cock. A gasp and then a wave of excitement swept through the crowd. My mind scrambled to make sense of what I saw. This creature was the embodiment of feminine beauty, grace, strength, and sensuality, yet this beastly piece of meat hung down like it had been stolen from a champion bull. Her pale and hairless balls were huge. The Dancer grinned at the calamity she caused. The last scarf hit the ground. She set her fists on her hips, gloating, waiting. Her cock swung free now. Her massive breasts rising and falling. Sweat glistened on her skin.

The first person to leave the audience was a woman around fifty. She crawled forward and came up from underneath. Her mouth affixed to that large scrotum and she began to lick. Others quickly joined her. The Dancer laughed, pleased by the spell she'd woven, snaring us all.

Shelia left our group and boldly walked the short distance to the stone ring. She deftly lifted the heavy slab of beef and licked away the drooling precum before opening her mouth wide and gorging herself on the plump head.

I held back to watch and Tracy stayed with me. I'd not seen a large cock in my wife's mouth for a long time and it was beautiful. Shelia's face was reverent, like tasting chocolate for the first time, and she forced her lips farther down the shaft. Mouths closed on the exposed shaft and balls. More people joined in, suckling nipples, neck, breasts, arms, every inch of exposed flesh. The Dancer shivered with pleasure. Her head fell back as her minions feasted. I imagined twenty mouths all eating me at once and goose bumps sprouted despite the heat. God, that must feel amazing.

The drums startled everyone. Loud, deep, and booming, the audience became a sea of meercats surveying the prairie. Everyone sought the source and the meaning. Boom, boom, boom; the sound came at us from every direction and then bounced off the circular walls of the enclosure.

Most of the oral worshipers returned to their seats but not Shelia. She stayed, bringing her knees up under her, bobbing slowly on a cock that had risen to erect.

Boom, boom, boom.

From the corridor, I heard the scuff of many feet. An entourage of servants turned the corner and entered our arena. Four muscular black men, nude except for the white sashes they wore like broad belts, strode purposefully into our area. The lead man held a heavy chain like a leash. At the end of that leash, was a nightmare.

I had a brilliant flash of insight. In that moment, I knew; not Gabriel, and not Lucifer; those two were but figureheads for this demented palace. The true power behind the throne, the real king of this dreadful citadel, was the Pharmacist. That mad genius controlled everything, created everything, sent his pawns to carry out his crazy schemes. Gabriel, and his chemically enhanced and steel-studded cock, was a creation of the Pharmacist. Lucifer, with his cloven hooves, red skin, curling black horns and ridiculous cock, was a creation of the Pharmacist.

I looked down at my large breasts. I, too, was a creation of the Pharmacist. Where did the money to run this place come from? Who owned the deed? Who possessed the imagination to build such a place and people it with so many wild beings?

The Pharmacist.

Now, I witnessed his latest handiwork. At the end of the chain leash was a werewolf. Not a Hollywood werewolf. Don't waste your time imagining that. This was a man transformed by science, just like me. Hormones had produced wild hair growth and massive muscularity. He walked in a crouch, hands often touching the ground. His cock, probably large to start with, had been enhanced and made longer and thicker through chemical treatment, and then encased in a fleshy sheath and stitched so that it was now attached to his lower abdomen and ran vertically up his body, reaching well beyond where his belly-button would be if he wasn't covered with so much fur. His eyes were wild and ferocious but not insane. He gnashed his teeth, growling and drooling.

The lead black man pulled the leash and the beast went to heel. He sat on his haunches, eager but awaiting instruction. The crowd pulled back in horror. The beast's cock, now plainly visible, had to be ten inches long and proportionately thick. His handlers surveyed the crowd but I had no idea what they searched for.

Tracy stood and stepped out of her dress.

My mind reeled.

She dropped her panties too.

They weren't looking for anything or anyone, they were waiting for a volunteer. They knew some woman would be drawn to this brute, some woman hungry for animal lust would always rise and come forward.

Like a woman hypnotized, she floated towards the monster. The ferocity of the half-man, half-beast called to her. The lead black man pinched the clasp at the collar and set the monster free.

The werewolf scurried towards my friend, excited penis already swelling, and she lifted her head revealing her throat. He wrapped his strong shaggy arms around her and bit hard on her offered flesh. I heard her gasp of passion and pain.

I forced myself to check on Shelia. She'd stripped and they stood kissing, the curving tube of beef pinned between their bellies. My wife lowered her mouth to an erect nipples and the Dancer's head fell back. They parted and I saw now the big cock supported itself, standing straight up and pointing towards the ceiling. Shelia wrapped her hand around it and stroked while suckling, the large balls swinging beneath.

The werewolf roughly twisted Tracy to face away and I saw two small drops of blood on her neck. The beast mauled her soft breasts, nails leaving bright red scratches, and lowered his hips. For a moment, I saw his huge cock slip between her legs. His hips thrust and Tracy again cried out in pleasure and pain. His hips began a hard pounding. Tracy gripped the fur on his arms, her mouth and eyes wide open. He savagely fucked her standing, her cries of pain turning quickly to lust. The animal made an animal of her.

Soon she too was lost, out of control and urging him on. He moved her to all fours in front of the entire room. She was dimly aware of her exhibitionism and cared not at all. Her need for ferocious cock and animal fucking outweighed all else. He hammered away at her cunt and she exploded with a scream as an orgasm smashed into her and crushed her mind. She drooled and shook her head but braced herself against the floor to take every harrowing inch he gave her, as if this was the fuck she'd waited for her whole life. The unstoppable monster kept at her until she screamed again, cumming, and pounded the stone floor with a fist.

Shelia had moved to her back on the floor and now spread her legs like a flower blooming. The dancer smiled down at her, hard, pulsating cock arcing up from rounded hips. My wife whimpered and reached up for it and my pussy gushed. I love the way she loves cock. Dancer fell to her knees and hooked her arms behind my wife's legs. She lifted Shelia's ass off the ground to line up her hard cock and buried the plump head. Shelia arched her back and laughed manically with pleasure. Dancer buried more and Shelia clawed the stone floor, growling.

"Fuck!" she cried. "Give it to me!"

The werewolf had climbed over Tracy's body, almost hiding the girl. He'd moved his hips far forward and stood on all fours, rapidly driving his cock deep into her body. His hips were a blur as he fucked her hard and her constant screams were punctuated occasionally by a piercing cry of orgasm. He was merciless, brutal, animalistic, and Tracy craved every vicious thrust. He grabbed handfuls of her hair and drove balls deep, slamming her cervix and slapping her clit with his furry testicles. Tracy was as animalistic as him, drooling and wailing as he used her. Finally, he pulled back hard on her hair and pumped his cock deep, howling his impending release.

"Deeper!" Tracy screamed.

