

The background of the cover is a collage of several faces. The most prominent is a woman with green eyes and purple hair, looking directly at the viewer. To her left, there's a blurred face with blonde hair. Below her, another face with brown hair is partially visible. In the bottom right corner, a close-up of a blue eye is shown. The overall color palette is dominated by purple and yellow/gold.

Shared Secrets

A Collection of Hotwife
Tales; Volume Two

Matthew Lee

Shared Secrets

A Collection of Hotwife Tales

Volume Two

By Matthew Lee

I had just told my last client goodnight when my phone chimed: Martin Castor, desperate to talk and could I please make time for him. I sighed. The words Drama Queen floated through my mind.

Of course, I typed.

Martin has been seeing me for years. He's high-strung and obsesses over every little worry, but we've made progress.

He arrived in less than fifteen minutes. We shook hands and exchanged hellos and I ushered him to my office, pressing the foot pedal to start the white noise machine. He sat in the same spot on the couch every time: dead-center.

"What's on your mind, Marty?" I began.

"My wife, doc. You told me I needed to share my feelings with her more so I've tried to do that. I've been telling her everything that bounces around inside my head."

"All right. That sounds good but maybe not everything. Sometimes you want to think about these things first."

"Too late."

And here comes the drama, I thought. "Did you tell her something you shouldn't have?"

"Yes."

I waited. Martin Castor loved his dramatic pauses.

He went on: "We were talking about the dreams we have for life and that led to fantasies and she asked for mine. I told her I wanted to watch her have sex."

"Is that right?"

"Yes. Am I weird? I mentioned it to you about five years ago."

"No, Marty, you're not weird. Plenty of men think like that."

"Probably not like me. But you've encouraged me to just put it out there so I did. I spoke the truth in my heart."

"How did that go?"

"She got real quiet. I waited a bit, embarrassed, worried I'd told her too much. I changed the subject and that was that."

"So, what's the problem?"

"I told her a while back. She was quiet for a couple weeks and then started wanting sex a lot more. That made me curious so I spied on her."

"Martin, you can't keep spying on people."

"She's my wife."

"That does not make it okay. She's has a right to privacy. It's wrong for you to trample that just because you're curious."

Martin shrugged.

I took a breath. I felt we were approaching the true reason for his call tonight. The groundwork had been laid. "Go on," I said. "What happened?"

Martin left my office almost two hours later. He was my last client for the day but he'd be the first I brought up to Simone over drinks tonight...

She Understands

Martin Castor heard Drea start the bath. He glanced at the clock, knowing he had three minutes before he needed to be outside the bathroom window. He puttered about, killing time, and then headed out the back door. Elvis, their black lab, followed, excited to play this familiar game.

Drea left the window cracked, like always. His wife may enjoy the bathwater just shy of the temperature needed to cook lobster, but she needed a little cool air to make everything perfect.

Martin took that small gap as an opportunity to spy on his wife. Drea was considerably younger and Martin always wondered what she saw in him. She said she loved him for his many quirks and his wonderful sense of humor. He accepted that because she gave him no reason not to.

One of Martin's favorite quirks, although this one Drea knew nothing about, was spying on his sexy young wife. Martin took his special place under the rose trellis and leaned in, Elvis curled at his feet. Martin's timing was perfect as Drea was just slipping into the scalding water. He watched her ease beneath the bubbles, the steaming water sending her nipples, perfectly centered in the much lighter triangle of her tan, rising to stiff points. From Brazil, her bikinis were absurdly small, little more than two slivers of thin fabric to cover her areola and a triangle to hide her labia. She'd pulled her long black hair into a ponytail. Martin rubbed the front of his pants.

He'd seen her naked a million times. Their sex life was good; frequent and passionate. She struggled to orgasm during sex but Martin's tongue had learned her pussy well. She loved to be eaten and he loved to eat. Making Drea climax was his favorite thing. Watching her when she was unaware might be his second.

He watched her everywhere; in the bath, getting ready for work or, especially exciting, getting ready to go out with friends. She always wore something slinky or revealing. Martin spoke no Portuguese so he usually stayed home on those nights and let Drea have her fun.

One night, coming home late from the office, he'd driven past the club where he knew Drea was meeting her friends. He decided to stop by and say hello before continuing home. She'd been on the dance floor with her girlfriends, surrounded by a ring of appreciative males. Nothing overt sexual happened but Martin saw the flirtatious touching, the grazing of ass, thighs, and breasts. Drea acted innocent through it all and maybe she was, but there was no mistaking how much she loved the attention.

Thus, a fantasy was born.

He'd returned to his car, wildly excited. He never said hello that night, instead hanging in the shadows and watching. Drea did nothing to dishonor him but a deeply planted desire grew until he wished she would. Perhaps a playful kiss for the handsome suitors. That desire grew as the weeks passed. He added the fetish to a long list in his head, occasionally returning to spy when Drea mentioned which club her friends would visit that night.

Months passed. When she left the house to run errands, he'd pull the dress she wore the night before from the dry-cleaning and inhale the heady mix of alcohol, cigarette smoke, and perspiration. He pictured her dancing wildly, sweating as she moved her body in the energetic dance he loved. She'd often wake him when she got home, ready for sex. This encouraged him to suggest she go out more, which resulted in more sex when she got home. They were making love more than ever. They felt closer and more intimate, which led to conversations about the dreams they had for life, which led to Martin mentioning his fantasy. Drea listened closely trying to understand.

"A threesome?" she asked. "You and me and another man?"

"No," Martin replied. "You and another man. I'm there, but I watch, only you don't know I'm watching."

She got thoughtful. "How would I know when to do it if I don't know when you're watching?"

Martin chuckled nervously. "That's a good point," he said, already regretting his decision to say anything.

"Which guy would you want me to do?" she pressed.

Martin waved his hands, trying to erase everything. "Never mind, Drea, it was a stupid thing to say. I just wanted to share some of the things I think about."

She got thoughtful again which made Martin nervous.

"I can think of a couple guys," she said. "How do I know if you'd be okay with them fucking me?"

Martin stammered, explaining any guy she wanted would be fine because she wasn't supposed to know Martin was there anyway. They dropped the subject, Martin suggesting they go out for dessert.

While he may have backed away in the moment, by the weekend the idea was back stronger than ever. Martin stole glances at Drea whenever he could. She'd always been happy in the marriage but these days she seemed positively blissful. She met him at the front door Friday after work and took his hands, her face serious. They kissed hello and she squeezed. Martin's heart lurched in his chest. Drea looked ready to confess something and Martin's mouth went dry wondering if she'd done something naughty. Instant conflict gripped him. Not that she'd violated her marriage vows but a regret that if she had, he'd not been there to see it.

"I've been invited to Tamara's birthday party," she said, big eyes guilty.

"So?"

"Lucas will be there."

"I thought he wasn't allowed back in the States?"

"He's not."

"He's here illegally?"

She gave a small shrug. "I guess."

