

Matthew Lee

Lily
Learns
to perform

Lily Learns to Perform

By Matthew Lee

BunnyLovesBigCarrots@gmail.com

Chapter 1

I moved the laptop closer and ran the numbers again. The Spring Valley store almost certainly had a thief on payroll. I'd drive out tomorrow after my morning meeting. I looked up the store manager's name, Leo, and sent a quick email letting him know I'd be there before noon.

Lily finished in the bathroom and crawled into bed next to me. She wore a thin, light blue nightie which had an elastic band running under her big tits, making them look even bigger. I loved that nightie. She propped pillows behind her back and pulled the comforter over her stomach, and then opened the script she'd been reading. She curled the soft cover all the way around the spine. With perfect precision, we leaned over to kiss simultaneously. I returned to my computer, she to her dog-eared play. We read in silence for a long time.

"Uh oh," she said.

"What?"

"Don't get mad, Luke."

I waited. She knows I can't say I won't until I know what it is.

"Act two has a nude scene."

I was surprised. "Again? Like, completely naked?"

"No, just topless." She referred to the script briefly. "Jimmy and I are in bed talking like you and I are now. He's wearing boxers and I have on panties but no top."

"Gratuitous nudity. Why are you topless?"

She read half a page more. "The note in the margin says Jerry, the author, is trying to create a sense of comfortable intimacy which leads to love-making. Jimmy and I have been married ten years and this scene shows we are best friends but still have a spark. We joke and laugh and wrestle around a little and then fade to black as things turn serious." She continued reading.

“Well, I’m not inviting our friends to this one.”

“That’s fine.”

“When’s the play open?”

“Three weeks.

“Hm. How many rehearsals?”

“Ten.”

I clamped my jaw. Five years ago, Lily admitted she’d always wanted to act. Not movie acting, real acting. On stage. I said if that makes you happy I support your decision so she started taking classes and auditioning. Producers and directors loved her; big eyes, big boobs, full lips, and a gorgeous face gains you a lot of attention. She quickly moved on from bit parts and for the last year has carried lead roles. Monday through Friday she sells cosmetics at the Macys counter but when the weekend arrives, watch out. My petite wife transforms into a tigress.

This was not her first topless scene. She had zero nudity the first four years but once she agreed to her first scene, every director wanted her to do another. I don’t blame them. Lily’s tits were a great way to draw attention to their play and sell tickets, but I hated it. I’ve been to every opening night and seen the men in the crowd gawk at her. She hates it too.

“I’m coming to the first rehearsal,” I said. “I’ll sit in the auditorium and work on my laptop. I want Jimmy and what’s-his-name to remember you’re married.”

“Gavin.”

“Yes, Gavin.”

“Luke, Jimmy and Gavin know I’m married but if that would make you feel better about the scene, then come down. I’m not thrilled about showing my boobs either. We’ll be at the Reynolds theater Thursday night at eight. Both those guys are consummate professionals. You have nothing to worry about.”

My computer beeped at me. The store manager had answered and said he looked forward to my visit.

Chapter 2

The thief turned out to be the assistant manager and I had to terminate him on the spot and process the paperwork. The manager thanked me profusely. He saw I was rushed for time and asked me where I was headed.

“My wife is an aspiring actress. She has a rehearsal tonight at The Reynolds downtown and I promised to attend. I’m already late.”

“The Reynolds? I know it. I used to be a house painter and sometimes still paint sets and props. I know a few industry people. Cool that we have that in common.”

I grinned. We shook hands and I left.

I got to the theater close to nine. I parked in the alley and used the employee door which is always held open with a cinderblock. Lily has been at this long enough I know some names and faces so I was waved through by the small group of actors outside sharing a cigarette. I worked my way around the stage, avoiding scenery and racks of costumes. I cut behind the stage by hiding behind the backdrop curtain, and came out on the landing next to the stairs which led down to the dressing rooms and the hallway out to seating. I walked about twenty rows up and cut into the auditorium.

Lily and Jimmy were already on stage, along with the director. A spotlight lit the bed and the fake walls looked like a cheap apartment. Jimmy was six inches taller than the director and towered a full foot over my wife. Lily wore only panties and covered her breasts with her arms. Jimmy wore boxers and was as comfortable as a cat in a box.

The director seemed agitated but I was too far away to hear words. He kept pointing at the fake apartment door and then waving at the bed, and Jimmy would follow with a point at the kitchen and a wave at the bed. Clearly, they had creative differences. This went on for a minute and then Lily put a hand on each man’s chest, exposing her amazing round tits, and said something pleading. The men calmed down.

The director was an odd-looking dude; jet black hair slicked back and a Balbo cut on his mustache and goatee. I saw black painted fingernails even from this distance. A single silver-rod earring dangled.

Jimmy and Goatee shook hands and my wife and Jimmy climbed into bed. As they worked through their lines, the director circled, asking them to try different positions. He had them sit up and lie down side by side. He had Jimmy stand by the bed while Lily leaned against the headboard. Frustrated, he had Jimmy lie on his back and Lily straddle him. I did not like where this was going.

Lily tossed her leg over his body and settled into place. Jimmy had her make a few adjustments and then the director made them start their lines from the top. He seemed happier. They all conferred for a minute and then Lily rolled onto her back and Jimmy moved between her legs, missionary position. My heart stopped. The director seemed thrilled. He backed away to frame them, nodding his head with appreciation.

“From the top,” I heard him yell.

Lily and Jimmy were comfortable lovers laughing and playing in bed. My mouth went dry. They worked through their lines as Jimmy looked down at my wife. With the covers around his waist, I knew he was gazing at her pretty face and perfect tits. Her hand came up to his arm, touching him with familiar intimacy, and he brushed a strand of long black hair off her face. I swear they were about to make love. She slapped his shoulder playfully. The director looked ecstatic, making rapid little golf-claps.

Lily crossed her ankles behind Jimmy’s back. He leaned over her, resting his weight on his fists. Their faces moved closer. Jimmy adjusted his hips and Lily’s face changed from a sweet smile to shocked surprise before quickly changing back. They finished their dialog and looked up at the director and he clapped his hands again.

“Perfect!” he yelled. “Again.”

They repeated everything except Lily’s face showed no surprise this time. When they finished their lines all three spoke another minute and then the director exited stage right, no doubt going to bring the other actors on stage. Lily and Jimmy held their positions, keeping their voices low, and then Jimmy climbed off and stood next to the bed. The tent of his boxers was ridiculous. Lily giggled and Jimmy acted embarrassed, fetching a robe from under the bed. He reached inside his underwear and pulled his erection straight up and snapped the elastic band. Lily laughed out loud. No part of him was ever exposed but what he had done was obvious.

He tied the sash as the other actors took their places and the walls of the apartment lifted overhead to be replaced by a city scape. Some old-timer appeared and wheeled the bed off stage. Jimmy and Lily exited stage left. I knew that hallway led to the dressing rooms. I wondered if Lily was finished for the evening and a few minutes later I got my answer. Nope. She jogged up the side of the theater and then cut across to my seat. She wore a robe now too. We kissed.

“How was I?”

“Utterly believable.”

She kissed me again. “You say the sweetest things.”

I jerked my chin towards the stage. “What happened up there? James moved his hips and you looked surprised for a second.”

“Oh, no, that was a look of discomfort. His hand was on my hair.”

“I thought maybe his erection poked you.”

She laughed. “A minute earlier he did poke my shin but who cares? You poor men can’t hide your feelings. Not that feeling anyway. He was so embarrassed.”

I tried to read how she truly felt but she seemed unperturbed. She is an actress, I reminded myself. “So what now? How much longer are you here?”

She watched the other actors for a moment, calculating. “An hour? They’re reworking scene one. Sebastian can’t stand Tommy and wants to cut him.”

“Sebastian’s an odd fellow.”

“He is but so is every director. I hear he’s into weird stuff outside the acting business. Are you going to stay? Gavin and Jimmy said to tell you hello.”

I had my laptop with me but based on what I’d seen so far, and the long day I’d had, I was ready to head home. “Tell them I say hello back. I’m going to head out. I’ll heat you some leftover spaghetti if you text me before you leave here.”

She kissed me again. “You are the sweetest man.”

“So they say.”

We hugged and then I headed for the main exit. I was ten feet from my car when I searched my pockets and realized I’d dropped my phone somewhere inside.

“Fuck.”

The front doors had locked behind me so I had to loop around again to the employee door. Good ole cinderblock. The players were practicing a nighttime scene and all the house light were off. I peeked out and discovered with the one spotlight shining down, the auditorium seats were invisible to the actors on stage. I carefully retraced my footsteps, cutting behind the backdrop again. When I heard murmuring behind some costume racks ahead, I approached silently.

Violet, the pretty blonde who always got supporting roles, was kissing Jimmy.

“Just a taste,” she said, pleading.

Jimmy hesitated and then said, in his famous Australian accent: “Hurry.”

Violet dropped down and opened his robe. She pulled the elastic of his underwear down and out flopped a hefty penis. That explained the absurd tent earlier; Jimmy had a long, thick cock. Violet opened her mouth and vacuumed the head and two inches and started bobbing fast. Jimmy’s head fell back, his hands landing on her hair. The girl struggled but he was bulky, and growing hard fast.

“People!” Sebastian cried, loud enough for the entire theater to hear him. “I’d like a quick walkthrough of scene eleven in three minutes.”

“Shit,” Jimmy said. “Stop Vee. I’m in scene eleven.”

Violet whimpered in frustration and sucked once extra hard but then put him away and came up to kiss him. Jimmy tied his sash and ran his fingers through his wavy blonde hair. They both laughed awkwardly and parted in opposite directions. I returned to my seat, found my phone on the floor, and got the hell out of there.

Chapter 3

The sight of Jimmy’s cock haunted me. I’m not stupid. I know I’m a jealous guy but I have good reason. Lily says she doesn’t care and I believe her but I wonder if that’s because she’s only been with one other guy, back in high school, and that was just hand-jobs far out on the soccer field. A lot of things don’t bother you because you don’t know any better. I guess I’m a little insecure. Jimmy is tall and handsome and has a goddamn Australian accent. Now I learn he’s hung too? Violet is gorgeous and happily married, or so I thought, yet she practically begged Jimmy to suck his dick. This is the man my wife is doing nude scenes with.

Terrific.

I said nothing to Lily; this was my problem, not hers. I trusted her and that was the end of that. But I seriously debated ever going to another rehearsal. Could I trust myself? This was her dream and no way would I make a huge mess of it. Out of sight is out of mind. I'd stay away.

As opening night drew closer, Lily got nervous. She mentioned Sebastian was well-connected in New York and Los Angeles and some big-name critics would attend. I did everything I could to reassure her.

After she mentioned the director I did some digging on my own. Sebastian Shawl was his full name and he'd produced and directed a good number of off-off-Broadway plays. He had a reputation for scandal, however, with a couple of drug busts under his belt and a few citations for lascivious behavior; mostly actors on stage showing more skin than whatever local ordinance allowed. In all the pictures I saw of him, his date was as likely to be a woman as a man.

The critics loved him. They called him unpredictable, even on well-known plays, and was known for getting top-notch emotional performances from his actors. As if on cue, Lily started coming home emotionally drained. She was getting so nervous she made me nervous so I snuck in to one of the last rehearsals so I could tell her what I thought.

This time I slipped all the way to the back and climbed the stairs to the balcony. I sat through the first few scenes and noted everyone was on edge. Their performances were much improved, however, so credit where credit is due. Sebastian had them wound tight and each of them delivered their lines with that coiled tension great actors have. As each of them finished, Shawl dismissed them for the night.

At last the old-timer set up for the bedroom scene. Jimmy came out in his robe with Lily a minute behind him. Sebastian spoke with his actors, coaching and encouraging, and then they untied their sashes to get in bed.

What. The. Fuck.

This time they wore nothing underneath! Lily and Jimmy stood there naked for a brief second before slipping under the covers. He was muscular and a little hairy and of course she looked stunning. Sebastian pulled the covers up and adjusted the pillows just so and then sat on the bed to talk. Everyone was so professional and unassuming. I realized they must have made these changes weeks ago. The director backed away and signaled the old man and the lights dimmed and then slowly came up to open the scene. Because they started in bed and the scene ended with a fade to black, the audience would never know the actors were nude under the covers. But the actors knew and wow, did that energize their performance. Every word exchanged carried an electrical charge. When the moment arrived for Jimmy to roll over between her legs, I had to cover my mouth. I couldn't breathe. My palms were as sweaty as my forehead.

I still couldn't hear the dialog; microphones would take care of that while the show ran, but I did notice subtle changes in the way they spoke to each other. Originally they'd been best friends with a spark. Now they were passionate lovers with a strong friendship. Just like before, her hand came up to his arm, touching him with familiar intimacy, and he brushed a strand of long black hair off her face. She slapped his shoulder playfully.

I saw his hips move slightly and a javelin pierced my heart. I bit the back of my hand to stay silent. That big Australian cock was between her legs, probably only inches from her married pussy. I was dying. I watched her for any sign of surprise whatsoever. If Jimmy tried anything, I would be on that stage fists swinging. I saw nothing except two polished professionals doing an outstanding job. By the time the scene ended, I was shaking all over. Holy shit.

I got out of there. While they sat around discussing the finer points and perhaps any last-minute changes, I took the main exit, careful to close the door silently, and jogged to my car. I needed a fucking drink. I knew nothing happened. I was right there and saw with my own eyes nothing happened. But Christ Almighty was I ever upset.

I stopped at the pub by the house and ordered a shot of Gentleman Jim.

Either I tell her she must stop or I accept that Lily will take roles that challenge us, and no way could I tell her to stop. I ordered another shot. I hadn't told her I was coming and she hadn't invited me, so technically I spied on her, although I believed she'd forgive that. But what could I say about what I'd seen? She'd done nothing wrong. I just didn't like it, in fact I hated it, but I wasn't even supposed to be there.

If Jimmy's cock had haunted me the first time, now I was obsessed. In my mind, I saw in perfect slow-motion clarity Lily sliding across the bed and then Jimmy taking the covers, pulling them back as his big cock swung around, and then slipping under the covers with my wife. I told myself to knock it off. I ordered one more shot and then paid my tab and headed for home.

Lily arrived an hour after me. I'd calmed a great deal but was still agitated and she sensed it. I blamed it on work. I poured her some red wine and myself another splash of Jack and joined her in the den.

"How was rehearsal tonight?" I said, pleasantly.

"Amazing. Sebastian is a genius. He has us using method-acting techniques to heighten our emotions and they work incredibly well."

"Like what?"

"Well, sometimes before a conflict scene he'll pick a fight or say something nasty, just to rile us up. If we have a joyful scene coming up he shows us funny animal videos on his laptop back stage."

She took a gulp of wine.

"For the sex scenes he has us wear less and for the sad scenes he asks us about loved ones who have passed or our favorite sad movies. He's really good."