He redoubled his efforts, bruising her married cunt, slamming his cock like a battering ram.

"DEEPER!" she screamed again.

The wolf went crazy. He bit her neck and pummeled her tiny hole, up to this moment Donald's sole domain, his cock swelling as his climax approached. Tracy felt it and screamed again, begging, weeping with runaway need.

"Deeper! Oh, fuck, give it to me! Fucking give it to me you bastard!"

The wolf arched his back and bayed as his white hot cum spewed inside, filling and flooding her womb. Tracy covered her head with her arms and sobbed, feeling herself fill up with hot illicit seed.

The Dancer gathered Shelia in her arms and rolled onto her back, big tits swaying. My wife rode the big dick buried in her guts, grinding her pussy down on it. She leaned over to kiss her lover passionately but this caused her ass to rise and spread. I saw that fat cock stretching her tight pussy. I moved closer and buried my tongue in my wife's ass, eliciting a shriek of surprise and pleasure from her, and then followed up my tongue with a stiff finger. Shelia grunted and whimpered and moaned. I moved my mouth close to her ear.

“Fuck this beautiful she-creature, my love.”

I worked my finger in and out of her ass.

“I know you want to drain those balls. I want that too. I love hot, stranger cum in your pussy. You're my sexy slut, Shelia. I'm going to throw cocks at you the rest of your life. Cum for me, Baby. Cum on that big cock. Look how beautiful she is. Look at those perfect tits. Fuck her, Honey, ride that cock.”

Honestly, she didn't need my encouragement. Shelia was a natural whore. But hearing me breath hot words into her ear, her husband right there, driving her on, commanding her to release her inner-slut sure pushed her higher. She screamed like a banshee and clawed empty air as her pussy was rocked by spasms and her body convulsed. I finger-fucked her little asshole and felt her sphincter pulse and squeeze my digit. I know her pussy did the same thing around the Dancer's cock. I thought she'd turn Shelia over and pound her but the excitement of it all was too much. As my wife came atop her, she turned loose a flood of sperm, blasting upward into Shelia's pulsing womb.

Shelia collapsed on top, four gorgeous tits mashing together, two chests heaving from exertion. I withdrew my finger.

I swung my attention back to Tracy but the black men and the Werewolf were gone. The crowd was thinning and Tracy lay exhausted on the stone floor. Cum flowed from her. That monster had pumped her full, flooding her vagina, uterus, Fallopian tubes, and ovaries. Watered down milk bubbled and dripped and pooled.

I went to check on her and she seemed intact but dazed. I smiled and brushed some hair out of her face she smiled back weakly. I caught her looking up my dress. I opened my legs a little. She reached a weak arm up under my hem and pulled my panties aside. She stared at my pussy and then met my gaze.

“Who are you, really?” she asked. “You have Andy’s eyes. Are you his sister? I know Shelia is more than she says. You are too.”

Fuck it, I thought. I reached under my dress and took her hand, guiding her trembling fingers into my sopping wet cunt.

“I’m Andy,” I said.

Chapter 9

We never found Tracy’s dress or Shelia’s denim skirt. Someone in the crowd took them. Tracy felt fine, at first, walking around in her bra and panties, but then she got self-conscious and tried to cover herself with her hands. After fifteen minutes, she said fuck it and went back to being comfortable walking around in her underwear. Shelia pulled on her tank top and panties and never gave it a second thought. The Dancer gave Shelia a deep kiss but then moved on with most of the crowd.

We sat for a long time, Tracy asking many questions, and I told her everything about my transformation into Tina. She surprised me by wanting a close-up look at my pussy. Her face was inches away as I spread my legs and she marveled at my gorgeous cunt.

“The same man that made the beast that fucked you, crafted this for me.”

She was amazed. I waited, allowing her to examine me, and jumped only a little when her fingers spread my labia. I jumped more when her tongue followed. For a girl who’s never done much, she had talent. Shelia joined her after a minute and they both ate me as they kissed, fingering my sensitive hole until they got me close. Shelia held Tracy’s mouth firmly against my pussy and ordered her to lick deep and I came soon after.

“I love how you guys share everything,” she sighed. “I won’t tell Donald any of this. He’s even tired of hearing my complaints about Oscar. He just tells me to quit if I’m so unhappy. Easy to say but hard to do when you’re the only one making money.”

“Andy...Tina, is everything to me,” Shelia said. “I’ve never had anything remotely close to this with someone else. This is the only time in my life I’ve not felt alone, even within a relationship.”

“You guys got lucky.”

Shelia and I looked at each other.

“We did,” I said.

“But speaking of Oscar,” Shelia said. “Should we continue our search?”

“What do we do when we find him?” I asked.

“What if he’s hurt?” asked Tracy. “He’s going to be furious. I know he’ll find some way to blame us. He’ll say we should have come rescued him right away.”

Shelia and I looked at each other again. Tracy caught it.

“What?”

“I intentionally arranged for Oscar to get locked up,” Shelia admitted.

“You knew this would happen?”

“Yes. I’ve been here before. Twice. I know what they do to belligerent disruptors. I knew Oscar would fail and get snagged.”

“Why?”

“I wanted him punished.”

“They’ll do that?”

I chimed in and told her the story of David and Karen. Her expression slowly changed to horror and outrage.

“That’s awful,” she said.

“Yes,” I agreed. “They do not fuck around. Depending on how shitty he acts, very bad things can happen to him in this place.”

“What if they keep him? Won’t the police come looking? They’ll know we brought him here and suspect us.”

“Actually, you ladies are back in your hotel room right now.”

“How is that possible?”

“I have Shelia’s door card. I swiped it after the three of you finished dinner tonight. Records will show you came back to the hotel after dinner with Oscar, and he went on from the restaurant to walk the city alone. Who knows what happened to him?”

Her gaze went from me back to Shelia, back to me.

“Remind me never to piss you guys off.”

“We paid cash to get in here,” Shelia added.

Tracy shook her head. “How serious is this?” she asked me. “What will they do to him?”

“It is true they don’t fuck around, but they never hit first. If you act obnoxious they’ll have you removed. If you keep at it, they’ll escalate your repercussions. Somewhere there is a dumpster of severed dicks and discarded testicles.”

“What do we do if we find him?” Tracy asked.

“Depends on what’s being done to him, I suppose,” Shelia said. “But I’d like to stay and watch. Fuck that asshole.”

“Agreed,” I added.

I stood and smoothed my dress over my ass. Shelia joined me wearing her panties and tank top and Tracy boldly stood in bra and panties. What a crew.

We left the enclosure and continued down the ramp, quickly arriving at double doors which led up. I saw the last few stranglers from the dance exhibition.

“Not the way we want,” I said. Shelia and Tracy nodded, understanding.

“I feel like they sealed some areas off and opened others, Baby. What if we can’t get to the throne room or the holding cells?”

