

Treachery

A young woman with long, wavy brown hair and green eyes is the central figure. She is resting her chin on her right hand, which has a silver ring on the ring finger. She is wearing a black top with a large, teal-colored fabric rose brooch. The background is a soft-focus garden scene with pink and purple flowers.

Chapter 1

Caveat Emptor, right? Every salesman's creed. Gina and I live by it and expect others to do the same. It is not my job to protect you, it's your job to protect yourself.

Natchu Sophon, eldest son of Thai banking billionaire Chartsiri Sophon, slipped his Versace tie from around his neck and kicked his Gucci shoes to the corner. His gaze was fixed on my wife, a crooked smile tilted his lips. Gina waited passively. She held a forgotten martini in her hand and met his stare without flinching. The low couch caused her deep neckline to bunch, exposing twin orbs of milky smoothness. Only her stiff nipples kept the dress from opening and showing us her gorgeous tits. Every person in the room stared anyway.

She ignored me, of course. We weren't even supposed to know each other. None of us here tonight were supposed to know each other. I was here representing my investment firm, Haight and Madison, and Gina was here representing her firm, Olsen Global. As we often had over the years, my wife and I competed for the same business.

Natchu slowly unbuttoned his five-hundred dollar Loro Piana dress shirt, white, perfectly pressed, and pulled the fabric off his muscular shoulders. Gina took a sip of vermouth. He was built. I had to admit that. Taller than me by a few inches and heavier with twenty pounds of muscle, this jet-set brat lived a life of cushioned leisure. Daddy made sure of that. Perfect skin, perfect teeth, perfect hair: normally Gina would laugh at a man that put so much time into his appearance. But not tonight. Tonight, she wanted to win. I'd come out on top in every head to head encounter we've had. She hadn't scored a win against me for years.

Natchu unbuckled his belt and Gina arched an eyebrow, daring him. If she thought he'd stop because of the others in the room, she'd not done her homework. I glanced at the other faces; three men and two women and I recognized them all. Each was in some way already connected to Bangkok

Bank. They would do nothing to risk those accounts. Each could be trusted to take what happens here tonight to their grave. Loyalty is huge in the Asian market.

Gina crossed her legs, allowing the split in her dress to fall away revealing about a mile of smooth white skin. Her toned legs looked delicious.

"I won't stop you," she taunted. "One of these good people might, but I won't."

That's her first miscalculation, I thought.

She'd played the night beautifully, coy and flirtatious, she'd tangled Natchu in her web early and kept him there. She looked stunning in that dress. All my efforts to talk business were thwarted. The guys from Evers and May had given up early. Even the guys from Brighton Enterprises went back to their hotel, and those mercenaries never give up. Gina had something Natchu wanted and nobody, including myself, could distract the young man from her. He actually thought he was in control.

But she'd misjudged this room. She thought having strangers present offered her protection. She was wrong. These people would do whatever Natchu wanted.

Button. Zipper. Natchu slides his pants down his muscular legs, revealing tight black boxer briefs. I wondered what Loro Piana charged for those. If anyone was going to interrupt this egotistical strip show, it would need to be me. But I couldn't. No way. All that would get me is shown to the door. I'd be out and Gina would have a clear path to landing this account. What would I tell my boss back in the States? Things got a little racy so I ran away? Hardly. Gibson, as always, expects me to do whatever I need to make the deal happen. That's why he sent me to Pattaya City, Thailand. This deal will be worth billions, yes, with a B, and I'm his best closer.

Nevertheless, that was my wife seated in front of him. My eyes drifted to Natchu. The man was ripped. His abdominals were big lumps and his chest muscles massive. His arms were corded sinew. I glanced at Gina's face and saw she studied his body closely. Was he getting to her? Or was this more of her act?

Our group had spent the night hitting all the hot spots, drinking, snorting, smoking, and generally flouting the law the way only a well-connected spoiled rich kid can. We'd had a blast, sure, until we'd all retired, via helicopter, to Natchu's penthouse atop the Grand Pattaya Resort. An hour ago, in search of fresh air, I'd stepped onto the platform which circled the building and gazed down on a giant golden Buddha one-hundred and ten stories below. Nice view.

"I love white women," Natchu said, grinning. "You are very beautiful."

Gina batted her eyelashes just a bit, beautiful green eyes blazing. "Thank you, Mr. Sophon," she said.

He waved a hand at the others. "They call me Mr. Sophon. You call me Natchu."

My wife dipped her head a twentieth of an inch. "Thank you, Natchu."

"You want to see it?" he asked, toying with the elastic of his underwear.

"I do," giggled one of the women across the room.

Gina, at last, realized she may be in deeper than she thought. She sent her gaze around the crowd. Everyone smiled, indulgent, high. I saw her mind race. What is the right move? she wondered. Her eyes flicked to me but that wouldn't do. No way would she accept my help. She took a big sip of her martini, killing it, and sat the glass on the low coffee table. I saw her chest expand slowly as she calmed herself.

"I don't know," she answered, buying time. "Do I? Is it something special?"

She chuckled at her joke but no one else did and a silent knowing swept the room. My instincts kicked in. Sometimes you suddenly find yourself in a situation where everyone knows something except you. This was such a moment, only I was in the dark as much as Gina. Natchu stood tall, insulted. Gina read the signs and covered the best way she knew how.

"Yes," she murmured. "Actually, I do want to see it. I'm just shy because I'm married. Good girls don't say such things."

She lifted her left hand to show him her wedding ring.

I'm her husband. I know when she fibbing, flat-out lying, or telling the truth. This may have been a play but deep down, this ripped young stud had gotten to her. Some part of her actually did want to see his penis. Natchu heard the truth in her words too. His grin returned.

"Show her, NaNa," one of the men muttered.

Natchu pinched the elastic waistband again and pushed the front ever lower. Gina aimed her big green eyes right at me, seeking help. I had nothing. We were in it now. Best to just ride this out.

The waistband slid over hairless olive skin until a wide shaft appeared. I stifled a grunt. The man had no pubic hair. Zip. My wife's eyes went to the veiny base of the tube and the elastic kept falling. Inch after inch of shaft emerged.

What's that myth about Asian men again?

Whatever, Natchu shattered it. Bit by bit the young man unveiled a cock any man would be proud to own. Big balls and a thick shaft, the underwear dropped away until a plump glans swung free, slightly pinker than the skin on the shaft. One of the women applauded. One of the men raised his drink in toast.

My wife just stared.

I did too, bouncing my eyes from his big dick to my wife's face. Gina had a look in her eye I couldn't name. Jealousy turned my mouth dry. What was she thinking?

"Let her touch it," one of the women said. "Maybe she finds out she likes Thai guys."

Everyone giggled. Natchu stepped closer to Gina. I clamped my teeth before I said something stupid. How far would Gina go? How far would I allow her to go? What would be my breaking point? If I spoke, I ruined everything for us both, but could I let Gina touch another man's dick for the sake of money?

Natchu stepped out of his boxers and threw them at one of the men. Everyone laughed, a little too hard. His long cock bounced and wobbled, swinging towards Gina close enough to make me suck a little air and hold my breath. This was insane. I've done a lot of sketching things chasing deals over the years, from strip clubs to brothels, but holy shit, this was something new. His dick was only an inch from her face.

"I love white women," he said again.

His fat and hairless testicles began to rise. Gina parted her lips. I was ready to yell at her and throw my drink at him. Her delicate hand, nails perfectly manicured and brilliant red, floated from her lap towards his cock. My lungs burned. When had this night gone wrong? Her pale graceful fingers curled around his chubby tube, denting the warm flesh.

"I feel your heartbeat," she said.

I saw blood rush to the head, darkening the pink flesh. Veins rose along the length. Natchu gently placed a hand on her long black hair and gazed at her pretty face.

"Now you feel my heartbeat race," he said. "Yes?"

Gina lifted her eyes to his. "Yes."

My wife tugged the loose skin towards the head and then back again because that's what a woman does when she gets a cock in her hand. She did it without thought. How many times had she jacked my dick in all our years of marriage? Now she held a new cock and she couldn't stop herself. She did it again, sliding her palm and fingers over his sensitive skin. He had risen to horizontal, no longer curved towards the floor.

I realized I'd spent an awkward amount of time staring at another man's penis but we weren't exactly at the gym. Besides, nobody cared. We were all staring at Natchu's schlong. I knew everyone in the room. We'd been competitors for years, chasing the same wealthy clients, crossing paths all around the world. They were staring and I'd look weird if I didn't. This was the first time the target had whipped his dick out.

Although Gina and I knew each of them, this was the first time Gina and I were in the same room at the same time with them. Everyone here knew us, but had no idea we were married to each other. In this moment, I was grateful for that.

Gina locked eyes with Natchu and leaned forward to kiss the swelling head. He chuckled. She may be playing his game but the desire in her eyes was real. I watched her full dark red lips spread across his skin. I saw the rosy lip print she left behind. One of the women called it sexy and it was, except it was my wife that had left the mark. My heart was a jackhammer. My mind raced for a way to interrupt without Natchu hating me for disturbing his moment.

Her dainty tongue traced a circle around her lips, wetting them, and my guts tightened. Was she going to put him in her mouth? We had an argument in our future and the farther she went, the louder I was going to be. The tip of her pink tongue snaked out again and traced a blue vein for several inches. Natchu's expression turned serious. His cock surged and his balls shifted inside their fleshy sack. Some of her black hair fell forward and obscured my view. She pressed her lips to his shaft again and I'm sure she licked his soft skin. I was ready to blow up. This was bullshit. His big cock pressed to her pretty face was almost more than I could bear.

A phone rang and we all looked at each other. A second ring and we turned to the source: Natchu's black sports coat draped over an arm of the couch. A third shrill and Natchu cursed in Laotian. He stepped away from Gina, who wiped her lips with the back of her hand and avoided my eyes, and felt around his coat until he found his phone. He answered, spoke calmly and respectfully, and then ended the call.

"My father requires my presence very early. I'm afraid we must end our party. I will see you tomorrow at noon. Perhaps one of you will be good enough to inform the gentlemen from Brighton Enterprises and Evers and May to attend?"

"I'll handle that," I offered, trying to hide my relief.

Natchu gave me a quick nod. He was furious. Daddy had ruined his good time, probably telling him sex with the other side hurt negotiations and to knock this shit off. We all thanked him for a pleasant evening and gathered our belongings. Outside the lobby our group piled into two cabs and pulled away from the building. Gina and I kept up the act as we dropped the others one by one. When only we two remained, she took my hand.

"Big dicks make girls do stupid shit," she said. "I'm sorry."

"I would hope so."

"I should've warned you, I'll do whatever it takes on this deal. My career is made if I land this whale. But I want to beat you so badly I lost track of myself."

"And your vows."

"Yes. I hate to lose. Can you forgive me?"

I stared out the window at the city sailing by. Light rain started to fall.

She continued. "You always win, Rusty. You're too good. I hate it. I need to beat you even if only once."

It was an appeal to my ego, which is salesmanship one-oh-one, but I also heard the real desire in her voice.

"I'm sorry, Baby," she said, pouring it on. "Truly. I'm high as fuck and not thinking straight. You know how horny I get on that stuff."

Horny. I knew she was pitching me, reminding me that horny meant I was about to get laid, distracting me with compliments and thoughts of sex. She really is an excellent salesperson.

"At least I stopped myself before I really went too far."

I sighed. She scooted closer and the cabbie darted a look in the rearview. She took my hand and led it to her plunging neckline and the warm firm curve of her naked breast. Her lips grazed my ear.

"If we shared the same hotel," she teased. "I'd take you to my room and fuck you. I'm crazy hot right now. Unfortunately, we both must wait."

She'd already moved on from her penis-kissing scandal. She'd rationalized it as win-at-all-costs despite the real want I saw in her eyes just an hour ago. What could I do? If I pressed the issue she'd hide behind that excuse and deny everything else. Did I want a huge fight while we were both working a potential client? No, I didn't, and she knew that. She knows me so well.

I leaned in to kiss her and remembered a split-second before contact where those lips had been. Natchu's big hanging cock flashed through my mind. Gina pressed her unfaithful lips to mine and blood rushed to my dick. She was right; we were both still way too high. I wrote this night off to the cost of war.

We rode in silence for a time, Gina's head on my shoulder. The rain turned heavy, smearing the city lights into a Van Gogh painting through the window. Gina traced a light finger along the length of my penis, sliding over my wool pants until she found the crown of my head.

"I expected you to stay angry longer," she murmured. "I'm glad you're not."

I tensed. She made a good point. Sometime during the last mile or two my anger had evaporated. I relaxed and turned my questioning mind inward. Why? Where had my rage gone? I spent long minutes soul searching but arrived nowhere.

"Why did you expect me to stay mad?" I asked.

Gina tilted her head to look at me and bounced her eyebrows.

"Because he's big," she said. "I know men. If he'd had a little mushroom, you wouldn't have cared at all. You may have found what happened funny. But with that much beef hanging in my face I knew you'd get pissed off."

That caught me by surprise. I pondered and decided she was right. My anger was proportional to his size. I felt like she'd revealed something about me I hadn't known. I wondered if this was a universal truth for men.

"How did you know that?" I asked. "How did you know I'd feel that way?"

She rubbed her palm over my crotch. "Men are fairly linear, Honey, and I work with a lot of them. I hear how you all talk. I know what matters to you guys. Even you have made comments over the years, mostly about guys you saw at the gym. Big boobs, big dicks, big ass; that shit matters to you."

She was right but I didn't like it. I felt exposed, like she knew me better than I knew myself. Or, worse, I was just like every man, predictable. My ego hated that idea.

"Women don't care about those things?"

"No, we do. We just keep our insecurities to ourselves."

I weighed her words. She was right. Again.

"That thing intimidated the shit out of me," I admitted. "It was a silent threat just hanging there. Like a weapon he'd use to steal you."

She squeezed my bulge. "I understand why you'd feel that, after the way I acted towards it, and all right in front of you."

"Exactly."

Another mile of silence and then she said: "My guess is he only gets a little longer but a lot thicker. He has a lot of loose skin. I bet he gets as thick as my wrist."

I sighed.

"Can my wife please stop talking about another man's penis? You are going to feel shitty tomorrow when you're no longer high and remember all the things you said and did tonight."

"You're right," she said, snuggling. "Sorry, Honey."

She drew down my zipper and withdrew my spongy dick. I was leaking and she rubbed the tip with her finger. I wondered what she was thinking, finding obvious signs of my arousal, despite my objections.

Chapter 2

By noon the next day the conference room was packed. The guys from Brighton Enterprises had added two members to their team and Evers and May had added three. The sharks were circling. Every corporate headquarters wanted this account badly.

Gina arrived dressed in a black skirt suit with white pinstripe. She looked stunning. Her top was conservatively buttoned to the neck yet still sexy as fuck.

Chartsiri Sophon entered the room moving like a freight train. Natchu followed behind with a cadre of bank officials. We took our seats and negotiations began, daddy firing off questions Natchu had never thought to ask. The man was a marvel. Thirty years at the top taught him what really matters. He was sharp and decisive.

