

The Rocky Path

A Hot Wife Story

MATTHEW LEE

The Rocky Path

A Hotwife Story

By Matthew Lee

*"Tits come in all sizes
and every size can be sexy, but to be sexy
dicks need to be big."*

—Abigail

Chapter 1

"You should use the branches to balance, Abigail," I said. "The ravine is deep and the car is four days away. Fall now and you'll lay at the bottom for a week before the helicopter could rescue you."

My wife glanced at the river far below. Her face turned serious.

"Good point, Gary."

My pack was seventy pounds compared to her mere twenty-five, but the bark beneath her boots was crumbly and old. The sequoia had fallen across the river years ago and crumbled bark showed every hiker used it. Stiff branches stuck out at random along the trunk. Amber and Johnny would cross after us and studied Abby's route carefully. We all knew nature would slap you down in an instant. We respect her.

Abby squared her shoulders and concentrated. She used the base of each old branch to anchor her foot and took her time, moving only when secure. At last she jumped to the pine needle covered earth on the far side. Amber went next and Johnny followed. As the most experienced outdoorsman, I'd crossed first and now helped each step to safety. We adjusted our packs and kept hiking.

Minutes later we topped the ridge. The view stole our breath. McGee Pass lay before us: a step glacial climb to twelve thousand feet. We sat at the bottom of an enormous bowl, surrounded by the Rocky Mountains and towering trees. Above the timberline, we faced packed snow and jagged rock. The sun was low towards evening so I suggested we camp and tackle the arduous climb in the morning. Everyone quickly agreed. We searched for a flat bit of land and pitched our tent. The ladies wandered down river a short distance, following McGee Creek into a thicket. I guided Johnny upriver with me.

"Quick dip in the icy river," I said. "Rinse the trail dust away."

"Sounds refreshing," he replied.

I barely knew the man. Amber was Abby's best friend and had been for years. Johnny was Amber's fourth or fifth boyfriend in as many years. She bores easily. He was a musician and part-time actor: tall and handsome with shoulder-length blonde hair pulled into a baby ponytail. Thank God he wore no topknot. He was likeable and unassuming. Abby says he's sexy but I'll need to take her word for it. I can't see men that way. I led John to a place where the creek pooled and we had some trees for shelter and I sloughed my pack to the ground, helping him remove his. After, I continued to strip.

"So we just jump in the water naked?" he asked.

"That's my plan. We must keep our clothes dry or we'll be wildly uncomfortable. Also, that's how you get blisters. The water is icy, so be warned, but feels fantastic after the hot and dusty trail. I use the sand from the river bottom like shower scrub. I'm in and out in five minutes."

"All right," he shrugged.

We continued undressing. I hung my clothes on branches to dry the sweat, tossing my boxers over a fallen log. John did the same. He turned to join me in the creek. If he had any body hair it was too fine and blonde to see. His body was lean and strong but lacked any bulky muscle. All his bulk was concentrated in his dick. I almost laughed in surprise at the sudden appearance of such a large penis. His brawny cock swung like a baton, slapping his thigh before swaying to a stop, pointed at the forest floor. The guy was so unassuming I'd never imagined he had such a lion caged. I said nothing but I admit, for an instant I wished I was that size too. What man wouldn't? I'm bigger than average but Johnny had me beat. The thought passed from my mind as we stepped into the cold running water. My heartrate soared as the river closed around me. Fresh glacier melt is only a few degrees above freezing and the air left our lungs in a whoosh.

"The girls doing this right now?" he gasped, laughing, each word bitten off and sharply exhaled.

"I know Abigail is," I answered, out of breath. "She loves the dip at the end of each day."

We sank to our chins, rubbing our bodies furiously, scouring away the sweat and dust. I added a pinch of river sand to scrub and then let the water carry away every ache and pain.

"That's it for me," I gasped after a while.

"Me too."

We exited the river quickly, racing for our small towels. The cold water had shrunk his cock and balls but even so he still had a sizable tube of meat. The cold water left me with a pink cap resting in black pubic hair. I dried vigorously, adding some size before pulling on my dry boxer briefs again. Johnny took more time, drying thoroughly. I heard female voices approaching and warned John. He pulled on boxers and pants but was shirtless when the girls entered our clearing. Abigail ran her eyes over his lean torso but so did Amber and she's been fucking him for months.

We piled pine needles and laid the sleeping mat, placing our four-man tent facing the river. The setting was gorgeous. John got the small fire going and Abby cooked. I mapped tomorrow's hike. Amber wrote in her journal. We ate and drank from John's small bottle of whiskey and stared at the brilliant stars. A hike as difficult as ours has little room for unnecessary items and we'd pushed the limits adding swimsuits and alcohol. The air was cool but not cold and the fire was enough to stay warm.

Eventually, fatigue overtook us. We doused the fire and moved to the tent. I broke a glow stick and we all undressed in the dim green light. Sports bras and panties for the ladies, boxers and T-shirts for John and me. Amber made one final bathroom trip and Abby went with her. I watched Abby's brown ponytail sway alongside Amber's blonde one.

I've never cared about sleeping arrangements before but I did now. John and I were talking when the girls got back and they chose their spots for the night. The pattern went: Amber, John, Abby, me. That meant my wife would be sleeping next to a long fat dick and that made me nervous. I considered suggesting we change places but there was no way to do that without making things weird. We've never cared about such things. I told myself to let it go and mostly succeeded.

We all snuggled under our group sleeping bag and I tucked the glow stick into a zippered pouch. The tent went pitch black. Abby spooned me, her back to our friends. She murmured I love you and I muttered it too and then we all settled in.

Abby's hand came around about a minute later. She slipped under the elastic waistband of my boxer briefs and found my dick, fondling my warm balls.

"I wish we could," she whispered.

"Me too," I whispered back.

Hiking always makes Abby horny. Always. It has that effect on me too and usually we'll have a hot fuck under the stars but usually each couple has their own tent. John had this four-man he was proud of and wanted to use so we all just went with it. I stiffened in her hand and her breath turned hot on my back. She squeezed the shaft and then aimed me through the fly hole.

"So big," she murmured.

She's told me many times how good my big dick feels in her. She pumped her hand, stroking the shaft and rubbing the flared head. Her touch felt fantastic. I worried about Amber and Johnny detecting our dalliances but the wind against the tent helped hide any noise and besides, those two were exhausted and out. Abby circled her fingertip around my pee hole, collecting a drop of leaking precum. She brought the finger to her mouth and quietly sucked.

"Delicious," she murmured. "Put it in me."

Before I could remind her that we all shared a small space, she turned away from me and scooted her ass back at my crotch. Now she faced Johnny. She subtly reached between her legs and pulled her panties aside. Her pussy was a furnace against the thin skin of my shaft. Her middle finger landed under the head and she pushed, guiding me into her sopping cunt. I forced her tight tunnel open and sank an inch or two deep. I buried my face in her hair. I had to or risk moaning. I covered her mouth with my hand and slowly, quarter-inch at a time, eased my erection into her. Her body first stiffened and then melted. We didn't fuck: no room for that. But we snuggled with me balls-deep and filling her. I kissed her nape and held her tight and she reached for her clit, gently rubbing until her body became rigid and then relaxed. Moments later she fell asleep filled with me. I fell asleep too, still in her.

I awoke to Amber's soft feminine sigh and opened my eyes to slits. The tent had a dim glow from the risen moon. I'd softened and slipped out of my wife. I noticed Abby had grown too warm sometime during the night and pulled off her sports bra without waking me. Her luscious tits lay exposed. Johnny spooned Amber, both ogling my half-naked woman. He fucked Amber like I'd fucked Abby, which meant almost no movement. My face was hidden by Abby's long hair but they weren't looking at me. They had eyes only for my wife's uncovered tits and face. Johnny and Amber barely moved at all, made almost no noise, but I knew he fucked her deep and slow with that big cock. I held still, allowing them to believe I slept, and watched Amber's pretty face contort with pleasure in the murky light. As I laid there watching them fuck, I realized I'd never truly seen Abigail's face while we made love. Abby's face or any other woman for that matter. Porn loves to show the woman's face but when I'm down in it, fucking, behind or on top or from the side or whatever, watching my partner's face does not rank high. Before, yes. While we're making out, yes. Those intimate moments when we slow or stop to gaze into each other's eyes lovingly, yes. But when I'm busy fucking? No.

What a treat it was to witness the effect of that cock on a gorgeous female. Detail was lost in the gloom but I saw enough. I saw Amber's twisted expressions of wild lust and desire. Johnny tortured her with his dick, turning her inside out, stretching and stuffing her. Amber wanted to scream and rant but kept it all bottled inside. Her first orgasm was a breathless snorting storm, her second a face-covered mewling. Johnny was killing her sweetly.

At last she made him stop. He withdrew his cock and rolled onto his back, waiting for Amber to catch her breath. She covered her face with both hands and smothered laughter.

"Magnificent," she muttered. "Fucking magnificent."

Johnny beamed with pride.

"Let me do you," she whispered.

He studied Abby and me.

"You know how I am," he answered. "I take too long. We'll wake them."

Amber leaned up to kiss him and then lowered her head to his dick. Her hair blocked my vision but her bobbing head told me everything. An occasional soft slurp drifted my way.

She tried. She sucked for half an hour but just couldn't get enough motion to get him over the top. John would have blue balls for the hike tomorrow. She fell onto her back, tired, but still held him upright. I have a big dick but he nevertheless gave me penis envy. Magnificent indeed. That weapon had produced Amber's many faces of ecstasy and I easily saw why. She's not a big girl. She's a tight petite little package. Her pussy had been stuffed with cock.

Johnny stroked her hair.

"It's okay," he said. "Maybe tomorrow. We'll slip away when we stop for lunch and I'll fuck you under an open sky."

She let his dick flop to his stomach and turned to snuggle her man.

"I'd like that," she whispered.

She was asleep in seconds. I wondered if John would take matters in hand but he turned on his side and drifted off too.

Chapter 2

The next day we reached Big McGee Lake. We knocked off early, setting up camp and enjoying the sunlight. We ate and read and napped. Johnny and Amber slipped away after lunch. We'd scale McGee Pass the next day and would need all our strength. We had clear skies but we'd encounter glacial ice as soon as we left the valley.

The hike would be strenuous.

The lake was cold but clear. John and I swam in boxers but the girls had packed bikinis. It was a visual treat watching their bodies, similar but different enough to display some variety, frolic in the bright sun. Abigail had bigger tits but Amber had a nicer ass. Both had lovely legs and pretty faces. Neither ever wore makeup.

Abby noticed something interesting in the gravel and approached John to discuss a black glassy rock she'd found. My chest constricted. I've never been jealous and Abby has never given me reason to be. She wasn't giving me reason to now. But I'd seen John naked and that changed everything for me. Abby was standing close to the man, wet bikini plastered to her body, hard nipples obvious even from here, with only a tiny gap between her breast and his hand. Her pussy was mere inches away from that swinging dick. She had no idea of her danger.

I laughed. What the hell was I thinking? There was no danger. John's dick wasn't a rattlesnake. They were just talking. No big deal.

Abby pointed down the shore and John turned to look. Abby's breast brushed his arm, lingering for a moment as the curve of her tit gently dented against his hand. I sucked air and held it. Sweet Jesus. Neither seemed aware of the contact but how could they not? I glanced at Amber but she was buried in her journal again, unaware what our partners did. Abby leaned in slightly. Her tit mushed, spreading, but John did not move away. My wife described something she'd seen or where she'd found the shard of basalt and they held that pose, chatting.

At last, my wife stepped to the water. She waded out knee deep and skipped the stone out into the lake. Her fine tits wobbled. Her wet ass looked stellar. She waved see-you to John and walked up the rocky beach to me.

"Like what you see?" she asked, grinning.

"What do you mean?"

"You're staring at me."

"You're gorgeous and infinitely worthy of being stared at. Plus, you're wearing a bikini with a majestic snow-capped mountain backdrop. Every man would stare."

She stopped, her eyes alive and dancing.

"Remind me to fuck you to death later," she said.

"Will do."

She sat next to me. I offered a slice of dried apple. We chatted about the upcoming hike tomorrow and our life back in the city and how much we loved it out here in the wilderness. Our conversation reached a natural pause.

"They fucked last night," I murmured.

Abby raised her head to look first at Amber and then at John.

"Why didn't you wake me?"

"No time. Also, then they would have known I was awake and stopped."

"How was it?" she asked. "See anything good?"

"No skin but I got to watch Amber's face when she came. Twice."

"Nice. Lucky girl."

I resisted the urge to tell her about John. We have a few sex toys at home and Abby prefers the bigger ones so I surmised she'd appreciate the information about our trail mate, but he's a man, traveling with us. Why would I mention his dong to my wife? I don't like keeping things from her but why what husband talks about that?

Abby studied John down at the shore.

"Twice?" she asked.

"Yeah. It was hot."

"Amber's a babe," she said. "I'm envious. I'd love to watch my little munchkin climax. Maybe she's finally found a man who can get the job done right."

"Envious of watching or envious of cumming twice?"

Abby laughed. She kissed my cheek but didn't answer. I gave her another apple slice and a smack on the butt and sent her away to finish charting our map. Too easy to get lost up here.

The day wore on. Night came and we built another small fire and passed the bottle, each of us getting a lovely buzz. The air turned chill so we bundled up.

When the winds started, we drenched the fire and crawled into our tent. An hour later a light snow started. We continued drinking until we all had a strong buzz. Slightly dangerous but I was confident in my mountain experience. We all told stories until Amber began to fade. Abby suggested we dress for bed but with the snow falling we couldn't do it outside so we had to maneuver around each other in the cramped space. We were all extra careful, hiding our bodies from each other, until Amber spoke.

"Fuck this," she said, frustrated. "Gary, look away."

I met Abby's eyes. Amber pulled her sweatshirt off revealing a black sports bra. The sides and neck were cut low so breasts bulged all around. One tit was slightly askew so areola showed. Abby bounced her eyebrows at me, making sure I noticed. I knew the alcohol buzz helped her generosity.

"Good call, Am," Abby said, peeling off her jacket.

Johnny joined in and so did I. Soon we were all stripped down to underwear. I crushed some heat packs and tossed them around inside the sleeping bag. Remarkable how those things take the chill off.

John sent the whiskey around and we all added to the pleasant high we felt. Nothing relaxes tired muscles like some Gentleman Jack.

We shuffled into the bag, awkwardly squirming and trying to get comfortable.

"Maybe a sleeping bag built for four wasn't such a good idea," Johnny conceded.

We laughed. I thought we'd end up me, Abby, Amber, and Johnny, but at the last second Amber rolled across John to get her journal. I said I'd dim the light but Amber asked me for the stick, continuing to write in her journal.

Eventually she finished and darkness settled on us. John started breathing deep and Amber followed. Abby kissed me, wiggled her butt against my crotch and gave me a flirty look, and closed her eyes. I got comfortable, joining them in sleep. Maybe an hour had gone by when I was awakened by Amber shoving my shoulder and hissing: "Someone's out there."

I listened and heard nothing.

"What did you hear?" I asked.

"Footsteps," she said.

We waited, straining our ears. I was just about to peek out the front flaps when something splashed down at the lake.

"Fish?" I asked.

"Too big," she said.

We were all awake now. The air was cold but we were warm. Something splashed again and Abby told me to go check. I listened closely. The snow had muted all sound but I searched for the low rumbling snuffle of a bear or wolf.

Instead I heard faint drunken grumbling.

"Sounds like someone wandered into the wrong camp," I said. "Let me aim him in the right direction. I'll be right back."

"Be careful," Abby said.

"I'll come too," Johnny added.

We slipped on boots without socks and headed outside. The snow here by the lake was only inches deep and the wind had stopped. I saw a man standing at the shore so we headed that way. As we drew close I guessed his age late fifties or early sixties.

"You lost?" I asked.

He spun to face us on wobbly legs. His clothes were soaked. Wet snow stuck to him in patches and it was clear by the tracks that he'd fallen several times, including a few dunks in the lake. He raised a finger, pointing at nothing. He opened his mouth and pitched face-first into a snow bank. John and I looked at each other.

"We can't leave him out here," Johnny said.

"No," I agreed. "We can't."

We each took an arm and lifted. Drunk Man tried to help but he only made things worse. We staggered back to the tent with him between us. Abby opened the flap and Amber spread the large sleeping bag open. We laid the man down. Abby zipped the flap shut behind us. We all stared at the man.

The man started to shiver.

"We need to get him out of those wet clothes," Johnny said.

We all stared at Johnny.

He was right. Hypothermia was coming up fast. The man's lips were faintly blue, his speech was slurred, although that could be the booze, and he was slipping in and out of consciousness. He was no inexperienced hack. He was dressed in the right kind of mountain gear: the right boots, the right jacket, the right gloves. Everything about the man said experienced outdoorsman. Then why get drunk and lost in the wilderness during snowfall? I wondered if some personal tragedy had befallen him, a broken heart driving him mad and out into the night.

Johnny unzipped the man's jacket. I started on his boot laces. Abby and Amber, still in sports bras and panties but too engrossed by the turn of events to care, got to work on his pants. We stripped him to his boxers and then John and I maneuvered those off too. I laid the man on his back and joined the others in staring. The man's flaccid penis was big. Cold and shivering, the man's flaccid penis was big.

What the Hell? I thought. What's the deal with big dicks on this hike?

I guessed the odds weren't all that crazy. We never know what's around us because usually everyone stays clothed.

"Damn," Abigail said.

"Nice," Amber said. "I don't even care that he's old."

"His shivering is worse," Johnny said. "Let's get him in the bag."

"Then where do we sleep?" Amber asked.

"In the bag with him," I said. "He needs our body heat to warm up. We can't light a fire in the tent. Grab some of those heat packs and push them down by our feet. I'll break a few more."

"Naked?" Amber asked. "Like, he won't have clothes on at all?"