“There has to be some way to get to them. They took Oscar there. I’d be fine with skipping the throne room, though. Start searching the walls as we go. I bet they’ve hidden doors from clients.”

The gentle downward spiral continued until I was sure we’d made a few loops. We had to be far under San Francisco. The heat and humidity were almost unbearable. By running her hand along the wall as we walked, Tracy found a metal protrusion. I came over to examine and discovered an inset lever, which I lifted. A five-foot-tall by three-foot-wide panel popped out. I pulled on the edges and it swung open, revealing a small standing area, a well, and rungs headed down.

“Oh boy,” Shelia muttered.

“Maybe we should just leave him,” Tracy said.

We all knew we were headed down so we stepped into the area and began the climb. We left the panel unlatched so we could return this way.

The climb was long and at the end we stood in a corridor running off left and right. The lighting was better. We picked right at random and soon came to a heavy door. We opened it and went through.

Beyond was a room forty feet long by about fifteen wide. Along both walls were tall metal cages holding naked and blindfolded men and women. We moved silently past them, checking if any were Oscar. At the end, it opened into a large square room with a vaulted ceiling and bright white lights overhead.

In the center was a heavy wooden table shaped like a cross with a nude man strapped to it. The Pharmacist leaned over the unconscious man, working on his exposed genitalia. Various tubes and wires connected the man to a host of machines. An IV dripped.

The Pharmacist heard us and turned. His brown hair was a mess and his thick glasses sat crooked on his big nose. His white lab coat was smeared here and there with various fluids.

I froze. A chill ran through my body powerful enough to paralyze me. I felt a combination of extreme fear and supernatural arousal. This was my creator, my father.

“Do you remember me?” I ground out through clenched teeth. Shelia heard the stress and gave me a look of concern.

The good doctor pushed his glasses up his nose and studied me.

“Tina.”

“Yes.”

“You’re lovely. But why have you come?” His voice was nasally.

That was a very good question; to have you eliminate an enemy? To fuck up some guy we all hate? To get answers from you about my nightmares and phantom sensations?

I hesitated.

Shelia looked at me again and then spoke in my place: “We brought to you a man we hate, knowing he’d get himself in trouble. He did. We wonder what’s become of him.”

The Pharmacist never took his eyes off me while Shelia spoke. I felt like he saw right through me. Slowly he turned his head to Shelia.

“Did you have the baby?”

Shelia stiffened. “No.”

Tracy turned worried eyes on Shelia. We’d left details about her pregnancy with Gabriel’s child out of our history.

“I’m sorry for your loss,” the Pharmacist offered, his flat voice carrying a thread of genuine compassion. “I worried my work on Gabriel might harm him in that way.”

“Thank you.”

An awkward silence fell.

“So,” the Pharmacist began. “You’ve misplaced a colleague?”

Tracy nodded her head vigorously.

“I can’t leave now.” He jerked a thumb over his shoulder towards the door behind him. “Out that door and down the hallway until the end. Turn right. Straight through two doors and then give the guard the password, Cassandra, and he’ll let you through. Check the cells and see if this person you seek is there.”

“Is Gabriel here?” Shelia blurted.

The Pharmacist sighed. “Too many distractions. He is. Would you like to see him?”

Shelia looked at me, her eyes filled with need.

“Yes,” she exhaled.

“Very well. If you’ll allow me to finish my work here, I’ll take you to him. All of you. He can assign someone to help you beyond that.”

Shelia said okay. We stood back from the table and huddled amongst ourselves. We tried not to look at the victim on the odd surgical table and for the most part succeeded. We talked about being hungry and wanting showers and a host of other light daily topics, avoiding anything serious. After some time, he announced he was at a stopping point. He snapped the surgical gloves off and headed for the door.

As we passed the table we saw his patient had already given up his testicles. They sat in a stainless steel pan like two small boiled eggs. This individual would be keeping his shaft but his balls were gone forever. I stopped to examine more closely and noticed work had begun on a small slit between the base of the shaft and the asshole; the beginnings of a vagina in the center of the perineum. This person would have both; a pussy and a penis. The Pharmacist was perfecting his craft.

When I moved on I looked up and found the doctor studying my face. He said nothing as he led us from the room.

Chapter 10

Gabriel lounged on a pile of pillows in the chamber behind the throne room. Next to him lay two young women, sleeping deeply, showing all the signs of recent rough sex. Servants waited in attendance scattered around the large room.

We entered and the Pharmacist motioned for us to wait as he approached the enormous bed. He bent to speak to the hugely muscled man and after a moment Gabriel's head came up. He scanned us all quickly but his eyes fixed on Shelia. My wife promptly melted under his intense gaze. Gabriel waved at the two women in his bed and the waiting servants came and quickly carried them away, rousing them somewhat.

The giant man eased from the bed and stood.

Tracy gasped. Shelia went weak.

He was as muscular as ever but attention is always drawn to his cock. Pierced with rings and studs, a ridge of titanium ball bearings running along the top from the crown to the base, his cock was a well-adorned weapon; frightening and intimidating. Most women are repulsed by it, at first, until he's fucked them with it. Then their hearts and minds are converted. They feel themselves filled by something powerful and alive and their primal brain snaps awake. At first daunted, soon addicted.

My wife was one such woman. So drawn to him she agreed to carry his child, Shelia had no defense against him, no way to resist her powerful attraction, and I witnessed all of that again in this moment.

He crossed the floor to stand before us. I met his deep black eyes but the two girls could only stare at his phallus.

"May I touch it?" Tracy said. Her dry voice cracked.

He kept his eyes on Shelia but gave a quick nod. Tracy dropped to her knees and reached for him with two reverent hands, lightly fondling and caressing his shaft. She moaned with so much longing I knew her bones ached with want. My wife and this giant held a gaze until the corner of his mouth curled the tiniest of an inch. Shelia wilted, relieved and soaked, and dropped to her knees to lift his enormous ball sack and slather it with her tongue.

"They'll be busy for a while," the doctor said. "You come with me."

I hesitated. Leave Shelia alone with Gabriel? My heart screamed at me what a foolish thing to do. I looked at his cock, passed back and forth by the girls, tongues bathing, mouths sucking. He was swelling and both were already excited enough to scream. But what could he do that he hasn't already done?

I reluctantly turned away and left the room with the Pharmacist. He led me farther down the original hall and through a small door. We took stairs down a level and then a ramp down another. I recognized none of this place. We stepped into a room and he pointed to a chair which had a helmet and visor attached to a headrest.

"Sit."

I did. "What's happening?"

"You wished to speak to me about dreams and sensations."

"Oh. You got my message."

"Yes. Speak."

I told him. I started off awkward but gained confidence. He nodded and asked questions and mentioned this react was not uncommon. He called it residual male identity. He said he could fix it.