The wisdom of gathering us in one room was quickly evident as the meeting felt more like an auction. Each potential investor heard what the other offered and raised the stakes, with Bangkok Bank the clear beneficiary. The battle raged until we broke for a light lunch.

Returning from the cafeteria with coffee, I saw two groups. In one, Chartsiri answered questions shot at him from a mob. In the other, I saw Gina speaking with Natchu, oblivious to the efforts to sway the older man. Either she'd given up or decided Natchu was the real path to the father. My gut clenched at a third alternative: maybe she was chasing that big cock. I stopped abruptly and sloshed my coffee. Where the fuck did that thought come from?

I joined the group peppering Chartsiri but stood so I could watch Gina. She'd gathered her long hair atop her head and anchored the bun with a pen. Her body said business conversation but her face told me a different story. They spoke in hushed tones and I think I knew why. A moment later she served up a crooked smile and dropped her gaze to his crotch. He matched her grin. I was too far away to hear but reading their lips was easy.

You liked it? he asked.

Yes, she answered. Very much.

Before I could catch her eye, the receptionist entered the room and spoke to Chartsiri. He scanned the group until he spotted me and then waved me closer.

"Your colleague has arrived," he said.

I looked at him funny.

"Your associate from the States. He's on his way to join you."

I shook my head, preparing a few questions, but before I could ask the door opened and there was Walter Garden, another salesman from Haight and Madison and a man I've worked with for years.

Shit.

Gina and I live a private life. No social media accounts and we avoid company get-togethers. Few coworkers have met Gina or even seen her, but Walt was one. His eyes swept the room looking for me and I counted down the seconds until he saw Gina. His eyes got big but he kept his expression blank. When he spotted me, he smiled and came forward, hand extended.

"Gibson thought you could use some backup," he explained. "So here I am."

I saw the question behind his eyes: What the fuck is Gina doing here?

This was bad. Incredibly bad. Terribly bad. Gibson, our boss, had sent Walter without telling me. Gina's presence only made it worse.

"Why?" I asked. "I've got things under control."

"We got word that the other players were sending backup so Gibson wanted you to have some too. A show of force, he called it. Why is your wife here? Isn't that a huge conflict of interest?"

I nodded. "This is not the first time I've faced her across the table. I always defeat her so it's no big deal."

Walter studied my face. We both knew if he opened his mouth to Gibson, I'd be in serious trouble. I should have declined this opportunity and let them send someone else. Too much was at stake.

"Why didn't Gibson tell me?" I asked.

"He did. Check your phone."

I did. Three missed calls and five missed text messages. I remembered silencing the volume during a slide presentation yesterday. I forgot to turn the volume up.

"So where do we stand?" Walter asked. "Get me up to speed. Are we going to close this thing or not?"

I explained the last few days, leaving out Gina's wanton display in the penthouse last night. He let me know Gibson was ready to cut company commission even deeper if it meant landing the account. That was good to know. My commission, and now Walt's too, would remain untouched.

Chartsiri announced lunch was over and moved us into a big conference room to accommodate all the new arrivals. Natchu invited Gina to take the seat next to him and Walter gave me a look.

Negotiations lasted five hours and they were intense. In the end, Chartsiri adjourned for the day, promising we'd meet again two days from today.

"In the meantime," he said. "Enjoy our lovely city."

The meeting broke up. Clumps of people formed as social and dinner plans were made. Normally Gina and I would pick some out of the way restaurant to meet and spend some time but when I scanned the room she was already gone.

"You hungry?" Walter asked.

I checked the room again. A door opened and I caught a glimpse of Gina moving quickly down the outside hallway with Natchu. He reached for her hand and she took his, lacing her fingers.

I might as well have been hit in the stomach with a baseball bat. Gina had flirted with a million men during our years of marriage. She's a saleswoman. It comes with the job. I never cared. She's never made me jealous.

Until now.

Her face, her body language, and the intimate way she was acting combined to knock the wind out of me. No way was this all a charade. No way she was this great an actress. The door slowly closed and I lost sight of them.

"Rusty?" Walter said, impatient. "Are you hungry?"

I was, but this required action.

"No," I said. "I need to make some calls. Go do your thing and I'll see you tonight. We'll grab dinner."

I left before he could start asking questions. The elevators ringing the atrium were glass so finding the one that contained Gina was easy. I took the stairs, looping around the stairwell quickly to keep up. I got to the lobby before them. They climbed in a cab and I followed a few cars behind. Within a few blocks I knew where they were headed. The cab dropped them at Gina's hotel.

I searched my texts. A few days ago, Gina and I had exchanged travel information so I knew exactly which room she was in. I waited in the bar to give them time and then hit the stairs again. I approached her room carefully, listening closely. I heard them talking but not what was said. I scanned the hallway and then pressed my ear to the door.

"You are very beautiful," I heard Natchu say.

"Why do you keep saying that?" Gina asked. "Are you trying to seduce me?"

"Can you be seduced?"

I held my breath for her answer but if she spoke it was too low for me to hear.

"Wait here," she told him after a minute. "I need to change."

I left the door and continued down the hallway. Gina was about to undress with a man in her suite. Could he be trusted? Could she? I climbed one flight at the end and sat on a step.

Where are you? I typed. Lost you after the meeting.

I was setting her up. Would she lie? She had a handsome and dashing young man in her suite. Would she tell me?

I came back to my hotel room, she sent.

Score one point for honesty.

Alone? I asked.

I held my breath again. If she was going to lie, now would be the time.

No. Why would you ask that?

Score another point for motherfucking honesty. My heart bounced all over the place and my hands were sweaty.

A hunch. I typed. With whom?

I paused a moment over the send button. Gina has been alone with men a thousand times. Hotel rooms and dinners and golf courses are where the deals are really made. Not board rooms. Not offices. I've always trusted her. She's always been faithful and so have I.

So, what was different this time?

My finger trembled a quarter-inch above the button. I did some fast soul-searching. The answer was obvious, once I stopped lying to myself.

Natchu is handsome but she's been around a ton of handsome guys. He's smart but the same is true about that. He has an amazing body and yes, Gina has a weak spot for muscles, but again, she's still trustworthy.

It was his Goddamn cock.

I'm a caveman. In the most basic and primitive way, I was intimidated and frightened. How embarrassing. In a subconscious way, I doubted Gina's ability to resist him. She'd kissed and stroked it, going much farther with him than she'd ever gone with another man and showing me her natural weakness. It was the only thing that made sense. She'd encountered his other qualities before without a problem. I know she was desperate to beat me this time but that wasn't enough to explain her behavior.

I hit send.

You're standing outside my hotel room, aren't you? she answered.
You know damn well with whom.

Smart girl.

No, I wrote. I'm hiding in the stairwell at the end of your hall like the insecure husband I am.

I waited. What would she do? After a minute of silence, I heard her door open and Natchu say he'd see her later tonight. I waited until he entered the elevator and the doors closed and the floor count started to drop. I knocked once on Gina's door.

She opened the door nude, her robe in a pile on the floor.

"Did he see this view too?" I asked.

She grabbed my shirt and pulled me into the room, kissing me hard. I returned the kiss for a long moment and then pulled away.

"Did he?" I asked again.

My gaze traveled her body. I looked at her as I imagined he had, seeing her not as my wife of many years but a new and gorgeous woman. Her large breasts hang a bit under their own weight but her nipples sit high and point upward. Her stomach is flat, her skin smooth, her pussy closely trimmed and now swollen with excitement. Her tiny inner lips protruded slightly. I saw her as some babe I'd picked up at a bar. She was the ultimate one-night stand. Green eyes, gorgeous face, wavy long black hair, all on a tight and petite frame.

A strange sense of regret rushed through me. I was confused until I realized I felt badly about cock-blocking Natchu. I shook my head but the feeling remained. I knew exactly how much he would want a woman like this and as odd as it seems, I felt shitty for denying him. I remembered his walk to the elevator, head hanging, shoulders rounded. His disappointment was clear. I understood this was an odd reaction for a husband to have but there it was.

This rush of new thoughts and emotions triggered a cascade of awareness. My mind jumped up a level as I realized how complacent we'd become. When did we stop talking about feelings and switch to gossip? We stopped exploring ourselves and each other and instead chatted about current events or television shows. We were married but utterly distracted. We loved each other but prioritized our careers.

"What are you thinking?" Gina asked. "You haven't looked at me with eyes that hungry for a long, long time."

"You're breathtaking," I said. "And I need to apologize from the bottom of my heart. I've taken for granted how exquisite you are."

Her cheeks flushed. "Damn, Rusty, I was already going to try for a quickie. Now I want us to take all night."

We kissed passionately and she helped me undress. I was already hard when my briefs came down. Her eyes got big and she fell to her knees, slipping my engorged knob into her hot wet mouth. I groaned, truly seeing her pretty face for the first time in a long time, watching my erection slipping in and out as she sucked.

"Did Natchu see you naked?" I gasped, refusing to let it go.

She stopped but kept me in her mouth, mind racing. What did she think of me right then? What husband asks that question during a blowjob? For that matter, what husband doesn't pound on the hotel room door, demanding she open? Wouldn't most men have confronted her? How many would go hide on the stairs and text? She had to be weighing these same thoughts.

She slipped me out of her mouth. "No," she muttered. "You prevented that."

I groaned, crazy waves of excitement sloshing inside me. What was happening? Gina felt my penis surge and groaned along with me. She slipped my dick in again. I closed my eyes, savoring her astonishing skills.

She would have exposed herself to him? I wondered. Would she be sucking his big cock if I'd not interrupted?

A bucket of adrenaline dumped into my bloodstream. My penis swelled and hardened. Gina moaned and sucked faster. I opened my eyes, gazing wildly around the room. Terror filled me, standing shoulder to shoulder with sexual excitement. I was going to climax in record time.

Then my eyes landed on Natchu's cell phone, resting comfortably on the coffee table. I took a moment to recognize what I was looking at. Just when understanding crept into my mind, someone knocked on her hotel room door. We froze. I pointed at the phone and she almost panicked.

"Hide in the shower," she whispered, her voice stressed.

Natchu spoke through the door. "Gina, I'm sorry, I forgot my phone."

"Go!" she hissed at me. "We cannot be seen together."

She was right. I collected my clothes and hurried behind the shower curtain, standing in the tub. I heard her open the door and a murmur of voices.

"There it is," Natchu said clearly. I heard him cross the room and retrieve his phone. "Oops," he added. "Your robe has loosened."

"How embarrassing," Gina stammered.

Silence descended like an oppressive fog. What was happening out there? I heard a shuffling of fabric and a low thump. Was that her robe hitting the ground? I was out of the tub and creeping towards the bathroom door before I knew it. I peered through a gap, careful to remain hidden.

Gina stood with her eyes squeezed shut, arms at her sides, hands balled into fists. She was naked, her white terry robe in a ring around her ankles. Natchu slowly circled, eyes eating her alive.

"You are more beautiful nude," he said. "Few women are."

I swear I saw a shiver of excitement race up her spine.

"Please," she begged. "I'm married."

She made no move to cover herself. Natchu took another lap, drinking in every inch of her sexiness. His bulge was obvious but Gina still had her eyes closed so she missed it. I didn't. It looked obscene, like a stupid joke some frat boy would pull; ha ha I stuffed a sausage down my pants. Isn't it hilarious? But it was no joke. The outline of his cock was clear. I wanted Gina to open her eyes and see it too. It only seemed right. An impressive lump like that deserves some recognition. Hell, it deserved a trophy.

The regret from earlier came rushing back, this time for her. I felt like the only barrier between these two hot and sexy people was me, and it felt shitty. I found myself hoping Gina would open her eyes, see what I saw, get excited and reach out to him. My mind could not take the next step and picture actual sex between them, but it sure brushed up against the idea.

I took a deep breath and carefully retreated to the tub again. After a few minutes, I heard him leave. I used those minutes well, thinking deep thoughts and following a line of reasoning which had only just occurred. My idea that fit perfectly with what we were doing and where we now found ourselves, all while providing an out if we discovered we needed one. I smothered a grin.

Footsteps told me Gina approached. She pulled the shower curtain back, wrapped once more in her thick terry robe.

"I know you want this win," I said. "But no way am I just handing it over to you."

"I expect nothing less," she said.

I took a deep breath. This was the pivotal moment. "But," I continued. "I am willing to let you use every weapon in your arsenal."

She gave me a funny look, thought for a moment, looked at me funny again and then opened her robe, exposing that incredible body, the body Natchu had just feasted his eyes on.

"Every weapon?" she asked, acting the femme fatale.

I stepped closer and slid a finger through her slit, dipping into her smoldering pussy. She was soaked. I stuck it in my mouth, sucking it clean.

"Everything," I confirmed. "Anything. Beat me if you can."

That still wasn't answer enough for her, which told me exactly where her mind had gone. She wanted crystal clarity, not hints and innuendo.

"You're saying everything's on the table?"

"Yes."

"Everything?"

"Yes."

She leaned against me, big hot tits pressing my skin. "I can seduce him?"

I swallowed in a throat gone dry. "Yes."

"I can suck his cock?"

"Yes."

She rose on her tiptoes and kissed my lips softly. "I can fuck him?"

Her words stole my breath.

"Yes," I croaked.

She stepped back, suddenly serious, arms folded under her tits.

"Why?"

"It's complicated," I said.

I explained as best I could. I told her about my epiphany, the moment of insight when I saw her as a woman and not just my wife. I told her about seeing her as if through another man's eyes and how stunning, how incredibly sexy she is.

"I felt guilty," I added. "I saw you in this new way and knew how badly Natchu must want you. It's clear you also want him and I felt responsible. I know that sounds odd and I'm doing my best to clarify, I felt shitty for being the roadblock. You two have obvious chemistry and since we're far from home and fighting each other for the win, it just seemed to flow naturally for me. Our contest gives us the perfect stage. When this is over and we head home, the old rules apply, but for now, in pursuit of this monster account, I give you permission to use all your skill, all your natural talent, all the gifts you possess to beat me. If you do, we'll know it was truly your win and not because I held you back in any way."

Her right foot started tapping her toes. "You'll get jealous."

"Without question," I agreed. "I already have, several times, but it fuels a manic rush of lust instead of anger."

"You get jealous and that turns you on?"

"Wildly."

She nodded slowly. "That fits. I wondered about your muted reactions the last few days. That night I kissed his dick and you wanted to talk about it in the car on the ride home left me dumbstruck. I couldn't believe it."

She extended her hand. I took it. We shook.

"May the better salesperson win," she said.

I smiled and gave her a nod, then unzipped my pants and withdrew my penis.

"Now, where were we before Natchu interrupted us?"

She stared at my penis for a moment and then stepped back, smiling broadly. I've seen that smile devastate men. She shrugged the robe off, standing gloriously naked before me.

"Sorry, Baby," she said. "The game has started. We're opponents now and the psychological warfare has begun. Take a long last look at me and remember this was your idea."

Chapter

Doubts? Hell yes.

I'd spent my entire adult life in sales and I knew that had jaded me. I see every situation in terms of what I can get out of it or how to turn it to my advantage. Even my marriage to Gina. I'd slowly sank to the bottom and stayed there. I hadn't seen her as anything other than my trophy wife for years.

