

The background of the cover is a collage of several faces. The most prominent is a woman with long, dark hair and striking green eyes, looking directly at the viewer. To her left, there's a partial view of a blonde woman's face. Below her, another woman's face is partially visible. In the bottom right corner, a close-up of a blue eye is shown. The overall color palette is dominated by purples, blues, and greens, with a soft, ethereal glow.

Shared Secrets

A Collection of Hotwife
Tales; Volume Four

Matthew Lee

Shared Secrets

A Collection of Hotwife Tales

Volume Four

By Matthew Lee

I watched Cat depart and wondered if she were still enjoying Dale. I looked around the bar. People sat at every table and my professional experience taught me behind all those smiling faces churned a whirling vortex of desires.

Simone still replied to a text she'd received. She'd been sharing with me a case another therapist had shared with her. Not entirely ethical but we are only human. Sometimes the complexities of a case require outside advice. Simone finished her text message and returned to her story and I listened closely, fascinated...

I Spy With My Little Eye

"That's disgusting," Joanie said. "Ew." She grabbed a box of Raisin Bran and dropped it into our cart. "Why do you want to go? That place sounds dirty. No way would I touch anything."

Blah blah blah. Jo was sometimes a bigger prude than her mother. Vegas has a world-famous sex club called The Green Door, no doubt named after the movie, and I've been interested in what goes on inside. Sometimes the place is dead but sometimes the huge parking lot is packed.

"I want to see what goes on in there," I said. "Aren't you even a little curious? We've driven by the place twice a day for years. Who goes in? What do they do once inside? Do people really have sex out in the open for everyone to see?"

"Again, ew."

"Jesus, Jo."

I was disappointed and let her see it. First, she shot down my suggestion we hit a hot Vegas nightclub. Then she shot down my idea we get a little drunk and visit the hot tubs. Then she shot down my idea for visiting an "Eye Wide Shut" party I heard about. She worried constantly what other people might think of her. She let that fear dictate almost every choice she makes. I'm not saying I want to fuck her on the fifty-yard line during the Super Bowl, but how much vanilla sex can we have? Can we play just a little, please? She won't even dress sexy, and she's got a great figure.

We're too old, she'd say. No one wants to see my body anymore. Leave the sex stuff to the twenty-somethings.

No. Joanie looked great. We'd always been an active couple and now, even in our forties, she turned heads. She dresses like a Sunday school teacher, which she is, but even that can't hide her curves.

"What if we see someone we know?" she asked. "Can you imagine the shame?"

"There would be zero shame because if they see us, then we're seeing them. They can't say shit if they're at the club too, right? Think about it."

She put a hand on her hip, signaling the effective end of our conversation. I jammed my hands in my pockets.

"Don't sulk, Eric" she said.

"Why not? It's the one thing I still have control over."

She looked like she wanted to laugh but knew she'd better not. She studied my face for a minute.

"Fine," she said. "If you're serious about just having a look around, we'll go, but I'm not talking to anyone or touching anything."

"That's okay. I just want to see behind the curtain."

"Door."

I chuckled. "Yes, I want to see what's behind the green door."

Joanie sighed. "Hand me the Grape Nuts," she said.

Even after agreeing, it took me weeks of prodding to finally get her in the car. She wore a boring black dress to her knees and simple black pumps. No cleavage, no legs. Her dress was so dark her big tits disappeared. I kept my mouth shut. At least she'd agreed to go.

I picked a Saturday night on a holiday weekend. A porn convention was in town too but I doubted that would affect us. Those people move in their own circles. The Vegas population swells every weekend but thrown in a holiday and a convention and my town was packed.

Jo insisted we park on the far side of the lot and walk to the door. The whole way she kept scanning all around, fearful we'd see someone we knew. We didn't. A couple of hookers sat by the front door and for a second Jo thought she'd change her mind about going in but she drew a deep breath and I opened the door. We paid the admission fee and they stamped the back of our hands and warned us against recording devices of any kind. A man as big as a grizzly bear opened the inner door for us.

We followed a long black hallway which opened into a billiards room, three tables even spaced and surrounded by racks of cues, baby powder, a jukebox, shadowy booths along one wall, and a stripper pole in the corner. Stained glass Tiffany lamps hung over each table. They kept the room dark which I would learn was consistent throughout the club. They'd checked IDs at the front door so I knew the girl working the pole had to be eighteen, but you'd never know that by looking at her. Joanie saw this hot young thing in a bikini spreading her legs and moving her body and looked away appalled. She checked to see if I was looking but I'd already wisely turned my head. I knew she'd check on me.

A bar ran along the far wall so I told Jo I'd grab us drinks.

"A double," she said. "Anything strong."

That had been my plan anyway so I took her words to mean I could kick it up a notch. I went straight Jack Daniels, a triple. Jo gulped hers without looking, appeared ready to vomit, stared at the tumbler, stared at me, and jammed her glass at my face.

"Another."

I hurried to the bar again. Jo relaxed would make this night much more pleasant. I ordered four drinks this time and Jo gulped the first again and then settled in to sip her third. We picked a high table against the wall and sat. Not much was going on in this room but Jo seemed reluctant to leave. I gave her a few minutes for the alcohol to hit. Two fat guys started a game of pool.

"Let's explore," I said.

"A few more minutes," she replied.

I discovered in a huge mirror over the jukebox I could see the pretty young thing working the pole, so I sat patiently and waited for my wife, enjoying the sights in the meantime. The PYT untied her top and her gorgeous young tits burst forth. I played it cool, using the mirror to maximum effect.

"All right," she said, finally. There were several ways out of this room so I picked the hallway in the corner and followed it. After a short time, we passed a glass door. Beyond, a huge jacuzzi filled the tiled room with steam. A dozen people of all shapes, sizes, and colors sat around the edge, naked, sipping drinks and taking like they were at the dog park. Everyone was so casual and comfortable.

The hallway grew dark again as we left the jacuzzi room behind. Soon we were feeling our way forward. The light grew around us and we stood before a huge glass wall which looked into a large room with a padded floor. Naked bodies writhed all over each other in a giant, well-lubricated orgy. Joanie stopped dead in her tracks, staring. I moved behind her, shuffling closer until our bodies touched.

"That's decadent," my wife murmured.

She was right. Hard, curving penises appeared and disappeared, slipping into mouths or pussies or assholes. It was hard to tell where one body ended and the next began. The men fucked anything, any hole their cocks found. The sight stunned me. I couldn't even call it homosexual because no guy knew where his cock was going. Tiny electric candles flickered in that room, casting an orange glow on the shiny bodies. Everyone fucked each other and everyone sucked anything that got close to their mouth. They all moved slowly, as if sedated, like a big basket of sea slugs. Mixed in were two black guys and their bodies really stood out. My balls tightened and turned hot. I knew Jo was feeling the booze because we stood a long time before she wanted to leave.

The hallway hit a T-intersection; left, right, or continue straight ahead. I said nothing, allowing Jo to move at her own pace and in her own direction. I was just happy she was there. She turned right. We entered a section of smaller rooms with one way glass. Those of us outside could see in but those in the room just saw a mirror. I guess this arrangement allowed the shy to have fun and never know if they were being watched or not, while still giving the voyeurs something to see.

"Want to go inside?" I asked, testing the waters.

She looked at me funny, wondering if I was serious, then seemed to actually consider the idea. The whiskey was having an effect. I found it encouraging I didn't get a flat "No." Jo was loosening up. She wasn't against sex, she just had strict rules. After a minute, she shook her head. We did a slow U-turn out of that section, glancing through each window and watching the action, if any.

The next area was an open seating lounge. Heavy fat chairs lined the walls with people draped all over them. A few guys got blowjobs and a few ladies got eaten. Joanie blushed when she saw her first cunnilinguist working. She stared at some man eating pussy then realized she was staring and abruptly looked away.

I chuckled. "You like that one, I think."

She finished off her drink and sat the tumbler on a small shelf. She said nothing but I knew. I asked if she wanted to sit for a while.

"No," she said. "Let's keep exploring."

Her response pleased me. Without all the alcohol, she'd be headed for the door right now.

Our next section was a large room with a vaulted ceiling. Everything was painted jet black. Four walls stood in the middle, shaped like a square. The walls were too high to see over. Holes big enough for my hand had been drilled about waist high and I admit I had no idea what I was looking at. We both stared, slightly buzzed, perplexed.

We walked a slow circle around the standing walls. On the far side we found a door, which I opened. We stuck our heads inside the room, discovering there was no roof. Several small padded stools rested on the floor.

"Ooooh," I said. "I think I get it; a woman sits in here waiting for a man."