You're really good, I thought, admiring how she quickly skipped over the naked in bed with each other part. I knew, in her mind, she now felt like she'd mentioned it to me. She wasn't trying to be deceptive or underhanded, the subject simply made her too uncomfortable. She wanted desperately to avoid talking about it at all. If I'm honest, I wanted that too. Truly, I wanted the whole thing to go away. Opening night could not get here soon enough.

"Hungry?" I asked, changing the subject.

"Famished."

I ordered pizza.

At work the next day I saw the image of Jimmy climbing into bed with my wife a thousand times. Not until lunch did I remember his ball sack matched the size of his dick, and Lily had looked right at it. At least it seemed like she had. I threw myself into spreadsheets and charts and managed to forget about everything until time to go home.

We ate salads for dinner and moved to the den for a movie before bed but we only watched the first ten minutes. Lily turned around on the couch so her head was on my chest and then she slipped lower to my stomach and then I felt her nimble fingers at my pajama bottoms and her hot mouth close around my penis. This was the release I needed and apparently so did she.

I got hard in an instant and she commented how stiff I felt and then she rolled over and pulled me between her legs. Missionary. The same position Jimmy held between her legs. I was bothered that she wanted me that way but maybe that was just because we were on the couch.

Regardless, when her tight, wet pussy enveloped my penis I groaned and started fucking her. Rough.

I can't say we never have sex like that but it is rare. The harder I hammered her the more she wanted. Her fingernails stabbed my ass and she hooked her ankles behind my back. Just like Jimmy. I worried for an instant that I'd lose my erection because of it but not even close. I mauled her big tits and she cried out and I had her so close to cumming I couldn't believe it. I twisted her nipples and put off my own ejaculation and kept going until I broke a sweat. She was so close.

I moved one hand to her throat. I'd never done this and partially I had to for balance on the couch but she loved it. She grabbed my wrist with both hands and started slamming her hips up to meet mine and then she screamed and shot one hand down to her clit and rubbed furiously as she came on my dick.

My dick. I made her cum with my dick.

I think the last time that happened was our honeymoon. I was so excited and happy. The instant I saw her peak and start to come back down I let go and shot my load inside her. She urged me to give her every drop.

We collapsed in a heap. After we caught our breath we turned off the movie and went to bed. We cuddled but did not discuss what happened or how unusual it was.

Two days later we did it again. In fact, for the next ten days leading up to opening night, we had sex five. I'm sure for Lily it was just nerves, but I sure welcomed it.

Chapter 4

Opening night. Lily drove herself to the theater. I put on a suit and tie and arrived later, taking my seat out in the auditorium. The place filled up quickly. I guess Shawl's reputation carried some weight. The lights flickered, people took their seats, the show began.

For one hundred minutes, I sat as riveted as everyone else, but when the lights went down for the final scene change, and then came up to show

Lily and Jimmy in bed together, I was on the edge of my seat.

Lily spoke first, the amplifiers sending her voice around the auditorium, and then Jimmy. He rolled onto his back and then a minute later turned on his side, facing her. The comforter fell slightly and there they were; my wife's perfect tits for everyone to see. Nobody in this sophisticated crowd batted an eye. The lovers continued their dialog, edging ever closer to each other, slowly turning up the heat. I knew they were naked under that duvet; two hot bodies, so close, touching.

Jimmy, a huge smile on his charming face, rolled over between my wife's legs. Again. I tried to swallow but could not. He lifted himself over her and I felt the tension in the crowd. They traded lines, flirting, sexy, and then he leaned down to kiss her. The crowd held their collective breath. I'll give them credit; they made a sexy couple. When his hips began to move under the blanket, a wave of sexual tension swept those gathered. I swear the temperature in the building rose. All those people sat watching this handsome Aussie pretend to make love to my topless wife.

My penis started to stiffen.

My jaw literally dropped half an inch. What the fuck was I thinking? What was happening here? I shot back in my chair, sitting up straight, eyes riveted to the stage. Jimmy's hips rose and fell, smooth and strong, and Lily gave a gasp and circled his neck with her arms. Someone behind and to the left of me whispered: "That's sexy," but I dared not see who for fear of missing something onstage. The lovers finished their lines and the lights faded to black. As quickly as my erection began, it reversed. The curtain fell.

Thunderous applause rocked the room. More than half stood and some of the younger yuppie-types whistled. The couple seated in front of me stood so I did too. I wanted to see the stage when the curtain opened and the actors took their bows. Thirty seconds later that's what happened. The curtain rose and there was everyone, including Lily and Jimmy in thick, fluffy white robes. The cast bowed as one and more applause broke out and soon the curtain fell again. The house lights came up and the rear double doors opened. People began filing out. I waited, and when the way was clear I headed in the other direction for the small curtain which led backstage.

The cast was hugging and smiling and sipping champagne. I gave Lily the roses I'd brought and she introduced me to those I didn't know, including Sebastian.

“What did you think?” he asked.

“Brilliant,” I replied, because it seemed like a good theater word, “and the audience thought so too. Well done, everyone.”

Most of the actors wanted to talk to other actors about what they felt while they were acting, so I hung around for a few minutes and then told Lily I’d see her at home. She apologized but I said I understood. We shuffled to the side and kissed goodbye hidden in a corner.

“Did you really like it?” she asked.

“I did. The sex scenes were hard to take but stunning. I was drawn in. We all were. I may be biased but you especially stood out.”

“Oh my God, Luke, that’s what the others are saying too. I can’t believe this. I’m so happy. Thank you so much, Baby.”

“I’m happy you’re happy, Love.”

We kissed and hugged and I told her to go mingle with her friends. She took two steps and then turned. “We may go for a drink after. Is that alright?”

“Of course. Be safe and text me updates. Let me know when you’re coming home. I love you.”

“I love you, Luke.”

I watched her go. Violet swooped on her and another girl whose name I did not remember and all of them laughed and hugged. I let myself out.

On the drive home, I remembered my spontaneous semi-erection and replayed the moment. What had caused that reaction? I examined the thing from every angle but never found an answer.

Lily got home at two. She stank of alcohol and cigarette smoke and was slightly tipsy. I was asleep on top of the covers when I felt her mouth on my penis. We didn’t speak. We ripped her clothing off as fast as possible and I threw her on the bed and pounced. We lay side by side for a moment and she tugged at my dick but as soon as I was hard she rolled onto her back and pulled me on top. Missionary again. I did not care. I pinned her wrists up on the pillows and pounded my petite wife’s pussy. She crossed her ankles behind me, pulling my hips forward with each thrust. In no time at all I felt my cum rise. I rolled off and buried my face in her sweaty crotch and licked her smoldering pussy from clit to asshole. I was a fiend. She was surprisingly wet. I drove her wild with my tongue until I ripped a strong orgasm from her and then shoved my penis back in and fucked her until I came. We fell asleep just like that.

The play ran every Friday and Saturday night for five weeks, selling out each time. Not Carnegie Hall but I can tell you the cast was ecstatic to see every seat filled every performance. The local papers gave it rave reviews and even some national papers mentioned it.

For five weeks, Lily was as horny as an alley cat.

I missed those other performances but did attend closing night. That show was a flawless performance like all the rest and I found myself once again drawn in during the bedroom scene. The hushed crowd hung on their every word and when Jimmy's hips began to rise and fall just before the fade, a collective sighed washed over the crowd, especially from the women. I made my way backstage again with another bouquet of roses but the place was packed with fans, well-wishers, and stage hands disassembling everything. I couldn't reach Lily's dressing room so I stood off to the side.

I was still standing there a few minutes later when the old guy wheeled the bed into one of the wings. He bagged the pillows and stripped the sheets and tossed them over some taut wire to air out. I scanned the crowd, just watching all the activity, and then my eyes came around slowly to the sheets and there it was; a wet spot as big as a basketball. I moved closer.

"Somebody spill something?" I asked, indicating the spot with a jerk of my chin.

The old man chuckled.

"Right. That's the star of the show, Lily, drying right there."

I went cold.

"What do you mean?"

He looked around in a co-conspirator kind of way and stepped closer to me.

"I'm not saying they do anything under there, but Jimmy gets that girl's juices flowing. Every night I need to wash and dry these sheets. Don't tell her husband, but Lily has the hots for Jimmy." He laughed quietly.

I laughed with him in an equal co-conspirator kind of way. "Don't worry, I won't. Have you seen Violet?" I held the rose up an inch.

He pointed across the room. "Over there somewhere."

I thanked him and he ambled off on his next errand. I fixed my eyes on that wet spot and stared, my heart pumping ice water around my body.

Was that all Lily? Or was that Lily and Jimmy? I risked a step closed and stared at the sheet for two full seconds. No, no way. That was Lily and just Lily. I felt some relief for a moment until I remembered that was Lily's pussy juice for another man. I returned to my previous spot casting only the occasional suspicious glance at the sheet.

I had no idea how to feel. On one hand, I understood excite at a moment like that and her wet pussy could be as meaningful as my erection while masturbating to Olivia Munn on the Internet. On the other hand, women aren't men and a wet pussy can be very fucking meaningful. Either way, I wasn't angry at Lily and I wasn't angry at Jimmy. I thought about it for a minute and decided I was angry at Sebastian.

He put them in that ridiculous position. Naked? Seriously? Totally unprofessional. I searched the crowd until I saw him and his black goatee talking to some reporter and I glared at him, trying to muster some hate, but I couldn't. I truly wanted Lily to succeed at this dream of hers and if that meant taking chances then so be it.

"Luke!"

I looked up and there she was, standing on a chair and waving her arms. She looked beautiful in a loose white linen top. I waved back and she pointed at an exit halfway between us. I made my way through the crowd and then waited for her outside the door to finish hugging and shaking hands and then there she was, radiant and gorgeous and full of life. We hugged and kissed passionately.

"You were amazing," I said.

She beamed. "Thank you so much for coming, Honey. I know I've often been unavailable because of this thing. I loved it but I'm glad it's over. Let's go home."

"Home? Really? Don't you actor types celebrate when a show closes?"

"Yes. The gang is headed for Arthur's downtown. Would you like to join them?"

"It's Saturday night. Why not?"

"I'll let them know."

I waited while she made the rounds and then grabbed her purse. I offered to drive so she could drink and we'd come back for her car tomorrow. At Arthur's we ate and drank and even slipped into the alley for a quick hit of Tommy's weed.

After Tommy left I said: "I guess Sebastian never cut him."

"No. Tommy grows on you like mold." We both laughed. "Besides, I think Sebastian likes men too and rumor has it Tommy blew him in order to keep his job. Some parts of this industry never change."

We sat on wooden crates behind a dumpster and stared at the stars as the weed slowly coursed through our bodies. Within minutes I was flying. I saw Lily was too.

"Can I ask you something?" I heard myself say.

"Anything, Lover."

"With all those rehearsals and all those sold-out performances, with all that time spent naked under a blanket, did Jimmy ever accidentally slip?"

My brain reassured me this was a reasonable question. I saw Lily's face turn towards mine in slow motion. Her puffy, bloodshot eyes were slits. Her face was a frozen smile. She licked her lips several times, trying get enough spit to speak.

"Yeah."

High or not, that sent a surge of adrenaline through me. The weed muted any outrage. "I thought so."

"Three times. Never during rehearsals, always during a show. The first night, the fourth night, and the last night, tonight."

I knew deep down this was a big deal but I couldn't muster the energy this revelation deserved. At that moment, because of the weed, I saw life in a big-picture way. Little blips like this hardly mattered on the grand scale of a lifetime together.

"He never meant to, Baby. One of us would move the wrong way trying to keep the blankets from sliding off and I'd feel a moment of intense pressure and then this hot iron bar stretching me wide open. He'd pull out immediately and apologize profusely after the show."

Dear marijuana, thank you very much.

Jimmy had been inside my wife. He knew what her pussy felt like wrapped around his big cock. What about Lily? My wife had experienced another man, and a huge cock too. She'd come home to me crazy horny so many night and now I understood why. Even on the nights he didn't slip in, there was always the thought that he might. I felt an ache in my heart.

But Lily hadn't cheated on me. Lily had come home to me every night. He may have gotten her horny, but she sought sex with me for satisfaction, not him.

I was terribly confused and the weed only made things worse.

“Are you mad at me, Baby?” Lily asked.

I realized she’d been watching my face as I worked things through.

“Not really. Maybe a little at Sebastian for putting you both in that situation.”

I looked up at the stars again. I was having a hard time thinking.

“I saw Violet blow Jimmy,” I said.

“I’m not surprised. Girls throw themselves at him all the time. You should see how many phone numbers he gets after every show.”

“Is he married? Girlfriend?”

“Neither. He says he’s too focused on his acting. He has no time for a relationship. He’d feel selfish and unfair.”

Lily leaned forward, resting her elbows on her knees. She wore a floral peasant skirt with her white linen top, which I noted was no longer tied shut. Underneath, she wore a tan bralette, which looked like a sports bra made of lace. Her big tits looked amazing.

“Did you like it?”

She tried to read me. “We were in the middle of a critical scene, Honey. I had no time to like or dislike anything.”

I felt myself nodding slowly. “I get that, but in that brief first moment, that instant of shock and surprise, did you like it? Did it feel good?”

“What are you doing, Luke?”

“I’m just curious, Baby. I’m not trying to start a fight. Maybe it’s the weed talking but I wonder what it was like for you. Scientific curiosity, that’s all. I know he loved it. I’m curious about you.”

She sighed and closed her eyes. She was silent long enough I worried she’d fallen asleep.

“Be honest,” I said, nudging her.

“Alright; honesty. Yeah, it was nice. Really nice. How could it not be? I felt terrible guilt a moment later but right at first was this incredibly pleasing sensation. I felt stuffed, like my pussy was packed tight, and I had something solid to hold on to. A strong electric current flashed out into my hips and legs and stomach. But like I said, it was only for an instant. He pulled it out right away. Occupational hazard, I guess. The play is over so it won’t happen again.”

I left my box to kneel in front of her. I tilted her chin and kissed her lips. I said nothing but she knew this was me telling her everything was okay. We kissed another minute or two and rejoined the party. I can tell you I certainly looked at Jimmy in a whole new way.

For the rest of our time there, I wondered if I'd feel different when the weed and drink wore off. I worried I'd turn into an insecure asshole and start yelling or some stupid shit like that. The time came to call it a night and Lily and I said our goodbyes. We were both quiet on the drive home and as we got ready for bed, but once we were under the covers I reached for her and she was ready. We fucked like maniacs for over an hour.

I had a crazy desire to talk dirty to her, to give voice to all kinds of hot and nasty things, but I never put what I was feeling into words. I had no idea what to say. I got the impression she was in the same boat. We'd lock eyes and there'd be so much behind our gaze, but neither of us could articulate our emotions. Probably too worried about saying the wrong thing and hurting or pissing off the other person. In the end, it didn't matter; our sex was mind-blowing.