"His clothes are soaked," Johnny said. "They're crystalized. They're so cold they're stiff and crunchy."

Amber opened the flap and tossed his clothes outside.

"He can stay in the tent tomorrow while his clothes dry," she said.

We all got to work. Soon we had Grandpa positioned in the middle. I noticed Abby dragging her feet, not helping as much as she had been. Was she trying to time the sleeping arrangements? I said nothing and Gramps ended up with the ladies on each side and John and me on the outside edges. Five in the bag was tight so Abigail put her back to me and faced the new guy. Amber did the same thing on the other side. I caught the girls exchanging mischievous grins. We said goodnight and I dimmed the light.

"If this guy wakes up during the night," Johnny said. "He's not going to know what the fuck happened to him."

"He'll think he died and went to Heaven," I added.

The girls giggled. Not drunk, but close.

"Maybe leave a glow stick going?" Abby suggested. "So it's not pitch black."

I poked the old man. His breath was flammable. His skin was ice. I poked again. He didn't budge.

"Okay," I said. "But he's out cold. I've seen enough drunks to know he's gone until sunrise, probably longer."

I cracked a small stick and hung it from the tent rib overhead. Dim, but enough to see shapes and objects. If our guest awoke he'd be able to navigate. At the very least he'd be able to wake one of us and ask what the hell was going on. One by one we all fell asleep.

I woke hours later. The stick still glowed but had faded some. Gramps was awake and confused, propped on his elbows and looking around the tent.

"Go back to sleep," I whispered. "We found you in the lake. You were freezing to death. Sleep it off and we'll talk in the morning."

He nodded several times, still obviously drunk, and surveyed his surroundings. His gaze landed on a slumbering Abby and then a slumbering Amber. Smooth, bulging titties barely constrained greeted him everywhere he looked. He lifted the sleeping bag to look at his naked body. He blinked several times, trying to figure everything out, then settled on his back again. I saw his arm move under the cover, his hand unmistakably headed for Abby's overflowing tit. He intended on touching her. I froze. Do I yell and wake the whole tent? To I whisper to knock it off and hope he listens? He's drunk and horny and in bed with two babes. I couldn't blame him.

I hesitated too long and his hand began making slow circular motions. Abby sighed softly. His touch was delicate enough he didn't wake her, which surprise me. I expected in his state he'd be clumsy. His hand moved to her other breast and now I worried if I spoke firmly and ordered him to stop, I'd wake her and she'd flip out. The others would wake too and what could we do? Kick him out to certain death? He was barely able to keep his eyes open. I knew this would be over in seconds and I was right. Abby smiled in her sleep, gently sighed and turned on her side to face me, inadvertently dragging her tits away from his touch. She nuzzled my chest and I draped an arm over her. We all drifted off again. I debated telling her in the morning what our guest had done. It took a while, but I returned to sleep.

I awoke to a sound and lay in the dark stillness waiting to hear it again. The glow stick was almost gone.

"Ungh," Abby softly groaned.

Her body bumped mine and a moment later bumped me again.

"Mmhh," she breathed.

I smelled the whiskey on her breath from earlier and wondered if she dreamed. I lovingly tightened my arm. Her body moved again, gently pressed against me before siding back. My foggy brain finally realized the movement seemed odd given her position. I lifted my head to see what was happening and in the faint light noticed Gramps had spooned my wife during the night. His eyes were closed, his face serene.

His hips moved, thrusting ever so slowly, with Abby pressed against my chest.

I lifted the edge of the sleeping bag but it was far too dark to see down there. It was too dark to see but my sense of smell worked fine and the hot scent of wet pussy wafted up to me. My heart jolted to a stop. I heard the squishy slurping of sopping cunt. Gramps was either sliding his fat dick between her legs or had somehow managed to guide himself around her underwear and into my slightly inebriated wife. Abby moved again as his hips slowly thrust. He wasn't fucking her. He was easing his thick log deep and then slowly extracting it. His movements were sluggish but it was only a matter of time before he woke her. Only whiskey kept her sleeping now.

I found myself paralyzed just like when he fondled her breasts.

Images of his heavy cock flashed in my mind. We'd undressed him and marveled at our unexpected discovery. I pictured that drooping tube of man-flesh perfectly, right down to the twisting veins and wide head.

That cock was now inside my wife.

I shivered, and not from the cold. My hesitancy had no excuse. That was my wife and even if I was wrong and he wasn't inside her, he was still far too close. But I did nothing. Actually, that's not the truth. I held Abby under my arm and relished the slow nudging of her body. Maybe the whiskey numbed me to the reality of the moment, but arousal flared deep in my chest. Was I truly holding my precious wife while another man fucked her? A door opened in my mind. I should be furious, but I wasn't. I shouldn't be turned on, but I was.

Gramps continued his unhurried penetration but he was running out of steam. Minutes later drunken sleep overtook him once more. He stopped, but his cock remained in her like a lumpy mass. I waited. When both seemed lost to deep sleep again, I gently turned Abby to face away from me, pulling her off of his impaling spear. A probing finger found her panties twisted out of the way and a soaked pussy. I freed my throbbing dick and lined myself up, easing into her like Gramps just had. Her soft moan encouraged me and I continued his slow fucking of my wife. My mind was tumbling over a cliff and into an abyss but I questioned nothing. Thoughts of him inside her filled my head with roaring lust. I had too much whiskey in me to orgasm but her tight wet walls felt fantastic. I moved with excruciating slowness, just like he had, savoring her slippery pussy's grip, delighting in the knowledge he had traveled the same slick tunnel only minutes before, delighting in the knowledge my dick now traveled where his dick had been.

I, too, ran out of steam. Physically exhausted from all the hiking, mentally exhausted from all the liquor, and emotionally exhausted from the wild adrenaline swings of holding Abby while she was fucked, my eyelids grew heavier by the second. I fell asleep buried inside her, also just like he had.

Chapter 3

Dawn lit the tent inside. We all stirred about the same time except for Grandpa. Gramps snored like a grizzly bear. We adjusted sleep wear, gathered clothing, and left the tent. Light snow blanketed everything. Johnny started a fire. The girls wandered off but soon returned, dressed. I'd started breakfast. Abby sat close on a rock, eyeing me.

"Why'd you stop?" she asked.

I gave her a questioning face.

"Last night," she continued, lowering her voice. "You started fucking me. It was so hot. I was only half awake but it felt amazing. I couldn't believe you were making the attempt with everyone right there."

"Too much drink," I said. "I passed out right in the middle. Rain check?"

"Hell yes. You felt huge. I almost came despite the booze. You got me there in, like, a minute. You can wake me up like that anytime."

My dick pulsed. It wasn't me she described, it was Gramps.

The flap opened on the tent and a leathery hand reached out to gather clothing, still wet. Moments later a fully clothed Gramps stepped into the daylight, blinking fast and shielding his eyes. We all chuckled.

"He lives," Johnny said.

"Not too sure about that," Grandpa said.

In the light, I now guessed his age over sixty. He had a sadness in his eyes even when he smiled. Johnny offered him a plate of reconstituted eggs, which he accepted.

"You all saved me," he said.

It wasn't quite a statement but it wasn't quite a question, either.

"You'd have frozen to death quickly," I said. "You fell in the lake several times, soaking your clothes. We put you in bed with us to keep you warm."

He nodded distractedly.

"Why were you wandering drunk and in the dark?" Abigail asked.

He shrugged.

Amber saw something in his eyes and zeroed in, moving closer to the man, handing him a tin cup of black coffee.

"Tell us," she implored.

The man kicked snow off a fallen log and sat heavily. Amber brushed away snow next to him and sat close.

"Talk to us," she said.

The man sighed. He took a sip.

"Wife died, cancer, four years ago," he began. "Back then I came up here to get away from everyone for a while, which I did, but I never went back. I own a chunk of land and built a cabin back over there." He turned to jerk a thumb over a shoulder. "Last night I received word my mother has passed too. It was too much for me. My mother was an angel. I drank a whole bottle and wandered out under the stars, asking God why. I know every inch of these woods but somehow still managed to get lost. Big dummy, I guess."

Amber slipped an arm around his shoulders.

"Don't talk like that," she said. "You were distraught. God led you right to us to keep you safe until you felt better."

The man's lip trembled.

"I'm Gary," I said, jumping in. "That's my wife, Abigail, and our friends Amber and Johnny. We're glad you're okay."

"Thank you for your kindness," he said, sending his gaze around our group. "My name's Earl, Earl Wagner."

"You're welcome," I said. "It was simply the right thing to do."

"Where y'all headed?"

I waved vaguely towards McGee Pass.

"Through the pass, follow the trail, loop around back to the car. Ten to fourteen days, depending."

"More like a month," he said, eyes narrowing. "This storm was small but probably dumped ten feet up at the Pass. You'll need several days to let it pack before you can traverse it."

He sent his gaze around our group again.

"Let me return your kindness. Stay with me at my cabin a few days. I have two-bedrooms. Rest up and let the snow turn hard."

We all looked at each other. Nobody needed to be back to work anytime soon and a mountain cabin sounded better than a tent and sleeping on the ground. Also, Earl's eye held a special need. He was lonely, desperately lonely, and now was not the time to abandon him. We weren't responsible but some people just tug at your heart.

"I say we stay," Abby said.

Her expression told me she felt the same about Earl.

"Me too," said Amber.

"Of course," John added. "If it's no problem to put us up."

"None," Earl said. "I got lots of room."

We finished breakfast and coffee and broke camp. Earl led us deeper into the woods, winding uphill until we encountered a stream. He followed that higher until the land plateaued and we passed a no trespassing-private property sign.

There, nestled under the towering redwoods, sat a quaint and lovely cabin. The care in its construction was obvious. Rich polished wood gleamed in the bright sunlight. A dusting of snow accented everything. A wide balcony ran all the way around the second floor, which was mostly made of glass walls.

"Damn," Amber breathed.

"Agreed," I added. "The man is handy with hammer and nails."

We stepped into the mud room and dropped our gear, entering wearing socks. The main room was open to all four walls and filled with two couches and two plush chairs. An empty bottle of whisky and a glass sat on the small dining table. A simple kitchen filled one corner, a huge fireplace filled another. The master bedroom was upstairs, loft style, open to the space below.

"Bedroom," Earl said, pointing at a door downstairs. "Bathroom," pointing at another. "Help yourself to any food in the kitchen. Nice to have you here."

"Nice place," Amber said.

"Thank you," he replied.

I walked a circle around the main room. The place felt lived in, and there were a thousand pictures of Earl with his wife or mother, but a cloud of sadness hung over everything. I turned to find Abby and saw she felt the same. We met near the kitchen.

"Earl is waiting to die," she said. "Everything is at least four years old. Nothing's new. So sad. Such a nice man."

"I was thinking the same thing," I said.

"No kids," she said, gesturing at all the photographs.

"So they are either estranged or they never had any."

"Never had any," she said. "Earl would never distance himself from his kids. I see it in his eyes."

Earl saw us looking at the pictures and moved closer.

"That's my wife," he said. "Agnes. She was pure gold. She made me a better man. I never told her a lie, not in forty-two years of marriage. I tried once but it never left my mouth. She would have known anyway."

We asked him about various pictures and what the event or year was. He was far more talkative about Agnes and we let him run with it. When he finished, he headed upstairs, eager for fresh clothes.

"He is a total sweetheart," Abby said. "I might already love him a little."

"Me too," I said.

We examined a few more photos and then Abigail turned to look upstairs at the nice man we'd just met. Earl moved around the open loft which served as his bedroom, gathering clothes. An arch separated his master bathroom from his bedroom and Earl stepped through it now. The angle was too sharp to see anything other than his head.

Abby moved on, noting the attention to detail Earl put into this place. Small carvings and perfect dovetail joints: the man had taken his time. I watched her from the corner of my eye. I was suspicious but unsure why. Years of marriage had given me insight. She seemed to be innocently examining his cabin. She seemed unassuming but then I realized the truth: she sought a better angle to see upstairs, and her eyes narrowed when she found one.

From the kitchen, she looked across the open space to the upstairs loft and bathroom. I pretended not to notice but casually positioned myself too. Earl stood naked in his bathroom, his old but impressive cock hanging thick between his legs. Large furry balls swung as he pulled on pants and a T-shirt. Abby tried not to stare but failed, gawking at the old man. I smoothly crept behind her.

"Isn't he a little old for you?" I murmured.

She jumped, unaware I was so close and embarrassed to be discovered. She spun to face me, ready to bluff her way out but deciding not to.

"He's not a bad looking guy," she said. "He's ruggedly handsome in his own way. But it's his artistry, the attention to detail that went into building this place, and his loving devotion to Agnes and his mother that truly make him attractive."

"You failed to mention his big dick."

She blushed.

"He does have a beautiful cock," she admitted. "His body and face are wrinkled from age but he's slim. His skin is leathery from sun damage but he looks wiry strong. I'm sorry for staring. That must have been unpleasant. You mad?"

"Not at all," I said. "That you find him attractive tells me things about you: good things, kind things, compassionate things. I think it's sweet."

She smiled and took my arm, leaning her head on my shoulder. I thought now would be the perfect time to tell what he'd done to her in the tent while she slept but nope, my mouth stayed shut.

"If I ever need a big cock I can just grab yours," she said.

The four of us checked on the downstairs bedroom. The bed was big but not big enough for four.

"We'll take the floor tonight," Johnny said. "We can layer blankets and cushions. Tomorrow you get the floor and we'll take the bed."

"Done," Abby decided.

Earl joined us and started a fire. He made us comfortable and then offered to make dinner. Abby said she'd help. I felt a strange vibration in my stomach at her offer. Did she want to be close to him because she found him attractive? A slow churning rolled my gut. It excited me that she might find another man attractive. It made Abby a more sexual person in my eyes and every man wants a more sexual wife. Earl was no real threat.

I stayed with Johnny and Amber and we talked until Earl and Abby arrived with hamburgers and small salads. The meat was venison and quite tasty. We ate and drank long into the night. Earl's life had been a hard one. His father died when he was young. His mother spent years sick. Earl suffered more loss and heartbreak than any of us at that table, yet he was so grateful for the company, several times becoming misty-eyed. He thanked us often.

Eventually, everyone got sleepy. We said our goodnights and headed for bed. Amber and Johnny made a padded area for themselves and Abby and I aimed for the bedroom. My wife hugged Earl at the bottom of the stairs. I shut the door. We got undressed and I turned off the light. We climbed under the covers.

"What a sweet, sweet man," Abby said.

"No argument from me. I hate how hard life has been for him."

We snuggled in silence for a time, recognizing how lucky we were. Abigail turned on her side and wiggled her ass towards me.

"Spoon me," she said.

It's her favorite so I did as I was commanded. She squirmed her butt again, maneuvering my spongy dick between her butt cheeks. Her mood was obvious but Earl's words from earlier weighed on my mind. He'd never lied to Agnes. Until today I could say the same, but no more. If my lie of omission was bothering me now, I tried to imagine what a thorn in my side it would be months from now. Better to confess, especially at this moment, when her regard for Earl was so high. He could take a hit and she'd still feel sorry for him.

"Baby?" I began. "There's something I need to tell you."

Her body stiffened.

"I knew it," she murmured. "You are angry I stared at naked Earl."

I cleared my throat.

"No," I said. "It's about all of us in the sleeping bag."

I gave her time to return to that moment. I had no idea how to phrase what I wanted to say so I just cut to the heart of it before I lost my nerve.

"That was Earl's cock in you, not mine."

Abigail's face literally danced. Surprise, annoyance, betrayal, disbelief, excitement, annoyance again, and then, finally, and surprisingly, arousal.

"You came on his cock, Baby, not mine," I finished.

"Seriously?"

"Yes," I admitted.

She rolled that thought around in her head, viewing it from every angle. The act of sex is different for women. I expected her to feel violated. I expected anger. A lot of anger. A mighty ocean of anger tempered only by her regard for the old man.

"Why not say something sooner?" she asked after a minute.

"I thought you'd be furious," I said. "I worried he'd get cast back into the storm. He would have died. What he did was utterly wrong but he was drunk and not himself. Grief had him. I wasn't even a hundred percent sure he was in you. I didn't see it. It was dark and we were all crammed together. He may have just been thrusting between your legs. But then the way you talked in the morning, I knew. Since then he's been an angel. I doubt he even knows what he did. I'm worried if we tell him he'll hate himself, be crushed with guilt."

She stared at the wall, thinking.

"On the other hand," I continued. "Another man has been inside my wife. As her husband, I think there are some things I'm supposed to do, some reactions I'm supposed to have. I'm worried I've disappointed you."

"What did you feel?" she asked. "What was your reaction that night?"

Oh boy.

"I—um—fucked you after him."

"Oh," she said, some understanding blossoming in her female brain. She pondered for a moment. Then: "Oooooooh."

She was remembering things now, despite the booze that night. She was performing womanly calculations. The best any man can do in such a moment is keep his mouth shut, which I did.

"After suspecting he'd fucked me," she said. "You fucked me."

"Yes."

God, that sounded awful when she said it like that.

"Interesting," she said.

That has got to be the worst word a woman can use on you.

"Get closer," she said. "Hold me."

We spooned and she wiggled her ass against me again. She said nothing and I said nothing and eventually the food, drink, and warm bed put us both to sleep.

Chapter 4

I awoke to a dark room and an empty bed. I waited, believing Abby slipped out for a bathroom trip, but she did not return. Curious and a little worried, I eased out of bed to search for her. She stood halfway up the stairs, high enough to gaze at Earl sleeping naked and atop the covers. Johnny and Amber snored in a pool of blankets and pillows below. They were out.

Earl had a nighttime erection that looked ready to burst. Pencil-thick veins ran the length of his dick, crisscrossed by wormy smaller veins. His hairy balls were drawn up tight. I moved up the staircase on padded feet but Abby heard me anyway. She turned slightly.