Joanie stared at me blankly.

"He puts his thing through the hole from the outside."

Stare.

"The woman sucks it."

Now my wife was really confused.

"That can't be right," she said. "There's a million places in this club where she can suck it. Why not just go to one of those rooms back there?"

"I think the thrill is in not knowing whose dick it is."

She furrowed her brow. "So you're saying the woman sits there and a man, someone she doesn't know, sticks his penis through and hopes she'll suck it? Men will just stick their dicks through a hole in the wall?"

"Yes, we will." I waited for her disgust and indignation. Instead, she smirked. Thank you, Mister Jack Daniels. She checked if the door locked from the inside.

"Go to the other side," she said with a mischievous grin.

"Seriously?"

She acted coy, biting her lip. Yup, the whiskey was definitely working.

"I'm not saying I will, but I might."

Good enough for me. It was silly but it was sexy and fun, and Jo and I could use more of both. I kissed her as she stepped into the room. She tested the lock.

"Hurry before I chicken out," she said, closing the door.

I heard the lock turn but the door opened when she tried it. I reached to help but she smacked my hand.

"I got this," she said. "Hurry up."

She closed the door again. I heard her trying several times and then a loud clunk when the bolt slid home. I waited a heartbeat to see if she was finished and then walked around the room to the other side, amazed she was trying this.

I turned the first corner and then rounded the second. A man wearing a tan corduroy blazer stood with his body pressed against the wall, pants around his knees. I shook my head and chuckled, amused by his mistake.

"She won't do it," I said, "She's my wife. Sorry for the confusion."

He opened his mouth to speak and then his eyes went big. He pressed his hips more firmly to the black plywood. His mouth closed and opened and closed.

"She's doing it," he exhaled. "Damn."

My pleasant smile faded. "Pardon?"

He leaned a few inches away from the wall, exposing his cock to me. Joanie's lips were halfway down his shaft. My head fell forward, my mouth dropped open.

My wife's lips were halfway down his cock.

His cock was in Joanie's mouth.

My wife was sucking his dick.

My brain tried a dozen different ways to grasp the fact but I still wasn't getting it. I couldn't comprehend what my eyes told me. Joanie opened wide to gulp some air and a loud slurp shocked me. Her lips closed in a ring around his fleshy tube again.

I squatted to look through a nearby hole. This large room was dimly lit and inside Joanie's room it was even darker, but enough light came through around his cock.

Joanie was sucking dick.

He'd grown erect and she'd added a hand to his shaft. She stroked and sucked, thinking it was me, confused from the drink and the dark, trying to make me cum, just like she always did. I was mesmerized. I just stared. I'd never imagined such a sight and I was rocked to my foundation. She worked him hard and fast because that's what I liked. I guessed the man had not cum in a long time because before I could put my brain back in gear and actually do something to stop this, he coughed and grunted and pressed his body to the wall. I heard several loud slurps and Joanie gag. She slurped his cock again and then moaned as she thought she was drinking my jizz. He was shooting and she was swallowing! He leaned back to watch her take his load and I saw her lips were sealed tight just behind the head. Her hand stroked his sperm out. Her painted nails scratched his hanging, hairy balls.

Holy shit!

He emptied his nuts down her throat and then, looking guilty, whipped his cock free and hurried away. I heard Jo clear her throat, practically gargling the slick load he'd fed her. In two steps, I was at the hole he'd just vacated.

"Meet you at the door," I said.

"Okay," she giggled.

I got there first and listened as she fumbled with the lock. The door opened and she rose on her toes to kiss me, slipping her warm tongue in my mouth. I tasted whiskey and slippery salty milk.

"That was fun," she said, moving under my arm and leaning against my chest. "I hope you don't think less of me. It's your fault for getting me drunk."

My mind raced. Do I tell her? She'd be furious. She'd never, ever, come out on a trip like this with me again. Anywhere.

"Not at all," I said. "That was fun. I got so excited."

"I noticed," she said. "I struggled to take you. Your penis swelled up so much bigger and harder."

Ouch.

"And Good Lord did you cum a lot," she added. "I had to swallow fast just to keep up."

She had no idea what she was really describing. My hands trembled. My legs felt weak.

"It's been a while since my last orgasm," I muttered. "Busy with work."

"I'm ready for another drink," she said. "I need to wash you out of my mouth. That was a quart of tangy peach tea."

It wasn't me! She was savoring the flavor of a man dressed in corduroy! Every word she spoke gave me a little jolt of excitement. She'd fucking kill me if I told her the truth but something about my prudish wife sucking off a stranger flipped my switch. It was hot! I needed a moment to compose myself so I suggested she wait here while I ran back to the bar for more drinks.

"Not here," she said. "I'll wander. Come find me."

We kissed and I tasted another man in her mouth again.

I retraced our steps, stopping at the orgy room again. There was a couple of studs in there now, arranging a handful of women on all fours, lifting asses high. The studs moved around behind them and I saw how big their erections were. Men and women sat around the walls and by the glances exchanged I realized the women on all fours were married to some of the men seated and watching. The first stud picked a girl and moved up behind her, sliding his fat cock deep into her pussy. A chubby voyeur husband started jacking off. It was his wife getting fucked.

This place was crazy. I watched another minute and noticed one of the studs looked familiar. I kept staring and then I had it; I'd seen him in a few porn clips online. I didn't remember his name, Jean something, but I remembered his face and body. His cock was a throbbing battering ram mercilessly pounding Chubby's wife. I watched until she came, which happened fast. Chubby spurted all over his own knuckles. Pornstar Jean's big cock had ripped an orgasm from his wife and the humiliation got him off. Jean pulled out and moved on to the next married woman. That's a nice life.

I bought Jo and myself two drinks each and hurried back, weaving through the crowded rooms. I found her sitting alone in a small theater. A movie played on a silvered wall and I almost choked when I saw Jean's face up there. Either he was an invited guest tonight or staff had recognized him and run his movies in tribute. I waited until Joanie took her first sips and then casually asked what she thought of the man. She watched the film for several minutes.

"He's a hunk," she said. "Handsome, great body. He could be a model."

I saw her staring at his large penis but she said nothing about it. I pointed at his on-screen cock. I was about to tell her he was on the premises but my jaw locked. Did I really want her to know that? Why mention it? My finger floated in mid-air a moment and I knew I needed a better idea. I aimed my finger at her drink and asked how it was.

"Delicious," she said.

"Want to walk around some more?" I asked.

"Sure."

We swallowed the last of our first drink and carried the second with us. Instead of telling her a pornstar was at the club, I'd wait and let her see him in action. I know the whiskey had her loosened up a lot but watching Jean might get her horny enough to fuck me in one of the side rooms where people could see us. I know that's mild compared to the rest of the club but that would be over the top for us. We left the theater area and she looked back to watch the action on screen as long as she could. We found stairs up and explored an entirely new floor.

Eventually I redirected us back downstairs. I never saw Jean again. Some couple had probably paid to take him home. Joanie was sticking by my side, touching me often like she does when she's in the mood. No way would she let me fuck her in front of these guys but I got another idea.

"Let's go back to the room where you sucked me," I said. "I'm ready to go again."

Her eyebrows shot up. "Impressive, Eric."

"I blame you," I said, laying on the charm.

We headed back, getting lost once but figuring it out. A few men sat around the outside of the room, just hanging out on a Saturday night. Joanie did not like that.

"It's creepy how they just sit and wait. They're like vultures."

"It's all right, Honey," I said, reassuring her. "Nobody can see you. Go inside and lock the door just like last time."

All that drink helped convince her. My penis was already growing. I would cum fast and Jo would swallow it like she had for that stranger. I heard the deadbolt clank and hurried around to the same hole. I opened my pants and pushed my partially swollen penis through. Jo's mouth was a wet oven and I gasped, but the angle was bad for me. The hole was too high on the wall. Corduroy had been a little taller. I whispered to Jo we needed to move three holes to the right.

"Okay," she said, followed by a giggle.

I stepped away and, pants around my knees, started duck-walking to a better hole. Some of the guys had gathered to see better and all of them had their dicks out. They masturbated watching me get blown. Jo's mouth appeared at the hole and a man stepped up and fed Jo his cock. He gave me a wink and a thumbs-up. This time I was annoyed. I wanted her. I pushed him away and his cock slid out of Jo's mouth.

"Just a second, Honey," I said, replacing his dick. Jo got to work on me.