Relief flooded me. I'd worried I was headed for disaster.

"What do we do?"

"Put the helmet on and draw down the visor."

I did.

He attached a strap to my right wrist, binding me to the chair arm, and I shoved the visor up again, worried.

He reassured me. "I must give you some drugs and they often cause muscle contractions. The straps are for your safety."

I did not fully believe him but I believed him enough to continue. I lowered the visor and leaned back. He bound my left wrist and then both ankles. He ran a strap across my chest under my tits and then one around my throat. He checked the helmet, pushing it down another half-inch, and then adjusted the visor so there were no gaps in my vision. No matter where I moved my eyes, all I saw was faintly glowing screen. I sat motionless, waiting. I felt a pin-prick in my left forearm. The screen began to brighten. Images appeared and took shape.

I was inside Gabriel's room, watching through a dozen hidden cameras. He lay on his back and the women feasted on his cock. Tracy moved from sucking one massive testicle to the other and Shelia sucked hard on the fat head. He was fully erect and like them, I was attracted to his metal-studded monster.

A second pin-prick near the first and within moments a light and airy feeling came over me. My pussy began to tingle.

Tracy moved up to join Shelia at the head and together they licked generously up the shaft, swirling the crown and sweeping away each drop of precum that appeared there. He rested his huge hands on their heads and accepted their oral worship.

The cameras moved smoothly and seamlessly, one to the next. I saw close-up visions of that heavy phallus sliding in and out of my wife's mouth. My pussy turned wet and the tingling grew to a buzz.

Servants left the wall to pin the women to the bed. Two girls entered the room, swiftly moving from Shelia to Tracy, injecting each with a pale blue liquid.

My view abruptly jumped. For a split-second, the visor showed me a dozen hard cocks, close up and sliding into wet and waiting mouths. Trance music blazed and a deep and powerful hypnotic beat rattled me to my core. In rapid-fire succession, I witnessed cocks of all shapes and sizes, but all of them erect and throbbing, disappearing into vacuuming mouths dripping saliva.

The buzz in my pussy jumped to a vibration. I was soaked now.

The trance image was before my eyes for only an instant before replaced by Shelia sucking close-up and enthusiastically. I heard the women moaning. Now their bodies were in constant motion and I suspected whatever drug they'd been given, like me, was stimulating every nerve. Gabriel pushed down on their heads as they took him, first Tracy, then Shelia. The women welcomed the assault, gagging on their king's cock.

My mind was zapped again, this time for two or three seconds. I was ordered to suck cock in bright pink flashing letters and powerful pulsing music. It left me reeling. I suspected woven into the music were buried subliminal and neuro-linguistic commands I could not resist. I felt their tickle in my brain.

My empty pussy began to ache and a growing need to fill it followed close behind. When the screen jumped back to Shelia climbing onto top of her lover and aiming his erection at her cunt, I strained my eyes to see it all. When he pierced her, I moaned along with my wife. Shelia hugged herself tightly as her pussy began a slow descent, her clit rolling over each titanium stud in succession. She shook her head as if the pleasure was too much. Sweet Tracy dove between my wife's legs, licking from balls to clit and back, again and again.

Shelia looked down at her lover. "Give it to me, Gabriel. Fill my pussy. Let me try again. Let me give you that baby."

Explosions of pure heat went off in my brain. The first time I'd watched them fuck, I'd owned a penis. Now my understanding of my wife's experience was a thousand times more powerful. I knew how a big cock felt inside. I sobbed with want. As Shelia's pussy finally reached the base of his enormous cock, my visor flashed again.

This time the hypnotic music coupled with the rapid erotic images sent my cunt gushing. The Pharmacist, most likely still in the room and watching, cranked the volume and the intensity. I could not close my eyes; fearful I might miss something. I had to see it all. My brain was bombarded with hard cocks worshipped by hot girls, girls like me. Girls like Tracy and Shelia. Erect Cock became the center of the human universe. Women existed to drain them, men existed to sprout them. All of us had to worship the Phallus. Strapped down and unable to move, I opened my mouth wide. I opened my legs as far as I could. I rolled my hips, craving penetration.

The music invaded my psyche, probing my very construct of self. Doors were closed and sealed off, stamped with a dire warning to avoid at all costs. Other doors were thrown wide; hanging cocks were everywhere inside my brain. My mouth watered. My pussy yearned so badly she hurt.

The speed of the images increased. The assault on my mind intensified. I screamed with desire and a hard dick was stuffed in my mouth but I could not tell if it was real or imagined by my desperate mind. The barrage of scenes shifted and every cock I saw spewed white hot lava. Cum flew. Pretty mouths clamped shut around spraying cock heads. Throats swallowed again and again. Balls jumped and erections ejaculated slippery sperm by the bucket. I sucked hard on the cock in my mouth, real or imagined, and was rewarded quickly by a glut of hot sweet liquid. I gulped it down, sucking hard for more.

Rising through the bottom of my chair, a fat dick penetrated my pussy. I howled and clamped my tunnel hard around it. My mind whirled as the train of images rammed through it and then exploded when a second cock rose from my seat and penetrated my ass.

Spliced in, with diabolical timing, I repeatedly saw Shelia, lost in orgasm herself, crying out for Gabriel to cum inside her, clawing at her labia to spread them wide as he released his sperm deep.

I lost my mind. I lost myself. Awash in physical and mental pleasures too varied and powerful to grasp, I let go, I turned loose and gave up. The constant waves lifted me and, with the help of the drugs searing my veins, transformed my entire body into one writhing mass of orgasmic flesh. I screamed as a climax rocked me from every direction. Centered nowhere but present everywhere, I screamed again and again as I burned out my brain and the circuits of my body. I saw every cock spurting and spraying and I longed to capture them all. I collapsed in the chair and knew nothing for a long time.

Chapter 11

I awoke, or came-to, on a huge bed in a small room I'd never seen before. Decorated sparsely with a table and chair to go with the bed, I discovered Tracy and Shelia slept next to me, all of us naked. I moved carefully to leave the bed but found my legs too weak to hold me. My body ached, especially my abs and pelvis. I wondered how many orgasms the good doctor ripped from me.

I turned my attention to Shelia. Her pussy was bright pink and raw and swollen like she'd been stung by bees. Sperm flowed from her small opening. Tracy looked beat-up too, definite proof that Gabriel had fucked her as well, but no leakage. The man had saved all his semen for my wife. I crawled back into the spot between them and fell asleep.

When I awoke again it was to the sounds of two women whispering. They were awake and talking over me, doing a terrible job of keeping their voices low.

"Oh, good," Shelia said, kissing my shoulder. "Finally."

I let it go, leaning over to kiss her. "I saw you with Gabriel. I guess you got your wish."

"We'll see. Cameras in the room?"

"Yes."

"What happened to you?"