"That," she whispered, indicating the old man's cock with a jerk of her chin. "Was all the way up inside me?"

"Yeah."

"But I didn't wake up?"

"You woke a bit but you'd had a lot of whiskey before bed. He pushed it in gradually, like he had all night to get there."

Abby gazed at the older man, running her eyes over his wiry frame and big erection. I moved closer, softly pressing my chest against her back. She automatically dropped a hand behind to find my penis. She slipped her hand up the leg of my boxers and held me.

"He's such a sad man," she breathed. "He's so kind and giving. He's endured so much heartache."

"Life's not fair," I whispered.

She studied him. She scrutinized every inch of the man. Her gaze returned to his large, exposed erection, pulsating gently with his heartbeat.

"I want him," she murmured, almost too low to hear. "I want to hold him and let him feel me right there with him. He needs me. He's so despondent. He needs a woman. He needs to be loved. He needs to feel loved."

She turned to face me, her warm soft body pressed against mine.

"Tell me I can," she murmured. "Tell me to go get in his bed."

Earl moved in his sleep. His fleshy log slid down his thigh to point at the bathroom arch. The head flared.

"He's already been in me," she continued. "You let it happen, and then you said nothing the next morning, even after the storm passed and he was in no danger. Then you said nothing all day, hanging out with the man that had fucked your wife. Don't try to act indignant."

Everything she'd said about me was true. Her eyes were wide with wonder. She looked hopeful. Her hair was slightly mussed and her top slightly askew. Side breast showed. She looked sexy there in the dark on the stairs.

"You got hard enough to fuck me after," she added. "That fact is you fucked me after he did. That means what he'd done turned you on. That would make some women angry but not me. You liked it. I'm fine with that."

I had no rebuttal.

"I did like it," I admitted, voice deep and low.

Earl's cock reared like a stallion, gracefully arching straight up before falling onto his stomach. Abby softly gasped at the sight. It was his idea the first time, this time it would be hers. This time he's the one sleeping and she's the one awake.

"Tell me I can," she murmured again.

I sensed this was a way I could help make things right in her mind.

"Go to him," I rumbled, disbelieving my own words.

She wrapped her arms around me and squeezed. Excitement raced through her like a thrumming quiver. She slipped from my hug and tiptoed up the stairs, shedding sports bra and booty shorts as she climbed. She reached his big bed naked, placing one knee on the edge and sliding a hand up his leg. I crouched in the shadows, mind spinning, doubt raging. Abby looked stunning. My dick made a tent of my boxers. I could not accept as true what my own eyes told me: Abby, my loving wife, was approaching another man for sex. This was real. This was happening. My heart was a wild jackhammer.

Her hand closed around his thick erection. She squeezed hard, aiming him at the log ceiling. This was an appendage for penetrating females and injecting them with sperm and my wife had her fingers wrapped around it.

I sank lower on the stairs, trying to make myself invisible. Abby leaned over his lap and closed her lips around his head. She sucked several inches in. A slurp floated down the stairs. She opened her mouth wide and I saw her tongue swirling around the head before she closed her mouth again.

Earl woke, confused. He rubbed his eyes. He lifted his head and then glanced around, verifying Abby acted alone. I did not move and he did not see me. Satisfied the rest of us slept and my wife had gone rogue, his head fell back again. He lifted his hips slightly to give her more cock and signal his approval. Abby shoved as much of his dick into her mouth as she could take. She pulled off moments later with a wet gasp.

"You're going to fuck me," she hissed, moving a leg to straddle his body. With one knee high and the other planted on the mattress, she held his cock straight up and spread her pussy with her free hand.

"All right," he murmured.

His big balls lifted and separated. Abby used the broad tip of his penis to find her hole and for a moment forever frozen in time, I saw his thick and rigid cock about to penetrate her.

That's your wife! my mind howled. That's Abby!

I ran my frantic eyes over every inch of her. I knew that body so well. I knew that face so well. We are joined at the soul yet here he was, about to slide deep. His cock throbbed with want.

It was the hottest thing I'd ever seen. Abigail and I have been through so much over the years. We are as tight as any couple we know. We are best friends and passionate lovers. We hold each other's hearts. Yet, seeing her on top of him, so eager for another man, regardless of her reasons, twisted my mind into knots. She looked shamelessly sexy.

For an instant, her soft pussy lip caught on the tip of his cock. Then she nudged him back half an inch. She sat her weight on his dick and his meaty spear spread her hole wide and began to creep inside, all those squiggly veins and arteries slowly vanishing inside her. There was nothing else in my universe except that point of invasion. Her inner lips moved away slowly, sluggishly spreading and crawling down his stiff inches.

"I've already been in you," he blurted. "Did you know it was me?"

I'd assumed he was too drunk to realize what he did that night. I was wrong. A crush of angst hit me like a giant fist. He'd known all along. I'd given him the benefit of my doubt and he'd made a fool of me. Not intentionally. Not maliciously. But incidentally. He'd wanted her and he'd taken her and he'd suffered no penalty.

"No," she gasped. "Not at the time. I thought it was my husband."

"You ain't mad?"

She shook her head, grinding her hips down on him.

"No," she growled, keeping her voice low, fighting to control the intense sensations of stuffing herself with so much cock.

Earl put his hands on her hips to steady her. She planted the other knee on the bed and leaned her big tits over his face. He sucked both, bouncing from one offered nipple to the other, licking wide swaths around her small areola.

"I thought you knew and were coming back for more," he said.

"Gary told me yesterday," she said. "And I am coming back for more."

My hard dick jumped.

"I ain't fucked in years," he said. "Years. I'd forgotten all about that stuff. You're an angel. I saw you and remembered."

Abby closed her eyes and dropped her head. She curled her hips and his inches vanished inside. She groaned softly, careful not to wake Amber or Johnny, and then began short hard thrusts that worked his thick buried cock and rubbed her clit. His balls lifted higher. She lifted almost all the way off and his cock gleamed in the low light. She sank all the way down and lifted off again, a new coating of pussy juice each time she traveled his length. Her gasps came faster.

"You gonna cum?" he whispered. "You close?"

She nodded vigorously.

"Me too," he said. "Should I pull out or can I cum in you?"

She hesitated and then nodded faster. It was a huge decision but she made it almost instantly. Our birth control efforts had been sporadic over the years: sometimes I wore a condom, sometimes I pulled out, sometimes we took a chance, like the chance she was taking right now. That she would take this risk told me how turned-on she was.

I crawled several steps higher. His cock was a piston in my wife's pussy, mostly buried, withdrawing only an inch or two before she slammed him back home. She kept their sex quiet to avoid waking our friends, but that only made it more intense. The need to hide what they did fueled her arousal.

At last she filled her lungs and clamped her mouth shut and hid her face in his neck. She began releasing desperate gasps of exploding air. I knew a powerful orgasm was ripping through her at that moment.

I watched her cum but then my eyes jumped to his straining cock. This was a big deal. He held back as long as he could, but her tight pussy was too much. His orgasm started as hers was waning. His hips began to jerk, his fat balls jumped and the veins on the visible length of shaft stood out like earthworms. He was ejaculating hot sperm into Abby, my loving wife. I watched his balls rise and fall over and over. I watched her snug pussy grip him like a vise. I watched her puckered asshole wink and clench. Her cunt milked every drop his testicles held. I kept my mouth shut and my head down but it took all my willpower. I had no anger towards him, but I wanted to climb onto that bed and fuck her to death. He inseminated her, pumping her full of his seed.

They lay together as they slowly returned to Earth. Abby lifted her impaled pussy off his softening dick and then moved to lean over his crotch. She slipped his messy cock into her mouth, working her lips towards his pubes. Once she'd taken all she could, she gently sucked as she pulled her mouth away, cleaning the length of him. He glistened in the faint light. She moved to rest her head on his hairy chest, snuggling, her mission complete.

They began talking but too low for me to hear. After a while I understood they were finished for tonight and I returned to the bedroom, expecting Abby to join me soon. I waited a while and dozed off. I awoke to an empty bed. I figured she'd fallen asleep with him so I ventured out of the bedroom again, retracing my steps to the stairs and up.

I don't know what I expected to see, but certainly not what I saw.

Earl had Abby on her side, one leg stuck straight up into the air, her other stretched flat along the bed. She clutched a pillow to cover her face as he drove his cock like a battering ram into her cunt. Sweat covered his back. He hammered my wife, pounding her tight hole like a demon. His hands gripped her hard, holding her in place. Her big tits bounced in time with his heavy thrusts.

Her wail of orgasm sliced right through me. She smothered most of the sound but what escaped the pillow crushed my heart. I heard abandon in her howl, I heard complete surrender. He'd been fucking her the whole time I'd slept. They'd cuddled only briefly, returning to sex soon after I'd crawled back to bed. I heard her exhaustion, the utter satisfaction his relentless pounding had given her.

She'd gone to comfort a sad man but discovered a tiger.

"The deeper you fuck me," she muttered, breathless. "The harder I cum."

Earl grinned. He used her leg as a lever to roll her on her back. He gathered her other leg and bent both over her body, her ankles resting near his ears. He pushed his long cock all the way in, deep enough to reach her womb. Abby winced but groaned louder with every inch, clawing at his ass, drawing him deeper still. He pinned her shoulders and returned to his powerful thrusts, repeatedly burying all the cock he had. Abby arched her back and appeared to seek escape, but there was no place to go, no respite, and in truth all she sought was greater penetration.

"Fuck me!" she snarled, her voice strained.

Her poor pussy looked pushed to the limit, her labia were thin white rings around his throbbing shaft. She struggled to handle his girth, jerking hips this way and that, seeking comfort but always keeping him entombed.

Moments later my wife screeched yet another orgasm into the big pillow. He spread her legs wide before her climax finished, gobbling a nipple and continuing to fuck her cunt. Her legs curled under his arms and around his torso, ankles locking behind his spine. He fucked her faster and harder.

I thought he intended to shoot her full again but he stopped abruptly and whipped his cock free. The heavy club waved in the open air only a moment before Abby spun around and stuffed him in her mouth. He leaned back and let her work. My wife sucked and licked feverishly, worshipping the man's penis.

When he tired of her oral adoration he pulled her off his cock, driving her face into the mattress and lifting her ass high. He held his cock in hand, aiming.

"Do it, God, do it," she whimpered.

He speared her juicy cunt, slicing her open and sinking deep. She howled into the bedspread. He gripped her butt and hammered her pussy until he groaned, long hard dick jumping and bucking as he shot her full. I was almost as breathless as she.

They collapsed in a heap.

This time, I stood my ground, waiting to see what transpired next. The first time I'd assumed his age would make him weak and incapable of much but the years of deprivation proved the stronger. I suspected Earl was a stud in his youth, before Agnes. How good it must feel for him to reclaim his title.

Abby needed only a minute of cuddling before she moved into a sixty-nine to lick his balls. His cock never fully deflated, not completely. It took fifteen minutes of oral attention but she got him stiff enough to penetrate again. My wife straddled her lover and climbed atop him once more, sliding her soaked cunt down his pole. She cupped her big tits, offering first one and then the other to his eager mouth.

I stayed to watch another thirty minutes, long enough for both to cum again, and then returned to bed. Abby would come back to me when she'd had enough. I took a long time to fall asleep, straining my ears to hear them in his bed but detecting nothing.

The sun was beginning to light the room when my bed moved. I opened my eyes. Abby leaned over me, arms full of clothes. She dropped her sleepwear on the floor and slipped into bed: sore, exhausted, a full pussy dripping his sperm. She kissed me and rolled on her side.

"I'll tell you everything in the morning," she mumbled.

I lifted the sheet. I had to see. He'd filled her womb many times, enough times so that now his milky seed seeped out. Both sets of labia swam in milky sperm and her inner-thighs and legs were streaked with both dried and fresh semen. Her asshole was coated. She was jam-packed with his cream. I wondered how many times he'd shot her full, how many times had her coaxing pussy drained a load from him.

Chapter 5

The water splashed over the rocks and formed a small pool.

"You built this?" Amber asked, incredulous.

Earl nodded confidently.

"Took me over a year," he said.

"It's gorgeous," Johnny said.

Abby was noticeably quiet this morning. I'd asked her for details the instant we awoke and she countered with a question about how much I'd seen.

"I saw you skulking on the stairs," she'd said. "I thought you returned to bed as I headed up but then I saw you. I didn't know you'd stay and watch."

I explained I'd done both.

"What I'm wondering is how you feel about what happened," I'd asked. "That was way more than I thought it would be."

She'd rolled her eyes.

"Sweet Jesus, same here," she'd said.

After that she'd grown quiet. I suppose my question had forced her eyes inward. I'd get my answer when she had one.

"Can we swim in this pool?" Amber asked.

"Hell yes," Earl said. "That's why I made this place. Jump right in but be warned: the water is chilly. It circulates through a big copper pot where a fire heats it but it ain't hot water, that's for sure."

"I didn't bring my suit," Johnny said. "I thought we were only hiking."

Earl shrugged good naturedly.

"Skip the suits," he said. "I always do when I come up to my pool. We're all adults. I'm sure you guys have seen plenty of each other, backpacking and sleeping in the same tent."

Our group fell silent for a moment. Amber and Johnny had no idea Earl was a sex fiend in disguise. To them he was a harmless, kindly old man.

"Count me in," Amber giggled.

"Me too," Johnny said.

Abby grinned and nodded and I lifted one shoulder.

"Why not?" I said.

"Then it's settled," Earl said, reaching for his belt buckle.

There was a tension in the air as we undressed. Yes, Amber, Abby, and I had all seen a lot of each other over our years together, flashes of skin here and there, but never completely naked. This was a deliberate undressing, a bold step forward. Abby and Amber got naked first. I detected an urgency in their movements, like they'd wanted the freedom to do something like this a long time. Abby's pink pussy looked raw and tender. Johnny was next and Abby's eyes grew wide when John reveal his big dick. My wife looked at Amber.

"Bitch," she teased.

"Best kept secret," Amber chuckled.

"You should have told me," Abby countered.

I was naked next and Amber checked me out with Abby watching her reaction. Her eyes lingered and I appreciated Amber gawking at my dick. It felt good. Earl hung up his shirt and turned to face us. The beast that killed Abby last night swung into view. Amber guffawed, jaw dropping, but Abby did nothing.

There was no element of surprise for her.

"We are surrounded by manly men," Amber joked.

I didn't laugh. I was busy watching my wife stare at Earl's cock. He'd fucked her senseless with the thing last night yet here she was ogling him like she was thrilled to see it again. Her eyes soon jumped to me and guilt lit them up. I turned away. My gaze landed on Earl entering the cool pool. He stepped carefully, his wrinkled, leathery skin stretched as he reached for an overhanging branch to balance. I looked at Johnny and Amber. I'd seen Johnny naked before and now in broad daylight I saw Earl's penis was slightly thicker. Amber looked scrumptious. Hot body, nice round tits, flat abs and an ass to die for. She kept her pussy shaved clean. Abby caught me looking but after last night, so what? My wife swung her attention over to Johnny and ran her eyes all over him.

"Manly men, indeed," she said.

Great. So. Everyone now knew what everyone looked like naked. Terrific.

I eased into the water but it wasn't as bad as I expected. I found a large flat rock and parked my butt. Abby floated close and slipped her arm through mine, her butt sharing my stone shelf.

"You seem in a great mood this morning, Earl," Amber said.

He smiled broadly.

"I had the most wonderful dream last night," he said.

"What about?"

Earl turned to Amber.

"An incredible woman visited me as I slept," he said. "A woman so sexy and alluring she made me forget about the pain of losing Agnes. She even made me forget about Mother. It was the most amazing thing. I would have never thought it possible, but it happened."

"That sounds awesome," Johnny said, full of fucking cheer.

Amber made a face. Amber detected something in Earl's voice that gave her pause. She glanced at me and then stared at Abby, realizing Abby had showed no surprise when Earl turned around. She tried to meet her best friend's eyes but Abby kept her gaze on the swirling water. Amber reached a conclusion.

"What was this incredible woman's name?" Amber asked, innocently probing.

Her expression told me she already knew the answer.

"Angel," Earl said.

Johnny was oblivious to the subterfuge. Amber's gaze darted from Abby to me to Earl and back around again. Whatever she saw left her convinced.

"Wish we had some whiskey right now," Amber said.

"That sounds great," Johnny agreed.

Poor boy. I saw what was coming but he didn't. Amber knew she could send him running with a simple request.

"Baby?" Amber said. "Would you mind? The cabin's not far. Could you run back and get it? Some Gentleman Jack would make this moment perfect."

"No problem, my love," he said, happily climbing from the pool. He slipped on boots and blew Amber a kiss. She watched until he vanished down the trail, running naked through the forest. Amber turned her full attention on us.

"What happened?" she said. "Spill it."

Nobody budged.

"Forget that," she continued. "I should have known better than to ask point blank like that. Let me try this instead, see if my suspicions are true."

She left her spot and floated across the pool, gliding up between Earl's knees. He looked surprised but didn't move. She cupped his balls, fondling them.

"Sit on the edge of the pool, Earl," she commanded.

The old man rose from the water, rivulets running down his leathery body. His dripping cock dangled before Amber's eyes. He sat on the rough rock lip and she floated closer, lifting his appendage on fingertips like a waitress with a serving tray. She watched me and Abby for our reaction. Or, more accurately, our nonreaction. Too late I realized we should have been flipping out. If nothing had happened between Earl and Abigail, Amber's behavior would be outrageous. When we did nothing, Amber had all the evidence she needed. She slipped the head into her mouth. She closed her hot lips.

"Don't tell Johnny," she said, pausing briefly. "I've wanted this in my mouth from the moment I saw it." She turned to look at Abby. "I know you felt the same way."

"Nope," Abigail declared, defiant.

"Liar," Amber chuckled.