Chapter 5

For the record, when the alcohol and marijuana wore off, I kept my cool. My jealousy grew until my stomach was a tangled clump of knots, but I kept my cool. I watched Lily carefully but she was unreadable in that way women have. For a group that talks so much about sharing feelings, they sure have a talent for hiding them.

Sunday, we spent by the pool with Dawn and Randy, our best friends. We used to invite them to Lily's performances but they are more of a country music couple so we stopped and they didn't ask. Dawn is a cute blonde with small boobs and a nice ass but Randy ballooned after high school. Dawn doesn't seem to care but I use him as my motivation to watch what I eat.

We got chairs and drinks situated and plopped down to soak up sunlight.

"Oh," said Dawn. "Lily, I saw you mentioned in the Journal. Good job. They said your play was awesome and you especially stood out."

Randy raised a beer in toast.

“Thank you both,” Lily said. “I was a wreck. The director is well known and this was my biggest production. I’m so relieved it went well.”

“What’s next?”

“I’m not sure. Hamlet is auditioning at the Smith Center in August. Streetcar in October. I’m hoping I can build on my success and move a few spots up the ladder. Who knows? This business is crazy.”

“Maybe the director will fly you out for the show in New York?”

“What?”

“Did you not read your own review?” Dawn asked.

Lily looked at me.

“Lily does not read reviews.” I said.

“Smart. At the end of the article they interviewed the director and he said he’d received funding to run the show in New York City. I wondered if he’d take you with him. He has little time to prepare and you already know the show and everything.”

Lily looked at me again, her eyes hopeful and frightened.

“I’ll go find your phone,” I said.

I returned with it and Lily thumbed through dozens of congratulation text messages. Then she stopped and covered her mouth with a hand.

“Holy shit.” She handed me the phone.

I read: “Hey Lily, can you spend a few weekends away from home? I want you to star in my New York version of the show. I’ll provide airfare. Let me know.”

“When did he send that?” she asked.

“Yesterday while we were at the afterparty.”

All four of us looked at each other. Lily turned to me. “What do you think?”

“Are you kidding? I think you’re going to New York.”

Lily screamed with excitement. I gave the phone back and she went inside to make the call.

“You’re cool with her going to New York alone?” Randy said.

“Yes. Of course.”

He scoffed. “No way would I trust this one out on her own.” He jerked a thumb at Dawn who playfully bit her bottom lip and raised her eyebrows twice. “She’d end up drunk with a dick in her mouth the first night.” He laughed hard at his own tacky joke. I expected Dawn to be offended but she laughed along. I chuckled to be polite.

“Maybe I’m naïve,” I said. “But Lily is so focused on acting I doubt she’d even notice other men.”

Dawn asked for another beer so I plucked one from the cooler and handed it to her. Randy leaned back and stretched like the conversation had finished, so I did too. Lily returned soon and explained all the details. She’d arranged her schedule with Macys and Sebastian. She’d fly out Thursday nights and return Sunday nights. The show ran four weekends in a row and she left in two weeks. I checked my calendar and said I could only make the last weekend with her.

“That’s perfect, Honey. I can wrap up and fly home with you after the last show. I can’t believe this is happening!”

Chapter 6

Two weeks zipped by. She worked extra hours at Macys to cover her time away and I got busy too. I drove her to the airport Thursday night and we had time for a quick cup of coffee and then her flight was at the gate. We kissed, we hugged, and she got on the plane.

Fucking Randy’s warning followed me all the way home. I expected we’d text and talk on the phone when we could but that three-hour time difference, combined with our crazy work schedules, messed us up. Our first live conversation didn’t happen until Sunday night while she sat at the airport, ready to come home. We caught up on the week’s happenings and talked about how much we missed each other. She got home around eleven at night, I picked her up, and we raced home to get to sleep. She was exhausted and so was I. Early Monday morning we started our work week again and Thursday night saw her back on a plane. We repeated this pattern three weekends in a row.

As her final weekend approached, I finally had things under control at work and Thursday night I flew to New York with her. She had no time to spare and I must admit I was impressed by her disciplined schedule. She’d rented a little single room apartment close to the theater and had the neighborhood mapped for the best coffee, sandwiches, Italian food, and wine.

She had to go to the theater for a closing-night rehearsal and she asked me to pack up her apartment for her. Afterward I followed her maps to a great family owned coffee shop and had a cup before the show. No backstage access for me this time. I left early to find my seat before the place filled up.

The theater building was old enough the stonework had worn from weather and all the sidewalks slabs tilted randomly. The crowd was already arriving and when I saw the line to park I knew why. Terrible parking arrangements can ruin an event. I checked my heavy coat and found my seat. This place was two or three times the size of the theater back home and a sense of pride in all Lily had accomplished rose in me.

The lights flickered after a long wait and an appreciative murmur swept the crowd. People took their seats. The lights went down. The play began.

The leading man made Jimmy look like an awkward schoolboy. Cut from the same cloth to have the same look, his presence commanded the stage. He projected his voice until the baritone notes rang off the walls. I worried so much for Lily sharing a stage with him but even with the increase in talent from a large city, Lily stood out.

As she moved I noticed subtle changes in her; she stood taller, her shoulders square, her eyes unafraid. Her comedy lines got the most laughs, her sad lines brought the most tears. When we arrived at the first romantic scene, the crowd fell into a hush. I noted the play had been rewritten slightly and during a moment heavy with dialog, Lily's strap fell from her shoulder perfectly timed, exposing her full breast almost to the nipple. She looked wildly sexy and vulnerable.

At last we reached the final scene. As before the lights dimmed only to brighten to a bedroom in a small apartment. Lily and her leading man were already in bed, talking. Leading Man rolled over between her legs and held himself over her. Cue the hand on his arm, cue the strand of hair, cue the playful slap. Perfection.

When his hips moved, they curled forward and under, and Lily's head fell back onto her pillow with a long, convincing moan. An electric wave passed over the audience. Leading Man crawled forward on his knees a few inches and again his hips dipped and moved. Lily moved her hands to his face, which she pulled down for a heartfelt and meaningful kiss on the mouth. His goddamn hips worked again and I swear under the covers I saw hers rise to meet his.

What the fuck was I watching here? I glanced quickly at the crowd and they were mesmerized. I could cut the sexual tension in the air with a spoon. Back on stage I noted their lines had been changed to extend the love scene and the actors now swapped breathless dialog, building towards climax. When Lily's ankles appeared above the edge of the blanket and crossed behind his back, I moaned. Nobody noticed or cared what I did. They were watching one of the hottest love scenes ever.

He moved faster and Lily gripped each side of the mattress, exposing her big, swaying, bouncing tits. Her long black hair all over the pillow framed her beautiful face, her expression of ecstasy visible even from this far back. Her head snapped back and she emitted an orgasmic cry which I fully recognized and then Leading Man joined her with a roar of his own and she grabbed his face and pulled him down for a long kiss.

The pause while they recovered their breath was sublime and they continued their lines with flawless timing. Had that all been an act? I was sweating and trembling. Lily put her hands to her face and uttered the plays last lines and fade to black, draw curtain.

The appreciative roar was tumultuous. Seat-pounding, foot-stomping, applause shook the walls. Everyone was on their feet. I looked around in disbelief. Did all these sophisticated city folks not understand what they'd just witnessed? Or do two strangers fucking for their entertainment represent an admirable level of dedication to the craft? I applauded too but my heart was elsewhere.

The crowd kept going. Soon the curtain parted and the cast stepped out to take their bows. Lily and Leading Man wore short, silk robes, hers green and his brown. Four bows later the crowd finally began to taper off so the actors could get on with their night. I had no idea what I would say to her. Congratulations, sure. Job well done, of course. But how do I work in a did that guy fuck you, Lily?

I sat and waited for the crowd to thin. I was supposed to meet her in the lobby so we could head for the airport but minutes later she came walking down the aisle towards me, looking sheepish. She wore black sweat pants and a gray hoodie and the closer she got the guiltier her face became. Before I could say anything, she reached up to kiss me quickly and stepped back.

“Yes,” she said.

“Yes, what?” A chill raced through me.

“I know the question you want answered so I’m just putting it out there right away; yes.”

She looked around at the people close to us. My heart began a slow, crumbling, collapse. I wasn’t angry and I wasn’t sad. Her blunt admission jumped us to the end of the conversation where we had to deal with outcomes. I never had the chance to build up to anything.

“But?” I managed.

She glanced around again and some were starting to realize here was the star of the show. She stepped up to me, whispering; “I can’t take you to my dressing room because Trevor is still backstage, but I need to get away from all these people if we’re going to talk about this like we should.”

My brain was doing cartwheels. I had a million questions and thought of more every second. One shoved to the front of the line and needed answering right now.

I lowered my voice. “Did, did he cum in you?”

Deep furrows formed on her forehead and pleading eyes met mine. “Shit. Yes, Baby, can we not do this here?”

I looked around and saw a spiral staircase up to the balcony which was now empty. I took her hand and led the way. We moved to the last row by the back wall and spoke in hushed tones.

“What the fuck, Lily? Did I see you orgasm?”

“Oh, my God, Luke. These are the questions you want answered?”

“Yes. Did I see you orgasm?”

“You did.”

“Was tonight the first time he’s been inside you?”

She hung her head. “No.”

“Are you leaving me for him?”

“What? How can you ask that? No! Of course not.”

“Then what the fuck is going on? Did I agree to let you fuck your costars and forget? First Jimmy and now this guy?”

“Trevor. His name is Trevor.”

“Oh, okay. You know what? Fuck Trevor. You’re married. I should go down there and punch him in the face.”

“It’s not his fault, Baby, it’s mine. If you must hit someone, hit me.”

That got to me. I melted a bit. Her goddamn eyes were huge and sorrowful and just the image of me raising my hand to her cut deep. I calmed down.

“I don’t want to hit you.”

She took my hands in hers. “The play was doing well but last weekend, like with Jimmy, Trevor accidentally dipped inside me a bit. After Jimmy, I knew that could happen so I stayed professional but when I didn’t freak out or chase him away, he figured I wanted it and pushed deeper. That scene stole the show. It was all the critics wrote about the next day; our powerful and seemingly real chemistry. They didn’t know he was actually in me, they thought we were acting. Tonight, before the show, I saw four of the biggest names in the business in the audience so I told Trevor to do it again. Once he was inside we followed our instincts and I was right. We killed it. I was wrong to do it but try to understand it was not exactly what it looked like.”

“You were just acting.”

“Exactly.”

“That cum in your pussy is real!”

“Regrettably. We went much farther than I intended. Much. We got caught up in an improvisational moment.”

I was quiet for a while. Did I believe her? Did she just pull a fast one on me, fucking a guy she wanted anyway and blaming it all on her commitment to her craft?

“I think this means I get to fuck someone else too,” I said. “There has to be some balancing force here or you could just do whatever you want and blame it on acting.”

That was a punch in the gut. Tears welled. She looked down at her hands.

“Alright. Fair is fair.” Her voice was thick with emotion. She sighed and gave me a weak smile. “But the scene really worked, didn’t it?”

Good God, was she ever beautiful. I guess the conversation was closed. I knew I’d never fuck someone else, I just wanted some power in a situation where I felt I had none.

“Baby, the whole room was mesmerized. I could have heard a pin drop. On carpet.”

In all our years of marriage we'd never such a complex moment as this. Her cheating was a technicality. She wasn't sneaking around behind my back. There was no relationship there, no intimacy or emotional attraction. Penetration occurred in a void.

Penetration. An image of his cock and her pussy appeared in my mind. Was he big like Jimmy? This time I had no Violet to spy on.

"Does he have a big cock?"

Lily's face froze. I had my answer.

"Terrific."

Two for two. What are the odds?

"Who's bigger; Jimmy or Trevor?"

"Jesus Christ, Luke. About the same."

She was looking at me like I was insane. Who asks questions like this? Men do, that's who. She should have heard the questions I wasn't asking because they seemed too weird; did he shoot a lot of sperm? Does his cock feel better than mine? Do you want to fuck him again? These I left unspoken. I feared the answers.

"We have a plane to catch," she said, eventually. I sighed and stood and offered my hand. She took it and I raised her hand to my mouth and kissed the back.

"Go get your stuff," I said. "I'll wait here."

She hesitated and I realized she hoped for a kiss on the lips. I was hurt and agitated and jealous and confused, but I didn't hate her. I kissed her tenderly and held her tight. She kind of melted into me and started to cry but stopped herself quickly.

"I'm so sorry," she said. She meant it.

"I know, Baby."

She shuffled down the staircase and made her way backstage. Trevor was back there. I started counting the minutes, ready to get angry if she spent too much time. She backed into the hallway waving to all her new friends, a gym bag over her shoulder. She briskly walked up the aisle and I met her at the base of the stairs. On the street, we hailed a cab and stopped at her apartment for the luggage. Before too long we were seated on the plane headed for home.

Chapter 7

Back to normal, right? Wrong. Weird things were happening in my head. My jealous streak was inflamed and I gave threatening looks to several men when Lily and I were out together. I noticed them checking her out, which was natural because she's hot, but I got angry.

On the other hand, my dick wanted to get hard all the time. My sex-drive shot through the roof. Lily welcomed it. I think she worried I'd leave her or not want her any more so my interest was reassuring. I also think the extra sex was a way to placate her guilt, but I did not fully understand it. We'd hold hands and I'd get hard. We'd kiss and I'd get hard. She'd fucking smile at me from across the room and I'd get hard. What the hell? Way at the back of my brain I think I was competing with Jimmy and Trevor and I liked it. I'm naturally aggressive. I've been told many times I have a strong personality. I never back down from a fight and at work I have the reputation of a bulldog. Those two men had stolen something from me and I was trying to get it back. I was getting road-head weekly. I fucked Lily in a Victoria Secret dressing room.

The Center cast her as Blanche in Streetcar and for twelve weeks she played a safe role buried in modest costumes.

Eventually, things did get back to normal. Almost. My sex drive stayed high.

I was at work when my cell rang and Lily excitedly told me Sebastian's play had won an award and we both were flying to New York for the ceremony. I was happy for her. Truly. But, you know, Trevor. I booked a room at the Marriot overlooking Times Square.

We flew after work Friday night and settled in. Saturday, we enjoyed a lovely walk around Central Park and then lunch at Le Bernardin. Back at the hotel room I put on my tux and she her long black sparkling ballgown. Her cleavage was impressive. Sebastian arranged a limo to bring us to the event at the Barrymore Theater.

I had no idea what to expect. I'd seen awards shows on television but what the audience sees is always so planned and controlled. Turns out the experience matched what I seen. The limo dropped us at the curb and there was a decent sized gathering. This was not the Oscars or even the Tonys and the crowd was more casual and rowdy. We walked the red carpet as camera flashed. There were stars there bigger than Lily, of course, and a whole level of well-knowns below them, but every time the rare person called her name or asked for an autograph she beamed.

