

The background of the cover is a collage of several faces, primarily of women, with a color palette dominated by deep purples, magentas, and bright yellows. The faces are partially obscured and layered, creating a sense of depth and mystery. The main face in the center-right is a woman with green eyes and a slight smile. Other faces are visible in the bottom left and bottom right corners, though less distinct.

Shared Secrets

A Collection of Hotwife
Tales; Volume Three

Matthew Lee

Shared Secrets

A Collection of Hotwife Tales

Volume Three

By Matthew Lee

I ordered another beer. Simone was running late so I watched the game on the big screen and ate peanuts. The waitress, Kathy Matthews, Cat to those of us lucky enough to know her, dropped a napkin on my table and placed my fresh Sam Adams on it.

"She's late," Cat announced.

"Indeed."

"Problem client?"

"I think so."

I glanced at Cat; long red hair and green eyes, freckles, killer body. Tied-off men's dress shirt and short skirt finished the look. She'd become our regular waitress soon after Simone and I made this a routine stop and I'd gotten to know her well. Married, with two daughters, Cat was interested in my conversations with Simone but respectful enough to never pry.

"Maybe I can talk to you a little before she gets here?"

I was surprised but quickly agreed. Cat does an excellent job for Simone and me. I was happy to return the favor.

"Strictly confidential?"

I gave a quick nod. "Not even Simone, if you say so."

"Cool. Yeah, not even Simone."

"Done. What's on your mind?"

Good for the Soul

I love my husband. Never doubt that. What I did had nothing to do with if I love the man or not, and had everything to do with my insatiable curiosity. I work at a bar and intoxicated men hit on me all day every day. My husband, Adam, is fine with that. He encourages it. He says it's a boost to his ego that so many men flirt with me. He has a strict no-touching rule but lusty looks and comments are welcome.

I enjoy it too. There is always that idiot who takes things too far, who misses the fat rock on my ring finger or my subtle clues that he's headed down the wrong path. I've had my ass grabbed so many times I've lost count. Tits too, sometimes. It comes with the territory and my husband doesn't need to know. I stomp my foot and slap hands or even faces but the truth is, I love it. I love it because I men. Maybe you think I mean I love sex. Nope. I've had sex with women a few times, including my best friend, Kathy, and it just doesn't do anything for me. Give me whiskers and thick wrists and veiny forearms and deep voices. Give me muscles and broad shoulders and narrow waists. I even like hairy legs. I love men. I meet a thousand a week and each time wonder how they kiss, what they're like in bed, what they look like naked. I don't act on any of it, but I wonder. All the ladies I work with are the same way. Maybe not as intensely as me, but close. Waitresses are a lusty lot.

Dale isn't handsome and Dale doesn't have an amazing body, but Dale is all man. He'd been out of the Marines two years the night he walked into my bar. I spotted him right away. His friends were all hot salesman types, expensive suits and slicked hair, but my eyes went to him. Dale had facial scars from a bomb in Iraq and was missing half his left hand, yet he held the door for three women behind him. He was quiet, allowing his boisterous party friends to lead the charge. I ignored them, slipping between two and standing before Dale.

"Green eyes like me," I said.

His friends were dumbfounded. Dale never got the girl.

"He's pretty like you, too," one of his buddies said, realizing, too late, his words were actually an insult. He tried to explain but I didn't care.

"Table for you and your friends?" I asked.

"Yes ma'am," he replied.

Polite. Respectful. Kind. Yeah, I'm wet. "I'm Cat," I said, extending a hand.

He shook it firmly. "Sergeant Major Dale McManus," he said.

His deep voice was calm and self-assured and yet softly dangerous. I was sure he could beat the shit out of every man in the pub even with half a hand. I felt immediately safe around him. His jerk friends kept trying to win my attention but I ignored them.

"What can I get you to drink, Sergeant Major?"

"Whiskey, ma'am. A bottle."

"Cat."

"Whiskey, Cat."

We stood there for two heartbeats gazing at each other. The feelings were mutual. His friends grew frustrated trying to get me to notice them and gave up, seating themselves at the large table near the widescreen.

They were good customers. They drank and tipped well and got along with the regulars. I flirted with Dale all night and his friends got the message and became his wingmen. I was dropping off another round and flirting again when one of his buddies shouted down the table that Dale should get my number.

"She's sporting a ring," he fired back, too much the gentleman to ask. "She's taken."

I looked him in the eye. "But if I wasn't you'd ask?"

"Oh, yes ma'am," he smiled. "I mean, yes, Cat."

I grabbed his phone from the tabletop, which was lit already, and opened contacts. I started punching buttons, entering my name and phone number. His friends hooted and hollered and gave him a hard time. I handed the phone to him and headed for the bar. His friends erupted in more teasing.

Nothing else noteworthy happened until I got home that night and told my husband what I'd done. He listened, puzzled, as I confessed my impulsive behavior.

"Why, Cat? Have you ever done that with other men?"

A fair question.

"No. Mostly to put his cocky friends in their place but also because the man was attractive. Not especially good looking or anything like that, just attractive."

Adam watched me carefully. "Should I be worried?"

"No, Baby," I said, planting a kiss on his lips. "I shouldn't have done it. It seemed like a saucy move at the time. The man is disfigured and his friends tease him about never getting the girl. I wanted to give him a moment"

"I get that." Adam was studying me. "You'd date him if you weren't with me."

"Probably."

"You'd make a lover of him."

"Possibly. Probably. Does that upset you?"

"No. Life's funny. I'm always amazed at the infinite paths life can take. If not for our chance meeting years ago, this guy might have ended up between your legs. Timing is everything. Fate is funny."

Adam may have been pondering the whimsical nature of life but he was creating images in my head that turned me on. I wanted him to shut up.

"Oh well," I said, flippantly. "Too bad for him."

We talked a while and then I showered before bed. I curled up next to my husband and drifted off.

Three nights later Dale entered the bar again, alone. He sat in Tammy's section but she recognized him.

"Your Prince is here," she told me. "Want to trade tables?"

I hesitated but said yes.

Dale wore tighter jeans and a nicer dress shirt and after a minute I realized he'd dressed up for me. I got flustered for a bit. I took his order and we chatted and then chatted again when I brought his drink. His body was thick and strong. Not lumpy like musclebound guys, just broad and wide and solid. Zero fat. It took him almost to the end of my shift to get around to his reason for coming back.

"Why'd you give me your number?" he asked.

I chuckled. "That's funny. My husband asked the same question."

"You told your husband?"

"I tell my husband everything."

"Do you give out your number often?"

It wasn't a judgement. Dale honestly wondered if that was a frequent behavior.

"Never," I said. "Wait. Only once."

Our eyes locked, green on green. For being such a bad-ass death-dealer, he sure radiated a lot of vulnerability in that moment.

"Why?" he asked again.

This time a vague or flippant answer wouldn't do. Women don't flirt with Dale. He's scarred and mangled and women don't give him the time of day. I saw that in his eyes. One simple flirtatious gesture and I had slipped in past his defenses. I could do some damage in here. My heart melted.

"I can't have this conversation on the floor, Dale, so I'll take a break now and meet you around back. I drive the truck with the camper shell parked by the dumpster. It's easy to find."

He grinned. "I parked my Jeep next to it," he said. "Lucky me."

I placed a napkin on his table and a shot on top.

"See you in a minute," I said.

In back, I told Tammy I was taking a quick break and to please keep an eye on my tables. She smacked my ass as I walked by. I tossed my apron over the empty crates and opened the back door. Dale was already standing in the shadows between our cars. I had no idea what I would say to him but I felt he deserved an explanation. I never intended to toy with his feelings. I organized my thoughts as I approached his Jeep.

I grabbed his face and kissed him hard, wrapping my leg around his. His huge hand palmed my big tit and mauled me. Jesus, he was strong. We kissed like fire and then he yanked open the door to his Jeep and climbed in. I did too and we were kissing again, his fat fingers racing over the buttons on my shirt. I couldn't wait for him to see my tits. They're one of my best features. He pulled my shirt wide and I arched my back, thrusting those big babies in his face. He lifted one out of my bra and sucked a nipple. I swallowed a moan and pulled his head down. Now they were both free and he jumped his hot mouth back and forth. There was not enough air inside that goddamn car. I reached behind and popped the clasp and shirt and bra hit the floor together. He shoved his hands under my skirt and down came my lacy panties.

I almost came right then, seeing the gentle way his enormous hands handled the delicate fabric. This was wild and insanely hot. I kissed his scarred face and then fumbled at his zipper. His cock was as hard as the rest of him and difficult to get out. He helped and then there it was; the first new erection since the day I was married. Guilt shot through my mind like an arrow, here and then gone, and I fought off his hands long enough to bend at the waist and engulf his throbbing cock in my mouth. I swear I almost came again.