He was laughing and jacking his cock, amused by his prank. He let me enjoy Joanie for a minute and then whispered; "Let's swap again," moving his cock next to mine. Our dicks touched. I'm still not sure why I let it happen again. Looking down, he was much bigger than me. I'm not sure why that mattered in that moment but it did. I told Jo to hang on a second and pulled my erection from her mouth, giving the Prankster opportunity. He did not waste it. I saw his thick cock slide through the hole and heard Jo close her sucking mouth around him. She moaned and I knew it was for my increased size. She thought I was extra turned on by what she was doing. I was, but my dick still didn't get as big as his.

My wife went to town on him. Both hands stroked as her mouth tugged on the sperm in his balls. He resisted, fighting the urge to cum. Jo was giving him everything she had. I found a hole I could look through and see his cock sliding in and out. The sight was glorious. I loved seeing her like this. I got so excited, in fact, I pushed him away and told her to back her pussy to the wall.

"I want to fuck you," I said.

She barely hesitated. This night had her turned on as much as me. She stood and yanked her panties off and I heard her butt hit the wall.

"Hurry," she rasped.

I grabbed the man's shirt and pulled him forward again. I squatted and shoved my arm through the closest hole, finding her pussy. His cock was inches below her opening, pressed against her thigh, and I grabbed it and directed him upwards, fishing for her hole until I felt the head dip. I took a deep breath and pushed him in.

My wife groaned like she'd been stabbed. My heart was beating like a jackhammer. I tugged his cock forward, pushing more of his meat into my woman, and felt him pulsing against my palm. Jo was soaked. Like a blind man, I slid my fingertips along the fat tube running along the underside of his dick and over the merging of their bodies, picturing what I could not see. I traced where his cock disappeared inside her. He'd opened her hole wide, stretching her and creating a tight seal. Joanie groaned again, deeply satisfied.

He began to fuck my wife. I was dizzy. I pulled my arm out and smashed my eye to the opening. The light was poor but good enough to see that straining and vein-covered appendage pumping her little hole like a freight train. This fucker couldn't believe his good luck. She was tight around him, tighter by far than around me, and he pounded her cunt with abandon, thumping the plywood wall. Joanie met him thrust for thrust. Her moans grew louder and familiar. Was his cock going to make her cum?

Joanie's piercing cry of orgasm stabbed me right through the heart. My dick was so hard! Jo braced herself against her knees and took every inch the stranger had. Minutes later she sounded like she would cum again but we never found out because at that moment the Prankster began gushing sperm like a fountain. He couldn't grab her or hold on to anything but Jo took care of that, ramming her pussy back at the cock that assaulted her. He shot her unprotected pussy full. I waited until he began to slow down and then I pushed him away and slammed my cock in as replacement. Jo was far too excited to notice the difference. I wanted to add my cum to his but he'd left her too slick. I fucked hard and fast but couldn't get there. Her pussy had slathered my dick with cum. Eventually I gave up, pulled out, and pulled my pants up. I circled to wait by the door. Jo looked ashamed when she exited that small black room.

"Did anyone notice?" she asked.

I didn't answer. The Prankster sat against the wall wiping sweat from his face while a bunch of guys watched Jo and me but said nothing.

"Who cares?" I mumbled. "Let's get a fresh drink."

"Let's just go home," Jo said. "This has been a crazy night."

Once we were showered and ready for bed I hinted I was ready for more. Joanie couldn't believe it. She said maybe we should go out more often if this was going to be my reaction.

"Let's wait a few weeks and head back to the Green Door," I said. "There was a lot we missed tonight."

I rolled on top of her and she guided my throbbing erection between her legs. I almost came when I felt all that sperm well up around me. The man had pumped my wife full. I began fucking her, aware with each thrust I shoved more of his seed farther into her body. I moved his sperm towards her womb. I was a little worried but far more excited. My prudish wife had a pussy full of another man's semen. I loved it. I set my mind to the task of telling her the truth in a way she could embrace. I wanted more. I wanted to go back to the club. I'd remind her how hard his new cock made her cum, how sexy she looked sucking and fucking other men. How could she say no?

"The longer I work in this field," I said, "the more convinced I become that sex directs virtually every human decision."

"I agree," Simone said. "This morning I picked this dress because I think I look good in it. I wear my hair like this for the same reason. My car gets high safety ratings and excellent fuel economy but my final choice came down to a comment a male colleague made. He's an accountant. I'd brought him along to help negotiate a price but it was his off-hand remark about how sexy I'd look behind the wheel that sold me."

I nodded as she spoke. "We take a winding path of self-delusion but often our motives loop back to that one simple principle. Let me tell you about a woman that came to see me. She was having powerful urges and worried she'd be unable to control them and do something stupid and destructive. I saw her every week for years until her husband, only vaguely aware of her desires, rolled the dice and opened the door for not only his wife, but himself and his best friend..."

Be Careful What You Wish For

My husband's best friend, Daniel Bradford, is smart and sexy and I've had a crush on him since the day Sam introduced me. Danny works for a Hollywood studio and travels a lot scouting locations and running local auditions. Wherever he comes to Vegas, which is about four times a year, he stays in our guest room.

I'm sure you see where this is headed.

I must confess I look forward to his visits. We've known each other so long the guys watch television in their boxers and I'll come in from the pool and walk around the house in my bikini. I see them looking at me and shivers of delight race across my skin. Every woman likes to feel pretty. Sometimes I catch Danny looking at me like I'm a juicy steak and I love it. He can objectify me all he wants.

Tiffany, a friend of mine, dated him years ago and gossiped about what he's like in bed and how good he looks naked. My crush shot through the roof and I got seriously jealous. I was happy when things didn't work out for them. That's mean, I know, but it's the truth.

I have another confession. Our converted office shares a bathroom with the guest room. There's a small gap along the door and a few times Danny has gone to shower and I've slipped into the office to watch. Sam will be elsewhere in the house working on something or watching television and I'll sneak into the office and watch Danny undress. The counter cuts off his lower half but I can see all the way down to his pubic hair. He's nicely muscled with just the right amount of chest and belly hair. Sex with Sam is always better those nights.

I've always wondered about sex with Danny but lately my ideas have taken solid form. I bought a perfectly realistic dildo and masturbate pretending it's him. I picture real scenarios, things that could actually happen. It's easy to believe. I know that's a terrible thing for a wife to do. He's Sam's best friend for God's sake.

One of my favorites is all of us drunk and things just start to happen. Sam is cool with it and the next thing is Danny over me sliding his penis inside.

I know I need to stop but I can't. The more I try the wilder my fantasies get. Sam was working in the garage last week and I intentionally left our bedroom door open a few inches, knowing Danny would walk by. I timed changing into my bathing suit so he would see a generous amount of naked skin. I don't know if he did but just the idea got me hot.

I'm happy with Sam. I don't secretly long to get out of our marriage. I want to be with Sam and stay with Sam. I just want to fuck Danny. I might even be satisfied with sucking his dick. I just want to get my hands on him.

We have plans to attend a concert this weekend outdoors at Sunset Park. We'll take a blanket and sit on the grass and share a joint and some wine and relax. I'd planned on wearing shorts like the guys but now I'm thinking differently. Now I'm thinking a short skirt to flaunt my legs. Every time I catch Danny looking I'll get a thrill.

The days pass quickly and without incident. I continue my little game of treating Danny to a glimpse here and there but nothing noteworthy. Saturday evening arrives and we dress for the concert, both men mentioning how pretty I look, and we take Danny's rental car to the park. We're early so we get to sit close to the stage. Sam spreads the blanket and I open the first bottle of wine and Danny fires the first blunt, which I go easy on but the men hit hard. Conversation flows smoothly as we all mellow.

The music starts. Many bands are playing tonight. Sam likes country but I prefer indie folk. We finish the first bottle and the guys polish off the joint. We talk between breaks and all is well until Danny excuses himself to use the port-a-potty. My husband watches Danny walk away and then turns to me.

"Baby," he said. "I need to talk to you. It's serious. I've been waiting for the right moment but it never appeared and I finally realized it never will. The wine and weed has loosened my tongue so here it goes."

My smile faded. His eyes were sad and pained. Whatever he was about to tell me, he was torn up inside about it. He shifted around, uncomfortable, scanning the families seated around us. He lowered his voice.

"I let a client suck my dick."

Boom. I just stared. For a split-second I thought he was fucking with me but there was no faking the sorrow in his eyes.

"I took her to lunch last week and Teddy, my boss, said we really needed the sale. He told me to do whatever I had to. I took her to Sebastian's and we had steak and wine and after a few drinks she started flirting. I flirted back. When she suggested we go to a motel room I said-"

"Stop," I interrupted.