Martin felt an icy chill. He'd met Lucas several times before the intimidating thug was arrested and deported for robbing a Seven-Eleven. It was his absence and the impossibility of his return which gave Martin the courage to talk to Drea which led to their first date which led to their marriage. Lucas back in the States was all kinds of bad news.

"When's the party?" Martin asked.

Drea turned sheepish. "Here's the thing," she said. "Tamara works nights so she's having the party Thursday evening. It's just some close friends. She rented the rec hall at her complex."

"I work late Thursday."

"Yeah," Drea admitted. "You can't go."

Martin felt powerful forces sloshing around inside him. Drea at a party without him was always exciting. Lucas present turned the event dangerous. Over the years Martin had asked about her relationship with her ex and Drea casually mentioned the passion they shared. She explained that was the main reason she'd stayed so long. Martin was sure at least some of that passion was still there. She'd cried hard when Lucas was sent away. Martin loved the idea of Drea seriously tempted but why did it have to be Lucas?

Martin sighed.

"I won't go if you say no," Drea said.

Martin wrestled with his emotions before speaking. "No," he said. "Tamara is your best friend. You can't miss her birthday. That would be wrong. She'd be pissed at me for being so insecure."

"Yeah, probably."

"You can go."

Drea clapped her hands and hugged her husband. "Thank you, Marty."

He patted her butt. Their sex that night was passionate and Martin knew it was Drea trying to reassure and comfort him. Not until sleep began to claim him did it occur perhaps she'd been thinking of Lucas while they fucked and he was the reason for her elevated hunger.

The work week passed slowly but nothing compared to the glacial crawl of Thursday. Martin checked his phone a hundred times before lunch. When he could stand it no longer, he told his boss he needed to go home sick, blaming a stomach flu. He was almost to his front door before he realized he could drive by the rec room and spy on Drea. They'd been to Tamara's apartment many times and he knew the layout well. He'd park in the north lot and stick to the bushes and trees.

Minutes later he was eagerly driving down the freeway, anticipating once again observing his wife without her knowledge. He rubbed the front of his pants, wondering how she'd dressed for the party.

The winter sun was low when he drove to the back lot and parked. He silenced his phone and began the long walk around the landscaper's shed and the laundry rooms, ducking into the shrubs and trees well before the hall. Long shadows helped hide him as lights began to wink on around the complex.

What could happen? he wondered. I'm excited for nothing. She's in the middle of a crowd.

Still, he admitted, it would be enjoyable watching her with her guard down.

Ahead he saw the smoky windows. He stopped to find the best path forward and then maneuvered along the hill and between two redwoods. He had just settled into his new spot, watching all the party people, when Drea and Lucas left the big room by a side door. Lucas pulled a pack of cigarettes and stuck one in his mouth. They were walking slow and in the general direction of the parking lot so Martin gave them a minute and then circled around to follow, moving from tree to tree and sticking to shadows. Drea wore a white cotton dress which looked painted-on, the lines of her hot body obvious.

Did she wear that for him? Martin wondered.

Martin noticed they moved like a couple. Each was perfectly comfortable with the space and stride of the other. They'd been together for years and only Lucas's criminal behavior drove them apart. Drea still spoke of their time together fondly.

They reached the parking lot and Lucas steered Drea towards a Cadillac parked against the hill.

"Your brother gave you his car?" she said.

Lucas laughed. "Loaned me, although he doesn't know it yet."

Her jaw dropped. "You stole your brother's Caddy?"

"Borrowed," he insisted. "I borrowed my brother's car."

Drea shook his head, amused. "Nothing changes."

Lucas gripped her elbow, pulling her close. "Nope," he said.

"Nothing changes."

She resisted but only a little. "I'm married now, Lucas."

"Yeah, to the white boy."

"Martin is a good man. I love him. We love each other."

Lucas scoffed but Martin swelled with pride.

"Does he have this?" Lucas asked, sticking his cigarette between his lips to unzip and pull out his dick, flopping the large appendage dramatically. Martin gawked. Lucas had a tremendous penis. Uncircumcised and covered in dark skin, the long shaft hung from a dense thatch of pubic hair to point at the ground.

Drea was unimpressed. "Put that away, silly boy. You try to shock me but I already know what you have, babaca."

Lucas left his cock hanging and puffed his cigarette. Drea took the cigarette from his hand and inhaled, blowing the smoke overhead. Martin was shocked. Lucas dropped his eyes to Drea's body and slowly looked her up and down.

"You are looking good, boneca," he said. "Your man treats you well."

"You know his name, dumbass. Stop playing games. Martin treats me like his queen and I love it."

"Better than I ever did."

"Much better," she laughed.

Martin beamed. He never imagined Drea sticking up for him like this and it felt fantastic. He wondered if she said such things to her girlfriends, too.

"I'm happy you're happy," Lucas said with conviction. "All I had for you was heartache."

Drea nodded repeatedly. She took another puff before handing the cigarette back. "You're such an asshole," she said, grinning. "Cute. Maybe even a little sexy. But a complete asshole."

Lucas waited patiently, smoking, his soft cock pointing straight down. He seemed to know something Drea didn't. He puffed a few times, grinning, watching her, waiting.

"Goddamn it," she muttered.

Martin was confused. Something was happening between them but he had no idea what, like they shared an inside joke he couldn't decipher.

Finally, Drea glanced around the parking lot and then crouched, lifting the heavy tube of beef to her mouth. Lucas kept smoking, utterly unsurprised. Martin almost yelled. Lucas placed a gentle hand on Drea's hair and stroked softly, murmuring something about how gorgeous she was. Lucas had known all along she'd cave. Lucas had known once they left the party. Lucas had probably known as soon as he'd seen her. Drea had known too. Why else go for a walk with him? Martin saw Drea wiggle the floppy shaft far back into her mouth and then suck hard, stretching the dick.

"I missed that sight very much," he said, looking down.

Drea briefly slipped him out of her mouth. "Shut up," she said. "Say nothing or I'll change my mind."

Lucas flicked his cigarette butt several cars away. "Nah," he said. "You're into it now. We both know you won't stop until you get what you want."

Drea grunted and pulled the rest of him through the opening. Martin saw big hairy balls hanging low and the dark shaft swelling quickly. If she were sucking any man but Lucas, Martin would be wildly excited. Instead, his heart was torn in two. Drea looked so happy to once again have this penis in her face and that made Martin's heart ache. This wasn't just sex for her. This was history. Martin was terrified what all this might mean but aroused by that cock slipping in and out of her mouth. Regardless of his fear, his penis began to stiffen. He quietly unzipped and began to stroke, timing his hand to match his wife.

Lucas hardened fast. Drea sucked like she'd missed it very much. Lucas let her go until he was ready and then lifted her by the elbows.

"No," she snapped. "Not that." She struggled halfheartedly.

"Shut the fuck up," he laughed. "You knew this was coming."