Abigail left my side, drifting across the pool to join Amber between Earl's legs. My wife jostled her friend, taking a position which placed her face level with Earl's expanding cock.

"I wanted this thing in my pussy," Abby said.

Amber beamed triumphant. She'd guessed right. Earl leaned back on his elbows and both women lowered their mouths. My wife swallowed the head and Amber tongued the long shaft.

"Did he fuck you last night?" Amber asked Abby.

"God," she snorted. "Did he ever. All night. I thought I was being sweet and thoughtful but then he turned into a beast."

Both girls looked up at the old man. I have never understood the expression Fifth Wheel better than that moment. Earl watched the two ladies gobble his cock. Amber and my wife slathered every inch, suddenly pornstars of the forest. They played with his dick, slapping each other with it, teasing each other by withholding the privilege of sucking, kissing whenever their lips happened to meet along the shaft. Earl grew rigid and veined again, stark in the bright light of day.

"Do you want to?" Abby asked.

Amber shook her head reluctantly.

"That would be too far," she said. "I really like Johnny."

Abby climbed from the water, pacing her feet carefully on the rocks and lowering her dripping pussy. His long, thick pole rose from his lap like a small flagpole. She winced as her sore pussy stretched around him again but her desire to fuck him, just hours later, was too great. Amber held his cock and helped guide him in. I made a mental note to ask Abby if anything sexual had ever happened between them. Amber was far too comfortable so close to my wife's pussy. If she'd given a lick I wouldn't have been surprised.

"Hurry," Amber said. "Johnny can't know."

Abby closed her eyes and arched her back, she clasped hands behind Earl's neck and relaxed her legs, sinking onto the man. She took him all the way in. He had to be buried in her womb.

"Don't worry about my orgasm," Abby exhaled. "Just give me your load."

Amber looked shocked. We watched Earl's cock disappear into Abby. Her pussy rose and a cone of skin extended with it. Her cunt gripped the man with a tight seal, clinging to him.

"You sure?" he asked.

Abigail nodded.

"Yeah," she said. "Just cum."

Earl took over and Amber bore witness to the man's sexual prowess, her eyes growing larger every second. The old man circled Abby's waist with both arms and held her in place, thrusting his spear deep over and over. Her tits bounced and her ass slapped his thighs. He fucked her fast and hard, closing his eyes, rushing to cum. Amber looked amazed and stunned. A minute later, Earl began to grunt.

"That's good, Earl," Abby moaned. "Give it to me. Give me everything."

The man began ejaculating. Amber got too caught up in the moment and leaned in to lick his furry balls. Earl grunted loudly several more times, pumping hot sperm into my wife. He began to soften and Abby pulled off, her pussy making a slurp. She climbed into the water, retaking her spot next to me. Earl took his spot too, messy cock vanishing beneath the water. Amber quickly returned to her place as well.

My dick was pure cast iron.

Heavy footsteps thudded up the trail. Johnny raised the whiskey bottle overhead and Amber and I cheered weakly, too overcome with emotion. Earl and Abby were still catching their breath but John did not notice them. He had eyes only for Amber's delighted approval.

I'm Amber's friend, not Johnny's. I didn't like that Amber had done things behind his back but my loyalty was to her, not him. I don't know how they run their relationship. I can't presume their rules. Perhaps she'd tell him later what he'd missed. Perhaps, like I was discovering about myself, John would like what Amber had done. That was their knot to unravel.

The whiskey bottle made the rounds. Amber was horny and began climbing all over Johnny. He was fine with that. Abby reached for my dick underwater and surprise lit her face when she found me hard. She discreetly began to stroke me. Earl leaned back and watched. Amber must have gotten Johnny hard underwater because she climbed onto his lap and began kissing him fiercely. The water churned between.

"You are lucky men," Earl offered.

Fuck you, I thought. You've had my wife more times in the last twenty-four hours than I've had her all month.

Earl locked eyes with me. I saw he was thinking the exact same thing.

Chapter 6

The rest of the day was spent playing the "Hide the Truth from Johnny" game. Fun. Amber was the perfect wingman. She'd distract Johnny and then Earl and Abby would slip away for fifteen minutes to share a hot fuck or suck. The man had decades of pent-up sexual frustration to release and my wife couldn't get enough. Twice he tried to go down on her and she refused, lifting his chin and telling him right to his face she'd rather get fucked by him.

I'd given her a green light and she'd assumed it covered anything she wished to do. Strange thing was it kind of did. I never asked her to dial it down.

The girls decided to dress comfortable around the cabin, flitting about in open top and panties, exposing themselves like we all lived in a porn sorority.

"You guys have seen everything anyway," Amber explained. "Why indulge the pretense? It's a stupid game."

I had no complaint. Amber naked was a new treat. Abby wore little and relished Johnny and Earl ogling her. Earl had built the place with thick walls and plenty of insulation. He always had a fire going and kept the cabin warm. The ladies loved catching us guys gawking at them.

We agreed to stay an extra night before hitting the trail again. Earl said he'd go collect firewood and Abby mentioned she'd forgotten a hair tie by the pool. They left in separate directions but I knew they'd circle around to each other out there. Earl would fuck my woman yet again, this time with a spectacular view of the forested canyon below. Amber tried to behave herself but once, while Johnny showered, she pulled out Earl's cock and sucked on it. Abby joined her, dragging her tongue all over the man's hard shaft and swollen head like a wet blanket. The girls worked his cock until we heard the shower shut off.

Hours later the house had gone to bed. Abby paced the living room since she'd given our friends a second night in the bed. Out in the living room it was easier to get to Earl's loft without waking them. They'd shut their door thirty minutes ago but she doubted they were asleep yet.

After days of these antics, my mood had soured.

I had been fine with Abby throwing a mercy fuck at the sad old man. In fact, I'd found the idea exciting. But this had evolved into something else. He was her lover. They couldn't get enough of each other and I was left idling in neutral, demoralized. Abby dropped onto the pile of cushions, frustrated, impatient, eager to go to Earl.

Movement above drew our eyes. Earl had walked to the edge of the loft and now looked down on us. He was naked, his big cock proudly, triumphantly erect. The loft had a low guardrail along the living room side and Earl rested his dick on it now. He put his fists on his hips and gazed down at Abigail, waiting. These two were caged animals, keen to get at each other. Earl flexed his dick, sending a surge of blood and making the head flare and the shaft rise. Abby caught her breath.

"Bastard," she said, amused. "He knows he owns me."

She started pacing again, watching the old man.

"To hell with them," she muttered, waving a hand at the bedroom door. "I can't wait any longer."

She stopped halfway up the stairs to rip her loose top off and slide her panties down her legs. I thought she might toss them at me but I was already left behind, no longer part of the Earl-Abby equation. She dropped them on the step and kept climbing.

Earl moved to the head of the stairs to greet her. With each step her face rose until level with his pulsing erection. She flicked her tongue under his balls and dragged the wet tip along the underside of his cock. She closed her tongue around the head like a hot, wet sea slug, enveloping the tip of his dick. She sucked softly. She slipped her tongue out again to lick the length of him along the top, painting his penis with her saliva. He stayed motionless, savoring her fervent attention. His dick looked even harder, which I hadn't thought possible.

"Enough," he muttered at last. "I need you."

Abigail melted. He'd chosen exactly the right word. He took her hand and helped her climb the last steps and then guided her sweet naked body towards his large bed. The sharp angle began to obstruct my view so I moved to the stairs, climbing high enough to keep them in sight. Abby crawled on the bed and onto her back, spread her legs wide, as wide as she could, wider than she'd ever spread them for me even playfully. He moved between them, ready to eat her, but she lifted his chin and shook her head.

"In me," she murmured, reaching between his legs for his curved cock.

He saw her need was too great so moved higher. Abby, legs pointed at each far wall, took his cock with stacked hands gripping the shaft. She stretched her neck for a kiss and he planted his lips on hers. She pulled his cock closer, guiding him in, stabbing herself and gasping at that first poignant penetration.

He looked too big for her. He was too big for her. But my sweet wife was drenched, hungry to feel him buried. The fat head rested outside as pressure built, then jumped forward and vanished. Abby groaned and Earl pushed the rest in, causing my wife to arch her back as he filled her.

I was hard and it pissed me off. This was not what I'd imagined when I graciously stepped aside and allowed Abby to show Earl compassion. That gesture had gone astray quickly. Everything since had been pure, raw fucking. I realized I should have stopped her back when it first changed but I hadn't, and now here we were.

Abby closed her arms and legs around the man, trapping his thrusting body. She held tight as he began to pump, squeezing as his cock plunged over and over. Within minutes he was pounding her, ramming his meat into her heart. My wife hid her face against his chest and cried out her first orgasm. Johnny and Amber had their door closed and probably made love, their sounds drowning out Earl and Abby. My wife and her lover tried to stay quiet but not really. They muffled the loudest noises they made but soon Earl held her legs wide open again, pounding her body, their flesh slapping, their moans and gasps filling the loft.

The man was savage. His cock was a steel weapon. He stabbed Abigail like she was a carcass but my wife loved it, clawing at his legs and back, urging him on, pleading for more, harder, faster. The man pummeled Abby, driving her into the mattress. She climaxed again, quickly covering her face with a stray pillow. Her wail was a soul lost in euphoria. Earl was relentless, hammering her through her orgasm until she cried out with another before the first had ended. Why she loved this man fucking her was obvious. I saw how she gave herself up to him completely. He moved her body where he wished and fucked her how he wanted and she welcomed all of it.

At last he slowed. He held his old body against hers and circled her neck with his arms, pulling her close for passionate kisses. Abby returned them, her tongue writhing around his. His cock was a slow piston, soaking wet and slipping in and out. He slowed further, holding a half second each time the head pressed her cervix. Abigail gasped for breath then, astonished eyes wide.

"Fuck!" she gasped, through clenched teeth. "Don't stop. Nobody—Ever—"

Earl slowed further but never stopped. He kept that thick and throbbing pole moving inside her without relief. Her astonishment grew. He tortured her poor body with more sensation than she could take. A tear spilled from each eye. She stuffed a fist into her mouth.

"Fuuuuuuck!" she cried, cumming again around his invading prick, helplessly orgasming from the meaty cock that filled her.

My wife squeezed her eyes shut. More tears spilled. She held him tight, lost in rapture, oblivious to everything except the pleasure rushing through her body.

Spellbound by my wife, I'd lost track of Earl. I was surprised when later he bowed his back, driving his hips against hers, and groaned from the bottom of his lungs. Abby instantly understood.

"Yes!" she hissed, clawing at the man. "All of it!"

Earl's face twisted into a snarl. He clamped his eyes shut.

"Take it!" he growled.

His wiry body went taut. His ass clenched and his big hairy balls tightened to the root of his shaft. He was spurting seed, ejaculating sperm, pumping hot baby-making semen deep inside my wife. She held him in a fierce grip, arms and legs wrapped tight. He stayed frozen, body seemingly paralyzed, as his fat cock shot one gooey blast after another. I'd think he'd saved his load for years except he'd already been filling Abby like this for hours.

At last he relaxed and she did too. They separated gradually, he carefully rolling to one side, pulling his cock from her hole like a slithering snake. They lay panting. Abby rested briefly, kissing the length of his body to take his spent penis into her soothing mouth. She suckled him, rolling the head around, licking the shaft clean, comforting the depleted beast. Her actions seemed affectionate, not sexual, but now I knew better. He'd rest, but for a far shorter time than a man his age had a right to. I don't know what drove the man. Abby would innocently fondle his cock and balls until blood surged again.

Do I stay on the stairs watching, or do I go to bed? Earl tugged her hips over his face into a sixty-nine. They ate each other languidly, just giving pleasure with no goal. Abby enjoyed his tongue working her pussy but her real pleasure came from servicing his beautiful cock. I saw it on her face. She adored the thing.

I'd seen enough. I collected Abby's discarded panties and descended to the puddle of cushions and blankets which would be our bed tonight, whenever she finally returned to me.

Chapter 7

Thank God we hit the trail early. Abby got back to me just before dawn. I'd listened to them fuck for hours. In between, they'd whisper and giggle, promising to do all this again, raving about how good their sex was. Abby crawled into our bed and reached for my dick. The Goddamn thing was hard. I started to stiffen the moment I heard them say goodnight. Her soft footsteps descended the stairs and I grew harder each second. I was solid iron by the time she reached me, which she seemed to expect, wordlessly ducking her head under the covers to suck me off. I tried to make it last but couldn't. I was too wound up. I spurted into her vacuuming mouth and she's swallowed everything and then kissed me with salty lips, snuggling close and quickly falling asleep.

Johnny and Amber suspected nothing. Amber probably suspected everything but acted naïve to keep Johnny in the dark. We ate breakfast with Earl and thanked him for everything, Abby and Amber each kissed him on the cheeks.

"Such a nice man," Johnny said.

"I just love him," Amber agreed.

"He's one in a million," my wife added.

I'd given the man enough and owed him nothing. I kept my mouth shut.

We put the cabin behind us. Five hours of switchbacks and scree took all our effort and concentration. Abby was unusually quiet so when Amber and Johnny were far enough ahead I asked her how she was feeling. She flashed guilty eyes at me.

"Horny," she said.

I snorted.

"That good, hmm?" I asked.

"And then some," she replied.

We hiked silently a few minutes.

"Why?" I asked. "He's old. What made it so good?"

She stopped to answer.

"I've given it a lot of thought," she said. "I know all this is hard on you, despite how stiff you get, and I've asked myself some difficult questions. We both know my behavior lately is so not like me. Then why am I doing it?"

She checked to make sure Johnny and Amber were far enough away.

"It's simple, Gary. Earl is crazy about me. Like, obsessed. Insatiable. I've never felt so desired. I've never felt so wanted. That man fucked me with everything he had, heart and soul, and I'm the only woman on Earth he desires. He'd get so hard, so hard. You're a man and understand that only from your point of view but trust me, it does incredible things for a woman. We don't just have sex. We don't just fuck. We connect, down deep in our humanity. I feel like I'm saving a life. I feel that I'm the most attractive woman alive. He pillages me. He devastates me."

My face must have betrayed my worry.

"Don't stress about it, Baby," she assured me. "It ain't love. It only worked because he was a stranger and I knew we'd leave and never see him again. That opened the door to raw fucking."

"I thought it would be a one-time mercy fuck."

"Me too. Surprise! Do you regret handing me over?"

"Yes, I do. That was painful to see."

"Then why watch? Why did you get so hard? Every time, Baby. Every time I went to him you'd be erect when I got back. I counted on it. I looked forward to it. That's why I felt no guilt. If it was so painful, why allow me to continue? I would have stopped if you'd told me."

I sighed. Good questions. I had no answers.

"Anyway," she continued. "It's all behind us now. If we meet another hung old-timer up here drunk and lost in a snowstorm, I'll keep my distance."

She took two quick steps and kissed me. I returned the kiss and then kissed her forehead. I wasn't okay, but I was better. An hour later the trail split and we faced a decision: a long but easy path over nothing but boring dirt, or a shorter but more difficult, scree covered path that would also provide an amazing view. Abby faced me, fists on hips.

"You are faced with a choice" she said, giving her words an emphasis which meant there was a double meaning headed my way. "Easy but long and boring," she said, pointing down one trail. "Or the rocky path, painful but which carries a far greater reward?" She swung her hand to point down the other trail.

"The rocky path," Johnny said. "I'm here for the adventure."

"The rocky path," Amber agreed.

They turned to me. I understood the moment and the game she played.

"The rocky path," I conceded.

She looked pleased with herself.

"An excellent choice," she beamed. "Life is better spiced up some."

We squared our shoulders and continued.

At higher elevations The Pass was too thick with snow to make it up and over and down the other all in one hike, so we turned west and followed McGee Creek. We bathed in the icy water and everyone was now comfortable being nude in front of each other. Fine with me. Abby is gorgeous and Amber too. We dried our clean bodies, ready to sleep naked together in the big bag. We randomly ended up boy-girl-girl-boy until Amber left the tent to pee and took the edge spot on her return, forcing Johnny next to Abby again. I was anxious about his big cock next to my wife for the two minutes before I fell into a deep sleep.

Breakfast was dehydrated eggs and bacon bits, dried fruit and beef jerky. We washed it all down with spring water and broke camp. The day was warm and sunny, no clouds, with only the occasional cool breeze off the snow. The girls wore tank tops and no bras, enjoying their new freedoms.

Snow-packed McGee Pass took all day: a thousand feet up the glacial cirque on one side and then a thousand feet down the other to Fish Creek. There was a large meadow on this side, ringed by trees and carpeted with shrubs. A stagnant pond sat in the middle and mosquito repellant saved our lives. We bathed in the stuff and they left us alone. We were behind on mileage but exhausted so we agreed to hike to the end of the meadow and camp next to Fish Creek where it widened.

We were not the only ones who had that idea.

Three guys, early twenties, had already snagged the best camping spot near the creek. They had flat ground and an evergreen overhang and a small fire going with pork sizzling. Three dark green single-man tents dotted their camp. One guy, blonde and shirtless and shorts, tended the fire. Another, crew-cut brown hair and also shirtless and shorts, dug a trench around the tents. The third, brown ponytail and jeans, hung freshly washed clothing on low branches. They all stopped what they were doing to watch us approach. Johnny and Amber waved a hello.

I muttered: "Still horny?" to Abby.

I thought she'd laugh but she just studied the three men.

"I wasn't but I'm getting there now," she murmured.

"Did we take your spot?" Ponytail joked.

"No," Johnny said. "No worries. I see another flat spot across the river. We'll set up camp there."