Sam was painting a mental picture I did not want to see. I clasp my hands over my aching heart. How could he do this to me? The ache spread outward from my chest to my arms. I felt my lip quiver. A flash of anger lit me up followed by a crash of despair.

"I'm so sorry," he said. "She shocked me. She was highly aggressive."

I shook my head.

"I hope you can forgive me, Sabrina. I was so stupid."

I wanted to yell at him. I want to give voice to my broken heart. But I wasn't exactly innocent, was I? I looked down at my legs. I'd chosen this short skirt to please Danny. I did the same for my tight top. How many times had I flashed my husband's best friend? I'd not sucked his dick but I'd fantasized about it innumerable times. I should get credit for controlling myself. But why did I if Sam just allows himself to sample the first slut that comes along? I was mad at Sam but also mad at myself for being so loyal. I wasn't just angry. I also felt stupid. Sam had made a fool of me. I never thought he'd do something like that.

"I hope you can forgive me," he whined.

"I want Danny," I said.

Sam stared, confused. "What?"

"Payback's a bitch and so am I."

His mind was catching up with his ears. His gears were turning now. Forgiveness came with a price. He wanted me to trust him to go back to work and interact with this bitch and believe nothing more would happen. Fine. I get Danny and Sam can wonder if I'm home being faithful.

"I'll clarify," I said. "I get one night with Danny. You can get a hotel room somewhere or watch television in the den. I don't care. I never want to hear about this woman again and you can't ask any questions of me and my night with your friend and if you do anything with her again, I'll take another night with Danny."

"Danny won't do it. He's my best friend."

I looked down at my body. "You underestimate me," I said. "He's a guy. He'll resist at first but he'll cave. You all do, as you've so recently demonstrated."

I don't know what he saw in my eyes but all his arguments died. I was offering him a way out.

"Brutal," he muttered.

"Now you know how I feel," I shot back.

The music started and I faced the stage. My heart jumped around inside my chest. I'd blurted my demands without thinking and now reality was settling on me. What would I do if Sam said yes? We did not speak and Danny soon returned. A new bottle of wine went around and this time I hit the joint hard.

By the time we got home, I was wet. I was also determined to follow through. I stripped to take a shower and started brushing my teeth and my intentions slowly dawned on Sam.

"You're going to his room?" he asked.

"Yes."

The anguish on his face almost stopped me.

I turned the water extra hot and shaved and scrubbed like I was headed to the prom. I hated to torture my husband. That wasn't part of the excitement for me. I wanted Danny. I've wanted him a long time. Sam says a pretty lady insisted on giving him a blowjob so he let her, but swears that has nothing to do with his feelings about me. All right, I believe him. I see it in his eyes. With what I know about men, his story is feasible. Men and women see sex differently.

Here is my guilt-free opportunity to make us even.

I dried my hair and applied light makeup, standing there naked for Sam to see. I pondered what I would wear; too strong and I scare Danny off, too casual or comfortable and he won't get the message.

Contrary to my confident talk, I worried Danny would refuse me. He's loyal to Sam and Sam's loyal to him. I was hoping all the weed and wine hours before would push Danny over the edge. If it didn't, I'd have Sam go talk to him. I'd have Sam tell him to fuck me. I hoped to avoid that.

I opened the bathroom door and discovered Sam had laid out lingerie. He still agonized over what was coming but was prepared to take his punishment. His choice of outfit was classy and sexy; lots of lace hinting at the warm skin beneath but nothing too slutty. Danny would be shocked but not alarmed. Next to the lingerie was a black lace choker I'd worn on our honeymoon. I picked that up and fastened it in place. I slipped my hands into lace gloves. Sam looked me up and down and groaned. I almost forgave him.

Without a word, I began to dress in the outfit Sam had chosen. I figured why not. It was my husband's way of conceding defeat. No need to rub it in. I finished dressing and stood before the bathroom mirror and I was pleased. Danny would be too. I looked at my body and stopped at my lace-covered breasts. No way could he resist these babies. I faced Sam. He looked me over too, also stopping at my breasts.

"You look amazing," he croaked.

I touched his cheek and held his chin. "If you're awake when I get back we can talk some more about what's happening to us."

"If I'm asleep," he said, "wake me."

No way would Sam be asleep. I felt the stress and anxiety coming off him in waves. He'd pace our bedroom until I came through the door.

Guilt rose in me. I wasn't exactly the wronged party here. I'm not innocent. I'd done more than my share of pushing the boundaries with Danny and while nothing physical had ever happened, I longed for it to. I was using my husband's misstep as justification for what I wanted. He didn't know that but I did.

I would not allow that to change my mind. I wanted Daniel and I would have him. If I could just scratch that itch, I'd be able to put him out of my mind. My crush would fade.

I stepped away from Sam and he caught his breath. His eyes devoured me with such longing. This lesson was going to hurt but I felt sure he'd never cheat on me again. I turned my back and left the room.

Fate must be a woman.

When I got to Danny's door, I tapped with a light fingernail and he opened tentatively, unsure if he'd heard something, wearing only a loose towel around his waist. His hair was wet from a shower. He looked good enough to eat.

A lot went through his mind in those first seconds; initially, he tried to cover up. Then his gaze fell to my lace covered body and he forgot about covering himself. I was thrilled to feel his eyes travel my skin. A heartbeat later he remembered I was married to his best friend and guilt crashed into his mind. He opened his mouth to protest but I placed a finger across his lips.

"Sam knows," I murmured. "Sam understands."

I was ready with more explanation if needed but I may have looked better than I thought. He grabbed my face with both hands and kissed me with passion. How many years had we wanted each other? I returned the kiss, pushing my tongue in to play with his. He broke away long enough to ask about Sam but I shushed him.

"Later," I said. "It's all right."

Third time was the charm. Danny pushed aside any final misgivings and pulled my body against his. He kissed my neck and then bit me. I dropped a hand and squeezed his cock through the towel, just in case he was still uncertain about where this was headed. He shoved his fingers into my hair and pulled me into the room. His towel loosened and fell and he was gloriously naked.

I pushed away to get a better look and Tiffany had spoken truthfully. Danny looked amazing. His stomach was flat and his chest broad. His legs were muscular and his cock, I was thrilled to see, rested nicely hanging off his well-trimmed ball sack. Tiffany had spoken truthfully about that, too. I'd suspected she'd lied to make us girls jealous but no, Danny had a lovely cock. He looked a little bigger than Sam but a girl never knows until the guy is hard. I set to work making that happen.

He'd been checking me out too.

"Love the gloves and choker," he rumbled.

"Sam picked them out," I said.

"Yeah, we'll talk about that later."

I stood taller and let him look. His cock began to rise and I turned to jelly. Jesus. I'd wanted this for so long, now that it was happening I wanted to savor every second.

"Turn," he said, drawing a small circle in the air. "Let me see all of you."

I complied, breathing deeply. He continued to rise and by the time I faced him again his cock was rigid and pointing at my face.

Yeah, he was bigger than Sam. I was going to feel the difference.

For all my aggression up to this moment, I became suddenly demure. I was the baby goat tied to the altar. I was the innocent maiden shackled to the post outside the dragon's lair. A hard dick is intimidating. It means shit is getting real. My friends agree. It demands attention. They feel drawn to it and so did I.

With a frustrated moan, I took two steps and sank to my knees at his feet. I'd not seen a new cock in decades. His bounced slightly, twitching and trembling with excitement. I wrapped both lacy gloves around the base and aimed the head at the back of my mouth. Danny's cock slipped in, warm and throbbing, and I closed my lips around him. He pulsed softly against my tongue and for a moment I just appreciated the fact I had him in my mouth. He put his hands on my head and I began to slowly bob, treasuring his cock slipping in and out.

I'd intended to suck him a long time but my aching pussy wouldn't have it. I stood and told him to release my bra, watching his face as he saw my bare tits in his face for the first time. No more passing glances. The desire in his eyes drove me crazy.

"Now the panties," he growled. "Leave the rest on. You look sexy as fuck."

I slid the black lace panties down and let him stare at my bald pussy, yes, the pussy I'd carefully shaved for him just an hour ago. It was my gift. I stepped out of the underwear and threw them on the floor. His eyes were glued to my drenched cunt.

I thought he'd move us to the bed or even drag me to the floor but no, he knelt and nuzzled his face into my crotch, his strong tongue dragging across my wildly sensitive clit. I gasped. My legs went weak. Danny wanted to taste me! I almost collapsed. I braced myself on his head and moaned as he licked and nibbled and sucked in and all around. I moved my feet farther apart and he curled his mouth down and under. His tongue pushed inside me like a small writhing cock, licking my inner walls, fucking me with firm in and outs, devouring my pussy like I was made of candy. I looked down at my smooth mound in his mouth. His eyes were closed and his handsome face between my legs gave me a huge rush of excitement.