He turned her to face the Caddy and pulled up her dress in back. She'd worn a white thong, a tiny string splitting her ass cheeks. Lucas tugged the thread hard enough to rip it. Drea watched over a shoulder, barely struggling now, as that thick erection moved closer. She stared with lips parted. Lucas bent his cock under her ass and felt for her hole and she moaned when he found it.

Martin wanted to scream. This was the best and the worst of all possible worlds. Drea looked sexy beyond belief but that was Lucas pushing a cock into her. Lucas. Martin felt the ground suddenly drop from beneath when he realized Lucas was bare. He was inside Drea skin against skin.

He's feeling her the way I get to feel her, he thought. He's feeling her like a husband. Martin's penis surged. This was a terrible fate.

Lucas grabbed Drea's wrists and pulled her arms back, trapping her body against the car. He fucked her with short hard stokes, banging her thighs against the fender. She was gasping and taking his thrusts, frozen in the moment and unable to act. His fat cock had her completely submissive. He let go and Drea grabbed both tits, lifting and twisting her nipples. She gasped loudly and Lucas laughed.

"Same as always," he said. "You never could wait."

Martin's world caved in. Drea was about to cum and she could do nothing to stop it. Lucas let her climb higher and higher and then shoved her away and ripped his cock free. Drea cried out in disappointment, her orgasm, so close, falling away.

"Fuck me, you asshole," she groaned. "Put it back in."

"Nah."

Drea rolled her hips towards the man, trying to recapture his erection.

"Do it," she said. "I'm almost there."

"I know," he answered, smug. "I know your sounds. I know your body."

"Don't be a prick. Fuck me."

"Say it again, Drea."

"Fuck me."

Lucas held his cock an inch away. "Say it again."

"Fuck me, Lucas. Please."

Without warning Lucas buried his cock again, fucking her hard and fast. Drea closed her eyes to really feel him moving deep but a minute later he groaned and exploded inside her. She moaned with frustration and tried to fuck herself on him before he went soft. She pounded a fist on the Cadillac.

"You bastard," she whined.

Lucas was laughing. "Take that home to Martin," he said. "Let your man make you cum. I just needed you for pussy."

Martin expected Drea to spin around and smack the man but she didn't. Instead, she tugged her tight white dress into place and leaned against his chest, offering her lips which Lucas kissed softly.

"I wish I'd never met you," she murmured.

"I'm sure of it," he agreed.

Martin watched until they'd straightened their clothing. Drea punched Lucas on the shoulder and scolded him for ripping her panties.

"What's going to hold all that cum in?" she asked. "I'll get a wet spot."

Lucas just grinned. They checked on each other and then headed back.

Martin gazed down at his throbbing erection, wondering what to do. No way could he return to work. He drove home and took a hot shower and then changed into shorts and a T-shirt. He paced the house, wondering what Drea's infidelity meant. He worried his marriage was over but some calm voice in the back of his head rejected that notion. He knew in his gut it wasn't.

Drea came through the front door much later, well after the time Martin would be home anyway, so she kissed him on the lips and asked about work. He played it cool too, asking about the party. Martin was amazed how easy it was for her to hide what happened. He had no idea what to say or do so he waited for something to present itself. They talked for a few minutes and then Drea said she needed a shower.

Martin almost panicked. Without knowing why, he tried to steer her away from the bathroom.

"Come on, Baby," she said. "People were smoking there. I have it in my hair and my clothing. I need to rinse off."

Martin followed her into the bedroom and came up behind her. He knew she carried a gallon of Lucas inside her pussy. As she neared the bed and stripped off her dress, he used her momentum and bent her at the waist, pushing her onto her stomach on their bed. He squatted behind her and without a word sank his tongue into her steaming cunt. She was a tangy mess and she fought him.

"No, Baby," she implored. "I'm gross down there."

He spread her butt cheeks and lapped at her dripping pussy. No one mentioned her missing panties or why she was so wet. Martin buried his face and licked all over, forcing his tongue deep to lick her inner walls. Drea was groaning in seconds. Martin kicked off his shorts.

"Reach back," he gasped. "Spread yourself."

Drea grabbed a cheek in each hand and pulled, opening her flooded and puffy cunt. Martin licked her sensitive pink inner lips and sucked on her clit. She'd be ready to orgasm soon, he felt it. He kept her legs pinned to the side of the bed, eating her pussy from behind, tasting the decadent mix of her juices and her lover's seed, adding another kink to his list.

Her cries of pleasure were rising fast. Martin felt the tension Lucas left in her. He licked and sucked, soft at first and then hard, fast and then slow, driving his young wife crazy. He pushed a finger in. She grabbed a pillow to hug and then her hips tensed and her asshole winked as her pussy clenched around his finger. She was silent for a moment and then filled the bedroom with a screech, cumming hard and flooding Martin's mouth. Martin loved the way his unfaithful wife tasted. He slurped and licked, driving her climax higher until she squirmed to get away. At last she shoved herself higher onto the bed and rolled on her back.

"Jesus, Marty! What got into you?"

He stood and showed her his raging erection but said nothing of what he'd seen. Drea rolled sideways and popped his cock head into her mouth. Martin watched his pretty wife suck, vividly remembering Lucas so recently in her mouth and getting the same treatment. His dick surged even harder.

He never told her what he saw that day in the parking lot. A week later Tamara was over for game night and the ladies talked about the party. Martin waited until Drea came to bed to bring it up.

"Lucas is still in the States?"

"Yeah. He stays a few days with a friend and then must move on. Immigration is tracking him down."

Martin got thoughtful for a moment. "But they don't visit you? They've never come here looking for him?"

"No, why would they? I married you, silly. This is the last place he'd come. They know I'd never allow him to stay here."

Martin drew a deep breath. "Maybe he should."

Drea froze, stunned. "What?"

"You should tell him to come hide here."

Their eyes met. Martin was already imagining standing under the rose trellis and gazing into the bathroom. He knew there was no way they'd keep their hands off each other and he had a hundred ways to spy inside the house.

Drea studied her husband, wondering if this suggestion had anything to do with the fantasy he revealed all those months ago. They looked into each other's eyes, searching, wondering. Martin unconsciously licked his lips and Drea had a sudden burst of intuition.

"All right," she said at last. "I'll call him in the morning. He can have the guest room and use the back gate to sneak in and out."

"Perfect," Martin said, his voice trembling.

Drea kept watching her man. She said nothing, but she understood.

"Don't you love leading a couple to a place of acceptance?" Simone asked. "Our clients come to us so trapped, so chained to their old rules or preconceived notions. My favorite thing is to lead them to a new place, to climb a mountain with them and show a new and beautiful view they'd never seen before."

I agreed. "We absorb rules and values from our parents without realizing it," I said. "I love the look on my client's faces when they discover they are free to set their own rules, free to establish the values that work best for them."

Simone ate some curly fries.

"The moment they learn they are free, they invariably ask what the new rules should be. Ironical, no?"