The three men stared. Johnny blabbed on about our morning and I took a full minute to remember Amber and Abby had gone braless. I glanced at our girls and saw stiff nipples poking through thin cotton. No wonder the guys gawked. For a moment, I considered making a comment to cover up but I was still too bitter. If the girls wanted to exhibit, let them exhibit. With luck, Abby's horniness would grow into hot sex for me tonight. We'd find some spot under a tree and I'd fuck her hard, reminding her I'm the husband. She'd asked me why I allowed all that with Earl and I'd been chewing on her question ever since. I was mad, but I didn't exactly know what I was mad about.

I noticed Abby was still checking out the three guys.

"See something you like?" I teased.

"I see three somethings I like," she said. "Those guys are hot."

I let my current mood get the better of me.

"Why don't you take your hard nipples over to say hello?" I snapped.

My sarcasm was lost on her.

"Cool," she said. "This will be fun."

She angled off the trail and towards their camp. She stopped next to Amber and Johnny and chatted with our new neighbors. I felt weird hanging back so I joined my group. Pony Tail was Charlie, Crew Cut was Sam, and Blondie was Barry. They attended the same west coast college. The guys were friendly and experienced hikers and we swapped stories about different trails we'd taken over the years. I knew they also killed time, keeping our sexy women front and center so they could get an eyeful. They mentioned a spot where the river widened into a pool and small geothermal vents heated the water a little. Eventually the conversation wrapped up and we crossed the river to set up our own camp.

Amber and Abby could not have been more obvious. They paraded around our camp, posing as we drove stakes and pulled lines. Amber bent at the waist to prop the kindling and Abby changed out of her dusty T-shirt into a small bikini top while barely hiding behind a thin tree. Amber donned hers in front of her tent. The guys had eyes glued on our camp.

The sun went down and so did the temperature, so we settled in around the fire. Johnny produced the ubiquitous bottle of Jack.

Abby and I had learned early in our back-packing excursions a lovely sip of whiskey at the end of a long hike would always be worth the extra weight. We bought light-weight plastic bottles and carried a few each. Johnny offered to carry some too so we had plenty.

Tongues-loosened: we all shared things we'd done and things we planned to do. Johnny opened up about what drove him to act and his fears about making it in such a tough industry.

A loud whoop turned all our heads. The guys had been drinking in their camp too and now played in the river, dunking each other and splashing. We all turned to listen. After a minute Amber said it sounded like they were having fun.

"Would it be cool if we joined them?" Johnny asked.

"I doubt they'd mind," I quickly added.

Abigail gave me a funny look.

"I'm in if you're in," she said.

We all took another hit off the bottle. Abby was last so she took a drink and handed the bottle to me.

"Finish it," she said.

It was more than a gulp but what the hell. I coughed a little after. I dropped the empty in my pack and we all headed to the river.

Sam, Charlie, and Barry played some made-up game which involved finding a quarter at the bottom of the pool. Whoever found it won that round and dove in to place it again. Then they'd all jump in and search. They stopped as we approached, mist rising from the warmer water against the cold night air. Their lanterns lit the scene, aided by both campfires.

"Can we play?" Amber asked.

"Hell yeah," Barry said.

Smiles all around. Moments later they'd explained the game and we all ringed the pool. Sam was underwater placing the coin. We stood ready. He broke the surface and clambered out.

"Go!" he yelled.

Seven adults dove into the same small pool. Frantic hands searched the sandy floor. Bodies jostled. We'd surface for a fresh gulp of air, laughing, and return to the hunt. Johnny stuck an arm in the air.

"Winner!" he cried.

We exited the pool while Johnny swam to the bottom to place the coin. Simple, but fun. The water was cool but after the bit of whiskey we'd had and the energy we expended, not too bad. We played several rounds. On the current round Johnny broke the surface, arm held high.

"Winner!" he shouted again, this time holding Amber's bikini top triumphantly overhead.

Raucous laughter all around, including Amber. She covered herself with a hand-bra and kept the water to her chin.

"Give it back," she told her boyfriend.

"Go get it," Johnny said, flinging the article of clothing into the darkness.

We all saw the dare on his face, but don't try to bluff Amber. In this regard, I knew her better than him. She floated to the edge and climbed from the pool, her plump tits swayed, dotted with goose bumps and topped by hard, cold nipples from the night air. Every man stared.

"Damn," Charlie said.

He spoke for all of us. Her booty shorts hugged her ass as water drained, forming a skin on her skin, displaying ass crack and camel toe alike. In that moment, they all learned Amber keeps her pussy shaved smooth. Sam softly groaned before mumbling something.

Abby sent her eyes around the ring of men gawking at Amber.

"Gentlemen," she scolded. "We've all seen a naked woman before."

We ignored her. Amber moved in half-time, rising from the water like an erotic Lady of the Lake. She floated across our vision, orange and red firelight punctuated with pale lantern light, granting her wet skin a lovely glow. Her long hair was plastered down her back. She placed each foot carefully, climbing the rocks to the shore. She took her time for other reasons too, savoring ten male eyes eating her alive.

At the last moment, she cast a sly grin our way. The guys exploded with hoots and hollers, cheering her playfulness. Johnny joined them but I remained silent. Despite her many indulgences of late, my wife would not appreciate my lusting after her best friend. I noticed movement out the corner of my eye but my gaze never left Amber.

"I'll help you find your top," I heard Abby say.

Water swished. I turned to see my nude wife following in Amber's footsteps, bikini top and booty shorts left behind, floating on the surface. Abby rose from the pool like a mythical Eve, born naked in nature. Amber had played innocent but Abby faced us squarely. Her fit body stole my breath and the breath of every man there. As one, we all swung our attention from Amber to Abigail, devouring every inch of her soaked skin. The warm water and frigid night air had her nipples sitting like pink diamond points atop milky globes. Rivulets ran down her curves. Hidden in a soft pelt of closely trimmed pubes, we saw a hint of inner labia protruding between outer pussy lips. My wife dripped water along with wild feminine sexuality.

"Fucking Christ," Charlie said. "These girls are angels."

"Hardly," I muttered.

Abby reached the edge of the pool and turned to face us. Her gaze moved from one man to the next, lingering only long enough to make a man's nuts clench. She did the same to me, like I was just one of the guys, but stopped when she landed on Sam.

"If you gentlemen have alcohol at your camp," she said. "May I suggest you retrieve it now?"

Sam bolted from the water. Abby disappeared into the darkness seeking Amber and we all looked at each other.

"You're a lucky man," Barry and Charlie said in unison.

They were looking at Johnny and me so I wasn't sure whom they meant. Both, I suppose. Sam returned with two bottles of booze and four beers. He was handing them down to Charlie when Amber and Abby emerged from the ring of night. Now Amber was naked too, bikini top and booty shorts in hand.

"Why are we the only ones naked?" she asked.

Sam, Charlie, and Barry, froze.

"We didn't know it was that kind of party," Johnny said, climbing out of the water and dropping his shorts.

Every guy there, including me, again, looked at his long prick. He reached for a beer which Sam handed over. He popped the top and took a long drink. Charlie and Barry fumbled underwater and then tossed swim trunks onto the shore. Sam just shed his shorts right there, revealing a good-sized dick: thick, with a big head. I pulled my shorts off underwater and threw them next to Johnny's. The girls reentered the water, careful to keep their tits above the surface for us to see.

There was an awkward silence for several heartbeats and then Johnny asked Charlie what he did when not in school. Conversation started again in fits and starts. Soon we were drifting around the pool, drinking, passing the bottles and bumping legs and hips as we changed positions to speak with different people. Everyone broke off into pairs, circulating and getting to know each other like at any party.

Abby focused her attention on Sam. She didn't aim straight for him; she was cleverer than that. But I'd been alerted by her lingering stare earlier. She chatted around the circle, working ever closer until she cornered him near an outcropping of rock, shielding our view of them. I conversed with the other guys but always kept an eye on my wife.

Earl had changed everything. I know Abby felt it too. We had no idea what the new rules were, we just knew the old rules were dead. After a while she caught me watching her. She rose slightly from the steaming water, revealing her twin mounds to the man. Her nipples begged to be sucked. He tried his best but couldn't resist, dropping his gaze and staring.

"You like them?" Abby asked.

"You are crazy hot," Sam admitted. "I'm sorry for staring but your tits are perfect. Your whole body is perfect."

I looked away. Abby was playing her own game but after what I'd allowed with Earl, protesting felt pathetic. I strained my ears to catch their conversation. Abby flirted, complimenting his looks and intelligence.

"Aren't you married to Gary?" he asked after a while.

"Happily," she murmured.

From the corner of my eye I saw him look my way.

"And he's cool that we're over here by ourselves, flirting?"

"Is that what we're doing?" she purred.

"I don't know if you're flirting with me but I am definitely flirting with you. We're both naked and you're hot as hell so yeah, I'm flirting."

He stopped talking and Abby just smiled at him.

"I'm talking too much, aren't I?" he asked.

She laughed.

"You're flustered," she said. "It's sweet."

"Nothing like this has ever happened to me," he admitted.

"No naked mountain river swims with drunken married girls? No?"

"No."

She drifted closer to him.

"Is your dick hard?" she asked, lowering her voice.

"Yes," he admitted.

She floated beside him. I had no idea what went on underwater.

They were silent for a time and I let myself drift closer to the group, putting some distance between me and my wife. Charlie asked what university I'd attended and that started a lengthy conversation. For a time, I forgot about Abby and Sam. After a while I felt her swim up behind me, spooning my body with hers. She was warm, warmer than the water surrounding me.

"Enjoy yourself?" I asked.

I had no idea what I was doing. I had no idea what I should be saying to her. I am her husband but she felt so independent now.

"Yes I did, Mr. Pouty Face."

"Sam is no Earl."

"Only Earl is Earl," she said. "That man was hot sex on two legs. Are you warning me away from Sam?"

"Do I need to?"

She laid her cheek against my back.

"Yes. Am I awful?"

The truth was hard to hear.

"What happened underwater?" I asked.

She hesitated, caught.

"I played with his cock. I gave him a handjob but didn't let him cum. He fingered me and caressed my tits, but wouldn't let me cum either. Bastard. I liked that. Why are new lovers so exciting? You and I have a great sex life, Baby, but nothing beats the rush of someone new. I saw how you looked at Amber. I've caught you looking at other women over the years. I'd get so hurt but now I get it. Now I think it's hot. I know you know what I mean."

I did.

She spooned me tight, bit my earlobe, smashed her big tits against my back.

"I want him," she said, using the exact words she'd used for Earl.

I gasped.

"This situation is totally different," I protested. "Sam is not forlorn and dying of loneliness. He's just a hot dude."

"So?" she said. "I'm just being honest. I'm sharing how I feel. You can say no."

"Can I?"

"Yes, Baby. I won't cheat on you. That would be shitty. I just figured after everything Earl did to me, you'd feel a little different about absolute fidelity. You can fuck Amber if you want."

Wow. I did want.

"Really?" I asked. "I can have her?"

"It's only fair. Of course, she'll need to want you too. "

She gave me a reach-around, fondling my penis and balls. I began to swell in her hand.

"What turns you on more?" she asked. "Thoughts of you fucking Amber or thoughts of me fucking Sam?"

Women set such clever traps. Each choice was fraught with peril. I glanced at the others. They'd moved to the far end, closer to the geothermal vents that heated this small pool. Abby jacked me like she'd jacked Sam. His cock had been in the same hand minutes ago. I grew harder.

"Earl surprised us both, didn't he?" she whispered. "I know you got upset and I'm sorry. I saw it on your face. I told myself I'd never do such a thing again but then here we are and the idea is so hot. I want to fuck Sam. May I? Say yes."

I said nothing. The gang climbed naked from the pool, collecting discarded clothing and laughing. Everyone headed for the guy's camp. The night was much colder than the water and Charlie and Barry found something for Amber and Johnny to cover up with. They all took places around the fire. Abby tugged me, getting me closer to cumming. She stopped.

"Blue balls just like Sam?" I asked.

She giggled, slightly buzzed and playful.

"Picture us back in the city," she said. "We go out to a club like we always do. We dance, we drink, we flirt and have fun. This time, however, it's all real. What's different is if one of us connects with someone, we can bring them back to our place to fuck."

"You want to be swingers?" I asked.

"No. That's a lifestyle. I want to be spontaneous. We may go a long time without finding anyone but the night we do, something magical happens."

I had to admit, it sounded exciting. Vegas is filled with beautiful women.

I know she waited for my answer regarding Sam. I couldn't bring myself to say anything. She waited and then seemed to understand my struggle and let it go. I climbed from the water and helped Abby up. We hugged against the night chill and ran to the fire, cheered by everyone as we arrived. I was only partially swollen by then. Charlie offered us towels and I wrapped mine around my waist but so did Abby, leaving her gorgeous tits exposed. Amber, not to be outdone, lowered her towel off her shoulders, displaying her breasts too. The guys still stared openly but at least their brains had started working again. Conversation zipped around the circle.

Eventually fatigue took us. One by one we said goodnight and headed for bed. Sam crawled into his tent and the glow from a Kindle lit the sides. Charlie flopped face down and was out. Barry stayed with us, the gracious host, until I ordered my group to bed. Abby was silent on the walk back and as we all snuggled in the big bag.

My eyes closed for a moment and I was out.

Amber snoring woke me. Abby was gone. As before, I waited for her return, hoping she'd gone to pee. After enough time ticked away, I slithered from the tent. I knew where to go. I grabbed a jacket to cover my nakedness and slipped on water shoes, noticing her water shoes were missing. I headed across the river. The moon had traveled from where I'd left it, maybe two hours.

The glow from Sam's tent was clear, the silhouette of her body more so.

Abby rode Sam, her back arched, her arms folded over her head. The shadow of her perfect tits and hard nipples, her whole sexy body, swayed along the fabric. He was in her. The cock I'd seen earlier at the pool was now hard and in her. I shivered and not from the cold. I did nothing but watch for several moments and that's when I knew I'd do nothing but watch. No doubt Abby had known it too. That's why she snuck off without waiting for an answer.

I moved closer. They tried to stay quiet but some sounds escaped anyway: Abby's heartfelt sighs, Sam's meaningful groans. I circled around to the front of his tent. Abby had left the flaps unzipped when she'd crawled in. Between his feet I saw her slick pussy gliding up and down, gripping his rampant shaft. She was drenched, intoxicated by another new lover only days later. His cock looked so hard in the white glow.

I noticed shiny blue foil near the tent wall: a condom, unopened and resting where Abby had casually tossed it. My heart stopped. She'd had protection available and refused. She'd taken him bareback. I tried to imagine how great a thrill the risk must be for her. She was truly fucking these men. With Earl, the possibility of pregnancy had danced around the edges of my mind. That condom brought reality front and center. Abigail wanted her experiences with them as real as possible.

Despite the cold night, my temperature soared. My wife was changing before my eyes. What had started as a compassionate gesture, from both of us, had grown into naked lust and the runaway pursuit of desire.

Her tight pussy moved smoothly up and down, massaging his naked prick, coaxing his load the way pussies were made to do. The glow from his Kindle was dim but even in the low light I saw how incredibly wet my wife was.

My dick rose. Despite the frigid air and the pool of acid in my stomach, the sight of my wife so eagerly impaling herself on him over and over sent my blood surging. I was naked under my jacket and the camp was silent except for the river tinkling nearby. I took my dick in hand and knelt at the tent opening, now only a few feet away from her penetration. I tugged my penis, watching him slide in and out. Abby covered her mouth with both hands to smother her orgasm. Her toes curled and her spine twisted. She pressed her pussy down the length of him, grinding her pelvis against his, capturing every inch of his cock inside as she climaxed.

I cannot lie: she looked wildly sexy.

His scrotum seemed to hang from her pussy instead of his body and a wave of trepidation washed over me. Those fat globes held millions of sperm and he'd soon be ejaculating all of them into her. I glanced again at the unused condom atop his sleeping bag and jacked my dick faster. This was all so wrong, all so taboo, but that's what gave it an erotic jolt like nothing else. Images of Earl fucking her crashed into my brain even as I watched Sam fuck her. She had morphed into a sex fiend, fucking all the men she wanted, yet she was still mine.

Abby's orgasm subsided enough that she rolled her body to the side and climbed on again facing the other way, reverse-cowgirl. She bumped the wall of the tent and that moved the flaps and for a split-second our eyes met. She saw me on my knees, masturbating as I watched her fuck. She leaned forward to show Sam his cock pumping in and out of her cunt but also to secretly hold the tent flap aside. She said nothing, meeting my gaze while fucking him, her big tits swirling.

She leaned back, over his body, placing hands and feet so she could lift her hips and fuck him deep. She did this to make sure I saw everything, every veiny inch impaling her. She spread her knees, his plunging cock less than three feet away. She fixed her eyes on mine and fucked herself on his cock without apology but also without malice. She wasn't trying to humiliate me. She was trying to include me. I opened my jacket and leaned back too, showing her my iron erection and speeding hand. Now she fucked him like she was on stage, performing for me, like I was her audience of one. I watched her pretty face and bouncing tits and tugged faster. Her clit was a swollen nub and I desperately wished to suck it while he fucked her, but I was sure he'd flip out if he knew I was there. Abby began playing with the sensitive bump and that, combined with my unrelenting stare, put her over the edge again. She softly whimpered and bit a lip, cumming on his cock again. Sam urged her to cum hard, hissing encouragement through clenched teeth.

"Almost!" he added. "Close!"

His dick expanded and turned a deeper shade of red. Fat veins covered the shaft. Abby spread her knees wider to let me see everything and then he grunted and his hips began to convulse.

"Cum in me," she hissed. "Cum in me. Cum in me!"

His dick looked ready to burst. Sperm ran down the shaft in three places. He continued to shoot my wife full and she continued to fuck him.

I covered my mouth with a hand and launched a bolt of pure white semen into the tent, splashing her pubes and splattering his balls. Lost in orgasm, he didn't notice. Her eyes were wild. I shot again, this time spraying his sleeping bag and shin. He had no idea. He was lost down a well of insane pleasure, pumping this hot married bitch full of jizz. Over and over he shot and I was right there with him. He flooded her womb and I got semen on his foot.