I told Shelia and Tracy because she was there about the dreams and phantom sensations, and the Pharmacist's solution for it. I tried to describe the sheer intensity of what I'd experienced but discovered words failed me. They listened wide-eyed and amazed but I felt like I did not do the event justice.

"Tell me about your night," I asked once I finished.

Tracy snuggled up to Shelia and they both smiled.

"Our night was fucking amazing," Shelia said. Tracy cupped my wife's breast and toyed with the nipple. "Tracy made some important discoveries about herself. Donald will have no idea what hit him when she gets home."

"I bet. Should we at least look for Oscar?"

"Oh, they know exactly where he is. He's to receive his punishment in an hour or so. Every time they try to talk to him he starts a fight, biting and spitting and kicking whoever comes close."

"Oh boy."

"Yeah. Exactly."

"I'm starving," Tracy said.

When I opened the door to our room I found a servant waiting outside. I told them we were hungry and needed clothing and they said the food they would bring but we were to remain naked. Neither woman cared and I didn't either.

Platters of deli-meats, fruit, and vegetables arrived and we gorged.

"You guys had me terrified of this place," Tracy said. "They treat us well."

"Yes," I admitted. "But this time is different. Either they dialed it back because the city was starting to hear things or they consider us special guests. I know Gabriel views Shelia in a special way. Maybe that covers me and you, too."

A gong sounded out in the hall and our door opened seconds later. Gabriel strode into our room wearing Roman-style greaves and sandals, bracers, leather gloves, and a torc which anchored a burgundy cape to his calves. He was naked from his torso down to his knees. His heavy cock swayed when he came to an abrupt stop. Tracy smiled coyly and rolled onto her back, slowly parting her knees. That girl was eager for more.

He smiled softly but held a hand out for Shelia, who took it and rose.

"Others will come for you soon," he told us.

Tracy and I watched them leave.

“Dang,” Tracy muttered.

I must admit I was stung. His assumption Shelia was unquestionable his to take, coupled with her easy and obvious confirmation by rising and following, had me feeling like an outsider. Men who share their wives are guaranteed an often awkward and uncomfortable life. I understand that. I took a deep breath and held it and then let it out slowly. Trust. She may have gone with him at a moment's notice, but I had to believe she was still mine.

While we waited for the servants to fetch us, I asked Tracy what happened between all of them after I passed out. She filled in every detail, ranting about Gabriel inside her and how good Shelia's pussy tastes. When Gabriel needed time to recover, the two girls went at each other, driven into a sexual frenzy by the drugs they'd been given. They'd pleasure each other until their passion stirred Gabriel back to life and then he'd have them both.

“He always came inside Shelia, though. Even after I asked for it. I was willing to give my married pussy to him, to forget my vows to Donald and take the seed of another man, but Gabriel wanted only Shelia. I figured out after a while they were trying to get pregnant. Are you okay with that? Raising Gabriel's baby?”

I nodded slowly. “I know it sounds crazy but I am. I love when Shelia fucks other men. I Love it. My surgery was paid for with Shelia's submission, but she welcomed it. Gabriel gets to her like no other man. Since it would be Gabriel's kid, we agreed. I knew I'd get hot and bothered every time I looked at that kid. He'd be a reminder of what we'd done, the taboo we'd shattered.”

I saw her chewing on all this.

I voiced a suspicion. “Have you been having sex with Oscar behind Donald's back?”

She looked at her hands. “Yes.”

“Why?”

“It's complicated.”

“No, not really. You're conflicted about the things you like and the things you think you should like.”

“Do you think less of me?”

“Not at all. I feel badly for you. Guilt must crush you every time.”

“It does!”

I put my arm around her shoulders.

“I want Donald and I to be more like you and Shelia,” she said.

An hour went by before servants came to get us. We were led out naked and while Tracy cringed a bit, I walked proudly. They led us to a large stone chamber like the throne room.

Shelia stood next to Gabriel at the top of steps, a small black remote in her hands, while he sat in a heavy wooden chair like a king. People ringed the room, most naked because of the heat, and stared at a prisoner hanging at the end of a rope with his back to us. I looked again.

It was Oscar.

His arms and legs were tied just like the Vitruvian Man with a muscular black guard at each end. The rope leading to the ceiling was taut around his neck. A black ball-gag filled his mouth, buckled around his head. He stood on a platform which, as I was watching, clicked loudly and dropped half an inch. Oscar let loose a strangled cry. They were hanging him slowly. He must have done some bad shit. He pulled on the four ropes holding him but those men outweighed him by a lot.

As Tracy and I rounded the room, approaching Shelia and Gabriel, I saw the front view of Oscar. He was so erect it looked painful. I’ve heard that strangled men grow spontaneously erections but in this case I suspected he’d additionally been drugged for our amusement. His cock is big but now it was swollen to diamond hardness and bright red.

A pretty blonde girl carrying a box approached Oscar. She sat the box at his feet and pulled from it a device shaped like a penis and testicles, but hollow on the inside. She reached for his genitalia and Oscar tried to turn away but the four men held him in place and too much struggle tightened the noose around his neck, restricting his air. He was forced to remain still.

He watched in horror as the slim girl slipped the contraption like a sleeve down his erection and up under his balls. She walked behind him and uncurled a smooth metal hook which ended in a large ball. She leaned over to wet the ball with her tongue and then concentrated a moment while she shoved the fat ball up his ass. He grunted. She returned to the box and withdrew a pump which she attached to the sleeve. A few cranks of a lever removed all the air around his dick and sealed the apparatus tightly against his skin. His penis was enveloped from tip to sphincter. Before she left, she removed the gag and kissed his cheek.

“Let me go you fucking psychopaths! This is bullshit!” he yelled.

Shelia pressed a button on the remote and fifty-thousand volts lit Oscar up from the slit of his cock down and under to inside his rectum. He howled like he'd been stabbed. She pressed the button again and Oscar sagged in his ropes.

"I will fucking kill you," he panted.

Shelia zapped him again, this time adding the twist of a small dial. The apparatus encasing his genitals vibrated with bone-jarring intensity. Oscar gasped and would have fallen if not for the rope around his throat.

The platform clicked another half inch lower. His eyes got big, but he said nothing. From the crowd watching, a man, around fifty with a head of pure-white hair, left the group to stand before Oscar. He wore a towel around his waist which he removed, revealing a shaved but average penis. He aimed his penis at Oscar's face.

"No," Oscar moaned. "No way."

Electricity seared his balls for two full seconds. Oscar was left panting and sweating.

Overhead a series of clicks introduced a loosening of the rope around his neck. Oscar sucked a lungful of air.

Everyone waited. There was nothing more to say. The less convincing Shelia and Gabriel tried to do, the more it seemed like Oscar's idea. The old man waited and after several moments, Oscar bent at the waist and opened his mouth. He closed it around fifty-year-old dick.