I laughed. "It's true. We're trained from birth. What do you say to them?"

Simone held up a finger, counting off: "No minors," she said. She raised another finger. "Nothing against anyone's will. No injuries. No lies."

We stared at her four fingers.

"Pretty simple," I said.

"You'd think," she chuckled. "Easy to say, hard to do. Take this next couple I worked with, for example. They figured things out, eventually, but I felt bad for the husband in the early days. His wife twisted him into a Gordian knot. Neither of them saw what was coming."

My Wife Saves the Day

"I fucked up bad this time, Baby," I said, tossing my coat over the barstool and my keys in the bowl by the door. "Really, really bad."

Valerie covered her face with both hands. "Christ, Dean, what now?"

My jaw refused to move. How could I admit something so stupid? Val would leave me this time. I felt it in my gut. Valerie would walk out and that was unacceptable. She was easily the prettiest woman I've ever dated. She's one of the most beautiful women I've ever seen. I chased her hard in the beginning, determined to win her, and, somehow, I did. I love coming home to a girl this gorgeous. I love going out with her on my arm. I love watching friends and strangers look at her and then look at me, wondering how the hell I pulled it off.

"I bet Friday's deposit on the Rams. They lost."

Her head snapped up. "Goddamn it, Dean! Gambling? Again?"

"It was a sure thing."

"Then why are we having this conversation?"

She was angry. I couldn't blame her.

"You cannot lose this job, Dean. We are way behind. We'll lose our home, our cars...I am not going back to that life."

"I know, I know. I'll figure something out."

But what? I had until Tuesday, possibly Wednesday before my boss, Mac, discovered what I'd done. He owns the garage where I work. It's a small business and that deposit will be missed. How could I be so stupid? More importantly, how did the Eagles beat the Rams?

I thought about robbing a convenience store or other small business to replace the money. I know that's extreme and I didn't do it, but I thought about it.

To make matters worse Mac would be at our place for the Monday night game, along with all the guys from work. Valerie and I would need to act like nothing was wrong, talking and laughing with them all. I'd gambled and lost before. That's why I got fired from my last job. I'd lost a lot of money over the years. Val was over my excuses.

We weren't speaking when we went to bed Sunday night.

On Monday, nobody asked about Friday's deposit so I made it through the day all right. I got home and Val already had the chips and dip out. I took that as a good sign but it wasn't. She still did not say a word. We went through our routine, getting everything ready for the first guest.

Ten minutes before kickoff everyone was there.

While the Saints and the Panthers slugged it out, I tried to get Valerie to warm up. Nobody noticed anything because she was as sweet as always to each of them and when she spoke to me, which was rarely, she was friendly. Only Darryl, my best friend, noticing something was off. I told him Val and I were in a fight and he let it go.

The game was a defensive struggle so there was plenty of talking going on. Valerie had been gone for a while by the time I finally noticed.

Mac was gone too.

I stayed with the guests, yelling at the television like all of them, but keeping an eye out for Val. About thirty minutes later Mac reentered the den by one door and Val, a few minutes later, by another.

Halftime; snacks, drinks, laughter. Start of the third quarter.

This time when Mac slipped away, I casually watched Val from the corner of my eye. Yup. Pretending to notice an empty bowl of chips, she headed for the kitchen. I waited a minute and followed like a ninja. I was passing through the family room when I saw movement outside. I angled by the window and that's when I saw Valerie on one knee and Mac's cock in her mouth. The angle was bad, obscured by his clothing, but I saw enough. I froze. I mean everything. My brain, my heart, my body. Valerie was into it. She'd hooked her brown hair behind her ears and wrapped both hands around him. Her lips covered her teeth and her head bounced back and forth. Mac leaned his back against our home, pants open and underwear pulled down, and watched my pretty wife gobble his dick. He looked amazed this was happening so I assumed it was all Valerie's idea.

Before I could reengage my brain, Mac grabbed her head with both hands and began to jerk. My boss was shooting cum into my wife's mouth! Val didn't fight at all. She took more cock and braced her hands on his hips and I saw her busy throat swallow.

She only does that for me on special occasions.

That's when it hit me; my wife was buying an insurance policy for when Mac got the news I'd gambled away his money. Valerie was already acting on her plan. It hurt to see him in her mouth like that, I won't lie, but goddamn, what a woman of action. I couldn't get angry. Obviously, I didn't agree with her choice but I was the one that forced her to do something.

I watched another second but started to worry I'd been gone too long. I heard a cheer from the den. I took one last look of my wife sucking the last of his cum and I double-timed it back to the party, grabbing another six-pack on the way. I handed out the beers to my friends but my thoughts were on my wife.

Soon Valerie and Mac rejoined us, again entering at different times through different doors. I watched my wife to see what she gave away and was a little surprised to discover I couldn't read her at all. She may have just buried a body or gone to the bathroom. I couldn't tell the difference.

Mac was easier because he kept yawning. My wife had drained him dry and zapped all his energy. I kept waiting for anger to arrive but it never did. If anything, I felt some relief. I know how pathetic that makes me sound but Valerie had taken one for the team. She'd protected me. She'd not paid my entire bill but she'd placed a nice down payment.

The game continued and she came to stand by me, holding my hand lightly and cheering for the Panthers. I impishly kissed her cheek just to smell her breath. Yup. Sperm. I felt a little dizzy. Eventually the game ended and everyone went home. I thanked each one, shook hands and gave out hugs, including Mac.

Desire for my wife began to grow. As Valerie and I got ready for bed that night, it topped out and I made a move, coming up behind her to kiss her neck. She laughed.

"Seriously? I don't think so," she said.

I took a step back. "You'll suck Mac's cock but you don't want mine?"

I must work on my impulse control. Her face fell. She sputtered, flustered and unable to fire a snappy comeback. I moved in again and kissed her lips. She struggled to break my hug.

"Kiss me back," I said. "Kiss me with the cheating mouth you used on him."

She punched my shoulder. I leaned into another kiss and got a slight response. That was all I needed. I was kissing her like crazy, mauling her big tits and telling her everything I saw, telling her if she can suck his cock she can goddamn well suck mine too. I showered her face and throat with kisses and finally she relented, gasping for air as she swatted my roving hands. I yanked open her bathrobe and lifted her onto the vanity. I sucked a nipple before kissing her again and forced her thighs open with my hips. She was fighting me but not fully.

I pushed my pajama bottoms down and freed my dick. I covered her mouth with mine and pushed my tongue in. I tasted slippery salt. I gagged a little but I was inflamed. I felt my penis brush her slit and I pushed, forcing a deep groan from her as I sank my dick deep. She was wet. Wet, from sucking another man's cock. That hurt but instead of angry I just got more turned on. I fucked her while bracing myself against our bathroom mirror. She came, hard, surprising us both. I came soon after, my body shuddering as I emptied into her.

The passion started to drain away and her anger with me returned. She was ready for my fury, ready to defend what she'd done.