Dale grabbed my head with a groan and thrust up into my sucking mouth. My jaw ached and my eyes watered. He had a lot of girth and I struggled. I wanted to gag on him so I forced my head down until I did. Then he put his hands on my waist and plucked me off the seat like I weighed ten pounds. My skirt was around my hips when he lined me up and sat me down, piercing my sopping slit with his rampant, pulsing, meat.

This time I did cum.

We were cramped in there but who gave a shit? He used his strong arms to move my body up and down, fucking his cock with my body. That display of strength turned me on so much I swooned and fucking came again. I looked down and in the dim glow from a distant streetlight saw his veiny curved horn moving in and out of me. I almost died. I'd never seen something so erotic. He was powerful and manly and had to have me.

I grabbed his head with both arms and helped fuck myself on him. Another mini-orgasm shot through me and I moved my legs for a better angle. We groaned together as his cock pushed all the way up inside. I fed him my tits again. His dick was like a steel bar. I ground my clit up and down and moaned loud when I came again, this time like a massive earthquake. He had to cover my mouth to keep me quiet. Dick never felt this good before.

I probably would have fucked him for hours. People and cars were moving around the lot but I didn't care. I hammered my little pussy against his lap until I came again. Moments later he hissed he was close and I should have pulled off and finished him with my hand or my mouth but I didn't. I fucked faster until his big cock became a geyser in my womb. I felt him throbbing in there, gushing sperm, stiff as iron.

We spoke little as we quickly dressed. We exited his Jeep without speaking. I reentered the bar through the back door and Tammy gave me a look.

"Fix your hair, slut," she said.

I detoured to the ladies' room, emerging minutes later pretty as can be. Dale was back at his table, sipping the shot I'd left him.

We were both cool as villains.

If you expect me to talk about how guilty I felt, you're going to be disappointed. I felt no remorse. In fact, in less than half an hour, I wanted to fuck him again and dropped a note with his drink telling him so. He stayed to the end of my shift and I met him at his Jeep. The parking lot was empty as I rode that hard dick again.

I don't know if it was the shape of his penis or how hard it got, or maybe the girth or the wickedness of my actions, but I came on that cock like I'd never cum before. I drove home craving more.

Adam was watching television in bed when I came through the bedroom door. I thought I was cool but he saw right through me.

"What happened tonight?" he asked, running his eyes over my face.

My carefully constructed plan crumbled to dust. My lies evaporated before I could speak them.

"I fucked him," I admitted with a pathetic shrug.

The urge to cry started in my belly and began to rise. I fought back hard. Adam sat up, stunned, speechless. I waited for his fury.

Instead his face contorted in anguish. His anger I could handle, his pain I could not. I started crying and so did he. I crawled on the bed and held him and we both cried over what I had done. He asked why over and over and I spilled my guts, swearing I still loved him, promising it was just a physical thing, an attraction I had no control over.

We talked for hours, slowly returning to calm. We discussed things we'd left unresolved for years, fears and secrets and falsehoods we'd told ourselves so many times we came to believe them. In the end, we both knew we were still in love and wanted to remain married.

When I moved my leg, I brushed against Adam's erection.

"You're hard?"

Embarrassed, he pulled back the comforter. His penis was stiff and deep red.

"Baby," I said, confused. "You're hard as rock."

He said nothing, as baffled as me. I wrapped my fingers around him because I felt like I had to do something with it. He kissed me. I kissed him back and he leaned over me, tugging my panties aside, sliding his hard dick into my saturated cunt. I was wet and filled with two loads so I was dripping. He slid in with no resistance at all, his cock gliding through a sea of sperm. I waited for his fury, again, but my husband moaned softly and sank balls deep. I was sopping, filling our bedroom with sloshing sounds. Semen splattered as Adam began to fuck me and our hips collided. He pulled out my tits for the third time that night, just like Dale had done, and I felt fantastically slutty.

"I can barely feel you," Adam mumbled. "He fucked you without a condom."

Adam was not asking a question. My husband was making a statement. He was slipping back and forth in the liquid proof of my infidelity and I felt him growing even harder.

"That's a lot of cum," he rasped.

Every word out of his mouth excited me. My husband was stirring another man's semen in me. We were making love right after I fucked someone else and my mind was doing cartwheels. I was a dirty whore, a slut, a tramp. I'd expected rage and retribution but gotten lust instead, and my husband's desire only made me hornier. I wiggled out of my remaining clothing and spread my arms and legs wide. I offered Adam my entire body, handing myself over to be used for sex. He moved higher over me and gazed into my eyes, his hips pounding, my pussy splattering us with tiny droplets. I was too turned on to speak.

"Did you suck his cock?" Adam snarled, his mouth close to my ear, his breath hot.

"Yes."

My man groaned. His eyes closed and his expression said my pussy felt so good wrapped around him it hurt. Like the pleasure was excruciating. I slipped a hand down to rub my clit and another orgasm started to build. I gasped and Adam instantly understood. He moved faster, eager to make me cum, eager to please his adulterous wife. Was he trying to somehow take me back?

For an instant I was the prize. Two men battled for the right to breed me. It was some heavy caveman shit but it set my blood on fire. I held my breath.

Such scandalous thoughts did me in. My orgasm crashed down on my head and my body jerked and flopped. Adam fucked faster, trying to get there too. Dale's semen had me so slippery my husband couldn't quite orgasm. I held his arms and rocked my hips, cumming hard.

"Cum in me," I heard myself moan. "Cum in me, Baby. Let me feel you shoot like he did. Cum in me like he did. Give me your load too. "

Adam was sweating. I rode my climax until I peaked and started to come back to Earth. Adam pounded me hard and then sucked air and buried his face in my neck. I felt him swell and pulse. He was spurting inside, spewing semen just like Dale, pumping me full for the third time tonight. I was a wicked, wanton, adulterous whore. Adam emptied his nuts, mixing with Dale, then fell beside me on the bed, breathing fast and hard.

We lay in strained silence as reality gradually reasserted itself. With each minute my expectation that Adam would express how hurt he was grew. Yes, passion had swept us up and driven us along, but that was over now. My husband was simply lying in bed with his cheating wife. The tension grew into long minutes.

"Will you see him again?" Adam finally croaked.

He was leaving it up to me? Not what I expected at all. Why would he leave that choice up to me?

"I don't know," I said. "He has my number but I don't have his. I'll only see him if he comes by the bar again."

Adam was thoughtful for a moment then started a series of brutal questions I will never understand. I cheated on a boyfriend long ago and he did the same thing. Why do men do this? Why did Adam want to know these details? Wasn't it pure agony to hear things like this?

"Did he make you orgasm?" Adam asked.

"What difference does that make?"

"It matters," he said. "Did you?"

"Yes," I sighed.

I felt him tense.

"When?"

"While he was fucking me."

"You came from his cock?"

"Yes."

"Jesus. More than once?"

"Yes. Baby, why are you asking these questions?"

"Just answer, Cat. I deserve the truth. How did his cock make you cum? You never cum like that."

This was horrible. My sweet husband was asking me things I knew hurt him to hear. Guys care about stuff women don't care to know. I took a deep breath.

"He was thick," I admitted. "He got incredibly hard. The shape of him hit me in places that felt amazing."

"He was bigger than me."

"Yes."

Adam chewed on that information for a minute. I waited.

"All that sperm in you was from one time?"

Oh boy. So much for the I lost control excuse. I can't hide behind that when I went back for seconds of my own free will.

"No. First I met him in the parking lot during my shift. Later, I wanted more and met him after my shift. We fucked in his Jeep both times."

Adam's face looked haunted, his eyes hollow. This had to be killing him. Why did he continue?

"Is he rich?"

"No."

"Is he good looking?"

"Not at all."

I described in detail Dale's scars and deformities and tossed in the man's military background and demeanor. Adam accepted all this information and I saw his mind calculating, but I had no idea where he'd end up. He was quiet a long time, long enough I got uncomfortable and considered asking what he was thinking. Instinct told me not to so I waited.

"Fuck him again," Adam murmured, so low I almost didn't hear him.

I couldn't believe my ears. "What did you say?" I asked.

"Fuck him again," Adam repeated. "If he visits your bar, and the chemistry is there again, fuck him."

Okay, that made no sense and filled me with a million questions. I opened my mouth to speak but Adam pressed his lips to mine. He guided my hand down to his penis, already erect again.

What?

He moved up on me, smothering my mouth with hot kisses. He slid between my legs and I felt his hard penis probing, searching for my drenched slit. He found it and pushed deep, forcing the air from my lungs. I was tender from all the dick I'd taken in the last few hours but the hurt felt good. I was stunned Adam had managed another erection again so soon.

"Fuck him again," Adam rasped. "Fuck him then come home and tell me everything."