The older gentleman grew quickly and soon Oscar sucked an erection. From the crowd, other men of all ages came to join the old-timer. The gentleman held Oscar's head steady and fucked his mouth and before too long groaned that he was about to cum. Oscar spit him out. Shelia zapped Oscar's cock. Oscar quickly reached his mouth for the cock waving in air and engulfed it almost to the base. The old man restarted his climax, soon filling Oscar's mouth with cum. By now, Oscar knew not to spit that out too. He fought his disgust and gag-reflex and swallowed the musty, salty load. The old man gathered his towel and left the room.

The next man stepped up.

I felt queasy. I did a quick head-count and based on just the men that waited their turn, Oscar would drink twenty-seven loads of cum. The new man was mid-twenties and fit. His dick was pretty big and he'd been playing with it while he waited so he was already hard.

I noticed Sheila pushed a button, which surprised me because Oscar had done nothing wrong, and Oscar moaned. I heard a thrumming vibration from the device on his penis. I heard him gasp.

There are two ways to train a human; pain when they get it wrong or pleasure when they get it right. Pleasure when they get it right is far more effective and I suddenly grasped the fiendish nature of this scene. They weren't punishing Oscar; they were training him. In the last few minutes his face had gone slack and his blinking slowed. They'd drugged him just before I'd arrived. The drugs were kicking in now and that, combined with the waves of pleasure Shelia was sending up his cock, had drained his anger and turned him docile. Soon, I was sure, it would turn him horny. He eagerly opened his mouth and sucked the young cock offered. More men crowded around. They were teaching him through association that pleasuring others resulted in pleasure of his own. After the young man ejaculated, Oscar quickly replaced that penis with another.

Shelia used that remote to make Oscar do exactly what she wanted. Within minutes she had him worshipping stiff dick, taking on two and three at a time. He swallowed everything, thrilled to please his new friends. Moments later Shelia turned a dial and Oscar was given his first of many orgasms. She timed it perfectly with a cock spurting in his mouth, reinforcing the connection between pleasing others and pleasing himself.

The device which had him provided deep anal vibration and heat, massaging and stimulating his prostate, while at the same time arousing the sensitive skin of his shaft and head and pulling with a constant vacuum on the semen trapped in his balls.

Oscar had no chance.

The drug cocktail had traveled to his extremities and he was constantly on the edge of climax. Shelia mercilessly timed his every release with a superb oral display. Soon Oscar loved sucking cock. He whimpered for the next each time he finished one. If not for that metal ball in his ass, I know he would have happily accepted dick at both ends.

Tracy looked enthralled. I tried to imagine what the man meant to her; he'd been forcing himself on her for weeks, which she hated and craved, but now saw the tables turned. Her eyes were wild at Oscar's humiliation. I must admit the sight of all those cocks in-waiting got to me. I was glad I wasn't Oscar, but part of me wanted to join him for just a minute or two.

I felt my penis twitch and start to rise.

I froze.

Slowly, I slipped my hand between my legs, discovering only pussy.

Fuck.

My hypno-treatment was less than perfect.

I told Tracy I needed to stretch my legs and I'd be back after a quick walk. She absentmindedly gave me a nod, her full attention on Oscar's display. As I left the room I heard Oscar cumming again.

I wandered for a while and discovered stairs down another flight. How deep were we? I chose doors and direction at random, trying to get lost. I thought I'd succeeded until I walked down a hallway and pushed aside a curtain and stepped into a room with a raised stone block in the center. The block had manacles attached at each corner. All around the room were small viewing slits so people on the outside could watch what happened in here without being in danger themselves.

I remembered this room well.

On my first visit they'd given us a drug to set our libido racing and then a pretty blonde woman, Karen, David's wife, chained to the block for us to feast upon. The catch? The drugs they'd given us also prevented climax. The more sex we had, the more sex we wanted, an orgasm always just out of reach. It was maddening.

Once they had us frothing mad they removed Karen and waited. The small windows opened as more came to watch. We men fell on each other in our rampant pursuit of release. We fucked and sucked and fought, the strong dominating the weak, trying desperately to cum. The worst and most devilish aspect of that goddamn drug was the sensation one was about to orgasm any second and with just a little more stimulation you'd get there. Chasing it drove us mad. I and all my drugged companions were on the edge for an hour, probably longer.

I patted the large stone block, noting the stains covering the surface. That had been my first ever same-sex experience. If I was honest, that had been the true beginning of my transformation. I found the submission so powerfully erotic. I vacillated between dominant and submissive for a few months' after but when it came time to choose, submissive simply felt more correct.

I rubbed my smooth pussy. Remembering the ferocity of that day, how hard all those cocks were, how urgent our sexual need, turned me on. I ran my hand up under my firm tit and pinched a nipple. Karen had taken us all.

I climbed up onto the cool stone. I spread my legs. I closed my eyes. We'd fallen on her like a pack of wolves. She'd been drugged too but her batch made orgasm easier and more powerful. She went after us as eagerly as we went after her. All of us were trapped in a sexual frenzy.

I ran my palm over my erect nipple and sent a tingle racing to my clit. I rubbed my labia with my fingertips. The hypnotic trance the Pharmacist had induced earlier left behind residual tension. I wanted to cum. I slipped my fingers lower and pushed a digit up my cunt. I was Karen. A cock had just entered me. I moaned and fucked myself, imagining how I must look from above. The doctor does amazing work. I knew I was hot.

Real hands gripped my ankles and spread my legs. My eyes flashed open. Three men, unknown to me, had entered the room while my eyes were closed. All they saw was a hoy and sexy bitch masturbating in the open. I opened my mouth to protest and the man between my legs buried his tongue in my wet pussy. I choked on my words.

"She wants it," the youngest one said. He was college-aged, with sandy blonde hair and rosy cheeks. He unzipped his pants and he approached my face.

The third man, older, thinning brown hair and intelligent eyes, said: "Guys, technically we're employees of this crazy place. You should think twice about this."

The tongue in my pussy was magical. I closed my eyes and savored the wriggling wet worm licking my insides. Something soft and warm bumped my mouth and I opened my eyes to see Sandy Blonde aiming his nice fat cock at me. I grabbed it and stuffed it in my mouth.

"Hell yeah," he said. "She's into it."

Magical Tongue found my clit at the same time his index finger found my asshole. I grunted as he shoved three-knuckles deep and added finger-fucking to his list of talents.

Sandy held my face and pushed his dick to the back of my throat. I sucked hard and felt his balls brush my face. Lust was rising in all of us.

"She's fucking gorgeous," Sandy said. "Look at that face. Look at her body! Christ, what's she even doing down here?"

"Who cares," Magical replied. "Let's fuck the bitch."

Yes, let's.