"I saw you," I said again. "I saw you suck Mac's cock."

She met my gaze, defiant. "Which time?" Her head was cocked and her eyes blazing. She was daring me to get mad.

"Whi- which?" I stammered, taken aback. "What do you mean which time? How many times did you do it?"

"Three."

"Three!" I'm not as observant as I thought. "I saw you swallow."

"That was the last time."

"That's the one I saw," I whined.

"Lucky you."

I took a step back. "Why'd you do it, Val?"

"Why do you think? He doesn't know about the deposit yet. I want him thinking fondly of us when he gets the news."

I sat on the bed. She stood and closed her robe. She brushed her hair and then her teeth. She glanced at me in the mirror as I stared dumbly at the carpet.

"Why did you want me so much?" she asked.

I shook my head. "I don't know. I saw you with him and I waited to get mad but didn't. I got horny. I had to have you."

A strange look passed over her face. We both retreated into our own thoughts. She finished getting ready for bed and turned out the light and we fell asleep, again, without talking.

Tuesday.

I walked into the garage and punched my timecard. Mac was on the phone in his office. He turned his back when he saw me and that's not good. He always waves hello. I got to work on the first car, a GMC Acadia. Soon I felt a tap on my shoulder. Mac.

"Need to talk to you," he said, turning for his office without waiting.

I entered and he shut the door behind me. He pulled the small shade over the window in the door and then closed the blinds. He sat on the corner of his desk, shaking his head and rubbing his hands together.

"What the fuck, Dean?"

I played dumb. "What's wrong?"

"That was my account rep." he pointed at the phone on his desk.

"She has no record of the Friday deposit. I trusted you to make the Friday deposit, Dean. Where's the Friday deposit?"

"In the cash vault of the MGM."

"Why does the MGM have my money?"

"Because I bet it on the Rams for Sunday."

"Fuck!"

Yeah, the guys out in the shop heard that one.

"That was payroll money, Dean. I've got five guys out there with their hand out. They've all got wives and kids at home with their hands out. What do I tell them? "

"I'm sorry."

"Fuck your apology. I need money. What can you sell?"

I looked at him funny.

"Jewelry? Watches?"

"No." I was too ashamed to admit I'd already sold those because of last time.

He crossed his arms. His toe began to tap. In that moment, I saw the brilliance of my wife's maneuver. "I should fire you," he said. "I would if you weren't so good with engines. I'd fire you and call the cops." His toe was going wild; tap tap tap tap. "But you're the best mechanic I have. The clients love you. Worst of all, I'd hate to do that to Valerie." Tap tap tap.

Not getting fired would be fantastic. I was about to offer deducting a small amount from my paychecks until I paid him back when I saw on his face he'd already reached a decision.

"You are going to work fourteen hour days, seven days a week, until the debt is canceled. I won't pay you any extra, but I'm not firing you either. I'll have to draw money from my retirement account to replace what you lost and get these guys paid."

I said nothing, happy to still have a job. Typically for me, I wasn't thinking beyond the moment, or why Mac might want me so busy. All I saw was the wrong I'd done and the path he was offering me out of it. When I got home that night and told Valerie, she wasn't upset. Mostly she was relieved I still had a job. All these clues landing around me and I see none of them.

The next day Mac left the shop at six and I waved goodbye. I locked the front doors two hours later, ran through the closing checklist, made the deposit, grateful he was trusting me again, and headed home.

Trusting me. Yeah, right.

His truck was in the driveway. My driveway. Next to my wife's car.

I stared at those vehicles in my headlights for a full minute, my stomach churning with dread. I knew what I was looking at, I just couldn't get my mind to accept it.

I parked at the curb across the street and killed the engine. What to do? Barge in on them? Sneak up and look through my own windows? It was my Goddamn house. Why creep around like a burglar? The longer I sat in my car, the greater chance a neighbor would notice. I grabbed my jacket and walked to the front door as casually as possible, like being squeezed out of the marital picture was all part of my plan.

I heard Val's moan the moment I stepped into the house.

I quietly set my things on the kitchen counter and tiptoed down the hallway to our bedroom. Son of a bitch motherfucker. Valerie leaned on a stack of pillows, including the one I slept on every night, her back arched, her legs spread. Mac was going to town, his face buried between her legs. Val played with her tits while he licked her pussy, her head tilted way back, mouth wide open. Her face looked so gorgeous and her expression so sexy, for a moment I forgot that was my boss between her legs.

What the fuck could I do? Storm in and fight him? Scream my psychic pain at her? Lose my job and my wife in the same instant, and possibly my car and my house soon after? Hell no.

My intestines twisted like a couple of snakes fighting. She looked hot, yes, but it was another man causing those sounds, another man causing the intense pleasure contorting her face. You have no idea the anguish such an experience brings. She sent one hand down to his thinning hair to guide him all around. He licked like she was sweet as candy. He was good at it because within a minute he had Valerie cumming, and if you thought I was in agony before, listening to her orgasm with him almost killed me.

He let her down softly, slowing his tongue and kissing her thighs. When her breathing returned to normal he kissed up her belly. I saw his ass rise and his meat swinging between his legs. His butt was hairy. His kisses kept climbing up her body and soon he was kissing her lips. His cock pointed down, pressed against her labia, spreading them so they hugged his shaft. I couldn't breathe. My impulse was to shout at them but for once I controlled myself. I didn't want this to happen but I had to let it happen. I thought about leaving. I could visit the pub down the street and return later. This would be too painful to watch. But my feet were glued. If I left the room, I'd never know what happened.

Why the fuck didn't the Rams win?

Mac and Val made out for a minute and then my wife slipped her hand down to guide him in. He looked substantial but until I saw her hand for comparison I couldn't be sure. Now I knew. Her wedding ring glittered down there, sparkling on the finger where I'd placed it. Now that finger was wrapped around my boss's erection. She lifted his stiff log, rubbing the head around her opening, and then tugged him in just a bit. I felt dizzy again. His hairy ass flexed and I saw another man's cock spread my wife's pussy. Sweet Jesus, I thought my head would explode.

His ass flexed again and sank about three inches into her. She was wet, there's no denying that, and her moans were real. He partially withdrew to adjust his knees and then pushed everything he had. She groaned, he groaned, and even I groaned. I couldn't help it. Valerie heard and looked over his hairy arm. Our eyes met and then she looked at Mac.

"He's here," she said.

"Good," he grunted. He leaned his weight and his cock disappeared inside her all the way to his balls. Valerie gasped.

That was all the attention they paid me.

Mac began to fuck my wife with feeling and she returned it. Her legs crawled up his wide body to circle his waist. One arm curled around his neck and the other lifted a nipple to his mouth. That's a move she always does with me and fuck did it sting seeing her do it with him. He sucked while he fucked and I stared at his naked cock sliding in and out of her. She was drenched, wildly excited to have him moving inside, and his cock glistened. Goddamn it.