The first tickling of an orgasm tightened my cunt. I could let him continue forever. He seemed to feel the same way. I caught a glimpse of his cock between his knees and he was still standing straight up. He licked and sucked a long time and then pushed a finger in. I could take no more and came howling on his face.

He gave me no time to catch my breath. He lifted me in his arms and carried me to the bed. His erection poked my back and I loved it. Everything he did turned me on. He lay me down and moved over me for a kiss and the tip of his cock bumped my pussy lips.

"You put it in," he murmured.

I suspected that was some final sign that all was truly okay. Fine with me. I wanted his cock inside me now so badly I could have wept. I searched for his shaft, wrapped my fingers tight, and pulled him into my body.

The differences between he and Sam excited me. I loved the sensation of a new bigger cock spreading me open, but I also loved that it was Danny. His hips moved closer and I withdrew my hand, grabbing his ass, pulling him deep.

There's nothing like a man inside you. Nothing.

He moved his weight to his elbows and began an excruciatingly slow in and out. He wanted to savor this moment as much as I did. We kissed and stared into each other's eye and began laughing at the same time.

"This is crazy," he said.

"Completely," I agreed.

We smiled at each other another moment and then his face slowly turned serious. He lowered his mouth to engulf my nipple as he curled his hips and pressed the length of his hard cock against my cervix. It hurt a little but felt wonderful in so many ways. I closed my eyes and cherished the sensations of Danny fucking me.

Tiffany was absolutely right. Danny was a magician. His cock got harder the longer we fucked. I came again with him on top and then he flipped me on my stomach and fucked me from behind. That made his cock feel huge. He forced me to suck him some more, pulling my mouth around by my hair, then lifted me on top and made me ride him until I came again. I swear I felt his iron rod up between my lungs. He pulled me down to enjoy a long make-out session, keeping his meat leisurely pumping in and out the whole time. That was sexy as fuck. He was sexy as fuck.

I would have fucked him all night, but I felt a tongue probe my asshole. I tried to turn but Danny held me in place. A finger replaced the tongue and I grunted at the penetration of my rectum. The finger withdrew and I felt the immense pressure of a cock head placed at my sphincter. Danny held my mouth firmly against his as my tight ring expanded and a stiff cock entered my ass. My kiss turned into a shriek.

I was wrong. There's nothing like two men inside you.

My mind exploded! The raw physical sensations made me scream. Everything was stretched tight causing skin to rub across my clit whenever one of them moved. I had two men inside my body, using me, fucking me, pumping their hard cocks into me. It probably hurt on some level but I was far beyond that. I was getting fucked by the two men most important to me, the two men I loved above all others, and it was fantastic. I literally howled from pleasure. Days later our neighbor would ask if we heard the big cat fight the other night. I wailed as Sam and Danny fucked me together, kissing my lips, kissing the back of my neck, biting my tender nipples and nibbling my earlobes. Those fuckers drove me insane.

I've never had two men at once. They turned my mind inside out. Twin pistons of rigid flesh worked my holes and I was dying to see what we looked like. I twisted my head to see our reflection on the widescreen television and that was the last straw. I orgasmed like an explosion. The walls shook. I blew the roof off. I wriggled like a snake trapped between them and sobbed.

When they came, I lost my mind all over again. Danny shot my womb full of sperm. Danny. Not my husband. Danny. Sam groaned and emptied his balls in my ass. No man had ever taken me there. He swelled and gushed and I purred, writhing like a cat in the sunlight.

We stayed connected like that a long time. I was a lust sandwich. I felt them soften and shrink as they continued to kiss and caress me and I was the luckiest woman on Earth.

Eventually, we separated but stay close. They kept me between them, still gently kissing and softly touching. No one spoke although there was much to say. Sam moved first, trailing kisses down my belly until his tongue found my clit. I groaned from the bottom of my soul. Seriously? My loving husband was going to eat me after I'd been fucked? I wanted to weep. His tongue was extra gentle, tracing every inch of my swollen pussy. He sent his probing snake inside, licking my slippery hole until I began to grow excited again. Danny moved up to offer his cock to my mouth and Sam licked everywhere, turning me on body and mind. Soon I was gasping and squirming, sucking the big cock in my mouth as my adoring husband licked my cunt. I came hard.

I thought they were finished with me but I was wrong. Danny kept my mouth on his dick, slowly growing hard again. Sam moved into a sixty-nine with me and Danny got behind, sinking his cock deep while Sam's tongue danced all over my clitoris. That my husband would get so close to another man thrilled me to death. How badly did he want to lick me? The idea that Sam was probably also occasionally licking Danny turned me on way more than it should. Our threesome was decadent and raunchy and hot as Hell. Everything a first threesome should be.

We fucked to exhaustion. Perhaps it would be more accurate to say those sweet men fucked me until we were all exhausted. Danny filled my pussy with hot sperm three times and Sam got hard watching every time. My husband fucked my ass again, something I know he's always wanted to do, and ate me to another Earth-shattering orgasm.

I woke first, crammed between naked men. I waited for the rush of emotions telling me what we'd done was wrong, telling me my marriage was over, telling me I should feel guilty. None of that happened. I laid there between masculine bodies and grinned like a fool, as happy as I can remember being. I was still soaking it up when Sam opened his eyes. We smiled at each other.

"There was no girl at work," he whispered.

My smile froze. "What?"

He waited, allowing his statement to sink in, allowing me to string the pieces of our night at the concert. My mind fastened to a specific moment, hours and hours ago, that now, in retrospect, was glaringly obvious. A dawning truth warmed me.

"You agreed too fast," I murmured. "I said I wanted Daniel and you said okay without argument."

He gave me a small nod. "I was going to suggest you take your revenge on Danny but you said it before I could, revealing your true feelings."

I replayed the moment at the park. "Danny was in on it?"

Sam nodded again. "Your mutual attraction is obvious, Baby. I was threatened, at first, but as the years went by I grew to understand. I decided to get out of your way but I needed something to motivate you. Your loyalty would never let you just fuck him for pleasure's sake."

I'd been played. Manipulated flawlessly. I suppose I should be indignant, but why? What would be the point? I looked at a naked Danny sleeping next to me. I lifted the cover, exposing that delightful cock. Sam easily read my mind.

"Go ahead," he said. "I think this technically still counts as your one night with him. Go ahead, punish me some more."

I slid my head under the covers, waking Danny with my mouth. It didn't end there. Later that day Sam wanted more and I eagerly gave in. Danny joined us and we were glad he did.

From that day on we rarely wore clothing around each other. Sam was my husband but both men were my lovers. I initiated sex with them as often as they did with me but I must confess, at first, I wanted Danny a lot more than Sam. My husband understood. It hurt him a little but he understood.

We look forward to Danny's four-times a year visits with increased enthusiasm. I know I'll be in for a solid week of hot fucking when he stays with us.

I could not be happier.

"That worked out well," Simone said.

"For everyone. Last I heard their arrangement stands. Isn't it nice to get what you want?"

Simone chuckled and then sipped some cabernet. "If you're lucky enough to figure out what you want, yes. I had a young man come see me with his parents. He wanted to ask his girlfriend to marry him and mom and dad wondered if he was mature enough for such a decision. I dismissed them, of course, and spent many weeks delving into their son's psyche. In the end, I recommended they bless his union. I even got an invitation to their wedding. You should have seen the bride. You would have liked her. Her face reminded me of some young actress but her body was much more developed. Her tight wedding dress revealed a lot without meaning to. I saw why my client was smitten. Even I felt desire for the girl. Much too young for me but she was stunning. After hearing his story, I knew they shared some truly foundational values. I expect their marriage to last a long time and be packed with many thrilling encounters..."

"Go on..."

The Young and the Restless

When my parents first moved us to Claysburg, I expected to lose my mind. They have a Walmart but no library. They have a McDonalds, but it sits over by the freeway so you had to drive a bit to get to it. Technically it sits outside the township but everyone is so proud they call it their own.

Claysburg is a long way from Los Angeles. Mom and Dad got tired of the traffic and the pace and wanted better schooling for me. I protested the move for months before we left and then weeks once we arrived.

I shut up after meeting Heather Crews.

Heather works as a candy-stripper at Claysburg Senior Leisure Community, which is just a fancy way of saying old folk's home. She doesn't actually wear a candy-stripper uniform. She does anything anyone needs doing and everybody loves her. I met her at school, or rather I first saw her across the library, and a bolt of lightning punch me in the head. No big deal, every guy that sees Heather for the first time gets lightning thrown at their head.