His voice choked off. Powerful emotions squeezed my husband like a fist. He could barely get the words out. I was pulled in two directions; fear over the repercussions if I did what my husband asked, and exhilaration imagining myself doing what my husband asked. I pictured riding Dale in his Jeep again and gasped. Adam knew what that gasp meant and grunted, suddenly and prematurely spurting cum in me again. Nothing made sense.

The universe had gone mad. He came insanely hard, arching his back and bellowing.

I was a bundle of nerves for the next three nights. I spilled drinks, forgot orders, and lost my train of thought in the middle of conversations. Tammy blamed it on "That marine that fucked your brains out." She wasn't exactly right but she wasn't exactly wrong, either.

I was busy Saturday night when the door opened and Dale walked in with two friends. These were not his goofy preppy friends but more like ex-military buddies. Tammy gave me a nod to take their table and I calmed myself and from the back room sent Adam a text before heading out.

Dale was respectful as always and so were his friends and the night passed without incident. We chatted and laughed and all acted like nothing had ever happened. If his friends knew our history, they didn't show it. Closing time rolled around and they left a huge tip. I was disappointed but also relieved. I said my goodnights to the club manager and the kitchen staff.

Dale, alone, was leaning against my truck.

I said nothing, circling around and opening the door to the camper shell. I crawled inside and he followed and I locked the door behind him. He went for a kiss at the same time I went for his belt buckle. We collided, laughed, and then tore off each other's clothing. He was already hard as his boxers came down, a gorgeous curving tusk of flesh, telling me everything I needed to know.

I rolled onto my back and opened my legs to him. His half-hand gripped my ankle and I shivered, anticipating. He wasn't dashing and handsome, he was dark and grim. I felt safe with him but he was a dangerous man. I was sure he'd killed people in battle. I hate admitting that made him sexier.

I dropped my gaze to his cock. God! I ached to feel it enter me. He was thick and hard and angry, full of menace and pumping dark red. His cock was a weapon, threatening to impregnate me. I felt wildly reckless and irresponsible. In that moment I hated that it is always the women who must remain level-headed or suffer the consequences. Consequences be damned. I grabbed his rigid meat and pulled him forward, shocked again at how that unyielding missile felt going in. A hot spear invaded me, shoving my inner-walls around until I enveloped him. I wanted to scream so I fucking did. He pushed it deeper.

"I could fuck you every day," I gasped.

"Then I'll fuck you every day," he growled.

He wanted me as badly as I wanted him and that made me euphoric. I clamped my walls around him as he began a strong in and out. I was going to cum fast, I was already headed in that direction. He pinned my wrists and held his body over mine and my truck squeaked as he began to pound me. I closed my eyes, allowing my senses to burn the moment into my brain forever. Dale turned more animal with each passing second and I loved it. He was a rutting stud, inseminating the bitch he'd conquered. His cock pummeled my insides mixing pain with intense pleasure and when my orgasm shot skyward I just let it. My climax took over my body, electrifying my nerves and making my muscles convulse. His iron cock never stopped. He fucked my writhing form and I think I came again, or maybe my first orgasm just shot skyward again. I was screaming, calling his name and begging him to fuck me harder. I was utterly caught up in the moment, falling into a pit of mindless lust.

At last he pushed deep. His balls tickled my asshole. His cock vibrated like a rocket as he blasted hot sperm. I dug my heels into his butt to pull him deeper and felt solid thumps as each jet hit my walls. He shot so much I knew he hadn't cum for days.

Some guys pull out quickly but not Dale. He kept most of his weight off me but he left his fat cock lodged in my burrow. We started kissing. His shank slowly softened and deflated and I hated to feel him go.

Adam was awake when I got home; pacing, worried, terrified, and erect. He wore his bathrobe, untied, his penis sticking out and up. He grabbed me as soon as I came through the front door, pulling my clothes off like we were seventeen and down by the lake. There was an urgency, a passion we'd not known for a long time, if ever. We fucked on the living room floor, Adam sliding into my sloppy cunt as I held his head close and whispered everything Dale had done to me and everything I'd felt. He asked a million questions, drawing out details I didn't even realize I'd committed to memory. We got each other so hot we both came quickly but, and I still can't believe this, Adam stayed hard. I kept talking and he kept fucking until I had an orgasm that shook the walls. He came again soon after. I love carrying two men inside me and told Adam so.

"Let's make it three," he said. "Would three be hotter?"

Fifty-thousand volts shot through me. Can you imagine? I could. I already knew which guy; Robert, my boss and owner of the bar where I work. He's older but sexy, and I sometimes catch him looking at me a certain way and I just melt. Adam read my expression and kissed me.

I don't pretend to understand what's happen to my marriage. Adam and I have discovered something crazy and wonderful. We're closer than ever, more intimate and vulnerable, and we have sex all the time now.

Cat's face glowed as she finished her story. Her eyes were wild. I let my eyes circle the bar and soon landed on a rough looking military type seated in the corner. Dale was here. Cat would fuck him when her shift ended and she could hardly wait.

Like so many clients, Cat needed permission to chase something she wanted because she'd been told not to want it. Often, my patients come to me more for approval of their choices than actual advice.

The front door opened and Simone blew in. Her hair was disheveled from the wind and she held her dress down with both hands. She spotted me after giving the bar the once over and approached slowly, giving Cat and me time to conclude our conversation.

"Chardonnay?" Cat asked.

"You're an angel," Simone replied.

Cat touched my hand and left to fill our drink orders. Simone noticed and smiled.

"Something tells me that young pretty woman just filled your ear."

"Astute. We have clients and potential clients everywhere."

Cat returned with our drinks and then left us alone. Simone launched into her first case and it was a dozy.

Return to Cameroon

I flipped through the envelopes on the walk back to the house. Bills, mostly, but one, addressed to Kelly and from The American Sociological Review, caught my eye. I dropped the letter in front of her without a word.

"What's this?" she asked. She opened the letter and began to read.
"Oh. Wow. They want to send me back."

I felt a dread chill.

A couple years ago Kelly and I had gone to Cameroon so she could complete a study on tribal marriage customs for her dissertation. We'd stayed a short six months and those six months had changed our lives and our marriage forever. When we'd first returned we were out of control. Kelly was voracious, acting on every carnal impulse, racking up hot new lovers almost daily. Real life gradually intruded and we cooled. We'd done nothing for a very long time.

"My surveys from years ago still generate a lot of interest," she read. "The ASR will pay for a follow-up study. They've included a list of questions grad students keep asking. My objective would be to ascertain the outcomes."

She turned her attention to the list of questions.

I let her read uninterrupted. My hands already trembled. I'd documented our journey in a story called Hard of Darkness and if she decided to return, I knew a major upheaval awaited us. We'd left our old life behind on that wild continent. That trip had changed us.

She placed her finger on the page and held it up to my face. "Professor Lizardo has signed off on the trip. His name would be directly under mine when I publish. Can you imagine?"

"I don't know who he is," I said.

"Omar Lizardo is the biggest name in my field, Honey. Publishing jointly with him would make my career. Grants would become a breeze. I could get funding for virtually any study I wanted after this."

Kelly got this far away stare I'd seen a hundred times. I knew she was calculating all the pros and cons of making the trip. Her gaze narrowed and I knew now she was considering all the various obstacles she'd face. Then her face softened. Her eyes got dreamy, and I knew she was thinking about another man.

"You think Chief Ben Ato still leads the tribe?"

I glanced at the small three-ring tattoo on Kelly's forearm. Kelly had been forced to become Ato's unofficial bride. All his wives sport the tattoo. Her marriage to him had gained her access to every secret the tribe had, explanation of every ritual and law. Her work was ground breaking but we told no one of the cost.

"It's only been a few years," I said. "Ben was strong and healthy and highly favored. I'm sure he's still in power."

Kelly had spent nine days as Chief Ato's bride and he'd enjoyed husband privileges every night, often several times a night. We were lucky Kelly didn't conceive. We'd learned a lot about ourselves during that time. Kelly gave herself eagerly, enthusiastically. Ato awakened buried fetishes for my wife, desires she'd ignored or rationalized away.

Kelly met my gaze. I saw everything I needed to know in those green eyes. Her mind, just like mine, had drifted back and remembered the same things I had. She'd already decided to return.

"Would you hate me?" she asked.

Did she mean for taking the trip or for fucking Chief Ato once she got there? I suppose the two options were indistinguishable. If we took the trip, she'd take Ato as a lover. It was a given.