One moment had opened my eyes. She's powerfully sexy. She oozes sex appeal. I liked what it said about me to have her for my wife, but never thought beyond that. I was happy. That was all that mattered to me. If I was happy then Gina was happy too because she's my wife and loves me, right? My happiness is what matters.

Selfish dumbass.

In an instant, the chains had been shattered. Gina is living her life too. She's not just some supporting actress in mine. I felt like I saw her, really saw her, for the first time.

If she wanted Natchu as much as he wanted her, I was going to get out of the way. Nothing permanent, mind you. Gina and I are happy. We want to grow old together. But there is so much more to life. All I needed was courage and a little faith.

But, yeah, doubts.

Lucky for me, the excitement I felt far outweighed the fear. We'd talked more about my crazy idea before I slipped out of her hotel room but we'd left plenty of things unsaid. We avoided stating rules or describing scenarios. We agreed to view this as a contest, one that had a definite end. Once someone landed the Bangkok Bank account, our battle was over.

Gina was as thrilled and nervous as me.

I rode the elevator to the street and then a cab to my hotel. My phone buzzed as I crossed the lobby and checked the message. Walter still wanted to eat.

Holy shit, Walter. I'd left him completely out of my equation. What if Gina played the game right in front of him? I'd send Gina a text and explain the complication. She'd need to be careful if Walt was around. No way did we want word of our escapade traveling to the States with us.

I answered Walter, agreeing to meet for dinner, and began formulating what I would say about my wife chasing the same account as me. Walt's a good guy. I knew I could trust him.

Chapter

It was almost nine when my phone and Walter's phone buzzed at the same time. I knew all over the city other phones were doing the same. Natchu had sent a group text, telling us to meet at the same bar we had two nights ago. He was in the mood to party. I searched through the list of recipients and spotted Gina's name. I was pleased to see he'd not invited everyone, just the people that could have a good time.

"You coming?" I asked Walt.

"Why not?" he said. "I'm old but not dead. Let's see what Pattaya City has to offer. If I get tired, I'll take a cab back to our hotel."

We all met at the bar. The crowd was half the size of a few nights ago.

"I guess they can't keep up with Natchu," Natchu said.

His Thai friends weren't with him tonight. Only people from the negotiations. The bar was split down the middle with straight people drinking and dancing on one side and an alternative crowd drinking and dancing on the other.

Some of the most beautiful women on the planet are actually Thai men. Their reputation as hot shemales is unsurpassed. The alternative side was painted fluorescent pink and packed with black lights. K-Pop music blared and strobes assaulted the eyes. A stage ran along the back wall and only the sexiest girls with the biggest cocks could dance there. I'm not into that scene but even I could see the raw sexuality on display.

Over on my side the bar was more sedate. Black walls and crystal chandeliers, high-back booths covered in rich leather, and gorgeous women dressed as French maids prowled between the tables.

I surveyed the crowd but Gina wasn't with us. I felt a strange mix of relief and disappointment. I knew I couldn't ask about her without raising suspicion so I let it go. When the French maid waitress came by. I gave her my drink order.

For ten or fifteen minutes, we all talked shop. A few of us related our worst story as a salesman and we all shared a good laugh. A Chinese man I knew only in passing coughed into his drink.

"Wow," he said, accent thick. "Look at her."

We all turned.

Gina descended the short steps from the door into the bar. She wore a tight red dress I'd never seen before, so short she flashed red panties coming down the stairs. The fabric was stitched to follow the curves of her body and a gathered thread ran under the full roundness of each breast like a soft W. The material was so thin the raised circle of each areola was obvious. She'd spent time on hair and makeup and all of us, even the three German women, stopped and stared.

I sent my gaze to Natchu. He looked ready to eat her with a knife and fork. He quickly stood and moved to take her hand, guiding her past the others to sit next to him. Conversation resumed around the table. I tried to hold Walter's eyes but he kept jumping between Gina and me, a burning question behind them.

Over the next hour, the double bar filled with people. Some of our group broke away to visit the shemale side. A Canadian fellow, who I've never seen close a deal in all the years we've competed, invited Walter and me to join them. I said no thanks but Walter went along and I lost him in the crowd. I swung my attention to Gina and Natchu but they were lost in conversation, faces close. One of the German women leaned towards me and cupped her hand to her mouth.

"She's wearing a wedding ring," she muttered, just loud enough for me to hear.

"Yes," I said.

"Do you know her? Have you met her husband?"

"Yes, once. He's a nice guy. Hell of a salesman."

She sneered. "Well his wife's a slut. Tell him next time you meet him."

"You betcha."

She turned to her friends leaving me the odd man out. Gina and Natchu were enthralled with each other and I found myself alone in a crowd. I sipped my beer, stealing glances at my wife. She'd moved until she almost sat in his lap, her ankle across his, his hand resting lightly on her inner thigh. I swear the air crackled between them. Given a green light, Gina was chasing her desire.

Natchu pulled a small vial from his jacket pocket and tapped a line of white powder on the table. He owned this city. He gave Gina an American hundred-dollar bill and she rolled a tube, snorting the fine dust. Natchu did the same. The German ladies left the table and Natchu offered me the tube but I waved him off. Gina had not so much as glanced in my direction. He took her left hand and toyed with her ring.

"You're married?" he asked.

"I don't care," she purred.

They kissed, Gina holding his handsome face with both hands. His hand dropped to her leg and slipped under her dress. She sucked air in a hiss when he made contact. I looked away, searching both bars looking for Walter. I didn't see him. When I brought my attention back to the lovebirds, I discovered Gina was gone, vanished as if teleported. I was dumbfounded for an instant and then I saw her black hair below the line of the table. Like so many porn clichés, she'd slipped beneath.

My temperature shot up and sweat broke out on my upper lip. Was she sucking his cock? Natchu grinned at me like a wolf and leaned back enough to show me the back of my wife's head rising and falling. When I didn't look away embarrassed, Natchu carefully lifted her hair out of the way.

Gina's sweet lips were stretched around his smooth shaft. Saliva coated him, sparkling in the flashing lights. He nudged her cheek and she came almost all the way off, holding the tip just inside her mouth. Her cheeks suddenly dented and he moaned softly and pushed on the back of her head, forcing his cock deep into her mouth. Gina slid his shaft to the back of her throat and lodged it there.

I knew exactly what he was feeling.

What I was feeling shocked the shit out of me. I'd never seen something so hot. My wife had another man's cock buried in her esophagus, spit drooling around the shaft and soaking his pants, cheeks pulling in as she sucked hard on the sperm in his balls. I'd never been more turned on. I was as shocked by my reaction as I was by what Gina had done. Natchu checked on the others to avoid discovery. Satisfied, he jerked his chin at me.

"You want some?" he asked.

My answer was instant. "Hell yes."

He tilted Gina's chin until their eyes met. "Go suck Rusty's cock," he told her.

I heard her maneuvering under the table and then felt her hands on my zipper.

"American's have a funny view of marriage," Natchu said.

"This woman is the only one I'd ever cheat with," I replied. "She's stunning. I wanted her the moment I saw her."

I knew Gina could hear me by the vacuum hold she got on my dick. Good Lord. She can take every inch of me and did all at once. I bent over the table and Natchu chuckled.

"She's skilled," he offered. "I learned of her talents earlier today."

Gina heard Natchu and sucked hard, trying to distract me from that revelation.

"When?" I mumbled. Gina scraped her teeth along my shaft.

"At her hotel room. We were interrupted by her husband's text."

Natchu was proud. He was boasting about the gorgeous American woman who had sucked his cock. He wanted everyone to know he'd scored with her. I felt the tip of my dick bump the back of her throat and exhaled. Her mouth felt amazing. I felt a wildness rising, a wicked recklessness. I'd asked if he'd seen her naked and she said no, which was true. She'd gone straight for his big dick. She hadn't lied, technically, but she'd hidden a great deal. I now suspected my text hadn't just interrupted a blowjob, I'd probably stopped my wife from fucking him. My wife was going to cheat on me before I came into her room and gave her my permission. Since she wanted to play rough, so would I.

"You should take her back to her hotel room and fuck her," I said. "Fuck her for me. Fuck her for all the faithful traveling salesmen who've seen her and desired her but dutifully went home to their wives."

Gina practically sucked the skin off my dick. She'd just heard me hand her over to another man. Natchu clapped his hands.

"You are right," he said. "Let's see who wants to come with us."

I tried to think of a way to talk him out of that. I wanted them to leave together, right now, and say nothing. I sure as fuck didn't want Walt to get invited.

"No," I said, regretfully pulling my penis from her vacuuming mouth. "The fewer people that know, the better. Just go. I'll cover for you."

He thought I was being a stand-up guy. Goof. He reached across the table and shook my hand. "After you leave here, come by her room. Number nine-forty-two at the Radisson. I want to fuck her for you. For all the salesmen."

Gina slithered from beneath the table and took a spot next to him again. She looked drunk on lust. Her nipples were rocks pointed at the ceiling.

"Yes, come by," she said. "I'd love an audience. Come to my room and see this stud fuck me unconscious."

"All right," I agreed, my sense of recklessness surging. "Let me get rid of the others and I'll see you there."

I left the table searching for Walter. I cared nothing if the rest of the group saw Gina and Natchu leave together but Walt could cause some serious damage. I circled the pink bar, working my way towards the back. A beautiful shemale gyrated to a slow beat, dressed in a miniskirt but with a four-pound cock swinging between her legs. Her face was striking, her big tits perfect. Straight black hair hung to her knees. Minus the huge cock, I would have found this person attractive. She saw me looking and lifted her dick to aim it at me. She laughed as she stroked a few times. Her penis looked as big around as a soda can and yeah, I stared at it. The thing was freakish, how could I not?

My path carried me beyond the stage and I saw a cluster of my colleagues in a booth getting a lap dance. This girl's penis wasn't as big but still dwarfed mine. What the hell? Do they hire them by the inch? She was pretty too.

I approached the group looking for Walter but he wasn't there. I let them know Natchu called it a night and they just laughed and waved me away. I walked the entire bar but no Walter. Did he find a hot ladyboy and leave?

Back at the table our glasses had been cleared away and the tab paid.

I had a decision to make.

I stared at the dirty carpet. Before, when I'd try to imagine Gina engaged in sex with someone, my cowardly mind had retreated. Then I saw Natchu's big cock in her mouth. I tried to picture him between her open legs and boom, my mind had no problems this time. Blood surged to my penis. I didn't understand it. I didn't try to understand it. Something was going on for me, something tectonic, and my gut told me to just embrace the change. Gina is sexy as fuck. It would be exciting to watch her have sex. My heartbeat doubled.

Watch Gina have sex, I thought.

I turned the idea over, examining the concept. Fireworks exploded in my head. My brain lit up like a Christmas tree. Something I'd been unable to imagine just yesterday now sounded like an amazing idea. In fact, I wanted to see it.

I realized sometime in the last hour I'd made up my mind. I couldn't name the exact moment, maybe it was his dick in her mouth, but something had changed. My heart raced. My palms were slick. This was really happening.

Outside I caught a cab to the Radisson.

Chapter

On the ride over I replayed the images of Gina sucking Natchu's cock under the table. The more I thought about it, the hotter I got. She'd been so willing, so eager, and it wasn't just to rub my nose in it. I saw it on her face. She was hot for him. She wanted to suck his cock. Desperately.

That told me how attractive she found the man, which was far more threatening, but which only served to make me hotter. Jealousy wrapped icy fingers around my intestines. The worse I felt, the more aroused I became.

Several times I completely flipped and decided to withdraw my offer to Gina and call the whole thing off. That wasn't actually an option, but I thought it anyway. I'd get scared, fearful he'd take her from me forever, and then a calm voice in my head would tell me to shut up. Seconds later I was horny again.

I rode the elevator to the ninth floor and padded down the hall. It was late and her hotel was quiet. I pressed my ear to that door for the second time and was rewarded with a feminine groan. My mouth went dry. That was Gina's voice. I tapped on the door and waited, then tapped again, harder. I heard footsteps. The peep hole darkened.

Walter, naked and erect, opened the door. My stomach hit the floor.

He was flabby and he was hairy, most of it gone to gray. His chest was a blanket of white. His dick had a sharp curve to it so the thing pointed at the ceiling.

"Come in," he said, guilty eyes dropping. "Natchu said you'd join us."

I entered the room, legs trembling. What the fuck was Walter doing here? This was bullshit. I knew already he'd try to say Natchu insisted so he was forced to play along but Walter has eyed Gina for years. Backstabbing motherfucker. He saw his opportunity and seized it, knowing I couldn't say shit because Gina wasn't even supposed to be here. I was sure Natchu had invited him and Walter knew he could hide behind the charade Gina and I had concocted. My brain began working on how to get him the fuck away from her.

My wife was naked, on the bed, on her back, her head hanging off the foot. Natchu was between her knees, also naked, stroking his large erection with one hand and playing with his own nipple with the other. He looked pleased to see me.

"Join us," he said, smiling. "I insist. The more merrier, as you Americans say."

I shook my head but didn't correct him. "Happily married, sir, but thanks anyway."

Natchu gave Walter a nod and my old colleague stepped closer to Gina, straddling her head. Gina looked at the fat and hairy ball sack hanging over her face, her smile frozen.

I was right. Natchu had invited Walter too and how could Walt say no? What man would refuse? He risked making Natchu suspicious, that's true, but I'll give a thousand to one odds Walter barely protested at all. I'd ask Gina later but for now we were in it. Walter must have gotten back to the table before me and rode with them.

My old friend met my eyes, worried, guilty, and something else. He bent his knees and forced his dick down, aiming his old penis at Gina's face. She laughed.

I knew the coke helped but so did the absurdity of our situation. Walt looked hurt, wondering how she could laugh in this moment, but that didn't slow the descent of his penis. She circled his big thighs with her arms and opened her mouth wide. His guilty expression evaporated. He'd known Gina for years and lusted after her like every man. Now he got to watch as his throbbing cock slipped into her hot mouth, her lips enveloping his head. The motion in her cheek told me she was swirling her tongue. Walter's legs almost gave out.

"Christ," he muttered.

His gaze was riveted to the spectacle. Gina was sucking his cock. Gina. He bent his knees a little more and sank inches into her mouth. His balls, covered in stiff gray hair, parted on her nose and covered each eye. She laughed around his ancient prick.

"Where's that coke?" I asked.

Natchu jerked his head towards a pile of clothing on the couch. I searched his jacket, found the vial, tapped out a line and blasted my membranes. It hit my bloodstream almost instantly. Good shit, but then again he is a billionaire's son.

"Bring me some," Natchu said.

I held a tiny pile under his nose. He sucked it in and growled. I was close to the bed now, looking down on my wife. She'd shaved her pussy anticipating tonight and that sent a dagger through my heart. Her legs rested outside his thighs, her pussy an open invitation, his to take whenever he saw fit. He released his dick to run both hands up her shapely limbs and she shivered. At the top, he used his thumbs to pull her labia apart, showing me her dripping insides.