Soon he moved his hand under her body and cupped her little butt. Now he could plunge deeper than ever and Valerie was losing her mind. His cock was kicking her ass. She squirmed under him, writhing like she was on fire. When he slid a fat finger over and found her sphincter, she squealed. He pushed his digit two knuckles deep and worked the finger in and out. Valerie went nuts. Both her tunnels were stuffed. She makes me leave her asshole alone but I guess this was a special occasion. Mac was going to make her cum again, I could hear it. He walked his knees closer and started dropping his weight on her, driving his cock all the way in. I worried he'd hurt her but she loved it, crying out each time he plunged.

"Fuck me!" she abruptly yelled. "Oh my God that's good. Fuck me!"

Mac chuckled. "I've wanted to fuck you forever," he said. "From that first Christmas party when Dean introduced you. All the guys in the shop wanted to fuck you."

Valerie loved hearing that. Her back arched trying to offer him more pussy. He pounded her little hole. He shoved his finger all the way up her rectum and her head twisted sideways.

"Fuuuuuuuuck!" she yelled.

Mac's cock was turning her inside out. His body was much bigger so she was pinned beneath him, forced to take every stiff inch. Her grunts and cries grew louder and then peaked. Her scream filled our bedroom. Valerie was cumming on his cock and work would never be the same. Mac would always have this moment over me. He bit her upturned nipple and she just kept cumming. Her cunt was sloshing. The sounds she made got to him as much as they were getting to me and he sucked a ton of air and then bellowed like a bull.

"Take it!" he shouted, driving his cock deep.

He was injecting hot sperm into my wife. My heart ruptured. He hollered again but I couldn't tell what he said. He was cumming like crazy and so was she. I vaguely wondered how long he'd gone with sex because he was pumping a lot of semen into her. I slid down the wall and sat on the floor.

Once his balls were empty, he collapsed on top. Both were breathing hard. His weight was too much and she rolled him to the side, curling up against his big hairy body. I wondered who, in that insane situation, would be the first to speak.

"Can you go again?" Valerie asked after about five minutes.

He wiped the sweat from his face, running his fingers back through his wispy hair. "I can for you," he said. "But give me about twenty."

They resumed cuddling. He's old so I didn't believe him.

But what about me? Good question. No way was I leaving them alone together. I decided to take a shower since I'd worked all day. I slipped past the bed, ignoring them like they ignored me, and shut the bathroom door. The hot water felt great. I dried and brushed my teeth, wondering if I'd be forced to sleep on the couch tonight. I killed the light and opened the bathroom door.

Mac had my wife on all fours. He was on his knees behind her, thumb up her ass, slowly easing his cock in and out. The old fucker was hard as steel. I was close enough to touch his dick if I wanted, which I didn't, but I stopped to watch. Valerie's small pussy was a tight seal around his girth. No wonder she was making all those sounds. Her ass was high in the air and her face in the bedspread, her big tits smooshed to the sides. Mac was in Heaven. He stared at her pussy gripping him and thanked God for his good fortune. Fuck.

As bad as that night was, the following weeks were worse. Mac practically lived with us. I was gone from the house all day because of the hours he'd set and I knew whenever he left work he was on his way to Valerie.

I suspected they'd agreed this was my punishment and they were right.

With the passing of time I only had two ways to go; learn to hate it even more and leave Valerie and quit my job, or accept that I deserved some retribution and take it like a man. I took the second route.

The first night Valerie and I had alone, about three weeks later, I fucked her all over the bedroom. I was an animal. She loved it. We reconnected, although my sentence wasn't lifted, and I knew we were going to be okay. Our marriage would survive.

That weekend we went out as a threesome. Valerie showed Mac more affection than she showed me, although it was obvious from the matching wedding rings she and I were the married couple. I prayed no one we knew was in the club. I thought that was the worst part of my night but I was wrong yet again. Mac encouraged her to flirt with men more her age and when she found a guy she liked, she invited him to our booth and back to our home. I soon found myself watching again as Mac and this stud fucked Valerie like a whore.

The guy asked if I wanted some but I said I was feeling sick to my stomach, which wasn't a lie. I watched, and to everyone's surprise, including mine, I got hard. My wife was in our bed getting royally fucked by a man at each end and my dick got hard. What the hell?

Eventually, I paid my debts. Mac was true to his word and stopped coming over but Valerie had changed. She'd caught the scent of fresh meat and after a week or so she told me she wanted us to go out and find her another lover.

"Haven't I been punished enough?" I asked.

She grinned, stepping close and softly kissing my lips.

"Your dick does not lie," she said. "I know part of you hates it, but part of you loves it too, and since all of me loves it, why should we stop?" She kissed my ear, the heat from her body warming me. I felt her fingers brush the front of my pants. "I know you want to watch me fuck," she said. "I see it in your eyes. I see what your cock does when another man has me. Don't think of it as punishment anymore. Think of it as a mutual treat we both enjoy. You still have your job and you still have me. I saved the day."

I ordered a beer and bought Simone another glass of wine.

"That poor man," I said. "That was a painful lesson."

"Indeed, although when last we spoke, he no longer gambles."

We both chuckled. The waitress replaced Simone's glass with a fresh one. I waited for her to leave.

"Do you remember the couple I told you about recently?" I asked. "Wife was fairly Puritan? She'd spied on an attractive neighbor and ended up cheating with him."

"Yes, I remember."

"They're swingers now."

"Wow. Okay, this I've got to hear."

Waiting to Inhale

"Are we swingers?" Lauren muttered.

David took a moment to ponder. Lauren had taken three new men over the last two months, never to see them again. She'd given David permission to fuck Stina but he'd declined, enjoying a young woman they'd met together at a bar instead. Lauren had dabbled in pussy for the first time that night and loved it.

"Yeah, I think we are," David said.

Lauren grinned broadly. "That's exciting," she said.

David pointed at a small package wrapped in green and red. "While we're on the subject," he said. "Open that one."

Lauren sat the present in her lap and looked up at her husband.

"Go ahead," he said.

Lauren started to carefully pull the tape and then realized what she was doing. She sank her nails through the paper and ripped, to the delight of the children. She flipped a cardboard tab and withdrew a video camera, smiling devilishly.

"Our movies will be better than Troy's," David said. "Greg has offered to assist."

"I can't wait."

"Good. There's a man from work, Teddy, who you met once, that offered to take us out for drinks with his wife. I told him we'd love to go. Next Saturday."

Lauren laughed, truly happy. She sent her gaze around the room; her fine home, her beautiful kids, her loving husband.

"I can't wait," she said again. "Let's get a sitter and go out tonight."

David saw the excitement in her eyes. Her face glowed. "All right. What are you thinking?"

Lauren look at the camera in her hands. She leaned close and whispered in David's ear.

"I want to pretend I'm a hooker."

David gawked at her. Lauren giggled. The kids were too interested in their new toys to care what mom and dad did.