Inside there were about three hundred of us. Producers, directors, playwrights, actors; anyone associated with the business. The ceremony moved along smoothly with the occasional political tirade and then Sebastian's name was called and the cast joined him on stage. I noticed Trevor stood directly behind Lily, towering over my petite wife and flustering her. Sebastian graciously gave the cast and crew all the credit and the audience loved it.

My lovely Lily carefully eased her ass into Trevor.

I may have been the only person in the auditorium that noticed, and that's only because I know her so well, but that small parting of her lips told me she felt him up against her.

My goddamn traitorous dick started to grow.

I scrutinized Lily's face with obsessive intensity. She was only being playful with a man she'd not seen for a long time. She was flirting. She was happy. She was having fun. They'd shared weeks of emotional connection. That doesn't just evaporate.

I took a deep breath.

Sebastian raised the trophy over his head and thanked his mother and the audience burst into applause. Everyone exited stage right and returned to their seats from the back. Lily kissed me and held my hand. She was radiant. We watched the rest of the ceremony. The house lights came up.

"The afterparty is at the Metropolitan Museum of Art," she said. "Should we go?"

She was leaving it up to me but I saw clearly how badly she wanted to attend.

"Absolutely."

She grabbed my face with both hands and kissed me. We caught a taxi.

We mingled and she introduced me to everyone except Trevor. I knew a meeting was inevitable and I wrestled with my position; did I let him know I knew or not? If I knew, was I a willing cuckold or a sophisticated patron of the arts? If I didn't know, was I a sucker? Would he think I had a wife that lied and kept secrets from me? Would he see that as opportunity? I pulled Lily aside and told her if the subject came up, I wanted Trevor to know I knew. She asked if I was sure, probing for potential trouble, I think, and I said yes, I was.

We finished our wine and I visited the open bar for more. While I waited, Sebastian approached.

“Luke, right?” He offered a hand. I shook it.

“Good memory. Congratulations. Well deserved.”

“Thank you.”

“What’s next?”

He dove right in. The man was prolific and far sighted. He had the next three years mapped. I admit I was impressed.

“I envision Lily for many of those female leads,” he said. “Now that I know you’re onboard with my unorthodox methods, the sky’s the limit for that little angel.”

I felt a chill. “Unorthodox methods? What do you mean?”

“Lily and Jimmy. Lily and Trevor. Certainly, she told you?”

I waited, offering nothing.

He glanced around and leaned in. “Penetration?”

“You planned it?”

He chuckled. “I planned on it. They are not puppets. But honestly, hide two gorgeous naked people under a blanket and all one must do is wait. Perfect recipe.”

An epiphany told me why Jimmy and Trevor were both well-hung; he chose them and Sebastian would know. A bisexual director would know all the gossip and rumors and could select precisely the leading man he wanted. He probably had them strip so he could be certain. His planned temptation of Lily left almost nothing to chance.

“You’ve done this before?”

“Many times. I conjure situations to siphon their psyche. I manipulate. I dig deep and churn the waters until I free what I seek.”

“You arranged for another man to fuck my wife.”

“Crude, but, indirectly, yes.”

“That’s wrong.”

“Yet, here we are, two mature adults, sharing a delightful conversation, sipping wine and polishing awards. Are you damaged? Is Lily? Is your marriage over?”

“No, but—“

“But her career is launched, her fame enhanced. Would you deny her coming successes to save your fragile ego? Precious few know the truth. Maintain appearances and no one need ever know. Life is so short, Luke. Seize it. For true art, sacrifices must be made.”

His words came at me so fast, I felt like I was boxing Floyd Mayweather. I shook my head and glanced across the room at Lily. She was as much a victim as me. She was talking to a pretty Asian woman I’d never seen and they kept touching each other on the arms and hands, laughing like old friends. Sebastian tapped me on the shoulder and offered two glasses of wine.

“Your drinks arrived, finally. Give Lily my regards.”

“Thanks, I will.” I took the glasses from him. He had a strange look in his eyes but he was a strange man so I thought nothing of it.

Lily introduced the woman as Joy Shintaki, another actress who’d worked with Sebastian many times. The two of them shared stories about the business and we all laughed. Lily mentioned her wine tasted slightly off but mine seemed alright so we finished both glasses. I sat them on the edge of the planter. Joy excused herself so Lily and I mingled. I met so many people I lost track of names. After a short time, I saw Trevor across the room carefully not looking at us.

A handsome older man approached and took Lily’s hand in both of his, congratulating her on her performance. He introduced himself as David Sisbert, critic for the Times, and turned his full attention on my wife. Even a minute later he still held her hand as they talked.

I felt my penis begin to stiffen. I played it cool but studied their interaction. Lily is always such an intense listener. No wonder everyone loved her. David was clearly smitten and while he tried to maintain professionalism, I saw his desire for her.

I liked it.

I felt my penis throb.

My eyes crawled over my wife. Her sparkly gown was semi-sheer in the strong museum spotlights and I saw hints of areola. David saw them too, and every time his eyes darted down for another look a small surge of blood raced to my dick. Finally, Lily caught him and as awareness grew on her, those sweet nipples stiffened, pushing the slinky fabric into obvious points. Tiny droplets of sweat formed on her upper lip. She was suddenly as horny as me.

I spun to look at our wine glasses and then scanned the crowd for Sebastian. I found him by the bar, watching me, waiting. He raised his glass in a silent toast and smiled broadly, his eyes laughing.

The fucker had drugged us.

Lily covered David's hands with her remaining free one. He was too old for her but when he complimented her beautiful eyes, I saw desire for him flare.

At the back of the room a museum employee unlocked and propped open doors leading out to Central Park. Half the crowd moved that way and I took that moment to interrupt David.

"I'm so sorry, but may I kidnap my wife for a minute?"

"Of course, forgive me. She's quite an enchanting woman."

I took her elbow and steered her towards the exit and fresh nighttime air. To the right was the reservoir so I aimed straight ahead. The winding path disappeared under leafy magnolias and elms. Once we were out of earshot I backed her against a tree.

"Horny?"

"Fuck yes," she laughed. "What's going on?"

"Sebastian thought it would be funny to slip us a drug. Feels like ecstasy but mellow, with more of an aphrodisiac quality."

"Well, it's working," she said, gripping the front of my tux and pulling me close. We kissed passionately but guests of the afterparty walked by so we broke. Others followed behind them so I kept her at arm's length. I was conflicted about sharing what Sebastian had told me. As soon as we were alone again she pulled me forward, slipping her wet tongue into my mouth. My dick stirred and I know she felt it against her thigh.

"Shit."

I turned to see what made her say that and there was Trevor, heading right for us along with another man. They were talking and unaware until two steps later when Trevor froze, staring right at us. His friend kept walking, realized he was now alone, and stopped to look back.

Awkward.

"Trevor, this is my husband, Luke."

I extended my hand reflexively and he quickly shook just as reflexively.

"Nice to meet you," I said.

Trevor's friend must have known something was up because he slipped quietly down the path without looking back.

"Nice to meet you, Luke." His grip was strong and his hands big. I stood in the presence of a man who had recently been inside my wife. There were only three of us total on the planet and here were two. My temperature soared. My face flushed in the dark.

"So," Lily said.

"Congratulations," I told him. He was five inches taller and fifty pounds heavier than me, and I'm not little.

"Thanks."

I glanced at Lily. Her big eyes roamed his body, trying hard not to and failing. She stared at the ground but her gaze came right back up again. Her eyes met his. The air around us seethed with sexual tension. He wanted to leave, to chase after his friend. He had a ready excuse to say goodnight and move on, but he didn't. Just like I didn't say the hundred things I could have said to send him on his way. Nor did Lily.

Through the trees I saw baseball fields and dugouts so I suggested we have a seat. I had no desire for others to see the stars of the show gawking at each other with me standing right there like a dolt. I led the way with Lily behind me and Trevor behind her. I heard him whisper to her and she whisper back. My body trembled. We passed a statue of Alexander Hamilton and then stepped into a wooden dugout under a huge elm. My mind raced for topics of conversation. I needn't have bothered.

Trevor spoke as soon as we sat: "Luke, I am truly sorry for what happened on stage. I crossed a serious line."

"It's more my fault than anyone's," Lily said. She'd taken the middle spot between us, giving each a wonderful sideways view of her big tits. Seated, her dress bunched and lifted away from her body revealing under and side boob. Her nipples were covered, but only for the moment.

I was unsure what to say. I couldn't just forgive and forget because what's to stop it from happening again? But how do I follow up Lily's admission that she was most to blame? Plus, whatever drug Sebastian had dosed us with had me caring a lot less about the past and more towards the future.

"To tell the truth," I began. "You guys looked incredibly hot together. The whole theater felt it. You two move so well together." Stupid brain. That sounded stupid. I tried to recover. "I've read that most successful actors broke the rules early in their careers."

Did I sound as dumb to them as I did to me?

"Lily's the star," he said. "I just follow her lead."

"And look where she led you." That sounded harsh and Lily's face swinging around confirmed it. "Right to an awards ceremony," I added, trying to cover. I needed to stop talking. She looked high. The drug had a firm grip on us both.

"Are you on birth control?" he asked.

Jarring words but they made me hot instead of angry.

"No."

"Should I be worried?"

"No, Trevor."

Their conversation was killing me. Knives of anguish stabbed my chest but my dick was getting hard fast. She leaned forward, elbows on knees. Her dress fell away from her body, completely revealing two big round tits. I stared for a second and then checked on Trevor. He stared too. For an instant I saw Lily as he did; a gorgeous, sexy, unconquered woman. That she was my wife shifted to background noise. She was a hot and horny babe. Focusing was difficult. I rubbed my uncomfortable erection through my pants and she saw. Her incriminating stare stabbed me.

"Are you hard?"

I could only nod.

"Why?"

I raised my hands, showed her both palms. "I don't know."

She must have felt a breeze because she suddenly looked down at her exposed breasts. She glanced at Trevor and caught him staring too. She sat up. My cramped penis wanted to explode. I squirmed in my seat again. She looked directly at Trevor's crotch. Her lips parted. She leaned forward again, intentionally giving us a spectacular view. Trevor nervously cleared his throat.

My wife looked at me. "Take it out," she rasped.

I fumbled with my zipper, dying for relief. I reached in and pulled out everything, penis and testicles, grateful. My hard dick waved in the cool night air. Lily leaned over and sheathed my erection in her warm, wet mouth, circling the base with a hand. I groaned and closed my eyes. Pure bliss. That fucking drug had every nerve standing on end. Her tongue swirled my head and I couldn't breathe. She sucked, hard, and I felt the sperm in my balls rise a quarter inch. I groaned again, louder. Her head began to bob and I'd never felt anything so good. Intense sensations rolled through me. When she took her mouth off, I whimpered. I waited, thinking she was shifting position, but then I opened my eyes.

Trevor had come to stand in front of us, blocking the view to anyone walking near, and Lily had drawn down his zipper too. Her other hand held him at the base and his semi-erect cock stuck out from his black pants. I swear he was bigger around than a Red Bull. Her mouth worked on his large head and when a drop of clear fluid oozed from the slit, my wife's tongue quickly swept it away before settling over that fleshy helmet again. Trevor groaned just like me. She toyed with him a moment and then her cheeks snapped in when she sucked hard.

An instant later her face was back in my lap. I watched her hand jerk his big cock. She tortured my penis with her tongue and then took my entire length. Her lips nestled in my pubic hair. It felt so good I wanted to cry. Sebastian you glorious bastard.

Another drop of seminal fluid formed on the tip of his large cock. I tangled my fingers in her raven hair and pulled her off my dick and forced her mouth towards him. She was shocked for an instant but then saw the fat droplet and opened her mouth wider. My wife sucked his sperm away. I pushed her head forward, making her take several inches of his erection, and then pulled her off to make her suck mine again. She moaned at my assertive domination. Or maybe she was just thrilled to have Trevor's cock in her mouth? Or maybe she felt hot and slutty sucking two cocks in Central Park like a whore? I had no fucking idea. What I did know is Lily looked sexier pleasuring two men at the same time than she's ever looked before.

I was jealous. I was hurt. I was angry. But for some reason all those negative emotions funneled straight down into my arousal and turned me on more.

Maybe imagination is worse than reality? The idea of Lily with someone else frightened me. The sight of Lily with someone else turned me on.

I watched his big, veiny cock slip in and out. I watched her work hard to please him, to pleasure his beefy member. She sucked and licked, coaxing sperm up from his balls. She did the same to me but visually her efforts on his large tube of meat were far more stimulating. Watching her on him was more exciting than her on me. She looked slutty and I loved it. Caught up in the moment I leaned close to her ear.

“Will you swallow his cum for me, Baby?”

She quickly nodded but then stopped sucking long enough to say: “If that’s what you want, or we can all go back to our hotel room.”

My mind exploded. My heart stopped. A million icy needles punctured my skin all over. Could I handle such an encounter? Could I hand her over, just like that? Could I give my wife away to another man?

Hard-ons have been messing with a man’s ability to think clearly for thousands of years. I was drugged and wildly horny and chasing an orgasm of epic proportions, and I had a hot bitch asking me for a threesome.

“Let’s go,” I said.

Laughing, we ran to Fifth avenue and hailed a cab. In the backseat, Lily took turns kissing us both. I freed her tits and Trevor sucked one nipple while sucked the other. The cabbie bent the rearview to watch and I liked it.

We took a side entrance to the elevator and once in our room I pulled over a plush chair and told Trevor to undress my wife. Visible chills ran up her spine. He took his time and her legs barely supported her. I told her to do the same to him but she went straight for his belt, freeing his cock again and leaving the rest of his clothing removal to him. The body on this man was intimidating. Naked, his steely erection looked bigger than in the park. I stood, intending to join them on the bed, but remained where I was, watching. Lily left on her black high heels and fell on her back on the bed, aiming her pussy at me, a view soon obscured by Trevor’s big body. I shifted to the side and watched him kiss his way up my wife’s body, his fat cock ever closer to her small, smooth pussy. He paused at her nipples but then was moving again. When their lips met, the plump head nudged her opening. His thickness dwarfed her small slit.

I undressed slowly. He tortured my wife with his cock just outside her, brushing the tip against her sensitive labia. Once, he inadvertently parted them and we all heard how wet she was.

I offered no encouragement. I gave no direction. I left everything Lily did strictly up to Lily. I wanted to see her in this situation and know her actions were all hers. She was my wife and my partner and we’d been through so much together, but I’d never seen this side. We were already in love by the first time we had sex. She was about to fuck and I wanted to remember it forever.

He teased her again, rubbing the head of his cock repeatedly over her clitoris. She whimpered.

“Fuck me, Trevor,” she said, shaking her legs in frustration. “Put it in me. I love that big cock.”