"Look how badly she wants dick," he gloated.

He was right. My wife was soaked. His cock stood proud and firm, curling back on itself until the tip, several inches past his belly button, almost touched his abs. His erection was so much bigger than mine. Gina was really going to feel this. Good. I wanted her to. I had no idea what deep dungeon these recent thoughts had crawled from but I welcomed them. The coke helped.

"Get out of those clothes," Natchu told me. "You only live once. I know you want to stay faithful to your wife but you can still join us in bed. Maybe get your dick sucked like Old Walt."

I turned my head. Walter had his hands on Gina's big round tits, kneading them as he fucked her mouth hole. He was loving this. With a gasp, I realized he wouldn't stay in her mouth forever. There was a high probability Walter was going to fuck my wife. I saw no way out of it. My mind raced ahead to us back in the States, company picnics and Christmas parties. Would he try again? We avoided events like that but would he insist we attend so he had another shot with Gina? He had some vicious blackmail material on us now.

I studied his dick. His beer belly made it hard to gauge but after a moment I decided he was bigger than me too. Not by a lot in length but in girth there was a large difference. Gina was going to feel him too.

"Hurry up," Natchu said, pulling me back to the moment. "She's ready."

Walk out or strip, my brain said. I debated a full two seconds. Moments later I was naked, crawling on the bed with a growing hard on. Natchu leaned over her, smiling at her face.

"I'm going to have Walter fuck you first. I need his cum as lube or my big cock will hurt you. I've done this before, okay?"

We all watched Gina for a reaction.

"All right," she exhaled, turning to me. "Eat my pussy," she pleaded. "No one will tell your wife. Get me ready for these men. Get my juices flowing so I can take them easily. Something tells me you eat pussy like an angel."

Bitch. She knows I love doing that and never refuse her. She was sinking the dagger deep. Natchu pushed her left leg wide open, providing me a path to her cunt. I slid on my belly and faced her bare pussy. I looked up her body and watched Walter's dick plunge in and out of her mouth. I buried my face in her taint and licked down to her asshole. She loves it when I'm nasty. I felt Natchu move over me and fasten his mouth to her clit. Together we licked and sucked until she was writhing on the bed.

She spits Walter out to draw a huge breath and then cries out in orgasm. Nat and I didn't care. We just kept eating, making her crazy. She rode her climax until she finally came down and then Natchu pulled away, leaving her pussy to me. I fucking feasted. I was still tormented by what we were doing, desperately uncomfortable with sharing her, but too turned on by it all to stop.

Soon I was back at her asshole, flicking my tongue inside her sphincter, when I felt the bed move and knew the men were changing positions. I wiggled my tongue two inches up her ass.

Without warning an impatient Walter straddled her body and dipped his cock towards her pussy. My head was smashed into the bed. His hairy scrotum smothered my ear as I tilted my head to breathe. Dumbass. He lowered his weight and from only inches away I saw his hard dick penetrate my wife. I cursed the twist of fate that had brought us here. Gina's cunt expanded to envelope the fleshy horn and I heard her groan under the old man's weight. Walter, in his haste to be inside this gorgeous woman, thrust forward, dragging his nuts across the corner of my mouth, grazing my lips. I lurched away, pushing and shoving to freedom. He was oblivious, grunting with each thrust, fucking Gina like he'd wanted to fuck her for years and years.

I rubbed my neck and leaned back with Natchu. Walter was a beast, humping Gina like an animal. He may have known her a long time but there was no affection, no intimacy, no concern for her at all. He was getting off inside the hottest woman he knew and could not believe his dumb fucking luck. I couldn't either.

To my surprise, Gina liked it. His desire was all-consuming and that made her feel desired. She was clearly the inspiration for Walt's runaway lust. I guess if some girl I'd known for years went wild on me in bed I'd like it too.

Walter brought his legs inside and she coiled her firm thighs around his waist. She tangled her fingers in his thinning hair and yanked his face close.

"Fuck me hard, old man," she growled. "You gotta fat dick. Use it."

Walter looked shocked. I was shocked. Natchu chuckled. Walter moved his hands to her waist and rabbit-fucked until he was bruising her kidneys. She groaned with a mixture of pleasure and pain but held on, enjoying his misuse of her hot body. No way he would last long and he didn't.

"Oh God!" he cried at the first sign. "Fuck, Gina, I'm gonna to cum in you!"

Yeah, those words hit hard. All at once what we were doing slammed me right between the eyes. Holy shit, Walter was about to pump Gina full of cum.

Walt, for fuck's sake. Walt.

I took a sudden and involuntary step forward to pull them apart and then remembered I dare not. I had to take this just like she did.

Walter bellowed like a cow that had been stabbed. His narrow hips and flat butt went wild. They held each other tightly and I cringed, knowing his dick was shooting her with hot sperm. Walter's cum was inside my wife! God, he would have this over me forever. He flopped around and Gina held on until he slowed and finally stopped. For a second I worried he'd died. She pushed on his shoulder, rolling his dead weight to the side. I watched in slow motion as his veiny shank slithered from her tight hole, pulling her inner lips into a pink volcano until they expanded around the head and then collapsed on themselves. Semen leaked until her pussy sealed itself.

She looked at Natchu. "Your turn," she said.

I'll be honest, I've never seen that look in her eyes. She wanted this handsome stud badly. She probably viewed Walter as the price she had to pay to have Natchu and she was ready to collect. She dropped her gaze between her thighs and marveled at the king-size erection throbbing there. I stared at it too.

All at once I realized I'd made a terrible mistake. Walter was bad, my brain said, but this was worse. Walt was a complication but Natchu was a threat. I never should have given Gina consent to win at all costs. I was unprepared for the horror of another man between my wife's legs. The idea seemed sexy at the time, like a wild and playful adventure, but this was brutal reality. His big hard cock was a destructive weapon about to demolish my perfect life and probably my marriage too.

I would question myself a long time over the decision.

Gina kept that ravenous look glued to his meat. "You have the most beautiful cock I've ever seen," she told him. "I want it as much as I'm afraid of it."

Natchu laughed. He was the master of the moment. Calm and utterly in control, I wondered how many married women he'd seduced over the years. He had looks, money, power, and a big dick. Women had no chance against this guy.

"I understand," he said, reassuring my wife. "Trust me, I know how to use it. Just to be sure, though, let's have Rusty get you nice and wet. I'd ask Walter but you've devastated him. He's of no use to anyone."

I looked at the mass of pale collapsed flesh. Yep. He may as well have been dead. Sex with Gina had wiped him out. Then I realized what Natchu was saying.

"What?" I asked.

"Get her wet," he said again. "Use your mouth as before."

But Walter just came in there, I thought.

"All around the outside," Natchu insisted, guessing my hesitation. He met my eyes. My father's account is still up for grabs, he seemed to be thinking. Don't disappoint me.

I looked at her bald lips. She'd closed after Walter's exit and now looked pink and tempting. Her outer lips were sealed. Swollen with arousal, yes, but hiding his liquid deposit. Natchu waited. I faced Gina. A coy smile played with her lips. She hadn't anticipated this turn and wondered what I'd do, enjoying my discomfort. She opened her legs several inches.

"I'd love to feel your tongue again," she teased. "Your wife's a lucky woman."

Bitch.

I rested my head on her lower stomach, facing her legs and Natchu's pulsing rod. She placed her hands on the back of my head and nudged me lower. Soon his thighs and balls came into view. I felt the drop-off under my cheek. My mouth was just above her clitoris and I sent my tongue to explore.

"Wonderful," Natchu breathed. He was getting off on the power he held over us.

I found her slit and followed it to the hooded clit at the top. She sucked air.

"Jesus," she sighed. "That feels amazing."

I circled the nub and carefully licked lower, alert for any sign of Walter residue. No way was I getting any of him in my mouth. Everything I touched sent powerful shivers through Gina. I went lower, flicking her inner lips and making her claw the bed. I closed my eyes, tracing all around her familiar pussy. I love eating Gina and under different circumstances I'd devour her, especially right now as her pussy seemed incredibly extra sensitive. I love what I can do to her. I ran my tongue over her clit and fastened my lips, sucking hard, drawing blood into the little bump. She groaned like an orgasm approached so I sucked harder.

Natchu eased his steely cock into her hole, sliding along my slippery cheek. I froze but Gina cried out, hammered between two intense pleasures. Natchu's lower abs pinned me against my wife, leaving me room to continue licking but withdrawing my head would take effort. He curled his hips, burying several inches and my wife moaned loudly. I instinctively sucked her clit again and she sobbed.

"God!" she cried. "Don't stop, don't stop..."

I raked my bumpy taste buds across her vulnerable nub and her body tensed.

"Fuck!" she yelled, followed by unintelligible gurgling from her throat. My wife was having a forced orgasm. Natchu pushed deeper and Gina howled.

I opened my eyes.

I've never been so close to a cock before. I saw tight skin stretched over pulsing veins, Gina's lips clinging to his fat circumference as he eased in and out. Her excitement and desire coated him, lubricating and encouraging. I listened to the moans of her surprise climax. My wife was cumming hard.

Natchu sank every inch and I had to move my head out of the way. Gina lost her mind. Her cunt was forced into a large O, struggling to expand enough to envelope him. He impaled her and she loved it. He leaned his torso away and I moved in again, teasing her exposed clit and driving her insane. I was conflicted when my wife came again. Jesus, what was his cock doing to her?

Walter came around enough to offer his soft dick to her mouth but she shoved him away and he didn't try again.

We all ignored him.

Natchu fucked smooth and strong and Gina grabbed my hair, forcing my mouth on her pussy. She hooked a leg around Natchu. He chuckled, enjoying what he was doing to her. Gina clenched when he sent one stroke far up into her and pushed my head down. My writhing tongue grazed his meat and he gasped.

"Yeah," he murmured. "Like that."

Nope. Accidentally licking his dick in the middle of crazy hot sex is one thing, intentionally licking a man's cock is another.

Moments later it happened again. He was fucking Gina hard and she was clawing at my head and he zigged while I zagged. Boom, my tongue slithered along his pounding inches as he buried his cock in my wife yet again.

I gave up trying to avoid him. What was the point now? I didn't seek his dick but instead focused on pleasing Gina, ignoring the occasional contact between the men. We worked her like a Thai whore, ripping orgasms from the poor girl before she knew what hit her. Soon she was a blithering idiot, prisoner of her own spasming pussy, slave to the waves of sensation crashing all over her. I lost track of time. We all did, I think. When I felt his cock begin to expand, I knew something was about to happen. He was driving his thick member balls-deep on every thrust and grunting loudly. Gina felt the change too.

"Give it to meeee," she wailed. "Cum in meeee."

Nothing snaps you back to the moment like hearing your wife say those words to a man that is not you. Jesus. I heard a roaring in my ears. An instant later I heard Natchu groan loudly and felt his hips jerk. His cock was hard as glass.

"Yesssss," he exhaled. "Take Natchu pretty girllll..."

Then his body tensed and his hips slammed her over and over. He shouted a lion's roar and released his hot sperm into my wife. Gina shoved my head down again and I licked feverishly because it was the right thing to do in that moment and heard my gorgeous wife cum screaming on this stud's dick. He buried his meat and there was no more room for me so I leaned back to watch. What a fucking sight. Gina's back was arched as she received his spurting load and Natchu was a mass of flexed muscle and sweaty skin. His face contorted. His ass clenched with each new blast. Walter pinched her nipple and she sobbed, awash in more pleasure than she could take. Natchu shot her full, spewing an ocean of semen, until he slowed and, finally, fell away.

Nobody moved. Nobody spoke.

In a delirium, Gina softly tousled my hair. I remained silent, having no idea what to say. So many rules had been broken tonight. I slowly became aware of gentle pressure on the back of my head and discovered Gina gazing right at me. She looked frazzled.

"Please?" she whimpered.

I took a moment to understand. She guided my mouth to her pussy again. I considered resisting but why? After tonight, after the things we just did, what was the point? My wife was telling me she needed me.

Her delicate pussy looked abused. Swollen and red and tender, she'd taken a beating and craved my loving touch. I made my tongue soft as a feather and carefully licked her outer lips. She sighed with contentment. I worked my way inward, slowly bathing her cunt from clit to sphincter. She was in Heaven. By the sounds I knew I might soon get an orgasm from her and to me that meant I was taking my wife back from these men. I worked my oral magic, drawing upon our years together and my knowledge of what she loved. Her thighs settled against my head and her fingers tangled in my hair. I increased the strength of my tongue and she moaned. Juices leaked from her used opening but I ignored it. I wasn't here for that. I was here for her. I suspected she loved the idea that I was eating her pussy after two men had fucked her. I suspected she felt like a very bad girl. So be it. I wanted to make her cum, hard, in front of these men.

I got my wish.

It took a while. Who knows how many times she'd climaxed already? Her exhausted body craved rest but I wouldn't let her go and eventually I was rewarded. Her piercing cry filled the room and fluids flowed from her hole freely. I ravaged her cunt until she was weak and exhausted. I left her weary body lying on the bed, wiped the liquids from my face, and turned to the men. Natchu was out but Walter studied me.

"What a fucking night," he murmured.

Yeah, fucker, I thought. I know you maneuvered yourself into this bed. I know you schemed to get your hands on Gina.

Chapter

The next day we all gathered around the bargaining table and I discovered our numbers had been cut by more than half. Unable to offer more, or lacking negotiation skill and stamina, most of the players had flown home. Chartsiri looked pleased. Natchu joined us late. Gina sat across the table, barely looking at Walter and me, perfectly composed and professional.

The hardest moment of my life was leaving her hotel room last night with Walt but not Natchu. He stayed with her, sleeping in her bed, wrapped in her arms. I spent a tortured night wondering if they fucked again without me. Who was I kidding? I knew they fucked again. Probably more than once. I would have fucked her again.

Our sex life had diminished over the years as work shoved everything else out of the way but with Natchu she enjoyed a honeymoon revival. I watched her face across the boardroom table. I saw the wicked gleam in her eyes. They'd slept and fucked until dawn and she still wanted more.

I'd gone back to my hotel room and jerked off four times. I couldn't sleep. Visions of Gina and Natchu tortured my brain. Why that made me horny I had no idea but my only comfort was jacking my dick until I spurted. I hated them together but the image drove my libido insane. My dick had never been harder. Even while having sex with Gina. The idea of her having sex was more erotic to me than the idea of having sex with her. That realization fucked me up.

Walter said he passed out as soon as he hit the bed. Bastard.

I wondered what life would be like back in the States. He'd had my wife. Would he try for more or be satisfied with this one-time thing? What if he tried to blackmail me? Would we be able to shut that door and lock it? I knew for the rest of our years working together, he'd always have that knowing look in his eye: Hey, Rusty, remember that night I fucked your wife? God! I'll never live this down. There was no way to undo what had happened.

I knew Gina had no desire for him but I worried we'd opened the door to others. We spent a lot of time traveling, Gina and I, a lot of time apart. What's to stop her from sleeping with men she found pleasing?

I felt a bizarre tingle of excitement at that thought and had to take a deep breath. A glance across the table showed Gina studying my face. She had the same thoughts running through her mind. I was eager to put this trip behind me.