I opened my legs wider and pulled my knees back to my tits. I lost Magical's tongue for the time it took him to strip and then boom, he was deep inside me again, tickling my vagina.

Sandy climbed onto the block with me and held himself over my face. He began to fuck my mouth as I gently guided his hips up and down. Magical stopped licking and I felt movement and then a fat cock head spilt my labia and pushed deep. I groaned around the cock in my mouth. Both these guys were hung and I wondered if they'd been hired for some show elsewhere in the complex.

"Bring her down to the floor," Intelligent Eyes said. "Barry, lay on your back."

They stood and lifted me. I was on my feet only a moment and noticed all three were naked now and Eyes had a big cock too. Barry lay down on his back and held his erection straight up. My pussy was tender from the trance experience but I didn't hesitate. I stepped over Barry and lowered my pussy to his dick. He slid inside smoothly, stretching me open and filling me. I started rising and falling on his cock.

The two men came around to my mouth. I sucked each, savoring their leaking cum and turgid meat. Sandy stayed with my mouth but Eyes moved around behind me. I admit I was nervous. I was also horny as fuck.

I slipped Sandy's cock from my mouth long enough to tell them all to fuck me.

"That's right we will," Sandy said. He knelt and pulled my face down to his dick, forcing my ass to rise a little. Eyes placed his wet dick at my asshole and pushed. I tensed up and Barry felt it. He told me to relax and take them all.

"You want cock in every hole?"

"God, yes." I went back to sucking Sandy, allowing the cock in my mouth to distract me. Eyes pushed again and I opened my ass to him. I felt him slide deep, separated from Barry by only a thin wall. His cock throbbed and I felt it. I felt his heartbeat in my ass.

"Unnngh! God!"

Barry and Eyes pushed all the way in and held their meat buried. My eyes watered. I've never felt so full, so stuffed with dick. This was no vibrator or dildo. I had two men inside my body! I opened my mouth and Sandy pushed his cock home. I was stuffed with dick I every hole. I felt the life in them, the vibration urgency.

They all fumbled for a bit, trying to find a natural rhythm, and after a few attempts they hit it. I was pinned from each end and below, a ragdoll sandwiched between horny men. I closed my eyes and savored the sensation. Three cocks moved in and out of my body simultaneously. It was incredible, intense.

When I felt the first tingling of an orgasm, surprisingly, it came from the cock in my ass. He pulled my skin tight and that forced my clit directly against Barry's sliding dick. The cock in my ass probed deep, stimulating my tunnel all the way up. They were all swelling and growing harder and I knew they'd cum soon so I pulled the dick from my mouth and told them to fuck me harder.

"I'm almost there," I said. "Fuck me, boys."

They came after me. Each man balanced himself and began pounding my holes. The sensations were excruciating. I was racing towards climax and it was going to wreck me. My sphincter clamped down on Eyes hard enough I heard him cough.

"God damn! Her ass has a vice grip on me!"

My body rocked as all three fucked me hard, using me to satiate their need to cum. I loved it. My sphincter clenched around his dick and the first explosion shook me. Pleasure radiated out from my ass. My tingling clit got caught in the wave and crashed over the edge. My pussy clamped around the next cock and my hips began shaking as both combined into an orgasmic detonation. I wanted to scream but I had a plump cock wedged in my throat, forcing my jaw open. My eyes watered. Spit drool down my chin. Another explosion blasted my body and I jerked wildly, pinned between them all.

Sandy's cock swelled. He was going to spray his hot young cum straight down my throat. I struggled for air but he just pounded away with the thoughtfulness of young, gripping my head and slamming his meat deep. Barry and Eyes were thrashing my holes with long iron rods until Barry went stiff from head to toe and arched his back. His cock inside my pussy seemed to double in size and then he was grunting and gurgling and flailing around under me. Eyes was right behind him. His stiff rod grew and he rammed it far up my ass and spewed hot jizz all over my inner walls, growling in my ear. I was lost in euphoria, filled with cock, draining balls of every drop, and I was ecstatic. I could not be happier.

We collapsed in a pile of arms and legs and sweaty skin. Someone's mouth found my nipple. Every man left his slowly wilting cock inside me. As our breathing slowly returned to normal, Barry slipped from me first and then Sandy, who staggered back to lean against the stone block. Eyes left his deflated cock up my ass until my natural tightness forced him out. I had hot cum everywhere. I tasted it. I smelt it. I felt it running down my thighs and leaking from my ass.

I rolled onto my back. One of them said something but I couldn't make out and didn't care enough to ask them to repeat it. I gave a casual wave in their general direction and lay with my eyes closed, enjoying the dizzy spin of the room and the tingling euphoria which still permeated my flesh. I felt weightless. I heard them dressing. Soon they stood over me.

Eyes spoke: "You are the hottest, sexiest, most gorgeous girl I've ever fucked. I'll never forget this."

His friends murmured agreement. I smiled but left my eyes closed. I heard them leave. I decided to lay there on the cool stone for a long time. Eventually, I knew I had to find Shelia and Tracy and head for home.

Chapter 12

I was discovered by guards and returned to the punishment room. Oscar was a mess. His hairy body was matted with sweat. His eyes were big and vacant. Most of the audience had departed and his ropes had been removed. He knelt on the floor now, his head in an old man's lap, sucking and licking a wrinkled old erection. The old man was in no hurry to orgasm and possibly had no plans to. He was just enjoying Slave Oscar and his oral attention. Tracy and Shelia sat on the steps talking. Gabriel was gone.

I crossed the room to them and both looked me up and down. I'm sure I looked like a hot mess. Tracy smiled, but Shelia gave me a look like she wanted to devour me.

"You're sexy as fuck," she said as I drew near.

"Thanks, Baby, so are you."

"Looks like you had some fun without me."

“Don’t be jealous,” I teased. “So did you.”

We kissed and she licked her lips after, tasting cum. I faced Oscar. “He looks like his data chip has been deleted.”

“Pretty much.” She held up the remote. “I think I made him cum seventeen times. What man can handle that? Gabriel assures me Oscar’s been broken.”

“I wonder.”

My wife gave me a funny look. I held out my hand.

“May I?”

She handed me the remote, explaining each button and dial as I examined the infernal device. I pressed the red button at the top and across the room Oscar groaned and sank to the floor like someone had kicked him in the nuts.

“He has nothing left, I promise you,” Tracy volunteered.

I shrugged and slowly turned the dial. Oscar moaned and curled into a fetal position. I kept going. His body started shaking and his head curled back. The old man grinned like a lecher, bobbing his wrinkled head in encouragement and snickering. I pushed a button for vibration and one to activate the metal ball up Oscar’s rectum and that brought him up to his knees. He crawled between the old man’s legs and started sucking dick, using every ounce of concentration and determination he had.