I almost shot my load right then. God! To hear those words come out of her mouth with that look of lust on her face. He lowered his body to hers and forced her legs open with his feet. Her slit parted naturally, exposing the bright pink insides. She glistened and gleamed, eager for penetration. He moved up and her pussy lips enveloped the tip like a fog. He kept going and encountered resistance; too thick for her narrow tunnel. His ass flexed as Trevor forced his hard cock into my willing wife. A long, low moan like I’ve never heard poured from her throat.

“Unnnnnngggghh, it’s so big. Keep going. Don’t stop.”

I reached for my penis. This was too much.

He pulled back some and adjusted his knees and his big dick sparkled with her arousal. He sank half the shaft into her. Her back arched. She grabbed fistfuls of sheets. He pulled back and thrust forward again and my beautiful wife cried out. I marveled at the pleasure he caused. He fucked her smoothly for a few moments, sinking deeper each time as he wet his dick, and Lily was writhing under him, constantly moaning and urging him to fuck her. He held a steady rhythm for a minute and her legs curled around his, her arms circled his neck. After a moment, her ankles rose higher to cross behind his back. I knew this position.

Her breathing became ragged and the pitch of her cries rose. Her pulsing asshole seemed to wink at me slyly, like I was in on the joke. Trevor was going to make my wife orgasm faster than I ever had, and probably harder too, and I wanted him to. This had to be madness. He powerfully fucked her little cunt and Lily gasped for air.

“Fuck! God, Trevor, I love your cock. I love your big, hard coooock, fuuuuck here it comes, aaaaarrrggghh!”

The sight was as glorious as it was painful. Lily was a flopping bag of meat beneath him. Her climax wrecked her. She screamed and sobbed and slapped her palms on his ass, pulling him as deep as she could get him. He thrust faster as she began to come down and that threw her skyward again. She seemed to bounce along a plateau of fantastic sensations, like he kept her orgasm going as he inched closer to his.

I let go of my penis. Any further stimulation and I would shoot, and I did not want to do that yet.

Trevor growled and slid his hands under her ass, lifting her cunt, forcing his hammering cock deeper than ever. How far up inside did he reach? I have no idea but she apparently had nerve-endings there. He pounded my wife and she shouted at him to fuck her hard. His back hunched and he squeezed handfuls of her ass and then he shouted: "Fuck! Take it! Oh, Lily, take my cum! Ohhhh fuuuuck!" and then his hips went crazy, jerking and convulsing as he blasted hot sperm into my wife. His cum gushed out of him, flooding Lily's petite womb. Wet sloshing filled our suite but he kept shooting, draining those big balls.

At last he fell on top. Neither moved.

I burned that fantastic scene into my mind, never to forget.

After a while she touched his shoulder and he rolled off and I saw his fat snake slither out from her pussy, followed by a glut of milky semen. I moved to the foot of the bed and she looked down her body at me, her face soft and loving. She reached for my penis to guide me into her sloppy hole and then pulled my mouth down to hers.

I sank into Trevor's cum inside my wife. The physic surge of erotic energy was more than I could take. This experience was so far afield for a life like mine I gasped loudly, almost a sob. I started fucking my gorgeous wife. She'd never looked so beautiful. She tenderly kissed my eyes, my cheeks, and my lips. I felt Trevor's sperm all around the length of me. I swam in him, knowing I was shoving more of him deeper with every stroke, knowing I would be adding my load to his where they would mix inside.

"I want yours, too," she murmured. "I want you both to fuck me as many times as you can tonight. Is that alright? Can I give myself to him again, Baby? That's what I want. You're my husband. You must say it's okay. Can I? Do you want to watch Trevor fuck me again?"

Her words were maddening! I wanted to scream from sensual fervor.

I managed to groan a throaty: "Yes!" My hips started to move.

"Fuck me again and again?"

"Yes!" My hips moved faster. I would not last long.

She crossed her ankles behind my back. "One night, Baby. One night to remember for all our lives. I'll be the little harem girl for two strong men. Fuck me, Luke. Fuck me like Trevor just did. Give me your cum like Trevor just did."

Her use of his name killed me. My orgasm raced up my dick and sprayed out the end before I knew what hit me. God! I was so turned on. I jerked on top of her like a fish tossed on the pier until I had no energy left to move at all. I lay on her with all my weight and she wrapped me in her arms and legs.

After a while she rolled me off to the opposite side. I glanced at her face as she looked to Trevor on her left and me on her right. She was thrilled to be sandwiched between two male bodies.

She knew we'd need time to recover but she didn't care. She twisted her body until her mouth found Trevor's limp python and she gently sucked him into her mouth, nursing on him like a baby with a nipple.

I watched until my eyelids drooped. The drug combined with alcohol and maybe the most powerful orgasm of my life left me exhausted. Without meaning to, I drifted off.

Movement woke me a short time later and I saw Lily on her knees between his legs. She had him half-hard and toyed with the heavy hose, licking his balls and tracing his veins with the tip of her tongue. She looked sexy as fuck, slutty and impish. She saw I was awake and crawled over bodies to get to me.

"You okay?" she asked.

"I'm great."

"Still feel high?"

I moved my head all around and felt the room follow. "Yes, quite a bit, actually."

She left the bed for the desk nearby, standing gloriously naked in front of us both. She opened a small orange bottle and plucked a little blue pill. She held it up.

"Look what Trevor has."

I didn't have to ask.

"He's already taken one. You want one too?"

I thought about it. "Leave it on the desk. I'll take it if I need it."

She carefully set the pill on the glass desktop and approached the bed, stunning; narrow waist, flat stomach, tone legs, long black hair, olive skin, big tits swaying. She looked down at her two men.

She knelt and crawled up between his legs again but never broke eye-contact with me. She held his formidable cock at the base, smiling and clearly infatuated with the thing. Squiggly veins were starting to swell as the pill kicked in and his monster engorged. She began licking the shaft while maintaining her gaze with me. My penis twitched. My wife looked so fucking sexy next to a big cock.

I could not understand why I was okay with this.

I'd fretted and worried about Lily and other men for so long I could conceive of no other way. Jealousy was always my go-to answer; attack the threat, drive out the interloper, keep my woman locked away, safe, protected. That's being a good man, right? I mentioned earlier that imagination is often worse than reality, as anyone who's ever taken a driving test or gotten a flu shot will attest. I'd been so fearful of what might happen. Reality was a thick and veiny cock creeping towards the back of Lily's throat. She'd swallowed so many inches the head had to be resting near her tonsils. Did I care he was so much bigger than me? Yes, but that fact also made all this better. I shook my head, finally getting a better picture of my own Jekyll and Hyde nature.

Chapter 8

I never did take that blue pill. Not because I didn't need it. I probably could have used it. But, and I know this is somewhat twisted and perverse, because I wanted Trevor to be the only rock-hard cock all night. He'd fucked her twice, filling her tight pussy with cum both times, before I was ready to fuck her again.

I got my second erection while tenderly kissing her as he smoothly fucked her from behind. She was on all fours and I lay under and she bent down to kiss me while he moved inside. I found the moment insanely erotic and exciting and so did she. Her moans and whimpers drove me bat-shit crazy. At one end, she had her adoring husband tenderly expressing his undying love, and at the other she had the hot big-cock stud ravaging her tiny cunt, plumbing her depths with his stiff manhood. She was losing her mind right in step with me.

He exploded deep again and I took his spot right after, adding mine to his. After that, I was done for the night. He fucked her three more times by sunrise. Lily was insatiable. She was asleep the last time he pushed his meat into her but as she woke she met his thrusts eagerly.

I watched him move my wife where he wanted her, position her legs and arms, stuff pillows under her hips to lift her cunt where he could hammer it before exploding. I watched him grab her by the hair and stuff his soft cock into her enthusiastic mouth, forcing her to suck him hard again, knowing as soon as she succeeded, he'd use that huge hard-on to fuck her silly.

Lily loved every minute.

The room was dim with filtered sunlight behind black-out curtains as he showered. Lily and I stayed in bed and let himself out, thanking us profusely for an amazing night. We asked for discretion and he promised it. Lily and I lay amongst the messy covers and many wet spots, staring up at the ceiling.

"Are you okay?" she asked, rolling onto her side to face me.

I kept my gaze on the ceiling. "I am, but I feel the drug wearing off and I wonder how I'll feel once it does. Are you okay?"

"I'm fucking great. I'm fucking fantastic. My drug wore off hours ago. You must have gotten a bigger dose than me."

Just like that, I was horny again. Lily did most of last night unimpaired? Holy Christ. I had no idea she had a slut living inside her. She snuggled up under my arm and rested her head on my chest, looking down my stomach. She cupped my balls, rolled them around, and then lifted my soft penis by the head, studying him. I asked if she was comparing me to Trevor.

"Would that bother you?"

My instinct was to answer yes, but that was me falling back to my old ways out of habit. I dug deep and considered what I truly felt. "Well, I'm a little intimidated because he's so much bigger than me and I worry now that you've experienced his cock you won't want mine, or at least not as much."

She turned to look up at me. "Never," she said. "Luke, I'm not attracted to cocks; I'm attracted to men. Cocks are a bonus. I'm powerfully attracted to you, Baby. Trevor was a fun romp. That's all." She turned her head to look at my dick again.

"I saw what he did to you."

"Yeah, physically. There's no denying how good it felt. But you are talking about your fears and I'm telling you there's no need to worry."

"I loved watching you fuck."

“Baby, I loved you watching me fuck. I went wild. God! I felt so free and happy.”

“Last night you said one night only. Is that how you feel today?”

She let go my head to cup my testicles again, rolling them in their saggy pouch.

“If you said let’s do it again I’d be fine with that.”

So. She was leaving it up to me. I had no idea what the future held so I dropped the subject. Time will tell. Maybe this was a one-time event, maybe not. I suspected as time ticked by, my views on last night would change.

“Hungry?” I asked.

“Starving.”

We got out of bed. On the desk, I spotted two blue pills. Thoughtful Trevor had left me an extra. I tucked them into my wallet but said nothing to Lily. We showered and ate breakfast at the restaurant downstairs, returning to our room to pack.

I noticed subtle changes to our relationship right away. We held hands wherever we could and when we couldn’t we rubbed shoulders or legs. We kissed often, listened attentively, laughed more. After spending the night fucking another man, we were closer than we’d ever been. What kind of fucked up truth is that? No way did I see this coming.

Lily was a chatter box. Without connecting it to the events of last night she commented how her food tasted better and colors seemed brighter. I was sure her observations were related. On the flight, she fell asleep with her head on my shoulder.

We dropped our luggage on the bedroom floor and she stepped into the bathroom to change. I hid behind a corner to watch and once she was naked I held my breath. She was so incredibly sexy. She put toothpaste on her brush and began scrubbing and I could not take my eyes off her. Her body brought back so many memories from last night. She finished brushing and began putting away makeup. My heart flipped when I realized she still had Trevor and me inside her. I moved behind her and playfully bit her neck.

“Fuck yes,” she exhaled.

We stumbled to the bed as we ripped off my clothing, fucking hard like animals for the next hour.

We carried that intense sexual charge for weeks. One night during sex I told her to tell me about fucking Trevor and she launched into a slutty narrative about how handsome he is and how good his big cock feels. We got so embroiled we smashed a bedside lamp and did not give a fuck.

Lily returned to acting with a vengeance. She took more challenging roles and tore them up. I went back to work happier than I'd been in a long time. She was more frequently invited to social events and we went as a couple, teasing each other about what might happen, but nothing did. That didn't matter. Just the idea fueled our sexual fire. Our global happiness ran higher for months.

We were at home one night, on our computers, when Lily opened an email.

"Oh."

"What's up?"

She kept reading. "A message from Jimmy."

"What's the name of the play?"

"He's not talking about acting. He asked me out."

Hello jealousy, my old friend.

"Did Trevor blab about what happened?"

"He must have. He probably told someone he thought he could trust and they told someone they thought they could trust, until what we did worked all the way back to Jimmy. Acting is a tight-knit community."

"He thinks he can have sex with you because Trevor did."

"So it appears."

"Goddam it, we asked him to be discreet."

"He's a thoughtful guy. I bet he told only one person, but the wrong person."

My guts churned. How many people knew? What did the industry think of my wife? What did they think of me? Many more men would hit on her now, thinking we allowed it. I felt exposed and vulnerable and I was sure people were laughing at me. I knew Lily must be upset too. Trevor let us down.

I rolled my chair to get a look at her face. She sat staring at her monitor and her face was not that of an upset woman at all. Her expression was that of a woman lost in quiet contemplation. My eyes bugged.

"You want to meet Jimmy!" I exclaimed.

She looked busted. Guilt and worry flashed across her face.

“Don’t be mad, Luke. You can’t blame me for thinking about it. He’s totally fucking hot and you know it. I’m just thinking about it. I didn’t ask permission and I wasn’t going to.”

My instincts told me Jimmy was too close to home. Don’t shit where you eat. Lily may be unknown in New York, but out here she was frequently recognized and so was Jimmy. Those two in public would generate some gossip. Even people like Dawn and Randy would likely stumble across that article in the local paper.

“For now, you need to avoid Jimmy and let time pass. New scandals hit every day. I have no idea how many people know about you and Trevor but if you wait new scandal will distract them and they’ll forget all about it.”

She looked at me funny. “That sounds like you’re saying I can meet Jimmy, I just need to wait for the Trevor gossip to die before I do.”

I rolled my eyes. “That’s what you heard me say?”

“Then are you saying I can’t meet Jimmy?”

The girl had gotten a taste and wanted more. I didn’t blame her. There was no denying our night with Trevor was amazing. But Jimmy seemed like a terrible idea. I had to ask myself if this was imagination or real fear again. Did anybody care all that much about who fucked whom? Without photos or video, did it happen? Without evidence, gossip is just gossip.

“Are you saying I can’t?” Lily asked again, impatiently stomping her little foot. I saw amusement behind her eyes. I was taking all this much more seriously than she.

“What happened to one night only, little harem girl?”

“The next morning happened, and then the following day, and then the following week, and then every day since that night when we’ve been crazy in-love sex fiends all because we enjoyed a ménage a trois. I thought things would go very differently after that night. Didn’t you?”

“Of course.”

She left her chair to come sit on my knee, circling my neck with her arms. “Come on, Baby. I totally agree discretion is important and I’d be super careful. But what can one little date hurt? It’s not like I’d lose control and fuck him in the parking lot. It’s not like he’s some handsome, strapping Aussie, with an accent that slays pussy and blue eyes that melt girl’s panties.”

Fucking bitch. I had to laugh. “Jimmy has blue eyes?”

I was cooked. I might as well admit it.

We’d both been feeling a deeply buried urge for more. Neither of us recognized what we were feeling because we had no familiarity with it, but now that Jimmy had been floated out there, I understood. Trevor was far enough in the past that I was ready for another night of decadence, and Lily was too.

“This could become an obsession,” I warned. “We both like it too much.”

She kissed the top of my head. “Not to worry. There’s a natural throttle you haven’t thought of, but I have.”

“What’s that?”