Negotiations lasted all day again. Natchu invited a large group of us to dinner and the evening passed without incident. Walt and I shared a whiskey in our hotel bar and avoided the elephant in the room. I thought he would bring it up but he didn't. He just sat there, looking guilty and sipping his drink. On the elevator ride up, my phone buzzed. I expected to see a text from Gina telling me good night but it was from Big Daddy Chartsiri:

Congratulations, Rusty, the contract is yours. Haight and Madison has a sterling reputation and the concessions you made today clenched the deal. I'll have my lawyers draw up the contract. Please be discreet with this information until I can make an announcement. I look forward to working with you and your firm.

Dear God, I'd won.

"Did you get a text from Gina?" Walter asked.

"Yes," I lied, without hesitation. "She wishes us good night."

Walter nodded. He considered saying something about last night but let the idea die. Wise man.

My mind raced. I'd beaten Gina again. Walter would hear the news soon enough, as would the other players. I estimated I had twenty-four hours before word got out. I sent Chartsiri a heart-felt thank you and a promise to treat him well. The elevator dinged and we exited. I told Walt good night at his door and then continued a few steps towards my room before stopping in the empty hall. I raised my fists in silent triumph. I knew I should tell Gina. I pulled out my phone, finger poised.

Before I could figure out what to say, my phone buzzed in my hand. A text, from Gina: I'm expecting company, thought you should know.

I knew exactly what she meant. Natchu was on his way to her room. Surely he knew dear old dad had awarded the contract to me. Of course he did, but he didn't care. He wanted more of the pretty white woman.

I could torpedo their liaison. All I needed to do was reply and tell her I'd won, again. I'd ruin her mood and their night. But images popped into my head. I saw his thick cock spreading her labia, his plump inches sheathing in her tunnel. I heard her moans of pleasure.

What to do?

If I hid my victory and she ever discovered the timing, I'd be in serious trouble. If I told her and in her outrage she let something slip, everything could come undone. After all, why would I share that information with her? I had no clear path forward.

Want some company? I typed.

Sure, she fired back. I've learned recently that two is better than one.

I never opened my door. I spun mid-step and aimed for the elevator. Soon I was crossing her lobby and riding her elevator, nervous about what might happen. I tapped and she opened, already nude. Natchu stood by the bar, also nude, snorting a line.

"I'm surprised you've returned," she said, loud enough for him to hear. "What would your wife think?"

"My wife could learn a thing or two from you," I replied.

She kissed my cheek and headed for the bar. We chatted and sniffed until Natchu took my shoulder and moved me behind her. We knelt. She stood there while I ate her pussy from the rear and he ate her pussy from the front. Her strong legs trembled against my head. We had her gushing in seconds and forced her to orgasm while standing. After that we all moved to the bed.

Mostly, I hung back and watched him fuck my wife. He wanted me to suck his cock at one point and Gina encouraged me to do it, but I said no thanks. Now that I knew I'd won the contract his power over me was reduced and besides, I didn't feel like sucking a cock.

Gina did. He was too big in the beginning but she's a quick study. She took what she knew about sucking my dick and applied it to his, allowing for greater length and girth. Soon half his dick was disappearing into her mouth on every thrust, his heavy shaved balls swinging. I expected her to rush to fuck again but no, she wanted to worship his cock with her mouth. Torment me in the process too, no doubt. I surprised myself when I took my dick in hand and masturbated as I watched them together. Gina looked insanely sexy.

"You're much bigger than my husband," she murmured, playfully teasing me.

Natchu beamed with pride. "You like my big Asian dick?"

"I love your big Asian dick," she replied, looking at him but of course speaking the words for me. She turned to see what effect she'd had and her eyes grew big to discover me jacking off.

"Come eat my pussy again," she said.

I moved behind and started licking and soon we moved into a sixty-nine with me on my back. Natchu left the bed to step behind her and I saw his cock slide home just inches above my face. Gina was drenched, so eager to have his hard dick inside her again. She rocked her hips and sucked me as I flicked her clit until she came.

Our night lasted until dawn. We showered and dressed and at nine the next morning a group text went out from Chartsiri informing all players of his choice. I was eating breakfast with Walt when our phones buzzed together. He smiled broadly and then frowned.

"Gina's going to be pissed."

I nodded, remaining silent on the escapades of the previous night. I was ready to get the fuck out of here and head for home.

Chapter

"Son of a bitch mother fucker!" Gina yelled.

We'd just stepped inside our home. No more colleagues, no more strangers, no more Uber drivers. Just us, alone, at last.

I set the luggage down and waited. She vented for a full three minutes before staring at the kitchen floor and then lifting her eyes to mine.

"You won again," she confessed.

I saw the hurt behind her eyes. We'd had fun and created some intense memories, and we'd talk about those, soon, but for now we were here. I did not gloat. I did not rub it in.

"Mister Sophon felt my company was more stable, Honey. Ultimately, his choice had little to do with the salespeople present."

She patted my cheek. "You're sweet," she said. "It's kind of you to salve my feelings. But it doesn't matter why. He picked you, not me."

"Don't blame yourself, Baby. You did everything you could to win."

Her face broke into a sly grin. "Didn't I though?"

We kissed and hugged.

"I need a hot shower," she said, stepping away.

"You go first. I'll unpack our stuff."

She thanked me, dropped her purse and phone on the counter, and headed for the master bedroom. I poured her a cabernet, a big one, and opened myself a beer. Her phone lit and I looked at the display. Natchu. His message scrolled across the top of her screen: I warned you, didn't I? I told you from the first day he'd pick Haight and Madison. He doesn't listen to me.

She knew? Gina knew before she ever fooled around with Natchu? Before she ever kissed his dick? I read the message again then another arrived: Don't be angry. I want to see you when I come to Vegas.

I heard the shower start. I had to laugh. I'd played her but she'd played me too. Salespeople are just liars, I guess. Still, we'd changed our marriage in a fundamental way. The long flight home had reassured me of our commitment and intimacy. Her infidelity had done nothing to change those things. But she's fucked other men now. That changed the rules drastically. Shattered them, in fact. We'd agreed once we left Thailand we'd go back to the way things were but I again found myself wondering if that was truly possible. I grabbed her cabernet and my beer and headed for the bathroom.

"I have wine," I announced.

"You're an angel," she said, cracking the shower door enough to stick a hand through. I handed over the glass.

"Natchu sent a text. Says he warned you his dad would pick my company and he had no influence over that decision."

Silence. She stopped moving.

"He added he'd still like to see you when he comes to Vegas."

The blurry outline of her body straightened. The door opened a few inches.

"All true," she admitted.

"But you fucked him anyway."

"I had to try," she said. "Or go home after one day and get fired."

Fair enough. "Have we damaged our vows?" I asked.

"No, Baby" she said. "I'm yours to the end of time."

We gazed at each other for a long moment. Then two. The silence turned stressful. We both grinned.

"You're going to fuck someone, aren't you?" I asked. "You already have someone in mind."

Her expression turned mischievous. "Why not? We both got off. We're fine now. Having the option would certainly make my job easier, not to mention more lucrative."

She opened the shower door, revealing her gorgeous, sudsy body. Foam clung to her nipples. Soap trailed down her flat stomach. She let me get a good long look.

"In fact, I have several someones in mind," she admitted. "A few older gentlemen that won't give me a chance to pitch them unless I agree to dinner first. I've been trying for over a year. I refused out of respect for you because I knew what they really wanted and how far I'd need to go. Now I don't see a reason to keep up the pretense. I'm not saying I'll fuck them but I will agree to dinner and see what happens."

Blood flowed to my dick. This was a side of Gina I'd never seen. I liked it. We'd proceed slowly, testing the waters as we went, but I knew our sex life was about to get a jolt. I welcomed it.

My phone buzzed. I was still smiling as I read the message. Gina saw my face.

"What's wrong?" she asked. "You look like someone died."

I held the phone for her to read. Walter had sent a video and a demand. He wanted a date with Gina tomorrow night. He wanted her dressed like a slut. He wanted me to come along to open doors for them and pay the bills. My blood boiled.

"Is he joking?" Gina asked.

I played the video. Me, Natchu, and Gina, in bed and having fun. Walter had been playing possum. We all ignored him and Walter had recorded us on his cell.

Another message arrived. I read it and explained to Gina.

"Walt says I screwed him over on the Netflix deal and the Atkins deal, along with a few others. You are his revenge. If we play along he'll have his fun and then leave us alone."

"Do you believe him?"

I shrugged. "All salesmen are liars, right? But what choice do we have? Did you notice you can see the mirror and lines of coke in the background on the video? We're fucked. He's got us."

She was staring at the floor. A shiver ran up her spine. "He's going to use me."

"Yes."

"What can we do?"

"Kill him," I said. In that moment, I could have.

Gina put a reassuring hand over mine. "No," she said.

Mother fucker. I never really liked that guy. He was mostly right about me screwing him over on those accounts though. Shit or get off the pot, I say. He was going nowhere with them. I got the deals closed. I rose, he sank. He had a right to be angry but this, this was dirty. This was despicable. The truth was he wanted Gina and rationalized it this way.

"What can we do?" my wife asked again.

"Dress you like a slut for your date," I said. "I need time. The only way to stop him, short of killing him, is get something dirtier on him, but I'll need time to dig it up. I'm sure it exists."

Gina nodded. Her stare was far away and I knew she was imagining Walter all over her again. She was not looking forward to it.

"I hate that guy," she said.

"Me too."

"Fuck him up, Rusty. Smash his balls."

"With extreme prejudice," I added.

I answered his text, conceding to his demands. He was thrilled. He sent instructions for Saturday night.

Five years ago, Gina and I had been out on a date night at the newest, hottest club in Vegas. She'd worn a scandalous sequined dress, royal blue, plunging in front and back, and short enough she risked flashing pussy. She'd worn panties but after many glasses of wine, I'd peeled those off under the table. Every woman there showed a ton of skin and soon Gina was teasing me and anyone watching. Until now we didn't know Walter was in the crowd. He told her to wear that same dress again. He wanted her hair and makeup done too.

Chapter

"Why does he want you here?" Gina asked.

"To rub my nose in it," I said. "I must pay the driver, valet, the dinner bill...he wants to humiliate me in every way. Fucking my beautiful wife is not enough."

Walter had picked a different club to meet, off the Strip and more intimate. There was a small dance floor and DJ and the walls were lined with dark booths. Small glass tables for two or three filled the open area.

Gina and I took a booth in the corner to wait.

"He must have hated you for years," she said.

"I reached the same conclusion."

Everyone at the club looked great; well dressed and attractive.

Walter would stand out but maybe that's what he wanted. Maybe tonight was a big fuck-you to this crowd too. He'd spend the night with Gina, clearly way out of his league, and show all these hot young bitches and bastards that he belonged here.

Walter entered across the room and did a slow turn looking for us. At least he was dressed nice.

"I'm fighting the urge to run for the door," Gina murmured.

He saw us and cut across the room.

"You take the chair," he told me. "I'll sit next to Gina."

I slid out of the booth and sat with my back to the room. Walter moved in until his thigh touched hers.

"Kiss me," he said.

Gina hesitated half a heartbeat and then did as he asked. His rough hand slipped into the open front of her dress, caressing her full warm globe and I heard a sharp gasp at his touch. They made out and I had to turn away, watching all the babes on the dance floor. When I finally turned back, he had both round tits out and her dress pushed up legs.

"Get your panties off," he ordered. "Hand them to me out in the open."

I gripped my beer. Anger surged and I imagined myself reaching across the table and striking him in the jaw with my frosty mug. Gina lifted her ass and slid her panties down, dropping the tiny ball of white fabric into his open palm. Several customers saw her do it.

"Lean on me," he said. "Kiss me. Whisper sexy secrets in my ear. Rub my cock through my pants and hang all over me. I want everyone here to know you're crazy about me. I want these people thinking you're in love with me."

I took a deep breath. Gina listened carefully as he spoke and then looked around the club. She's gorgeous so she had a lot of attention everywhere she went but wearing that dress and removing her underwear brought her much more. She took Walter's arm and kissed him on the cheek.

"That's a good start," he said.

The waitress brought more drinks and we gulped them. He tried to play suave but Walter was nervous too. I knew this was his first time trying to extort someone. Lucky us. Gina kissed him again and over the next twenty minutes I saw her relaxing into the role and that let me relax a little too. Hopefully, Walter lacked imagination.

Gina kissed him without being told and dropped a hand to his crotch. Walter grinned at me. I couldn't bear to watch this shit. Not Walter. I turned my chair and focused on the lovely ladies dancing. This club was small but the clientele was hot. I wondered how Walter heard of it. I saw a few people staring at something behind me but I resisted looking. I knew Walt was just trying to fuck with me. When I could stand it no longer, I turned.

Gina had her tongue down his throat and his cock exposed and in her hand. I'd forgotten the size of the man. His girth was impressive. Her fingers barely met. His hand was up her dress and when they moved I'd occasionally see her bald pussy stuffed with his finger. She was rubbing on him, writhing against his body. It looked real. She lifted a tit from her dress and fed him the nipple and I saw the look on her face. This fat fucker had managed to turn her on. The crowd and the alcohol helped but he must have been touching her right. She was into it. I watched my wife ride his thick digit. When she moaned, I abruptly stood.

"Sit down, Rusty," Walter barked. "This is only the beginning."

I wanted to kill him. Seriously. What I'd watched her do with Natchu and found sexy now filled me with rage. I scanned the crowd for anyone we knew and noticed people making out all around the darkened room. Gina moaned and I discovered Walter ravaging her nipple with tongue and teeth and finger-banging her pussy. He barely tried to hide what he did. Gina held his shoulders, her eyes closed, her head back.

"I could tell her to suck it right now and she would, Rusty. Don't push me."

I sat down. Fuck him and fuck this night. I couldn't wait for it to end. Gina looked trashy in her slutty outfit and drooping eyes, holding his arm and riding his finger. She still looked sexy as hell but when doesn't she?

"I have a room upstairs," Walt said. "Once I've finished showing her off to everyone I'll take her upstairs and fuck her. You're going with us. I want you to see it happen. When we return to work Monday, things will be different. You're going to help me succeed. Nothing too obvious, but enough so I start making some real money."

Gina whimpered. Was his dominating behavior exciting to her? I knew her exhibitionist button was getting pushed like crazy but what else was going on?

Walter tugged her arm and she slid her ass onto his lap. She straddled his fat thigh and moved to his knee. Her hips began to grind and she bit her lip. Her dress swayed with her movement, her stiff nipples snagging the sequined fabric.

"Jesus Christ," I muttered.

For the next hour, more of the same continued. Gina was his sultry pet, giggling at his stupid jokes, rubbing herself on him, kissing his mouth. At one point, she shifted position and her ass lowered to his lap. I knew his naked dick was hidden under his shirt and seconds later I heard her gasp. He moved a hand to her ass and subtly guided her up and down before pushing her down to a knee again. He adjusted his shirt to hide his cock but I saw the sparkling sheen of her wetness on him. He'd been inside her. My chest tightened. My breath turned shallow.