"You can record me from across the street," Lauren continued, her voice low. "Remember that club we went to a few weeks ago? Dirty Dan's?"

It's in a bad section of town and I saw prostitutes standing on street corners and I wondered what that life must be like. Can you imagine? Any man can have sex with you. You have no choice if he has money. It must be terrifying but exciting at the same time."

"I'm not sure that's how it works," David said.

Lauren waved him off. "That doesn't really matter. I just want to dress like they do and stand there for everyone to see. I want to see the faces of the self-righteous people in the cars that drive by. I used to be them just a short time ago. I want to see them judge me and I want to smile back, especially to the women."

"Wow."

"Yes. I want their husband to look upon me with lust in their hearts."

David chuckled. "That sounds biblical."

"Maybe it is a little. Jesus hung out with whores. I hate how people look down on them, like they're worthless trash. I'm going to stand there proudly, unashamed."

"Uh huh. You want all those husbands ogling you."

"Yes, that's true too."

David sent his eyes over her fluffy robe and goofy slippers. A pen held her messy hair atop her head. "What will you wear?" he asked.

"What I saw those ladies wearing. I have lots of ideas. Don't worry, you'll like it."

The day wore on and the kids loved their presents. A growing anxiety ate at David's stomach while he helped James ride his new bike and Stacey install her new PC game. Lauren would stand on a street corner wearing almost nothing and shiver with delight as all those eyes crawled across her flesh. How ironic she wanted to stand out there today. He saw that as a rejection of her former life.

In the afternoon, the family visited friends and then returned home. David went to retrieve the babysitter. Lauren put the kids to bed after a busy day so Anna, the sitter, could finish her homework and then sleep on the couch. David noticed that although too young now, Anna would be a beauty soon. Her body was already developing into something special.

"Perv," Lauren teased when she caught her husband looking.

"Guilty," he said. "Anna is going to be a babe."

Lauren peeked around the corner into the kitchen where Anna sat at the dining table pouring over school books. The girl wore a halter top and short shorts and had her hair pulled into a simple pony tail. She wore no makeup but her rosy cheeks and lush eyelashes gave her the effect of blush and fake lashes. Her breasts strained at her bra.

"Yup," Lauren said without a trace of jealousy. "You nailed it."

She flashed her eyes at her husband. He caught the double meaning.

"Sweet Jesus," he said.

Lauren grinned and kissed him on the cheek. "Let's go," she said.

"I'm eager to get out there. We can watch the video when we get home."

David caught that meaning too. They discussed details on the drive across town and Lauren, to get into character, sucked David's cock as he drove. She wore a sluttier version of a Catholic schoolgirl uniform, which they agreed was cliché but perfect for her fantasy. She'd skipped a bra but was forced to wear panties because her skirt was so short. David had insisted.

"Park down the street and film me talking to horny men," she said.

"I'll lean on their door and let them see down my shirt."

David heard the excitement in her voice and saw it in her eyes.

"I may even reach in and give a free handjob," she said.

"Just don't get in their car."

Lauren scoffed. "Of course not, Darling. I'm pretending to be a whore. I don't actually want to be one."

David studied her face, wondering if this was just an elaborate set-up. They were both still intoxicated by their new life and new freedom. Did Lauren secretly wish for something carnal to happen? This was the riskiest thing that done by far. Were they moving too fast?

"Should we stop for condoms?" he asked, worried.

Lauren scoffed. "I'm not going to have sex with a stranger, David. I just want the thrill of standing out here and having people look at me. I want them to think I'm a whore. I don't want to be a whore."

David said he understood but something about her behavior nagged him. He pulled to the curb and Lauren got out to adjust her outfit. His penis twitched.

"You look hot," he told his wife.

Lauren opened another button, now showing belly skin down to her navel.

"Thanks," she said, lifting her tits to create more cleavage. "I hope they don't ignore me," she laughed. "That would suck."

"No man can ignore you, Baby."

She blew her husband a kiss and stepped to the sidewalk, heart pounding. David drove alongside until she reached a corner and then sped ahead to turn around. She was the only girl at this intersection. The office buildings around were dark and traffic was light. David hoped she'd not have to wait long. He expected she'd grow bored quickly as this life is probably not as exciting as she imagined. He glanced in his rearview and saw her standing under the street light. Blood surged to his dick.

That's Lauren, he thought. I should pay and take her to a motel.

He chuckled and spun the wheel, pulling to the curb and raising the video. He adjusted the focus and the aperture to shoot at night and rested the camera on his door for stability. Moments later the first car drove by. David felt the same jolt of adrenaline Lauren experienced. The car slowed, checking her out. Lauren was unsure what to do so she adjusted her dress shirt, bouncing the material and flashing both breasts.

The next car slowed too but then stopped. David saw the passenger window drop and a man lean over. Lauren approached the window. David knew her heart must hammer inside her chest. She was virtually naked, in public view, talking to a stranger about sex.

She's drenched, he thought. I'm sure of it. I wonder if he has his cock out.

David held the camera steady, admiring his brave and sexy wife. It boggled his mind how far they'd come and how fast. Lauren and her mark seemed to enjoy a casual conversation. Another car drove around them. After a moment, Lauren returned to her corner and the car drove away. David burned with curiosity, wondering what they'd discussed, what the man had seen.

For a long time, nothing happened and David knew they'd edit this part out. Then a police car pulled up to the curb and David held his breath. Lauren had seen the car before David so her top was buttoned when she spoke to the officer. David knew she'd probably broken into a cold sweat. She'd done nothing illegal but an arrest for prostitution would freak her out. They chatted and Lauren showed the cop her cell phone and then pointed down the street and away from David. The police cruiser pulled away after another brief conversation. Lauren fanned her face, relieved.

David wondered if that had killed the fun for Lauren and now she wanted to leave. He decided to check on her, slipping his car keys into his pocket and heading up the sidewalk. He kept recording as he drew closer to his wife.

A black Explorer pulled to the curb and the passenger window dropped. David saw them talking through the SUVs windows and then Lauren opened the door and climbed in! The passenger window rose and the large black vehicle drove away.

David was paralyzed for a moment and then raced to his car. By the time he got the engine started and made the U turn, he'd lost them. He drove around in ever-widening circles but to no avail. Lauren was gone.

He pulled into an empty lot and tried to call but she didn't answer. He sent a text asking if she was all right but got no reply. He sat with the engine running, trying to think what to do next. He couldn't call the cops; Lauren had entered the Explorer of her own free will. David wracked his brain for the next step.

His phone buzzed in his hand and he jumped. He raced through the screens to read her message; Blue Dolphin Rm 6 Window.

David didn't fully understand but searched Google maps for anything Blue Dolphin. A motel by that name was two blocks away. He put the car in drive and rolled.