I mentioned we'd cooled off but that's not entirely accurate. After Kelly's initial flurry of lovers upon our return to the States, we'd settled into occasional trysts with a few of my friends. Those dwindled as the guys found girlfriends and after a few months we'd done nothing. We hadn't cooled off, we'd stopped completely. Kelly has had no new lovers in two years, maybe longer. We'd returned to our usual sex routine before we'd ever made the trip to Cameroon. Neither of us said anything about it, but I'd sometimes see that hot fire of lust burning in her eyes and know she craved hard dark meat. I did nothing about it. We both knew what I'd be agreeing to and all my old fears and insecurities came rushing back. I'd gotten comfortable again with our old ways.

The problem was, as I continued to gaze into those expressive emerald eyes, I saw if I said no she'd go without me.

"I could never hate you, Honey," I said.

"Only three months this time," she added. "Ninety days. Since I'm technically still a member of the BenVara, they figure I don't need as long to establish myself with the tribe. I believe they're correct."

"I can easily get ninety days off," I said. "Summer break."

Her expression gradually changed from serious to happy. The choice had been made. She stood and hugged me and kissed my cheek. The air was thick with all the things we didn't say, all the things we knew were coming.

Eight days later we touched down at Tiko airport. We exited the airplane and the heat and humidity fell on us like bricks from the sky. We gasped for air, sweat drenching our clothing in minutes. Janka wasn't there to greet us this time. The University of Douala sent four armed men in a Hummer outfitted for combat. Their spokesman was a white Russian mercenary named Dakar; tall, broad-shouldered, sweaty and rude. He wore a Glock on each hip and a machete on his back. Two of the other men carried machine guns and the last man stayed with the heavy caliber machine gun mounted on the Hummer.

A new road had been carved through the dense jungle and Dakar drove us to Kumba in a day. From there we would enter the Bakossi Mountains Wildlife Reserve. He handed us maps and a compass to go with our other supplies. Kelly and I swung our backpacks in place.

"We'll stick to the Mbu River," he said. "I'll leave two men to guard the Hummer. Sahib will come with us to help keep you safe. Much has changed since you were here last. Diamonds were found and three families fight for control."

Sahib was Russian like Dakar but I'd never heard him speak. He was the tallest, skinny but strong. He had tattoos on his neck and arms and I got the sense he could skin a man alive while eating a sandwich. Nothing phased him.

"That has nothing to do with us or our mission," Kelly said. "I've spent time in dangerous places. If we leave them alone, they'll leave us alone. Once we're in the village we'll be protected."

Dakar shrugged but his eyes told me different. I waited until Kelly was busy packing gear and asked Dakar if he had an extra pistol, which he did. I slipped the gun into a pocket of my cargo shorts.

The men drove us to the river banks and inflated a four-man raft. We loaded our gear. Dakar gave a few more instructions to his men and then the four of us: Kelly, me, Dakar, and Sahib, drifted away until the current caught us. Sahib started the small motor and we began our uneventful journey upriver.

The village was mostly the same with a few important changes. Sadly, Chief Ben Ato had died fighting men who came to steal workers for the diamond camps. Several young men and women had been taken and Ben organized the tribe to fight. Multiple skirmishes led to one major battle. Ben Ato had died, but the press gangs left the village alone after that.

The new chief, Ben Toko, was much younger but a better fighter. The tribe felt a warrior was needed in these times. The charred remains of Ben Ato's funeral pyre sat in the village center. Kelly explained why she'd returned and showed the new chief her three-ring tattoo. He allowed us to stay but ordered her tattoo modified; a black dot in the center of each ring. Dakar was too much like the men running the diamond mines so he was told to sleep down by the river with the raft. That suited him fine.

Several huts stood empty and we knew these belonged to those lost in the battles. Kelly and I graciously accepted our new accommodations and Kelly immediately began to set up shop. A small field generator with a crank powered all our electronics.

The somber mood was radically different from our first visit. Fear and anger hung in the air. Most the tribe either grieved or fumed. Everyone wanted revenge and Ben Toko had given the order to hunt any diamond men on sight. The younger males made a game of it, drawing the villains away from the settlement and then picking them off one by one. The rogues learned to avoid this quadrant of the dense jungle. Some of the other villages were not so lucky.

Our second day a young girl enjoyed birthday celebrations and the tribe came alive, laughing and drinking and dancing. Kelly and I joined in. My wife had learned the language well enough to hold extended conversations. As we lay down to sleep that night she shared what she'd discovered.

"Chief Ben Toko is one of Ben Ato's youngest sons. His fiancée was killed by the diamond marauders and he fights to avenge them both. The BenVara absorbed another tribe months ago and the wedding rituals did not go over well. Many young men refused to accept this new custom and left in the night."

"I can feel the tension in the air," I said.

"Me too. These poor people. So much sorrow caused by greed."

Kelly spent the next week interviewing the women and filling her journals. I went on a few hunting trips just to stay busy and helped with defensive constructions around the settlement. She joined me for lunch, her face glowing again.

"Look around," she said. "What do you see? Notice anything?"

I sent my gaze around the enclosure. Everywhere, people worked. They wore almost nothing because of the heat and humidity but nudity was incidental. The BenVara are a handsome people, long-legged and lithe. Almost no one was fat. There was simply too much work to do, too much daily activity. Even the old and the infirm stayed busy. Everywhere I looked I saw sexy ebony bodies.

"Not really," I admitted. "If I subtract the tension everyone feels, life in the village goes on much like before. What am I missing?"

"Look at the women," she said. "Especially the younger ones."

I studied the tribe again, taking my time. Strong, healthy, sleek, industrious; what did she want me to see?

"I got nothing, Baby," I said. "Tell me what I'm missing."

"See the girl cleaning fish? See the girls weaving thatch? See the girls hanging laundry?"

"Yes."

"They're all pregnant."

I felt stupid. Granted, they all weren't nine-months pregnant. Some barely showed at all. But once I knew the common thread I sent my eyes around the encampment again. There were various bulging bellies everywhere.

"What's happening?" I joked. "Something in the water?"

"No, but that's a good question. At first I thought the threat to life might be producing an instinctive response. I asked around. Yes, there is a mood beneath the surface, an increased desire to reproduce, but, also, and more importantly, Ben Toko has encouraged a spike in baby making. He believes the strength of the tribe is in numbers and the diamond hunters will be around from now on. He wants the tribe to grow. He also believes, rightly, the tribe is strengthened by inclusion of other tribes. "

"That's a good strategy," I said.

Kelly chuckled. "Yeah, especially for him. Take another look around, Mike. All those swollen bellies? He's fathered most of them. He claims husband's rights with a new woman every night. The ladies say he's voracious, insatiable since his father's death."

"Wow."

"Yes, wow."

Reading this you probably see what's coming, but I was in a foreign land under threat of constant danger. I waited, unsuspecting, oblivious to what my wife was truly saying. She waited with me, a slight smile on her lips.

At last a gong sounded in my dim brain.

"Wait. What? You?"

"Me."

"When?"

"Tonight."

My mind collapsed. I shouldn't have been so surprised but I was. I subconsciously concluded Ben Ato's death severed Kelly's connection to the tribe that way. I never imagined the father's rights passed down to the son. Ben Toko was a striking figure; chiseled from black marble, strong, muscular, fierce. I was instantly and wildly intimidated. Jealousy exploded like acid inside me.

"No," I said.

Kelly's smiled disappeared.

"No," I said again, firmly.

The thought staggered me. Kelly and I had done nothing sexually extracurricular in so long I'd forgotten the impact it could have. Fuck that. Ben Toko was just way too much man. Ben Ato had carried a prized stallion's dick. Kelly had practically fallen in love with the thing. That penis had changed her and changed our lives forever. I was sure Toko had inherited his father's cock. What would Ben Toko do to my wife?

She touched my face, her eyes filled with compassion.

The truth dawned on me slowly; she wasn't asking. She was informing. She'd already agreed. Plans were being made as we sat here talking.

"You can't be in the hut with us," she said, zipping by my protests. "Maybe you should stay in Dakar's camp by the river? From what the tribeswomen have told me, I expect the event will last all night."

"The event," I scoffed.

Kelly cut me no slack.

"Yes, Mike, Ben Toko will fuck me all night," she corrected.

Ugh. Like a hard kick in the stomach, a fist to the jaw. Jesus. The man was carved from onyx. His muscles had muscles. I'd seen Kelly with other men but this guy was like none of them. Tonight, Black Tarzan would bed my wife. I could already hear her cries of pleasure echoing in my head.

Goddamn it!

I left the hut and then I left the village. I stuck to trails I knew because also getting lost would simply be too much humiliation. I wandered a long time, adrift in my thoughts, and eventually found myself at Dakar's camp like Kelly had suggested. That annoyed the shit out of me. I subconsciously do as I'm told? What's wrong with my brain?

We exchanged hellos and he asked how things were going. I told him all about the study and the camp but left out anything regarding Kelly and Ben Toko. We shared a few belts from his canteen of Scotch and he told me mercenary stories which were really fucking cool. The sun had set when he dropped the bomb.