She wore a loose sweatshirt and baggy jeans but the hot body beneath was still obvious. You know that one girl in school? Every school has her. She goes away for the summer and comes back the next year and her body has just blown up. She has tits like rocks and hips and an ass. Heather's tits stretch her tops and her volleyball ass perfectly fills her pants. Every guy in school turns to watch her walk by. Even Joey, the gay guy. She has a mass of thick blonde hair framing her gorgeous face.

A few days after the library I saw her walking across the quad. This time she wore a short pleated skirt and a tight white sweater. We were on an intersecting path and I just let it happen. Luck was with me that day as a cool breeze stiffened her nipples through her sweater and flipped her skirt a little, showing me a lot of thigh.

I jacked off when I got home.

The next semester I had her in my calculus class. She was surrounded by guys all the time but fuck that, I'm from California. I took the seat behind her and played it cool. When we finally talked, she started the conversation.

As days became weeks, I relaxed around her. I fought the urge to flirt because that's what every guy did and sure enough, she started flirting with me. Los Angeles seems pretty exotic to the people of Claysburg. I played it so cool, in fact, it was she that suggested our first date. It wasn't a date, of course, because girls do not ask guys out. It was a study session. At the Italian restaurant. The only Italian restaurant.

I picked her up from her parents' house and almost died. She'd done her makeup and hair for me and the dress she wore showed just enough leg and cleavage to drive me crazy. All night, every time she leaned over, I saw the glorious curves of firm milk white titties.

I jacked off again that night.

I jacked off every day thinking about her.

We kept dating and one night, on our way home from the movies, she told me to take Clayton Road instead of heading home. We ended up on a cliff overlooking our town. We sat on the hood of my shitty car for the warmth and I boldly held her hand. She waited half a minute and then leaned over and kissed me. I kept the kiss going and I guess she grew impatient because she took my hand and placed it on her warm, round tit.

I soon had her topless in the backseat and let me tell you, gazing at those breasts naked in the moonlight will stay with me forever. I probably could have been a lot more aggressive but I wasn't. She rubbed my crotch and I rubbed hers, sucking on her nipples until she said she felt weird and tingly. I slipped a hand inside her panties and found her wet slit and I think I may have even made her orgasm. I sure did. After many minutes of hearing her sexy feminine moans, caused by me, I shot in my underwear.

We sat talking and laughing and yeah, I was falling in love with her. I think maybe she was with me, too. After that we became boyfriend and girlfriend. I loved all the hate guys at school stared at me. The city boy steals the girl.

If you have a girlfriend you're going to need money. Heather told me the Senior Center had a security guard position open so I applied and they hired me. There wasn't much to guard. Basically, I strolled the grounds and kept an eye on things. Occasionally I got called to help an orderly lift one of the heavier seniors or push someone in a wheelchair. Otherwise I sat at the guard station and pretended to keep an eye on the CCTV monitors. Obviously, I stopped by to see Heather whenever I could. We kept our relationship secret to avoid any drama but every guy that worked there stopped by to see Heather.

My life sure had turned around quickly. In LA I was just another boring student, a loner, a nerd. In Claysburg, I was someone special from someplace exciting. I had an aura. To these small-town hicks, I was big-city.

Time passed. Heather and I hit a routine for work and school. We fooled around a lot and I wanted to have sex but never tried to go all the way. It seemed like such a serious step. I doubted we were ready for that. We never talked about saving ourselves for marriage or any of that crap, I think we were both just scared. We kissed a lot and our hands were all over each other. I saw her naked tits from time to time and even saw her furry pussy once before she chickened out and pulled her shorts up.

I jacked off like crazy that night.

One Saturday I came to work early to study. I checked in at the guard station and said hello to Mac, an old black guy I'd made friends with. He was watching the CCTV monitors intently and didn't hear me at first so I said it again, louder. He grunted a hello and waved absentmindedly.

"What are you staring at?" I asked.

He waved me around the counter. On the big screen in the middle I saw Heather giving Mr. Jacobson a sponge bath. No big deal, except while Heather worked on his feet, Mr. Jacobson had opened his robe, his wrinkled naked body on full display. Heather hadn't noticed yet.

"I know about the cameras around the property but cameras inside the rooms?"

"Yeah," Mac replied. "Three years ago a guy suffered a heart attack and couldn't hit his button. Almost died. We hid them in the smoke detectors and what not. None in the bathrooms though."

I stared at the naked man on screen. "You should get down there and tell him to cover up," I said.

Mac shook his head. "Nah. Heather don't mind. That girl's an angel. Watch."

I kept watching but with a growing sense of anxiety. Heather finished the man's feet and worked up his calves. She turned as she got to his knees and saw everything, but nothing changed. Heather just kept chatting with the old guy and rubbing his body down with alcohol. She worked her way up his thighs and I bit my lip as her sponge touched his balls. She smoothed and wiped and then lifted his penis with one hand while spreading the solution with the other. She circled around his testicles and bathed his shaft. I forgot to breathe. He expanded in her hand because of course he did, she's a hot young babe, but then she finished with his cock and continued up his belly. They kept talking like no big deal.

"Lucky fucker," Mac chuckled.

Mac's reaction told me this was not the first time.

"She always does this?" I asked.

"Just certain men in her ward. You know that group of guys we call the Rat Pack? Them. I bet she thinks she's just being helpful. She's too young and naïve to know those guys are playing her. She probably thinks every nurse does the same thing, like no big deal, and she doesn't want to look like a rookie. They let her think that. Those old bastards are tricky."

"Should we put an end to it?"

Mac shrugged. "Why? Nobody's getting hurt. How much time do those old guys have left? Let them have their fun. Besides, I like watching. That Heather is a bona fide hottie. You should be chasing that."

My girlfriend was up to Jacobson's chest. Both laughed when he made a joke we couldn't hear. He brought his hand up as he spoke to her earnestly about something and casually rested it on her ass like he's done it a million times. She shuffled a little, momentarily uncomfortable, but then let him, continuing to bathe his arms and, finally, his hands. She gathered her supplies as they continued to chat and then left his room.

"That all seems way out of line," I said.

Mac was looking at me. "Not really our concern, son. If Heather doesn't complain to management, there is no problem. The first time I witnessed that behavior I went to Vickers, the operations manager, and hinted about what I'd seen. He mentioned our clients pay a small fortune to stay with us and keeping the rooms fully occupied was a top priority. I was to report anything dangerous but otherwise leave staff complaints up to the staff. I told him I understood. "

"How long ago was that?"

"Two years."

My head snapped back. "Heather's been doing that for two years?"

"Yup. Nobody minds. Look, here she goes into Benjamin's room. She'll do the same to him."

Mac pushed a few buttons on the console and a small screen view flickered and reappeared on the big monitor. Heather was talking to Ben, a World War Two vet, and arranging her cart. While her back was turned, Ben laid on his back and opened his robe. His penis looked as large as a can of Pringles, resting on the bed between his legs. I choked. Mac laughed.

"Old Man Benny's got himself a cannon," he chuckled. "Pull up a chair, Chris. In a town as dead as Claysburg, this counts as high entertainment."

So much for studying. I grabbed a chair and scooted close. Heather started on Ben's feet, just like Jacobson, but Mac and I didn't care about that. We both waited for her to get to that large cock.

A battle raged inside me. I understood what she did was essentially harmless but I couldn't help my reaction. She drew closer and closer and then she gripped the shaft and lifted. The head draped over her wrist. I felt weird seeing her with a cock in her dainty hand, jealous and excited all at once. I couldn't say shit with Mac right there. I had to control myself or risk giving away my relationship with Heather. We both needed this job.

Heather carefully sponged Ben's testicles and then cleaned the hefty tube and head. The cock in her hands started to grow. Who wouldn't?

"She likes this one," Mac said. "Watch how long she takes to finish. Ole Ben gets the red-carpet treatment. I bet she doesn't even realize she spends more time on him than anyone else."

"Maybe they're friends?"

Mac laughed. "Yeah, that's it. They're friends."

I knew he was making fun of me but I didn't fully understand how. Heather was friends with almost everyone.

My girl rested the plump shaft on her forearm and swabbed around his crotch. They kept talking like no big deal but Ben grew a little more, rising off her arm to point at her gorgeous face. She was leaning over the bed, concentrating on her task, and the man's cock was only inches from her mouth. My toes were curled inside my shoes. My hands were fists. I was stressed the fuck out. Mac missed it all because his eyes were glued to the screen.

"Someday we're going to see something," he said. "Mark my word. You heard it from me first."