They danced a few slow songs, taunting me and allowing everyone in the club to see them as a couple. They made out under the flashing lights.

In our booth again, I sensed the moment was approaching. Walter was ready. Any second now he'd announce we were moving upstairs.

Chapter

"What the fuck are you losers doing here?" the masculine voice said.

I looked into the face of Travis Gibson, youngest executive vice president at Haight and Madison and my immediate boss. Walter's too. I felt myself falling down a deep well. My lips moved but no words came out. I thought this was part of Walter's twisted plan but Walter was as shocked as me.

"Just having fun, Mister Gibson," Walt stammered.

"Who's the babe?" Travis asked, extending his hand.

"I'm Gina," my wife said.

She knew who Gibson was. I've spoken of him many times. She knew Walter and I worked for the man but she'd never met him.

"Hello, Gina," he said. "I'm Travis. I own these two clowns. What is a woman of your beauty and charm doing in the company of these idiots?"

Hers was the only mouth working, so she got to provide the explanation.

"I'm a hooker," she blurted. "Walter hired me for tonight."

My mind reeled. I guess it made sense. She didn't know if Travis had been watching us or just walked up. She needed an explanation that covered our group's behavior, the way she was dressed, and why she was acting so slutty towards old Walt. I made a mental note that Gina could never, ever, ever come to a company function.

"What's he paying you?" Travis joked, straightening his two-hundred dollar Pancaldi tie.

Gina kept the charade alive. "A thousand dollars."

Travis laughed, a short bark of a chuckle. "I'll pay you three times that," he said.

Still playing the part, Gina looked the man up and down.

Travis was younger than any of us. Our nickname for him was Blake, after the obnoxious salesman Alec Baldwin played in the movie Glengarry Glen Ross. Travis was as loathsome and despicable but also as handsome and aggressive. He had wide shoulders and a narrow waist and bright green eyes, just like Gina. I knew any second now he'd flash the fifty-thousand dollar Rolex he always wore.

"No," my wife replied after a moment. "A deal's a deal. I'll take your card though. Maybe we can hook up later?"

Smart girl. Flatter him and get him moving on his way.

Travis looked smug. "Let me rephrase my offer," he said. "Walter, tell this gorgeous creature to fuck me tonight instead of you. In exchange, I'll send you to Singapore to take a shot at Jardine Matheson Holdings. You'd like that, right?"

Walter's eyes got big. Fuck. I wanted that account. Walter nodded slowly, eyes glued to Travis.

"Then tell her."

Walter turned to Gina. "I want you to have sex with Travis instead of me tonight. I'll fuck you after."

Travis laughed again, shaking his head. "No, Walter, she's mine tonight. A woman like this is wasted on a man like you. Give me your seat."

Travis grabbed an empty chair and sat it next to me, jerking his chin at Walter. Walt crept out of the booth to take his new spot. Travis slipped in and quickly took Gina's hand.

"You're exquisite," he told her. "Do I see some Korean in your face?"

"A little. I'm mixed."

"You're a Goddess," he fawned.

They began a quiet conversation, too low for Walter and I to hear over the music. A part of me was relieved Walter got screwed but a much bigger part twisted in blind fear. I'd left the frying pan and fallen into the fire.

"Walt, where did you plan on taking her?" Travis asked. "Did you get a room at this casino?"

"Yes."

"Let's move our party upstairs then. A little peace and quiet sounds nice. Doesn't it, Gina?"

"It does," she agreed.

Travis looked at the empty glasses on the table, did some quick math, and dropped two hundred dollar bills. He motioned for Walter and I to retreat so he and my wife could exit the booth. Gina's dress swung open and Travis grinned.

We stopped at the lobby ATM before moving on. The elevator ride up was excruciating. Gina fell into Travis's embrace and they kissed as the elevator flew. She held his handsome face in both hands and showered him with passionate kisses. I saw their tongues wrestling. Travis moved his hands to her round butt and squeezed before lifting the back of her dress. He peeked over her shoulder.

"Damn, that ass is perfection."

He wasn't wrong. He smacked it with an open palm and pulled her close.

"You want to fuck me?" he asked.

Gina tried to swallow. "Yes," she croaked, and I knew she meant it.

I chewed on all the bizarre twists and turns that had brought us here under these circumstances. Gina clung to Travis like she thought a hooker would. All her movements were from movies she'd seen with prostitutes in them. She had no idea.

Walter directed us to the room he'd rented and opened the door. Cheap wallpaper and cheap furniture. Travis gave Walter a scathing look.

My gym membership has taught me one thing: top bosses have either a big dick or a small dick. They are never average like the rest of us. Being well-hung gives them confidence, deserved or not, to be aggressive and take risks. That is often rewarded. Small dick bosses are fueled by resentment and a need to prove themselves. Their runaway drive pushes them to excel. I imagined Travis was a big-dick boss, but conceded I may be wrong.

"Why the fuck?" Travis said. "Walter, why the fuck would you spend so much on such a flawless woman and then bring her to a shitty room like this?"

I glanced at Walter's tortured face and felt joy. He was so frustrated. Travis had ruined his big night, his revenge fantasy. Now he had to sit back and take what happened just like me.

"Money doesn't grow on trees," he quipped.

Travis jabbed him with a stare. "See, Walter, that's why you're a mediocre salesman. You lack imagination. Money does grow on trees. It's a commodity we call fruit. Money can be found everywhere. Money grows on trees and money lies in the ground, waiting to be found. Oil, gold, silver, coal; I can't believe one of my salesmen just said money doesn't grow on trees. Money grows everywhere, Walt."

Abashed, Walter looked at the carpet.

We entered the room and I began turning on lights. Travis sat on the foot of the bed and guided Gina to his knee.

"Why are Rusty and I here?" Walter asked. "Should we leave?"

Travis laughed. "Hell no. Stick around guys. Share some booze and some conversation and then I'll show you how a man handles a real woman."

Travis pulled condoms from his jacket pocket and looked at Gina. Her green eyes got big. Clearly, she hadn't even thought this far ahead. She gave him a nod and he placed the small packages on the nightstand.

"I'd like to shower," Gina said.

"I'd like to help you," Travis joked.

"Okay."

Walter and I took chairs by the small writing desk in the corner and watched Travis and my wife undress. I held my breath. He was careful with his expensive clothing and careful with Gina's sequined dress. She was naked well before him so she watched Travis undress too. The longer he took to strip, the more certain I was he'd have a big cock, and I was right.

His boxers came down like a theater curtain revealing the star of the show. I'd guess his length about the same as Natchu, give or take, but he already appeared thicker. He was covered with raised veins which all disappeared as they approached the bulbous head. His testicles looked bigger than golf balls, pulling the flesh of his scrotum into drapes of skin. His ball sack attached several inches up the shaft. He was soft but all those veins told me blood was flowing. He was eager to have my wife.

Gina seemed a little dazed. She stressed about saying and doing the right things. She had no idea how to be a prostitute and something hold her. Travis had a lot of experience with them.

Gina and Travis left the room and Walter looked at me.

"This is bullshit," he said.

"No, fuck you, Walter," I replied. "Don't expect sympathy from me. Did Travis disrupt your evil plan? Good. Maybe I did wrong you at work over the years but taking it out on Gina, who's always treated you well, is totally fucked up."

Gina giggled from the bathroom. What a night.

Chapter

The giggle faded to a moan. I was dying to know why but stayed in my chair. What's the protocol for your boss seducing your wife? By Walter's expression I knew he'd keep the secret. Extorting a colleague was instant termination. The shower came on and for a long time I heard them moving around and talking. The moment the water shut off, I heard Gina gasp loudly. This was too much. I had to know.

The bathroom was mirrored and if I leaned over the arm of my chair I could see them. Travis had lifted her onto the vanity and crouched, head buried between her legs. Her delicate hands pulled at his dark hair, drawing him in and encouraging him to lick faster. By chance she caught my reflection and our eyes met. There was no stopping this now. Gina was already aroused and her desire was growing by the minute. Was it Travis? Or was it some prostitute fantasy we'd never known about? Travis hit a sweet spot and Gina's eyes closed, her forehead knotted.

A moment later she arched her back against the mirror and groaned as she climaxed. Her big tits shuddered with each wave. Her nipples stiffened and grew erect. Travis slowed but kept going, gently teasing until he had her climbing towards another orgasm. I was surprised. That was something I'd never been able to achieve. Pangs of jealousy assailed me. She crossed her ankles behind his head and mauled her tits, rolling her nipples. A minute later she came again, much harder.

"Uuuunnnggh!" she cried. "Fuck!"

"Your pussy is sweet," Travis mumbled, almost laughing with joy.

Gina bit her lip and ground her cunt into his mouth. He carried her along, licking and sucking until she began her descent, then swept his tongue in broader circles, bathing and nibbling her labia and all around her hole. She soaked it in until desire for dick grew too strong.

"My turn," she finally said.

She slid off the counter and Travis stood. I was eager to see what eating her had done to him. His pendulous cock swung as he turned, bouncing off the faux wooden cabinet. They both laughed.

"Where do you keep that thing?" Gina asked, obviously impressed. "You must wear two or three pair of underwear just to hide it."

"It's only a problem around women like you."

He was mostly stiff but pointing at the floor, pulled down by his own weight. She palmed his shaft, just under the head, and lifted to get a better look.

"Nice to meet you," she joked.

They both laughed again. I found their casual comfort with each other disquieting. They'd only just met but the mutual attraction had them playfully flirting and acting like they were dating. A glimmer of light showed me wet excitement trickling down her inner thigh. I told myself it was shower water but I knew better.

Travis moved his ass onto the counter, raising his hips and aiming his cock right at her face. She closed her fingers around his girth and squeezed, forcing a large clear drop of fluid to form at the slit. Bouncing her gaze off several mirrors, she found me again, locked eyes, and sensuously licked away his seminal liquid, her flat tongue briefly enshrouding his cock head. She showed me the precum lying across her taste buds before opening wide and fastening her lips to his dick. She sucked hard, hard enough to rip a groan from Travis, before relaxing her jaw and throat and moving her lips down his shaft.

"Jesus Christ," he growled. "That's incredible."

Indeed, it is. I know too well my wife's oral skills. I looked from his twisted face to her stretched mouth and back to his face again. It hit me hard that Travis, Travis, my boss, was fucking my wife's mouth. I wanted to look away but just couldn't.

Travis shifted his ass and Gina moved closer. Now his dick was hard and standing straight up. She lowered her mouth as far down the shaft as she could and Travis helped by resting a hand on the back of her head. She liked that. I know she did because she moaned when he did it. He forced her deeper, making her gag, but when he quickly withdrew his hand she protested, whining for him to do it again. He pushed and her throat bulged. She whimpered with strange satisfaction.

"Enough," he growled.

He grabbed her hair and pulled her off his cock, practically dragging her into our room. He shoved her towards the bed.

"Hands and knees," he ordered. "Ass towards me."

Gina hurried to carry out his commands. What she didn't see was Travis tug his belt free from his pants on the chair. He folded the wide leather into a loop and stepped to the bed. My heart stopped. Gina had obediently gone head-down ass-up for him. She had no idea what was coming.

If you think watching your wife suck another man's cock is difficult, trying watching her get whipped. I was ready to say fuck it to everything and leap to her defense. No way would I let him hurt her.

His arm came forward half-speed and the belt made a loud crack across her firm butt. Gina yelped and looked over a shoulder, smiling wickedly. Then she obscenely pushed her dripping slit towards him. The belt fell with another crack and Gina moaned.

"Every whore loves this," Travis grunted. "I don't know why."

Crack. Crack. Gina was writhing now, her cunt gushing. Rivulets ran down her inner thighs. Travis alternated cheeks, force, and frequency so she never knew where or when. Crack. Crack. Her puckered asshole clenched again and again, her pussy lips engorged and turned red. Crack. Crack.

"Oh my God!" she yelled, hips undulating.

This was way beyond anything we'd ever done. Crack. Crack. Crack. Travis had turned her ass brilliant crimson. Juices literally dripped from her swollen slit. Gina was whimpering and trying to form words but the overwhelming sensations turned her into an idiot. Her face was contorted with pleasure and pain. She was confused, aroused, shocked, and ready. The prostitute fantasy gained credibility with me. Her jaw worked and she finally forced words out.

"fuuuuuuuck meeeeee," she whimpered.

Travis looked at me and grinned. With a jerk of his chin he indicated the condoms and I handed him one.

"Open it, Rusty," he said.

Gina moaned deeply but not for the reasons Travis thought. She'd just heard I was preparing his dick to fuck her, and that was exciting on several levels. I tore the package and handed him the thin sheath. He dropped the belt and rolled the latex down his length, stretching the rubber transparent. It ended well before his balls.

He took her hips and she jumped at his touch, mashing her face into the pillows and lifting her pussy, inviting him to take what he wanted. He moved a hand to a butt cheek and spread her, aiming his cock at her vaginal opening. The head of his dick looked way bigger than her hole. He pushed, drawing in surrounding skin like he was trying to puncture her. She was drenched but he still had trouble. He withdrew and tried again.

"That's a little girl's pussy," he said. "Jesus she's tight."

He trailed kisses up her spine and then nuzzled her neck. Gina arched her back.

"Come here, girl," he said. "You've gotta take this."

He held her shoulders and pressed his hips forward. His latex covered shank slowly disappeared, forcing her open, widening her pussy lips. Muscles stood out on his arms as he drove his cock into her. Gina gasped.

"You're too big," she whined.

"Shut your whore mouth," Travis said. "Nothing's up to you. I decide how you get used. I'll do whatever I want."

I half expected Gina to turn around and slap him but she didn't. She hung her head and obediently tried to push her pussy onto his meat. I was flabbergasted. Who is this woman? Travis was handsome and hung but that didn't explain everything. What was happening here?

Travis tried again to force himself deep but he was trying to push his dick through concrete. After a moment, she looked over her shoulder.

"Lose the condom," she panted. "It keeps grabbing my skin. Lose the condom and fuck me. I want you."

Dynamite exploded in my head. I'd taken subconscious comfort in the fact he'd be wrapped and to hear Gina tell him to fuck her bare stunned me. I blamed it on his size but I saw the truth in her eyes. She was thrilled to take him skin against skin. My gorgeous wife wanted this dominating man to fuck her for real, to fuck her like her husband does. She wanted him buried, nothing between them. I tried to catch her eyes but she wasn't looking at me. She avoided me completely.

Travis moved like lightning. His left hand held his cock up and his right pinched the rubber and pulled. He was bare almost instantly and nudging around looking for her hole. She reached back and wrapped her fingers, guiding him in.

Her moan was louder than his. Travis grabbed her long hair and flexed his hips and every huge inch sank deep, sliding smoothly along her gushing tunnel. He pushed until his balls covered her clitoris. Gina struggled to breathe. I heard a frustrated whimper to the side and glanced at Walt, exasperated and bitter. Travis was claiming his prize. I had to smile. Fuck you, Walter.