"So, the Chief fucking Mrs. Duncan tonight?"

I gawked at him.

"Everyone knows about the BenVara ways, Mike. I would have warned you but you guys had been here before and came back. You knew what was up when you bought your plane tickets. Not my place to intrude." He put a reassuring hand on my shoulder. "That's one way to smuggle a baby into the United States," he said, chuckling.

I stopped gawking and stared at him blankly. "What?"

"Ben Toko. He's going to put a baby in your woman."

My head started shaking left to right. "No, they're just having sex. It's a symbolic mating ritual. Kelly is fucking him like she fucked Ben Ato."

Dakar laughed ruefully. "Times have changed, Mister Mike. The tribe needs children."

I was too stunned to move. My blood turned to ice. This was far and beyond any sex game we'd played. This was the ultimate consequence for a husband who shares his wife, the ultimate humiliation. Did Kelly know what she was in for? Worse, did my wife know and agree anyway? That thought chilled me to the bone. My wife has a kink for hot black men. Would carrying a baby from one be a natural erotic extension of that fantasy? I hated to believe that but there was a certain logical ring of truth. Perhaps Kelly agreed so quickly and everything moved so fast because my wife suspected she was fertile? I tried to remember her last period but couldn't.

"I have to go," I said.

"Don't be an idiot. You'll get lost in the dark."

He had a point. I sat, utterly conflicted, torn apart on the inside. Dakar just stared at me, wondering, both of us fully aware at that moment my wife was most likely taking a big black cock.

"No," I snapped. "I'll risk it. I'll stick to the trail. You have a flashlight?"

He pulled one out of his backpack. "You're sure about this?"

"I am," I said.

A second later I was on the trail and walking fast. The jungle was dangerous for many reasons so I only used the flashlight when necessary. I veered off the trail twice but quickly found my way back and soon approached the encampment. There was still plenty of activity as it wasn't too late. I saw torchlight through the thatch of Kelly's hut but Ben Toko's hut was dark. I knew I wasn't allowed to disturb them so I circled around the long way and came up on the jungle side, the side with the barrier of sharpened wooden posts. Lots of shadows for me here. I slid up to the wall of the hut my wife and I shared and peeked through a gap.

Ben Toko was standing nude. In the firelight, he seemed carved from solid black glass. Kelly wore her clothes from earlier but was on her knees looking up at this obsidian god. Ben's cock was so hard it gleamed. Before Kelly the tribe knew nothing about blowjobs. My wife had introduced the practice to Ben Ato. Now his son gazed at my wife as she licked his stiff black inches, amazed at what this beautiful white woman was doing to him, proud to be claiming his father's woman. Kelly slid her tongue from balls to head, smiling, gleeful, happy to once more have an erect black cock in her face. She closed her lips around the head and Ben gasped, shocked. Kelly teased under the tip with her tongue and Ben's legs trembled. I thought he was hard when I first started watching but in the moments since, his dick had further stiffened. A steel rod, dark as coal, stuck out from his body.

"Boon tucka salma dun," he said, or something close to that.

Kelly stood and began to undress, teasing him by slowly removing one article of clothing at a time. He grew impatient and grabbed her top, ripping the fabric and exposing her big tits. He threw the pieces away. He forced her shorts down, taking her panties along too. I wondered if his aggression would frighten or annoy her but she loved it. He was impatient, full of desire, craving her right now. His jet cock throbbed in anticipation and I thought there was no way he'd fit.

Ben spun Kelly at the waist and forced her over. She braced both palms on the ground and he grabbed her ass, spreading her cheeks and leveling his cock at her pussy. I didn't see the moment of penetration but I heard it, and so did the whole village. Kelly's cry of pleasure and passion pierced the night. He held her hips and fucked her from behind, standing on our sleeping mat.

That lasted only a short time before Ben needed to get deep. He pulled out and turned my wife around, dragging her to the piled blankets we call a bed. He pushed her legs apart and I saw his cock spear her pussy. She groaned and opened her legs, pointing them up and away, surrendering everything. Anything he wanted was his. I saw his black cock sliding in and out, gleaming in the firelight. Kelly grabbed his ebony ass and cried out with her first orgasm.

Strong hands grabbed my neck. Guards patrolling the compound had easily spotted me and, fearing I meant the Chief harm, seized me from behind. Two of them pinned me to the ground while a third ran around inside the hut. When he returned, I was led inside.

Ben, in the missionary position, held himself inside my wife. Kelly had the back of her hand resting on her forehead as she caught her breath. Ben spoke to her and she turned to look, waving me towards a corner while she wiped the sweat from her face. I was led to a small stump used as a chair and forced to sit.

Kelly turned Ben's face to look at her and wrapped a leg over his ass. She pushed his cock forward, exhaling as his inches sank deep. The young chief returned to fucking my wife, forgetting I was in the room. The guards watched with lecherous delight as the sexy white woman took exalted BenVara cock.

I'm a voyeur, but watching them was torture. I said nothing. What was the point? If I spoke, I'd be ushered out of the hut and maybe out of the camp. If I was deemed too disrespectful, I might even be beating or tied to a tree. I had to sit and watch. I could turn away, but I didn't.

I wondered again if Kelly knew the true purpose of this mating. Ben lacked experience but he had size and a body Kelly would kill for. The sexy ruler held himself over her and worked his hips and she ran her hands all over his sculpted and sweaty body. She soon came again and a broad smile split his face.

Ben worked his cock in and out for a long time. When he was finally ready to cum, he told Kelly to pull her knees back, which she did. As his orgasm hit he pushed his cock deep and held it there, spraying potent sperm directly into her womb. Kelly groaned feeling him empty his balls.

They lay beside each other and Ben must have asked about me because Kelly lifted her head to check. She replied in his language and they both lay down again, talking and touching constantly.

Twenty minutes later his big black cock began to rise again.

My wife moved down to use her mouth and the guards stared, amazed. She held him tenderly, tracing thick veins with the tip of her tongue. She stirred his balls in their sack and licked away any semen that leaked. When she had him fully erect she climbed on top, standing his cock up and sliding her pussy down the length of him. His coal skin next to her pale moonlight skin looked amazing. If I hadn't known he was trying to impregnate my wife, I would have enjoyed the sight. Instead every movement of their writhing hips was agony and anguish.

He let her ride for a while but then flipped her on her back again and once more sawed that big dick in and out. My lovely wife climaxed again, a high-pitched cry reverberating, her fingers digging into his jet flash. She couldn't stop herself. He continued thrusting until she orgasmed again and then, with a conqueror's roar, turned loose his flood of semen. Kelly murmured words I didn't understand.

Again, they cuddled. This time he took almost an hour to get hard again.

Insatiable was right. I stayed with the guards as Chief Ben Toko inseminated my wife over and over right in front of me. If Kelly hadn't known what he was up to, she must know by now. That didn't stop her. They drifted off and I curled on the floor. One guard left to go sleep. Ben and Kelly awoke with dawn and he took my wife yet again, her sounds of passion waking me.

In the days that followed I was allowed to accompany Kelly as her escort, four paces behind. Kelly stopped wearing clothing, parading around the village like a trophy. The Chief continued to take her whenever the mood struck, and the mood struck often. I'd stand nearby and wait patiently while the tribe looked on, their amused eyes bouncing from the mating couple to me and back again. Ben Toko added fucking Kelly from behind to his limited sexual arsenal and I was several times treated to my wife bent over a branch or table and fucked in front of us all. I know she taught him that. It's her favorite position.

Humiliated doesn't begin to cover what I felt.

After a few weeks Ben started adding other women to his mix and his mating with Kelly dropped from several times a day to once a day and then to every other day. The man was a machine.

A week later, she missed her period.

Chief Ben Toko granted her to return to the hut she shared with me. Surprisingly, Kelly wanted sex with me right away. More surprising, despite knowing she now carried a black baby, my dick sprung up like a rocket. I was shocked by my own body. I lasted no time at all, my penis spurting soon after entering her.

Strange emotions swirled inside me knowing my seed had no chance. I was shooting wasted cum. Another man owned my wife's womb. I was merely going through the motions, acting out a simple staged performance. Kelly and I shared intimacy but a black thread was woven through all we did. She carried his baby. I hated that fact yet my penis would harden faster than ever.

Eventually, I asked what she planned.

"How will you explain a mulatto child?" I asked. "What will our colleagues back home say? You don't plan on telling our social circle you conceived with Ben Toko? That involves me. That puts me in a very difficult spot. You don't plan on staying and giving birth here, do you?"

"I've spoken to the Chief already," she said. "He understands I must leave. I promised you three months and I intend to honor that commitment. I told Toko I would return with the child when the infant is old enough to walk. I want the child to know the language and history of their people. He'll be a prince. We can keep this fading culture alive."