Heather continued her task but Ben kept growing stiffer. Both pretended not to notice but I could tell she was nervous. Ben's cock took a long time to fill but eventually it flopped backward onto his stomach. He was full grown now and Heather kept glancing at it. Ben glanced at Heather glancing at his cock. She took her time.

Mac chuckled again. "Well done, Mr. Benjamin," he said, making a motion to high-five the monitor. He turned to me. "It's hard for these old-timers to get it up. Sweet little Heather could make the dead hard."

She'd turned her back on Jacobson to rearrange her cart but for Benjamin she walked around so she could face him while she put things away. He laid there with his robe open and his dick throbbing and they talked like old friends while his erection slowly faded. I'd seen enough and wanted to leave but worried that would seem weird to Mac. I stayed the whole time as she made her rounds.

Only a few men got her special treatment and I was relieved about that. When Mac at last said she was done with her special treatments for the day, I went to the cafeteria to study. That's where Heather found me later.

I was quiet at first and she picked up something was wrong, but I just told her I was stressed about school. Only the guards and senior management could know about the cameras. From that day on I checked the tapes when I had some alone time. Mac had a library of Heather's "greatest hits" showing her handling cocks and balls left and right. On one she wore a V-neck and Mac recorded deep cleavage. On another she'd worn a short skirt and Mac had multiple up-skirts. She dressed conservatively but even so her clothing barely contained her rampant sexiness. She was bursting with youth and vitality, hot from every angle.

I paid closer attention at school. Every guy checked her out. They'd position themselves to see up her skirt or down her blouse. Grown men, husbands, would secretly gawk at her while we were out on a date.

I tried getting something more sexual from her but, aside from a handjob one night on the cliffs, that didn't work. The handjob was nice though. I stared down at my lap and her fingers wrapped around my penis and remembered those dirty old men enjoying the same. Well, almost the same. All right, since they didn't get to ejaculate, not really the same at all.

Heather was fascinated when my dick spurt. She watched my sperm shoot and laughed, asking if that happened every time. She played with my slippery goo, sniffing it and acting like she was going to taste it before jerking her hand away.

"I better be careful," she laughed. "We don't want a baby!"

Back at Claysburg Senior Leisure Community, I grew accustomed to her unorthodox client services. Weeks passed and her routine never varied. The old men were handsy at times but she took it with good humor. I think she felt sorry for them but I also think she enjoyed turning them on. Their eyes lit up when they flirted with my gorgeous girl and that made her happy too.

In due course, the school year ended. We both picked up more hours at the Center and I took a few summer school courses. Heather was an amazing student but I had fallen behind in Los Angeles. Because of the classes, I had to work more nightshifts so Heather and I saw less of each other.

It was a quiet Saturday night, late, and I was sitting in front of the monitor. Heather was out with girlfriends so I queued up Mac's greatest hits to watch again. I started to wonder why, if Heather had been behaving like this for two years, his video collection was so small. I began searching his hard drive.

Mac is no computer whiz. I found more files, and they weren't of patients in their rooms. They were of the women's locker room, specifically, Heather and another young girl, Tawny, changing from work clothes to street clothes. Mac also had video of them dressing after using the pool.

Heather looked astonishing. She stripped naked in the videos, her big tits like pillows, her firm ass jiggling with each step. Good God. Tawny was hot too but not like Heather. Tawny had a body like a ballet dancer. I clicked on more files and watched the girls undress day after day.

I found a file named Old Updates which I almost skipped because of the boring name. I decided to be thorough and I'm so glad I did. I'd found a treasure trove. I checked to make sure the coast was clear, and then watched Tawny sneak a guy, one of the cooks from the kitchen, into the ladies' locker room. She pushed him against the wall and yanked out his dick, sucking him until he got hard. Then she lay on the long bench and hiked up her skirt, opening her legs. The guy stepped up and began to fuck her. I watched Tawny get pounded while holding both hands over her mouth.

I got hard. How many more gems would I find on Mac's computer? I saw movement to the side of the screen and hit rewind. Heather was watching them! Mac's recording had captured both girls. Heather stayed in the shadows a long time but then moved closer. The cook froze and Tawny looked startled, but then she waved Heather closer.

There was no sound but body language said plenty. Heather was panicky but curious and Tawny pulled her close and let her watch. My girl was only inches from a hard cock pounding a wet pussy. The dude ate it up. He pulled his unimpressive cock out for both girls to see and then plunged it home. He clearly asked Heather if she wanted some and she shook her head no but kept watching. Tawny unbuttoned Heather's top, exposing a pretty lace bra and my girl's big straining tits. Dude was loving life.

I saw my girlfriend open Tawny's top so the guy could suck her nipples. He aimed his mouth at Heather too but she pushed him away.

Tawny sent a hand under Heather's skirt, which made her head fall back. The guy pulled his cock free again, walking around to stick it in both their faces. Heather leaned closer and my heart almost burst out of my chest. She was studying his dick. I was freaking out she was about to touch him but the weird thing is I wanted her to at the same time I did not want her to. The girls talked and Heather shook her head and the guy shrugged and moved back to fuck Tawny some more, who tugged down the front of Heather's bra, exposing hard pink nipples.

I hit pause. The scene was insane. I took it all in, wanting to remember that picture forever. My palms were sweaty and I realized I'd neglected the security monitors for a long time, so I checked all the other cameras, inside and out, saw that everything ran smoothly, and returned to the action. I hit play.

Tawny reached for Heather's tits, running her dainty palm over, under, and around each pale melon. The dude kept fucking and then Tawny arched her back which I assumed meant she was cumming. Soon after the guy drove his dick deep and I figured he was cumming too. I'd never look at Tawny the same. Heather looked wildly turned on. I wondered how long ago all this happened and was it the reason for my recent bare handjob? Did she see this guy's cock and want to see more? Was this the cause for her fascination with my cum?

Everyone started to dress. I checked the clock on the video. The whole encounter had lasted seventeen minutes. Crazy. Heather left the locker room first and then Tawny and the guy hugged before sneaking out.

I leaned back in my chair. Mac had folders all over his desktop. Many of those folders had folders in them. What delightful treasures awaited me?

I needed to make my rounds so I put his computer back the way he had it. I stood on shaky legs and grabbed my flashlight, heading out to walk the grounds. I was fucking turned on.

I jacked off like crazy that night.

Our schedules matched up for the next few days and Heather and I could hang out and we really reconnected. I saw her in a new way. She was more complicated, more sexual, more adventurous than I'd given her credit for. She was curious and I loved that about her.

The next time I got to explore Mac's computer I found more of Tawny, this time fucking a different guy from the kitchen. In fact, as I viewed one video after another, I learned Tawny was quite the slut. I also discovered many videos of her and Heather just sitting in the locker room talking. Mac probably recorded those hoping something would happen, or because the girls were partially dressed, but nothing ever did. Heather and Tawny just talked, a lot, and in my imagination it was mostly Heather asking about sex.

My suspicions got a nudge when Heather became more aggressive in the back seat of my car. I got her naked one night and she took my dick out. I fought hard not to jizz all over. I maneuvered between her legs and gazed into her frightened eyes as I sank the head and an inch of my trembling penis into her sweltering pussy. I almost died. I swear it. Moments later her leg accidentally knocked over the large diet coke between the seats and that was that. Liquid splashed everywhere and she felt terrible. I told her to forget about it and tried to get our momentum back but too late. My blue balls ached like someone had them in a vise. We needed someplace better than my car. The next town was over an hour away. We could get a motel room where no one would know us and after seeing her magnificently nude, I was thinking it was worth it.

I felt her hot pussy around the tip of my dick for days.

When I came to work on Thursday, Mac was ogling the monitor again. I knew what that meant. He waved me over.

"Hurry up," he said. "Somethings up."

I pulled a chair over. Heather was with Benjamin but she had the chair near his bed and they were just talking. She had the bath cart with her but was ignoring it. Mac was right. Something was up.

"What's going on?" I asked.

"Don't know. Earlier, she did the other guys like she always does, then got to Ben and started chatting. She got up to lock his door a few minutes ago so I figure something's going to happen."

I studied the screen. Nothing was different about her or her cart. She'd worn a skirt and open sandals today, but so what? I wondered if Ben had bad news and Heather wanted to give him privacy. He didn't look sad. He just laid there in his bathrobe like always. They talked a few more minutes.

"This is boring," I said.

"Ain't nobody holding you back," Mac said, pointing towards the door.

I stayed.

I was reading the OSHA regulations on the wall next to me when I heard Mac say: "I knew it."

I looked at the screen.