“See?” Shelia asked. “Total association. We’ve branded his mind with the connection between receiving pleasure and giving pleasure. I doubt he’ll be able to achieve orgasm again after this without a cock or pussy in his mouth. The Pharmacist is the devil.”

I turned the dial and pressed another button and Oscar groaned loudly, climaxing into the evil device which held him prisoner. The old man gave me a thumbs-up and held Oscar’s head down. I presumed he was cumming and Oscar was swallowing.

I dialed everything back but left it on. “What now?” I asked the girls.

“Shelia and I have a plan,” Tracy said. “We call the office and blame flight delays to stay one more day. We go back to our hotel, taking Oscar with us, shower, eat, sleep, rest...all the things we’ve neglected for the last thirty-six hours. Fly home tomorrow night and take each day as they come.”

I grinned. “Sounds good.”

A guard appeared at the door and walked to Shelia. "If you will all follow me, please, including him." He pointed at Oscar.

He took us to the laboratory I remembered all too well. I broke into a sweat looking around at the machines and devices the doctor used to bring his twisted imagination to life. So much was done to me in this room. My legs went weak and I found a chair to sit.

The Pharmacist entered in a hurry and walked to a drawer. He rummaged for a moment and then stood before us. In his hands, he held a stainless-steel cock-cage with a heavy locking ring, but no key hole. A small opening in the tip allowed for urination. Once this contraption was in place, it could not be removed. He handed the cage to Tracy.

"I believe you suffered most at his hands?"

Oscar's eyebrow climbed up his forehead, drugs or not he knew that cage was for him and some dim part of his brain panicked. The doctor motioned for Oscar to take a seat in the dentist's chair and then talked calmly while he strapped Oscar down. He then crossed the lab and returned with a syringe full of green fluid. Shelia and I exchanged alarmed glances. He removed the device from Oscar's genitalia and lifted the man's bright pink scrotum. He jammed the needle into the perineum and Oscar cried out. The plunger sank and the green fluid disappeared. The doctor removed the needle and retrieved the cage, carefully maneuvering it around the base of Oscar's cock and balls. We heard the repeated clicks like handcuffs as he snugly attached the device.

"You may have noticed," he said. "This cage has no keyhole. The gentleman will wear it as his penis and testicles begin to shrink. Approximately a year from now the cage will fall off as his genitals will no longer be large enough to keep it on. By then he should be utterly and irrevocably docile. Never again will he bother any of you."

All three of us were grinning.

The doctor lowered his voice. "One final note regarding him."

We all leaned in.

He pointed at me. "I've given him a post-hypnotic trigger word similar to the one I gave you."

I leaned way back. "You gave me a what?"

"A trigger word."

I looked at him like I thought he was crazy.

“I noticed on your EEG you still had residual male identify, stronger than I could educate out of you, so instead I inserted a post-hypnotic trance keyword.”

He opened a drawer and handed me a perfect replica latex cock. The device was shaped like the letter L. The smaller arm was contoured and ridged with thin metal strips running the length. The longer end one of the prettiest cocks I’d ever seen.

“This is a prototype. Insert the short arm into your vagina and press this button.” He indicated a small red bump on the side. “This pseudo-cock will emit a low electrical charge which causes your vaginal muscles to contract and grip it, leaving you free to fuck with the longer part. Neuro-sensors will transmit sensation so you will feel like you have a penis again. I’ll continue work on this as I see huge economic potential. When I’ve perfected it, I’ll send you another.”

“That’s generous,” I said.

“I may be getting soft in my old age.”

“You implanted a keyword in my brain to temporarily turn me male again?”

“Yes. Your keyword is; I love my cock.”

“What’s Oscar’s?” Tracy asked.

We all turned to look at the helpless man.

“You’re a dirty whore,” the Pharmacist said.

Oscar seemed confused for a second and then opened his mouth, ready for dick. We all shared a grin. Payback was a bitch.

Chapter 13

Days later I was in the kitchen when Shelia got home from work. She dropped her keys in the bowl and her purse on the counter.

“You ready to try it?”

I gave her a quick nod.

All three of us talked about my new penis on the flight home. Oscar slept. I wasn’t sure how I felt about it but I believed the doctor was right; I loved submission. I loved cock and pussy and sex. I loved women. I loved Shelia. I did not love men.

Shelia and I tried the techno-cock our first night home. As instructed, I inserted the smaller end into my pussy and pressed the button. I announced I love my cock and a strange sensation swept over me. I felt dizzy and horny and for a few minutes like someone else shared my brain. I settled into an aggressive persona and threw Shelia on the bed. The long part of the device looked perfectly real and much larger than the one I had before. By dimming the lights, Shelia said she could not see a difference. She sure felt one though. I brought her to orgasm easily. I don't know how often we'll use it but I like knowing I have it.

Tracy confronted Donald when she got home and said their sex life needed to change. She told him she has a wild imagination and they needed to explore some of her ideas. Poor Donald; he'll love it but he has no idea what's headed his way.

At work, Oscar is a sweet kitty; thoughtful and considerate and respectful. No one is sure yet how to handle him, and the other employees want to know what Tracy and Shelia did to get him under control.

Chapter 14

I lit the last candle and climbed onto the bed. I propped my back against some pillows and the headboard and spread my legs across the bed. When Shelia exited the bathroom, she'd find herself staring at my waiting pussy.

The door opened. My wife stood draped in a light robe, untied and opened down the front. Her gorgeous body thrilled me but my eyes quickly fell to the prize; a fat ten-inch cock curving up from her hips.

In the months after our return to Las Vegas, we'd both discovered the joy of the Pharmacist's invention. Shelia loved wearing it, feeling her vagina stuffed and gripping, feeling the power of a big cock between her legs. I was her willing victim. Tracy had joined us once and Shelia was like a frat boy, tossing us around the bedroom and fucking all out holes.

She left the doorway and crawled onto the bed. I guided her face to mine and we kissed as the head of her cock nudged my hole. We both gasped.

“I fucking love this thing,” she exhaled, rubbing the tip around and sliding it into me. I had to agree. She started fucking me. I gazed into her eyes.

“Maybe that Hell House has rubbed off on me a little,” I said. “But I feel like dragging Donald down to our level. For Tracy’s sake. We should hatch a plot to convert him to the dark side.”

Shelia smiled. She bent my legs back and spread them, watching the shaft pump my hole. We would both cum fast tonight. I felt it in the air.

“I’ll be the bait,” she said. “You’ve seen the way he looks at me? I’ll talk to Tracy and let her know we’ll help move Donald along. She’ll jump at the chance. I know she misses the wild side.”

She leaned over me to kiss and pushed her cock all the way in. The beginnings of an orgasm tingled my clit.

Visit my blog; MyEroticBunny.tumblr.com

Join My Mailing List and get a FREE Cuckold/Hotwife Story!

<http://eepurl.com/cTvA7P>