“Wildly sexy fantasy lovers are rare. This is just sex, Honey. I’m not looking for a husband or boyfriend. I already have the man of my dreams. This is pure fantasy and since it’s fantasy, I want only gorgeous, muscular, well-hung men as lovers, and those are difficult to come by. I have zero interest in a vanilla fuck.”

“Yeah, you have me for that.”

She laughed. “Shut the fuck up. You know you rock my world. We are doing this together and that alone erases anything vanilla about you. How many wives have husbands this amazing?”

I sighed. Butterflies kicked my stomach’s ass. Jimmy. Trevor was an utter stranger but Jimmy I’d known for years. He and Lily had done many shows together. I knew I’d never see Trevor again but Jimmy would still be around and in our lives. How would I feel meeting him again after he’s had Lily? I imagined Lily and I grocery shopping and bumping into Jimmy in the cereal aisle. My ears burned. I couldn’t get my head around the idea. I worried so much about what others would think.

Lily left my lap for her chair, smiling at me over a shoulder, flirting, daring me to protest. The worst part of all this was I knew if I said no and meant it, she’d tell him no. I knew it, and I knew she knew I knew it. I could make her decline his invitation. But then it would all be on me and I’d have to live with the knowledge my fear, my worry, my insecurities killed the thing. I’d reacted before I had reason. I hated that idea.

Buried under all my trepidation was the smoldering ember of Lily, strapped to Lust’s altar. I saw Jimmy’s heavy cock and balls swinging as he slipped under the covers to join my wife. This time, they’d finish the act.

My temperature shot up. That pendulous slab of beef would bring her such pleasure, rip such sultry sounds from her throat, stuff her to bursting before exploding deep inside.

I had to have it. I craved the sight. By the look in her pretty eyes, Lily craved it too. She started typing. I desperately wanted to know her response but no way was I going to ask. She still had that cute little smirk when she hit send and signed out of her email account.

Chapter 9

Lily told me nothing. She took a role as a librarian in a small production that would only run two weeks. As usual, she worked Macys during the week and spent the occasional evening rehearsing for her latest role.

Regarding Jimmy, she said not a word.

As a child, I could not wait to rip open every Christmas present and reveal the secret contents. Older, I found greater pleasure in having a present to open than the actual opening of the thing. I'd discovered the joy of anticipation. By the time I was ten I'd gotten to the point where I'd open my presents one day at a time, stretching Christmas morning out for more than a week.

I still felt the same as an adult. Within days I went from anxiety about the coming event to delighted suspense. Dread evolved into desire. By Friday I wanted it to happen.

Lily was having a blast. I sensed she played Jimmy on the other end the same way she played me and having all the power and control thrilled her. She had two men so hot for her they were ready to explode. I thought Saturday night would be the big moment but the weekend passed without incident. We watched movies and went out to dinner and walked the mall to find me new hiking boots.

The only difference I could see was Lily's wardrobe. Her skirts and dresses became shorter and tighter, her neckline a little lower. Twice I saw her toss on a dress without a bra and head out into public.

Another week passed and my lust increased ten-fold. What was going to happen and when? Saturday morning Lily rose before me and left a note in the kitchen about running errands. She said she'd be home around dinner and I should enjoy all the college football I could stand. I sent her a text but got no reply. Not until late afternoon when I got hungry for pizza leftovers did I find her note, along with a single ticket, taped to the top of the pizza box in the refrigerator. The ticket was for an adults-only show called Gaius Germanicus, The Boy Who Would Be Caligula, at nine that night, held at The Gaslamp, a small dinner-theater downtown. The note said: "I'll see you there. Don't be late." Lily had signed it with a red lipstick kiss.

I watched the rest of my football Saturday with only half a brain. The other half wondered what was going on.

At the appropriate time, I clicked the television off and got ready; shower, shave, nice sports coat, cologne. I punched the address into the GPS and arrived in plenty of time. The theater was an ornate and intimate setting seating around fifty. Dinner came with the ticket and as that pizza was now hours ago, I enjoyed the steak and potatoes and asparagus. Plates were cleared and drinks served. Lights flickered. I settled in.

As the curtain rose, I wondered the cost of the ticket. The set on stage was amazing. We opened in a Roman throne room and I believed we were truly there. The production values dwarfed anything she'd starred in prior. Rich furnishing and colors, incredible costumes and props. I was stunned.

As each scene gave way to the next, my astonishment grew. These guys were master craftsmen. The lights would dim only to rise and reveal a set more magnificent than the last. I was completely enthralled with the story when Lily made her first appearance.

As soon as she entered we all saw her white silk costume hid almost nothing. Walking alongside was Jimmy, sporting a black wig as he was the emperor but also her brother. He wore a similarly revealing costume and with each step his pendulous cock and balls swung side to side, stirring the thin silk and heightening anticipation.

They moved through their lines with practiced ease but the sexual chemistry between them was unmistakable. At one point, Emperor Jimmy turned to the audience and, his Australian accent gone, addressed them as the good people of Rome. He complained about nightmares and restless sleep and asked if there were any amongst us who would be willing to ease his troubled mind. Two women, obviously there with husbands, raised their hands and Jimmy invited both to join him.

On stage, he placed a hand on their shoulders and pressed them to their knees. Uncertain, both women nervously glanced at each other and their husbands. Jimmy pulled his silk toga aside and freed his fat cock, offering them the opportunity. One waved a hand and said she couldn't and fled the stage but the other stared at the hanging meat for a moment and then stuck the head into her mouth. Everyone looked at her husband. He sat stiff and stoic, unreadable. Jimmy allowed the woman to orally worship him a short time and then thanked her for her service to the Republic and sent her back to her seat. The husband remained unreadable.

The story progressed until I began to sense the end drew near. The lights dimmed. When they lifted, Lily lay nude on a marble altar in the heart of a fantastically ornate and detailed temple. Her arms and legs hung freely off the sides. An elaborately costumed priest of Venus prowled the stage, proselytizing the Goddess's virtues and seeking her favor, wailing about the need for an heir.

Enter an extremely aroused Jimmy, stage left. His body looked like he'd just finished working out; veins stood out down his arms and legs and his muscles looked full and pumped. Sweat glistened on his masculine body. His iron cock was a sword, a fleshy weapon jutting straight out from his hips, so stiff I suspected he wore a hidden cock ring. The priest continued to beseech Venus as Jimmy approached my wife. My wife looked down between her legs and saw him advancing. She reached outside her body to grab each ankle and pull her legs back, folding them against her big tits, offering her insane brother the Emperor her soaked cunt. His huge cock throbbed with anticipation.

This was Lily's answer to secrecy and the need to hide. This was her response to the opinions of others and the denial of her own desires. Be discreet? Ha. Hardly. If society condemns an unfaithful wife, then Lily would fuck another man right in front of their faces.

My arousal was off the charts. Bold, sexy bitch. We were in it now.

Jimmy reached the altar and used both hands to bend his stiff weapon down and align the fat head with Lily's small labia. The priest went on and on about a bountiful harvest but I barely heard him. My entire world had tunnel-vision at the point where their bodies would merge.

The crowd was restless with sexual tension. Both wives on stage earlier now had hands in their husband's laps, rhythmically rising and falling. I guess all was forgiven.

His cock head covered her entrance and I guessed him a little thicker than Trevor. Lily was going to love this. She let her knees fall to the sides and then Jimmy lifted on his toes slightly and flexed his firm ass. My wife was penetrated. Her cry electrified the room. Jimmy moved his hands to her thighs and began working his rigid cock deeper.

For the first time in my life I was too excited to get hard. My mind was on fire. An entire room full of people watched another man fuck my wife. In the background, I felt the inevitable pinch of jealousy and mild humiliation, but God, the eroticism! Her pussy was drenched. My Lily wanted Jimmy badly and I loved that she did. He sent his inches deep until he reached the depths of her and then he leaned his weight to sink a half inch more. Lily kept a white-knuckle grip on her ankles but moaned like her soul was leaving her body. Jimmy was going to fill my wife with sperm and every single person present would witness that happen, including me.

Lily held herself open to him. Her sweet pussy surrounded his shaft in warm wet flesh, enveloping his cock down to the base. His ass began a sexy back and forth and I shivered each time his ass clenched and his meat sank deep. The waves of pleasure were too much and Lily shrieked in climax only minutes later. A murmur swept the crowd. Jimmy continued his conquest, relishing the pussy he had prior only sampled briefly, but now owned.

Lily came again and Jimmy pumped faster. I'm sure he wanted to spend all night inside her but he had to move on. The priest prayed for a child and Jimmy lifted to his toes again and sucked a lungful of air.

Here it comes, I thought, and I was right. Every muscle tensed. His mouth opened and his toes curled. His shoulders hunched and then he grunted several times and released all the air from his lungs at the same moment he released all the sperm from his balls.

I wanted to scream and tear my clothing. Fuck! The scene was wildly intense. His cum flowed like a river out his shaft and into my wife. An overpowering urge to fuck her seized me. I had to take her back and as soon as I possibly could.

On stage Jimmy forced out every drop and then withdrew his rampant phallus from my wife's guts. He was still hard as steel. How many phone numbers would he get tonight? The audience constantly shifted in their seats and I knew most would be racing home to fuck like animals.

The priest came around between her legs and said some blessings over her womb as Jimmy slowly backed away and exited the scene. The house lights dimmed. When they came back up the setting was a bathhouse full of men discussing politics.

Lily and Jimmy made one more appearance at the end. Each said their lines and the curtain dropped. The crowd loudly applauded but not with the same fervor of her other shows. Not that they didn't enjoy it as much. I think they were physically and emotionally drained. Lily had kept all this hidden from me and I understood why.

I stayed in my seat as the others filed out. Lights came up and exits propped open and still I waited. When the theater was almost empty, a door next to the stage opened and Jimmy and Lily, wrapped in white robes, walked through. She came straight for me but he hung back. I knew that look in her eyes.

"Yes," I said, before she could speak. She threw her arms around me and squeezed and we kissed.

We took my car. Lily and Jimmy sat in the back, kissing and touching until she moved to her knees to blow him. I tilted the rearview and watched his dick in her mouth.

We both attacked her as soon as I closed the door, fucking her against the kitchen counter and then on the floor. We made it to the master bedroom, eventually, and spent the night filling her up. I love watching a big cock inseminate my wife.

The play ran five weeks in a row, Saturday night only, one performance a night. Jimmy fucked Lily in every show but I was only present for the first and the last. I'd wait at home for them and we'd take her to bed together.

Of course, word got out, but in a limited way. That theater had an exclusive crowd. We lost a few straight-laced friends but Lily's reputation as a serious actor skyrocketed. If you want an actress who will give everything she's got every time, you want Lily. Multiple directors called or emailed with offers. Most had nude scenes but she said that's the beauty of stage; there are no videos to fly around the Internet, only word of mouth and if someone wants to see for themselves, they must buy a ticket.

Chapter 10

We were lying by the pool Sunday after her last show, waiting on Dawn and Randy to arrive with the weed, when Lily asked: “Is this our life now?”

“What do you mean?”

“I’m speaking specifically about me taking hot lovers. Am I free to have them whenever I want? With your approval, of course.”

“That’s a good question, Love. It all feels natural now, doesn’t it? I still feel that nip of jealousy but the fear is virtually gone.”

She chuckled. “I must tell you, Luke, I’m impressed. You were sky-high that night with Trevor. I thought seeing me with Jimmy without so much as a shot of Jack might fuck you up.”

“It did! I sat in that audience watching you, so excited my penis would not get hard. I know that sounds like a paradox but that’s how it works. A shot of Jack would have been most welcomed.”

“Dicks are awesome.”

“They love you as much as you love them.”

“So, is this our life now?” she asked again.

I watched a lone cloud sail overhead, pondering. “I don’t know exactly why I think this, but what we’re doing feels like a phase to me. Like the clubbing thing we did five years ago. We had a blast but sooner or later things start to repeat.”

“That’s how I’m feeling too, Luke.”

“Good to hear.”

“Besides,” she went on. “A while back we talked about having kids. That’s why I originally went off birth control last June. Do you remember?”

“I do remember that conversation.”

“Seems like ten years ago now, doesn’t it?”

“Yeah.” I looked for the cloud again but the strong sun had killed it. “How much longer will we play this lovers-for-Lily game?”

“I think we’ll know the right time to get out. We still have a lot to explore.”

I was about to ask her what but I heard car keys hit the side gate.

“That will be the weed,” I said.

Dawn and Randy looked great. Randy was down twenty pounds since we last saw him and Dawn was wearing a bikini instead of her customary one-piece. She was tone and trim but her boobs looked bigger. I didn't ask. Lily noticed too and smiled.

We got chairs situated and beers passed around and caught up on small talk. Randy fired up a blunt and we each took a hit. Dawn waited for the effect to hit us all before asking Lily if she was in a play at The Gaslamp last month.

"Yup," was her confident reply.

"I saw an article in the Journal," Dawn continued. "The reporter said there was full nudity and strong adult themes but you handled even the most difficult scenes adroitly. That was the word he used; adroitly. I had to look it up. Is that true? Were you completely nude? In front of everybody?"

Lily giggled. "Yup."

"Damn. I'm sorry I missed that," Randy chimed in.

"Shut up, Randolph," Dawn teased. "I don't need you looking at Lily naked. You'd never want me again after that."

"Nonsense," I said. "You're a cutie-pie, Dawn. Nice bikini, by the way."

Dawn pretended to be flustered. "Lily, what has gotten in to our men?"

"They just sound like men to me," Lily laughed.

"Weren't you worried what people might think of you?"

"I was, for half a minute, and then I realized I'm not a prude and their judgements do not match my own thoughts. I'm writing my own rules now. I like being naked on stage. It's fun. When the opportunity came, I took it."

Dawn turned to me. "And you're okay with this?"

"More than okay," I said. "I admit I was jealous at first but there was no need. Now I think her don't-give-a-fuck attitude is hot."

"Exactly," Randy added. "It's not like she's fucking someone else. Other men are looking at her and they were doing that already. Luke should feel proud his wife is such a babe. It says something good about him."

I risked a glance at Lily and saw her eyes were laughing.

Randy continued: "She's not cheating. She's not lying. She not sneaking around behind Luke's back. I say more power to you."

Dawn gave Randy's hand a pat. "We're going to California for vacation and my sweet husband is trying to talk me into visiting a nude beach close to the hotel."

"Are you curious?" Lily asked.

Dawn looked meek. "Kind of. I've been working out so if I do, I look better."

"Then try it. If you hate it, put your clothes back on."

Randy raised his arms in triumph. "Thank you, Lily. That's what I've been trying to tell her; stepping outside your comfort zone is a good thing."

Dawn sighed heavily and held out her hand. "Alright, you win. Let me take another hit off that joint and I'll try the beach. If anybody laughs at me I'm going back to the hotel room."

Chapter 11

The Theater District in Los Angeles also runs the length of a street named Broadway and I'm not sure how I feel about that. Was coming up with a new name too tough for them? Unlike New York, these theaters mostly run movies.