The rooms ran in a straight line behind the manager's office but David didn't stop. He circled once, counting down from room twelve until he killed his headlights and pulled in a few spots away from the black Explorer. The place was deserted. Only rooms one and six had any lights on. David stuck to shadows and approached room six. The blackout curtains had a gap down the middle, no doubt left by a thoughtful Lauren. David peered inside.

Lauren was on her back, legs spread obscenely wide, pointing at opposite walls. A black man lay on her, enormously fat and sweating. His thick cock pummeled her tiny white pussy. Her spread legs bounced as he pounded her.

The room was barren; a queen bed with one nightstand, a lamp on a desk. An unopened condom sat on the nightstand, a stack of green bills next to that. David's heart jumped into his throat.

She's doing it, he thought, mesmerized by the rise and fall of that solid black piston. Lauren had the man so wet he gleamed.

David raced to his car and returned with the camera, filming before he even got to the window. The man had bent her legs so far over her body, her feet bounced off the wall. Through the double pane glass David heard the man's wild grunts and Lauren's piercing cries, a mix of pain and pleasure, excitement and fear. Poor Lauren was crushed beneath the man's belly. He was sweating profusely, showering her with salty droplets. He fucked like an animal, clumsy and urgent, but Lauren seemed to love it all. The man was rough but his desire was real. David saw on her face how much she welcomed the big man's lust.

The man whipped his cock free and David was shocked to see how slick and shiny he was with Lauren's juices.

She's literally dripping for him.

Like a brute, the man flipped her onto her stomach and roughly pulled her hips. He shoved his cock deep in one hard thrust. Lauren cried out but squeezed the bedspread in her fists and pushed her cunt back at him.

Pow!

A huge black hand comes down on a smooth white ass. Lauren yelps but keeps working her hips, grinding her dripping pussy on this black cock.

Pow!

David hears the slaps through the glass and hopes the camera can pick up the sound. The man grabs her hair with both hands and jackhammers her cunt. Lauren is almost weeping, caught up and carried away by the man's uncontrollable hunger. He cares nothing for her orgasm, using her body to please himself. Lauren knows she's being used but her expression shows she loves it. Her pussy is the instrument of his mind-blowing pleasure; her body and beauty drives him crazy with lust.

He uses his massive weight to drive her into the bed and his hips jerk rapidly.

"Take it, slut!" he yells. "Take it!"

He grunts like a pig several times and then his hips go wild, convulsing as he dumps an ocean of hot sperm into this sexy married white bitch.

"Yes!" Lauren cries.

David can't take his eyes off that fat black tube stretching his wife. He sees the man's shaft pulsing as he pumps Lauren full. Sperm dribbles around the seal. David kept filming but his stomach lurches. This black stranger has filled Lauren to overflowing. Does she even know his name? For an instant David remembers their two beautiful children sleeping at home. His mind reels at the idea. How can this be the same woman? Empty black balls begin to relax, sliding down her slit to hang between her legs.

David realizes he's been holding his breath while the man filled Lauren.

The big man lifts his bulk off her body and callously pushes her away. A glut of semen backwashes out of her pussy. Lauren flops like a ragdoll on the cheap bed.

"You can find your own way back to your corner," the black giant said.

Lauren lifted a hand weakly, waving vaguely towards the door. David filmed as the man dressed, stepping behind an ice machine as he left the motel room and climbed into his Explorer. He left the door open, exposing the prostitute to anyone walking by. David darted into the room and shut the door behind him.

"Lauren?" he whispered. "Baby, are you okay?"

His wife lifted her head. She was dazed.

"That man fucks like a truck," she slurred.

"I saw everything," David said, waving the camera.

Lauren smiled faintly.

David helped her dress and walked her to the car. They were quiet on the drive home. The sitter was still awake so David wrapped Lauren in his sweat shirt and ushered her to the bedroom. He came back to pay Anna and noticed the girl had removed her bra and swapped out the shorts for flannel pajama bottoms. Puffy nipples poked her top but she seemed unaware or too innocent to understand. David drove her home stealing frequent glances. Once he returned he checked on the kids and then found Lauren waiting in bed.

"Fuck me," she purred the moment he'd shut the bedroom door.

He stepped close and pulled the covers back. She'd not showered, slipping directly into bed to wait for him. He nudged her leg and she let it fall aside revealing cum leaking from her slit. David began to undress.

"Why did you do that?" David asked.

Lauren knew what he meant. "The cop asked what I was doing on that corner and I said waiting for a friend to pick me up. He said he'd be watching and if I didn't get in the next car, he'd arrest me."

"That black guy was enormous."

Lauren bounced her eyebrows. "In many ways."

"Didn't he disgust you?"

"Yeah, but that repugnance turned me on. I told him three hundred dollars and he didn't argue at all. Can you believe a man would pay that much to fuck me?"

"You can make a lot more than that."

"Can I? I want to find out. I liked that he was so unattractive, it made everything purely about the sex. I'd never pick him for a lover but I liked the way he fucked me. He was rough and thoughtless and selfish. I felt used. It was hot."

"Is that how I should fuck you right now?"

Lauren leaned back and spread her legs. "Absolutely," she said, watching David strip. "I loved the look in his eyes," she continued. "Honey, I'm going to fuck any man that looks at me like that. Like they'd kill to be in me, like if I didn't say yes they'd bend me over and do it anyway. I love being desired that much. It's animal."

"They leave you breathless?"

"They do."

David's underwear came down revealing a firm erection. Lauren licked her lips.

"Use your tongue first," she said. "Make me cum. Then fuck me like you paid for me. Use me. Throw me around. Make me your whore."

David marveled how much his wife had changed in such a short time.

Do we all have a hidden self? he wondered. A version of ourselves we keep buried, locked away from everyone?

He aimed his question at himself. Yes, there was another David inside, he decided.

He lowered his mouth to Lauren's pussy, determined to make her cum long and hard. His wife was so beautiful.

"Good boy," she said, resting a hand on the back of his head.

David licked tentatively, worried about the presence of another male inside her, before her soft and sexy moan chased such concerns away. Her body was incredibly responsive. He tried to imagine what tonight was like for her.

I don't care that she's been fucked, he thought, listening to the sweet sounds pouring from her mouth. He licked her pussy and realized he had it wrong; he loved that she'd been fucked. Filled with seed was absolute proof of her wicked ways. His penis stiffened at the memory of what he'd seen. He licked faster and stronger, pushing his tongue far up inside.

I'll breathe later, he chuckled. Right now, I want to hear her cum.

Simone checked her watch and finished her wine. I gulped the last of my beer. It was late.

"Exhausting but gratifying work," she said.

I agreed.

"I marvel at the differences between men and women and the role sex plays for each. So rare to find a woman who desires to share her man. Finding a husband eager to share his wife is easy."

"The truth no one talks about," I added.

"Yes," Simone chuckled. "Except to us."

End.

Join My Mailing List
Get a FREE Hotwife Story!

Visit My New Website!
<https://authormatthewlee.com>

Follow My Twitter here

Find me on: GoodReads

Talk to Me

BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com