Travis began deep strokes, slow and smooth. He savored my wife's pussy as much as she savored his hard cock. Moans and gasps poured from each. They were loving the way they fit together. I agonized over the sight. My boss was fucking my wife right in front of me. Work would never be the same. Life would never be the same. What would happen if he ever found out? Would I be fired? Would he keep me around to keep her around? After a short time, Travis pulled her head around and kissed her.

"This is no good," he said. "I want to see your face."

He withdrew his cock and bumped Gina onto her back. My lovely wife spread her long legs without a moment's thought. She was happy to offer herself to this man. Travis leaned over and placed his cock at her opening. He stretched his neck to kiss her, impaling her inch by inch. She drew her knees up to bring his mouth closer and I watched them kiss with passion.

They made an attractive couple. Travis cupped a heavy breast and worked his hips and Gina crossed her ankles behind his back. He pumped faster, loving her reaction to his big cock, loving her eyes gone wide at the massive intrusion. Eventually her lips fell away from his and her head hit the pillow. Her moans became louder and more intense. I'm a smart guy, but in this moment, I was an idiot. Her orgasm was almost on her by the time I realized what was happening. He'd made her cum with such ease. Just the long-stroking of his steely rod was enough to get her there. I couldn't remember ever making her cum with just my dick.

"Mmmmmmm," she moaned. "Like that."

Travis grinned and held steady. His strong hips drove his cock in and out of her snug cunt. His dick gleamed with her wetness, his balls slapped her asshole. She grabbed bedspread with both fists.

"Fuck me, Travis," she growled. "I love getting fucked by you. Will you fuck me again tonight? Will you fuck me tomorrow?"

"That's my plan," he chuckled, delighted by her submission. This whore meant what she said. He heard in her voice she'd fuck him for free.

"So close," she murmured. "Close...like that...close...OH MY FUCKING GOD!"

Her hips went crazy. Her mouth opened in a silent scream and her eyes clamped shut. Her hot body jumped and rocked, big tits bouncing, head tossing side to side. Travis stroked smooth and strong. Her hair tangled on her sweaty face.

"Fuck! she screamed to his relentless pounding hips. "FUCK!"

Orgasmic delirium swamped her. She babbled and worked her pelvis and Travis tried to fuck her to death. Towards the end of her climax he increased the strength of his strokes, pushing balls-deep and pausing for a second before withdrawing half his cock and doing it again. Faster and faster he pumped until he filled his lungs. Every muscle tensed. His ass became stone. His toes curled and Gina held on tight and Travis pumped a deluge of hot sperm into my wife, bucking like someone zapped him with fifty-thousand volts. Gina laughed joyfully to feel his seed forcefully ejaculate deep within. She murmured in his ear, begging for every drop. It was a painful yet glorious sight.

"Fucking bullshit," Walter muttered.

Chapter

The night that wouldn't end.

Travis deserved his stud reputation. Walter and I stayed and watched as my boss fucked my wife three more times over the next two hours. The man was enjoying my beautiful wife and putting on a show for us. When the mating couple finally snuggled to rest, we excused ourselves to look for a restaurant.

I looked back at the bed before closing the door. They were kissing deeply, his soft and spongy member still implanted, trapping all that semen within. I felt a strange clench in my guts, a tightening that moved up to grip my ribs and down to contract my nuts. The sight showed me the casual ownership Travis had. In this moment, Gina belonged to him. His deflated yet still formidable cock resting in her pussy proved that. I was battered by conflicting emotions: the image was graphic but sexy and turned me on, but also terrifying, like my marriage was over. Gina obviously loved him inside her. I'd been replaced.

I grabbed a room key.

Walter and I were silent on the elevator down but in the lobby, I confronted him.

"We're done," I said. "You go your way, I'll go mine."

"No way. I still want my night with Gina."

"You don't get to have her. Travis told you she's off limits."

"For tonight. He thinks she's a whore. He won't care if I fuck her after him. He just didn't want sloppy seconds."

I chewed my lip. "Well, I'm not having dinner with you."

"Fine," he said. "Fuck off. I'm going home."

We went separate ways. I found an all-night burger place and grabbed a booth. Walter's words had the ring of truth and I was faced with some hard choices. I ate my burger and fries and pondered. This was a pivotal event. The path leading away from this night could go in many directions. I knew what I did not want, but that path would carry a cost.

By the time I returned to the room, I'd reached a conclusion.

Gina was on top, riding Travis with an easy rocking motion. Her tits looked spectacular in the low light. They were in no hurry, savoring the remarkable way their bodies fit together. I saw the intensity of the pleasure he caused on her face. She was learning all the many ways his cock gave her sensual satisfaction. She looked like she was experiencing a hard dick for the first time.

Like a masochist, I took the chair near the foot of the bed. I perversely wanted to see his big meat buried in her. My wife and I had a long, long conversation in our future, but tonight was here and now. I had a million questions. I suspected our marriage, if it survived, would never be the same.

My view was now of his curved and heavily veined cock splitting her inner lips and sawing in and out. He still stretched her wide but by now they had so much lubrication she handled him smoothly. She looked over a shoulder and caught me staring at her impaled pussy.

"I think you like that," she murmured.

What could I say? She'd seen my expression. Why lie? I gave her a tiny nod. She rolled her hips, hiding every inch of him inside, and then stretched her body along his like a giant cat. Her tits mashed his chest and bulged to the side. Her hair fell around their faces but I saw them kiss. This was different from their earlier fucking. They'd spent that passion and now languorously cherished the moment.

"Can you cum again?" I heard her ask.

He chuckled. "You're insatiable."

She didn't answer right away, forcing her hips lower and his hard cock deeper.

"I love your cock," she said. "I can't get enough."

He held her face and kissed her mouth and began a slow in and out, starting the long climb to climax yet again. How many would this be? I stared at his big testicles and wondered how much sperm he'd already shot into her. Pregnancy was a real risk. The subject would need to be part of the long conversation I had with her.

"Walter went home," I blurted, like a child trying to get his brother in trouble.

Travis ignored me, gazing instead in my wife's eyes.

"He wants her badly," I added. "He won't give her up."

Travis smiled and slowly shook his head. I felt relief that Walter's ban might extend beyond tonight. I wanted to make sure that happened. I took a deep breath and made my decision.

"We're married," I said. "Gina's my wife. You're fucking my wife."

They froze. Gina's eyes grew larger by the second, exposed and unprotected, staring down at my boss. With her cover-story suddenly ripped away, she was a married woman riding another man's cock. She was a cheater, a harlot.

Travis recognized the sound of truth. "That explains some things," he said.

Gina turned to me, eyes filled with questions, expression hurt with betrayal. After a moment's hesitation, Travis chuckled. He kept thinking and turned serious, then chuckled again moments later.

"You're not a whore?" he asked.

"No," she softly said.

You're married to Rusty?"

"Yes."

He thought in silence then turned to me.

"I get it," he said. "You'd rather I fucked her than Walter. Who wouldn't? But that means he must have dirt on you, and it must be something big."

Travis wrapped his strong arm around her waist and rolled her over. He lifted his torso, gripped her ankles, and arched his back. With my view blocked, I moved to stand by the bed. Gina wouldn't look at me. Travis held her legs up and far apart and then began deep stroking her tight cunt, smiling down at her. He walked his knees closer to her ass. I had a perfect view of his dick gliding in and out.

"I think I understand," he said. "You used your wife to entice Natchu and win the account. Walter found out. He demanded Gina or he'd tell."

Travis was wrong but his idea sounded better than mine so I said nothing.

"You're gambling that I want this pretty little thing enough to forever block Walter from having her."

Gina met my eyes at last, a haze of lust clouding them as Travis repeatedly plunged his fat cock deep. I tried to convey my desire she say nothing and let Travis believe his own assumptions, but what kind of expression is that?

Travis spread her legs as far as his arms could reach. Gina was a wishbone, on her back, wide open pussy stuffed with cock. Travis was taunting me, showing me his thick manhood moving in and out, spitefully teasing me for my treachery by boldly fucking my wife right in front of my face. I dutifully watched his dick pump her. He gazed at her pretty face and she met his eyes unflinching.

"All right," he said after a long moment. "I do want to fuck you again."

My wife softly groaned.

"I want to fuck you a long time," he added.

Her lips parted, her face softened.

"I'll tell Walter to stay away," he said. "I'll tell him you belong to me. But be ready. I truly will fuck you every day."

Gina swooned a little I think. Her eyelids fluttered and closed. Travis turned his attention to her and his back on me and I watched in awe as he power fucked my wife to a shuddering orgasm. Now he had something to prove. Now he had my gorgeous wife under him feeling like I needed a lesson. His big balls slapped her wet ass. He began to sweat, dripping on her tits below. Her whole body shook with each thrust. He was loving this. Gina encouraged him to fuck her hard. He sucked her nipples and bathed her tits with his tongue. He'd cum several times so of course this one took a while, but when it finally hit I was stiff in my pants.

I think Gina may have orgasmed again.

Chapter

Walter, was furious.

Tavis called him into the office Monday morning and I don't know exactly what was said but Walt handed over every picture and video he possessed and signed a non-disclosure with hefty penalty.

In exchange for his protection, Travis owned my wife. Gina was thrilled. Good to his word, Travis stopped by the next night after we arrived back in the States. We all had time for one drink before Travis took her hand and asked where the bedroom was. Gina carried his sperm right now.

Monday, I had three meeting with Travis, all about work related issues and all with others in the room. All I could think about was how days earlier I'd watched his cock go in and out of my wife. I sat in those meetings and remembered what happened, drawing on the many memories I had stored.

This morning Gina got ready for work like every other day and kissed me at the door before leaving. The excitement in her eyes was obvious. Outwardly, our life was the same. On the inside, everything was changed. Travis had informed us he'd stop by after work tonight.

I thought she'd be angry with me for revealing our secret, especially without talking to her first, and she was for half a minute. Then she saw the wisdom of my move and was grateful Walter would never touch her again. Travis had us locked up tight but that truth only made her horny. He didn't fuck her every day like he'd warned but he sure fucked her a lot.

Chapter

Travis, is Travis. He's got everything, so why settle on one thing? He had no interest in marrying Gina, he just wanted to fuck her, and he did, for months.

But Travis is Travis. Soon there was some new hot girl and he came to visit less often. With him no longer creating havoc in our marriage, the noise died down and Gina and I began to talk more. I told her in greater detail about my revelations in Thailand and seeing her as an individual person for the first time. I told her how that contributed heavily to my decision to allow her sex with someone else, someone she so obviously wanted, but also how seeing her that way opened a door in my mind. To see her as a sexy woman made me want to see her do something sexual. I didn't understand it perfectly but she said we didn't need to.

She'd gone on a few dates with clients, trying to win large accounts, and she'd had good success but no sex. I nervously paced while she was out and mauled her the moment she came home. We had our best sex ever those nights but we also sank deeper into a new intimacy. Actively trusting someone in a risky situation and learning that they can be trusted is great for that. We were talking more often and about real things, sometimes frightening things.

Which is how I came to learn that while she enjoyed Travis because he was hot and hung, what she truly loved most was playing the prostitute. We'd just finished another sweaty fuck session in our bedroom and started talking.

"The sex with him is amazing," she said. "Travis is a fantastic lover with a hard body and a delightful cock, but what turned me on most, before he learned the truth, was feeling like he owned me for the night because he was paying for me. I'd never admit this to my feminist friends but three-thousand dollars a night boosted my ego like nothing else ever has. Jesus, Rusty, try to imagine getting paid that much. Try to imagine a woman wanting you so badly she'd meet that threshold. My self-esteem shot sky-high."

She'd climbed on me and walked her knees forward. She'd lowered her pussy to my mouth and kept talking, closing her eyes and thinking back.

"Layered on top of all that was this forced submission thing. I had to do whatever he asked. That made my unfaithful sex guilt free. He could use me any way he saw fit. I had no choice. I was bought and paid for. I'd never experienced anything like it and I loved it."

My view was spectacular. I gazed at her body above, watching her lift and knead her big tits while she thought about fucking Travis. She delicately tweaked her nipples.

"I won't lie," she said. "After so many years of you as my only lover, to feel Natchu's hands on me just about gave me a heart attack. Feeling him inside me, a new lover after so long, drove me crazy. Remember how wet I got, Baby? I was dizzy with excitement. After him came Travis. My sex drive woke up. Now I'm missing our naughty times. I miss the chance to act the slut."

The idea popped into my head, fully formed.

Chapter

Cigar smoke filled the small room. Each of us had our own bottle of whatever we were drinking. I was dealer on this hand and, after a quick shuffle, started flipping cards around the table. Travis had the largest stack of chips but I was a close second. The other guys were more or less tied except a young man named Alex that everyone called Ponyboy because he wore his long hair pulled back in a tail. Whatever. At least it wasn't one of those awful buns. He was almost out of chips.

As I distributed the cards around the table I noticed my hands trembled. A lot of money rested on tonight's outcome and I wanted things to go well. AECOM was looking for someone to handle their new North American accounts and two of the men present, Chen Hwa and Devi Cheng, would make the decision on that. Travis had sprinkled a few others into the crowd, men we could trust to seem indifferent but help us steer the outcome. I'd done the background research and discovered Chen and Devi had a weakness for hot American women. When I'd first presented my idea to Travis, he'd looked at me funny.

"She loves playing the whore," I'd explained. "You opened her eyes to something new. She wants to do it again."

He'd studied my face, no doubt wondering what kind of man offers his wife to other men. I didn't expect him to understand.

"All right," he'd said. "It's our best shot. Let's get these guys high and well-fucked and trust that the debt will be enough to make them sign with us."

"It's worked before," I'd added.

Travis had chuckled. "Yeah, going back to the beginning of time."

When I got home that night and told Gina my plan she fell silent and turned inwards. I worried I'd fucked up until she spoke.

"I can feel my pussy getting wet," she'd said.

I'd kept my mouth shut, letting her imagination do my work for me, and kept it closed for two weeks, never mentioning tonight again until this morning when I reminded her.

"I'll be ready," her trembling voice had said.

I finished the deal and we all started talking shit and placing bets. I acted surprised when we heard the knock at the hotel door.

"You expecting anyone?" I asked Travis.

"No," he said. "All the important people are already here."

I got up to answer the door and literally gasped. Gina looked stunning. She'd gone formal and classy with her ankle-length fitted dress, but slutty and sexy with no visible bra or panty lines. She showed little skin but fired our imaginations. The white dress looked like a thin coat of paint. She'd curled her hair too. Green eyes blazing, she swept past me into our room. I turned to see Chen and Devi light up and smile at Travis. The other men smiled too.

"My gift to you," Travis said, gesturing with his hand towards Gina. My gift to you, I thought, looking at Travis.

I returned my attention to the men. Chen and Devi stood talking to Gina, saying hello and being polite. The other men remained at the table, watching. Chen, older, square-jawed and clearly the leader, brushed a knuckle down Gina's flat tummy. He lifted his hand to do it again and pinched the neckline of her dress. Adding his other hand, he pulled down and away, tearing the thin gown down the middle. Gina jumped, frightened, and Chen slipped a hand around her throat. The room fell silent. He was gazing into Gina's eyes when he told Devi to undress. The younger man did not hesitate and I suspected this was not their first threesome together. He got naked fast.