I was stunned. "Honey, how will we explain a mixed-race baby?"

"Why do we need to explain anything to anyone? I'll take a long leave of absence while I'm pregnant and to give birth. When we return to society, we can tell everyone we adopted a third-world child on our trip to Africa. Celebrities have done it. Nobody needs to know our secrets."

She'd thought this out. I pictured us raising another man's child and tingles raced up my spine. The humiliation was excruciating but exhilarating. I suspected when we returned with his child, would Kelly try to get pregnant with another. My dick started to rise. Her lust for hot black men was limitless, just like my lust for sharing her. She placed a hand on her lower abdomen. I winced. Something was already growing there. Kelly noticed my erection and spread her legs.

"Fuck me again, Mike. It's too late now. You can cum in me all you want."

My penis surged.

I wiped my mouth free of foam. "How long ago was this, Simone?" I asked. "Whatever became of that family?"

She grinned. "Years. Kelly, the wife, gave birth to a beautiful eight-pound boy. The couple moved, transferring to another university and making new friends. They told everyone the child was adopted. When he was old enough, they visited Cameroon again and as Mike suspected, Kelly slept with Ben Toko as often as she could, conceiving another child. I believe they have four children now."

"Who came to see you, husband or wife?"

"They came as a couple," Simone said. "They wanted to know possible problems for the child, and how to be the best parents they could. They're lucky they have wealth. People treat the wealthy different. I assured them the child needed only love and respect to turn out just fine, and he has gotten plenty of both."

I drank beer. Watching your wife with another man was one thing. Raising another man's child was something else. For those who have the fetish, that must be the ultimate high.

"I'm going to add such questions to my surveys," I said. "I wonder what percentage of couples allow the wife to become pregnant by the lover's seed? I may have been overlooking something for years."

"That's a great idea," she said. "Let me know what you find. Your turn."

Renegade Cheerleader

Ow.

Ouch. OUCH.

I slowly came-to, realizing someone was standing on my fingers. I was on the floor again, my head in a pool of drool, shag carpet in my mouth. I pushed the foot off my hand and worked my fingers.

"Sorry, dude," a voice said from above.

I didn't respond.

I sat up and looked around. The party was still in full swing; music blared, smoke filled the air, a thousand voices speaking all at once. A red plastic cup sat on the coffee table in front of me and I grabbed it, finishing off the last of my beer. Only it was beer. It was vodka, and that wasn't my cup. Yuck. Thank God no one put out a cigarette in it.

I moved my eyes around the room searching for Ana Marie. These were her friends and I knew none of them. She'd begged me to come to the party and I'd agreed, reluctantly, but Ana Marie is hard to resist. I'm an engineer and all my friends are in the same field or a closely related one. Ana Marie studies political science and all her friends love to schmooze. She used to be a cheerleader, in high school and then again in college, but she got kicked off the team for "Behavior Unbecoming," whatever that means.

I first asked her out almost two years ago. I'd downed three shots of courage first because Ana is not only the prettiest girl I've ever seen, she's also the smartest. Every guy wants her. She's Latina; long jet-black hair and big tits, large dark eyes, full, dick-sucking lips, and a tight round booty. Several of my friends, upon meeting her, said she's built for sex. They're not wrong.

I'd had a few conversations with her and discovered despite her looks, she's smart. No, more than smart, she's brilliant, breezing through high school and now college. She's so smart her classes are easy and she has lots of free time. Free time and Ana Marie are a dangerous mix. The girl loves to party. She rarely studies but gets great grades.

I'm smart too and figured that was my best angle to score with her. I suspected most guys left her bored and that would be my ticket in, and it was. I asked her out and she said yes. We had a ton of fun, talking until almost dawn. I asked her out again four days later and she jumped at the chance and sucked my cock in the car that night. I figured I was in.

Days later she asked me out. I loved it. She's assertive and aggressive and unafraid. We had a great time and when I took her home she pulled me inside and fucked me on her big green La-Z-Boy. Her roommate, Martha something, walked in on us and watched for a few minutes, which was hot.

Ana and I kept dating and things turned serious. We became boyfriend and girlfriend and then, after a year or so, I asked her to marry me and she said yes. She refused to give up the partying and I just learned to accept this extroverted aspect of her big personality. She drinks, smokes, loves ecstasy and coke, and flirts like crazy. The higher she gets, the more she craves dick. Some nights I must fuck her to exhaustion. We have toys in the bottom nightstand drawer that help.

I tipped the cup again and finished off the vodka. The room shook with the beat of the music and I had a contact-high from the pot smoke in the air. I'd never been to one of her parties but I can tell you if this one is the example, her friends are a lot hotter than my friends. Everyone was dressed sexy and stylish. My friends cover up skin but these people reveal it.

A slick and polished guy handed me a joint.

"Don't I know you from Professor Bander's class?" he asked.

"Yup," I lied.

"Thought so. What grade he give you?"

"An A," I said, watching his face sag. I hit the offered joint hard.

"How about you?"

"Fuck that guy," he said, clearly upset. "He gave me a shitty C. I even found him some coke and he still did me like that."

I put a hand on his shoulder. "You should have sucked his dick, bro. That's what I did. Nobody gets out of Bander's class with an A."

It took two full seconds for my words to hit and then his face twisted in disgust. I offered him the joint back.

"Keep it," he said.

I laughed on the inside. I had no idea who Bander was but next semester I was sure someone would offer to suck his dick for a better grade. Ha. I dropped onto the couch next to a couple girls who were making out. I puffed the joint, offering them some as soon as they came up for air.

"Keep it," I said. "Easy come, easy go."

It occurred to me I'd not seen Ana Marie for a long time. We'd been sitting on the floor talking and she'd gotten up for a fresh beer, I think. I must have passed out waiting for her. I had no concept of time or how long I'd been out but surely she should be back by now.

The girls next to me freed each other's tits and I delayed my search for my fiancée while I watched these babies suck on each other. They were cute and their tits were nice so I stayed a bit. Others noticed too and we all enjoyed a lovely show.

After a while I remembered I should go look for Ana. I was high as fuck. The weed kicked like a mule and I'd had a lot to drink too. I got up to wander the house but not before wishing the girls happiness. The lights were low and I walked a loop through the living room to the family room to the kitchen three times before I realized I was going through the same rooms. I chuckled and forced myself to lift my eyes off the floor and find a new place to search. Instead, I saw an open reading chair and fell into it.

I awoke with no idea how long my eyes had been closed. I still felt high so how much time could have passed, really? I staggered to my feet and renewed my search. The house had more people in it now than earlier.

Eventually I made my way upstairs and to a back bedroom. I group of people were seated at a table playing strip poker. I glanced at each face I could see but no Ana Marie. I turned to leave just as a shiny silver hoop earring caught my eye. Ana Marie wears shiny silver hoop earrings. I moved closer and through the haze of smoke found my fiancée. Her top was gone. She sat wearing a mesh lace bra to hold back her big tits and the short skirt she'd come to the party in. Others were in varying stages of undress. Even in the low light her small nipples were obvious. Everyone was laughing and drinking and smoking. Her head had been turned and her long hair blocked my view of her gorgeous face, but now there was no doubt. I slowly circled the table, pretending to be interested in the game.

At last her eyes came up to mine. She took a heartbeat to recognize me and I could tell she was flying. Her pupils were huge and not just from the shadowy room. I waited for her to give me a sign but she just smiled like I was any other guy at the party. They continued that round and Ana won, slapping down three fives. She laughed and pointed at a young man, a freshmen by the look of him, and the guy stood and pushed his boxers down, exposing a small penis buried in public hair. All the players had a good laugh.

"It's cold in here," he protested, which only made everyone laugh again.

He sat and the game continued. Ana Marie lost the next round and stood to remove her skirt, revealing panties that matched her bra; see-through and sexy.

The girls giggled but the guys got quiet.

Ana rubbed her hands together, ready for more.

"Whose deal?" she asked.

I noticed two small pink pills next to her drink. So. Molly. Someone had given my fiancée ecstasy. That explained the dilated eyes.

Cards were shuffled and cards were dealt and Ana continued to act like she didn't know me, but maybe that was for the best. It stung at first until I realized my woman was almost naked in front of these people. How humiliating would it be for all of them to know I was her fiancé? Yeah, fuck that. For now, I was just another face in the crowd. Let them find out I'm to be her husband and my face would get recognized all over campus.

The game continued. If Ana wasn't high as fuck she'd mop the floor with these guys. With a brain like hers, the girl can play. Instead, she lost as often as the next person. The winner got to pick who removed an article of clothing and, big surprise, all the men and a few of the girls kept picking my woman.

"Ana," said a hot black girl and the most recent winner, pointing.

Ana stood and reached behind her back for her bra clasp.

"Nah," the girl said. "Panties, bitch."