Sebastian's new play would open this weekend at the Los Angeles Conservancy and he wanted a huge party to launch the event. He invited every contact he had in the industry, including Lily, and the turn-out exceeded his expectations. When you're hot, you're hot.

I admit I was impressed by some of the famous names that appeared. This time Lily wore a stunning pale blue gown with a slit up the side to her hip. I was wrapped in the standard tuxedo. We sipped thousand-dollar Champagne and chatted with stars of stage and screen. After the first couple hours, I held back and let Lily work the room, turning on the charm and fixing herself in the minds of her colleagues.

The afterparty was held in Sebastian's suite at the Biltmore, directly behind and within walking distance of the Conservancy. We arrived late so Lily could shake as many hands as possible at the main event.

Crossing that threshold was like stepping into an opium den from eighteen fifty-one. The dim room was luxurious, with paper screens and hanging blinds. Thick smoke, stirred by someone's movement or open air vents, curled around every houseplant, pillar, or piece of furniture. Visibility was less than ten feet. Serving girls of every nationality made the rounds and every one of them was stunning. They wore tunics folded over their shoulders like sandwich-signs, and nothing underneath. The tunics were too short to fully cover their asses in back or their bald pussies in front. They moved cautiously around the room tending the guests.

Sebastian materialized out of the fog. He fawned over Lily for a few minutes and then thanked me for coming. Lily saw an actress she'd met her last time in New York so she wandered off to say hello leaving me alone with Sebastian.

I grinned broadly. "You drugged us, asshole."

He laughed loudly. "Blunt and to the point as always. Yes, and I'm likely to do so again. You had the time of your life, from what I heard."

"The night was...interesting...I'll admit that. Is Trevor here tonight?"

"No, he's in London presently. Aside from you and Lily and a few others, these people are all from interests I have outside the theater world. Mingle. I doubt you know any of them."

"Thanks, I will." I shook his hand.

The invite list for the main party had included everyone but the invite list for the afterparty was extremely selective. I saw a famous face here and there but Sebastian was right; I recognized no one from his earlier productions. The path through the room was twisting and narrow so I moved slowly as darkness and smoke obscured everything. I found Lily headed back to me.

"I feel honored," I whispered. I jerked my head at a famous actor in the corner.

She saw the man sunk into the chair. "Is that—?"

"Yup."

"Cool."

We did a slow circle of the room and found a chaise lounge open. We sat. A gorgeous black girl with a gymnast's body, who had to be barely eighteen, offered us Cognac or an opium pipe and Lily surprised me by taking the pipe.

"Have you ever smoked the poppy?" I asked, after the girl walked away.

“Of course not.”

“Didn’t think so. Are you going to now?”

She lifted the long glass pipe. “I must admit; I am intrigued.”

I was too. I glanced around the room and everyone had a pipe in their hands. I wondered how much money Sebastian spent to keep hotel staff and police away.

“Let’s do it,” I said.

Chapter 12

The pipe was awkwardly long so Lily held it for me and lit the bowl. I did the same for her. We set the pipe on a small end table and held our breath. The thick smoke felt like hot water in my lungs. I felt dizzy after a few seconds.

Warmth spread from my chest out to my fingers, my toes, and up to my head. Tingling began in my stomach and slowly spread through my body and a sense of weightless euphoria began to rise.

I sent my eyes around the room, tasting colors and smelling textures. I became keenly aware of my clothing touching my skin. I felt the difference between seams and fabric and folds. I realized my left shoe was tied slightly too tight.

The black girl visited a chaise close by and bent to hand them a pipe. Her tunic fell away from the front of her body and I spontaneously exhaled all my air. Budding breasts and flat stomach, tone arms and strong legs; the girl was a youthful masterpiece. Her tight chocolate skin looked vibrant and alive. She turned slightly and I saw her succulent bald pussy and I was inflamed by the thought it may not yet require shaving. She caught me staring and smiled and returned her attention to her guests. I watched her talk and laugh and smile and finally leave.

Each time I looked around, the room had shifted. Nobody was where I’d seen them last or even the same people for that matter. My brain had an internal strobe light which lit everything for an instant and then went dark, only to illuminate again and show everything altered. Were these even the same people? Was this even the same party? Was this even the same room? I tried to stand and failed so I focused hard and succeeded. Big deal.

I had no idea where the front door was. I remained stationary and turned in a circle, but when I came back around I was staring out the window at the lights of Los Angeles far below.

“Soaring?”

I turned towards the voice and there was Sebastian again.

“Let me pick your brain for a moment,” he said, as if my befuddled state were irrelevant. “I’ve been dying of curiosity; during your threesome with Trevor and Lily, did anything happen between he and you?”

“You mean gay sex?”

Sebastian rolled his eyes. “Yes. Gay sex.”

“No. I’m not into that at all.”

“That’s what I thought. How long did Trevor stay? An hour? Two?”

“Until sunrise.”

“You and Trevor fucked Lily all night? That sounds scrumptious. Lucky girl.”

I met his eyes. “Mostly Trevor fucked Lily. I wanted to see what his big dick did to her. She loved it. He’s much bigger than me.”

I instantly regretted telling him that, like the details were too personal. I felt like I’d exposed my inner-self. “Why are you asking? Do you want Lily too?”

He giggled. “Oh, Lord no, I’d never keep up, and I’m sure my penis is way too small. I’m imagining Lily must have enjoyed herself, that’s all.”

“She did. Where is she?”

Sebastian pointed over my left shoulder and I carefully turned. Lily still sat on the chaise, sharing an intense conversation with two older men. When and how had I moved so far away? The screens and blinds made the room a confusing maze but I decided to navigate the path back to her. I told Sebastian thank you and pushed away from the window.

On my way, it occurred to me that I liked Sebastian. He was strange but he was genuine. He was that one practical joker friend we all have, except his jokes included serious manipulations and dosing friends with drugs. Also, I liked that he admitted his penis was small. I hoped he was even smaller than me.

I passed an archway and peered into the room beyond. In the dim ambient light, I saw a hazy pile of naked bodies writhing on a bed. I stepped closer, trying to focus. I saw cocks and balls everywhere. Hard shafts plunged into lubed assholes and open mouths. Tongues licked scrotums.

Sheets tangled with arms and legs so an accurate count of how many men was impossible. I backed away to continue my quest, bracing myself against the walls with my hands as I stumbled along.

My euphoria had been growing and now each step sent shivers and tingles up my spine. I felt my clothing sliding over my skin and the sensation gave me goose bumps. I imagined what a blowjob would feel like at that moment and decided I desperately wanted one. Lily continued her deep conversation and I saw her raise the pipe and take another hit.

I eased up next to her and looked down, discovering her gown had slid to the side and one of her breasts hung free. No wonder these old geezers were so keen to talk to her. She felt my leg bump and looked up. Her pretty face was level with my penis and a rush of excitement titillated me. She looked really high but it just made her sexier. She grinned.

“You wandered off,” she said.

“So they say.” I leaned closer and whispered in her ear. “I’m dying for a blowjob.”

She grinned. “Me too. Find us a bedroom.”

My whole body hummed. I turned to head farther back into the suite. Surely there were bedrooms. After several steps, I made sure Lily was following and discovered she was, but she had the two gentlemen with her.

Why not? I thought. Give them a thrill, Lily.

Lily’s second hit from the pipe hit her like a freight train. She let go of my hand as I led her through the room and I turned to see her stepping out of her dress. She wore nothing underneath and started running her hands all over her exposed flesh. Her nipples were stiff points in the warm air. Her new friends stood beside her and added their hands to hers and Lily moaned with heartfelt meaning. The crowd noticed. We had stopped in front of a married couple and they joyfully joined in. Lily was surrounded. She put her hands behind the older gentlemen’s heads and pulled their mouths down to her tits but the wife pushed one of them away and sucked Lily’s nipple. This was getting out of hand but in my drug-addled state I was unsure what to do. I could formulate no plan. I could barely concentrate enough to remain standing.

I scanned the room and saw Sebastian watching and laughing so I left Lily and went to him. I swear I took a week to get there and when I finally did, I’d forgotten why I started my journey in the first place.

“I love your parties,” I said.

He looked at me funny. “How much did you smoke?”

“One bowl.”

“What about Lily?”

“Two, I think.”

He put a caring arm around my shoulders. “Luke, just remember, every great actor needs scandal in their history. Spices them up. Give them complexity and mystery. The public loves that.”

“I’m not an actor.”

He was so patient. He turned me around to show me my wife. Lily was on all fours on a chaise lounge. The husband fucked her from behind. One of the old guys fucked her mouth. The wife was in a sixty-nine with Lily, eating my beloved’s pussy as her husband pumped in and out.

The lust had spread to those seated close and I saw clusters of people kissing, touching, sucking, and fucking. Many of the serving girls had been recruited and serviced guests in some way. The world had gone sex-crazed. Sebastian looked so pleased.

“My parties are legendary,” he bragged.

The young black serving girl had lost her tunic and currently enjoyed an older white woman eating her pussy. Sebastian saw the way I looked at the girl.

“You want her?”

Her dark, fit body writhed on the lounge. Her back arched, pushing her small breasts towards the ceiling. Her tone legs curled around the woman’s head.

“I bet her pussy tastes like honey.”

Sebastian gave me a gentle shove. “Go find out,” he said.

I shuffled across the room, looking down at Lily as I passed by. She was lost in a hedonistic fog. They all were. I approached the girl and she smiled when she saw me and reached up for my face.

“Sebastian said—“

She didn’t care. She pulled me down and hotly kissed my mouth. Moments later I joined the woman between her legs and we drove that poor girl insane. Two mouths and two tongues must feel amazing. I licked from her asshole to clit, simultaneously pinching her nipples, and my partner did the same. Together we gave her an earth-shattering orgasm.

I’d maneuvered around so I could watch my wife while I feasted and saw the husband fill my wife with cum and then make room for the next man, a pattern which repeated for a few men. By the time my Honey Girl climaxed, I was hard as stone. When the last man pulled his deflating cock out of my wife, I took his place and sank into her sloppy interior, my mind exploding as I stirred the soup inside. If I wasn't so high I may have found it disgusting but at that moment I was wildly turned on. I pounded Lily like each of them had, listening to my crazed wife moan like she was dying. She seemed to be locked in perpetual climax. I came hard knowing I only added my load to all of theirs. The room spun and gravity seemed to change directions. I had to sit and sitting, I had to lie back. I fell into a sleep-like stupor within moments.

I awoke to find my pants around my knees and my lap covered with dried cum. Almost everyone had departed. My back and neck were stiff and sore when I stood on shaky legs to buckle my pants. Lily was gone. I searched that room and then made my way deeper into the suite. I found her in a huge bed, sleeping soundly, and I crawled in next to her.

Chapter 13

We got home late Sunday evening and collapsed. Headaches plagued us both and we drank lots of water and gobbled aspirin. Work the next day sucked for us both. I got so little accomplished I had to finish a stack at home.

That was how I found my error.

I ran the numbers again. Some time back I'd detected theft at our Spring Valley store and terminated the assistant manager. Recently, additional paperwork arrived and when I triangulated all three steps of the process, I discovered irregularities. I dug deeper and a forged signature clinched it; I'd fired the wrong man. The manager, not his assistant, was my culprit.

"Some bitch."

I triple checked. I'd need to advise my supervisor about my mistake and make things right. I planned on escorting the manager to the door and taking his keys. I was steamed, but more at myself than him. I made a mental note to call the assistant and offer him his old job back. I heard Lily downstairs getting ready for bed so I logged off, clicked off the light, and went to join her.

As I rounded the corner I saw her looking down at her pussy. She had her nightgown tucked under her big tits and her labia spread. Her poor pussy was still pink and tender. She caught me looking.

“Men are bastards,” she said.

“Guilty. You know, some of that is me.”

“You fucked me too? Animal.”

“Guilty again. How much do you remember?”

She let her gown drop. “I don’t have clear memories. Maybe a couple. Mostly I remember wave after wave of excruciating pleasure. I hit some clitoral sweet-spot and stayed there. Every hard dick felt so good. I know they were individual orgasms but I swear at the time it felt like one everlasting climax. I need to be careful with that drug. I could get addicted. What an amazing experience.”

“Legendary.”

“What?”

“Something Sebastian said that night. He called his parties legendary. No argument from me. Which memories are clear?”

She gave me a funny look. “Okay. One was a sketchy Hispanic man hung like a donkey. He kept looking around like he didn’t want his wife to catch him. He was rough with me and I welcomed it. I taunted him. He fucked me harder so I slapped him. He slapped me back and I came like a cat in heat. That was intense.”

“Wow!”

“Yeah. The other was this gorgeous black man with no body hair and well defined muscles everywhere. His big cock was so smooth, like glass. Hard as glass too. He talked dirty while we fucked and I don’t remember much of what he said but I know I gushed juice all over his dick. God! He got me so turned on. He kept telling me he was going to shoot his cum far up inside me and that’s exactly what he did. I came really hard for him too.”

“That’s...That’s really hot, Lily.”

“I know, right? Less than a year ago I was sweet little Lily.”

“You’re still sweet little Lily.”

She laughed. “Only to you, Baby.”

I placed a hand on her knee and slid up three inches.

She giggled. “Luke, I love that you’re interested but I’m wrecked. My head hurts, my body hurts, my jaw hurts, and my pussy needs a day or two. I’m sorry, Love.” She snuggled up to me. “If you want, I can talk to you while I watch you jack off.”

That sounded sexy so I pushed my pajama bottoms down and started. She moved closer to my ear and began the tale of sweet little Lily goes bad.

In the morning, I called my boss and made the arrangements. I drove out to the Spring Valley store practicing my lines. My earlier anger at myself had shifted to Leo, the store manager; we pay well, we have great benefits, we do so much for our employees. Why rip us off? This man, who has been with us for years, was about to lose a well-paying job over less than a thousand dollars. Worse, he let me blame the wrong man. I was steamed. I entered through the front doors and walked directly to his office, closing the door behind me.

“It took me a while,” I announced, “But I know what you did.”

He didn’t flinch.

I opened my briefcase and spread the documentation across his desk. I pointed at the signature he forged.

“You did that.”

He grinned. “Yeah. Good work, and I see where you’re going with this, but you overlooked one very important document.”

“What’s that?”

He opened his desk drawer and tapped buttons on his phone. He slid the phone across the table to me as a video started to play.

Lily. Heavily drugged Lily staring right back at him as he fucked her hard, the camera bouncing. She told him to put the phone down and fuck her harder and then she slapped him. He laughed and returned the slap while lifting his hips to hammer her pussy. I watched in glorious color and sound as my wife came like a lunatic on his cock. Donkey-cock, I believe she’d called it. After he came inside her he called another man over to enjoy my wife’s cunt. He’d recorded almost an hour of her debauchery. Lily was wrong; he hadn’t been looking around for his wife, he’d been watching out for me.