Abby came back to herself, holding still and breathing hard. She pushed her hips to the base of his cock, keeping him inside as he deflated. I wasted no time, standing after the last blast of sperm and hurrying back to our tent. I knew better than to expect Abby right behind me and I was right. I lay awake over an hour before I heard her approach, slipping in and joining me under the covers.

"Did you fuck him again?" I whispered, not waking Amber or Johnny.

"Two for me," she murmured. "Two for him. Fair is fair."

She held the back of my neck and kissed me hard, a tangy salty kiss.

"Nothing is hotter than making a guy cum more than once," she said. "Nothing makes a girl feel more desired than that."

She rolled over and I spooned her. We were soon fast asleep.

Chapter 8

That was the demon Earl had awakened. I'm a one and done kind of guy. I cum incredibly hard and then I'm wiped out. I'm like all the guys from Abigail's past. She's told me about previous relationships and no man stood out as especially studly.

Enter, Earl.

That old fucker had tapped into a fetish Abby didn't know she possessed. He'd fucked my wife senseless and at the same time ignited a bonfire in her.

The morning broke bright and clear. We waved goodbye to our new friends and followed Fish Creek to Tully Hole. We ate lunch and followed the Creek over the next several days hitting Lakes of the Lone Indian, Papoose, Chief, and Warrior. It was a large loop covering miles of hard hiking. We ended each day exhausted. At last we camped atop Mount Izaak Walton, the next day moving from peak to peak, enjoying the fantastic views and each other's company. Our excursion would finish in two days.

We were camped atop Mount Morgan, dug in on a little level space called Nevahbe Ridge, the ridge we'd follow to leave this place, when Abby hit me with the question. Johnny and Amber had wandered down to a glacial lake so we were alone.

"What happens when we get back to the city?" she said.

A vague and wide-open inquiry, but I knew exactly what she meant. I pondered a while before answering. We'd talked about changing our lifestyle and she was wondering how serious I was about it.

"I imagine we'll need to find a stud or three to keep things spicy," I said.

"And a bimbo or two for you."

Maybe, I thought. It was a nice option but in recent days I'd played the Earl and Sam moments over and over in my head. With time and distance the encounters had grown ever more erotic. I'd seen Abby fucked and I liked it. I let Abby believe I may enjoy the occasional woman but I doubted I ever would.

Maybe.

I pointed into the vast valley to the west.

"Earl's cabin is down there somewhere," I said.

She smiled.

"Don't tempt me," she said.

"We may never come this way again. Certainly never hike the exact same trail. Are you saddened that you'll never see him again?"

She chuckled.

"I'll see him again," she said. "My last night with him he thanked me, said I'd saved his life. He's ready to leave the isolation of the mountains. The Feds have made offers for his lands and he thinks he'll accept one and move back to a city, maybe find a nice woman and buy a house."

My stunned face made her laugh.

"I'm a miracle worker," she giggled.

"What city?" I asked.

"I suggested Vegas. He said he'd think about it. Not really his kind of town. I told him if he ever visited we'd love to see him. He was welcome to our guest bedroom."

My stunned face made her laugh again.

"Imagine him spending the weekend with us," she chuckled.

"I am!"

"I feel like a secret door opened and we stepped through. Think what adding new lovers to our relationship means. So many exciting possibilities. I had no idea we were capable of this but after Earl, and then Sam, I know we are. You will get yours too, Baby, don't worry. This isn't all about me."

She was right and the idea was exciting. I kept my feelings about other women to myself. Who knows? Maybe I'll meet some babe and lightning will strike. There's nothing like new pussy.

Amber and Johnny climbed towards us. We dropped the subject for now. They'd bathed in the cold waters of the lake so we grabbed our biodegradable soap and shampoo and followed their tracks. We stripped. I tested the water and winced, held my breath and stepped in. Abby and I washed quickly. She left the water and stood on the shore, waiting.

"What's up?" I asked.

She sat on a large boulder and spread her knees. My gaze dropped to her neatly trimmed pussy and I remembered the men I'd so recently seen filling her. Her slit is smallish, with outer lips that hide her inner lips, except when she'd turned on. She spread her labia with two fingers, silently inviting me, then caught her inner lips and spread those too. I saw her actual pink insides through a small opening. She'd had a lot of man juice pumped into her lately. Sam was still in there. Maybe Earl too.

"Make me cum," she said.

Her pussy looked delicious in the bright sunlight.

"I shared my pussy with other men," she continued, her loving eyes soft. "But you look at her like she's the first pussy you've ever seen. You adore her. I see it in your eyes."

"I do adore her."

She spread her knees wider. I knelt on the rocky slope. I lowered my mouth. Her cunt was sweltering, juicy, already slick with excitement as I pushed my thick tongue in. She tasted different but I didn't worry about that. I ate her fervently, licking, nibbling, flicking my tongue across her clit. She braced her hands on the rock and leaned back, granting me everything. I eased a finger in and stroked her G-spot, causing a sharp intake of breath.

"Cum for me," I muttered. "Show God how you orgasm. Let him see you. We're close enough. Let God watch you cum."

I was talking crazy but she was into it. Her nails clawed the rock and she came, hard, lifting one foot and crying out. After, she nudged my hips until I sat on the rock. She knelt and swallowed my big dick to the root.

"Ungh," I grunted. "You've gotten a lot better at that."

"I've been practicing on bigger dicks."

Ouch, but damn that's some sexy talk. She wrapped a hand around me to stroke as she sucked. After a minute, she pushed a finger up my ass. I groaned and instantly spurted, wild pleasure rocking my whole body.

"Where—" I began, gasping. "Where did you learn that?"

"Earl," she purred.

We finished bathing. I returned to camp on trembling legs. Tomorrow, we'd reach the car and head back to the city.

Chapter 9

"We should go in separately," Abby said. "So no one knows we're together."

"You better remove your wedding ring then," I replied.

She gave me a devilish grin. She was seated at the vanity in our bedroom, carefully applying eyeshadow. Yes, Abby, she who never wears makeup. She looked hot and sexy. Her black dress was short and clingy, hugging her curves. She'd skipped a bra because she doesn't need one and loves the feeling of free tits jiggling, but insisted on panties.

"No way I'm taking this ring off," she said, spinning the ring so the diamond showed better. "I want them to know I'm married. That makes me feel naughtier and makes them feel safer. I'm clearly not looking for a relationship. I'm just out looking for hot sex. I don't care if they know I'm married, they just won't know I'm married to you. That way you can get closer without freaking some guy out."

"You've thought a lot about this," I said.

"I've thought about nothing else since we got back."

We were head to Club XS, at the Encore, the newest and hottest club in town. I was ready for the bushel of gorgeous babes and to watch Abby play. This would be our first attempt to follow the path we'd discovered while backpacking.

Abby stood, arm stiff at her sides, acting like a dork.

"How do I look?" she asked.

Static-cling made her dress follow each breast, accenting their outline. The short dress also clung to her waist and ass, hiding her skin but revealing her shape perfectly. She'd curled her long dark hair and let it fall all around her face and shoulders. Her perfume titillated, softly feminine.

"Breathtaking," I said.

"You're sweet," she said, caressing my cheek. "But tonight I want to make dicks hard. I want to make men lust after me."

"You will do that. Some women too."

She smiled sweetly.

"I have a surprise," she said, lifting the front of her dress to show me her lace panties. A Brazilian waxing had left her pussy smooth as a baby's cheek. "I had no idea going hairless made the skin more sensitive," she added. "I'm already wet."

She smoothed her dress and we headed for the garage.

Vegas is a town run by money. I greased valet and the VIP doorman and we were ushered in without a wait. The club matched the hype with a light-and sound show that left one stunned. Beautiful people from all around the world congregated here tonight, the men dressed well and the ladies dressed scandalously. That's the beauty of Vegas: you can bend the rules so long as you don't break them.

We went in opposite directions once we stepped through the doors.

I circled the long way around. I'm good-looking, well-off, nice body, and a bigger than average dick, which boosts my self-confidence. I turned heads walking through that place and instantly felt the difference Abby spoke of: I could fuck any of these babes that wanted me. Adrenaline slow-dripped into my bloodstream as I made my circuit of the club.

Before too long I came up on the place I expected Abby to be. She was, sipping a martini and laughing with three handsome men about our age. They wore expensive suits and had an Italian look to them. Abigail enjoyed the conversation but I saw how she refused to get drawn in. These men were accustomed to American women swooning. Abby laughed and chatted and then waved goodbye, moving on to something else. After she left the guys all acted like they couldn't believe how attractive that woman had been. They talked excitedly. One shook his hand like he'd touched something hot and another bit a knuckle. I was sorry Abby missed all that.

I lost her for a time but didn't worry. I found her again later, on the dance floor, buried in a crush of bodies. One man ran his hands down her legs and another ran his hands from her waist up her arms. Nobody knew each other. I was sure Abby's pussy was drenched. There were several women drawing most of the male attention and Abby was one of them.

As time passed she seemed to focus her attention on one man. He was shorter, about the same height as her, with wavy black hair. Her choice surprised me. She listened when he talked over the booming music. When he tugged her elbow, eager to leave the dance floor and move someplace quieter, she allowed him to lead. My breath caught in my throat. I was watching my wife choose a lover. This was now a part of our marriage and I would never get numb to it.

The club had sections where people could crash on low couches and Shorty steered her there. They dropped into a dark corner. A busy bar ran along that wall so I moved close to order a drink, not caring if I'd wait a while. Abby did not see me. They leaned their heads together to hear over the noise. I had no idea what words they exchanged but there was a great deal of gazing into each other's eyes. He took her left hand and thumbed her wedding ring. She grinned sheepishly and nodded. He grinned like a wolf. He placed his hand over hers on her bare knee. They spoke another minute and his hand slid from the back of hers to her bare thigh. Abby looked at it, then at his face. When she did nothing he inched higher. She never took her eyes from his.

He excused himself and she leaned back. I had to decide between sticking with her or sticking with him and I'm glad I chose him. He headed for the bathroom. He took a wall toilet and when the one next to him opened, I grabbed it. He'd pulled his phone from a pocket and thumbed the screen while he pissed so I took a few glances while he was distracted. He held a meaty dick in his hand, nothing too big but I knew Abby would be pleased. Then a rush of adrenaline swamped me: I was sizing up another man's cock for my wife to use. I was imagining the pleasure he'd cause.

"You have a beautiful wife," I said. "I was waiting for my drink order and saw you two talking. She's really something special."

He chuckled.

"She's somebody's wife," he said. "But not mine. She said her husband knows she's out having fun. No way would I leave a woman that gorgeous unsupervised. She's on the hunt."

"Nice. You gonna nail that babe?"

"I'm going to try. Wish me luck."

I chuckled. We were just a couple of bros.

"Good luck," I said.

He glanced at his phone again and I took another look at his cock: wide head, smooth skin, blue veins running from root to head. How long before that organ was inside my wife?

I finished first and headed back.

Abigail was deep in conversation with a handsome black man. He had chiseled features: high cheek bones and squared jaw. His shoulders were broad beneath his tailored suit and the hand that held his drink was huge. Shorty returned from the bathroom and stopped. Abby showed him her palms like the situation was out of her control, which it was, and Shorty got angry. Big Black stood, towering almost a foot over the shorter man, staring him down and daring him to start something. Black had selected my wife from all the women in the club and wasn't about to walk away.

For a long moment, Shorty thought about causing a scene. Big Black was just too big and black. The smaller man moved off into the crowd.

Big Black sat on the arm of a couch and was still a few inches taller than Abigail. Several times I caught her running her eyes over his large frame. She looked tiny next to him. My wife and I had never discussed the possibility of a black man and I had no idea how she felt about it. Judging by her expression, she had no idea either.

I got my drink and moved aside, keeping my wife and her pursuer in my sights. I watched for fifteen minutes as they slowly closed the circle of distance between them. My heart raced in my chest. Abby was using herself as bait, holding his attention and intention. I noted women around the club spotted the big man and tried to catch his eye but he'd decided on my wife.

When he excused himself to use the bathroom, I was one step behind.

Luck was with me as two wall toilets stood open. He took one and I the other. He unzipped and reached in, withdrawing a dark chocolate cock that matched the rest of his body. The end was lighter from circumcision scar to pee hole, but there were no blue veins on this beast, just ridges crisscrossing the thick shaft. He held his dick in hand and another five inches or so hung freely over the toilet. I was worried for my wife. I looked away before I got caught, finished up and whipped my phone from my pocket as I exited. I sent Abby a text before Big Black returned.

I saw his dick in the bathroom, I typed. He's like a black Earl.

I hesitated over the send button. Would that information scare her off or make her more intrigued? I honestly had no idea.

Let's find out, I thought, pressing the button.

Chapter 10

We could have planned better. We were so hot to go out and try our newly discovered freedoms we never thought things through. Big Black returned to Abby and their conversation. An hour later she pulled out her phone and sent a text: He has a room at the casino and wants to take me to it. What do I do?

No! I fired back. If you go to his room, I'm left out. Take him home. I'll beat you there and hide.

That had risks of its own but better than losing track of my wife completely. She sent me a quick Okay and I headed for our car, racing down the freeway to arrive well before them. I searched our home, looking for places to make this happen that worked for everyone. I felt so strange examining my home in this way, looking for places that Abby could get fucked but I could secretly watch. I rapidly decided on our master bedroom. Our shower is walk-in, partially walled. I could hide there until they were in the bed and then sneak out and see everything. If he left the bed to use the bathroom I had plenty of time to hide. In the unlikely event he asked to shower before leaving, she could direct him to the guest shower, which would suit his height better. I typed all this into a quick text and hit send. Abby replied Okay again.

That's when my hands started to shake.

Holy fuck, my wife was bringing a black man home to our bed! Our bed. The one we shared every night as husband and wife. He'd see inside our home. He'd see pictures of us doing things together, married. He'd see pictures of me! He'd fuck her knowing what I looked like, knowing this was our marital bed, knowing he was fucking her in place of her husband, me.

My legs began to shake too. I was a mess. I undressed and put my clothes away. I wanted him to think I was away on business so I hid anything that looked like I'd use it daily: hairbrush, toothbrush, aftershave. I left out wedding pictures and pictures from our various backpacking excursions. So strange to know a stranger would soon have a window into our lives.

Headlights sailed across the living room sheers. I took a huge breath, held it, exhaled slowly, and moved to the walk-in shower stall. An eternity passed before our front door opened. I'd hoped she'd enter through the garage so the neighbors wouldn't see her with him, but of course the remote was in our car. My heart sank. It wasn't all that late. There would be neighbors that saw Abigail, dressed sexy, enter the house with a large black man. I expected we'd get questioned at the next barbecue. Veiled inquiries regarding late night visitors.

Abby told him there was beer in the refrigerator and to help himself, she was going to change out of her tight clothes. She shut the bedroom door and ran to the shower.

"Gary!" she hissed. "What the fuck are we doing? He's in our home."

Her eyes ran up and down my naked body.

"Why are you naked?" she asked. "Are you planning on joining us? That would freak him the fuck out."

"No, but I plan on masturbating and I didn't want a clanging belt buckle to alert him I was hiding in the bathroom."

She began undressing, turning her back so I could pull down her zipper.

"I've never been with a black man," she muttered. "I'm so nervous. You saw him in the bathroom at the club? Is he really as big as Earl?"

"Every inch," I said. "The only difference is his cock is black as coal."

She shivered.

"He's gorgeous. That face. That body. I can't breathe."

"Calm down, Baby," I said. "He'll take the lead. I know it. He's a stud. I can tell he knows how to handle women."

I did not feel the tranquility I portrayed. She nodded several times.

"You're right. Jesus, this is insane."

She stepped out of her dress, revealing no bra, which I knew, and black lace panties, which I also knew, but then thigh-high stockings to go with her black high heels, which I did not know. Those were meant to be a surprise for me tonight. Instead, they would become a delight for him.

"What should I put on?" she asked.

I sent my gaze from long, coiled hair to shiny black high heels.

"Go out there just like that," I suggested.

She looked at herself in the big mirror over the twin sinks.

"I can't do that," she protested. "It's too forward. We flirted a lot but never actually spoke of sex."

"And yet he's in our home. Don't kid yourself. He knows why you brought him here. We all know why you brought him here."

She chewed a fingernail, judging herself in the mirror again.

"Trust me," I said. "Go out there just like that. Watch his face because you'll love what you see. Just make sure you lead him back here. Promise?"

She was still evaluating her body in the mirror.

"Abigail?"

"What? Yes, I promise. You honestly believe I can be this bold? Guys like it if a woman just presents herself nude? Don't you all love the chase?"

"The chase is over, Baby. He caught you. He's in your house."

She took one last look and ran palms up and over both tits. Nipples stiffened, enhancing her look. Tricks of the trade, I suppose. She rose on tippy toes and kissed me tenderly, lips quivering. She was frightened and excited. She squared her shoulders and turned, striding out of our bathroom. I moved to the doorway, straining my ears.

"Goddamn, girl," I heard him say. "Look at you. Look at all the gifts God gave you: gorgeous face, long legs, round ass and perfect titties. Just look at you."

I pictured Abby squirming uncomfortably under his gaze but loving what he said. The sofa creaked but I believed from his standing, not her sitting. Things fell silent and I imagined them kissing.

"Let me undress you," she said, at last.

"All right."

More silence.

"Wow," I heard her say.

This was killing me. The couch creaked and I wondered what was happening. I waited, trusting Abby to remember her promise. A loud slurp floated down the hall to me, a cock-sucking slurp. Not knowing was too much. I crept through the bedroom and partially down the hall, craning my neck to get a peek. My heart was a freight train. I risked much: if they suddenly moved for the bedroom, I was caught. I peered around a corner, using a picture frame to hide.