Ben untied his robe and flipped the two halves open. His large dick looked a little puffy already. What had they been talking about? Heather turned to her cart and I saw her top had a deep V. Had Ben gotten himself excited staring at those lovely orbs? Heather hesitated for a moment, drew a deep breath, and then tugged the zipper down the front of her top. I had to clench my teeth to keep my mouth shut. What the fuck? She turned to face Ben and he lifted his dick and began to stroke. She opened her top like he had his robe and showed him those gorgeous beauties. Her sheer bra revealed the darker circles of her nipples.

"Oh Hell yeah," Mac mumbled.

Hell no! my brain shrieked.

Ben gestured at her skirt and I saw Heather gather courage. She pulled that zipper down too, exposing panties. Ben licked his lips. Heather shook as she lowered her underwear and slipped off her bra. My trembling young girlfriend now stood naked in Ben's room.

"We gotta break this up," I said.

"The fuck we do," Mac shot back. "Sit your ass down." He adjusted a knob on the console and the picture sharpened. He was recording this too.

With tiny, tentative steps, Heather moved to the side of the bed. Ben ran his hand over her flat tummy and then cupped a sexy tit. She was awkward and ashamed but let him run his old hands over her tight, youthful body. Her young figure screamed sex. I suspected she'd had this planned by what she wore to work today. Zippers gave easy access to everything and if she needed to dress in an instant, she could.

Ben kept stroking his thick cock with one hand while the other explored my sweet innocent girlfriend. He made her slowly turn, admiring her stunning beauty, touching her in places only I'd ever touched her, enjoying every firm curve. His wrinkled hand moved between her legs and her body stiffened but she did not protest. When he pushed a finger inside, she bent as if the wind had been knocked out of her. She grabbed his wrist but didn't stop him.

I agonized for long, long minutes. He pulled her even closer to the bed and then placed a hand behind her head.

He drew her face down to his dick.

I made a noise and Mac shot me a dirty look.

A timid Heather wet her lips and opened her mouth and Ben's fat cock slid across her tongue. He pushed on the back of her head, forcing more in, but she quickly gagged so he relented. He kept her there, cautiously sucking his old cock, experimenting with what worked and what didn't. Ben gave her directions, sharing what felt good and how to do it better. His dick got hard fast this time.

"Cafeteria must be passing out Viagra," Mac joked.

I wanted to smack his ear. Why was Heather doing this? The sight was pure agony. Her mouth moved up and down only an inch or two. Ben was thick and she had no talent for taking more than that. He told her to lick and suck his cock and to look in his eyes the whole time she was doing it. We couldn't hear them but it was obvious what was happening.

That's when it hit me. I knew why she was doing this. Heather felt stupid and clumsy around me and wanted training. I was the sophisticated city boy, right? She was the simple country girl and hated it. Ben was a father figure; wise and easy to talk to. The man was smart, convincing Heather that being shown was better than being told.

Ben steered her mouth all over his cock. My girl relaxed and soon I saw her smile. Ben did too. Lecherous bastard. I wondered if I'd be getting a blowjob soon. I imagined she'd want to show off her newfound skills. My balls tingled in anticipation.

At last Ben pushed her mouth away. She was reluctant to stop. They spoke a few minutes and then Ben took her hand. Heather put a foot on the step attached to his bed and climbed up, straddling him, staring down at the fat erection he held. I'm so stupid. I did not see what was coming. My mind would not allow it.

"She's going to fuck him," Mac said, amazed. "Ben, you lucky, lucky motherfucker."

Of course, he was right. Heather bent her knees and brought that perfect little furry slit down to his rod. I gasped. Both fixed their eyes at the place where their bodies met and worked together to get him in. Mac and I had trouble seeing that close but I knew the moment Ben penetrated my girlfriend because her head snapped back and her mouth dropped open. She bit the back of her hand, hard, staring, astonished, as the first inch crawled inside. Her eyes expanded as her pussy stretched around him. She pinched her labia and pulled them apart, spreading her skin and opening her hole wider. Her expression told me Ben felt fantastic. She was eager for more.

Nature took over. Ben, smug, put his hands behind his head and watched her go. Heather rode up and down, a little deeper each trip, clearly experiencing levels of bliss she'd never felt before. She grabbed her tits and hefted their weight and shook her head side to side. I was sure she could not orgasm under these conditions but she was certainly feeling an insane amount of pleasure.

Her legs began to quiver so she brought her knees along his body and laid her tits and head on his chest. For a long time, at least it seemed a long time to me, her ass rose and fell, working that stiff cock buried in her guts. Ben held her gently, stroking her hair. He let her go until she ran out of gas and then he gripped her young firm ass and fucked up into her. No way could he maintain that exertion for long and he didn't; after just a few minutes his body went stiff. I wondered if he'd gotten a cramp. Neither of them moved and then he suddenly slammed another stroke into her. Her body shook. He held himself deep and then smashed his hips against her again.

"Give it to her," Mac said. "Make her take all of it. We got good maternity leave here at the Center."

My eyes darted back to the screen. Was Ben cumming? I'd assumed he was too old to make it all the way, especially on his back like that. I studied them both, watching for any sign. I got it when she finally lifted off his cock and a huge dollop of sperm dripped out of her. Embarrassed, she quickly cupped her hand over her pussy. He'd cum inside her!

Heather climbed off the bed and pulled her panties up to replace her hand, unconsciously trapping all that sperm inside. She threw her bra on and zipped her skirt, slipping toes into shoes. She was moving fast, dressing like she needed to catch the school bus. She struck a goofy pose, knees bent and hands on hips, and must have asked how she looked because I could read his lips when he said just one word: Beautiful.

I stared at my hot girlfriend, the girl every guy wanted. She was full of Ben at that moment. He was dripping out of her, soaking the panties under her skirt.

Heather carefully and silently unlocked the door to his room. She retrieved her large sponge from her cart and poured alcohol into a pan. She dipped her sponge and faced Ben, ready to work. Mac and I watched as she methodically erased all trace of sex from his body.

"She's a smart one," Mac said. "Smart and hot. Some lucky guy is going to draw a winner."

I stared daggers at the side of his face.

Dear Mac, I already have, fuck you very much.

That was it. She finished her job and patted his hand and he smacked her ass and she left his room.

I was right about one thing; two days later I got a blowjob, my first, and Heather knew what she was doing. Three days later, when I started my shift, I discovered Mac had left me a note on the monitor suggesting I run a certain folder. That made no sense but I saw the folder he named so I opened it. He'd hidden a video for me. I leaned forward and watched Heather fuck Ben again. This time he took her doggie. She'd gone to his room on my day off.

Two nights later Heather suggested we grab a blanket and go sit by the lake to watch the moon come up. The moment that giant orange sphere broke the horizon, Heather leaned over and kissed me with everything she had. An hour later, I was no longer a virgin. She said she wasn't either but I noticed how she carefully worded what she said. Nope, she wasn't a virgin either.

I never thought about breaking up with her. Ben barely counted as cheating in my book. He was no threat, that's for sure. He and Heather had a long history before I ever moved to Claysburg. She had a long history with all those old men. She saw beyond their wrinkles.

In a way, Heather was doing all this for me.

A week later I watched the monitor as Heather had her first real orgasm under Ben. I squirmed in my chair until I couldn't stand it anymore and took my penis out under the counter. I jacked off as Ben filled her with cum again.

Truthfully, after some time passed, I started to like it.

Heather wants to be a doctor so when the internship at the hospital came available, she applied and got it. There were plenty of tears all around when she worked her last day at the Center. Ben gave her a long firm hug and I knew what it meant.

There may be no more performances for me and Mac but we do have a lovely library of videos to watch, and Tawny still sneaks away with a new guy almost weekly.

I'm sure I'll ask Heather to marry me and I'm sure she'll say yes. I see the light dancing in her eyes whenever she looks at me. We're perfect for each other. I doubt I'll ever tell her my secret and I doubt she'll ever tell me hers.

End.

Join My Mailing List
Get a FREE Hotwife Story!

Visit My New Website!
<https://authormatthewlee.com>

Follow My Twitter here

Find me on: GoodReads

Talk to Me

BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com

Here's your chance to tell me what you like and what you don't. I'd love to hear from you. Share your fantasies and your kinks. Tell me a scene you'd love to see. Do you have a favorite character you'd like to see again? Operators are standing by.

Additionally, I've launched my own website;

<https://authormatthewlee.com>

What would you like to see there? I'm considering a blog where I share thoughts of my own plus thoughts my readers have shared with me. Talk to me. Send me an email. I've met so many wonderful people already, I'd love to meet more.

Matthew Lee