“You were there,” I said. “At Sebastian’s afterparty. Why?”

“I told you; I paint set and props. I’ve known Sebastian a long time. He’s into other stuff you have no idea about but with a wife like Lily, you’ll probably discover, once he knows you can keep your mouth shut.”

I caught a hint of bigger manipulations, a sense that throwing Jimmy and Trevor at Lily and me was part of a test. I wondered if we passed.

“So here’s what going to happen,” he said. “I’m going to create a document that shows my assistant manager did steal from the company. Everything goes back the way it was. You go back to the main office; I continue to rule my little kingdom out here.”

I waited for more. There had to be more. There was.

“This weekend,” he continued. “I drive to your house to fuck Lily again. Your wife is smoking hot, you know that? If you say no, I rat you out to your boss on the cover-up here, and post my video to YouTube, Facebook, Pornhub, and every other fucking place I can think of. Lily’s career will end. Now, the thing about blackmail is the victim quickly realizes they’ll be under the boot forever so why give in at all? I ain’t like that. I have a lot of illicit games running smoothly and want to keep it that way, but Lily is something special. I want her again, in a bed, without watching out for you. I want to take my time. I want to enjoy her and watch her enjoy me. That’s it. I’m happily married, bro. One night with Lily and then I’m done.”

My heart raced and my mouth was dry. He could ruin two lives.

“You know I have to talk to her. I can’t just agree and hand over my wife.”

“Yeah, of course. But when you talk to her mention I’m the guy with the upside-down pentagram tattoo from the party. That might help her remember me.”

“She remembers you already.” Damn it. Why did I add that? I saw his ego swell.

“That’s nice. See? Everybody wins.”

I stepped outside to call Lily at home and explain everything. She stayed silent and just listened. I finished and waited for the storm of protests.

“Tell him eight o’clock Saturday night.” Her voice was husky. What was I hearing? After a long pause, she added: “I can’t believe this.”

We hung up. Not at all what I expected. I returned to his office and packed my things. “Eight Saturday night. Here’s my address.” I scrawled on a Post-It.

The drive back to the main office was difficult. What a fucking turn of events.

Chapter 14

Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday saw Lily in a strange mood. Friday evening Randy called and asked if we were on for pool time this weekend but I had to tell him no and push it back until next weekend. I finally realized Friday night Lily wasn't angry or shamed about Leo's visit, she was turned on.

Leo is not a handsome man. For a woman accustomed to lovers like Jimmy and Trevor, her arousal did not make sense. All week I'd gotten mixed signals; sometimes I got the sense she just wanted it to be over and then other times it seemed like she looked forward to his visit.

Saturday, she kicked me out of the bedroom around six and asked me to make sure the bar was stocked. We were out of a few items so I yelled through the door I was running to the liquor store. I took my time and got back to the house around seven-thirty. I set everything up and was surprised by the doorbell at seven-fifty. Eager beaver.

Leo wore a polo shirt and khakis and a shit-eating grin. He had me and he knew it. I did not shake his hand. I asked if he wanted a drink and he said a beer would do.

"She's in the bedroom?"

I gave a quick nod.

"Perfect." He peeled his shirt off and headed for the bedroom door.

"What the fuck, Leo? Wait out here for her."

He shook his head. "Nah. Bring my beer."

He turned the knob and entered our room, shutting the door behind him. I did not hear the lock click. Lily was going to be pissed, actresses and entrances being what they are. I hurried across the living room and stepped into the bedroom.

He'd come up behind her at the bathroom mirror and placed his hands around her waist. A towel lay in a half-circle around her feet. A lacy red dress lay on the bed, waiting.

She kissed him by turning her head over a shoulder. He held her jaw and backed off an inch so she could face him and then they kissed again.

“Take my pants off,” he ordered. She knelt and unbuckled his belt, pushing his trousers down. He wore no underwear. Just above his penis was a black, inverted pentagram tattoo. His cock was soft, but already so much bigger than mine. A single vein as thick as a pencil ran along the top. The head was swelling faster than the shaft and the extra weight kept the beast pointed at the ground. He was three fingers thick and probably nine inches long and I saw on her face his cock took her breath away. He saw that too.

“Oh, you like that, hm? Don’t worry girl, you’ll get all of it in you if it takes me all night.” He looked over at me. “Did you buy condoms, amigo?”

I hesitated, showing him my palms. “I didn’t—“

He looked down at Lily. “Your husband wants me to fuck you bareback. That okay with you?” He laughed sarcastically. “I’m only kidding, girl. I don’t care what you want. Of course you’re going to take this cock bare. Lick my dick.”

Lily pressed her face against his hanging meat and then slipped her tongue out to follow the thick vein all the way up to his sparse black pubic hair. She started at the head and did it again. He kicked off his shoes, ignoring her, as she continued swabbing his shaft. He glanced at our bed.

“Move that dress, dude. Where’s my beer?”

Fuming, I draped the dress over the back of a chair and left to go get his beer. In the kitchen, I leaned against the counter. I’d known Leo almost three years and I had no idea this cocky asshole lay hidden within the meek and compliant man I knew. I grabbed his beer and a glass, realized a glass would be wasted on a man like him, popped the top on his drink, and waited. Half of me was ready to head back in there, half of me was not.

Leo was in our bedroom right now. Lily was naked, in our bed, with Leo, right now. The reality bounced off some kind of mental armor I had. I couldn’t quite grasp that these were facts.

Lily moaned softly.

I crept down the hall and peeked into our room. He sat on the corner of our bed with legs spread wide. Lily was on her knees licking his big balls. His cock rested on her shoulder, curled along her neck, poking out through her long black hair. Donkey cock indeed. I saw her head dip each time she darted under and slathered his nuts and goddamn if my penis didn’t twitch. Lily and big cocks just look so good together.

I retreated to the kitchen to pour myself some whiskey and Lily some red wine. On my return to our bedroom I saw he had moved up to lean against the headboard while she sucked hard on his dick. He had his arms raised behind his head, fingers laced, king of the world in no hurry at all.

“Lily,” he said. “You might be the most beautiful woman I’ve ever seen.”

She moaned and sucked faster. He was growing stiff and she struggled to take as much.

“I’m still going to fuck you like a whore. I just wanted you to know I think you’re gorgeous.”

She stopped sucking. “You talk a lot. How about you fuck me instead?”

I stepped into the room and set their drinks on the nightstand, and then backed towards the chair with the dress hanging on it.

“Keep sucking,” he said. Lily did as she was told.

I was mesmerized. His cock was beautiful and I don’t even swing that way, but credit where credit is due. Lily’s fingers did not meet and the tip drooled pre-cum constantly. Lily lapped it up as she bathed him. The skin was slightly darker than the rest of him but I guess when you’re required to expand that much there better be a little extra of you. She had him fully hard now and I saw the electric thrill that gave her.

She stopped sucking and climbed over his body, aiming his cock straight up. She rubbed the head around looking for her hole but he sat up and grabbed her jaw.

“Keep sucking,” he ordered.

Lily pouted! A tiny smile curled the corners of her mouth and she flopped back down to pop his head into her mouth. He put a hand on her hair and pushed, gagging her. She tried harder. When she’d worked him for ten minutes or so, he pulled her mouth up to his by pulling her hair.

“You want this dick?”

“Yeah.”

He looked over at me. “How about you? You want her to take this dick?”

“Not especially,” I lied.

Her pussy was already wet and swollen. Her nipples were diamonds. My wife wanted to fuck this uncultured slob in the worst way.

Lily's hand was a blur. The loud slap filled our bedroom. Leo looked stunned for an instant and then laughed.

"Like that again? Okay, slut."

He flipped her onto her back and held her pinned by her hair. He moved between her legs, which spread just a little too fast for me, and worked his hips, finding her opening. Their eyes met and held with a shared knowledge and then he pushed his cock forward. Lily groaned with intense pleasure. Leo exhaled.

"Goddamn, woman, you are a tight, wet furnace."

He pulled back and slide home again. Her lips parted as her eyes grew big. He sawed in and out and Lily's head started weaving back and forth like a snake. Her hands landed on his chest. He fucked her deep and slow for a minute and she pinched his nipple, making him groan. He fucked her faster.

I could have stood up and cut my own head off and neither would have stopped. He jerked her hair into the bed and she slapped him again and he laughed. He let go of her hair and slapped her face. I was a tenth of a second away from coming out of my chair to beat the shit out of him when Lily growled at him to fuck her harder.

"Make me love that cock," she snarled. "You're so big, so hard. Make me feel it, you fucker. Make me remember you."

Her hands smacked down on his ass and her fingers dug in; ten little dents. She pulled him deep and lifted her legs. Slowly, her toes pointed at the ceiling.

"Fuck me," she grunted.

Leo moved his arms under her legs and bent them far over her. I got an obscene view of his thick cock stretching her cunt. Her excitement ran down the crack of her ass. He assaulted her tight opening until he had her screaming with pleasure.

He withdrew his cock and leaned back, his ass on his heels. His rampant dick pulsed and throbbed. Lily whimpered at an empty pussy and flipped onto her stomach. She seductively arched her back and lifted her round ass at his face. The invitation of her pussy was too much to resist. He laughed and bent his dick to her hole, sheathing the fat tube in her guts. He grabbed a butt cheek with each hand and resumed pounding my petite wife. His heavy balls slapped her clit repeatedly.

When she came like that, moments later, her howl shook our room. I was so conflicted but so turned on. Why'd it have to be him? This man represented a huge complication for us. My lust won and I pulled my penis from my pants and began masturbating while I watched.

His mastery and ownership of her cunt was total. She instantly responded to his touch, ready to give anything he wanted, eager to please the man that so pleased her. Her pussy wrapped his meat like a cocoon. He threatened to turn her inside out on each withdrawal, turned her cunt into a funnel on each thrust. My wife was a bawling maniac, face buried in a pillow, hands full of gathered comforter, continuous stream of moans and cries flowing from her throat. She shrieked her way through a massive orgasm but Leo did not stop. Her second climax left her sobbing and limp.

He fucked her unresponsive body for a minute before rolling off and reaching for his beer. He sat on my side of the bed, one foot on the floor, heel on the mattress, plump balls resting on the sheets and a tan, curving, tusk of a cock pointing at the ceiling. More cum leaked down the shaft. Behind him, Lily still lay with her ass in the air, exhausted, her hole gaping slightly from his pummeling.

Erotic. As. Fuck.

He saw me stroking. "You like to watch, hm? Figures. Big bad Luke; ball-buster at work, voyeur at home. Maybe we should do this all the time? Wait a couple days and ask Lily what she wants."

I was about to respond when Lily, her voice ragged and dreamy, said: "I'm right here. I can hear you."

Leo smacked her ass. "Get over here and suck my cock, slut."

Lily swung her head around to his lap and lowered her mouth over the dark helmet. Her tongue swirled around the crown and then she opened her mouth and I saw her work the tip of her tongue into his slit, pushing out copious pre-cum.

"Fuck," he breathed. "That's good."

Her lips closed again and she leisurely nursed on his dick. He was too big for her mouth and she loved that. Her struggle excited her. I remembered her comments about a vanilla fuck, seeming so long ago, and thought this cock is exactly what she was talking about.

Despite the obvious complications and my serious reservations, my penis brain got the better of me. "You want him to fuck you again, Lily?"

She moaned. "Every night, Baby. Give him the guest room. I'll go visit him whenever I crave a hard fuck with a big cock."

He grinned at me over the top of her head. She continued to work his stiff inches until he wanted to fuck her again.

"That's enough, girl. You're going to make me nut and I don't want to shoot in your mouth, I want to shoot in your sweet pussy."

Lily scooted up the bed and stuffed a pillow under her hips. She spread her legs wide, handing her pussy to him on a silver platter.

Trevor and Leo were such different lovers. Trevor fucked and climaxed and rested. Leo fucked until Lily came and then he let her rest before fucking her again. He was saving up for one earthshaking orgasm at the end. I figured out what he was doing, but I was totally unprepared for how much he came.

After my wife offered him her sweet cunt, Leo moved up between her thighs and eased his fat cannon in. They started again with their familiar rhythm and soon he pounded her little pussy. My wife could not resist what he did to her. I saw her try. She wanted to put off another orgasm but couldn't, cumming all over his penetrating spear like a true slut.

He moved her all around the bed, fucking her in every position. This bed would never look the same to me. The night wore on, filled with occasional breaks for Lily. She needed them, but was right back after his cock again.

He had flipped her onto her back and buried his cock when I heard him moan differently. Lily heard it too and grabbed his ass.

"God! Fuck yes, I want it. Give me your load, Leo. Fucking dump that jizz in me. It's mine! Fucking fill me up."

Leo curled around her petite body and his hips moved like pistons. A long groan poured from his throat and then he was convulsing, grunting and gasping. Sperm shot out around his dick and splattered our sheets. His big balls flexed and another surge of pure semen blasted my wife's womb. He flailed but held her tightly as he pumped gushes of sperm into her. He must not have cum for a month.

Lily went nuts when the first blast hit. I imagined he probably swelled bigger and hotter and that drove her crazy. She ground her hips against his, forcing him deep.

When he'd given her his last, he held her in a ball of arms and legs. He seemed dead until Lily rolled him off and then he moaned and lay flat on his back. A cup of cloudy jizz flowed out of her gaping hole. She pinched herself shut and looked at Leo and then me, so pleased with herself.

“I wasn’t kidding,” she whispered. “I swear I could fuck this man every night.”

His voice was weak and shaky: “I’m right here. I can hear you.”

Lily and I chuckled.

Chapter 15

Which brings me to the present. I’m seated by the pool, alone, sipping my Corona watching two hummingbirds chase each other around the feeder. Lily is bikini shopping with Dawn.

My wife continues to act and do well, well enough she quit Macys. We’ve gone to a few awards shows and even a couple afterparties, but nothing like that goddamn opium den. Sebastian has hinted about the outside activities Leo mentioned but we’ve nothing concrete, yet. From what I can tell that mystery lies well outside social convention. Sebastian wants to know he can trust us completely before revealing his private life.

Jimmy got married and dropped out of acting. Lily fucked Trevor a second time on a trip to New York that I could not make. I sat at home, horny, anguished, and tormented, as pictures and texts started coming in, masturbating like a teenager.

Lily and big cocks go so well together.

Which is why Leo comes around about once every ten days. I’ve started joining them in bed but really, I’m just his wing man, getting Lily wet and ready for him and then holding her legs open.

I sense something coming, but I’m not sure what. We’ve arranged our lives so well; we have money and passion and mind-blowing sex, but a dark cloud lies on the horizon and it’s headed this way. Not dark like terrible news, dark like sinister and wicked. I can see Lily’s lust for sex growing into something bigger.

We’ll see.

Visit my blog; MyEroticBunny.tumblr.com

Get a FREE Cuckold/Vixen Story!

Join My Mailing List
<http://eepurl.com/cTvA7P>