Abigail crouched, sitting on her heels. Big Black had his thick legs spread wide, sitting on the arm of our sofa. Abby had her face buried in his crotch, licking under his scrotum. His big balls rested on her cheek. He slapped his soft black tool gently against her nose and forehead, the wedge-shaped head landing in her hair. I saw her pink tongue glide across his black chicken skin and up the shaft. She reached the end and lightly kissed the tip.

"You like my big black dick," he chuckled.

"Who doesn't?" my wife replied. "God gave you a few gifts too. How many women have you fucked with it? Twenty? Thirty?"

"That sounds about right."

She eyed him suspiciously.

"You're lying," she said.

"Maybe more than that."

"That's fucking hot," my wife exclaimed, surprising me.

I thought she would find his womanizing distasteful.

"I hope it's fifty. I hope it's a hundred. I hope a hundred women have had the pleasure of this large black penis. I bet ladies all over town are asleep right now and dreaming, remembering their time with you. You fuck single women too or just married babes?"

"I fuck all beautiful women," he said. "But I prefer the married ones."

"Less headache? Less chance of attachment?"

He laughed, a deep rumbling like the movement of tectonic plates.

"That's part of it," he said. "But mostly I like stealing something that doesn't belong to me. I get a rush out of fucking another man's wife. He'll never know who his wife truly is but I will. I steal a secret part of her. We share it, she and I. He doesn't know. It's thrilling. I imagine the lies she tells to cover our tracks and it amuses me."

"You pick his pocket," Abby said.

"I do, and his loving wife helps. It's delicious."

She held his black cock in her hands: dainty pale fingers against coal black potency. She pushed the loose skin down the shaft and licked the tip, wiping away precum.

"You taste like strong tea," she said.

"Let's find out how you taste," he said, lifting her under the arms and bending her over the back of the couch. He held her pinned with one hand, nudging her feet wider. She writhed. He bent at the waist and buried his face between her ass cheeks. She squealed and then groaned.

"You taste like fresh water," he teased. "And I need a drink."

He crouched behind her and used both hands to spread her butt wide open. She was trapped against the sofa but she wasn't trying to get away. He pressed his face deeper and she gasped.

"Your tongue is amazing," she whimpered, shifting her feet wider.

I saw him from behind. His back was broad and muscled, his ass hard. His scrotum and penis hung low, the shaft resting on our living room carpet. She looked like a child next to a full-grown adult.

The anticipation was killing me. We all knew that black beast would soon be inside her. The crazy thing was that all of us wanted that. I'd come full-circle from the mountains and Earl.

Abby suddenly gasped and shuddered. He'd gotten her off with his tongue. Her legs turned to jelly and he stood and turned her to face him.

"We should take this to the bedroom," she said.

"Hang on," he replied, fishing several condoms from his pants on the floor.

He showed them to her.

"So responsible," she muttered, still dazed.

She plucked them from his open palm and threw them at his pants.

"If you're going to fuck me in the home I share with my husband," she said. "In the very bed where I sleep beside him every night, then you're not going to fill some balloon inside me like it never happened. I want your cum in me. I want to be a married babe on your list."

"If you insist."

She took his heavy cock in her left hand, wedding ring pressed against his dark flesh. She gazed down at it, hefting the thing, enjoying the solid weight. She held it around the base and shook it, causing the head to wobble wildly. They both laughed.

"You remind me of an old friend," she said. "Only his was pinkish."

Big Black laughed again.

"You got some big friends," he said. "You said something about a bedroom? I'm eager to get my hands on you."

Abby met his eyes and shivered slightly.

"I'd like that," she purred.

I bolted for the shower stall.

Chapter 11

I waited. I had to. They stopped to kiss three times before reaching our bedroom. I couldn't leave my spot until they were busy with each other so I dug in and waited. My dick rose without touching it. I heard lips smack and soft sighs and I desperately wanted to see her small white body enfolded in those thick black arms, but I waited. It killed me, but I waited.

Finally, the bed squeaked. I left my spot and crept forward, peeking around the corner. He'd sat Abby at the foot of the bed, bringing her face level with his dangling black cock.

"You want me to suck on that?" she playfully asked.

"No," he said. "I want you to worship that."

Her eyelids fluttered a bit. He had a commanding aspect to him that she loved. Bossy men usually piss her off but he had a way about him that skipped all that. She wanted to submit. She leaned forward and puckered her lips, planting a loving kiss on that fat dark head.

"I've never been with a black man," she admitted, mirroring her words to me. "I'm a little nervous."

He gently stroked her head.

"I hear that a lot," he said. "But don't worry. I know how to use it. I may hurt you occasionally but from what I'm told, it's a good hurt."

"From all one hundred women, no doubt."

"Yes, from all—"

He stopped speaking because Abby had flattened her tongue on his head and slithered his length along the top. She turned him slightly and painted the length of each side too. She held him upright and leaned closer, lifting each large black testicle with her tongue, one at a time, before sucking it in and gently rolling it around. He continued to tenderly pet her like she was a beloved dog. She worked her way back down the shaft, slipping the head into her mouth when she arrived there. Her cheeks suddenly snapped in as she sucked hard, a strong vacuum pulling on the hot sperm waiting in his balls. She pulled off with a loud pop.

"That's good," he groaned.

Movement outside caught my eye. I saw Norman, my neighbor to the east and a nosy-busybody, bending his neck to see through our partially drawn shades. He'd seen Abby enter the house with a towering black man and his curiosity got the best of him. My worry about my wife being seen was confirmed. Norm found a good angle and stared, watching Abby lovingly worship a fat rod of black meat.

I panicked at first but quickly realized Norm couldn't say shit about what he'd seen without implicating himself. His wife, Glenda, would skin him alive if she learned he was peeping in our bedroom window. There was no way to see into that window unless he entered our backyard through the gate and I wondered if this was his first time playing the voyeur or if he'd already watched me fuck Abby multiple times. I had position on him so I could see him but he couldn't see me. He had no idea I was watching Abby too.

His arm began to move. The little pervert was jacking off. I turned my attention to Abby again. There was nothing to be done about Norm right now.

My wife relaxed her neck and moved farther down the shaft, taking more as the head slid along her tongue. I knew her experience with Earl had given her new skills and she displayed them now, pausing occasionally to catch her breath before crawling her lips forward, more and more dick sliding into her mouth.

"Lord, Abigail," Big Black said. "That's some fine devotion."

My wife's eyes flared. Encouraged, she adjusted her throat to take even more. She gagged a little but calmed herself, determined, and forced her mouth farther down his shaft. What a glorious sight: my wife face-fucked herself on his black dick. She placed her hands on his hips and pulled herself another inch closer. Her neck bulged. Veins crossed her throat and her forehead.

At last she could take no more. He had more dick waiting but she was stuffed, her red lips stretched tight around his girth. I expected her to withdraw and start sucking in earnest but she held herself impaled like that, throat full of cock, eyes watering. She gagged again and I worried she might panic but she turned serene, closing her eyes, savoring the feel of her first black dick gently pulsating in her mouth, against her tongue, down her throat. I burned that moment into my memory forever. She looked slutty beyond compare.

Her panties had disappeared somewhere along the way but she still wore the black heels and stockings. She'd turned her mouth into a second cunt for his pleasure and discovered she pleased herself too. She kept him entrenched and moved her hands from his hips, sliding them over his ridged abdomen and dragging her nails against his hairy chest. He did nothing, gazing down at his cock buried in her face. Her hands glided over his dark skin, now heading south to caress his strong legs before rising to cup his large balls.

I leaned forward and my dick tapped our bathroom wall. I was hard as stone but so enthralled I'd been unaware of the fact. I'd grown stiff mesmerized by my wife's lewd behavior. She was gloriously whorish. I spotted the muscles of her throat massaging his length. She swallowed over and over, breathing through her nose, tears streaking her cheeks.

"That's fantastic," he murmured, petting my beloved wife.

At last her mouth began the long crawl backward. Her lips took little steps, retreating along the thick shaft until the head waved free. She looked proud, holding him with one hand at the root and smiling at the big dick she'd just conquered.

"Bigger than your pink friend?" he joked.

"No," she replied, innocently. "He's a little longer than you. Maybe a little thicker too."

Big Black looked crestfallen.

"But he's not a gorgeous ebony God," Abby quickly added. "He's not an African King and he didn't take my Black Man virginity. Only you get to do that, Mikal."

So, I thought. Mikal.

The big man chuckled, bruised ego all better.

"Make me a promise, Abby," he said. "Never fuck another black man after me. I can be your only midnight warrior. You can summon me when your need for dark meat grows too strong, but you can have no other."

I found his rhetoric theatrical but Abby bought it all. Her face lit up.

"Oh my God," she gushed. "Are you saying I can call or text and you'll come over and fuck me?"

"I swear it."

Her mouth hung open, stunned.

"How many women in this town have that privilege?" she asked.

"Two. Now three."

Abby laughed and tilted her head back to gaze at our ceiling.

"I can't believe this. When I'm horny I can summon you for sex?"

"Yes."

"Oh my fucking God!" she yelled, joyous.

She moved to roll a stocking down her leg.

"Leave them," he said. "Please."

"Anything you want," she said, and meant it.

He grabbed a handful of her long hair and pulled her backward onto the bed. He lifted each foot, removing a high heel. She wiggled her dainty toes under the black nylon. He took a step back from the end of the bed.

"Spread your legs for me, Abby. Hold them in the air."

Suddenly shy, my wife slowly did as he asked. She hooked a hand behind each knee and pulled her legs apart, crudely displaying her wet pussy. The black stocking acted like a funnel to the eye, guiding all three men watching to her cunt. She pulled farther, causing her labia to part. He stared and stared. Her slit was already swollen with anticipation. Her inner lips peeked at the man. I knew Norman would never forget Abby this way. I never imagined she could look this naughty, this nasty, this sexy. Nude but for those damn black thigh-highs, spread eagle on our bed with a large naked black man poised between her legs. He took his cock in hand and began to slowly stroke. With ready pussy staring him in the face, the beast began to truly stiffen. He pumped his dick through his fist, practically licking his lips. My wife watched him, gazing down her body and between her thighs. His black cock curved upward as it inflated, head flaring.

"Fuck me," Abigail said at last.

No matter how society dresses things up, this is what it comes down to: getting a cock into a pussy. We wear fancy clothes and drive fancy cars. We get our hair and nails done. We go to prestigious schools or build global businesses. All of that is window dressing. In the end, it's about who leaves semen in whom.

I stared at the man's hard cock. I couldn't look away. He was going to penetrate my wife with it and unless I did something drastic, he was going to pump her full of sperm. My wife. MY wife.

That this was what we all wanted lit my mind on fire.

Like me, Abby stared at his hard cock too. I'd never seen so much raw desire on my wife's face.

"Fuck me, Mikal," she pleaded.

He took two steps forward and knelt, burying his face in her crotch. Abby loves having her pussy eaten but I saw exasperation on her face. She was past this. She was ready. She craved his big black cock inside her, fucking her.

Mikal only took a moment to wet all around her hole. He stood, his black spear level with the bed and aimed directly at her opening. Abby's arms and legs shook from her exertions. He shuffled his feet closer and rubbed the head all over her clit. Abby groaned. He placed the large helmet at her entrance and pressed forward slightly. Abby groaned again.

"Please . . ." she whimpered.

He reached for her ankles and took her legs. He spread her wider still, partially lifting her ass off the mattress. Her pink slit hovered above the bed, labia mashed by the tip of his cock. He did nothing. He held that pose and waited for his weight and her slickness to blossom her cunt around the head. Her inner labia slithered around his crown, enveloping his sensitive flesh. They groaned together as his fat head began a slow penetration. Abby squirmed as he began to sink, filling her tight tunnel. The shaft behind was wider than the head and pulled in her flesh as he traveled deeper. All the air left Abby's lungs in a whoosh. My wife squeezed her eyes shut.

"There's nothing like it," she muttered to no one.

Mikal bent her legs over her body and I watched his dark spear slowly sink into my wife. Her little hole was stretched into a white ring around his girth. His fat balls inched ever closer to her opening.

Abby stiffened. Her eyes snapped open. Shock. Surprise. Disbelief. She lifted her head to look down the length of her body and watch that dark meat disappear and then her head snapped back.

"Fuck!" she cried. "No way! I'm cummmmming!"

My jaw dropped. Mikal was unfazed. He'd seen white married babes react like this before. He fed her hole black inches at the same inexorable pace. He could have dropped his weight on her and slammed that cock home but he took his time. Abby sobbed, lifting her head to watch through watering eyes.

"Fuck!" she cried again. "No way . . .no way . . ."

Earl had smashed her with his runaway need and desire. Mikal was sweeping her off her feet with his confidence and self-control. This was no partnership. This was him fucking her. She welcomed it. With open arms and open legs, she welcomed his supremacy. His slow plunge stopped with inches to go. He'd encountered something blocking him but he knew what to do. He held steady, gentle unrelenting pressure inside my woman. Gradually, something inside her opened. She thrashed her head side to side. It looked like agony but I knew it wasn't.

"Fucking Hell!" she yelled.

I think she may have orgasmed again. His balls sank the last short distance to smother her asshole. He held himself still, stretching her in every direction, savoring the tight grip of her cunt around his inches.

"Never leave," she muttered. "Never take your cock out. Never take it out."

Mikal grinned. After a moment, he withdrew an inch and eased it back in. Abby clamped her jaw shut. He did it again, repeating the stroke until his cock gleamed with her pussy juice and she took him smoothly. I tried to imagine what that wide head was doing inside her. He rested her legs on his shoulders, buried his cock all the way, and scooped her ass with both hands, sliding her up the bed while crawling forward on his knees. She wrapped her arms around his thick neck and kissed him passionately. He laid her down and held himself over her, pumping his cock in and out with a strong rhythm. Abby's breathing turned ragged. He was breaking her down.

"You gonna cum for me again?" he asked.

She couldn't answer, only nod rapidly. He slid a finger over to find her sphincter and pushed two knuckles deep. Abby squealed and squeezed, pussy and ass cumming hard. Ass play was never part of our sex life but it would be now. He pumped her asshole with his digit and her pussy with his thick cock and Abby screamed with pleasure. Her body was primed. He'd taken her to some level where an orgasm was only a moment away and kept her there, pumping asshole and pussy together. My wife was virtually incoherent, a slave to her clit. We all watched in awe.

"Damn, Abigail," Mikal said abruptly. "You got me too excited. I'm gonna nut."

Abby reeled, neck turning to rubber. Mikal fucked faster, in a hurry now to fill her with his spunk. He pinned her with his large body and drove his cock in and out, fucking deep and hard.

"Don't worry," he grunted between thrusts. "I'm good to go again soon."

Abby wailed as his words hit home. All at once he pushed all the way in and groaned, ejaculating his hot sperm into her womb. My heart sizzled. My dick was harder than ever as he blasted jet after jet of searing semen far inside my wife.

He rested over her, catching his breath. He left his cock buried and the idea of all those swimming tadpoles tore me up. It was too much. I couldn't stand it. I took my dick in hand and stroked, shocked how close I was to orgasm. I let go. I couldn't lose my load yet. With all the willpower I had, I let go of my penis and leaned my back against the cool wall. My delayed climax drained away but my dick stayed hard and throbbing.

They lay in a tangle and he kept his hips tightly wedged against her butt, his soft black cock stuffed in her. They talked and chuckled and made out. They were in no hurry. I was out of town, right? Minutes stacked on minutes and my penis began to droop. My balls ached.

At last he began kissing her again. He suckled her breasts and teased her nipples. He nibbled her neck and ears. Abby soaked it up.

"Oh!" she said unexpectedly. "I can feel it. I can feel you in there, growing."

He continued his affections but Abby was distracted. She rolled her hips, feeling a soft penis turning hard already inside her. She closed her eyes to savor the sensation.

"God," she muttered. "Jesus."

I could only imagine.

Before long he withdrew several inches of his shiny black cock and pushed it in again. He eased her onto her stomach. He pulled her hips off the bed but kept her head pinned. She understood what he wanted. He rose to his knees, grabbed a pale butt cheek in each big black hand, and started fucking her pussy harder. Abby took it, happy to be used.

"Will you cum in me again?" she mumbled.

"I'm gonna cum in you all night," Mikal boasted.

"Yesssssss," she whimpered.

For a time, he pounded her hole and she just welcomed it. Her climax built slowly until her fingers and toes curled and she gasped like she'd been shot. His cock ripped a titanic climax from her and then, moments later, he ejaculated hot semen into her again. My dick had stiffened watching but I missed my chance to jack off while they fucked. I sat on the tile bench in the shower while they caught their breath.

Abby got things going the third time by pulling her cunt off his cock and turning to take him in her mouth. Her eyes happened to rise and find me staring. Our gaze locked. Here was the chance to suck this big black cock right in front of my face and she took it, licking him all over as I jerked my dick. We were both reminded of her time with Sam and me outside the tent but she was far more confident in her infidelity this time. She gave me a show. She licked away precum and showed me the glob sitting on her tongue before she swallowed. She hefted his scrotum to show me how big his black balls were, how much sperm he must have blasted inside. She struggled again to take as much of his soft cock as she could and that's when my orgasm hit. I plastered the shower wall watching my wife work his black dick into her throat.

It was a long night. She got him hard and thought about swallowing another load but in the end decided nothing turned her on more than a man cumming inside over and over. She held him upright and mounted his cock and after an orgasm for herself, he shot her full again. They fucked one last time before he left an hour later. I was hard again but her tender pussy was sore.

"I have an idea," she said. "Push your dick into his cream in my pussy. Use his sperm as lube and then fuck my ass. I'm messy. I think it will work."

I did not argue. I bent her over and slid my dick into his hot and slippery milk, then withdrew and moved one hole away. We had no idea what we were doing but her pelvis was relaxed and I was wildly slimy. I pushed slow and steady and Abby stayed calm and my hard dick eased into her rectum.