His black pubic hair was a bird's nest with a pale worm hanging out. I was surprised how small the guy was but he was still soft so there was hope. Gina glanced once and returned her gaze to Chen.

"That dress cost five hundred dollars," she said, her voice level.

"I'll buy you three of them," Chen replied. "Strip."

I took my seat and me, Travis, and the other two guys, Ben and Alex, turned our chairs to watch. Gina stepped out of her tattered dress and reached for her high heels.

"Leave them on," Chen ordered.

Gina stood and Alex gave a low whistle.

"Holy Christ," he muttered. After a moment, he spoke again. "She's wearing wedding and engagement rings. I don't know whether to laugh at her husband or envy him. She's gorgeous but she's here, fucking other men. I seriously doubt her man knows about her secret life."

We all gawked at her beauty. I felt my penis stir. I glanced at the faces around me and every man there lusted after my wife. I fucking loved it. All eyes were glued to Gina except mine. Mine darted from face to face, savoring my wife's hypnotic effect. Gina turned to Chen, exposing her backside to us, and Alex whistled low again.

"Fucking Hell," he murmured.

Chen gave Gina instructions I couldn't hear but she knelt before him and reached for his zipper. What kind of top boss would he be? She searched inside until she found his dick and then pulled him free, slipping his soft member into her mouth. Chen gave us a thumbs-up.

He allowed my wife to suck his cock for a minute or two and then directed her to Devi while he undressed. Once naked I saw he was a big-dick top boss. Not Travis big but above average. Gina pushed Devi's dense pubic hair away and popped his dick into her mouth. Kneeling like that in her heels spread her ass cheeks, showing us audience members her pussy and asshole. Every time her head bobbed on Devi's dick her sphincter winked at us.

Chen was naked now too and took a spot next to Devi. Everyone was smiling and laughing and enjoying the whore. It was a throw-back to business in the nineties when you'd take a client to a strip club and give him some coke. The US has gotten away from those times but Asia still loves them. Travis had called this one perfectly.

Gina shoved their hips to get them closer and then took turns sucking their cocks. Once the initial adrenaline died down Travis moved us all to the bedroom. Gina left her high heels on. She crawled to the center of the bed and faced us.

"Who's first?" she asked with a wicked smile.

Chen snorted a laugh. "Not one then the other," he said. "You fuck us both at the same time."

He grabbed her wrist and spun her to face Devi, then shoved her hips down at the mattress. He held his hard dick and aimed it at her slit. No romance, no seduction, not even a kiss. Just fuck and suck, bitch. From the front Devi offered his erect penis and the men began to fuck my wife at both ends. Chen gave Travis another thumbs-up.

Yeah, have fun, boys.

I did not like the way they treated her. Gina was too busy to complain but the men were disrespectful in everything they did, calling her bitch and whore and handling her roughly. They had zero interest in her pleasure. They cared nothing about her experience tonight. They cared about themselves only and enjoyed the power they felt they had over her because she'd been paid for.

This was not how I pictured this night going. I noticed Travis watching me. Would he side with them or me? Had his history with Gina formed a connection? Would he care about her?

Chen pushed Gina aside and flopped onto the bed, lying on his back.

"Get on it," he told her, holding his dick straight up.

Gina straddled him and reached beneath, finding his dick and circling her hole with it. His head dipped a few times and then she sank inches onto him.

"Fuck her ass," Chen told Devi.

The words rung in my ear. Now wait a Goddamn minute, I thought. Gina doesn't do that.

"Sorry, boys," she said. "That's an exit only."

Chen gripped her throat, pulling her face down to his.

"You will do what we say. We decide, not you."

Gina looked frightened. I was half a heartbeat away from pulling them off her when Travis spoke.

"Actually," he began, "since I'm the one that paid for her she must do what I say."

I held my breath as everyone hung on his next words. He sent his gaze around to each of us, lingering when he got to me.

"Devi, be gentle but yeah, no way is she leaving this room an anal virgin."

My heart sank. Gina's face twisted with anxiety and fear. What could I do? My mind raced for a solution, some way to stop the inevitable. Gina turned her pleading eyes to Travis but he merely raised an eyebrow, unconcerned.

The bed rocked as an eager Devi moved behind her. Chen pulled her hips onto his meat until her labia mashed his balls. Devi spit in his hand and lubed the tip of his dick and I was grateful for his smallish size. He had length but his girth was less than mine. Chen gripped Gina's hair and pulled her lips down for a kiss, which raised her ass. Devi took that moment to direct his cock to her puckered sphincter and press. Gina whined.

"Relax," Travis said. "Push like you're trying to force something out."

Gina somehow heard his advice and I saw her rosebud lift, a tiny pink volcano. Devi's slick dick head spread her ring and slipped inside. Gina groaned deeply, one cock in her pussy and now another in her ass. Devi eased an inch into her bowels and Gina gasped, her back involuntarily arching. Devi spit again, a fat dollop dropping between her cheeks. He partially withdrew to wet his dick and then sank several inches into my wife's rectum. Gina groaned loudly through an open mouth. Devi paused a heartbeat before sliding another inch deep.

Deep furrows appeared on Gina's forehead and she gasped. A moment later Devi's hairy testicles came to rest against Chen's. The men held themselves still and Gina's eyes slowly grew large.

"Jesus!" she moaned. "Ungh! Fuck that's intense."

Travis chuckled.

Chen began an easy in and out and my wife gasped again, loud. Disbelief flooded her face.

"Mmmmmmm oh!" she moaned. "Oh, fuck. I never..."

Her words were lost as she dropped her forehead to Chen's shoulder. Her arms trembled. Her big tits wobbled. Devi waited until Chen had a smooth rhythm and then he began sawing in and out too. Gina's pussy was stretched around Chen's stiff erection, her pink sphincter stretched tightly around Devi's dick. The men worked together, filling and fucking my wife's holes, until her breathing became ragged.

"I don't believe," she mumbled, utterly surprised. "I'm gonna cum. Fuck. Fuck!"

Devi pumped a little faster and Chen probed deeper with each thrust. Gina rolled her eyes, almost panicked, overwhelmed by the rapidly rising waves of pleasure.

Alex, Ponyboy, left his seat, too excited to merely voyeur. He whipped his pants and shirt off and moved to Gina's face. His young cock was smooth and almost hairless, jutting from his body semi erect. He waited for Gina to grab him but she was busy holding herself up with both arms so he tilted her head back and poked her mouth with his dick. My wife opened right up. Alex pushed to the back of her throat all at once, gagging her. She must have clenched her pussy and asshole because Chen and Devi groaned simultaneously. Alex held her head in a firm grip and began fucking her mouth.

I leaned back in my chair. What an insane sight.

"That's fucking hot," Travis said.

I glanced at my boss. He had his big dick out, masturbating, watching my whore wife take cock in every hole. A look at Ben showed him jacking off too.

Devi pumped my wife faster, hissing in her ear to get ready for his cum.

Dear God, I thought, he's going to spray sperm in her ass.

My penis jumped at the thought. As concern for her evaporated, raw lust at the spectacle heated my mind. That was Gina on the bed, my wife, taking three men at the same time.

Travis stripped and Ben joined him and now I felt weird, the only man dressed in a room of naked people. I took my clothes off too, watching Devi fuck Gina's asshole harder and deeper. Alex had leaned over and added spit to her butt and Devi used the new lubrication to pound her. Gina moaned around the cock in her mouth, sucking hard and working her pelvis. She winced at occasional pain but was moaning almost continually from pleasure.

Devi grabbed her hips and slammed his cock deep, howling as he erupted, roaring as he blasted her insides with searing sperm. Gina felt and heard him go off and a mind-shattering orgasm rocked her. She screamed around the cock stuffed in her gullet, her body rigid, her skin flushing bright pink. I couldn't imagine what she must be feeling but I can say I've never seen her cum so hard. Nothing even close. Alex and Chen kept thrusting, driving her insane, fucking her senseless.

Devi finished spurting and, after catching his breath, withdrew his softening penis. Alex wasted no time, popping his dick out of her mouth and moving behind her. Gina panicked for a moment but Ponyboy gave her no time, using Devi's semen as lube and shoving his fat cock into her gaping hole.

"Arrrgghhh!" she cried, suddenly stuffed with two dicks again.

"Fucking hot and fucking tight," Alex said. "Get over here, Ben."

Ben left his chair to offer Gina his dick. She was disoriented at first and he needed to brush his head across her lips a few times, but then instinct took over and she sucked the new offered cock into her mouth. Soon the three men moved in rhythm again, using her to pleasure themselves. Gina was all for it now. I saw how she loved feeling trapped, sandwiched between horny men and hard dicks, exploited for their enjoyment.

Alex blew his load next, pumping my wife's ass with hot cum again. Ben took his place and now, well lubricated and slippery, her asshole almost reached up to grab his dick and pull him inside. Alex held her hips and thrust deep, absolutely thrilled to fuck this gorgeous woman's ass. I suspected he was losing his anal virginity in this moment too. Travis chuckled watching the younger man pound my wife.

Ponyboy rode her hard. Each glimpse of his cock showed me pulsing rigid veins and tight swollen skin. He grunted and groaned and Chen said something about feeling him through the thin wall separating their cocks. Gina sucked air and cried out, sobbing with yet another climax.

"Get up there," Travis told me. "You're going to fuck her too."

His eyes were hard and cold. For someone who craves power, this was an epic moment. Travis was totally in charge of us all. I left my chair and approached Gina's face. She came around enough to recognize this erection belonged to me and lifted my testicles with a palm. I'd never fucked her ass. How strange my first time would be under orders of another man. She looked up at me, eyes unfocussed, lost in a cloud of mind-altering pleasure.

"Will you add to theirs?" she murmured.

"Yes," I admitted.

"Fuuuuuuck," she exhaled.

Apparently, the idea appealed to her. No loving and intimate bedroom setting for us. No private shared moment between husband and wife. I'd be spraying my semen on top of three loads already swimming inside her. The act would be stripped of any affection and warmth. I was just another man, fourth in line to conquer her virgin ass.

"You're already hard," she accused.

What could I say? Hard dicks do not lie.

A wave of wickedness washed over her face. She gripped my balls and pulled me closer, snaking a tongue around my dick head and then sucking me in to wet me. After only a minute, she spit me out.

"Do it," she groaned, her voice taut with lust.

I moved behind her but before I could push my dick in, Chen groaned and exploded inside her pussy. I'd almost forgotten about the man. I listened as this Asian businessman flooded my wife's womb. A glance down showed me his balls rising and falling again and again. Gina pressed her hips to his to capture every drop and I took that moment to penetrate my woman's asshole. I slipped in easy and smooth, her tight rectum closing around me like a hot fist. My penis swam in cum as I began to fuck her butt. Travis slowly applauded.

Chen came forever. Every time I thought he'd finished he'd grunt and groan and shoot again. I fucked Gina with a slow and steady pace, giving Chen time to unload. Once he finally finished, he softened and fell from her pussy. I felt his absence immediately.

"My turn," Travis said.

Chen wiggled from under Gina and I expected Travis to take his place but he didn't. He nudged my shoulder. I was confused for a moment then realized he wanted her ass. I hate admitting this but I was disappointed. I know this was no way for Gina and I to experience our first anal sex but now that I was in her, I wanted to finish. I withdrew my erection and stepped aside, as Travis quickly moved between her knees. He held her butt with one hand and his big cock with the other.

"Tell me to fuck your ass, Gina," he commanded.

My wife did not hesitate.

"Do it," she hissed. "God! Your big cock will tear me apart."

Travis grinned and bent his dick towards her hole, smothering the tiny ring, drawing nearby skin in with his head. He gently pushed and Gina's asshole flowered to accept him, a deep groan pouring from her throat. His thickness forced her butt cheeks apart. He leaned over her body and flexed his hips and I watched every inch burrow into her bowels. Her ring was stretched tight, white and struggling to accommodate him. He continued until his large testicles rested against her pussy.

"Oh my fucking God," Gina groaned.

Travis held himself still, giving her time to relax a bit, then pulled halfway out and slid home again.

"Unnngh! That's good," my wife whimpered. "Again."

Travis gloated, holding her waist with both hands and picking up speed. His fat cock was slippery with semen as he plunged into her guts again and again. To my undying surprise, Gina came again, screaming loud and cumming hard purely from his cock in her ass. I never thought such a thing possible but he left her sobbing, head down and ass up. She was utterly defeated and he knew it, fucking her ass strong and smooth. When she came again minutes later it was her body responding. Her mind seemed shut down, lost in euphoria. Travis kept fucking her hole until he picked up speed and sucked a lungful of air. With an enormous bellow, he blew gobs of hot jizz deep, spurting and spraying and pumping hot sperm until his big balls were empty.

He fell aside, breathing hard, dizzy and smiling.

"Okay," he said, waving a hand. "Now you can finish."

I'm a bastard. I was unconcerned about my wife but desperate to release my load. I carried so much sexual tension by what I'd seen my penis throbbed with need. Gina slumped to the bed, seemingly asleep, but I didn't care. I left her down there, spread her ass cheeks to find her butthole, and forced my pulsing dick inside. She grunted softly. Her tight ring massaged my dick and I lasted only minutes before convulsing like an idiot, drooling and moaning as I spewed.

We lay like scattered dolls around the room. Some on the bed, some fallen into chairs. Gina touched my shoulder after a long while and I rolled off her. She left the bed for the bathroom and I heard the shower. None of us men spoke. Devi looked asleep.

Gina returned, nude and looking well fucked, and surveyed the room.

"Who's ready for more?" she asked.

My jaw dropped.

Travis raised a hand, lifting his heavy cock with the other. Gina moved to take his hand and lead him to the bathroom where the shower still ran. I closed my eyes.

What a night.

Yes, we landed the AECOM account.

Chapter

Our life was never the same. I could tell you Pandora's box had been opened and now Gina craved more than just me but that would be a half truth. The whole truth is I wanted more as much as she.

Travis virtually vanished after that night but her need to play the whore only got stronger. We invented a game. I'd drop her at a hotel bar filled with business men and pretend I didn't know her. Then I'd sit and watch as she worked her way through a variety of suitors until she found one she desired. Soon they'd make their way upstairs to his room and I'd wait, my lust growing by leaps and bounds until she'd return, sometimes soon, sometimes not for hours. We'd hurry home to mind-blowing sex as she related every detail of what happened to her. She became a master story-teller, twisting the knife in my guts as she drove me crazy and made my dick diamond hard.

On several occasions, she pretended she wanted more than one man that night and I was chosen as her second. I'd join them in his room and together he and I would fuck her to within an inch of her life.

Not exactly honest but at least we were no longer lying to each other.

Yesterday Gina got a text. Natchu would visit Las Vegas in three weeks for a convention and he'd like to meet her. Before I could offer an opinion, she cut me off.

"Just me," she said. "He's mine alone. There is no logical reason for you to be there so I will meet him by myself. I'll probably spend the night with him. I know that will freak you out but I promise to tell you everything when I get home. Do you trust me?"

Isn't it funny? Now, after all we'd done, I did.

End.