Everyone laughed including Ana and my mouth went dry. Ana hooked her thumbs and down came her lacy unmentionables, revealing her perfectly smooth labia to everyone. She tossed the underwear at the black girl and they landed on her head, where she left them, causing everyone to laugh again. Ana remained standing, all eyes eventually coming around to her gorgeous Latina pussy.

"You look good enough to eat," some blonde babe said.

My fiancée just smiled mischievously at her. Ana slowly took her seat again but now the tension in the room was high. Voices went low and laughter was subdued as the next hand was dealt. A skinny guy with messy brown hair won and pointed at my girl.

"Ana," he said.

She didn't complain. She stood, exposing her pussy to everyone again, and reached for the clasp. Her bra sprang free, releasing the large firm tits held at bay until this moment. Ana has spectacular breasts, full and round with nipples that sit high. Her areolae are small which makes her tits look bigger and firmer.

"I am never taking my bra off," the blonde girl said. "Not after seeing those. Jesus, Ana, your breasts are perfect. Fuck you."

Ana chuckled and ran her hands over her tits, causing the nipples to rise. "You really think so, Donna? That's sweet, thank you."

Donna gave Ana the finger and everyone laughed again. Laughed, but their eyes roamed my fiancée's body. Ana gave everyone a good long look.

"That's it for me, guys," she finally announced. "I'm out. You all ganged up on me and now I have nothing else to remove." She plucked her bra and panties from the floor.

More people entered the room. Heads turned and the blonde girl, Donna, said: "Uh oh," which made more heads turn. A small group had entered, three girls and two guys. Ana and one of the guys locked eyes. Her face fell. The guy, tall with black hair, ran his gaze over my naked fiancée.

"Gorgeous as always," he said.

"Fuck you, Paul," Ana said. "Look away. This is not for you anymore."

Paul didn't look away. What man would? He ran his eyes all over her body. I expected Ana to cover herself or get angry but she stood tall, proud, squaring her shoulders and glaring at him. His eyes were full of appreciation mixed with regret.

Ana speaks little of her relationships before me and I don't ask. In that moment, I wondered if I should have asked at least a few questions. Obviously, there were unresolved feelings on both sides.

"If she's leaving I'll take her seat," Paul said.

"I'm not leaving," Ana countered.

"I'm out," the freshman said. "You can have my seat."

People moved around and Ana took her spot again, but what would she bet?

"All right," the black girl said, shuffling the cards. "Since we have a unique situation here, I say we adapt truth or dare rules. The winner of each hand can pick someone and force them to choose. Sound good?"

Nods all around. Ana stared at the table and then popped one of the pink pills in her mouth, washing it down with beer. She still hadn't looked at me and I wondered what was going through her brilliant mind. Mostly I saw the desire for revenge on her face. She was high, but she wanted payback. I wondered what horrible deed Paul had done.

Cards were dealt. I hung back watching the game and everyone loosened up quickly. Drugs will do that. A joint made the circuit and after that they were all giggling. The truth and dares were tame until Donna asked some guy if he cheated on a test they both took. He admitted he had and everyone booed him. Donna won the next hand and asked Paul truth or dare.

"Dare," he said.

"Strip naked," she said. "All of us are naked and you're sitting there fully clothed. Not fair. Strip or leave the game."

Paul pondered a moment and then shrugged. He stood and started to work on the buttons of his shirt. He was skinny, lean and wiry. His chest was hairless. Next went his shoes and socks and then his pants. All the players were taunting and teasing except Ana, who suddenly found the back of her hand incredibly interesting. Her pupils were huge and I knew the second pill had hit. Paul pinched the elastic band and dropped his boxer briefs.

Well, shit. Paul had a big ole pecker. The black girl clapped, Donna stared and Ana glared at Donna. Her eyes seemed to say I told you so and I suddenly understood why Donna had picked this dare. Ana must have bragged about Paul and Donna wanted confirmation and that told me a few things; Ana and Paul had been lovers, which I already suspected but this removed all doubt, and Ana had mentioned that heavy slab of beef hanging between his legs. Why else did Donna need to see him naked? My fiancée had bragged about a lover's cock to a friend. Ouch.

I stared at his dick. He was soft but already wider and longer than me when I'm hard. He hung down, the shaft following the curve of his balls, until the head pointed at the table. The head almost reached the table. He had only sparse hair all over his body including pubic hair. Everything was right out there for us to see.

"Whose deal?" he joked.

A few people chuckled. Some in the crowd craned their necks to get a better look at the guy. I watched Ana like she was a thief in my house and caught her eyes darting to Paul's cock. The corners of her mouth curled slightly. Fond memories? The way she looked at it made my heart ache. She may have hated the man but his cock was still her friend. Paul sat and they all returned to the game.

For a long time, every winner chose truth and while that mattered to them because they all knew each other, it meant nothing to me. I couldn't care less who fucked whom or who had a crush on someone. The group stayed away from asking Ana or Paul anything. A few dares went around the table and soon every player was naked. Ana got up to use the bathroom and Donna went with her.

The game continued without them and I found myself drawn to the black girl. She had a gymnast's body and made my balls tingle. Once again

I was too high to notice the passage of time. Ultimately I did. Even with a line at the bathroom they were gone too long. That they'd both wandered off completely nude utterly slipped my mind. I'd grown accustomed to all the nakedness. I set out searching for the two lost girls.

I never found them, not on that trip anyway. I got distracted, again, and stopped a few times to talk to strangers. Once I stopped to stare at an electric waterfall filled with rainbow colors. I have no idea how long I stood there.

Eventually I got moving again. I returned to the card room but that gathering was over. A few couples made out in the dark corners. I found Ana's top and panties on the floor but her skirt and bra were missing. I kept searching. I approached a bedroom down the hall and heard many voices laughing and cheering. I stepped into the room.

Paul sat on the foot of the bed and Donna and the black girl sucked his ponderous cock. I watched for a second, mesmerized, the drugs in my system making me instantly and insanely horny, and then scanned the crowd for Ana. No luck. Probably just as well. After her initial reaction, I'd hate to see what she did when she saw Donna's betrayal. Paul and Ana may not be together anymore but friends do not have sex with ex boyfriends. Ever. I know little about girl-world but that rule I'm sure about.

The scene was hot. Paul dick was impressive; about twice the size hard as he was soft. The girls teased the hell out of him, dragging tongues and sucking balls. They licked everywhere while the crowd cheered them on. My vantage point wasn't great so I moved around the room to get a better view.

That's when I saw the lights on in the attached bathroom and that's when I saw Ana on her knees, her face surrounded by five dicks at varying stages of erection. She was sucking them all, stroking with her hands and slobbering all over the shafts. The guys had shirts pulled up and pants opened and just stuck their hard dicks in her face. As I watched, too stunned to move, a guy spurted and Ana quickly closed her mouth over the head. She sucked and swallowed and the guy's knees almost buckled. My fiancée drained that dick of every drop and then let him go, only to have the next guy step up and offer his dick. Another guy came and Ana did the same to him.

I couldn't believe what I was seeing with my own eyes. I was frozen, paralyzed, body and mind. Her silver hoop earrings bounced as she worked her head, bobbing and sucking with abandon.

A hand shoved me from behind.

"Get it out and get it up," someone behind me joked.

Ana turned to help me open my pants and our eyes met. Her gorgeous face was splattered with goo. Sperm hung from an earlobe. White ropes streaked her face and hair. How many had she sucked already? She held my gaze, a grin slowly spreading, and then she yanked my zipper and pulled out my dick. Her mouth was searing. The vacuum felt fantastic. I was just another guy wanting his turn with her and she found the situation amusing.

I either make a horrible scene or I don't. Tougher call than you might imagine when your cock's getting sucked. The guy next to me let her suck my dick for a bit then pulled her head away to service his cock. Ana attacked his inches enthusiastically. Then she moved to the next guy and the next until swinging around to me again. I watched that lovely face inhale my dick and my erection grew. She groaned with pleasure. I was in it now. I was one of the guys, using this bitch to get off.

The guy across from me began spraying the back of her head. She stayed with me, sucking and licking until my dick throbbed. Someone took that guy's place and I looked up to see a circle of guys all waiting their turn. She moved on to another guy and I saw him spurt fat globs of jizz all over her engagement ring. He saw what happened and grabbed her hand and aimed his gunk right at the diamond. Ana realized what he was doing and laughed around a dick in her mouth, then looked up for my reaction. I was trapped; angry, disgusted, bewildered, and painfully erect.

"Take her to the bed," I snarled. "I'm going to fuck this bitch."

A small cheer went up and Ana's pretty eyes got big. Some part of her loved that I had been drawn into all this yet could say nothing. We lifted under her arms and legs and carried her to the bed, stripping her skirt and bra as we went.