She reached down to play with her clit and I tried to control my runaway enthusiasm. I never dreamed I'd ever fuck her ass. I moved slow and steady, ready to ejaculate far too soon, and when she announced she was about to make herself cum again, I waited until she did and then released mine too.

Chapter 12

Amber broke up with Johnny. They'd rented an apartment together but she moved out and in with us. Things were fine, at first, but then as we got more comfortable and her heart began to mend, the girls took to wearing less and less. Soon I was living with two women who walked around in almost nothing. Poor me.

Abby was riding me cowgirl, long hair hanging in my face, when it happened. With my wife's tight pussy snugly wrapped around my erection, I felt a hot wet tongue slather my balls. I almost shot right then. I saw nothing but a jungle of dark tresses but it had to be Amber. Moments later I heard Abby gasp. My wife spun and took her hair with her and I saw nude

Amber between my legs, tonguing Abby's asshole. My wife's best friend had invited herself into our bedroom while we were making love. I froze for an instant because as far as I knew, while they flirted with the idea all the time, they'd never actually engaged in sex with each other. A stiff tongue up your ass is a fine hello.

Abby moaned.

That was all the green light Amber needed. The sexy blonde grabbed handfuls of Abby's hair and pulled her off my dick, clamping her mouth over Abby's pussy before the hole closed. They swiftly moved into a sixty-nine and I scooted backward for a better view. Their bodies were intertwined femininity. Smooth skin and luscious curves, mushing tits and arched backs: they devoured each other, releasing decades of stored sexual tension. My throbbing dick pulsed in my lap.

Amber became the aggressor, standing on our bed, rising over Abby and forcing my wife to eat pussy. When the urge hit her, she spun and faced away, forcing Abby to eat her asshole. I groaned and Amber took notice.

"You," she said, pointing at me. "Eat me from the front while your wife eats my ass. I want both your tongues pleasing me."

I did as I was told. An electric charge jolted me each time my tongue met Abby's between Amber's legs. We feasted on our friend. Amber orgasmed like that, towering over each of us, legs trembling so much I worried she'd fall.

Abby took over after that. Amber crumbled, rolling onto her back and giggling over how hard we'd made her cum. Abby grinned and then grabbed my dick and pulled me forward, shoving Amber's knee away. Amber understood what was coming before I did and spread her legs. Abby guided my stiff dick into her best friend.

"Fuck yes," Amber exhaled. "Finally."

I hesitated, wondering if Abby would regret this, but then my wife slapped my ass and started pushing and pulling my butt.

"I've bragged about you for years," Abby said. "Show her. Make me proud."

I gazed down at Amber's pretty face, thrilled to be inside this beauty at last.

"Don't fall in love with her," Abby joked. "Just fuck her brains out."

Again, I did as I was told. I made Amber cum twice, which thrilled the hell out of me, but when I got close I tried to pull out. Neither woman allowed that shit. Abby smacked my butt hard.

"Shoot it in her," my wife scolded. "We love walking around for days with a man inside us."

Chapter 13

I was mowing the front lawn at sunset when Norman pulled into his driveway. He glanced at our house six times before stepping inside and closing his front door. Since that night I'd secretly discovered him watching Abby fuck me twice and Mikal three times. I found if I stood on our upstairs deck by the chimney, I could look down on him at our bedroom window. He checked on us nightly. It was cute at first but each time I resented him more, especially once Amber moved in.

Now, sun slowly setting and sweat in my eyes, I decided it was time to teach him a lesson. I'd informed both women of our neighbor's voyeuristic tendencies and they'd been less than thrilled. Norman's a judgmental guy. Abby had taken a circular route these last months, becoming better friends with Glenda, shopping with the older woman, building a friendship there in case Abby ever needed to expose Norm. She'd want Glenda to believe her and for that she needed the woman's trust.

I finished my yardwork and went inside the cool house. Abby scrubbed the kitchen sinks.

"I'm over Norm and his dirty looks," I said.

She slapped the sponge on the bottom of the sink.

"I am so happy to hear you say that," she said. "I just saw him pull in and look back at our house. Fucking hypocrite. He spies on us to get himself off and then thinks less of us for what we do."

"We need to teach him a lesson," I said.

"Should I tell Glenda about him?"

I pondered. That fate seemed too conventional. I shelved it to think about later. We finished our chores and headed for the shower. We stripped in the bedroom and entered our big shower together. The hot spray felt fantastic. Abby glanced around at the tiled walls, smirking.

"What's on your mind?" I asked.

"I'm just remembering all the times you've hidden in here, watching while Mikal fucked me senseless. I'm glad we finally told him about you and I'm really glad he didn't give a shit."

"He doesn't care because he's always so hot to fuck you."

"He does make a girl feel pretty," she giggled.

"You're even more beautiful with your legs in the air," I teased back.

"And a big black dick in my pussy."

She was horny. I saw it in her eyes. I reached for her and cupped a big breast, kissing her deeply. She fondled my rapidly rising dick. I slid a soapy hand over her smooth round ass and pulled her hard against my body.

"You want to fuck me?" she asked.

"Hell yes," I growled. "Sexy bitch. Just look at you all wet and sudsy."

She stepped away, water bouncing off her skin, plastering her hair and causing her nipples to rise. She's a visual treat and my penis acted accordingly. She smiled down at my erection.

"Too bad you'll need to wait," she taunted. "I texted Mikal about an hour ago. He's on his way over. Amber's out shopping for a new car and won't be home for hours. Keep that dick hard. You can have me after he does."

She seems cruel but she isn't. This is one of the games we discovered. My dick was hard now but in a few hours, after watching that big black man fuck her to multiple orgasms, my penis would be cast iron. Her little tortures and taunts only added fuel to our fire.

I stroked my erection. We struggled to keep our hands off each other as we showered, working ourselves into a kind of sexual frenzy. The doorbell rang as Abby was drying her hair. I went to answer it with a towel around my waist and Mikal grinned broadly when he saw me, shaking my hand and stepping inside.

"Looks like you got her ready for me," he said.

"I did indeed."

I moved aside and gestured towards the master bedroom. Abby wasn't ready for him but I have my taunts too. I killed time, pouring each of us a glass of sangria. I sauntered to the bedroom, holding my breath for what I might see.

Abby and Mikal never disappoint. He stood like an onyx statue in our bedroom, nude, Abby wrapped arms and legs around his frame. He held her under her legs and scooped her ass firmly, his black spear already half-buried in her tight, wet pussy. He guided her up and down his cock as they kissed passionately, her weight meaningless.

I sat the tray with our drinks on the dresser. I flicked my towel away and dropped onto the hope chest at the foot of the bed. My dick rose without being touched, like it does every time the man visits. They ignored me, as was our custom, while I scrutinized every inch of them. My wife's little pussy always struggled to surround him, stretching wide to swallow his girth. He eased her down his rod until the last inches remained.

The doorbell rang.

Amber? I wondered. Wanting to show off her new car?

Mikal and Abby were oblivious, lost in each other, so I sat my drink aside and hurried to the front window, slipping my towel around my waist again.

Not Amber.

Earl.

My mind jumped track. We'd told him he could visit anytime and he'd taken us literally. I was happy to see him but Abby was busy.

Was she too busy?

I quickly opened the door and invited him in. We chatted rapid-fire, catching up on each other's lives in moments. Then he noticed my towel.

"Catch you at a bad time?" he asked.

"You have no idea," I countered.

I explained the situation honestly.

"Abby with a black fella, hmm?" he said, thoughtfully. "I'd like to see that."

I pictured that and more.

"Maybe you should join them?" I said, a slight quiver in my voice.

It was pure impulse. I selfishly put him on the spot and I'd cleared nothing with Abby or Mikal. But I wanted to watch the fireworks so I set things in motion. I could feel how thin the ice was beneath me.

"I need a shower," he drawled.

I aimed him at the guest bath and gave him fresh towels and a robe.

"Or you could just walk into the bedroom naked," I added. "They are."

I shut the door, heart pounding. This could go so very wrong. I talked myself out of it and then back in three times. My dick had no idea what to do: rising, then drooping, then rising again. I moved to the bedroom doorway to check on my wife and her lover and found Mikal on top in a missionary position, Abby almost invisible beneath his massive body. He fucked her with so much meaning, each strong thrust more an attempt to reach her soul than please himself. I watched until the water stopped. I met Earl at the bathroom door. He emerged with a towel around his waist like me but peeled it off and handed it over. He looked good. He was clearly eating better and sleeping more. He'd trimmed the mass of pubes at his crotch.

"It's been a long time," he muttered. "I need her."

I draped his towel over my arm. His pendulous cock was already partially swollen, swinging heavily back and forth as I followed him down the hallway. He rubbed his hands together and slicked back his wet hair. I held my breath.

"You sure about this?" he whispered.

I looked down. His cock had further expanded, hungry to feast on Abby again. His balls hung low and hefty.

"Does it matter?" I asked. "Would we stop now anyway?"

He grinned and shrugged.

"I suppose not," he answered.

I stepped aside to let him in. He approached the bed slowly. Abby saw him before Mikal did and squealed with delight. After a moment of confusion, Mikal stopped fucking. Abby started talking, introducing the men to each other.

I faded into the background. Abby and I could talk about this later. I'd seen movement through the bedroom window and hurried upstairs and onto the deck, making no noise. Norman had his eyes glued to the glass. What a treat for him. I hurried back downstairs to see for myself.

As I sailed through the living room someone knocked on our front door.

Amber? I thought. For sure this time.

I opened the door without checking.

Glenda, holding a shoebox. She wore jeans and a modest floral print top: cute, but not sexy. She was a good-looking woman, older than Abby and far more attractive than Norman deserved.

"Hi," she said, innocently. "Abigail left this in my car the last time we went shopping. She's home, right?"

Then she noticed I wore only a towel around my waist.

"Oh. I'm so sorry. I'll come back later."

"Not at all, Glenda," I said. "I was about to shower after yardwork. Come in. I'll tell Abby you're here."

The plan blossomed like an orchid in my mind. So many things had happened so fast I barely had time to put the pieces together but then there it was, fully formed. I left Glenda standing in the living room, waiting, only one short hallway from Abby and Earl and Mikal. I circled around through the kitchen and waited, occasionally peeking around the corner to check on Glenda. A soft moan floated down the hallway, followed by a baritone male groan. Such sounds are universal and I knew Glenda would be intrigued. How could she not? I waited, fingers crossed, trust natural feminine curiosity.

I was not disappointed.

Glenda checked to make sure I was gone and then crept down the hall. Abby moaned again, almost on cue, and Glenda reached our bedroom door and peeked inside. I couldn't see what she saw, but I could see her reaction. Her eyes went wide, her lips parted, she mouthed the words: Holy fuck, and then hid her body behind the corner to keep watching without detection. I grinned, but stayed put, allowing what I knew to be a fantastic scene of hot raw fucking soak into her mind. I watched her body squirm. I chuckled when she slipped a hand down to rub her pussy. Stumbling across a scene like this drives a person one of two ways: excitement, or disgust. Nobody remains unaffected. Norm was a perv but wife Glenda was vivacious and outgoing. In conversations over the years she always struck me as open-minded. I'd calculated the impact such a scene would have on her and I'd been right. She was mesmerized, enthralled. Her free hand rose to cover her mouth and seconds later a finger slipped in. She softly bit her digit and I imagined in the bedroom beyond my wife had just accepted a fat cock into her mouth.

I waited. The initial shock had drained away by now yet Glenda remained rooted to her spot. Now she watched because what she saw captivated her. I decided to take another chance and approached her slowly from behind. My wife was on the bed on hands and knees. Mikal tenderly pumped his ebony cock in and out of her pussy. Earl knelt on the bed at her face, holding his large cock at the root, offering it to a sucking Abby. My wife was lost in lust.

"Doesn't Abby look gorgeous?" I whispered.

She'd heard me approach. I did not startle her.

"She does," Glenda sighed. "That black man is stunning. They are all beautiful in their own way."

I flicked my towel, the thick, soft cloth landing at my feet. I leaned in closer to Glenda, my warm breath on her nape. My plump penis brushed her butt.

"Can you imagine being her?" I said.

"Easily."

I eased my dick between her pant legs.

"Join them," I suggested. "Once in a lifetime. None of us will ever speak a word of this to anyone. Norm will never know."

This was the crucial moment, the make-it or break-it. If Glenda suddenly remembered her vows, she'd flee. If Norman was the kind of husband I believed him to be, Glenda may be seduced by forces she's never experienced. What was happening inside that bedroom drew her like a massive black hole spinning in space, unescapably dragging her forward, body and soul.

My lie was cruel, but to him, not her. Norm would know. Norm hid outside my window, skulking in the darkness, unaware his loving wife was about to take the stage and play her part. Glenda took a faltering step forward.

"Not like that," I murmured, slipping her floral top off a shoulder. "If you want to join them you must dress accordingly."

She looked down at her clothing in a daze. She seemed to see me for the first time in a long time and half turned, running her gaze over my naked body. Her eyes landed at my mostly erect bigger than average dick. I decided to step on the gas.

"Let's get you undressed," I purred.

I was rushing things but I was eager. I should have taken half an hour to seduce her but I wanted Norm to suffer. A lot had happened in the last thirty minutes and I'd been left out of most of it and I was ready for that to change. Luck was with me. I began to undress Glenda and she helped in her own bewildered way, revealing a surprising body beneath. She'd kept it hidden for years, modesty demanding she wear the baggiest, frumpiest clothing. I stepped back to take her in.

"Glenda," I said. "You're lovely."

My words reached her. Her face flushed. She averted her eyes but her stare landed on my pulsing erection, deepening her crimson blush. I let her gawk, savoring the sweet feeling of Norman's wife fixated on my penis.

At last Mikal noticed us. Earl followed Mikal's gaze and Abby turned to see what the men were looking at. I marched into the room, parading Glenda like a prize captive. Her eyes darted all around: first to her friend Abby, and then to the virile men touching my wife. Mikal withdrew his black spear, shiny with Abigail's arousal. Earl turned to Glenda too.

Outside, I knew Norman was ready to explode. There was a slight chance he would burst into our home to rescue his wife, but I doubted that. Such an action would require an admission he watched us all through our window. His shame at being named a pervert would be greater than his shame at watching Glenda fucked, and that's what I was counting on. I gestured towards the onyx god as if I worked at an art gallery.

"Mikal," I told Glenda.

I swung my hand around to Earl.

"Earl," I stated. "Gentlemen, this is Glenda, a cherished neighbor."

Mikal was ready for another name added to his list. He left Abby and approached Glenda, black cock leading like a battering ram. He took her hand and kissed the back, always one for a dramatic flourish, then surprised me by guiding her pale hand to his cock. Glenda gasped but closed her fingers around the thick shaft. She squeezed, hard, and Mikal smiled.

Glenda had some surprises too. Unaware her husband stood only a few feet away, my pretty neighbor sank to our bedroom carpet and stuffed that plump dark head into her mouth. She sucked like she tried to pull a golf ball through a garden hose and Mikal's knees almost buckled. Abby smiled broadly, leaving the bed to kiss Glenda on the cheek and then lick Mikal along the shaft.

I stepped back. I'd intended to fuck Glenda but this was far more delicious. I could feel Norman's agony radiating through our bedroom wall. The two women worshipped that tube of black meat and then Abby led her friend to the bed, easing her onto her back and spreading her legs. Glenda looked frightened but held Abby's eyes and would not look away.

"Mikal?" Abby said. "If you please?"

Big Black walked his knees up our bed, his cock waving like a flagpole. Abby grabbed hold and brought the head to Glenda's bushy pussy, tugging to help guide the thick tube in.

"Nnnnggggh!" Glenda cried, stuffed with more man meat than she'd ever experienced.

"Isn't it wonderful?" Abby gushed, eyes wild. "Has your pussy ever felt anything like it?"

Glenda shook her head.

"Close your eyes, my sweet friend," Abby said. "Find your womanhood hiding somewhere inside you, hiding under worries and fears and anxieties. Find the woman that loves sex and men and fucking and set her loose in this room."

I got the feeling there had been plenty of woman-to-woman talks between these two all those days spent shopping or meeting for lunch. Abby seemed to hint at secret things about Glenda. Mikal leaned farther over the woman and Glenda lifted her head to watch the black cock enter her. Abby stayed with her friend a few more minutes and then reached for Earl. I knew what would happen next and I was right. Within moments our bedroom was filled with hot, sweaty air and people gasping and moaning. I smugly dropped onto the hope chest at the foot of the bed.

I knew outside, Norman was in agony.

A howl filled our bedroom followed by a deep and rumbling laugh. Glenda was cumming all over Mikal, soaking his thick dick in hot pussy juice. The woman was barely recognizable: eyes squeezed shut, grimace of pleasure twisting her face, hands and toes tight fists. Her skin was pink body wide and carried a glistening sheen of sweat.

My memories leapt back to the cabin in the woods and Earl's big cock sliding into Abigail. Since Norman liked watching so much, perhaps he'd enjoy watching Glenda regularly fucked at our place. Perhaps I could coax him into the room with his wife. Perhaps I could get him to hold Mikal's cock, aim it, guide it into Glenda.

I decided to make that my mission. Norman would take the same rocky path I had. I'd be his guide and exact my retribution at the same time.

Earl left Abby and offered his hefty cock to Glenda. There was no hesitation. The older woman sucked as many inches of Earl into her mouth as she could get.

My eyes met Abby's and we smiled.

End.

Enjoy My Work?
It would mean a lot if you left a quick review.
A sentence or two is fine.
Thank you for supporting an Independent Author! ☐

Visit My Website:
AuthorMatthewLee.com

Join My Mailing List
Get a FREE Hotwife Story!

Follow My Twitter

Find me on: GoodReads

Talk to Me
BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com