Of course, I forgot Paul was busy getting his dick sucked by Donna and the black chick. Big mistake. When Ana saw Donna sucking Paul, all Hell broke loose. My fiancée wiggled out of our grasp and threw herself at the bed. Jealousy much? My girl shoved those girls away and then turned to climb Paul's wiry body, wagging an accusing finger in his face.

"Fuck you, asshole," she said, spraying droplets of cum from her lips. "You're a motherfucking liar. You're a piece of shit."

Paul denied nothing but what are you going to say when a smoking hot naked Latina babe is crawling on you? He looked surprised as fuck but he was smart enough to let her scold him. She straddled his hips, that angry, pointing finger almost touching his nose. She had more to say and he was going to hear it.

Donna recovered her balance and saw Ana perched over Paul. She grabbed Paul's long cock and with one smooth motion, stuck several inches up Ana's pussy.

I had time to blurt, "No! Don't!" before my wife felt that massive intruder.

Time stopped. Ana's body took control and she naturally sank several inches. I was close enough to touch the hefty cock sliding into my fiancée. Honestly, he looked too big to fit but her sweet little pussy stretched like pink rubber. Her skin around his shaft turned into a white ring. I told my legs to move but nothing happened. I told my hands to knock his cock aside but nothing happened. I told my mouth to open in protest but nothing fucking happened. I stood there and watch Ana slid her pussy down his shaft. Paul's no dummy. He did exactly what I would have done in his place. He gave her his best puppy-dog I'm-so-sorry-face, but he also put his hands on her waist and forced himself deeper. The black chick walked away feeling rejected but Donna jammed her face where their bodies merged and licked them both, asshole to asshole and everything in between.

"Remember Dallas, Ana?" she laughed, which made the hairs on my arms stand up because Ana and I were already a couple when she and Donna made the Dallas trip.

Ana didn't respond. Ana wasn't talking. Paul's cock had her prisoner. She stared at this man she once had feelings for but now hated. He was deep inside and felt good in ways she didn't want him to feel good. For a moment, they both froze, staring into each other's eyes. I saw their history. I saw the passion they'd shared. I saw Ana's barely controlled lust for the man, buried desires which fueled her green-eyed jealousy of Donna.

Paul grabbed her elbows and pushed her arms behind her back, arching her spine, thrusting her tits up and out for all to see. The room fell silent. My fiancée Ana Marie looked stunning. I gasped at the raw naked beauty of my bride to be. Her long black hair fell around her face and shoulders, her smooth skin glistened with cum and sweat, her eraser nipples stood erect, begging to be sucked. My penis, already almost hard, rose to a pulsing erection.

She let her head fall back and a husky, "Fuuuuuuck," floated out of her throat. The last inches of Paul's cock disappeared inside her. Her little button asshole clenched repeatedly, each time her tight pussy clamped around his steely shaft. I stood dumbfounded. She'd taken the whole thing, trapped his manhood inside, lost contact with the world around her as he overwhelmed her senses. Her jaw hung slack.

One of the guys left the crowd and took a spot behind her. He blocked my view but her reaction told me everything. I saw his arm moving and then Ana moaned long and loud. The new guy climbed higher on her back revealing his cock enlarging her sphincter. He held her shoulders and flexed his ass and his hard dick slid right up her rectum. She clenched her fists and curled her toes and whimpered, stuffed with cock.

"Fuck she's pretty," the guy next to me murmured.

I looked at him. He was in awe. He stroked his dick and watched the crazy sex just a few feet away. I sent my eyes around the gathering and discovered almost everyone was doing the same thing; eyes glued to Ana, hands stroking dicks.

"She's wearing a ring," another guy said. "Hubby's gonna be pissed."

"Thank God for ecstasy," said a third.

Enough of this passive bullshit. I was hurt and that made me fearful. Fear made me angry. I climbed on the bed and held her face, forcing her to look up at me. It took her a second but then her eyes lit up. I gave her my thumb and she sucked instantly so I aimed my dick at her mouth. She kissed the head reverently before sucked me in. I braced the back of her head and began fucking her mouth. She lifted her eyes to meet mine and actually fucking smiled around my dick. Unbelievable. She started bouncing on Paul and grunting each time the other guy fucked her ass. I smoothed the hair off her face and I admit it; she dazzled me. Sweaty and slutty, she never looked sexier. I was smitten in that moment, blasted by a bolt of lightning.

Anal guy announced he was going to cum and a few people clapped. Somewhere a girl told him to "give it to the slut." He kept thrusting until he grunted and then moaned and his body shook. He was blasting away inside her. Ana shrieked but my dick in her mouth muffled the cry. It was a few seconds before I realized she'd cum. My fiancée had a Goddamn orgasm.

Anal guy pulled out and my heart sank as a new frat boy took his place, holding Ana's ass steady and sinking his cock through her ring. Her eyes bulged and she forgot to suck for a second, then her expression turned to panic and she fucking came again. I grabbed her head and forced my dick into the back of her mouth. Whore. Paul battered her cunt from below and the new guy hammered her ass. Her whole body quivered but not just from the force of our pounding, she was turned on beyond anything I'd ever seen. She trembled with lust. Paul's fat cock ripped another screaming orgasm out of her and then he grabbed her tits and turned loose a flood of sperm. He was pumping and spewing, emptying everything those big balls carried.

I freaked out inside. Ana's pussy was taking cum right in front of me. Every time Paul grunted my heart skipped a beat. Adrenaline dumped into my bloodstream. I broke into a sweat. Inexplicably, my nuts tightened and I almost shot down her throat. I whipped my dick out of her mouth and backed away, wild eyes gawking. Some guy shoved me aside and aimed his dick at her empty mouth. More hands grabbed me and pulled me back. Ana was surrounded by young men offering cock. She sucked them all, greedily, bobbing from one penis to the next.

Paul finished ejaculating and hands lifted Ana off him. A new guy slid under and aimed his cock up. My fiancée settled onto him and they began fucking too. The man in her mouth pulled out and jacked all over her gorgeous face. I staggered backwards as the pride of lions closed on her, feeding, fucking every hole, pouring hot jizz over and into her. She came again.

I thought about leaving her there. I thought about ending our engagement and never speaking to her again. My dick throbbed watching her lose herself and after watching for a while, I shoved my way to her mouth once more and made her suck me before pulling out and shooting all over her face and hair. I don't remember ever cumming that hard. I was an animal.

I worked my way to the bedroom wall and slid to the floor. One by one she drained those motherfuckers, cumming hard and often. The room slowly emptied, frat assholes high-fiving each other for getting laid. I spotted Donna on the floor near the bed, a semen-covered mess just like Ana. There were guys passed out here and there. Some girl stuck her head in the room and her jaw dropped.

"Holy shit," she whispered. "Armageddon." She chuckled and gave me a small wave before moving on.

Donna came around first, grabbing towels from the bathroom to wipe down herself and then Ana. She searched the floor and found her clothes and Ana's bra and skirt. My fiancée was coming around and needed help dressing, which Donna did, their friendship intact. Ana sent her eyes around the room until they landed on me. There was a lot going on behind those dark beautiful orbs. My dick twitched to look at her. I had images seared into my brain that would never go away.

Would I still marry her? Yeah, if nothing else, tonight had exposed the depth of my obsession with her. Nobody walks away from beauty like hers. I had a ton of questions, but I had plenty for myself too. I stayed hard through it all. Why? I let it all happen. Why? I'm sitting here looking at her and my heart beats with joy and excitement. Why aren't I hurt and furious?

Donna took her arm and led her towards the door. "Let's get the fuck out of here," she said. "You better hope your fiancé never finds out what you did. Crazy bitch. I got Paul's new number, do you want it?"

Ana was looking right at me, studying my face. "Yeah," she said with a grin. "You'll keep my secret, right Donna?"

"I shouldn't, after you shoved me like that. I thought you were over him."

"So did I."

Donna laughed hard. "Um, no."

They laughed together, sharing a dark feminine secret.

"Does your husband to be have any idea what a slut you are?"

Ana Marie looked back at the cum soaked bed. "I think he suspects."

End.

Join My Mailing List
Get a FREE Hotwife Story!

Visit My New Website!
<https://authormatthewlee.com>

Follow My Twitter here

Find me on: GoodReads

Talk to Me

BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com

Here's your chance to tell me what you like and what you don't. I'd love to hear from you. Share your fantasies and your kinks. Tell me a scene you'd love to see. Do you have a favorite character you'd like to see again?

Operators are standing by.

Additionally, I've launched my own website;

<https://authormatthewlee.com>

What would you like to see there? I'm considering a blog where I share thoughts of my own plus thoughts my readers have shared with me. Talk to me. Send me an email. I've met so many wonderful people already, I'd love to meet more.

Matthew Lee